Searchers Probing For More Dead And Injured After Lubbock Twister

By MIKE COCHRAN

Associated Press Writer

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — Rescue workers and relief agencies pressed a search today for more dead and injured in the debris of this tornado-scarred West Texas city.

There were thousands of homeless—an estimated 4,800 with up to 750 dwellings destroyed—perhaps 500 injured, and 20 known dead.

Estimates of property damage from the savage twister Monday night ranged up to $200 million.

For a time Tuesday it appeared that the tornado-ruined Great Plains Life building, the city's 20-story pride, would totter and fall. Great cracks and gashes were seen in what remained of its facade. The surrounding area was evacuated hurriedly.

But the swaying building stood.

Power went on and off in the city of 170,000 population all day Tuesday, but mostly it remained off. Telephone service was sporadic, and Mayor James Granberry called for water rationing, asking citizens to use it only for drinking and cooking.

Authorities declared a curfew, enforced by patrolling National Guard and State Department of

Claims Soldiers Support Nixon

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — A Gastonia soldier in Southeast Asia says the men in his unit are "100 per cent" behind President Nixon in his decision to send U.S. troops into Cambodia.

In a letter to his parents, Pfc. Vincent DeLorenzo, 18, wrote that American troops have been "unshackled" and can now chase the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops into their refuge.

"We are finally free to do what we are here for," he said. "We've been unshackled. I can't tell you much of what we are going to do for obvious reasons, but take it from me things are looking up."

Wickes Corporation Request Approved

Approval of a motion to grant a request for special use to Wickes Corporation, which will permit the firm to sell retail items, was given Monday night at a special call meeting of the joint City-County Board of Adjustments.

Also approved was an amendment motion by member Howard Porter that the Wickes firm be required to construct a continuous visual buffer at least six feet in height surrounding the property on the south and east sides. This amendment motion was accepted and approved.

W.H. Watson, attorney for Wickes Corporation stated, "Wickes is very desirous of Public Safety personnel, for the downtown section Tuesday night to prevent further looting.

Hilary Sandoval, Small Business Administration chief, declared the city a disaster area, thus qualifying hard-hit enterprises for federal loans.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes said a "very conservative" estimate of damage was $50 million. The Lubbock-Avalanche Journal said it would exceed $200 million.

Utilities Earn 'First Place' Safety Award

Greenville Utilities received a safety award from the National Safety Council for achieving first place in their division.

Chairman J. E. Waldrop said that Greenville Utilities had no lost time accidents during the year 1969. He cited Henry Hoell, who is chairman of the Utilities Safety Committee.

Waldrop said that Greenville Utilities was the only one in any category which did not have any lost time from accidents.

Waldrop commended Hoell and Utilities employees for their record.

Commissioners last night also re-elected Waldrop as chairman. They deferred choosing a vice chairman until a later date. Utilities Commissioners approved contracts for extension of the gas mains.

The contract was awarded to P&M Utilities which bid $219,289.50 for the work.

Other bidders were Dict. Construction Co., $219,336; C&W Pipeline, $223,467.08; M.D. Smith, $260,416.32; Harrison and Wright, $266,897.96 and Patterson and Wilder, $301,143.50.

Commissioners also approved the purchase of 700 gas meters and regulators of American make for $22,850. Sprague submitted a price of $21,840 and Rockwell's price was $22,759.

Tornadoes in the area sent chills through the city's populace again Tuesday night. One was sighted only 20 miles away, but most of the turbulence moved to the east of the stricken city.

The Red Cross sent 10 mobile disaster vans. The Salvation Army sent aid in the form of food, clothing and other supplies.

Israeli End Brief Entry In Lebanon

REJIYEH, Israel (AP) — The Israeli army command announced that all its forces had returned today from Lebanese territory after completing a 30-hour drive against Arab guerrillas based on the southwestern slopes of Mt. Hermon.

About two dozen tanks and halftracks carrying about 300 troops first crossed back into Israel after spending the night occupying 27 square miles of guerrilla-infested Lebanese territory.

The Israeli withdrawal came some 12 hours after the U.N. Security Council in New York demanded an immediate pullout.

When they returned to their base in Israel, laughing and shouting troops jumped off tanks and armored vehicles and headed for a mobile canteen.

Some told newsmen they had neither slept nor eaten since the task force plunged into Lebanon at dawn Tuesday.

"My ears are still ringing and I'm half dead with fatigue,"

A bearded captain said, "We had strict orders not to harm civilians, but we gave the guerrillas everything we had. Our tanks fired into caves and bunkers, at anything we thought the Fatah had." Al Fatah is a chief guerrilla organization.

The skies over the battle scene were still streaked with palls of greasy smoke and fires still smoldered on the plain to the west of the 9,000-foot Mt. Hermon.

Israeli officers declined to show newsmen any of the 11 prisoners reported to have been taken captive or to even talk about them.

Life Was Saved By Air Pocket

LENOIR, N.C. (AP) — Gene Layton, 44, of Kannapolis, curved his arms around his face and formed an air pocket which saved his life when a ditch caved in Tuesday.

The construction worker was unconscious when dug out of the 12-foot ditch, but is recovering in a hospital.

It took half an hour for fellow workers, assisted by the Lenoir Rescue Squad, firemen and state forestry workers, to dig him out.

New County-Wide Levy Said 'Not Practical'

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners in failing to approve a requested 25-cents per $100 valuation county wide tax levy for support of the schools yesterday took the only action they felt they could.

At a meeting Monday night, commissioners—in request from the Pitt County and Greenville City Boards of Education—were asked for the additional 25-cents levy. The school boards said such a county-wide levy would, in effect, do away with unequal special district levies now in effect in the county, and would help raise funds needed by both the city and county boards to meet their 1970-1971 fiscal budget needs.

Commissioners were also told that the Greenville school board needed to have an answer on that proposal by today. City school board finance committee member Harding Sugg explained: "We will request permission for a referendum for a 25-cents additional levy in the city district," if the 25-cents county wide levy is not approved.

Yesterday, commissioners taking unanimous action, decided to allow the special referendum to be held. In making that decision, the county board said it was not practical, at this time, to approve a request to set any tax levy value for the coming year, not knowing what other county agencies and departments will need or what tax base they will be working with at budget time.

The referendum requested by the city school board will seek to increase the ceiling of the city district special levy now in existence at 25-cents per $100 valuation to a maximum of 50-cents per $100. At present the full 25-cents limit is being levied in the city district. If the ceiling were raised to 50-cents per $100 valuation, that figure would be a maximum levy. Commissioners could levy any portion of it to meet the needs of the city school system.

First Americans Depart Cambodia

By GEORGE ESPER

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today the first American troop withdrawals from Cambodia. At the same time South Vietnamese forces launched a drive along Highway 1 toward the capital of Phnom Penh, 50 miles away.

Associated Press correspondent David Rosenzweig reported that a South Vietnamese armored column accompanied by U.S. advisers pushed up Highway 1 from the provincial capital of Svay Rieng to Kompong Trabek, 25 miles to the west. The armored column linked up with South Vietnamese marines driving up the Mekong River, then engaged about 600 enemy troops three miles beyond Kompong Trabek in heavy fighting.

The announced purpose of the drive was to clear Highway 1 for the repatriation of Vietnamese in Cambodia.

Informed sources said the initial U.S. troop withdrawals from Cambodia totaled fewer than 2,000 men.

The command first announced that elements of the 3rd Brigade, 9th Infantry Division, had been withdrawn from the Parrot's Beak section of Cambodia about 45 miles west of Saigon.

Later, headquarters reported the withdrawal of one-third of the 4th Division task force operating more than 200 miles to the north in the Se San base area of Cambodia, about 50 miles west of Pleiku City.

U.S. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said in Washington earlier that several thousand American troops already had been withdrawn from Cambodia.

Sources said the 9th Division unit had secured Ba Thu, about a mile inside Cambodia, after the North Vietnamese base area had been seized by South Vietnamese. U.S. losses during the week of occupation were reported as four killed and 20 wounded.

The U.S. Command said today that all U.S. losses in Cambodia totaled 101 killed and 427 wounded.

Official sources have said 14,000 to 16,000 U.S. troops and 18,000 to 20,000 South Vietnamese troops are operating inside Cambodia on more than a dozen fronts on both sides of the Mekong River.

Allied headquarters said American and South Vietnamese forces have killed more than 6,000 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops and seized nearly 10,000 weapons and hundreds of tons of ammunition in Cambodia since the drive began two weeks ago.

South Vietnamese losses were put at more than 350 troops killed and about 1,600 wounded.

Scotts To Arrive This Afternoon In France As Guests Of Government

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott and his wife, Jessie Rae, were scheduled to arrive in Paris this afternoon for a 10-day visit as guests of the French government.

The Scotts, along with governors and their wives from several other states, left Washington about 7 a.m. today en route to Paris. They had left Raleigh for Washington Tuesday.

It was the first trip to Europe for North Carolina's first couple, who left their five children in the care of the mansion staff in Raleigh and the state in the hands of Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor of Wadesboro.

The trip was arranged by the French government after six French officials visited the United States last summer as guests of the National Governors Convention in Colorado.

Five other governors and their wives were invited: John A. Love of Colorado, Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas, Paul Laxalt of Nevada, Raymond P. Shafer of Pennsylvania and Linwood Holton of Virginia.

On Thursday the governors are scheduled to attend briefings at the Ministry of the Interior in Paris, tour Versailles Palace, and attend a reception for them given by the American charge d'affaires in Paris.

Friday and Saturday there are more briefings, receptions and tours scheduled.

On Sunday the group will jet to Deauville for a visit to the Normandy Beach landing area and the American military cemeteries there. They will be honored at a dinner at the Hotel Normandy Sunday night.

The mayor of Deauville will be host at a luncheon at his residence Monday for the governors. Then the group will jet back to Paris, Monday evening the governors and their wives will depart to tour separate provinces.

Gov. and Mrs. Scott will travel by train to the region of the Nord and will be house guests of the local prefect Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. They will return to Paris by train Thursday night.

Friday the governors will have an audience with French Premier Jacques Chaban-Delmas, then go to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs for a reception and luncheon.

American Ambassador and Mrs. Arthur K. Watson will entertain the group at a formal dinner at their Paris residence Friday night. The governors will fly back to the United States Saturday.

Scott plans to be back in his office Monday, May 25.

Sudor Appointed Board Chairman

AYDEN — The Ayden Town Board Monday night accepted the resignation of Dave Bosse, chairman of the Ayden Planning Board, and reappointed Steve Sudor to a three-year term on the planning board.

Sudor was also named chairman of the planning board.

The board members authorized Mayor Ross Persinger and Town Clerk Don Russell to sign and execute an encroachment agreement with the State Highway Commission requesting the construction of a 12-inch sanitary sewer line and a 10-inch water main be placed under the bypass at the Levi Worthington industrial site south of Ayden on N.C. 11.

In other business, the board: —passed a resolution confirming assessment roll on paving improvements of Wellington Road and Lyndale Drive;

—accepted the election results of May 5 as submitted by the registrar and judges;

—authorized the advertisement of the 1969 delinquent taxes and set the date of the lien sale as June 8, 1970;

—forwarded a rezoning request to the Ayden Planning Board from the Ayden Fertilizer and Fuel Company for the rezoning of some property north of Ayden from RA residential to industrial;

—accepted the resignation of Wilbur Barfield, superintendent of Public Works, to be effective June 1.

Mail Subsidy Query Raised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. David N. Henderson, D-N.C., Tuesday questioned mail subsidies for Readers Digest and Evergreen magazine.

Henderson told a House Postal Rates subcommittee Readers Digest had printed a "biased and slanted" attack on farm subsidies and Evergreen is pornographic.

Henderson said the second class mail subsidy was based on the theory that "the widest possible dissemination of information is in the public interest."

"Is it in the public interest to disseminate information which is not factually true, or which is deliberately distorted or biased?" he said.

"Is it in the public interest to subsidize publications like Evergreen Magazine which the overwhelming majority of Americans consider indecent and pornographic?"

Investigation Of Student's Death Is Finally Begun

GREENSBORO (AP)—An investigation into the death of Willie Grimes, an A&T State University student killed in campus disorders last May, had been started by the U.S. Justice Department.

A spokesman said the federal agency has asked the Greensboro Police for reports concerning Grimes' death.

The Justice Department director of public information, Jack Landau said, "following review of these reports, the department will make a determination on whether or not the investigation will be expanded."

Landau said the department will seek to determine if any federal law violation occurred, including abridgment of civil rights or violation of the anti-riot act.

The city's Board of Education told commissioners it needs $93,000 over and above the current budget figure in order to "stand still" and meet the normal increases in its budget. Sugg said the board would need $193,000 "for what we feel is necessary."

Looking at the proposed 25-cents county-wide levy, commissioners said it would mean an average eight to nine-cents per $100 increase in taxes for residents outside the Greenville school district, although in some districts levies would be reduced and in others levies would be increased.

As far as the city district is concerned, commissioners said such action would result in a 25-cents per $100 increase for schools.

If a 25-cents per $100 valuation rate were levied county-wide, the whole county would share in the revenue, with the city district receiving about one third on a pro-rata basis.

On the other hand, the city district would receive the total amount raised from what ever rate is levied under the proposed 50-cents per $100 valuation ceiling.

Speaking of the referendum, commissioner R.W. Martin of Bethel said, "I will have had a feeling of the people. This is important to me."

"I take the position, I do what the people want me to do."

Commissioners, in endorsing the referendum yesterday did not close the door on a county-wide levy, however. Traditionally the commissioners have supported the schools and indicated that as in the past, any real needs of the schools would probably be met.

Commissioners, too, indicated they would probably take action to eventually abolish the various and unequal special district levies in favor of a uniform levy for all county school districts.

Decrusting Skin Is One Of New Beauty Treatments

By E.C. SALMON
Hammond (Ind.) Times
Staff Writer
HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — A baby comes into the world with flawless skin—smooth, poreless and clear.

Many persons spend the better part of their adult lives trying to return their skin to that same matchless perfection. However, poor diet, careless cleansing habits and the very air they breathe make it a formidable task.

One of the newest beauty treatments for revitalizing the skin involves "decrusting" the outer skin layer. Peeling the dead surface skin from the face is a well known beauty procedure in Europe, but only now is it coming into its own in the United States.

June Cain, co-owner of a local health and beauty salon, explains, "Peeling helps the skin to breathe again."

Her partner, Mrs. Jackie Conn, recently gave Mrs. Cain the treatment.

First, 24 hours in advance of the scheduled decrusting, Mrs. Cain was given an allergy test.

The next step was a sauna bath to clean the skin and open the pores. Then a deep pore cleanser in the form of a liquid cream was spread over her face and neck and removed with a clean towel. Following this, the decrusting lotion, a clear crystal liquid, was smoothed over the skin and left there for one hour.

Mrs. Cain, a native of England, took advantage of the decrusting time to chat about American women and their skin problems.

"People in America expose their faces to the sun far too often," she said. She and Mrs. Conn recommend only 5 to 10 minutes a day of facial exposure to the sun's rays.

"Sun is what really ages skin on the face," asserted Mrs. Cain. She pointed out that women in England show the effects of age far later "because the sun rarely shines over there."

The two women suggest asking a doctor's advice before using a face cream with silicones or hormones. "And a moisturizer should be used under makeup or as a night cream," they added.

Diet is also an important factor in maintaining an attractive appearance," continued Mrs. Cain. "Good food is the best medicine for a skin problem."

One of the most serious facial problems is muscle collapse, which can occur anytime in a person's life. "Really and truly, it's sinful to let a thing like that happen and only plastic surgery can correct it," she added. She recommended a simple set of isometric facial exercises "which force you to use muscles in your head that you never realized you had."

Mrs. Conn began applying the "removing cream" to Mrs. Cain's face, rubbing in a circular motion. As the cream penetrated into the pores, bits of dead skin appeared under Mrs. Conn's massaging hands.

Soon Mrs. Cain's face looked like it was peeling from a good case of sunburn. As Mrs. Conn continued to coax the dead skin to the surface, Mrs. Cain commented her face felt "tingly."

The peeling process also works well for dryness of elbows, knees, shoulder and neck.

As Mrs. Conn applied a toning lotion, Mrs. Cain said she felt so clean, "it was ridiculous! I feel 10 years younger—and look it," she added.

"Most people would be amazed at how much dead skin they shed in a year. In some instances it's enough to fill a mattress."

Sheriff Of Texas Town Is The First In History

By MIKE WESTER

POST, Tex. (UPI)—The sheriff of the Old West brought law and order to unsettled land available for the fastest gun with a pistol hanging from his hip and a shotgun resting on his shoulder.

Today, the situation has changed—this small West Texas city founded by the cereal king, Charles William Post, is being run by a woman sheriff. "I'm holding down what we were elected to do," said Mrs. Ruby Claborn, who was sworn after her husband, L. E. Claborn, died while in office. Claborn had been sheriff of Garza County for 10 years.

"It's easier on everyone this way," said the 66-year-old grandmother as her daughter, Mrs. Frank Anderson, adjusted the traditional stetson atop her mother's head.

Mrs. Claborn said she intended to keep the peace until a successor is elected in November. She is the first woman sheriff in the history of Garza County.

She doesn't plan to seek reelection because she doesn't feel "cut out for the job," and she figures it is time she "sort of thought of retiring."

Meanwhile she doesn't look for a lot of trouble on the job.

"The rougher element had a lot of respect for my husband," she said. "They knew he treated them fair, knew what to expect from him. Things have been quiet the past few years."

Claborn was sheriff when liquor came on the Post scene and, according to his wife, "There was pretty steady traffic all directions for a time." There also was a lot of law enforcing to do.

Mrs. Claborn wasn't "right down there in it," but in the early years she got a second hand account when her husband came home. Later, she said, he decided to leave all problems at the office and just relax at home.

Mothers Will Marvel At Soft New Sleeping Apparel

By ARLEEN ABRAHAM
Associated Press Writer

In years past a woman didn't have to be a witch, an astrologer, or a psychic to predict the gifts her man would bestow upon her on Mother's Day. There'd be the traditional candy and-or flowers. And the even more traditional lingerie.

"Oh, what a big surprise" she'd say as she opened the box containing the anticipated bed jacket, servicable housecoat or wear-it-once - and-put-it-away sexy negligee. Oh well, better a personal gift than a household appliance, she'd say to herself as she placed the sixth bed jacket in the same number of years in a storage closet.

But you couldn't blame her man for showing so little imagination. There just was so little to choose from in the lingerie field.

Not today. The look of ready-to-wear which has invaded sleepwear brought with it enough variety so that even the most unimaginative man can encounter no difficulty in finding something special for his someone special.

Is she young? Most likely—if not in chronological age, then in spirit. Her man will show he's aware of her youth by choosing a romantic pinafore or the little-girl look of a peasant-inspired sleepgown that could easily pass as a dress. The full-bloused sleeves and smocking that circles the waist adds to the street-wear illusion of the peasant gown.

The practical, sporty, no-lace-for-me woman might like a poncho sleepgown. It'd be just as at home on the beach as it is on the bed. Clingy rompers and smooth, simple jumpsuits also feature the play by day and sleep by night look.

Is the gal of his dreams undecided about going midi? Why not let her try this new length at home? The flowing midi nightgown may lead to her adopting an entire midi wardrobe.

Women who definitely have said no to the midi may have difficulty choosing between the mini and maxi length nightgowns. Let her enjoy the best of both worlds in a mini-maxi sleep set. In one duo, the inky, slinky black maxi coverup conceals the most mini-ish of gowns.

Black or white with a few pastel shades in between no longer accurately describes the sleepwear scene. Sunny yellow, burnt orange, fiery red, wildest prints all cry out recognition. Lilac, mauve, and amethyst in dusty colors of the '30s are also very popular. Tanned bodies will look great in all of the pretty skin tones in fleshy variations...pale beiges that deepen to caramel, butterscotch and ginger. And for the gal who prefers pastels, there are the soft prints.

Fabrics are soft and sexy with lots of simple crepes, voiles, ribbed nylons, knits chiffons and terries. Soft and supple sleepwear fabrics drape cling, and swing to capture the body-shaping mood of today. New on the fabric scene is a light and airy nylon crepe, which has the look and feel of luxurious silk crepe.

Mrs. Nicholson Gives Program

BETHEL — Mrs. Elsie Nicholson presented the program at the meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Bethel Pentecostal Holiness Church held Tuesday night.

During a business session, Bible School dates were announced as June 15-19 at 7:30 p.m. in the educational department of the church. A bake sale will be held on June 13.

Mrs. Bettie Faye Whitfield, president, announced the observance of PFNA W. A. Day of Prayer on May 15 with the prayer theme for 1970 "Restoring Pentecost in Family Living." The local group plans to climax the day with group prayer assembly at the church during the evening.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Viola Stocks and Mrs. Leona Briley.

June hostesses will be Mrs. Louis Briley and Mrs. Newbie Taylor.

When a recipe directs you to "brown" ground meat in a little fat, cook until the meat loses its red color; don't expect the meat to become a rich dark brown.

The crepe, pebbling of Enka Crepeset nylon is built into the yarn itself so the fabric never falls flat against the skin, allowing air to circulate freely underneath.

Over-all sleepwear for spring and summer looks backward to the glamorous '30s and straight ahead to the long, lean look of the '70s. But anywhere you choose to land, there's a special look for the new generation Mom.

Let Your Dad Handle Brother

By Abigail Van Buren

(c. 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my 16-year-old brother. He treats our mother terribly. Just today he pushed her into a wall and made her cry. He curses her, and even hits her with his fist. It's the same with the rest of the family. He is always hitting me and my younger sister. Dad knows my brother is mean, but he doesn't know how mean he really is. Dad has an awful temper and we're afraid of what he'd do.

Last night my mom told my brother not to go out [my dad wasn't home], but he told her to shut up, and he went out anyway. Please don't recommend a doctor because he wouldn't go. I really feel sorry for my mom. WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your brother is out of control and it will take more than a letter from Dear Abby to straighten him out. I'm sorry for your mother, but no parent loses authority all at once. Your brother must have been allowed to get away with his bullying tactics some time ago, until finally he has the whole family terrorized. This matter is too far gone for the women in your family to handle. Tell Dad and let him handle it!

DEAR ABBY: On a couple of those late television shows where guests come on and talk, I've seen some transvestites.

Transvestites, I understand, are people who dress up in the clothes of the opposite sex, right? Now I have a question to ask you.

When a transvestite is dressed up in clothes of the opposite sex, which restroom does he use? WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: If he's dressed up like a lady, he uses the ladies' room. If she's dressed like a man, she uses the men's room. [But they're very careful.]

DEAR ABBY: Loved your advice to the lady whose problem was nosy-bodies who bluntly asked her age.

Pointed personal questions are always embarrassing, and create resentment. Recently I underwent an operation on my tongue, which left me with a slight lisp. Thoughtless people often ask me about this impediment, implying that I am "putting them on."

Q.—"Where did you get that lisp?"

A.—"It is medically known as a partial lobectomy, an operation of the tongue."

Q.—"Really? Gee, you're lucky it wasn't cancer!"

A.—"It was."

One friend of mine who went thru this routine was so embarrassed he said, "If I had my teeth in, I'd bite off my own tongue..."

Your advice to people, often peppery, is a delight to me. I love to listen to your radio program, and I "read you" in more ways than one... CORDIALLY, JULIET

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DREAMER": Dreams are nothing to be ashamed of. "The mind is its own place, and in itself can make a heaven of hell, a hell of heaven." [Thank you, John Milton.]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Woman's Club To Award Music Scholarship

At a special called meeting of the Greenville Woman's Club on Friday afternoon, members voted to give a yearly award of $100 to an incoming freshman at East Carolina University.

The award will be presented to a girl vocalist majoring in music who displays the highest degree of proficiency in her vocal concentration.

She will be auditioned in the spring prior to entrance at ECU in the fall of that year by a committee chosen from the School of Music faculty.

The club voted to name this award "The Geneva Pollard Woman's Club Scholarship" in honor of Mrs. Pollard, who served as chairman of the Fine Arts Department for the past two years.

Mrs. Pollard has worked with the dean in the School of Music to set up rules for the scholarship, which will begin in the fall of 1970.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Sue Barefoot, June 6 bride-elect of Larry Britt, was honored at a reception and tea on Wednesday evening.

Hostesses were Mrs. Thomas Barefoot, Mrs. Jimmy Barefoot and Mrs. Inez Barefoot.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Bradshaw greeted guests and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the hostesses, the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Grace Barefoot, Larry Britt and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Britt.

Miss Connie Barefoot and Miss Brenda Branch directed guests to the refreshment table. Mrs. Bernice Branch poured punch and Miss Sylvia Britt served cake.

Mrs. Clara Austin and Mrs. Rachel Barefoot assisted in serving. Miss Nina Grey Hobbs directed guests to the gift room where Miss Linda Branch and Miss Jane Wine received the gifts and displayed them.

Mrs. Hugh Johnston and Miss Annette Barefoot presided at the guest register and said good-byes.

The honoree was presented a corsage of red roses.

Approximately 30 guests attended the event.

Question: Was the stove unsafe? Or is the woman at fault?

Dr. E. A. Bailiff, vice president for engineering at an appliance-making company (Whirlpool), told of the woman at a meeting of the National Safety Congress.

She is typical of the "somebody" he referred to in the following statement: "Despite all our efforts to avoid it... somebody, somewhere... will find a way to hurt himself with that product we've worked so hard to make safe."

That aside, Bailiff said tomorrow's home appliances will be safer than today's.

"First, they will be safer because of new materials," he said. "Non-conductive materials in place of metal, better insulation to keep heat where it belongs, longer lasting wiring insulation, non-combustible materials to further reduce the possibility of fire."

The appliances of tomorrow also will take greater advantage of improved electrical componentry and control devices. There will be solid state controls and integrated circuitry.

This will pay off in better,

Author To Appear On Local Show

A Tar Heel nurse, Cherry Parker, will appear on the Carolina Today Show, WNCT-TV, Channel 9 on Wednesday, May 20.

Dressed in an old-fashioned gingham dress with a poke bonnet, Mrs. Parker will be making autograph appearances to promote a new cookbook she co-authored with her mother, Frances Bradsher.

Entitled "The Hand-Me-Down Cookbook," the book contains many well-remembered eastern North Carolina recipes.

Mrs. Parker, who is now working on a novel, has a B. S. degree in public health from UNC-CH. She is married to Fred Parker of the N. C. Memorial Hospital administration staff.

more dependable controls and sensors, virtually immune to the ravages of heat, moisture and corrosion. This will also mean a minimum of moving parts to wear out and fewer pesky connections to come undone.

But that's not all that's new on the product safety horizon. There's also a new attitude toward the subject of safety. Bailiff called it a subtle, but very real change in the way people think about it.

"The change is quite apparent, whether you look to the consumer, to the government, or to industry for evidence," he said.

"There's a new awareness of the countless hazards we face every day and most important of all, a real sense of urgency to do something about it."

"And, since, in my opinion, safety is more a state of mind than anything else, I don't see how it can help but flourish in an environment where nearly everybody is concerned about it—and sincerely motivated to do something about it."

But what about persons like the plump lady who stands on the oven door, hurting herself when it fails to hold her up? Well, Bailiff thinks tomorrow there may even be fewer accidents of that type.

That's because consumers have begun to accept the reality that virtually all products present certain inherent risks for the user... and to take some precautions.

Smaller Surplus Is Possibility

There is some chance, as the nation's economy slows, that North Carolina will not see the surplus funds at the end of this biennium that it has had in previous years.

At this point the state's income is a mixed picture. For April of this year sales tax receipts were up but income tax revenue declined. There was a drop in income tax revenue of 1.2 percent from April of 1969.

General Fund collections were up by $92.4 million for the first ten months of the fiscal year. However, this increase reflected the soft drink and cigarette taxes imposed by the last General Assembly. For the most part these funds are already budgeted for increased teachers salaries and other extra spending.

The surplus at the end of the biennium comes when state revenues exceed the estimates with which the budget makers work at the beginning of the biennium. Usually the estimates are conservative and at times this has left large amounts of surplus cash at the end of the biennium.

Traditionally the Legislature has used this surplus to meet capital improvement requests in the upcoming biennium.

We will be at the mid-point in the biennium on July 1 and we are still a full year away from determining the surplus. As yet there has been little to worry about so far as state revenues are concerned. However a prolonged slowdown, while not affecting the state's ability to meet its 1969-71 budget, could affect the size of the surplus at the end of that time.

What this means to our area is that a small surplus could affect the much needed capital improvements program that East Carolina University has outlined for the 1971-73 biennium. Hopefully, as many economist believe, the cooling off process will be spent later this year and the economy will turn upward again. This will contribute toward building the state's surplus and East Carolina and other institutions will be in a better position to get the buildings and equipment they need.

Irresponsibility Sees Its Bitter Aftermath

The racial violence seen in Augusta, Ga. Monday had little in common with the problems on college campuses these days, but like little storms spawned by a tornado, it was left in the wake of the campus violence.

Six persons were dead yesterday and more than 60 injured after a peaceful demonstration erupted into a riot. The protestors were concerned with the beating death of a teen-age Negro jail inmate.

It is almost a certainty that unless violence and irresponsibility are ended on the campuses than other segments of our population are going to resort to the same tactics. It is a sad prospect, but violence escalates and eventually envelopes peoples and causes far removed from its original purposes.

The Fight For Nixon's Soul

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — When President Nixon travelled alone without staff, family, or friends to Camp David Thursday to prepare for his Friday night press conference, he left behind a divided Administration fighting for his soul, with the Hickel-led silent majority of his Cabinet in temporary ascendancy.

Although Secretary of Interior Walter Hickel's rebellious letter to the President last Wednesday was the first public break within the Cabinet's silent majority, it was symbolic of rising discontent. This discontent is centered in half a dozen departments, most conspicuously Robert Finch's Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) Department, William P. Rogers's State Department, George Romney's Urban Affairs Department, and John Volpe's Transportation Department.

These and other Cabinet officers, along with Hickel himself, have been outfought, outflanked, and surrounded by Atty. Gen. John Mitchell and Mr. Nixon's two top White House staffers, H.R. (Bob) Haldeman and John Ehrlichman.

They have also been outdistanced by the rhetoric of Vice President Spiro Agnew, whose speeches inflamed the already angry Hickel and prompted him to warn Mr. Nixon that his Administration was alienating a whole generation.

But even before Hickel broke the facade of bland unity within the Cabinet, Mr. Nixon's oldest friend in the Cabinet, Robert Finch, had gone quietly to the White House to warn Ehrlichman of the polarization between youth and the middle-aged brought on by Agnew's speeches. Finch was amazed to find that neither Ehrlichman nor Haldeman seemed to be aware of it.

Finch warned that the erosion of support for Mr. Nixon among college students was creating a breach that would be hard to repair. It was Finch, definitely worried about the massive demonstration here this past weekend, who went to the White House with his novel idea for keeping all the HEW conference rooms available on Saturday for open meetings between students and sub-Cabinet officers of all the departments.

Even before approving that plan, however, Ehrlichman had moved fast to open at least some lines of communication between the President and the students. When Rep. William Stanton, Republican of Ohio, called Ehrlichman to say that six Kent State students were in his office last Tuesday, the day after the killing of four fellow students, Ehrlichman called them to the White House. The next day, he invited them back for their talk with Mr. Nixon.

Moreover, the Administration's basic approach to the weekend demonstration was a 180-degree departure from the way it handled the huge Nov. 15 anti-war rally here. Under orders from deeply worried White House officials, the policy of cooperation with—not resistance to—the anti-war protest was clearly apparent as this is written (one day before the event).

Another significant change already in effect is the muzzling of Vice President Agnew. Starting last week, (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

LIBERTY AND LICENSE

Obedience is the first step in the direction of self-control. But the demand for obedience has gone out of our national life to a shocking degree. Much of our educational procedure lays no emphasis on the necessity for discipline, particularly for learning certain facts. We even have remedial reading courses for young people who in their late teens are not able to read with facility and understanding. In the home, children today are often allowed a liberty which goes to an excess that is frightening.

Certainly we should not want imposed upon our children demands for obedience which would constitute tyranny, but there is a lot of difference between liberty and license. There is a ferment going on in modern life which has us all worried.

TEMPTING FATE!

Applebaum's New Plan

WASHINGTON — Despite President Nixon's and Vice President Agnew's attempts "to bring us together," the country still seems to be divided on the Vietnam and Cambodia issues.

There is, among young people, a lack of confidence in President Nixon's methods of disengaging us from Southeast Asia. On the other hand, the majority of Americans still supports the President's hard-line strategy, particularly since they don't have to go.

Prof. Heinrich Applebaum, of the Institute of Retribution & Conciliation, has formulated a plan that may satisfy both groups in this country.

The professor told me, "My studies show that there are far more people in this country who are for what Nixon is doing in Vietnam than are opposed."

"That's wonderful."

Other Editors Say Can't Be Forced

(The Raleigh Times)

Patriotism, like love and respect, cannot be forced upon another person, or forced from another person.

Neither can patriotism insist that blindness be a part of its makeup, anymore than love can insist on blindness or respect can insist on blindness.

Today, there seems to be abroad in our land a growing feeling that a patriotic American must be blind to any faults that our country may have. There seems to be a growing feeling that anyone who dares criticize an action of our government is not a critic but a traitor, is not a devoted American who loves his country but is a subversive who is helping a foreign country by that criticism.

You see more and more of the little signs stating that you must either love America or leave America. That is another way of saying that you must blind yourself to any faults of America if you really love your country, and that if you can't close your eyes, you should just leave this country.

A blind patriotism would be a forced thing. It would be comparable to a bill passed recently by the Maryland legislature which would compel students to pledge allegiance to the flag. Gov. Marvin Mandell of Maryland has said this comment on that bill: "I don't think you can legislate patriotism. I think it has to come from within the person himself."

The commandment says that we shall honor our parents — but nowhere does it say that this honor shall be granted blindly. This honor must be given with open eyes, for an honor which still goes to a parent who may have done something less than honorable is a sign of the real love a child can have for a parent who is honored despite a very apparent flaw.

In a very real way, a country is a parent, and the children of that corporate parent shall pay it honor. But this honor must come from a sense of seeing the whole of the parent instead of just what the child would like to see of the parent's whole being.

A forced patriotism which says we must leave our parent — country if we don't agree with everything that country does is the most terrible thing which could be done to our country. A forced patriotism which permitted our country to go on and on in a disaster-oriented direction would deprive our country of the criticism that could save her.

"The only trouble is that the people who are the President's strongest supporters are too old to be drafted into the Army."

"It figures," I said. "What is your plan?"

"My plan is very simple. We must make it possible for those who are for us being in Indochina to go there and fight, and those who are opposed to us being there to come home."

"You mean we should raise the age limit for men to be drafted into the service?"

"Not raise it. Abolish all age requirements so anyone who believes in the war can ship out immediately."

"What an ingenious plan!"

"My studies," the professor said, "have indicated that there are hundreds of thousands of people who have said to our young citizens, 'I only wish I were your age so I could fight.' The Applebaum plan makes it possible for these people to get their wish."

"But maybe they didn't mean it," I protested. "Maybe they just said it to make the kids feel better."

"Of course they meant it. Do you know of one person who wouldn't give up his soft job if he could slog through the rice paddies of the Mekong Delta?"

"It's hard to think of one," I admitted.

"The beauty of my plan is that you would have a tough determined type of soldier who would go right into the breach, without question."

"Just as in the Charge of the Light Brigade," I said excitedly.

"Eventually, the U.S. Army would only be composed of people who sincerely believed that what we were doing in Indochina was correct."

"You could call it the 'Love America or Leave It Brigade,'" I said. "How do you plan to recruit these people once the age requirements are waived?"

Words That Weary

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Wifely remarks that husbands get tired of hearing:

"Get up and go earn me a living."

"Well, if it is burned a little, just scrape it off."

"I know one thing for sure: if I ever marry a second time, it certainly won't be for love. I've tried that."

"How did I know that you had beef stew for lunch? What am I supposed to be—a mind reader?"

"You must be the laughing stock of your office, the way you do all the work and everybody else gets all the credit—and the money."

"Harry, you're driving too fast!"

"What do you mean, why can't I make it last another year? Do you realize how long I've had that fur coat? I bought it three years before we were married and I paid for it myself — no thanks to you."

"Is it all right if I throw away this cigar stub, or would you rather I wrapped it in a plastic bag and keep it in the freezer until you feel like stinking up the house with it again?"

"Dinner is served, your Royal Highness. Would it be too much trouble for you to get up off the sofa and eat it?"

"The children have behaved like perfect little devils all day. I want you to punish them this very minute—before you even take your shoes off."

"Harry, you're driving too slow. We'll never get there at this rate."

"Why should I give you an extra 50 cents for lunch today? You still owe me half a dollar from the day before yesterday."

"When I think of all the men I could have married!"

"Harry, I work my fingers to the bone keeping house for you, and what appreciation do I get? None! I guess the old saying is true—it's the second wife that gets the maid."

"I don't mind your not noticing it when I wear a new dress, but at least I thought you could tell the difference when I put on a wig."

"Don't tell me what kind of a day you had until I tell you what kind of a day I had."

"I can't help it if the way you drive makes me nervous, Harry."

"We go out so seldom anymore that I feel I'm in jail and you've thrown away the key."

"All right, children, let's all kneel down and touch our foreheads to the floor—here comes the lord and master himself, home at last."

"Please put down that newspaper, Harry. Do you realize it has been 12 years since I saw your face at breakfast?"

"Sometimes when I think about our marriage, I can't help wondering whether the best years of my life haven't been the worst ones."

"When you take the car out of the garage, Harry, promise me you won't look at the right front fenders."

U.S. Increasing Jobs Abroad

By ELMER ROESSNER

The extent to which the United States is exporting employment while its own unemployment rate is rising is shown by a plea of Mexican officials to the U.S. Tariff Commission not to boost $9,840,000 a year.

The reason for this export-import cycle is that Mexican labor is much cheaper than American labor. Much Mexican labor is not organized.

Unions Protest

Therefore it pays an American enterpriser to ship cut fabric and trimmings from New York to Mexico where the materials are assembled into blouses, and then have them shipped back.

Strongly protesting are American unions, who charge that their jobs are being exported to Mexico. No less vigorous in opposition are American manufacturers who pay union wages and are undersold by those having their labor done south of the border.

At present, the only American tariff has been on the value added by Mexican labor, averaging 10 per cent. The Mexican government has waived tariff on the import of American machinery that makes these jobs.

They point out that 20,000 Mexicans work in plants along the border where parts and components are shipped in by American companies, assembled or finished, and then shipped back to the U.S.

In Mexicali, in Lower California, alone 13,000 workers are employed in 122 assembly plants, earning Mexico is reported to overlook its own law requiring a 51 per cent Mexican ownership of enterprises there, provides training for workers and waives other taxes. Tighter regulations in Mexico or higher American tariffs would throw thousands of Mexicans out of work.

Not Only Area Involved

While this is the nearest home example of job exportation, it is not unique. Japan, Taiwan, Hong Kong and other places in Asia make so many textile goods of American cotton and local synthetic fibers and then ship them back into the American market that the American apparel industry, both labor and corporations, is screaming. Efforts to persuade Japanese industry to voluntarily limit exports to the U.S. have so far failed and tariff barriers are being seriously considered in Washington.

Precut garments and novelty items are also being assembled by cheap labor throughout the Caribbean.

The manufacture of electronic components in Asia, and of completed radio, television and other electronic items in the orient for the American market, is vast. In fact, most of the large American consumer electronics companies have some components and completed products made in Japan, and the practice is spreading through eastern Asia.

Grain Sorghum Called Useful Human Food

Marguerita Harden, a faculty member at Texas Tech University, reports that research indicates that the endosperm of grain sorghum can be best used for industrial purposes, the bran for animal feeding and the germ for human food. The germ, she said, can produce an economical, palatable and biologically acceptable protein for human consumption.

his speeches, including those penned by conservative White House speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan, will be reviewed by higher authority. Thus, the heretofore silent Cabinet majority is in the ascendancy today in trying to bridge the gap between the Administration and the anti-war students, with Agnew muzzled and Hickel at least temporarily a hero.

On the deeper issue of the war in Indochina, the struggle for the President's soul ended sometime during the night of April 27 when, along, he made his decision to order the Cambodian operation. Every member of his Cabinet and White House staff who took part in the discussions leading up to that decision had warned him of the political dangers. He listened, said he fully understood the dangers, and added that if his decision was to go ahead he did not want to hear another word about the political risks.

He badly underestimated those risks. As a result, although he has no intention of backing down on Cambodia, he is now compelled to pay more attention to those like Hickel who believe that rising discontent with the war can be eased by talking with instead of talking against the students.

"We'll ask for volunteers. If that doesn't work, we'll go through President Nixon's mail. Anyone who wrote supporting his policies would automatically be drafted."

"Prof. Applebaum, you have come up with the most brilliant solution to an untenable situation. The way you describe it indicates that no one could object to your plan."

"It's foolproof, if I must say so myself," said Prof. Applebaum. "With the men who support Nixon manning the front lines and the men who oppose him back here in the states, we could stay in Vietnam for 20 years, and no one would give a damn."

Guarded
Against Sex Education

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—School children will be "safeguarded" against possible sex education by a ban affecting all Transvaal province schools, Education Director Dr. A. L. Coetzee announced. "Up to now there has officially been no sex education in Transvaal schools. The ban on sex education is therefore nothing new," Coetzee said. If children spontaneously ask about sex in class, the teacher must "use his discretion in accordance with policy." He must never answer the child in front of the class, Coetzee said.

Talk Earthquake
Responsibility

NEW DELHI (AP)—Members of Parliament have questioned which ministry is "responsible" for earthquakes. The query came when Minister for Petroleum and Chemicals D. R. Chavan rose to answer a question about an earthquake.

A member of the house pointed out that a minister of power and irrigation had answered previous questions about earthquakes.

Shriver Hasn't Clicked

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Sargent Shriver, former U.S. ambassador to France, director of the Peace Corps and a general in the war on poverty, is finding Maryland politics a tough nut to crack.

He has struck few responsive chords after a month of looking for encouragement to run for the Democratic nomination for governor.

"I still think he's going to run, but frankly the way things have been going, I wouldn't blame him if he didn't," said an obviously depressed associate.

Shriver, married to Eunice Kennedy of the Kennedy clan, has failed to come up with a single political endorsement of note.

On the other hand, liberal Democrats have come out openly and urged Shriver not to run while announcing their support for the interim governor, Marvin Mandel. Neither Mandel nor Shriver has formally announced for the nomination but Mandel has used his nearly two decades in Democratic political circles to quietly close the doors on Shriver. Mandel was the powerful speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates and state party chairman when the legislature elected him to serve out the two years in the unexpired term of Spiro T. Agnew, when the latter became vice president.

The primary is Sept. 15.

Shriver has arranged private meetings with Democratic committees around the state and AFL-CIO leaders. Democratic leaders kept quiet and organized labor has said it told Shriver it was for Mandel.

"We know that Shriver would be a good person," said Charles Della, president of the 300,000-member council in Maryland and the District of Columbia.

"He's been a liberal thinking man. But, at the same time, you don't hurt your friends."

Liberal Democrats with names known throughout the state have advised Shriver not to expect their backing.

Mandel, after a private session with Shriver in his office, was his usual noncommittal self.

"I think Mr. Shriver is a very personable man, I rather enjoyed the visit," Mandel said.

"We had a very interesting discussion about the political scene in Maryland. He told me he was testing the political scene and it would be some time before he would make any decision."

Asked if he thought Shriver's candidacy would badly split the party for the general election, Mandel said, "This is a decision that Shriver will have to make, and I don't think I should try to influence him."

When he first returned to Maryland after resigning as ambassador, Shriver replied to questions about state issues that he had been "only two and a half weeks off the boat."

Later, though, he retorted to remarks about his unfamiliarity with his native state that "I've been here the past 10 years and I haven't been walking around unconsciously."

He also said that while he had had no diplomatic experience when he became ambassador to France, nor been in many foreign countries before he headed the Peace Corps, "the record shows, I think, I've done a pretty good job."

The most likely Republican candidate at this point is C. Stanley Blair, who recently resigned as a top aide to Agnew, but who has not definitely announced he will enter the race.

Smart Pigs May Affect Quality

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Pigs at the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture have revealed a high level of intelligence during testing which may determine the quality and price of pork at local supermarkets.

Animal scientists at the school say that the learning level of swine breeds can influence the quality of future litters.

A U. K. team of testers also discovered that porkers rate high on the list of the more intelligent laboratory animals. They said pigs are considered superior to dogs, rats and mice in their ability to adapt to environmental changes.

Antlers cast off annually by deer are usually eaten by rodents to satisfy their craving for calcium and other minerals.

Angela Plays A Witch

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For 20 years Angela Lansbury played a host of secondary roles in Hollywood films, including so many floozies that she almost became known as the queen of tarts.

Broadway changed all that. After a six-year absence, she is back on the Hollywood stages for a Disney role that could do for her what "Mary Poppins" did for Julie Andrews.

She's starring in "Bedknobs and Broomsticks" for the same "Mary Poppins" team producer, Bill Walsh, director Robert Stevenson, writers Walsh and Don DaGradi, and the songwriting Sherman Brothers.

"I play a witch," Miss Lansbury reported between scenes with David Tomlinson, another "Poppins" alumnus. "Not a witchy witch. Sort of an apprentice witch. She studies up on witchcraft, not knowing whether she can exercise her powers. She can."

"Bedknobs," she admitted, is unlike any other of the 30 movies she has made. She is surrounded by the Disney brand of witchcraft.

"So much of the photography is trick stuff," she said, "I'm flying around on wires, or playing against an eerie yellow screen, the animation characters are put in later. One scene has me watching a football game in which David Tomlinson is the only human player; all others are cartoon figures. I sit in the grandstand conversing with a tiger."

She has five musical numbers in the film, including one that harks back to "Supercalifragilisticexpialidocious."

"It's called 'Substitutionary Emotion' and I sing it to inanimate objects to move them," said Miss Lansbury. "The idea is that we should send guns and planes off to fight the war alone, and let the soldiers stay home. Not a bad idea."

Angela Lansbury has been playing character roles since her first film, "Gaslight," which won her an Academy nomination for supporting actress in 1944. She has had two other nominations, "The Picture of Dorian Gray" and in 1945 and "The Manchurian Candidate" in 1963, but Hollywood could never see her as much more than a highly serviceable character actress.

Then came "Mame," which she took Broadway by storm on May 24, 1966, when the musicalized "Auntie Mame" opened at the Winter Garden. The Tony for best musical performance was hers.

TOPS Club Draws Many

After casting around for an effective method to help people lose weight, planners at the Greenville Recreation Commission have found wide-spread interest in the latest offering.

The TOPS (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) Club has elicited an unexpected response, according to director Boyd Lee. "We expected a few participants," Lee commented, "but nothing like the number we've had." Although the program is fairly new, about 30 members are actively engaged in this low-key approach to weight losing.

"TOPS is a different approach to reducing," Lee commented. "Instead of exercising, group therapy is used."

The therapy is essentially simple. People with weight problems meet, and instead of exercising, sit down to discuss why they are overweight and how they can stop bad eating habits. It works in the manner of each person expressing his problem, with another person sharing their solution of this problem. Such action as calling a friend at midnight and being talked out of eating a late snack is standard in the therapy concept.

This course should have special appeal to those who want to be relatively inactive and still find a way to lose unwanted poundage. In essence, it amounts to talking excess weight off, instead of working it off.

MISS THE FUN . . . DON'T MISS THE CIRCUS OF VALUES!

Playhouse Stages Treat In 'The Lion In Winter'

It is good to see a grand actress take a wonderful role and make it hers. Rosalind Roulston does this in her portrayal of Eleanor of Aquitaine, Queen of Henry II — every scheming, biting, strutting moment on stage is a personal triumph for Miss Roulston.

It is equally rewarding to watch Claude Woolman create in the role of Henry the II a superb match to Eleanor.

These two, in "The Lion In Winter", (opening tonight for a four night run at McGinnis Auditorium) have established a rapport in performances which transcends the flow of polished lines given them by playwright James Goldman.

Perhaps the tapestry of words is too overwrought with memorable lines. A few more commonplace utterances would have heightened the total fabric of the play, but the undercurrent of admiration felt for each other by these two embattled and battling creatures carries the play to a believable revelation of indestructible devotion which remains after all the complexities of the forces of evil, fruit of their own devising, has been arrayed against them. Their ultimate victory lies in the realization of their joint and separate failures.

The saving grace of humor lifts "The Lion In Winter" from a catalog of brilliantly conceived intrigues and counter-intrigues to the level of a warm and sympathetic study of human frailty.

Their three sons, all contenders for the English throne; the young French princess who is both mistress of the aging king and the betrothed to whichever son will become the future king; and her young brother, Philip, King of France, are all inextricably entangled in the web of events closing in on their lives.

Lindsay Bowen as Richard, the eldest son, gives a performance which is both chilling and convincing as a youth whose aloofness and bitterness masks a yearning for attention from his royal father and reveals deep suffering from his unnatural affection for the young French king.

As Princess Alais, Nancy New is as beautiful as young princesses should be. She brings tenderness mixed with strength to her role as the prize pawn in the constant round of royal intrigues.

Philip, king of France, is the only role in the play in a minor key. Ben Cherry is effective as Philip, a character vacillating between an effeminate youth and one showing the first signs of leadership as a king.

In the role of Gregory, the middle son without the favor of either parent, Gregory Smith maintains a fine balance between despair, a search for his own identity and the loneliness of a neglected person.

As John, youngest of the sons, and the king's favorite, Mark Ramsey again displays his fine talent in the difficult role of establishing credibility as a youth in transition from a teenage attention seeker to an apprentice schemer within the royal fold.

Much of the impact of "The Lion In Winter" is due to the fine feel for pace established by director Robert Chase. John Sneden's stage designs and Margaret Gilfillan's costumes measure up to their usual competent work, enhancing without ever distracting.

Members of the versatile Collegium Musicum provide incidental music, airs and songs of French, Italian and English origin from the 12th century.

Tickets for any of the four performances (tonight through Saturday) are available at $2.00 at the McGinnis box office or by telephone, 758-6390. Curtain time is 8:15 nightly. — JERRY RAYNOR

Hungarian Poet Speaks Tonight

Hungarian poet Maxim Tabory will give a lecture on "Poetry and the Fine Arts" tonight at 6:30 at the Episcopal Church on Fourth Street. He will show the influences of music on poetry, citing as one example passages from Boito's opera "Mefistofele" in relation to one of his poems, "Helen of Troy."

The lecture will be followed by a discussion and an analysis of the interplay of ideas between various forms of art.

The public is invited to attend the lecture which is without admission charge.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady to slightly stronger Tuesday, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 37½-38; medium whites 29½-30½; small whites 25-26.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets today were steady to 75 lower. Tops of 23.25-23.75 at Rocky Mount; 22.25-23.50 Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albemarle and Lumberton; 22.25-23.25 Bethel and Tarboro; 22.50-23.00 Siler City and Denton; 23.25 Salisbury and Mount Olive; and 22.75 Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — The North Carolina live poultry market today had a firm undertone. Live, at-farm based valuation 12½ cents per pound. Hens, offerings of all weights adequate, demand fair to slow. Heavies, at farm 12-13; lights, at farm 6½.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued its sharp downward spiral, pushing the Dow average several points below the critical 700 level. Trading was moderately heavy. At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 10.69 to 693.90. The last time the average closed below this level was on July 29, 1963, when it ended at 690.71.

Analysts said the downward market movement revolves around the same economic and political factors that have been depressing the market for the past several months: high interest rates, continued inflation, the poor outlook for corporate profits, and the Southeast Asian war.

Declines led advances by more than 5 to 1.

(Socks)

Socks should harmonize with suit colors. Brown or dark green socks are suitable for brown suits. Navy, black or dark gray harmonize with blue suits. Gray suits should be worn with gray or black socks.

Except for formal wear, more freedom is permitted in socks. For sports or business they may be either ribbed or plain. They may be in solid colors or gentle patterns.

Do not purchase very short socks or anklets. There is nothing handsome about bare masculine legs showing above the socks. It is unlikely that a man will sit sedately at all times.

What man does not cross his legs now and then?

A good pair of garters is recommended if you have long socks. Most socks today have elastic tops for support.

Heath Tosses Perfect Game For The Kiwanis

Kelly Heath decided it wouldn't be fair to keep folks wondering when the first Little League no-hitter would be tossed, so it did it on the second day of play. Not only was it a no-hitter, but he didn't allow anyone to reach for a perfect game, as he led the Kiwanis to a 4-0 win over the Lions.

The win gives the Kiwanis a 1-0 record, tying them with R. C. Cola in the North State League. The Jaycees and Lions are 0-1, while Coca-Cola and the Optimists join in the action today.

Heath struck out 14 batters of the 18 he faced, and had an assist on another. He struck out the first 11 men he faced before Jeff Smith finally got wood on the ball, flying out.

Meanwhile, the Kiwanis were getting enough runs to win it in the first inning. Clayton Brock walked and Heath doubled. Ed Mayo reached on error, scoring Brock.

The Kiwanis picked up three more in the third. Brock singled and Sidney Ashby walked. Heath doubled in Crock, and Mayo doubled to score Ashby and Heath.

Heath led the Kiwanis hitting with two.

Moose Win

The Moose took a 4-1 victory over the Exchange yesterday in the Tar Heel Little League. The Moose had to rally for all four runs in the fifth inning to get the win.

The Moose and the Graniters are now tied for the league lead with 1-0 records, while Integon and the Exchange are both 0-1. Pepsi-Cola and the Elks open their season today.

The Exchange picked up their only run in the fourth inning. Mike Brewington opened the inning with a double and advanced to third on Gene Bunn's ground out. Brewington scored on a wild pitch.

The Moose came up with all four of their runs in the fifth inning to take the win. Jimmy Hodges and Mickey Finn both walked, but Hodges was out at third when John Lawler reached on a fielder's choice. Greg Sasser reached on an error, loading the bases, and Henry Baker singled in Finn. Paul Farmer hit a sacrifice fly to score Lawler, and a single by Keith Jones brought Sasser and Baker over for the victory.

Baker, in tossing the victory, allowed only two hits by the Exchange, as he struck out 10 and walked two.

Greene In Title Tie

SNOW HILL — Greene Central took a 2-1 victory over Southern Wayne yesterday to gain a tie for the Eastern Plains Conference baseball title.

Both Greene Central and North Lenoir finished off the regular season with identical records, and are tentatively scheduled to meet Friday in Kinston to play off the title. The winner will advance into the State Class 2-A Playoffs.

Greene Central got both of its runs in the first inning. Robert Ivey walked and Donald Taylor reached on a bunt single. Donnie Harris walked, loading the bases. Tim Kearney singled in Ivey, and a sacrifice fly by Billy Albritton brought Taylor home.

Southern Wayne loaded the bases with none out in the fourth, but was unable to score. Then, in the seventh, they finally pushed over a run, but couldn't catch up. Sasser and DeBrehie both singled in the inning and Grantham walked to load the bases. A wild pitch allowed Sasser to score, but Greene Central came up with the final out to get away with the win.

Pirates Sign Jersey Cager

East Carolina University has landed its second high school basketball star within the past five days with the announcement that New Jersey prep star Steve Steinberg has signed a grant-in-aid with the Pirates.

Head Basketball Coach Tom Quinn announced the signing Wednesday. Only last Friday the Pirates landed Nicky White of Kinston.

The 6-7, 225-pound Steinberg averaged 23 points and 25 rebounds a game as a forward for Rutgers Prep in New Brunswick, N.J., this past season.

"Steve is already big enough to play big time college basketball," said Quinn, "and I think he will get bigger. He wears a size 16 shoe and has the frame for more weight."

"His jump shooting ability from the corner coupled with his size makes Steve a natural for our system of play," added

Quinn. "I think he will be a top player in the conference with further development and growth."

Steinberg's high school coach, Dick O'Connor of Rutgers prep, said his star forward chose ECU over such schools as St. Joseph's, Pa., Texas - El Paso and Boston U. because of the schedule, the personal interest shown in Steve's desire to develop as a corner man in ECU's 1-4 offense, and the pre-legal and business curriculum offered by the university.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. David Steinberg of Freehold, N.J., Steinberg is an all-around athlete. He has pitched a no-hitter in baseball this spring and is one of the top long-ball hitters on the Rutgers Prep team. However, he may decide by bypass baseball at ECU in order to concentrate more on his dual ambition of becoming an attorney and playing pro basketball.

Trackster Inks Pact With Bucs

Charles Lovelace, not only one of the top sprinters in Virginia but also a strong competitor in the triple jump and long jump, has signed with East Carolina University, it was announced this week by Pirate Track Coach Bill Carson.

The versatile Lovelace led Gretna (Va.) High School to fifth place in the Group II state championship meet this spring, scoring 12 of his team's 14 points. He tied the state record by winning the 100 yard dash in 10 seconds flat, placed second in the long jump and fourth in the 220.

In his district meet Lovelace won three events — 100, 220 and long jump — and ran the anchor leg on the winning 880 yard relay for Coach Dennis Craddock's Gretna team.

His best times are 9.9 in the 100 and 22.6 on a curve in the 220. His best distances are 21-10 in the long jump and 43-0 in the triple jump. Lovelace's versatility is unmatched in the state.

"We are extremely fortunate to have recruited this blue-chip athlete," said Carson. "We feel Charles can run a 9.6 next year for ECU. He is an outstanding young man — both athletically and academically."

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lovelace of Hurt, Va.

Finish Regular Slate Against Duke Today

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Ron Hastings, who has already proven that he is one of the top starting pitchers around, proved that he can also be a fireman too. He came in yesterday in the seventh inning with the bases loaded by Campbell Camels and preserved the Pirates 3-1 advantage by getting the side out.

Tim Bayless had drawn the starting assignment, and had been hurling a fine game until an error and two straight walks got him into trouble in the seventh with none out. He had allowed only four hits, and three of those had been flukes.

Hastings, in adding three more scoreless innings to his total for the season, dropped his earned run average to 0.375 for the year.

Campbell got off to a mild threat in the first. Denver McCullough reached on a fielder's choice and stole second, but died there. In the second, the Camels threatened again. Ron Hawled led off with a single to center and moved up on an out. George DeTurris got a hit when his grounder to short took a wild bounce over Dick Corrada's head, putting runners on first and third. But a double play halted the threat.

Finally, in the fourth, the Camels used two more hits to push over their only run. With two outs, Hawley hit a grounder to second that also took a bad hop for a single. Harold Ingle followed up with a fly to right that Mike Aldridge started in for, then had to backpaddle, and couldn't quite catch up with before it fell in for a double, scoring Hawley for a 1-0 lead.

Bayless held Campbell at bay for the next two innings before Hawley opened up the seventh by reaching on an error. Bayless walked both Ingle and DeTurris, loading the bases, and Hastings came in relief. Bill Dereski grounded back to third, and the double play got him and the runner coming from third. The next batter, Doug Walker, also grounded out, ended the inning. Hastings gave up a single in the eighth, and walked one in the ninth, but no harm was done.

East Carolina got its first threat in the second. With one out, Larry Walters walked and moved to third on Dennis Vick's single. Stu Garrett missed on the suicide squeeze attempt, however, and Walters was caught in a rundown, ending that threat.

Finally, in the fifth, the Bucs managed to put things together to push over two runs and take the lead. Walters again walked and was sacrificed to second. Garrett bunted safely on board, with Walters moving into third.

Garrett broke for second, and the ball was thrown there, but was relayed back without a play as Walters headed home. He reached safely, but the catcher errored the ball as Garrett took off for third. The ball rolled into the ECU dugout, and Garrett was awarded home on the play.

The Bucs added their final run in the seventh. Walters singled with one out, and Vick got a hit to deep short. Garrett walked, loading the bases. Len Dowd hit back to short, but Walters came home on the play as the double play attempt was not in time.

Bucs Slate 14 Home Cage Games

Coach Tom Quinn and his East Carolina University basketball team believe there's no place like home.

The Pirates will play a 24-game schedule in 1970-71 and 14 of those contests will be played in the friendly confines of Minges Coliseum in Greenville, where Quinn's teams have not lost often in recent years.

ECU Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich announced the 1970-71 schedule this week. Highlighting the slate is a Jan. 19 home date against nationally ranked Davidson, the defending Southern Conference champion. The Pirates also will play the Wildcats in the Charlotte Coliseum on Dec. 9.

East Carolina will visit Jacksonville, Fla., to play Jacksonville University, the No. 2 team in the nation last season, on Feb. 22.

Other highly regarded foes are East Tennessee State of the strong Ohio Valley Conference, nationally ranked Old Dominion, always-tough Marshall University, and two rugged Eastern independents — St. Francis, Pa., and St. Peter's, N.J.

All games are set for an 8 p.m. tipoff.

The complete schedule: DECEMBER—4 - George Washington (home); 7 - Baptist College (home); 9 - Davidson (Charlotte); 12 - East Tennessee State (home); 14 - Roanoke (home); 16 - St. Francis (Loretto, Pa.); 19 - Old Dominion (Norfolk, Va.).

JANUARY—2 - Marshall (Huntington, W. Va.); 5 - Richmond (Richmond, Va.); 9 - VMI (Lexington, Va.); 13 - Old Dominion (home); 16 - Furman (Greenville, S.C.); 19 - Davidson (home); 23 - William & Mary (Williamsburg, Va.); 27 - St. Francis, Pa. (home); 30 - VMI (home).

FEBRUARY—1 - St. Peter's, N.J. (home); 3 - Belmont Abbey (home); 6 - Richmond (home); 8 - Southern Mississippi (home); 13 - The Citadel (Charleston, S.C.); 20 - William & Mary (home); 22 - Jacksonville U. (Jacksonville, Fla.); 27 - The Citadel (home).

Ernie Banks Finally Gets His 500th Homer; Allen Clouts One In St. Louis

By DICK JOYCE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ernie Banks has reached another plateau while Richie Allen is reaching for the sky.

The 39-year-old Banks banged out his 500th career homer Tuesday in helping the Chicago Cubs edge the Atlanta Braves 4-3 in 11 innings.

Allen unloaded a 450-foot blast that carried more than 60 feet above the Busch Stadium left field wall to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 9-5 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

"I don't know about distance and all that," said Allen, the once-unhappy Phillie, "but I will say there's nothing too good for the fans of St. Louis."

In other National League games Cincinnati topped Pittsburgh 5-3, San Diego edged San Francisco 6-5, Houston downed Los Angeles 8-3 and New York beat Montreal 8-4.

Baltimore nipped Minnesota 5-4, Chicago upended Detroit 7-2, New York ripped Milwaukee 9-5, California edged Boston 6-5 and Oakland defeated Washington 5-3 in 11 innings in American League action. Kansas City at Cleveland was rained out.

In slugging his 11th homer of the season and third in three games, Allen joined four others who have reached the upper deck in St. Louis — Willie McCovey, Orlando Cepeda, Mike Shannon and Deron Johnson.

Shannon commented: "Mine was a high fly. Richie will hit some further than that one, you can bet. I've already seen him hit some in practice."

Joe Hague and Allen drove in four runs apiece while Lou

Ayden Rolls

AYDEN — The Ayden Tornados began warming up for the State Playoffs with a 14-2 victory over Vanceboro High School yesterday.

Ayden pushed over two runs in the first to take the lead. Ken Cleaton led off with a single, stole second and moved into third on a wild pitch. Alan Wilson doubled to drive him in, and moved into third on an out. Bennett Tyson came up with another double, scoring Wilson for a 2-0 lead.

In the second, Ayden added four more runs. Lavern Loftin walked and Robert Twilley singled. Cleaton brought Loftin home with a double and Mike Griffin walked, loading the bases. Wilson got a hit, scoring both Twilley and Cleaton. But Wilson was caught in a rundown, and Griffin came home before the tag was made.

Vanceboro came up with its two runs in the top of the third, and that only sparked Ayden onward, and they scored five in the bottom of the frame. Loftin and Twilley both reached on fielder's choices, and Doug Phillips walked, loading the bases. Cleaton doubled to score Loftin and Twilley. Wilson walked, and Manning tripled to drive in the final three runs.

Ayden added three more in the fourth.

Cleaton led the Ayden hitting with four, while Wilson and Manning each had two.

Brock collected four hits in backing up Chuck Taylor's four-hit relief pitching through seven innings.

Banks' homer came in the second inning off Pat Jarvis for his third of the season, putting him with eight others in the 500-club, headed by Babe Ruth's 714.

He admitted that the pressure to hit No. 500 was getting to him "I was thinking about it on and off the field almost all the time," said the man socked his first homer on Sept. 20, 1953 against Gerry Staley in St.

Louis. "Before games Leo Durocher and others on the team would talk to me. They could tell it was building up."

Ron Santo's scratch single with the bases loaded in the 11th pulled the Cubs past Atlanta. Billy Williams hit his 12th homer of the year to send the game into extra innings. The Braves' Rico Carty extended his hit skein to 30, seven short of Tommy Holmes' league mark.

Cincinnati's Jim Merritt pitched a four-hitter against Pittsburgh to become the majors' first seven-game winner

Gum Swamp, Grace Get Wins

Gum Swamp and Grace took victories in the Church Softball League last night. Gum Swamp downed Presbyterian, 9-8, and Grace beat Immanuel, 11-7.

NEW BERN — The New Bern Bears came up with five runs in the fourth inning, and held off any attempts of Rose High School to rally to virtually close out any chances of the Rampants to win the divisional championship. The Bears took the game, 5-3.

The loss dropped the Rampants to a 5-4 record with only one game left to play. Goldsboro and Kinston are tied for the league lead with 7-2 records. Rose would have only a chance to tie for the title should they down Kinston Friday, and Goldsboro be beaten in its final game, and the Rampants are allowed a replay of their loss to Wilson and come away with a win.

It does not appear, however, that the ruling on the protest will come unless the first two of these three occurs.

Rose looked like a winner for the first three and a half innings, as they built up a 3-0 lead over the hapless Bears, who had won only one game prior to yesterday's outing.

The Rampants took the lead in the first inning, pushing over a run. Larry Hatton opened things up with a double and advanced to third on Ronnie Leggett's ground out. Bill Lee's single brought Hatton over for a 1-0 edge.

In the second, Rose came up with two more runs to boost the lead to 3-0. Jimmy Paige opened with a walk and advanced when Kim Harbin's infield grounder was errored. Both runners moved up a base on a wild pitch, and Joe West walked, loading the bases. Jimmy Bond and Alan Pate both drew walks, forcing Paige and Harbin across.

Rose threatened again in the top of the third when Tommy Durham doubled to center, but was unable to advance.

At this point, New Bern has been unable to do anything with Leggett, who was on the mound. He had set them down in order through the first three innings without allowing a man to reach first.

But in the fourth, they exploded for five runs to take the lead, and eventually the game. Buck Jones led off the inning with an infield hit, and Jimmy Cayton was hit by a pitch. James Hill grounded back to third, and it looked like an easy out, but the ball was thrown wide, and Jones came across to score, and Cayton and Hill moved up. Chris Williams singled to drive in Cayton with the second run, and Harry Mosier cracked a double, driving in Hill and Williams to put New Bern on top, 4-3. Mosier advanced on a ground out, and scored when Tom Falkenberg's attempted sacrifice was errored.

New Bern offered only one other threat, in the bottom of the sixth. Mosier walked, was sacrificed to second and moved to third on a passed ball before being caught off third.

Rose, trying desperately to rally, found it impossible. They had a mild threat in the fifth, as Lee singled and Durham reached on an error. And in the sixth, West reached on an error and was sacrificed up. Both came to no avail, as New Bern effectively closed the door on the Rampants.

Rose now closes out its season on Friday, playing host to Kinston at Guy Smith Stadium. Game time is 4 p.m.

Hijacked Pilot Today Is Celebrity

By LYLE EDWARDS
Gastonia Gazette Writer
Written For The AP
GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—Until three weeks ago Boyce Stradley was just another pilot, flying charter passengers to places like Savannah, Ga., and Daytona Beach, Fla., and teaching students to fly.

Then one night a passenger stuck a loaded pistol in his back and said, "Let's go to Cuba."

What he had thought would be a $6 trip over Gastonia turned into a nightmare for Stradley. He made it to Havana, dropped off his two hijackers, and flew back to Gastonia—as a celebrity—26½ hours later.

A crowd of 200 was at the airport cheering him when he touched down in his single-engine plane. He was interviewed on radio and television.

The invitations are pouring in for him to speak to civic clubs, to church groups, to schools. Magazine writers are asking for interviews. One man called and suggested that Stradley's experience might be made into a movie.

Stradley is accepting as many invitations as he can.

"It has helped my business. I've got 100 per cent more business than I had before it happened," Stradley said.

"It's helped the company I work for too. We're getting calls from people who never heard of us. These are business calls, companies asking for freight to be hauled and for passengers to be flown."

Just two months ago he learned that he was being laid off by Holman-Moody of Charlotte. That's the company that builds racing cars for Ford Motor Co. Stradley was their pilot. When Ford cut its racing budget, Holman-Moody had to lay off 60 per cent of its work force.

"I was making $1,200 a month. I'm 56 years old. It's a shock for a man my age to be laid off," Stradley said.

Stradley got a job with a Gastonia aero service. He went to work—at a cut in pay—teaching students to fly and hauling freight and passengers.

"I'm on a salary and commission. The more students I have, the more I make," he said.

Suddenly he's in demand as an instructor. People learning to fly think he's the best. "I guess they figure if I can fly to Cuba, I can fly over Gastonia," Stradley said.

A pilot for 37 years, Stradley is doing what he has always wanted to do. As a barefoot boy he "hung around" airports in Gastonia and Charlotte, gassing the planes, cranking them up, and turning them around.

At 19 he got his pilot's license. He went to work at the Cannon Airport in Charlotte.

During World War II he was with the Ferry Service, ferrying military planes across the United States.

In the 1950s and 1960s he operated his own charter service. He flew some famous people. His passengers included Elvis Presley, Eleanor Roosevelt, and Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis.

Then he joined Holman-Moody. He flew the race drivers and pit crews to the Sunday races at Daytona Beach, Atlanta, Bristol, Martinsville, and Rockingham.

Stradley hasn't changed much through the years. His features are rugged, his face sunburned. The hair is gone from the top of his head. He has a slight rubber tire around the middle. He has an easy grin, a charm that draws people to him. He seems completely unaffected by all the publicity.

Two days after he returned from Cuba he went across town to see the parents of the young man who hijacked him. "I wanted to tell them," Stradley said, "that their son was all right."

He still flies passengers over Gastonia—a 15-minute ride for $6.

"Of course I look 'em over before I take 'em up. I don't want anybody carrying a knife or a gun," Stradley said.

The passengers look him over too. They recognize him from his pictures in the newspapers. One day last week, a man and woman bought a $6 ticket for a sightseeing trip over Gastonia. The man was about the same age and appearance of the hijacker.

Stradley hesitated a minute.

The customer peeled back his coat, turned his pants pockets inside out, and said, "Look, man, I'm clean."

No Snakebite, But Thorny Twig

KNYSNA, South Africa (AP)—Golfer Max Hulett thought a snake had wriggled into his pants when something sharp stabbed his leg. Caddies gawked as he pulled off his trousers and jumped four feet away. The shirt-tailed golfer thumped the pants with a stick. Nothing moved inside. He inspected the trouser leg and found a thorny twig stuck inside it.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—A small American delegation calls on UN Secretary General U Thant with a check for $7,626,000 for the United Nations Children's Fund. Representing millions of their fellow UNICEF supporters are (l. to r.) Lisa Newman, 12; Aaron Jansen, 7; and Frank Copsidas, 15, all active Trick-or-Treaters in the New York area, and Mrs. Guido Pantaleoni, Jr., President of the U.S. Committee for UNICEF. Last year's Halloween collection, plus proceeds from the sale of UNICEF greeting cards and direct gifts, enabled the U.S. Committee to turn over more than $7 million in public contributions to the Children's Fund for the second consecutive year.

Worry Clinic Degrees Can't Insure Quality

Howard may shock the educational "establishment" but he is correct. We need to stop thinking in terms of "quantity" and stress "quality" education! The number of degrees a teacher has often retards his success as a classroom motivator of pupils! And million dollar science halls don't make Einsteins any better than the old one - room brick schoolhouses!

GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE M-592: Howard H., aged 34, is a school principal. "Dr. Crane," he confessed, "I think our educational system is afflicted with degree -itis!"

"For our large city schools now try to have 70 percent of their high school teachers with a Master's Degree."

"Yet many of the faculty with the most degrees are the poorest in the classroom."

"Maybe this emphasis on advanced degrees is a reflection of the accreditation fad of colleges, which now demand a minimum number of thousands of books in the college library or that college is downgraded."

"Yet I have found that few college graduates ever read even 12 extra books in addition to their classroom text, despite 4 years at the university."

"Why stress a school library's 'quantity' of books and the 'number' of degrees of the faculty instead of 'quality' teaching by dedicated lovers of children?"

Howard is certainly correct, for most of you readers who attended high school and college, will remember that your best teachers were not necessarily those with the most degrees.

In fact, at the college level, the best teachers in the classroom are often young instructors, not even holding a Ph. D., but who "relate" to the students and understand their problems more vividly.

Actually, a college library might not need more than 1,000 books to rival any graduate of Harvard or the other richly endowed universities in the quality of its graduates.

For buildings don't teach! Neither do million dollar science laboratories! Or cluttered libraries!

It is dedicated men and women who transfer ideas from their own heads into the eager minds of devoted students.

And if the teachers love kids and enjoy molding the lives of teen -agers, they can do a superlative job in grade and high school with no more than 2 years of college!

The definition of a college used to be stated as:

"Mark Hopkins on one end of a log and the student on the other!"

A man or woman who truly likes children and has a missionary devotion to pedagogy, can be a far better teacher, after but 2 years in a standard teacher's college, than the usual Ph.D. college professor.

Here's the logical explanation:

The student who chooses pedagogy as his career, thus takes special courses in child and adolescent psychology, plus other practical classroom topics.

But the Ph.D. may never have had even a single 3-hour course in the entire field of teacher training.

Yet if he wangles a Ph.D. from some notable university, and has a letter of recommendation from his Dean or head of the department, he will be hired to teach at the college level, though he never had a single course in public speaking, educational psychology, etc.

You readers don't realize it, but the average college professor can't even teach in your grammar or high schools!

For he lacks the professional preparation. He didn't take the specialized courses that prepare a student to be a superb teacher!

And this drain on taxpayers for multi - million dollar consolidated schools is just a part of the modern expensive faddism in education.

The graduates of these costly schools can't read or write or use mathematics as well as those of the old one - room school houses!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

WYNBERG, South Africa (AP) — The female candidate for Parliament was irritated by hecklers at a political rally when she snapped: "I don't mind interjections. Idiots can't vote." A masculine voice retorted: "But they can stand for Parliament!"

Opening lead: Five of ♣
South lost his four heart contract today when he failed to take any measures to prevent an impending spade ruff which had been set up by the defenders.

West opened the five of clubs and East won the trick with the king. In an attempt to develop additional tricks for his side before declarer could bring dummy's diamond suit into play, East shifted to the queen of spades.

South played the ace from dummy and then led the queen of hearts for a finesse. West was in with the king and promptly cashed the king of spades and then led a small one which East ruffed for the setting trick.

Declarer's technique left much to be desired. It should have been obvious when East led the queen of spades, that he was short in that suit. South must therefore exert the maximum effort to prevent West from obtaining the lead to give his partner a ruff. He could have accomplished this objective with the existing distribution by simply refusing the heart finesse, and playing the ace and another heart. West can go in with the king on the second round, however, East has no more trump and the spade ruff is thereby averted.

There is more to the hand than this, however. Observe that if East has the king of hearts—where that card is finessable—the play of the ace and another trump may prove fatal if East holds the third heart and can put his partner in with the king of spades for the ruff.

In order to achieve the maximum protection, proper technique calls for the declarer to sever his opponent's line of communications. This can be accomplished by permitting East to hold the lead with the queen of spades at trick two. If the latter continues with a spade, South is in and if he plays the ace and another heart and it develops that East has the king of that suit—the latter will be unable to put his partner in for the ruff, since he has no more spades.

Canada Is Also Having Its Inflation Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — Canada, too, is having its problems with inflation, which suggests that the persistence of this malady in the United States Economy may not be solely the result of an improper approach to the problem.

Canada, however, is attacking the problem a bit more directly. Unlike the United States, where the defeat of inflation is expected to be a natural result of an economic slowdown, Canada is considering direct credit controls.

Moreover, the Canadian government already has developed a program of voluntary restraints on prices and wages that has met with some success during the past few months, although the exact amount cannot be measured.

Here is a comparison of results in the battle against inflation:

Consumer Price Increases: In Canada, nearly 5 per cent, in the United States close to 6 per cent.

Unemployment: In Canada, slightly more than 5 per cent on an annual basis. In the United States, 4.8 per cent in April and rising swiftly.

Industrial Output: In Canada, continuing at a slow pace but showing signs of perking up. In the United States, at a standstill or even falling back some.

Budget: Canada's is in surplus, meaning that the government is restricting economic activity. The U.S. budget also calls for a surplus, but many doubts are arising about the feasibility of this in either fiscal 1970 or 1971.

Perhaps the biggest difference is in the interpretation of economists. Many economists believe the United States is in the midst of a mild recession, based on declines in production.

Claim Record Cheese-Eating

GRAHAMSTOWN, South Africa (AP) — Two Rhodes University students claim they eclipsed the world record for eating cheese dry. Anne Wiles, 17, ate one pound, 2.1 ounces of cheese in 30 minutes. Bernice Cohen, 19, consumed one pound 4.5 ounces in the same time. The former record was said to be one pound, two ounces in half an hour. Contestants were not allowed to drink anything during the competition.

The Walleye is the largest member of the perch family.

Dog Rescued Suspected Thief

KLERKSDORP, South Africa (AP) — An African housebreak suspect lived to bless the police dog that chased him. He jumped into a brook to escape the dog's sharp fangs, but got into trouble when he waded in deeper. He went under twice and came up again to find the dog at his side. "He took my arm in his teeth and kept me above the surface until the policeman arrived to help me out," the man said.
