

Nixon Spending Formula

Bulk Of $500 Million To Help School Integration

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon will spend the bulk of a special $500 million education fund in the coming academic year to aid integration rather than bolster segregated schools, high administration sources say.

The spending formula, part of Nixon's message to Congress today on school integration, in effect allocates almost two-thirds of the money to school districts North and South that are breaking up segregated classrooms. Minority students in these districts will count twice in a formula based on the number of Negro and other minority group pupils.

The chief executive disclosed his intention to establish the special fund in a March 24 school desegregation statement. A special Cabinet committee worked out details over the past two months for spending $500 million in fiscal 1971 and $1 billion the year after.

A last minute rhabarb, however, had developed between the Budget Bureau and the department of Health, Education and Welfare over how much of the $500 million would actually flow from the Treasury next year.

According to highly reliable sources, Education Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. telephoned the President in anger Wednesday morning after learning Budget officials listed outlays of only $150 million in fiscal 1971. J. Stanley Pottinger, HEW civil rights chief, placed a similar call to the White House.

Budget officials reportedly believed that while $500 million would be committed only $150 million could actually be spent by the districts during the academic year. Treasury withdrawals often lag behind appropriation commitments by many months.

Allen was assured by the President the Budget Bureau would be overruled and the schools allowed to spend as much of the $500 million as they could, the sources said.

White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler confirmed Wednesday afternoon the full $500 million appropriation will be requested from Congress, even though it might add to the projected budget deficit for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1971. The President had said initially the sum would be extracted from other domestic programs and not change overall budget figures.

The final spending formula runs counter to earlier reports that over half the special fund would go to improve the academic environment in segregated schools.

About one-third of the $500 million will be reserved for the HEW secretary to fund particularly innovative or meritorious experiments in integration or interracial experiences, sources said. Much of this is expected to go to Southern schools under particularly rigorous court-ordered desegregation plans.

The remaining two-thirds will be allocated to districts in proportion to their numbers of minority group children. Each state, however, will receive a minimum lump sum of $100,000, sources said.

Districts with desegregation plans will receive double because their minority group children will be counted twice in the formula.

The formula strongly encourages districts without such plans to undertake integration experiments—such as mixed cultural events involving otherwise racially-isolated schools, officials said.

The money in general will be used for the special needs of communities desegregating their schools. These include new classrooms and facilities, additional teachers, and special teacher training in preparation for integration.

Polling Places Are Established For Referendum

Two polling places for the registration and election for the June 27 Greenville School District referendum have been established. One is at Elm Street Gymnasium; the other at Third Street School Auditorium.

In the resolution approving the special election, the Pitt County Board of Commissioners set forth conditions to be met for the election, which includes that any resident eligible to vote may register at either of the two polling places. However, a person must vote at the place they register.

For the referendum at which voters will decide if they wish or do not wish to increase the current 25 cents per $100 property valuation for the Greenville School District to a maximum of 50 cents per $100, it will be necessary, under law, for each voter to register in a new registration to be held for this special election.

Under the supervision of Bruce Koonce, Chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, the new registration will begin on May 30 and the books will remain open through Saturday, June 13. Hours of registration, to be held each day except Sunday and any legal holidays, will be from nine o'clock in the morning until six o'clock in the afternoon.

Saturday, June 20 has been established as Challenge Day for the elections.

Only those persons who are residents of the area comprising the Greenville School District and who are 21 years old or older are eligible to register and vote in this election.

Communists View Prolonging Of War

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The United States berated the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong delegations today after listening to them charge that President Nixon is planning to keep U.S. troops in Cambodia indefinitely.

U.S. Ambassador Philip C. Habib declared at the Paris peace talks that "no constructive purpose is served by talking about the situation in that country without referring to the central fact of a massive North Vietnamese presence there."

The ambassador then made an apparent reference to the great stores of munition and food turned up by the U.S. and South Vietnamese incursion into enemy base areas in Cambodia.

"Instead of making one-sided charges about current American and South Vietnamese operations in Cambodia," he said, "you might better speak of what you are prepared to do about the presence of North Vietnamese troops in Cambodia, the presence of North Vietnamese military bases in Cambodia and the presence there of tons of war material and food supplies for the forces of your side."

The North Vietnamese and Viet Cong asserted that Nixon's assurances that the Cambodian operation would be limited in time and space were "aimed at appeasing public opinion."

Nguyen Minh Vy, North Vietnamese emissary to the 6th peace talks session, said the "Nixon administration is trying to pave the way of the prolongation of the occupation of Cambodian territory beyond the so-called time limit of June 30 that Mr. Nixon set up for the U.S. invasion of Cambodia."

Vy said the United States is preparing for an indefinite stay in Cambodia "by U.S.-commanded troops if not by U.S. troops themselves."

Dinh Ba Thi of the Viet Cong said the White House had announced that U.S. troops would stay beyond the deadline and that Saigon had said its forces would remain without limit.

If allied troops are now in Cambodia, ambassador Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam replied, the fault is North Vietnamese.

"We have time and time again pointed out clearly that the presence of Communist North Vietnamese troops on the territory of neighboring countries and the acts of aggression of these troops are the origins of the present war," Lam said.

Orders Flags At Half-Staff All Memorial Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has ordered American flags to fly at half-staff all of Memorial Day as a special tribute to the men who have died in Vietnam.

Normally, the flag is at half-staff until noon on Memorial Day, then is flown for the remainder of the day at full staff.

But, Nixon said in his proclamation, the "tragic struggle in Vietnam" requires a marked tribute. "It is not enough to express our gratitude to the heroic dead by thought and prayer and special reverence on Memorial Day."

The proclamation expressed the hope for a more fitting tribute of "a peaceful world, free of the destructive conflicts that have plagued man's history."

'Hardhats' Enraged By American Flag-Burners

By PAUL SERAFINI

NEW YORK (AP) — What moves construction workers to rage about peace demonstrators more than anything else is "when they burn American flags," says Ronnie Ambrose, a brawny 35-year-old ironworker. Ambrose was among the tens of thousands of workers who paraded beneath a swirling sea of flags in lower Manhattan Wednesday to show support for the administration's Indochina policy.

"We don't care if they hold up peace symbols," he said of anti-war demonstrators. "But if they desecrate the American flag or hold up the Viet Cong flag, we're going to fight."

Flag-burners "are sicker than guys tearing up the campuses or rioting," said Ambrose, who lives in Jersey City, N.J. "I saw the same thing when I was working in Boston," he said. "The hardhats beat them up and they even beat up some women."

Ambrose did not hesitate to add that he would "beat up" anyone he saw burning the flag publicly. He said, however, that the workers were ordered by their union leaders not to use violence during Wednesday's rally "even if we got killed by them (counterdemonstrators)."

The demonstration was peaceful.

Ambrose, born in Iowa City, Iowa, said he left after being graduated from the local high school and joined the U.S. Marine Corps. He said he served for 15 months in the Korean war zone during his six-year hitch.

"South Korea was a good prosperous country until the Communists invaded it," he said. "We were wrong to get out of there so soon."

The ironworker said he did not hate Communists because communism "is a workable political system for some countries."

Traffic Toll

RALEIGH (AP) — The Motor Vehicle Department's report of highway deaths and injuries for the 24 hours ending at midnight Wednesday:

Killed	4
Injured (rural)	21
Killed this year	559
Killed to date last year	609
Injured to April 1, 1970	12,499
Injured to April 1, 1969	12,452

"If countries choose the system for themselves in a peaceful way, it could be good for them, but it's not a good system for us," Ambrose said. He added, "If they start to grab other countries, they should be stopped."

He said he supports the foreign policies of President Nixon because he believes they are in line with the policy advocated by the United States after World War II and followed by every president up until now, regardless of his political party.

"I put my trust in Nixon to do what he thinks is right for us,"

Ambrose said. "He is doing what all those other presidents have done and they all must have believed in what America was doing."

The ironworker said Nixon should receive the support of all Americans, including those who do not support his policies.

"It's like my union leader's position," Ambrose said. "He was elected by a majority of the members in a democratic manner. I support my union leader, even if I don't like the way he's running the union, until a new election comes along and then I vote for someone else."

On To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — Hurricane Alma, with pouring rains and slashing winds, raked Jamaica and the Cayman Islands today and headed for Cuba.

The three islands of the Cayman chain—the homes of fishermen which in recent years have begun attracting tourists seeking the rustic island life—had winds of about 40 knots, the National Hurricane Center estimated.

Jamaica, with spas that attract millions of tourist dollars a year, took the heaviest blows on its western end.

But Alma's path took her between the Caymans and Jamaica and on a course that would carry the frailing storm—with winds just barely of hurricane force at 75 miles per hour in the center—over land in Camaguey Province on the eastern end of Cuba.

Treaty Terms Are Offered By Brandt

KASSEL, Germany (AP) — Opening the second round of summit talks between the divided Germans, West German Chancellor Willy Brandt offered East German Premier Willi Stoph a treaty calling for diplomatic relations just short of full recognition.

Brandt also held out the possibility of United Nations membership for both Germans as falling within the scope of his 20-point treaty.

Brandt proposed the treaty as the two leaders met 50 miles inside West Germany to continue their discussions on ways to improve relations between Germany's two halves.

Stoph countered with a renewed demand for full recognition from Bonn as a first step toward better relations.

After their opening speeches, Brandt and Stoph met privately. In submitting the treaty, Brandt did not mention the United Nations directly, but said both Germans would make arrangements for membership in international organizations.

U.N. membership has long been an East German demand.

Early Leaf Sale Prospects 'Dim'

SANFORD, N.C. (AP)—Prospects appear dim for an early opening of auction sales on North Carolina's Eastern and Middle belts, a state tobacco marketing specialist said Wednesday.

John H. Cyrus of the state Department of Agriculture said in a talk to the annual meeting of the Middlebelt Warehouse Association that buying companies have indicated it would be extremely difficult for them to put buyers on early sales on the two belts.

Wooten Complaint Hearing Scheduled June 22

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Private and official reaction to Mayor Frank M. Wooten Jr.'s complaint against the City of Greenville, in which he is seeking to restrain the municipal government through court action from carrying out plans for the Central Business Development Project, are beginning to be manifest.

City Attorney David Reid, commenting on the complaint, said: "The complaint filed by Mayor Wooten, S.H. Skinner and J.J. Perkins is a broadside attack upon almost every conceivable phase of the CBD Project.

"The attack centers upon the question of whether or not ad valorem tax revenue will be used by the City of Greenville to defray the city's share of the cost of the project," Reid continued.

Reid noted that "Judge William J. Bundy has set a show cause hearing made returnable before Judge Joseph W. Parker on June 22. As city attorney, I will of course defend the city against these charges to the best of my ability along with the lawyers of the Redevelopment Commission and the Utilities Commission."

Kenneth Hite, attorney for the Redevelopment Commission, also termed the complaint an attack against the city. "I see it as an attack on actions the Redevelopment Commission and the city in planning this project and preparing for its execution," Hite remarked. "The plaintiffs have attacked it on very broad lines. The Redevelopment Commission for its part," Hite stated, "will vigorously defend this action, for it feels it has fully complied with all applicable laws of the state and federal governments."

The Project Advisory Committee has issued a statement expressing their objections to the mayor's complaint. "We, the members of the Central Business District Advisory Committee, strongly object to the action brought by the mayor to kill the CBD Redevelopment Project."

E. Hoover Taft Jr., Howard Moye, Thomas Webb, Charles A. White, Mrs. Mary Wendle, Mrs.

Marie Cox, George Coffman, O.E. Dowd, Jr., George W. Shoe, William H. Taft, Jr., Robert L. Smith, Clarence Tugwell and Dr. Sam T. White II have all signed the statement.

Other points outlined in the committee statement notes "In addition to the overwhelming endorsement of the project by the citizens in public hearings, the project has been endorsed and approved by our City Council, the City Planning and Zoning Commission, the Redevelopment Commission, the Greenville Utilities Commission, the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, East Carolina University, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. We know of no expression of opposition to the CBD Project by any organization of Greenville Citizens."

Turning to Greenville's mayor, the statement contains these comments: "It is beyond our understanding how our elected leader can say that all of these agencies are wrong. (Continued on page 10)

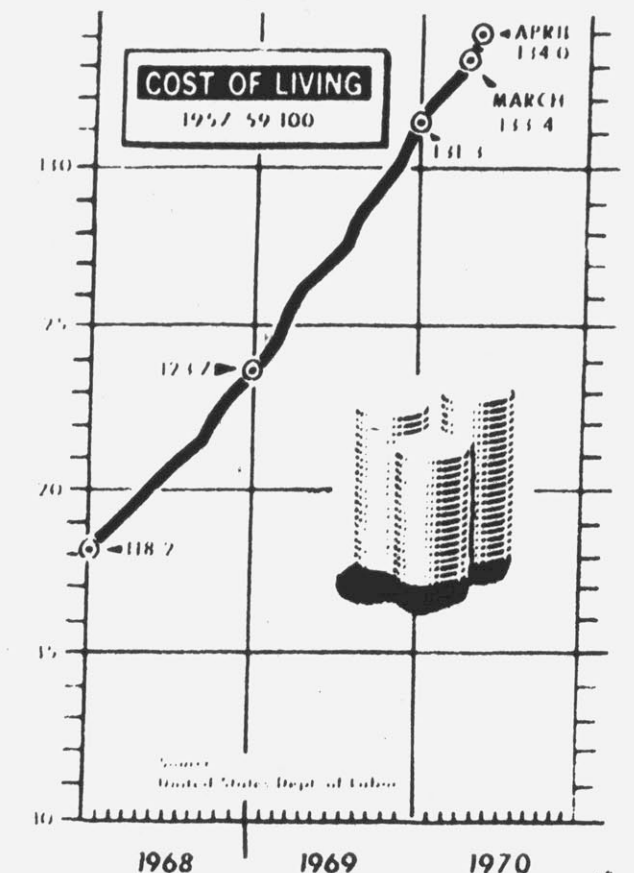

Park Funds

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones announced today the approval of a grant by the Department of Housing And Urban Development in the amount of $50,394.00 to Greenville to be used in the acquisition and development of a 25 acre park site to serve the recreational needs of the City of Greenville and surrounding area.

This project will be located on Hooker Road and will include a football field; two (2) softball fields; a junior sized ball park; four (4) tennis courts; a tot lot area, and picnic facilities.

Jones said that he was pleased that approval had been given to this project as there is tremendous need for additional recreational facilities throughout the country and especially in Eastern Carolina.

Cheerless Cost Of Living Data

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dinner at home cost no more in April than in March but the price of eating out continued its way upward, the government says in a cheerless report on its battle against inflation.

"The White House, the administration, is disappointed," a spokesman said Wednesday after the Labor Department reported living costs rose at a 6 per cent annual rate last month.

The increase meant it cost $13.40 to buy the goods $13.32 would purchase in March and marked the 16th month of the worst inflation since the Korean War.

It was a sharp disappointment to President Nixon's economic advisers, who have been saying prices were beginning to respond to the stiff prescription of anti-inflationary medicine they began administering early last year.

But the administration continued to predict better times ahead. "We expect this reversal to be temporary," a White House spokesman said. "The projections are that prices will begin to show a decrease."

The raw increase for the month was six-tenths of one per cent, but when the Bureau of Labor Statistics made allowance for predictable seasonal changes it shrank to five-tenths.

Stretched out to give an annual rate, the figures show the increase would be 6 per cent if the same rate of inflation continued for 12 months. Overall, the increase was the largest since last December when the figure jumped at the same rate.

Of the unadjusted six-tenths, four-tenths was attributable to increased costs of consumer services, the Bureau said.

It added all of the increase in the food index—three-tenths of one per cent for the month and an annual rate of 7.1 per cent—came from higher prices for restaurant meals and snacks. There was no change in April for the price of groceries.

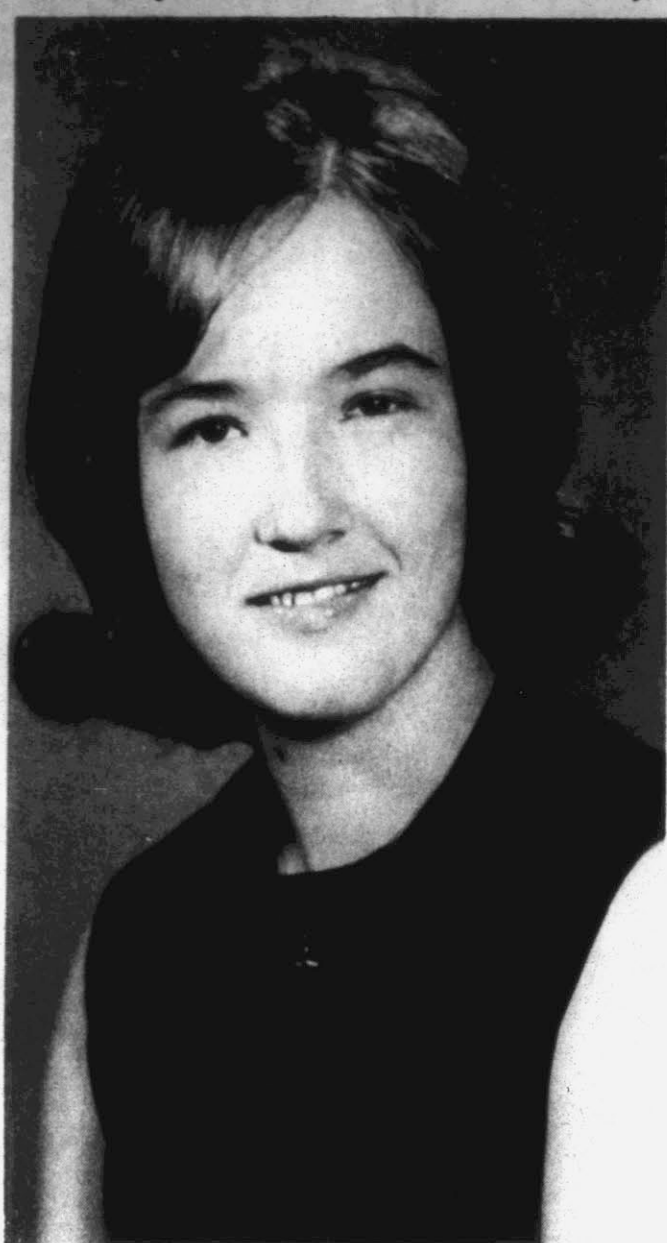

As well as the cost of eating out, gasoline and parking cost more in April. "Prices for services associated with housing, particularly residential property taxes, mortgage interest and utilities, continued to register the most important increases," the department said.

The Consumer Price Index was only one piece of disappointing economic news Wednesday. The stock market took another plunge, with the Dow-Jones industrial average dropping 14.85 points to 676.55, the lowest since March 1963.

Pointing up concern about the ailing market, Nixon scheduled a meeting today with Bernard Lasker, chairman of the New York Stock Exchange. The meeting was requested last month, a spokesman said.

The AFL-CIO took a dismal view of the latest price increases. "It is self-evident that the administration's anti-inflation program is just not working," a spokesman for the labor federation said. "Inflation is now the worst in 20 years with the sharpest unemployment jump in 10 years."

Unemployment this month jumped to 4.8 per cent from 4.4 per cent in April. It matched the sharpest increase in a decade and meant almost 4 million people are out of work, an increase of 300,000 from the month.

Neighbor Child Needs Kindness

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have an 11-year-old daughter I'll call Susie. My problem is what to do about her constant playmate, I'll call Mary. Mary lives around the corner and she and Susie are like Siamese twins.

Mary is a nice child, but her mother is a divorced woman who entertains gentlemen friends every night. [You know the kind?] Apparently she has no shame before her daughter from what Mary tells Susie. I've told Susie the facts of life, but it's nothing compared to what Mary has told her!

I hate to forbid Susie to play with Mary, but I can't have my daughter associating with a child who sees her mother carrying on with men and is probably taught to believe there is nothing wrong with it. Please tell me what to do.

SUSIE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Why punish an innocent child [Mary] for the "sins" of her mother? You could do Mary a tremendous favor by making her especially welcome in your home, where wholesome attitudes and decency prevail. Don't worry, Mary won't "corrupt" your daughter. In the meantime, the little neighbor girl needs kindness and understanding, not punishment for a situation for which she is blameless.

DEAR ABBY: Someone said she read in your column that when a light-skinned black and a white person marry it is not possible for them to produce a coal black baby. I can't believe you said that because everyone knows a baby can be a throwback to several generations. Please put your answer in the paper. I want PROOF!

TOLEDO

DEAR TOLEDO: A child born of a black-white couple will not be darker than the darker parent. If two individuals marry, BOTH of whom have some black ancestry, it is possible for their children to be one or two shades darker than the darker parent, but no "coal black baby" suddenly pops up. One parent or the other would have to have been "coal black."

DEAR ABBY: Would you please pass on these tips for girls who want to know if a man is married or single?

1. Beware of the man who removes his white shirt and necks in his underwear because it's "too hot." [His wife checks his shirts.]
2. The man who always washes his face before he leaves your apartment.
3. The man with the dirty license plate on his car if the rest of his car is clean. [He's experienced in hiding.]
4. The man who always leaves before midnight because he "has to get up early in the morning."
5. The man who visits his "mother" on holidays and every week-end, and he can't make dates with you very far in advance. [He never knows when his wife will let him out.]
6. The man who'd rather bring a bottle to your apartment than take you out because he wants to "relax" in peace and quiet.

Thanks, Abby, for all the advice I've received from you thru the years. You probably wonder why I'm still married. So do I. I can't sign my name because I'm still putting on a happy marriage act for the neighbors.

Dr. Humber Is AAUW Speaker Monday Night

The Greenville Branch of AAUW held its final meeting for the year on Monday night in Erwin Hall. The topic of study for the year has been "Dilemmas in Foreign Policies."

Dr. Robert Lee Humber gave a conclusion to the study stating, that though we have had very few changes in our foreign policies since World War II, we must individually start thinking toward peace.

His concluding remark was that personal involvement is the final answer to our world problems.

Mrs. Wellington Gray conducted a brief business session. Members decided to study the following subjects during 1970-71: "Academic Communities, The Human Use of Urban Space" and "This Beleaguered Earth."

Mrs. Humber, Mrs. W. A. Pollard, Mrs. Daniel Taylor and Mrs. Gray plan to attend the South Atlantic Regional Conference at Meredith College in June. A leadership training course will be held at Meredith in July.

A letter was read urging all AAUW members to express concern about the current violence of young people to their legislators. Mrs. Dorothy Johnson will report to the group this fall on a possible project for members relating to "Follow Through."

Mrs. Anne Phillips was a guest for the evening. Mrs. Sylvester Green was program chairman. Hostesses were Mrs. Pollard, Mrs. W. I. Wooten, Miss Alice Wooten and Miss Louise Williams.

Some Hard Thinking Required

Once again Greenville voters are being called upon to go to the polls and decide on a special tax. On June 27 local voters will be deciding whether or not the tax levy for Greenville school district will be increased by 25 cents per $100 valuation to 50 cents.

The board of education has called on PTA presidents, Citizens Awareness Committee, Citizen's Advisory Committee and other interested groups to offer their active support of the additional tax. They have termed the additional funds as needed to meet the minimum budget proposed for the next school term. An effort to have a uniform school applied throughout the county by the county commissioners failed, so the county commissioners agreed to the Greenville district vote.

The school board has taken the position that it will furnish all the information it can to the citizen's groups that should be interested in the schools. However the board members included the statement "that the board give all the information and advice it can give and let interested groups take the matter from there."

Ideal Weather On The Farm

By BRYAN HANSLIP

RALEIGH, N.C. — Fine spring weather has given a good start to crops on North Carolina farms.

No severe late cold, ample moisture and warming temperatures on schedule added up to a favorable planting season for most sections of the state. As of mid-May, the outlook for Tar Heel farmers is bright and busy.

Near ideal conditions over the past two or three weeks made great progress in planting field crops, according to Statisticians Bill Harris and Walter Brand of the federal-state Crop Reporting Service. A countryside ride confirmed their report.

Early corn is up in neat rows of green feathers. Most of the blue-cured tobacco crop is in the field. Planting of peanuts and cotton is near completion.

Fresh strawberry pie for supper was another indication of good news from the farm. The berry harvest, now in its final stage, is estimated at 45,000 hundredweight, up from the 39,000 hundredweight of last year. Acreage is down from 1,700 in 1969 to 1,500 this year which means that farmers are getting a yield of about 30 hundredweight per acre in 1969.

Another instance of hefty per acre yield is in the wheat crop. Farmers are expected to equal last year's record of 42 bushels per acre, for a total production of 8.3 million bushels from 198,000 acres (also the same as 1969).

"When I was a boy on a Pamlico County farm," Harris recalled, "42 bushels an acre was a bumper crop for any wheat farmer. Now it's an average yield for the state. That's fantastic progress."

The credit largely is due to the Bluebon wheat variety, developed at North Carolina State University a few years ago. The variety made up 79 per cent of the wheat crop planted in the state last year. The percentage is expected to be even higher this year.

Early June will bring harvesting of the first of the Tar Heel peach crop. Although a few late maturing varieties were damaged some by spring frost, the general outlook is good. Production is forecast at 50 million pounds, including farm peaches as well as the commercial crop. This is down from the 56 million pounds of last year, due to a continuing decline in the number of trees maintained for production as well as the slight cold damage.

Since the South Carolina and Georgia peach production is expected to be off even more significantly, Tar Heel peach producers should be able to look forward to a good return on their harvest.

Except in the old and middle belts, the blue-cured tobacco crop has been transplanted. Acreage is estimated at 377,000 acres, down only slightly from the 378,500 acres of last year.

Farmers have indicated intentions to plant 175,000 acres of cotton, which would be the smallest Tar Heel crop since records began in the 1860's.

Farmers are like football coaches. They hedge predictions. Crops look good, they will say — if we don't get too much rain, or if a dry spell don't set in.

And that's the precarious nature of farming, dependent on the weather and factors over which little control can be exercised.

The Crop Reporting Service uses information from several sources to make up its monthly forecasts. Questionnaires mailed to farmers, reports from county agents and other agricultural workers, are supplemented by field travel and observation by the statisticians. Altogether, it provides an apt survey of the farm scene but one which must be continually reviewed and revised.

If there's any country blood in you it comes to the surface in May.

The month's warm days can bring to mind the feel of fresh turned earth, the scent of fertilizer going into the ground, the ache of muscles from plowing and planting.

Both Harris and Brand have a farm background which makes their work more than the shifting of figures on a page.

"I was born and raised in a Mississippi cotton field," Brand said. He came to Raleigh 15 years ago. The idea of farm life has a lingering appeal, particularly in the spring.

"It's a good life on the farm," he said, "but it's a hard way to make a living." He reflected a moment. "But maybe you shouldn't print that."

There is much general opposition among the public to any proposal that requires additional taxes these days. However, every qualified voter is going to have to make an individual decision about this issue prior to June 27. Each of us will have to decide how good we want our city schools to be next year and if it is worth it to each of us individually to vote for the additional tax.

Not only will each of us have to decide how we stand for or against the additional funds for our schools, we will also have to make a special effort to register to vote. This is true because this is a special referendum which requires a one-time registration. Thus only citizens who register will be qualified to vote.

Local citizens will have to do some hard thinking prior to June 27. As much as each of us dislikes additional taxes, we will be forced to take a good look at our school needs.

Good Site Choice For Rehabilitation Work

It is very gratifying that Greenville has been chosen by a state advisory committee as the site for a regional rehabilitation center. The recommendation will be subject to approval and funding by the 1971 General Assembly.

However the committee recommendation means that the chances of locating the center here are bright.

As the committee pointed out, the rehabilitation center here will fit in well with developments in medical education at East Carolina University and with the growth of Greenville as a medical center.

The center's location in Greenville will put it in a position to offer the greatest possible service to all Eastern North Carolina. We feel the committee has made a wise decision.

Future Threat In Philippines

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

MANILA — The deepening threat to the Philippines from the revived Communist guerrilla movement stems not from its numbers (scantily) or exploits (unspectacular) but from the government's inadequate response.

The Communist Huk-balahap (or "Huk") guerrillas are still far below their peak strength of the 1950s prior to nearly total suppression. According to reliable non-government estimates, Huk fighting guerrillas throughout the islands do not exceed 350, are indifferently armed and unaided by foreign Communists.

Nevertheless, danger lies in the foreseeable future. The existing Huks provide a nucleus for taking advantage of a classically ideal situation for guerrilla warfare: low public confidence in the government, exploitation of the poor by an oligarchical class, constant political turmoil.

Most important, the government of President Ferdinand Marcos is flunking the two tests of counterinsurgency, in the opinion of guerrilla warfare experts here. It has neither pursued the insurgents with relentless determination nor enacted credible social reform as an alternative to Communist promises.

The military failure has political roots. Until quite recently, the Philippine army could have wiped out the Huks anytime it desired. It did not do so for highly practical reasons: without Huks, there would be no justification for a 50,000-man army. To defend its budget before Congress, the army has enlarged on truth by putting Huk strength in excess of 2,000 (termed "budgetary Huks" by Manila's political insiders).

Moreover, Huk leaders often negotiate informal arrangements with local politicians from both Marcos's Nacionalista party and the opposition Liberal party. Sen Benigno Aquino, a 37-year-old Liberal who may be the next president, periodically collaborates with the Huks in his home province and actually views them as instruments to pry reforms out of the landowners.

Marcos himself is not immune from the syndrome. While aggressively anti-Communist in his rhetoric, he seldom disturbs the tranquility of local Huk-politico arrangements with an all-out assault on the Huks. Nor has he purged from his Administration some pro-Communist officials — notably, Secretary of Labor Blas Ople — whose importance stems from the intricacies of Philippine politics.

Overlying this is the absence of social reform. Although Marcos told us during an interview at Malacanang Palace that student radical demands are identical to what he has always advocated, he has bitterly disappointed those who expected much from his keen intelligence and great ability when first elected in 1965. So rudimentary a reform as enforced daily minimum wage of 80 cents for sugar workers remains unattainable.

This combined military and social nonchalance scarcely mattered while the Huks of the 1960s were still Mafia-style gangsters interested in profits, not politics. But a new kind of Huk is emerging in central Luzon, nerve center of Philippine insurrection with a population radically sensitized by 40 years of Marxist agitation.

Commander "Dante," a Peking-oriented Communist, leads some 150 of these new Huks. Their top cadre trained in Communist China, they are escalating the

The Slipshod Justice

Paradoxical as it may seem, conservatives will find much to agree with in the slim little volume recently published by Justice William O. Douglas. Among his "Points of Rebellion" are a dozen points of protest that repeatedly have occupied those of us out in right field.

For one example, the position taken by Mr. Justice Douglas on government personnel examinations is exactly in line with the position taken by Senator Sam Ervin of North Carolina, no flaming liberal he.

In his furious impatience with bureaucratic facelessness, and with the inhumanity of the computer, Douglas is at one with countless conservative spokesmen. When he denounces the follies of big dams and the reckless use of pesticides, without careful thought to ecological considerations, he is striking at a target we right-wingers have dive-bombed many times before.

Yet for all its agreeable passages, his book is an oddly incompetent, unreasoned, and slipshod piece of work — a pastepot pastiche of old slogans and leftover statistics. Mr. Justice Douglas is not speaking here in the great cadences of Paine or Jefferson or Henry; he is making Old No. One to the League of Women Voters, any Thursday morning on the chicken-salad circuit.

He thus perceives, as he perceived 20 years ago, that "a black silence of fear possesses the nation," and this is "in part the product of fear generated by Joseph McCarthy." He is spooked by old ghosts: "The China lobby," he says, "financed by the millions extorted and extracted by the Kuomintang, uses vast sums to brainwash us about Asia."

His figures are from last year's lectures, or from the year before. "In recent years," he says — without defining recent years — "two out of three Negro families have earned less than $4,000 a year." The most elementary inquiry would have disclosed to His Honor that in 1968, the median income of all Negro families was $5,590; one out of five Negro families in 1968 had achieved an income of more than $10,000 a year.

"In the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1969," he says, "the Pentagon will spend about 82 billion dollars, or 40 per cent of the Federal budget. Health and welfare will spend about 5.5 billion, or 27.2 per cent."

The eye blinks; the mind boggles. If 82 billion is 40 per cent of the budget, how could 5.5 billion be 27.2 per cent? But that is the way the notes fall out. The facts are, if it matters, that in 1969-70, defense expenditures were $79.4 billion in a total budget of $198 billion; health and welfare outlays, including education, Social Security and public assistance, were $67.5 billion.

Mr. Justice Douglas would cut defense spending to $20 billion at most; and one is minded to ask, what would he cut out? Military manpower alone? Weapons research? Is he proposing a unilateral disarmament? Ah, so. "Why," he asks, and he does not pause for his ladies to answer, "why cannot we work at cooperative schemes

To The Editor:

Greenville can be proud of her mayor, a man who values fairness above special-interest groups.

In challenging the decision of our city council to bring about the forced sale and redistribution of certain portions of our city, he is legally upholding the constitutional rights of many of our citizens.

As the only elected lawyer on our city council, his legal approach to resolve this matter should be appreciated in contrast with more violent reactions so common today.

In opposition to our mayor, the special-interest group in preparing their confiscatory program, conducted their appraisal of the involved area, enshrouded in secrecy, leaving the property owner no inkling of which way to turn — to upgrade — move out — support — or oppose a redevelopment plan for the central business district.

I believe the people of Greenville should support Mayor Wooten in his efforts to define the limits of the authority entrusted to our city council.

Sincerely yours,
James J. Smith, M.D.

Go-Getter Spirit Is Big Asset

By ELMER ROESSNER

It has long been taken for granted that the economic might of America is due to its wealth of natural resources, its minerals, its fuels, its water power, its climate and its rich soil. Those are its tremendous assets, of course.

World War II. Since then it has become third to the United States and the Soviet Union in industrial strength. It's real growth rate, Prof. Wilhelm said, is between 12 and 15 per cent a year, compared with 3 to 5 per cent a year in the U.S.

Running Out Of Resources

Yet the economist pointed out it has few natural resources.

"Within 10 years its supplies of iron ore will be exhausted and within 20 years the national reserves of copper, gold, lead and zinc will be gone."

"However, the loss of these national sources of raw materials probably will have no serious impact on the Japanese growth rates. The great bulk of raw materials used by Japanese industry is imported."

Japanese businessmen, he said, have in recent years become the largest single group of investors in the development of natural resources around the world. They buy American coal and scrap metal "at handsome prices," obtain leases for oil drilling in Alaska, buy copper ore in Canada, Ecuador and the Congo, minerals in Australia.

"The Japanese have shown that they are willing to deal with anyone, regardless of the suppliers' politics or ideology," Prof. Wilhelm said.

Where The Goods Are

The Japanese are in Latin America developing copper mines in face of nationalistic attitudes against foreign mining companies, and have made major trade agreements with the Soviet Union, he pointed out.

"They are shipping to the U.S.S.R. large amounts of machinery, equipment and consumer goods on very favorable credit terms in exchange for Siberian timber. They are negotiating the purchase of natural gas which, it is reported, will be transported by pipeline. The Japanese will help build from the Soviet Union to the most northerly of the Japanese islands.

"They are still seeking

RULES OF PRAYER

"And he spake a parable unto them to the end that men ought always to pray, and not to faint."

At first this seems a quite impossible command. How can people always pray and at the same time attend to their work?

Jesus would have us know that prayer is something more than uttered petition. It is the general set of our lives. The Greek word for prayer used here means to "wish forward." We pray when every detail of our lives is mastered by the urge of spiritual things. In the midst of life's chaos, Jesus declared that men must either pray or faint. As confusion about them becomes worse confounded, they must steady their souls with such a continual reliance upon the sovereign power of God that they will be supported, no matter what may happen.

Prayer, therefore, is to be both of a positive and negative character. We are always to pray. It is to be a constant activity of our spirits, a continued attitude of earnest desire directed toward God. This is prayer in its positive state. On the other hand, we are not to faint. We are to meet the onslaught of life's circumstances with a devout certainty that God is both willing and able to save us. We are to be assured that God means what He says.

Jesus was unrelenting in his insistence that prayer must be a regular habit in a disciple's life.

But there must be some other reason, too.

Ross J. Wilhelm, economist of the University of Michigan's graduate school of business, points out that another nation, with meager, diminishing natural resources, has become the third leading industrial nation in the world, with a growth rate three times that of the United States. The country, of course, is Japan.

One Sees A New World Riding Alaska Railroad

By JULES LOH
AP Newsfeatures Writer
HURRICANE GULCH, Alaska (AP)—The blue and gold train, named the Aurora, inched around the blind curve of the mountain and rolled ever so cautiously onto the spindly trestle.

Below, 300 feet, a turquoise creek rippled between banks of alabaster ice etched with the nervous paw prints of small creatures. Off to the west Mt. McKinley's pink-white crags, loftiest in the hemisphere, pressed against a cobalt sky. To the north haughty Dall sheep raised their curled horns at the train's approach and glowered in silent disapproval from their lambing grounds across a steep canyon.

Chuck Cameron remarked, "We're about halfway."

Halfway? Cameron, the engineer, explained that Hurricane Gulch was about halfway between Anchorage and Fairbanks, the two passenger terminals of the Alaska Railroad, 356 miles apart.

Had he wished to refer to its psychological distance from the world's turmoils and hatreds, from Parrot's Beak and Kent State and Wall Street, he undoubtedly would have said all the way.

In truth the Alaska Railroad travels another world. Its riders experience only serenity, beauty, thoughtfulness, peace.

And, at times, adventure. At one point on the route, where the train hugs the side of narrow, twisting Nenana Canyon south of Fairbanks, the tracks are laid on permafrost. With every summer thaw they move. Three years ago they slid three feet down the mountain side in one 12-hour period.

In winter, which is usually, snow crews must continually plow a furrow the length of the rainbelt through drifts deep enough to hide a telegraph pole.

The railroad's main hazard, though, is one for which 60 years of experience has found no solution. Moose. Indeed, the train's popular Alaska name, applied unabashedly by one and all, is the Moose Goose.

The humor of the nickname conceals the tragic truth that each year the train kills hundreds of the huge creatures.

Orrin Nichols, a conductor, has been with the Alaska Railroad 30 years and is still sickened by the annual slaughter. Once he and a coworker went so far as to whack a moose on the rump with a snow shovel to chase him away.

In these days of vanishing passenger trains the Alaska Railroad, snaking through America's last great wilderness, recalls a bygone era when a pioneer's only link with civilization was a thin ribbon of iron.

Here that is still the case. Its timetable lists 10 station stops and 39 official flag stops but the train will stop anywhere to take aboard or discharge a passenger.

The 356-mile trip takes 12 hours, assuming few unscheduled stops and no moose on the track, which means the train averages 30 miles an hour.

The pace is about right. Everybody has time to enjoy the matchless scenery and to ponder the place names posted along the track even where there are no signs of a village or even a cabin.

The United States government built the Alaska Railroad and it remains today the only railroad federally owned and operated.

It was completed in 1923 and stocked with worn out cars and locomotives shipped up from Panama. President Warren G.

Harding drove the ceremonial golden spike at a point near the Tanana River where, before they built the bridge, the tracks were simply laid across the ice.

Oldtimers say it was truly a rinkydink railroad in those days—was, in fact, right on up through World War II: balky equipment, wobbly trestles, warped track.

After the war the government spent $84 million rebuilding bridges, doubling the weight of the track, and also, alas, replacing the romantic old steam engines with diesels hauled all the way from Iran.

The Burtons Go Comic In 'Lucy'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It started at a reception at the British consulate when Richard Burton shouted to Lucille Ball across a crowded room: "I love your show; I want to be on it."

It ended on Stage 20 at Paramount where Burton, Elizabeth Taylor and the diamond co-starred with Lucille on the "Here's Lucy" show.

The home viewers won't be seeing it until Sept. 14 of thereabouts, when the new CBS season begins. But a favored few were privileged to observe the filming, including this reporter.

I can report that Richard can handle situation-comedy lines with the skill of Danny Thomas, and Elizabeth reveals herself as a baggy-pants comic.

Maybe baggy-pants isn't the right phrase for her. Especially since she was arrayed in an Edith Head gown when she performed her low comedy.

The crowd gathered early for show. It was the kind of audience that actors hate to play to: their fellow professionals. They are inclined to sit on their hands while a yokel audience will supply the boffs and applause that require no "sweetening" from the laugh machine.

"Don't be afraid to laugh," advised Lucille's husband, Gary Morton. A former comic who acts as executive producer of "Here's Lucy," he conducts the warm-up, a tradition harking back to radio in which the audience is jolled before showtime.

Morton introduced notables in the crowd: the Jimmy Stewarts, the Henry Fondas, Jack Carter, Lloyd and Beau Bridges, etc. Desi Arnaz Jr. leaped out of the stands to introduce his steady date, Patty Duke. Desi and his sister Lucy are regulars in the show, but they weren't included in the Burton segment.

"To get the Burtons, we only had to throw in a few fringe benefits—like leasing a 747," cracked Morton. The show pays a top fee of $2,500 for guest stars, and the Burtons planned to donate their salaries to the Oxford University Theater.

"We're ready with a helluva show," enthused Lucille when she was introduced. "Are you?" The audience blew its professional cool and indicated it was. The show began. I don't want to give away the plot, but it's no secret that it concerns Elizabeth's million-dollar-plus diamond. Lucy needs a plumber to repair the office faucet, see, and Richard escapes his fans at the Beverly Hills Hotel by posing as a—you guessed it.

So he fixes the faucet and leaves behind his overalls, in the pocket of which is you-know-what. Naturally Lucy has to try it on and then can't get it off her finger. How Elizabeth reacts to this supplies what may be the biggest laughs since the race to the maternity hospital on "I Love Lucy."

When the three-camera filming came to an end, Lucille grabbed the mike and urged: "Let's hear it for our guest stars." She thanked the audience "for one of the most wonderful nights of my entire life."

Activities Set For Saturday

The Modern Woodmen of America Junior Club will present a May Day program at Elm Street Park Saturday at 6 p.m.

Included in the activities will be group singing, games and the crowning of the May Day Queen, Miss Debbie Spain. Runners-up for queen Miss Brenda Baker and Miss Terry Jackson will participate in the crowning.

All boys and girls under the age of 17 are invited to attend. In case of rain, the event will be held at the hall on Broad Street.

Hospital Radio Network Proved Worth Quickly

By GEN CARPENTER
FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI)—The new emergency hospital radio network linking 12 rural Kentucky hospitals had been on the air less than a week when it saved the lives of two children.

In the long run it will provide all the residents of the 11 counties served by the hookup with faster, more efficient medical and hospital treatment, both in everyday operation and in emergencies.

The system is the first of its kind in a rural area, although similar networks have been established in such cities as Los Angeles, Chicago and St. Louis. It will make it possible for the health care resources of the entire region to be coordinated in a major disaster or emergencies, as well as providing day-to-day inter-hospital communications on such matters as blood and drug supply.

Radio Hookups

The network includes not only inter-hospital radio hookups, but also two-way radios for communication with ambulances and other emergency vehicles, and portable two-way radios and pocket paging devices for hospital personnel.

The system received its first emergency test on April 10, when it had been on the air only three days.

At 4:21 p.m. Frontier Nursing Hospital in Hyden, Ky., reported a three-year-old child badly bitten by a rabid dog and in need of rabies vaccine.

Phone Call

A check of the other hospitals on the radio hookup revealed no serum available, but a worker at one hospital recalled a recent outbreak of rabies in Virginia. A telephone call was made to a Wise, Va., hospital and the vaccine was located at 4:35 p.m.

Ten minutes later, an emergency vehicle was dispatched to meet Virginia State Police at the state line to receive the serum. In less than three hours it arrived in Hyden.

Although the Virginia hospital was not on the circuit, the network had made it possible to locate the serum and bring it to the child much more quickly than might have been possible otherwise.

The entire project cost $299,000 and is operated by the Appalachian regional hospitals. It is called the Hospital Emergency Radio Network and includes hospitals in the towns of Hazard, Jenkins, Whitesburg, Harlan, Beverly, Pineville, Middlesboro, Barbourville, Corbin and Hyden.

The heart of the system is the remote control console and base station installed at each hospital. The simple console has a handset and dial for calling other hospitals, two-way radios and paging receivers. In addition, three of the hospitals have complete communications consoles which provide contact with local and state police and sheriffs, for emergency and disaster use.

Missing Boy

The sort of emergency the system was designed for happened April 13, only six days after the system was inaugurated. A call was received at Hazard that an 18-month-old boy had been missing from his Breathitt County home for four hours.

It was feared the child had drowned. Another problem—it was a windy day and numerous small forest fires were observed in the area, 15 miles northwest of Hazard.

The Hazard hospital dispatched a radio equipped emergency unit, which also held walkie-talkies and other rescue gear. The unit requested and received a telephone link with the local police post.

As the unit headed into the area, the road where the boy was believed to have disappeared was cut off by a fire.

The hospital informed forestry officials, and they rerouted the unit to avoid the blaze.

On arrival the search party was dispatched up a creek bed as a fire proceeded down a nearby hill toward the creek. The area was threatened with envelopment by the flames at any moment.

But in less than 15 minutes the child was located, less than 1,000 yards from the fire. He was found asleep but caught on a barbed wire fence. Rescuers said there was no way the child could have freed himself.

Math Lesson By Computer

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A new computer-assisted arithmetic teaching program for educationally disadvantaged students is now at work in 42 of the city's elementary school classrooms, according to William Webster, assistant superintendent of the Oakland Unified School District.

The new system, called ATG for Arithmetic Test Generation, is designed to provide precise identification of an individual student's strengths and weaknesses in arithmetic.

ATG is aimed specifically at educationally disadvantaged students who are being bused into the city's integration model schools. It is designed to help these children from low-income families to compensate for educational handicaps brought about by their environment, Webster said.

The students are given a diagnostic test to pinpoint individual strengths and weaknesses and show the teacher which skills are troubling them. With this information he can then instruct the computer to design a variety of worksheets and further tests to provide drill and practice in the student's weak areas.

Miss Cassick Giving Vocal Recital May 28

Miss Jonnie Cassick, soprano, will present a vocal recital Thursday, May 28, at the Methodist Student Center at 8:15 p.m.

Miss Cassick, a senior at J. H. Rose High School, will present works by Mozart, Brahms, Schubert, Weckerlin and Vittorio Giannini.

At Rose High, Miss Cassick has been president of the Choral Ensemble, a member of the Bidoranjes and vice president of the Drama Club. She was awarded the State Woman's Club vocal award in April. She was chosen to attend the N. C. Governor's School on a vocal scholarship last summer. She will enroll at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in the fall as a voice major.

Miss Cassick is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Cassick of Rt. 1, Greenville. She is the voice student of Mrs. Ruth C. West, Vanceboro.

The public is invited to attend.

Awareness Of Litter Seen In U.S. Public

NEW YORK (AP) — America is on the road to becoming litter-conscious—and apparently is doing something about it.

Those are the conclusions to be drawn from a survey of litter fighters by Keep America Beautiful, Inc., the national litter-prevention organization. Some 92 per cent of those questioned by KAB said that awareness of the litter problem is increasing.

About 90 per cent said the fight against litter is gaining momentum.

Credit for the increased awareness of litter and efforts to combat it was given to the educational and cleanup campaigns being conducted on an increasingly larger scale by city, county, state and national litter-prevention organizations.

Estate Becomes An Animal Park

LONDON (AP) — The Duke of Bedford has turned his family seat, Woburn Abbey, into a wild animal park which he hopes will attract more than 2 million persons a year at an admission fee of $2.40 per carload.

The 300-acre park will present rhinoceroses, elephants, giraffes, zebras, antelopes, lions and cheetahs in natural surroundings.

The Duke of Bath, who himself has a lion park at his Longleat estate, turned up for the Woburn Abbey opening Tuesday and a small elephant stepped on his foot.

Low calorie fruits are used by 32 per cent of U.S. families, compared with 16 per cent in 1965.

Jail 2 For Bank Theft

SHELBY, N. C. (AP) — Two men have been arrested in the $16,000 robbery of a Drexel bank during which the police chief was wounded in a shoot out with the bandits.

The FBI says that one of them, Donald Wayne Dellinger, 24, of Hickory, had a gunshot wound of a foot when he was arrested at a home in Shelby Wednesday afternoon.

The other, Kenneth D. Huffman, 25, was arrested at his home in Lenoir Wednesday night.

Each was charged with bank robbery and held in bond of $50,000 after arraignment before a U. S. commissioner.

The Drexel police chief, William Lippard, who was wounded in the shoulder, said he believed he hit one or two both of the bandits.

His wife is manager of the bank, the Northwestern Bank's branch at Drexel, a furniture manufacturing town in the Hickory, Morganton and Lenoir area of western North Carolina.

The FBI said the stolen cash has not been recovered.

County Council Officers Named

Officers of the Pitt County Community Council were elected at a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

They are Jim Lesley, president; John Taylor, vice-president; Mrs. Ann Davis, secretary; and Curtis Hendrix, treasurer.

The meeting was attended by some 45 community leaders who

the resolution of such problems:

(4) to promote the development of community support of all agencies and organizations dealing with community problems; (5) to foster such legislation as is necessary to carry out the objectives of this organization; and (6) to disseminate information to the public.

Membership of the Community Council includes agency administrators, representatives of industry and commerce, local service clubs, and other individuals who are interested in the development of the county.

House Supports 'Safeguard' Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting claims the Safeguard anti-missile system is unnecessary if it works at all, the House has defeated a new attempt to block construction.

An amendment by Rep. Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., to cut all $322 million for construction of the first three Safeguard sites from a $2 billion military construction authorization bill was defeated Wednesday 146 to 76.

The authorization was then passed 334 to 47 and sent to the Senate.

Pike said Safeguard will only escalate the U.S.-Soviet arms race and spiral far above its estimated $12 billion cost when the United States already has the nuclear retaliatory deterrent that is the only defense against either the Soviet or Red Chinese nuclear threat.

"They know they can knock out a few of our cities," he said, "but they also know we can wipe their country off the map."

Pike argued the $12 billion system is designed to protect 225 U.S. missiles for a retaliatory strike, at $53 million per missile. It might not work in a nuclear war, he said, because an enemy has only to destroy 12 of its missile-tracking radars to knock out the whole system.

In Cooperation with the North Carolina Opticians Association

(Child Eye-Facts)

Do you know when the color of an infant's eyes can be established? Not until he is at least six months old.

It takes time for the baby to learn to focus and see in three dimensions.

Now and then the eyes do not move in the same direction. This often worries the parents. An early eye examination may relieve anxiety.

The child will probably be six years old before attaining perfect binocular vision.

Focussing is always a problem for the youngster when beginning to read. It is best that he be given lettered blocks or books with very large type.

His powers of convergence for close vision are not yet fully developed. Thus he will invariably hold the book too close to his eyes in an effort to focus properly.

Eye care should begin at birth.

WILLIAMSTON — A retail permit issued for the Imperial Lounge on Highway 64 in Williamston was revoked by the State Board of Alcoholic Control at its May 18 meeting in Raleigh for violations of ABC regulations.

The permit was revoked, the board reported, "because the Imperial Lounge... possessed for the purpose of sale and did allow the sale of tax-paid whiskey on its retail licensed premises on or about October 19, 1969, 1:20 a.m., October 25, 1969, 11:45 p.m., and March 14, 1970, 9:30 p.m., and failed to require all members of its social establishment to retain control of all alcoholic beverages on its premises on or about March 14... and is no longer considered to be a suitable person or place to hold a beer and/or alcoholic beverage social establishment permit."

Governor, Son Will Talk Drugs

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon and his son Samuel, 21, a former drug addict, will discuss the narcotics problem on national television.

The National Broadcasting Co. has filmed the interview at the McCall home in Salem. It will be shown as a segment of an NBC "First Tuesday" program.

Young McCall describes the eight years he spent in and out of state institutions after he became addicted to drugs at the age of 13, following an illness.

Youth Confesses Pistol Slaying

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — Police say a 16-year-old Negro has confessed to the pistol slaying of Negro civil rights leader James Floyd in an attempted holdup.

Capt. Jim Weaver, chief of detectives for the Savannah Police Department, said Wednesday the youth had been charged with murder and a 17-year-old companion had been arrested as an accomplice. The companion also is black.

Police declined to identify either of the youths because of their ages.

particularly the city councilmen who have all consistently endorsed and approved the project, and surely reflect the will of the citizens. We cannot understand the mayor's legal attempt to undo the years of work by so many citizens and we fear that this attempt can well develop a situation of hostility between the mayor's office and the other working agencies which would be extremely detrimental to our community."

On the financial aspect of the project, the committee's statement enumerates a number of points relative to funds and sources.

Some of the points outlined include: "The project will not cause any increase in city tax rates, because ad valorem tax money cannot be used to finance the project."

"Most of the city's share of the cost of the project (25 percent) will be in the form of non-cash grants-in-aid... such as street and utilities improvements... scheduled to be done whether or not the CBD project is carried out."

"Considerable work already done stands to the city's credit as its share of the project cost."

"Such things as the recent addition to Sheppard Memorial Library are grant-in-aid credits to the city."

"According to Mayor Wooten, the city's Off-Street Parking Authority plans to issue revenue bonds to finance needed parking... thus the cost of these facilities will be self-liquidating."

Signers of the statement sum up their opinions by stating: "We consider that the mayor's suit is solely for the purpose of stopping or delaying this urgently needed project... we believe it is entirely without justification and will cost the city a great deal of money in lawyers' fees, court costs, etc., which money will come out of your taxes. We believe that the mayor's suit will cause Greenville to be ridiculed and embarrassed throughout the state and farther."

"We urgently appeal to the dedicated citizens of Greenville," the statement concludes, "to support the CBD Project. Any confusion or delay will be extremely detrimental to our fine community."

Brief Freedom For 2 Escapees

RALEIGH (AP) — Freedom was brief for two men who escaped from the Rockingham County prison unit Wednesday night.

Deputy Commissioner of Corrections George Randall said the two honor grade prisoners went over a fence at 7 p.m. and were picked up less than two hours later on U.S. 29 north of Greensboro riding in a taxicab.

Randall identified the men as Larry W. Puggle, 30, of Mayodan, serving 10 years for assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill and inflicting serious bodily injuries; and Lloyd Vaughn, 36, of Durham, serving 5 to 8 years for larceny.

Sudden Sam's Southpaw Sizzlers Sink Sox

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Sam McDowell's recipe might not be appealing to the average homemaker but it certainly satisfied his manager and definitely cooked the Boston Red Sox.

Sudden Sam, the Cleveland Indians' fireballing left-hander, reputed to be one of the hardest throwers in baseball, mixed his fastball with an assortment of ingredients which included a tantalizing slow curve, slider and change up "to keep them off balance," he said.

The southpaw, who leads the American League in strikeouts with 89 after fanning 10 Red Sox Wednesday night, limited the sluggers from Boston to four hits in the Indians' 7-2 victory, stemming Cleveland's string of losses at three.

In other AL action, Detroit blanked Baltimore 4-0 on Mickey Lolich's three-hitter, snapping the Tigers' slide at six games; Milwaukee nipped Oakland 8-7; Minnesota routed Kansas City 10-5; Chicago topped California 3-2, and Washington stopped New York 2-0.

"It was one of the finest games I've seen anybody pitch, anywhere," said a happy Alvin Dark, the Indians' skipper.

Reggie Smith, an unhappy Red Soxer, who slugged a solo homer off the 6-foot-4 McDowell in the fifth inning, had another thought: "The mistake we made was letting him off the hook in the first inning."

McDowell, 6-3, was reached for Boston's first run in that frame and had the bases loaded before putting down the threat.

The big left-hander, who has led the AL in strikeouts in four of the last five seasons, added to his cause, stroking two hits, including a seven-inning run-scoring single which snapped a 2-2 tie.

The Indians then sewed up the triumph in the eighth with a four-run inning, keyed by Tony Horton's two-run homer. Duke Sims also drilled a two-run blast in the fourth off loser Sonny Siebert, 3-2.

Lolich, the veteran Detroit southpaw, struck out nine while shutting out the Orioles, their first blanking in 36 games.

Lolich, 29, picked up his fifth victory of the season against four losses and increased his strikeout totals to 76, second to McDowell.

It was Lolich's 24th-career blanking and was only the Tigers' fourth victory in 16 games. The Orioles have only lost three times in their last 14.

The Tigers got a pair of runs in the sixth off loser Tom Phoebus, 3-2, on run-scoring singles by Al Kaline and Willie Horton and got a two-run homer from Jim Northrup in the eighth.

Hank Allen's run-scoring double knocked in Steve Hovley, who had singled in the ninth off A's reliever Rolie Fingers, moving the Brewers into fifth place in the West and out of the basement for the first time since April 16.

Tommy Harper had a solo homer for the winners while Don Mincher drove in three runs for the A's with a double and home run.

The Twins belted the Royals into the West cellar, riding the hot streak of torrid Rod Carew.

Carew, the Minnesota second baseman and defending AL batting champion, hit for the cycle—single, double, triple and game-breaking three-run homer, sending the Twins to their seventh consecutive victory.

Carew, the first player in the 10-year history of Minnesota to collect the cycle, raised his AL leading average to .432. In the Twins' winning streak, Carew has blazed at a .625 pace on 20 hits in 32 trips to the plate.

Tennis Tourney Set In Wilson

The Wilson Tennis Association is sponsoring the Wilson Junior Invitational Tennis Tournament on June 4-6.

The tournament is open to boys and girls 14-18, as of the opening of the tournament. Three divisions will be held, one for 14 year olds, another for 15 and 16 and another for 17 and 18. Singles and doubles events will be held in each age classification.

The field is limited to residents of Wilson, Pitt, Wayne, Johnston, Nash, Edgecombe and Greene counties.

Entries must be received by the Tournament Committee prior to 5 p.m. May 29. Pairings will be made up by the committee.

Entries, along with a $2 entry fee, must be sent to John A. Green, Tournament Director, 1305 Dogwood Lane, Wilson, N. C. 27893.

A small number of entry blanks are available from the Sports Department, the Daily Reflector. They may be picked up Tuesday through Saturday between 9 a.m. and 12 noon, or Saturday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Moose Crush Integon, 32-4

The Moose remained unbeaten in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday rolling to a 32-4 victory over Integon.

The win left the Moose with a 3-0 record, a game ahead of the Graniteers and Pepsi-Cola, both 2-1. Next comes Integon and the Exchange, both 1-2, and the Elks, 0-3.

The Moose got all the runs it needed in the first inning as it powered over 13. Henry Baker led off with a double and Greg Sasser walked. Keith Jones made it 3-0 with a home run. Paul Farmer followed with a double and Mike Weston reached on an error. Dan Hawley grounded out, but the play brought Farmer home. Ross Hawkins reached on an error, and Mickey Finn doubled to score Weston. Jimmy Hodges reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Hawkins, and Baker doubled home Finn. Sasser reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Hodges, and Jones singled to score both Baker and Sasser. Farmer reached on a single and Weston walked to load the bases. A wild pitch scored Jones, and another brought Farmer home. Hawkins walked, and Finn reached on an error, scoring Weston with the 13th run of the game.

Integon picked up a pair in the bottom of the first. Worth Albee reached on an error and was safe at second on another as Jack Bratton reached on a fielder's choice. The error enabled both runners to move up a base. Tim Lancaster singled, driving in both runners.

The Moose came back to score nine more in the top of the second to run their lead out to 22-2. They scored two more in the third, one in the fourth as Jones homered again, and got three more in the fifth and four in the sixth, including a three run homer by Sasser.

Integon added two more in the fourth. Jones led the Moose hitting with five, while Baker, Sasser and Farmer had four each, and Hawkins and Hodges each had two.

Kiwanis Gain North State Top

The Kiwanis took over sole possession of first place in the North State Little League yesterday with an 8-2 victory over previously unbeaten R. C. Cola.

The win left the Kiwanis as the only unbeaten in the league with a 3-0 record. R. C. fell into second with Coca-Cola, both 2-1. They are followed by the Lions and Optimists, both 1-2 and the Jaycees, 0-3.

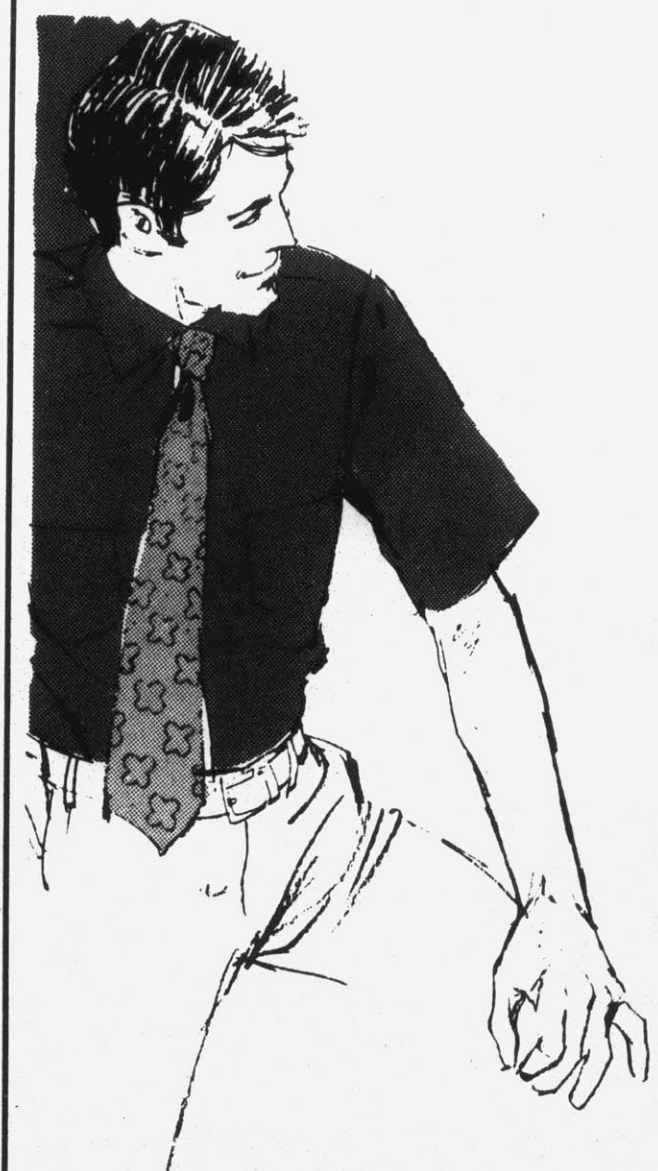

The Kiwanis pushed over five runs in the bottom of the first inning to wrap up the win. Clayton Brock led off, reaching on an error. Another miscue let Kent Phillips arrive safely. Kelly Heath walked, loading the bases. Ed Mayo reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Brock. Steve Camp was hit by a pitch, and that forced in Phillips. Chuck Ellis walked to bring

Rams To Meet Creswell Nine

The Robersonville Rams will meet Creswell Friday at Edenton in the second round of the state Class A baseball playoffs.

The Rams won the right to advance in the playoffs with a 2-0 win over Ayden on Tuesday. Creswell defeated Matamuskeet to gain the second round.

The winner advances to the third round, while the loser is through for the year.

Brabham Likes His New Auto

By BLOYS BRITT

AP Auto Racing Writer

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) —

"It is the finest driving race car

I've ever had," Australian Jack

Brabham beamed Wednesday

after putting his new racing creation through tests at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

Brabham, a three-time world

driving champion, reached 165

miles an hour in practice and became a prime favorite for one of six spots still available in the 33-car Memorial Day lineup.

"We'll be ready to qualify Saturday," the 43-year-old Brab-ham said. "I expect we should be able to run 166 or 167 with ease. The car surprised me with how easily it handles."

The low-slung machine, heavy-er and wider than most of this year's new cars, was designed by Ron Touranac at Brabham's

shops near London. Brabham has fitted a turbocharged Offy into the chassis — the first

"blown" engine ever to power

one of the grand prix champion's machines.

"I will need some time to get used to the turbocharger," Brabham commented. "The engine has so much power, so much surge of the Speedway's corners that it shocks you."

All of Brabham's formula 1 cars and the ones he has used in three starts at Indianapolis have been powered by normally-aspirated engines of his own design. He went to the turbo-charged Offy this year in an effort to be more competitive.

Because of a series of delays in delivery of the car, and having to assemble it after its arrival in a shipping crate

Sunday, Brabham didn't get on the Speedway until Wednesday morning.

Aside from Brabham's long-awaited appearance on the Speedway, Wednesday was the final day for the contingent of rookie drivers to complete their tests. Four did, bringing the number of first-year eligibles to 16.

Wednesday's top practice

speed was posted by the veteran

Roger McCluskey who earned a second row berth in the first weekend of qualifying.

Two Wild Pitches Enable Pirates To Nip Philadelphia; Expos Beat Seaver

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

If you needed a word for Pittsburgh's victory over Philadelphia Wednesday night, it would be wild, simply wild.

That's what Dick Selma was in the 14th inning and that's why

the Pirates nipped the Phillies

3-2. Two wild pitches by Selma permitted Matty Alou to circle

the bases with the winning run to break up the extra inning game.

"I don't think," said Selma later, "it's such a bad way to lose a ball game." It was not,

however, a very good way to lose one.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Montreal

shut out New York 2-0, St. Louis edged Houston 3-2, Atlanta

whipped San Francisco 6-1 in 11

innings and San Diego defeated

Los Angeles 10-4. Cincinnati and Chicago had the day off.

Alou reached base in the 14th on a two-out single through the middle—his fourth hit of the game and, if you ask Selma, the root of all the trouble.

"Typical Pittsburgh hit on a hard infield," moaned the reliever. "I would have gotten that ball in our park and most other parks."

Not so, argued Alou. "Right

now," said Matty, "this is the slowest infield in the league because the grass is so high."

Selma, who was working his fifth inning, claimed he just tired out after that. His first wild pitch rolled a few feet from home plate and Alou stopped at second. The next one bounded all the way to the backstop and then high in the air as the Pirate runner scooted home.

Tom Seaver was beaten by

Montreal for the second time in 10 days and again on a three-hit shutout. This time, Carl Morton

did the job on the Mets, matching the three-hitter than Dan

McGinn threw to beat Seaver in

New York last week. Morton struck out 10.

Seaver also allowed just three hits and fanned 10 but two of the hits by Ron Fairly and Jim

Fairrey followed a pair of walks in the fourth inning and drove in the runs for the Expos.

Richie Allen cracked two doubles and a single and Chuck

Taylor weaved his way out of a ninth inning jam to save St.

Louis' victory over Houston.

Mike Torrez was leading 3-1 and working on a five-hitter

when he walked the leadoff batter in the Astro ninth. Taylor relieved and an error and a single narrowed the Cards' lead to one run. But Taylor retired the next three hitters to nail down the victory.

Rico Carty rocketed a three-run homer in the 11th inning, breaking a tie and moving Atlanta past San Francisco. It was the 10th of the year for Carty, who leads the NL with a .422

batting average.

The homer was Carty's third hit of the game, following a triple and double and beat Gaylord

Perry. Hoyt Wilhelm was the winner.

Speaker McCormack Designates Carl Albert Heir

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — John W. McCormack's decision to retire after 42 years in Congress virtually assures the Speaker's chair he has held for nearly a decade will go to his assistant Carl Albert.

In announcing he will not seek another term this year in order to spend more time with his ailing wife, the 78-year-old Massachusetts Democrat laid the mantle of succession to the speakership on Albert, a 22-year veteran of the House.

With no visible opposition inside the Democratic party, the only potential block to the 62-year-old Oklahoman would be for Republicans to win control of the House in the fall elections. That possibility is considered unlikely, although the GOP holds out hope for reducing the 244-186 edge the Democrats now hold.

McCormack, a virtual prototype of the professional Boston Irish politician, surprised very few with his decision to call it a day in Congress when his term ended. He has been under pressure from many of the younger Democrats in the House to step down, and several of the party's representatives had threatened to revolt against his leadership if he sought another term as speaker.

But in his Wednesday announcement, McCormack said this internal strife was not the reason for stepping down.

In fact, he said, he would have retired two years ago but he feared the action then would have been misconstrued as disloyalty to his party in the wake of a losing presidential campaign.

Harriet McCormack, his wife of 50 years, has been seriously ill and the speaker has told friends he wanted to spend more time with her. "For some years, Mrs. McCormack and I have been looking forward to a period of rest and relaxation."

This, he said, and not the charges he was too old and out of touch with the younger generations, was his reason for giving up the speaker's chair he inherited from the late Sam Rayburn in 1961. "You're no older than you feel, and I don't feel that old," he said in a light-hearted session with newsmen in which he gave no indication that his sharp-wit had dulled in the years since he first entered the House in 1928.

"The generation gap is a matter more on the part of the young than of people like me," he said. "In legislative matters I am still looking 10 years ahead."

A man who shares this outlook, McCormack told the reporters, is Albert. "While I will not be a member of the next Congress," he said, "if I were, I would have great pleasure in voting for Carl Albert for speaker."

If Albert seems destined to follow the long line of notables that have run the House, McCormack's retirement is expected to set off a donnybrook for the Democratic floor leader's spot now held by the Oklahoman.

Half a dozen contenders are thought possible for Albert's No. 2 job, with Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall making the first formal announcement he will bid for the spot.

Udall, who lost a symbolic race against McCormack last year for speaker, probably will be opposed by Louisiana's Hale Boggs, now the party whip and third in line in the present Democratic leadership.

Others mentioned include James G. O'Hara of Michigan, Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois, Richard M. Bolling of Missouri, Edward P. Boland of Massachusetts, James C. Corman of California and Jack Brooks of Texas.

In theory, the House as a whole elects the speaker, but in reality the party holding the majority of seats makes the decision when it picks its leader in a caucus at the start of each Congress.

McCormack's announcement brought forth unstinted praise from both sides of the political fence, including President Nixon who said the speaker never failed to "put country above party—the national good above self."

While praise for McCormack was warm and widespread Wednesday, criticism had been increasing in recent years, not only for allegedly growing out of touch but also for what some in his party felt was a weakening leadership against the Republican White House.

Threats Are Under Probe

RALEIGH (AP) — The state and federal bureaus of investigation says they are looking into letters threatening the lives of Gov. Bob Scott and two officials of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

SBI Director Charles Dunn acknowledged the investigation Wednesday but declined to give any details.

A letter threatening the life of Scott was received after the governor and his wife left for France May 12, an aide said.

Similar letters were received May 10 by President William C. Friday of the Consolidated University of North Carolina and a

Another matter of concern, not mentioned by McCormack nor any other politician Wednesday, grew out of a scandal that indirectly grazed him this year when his chief aide Martin Sweig, and a close acquaintance, Nathan Voloshen, were indicted for influence peddling.

The speaker was never accused of involvement but when the charges were filed McCormack said he would run for reelection in an apparent move to justify his pride in his reputation for honesty.

But for all the years of political struggle, even the criticism of late, McCormack sounded his Last Hurrah Wednesday without regret.

"I have participated in all the great debates since the Roosevelt days. I have had a share in the leadership in passage of progressive legislation for all those years ... Public life has

Caldwell said, "There was certainly nothing anonymous about the letter," and that apparently all three letters contained the same signature and Wake County (Raleigh) return address.

All letters were turned over to the SBI. Friday said the agency has assigned an agent to accompany him on most occasions, but Caldwell said he has not sought special protection.

Set Hearing On Graders For Monday

FARMVILLE — The U.S. Department of Agriculture will hold a hearing on the need for additional UDA tobacco graders on the Farmville market Monday morning at 9:30 at City Hall here.

"The Farmville tobacco market wants and needs an additional set of buyers," Robert Pierce, president of the local Tobacco Board of Trade, said. "But to get buyers, we must have sufficient number of graders supplied by the Department of Agriculture. The largest concentration of tobacco in the flue-cured world is grown in the Farmville area. We have been handicapped for years by having only two sets of buyers. To adequately serve the farmers who want to trade here, we must have more."

Six flue-cured markets have petitioned for hearings on the subject. These are Farmville in the Eastern Belt; Timmonsville, S.C. and Mullins, S.C. in the Boarder Belt; and Winston Salem, Danville, Va., and South Boston, Va. in the Old Belt.

Two lawyers have been retained by the Tobacco Board of Trade to present evidence as to why more graders are needed here. The public is encouraged to attend the hearing.

Asks Public Back Nixon

Charles Dail, commander of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 7032, today urged support for President Nixon's Cambodian policy as a means of saving lives of American fighting men.

Speaking on behalf of the local post, Dail said that "anything we do in Cambodia that results in saving American lives should have the full backing of the American people."

Dail noted that amendments in Congress which would block funds to support our troops in Southeast Asia "amount to the abandonment of our forces — our sons and daughters — who are fighting a cruel and inhuman enemy who might otherwise be at our very doorsteps."

"In the past Congress has debated declarations of war," Dail said, "but this is the first time the Senate has debated a 'declaration of surrender.'"

The commander asserted that the "destruction of tons and tons of equipment and other supplies stored by the Communists in Cambodia for use against our men in Vietnam proves that Nixon made the right decision in ordering the Cambodian incursion."

Instructions In Tennis Slated Begin May 23

The Greenville Jaycees has announced plans for a series of instructional clinics for boys and girls who would like to learn to play tennis.

The clinics will begin May 23 at the Greenville Recreation Department. Free equipment will be available and there will be no tuition fee charged for the sessions.

Jim Lesley, president of the local Jaycee chapter, said the clinics are part of a Junior Tennis program which will conclude with a tennis tournament later in the summer.

All youth between the ages of eight and 18 who are interested in learning to play tennis may register at the Recreation Department or call 752-2355.

USC President Sets Disciplinary Action In Riot

COLUMBIA (AP) — Thomas F. Jones, the president of the University of South Carolina, has fielded some questions concerning the campus violence of last week and has come up with these answers:

—The law enforcement officers and National Guardsmen should be commended for controlling the violence "without serious injury" to officers or to students.

—Students identified as having participated in the clash with officers and guardsmen have either been suspended or will be subjected to disciplinary action.

—Those students suspended because of the demonstrations are forbidden to come onto the campus and cannot take final examinations unless reinstated.

—Summer school will be conducted as scheduled.

—There apparently were no

Weathermen from the SDS on the university campus during the disturbance. Some members of the Weathermen, a splinter group of the Students for Democratic Society, have advocated revolutionary violence.

Jones gave his answers Wednesday at a meeting of the University Administrative Employees Club. He said he wanted to get on record his answers concerning questions most frequently asked of him in the past week.

Of the law enforcement during the campus upheaval, Jones said:

"I can't praise the State Law Enforcement Division, city police and the National Guard enough for their effectiveness, and their avoidance in most cases of hurting anyone. Restraint was used so that unnecessary bodily injury would be minimized.

"But some students did not use restraint and, insofar as we have been able to identify them, they have either been suspended or will be subjected to disciplinary action."

The president said about 95 per cent of the student body, and all of the faculty and administrative staff, stood together in opposition to the violence and in support of keeping the university open.

Although insisting that suspended students could not take exams unless the board of trustees changed its policy, Jones did emphasize that these students would not be expelled from school until they had a proper hearing before a disciplinary committee.

Student demonstrations first broke out in the Student Union Building. Then a few days later dissident students occupied the first floor of the Administration Building. A day later, students clashed with law enforcement officers and national guardsmen.

Here are some other questions asked and answers given by President Jones:

Q—Why are students allowed to strike when South Carolina taxpayers are contributing to their education?

A—Students were not excused for missing classes. Any having excessive absences for any reason were in violation of academic regulations. It's important for you to know that attendance was normal during the so-called strike.

Q—Why aren't the demonstrators surrounded by guardsmen to take their identifications, instead of guardsmen dispersing the crowd with tear gas?

A—This question would have to be addressed to other authorities since security of the campus was the responsibility of the state. Let me say again that law enforcement officers deserve commendation for controlling the situation without serious injuries.

Q—Could you enumerate the losses suffered by this university as a result of the student occupation of the Administration building?

A—A number of pieces of furniture were broken up and some records were mutilated or taken away. Present estimates of the damage are put at $10,000 but this matter is still under study.

Q—In normal operating times can deputy sheriffs, city police and SLED agents come onto the campus?

A—The heads of these law enforcement agencies and the university have a clear understanding that the university is a part of the larger community and that officers have the right to come on the campus at any time in line of duty.

Q—What are your powers and inclinations toward denying access of nonstudents to university property and facilities?

A—When any person is adjudged to be a threat to the university community, he can be given notice that his presence at the university is prohibited. If this notice is violated there is a state statute under which they will be prosecuted. At present the 50 suspended students and some dozen or so nonstudents have been notified that they are prohibited from the campus.

Gastric Juice A Germicide

Alan has become a finicky eater because of his phobia about germs! And many waitresses need a practical lecture on proper restaurant hygiene, too! But you can reassure yourself greatly by reading the example cited by Dean Cutter of our Northwestern University Medical School. Be grateful for gastric juice!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

CASE N-502: Alan B., aged 20, has a food complex.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I am going down in weight because of my germ phobia.

"For when I eat at restaurants, I often see waitresses violating even the most simple rules of good health.

"They handle dirty paper money at the cash register; then pick up spoons or forks by the end that goes into the customer's mouth.

"Just think how many millions of bacteria thus are passed along!

"So I am losing weight because of my inability to eat a hearty meal at a restaurant."

Dean Irving Cutter was the talented Dean of Northwestern University Medical School when I was a student there.

And Dean Cutter gave the senior class a lecture on many practical aspects of modern medicine.

He mentioned that during the Spanish American War in Cuba, two regiments of American soldiers had marched all afternoon without food or water.

When they stopped for the night, one regiment was allowed to go to the river and drink their fill.

The other was forbidden to drink from the same river until it had partaken of its supper of pork and beans.

Then this second regiment was permitted to drink heartily.

"It so happened," added Dean Cutter, "that the river was polluted with typhoid germs.

"And of the regiment that drank on an empty stomach several hundred men came down with typhoid fever.

"But of the regiment that drank only after their meal, only 3 or 4 contracted typhoid.

"So," he concluded, "if you MUST drink what seems to be contaminated water, do so only after a full meal!"

And here are some of the medical reasons to justify that advice:

(1) Water flows through the stomach swiftly when the latter

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass Pass 1NT Pass
3NT Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠ South had his eyes on the wrong suit in attempting to develop a ninth trick at his three no trump contract.

West opened the five of hearts, and declarer won the trick in his hand with the queen. South had eight top tricks—three hearts, one diamond and four clubs. The diamond suit appeared to him as the logical choice for developing a ninth trick, and he set out directly on this course.

A diamond was led and when West followed with the four, North's ten was finessed. East was in with the jack and he returned a heart to declarer's king. Another diamond brought forth bad news, for when West showed out, it became clear that South could never develop an additional trick in the suit and he put up North's ace and switched his attention to spades.

A spade was led to the jack, losing to West's queen. Another round of hearts cleared the last stopper, and when West got in with the ace of spades, he cashed two heart tricks to set declarer down by one.

South was admittedly the victim of an unkind fate in finding the diamonds divided four-one with the king-jack-nine all located in East's hand. However, the fault for going set was all his own, for nine tricks were there for the taking—no matter how the cards were stacked.

Observe that declarer can develop a spade trick by merely driving out the ace and queen. He should resist the temptation offered by the diamond suit and concentrate his efforts on a sure thing. The North hand may be entered with the queen of clubs to play a spade to South's jack. West is in with the queen and returns a heart. The king of spades dislodges the ace, while declarer still has a heart stopper left, and the ten of spades is now cashable for the ninth trick.

is empty, thus carrying the germs into the intestine, without much damage from the acid in gastric juice.

(2) When the stomach is full, the water is dispersed all through the food and thus is held in the stomach much longer.

This lets the hydrochloric acid of the gastric juice dissolve most of the germs and at least weaken (attenuate) the remaining bacteria.

(3) When you have food in your stomach, especially protein as in meat or beans, more gastric juice is secreted.

And gastric juice is a superb germicide!

It thus tends to dissolve venereal germs, plus most of the other harmful bacteria.

Even tuberculosis bacillus is usually killed or attenuated by gastric juice, unless you swallow tubercular milk on an empty stomach.

Restaurants and school Home Ec departments should teach waitresses better hygiene!

But you fastidious diners can feel fairly secure in knowing that gastric juice will slay almost all the bacteria you swallow.

Dysentery and food poisoning, however, are not markedly affected by the stomach.

But a good dose of epsom salts is a quick method for evacuating them before they cause too much distress!

Rev. Carrway To Address Rally

GOLDSBORO — The Rev. John Carrway of Norfolk, Va., will be the guest speaker at the "I Am An American" rally at the Wayne Community Building, located on E. Walnut Street across from the court house, Saturday at 8 p.m.

A film entitled "Communists on Campus" will be shown. No admission will be charged.

The Rev. Carrway is the originator of the Christian Broadcasting network's "I Am An American" program and a native of Greene County.

Sponsoring Meeting In Asheville

Pitt Technical Institute and the North Carolina Department of Community Colleges are jointly sponsoring the spring meeting of the State Supervisory Development Training Advisory Committee in Asheville this week.

This committee, composed of top industrial personnel and educators from across the state, coordinates and directs the efforts of the community colleges and technical institutes in providing supervisory training for local industry.

Representing Pitt Tech at the conference are Joe Downing, occupational and vocational director; Earl Aiken, area consultant for Supervisory Development Training; and W. E. Fulford Jr., PTI president. Dr. Fulford represents the N.C. community college and technical institute presidents on the committee.

Keynote speaker for the meeting is Dr. Irvin L. Heckmann, dean of the College of Business Administration at the University of Illinois, Chicago. Dr. Heckmann, author of books and articles on leadership and human relations, will host seminars on effective implementation of training programs and motivating workers to accept training.

"I am especially proud that PTI is co-sponsoring this vital conference," Dr. Fulford said.

"One of the primary roles of our institution is providing specialized training for industry, and this meeting should stimulate ideas to help us better accomplish this role all over the state."

Happiness

is what we sell!

Perhaps you've never thought of life insurance as "happiness." But it is in so many ways. It helps you get rid of financial worries so you can live a little! How? Like this: Each dollar you put into cash-value life insurance works like four.

It works as a protection dollar. The way you normally think of insurance dollars working.

It works as an emergency dollar. Helping you put aside money that you might otherwise spend.

It works as an opportunity dollar. Money ready and waiting to help you do the things you really need to do.

It works as a retirement dollar. Brightening your retirement years . . . extra dollars for your leisure.

Four ways. Instant money when you need it. That's a lot of happiness!

To add a little happiness to your life, call your Southwestern Life Career Agent. In Bethel, call James Manning (919) 825-5631. In Greenville, call Wilbur Nichols or Eugene Strickland (919) 752-4884.

Students Make, Plant Crosses

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Students planted crosses on the Wake Forest University campus Wednesday to protest U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia.

University officials said class attendance was "normal."

The crosses, planted at every entrance to the campus and at the chapel, bore the names of North Carolinians killed in the Indochina conflict.

Students of the Baptist university spent Wednesday afternoon making and planting the small white crosses after protests Tuesday night in which some students shouted obscenities at President Dr. James Ralph Scales.

Dental Implants Proven Success

CHICAGO (AP) — A new process of implanting artificial teeth into the bone, its developer says, makes for better health because of better digestion due to more natural chewing.

Dr. Leonard L. Linkow demonstrated his technique to Chicago dentists under the sponsorship of the Institute for Advanced Dental Research. His invention of a blade implant enables artificial teeth to fit into the gumline. The implants are possible for a single tooth or a complete set of upper and lower teeth, he said. The installations become permanent.

The implants are fabricated of titanium, a metal which is readily tolerated by the body. The metal supports the teeth. Linkow said he has performed over 2,000 implants.

so they could protest the war. Scales told them the faculty would have to decide the matter since it was out of his jurisdiction and he would not be coerced.

At a noon meeting, attended by 300 to 400 students, Dr. George M. Bryan, a religion professor told the group that if they persisted in the "infantile action which was shown last night, then you will have guardsmen here who'll shoot you down. "Picking up the pieces will not be a dramatic act," he said.

During the meeting, the students decided to erect the crosses to signify North Carolinians killed in the war.

After marching to Scales' home Tuesday night, about 200 members of the student group went into the University Administration building, discussed the situation and left peacefully about half an hour later.

Security police said the incident could not be considered a takeover since the building is open to students 24 hours a day as a study hall.

No outside police were called in. No damage was done and there were no arrests.

The students met Wednesday with chairmen of various departments to ask them to allow individual students to skip exams, but they reported at the noon meeting that the chairmen had not agreed.

SCIENCE PAYS
LONDON (AP) — It pays to graduate as a scientist in Britain. A government survey shows that two-thirds of graduate scientists earn more than $4,800 a year but that two-thirds of the scientists who did not graduate earn less than $4,800 a year.

Dinner-Dance Set For Saturday

A newcomers dinner-dance will be held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club for members and their guests Saturday evening.

A buffet dinner will be served members and guests by the swimming pool beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Music for dancing will be presented by the Brass Part Combo.

Reservations should be made by noon on Saturday.

Ruts from pioneers' wagons are still visible at several places in Nebraska.
