City Budget Holds To $1.54 Tax Rate

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

City Councilmen last night adopted a tentative budget for the fiscal year 1970-71 calling for $2,293,003.76 and entailing a city tax rate of $1.54 per $100 property valuation, a rate identical to the one established for 1969-70.

The tentative figures represent an increase of $171,864.01 over the $2,121,139.75 agreed on for the year now concluding.

Adoption of the same tax rate that was used for 1969-70 means that the general tax rate will be figured on the basis of $1.43 per $100. An added 11 cents per $100 city debt service rate keeps the overall structure at $1.54.

Included in the total budget picture, city manager Harry Hagerty pointed out, are provisions for the addition of six policemen and six firemen to the respective city departments, in addition to numerous other budget considerations.

Total salaries for city employees are increased from $1,197,176.72 for 1969-70 to $1,336,371.72 for 1970-71, an increase of $139,195.00.

Hagerty noted that an item of major consideration was the adjustment of fringe benefits for the coming year. The adopted budget calls for an increase in benefits from $135,818.78 to $153,914.00.

Among the items affected by the fringe benefits are social security, hospitalization, group insurance, retirement, life insurance equal to one year's salary, workman's compensation, uniforms and maintenance, and cash longevity payments.

The budget also calls for increased vacation benefits, increased sick leave, military leave, maternity leave, civil leave, and petty leave.

Major items of revenue for the city budget include: Greenville Utilities Commission, $418,173.18; Powell Bill, $130,000; beer and wine taxes, $45,000; street assessments, $25,000; parking meters, $28,000; intangible tax, $55,000; and North Carolina franchise tax, $75,000.

Expenditures, by departments, call for funds to be earmarked for: Public Works Department, $665,806; Police Department, $524,988.72; Fire Department, $360,216; Recreation Department, $179,595; City Clerk and Tax Collector Department, $130,378; City Manager Department, $41,558; Building and Grounds, $33,155; Engineering Department, $25,200; Mayor and Council, $26,539; Rescue Department, $20,238; and Building and Housing Inspector, $23,829.

By breakdown, the total of $665,806 earmarked for the Public Works Department covers sanitation, $314,256; street maintenance, $213,465; street cleaning, $37,364; garage, $34,102; administrative, $30,817; cemetery, $26,761; and malaria control,

A total of $101,172.50 has been included in the tentative budget for special appropriations with Sheppard Memorial Library getting an appropriation of $82,732.

Other special funds include $10,340.50 for the Airport Authority, $2,000.00 for the Art Center and $2,500.00 for the Pitt County Health Department.

The contingency funds total $55,479.64 with major items calling for $20,000 for purchase of recreation land, $20,000 for cost of city's share of a Community Building, and $2,404.64 for the Mid-East Airport Authority.

Overall, the adopted figures also include funds for the purchase of an 85-foot ladder and snorkel truck for the Fire Department and additional fire fighting and training materials. Also consideration provided by the budget include funds for remodeling the Court Room and construction of a Police Assembly Room.

In addition, funds have been earmarked for the purchase of six new police vehicles and new police communications systems, additional rescue equipment and curb, gutter and paving expenses of $42,000.

The curb, gutter, and paving item on the budget, Hagerty pointed out, represents a figure considerably less than the roughly $270,000 petition figure facing the city during the 1969-70 budget sessions.

For this reason, the fact that so much of the work that needed to be done in the city was done during the current fiscal year — the city goes into the upcoming year in a much better financial light, Hagerty said.

Consequently, not having to spend as much on street work and the like this year allows for increases and adjustments on salaries and other matters.

By law, the tentatively adopted budget may be revised at any time during the next 20 days. The permanent budget for the City of Greenville may be adopted at any time between the 17th of July and the 28th of July and can be changed during that period.

A complete copy of the 1970-71 budget will be on file in the office of the City Clerk and will be open for public inspection during the 20-day period.

Also last night, councilmen set a public hearing for July 9 to hear a request by Grover Edwards to secure a trailer permit on Memorial Drive. The trailer, it was noted, is to be used as an office for a used car lot.

Council members also voted to refund a $10 filing fee to Sam Price since his notice of request to appear before the Board of Adjustments was not advertised.

Supplemental School Tax Vote Set For Tomorrow

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville school district voters will decide tomorrow whether a supplemental tax will be levied for the Greenville City Schools.

While some services will be added if the vote is affirmative, most of the increased funding will be used to meet rising operational costs and increasing demands on public schools.

The tax can be levied for school operations beyond federal, state, and county-wide financial support, but only with the approval of the voters.

Polls will be open at Third Street School and at the Elm Street Gymnasium tomorrow between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.

Citizens should vote at the place they registered.

Cities the size of Greenville may establish a 50-cent district tax ceiling under the appropriate statutes; however, the voted ceiling here has been 25 cents for over 30 years. The Board of Education adopts and presents the annual budget, based on the justifiable needs of the schools, to the county commissioners, who study it and levy school taxes to meet the budget insofar as they feel they can. Public schools are fiscally dependent upon the county commissioners since there is no municipal government support.

Supplemental funding is needed, the Greenville City Schools Board of Education feels, since county-wide tax levy cannot support city school to the extent desired by the citizens of Greenville. All county-wide support must, under the law, be distributed between Pitt County Schools and Greenville City Schools on the basis of the number of students in the respective units. County-wide current expense levy is now 29 cents on the hundred-dollar assessed valuation with Greenville citizens paying a 25-cent district tax above the 29-cent county-wide levy.

"The election question is whether to permit the district levy to go to the statutory limit of 50 cents, if needed," Steering Committee vice-chairman, William Glidewell said. "This does not mean that the district levy will increase the full amount — this depends upon final county-wide levy decisions by the County Commissioners. "Even a 25-cent district extends beyond the limits of the City of Greenville and encompasses approximately 45 percent of the taxable property valuation of all of the county and some 32.12 percent of its children. Some 6,000 children are now enrolled in Greenville City Schools.

A rule of thumb for a citizen's estimating how much his taxes would increase if the full 25-cent levy were used is as follows: Property is assessed for tax purposes at 50 percent of its actual value. A person worth $25,000 would pay taxes on an assessed value of $12,500. Therefore, a full 25-cent levy increase would result in a tax increase for him of $31.25 per year. However, if the district increase should be only ten cents, the annual increase would be $12.50.

Students attending Greenville schools from outside the district pay $60 per year tuition to offset Greenville district taxes. City School Superintendent C.

C. Cleetwood said, "The referendum is necessary because the county commissioners could not pledge to meet the budgeted needs of Greenville City Schools. On a county-wide basis, a 35-cent increase would be necessary to meet the requirements of the Greenville budget; on a district basis 25 cents would do it — because of pro rata sharing principles."

Inflated costs and bigger demands on public schools have resulted in a budget approximately $193,000 above present level resources. Some $40,000 of this amount represented a budgeted deficit in income for the present year and an additional $20,000 reflects emergency needs encountered during the past year. Another $50,000 is required to meet increased fixed charges and expenses such as matching state salary increases for locally paid teachers, meeting increased minimum wage requirements, Social Security, retirement benefits, and insurance premiums.

These are the services which would be added if the voters okay the additional levy: Funds for instructional supplies will be increased by $15,500. A home economics teacher, a trades and industry teacher, a guidance counselor, an elementary art teacher, and an elementary physical education teacher will be added. Improvements will be made to transportation services.

The consequences of a negative vote, according to Dr. W. C. Sanderson, chairman of the Referendum Steering Committee, would be reduction of some services provided in 1969-70, most likely by leaving unfilled some 13 teaching positions now vacant due to normal end of year retirements and resignations and the addition of none of the services listed in the previous paragraph.

Dr. Cleetwood cited as a last appeal some of the improvements to the Greenville school system that have been made in the past few years and he urged parents and friends of the schools to vote for the increase that would keep the quality trend moving upward. New schools have been opened — Sadie Sautler, Eastern, and Aycock. A unitary school with all schools receiving the same level of support has been tried to keep abreast of as many current curriculum developments as has been possible. Some of these are non-graded elementary school programs, improved and expanded special education programs, a model junior high school program with interest and exploratory opportunities to complement the basal program and remedial programs including a reading laboratory, expanded and diversified senior high school programs to provide over 70 course offerings including occupational education — distributive education, industrial cooperative training, home occupations, office occupations, masonry, and carpentry; and in-service programs for personnel.

Long Dry Spell Comes To End

A long dry spell which has caused farmers to worry about their crops and many homeowners to worry about their lawns was relieved when a slow, soaking rain began to fall last night.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission weather station, a total of .75 of an inch of rainfall fell over the Pitt County area last night.

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending this morning at eight o'clock was reported as 92 degrees, while the low for that same period was set at 69 degrees.

Sam Weeks, tobacco specialist with the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service, said the way the rain fell should be very beneficial and will be utilized by the crops.

It is hard to say how much the rain will help the crops," Weeks said, "but every bit helps. If we have a cloudy overcast today, that will help the crops, too."

Weeks said the rainfall last night is not sufficient for the amount needed in the county, but the rain received was a great help.

"Some sections in the county have had fair rainfall and the crops look good," Weeks explained, "while other areas have not had much rain and the crops are critical. Rain is still needed over the entire county."

The Tar River level was reported at 1.6 feet and slowly rising by the weather station.

Togetherness Is Theme Of Presidential Talk

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, returning to the theme of his inaugural address, says it's time to "bring Americans together" instead of "having America torn apart." This was his appeal to a wildly enthusiastic crowd in St. Louis Thursday as he stopped off en route to his seaside villa here. Normally a reserved, even remote man, Nixon kept expressing himself during the westward journey in an off-the-cuff style that produced something new at each stop. Some examples: —While appealing in St. Louis for national unity, racial harmony and a closing of the generation gap, he declared that although some "believe the nation is coming apart at the seams," more should be heard about "what is right about America." He spoke without text or notes.

—To a handful of newsmen at Scott Air Force Base at Belleville, Ill., he went out of his way to reveal that he plans no 1970 campaign speeches, at least for the foreseeable future, and believes he can do best for Republican candidates by making a good record in Washington.

—Handshaking well-wishers at a Marine air base near here, he disclosed he will make a "final report" Tuesday on the entry of U.S. ground forces in Cambodia. The exact format of the report has not been determined.

—At the same stop, Nixon announced he will appear live on the three major television networks for an hour Wednesday, at 10 p.m. EDT, to answer foreign affairs questions posed by network newsmen John Chancellor of NBC, Eric Sevareid of CBS and Howard K. Smith of ABC.

Nixon even added a social note: He and wife Pat will go to nearby Newport Beach Saturday for the wedding of a niece.

The President was playing host today to some 50 editors, publishers and broadcast industry executives. He arranged for them to be briefed before and after a presidential lunch by Dr. Henry A. Kissinger and other White House foreign policy advisers.

The chief executive's St. Louis speech was delivered in more personal and emotional terms that he normally employs and won prolonged and repeated applause from a crowd of 14,000 attending the 50th anniversary convention of the United States Jaycees.

Convention Here Sat.

The bi-annual First Congressional District Democratic Convention will be held here tomorrow beginning at 11 a.m. at the Pitt County Court House.

Delegates from the 19 counties comprising the First district were elected at the various county conventions held earlier this month.

Tomorrow, they will select a district executive committee, name members of the state executive committee, and select delegates to the state convention.

Miss Janice Hardison has been named temporary chairman of the convention and will preside at the opening of the session.

BAGS OF MARIJUANA . . . and other drugs confiscated in raid yesterday are displayed by officers.

Six Are Charged With Drug Law Violations

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Six persons were arrested here on drug law violation charges as a joint law enforcement team raided a house at 1012 Cotanche St. late yesterday morning and found a quantity of drugs, including about two pounds of marijuana.

The raid on the dwelling was made by a joint Police Department Sheriff's Office - State Bureau of Investigation drug team established several months ago to handle drug case investigations.

Spokesmen for the joint force identified those charged as: Gene Wall Cole, 18, a native of Charleston, S.C.; Ronald Wyman, 24, native of Jacksonville, Fla.; Geraldine Hoose, 19, of Whiteville; Anita Harrison, 20, of LaGrange; Grace Rountree 17, of Goldsboro; and Debbie Umansay, 18 of Pennsylvania and Jacksonville, Fla. All at present, were living at the Cotanche house, and all were charged with possession of marijuana.

In addition to the marijuana charge, Miss Hoose was charged with possessing cocaine.

Officers found part of the marijuana hidden in the attic of the house and an additional quantity hidden under the house. The cocaine was in a handbag, officers reported. Some hashish

(a refined form of marijuana) and keefe (also derived from the marijuana plant, were also found, as were other drugs which have been sent to the SBI laboratory for identification.

Value of the confiscated marijuana was set at $600 wholesale ($300 per pound).

All the individuals were placed in Pitt County jail under $2,500 bond each, and a preliminary hearing was set for July 8, in District Court.

Senate OKs Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has approved a $4.75 billion education money bill that is nearly $800 million more than President Nixon requested but includes the initial funds wanted by the White House for aiding desegregating schools.

The bill was passed 74 to 4 early today, capping a long session that didn't end until after midnight in the second half of a two-session day designed to clear a work load backed up by the debate over Cambodia.

Two Pitt Sites On Barge Tour

PROPOSED BARGE SITES. . . Discussing the possibility of barge sites at Pactolus and Grimesland yesterday were Tom Willis, director of the Regional Development Institute at East Carolina University, as the factors of the areas surrounding the properties.

Leak said the 28 persons on the tour were industrial developers representing commerce and industry as well as members of the C & D Department of Raleigh.

The 20 sites on the tour, from Brunswick County to Elizabethtown, included stops at Edenton, Plymouth, Belhaven, Pactolus, Grimesland, New Bern, Morehead City, Pender County, Wilmington, Elizabethtown and Fayetteville.

Leak said the group was looking at recreational aspects as well as industrial.

The tour was sponsored by the East Carolina Regional Development Institute, the Coastal Plains Regional Institute and the North Carolina Department of C&D.

A tour of proposed barge sites in Pitt County was held Thursday morning by the North Carolina Department of Conservation and Development's Division of Commerce and Industry.

The two Pitt County sites, one at Pactolus and the other at Grimesland, were among the 20 navigable water barge sites in eastern North Carolina that were visited by the 28 men making the trip.

The sites comprise about 16,000 acres of industrial property in the area from the South Carolina line and the Virginia line.

According to Robert Leak, administrator of commerce and industry with the Department of Conservation and Development, the tour was held to familiarize those directly responsible in handling industrial prospects with the available sites as well

Women Shop For Anybody Can Err— Couple Weds In Friday Ceremony

The President Even Clergyman

By HUGH McDONALD
WASHINGTON (WNS) — Mrs. Helen LaFond of Detroit goes price shopping three times a week for President Nixon.

She finds out for him what hamburgers cost in Detroit restaurants, how much men's clothes cost at downtown department stores, and the price of new cars at Detroit automobile dealers.

Mrs. LaFond is a "reporter" for the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, and what she and 188 other housewives across the country find out each month is vital to the White House.

From a list of more than 400 items the women regularly price, the Labor Department determines the monthly Consumer Price (CPI), which the President uses to learn whether inflation is increasing or declining and at what rate. In fact, he uses the CPI as the single most important indicator in determining the nation's basic economic policies.

And though the index is most commonly used to tell consumers exactly how much prices have risen (no one can remember when they last fell), the CPI is even more crucial to millions of workers, whose wages are directly tied to the index.

Paychecks
For example, when the index showed that prices rose 5.4 per cent last year, the paychecks of nearly a million autoworkers were adjusted upward, as were the pensions of 300,000 retired civil service employees.

Some long-term leases have automatic adjustment clauses based on the index. It is also used for adjusting royalties and welfare checks, and occasionally even plays a role in figuring alimony payments.

What exactly is the CPI and how is it arrived at?

The index, which the Labor Department began compiling in 1917 as an aid to businesses and unions in negotiating wage contracts, covers prices of everything people buy for a living.

It includes food, clothing, automobiles, homes, housefurnishings, fuel, drugs and recreation costs; fees paid to doctor, lawyers and beauty shops; rent, repair costs, transportation fares and telephone rates. It even includes sales and excise taxes.

The "pricing reporters," such as Mrs. LaFond, visit a total of 18,000 stores and businesses in 56 cities on a regular basis. Part-time reporters price items in 23 small cities to insure that the CPI does reflect an accurate, representative sampling.

Most establishments, like grocery stores, restaurants, pharmacies and department stores are visited every month.

Barbers
Others, like barber shops, bowling alleys and funeral homes, are visited quarterly or annually.

The figures from each of the cities are then sent to Washington, where they are fed into computers, interpreted and published, as the revised Consumer Price Index.

Mrs. LaFond, for example, one of six "reporters" working out of the Detroit office, visits more than 300 different establishments in Greater Detroit each year and every month fills out detailed forms on price changes of nearly 200 items. She checks menus at restaurants, the price of nails at hardware stores, and will often spend an entire day pricing scores of items at department stores.

"They all know me by now so there's never any problem," she says. "All the data is confidential anyway, and the stores cooperate voluntarily."

Mrs. LaFond, a widow and grandmother of 11, has been pricing items for the Labor Department since 1960.

Detailed
Product specifications on the reporter's pricing forms are so detailed that the margin for error is virtually nil. The lists specify, for example, "shrimp, frozen, breaded, 10 oz.," or "Plymouth Fury, 1970, 8-cylinder, automatic transmission, radio, white sidewall tires."

What the Consumer Price index is not, however, is a "cost of living index," though it commonly is referred to as such.

"Although the CPI measures changes in prices — the most important cause in fluctuation is the cost of living — it does not indicate how much families actually spend to defray their living expenses," said Dr. Joel T. Popkin, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

"In other words, we know exactly how much prices are changing, but we don't know precisely how people are spending their money. Where they may have been buying steak in 1960, they may be buying hamburger instead in 1970."

The last detailed survey of family spending habits was conducted in 1960-61, when more than 40,000 families were interviewed.

Thus that base year, from which today's price changes are measured, may be somewhat out of date.

The Labor Department, for example, determined from the 1960 survey that wage earners and clerical workers spent 22 cents out of every dollar for food, 33 cents for housing, nearly 20 cents for transportation and between 10 and 11 cents for clothing.

New Survey
The department is now planning a new nationwide survey of the precise spending habits of 55,000 sample families.

Further, while the index measures prices it cannot measure such intangibles as consumer satisfaction or length of product usage — factors which would be significant in gauging the true cost of living.

"If new blankets are warmer," says a BLS publication, "we still report the change in the price of the blanket, not a unit of warmth. No price quotation is available on a measure of warmth."

Yet a warmer blanket might result in the purchase of one rather than two blankets — a plus for the consumer not suggested by the Index. Similarly, there would be a hidden minus if a new appliance needed more frequent repairs than the old one.

Nevertheless, the CPI is still the most accurate indicator available on the cost of living.

Good Price For Future Wife

NAZARETH (WNS) — Peter Barnett and Mary Sellens, students of theology and engaged to be married, were looking at monuments here when a man in long robes offered Peter $35.00 for outright purchase of his future bride. Peter told him that the lady is not for selling and hurried to leave. Miss Sellens commented later, "It's nice to know that you're admired, but it's a bit scary, too."

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)
DEAR ABBY: This is the third time I've written to you about my problem. I tore the other letters up, but I am determined to mail this one.

A while ago, I overheard my clergyman talking to a young woman who is a member of his congregation. [She is married and has children, too.] He told her it was all over between them, and that if his wife hadn't been in the hospital it never would have happened. He said they should go on as though nothing had happened.

I was so shocked, I could hardly believe my ears. This minister has done so much for the community and is so loved and respected by all who know him. He also has a lovely wife and family.

I told my husband about it, and he said we all make mistakes and I should keep quiet because if this ever got out it would hurt the church.

Now I can't even look at that worthless man without thinking what a hypocrite he is to preach about "honor and fidelity." I would like to be able to forgive and forget, but I just can't do it. I have lost all faith in him. Can you advise me?

DISILLUSIONED

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: I think your husband has the right attitude. Clergymen are not saints. They are men with all the human frailties that men are heir to. One swallow doesn't make a summer. And one flaw doesn't make a man worthless. You CAN forgive if you sincerely want to, which you seem unwilling to do. And THAT'S your problem!

DEAR ABBY: This isn't really a "problem," it's a question: When you have overnight guests, and they don't specify that they want to be up at a certain time and no arrangements have been made by either party prior to bed time, is it proper etiquette for the guests to get up before the hosts? This happened recently, and we thought it rather unusual since we more or less took it for granted that they wanted to sleep in since there were no plans for them to leave early. By the time I had gotten up they were already sitting at the kitchen table.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Genuine hospitality is making guests feel as comfortable as possible. [I hope you didn't let your "wonderment" show.] But when no mention is made of what time breakfast will be served, the guests get up whenever they feel like it. Yours did. You shouldn't have expected them to stay undercover until you were up and about.

DEAR ABBY: In answer to DOUBLE IN SPADES who had problems with a man who tried to play "footsies" with her under the bridge table:

I find that whenever a pass is made under the table or over the table, the best way of handling it is to openly make a remark about it as though it were an accident, such as, "O, excuse me, did I kick your foot—or bump your knee?" Then move your leg. This will let everyone at the table know that you are not a footsie player.

This also works with men who try to get overly affectionate. I say so everyone can hear, "Hey, are you making a play for me? You MUST be kidding." Sure cools them off fast.

BEEN THERE AND IT WORKS

CONFIDENTIAL TO NANCY: If your "steady" objects to your writing to a male pen pal in South America, quit the pen pal and tell him why. [A bird in the hand is worth two in the mailbox.]

Prediction Was Needless Worry

OLDHAM, England (WNS) — Superstitious all her life, Ruth Pearce predicted bad luck when a mirror that had hung on the living-room wall for 20 years fell and crashed. Two days later she won $200 at bingo. Three days after that, her husband won $120 in a football pool. To finish the week, their daughter was accepted for university.

WINTERVILLE — In a formal candlelight service at the Rose Hill Free Will Baptist Church on Friday, June 19, at 7:00 p.m., Miss Donna Suzanne Wilson became the bride of Ira Michael Gray.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jamie L. Wilson of Winterville and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Matthew Gray of Washington.

The Rev. Floyd B. Cherry of Greenville officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Corabob Turnage and Steven Levin, soloist, cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an empire styled gown of polyester dotted Swiss over nylon organdy. The gown was styled with a two-piece collar, low V-shaped neckline and a gathered skirt. The collar, sleeves and skirt were trimmed with lace.

She wore a full length silk illusion veil trimmed with matching lace attached to a pillbox headpiece covered with the same material as her gown. She carried a formal cascade of pink miniature roses and stephanotis centered with a white cattleya orchid.

Miss Kathy Wilson, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and Mrs. Dianne Stancill, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Susan Gray, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid.

The bridegroom's father served as best man. Ushers were Jimmy Walker and Paige Davis of Washington, Leon Wilson and William Wilson, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Ira Michael Gray

For a wedding trip to the coast, the bride changed into a pink flowered polyester knit A-line dress and matching accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Washington.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Washington High School and is employed by Thomas Howard Wholesale, Washington.

After-Rehearsal
Following the rehearsal, Mr. and Mrs. Delano Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Snodie Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Lendysier Stancill entertained the Gray-Wilson wedding party.

The bridal couple cut the traditional first slice of wedding cake which was served by Mrs. Nancy Wilson, aunt of the bride. Punch was poured by Mrs. Carolyn Tucker, aunt of the bride.

Miss Frances Jones presided at the guest register.

The table was covered with a white lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of roses flanked by candles.

Shower Given Miss Sasser

GRIFTON — Miss Kay Sasser, July bride-elect of Bill Everett of Ayden, was honored at a bridal shower at the Pleasant Hill Church social hall.

Mrs. Marvin Bunn, Mrs. Lynwood Sasser, Mrs. R. J. Howell and Mrs. Albert Pierce were hostesses.

A pink and green color scheme was carried out in decorations. The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink gladioli with pink candles in silver holders.

Upon arrival, the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. J. B. Sasser, and the mother of the bridegroom-elect, Mrs. William Everett of Ayden, were presented white carnation corsages.

Fruit punch was poured by Mrs. Sasser while Mrs. Everett served cake. Assisting in serving was Miss Gail Sasser, sister of the honoree.

Pennsylvania Housewife Raises Sheep And Weaves With Wool

By JEAN CONNOLLY
Reading Eagle Writer
READING, Pa. (AP) — In this modern, scientific world where technology is making the role of the housewife less burdensome, it is news when a woman spins her own yarn, weaves her own fabric and turns the materials into a wardrobe. Mrs. Howard J. Summons does all this and goes even further. She raises her own raw materials.

Mrs. Summons, wife of a Reading ologist, keeps her own flock of sheep, an Angora goat and six dogs at her home to make her hobby possible. It all started 13 years ago when the couple purchased an old farmhouse, barn and out-buildings situated on 30 acres of field, meadows and woodland. At the time she did not know that she would eventually have three spinning wheels and two looms to turn out anything from placemats to rugs, in addition to blouses, stoles and sweaters. The spinning arose out of the necessity to use the wool from a flock of sheep she bought just as the sheep arose out of the necessity to maintain the grounds.

"When we acquired the property in 1956 to use as a summer home," the doctor's wife declared, "we needed a lawn mower. Since sheep are notorious for leveling everything that grows close to the ground, I went to buy two, but came home with a truckload full of them. The job was completed in practically no time," Mrs. Summons laughed. "We had no fences around the place and the sheep wandered everywhere."

Later, after purchasing a ram, production really got under way.

Caring for the animals required so much time that Dr. and Mrs. Summons finally remodeled the home so they could live there year-round. Then added a full basement and extra rooms. That was about five years ago.

Mrs. Summons' indoor guests include over 300 pounds of Newfoundland—a big dog named Needles and her pup, Little Pins, plus two others, Buster and Lady Beth. The menagerie also includes Bino, an Angora goat of a rather sensitive nature and two Scotch collies.

Mrs. Summons is particularly pleased with her experiments with dog hair. The sleeveless sweater she knitted for her husband out of collie fur and a stole of Newfoundland are luxuriously soft and light in weight. The fur she uses is that which is brushed from the dogs' coats during grooming.

Still experimenting, Mrs. Summons plans to reinforce the toes and heels of socks with mohair from her coat for added strength. The wool from each sheep varies in color and texture. The design in an afghan she crocheted was achieved with the wool from different sheep.

Although she has been spinning her own yarn for the past three or four years, Mrs. Summons said she still considers herself to be in the learning stage. The sweaters she knits are mostly for Christmas gift-giving.

Mrs. Summons, a native of Heidelberg, Germany, came to this country in 1936. After completing training as a nurse at the Reading Hospital, she was employed at the institution. It was there that she met her husband, a resident physician at the time.

Occasionally people inquire why Mrs. Summons does not go back into hospital work now that her two sons are grown.

She replies that she has her own nursery ward for animals—right in her own house.

Meanwhile, Dr. Summons keeps furthering his wife's interests by bringing her books on the hobby. This past summer she raised her own nettles and thistles, which are now being processed. She plans to incorporate the fibers in the warp of other materials during the long winter months.

"The actual time spent sorting the fibers," Mrs. Summons revealed, "takes much longer than making them into the finished product." Her next project will be the study and use of homemade dyes, the plants for which she plans to raise herself.

Vote YES For Your Schools Tomorrow

This Is A Worthy Proposal

Tomorrow some 3,000 voters will decide whether Greenville District Schools will be provided the financial support to continue their present level of programs or have to curtail the quality to continue their present level of programs or have to curtail the quality of educational opportunities provided for the youngsters of this community.

For some voters it will be a tough decision. On the one hand, a vote for the schools and the kind of educational program that has been provided in the past means a vote for a tax increase. A vote against the proposed increase in the maximum school district levy for current expenses also will be a vote against providing the youngsters of this district the quality education they have been offered in prior years.

For decades Greenville has provided in its schools an enriched educational program by such things as hiring additional teachers above the number allotted by the state. This has meant a broader range of subjects than otherwise would be available to the students. It has meant a better quality teaching because teachers with special skills could teach in their field rather than having to teach a variety of subjects. It has meant smaller classes because local funds have been used to pay the full salaries of additional teachers who were not allotted under the state system. In materials, supplies, special education programs paid for out of supplemental local funds, the local school program also has been enriched.

The present maximum tax levy of 25 cents per hundred for current expenses in this school district has been in effect for more than 30 years. It has reached the point that the 25 cent maximum levy just will not provide sufficient dollars to maintain the local school operation at its present level. Funds for such purposes are not available from other sources and therefore the program must be curtailed unless more local dollars are provided.

It is not easy for the average voter to go to the polls and vote for even a modest tax increase. Yet, there can be no question about the worthiness of this proposal.

Failure of the Greenville School District to provide the youngsters of this community the kind of educational opportunities they need will in the long run be far more costly to local citizens than the modest tax increase being proposed.

We urge those citizens who registered for this special referendum to carry out their citizenship responsibility by casting a ballot tomorrow. We urge them to vote for the needs of this community and its young people by voting in favor of increasing the maximum local tax levy for current school expenses.

Huge Budget Is Considered

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH, N. C. — Allocation of nearly $170 million for road building and upkeep in the fiscal year beginning July 1 was placed before the State Highway Commission meeting Thursday.

It's a healthy $12½ million increase over allocations for the current fiscal year, first under the two-cent additional gasoline tax approved by the 1969 General Assembly, and approximately $73 million above the 68-69 allocations prior to the tax boost.

Two factors stand out in the 70-71 allocations: more emphasis upon primary highway construction, increased $9 million; and the climbing cost of maintenance on the secondary system, rising by about $3 million per year.

Highway Administrator George Willoughby said the allocations will provide "great benefit to the state's road system." He noted that the current Commission now has 10 months experience under its belt, and a seasoned understanding of the state's highway system and its needs.

The allocations represent the amount the highway department proposes to spend in the coming year on construction and maintenance of primary, secondary and urban highways from revenues coming into the highway fund, principally from the nine-cent per gallon gasoline tax. It does not include money (unspent from the $300 million issue approved in the administration of former Governor Dan Moore) or federal aid.

Neither does it include matching state funds for federal projects, nor the Powell Bill distribution to municipalities which amounts to about $12 million (representing one-half cent of the gasoline tax).

The 70-71 allocations break down between primary, secondary and urban highways in this way: primary, construction $50 million, maintenance $36 million; secondary, construction $13.4 million, maintenance $49 million; urban, construction $15 million, maintenance $5¼ million; public service roads, construction $1,471,000.

It is an interesting observation that the one-year total from current revenues under Governor Bob Scott approaches the $200 million bond issue approved in his father's administration.

As an historical footnote, the final payment on that bond issue was made just this week. Highway Chairman Lauch Faircloth turned over to Governor Scott a check for $8,800,000 which marked paid-in-full to the 1949 bonds.

The one-cent of the gasoline tax which off the bonds now will be devoted to retiring the bonds authorized in the Moore administration. The $200 million bond issue initiated by Governor Kerr Scott was earmarked for secondary road construction. It is the network of black-top roads resulting from the bond issue which is largely responsible for the maintenance costs on the secondary system, now nearly $1 million per week.

The primary construction allocation includes $5 million (10 per cent of the total) divided among the 23 highway commissioners for use at their discretion (subject to commission approval) within their division, based on primary mileage in the division. The remainder will be allotted to projects on a statewide basis.

Ten million of the secondary construction allocation is allotted to the divisions on the basis of unpaved secondary mileage in each division. The remainder will be used on a statewide basis, taking into account priorities of need.

Allocations to the divisions of primary and secondary construction funds follow, with primary funds listed first:

- Division One, $178,000 and $200,000; Two, $251,000 and $440,000; Three, $222,000 and $192,000; Four, $241,000 and $336,000; Five, $313,000 and $468,000; Six, $212,000 and $221,000; Seven, $211,000 and $388,000; Eight, $163,000 and $453,000; Nine, $228,000 and $515,000; Ten, $229,000 and $431,000; Eleven, $209,000 and $250,000; Twelve, $319,000 and $415,000.
- Thirteen, $297,000 and $782,000; Fourteen, $244,000 and $433,000; Fifteen, $306,000 and $873,000; Sixteen, $166,000 and $330,000; Seventeen, $119,000 and $139,000; Eighteen, $174,000 and $725,000; Nineteen, $170,000 and $389,000; Twenty, $305,000 and $762,000; Twenty-one, $171,000 and $393,000; Twenty-two, $186,000 and $601,000; Twenty-three, $87,000 and $264,000.

Ambassador Will Appear

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — G. McMurtrie (Mac) Godley, U.S. Ambassador to Laos, has been summoned from across the Pacific to face the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a continuation of the Senate's dogged undermining of U.S. policy in Southeast Asia.

Godley's appearance, tentatively scheduled for July 21, has been dreaded and delayed for months by the State Department. It will expand last October's damaging hearings by a foreign relations subcommittee, headed by Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, baring previously covert U.S. military operations in Laos.

Like the October hearings, Godley's testimony will be behind closed doors and, theoretically, not for publication. In fact, most of what secret information that was not leaked was officially released to the public later, and the Ambassador will not be immune. With Senators set to give Godley the third degree on alleged U.S. bombing of Lao civilians, his testimony likely will have the same impact at the October hearings: poisoning both U.S.-Lao relations and U.S. public support for policy in Laos.

The impact is neither accidental nor limited to Laos. Rather, the Foreign Relations Committee, under the determined chairmanship of Sen. J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, is embarked on a systematic assault of U.S. foreign commitments through use of the Senate investigative arm. The Fulbright-Symington investigations influence foreign policy far more than largely futile attempts to hamstring the President by Senate resolution.

Fulbright's cutting edge has been the Symington subcommittee on foreign commitments (its staff run by Walter Pincus, a resourceful journalist and occasional Fulbright lieutenant). And nowhere has the cutting edge dug deeper than in Laos, where five years of covert U.S. military support for the regime of Prince Souvanna Phouma has maintained a shaky status quo at a low cost in American dollars and, more important, American lives.

Hostile questioning in last October's hearings ignored all such benefits. When the transcripts were made public in April, the Lao government was appalled that secret agreements made in good faith with Washington had been revealed to the world. Indeed, U.S. officials in Laos were disappointed that the Nixon administration could not resist Fulbright's demands to declassify testimony.

One demand resisted was the call for Ambassador Godley to testify. The Symington subcommittee, told Godley could not be spared from Vientiane, had to be satisfied with the preceding Ambassador, William H. Sullivan (now a Deputy Assistant Secretary of State). But Fulbright insisted on Godley's eventual return, and the State Department finally gave in.

The resulting problem is twofold. First, Godley, a blunt-spoken bear of a man, lacks Sullivan's delicate touch with Senators. Second, the subcommittee will charge bombing directed by Godley has murdered Lao civilians, further undermining the U.S. position at home and abroad.

Those charges were previewed May 7 when the Senate refugees subcommittee headed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts courteously questioned Sullivan about his bombing policy in Vientiane. The State Department assumption, denied by Kennedy aides, is that the Senate wants to compare careful bombing under Ambassador Sullivan in a Democratic administration with indiscriminate bombing under Ambassador Godley in a Republican administration.

That State Department suspicion may be ill-founded, but diplomacy Senate-style is not without hypocrisy.

Strength For Today

AND ABROAD Missionaries. Some people have no use for the missionary endeavor. "What right do we have," they say, "trying to force our religion down the throats of people living thousands of miles away?" No sensible missionary program calls for any such thing. Almost the last words Jesus uttered to his disciples were these: "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations . . . teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world" (Matthew 28:19-20).

If there had never been a missionary movement begun about two thousand years ago there would never have been a Church. There is plenty of sin and wickedness in our own country, and churches of all varieties everywhere can be kept busy — and are kept busy — handling this situation. But there is more that can be done and should be done. The missionary movement is an imperative. Jesus did not advise his disciples to establish a missionary program — he commanded them to do so. We can keep up the religious program which we are duty-bound to keep up in our own community, but our efforts must not end there. Our Christian consecration must be felt to the ends of the earth. A wholesome and necessary religious program needs to be put into operation here and abroad. The congregation that loses interest in religious life abroad soon loses interest in religious life at home.

The Invention Of TV

WASHINGTON — The question came up at dinner the other night when people were discussing the Tory victory in Great Britain.

"Why is it that the English were able to rule the world for almost 200 years while the United States has been unable to hold on for less than 25 years?"

An Englishman at the table replied, "It's quite simple, my dear chap. There was no television."

"Of course," someone else said, "television hadn't been invented then."

"On the contrary," the Englishman said, "it had been invented but we were wise enough not to let the secret out."

We all looked at him in amazement.

"Lord Cashmere of Rutland invented television in the year 1775," he said. "You can look it up in the secret archives of the British Museum. He was actually trying to invent the radio; rather than sound, he got a picture on his box instead."

"What kind of a picture?" a skeptical guest asked.

"It is hard to believe," someone said.

"Quite. In any case, Lord Cashmere knew he was onto something big, so he took the box to King George III and demonstrated it to the court, which at the time was meeting on the Television Moors in Wales."

"So that's where the name came from," someone said.

"It's all in the secret archives," the Englishman said. "The court was aghast at what they were seeing. There were large, burly redcoats beating on the poor Colonials, kicking women and children, setting fire to their homes and committing unbelievable atrocities in the villages."

"Lord Cashmere," the Archbishop of Canterbury said, "what in God's name have you wrought?"

"Lord Cashmere said, 'I'm not sure, but it's possible that this invention could change all of mankind. Just think, my noble friends, that with this box our people would bear witness to the great news events of our time. No longer would we be dependent on ships for our news. We could actually see our victories as they were happening. What a boost for the morale of the Empire!'"

"A cheer rent the air over Television Moors. But then Gen. Sir Ronald Paley, the king's adviser on military affairs, spoke up: 'I do not wish to dash cold water on this box, but may I point out to you gentlemen that this invention could be the end of the Empire? Do you believe our young people would remain silent after watching what we were doing in the Colonies, or for that matter anywhere else? The country would be split asunder. The strength of England is that her people have no idea of what we're up to abroad.'"

"King George III spoke up, 'Sir Ronald is right. If we're to wage war in the Colonies, we don't want the people at (Continued on page 6)

who would oppose a needed tax increase for education. Perhaps their own children are grown, and they do not feel the responsibility to educate other parents' children. It is fortunate for them that our forefathers did not feel this way; otherwise their children may have been denied the best education available for them.

I am only one teacher. I do not speak for any group of teachers. I do know that many of them have experienced problems similar to mine and have worked hard and long hours because they have the interests of the children at heart. Note that this referendum does not ask for higher pay for teachers, although they could use it. It is simply for more services, equipment, and supplies for the school child. We need to keep quality education available for our children in Greenville.

Julian L. Cleveland

Public Forum

To The Editor:

I have read the comments expressed in our newspaper by an organization which calls itself "Concerned Citizens for Greenville" with mounting anger because of the way in which they are written. I am a teacher, and perhaps you feel that I am biased toward education. Perhaps I am, but I am also a parent of five children, only one of which is still in the public school system. I am also a homeowner and taxpayer and am just as concerned about getting the most for our tax dollar as any other taxpayer.

Now the citizens of Greenville have an opportunity to provide a better and more rounded education for their children. In a city such as Greenville, which is geared to education with a university here and a technical institute nearby, it is amazing to me that there would be citizens living here who would oppose a needed tax increase for education. Perhaps their own children are grown, and they do not feel the responsibility to educate other parents' children. It is fortunate for them that our forefathers did not feel this way; otherwise their children may have been denied the best education available for them.

I am only one teacher. I do not speak for any group of teachers. I do know that many of them have experienced problems similar to mine and have worked hard and long hours because they have the interests of the children at heart. Strikes Are Partly To Blame

By ELMER ROESSNER

The present recession — and it is a recession — is largely blamed on the Nixon administration's efforts to halt inflation by monetary policies. However, another factor is often overlooked. The struggles against inflation have been marked by business indicators have suggested some further easing of economic activity, but the depressing effects of several major strikes have made the numbers difficult to interpret.

Strikes Hurt "Strikes were a major factor in April declines in payroll employment, private wage and salary incomes, and industrial production." This situation continued in May and into June.

The strike and lockout of Chicago truckers started 77 days ago today. This has not only increased unemployment in the trucking industry but has led to a slowdown and disemployment in other industries in the area, notably in steel, furniture and heavy appliances.

Employers have made a "final offer" of pay rises totalling $1.65 an hour in seven steps, plus benefits the cost of which have not yet been calculated. About 50,000 men are out of work, although 2,000 employers have granted union demands to almost 20,000 truckers. The demands exceed those on which the International Brotherhood of Teamsters agreed upon outside the Chicago area.

More Trouble Ahead Another rise in unemployment may occur in September, when the contracts between the United Auto Workers and the auto manufacturers expire.

Leonard Woodcock, who succeeded the late Walter Reuther as president of the UAW, is expected to assert his leadership with a show of toughness which, in view of the current demand for autos, might lead to a strike.

A long strike in the industry could not only spread unemployment but could prevent the economy from emerging from the current setback this year.

Nixon Administration Turns Its Other Cheek One of the noisiest critics of the Nixon administration's policy in Indochina is Margaret Mead, the noted anthropologist.

But the June issue of Manpower, a magazine published by the Department of Labor, features an article by Miss Mead, dealing not with Vietnam but with "the continuity of care" for small children of working mothers.

Further, the department's Office of Information has issued a three-page press release extolling the Mead article.

Ellis Rottman, editor of the magazine, said Miss Mead was selected without regard to her attitude toward the administration and because she was an expert in the field. She was paid $300.

Note On The Rise Of Crime In America Four airlines now refuse to pick up and deliver fur and fur-trimmed clothing shipments valued above $5,000.

The Civil Aeronautics Board turned down a request of all domestic airlines to refuse such shipments in the New York-Newark area because it would be "discriminatory" against other cities, so the four airlines refuse them everywhere. The lines are American, Allegheny, Braniff and Seaboard.

Bird Puzzles Driver

By KAY BARTLETT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Driver, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, please. And can you hurry? I've got a sick bird back here."

The New York hackie turns around in his seat, stares at whatever I have wrapped up in the towel and shakes his head.

I lift the towel from the cage and peek at the little creature named Bookie. He looks terrified. Reassurance, I figure.

"Don't worry, sweetie. Mother is taking you to the very best bird hospital in New York City and everything will be all right. You will have the very best on care. Don't worry."

"Don't worry, sweetie, but please chirp once for the driver's sake."

Chirpless we arrive. I rush him downstairs to the bird hospital. The bird lady is on the telephone. She cuts off the lady who wants to know how to clip her parrot's toenails.

"That bird needs immediate attention," she decrees. I start to follow. She stops me.

"But he's my son," I protest.

She smiles. We're instant friends. I still can't come to the inner sanctum of the intensive bird care unit. Finally she comes back from the bowels of Rockefeller Center.

"I have all the knowledge in the world," she intones. "That bird, however, is in the hands of God."

Then this bird lady, a total stranger, takes me in her arms and embraces me. The diagnosis is a ruptured oil sack. Usually fatal.

Next comes the forms. In triplicate.

"Bird damaged. Not responsible for life."

At this point I would sign that I was damaged in triplicate.

Then come the hospital bulletins:

Hypothermia is successful. Blood transfusion accomplished. Still alive and fighting. The bird lady stays up until 4 a.m. one night to stop the bleeding and the office wits tell me there would be a slim chance of that kind of treatment if the bird had been a person.

After three days he's out of critical. He's going to make it.

On the way home in the cage he chirps like crazy. "Sounds like you got a bird back there," questions the hackie.

"Yeah, a very healthy one," I say.

Opinions In Brief

One-tenth of an inch of rain, sometimes referred to by the weatherman as a trace, would deposit 678 gallons on a quarter acre. A lawn sprinkler would require hours, operating at a dozen locations, to match that. — Shreveport La. Journal.

Record In Tax Refunds Mailed By State Dept.

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Revenue Department, which ends the fiscal year Tuesday, has mailed a record $56 million in individual income tax refunds this year, an increase of $13 million over last year.

Revenue Commissioner I. L. Clayton said his department has worked overtime this month to assure that all refunds will be mailed by June 30 except those being held because of some error in the returns.

Clayton said the tax returns exceeded expectations by more than 100,000. Consequently "We've done more overtime work in June than ever before to process and mail the returns."

lected more than $265 million in individual income taxes this year, an increase of more than 10 per cent over 1969.

He released figures showing that as of Wednesday the state has mailed 1,435,000 income tax refunds, averaging $49.04 per check.

"Last year at this time," he said, "we had mailed 1,288,000 for an average of $33.90."

One reason the refund checks are bigger, Clayton explained, is that the economy is up.

"The main thing, however," he pointed out, "is that the 1969

He Just Got Further Behind

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — James Standbridge, 47, of Gastonia was jailed for nonsupport when he got $320 behind in support payments to his wife.

While in jail he wasn't making much progress in paying off his debts. In fact, he was charged $3 a day room and board.

"I just couldn't see any way of getting out," he said.

But a group of Gastonians came to his aid after his plight came to a newspaper's attention. They raised enough money to pay off part of Standbridge's debts and a judge freed him on his own recognizance.

home to know what we're doing.

"Besides, if we have to pull out, I want to do it without the whole world watching us. Lord Cashmere, you have done your country an ill deed by this damnable contraption. I order you at the pain of losing your head never to reveal your secret. We shall bury the box here on the moors, and Britannia will rule the waves."

The Englishman paused as we hung on to his every word.

"Then you kept the secret all these years," someone said.

"That's correct," the Englishman said. "Thirty years ago an American anthropologist, digging around the moors, discovered the box. He turned it over to RCA who, without thinking of the consequences, started to manufacture them on a large scale. I imagine you can date the difficulty of the United States as a world power from the day Lord Cashmere's box was made available to the world."

"What a great story, I said. 'Do you mind if I write it?'"

"Go right ahead," the Englishman said. "It can't do Britain any harm any more."

Fulbright and Symington were aware of U.S. operations in Laos years before their investigation. During the October hearings, Symington occasionally went off-the-record to inform government witnesses he would back them enthusiastically if they really decided to fight the war all-out.

Beyond Laos, Fulbright-Symington investigators have cut a wide swath through Asia. Difficult relations between the U.S. and the Philippines were worsened by Senate exposures of secret agreements to send Filipino troops to Vietnam at U.S. expense. Previously warm relations between the U.S. and Thailand have been chilled by similar revelations.

The kiss-and-tell diplomacy, say Democratic Senators, is fully justified in order to keep the American public informed of overseas commitments that could produce new Vietnams.

A rebuttal is found in "The Public Philosophy" (1954) by Walter Lippman, a frequent source for Senate doves. Arguing against "derangement of powers" in liberal democracies, Lippman wrote: "In the final acts of the state the issues are war and peace, security and solvency, order and insurrection. In these final acts the executive power cannot be exercised by the representative assembly."

Thursday night for Duncan, who completed 34 years of service at ECU. (ECU News Bureau Photo)

Honor Duncan At Lawn Party

A lawn party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Leo W. Jenkins Thursday night honored Fitzhugh D. Duncan, retiring vice president and business manager of East Carolina University.

Dr. Jenkins, ECU president, his wife, Mrs. Lillian Jenkins and Duncan received approximately 65 guests.

Duncan joined the East Carolina administration as treasurer in 1936 and served in the administration of each president of the institution except for the first, Robert Wright. In 1936, East Carolina had only 800 students and an operating budget of $280,000. Today, ECU has an enrollment of 10,000 students and budget of more than $19 million.

Duncan and his wife, the former Elizabeth Cheatham, plan a trip to Europe. The Duncans were presented a gift of a full set of luggage.

Presenting the gift, Dr. Douglas R. Jones, dean of the ECU School of Education, paid tribute to Duncan for his fairness, loyalty and reliability.

Two Complete Course Here

Mrs. Kathryn H. Garcia and Mrs. Lynnette H. Woolard were graduated from the two-year radiologic technology course at Pitt Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon.

Both are now registered radiologic technologists. Mrs. Woolard, who is from Williamston, lives here and will continue to work in the radiologic department at Pitt Memorial. Mrs. Garcia, a Plymouth native, will work for a local physician for a few months before she and her husband assume positions in Henderson. Both graduates ranked in the top ten percent of the North Carolina candidates for the National Registry of Radiologic Technologists.

George Butler, technical director of the radiologic department, technologists at Pitt Memorial at any one time. Applications from men or women interested in the course will be taken at any time.

The students attend classes in subjects like physics, anatomy, professional ethics, medical terminology, and psychology in the afternoons and work in the radiologic department in the mornings. They are paid during their second year of training.

Butler suggested that any high school student who thinks he or she may be interested in the course should talk to him in order to know what courses to pursue in high school. Math and science should be emphasized and typing ability is desirable, he said. Over 10,000 radiologic technologists' positions are vacant at the present time in the United States and perhaps 200 to 300 are needed in this state immediately.

In The Special School Referendum

Saturday, June 27

The cost of operating our cityschools has increased tremendously during the past decade and yet the tax supplement levy which provides money for these expenses has not been increased in more than 30 years!

The funds proposed in the school district budget for the year beginning July 1 are projected to maintain school programs at their current level and to make minimum improvements in areas of vital need in the Greenville district schools. Without the additional funds, it will not be possible for the local district to hire the number of additional teachers above the state allotment that it has hired for many years. It will not be possible for the local administrative unit to continue the same level of enrichment in the Greenville school program that has characterized the program for several decades unless more money is provided.

Graniteers Take Tar Heel Title On Moye's No-Hit 11-0 Victory

The Graniteers got a no-hitter out of Macon Moye yesterday to roll to an 11-0 victory and win their second straight Tar Heel Little League title.

The win boosted the Graniteers record to 13-1 for the year, while Pepsi, the only team with a chance at them, fell off to 10-4 and was eliminated. The Moose are 9-4, followed by the Exchange, 4-9, the Elks, 3-10, and Integon, 1-12.

Moye faced only one more batter than was necessary in the game. He walked two and struck out seven. One was caught in a double play.

The Graniteers pushed over a run in the first inning, and it proved to be all they needed. James Weeks reached on an error and scored when Jim Wilkerson reached on another.

In the second, four Graniteers crossed the plate. Steve Manning led off with a homer, making it 2-0. Chris Moye followed with a walk and Weeks singled. Howard Vainright walked, loading the bases and another walk, to Wilkerson brought in Chris Moye. Macon Moye reached on an error, scoring Weeks, but Vainright was cut down trying to score.

Wilkerson came across on a sacrifice fly by Joel Clark.

Three more scored in the third. Manning singled and Weeks and Vainright walked.

Manning stole home and Weeks scored on an error. Wilkerson reached on an error, scoring

Mt. Pleasant, Immanuel Win

Immanuel Baptist assured itself of no worse than a tie for second place in the National Division of the Church Softball League with a 13-3 romp over Black Jack last night. In the other game, Mt. Pleasant nipped Piney Grove, 6-5.

Grace has clinched the National title with a 12-2 record, while Immanuel is 9-7. Black Jack falls off to 8-7, followed by Mt. Pleasant, 6-8, Oakmont, 6-9 and Piney Grove, 5-11.

In the American division, St. James has won with a 13-2 record, followed by Presbyterian, 9-7, Trinity, 8-6 Meadowbrook, 8-7, Gum Swamp, 5-9, and Christian, 1-15.

In the opener, Immanuel pushed over a run with the first crack of the bat as Bill Dickens homered. In the third, a homer by R. Hudson tied it up for Black Jack, but it didn't last.

In the bottom of the third Immanuel pushed over three more runs for a 4-1 lead and never trailed again. They added two more in the fourth including a solo shot by Butch Ricks. Then in the fifth they scored seven more runs, including solo homers by George Williams and Dick Evans.

Black Jack picked up one more in the fourth and another in the sixth.

R. Dixon led Black Jack with three hits, while Jim Harris Ricks and Charles Overton had three each and Dickens, David Hahn, Williams, Evans and Bill Moore each had two for Immanuel.

In the second game, Piney Grove took the lead in the third scoring four runs, including a homer by G. Darden. In the fifth, Mt. Pleasant rallied, scoring three on a homer by Nobles. In the sixth, Piney Grove moved out again, getting another run to lead 5-3.

In the bottom of the seventh, Bullock cracked a two-run homer to tie it up, and Nobles followed with another blast to give Mt. Pleasant the victory.

Nobles had three hits, while Williams and Barnes had two each for Mt. Pleasant. No one had more than one for Piney Grove.

Richmond County Legion Takes 8-4 Win Over Greenville Nine

HAMLET — Greenville's American Legion team was socked for eight runs after taking a 1-0 lead, and came away with an 8-4 loss last night at the hands of Hamlet's Richmond County Post 49 team. It was a non-conference contest for the two teams.

Rain finally halted the game after one batter appeared for Greenville in the top of the ninth inning.

Greenville threatened in the first inning, putting runners at first and second, but they finally scored in the third.

Russ Smith led off the inning with a walk and stole second. Tony Whitehurst walked and Ronnie Leggett hit back to shortstop with Smith on the move. Whitehurst was nailed at second, but the double-play attempt failed, and Smith came safely home with the first Greenville run.

It stayed that way until the fifth inning when Hamlet finally broke into the scoring column, pushing over three runs to take the lead for good.

They had put men on first and second in the first two innings, and had gotten a runner as far as second in the fourth without scoring. But in the fifth, it was a different story. Terry Howe singled to open the inning, Jerry Mills walked and both advanced on an out. A passed ball let Howe come across with the tying run, moving Mills into third. Bubba Idol walked, and moved safely into second on the attempted double steal. Steve Jenkins then singled into right field, driving in Mills and Idol with the go-ahead runs.

In the sixth, Hamlet pushed across another run. Ronnie Covington reached on a fielder's choice, and advanced on an out. He came in when Mills cracked a double, making it 4-1.

Greenville rebounded in the top of the seventh, getting three runs to tie it up. Benny Knox walked and scored when Smith boomed a triple. Joe West singled to drive in Smith, closing the gap to one. Whitehurst doubled, moving West to third, but he was cut down when the attempted squeeze bunt was missed. Whitehurst moved on to third during the rundown, scoring the tying run on a wild pitch.

In the bottom of the seventh, Hamlet pushed over two more runs to gain a 6-4 lead. Idol walked and moved up on a double by Buddy Coble. Steve Jenkins singled in Idol, and Coble came across when the next batter hit into a double play.

Hamlet added two more runs in the eighth. Larry McKenzie walked and was sacrificed to second. Mills reached on an error, scoring McKenzie. Idol then singled into right center, driving in Mills with the final run of the game.

The Greenville team returns home to close out the regular season with two more games. They face Tarboro on Sunday at 2 p.m., then host Kinston Tuesday at 5 p.m. Both games will be played at the East Carolina University field.

Jaycees Clinch Second Place

The Jaycees rolled to a 17-5 victory over Coca-Cola yesterday in the North State Little League, assuring themselves of second place in the league.

The Kiwanis have wrapped up first place with a 11-2 mark, while the Jaycees had a 9-5 record. R. C. Cola is third at 6-7, while Coke is 6-8, followed by the Lions and Optimists, both 4-9.

Coke scored first, pushing over a run in the first. Molt Massey singled and moved up on a double by Keith James. Massey then stole home for a 1-0 lead.

But in the bottom of the first, the Jaycees pushed over six runs, enough to win. Bill Collier walked and Kenneth Avery singled. Both advanced on a passed ball and Wayne Miller walked. An error led Collier and Avery score and Miller came home on another. Drew Taylor reached on a fielder's choice and scored on Curtis Lee's singled. Chris Garrett singled and both runners moved up on an error. Lee scored on Mel Boyd's ground out, and a single by Billy Williams scored Garrett.

In the second, the Jaycees added five more to lead 11-1. Miller singled and stole second. Taylor reached on an error, scoring Miller, and Taylor scored when Lee reached on another miscue. Garrett walked and Boyd hit into a fielder's choice, getting Lee at third. Williams was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Robert Walters singled in Garrett and Boyd, and Collier hit a sacrifice fly to bring in Williams.

Coke picked up another run in the third. Jeff Barber walked and Keith James singled. Greg Lassiter got a hit, bringing in Barber.

The Jaycees came up with two more, however, in their half of the inning. Taylor singled and Lee walked. Garrett reached on a single and an error on the play let both Taylor and Lee come around.

Coke picked up its other three runs in the fifth inning. Max Joyner singled and moved up on an error. Greg Lassiter singled and a triple by Tim Cottle brought both runners home. Cottle scored on a passed ball.

The Jaycees added their final four runs in the fifth. Taylor reached on an error and Lee and Garrett both walked, loading the bases. Walks to Mike Briley, Jay Holt and Charles Phillips brought in three runs, but Briley was out on Collier's fielder's choice. Miller walked to bring in Holt with the final run.

Massery, James and Lassiter each had two hits for Coke, while Garrett had two to pace the Jaycees.

McGee To Have Show On WITN

WASHINGTON — Mike McGee, head football coach at East Carolina University, has been signed by WITN-TV and will appear on "The Mike McGee Show" beginning in September, according to W. R. Roberson Jr., president and general manager of North Carolina Television Inc.

"The Mike McGee Show" will be presented on 13 Sundays beginning on September 7 with a pre-season look at the ECU 1970 Pirates and a review of the schedule they will play during the year, a schedule that is the toughest and most attractive the Pirates have ever played.

On succeeding weeks, the program will be presented on Sundays preceding the NFL American Conference telecasts on WITN-TV. Each program will feature Coach McGee and WITN-TV's Sports Director Dick Jones, with a review of the action from the previous Saturday's ECU game along with game film highlighting key plays. Coach McGee will also have a member of his coaching staff on each program along with members of the ECU squad to discuss the games. He will also present a preview of the upcoming game along with scouting reports on the opponents. The final program in the series will be a review of the entire 1970 season and a look ahead at the 1971 schedule and team.

In commenting on the program Coach McGee said, "We are most pleased to have the opportunity to do this series of programs during the football season. It will give all ECU football fans a closer look at our activities and allow us to explain in detail how we are developing the program that marks a new era for the Pirates."

McMillian's Parents Throw Cold Water On Tar Heel Recruiting

MANSFIELD, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. James McMillen is thinking of writing about college athlete recruiting. She ought to know something about the subject. Two of her sons have been the target of basketball coaches.

Mrs. McMillen took notes on the technique of recruiters from more than 200 colleges, who in recent months besieged her son, Tom, with offers to come to their institutions of high learning. She and her husband, a dentist, aren't happy with what they saw.

"This is a nasty, dirty business," said Dr. McMillen. "The bad publicity hurt our family. We are grief stricken. I suppose it's right that the parents get the blame. I do not want to be quoted further."

The McMillens turned their anger on recruiting practices after their 6-foot-10 inch son who scored 3,608 points for Mansfield High signed a letter of intent to enter the University of North Carolina.

"That boy is not going with our blessings," said Mrs. McMillen. "We absolutely will not sign the grant, now or ever," she said with a tone that smacked finality.

Maybe Mrs. McMillen is saving her best shots for that article she may write. Neither she nor her husband would say why they didn't want Tom to go to North Carolina of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

The 18-year-old McMillen signed a letter of intent for North Carolina Wednesday night at an informal party in Elmira, N.Y. He said the school met his requirements both academically and athletically.

Apparently they don't meet mom and pop's standards. Whatever their reasons, the McMillens have thrown a fatal road block in the path of young Tom's desire to go to North Carolina.

James Weaver, commissioner of the ACC, said that unless the parents or guardians sign the letter of intent "he (Tom) may as well not have signed anything."

North Carolina officials confirmed that McMillen's parents had not signed the letter and the boy was free to choose any other school. The mad, mad race to get the All-Pennsylvania star apparently is on again.

McMillen was to have received a new North Carolina scholarship for academically outstanding athletes, providing the maximum financial aid permitted under NCAA rules. He was at the top of his class, president of the student council, a member of the band and a prize winning orator.

The McMillens have two other sons, Jay, 24, who played basketball at Maryland, and Paul, 22, who lives in Chapel Hill, home of North Carolina University.

Mrs. McMillen said she went through the recruiting pains with Jay, "but nothing like this."

Efforts to reach McMillen were fruitless. His mother said at one point that her son was out running, working out. She said he would be home at dinner time (Thursday) but that she did not want anybody to talk with him for a day or so.

She said nothing had changed. He still wanted to go to North Carolina. She and his father did not.

"When my husband says it's (recruiting) rotten, it's rotten. I do not blame my son. He's been brainwashed. I do blame the coach of North Carolina."

Mrs. McMillen said she tried to reach Coach Dean Smith but failed. Asked what she would say to Smith, she replied, "Plenty."

"No matter what they do or what they say, he's our son and he has a moral obligation to obey his parents. A coach can't step in and take over parental duties."

Mrs. McMillen said her son knew for months that she and his father objected to North Carolina. "He still defied us," she said.

"That boy had from 300 to 400 schools to choose from. He could have found one agreeable to his family. Even if he had only 10 to choose from he could have found one we agreed upon."

There are two daughters in the family, Sheila, 19, a student at Penn, and 9-year-old Mary Elizabeth. Only Paul favored North Carolina.

The McMillen line-up appeared to be, Mom for Maryland, dad for Virginia, Sheila for Penn, Paul and Tom, of course, for North Carolina. Maybe they ought to let Mary Elizabeth cast the deciding vote.

Associated Press Sports Writer
A Joe DiMaggio he is not, but slugging Sandy Alomar is closing in on the longest hitting streak in nine American League seasons.

"I'd like to hit in 57 straight games, but the main thing is winning," the peppery little second baseman of the California Angels said Thursday night after stroking two hits and running his string to 20 straight games as the Angels whipped Chicago 7-3.

Alomar was referring to the former New York Yankee great's 56-game hitting streak of 1941 which hasn't been threatened since. However, he is only four games away from the 24 straight that Lennie Green of the Minnesota Twins hit in 1961. The 5-foot-9, 155-pounder equaled the 1969 best of 20 by Ted Uhlaender.

In other AL games, the Yankees stopped Cleveland 3-1, Baltimore bombed Boston 13-8 in 14 innings, Detroit nipped Washington 2-1, and Milwaukee dropped Minnesota 4-1.

The 26-year-old Alomar, a native of Puerto Rico, a .238 lifetime batter in three full major league seasons, lifted his 1970 average to .271 with his hits off White Sox southpaw Tommy John.

John, 5-11, was reached for six runs in five innings but three were unearned due to three Chicago errors. John also tossed three wild pitches.

Left-hander Clyde Wright picked up his 10th victory of the season for the Angels and drove in four runs with a pair of singles and a double. He was lifted in the eighth after surrendering a two-run homer to Bill Melton. Tom McCraw also homered for the Sox.

To complete the evening, a pretty young miss dashed from the stands in the third inning and planted a kiss on the cheek of Angels' outfielder Billy Cowan while he was at bat.

It apparently was the same young female who last year kissed Atlanta's Clete Boyer and Washington's Frank Howard.

It apparently unsettled John, who immediately uncorked a wild pitch but Cowan wasn't rattled, drilling a triple after the incident.

Roy White drove in all three New York runs with a triple and double, helping Fritz Peterson pick up his 10th victory.

White, hitting a robust .347 and tied for second in the league with Baltimore's Boog Powell with 52 runs batted in, punched an opposite field triple to left in the first inning, knocking in the first Yankee run and looped a two-run double to right, driving in a pair in the third.

Peterson was tagged for nine hits and one run in five innings, but shut off the Indians without a hit after that.

Bobby Murcer, the Yanks center fielder who had rapped four homers in as many official at bats Wednesday tying a major league record, walked in the first but was stopped in the third when he popped to second.

Baltimore came from seven runs down and then scored six times in the 14th inning to down the Red Sox. The Orioles tied it in the ninth at 7-7 then unloaded in the 14th on run-scoring hits by Don Buford, Frank Robinson and two-run doubles by Powell and Merv Rettenmund.

Billy Conigliaro and Jerry Moses homered for the Red Sox while Frank Robinson, Rettenmund and Dave Johnson rapped blasts for the Orioles. Lew Krausse blanked the Twins on four hits and the Brewers jumped on starter Jim Perry, 10-6 for three runs in the opening inning on run-scoring hits by Dave May and Bob Burda and Ted Kubiak's infield out.

Gates Brown drilled a two-out tie-breaking pinch single in the seventh for the Tigers' win. Brown batted for winner Les Cain, 7-2, and delivered his hit to right, scoring Bill Freehan who had singled.

Previously winless Coca-Cola came up with a 6-3 victory over Bob's Atlantic last night for their first victory of the year in the Ladies Softball League. In the other game, leading Little Mint rolled to an 18-8 win over Wachovia. The game between National Products Co. and Foodmart was rained out after one inning with Foodmart leading 13-1.

The Little Mint now stands 9-2 on the year, while NPC is 7-3, and Foodmart is 6-4. Bob's is now 6-5, followed by Wachovia, 3-8 and Coke, 1-10. Both Wachovia and Coke have been eliminated from the title race.

In the opener, Coke pushed over all it needed in the first inning, scoring four runs. They went on to pick up one in the sixth and another in the seventh for their six run total.

Bob's scored one each in the third, fifth and seventh. The last came on a homer by Patsy Nobles.

The Little Mint spotted Wachovia a 2-0 lead after the first inning, then came up with six runs of its own in the second.

They added three more in the third to lead 9-2, and that was all they needed.

The Little Mint added one more in the fourth as Linda Tripp homered, then came up with eight in the fifth.

Wachovia added four more in the third and two in the fourth.

Mets Win Again, Leo Unruffled

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — It's better, says manager Leo Durocher, for his Chicago Cubs to do a June swoon than a September sag, which last year cost them the National League East pennant.

"If we have to run into a slump, I'd rather do it now than later on," said a surprisingly composed Durocher after the World Champion New York Mets wrapped up a five-game sweep, with an 8-3 triumph Thursday and took a 1½-game lead over the reeling Cubs.

It's quite a slump, longest of the season at seven games, including last Sunday's double loss to St. Louis, and a collapse out of the league lead the Bruins held for 83 days.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh rallied for three runs in the ninth inning and beat St. Louis 3-2 and Philadelphia edged Montreal 3-2 in 11 innings. The Los Angeles-Atlanta game was rained out.

You might say the Mets stole first place from the dazed Cubs, swiping 10 bases in the fivegame set, which was a financial if completely nonartistic success with 116,071 packing Wrigley Field in four days.

But Leo conceded the resurgence of the Mets, who did virtually the same thing to the Cubs last September, was due to more than basepath fleetness, which already has produced a club record of 74 thefts.

"Everytime they swung the bat against us this week they got a hit," said Durocher, whose Cubs ended a disastrous home stand.

"Not only did they get the breaks, the Cubs had six errors and several defensive mental lapses in the series, but they took advantage of every opportunity which presented itself.

"There's no question we miss Randy Hundley (injured catcher), but our hitting and pitching have been terrible when we needed either. There's only one guy delivering goods, Jim Hickman. Take Ron Santo. I've never seen Santo in such a slump this long."

It was Hickman who accounted for all three Cubruns as Jerry Koosman rode a six-run second inning to his third victory in seven decisions.

Alcoholic Education Work

Center's Work Will Be Phased Out On June 30

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer
The Pitt County Alcoholic Information and Service Center is being phased out, and after June 30, will be no more.

"We have tried to educate the public in general, as well as school children in particular," according to Mrs. Hugh C. Winslow, a volunteer worker in the center's educational program, and a member of the center's advisory council.

And even though the Pitt AISC is closing down, the center's educational material, including teachers kits, materials, films, and all equipment will be given to the city and county schools for continuation of the programs within the school administrative units, Mrs. Winslow pointed out.

The Pitt AISC was founded in 1964 to give competent help to alcoholics and to their families; to provide an effective program of education about alcohol and alcoholism; to increase public understanding of alcoholism, its nature and treatment; and to promote the principle that alcoholics can be helped.

The center's activities have been carried on by a staff that has included a director, a secretary, a registered nurse working only with alcoholics, a vocational counselor and a counseling psychologist, as well as volunteers working in the field of education.

The specialized agency was founded under the sponsorship of the Pitt County mental Health Association largely through the work of two concerned women — Mrs. Helen Barrett and Mrs. Ellen Carroll, a former president of the Pitt County Mental Health Association and former assistant superintendent of Greenville City Schools.

The two women, as members of the Pitt County Mental Health Association, pushed strongly to have the association sponsor the center and were successful in their attempts.

The approval of the Pitt County Mental Health Board and the allocation of funds by the local ABC Board and a state community service fund grant enabled the Pitt County Alcohol Information and Service Center to open its doors on Oct. 31, 1964. Mrs. Barrett was named the first director of the center, a position she has held since that time.

Individual service to alcoholics and their families makes up a great deal of the work carried on by the center.

"No person becomes an alcoholic without the cooperation of his family and society," Mrs. Barrett explained. "The center assists the alcoholic when he realizes that he needs help."

The center has also provided valuable counsel to families of practicing alcoholics, to enable the family to better understand the alcoholic's problems, through personal visits and through the distribution of literature.

Achievements
The center has accomplished an impressive list of activities during its existence.

A Speakers Bureau was formed, consisting of professional and lay persons. A training session was held by Dr. N.M. Jorgensen, director of Health and Physical Education at East Carolina University.

This has been followed by monthly study and discussion workshops for members of the Speakers Bureau.

In addition to providing alcohol information and materials in the public schools, the center has sponsored seminars for school teachers, leaders and teachers in the churches throughout Pitt, nurses and social workers; conducted a study program in Hertford for public health nurses; headstart programs for teachers; participated in the statewide program conducted at Central Prison at Sanford for prison personnel; conducted alcohol workshops and counseled when needed with families of alcoholics.

"Innumerable programs have been presented at meetings of the PTA, book clubs, youth groups, college students, health classes in the college, psychology classes, church groups, and civic organizations," Mrs. Barrett said.

"One of the highlights of the entire program was on Jan. 3, 1965, when the first alcoholic was admitted to the Pitt Memorial Hospital through the efforts of the Pitt AISC," Mrs. Barrett emphasized.

The center began providing counsel for Pitt County teenagers of alcoholic parents in the form of Alateen, in 1968.

Through the use of films and group discussions teenagers were able to find out that they were not the only ones with this problem.

"Family incidents are never discussed as the members learn about alcoholism," Mrs. Carroll said. "Through their better understanding of the illness they often encourage the sick to reach out for help."

Alanon was established by the center also. This program was designed for persons who were friends of alcoholics.

"The David W. Hardee Memorial Trophy was awarded to the Pitt County Mental Health Association in 1966 through the efforts of the Pitt AISC," Mrs. Carroll said. Mrs. Roy McKeithan and Mrs. Barrett were both instrumental in the work which qualified the local chapter for the special recognition.

The award is presented annually to the most outstanding chapter of the North Carolina Mental Health Association in memory of David W. Hardee, first director of the National Association from North Carolina. "The award was given for the Alcohol Information and Service Center's programs of referrals, counseling, conferences, workshops, programs, hospital and jail visits," Mrs. Carroll added.

Advisory Board
Although the center is directed by Mrs. Barrett, the center has an advisory board to aid in its direction.

Board members are: Mrs. Carroll of Farmville, chairman; Dr. Joe Pou, Greenville, vice president of Wachovia Bank; Dr. C. R. Prewett of Greenville, chairman of the School of Psychology, ECU; Robert Martin of Bethel, member of the Pitt County Commissioners; Hugh Winslow, Greenville businessman; Mrs. Addie Griffith of Greenville, public health nurse; Dr. Malene Irons director of the Development and Evaluation Clinic, ECU; Miss Dorothy Bolton, Pitt County Welfare Department; J.C. Galloway, Greenville businessman; Dr. Charles Adams, of the Greenville Clinic; Brantley Speight, Winterville businessman; and David Reid, Greenville attorney.

"Even though the center is phasing out, we are still interested in alcoholism at the individual level and plans are in the making to establish a volunteer agency," Mrs. Barrett stated. Mrs. Barrett worked with alcoholics and families of alcoholics for some 15 years before becoming a member of the Mental Health Board in 1953, during which time she received the Golden Deeds Award.

"The center has been invaluable to its communities of Pitt County in laying the foundation for aid to those who suffer in the areas of alcoholism and drugs," commented Mrs. Barrett.

She continued, "As the center is phased out, it is hopeful that agencies that are prepared to do so, can go forward with the energies the Pitt AISC has exerted through the years."

Mrs. Barrett plans to continue to work in the field of alcoholism as a volunteer worker.

"This center is the cause of the Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center coming here, and for the hospital opening its doors to alcoholics," Mrs. Barrett explained.

The AISC has offered 24-hour service to alcoholics. It is hoped this 24-hour service will be continued through the Coastal Plains Mental Health Clinic and ARC, Mrs. Barrett noted.

During the past six years, the center has brought important figures in the alcohol field to Greenville. They include: Dr. J.L. Norris of Eastman Kodak Company; Joseph Kellerman, director of Alcoholism Information Center, Charlotte; Dr. David J. Pittman of Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.; Dr. Robert Gordon Bell, director of the Donwood Foundation Research Center of Toronto, Ontario; and Dr. R. J. Blackley, deputy commissioner on Alcoholism for the North Carolina Department of Mental Health.

American Tradition

Husband-Wife Team Realizes Long Held Dream

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The American tradition of husband-wife teams realizing a dream together is exemplified in the Rev. Russel Reid Davis and his wife, Jane Doubles Davis. At graduation exercises a few weeks ago at East Carolina University, this couple fulfilled an ambition realized only after years of hard work, careful planning of time, and determination.

The Davises' both received their Master of Arts this year — he is Education in Rehabilitation Counseling and she in Education in Counselor Education. At first glance these fields would seem almost identical, but this is not actually the case. It is only in the broader concepts — in that both fields deal with helping others, that the two coincide in purpose.

Rev. Davis is a native of Lexington, N.C., but has lived for many years in Virginia, the home state of Mrs. Davis. Leaving Lexington as a boy, Davis moved to Danville, Virginia, where he finished his early education at George Washington High School. His first college days were at Hampden-Sydney College in the town of the same name. From there he returned to North Carolina, where he received the B.A. degree in religion from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Once more returning to Virginia, Davis, a Presbyterian, graduated from the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond with a Bachelor of Divinity degree.

The years between have not been ones in which Rev. Davis rested on his laurels. As time has permitted, he has studied at the Medical College of Virginia in order to become certified as a clinically trained clergyman under the auspices of the Association for Clinical Pastoral Ministers.

In the years since they moved to Greenville, Davis has found time to work in counselling as well as serve as pastor for two small Presbyterian churches — the Boyd Memorial Church on the Falkland Highway and the West Greenville Presbyterian Church, formerly located on Skinner Street before being sold to the Boys' Club. Services for this church are now conducted at the Presbyterian Student Center on the ECU campus. His counselling work in recent years has involved group counselling at the prison camp near Williamston and work with Dr. Joe Kreplik at Cherry Hospital. The latter he takes part in every Monday.

By gaining experience in these places, Rev. Davis has met the requirements of the American Association of Pastoral Counselling. In meeting this first level requirement, Davis noted "I have received certification as a member. The next step, for which I'm working now, is a fellows' Davis remarked that "the final stage in the counselling work is certification as a diplomate."

Replying to Mrs. Davis' remark that "he's really smarter than I am," Davis smiled: "Not really. Everyone feels a minister is supposed to study. I've been systematic about it, whereas she jumped right in, concentrated on her studies and met the requirements more quickly."

A robust, active person, Davis revealed: "I enjoy fishing, especially when I can get out at one or two in the morning on a pier. I like raising a vegetable garden, too," he said, "and am probably one of the most unsuccessful experts in Greenville."

Some day he hopes to find time to raise Tumble pigeons. These fascinate me," he commented, "They can do wonderful things in flight. There's lots of pleasure in watching them perform."

Admitting that he played a "little baseball in college," Davis added, "now I enjoy being a spectator at football games."

Mrs. Davis, who was born in Richmond, also received the greater portion of her education in Virginia. After attending St. Catherine's Episcopal School, she enrolled in Westhampton College at the University of Richmond where she received the B.A. degree in Psychology and Biology and a collegiate professional teaching certificate.

Of her college years, Mrs. Davis remarked "I was active in sports, especially in field hockey, where I was runner up for All American in playing against English and Irish teams."

After pausing a moment, she added, "I'm not very active now, except as a spectator, but I do love to cook."

Once married, Mrs. Davis entered a period of "being at home until the children started to school." When the youngest became a school child, Mrs. Davis decided to get into teaching.

"I taught in a special public school in Richmond for socially insecure and maladjusted boys," she said. Reflecting on her work with these lads, "... the youngest of the group was 11 and the older ones were up to 18, Mrs. Davis said: "Basically, these were good boys with bad problems." Some, she remarked, "objected a great deal to counselling, but we tried to interest them into getting back into regular school systems." She noted at times the boys simply stayed home and did not attend schools. These problems, however, have increased, rather than lessened her interest in young people.

"I enjoy children, enjoy working with them," Mrs. Davis said. "Children have more opportunities today, more freedom. The greatest pleasure in counselling is to see each child find their greatest potential."

For the past three years, Mrs. Davis has been counselling school children in Pitt County. She served in this position at the G. R. Whitfield School in Grimesland. "Much of my work there was in the field of individual counselling," she said.

Following the end of the school year, Mrs. Davis said her plans include attending a workshop on disadvantaged children being held in Raleigh. In July, plans might include teaching at Pitt Technical Institute.

"Before the school year begins in the fall," she commented, "I'll be occupied with work connected with consolidation of the Pitt County Schools. Much of my work for the past year was helping to plan this consolidation."

Mrs. Davis is attracted to a number of hobbies. Among these she lists music, stamp collecting, drying flowers, making shadow boxes and working in the yard.

Both Rev. Davis and Mrs. Davis refer with pride to their three young daughters. Catherine, 14 is the oldest.

"She's been a real help to us in the trying days we've both been preoccupied with study," Mrs. Davis said. Rev. Davis added that Catherine "had bought a horse purchased with money she worked for and saved." The horse is a chestnut stallion. The two younger daughters in the Davis family, Elizabeth 13, and Anne, 11, are both music lovers. "Elizabeth plays the bass ukelele and the flute," Mrs. Davis remarked,

"and Ann plays the piano. They have really become interested in their music."

Like so many couples in the fields of education and the ministry, the Davises are members of various clubs and organizations. Both belong to the Kappa Delta Pi, an honor society.

Mrs. Davis is a member of the North Carolina Personnel and Guidance Association, the PTA, Pitt County Mental Health Association; and is active in church work as a Sunday School teacher and Young People's Advisor. She has also given time in service to crippled children and victims of cerebral palsy through the Bon Air Woman's Club, of which she is a charter member.

Rev. Davis, who this month attended the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Memphis, is, like his wife, a member of the Pitt County Mental Health Association. He serves too on the Board of Directors for the Greenville Boys' Club.

Now that the Davises have their master's degrees from ECU, this will not be the end of study and planning education for the future.

"I'm really not too concerned about future degrees," Mrs. Davis said, "but I'll continue studying, planning and working in my chosen field."

"I believe in the worth and dignity of each individual and I will always seek to guide and observe him as he seeks to achieve his maximum usefulness in life."

Rev. Davis still has long hours of study in the future to achieve his status as a fellow and then as a diplomate in counselling.

WECU Covers Campus

By SONNY McLAWHON

Ever listened to WECU radio? Chances are, you haven't, unless you're a student at East Carolina University.

WECU-AM is Greenville's only 24-hour-a-day radio station. Since it is a "carrier current" station, reception is limited to East Carolina's 17 dorms, the student union and the cafeterias on campus.

Station manger Jim Davis estimates that 60 percent of the college audience are tuned to campus radio.

Davis, like most of the 30 staff members at WECU, bubbles with confidence. "We have less talk and more music," he says. "That's why we're Number One at ECU."

WECU is tightly programmed to appeal to the college student. Commercials are kept to a minimum. Run in what radio jargon calls "spot blocks," there are never more than three played consecutively, one of them a promotion for the station.

Commercials at campus radio receive careful attention by the production staff. As a result, they are generally more imaginative than those heard on most small stations.

Richard Irwin, a freshman from Concord, produces most of the commercials. Now Operations Director, Irwin provides most of the creative spark necessary for a good station.

Station manager Davis, an ECU junior, is overseer for the operation. He has the tough job of cracking the whip over disc jockeys who might regard FCC regulations lightly. But Davis is relaxed enough to handle that job with ease.

The station operates on the frequency "57," which was assigned by the FCC because of regulations pertaining to interference. The nearest station on the same channel is a 1000-watt daytime station in Raleigh.

WECU is partly financed by the school's Student Government Association. This year the station sold $5,000 in advertising to supplement the $8,000 SGA allocation.

All of the "57 Funtimers" — the disc jockeys — work without pay. The payroll is limited to members of the executive staff, WECU's five department heads.

Business Manager Grant Range has a unique outlook on the station's role in advertising: "We want to represent advertisers as people who are sincerely interested in the student... and not just for his money."

The station offered a $57 prize to the winner of a big "Treasure Hunt" last month. There is no question WECU has an ardent following — hundreds of students combed the campus for two weeks in search of the prize. They were to be seen climbing trees, looking under rocks. And four girls even went for a dip in Wright fountain for the elusive treasure.

Davis is proud of the station's success this year. He says the weekly program "Open Mike," a call-in show where students express their opinions on any subject, has had a big effect on that success. Even the newscasts have been livened up. News, which the station receives from United Press International, is oriented to the college student. "And," explains Davis, "if they don't want to hear the news, they can groove on the sound effects."

Next year, a Gates Diplomat control board will be installed. According to Davis, Gates is the "Cadillac of the control boards."

Members of the station's staff feel that their equipment is the best anywhere around. But, "the sound's the thing," as they say in radio. And nobody at WECU will give an inch on that score.

Irwin has produced a station "promo" which expresses most appropriately the feelings of the other disc jockeys: "This is not the only station listened to on the East Carolina University campus."

Irwin proclaims in that deep, authoritative voice of his. "Some listen to the Voice of America."

The Worry Clinic Immaturity In A Genius, Too

Jim has superior I.Q. and passed the higher school auto driving course. Yet he is the type of fellow who zooms our 50,000 death toll via automobiles. For emotional immaturity can coexist with a college diploma and a genius I.Q. It isn't the old drivers who drag race and lose control on curves!

Incidentally, I gave these picked men from all over the U.S.A. the usual adult intelligence test which I routinely administered to my Liberal Arts seniors at N.U.

And the police officers made a higher average grade than senior students at Northwestern University!

So never talk about "dumb cops," for our police officers are high in I.Q. and versatile in meeting all sorts of practical problems, ranging even from childbirth to the resuscitation of choking infants.

But they constantly encounter emotionally unstable persons, many of whom are playboys who have been coddled unduly by wealthy parents.

Other "show-offs" with social or athletic inferiority complexes, will down liquor, thinking it will make them "big shots."

Then they careen through the streets at excessive speeds or

Opening lead: King of ♣
After his partner made a vulnerable overall of two clubs, East had visions of scoring a profit against South's four spade contract. He did not wish to jeopardize his prospects by doubling and thereby alerting the declarer to the unfavorable distribution in trumps. He accordingly passed, permitting nature to take its course. His prudence, in all probability, deserved a better fate.

West opened the king of clubs, declarer ruffed in his hand with the four of spades. He led the ace of spades next and when West discarded a club, South's prospects dimmed, for in addition to East's three trump tricks it appears that declarer must lose a diamond.

South resolved to go as far as possible however, before bowing to an adverse fate. A heart was led to the king and a club was ruffed with the five of spades. The ace of hearts was played, followed by a heart ruff in dummy.

Another club was ruffed with the seven of spades. Now the king and ace of diamonds were cashed for his eighth and ninth tricks. A fourth round of hearts was trumped with the three of spades in dummy as East helplessly followed suit. The latter was now down to his three card trump holding and South cheerfully conceded the last three tricks.

By carefully stripping out East's hand of every side card, South succeeded in lumping his losers together at the end, and thereby scoring 10 tricks.

kill themselves when their cars make a turn at 80 or 90 miles per hour.

Jim, aged 18, thus had an adult I.Q. and was a high school graduate, yet emotionally he was still at the grandstanding level of a kindergarten tot.

Mature men save their fast driving for the Indianapolis 500-mile race on Memorial Day or the various stock races at special tracks.

But "adolescent kindergarteners" try to drag race on city streets and our auto highways, where posted speeds are 65 to 70 miles an hour - even in dry, clear weather!

Imagine the idiotic behavior of 18-year-old Jim challenging another kid to a drag race down a city street!

Old farmers and Senior Citizens never do a stupid thing like that!

Even if the elderly motorists miss some of the questions on the elaborate written exams for a driver's license, they are still far safer than emotionally erratic fellows like Jim.

While teaching at Northwestern University, I developed a "Behavior Test for Teen-Agers," so send for a copy, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c.

It actually applies to all age groups, for its helps measure emotional development and that is as vital to safe driving as I.Q. and perfect scores on the written driver's tests.

Remember, people who earn their own money and finance their own cars, and who don't try to "show off" via liquor, will score much higher on the above "Emotionally Rating Scale." (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The Spirit of '70

People sometimes make cynical remarks about flag-waving. But it sure beats flag-burning.
Our belief in this nation is something far deeper than mere patriotism. It is the expression of honor and respect for the institutions and blessings we possess as Americans.
One of those institutions is a church independent of state control. One of those blessings is the right to worship according to the dictates of conscience.
Of course, there are some earnest, well-meaning people who don't give a nickel for the Church - or to it either. Even their right not to worship is equally guaranteed by our Constitution!
That kind of freedom is hard to come by. It was hard to come by in 1776. And, in our opinion, it is best understood and most firmly preserved by those who thank God for it.

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
