Terrorists Fire Hits Phnom Penh

By ROBERT KAYLOR

SAIGON (UPI) — Gunfire broke out in the Cambodian capital of Phnom Penh Saturday night and scattered shooting continued for nearly an hour. To the northwest, Communist ground forces attacked the tourist city of Siem Reap at the gateway to the historic ruins of Angkor Wat.

The gunfire in the capital began shortly before midnight in the vicinity of the railway yards. There was no explanation for the shooting, the first such exchanges heard in the capital, but it followed two terrorist explosions earlier Saturday.

Flares lighted the sky over the capital as the firing came in occasional bursts, but mostly in single rounds.

Grenades apparently hurled by Communist terrorists Saturday morning injured 16 persons in schoolgrounds used for training military recruits. Two more grenades were tossed into a Phnom Penh football stadium being used as a bivouac area but they failed to explode.

In Siem Reap, fighting was reported continuing after Communist troops swept into the city early Saturday, but military sources said radio contact had been lost with the isolated Cambodian garrison.

The thrust by North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops into Seam Reap, 150 miles northwest of Phnom Penh, marked the deepest Communist attack in Cambodia to date in two months of fighting. It carried the Indochina conflict to within 90 miles of Thailand.

Official communiques on the situation in Siem Reap were sketchy, and regular telephone service with the city of 250,000 people was out. Cambodian commanders trying to rush reinforcements to the city were frustrated by a Communist hold on parts of the Phnom Penh-Siem Reap highway. Trucks loaded with wounded Cambodian soldiers were reported moving out of Siem Reap and blocking incoming traffic.

Here in Saigon, U.S. headquarters announced the loss of three helicopters to Communist gunners in crashes that killed three Americans and wounded five. One of the helicopters was shot down in South Vietnam, another in Cambodia and the third in Laos.

A separate Saigon communique said the crew of a U.S. 101st Airborne Division helicopter mistakenly opened fire on an allied unit near Khe Sanh in South Vietnam's extreme northwest corner last Thursday, killing four men and wounding 20. Two of the dead were U.S. advisers with a South Vietnamese Ranger unit.

Military sources in Saigon said troops of the 7th South Vietnamese division lost 14 men killed and 42 wounded in one of their biggest combat tests since a command shakeup designed to increase its effectiveness.

Government spokesmen announced that two battalions of the division fought a battle with an undertermined number of Communist soldiers Friday near the district town of Cai Lay about 54 miles southwest of Saigon. The spokesmen said 17 Communist soldiers were killed.

The Communist campaign against Siem Reap, a city on the northern edge of Cambodia's big Tonle Sap Lake, began at 8:30 p.m. Friday with an assault on the international airport three mles from town. Field reports Saturday said the airport was closed.

At 3:30 a.m. Saturday, the Communists swept into Siem Reap proper and the battle was joined in earnest.

Cambodian commanders boosted the strength of the garrison defending Siem Reap two weeks ago in anticipation of a Communist attack. Tourists arriving in Phnom Penh Friday said there was increased military activity in Siem Reap Thursday.

Most tourists were believed to have left Siem Reap before the Communists entered the city, but there are fears that about 40 French residents, including women and children, may have been trapped Saturday. These French citizens include teachers, hotel managers and other persons who have lived in the city for years.

The temples of Angkor Wat are four miles north of Siem Reap and they have drawn thousands of tourists, including many Americans, over the years for a look at architecture that dates back to the 9th Century.

Finch Is Made White House Aid

By EUGENE V. RISHER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon removed Robert H. Finch as secretary of a demoralized, politics-ridden Department of Health, Education and Welfare Saturday and made him a White House counselor with cabinet rank.

Finch will be succeeded at HEW by Undersecretary of State Elliot L. Richardson, 49, pending Senate confirmation. Richardson's reputation as a hard-nosed, innovative administrator will be put to a severe test in a department so big that many in Washington regard it as unmanageable.

"I believe this change is in the best interest of the whole administration," the President told newsmen at the White House with Finch and Richardson at his side. "It will bring to the White House a man I need. It will bring to HEW a man with great administrative experience."

Finch's ouster—an aide said he had not requested the transfer—ended a stormy tenure at HEW during which he found himself criticized from within and outside the department and repeatedly overruled by the White House.

"It's a higher calling but a lower salary," Finch cracked about his new job. He received $60,000 a year as HEW secretary; the top pay for a White House counselor is $42,500.

The President said Finch, a close friend, political ally and fellow Californian, would advise him on a broad range of matters, with emphasis on education and the problems of youth, and would travel with him on foreign and domestic trips.

"I regret having him leave HEW but I need him here," said Nixon, who said he had not had Finch's advice on many problems in the past. Indications were that Finch had little choice in the matter.

"The President just called him over to the White House Friday and said he wanted him as chief counsel," said HEW Undersecretary John G. Veneman. "Only he put it in tougher terms."

Veneman said Finch had not asked for reassignment and had "mixed emotions" about leaving HEW.

Finch, 44, was administrative assistant to Nixon as vice president in the Eisenhower administration, directed his 1960 presidential campaign and was lieutenant governor of California when Nixon brought him back to Washington in early 1969 to join his new cabinet.

His position at HEW deteriorated over the months to the point where 1,800 of his employes signed a petition questioning the quality of his leadership. He agreed to meet his departmental critics face-to-face nearly three weeks ago, but backed out at the last minute because of illness.

His doctors said Finch was suffering "extreme fatigue."

Finch's troubles began when the White House rejected his choice of Dr. John H. Knowles, director of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston, to be assistant HEW secretary for Health and Scientific Affairs.

He lost his civil rights chief, Leon E. Panetta, who resigned complaining that the Nixon administration was deliberately retreating from civil rights commitments of previous Democratic administrations. Finch himself got nowhere in his fight against the White House's approach to school desegregation.

Sihanouk Gets China Loan

PARIS (UPI)—Prince Norodom Sihanouk said in an interview broadcast Saturday that Communist China was giving him a loan to finance his government-in-exile, and providing him with arms and transport for a bid to overthrow the new Cambodian regime that ousted him in a coup.

In the interview broadcast by Radio Luxembourg, Sihanouk did not disclose the amount of the loan but said it would be repayable "after victory." He said the offer of free weapons and transport came personally from Chinese Chairman Mao Tse-tung.

Sihanouc quoted Mao as saying: "We are not arms traffickers. We cannot sell you weapons. We can give them to you. As for transport—that's also free."

Sihanouk was interviewed in the suburban palace provided for his family and entourage in the suburbs of Peking, the broadcast reported.

The prince said he was confident he would eventually return to power in Phnom Penh, where a bloodless coup March 18 deposed him while he was traveling abroad and replaced him with Premier Lon Nol.

"We hope to recover Phnom Penh in a not too distant future, Sihanouk said. "It's a question of holding on for a year or two, at most three years."

Israeli Guns Hit Egyptian Positions

By United Press International

Israeli artillery barrages sent Egyptian positions on the Suez frontline exploding in flames Saturday, a Tel Aviv military spokesman said. In the Upper Galilee, Soviet-made rockets fired from Lebanon hit the Israeli town of Kiryat Shmona.

In Moscow, the Soviets warned that "the United States is not the only state on which the balance of military forces in the Middle East depends."

A commentary by the official Soviet news agency Tass accused the United States of building up "aggravation" in the Middle East "to test different weapons in the Middle East shooting range."

An Israeli military spokesman said Israeli artillery battled Egyptian big guns in night and day duels across the Suez Canal. They reported fires raging at Egyptian positions near El Quantara, about midway along the canal, and Port Ibrahim, at its southern terminus.

The duels erupted several times when Egyptian runners opened fire at Israel's positions, according to the spokesman. Israeli gunners struck back at the Egyptian artillery batteries and other military targets.

The spokesman said Israeli desert patrols killed at least two Arab guerrillas, one of them in an area near the southern port of Eilat where saboteurs blew up power lines.

South of the Sea of Galilee Israel and Jordanian troops battled with machine guns in the Esh-Shuna area of the cease-fire line, a Jordanian military spokesman said.

The scattered action came as both sides in the Middle East marked the second day of the anniversary of the Middle East war of June, 1967.

A Tel Aviv military spokesman said the 120mm Katyusha rockets fired at Kiryat Shmona early Saturday caused no damage or casualties.

Similar rocket attacks on Kiryat Shmona early last month killed three civilians and led to a retaliatory thrust by an Israeli armored force against Arab guerrillas in southeastern Lebanon May 12.

To the south, Arab guerrillas exploded a charge under a high tension power line near the main road through the Aarava desert.

Newsman Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS has confirmed the death of correspondent George Syvertsen in Cambodia.

A network spokesman said Friday that a body found in a shallow grave near Phnom Penh has been positively identified as that of Syvertsen, who disappeared with several other reporters Sunday.

Still missing was CBS News producer Gerald Miller. The third American, Welles, Hangen of NBC, is believed to be a Viet Cong prisoner. Five other newsmen vanished with them.

Men Charged With Murder

Two federal prison escapees have been charged with murder in connection with the death of a 15-year-old boy near Winterville, Thursday.

Henry Manning, 27 of Ayden, and Owen Doss, 22 of Martinsville, Va., were charged with murder yesterday, according to Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson. A hearing for the two men has been set for June 17 in District Court.

Law enforcement officers who first said it appeared that William Pearce — found dead Friday in a wooded area behind his home — had been shot, said Saturday that he had been stabbed more than a score of times.

Sheriff Tyson said preliminary autopsy reports indicated that the youth had been stabbed 23 times, but reported investigators are "not ruling out the possibility" that young Pearce was also shot.

Officers viewing the body at the scene early Friday thought numerous small wounds in Pearce's nude body had been made by small caliber bullets, although further examination indicated that they were stab wounds.

Several empty .22-caliber shell casings were found at the scene and several bushes around Pearce's body had been struck by bullets.

Sheriff Tyson said that there was also "strong indications that Pearce had been sexually molested."

Officials said Doss and Manning had escaped Wednesday from Sandy Ridge — a federal - state work release detention unit in the Greensboro High Point area.

Young Pearce's father, Ralph Pearce, had harbored the two escaped federal prisoners Wednesday night, not knowing either of them were fugitives. The elder Pearce knew Manning, Sheriff Tyson said.

Pearce had left the men with his son while he went to work Thursday morning. All three were gone when he returned home. Also missing was a .22 caliber automatic rifle belonging to Pearce.

The search for Doss and Manning and young Pearce began Thursday afternoon. At that time the youth was thought to be a hostage of the two escapees.

Officers, acting on a tip, arrived at the Pearce home just as the two escaped prisoners were emerging from the woods at 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

Manning was taken into custody, but Doss fled into the dense wooded area behind the Pearce trailor. Doss was captured Friday morning in the attic of Reedy Branch Church north of Winterville.

Sheriff Tyson said officers found bloody clothes belonging to one of the prisoners at the church at the time Doss was captured.

Pearce's body, nude except for a pair of socks, was found by his father in the wooded area behind his home shortly after 7 a.m. Friday. The time of the youth's death was placed between 4 and 6 p. m. Thursday by medical officials.

The two prisoners were serving terms for interstate transportation of stolen cars. Both were scheduled to be released later this year upon completion of federal terms.

A Federal Bureau of Investigation agent was on the scene investigating the incident Friday.

Heavily armed officers from a number of police department in the county, as well as members of the sheriff's department, the Highway Patrol, ABC officers and other law enforcement agencies joined in the search for the two escaped prisoners.

Aiding officers in their search for Doss, Friday, was a U. S. Department of the Interior helicopter and a Forest Service airplane.

C5 Galaxy Is Delivered Despite Losing Wheel

CHARLESTON, S. C. (UPI)—The first C5 galaxy, the world's largest airplane, was safely delivered to the Air Force Saturday despite losing a wheel and blowing a tire while landing at the Charleston Air Frce Base.

The 247-foot-long aircraft did not appear affected as it taxied on its 26 remaining wheels before embarrassed Air Force officials, waiting to receive the plane into its regular flight operations.

The controversial plane made a smooth stop at the end of the runway after the landing and was quickly checked over by Air Force mechanics and officials of Lockheed-Georgie, the manufacturer of the craft.

The plane then taxied to a viewing area before a host of dignitaries, including Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S C., chairman of the House Armed Services committee.

"Some people would rather have seen a sing fall off than a tire," said Rivers. "All I can say is to hell with them."

The C5 has been the target of congressional criticism over its design. Rivers and officials of Lockeed defended the plane and brushed off questions of the craft's structural capabilities.

The pilot of the C5, Ge. Jack J. Catton, commander of the Air Lift Command, told a hastily assembled news conference at the base that a tiny lock washer was to blame for the loss of the wheel.

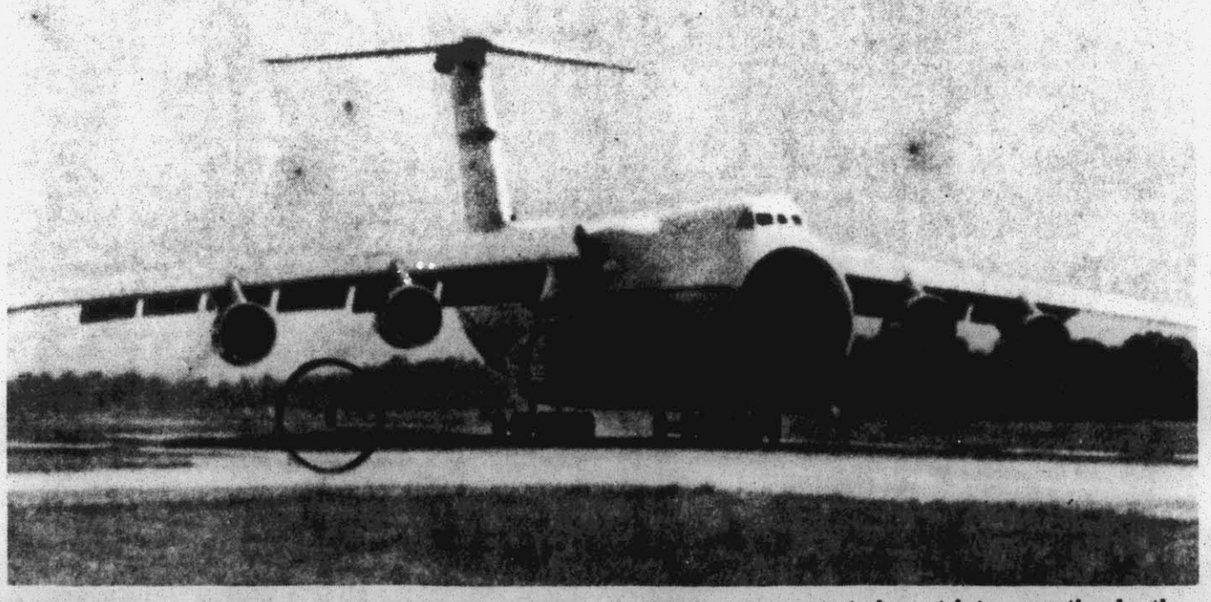

"The lock washer came off and a lock nut unscrewed causing the tire to fall off," Catton said. "What we don't know is why the washer came off."

Rivers and Daniel J. Haughton, chairman of Lockheed in Marietta, Ga., told newsmen that reports that the wing of the C5 will have to be redesigned are untrue.

Rep. William Moorhead, S-D Pa., charged Saturday in Washington that the C5 Galaxy "cannot come close" to carrying out its primary mission.

Moorhead, who for the past 18 months has been investigating the giant cargo plane and Lockheed, said the General Accounting Office has listed 25 deficiencies in the plane, including its inability to do many of the unique tasks that the Air Force had contracted for.

The plane delivered Saturday is the first of a squadron of 15 scheduled to be in service at the Charleston Air Force Base by September. The planes have a wingspan of 74-yards and the tail section is six stories high. They have a normal cargo loading capacity of 220,000 pounds.

STRATEGIC BOMBER PLANNED . . . This drawing of the proposed B1 strategic bomber was released by the Pentagon. The Air Force selected North American Rockwell Corp. and General Electric Co. as the prime contractors for the plane's development. (AP Wirephoto)

Pentagon Plans For New Bomber

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has taken a major step toward development of the B1, a strategic bomber designed to sweep in under enemy radar and fire nuclear-teipped missiles.

Contracts totaling nearly $1.8 billion were awarded Friday to North American Rockwell Corp. and General Electric to design, develop and test the plane—the first new long range bomber since the B52 and B58 were developed in the early 1950s.

The Air Force envisions a fleet of 200 to 300 planes if the project is given the go-ahead. Total cost for the proposed fleet was estimated to exceed $13.6 billion, more than the cost of the controversial antiballistic missile system now in the first stages of development.

Air Force Secretary Robert Seamans Jr. emphasized Friday that production of the B1 is a long way off and the contracts were only for research, development and testing. This was viewed by some as an effort to blunt expected criticism in Congress against spending huge sums for new weapons.

Included in the Air Force's announcement Friday was a memorandum from Deputy Secretary of Defense David M. Packard stressing "it will be several years before a production decision is made.

"Factors to be considered ... include the progress and success of the engineering development program, the progress of the SALT (Strategic Arms Limitation Talks) talks (with Russia) and the relationship of this program to these talks," Packard said.

North American Rockwell of El Segundo, Calif., was awarded a $1,350,814,739 engineering and design contract with a target profit of nearly $116 million to build five B1 prototypes and two ground air test air frames. General Electric of Evendale, Ohio, will design and build 40 jet engines at an estimated cost of $406,654,000. GE's target profit is figured at $30 million.

Rep. Thomas Pelly, R-Wash., said in a telegram to Secretary of Defense Melvin Laird that the Boeing Co. had submitted a proposal for a superior bomber that would cost less money.

The Air Force has been trying to win approval for a new advanced strategic bomber since 1964 to replace its aging flock of high altitude B52s, of which about 550 still are in use.

Former Secretary of Defense Robert N. McNamara argued against spending billions of dollars for a new bomber in an age of intercontinental ballistic missiles. His successor, Clark M. Clifford, set in motion advanced research toward building the B1. The Air Force already has spent $200 million.

The B1 would carry a crew of four and fly at more than 1,500 miles per hour, triple the speed of the B52. Its range would be about 10,000 miles, including one mid-air refueling. The B52 can fly about the same distance without a refueling.

He also reported that the 1969 crop showed only 97 million pounds or almost nine percent of the offerings going into Stabilization loan receipts — this was 31 million pounds better than in 1968 when 128 million pounds or about 12 percent of the crop went into loan.

Stabilization members will also learn that about 7,000 new memberships were sold since the 1969 annual meeting, bringing the total on the organization's rolls to 681,000, largest of any farmer cooperative in the Western Hemisphere. ## Nursing Workshops

The first of two workshops on the leadership role of the professional nurse will begin tomorrow at the School of Nursing at East Carolina University.

Sponsored by the School of Nursing and under Title I of the Higher Education Act of 1965 in cooperation with the Division of Continuing Education, the workshops are designed to further the development of leadership skills of professional nurses.

Emphasis will be placed on communication skills, problem solving techniques and newer trends in nursing unit administration.

The workshops, scheduled June 8-12 and June 22-26, are open to registered nurses in administrative, supervisory or teaching positions employed in hospitals or licensed nursing homes in North Carolina. Approximately 45 participants will attend each session and represent nursing team leaders, head nurses, supervisory, in - service education directors and nursing service directors from throughout the state.

Dr. Joseph Kreplick of Boston, noted psychiatrist and neurologist, will be guest lecturer on June 9 and June 23. Dr. Kreplick has taught neurology and psychiatry and also human relations, general psychology, theory of personality and experimental psychology and techniques of counseling at several leading institutions. He is writing a book on counseling for the level of teachers involved in guidance.

Reservations

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP) — Citing "serious reservations," State Bureau of Investigation Director Charles Dunn says a proposed regional crime lab by the Neuse River Planning and Development Council would be, in effect, "a regional SBI."

Dunn said at a council meeting in New Bern Thursday that it would be unwise to set up a separate agency, asserting that "overlapping of facilities and services is not the answer to the area's law enforcement problems, particularly relating to drugs."

Several speakers at the meeting favored the proposal, including D. Livingstone Stallings, council president; Pat Patteson, immediate past president; Roy Fogel, council director; and Capt. Walter Thomas of the Kinston Police Department.

The council must decide by June 25 whether to establish the regional laboratory at a cost of about $200,000.

Personal Notions

COLUMBIA (AP) — Sen. Sam Ervin, D-N. C., said Friday that the power of the Supreme Court to interpret the constitution is "awesome," adding that under former Chief Justice Earl Warren, the court had "undertaken to abridge the constitutional powers of Congress as the nation's lawmaker."

The veteran lawmaker, a constitutional law expert and a Senate conservative, spoke to the South Carolina State Bar.

Ervin said under Warren the high court at some times stretched "the legislative powers of Congress far beyond their constitutional limits.

"Besides, the Warren court has twisted some constitutional provisions awry to deny individuals basic personal and property rights," he added.

He said, "Justices began to substitute their personal notions for constitutional provisions under the guise of interpreting them. The tragic truth is that under the guise of interpreting them, the Warren court has repeatedly assigned to constitutional provisions meanings incompatible with their language and history."

Nixon Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even President Nixon had to obey doctor's orders and settle for an intermediary when he tried to telephone the pilot wounded in Thursday's bizarre hijacking.

Capt. Dale C. Hupe, shot once in the abdomen during a fight for the hijacker's gun in the cockpit of the Trans World Airlines jet, could not accept Nixon's call Friday afternoon. He was in good condition in Fairfax Hospital in nearby Virginia, but was recovering from three hours of surgery.

Nurse Mary Jane Mastorovich told Nixon Hupe could not be disturbed and took the President's message.

"I served with Captain Hupe on Guadalcanal during World War II and I would like for you to express my personal best wishes to him and that I wish him a speedy recovery. He went through the entire war without a scratch," the nurse related Nixon said. "It's too bad he had to be injured now this way."

Nixon's and Hupe's service together came in the South Pacific when Nixon was a lieutenant junior grade on Guadalcanal for the South Pacific Air Transport Command. Marine Capt. Hupe flew numerous missions for the command.

Tobacco Suit

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — An attorney for the burley tobacco growers who tried to sue the three major television networks filed an amendment to the judgment against them Friday in U.S. District Court.

Special U.S. Judge C. G. Neese ruled Monday the suit, filed last year to halt anti-smoking television commercials, violated the laws of equity under which it was filed.

The judge had ruled that under equity the growers were involved in advertising maintaining that cigarettes are desirable without mentioning the potential danger.

However, attorney Robert M. Odear contends that the ruling "does not correspond to the fact," adding that the judgment asserts "the issues have been duly heard.

"The only opportunity that counsel for either the plaintiffs or defendants had to speak prior to the court's rendering final judgment" was to introduce themselves to the bench, the amendment states.

Odear petitioned that the issue had not been heard and requested a hearing on it.

The 100,000th

The Virginia Electric and Power Company welcomed their 100,000th visitor to the Surry Power Station Nuclear Information Center recently when a group of 164 ninth grade students from Forest Glen High School near Suffolk toured the facilities.

The Surry Information Center was opened in December 1967 on the James River in Surry County at the site of the Surry Power Station, Virginia's first commercial nuclear power station.

The center contains an elevated platform for viewing the power station and houses modern exhibits telling the nuclear power production story. In addition, it has a large auditorium for presentations of movies, slides, and lectures on nuclear energy.

The first generating unit of the power station is scheduled to begin commercial operation in 1971, with the second going into operation the following year.

Lewis Is Named Pitt United Fund Head

John B. Lewis, Jr. of Farmville was elected president of the 1970 - 71 Pitt County United Fund, Inc., succeeding J. Brantley Speight of Winterville. The election was made at an annual meeting on Friday.

"As one member of the United Fund of Pitt County, I am proud to be part of a basic organization whose only program is to channel gifts from generous citizens to those in need," Lewis commented after being elected president.

Other officers elected for the coming year were: William C. Glidewell, Jr. and John S. Whichard, both of Greenville, first and second vice - presidents; J. Eric Whichard, Stokes, secretary; Joe O. Swain, Greenville, treasurer; Paul W. Bailey, Greenville, assistant treasurer; and James T. Cheatham, III, Greenville, general counsel.

For the Board of Directors, a total of 34 members were elected, representing 13 newcomers with 21 old board members serving additional terms. The Board of Directors are — Ayden; C. C. Pratt, A. F. Rowe, Sr., and Walter L. Stroud, Bethel; Art Herron and David O Speir Belvoir-Falkland; Eugene James Farmville; Mayor Frank Allen, Carl W. Blackwood, Robert T. McGaughey, Vance B. Taylor and Bert B. The annual meeting was also the occasion for a number of recognitions. J. Curtis Hendrix, for his work as campaign chairman in the first over-the-top drive conducted in Pitt County; and J. Brantley Speight, for his successful direction of the overall collection effort as president of the fund, were presented with outstanding achievement plaques by Carolinas United, the overall agency for the two Carolinas.

Ralph Tucker, campaign chairman for Pitt County, which had a very substantial increase in donations last year from the 1969 level of contributions, commended the chairmen in the various areas of the county and presented gold keys as a token of appreciation.

Lewis announced that a meeting of the board of directors to begin groundwork for the forthcoming campaign would be held at an early date, possibly within a couple of weeks.

Cosmonauts OK On Space Flight

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soyuz 9 cosmonauts Andrian Nikolayev and Vitaly Sevastianov occupied themselves Saturday with spaceflight chores ranging from medical research to brewing hot coffee.

Soviet press reports of the flight, now in its fifth day, described a daily bed routine that sounded like life in a suburban apartment.

"While one cosmonaut runs a vacuum cleaner, the other brews coffee or shaves," the news agency Tass said, describing the start of their working day.

Tass also said Nikolayev and Sevastianov enjoyed radioed reports of world events, particularly the World cup soccer in Mexico.

Fellow consmonaut Valeri Kubasov said Nikolayev and Sevastianov were carrying out a major program of scientific experiments during their prolonged flight.

Kubasov, who carried out the first space-welding experiments on another Soyuz flight last October, gave few details of the program, but he told Tass Nikolayev had completed 35 experiments and Sevastianov 38.

As usual, the Soviets have been secretive about the Soyuz 9 flight plan but Tass officially confirmed that it will not be joined by a second Soyuz ship at a later date. The last two Soyuz projects were group flights of two or more ships.

Unofficially, Soviet sources have said the flight will last at least 10 days and perhaps as long as 18 days.

Challenge Fizzles At UNC

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — A student challenge of the University of North Carolina's campus disruptions policy has apparently fizzled.

UNC President William Friday said Friday that an investigation of a statement in which upwards of 600 students admitted they had violated the policy turned up "fewer than 10" who insisted they actually did so and intended to.

Friday said the statements of the few who insisted they had violated the policy "constitute probable cause" for calling them before the university's hearing committee.

About 600 students signed a petition saying, "We, the undersigned members of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, declare that we violated the disruptions policy and recognize that our disruptions is equivalent to that of black students being tried currently by the university."

The petition was started in a move to dramatize the criticism by some students of the policy, particularly that it was being used in a discriminating manner against three black students who were charged with violations following a strike of food service workers.

Friday told the UNC trustees May 25 that the petition was being investigated.

He said the investigation turned up several persons who either had not signed the statement or who had signed it as a protest but had done nothing.

He said about 200 to 225 signers had not responded to letters the university sent out as part of its investigation. He said a second letter would be sent out to these persons and if they didn't respond, action may be taken against them for not replying.

However, he said, refusal to answer the letters would be considered a violation separate from the disruption's policy.

Sleek SST Mockup Unveiled By Boeing

By CATHY CASTILLO
Associated Press Writer

SEATTLE (AP) — A sleek mockup with one wing, two wooden engines and a pointed nose was unveiled Friday as the Boeing Co. concept of what the world's largest and fastest supersonic airliner will look like.

After viewing the aluminum full-size model of the 1,800-mile-an hour passenger jet, Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe praised the plane and predicted the U.S. design would win control of the world market from SSTs being built by the Soviet Union and a French-British combine.

Volpe said he was "extremely confident" the Senate will approve $290 million for the supersonic program in fiscal 1971. The House approved the appropriation May 27.

Volpe said that by the time the SST makes its first flight, now scheduled in 1972, noise and atmospheric pollution problems will be solved.

Environmentalists oppose the SST, which will trail behind it a 20-to-25-mile-wide carpet of sonic booms when flying at speeds greater than sound. President Nixon has attempted to quiet boom critics by promising to ban supersonic flights over populated areas.

During the program Friday, Boeing officials said the SST would produce a lower noise level when landing and taking off than passenger jets now in service. The company also said a fully loaded SST would emit about the same amount of pollutants into the atmosphere as three automobiles traveling at 60 m.p.h..

The company said there was no evidence to support critics who say the jet, capable of cruising at 60,000 feet, would form a global layer of cirrus clouds that would alter the climate.

Activists Convicted For Draft Records Raid

CHICAGO (AP) — Ten anti-war activists have been convicted in U.S. District Court of destroying thousands of draft records in a raid on a Selective Service office.

All were convicted on all four counts of the indictment in a verdict returned Friday by a jury of seven men and five women. The maximum penalty is 23 years in prison and fines totaling $32,000. Sentencing is scheduled Tuesday.

Three of the defendants were not present to hear the verdict. They disappeared near the end of the five week trial, and warrants have been issued for their arrest.

Judge Edwin A. Robson revoked the bonds of the seven defendants who were in court. He said they are a menace to the community and he would be negligent in his duties if he allowed them to remain at large "to wreak the same havoc" elsewhere in the nation.

It is only a step from burning draft records to burning buildings, the judge said in denying defense motions that the seven remain free on bond pending sentencing. The defendants' actions amounted to anarchy, he said.

Bonds for the other defendants were revoked when they disappeared.

The defendants admitted during the trial that they took part in the raid on a complex of draft offices and destroyed records by pouring paint on them and dumping them into a bonfire.

But an attorney for four defendants argued that his clients were innocent on grounds they were "culturally insane" because their views on Vietnam and racism differ from those of the majority of Americans.

In his instructions to the jury, however, Judge Robson said that an individual's political beliefs are no basis for disobeying the law.

The four defendants represented by attorney Frank Oliver were examined by a psychiatrist who testified for the prosecution that all four were mentally sound and able to tell the difference between right and wrong at the time of the raid.

The four were the Rev. Nicholas J. Riddell, 40, of Milwaukee, a Carmelite priests; Linda J. Quint, 22, of Chicago; and Edward Gargan, 19, and William Durkin, 20, both of Milwaukee.

They were among 18 persons arrested May 25, 1969, during the raid on a southwest side Selective service office. Three of the 18 were dismissed because they were newsmen observing the demonstrations.

Four of the defendants failed to appear when the trial began and they were served from the proceeding.

One of the remaining 11, Edward Hoffmans, 32, Iowa City, Iowa, was ruled mentally unfit to stand trial after a psychiatrist testified he showed signs of a schizoid personality.

On of the convicted defendants, Frederick J. Chase, 26, Detroit, has been sentenced to 297 days in jail for contempt for repeatedly refusing to rise when the judge and jury entered the courtroom.

Eisenhower Questions 'Southern Strategy'

By RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — David Eisenhower has some reservations about how much a "Southern Strategy" would enhance the Republican party's political future.

Young Eisenhower, a political science major at Amherst College, dealt with that question in his senior thesis, an analysis of Kevin Philips' book "The Emerging Republican Majority."

The thesis earned Eisenhower a B.A. cum laude at Amherst commencement exercises Friday. Eisenhower, 22, and his wife Julie did not attend because he did not like the choice of commencement speaker—left-wing political writer I. F. Stone—and because he feared there might be antiadministration demonstrations that would embarrass his family.

The thesis is not available to the public, but in a telephone interview from Washington Eisenhower said that among other things he had examined the George Wallace vote in the border South in the 1968 presidential elections.

Philips' study holds that Wallace supporters in the South are potential Republicans and that the GOP could write off the Northeast and still build a majority.

"I attempted to find points where Philips might not be so strong and where there might be some implications nationally," Eisenhower said.

He said he believes it is still "an open question whether the (Wallace) vote that was ripped away from the Democratic party could accurately be termed a Republican trending or whether it was an aberration.

"When we're discussing partisan realignment, we're discussing something much larger than just one election; we're discussing local offices, congressional voting, Senate voting."

Another factor, Eisenhower said, is that "the Republican party really doesn't yet have a coherent image in the South."

"I think the Republicans may gain," he said, "but what this could mean is that we've just entered an era like that immediately following the Civil War in which in effect there was no national majority up to the period of William McKinley," who was elected president in 1896.

North Korea Claims U.S. Spy Ship Sank

By MARK KURAMITSU
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea claims it sank a "heavily armed" U.S. spy ship in the Yellow Sea, but the U.S. Navy has denied the charge, saying it has no ships operating in the area.

South Korea announced Friday that one of its vessels, on a routine mission to prevent South Korean fishing boats from straying north of the border, was attacked by two North Korean patrol boats and towed off toward the north. North Korea issued its claim later in the day, and there was speculation the two Korean governments were referring to the same incident.

North Korea's official Korean Central News Agency said an American spy ship "intruded deep into the coastal waters" about 11.30 p.m. Friday. "Officers and men of the navy of the Korean People's army ... instantly sent to the bottom of the sea the enemy's armed spy ship," the broadcast said.

The Navy reported in a statement issued in Washington: "The U.S. Navy had no ships of any kind operating in that area."

The North Korean dispatch said the ship was sunk off Haeju, about 50 miles south of Pyongyang, the North Korean capital.

The South Korean Defense Ministry said its boat was accosted by two North Korean vessels just south of the seaward extension of the Demilitarized Zone, about 70 miles west of the South Korean capital of Seoul.

The location given by the North Koreans would put the ship slightly north of the DMZ, and that given by the South Koreans would put it south of the line.

South Korean Brig. Gen. called the seizure a "premeditated attack." He did not say whether fire was returned or if there were casualties. There was no word on the condition of the crew.

But the English-language Korea Times reported without attribution that the South Korean boat returned fire with a 50mm machine gun until its engines stalled. The paper said it was believed the South Korean boat suffered heavy damage and that there were casualties among her crew.

Involving Hard Business Fact

Obviously it is difficult for tobacco auction markets to accept the fact that one of the major purchasing companies has decided to remove its buyers from some markets. There are times, however, when it becomes necessary to face squarely the hard facts of the changing business world.

The announced intention by Imperial Tobacco Company to remove its buyers from 16 one - sale markets in North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia has caused a storm of protest from warehouse groups. It now appears that warehousemen will seek court action that hopefully will result in the courts telling the tobacco company it must have buyers on all markets.

There can be no question that the move by Imperial poses a threat to every tobacco market. The buying power represented by a company such as Imperial is important to most markets. More than that, however, it could be a probing action to determine whether the purchasing companies might, by withdrawing their buyers, reduce the number of auction markets.

On the other side of the coin, it must be recognized that purchasing companies must seek in the competitive auction market the kind of leaf needed for its own demands. In past years the companies have put their buying strength — and their money — where they found the kind of tobacco needed to meet their requirements. The very fact that a company had buyers on a particular market has not always meant that the company purchased an appreciable amount of tobacco on that particular market.

The move by Imperial is another in the series of changes that has been taking place in the tobacco industry and the aution system in recent years. What its long - range effect will be upon the system remains to be seen. But in the tobacco marketing system, as in most other areas of business, it is an era of change that may ultimately, completely rearrange the system itself.

Someday, The Birds May Go

By ED BOOK
The Gastonia Gazette

GASTONIA — Someday — maybe — some of the birds that Douglas Pratt sees won't be there any more when he looks.

Their pictures will be in "history" books, and perhaps some that Pratt saw will be captured beneath the strokes of his brush.

Pratt is a biology teacher at Ashley high school with a strong bent for illustrating birds, and with a strong interest in ecology — the balance of nature.

Recently one of his illustrations appeared in "Wildlife of North Carolina." One water color painting of two birds is slated to appear on the cover of another wildlife magazine.

Earlier this month Pratt showed his art to the Carolina Bird Club in Southern Pines.

Going through some of his collection, he selects the painting of the head of a turkey vulture, sometimes called turkey buzzard, as one of his own favorites.

"Ugly to most people, but not to me," says Pratt.

But some of the birds are disappearing and pollution is the reason, Pratt says.

The greatest danger to birds falls particularly to birds of prev because they eat other animals and absorb traces of DDT poison until they get too much and face extinction. DDT endures and is not easily broken down.

Pratt says the pesticide destroys the reproductive organs of the birds and thus endangers the entire species.

He named the Brown Pelican and the Bald Eagle among the species which once frequented North Carolina but are now going extinct.

North Carolina's Red Cockaded Woodpecker is another bird that is considered an "endagered species," says Pratt. But for another reason.

These birds habituate in diseased longleaf pine trees only and these trees are getting scarcer.

Pratt hopes to do paintings of all the endangered species "while I can still find them around."

But how do you paint a bird? Do you just go and paint his colors on a board?

Not according to Pratt, who is the recipient of a National Science Foundation fellowship to continue his study of the birds - ornithology.

Being a biologist contributes to Pratt's skill as artist. When you know what a bird feels like in the hand, he says, then you have a better idea how to paint it.

"You have to know every part - which way a wing feature tucks in, and so on."

Pratt's hope is to continue a life of study and painting the winged cousins, Genus Aves.

And, hopefully, to somehow help save species that are endangered.

He has a painting of a Pellegrine Falcon, the bird of falconers, which is also a species en route to disappearing from the face of the earth.

"It's always a bird of prey, especially at the end of the food chain," he says. And this is where the upset to the delicate balance of nature comes in. Some birds dying off are fabulous mosquito catchers, for instance, and if they go the "skeeters" cometh.

It "may be too late," says Pratt, to save some waning species.

But there's another thing that bothers him and he wonders why it hasn't occurred to others.

Noting the absorption of pesticide by animals, and of smoke, air and water pollutants, Pratt says:

ARVN Demonstrating Military Capabilities

It may be one of the great benefits of the Cambodian campaign will be discovery of the fact that South Vietnamese forces have reached their maturity as fighting men.

"Splendid," said President Nixon of their performance. "Sixty percent of all the troops in the Cambodian operations were South Vietnamese." He said their fighting spirit and skill. "Far exceeded expectations."

After all, our entry into the Vietnam situation was designed to give South Vietnamese forces time to become strong enough to defend themselves. It has been a long war for the United States and withdrawal of most of our troops is now certain. This means that South Vietnamese forces must be ready to take over their own defense.

There have been encouraging signs that the South Vietnamese military has developed into a force that is ready and willing to defend the country.

Wage-Price Switch Hinted

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration, stung by failure to halt the inflation spiral, is inching its way toward a watered - down incomes policy that marks a radical shift in its economic strategy.

No final decision has yet been made by President Nixon, and bitter debate continues. But the odds are now much better than even that he soon will endorse a policy not greatly different from a proposal by Sen. Jacob Javits, the liberal Republican from New York. Javits wants the President's Council of Economic Advisors to make monthly reports to the public on wage and price increases, analyzing their inflationary impact. The hope is that pitiless publicity will help hold them down.

This is nothing less than the despised jawboning of Kennedy - Johnson days, target of an 18-months attack from Nixon economic policymakers. Thus, Mr. Nixon's endorsement of anything resembling the Javits resolution is tacit admission of failure either to control inflation or prevent rising unemployment before the 1970 campaign and confirms the already obvious trend toward easier fiscal and monetary policies.

It also represents a signal victory for Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who first broke the solid front Nixon against jawboning. But it has provoked passionate struggles inside the Nixon administration, with Secretary of Labor George Shultz leading the bitter - end foes of jawboning.

Actually, none of the policymakers — Burns included — are swallowing their doctrinal abhorrence of jawboning. There is no chance Mr. Nixon will advocate outright wage - price controls or even return to voluntary guideposts. In truth, Nixon men privately doubt that a Javits - type plan will do much good. Some — including Shultz — think Burns's appeal was in itself inflationary, inviting price rises to offset imminent government action.

But proponents of moderate jawboning see it as one protection for Mr. Nixon from Democratic campaign charges that he is indifferent to inflation. They see it as a useful propaganda gimmick until increases in productivity really slow down inflation.

Moreover, the Javits approach might supplant a bitter political pill now being devised by Congressional Democrats: standby Presidential authority for direct wage - price controls. Democrats on the House Banking Committee, bitterly divided on most everything, were nearly unanimous last week in wanting to add standby powers to the Defense Production Act.

Administration foes of any incomes policy see more sinister motives in the switch. They view it as camouflage for discontinuing the tough fiscal and monetary policies used by the Administration, without visible success yet, to fight inflation.

Indeed, the tight money policy is already a dead letter. Faced with a liquidity crisis that contributed to the stock market crash, Burns led the Fed into markedly increasing the money supply. Keen observers in Wall Street feel that Burns, faced with possible financial panic or more inflation, took the only choice: more invlation His proposed incomes policy then became the necessary cosmetic.

When he began pushing an

MIRACLES

Has the day of miracles ended? Not at all. If miracles do not occur today then they probably never occurred. And if they have never occurred and do not occur now, a big block of satisfaction has fallen out of life.

Every physician knows that he has indicated that certain of his patients would die, and behold, these patients lived on for years. Thomas A. Edison was said to have been an unusually stupid child, but he stands today among the world's great and turns the lights on all over the world every night.

Think back over your life and you will see that you have experienced miracles. Things that you thought could not happen actually did happen.

Life itself is a miracle. These bodies of ours emerge from mere cells. The computer is a mechanical miracle. We have landed men on the moon. We may, perhaps, land them on some of the planets a few years from now. Think of the cry of joy that will go up from the earth the day the cure for cancer is discovered. And it will be discovered, with scientists wondering how they could have been so stupid as not to have discovered it years ago.

Believe in miracles. They have happened in the past. They are happening today. "Greater things than these shall ye do," said Jesus, "because I go unto my Father" (John 14:12). When we cease to believe in miracles, we cease to believe in life.

stadium which stood where the Music Building is now. Of course the graduation was moved to Ficklen Stadium when it was constructed.

This year, as always, the clouds moved over Greenville as the ceremonies got underway.

As the program progressed, it was raining south of Greenville enough to slick the highways.

Back at Ficklen, though, the Jenkins luck held. It remained overcast, but dry, there until the program was completed.

A lady pulled up to a stop light in downtown Greenville and she brought her car to a halt. Immediately the vehicle behind honked. She whipped around and vigorously shook her finger at the boys in the car behind.

Then she turned back — just in time to see the light which had been green all along, turn amber and then red.

I dropped in to my favorite newsstand to pick up a paper around noon one day last week.

"Sorry," said the lady on duty. "They're all gone. The Methodist are in town and they bought up most of the

What Wallace Means

(The Raleigh Times)

What does the George Wallace victory in Alabama mean to the rest of the nation?

For one thing, it means political trouble for President Nixon. Wallace has already challenged Nixon to make good on some campaign promises to the South, or answer to the wrath of his Alabama movement. This isn't so much a threat as it is simply a statement of fact. Wallace proved to himself and to the rest of the country that a "nigger" campaign will pay off in the Deep South, and perhaps in parts of the South not so deep. If Nixon doesn't follow through on those parts of his Southern strategy which have especial appeal to the Deep South, Wallace could well give him a hard time of it in 1972.

Of major concern to the whole country is the effect the Wallace victory could have on the presidential campaign in 1972. If Wallace should make that run again, and if he should concentrate on the Southern states this time, he could again raise the dreaded threat to throwing the presidential election into the House of Representatives. This is something all Democratic and Republican leaders should fight vigorously.

Wallace has denied that racism had a role in his Alabama victory, a denial which doesn't jibe with news stories of his campaign which tell of him referring to the "nigger." His successful use of this one issue is discouraging to those southerners who had begun to hope that the South was finally edging away from the time when a politician didn't have to discuss issue, and had only to use the word "nigger" to win elections.

Wallace's victory should encourage other racists in the South to revive this tactic. It wouldn't be hard to do so in North Carolina, unfortunately. Race had a share in the defeat of the school bond issue in Wake County last Saturday, for example. Any demogogue who wished to make use of this issue could pick up a lot of votes in future elections in this State. If anyone has forgotten the strength of Wallace in North Carolina in 1968, it wouldn't hurt to remember that he got 17,250 votes in Wake County, 496,188 votes in the State that year.

What happened in Alabama should be a clear warning of what could well happen in other parts of the South in 1972. The time to begin getting ready for it is now, not just a few short weeks before the time for political decision then.

$1.7 Trillion Debt Is A Burden

By ELMER ROESSNER

Total public and private debt in the United States rose $122 billion in 1969 to reach $1.7 trillion at the start of the year, according to Department of Commerce figures. At that rate, it is close to $1.8

trillion now. That's considerably more than the total of all goods and services produced in a year, which may reach $1 trillion for the first time this year.

The total indebtedness has revived worries among economists and bankers as to whether America is overextended.

"We owe it to ourselves," is the common rejoinder to that concern.

But we don't. A more accurate statement is: The havenots owe it to the haves.

The public debt, owed by the federal government, and agencies and by state and local governments, was $492.2 billion. That is owed by tax - payers and it is owed to the wealthy, much of it in the form of tax exempt bonds.

Any Owed You?

Corporations owed $692.2 billion. Most of this is owed to banks and other institutions and to bond holders. Unless you own a bank or some corporate bonds, no part of this is owed to you, although you must pay it off in high prices that cover debt interest and retirement.

People with residential mortgages owe $262.9 billion, and as they well know, they don't owe it to themselves but to banks, savings and loan societies and other mortgagees.

Unincorporated businesses and farmers owe $169.7 billion to commercial banks, farm banks, some corporations who finance agencies, and perhaps some relatives.

And consumers owe $122.5 billion, and they don't owe that to themselves unless they own a department store or a credit card company.

If the foregoing figures add up to $1,935.1 billion instead of $1.7 trillion, it's because those are gross figures, with funds accumulated to offset some of the indebtedness, instead of the $1.7 trillion net figure.

Do We Owe Too Much?

The collapse of the stock market, the rise of unemployment and the other signs of recession underscore the question of whether total indebtedness is too high.

Many corporations, expecially those with high debt obligations, have been forced to cut dividends. Many stocks have lost millions in paper value. Unemployment has risen, signalling an increase in the number of personal bankruptcies. The danger, of course, is that financial troubles can spread. If a hundred Maizie Doakes can't pay their charge accounts, the stores will not be able to pay theiy suppliers, banks or factors. And that may leave them in trouble.

If the total indebtedness is $1.7 billion, and the average interest rate is 8 per cent (it's probably higher), consumers and taxpayers are paying $136 million a year in interest and taxes.

John Gorman, a commerce Department economist, calculated that in 1960, consumers paid 19 per cent of their after - tax income in interest charges, repayments on mortgages and installment loans. It is now close to 23 per cent. If all consumers paid cash today, they would get 100 cents as it was in 1957-59 instead of 74.6 cents as it is today.

Health Shows Profit

By JAMES R. POLK

ERIN, Tenn. (AP) — Deep in the Cumberland River Hills, the only two doctors in the town were ready to pack their black bags and leave.

After a decade of delivering babies in a red brick office, then turned down for federal aid in their efforts to build a hospital, the doctors were tired and discouraged.

But today this dusty little county seat of 1,100 persons has a gleaming new hospital that cost nearly $1 million.

Built by a private chain without government help, the 36-bed hilltop hospital has special heart equipment, modern operating facilities and has even lured a new surgeon to town.

And it's making a profit.

Hospital Corporation of America, a seven-state private chain that is only three years old, has found a way to bring new hospitals to rural regions, keep rates relatively low in an era of skyrocketing medical costs, and still make it pay off.

A streamlined central administrative staff, large discounts for buying supplies for a 26-hospital chain, and a careful eye for economy have helped keep costs down.

But HCA and the other privately owned chains in the new health-for-profit hospital field in the South and West have not found a way to escape controversy.

Rival non-profit hospitals in many cities accuse the private chains of skimming off the best-paying patients, turning away the poor, and keeping an eye on stock trends rather than medical charts. The chains deny the charges.

In the last few years, since medicare and medicaid pumped billions in federal funds into the health field, profit-making hospital chains have sprung up from coast to coast to challenge the sometimes inefficient hospitals traditionally run by county or church.

The hospital stocks soared astronomically on the market at first, but now the slump of recent months has sapped the glamor of the stocks, sending prices skidding steeply and stirring a crisis in the industry.

The slump came just as HCA was beginning to open up the vanguard of its newly built hospitals, mainly in rural areas. Strung together originally like other national chains through buying up older hospitals, HCA is in the midst of an ambitious building program from Florida to Kentucky.

Erin's hospital, the showpiece, was the first new facility to open last summer. It stays four-fifths full, can draw on top medical specialists through the HCA headquarters in Nashville, and has a room rate of $28 a day—half as high as New York or Boston or Los Angeles.

HCA keeps its costs down by using the same basic plans for its hospitals, buying at bulk discounts on everything from steel to syringes, and demanding efficiency. It is saving $200,000 alone in discounts for the steel going into new hospitals being built in Chattanooga, tenn.; Macon, and Albany, Ga.

The main key to making money in the chains is a fast turnover of patients. Hospital costs for most patients anywhere are highest in the first few days, particularly if surgery is involved. The chains often trim the time spent in bed afterwards and send patients home earlier.

Observations From Editorial Columns

BRIEFLY NOTED

Political and ideological labels are rampant these days. It's getting to the point where some enterprising person could make money on a listing and definition of the terms.

The danger of such labels still exists. Chief Justice Warren Burger put it well the other day. He referred to the "quaint custom" in the United States of labeling judges as conservatives, moderates or liberals.

Burger added, apparently facetiously, "Now this custom of ours is harmless enough, I suppose, because it saves a great many people the burden of thinking or even reading . . . " - Houston (Texas.) Chronicle

FREEDOM OF (SOME) SPEECH

Stanford University recently was the scene of an anti - war episode which is all too representative of the phoniness of current complaints about freedom of speech.

At the conclusion of a scheduled campus demonstration against U.S. involvement in Southeast Asia, the students grandly announced an "open mike" policy for others who might wish to speak.

When a 29-year old veteran of the Vietnam War took the microphone to express a different point of view, two Third World Liberation students dashed upon him, shouting obscenities, seized the mike and threw it to the ground.

As they explained, the open mike was only "for constructive, creative ideas on ending the war. It was not freedom for the enemy to speak." Freedom of speech, it turns out, depends on what is to be spoken. - Columbia (S.C.) State

WOMEN OUTNUMBER MEN

There are more women than men in almost every country in the world, and in the Soviet Union there are approximately 18 million more. This fact poses problems, only one of which comes under discussion today.

Think, a man was heard to say the other day, if women ever learned how to get along with each other, what they could do. They could nominate women for every conceivable post, and then go ahead and elect them through sheer force of numbers. They could make laws to suit themselves.

Not all of this makes a man shudder, but some of it does. But women probably will never be anything but beautiful, charming, and completely disorganized, so men have nothing to worry about . . . except keeping them happy and off guard. — Monroe (La.) News - Star

SPIRO STRIKES AGAIN

The cartoonists will have a field day with Vice President Agnews's latest comic miscue on the playing fields. The first well - remembered event, into which Spiro's critics read all kinds of political allegories, was in the Bob Hope golf classic in February. The Vice President beaned pro Doug Sanders with an errant shot.

In a repeat performance, which demonstrated his versatility, Spiro belted his tennis partner with a wayward serve recently. Appropriately enough for those who have identified Agnew as the bete noir of the Administration, the victim this time was the Peace Corps director, Joseph H. Blatchford.

The voluble Veep, asked to comment on the relative difficulty of hitting Sanders with a golf ball and Blatchford on the tennis courts, modestly declared that his form was as good in one sport as the other. And, his hysterical critics will add, that applies to his rhetoric too. But there is a difference which they will ignore: when Agnew aims his words there is no doubt of his target. On the courts and links it's an accident. — Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

THE GIFT OF CONFIDENCE

Ralph Waldo Emerson said, "The only gift is a portion of thyself." This is a good season to remember that. Unless the gift embodies an earnest desire to please and requires thoughtful consideration of the taste and wishes of the recipient it is not a true gift — it is only a present.

Presents can be nice to receive but only gifts warm the heart. The best kind of all are invisible gifts, the kind we seldom think of as gifts. One of these is the gift of confidence. Everyone has his doubting hours, wondering whether he really does have what it takes. The confidence we have in ourselves is born out of the confidence others have in us. If other people think we can, perhaps we can!

People who give us confidence make us feel more important, more attractive, more capable. They prop us in all our leaning places. Under the sunshine of their expressed confidence our doubts melt. But a person must be rich to give invisible gifts like that — not in money, in character! - Lakeland (Fla.) Ledger

IT MAKES SENSE

It has been silly to claim, as many have, that a mob has a "right" to take over the streets. There is a right of peaceable assembly, but not necessarily in the streets to the inconvenience and danger of others. The Supreme Court has rightly upheld the authority of local officials to prevent street assemblies in emergency conditions.

The right of assembly does not include the right to threaten or to disrupt or to take over use of public property from others. - Chattanooga (Tenn.) News-Free Press

What Could Be Wrong With 'Just Schools'?

By J.J. KILPATRICK

The Fourth U.S. Circuit Court took a small step toward sanity in school desegregation cases here the other day, by creating a rule of "reasonableness" in the restructuring of schools. For this much, let us be thankful.

Yet the Circuit Court persisted in the fundamental error that has served not to end racism, but to keep it alive. The court continues to think in terms of an affirmative state-imposed integration as if the Constitution required it. No such construction ever has been decreed by the Supreme Court. It is mystifying that this musunderstanding should go on.

The Fourth Circuit's decision, reversing the giddy desegregation scheme that had been imposed upon the Charlotte - Mecklenburg County schools by District Judge James B. McMillan, came two years to the day after the Supreme Court spoke in the famous case of Green v. New Kent County. It was in Green that the high court summed up the law of desegregation in two words. Henceforth, said Brennan for the Court, the goal is to achieve "just schools."

Brennan's opinion two years ago was meticulous in its restatement of the law as it applies to the Southern States. These States once had operated dual systems — schools for blacks, schools for whites. Such schools, rooted in racial discrimination, could no longer be maintained. But the Court did not order integration as such; with painstaking care, the Court repeatedly stated its aim in terms of "desegregation."

This is no semantic quibble. The distinction between "integration" and "desegregation" is vital to an understanding of the constitutional commandment. Brennan could not have been more clear. The obligation on school boards, he said, is to produce effective plans for "achieving desegregation." They must make progress "toward disestablishing state-imposed segregation." They must "dismantle the state-imposed dual system." Lower courts should make certain that "state-imposed segregation has been completely removed."

In brief, Brennan siid, the responsibility of the Southern school boards is "to effectuate conversion of a state-imposed dual system to a unitary, nonracial system." And this conversion means "a system without a 'white' school and a 'Negro' school, but just schools."

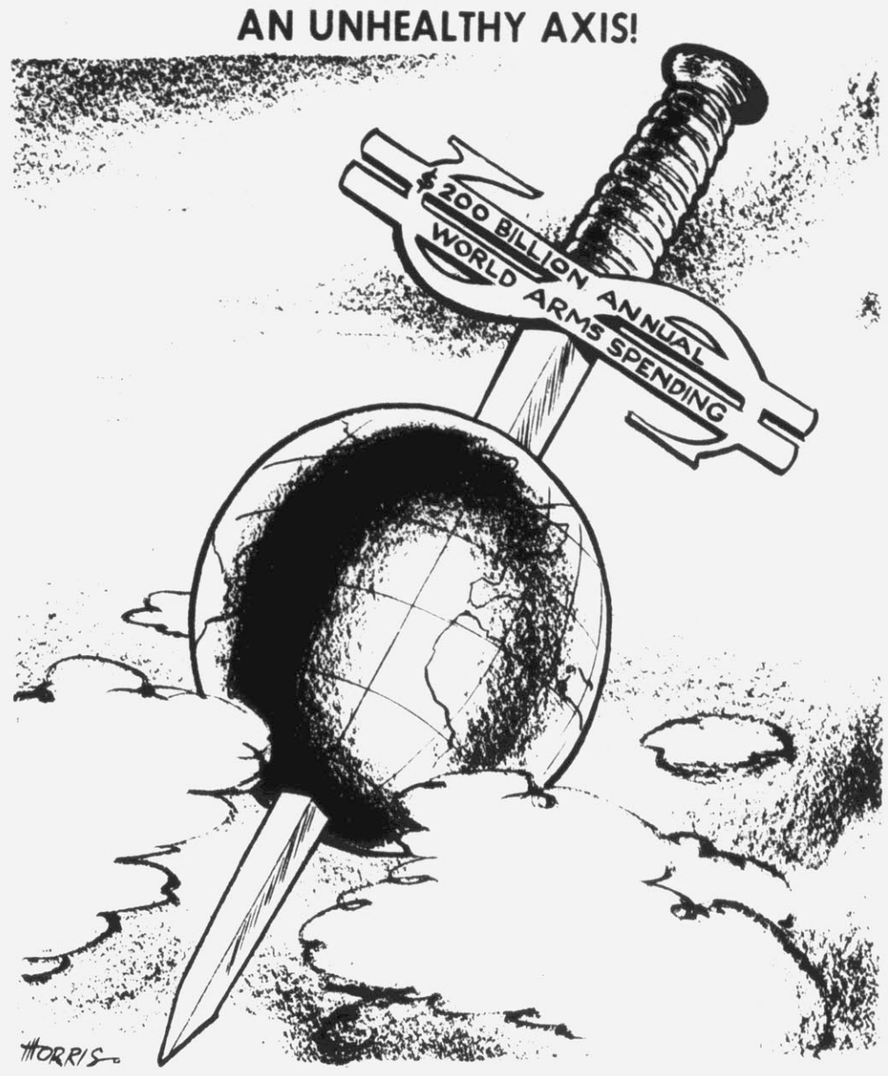

Brennan might have been writing on the wind for all the attention that Judge McMillan paid to the Green case in Charlotte. Far from demanding a "nonracial system," the District Court demanded pupil assignments based wholly on race. Instead of "just schools," McMillan ordered schools that were 71 per cent white, 29 per cent black.

The Procrustean verdict in Charlotte was to be carried out through a computerized system of cross-busing. Ten predominantly black schools in the inner city were to be paired with 24 predominantly white schools on the edges of the city or in the suburbs. Thirteen thousand children then were to be madly bused back and forth, an average of 30 miles a day, consuming two hours and 20 minutes daily. All that counted was the color of a child's skin. This and this alone determined the school he would attend.

Thankfully, the Fourth Circuit backed away from this lunacy — or most of it, anyhow — in its gingerly reversal last week. The case goes back to Judge McMillan for the drafting of a more "reasonable" plan. And because of the respect that is paid the Fourth Circuit, we may assume that other Federal courts also may introduce reason to realms where unreason has been king.

Yet the basic misconception remains. In Los Angeles, Pasadena, Mobile, just this past Monday in Houston, the high court's commandment for "nonracial" schools is translated into blatently racial decrees. The law that was supposed to be color-blind remains color-conscious. Instead of unitary systems, treating children simply as children, we are getting systems as carefully compounded as high-test galoline. It is baffling. If the Constitution forbids schools that are deliberately "white" or deliberately "black," how can it require schools that are deliberately the color of coffee with cream?

AN UNHEALTHY AXIS!

'Pied Piper' Of Peace Movement Now Aims At Congress Elections

By HOWARD FIELDS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — "The president has simply decided he's not going to listen. . ."

That view has signalled an end to one type of antiwar activity and ushered in another.

The protest movement, conceding it has failed to change President Nixon's Vietnam policy by marches, demonstrations and "peace-ins," now plans to concentrate on efforts to elect a Congress in November which will be more responsive to its views.

"What we've got to do is just stop talking to them in Washington and go home and organize the base out from underneath them," said Sam Brown, 27, a sort of pied piper of the peace movement.

Iowan Brown succeeded in forming a cohesive force to organize nationwide antiwar demonstrations last year in his role as one of the chiefs of the Vietnam Moratorium Committee.

Want Basic Policy Change

But while the Moratorium and a similar group, the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam, were successful in their organizing, they were unsuccessful in achieving their goals.

Brown and his co-leaders finally concluded they weren't going to change the President's basic policy on Vietnam, no matter how many people they recruited to demonstrate.

"I don't think there's any question but that we've pushed him (Nixon) and pushed him very hard," Brown said. "But what we're looking for in the final analysis is a substantial change in policy and we haven't seen that."

Working On Congressmen

As a result, leaders of the movement decided to switch their efforts to congress in hopes friendly legislators would exercise a foreign policy veto by manipulating the purse strings. Brown and his coworkers announced an end to massive demonstrations in mid April.

Only a week later, the President announced that he had ordered U.S. troops into Cambodia. The protest movement exploded into life again, with thousands of new sympathizers bolstering its ranks.

The New Mobe held a spur-of-the-moment protest rally in the nation's capital and then announced the following day that it, too, was switching its emphasis to Congress.

Since then, various other antiwar groups have sprung up, either specializing in lobbying on Capitol Hill or working in election campaigns, or both.

Lobbyists Jam Capitol

Enthusiasm is running high. In fact, some protest leaders believe the greatest danger is that the crusade may be strangled by its own enthusiasm.

One group leader estimated that there are about 20 different organizations working for antiwar congressional candidates, with many of them duplicating each other's efforts in preparing purge lists and lobbying Congress.

There is no indication yet that congressmen are tiring of the youthful lobbyists, who literally jammed the Capitol recently. But there is apprehension that a deluge of lists, research papers and lobbyists, all saying the same thing for different organizations, may cause the lawmakers to "turn off."

Not Coordinated Enough

A similar proliferation of antiwar demonstrations last year gave rise to the Moratorium, the New Mobe and its student counterpart, the Student Mobes. Each was a coalition offering a centralized direction to antiwar demonstrations.

There apparently is no effort to duplicate such coordination in the new movement, although most of the primary Washington-based groups are communicating with each other and putting out a joint daily newsletter to pool information.

incomes policy, Burns had little support inside the Administration (except for his usually, Secretary George Romney of Housing and Urban Development). Mr. Nixon himself gave the idea a sour reception when Burns tried it out on him. Dr. Paul McCracken, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, categorically rejected the Javits resolution in a letter of May 14.

McCracken and Shultz remain opposed, but previous foes in the White House and Treasury have softened their opposition. The tipoff came last week when Dr. Charls Walker, Under Secretary of the Treasury, publicly allowed that the Javits approach appealed to him.

What Mr. Nixon finally comes up with probably will be jawboning no more belligernt than, but different in form from, the Javits resolution. The answer will come in the long - delayed Presidential speech on the economy in mid-June.

This prospect confirms the judgment of Nixon - watchers who felt that the President, well aware how much the Eisenhower administration's economic inflexibility cost the Republican party in 1958 and 1960, would drop his restrictive policy if it failed to work before the 1970 campaign. That's why Administration officials trying to hold the President to his old economic game plan are probably fighting a losing battle.

Oh well, I don't mind giving up a morning paper for the visiting Methodists.

Identifying the Methodist delegates wasn't difficult last week, since most of them wore their badges in downtown restaurants and stores.

There's no doubt that the conference livened things up here during a week when all of the ECU students had left for the summer.

'Oasis Of Learning' Plans For Dramatic New Venture

Long lines of automobiles moved out of Greenville along every available highway, heading in all directions of the compass in the gathering dusk of last Sunday evening.

Many thousands were leaving this city which, as the home of East Carolina University, has become an oasis of learning for this great, growing and geographically large region. They had come to Greenville as students, as parents of students, relatives, alumni and friends. The departure was temporary — they will return, the graduates as alumni, students to resume and continue their studies and old grads, faculty and friends to do their part in carrying on the work of building a better way of life through education.

The occasion on last Sunday was the climax of the 61st Commencement. A near record number of graduates, a total of 2,010, received degrees in traditional and colorful ceremonies.

In addition to the graduates and faculty, an estimated 10,000 persons attended the graduation exercises, and it was an inspiring event.

Earlier in the weekend, while addressing our alumni and later at the graduation itself, we described the university as more than an institution of learning. It is, literally, a symbol of an emerging area. It is also the focal point for the development of a region, helping to lead the way to a brighter future.

We noted that the university is moving forward in planning and development of doctoral programs which were authorized by the 1969 General Assembly and toward establishment of a two-year medical school which also was authorized by the legislature.

Changes are taking place on the campus, of course, and there will be changes in the years to come. We are confident that these will be accomplished in a constructive, cooperative way and lead to even more significant development.

We also disclosed that ECU is working toward establishing a junior year abroad program. This is our most dramatic move in the field of international education. Under the proposal, ECU students would complete the equivalent of an academic year in Bonn, Germany, where the University hopes to secure a renovated chateau on the banks of the Rhine River and library resources of the University of Bonn.

The year abroad program is to be presented to the Board of Trustees when it is finally developed.

We feel sure the program will grow and prosper, and we already have expansion plans which include the lease of a conveniently located small resort hotel in Boon to be available in 1973 and the possible use of an already existing language laboratory center just an eight minute ferry ride across the Rhine River.

Also praise is due the Division of Continuing Education for its outstanding service. During the past year it recorded more than 13,000 enrollments in over 500 classes offered in 61 communities. Regular programs in this division include undergraduate evening courses on campus and at Camp Lejeune, Cherry Point and Seymour Johnson AFB. This summer a special program in special education will be offered at White Lake, N.C.—

Those Price-And-Wage Control Shouts Are To Be Suspected

By GEORGE BRYANT, JR.

Business adjustments, especially on the down-side, always produce a certain amount of commotion in Washington. And when such a development happens to fall in an election year the clamor raised by the economic experts in Congress becomes truly deafening — and suspect, too.

Right now, there is a rising and noisy demand for wage and price controls of some sort. And it should be noted that it comes about five years late. And it also comes from the same Congressional forces who contributed most to today's price inflation by voting huge new social benefit programs on top of war costs and then relied on big deficits, not taxes, for the financing.

And what ehey are proposing today is not an end to inflation. In fact, what these "protestors" in the House and Senate are demanding in some kind of ceiling, voluntary or otherwise, on the wage-price spiral, so they can put over new and bigger spending programs, deficit financed.

Representative Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, is fairly typical of those doing the most shouting. At one time or another in his long stay in Congress, the aging Chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee has supported about every inflationary scheme that has ever come down the pike, even to simple "printing press money" to satisfy deficit spending.

Patman has announced hearings by his Committee, starting June 16, on a bill to give the President stand-by powers to control wages, prices and rent. Patman and 11 other Democrats on the Committee are the bill's sponsors.

This bill puts the Nixon Administration on the spot and that is just what it is calculated to do. Nixon doesn't want the legislation. He thinks it is too late. But if he opposes it, then he stands politically "convicted" of condoning continued price rises.

But the play by the Congressional Democrats, backed up by a parade of professional economists, many with previous ties to past Democratic Administrations, may force Nixon to try what is called the "jaw bone" route of price and wage controls. In other words, the government would pass judgment on whether increases go against the national interest.

There is nothing new in such an approach to the problem of spiraling wages and prices. Other Presidents, notably Truman, Kennedy and Johnson, tried it, but failed to attain anything that could be called success. They did give industry some harsh beatings on prices and may have moderated some advances for a while. But labor simply went ahead and took what it could win — used its economic clout in a tight labor market, backed up by political power.

The danger of the voluntary route is that it will be hailed as actual control and thus provide the excuse for a general relaxation of budget and credit controls much earlier than the economic situation justifies. The Democratic controlled Congress already has demonstrated its impatience with Nixon's tight budget policies, and credit policies, too.

For Nixon, the political situation is anything but satisfying. There is no way to make gain when an economy is tilting down and prices and unemployment are pointing up. A case can be made that the Nixon policy to get inflation under control is working, but it isn't very saleable at this time.

Nixon's basic mistake, right from the start, may lie in the fact that his Administration tried to make the task of getting a long-running inflation under control sound too easy and painless. As this column pointed out at the time, no nation has been able to come off an inflationary binge without dislocations. And it was noted then that if Nixon pulled it off it would be a real economic and political "first" for him.

It is in Nixon's favor, however, that the black mood of Pessimism, call it a "crisis of confidence," which swept the nation a few weeks ago, shows signs of dissipating. Its sudden coming was hard to explain, except as one of those emotional things, and so is its receeding. Nothing basic has been changed.

The stock market has had some fairly solid recovery sessions from the earlier lows and interest rates have eased a bit on primary paper. Still, the economic facts remain, essentially, the same.

The Cambodian action now appears to be largely just what was billed at the time — a raid on sanctuaries and not an extension of the war. This is far short of the "indochina" scope which the critics, especially in the news media, gave it at the start.

And much of the heat seems to have gone out of the reaction which followed the Kent shooting. Actually, it is rather remarkable that what has been called the student "rebellion" has been marked by so few fatalities, since they have involved disregard for court orders and rock and bottle assaults on police and guardsmen, to say nothing of looting and burning.

Thus, while the tone of the news seems reassuring, the underlying uncertainties of the war and the business trend, to say nothing of politics, remain at hand.

Privacy, Style With Split Foyer

By GERRY BISHOP

For zoned living, the split-foyer home has no equal.

Each living area is secluded from the others to insure maximum privacy. The living room-dining room section is neatly tied into one part of the structure. Ditto for the sleeping quarters.

And the family room-den section is tucked away in another corner. This offers several advantages, especially if there are teenagers in the family. They can entertain in the family room while Mother and Dad host their friends in the living room. Two social events can coincide without interference.

These considerations and others are realized in the Carnaby, a split-foyer model designed by the Associated Architects.

The split-foyer has another advantage in this age of many moves. The family that frequently is transferred from one city to another will find the split-foyer sells quickly because of its growing popularity.

The Carnaby features traditional styling with a low-pitched roof of asphalt shingles. It has frame construction with eight-inch bevel siding on the outside walls.

There are three bedrooms and two full baths on the upper level and the family roof, den, utility room and two-car garage are on the lower level.

Gypsum wallboard is used for interior finish.

No Space Wasted

This model has a well-thought-out floor plan in which there is no wasted space.

The foyer provides a perfect cushion for arriving guests. A few steps up is the living room which has comfortable dimensions of approximately 17 feet by 12 feet.

It adjoins the dining room and is connected to the sleeping quarters by a long, centrally located hall.

The dining room, 9 feet by 11 feet, is next to the kitchen. The dining room's corner location assures a well ' lighted, cheery setting for the family meals.

The kitchen is a modern workshop with built-in appliances and cabinets. There's the added advantage of having the sink under a window overlooking the back yard. And there's a broom closet.

The main bath is just a few steps away from the living room and could serve as a powder room.

Nearby are the second and third bedrooms. One is approximately 10 feet square, the other 10 feet by 12 feet.

Master Bedroom Has Privacy

The master bedroom enjoys the privacy of a corner location. It has two large closets and a private bath.

The family room on the lower level is approximately 17 feet by 13 feet and could be converted to a fourth bedroom.

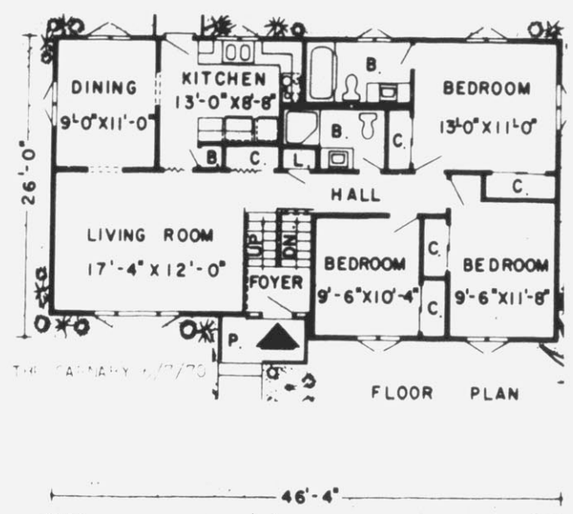

Adjoining the family room is the den, approximately 11 feet by 9 feet. It would make a perfect hideaway for reading or watching television.

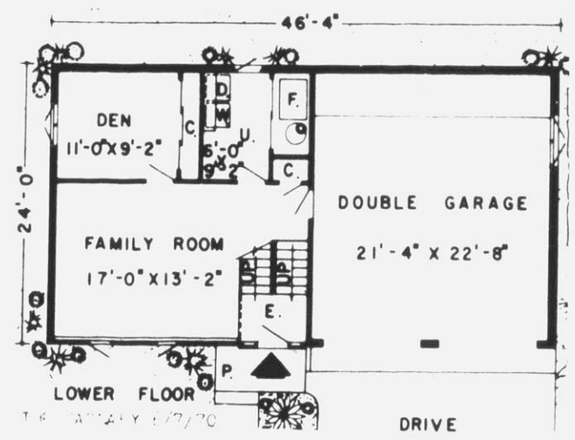

There's a utility room on the lower level. It contains a washer, dryer, furnace and water heater.

The double garage is extra large with adequate space for tool storage.

The outside dimensions are approximately 24 feet by 46 feet and there are 1,156 square feet of living area on the upper level, 583 square feet on the lower level and 528 square feet in the garage.

A FAMILY PLEASER — The Carnaby, designed by the Associated Architects, is a split-foyer home with traditional styling. It has a living room, dining room, kitchen, two full baths and three bedrooms on the upper level. There is a family room, den, utility room and large double garage on the lower level. The family room could be converted into a fourth bedroom.

Give Extra Thought To Vacation Home's Safety

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI)—When you open up that vacation hideaway this year, give a little extra thought to safety.

The vacation home, delightful though it may be, often is located in an out-of-the-way spot, perhaps without really adequate fire protection. It may involve unaccustomed fire hazards such as barns, unfamiliar heating and cooking equipment, makeshift storage. It may be unoccupied for days or weeks at a stretch.

Attention to certain good housekeeping and safety precautions will be well worth the effort.

Inform the nearest fire and police departments when you occupy your summer home for the season. Be sure they know its locaton. Let police and nearby neighbors know when you will be away.

Post instructions for emergency procedure. Know numbers for fire, police, medical emergency—and where to call from if you do not have telephone service.

Provide second floor living quarters with at least one fireproof chain ladder. You can make one easily, using 3-16-inch welded steel link chain for the vertical stringers. Threaded steel rods covered with rubber hose can be inserted between chain links as ladder steps, about 16 inches apart. Such a ladder, an excellent idea even for town homes, can be rolled up in a canvas or plastic sling and mounted just beneath the outer window sill where it can be dropped quickly for use in a fire emergency.

Make sure all doors and windows open easily. Conduct a family fire drill to make sure each occupant is familiar with various avenues of escape.

Provide a reasonable number of pump-type water-filled hand fire extinguishers or chemical extinguishers. Have a supply of buckets on hand. Keep rain barrels full. Keep an ordinary garden hose connected where the water supply is suitable.

Where feasible, develop a pool or reservoir on the property, as near the dwellings, garages and other outbuildings as possible. If there is a pond, brook or stream, keep an access lane open at all times. Have a hand-operated or engine-drive portable pump near the water supply, along with a 1½-inch hose and nozzles.

Avoid Litter

Pay particular attention to good housekeeping. Keep trash and combustibles away from stoves, furnaces and fireplaces. Don't let clutter of any kind accumulate.

Be extra careful about smoking. NEVER smoke in barns or garages. Make sure all matches and cigarettes are dead before discarding.

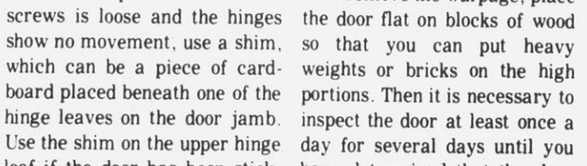

Make sure that all electric wiring, extension cords, lights and appliances are in safe condition and avoid overloading circuits. Never use oversized fuse plugs. Replace and repair defective wiring and equipment. Keep emergency battery-operated lights at hand. They are safer than kerosene lamps or candles should power fail.

Avoid careless use and storage of flammable liquids and gases such as gasoline, kerosene and LP-gas. Never use flammable liquids to start or accelerate indoor heaters or cook stoves.

When a door fails to open and close properly, the most probable source of the trouble is one or both of the hinges.

Move the door back and forth at different speeds and see whether there is even the slightest movement of either hinge. Alos, place a screwdriver blade in the slot of each screw head and turn it clockwise. If it turns at all, it means that the hinge is not as tight as it should be.

In some cases, merely tightening the loose screw will correct the condition that is causing the door to sag or stick. In others, the screw will not stay securely in place because the hole in the wood has become enlarged. When this occurs, the hole should be filled with a wooden plug or stuffed with wood putty or plastic wood and allowed to harden before replacing the screw.

If it develops that none of the screws is loose and the hinges show no movement, use a shim, which can be a piece of cardboard placed beneath one of the hinge leaves on the door jamb. Use the shim on the upper hinge leaf if the door has been sticking at the top. Use it on the lower hinge leaf if the problem has been at the bottom of the door. You will be able to determine how much shimming is necessary by testing. Thus, if the shim helps a little but not enough, use two pieces of cardboard, and so on.

When excessive moisture has entered a door and caused swelling, sanding, rasping or planing may be necessary to take off excess wood. But this should be done with extreme caution, because if you remove too much wood, there will be an unwelcome gap when the wood dries out. It is very important that all ends and edges of the door be painted or varnished after such an operation.

In an extreme case, when a door obviously is warped, the only way to correct the condition is to remove the door from its frame. This is done without removing the hinges by pulling out the pins that hold the door to the hinges. If they are stuck in place, as often happens, drive them upwards with a blunt-edged tool and a hammer.

Always remove the bottom pin first. If possible, have someone hold the weight of the door when this is being done. If no one is handy, then place a wedge under the door.

To remove the warpage, place the door flat on blocks of wood so that you can put heavy weights or bricks on the high portions. Then it is necessary to inspect the door at least once a day for several days until you have determined that the door is straight. Here again, be sure to paint or varnish the edges and ends of the door to keep out moisture.

Here's How To Do It

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q.—I recently bought an extension ladder, but find it very difficult to place it properly against the house without the assistance of someone else. Is there a right way to raise such a ladder without getting help?

A.—Yes. Push the foot of the ladder against the bottom of the foundation wall. Go to the head of the ladder and lift the top end over your head. Then walk towards the wall, raising the ladder rung by rung until it is vertical, at which point you should pull the foot of the ladder away from the wall. When the ladder is in the best position from the standpoint of safety, the bottom of it will be separated from the wall by one-fourth the length of the ladder. Thus, with a 20-foot ladder, the bottom should be five feet from the wall.

Q.—What is the advantage of boiled linseed oil over regular linseed oil? Also, can linseed oil be applied to a salad bowl which is constantly used for food?

A.—Boiled linseed oil, which comes in that form and is not boiled by the purchaser, dries faster than regular linseed oil. The former is generally used indoors, the latter outdoors. With either one, it is important that, after applying, all excess oil is wiped off the surface. For best results, a linseed oil finish requires vigorous rubbing, both at the time of application and several times in the ensuing weeks. Linseed oil can be used on a salad bowl. Many persons prefer olive oil, which has less of an odor.

Q.—I read once that a dent in wood could be removed by applying a wet pad to the area and then placing the hot tip of a soldering iron to the pad. I tried this on a coffee table which had been dented when a heavy object fell on the tape top. Not only did it not remove the dent, it ruined the finish. What did I do wrong and what can I do about it now?

A.—We, too, have often seen such advice given. It is correct ONLY if it specifies that this should be done to raw wood, not to wood that has a finish on it. You have no choice now but to take off the finish with a commercial varnish remover and then attempt to work on the dent. But don't expect magic results. You may have to repeat the process as many as 10 to 20 times before the wood is restored to its original condition. The theory is that the moisture and heat will expand the wood cells and thus eliminate the dent. Several factors, including the kind of wood, enter into the success of the operation, but it usually works. If you do not have a soldering iron, an ordinary household iron can be used.

Q.—My husband won't listen to me. He reads your questions and answers all the time, so maybe he will listen to you. We have a ranch house with wood siding painted white. There is an attached garage with an overhead entrance door at the front of the house. The door is in need of painting. My husband is an amateur artist and has done a good job of painting a landscape scene on one wall of a room in the house. Now he wants to paint some kind of design on the garage door. I don't want him to do it, as I think it will cheapen the look of the house. Can you convince him that I'm right?

A.—We're not sure we can convince him of anything—but we'll try. It has always been our opinion that a garage door at the front of a house should blend in with the rest of the house and not be a focal point. It is the house itself that should catch the eye. When a garage door is painted a bright color, as is sometimes done with a house of good design, people notice the door first instead of the over-all structure. This would be even more likely to occur if there were a painting on the door. Sorry, sir, but we have to agree with your wife.

Plan Manufacture Of Modular Homes

GILROY, Calif. (UPI)—The largest modular home factory in the nation is planned to manufacture rooms to be assembled into homes like building blocks.

The modular homes will sell from $17,000 up and can be assembled in two days.

The factory (of Dukor Modular Systems, Inc.,) sprawls over a 26-acre site and plans a production scheduled of 2,000 living units a year.

"Already we have $5 million in contracts from developers in a 10-mile radius of Gilroy," said George K. Bissell, the firm's president.

"We felt there was a great need for housing that was roomy and livable, that could be located outside congested areas and available at a price people could afford. We have the answer."

Dukor's team of architects and engineers plus University of California consultants aim at building a modular house that looks like a home, not a trailer.

"The new concept means that modular homes can be built with spacious rooms instead of the traditionally narrow, trailer-like rooms, because intervening walls may be omitted," said Bissell.

Usually, modular homes are built so that walls support the structure. The new method uses the frame instead for support, which allows a wall to be removed and relocated without affecting the structure.

This feature is highly important for factory-built homes which, since they are transported on highways, are limited to 12 feet in width.

By using the frame construction, two units can be put together to create a 24-foot room simply by leaving out the separating wall, Bissell explained.

'Nurse of Year' Loves Patients and Job

CORONARY CARE UNIT . . . Mrs. Bryan watches the screen which keeps a nurse at the nursing station posted as to the heartbeats of several patients at once.

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

"Nursing is my life," Mrs. Mattie Clyde Bryan said. "If I couldn't get to Pitt Memorial Hospital every day, I think I'd die."

This kind of love for her patients and her work is probably the reason for Mrs. Bryan's being named "Pitt County Nurse of the Year" by the County Medical - Dental Society recently. Her name and qualifications have been entered in a contest for designation as "North Carolina Nurse of the Year."

The majority of the doctors at Pitt Memorial voted for her and Dr. A. M. Mumford said that when the other nurses were given their choices of a nurse to receive this award, some 70 percent of them voted for Mrs. Bryan.

Mrs. Bryan has been a nurse at Pitt Memorial since March 25, 1952. During this time she has worked in several different capacities including staff nurse, head nurse in both obstetrics and surgery, and she spent ten years as head nurse in the newborn nursery. "She has an excellent record of service and versatility," Mrs. Helen Abbott, acting director of nursing, said, "but I think Mattie's favorite job at the hospital is the one she has now, night supervisor."

From 11 p.m. to 7 a.m., Mrs. Bryan is responsible for all nursing activities in the hospital. But as Dr. A. L. Ferguson said, "Her function at the hospital has been as night supervisor, and beacuse of this she was not directly responsible for a patient's care; however, this never seemed to stop Mrs. Bryan from pitching in and working feverishly beside the rest of us when she was needed. In fact, on several occasions she was of prime importance in initiating and carrying out vital duties in caring for these patients. It has always been a warm experience to see her coming when trouble is brewing on the medical wards."

Proficient During Emergencies

Dr. Ira Hardy, neurosurgeon at Pitt Memorial, said, "I recall specifically one evening this past year when a young teenager had sustained a serious head injury and was essentially comatose and unresponsive. I was called about 3 a.m. and his condition was reported. By the time I reached the hospital, pressure dressings had been applied on numerous lacerations, and a large intracath had already been inserted. The laboratory technician had been called. Appropriate blood studies had been drawn. The technician was in the process of setting up several units of blood to treat the patient's appropriate shock.

"This young boy ultimately made a complete recovery. Without Mrs. Bryan's control of the boy's hemorrhage from his extensive scalp lacerations and the administration of immediate care, the outcome could have been different."

"You have to be a 'jack of all trades' when you're in charge of the night shift," Mrs. Bryan said, "but I enjoy the work because it's challenging. Sometimes the administrative work and trying to fill vacancies in the staff at the last minute is not so enjoyable, but the people I work with and for make up for these."

Mrs. Bryan often works with student nurses and Mrs. Charlotte Martin, who teaches practice courses for senior nursing students at the hospital, praised her "outstanding contribution to the nursing student through her technical skills, problem - solving techniques, and teaching skills." She went on to commend her on her leadership skills, commenting, "She manifests a professional appearance and an alert, friendly and courteous manner in social interactions. She displays the personal traits of poise, enthusiasm, and an overt desire to learn."

Mrs. Martin also commented on Mrs. Bryan's "superior communication skills with patients, families, nursing team members, and paramedical personnel."

Golden Rule Applied

Asked how she relates so well to patients and those concerned about their loved ones who are sick or hurt, Mrs. Bryan said simply, "I just try to treat each person as I would like to be treated if I were ill or injured and with the families and friends, I think of how I would feel if I were worried about the health of my mother or father or husband or child."

Mrs. Bryan was brought up in the Methodist Orphanage in Raleigh. She said she thinks her desire to be a nurse began when she had to come to the assistance of younger children in the orphanage who were sick or hurt. "I worked in the infirmiry while I was at the orphanage, and for one year after I graduated from high school I stayed on there to be the housemother of a dormitory.

"Then I went to Roanoke Rapids Nursing School for three years. After my graduation, I worked one year at Person County Hospital in Roxboro before I came here after I met Larry.

Her husband Larry is a refrigeration and electronics maintenance man for the City of Greenville. They have four sons — Jimmy, 16; Bobby, 14; Joe, 12; and Johnny, nine.

Asked how her "night shift" work jibes with being a wife and mother, Mrs. Bryan said, "just fine" and explained, "I get home a little after 7 a.m. and as soon as the boys are off to school, I fall in bed and sleep till about time for them to come home. Then I get up, cook supper, do other household chores, and can be with my family till shortly before 11, when I go to work and they prepare for bed."

Stays Abreast

Her reading tastes run to self - improvement books and articles, especially those which have to do with her profession. "I read all the medical material I possibly can," she said, "It's necessary to stay abreast of my field."

In 1969 she completed a course in Intensive Cardiovascular Nursing offered at the hospital, with an almost perfect score. Dr. William W. Fore said, "I was her instructor when she took the course and she was one of the best students in the class. I felt this was impressive that she would even bother to do this since it was really not demanded or expected of her to do so."

She hopes to take a special course being offered at East Carolina University School of Nursing this summer called, "The Leadership Role of the Professional Nurse."

Mrs. Helen Abbott, who is, of course, Mrs. Bryan's immediate superior waxed almost poetical in describing Mrs. Bryan's contribution to nursing at Pitt Memorial; "Mattie, as she is affectionately known to most of the staff, is the person to whom everyone looks during some of the most trying hours in the darkest night. Of course, a nurse is everything to every person with whom she is in contact and Mattie is no exception. To the young mother in labor, to the aged patient confused in the night, to the young graduate nurse, to the hurried, harried physician, to the frightened child, to the surgical patient afraid for tomorrow, Mrs Bryan is the soft hands, the quiet word, the calm authority with the experience of hundreds of such nights spent in learning just how to comfort and aid."

HEART MONITOR . . . Mrs. Bryan starts to monitor the heartbeats of a patient in the coronary care unit.

With The Women

EMERGENCY MEASURES . . . are taken by Mrs. Bryan before the doctor arrives. Here it's only checking the patient's blood pressure.

Nurses Were The Original Coffee-Tea-Or-Milk Girls

By REBECCA MOREHOUSE

NEW YORK (WNS) — Fifty - thousand stewardesses would not be flying the friendly skies if it weren't for women like Inez Keller Fuite. Forty years ago, on May 15, 1930, she and seven other registered nurses became the world's first stewardesses.

"Originally, a stewardess had to be a registered nurse," she said. "It was the year after 1929 and registered nurses were working 12 hours a day for $6, and sometimes we were called and sometimes not, and sometimes we were paid and sometimes not.

"But it wasn't just the pay that appealed to us, it was the thrill of pioneering a new field for women and nurses. I had never flown before. I was living in a San Francisco boarding house for nurses and every time I left on a flight they would say goodbye with tears in their eyes, never expecting to see me again."

Pushed Planes

The first stewardesses worked — slaved might be a better word — for Boeing Air Transport, a predecessor company of United Air Lines. They carried aboard thermos bottles of coffee, pillows and blankets, helped load and unload baggage, punched tickets, served meals (usually fruit cocktail, fried chicken and rolls) and sometimes helped pilots push airplanes into hangars.

Mrs. Fuite (pronounced "few-et") flew from Oakland to Cheyenne, with stops in Sacramento, Reno, Elko, Salt Lake City and Rock Springs, Wyo.

"The Oakland to Cheyenne flight might take 18 or 24 hours, or it might last two days, depending on weather and other things," she said. "Often, the planes had to be overhauled in Cheyenne. They were Boeing and Ford trimotors and I thought they were it. I didn't see how they could build planes any better than these.

"I had 36 hours in Cheyenne. I'd check into the Plains Hotel and sleep through the whole 36."

The first stewardesses were paid $125 a month for 85-to-100 hours. Today, U.S. stewardesses average about $500 for 70 hours, although some earn as much as $850.

Publicity

Mrs. Fuite says Ellen Church originated the stewardess idea; United says it occurred at about the same time to Steve A. Stimpson. Boeing's district manager in San Francisco. "Imagine the psychology of having young women as regular members of the crew," Stimpson wrote in a memo in 1930. "Imagine the national publicity we could get from it."

Mrs. Fuite said: "Miss Church was a registered nurse and a pilot and she was around the San Francisco airport a lot. She heard Boeing was thinking of having stewards and she suggested they hire stewardesses instead."

The wives of the pilots were not elated. Some wrote letters of protest to Boeing's president; one made a habit of meeting her husband at the Salt Lake City airport.

"We weren't a bit interested in the pilots," Mrs. Fuite said. "We were all between 20 and 24; they were 35 and over and we thought they were old men. They were very temperamental and independent, wore big goggles and leather jackets, and carried a gun on each hip to protect the mail. Most of them didn't like the stewardess idea at all.

'Be Good'

"The stewardesses met in Cheyenne and had four hours of training. I remember that the first page of the manual carried the words: 'Be Good.' Miss Church was chief stewardess and she told us not to go out with pilots or co - pilots or any member of the company.

"The majority of passengers were men — I had only one or two women and two children while I was flying. We wore a nurse's uniform in flight and the men were very respectful. I think the stewardesses gave a lot of men the courage to fly."

Passenger seats were not equipped with safety belts. Planes were not pressurized or heated or air - conditioned. In the case of a full load, stewardesses sat on mail bags.

"We flew through a pass in the Sierra Mountains and one day we hit an air pocket and dropped 500 feet," Mrs. Fuite said. "I lost the hearing in my left ear and I quit a few days later, after four months as a stewardess. The heat was terrible sometimes and we had little ventilation. We flew at 2,000 feet and couldn't get above the layer of heat.

"Once, we had to make an emergency landing out from Cherokee, Wyo. The pilot hitched a ride to town in a horse and buggy. Ranchers and Indians came from miles around to see the plane. They would touch it but they wouldn't get inside."

Mrs. Fuite now 64, and her husband, Richard J. Fuite, live in Rancho Berncardo, Calif. A retired manufacturer's agent, he accompanied her to New York, their first visit here. Naturally, they flew.

Sew what's new.

KNITS

In looking at knits, let's take a quick look at what a knit actually is.

Knits are produced with needles that are used to form one or more yarns into a series of interlocking loops. There are two distinctive "types" of knits - single and double stitch.

Single knits (such as Jersey and Tricot) are made with only one needle and have a definite right and wrong side. The single knit results in a lightweight, soft and supple fabric.

The double knits are made with two rows of needles, thus giving double thickness to the fabric. Double knits are easy to handle and sew and tailor beautifully.

But let's take a minute to discuss another "knit notion" so very necessary in the proper construction of any knit — be it single or double stitch in any of the many fiber blendings available.

Last fall we introduced "Dual Duty Plus,,' a cotton covered dacron thread, by Coats and Clarks into several test areas, so as to discover the consumer's evaluation of this product. The average consumer found that it actually sews all fabrics with less breakage and does "more" with the garment. When double knits were first being used by the home sewer, she found that most seams had to be "restitched" because the standard mercerized thread did not stretch with the fabric as does "Dual Duty Plus."

Because of the response to "Dual Duty Plus", all Piedmont Fabric stores carry a full color range for all your sewing needs - from the sheerest of voiles to the heaviest used coatings.

Remember these important sewing tips when using your next spool:

1. Loosen both the tension and bobbin thread on your machine (Practice stitch on a swatch of each fabric type before beginning your garment so as to determine the proper tension level for each fabric.)

2. Keep several new sewing machine needles handy and change them as often as necessary so as to prevent picking and knotting that might occur when the needle "burrs" (caused by hitting pins or through heavy use.)

Don't forget, the thread that knows no sizing is at your local Piedmont Fabrics.

Miss Valerie Vanneman Weds

GRIFTON—In a ceremony on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Miss Valerie Denice Vanneman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh O'Neil Vanneman of Hamm, Germany, and Forest Hampton Carmine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hampton Joshua Carmine of Aurora, Ill., were united in marriage.

The Rev. William Barrett of Farmville officiated at the doublering ceremony.

Michael Tyndall served as accolyte.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Troy Rhyne Jackson, organist. Altar vases were filled with white daisies and baby's breath.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal length gown of candlelight silk organza and Venice lace over peau de soie. The semi-empire waist was outlined with lace and had an A-line skirt. The neckline was colonial and the full three-quarter sleeves featured appliques of lace. The detachable chapel train was edged with lace and attached to the waist beneath a bow of organza appliqued with lace.

Her imported illusion veil fell from a headpiece of Venice lace petals designed with tiny seed pearls and teardrop crystals. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow daisies with satin ribbons.

Miss Virginia Vanneman was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a full length gown of yellow dotted Swiss made with an empire waist and emphasized with yellow grosgrain ribbon, rounded neckline and short puffed sleeves. She wore a yellow hair bow, and carried daisies.

Miss Bobby Smith of Anderson, S.C., Miss Beverly Kissinger of Patomac, Md., were bridesmaids and junior attendant was Miss Stephanie Vanneman, sister of the bride. Their gowns and bouquets were similar to that of the honor attendant.

The bridegroom was served by his father as best man. Ushers were Neil Vanneman, brother of the bride, and Tim Mullens of Jacksonville.

The bride is a graduate of Grifton High School and is in her senior year at East Carolina University, Greenville, where she is an art major.

The bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of East Carolina with a degree in psychology and is now doing graduate work in speech and hearing.

After a wedding trip to the coast, the couple will be living in Greenville.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents entertained in the Church Parish hall at a reception for the bridal couple and guests.

MRS. FOREST HAMPTON CARMINE

In the true wedding tradition, the bride wears the bridegroom's gift to her as she makes that march down the aisle. Diamond earrings, a diamond pendant or pin that flash their message of love allow the bride to conform says the Jewelry Industry Council.

Anne Francis Uses Iron Gates To Keep Living Room Livable

By DONALD MADDEN

BRENTWOOD, Calif. (WNS) — It takes a really astute mother to figure out a way to live elegantly amidst the gambling and games of two young daughters and a big black German shepherd, but television and movie actress Anne Francis has done just that.

Elegantly ornate wrought iron gates inside the house are the simple solution that Anne found.

Anne's young menage (eight - year - old Janey, by a previous marriage, and six - month - old newly - adopted daughter Maggi) live in a little one - storey house at the end of a cul - de - sac, surrounded by a high slump stone wall (for privacy, protection and children at play).

All the floors in the house, with the exception of her large living - room sanctuary, are covered with smart - looking and easy - to - clean beige vinyl tile, which gives Anne's young tribe complete run of the house, except for the "no - no" of the carpeted and antique filled living room.

But, separated as it is from the rest of the house with lovely hand - wrought iron gates, it takes little discipline on Anne's part to keep the living room and its collected treasures in mint collection.

Totally decorated in tones of green, the living room walls are a patterned silk. The draperies are a deeper green silk with matching deep fringed valance. Striped silk arm chairs, green patterned velvet sofa, tables covered to the floor in silk fabric, chests and bric- a - brac picked up in Manila, when Anne was making a film there, complete the rich looking, deep carpeted setting. Anne's own special chair is an all - caned reproduction of an antique French covered carrying chair, with needlepoint footstool, accomplished by the lady, herself.

The second step that Anne took, to give the children plenty of house room of their own, was to add a big family room to the kitchen.

TenCommandments Are For Husbands

By Abigail Van Buren

[© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: I notice that on occasion you have reprinted articles on request, which I think is fine, especially those which uphold morality in young people. However, I urge you to reprint the 10 Commandments for the 20th Century Husband. With so much infidelity going on and the divorce rate skyrocketing, it is needed now more than ever.

Thank you. GRATEFUL SAILOR—FPO SEATTLE

DEAR GRATEFUL: With pleasure. Ten Commandments for the 20th Century Husband:

1. Thou shall put thy wife before thy mother, thy father, thy daughter, and thy son, for she is thy lifelong companion.
2. Abuse not thy body either with excessive food, tobacco, or drink, that thy days may be many and healthful in the presence of thy loved ones.
3. Permit neither thy business nor thy hobby to make of thee a stranger to thy children, for the precious gift a man giveth his family is his time.
4. Forget not the virtue of cleanliness.
5. Make not thy wife a beggar, but share willingly with her thy worldly goods.
6. Forget not to say, "I love you." For even tho thy love be constant, thy wife doth yearn to hear the words.
7. Remember that the approval of thy wife is worth more than the admiring glances of a hundred strangers. Cleave unto her and forsake all others.
8. Keep thy home in good repair, for out of it cometh the joys of thy old age.
9. Forgive with grace. For who among us does not need to be forgiven?
10. Honor the Lord thy God all the days of thy life, and thy children will rise up and call thee blessed.

Truly yours, ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

P. S. Next Sunday the TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR WIVES.

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen this problem in your column, but I would sure like to.

How long should a hostess wait for late dinner guests? Last evening my husband and I attended a party at the home of friends. We were invited for 7 o'clock and arrived promptly. So did everyone else, with the exception of one couple who came steaming in full of apologies at 8:45! The hostess held up dinner for this couple. By that time I had developed a hunger headache and my husband exceeded his quota of cocktails. Need I tell you what kind of an evening we had? Your comments would be very much appreciated.

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: I think 15 minutes is long enough to "hold up" a scheduled meal for a tardy guest. George Washington is said to have set a good precedent. He instructed his cook to inquire not, "Have the guests arrived?" but, "Has the HOUR arrived?" It's still a good rule.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOOKS YOUNGER": Are you bragging or complaining? When men between 25 and 30 ask you out, look them in the eye and say, "Thanks a lot, but I am 34 — a little 'old' for you, but if you have a friend between 35 and 45, send him around."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Farmer Nips Rams To Even Series

ROBERSONVILLE — Farmer High School's Falcons rallied from a run behind in the sixth inning to down Robersonville, 2-1, last night, and knot the best-of-three Class A State Baseball finals at one game each.

The final game will be played Monday night at 8:15 with the winner claiming the state title.

Neither team was able to do much until the sixth inning when both broke the scoring ice. The Rams, as the visiting team after winning on Friday (see story on page 14), were unable to wrap up the titue in the game.

After six fruitless innings, the Rams pushed ahead with their lone run. Timmy James walked with one out and Danny Stalls followed up with a single. The Farmer pitcher, Randy Johnson attempted to pick Stalls off first, but the play was errored, and both runners were able to advance on the play.

Bobby Rawls walked, loading the bases, and Lang Hardison hit a ball deep to short, scoring James, as all runners were safe.

But the Ram defense was unable to hold.

Farmer came back as Terry Allmon singled to right and was sacrificed to second by Ronald Lanier. Randall Myers, who suffered the loss Friday night on the mound, came up with a single to center, moving Allmon to third. Myers then stole second to set up the next play for the Falcons.

That came when Junior Hunt banged out a single to left field, scoring both Allmon and Myers to give Farmer the victory.

James led the Robersonville hitting with two, while Jimmy Aldred had two for Farmer.

Benny Knox, in taking the loss, gave up six hits. He struck out nine batters and walked none. Johnson, in winning, allowed five hits and struck out six, walking one. He needed relief from Hunt in the last inning to get the win.

High Echelon Wins In The Mud

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — High Echelon, with his Preakness-winning stablematepersonality sidelined, charged through the slop at Belmont Park Saturday and won the $158,750 Belmont Stakes, the final jewel in the Triple Crown.

High Echelon's victory gave Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs and her trainer-son, John, victories in two of the Triple Crown classics. Dust Commander won the Kentucky Derby and then was sidelined after coming out of the Preakness with a sore ankle.

High Echelon, ridden by John L. Rotz, who was up on Silent Screen in the Derby and Preakness, covered the gruelling 1½ miles in 2:34 flat for a three-quarter length victory over Thomas F. Fleming Jr.'s Needles N Pens, who was a neck ahead of Her-Jac Stable's Naskra. Brookmeade Stable's pace-setting Climber finished fourth in the field of 10 3-year-olds.

High Ecehon, sent off as the second choice to Raymond M. Curtis' My Dad George by a crowd of 54,299 paid $11, $6 and $4. Needles N Pens returned $11.80 and $6.40 while Haskra, who just gained the show by a head over Climber, paid $6.40.

Personality, the more highly thought of half of the Jacobs entry, developed a cough Thursday night and was withdrawn Friday afternoon, several hours after he had been entered in the Belmont.

Completing the finish, in order, were My Dad George, El Peco Ranch's Aggressively, Briardale Farm's Stop Time, Wendell P. Rosso's Son Excellence, Dansar Stable's supplemented Delaware Chief and Lawrence P. Boyce's Hark the Lark.

A second place finish would have made by Dad George the first ever to be runner-up in all three Triple Crown races.

The late-closing High Echelon got a fine ride from the veteran Rotz to gain his first victory in 10 starts this year. However, the roan son of Native Charger had finished third in the Kentucky Derby and fourth in the Preakness and Jersey Derby.

As a 2-year-old High Echelon had won the Futurity at Belmont and the Pimlico-Laurel Futurity, and the $115,000 first money Saturday boosted his career earning to $383,145.

Jacinto Vasquez sent Climber, making his first stakes start of the year, to the lead at the break and he held it turning for home. He then battled Naskra, ridden by Eddie Belmonte, through the stretch before both gave way to the charging High Echelon and Needles N Pens, ridden by Dave Kassen.

It was also Needles N Pens' first start in a stakes this year.

Trainer Harold Goodwin had said that Needles N Pens, a son of Belmont-winner Needles, was pointed for this race since last winter.

Belmonte got the mount on Naskra after Personality had been declared out. The Puerto Rican had ridden Personality in all of his 12 1970 starts, including an eighth place finish in the Kentucky Derby and wins in the Wood Memorial, Preakness and Jersey Derby.

"It was a real hard day. I lost my ace (Personality) but had a lot of faith in High Echleon," said owner Jacobs afterward.

"He's a true distance horse and proved it today."

John Rotz, the winning jockey said:

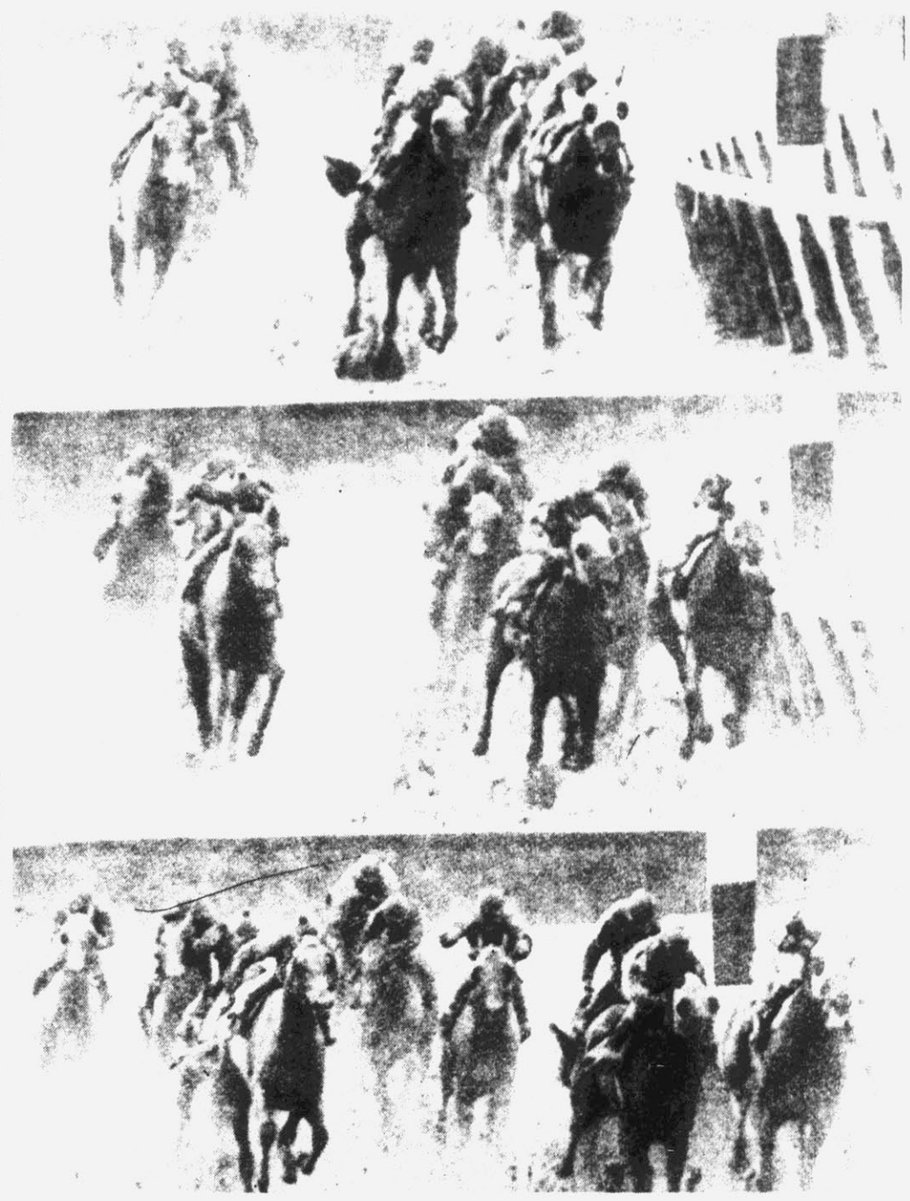

"It was a tough race over that track but High Echelon answered well and ran a great race."

When informed the victory distance over runnerup Needles N Pens, Rotz declared: "It was just right."

"Coming down the backside he had the two leaders measured," Rotz added. "I knew we were in great shape. He tired a bit at the end but so were the others. Earlier, we gave ground to keep him clear.

"He's not the most willing horse but he has loads of ability."

The victory was the first in a Belmont in 10 tries for the 35-year-oldrotz. It was also the first Belmont win for Mrs. Jacobs, whose late husband, Hirsch, failed to saddle a winner in any Triple Crown race during his legendary career.

Down The Muddy Stretch

This is how the field looked as they made the turn into the stretch in the Belmont Stakes at Belmont Park in New York Saturday. High Echelon, left, is making his move to overcome Haskra (4), second from right, and Climber (9), on the rail. High Echelon went on to win and paid $11. (AP Wirephoto)

Greenville Legion Captures Opener, 8-5

AHOSKIE — The Greenville American Legion opend its 1970 league season with an 8-5 victory over Ahoskie last night.

Greenville came up with seven runs in the fourth inning to put the game out of reach after Ahoskie had twice pushed into the lead.

Ahoskie moved ahead in the second with a run. Ronald Perry was hit by a pitch and Greg Godard Singled. A balk moved both runners up, and Donald Sessons, walked, loading the bases. Billy Drew singled to drive in Perry for the 1-0 lead.

Greenville came right back in the top of the third to tie it up. Jimmy Paige singled and moved up on Jay Brown's sacrifice. Paige then scored on a single by Tommy Durham.

In the bottom of the third, Ahoskie pushed over two for a 3-1 lead. Ken Haslip reached on a fielder's choice and Ron Perry walked. Godard singled, scoring Haslip. Perry then scored on an out.

In the fourth, however, the Greenville team exploded for seven runs to gain the win. Tony Whitehurst led off with a single and Ronnie Leggett followed with another. Jimmy Bond walked, loading the bases. Kim Harbin's grounder was played to the plate to get Whitehurst, but was errored, leaving all hands safe. Paige followed that with a single scoring Leggett and Bond and putting Greenville into the lead.

Brown attempted to sacrifice, but the ball was errored again, scoring both Harbin and Paige. Alan Wilson and Whitehurst both walked, reloading the bases and Leggett singled in Brown. Wilson came home with the final run on a passed ball.

Ahoskie scored once more in the fourth. John Barrow singled, moved up on a hit batsman, and scored on Haslip's single.

Then, in the eighth, they got their final run. Sessoms singled, moved up on another hit, and scored on an out.

Greenville travels to Wilson this afternoon for their second game.

Graham's Birdie Holds Kemper By One Stroke

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Lou Graham knocked in a 10-foot birdie putt on the 18th hole Saturday and regained his one-stroke lead through three rounds of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

Graham, the 36 hole leader who fell back into a tie with Lionel Hebert and Dick Lotz going to the final hole, scrambled in with a one-under-par 71 for 206, 10 under par on the 7,231 yard Quail Hollow Country Club course.

Hebert, a 42-year-old veteran who won the 1957 PGA national championship, had a 70 for 207 and tie at the figure with Lotz, the winner of the Monsanto Open earlier this year. Lotz had a 69.

Grier Jones, a 24-year-old tour sophomore and regarded as one of the most promising players on the pro circuit, had a share of the lead at 10 under going to his final hole, but put his tee shot in the woods and took a double boey six.

That left him with a 70 for 208 and a tie with Steve Reid and lanky Larry Hinson. Reid had a 68 and Hinson took a 70.

Terry Dill was alone at 209 after a 70.

Arnold Palmer, just three strokes back starting the day, found some trouble, took a two-over-par 74 and drifted back into the pack as 212.

Jack Nicklaus didn't make the cut, and Gary Player and Billy Casper aren't competing. Graham, a 32-year-old journeyman whose only tour victory came in the 1967 Minnesota Classic, never relinquished the lead, but at one time or another was tied with Hebert, Lotz and Jones.

He had three birdies and a pair of bogeys, but said the key hole was a desperately scrambling par on the 599-yard par five 15th.

He put his drive in the woods and had a very narrow opening between trees, over a lake.

"I decided to gamble a little," he said. "My heart was really pounding when I hit the ball. From where I was I could have taken a double bogey or a triple bogey. I could see an eight staring me in the face."

He got it through the trees, over the lakes, then pitched on and two-putted for the big par.

Lou, a Nashville, Tenn., native, reeled off nine consecutive pars on the front side, then birdied the 10th from five feet.

He missed the green and bogeyed the 12th, ran a nine footer on 14, made the key save on 15 and dropped back to a tie for the top when he had a three-put bogey on the 17th.

The crucial putt on the final hole put him alone in front.

"But there's a lot of tournament left," he said. "I didn't feel any pressure, because there's still such a long way to go."

Jones, still looking for his first tour triumph, was heartbroken over the double bogey on the final hole.

"The drive was in the woods and I didn't want to make a five, so I tried to hit it out instead of pitching back to the fairway and I hit a three coming out. I was short with a three wood, chipped on and missed a six foot putt."

Americas' Cup Preliminary Set

NEW YORK (AP) — Intrepid and Valiant square off Monday and Tuesday in the opening races of the America's Cup preliminary trials to select a defender against challenges from France and Australia in the 12-meter yachting classic.

Intrepid and Valiant will test each other in several races on Long Island Sound each day before the third potential Cup defender, Heritage, arrives on the scene for competition that will continue through Friday.

Heritage, designed, built and skippered by Charlie Morgan of St. Petersburg, Fla., still is en route from Florida.

Intrepid, vastly overhauled since beating off Australia's challenge in 1967, will be skippered by Bill Ficker of Newport Beqch, Calif. Robert McCullough will handle Valiant.

The three yachts also will compete in trials off Newport, R.I., July 7-18, and again beginning August 18, until a defender is chosen.

Australia is preparing an all-new challenger, Gretel II, and France will have a yacht named France.

The challenge finals begin off Newport, R.I., Sept. 15.

McCovey's Homer Aids Perry To Get 5-3 Win

By Joe Mooshil
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Willie McCovey's three-run homer capped a four-run uprising in the third inning Saturday and powered Gaylord Perry and the San Francisco Giants to a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Bob Heise opened the decisive third with a single and Perry bunted him to second. Frank Johnson walked and, after Ron Hunt flied out, Willie Mays singled home the game's first run.

On the next pitch by starter Bill Hands, McCovery slammed his 18th homer of the year.

Perry, 8-6, was seeking to become the first Giant hurler to toss a shutout this season but lost it in the sixth when former teammate Jack Hiatt delivered a two-out, two-run double.

With one out in the sixth, Jim Hickman singled and Johnny Callison walked. Both runners advanced as Ron Santo grounded out before Hiatt sliced his double into right field.

The Cubs picked up another run in the eighth. Hickman opened with a single and Callison hit into a double play. Santo then doubled, Hiatt walked and Willie Smith drove in Santo with a pinch single. Perry got out of the jam by getting pinch-batter Paul Popovich to bounce into a force play.

The Giants added a wrapup run in the ninth, when Tito Fuentes singled, moved up on Perry's sacrifice and scored on Johnson's single.

Bench Leads Reds' Victory

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench knocked in three runs with a homer and double and Jim Merritt rolled to his 11th victory Saturday night as the Cincinnati Reds whipped the New York Mets 5-1.

Merritt, the winningest pitcher in the majors, scattered six hits in sending the slumping Mets to their fourth straight loss. It was the Reds' seventh victory in eight starts.

Hal McRae stroked a solo homer in the second off loser Ray Sadecki, 4-1, and Bench made it 2-0 in the fourth with his 17th of the season and ripped a two-run double in the Reds' three-run eighth.

The Mets scored in the seventh on Cleon Jones' riple and a single by Donn Clendenon but Merritt, 11-3, who struck out five and didn't walk any, held New York the rest of the way.

Yankees Take Fifth In Row

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie left-hander John Cumberland scattered six nits and the New York Yankees rolled to their fifth consecutive victory, a 3-1 triumph over Chicago Saturday.

Cumberland, 2-3, was nicked for a run in the first inning on a walk, a single and Bill Melton's sacrifice fly, but the White Sox never threatened after that.

The Yanks went ahead 2-1 in the second off loser Joe Horlen, 5-6, rapping four consecutive singles. Danny Cater ripped a one-out single and Curt Blefary, Thurman Munson and Gene Michael followed with hits.

The contest, delayed by rain for 53 minutes after the second inning, saw the Yankees add another run in the third on Bobby Murcer's single, a stolen base and Roy White's single.

Cumberland struck out four and walked two.

Carolina Dairy, Pepsi Take Babe Ruth Wins

Carolina Dairy remained unbeaten in the Babe Ruth League last night with a 9-2 victory over State Bank. In the other game, Pepsi-Cola provided some breathing room for Carolina Dairy with a 14-7 romp over Planters Bank.

Carolina Dairy is now 4-0, while Home Builders is second with a 2-1 mark. Planters and Pepsi are both 2-2, followed by College View, 1-2, and State Bank, 0-4.

In the opener, Pepsi took the lead in the first inning, pushing over three runs. Bobby Dough led off, reaching on an error. He stole second and Donald Cannon walked, Pete Cullop singled, scoring Dough, and John Barwich got a hit bringing in Cannon. Cullop scored on a single by Jimmy Duckett.

In the top of the fourth, Planters rallied to tie it up at 5-5. Prewitt walked and David Duckett singled. Tony Phelps reached on an error, and Wilkerson finished things off with a home run.

But in the bottom of the fourth, Pepsi came up with five on their own to grab the lead for good. John Barwick singled and Al Salisbury walked. Duckett singled, scoring Barwick, and Johnson slammed a homer, driving in three runs. Bill Ellington singled and moved up on an error, scoring on Chuck Brown's out.

Pepsi added four more in the fifth, as Duckett hit a three-run homer after Cullop had singled and Salisbury walked. Johnson followed that up with his second straight homer.

In the sixth, Planters picked up its final runs. Wilkerson reached on an error on the third strike, and Cobb singled him to third. Cobb stole second, and Wilkerson came home on an out by William Carraway. An error on the play let Cobb score, too.

Rams Edge By Farmer In State Opener

Robersonville's Lang Hardison is trapped at the plate by Farmer catcher Ronald Lanier in Friday night's opening game in the State Class A Baseball Championship. Hardison tried to score from first in the 13th inning on an extra - base hit by Glenn Forbes, but the relay was in time to make the put out several feet shy of the plate. ## Robersonville Scores Game's Only Run In 17th Inning Of Duel

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

ROBERSONVILLE — It started out to be the first game of the best-of-three series for the State Class A Baseball title Friday night. Buy by the time the game was over, it seemed like Robersonville and Farmer had decided to play it all at once.

It wasn't until the 17th inning, one of the longest state playoff games, if not the longest, in history, that the Rams finally pushed over a run for a 1-0 victory. Some three and a half hours had passed since the opening pitch, and it had looked like it might go on forever.

The 17 innings represented the equivalant of two and a half high school baseball games. And both starting pitchers were still in there hurling when Robersonville finally got what it wanted.

And it was unlikely Phil James who was the hero of the long night. James had struck out on his first six trips to the plate. He had been up once when the Farmer pitcher intentionally walked the man ahead of him just to try for another, which he got.

But this time, with Hal Knox at second base, James was not goat. Knox had led off the 17th by being hit by a pitch. He moved down to second on a ground out. And with two away, Falcon hurler Randall Myers was hoping that he could set down James for the seventh time.

He couldn't. James lined the ball between short and second, and Knox was off like a shot. The ball was fielded in left center, but the throw to home was just a second too late to catch Knox as hysteria broke out among the long - expectant Robersonville fans and James' teammates.

It had been a game to be seen. Both Farmer's Myers, and Robersonville's Glenn Forbes threw tremendous games.

Myers allowed eight hits in losing his first start of the year. He struck out 24 over the 17 inning stretch, and walked just three, one of them intentionally.

Repeatedly in the late innings, however, he found himself in trouble, as the Rams began to get to his zinging fast ball, which zinged a little less as the long innings mounted.

He didn't allow a hit until the fifth, and only two men reached base in the first eight innings. But after that, he began to have his troubles, getting into jams in the ninth, tenth, 12th, 13th and 16th before the game finally ended.

Forbes was also brillant. He allowed seven hits, while striking out 21 and walking one. While Myers used his almost invisible fast ball, Forbes used deception in the curve and fast ball to do his job.

He held the Falcons hitless until the fourth, when a double play saved the day for the Rams. He was in trouble in the seventh, and 15th when Farmer got men as far as second, but survived.

The fourth inning threat by Farmer was almost fatal for the Rams. Terry Almon led off with a single, and Ronald Lanier reached on a fielder's choice when he grounded back to the pitcher, who tried for the play at second, but was late and off target. The ball went into center, and Allmon took off for third. Timmy James, however, picked up the ball and rifled to Bobby Rawls at third in time for the put out, as Lanier moved into second. Myers then grounded back to deep short, with Lanier on the move. The relay got Myers at first, but Lanier kept coming, and the throw to home barely was in time for the tag.

In the seventh, Farmer got Myers as far as second when he was hit by a pitch and moved on up a wild pitch. Then, in the 15th, Junior Hunt single and took second on a wild pitch, but neither man was able to reach third as Forbes effectively shut the door on the Falcons.

The Rams had difficulty in getting to Myers for the first nine innings. Only two reached in the first eight, and none reached second. Then, in the ninth, Forbes singled into right field, where the ball got away from the fielder. Forbes raced all the way to third on the play. Robersonville attempted the suicide squeeze, but the bunt was missed, and Forbes' runner was cut down.

In the 10th, the Rams got another chance. Timmy James single sharply off the third baseman's glove and Danny Stalls single to center. James raced for home, but the long relay caught him halfway between third and home, and he was easily disposed of.

In the 11th, Rawls walked and moved to second on a passed ball, but was cut down going to third on a fielder's choice.

In the 12th, Ed Warren single to center, was sacrificed to second and moved to third on a ground out. Danny Stalls was intentionally walked, however, to get to Phil James, who struck out.

The 13th also provided an opportunity for the Rams. Lang Hardison reached on an error. Forbes hit on up the alley to right, but Hardison couldn't quite beat the throw from right, as was just out at home.

In the 16th, Hardison singled, and was sacrificed to second, only to diet there.

Then, in the 17th, Knox reached on the hit batsman, and James became the hero of the night.

Both teams had excellent fielding, as Robersonville made no errors, and Farmer made only two.

The series was to continue Saturday night, with a third game, if necessary, set for Monday.

Bonallack Captures British Amateur Title For 3rd Year

By THOMAS A. REEDY
Associated Press Writer

NEWCASTLE, Northern Ireland (AP) — Michael Bonallack of England overpowered weary Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia 8 and 7 Saturday for an unprecedented third straight title in the 85-year-old British Amateur golf championship.

The 35-year-old Briton charged past the faltering Hyndman in the afternoon round of the 36-hole final to win this match play marathon for the fifth time in nine years.

Hyndman, 54, conceded too many years to the defending champion and had to settle for runner-up honors for the third time. He was a losing finalist to Dean Beman in 1959 and to Bonallack last year.

The American challenger was beaten by a toll of hot sun, baked-out fairways and extra hole matches over the 6,928-yard, par 71 Royal County Down links on the Irish sea coast.

"I could have used one day of rain-out to ease my legs," he conceded with a grin after Bonallack wrapped up the title on the 29th hole.

Hyndman had played 128 holes to reach the final, while Bonallack needed only 103.

In the 18-hole morning round Hyndman shot a brilliant 69 to go one up.

"At that point I was 13 under par for the entire week," the Philadelphian said.

After lunch, however, lightning struck. Bonallack, who had served notice with birdies on the 17th and 18th in the morning, put together three straight birdies to go two holes ahead.

Hyndman's game came apart on the 21st hole and from that point he could take only five and sixes.

"I had a blister on my right foot and on that third hole a blister broke out on my left foot and I never again could move into the ball," he said.

After 27 holes Hyndman was six down. Bonallack birdied the 28th with a seven-foot putt for a deuce and closed the match out at the 29th with a simple par four against Hyndman's creaky bogey five.

A year ago, Hyndman lost to Bonallack at Hoylake, 3 and 2.

He also has been runner-up in the U.S. Amateur, but has never won either crown.

The tall, genial Hyndman was cheered by a gallery of 3,000, a big crowd for amateur golf, when the presentation ceremonies were carried out. It was a tribute to a golf personality who had more foreigners rooting for him than he could have imagined.

"I'll never forget these galleries here. They were simply great and I hope I didn't let them down too much," Hyndman said.

Early in the day, it appeared he couldn't lose.

"I got the message from my legs, though," Bill said at the lunch break. His vitamin pills and steady sips of glucose just failed to carry him far enough.

Bonallack, a cruel competitor when anyone opens the door, slammed out sub-par golf just at the time the American was slipping, and what had been an incredibly hard-fought match suddenly turned into a rout.

Hyndman was one of 54 Americans originally entered in the field of 256. But most of them were knocked out early in the sudden-death matches.

Freehan Powers Tigers To Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Two home runs by Bill Freehan and one by Norm Cash powered the Detroit Tigers to a 6-4 victory over the Oakland A's Saturday before a record bat day crowd of 48,758.

Cash connected for a two-run homer off starter and loser Chuck Dobson that tied the game 2-2 in the fourth inning.

Freehan's first homer, his ninth of the season, put the Tigers ahead in the fifth inning.

Detroit added two more runs in the eighth inning on singles by Dick McAuliffe and Cesar Gutierrez, a fielder's choice, a walk to Cash and a single by Willie Horton. Then Freehan homered again in ninth.

The A's scored a pair of unearned runs off winning pitcher Joe Niekro in the second inning. Errors by McAuliffe and Elliott Maddox let the first run in and a single by Rick Monday scored the other.

Niekro needed relief help from John Hiller in the eighth inning after Oakland closed the gap to 5-4 when Felipe Alou rapped his fifth homer of the season with Bert Campaneris on base.

Field Set For Motor State

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP)—A 40-car field that includes all of the top names in stock car racing was completed Saturday for the Motor State 400, a $72,000 high-speed chase that is the first stop on a western swing for the drivers from Dixie.

Sunday's race, expected to be run at speeds above 155 miles per hour, gets off at 1:30 p.m. (EST) and the Weather Bureau has promised a fairly decent day.

After the show at the two-mile Michigan International Speedway, located in the scenic Irish Hills section 70 miles west of Detroit, the NASCAR entourage goes to Riverside, Calif., for a 400-miler next Sunday.

There was to have been a third stop on the western tour, this one at Texas International Speedway on June 21, but a shortage of tires from the strike-bound Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. forced cancellation of the event.

Sunday's Michigan field will be led by 27-year-old Pete Hamilton, who won the pole position in a Plymouth at a track-record 162.737 m.p.h. It was the first front-row effort in a major race for the lanky blond, who started his first year on NASCAR's rich Grand National circuit by winning both the Daytona and Talladega 500-mile events. He currently is the year's leading money winner with more than $87,000.

Beside him in the front row will be Richard Petty, the all-time money winner in NASCAR ranks and the man who brought Hamilton from the smaller tracks into the big time. Petty's qualifying time was 162.016 in an identical blue Plymouth.

At least seven other drivers are among the favorites to take home the $14,000 winner's check. Among them are the Motor State defending champ Cale Yarborough in a Mercury and David Pearson, the Ford star who won a rain shortened race here last August en route to his third NASCAR driving title. The Dodge factory team includes Buddy Baker, the only man ever to lap a closed course at better than 200 m.p.h.; Bobby Isaac, the short-track expert who leads the current point championship ranks; Bobby Allison and Charlie Glotzbach. LeRoy Yarborough, whose seven superspeedway wins last year and $188,605 in prize money were NASCAR records, starts eighth in a Ford.

R. C. Hands 1st Loss To Kiwanis

R. C. Cola handed the Kiwanis their first loss of the season yesterday, 11-8, in the North State Little League.

The loss left the Kiwanis with a 7-1 record, while R.C. is a game back at 6-2. The Jaycees are next with a 4-4 mark, followed by Coca-Cola, 3-5, and the Lions and Optimists, both 2-6.

R. C. pushed over twin runs in the top of the second. Bill Ellington walked and Mitchell Harris reached on an error. Scott Hill walked, loading the bases. Charlie Langley grounded out, scoring Ellington, and Harris came over on a wild pitch.

The Kiwanis came up with one run in the bottom of the inning. Kent Phillips doubled, took third on a passed ball, and scored on a wild pitch.

In the fourth, the Kiwanis tied it up with another run. David Middleton doubled, then came in when Calyton Brock reached on an error.

R. C. moved back out in the top of the fifth, scoring twice. Jeff Bailey doubled and David Dixon singled. Bailey then stole home, and Dixon stole on to third, He scored on Ricky Belonde's single.

The Kiwanis cut the lead back to one with a run in the bottom of the fifth. Kelly Heath singled and Ed Mayo got a hit. Kent Phillips reached on an error, bringing Heath home.

The sixth saw the Kiwanis tie it up again. Chuck Ellis walked and moved up on an error. Heath singled, and Mayo walked to load the bases. Steve Camp was hit by a pitch, forcing Ellis in.

Then, in the seventh, R. C. exploded for seven runs to rush out to an 11-4 lead. Dixon led off with a single and Gordan Sutton got a hit. Belonde singled to score Dixon, and Ellington reached on an error, bringing in Sutton. Harris hit into a fielder's choice, getting Belonde, and Scott Hill hit another which downed Ellington. Langley reached on an error, scoring Harris, and Buster Howard singled to load the bases. Bailey singled in Hill and Langley, and Dixon doubled in Howard and Bailey with the final runs.

The Kiwanis tried to rally in the bottom of the seventh, but could only manage four runs. Middleton walked and Danny Hester was hit by a pitch. Ellis walked, loading the bases. Brock singled in Middleton, and Heath singled to score Hester. Mayo reached on an error, bringin in both Ellis and Brock, but the rally ended there.

Dixon led the R. C. hitting with three, while Bailey, Sutton and Belonde each had two. For the Kiwanis, Heath had four.

Walton's Homer Aids Brewers

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Danny Walton drilled a two-run homer as Milwaukee topped Baltimore 6-4 ending the Brewers' losing string at five games.

Walton's two-run blow—his 12th of the season—in the fifth inning put Milwaukee in front 6-2, helping to overcome a two-run Orioles seventh inning rally which knocked out winner Gene Brabender.

Brabender, 2-7, won his first decision since April 26.

Tommy Harper, who stroked two hits and stole a pair of bases—his 22nd and 23rd this season—triggered the Brewers three-run fifth inning rally with a double.

Walton added a double in a two-run third.

The Orioles took a 2-0 edge in the first on run-scoring singles by Dave May and Boog Powell and added a pair in the seventh on Don Buford's two-run single.

In the bottom of the first, however, Pepsi came up with four runs to charge into the lead. Lee Shearin tripled to open the frame and Ricky Avery walked. He stole second, and David Davis singled to drive in both Shearin and Avery. Roy Oldham walked, and Mark Conway doubled to drive in both runners.

In the second, the Exchange cut the lead to 4-3 with a run. Mike Jeffery reached on an error and Thil Hurley walked. Both stole up a base and John Cleetwood walked. Darrell Roebuck also walked, forcing in Jeffery.

Veeck May Be Flood Witness

NEW YORK (AP) — The Curt Flood case has reached the seventh-inning stretch with possibly four more witnesses, including controversial former club owner Bill Veeck, scheduled to take the witness stand next week.

Veeck, a onetime owner of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox, is on the lineup card being carried about by Flood's attorneys, but at the moment there is still some question about whether he will be sent up to hit.

If Veeck were to testify, he likely would do so Wednesday, closing out the case in which Flood has brought a $3 million antitrust challenging the legality of baseball's reserve system.

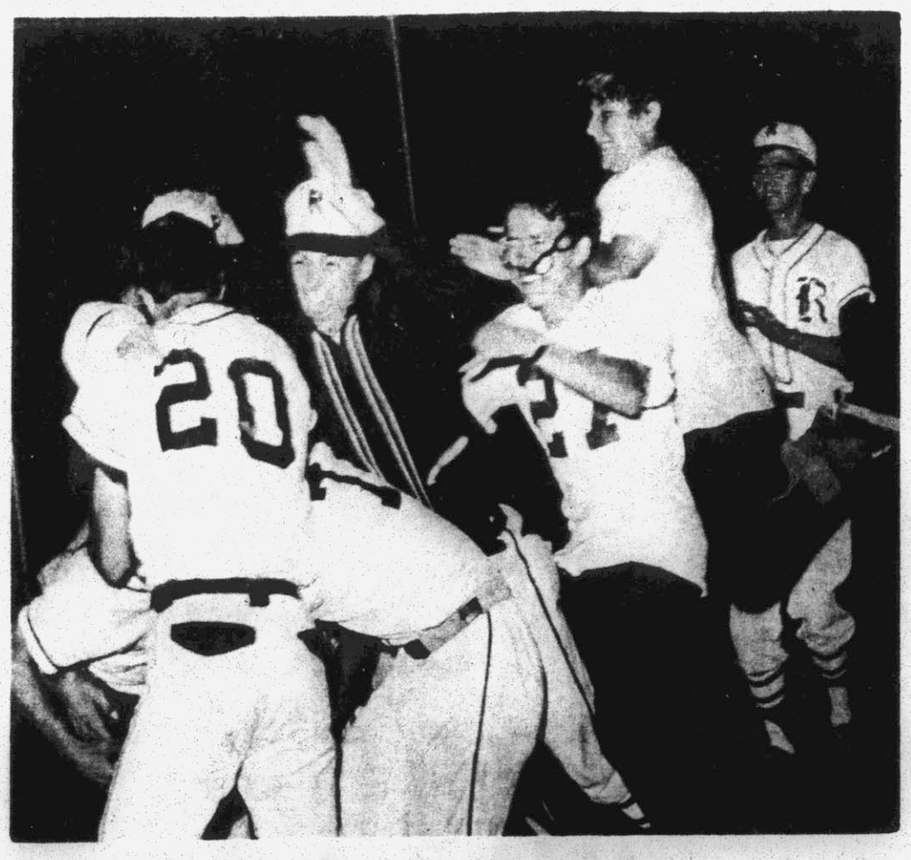

According to the timetable established by the attorneys, baseball will call its last defense witness, an economist, when the case resumes Monday and then Flood's lawyers will call Marvin Miller, executive director of the Players' Association, and Dick Moss, its attorney, as rebuttal witnesses.

The defendants' club owners called John Gaherin, their labor relations' negotiator, as their 10th witness Friday. He testified that the owners had negotiated in good faith in an attempt to reach agreement with the Players' Association on modifying the reserve system.

Gaherin pointed out that the owners had recognized their obligation to bargain collectively on the issue during 1967 and had done so in several meetings with the Players Association before institution of Flood's suit halted proceedings.

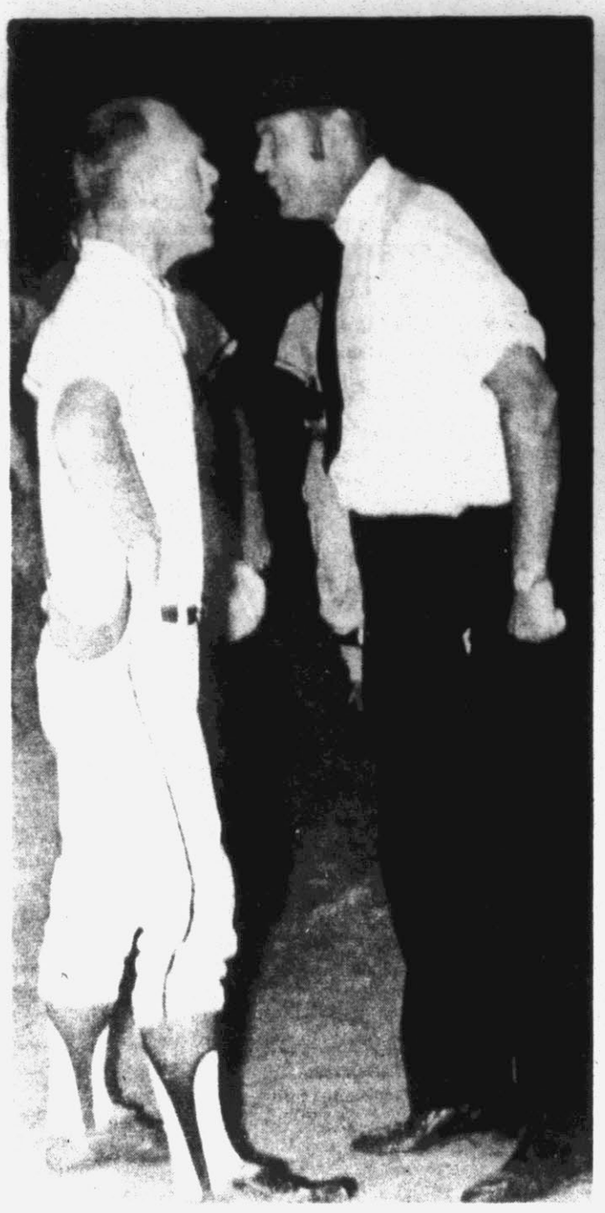

Gaherin said the Players Association had first made specific recommendations in August last year and said the owners "were shocked by the extent of the proposals" because of the "obvious harm they would do to baseball."

He said those proposals included a provision for a baseball player to gain free agent status after three years service; a reduction in the number of players a team could control; a salary arbitration procedure, and a provision that no trade could be made without a player's consent.

No Fight, Just Happiness

What appears to be the start of a wild brawl is actually only the happiness of the Robersonville Rams after Hal Knox (hidden by Timmy James - 20) scored in the 17th inning Friday night to give the Rams a 1-0 victory in the first game of the best of three State Championship series with Farmer. Knox had scored from second on a single by Phil James to break open the scoreless deadlock and give the Rams a 1-0 lead in the series for the Class A title. (Reflector Photo)

A Slight Disagreement

Noland Respess, Robersonville High School baseball coach, hotly argues with umpire Bo Butler after Lang Hardison of the Rams was called out at home in the 13th inning of the first game of the best of three series between Robersonville and Farmer Friday night. The argument followed the play pictured on page 14, as Respess said Hardison was held off the plate. Butler disagreed, and walks away from the still angry Respess in the picture at right. Butler's decision, however, stood up against the pleas of Respess. (Reflector Phtos)

Blyleven Makes Fine Debut As He Sets Down Washington

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nine years ago, Bert Blyleven knew nothing about the Little League. Today, the American League knows all about Bert Blyleven.

"He's everything people said he was," said Washington slugger Frank Howard after the Senators came out on the short end of a 2-1 score against the Minnesota Twins Friday night in Blyleven's major league debut.

The 19-year-old right-hander, called up from the American Association earlier this week to replace the injured Luis Tiant, hurled seven innings and allowed five hits. The only run came on Lee Maye's leadoff homer.

"I'm glad it happened that way," said Blyleven. "You know, you get the nervousness out of your system, but I would have liked to strike him out. I imagine Mr. Rigney and the rest of them got nervous with that home run."

Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore edged Milwaukee 3-2, the New York Yankees ripped the Chicago White Sox 10-1, California nipped Cleveland 2-1, Oakland downed Detroit 4-2 and Boston beat Kansas City 4-2.

In National League play, Cincinnati tripped the New York Mets 5-4 in a rain-shortened eight-inning game, the Chicago Cubs outslugged San Francisco 12-8, Montreal got by Atlanta 3-2, Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0, San Diego defeated St. Louis 3-2 and Houston turned back Philadelphia 8-7 in 11 innings.

The road to the majors for Ricalbert Blyleven began in Zeist, Holland, where he was born. The family moved to Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada, in 1953 and to southern California in 1957, where Blyleven starred at Garden Grove High.

Blyleven was the Twins' third choice in the free-agent draft last June and went on to post a 7-2 record in two rookie leagues and a sensational 8-0 mark in the Florida Instructional League.

"What can I say about him," raved manager Bill Rigney, who calls Blyleven "The Baby." "He's the best looking prospect I've seen. I've got to rate him with all the real young players that I've ever looked at. He's just beautiful."

The Twins scored in the first off loser Casey Cox when Cesar Tovar walked, stole second and came around on Tony Oliva's single. They broke the tie in the fifth on Frank Quilici's infield hit, Blyleven's sacrifice and a single by Tovar. Ron Perranoski preserved Blyleven's victory.

Merv Rettenmund broke a 1-1 tie in the fourth inning with his fifth home run and Ellie Hendrick's fifth-inning homer, his third, was the winner as the Orioles nipped the Brewers. Dave McNally, with help from Eddie Watt in the eighth, became the AL's first nine-game winner.

Bobby Murcer drove in three runs with two homers and a double and Gene Michael also knocked three runs across as the Yankees routed Chicago. Roy White also homered as Mel Stottlemyre scattered five hits in posting his first complete-game victory.

Oakland took advantage of a two-out throwing error by pitcher Earl Wilson to push across four unearned runs in the sixth inning and beat the Tigers. Wilson knocked down Felipe Alou's hard bouncer, then threw low past first as Bert Campaneris scored all the way from first and Alou wound up on third.

Joe Rudi's bloop single tied the score and after a walk to Sal Bando, Don Mincher and Frank Fernandez singled runs home.

Billy Cowan's fourth-inning homer, his first of the season provided the margin of victory as the Angels and Clyde Wright, 8-3, edged the Indians. The only Cleveland run was Vada Pinson's 200th career homer in the first.

Carl Yastrzemski's two-run homer in the fifth boosted the Red Sox past the Royals. Bob Oliver homered for Kansas City.

Montreal Snaps Its Loss String

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now that Gene Mauch has finally tasted victory after two long weeks of bitter losses, the optimistic field general of the lowly Montreal Expos is filled only with thoughts of winning.

The Expos did it the hard way Friday night, coming from behind with a pair of runs in the seventh and getting a ninth inning homer from Coco Laboy, to beat Atlanta 3-2.

The triumph snapped Montreal's losing streak at 11 games —the longest in the majors this season—but still left the two-year-old expansion club at the bottom of the National League Eastern Division, $11\frac{1}{2}$ games behind Chicago.

In other games, the Rubs routed San Francisco 12-8, Cincinnati downed New York 5-4 in an eight-inning rain shortened contest, Pittsburgh blanked Los Angeles 3-0, San Diego nipped St. Louis 3-2 and Houston stopped Philadelphia in 11 innings, 8-7.

Four Expos hurlers stopped the major league's hottest hitter, Rico Carty. Carty, the Braves' left fielder went 0-for-3 and dropped seven points to .428.

The Braves jumped to a 2-0 lead but the Expos tied it off starter George Stone in the seventh on three consecutive hits after two were out. John Boccabella doubled, a single by Bobby Wine followed and Bob Bailey's double tied it at 2-2.

Laboy then stroked his game winner off veteran reliever Hoyt Wilhelm in the ninth.

The Cubs bombed Juan Marichal and three successors for 16 hits—four by Jim Hickman, increasing their lead over the Mets to four games. Ron Santo cracked a two-run homer for the Cubs while Ken Henderson and Willie McCovey slammed homers for the Giants.

Willie Mays was injured slightly when he collided in the outfield with Bob Taylor. The Giants' center fielder suffered bruised ribs and a slight cut finger.

Tony Perez drilled his 20th homer of the season—a three-run shot and Lee May lashed a tie-breaking single in the sixth as the Reds downed the Mets in a rain-marred game. The Mets fell to their third straight defeat despite solo homers by Joe Foy and Tommie Agee.

Bob Moose blanked the Dodgers on six hits and the Pirates' right-hander got support from run-scoring singles by Roberto Clemente, Matty Alou and Gene Alley. Moose struck out eight and didn't walk a batter.

Clarence Gaston drove in a pair of runs with a double and single to back the eight-hit pitching of winner Pat Dobson and reliever Roberto Rodriguez in the Padres' victory over the Cards.

Milfoil Cuts Down On Fishing Pleasure

By JOEL ARRINGTON

POPLAR BRANCH, N. C. — The wind blew my white popper several feet wide of its target next to the Currituck Sound marsh bank. When I picked it up for another cast, guide "Booty" Spruill shouted: "Cast it right back. Look at that wake behind it."

I flipped the lure back near where the fish had turned and made a swirl the size of a truck tire.

"Now let it lie there," Spruill said.

It didn't lie long. The bass slurped that popper under, and when I set the hook it headed for cover. Cover, in Currituck Sound, is milfoil. There are dense beds of the submerged aquatic plant called Eurasian water milfoil. The grass covers at least 60 percent of the sound.

There was no question that the fish was a big one. Holding it away from grass was impossible with a 10-pound tippet. It buried under the grass, then came up several feet away and jumped, the line pulling straight down.

Spruill poled over to the spot where the fish came down and, while I kept a taut line, netted fish and grass together. The whole thing, from strike to stringer, took less than two minutes.

Sure, I was proud of the fish. It weighed 5¼ pounds back at Caroland Farm Fishing Lodge. Who wouldn't be? But a fish that size on a flyrod should give the angler a memorable battle. I was robbed of that because of the grass.

Milfoil spread into Currituck Sound from Chesapeake Bay about five years ago. It now grows at least as far south in North Carolina as Collington Bay, probably farther. Wherever it is found in thick beds it is a menace to navigation.

What it has done to fishing is a little more complex. Last spring, most lodge owners and fishermen agreed that Currituck bass fishing was as good as it has ever been. This spring is beginning the same way.

Fisheries biologist Don Baker of the state Wildlife Resources Commission said last year that dense weed beds apparently aid spawning and concentrate fish at times where there is no grass.

But there are other effects. Northerly winds blow water out of Currituck Sound. Guides course them because ball pull away from the banks when the water level goes down. In pre-milfoil days water would come back into the sound sometimes overnight when northerly winds abated. With rising levels, feeding fish move in close to the banks.

Now, with so much grass in the sound, return flow is restricted. It may take days for water to return to good fishing levels.

There is little doubt that there are plenty of bass in the sound. But many anglers feel there is little satisfaction in catching them if fish get tangled in grass when they are hooked.

What about milfoil control? Two possibilities are chemical controls and natural controls. The only feasible herbicide is 2-4-D, one that is designed for terrestial plants. It takes about 40 pounds per acre to treat milfoil with it, and the treatment is only temporary. This amounts to "chemical mowing," and it is very expensive.

A natural disease has infected some of Chesapeake Bay's milfoil and about 100,000 acres have cleared up because of it. Scientists are presently working on a way to infect other milfoil populations with the disease, but so far they have been unsuccessful.

Another biological control is the subject of sometimes heated discussion in the Currituck area. Guide Bud Lupton said recently, "cut an inlet through the banks."

This is a pregnant suggestion. True, milfoil would be killed by a certain salinity level. So would preferred waterfowl food grasses such as widgeon grass and eel grass. Largemouth bass also are killed by too much salt, and their eggs and fry are even more susceptible.

But some guides favor the idea anyway, saying that, a canal with control gates would be a better solution than an inlet. This way, a known amount of salt water could be introduced, then the gates could be closed and fresh water allowed to flush out the salt water. Most fish would retreat, they say, into the mouths of freshwater creeks, and would return when the salty slug was diluted to within tolerance levels.

Dr. Tom Linton, with whom I fished Currituck recently, endorsed salt water treatment. "Our experience has shown that biological control are always superior to chemical or mechanical ones," he said. "The salt-water intrusion idea has merit, but careful study is necessary as a precaution against possible detrimental effects."

Colonel Clyde Patton, Executive Director of the Wildlife Resources Commission, said he would not favor the suggestion unless it was implemented under strictly controlled conditions. "I would want to know more about the biological effects," he said. "What is the salt tolerance of milfoil in comparison to that of other grasses in the sound? Does milfoil encourage waterfowl to come to the sound? These, and many other questions must be answered before I could reach a decision."

No doubt there are those who would not favor milfoil control even if it had no detrimental effects on bass. Recent years have brought good waterfowl hunting to Currituck Sound. Whether the grass has attracted ducks or whether high population levels are merely coincidental with good nesting conditions is up for debate.

Currituck's milfoil dilemma is a knotty one indeed. It will not be soon resolved.

Show Off Catch

Tom Trevathan, left, and Carl Abee show off this fine catch they made recently in the Tar River. The 10 bass on the line weighed in between 2½ and 4 pounds each, while the rock they hold tipped the scales at 6½ pounds. They caught the fish using a Shuman fly on a rod and reel.

Boating Deaths Are Preventable

By JACK WOLISTON

NEW YORK (UPI)—A father and son sailing through the serene waters of a New Jersey lake on a recent Sunday met sudden tragedy when the aluminum mast of their boat picked up current from a 34,500-volt high tension line crossing the small body of water.

The 14-year-old boy was knocked off the boat by the shock and drowned. The father was burned severely but recovered. Police said either the mast touched the line or the high-voltage current leaped from the line without actual contact taking place.

The boy was among the first of an estimated 1,300 pleasure boaters who will die in water accidents in the United States this year. The father had the dubious distinction of making the list of more than 1,000 who will be injured.

This accident might be termed bizarre, unusual, unpreventable—but most fatalities resulting from boating mishaps are not.

For example, a good many of the 1,350 persons who died on the water in 1969 met death because of a lack of common sense—failure to observe the most basic boating rules and regulations.

Those most often violated probably include overloading and resulting capsizing; failure to have life saving equipment and failure to use it even when it is aboard; overpowering of boats; failure to take precautions against fire when refueling; failure to heed weather warnings; lack of knowledge of the waters in which boats are operated.

To the credit of pleasure boating, the federal and state governments and public and private groups are carrying out intensive educational programs to prevent such careless incidents.

The big problem, it seems, is to get boatmen to take a few hours a week to attend these educational programs, most of which are offered free of charge.

In announcing that fatalities from boating mishaps in 1969 reached 1,350, an increase of six-tenths of one per cent over the previous year and the highest since 1965 when the fatality figure was 1,360, Coast Guard Commandant Adm. Willard J. Smith had this to say:

"Tragically, a great many of those who died had life saving devices available but failed to use them.

"It has taken tremendous efforts by all concerned to keep the number of accidents relatively steady in the face of a rapid increase in the number of boats.

"We must constantly seek ways to reduce the number and severity of boating mishaps."

In considering last year's increase in fatality figures, it should be noted that there were nearly 800,000 more numbered boats plying U.S. waterways in 1969 than in 1968—4,864,074 compared with 4,067,731.

It should also be noted that boating injuries in 1969 were 1,004 compared with 1,284 the previous year and the lowest figure in four years. Also, boating accidents reported to the Coast Guard in 1969 were 5,239 compared to 5,427 in 1968.

And property damage from boating accidents dropped from $6.63 million in 1968 to $6.37 million last year.

Farmville Man Lands Marlin

By FRANK SWANSON

The largest blue marlin that has been brought into Morehead City thus far this season, was landed by Manly Patterson, Farmville, N.C. on Saturday. He was fishing from Capt. George Bedsworth's Dolphin One, with mate Bryan Yeomans. The big fish tipped the scales at 360 pounds, and measured 11 feet. It took only 30 minutes to boat this nice blue.

Bob Williams, Swansboro has tried his marlin fishing luck for five straight years, and this time, his luck was right! He hooked and captured a 342 pound blue marlin that took him 1 hour and 15 minutes to land. The hard pulling marlin measured out at 10 feet 4 inches. He was also fishing on board the Dolphin One.; and this fish was landed on Wednesday.

Wednesday was also good marlin fishing for Jack Myers, Raleigh, who boated a 219 pound blue marlin while fishing on Capt. Bill Williams' Ebb Tide. It was also a good luck day for James Owens, Cherry Point, when he pulled aboard a 294 pound blue marlin from the Morehead City Yacht Basin berthed boat, the Tripoli, skippered by Del Willis.

Capt. David Ballou on board the Alpha D-Amour landed a mount - sized blue marlin on Friday weighing 176 pounds. The angler was L. F. Lee, Nashville, Tenn.

Fishing for kings these past several days has been so-so, but Buddy Harris on his Offshore III, found out where the kings were hiding Sunday, and rounded up 49, plus a couple of albacore. Dolphin 7, with helmsman Jack Lewis, pitcked up 350 pounds of sea bass Sunday.

Pete Allred, Morehead City's most active cobia fisherman, grabbed a 63 pound cobia on Tuesday, in the waters inside Shackleford Banks.

Rod And Gun: Boats On Increase In State

By ROD AMUNDSON

A stock market slump and rumors of a recession to the contrary, Tarheels are going in for pleasure boating at a record pace. On June 1 last year 61,281 boats had been registered. On the same date this year, 66,685 had been registered. Bearing in mind that only boats equipped with power of 10 horsepower or better have to be registered and numbered, this would figure to well over 130,000 boats plying the waters of the state.

North Carolina ranks fourth in the nation in the amount of fresh water area available for fishing. Add to this the brackish estaurine waters, plus the ocean, and it is easy to understand why we are a boating state.

Records are not complete for May, but in April wildlife protectors checked 14,597 boats in operation. In April of 1969, 10,352 were checked. Of the 14,597 boats checked, the operators of 190 were given citations for violations of the boating rules — 88 of these for lack of or improper lifesaving devices, and another 39 had failed to have their boats registered and numbered. Only two did not have their boat numbers properly displayed.

The April boating accident record shows seven mishaps, only one of which was fatal. Teams of wildlife protectors have been putting on water safety demonstrations and setting up courtesy boat safety checking stations. These have been highly effective in keeping boating accidents to a minimum.

This year's production at the Weldon striped bass hatchery was down somewhat from that of last year. About 13,000,000 fry were hatched and distributed as usual. One reason for the slump was a boycott of sorts on the part of fishermen. Wildlife protectors issued citations to several who exceeded the creel limit, and apparently these and others decided not to cooperate with the hatchery staff, failing to realize that without the hatchery there wouldn't be many fish on which to exceed the limit.

Fishermen are about as hard to figure out as the fish they go after. Being something of a fishermen myself, I can understand this. Several years ago I stopped in Williamston for gas. In the repair shop of the filling station were half a dozen fishermen, all busily filing the enamel off Heddon's jointed vamp casting plugs. I asked the attendant what it was all about.

"Aw hell!" he said. "I ain't got a decent file left in my shop. Some guy comes in this morning with about a 10-pound chub (largemouth bass) he had taken in one of them plugs like they got over there, that had all of the paint wore off of it. These guys have bought up every plug in town and are filing the paint off!"

If your outboard motor vibrates the whole boat, but is otherwise in good mechanical condition, try putting a mat between the motor clamps and the transom. You can pick up a scrap of mat for free at any carpeting house. The carpet with rubber backing makes the best insultation against unnecessary vibration and jangled nerves.

And how about a clean-up cruise this summer? This is a good family project. Take plenty of bags or other containers along, and comb the shore and the edge of the water for debris left by other boaters and anglers.

. . . as the town of Robersonville draws near its first centenary, it is experiencing the beginning of a new period of growth. For long a sleepy town of about two thousand people, chances are good that the next few years will witness an expansion of population along with industrial growth. This is part of the emerging pattern evident for towns across Eastern North Carolina as the trend toward urbanization accelerates in what has traditionally been an agricultural area.

DOWNTOWN . . . Robersonville has been modernized in recent years with 19th and early 20th century store fronts replaced with simpler, more colorful ones. The Wachovia Bank Building, in the center, may become a public library.

Robersonville Looks To The Future

Text And Photographs By Jerry Raynor

Robersonville, the second largest town in Martin County, is beginning to experience the first growth possibilities after a long period of general dormancy.

Like many small towns across the face of North Carolina and the nation, Robersonville has steadfastly held its own without yielding to the fate of becoming a dying village.

Incorporated in 1872, the town will soon celebrate its first century. Robersonville was named for Henry Roberson, who with George Roberson were among the first settlers of the town. Many of the present inhabitants bear the Roberson name.

According to Bill Sharpe in "A New Geography of North Carolina," (Vol. IV), Henry Roberson was moved to "shed tears of joy" when the railroad was located there in 1882. After nearly 90 years, two freight trains roll through Robersonville daily. Town planners today find the railroad a mixed blessing. In common with Rocky Mount, the town is divided by the railroad. "It's something we can live with and we must for the time being plan on its existence," Ralph Mobley, Town Administrator, stated.

Mobley, as coordinator of many phases of planning and contact for the various projects now underway, expresses unbounded optimism about the immediate future of Robersonville.

"I personally think the Robersonville - Williamston area will become an industrial complex," he said. "Already this phase is beginning with water lines extending two miles out of each town toward each other along U.S. 64."

Indicating that planners are taking the initiative in trying to attract new and desirable industries into Robersonville and Martin County, Mobley commented "We are definitely trying to get industries located in the area. We find people like this area. There's land available and we're spending considerable money on water."

Two new industries are in the preparatory stages for moving into the Robersonville area at this time. One, the Blue Ridge Shoe Company is well on its way to becoming a part of the local scene. With construction going well on a 20 acre site two miles east of Robersonville, the main plant, which will be 60,000 square feet in size, is due for completion about mid-July.

A representative on the construction site noted that approximately 300 people, mostly women, will be employed once the firm is in operation. "Already there are 55 workers taking training being trained in their uptown training center," Mobley said.

One point which Mobley and others agree is a boon to the area is that the bulk of the labor force will come from the immediate area." "The plant and personnel managers will be coming in from outside," Mobley commented, "but most of the labor force will be local people."

The Blue Ridge Shoe Company is sure to please advocates of conservation as a grove of pecan and other trees are being carefully preserved during construction of the plant.

A little nearer Robersonville, groundwork for the Robersonville Products Company, which will have two plants located on a large tract of mixed farm and wooded land, is reaching the stage where building construction can begin soon.

The wood products firm will specialize in manufacturing display cases. Initially, after completion of the first planned building, one with a manufacturing area of 400 by 150 feet and an office space of 30 by 210 feet, the firm will have approximately 100 jobs open for cabinet makers and administrative personnel.

A spokesman for the firm noted that the area allowed plenty of room for future expansion. Already on the drawing board is a plan for a second projected building to measure 450 by 400 feet.

Construction people on the site are shooting for an early October completion date for the first of the two buildings.

But new industries are not the only goal of Robersonville citizens and planners. Within Robersonville's city limits work is being carried on for 50 units of low-rent government subsidized housing. To be contained in 22 buildings, the rental units will be a mixture of individual and apartment type housing, ranging in size from one to four bedroom units.

For a town of approximately 2,000 inhabitants, 50 units can do much to alleviate the needs of families living in substandard housing.

James Jenkins and Jim Ellington, two of the planners associated with the housing project, are enthusiastic about what this project will do for Robersonville. "It will not be just another row of houses," Jenkins ramarked. "we are incorporating an administration building which will house a community hall, a community maintenance shop and an administrative office."

There are many problems the town must face and solve. Parking area, even in a primarily agricultural area, is a major problem. Another, and one with a more personal note than other problems, is working out a method of preserving some of the fine old houses which are gradually being encroached on by the main business district. "Nothing definite has been planned," Mobley commented, "but in a number of discussions this subject has come up. We are anxious to preserve these lovely homes, and will continue to work on some solution."

The possibility of a sizeable town library is another project in which citizens are becoming more and more interested. "Wachovia Bank is in the process of building a new bank," Mobley mentioned. "We have discussed the possibility of using their old building downtown as a public library." Admitting that nothing definite has been settled in this matter, Mobley added, "A number of people, however, have expressed a keen interest in this and would be willing to make donations."

Mobley, expressing a thought mentioned by several longtime residents, thinks the new surge of incoming industries will have a beneficial effect on the young people of the town.

"Every year about 175 young people graduating from the schools leave the community," Mobley said. "With more jobs available, this should result in more of them staying here."

Robersonville is but a part of the larger picture, according to Mobley's thinking. "Eastern North Carolina is a great place for new industry," he said. "We have so much to offer, a good labor force, good land, and we're beginning to find out that more and more people are beginning to see the advantages of this area."

SPACIOUS . . . homes such as the Little family home shown above, dot Robersonville. Plans are being discussed to preserve gracious homes such as this one located near the business district.

SIGN OF MODERNIZATION . . . a company plane stands in readiness for busy executives at the Martin County Airport, located just north of Everetts, about five miles from downtown Robersonville.

NOW BEING CLEARED . . . this tract of land on U.S. 64 between Robersonville and Everetts is the site of the future Robersonville Products Company, which will be devoted principally to a cabinet type industry, making display cases.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT . . . to Robersonville residents — and to persons throughout eastern North Carolina, these large vats stand in a row in a lot adjacent to a tobacco warehouse. As the company plane symbolizes the present, these vats are a reminder of past links.

GOING UP . . . at a point midway between Robersonville and Everetts, the new plant of the Blue Ridge Shoe Company is being constructed with care in order to save trees on the site.

'Quark' Hunt At National Lab

NEW YORK (AP) — "Quark" hunters at the Argonne National Laboratory are scrutinizing lunar rocks brought back by the Apollo astronauts. "Quarks" are hypothetical atomic particles that have electrical charges a fraction of the charge of an electron. They have never been found. Theorizing that "quarks" could have been formed on earth by cosmic rays and might have been removed by erosion, the scientists speculate that they may find them in material from the moon.

Massey In Many Females In The Life Of John Forsythe

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—John Forsythe, the father of three growing girls in "To Rome With Love," is surrounded by more females in private life than he is on the weekly CBS series.

After a long day's work at Cinema Center Studios, John drives to his home in what he defines as the low rent district of Bel-Air to be greeted by an entire domicile of femininity.

First there is his wife, Julie, to whom he has been married 26 years.

His daughters, Page, 19, and Brooke, 16, are there to greet him, as is a female housekeeper.

To make it unanimous two female dogs, Eloise and Jezebelle, and four female parakeets whose names escape Forsythe, share bed and board.

The house has five bedrooms and Julie has furnished it combining antiques and modern decor. Its exterior is a rambling Cape Cod cottage with black shutters and contrasting white shingles.

"In this mercurial business of television," Forsythe says, "it's good to end the day by returning to a warm, friendly home."

It is equally satisfying, on occasion, for John to duck into his den to relax with his books and stereo set. He reads as many newspapers as possible, enjoys non-fiction and often just sits back in a deep chair and thinks.

The grounds of his home include a swimming pool and tennis court. He admits the girls are better swimmers than their father, but he rules the tennis court.

Despite the fact that the house is overrun by the opposite sex, John is frequently called upon to barbecue dinner. If viewers admire his trim physique, let it be known that the actor diets constantly in addition to exercising regularly.

When the chatter of females becomes overhwelming, Forsythe awaits the mailman and milkman and stops to pass the time of day with them to break the monotony.

On Saturdays John can be found at Hollywood Park or Santa Anita betting on the races. On Sunday's he likes to go sailing with friends or play golf—with male companions.

Forsythe enjoys a rapport with the juvenile actresses on the show—Joyce Menges, Susan Neher and Melanie Fullerton—as he does with his own family.

Because he plays the perfect father on television, John receives letters from parents and youngsters alike praising his comportment on the show.

"Things work out a lot better on the series sometimes than they do at home," he admits ruefully.

"There are times when I wish I had my writers with me when a domestic crisis arises. Distance lends enchantment, and I should whip out some of my fan mail when the girls at home are up in arms."

Much of Forsythe's somewhat square wardrobe seen on the show is his own. With a laugh he says, "I have infinite great taste."

After working long, difficult hours, Forsythe is reluctant to attend parties or give them. In the off-season, he and Julie give small dinner parties and try to visit friends once or twice a week.

The Enjoyment Is Lost
Massey Final Stage Appearance

RAYMOND MASSEY is shown during a break in his first London stage appearance in 32 years which he says will be his last. (AP Wirephoto)

By COLIN HARROW
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — Raymond Massey is making his first London stage appearance in 32 years—and he says it will be his last.

"I don't have the stamina any more for the theater," the 73-year-old actor says.

Massey confessed he felt stark terror when he opened at the Duke of York Theater last week.

The Robert Anderson play received generally enthusiastic notices, but most of the praise was for Massey, a favorite with the British. He is not pleased with the way things have been developing in the theater since he played his last stage role in America 12 years ago.

"To me theater should be enchantment, make believe, let's pretend. Today it's sex, obscenity and squalor," he said.

"We don't seem to have entertainment any more. The stage has become a dissecting table and I'm sure people don't want to be insulted by the vulgarity of the permissive theater or cinema.

"I don't mean it's got to be all light comedy—'On the Waterfront' was rugged and savage and it was a great film, but to me 'Prisoner of Zenda' was great too."

Massey says he has given up going to the movies and seldom visits the theater any more. "Somewhere we've lost the theater of enjoyment," he said sadly.

He has fond memories about his role as Dr. Gillespie in the Kildare series on television.

"It will be for this and not the theater that people will remember me," he said.

"I have a great respect for TV. Even if so much of it, particularly in America, is junk. I'm not one of those actors who look on it as slumming.

"With someone like Gillespie you get a wonderful chance to develop the character—something you can't have in movies or the theater which are just a one-shot thing."

'The Lost Colony' Will Begin June 19

MANTEO, N.C. — THE LOST COLONY company has begun rehearsals for the 30th season of the nation's oldest outdoor drama.

Opening night will be Friday, June 19 at Fort Raleigh's Waterside Theatre.

Rehearsals began early this week and will continue daily until opening night. The technical crew has been at work for the past week readying the lights and sets.

This year's LOST COLONY staff is one of the most professional staffs of any summer theatre in the nation. Director and choreographer Joe Layton is beginning his seventh season with the Paul Green drama of the first settlers of the New World.

Layton, who began producing THE LOST COLONY in 1964, is one of the primary reasons the drama has been able to attract its highly professional staff.

Internationally known as both a director and a choreographer, Layton has won three Tony Awards for Broadway production and an Emmy Award for his direction of Barbara Streisand's TV specials.

Working with Layton as production coordinator is Robert Knowles who is with THE LOST COLONY for his second year. This winter Knowles directed six major productions of the Jacksonville, Fla., Little Theatre, one the world premier of a Norman Krasna play, and served on the teaching staff at Jacksonville University.

Drama Faces 3rd Season

VALDESE — North Carolina's newest outdoor historical drama begins its third season on August 6 in the lovely Old Colony Amphitheatre in this eastern Burke County town.

The story in this drama is one that is unique in North Carolina and the nation. For on May 29, 1893, a special Richmond and Danville Railroad train slowed and stopped in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The first 29 of what was to become, within the next few months, a sizeable colony of Waldenses from the rugged French-Italian Alps had arrived at their new home.

There was no depot, no town. In a small clearing stood a few crude wooden houses surrounded by forests and thickets of bramble and brush. Looking on from a hillside nearby were some of their nearest neighbors. For months they had been asking, "Who are these Waldenses and why are they coming?"

The story of these Waldenses comes alive in the form of exciting outdoor drama. Authentic costumes, dances and music entwined in a well-written play have placed this town that the Waldenses built, with its blend of the old and new world, in the main stream for travelers from all over the nation.

From Sheppard Memorial Library

By Barbara Boone

What do you do if you are the father of teenagers — and if you yourself have smoked marijuana? Land Kauffmann compsssionately explores the problem in A PLOT OF GRASS. Dramatic and humane, this is a story of "pot", of a family crisis (relationship between father and son), a situation that could be yours at any moment.

A PLOT OF GRASS touched on all the fundamentsls of contemporary life: honesty, security, communication, fear and love. Which of these supersedes the rest is a question each reader must answer for himself.

IN THE FLIGHT OF THE EAGLE, Per Olof Sundman crystallizes the drama of one of the great mysteries of the Artic: the attempt in 1897 by the Swedish scientist S. A. Andree to sail to the North Pole in a hydrogen gas balloon. Andree failed; after an eerie 65-hour voyage in their balloon, the Eagle, he and his two companions were forced to land on the ice where they died. Not until thirty-three years later were the remains of the Andree party discovered.

THE FLIGHT OF THE EAGLE incorporates in fictional form some intriguing puzzles that have haunted the author throughout his writing. Mr. Sundman's saga of true adventure would have interested Icarus and is liable to remain fascinating, as long as men need pioneers, admire heroes, and care about flying.

Hilda Lewis's novel, HARLOT QUEEN, is quite intriguing about the life of Isabella of France. Isabella was proud to be wed to the handsome Edward II of England, but her joy turned to rancor, for Piers Gavestin, an egotistical and mercenary courtier, usurped her husband's bed. Isabella became weary of waiting her turn to rule England. She turned to other men, worse men, and finally Mortimer of Wigmore. With him she found comfort and love and cared little that people called her "harlot". Her rage and vengeance grew; she pursued the King's paramours. The contest that ensued decided the destiny of England.

In this historically, accurate, and thrilling story of power and passion, Hilda Lewis has created an unforgettable account of how the fate of nations has often been forged in royal bedrooms.

LAST PLANE OUT is a novel about planes and the men who fly them — who fly them because there is nothing that they would rather do — nothing as important, as meaningful, as richly rewarding. It 's an exciting and topical and moving story about the pilots themselves: The Captain — a man not to be grounded; Jennings, the heroic survivor of a terrifying crash, and the copilots, navigators, technicians, ground crews, and the two women who tie together the threads of their lives.

John Ball is the author of In The Heat Of The Night and others. This honest, exciting, and wonderfully educational novel will endear men to thousands more — those who as fascinated by the mystique of flying; those who feel that virtue ought to triumph; and those who simply like a very good story.

This overwhelming compulsion is the pursuit of pleasure, a guest that takes them across oceans and continents in search of the best that life has to offer. They are the Beautiful People — some of them incredibly wealthy and powerful, others willing to sacrifice anything and anyone for that same wealth and power. This is THE PLEASURE PRINCIPLE by Felice Gordon, a novel about such characters as Toni Millhouse, widow of the Secretary of State; Archimedes Pendelos, Turkish magnate; Victoria, Duchess of Hampton; Tommy Ambrose-Smith, Victoria's set-designer husband; Countess of Mallacca, Susan Belmont and her husband, Paul.

There are the people who party and manipulate and try new alliances as they reveal what it means to live by THE PLEASURE PRINCIPLE — in an intriguing novel of the Beautiful People at private play.

KIDD SHOW — LAST FOR SEASON

NATURE . . . provided Kidd with this detail of parched earth cracked and split into a delicate design.

MUSICIANS . . . a Kidd Poster.

The final senior student show of the year has just completed a two week run at the gallery of the Baptist Student Center.

William Kidd, candidate for the BFA degree in graphic design at East Carolina University, in a show of bright posters; page layouts incorporating text in design, in color and in black and white; a series of black and white photographs; and a section of letterhead and stationery design; showed how commercial graphics, photography and poster work can function as works that are pleasing to the eye and functional for the purpose for which designed.

Kidd has a flair with colors which are obviously his favorites. He uses a generous amount of pinks, lavenders and cherry reds throughout his graphics. One with particular impact is a small square design, without lettering, of bright red fruits outlined broadly in white in a formal pattern of repeated designs.

In two posters, white space predominates with the colored design forming a border effect. In another poster (see illustration), the area is crowded with a multi-colored design, a variation on Art Nouveau and the flatness of comic [illegible].

Despite it's great detail, it manages to suggest airiness.

It is in the photographs that Kidd is most sensitive to moods. So much has been accomplished in photographic innovations that one does not expect to be presented with something new. But Kidd, relying on light values, shows photographs that are unusually sensitive and selective of poetic values. Soft white light shimmers in several of these photographs — one of a field with two small bare trees in a corner proves the camera can be the perfect instrument of recording natural beauty. No tricks here, merely the photographer catching nature at the right moment

CALLING ALL CAMERA FANS
By ROSS BRYANT

KEEP IT CLEAN!

Little bright specks or trailing "fingers" of dust and dirt appear in the average developed snapshots about as often as background clutter. . .so one of your first rules should be to keep out the clutter.

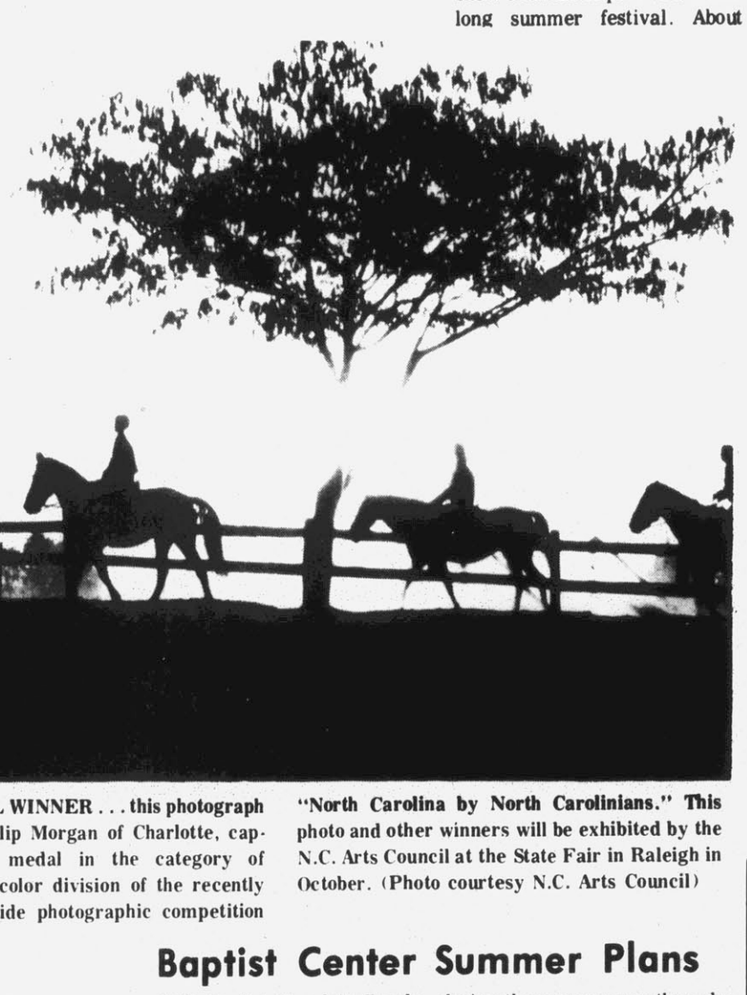

The simple fact of photographic life is that dust abounds, and some of it is going to settle onto your camera's lens or sneak inside the camera itself. All you can do is fight it.

Your first move is to keep a lens cap on whenever your camera is out of action. Cover those interchangeable lenses, too. And store the camera between usings where it won't get dirty or banged around.

And don't use a tissue or handkerchief to clean your lenses and cameras. Get one of the specially designed soft brushes or blower-brushes. You'll find these and every useful photographic aid and accessory in our complete displays. Photography is our business, so let us help you with everything from equipment to the finest developing and printing service.

Baptist Center Summer Plans

ECU Baptist Chaplain Randy Mishoe, director of the Baptist Student Center and Art Gallery, notes that during the summer one or two special shows are planned. Other than this, Mishoe says the gallery will be used during the summer months only in the event a request for a special exhibition is received. With the advent of the fall quarter, however, the gallery will again be a center of continually changing shows.

Smuggling Mexicans Can Be Lucrative And Lethal Trade

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Thousands of Mexican nationals are being smuggled into California in a lucrative and lethal trade that operates despite federal lawmen with electronic eyes and stiff court penalties.

The Mexicans, lured by better paying jobs, are crossing the border illegally by foot, car, truck, plane and boat.

The U.S. border patrol arrested 63,933 deportable aliene in California last year.

At the Chula Vista sector south of here, the number of deportable aliens nabbed jumped from 4,377 in 1963 to 41,597 last year.

It can be a deadly experience for the alien.

"We've had about a dozen deaths since the first of the year involving illegal aliens," U.S. Atty. Harry Steward said. Five Mexicans were killed early Friday when a truck being pursued by Border Patrol officers crashed near Descanso in southeastern San Diego County.

Another alien was shot recently when he ran from guards at the Camp Pendleton Marine Base. Others have died of exposure or falls from cliffs while trying to hike over mountains and deserts of southeastern California.

"I don't know of any crime killing as many people around San Diego," Steward said. "And many aliens are found near death from suffocation in trunks of cars."

Border patrolmen said a major smuggler may make $1 million a year.

"We prosecuted a $300,000-a-year operation last year," said Steward, whose district covers the border counties of San Diego and Imperial.

"They come to get jobs at farms, factories, restaurants, hotels and in homes as domestic workers. Most go back to Mexico after they've earned some money."

If caught, a smuggler faces five years in prison and $5,000 fine for each alien involved.

COLD AND CRIME DON'T MIX WELL

HELSINKI (UPI) — Cold weather is the cop's best friend, according to Helsinki police officials. They say crimes, particularly holdups, burglaries and car thefts, are cut as much as one-half in extreme cold.

New President Is Named For Pitt County Teachers Ass'n

Mrs. Beulah Mebane of W.H. Robinson School was named Presidentnt of the Pitt County Teachers Association at the group's banquet Thursday night at the Holiday Inn. The banquet was also held to honor teachers in the association.

Other officers named for the 1970-71 school year include: W. B. Moore, principal of Bruce p Falkland School, first vice president; Frederick Smith, principal of Fountain Shcool, second vice president; and Mrs. Doris Lee, teacher at W. H. Robinson School, secretary - treasurer.

Recipients of 25-year pins were: Samuel Hemby, Mrs. Mable Lang and Mrs. Beulah Mebane, all of the W. H. Robinson School staff; Mrs. O. H. Person, Bruce - Falkland; and Mrs. Learline K. Simpson, Stokes Elementary.

Teachers receiving retirement plaques were: Mrs. Cherry B. Brinkley, Bruce - Falkland; Miss Sula Exum, Sam D. Bundy; and Miss Hazel E. Ligon, H. B. Sugg.

Mrs. Ruth Jones, president of the North Carolina Teachers Association, was the keynote speaker. She spoke on "What A Child Would Have Us To Be."

Mrs. Jones pointed out seven characteristics teachers should possess: suthority, trustworthiness, strong character, humor, enthusiasm, imangination, respect.

Teachers who possess these characterists will prepare the children for the world they are living in.

"As teachers we must reach the highest degree of personal development," Mrs. Jones said.

"We must be trustworthy, because success comes from mutual trust," she continued. "We must show authority, because self discipline comes gradually and students need a firm hand while they are acquring self discipline."

Mrs. Jones said teachers must possess strong character. "The students must be shown the kind of person they should be."

The installation of officers and a tribute to the teachers was given by John Taylor, administrative assistant to the superintendent of Pitt County Schools Arthur Alford.

Others participating in the program included: Gaston Monk, president of the PCTA; the Rev. W. B. Moore; Miss Shirley Coward; Willie Morris Jr.; and the Rev. Lafeyette Williams.

Pesticide Study Grant

Scientists at East Carolina University have launched a research project aimed at developing a method of identifying and extracting pesticides from large bodies of water such as rivers, lakes and sounds.

The goal is to develop a practical, workable method of moitoring pesticide residues in water hopefully within a year.

The project is in response to a call for the design of a state monitoring program for detection of pesticides in surface or ground water which has been given an urgent label by the University of North Carolina's Water Resources Research Institute. Research at ECU's Department of Biology is being financed in part by a $2,700 grant from the Water Resources Research Institute.

Principal investigator for the project is Dr. Takeru Ito, professor of Biology.

FOR GERALD D. DORMAN, M.D.

President, A.M.A.

What is the incidence of Siamese twins?—Mrs. R. M. Preston, Atlantic City, N. J.

● Conjoined twins are rare. The Chicago Lying-In Hospital estimates the incidence as one in 60,000 births. Female conjoined twins occur two to three times more commonly than males.

FOR HERMAN P. MILLER, Chief, Population Division, Bureau of Census

How are hamlets, villages, towns, and cities classified as to population?—G. J. Byra, Seattle, Wash.

● The classification of municipalities by type is not determined by the Census Bureau but is a matter of state law. "Characteristics of Population," Part A, Volume 1, (Number of Inhabitants), containing the Census Bureau's final population count for 1960, gives the U.S. population by counties, by minor civil divisions, and indicates the designation of all incorporated places as cities, towns, and villages.

FOR RUTH FOX, M.D.

What is the main reason for a person becoming an alcoholic?—Mrs. R. M., Waco, Texas

● Alcoholism is a complex disease involving social, psychological, and physiological disturbances. The psychological problems vary in intensity. The insecure, immature person is more apt to become an alcoholic, but even the well-adjusted person can become an alcoholic through many years of excessive social drinking. It is also a disturbance in the underlying chemistry which forces the alcoholic to continue when he has once started. If he will abstain from alcohol totally and for life, he can recover.

FOR ED SULLIVAN

Do you have to pay the expenses of the actors from other countries who appear on the Ed Sullivan Show?—Mrs. Desire Hughes, Roon Mt., Tenn.

● Whenever we sign a contract with a foreign performer, expenses of his or her trip to the U.S. are borne by the show—in other words, his salary plus his air fare. (However, if he plans to entertain at a night club, in addition to his appearance on our show, we would only pay one-way passage for him.)

FOR JERRY KOOSMAN,

pitcher, N.Y. Mets

Why don't you wear a toe plate to protect your shoe?—Wayne Wilhelm, Mahwah, N. J.

● As with most pitchers, I do wear a rubber toe plate on the left shoe while pitching.

FOR DORIS DAY

Who designs the clothes you wear on your tv show?—J. E. Kelly, Las Vegas, Nev.

● There is no one particular designer. I use various people. I am interested in the look rather than the designer.

FOR WALTER J. HICKEL,

Secretary of the Interior

How is a town designated a National Monument Landmark, and why are these Landmark monuments not better known?—Mrs. Marian Mosick, Los Angeles, Calif.

● Designation of a National Historic Landmark by the Secretary of the Interior recognizes the historical significance of a site, structure, or—in the case of a historic district—part of a community but does not affect the ownership or administration of the property. Potential "Landmarks" are chosen through studies prepared by the National Survey of Historic Sites and Buildings and evaluated by the Secretary's Advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings, and Monuments. Although Landmark designation is publicized initially through Interior Department press releases, additional news coverage is usually dependent upon the nature of the dedication ceremony.

What in the World!

Refund for Rubbish In an effort to cut down on litter strewn along highways, beaches, and parks, one aluminum company has offered to buy back aluminum cans from anyone at 10¢ a pound or ½¢ a can. By midsummer, Reynolds expects to have redemption sites in Miami, Los Angeles, New York, Houston, and San Francisco—and will accept shipments from outside these areas. A cooperating brewer will collect cans throughout the West and Southwest. For further information, write: Public Relations Manager, Metal Recycling Division, Reynolds Metals Co., 6601 W. Broad St., Richmond, Va. 23218.

No Hero to Junior In the new book about baseball's 1969 world champions, "Amazing: The Miracle of the Mets," by Joseph Durso, manager Gil Hodges describes another of the great days in his life—and how Gil, Jr., reacted to it. "Gilly" was five when Hodges played with the Brooklyn Dodgers and the Dodgers won their first World Series. "He knew his daddy was a ballplayer; he even knew about the World Series," Gil recalls. "There was a lot of excitement in the neighborhood that day, people crowded on the lawn, shaking hands. Maybe you've wondered what a ballplayer hears from his children when he comes home after a big day. Gilly just looked up from the tv and said: 'Gee, Daddy, you just missed Captain Midnight.'"

A Dog's Life Your dog's temperament, according to Gaines Dog Research Center, depends on you as well as on his heredity. Puppies are born with good dispositions—happy, outgoing, curious, unafraid. The puppy tricks which seem playful now—growls, nips, jumps—will not be so charming when he weighs 80 pounds. Tip: give the growing pup energy outlets other than getting into mischief. Don't leave him alone to divert himself for long periods. Give him a chance to make you proud.

Susan's Baby British Actress Susan Hampshire, who played "Fleur" in "The Forsyte Saga," National Educational Television's critical hit of this past season, is going to have her first baby in August. "It will be born under the sign of Leo, like my husband and my parents," she told FAMILY WEEKLY. Susan's husband is French director Pierre Deferre, who is somewhat of a childbirth expert. "Pierre witnessed 12 to 20 babies being born when he directed an educational film about natural childbirth. Also, he was there when his last child (from an earlier marriage) was born." So, he'll be there with you, we assumed. "No, Pierre tells me he's getting too old for that. I don't know what he means by that, but I'm satisfied with the decision."

Make Your Extra Dollars Work for You

By FAYE HENLE

Bank savings accounts are one of simplest ways of investing for profit.

YOU ARE extraordinary if you have extra dollars these days. It is proof that you are a super money manager. The big question now: how great is your investment wisdom to enable you to put those extra dollars to work?

Be aware of these very important considerations:

● There is risk in any form of investment. How much risk you can assume depends upon how many dollars you can afford to lose—financially and psychologically. There are wealthy people for whom the loss of several hundred dollars would not spell ruin. Yet, they might be crushed psychologically. Others would feel a severe pinch at losing $500 and, ironically, they would be the very people who could continue to take risks and who sometimes might win.

● Decide whether you want your extra dollars to earn you added income now or to provide more dollars for your future.

● Watch interest rates keenly and evaluate their meaning to you.

The "price of money" is an important factor in helping to choose between stashing your extra dollars away in savings institutions, Government issues and bonds, or venturing into common stocks, mutual funds, or real estate.

When interest rates are high, there is much to be said in favor of keeping your money in fixed-income media such as savings accounts, short-term Government securities like bills and notes, or in bonds—either those issued by Federal agencies or by corporations, rails, or utilities. As interest rates decline, stock prices generally start upward and, along with real-estate ventures, gain luster.

● Investing in real estate, other than your home, is for the sophisticated and becoming more so as those who once concentrated their activities in the securities markets move in. Within days, you can retrieve money from banks, stocks and funds. It could take years to pull your dollars out of real estate.

Nobody can really tell what is the best way at any given time to put extra dollars to work. But it helps if your hunches have some knowledge behind them.

If you have $1,000 or less to invest, those dollars belong in the highest earning device you can unearth. Until recently, this was a six-month U.S. Treasury bill. U.S. Treasury bills are Government "IOUs" that mature in anywhere from 91 days to one year. To buy one of these now, you must invest a minimum of $10,000. Treasury notes are similar to bills but you can buy one for $1,000.

Maturity for notes takes from one to five years and, like bills, at this writing offer up to an 8-percent return. Treasury bonds mature in five or more years. Since these trade daily, meaning their purchase price fluctuates, you'll have to ask a banker to check the interest rate. He will be glad to recommend the best Treasury bond purchase for your particular purpose—higher interest or the hope of capital growth.

These Treasury issues should not be confused with U.S. savings bonds that people often buy via payroll savings plans. Current U.S. savings bonds pay 5 percent interest when held to their maturity.

All Government issues can be bought through your local bank, but except for U.S. savings bonds, there is a service charge. It is up to you to check this charge to see that it does not eat up the interest you earn. Also watch commission charges when you buy stock because the minimum charge per order has recently increased to $15; likewise for mutual-fund fees, which could siphon off as much as 9 percent of the money you invest. Life is getting ever more difficult for the smaller investor.

The thrift institutions, meaning the savings and loan associations and the mutual savings banks, are offering higher returns, too. Check with local institutions. The story looks pretty much like this:

With a minimum of $500 you can buy two-year savings certificates that pay 6 percent; one year certificates that pay 5¾ percent and 90-day certificates that yield 5¼ percent. You are promised 5 percent on regular savings accounts. It could be that in your area the "savings & loans" pay slightly more. Learn to shop in matters of money, too!

Possibly you are hesitant to tie your money up for a year or two, which is what these institutions want. Is there a solution? Some thrift institutions will allow immediate withdrawal if you can prove a true emergency; others may require 90-days notice; others won't let you out. If this is the case, you might inquire about making a "pass-book loan," which would cost around 7 percent. To get that loan, you might be asked to accept a slightly lower rate of interest on your savings. If this should happen, realize that probably this is the cheapest type of loan that you could make anywhere right now.

If you already have in a savings account $500 or more above what you consider a safe reserve fund, inquire about switching those extra dollars to savings certificates.

And commercial banks are competing with the traditional thrift institutions with numerous plans. Study each carefully to see which is best for you. In some of these banks, with $500 you can open a savings account that will earn you 5¾ percent interest if left untouched for a minimum of two years. You can make additional deposits of $50 or more into these accounts. You can elect to have the interest mailed to you quarterly or have it transferred to your checking or other savings account, or you can allow it to remain, thus earning the higher interest rate.

Some banks offer deferred interest-payment plans, meaning that you will not be taxed on interest until your savings plan matures; that is, you don't have to pay taxes on the interest until you receive it. This could mean a considerable advantage if you expect your income will be lower by the time your savings plan matures.

On regular savings accounts in most areas, commercial banks now pay 4½ percent. But your money can earn an additional ½ percent or so if you place it in a "time" deposit and agree not to withdraw it for a stated period.

At first blush, some of these interest payments look great. Watch it! Dollars invested in such fixed-income issues only earn interest. These dollars don't grow. They are somewhat safer from economic ups and downs and from the whims of consumer psychology than are other investments, but as the cost of living rises, you will find your buying power weakening.

As this is being written, many a financial expert is hunching that one of those steadfast rules of investment is being challenged. It appears as though right now you can reap current income plus the expectation for future growth if you put your extra dollars in good quality stocks and bonds. They are available at comparatively low prices now, and may well rise appreciably in value in the future, when market conditions improve.

The way to select any security, be it bond, stock, or mutual fund, is to select a company that has demonstrated an above-average ability to earn. Wise investments are bought on a logical anticipation of future profits. Remember though, even the wisest investors sometimes lose money on some financial ventures. ◆

Protect

Here is simple,

Many doctors, including myself, believe there are many "silent heart attacks," attacks that actually damage the heart without the victim himself knowing anything is wrong.

Heart attacks are not rare among men under 35. The number increases sharply for men over 35 and reaches a peak in men between 50 and 60. Women fare better, but their rate is growing. For reasons we don't entirely understand, women before menopause suffer 13 times fewer heart attacks than men. After menopause, the ratio decreases to two-to-one, men over women. After 65, the ratio is about the same.

To find out whether you're a candidate to become one of these statistics, there are a few simple tests you can make involving your weight and your heart rate.

Most people reach full growth in their early 20s. After that, unless you are involved in specialized activities like weight-lifting, almost all the weight you put on is pure fat. If you're in good condition, the skin over most of your body should be as thin as it is on the back of your hand when you pinch it. Get a good grip with your thumb and forefinger on a layer of skin in the area of your navel. If it's more than a half inch thick, you're carrying a good amount of excess fat. This is a better index of your health than the reading on the bathroom scales.

A second test checks the heart rate. Your resting heart rate should not be more than 70 beats per minute (for men) or 75 (for women). It should not increase over 15 beats a minute when you stand up. After mild exercise (like running in place for one minute), when you lie down it should be less than 100 beats. If this isn't the case, then you may have cause for concern.

You are in greater control of your future health than the best doctor on earth. You can control the three most important areas—your physical activity, your diet, and your living habits. In short, you can do more by way of prevention of heart attacks, than any heart specialist can do by way of cures.

In the field of exercise, I doubt whether there is any one program that could be used by everyone everywhere, but I can make a few general

You or the man next to you will die of a heart attack or some other disease of the blood vessels. You probably already have disease in your arteries.

Dr. Lawrence Lamb, now a professor of medicine at Baylor University's School of Medicine, Houston, Texas, is the former chief of the Clinical Science Division of the United States Air Force's School of Aerospace Medicine at Brooks Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas. Under his guidance the school developed the rigid testing methods used to screen astronaut candidates for the Gemini and Apollo programs. Among his patients has been former President Lyndon Johnson.

These are not scare statements, just simple facts. More than half the deaths in the United States today are caused by cardiovascular ailments, and the numbers are growing. Worse, these ailments are reaching younger and younger people. For this reason, contrary to the popular misconception, our life expectancy has not improved appreciably in the last two decades despite advances elsewhere in the field of health.

This is the richest nation on earth, where funds for medical research have grown from $1 million annually 20 years ago to $1 billion today, and where great strides have been made in producing new knowledge in the prevention and cure of heart disease.

Should you be the victim of a heart attack, as a physician I can tell you that the help your doctor can give you is limited. You have about one chance in four of never even getting into a hospital heart unit alive after a heart attack, and less than one chance in two of surviving the episode to return home. A similar situation applies to strokes. These being the odds, the best approach is certainly prevention.

The tragedy is that your doctor can't do it for you. Despite all the new knowledge now available on the care of the heart and the prevention of its diseases, most of it is ignored by the individual.

What can you do to reverse the trend?

You can begin applying some of the knowledge that has come out of research laboratories and elsewhere in the fields of exercise, diet, and way of life. It is never too early or too late to start.

As long ago as World War II, it was discovered that even men under 30 were having fatal heart attacks, many of them in apparent good health right up to the time of their deaths. Autopsies on men killed in combat in Korea showed that 77 percent of them at an average age of 22 (including some in their teens) had definite signs of coronary atherosclerosis, —fatty deposits in the major arteries serving the heart itself. This is a disease, not a product of old age. In my own work at the School of Aerospace Medicine, I saw many pilots, the best of American men, with heart conditions.

All of these were young men and presumably in good health because they had passed rigid physical examinations. With this as a standard, what can the physical condition of the great bulk of our civilian population be like?

The beginnings of heart conditions are gradual and insidious. They may not even affect the heart's action. The first indication may be sudden death.

Your Heart!

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.
Author of "Your Heart and How to Live With It" sound advice which might keep you from being a coronary victim

statements. If you are not in good condition now, then I would strongly suggest moderation. Regardless of what some authorities say, exercise can kill you. Crash programs are ineffective, even dangerous, and the sporadic peak-load exercises like suddenly getting out and shoveling the snow, are the most dangerous of all. Anything that significantly exceeds your daily activity should be avoided.

Fad exercise programs may slim your waist or tone up the muscles of your body. These may do little or nothing for your heart. The heart is a muscle, and its strength is built up by working the heart muscle, not the arm muscle or belly muscles. The work of the heart muscle is increased when it pumps more blood as in running, jogging, and cycling.

Steady-state, endurance-type exercises are the best.

I usually recommend starting with a moderate walking program. After you have gradually built up to walking one hour a day and have done so daily for at least two weeks without difficulty, then you can start a jogging program or a running-in-place program. If you use an exercycle, it should be a gradual, daily program.

Exercise strengthens the heart muscle, enlarges the blood vessels, and increases the blood supply. It also burns up calories. This is great for preventive therapy. You can't lose much weight by exercising one day—but 30 minutes of steady walking every day can cause you to lose 10 pounds in a year's time.

Heart disease can't be prevented by exercise alone, nor can any real program of weight control be achieved by exercise alone. Both problems depend a great deal on proper diet. In the case of atherosclerosis, diet alone may be the major culprit. Exercise can build up large healthy blood vessels, but improper diet can clog them with fatty deposits, virtually negating the gains from exercise.

The problem the average person has in finding a proper diet is wading through the welter of confusion that surrounds it. The most important point is to prevent accumulation of excess fat. If you are accumulating fat, you are eating too much or exercising too little.

Calories are considered a major villain, and indeed they are, but the body needs energy to produce work, and it needs calories to produce energy. Without some calories, it could not function. If you exercise to build up your cardiovascular system, you will need the energy. Excess calories, however, can lead to dangerous fat deposits.

The body produces calories by digesting foodstuffs, specifically carbohydrates, proteins, and fats. Carbohydrates do not always get as much favorable publicity as they should, but they are the staple diet of many nations with a low incidence of atherosclerosis. Fruits, vegetables, and cereals are high in carbohydrates. These are recommended foods in a proper diet.

Sugar is also high in carbohydrates, but is not recommended as highly. Why? Sugar is concentrated and does not contain other essential vitamins and minerals. It is one of the most easily absorbed foods (one reason it is recommended for quick energy for athletes). Fruits and vegetables contain a lot of roughage and other essential foodstuffs besides carbohydrates. It is not so much the amount of food you eat, as the type.

Proteins are recommended in most diets, especially in this, a meat-eating country. Proteins are found chiefly in meat, fish, fowl, milk, eggs, and beans. Not all of these can be recommended indiscriminately in a proper diet. For instance, chicken and turkey can be recommended, duck and goose cannot; lean veal and fish, not bacon or shellfish; egg whites, not egg yolks.

Fats cause the most confusion, probably because they are getting the most publicity, none of it good. One gram of digested fat produces nine calories, more than twice as much as carbohydrates or proteins. Logically, a low-fat diet should be ideal. This is a good idea, but it's not that simple. If you cut down on meat to cut down on fat, you're also cutting down on needed protein. But we do need to limit our intake of fat.

Cholesterol is often associated with fat, although it is not a fat itself. It is probably the major villain in atherosclerosis because if enough of it is allowed to flow through the blood stream for long enough periods of time, it can be deposited in the walls of the arteries and lead to a whole series of complications. Among them are limiting the flow of blood, or breaking off and blocking the flow of blood altogether.

Yet cholesterol is essential to life. It is found in the brain, the adrenal glands, and in almost every cell in your body, and the body itself actually manufactures cholesterol. How did such a villain get to be a villain?

Again, it's not the substance itself but the amount. The body needs some cholesterol, but the amount you eat should be controlled. Some foods are notably high in cholesterol and should be rationed, like dairy foods, especially egg yolks, and organ meats such as liver, kidneys, and brains. Shell fish should be used only in moderation.

In addition to sensible exercise and proper dietary habits, you need to govern your living habits—the other factors that can affect your health and longevity, notably smoking and drinking.

One survey shows that men who smoke a pack of cigarettes or more a day die an average of 16 years sooner than others. It is well established that nicotine increases the heart rate, increases the amount of blood pumped by the heart, and may cause a rise in blood pressure.

In our studies, even young and otherwise healthy pilots who smoked often had resting heart rates of 90 beats a minute or more. When they stopped smoking, the heart rate dropped to about 60. Those who resumed the habit found their heart rates going up again. The evidence is too direct to be ignored. Nicotine itself is a poison, and like any poison it can kill tissue. Even small amounts used on a long-term basis are not good for the body. Large amounts can be fatal.

Excessive drinking includes more than alcoholic beverages. Chronic drinking of large amounts of coffee, tea, or cola drinks can do as much to elevate the heart rate as smoking. They all include caffeine—a drug. Caffeine is a powerful stimulant. Excessive intake can cause irregularities of the heart beat, including palpitation or skipped beats.

In general, five cups of coffee or tea a day is excessive. Two cups are usually enough for most people, and one is too much for highly sensitive individuals with evidence of a high heart rate or general nervousness. If you are hooked on these drinks, you are hooked on drugs and have a drug habit.

Alcohol is a loser on two counts. It has no place in a weight-control diet, and it has a poisonous effect on the heart muscles.

Recent studies show clearly that large amounts of alcohol can damage the heart-muscle fibers. Eventually the damaged heart is no longer able to function efficiently, and heart failure may result.

Your own doctor can be a big help in preparing a preventive program, and I strongly advise you to contact him before embarking on any drastic changes in your life style. But in the final analysis, you are your own doctor. It's your heart, and it's up to you to protect it. ◆

You Are Invited to a Bridal Shower

MELANIE DE PROFT Food Editor

Ambrosia Cream Cake prepared from an angel food cake mix, served with quick-thaw frozen fruits, is a fancy dessert for a bridal luncheon.

■ Greet happy, excited friends of the bride-to-be with a decorative bowl of refreshing punch and a tray of attractive canapés. Serve the lovely luncheon buffet-style: creamed chicken or turkey in patty shells, relishes, shimmering little salad molds, and finally, cake with coffee and mints—all laced with best wishes for the future bride.

Ambrosia Cream Cake

Frozen whipped dessert topping, thawed
Flaked coconut, about 1⅓ cups
2 or 3 pkgs. (10 oz. each) quick-thaw frozen mixed fruits

1. Set baked cake onto a cake plate, covered with a large piece of waxed paper cut almost to center at 4 or 5 intervals. Spread topping over sides and top of cake.

2. Spoon coconut onto the waxed paper around the frosted cake. Using a spatula, gently toss coconut up onto sides until coated. Finally, evenly sprinkle the coconut over top. Carefully pull waxed paper away from under the decorated cake.

3. Before serving, thaw fruit as directed on package. Transfer to a crystal bowl and serve with the cake.

One decorated angel food cake

Punch á la Champagne

2 cups orange juice
1½ cups lime juice
1 cup sugar
5 to 6 cups chilled white grape juice

1. Blend the citrus fruit juices and sugar; stir until sugar is completely dissolved. Chill thoroughly.

2. When ready to serve, pour orange juice mixture into a chilled punch bowl; add the white grape juice and stir gently to blend. Float a decorative ice ring or ice block in punch.

9 to 10 cups punch

To Decorate Punch Bowl—Trim off stems of daisies or sweetheart roses to 1 in. Secure flowers and small leaves around edge of bowl with pieces of cellulose tape. Secure two flowers to ladle handle in the same way.

Creamed Chicken and Avocado

½ cup butter or margarine
½ lb. mushrooms, sliced lengthwise through caps and stems
¼ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg
1½ cups light cream
1½ cups chicken broth, cooled (dissolve 2 chicken bouillon cubes in 1½ cups boiling water)
Cooked chicken or turkey, about 3 cups of 1-in. pieces
2 medium-sized avocados
Lemon juice
Salted almonds, coarsely chopped
Frozen patty shells, thoroughly heated

1. Heat butter or margarine in a skillet; add the mushrooms and onion. Cook, stirring frequently, until mushrooms are tender and lightly browned. With a slotted spoon remove mushrooms, allowing butter to drain back into skillet. Set mushrooms aside.

2. Stir flour and seasonings into butter in skillet heating until bubbly. Gradually add the light cream and chicken broth, stirring constantly. Bring to boiling; cook and stir 1 to 2 min. Mix in mushrooms and chicken or turkey; heat thoroughly.

3. Cut avocados into halves lengthwise and remove pits. Using a melon-ball cutter, shape avocados into balls. Drizzle and toss lightly with lemon juice to prevent discoloration if not adding immediately to creamed mixture.

4. If desired, serve in a chafing dish; top with the almonds. Or spoon into the patty shells, top with nuts, and sprinkle with paprika.

5. Accompany with a relish tray of iced celery curls and jumbo size green olives. 6 to 8 servings

Canapé with Cucumber Twist

1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 teaspoon dairy sour cream
½ cup prepared bacon-like pieces (a soy protein product)
4 slices bread
Unpared cucumber, thin half-slices

1. Mix cucumber with mayonnaise, sour cream, and bacon-like pieces. Set aside.

2. Toast bread on both sides. Spread lightly with butter or margarine. Trim off crusts and cut toast into desired shapes.

3. Spoon cucumber mixture onto toast shapes and spread evenly. Garnish each with a twisted half-slice of cucumber. If desired, sprinkle with additional bacon-like pieces.

even for thousands who perspire heavily

A different formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry—even for thousands who perspire heavily. A formula so different it has far more anti-wetness agent than it is possible to put in any aerosol can. By anybody. After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible — with the same safety to clothing—the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 57-year-old laboratory and guaranteed by Good Housekeeping. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need—and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course. If you perspire more than average—even heavily — get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Your choice, liquid or cream. Ninety-day supply, each $3.00. Available at your favorite drug or toiletry counter.

Karen Jensen: Hard Road to TV Stardom

HAD ANYONE told Karen Jensen that by the time she was 21 she'd be referred to as a sex-goddess, she would have laughed in his face. If she had had the courage, that is. For Karen was so painfully shy as a child that she would even run off to hide whenever her parents had guests!

"I don't know why I found it so hard to be outgoing then," said Karen, who plays beautiful Rachel Holt in TV's "Bracken's World." "I was an only child until I was nine and probably had too much parental love and attention, and I was fat."

Hard to believe when you look at her now: 5'6", 118 pounds, measuring 36½-24-36, with long blonde hair, crystal blue-green eyes, and a fine complexion.

All of what Karen is today contrasts with her childhood. She struggled through her adolescent years, which were filled with loneliness and uncertainty. However, the pudgy little girl had blossomed into a beautiful young lady. But she was still shy. That's when Karen's mother decided to do something about it, and talked her daughter into entering a beauty contest.

Karen did, and she placed in beauty contest after beauty contest, including the Miss America and Miss Universe pageants.

It was one of her beauty-contest photos which appeared in a newspaper that caught the eye of a photographer. He offered her $75 if she'd pose for him. He was so impressed that he introduced her to one of the top San Francisco modeling agencies.

There came a day, however, when Karen felt she had just about reached the top of the modeling profession. So she looked around for something else to tackle and decided she'd like to get into the movies. The Miss Universe Contest seemed the best way to aim for it.

Warner Brothers spotted her, and trained her for a full year. "Then Universal saw some of the stuff I did and wanted me. Since Warners was going downhill at that point, I moved over to UI. Nothing much happened there, either, and I decided to ask for a release from my contract."

Today Karen is riding on cloud nine. The television series, "Bracken's World," has just been renewed. "For the first time in my life," she beamed, "I'll have some money left over from my budget!" Likewise, her fiancé, actor John Neilson, is waiting news on a tv pilot he just made. The two hope to get married before long.

What if the bubble bursts and her series is dropped, John doesn't find work as an actor, and they don't have the money to get married? "I learned I can survive," she told me confidently. "I have faith in myself. (She has gained experience in tv dramas and the films "Out of Sight," and "The Ballad of Josie.") I also have faith in John. If I continue acting, I think I could combine being a wife and actress. If I don't stay in show business for any reason, there are other things I can do —like modeling."

The Mysterious Copper Chain-

...for men, women!

Can it really ease arthritis pain?

We're not making any therapeutic claims... but it's a fact that scores of world-famous athletes and celebrities wear copper bracelets because they believe it relieves arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, "tennis elbow" and other "joint diseases." Psychosomatic? Perhaps: But plenty of people vow it works! Some say copper's thermal properties do the trick. We know the ancients believed in the power of the prized "red metal." And crafted in burnished, solid copper... these handsome chains are very much an "in" fashion.

Amazing new weight control program so astounding, so revolutionary, so easy-to-follow you will demand to know its secrets!

SUDDENLY SLIM!

• No Hunger Pangs • No Drugs • No Gadgets • No Exercise • No Calorie Counting

THOUSANDS of overweight and fat people have come to me for help. NOW I can help YOU. I can show you how to take off 10, 20, 30, 50 and even more pounds of ugly fat, PERMANENTLY. My method is safe, fast and EXCITING. You don't need WILL POWER. There are NO pills. NO frustration! NO fad foods! NO shots! NO hunger pangs! THOUSANDS OF FAT PEOPLE of all ages have achieved DRAMATIC WEIGHT LOSS with this program. SLIM PEOPLE have successfully MAINTAINED their WEIGHT with this program. They all call it "AMAZING", even "MIRACULOUS"! In fact, without even meeting you, I can safely predict that with this PROVED PLAN, YOU, too, no matter how fat you are, can be SUDDENLY SLIM!

YES, you read that correctly. You can be suddenly slim. BY SUDDENLY I mean a few short weeks or months (depending upon how much you need to lose). By SLIM I mean the total loss of every ounce of ugly fat on your body. I don't care if you've always been fat. I don't care if you think that fat is glandular in origin and you haven't got a chance. Less than 2 out of 100 have gland problems. I don't care if you're already on some magic formula. (Ask yourself, is it really working? Is it really magic?)

YOU WERE NOT BORN TO BE FAT

Let's face it, excess weight is KILLING YOU slowly but surely. Did you know you have SEVEN MILES OF ADDITIONAL CAPILLARIES for every pound of extra FAT? The human body was not created to suffer the STRESS of CHOKING FAT. Sooner or later, with continued weight gain, your body will just give up and stop! CHOKED TO DEATH BY FAT. And then, of course, it's too late. BUT NOW YOU STILL HAVE TIME. With the SUDDENLY SLIM plan YOU CAN LOSS 10, 20, EVEN 50 or MORE POUNDS without PILLS, SHOTS, FAD DIETS, HUNGER PANGS, WILL POWER, CALORIE COUNTING and MAINTAIN YOUR SLIMNESS for the rest of your life! Yes, at last you can MAINTAIN YOUR SLIMNESS or LOSE WEIGHT SUCCESSFULLY without suffering through each pound of weight loss. My simple weight control plan works. It will teach you how to eat all over again. It will teach you how to think—Think Thin! YOU WILL NOTICE THE EFFECTS AFTER JUST ONE WEEK. By the time you've lost every ounce of fat on your body, you will be a NEW PERSON. People won't recognize you. AT LAST, your PERSONALITY will express itself, FULLY, RICHLY, BEAUTIFULLY.

You may find this hard to believe. You may be skeptical. You may be wishing for all of these "slim" benefits to total living...but you're blocking them out.

STOP THINKING FAT!

Let me introduce myself: My name is Murray Siegel. I am the founder and director of Think Thin, Inc., a weight control organization that has HELPED THOUSANDS of overweight people who were ready to throw in the towel. When these people, OVERWEIGHT LIKE YOU, wanted to see an example of a weight-control plan that really works permanently and healthfully...I STEPPED FORWARD. YES, I AM LIVING PROOF THAT THIS PLAN WORKS! Believe it or not, 6 years ago, I BROKE THE SCALES at 379 pounds! (That's me in the photo, standing in my old "two-ton" trousers.) I was in total misery after a life of ugly obesity. I couldn't stand being fat another minute. My wife and children were ashamed of me. I couldn't give my son the active companionship he craved. My daughter wished her Daddy were like other young fathers. My wife, whose patience was almost limitless, had virtually lost a husband. I WAS A FOODAHOLIC.

MY FAT WORLD CLOSED IN ON ME

By my mid-thirties I was so fat that the only place I could get weighed was at the Post Office ALONG WITH THE MAIL BAGS. This certainly didn't help my ego. Especially since my current doctor insisted I get weighed before each visit. (His scale didn't go over 300.) I must have seen 20 doctors. Each one gave me a new, "never-fail" program. I even saw a HYPNOTIST. I enrolled in an EXERCISE CLUB. I kidded myself by completely omitting BREAKFASTS. (Of course, I gorged myself at lunch, dinner, and late evening snacks.) I discovered, too late, the BIG FALLACY in CALORIE COUNTING! At 379 pounds, I had reached the limit that my tired, aging body could stand. My wife had reached her limit with me, too. My children had nothing to be proud of in their two-ton father. I couldn't breathe. I could barely walk. I was at the end of my rope.

Murray Siegel lost 191 pounds in less than eight months following his sensational SUDDENLY SLIM plan...if he can do it, SO CAN YOU

THEN A MIRACLE HAPPENED

It seemed like a MIRACLE to me. I tried a NEW PLAN I had worked up on my own. I actually SEEMED TO BE EATING MORE and yet the POUNDS DROPPED. MY SPECIAL PLAN WAS REALLY WORKING! Muscle tissue remained firm. In fact, my calves, which were always trim for some reason, didn't shrink an inch. Day by day I kept losing. It was the most EXCITING time in my life. AND IT WASN'T DIFFICULT AT ALL...just different. IN LESS THAN 8 MONTHS I LOST NOT QUITE 200 LBS! Better yet, I have MAINTAINED THE LOSS TO THIS DAY. I had lost 191 lbs. easily, quickly WITHOUT PILLS, SHOTS, FAD FOODS, EXPENSE. I am just the perfect weight for my frame and height. What I say to you is simply:

IF I CAN DO IT... SO CAN YOU!

This plan REALLY WORKS. Weight loss is REGULAR and without complications because your diet is well-balanced. Your ENTIRE BODY becomes CHARGED WITH VITALITY. Of course, my family was overjoyed. I became so ACTIVE they couldn't keep up with me. Friends I hadn't seen for a year DIDN'T RECOGNIZE ME! (Some thought I had a FATAL DISEASE.) Actually I did...OBESITY...and it was GONE FOREVER.

THEN IT STARTED HAPPENING. We were plagued with phone calls day and night. People wanted to know how I did it. I had to get an answering service in self-defense. I called it "THINK THIN" and that is how I started a rewarding new career. You may have seen me on the Mike Douglas Show or on similar programs on national TV. My work has been discussed on many radio shows, at university lectures and before many community service clubs.

AVAILABLE IN THE PRIVACY OF YOUR HOME

The demand was so great I have been pressured into making my plan AVAILABLE TO EVERYONE. To date, my weight control plan has helped thousands of people in private classes. NOW, you can take advantage of my plan in the PRIVACY of your HOME. Just look at what has been done for others and you shouldn't hesitate one minute to grab this opportunity. YES, hundreds of overweight people, like yourself, came to me, followed my SUDDENLY SLIM plan and achieved DRAMATIC WEIGHT LOSS. They regained their self-respect. They became active, useful members of society. Whole new lives opened up for them because I taught them how to THINK before they eat.

YOU GET MENUS, FOOD LISTS, AND "THINK THIN" RECIPES

Yes, my SUDDENLY SLIM plan outlines the correct approach to food FOR YOU! I'll teach you how to eliminate that sudden craving for food when you are under EMOTIONAL STRESS. I'll teach you how to understand your "APPESTAT". I'll teach you to know the difference between hunger and appetite. I'll give you a SUPERVISED MAINTENANCE schedule to follow after you've achieved your weight reduction. (AND YOU WILL ACHIEVE IT!) I'll pinpoint the foods that are enemies. I'll show you the delicious foods you can eat by the bucketful...plus many, many more easy, slimming tricks.

FREE TRIAL MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Why Were Bankers Warned That This "New Book Could Upset the Savings Applecart" *

How to Make Up to 13½% on Your Savings or More— All Fully Insured

The new "high" interest rates are merely crumbs to the thrifty. Why? Because even at 6% inflation gobbles up not only the illusory gain on principle, but the principle itself ...resulting in a loss of purchasing power rather than the "nest egg" banks like to talk about.

There are many things banks don't like to talk about. They don't like to talk about the fact that they do, indeed, pay interest rates of 8%, 10%, 13½%, and often more, to a select group of knowledgeable depositors...depositors who have mastered the insider's techniques of compounding their savings.

NOW, YOU CAN DISCOVER AND PROFIT FROM THESE DYNAMIC MONEY-MAKING TECHNIQUES.

Each chapter of DON'T BANK ON IT is crammed full of startling disclosures . . . multiply-your-money techniques that work whether you have $500 on deposit or $500,000!

- What is the simple secret which enables you to enjoy interest-free loans on credit cards and savings accounts?
- What should you know before you accept "open-an-account" gifts?
- What special type of account brings you over 8% interest without freezing your funds?
- How can you earn interest on money you've already spent?
- What key words should you look for in bank advertising which mean more interest to you?
- How can you increase your interest rate by getting banks to pay interest on "non-existent" funds?
- How can you earn up to 25% interest when money isn't "tight?"

New Battleground for the Consumer Revolution

In addition to being a highly practical book which will put money in your pocket, DON'T BANK ON IT! is a revealing study of the injustices imposed on the nation's depositors by the banking industry and governmental regulatory agencies and the way in which they have dipped into your savings account.

* Look at what the official publication of the Bank Marketing and Public Relations Association said in warning members about the "dangers" of the book—
"New Book Could Upset the Savings Applecart...Tight money ...and the much-touted Age of the Consumer are key ingredients in a flammable mixture about to be ignited by a book which could explode in the face of the commercial banking industry this year...At the risk of sounding like an alarmist, if this book should become a best seller along the lines of 'How to Avoid Probate' or 'Unsafe at Any Speed' it could result in an unpredictable shift of saving funds among banks." from "Bank Management Marketing," February 1970.

Tours for Travel

Summer vacation for the young can be a time for new sights, experiences, and adventures

By JOYCE HABART

WHETHER it's to find their inner selves or just something interesting to do with summer-vacation time, teens will be trekking off to discover America.

City slickers and country cousins alike are taking specially designed teen tours and joining traveling camps, which have mushroomed in the past 10 years to cater to youngsters' wanderlust.

Bored and stifled by summer school or the familiar woodsy camp, teens are eager to claim a seat on a jet plane, station wagon, bus, bicycle, or canoe destined for mountains of fun, new avenues of education, and seas of adventure.

With a myriad of teen tours to choose from, finding the right program can be an adventure in itself. Like teens, the tours come in a potpourri of sizes and shapes.

There's a super-de luxe, first-class big-city jet whirl. On this gilt-edged trip, kids stay in a super-glamorous hotel in Miami, dance in the top discos, and dine on steak. An action-loving cousin with simpler tastes can pack his blue jeans, climb into a station wagon, and set off on a trail to scale glaciers, cook his own grub, and snuggle into a bedroll.

Prices vary, depending on the length of the tour and where it is joined. Some trips are relatively luxurious and priced accordingly, while others a teen with some small savings can easily pay for.

Although most tours travel west from New York, teens from Maine to Washington can usually join in between and shave a chunk off the advertised price. A six-week spectacular cross-country tour, including a side jaunt to Nassau, Bahamas, runs around $1,210. On the other side of the bankroll is a $140 bicycle tour through Pennsylvania Dutch country.

The tours described here just hint at the treasury of summer offerings available. For more information, you can write directly to sponsoring groups, or you can check with local religious, educational, or fraternal organizations or travel bureaus for others. Rates are adjusted for those who pick up a tour at points along the way.

GRAND WESTERN TOUR: A three-and-a-half week tour through Western United States, Mexico, and Hawaii. All accommodations are first class. Teens travel mostly by air, some motor coach. There's a jet to Denver, and then you zoom off to the Rocky Mountains and the Wild West. Next come the Hawaiian Islands, San Francisco, Disneyland, Los Angeles, Juarez, Mexico, Chicago, and, finally, back home. Twenty-five days. Coed, all-girl tours. Arista Student Travel Association, 589 Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y. 10017.

BIG CITIES, BAHAMAS: Six weeks of touring climaxed by fun and games in Miami and a three-day side cruise to Nassau and Paradise Beach. Lots of teen action. Itinerary: New York to Niagara Falls, Detroit, Chicago, Colorado Springs, Denver, Salt Lake City, Reno, Virginia City, Lake Tahoe, San Francisco, Yosemite, Los Angeles, Disneyland, Las Vegas, Hoover Dam, Grand Canyon, Phoenix, El Paso, Houston and New Orleans, Miami, Nassau, back to Miami, New York. Forty-three days. Coed. Delphi Teen Tours, 57-11 224th St., Bayside, N. Y. 11364.

CROSS COUNTRY: A unique trip that alternates the excitement of cities and the spectacles of national parks and monuments. Private air-conditioned motorcoach, first-class hotels and motels. First night is spent in Canada not traveling, then off to Detroit, Badlands National Monument, Mt. Rushmore, Yellowstone, Grand Teton, Salt Lake City, Reno, San Francisco, Yosemite, Los Angeles, Mexico, Las Vegas, Grand Canyon, Bryce Canyon, Zion, Utah, Arches National Monument, Colorado Springs, Denver, St. Louis, and Washington. Forty-two days. Coed. American Trails Teen Tours, 92 Middle Neck Rd., Great Neck, N. Y. 11021.

EDUCATIONAL TRIPS: Teens travel by station wagon cross-country through 26 states and see 65 major sight-seeing points of educational value. Emphasis definitely on education, not night life. Living is casual but not rough. Teens eat in restaurants, stay in motels and park cabins. Sights include Empire State Building, United Nations, U. S. Senate, Monticello, Lincoln's birthplace, Eisenhower Center, Pikes Peak, Mesa Verde, Boulder Dam, Mojave Desert, Virginia City, Notre Dame, Niagara Falls. Forty-eight days. Boys, girls tours. Educational Camps of America, 646 Jerusalem Rd., Cohasset, Mass.

CAMP-AND-TOUR: Based on a farm in a secluded 350-acre tract two and a half hours from New York City, campers are away for two days each week and four days at season's end, traveling approximately 2,000 miles during the summer. Trips include Canada, Tanglewood, Mass.; Montauk, N. Y.; Washington, Niagara, Cape Cod, Yale and Harvard Universities. Eight weeks. Coed. Lincoln Farm, Ardsley, N. Y., 10502.

PRAIRIE TREK: Groups of teens explore wilderness that civilization has bypassed. Teens spend part of the summer at a base camp in Cottonwood Gulch, New Mexico, but travel in caravans within a 300-mile range. Itinerary includes Grand Canyon, Meteor Crater, Bryce Canyon, Mesa Verde, Silverton, Telluride mining districts, and Carlsbad Caverns. All boys. Sponsored by the Cottonwood Gulch Foundation, Hillis L. Howie, P.O. Box 1336, Bloomington, Ind. 47401.

ALASKAN ADVENTURE: Experienced teen campers tour Alaska and Canada. Trans Canada Highway through Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Banff National Park, Jasper National Park, Dawson Creek, Whitehorse, Fairbanks, Mt. McKinley, and Anchorage. Six weeks. Coed, all boys. Trails West, 92 Middle Neck Rd., Great Neck, N. Y. 11021.

BICYCLE TOURS: Choice of trips through Cape Cod, Berkshires, Cape Ann, Pennsylvania Dutch country, New England, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and the Canadian Rockies. Train transportation to hosteling areas, sports, cookouts, and theatre. Eleven to 32 days. Coed. YMHA-YWHA Bicycle Tours, 1395 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10028.

WESTERN CARAVAN: Camping trip based on a ranch in Montana. Teens travel in a truck with trailer, pitch camp along the way. New York to Chicago by motorcoach, Chicago to Montana by Pullman. Route is mostly off the beaten track but includes Seattle and San Francisco, Olympia, Mt. Rainier, Coulee Dam, Crater Lake, Grand Canyon, Glacier Park, Rockies, British Columbia. Fifty-four days. William B. Gordon, 508 Dryden Rd., Ithaca, N. Y. 14850.

Jules Jürgensen.
Not just another pretty face.

Ours has been a great name in watchmaking for 230 years.

So you know we haven't been getting by on looks alone.

Our Swiss artisans would rather turn in their eyepieces than turn out a jeweled movement that's anything less than the ultimate in precision.

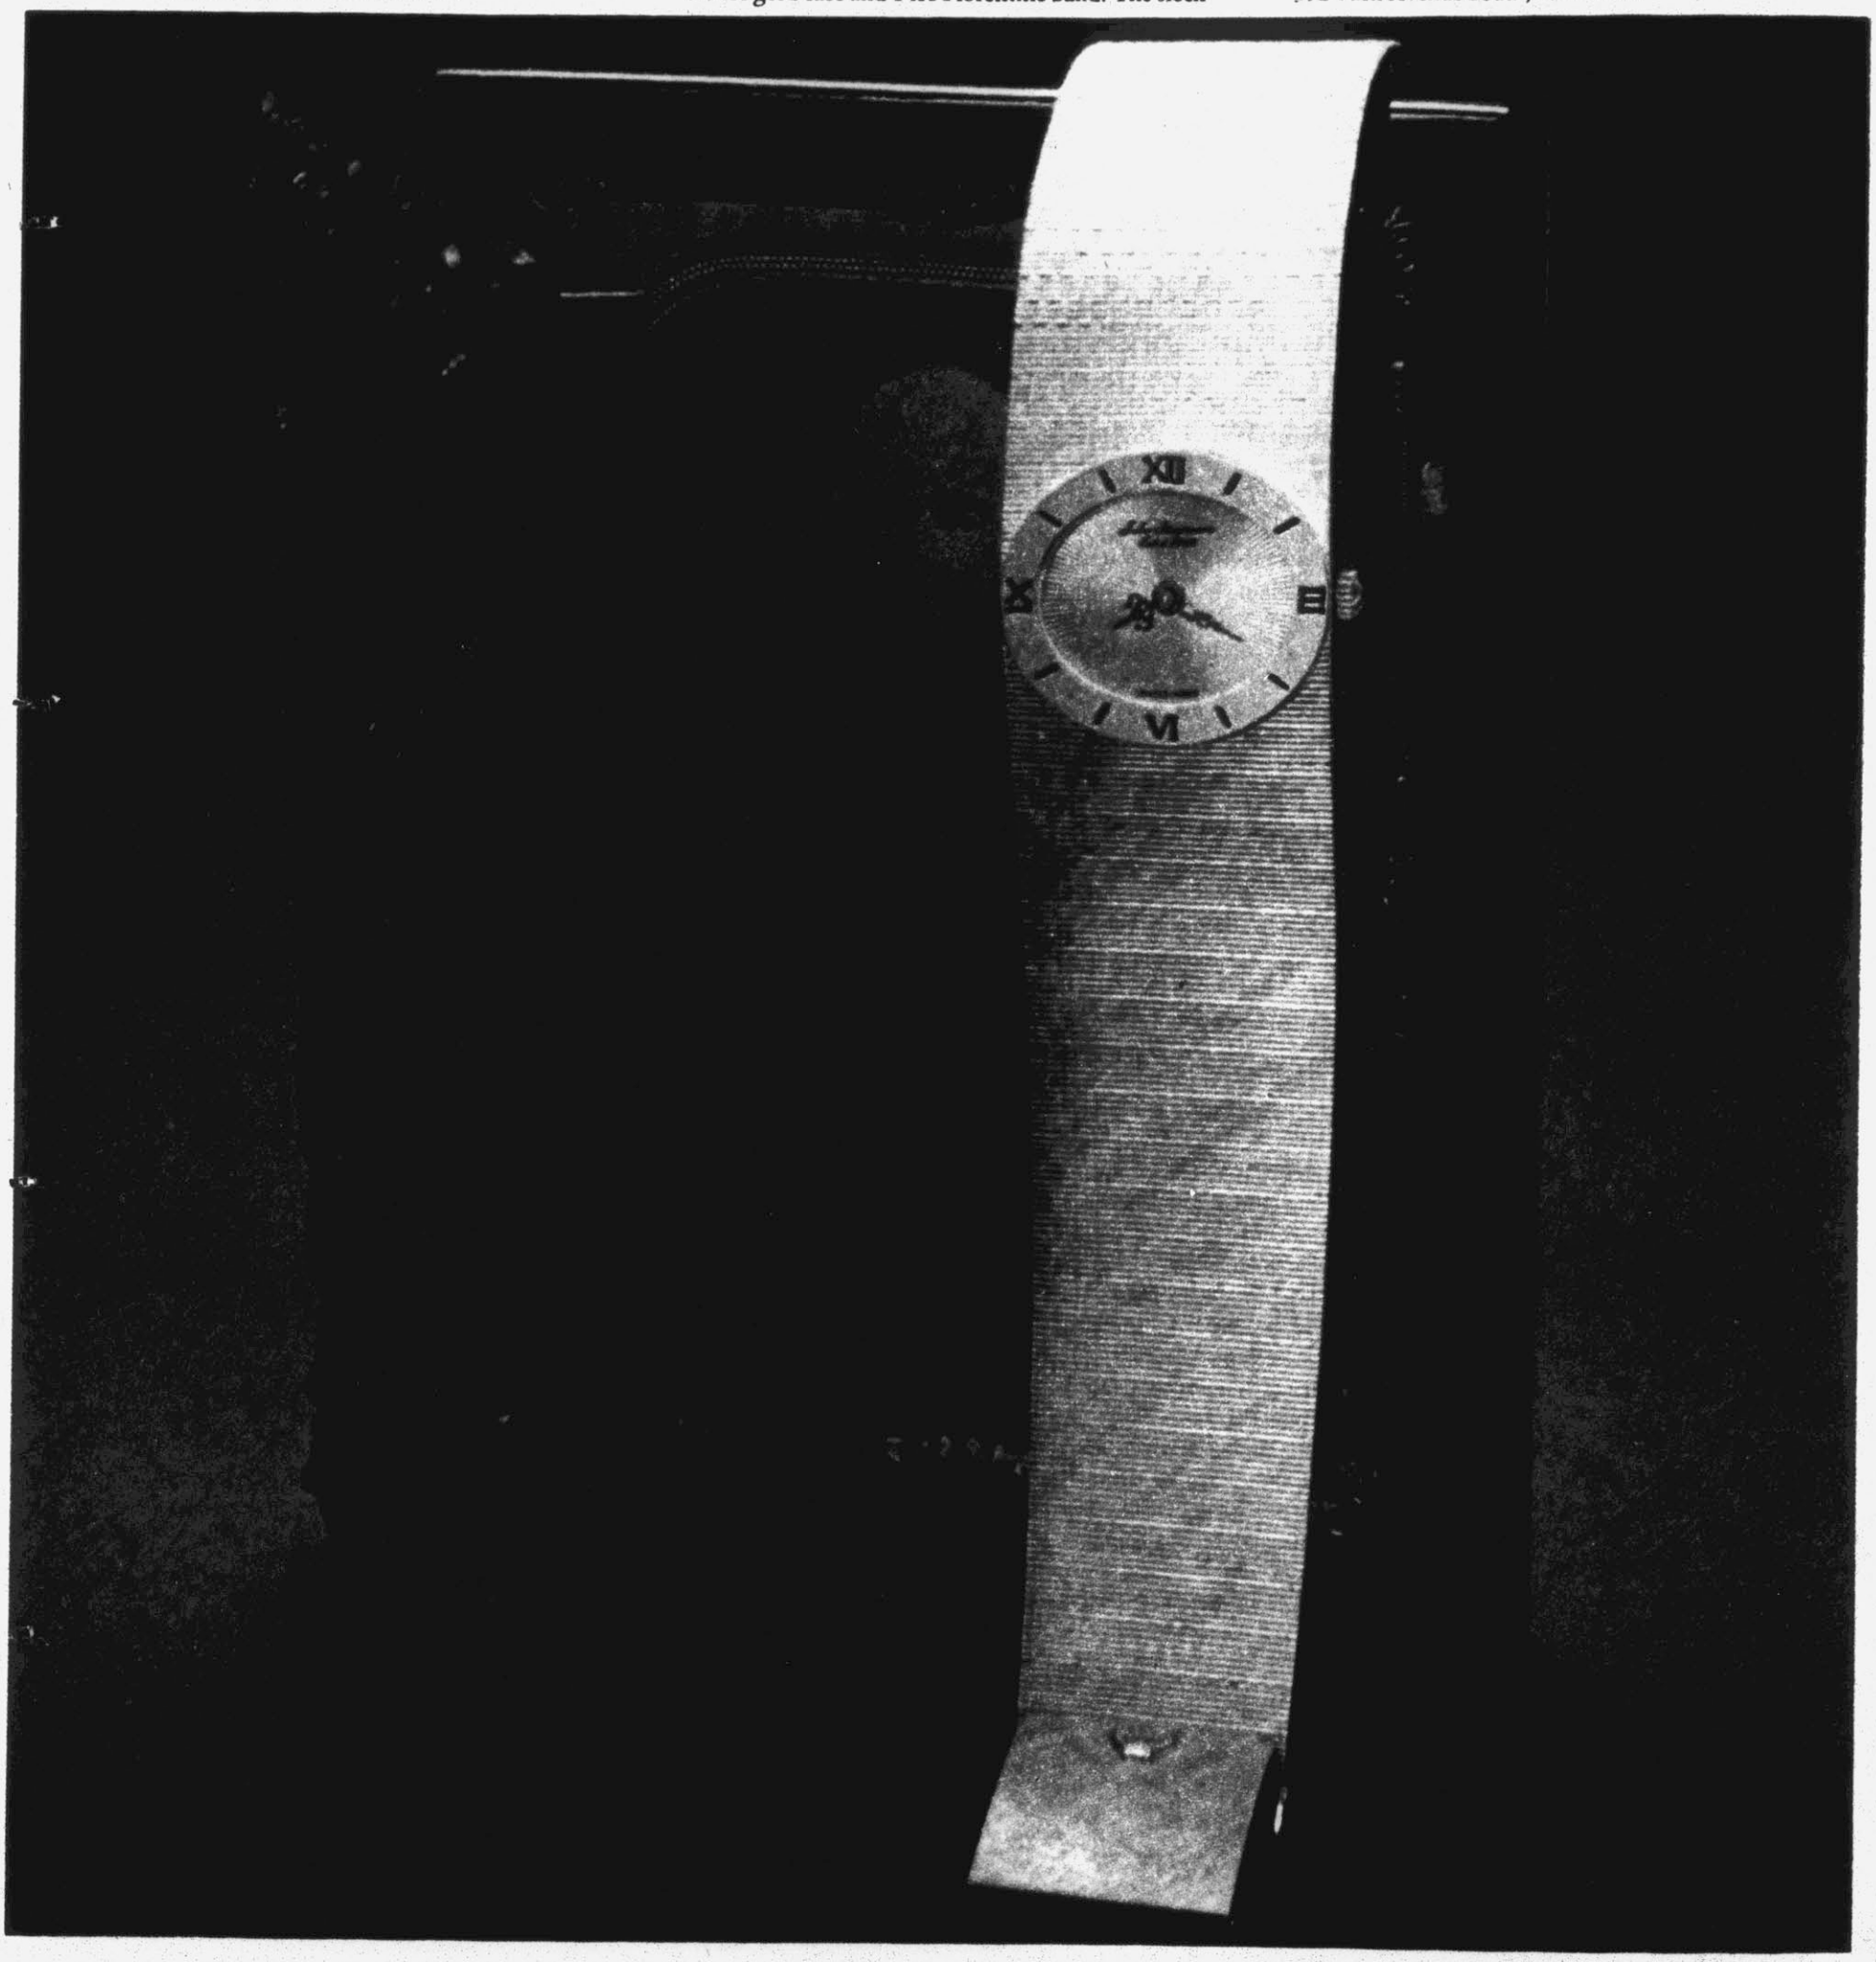

Every part is triple-checked before it goes into the case. And double-checked after it's in.

A Jules Jürgensen is never rushed through an assembly line. We choose our inspectors for their toughness, not their speed.

Why do we spend so much time on our watches? So they'll spend a lot of time with you.

This $1,000 handcrafted man's wristband watch is called Eduardo. One piece Continental styling incorporates a 14K gold case and 14K Florentine band. The sleek wide oval case contains a magnificent 17 jewel movement. Other Jules Jürgensen watches from $80 to $10,000 at fine stores everywhere. Write for an illustrated brochure and name of your nearest authorized dealer.

Fit to Be Tied

I haven't bought one of those wide ties yet.
I'll wait, with an effort of will,
Not until they are somewhat narrow again
But until they are wider still.
Then I'll cut two holes in the tie I've bought
And in them my arms I'll insert.
Thus I'll make full use of my wide, wide tie,
For it also will serve as a shirt.

QUIPS AND QUOTES

In Penn Station in New York the gateman was having difficulty with two soldiers. Hearing the commotion, a young lieutenant hastened to the scene.

"What's the trouble here?" he asked.

"These two soldiers," the gateman complained, "insist on going through the gate without tickets."

"I'll handle this," said the officer. Turning to the soldiers, he commanded, "Forward, march!" He led them through the gate and onto the train. "All right," he said to the GIs, "at ease."

"Say, lieutenant, thanks a lot," said one of the GIs.

"Don't mention it," he shrugged. "I don't have a ticket, either." —Dorothea Kent

"Terrible," he sighed. "The computer broke down in the middle of the morning, and we all had to think." —A. T. Quigg

HOW TO BE A HERO IN YOUR OWN BACKYARD

10 Bright Barbecue Ideas from Reynolds Wrap®

Delight your family...dazzle your friends...with delicious (and different) dishes that end forever the same-old-thing cookout.

What does it take? Two important ingredients: Reynolds Wrap and your own creativity. Reynolds Wrap is a must for outdoor barbecuing because you can cook in it, even over the hottest coals! It has a special resistance to tearing, so it safely seals in juices and flavors. It keeps hot foods hot till ready to serve. Molds tight and holds tight to any shape ...from a lobster to a peach-in-a-poke.

How come? Because every inch of Reynolds Wrap is oven-tempered for flexible strength. Strong, dependable Reynolds Wrap. The barbecue buff's best friend.

LINE YOUR GRILL

Use Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. The foil reflects the heat evenly over the entire grill. Foods cook more evenly. Faster, too. And at clean-up time just bundle up the ashes in the foil and throw 'em away.

CLAMBAKE-IN-A-BUNDLE. On a 24" piece of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap arrange a large frozen lobster tail (or a 1 lb. fresh-killed lobster as shown above); a chicken leg; 6 clams; an ear of corn, silk removed; a scrubbed potato; an onion; ½ cup clam juice. Bring up sides of foil and seal with double fold. Double-fold ends. Place bundle, seam side down, on a second sheet of Heavy Duty foil. Wrap and seal with double fold. Place on grill 4 inches from coals. Cook 1 hour turning every 15 minutes. Serve with melted butter and lemon. Serves one. (The big idea is the no-fuss foil bundle. Works fine, too, with beef or lamb or chicken, and vegetables.)

PEACHES-IN-A-POKE. Arrange two peach halves on a 9 inch square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon, chopped almonds and (optional) a teaspoon of brandy or rum. Bring foil up and twist-top to close tight. Cook on grill over medium-hot fire about 15 minutes.

HOT GARLIC BREAD. Cut a loaf of Italian Bread in ¾ inch slices, not quite through bottom crust. Combine ½ cup softened butter or margarine with 1 minced garlic clove, 1 teaspoon parsley flakes, ¼ teaspoon oregano, ¼ teaspoon dried dill. Spread mixture generously between slices. Wrap loosely in Reynolds Wrap and heat on grill 15 minutes.

"INSTANT HIBACHI"

While the main dish is cooking on your big grill, let your guests cook their own appetizer-kebobs on your "instant hibachi." Just line a big cast iron kettle (or even an old bucket) with Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap and build the fire right on the foil.

FOIL-ROASTED CORN ON THE COB

Remove husks and silk. Brush corn with melted butter or margarine. Wrap each ear tightly in Reynolds Wrap. Roast on top of grill over hot fire about 15 minutes. Foil seals in the fresh-corn flavor and aroma. Foil baked potatoes are great, too. Just scrub the spuds and wrap each one tightly in Heavy Duty foil. Place them directly on the coals around the edge of the fire. Bake about 45 minutes.

SUMMER SQUASH TREAT

Put half-inch slices of squash on very thin onion slices in center of a square of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap. Season with salt, pepper and snips of fresh dill. Dot with butter. Seal foil with double-fold and cook on grill about 25 minutes. Divine! And, you can cook tomatoes, pearl onions and all kinds of frozen vegetables on your outdoor grill, too. The real secret is the tightly sealed foil packet idea.

SPIT ROASTING?

Make a foil pan to catch the drippings. Just turn up all four edges of a double-thickness length of Heavy Duty Reynolds Wrap in the shape of a narrow rectangular pan and place in front of the coals, directly under the meat. Avoids flame flare-ups.

QUICKIE OVEN

Bake-and-serve biscuits and rolls bake beautifully on the grill. Place them on a sheet of Heavy Duty foil and cover them with another sheet. Good idea with hot dog and hamburger rolls, too.

WONDERFUL WOODSY FLAVOR

Soak hickory chips in water and wrap them tightly in foil. Punch holes in the foil to let smoke escape and place the packet right on the coals. Hickory chips won't flame up and burn.

IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY HAROLD R FOSTER

Our Story: IT HAS BEEN RECORDED THAT ALETA IS PASSING FAIR. SHE HAS THE APPROPRIATE NUMBER OF FEATURES NEATLY ARRANGED, AND SUCH LIMBS AND CURVES AS SHE POSSESSES ARE DECORATIVE, BUT THE FARTHER DALE RIDES THE MORE BEAUTIFUL SHE SEEMS.

HE PAYS LITTLE ATTENTION TO LADY MARVYN. SHE TOO IS BEAUTIFUL, BUT SHE TALKS INCESSANTLY OF HER WRONGS, AND THE INNER HATRED MARS THAT BEAUTY.

THEY HALT FOR THE NIGHT AT A POSTHOUSE, AND OVER THE EVENING MEAL DALE BECOMES AWARE THAT SHE IS MORE INTERESTED IN HAVING HER BROTHER-IN-LAW KILLED THAN IN THE LEGAL PROBLEMS.

FROM A HILLTOP MARVYN CASTLE FROWNS DOWN ON A VILLAGE GRAY WITH POVERTY. "YOU RIDE ON WITH YOUR SERVANTS," SUGGESTS DALE. "I WILL STOP HERE AND HAVE MY HARNESS REPAIRED."

SOME NOBLES REGARD CHURL AND SERF AS HARDLY HUMAN AND MAKE NO EFFORT TO CONCEAL ANYTHING FROM THEM. AT THE EXPENSE OF A FEW MUGS OF ALE DALE LEARNS MUCH ABOUT THE STRANGE PEOPLE OF THE CASTLE. IT IS NOT GOOD.

WHEN DALE ENTERS THE CASTLE THE FIRST TO GREET HIM IS TALL SIR LOWARY. IF HE IS INDEED THE VILLAIN OF THE PIECE, HIS EVIL LOOKS CONFIRM IT.

THE EVENING MEAL IS NOT A PLEASANT ONE. "SIR DALE MAKINNIE HAS BEEN SENT BY THE KING TO OUST YOU FROM MY RIGHTFUL HOME," SAYS LADY MARVYN. "NOT SO," SNEERS LOWARY, "ELSE HE WOULD HAVE SENT A MORE FORMIDABLE KNIGHT AND NOT A BEARDLESS BOY." "SHALL WE EXAMINE THE PROOFS ON THE MORROW?" ASKS DALE CALMLY.
