Awards And Honors Presented At Rose High School Program

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

A new first was added to student achievement at Rose High School as Eric Vernon, president of the Student Government Association, became the first Rose High student ever to receive a National Honor Society Scholarship.

Vernon's was only one of many awards and honors received by boys and girls at the annual Awards Day ceremony held yesterday afternoon in the school gymnasium.

In a two hour program which featured a joint presentation of "Oh Happy Day" by the Crusaders and the Birdangles Singers, awards, scholarships, and departmental honors were presented. Some of these had previously been announced, others were first time announcements.

—Joseph Hunter, who chose an appointment to West Point, also had scholarship offers from Washington and Lee University, Davidson, Princeton, Duke, Harvard, and was a recipient of a State Bank Award.

—Katrina Jolly received the Veteran's Administration Scholarship for University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

—Tommy Durham, winner of a National Merit Scholarship, also received the East Carolina University Academic Scholarship.

Other National Merit Scholarship winners to receive a second scholarship were — Billy Armistead, Jackson Merit; and Karen Colvard, Bennington College.

—Billy Wells is recipient for the Carswell Scholarship at Wake Forest.

The following students were announced winners of scholarships, grants and awards: Linda Ebron, Kiwanis and Miss Black Greenville Scholarships; Lee Belcher, J. H. Rose Scholarship; Pattie Ann Boyd, Bryan Scholarship, Mt. Olive Junior College; Robin Burnette, Kiwanis Scholarship; Ernest Carraway, State Bank Award; Evelyn Cohens, Scholarship and grant to Bennett College; Marsha Craft, N. C. Reject Abortion Law Proposals

By BILL QUICK

Methodists overwhelmingly refused to request a liberalization of abortion laws in action Thursday morning at the Annual Conference in Jarvis Memorial Church.

The motion offered by the Board of Christian Social Concerns asked "states to remove the regulation of abortion from their criminal codes, placing them instead under regulations relating to other procedures of standard medical practice." Abortion, under the proposal, would "be available only upon the request of the person most directly concerned."

Viewpoints both in favor and against were emotionally argued and the Rev. Langill Watson of Chapel Hill opposed the liberalization effort. Watson said, "People across this state are experiencing a holy hell due to the abuse of this law."

Watson is pastor of University Methodist Church and told the conference "I have counseled with young women who've aborted under the law and all six experience holy hell. Some will carry the marks as long as they live."

The report was presented by the Rev. Charles Michael Smith of Durham, former pastor of Holy Trinity Methodist Church in Greenville. Smith told delegates, "Most types of contraception are means of abortion."

Bishop Cannon closed the debate saying, "We've heard from all except the ladies and this may be too delicate an issue," and the deletion regarding abortion was approved.

Delegates did approve a statement which put the conference on record as opposing liquor by the drink. A motion offered by the Rev. W. C. Teachey of Clinton was accepted by the Social Concerns committee.

In other action the delegates voted to send a telegram to President Nixon offering prayers that God will grant him wisdom as he leads the nation in the Indo-China conflict and national crises.

Statistical reports were given by the Rev. D. D. Traynham of Rockingham. The unofficial report shows that Methodists

Citizens Advisory Council Endorses CBD Plan, Tax Referendum

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Two resolutions were unanimously adopted by members of Greenville's Citizens Advisory Council at a meeting held in the city hall last night.

The first resolution reiterated the position of the council in that it supports the Central Business District project as approved by the City Council.

The second resolution pertained to the June 27 tax referendum, in which the motion was made that members support levying an additional tax supplement for the Greenville City School District in order to raise funds needed to cover operating expenses within the city school budget.

Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr., Hoover E. Taft, Jr., A E Dubber, City Manager Harry Hagerty, City Councilman Percy Cox and others were on hand at the meeting, presided over by William Glidewell, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Council.

Taft was the first to present his views on the CBD project. "I'm deeply interested in this project," Taft said, "it's one of the most exciting things ever to happen in Greenville."

In his statements, Taft pointed out "property values in the downtown area are declining, this is reflected in tax valuations. The successful completion of this project will build up the valuation, in turn adding more money to the city treasury."

"It's important for people to understand the name of the game is credits. Street and utilities improvements must be made whether the CBD is approved or not."

Taft warned: "If the project fails, it would do irreparable damage to our relations with the federal government — this is an important point to remember. Already thousands of dollars have been spent. If we scotch this, there will be little chance of getting assistance a next time."

He also noted that the "law prohibits the use of any ad valorem tax money to finance this project."

Mayor Wooten, appearing at the invitation of the council, stated: "We operate under law. This project is authorized under acts passed by the General Assembly of North Carolina.

"The Redevelopment Act of North Carolina spells out several things that must be done before the program can be carried out," Mayor Wooten commented.

"I have questioned, and my advisors have advised me, that some acts taken by the Redevelopment Commission and the city do not comply with the statutes."

"The procedure I have taken," Mayor Wooten said, "is designed entirely to decide whether the statutes have been complied with. If the law has been complied with, the court will not restrain the project . . . if not, the proponents can correct any errors and then proceed."

Mayor Wooten touched on what he calls two points — the first relating to a requirement that "half the buildings in the project area must be . . . unsafe and hazardous to life." I don't believe half the buildings in the proposed area are unsafe and hazardous to life," the mayor commented. The second point he stressed dealt with obligations for financing the project.

"By law," he remarked, "city or any governmental agency cannot incur obligations in the future without the vote of people. The present City Council cannot create obligations unless passed by the majority of voters." He added: "If the majority of the citizens want to commit themselves to future revenues, then get them to vote and pass it."

Dubber, Executive Director of the Redevelopment Commission, during a question and answer period, noted "over - simplification can be dangerous. The law does not say that one - half the buildings have to be dangerous. Based on reports compiled by experts in a survey conducted, the Planning and Zoning Commission based their findings on the facts of the survey."

"The Planning and Zoning determined that many buildings will become dangerous if action is not taken," Dubber commented.

He also mentioned that all records on the findings are on file and available to the

Objectives Accomplished

Cambodia Operation Big Success: Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Proclaiming "all our major military objectives" accomplished, President Nixon says U.S. forces will be completely withdrawn from Cambodia by June 30 and 50,000 more American troops will be pulled out of Vietnam by Oct. 15.

"I can now state that this has been the most successful operation of this long and difficult war," Nixon told the nation Wednesday night in a broadcast speech on the month-old campaign to destroy North Vietnamese bases and war supplies on Cambodian territory.

He pictured his critics—who accused him of widening and prolonging the war when he announced the operation April 30—as being proved completely wrong.

The President reported that 17,000 of the 31,000 U.S. troops sent into Cambodia have been withdrawn already and the remaining 14,000 will be out by the end of the month. U.S. air and logistics support and military advisers—serving with South Vietnam's 43,000-man force—also will be removed by the deadline, he said.

After July 1, Nixon said, U.S. planes will strike at enemy troop movements and bases in Cambodia if he decides such action is necessary to protect American troops in neighboring South Vietnam. But that will be the only continuing American military activity involving Cambodia, he said.

He left open the question of when South Vietnamese troops will be withdrawn.

Nixon's Oct. 15 target date for pulling 50,000 more troops out of Vietnam indicated he plans to follow a slower timetable in withdrawals during the six months that began April 20 than in the six months between mid-October and mid-April next year.

Last April 20 he announced removal of 150,000 troops over the next 12 months. At an even withdrawal rate he would have taken out 75,000 by mid-October. But when the Cambodian operation was started withdrawals from Vietnam stopped, presumably because of the uncertainties of enemy counter-action.

Showing films of material taken from the enemy—guns, ammunition, rice—to illustrate his report on achievements of the highly controversial Cambodian strike, Nixon reported the capture of more than 10 million rounds of ammunition, 15,000 rifles and machine guns, 2,000 heavy weapons with 90 thousand rounds of ammunition for them, and 11 million pounds of rice.

Supports Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has set price support loan rates for individual grades of 1970-crop flue-cured tobacco ranging from 37 to 92 cents a pound for untied leaf.

Officials said the average support will be 66.6 cents per pound, or about 4.3 per cent more than in 1969. Increases ranged from one to six cents per pound, with an average of about 2.6 cents from last year.

The support price increases were not uniformly distributed among the grades. The largest boosts went to grades which last year were in largest market demand.

For example, grades C.X and P were hiked between two and five cents per pound, while grade B was increased about two cents.

Over-all, the 1970 supports ranged between 37 cents for grade N1GG to 92 cents for grade A1F. Supports for tied tobacco will be three cents per pound more for each grade than for untied, the department said. Flue-cured tobacco is grown in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia.

New Tremor Shakes Lima

By ISAAC LEVI

Associated Press Writer

LIMA, Peru (AP) — A strong earth tremor shook Lima Wednesday night as the U.S. and Peruvian air forces marshaled helicopters, rescue workers and workmen for the quake-devastated Huaylas Canyon 200 miles to the north. There were no immediate reports of damage or loss of life from the new tremor, which appeared to be one of the aftershocks that follow a major earthquake. The University of California seismographs at Berkeley registered the tremor at 5.6 on the Richter scale; Sunday's quake in which as many as 30,000 are feared to have died registered 7.0 at Berkeley.

With the floor of the Huaylas Canyon covered by a sea of rock, snow, mud and water and roads into the Andean valley blocked at numerous points, helicopters and parachutes were the only means of speedy transport to the dozens of settlements there.

Two U.S. helicopters flew over the 80-mile-long canyon Wednesday and landed a doctor and two medical assistants near the town of Yungay, where 2,500 survivors were spotted huddled on a stretch of higher ground, surrounded by mud. Officials said they had taken refuge in a cemetery.

The helicopter pilots reported all landing strips in the canyon unusable, and the Peruvians dropped 114 paratroopers into the ruined town of Huaraz to repair its runway. The U.S. Air Force planned to move its rescue mission today from Chimbote, the wrecked fishing city at the canyon's mouth, to Huaraz. Medical personnel and 10 tons of medicine were to be lifted to Huaraz today also.

Refugees, injured and dazed, trickled into Chimbote, on foot or muleback, some carried by friends or relatives.

Most were being evacuated to Lima by a round-the-clock "air bridge" of 20 transport planes.

Chimbote's one modern hospital was partly wrecked in the quake, and its operating theater was polluted by water seeping up from cracks in the floor. In the hospital chapel bodies were laid in neat rows in front of the altar.

Aid from 11 nations and a variety of international organizations began to arrive in Lima. Shipments of medicine were crucial to combat the threat of typhoid, tetanus and other diseases.

At A Glance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are key points from President Nixon's progress report Wednesday night on U.S. operations in Cambodia:

Immediate Results

He said the Cambodian move has been "the most successful operation of this long and difficult war," that more enemy war material was captured and fewer allied casualties suffered than expected.

Long-Range Effect

Nixon said that while eliminating imminent dangers to remaining Americans in Vietnam, "We have won precious time for the South Vietnamese to train and prepare themselves to carry the burden of their national defense."

U.S. Withdrawal

Nixon said the success of the operation has guaranteed that his June 30 deadline for withdrawal of all American troops from Cambodia will be met with some 17,000 of 31,000 Americans already out.

Further Cambodian Action
Nixon said that after July 1 there would be U.S. air missions in Cambodia "where I find this is necessary to protect the lives and security of our forces in South Vietnam."

As for the future actions of the South Vietnamese in Cambodia, the President said their leaders have indicated that depends upon "the actions of the enemy."

Vietnam's Performance
"Splendid," said Nixon. "Sixty per cent of all the troops in the Cambodian operations were South Vietnamese," and their fighting spirit and skill "far exceeded expectations."

On Criticism
Nixon said he understands "the deep divisions" in the nation over the war, and while he has a responsibility to listen to his critics "I also have a solemn obligation to make the hard decisions."

Unfulfilled Promise
Nixon noted he had promised to end the war and "I shall keep that promise. But I am determined to end the war in a way that will promote peace rather than conflict throughout the world."

Another Chance To Register For Vote

Registration books will be open for persons wishing to register to vote in the Greenville City School District special election Saturday and next week.

According to I. Bruce Koonce, supervisor of the special election, registration books will be open Saturday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the two designated voting precincts, at Elm Street Park gymnasium and at Third Street School. The books will also be opened from Monday through Saturday of next week — June 8-13—from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. at each of the two polling places for registration of persons wishing to vote in the June 27 election.

According to Koonce, requirements for voting in the special school district election are simple. The person must be an established resident within the boundaries of the Greenville City School District and must be 21 years of age.

There are about 12,000 potential voters in the district, Koonce said. Only 368 persons registered last Saturday for the special election, the first day registration books were opened.

The election is on the question of whether to raise the 25-cents per $100 valuation special district school levy ceiling now in effect in the city school district to a maximum of 50-cents per $100.

Deaton-Bailey Vows Said Handicapped Can In Ceremony On Sunday Lead Useful Lives

Miss Dianne Marie Bailey became the bride of Thomas Neil Deaton Jr. in a double ring ceremony in Jarvis Methodist Chapel Sunday at two o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. Joyce Early officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Hassell H. Bailey of Greenville and Mrs. Charles Chandler of Colorado Springs, Colo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Neal Deaton of Warsaw.

The altar was complimented with two standards of emerald greenery in the background and pyramidal candelabra with bouquets of white mums and lilies. At the altar was a profile prie-dieu where the vows were taken and the couple knelt for closing prayer and benediction.

The bride carried a cascade of phalaenopsis orchids. The maid of honor carried mixed spring flowers accented with blue corn flowers. Both mothers and grandmother wore white cymbidium orchid corsages.

A program of traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Paul Toll, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of peau de soie taffeta trimmed with alencon lace appliques and embroidered with seed pearls. Her full length veil was trimmed with alencon lace and extended into a chapel train.

Miss Sandra Reeves Pope of Atlanta, Ga., was maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of yellow silk organza trimmed in moss green velvet with matching headpiece.

MRS. THOMAS NEIL DEATON JR.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. The ushers were Frank Clifton, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and Dan Sutton of Warsaw.

The bride is a graduate of Junius H. Rose High School and attended East Carolina University. The bridegroom is also attending East Carolina University.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the ladies parlor of the church. The refreshment table was covered with a white satin table cloth, centered with an arrangement of white carnations, larkspur, and baby's breath in a five branched silver candelabra. The punch bowl was encircled with greenery.

The couple cut the traditional wedding cake, which was served by Mrs. John C. Patrick and Mrs. Barbara Thomas. Punch was poured by Mrs. Fred Monroe.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride changed into a dress and matching coat of white cotton organza with yellow embroidery and matching accessories. She wore an orchid corsage lifted from her bridal bouquet.

After the summer, the couple will reside in Greenville where they will continue their education at East Carolina University.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote to you a while back saying he had had polio as a child and was left with a limp. He complained that he couldn't dance or participate in sports—that life had dealt him a dirty deal. This hit pretty close to home, as I, too, had polio when I was a child. I lived in an iron lung for 7 months, and was left with more than a "limp," but that's where the similarity ends, as I am not complaining.

It's easy to sit back and say, "Life dealt me a dirty deal . . . I don't have a chance, I'm handicapped." That's just not true. I fought my way back with guts, therapy and faith in God. My advice to handicapped people is to do the best you can with what you have left. Don't feel sorry for yourself. The sooner you quit thinking of yourself as "handicapped" the sooner others will.

Of course there are many things I can't do, but there are still plenty of things I CAN do. I can SEE, and I can THINK, and I can make myself understood!

I honestly believe that I am a better person for having had to bear this extra burden. It has made me try a little harder, and it has helped me to understand the problems of others.

I am a grandfather now, and I thank God I didn't just sit back and say, "I can't do that—I'm handicapped, you know!" What a lot of living I would have missed.

FOUGHT—AND WON

DEAR WON: I'll tell the world you did! And you're a winner in my book.

DEAR ABBY: I think I saw a woman yesterday in Chicago wearing a button which said, "KISS ME, I'M POLISH." Could I have been mistaken? HERMAN

DEAR HERMAN: Yes. It could have been Milwaukee.

DEAR ABBY: The men in our family are faced with a problem. My mother feels we should stand up when a lady enters the room. She says it's good manners. My brothers and I feel it is completely unnecessary and should be abolished.

Do you agree or disagree? If you disagree with us, could you please tell us why a man should stand up when a lady enters the room and why it was ever started?

ROBERT [age 15]

DEAR ROBERT: It was probably started as a way of offering a lady her preference of a place to sit. It's a small [but I think, important] courtesy and enables the lady to identify a gentleman.

DEAR ABBY: I want very much to remember someone [a very wonderful woman] in my will, but it presents a problem. People [her family as well as mine] will wonder "why?" Is there some way of remembering her "privately" so it will not be known? I do not want to embarrass her, but she deserves to be remembered. NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Talk to your lawyer. It may be wise to "remember" her now.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Bride-Elect Entertained

Miss Jane Buschman, bride-elect of June 6, was honored at a linen shower on Wednesday evening.

The event was held at the home of Mrs. Marvin Riddle. Assisting hostess was Mrs. Lyman Edwards.

Upon arrival, Miss Buschman was presented a white orchid to compliment her red linen dress.

The refreshment table was covered with a white lace-edged linen cloth centered with red velvet roses and white burning tapers. Mrs. Lyman Edwards poured punch and Mrs. Raymond Reel, mother of the bridegroom-elect, served the cake, which was in the shape of two wedding bells.

The honoree was presented a blue woven bedspread by the hostesses. Also remembered as a special guest was Mrs. Marvin Eugene Riddle III, bride of May 2. She was remembered by the hostesses with a corsage of pink rosebuds and a gift of linen.

Miss Veronica Dupree Weds Herbert Newton Jr. Saturday

FOUNTAIN — The Reid Chapel Baptist Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Miss Veronica Faye Dupree, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mance Dupree of Fountain, and Herbert Newton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Newton of Fountain.

The Rev. George Smith officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. E.W. Arrington, organist and directress.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a gown of satin designed with an empire waist applied with peau d'ange lace and reembroidered in seed pearls. The sleeves were slim cuffed with satin buttons and calla points over the hands. The skirt was long with a detachable chapel train with reembroidered lace and wedding band neckline. Her elbow length veil of silk illusion was attached to a demit of scalloped pearl petals and leaves with sequins. She carried a white lace - covered Bible centered with a white hybrid orchid and garlands of white carnations showered with bridal ribbons.

Miss Sandra Winder, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Rogers and Miss Carlotta Vines of Farmville, Miss Olivia Davis of Wadesboro and Miss Rowena Newton, sister of the bridegroom, of Fountain.

Her attendants were attired in floor length gowns of mint green and canary yellow, with wedding hand necklines and elbow length flared sleeves, with embroidery below the bust with a tiny bow and streamers. Their headpieces were satin bows with embroidery and matching illusion attached.

The flower girl was Sonya Hyman, cousin of the bride. She wore a white gown similar to the bridesmaids and carried a white basket with yellow carnations and with rose petals. Darrell Butler, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow with a spray of white carnations.

Mitchell Newton of Fountain served his cousin as bestman. Ushers were Larry Newton, brother of the bridegroom, Ricky Gay, the bride's brother, Garfield Brown, Avon Morgan, cousin of the bridegroom, Michael Reid and Gregory Ward.

The bride's mother wore a pink lace dress with three - quarter length lace matching coat. The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of lime green knit. Both mothers and grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations.

The church was centered with a semi-circle brass candelabra holding yellow candles. Each side was enhanced with a brass spiral candelabra holding cathedral candles with arrangements of yellow gladioli with bakers fern. The pulpit held two candles used for the candle ceremony. The Bridal couple knelt for prayer on a white wrought iron prie-dieu.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding, the bride's parents and grandparents entertained at a reception in the North Fountain School gymnasium.

The bride's table held with a three-tiered wedding cake and a bouquet of yellow gladioli.

Assisting with registering and serving were Mrs. Martha Gay, Mrs. Mary L. Gohorn, Mrs. Meneria Rodges, Miss Elnear Gohorn, Mrs. Joyce Williams and Mrs. Joyce Byrd.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points. The bride changed into an orange coat-dress with white accessories. She wore a white orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

Overrun On Truck Cost Overshadows C5 Case

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army's Gama Goat Truck, at test cost $370 million more expensive than the original $69 million estimate, has gotten scant attention in the billion dollar overrun controversies over such projects as the C5 super transport.

Approximately 85 per cent of the vehicles are produced in Charlotte, N.C.

Still, Sen. William Proxmire says the Gama Goat is one of "the strangest cases ever to come before this committee." That is, the Wisconsin Democrat's joint economic subcommittee, which is at the eye of overrun controversies.

Elmer B. Staats, U.S. comptroller general and head of the watchdog Government Accounting Office, says the Gama Goat "is a prominent example of buying something before you know what you really want."

A bench mark in the six-year-plus history of the radically different vehicle was its design by Ling-Temco-Vaugh. The Army was presented with the design, which it then used as the basis for competitive bidding. LTV won. Proxmire and his staff doubt there could have been any genuine competition.

From there the Gama Goat fell three years behind schedule, went from its original prototype size, little larger than a jeep, to a 7.5-ton vehicle, roughly the weight of the largest general use truck in Army service, and jumped from a $69 million project to $439 million.

The original $69 million was only an estimate, the Army says. On the basis of this figure, says Proxmire, who constantly plugs for more rigorous and accurate cost projections, there has been a 93 per cent unit cost hike, or overrun. The Army says once development was completed, the individual truck cost has only gone up 8 per cent.

Army spokesmen defend the doubling of unit price saying it was treading new ground, asking for a unique overland truck with six wheels in two box-like sections connected by an "articulating joint" which gives with the terrain. It's supposed to go 55 m.p.h. swim and survive parachute drops as well.

Chevron Oil Pleads Innocent To Counts

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Chevron Oil Co. has pleaded innocent to federal charges involving massive pollution of waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

"Chevron pleads not guilty to each of the 900 counts of the indictment," attorney Lawrence Benson said Wednesday at a brief arraignment in U.S. District Court.

It was the first case of its kind and Asst. U.S. Atty. Julian Murray told the court it may get into "a new field of law" before it's over.

Judge Alvin B. Rubin gave Benson 60 days in which to prepare defense motions on the charges that Chevron failed to equip 90 of its offshore wells with safety devices.

The judge set June 17 for hearing of Benson's motion for permission to read the secret record of the grand jury which indicted the firm.

On Feb. 10, a cluster of Chevron's offshore wells blew wild at a control platform 30 miles off the Louisiana coast, southeast of New Orleans.

Thousands of barrels of oil spewed into the Gulf before the last well was capped March 31.

The indictment was the first under the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act of 1953.

Each day of the violation cited was a separate offense carrying a maximum fine of $2,000—a possible total of $1.8 million.

Boilermakers Back To Work

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Boilermakers at Queensboro Steel Co. of Wilmington have returned to work, ending a six-day strike.

Tom Avery, vice president of Queensboro, said the workers returned Wednesday morning. He said the strike and subsequent picketing was caused by a "misunderstanding."

The strike tied up activities at the State Ports Authority docks for most of a day last week when longshoremen honored picket lines set up at the main SPA gate. Queensboro's fabricating facility is inside the gate.

The strike was called by Local 903 of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, which accused the company of breaking hiring and wage portions of their contract.

Concrete Plants Workers Strike

RALEIGH (AP) — Workers at Adams Concrete Products Co. plants at Raleigh and six other points in eastern North Carolina continued on strike today.

The 13 workers at the Raleigh plant who went on strike Monday said they were seeking higher wages. They said the present pay scale is $1.65 to $1.95 an hour.

The workers said the other plants are at Fuquay - Varina, Durham, Kinston and Fayetteville. Fred Adams, owner of the Raleigh plant, refused to discuss the strike except to say operations are 95 per cent of normal at the Raleigh facility.

Southern Baptists Ban Volumes

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

DENVER (AP) — A decision by the Southern Baptist Convention to ban a scholarly book of Biblical analysis was expected today to cause anguished reactions in denominational academic circles.

"It will seriously cripple our efforts toward creditable scholarship," said the Rev. Dr. Charles Trentham, a Knoxville, Tenn., pastor and dean of the school of religion at the University of Tennessee.

The action came in a turbulent session of the massed assembly of 13,330 church people Wednesday, and remained a topic of keen discussion as the convention neared its close.

"It's bound to drive a terrible wedge between the convention and thinking young pastors and seminarians," said Jack Harwell of Atlanta, editor of the Georgia Baptist newspaper the Christian Index.

The overwhelming vote was to suppress Volume I of a projected 12-volume set, the Broadman Bible Commentary, being issued by the denomination's publishing arm. The volume deals with the books of Genesis and Exodus.

It was the first such definite censorship of a book produced under church auspices in Baptist history, officials said.

Sparked by a motion by the Rev. Gwin Turner of Los Angeles, convention delegates assailed the volume as a "denial of the word of God," an attack on the Bible's infallibility and contrary to beliefs of most Southern Baptists.

"When the Bible says so and so happened, we ought to preach it just like that—take it as it is," said evangelist Gray Allison of Ruston, La.

Singled out for particular criticism were the volume's presentation of Adam and Eve as representative, or symbolic, of mankind's beginnings, and its explanation of the documentary thesis that several authors, not Moses alone, produced the first five books of the Old Testament.

These concepts are common among Biblical scholars both Protestant and Roman Catholic.

Objections also were raised to the volume's questioning whether the flood of Noah's time literally covered the earth, and the inclusion of the view—among other views—that God did not actually tell Abraham to sacrifice his son, Isaac, but that Abraham only thought so, later realizing otherwise.

The Rev. Glennon Culwell of Santa Cruz, Calif., said the volume uses terms such as "myth and fancy" for some passages and "tears the heart out of the word of God."

Observers said that the western site of the convention, drawing a heavy proportion of delegates, or "messengers," from the West, where Southern Baptists generally are more conservative than in the older, settled Southeast, figured strongly in the outcome.

Offer $1 Million In N.Y. Lottery

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A top prize of $1 million will be offered in a New York State special summer lottery to be announced next week.

Capital sources said sales of chances would be spread over three months and the tickets would sell for $3 apiece.

New York also has a regular monthly lottery which offers a top prize of $100,000 for a $1 ticket. The state's profit goes to education.

The million-dollar winner will be allowed to collect installments spread over several years to minimize the income tax bite.

Good Lay Leaders Will Prevail

The Methodist Church has always been a strong and vibrant force in North Carolina and the annual conference being held here gives an indication that the United Methodist are still most active.

At the opening meeting Tuesday Dr. Leo Jenkins pointed out that a century ago, "not a single businessman of the community was a member of any church . . . Methodist or otherwise."

Now, he said, "Methodism penetrates every facet of community life and . . . is a potent force in Greenville."

Wednesday former governor Terry Sanford, now president of Duke University, challenged the Methodist to support their colleges. If this is not done, he continued, the state may take them over

Too Much Bulk In Government

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — Governor Bob Scott expects to go out of office with little or no personal contact with all of the heads of state agencies, boards and commissions who are required by law to report directly to him.

The governor shared this rather bleak prospect recently with members of the Governor's Committee on Reorganization of State Government, a group has appointed to attempt to make it possible for his successor to do so.

The point is not that Scott and his predecessors have been lax in attending to their duties. It is that the structure of state government has grown too cumbersome for efficient management.

There are today 317 administrative units of state government reporting to the governor. "If I saw one a day, excluding Sundays, I wouldn't get around to all of them in a year," Scott pointed out.

Lack of effective executive control is one aspect of the problem; costly duplication of services without adequate coordination is another. The State Government Reorganization Study, directed by State Sen. John T. Henley of Cumberland, to lay the foundation for the Committee's work, has estimated that savings in tax dollars of approximately $50 million annually could be realized through reorganization.

The current push for reorganization had its genesis in the 1969 General Assembly. Unanimous approval was given to a proposed constitutional amendment which would place the General Assembly under mandate to reduce state administrative departments to 25 or fewer, and authorize the Governor to reorganize administrative departments accordingly subject to legislative approval.

Governor Scott and three former governors — Luther Hodges, Terry Sanford and Dan K. Moore — all supported the move.

Since the General Assembly's action, the reorganization study has been completed and a preliminary blueprint drafted, and the 50-member Committee has been appointed and put to work. A full-time staff, headed by Mercer M. Doty as director, is functioning to assist the Committee in reaching final recommendations.

The study proposal would place existing administrative units in one of 20 departments according to basic functions. Eight of these comprise the elected members of the Council of State and their departments: Attorney General, Agriculture, Auditor, Insurance, Labor, Public Instruction, Secretary of State and Treasurer.

The 12 remaining departments suggested are: Administration, Consumer Affairs, Correction, Cultural and Historical Affairs, Economic Development, Higher Education, Human Affairs, Local Affairs, Military Affairs, Natural Resources, Revenue, Transportation and Safety.

Each would be headed by a cabinet-level officer reporting to the governor.

Henley, who is continuing his reorganization efforts as chairman of the committee, is optimistic for ultimate success. "I am encouraged by the cooperation we have had from state agencies and others," he said. "The knowledge we have gained has shown the need for what we are trying to do."

There is no inclination to ask the Committee simply to rubber-stamp the study findings. On the contrary, Henley emphasized, the Committee is expected to have a creative role in putting together the final recommendations which will be submitted to Governor Scott and the 1971 General Assembly.

"I am not wedded to the particular plan which has been developed. I feel that it is feasible and workable, but its purpose is simply to provide a starting point for the Committee," he said.

Once a reorganization scheme has been worked out, the case will be taken to the people with a public information program designed to win approval of the enabling Constitutional amendment in the November election.

One possible snag is the status of higher education under reorganization. Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan has ruled that it must embrace boards of trustees of state-supported institutions of higher education. Alarm has been expressed at the possible political repercussions this might set off.

Henley said this angle is being studied, and he is confident a way can be found around it.

Once a decision is made the categories for administrative units, there must be a sifting and sorting to determine where each unit should fit — or whether it should be abolished. Governor Scott cautioned the committee that it can look for opposition at this point. The instinct for survival in agencies, as well as humans, is strong, he noted.

"and turn them into trade schools."

"What do you think John Wesley (founder of Methodism) would think of that?"

He said, speaking of the Methodist Colleges, "You created them and they cannot survive without you."

Sanford wasn't referring to Duke which has other means of support but to the other Methodist Colleges in the state which draw their support from the church.

Somehow, as long as the United Methodist Church has such dynamic lay leadership as Dr. Jenkins and President Sanford, we don't feel the church will neglect its colleges.

It strikes us that Methodism, in this conference at least, is very lively indeed. Its influence will begin to wane only when outstanding men and ordinary members cease to lend their full efforts to its support. It is obvious from the conference now underway in Greenville that this hasn't happened. North Carolina is better off because of this.

Russia Has Not Given Up Its Space Program

The fact that the Soviets have put two cosmonauts in orbit this week is an indication that they have not given up their space program.

It has been eight months since a Russian manned space flight was made, but another one was launched Monday night.

The objectives of this mission, as with previous Soviet missions, is not clear. However, the launch was successful and it is proof enough that Russia intends to continue its space program.

Students Get Conduct Credit

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The legions of young people who came to Capitol Hill in the wake of the U.S. attack into Cambodia to lobby for peace have won praise from congressmen for their performance, but it will take roll calls on key antiwar measures to calculate their conquests, if any.

An Associated Press survey shows most senators and representatives on both sides of the Indochina issue credited the students at least for their conduct.

As for their goal of gaining powerful new allies, the most encouraging word for the students came from one of their most enthusiastic backers, Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif. Cranston claims at least two senators, after visits by the youths, switched and now favor an amendment to restrict future U.S. involvement in Cambodia. He declined to name the senators.

However, most other senators and congressmen agree the young lobbyists' impact can't really be determined until the votes are counted.

According to many of those who listened to the voices of hundreds—some estimate thousands—of young, it was a generally peaceful exercise in communication, although not all the congressmen liked what they heard.

"Some were on a lark," said Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., a Nixon war policy critic and supporter of the youthful campaign, "but most of them were very serious kids with lots of dedication. They're clean-cut, good-looking youngsters."

However, Rep. John R. Rarick, D-La., who supports President Nixon on Vietnam, said he met with young people here and in his home state and found "no matter what you tell them, unless you agree completely with them, they are never satisfied."

"I think some of them hurt themselves by their demands," he added. "There has been some backlash but it is hard to estimate how much."

On the other hand, Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said: "I thought they were more effective than any similar action that we've ever had before."

"I tried to impress on them," he continued, "that taking part in politics is more important than demonstrating. I expect they will be more politically active this fall."

To The Editor:

I would like to thank you for the article "Mother's Milk Is Best" in the Sunday paper May 17th.

I am a leader of the New Bern - Havelock La Teche League, Int. a group of mothers around the world dedicated to helping women discover the joys of "The Womanly Art of Breast-feeding."

I have been working closely with Mrs. Richard Stevens in Greenville.

I was very pleased to read that the warning button against breast milk was not used locally. I cannot say enough about the benefits of breast milk to infants and children. It definitely far outweighs the harmful effects of DDT. Especially since by breastfeeding you delay the addition of other foods enough to delay adding more DDT into the babies systems.

Thank you again. If you would like any more information on La Teche League please feel free to contact me.

Strength For Today

MANKIND

The difference between the physical world and the spiritual world is so stupendous that we can only, with our limited powers, recognize that there is a difference without being in the least able to analyze it. Likewise there is a difference between God and man which is so vast and essential that we can only stand in awe and amazement as we contemplate them both.

We have never, of course, seen God. The Biblical statement is: "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18).

The Bible constitutes the disclosure of an amazing fact, namely, that the perfect God, Who is altogether powerful and righteous, permits man to disobey Him, and returns this defiance not with equal rebuff and punishment but with love. God could, if it suited his divine purpose, wipe out of existence the creatures who through the ages have continually sinned and come short of his glory.

God put in man — among all his creatures — a capacity to have some understanding of his Creator and to look up to Him in adoration and without fear. Animals are driven by instinct to do certain things in a certain way. Man is different from the rest of God's creation. God has endowed this creature, man, with something which puts him, as it were, on terms of understanding with his Creator.

Man is superb in his stature and greatness. He may appear inconsequential, but this is only in appearance. "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be" (I John 3:2).

Genocide Afterthoughts

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee still is sitting on the long-pending Genocide Convention, but out in the liberal jungles the natives are getting restless. The Washington Post finds the Senate's failure to ratify the treaty an "unsightly stain on the good name" of the U.S.A. The American Civil Liberties Union is clamoring for action.

Under the circumstances, it may be no bad idea to look squarely at this proposition. The proposed treaty has to be regarded as one of two things: It is either a serious act, having substantive meaning as a matter of law, or it is a mere gesture having no real meaning whatever. The predominant arguments, if I read them correctly, are that the treaty is merely a gesture. Seventy-five nations have ratified the Convention in the twenty years since the United Nations first took action. By failing to go along with the crowd, the Senate is bringing needless shame upon the nation. Besides, no one has been prosecuted anywhere for genocide; so why worry?

The morning Post views lawyerly objections to the Convention as silly and absurd. Critics are merely "conjuring up a host of hobgoblins." They are submitting a grabbing of bugaboos." The purpose of the treaty, says the Post, is simply "to place this country where it belongs, in the ranks of those seeking to safeguard basic human rights throughout the world."

Now, some of us might have supposed that the United States of America already stands well in the vanguard of nations seeking to safeguard basic human rights. The record is flawed, to be sure; it is far from perfect; but these things are relative. What have the Russians done for human rights lately?

For those of us who still take the Constitution seriously, it is the first alternative that carries weight. A treaty is no paper resolution, expressing the sense of the Senate. At the moment of ratification, a treaty becomes by definition a part of the supreme law of our land. If this convention is to be considered as a sober, substantive act, every word of the proposition merits the same critical study that would be given a proposed amendment of the Constitution.

In such an examination, the Post is not much help. "Genocide, as defined in the convention," the Post tells us, "consists of the deliberate and systematic extermination of an ethnic or religious group." The mind boggles. Perhaps the Post is thinking of some other convention, for such words as "systematic" and "extermination" appear nowhere in the document at hand.

We find, rather, a congeries of words and phrases having a most uncertain meaning in terms of international law. Under the convention, the crime of genocide involves certain acts committed with intent (and there is a nice slippery word for you) to destroy in whole or in part (we may pause to meditate upon "in part"), a national, ethnical, racial or religious group.

One of the forbidden acts is "causing serious bodily or mental harm to members of the group." Either "mental harm" means something, or it means nothing. It means, (Continued on page 5)

Tricks At The Office

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — One of the common complaints of people who live in big cities is that they have trouble getting good fresh summer vegetables.

Those available at the store are often force-ripened, tired tasting, or limp from too much refrigeration. Lacking is the tangy backyard taste of home-grown vegetables.

There is a way, however, you can live in the city and get all the fresh vegetables you want at no cost whatsoever. All you have to do is play on the vanity of suburban gardeners.

Let us say that you have three office friends who commute daily to work and have backyard gardens at their homes. They are named Tom, Dick and Harry.

Here's what you do: Early in the season you go up to Tom and say: "I'm sorry to hear about your tough luck."

"What tough luck?" he asks. "About your radish crop. Dick and Harry told me the flugel-bugs got them all."

"What the devil do Dick and Harry know about gardening?" demands Tom. "I never had better radishes in my life."

The next day he brings you in a double armload of radishes to prove his point.

After you have eaten them, you go to Dick and with a long face seek to sympathize with him about the disaster that happened to his green onions.

"I hear the pango worms got what the rabbits didn't," you say. "Tom and Harry told me about it."

The next morning Dick overwhelms you with a 16-pound bag of green onions and an hour-long denunciation of Tom and Harry for being chronic liars.

When you weary of green onions, you simply go to Harry and tell him its a real shame what Dick and Tom just told you—that a horde of Tibetan beetles wrecked his green beans because he forgot to spray.

This supposed criticism by his rivals makes Harry so frantic that overnight he strips his garden of green beans and shows up at your desk with a pushcart full of them.

So it goes. You keep playing Tom, Dick and Harry against each other, and all summer long your table is inundated with a quality of cauliflower, lettuce, cucumbers, squashes, watermelons and corn on the cob that money can't buy in the city.

You'd think they'd get wise to your little game, but they never do—because you've got them so piqued they aren't speaking to each other. If one of them actually does have a bad crop, say of beefsteak tomatoes, he'll scour the farms in outlying areas to buy some better ones, and palm them off on you as his own. He'll do anything rather than let you think his green thumb has turned rusty.

Of course, if you're the greedy type and there are 10 suburban gardeners in your office, you can play them all off against each other. That way you can get enough free vegetables for your wife to set up an orange crate stand in your front yard and sell them to passers-by.

But that would be carrying a good thing too far.

Too Much Business Reading

By ELMER ROESSNER
American business management is being slowed down, sometimes to a crawl, by too much reading matter.

A successful, dynamic executive of course reads Fortune, Business Week, one of the news weeklies, the leading trade paper in his field, the number two trade paper, an evening newspaper, a morning newspaper, the Wall Street Journal, the newsletter or magazine of his industrial association, one or two insider newsletters and, of course, this column.

That's only the start. There are salesmen's report, ideas from the suggestion box, notes from his superiors, memos by his subordinates, expense accounts of those reporting to him, annual reports of his competitors, an occasional book offering new ideas, daily, weekly and monthly reports of his accounting department, letters from stockholders, and a million or so words a week in inter-company correspondence.

Obviously, the only time he has left to make decisions is while shaving in the morning. Long A Serious Problem

Some executives may skip some of those chores. But at H. Bruce Palmer, president of the National Industrial Conference Board, wrote: "Executives do have too much to read and, as I recall, that has always been true. Every manager I have known complains that time is too short and memos, letters, articles and reports are all too long. It is not surprising there has been an increase in courses designed to teach the busy businessman to read faster."

Many executives are compulsive readers through fear. They are afraid if they don't read everything available, they may miss an idea, they may fall behind competitors, they may find themselves regarded as stupid.

During the depressed thirties, a bright young

Chicagoan could not find a job. He bought a collection of trade magazines, wrote one-paragraph condensations of the important articles, had them duplicated and called on busy executives offering condensations as a regular service.

He got enough orders to provide a good income and, expanding on his idea, developed a series of newsletters in many fields, offering some of them to corporations for publication under their own names, and adding other publications, promotion aids and a business news service.

A year ago William H. Wood sold his National Research Bureau for a reported $1 million and retired to Florida.

May Cooperate in Space Field

MOSCOW (AP) — Astronaut Neil A. Armstrong says he has the impression that Premier Alexei N. Kosygin is receptive to the idea of space cooperation between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Armstrong, the first man on the moon, began a Soviet tour May 24 and had a talk with Kosygin in the Kremlin this week. He told a news conference Wednesday:

"We did not discuss any particular type of space cooperation, except to encourage the general idea of such a proposal. I had a delightful conversation with the premier. I found him very knowledgeable about scientific and engineering matters, and particularly space matters."

anything. Whether they changed any minds or not, they may have influenced some to proceed with greater caution," Aiken said.

Rep. Charles H. Griffin, D-Miss., another Nixon backer, said the student visits "did some good—they made us think about it, and helped me to understand their attitude."

But he added some students from Eastern schools "could see no clear danger to Communism—they are leaning more toward socialism than the free enterprise system."

Staff aides who talked with students visiting the office of Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., were "impressed mostly by those who came by themselves," said an assistant. "It was straight talk—in most cases we agreed with them, in some cases they got a little too unrealistic, but it was a give-and-take exchange of views," he added.

"The general impression is that they had a very positive impact—they were pretty good lobbyists and they left us with a good feeling," said a member of Kansas Republican Sen. James B. Pearson's staff.

Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., a backer of Nixon's Cambodia decision, found some of the 300 to 400 students stopping past his office "were willing to listen to his point of view as we sought to explain our position," an assistant said.

"Over-all, they were very courteous," he added, "but some felt 'if you don't agree with us, you're worthless.'"

"All of us have tried very hard to make ourselves available to them," said Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H. "They were campaigning for what they think will be a better America."

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N.J., said he saw several hundred students and "with one or two exceptions, they conducted themselves extremely well. I might disagree with them but I could not complain about their conduct."

He contrasted this with what he viewed as arrogant behavior by a delegation of lawyers who, he said, insisted on seeing him at their convenience and—uninvited—took over office facilities.

available to provide the capital for rural residents who need to increase their income. Rural areas as administered by this program are considered towns of 5,500 population or less and open country.

The loans permit FHA to purchase small parcels of land for farmers who are not eligible for such assistance under its regular Farm Ownership loan program, refinance real estate debts, or combine basic real estate developments and machinery and equipment purchases through a single loan tailored to the needs of small farmers with limited resources. "These loans also permit FHA to provide credit to individuals to start or continue a small rural business or trade," Bailey said.

Among the major types of non-farm enterprises that may be financed are farm machinery repair shops, watch repair shops, beauty shops, carpentry shops, plumbing, and barber shops.

"Funds under this program can also be used to finance cooperatives owned and operated by low income families in rural communities that can provide a variety of services to improve their income and standard of living," explained

Bail Is Denied Huey Newton

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bail has been denied Black Panther party co-founder Huey P. Newton, who has been behind bars for three years in the shooting death of an Oakland policeman.

The California Court of Appeal denied Wednesday without comment Newton's application for bail, made after the same court overturned his voluntary manslaughter conviction last Friday.

Newton, 28, was convicted in 1968 in the death of officer John Frey, who was shot with his own service revolver after he stopped a car Newton was driving. Newton is serving a 2-to-15 year prison sentence.

Attorney Charles Garry said he was considering appealing the bail decision to the California Supreme Court.

The Court of Appeal overturned the conviction on grounds the trial judge did not instruct the jury properly on Newton's claim that he had been shot in the abdomen and was unconscious when Frey was shot and another officer wounded.

The state has indicated it will appeal the reversal.

we must suppose, whatever it may some day be construed to mean by judges, foreign or domestic, presiding at the trial of some public official or private person charged with this gauzy crime.

Another forbidden act is "deliberately inflicting on the group conditions of life calculated to bring about its physical destruction in whole or in part." Criminal statutes, we are taught, must be strictly construed. Who can construe this clause? What is meant, at another point, by "public incitement"? What is meant by "complicity in genocide"? Who knows? Knows who?

Making gestures is a pleasant pastime. Men and nations make them all the time. But writing law is something else entirely, and adding to the supreme law of our land, in the fashion here proposed, is a matter to be taken with utter seriousness. Suppose we take this convention that way.

Enemy's Ability Said True Test

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senior U.S. military officers say it is too early to tell whether the allied sweep through the Cambodian sanctuaries will be a long-range success.

The officers agreed with President Nixon's assertion Wednesday that the Cambodian sweep had been highly successful in capturing or destroying huge amounts of enemy war material.

But, they say, the true test will be determined by the enemy's ability to restore supply routes to key third and fourth corps areas of South Vietnam.

Even more fundamental, the officers added, is whether the operation gained the time the South Vietnamese forces need to prepare for taking over the main combat role as more U.S. troops withdraw.

The officers, and some top Pentagon officials, indicate the final results—good or bad—will not be determined perhaps until fall.

The upbeat tone of Nixon's interim report on the Cambodian venture seemed to leave little room for the possibility that long-range results might fall short of expectations. But he did caution briefly that "we can expect setbacks and reversals" as long as the war goes on.

Military officers are much less bullish than Nixon in looking six months to a year ahead.

"Signs are good," said one general. "But it remains to be seen whether the enemy can overcome the problems we have given him."

"The North Vietnamese already are making a really determined effort to re-establish their supply routes and bases west of our farthest limit of operations."

This was a reference to moves by the North Vietnamese, detected by American reconnaissance, to set up a new supply line from southern Laos using the Se Kong River, which flows into northeast Cambodia and links up with the Mekong River.

With boats, the enemy may be able to pump new supplies along a water network tying the Ho Chi Minh Trail to areas in South Vietnam where North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops in the past had been dependent on the Cambodian sanctuaries, officers said.

The Daily Reflector; Greenville, N. C.—Thursday, June 4, 1970—7

Experts doubt whether the waterway will permit the North Vietnamese to equal the tonnage formerly moved into the Cambodian base areas from the now-severed enemy supply line.

Nixon perhaps had the river bypass in mind when he indicated U.S. war planes will be in the air over Cambodia after the July 1 deadline for U.S. ground troop withdrawal.

Presumably, without the benefit of jungle cover, such enemy water traffic will be vulnerable to bombing.

There was no dissent by military officers on what Nixon termed the "splendid performance of the South Vietnamese army" in Cambodia.

But they are waiting to see whether the South Vietnamese can stand up as well against the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong when U.S. ground combat presence will be markedly reduced later this year.

Bicyclist Required To Observe Vehicle Rules

Greenville schools will soon be out for summer vacations and more bicycle riders than ever will be on the city's streets and highways.

Police Chief T. E. Gladson said motorists as well as parents and other interested citizens must cooperate and share the responsibility for seeing that young bicyclists continue to ride in safety.

Parents, the chief explained, must make sure their children live up to their own responsibilities. Bicycles should be thoroughly inspected to insure that brakes, lights, reflectors, and other vital parts are safe.

Riders should also be conscious of safety regulations and follow them as they ride.

"What many people don't realize," Chief Gladson said, "is that a bicycle is considered a vehicle, the same as an automobile, and that most of the same rules of vehicular traffic apply to bikes."

Such regulations as keeping to the right and observing stop signs, red lights, and one-way streets apply to bicyclists as well as motorists.

The police official continued: "The bicyclist should consider himself a bicycle driver, driving a vehicle in and with the stream of traffic. It is his responsibility to drive safely."

Basic safety rules for bicycle riders to follow, Chief Gladson outlined, included: obey all traffic regulations, lights, stop signs and one-way streets; keep right and ride single file and don't weave in and out, swerve, race or stunt in traffic and never hitch a ride on a truck or other vehicle; be sure to have a white light in front and a red light or approved reflector in the rear for night riding, and have a clear-sounding horn or bell to warn others of your approach; slow down at all intersections and look both ways before proceeding with caution; always give pedestrians the right of way; watch out for cars pulling into traffic and for doors opening; always use proper hand signals for stopping and turning; and never carry passengers or packages that interfere with control or vision.

The police official also reminded that bicycles being operated in Greenville are required to be registered with the police department just as cars are registered.

Bicycles not properly registered and bearing a current bicycle license plate may be picked up by officers and held until proof of ownership can be made.

Registration plates are available at the Police Department for 50-cents each.

According to Chief Gladson, the bicycle registration program is designed to aid law enforcement officers return lost and stolen bicycles to their rightful owners. At present there are more than a score of bicycles being stored at police headquarters. These vehicles, the chief noted, have been found abandoned, or are recovered stolen vehicles, and cannot be returned because they have not been registered, and their owners cannot be found.

Each December, unclaimed bicycles are sold at auction. Proceeds from the sale are turned over to the school fund, according to the chief.

Cutting Back In Capital Outlays

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Manufacturers—beset by higher costs, dropping profits and tight money—are cutting back their plans for installing new production equipment, two government agencies report.

Non-manufacturing industries are going ahead with their expansion plans.

The Securities and Exchange Commission and the Commerce Department said Wednesday all industries expect to spend $81.4 billion for expansion this year, a 7.8 per cent increase over the $75.6 billion they spent last year. The 1969 increase was 11.5 per cent.

When the two agencies last made the survey, three months ago, they said the businessmen planned to invest $82.9 billion. The reduction since then follows the pattern of recent quarters and indicated businessmen are finding it hard to obtain the money to finance as much expansion as they would like.

Manufacturing industries expect to spend $32.8 billion this year, compared to the $34.6 billion expectation they had three months ago and actual 1969 spending of $31.7 billion.

Non-manufacturing industries plan to spend $48.6 billion, up from the $48.3 billion they anticipated three months ago and the $43.9 billion they spent last year.

The projections gave support to Nixon administration predictions of 8 per cent expansion. One government economist termed it "a reinforcement type of report."

He said the declining stock market may have influenced the cutback in expectations. When the survey was taken, in late April and May, the market was in a savage decline that has been reversed only recently.

(Baby's Eyes)

Is everybody blue-eyed at birth?
Many babies appear to have blue eyes at birth, even though the eyes may develop into another color. They appear blue because of the reflection of light back through the layers of the iris. The sky appears blue because of a similar reflection of light. If more color pigment is formed, the eye color will change to brown or green.

After three to six months the baby begins to blink unconsciously. In this same period it is believed that they begin to make out shapes and forms. Some time after this they can distinguish primary colors.

By the age of three or four years children can cooperate enough for regular eye examinations. At this time about sixteen per cent of them have normal vision by adult standards.

City Manager Hagerty briefly outlined sources of credits which can be applied to the city's share of the project cost — $1,660,000 of the total cost of more than $8,000,000. "We have already built up $247,000 in credits toward this city share," Hagerty noted, Hagerty noted He further cited a figure of $255,000 which is to be spent on improvements of street, storm gutters, traffic signals and other planned projects.

"Another source is the Powell Bill," Hagerty related. "Last year this provided $126,000 in refunds for the city. We expect it to be up by five percent this year. "All these funds, as acquired, can be spent in the CBD area and elsewhere as needed," he added.

Other sources mentioned by Hagerty included a reference to $417,000 coming from the Greenville Utilities Commission next year. "Some of these funds," he said, "can be earmarked."

Hagerty noted "I do see problems in the acquisition of parking lots, which will amount to $860,000. But the city will be buying real estate."

The city manager finished his remarks with "We're planning for the year 2010 . . . I see no necessity under any circumstances of devoting any tax money to this project."

Following the discussion and remarks on the CBD project, members talked about the forthcoming school tax referendum and requirements involved.

Glidewell, explaining that he was acting in his role as a member of the Referendum Steering Committee, spoke of the needs for having funds which could be made possible by a successful referendum. Among the points he

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices drifted within a narrow upward range this morning in moderately active trading.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 2.67 to 716.53. Earlier it had been up slightly more than 3. Advances outnumbered declines on the Big Board by a large margin.

Analysts said the market was showing a mild positive reaction to President Nixon's Cambodia talk Wednesday night.

brought out, and those stated by other members present, were:

—If the referendum is successful, it will still provide only for keeping services at the present level, not provide for broadening services.

—Authorization to raise the current 25 cents per $100 valuation level does not necessarily mean the entire amount would be used this year or in subsequent years . . . depending on county wide assessment, the actual amount put in effect could be any figure between the current 25 cents and a maximum of 50 cents.

—A favorable referendum does not mean doubling of city taxes. Glidewell illustrated this by showing that, for example, on a property valued at $12,500 for tax purposes, the maximum additional tax burden would amount to $31.00 . . . and would be less proportionately if a lesser levy was needed to meet current operating expenses.

—Pointed out that if the referendum is not successful, this does not mean teachers will be dismissed — rather, 15 vacancies are now unfilled and will remain unfilled until it is seen what the outcome of the referendum will be.

Martin Budget

WILLIAMSTON — Martin County's Board of Education last night presented to the County Commissioners a 1970-71 budget totaling $1,265,336.00.

The budget, approved by the board at their regular monthly meeting, includes $930,636.00 for current expenses; and $338,700 in capital outlay.

"This is an increase of approximately 12 percent over last year's budget," Eugene Rogers, superintendent of Martin County Schools, noted. Rogers also pointed out that Martin County does not have a debt service on its budget at this time.

Action has been completed to assign all students in the county to schools for the coming school year. Rogers indicated this will involve changes for some students, as assignments are based on redefined and redrawn lines of attendance areas. "However, for those students in the top three grades of high school, we will let them attend the school they have been attending if they choose, providing they furnish their own transportation."

The County Commissioners will study the budget and take final action at a later date.

Lawrence

Mr. Joseph Lawrence, 301 Nash St. died Wednesday morning in Pitt Memorial Hospital. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

He was the husband of Mrs. Thelma Lawrence.

Williams

SNOW HILL — Mrs. Spicey Williams died Monday morning at her home, Rt. 3, Snow Hill, after a brief illness. Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. at the St. Peter Baptist Church, Snow Hill, with the Rev. Vines officiating.

She was born and reared in Wilson County. She was married to the late Seymour Williams. She was a charter member of St. Peter F.W.B. Church.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Jessie M. Clarke of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Addie P. Arthers of Trenton, N.J., Mrs. Jeanie W. Joyner, Greensboro, and Mrs. Carolyn P. Chaney, Burlington; four sons, Seymour Williams Jr. of the home, S-Sgt. Robert L. Williams of Hawaii, John H. Williams, Washington, D.C., and Paul Stephen of Wilson.

The body will be taken from Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home Chapel to the home in Snow Hill Friday afternoon.

Wallace

Mr. Eddie Wallace died suddenly at his home, 1413-A Fifth St. Wednesday morning. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 3 p.m. at Mount Calvary F.W.B. Church. Burial will be in the Whitely Cemetery in Williamston.

Mr. Wallace was a Martin County native, but he had made his home in Greenville for the past several years.

Surviving him are two brothers, Thomas Hardison of Williamston and Howell Wallace of Statesville.

The body will be at Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home until the funeral hour.

Spear

Dr. Richard S. Spear, 49, died enroute to Pitt Memorial Hospital Thursday morning at 5:30. Funeral services will be conducted at ten o'clock Saturday morning at the Wilkerson Funeral Chapel by his pastor, Dr. Joyce V. Early. Burial will be in the Rose Cemetery in Mocksville at 3:30. He resided at 312 Rutledge Road.

Dr. Spear, a native of Baltimore, Maryland, was reared in Gettysburg, Pa. He received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Catawba College, Master of Education Degree and Doctor of Education Degree from Duke University. He had served as Principal of several high schools in North Carolina and moved to Greenville from New Bern in 1960 where he had been principal of the New Bern High School.

A Professor in the School of Education at East Carolina University, he was co-ordinator of the Audio-Visual Education Program and author of a number of scholarly articles and other publications.

He was a member of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, the Kappa Delta Pi Fraternity Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity and was past division president of A-V Education.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Louise Foster Spear; two daughters: Miss Gwenn Spear of Philadelphia, Pa., and Miss Karen Spear of the home; his mother, Mrs. Naomi Spear of Gastonia; and a brother, Dean Walter Belmont Abbey.

received 8,485 members last year in eastern North Carolina but suffered their first membership loss in modern times. The net loss of about 800 was due to the removal of 3,131 members by action of the charge conference in many of the more than 850 churches of the Conference.

Bishop Cannon reflected on the statistics saying, "Watchman, watchman what of the night. Are we rich in things and poor in souls?"

The statistical report is incomplete because some 50 churches in the conference have not reported.

Methodists in the fifty-six county area raised $12,112,277. This is $350,000 less than a year ago.

Among other actions Thursday morning was the adoption of a recommendation asking Methodists to "refrain from assisting in the establishment and support of private schools that are established for the purpose of circumventing the due process of law in providing a unitary school system in this state."

The 1970 General Conference forbade Methodist churches to set up private schools on church property to circumvent the law of the land.

Dr. Robert Huston of New York City spoke at noon Thursday and the afternoon session was devoted mostly to conference business.

More reports are due Friday with the appointments to be read

Asks Turnout At Precinct Meet

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Voting Precinct will convene Saturday at 1 p.m. in the Town Hall here.

Marvin Speight, chairman of the precinct executive committee, called for a big turnout. This is the first time precinct and county conventions have been held after the primary.

The County convention will be held in Greenville Saturday, June 13, and the state convention will be held in Raleigh in July, Speight said.

$752,000 Budget Is Offered For Ayden

AYDEN — The 1970-71 budget, totaling $752,000, for the town of Ayden was presented to the town board at a special meeting Monday night.

The tax rate of $1.25 per $100 valuation is retained, and the budget provides for $60,727, as repayment on bonded indebtedness for the year.

The town hopes to receive $413,200 from electric facilities, the town's largest single income.

A total of $380,000 was received in the fiscal year now ending.

Capital outlay for the coming fiscal year, including salaries, equipment, and remodeling, is set at $51,000. This figure shows the largest increase over the present budget, when only $11,000 was spent.

A public hearing was also held Monday night on the closing of the alley beside the Marvin Smith fruit stand on E. Third Street.

After discussing the plan with property owners in that area, the Ayden town board voted to close the alley.

The board set a public hearing on the budget for June 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the court room. Also scheduled to be discussed at the hearing is the possible annexation of a proposed subdivision facing East Avenue.

Pitchers Shine In National Loop Wins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
There's still some life left in the elderly pitching arms of Jim Bunning and Hank Aguirre—the hurlers nobody wanted—and Bob Gibson's batting eye isn't gone quite yet, either.
The three veteran pitchers all enjoyed banner performances Wednesday, helping their teams to victories in the rain-abbreviated National League schedule.
Bunning passed the 2,700 career strikeout mark—third on the alltime list behind only Cy Young and Walter Johnson—as Philadelphia thumped Cincinnati 11-4. Aguirre won his third game—his highest total since 1966—helping Chicago top Los Angeles 6-5 in 11 innings. And Gibson ripped three hits including a seventh inning single that broke a tie and moved St. Louis to a 6-5 victory over San Francisco.

In the only other National League game played, Houston's Jack Billingham shut out Montreal 5-0. New York at Atlanta and San Diego at Pittsburgh were both postponed by rain.
Bunning pitched the first six innings against the Reds and then Dick Selma finished up as Philadelphia exploded for seven runs in its last three swings to end a five-game Cincinnati winning streak.
Larry Hisle's bases-loaded, two-out single broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh and then the Phils added five wrapup runs in the ninth, two on a single by Tony Taylor, who had opened the game with a first pitch homer.

Bunning, a free-agent pickup over the winter, won his third game—not a terribly large number for most pitchers but an important plateau for Chicago's Aguirre, another ex-free agent who had not managed that many in four seasons.
Aguirre pitched the last two innings of the Cubs' 11-inning victory over Los Angeles and became the winner when hot-hitting Jim Hickman singled the deciding run home.
Hickman, on a 12-for-27 streak with 11 runs batted in and four homers over the last eight games, connected on an 0-2 pitch to drive in Glenn Beckert from second base. Beckert and Billy Williams had stroked singles, setting up the winning rally.
Gibson went the distance and it was a good thing because he did a major part of the Cardinals' hitting. He singled home a run in the second inning and singled again, setting up a run in the fourth. Then he tapped a 3-2 pitch into right field to climax the Cardinals' winning rally in the seventh.
The Giants tagged Gibson for eight hits and had him on the ropes early but couldn't deliver the knockout punch.
Billingham, making his first start of the year, extended his shutout string to 20 innings with his whitewash against Montreal. The tall right-hander scattered eight hits and struck out 10 Expos.
Tommy Davis and Denis Menke delivered RBI singles to get Houston off in front in the third inning against 19-year-old Balor Moore, who was making his first major league start.

Pepsi Edges Moose By 7-6

Pepsi-Cola pulled into a tie for second place in the Tar Heel Little League yesterday with a 7-6 victory over the Moose.
The win left the Graniteeers all alone in first place with a 6-1 record, with Pepsi and the Moose just behind at 5-2. The Exchange and Elks are both 2-5, while Integon is 1-6.
Pepsi pushed over two in the first inning. David Davis reached on a fielder's choice and Roy Oldham reached on an error, which allowed Davis to come all the way home. Oldham took third on another error and scored on a wild pitch.
The Moose came back with one its their half of the inning. Greg Sasser singled and took second on an error. He scored on Keith Jones' double.
Pepsi moved out to a 3-1 lead with a run in the fourth. Dana Kendrick singled and stole second. He moved up on walks to Mike Shank and Lee Shearin and scored on a fielder's choice by Ricky Avery.
Pepsi kept pace with a run in its half of the fourth. Mike Weston doubled and took third on a wild pitch. He then stole home to cut the lead to 3-2.
Pepsi added another run in the fifth. Danny Bowman singled and moved up on a fielder's choice by Mark Conway, taking third on an error on the play. He scored on a sacrifice fly by Kendrick.
The Moose then came up with four runs in the fifth to take the lead for the first time. Henry Baker walked and moved up on a passed ball. Greg Sasser also walked and another passed ball moved both runners up. Jones brought in both runners with a double, and Ross Hawkins finished off the scoring with a home run, putting the Moose ahead, 6-4.

But Pepsi was not finished, coming up with three in the sixth to win it. Macdonald Avery walked and Shearin singled. Davis doubled in Avery, and Shearin, tying it up. Oldham singled to drive in Davis with the winning run.
Shearin and Oldham each picked up two hits for Pepsi, while Sasser, Jones and Weston had two each for the Moosee

St. James Is Still Unbeaten

St. James Methodist continued to roll along as the only unbeaten team in the Church Softball League. St. James downed Oakmont Baptist, 22-6, last night, while Gum Swamp nipped Piney Grove, 7-5.
In the American Division, St. James now posts a 9-0 record, four games ahead of Trinity, 4-3, and Presbyterian, 5-4. Meadowbrook is 4-4, followed by Gum Swamp, 4-5 and First Christian, 0-10.

In the National Division, Grace leads with a 6-2 record, while Black Jack is close behind at 5-3. They are followed by Immanuel, 4-5, Mt. Pleasant, 3-4, and Oakmont and Piney Grove, both 4-6.
In the opening game, St. James broke the game open in the first inning, scoring all it needed in the game, 11 runs. They went on to add four more in the third, six in the fourth and one in the seventh.
Oakmont picked up two in the third, one in the fourth and three in the fifth.
Cheek, Carraway and Reese led the Oakmont hitting with three each. Roy Carawan led St. James with five, while Ronald Vincent had four, Dave Wilcox and Bill Shaw each had three, and Joe Brown, Van Britt and Rusty Jacobs had two each.
Piney Grove moved ahead in the top of the first with three runs, but Gum Swamp came back with two in its half, including a homer by D. Leggett. Two more Gum Swamp runs in the second moved them ahead, 4-3.
Piney Grove tied it up with a run in the third, and took the lead again with another in the fifth, 5-4. But in the bottom of the fifth, Gum Swamp came up with three runs to wrap it up, 7-5.
J. Crawford had three hits to lead Piney Grove, while Leggett had three, and Tripp, S. Leggett, Bell and Carraway each had two for Gum Swamp.

Harry Brown Named New ECU Cage Aide

East Carolina University Head Basketball Coach Tom Quinn announced Thursday morning the hiring of 28-year-old Harry Brown of Hamden, Conn., as the Pirates' assistant basketball coach, effective July 1.
Brown has served as assistant basketball coach and head baseball and cross country coach at Quinnipiac College in D.C., north, as well as junior college and military team recruiting.

"The addition of Harry Brown to our basketball staff has to be one of our biggest steps forward," said Quinn. "Not only are we getting our first full-time coach and recruiter in basketball, we are getting one of the most alert, ambitious young men I've met. Harry has played, coached and recruited in the New York - Massachusetts - Connecticut area, so his New England contacts are well established."
A baseball star for Boston

University in the early 1960's, Brown received a B.S. degree in physical education, health and recreation from that institution in 1964. He coached basketball and baseball at Hopedale (Mass.) High from 1964 to 1966 and at Peru (N.Y.) Central High from 1966 to 1968, when he joined Burt Kahn's staff at Quinnipiac, a small college cage power in New England. His overall high school basketball coaching record showed 64 wins and only 17 losses and included 20-0 and 18-2 seasons at Peru Central.
Brown is married but has no children.

HARRY BROWN
Hamden for the past two years. He succeeds Kirk Stewart as Quinn's top assistant at ECU. Stewart will become head coach at Titusville (Fla.) High School on July 1.
In addition to helping Quinn with the varsity, Brown will serve as chief coordinator of basketball recruitment and will personally scout the Eastern United States from Washington,

Four Qualify In Jr. Olympics

WINSTON-SALEM — Four Greenville youths have qualified for the next round of competition in the Junior Olympics. They won the right by competing in the state championships at Winston-Salem.
Two of the competitors won state titles, while two others finished second. They will now compete in the 3-state regional to be held on July 25 in Sumter, S.C. Those who qualify there will be eligible for the National Championships, to be held August 10-13 at Knoxville, Tenn.
Alec Allen, who already holds the State High School championship in the 880, bettered the state Junior Olympic record in winning that title. He finished the 16-17 age group race with a time of 1:56.4, for the new record. It also was his best time in the event.

Matthew Clark captured the other Greenville first place. That came in the 14-15-year-old shot put. He won with a toss of 55 feet, 1 1/2 inches.
Alphonse Hunter took second place in the 14-15 100-yard dash. He was timed across the tape at :10.1.
Second place in the 16-17 discus went to Joe Hunter. He threw the discus 149 feet, 2 inches to qualify for the regionals.
Calvin Moore took fifth place in the long jump with a 21-4 1/2 leap in the 16-17 group, while the 880 relay team of Mike Harris, Reginald Perkins, Allen and Moore took fifth with a time of 1:34.3.

Kiwanis Edges By Coke, 2-0

The Kiwanis kept up their unbeaten string in the North State Little League yesterday with a 2-0 victory over Coca-Cola.
The win boosted the Kiwanis record to 7-0 for the season, and gave the defending champions a two-game lead over R.C. Cola, 5-2. Third place belongs to the Jaycees, 3-4, while the Lions, Coke and Optimists are all 2-5 on the year.

Kelly Heath provided the victory from the mound, hurling the shutout. He gave up three hits, struck out 12 and walked three. All three hits came from the bat of Max Joyner, who had a perfect afternoon.
The Kiwanis themselves got only three hits off Coke's pitchers, Jerome Ross and Greg Lassiter. But the three, coupled with seven errors was enough to make the difference.
Bothe Kiwanis runs came in the second inning, without benefit of a hit. Kent Phillips led off, reaching on an error. He was safe at second on another as Dave Middleton reached on a fielder's choice. Chuck Ellis walked, loading the bases, and Clayton Brock reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Middleton with the only other run of the game.

Owners Say Best Buy Is Football

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — If you had the money to invest in a major league sport would you buy a baseball team or a pro football club?

If you answered baseball you are probably being emotional. Purchasing a pro football club involves less financial risk.

That, at least, might be the lesson learned from testimony Wednesday in the Curt Flood case as baseball paraded three club owners to the stand as defense witnesses to support the sport's contention that the reserve system is necessary to its operation.

Two of the owners, Francis Dale of the Cincinnati Reds, and Bob Reynolds of the California Angels, also have been involved in pro football ownership and cited the major difference between the sports as being in the area of player development.

"Investment in a pro football team involves less risk," said Dale, who also has an interest in pro football's Cincinnati Bengals, after he had completed testifying.

"The nature of the investment is different—it goes for different things. Pro football doesn't have a farm system to support and there is no lag of three to four years before a player who is signed can make contributions at the major league level."

Dale, Reynolds and John Williams of the Atlanta Braves, who testified that another man will hit 400, says Ted Williams. "It's stupid to say anything will never be accomplished. And this (Rico) Carty just may be the guy to do it."

The happy Atlanta Braves outfielder from the Dominican Republic would be the first major leaguer to hit 400 in 29 years if he continues at his present torrid pace—a lousy .435 average through 47 games.

Williams was the last one to do it, hitting .406 in 1941.

"The one thing he has to avoid is a prolonged slump," said Williams in a telephone interview with The Atlanta Journal. "And he's gotta be lucky, get the breaks. I got plenty of breaks my year. But the one advantage he has is speed. I know he says he doesn't have much speed, but he's quick. I know, I've seen him."

Drawing the collar in one game has been a slump for Carty this year. The free-swinging slugger has hit safely in 42 of his 47 games this season, including one 31-game hitting binge and another that carried through nine games.

"Rico was just born to be a hitter," says teammate Orlando Cepeda. "He just may be the best ever."

But Rico doesn't appear to be concerned, possibly because he's missed out on several baseball honors.

For example, Carty was the National League's No. 2 hitter in 1964 with a .330 mark his rookie season, but rookie of the year honors went to Richie Allen who hit .318.

Last year Carty missed out on the comeback of the year award, which went to Tommie Agee of the New York Mets. Carty had missed the entire 1968 season

McHale, of the Montreal Expos, all estimated that their clubs would spend approximately $1 million on player development and acquisition this season and needed the safeguard of the reserve system to assure a return to their investment.

Dale said on the stand he didn't think baseball could operate successfully with pro football's contract clause in which a player can play out his option and become a free agent.

"I would not be willing to invest $350,000 to $400,000 to bring a player to the major league level and then find I might lose him after a year," said Dale. "The ownership system would break down."

Reynolds, a former part owner of pro football Los Angeles Rams, also cited player development as the major difference between the sports.

All three owners said they had invested in their clubs only with the knowledge that baseball has certain anti-trust exemptions and would not invest if the sport did not have such exemptions because of the financial risk.

The point is vital to the defense, which contends that potential owners would not invest in baseball without anti-trust exemptions. Flood contends those exemptions enable the sport to operate illegally in restraint of trade.

Williams Feels Carty Can Do It

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "I've always said that another man will hit 400," says Ted Williams. "It's stupid to say anything will never be accomplished. And this (Rico) Carty just may be the guy to do it."

Drawing the collar in one game has been a slump for Carty this year. The free-swinging slugger has hit safely in 42 of his 47 games this season, including one 31-game hitting binge and another that carried through nine games.

Last year Carty missed out on the comeback of the year award, which went to Tommie Agee of the New York Mets. Carty had missed the entire 1968 season with tuberculosis and suffered through three shoulder separations in 1969, but still managed to hit .342 for the year and .390 in a September drive that saw Atlanta win 20 of 27 games and capture the National League West flag.

This year he added another omission to his growing list. Carty wasn't included on the All-Star game ballot, selected last winter.

"Nobody can make me build up my mind to 400," says Carty. "Nothing is impossible, but I'm not going to think about it. That's when you get in trouble."

Kinston Stops Raleigh String

Kinston spoiled Raleigh-Durham's proud record of never having been beaten in Raleigh Wednesday night by nearly blasting the Triangles out of the park.

Righthander Walt Walters had little trouble going all the way as Kinston staged a 10-run uprising in the eighth inning. The final score was 13-1, as Kinston ended the league leaders' 14-game win streak at Raleigh.

Mike Anderson's eighth home run of the season with one out in the 13th enabled Peninsula to claim a 5-3 win over Lynchburg. Each team scored three times in the first, but the pitchers took command and held it until the 13th.

Winston-Salem broke a 3-3 tie with two runs in the seventh to defeat the Salem Rebels 7-3.

Rick Guarnera, playing first base in the absence of injured Pat Kuener, had a five-for-five night at the plate to lead a Burlington assault that produced a 6-3 win over Rocky Mount. It was Burlington's fourth straight win.

Casanova Still Thorn In Sox Side

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Paul Casanova just loves those Chicago White Sox pitchers—Tommy John in particular—while Duke Sims is taking his anger out on the Milwaukee Brewers and the Fourth Estate.

Casanova rendered John speechless Wednesday night with his third straight 3-for-3 game against the White Sox lefty as Washington rallied for a 5-4 victory.

Sims, Cleveland's catcher-turned-outfielder, belted two homers for the second game in a row in a 7-6 triumph over the Brewers and then tried to disprove Leo Durocher's theory that nice guys finish last by refusing to talk to the press.

"I don't talk, man, I don't talk to anyone," Sims snapped. "Get out of here." Then he turned and walked away.

Elsewhere in the American League, Oakland downed Baltimore 4-1, Detroit shaded California 5-4 in 11 innings and the New York Yankees topped Kansas City 5-3. Minnesota at Boston was rained out.

Casanova, whose streak against John dates back to last season, singled in the third inning, doubled home the final two runs of a four-run fourth and singled in the sixth. Besides going 9-for-9 against John in their last three meetings, Casanova has driven in 10 runs over hat stretch.

Sims, reportedly irked because a newsman allegedly misquoted him, got the Indians started with a three-run homer in the first inning and connected again in the third to snap a 4-4 tie. That gave him three consecutive homers, including his last time at bat Tuesday night, but he grounded into a double play on his next trip.

The Brewers scored twice in the eighth to trim a 7-4 deficit and loaded the bases with one out in the ninth. But Dennis Higgins fanned Steve Hovley and Dick Ellsworth came on with a 3-0 count on Tommy Harper, who had homered earlier, and got him to bounce into a force play on the 3-1 pitch.

Sal Bando walloped a three-run tie-breaking homer off Baltimore's Mike Cuellar in the eighth inning to lift the A's to victory. Oakland's Frank Fernandez hit a solo homer in the second while Frank Robinson matched that for the Orioles in the seventh.

Robinson's blow was one of only two hits off Oakland starter Roland Fingers, who left for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The Tigers, held to two hits and trailing the Angels 3-0, erupted for four runs in the ninth against Andy Messersmith and two relievers. Gates Brown started it with a pinch homer and Jim Northrup cracked a three-run homer with two out to put the Tigers in front 4-3.

In the National League, Philadelphia trounced Cincinnati 11-4, St. Louis edged San Francisco 6-5, Houston blanked Montreal 5-0 and the Chicago Cubs nipped Los Angeles 6-5 in 11 innings. The New York Mets-Atlanta and San Diego-Pittsburgh games were washed out.

Jenkins Entertain Conference Group

East Carolina University President and Mrs. Leo W. Jenkins entertained dignitaries to the North Carolina United Methodist Conference at a luncheon on Tuesday.

Special guests for the occasion were Bishop William R. Cannon and members of his cabinet and their wives who are attending the N.C. annual conference of the United Methodist Church, currently in progress at the Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

The foyer of the Jenkins home was enhanced by an arrangement of white lilies and Queen Anne's lace. Magnolia boughs with open flowers embellished the stairs.

An arrangement of deep purple larkspur and yellow chrysanthemums flanked by yellow candles in silver candelabras complimented the dining room table from which the buffet was served to some 40 guests.

Miniatures of the dining room arrangement were placed throughout the living room and sun porch where the guests were seated.

Rev. William K. Quick of Durham, former pastor of the St. James Church, Greenville, delivered the invocation and blessing.

Among the special guests for the occasion were: Bishop Cannon; Bishop Roy H. Short, Louisville, Ky.; President and Mrs. Thomas Collins of N.C. Wesleyan College, Rocky Mount; Rev. and Mrs. N.W.

Grant, Raleigh; Mrs. Henry G. Ruark, Elizabeth City; Rev. and Mrs. Edgar B. Fisher, Burlington; Rev. and Mrs. C.D. Barcliff, Durham; Rev. and Mrs. O.L. Hathaway, Elizabeth City;

Rev. and Mrs. G.S. Eubank, Fayetteville; Rev. and Mrs. Leon Russell, Raleigh; Rev. and Mrs. A.F. Fisher, Goldsboro; Rev. and Mrs. W.R. Stevens, Greenville; Rev. and Mrs. Paul Carruth, Rocky Mount; Rev. and Mrs. V.E. Queen, Sanford; Rev. and Mrs. C.G. McCarver, Wilmington; Mrs. James Auman, secretary to Bishop Cannon;

Rev. and Mrs. J.V. Early, Rev. and Mrs. David Hilton, and Rev. and Mrs. Roy Turnage of Greenville.

Also present were appointees expected to be named by the Conference to the Greenville area: Rev. Christian White and Rev. Troy Barrett, pastors, and Rev. Howard M. McLamb of Raleigh, who is to be named Greenville District Superintendent.

Reds Push To Ten Miles From Cambodian Capital

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces captured a town 10 miles southeast of Phnom Penh today and battled for control of a provincial capital in central Cambodia, the Cambodian military command reported.

Twenty Survive In Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty survivors of the opening day of the National Spelling Bee compete today for the grade-school spelling title.

Eleven girls and nine boys remained in the running after nine grueling rounds in the Wednesday session, which eliminated 54 of 74 starters.

The thinning-down process took 439 words. At the same point in the competition last year, 464 words had been used. Wednesday's starters were winners of local and regional competitions in which 7.5 million youngsters took part.

MEET FRIDAY

The Pitt County Coon Hunters Association will meet Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Donald Warren farm, Rt. 1, Stokes.

The attack on Set Bo, to the southeast, was the closest major fighting yet to the Cambodian capital. A spokesman said the attack came during the night and the last government resistance was knocked out at 7 a.m. But he said the Cambodian army was launching a counter-offensive.

Eighty miles north of Phnom Penh, fighting was reported still going on in the provincial capital of Kompong Thom, a town of about 25,000 on the highway to Angkor Wat.

The spokesman said enemy forces had been massing for several days around Kompong Thom, which was cut off from Phnom Penh last week by the capture of a district capital just south of it and destruction of a major highway bridge.

Kompong Thom's defenders requested air bombardment of the enemy positions Wednesday, the spokesman said, but "due to the hour it was not possible." He said he had no reports of air activity in the area today, but that a sizeable force of government regulars was on hand to defend the town.

In the past, the militia was the only defense of some major points and buckled before the Communist command's battle-hardened troops last week. South Vietnamese troops saved Prey Veng, another provincial capital southeast of Phnom Penh, but the nearest South Vietnamese forces to Kompong Thom were 65 miles away.

The attacks at Set Bo and Kompong Thom appeared to be a continuation of a Communist tactic of pressure over a wide area to score propaganda gains and confuse the Cambodian high command.

Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam flew to Phnom Penh today with a delegation of cabinet ministers, and the Cambodian government lessened restrictions on Vietnamese Cabinet ministers, and the Cambodian government lessened restrictions on Vietnamese refugees who had been herded into camps in Phnom Penh during the early days of the fighting. The refugees were given the run of the city from 6 a.m. to 4 p.m.

As Ky and Cambodian Premier Lon Nol were approaching the honor guard at the airport, a Cambodian air force C47 made a belly landing on another runway, scattering pieces of its undercarriage about. There was considerable smoke, and fire trucks raced out, but the plane did not catch fire. Nor was the ceremony interrupted.

"He was too busy watching the ceremony, to watch his landing," Ky's pilot said of the unfortunate Cambodian flier.

Ky headed the first high-level Saigon delegation to visit Cambodia since the two neighbors broke relations in 1963. Informal sources said they would implement agreements signed last week during the visit to Saigon of Cambodian Foreign Minister Yem Sambaur, during which diplomatic relations were restored.

The decision of the Cambodian government to welcome troops from South Vietnam and Thailand, Cambodia's traditional enemies, brought a charge from the deposed chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, that the Thais and South Vietnamese were trying to "steal portions of our beloved fatherland which they have always coveted."

"The despicable traitor Lon

Nol even plans to sell our country to those other despicable lackeys of U.S. aggression—Taiwan and South Korea—in order to protect himself and his henchmen," said Sihanouk in an appeal to the Cambodian people broadcast by Radio Hanoi.

Girls, by all means use the information which Alton presents. For it is good sales ammunition for winning a wedding ring! And what's good for the gander is almost equally true for the goose. Just be sure you pick A-1 matrimonial merchandise at the outset. Then play the game according to Hoyle.

By GEORGE W. CRANE,
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE N-517: Alton G., aged 36, is an insurance statistician.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I find that happily married men live 5 years longer than unmarried men."

"And I saw a recent report from German insurance firms which added another interesting facet to marriage statistics."

"It said that husbands who kissed their wives goodbye as they left for work, would live 7 years longer than unmarried men."

"And 2 years longer than other married men who omitted such farewell kisses."

"How do you explain this greater longevity?"

Bachelors used to ridicule such statements by saying: "Married men actually don't live longer. It just SEEMS longer!"

But that is definitely not true. Married men truly have a much greater lifespan for these psychological reasons:

(1) They obtain more regular meals of a well balanced sort.

(2) They are more free from various chronic worries that beset the single man.

For example, they know that if they should fall to the floor in a coronary attack, their wife would be on hand to call a physician.

And if they require nursing, their devoted wife usually far exceeds any outside nurse.

The unmarried man (and woman) makes up a large percentage of our middle-aged "Worry Warts" who shop around from one doctor to another with an abnormal concern about their "innards."

And they are more likely to contract venereal infection, too!

(3) Married men have their attention extroverted upon their wives and children, so they are less selfish.

And selfishness seems to dry up not only outside philanthropy but even internal glandular secretion!

That's why the unmarried also complain more about such mechanical upsets as constipation.

(4) Married men also have a convenient scapegoat in their wives, so they pass the buck to them and thus slough off a lot of headaches and nervous tension.

A married man may be irritated at the office but he is compelled to keep his ire to himself.

But when he reaches home, he may then talk out his anger and thus experience an "emotional catharsis."

The unmarried man tends to keep his tension bottled up and thus is more likely to develop peptic ulcers, spastic colitis and other neurotic medical ailments.

(5) Love is an expansive, relaxing emotion which tends to banish fear, so the married person is in a much more wholesome environment.

Airlines thus prefer a married man to a single man when hiring pilots.

And they prefer a married man who occupies a double bed in contrast to a husband who sleeps in a twin bed, apart from his wife.

For close proximity at night tends to dissipate quarrels and thus leave the couple in a devoted mood, as indicated by the morning farewell kiss.

Angry husbands thus have more dented fenders and may also become involved in more airplane crashes, because "blinded by rage" is axiomatic.

And irate men often "take it out on the motor," thereby producing extra highway, factory and even airplane accidents!

Send for my booklet "Tests for Husbands and Wives," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)
