College Need Is Seen

CHICAGO (AP) — The Carnegie Commission on Higher Education proposed today that at least 230 community colleges be established within commuting distance of every student in the nation during the next decade.

There were 44 in North Carolina in 1968, and the commission estimates three more will be needed by 1980.

There were 21 in South Carolina in 1968. The commission sees no need for more community colleges there by 1980.

The commission, a private research organization supported primarily by the Carnegie Corp. of New York, defined a community college as a two-year public institution offering academic, general, occupational and continuing adult education.

The commission recommended that two-year colleges with living facilities be constructed to serve students in sparsely populated areas. Community colleges are the fastest growing segment of American higher education, the commission said in a report, and the number of such institutions has more than doubled in the last 10 years.

About one-third of all undergraduates, or nearly 2 million students, are enrolled at the more than 1,000 community colleges across the nation, the report said.

The commission called for guaranteed admission and low- or no-tuition policies in new public community colleges and urged that the institutions' programs be comprehensive.

A two-year community college, it said, should provide a diverse program of academic, occupational, and adult education rather than strictly specialized training.

The commission said its estimates of the needs for new community colleges within the next decade were based on the assumption that existing two-year institutions will broaden their curricula to provide comprehensive programs.

"If this should not occur," it continued, "there would be a need for some 400 to 450 new community colleges by 1980, rather than only 230 to 280."

Aycock Committee Makes Plans

The newly formed Recreation and Activities Committee for Aycock Junior High School made plans last night for a summer orientation program tentatively set for the afternoon of July 16.

Committee members are Dr. James F. Bowman, Coach James Brewington, Mrs. Alston Cheek Jr., Mrs. Tony Dawson, and principals, John Jones and Allan Murrell. Mrs. Cheek said students will probably be named later to the committee now composed of parents and faculty.

The committee hopes to plan and carry out a varied list of activities designed to help the boys and girls who will be Aycock students next year get to know one another and their community opportunities better during the vacation months. The July 16 program will be held at the Junior High School and will consist of orientation information, refreshments, a record party, and surprise entertainment, Mrs. Cheek said.

Piedmont Asks End To Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Piedmont Aviation has asked for Civil Aeronautics Board permission to stop its service to Southern Pines-Pinehurst-Aberdeen, N. C., as not profitable.

The airline asked Wednesday that, pending final CAB action on the petition, it be allowed to suspend the service immediately, on a temporary basis.

Piedmont serves the airport at the golfing resort area Oct. 1 through April 30 each year.

The airline said its two round trips a day at Southern Pines have generated fewer than three passengers per departure.

In Middle East Peace Efforts Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the United States has launched a diplomatic peace effort in the Middle East designed "to encourage the parties to stop shooting and start talking."

Rogers told a news conference the United States wants the Arab and Israeli foes to move, under United Nations auspices, "towards a just and lasting peace which takes fully into account the legitimate aspirations and concerns of all governments and peoples of the area."

The U.S. foreign affairs chief refused to go into detail on the U.S. peace proposal, but it was understood the U.S. plan calls on Egypt, Israel and Jordan for:

—A cease-fire for at least 90 days.

—A start of negotiations under auspices of U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring.

In getting into negotiations, the Mideast rivals would also have to accept the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution outline for a Mideast peace settlement.

Egypt and Jordan would have to commit themselves to the principle of peace with Israel, recognizing her right to existence within secure borders. Israel, in return, would pledge withdrawal from Arab territories she conquered in the 1967 war.

Rogers' prepared opening statement at the news conference said nothing about the administration's decision on Israel's request for more jet war planes.

Concerning the peace initiative, Rogers said: "Recent and disquieting events in the Middle East led President Nixon on April 29 to order a thorough review of all political and military aspects of the problem. That review has now been concluded."

"As a consequence of the review, the United States has undertaken a political initiative the objective of which is to encourage the parties to stop shooting and start talking under the auspices of Ambassador Jarring in accordance with the resolutions of the Security Council."

"Our objective in launching this initiative has been to encourage the parties to move towards a just and lasting peace which takes fully into account the legitimate aspirations and concerns of all governments and peoples of the area. In light of that objective, we believe it would not be useful to disclose at this time detail of the political initiatives or to discuss publicly military assistance for Israel."

"We believe that this is the time for such an initiative which we have launched directly with the parties and with other interested powers."

In Cambodian Debate Angry Charges Hurlled

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Efforts by Nixon administration backers to make the current Senate debate on Cambodia the year's major discussion of U.S. Southeast Asia policy have stirred angry charges from Democrats.

Republicans made clear Wednesday they would like to see all antiwar amendments—whether intended for this bill or others—disposed of during the current debate on the military sales bill, now in its seventh week.

It is time, assistant Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin told the Senate, to "clean up these matters and get on to other issues."

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., charged that Republicans would be guilty of "crude and cynical partisanship" if they try to bring up his amendment to halt U.S. activities in Indochina without his approval.

He says he wants it considered as an amendment to military procurement legislation to be considered later and will attempt to block any effort to consider it now.

Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., who had mentioned the possibility of such a move, said it would be neither cynical nor crude. Earlier, three Democratic senators—J.W. Fulbright of Arkansas, John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina—assailed Republican Sen. Robert J. Dole's successful move to have an amendment repealing the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution added to the military sales bill.

Administration Upholds Textile Restrictions

By DON MCLEOD WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration today announced its "reluctant" support of proposed import restrictions on textile products.

Secretary of Commerce Maurice H. Stans, said, however, that the administration does not support proposed restrictions on the importation of shoes.

Both products are covered by legislation pending in the House Ways and Means Committee. Stans appeared before the committee to announce the administration's decision on textiles.

Stans said the administration had hoped to negotiate a textile agreement with Japan, but that the talks collapsed Wednesday and that no agreement was possible.

"The need for a solution to the textile import problem is clearly apparent," Stans said, "in the absence of agreements with Japan and with other key exporting countries, it is our reluctant judgement that the only means presently available for solving this problem is the textile legislation now before this committee."

As far as shoes are concerned, Stans added, the administration believes they can be dealt with under existing law. Stans said the shoe problem could be eased if Congress preserve the integrity of the procedure."

But it carried by a vote of 81 to 10. Although the Johnson administration cited the Tonkin resolution in dispatching 500,000 troops to Vietnam, the Nixon administration says it is obsolete and irrelevant.

would relax a clause in the trade act that permits companies injured by imports to seek relief.

He said the provision is now so tightly drawn few companies can qualify for the assistance, which includes help in diversifying the product line of an injured company.

The administration's intention to endorse the proposed textile restrictions was forecast by Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., in advance of Stans' appearance before the committee.

Thurmond called the action "the finest step that could be taken to protect our textile workers."

Lowest Toll In Weeks Reported For Indochina

By RICHARD PYLE Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Eighty Americans were killed in action in Vietnam and Cambodia last week, the lowest toll in nine weeks, the U.S. Command reported today. But the number of American wounded increased sharply, from 364 the week before to 643 for the week of June 14-20.

South Vietnamese forces reported 366 of their men killed and 1,071 wounded last week, 110 fewer dead and 593 fewer wounded than the week before. The claimed toll of the enemy increased to 2,093 killed, from 2,079 the week before.

There was no explanation for the drop in allied casualties coupled with the increase in the enemy's.

Twenty of the Americans were killed in Cambodia and 255 were wounded there, the U.S. Command said. It reported U.S. casualties in Cambodian operations since April 29 now total 331 killed and 1,477 wounded.

The weekly summary raised total American casualties since Jan. 1, 1961, to 42,754 killed and 281,701 wounded, while the allies now claim a total of 652,296 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese killed in the war.

In Cambodia, meanwhile, a military spokesman in Phnom Penh reported North Vietnamese troops attacked a major military base 27 miles northwest of Phnom Penh and fighting was continuing.

The battle was three miles from Kompong Luong, site of an important ferry crossing on the Tonle Sap River and one of the links between the Cambodian capital and the country's northern provinces, many of which are now under control of the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

Joseph O. Clark Is UF Chairman

Joseph Oliver Clark of Greenville has been appointed General Campaign Chairman for the 1971 fund drive of the Pitt County United Fund Inc., UF president John B. Lewis Jr. of Farmville announced today.

Clark, 37, served as chairman of the United Fund campaign's leadership division last year. Manager of the Students Supply Stores of East Carolina University since 1962, the Greenville native is one of Pitt County's most active civic and community leaders.

"We are tremendously pleased that Joe Clark has accepted this important responsibility," Lewis said. "He deserves the gratitude and full support of everyone in Pitt County interested in the overall betterment and good of our growing community."

Clark, a former Jaycee president, said that organization for the United Fund drive and preliminary planning is in progress.

The annual United Fund drive will be conducted in October. Clark said that with proper planning and organization "We are confident of and anticipate an enthusiastic response."

Last year the Pitt County United Fund drive exceeded its fund-raising goal. It received $125,103 in contributions. The goal last year was $123,054. The Fund's Budget Committee will be meeting next month to determine needs and set an overall goal for this year's drive, Clark said.

Commissions Discuss General Neighborhood Renewal Program

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

Representatives from the Redevelopment Commission last night discussed with Planning and Zoning Commissioners studies that are being made in the General Neighborhood Renewal Program and asked them for their comments concerning a possible area to begin first-project planning.

The executive director of the Redevelopment Commission, Col. A E Dubber, pointed out that when the GNRP was presented initially, the first specific area tentatively agreed on as a starting project of the overall plan was the residential development known as "Clarkstown."

The area, located immediately south of 14th Street and west of Evans, is currently being considered for a possible Housing Authority project and the shift in priority may turn to the Cherry View section.

Dubber explained that by building public housing on scattered sites in the Clarkstown area, improvement of that area could be realized much sooner than by planning it as a GNRP project.

In addition, the Housing Authority's designation of the area as a scattered site project would not cost the city since the housing would be Federally funded.

Central Business District project manager, John Messick, noted that the overall GNRP studies and surveys were funded by an initial grant from HUD and that before any specific project for that particular project.

Studies so far, he continued, have dealt with the overall GNRP and until a formal application is made for a specific project within the plan, funding is not available.

"We are asking this commission to help select the first project in the program," Messick said. The Planning and Zoning Commission is legally the body expected to specify the various project areas of GNRP.

Messick explained that a formal action was not needed on the part of the commission Wednesday night but actually they were being asked to comment and give their ideas as to the first project designation.

Planning and Zoning commissioner Louis Clark noted, "What we are being asked to do tonight is to change priorities for the first project from Clarkstown to Cherry View?"

Messick said that still the commission was not being asked to make a formal recommendation but to consider the possibilities.

in the area and explained that the proposals are only general and subject to further changes and studies.

A particular traffic problem that is being considered, it was noted, is the Dickinson Avenue situation.

City manager Harry Hagerty said that the problem involved the "question of avoiding major surgery on Dickinson Avenue." Some type of tie-in with Chestnut Street lying west of the avenue is in question along with other traffic problem situations.

It was agreed that CP & AA would further develop their plans and come back to the Commission for more discussion.

In another item on the agenda, Dubber said that in planning for the Newtown housing project, no provisions had been made for a community facility in or near the project.

Dubber, asked commissioners if they would agree to the Housing Authority building a community facility on a portion of a parcel off Broad Street.

Commissioners endorsed the idea of the community facility. Dubber noted that the Authority would pay for the building and it would not involve city money.

Similar facilities are located, considerably distant from Newtown, on Elm Street and in South Greenville.

After lengthy discussion on the GNRP, commissioners agreed to study the feasibility of the Cherry View area as the first project and it was recommended that the studies be continued with that area considered as the first priority, subject to later formal approval.

Overall, the GNRP area composed of roughly 500 acres and planning up to this stage has indicated that three or four projects within the general area will be needed to rehabilitate and renew the whole project.

Projects will be funded individually upon application and the city's share in the funding will be, in many cases, considered credit through city work and improvements already scheduled.

Representatives from City Planning and Architectural associates in Chapel Hill were also on hand for the meeting and discussed the status of the planning and also explained the various stages of the GNRP.

Bob Anderson of CP & AA said that the State Highway Commission is still evaluating the traffic thoroughfare studies made in Greenville and have not completed those studies or made a recommendation concerning traffic circulation.

Miss World Of 1967 Writes News But Still Is A Headliner Herself

BY JOE MCGOWAN JR.
Associated Press Writer
LIMA, Peru (AP)—Miss World of 1967, Peru's Madeleine Hartog, is closing her fashionable boutique in a Lima suburb to concentrate on a new-found profession—columnist and maybe even book writer.

She says they may wed this summer. She maintains however, that "I abhor communism and would never live in Russia."

"If I marry, I will live in France or Peru and on this subject, I've established my position with my sweetheart." Madeleine's parents live in the northern city of Piura and she maintains her own apartment in Lima "since I gained my freedom three years ago."

One of the most popular figures on the Peruvian social circuit, Madeleine has lost none of her beauty and charm. She says "there has been very little change in my measurements since the contest but I have lost interest in measurements."

Peru's newest reporter showed her old knack of capturing headlines one night recently when she arrived at a social affair bra-less and in a cocktail gown whose front had a squared-off, plunging neckline. Photographers forgot the reason for their presence and Madeleine was the only one pictured on the next day's society pages.

Engagement Announced

MISS EDNA FAYE MOORE... is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Bright of Grifton, who announce her engagement to Jimmy Benjamin Wall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bland of Grifton. The wedding will take place July 18.

PERUVIAN BEAUTY QUEEN Madeleine Hartog, Miss World of 1967, has turned to a career in journalism. Her column appears on the editorial page of a Lima newspaper, and she has carte blanche on the subjects she can cover.

She submitted a column to the editor of a Lima newspaper, Correo, who returned it saying it was "good, but who wrote it for you?"

"Naturally, that answer disturbed me," Miss Hartog said, recalling that eventually she convinced the editor that the column was her own, and he offered to let her write for the women's page.

"I rejected that, telling him I wanted to write about distinct subjects. Then he asked me to submit eight articles within one week and when he read them, he congratulated me. I was hired on the agreement that my column would appear on the editorial page. The editor gave me carte blanche on the subjects I could cover."

Now she has a weekly column entitled "Light and Shadows."

One of her first articles lambasted an American airline which she said had kept her and 99 other passengers closed up for six hours in an insufferably hot jetliner at the Miami airport while a defect was repaired. "They kept saying it would be ready 'any minute.'"

A few days later, Miss Hartog criticized actress Elizabeth Taylor for her acquisition of a huge, million-dollar diamond.

"Liz Taylor in her sumptuous villas in London, Paris and Hollywood, does she think of the thousands who have no roof over their head," wrote the Peruvian beauty. "Why doesn't she invest in a factory for the price and give work to a large number of people? But no, she is interested only in her conceit. And what is more, she had to exhibit it. Thus, her vanity was fully satisfied."

"My style of writing is very much my own," Miss Hartog explained. "It is exactly the same way I talk, and I talk too much."

For the interview, Miss Hartog was dressed in tight, black, bell-bottomed pants, a form-fitting sweater, a white scarf fitted like a tie falling below her waist, and black hair falling over the shoulders to the middle of the back. The ex-Miss World could still be rated a traffic hazard in any city.

"Sincerely," she said. "I have benefited by writing. Now I note the big differences in news. Before, I was used to being the center of attention. Now, it is different and I am the one who has to seek the news and for me, this is exciting."

Apparently she lives her life the way she talks—nonstop. An interviewer was hard pressed to keep up with her flow of words. Fortunately she paused occasionally to remind the photographer to shoot "from my good side."

In addition to writing a column, operating a boutique, appearing on a very popular television soap box opera ("Simply Mary"), working on a book, modeling, and working as a secretary, Madeleine has found a fiance—a Russian diplomat in France whom she declines to identify.

Mrs. LeConte Named 'Pilot Of The Year'

Mrs. Elizabeth LeConte was named "Pilot of the Year" at the Monday night meeting of the Pilot Club of Greenville.

Mrs. LeConte, executive director, Pitt County Mental Health Association, was presented the award by Mrs. Sue Howell.

"Mrs. LeConte inculcates the ideal of service, promotes an agency which contributes to the welfare of the community and she exemplifies high ethical standards among business and professional women," said Mrs. Howell.

Other "Pilots of the Year" are Ann De La Mater, Elizabeth Quinerly, Gloria Butler and Sue Howell.

Mrs. Kara Lynn Fennell, chairman of the Patriotic Emblems Committee, introduced Mrs. Myra Cain, a member of the League of Women's Voters, who spoke on "Patriotism."

SUNDAY SUPPER
A make-ahead salad for a main course.

Macaroni and Cheese Salad
Sliced Tomatoes and Cucumber
Stewed Rhubarb
Crisp Cookies
MACARONI AND CHEESE SALAD

1/2 pound small elbow macaroni
1 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup minced parsley
1/4 cup chopped pimiento
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/4 cup chopped sweet pickle
1 teaspoon celery seed
1/4 pound finely chopped provolone or cheddar cheese (1cup)
1/2 cup mayonnaise and 1/4 cup pickle juice, mix together
Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain and put into a large bowl. Mix in remaining ingredients; season with salt and pepper to taste. Chill several hours or overnight. Serve in lettuce cups. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Tabasco sauce to taste
Corn chips
Into a 10-inch skillet turn all the ingredients except the corn chips. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring often, until cheese is melted. Cool, stirring often.

Turn into a one-quart container; cover and refrigerate overnight. Let stand at room temperature for about one-half hour before serving as a dip for corn chips. Makes about one quart of a spicy-hot dip.

Man appears to have claimed his bride from earliest times with a ring. It may have been a rope tied around her waist—a more direct means of wooing his favorite—but the sentiment to claim and then to protect and guard always has been there.

Photographer Tells His Reasons

ANTWERP, Belgium (WNS)—Photographer Camille Ruys, who has specialized in wedding pictures for 50 years, has never married. "I was always impressed with how frightened and jittery the grooms are," he confided at this half-century party. "By contrast, the brides who pose for me always look smiling and triumphant." According to bachelor Ruys, it is the grooms and not the brides who "need the cherishing."

Husband Solved Wife's Case

PARIS (WNS)—Christiane Paglino made the mistake of "borrowing" house money from the rents that she collected as concierge. To cover up the deficit, she arranged with her friend, Liliane Demartelaere, to enter her rooms while she and her husband were at the movies and to disrupt them sufficiently to make it look like robbery. Unfortunately, Mrs. Paglino's husband is an ambitious policeman. He reported the thievery to his superiors, was assigned to solve the case himself, and finally had to arrest his own wife, and her best friend. The ladies have been given suspended sentences, and hubby made up the deficit in rents.

President, welcomed Mrs. Mills into the club and presented her with a membership pin. The club voted to present a campship to the Salvation Army for a week of camping for a deserving girl and also to send some needed articles to the Dobbs' School for Girls.

'His' and 'Her' Jobs

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)—Mrs. Anton Luhaog said she had helped her husband on carpentry jobs for so long, she decided to become a carpenter. She is the first woman member of a local carpenters' union admitted since World War II.

Husband Expects Love, Gives None

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to FED UP, the man with the wife who "has done her duty," and won't let him near her unless it's Christmas or his birthday. I had this pushed in my face last night, so I'm giving you my opinion as to why this husband and so many others get turned down so much.

I am tired of being told that making love to my husband is my "duty." Anyone knows that a woman is putty in the hands of a man who really loves her — no matter how long they've been married. If my husband would show me any recognizable form of love during the day time I would respond with pleasure at night. But when all I hear from him during the day is criticism, all I feel for him is disgust at night.

His first "loves" are money, his business, and sports. He doesn't even show any love for our children, whom any father would be proud of. You hit the nail on the head, Abby, when you said, "A normal wife gives because she WANTS to," and she will want to if she feels needed and wanted and loved for herself — not just physically. My husband says he shows his "love" for us by supporting us.

They say God loves a cheerful giver. Well, so does a wife.

A WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: I can tell you (from my mail) that many husbands need to be told what you've put in this letter. And I say, "Sock it to 'em!" Thanks for writing.

DEAR ABBY: It is the custom on Father's day for our church to present the oldest father and the youngest father with a prize. Also, the father who has the most children gets one.

It so happens that the boy I am going with is 20 years old and he has a child by an unmarried girl. This is a small town and there aren't any secrets here, but do you think it was nice of him to stand up in church and accept the prize for being the youngest father?

I was so embarrassed I wanted to die.

I still love him, but this really hurts me. Do you think I should tell him how I feel or should I let it go? HURT

DEAR HURT: Tell him how you feel. It may not penetrate, but it will probably make YOU feel better.

DEAR ABBY: I have had quite a bit of pain in my arm and shoulder due to either rheumatism or arthritis, I don't really know which. [One doctor says one thing, and another says something else.] Well, I have a friend who gave me a copper bracelet, and told me if I wore it faithfully for a few weeks, my aches and pains would go away. She swears up and down that she got rid of hers that way.

Well, after wearing it for 2 weeks I honestly believe I don't have as much pain as I did. I told my husband and he laughed at me. I'm afraid to mention this to my doctors because I know they will tell me I am crazy and am imagining things.

Will you please ask some of your medical consultants if this condition of mine, which is not MENTAL, can be improved by wearing a copper bracelet?

FEELING BETTER

DEAR FEELING: I have asked several medical consultants and they agree that there is no scientific basis for it, but they, too, have had patients "swear up and down" that the copper bracelet "helped." It may not "help" but it can't HURT!

CONFIDENTIAL TO ERNIE IN LEXINGTON: Don't get excited. A "SEXAGENARIAN" means she's from 60 to 69 years old.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Life In Barn Finally Ended

LIEGE, Belgium (WNS) — Police arrested Maria Debackere's brother and sister-in-law because they had forced the 64-year-old woman to live in the barn with the cows than with people, and psychologists reported that she was indeed unsociable. Judges, however, took Maria out of the barn and sentenced and her brother sister-in-law to six months in jail.

Bridal Couple Entertained

A buffet dinner honoring Miss Harriet La Foille and Capt. Scott Smiley was held last evening at the Baptist Student Union.

The honorees were seated at the bride's table centered with an arrangement of pink and white roses.

Hosts and hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. A.L. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carter, Dr. and Mrs. Grover Everett, Dr. and Mrs. Neph Jorgensen, and Miss Nell Stallings.

Tea Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Annie Laurie Askew entertained Sunday afternoon at an informal sit-down tea honoring Miss Susan Angermayer of Burlington, whose marriage to Patrick Hatcher will take place June 27.

Other honored guests included Mrs. John Robert Angermayer, mother of the bride-elect, Mrs. Pierce E. Hatcher, mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. Marie Boltz, grandmother of the bridegroom-elect and Marie Claire Hatcher, sister of the bridegroom-elect of Munich, Germany and Greenville.

Mrs. John L. Askew poured punch and was assisted by Mrs. Bobby Gaylor and Mrs. Carlton Heckrotte.

The honoree was remembered with a corsage and a gift from the hostess.

Young Have New Responsibility

The American electorate will change on January 1 when 11 million young citizens between the ages of 18 and 21 become eligible voters.

President Nixon's signing of the young voter bill was the climax of a long struggle to put the voting age at the same level as the draft age. It marked not an end of the struggle of young citizens for recognition, but rather the beginning of a new feeling of belonging and a new level of participation in government affairs for these younger citizens.

The President's reluctance to sign the bill into law is understandable in view of his opinion that the change in voting age should be made through constitutional amendment rather than by Congressional action. Hopefully, this moot point will be resolved soon by a ruling of the Supreme Court, so there will be no question about legality of elections after January 1.

Former opinions notwithstanding, it is probably a good thing for the nation now that the voting age has been lowered to 18. It will make a difference, of course, in state and local elections as well as in national elections. How it will shift the balance of power among voters between liberal and conservative, Democrat and Republican, young and old, remains to be seen. There is every reason to believe the ultimate result will be an enhancement of good government because of the new franchise for younger voters.

In this, as in all other newly gained rights, there are also new responsibilities for these young voters. They take their place beside citizens who have voted in previous elections. Their vote carries the same weight at the ballot box as that of any other citizen. They therefore must in the future assume the same responsibility for the quality of government at every level — be it good, bad or indifferent — as other eligible voters.

Census Baffles Local Leaders

By BRYAN HANSLIP
RALEIGH — Where's the population explosion?

Local officials and civic boosters in a number of North Carolina communities are asking that question, in reactions from bewilderment to dismay, as preliminary counts in the 1970 census are released.

Comments ranging from a mild "disappointing" to an indignant "ridiculous" have greeted the initial results as they have been announced by district census offices over the past couple of weeks. In city after city, particularly in the east, the complaint has been raised that the census counting as incomplete and campaigns have been launched to round up the population which local folks feel was overlooked.

It is more than bruised community pride that population gains have not materialized as expected from the economic growth and development of the past decade.

Mayor John Minges of Rocky Mount put the case in a nutshell. "Such low counts as we have received in the preliminary reports can be disastrous," he said. "It can affect state and federal funds coming into the area, and can also adversely affect our representation in the General Assembly."

The ten district census offices in North Carolina now are in the process of releasing preliminary reports. A spokesman for the regional census office in Charlotte said the unofficial figures for the state as a whole will be ready in July. Official figures will not be available until the end of the year, perhaps in December.

The South Carolina preliminary report, already released, was a disappointment to Palmetto State officials. It showed a 2,325,026 population, only 142,433 more than the 1960 census.

The regional census office said "not too many" complaints had been received from North Carolina communities. "Were you counted?" forms are supplied in cases where local officials feel population was missed. These will be checked, and if the names were not included in the preliminary count, they will be added to the final, official total.

Washington, Wilson, Rocky Mount, Greenville, Goldsboro, Edenton, Elizabeth City, Sanford, Lumberton, Laurinburg, Richmond County are among those who feel that preliminary census reports of population loss or only minor gains are inaccurate.

If the preliminary reports are correct, it means the east not only failed to gain during the hustle and bustle of economic development in the 60s but actually lost ground.

It indicates the shift of population from the agricultural east, brought on by mechanized farming, has not been matched by jobs provided by new industry.

It also foreshadows a further dwindling of political power. Both Congressional and General Assembly seats will be affected by redistricting which will follow the loss of population.

Few preliminary figures for the Piedmont are available, so it remains to be seen whether population trends there will match expectations.

The Rocky Mount preliminary report showed a 1970 population of 33,296, only a gain of 1,149 over 1960. "By every method we have to gauge population, we know that this is wrong," said Mayor Minges who has urged an intensive effort to revise the count. The figure should be near 39,500, he contended.

Washington's preliminary report of 8,633 compared to the 1960 figure of 9,939 and a special 1966 census of 10,175. If correct, the 1970 count would mean a 1,542 population loss in the past four years.

"That just is not so," said Ashley B. Futrell, editor and publisher of the Washington Daily News and Democratic candidate for the State Senate. The newspaper had a paid circulation of less than 5,000 in 1960 and today approaches 8,000. "A newspaper does not increase circulation in that amount in the face of a declining population," he declared.

Mayor Frank M. Wooten of Greenville is spearheading a census follow-up there. Preliminary figures gave the city 29,916, a gain of only 7,056, a disappointment to Chamber of Commerce officials in light of development there.

Wilson's preliminary count was 29,325, a mere 572 gain. Local boosters had expected to pass 32,000. Goldsboro had 26,322, down almost 2,000 from 1960.

Edenton Town Administrator Bill Gardner wrote to Congressman Walter B. Jones about the Chowan County report which showed a 940 population loss. Gardner said the count was ridiculous and urged citizens who were missed to come forward.

Sanford also has a population loss indicated, and The Sanford Herald has given editorial backing to a recount campaign.

Lumberton had a preliminary count of 16,495, a gain of about 1,000. Laurinburg failed to come up to 10,000 as it had anticipated. Richmond County showed a 275 loss over the decade with a preliminary figure of 38,927. Officials are waging a vigorous effort to bring an upward revision in the total.

Further Toll-Free Service Improvement

We commend and endorse the effort to take another step toward bringing the communities of Pitt County closer together through toll-free telephone exchanges.

Several strides have been taken in recent years toward eliminating toll service between various communities of the county. The latest effort centers on removing the toll charges on telephone calls between Greenville and Farmville and between Farmville, Fountain, and Snow Hill. Although Snow Hill is in Greene County, its proximity to Farmville makes this move logical also.

Elimination of toll charges between the Greenville and Ayden exchanges has made for easier communication between these communities and in a very real sense have brought them closer together. A similar elimination of toll charges between Greenville and Bethel has been approved by telephone subscribers and is expected to be put into effect in the near future.

Removing the toll charges on calls between Greenville and Farmville would be the next logical step in this series of improvements for telephone service in Pitt County. Such improvements prove a benefit to individual subscribers and likewise to the respective communities as a whole.

Cloud Is Cast Over Prospects

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK CASPER, Wyo.

Monomania over Vietnam inside the left wing of the Democratic party has cast a cloud over otherwise golden prospects of Sen. Gale McGee, a liberal but non-dove Democrat, for a third term from this staunchly conservative state.

For the sin of supporting the Vietnam war, McGee faces a double-barreled assault. First comes a challenge against him in the Aug. 18 Democratic primary by State Sen. Mike Svilar. When that fails, Svilar's campaign organization will be picked up by a more formidable opponent — Ernest Wilkerson, 1966 Democratic nominee for governor — as a third-party candidate.

The danger that Wilkerson's third-party bid might drain enough votes from McGee in November to elect his conservative Republican foe, Rep. John Wold, does not concern the doves. Peace Democrats meeting recently with John Holliday, the tough, young secretary-treasurer of the state AFL-CIO, asserted their goal was to drive McGee from the Senate, even if his replacement were a conservative Republican.

"I don't know how to reason with these people," says Holliday, who strongly supports McGee because of his liberalism on domestic issues. "I think they have a death wish."

The intensity of the death wish here stems from the fact that McGee is one of those rare non-Southern Democrats not to repudiate Vietnam once Richard M. Nixon replaced Lyndon Johnson. But beyond McGee, Wyoming is a microcosm of the national split in the Democratic party between organized labor, still interested in the pocketbook, and liberals, preoccupied with Vietnam.

Actually, McGee has more political resources than the state AFL-CIO (a considerable resource which has long provided organizational muscle for the feeble state Democratic party). The influential and usually Republican Casper Star-Tribune has endorsed McGee over Republican Wold, reflecting a view among some Wyoming Republicans that McGee's growing seniority is a state asset not to be squandered. Besides

Weekend With Buckley

I have been spending a weekend with Mr. William Frank Buckley, Jr., spending it, that is to say, in a metaphorical kind of way, with my feet propped on a porch railing, reading Mr. Buckley's latest book, "The Governor Listeh," (Putnam, $7.95), a collection of his columns, magazine articles and a few speeches, and all the while I have been watching a hawk spiraling in perfect figure-eights against a cobalt sky. The hawk is watching a rabbit in the fencerow. The rabbit, believe me, is not about to move.

Some thoughts. (1) There is no way adequately to convey the style of my ineffable friend, who is columnist, critic, author, editor, connoisseur, yachtsman, and scourge of the liberal left, all of which activities he performs with one hand tied behind his back, meanwhile functioning flawlessly as debater, lecturer, gourmet, linguist, world traveler, and spokesman for the conservative right — no way, that is, without walking bowlegged through a field of parenthese, this being the way Buckley writes, like the hawk, in parabolas. And then pouncing.

(2) What was (1)? I forget. Stop the kidding around. This new book by Mr. Buckley, like the happily urbane man behind it, is pure delight.

That is to say, it is pure delight if your taste runs to conservative thought, perfectly blended, skillfully served. On our side of the ideological fence, Buckley at his best beats all the rest of us at our best. And that makes him Numero Uno.

I have been wanting to say these things for quite some time, and publication of "The Governor Listeh" provides a peg to hang some compliments on. (The book's title, look at those parenthese, comes from James 3:4.) Buckley has done more to enhance the conservative image than any man since Henry Clay, who was also a raconteur, bon vivant, duelist, and master of the elegant phrase. Clay was a Whig, too.

It is true that now and then one does get lost in the Buckley prose. Hugh Kenner once remarked, in a marvelous little critique that appears in the book, that Bill's more leisurely sentences simply amble around until they sit down. But getting lost in a Buckley paragraph is like getting lost in an interesting garden; close at hand an idea is growing, and his parenthetical fountains provide a relevant splash.

The style is not affected. It precisely mirrors the writer. The parabolas are part of it; for a parabola, strictly defined, is the plane curve generated by a point moving so that its distance from a fixed point is equal to its distance from a fixed line. In Bill's philosophy, certain lines and points indeed are fixed: His God, his country, his faith in a free society. His writing curves accordingly, with grace and wit and the flex of a rapier touching.

In the 15 years I have known the gentleman, I have seen him lose his composure but once. That was in Chicago two years ago, when Gore Vidal called him a "crypto-

Public Forum

To The Editor:

It is alarming to read of "Concerned Citizens" in Greenville urging the voters to turn their backs to the educational needs of our children, to turn their backs to the future progress of this city. For, if we do not support the financial needs of the public schools now, we cannot expect our students and future students to support the community. Educational opportunities and community progress go hand in hand. Let us give the children a chance to grow in all areas of development. They then will be equipped to "inherit" the dividends we have provided for them.

"More discipline" and "more understanding" for the individual child can be made possible by hiring teachers' aides, reading consultants, guidance and clinical testing experts. Awareness of aesthetics can be created through music, art, and drama. Physical fitness should be emphasized. Cleaner buildings, paper and pencils to last the school year, workbooks and supplies are not educational frills. These things would be possible through the additional tax monies.

Yes, it would take "Guts" to vote against the children on June 27th.

Also a concerned citizen, Theresa Shank (Mrs. Barry M. Shank)

To The Editor:

For the sake of our school children, I hope that the majority of the voters in school referendum have more brains than "guts."

Americans Sometime Too Smart

By ELMER ROESSNER
Sometimes Americans are too smart for their own good. Take broilerfryers.

Once chicken was expensive. The family that could afford chicken every Sunday was considered better off than average. Then we developed the broiler-fryer industry. It started back in the late 1920s and has been growing ever since.

It's a marvel of efficiency. Chicks are hatched from a cross-breed. They do not reproduce true, so all eggs come from hens of one line and roosters of another. They are hatched in giant incubators that turn out thousands of chicks a day.

Furthermore, just the number of thousands that will be required on any given day. Scientifically Raised

Each grower places his order in advance, and on the specified day he picks up his chicks and installs them in special growing sheds.

They grow for six weeks, fed special food mixtures, blended in multi-storied buildings to contain exact amounts of various grains, minerals, vitamins and other nutrients. In one six-story building I visited, a blender sat at a console and controlled the mixes with levers.

At an appointed day at the end of six weeks, the grower crates his broiler-fryers and delivers them to a packing house at the specified time. If his thousands of broilers are due at 10:30, he has to be there on the dot.

Meanwhile, the grower cleans his growing shed. The floor covering has been mixed with other chemicals so that, with the chicken droppings, it has become a perfect fertilizer. The growing sheds are thoroughly cleaned for a week. Growers have a horror of poultry diseases which could sweep through a shed and wipe them out. Then another six weeks cycle again.

No Secret
This automation has given Americans cheap chickens, often under 30 cents a pound. Furthermore, it has made farmed-out cotton lands of the Southwest and the bleak areas of the DelMarVa peninsula on the east coast productive.

Americans built up a tremendous export market for broiler-fryers. We could grow them, chill them, ship them across the Atlantic and put them on sale in the cities of Europe cheaper than they could be grown there, even at

Pamela Needs Help

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — It was a pleasant late afternoon in the year 2070, and little Pamela decided to do her homework.

"Will you help me, grandpa" she asked. The old man lowered a copy of the best-selling book he was reading—"Sex Before 100 Is for Children"—and asked:

"What is your problem?"
"I have to write an essay on the history of the week," said Pamela. "We only have a two-day week now, but I hear there once were seven days in the week. Is that true?"

"Oh, my, yes," said grandpa. "I can remember the seven-day week quite well. My father told me that in his youth it was awful. People went to work six days, and then rested on a day they called the Sabbath. They must have really worked up a sweat in those days."

"What's sweat?" asked Pamela.

"That's a good question—I guess your generation doesn't know the meaning of the word," replied grandpa. "Sweat is little drops of salty water that pop out all over your body if you work too hard."

"Ooh, how revolting," said little Pamela, making a face.

"Was there any cure for it?"

"Yes," continued grandpa. "People found a curious thing happened to sweat when they put down their tools and rested. It dried up and went away. So they've been trying to rest more and more ever since."

"What happened to the seven-day week?" demanded Pamela.

"Well, it began to change slowly. As people got better and better kinds of tools, they worked less and less. They worked only five days—Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. They rested over the weekend on Saturday and Sunday."

"That still sounds pretty horrible to me," said Pamela.

"That's the way a lot of people felt, too," answered grandpa.

"They dreaded the thought of going to the office or factory on Monday, and they began to show up later and later or came down with one-day pneumonia."

"I guess you don't know what one-day pneumonia is either. That's what people got when they rested so hard on the weekend they didn't have the strength to go to work on Monday."

"At first attempts were made to solve the problem by shortening the work week and lengthening the weekend. By the year 2000 they worked only Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday—and then had four straight days to rest up."

"Did that help them?"

"Not too much, child. People found that they didn't earn enough money on one day to enjoy the four-day weekends, which were getting more expensive all the time. So they began moonlighting more—that is working at two or more jobs—to buy all the new gadgets their families wanted. And they got so tired from those long weekends that finally only about half the people were showing up on the job on Mondays."

"So what was done, gramps?"

"Well, at first the government

Thurmond Asks For Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S. C., said Wednesday the Japanese will not agree to "any reasonable arrangement" on limiting textile limits to the United States and he is asking the Nixon administration to back congressional action that would. Thurmond said in a prepared statement that he is urging President Nixon to support a bill by Rep. Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., that would place import quotas on Japanese textiles. He said the Mills bill is "essential if the jobs of thousands of American textile and apparel workers are to be saved."

Flames Ruin Raleigh Hotel

RALEIGH (AP) — The 49-year-old Peebles Hotel was ruined Wednesday afternoon by a fire that started in a third floor bathroom. The only one injured was a fireman whose hand was cut. The manager of the hotel, Victor Peebles, said there was no monetary estimate on the damage to the building owned by S. A. Yeagan Sr. of Garner. The building also housed Cheap Johns, a clothing store, the Peebles cafeteria, the Peebles Hotel Grill and the Sweet Pea Green Record Store.

All the guests got out safely. Secretary of commerce Maurice Stans announced Wednesday that textile - quota talks with Japan had collapsed. Primary election foe Svilar's record in the state Senate is so pocked with conservative votes (as was pointed out to him last week during a fund - raising expedition to Washington and New York) that his credentials as a fire - eater are tarnished. Not so with Ernie Wilkerson, the prospective third - party candidate. Wilkerson, an urbane and articulate Casper lawyer, feels that McGee is an absolute evil to be eliminated. Abjuring compromise, Wilkerson takes positions that might be dangerous on the West Side of Manhattan, much less Wyoming's wide open spaces — such as proposing legalization of homosexual activity between consenting adults. Such refusal to compromise has thwarted all efforts at reconciliation. Democratic National Committeeman Teno Renuncio, a strong dove but also a loyal Democrat seeking Wold's Congressional seat, has failed to win pledges from the doves to support the Democratic primary winner. McGee's own attempts have been equally unsuccessful. His import of both its fervor and its militant little legion of housewives, professors, and middle - class professionals dedicated to McGee's defeat. McGee's consistent support of the oil industry (an exception to his generally liberal voting record) is a partial cause of intense opposition from the left. In addition, intraparty disputes over the past decade are now turned against McGee; many of the ringleaders against him were kept off Wyoming's delegation to the 1968 national convention by Humpreyite McGee. But without the overriding issue of Vietnam, the purge - McGee movement would lack dove Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota to the university town of Laramie with a pro - McGee speech fell flat. More recently, a luncheon meeting in Casper between McGee and a dozen leading doves (with McGee pickup up the tab) ended rancorously with demands that McGee immediately resign from the Senate. As a result, labor leaders here feel McGee should forget the peace Democrats and, instead, mend fences with blue - collar workers who have soured somewhat on the Senator, not because of the war but because of his 1968 statements favoring gun control legislation. "All Gale has to do is get out shaking hands with the boys at the cement plant again," one labor leader told us. That typifies the fracture of the old Democratic coalition, blue - collar worker and middle - class liberal concerned with wholly different issues. Apart from threatening Wyoming's one major Democratic officeholder, the split is the best reason nationally for long - term Republican optimism.

Boyle . . .

(Continued from page 4) thought of cutting the work week to two days," said grandpa, "until psychiatrists warned them that the strain of a five-day weekend might destroy the human race. So they solved the matter by dropping the seven-day week and creating a week with only two days in it—Mondays and Sundays, a day of work, a day of rest. And no long killing weekends."

Kilpatrick . . .

(Continued from page 4) Nazi" in their famous brawl at the Democratic convention. Bill's side of that unfortunate incident, reprinted from Esquire, appears in this collection. The book opens with Buckley's address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors in April of 1968. It was the best short speech I ever listened to, and it reads even better than it listened. This was Buckley light and Buckley serious; Buckley playing a Mozart concerto — full of fun, and dazzling cadenzas, but with a theme of childlike purity: Let us love our country; and let us profess our faith in its institutions. The book closes with an account, printed from Rudder magazine, of a cruise in the Caribbean last Christmas aboard his yacht Cyranos. (The name comes from the boat's incredible bowsprit.) He and his lovely wife Pat, their son, a few friends, ambled like a Buckley sentence among the islands, making figure - eights and spirals; and Bill writes of the holiday, as he writes always of sailing and the sea, con amore. Which is how, come to think of it, he writes of everything else.

Evans, Novak

(Continued from page 4) that, he has significant support from Wyoming oil interests. McGee's consistent support of the oil industry (an exception to his generally liberal voting record) is a partial cause of intense opposition from the left. In addition, intraparty disputes over the past decade are now turned against McGee; many of the ringleaders against him were kept off Wyoming's delegation to the 1968 national convention by Humpreyite McGee. But without the overriding issue of Vietnam, the purge - McGee movement would lack

(Eye Oddities)

Did you know that should one eye suffer an injury, the other occasionally suffers too? Did you know that although both eyes work together, one eye dominates? You may be right-eyed just as you are right-handed.

You can demonstrate this situation by making a simple test. Look through a hole in a piece of paper and focus on a distant object with both eyes open. Then close each eye in turn.

If the object is in view with the right eye only, you are right-eyed.

Sometimes the stronger eye carries all the visual load, and the viewer has eye strain and does not realize that he or she really needs glasses.

If you have any doubt, see your eye doctor. Professional diagnosis, prescription, and correction are extremely important to good eye health.

Watch Next Week For (Some Speculation About Eyes)

Have you often wished you had prescription sun glasses? Wish no more! Bring your regular prescription to HOLLINGSWORTH OPTICIANS and choose some attractive frames. We can grind your sun glasses to your exact prescription. Plenty of parking at HOLLINGSWORTH OPTICIANS, open daily 9 till 5:30.

Richardson Becomes The New Head Of HEW

By G.C. THELEN JR., Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliot L. Richardson has officially transferred his diplomatic skills to the troubled Department of Health, Education and Welfare where he faces immediate, knotty problems. The former undersecretary of state, was sworn in as the No. 1 man at HEW Wednesday and was immediately faced with problems endemic to HEW—civil rights and consumer protection, among others. HEW civil rights officials, for example, have readied a letter for the secretary's signature calling on southern districts to end in-school discrimination as well as segregation in this fall.

Officials of the Food and Drug Administration will urge Richardson to modify a controversial department decision to allow cyclamate-sweetened foods to remain on grocery shelves despite possible health hazards.

The American Medical Association, a powerful interest group with which all HEW secretaries must wrestle, voiced displeasure this week over recent FDA actions on oral contraceptives and certain medications for diabetics.

The AMA is expected to insist that Richardson rescind the FDA requirement of packaged inserts warning women about possible hazards associated with birth control pills.

Take Inches Off your Waistline in One Week!

SLIM quick BELT

A brand-new approach to slenderizing for both Men and Women.

Adjust your SLIM-quick-BELT snugly against your waist—right up against your body.

Easily inflates with a special valve. You will feel the pressure around your "middle area". Next, perform our unique routine. It just takes 10 minutes, and then relax for awhile with your SLIM-quick-BELT still in place. Many people have seen results after first usage.

When the SLIM-quick-BELT is inflated, it provides resistance to your exercise movements and heat and pressure to your entire "middle area".

The SLIM-quick-BELT is scientifically manufactured of a comfortable, clear, non-porous plastic.

We know of no other way to reduce your waistline so dramatically. Try it... you have nothing to lose but inches!

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets stronger Wednesday, supplies generally adequate, demand fair to good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites: 45-45½; medium, whites: 36-37; small, whites: 26-27½.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets today were mostly steady with instances of 25 higher. Tops of 23.50-25.75 at Tarboro; 24.50-25.00 at Rocky Mount; 24.25-24.75 at Siler City and Denton; 23.50-24.50 at Bethel; 23.00-24.00 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albertson and Lumerton; 25.50 at Mount Olive; 25.00 at Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP) — (NCDA) — The North Carolina poultry market today was mostly firm. Supplies adequate, demand good, weights desirable. Live at farm base price 13 cents a pound. Hens, offerings ample for fair demand, undertone steady. Heavy hens, at farm, 8; light type, at farm, 5-5½.

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved ahead today in slow trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.34 to 697.63 at 11 a.m., an hour after the opening bell. Gainers took the lead from decliners 5 to 4 among the issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Short sales was cited by analysts as one factor in the gain. In the past such an increase has been typical of market bottomings.

Other brokers cautioned, however, that recent advances have been tempered by short-term traders selling on gains. They suggested that short-term movers recently accumulated losses and should be anxious to take advantage of any gains.

The bidding:

Dble. Pass Pass ♣

Opening lead: Queen of ♣
When North made a jump overall of three diamonds over West's opening one no trump, South chose to shoot it out at three no trump in the expectation that his partner's suit would produce the required tricks. West thought his opponents were guilty of loose bidding and promptly registered his opinion by doubling.

West opened the queen of clubs and South won the trick with the king. The jack of diamonds was led and ducked. West won the continuation and cashed the queen and jack of clubs. When it developed that South had a second stopper in the suit, the contest was over, for declarer had the rest of the tricks.

While on the surface the result may appear to be normal, a closer analysis will reveal that not only could the contract have been defeated, but West was perhaps remis in his performance. West's lead of the queen of clubs is technically correct, for it serves not only to dislodge the king, but also to leave partner with a club to return the suit should he get in first. In the present case, however, it should be clear to West that the play will be conducted solely between West and the declarer.

West might just as well lay down the ace of clubs first in order to inspect the terrain. This play will prove to be revealing on two counts. First of all, when the ace is led against no trump, it calls conventionally for the play of partner's highest card. When East follows with the seven and South with the three, West learns that declarer has the K-10-9—which gives him two stoppers in the suit.

What is even more significant is the appearance of the dummy. West can see that if South has no more than two diamonds, the diamond suit can be retired from the play by knocking out North's entry card at once. Observe the effect of a shift to the king of hearts at trick two. Dummy plays the ace and after West ducks one diamond, declarer must look elsewhere for tricks. He will do well to wind up with seven.

The lead of the ace of clubs does not preclude the possibility of West's continuing to establish his suit if conditions warrant. It merely provides him with an opportunity to reevaluate the defensive campaign after an examination of 26 cards instead of merely 13.

Kiwanis Roll Over R.C. Cola; Claim North State League Title

The Kiwanis romped to a 20-0 victory over R. C. Cola yesterday and wrapped up their second straight North State Little League title.

The victory boosted the Kiwanis record for the year to 11-2. Second place is held by the Jaycees with an 8-5 mark, while R. C. and Coca-Cola are tied for third with 6-7 records. The Lions and Optimists are tied for fifth place with 4-9 marks. Each team has two games remaining on the schedule.

The Kiwanis got the shutout from Kelly Heath, who allowed only one hit. He struck out nine and walked two.

Four Kiwanis players crossed the plate in the first inning. Clayton Brock and Syd Ashby both singled and Heath walked. Ed Mayo then cracked a grand-slam homer to give the Kiwanis all they needed.

But they didn't stop, picking up three more in the second. David Middleton singled and moved to third on two passed balls. Danny Hester walked and Ashby reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Middleton. Hester and Ashby advanced on a passed ball and both scored on Heath's double.

Four more runs crossed in the third. Middleton singled and Brock walked. Ashby cracked a three-run homer to clear the bases. Heath walked and moved up on a single by Mayo. A passed ball allowed him to score.

Leading 11-0, the Kiwanis pushed over five more in the fourth. Chuck Ellis and Middleton both walked, and an error allowed Ellis to come all the way around, and moved Middleton to third. Brock reached on an error, scoring Middleton, and he advanced on a passed ball. Ashby singled, and Heath reached on an error, scoring both Brock and Ashby. Mayor then reached on another error, with Heath coming in to score.

Four more came across in the sixth inning to wind up the scoring. Brock singled and Heath hit a two-run homer. Mayo walked and moved up on an error. Kent Phillips singled and Steve Camp reached on an error, scoring Mayo. Walks to Ellis and Middleton brought Phillips around.

Ashby and Mayo each had three hits for the Kiwanis, while Brock and Heath each added two. David Dixon had the lone hit for R. C.

Leader Loses In Ladies Loop

The race tightened slightly again in the Ladies Softball League last night as first place Little Mint was knocked off by Bob's Atlantic, 2-1. Foodmart beat Coca-Cola, 6-2, and National Products Co. downed Wachovia, 11-1, in the other games.

The Little Mint continues to lead, however, with an 8-2 record, while NPC is a game behind at 7-3. Bob's and Foodmart are tied for third at 6-4, followed by Wachovia, 3-7, and Coke, 0-10.

Eddie Belmonte, who wore a $600 yellow velvet suit to the Preakness, used to have a Chinese tailor in Los Angeles.

In the opener, NPC got all it needed in the first inning, pushing over six runs. They went on to add one in the second, two in the third, two in the fourth on a homer by Judy Waitts.

Wachovia scored its only runs in the fourth inning.

Foodmart also got all it needed in the first inning of play, scoring three runs. They added one in the third and picked up two more in the fifth inning.

Both of the Coke runs came in the seventh inning and avoided a shutout.

Bob's took the lead in the first inning with a run, but the Little Mint rallied in the third to tie it up with a run of their own.

In the bottom of the third, however, Theresa Harrell led off with a single and Judy Scott triple to drive her in with the winning run for Bob's.

Two Close In Losing Final Games

Presbyterian and First Christian wound up their regular season play in the Church Softball League on sour notes last night. Meadowbrook downed Presbyterian, 8-7, and St. James rolled over First Christian, 17-3.

In the American Division, St. James now stands 13-2 for the year, while Presbyterian is 9-7. Meadowbrook is 8-7 with Trinity at 8-6. Gum Swamp is 5-9 and Christian, 1-15.

In the National division, Grace has things wrapped up with a 12-2 record, while Black Jack is 8-6 and Immanuel, 8-7. They are followed by Oakmont, 6-9, Mt. Pleasant, 5-8, and Piney Grove, 5-10.

In the opener, Meadowbrook pushed over a run in the first, but Presbyterian came up with one in the second to tie it. Presbyterian pushed over another in the third to take a 2-1 lead, but Meadowbrook came up with two in the fourth to go back out 3-2.

Presbyterian tied it up with one in the bottom of the fourth, then pushed back ahead with two in the fifth, 5-3.

But it didn't last. Meadowbrook tied it up with two in the seventh, then pushed over three in the top of the eighth. Presbyterian tried to rally, but fell one run short.

Gordon Bunting and Al Braxton each had three hits and Bobby Harris had two for Meadowbrook. Moore had three and Langston two for Presbyterian.

St. James pushed over one in the first, but Christian tied it with one in the top of the second. St. James went back ahead with one in the bottom of the second, then added two more in the third for a 4-1 lead. They never trailed again.

St. James went on to add three more in the fourth, four in the fifth, and six in the sixth, including a homer by Jim Smith. Christian added two more runs in the fourth.

Roy Carawan, Dave Wilcox, Rickey Chambers and Bill Shaw each had three hits, while Ronald Vincent and Joe Brown each had two for St. James. Bob Turner had two for Christian.

Hagley, winner of the Withers Mile at Aqueduct this spring, set a track record of 573-5 seconds when he won the 1969 Rancocas Stakes at Garden State Park.

Mets Take Over East Home Builders, Planters Bank Take Wins, Lead; Reds Leave Home Move Closer To Leader Carolina Dairy

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Mets cleaned up in Chicago and the Cincinnati Reds moved out of Crosley Field on a tidy note, leaving a slightly ruffled Leo Durocher and Juan Marichal in their wakes.

The Mets captured the National League East lead Wednesday, knocking Durocher's Cubs out of the top spot by sweeping a doubleheader, 9-5 and 6-1, while Johnny Bench and Lee May ripped consecutive eighth-inning homers off Marichal in the Reds' 5-4 triumph over San Francisco in the final game after 58 years at Crosley field.

In other NL contests, Los Angeles blanked Atlanta 7-0, Montreal trounced Philadelphia 8-0, Pittsburgh edged St. Louis 4-3 in 11 innings and Houston nipped San Diego 5-4.

In the American League, Cleveland and New York split a pair, the Indians taking the first 7-2 and the Yankees the nightcap 5-4. Oakland beat Kansas City 5-1, Minnesota whipped Milwaukee 3-2, Boston defeated Baltimore 6-5, Detroit took Washington in 10 innings 3-2 and California swept a doubleheader from Chicago 3-1 and 2-1.

The defending world champion Mets took over first place from the Cubs by one-half game after taking their fourth straight in the five-game set which concludes today. It was Chicago's sixth loss in a row and dropped them from the lead for the first time since April 22. "What can you do," said Durocher, the Cubs' skipper. "The pitching is terrible and we can't hit."

Durocher shook up the Cubs, benching slump-ridden Ron Santo and using Ernie Banks only as a pinch hitter but still couldn't stop the Mets fine pitching and hot-hitting.

Tom Seaver hurled the first game, tossing a seven-hitter, upping his record to 11-5 and striking out 11 for a major-league leading 151.

Nolan Ryan, 5-5, gave up a leadoff single to Don Kessinger and then held the Cubs hitless through seven innings before leaving with a blister on the middle finger of his throwing hand.

Tommie Agee knocked in three runs and Cleon Jones four in the opener for the Mets and Wayne Garrett, who homered in the opener, had a pair of RBIs in the nightcap. Banks had a three-run pinch homer for the Cubs in the first game.

"We certainly didn't make the Cubs the target," said Gil Hodges, the Mets manager. "But if you play good baseball and keep winning you know you can catch anybody. Our boys are playing real good baseball—getting hits, runs, pitching and defense."

The Mets have won nine of their last 11 starts.

Bench ripped his 25th homer of the season, tying the score at 4-4 off Marichal, who dropped to 3-7 this year, before May socked his 19th of the season off the Giants' right-hander, who held a 19-9 lifetime mark over the Reds before the game.

The Reds drew 28,027 for the finale before moving on to Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium on June 30.

"It was a great way to go out," Bench said. It's just as though it had been written in a script."

When the lights finally went out at Crosley Field, 4,543 regular season game had been played there since its opener on April 11, 1912. The stadium was also the first in the majors to have lights and the first night game was played there on May 24, 1935.

Joe Moeller, a five-year veteran, hurled his first major league shutout, blanking the Braves on six hits as the Dodgers made it three in a row over Atlanta.

Moeller, 3-2, in 56 career starts, completed his fourth game as Dodger pitchers extended their shutout pitching to 20 innings over Atlanta. Carl Morton fired a three-hitter and the Expos exploded for six fifth inning runs off loser Chris Short of the Phils. John Bateman doubled and homered for Montreal.

Al Oliver's 11th inning single scored Gene Alley with the winning run in the Pirates come from behind triumph. Pittsburgh had tied it at 3-3 in the ninth on Bill Mazerowski's ground out. Richie Allen had a two-run blast for the Cards, his 20th of the season.

Jim Wynn slammed a three-run homer and tight relief pitching by Jim Ray helped the Astros to a three-game sweep of the Padres. Clarence Gaston and Bob Barton slugged homers for San Diego.

Home Builders and Planters Bank stayed right on the heels of Babe Ruth League leader Carolina Dairy with victories last night. Home Builders downed College View, 7-2, while Planters took the measure of Pepsi-Cola, 4-3.

Carolina Dairy has a half-game lead over Home Builders, with a 7-2 record, as compared to the Builders' 6-2. Planters is another half-game back at 6-3. College View is 4-5, Pepsi, 4-6, and State Bank, 0-9.

Home Builders took the lead in the first with a run. Gary Hall walked and was safe at second on an error. He was wild pitched to third and scored on Harding Sugg's single.

In the second, the Builders added another run. Jeff Beaman walked and stole second. He moved up on Archie Willoughby's single and scored on a wild pitch.

Bill Lee added another run for Home Builders in the fourth with a solo homer, making it 3-0.

Then, in the sixth, Lee opened the inning with another homer. Sugg followed with a single and Jeff Daniels doubled. Beaman singled in Sugg, and Fred Lemmond reached on an error, scoring Daniels. Wayne Bailey singled in Beaman with the seventh Builder run.

College View picked up both of its runs in the seventh. Linwood Brown walked and moved to second on a wild pitch. Bobby Kittrell singled him to third, and another wild pitch brought him over. Kenneth Tetterton walked, and Kittrell later came across with the second CV run.

Lee and Sugg led the Builder hitting with two each. No one had more than one for College View.

Pepsi pushed over a run in the top of the first in the second game. Pete Cullop singled and took second on a wild pitch. Jack Jones singled to left, bringing in Cullop.

In the bottom of the third, Planters came up with three runs to charge into the lead. Greg Jester singled to center and Tony Phelps also got a hit. Both runners moved up on a wild pitch and a double to right by Stanley Cobb brought them in. Cobb stole third and scored easily when Herb Wilkerson doubled into left field.

In the fifth, Planters got what proved to be the winning run. Cobb reached on an error and stole second. Mike Wallace singled into right field, bringing Cobb in for a 4-1 lead.

In the sixth, Pepsi tried to rally and nearly pulled it off. Jack Jones singled to right and moved up on a wild pitch. John Barwick singled to left, moving Jones to third. Barwick then stole second. Jimmy Duckett hit into a fielder's choice, scoring Bobby Orr of the Boston Bruins scored a record 33 goals and 120 points for a defenseman last season during National Hockey League games.

Jones, but getting Barwick. Duckett came in on a single by Chuck Brown, closing the gap to one, but that was it. Jones led the Pepsi hitting with two, while Cobb, Wallace and Jester each had two for Planters.

Clay-Frazier Meet Closer?

DETROIT (AP) — Cassius Clay's 15-month rest from the prize-fighting ring appeared nearing an end today as groups in both Michigan and Washington moved to clear the way for a heavyweight title fight between the fiery ex-champ and Joe Frazier, now recognized as the world champ.

A fight promotion group, represented by former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, confirmed Wednesday they are trying to stage a heavyweight title fight between Clay, also known as Muhammad Ali, and Frazier.

There remained the possibility, meanwhile, that Clay might meet Frazier in Seattle this September.

The Washington Boxing Commission, which meets Friday, will consider licensing Clay. A group of Tacoma men filed formal application for the license Monday.

Clay held the world champion title until after his conviction for failure to report for Army duty. His case is being appealed.

Both Michigan Gov. William G. Milliken and State Boxing Commissioner Chuck Davey have indicated they would not oppose efforts to place the fight in Detroit.

A spokesman for the governor said if all legal technicalities are cleared, and Davey approves the fight, the governor would not stand in the way.

Davey said he could make no recommendation for the fight until formal papers, applying for sanctioning of the match, had been filed. "As far as I know, as things stand now," he said, "Clay would be allowed to fight here."

An attorney for Clay in Tacoma, Neil Hoff, said Clay's attorneys had authorized him to push for a fight in Seattle.

One member of the Washington Boxing Commission has stated his support for the license approval. Chairman Harry Lynch opposes the move.

The third and deciding member has not said what he would do, but there have been reports he is willing to grant the license.

The Detroit fight promotion group has reserved Cobo Hall for Monday night, Sept. 21.

A source in New York, who refused to give permission for use of his name, said the terms, already worked out once for a proposed Texas fight last December, would call for Clay and Frazier to receive $300,000 each as a guarantee and an equal percentage of the gate and all auxiliary rights.

Moose Take 9-6 Win Over Integon

The Moose stayed in reach of second place in the Tar Heel Little League with a 9-6 win over Integon yesterday. The loss assured Integon of no better than a tie for last place in the league.

The Graniteers are within one of wrapping up the title with a 12-1 record, while Pepsi-Cola is second at 10-3. The Moose are next at 9-4, followed by Exchange, 4-9, the Elks, 3-10, and Integon, 1-12. Each team has two games left.

The Moose pushed into the lead in the second inning, scoring four times. Mike Weston reached on a fielder's choice and Don Hawley reached on an error. Mickey Finn was safe on a fielder's choice, getting Hawley as Weston scored. A passed ball let Finn advance, and Jimmy Hodges walked. Henry Baker singled to score Finn and Greg Sasser walked. Keith Jones reached on an error, scoring Hodges and Baker.

In the fourth, the Moose added another run. Hawley singled and moved up on a passed ball. Finn doubled to drive Hawley over.

Integon came up with two runs in the bottom of the fourth, cutting the lead to 5-2. Howard Hill reached on an error and Jack Bratton was hit by a pitch.

Donald Blanchard reached on a fielder's choice and Jimmy Radford singled in Hill. Jimmy Miles walked to bring in Bratton.

Four more Moose runs scored in the fifth, wrapping it up for them. Jones led off, slamming a home run. Paul Farmer singled and Ross Hawkins got a hit. Weston singled in Farmer, but Hawkins was cut down. Weston advanced to third on wild pitches and Hawley walked. Finn reached on a fielder's choice, scoring Weston, but nailing Hawley. Hodges then doubled to drive in Finn.

Integon came up with two more in the fifth, making it 9-4. Ricky Overman reached on an error, stole second and moved to third on a passed ball. He scored when Worth Albea doubled and took third on an error. Hill singled in Albea.

Then, in the sixth, Integon got two more runs. Radford walked and came around on wild pitches. Miles also walked, and also came around on wild throws.

Albea had two hits to pace Integon, while no one had more than one for the Moose.

Charlotte Lawyer Says School Suit Is Coming

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Adam Stein, a Charlotte lawyer who has been active in civil rights cases, says a statewide suit will be filed in U. S. Dist. Court at the capital in Raleigh today aimed at desegregating all North Carolina school districts. Stein said the suit will ask the court to force state officials to withhold funds and assistance from districts which maintain dual school systems. It will charge that Raleigh and several smaller cities and counties maintain segregated schools, he added. Stein said the suit was being filed because "the federal government apparently is not going to do what is necessary to see that they (the state's schools) are desegregated." The Justice Department had said publicly that it was considering a state-wide desegregation suit against North Carolina. But it withdrew the threat two weeks ago when Asst. Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard said that the last of the illegal dual systems in the state would be eliminated this fall. Stein said suit is being filed by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund against the North Carolina Board of Education, School Supt. A. Craig Phillips, and School Controller A. C. Davis. Stein said the city school districts of Burlington, City Pasquotank, Goldsboro, New Bern, Raleigh, Rocky Mount, Tarboro and Wilson would be charged in the suit with maintaining dual systems. The county districts of

Special Council Meet Set

A special call meeting of the Greenville City Council has been scheduled for 9 o'clock tonight at City Hall to consider five items of business.

Councilmen, who will meet in the Mayor's office, are expected to act on the following items:

- adoption of a resolution establishing the tax rate for the city for the fiscal year 1970-71;
- approval of a notice announcing the presentation of the budget estimate for the 1970-71 fiscal year;
- setting a place and hour for a special call meeting on July 1, to consider an extension of the city's 1970-71 budget ordinance to cover Greenville's financial operations until the final budget is approved;
- a request for a trailer permit;
- a request for a refund of a $10 filing fee.

Bladen, Camden, Chatham, Currituck, Edgecombe, Guilford, Nash, Robeson, Rutherford, Nance and Wilson would be similarly charged, he said.

In Washington Wednesday, Julius Chambers of Charlotte charged before the Senate Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity that white Southerners have found in the White House a new ally for further frustration of the efforts of blacks for equal educational opportunities. Chambers is a law partner of Stein.

"Many district courts which had procrastinated over 15 years and had at last decided to fairly administer the law, suddenly found new and powerful opposition from the White House, and particularly from the Justice Department, and decided once again to 'go slow'," Chambers said.

Chambers urged that Congress establish a fund to help blacks pay for litigation of school desegregation cases. He also proposed that desegregated school systems be monitored. Some continue discriminatory practices, he said, after their systems have been certified to be in compliance with desegregation guidelines.

In the United States, 23 percent of the senior citizens living in families are living in three-generation households.

Hearings Are Set By Board

The proposed agenda for tonight's meeting of the Board of Adjustments will include public hearings on two requests for variances from city zoning ordinances and a request for a special use permit.

The board will act on a request for a variance by B. C. Branch in order that he may remodel his present service station located at the corner of Fifth and Ash Streets. Currently, the property is zoned under a "residential" classification.

Mrs. Doris Grubbs has requested a variance from a current city zoning ordinance in order to construct a two-car shelter on her property located at 407 West Fourth Street. Mrs. Grubbs' property is zoned "downtown commercial fringe."

The city-country board will consider a request for a special use permit by E. I. Harrington Jr. to construct multi-family dwellings at the intersection of Hooker Road and Arlington Drive Extended.

The apartment complex will be known as "Lakeview Terrace Apartments." The property is located outside the city limits and its zoned "residential-agricultural."

AMA Moves Away From Lone Practitioner Way

By BRIAN SULLIVAN AP Science Writer CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association has moved away from its traditional reliance on the lone, private practitioner as the backbone of the medical profession.

In a resolution adopted Wednesday at its 118th annual convention, the association said, "The AMA advocates factual investigation and objective experimentation in new methods of delivery of health care, while still maintaining faith and trust in the private practice of medicine and pride in its accomplishments."

Long regarded as a bastion of conservatism, the AMA has passed a series of resolutions which could liberalize the practice of medicine in the United States.

In one resolution, the AMA said it clearly recognizes that there is more to good health than just medical care. Also involved, the AMA said, are such matters as education, housing, environmental control, transportation, civil rights and alleviation of poverty.

"It is our obligation as a profession and an association," said the AMA's new president,

Dr. Walter C. Bornemeier, "to accept the obligations of leadership and to identify ourselves clearly with the legitimate concerns of the nation. We must continue to be innovative. We must adjust our education and our delivery system to the needs of the times."

Bornemeier urged throwing out the traditional method of training specialists in hospitals in favor of on-the-job training with practicing physicians on the outside.

"It is possible," the 69-year-old Chicago surgeon said, "that we might, almost overnight, add 50,000 doctors to the care of patients in our communities."

"If MD graduates could be trained in the active practice of medicine outside of the hospital with a physician or group approved for teaching, the doctor shortage would, in large measure, be solved," he added.

WINE FROM ARGENTINA BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Argentina ranks as the third major wine-producing country in the world. The nation's 22 million people drink about 64 quarts per capita in a year.

Scott Trying New Hair Style

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott isn't sure he's going to wear his new hairstyle regularly. He says he can't style it himself, and he doesn't have time to have it done for him every few days.

Scott caused comment Wednesday when he sported a haircut which looked slightly mod. The new style brought his hair farther forward on his forehead.

"It's not really mod, it's just a full cut," said barber Earl McLamb, who's been cutting Scott's hair for several years. The governor admitted, "Well, he did comb it a little different this time."

McLamb said, "We've been working up to this gradually for the past several weeks to cover an area which needs covering."

A bald spot? "You might say that," McLamb agreed.

Nationalization Of Railroads Is Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP) — Transportation Secretary John Volpe has told Congress the government might be forced to nationalize the country's railroads if federal aid is withheld from the Penn Central and other lines.

"If we do nothing, and all else fails, we only have the option of takeover of the railroads by the federal government," Volpe said Wednesday while testifying in support of a proposal to provide $750 million in emergency aid for the railways.

He told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee that the Penn Central, which has filed a petition for reorganization under the bankruptcy laws, was badly managed and any government aid would be made at high risk. But chances that the railroad would recover without federal help is a gamble at best, he said.

In Chicago, meanwhile, Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy told the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations the government should have made a "desperate" effort to save the railroad. But he said insufficient time was available to solve the firm's problems. He said other companies might face similar problems because "corporations operate with less cash than they used to."

Rep. James Harvey, R-Mich., questioned the aid package on grounds it could set a precedent that would force the federal government to put financial "life nets" under other transportation industries.

Undersecretary Charles Baker said the airline and trucking industries were not in the same trouble as the railroads, but "the government does have the responsibility to see they remain operating."

Volpe said the Penn Central probably would receive the first $200 million of the administration's $750 million standby loan proposal.

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., asked whether management acted wisely last year in its decision to pay $43 million in dividends in the face of a financial crisis.

Hormone Use In Cattle Lowers Beef Quality

By JOHN S. LANG
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Wide-spread use of an artificial hormone in fattening cattle has lowered the quality of beef sold to consumers, according to officials of several meat packing firms.

Noting that most of the complaints come from California packers, company officials suggested that liquid feeds used in the western cattle industry could cause excess moisture in meat.

A publication by Iowa State University, which conducted the first experiments in feeding DES to cattle, reports: "Cattle fed stilbestrol for shorter periods may contain less fat and somewhat more moisture and protein."

The publication adds that the differences disappear after cattle have been on the feed for 100 days or longer. It also cites studies showing no differences in tenderness and flavor of the meat.

Rep. J. J. Pickle, D-Tex., asked whether the Penn-Central was poorly managed.

Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., noted that he only looked at the matter briefly, said it was his impression "the investors have been getting their money out of the company while the company was starving for working capital."

Rep. Fred Rooney, D-Pa., said he would favor some sort of government takeover of rails. He called railroads "a monopoly whose only response to competition has been cutting service or raising rates."

Volpe said the railroads are essential for defense and the nation's economic health. To let the Penn Central cease operating would have dire effects on the whole economic system, he said, since 70 percent of all freight cars move over the company's rails at one time or another during a year.

But government officials, hormone manufacturers and other cattle industry sources dispute the packers' contention.

The hormone—known as DES—is fed to an estimated three-fourths of the 40 million cattle slaughtered annually in the United States.

However, Agriculture Department records show that its inspectors have detected residues of the hormone in about 1 of every 200 cattle checked. Meat with residues is condemned when found, but one government official said "I don't see how you can keep it all out."

Several meat packers said in interviews that the hormone, also known as diethylstilbestrol or stilbestrol, reduces beef quality.

"Meat today is not up to the texture of meat as we've known it over the years," said one Los Angeles packing house executive. "We took it up with government meat inspectors and they said soft and mushy meat had no harmful effects. But you wonder."

Cal Santare of the Western States Meat Packers Association says stilbestrol has a tendency to dissolve the marbling fat in beef. "The meat is very soft and watery," he said.

Government officials, however, contend DES-treated beef is as high in quality as untreated meat.

"It is no different in any way," said Dr. Joseph Stein, director of the Agriculture Department's slaughter inspection division. "As far as I know it has no bad effects."

Spokesmen for Ely Lilly & Co., one of the makers of the hormone, expressed surprise at the complaints. "Most studies I've seen," one said, "indicate DES improves the beef."

Where Have People Gone?

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Where have all the people gone?

That's the plaint of officials of many North Carolina cities, whose projection of population was much more than preliminary figures of the 1970 census.

Take Winston-Salem. The Twin City had hoped to move into the No. 2 spot, ahead of Greensboro and behind Charlotte. It had projected a population of 152,000. The census figures give it 133,820 and it remains in third place.

Joseph R. Norwood, regional census director in Charlotte, said, "It is unfortunate that some cities have just not grown as much as they anticipated."

"We used the conventional door-to-door collection methods in most of the state. And we used local people — taxpayers who are interested in their area being fairly counted."

The only major North Carolina city to lose population between the 1960 and 1970 census was Asheville, which fell from 60,192 to 55,032.

Barbour Is Out As Director

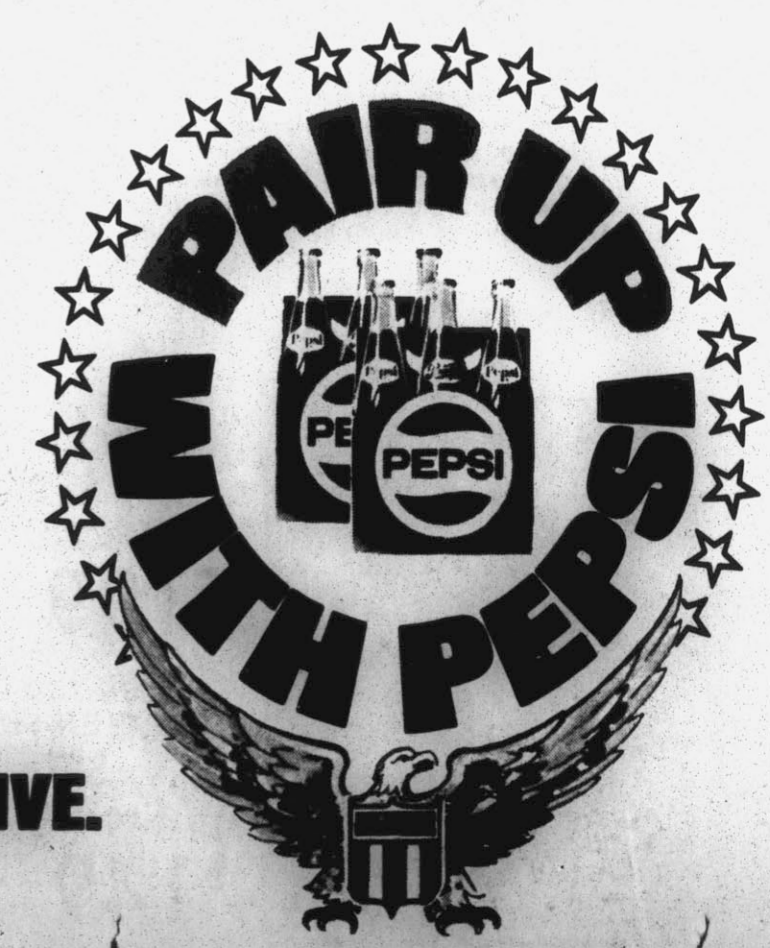

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Democratic Party Chairman Gene Simmons confirmed Wednesday that Charles (Chuck) Barbour is no longer the party executive director. Simmons said Barbour will divide his time between party headquarters and an advertising firm.

There are no plans to name another executive director anytime soon, Simmons said.

The Raleigh News and Observer reported the parttime arrangement was worked out a few days ago after Gov. Bob Scott refused to accept Barbour's resignation.

The Worry Clinic Public Boosts Medical Costs

Discuss Dr. Jason's gripe, for it is making medical care difficult for the average patient and also zooming hospital costs. Auto drivers likewise are burdened with exorbitant liability insurance premiums because of the uncertainty about what compensation a jury may approve. Imagine a 50-year-old railroader being awarded almost $1,000,000 just for loss of both legs.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.
Case N-542: Dr. Jason is a prominent California surgeon. "Dr. Crane," he groaned, "patients often moan about high medical fees nowadays. "But they have indirectly produced them. "For there in California one medic out of every 6 gets charged with malpractice by some patient!

And the amounts may be exorbitant!
"Why, one of my colleagues was thus sued for half a million dollars because of an unfortunate reaction to a simple polio shot.
"Yet it wasn't the doctor's fault at all for, as you know, every once in a blue moon a patient may react abnormally, despite perfect medical care.
"However, these zooming awards by the courts have forced the medical insurance companies to charge us medics $5,000 to $7,500 premiums on malpractice insurance.
"As a result, many doctors don't care to handle patients except for a limited number of wealthy clients.

"That's why they hesitate to stop and offer aid, even to auto accident victims, lest they may have a half million dollar suit slapped on them.
"Besides, when a patient goes to the hospital, his surgeon now must see that he is given dozens of tests and expensive X-rays, lest later he may be sued and charged with negligence for omitting some minor test that was even irrelevant to the patient's apparent trouble, anyway.
"By 1973, therefore, Dr. George W. Graham, the head of the American Hospital Association, has estimated it will cost approximately $100 per day for each hospital room! Compulsory national health insurance seems inevitable!
"And Medicare bills will likewise zoom so much that taxpayers will groan loudly, even before they enter a hospital!
"Dr. Crane, since you are a medic and influence millions of laymen daily via your syndicated column, can't you help warn the public that they are, indirectly the cause of our higher medical fees?
Dr. Jason's remarks may be surprising to you laymen but are well understood by all physicians and Dental Surgeons.

Maybe it is time to set a standard top limit for legal awards, such as $25,000 for loss of life.
This would not only help reduce health charges everywhere, but also lower automobile insurance rates, too.
Many a talented doctor who has been "burned" by a former suit against him when he stopped to aid an auto injury case, now refuses to do so any more.
"Dr. Crane," he may say,

"why should I try to help an accident victim and get sued for half a million because the ambulance attendant left my tourniquet on too long, after I had sent the patient to the local hospital?"
Also, compensation claims against railroads, airlines and private factories are also often exorbitant.
Recently a man, aged 50, gained an award of almost one million dollars for loss of both legs, yet he was probably at fault, though he claimed a shunted freight car was sent down his track.
That was a normal hazard of his job! If he had slowed down his own reaction time by consuming a couple of beers for lunch, why penalize the employer so outlandishly?

Besides, men can still work with artificial legs. And he had only 15 years more before compulsory retirement!
So let's have more "horse sense" injected into the legal field!
YOUNG, OLD TOWNS
HELSINKI (UPI)—There were 50 towns in Finland as of Jan. 1, 1970. The youngest, Kerava, was born at midnight Jan. 1 and the oldest, Turku, was founded early in the 14th century.

NOT OUT OF BOUNDS
LIMA, Peru (UPI)—Penguins and sea lions can be found in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of Peru, only 10 degrees from the equator. The reason is the cold stream of water known as the Humboldt current.

MINORS IN TROUBLE
TOKYO (UPI)—Tokyo metropolitan police arrested 15,739 minors on criminal charges during 1969, including 32 murder suspects. Population of Tokyo is 11.4 million.

Support Asked For Strikers

GREENSBORO (AP) - A group of Negro leaders asked residents of the Negro community Wednesday to provide moral and financial support for 73 fired garbage workers.

The statement called on Negro residents to also boycott and picket all banks that are distributing plastic garbage bags, refuse to accept the bags and to attend a mass meeting tonight.

The strike goes into its 10th day today. The garbage workers are seeking $2.34 per hour.

CARD OF THANKS

I WOULD LIKE TO EXPRESS my appreciation to the doctors, nurses & staff for their services rendered me during my stay at Pitt Memorial Hospital. Also my many thanks to my friends & relatives for the cards, gifts, flowers, visits & many kindnesses. May God Bless You All.

SOME PEOPLE THINK ELECTRIC HEAT IS ONLY FOR THE RICH.

Except those who have it.

Rich in expectations, maybe. Rich in possessions, not necessarily. People who choose electric heat have one thing in common. When they make an important purchase such as a first home, they look for value throughout.

They prefer electric heat because it's cleaner, safer, quieter, and more flexible than any other heating system. It's the only system that will be as up-to-date when they sell their house as it was when they bought.

If you're considering a new home, consider all of the advantages of electric heat. Ask yourself whether any other heating system offers more value for the money than flameless electric heat.

Talk to your contractor or builder who sells electrically heated homes. He's an expert in real heating value.

And if people want to think you're rich-enjoy it!
