Officials Put In Another Session Of Budget Work

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

City officials put in another session of budget considerations and discussions as they met last night for the third time this week in preliminary rounds of shaping up a first draft of the city's 1970-71.

The main thrust of budget items on last night's agenda centered on the Public Works Department, with special appropriations also being considered.

One item in the special appropriation category resulted in the city fathers deciding on a special meeting before making a determination. Mayor Frank M. Wooten Jr. and city councilmen will meet Monday night with the Airport Authority to discuss their program in detail before making the $10,340, requested appropriation a part of the preliminary budget worksheet.

C. K. Beatty, director of the Public Works Department, was on hand to answer questions from councilmen as separate divisions of the largest agency in Greenville were itemized on the worksheet.

A breakdown for budgeting in this department shows the following budget items considered for Public Works:

—Administration — Salary total of $26,957, including all fringe benefits, such as a standard five percent cost of living increase, insurance, retirement and hospitalization. Building and grounds, $500. Capital Outlay, $50, for a filing cabinet.

—Garage Department — Salary $28,277. Utilities, $1,600. Motor fuel and maintenance, $550. Uniform maintenance, $800.

—Street Maintenance — $152,179, reflecting salaries for 31 employees. $235,642 as the total for street repairs and maintenance; $40,366, for paving costs for projected streets. City Manager Harry Hagerly called attention that this was considerably less than the more than $270,000 spent for similar paving projects this fiscal year.

An item in the "possibility" category for inclusion is a heavy duty front end loader tractor to replace the old one purchased in 1956. This equipment, if included, will carry a price tag of $30,000.

—Signs and Paint Department — $10,000 for material only. $4,250 for a long wheel base chassis line remover is an item to be possibly considered.

—Street Cleaning — Salary, $21,775. (5 people), and motor fuel for the sidewalk vacuum, $2,000.

—Malaria Control—Salary, $3,060, and material, $4,750. The city manager noted it may be possible to procure material for spraying from state sources and thus eliminate this item from the budget.

—Sanitation Department — The largest single division within public works has 60 employees, with a salary base of $263,629, including costs of fringe benefits. Other budget items in this department are: General supplies, $4,000, and $4,000, for maintenance. Laundry of uniforms amounts to $8,400.

In the matter of projected equipment for the Sanitation Department, one 23 yard container tender truck at $16,000 is considered a necessary equipment item, with $8,500 and

Mounting Red Pressures

'Cede' Half Of Cambodia

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The Cambodian government, faced with sharply mounting pressure from the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese, has decided reluctantly to cede almost half the country to enemy control, well informed diplomatic sources said today.

The disclosure came as military sources reported that enemy troops seized nearly half of the provincial capital of Kompong Speu, 30 miles south of Phnom Penh in heavy fighting.

Refugees from the town, which lies on the only highway open to Cambodia's major port of Kompong Som, formerly Sihanoukville, said the enemy held the central market and virtually all of that part of the town which lies south of a river bisecting it.

Western military experts termed the decision to cede territory to the enemy realistic, and said that even by concentrating its forces around Phnom Penh and northwest of the capital, the government will have only a 50-50 chance of surviving the next four or five months of monsoon rains.

The threat to the port of Kompong Som, through which all of Phnom Penh's fuel and other vital supplies must pass could have critical consequences.

Enemy troops also made a strong attack 50 miles northeast of Phnom Penh in what could be a prelude to new assaults on the key Mekong River town of Kompong Cham.

Spokesmen said the fighting at Siem Reap, near the Angkor temple ruins, had subsided, but strong enemy forces were still in the area.

The diplomats said Premier Lon Nol's government, in assessing its prospects, had written off the extensive eastern territory in which U.S. and South Vietnamese forces have been operating. With its army and strategic reserves already spread dangerously thin, the sources said the government realizes that much of the area east and south of Phnom Penh will revert to Communist control if the U.S. and South Vietnamese leave.

Already the government has lost control of vast areas in the northeast and the situation there worsens almost daily. But the area around Phnom Penh and the rice belt stretching northwest around the giant Tonle Sap lake will be defended at all costs, diplomatic sources said.

They said this is also true of Battambang and Siem Reap, two provincial capitals west and north of the Tonle Sap. Both cities are military regional headquarters and are astride the only roads to Thailand. These roads may become the government's lifeline to the outside world in the months to come.

Sorrow In Wake Of VC Slayings

MOURN VICTIM OF MASSACRE — Two South Vietnamese parents stand near an open coffin in the market place of Ba Ren, mourning their dead son, killed when Viet Cong forces invaded their small village massacring over 100 civilians and wounding scores of men, women and children. The parents, like other Vietnamese in the background, went to the marketplace which had been turned into a center to collect the dead, to identify missing relatives. They found their son. (AP Wirephoto by radio from Saigon)

Severe Fish-Kill

WINSTONSALEM (AP) — State wildlife officials reported today a severe fish kill in the Yadkin River from Winston-Salem south to Lake Tillery in Stanly and Montgomery counties.

A spokesman for the Wildlife Resources Commission said reports of dead fish floating on the river began coming in about 5 p.m. Thursday.

Early today the commission sent about 30 officials to Winston-Salem to travel down the affected part of the river by boat to estimate the damage and the number of game fish lost.

The commission also began chemical analysis of the water to determine the nature and source of the pollutant.

From Winston-Salem the river flows on a winding course southward past Salisbury and into High Rock Lake. From High Rock it flows into Badin Lake near Badin, then into Lake Tillery near Albemarle.

High Rock and Badin Lakes and Lake Tillery are considered among the most productive fishing spots in the Piedmont, especially for bass.

Speaker McCormack

Last Big Fight Aimed For 18-Year-Old Vote

By JOHN BECKLER

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker John W. McCormack, whose 78 years have made him a target of the young, is making his last big legislative fight an attempt to win the vote for 18-year-olds.

The speaker, who is retiring from the House after this session of Congress, is pushing hard for passage of a bill that would extend the Voting Rights Act of 1965 and lower the voting age to 18.

Largely as a result of his efforts, backers of the bill are confident they have the votes to send it to the White House when the House takes it up Wednesday.

McCormack has been calling on members who are undecided or actually in opposition to the bill and asking for their support.

"He puts it right to you," a recipient of one of his calls says. "He says this is going to be his last big vote and he wants you with him. I'm not for the 18-year-old vote, but I'm going to vote with the speaker."

Passage of the bill would also be sweet revenge for the speaker for a painful setback he and the other House leaders suffered last December when the chamber rejected an extension of the Voting Rights Act in favor of a milder, broader administration measure.

The 1965 act zeroes in on the South and has been credited with adding nearly one million blacks to the voter rolls in seven Southern states.

The Senate extended the act and added the 18-year-old voting provision to it, and McCormack is trying to get the House to accept the Senate version without further change.

Working against him is the Republican leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan. Ford, supporting the administration's position, wants to send the bill to a House-Senate conference to have the 18-year-old voting provision deleted.

It is President Nixon's contention that lowering the voting age requires a constitutional amendment, not a simple act of Congress. He has said he would support such an amendment.

However, the key sections of the 1965 act expire in August and its supporters fear these provisions will lapse if the bill has to go through the delay of House and Senate action for approval of any conference agreement.

Civil rights groups also have been actively lobbying on behalf of the combined bill, as has a small group of Republicans who oppose their leadership's position.

The GOP workers say they have lined up 50 firm votes on their side, which is what supporters of the bill have said they need to pass it.

Dynamiters Hit Police Building

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — An explosion ripped a four-foot-square hole in the wall of a police building Thursday night and shattered windows in the building and in a bus parked outside.

No injuries were reported. Officers said the explosive device—apparently dynamite—had been placed in a window well on the first floor of the building which serves as an assembly point for officers working in the northern sections of Omaha.

Police Capt. William Pattavina said the blast occurred during a shift change and that there were eleven officers in the building.

Guerrillas Free All But One Hostage In Amman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fifty-eight foreigners held hostage in Amman were reportedly released today, but Egypt's Middle East News Agency reported that a commando group was holding the widow of an American military attaché killed by guerrillas in the Jordanian capital earlier this week.

A guerrilla organization in Beirut announced that the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine this morning released the 58 Americans, Britons and other foreigners it had held captive for more than 36 hours in Amman's two main hotels.

Diplomats in the Lebanese capital confirmed the report, but had no details. Regular communication channels with the Jordanian capital were still cut.

The American woman reported a prisoner of the commandos was the widow of Maj. Robert P. Perry of Chicago, an attaché of the U.S. Embassy in Amman who was killed by a group of guerrillas who invaded his residence Wednesday at the height of the fighting between the Palestinians and Jordanian troops.

Earlier reports said Mrs. Perry was killed, but the Egyptian report today made no mention of the circumstances of the reported capture of the woman.

As the Palestine guerrillas refused to be satisfied by concessions from King Hussein of Jordan and made new demands, U.S. officials were preparing to evacuate about 400 Americans living in Jordan.

In Washington, the White House said only "precautionary planning" was being done. But a representative of the International Red Cross arrived in Amman today to arrange the evacuation, and three Lebanese jetliners were standing by in Beirut to fly the evacuees to Athens.

Subsequently, the State Department said in Washington that the airlift to evacuate the Americans would enter Jordan today. A spokesman said planes have received landing permission from Jordan authorities.

The spokesman also said it was understood by the department that the hostages held by the guerrillas are being released.

Hussein made major concessions to the guerrillas Thursday by dismissing his uncle from command of his army and removing a cousin from command of an army division that had spearheaded the battle against the guerrillas in Amman. But Al Fatah, the largest of the commando organizations, said in a broadcast from Cairo that this was only "the beginning of victory for the people."

It demanded that the king renounce his commitment to a political settlement with Israel and said only such a "radical solution" could end the strife in Jordan in which more than 700 persons are reported to have been killed or wounded.

The broadcast demanded that the king join the guerrillas in

82nd Airborne Put On Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C., has been placed on alert because of the crisis in Jordan which threatens American personnel.

Meanwhile, the State Department says an airlift is being arranged to evacuate a number of American women and children from the strife-ridden country.

The Defense Department confirmed that what it termed "certain precautionary contingency planning" is under way. But it said no decisions have been made to take military action.

Civilian officials acknowledged that the 82nd Airborne Division headquartered at Fort Bragg, N.C., was one of the units alerted. But they discounted the possibility that paratroopers or other armed forces would be used, and they said the U.S. 8th Fleet in the Mediterranean is proceeding under a normal schedule.

The airlift into Amman, Jordan's embattled capital, is to be a charter flight by two jetliners under the auspices of the International Red Cross, the State Department authorities said.

The planes are expected to fly in from near-by Beirut, Lebanon. The officials said the Jordanian government had granted clearance for landing at the Amman airport.

The present plans were to fly out some 130 dependents of U.S. government officials in Jordan.

However, whether all would get aboard the aircraft was not known here.

Some of the wives may choose to stay in Jordan because of their commitment to "liberate" Israel from Jewish domination.

It also demanded "the liquidation of America's entire fifth column in Jordan."

"What is needed is a radical solution, not merely decisions written on paper or broadcast on the radio," Al Fatah said. "The liquidation of traitors has only begun. They must be deported. The people will not settle for halfway solutions."

Sources in Beirut said fighting had died down in Amman Thursday night but artillery fire could be heard on the outskirts of the city. They had no report on whether there was fighting today.

Operating on an emergency transmitter, Amman Radio reported that two joint government-guerrilla committees had been named, one to investigate the cause of the fighting and the other to put into effect the cease-fire which Hussein and Al Fatah leader Yasir Arafat have ordered repeatedly.

A Red Cross official who visited the foreign hostages in Amman's Intercontinental and Philadelphia hotels Thursday reported all were in good health. The Popular Front, a radical terror group which has frequently refused to follow the lead of Arafat and other guerrilla leaders, said then it was holding the hostages until it was sure the Jordanian government would stop attacks on the Palestinian refugee camps around Amman, where many guerrillas are based.

Many strong supporters of the Cooper-Church amendment oppose the military sales authority provisions of the bill. Both the House and the Nixon administration have a diametrically opposite point of view.

Thus, the Cooper-Church forces in the Senate hope to use the administration's strong desire for the military sales authority as a lever on the House when the bill goes to conference, assuming the Senate approves it.

Partial State Scholarships Urged For Tar Heel Students

LAKE JUNALUSKA, N.C. (AP) — Duke University President Terry Sanford urged today that the State of North Carolina provide a $500 scholarship for each Tar Heel student enrolled in a church-related college in the state.

Sanford said the partial scholarships would "go a long way toward insuring the continued existence and strength of church-related colleges while in the long run saving the state tax dollars."

He spoke at a meeting of the Western North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church.

The former governor also urged that the churches themselves increase their support of church-related colleges, many of which are burdened by financial problems.

But he added, "I don't believe that the churches should do the job alone. I think we have reached a stage where the church and its colleges should look to that third element of American life, government, to see what it can do to help."

He said it now costs the state between $940 and $1,770 a year to support each state student in state colleges.

"In effect," he said, "the taxpayers of our state give each college student this amount each year if he is enrolled full-time in a state school, if he is from North Carolina."

"But the state provides nothing in the way of support for those other North Carolina boys and girls who choose to go to a church-related school," he said.

Teacher Groups Remain At Odds

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's white and black teacher organizations are still in disagreement even though the National Education Association says it considers them to be merged.

The directors of the predominantly black North Carolina Teachers Association are scheduled to meet next week to consider a reply to the NEA.

Man Killed By Lightning Bolt

DALLAS, N. C. (AP) — Bailey Graham Whitlock, 33, of Gastonia was killed when struck by lightning during a thunderstorm Wednesday.

Witnesses said Whitlock was in a barn at Biggerstaff Park at the time. Five other persons — including his eight-year-old daughter — were standing nearby when Whitlock was knocked to the ground, but they were not hurt.

Couple Exchanges Vows Tuesday

Miss Petrice Dow Brown and Robert Phillip Flood Jr. were married Tuesday afternoon at 5:00 p.m. in a small garden wedding at the home of the bride's parents.

Attending the bride were Miss

Donna Davis of Charlotte, maid of honor; and bridesmaids, Mary Flood of Syracuse, N.Y., sister of the bridegroom, Cynthia Champion of Rochester, N.Y., Rosanne Bailey of Williamston, and Nancy Brenner of Asheboro. The best man was Michael O'Conner of Syracuse, N.Y., brother of the bridegroom, Wyatt L. Brown Jr., brother of the bride, Douglas Renegar of Kinston, and Robert McGirth of Rowland. The Rev. Dr. Thomas S. Mutch of Madison, N.J., and the Rev. Adrian E. Brown, uncles of the bride, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Livingston Brown. She was given in marriage by her father. Her wedding dress was a floor length satin gown covered with silk organza applied with a floral design.

Her full length veil was highlighted with the same floral design. Her bridal bouquet consisted of white gardenias, blue batchelor buttons, and a token spray of traditional white heather sent for the occasion of the wedding by relatives from Scotland.

The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore light blue crepe floor length gowns. They each wore a blue garden hat and carried a basket of mixed flowers.

The altar for the wedding was improvised and was decorated with white lilies and gladioli backed by magnolia leaves. The altar was flanked on each side by two hurricane lamps.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Ellie Brown Tolson, cousin of the bride, at the piano. Thomas E. Brown, cousin of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the wedding, an informal reception was held in the home. Assisting the host and hostess at the reception were Miss Bessie Brown, Mrs. Adrian E. Brown, Mrs. W. H. Brown, Mrs. S. Brooks Knowlton of Philadelphia, Pa., Miss Ada Mutch of Philadelphia, Pa., Mrs. D. A. Gordon Mutch of Severna Park, Md., Mrs. Thomas S. Mutch of Madison, N.J.

Hostess at the rehearsal dinner was Miss Ada Mutch, aunt of the bride, which was held at the Woman's Club. The wedding party was entertained at a wedding breakfast at the country club by the following hosts and hostesses: Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taft, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Underwood, Mrs. Burke Stancil, Mrs. Ellie Tolson, and Miss Bessie Brown.

Following the wedding supper, the bride and bridegroom left for a coastal wedding trip. The couple will be employed in Winston-Salem this summer and the bridegroom will start his graduate studies at the University of Washington in September.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Phillip Flood Sr. of Syracuse, N.Y. He graduated from Wake Forest University in June.

The bride graduated from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro in May.

Miss Dickerson Entertained At Luncheon Today

MONROE — Mrs. Harold Shirley, Miss Sally Shirley and Mrs. Thomas C. Eubanks Jr. honored Miss Ann Gillam Dickerson and her attendants at a bridesmaids' luncheon on Friday, at the Monroe Country Club.

The bride's table was centered with two white china hearts decorated with pink flowers and radiating pink streamers to each guest's place, which was marked by a white bridal slipper containing rice wrapped in pink tulle and tied with pink satin ribbon and lily - of - the - valley.

The honoree's place was designated by a white china wedding bell wrapped identically. Guests were also seated at other tables with centerpieces of assorted pink and white and bridal slippers at each place.

The bride - elect wore a dress of white organza and lace, accented at the waist with a sash of pink grosgrain ribbon. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

The hostesses presented Miss Dickerson with a gift of two silver champagne stems engraved. The bride - elect's gifts to her attendants were gold bracelets.

Guests included mothers and grandmothers of the bride - elect and bridegroom - elect, bridesmaids, and out - of - town wedding guests.

spoke of the formation of Boys' Home in 1954 and its growth since then.

The home is for boys from 10 to 16 years-of-age, who have been referred by social agencies throughout the state. North Carolina civic organizations including the Jaycees, Civitans, Lions, Rotarians, and Optimists have built cottages which house the boys at the institution throughout their school years said the speaker.

The school maintains its own facilities for the fifth through the eighth grades, after which they attend high school classes in a neighboring town. There are also facilities where the boys may pursue their various hobbies. A certified trade school to be constructed at Boys' is now being planned also, he said.

Faircloth said that besides attending school, caring for their cottages and participating in various sports activities, the boys also provide a great deal of their own food through farming and raising livestock.

In closing, he thanked the Jay - C - Ettet for their support and asked that they continue to do all they can for Boys' Home.

Sam Keel, a state vice - president, talked of local Jaycee work for Boy's Home Bowl Game, which is held here each year.

Following these talks, the club voted to give their full support to the Bowl Game, and to help the Jaycees in this endeavor.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Cliff Fleming, Mrs. George Small, Mrs. William Fuqua, Mrs. Jehu Taft, Mrs. Nathan Smith and Mrs. Floyd Little.

Miss Norice Dupree Weds Sunday Afternoon

FALKLAND — In a ceremony on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the St. John Baptist Church, Miss Norice Dupree, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Dupree, and Lee Andrew Knight, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Knight of Mobile, Ala., were united in marriage.

The Rev. William Gorham of Sanford officiated at the double ring ceremony. He was assisted by Rev. J.R. Person.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Miss Shirley Coward, vocalist, of Ayden and the Rev. John Taylor, pianist, of Greenville.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated on either side with palms and branched candelabra holding candles and an arrangements of white and yellow gladioli with sprengeri behind the profile prie-dieu where the bride and bridegroom knelt for the wedding prayer and benediction.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length re-embroidered alencon lace gown with seed pearls and crystals. The gown featured a rayon organza panel back with a chapel length detachable train, full sleeves and a bodice of alencon lace.

Her elbow length veil of silk illusion fell from a cluster of pearls. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of miniature carnations and lily-of-the-valley centered with a white orchid and tied with streamers of satin and tulle.

Mrs. Hattie M. Vines of Stamford, Conn., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a formal gown of yellow silk chiffon over taffeta designed with empire lines and long sheer sleeves. She wore a headpiece of matching butterfly bow with tulle veil and carried a colonial nosegay of green carnations and chrysanthemums and tied with green satin streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Leadora Knight of Mobile, Ala., sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Lois Gorham Williams of

They wore floor length gowns of spring green silk chiffon over taffeta designed with empire lines and long sheer sleeves. They wore a headpiece of matching butterfly bow with tulle veil and carried a colonial nosegay of yellow carnations and chrysanthemums and tied with yellow satin streamers.

Miss Veronica Dupree of Washington, D.C., She wore a long white a-line dress and carried a basket of yellow daisies and carnations.

Danny Dupree of Greenville, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bridegroom's brother, James Knight of Washington, D.C., served as best man. Ushers were Benny Murray, Theodore K. Dupree, Gregory Daniels, all of Washington, D.C. Charles Vines, Hubert Vines and Charles Vines Jr., all of Stamford, Conn., Carl W. Vines of Greensboro, William Dixon of Greenville and Theodore R. Dupree of Falkland.

Mrs. Marion Gorham Wilks directed the wedding. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dupree wore a pink dress with pink and white accessories and a corsage of white chrysanthemums.

A reception was held on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents in Falkland.

The bride's table was laid with a white linen cloth and centered with a bowl of yellow gladioli and carnations.

After June 12, the couple will reside in Washington, D.C.

Patient's Friend Lied To Doctor

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I disagree with your answer to "STEADY READER." You gave this meddling woman the go-ahead to call her dear friend's doctor and offer him "information" about his patient.

I think this is very sneaky. I, too, had a "dear friend" who called my psychiatrist and told him things about me she thought he ought to know. [This was all done "for my own good," of course.]

It wasn't necessary, however, because I had always been completely honest with my psychiatrist. Well, he chose to believe her lies instead of my truths and now I no longer have a psychiatrist OR a "dear friend."

I wouldn't set foot into another psychiatrist's office if you paid me. And as for a doctor who would take the word of a third party in preference to the person he is treating—let him send HER the bill. EX-PATIENT

DEAR EX: I advised STEADY READER to tell her friend that if she herself didn't tell her doctor that she had three sources for the pills he had prescribed for her, she [STEADY READER] should tip the doctor off. This, I think would have been a kindness.

If your psychiatrist actually accepted the "lies" of a third party in preference to your truths, then he needs a psychiatrist. But, if you were only imagining that your friend and your doctor were "conspiring" against you, then I think you desperately need to return for more therapy.

DEAR ABBY: Our high school senior son is "in love" with a 12-year-old girl. He is a good student [or he was until his grades took a nosedive], he's on the basketball team and has never even dated a girl before this one. She is a seventh grader and isn't allowed to date, but they get together at our house because she has suddenly become "best friends" with our 13-year-old daughter.

I won't go into detail here, but I found a "love letter" this girl wrote to our son, which confirmed everything I had suspected. This little girl is mature beyond her years, and they are headed for serious trouble if something isn't done to keep them apart, or cooled off.

Should my husband talk to our son? Should I talk to the girl? Should my husband and I talk to the kids together? Should we just handle our son, and let the girl's parents handle her? All I need now is a 12-year-old daughter-in-law with a baby on the way! WORRIED STIFF

DEAR WORRIED: Have your husband talk to your son. YOU talk to the girl. Then the both of you talk to the kids together. THEN, tell the girl's mother that half the battle is hers!

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother asked my husband to give her the money he was going to spend on my birthday present, and they would give me something "together" which she would pick out.

Well, she picked out a loud pink and orange plaid coat with a low belt all around. I have always had a weight problem, and would never dream of wearing anything that looked like that and she surely must have known it.

My mother-in-law has excellent taste when it comes to selecting her own clothes. What would you say happened in this case, Abby? And how would you have handled it? BURNED UP IN BATON ROUGE

DEAR BURNED: There are two possibilities. Either she did it on purpose, or she didn't. Regardless, I would have handled it very carefully while placing it in its original box to return it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO SOL S., MY 84-YEAR-OLD BOY-FRIEND IN CHICAGO: I might have known that you were no ordinary man. Like fine wine and violins, you improve with age. Shalom, Sweetheart!

Campbell-Wesson Vows Said In Double Ring Ceremony

Miss Donna Kay Wesson became the bride of Leonard Campbell Jr. in a double ring ceremony on Sunday at 8:00 p.m.

The ceremony was performed by Frank Julian at the home of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wesson of Troy and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Campbell Sr. of Greenville.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of bridal lace designed with a high neckline and long lace sleeves. Her two-tiered veil of illusion was attached to a bow headpiece and she carried a nosegay of white pom poms with greenery.

Bride-Elect Entertained

GRIFTON — Miss Patty Ann Nash, bride-elect of June 21, was honored Saturday afternoon by Mrs. Robert L. Hood and Mrs. Fred H. Thompson.

The Hood house was decorated throughout with magnolias and gardenias.

Mrs. Hood greeted guests and presented them to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Patricia May Nash and Mrs. Fred Taylor, mother of the bridegroom-elect. They were wearing yellow carnation corsages, gifts of the hostesses.

The bride's table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and held an arrangement of yellow and white carnations flanked by candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Floy G. May, maternal grandmother of Miss Nash, poured punch and Miss Nancy Turner assisted in serving.

Mrs. Jasper J. Smith presided at the register and good-byes were said to Mrs. Thompson.

Miss Nash was remembered with a gift of linen by the hostesses.

The bridegroom's father served as best man.

The mother of the bride wore a light blue dress, white accessories and a white carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a navy and white dress. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Following a wedding trip to Kentucky, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University and taught school in Vanceboro. The bridegroom is a graduate of Stokes-Pactolus High School and plans to continue his education in Atlanta, Ga.

Visit Underlines New Interest

Gov. Bob Scott's day-long visit to Central Prison and other penal facilities says something for the administration's attitude toward the state's prison system.

At the very least, the visit indicates a deep interest in what is being done and what might be done in the state's penal system. Even in the absence of any official statement on the visit, it must be assumed that the governor — just as any other individual — came away with some new, perhaps vivid impressions of prison life in North Carolina.

Perhaps it is equally significant that Gov. Scott is the first chief executive of North Carolina in the past 22 years — and perhaps much longer than that — to visit Central Prison.

The governor's "day in prison" adds emphasis to the study currently being conducted by a number of task forces of professionals and laymen who are looking into all facets of law enforcement, crime prevention, the judicial system and the state's penal system. What changes or reforms may come out of these studies remains to be seen.

There can be no doubt, however, that Gov. Scott has made this broad field a subject of primary interest of his administration. Neither can there be any doubt that the governor's visit to a long neglected, century-old institution will have a bearing on what recommendations will be made to the General Assembly next January.

North Carolina needs to give attention to its penal system and certainly to Central Prison that has now become the state's maximum security prison. It needs to take a modern, realistic look at its prison system and its needs, its role and how that role might best be performed.

Like most states, North Carolina is seeing an increasing number of people each year given active prison sentences by its courts. An adequate system must be developed to handle this increasing prison population. At the same time there is growing recognition that the present system of probation and paroles is as inadequate in its own way as the century-old Central Prison.

Something must be done and Gov. Scott's administration appears on the way to seeing that something conservative is done.

Map Drive For State Support

By BRYAN HAISLIP RALEIGH.

—North Carolina's private colleges and universities are mounting an all-out effort to convince the 1971 General Assembly that financial support from the state is necessary for their survival.

Quietly and without fanfare, the North Carolina Association of Independent Colleges and Universities has opened a Raleigh office with Virgil T. McBride as its first full-time executive director.

McBride headed the staff for Governor Bob Scott's Good Neighbor Council until a few months ago when he became development officer for Wake Forest University in Winston-Salem. He took a leave of absence, effective June 1, for his present assignment.

The case for state aid for private higher education is based on the premise that a dual, public-private system should be preserved to best meet the needs of all Tar Heel youth. Rising educational costs have put many private institutions in financial straits, and dangerously widened their tuition disparity with state-supported campuses.

The argument is made that it would be a better investment of state tax dollars to assist private institutions so that they might take care of a significant portion of student enrollment, rather than have the state itself shoulder an increasing share of the burden.

There are signs hopeful to the cause. The Legislative Study Commission on Student Financial Aid, created by the 1969 General Assembly, is considering a statewide student assistance program for North Carolinians attending public and private colleges in the state.

The Board of Higher Education has in progress a study of private higher education and its needs. Governor Scott has voiced his support for a program of state assistance to private higher education. Speaking at the Campbell College commencement recently, he said nearly all states do so, ranging from a minimum of tax exemptions to grants such as Michigan's $1,000 per student to private institutions.

Scott said lawmakers next year "will need to consider what to do about the needs of private colleges and universities, along with the needs of higher education generally." Meanwhile, he said, "I have encouraged the leaders in private higher education to make their needs known to those of us in state government, and to the responsible citizens in this state, so that we might be better informed of their problems and thus, might be better qualified to assist with solutions."

Acquainting state officials, including education is the mission for McBride and the North Carolina Association of Independent Colleges and Universities. Formed two years ago, the association's membership includes all 41 private junior and senior institutions of the state. It provides for the first time a statewide voice, and a structure for coordination and cooperation with public institutions and state agencies.

The message is that private institutions, whose plant investment alone represents more than one billion dollars, are a resource which must be fully utilized to open opportunity to the state's young people.

The dimensions of the proposal to be presented to the General Assembly, and the price tag it will carry, must wait upon the recommendations of the study groups now at work. It is expected that their reports will be given to the Governor some time this fall.

President Terry Sanford of Duke University, a former Governor knowledgeable in the art of influencing legislators, will be a valuable team member during the '71 session. Sanford already said he will be among those urging the General Assembly to adopt a program of assistance for private higher education.

Historically private institutions have been an indispensable partner in North Carolina higher education.

Recent years have brought a disturbing drift of students from private to state-supported colleges. In 1968, the division of enrollment between the two was about equal. For the academic year just ended, higher education enrollment in the state totaled 132,125, with 84,427 or 64 per cent in public institutions and 47,708 or 36 per cent on private campuses.

While the private schools experienced an overall drop in enrollment, the public institutions had an enrollment gain of 5,000. Private institutions say they have 3,000 open spaces which could accommodate as many students without the need for capital outlay.

Only One More Day To Register For Election

Those who have not registered for the referendum on the 25 cents tax increase for Greenville School District have only one more day to do so.

Registrars will be at the two polling places — Elm Street gym and Third St. School — tomorrow from 9 until 6.

After that the books will be closed and those who have not registered will not be able to vote.

Good citizenship requires all of us to study the issues and then vote our convictions. In order to do so registering tomorrow will be required.

Few Tears For Robert Finch

By ROWLANDE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON —

The underlying reason for Robert Finch's fall as Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) is evident in the lack of tears among two fiercely competing groups: the hard-line White House staff and the soft-line HEW bureaucracy.

Tough talking Presidential aides privately argue that Finch had brought much of his troubles on himself simply by entertaining the complaints of anti-Nixon HEW civil servants. But eyes were not noticeably moist at HEW on Monday, following his abrupt weekend shift to the anonymous role of Presidential counselor. Anything more than pro forma sympathy was wholly missing among these civil servants.

In brief, Finch at HEW fell between two stools. Taking a liberal public posture that angered White House conservatives, he failed to follow through in private and thereby angered HEW liberals. In fairness, the failure goes well beyond likeable Bob Finch. Only in an Administration that after 17 months in office is still uncertain what it stands for could his sad story have been written.

Ironically, this same ideological ambiguity may be perfectly suited to Finch's successor, the intellectually tough Under Secretary of State, Elliot Richardson. Finch's opposite in so many ways — administratively experienced, laconic, cool, often aloof — Richardson will be able to push more effectively behind the scenes for liberal programs while avoiding loud liberal rhetoric. Thus, some Finch aides at HEW view the change as a distinct improvement.

Although these aides long ago worried that Finch was not suited for HEW, the end came with shocking suddenness. HEW Under Secretary, John Veneman, Finch's erstwhile campaign manager and closest political adviser, had just taken off on an extended trip to California (from which he was hurriedly summoned home) when Finch, on Friday, was called to the White House.

President Nixon had made up his mind that, for his own sake and Finch's, the change must be made now. The President told Finch, his longtime protegee, that he needed him at the White House. H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, now the mighty White House appointments secretary but once a mere Finch underling, was given the assignment of selling Finch, and he carefully marshalled his arguments.

Finch, already under doctors' advice to ease up, let Haldeman talk, then interrupted with a one-word question: "When?"

But the preconditioning for Finch's grateful exit goes back to the beginning of his unhappy tenure when he was miscast, both ideologically and constitutionally, as Mr. Liberal of the Nixon administration.

Ideologically, Finch had never been associated with the embattled liberal faction of California Republicans. He always sought a centrist position. As recently as the spring of 1968, Lt. Gov. Finch failed to support liberal Sen.

Strength For Today

DESTINY Where shall we turn?

This is the type of question that haunts us in the day of trouble. A fortune has been lost. An ambition toward which we pressed for years has been definitely and permanently denied. A loved one has been taken away. We have looked down into our own hearts, and have been cast into despair by what we saw.

This is not an experience suffered by an unfortunate few but an experience which can be said to be almost universal. There are sunny days and dark days for us all. There are times when significance has appeared to depart from our lives and we have been left with empty hands and a heart teeming with despair.

When we say this experience is practically universal we mean precisely that. The only perfect Man that ever lived wrestled with this problem in the Garden of Gethsemane. Every trouble that could plague a human life had come upon him. He demonstrated himself to be indeed the Son of Man, for he experienced what mankind as a whole inevitably passes through.

Centuries before Christ was born Moses had written these words: "The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms" (Deuteronomy 33:27). The man who had lived life as it should be lived had come to what appeared to be the end of the road. He commended his spirit into the hands of God, and light has been shining over the world ever since. The everlasting arms were beneath the dying Christ and above him was the glory of God.

Destiny works that way if we allow it to do so.

Heaven Losing Appeal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato:

Heaven is somewhat out of favor today as a final place of retirement. Many people are almost as appalled at the thought of going to heaven as their ancestors feared going to hell.

Why is heaven losing its appeal as an upper level spa, a last resort for the deserving?

One reason may be that it is too segregated for avant-garde tastes. The idea of dwelling forever in a community unspeckled by sin repels some people who prefer to regard themselves as more tolerant of the faults of their wayward fellow man.

Another reason heaven has fallen out of favor is the widely expressed dread that existence there would be dull, monotonous and lacking in excitement. Given the possibility of an afterlife, a considerable segment of the population would rather return to earth as a chipmunk, a polar bear—or possibly a stallion—than spend eternity flapping their wings above the fleecy clouds.

The potential flaws of heaven have been pointed out by a number of distinguished critics.

"There are people who, if they ever reach heaven, will commence at once looking for their own set," said Josh Billings.

"In heaven, all the interesting people are missing," grumbled Friedrich Nietzsche.

Yes, all in all, what heaven needs most today is a good press agent. He could counter these withering critical blasts by pointing out the charms and attractions of heaven.

Such as:

Where on earth could you find such a splendid view?

Anybody who enjoys along after-dinner speeches could have one hell of a time in heaven.

Because of its altitude, heaven is completely free of the pollen from ragweed and other plants that cause hay fever.

The rent there is reasonable and the leases never expire. There has never been a finer landlord.

You wouldn't have to walk the dog every morning and night.

What better place can you think of to go if you want to get away from it all including rock 'n' roll music?

The company needn't be everlastingly boring. You could always invite a devil to lunch during National Brotherhood Century.

You would have the pleasure of belonging to a minority guaranteed to remain nonviolent forever.

Your wife would be easier to get along with. She wouldn't have to act as family chauffeur, fix a broken vacuum cleaner, or worry about money problems.

There are no hangovers or hang-ups in heaven.

So, man, don't be in a hurry to turn your back on heaven. You may decide later—too much later—that's where you really want to go. Get on the roll call now.

What Not To Say, Now

WASHINGTON — The Women's Liberation people take themselves very seriously and well they might. It's very hard to say anything to them without getting them very mad. While I have no idea what you should say to someone in Women's Lib, here are some of the things you should not say:

"Well now that you've got your college degree, I suppose you're going to find yourself a husband."

"You ought to meet Hugh Hefner — he's your kind of guy."

"How do you like this picture of the sexy girl in a bathing suit?"

"Have you heard the latest one about the woman driver who..."

"What's the name of your hairdresser?"

"I suppose if you take this job, you'll probably become pregnant."

"You women go in the other room. We'll stay here for cigars and cognac."

"Wouldn't you hate to be married to a man who makes as much money as you do?"

"Here, let me light your cigarette for you."

"For a woman, you play very well."

My mother always did something stupid like that herself."

"There's a gal in our office who is as good at selling as any man."

"Hey look, there's a lady taxi driver!"

"We'd be happy to let you in the press box—it's just that we don't have any lavatory facilities."

"Ha, ha, ha... A woman President, that's a good one. Ho, ho, ho."

"Would you like to go out Lady's Day at the ball park?"

"The thing I like about you the best is your legs."

"I met this woman doctor the other day, at the hospital, and she really seemed to know what she was doing."

"What do you think about when you're having a baby?"

"I beg your pardon, ma'am, is the head of the house home?"

"Would you like to feel my muscle?"

"Show me a woman who really likes working and I'll show you a woman who likes other women."

"A penny for your thoughts."

"Hi, how's the better half feeling?"

"Don't feel bad, I even know men who don't understand it."

"No, sit down and join us. We have nothing important to say."

"The newspaper just arrived. Would you like the women's page?"

"Listen, I'm the first one to admit women have gotten a raw deal, but the majority of them wouldn't have it any other way."

"Meet me at the lady's entrance of the club at 5 o'clock."

Public Forum

To The Editor:

We would like to express our thanks to the people of Greenville who have so generously supported Operation Sunshine, and especially The Daily Reflector for publicizing this summer program for girls.

Our "Pounding" on May 28th was well attended and we received many staple items which will help us throughout the summer. The Jay-cettes were hostesses for the evening and we appreciated their gracious hospitality.

We are indebted to all those who have given money to help provide necessary funds to maintain this program. We especially thank the Memorial Baptist Church who are permitting us to use a house, which they own, as the "Sunshine Center."

The women of St. James Methodist Church and the Home Pride Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. Austin Britt, have cleaned and scoured the house to make it more attractive.

We are still in need of tables, lamps, an ironing board, large kitchen utensils, silverware and outdoor recreation equipment (i.e. soft balls, badminton sets, croquet, etc.). We have many women who have volunteered their talents to teach girls various crafts, but we can use additional volunteers to assist Mrs. Ingrid Wright, our director.

We feel Operation Sunshine is truly a community endeavor and shows what can be done to provide our young girls with experiences which will enrich their lives.

We are looking forward to an excellent summer with the girls, beginning June 15th. Sincerely, Ann S. Wade, (Mrs. D. C. Jr.)

A survey of 53 New York secretaries disclosed that waiting for work ranked second in time spent each

The lack of efficiency in office operations is one problem that cannot be blamed on unions, it seems. A survey of 481 members of the Administrative Management Society indicated that 93 per cent operated nonunion offices, and that only 3 per cent of the American firms and 13 per cent of the Canadian had totally organized offices.

Apparel Failures Rise In April

The fact that the rag trade is having financial difficulties — when will women decide whether they want short, medium or long skirts? — is confirmed by Dun & Bradstreet's Credit Clearing House. April failures in retail, wholesale and manufacturing apparel companies number 75, compared with 55 in April 1969, and liabilities rose from $5 million to $12 million.

Only 3 Wanapum Indians Alive Today

By BILL HILL
The Everett Herald
VANTAGE, Wash. (AP) — The Wanapum Indian tribe was a vanishing people by the time the Lewis and Clark expedition arrived on the Columbia River shortly after the turn of the century.

Tribe members numbered fewer than 2,500 in 1805, and today only three Wanapums survive.

The Wanapums camped for many centuries on the bank of the Columbia near Priest Rapids and they also maintained burial grounds nearby.

Unlike virtually all other tribes, the Wanapums never warred against the white frontiersmen who came to settle the Pacific Northwest. As a result, the tribe never signed a treaty with the government and have never been entitled to rights granted other tribes by treaties; nor do they have reservations, or receive federal allotments.

Wanapum legends tell of the great Columbia River, of a time when the "air was filled with fire and ashes." Another relates how water overran the land.

and still another tells how "the wind came with talons that tore the earth and crushed the forgetful ones."

During the summer months the Wanapums ranged as far north as Soap Lake to gather skokkol, the bulb root that grows in that area. In winter the tribe lived in mat houses built of tules. A few Wanapums still wintered in the huts at Priest Rapids as late as 1952.

Whate Island, now inundated by waters from Priest Rapids Dam, once was covered with some 125 rocks containing Wanapum carvings and paintings depicting hunters, bear paws, sunbursts, deer and circles. Before the island was flooded, Grant County Public Utility District employed the surviving Wanapums to locate the pictures, interspersed among the thousands of boulders. The pictures were marked on a map, numbered and photographed so a record of the past would be preserved.

Recognizing the Wanapums' deep-seated attachment for their river home, the Grant County P. U. D. assisted the remaining tribe in making a transition from the old era to a new one.

Besides providing jobs on the Priest Rapids project, the displaced Wanapums were furnished homes formerly occupied by operators of a small power plant at the Priest Rapids site.

Seven members of the trainable class at E. B. Aycock Junior High School graduated Tuesday morning.

Those receiving diplomas, presented by E. B. Aycock principal, John Jones, were Gerald Dunn, Val Latham, Jimmy Munford, Vickie Riggs, and Debra Sermons, all of Greenville; Ed Everette of Fountain, and Carol Hart of Ayden.

These students have completed 12 years of study in the class. Gerald and Jimmy will enter the Sheltered Workshop in the fall, while the other five will return to Aycock for more academic work. Their teachers have been Miss Helen Sermons and her assistant, Mrs. Nan Smith.

About 75 people — parents, other relatives, and friends of the graduates attended the affair, which was held in the Special Education department of the school.

Thomas Kuchel in his losing bid for renomination. Insiders at HEW soon came to realize that Finch's views were less liberal than those of his handpicked subordinates, including Veneman.

Constitutionally, Finch was not the man to hoist the flag of rebellion in inner Administration circles. His aides were startled and chagrined to find that in the crunch he tended to end his battles as a yes man, not only to the President but to the President's aides.

What made this characteristic politically fatal to Finch in the long run was his tendency to take an aggressively liberal line in public while he was retreating in private. This was mitigated by the fact that even Finch, close as he was to Mr. Nixon, could not be sure where the Administration was going, further complicating the ambiguity of his position.

When Finch told newsmen during the 1968 campaign that a Nixon administration would conciliate the young, the black, and the poor, he sincerely believed it. When he made declarative statements that there would be no retreat on school integration, he sincerely believed it. But when the Administration went in opposite directions, he simply went along for the ride.

NEW YORK (UPI)—"World's greatest" is a superlative that often comes cheap. But when applied to the unique jazz band put together by Dick Gibson, many will say the title is deserved.

What could be so great about "The World's Greatest Jazz Band?" a couple of hearings—if you're a jazz buff—tend to allay any doubts. For its members are some of the finest musicians of the pre-rock era. Gibson—a business tycoon who for four straight years

HIGHS AND LOWS
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — There is a difference of 3,888 feet in the elevation between the highest and lowest points in Kentucky.

Big Black Mountain, 4,145 feet, is the high point, and a spot along the Mississippi River in Hickman County, 257 feet, is the low.

William of Normandy was also known as William the Conqueror.

made Aspen, Colo., a jazz center rivaling Newport, R.I.—is chief architect of the group. He put it together largely at his own expense with the loving hands of a man who lives and breathes jazz, a frustrated musician with the ear to know what he is doing and the money with which to do it.

Gibson makes no bones about it. He is attempting to revive a musical art form that has been drowned out by what he calls the "noise" music produced by the rock generation.

"I'm very certain it's the world's greatest jazz band. I don't say it is the world's greatest 'possible' jazz band because I don't know what that would be," Gibson explained.

"And jazz being such a fiercely ideological little art form, I can't have everybody." Hearing and seeing such famous sidemen in person evokes a degree of admiration for Gibson and a touch of disbelief that all these men could be formed into a live, workable group. In the big ensemble you have such virtuosos as Ralph Sutton on Piano, Bob Wilber on alto sax, Lou McGarity and Vic Dickenson on trombone, Gus Johnson on drums, Bob Haggart on bass, Bud Freeman on tenor sax, and Yank Lawson and Billy Butterfield on trumpet.

Butterfield "is probably the best trumpet player in the world," Gibson said in an interview. "Billy's a genius. I'm almost certain he's the world's greatest trumpet player." Butterfield's rendition of Hoagy Carmichael's "Stardust" sold over four million records back in 1938. He was only 22 then; Gibson was 13.

Dickson is the "mainstay" of the band. "Vic plays with such wit, such humor," Gibson said. Dickenson also writes and arranges for the group with his new son, "Constantly," heading the list for the band's first big recording on the Atlantic label, soon to be released. Art Hoge, Johnny Mercer and Gordon Jenkins, to name a few, also write for the group.

Two other combos, which play between sets, include such stars as Dave McKenna or Hank Jones on piano, Jack Lesberg on bass, Cliff Leeman on drums, Bennie Morton on trombone, and Buck Clayton on trumpet or Bobbie Hackett on coronet.

Peterson received his education from North Carolina State University at Raleigh, the University of Georgia and Columbia University. He plans to get in some fishing and gardening now that he is retired.

—Miss Moore retired with 39 years of teaching. A total of 38 years was spent in Pitt County with 28 years of those teaching at Ayden. One year was spent in Lenoir County.

A Pitt County native, Miss Moore is a graduate of Stokes High School and East Carolina University. She has also done graduate work at ECU.

—Mrs. Smith, retiring with 35 years of teaching, is a native of Snow Hill. She received her A.B. degree from ECU and has done graduate work at ECU.

Mrs. Smith taught for 30 years in the Martin County school system and five years in the Pitt County schools.

A native of Tarboro, Miss King served as principal of Sallie Branch Elementary School for 27 years. After that time, she taught for three years at W.H. Robinson School and for one year at Pactolus Elementary.

Miss King plans to spend most of her time in Miami, Fla., with her retired sister.

—Mrs. Jones, a native of Pitt County, has taught in the public schools for 41 years. She taught at Ayden Elementary School for 23 years, Johnston County schools for three years, Granville County for one year, Tyrrell County for three years, and Craven County for 11 years.

Mrs. Jones received her B.S. degree from Western Carolina University and has done graduate work at ECU and N.C. State University.

A teacher in the Pitt County schools for 37 years, Mrs. Hall received her education from Columbian Heights High School, Winston-Salem, and Elizabeth City State Teachers College. She is a native of Greenville. —Mrs. Brinkley, a native of Falkland, has taught in the Falkland area for the past 37 years. She attended State Teachers College at Elizabeth City and received her B.S. and M.S. degrees from A and T State University.

Mrs. Brinkley is married to Robert L. Brinkley and they reside at 1602 W. Sixth St., Greenville.

A teacher in the Pitt County schools for 40 years, Miss Exum attended high school at Livingstone College and the Normal School in Winston-Salem. She received her B.S. degree from A and T State University at Greensboro and has done further study at Columbia Normal University, York City, N.Y.

ive of Farmville, Miss Exum taught at the H.B. Sugg School for 38 years and at Sam D. Bundy for two years.

—Retiring after 41 years of teaching, Mrs. Riddick is a native of Bethel.

She taught in Hamlet for 27 years, Robersonville for two, Fremont for four, Chicod for five, and Belvoir for three years.

The wife of J.G. Riddick, Mrs. Riddick received her A.B. degree from East Carolina University.

—Miss Ligon received her high school and college education at Shaw University where she was awarded the B.S. degree.

A native of Farmville, Miss Ligon taught in the H.B. Sugg School for 35 years.

—Miss Sumrell, a graduate of Ayden High School and East Carolina University, taught school for a total of 45 years.

Budget . . .

$2,000 requests noted for two two-ton long-wheel chassis flat beds and for a pick-up truck, respectively.

Answering questions about the system of garbage collection in the city, Hagerty and Beatty noted that it has been found to be more efficient and more satisfactory to customers to stay with the three times weekly pickup, and to maintain the back-yard pickup point. In this regard, it was stated, several towns in the area using front-yard on-curb system were dissatisfied with this method of collecting, and had reported serious problems in using this method.

—Cemetery Department, the final one discussed in the Public Works Department, has a salary item of $20,175. General supplies for this department are tabbed at $700.

Moving into the special appropriation section of the budget, many of the items are standard support ones which change little from year to year.

These items are:
—Sheppard Memorial Library, $82,732.00. East Carolina (Greenville) Art Center, $3,000. N. C. National Guard, $600. Pitt County Health Department, $2,500. (This item is basically for the dog program). Pitt County Civil Defense, $500.00. One new program was added based on approval earlier at a City Council meeting, a $1,500.00 appropriation for the Pitt Greenville Council of the Aging.

Contingency funds cover several items — purchase of land for recreation, $18,000; a 25 percent cost of the community building at Moyewood, $20,000; a project to waterproof City Hall, $8,004.00; and $5,000.00 as a four month portion of a $15,000 city annual share of a total $45,000.00 annual community facilities service.

This last amount, ($5,000.), the city manager explained, is earmarked to be used in event the planned adult education program, with two thirds of the cost picked up by the federal government and one-third by the city, is put into action. Such a program would be planned and operated by East Carolina University with no cost to the university.

Following this first round of preliminary budget planning, the city manager, the mayor and councilmen will meet June 17 to conduct a second review. This second review will give them an opportunity to study the budget as a whole, rather than individually by departments.

A general contingency fund which would be based on one percent of the total budget is also to be considered in later rounds of budget planning.

Hopes Treaty Will Aid Herring Catch

RALEIGH (AP) — Dr. Thomas Linton, North Carolina's commissioner of commercial and sports fisheries, said Thursday that under a treaty signed last week in Washington, Polish fishing vessels will not fish within 50 miles of the Tar Heel coast. Linton said the agreement will keep the Poles from further depleting some species of fish. The fisheries commissioner told a news conference that foreign fishing fleets are suspected of being responsible for a drop from 16 million to eight million pounds in the herring catch from the Chowan River this year. He said the reduction was an economic loss of at least $6 million to the state. "Fishing vessels from Poland, Russia, South Korea and Japan are off our coast," Linton said. "The Polish government denies that its fishermen are interested in river herring, so it looks like the Russians are responsible" for the big drop. "This treaty is a very important consideration, because we believe it will provide us considerable leverage when we enter negotiations with Russia later this year," Linton said.

Scout Earns No Injuries Eagle Award

A traffic accident here yesterday morning at the intersection of East Ninth and Lawrence Streets left two vehicles damaged and charges preferred against one driver by Greenville police. Police said that the mishap involved cars driven by Jennings Hill Patton Jr. of 1209 Ragsdale Road and Lillie Mae Simmons of Rt. 4, Clinton. Damage was estimated at $275 to the Patton automobile and $175 to the Simmons car. Investigators, who reported no injuries, charged Lillie Mae Simmons with failing to keep a proper look out while backing. An accident this morning at 6:15 on West 14th Street near the South Pitt intersection resulted in no injuries but vehicle damage and charges by local police. The mishap involved a car driven by John Cotton Cannon of Rt. 1, Winterville and a parked vehicle owned by Curtis Lee Best of 1114 West Third Street. Police reports said that Cannon was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made safely. Damage was estimated at $375 to the parked vehicle and $50 to the Cannon car.

Don Howard of Scout Troop 205 was presented his Eagle Scout rank last Sunday by Pitt District vice chairman, Frank Saunders, and scoutmaster, Harry Billica during ceremonies at Memorial Baptist Church. Howard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse R. Howard of Greenville, currently serves in a junior leadership position in the troop. His earning of Eagle Scout honors marks the third time a member of the Howard family has been presented the Eagle rank. Howard's brothers, Ray and David, also earned the award while members of Troop 205. Troop 205 is sponsored by Memorial Baptist.

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces have lost more men in the five weeks since the Cambodian offensive began than in any similar period in the Vietnam war, and U.S. battle deaths for the same five weeks are the highest in 10 months. Weekly casualty figures compiled from May 3 through last Saturday list 3,326 government troops killed in action and 8,500 wounded in both Cambodia and South Vietnam. U.S. losses in both countries in that time were 811 killed and 4,970 wounded. The allies claim to have killed 17,952 enemy in that same period—more than 10,000 in Cambodia—but the methods of gathering these figures are often challenged. The previous record for South Vietnamese battle deaths for any five-week period was during the enemy's nationwide Tet offensive. That was in 1968, and from late January through most of February 3,158 government troops died. The last time Americans suffered greater battle casualties was in a five-week period from late last July through August when 854 were killed and 6,029 wounded during an enemy high point.

Gene Tunney's Daughter To Mental Hospital

LONDON (AP) — The daughter of former world heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney was committed to a mental hospital today after admitting she bludgeoned her husband to death last Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Joan Tunney Wilkinson, 30, had pleaded guilty to manslaughter on the grounds of diminished responsibility in the death of her 31-year-old husband, Lynn Carter Wilkinson, in their rented cottage. The Old Bailey criminal court here was told by a psychiatrist that Mrs. Wilkinson had suffered from schizophrenia for nine years and there was a real danger of her committing further unprovoked homicidal attacks.

Humphrey In Senate Race Man Killed By Tornado

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, a political power in Minnesota for 25 years, hits the comeback trail Saturday with an announcement that he is a candidate for the U.S. Senate. Humphrey, 59, will follow up the announcement with a news conference Sunday afternoon at his lakeside home in Waverly. He will seek the seat now held by Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a fellow Democrat who has announced he will not seek re-election. Humphrey is counting on endorsement without opposition at the state Democratic party convention June 26-28. His opponent in November will be Republican Rep. Clark MacGregor, a 10-year congressman with close ties to the Nixon administration. MacGregor, 48, is opposed for his party's endorsement at the state GOP convention next week. The Vietnam war is likely to be a major issue of the Minnesota campaign.

Chlorine Plug In Pool Blew Out

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A safety plug blew out of a chlorine tank at a Charlotte swim club Thursday, causing four children to be hospitalized for observation. Nineteen other youths were treated at a hospital and released. The tank at Sardis Swim Club had a leak which caused the blow-out, county police said. Police added that when the pool area was being evacuated, several swimmers ran through gas-filled areas.

Interior Design Works Exhibited

Works in interior design by Richard Klingman, senior in the School of Art at East Carolina University, will be exhibited in a show June 14-20 at the Baptist Student Center here. Klingman, of Indianapolis, Ind., formerly of Raleigh, was top award winner in student competition of the Southeastern Division of the National Society of Interior Design this Spring at Columbia, S. C. He will be graduated from ECU this summer.

House Approves Safeguard Sums

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rejecting a last-ditch attempt to kill the Safeguard antimissile system, the House has passed a $1.99 billion military construction appropriation. Approved 308 to 57 Thursday and sent to the Senate, the measure includes $365.8 million for Safeguard development, construction and housing. But an effort by Rep. Sidney R. Yates, D-Ill., to eliminate most of the Safeguard funds was defeated 98 to 26.

Sees No Losses Vacation Bible In Conservation School To Begin

GREENSBORO (AP) — State Director of Conservation and Development Roy Sowers Jr. says he does not believe new industry will bypass North Carolina because of the Scott administration's concern with conservation. "I do not believe that today's industrial leaders have that kind of callous disregard for the value of a healthy environment," Sowers said Thursday night to the Home Builders Association of Greensboro. Sowers said that during the first year of the Scott administration, 1969, a record-breaking $682.5 million was invested by industry in new or expanded plants in the state.

Vacation Bible School will be held at the Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church June 15-19. Classes will begin at 8:30 a.m. and be dismissed at 11:30 a.m. Classes for infants through early teen will be provided. Bible study, crafts and music will be offered. The Vacation Bible School will conclude Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. with a cook out and program at the church.

N.C. Peach Crop Harvest Begun

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Crop Reporting Service says Sandhills harvesting has already begun on a 1970 peach crop estimated at 46 million pounds. The service said this would be down 18 per cent from the 56 million pounds produced last year and 41 per cent below the 1968 crop of 78 million pounds.

Planters Hands Dairy Loss; Builders Win

Planters Bank handed Carolina Dairy its first loss in the Babe Ruth League last night, 8-5. In the other game, Home Builders defeated State Bank, 3-0.

Carolina Dairy still leads the league with a 4-1 record, while Home Builders is 3-1. Planters holds a 4-2 mark, followed by Pepsi-Cola, 3-2, College View, 1-3, and State Bank, 0-6.

In the opener, it remained a scoreless deadlock until the fourth inning, when Home Builders pushed over two runs. Bill Lee singled and stole second. Harding Sugg moved him to third with a hit, and then he stole second. Jeff Daniels drove in both runners with a triple.

The other Home Builders run came in the sixth inning as Lee connected for a home run.

Sugg, in tossing the victory, allowed only four hits in getting the shutout. He struck out six and walked three.

Roy Hudson picked up two of the hits for State Bank, while Lee had two to pace Home Builders.

Planters came up with three runs in the top of the first inning. Robert Brinkley walked and Tony Phelps reached on a fielder's choice. Stanley Cobb brought in all three runs with a homer.

Carolina Dairy fought back and came up with two in the bottom of the first. David Clifton walked and stole second. A wild pitch moved him to third, and he scored on an error on the play.

Mike Parker reached on a fielder's choice, and an error on an attempted pickoff let him come all the way around.

In the second, Planters added another run. David Prewett walked and Jim Wilson singled. A walk to Brinkley loaded the bases, and another to Phelps forced Prewett over.

Planters added another in the fourth. Phelps doubled and scored on an error on Mike Wallace's single, making it 5-2.

In the fifth, Planters picked up another. Herb Wilkerson walked and stole second. Jim Wilson walked, and a single by Greg Jester scored Wilkerson.

Carolina Dairy put on a small rally in the sixth, coming up with a pair of runs. J.C. Daniels started it off with a homer.

Parker reached on an error and moved to third when Seth Jones reached on a third-strike error.

A passed ball let Parker score.

In the top of the seventh, Planters added two more runs. Prewett walked and was safe at second on an error. The miscue allowed him to come the rest of the way. Brinkley singled, stole second, came to third on a passed ball, and scored on an error.

The final Carolina Dairy run came in the seventh. Ed Holland walked, moved to third on a passed ball, and scored on another.

No one on either team had more than one hit, as Carolina Dairy collected only two.

Ladies Tie Is Reduced To Two

The Little Mint knocked Foodmart out of the three-way tie for first place in the Ladies Softball League with a 14-11 victory last night. National Products Co. remained tied with Little Mint by taking a 7-3 win over Coca-Cola. In the other game, Bob's Atlantic beat Wachovia, 5-2.

The Little Mint and NPC both post 6-1 records, while Foodmart is now 5-2. Bob's is 3-4, followed by Wachovia, 1-6, and Coke, 0-7.

In the opener, Coke pushed over two runs in the second to take the lead, then came up with another in the fourth, making it 3-0. But in the bottom of the fourth, a three-run homer by Carolyn Hardee tied it up for NPC.

Then, in the fifth, NPC picked up three more runs, then added another in the sixth to pick up the victory.

Bob's pushed out into the lead in the first inning of its game. Wachovia game up with one to tie it up in the top of the fourth, but Bob's gained a pair of runs in the fourth to lead 3-1. Wachovia scored again in the sixth, but Bob's added two more in the sixth to close out the scoring.

The Little Mint pushed over four runs in the top of the second to take the lead in its game. Foodmart came up with three in the bottom of the second, then tied it up with one in the third. The Little Mint added two more in the fourth, and then scored again in the fifth to lead 7-4. Foodmart managed another run in the fifth, but the Little Mint added four in the sixth and two more in the seventh to run out to a 14-5 lead. Foodmart tried to rally in the bottom of the seventh, but could only come up with five runs, three short of getting back in the game.

Trinity And Oakmont Win

Trinity and Oakmont picked up victories in the Church Softball League last night. Trinity downed Meadowbrook, 4-2, while Oakmont upset Black Jack, 10-8.

St. James leads the American Division of the league with a 9-1 record, while Presbyterian is in second place with a 7-5 mark. They are followed by Trinity, 6-5, Meadowbrook, 5-6, Gum Swamp, 4-6, and Christian, 1-11.

In the National Division, Grace leads with an 8-2 record, while Black Jack is now 6-5. Immanuel and Oakmont are both 6-6, followed by Mt. Pleasant, 4-5, and Piney Grove, 4-8.

In the opener, Trinity got all it needed in the first inning of the game, pushing over all four runs. They used two hits and three errors to take advantage of the situation to win it.

Meadowbrook tried to struggle back, scoring once in the third and again in the fourth.

Wayne Nelson, Victor Wade and Carson Heath each had two hits for Meadowbrook, while Kenneth Manning had two to lead Trinity.

In the second game, Oakmont pushed over one run in the second, but Black Jack came back with two in the bottom of the frame to take the lead. Oakmont came back with two in the fourth, but Black Jack scored once to leave it deadlocked at 3-3.

In the bottom of the fifth, Black Jack came up with five runs, including a homer by S. Peele, to move out into an 8-3 lead. But Oakmont rallied to score five in the top of the seventh, including a homer by Hardee, and that sent it into extra innings.

Finally, in the ninth, Randall banged out a two-run homer, giving Oakmont the victory.

Randall led the Oakmont hitting with three, while Carraway and Parrott had two each. B. Elks had three for Black Jack, while H. Hardee, Peele, and Dixon each had two.

Graniteers Roll By Moose, Increase Lead

The Graniteers rolled to a 12-4 victory over the Moose yesterday, and pushed out into a two-game lead in the Tar Heel Little League.

The Graniteers now post a 9-1 record, while the Moose fall off to a 7-3 mark, tied with Pepsi-Cola for second. The Exchange is 3-6, while the Elks, 2-7, and Integon, 1-8, have both been eliminated from a chance at the title.

The Moose pushed into the lead in the game in the first inning. Greg Sasser singled and Keith Jones was hit by a pitch. Both advanced on a wild pitch, and Paul Famer singled, loading the bases. Ross Hawkins walked to force in Sasser, and a wild pitch let Jones score for a 2-0 lead.

In the second, the Graniteers came back to tie it up. Jay Chenier doubled and Steve Manning walked. Chris Moyer reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Howard Vainright then singled, driving in both Chenier and Manning.

In the third, the Moose scored again and returned to the lead. Jones singled, moved up on a wild pitch and Hawkins walked. Mike Weston singled him in.

But in the top of the fifth, the Graniteers came back with three runs to take the lead for good. Joel Clark singled and Kyle Wills reached on an error. Chenier doubled to drive in Clark, and Wills came home on an error. Manning then sacrificed Chenier over for a 5-3 lead.

The Moose tried to come back in the bottom of the fifth, scoring once. Farmer doubled and took third on a wild pitch. He scored on Weston's sacrifice fly.

In the sixth, the Graniteers added seven more to turn it into a rout. James Weeks walked and moved up on a sacrifice by Vainright. Jim Wilkerson reached on an error, and Macon Moyer on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Clark singled in Weeks, and Wills reached on an error, scoring Wilkerson.

Moyer also came home on another error on the play. Chenier singled to score Clark, and Manning slapped a three-run homer to end the scoring.

Graniteers 12-4
Moose 4-6

Jaycees Slug Kiwanis, 7-4

The Jaycees handed the Kiwanis their second loss in the last three games yesterday, 7-4, in the North State Little League.

The Kiwanis are still on top however with an 8-2 record. They are followed by R.C. Cola, 6-3, the Jaycees, 5-5, Coca-Cola, 4-5, the Lions 3-6, and the Optimists, 2-7.

The Jaycees took the lead in the second inning, scoring three runs. Drew Taylor led off with a single, and a wild pitch and a passed ball advanced him to third. Robert Walters walked and Mel Boyd completed things with a three-run homer.

The Kiwanis broke the scoring ice in the bottom of the second, as Ed Mayo hit a solo homer to cut the lead to 3-1.

Another homer in the third pushed the Jaycee lead to 5-1. Kenneth Avery led off with a single and Wayne Miller capped the frame with a homer.

In the bottom of the fourth, the Kiwanis scored their second run. David Middleton reached on an error, and came the rest of the way on an error on Clayton Brock's grounder.

In the fifth, the Jaycees added their final two runs. Taylor singled and this time Curtis Lee provided the homer power, making it 7-2.

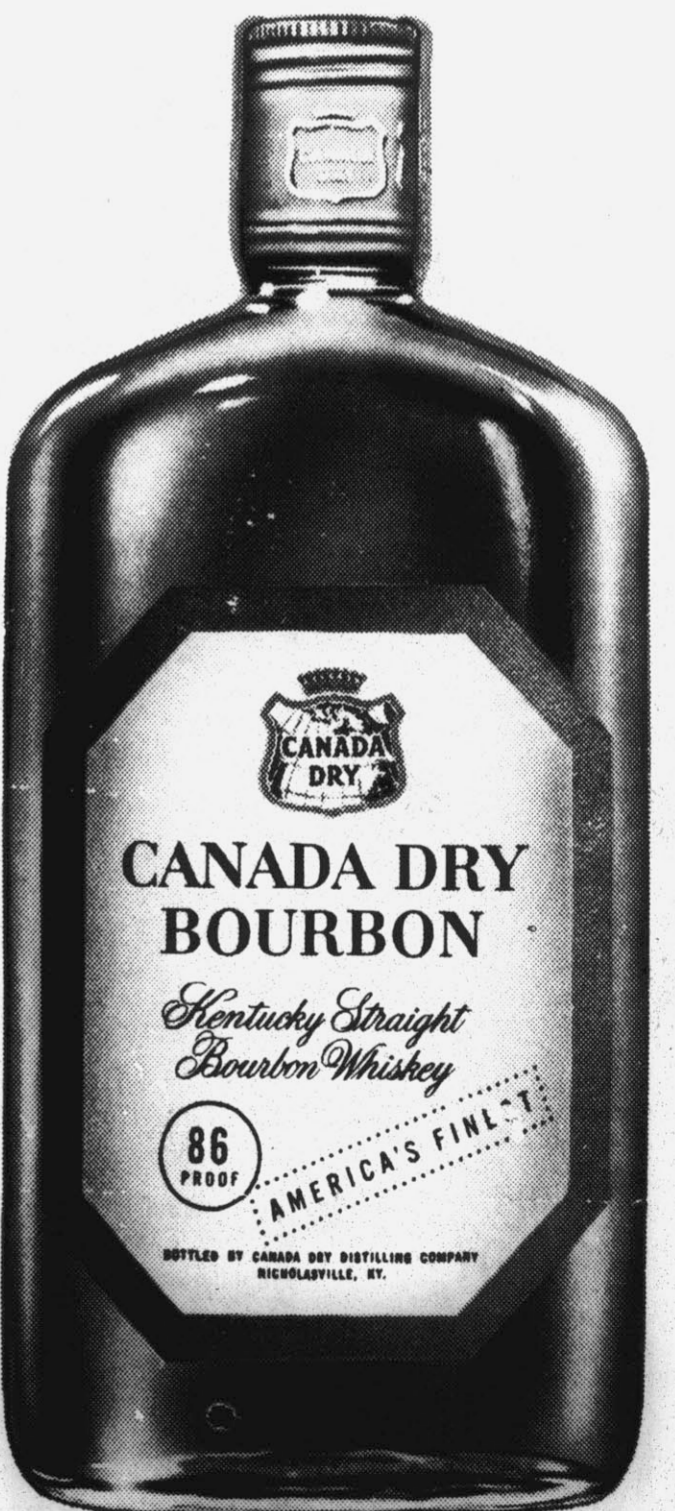

The Kiwanis managed two more in the sixth. Mike Langley doubled and Kelly Heath singled. Chuck Ellis reached on an error, scoring both runners.

Reid Holds Western Lead After One Round

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Steve Reid, a six-year circuit player with only one major victory, had a "mystery" grip on first-place as the $130,000 Western Open Golf Tournament entered its second day today.

Reid, 33, fired a paradoxical 30-36—66 round over Beverly Country Club's par 36-35—71 tightly-wooded acres yesterday for a one-stroke lead over a congested flock of eight runnersup deadlocked at 67.

Reid, who has earned only $11,000 this year and scored his only PGA triumph in the 1968 Azalea Open, attributed his five-under-par triumph to a change in his club grip and mechanics of his swing before the 1970 tour began.

"I can't explain the grip change I made, but it has changed my game," said Reid. "But it apparently is paying off, even though I was playing so poorly two months ago, I almost switched back to my old style of gripping the club."

Reid didn't say whether his newfound grip applied to his putter.

But it was a devastating touch on the greens that gave Reid his six-under-par 30 first nine after he opened on the flipflop start, with a one-over-par 36 on Beverly's back nine.

Reid trickled home six birdie putts of 40, 20, 15, 12, 9 and 8 feet, as he sneaked in one stroke ahead of such 67 shooters as Arnie Palmer, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Charles, Johnny Pott, Dick Lotz, Bobby Nichols, Tommy Jacobs and Hugh Royer.

In a 26-player logjam at 72, six strokes off the pace, was pre-tournament favorite Jack Nicklaus, who commented: "On this kind of course, you can open with a 72 and still be a contender."

Nicklaus blamed his one-over-par round on "pulling the wrong clubs out of the bag—I just played 13 of 14 holes the wrong way and didn't putt well at all."

Palmer, again drawing a huge "Arnie's Army" gallery, seemed ready for a strong run at the $26,000 top prize. Rallying from a startling four-putt second green, Palmer wound up with five birdies and an impressive nine one-putt greens with his 34-33 round.

After today's second round, the 150-player field will be cut to the low 70s scorers and ties for the final two rounds.

Reid, playing his 20th tourney of the year, had his best 1970 finish with sixth in last week's Kemper Open.

"After finishing one-over-par in my first round, I had as much confidence in my putter as I did in my being able to fly," said Reid. "But when I sank that 15-footer on the second hole of the last nine, my putter simply got red hot."

Hands Finds Runs And Double Plays Pitcher's Best Friend In Cub Victory

By HERSHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
If runs and double plays are a pitcher's best friends, Bill Hands of the Chicago Cubs isn't lacking for companionship this season.

The right-hander, who won 20 games and was one of the few bright spots in the Cubs' stretch collapse last year, got some of each Thursday night in turning back the San Diego Padres 7-1 and boosting his record to 8-4.

The double plays cropped up when Hands needed them most. The Padres had tied the score 1-1 in the last of the first and had the bases loaded, but Hands induced Ivan Murrell to bounce into an inning-ending double play.

A single and a walk had Hands in trouble to start the second, but Jim Hickman started a snappy first-to-third-to-second twin killing on Mike Carkins' bunt and Hands fanned Dave Campbell. Then he settled down.

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal turned on Cincinnati 8-4, Los Angeles outlasted St. Louis 2-1 in 12 innings and Atlanta defeated Philadelphia 6-4.

An error and three walks gave the Cubs a run in the first and they added two more in the second off Corkins on Cleo James' single, Hands' sacrifice, Glenn Beckert's run-scoring single and Billy Williams' RBI double.

Hands hit a sacrifice fly in the third and Jim Hickman hammered his 14th homer in the sixth following a Williams single. The Cubs got their final run in the seventh on doubles by James and Paul Popovich.

Hands scattered six hits, struck out one batter in each of the first eight innings and snapped a personal two-game losing streak.

The difference between this year and last, when Hands got off to a 5-5 start, is the runs the Cubs are scoring for him.

"All these runs being scored for me this year should be a good omen. I've always been a notoriously slow starter. And I have had a few mediocre performances that have turned out well because of the strong support."

Maury Wills opened the Dodgers' 12th with a single, took second on Frank Linzy's wild pitch and scored the winning run on a double by Willie Davis to topple the Cardinals.

Starters Don Sutton of Los Angeles and Steve Carlton of St. Louis battled through 10 innings locked in a 1-1 tie. The Cards scored in the fourth on singles by Richie Allen and Joe Torre and Joe Hague's sacrifice fly and the Dodgers tied it up in their half of the inning on Manny Mota's second homer of the season.

The Expos rocked 11-game winner Jim Merritt for five runs in the first inning and stopped the Reds' latest winning streak at five games, handing the left-hander his fourth setback.

Don Hahn and Rusty Staub started the onslaught with doubles and Adolfo Phillips and Coco Laboy singled before John Bateman unloaded his fourth home run, a three-run shot.

Aided by homers from the bats of Tony Perez, No. 22, and Johnny Bench, No. 19, the Reds chipped away at Carl Morton, 6-3, and got to within 5-4 but Bob Bailey belted a two-run pinch homer in the sixth to put the game out of reach.

Old Hoyt Wilhelm choked a seventh-inning Philadelphia rally with a double play pitch that helped the Braves beat the Phillies.

Wilhelm, who'll be 47 next month, came on with one out, the bases loaded, a 3-0 count on Tony Taylor and the Braves leading 6-1. He completed the walk to Taylor, forcing in one run, and then walked Oscar Gamble, pushing another across. He then went to a 3-2 count on Ron Stone before getting him to hit into a double play.

Hylton Does Well In Races

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP)—How would you fare as an individual going against the gargantuan corporations Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and American Motors?

James Hylton, a Southern driving stock cars in grand championship races, does quite well, thank you. He figures to be one to the top competitors Sunday at the Falstaff 400 at Riverside International Raceway.

While other top drivers work on the manufacturers' teams, Hylton works as an individual, not particularly by choice but because that's what opportunity has offered.

He drove a 1969 Ford to victory in this year's Virginia 500 and a Chevrolet Camaro to first place in the Citrus 250 at Daytona Beach, taking over the latter, when a friend asked him and "because I needed a ride."

His back-up car is a Dodge. Hylton, 34, started on the stock car circuit as an independent in 1966 and has never been on a company team.

He had $12,000, invested in a car, a truck and some spare parts. From that beginning, he has advanced to having a racing shop at Inman, S. C., with five stalls, a two truck, up-to-date equipment, his racing Ford and his back-up Dodge.

James and it is not Jim, last year grossed about $114,000, a profit since he figures it cost him $80,000 to operate. He's the only driver on a team that includes a crew chief and a helper.

"Horace Smith is the chief mechanic. He worked on David Pearson's car last year and he has a primary responsibility. An we have Jerry Bear as an all around helper," explains Hylton.

"We haven't lost a Ford engine this year which shows how good they are."

It also indicates the driving ability of the 5-foot-10, 160-pounder who figures he was too small for sports in high school at Roanoke, Va.

Hylton made his professional debut in stock cars at Riverside in 1966. He had been racing locally in the Southeast and in 1964 competed in one major race only to fill out a field.

"I just ran until the first pit stop and then quit," he said in explaining his job that day.

It's different now. He has to do well to eat well. With a wife and youngster, it's up to him to earn the money to keep his independent auto racing activities in the black.

"I want to race, I always have," says Hylton. "The only way I can do it is to sponsor myself. I don't say this is what I've wanted, but it's the way things are. The factory sponsored drivers don't have to worry about the cost of engines and spare parts and all of that. I do."

"As an independent, I have to be more careful. We can't replace things overnight so the object is to keep everything going."

Northrup's Slam Axes Milwaukee

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
It's been a long time between grand slam homers for Jim Northrup but the slugging center fielder of the Detroit Tigers might have started something with his big blow against Milwaukee.

Northrup ripped his eighth career grand slam Thursday night, snapping a 2-2 tie and sending the Tigers to a 6-2 triumph over Milwaukee. The blow came off left-hander John O'Donoghue, who entered the game just to pitch to the lefty swinging Northrup.

In the only other scheduled American League games, Baltimore crushed California 9-1 and Cleveland nipped Oakland 6-5 in 10 innings. The Washington at Kansas City contest was called by rain.

The 30-year-old Northrup, in his sixth major league campaign, last clouted a grand slam in 1968 when he ripped four in regular season play and added another in the sixth game of the World Series against St. Louis.

With Detroit's triumph Thursday night, the Tigers went over the 500 mark with a 27-26 record and remained nine games behind East Division leading Baltimore, riding to their third straight victory.

And if Northrup's clout is an omen—the Tigers were the world champions in 1968 but finished second last year when the 6-foot-2, 190-pounder was blanked in the grand slam department. Also, Danny McLain, Detroit's ace right-hander returns for action in less than three weeks.

The two-time Cy Young award winner, coming off a half-season suspension, is scheduled to start against the New York Yankees on July 1.

Northrup, now batting .283 with eight homers and 31 RBI, helped the Tigers tie the game at 2-2 in the seventh when he scored after walking and moving to second on a sacrifice. He came home on loser Gene Bamber's wild pickoff attempt at second.

Winner Joe Niekro, 6-5, scattered seven hits but needed ninth inning relief help before Milwaukee was subdued.

The Orioles slammed four homers, including a three-run shot by Dave Johnson and got two-hit pitching from Mike Cuellar in stopping the Angels.

Merv Rettenmund, Frank Robinson and Boog Powell also ripped round-trippers for the Orioles. It was Powell's 17th of the season, giving him the AL lead. Cuellar, 7-4, issued a first inning double to Jarvis Tatum and a single by Sandy Alomar in the third.

Chuck Hinton clubbed a two-run pinch homer in the ninth to tie the score and rookie Roy Foster slammed another two-run blow to give the Indians their victory. Jack Heideman and Eddie Leon also crashed homers for Cleveland. Felipe Alou and Joe Rudi drilled solo blows for the A's.

Firemen End 'Sick Call'

ROANOKE RAPIDS, N. C. (AP) — Roanoke Rapids firemen canceled a sick-call strike Thursday, and returned to work after the city promised efforts to alleviate some of their grievances.

City Manager O. B. Stokes said a seven-man shift which called in sick Thursday morning returned to work in the late afternoon after a meeting with city officials.

The firemen had been told by the city that any who did not report by 5 p.m. or send a note from a physician would not be paid. The city also said that "at the end of a short but reasonable time" those who had not reported would be replaced.

Stokes said the firemen returned after he agreed to try to get them the same number of holidays as other city employees. He said the firemen presently get three or four holidays, compared with seven for other workers.

The firemen's chief complaint had been that their pay was not equal to policemen. Stokes said the base pay for firemen is $5,364 annually, and that policemen make about 5 per cent more.

Stokes said the pay matter was not settled, noting that "the city has taken a stand on it."

Found Guilty Of Robbing Bank

CHARLOTTE (AP) — James Coley Cooke of Charlotte was convicted Thursday of robbing a Charlotte branch of North Carolina National Bank April 23, 1969.

FBI agents testified $8,549 taken in the shotgun robbery was found in his apartment. Cooke was sentenced today.

Avers N.C. Defaulters Cause Medicaid Crisis

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Social Services Commissioner Clifton Craig says because 13 counties have defaulted on June payments to the state, the Medicaid program in North Carolina is confronted with a "serious crisis."

Craig told the state Advisory Committee for Medical Assistance Thursday: "There is a movement underfoot by several county commissioners to curtail their Medicaid program, or they will refuse to supply the necessary funds."

The program calls for the federal government to bear about 74 per cent of the costs with the state and counties sharing the remainder.

The federal government's share was originally budgeted at $27 million, the state was to put up $5.4 million and the counties were expected to raise $4.6 million.

Craig said unless the 13 counties send in their share of the funds, the state Social Services Department will be unable to reimburse Medicaid participants.

"There are many doctors, dentists and druggists who will not be paid for services rendered," Craig said. "We have between 8,000 and 10,000 checks that can't be sent out."

Five of the 13 counties had told Craig's office they definitely will not be able to make the June payment. They are Columbus, Franklin, Johnson, Robeson and Sampson.

The remaining eight counties which have not yet notified the public is invited to participate in the event.

The World of HIRSCHFELD

Eric Fleming and Clint Eastwood in "Rawhide." 1963.

"The subject which turns me on is people," says Al Hirschfeld. And his response to people has been 'to engage in "the adventure of translating personality into graphic symbols." That is, caricature.

He does this so well that his subjects begin to look like his drawings of them—that is what he himself considers a successful likeness.

Hirschfeld people are certainly unmistakable, whether they are from the theater, which is Hirschfeld's favorite field, or from some other sphere in public life. Hirschfeld drawings appear regularly in The New York Times, as well as many other magazines and periodicals. His works are also included in the permanent collections of museums across the country and around the world.

The drawings on this page are among those now collected together in "The World of Hirschfeld," published by Harry N. Abrams, Inc.

The number after his name in the headline refers to the number of times the word "Nina" may be found in the drawings reproduced here. It's the name of his daughter, and it's been a game ever since she was born in 1945 for him to hide the name in his drawings—a game his followers play with enthusiasm. Can you find all the Ninas?

Worry Clinic An Example Of How It Works

Harry's case is a good example of "the proof of the pudding." Since the SMF is a charitable foundation devoted to helping produce HAPPY marriages and the restoration of half-orphaned kiddies to a normal, two-parent home again, it has been generously publicized by newspapers, radio and TV stations, church journals, Reader's Digest, etc. Pass this case along!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.C.

CASE N-524: Harry T., aged 32, operates a gas station. "Dr. Crane," he begged, "do you suppose you could introduce me to a charming girl who might be interested in marriage? For I live in a town of 900 people where all the attractive girls of my age are already married.

"My father died when I was 14, leaving, my mother with me and 6 younger brothers and sisters. "Well, I carried the Indianapolis STAR to help my mother feed and clothe the 6 young children.

"And I finished high school, I finally bought a gas station and now operate it 6 days per week. "But I must get up and be on the job by 7 a.m. every day, so I haven't time to gallivant around looking for romance.

"Since all 6 of my brothers and sisters are now out of high school, I am finally free to marry.

"For several years I have sung in the church choir and have also been Boy Scout leader in our town.

"But I'd like to have a family of my own if you could introduce me to a congenial girl. Is that possible, Dr. Crane?"

Our Scientific Marriage Foundation sent Harry a questionnaire and a list of all the clergymen Counselors in his state, so he could ask any one of them he wished for a personal interview.

His clergyman Counselor then contacted Harry's 3 character references and sent us his own glowing report of Harry's eligibility.

So the IBM machine at the Home Office of the SMF ran his card through the computer and out dropped the card of Laura, who was mentioned yesterday.

Laura was 30; Harry 32. They lived only 75 miles apart.

Both belong to the same church denomination and were youth leaders, as well as members of their church choirs.

Both had refrained from marriage out of a sense of loyalty to helpless parents who needed their assistance.

And they were both good looking, healthy and patriotic Americans, who should be married and passing along such superb attributes to a family of children for the next generation.

So the SMF gave them each other's name, urging them to write a few times till they learned enough about each other to have adequate "Conversational Ammunition" for maintaining easy dialogue when they finally met in person.

Six months later they married; now have 3 children, and are mainstays of their town, church and political party.

Up to the age of 35, the SMF actually has more doctors, lawyers, teachers, business executives, editors and scientific farmers than it has girls registered with it.

But after 45 or 50, the women begin to outnumber the men as

Stabbing Scene Was Too Real

MELBOURNE (AP) — The stabbing scene in "Julius Caesar" was just a bit too life-like, or death-like, for actor Brian Muir.

Playing the Roman emperor, Muir slumped to the stage floor after being stabbed.

"Blood" from bags hidden in his clothing flowed freely—and so did his own. His assailants had wielded their knives over-enthusiastically, wounding Brian in the arm.

"I lay there for the next 10 minutes of the scene wondering how much of the blood was mine," he said.

A tourniquet stemmed the flow sufficiently for him to continue through the next scene. Then he was rushed to the hospital where eight stitches were put in the wound.

Dead Ringer For Train Robber

BULAWAYO, Rhodesia (AP) — Australian clergyman Fredric Thomas Wright, 44, was held for five hours here by police who thought he was Great Train Robber Ronald Biggs. Wright, 6-foot-1, is the same height as Biggs and has other similar characteristics, even to a scar on the left wrist.

"I thought at first it was a joke but when the questions started I realized the whole thing was serious," Wright said. "I showed the police my passport but they said it could be a forgery. They asked me what seemed like thousands of questions which I answered to the best of my ability."

Eventually a fingerprint check cleared the clergyman, who comes from Palmwoods, Queensland. Police gave him his fingerprint chart as a souvenir and said he was a "dead ringer" for the train robber.

ANNIVERSARY WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Richard M. Nixon will celebrate the 30th anniversary of her marriage to the President on Sunday, June 21.

Series Of Revival Services To Begin

James M. Swafford will be the speaker for revival services scheduled for Sunday through Friday at the Greenville Church of Christ.

Swafford is presently the minister at the Overland Church, St. Louis, Mo., one of the largest Churches of Christ in the Midwest, and area representative for the "Herald of Truth" radio and television programs.

For the past 25 years, Swafford has been preaching for churches primarily in the Midwest and Southwest. He has 16 years of experience in radio and television ministry and has taught Bible classes in both the maximum and medium security prisons in Missouri.

Swafford is a former minister of the Greenville Church of Christ, serving here from 1967 to 1969. While in Greenville, he presented a series of radio and television programs entitled "The Old, Old Story" on WITN. The theme of Swafford's sermons will be "Christ Is The Answer," a series of lessons designed to emphasize the impact of the Christian philosophy on modern man. Services will be held nightly at 7:30 at the Greenville Church of Christ, Greenville Boulevard and Emerson Road. The public is invited to attend.

Basic Tenets Are Underlined In Southern Baptist Book Ban

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
DENVER, Colo. (AP) — In preparation for the big moment, the Rev. Gwin Turner, of Los Angeles, says he went on a four-day fast of prayer and abstinence from food. He took only water.

It calmed his nerves, he says, and made him feel "better than ever."

Then, when the time came, he made his move last week before thousands of fellow Southern Baptists. He asked them to do an unprecedented thing—to ban a book, a newly published Bible commentary. They did it.

"A victory for God and for the vast majority of Southern Baptists," he said.

But it sharply disturbed Baptist educators, sensitive to tenets of academic freedom, scholarly research, student concerns and the long-standing Baptist tradition for individual liberty of conscience and belief.

Yet it also dramatized the Baptist esteem for the Bible as a mainstay of their faith, and showed the feelings of the huge, mass-participation convention that Holy Scriptures were endangered by modern scholarly analysis.

So the Southern Baptist Convention, the country's biggest Protestant body, numbering 11.5 million members, cracked down on the Scripture-aleuthing process by a recorded ballot of 5,394 to 2,170.

They called for withdrawal of Volume I of a new Broadman Bible Commentary, being issued by the denomination's publishing arm, and the rewriting of it in "consideration of the conservative viewpoint."

This, generally, means a literalistic presentation of Old Testament episodes, some of which are viewed by experts in ancient Hebrew literature as couching truth in symbolic allegories rather than in strictly factual terms.

It was the Rev. Mr. Turner's position—in which the convention concurred—that once some Scriptural narratives are regarded as not having really occurred, "then anyone can explain away any passage he finds offensive."

In the long run, as he sees it, this would mean casting doubt on the reliability of the Bible.

However, most Bible scholars, and most other denominations, take just the opposite position—that it downgrades the Bible to reduce it to mere literal journalism, confined to historical-scientific facts and data.

It uses other, subtler methods, they maintain, to convey its profound truths.

While most modern Christians feel that a sheerly literalistic approach leaves the Bible weakened and vulnerable to attack, the presently dominant perception of Southern Baptists feels that approach is necessary to uphold the Bible's dependability.

The Rev. Mr. Turner, in spearheading the Southern Baptist stand on the issue, said he had tried to find someone else to do it, but that apparently God singled him out for the task.

A tense, grayling man, who is pastor of the First Baptist church in Mar Vista, a Los Angeles suburb, told a meeting of evangelists afterward that his fasting had produced a tranquilizing effect on him.

You've got a lot to live

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
