Blount Asserts Nixon Cabinet Is Not Divided

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Winton M. Blount says talk about a divided Nixon cabinet is "a lot of malarkey" by a news media biased against the administration.

"They are strong individual people," Blount said of his nine colleagues who with himself, make up President Nixon's Cabinet. "That doesn't mean at all that sometimes we don't hold different opinions, but to say this is a divided cabinet—that's just a lot of foolishness."

Blount said in an interview the news media has inaccurately pictured the cabinet as sharply divided over Cambodia and placed an "extreme overemphasis" on speeches by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew while underplaying demonstrations of support for the President's war policies.

He also contended the Nixon administration has not only listened to young people, but has done a great deal for them in the way of draft reform and efforts to seek limitations of nuclear weapons.

Blount, a staunch supporter of Nixon's Cambodian policy, said the administration has an obligation to explain its decisions about Indochina to young people, whose "depth of feeling is extremely impressive." But he added:

"If the decision goes against you, you can't say, 'they didn't listen to me because they didn't do what I wanted.'"

Turning to news coverage, Blount said "the role of the media is to dig for information for its readers. Generally, I think it

Second Quiet Night In Oxford

Only Total Integration Acceptable

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Eighteen North Carolina school districts faced with the possible loss of millions of dollars in federal aid were told today the government will accept nothing less than complete desegregation by next September.

"Time is no longer negotiable," Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard told representatives of the districts at a meeting in Raleigh.

"The Supreme Court has required that the job be done now, and now seems to mean next September. That rules out discussions of beginning desegregation in September and then doing some more than next year and some more the next," he said.

Leonard spoke to the North Carolina officials before they went into closed-door sessions to try to negotiate acceptable desegregation plans with federal representatives.

Individual sessions were scheduled for representatives of each school system with officials of HEW, the Justice Department and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's committee on desegregation.

In addition to Leonard, the North Carolinians heard talks by Stanley Pottinger, director of HEW's Office of Civil Rights, and Robert Mardian, executive director of Agnew's committee, before the negotiating sessions began.

Pottinger told the officials that "in most cases" a voluntary plan would be best, but that "in some cases a lawsuit is the most desirable."

A lawsuit would be preferable for a local board in the absence of support for voluntary desegregation, Pottinger said.

At a news conference later, Pottinger said any of the 18 districts which fail to come up with voluntary desegregation plans will be sued by the Justice Department.

Mardian said he hoped the sessions would produce plans for the local units.

The meeting was arranged by the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction.

The school districts are Raleigh, Burlington, Fairmont, Goldsboro, Kinston, Maxton, Rocky Mount, Tarboro and Wilson, all city units; and the county units of Chatham, Edgecombe, Guilford, Lenoir, Martin, Nash, Robeson, Vance and Wilson.

The Department of Public Instruction said the Camden County district had originally been scheduled to send a representative, but had since solved its compliance problems.

Cites Cambodia Achievements

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indonesia's President Suharto, says the achievement of American and Vietnamese forces in Cambodia will help speed the Vietnamization process and also contribute to the speedy withdrawal of American forces from Southeast Asia.

He made the comment Wednesday night at an Indonesian embassy reception in his honor at the conclusion of a two-day state visit.

Business Is Asked Keep Prices Down

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, in an unusual direct appeal has asked the nation's businessmen to help the government's war on inflation by keeping their prices in check.

In 2½ hours of private give-and-take with 45 business and financial leaders Wednesday night, the President also tried—with apparent success—to calm their doubts about his decision to move troops into Cambodia.

The executives, according to several who were there, told Nixon the Cambodia decision was a major factor in the stock market's plunge. He responded that, whether the nation realizes it or not, the military move will hasten the day of withdrawal from Vietnam.

"We were very encouraged," one businessman said afterward. "It was a good meeting," another said. A third said the group's reaction was "very positive regarding his general programs."

Those who consented to review the meeting insisted that their names not be used. Most of Nixon's guests refused to comment.

The guest list was heavily weighted with heads of financial institutions, indicating Nixon's primary concern was to reassure the jittery market. But he also discussed domestic economics and his problems with young people, and Chairman Arthur F. Burns discussed the Federal Reserve Board's policies.

Nixon told the group he had wartime experience with wage and price controls and found them unfair to some at the expense of others. He remains opposed to mandatory controls, but indicated a willingness for business and labor to curb their price and wage demands voluntarily.

In the words of one businessman, he "expressed a commendable aversion to a controlled economy—wage and price controls, that is. He sort of called upon business and labor to cooperate with government in voluntary wage and price controls. At least that's the way I interpreted it."

The President appeared to be encouraged by the day's record-breaking 32.04-point increase in the key Dow-Jones Industrial stock index when New York Stock Exchange Chairman Bernard Lasker pointed out it was the largest rally in exchange history, the source said.

The dinner meeting grew out of Lasker's earlier visit with Nixon.

As far as the economy in general was concerned, guests reported Nixon repeated the administration's prediction that business will turn upward in the July-September quarter.

Burns said the Fed would not be "rigidly bound by theoretical numerical formulas" for the money supply. Even though the credit-regulating agency has begun to loosen up on its restraints it is not going to start a new policy that could encourage new inflation, he reportedly said.

Nixon spoke in conciliatory terms about the unflattering view many young people hold about his administration and—he pointed out—about American business.

Though he obviously doesn't agree with dissenting young people, one source said, he didn't harangue about them, instead speaking about the need to "open new avenues of communication" in an effort to get a better understanding of the nation's real problems.

The 32.04-point increase in the Dow-Jones index Wednesday was the largest single-day jump in the market's history and brought the index to 663.20, giving hope the nearly vertical decline that began in April may be turning around.

Despite the stock market news and some recent economic statistics interpreted by the administration as indicating the troublesome business slowdown is leveling off, the President is beset from all sides by criticism and suggestions that he should take sterner action to control inflation.

Democrats on the House Banking Committee said Wednesday they had agreed to draft legislation to give him authority to freeze wages, prices and rents at their May 25 levels.

Such legislation, which is just the sort Nixon and his advisers have said repeatedly they want no part of, apparently would be a companion piece to the standby credit control authority Congress gave him last December.

Plan Reduction Of U.S. Troops In South Korea

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is starting to plan for removing some U.S. troops from South Korea, sources say.

The withdrawal, which may start late next year, will be gradual, probably involving less than a division at the start, it was indicated.

A hint of this was dropped Wednesday by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird in a speech.

"Although I am unable to discuss today specific details of additional troop reductions in the Pacific or Asian area," Laird said, "we are already working on plans for such actions as we reduce our role of world policeman in favor of the Nixon doctrine ..."

Defense sources said the planning involves South Korea, where the United States has about 64,000 Army and Air Force troops stationed.

A severe budget squeeze is the driving force behind current planning for bringing some American troops out of Korea, although the action is in line with the Nixon doctrine stressing self-reliance by Asian nations in their ground defenses. The United States has pledged to maintain its present troop commitment in South Korea and in the NATO area of Western Europe until mid-1971, but not beyond that time.

Indications are that reduction of the 300,000 man U.S. force in Europe will be relatively small because as Secretary of State William P. Rogers has said, NATO is "the most important security alliance that we have."

The United States has been supporting and helping develop the South Korean army for 20 years and U.S. military experts consider it a very good fighting force, able to hold its own against a possible North Korean thrust.

More than two Korean divisions are in Vietnam and U.S. officials expect some form of compensation, perhaps sizable amounts of modern arms and equipment, in exchange for the pullout of some U.S. troops from Korea.

In line with the Nixon doctrine, which permits U.S. air and naval support for Asian ground forces, the United States is likely to retain most of the Air Force units now deployed in South Korea.

Soil Factors Pointed Up Before Planning-Zoning Commissioners

Using maps, booklets color slides, Roy Beck, soil conservationist with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service in Pitt County, outlined ideas wherein future planning by Planning and Zoning Commissioners would conceivably take under advisement factors of soil contents in authorizing planned construction in different soil zones.

"I would like to give you a new name," Beck told the commissioners. "I would call you landscape managers. There's a job to be done in regulating land use. This would be one of your major responsibilities."

In discussing land use planning, Beck showed a series of color slides of the local area and other selected areas, pointing out some of the more glaring abuses prevalent in America today.

"The story all over America in the surge of urban development begins with land offered for sale adjacent to existing urban areas," Beck commented. "All too often the pattern begins with bulldozers clearing away top soil, trees and grass, removing all vegetation which is holding the soil in place."

"Erosion immediately sets in, even in level country," Beck remarked. "This in turn leads to run-off of silt which clogs streams lakes and other natural water deposits. Then follows the necessity of cleaning out the water sources. Costs for this are staggering."

Some of the results, Beck commented, "are flooded yards and basements, recreation waters spoiled and no longer fit for use."

Such spoilage can be prevented basically with prior planning and forethought, according to recommendations offered by Beck. "It's quite practical to find a way to build for growing populations without destroying our soil, without removing trees and seeded areas," Beck commented. "Even where a certain amount of spoilage is unavoidable, it's possible to prevent ill effects by reseeding areas before buildings are completed. Straw mulch, too, can be effective."

Beck mentioned that day lilies

Begin Hearings On Auto Rates

The Governor's Study Commission on Automobile Liability Insurance and Rates began a public hearing here this morning to look into problem areas regarding the state's auto liability insurance laws.

Charles Casper of Asheville acted as chairman for the Commission's meeting here, one of several being held throughout the state. A half dozen persons were scheduled to make presentations before the commission.

About six public hearings have been held in Raleigh and, in addition to the hearing today here, hearings will be held in Wilmington, Fayetteville, Asheville, Forest City, and Statesville before the Commission's recommendations are presented to the Governor in November. The series of hearings is designed to enable the Commission to identify problem areas in the state's auto liability laws and give them a basis for any changes they may recommend.

The first person to speak at today's hearings was Ray M. Galloway, an independent insurance agent from Goldsboro, who suggested the state may be better off with an open or competitive rating system, rather than with the present system under which a bureau sets the rates for the state.

Dail Re-Elected By Tobacco Bd.

Carlton Dail was re-elected president of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade for the 1970 marketing season at the group's annual meeting Wednesday morning.

A.A. Frobes was re-elected vice president and W. L. Whedbee will serve as supervisor of sales.

Plans were laid for the marketing of the 1970 tobacco crop. Members heard from various representatives, including Albert H. Graves of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Biological and Agricultural Engineering Department. A spokesman from a computer company which plans to computerize the office work in the tobacco warehouses, was also heard. Talks on further improvements in the mechanization of the unloading and distribution of tobacco from farmer's trucks to warehouse floors were also presented.

Reaffirm Proposals On CBD

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Greenville Planning and Zoning Commission last night reaffirmed their approval of the recommendations they made to the City Council for the Central Business Development project.

After reading the minutes of the January 28, 1970 meeting of the Redevelopment Commission, at which members of the Planning and Zoning Commission were present, the members unanimously reiterated their position of approval expressed on that date at the public hearing meeting, and will urge the City Council to implement the plan as presented.

Approval was given for the dedication of Clubway Drive, which is located just off Country Club Drive, in the apartment complex being developed by Larry Mazingo between Memorial Drive and the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

Commission members went on record as having no objections to the dedication as long as a loop is to be completed to be able to provide proper fire protection. Mazingo noted that phase two of the construction plan calls for dedication of the alley which intersects the new street and which will provide a loop entrance back to Memorial Drive without the necessity of traffic entering Country Club Drive to reach Memorial.

City Manager Harry Hagerty presented a status report on the thoroughfare planning. "Some time ago we were advised all was getting along well. We have again been advised all was still getting along well," he commented. "The next step is a decision on alternative plans. There is much to be done following cost estimated and other plans."

Clarence Tugwell expressed delight that the County Commissioners are considering a Planning and Zoning Commission. "I make a suggestion that this board offer congratulations and full support to the commissioners, when they are ready they will find we are willing to work with them." His suggestion was approved, and a letter will be sent the county commissioners.

Couple Speaks Vows In Recent Ceremony

GOLDSBORO — St. Paul United Methodist Church here was the setting for the double ring ceremony uniting in marriage, Miss Peggy Ann Smith and Danny Mestnick Luper at four o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 17.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Everett Smith. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Fred Luper of Winston-Salem.

The Rev. Barney Davidson, church pastor, officiated at the nuptial rites.

Wedding music was presented by Roger Searles, organist, and John Everett Tilley, cousin of the bride, soloist.

Mr. Smith gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a formal wedding gown of candlelight satin fashioned of princess lines, sabrina neckline and leg-omutun sleeves. The top of the bodice and sleeves were of silk rose point lace interspersed with seed pearls and sequins. The lace continued down the front of the skirt in a panel on each side. The lower part of the sleeves were of candlelight silk organza. The small band at the wrist had appliques of silk rose point lace and were fastened with the traditional satin-covered buttons. Her fingertip mantilla was attached to a small satin pillow and bordered with silk rose point lace.

She carried a colonial nosegay of white and yellow roses with iceberg pom poms with white satin streamers.

Miss Candice Hilary Coe of Robersonville was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Frances Karen Prevatte of Lumberton, Miss Betsy Jo Jackson of Kinston and Mrs. Leo Sasaki of Winston-Salem.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were Carl Douglas Darden of Goldsboro, Duncan Terrell Burt of Winston-Salem, Archie Corbett Simmons of Sanford, John Lyston Usilton of Salisbury, Md., Jonathan Mead Burt of Charlotte and Carl Romaine Woxman of Goldsboro.

The wedding was directed by Mrs. Ruby Hinnant of Goldsboro.

Following a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will reside in Charlotte.

A 1964 graduate of Goldsboro High School, the bride attended East Carolina University. She is employed with the Edgecombe County Board of Education as a special education teacher. # School Tax Needs Its Helpers

It is encouraging that a Referendum Steering Committee has been organized to direct efforts concerning the Greenville School District tax levy increase.

The referendum on the 25 cents per $100 valuation will be voted on by citizens of the school district on June 27.

Approximately 100 citizens attended a meeting at the Pitt County Courthouse Monday night to hear school officials explain the reasons for the proposed tax increase. Following the explanation a steering committee was organized to work on publicizing the school needs between now and the referendum date.

If the increased tax is to be approved by the voters then the needs must be understood by the electorate. School board members and school officials can furnish the information but it is going to take citizens groups such as the one organized Monday to put the issue across.

Board of education members should not be expected to have to go out and sell the public on voting the funds needed to meet the public needs. They can explain what the needs are. Then it is up to citizens who are concerned about the quality of their public schools to see that the public is aware of the need.

This Referendum Steering Committee has taken on the challenge, and this is the way it should be in a democracy.

Education Has Scarred Image

By BRYAN HAILS LIP
WILSON — Saint Paul was a sports fan. His summing up is in the words of the athlete: "I have fought the good fight. I have run my course. I have kept the faith."

That seems perfectly natural to Glenn Bass for whom athletics and Christian faith is a life style rather than a metaphor. He played professional football rugged and straight for nine years. Now he's in training for a game of greater stakes as a student at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va.

He came to Wilson this past weekend to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Bass. One semester of study completed, he will spend eight weeks organizing a recreational program for a Virginia state prison of 1,500 inmates near Richmond before summer school.

Close family ties gave Bass assurance in competition, in sports and otherwise. The Presbyterian Church was an integral part of family life.

"There was dialogue at home," he said. "My parents gave me love, cared for me and listened to me. When I make a decision now, I talk it over with them."

The same warmth of feeling is in his own family now, which includes wife Jean (the former Jean Lasater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lasater of Sanford), and son Brandon, 15 months old.

At 31, Bass is a young man with the poise of physical good looks and mental equilibrium. Free of hangups, he looks at life with clear eyes, open to all opportunities.

"I've tried to pick up varied experiences," he said. "Every off-season (about five months out of the year for the pro football player) I did something different. I think everything I've done will be helpful to me if I do become a minister."

One year he was a salesman for a Buffalo auto agency. Another year he went through the Sears executive training program, and another year he managed a steak house.

During the campaign of former Gov. Dan K. Moore he served as an administrative assistant to the candidate, an exposure to politics that he found exciting. He also worked an off-season as an industry hunter with the State Conservation and Development department.

"It may seem I was just bouncing around, not sure of what I wanted to do," he said. "But I feel life is full of great and exciting possibilities for all of us. Sure, it's hard and we have ups-and-downs. It takes time to work things out, but we can do it."

Spector Of Controls Hanging Over Nation

With inflation still raging, even as business dips, the spector of wage and price controls looms ever larger for the nation.

Even now legislation is being proposed in Congress which would provide for wage and price guidelines.

"We are in serious straits," Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., said in introducing legislation to create a federal board which could freeze wages and prices for six months.

Of course, wage and price controls are unpalatable to both labor and industry. Still it is recognized that in a time of uncontrollable inflation they could be required.

The next few weeks will be critical in determining whether such controls are necessary. If inflation abates then talk of controls will fade away. Otherwise, controls are a real possibility.

California's Leftist Taint

By ROWLAND EVANS and Robert NOVAK
LOS ANGELES — Rep. George Brown, prophet of the leftist threatening to dominate the California Democratic party, arrived on the UCLA campus last Wednesday and promptly showed why he now leads for the party's Senate nomination.

Not long before, Brown's leading rival for the nomination — the more moderate Rep. John V. Tunney — had been given a bad time by insolent students on the tormented campus.

But Brown, speaking at a student union ballroom festooned with obscene political graffiti, told the students — and many other California Democrats — what they wanted to hear.

Assailing U.S. leadership as "a generation of men who are no longer responsive to the people of this country," Brown urged the students to continue "disquiet on the campus," adding: "There must be no letup on this pressure." Answering questions, he proposed the impeachment of both President Nixon and Vice President Agnew, suggested that Black Panther Bobby Seale should not have been indicted, and opened the door to legalization of marijuana.

It is such rhetoric that has propelled Brown, an obscure Congressman with an underfinanced campaign, ahead of the favored Tunney. But that same rhetoric can spoil Democratic chances against highly vulnerable Republican Sen. George Murphy in November.

Murphy's men, consequently, are praying for Brown to beat Tunney in the June 2 primary.

This represents a leftist syndrome for the Democratic party which, though characteristically intense in California, is nationwide in scope. With the most active elements in the party now on the left, candidates for nominations are moving in that direction. The upshot is not only diminished chances against Republicans in November but narrowed Democratic party base, with conservative blue-collar elements driven off.

Moderate liberals such as Tunney also have succumbed to the malady. Entering the campaign with hostility from the left because of his neutrality in the grape boycott, Tunney emphasized his liberal stands — particularly opposition to Vietnam.

The Brown camp, which had feared Tunney gains among largely inarticulate moderate-to-conservative California Democrats, was delighted. "The farther Tunney went to the left," one Brown strategist confided to us, "the happier we were, because Brown would always be to his left."

But with a private poll showing him 10 percentage points ahead and heavy television advertising to close the campaign (Brown has none), Tunney was supremely confident until last week. He chose not to attack Brown's radical rhetoric, such as his equating U.S. and Soviet "imperialism."

The Mervin Field poll of last Tuesday changed all that, giving Brown 29 percent, Tunney 26 percent, and Los Angeles County Supervisor Kenneth Hahn 10 percent. Scrubbing his regular schedule, Tunney and his aides began 48 hours of agonizing reappraisal.

A few aides proposed that Tunney intensify his anti-war position to cut into Brown's 29 percent. But Tunney himself and key advisers (headed by Warren Christopher, former U.S. Deputy Attorney General) decided he'd better aim for

Spring Cleaning Action

Rumors have been floating around town for the past couple of weeks that Dr. James E. Allen is about to resign as U.S. Commissioner of Education. In this dark and dismal spring, when most of the news is bad, the prospect of losing Dr. Allen seems almost too good to be true.

The gentleman ought to resign. He came to Washington from the friendlier jungles of New York, bringing a reputation as "Mr. Busing" with him. As a zealous advocate of compulsory integration of the schools, Dr. Allen appears to be out of step with the President. His most significant contribution to education came last September, in a speech asserting a universal "right to read," but that assertion since has been lost in a fog.

Dr. Allen ought to clean out his desk as a necessary step toward a larger venture in spring cleaning. The whole Office of Education ought to be swept clean. Like many other Federal agencies, the place is largely staff-run; and the staff in this case, with a few exceptions, is so embalmed in the juices of professional education that an original idea has no chance of survival.

A total housecleaning would permit Mr. Nixon to name as Commissioner such a man as Mortimer Smith, for many years executive director of the Council for Basic Education. Mr. Smith is a man of keen intelligence, wit, and sound common sense. This rules him out. But if Mr. Smith, or a man of his clear-headed views, could be persuaded to take this important post, a great blow could be struck for progress.

Other Editors Say No Political Football

(Washington Daily News)

We can evaluate the needs of the mentally retarded people in North Carolina in any manner we choose. We can ignore their needs or we can seek to fulfill them.

Here is a group of people of all ages who on their own have no political influence, and they must depend solely on friends or loved ones to speak in their behalf.

North Carolina has come a long ways in recent years in the help for mentally retarded people. But so long as we still have people needing to enter institutions and unable to do so, and so long as we have understaffed institutions which could be helping considerably, we still have a mighty problem which demands the very best solution we can find.

We can spend a lot of money for research and for medical knowledge, but until we can actually reach the people in need today, we are not doing the job we should do.

Merely providing money for the cause is not of itself an adequate answer. If there are vacant buildings or wings of buildings which could be utilized if help were available, then perhaps the human element itself weighs heavily upon us.

We have mentally retarded people of all ages and all stations in life. And the responsibility of the state of North Carolina is not lessened according to one's ability to understand.

We cannot say how many of our mentally retarded patients are in hospitals or institutions today. And we cannot say how many there are who ought to be in some institution but are unable to get admitted.

When every new legislature meets, the matter of helping mentally retarded people is before that body. This next session will offer no change. Indeed the challenge will be there, and it ought to be met as fully and as completely as the resources of our state will allow.

Helping mentally retarded people is no political football. There are no paid lobbyists among the group, and people so afflicted are totally dependent upon others for whatever measure of help and support they get.

The needs must be met, and we have every confidence they will be met. They will be met because more and more North Carolinians are realizing that these less fortunate people are our own and we owe to them a responsibility which is cruel and inhuman not to accept.

For an indication of what is wrong with the Office of Education, consider the predictable fate that has befallen Dr. Allen's one feeble attempt at leadership. In September, with Mr. Nixon's obvious approval, Dr. Allen plumped four-square for a "right to read." He spoke of the shocking facts: One out of every four students in the nation has serious trouble reading; in major cities, up to half the students read below expectations; about half of our unemployed youth are functionally illiterate.

Dr. Allen was ready to attack the problem. He was satisfied that "we have accumulated an enormous amount of research and expertise in the field of reading. Few other areas of learning have been so thoroughly and widely studied." Let's go, he seemed to be saying. Forward!

You can guess what happened next. The staff fluttered about, making murmuring noises in that educationist Swahili that passes for professional English, and Dr. Allen's infant idea instantly was suffocated in a cocoon of further research. Contracts are about to be let. You will feel the clammy hands when I tell you that Phase I is to

Soviet Sees Blow

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Soviet fury over Red China's initiatives in Indochina leaves the impression that the Russians feel they have been outsmarted and fear that Peking stands to be the long-term and perhaps only beneficiary of events in Cambodia.

Though they may glean consolation from the difficulties Cambodia has created for Washington, the Russians may look upon the turn of events in Indochina as a disaster of sorts for Moscow, too.

While the Kremlin hung back indecisively after the overthrow of Cambodia's Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Peking acted swiftly to capitalize on the situation. The result as of now is that Peking has a large section of the Asian Communist movement — along with Sihanouk — echoing its cry for "protracted war."

If the American and South Vietnamese incursions into Cambodia happen to extend the war and make it less susceptible to solution by negotiations, that could be just what Peking wants. Perhaps the situation now really is less susceptible to political solution. Sihanouk is denouncing the suggestion, hinted at not long ago by the Russians, of a new Geneva-type conference on Indochina. The "protracted war" cry also seems to dim chances for any talks.

Sihanouk is acting as if Peking owned him. His speeches in Peking, the base of his government-in-exile, sound like a replay of Mao's as he pledges Cambodia to "protracted war."

Nations "who love freedom and justice," says Sihanouk, have recognized his government. This suggests that those failing to recognize him are no better than the "imperialists." The Russians and Soviet-camp nations have not recognized the exile government though Sihanouk has asked them to. It seems the Russians never trusted the mercurial Sihanouk and probably trust him even less now that he appears to be tucked into Mao's back pocket.

But Moscow wants to make points with Asia's Communists and thus may find itself forced to recognize Sihanouk. Russian diplomats then would have to leave Cambodia, perhaps not to return for a long time, while Sihanouk's allies carried out that "protracted war" with Peking's help.

Red China can consider it has little to lose by interminable guerrilla war in which it is not directly involved. It could reckon on the losers would be the superpowers, who because of strains generated by such tension, are unable to agree on anything important and are pushed into a spiraling arms race. The superpowers must worry about the possibility of a mutually destructive conflict, but China, meanwhile, can pursue its goal of leading a "third world" revolution.

It is little wonder that Moscow exploded with frustration. Pravda's May 18 editorial of 7,000 words was a cry of pain and outrage, accusing Mao of trying to take over the whole "national liberation movement." Mao, it said, dreamed of a "great China that would rule at least Asia, if not the world." It said Maoism betrayed world revolution. It hinted Peking was leading the Indochina Communists to the sort of ruin experienced by the Indonesian party when its Chinese-backed try for a coup exploded in 1965.

Strength For Today Inflation Could Be Stopped

LOYALTY
Loyalty is a great virtue. Loyalty to one's country is universally praised and should be. Loyalty to friends, to the members of one's family, to certain ideals — this is all to the good.

The word "loyalty" is derived from the Latin word meaning "law." A loyal person is one who is faithful to certain persons, certain causes, certain principles. Life without loyalty is life without law, and life without law is anarchy and evil.

There is nothing more wonderful than to meet a person who can be relied upon through thick and thin. Theodore Roosevelt used to say that dealing with some people was like trying to nail cranberry jelly to the wall. We know what he meant. We have seen that kind. We dislike Benedict Arnold, and with cause. He was a man of the greatest ability and unflinching courage. But he lacked loyalty to his country. He was an able man, but he was an evil man also. The passing centuries cannot bring us to forget his lack of loyalty.

Crime springs from a lack of loyalty. One puts selfishness and evil purpose before the principles of right and wrong. Business partnerships break up quickly when the spirit of disloyalty begins to corrupt business policies. Husbands and wives who are loyal to each other in thought and act seldom seek divorce.

Religion is loyalty to God. Patriotism is loyalty to one's country. Happy family life is based upon the loyalty of its members to one another.

No loyalty, no happiness. No loyalty, no beauty of character and effective living.

By Earl L. Douglas

By ELMER ROESSNER
The war against inflation is being lost. In one way, it is being lost as is the war in Indochina: Failure to fight to win.

So far, the war against inflation has been fought with something called "monetary controls." These consist of forcing up interest rates, reducing the supply of money and increasing tax rates.

According to the economic textbooks, these should do the trick.

They haven't. They won't. Ever since they have been applied, inflation has worsened. The higher interest rates have caused manufacturers to increase their prices to maintain profitability. Reducing the supply of money has increased interest rate further and, in many cases, caused employers to furlough workers. And increasing the tax rates and the higher prices for goods is causing workers to demand more money, which gives another twist to the inflationary spin.

Ambushed
Our monetary experts in Washington have been ambushed, just as many of our GIs have been in Vietnam.

Inflation, instead of subsiding, has become worse than ever. Consumer prices are now rising at a rate of 7.2 per cent a year. Industrial prices are going up. Wages are rising. Corporate profits are declining. The stock market has gone to hell.

The decline today is seriously being compared with the crash in 1929.

failed to halt inflation — in fact, having worsened it — there are still steps that can be taken. For example:

● Freeze all prices, consumer and industrial, as of noon today.

● Freeze all wages, as of 12:01.

● Restrict consumer credit, requiring large — say 60 per cent — down payments and require full payments within a year.

Those steps will arrest inflation. But a second flight may be necessary later:

● Insist that the first three steps can not be compromised. Prohibit price increases because a manufacturer adds a button to a dress; forbid wage increases simply because a job has a new name; stick to the credit rules even if some of the indigent are indignant.

● Lower interest rates, which will take some of the pressure out of the demands for higher prices and higher wages. limiting imports of foreign products that can be made in America.

● If inflation doesn't stop dead, increase taxes again and again.

Credit Where Due

Those aren't my ideas. For the most part, they were devised by Franklin D. Roosevelt and his advisors at the start of World War II. And, while the pressures for inflation were much higher than they are today, the U.S.A. went through World War II with so little inflation that economists have been amazed ever since. The pound was slashed, the franc all but obliterated, but the dollar came through.

Sure, these steps will affect many people. Their income in dollars may be shrunk. But they will be dollars still with 75 cents purchasing power, not 19 cents, which is what they will have if inflation goes on.

As part of the refinement of the program objective, the consultants are to define and describe "the recognized sub-groups of subjects who

Phase I also covers the determination of "resource ceilings within which instructional systems generated through the Targeted R&D Program on Reading must operate."

I will now translate into English: The purpose of Phase I, as part of a program to improve reading skills, is to make certain that reading skills shall not be improved any time soon. Two years hence, if Dr. Allen should survive so long, we may confidently expect the hiring of additional consultants to appraise the consultations of the first consultants, and so ad infinitum.

that 35 percent of California Democrats either so apathetic or so appalled by the choice that they are undecided and may not vote.

Thus, after months of listless campaigning, Tunney began sniping at Brownisms (for example: "I think the Black Panthers party has been subject to a systematic nationwide illegal conspiracy to destroy them on the part of law enforcement"). It may have come too late. The Field poll gave Brown momentum (including National Committeeman Stephen Reinhardt) pouring in.

Tunney's turn toward the middle may be duplicated by State Assemblyman Jesse Unruh, heavily favored in the primary for governor against conservative Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. Once a super-pragmatic, Unruh lately has fallen into the leftist syndrome of ignoring the center.

"My eyes are so tired I just can't see a thing!" How often have you heard yourself or others complain of eye fatigue? It is certainly an uncomfortable feeling. It reduces our working and relaxing enjoyment. Here are some helpful methods of reducing the build-up of fatigue in the eye.
If you are involved with an activity calling for concentration on one object, try this: Let your eyes wander around the room. Focus them on several different objects, all of which are varying distances from your eyes. If you focus on several different objects, you will use several different eye muscles. The simple change of the picture in your mind is also relaxing. And believe it or not, just blinking the eye is helpful.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Your approval of a "Mamma doll" who could have a "baby doll" horrified me, too.

I have young children and I know how they play, and it's not necessary for them to have such toys. A baby being born is beautiful and sacred, and not something for dirty-minded little boys to snicker at. And don't tell me young boys are not dirty-minded, because they are!

You may say, "If you don't want these toys, don't buy them." but how can you keep your children from seeing them if their playmates have them?

If sex is thrown at children too young they will be tempted to try it out the first chance they get. They will be doing what their toys will do and I think the toy makers owe it to our young folks to keep their toys clean. Even dolls with busts were a little too much for me.

ALSO HORRIFIED

DEAR ABBY: I have six grandchildren, and I am much more "horrified" to see them playing with toy tanks, machine guns, and pistols than I would be to see them playing with a doll who can wet her pants and give birth. Wetting the pants and giving birth are natural and normal, and we can't "protect" our young from the essential facts of life and the wonders of mother nature.

After all, many small children know where eggs and kittens and puppies come from, so what's wrong with a Mamma doll?

NOT SO HORRIFIED IN HORTON, MASS.

DEAR ABBY: If the toy manufacturers are allowed to make Mamma dolls who have baby dolls, there is no end to what they will be dreaming up next. "Dolls" are getting too realistic for my tastes.

Originally, the "doll" was a baby doll, which the child could "mother" and cuddle and pretend was her own "baby." This was fine and served a healthy purpose. Then along came some smart toy manufacturer who made a pretty, fully developed young lady doll complete with fancy wardrobe right down to girdles and brassieres. They even made a handsome man doll for the lady doll to play with. Of course, hundreds of dollars can be spent on clothes for these "dolls."

Such dolls teach youngsters that they can never have too many clothes.

Everything today is "commercialized." Toy manufacturers are not concerned about how their products affect children. All they care about is making money.

DISGUSTED IN BRIDGEPORT

DEAR ABBY: You deserve 10 lashes with a wet diaper for condoning the "Mamma doll" who actually gives birth to a "baby doll." Good grief, is nothing sacred?

DISAPPOINTED IN S. C.

DEAR ABBY: Until now I have agreed with you 100 per cent, but your answer to HORRIFIED who wrote about the Mamma doll who actually gives birth, left me horrified. You

Fordham U. Chancellor Will Join Johnson C. Smith Univ.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. Leo McLaughlin, who gained a reputation as an innovator while serving as president and later chancellor of Fordham University, is resigning to become director of freshman studies at a small, predominantly black university in Charlotte.

"For many years I've been talking about race relations, and it's time I put my life where my mouth has been," he said Wednesday in announcing he has resigned as Fordham's chancellor effective June 30 to join Johnson C. Smith University. "I hope such shifts become a trend," he said. "The whole tendency of American universities is to attract black scholars from black schools. Perhaps we can reverse this brain drain a little.

"I'm not going to Smith with the solutions but to work with the faculty and students to find the solutions to our joint educational problems," he said.

Smith, whose enrollment of 1,300 includes only about six white students, is a liberal arts and sciences school founded by the Northern Presbyterian Church in 1867.

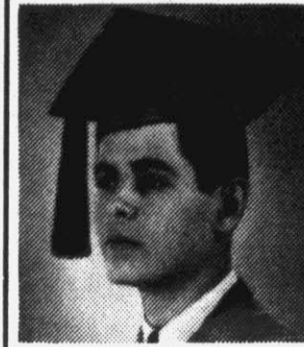

Now independent but related to the church, the institution draws most of its students from families in North and South Carolina who have earnings of less than $5,000 a year. Annual tuition is slightly under $1,000.

McLaughlin spoke at a news conference at Fordham University's new Lincoln Center campus which was attended by Dr. Lionel Newsum, Smith's Negro president.

He called Smith "a very exciting place" and "a truly great institution of higher learning."

McLaughlin became Fordham president in 1965 with a vow "to pay any price, break any mold" to bring the 7,000-student university to greatness.

LBJ Sets Tone For Demo Rally

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)— Democrats have taken a lingering look backwards at a party fund-raising dinner that produced more than $800,000 for their campaign to stay in command of Congress.

They hailed a gallery of past residents, and other party heroes and paid tribute to the retiring speaker of the House John W. McCormack Jr.

Oklahoma, the House majority leader, as among "the greatest living Americans, my President, your President ..."

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson set the tone in a keynote speech of praise for McCormack—"in my judgment, in our judgment ... the very best."

Asks For Trial After Election

WASHINGTON (AP)— Mayor Hugh J. Addonizio of Newark, N.J., has asked the Supreme Court to delay his trial on extortion and income tax charges until after the June 16 election in which he seeks another term of office.

The trial is scheduled to begin next Tuesday. Addonizio claimed holding it at that time would unfairly prejudice his campaign.

Addonizio's election opponent is Kenneth Gibson, a Negro engineer.

Will Graduate From Institute

Jerry Dawson Wooten, son of Levie Wooten, will graduate Friday from the Agricultural Institute at North Carolina State University.

The Agricultural Institute is a two-year curriculum which prepares students to manage farm enterprises and hold other positions in businesses related to agriculture.

Wooten will receive an associate degree in general agriculture.

"When Lyndon Johnson returned to the White House today, the stock market went up 32 points," said Albert.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield sounded the lone political rallying cry, scorning the Republican response to the "national shame" of war abroad and turmoil at home, and declaring Democratic majorities in Congress a vital balance wheel to counter the GOP White House.

More than 2,000 members of the House and Senate, aides, party workers, and lobbyists were on hand at the $500 a plate dinner Wednesday night. Party officials said receipts plus pledges could push the total proceeds to about $1 million.

man who was my political mentor as well as John McCormack's, the late, beloved Sam Rayburn."

He said McCormack was a driving force in "what I believe was the greatest Congress that ever assembled in American history, the 89th Congress." That Congress, produced by the Democratic landslides of 1964, passed Johnson's Great Society programs.

Singer Wins In Contract Suit

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)— Singer Connie Francis has won confirmation by the Court of Appeals of a lower court decision dismissing a breach of contract suit by her former personal manager, George Scheck.

The appeals tribunal agreed that Miss Francis had never signed the contracts cited in Scheck's suit.

Democratic Presidents—Johnson, John F. Kennedy, Harry S. Truman. "And if Hubert Humphrey was President of the United States, he'd make one of the greatest Presidents of our country," McCormack said.

By contrast, Mansfield's words were somber. "We meet at a time when America's economy is caught in the dead hand of war," he said.

"There are those whose response to this national shame is still the rhetoric of denunciation and national division," he said. "Democrats will not join in dividing America."

He urged Republicans and independents "who want to stop the spread of war" to join Democrats in the coming campaign.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina egg markets steady Wednesday, supplies adequate, demand fair. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 40 to 40½; medium, whites: 32½ to 33½; small, whites: 23 to 23½.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina live poultry market undertone weak. Supplies fully adequate for fair, ready-to-cook demand. Weights desirable. Live, at-farm based valuation 12½-13 cents. Hens—supplies of all weights plentiful, demand slow. Lights—at farm 5-6, mostly 5 cents.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA)—North Carolina hog markets mostly steady with instances of 25 to 50 cents lower today. NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was sharply higher early this afternoon but beginning to lose ground. Trading was very active.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 13.28, or 2 per cent, to 676.48, after having been ahead more than 18 earlier.

Advances led declines by a 5 to 1 margin. In morning trading, advances had been ahead by over 8 to 1.

The upsurge was called by analysts a natural follow-through of Wednesday's record advance.

They pointed to reassurances coming out of President Nixon's dinner meeting with financial and business leaders as contributing to the rise. Bargain hunting and short covering was also cited.

Some analysts said the upswing was merely technical, since basic fundamentals that had driven the market to its recent lows remained unchanged.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were also higher. The Amex price change index at noon was 0.27 to 20.23, and advances led declines by 4 to 1.

Stocks were up in all categories.

Big Board prices included: ESB Inc., up ½ to 19; Occidental Petroleum, up ¾ to 17¼; General Motors, up 1½ to 63¾.

Texaco, up ¼ to 25¼; and Texaco, off ¼ to 13¾.

Three Children Injured As Bus Slid Into Ditch

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Three of the 17 children on a school bus were injured Thursday when the bus slid into a ditch on the outskirts of Charlotte.

They were treated at Memorial Hospital and released.

Sixty-two other children had departed the bus near their homes before the accident.

Highway Patrolman B. J. Crow said he had charged the driver, Wiley T. Duckworth Jr., a high school junior, with driving on the left side of the road. He quoted Duckworth as saying he swung the bus left on a gravel road to make a turn and the vehicle slid into a ditch on the left. The bus remained upright.

POLICE INJURED

PARIS (AP) — Paris police reported 81 of their men injured in clashes with young rioters in the Latin Quarter Wednesday night and braced for more of the same tonight.

Minipigs Said Result Of 20 Years' Breeding

AUSTIN, Minn. (AP) — Minipigs are little piggies going to market in increasing numbers, but not to become pork chops, roasts or sausages.

The small swine are the product of 20 years of selective breeding by researchers at the University of Minnesota's Hormel Institute. Now the researchers have enough to sell some to other laboratories for use in medical research.

Pigs, more than almost any other experimental animal, have digestive, glandular, respiratory and blood circulation systems similar to man's, and much the same kind of skin. But size has been a stumbling block to using them for research.

Enter the minipig, which weighs about 140 pounds fully grown. Normal adult hogs often top the scales at four or five times that weight.

STILL IN HOSPITAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Thurgood Marshall, making a slow but good recovery from pneumonia, will probably have to stay at Bethesda Naval Hospital for another two weeks.

European highways have no speed limits.

Adjustments Bd. Meets Tonight

Four items are on the agenda for the meeting of the Greenville Board of Adjustments, to be held tonight in the mayor's office in the City Hall at 8:00 p.m.

Two are requests for variance — one by Joseph W. Tripp for a variance on setback requirements in order to construct a storage shed adjacent to his present garage on his property located at 1307 Forbes Street. The other variance request is by Jonah Reese, who petitions to construct a second story on his present apartment building located at 1700 Evans Street.

P. J. Norfleet is requesting a special use permit to reconstruct a barbecue pit at the corner of Ford and West Fifth Streets.

SBI Moving To New Quarters

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Bureau of Investigation will begin June 8 moving from its cramped quarters in the Justice Building to new quarters that will give it more than twice as much space.

The new quarters will include a one-story building which will house the SBI's laboratory, and a 26-room house for administrative offices.

Greenville Jay-C-ettes had gone on record as offering their services for "leg work" in helping publicly with the work which will be involved.

The Way To Get A Lot More For Your Money Is To Spend A Little More Of Your Money.

All brands of washers and dryers look pretty much alike. Regardless of price.

But that's where the similarity ends.

Take Kelvinator, for example. It may not be the least expensive brand you can buy—just the least troublesome. We make our washers and dryers as service-free as laundry appliances can be.

And talk about features! What other brand of washer has more features than an 18-pound capacity, a 3-step rinsing action, a recirculating lint filter, 5-way (5-way!) agitation, and 5 different water temperatures?

And what other brand of dryer has more features than an automatic termination cycle for permanent-press fabrics, 4 different drying temperatures, a dual-action thermostat for maximum safety, and up to 130 minutes of timed drying?

What other brand has more features? Well, as long as we asked the question, we might as well give the answer. None.

is what we sell!

Perhaps you've never thought of life insurance as "happiness." But it is in so many ways. It helps you get rid of financial worries so you can live a little!

How? Like this: Each dollar you put into cash-value life insurance works like four.

It works as a protection dollar. The way you normally think of insurance dollars working.

It works as an emergency dollar. Helping you put aside money that you might otherwise spend.

It works as an opportunity dollar. Money ready and waiting to help you do the things you really need to do.

It works as a retirement dollar. Brightening your retirement years . . . extra dollars for your leisure.

Four ways. Instant money when you need it. That's a lot of happiness!

SOME PEOPLE THINK ELECTRIC HEAT IS ONLY FOR THE RICH.

Except those who have it.

All kinds of people who work for a living have electric heat. People just like you.

They know the value of a dollar. And when they spend it on something as important as home heating, they want total value.

They choose electric heat because it's cleaner, safer, quieter, and more flexible than any other system. It's the only system that will be as up-to-date years from now as it is today.

So when you consider the cost of a heating system, consider the value. Ask yourself whether any other heating system offers more for the money than flameless electric heat.

Ask your developer, architect, or heating contractor about today's best heating value. Electric.

And if people wonder why you're working, tell them it's just a hobby.

Relief Pitching Keys American Wins

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Relief in the American League is as close as the nearest bullpen.

Mudcat Grant, Pete Richert, Jack Aker, Darold Knowles and Moe Drabowsky all came galloping to the rescue Wednesday night and provided the clutch pitching their teams needed.

Grant worked the final 2-3 innings in Oakland's 4-3 triumph over California; Richert put down a Cleveland threat in the ninth, preserving Baltimore's 5-4 victory; Aker checked Detroit on one hit over the last four innings as the New York Yankees beat the Tigers 4-2; Knowles picked up his first win of the year with four scoreless frames in Washington's 7-5 verdict over Boston and Drabowsky got the last four outs as Kansas City shaded the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

Milwaukee's scheduled game at Minnesota was rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati stopped San Diego 6-4.

Pittsburgh blanked the Chicago Cubs 4-0, the New York Mets shut out St. Louis 3-0, Atlanta thumped Houston 8-1, San Francisco mauled Los Angeles 11-3 and Philadelphia zipped Montreal 3-0.

Sixth-inning homers by Joe Rudi and Sal Bando gave Oakland the lead over California and Grant nailed down the victory. Coming on in the seventh, he fed an inning-ending double play ball to Bob Johnson, struck out Joe Azcue and Roger Repoz with two runners aboard in the eighth and set the Angels down in order in the ninth.

Frank Fernandez hit a solo homer for the A's in the second. Although he's become the bellwether of the A's bullpen, Grant years to be a starter again.

"Everyone prefers starting," he says. "There's just something about starting and relieving. Starters are still considered to be better pitchers, even when that isn't true in all cases. It's something that's left over from the past. We're still living in the past in some respects."

Richert, who has been scored on in only one of 13 relief appearances, showed up in the ninth after Ted Uhlaender and Eddie Leon opened for Cleveland with singles. He got Duke Sims to bounce into a double play, yielded a run-scoring single to Tony Horton, but retired Chuck Hinton on a fly ball for the final out.

It was the first time Richert failed to strike out anyone, but he has fanned 22 in 15 2-3 innings.

The Indians had combined four singles, a wild pitch and an infield out for three runs in the top of the seventh and led 3-2. But the Orioles bounced right back, with Don Buford stroking a two-run baselined single and the eventual winning run crossing on Mark Belanger's infield roller. Starter Jim Palmer homered earlier for Baltimore.

Aker appeared on the Yankee scene earlier than usual — in the sixth inning. The Tigers, trailing 4-1, had runners on first and third and none out. Willie Horton's sacrifice fly got one run home but Aker slammed the door after that.

The Yanks jumped on Joe Niekro for three runs in the first inning on a walk, Roy White's single, an RBI single by Danny Cater and a two-run single by Curt Blefary.

Knowles picked up his win when the Senators rallied for three runs in the seventh to hand the Red Sox their 15th setback in 20 games.

Del Unser, who hit the first pitch of the game for a home run, ignited the winning rally with his third hit. Mike Epstein blooped a two-run double and scored on Bernie Allen's triple, a liner which Tony Conigliaro misjudged. Rico Petrocelli homered and doubled for the Sox, driving in three runs.

Bill Melton had just singled home Chicago's third run with two out in the eighth when Drabowsky took over for Kansas City and calmed things down. Bob Oliver hit a solo homer for the Royals and Ed Kirkpatrick had a pair of run-scoring singles. Tom McCraw hit a two-run shot for the White Sox.

Seminoles Favored In NCAA Action

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP)—The Florida State Seminoles are favored to win the NCAA District 3 baseball tournament which opened today and to advance to the college World Series June 12 in Omaha, Neb.

The Seminoles, with a 42-7-1 season record, best of the four teams in the double-elimination tournament, were scheduled to play East Carolina in the opening game this afternoon. Florida State, the at-large entry, is making its 12th appearance in the 15 years the district tournament has been held in Sims Legion Park in Gastonia, and has won the district title four times, in 1957, 1962, 1963 and 1965.

This is the first appearance for East Carolina, 20-11, the Southern Conference champion.

The Southeastern Conference champion, Mississippi State, 30-6, plays the Atlantic Coast Conference titlist, Maryland, 25-12, tonight.

The Friday schedule has the first-round losers playing in the afternoon and the winners at night.

The district has had one team which went on to the national championship, Wake Forest in 1955.

Jack Stallings, who is in his second year as Florida State head coach, is the former Wake Forest Coach.

His Wake Forest teams won the district title only once, in 1955 when they also went on to the national crown. However, they came close on two other occasions, in 1962 and 1963, only to succumb in the finals to Florida State, his present affiliation.

The Mississippi State Bulldogs will be playing without four key men. They competed as freshmen under Southeastern Conference rules, but that was one year before the NCAA approved such action. They are pitchers Brantley Jones, 9-0 and Dennis Hall, 5-1, all SEC first basemen Jocko Potts, 324, and third baseman Bill Rorie.

Rams Take Win In Semi-Finals

WILSON — Robersonville came from behind with all their runs in the fifth inning and edged Lee Woodard, 3-2 yesterday in an Eastern 1-A Semi-Final game here.

Lee Woodard did all their damage in the fourth inning to take the initial lead. Harold Yelverton singled and went to second on a passed ball. An error on the play allowed him to reach third and George Ellis laid down a bunt single to score Yelverton. Ellis stole second and came around to score on a throwing error on the play.

Robersonville came right back with three runs in their half of the fifth. Timmy James singled and Danny Stalls walked. Bill James singled, loading the bases and Bobby Rawls reached on a fielding error, scoring Timmy James and Stalls. Bill James was tagged out on an attempted squeeze and Rawls attempted to steal second but a throwing error on the play allowed him to come around with the winning run.

Robersonville will play Acme-Delco here Saturday night for the Eastern 1-A championship. State playoff action will be held next Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Elks Win First, Top Exchange

The Elks pushed across eight runs in the third inning and rolled to a 11-8 win over the Exchange in action yesterday in the Tar Heel League.

The win gives the Elks a 1-4 slate while Exchange is now 2-3. The Moose and Graniteers both have 4-1 records, Pepsi is 3-2 and Integon is 1-4.

In the third, Ricky Skinner started off action for the Elks with a walk and after a walk to Bobby Mosley, Peter Hargett doubled, scoring Skinner. Bill Glidewell reached on an error, Mosley scoring on the play. Glidewell stole second base and both he and Hargett scored after Murray Adam reached on an error. Reggie Spain was safe on another error and Adam scored on the play.

Franklin Davis was hit by a pitch and Wayne Clemans followed with a single, scoring Spain. Skinner followed with another singled, scoring Davis and Clemans.

In the fifth inning, Exchange picked up five runs to close the gap. Darrell Roebuck walked and reached third on two wild pitches. Mike Brewington brought Roebuck in with a single and two successive hits by Doug Paschal and Gene Bunn loaded the bases with Brewington later scoring on a wild pitch. Paschal also scored on a wild pitch and Mike Jeffrys doubled to score Bunn. Jeffrys scored when Bobby Boseman reached on an error.

In the Elks half of the inning they added their final three runs and Exchange closed out with three in the sixth to wrap up the scoring.

Hargett led the Elks hitting with three and no one else had more than one hit. For the Exchange, Roebuck, Paschal,

Jenkins' Honor Two ECU Conference Champions

GREENVILLE, N.C. — "I've never been to Omaha and I'd like very much to go this June." That's the challenge East

Carolina University President Leo Jenkins handed Coach Earl Smith's Pirate baseball team Monday night before the Southern Conference Champs embarked for Gastonia, N.C., and the NCAA District 3 Playoffs. At stake is a bid to the prestigious College World Series at Omaha, Neb., June 12-19.

Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins honored the ECU baseball and swimming teams — the only two Pirate varsity teams to win Southern Conference Championships this school year — at a buffet dinner in their home Monday evening.

"We in the university administration are very proud of what you boys have accomplished this year," said Jenkins. "You can be proud of yourselves."

Coach Smith and Head Swimming Coach Ray Scharf presented Southern Conference Championship plaques to Jenkins.

"I'll expect another one next year," Jenkins said to Scharf, whose swimmers have won the conference title an unprecedented five straight years.

"We can't match the swimmers," quipped Smith, "but we'll do the next best thing. 'We'll win it every other year.'" The Pirates have made the District 3 Playoffs in Gastonia four times — in 1964, 1966, 1968 and 1970.

Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich presented championship trophies to each of the baseball players. Then Smith gave away two autographed baseballs — one to Dr. Jenkins and one to Mrs. Jenkins.

NFL Schedules Compiled

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Football League has compiled tentative regular season schedules for the next nine years, with only the sites of games from 1971 through 1978 still to be determined.

The schedules, subject to change only in the event of further expansion or realignment of the 26-team league, were drawn up, without aid of a computer, by the NFL office and passed on to the club owners during their meetings this week in New York.

This year's schedule, with sites and dates, was released earlier. Jim Kensil, chief aide to Commissioner Pete Rozelle, said it took only a few days to complete, and check out, the voluminous long-range schedule.

Relocation Sum Pledged

More than 100 families of the First Presbyterian Church started off the Relocation Fund Campaign last Sunday by pledging more than $109,900, according to Dr. John O. Reynolds, general chairman of the relocation fund.

Nearly 350 people attended the Loyalty Sunday services at which time the campaigners were commissioned and members of the congregation heard the Rev. Richard Gammon compare the challenge of the church in the day of the prophet Jeremiah to the challenge of today's congregation in building a church.

Nearly 70 members of the campaign organization are scheduled to meet in the church's Fellowship Hall tonight to receive another progress report. There are still 120 families to be heard from in the relocation drive.

The final report meeting is scheduled for June 4.

Goal of the drive is $150,000. Work on the new church home is underway at the intersection of Elm and 14th Streets.

California has more than 800 registered historic landmarks.

Suspect Apollo 13 Insulation

By PAUL RECER
AP Aerospace Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Wiring insulation inside an oxygen tank which exploded on Apollo 13 may have been seriously damaged before the ill-fated moon mission was launched, the chairman of the committee studying the space accident says.

Edgar M. Cortright, chairman of the Apollo 13 review board, said Wednesday that several days before the launch the tank had been filled with oxygen for a rehearsal, and afterwards workmen were unable to drain it in the normal way.

He said special procedures were then used to remove the oxygen, and these "probably resulted in major damage to the wiring insulation" inside the tank. The tank exploded April 13, as Apollo 13 was more than halfway to the moon. The explosion blew off a panel of the service module, destroyed the spacecraft's major supply of oxygen and electricity, forced cancellation of the moon landing and seriously endangered the astronauts.

Cortright said the possibility of damage during the drainage operation was discovered during recent tests at the Beech Aircraft plant in Boulder, Colo. The special drainage procedures were duplicated at Beech, which manufactures the tank.

Cortright also said it now appears that two switches designed to keep heaters in the oxygen tank from overheating may also have failed. Tests have shown, he said, that such a failure would cause temperatures in the tank to reach 1,000 degrees.

"Such temperatures would have caused serious damage to the insulation around the heater wires," Cortright said. "The insulation damage could have resulted in short circuits to institute the combustion of insulation inside the tank."

This burning would, in turn, cause pressure to rise in the tank, eventually forcing the tank to explode.

PTI Graduation Exercises Are Slated For Friday

Sixty Associate in Applied Science degrees and seven diplomas will be awarded by Pitt Technical Institute at its annual graduation exercise in McGinnis Auditorium on the East Carolina University campus Friday at 8 p.m.

Speaker for the institution's sixth annual commencement will be Dr. Amos Abrams, associate executive secretary of the North Carolina Education Association and editor of the "North Carolina Education" magazine for 24 years.

Pitt Technical Institute president William E. Fulford Jr. referred to this year's graduates as a barometer of progress for the school. "This class," he said, "is indicative of the increasing role that PTI is playing in preparing our youth to assume prominent places in our highly technological society. Our graduates are second to none in their respective fields, and reflect a commendable image on Pitt Tech and their communities."

According to Bryan Grimes, PTI placement director, almost all this year's graduates already have jobs. Salaries for people in technical and vocational occupations are very good, Grimes said. "In fact, some of our two-year graduates will make a starting salary considerably above that made by many graduates of four-year institutions," Grimes added.

Slow, Steps To Protect Environment

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

In Yakima, Wash., a U.S. Army officer has come up with an answer to the problem of automobiles abandoned on Yakima streets: blow them up.

Lt. Col. James P. Johnson, deputy post commander at the Yakima Firing Range told a community cleanup campaign that the Army would remove auto bodies and haul them to the firing range for target practice by Army tanks.

So goes one more small step in the fight to save the environment, a struggle marked by advances and retreats, but a continuing fight that shows no evidence of having spent itself in Earth Day last April 22.

In early May, for example, the Louis Harris polling organization found that in the relatively unspoiled state of Washington the environment had become one of the primary concerns of the residents.

And a few days after Earth Day, the Ecological Society of America released a professional study urging establishment of a National Institute of Ecology.

The report, supported by the National Science Foundation, said such an institute could be the focus of international ecological activity.

As interest appeared to be gathering in the environmental movement, ecologists counted some of their gains and losses.

—Environmental advocates won what they consider a victory with the announcement by the Federal Water Quality Administration of a thermal pollution policy that would forbid dumping virtually any heated water into Lake Michigan. The policy would affect seven planned power plants, industries and municipalities.

—But President Nixon's assistant for consumer affairs, Mrs. Virginia Knauer, reported that a federal survey of public water supply samples showed that 30 per cent contained excessive amounts of germs and chemicals.

—The average amount of DDT in fish caught in Connecticut rivers and lakes has decreased since airplane spraying was abandoned in 1965. But the Canadian government has banned the sale and export of perch and pickerel from Lake Erie because of possible mercury contamination.

—The National Science Foundation announced an urgent project to investigate potential ecological effects of the proposed trans-Alaskan oil pipeline and of development of Alaska's North Slope because of its oil deposits. But the Sierra Club, a leading conservation group, lost its fight to get a seat on the board of directors of the Atlantic Richfield Co. in its efforts to stop construction of the trans-Alaska pipeline.

Looking ahead, the environmental activists have as their most immediate target the development of a civil supersonic transport aircraft. They strongly oppose continued SST development, arguing that it would benefit only a few privileged travelers while potentially harming countless persons by extreme noise at airports, sonic booms and pollution of the atmosphere.

The SST issue is coming up now in Congress and the House Appropriations Committee has approved an additional $290 million for continued development.

Looking ahead 30 years, an expert panel of the National Research Council-National Academy of Engineering warned that sulphur dioxide pollution of the atmosphere may more than triple in the next three decades unless government and industry take vigorous action.

Pollution from sulphur dioxide and other closely related compounds comes mainly from oil and coal-fired electricity generating plants. These are second only to the internal combustion engine as pollutants, the panel said.

Here are some of the other ups and downs in the environment:

—New York City's commissioner of water resources, Maurice M. Feldman said the majestic but badly polluted Hudson River should regain its ability to support fish life some time in the mid-1970s because of pollution control efforts. "Although people have prematurely announced the death of the Hudson River," Feldman said, "the Hudson is not dead."

—A New York Times survey found that public zeal against littering is on the upswing across the country, but not yet enough so to offset the cost of collecting it. In Lincoln, Neb., the annual cost of cleanup work is $1.30 a person; in New York City $1.12.

—Dr. Arie Jan Hagen-Smit, chairman of the President's Task Force on Air Pollution, reported that there are promising signs the nation has risen to the challenge of combating pollution, but he lamented that all the American technology can never return the tons of topsoil lost from the American heartland to the Gulf of Mexico.

—In San Francisco, the Garden State Paper Co. announced it will conduct a market survey to study the economics involved in a newsprint recycling plant, in response to a question by the San Francisco Examiner that old newspapers be saved and turned into a recycling process as an individual contribution toward preservation of the environment.

—On Spaceship Earth, the World Meteorological Organization is planning to set up air pollution monitoring stations in clean, isolated parts of the world to provide a standard for determining how bad the pollution is elsewhere. A spokesman said he did not know of any place in the United States that would qualify.

Greece Refuses Issue Passport

ATHENS (AP) — Mrs. Alexander Fleming, widow of the discoverer of penicillin, has been refused a passport to leave her native Greece.

The Ministry of Interior announcement Wednesday gave no reason. Mrs. Fleming testified for the defense last month at a court martial in which Greece's military-oriented regime accused two persons of belonging to an antigovernment group.

Mrs. Fleming renounced her Greek citizenship when she married Fleming in England, but returned to Greece in 1968 and had her citizenship reinstated.

Nebraska is one of the few states to allow hunting of both prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse.
