

County Board OKs Public Assistance Budgetary Increase

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday gave tentative approval to a $77,300-plus increase in the Department of Social Service's public assistance budget and approved the retirement of Pitt County Health Department director Dr. R. E. Fox, effective June 30.

Commissioners, who by law must fund the Department of Social Services' public assistance programs — which include such items as Aid to Dependent Children, Old Age Assistance and Medicaid — had very little choice but to give tentative approval to the $379,482.66 requested for the 1970-71 fiscal year.

That budget for the current fiscal period has approved last year totals $302,130. Neither of the two figures includes funds for administration of the Department of Social Services — salaries, utilities, travel, or the like — which will be presented separately and discussed when commissioners take their first look at the county's budget requests next week.

The first of the commissioner's annual budget sessions will be held Tuesday, beginning at 10 a.m. The officials hope to hear representatives from all county agencies who wish to be heard on that day as they begin compiling the budget for the coming fiscal period.

The retirement of Dr. Fox, who has been director of the Pitt Health Department since September 1962, was accepted and a certificate for his service to the county, was approved and signed by county officials for presentation to him.

Replacement of Dr. Fox will be upon recommendation of the Board of Health.

The county board took no action on a request by trustees of Pitt Memorial Hospital to call a referendum on whether to issue bonds for construction of expanded hospital facilities. Action on the request was postponed after spokesmen for the trustees reported they wished the bond vote to be held in November at the time of the general election.

County attorney W. W. Speight said he would prepare a resolution calling for the bond election — and have it approved by bond attorneys — for presentation at the commissioner's July meeting.

Commissioners, hospital trustees and local physicians have for some time been studying ways of expanding facilities at the local hospital to meet the increasing needs of the community.

MAKES BREAKTHROUGH — Nobel prize winner H. G. Khorana announced today the first total synthesis of a gene, is shown at work in his laboratory.

Gene Created By Scientist In Laboratory

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Scientists have created a gene in the laboratory, a feat that raises questions about the possibility of starting life itself in a test tube.

The announcement of the first man-made gene—the basic unit of heredity that controls all life processes—was made Tuesday by a team headed by a Nobel Prize winner, Dr. H. Gobind Khorana.

The University of Wisconsin team said genes can be made completely from simple organic chemicals.

Khorana, who won a 1968 Nobel for earlier work on the genetic code, said the new work might eventually allow scientists to manipulate the biology of a living system.

Some scientists have said in the past that it might be 25 to 100 years before this new knowledge of genetics can be put to work in man.

The first likely application would be in genetic engineering — perhaps infecting humans with viruses that carry new genes, genes that would cure hereditary diseases such as hemophilia.

By making and giving substitute genes, man may be able to make people smarter or taller. Scientists may be able to turn off the growth of cancer cells.

A first simple life form that might be made in the test tube is a virus.

Even this, however, could be dangerous. A man-made virus might be so unusual that nothing would exist to control it.

So while scientists are moving closer to control of biological processes, they also are moving closer to dangers and the problems of the possible misuse of this mastery.

Who would be given the power to make decisions about heredity control? This question is one of profound concern to many scientists working with genetics.

When a Harvard Medical School team isolated pure genetic material late last year, Dr. Jonathan Beckwith, 33, the team leader, expressed fear that the work could be misused by government.

The Wisconsin synthesis of a gene is a major advance in a biological revolution that began in the 1940s with the discovery that growth and heredity are controlled by the chemical substance DNA, deoxyribonucleic acid.

Genes are molecules of DNA. They thus harbor the master genetic information that is responsible for making people, and all living things, what they are.

Rejected

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today rejected a proposal to give the President a free hand in Cambodia so long as Communists hold Americans prisoner there.

The setback for the administration came only hours before President Nixon was scheduled to go before a national television-radio audience with what is expected to be an optimistic progress report on the campaign in Cambodia.

Auction Home To Pay Taxes

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Drummer Buddy Rich's house and furnishings will be auctioned June 12 to pay back income taxes, the U.S. Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS filed a tax lien of $141,606 against Rich last August and said Tuesday he had not met payment dates on an agreed schedule.

Ex-Official In Student Melee

COLCHESTER, England (AP) — Former Foreign Secretary George Brown was the center of a fist-swinging melee involving longhaired students during a Labor party rally for the forthcoming national election.

One youth said Brown, 55, knocked him down during the altercation Tuesday.

Brown, who did not deny it, reminded newsmen that he was brought up in a tough east end district of London "where you learn to look after yourself."

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday named Walter Latham to serve as principal of the North Pitt High School.

The North Pitt School, located on a 46.52 acre site about seven miles from Greenville on N.C. 11, will serve the Belvoir, Pactolus, Stokes and Bethel school areas.

A native of Beaufort County, Latham received his "A" certificate in mathematics and social studies from Elon College in 1934. He earned a master's degree in supervision and administration from East Carolina University in 1949 and the advanced degree (sixth year) from ECU in 1968.

He served as principal of Stokes School from 1939 until 1944, before accepting the position as principal of Bethel High School, a post he has held for 26 years.

He has served as president of the Pitt County Unit of the North Carolina Education Association, president of the Pitt County Principals Association, president of the math division of the NE District of the NCEA, president of the Health and Physical Education Division of NC District of NCEA and a member of the State Department of Education Advisory Committee on Athletics for two years. He served for five years on the NCHSAA Board of Control for Athletes.

In other business yesterday, the board:

—discussed a petition from students, teachers and adults in the Farmville area seeking to change the name of the new Farmville High School to something besides the Farmville High School. The board voted to continue to call the new school in that area the Farmville High School.

—voted not to set the school calendar for next year until the school construction completion and other items could be determined.

—named John Proctor to audit the school financial reports for this year; also approved the audit figure of $800 for Title I for this year.

—voted to begin preparation for accepting bids for bleachers for the North Pitt and D. H. Conley schools;

Congleton reported that architects feel the North Pitt School will be ready for occupancy by Aug. 1, while the D. H. Conley school will not be completed until December.

Find Cause Of Apollo Mishap

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The head of an investigation board says excessive electrical power applied to a pair of thermostatic switches during a ground test caused the Apollo 13 flight disaster.

Edgar M. Cortwright, chairman of the Apollo 13 investigation panel, said the switches welded themselves closed two weeks before the April 11 launch.

Workers had applied too much voltage to a circuit that powered a heater inside the service module oxygen tank, he said.

The tank exploded April 13 while Apollo 13 was more than halfway to the moon, causing cancellation of a planned lunar landing and endangering the lives of the astronauts.

Cortwright said the ground technicians applied 65 volts of electricity to the switches when normal procedures to drain the oxygen tank failed. The switches, he said, were designed to withstand only 30 volts.

Cortwright said the temperature in the heater could rise to 1,000 degrees with the switches welded closed. Tests showed, he said, that such heat could cause splitting of insulation on wires near the heater, leading to a spark that could ignite other insulation.

"This local furnace could burn through the tank," he said, allowing the oxygen to vent into the service module.

The oxygen could force off a panel covering the side of the module and damage another nearby oxygen tank, he said.

Cortwright said he was unable to explain why the explosion in space did not occur earlier.

Corrected Space Course

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's two orbiting space men made a second course correction during their second night aloft and completed 22 orbits before settling down to sleep this morning, Tass reported today.

The Soviet news agency's progress report on the flight of Soyuz 9, which was launched Monday night, said cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevastyanov "feel well and retain fully their capacity for work."

In the 17th orbit, it reported, they oriented the spaceship manually and "an orbit correction maneuver was carried out." It said the orbit now ranged between 153.5 and 165.3 miles from the earth. Previously the distances had been 132 to 166 miles.

The angle of the orbit to the Equator remained the same, 51.7 degrees, and the time of each orbit was also unchanged at 89.5 minutes.

Despite Recent Additions, SBI Said Still Understaffed

RALEIGH (AP) — The 1969 General Assembly voted money for the North Carolina State Bureau of Investigation to increase its force of investigators by one-third and to add to its laboratory staff.

But, SBI Director Charles Dunn has written Gov. Bob Scott, the SBI "is still understaffed and unable to provide assistance needed by local law enforcement in many areas of North Carolina today."

"In addition, while we are taking the initiative against the professional criminal, our resources are still too limited to allow us to do the job we feel we should be doing," Dunn said in a report to the governor made public Tuesday.

He said while he is pleased with progress made, "I am alarmed over the amount of crime in our state and the professionalism exhibited by criminals in our midst."

Scott replied to Dunn that he shared the concern "over the growth of crime in our state" and observed, "All our law enforcement agencies must continually be upgraded so that we can apprehend and bring to justice those who violate laws and endanger the life and property of others."

Dunn told the governor the number of new investigations started by the SBI was 891 in the first four months of 1969 and to 1,558 in the same period of this year. And the number of examinations by the SBI crime lab increased from 31,604 to 39,074.

"More important," he said, "is the result of the work by the agents and laboratory personnel in this period. For example, convictions for the first four months of 1969 totaled 137. Convictions for the same period this year totaled 359. The value of property recovered during the first four months of 1969 was valued at $198,198.76. The property recovered for the same period of 1970 totaled $332,397."

Methodists Told Full Support Of Colleges Needed To Keep Them

Duke University President Terry Sanford said Wednesday that unless Methodists fully support their colleges in North Carolina the state might have to take them over "and turn them into trade schools."

"What do you think John Wesley (the founder of Methodism) would think of that?" Sanford asked in an address to the North Carolina United Methodist Conference.

Referring to Methodist College at Fayetteville, North Carolina Wesleyan College at Rocky Mount and Louisburg College at Louisburg, Sanford suggested state takeover might be an alternative in considering the future of the schools of the church doesn't provide them sufficient financial support.

These schools are under the jurisdiction of the conference, which covers the eastern portion of the state.

The former governor said he was not pleading for increased support for Duke University, which does not receive its primary support from the church, but that the other Methodist-related colleges "must look to you."

"You created them and they cannot survive without you," he said. "I did not say they cannot prosper; I said they cannot survive."

Noting that financial problems have befallen colleges everywhere, Sanford said, "Either we believe with John Wesley the value of denominational schools, and we support them properly, or else we lose them."

Sanford, who was installed as president of Duke April 2, also said he believes much of the current student unrest is "grounded on moral principles and beliefs."

He referred to Duke students' apparent concern for social and other national issues, saying,

"Let us recall what we Methodists were saying to one another just a decade ago. But 1960, we had been concerned about the hush that had fallen over campuses following the Joseph McCarthy era. The Class of 1957 was stamped in a national publication as the epitome of America's new 'Silent Generation.' We were concerned then about the apathy pervading our colleges."

"Well, we don't have to worry about that any longer. Over the past ten years, there have been increasing numbers of expressions of concern emanating from our campuses. Crusading for such causes as human rights and world peace, they have bruised their hands, and they have spilled their blood, and, in the starkest of tragedies, some of them have died. The concerns that have led them to such courageous actions range from love for their Christian brothers here to charity toward others abroad; they are concerned with the morality of our actions as a nation, and over the social transformation that can be wrought from the consequences of those actions. Admittedly, the students are not always right, and the issues they have chosen are political as well, but the basis of their dissent is grounded on moral principles and beliefs.

"By bringing their moral attitudes out into the public, by applying them to politics and to social situations," he said, "I submit that these students are reaching toward John Wesley's ideal of expressing 'the Christian point of view in all things' . . ."

Small N.C. Hospital Survey Findings Termed 'Shocking'

RALEIGH (AP) — William F. Henderson, executive director of the North Carolina Medical Care Commission, calls "shocking" some findings of a study of mechanical systems in a number of small North Carolina hospitals.

Henderson said the situation has not improved since the study was completed in July.

Henderson announced Tuesday that his agency, North Carolina State University and the North Carolina Hospital Educational and Research Foundation will sponsor an annual seminar to train hospital maintenance staffs in dealing with increasingly complex equipment.

The seminar will be financed by a $15,000 grant from the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation. Henderson described it as "first step" toward tackling some of the problems in hospital plant and equipment maintenance identified by the 1969 study of the Medical Care Commission.

The study concluded, "It would seem doubtful that the small hospital will be able to function as an adequate medical facility unless there is a revolutionary change in its maintenance program."

It said that hospitals have acquired increasingly complex equipment, but "the engineering support for this advancement is noticeably not keeping pace."

"The general lack of understanding of the function and the proper maintenance of certain sensitive equipment can transform life-saving equipment into life-taking gadgetry," the report stated.

The study investigators concentrated on 15 smaller hospitals across the state and found serious problems in all, said John W. Sherman, consulting engineer with the commission.

Sherman pointed out that less than six of North Carolina's 170-odd hospitals have a university trained engineer on their maintenance staffs. And smaller hospitals, which are getting more and more complicated equipment, have only high school graduates in maintenance.

Miss Cheryl Anne Helms Weds Richard L. Wade

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. — The Bruton Parish Church here was the scene of the wedding of Miss Cheryl Anne Helms and Richard Lee Wade on Monday at 11:30 a.m.

The Rev. William S. Clair Wade, brother of the bridegroom, officiated at the ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Helms of Martinsville, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. David C. Wade Jr. of Greenville, N. C.

Vases of summer flowers in shades of purple and yellow decorated the altar. A program of wedding music was presented by Jack Darling, church organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza. Organza Schiffler embroidery motifs accented the jewel neckline, short sleeves and cascaded down the front of the A-line skimmer. Embroidered motifs accented the wattle train which was chapel length. Her double veil of illusion was attached to a forward lace leaf and organza loop with crystal and pearl center.

She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses with purple and cream stock florete.

Mrs. M. F. Gibson of Williamsburg, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a sleeveless formal gown of lemon yellow saki, which was styled with an empire waist and a standup collar. The skirt was A-line in front with unpressed pleats in back and was attached to the bodice with a braided self-belt.

Mrs. David Earl Smith of Columbia, S. C., and Miss Elizabeth Spottswood Hill of Woodland Hills, Calif., were bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical to the matron of honor. The attendants carried baskets of summer flowers in shades of purple and yellow. Their headpieces consisted of purple ribbons accented with small flowers of the same colors.

Miss Jennifer Lynne Helms, sister of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a formal yellow gown styled similar to those of the other attendants.

The bridegroom's father was best man. Ushers were David Carlisle Wade III of Tuscaloosa, Ala., and Jack Lawrence Helms Jr. of Martinsville, Va.

The bride's mother was attired in a coat and dress of mint green karata and chantilly lace with mint green and white accessories. She wore a white cymbidium orchid corsage.

The mother of the bridegroom selected a two-piece ensemble of pink saki. The bateau neckline and the coat front featured the same scalloped floral appliques. She wore pink accessories and a white cymbidium orchid.

For a wedding trip to Quebec

City, Canada, the bride changed into a coat and dress ensemble which consisted of a white crepe dress with a peach, brown and gold floral printed coat with matching gold accessories.

The couple will reside in Augusta, Ga.

The bride is a graduate of the College of William and Mary in Virginia, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. The bridegroom is a graduate of the College of William and Mary in Virginia, where he was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained at a reception at the Statter-Hilton Motor Inn. A purple and yellow color scheme was carried out in decorations.

Her Perfect Guy Has 'One Fault'

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I go with this guy who says he loves me, but listen to this. Every time he shows up, he has garlic or onions on his breath and he knows how much I hate it because I have told him so. No amount of chewing gum, breath freshener, or mouthwash helps. A breath like that really turns me off, Abby. What do you think I should do about it? Don't tell me to find another boyfriend because he is perfect for me in every way but this.

DEBBIE IN THE BRONX

DEAR DEBBIE: Beware of a guy who says he "loves" you but can't resist food that leaves his breath less than lovely. He is obviously more concerned with his own pleasure than yours. Now if you are willing to settle for a "perfect guy" with just one "fault," you have him.

DEAR ABBY: After going steady with Melvin for three years, we announced our engagement officially, and I started making plans for my wedding.

I thought Melvin's mother would make a perfect mother-in-law because she was always so nice to my face, but listen to this: She called up my mother and said, "I hope Cindy (that's me) won't wear false eyelashes on her wedding day, and please tell her in a nice way that those false hair pieces she should please leave in the drawer, too."

(Abby, I have some very nice hair pieces which Melvin likes on me.) Not knowing what else to say, my mother said, "I will give Cindy the message."

What right has Melvin's mother to tell me how to look on my wedding day? I don't want trouble with her because I love Melvin, but what is your opinion of such a lady?

MELVIN'S BRIDE

DEAR BRIDE: I think Melvin's mother is treating you like a "daughter" already.

DEAR ABBY: I usually agree with your answers, but I disagree with your reply to "THINKING IT OVER." (Her husband is sterile and opposed to artificial insemination, but she wants to be the baby's "natural" mother in preference to adopting a child.) You said, "Tell him that it's easy to be a father, it's more difficult to be a man."

Since "THINKING'S" husband is against the idea of artificial insemination (and I happen to agree with him) then why, for pity's sake, can't this woman bring herself to open her heart to a homeless child who is already on this overpopulated earth?

WAUKEGAN MOTHER

CONFIDENTIAL TO EVERYBODY: The man who says he doesn't want to become involved in politics is like a drowning man who says he doesn't want to become involved with water. Vote as you please, but PLEASE VOTE. And the time to make sure you are properly registered for that privilege is NOW!

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Party Given Miss Brown

Miss Linda Jean Brown was honored at a graduation open house and going away party on Sunday afternoon at her home.

The receiving line was composed of the honoree, her parents, grandparents and aunt and uncle.

Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. Frank Steinbeck and Mrs. Floyd Phillips.

Miss Jensina Steinbeck and Miss Karen Gorst were hostesses to the children for a patio party.

The house was decorated with arrangements of larkspur, snapdragons, pansies and daisies.

Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Travis Thompson of Stantonsburg. Mrs. Thompson was Miss Brown's supervising teacher spring quarter.

Approximately 100 guests called during the afternoon. The honoree and her mother left Tuesday for Michigan where Miss Brown will assume her duties as counselor of children for the second summer at Sunny Brook Farm, South Haven. Mrs. Brown will return home by plane on Sunday. Miss Brown will teach in Flint, Mich., next year.

Women's Divine Rights Do Not Include Alimony

By ARLEEN ABRAHAMS Associated Press Writer

John S. Rodell proudly admits that his three bouts with the divorce court have ended in "two wins and a draw." But despite the fact that he has managed to survive three divorces without paying alimony (the draw involved a cash settlement) he adamantly says, "When it comes to a contested marital action, the man is behind the 8-ball from the very beginning."

The author, playwright and former Hollywood screenwriter recalled the temporary alimony hearing held in his last, and only bitterly contested, divorce suit as being symbolic of what a man faces in his fight for freedom. "You are completely on the defensive, not only with the opposition but even with your own attorney."

"Lawyers have been so brainwashed by the mystique of the situation, they simply go along with the system and assume the men are going to lose," continued the author of "How To Avoid Alimony: A Survival Kit for Husbands." The attorneys, the courts, and the typical woman refuses to realize that alimony is not a divine right and privilege of marriage.

Perhaps because Rodell served as a special agent in security and counter-intelligence for the Army during World War II, he views unwarranted alimony as the military does the enemy: conquer or be wiped out. "I'm not interested in any alimony reform movements. If you accept the premise of alimony at all, you're dead," says the bearded writer.

Although he contends he is not opposed to child support, Rodell is vehemently opposed to money provided as child support that turns into hidden alimony. "Generally women aren't held to account for the money they get for child support, and so something which starts out as perfectly legitimate turns out to be a hidden form of alimony."

Barmaids Restore Happy Spirit

NORTH HARROW, England (WNS) — John Angus received complaints from male customers that his pub lacked spirit so he hired 42 barmaids to correct the situation. The new policy worked until customers complained when their favorite barmaids were not on duty at the hour that they dropped in. Angus now posts a roster of each girl's working hours, and everybody is happy. "I'm the happiest of all, because I'm the only man permitted behind the bar," said big John.

For A New Look, Wigs Go Straight And Casual

By HELEN JOSEPH NEW YORK (AP) — Until shaven heads on women become fashionable, hair remains a woman's crowning glory.

But as any woman knows, hair just as easily can detract from a chic over-all appearance as accent it. Why is it that when a woman wants to look her best, her hair acts contrary—refuses to curl up, curl under or lie flat?

No wonder wigs have achieved worldwide popularity. Yet in the midst of contented wig-wearers, there remains a group of conscientious objectors. These women who refuse to make wigs their way of life claim they wouldn't be caught dead wearing a blatant lie. How could they retain their poise wearing an obviously false head of hair?

Obviously, these women haven't seen the very natural-looking synthetic wigs, created for this year's wig shopper. Tell-tale characteristics have been so well disguised that now not even a woman's hairdresser will know for sure.

The latest collection by Adolfo and Halston typifies the new wig trends. The off-the-face styles reveal more facial features and the natural look of the hairline camouflages the wear-

New Clothes Were Like Tunic

PENGOYEN, France (WNS)—Five generations of Seznec offspring were represented at the 100th birthday party of Marie Eugene Seznec here. The town wanted to celebrate the occasion by providing new drapes and curtains for the widow's house, but she suggested a new dress and coat instead. "Now that maxi fashions are back, I feel like a young girl again," she enthused.

'Lazybones' Hubby Lost Out In Court

LONDON (WNS) — Charles Briggs, 50, sued his wife Hannah for divorce because she said he was lazy. The poor man proved that he worked 65 hour a week as a salesman, had built the house in which they live, and came home to be handed lists of jobs that needed doing, including the dishes. Justice Brandon refused to grant the divorce but offered Mrs. Briggs, 54, a decree nisi when Charles admitted adultery.

er's beauty secret. Wigs are straight and casual. The curly fluff and bouffant styles—dead give-away—are things of the past. And now it's possible to crown a wig cap with a hat. According to Adolfo, this may mean an era of two hats on every head. After all he explains, "A wig is just another head covering, as a hat."

One Monogram Too Many Postpones Their Wedding

VERDUN, France (WNS) — Jean Claude Lescu, 23, proposed marriage to a local girl who loved him enough to monogram all his clothes with their initials enclosed in a single heart. Only trouble was that he stole $600 from his boss's safe to pay for the honeymoon, and happened to drop his monogrammed handkerchief nearby. The wedding has been postponed for six months until he gets out of jail.

Officers Installed By Rainbow Order

Sandra Tharp was installed as worthy advisor of Greenville Assembly No. 67, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, at a public installation of officers held at the masonic temple on Saturday evening.

Other officers installed were: Josie Boyette, worthy associate advisor; Paula Rogers, charity; Sheri Mosely, hope; Nancy Murray, chaplain; Jan Smith, drill leader; Gwen Rogers, love; Becky Mohle, religion; Jo Anna Paul, nature; Lorraine Rayford, fidelity; Mona Rogers, patriotism; Blanche Rayford, service; Gwen Harrison, confidential observer; Faye Matthews, outer observer; and Cynthia Averette, Linda Blackwell, Sarah Hagen, Linda Fleming, Wanda Pinkston, and Susan Raynor, members of the choir.

To be installed at a later date are: Susan Hufford, faith; Debbie Hartsell, P.W.A., immortality; Karen Harris, P.W.A., musician; and Wendy Harris, choir director.

The assembly room was decorated with flowers in the new worthy advisor's colors for her term in office, accented with white. Seven branch brass candelabra with yellow candles cast a glow over the east.

The program was opened by Mrs. Jean Tharp, past mother advisor, who was to serve as installing officer. Other installing officers were as follows: Mrs. Margaret Gray, P.M., installing chaplain; Bryce W. Tharp, W.P., installing recorder; Debbie Hartsell, P.W.A., installing marshal; and Mrs. Corabob Turnage, P.M., installing musician.

Following the installation ceremony, Miss Tharp made her acceptance speech, at which time she introduced the following officers who were continuing in their station: Paulette Hughes, recorder; and Kathy Harris, treasurer. She welcomed and recognized special guests, expressing her appreciation to all who had been of assistance to her and to the assembly.

The worthy advisor had her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bryce Tharp, presented for introduction and pinned each with a flower. She also introduced her older sister, Miss Pam Tharp, who was present.

She was presented a gavel by her father, which had belonged to her great-grandmother, for her use during her term of office. A small white rainbow altar Bible was presented to her by her mother, as a gift from her family.

The past worthy advisor, Debbie Hartsell, was conducted to the altar, where special music was played for her, after which she was conducted to the east. Her mother, Mrs. Pearl Hartsell, mother advisor, presented her with a corsage of white roses and her father, Edward D. Hartsell, presented her with a past worthy advisor's jewel.

The mother advisor, Mrs. Hartsell, spoke briefly, after which she presented merit bars to those who had earned them.

Following the altar ceremony, Wylie S. Christy gave the benediction, after which the officers had their retiring drill. A reception followed immediately in the dining room, where Miss Pam Tharp and Mrs. Margaret Gray presided over the refreshment table.

The refreshment table was covered with a white dotted swiss cloth over a yellow background and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white flowers with greenery. Silver candelabra with yellow candles flanked the floral centerpiece, and the corners of the refreshment table were adorned with bouquets of white violets with light green and yellow ribbons.

Coed Received Partial Payment

MARSEILLES, France (WNS) — Anne Devraux, a lady mechanic, got into a fight with coed Marie Therese Renaud because the student refused to move her car which was partially blocking the entrance to Mme. Devraux' garage. During the battle the lady mechanic slammed the car door which cut off the lobe of Mlle. Renaud's ear. The coed sued in court for $400, and complained to the judge that she can no longer wear her earrings. She was awarded $200. The judge pointed out that she can still wear one earring.

Cover all this with dry rice pour about six cups of water over mixture and turn heat to high. Sprinkle saffron over the whole thing and stir vigorously until rice is tender, about 10 minutes. At about this point, the clam shells should start opening and the saffron should have stained the whole dish a bright yellow. If rice still is tough, add some more water and continue boiling and stirring.

When rice is tender and water is all boiled away or absorbed, the paella is ready.

"I use chicken as a civilized substitute," Norman noted. "In Australia we used rabbit meat. We used to add crabs as well if we were lucky enough to catch some, and mushrooms gave the dish a lift.

"Since my Spanish friends insisted on using shrimp with the shells on to retain the flavor, I have followed this method," explained Norman. "They are skinned by your guests at the table, a rather messy undertaking which requires a good many paper napkins. But with a good supply of red or rose wine on hand, it adds to the fun."

Gourmet Corner: Paella Joins Fish And Fowl

By TOM HOGUE

Associated Press Writer

Spaniards have a saying about their native cooking: "In the South you fry, in the Central Regions you roast, and in the North you stew." But along Spain's Costa Brava, they do a little of all three and a few other things as well.

The women of this coastal sweep of Catalans cook the rich variety of local fish on a bed of hot coals and their chicken in a slow oven. But Paella, that succulent mixture of fruits of the sea and soil, is something else. Boiled, then fried and finally stewed, this dish has become an institution that has found its way, with variations, into the cookbooks of many nations.

The word paella originally derives from the two-eared skillet in which the Spanish cooked and served the dish.

In olden times, the housewives of the Costa Brava called the dish "arroz" or rice, for originally that was the main ingredient. Only the cheapest cuts of chicken were used because the meat was intended mainly to flavor the rice.

Today all that has changed. Paella is a many-splendored dish in which chicken, fish of various sorts and sometimes pork, veal or beef, are used, each to its best advantage.

Good recipes for paella crop up in some of the least-expected places. Jim Norman, a young writer friend from Weehawken, N.J., discovered paella a few years ago when he was half a world away in Sydney, Australia.

The source was a Spanish welder who had brought the recipe all the way from Valencia. Whenever the Spaniard was homesick, he could cook up a batch of paella.

"I have found that paella is as much a social event as it is a meal," said Norman. Jim's paella has become something of an institution with his friends. "I try to cook enough for six people but there invariably is enough to serve a dozen. And it seems impossible to make any less and get in all the ingredients," he adds.

PAELLA

1 medium-size chicken, cut up and boiled for about 30 minutes

1 pound beef round cut into inch square cubes half clove garlic cut into chunks

2 green peppers sliced

1 dozen cherry tomatoes

2 medium Bermuda onions sliced

2 dozen large shrimp, with shells on

3 squid, cleaned and sliced into 1/2 inch strips with tentacles

2 dozen clams in shells

3 cups white rice

6 cups water

5 pinches saffron

salt to taste

Take deep skillet at least 12 inches across and heat enough oil to cover bottom.

Throw in chicken and beef cubes with garlic salt lightly and fry till lightly browned about 20 minutes. Throw in pepper slices, tomatoes and onions. Add shrimp, washed out with shells still on. Add squid and clams also with shells; salt again lightly and simmer over

We Can Meet Medical Needs

Dr. Edgar Beddingfield, who now practices at the Wilson Clinic specializing in industrial medicine, has long been concerned with improving health care in North Carolina.

He often spoke out on the need for training additional physicians while he was president of the State Medical Society.

In a recent interview with Bryan Haislip, which appeared on this page, he reiterated the need for more practicing physicians in this state.

He cited the low percentage of doctors in the state as illustrating the need for doing something to improve the situation. The state now has only about 69 physicians per 100,000 as compared to the national average of 97. More alarmingly there is only about one physician in general practice per 4,000 population; in rural areas there are only 30 physicians per 100,000 population. Beyond that 12 percent of the physicians practicing in rural areas are over 70 years old.

"There is no instant solution," he said. "If our three medical schools doubled their enrollment this coming September it would still be 10 years before it would increase substantially the supply of physicians ready to practice."

Dr. Beddingfield, who has studied the problem as much as anyone, said that enrollments have to be increased. And, he continued, "In my judgment, inevitably we will have to come to a second state-supported medical school. We have to do everything we can to encourage young doctors beginning practice to settle in rural or less populous areas."

Men like Dr. Beddingfield who know the problem, are making every effort to see that North Carolinians are aware of the physician shortage that the state faces. True, people living in rural areas where there are no doctors now already know, but those who are living in cities do not always fully understand the problems we face.

East Carolina University, located in a predominantly rural area, is well aware of the problem, and that is why so great an effort is underway here to establish the long planned for medical school.

ECU has spent the last decade strengthening its undergraduate science programs so that now they can support a medical education program. A School of Allied Health Professions has been established. The Legislature, also aware of the need, appropriated funds and authorized planning for a two-year medical education program. If all goes well the first students will be admitted under this program in 1971.

East Carolina, with the programs it has underway, can do much toward solving the problems that Dr. Beddingfield is talking about. The medical education program now being planned deserves the support of all North Carolinians.

IF EVERYONE WHO IS FED UP WALKED OUT...

Fate Of The Tipsters

WASHINGTON — You used to meet them everywhere — at cocktail parties, dinners, the beach club and college reunions.

Although they came in all shapes and forms, they had one thing in common. They were the people who had invested in Xerox when it was $9 a share, Litton Industries when it was $10 and Gulf and Western when it was $14. They used to tell you how they had first heard about Texas Instruments when it was selling for a song, how they had gotten into Ling Temco Vought through a fraternity brother; and how they had bought Penn Central Computer Data, Fairchild Camera against the advice of their brokers.

They weren't unfriendly people. They always had time to chat with you and tell you how well they were doing in the market. They implied that they had a sixth sense about investing in Wall Street and a talent for these matters that you, the average person, would never understand. Without intending to do it, they made you feel completely inadequate as a breadwinner, and a sucker for holding onto a salaried job.

But in the last few months something has happened to these people. For one thing, you hardly see them any more and when you do they're very quiet. Their clothes have gotten seedy — the bounce has gone from their walk — and when they hold a drink their hands shake a lot.

I ran into one of the other day on the plane. His name was Simpkin. The last time we flew up to New York, a few years ago, Simpkin was dropping names like Planet Oil, MGM and Boeing Aircraft.

This time I hardly recognized him when I sat down. His hair was completely white, his eyes were bloodshot and he had a tic in his right cheek.

"How are things going?" I asked pleasantly.

"This seat is taken," he snarled.

"It's me, Simpkin. You know, from the Washington Athletic Club. Remember when we had that nice talk about American Nursing Homes merging with Rorshach Matches? Whatever happened to that?"

"If you say one more word to me, I'll hit you in the mouth," he said.

"Good heavens, Simpkin, you're overwrought. Are you still in the market?"

He raised his fist, but the stewardess came by and asked him to fasten his safety belt. Simpkin wiped his brow. "I'm sorry," he said, "but National General is down to 2 1/2."

"Oh," I said. "I didn't know. Were you big in National General?"

"Not as big as I was in Commonwealth United and Chrysler."

"I don't follow the market," I said. "But I understand there have been some reverses. Would this be a good time to buy anything?"

"As soon as the 'Fasten Your Belt' sign goes off," Simpkin said. "I'm going to kill you."

"Grab hold of yourself, man," I cried. "After all, money isn't everything."

"Do you know how much I was once worth on paper?" Simpkin said.

"A lot, I'm sure."

"Would you believe $750,000?"

I whistled. "I would have never known it."

"Do you know what I'm worth on paper now?"

"I won't guess."

"I owe $50,000, and they're

Surtax Nears Its End

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Pay envelopes grow a little fatter next month when the income tax surcharge, imposed in Lyndon B. Johnson's last year as president to help pay for the Vietnam war, becomes history.

The tax, originally 10 percent, was cut in half last January and dies altogether July 1, the day the government's new fiscal year begins. Its passing will cost $4.5 billion in federal revenue.

But strapped as the Nixon administration is for cash, with budget deficits predicted for the old and the new fiscal years, the surtax's death may help provide something needed even more: consumer buying to help end the near-recession before the November congressional elections.

As a result primarily of the surtax's political unpopularity, the Nixon administration is sticking currently to its plan to let it fade away.

But Nixon has pledged to ask Congress for new taxes next January if conditions don't improve. He already has requested a new tax on gasoline containing lead.

He is content for now to let a small deficit—estimated by his planners at $1.8 billion for the year beginning in July—stand, mainly because his analysts say it is caused by a drop in corporate income taxes brought on by the business doldrums.

Ending the surtax won't mean much to the average taxpayer—an extra 70 cents a week for four-member families with $5,000 yearly incomes, $1.70 if income is $10,000—but taken together it will be a substantial economic stimulant matching the one that accompanied the January cut.

Dr. Harold C. Passer, the Commerce Department's chief economist, last week listed the expiration of the surtax as one of the major factors behind official administration forecasts of a business upturn. The others were smaller—$4 billion from higher Social Security payments and $3 billion from higher federal aid.

The cut will be especially welcome to taxpayers with incomes of $5,000, because their withholding taxes actually rose in January despite the surtax reduction.

Last year, $5.70 was deducted from weekly pay of $96.15. Since then it has been $6.10, an anomaly the Internal Revenue Service called a "quirk." It was caused, the IRS said, by bugs in the complex mathematical formulas needed to figure out the new low income allowance included in the Tax Reform Act Congress passed last December.

The Social Security laws already have provided a minor bonanza for some higher-income taxpayers, and more will be affected as the year wears on.

The taxes are collected at the rate of 4.8 percent until they reach a maximum of $374.40 for the year. People making about $17,800 reach the limit this week, and those making $15,000 pay through July.

Anyone who makes $7,800 or less pays all year.

Holshouser Is Very Confident

By BRYAN HAISLIP
BOONE, N. C. —Jim Holshouser laughed. He had just been reminded of Democratic forecasts for fewer Republicans in the 1971 General Assembly than served in 1969.

"Yes sir-ree," the youthful GOP state chairman said, "we'll make gains. I don't have any doubt about it, and I feel like they'll be substantial."

"The Democrats who say otherwise are just whistling in the dark," he added. He laughed again.

One of the Democrats was Governor Bob Scott who took occasion last week in his role as party leader to predict widespread victories in the fall general election when the General Assembly membership will be chosen.

Another was Secretary of State Thad Eure, the state's senior Democratic elective office holder. Looking back at history, Eure recalled that when North Carolina went Republican in 1928 for President Herbert Hoover, the GOP won 49 seats in the state legislature. Two years later, the tide turned and only six Republican legislators were returned to Raleigh.

"We'll see history repeat itself," Eure said confidently. "The state went for President Nixon in 1968 and the Republicans won 41 state legislative seats — 12 in the Senate and 29 in the House. Fewer than that will be elected this fall."

Eure didn't go so far as to predict Republican membership will be reduced to six, a highly unlikely circumstance in a state where two-party politics is becoming more and more a part of the life style.

Holshouser is monumentally unconcerned about the kind of history Eure recalls. As state GOP chairman for the past two years, he has labored to give the party fresh vigor and a face to the future.

He is a boyish-faced 35-year-old attorney, elected to the state legislature first at 28, and this year a candidate for his fourth term.

He is one of 90 GOP candidates for the 120 seats in the House of Representatives. Republicans are contesting 32 of the 50 Senate seats.

Thirty Democratic House candidates and 18 Senators already are in effect elected since they have no Republican opposition in the general election. Only one Republican, Donald W. Bingham of Advance in the 25th Senate District of Davie, Watauga, Wilkes and Yadkin counties, is in that secure position.

President Nixon's performance in Washington will be an assist for GOP candidates, Holshouser said. "We have very definite evidence that a very strong majority of North Carolinians feel the President is doing a good job," he said. "We're seeing a favorable public response to the kind of courage he has shown in meeting problems head-on."

President Nixon's firm line on anti-inflation measures is showing results, Holshouser said, and by general election time will be a strong factor in the GOP favor. "History will prove the move into Cambodia was a right step at the right time," he added.

In short, the Tar Heel Republican party has no inclination to disassociate itself from the national administration, a tactic sometimes followed by the Democrats, Holshouser said. "There's no doubt that national issues tend to be reflected in political campaigns in our state," he said, "and we're happy to have it that way."

Voter dissatisfaction with taxes will get attention from GOP candidates. "We have not taken any absolute position on issues as yet," the state chairman said, "but I think it's pretty clear that there has been a public reaction against the taxes imposed by the 1969 General Assembly."

His remarks appeared to leave open the possibility of Republicans cashing in on efforts underway to seek repeal of the soft drink, cigarette and gasoline taxes levied last session.

"People are tired of taxes going up-up-up. Look at the figures. They show that the cost of state government has doubled in the past 10 years while our population has increased only about 10 percent," he said.

Republicans will campaign on "inefficiency in state government" and "how many Democrats have been allowed to get away with running against their own record," Holshouser said.

Confidence Rests With New College Graduates

More than 2,000 new graduates completed their studies and received degrees at East Carolina University Sunday.

Like other college graduates all over the nation they go out in a world wondering how best they can make it a better place.

While we hear some doubts expressed about the college scene these days, we are betting these ECU graduates, along with all the graduates across the nation, are going to tackle national and world problems as no generation ever has. We believe they will reject those who wish to destroy and turn their attention to building a better, cleaner world.

Conservative's Poll In N.Y.

By ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Backers of Conservative Party Senate candidate James Buckley in New York are sitting on a statewide poll that shows Buckley getting an amazing 25 percent of the vote next November, almost enough to win in a three-way race.

The poll, costing $11,000, matched Buckley and liberal Republican Sen. Charles Goodell against several Democratic aspirants, including the two leaders for the Democratic nomination: liberals Theodore Sorensen and Rep. Richard Ottinger.

Goodell, a former moderate conservative who has swung sharply to the left as an appointed Senator, led the poll with 38 percent. Sorensen was second, but only a shade over Buckley's 25 percent. Whichever Democrat wins the June 16 primary — Sorensen or the hard-running, well-financed Ottinger — Buckley is certain to pick up tens of thousands of conservative Democratic votes in November.

Goodell has the backing of both the regular Republican organization and the Liberal party. But his standing with Republican conservatives in vote-heavy, suburban Nassau and Suffolk counties is so low that he has been barred from regular party functions. Much of Buckley's vote will come from these traditional Republicans.

Conservative leaders genuinely believe that Buckley, the less volatile brother of conservative journalist William F. Buckley, might actually sneak in if Goodell and the Democrat split the liberal vote evenly.

They envisage, in short, Buckley doing as a conservative what New York City Mayor John V. Lindsay did as a liberal last fall, when he rode in on a minority vote with the majority split between two conservative opponents.

With the monsoon season coming early, the Meo tribesmen guerrilla army of Gen. Vang Pao in northern Laos — on the brink of disaster a few weeks ago — now seems certain to survive against invading North Vietnamese regulars.

Thus, Hanoi has blown a priceless opportunity to eradicate the one truly effective anti-Communist fighting force in Laos and thereby exercise possibly irresistible pressure on panicky Lao politicians in Vietnam. Had the two North Vietnamese divisions in northern Laos attacked Vang Pao's base of Long Tieng, the Meos would have had little chance.

But the slow-moving Communists never could get their logistical ducks in a row. One division, the 312th, is a training unit and has operated like one. Overall, the Communist performance in northern Laos has been poor.

As a result, the morale of Vang Pao and his troops is surging. The tough guerrilla chieftain, ready to throw in the towel last March, now forecasts a golden summer of harassing raids against the invaders.

A footnote: The news from southern Laos is not bright. North Vietnamese troops won the strategic town of Attopeu on the Sekong River when royal Lao troops—not for the

Strength For Today

IMPORTANT
King Louis XIV of France once said to a court chaplain: "I have listened to many preachers and they have pleased me well, but every time I listen to you I am displeased with myself."

An examination of the word of God and a searching of our own hearts should reveal to us the fact that just as there is no such thing as perfect health on the physical side of our nature, so there is no such thing as moral perfection in the spiritual aspects of our lives. We need to be constantly displeased with ourselves, yet never to the point of being hopeless. We need to recognize sin in ourselves and in the world, yet not to throw up our hands and conclude that all is lost because of this sin. Through Jesus Christ, God has made it plain to us that nothing is lost if we will exercise our wills, summon up whatever faith we have, and press forward.

The biggest project in life is life itself. How about money-making, romance, high position in the world of politics and industry? These are important, but they are not so important that they should fill our lives to the exclusion of everything else. The job of living every day in a fashion that pleases God, ourselves, and probably our contemporaries is important. In fact it is alone important.

Will You Be 'Forgotten Man'?

By ELMER ROESSNER
Missions of people will be dropped from the zip code aristocracy.

The aristocracy consists of those with zip numbers in high income zones. They may be maids or butlers, but if they have a Main Line or Piedmont zip number, they will get the same assiduous attention as the millionaires for whom they work. The zip-code class distinction first surfaced when the Saturday Evening Post, in a desperate and unsuccessful effort to survive, decided to cut its circulation from 6.5 million to 3 million by cancelling subscriptions of those who did not have the zip numbers of high-income areas. Look magazine is doing something similar. It is not cancelling any subscriptions but it is not asking subscribers in lousy zip areas to renew.

Zip Discrimination Spread
Now the idea is spreading fast, largely due to the coming rise in postage, especially because of the rise in bulk advertising and second-class mail, including newspapers and magazines.

It will cost the Wall Street Journal $3.2 million; and Sears Roebuck $6.6 million a year for mailing catalogs. And hundreds of other newspapers, magazines and direct-mail businesses will pay more, a total of $1.5 billion a year.

The average newspaper or magazine is sold for less than the cost of production. The profit comes from advertising. Thus a person with small buying power will not interest its advertisers, and therefore there is no reason for mailing a paper or magazine at a loss to someone living in the ghetto. ZIP 'EM OFF!

The least expensive way to spot these losing subscribers is by zip numbers. Some publications may simply cancel subscriptions; others may simply decline renewals. And while they lose in the numbers game, they may gain in advertising rates. Losing subscribers in a slum area where the family income averages $2,999 a year may increase the average earnings of subscribing families to, say, $17,999 a year.

Failing to send catalogs to a ghetto zip area, where sales would be minimal, might save a mail-order company thousands in postage and in catalog printings.

Charities, list houses and other users of bulk mail will be sorting their lists by zip numbers.

So if your junk mail falls off and no one sends you a request for a $100 donation or a pint of blood, you know you live in a low-income neighborhood. But if you get a sharp rise in offers to subscribe to expensive magazines, invitations to buy Rolls Royce autos, bids to take $100,000 in insurance on your jewelry and proposals to buy early Picasso's, you know you have an elegant zip number, even if you live upstairs over a drug store.

Wallace Recaptures Alabama Governorship

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

George C. Wallace has won his bid to recapture Alabama's governorship—the likely prelude to another presidential race in 1972—and Jess Unruh claimed the Democratic nomination against Gov. Ronald Reagan of California.

Wallace, who overcame a narrow first primary loss, promptly celebrated his victory in Tuesday's Democratic runoff over incumbent Albert P. Brewer by demanding President Nixon "Give us back our schools." Nearly complete returns gave Wallace 542,154, Brewer 510,442. In California, Unruh, a slimmed-down version of the man known as "Big Daddy" while speaker of the state's Assembly in the mid-1960s, easily outdistanced Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. Reagan was unopposed for Republican renomination.

That state's battle of two antiwar Democrats saw Rep. John V. Tunney, son of former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, ahead of Rep. George E. Brown Jr., who once threatened to launch impeachment proceedings against President Nixon because of the U.S. attack into Cambodia.

The winner faces incumbent Sen. George Murphy, the one-time actor and dancer, who defeated millionaire industrialist Norton Simon in the GOP primary. Murphy is a strong supporter of President Nixon's policies in Southeast Asia.

With 24 per cent of the state's 21,501 precincts counted, Unruh had 394,055 and Yorty 153,054.

Senatorial totals stood: Tunney 253,979, Brown 206,798; Murphy 304,463, Simon 157,098.

Greenville, class of 1915; her daughter, Mrs. Christine Helen Snuggs of Mooresville, class of 1944; and Mrs. Helen's grand - daughter, Mrs. Frances Snuggs Wilson of Greenville, class of 1970.

The year's busiest political day so far, with balloting in eight states, saw the renomination of first time—turned tail and ran. With Cambodia now denied to the North Vietnamese, the Sekong could become a major Communist supply route.

Lawrence F. O'Brien, renowned for his nice - guy image, showed at the recent closed - door session of the Democratic national executive committee that he can crack heads as National Chairman.

Robert Strauss, National Committeeman from Texas and national party treasurer, introduced a comprehensive policy resolution attacking the Nixon administration. National Committeeman Stephen Reinhardt of California, a militant liberal, objected and proposed two substitutes — one on Cambodia, one on Kent State. Some committee members thought Reinhardt's comments were critical of O'Brien and Strauss.

To everybody's surprise, O'Brien came down hard against Reinhardt, reading the riot act and stressing party unity. But it could be only the first of endless skirmishing between O'Brien and his lift wing.

In New Jersey, Williams, a 2-to-1 victor over state Sen. Frank J. Guarini, will meet Nelson G. Gross, former state Republican chairman who easily whipped two opponents.

Both Williams, who once supported U.S. involvement in Vietnam, and Gross, who broke with President Nixon's Southeast Asia policies over the Cambodia attack, have become opponents of the Indochina war.

But a youthful antiwar candidate, 28-year-old Louis Kaden, was defeated 2-to-1 in a bid to unseat Democratic Rep. Edward J. Patten in a contest that saw involvement of hundreds of students from Princeton, Rutgers and other New Jersey colleges.

A similar outpouring of college-aged youth marked California's Democratic senatorial primary, with some 8,000 student volunteers flocking to Brown's banner.

In Montana, the 67-year-old Mansfield crushed two Democratic opponents. He is heavily favored in November against Republican Harold E. Wallace, a 38-year-old Missoula sporting goods salesman.

In Mississippi, Stennis has a free ride towards a new six-year term. Unopposed in Tuesday's Democratic primary, he has no Republican opponent in November.

Ray and Farrar will be seeking their second two-year terms in the Iowa and South Dakota state houses respectively.

In Iowa, Ray will be opposed by former Lt. Gov. Robert Fulton, who edged House Minority Leader William Gannon for the Democratic nomination.

The South Dakota voting saw Farrar sweep past state Sen. Frank Henderson in the GOP primary. He will meet state Rep. Richard Kneip, unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

In New Mexico, where Cargo is vacating the governorship after two two-year terms, former House Speaker Bruce King won a three-way Democratic primary, while Pete Domenici, a former Albuquerque city commissioner, captured a six-way GOP contest.

Seven states nominated candidates for House races too.

In Iowa, veteran GOP Rep. Fred Schwengel survived a primary challenge from former State Senate Majority Leader David Stanley.

In California Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, a Republican who won the seat in 1967 after beating Shirley Temple Black in a special election, won renomination over his conservative challenger, Forden Athearn.

The Alabama contest marked the third straight Democratic gubernatorial primary victory by a member of the Wallace family.

Wallace won a first four-year term in 1962 and, ineligible to succeed himself in 1966, successfully ran his wife Lurleen.

When she died in 1968 Brewer, a onetime Wallace protege, became governor and eventually a rival to the 1968 third-party candidate's effort to recapture the State House.

In the first primary May 5, Brewer fashioned an 11,763-vote lead in a seven-way race, but Wallace banked heavily on the racial issue in the runoff campaign.

It apparently paid off in white majorities that overcame a strong Brewer showing in predominantly black precincts.

With Republicans indicating they do not plan to put up anyone for governor—many of them backed Brewer in the primary—Wallace's triumph means he will regain the office in January

Review Public Housing Plan To Relocate Town Families

WILLIAMSTON, — Plans were discussed Monday by members of Williamston's Town Board for arrangements to relocate families in connection with the planned low-rent public housing.

Henry Leggett, Executive Director of the Williamston Housing Authority, reported to the board that progress was being made in this matter, with an application now submitted to HUD for temporary mobile units to be used to house people who will be relocated when razing of houses begins preparatory to constructing low-rental units. The board approved the reappointment of W.C. Moses for a five year term on the Williamston Housing Authority.

Board members have taken under advisement a petition made by a number of citizens to raise to $100 from the current $25 level the minimum amount required for securing a building permit for repair work to homes. After hearing Dr. W.F. Cop-page and Homer Bannhill make a request for consideration of rezoning, board members voted to ask the Williamston Planning Board to consider such a request. The two petitioners plan to build a food market type of business on a vacant lot adjacent to Sunny Side Market. The area, now zoned neighborhood commercial, does not allow this type of building, which falls within the highway commercial zoning code. The planning board will consider rezoning the area to highway commercial.

Several appointments and reappointments were approved at the regular monthly meeting yesterday. George Bagley replaces Henry Leggett as a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee for a four year term. Paul Griffin was reappointed to a four year term on the same board; and Mrs. Vivian Morris was reappointed to a five year term as a member of the Redevelopment Commission. Two members, Nelson Prince and Edward Beach, were reappointed to three year terms with the Williamston Board of Adjustments.

Three Mishaps In Greenville Tuesday

An estimated $2,200 property damage resulted from a series of three traffic mishaps investigated here yesterday by police.

Heaviest damage, according to investigators, resulted from a 4:48 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Dickinson Avenue and Truman Street and involved cars driven by John Lee McCarter, 24-year-old Negro of Route 4, Greenville and James Harold Tripp, 45, of 206 South Meade St.

Damage was set at $500 to the McCarter vehicle and $400 to the Tripp auto by police, who reported Tripp was injured in the collision.

McCarter was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety.

An estimated $400 damage resulted to each of two cars involved in a 7:45 p.m. collision at the intersection of 14th Street and Berkley Road.

Vehicles involved in that mishap were driven by Debra Lynne Hall, 17, of 2621 South Wright Rd. and Michael A. Wilson, 17, of 406 Rotary Ave., according to investigators.

Wilson was charged by police with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of

Children Among Guerrilla Dead

By MARTIN ZUCKER
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — Arab

guerrillas in Jordan fired two waves of rockets into the frontier town of Beit Shean today, killing two schoolchildren and wounding at least seven others, the Israeli military command announced.

They were the third group of casualties among Israeli schoolchildren in two weeks. Another rocket attack on Beit Shean Monday killed a schoolgirl, and a guerrilla ambush of a schoolbus on the Lebanese border killed eight children and four adults on May 22.

In the first attack across the Jordan River today, one rocket crashed into a house, killing a 9-year-old girl, while others wounded three girls and a 38-year-old woman.

An hour and a half later, several more of the Soviet Katyusha rockets were fired at the town and at least one hit a school building, killing a boy and wounding four of his classmates, initial reports said.

The reports said the rocket set a classroom afire, and police and rescue workers were searching for more victims.

Israeli forces returned the fire, but there was no immediate word on the results.

Rockets also struck the settlement of Moaz Haim, two miles from Beit Shean, but no casualties were reported.

A bomb exploded in Jerusalem early today, a few hours before the start of the official celebration of the third anniversary of Israel's conquest of the Arab sector. There were no casualties in the blast.

Although the third anniversary does not come until Sunday on the Gregorian calendar used by most other nations, the Jewish calendar used by Israel puts the date today.

Explosives also were set off on two popular Israeli beaches, but again there were no casualties.

Raiding Israeli warplanes returned safely late Tuesday from their fifth strike in 24 hours against Egyptian targets along the Suez Canal, the military command said. The five attacks pounded Egyptian positions for 11 hours, the military said.

In Cairo, a military spokesman claimed that one Israeli Skyhawk was downed in the raids. He said five Egyptian soldiers were killed and five wounded.

The Israelis have intensified their attacks against Egyptian positions on the canal, trying to block placement of Soviet anti-aircraft missiles there. Air missions into Egypt this week were the most prolonged since the 1967 war, the Israeli state radio said.

In other action along the canal, two Israeli soldiers were killed and six wounded when their vehicle struck a land mine.

In Damascus, Syria and Algeria issued a joint communique after four days of meetings and called for unification of Arab war efforts.

But guerrilla groups meeting in Cairo appeared headed for a showdown with a splinter group, the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine. Guerrilla chief Yasser Arafat has proposed a unified guerrilla military command, but the splinter group is demanding that all guerrilla organizations be represented equally on a central committee, according to Cairo press reports.

The Popular Front claimed responsibility for the May 22 attack on the schoolbus, an attack which Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization denounced.

At the United Nations, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said in a letter to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that the Russians will press in the next General Assembly meeting for Israel's withdrawal from occupied Arab territory.

The U.N. Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, calls for Israeli withdrawal, but Israel has refused to pull back unless the Arabs agree to make peace.

In Washington, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin met with Secretary of State William Rogers, and it was understood the two agreed to hold more talks in an effort to find a political solution to the Middle East crisis.

But it was also understood the Soviet ambassador refused to provide any additional details on his country's military involvement in the Middle East. American officials called an earlier Soviet response to the question imprecise and unsatisfactory, and the latest refusal was expected to increase pressure for the sale of more American warplanes to Israel.

Southern Baptist Convention Sees Moderate Move

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
DENVER (AP) — Southern Baptists today turned toward new, conciliatory leadership as they moved to fend off attacks on denominational agencies and literature and to ease tensions over doctrines.

After rejecting initial demands for crackdowns, representatives of the 11.5-million-member church body still faced additional moves to censure and tighten controls against so-called "liberal" tendencies.

But a moderating impulse was indicated in the election Tuesday of the Rev. Dr. Carle E. Bates of Charlotte, N.C., as president. He said he hoped to help "tone down attention to extreme positions"—on both sides.

Stressing the diversity of views characteristic of the Baptist tradition, he told a news conference: "We're not trying to get everybody under one creedal statement."

His approach contrasted with that of the outgoing president, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Criswell of Dallas, Tex., who had emphasized conformity with stated doctrine.

The assembly of about 12,000 church people, representing the nation's largest Protestant communion, also swept aside an attempt to cripple its social-action agency, and gave an unscheduled hearing to group of black demonstrators.

In the first such appearance before the Southern-based convention, 14 black youths of the Afro-American Student Union took the stage, and the convention voted overwhelmingly to let them speak for 10 minutes.

"Almighty God, speak to the hearts of this bigoted people," one of them, Jeff Thomas, prayed.

He said "black people are the conscience of this nation," and he charged that the overwhelmingly white Southern Baptists include "people who have castrated, raped and maimed black people." Shouts of "no!" and "lie!" sounded in the audience.

Although the convention defeated two moves to penalize its social-action agency, the Christian Life Commission, by abolishing or restricting its $200,000 annual budget, new assaults were aimed at it today.

Other motions were introduced to halt circulation of the denomination's new Broadman Bible Commentary, and to require all denominational employees to sign a 1963 statement of faith, saying the Bible is without error.

The new commentary treats some events in Genesis as psychological reactions of individuals, rather than reflecting the will of God.

The Christian Life Commission, headed by the Rev. Dr. Foy Valentine of Nashville, Tenn., was attacked for sponsoring a conference in Atlanta last fall featuring debate with a Playboy magazine representative and an exponent of "situation ethics."

Defenders said the affair had provided means for a "brilliant defense" of Biblical morality in direct confrontation with forces influencing millions toward amoral attitudes.

Dr. Bates, a tall, soft-spoken man of 56, was elected over four opponents on a first ballot. He said the agency is carrying out its mandate. He voiced belief that Southern Baptists are becoming "more open" to other Christian bodies, and he strongly backed racial integration.

Fred B. Rhodes, 56, a Washington, D.C., layman and newly elected president of the convention, said the affair had provided means for a "brilliant defense" of Biblical morality in direct confrontation with forces influencing millions toward amoral attitudes. Dr. Bates, a tall, soft-spoken man of 56, was elected over four opponents on a first ballot. He said the agency is carrying out its mandate. He voiced belief that Southern Baptists are becoming "more open" to other Christian bodies, and he strongly backed racial integration.

Fred B. Rhodes, 56, a Washington, D.C., layman and newly installed deputy administrator of the Veterans Administration, was elected first vice president. The convention adopted a central budget for the next year of $29,146,883, up nearly $2 million from that of the previous year, the increase contrasting with downturns in budgets among most major Protestant bodies.

Army Nurse Corps Seeks Applicants

The Army Nurse Corps is now accepting applications from registered nurses to serve a 14-month tour of duty, according to sergeant Jim Moore, Greenville Army recruiter.

Until a recent change of policy, Moore said, nurses volunteered for a two-year tour of duty. However, he added, the Army needs nurses critically and even short-term volunteers would help ease the situation.

Under the program, the new officer in the Nurse Corps may be assigned to a hospital in the continental United States that needs her services as a replacement for members of its nursing complement serving overseas. Or she may volunteer for a tour of duty in Vietnam.

To qualify for a commission in the Corps, an applicant must be a registered nurse, male or female, between the ages of 20 and 33. He, or she, must be a graduate of a baccalaureate school of nursing or a hospital school of nursing acceptable to the Department of the Army and currently registered to practice on one of the 50 states.

Along with meeting the physical standards, female applicants must have no dependents under the age of 18. There is no restriction on dependents for male nurses, Moore said.

"I hope we can find a lot of nurses who have been reluctant to sign up for the Army Nurse Corps under the two-year program," Moore noted.

Moore has full information on how to become a member of the Army Nurses Corps at his office at 301 Evans Street.

Speech And Hearing Program Set At PTI

During the summer sessions at Pitt Technical Institute, a new individualized speech pathology and audiology program (speech and hearing) will be offered.

The program will be for those persons who need clinical assistance in all areas of communication disorders and hearing difficulties. Areas of major concentration will be: foreign accent, deaf speech, cerebral palsy, hard of hearing, stuttering, aphasia, delayed speech and language development, cluttering, organic voice disorders, cleft palate, and articulation voice disorders.

There is an age limit on these services because the therapy materials are adult oriented rather than elementary and pre-school oriented.

The clinic will be available to young high school teenagers and older persons.

Tentative plans have been made to begin classes with an orientation meeting scheduled for June 11 at 11 a.m. in room 206 of the new building.

Interested parents and adults may contact Han Geddy, instructor of Speech Pathology and Audiology, prior to June 11.

Attended Meet Subcommittee

Dr. John Richard, director of special education at East Carolina University, and Mrs. Betty Levey, supervisor of special education in the Pitt County Schools, attended a day-long meeting of a Teacher Certification Subcommittee in Raleigh last Thursday.

Both are members of the Subcommittee which met to discuss competencies and preparations for teachers of mentally retarded children. The subcommittee is part of a general statewide committee now reviewing standards and guidelines for teacher preparation in North Carolina. Recommendations of the committee, when compiled, will be presented to the State Board of Education for the action.

Warren G. Harding was the first president to ride to his inauguration in an automobile.

Competition In Abortion By New York

By RUBEN O. ARRIETA
Associated Press Writer
SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Illegal abortion, a business that has flourished for years in this island, faces stiff competition July 1 when most abortions become legal for residents of New York State.

By one estimate, there are 18,000 illegal abortions in Puerto Rico each year, with 10,000 of the patients originating off-island, primarily from the New York City area.

An abortion here is understood to cost between $300 and $700. Some practitioners have charged as much as $1,000.

Conviction for performing an illegal abortion, and virtually all abortions here are illegal, could bring two to five years in prison. In the event of a patient's death the law provides for a charge of second-degree murder. Since 1959, only four persons have been charged, and none has been convicted. The Puerto Rico Medical Association offers a $10,000 reward for information that will help produce a conviction. No one has ever collected it.

Authorities are reluctant to discuss the abortion racket. Police failed a few years ago in an attempt to trap a suspected practitioner who apparently was tipped off.

A woman who had come from New York to obtain an abortion changed her mind and agreed to help police obtain evidence against the suspect. He put an end to the plan by charging her with seeking the operation. She was at the point of going to jail when the authorities admitted that she was acting as a police agent.

Discussing the difficulty of obtaining evidence, Alcides Oquendo of the Department of Justice says: "The woman that receives such an abortion cannot bring her complaint to the authorities because she also has committed a crime by submitting herself to the abortion."

The patient is subject to a jail sentence of five years.

Another difficulty is that conviction requires the testimony of one witness besides the treated woman.

A bill before the legislature this year sought to legalize operations for victims of rape or incest. Its sponsor argued that this would protect women in poor families.

The bill passed the House but Gov. Luis A. Ferre opposed it. During the closing days of the legislature, several thousand persons joined in a march sponsored by the Roman Catholic Church hierarchy to oppose both abortion reform and a proposed liberalization of divorce laws. The Senate did not act.

ANTS EAT BOOKS
BOMBAY (AP) — About 1,000 copies of a 13 volume work on the works of Mohandas Gandhi, the father of India, have been eaten by ants, according to an official statement in the Maharashtra state assembly. Of 64,000 copies printed since 1968, only 9,000 copies have been sold, the statement said. The rest have been in storage where the ants found them.

Rutgers U. Program Under Fire

By ROBERT SLATER
NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. (UPI)—Last year Rutgers University plucked 700 youths out of city slums, ignored their meager academic achievements in high school and enrolled them as regular Rutgers students.

With the first year of its controversial "open admissions" Urban University Program (UUP) almost completed, New Jersey's state university has brought a thunderstorm of political criticism down on itself.

Originally, UUP was funded with money from Rutgers' own treasury, but that dried up midway through the year. The state legislature, already annoyed with the school for proceeding without prior legislative consent, almost brought the program to a halt in April by delaying sufficient funds to finish the semester.

Future Cloudy
The ruffled legislators finally okayed $747,000 in emergency funds, but some have vowed the program will not survive past June. Rutgers officials, however, are confident they will find other state funds to cover the $2.2 million needed to keep UUP going next school year.

During the noisy floor debate in the assembly, legislators also voiced their displeasure at Rutgers' flair for independence and the school's tinkering with traditional admissions procedures.

The program was born in the wake of racial disturbances last spring at Rutgers' three campuses in New Brunswick, Newark and Camden, and in response to charges that the university was ignoring special education needs of poor urban Negroes living nearby.

Only "Neighbors" Eligible
To be accepted into the program a student must have graduated from a high school in a community in which there is a Rutgers campus. He or she must have both financial need and grades below normal university admissions standards. His high school guidance counselor and college admissions officials must be convinced he is fully motivated to handle the workload.

Six months after the program's inception, 600 students were still in school, and most of the 100 who dropped out did so because they found college life too severe a financial hardship.

Rutgers' officials are quick to point out that UUP is not actually an "open admissions" program in the true sense, but rather a limited effort to help those who give every indication of wanting to help themselves.

Once admitted to Rutgers, the student takes several regular college courses, and a few "developmental" ones to prepare him for full-scale college work—in perhaps as little as one to two years.

Criticize Intensive Costs
The program emphasizes intensified tutorial techniques to enable the students to bridge the academic gap. For some, at least, it seems to work.

"The program has done a lot for me," said William Bains, 18, of New Brunswick, a commuter like all other UUP recruits. "If I hadn't come to it, I'd probably have been out on the streets doing nothing."

Legislators assailed the program for monopolizing so much state money for so few students; for expecting remedial work to take 1 effect at such a latter date in the student's scholastic career, and for keeping qualified students from studying at Rutgers.

They also complain that the program reached only the underprivileged youth of the three New Jersey communities, excluding other state youth who, incidentally, reside in their constituencies.

'Appeasement' Or 'Valid'?'
"This program," said Walter Smith, a conservative Republican assemblyman from Burlington County, "was conceived in appeasement and nurtured out of fear."

Hundreds Of Holy Land Clashes 'Unreported'

By OHAD H. GOZANI
TEL AVIV (UPI)—Despite the daily communiques in the Israeli-Arab conflict, hundreds of clashes go unreported—the unheeded "bread and butter fighting," as some call it.

Several months ago, in an effort to speed up release of military communiques, the Israeli government press office installed a network which simultaneously rings telephones in the homes and offices of all accredited foreign correspondents and news agencies.

The network is used to broadcast major military communiques, but they are in a sense also remarkable for what they do not announce.

Less than "major" actions are saved up for weekly army summaries of "incidents not individually announced."

Plenitude Of 'Incidents'

These incidents can add up to a lot of fighting. For example one recent summary, covering May 10-16, reported 362 "incidents" of which only 51 had been considered of sufficient importance to be included in the press office network announcements.

Most of the network-announced actions involved air clashes and strikes, attacks on civilian targets and fighting involving army casualties. The unannounced 311 "incidents" involved mainly attacks on Israeli troops in which it was said no casualties were suffered.

Of the 311 summarized actions, 215 took place along the Suez Canal, 76 along the Jordan ceasefire line, seven on the Lebanese front, six on the Syrian front, five in the Gaza strip and two in "other sectors" meaning occupied areas.

Clashes During Revels
The May 10-16 summary reported that during the Israeli independence anniversary holiday, troops manning the Jordanian front alone were in action 19 times. This while in the cities and elsewhere Israelis were dancing in the streets.

In most of the May 10-11 actions, mortar, bazooka or machinegun fire was aimed at Israeli outposts or against patrols along the Jordan River, the summary said. Israelis returned the fire.

On May 12 there were 15 exchanges of fire between Israelis and Arab forces; on May 13 there were 16, on May 14, 13 exchanges. May 15 brought five firefights, and there were six on May 16.

During this same period there were along the Suez Canal—although unworthy of mention at the time—61 artillery attacks, 102 mortar attacks and 52 exchanges of small arms fire.

In this persistent war, there are few holidays.

OES To Give 11 Scholarships

RALEIGH (AP)—Eleven young persons will receive college scholarships ranging from $300 to $500 Sunday at the opening of the annual meeting of the Grand Chapter of North Carolina of the Order of the Eastern Star.

The sessions, which will continue through June 10, are expected to attract about 2,000 persons.

'Weeks' Are Designated

RALEIGH (AP)—During the better part of Tuesday afternoon Gov. Bob Scott met several delegations and:

—Proclaimed June as dairy month in North Carolina.

—Designated June 7-13 as "blueberry time" in the state.

—Set Aug. 9-15 as independent grocers' week.

—Proclaimed June 15-22 as potato week in the state.

—Designated June 11-17 as Little League and Junior League Baseball.

—Designated June 11-17 as Little League and Junior League Baseball week in North Carolina.

—Fixed July 4-11 as skin and scuba diving week.

In return, Scott sampled a Texas-sized milk shake; pinned a "chugga jugga milk button" on his daughter Jan; received a 50-pound bag of corn meal and a corn meal cookbook from the North Carolina Corn Millers Association; 12 pints of blueberries and assorted blueberry mementoes including cuff links, tie pin, napkins, blueberry preserves and jam and even blueberry soap, all from the blueberry industry; and a Bowie knife removed by scuba divers from a sunken Civil War blockade runner off the coast.

Seattle Showing Signs Of Business Recession

By KENT STURGIS
Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—It's

beer instead of cocktails at night clubs, businessmen go out to lunch more often but stay home at night and apartment "for rent" signs are as thick as evergreen trees.

These are the symptoms of recession in Seattle and surrounding King County, home for about 1.1 million persons, where the Boeing Co. is king.

Airplanes are to Seattle what gambling is to Las Vegas. When Boeing business is down, everybody feels the pinch.

The restaurant and night club business is typical.

"People are tipping less and instead of drinking cocktails, they're ordering beer," complains a downtown bartender. "And instead of two or three, they'll have one and out the door they go."

Luncheon business has jumped in the city's restaurants, according to Stephanie Slater of the State Restaurant Association. At the same time, she said, there's been a decline in evening trade.

"Businessmen evidently are still going out to lunch with clients and business associates, maybe on expense accounts, but not spending money at home to take the wife and kids out," she said.

The Boeing Co., which delivered 56 jets in the first quarter of 1970 compared with 96 during the same period last year, has laid off about 20,000 workers since Jan. 1. During all of last year Boeing laid off 14,400. The firm's payroll now stands at 60,700.

There are about 2½ times more people out of work here now than at this time in 1969. The State Department of Employment Security put the April unemployment figure at 50,700 for the Greater Seattle area.

The employment drop has apartment owners and operators in a tizzy.

It's a renters' market. Inducements to attract tenants include free use of color television and stereos, a month's free rent for lease-signers and some lowering of rents.

A recent survey in the Seattle-King County area showed one out of every six apartments vacant. The figure was estimated to be 25,000, a 15-month high.

Boeing executives are pinning their hopes for an upswing on a bill now pending in Congress which would provide $290 million for construction of a supersonic transport prototype.

Boeing's net earnings for the first three months of 1970 were $6.8 million, down from the $14.02 million the first quarter of 1969.

CONSOLIDATED NOW
LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP)—For the first time since 1879, this northern New Mexico community has a consolidated governing body.

From 1879 until March 1970, there were two communities, with separate city governing agencies police and fire forces and school district administrations. The towns were known as West Las Vegas and Town of Las Vegas.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)—North Carolina poultry market undertone was weak today. Live at farms price 12 to 12½ cents per pound. Hens, supplies fully adequate, demand slow. Heavies at farm 8 to 10, mostly 9 to 10.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market drifted downward in moderate trading early today as investors cashed in on massive gains achieved in the rally that began a week ago.

By 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had slipped 2.60 points to 707.01. However, winning issues on the New York Exchange still led losers, though by a considerably narrower margin than near the start of trading.

Analysts said the market was passing through the normal digestive period which follows a spectacular rally.

They said its ability to absorb profit-taking, which was demonstrated in Tuesday's session, indicated the market could be poised for further gains when the current selling pressure subsides.

Methodists . . .

"What I am saying essentially is that I believe John Wesley would have applauded these expressions of concern toward government," Sanford added, "both from within the church and from the campuses of our Methodist colleges."

In other business today, the conference offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the conviction of those responsible for firing into the home of a Methodist minister, the Rev. Charles I. Umstead, last weekend.

Two volleys of shots were fired into the Rev. Mr. Umstead's home, the parsonage of Hornes Methodist Church in Nash County. No one was injured.

The reward was approved in a resolution offered by the Rev. Arthur Phillips of Carthage, chairman of the Board of Christian Social Concerns.

Afterward, the delegates stood for a moment of silent prayer for whoever fired the shots. Then the Rev. Malloy Owen of Raleigh prayed for their forgiveness.

Planning Talked By Bethel Board

BETHEL — The town board of Bethel, in its June meeting, devoted time to general discussion of plans for the coming fiscal year.

Paving of one street, and repair work for several streets already paved were discussed. The board members also appointed a committee to come up with recommendations for the next meeting for enlarging or adding storm drains to take care of an overflow problem at several points whenever flash rains occur.

Approval was given for paying the town bills which were due and presented to the board.

Farmville Board Drops Zoning Hearing Date Is Request To Create Lake Scheduled By Winterville

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE — Roy Beck, Pitt County Soil Conservationist, explained to Farmville Commissioners here last night, why a lake for recreational purposes in the Farmville area could not be included in the Little Contentnea Watershed Project without causing considerable delay.

He also explained why two proposed sites for such a lake are not feasible. The only lakes provided for in the Project are those for fish and wildlife water resources, he said. The Commissioners agreed to withdraw their request made in April for such a lake.

A contract with the Department of Local Affairs for professional assistance for the Planning and Zoning Board was approved. The Board wants help mainly with the outlying areas within a mile of the city limits.

An amended thoroughfare plan for the town was approved by the Board. According to the map of proposed street and thoroughfare arrangement, Contentnea Street will one day be the main thoroughfare north and south through Farmville and Church Street will carry traffic through the town east and west.

A contract with Ernest and Ernest CPAs for auditing the town's books was renewed.

The Bank of Farmville was chosen as a depository for some $300,000 in federal grant funds which have been approved for Farmville's water and sewer improvement and additions.

Alex Allen appeared before the Board asking what the town's policy is about reimbursing private citizens for water and sewer constructed at their own expense outside the city limits once the town has annexed the property and tied additional users into the private lines. He suggested that the Board discuss the matter privately when he is not present. The Board agreed.

Allen also suggested that the Board think of hiring a town manager. This is the Board's prerogative, but Boards in the past have chosen to put the matter to the voters, who have turned it down by a small margin three times. No comment was made by Board members.

Rev. J. R. Person, pastor of Macedonia Church and a resident of 203 Cameron Street, asked the Board when Cameron Street might be paved and when the ditch which runs past his house in the Lincoln Park section of Farmville might be tiled. He was told that the six blocks of Cameron Street, now without pavement and curb and gutter are next on the list for paving. The Board said they hope to provide for the tiling of the ditch in the budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Fire Chief H. P. Norman reported that four volunteer firemen have successfully completed a pump testing school. The Board approved some $800 worth of repair work that needs to be done on the "old" fire truck.

The Commissioners worked on an amendment to the ordinance providing for no obstructions for walkways and lines of vision along town streets. Fences to be defined and included in the ordinance, since there are several in town built up to the curb, forcing pedestrians to walk in the street. A public hearing on the amendment was set for the next regular meeting night, July 7.

Building inspector J. A. "Bud" Wooten said a local junk dealer, Weldon Ellis, has agreed to remove all his junked cars from the right side of West Wilson Street and to fence in the rest of his junkyard.

Wooten said he is trying to locate the owners of a coalyard, also a local eyesore.

Sewer changes for the Westwood subdivision, which would run all sewer lines in the street was approved. The cost for such a change will be some $3,067, some $337 more than the cost of running the lines across yards.

Public Hearing Slated Tonight

A special public meeting is scheduled tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the City Council Chambers on the third floor of City Hall.

According to T. I. Wagner, Deputy Director, Community Services, Greenville Redevelopment Commission, the meeting will involve the entire Citizens Advisory Council and some city officials, including Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr.

Wagner stated that matters to be discussed at this meeting would include the Central Business Development Project and the June 27 referendum on tax levy for Greenville City Schools.

City engineer, Jack McDavid, was requested to investigate widening Turnage Street from Wilson to Church Street — one block — to uncork a bottleneck that is especially congested during tobacco season when tobacco trucks are on the street. The town has a 56-foot right of way here, but only 26 feet of it is now paved. Whether the State Highway Commission will help with the project, since this is an established truck route, will be looked into.

Editor Will Sign EPIC Speak Friday Agreement

Gene Price, editor of the Goldsboro News Argus, will speak here Friday night at the Northeastern Carolina Section of the American Welding Society's Ladies Night Banquet.

The banquet, to be held at the Greenville Golf and Country Club, will begin at 7 p.m. with a social hour and will be followed by dinner at the club.

Price graduated from Elizabeth City High School and attended East Carolina Teachers College (East Carolina University). He later went to George Washington University in Washington, D.C. where he worked as press secretary for the late Congressman Herbert Bonner.

After completing a tour in the Army, Price joined the Independent in Elizabeth City as sports and associate editor. He has also worked as sports editor for The Daily Reflector and as waterfront reporter in Norfolk, Va.

WINTERVILLE — The Winterville Town Board Monday night set June 15 as the date for a public hearing to consider changes in the town zoning ordinance.

Scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. in the municipal building, the changes to be considered include: the approving and adopting of the preliminary thoroughfare plan shown on a map dated May 19, 1970, as the basis for development of the streets and highway system in the Winterville urban areas; and changing the property deeded from Don Langston to Sunnyside Eggs, Inc., from residential to industrial (the lot is located next to the railroad on the northern side of secondary road 1708).

The board hired McDavid and Associates of Farmville to prepare a powell bill map for the State Highway Commission to make the town eligible for powell bill funds. The firm was also employed to re-map the Gaylord property in south Winterville for sewage and to make proper application for federal funds for the project.

McDavid and Associates were also employed to secure a cost estimate for curb and gutter in North and Jones Streets in north Winterville.

The board adopted a tentative budget, totaling $210,905, for the 1970-71 fiscal year. The official budget will be adopted at the July board meeting.

The board members approved the Pitt County Bookmobile's request to use the town municipal building for special reading classes during the summer.

The classes, to be taught by a county librarian, will be held each Monday from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

The purchase of a 1969 Ford for the Winterville Police Department from the State Highway Commission was approved. The new vehicle will replace a 1965 Ford currently being used by the department.

Mayor Walter Dail was authorized to sign a contract agreement with Seaboard Coastline Railroad Co. for the installation of a six-inch water main across the right-of-way and under the railroad tracks on Worthington Street. The major was also authorized to employ William F. Freeman Engineers of High Point to make application for a new water well.

An all-electric rate for the town was adopted at Monday night's meeting. The new rates will become effective on or after July 1.

A contract was signed with the accounting firm of Worsley, Farley and Prescott for auditing the town books for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Board members approved purchasing the 1971 town license plates. The new tags will be identical to the current license plates.

NPC Wins, Is Ladies Leader

National Products Co. moved into sole possession of first place in the Ladies Softball League last night. NPC defeated Little Mint, 6-1, to remain as the only unbeaten in the league. In the other games, Wachovia downed Coca-Cola, 19-9, and Foodmart beat Bob's Atlantic, 9-7.

NPC now stands 4-0 in the league, while Foodmart and the Little Mint are both 3-1. Bob's and Wachovia are both 1-3, and Coke is 0-4.

In the opener, Bob's grabbed the lead in its game with four runs in the bottom of the third. Foodmart came back to tie it up with four in the fourth, and then took the lead with another in the fifth.

They added two more in the sixth, but Bob's came up with three in the seventh to tie it up at 7-7. Foodmart added two more in the eighth to take the win. NPC moved ahead for good in the first inning, scoring three runs. They came up with their remaining three in the sixth inning.

The lone Little Mint run came in the bottom of the sixth. Wachovia wound up the evening with its romp over Coke. Coke took the lead with a run in the first, but Wachovia came back with four in its half of the first for the lead.

They added nine more in the second to move out into a 13-1 lead, and were never in trouble after that. Wachovia went on to add one in the third, three in the fifth and two in the sixth. Coke scored three in the third, two each in the fourth and fifth and one in the seventh.

Betty Baker highlighted the second for Wachovia with a homer.

Miller To Aid In Cage School

All-Southern Conference guard Tom Miller of East Carolina University will work as a counselor for the first two sessions of Tom Quinn's Buccaneer Basketball School this month.

The first session begins June 7 (Sunday) and the second session June 14. This is the third year for the camp, run by ECU Head Basketball Coach Tom Quinn for boys 11 to 18 years old.

Miller finished his brilliant three-year career for the Pirates in style last winter, averaging 18.2 points per game, seventh best in the Southern Conference. He is regarded as the best playmaker and ball handler ever to play for East Carolina and he will try to teach these skills to the campers.

The 6-foot Oxen Hill, Md., senior was named the Pirates' Most Valuable Player last season and this went along with his All-State and All-Southern Conference First Team awards.

The Buccaneer Basketball School uses Minges Coliseum and other ECU athletic and health facilities. There are still a few openings left in the first two sessions. A third session will be held July 18-25 with plenty of openings remaining. For information write or call Tom Quinn, Minges Coliseum, Greenville, N. C. 27834, phone (919) 758-6472.

Crowell's Clothing Comments

(COATS)

Topcoats come in a wide variety of colors and materials. For the man with a big social whirl there are musts. Since he probably wears evening formal often solid colors are demanded. For formal, topcoats of solid navy, black or dark gray are requisites. Daytime topcoats should go well with a man's suit. The average man generally chooses topcoats which go well at any time. He usually prefers conservative coats to formal or sporty ones. This is especially true of younger men. They may not have completely established their wardrobe. If a man goes into the country he needs another coat. Perhaps a polo coat in gabardine or the newer waterproof materials would be best. SPOT REMOVER—Many troublesome spots on clothing can easily be removed. Owners Testify In Flood Suit

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The defense in the Curt Flood case was expected today to put on the stand Cincinnati owner Francis Dale, one of a steady stream of baseball officials testifying that the sport cannot exist without the controversial reserve system.

Mark Hughes, chief counsel for baseball's defendants, estimated it would be the end of the week or the first part of next week before the defense had exhausted its list of witnesses.

Also scheduled to testify today was John Gaherin, chief labor negotiator for the owners.

In testimony Tuesday during the case in which Flood is challenging baseball's reserve system, the defendants called Bing Devine, general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals. Devine traded Flood to Philadelphia in the transaction that provoked the suit. Also called were NBC broadcaster Joe Garagiola and Joe Cronin, president of the American League.

Devine said it was his opinion that "trading contracts of players plays a comparable roll to player development" in building a team. He revealed that the Cardinals had spent $1.75 million for player development and acquisition last year.

Devine also revealed, under cross-examination, that he had exercised the option renewal clause in the player's contract when slugger Richie Allen and pitcher Steve Carlton became holdouts with the Cards earlier in the spring.

Under the clause a player is automatically re-signed. One of the keys to Flood's suit is the contention that when a player is traded without his permission his rights are violated.

Flood also is contending that the option renewal clause enables the sport to operate in the framework of the reserve system.

Garagiola, a former catcher with four National League clubs, testified the reserve system was reasonable and necessary and said, "To me it's the best system. Nobody has come up with anything different. If they change the name, everybody probably would be happy."

Elks Get By Integon, 9-5

The Elks climbed out of the cellar in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday with a 9-5 victory over Integon.

The Graniteers head the league with a 6-1 mark, followed closely by the Moose, 5-1. Pepsi-Cola is 4-2, followed by the Elks and Exchange, both 2-5, while Integon is now 1-6.

The Elks took the lead in the first with four runs. Billy Glidewell reached on a fielder's choice, and Peter Hargett walked. Murray Adams reached on a fielder's choice, and Franklin Davis doubled to score both Glidewell and Hargett. Alex King was safe on an error, scoring Adams, and Davis also came over on the play.

The Elks added another run in the second for a 5-0 lead. Wayne Clemmons doubled, moved up on Ricky Skinner's single and scored on Bobby Mosley's ground out.

In the third, Integon broke the ice and came up with three runs. John Miles walked and Ricky Overman singled. Miles stole home, and Worth Albea doubled in Overman. A pair of wild pitches let Albea come around to cut the score to 5-3.

In the fourth, however, the Elks got what proved to be the winning run. Mosley reached on a fielder's choice and took second on a wild pitch. He stole third and came home on an error, making it 6-3.

In the fifth, the Elks added their final three runs. King was hit by a pitch and Reggie Spain reached on a fielder's choice. Clemmons doubled in King, and Skinner doubled in Spain and Clemmons.

Integon got its final two in the sixth. Don Clanchard singled and Miles reached on a fielder's choice. Overman singled and Albea doubled to drive in both runs.

Overman and Albea led Integon's hitting with three each, while Skinner had four, and Adams and Clemmons each had two for the Elks.

McLaren Dies In Fiery Wreck

GOODWOOD, England (AP) — The auto racing world today mourned the death of Bruce McLaren, one of its top drivers. He died Tuesday at 32 in the crash of an experimental car of his own design.

McLaren, a New Zealander, spun out of control in the auto while driving at 180 miles per hour on the Goodwood Circuit and crashed into an earthen bank.

His MD8 sports car broke in two and exploded into flames. McLaren was dragged clear but died in minutes.

McLaren decided against personally competing at Indianapolis last month in order to ready the MD8 for his defense of the prestigious Canadian-American Series races.

His death came on the same track which ended the career of Stirling Moss in 1961. Moss survived a high-speed collision at Goodwood but hasn't raced since.

Chips and putts from area golf courses:
Brook Valley

Jim Hodge turned in quite a range of scores, going from a 133 in the Brook Valley Men's Tournament to a 93 for his best score.

Marion Gardner had a 73 for his best round, while Fred Sauve, Joe Exum and Henry Coleman all picked up eagles during the last week on the 17th hole at Brook Valley.

Scrappy Proctor had a 42-47-89 for his best 18-hole score. Red Flanagan birdied 12 and 13 to record his first consecutive pair of birdies. Jane Worsley had an 89 for her first sub-90 round.

Al Ward had a 33 on the back side for his best nine-hole score and John Proctor had a 73 Sunday for his best 18-hole score.

Dr. Bill Dawson had a 38 (thirty-eight) for his best nine-hole score. A typographical error last week listed it as a 98, as we understand Dr. Dawson has been taking some ribbing because of it.

The first handicap tournament of the year will be held Sunday. Golfers may make up their own foursome.

Greenville C. C.

Whoops! There was a slight error on Monday in the cutline information to the Greenville Golf and Country Club tournament winners. By accident, one line of the cutline identified the winners as from Brook Valley. They are all, of course, from Greenville, as was later mentioned in the cutline.

A complete rundown of the men's championship showed Jim Ward defeating Reynolds May in the championship flight; Ed Harris taking the first flight over Joe Murad; Dan Wooten winning in the second flight, with Don Patrick the runner-up. In the third flight, Joe Hunnicutt defeated Jerry Sutherland, and Walter Williams beat Roger Mann in the fourth flight.

Howard Makes Contact—Pow!

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Big Frank Howard, the Washington slugger who happens to lead the American League in home runs, claims that making contact is his biggest problem.

The same might be true of the entire American League when Sudden Sam McDowell is on the mound.

Tuesday night neither of these veteran All-Star performers had any difficulty. Howard drilled his 16th homer of the season, a two-run shot that earned the Senators a 2-2 tie, and his bloop single triggered a two-run eighth-inning rally that brought Washington a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

McDowell, the AL's strikeout king, had a no-hitter for seven innings but had to settle for a two-hitter in the opener of a doubleheader as the Cleveland Indians swept Milwaukee 4-1, 8-5.

In other AL contests, Boston whipped Minnesota 5-1, New York edged Kansas City 3-2, Baltimore stopped Oakland 5-1 and California nipped Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the National League, Atlanta beat New York 4-1, St. Louis belted San Francisco 12-1, San Diego bombed Pittsburgh 14-8, Houston topped Montreal 6-4, Cincinnati downed Philadelphia 7-2 in a game called by rain in the eighth inning and Los Angeles at Chicago was called by rain.

Howard, who cracked 48 homers last year, says he doesn't think about the long ball.

"My biggest problem is making contact," said the huge 6-foot-7, 270-pound Howard. "I figure if I make contact, the long ball will take care of itself."

His blooper in the eighth however, was just as important as it moved Ed Stroud, who had opened the inning with a single—his fourth hit—to third. Mike Epstein then looped a single, scoring Stroud and Aurelio Rodriguez got the eventual winner across with a sacrifice fly as the White Sox got a run in the ninth.

McDowell, who struck out eight Tuesday night, leads the league with 119 and upped his record to 8-3. His attempt at a no-hitter—McDowell owns seven one-hitters—was snapped when Danny Walton stroked a leadoff double in the eighth.

It was the stylish left-hander's seventh complete game—no other pitcher on the Indians' staff has one—and his second consecutive two-hitter. His earned run average dropped to 2.35.

"I'm not interested in a no-hitter," McDowell said afterward. "I'm more interested in winning. 'It was a stupid pitch,'" he said of Walton's hit. "I threw him a mediocre, semi-pro fast ball down the middle."

"Some guy in the stands kept telling me every inning I was working on a no hitter. It didn't bother me. It became a joke and helped relax me."

Jack Heideman's two-run single and a solo homer by Graig Nettles helped ease the way for McDowell in the opener and the Indians crashed five roundtrippers in the nightcap.

Nettles belted a pair and added a single for four runs batted in while Duke Sims also rapped out two and Ray Fosse drilled another. Walton had a solo homer for the Brewers.

Mike Andrews stroked four hits, driving in one run and igniting two rallies for the Red Sox while Billy Conigliaro rapped a solo homer to back the eight-hit hurling of right-hander Ray Culp over the Twins.

Curt Blefary drove in a pair of runs with a sacrifice fly and his first homer of the season as the Yankees heged off a ninth-inning Royals' surge.

Fritz Peterson picked up his eighth victory against two losses, but needed last-out help from Lindy McDaniel after Kansas City scored two runs in the final inning.

Jim Palmer notched his seventh victory, scattering five hits and Merv Rettenmund drove in two runs with a double. The A's contributed three errors to the Baltimore victory.

Jim Fregosi rapped a sacrifice fly in the 10th inning, enabling the Angels to get within 1 1/2 games of West leader Minnesota. Fregosi's drive scored Jay Johnstone, who opened the inning with a triple. Willie Horton drove in both Detroit runs.

Batters Pound National Hurlers

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Richie Allen, Hank Aaron, Tony Perez and Johnny Bench have set many a pitcher to biting his fingernails, but when Phil Niekro does it the hitters are in the palm of his hand.

The aforementioned sluggers all played long ball Tuesday night, while pitcher Niekro used a one-hour rain delay to give himself an oral manicure and get his knuckleball under control.

Allen crashed two home runs, one a grand slam, and drove in seven runs as St. Louis thrashed San Francisco 12-1; Aaron backed Niekro's four-hit pitching with his first homer in two weeks as Atlanta downed the New York Mets 4-1; Bench drilled two homers and Perez one as Cincinnati thumped Philadelphia 7-2; the San Diego Padres blasted six Pittsburgh pitchers for 19 hits in a 14-8 slugfest and Houston tripped Montreal 6-4.

The other scheduled National League game, Los Angeles at Chicago, was rained out.

In the American League, Baltimore stopped Oakland 5-1, Boston whipped Minnesota by the same score, the New York Yankees edged Kansas City 3-2, Washington nipped the Chicago White Sox 4-3, Cleveland won a doubleheader from Milwaukee 4-1 and 9-5 and California shaded Detroit 3-2 in 10 innings.

Manager Red Schoendienst returned Allen from the cleanup spot to No. 3 in the St. Louis batting order and the slugging first baseman, who hadn't homered in seven games, exploded.

He singled home a run in the first inning, belted a two-run homer in the fifth and capped the rout with his grand slam in the eighth. Backed by a 15-hit attack, Steve Carlton held the Giants to four hits—including Willie McCovey's 16th homer—and posted his first triumph since May 11.

The grand slam was the fifth of Allen's career and home run No. 18 for the season.

"The big reason for the change in the batting order," explained Schoendienst, "is getting Allen back up there to No. 3, where he can hurt people even more. I don't care if the score is 10-9 or 1-0, he's in a position now where he's going to be coming up when the game will either be won or lost."

The Mets and Braves, meeting for the first time since last year's NL playoffs, were locked in a 1-1 tie when the rains came in the third inning. "I didn't like the weather," said Niekro. "The first couple of innings I struggled. The heavy air kept pushing the ball down. During the delay, I bit my fingernails down so I could get a better grip on the ball and I did a lot better."

When play resumed, the Braves went ahead in the fourth on Bob Didier's run-scoring single. Aaron, who hadn't homered since May 17, iced it in the seventh with a two-run shot, his 17th.

"A home run always feels good," said Aaron, "whether you hit 10 in a week, once a week, once a month or once a year."

Tommie Agee homered for the Mets' run.

Bench slammed two homers, one a three-run wallop, and Perez, the majors' leading slugger, socked No. 19 as the Reds scored a rain-shortened triumph over the Phillies, their fifth straight win.

Rookie Wayne Simpson, 6-1, yielded six hits and fanned seven before rain halted play with the Phils batting in the top of the eighth. San Diego got a two-run homer from Clarence Gaston, triples by Chris Cannizzaro, Tommy Dean and Jose Arcia (two) and doubles by Ollie Brown, Steve Huntz and Nate Colbert in routing the Pirates. Willie Stargell homered for Pittsburgh.

The Padres kayoed Bob Veale with a six-run first inning and never let up.

"I'd say our pitching wasn't too sound," ventured Pirate skipper Danny Murtaugh. "A couple of batboys even sneaked up there and got a couple of hits."

Johnny Edwards triggered a three-run second inning with an RBI single and tripled home another run in the fourth as the Astros sent the Expos to their ninth straight setback.

Three Bucs On All-Southern

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—East Carolina's league champion Pirates placed three of their starters on the All-Southern Conference baseball team announced today. There are two repeaters from last year.

The 10-man team, selected by the votes of the league's eight coaches, includes two players from Northern Division champion George Washington, two from The Citadel and one each from William and Mary, Davidson and Richmond.

Outfielder Gordon Slade of Davidson, also an All-Southern selection last fall as a football quarterback, and George Washington's ace pitcher, Hank Bunnell, are the only holdovers from last year's team.

Ron Hastings, who pitched East Carolina to the conference title, is the other all-star hurler; and earned a promotion from last year's second unit. Joining him on the honor team from East Carolina are second baseman Dennis Vick and catcher Stan Sneed.

Named with Vick in the infield were batting champion Tom Bondurant of Richmond at first base, Jerry Wise of The Citadel at third and Bob Dennis of George Washington at shortstop.

The outfielders besides Slade are John Bledsoe of The Citadel and Bubba Hooker of William and Mary, son of Indian coach

Les Hooker.

Only four of the 10 are seniors—Vick, Dennis, Slade and Bledsoe. Bondurant, Wise, Hooker, Hastings and Bunnell are juniors, Sneed only a sophomore.

Although the coaches were asked to pick an outstanding right-handed and left-handed pitcher, both hurlers on the first team and the two on the second unit—John Katona of Furman and Sanford Boisseau of William and Mary—are right-handers.

The second team infield consists of Roy Taylor, East Carolina, first base; J. C. Hanks, VMI, second; Bruce Cook, William and Mary, third, and a tie at shortstop between Mike Ross, The Citadel, and Reggie Dunnivant, Richmond. The outfielders are Tom Latham and Neil Eichberger, Furman, and Bruce Wright, Richmond. The catcher is George Washington's Eric Spink. Hanks and Ross were first-team choices a year ago.

Nuclear Conductor

That's Mack Wilson's job: conducting visitors through the Vepco Nuclear Information Center at Surry.

There, he uses animated displays, movies and other aids to tell the intricate story of the atom in terms even children can understand. With a working model of a nuclear power station, he shows why this is such a safe, clean, economical way to produce electricity.

From the Center's observation deck, he can point to the real thing taking shape just a few hundred feet away. The $327 million Surry Power Station, which will begin operation in 1971, is another of Vepco's giant steps into tomorrow.

Come see it all. It's open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, just off Route 10 in Surry County. Mack Wilson will help you understand the mighty atom, and how the energy it creates will bring you a brighter tomorrow.

Vepco is people...helping people.

Four-Letter Words Acceptable To Campus Editors

EDITOR'S NOTE—The campus press used to abound in four-letter words like 'soph' and 'prom' and 'fat'. It still does but now they're pure Anglo-Saxon as collegiate editors are telling it like it is. Here is a look at the situation from the AP Living Today department.

By DICK BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer
Youth doesn't always say it with flowers. And the collegiate press is getting and passing the word. The four-letter word. At age 97, the Harvard Crimson does not blush to print an occasional — or —, to unmention just a couple. In turbulent Berkeley, it's not uncommon to find — in the angry, Anglo-Saxon flesh anywhere from the editorial page to the sports section of the University of California Daily Californian. Even on more tranquil campuses, young editors covering an era of heightened social and political passions are spurning genteel circumlocutions and discreet dashes and coming right out with it. The editors operate under a range of circumstances—from complete financial and editorial independence, as at Harvard, to ultimate accountability to a publications board, as at Kansas State University or the University of Alabama. Most of those questioned say they rarely if ever feel pressure from authority to leave out four-letter words. "Nowadays these words have about the shock impact of 'damn,' if that much," says Terry Hill, editor of the Daily Californian editorial page. "These words are part of the vernacular that the people we're writing for use. We don't go out of our way to use them. But it would be awkward to try to write around so-called dirty words, it would be dishonest and it certainly wouldn't be fair to the readership. The form and content of what people say are pretty well related." The Californian receives about 40 per cent of its budget through the university but editors say they are free to set their own policy. Ronald Janis, outgoing executive editor of the Harvard Crimson, says no word is forbidden for the paper, and if there is an objection "the burden of proof would be on the person who wanted to take it out. "I think we use these words because they're used all the time in daily communication. It certainly doesn't offend any of our student readers." "I think the obscenity issue is a sham," says Rena Steinzor, editor in chief of the University of Wisconsin Daily Cardinal. "I don't see any reason why the media cannot speak the way the people speak." Nonetheless, Miss Steinzor says, the paper avoids using four-letter words wherever possible. "Last year we were embroiled in a big controversy with the state regents over the use of four-letter words, which resulted in our being assessed rent for the office space we have at the university. We decided afterward that the hassle just wasn't worth it." "We don't have any written policy," says A. Messerschmidt, editor of Kansas State University's K-State Collegian. "We look at the value of the word. Does it really contribute anything to the story? Is there a better way to make the same point? "There are instances where one four-letter word would make a better point than two columns of rhetoric," Messerschmidt says, "but we don't get to that point very often here."

James Morris, director of student publications at Kansas State, says: "We have never prohibited the students from using such words, but we have tried to get around this by dis-

LONDON (AP) — St. Mary Aldermary, which has stood for 900 years on its ancient Watling Street site in the City of London, has just been re-opened to visitors after extensive repairs and redecoration. An Anglican High Mass and a sermon from Dr. Michael Ramsey, the Archbishop of Canterbury, marked the occasion.

cussing it at length with the editors and seeing if it will serve any useful purpose." Messerschmidt, like many college editors, scorns paraphrasing or blanking out just to avoid using a four-letter word. "I think it's ridiculous for major publications to use, say, 'blank-blank-'. Who are they trying to protect?"

More And More Hippies Are 'Turned On' By Jesus

AP Religion Writer
BERKELEY, CALIF. (AP) — As they put it, they've been "turned on by Jesus." And things seem different. Most of them are hippies. Others are "straight" kids. In either case, they're making their presence felt around the University of California campus here.

They're called "Jesus Freaks," a term originally applied in derision, but which they gladly accept. After all, the term, "Christian" itself originally was used in pagan mockery of the early believers in Christ.

"Jesus is back!" said a tall, barefoot, long-haired lad, handing out evangelical tracts to passing students. "Take a trip with the Lord—it's the greatest."

Here and there about the campus, on class days and weekends, it's easy to spot these special kind of radicals in clusters of youths, "rapping" about Jesus in arguments with assorted New Left advocates.

Wherever the "Jesus Freaks" hold forth, there's usually a sizable crowd. "One way! One way!" they signal about Christ, with a single finger held aloft, instead of the "V"-peace-victory sign.

Regularly, they also make forays into downtown San Francisco, displaying their signs, "Jesus Saves," and speaking on sidewalks outside the "skin" bars featuring nude dancers.

"I've been through 'grass', the heavyweight stuff, LSD and speed, and all the meditation-breathing bit, and it just freaked me out and down," said one of them, a thin, bearded young man. "But Jesus is very true, very hip, very with it. He's our thing."

Others tell similar stories of having been through drugs and Oriental mysticism before finding greater satisfaction in "following Jesus."

Formally, the "Jesus Freaks" are known as the Christian World Liberation Front. They began appearing around Berkeley about a year ago, adding a new element to a campus of 28,000 students known for its tumults and radical movements—Marxists, Maoists, Free-Speech'ers, war resisters.

The "Jesus Freaks" also are anti-Vietnam war and generally anti-establishment, even anti-church so far as the official institutions, claiming it has become stuffy, stiff and lost its sense of the "Spirit," the mysteries and joy.

"The straight church is too uptight," said one young man in black pullover shirt, beads and striped pants. "But Jesus is a real revolutionary, a man of the people." There are no regularly kept statistics on the "Jesus Freaks," but estimates are that 300 to 400 of them are active here, and the number grows

Restrictions Help Churches

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Restrictions on Western missionaries in India are serving to force Indian churches to do "what we should have done 20 years ago"—that is, develop their own leaders, says Renuka Somasekhar.

Mrs. Somasekhar, a member of India's National Christian Council, told Christian Church (Disciples) leaders here that church bodies in India should be left free to "sink or swim" as a spur to achieving indigenous leadership.

with frequent converts, who are channeled into Bible study groups. Those on drugs also are given medical help.

Many of them haven't taken up communal-style living, in imitation of early Christians, living in groups in houses scattered about in residential areas with names such as House of Acts, Tree of Life, Fish House.

Some are disciplined communes including married couples; others are more casual, offering a young person a pad and food, along with Bible talk.

The Christian World Liberation Front maintains a two-room office near the campus, decorated with modernistic pictures of Jesus and slogans. It also publishes an underground-style newspaper, "Right On."

Several older Christians have helped shape the movement, including Dr. Jack Sparks, 40, a former Pennsylvania State University professor who came here with his family to do missionary work.

His living room regularly is crowded with young men and women for study and worship.

Prince Offers Pay For Chapel

HENLEY-ON-THAMES, England (AP) — Prince Stanislaus Radziwill, husband of Lee Radziwill, who is a sister of Mrs. Jacqueline Onassis, has offered to pay for a $180,000 chapel to be built on the grounds of the Divine Mercy College, run by Polish priests four miles from his home.

The present chapel, where the Radziwill family worships, holds about 20 people. The new chapel would accommodate 300. Prince Radziwill is a naturalized British subject of Polish origin.

Says he: "We pass an offering plate and tell people to put money in if they can and take it out if they need it. It always ends up empty."

The Rev. John A. MacDonald of Mill Valley Calif., who also helped spur the Berkeley evangelism, says that when a hippie

Five Churches Adopt Merger

LONDON (AP) — Five English church reform groups have merged into a single ecumenical body. They are the Anglican organization Parish and People, the Methodist Renewal Group, the Congregational and Presbyterian Church Order Group, the Baptist Renewal Group, and the interdenominational Friends of Reunion. Their new organization will be called simply, "One."

accepts Christ, he "easily assumes that total wisdom floods his being."

Although he is just "a beginner, a simple babe in Christ, his mystical background tells him, 'This is it—I've arrived.' No matter what a serious-minded pastor or theologian might offer, if the young convert has a different revelation, he thinks everyone else is wrong."

He says the converted hippies have a "hard time reconciling their new outlook to what they find in the churches" and "many church members have a hard time accepting the hippies."

ROMAN CATHOLICS
LONDON (AP) — Annual statistics in the Catholic Directory for 1970 show a decline in the Roman Catholic population of England and Wales and a further drop in conversions.

Some Schools See Disorders

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Six pupils were hurt Tuesday in a fight between black and white pupils at a Winston-Salem high school. At a predominantly black high school at Charlotte, some pupils walked out after a pupil resisted attempts by a highway patrolman to arrest him for using profanity.

No arrests were made in either incident.

A brief flurry of rock-throwing and a walkout occurred at West Charlotte High School.

No injuries were reported. However, 14 windows were broken in the school and two windows were broken in a police car. Sugar was poured into the gasoline tank of another police car.

School officials said a pupil got into a dispute with Asst.

Principal William Bidgood, who was taking him to the principal's office to suspend him for a previous infraction.

The patrolman, a Negro, was in the office on other business, and overheard the pupil using profanity. He told the youth he was under arrest and a scuffle ensued.

Some students came to the arrested pupil's aid and others milled about outside the school. About 20 city police cars answered the call.

Bidgood said he would not press charges against the youth.

Trouble at North Forsyth High School began when two pupils got into a fight as pupils gathered in front of the school for an afternoon examination. An estimated 30 to 35 others joined in.

LOTS OF CHOPPING... John Little of Stokes and John Nelson of Bethel are two of the score of volunteers from communities North of the Tar River who spent part of Saturday chopping underbrush and clearing land for athletic fields at the North Pitt High School site. Black and white residents joined forces in the clearing project which will give the North Pitt "Panthers" a football and baseball field. Other groups from the Pactolus, Stokes, Bethel and Belvoir area are scheduled to continue with the clearing work Thursday afternoon.

Peace Vigil Is Seeing Growth

The prayer service conducted in front of the U.S. Post Office each Wednesday at noon for about an hour continues to add additional observers. Rev. William Hadden, speaking for the chairman, Mrs. Jerry Paul, said "we now have about 20 to 25 attending the prayer service each Wednesday. We are encouraged that older citizens are participating."

Rev. Hadden cited wives of college faculty members and older people from the Greenville community as examples of newcomers to the vigil since its inception a few weeks ago. Rev. THIRTY DAY OUTLOOK — This is the outlook for the nation's temperatures and precipitation for the next 30 days, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Heard Address By Rev. Felder

"For as he thinketh in his heart, so is he." This verse, the seventh from the 23rd chapter of the Book of Proverbs, was the text on which Rev. B.B. Felder, pastor of Sycamore Hill Baptist Church, based his Baccalaureate sermon for the 1970 graduating class of seniors at Rose High School Sunday night.

"The mind is a connecting link between God and man," Felder told the seniors. "It is also the link between the natural in life and the super-natural."

Emphasizing that achievements of mankind can surpass the general level of human activity, Rev. Felder entitled his sermon "Dreaming the Impossible Dream." Saying "ideas begin in the mind," Felder explained that ideas result in concrete efforts. The mind is both the course of good and evil, and from it comes respects for one's own person."

Calling on the young people to have the courage of their own convictions, Felder said, "Our mind gives us inner resources with which we live. Instead of following the crowd, you can choose your own course. "Life results in what we think and what is in our hearts."

Music for the program was furnished by Mrs. Selina Davenport, an organist at Sycamore Hill Baptist Church, who played selections for congregational singing.

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Mainpuri district of northern Uttar Pradesh state, where large numbers of people chew tobacco, has the highest rate of mouth cancer in the world, according to a recent study. Figures showed that some 21.4 out of 100,000 persons suffered from the disease, a figure seven to 10 times higher than any other part of the world. Many chewers in Mainpuri go to sleep with the plugs in their mouths, according to the study financed by the World Health Organization.

Dr. Joseph Tonzetich, of the university's department of oral biology, said the two compounds are hydrogen sulfide and methyl mercaptan. He said his work can lead to control of bad breath and to early detection of certain diseases of the human body.

Churches Feel City Exodus Bad Breath Due Two Chemicals

NORWICH, England (AP) — The Church of England is suffering from an inner city problem. Thirty or more medieval churches in the center of Norwich are in parishes consisting of a few score people, because of general movement out to the suburbs. A commission of inquiry appointed by the Bishop of Norwich has recommended that 24 churches in the city should no longer be financed by the church and should be demolished unless suitable other use can be found for them. The commission recommends that the inner city should be reorganized into four major parishes.

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI) — Spurred on by seeing a sign reading "halitosis is better than no breath at all," an associate professor at the University of British Columbia says he has conclusively identified and measured two chemicals which cause bad breath.

Dr. Joseph Tonzetich, of the university's department of oral biology, said the two compounds are hydrogen sulfide and methyl mercaptan. He said his work can lead to control of bad breath and to early detection of certain diseases of the human body.

Worry Clinic Secrets For A Perfect Speech

Lew Sarett was a spellbinder orator in the days of the Chautauqua and Lyceum circuits. But he was also the best Applied Psychologist at Northwestern University. Be sure to memorize his prescription for a perfect 30-minute speech. Then note how I follow that formula in this daily psychology column!

For two years I studied under him, since he was also a consummate Applied Psychologist. For his speech courses merely adapted psychology to the lecture platform.

"If you are to speak 30 minutes," Prof. Sarett used to advise us, "and want to influence the audience completely, then talk to them in short words, straight from the shoulder."

"But don't do this for your full 30 minutes."

"No; you should limit your direct persuasion of the audience to about 28 minutes. 'For you will always find a certain number of intellectual snobs who will regard your address as inferior just because your audience can fully comprehend what you are saying. 'So wave your arms around in those final 2 minutes and use jawbreaker polysyllables, elegant style and a pompous manner."

"Then you will have mollified that small percentage who require the sop to their ego of having you employ esoteric language which the hoi polloi can't understand. "In this manner, you will have helped educate and inspire the vast majority with your 28 minutes of direct speech, but will likewise win the small minority of college graduate snobs."

You astute readers will thus notice that I reduce psychiatry and psychology to the practical level of the street, factory, store and farm, where it can help people avoid divorce, bankruptcy, delinquency and school dropouts.

But then I find it wise to insert such terms, in the preceding paragraphs, as "astute, esoteric, and hoi polloi."

These serve as a sop to those university psychologists who would like to boil me in oil for having made psychology understandable!

My worst critics are thus some of the academic or brain-truster psychologists who write violent letters to editors saying: "That awful Dr. Crane! He is demeaning the dignity of scientific psychology by use of 2-syllable words. Tch, tch and more tches!"

But newspaper editors, as well as salesmen and advertising executives, know full well that you must talk the language of the customers, readers or students, if you wish to influence them successfully.

Selling, teaching and writing do not depend primarily on what we SAY, but upon how much is actually UNDERSTOOD.

The focus should thus be on the customer instead of on the manufacturer!

Every smart editor thus realizes that a popular newspaper must contain the items that his subscribers like and not necessarily those he himself enjoys.

An editor is thus running what amounts to a "print department store," so he stocks his paper with merchandise items that figuratively ring up the most cash at the cash register.

Alas, some of our new journalism graduates forget that axiom of sound journalism and ignore the general reader in their desire to satisfy their own academic tastes in print merchandise.

Send for my booklet "The Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, for it can be of great aid to preachers as well as editors; salesmen as well as doctors! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

South made effective use of the "psychology of fear" to enlist his opponent's cooperation in salvaging his four heart contract.

West opened the ten of spades and the ace was played from dummy. Trumps were drawn by the ace and queen of hearts and then the deuce of clubs was led from dummy. East put up the ace and continued with the queen of spades.

led the queen of clubs thru West for a ruffing finesse. West covered with the king and dummy trumped with the five of hearts. The six of hearts was led to the jack so that declarer might discard North's remaining spade on the jack of clubs.

South ruffed out the six of spades and obligingly conceded two diamond tricks to the opposition, inasmuch as his only other loser on the deal was the ace of clubs.

East had nothing to gain by putting up the ace of clubs when dummy's singleton was led. His fear that declarer might have the king was not well founded, for even if South did hold that card, he would be able to use it subsequently for the discard of North's losing spade. In other words, playing the ace of clubs cannot gain since, at best, it will merely trade trick for trick.

If East ducks the club, South's jack will lose to West's king. A shift to the ten of diamonds at this point nets two fast tricks for the defense to complete their book. East can then drive out the king of spades and sit back patiently to score the setting trick in that suit.

Welcome Wagon Group Has Summer Luncheon

Nine City Teachers Retire This Year

The newly formed Greenville Welcome Wagon Club held its first summer luncheon Tuesday at the Greenville Golf and Country Club.

The 32 newcomers attending were received by Mrs. Douglas R. Jones, Welcome Wagon hostess. At this initial meeting of the group, special emphasis was placed on acquainting the guests with each other.

Special guests attending were six Welcome Wagon sponsors: Ralph Sullivan, of Moore-King-Sullivan, Inc.; Ercell Webb, Carolina Dairy Products Inc.; Scrappy Proctor, Proctors LTD; Bill Cozart, Planters National Bank and Trust Co.; and Mrs. David Bumgarner, WNCT Radio.

Mrs. Norris Drum is serving as president of the club. The next luncheon will be held on July 7.

According to Mrs. Donald Y. Leggett, membership chairman, the number of members is expected to double by that time. Newcomers interested in the club should call Mrs. Leggett, 756-5871.

Nine Greenville City school teachers, seven women and two men, are retiring from long years of teaching as the 1969-70 school year draws to a close.

—Mrs. Annette Booth Carter, for the past 15 years a teacher in the Primary Department of Elmhurst Elementary School, has spent all her 30 years of teaching in the public schools of North Carolina.

—Mrs. Edna B. Graves, teacher in English and French at Rose High School, began teaching in Pitt County in 1943. In 1946 she came to the Greenville City schools and has been here since that date, completing 28 years of teaching.

—Leslie R. Hudson, graduate of Williston High School in Wilmington, and Shaw University, Raleigh, joined the faculty of C.M. Epkes in 1945. In his years of teaching there, he taught the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades, and is retiring as an eighth grade mathematics teacher. Hudson is a member of Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church where he serves as organist.

—Miss Ruth Elizabeth Johnson, who is an alumni of the old Fifth Street School in Greenville, is a graduate of A and T State University in Greensboro. All her teaching has been in Pitt County and Greenville, where she now teaches at the Sadie Sauter Elementary School. Miss Johnson is a member of York Memorial A.M.E. Zion Church, the Eastern Star, Ladies' Delight Chapter 10, and the Merry Maids Club. She lists reading as her hobby, and plans to travel after retirement.

—Mrs. Council Kenon Marshmond, a native of Maysville, began her teaching career in Bayboro in 1931, after graduating from Elizabeth City State Teachers College. She has also attended Winston-Salem College and East Carolina University for graduate work. In 1935 Mrs. Marshmond began teaching in the Greenville schools and has been service in Epkes, Fleming Street, South Greenville, and is now with Third Street School. Mrs. Marshmond's first husband was the late Rev. Joseph Herbert

Chase, who was pastor of York Memorial Church. She has two children by this marriage, one who is a teacher in Lenoir County. A member of York Memorial Church, Mrs. Marshmond is also a member of the senior choir and pianist for the Sunday School there. After retirement, Mrs. Marshmond plans to work with young people through the church and to spend time as a volunteer at the hospital.

—Mrs. Olga B. Myers has been teaching for 38 years. She is completing her teaching services at Rose High School. All her experience as a teacher has been with the Greenville City Schools.

—Mrs. Ella Ormond Reynolds, for 15 years a teacher at Elmhurst Elementary School, is completing 30 years of teaching in the public schools of North Carolina.

—Mrs. Frances Ringgold Smith, a math teacher at Rose High School, is rounding out 43 years of teaching students as she reaches the retirement stage this school year. She began teaching in Pitt County in 1941, changing to Greenville in 1945, where she has been teaching since that date.

—Robert B. Starling, is a history teacher at Rose High School with 40 years of teaching to his credit. Starling taught for a number of years in the Durham City Schools before coming to Greenville in 1943.

CAB Orders Full Reviews

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reviews of two Civil Aeronautics Board examiner's decisions which would have granted additional air service to several Southeastern cities have been ordered by the full CAB.

The board's actions mean that the proposed new services to Columbia, S. C., and Augusta, Ga., and between St. Louis, Mo., and Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh, N. C., and Richmond, Va., will be deferred pending the restudy.

One examiner recommended Feb. 19 that Piedmont Airlines be authorized to operate between Columbia and Augusta and Washington, D. C., and New York in competition with Eastern Airlines. The other examiner recommended March 17 that Eastern be authorized to operate between St. Louis and Charlotte, Greensboro and Raleigh, and that Piedmont be allowed to serve the St. Louis-Monroe route.

Third Precinct Meet Saturday

Greenville citizens of the Third Voting Precinct will meet Saturday at 1 p.m. at Third Street School for a special business meeting.

Business includes election of officers for the 1970-72 term, Rev. B. B. Felder said. The meeting is for all registered voters in the Third Ward which includes Green Street to Moyewood, West Fifth Street to the Tar River, Fairfax, Colonial, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Contentnea, White, Ward, Vance, Ford, Nash, Cadillac, Hudson, Tyson, and Elizabeth Streets and Bonner's Lane.

Tribe To Share In OEO Grant

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eastern Band of Cherokee Indians in North Carolina will be among four Indian tribes to share in a $100,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

OEO officials announced the grant Tuesday to the United Southeastern Indian Tribes, Inc., of East Point, Ga., for technical assistance and training programs for the tribes.

The other tribes include the Seminole and Miccosukee Indians in Florida and the Mississippi Band of Choctaw Indians.

Uncertain As To Where, When Will File Suit

GREENSBORO (AP) — A lawyer for 16 small tobacco markets says he feels sure he will sue Imperial Tobacco Co. in an attempt to change its plans to withhold buyers from the market, but he is unsure of when and where.

The lawyer, Welsh Jordan of Greensboro, was retained by the markets — eight in North Carolina, six in Georgia and one each in South Carolina and Virginia — during a meeting in Wilson Monday.

A spokesman for the marketing towns, R. Frank Everett of Robersonville, said the markets hope to obtain an injunction against Imperial to force the company to place buyers on all markets.

Imperial announced that it would cut out the 16 markets in an economy move.

Will Regulate Pesticide Refill

RALEIGH (AP) — Regulations on refilling of pesticide containers have been adopted by the North Carolina Board of Agriculture, which hopes they will result in curtailing pollution from contaminated containers.

In other action as the board ended a two-day meeting Tuesday, it voted to make no changes in the state's official fertilizer grade list for the year beginning July 1.

It also rejected a proposal for an 80-pound fertilizer bag after Director John I. Moore of the division of weights and measures in the state's Department of Agriculture said additional bag sizes would cause confusion.
