

Nasser Goes To Moscow For Answers Cambodia Depart A Day Early

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser arrived in the Soviet Union today and was expected to discuss with Soviet leaders the new American Middle East peace proposals and his country's defense needs.

The Arab leader's visit came in the wake of statements by Palestinian guerrilla leaders that they would sabotage any effort at reaching a political settlement between Arab governments and Israel.

On the battle fronts, Israeli warplanes raided Jordan and southeast Lebanon Sunday in retaliation for Arab guerrilla attacks that killed one civilian and wounded two civilians and two policemen. The Israeli air force also kept up its day-and-night attacks on Egyptian posts along the Suez Canal.

The military command in Tel Aviv said its planes attacked Arab guerrilla strongholds on Mt. Hermon in southeast Lebanon for 35 minutes and hit guerrilla bases in Jordan three times Sunday. Large numbers of planes also bombed intermittently along the canal during the day, and the strikes continued through the night.

No Israeli planes were lost, a spokesman said.

The three civilian casualties were in the town of Kiryat Shmona, two miles from the Lebanese border.

A 23-year-old worker riding a motorbike was killed and a woman was slightly injured in one rocket barrage, and a man was slightly wounded in a second rocket attack.

The two policemen were wounded by bazookas fired by guerrillas from Lebanon who attacked border police in upper Galilee.

Israeli warplanes made sorties twice Sunday against guerrilla targets in Jordan, a military spokesman said. Between the two attacks, guerrillas in Jordan fired rockets at the frontier town of Beit Shean, a frequent target, but no casualties or damage were reported.

Arab and Israeli leaders continued to discuss the new American peace proposals for the Middle East. In Amman, one influential guerrilla official declared: "We are the joker in the pack. Without our consent they can do nothing and we will never agree to a peaceful settlement."

"All we have to do is assert our power in one country—Jordan comes immediately to mind—and the rest will lose their resolve and start backsliding," another official said.

"If they give us back Palestine—all of Palestine—then we shall be satisfied. Otherwise you can tell Mr. Rogers, 'No dice.'"

By RICHARD PYLE Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — The last American combat troops in Cambodia pulled back into South Vietnam this afternoon, in effect completing the U.S. withdrawal one day ahead of President Nixon's deadline.

Still in Cambodia but scheduled to leave by midnight Tuesday were a handful of American advisors to some of the 39,000 South Vietnamese troops also still there. Although these Americans also are being pulled out, the South Vietnamese will keep forces beyond the border for an indefinite period to bolster the shaky government of Premier Lon Nol.

Looking Ahead

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian Premier Lon Nol said today if his government's military situation deteriorates further he hopes President Nixon will send American ground troops back into his country.

The premier made clear during a news conference that the United States has been directly assisting Cambodian ground troops with tactical air support and that he has been assured this will continue after Tuesday, Nixon's deadline for the withdrawal of American ground forces.

He said he had been in contact with President Nixon since the U.S.-South Vietnamese intervention and the U.S. Defense Department had assured him that American air support for Cambodian troops would continue. But he would not say whether this might include B52 bomber strikes.

He said the enemy strength in Cambodia had risen to a peak of 65,000 troops but since the U.S. and South Vietnamese attacks the enemy strength had fallen to an estimated 35,000. He added that this still included between six and seven North Vietnamese and Viet Cong divisions.

Cambodia still needs about three months to prepare itself fully, he said, noting his army now has 80 fully armed battalions and another 70 without any arms.

Handful Of Advisors Leave Tuesday

Meanwhile, Premier Lon Nol of Cambodia said in Phnom Penh that he hoped Nixon would send U.S. troops back into his country if his government's military situation deteriorated further.

Nol made clear at a news conference that U.S. air forces have been giving tactical air support to Cambodian ground troops and said the Pentagon had assured him this would continue after June 30.

U.S. officials contend that all U.S. air attacks in Cambodia have been against enemy supply lines, and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said last Friday that this bombing would continue after June 30.

But Laird refused to say whether American planes would also provide support for Cambodian troops, commenting: "I don't believe that it's good practice to give flat answers on operational orders as far as the future is concerned."

The U.S. Command announced that no Americans were killed in either South Vietnam or Cambodia in the 24-hour period ending at midnight Sunday, the first time this had occurred since last Christmas Day when a cease-fire was in effect.

But early today three Americans were killed and 11 wounded in a North Vietnamese attack on a night camp of the 5th Mechanized Division's 1st Brigade just south of the demilitarized zone. The command said two of the enemy were killed.

Action elsewhere was light and scattered, with U.S. forces reporting at least 14 wounded, two of them in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese forces reported several clashes with 45 North Vietnamese killed and two captured in a fight two miles south of the demilitarized zone.

VC Terrorist Efforts Failed To Halt Voting

By DAVID MASON Associated Press Writer SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese officials claimed more than 72 per cent of the voters turned out Sunday for provincial elections despite Viet Cong attacks that killed at least 22 persons and wounded 81.

The highest toll was in the northernmost provinces, where enemy troops mortared Mo Duc, a district town in Quang Nhai Province, killing seven persons and wounding 11 at a polling place.

In some areas, Viet Cong political cadres summoned voters together and warned them not to vote. But government officials claimed 72.6 per cent of the 6.1 million turned out in the 44 provinces, with a heavier participation in rural areas than in the cities.

The claims appeared highly questionable in some areas, however, as witnesses to the voting reported turnouts apparently much below the figures issued by the government.

In Da Nang, for example, officials reported 104,421 voters, or about 73 per cent of the total in South Vietnam's second largest city. But another Vietnamese source said the actual showing probably was below 50 per cent.

At stake were 554 provincial council seats contested by 1,930 candidates, an average of more than three candidates for each post.

The provincial elections were the first since 1967 and the first under a reform program that gives the councils more power and a more representative base.

The councils will have at their disposal provincial development funds for such projects as roads, bridges, hospitals and sewer systems. Previously, the council members were chosen in province capitals, but Sunday candidates came from district levels as well.

Village and hamlet elections were held during the past year, and the next major step in making the government more broadly representative is election of province chiefs. Most of them are now military officers appointed by the central government. The constitution provides that they are to be elected between 1971 and 1975.

Missing Fishermen Found; Next Time Will 'Play It Safe'

OREGON INLET, N.C. (AP) — F. J. Ellis of Hampton and James Pharr Jr. of Newport News, both 29, were barely three hours into their fishing trip last Thursday when their motor quit on their outboard motorboat some 18 miles off the North Carolina Outer Banks.

The men, both employees at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., had been spending a week's vacation on the banks with their families and were scheduled to return to shore about 5 p.m.

"We dropped anchor to hold our position when the motor first cut off," said Pharr later, "but the anchor didn't hold until that night when we were about 35 miles offshore."

They had drifted farther north than they had realized—off the Corolla Lighthouse some 20 miles from the area that Coast Guard vessels and planes began searching after the men were reported missing Thursday night.

Pharr said they had enough water on board, but food was scarce. Friday they split a pastrami and cheese sandwich and Saturday they shared a cinnamon bun.

"We caught an eight pound bluefish before we got into trouble," Pharr said, "but we let it go so we could use the ice for drinking water."

Several severe storms swept the area, pitching their boat around and leaving the pair huddled under a canvas boat cover.

The men spotted two merchant ships Thursday night and two Friday night but, despite their flares and smoke bombs, failed to contact them.

Saturday at 5:07 p.m. the USS Wood County, a Navy LST out on a shakedown cruise, spotted the men waving life preservers. They were picked up and transferred Sunday to a Coast Guard search vessel for the trip home.

"We'll have a transmitter on board next time," said Ellis once ashore. "Until I do... and get a spare engine, I'm going to do my fishing in Chesapeake Bay."

Senate Moving To Climax Long Cambodian Debate

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — With President Nixon's promised deadline for withdrawing U.S. forces from Cambodia less than

Feared Worst

LINCOLN, N.C. (AP) — A mound of fresh earth in an old church cemetery brought a frantic telephone call to the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department recently.

A crowd gathered at the cemetery and speculation grew when three deputies who had sped to the scene agreed that a small body could be buried in the yard-square hole.

The deputies soon uncovered a large metal bucket sealed with concrete, and expecting the worse, they opened the container.

Instead of a body they found coins, pictures, a bottle of fingernail polish and a small tape recording.

Then someone broke the news to the dumbfounded deputies. Seems the mysterious object was a time capsule buried by children attending the church's Vacation Bible School the week before.

two days away, the Senate moved toward the climax of its two-month debate on limiting future American operations there.

Following today's GOP efforts —led by Assistant Republican Leader Robert P. Griffin and Colorado Sen. Gordon Allott—to water down the proposal, the Senate votes Tuesday afternoon on the Cooper-Church amendment to cut off funds for U.S. actions in Cambodia after June 30.

That date was picked by the amendment's sponsors—Republican John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Idaho Democrat Frank Church—because Nixon said all American troops would be out of Cambodia by then.

Today's Republican moves were the rear guard of constant efforts by defenders of Nixon Southeast Asia policies to take the edge off Cooper-Church—such as Griffin's try at softening the language.

Allott's proposal to seek an earlier vote than war critics originally sought on the amendment was after Dec. 31, 1970, had been introduced in hopes it would be defeated now.

Its original sponsors wanted action later this summer so the proposal could serve as another vehicle for extended debate on Vietnam and opposed Allott's maneuvering for a quicker decision.

Today's Senate action was played against these other developments:

—Secretary of State William P. Rogers said in advance of his scheduled meeting with the President at the Western White House that Nixon would make a renewed peace initiative after all U.S. forces are out of Cambodia.

—The President continued preparing a written statement to be issued Tuesday on the Cambodian operation.

—North Vietnam broadcast

Sunday a statement that the United States had obtained none of its objectives in Cambodia and was claiming an "imaginary victory."

—Rep. Gerald R. Ford, the House Republican leader, said the Cambodian incursion had been successful "far beyond expectations" and he personally thought it might even lead to an accelerated withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam. He also said the House might knock out the Cooper-Church amendment even if the Senate passed it.

—Sen. Charles McC. Mathias, R-Md., said in a Senate speech prepared for today he had suggested to the White House 10 days ago creation of "fire-free" no-combat zones in South Vietnam as a peace initiative. He told newsmen he had received no response but thought such an idea was under consideration.

Approve Grant

Congressman Walter B. Jones notified Greenville Utilities today that a grant of $376,000 has been approved by the Federal Water Quality Administration.

Utilities Director Charles Horne said the grant is part of $1,378,000 requested funds for $2.75 million in water sewer and gas improvements.

The approval of this portion of the grant made him optimistic that the remainder of the requested funds will be approved, Horne said.

Church Ransoms Silver Service

MARBLEHEAD, Mass. (AP) — An 18th century silver service stolen one year ago from the Old North Congregational Church has been ransomed by the church for $14,000.

The Rev. George M. Hooten wrote his parishioners this weekend that negotiations for the return of the service, valued at $250,000, were carried out with the knowledge of police, who "agreed to stay out of the picture."

The Rev. Mr. Hooten said one piece of the 25-piece set was still missing.

He said the service was returned March 10. Included in the set was a baptismal bowl made by Paul Revere.

Complaint Heard Here

Superior Court Judge Joseph Parker today received testimony for the complainant and the defense in a move by Greenville Mayor Frank Wooten to stop work on the Central Business District redevelopment project here.

Defendants in the case include the Redevelopment Commission, the Greenville Utilities Commission and the City of Greenville.

Mayor Wooten, several weeks ago, filed a complaint with the Clerk of Superior Court here seeking to halt the CBD project.

As the hearing of the complaint got under way this morning, Judge Parker received affidavits as evidence for the complainant.

More than a dozen affidavits were introduced as evidence for the defense, and Judge Parker, saying he would take this afternoon to review the papers, adjourned the hearing until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Local Woman Dies In S.C. Collision

SANTEE, S.C. — Mrs. Elizabeth Freeborn Romita, 60, of Greenville, N.C. was fatally injured in an automobile accident a mile south of here on U.S. 301 Saturday afternoon.

According to the South Carolina Highway Patrol, Mrs. Romita was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Dr. Joseph Romita, a professor of economics in the School of Business at East Carolina University, when the collision occurred about 3:50 p.m.

The driver of the second vehicle involved in the mishap, Scott Neumann of Hollywood, Fla., was killed in the crash.

Mrs. Romita died of her injuries about 8:30 p.m. Saturday in Orangeburg Regional Hospital where she was taken following the crash.

Dr. Romita was admitted for treatment of injuries, including leg injuries, but was reported in good condition by the Highway Patrol this morning.

Officers reported the Romita car was traveling southward on U.S. 301 when the north-bound Neumann vehicle apparently crossed the center line on the two-lane road and collided with the Romita vehicle.

The Romitas were on a vacation trip to Florida at the time of the crash. They had been residents of Winter Park, Fla. before coming to Greenville in 1965.

One of their two daughters, Mrs. Jane Romita, is a student at the University of Florida in Gainesville. Their other daughter, Mrs. John (Phyllis) Hyers, is a resident of Valdosta, Ga.

Mrs. Romita was a Philadelphia, Penn. native. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Spending Power To Rise As Surtax Reaches End

WASHINGTON (AP) — The initial installment of a $6.5-billion boost in the public's spending power shows up in workers' paychecks starting next Wednesday when the 5 per cent income surcharge expires and personal income tax exemptions rise.

While acknowledging the buildup of spendable income won't help anti-inflation efforts, administration economists said privately it may be a needed boost for the economy.

"The economy is soft and personal income has begun to decline," one official said.

"Dropping the surtax may be just about the right thing to do at the right time, though it wasn't exactly planned that way."

A 10 per cent surtax on personal and corporate incomes was imposed in April 1969, effective for all that year. It added about $9 billion to tax collections for 1969.

The rate was cut to 5 per cent last January under the new tax reform act and the surtax itself set for expiration as of midnight June 30.

On the basis of various federal fiscal moves, purchasing power worth $18.5 billion a year will have been handed consumers and businesses as of July 1—a boost in Social Security payments, a government pay raise, the phaseout of the surtax and the start of tax reductions.

In the same period, government spending has shifted from surplus to deficit. While tightening credit even more, it is not necessarily inflationary, the administration insists, because there is ample slack in the private economy to absorb the flow of federal dollars.

Besides the elimination of the surtax, July brings the first major benefits of the tax relief viewed by Congress in December.

This includes an increase in the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $650 a person. In subsequent years it will rise to $750. The change will be built into the withholding schedules, along with a cut in the tax liabilities of lower-income families through a new low-income allowance.

These gains in immediately disposable income should offset the weakness of personal income, which turned downward in May for the first time since 1965.

Miss Ellen Thomas Weds Floyd W. Avery Sunday

Miss Ellen Lee Thomas became the bride of Floyd Wayne Avery Sunday at a 5:00 p.m. ceremony in Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

The Rev. Troy J. Barrett officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Paul Toll, church organist, presented a program of traditional wedding music. Miss Cynthia Ann Mendenhall, soloist, sang "O Perfect Love" and "O Lord Most Holy".

The vows were spoken before the altar which held lighted tapers and vases filled with white gladioli, mums, roses and pom poms. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbons and pom poms.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee Thomas and the late Mrs. Carolyn Pierce Thomas, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white silk organza and alencon lace. The shirtwaist look had a princess effect with side bust fullness, and a vertical band on alencon lace with small satin buttons from the collar to the bottom of the gown. The chapel train flowed freely from the modified waist in the back.

Her headpiece was a cathedral length mantilla of imported alencon lace. She carried a white wicker basket tied with satin streamers fashioned in a nosegay of white daisies and white bridal roses.

Miss Carol Ann Thomas attended her sister as maid of honor and Mrs. Edwin Starkey Hall III of Winston-Salem, also a sister, was matron of honor. They wore formal length leaf green Grecian-styled chiffon gowns designed with a high neckline and long sleeves. Leaf and Nile green satin braid accentuated the empire waistline and tied in long streamers in the back.

They wore bow headpieces of leaf green satin ribbon trim and leaf green illusion veils. They carried natural colored wicker baskets tied with matching streamers filled with white daisies and mixed summer flowers accentuated with polished English ivy.

Mrs. Bobby Lynn Hazelton, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Robert Warren Thomas and Mrs. Mitchell Shirley Avery Jr. were bridesmaids. They wore identically styled dresses as the maid and matron of honor only in leaf green with Nile trim and headpieces in leaf green and carried bouquets.

Miss Patricia Lynn Averette of Wilmington, cousin of the bridegroom, was flower girl and wore a floor length gown identical to the bridesmaids and carried a basket of rose petals. Edwin Starkey Hall IV was ring bearer.

Mr. Avery, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Holton Avery of Winterville, had his father as best man. Groomsman were Randy Avery, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Warren Thomas of Dunn, and George Stigreaves Attmore, brothers of the bride, Bobby Lynn Hazelton, Mitchell Shirley Avery Jr. and Edwin Starkey Hall III.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. William Morris Corbett of Newport, and Mrs. Garby Baptist of Beaufort, Miss. Mammie Laura Daughtry of New Bern, Miss Phyllis Bryan Bagwell of Garner, Miss Linda Rose Price of Selma, Miss Phyllis Anne Hamilton of Magnolia, and Miss Bonita Page

MRS. FLOYD W. YNE AVERY

Barholomew of Rocky Mount. They wore short afternoon dresses and carried small nosegays of mixed flowers.

The mother of the bride selected a silk faille sheath dress in light peach featuring a V-neckline bordered in matching pearls and stones. She wore a small bow hat of the same material and a white hybrid orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's mother wore an aqua A-line sleeveless dress with jeweled neckline and matching accessories. Her corsage was also a white hybrid orchid.

Mrs. James Acra Hackney Sr. of Washington, grandmother of the bride, selected a light blue linen sheath dress with blue lace bodice and matching accessories. Her corsage was a lavender-throated orchid.

Mrs. Raymond Brock, grandmother of the bridegroom, chose a light blue crepe dress with matching accessories and a lavender orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of J. H. Rose High School and received her degree this spring in primary education from Atlantic Christian College, Wilson. She plans to teach this fall.

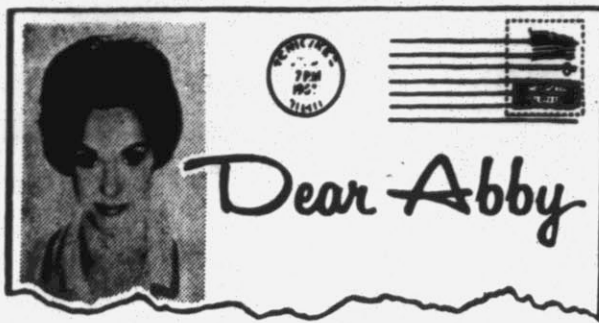

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winterville High School and attended East Carolina University. He is a member of the U.S. Army Reserve Unit and is employed by Vermont American Corp.

For her wedding trip to the mountains of Virginia, the bride wore a navy linen sleeveless dress with A-line skirt and matching coat with fitted waist of white embroidery. Her corsage was tailored of red roses and white daisies.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lee Thomas, parents of the bride entertained at a reception at Brook Valley Country Club.

The bride and bridegroom along with their parents received informally on the

Can A Marriage Be Repaired?

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: "ON THE FENCE" asked you if remarrying a former spouse ever worked. You invited your readers who had had the experience to write in and offer their advice. Here's mine:

Yes, it CAN work. But only if the couple KNOW why their marriage failed in the first place, and they don't make the same mistakes again.

Our problems were all due to family interference. After our divorce, we decided to try again, and we moved far, far away from both our families. We've been married for 12 years this time and we've never been happier. J. AND M.

DEAR ABBY: Tell ON THE FENCE not to marry the same man again. After I divorced my husband [he drank] he told me if I didn't marry him again he would kill himself. Well, I married him, and he almost killed ME. I divorced him again. I never should have remarried him, but I thought I could change him. I couldn't. TWO TIME LOSER

DEAR ABBY: I am well qualified to give advice on whether or not to REMARRY the person you divorced. I married the same man THREE times! And I'm now divorced from him.

My reasons for divorcing him were the same all three times. He makes a much better lover than a husband. SINGLE AND HAPPY

DEAR SINGLE: That's not why you DIVORCED him—that's why you REMARRIED him!

DEAR ABBY: I wish I had all the money I gave to lawyers before I realized that the woman I married not once, not twice, not three times . . . but, would you believe FOUR TIMES, was not marriage material.

It was a big physical thing between us—nothing else, and let me tell you, as important as that is to a good marriage, it ain't enough! ALONE AND LIKING IT

DEAR ABBY: My parents were divorced when I was two. There were four of us kids. I was the youngest. I was too young to remember at the time, but I later learned my parents got married again because of us kids. All I can remember is the fighting and yelling at our house.

After we were all grown and gone, they got divorced again. As far as I'm concerned, they should have stayed divorced the first time. They sure wasted a lot of precious time. THEIR DAUGHTER

DEAR ABBY: ON THE FENCE has a soul sister. ME! I am also "on the fence" for the same reason.

I married my husband during hard times. We worked side by side, and he made it—but BIG!

Well, he couldn't stand the prosperity, and he asked me for a divorce. [Yes, he found somebody else.] I gave him his divorce and he married her. That lasted just long enough for her to go thru his bankroll.

Now that he's broke, he wants me to marry him again. He says now he knows there could never be anybody but me, etc.

Maybe I'm a fool, but I still love him. Should I try again with him? LOVES HIM

DEAR LOVES: You'll never be happy until you try. But this time, keep him broke.

DEAR ABBY: ON THE FENCE can find the answer in The Old Testament. Deuteronomy 24:4 says, "Her former husband, which sent her away, may not take her again to be his wife, after she is defiled; for that is abomination before the Lord." G. R. S. JR.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Cagle-Johnson Vows Said In Saturday Ceremony

STAUNTON, VA. — On Saturday afternoon at four o'clock in the Christ Lutheran Church here, Miss Mary Jane Johnson became the bride of Bob Alton Cagle.

The Rev. Donald R. Stonesifer officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lester Johnson of Staunton, Va., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hugh Wiles of Thomasville, N.C. are the parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Merle Desper, organist, presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of candlelight imported silk organza over peau de soie. The fitted empire bodice was fashioned with a semi-sculptured neckline with a yoke of re-embroidered alencon lace, and long full sleeves of English net with appliques of lace. A ruffle and bow were featured at the wrists. The A-line skirt was applied with re-embroidered alencon lace and was designed with an attached chapel length train.

Her cathedral mantilla of candlelight imported illusion was fashioned with a wide border or re-embroidered alencon lace. She carried a nosegay of white roses, miniature carnations and baby's breath with white satin streamers tied in love knots and centered with an orchid.

Mrs. Forrest E. Wiseman of Annapolis, Md., was matron of honor. She wore a formal length green crepe dress with fitted empire bodice and trimmed with candlelight lace. She wore a picture hat trimmed with daisies and streamers to match the dress. Her nosegay of assorted spring flowers had matching streamers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Cary Trotter of Trinity, N.C., sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Todd F. Johnson of Midwest City, Okla., sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Barbara Ann Todd of Hendersonville, N.C., cousin of the bride, and Miss Andrea Lynn Berle of Annapolis, Md. They wore dresses in peach and yellow styled identical to the matron of honor's.

Raymond Hugh Wiles served his son as best man. Ushers were Todd Frazier Johnson of Midwest City, Okla., brother of the bride, John B. Grimaldi of Mt. Vernon, N.Y., Tommy Ralph Adams of Greensboro, N.C., Harold Ray Hilliard Jr. of Thomasville, N.C., and Mark Cross of High Point, N.C.

Following a wedding trip to Atlanta, Ga., the couple will reside in Greenville, N.C.

The bride is a graduate of Robert E. Lee High School, Staunton, Va., and Wingate College, Wingate, N.C. She is presently employed at East Carolina University.

The bridegroom graduated from Thomasville Senior High School, Thomasville, N.C., and Wingate College. He is now attending East Carolina University majoring in political science.

Following the ceremony, the couple was entertained at a reception in the church social hall. Hostesses were Dr. Cora Mae Todd, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Diane Muddiman, Miss Debbie Taylor, Miss Carol Lee Stogdale, Miss Betty Duncan, Mrs. Coy Helms and Mrs. James Easterling.

Their Second Time Was Nicer

ROTHERHAM, England (WNS) — Mrs. Arthur Napper complained that her wedding ring was a bit small after 20 years of marriage, so her husband bought her a new one for their anniversary. Then he decided that a church wedding would be in order, too. Their son was best man, and their three daughters were bridesmaids. "Try it," advised the two-time bride. "It's wonderful!"

Pocketbook Contained Exploding Surprise

FRANKFURT, West Germany (WNS) — Rosa Spiegler, who had had handbags stolen from her car twice in ten months, did not hesitate to leave her new pocketbook on the front seat of her parked Volkswagen when she went shopping. Sure enough, thieves arrived but the bag exploded as soon as they opened it. "Now I have to buy another bag because of the explosion, but it's worth it," she said.

TAMALE PIE
Tamale Pie Sauce, see below
1 cup yellow cornmeal
1 cup cold water
3 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup grated cheddar cheese
Make Tamale Pie Sauce. In a small bowl stir together the cornmeal and cold water. Into a medium saucepan pour the boiling water and salt; gradually stir in cornmeal mixture. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until thick—5 to 10 minutes. Remove from heat; let stand uncovered for about 5 minutes. Spread half of cornmeal in bottom of a greased 2-quart oblong glass baking dish (11 1/2 by 8 1/2 by 1 1/4 inches) or similar utensil. Spread with Tamale Pie Sauce and top with remaining cornmeal. Sprinkle with cheese. Cover and refrigerate. When ready to use, bake in a preheated 450-degree oven until bubbling hot—30 to 40 minutes. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

TAMALE PIE SAUCE: Cook 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1-3d cup chopped green pepper and 1 pound lean ground beef in 3 tablespoons butter or margarine, crumbling with a fork, until beef loses its red color. Stir in a can (about 1 pound) of drained whole-kernel corn, 1/2 cup sliced pitted ripe olives, a 6-ounce can of tomato paste and 2 teaspoons chili powder; cook gently about 10 minutes. Remove excess fat.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony On Sunday

WALSTONBURG — Miss Judy Frances Hardison became the bride of John Clinton Radford in a double ring ceremony at the Free Union Free Will Baptist Church here Sunday at 3:00 p.m. The Rev. C. L. Patrick, pastor of the bride, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Franklin Hardison of Snow Hill. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Orville Radford of Greenville.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Ray Cunningham, organist. Mrs. Alton Shirley, soloist, sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer".

For the wedding, the church was decorated with three urns of emerald jade ferns and pedestals of white summer flowers. The altar, on which the couple knelt for the wedding prayer, was flanked by single cathedral before taking their vows. After exchanging their vows the couple lit a single candle signifying their union as one.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal floor length gown which she designed and made. The gown was fashioned of white peau de soie featuring a wedding ring neckline enhanced with tiny seed pearls. The empire waist and long fitted sleeves were inserted with galloon lace trim accented with seed pearls. The front skirt was fitted with the back skirt being fully gathered and highlighted by a white bow of peau de soie.

Her bouffant veil of silk bridal illusion was attached to a crown of organza petals trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of miniature white carnations in a cascade centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. William Hardison attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore an empire style formal gown of pale yellow peau de soie. The bodice was accented with galloon lace and featured a pale yellow bow to highlight the back. The matching pale yellow headpiece was a dior bow with a circular silk illusion veil. She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow pom poms tied with green velvet streamers.

Miss Nancy Kay Radford, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Kathie Lou Jones attended the bride as bridesmaids. Their formal gowns and headpieces were of mint green peau de soie styled identically to the matron of honor. They carried colonial nosegays of yellow pom poms tied with green velvet streamers.

Mr. Radford served his son as best man. Groomsman included James Kenneth Radford, brother of the bridegroom, and James William Jenkins of Wilson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hardison chose a pastel pink polyester knit dress with white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Radford, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a turquoise-blue polyester knit dress with matching hat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Hardison, chose a navy blue linen ensemble with matching accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride is a 1970 graduate of Greene Central High School, Snow Hill. The bridegroom is a 1968 graduate of Junius H. Rose High School and a 1970 graduate of Pitt Technical Institute receiving an associate in applied science degree in business agriculture.

For a wedding trip to the Blue Ridge Parkway, the bride wore a green and yellow floral sheath with matching accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple plan to make their home in Greenville.

After-Rehearsal Party
Mrs. Kenneth O. Radford, mother of the bridegroom, Miss Nancy Kay Radford and Mrs. L. Bruce Whitaker, sisters of the bridegroom, entertained the wedding party Saturday night at an after-rehearsal party and cake cutting.

The bridal table was decorated with a white cutwork cloth and centered with a floral arrangement of summer flowers flanked on both sides by single offset candles.

The bride and bridegroom-elect cut the traditional first slice of the three-tiered wedding cake after which the bride-elect's mother served the cake and the mother of the bridegroom-elect poured punch.

McLawhorn-Smith Vows Said In Double Ring Ceremony

AYDEN — Miss Rebecca Jane Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Smith, was wed to Curtis Craig McLawhorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Odell McLawhorn on Saturday at 5:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. The double ring ceremony was officiated by Rev. Gilbert Mister.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. John Blackwell, organist, Miss Debra Hart and Miss Denise Whitaker, who sang "O Promise Me" and "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee".

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of rose point lace fashioned along skimmer lines with a cowl collar of satin which ended in a V-back. The long fitted sleeves were of lace. The back of the gown was designed with a brush train of pleated organza. Her veil of imported silk illusion fell from a chapel mantilla of rose point lace.

The bride carried a medley cascade of daisies and yellow sweetheart roses. Matron of honor was Mrs. Johnny L. Smith of Ayden, sister-in-law of the bride. She wore an empire gown with bell sleeves of yellow dotted Swiss. The gown was accented with a floor length, yellow, velvet ribbon.

Maid of honor was Miss Teresa Warren of Huntington, W.Va., cousin of the bride. She wore a green gown styled identical to the matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Sandra Cox, Diane Brown, Emy Lou Wilson, and Kathy McLawhorn all of Ayden. Their yellow and green gowns were styled identical to the honor attendants.

The attendants wore matching headpieces of velvet bows and illusion and carried similar bouquets of daisies and gypsophelia.

Odell McLawhorn, father of the bridegroom served as best man. The ushers were Carlton and Jeff McLawhorn, brothers of the bridegroom, Johnny Smith, brother of the bride, Kent Allen and Allen Wilson of Ayden.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith selected a powder blue sheath with white accessories.

Mrs. McLawhorn, mother of the bridegroom, chose an apricot silk dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore shoulder corsages of white Georgia orchids.

Mrs. Millie McLawhorn, grandmother of the bridegroom, chose a lavender crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was white carnations.

The church altar was centered with a fifteen branch candelabra and with a ten candle candelabra on each side. Two floral baskets of yellow gladioli and white daisies. Two standards of jade was used in the background. The couple knelt on a white prie-dieu to take their vows.

The bride is a graduate of Ayden High School and is employed with Semroc Astronautics Corp., Ayden.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ayden High School and attended East Carolina University. He is now employed by Semroc Astronautics Corp., Ayden.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a mint green and beige sleeveless dress with matching accessories. The couple will reside in Ayden.

After-Rehearsal Party
Mr. and Mrs. Odell McLawhorn, parents of the bridegroom entertained the Smith - McLawhorn wedding party and out-of-town guests at an after-rehearsal party and cake cutting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny L. Smith.

During Summer Months Grill Chicken Outdoors

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor Chicken, cut in quarters, is widely available in supermarkets. The quarters are just right for cooking on the outdoor grill. But before you do so you may want to do a little further preparation by cutting through—but not severing—joints. With a heavy sharp knife this is easy for a cook to accomplish.

Grilling chicken outdoors usually calls for a thin sauce to be brushed on the birds as they cook. The following recipe suggests such a sauce. In addition there's an excellent Cranberry Dip to serve hot with the chicken when it's ready to eat. All our tasters liked the dip, and we think you will, too.

GRILLED CHICKEN WITH CRANBERRY DIP

2 broiler-fryer chickens (2½ to 3 pounds), quartered
¼ cup (½ of a quarter-pound stick) butter

½ cup cranberry juice cocktail
½ small onion, peeled and finely grated (pulp and juice)
1 tablespoon soy sauce
Cranberry Dip, see recipe

Wash and clean the chickens and dry on paper toweling. In a small saucepan over low heat melt the butter; stir in the cranberry juice cocktail, onion and soy sauce.

Brush the butter mixture over all surfaces of the chicken.

Place chicken on a greased grill about 8 inches above gray coals; broil, turning every five minutes or so and brushing with butter mixture, until browned and tender—20 to 30 minutes on each side.

Serve with Cranberry dip. Makes 8 servings.

CRANBERRY DIP

1 cup catchup
½ cup whole cranberry sauce
1 tablespoon bottled horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Juice of ½ lemon (about 1½ tablespoons)

Into a small saucepan turn all the ingredients. Heat gently until mixture bubbles. Serve hot. Makes about 12-3 cups.

NOTE: If any of the dip is leftover, store in refrigerator and serve cold as a condiment for another dish.

PREPARING CHICKEN FOR THE GRILL

Before grilling chicken quarters you may wish to prepare them this way:
Leave wing tips on or cut them off with a heavy sharp knife.

Cut through the joint that attaches the wing to the breast, but do not sever.

Cut through the joint that attaches the drumstick to the thigh, but do not sever.

Preparing chicken this way allows the quarters to be stretched out and grilled evenly; it also makes eating the chicken easy to manage.

Hopefully U. S. Move Will Help

We can only hope that the diplomatic peace effort launched by the United States and announced last week by Secretary of State William P. Rogers will bear fruit.

Rogers said that the U.S. wants Arab and Israeli foes to move under United Nations auspices towards a "just and lasting peace" which would take fully into account the legitimate aspirations and concerns of all government and peoples of the area.

It was reported that the U.S. Plan calls on the warring nations for:

- A cease fire for at least 90 days.
 - A start of negotiations under auspices of U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring.
- The negotiations would require that Arab nations recognize Israel as a nation with secure borders.

Israel would withdraw from Arab territories taken in 1967.

Because the nations of the Middle East have been hostile for so long, it is difficult for us to feel that there will be any immediate favorable reaction from all of the nations concerned.

Yet disputes must be settled, somehow and history invariably tells us there are seldom any winners in all out wars. Even the victors have little to show for their efforts. The United States learned that following World War II.

We can only hope that there will be a return to reason in the Middle East and the warring nations will consider the U.S., or some similar, plan.

The Middle East dispute must be settled by negotiation or we see only disaster for the millions of people living there—perhaps for the entire world.

Redistricting Plan Discussed

By BRYAN HANSLIP
RALEIGH, N.C. — Redistricting by computer? It's a possibility.

In fact, a California outfit is doing the job for the legislature there. Data on population, geography, race, social and economic make-up are fed into the computer. After analyzing all factors, it can turn out various plans for legislative representation which will meet strict standards with a population variation between districts as narrow as one to five per cent.

Not only can the computer devise alignments of districts; it also can test plans submitted to it for adherence to prescribed standards.

Clyde Ball, state legislative services officer, is impressed with the computer capability but he won't recommend its use to the 1971 General Assembly.

One reason is the expense — $50,000 or $100,000. Another is the delicate nature of redistricting, fraught with elements of politics, local pride and regional jealousies.

"We all have a little natural distrust of the computer, I think," Ball said. "In an area as sensitive as this, I'm sure the members of the legislature will want to handle the job themselves."

Handle it they must. It appears certain that the 1970 census results will show population shifts within the state which will make necessary changes in Congressional Districts, and the Senate and House districts of the state legislature.

Secretary of State Thad Eure has noted that North Carolina is expected to retain its 11 seats in Congress, based on present estimates of the national census results. Official census figures are not expected until December.

Preliminary reports already have raised an outcry in the east, where unofficial counts have shown population loss or only minor gains. Throughout the area, local officials are beating the bushes to round up population missed by the census takers.

Barring a complete reversal of the preliminary count, the inevitable result of the census will be a redistricting which will take representation from the east and west and concentrate it further in the populous Piedmont.

Officially, no start has been made on the research which will be necessary to give lawmakers the information they will need for the redistricting chore. However, Ball is well along on compiling judicial decisions on the subject in order to determine the standards which must be met.

He hasn't gone far enough to be prepared to say with certainty how rigidly the one-man, one-vote doctrine will have to be applied. He did note that the courts have struck down some redistricting plans with "quite low variations" in population between districts.

"Standards applied to Congressional districts are clearly more rigid than those for state legislative seats," Ball said.

As the requirement for equality of population between districts is applied with greater severity, the distinct threat is raised to the sanctity of county lines as political boundaries. California, for example, has abandoned county lines and will use census tracts as the building blocks for districts.

If a variation as low as two per cent were required, it would be virtually impossible for North Carolina to redistrict and respect county lines. Putting together Congressional districts of contiguous counties would become a real juggling act.

Ball, a student of the legislative process with broad practical experience, feels that court decisions on representation "go straight to the heart of the separation of powers theory of government."

He acknowledged that the failure of legislatures to comply with Constitutional provisions for redistricting brought on judicial mandates. "The courts had to get involved," he said, "but it does seem they have reached narrower limits than are practical in application."

Ball was director of legislative services for the Institute of Government in the early 60s when extended wrangling over redistricting brought on a special session before the job was accomplished.

Will it go that far in 71? The answer depends on whether lawmakers get embroiled in debate over what must be done rather than on how to do it.

"Redistricting can be handled at the regular session, I believe," Ball said, "if we can put before the members a clear idea on the standards which must be applied and research which will indicate various ways in which the standards can be met. It should not be the cause for an unduly lengthy session."

So What's Wrong With New Hairstyle?

Gov. Scott, who surprised Capitol Square awhile back by showing up with unusually long sideburns, has now come up with a slightly mod hairstyle.

The haircut sent reporters to interview his barber who described the hairstyle as only a full cut.

Whatever it is, the governor wasn't sure last week whether he would continue to wear it that way or not.

Recently, too, Evangelist Billy Graham came out with a long hair style for his New York Crusade and that made the newspapers.

So, who says there is anything wrong with wearing your hair long?

Bitterness Is In Heartland

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

Sturgis, Mich. (UPI)—To a visitor from the urban East, this handsome little town looks at first like an island of serenity that has managed to remain insulated from the turmoil of the modern world.

But if the visitor sticks around for a while, he becomes aware that even here, in the heartland of Middle America, there is bitterness, division, and anxiety about the future.

Sturgis is a good place to listen in on the murmurs of the "silent majority" because it comes as close as any town can to qualifying as a typical midwestern community.

It is located in the rolling green farm country of southwest Michigan, 149 miles west of Detroit, 120 miles east of Chicago, 2 miles north of the Indiana line. Kalamazoo, the nearest city of appreciable size, is 50 miles away.

Paradise Found—Almost Sturgis has a population of 9,000, a business district five blocks long, a good daily newspaper, enough industry to provide nearly full employment, an excellent school system, numerous churches, and a restaurant that serves steaks as good as any you can find in Chicago. It is a paradise for sportsmen: 20 clear, unpolluted lakes are within a 10-minute drive.

The crime wave, like pollution, is something the people of Sturgis read about in newspapers and hear about on television. The actual experience of being robbed or assaulted is so rare that many citizens never bother to lock their homes. Police have investigated two homicides in the past 20 years.

Racial tension also is merely the rumble of distant thunder. There are only four black families in town.

"We do have hippies," my host told me in a tone that managed to combine repugnance with a touch of civic pride.

He pointed out five young men standing on a street corner. They all had long hair and one sported a straggly beard. Last summer, the "hippies" shocked the community by using a municipal park as a boudoir on warm nights. But the police have found a way to stop that: at midnight, lawn sprinklers are turned on in the park.

Even the prettiest apples may harbor worms. There was a snake even in the Garden of Eden.

The worm in Sturgis' apple is a growing concern about the economic outlook.

"We've had two plants shut down recently," said Harold S. Pringle, publisher of the Sturgis Journal. "Our unemployment rate is still below the national average, but unless business begins to pick up soon, we'll have a problem. A lot of people are worried that we're sliding into a national recession."

The snake in Sturgis' garden is the Indochina War. Some citizens are disturbed about the apparent inability of the United States to end the conflict—or disengage from it.

Indochina Near—"A lot of people want to pull out," said Mrs. Donna Wright, a school teacher and mother of four children. "They feel we aren't getting anywhere, and they're sick of seeing so many of our boys killed and wounded over there. They think we ought to leave and let the people over there work out their own problems."

Others are less perturbed by the war than by the demonstrations which college students are conducting against it.

Jack Grim, a grain elevator operator, said he did not think national guardsmen should be criticized for opening fire on demonstrating students at Kent State University.

"We've got to put a stop to all this burning and rock-throwing," he said. "If it takes bullets—well, law enforcement officers have a right to defend themselves."

I asked Grim whether he had children.

Strength For Today

Mohammed and the Mountain

Psychologists experimenting with rats report that if they confront a rat with two closed doors and put food behind one of them he will eventually learn to use that same door each time and ignore the other door. If, however, they then begin putting food behind the other door the rat is lost. He will continue to try the same old door again and again until he is so tired and frustrated that he cannot be made to go through any door.

Often we are faced in life with problems which are just as fatiguing and frustrating to us as the change of doors is to the rat. We batter away at them, trying in the same old way to succeed and failing each time. We try harder, but we do not try more wisely. Sometimes all we need is a new approach—another door and we will find then that the problem has disappeared altogether.

There is always another approach to any problem—possibly many other approaches. We should realize that what we often need is not more effort but better effort. Mohammed legend tells that the prophet Mohammed once commanded a mountain to come to him. It did not move. He might have ordered, entreated, begged or threatened in vain. Instead, he solved his problem by a new approach. He went to the mountain.

Books Are Recommended

WASHINGTON — With the summer coming up we recommend the following books for light reading:

"Everything You Wanted to Know About Socks (But Were Afraid to Ask)," Dr. David Suphose has written the first frank, uncensored book about socks, which tells you not only how to get more pleasure out of your socks, but how to wear them without hangups or guilt. This book answers the question as to when to wear socks and with whom. There are chapters titled "Is Darning Unhealthy?" "Exciting Things to Do With Your Ankles," "Erogenous Parts of Your Heel," and "Pre-Sock Foreplay" which deals with the pleasure you can get from your toes before putting on your socks.

For the first time, a distinguished American writer has put forth the proposition that everyone is entitled to a really joyous and fulfilling sock life, and if your feet can find happiness the rest of you won't be far behind.

Other Editors Say Defenses Imperiled

(Rocky Mount Evening Telegram)

It would appear that the Safeguard missile defense system still isn't safe from the foes of a strong American defense.

It was rescued from oblivion last year by a dedicated group in the Senate, but now it seems that there will be a rerun of last year's bitter debate and vote on the missile system which is designed to protect the United States from Communist missile attack. Why do they have to keep voting on a matter so vital?

And again it is expected to be a close vote this time. Sen. Henry Jackson, Democrat of Washington state, says he doubts the administration's Safeguard expansion will pass the Senate by more than one or two votes. Jackson was the floor manager of last year's one-vote win for the defense system.

It is expected to come up in mid-July as part of the $19.2 billion military procurement bill. The Senate Armed Services Committee has already voted to delete the administration's request for initial funds for four area defense Safeguard sites. That committee's move was clearly.

It has never been explained in valid terms to the American people just why this movement against the American defense system has been mounted. If its enemies want to use money as an excuse, then why not mention other extravagances like some of the wild social welfare schemes some of these same doves are pushing so hard?

If we need a missile defense system to counter missile attacks from the Communists, then why the big flap? Even the doves can be excused in their big pitch to get us out of Vietnam, but their drive to destroy our ability to defend our own homeland against a deadly enemy has no basis in rationality.

Junked Autos Are Piling Up

By ELMER ROESSNER

Among the things that defile the earth, junked and abandoned autos seem to stir up far more excitement than their menace justifies.

Junked autos no longer contaminate the air, no longer cause death and injuries, breed no diseases, emit no dangerous rays nor contaminate our streams. Some of the auto graveyards,

Johnson called upon the owners of auto graveyards to shield them from public view with scrubbery or fences.

Psychological Quirk
There may be a bit of psychology in this. Perhaps most of us have a guilt feeling when we see abandoned cars. They dramatize the wastefulness of the American economy. Our puritan inheritance is shocked by the fact that we trade in or abandon cars while there is still a lot of use in them. The beautiful ornamentation we paid so much for when the car was new still gleams, tugging at inclination to thrift.

And the smashed cars remind us of the toll of dead and injured, far greater than the costs of war in Vietnam, and stirs our tribal guilt feelings.

There are an estimated 20 million auto hulks in auto graveyards, city streets and rural fields, according to the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel. With about $50 worth of reclaimable metal each this represents more than $1 billion.

While Piles Grow

Reasons this mine is not being worked, according to the institute, are:

- It takes about $51 worth of processing to retrieve $56 worth of metal, and if a car has been stripped of radiator, transmission, etc., that margin can be wiped out.

- The cost of transporting old cars to processing plants can be prohibitive. Railroads charge higher rates for scrap than they do for ore.

- The supply of scrap already exceeds demand. The institute reports there are 75 giant shredders in operation, with 10 more starting up this year; 500 guillotine shears for shredding metal and 1,500 baling presses, each representing an investment of from $150,000 to $4 million. But there is not enough demand to keep them all operating.

The institute suggests federal aid to localities to subsidize processing, a tax incentive to get railroads to cut freight, and tax incentives to encourage steel companies to use more scrap. As for so many problems today, this solution adds up to, "Let the taxpayers pay."

Others have proposed a $50 junking tax on every new car sold to create a fund for removal of abandoned cars.

Hazard To Your Health

By JOY STILLEY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — CAUTION: Buying cosmetics for a teen-age daughter may be hazardous to your mental health.

I discovered this the other day when I volunteered to pick up my college coed's favorite products at a plush local salon. Along with the makeup I got a shakeup—of my ego.

Displayed in a setting befitting the crown jewels are cleansers, moisturizers, fresheners, brighteners, dullers, blushers, stabilizers, foundations, finishes, oils, creams and powders.

Somewhat overawed by the array of potions and lotions and by the elegant lady who presided over their commercial distribution, I nervously consulted my list. The dispenser of bottled beauty nodded encouragingly as she selected the called-for items.

"Have you thought of trying our camouflage cream?" she suggested. "And," she added delicately, "perhaps you should consider our special youth lotion. A stitch in time, you know."

"Oh, these are not for me," I volunteered. "They're for my daughter who's away at school. I don't use anything but lipstick and eyebrow pencil."

Her own perfectly penciled brows shot up in horror and a frown pulled down the corners of her carefully contoured lips.

"No makeup!" she exclaimed in refined accents of disbelief. "Come now, we mothers mustn't let our daughters get ahead of us. Makeup would do wonders for you."

She regarded me critically. "The features are good," she concluded, "but we must accent them. You're like a picture without a frame. Let me make you up—you'll see how we can improve you with a little of this and that."

Since even locating my mouth for coffee-drinking purposes is a major accomplishment for the first couple of hours after I got up, performing any task requiring more coordination than that is beyond hope. I firmly declined.

But she didn't give up that easily.

"At least take our little pamphlet and read how we can help you."

Well, I've been reading but I haven't figured out how I'd manage to get all the glamor on before it was time to take it off again.

I'm supposed to start with a foam cleanser to open the pores, followed by a freshener to close them; then a concealing base that will cover them so you can't see whether they're open or closed. A special lighter follows to hide the circles and shadows under the eyes. Atop this goes a blusher for a youthful glow, and if my fingertips are still in working order there's a liquid powder, over which goes a finisher.

'Reality And Relevance' Sought In TV Programs

By JERRY BUCK
AP TV and Radio Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The fall television season, now in production here, is characterized strongly by a drive for reality and relevance.

The networks have swept aside many taboos, and relevance is the subject uppermost in the minds of producers and performers. Nearly a dozen new shows promise to tackle such contemporary issues as drugs, campus riots, the political influence of the Mafia and the Mexican-American movement.

"Dan August," a new police show on ABC, goes beyond the usual who-dunnit to investigate the murder of a union leader and the crackup of a Negro passing for a white.

Andy Griffith, returning to CBS with "Headmaster," opens with a story about a father who pushes his son to the brink of suicide.

The shows have such names as "The Young Lawyers," "Storefront Lawyers," "Silent Force," and "The Young Rebels."

Said one producer of old-fashioned escapism, not attempting to hide his sarcasm, "You can look for a lot of shows with kids running down the street and jumping into automobiles." Quinn Martin, producer of "Dan August" and the returning "FBI," said, "I think the realism we are getting to now is a breakthrough. I think television lags behind the movies, and will stay behind. But I think the movies have progressed so much and I think the networks and the advertisers realize you have to catch up with the times."

Norman Felton, a tall, thin, bearded man whose accomplishments include "Dr. Kildare," "Mr. Novak," and "Eleventh Hour," is executive producer of "The Psychiatrist" segment of NBC's "Four In One."

"We did some research into the reason why people go to doctors," Felton said. "I thought the biggest reason would be respiratory ailments. You know what it is? Loneliness. A patient may say his arm hurts or something, but he goes because he is lonely. These are the kinds of things we'll be exploring."

Hal Holbrook leaves behind his portrayal of Mark Twain to become "The Senator" in a new segment of "The Bold Ones" on NBC, replacing the police show in the three-part series. Holbrook said scripts are being written that deal with the political influence of the Mafia and the compromises a senator is sometimes forced to make to accomplish anything.

The networks have been timid and the medium needs to face issues within the framework of entertainment, even if it is only the essence of reality.

The danger exists that many shows will cop out on the brave words of the producers and the public will become further disillusioned. The best intentions have succumbed in the past to workable formulas for rating success.

Then there is television's overkill. We have all sat through the glut westerns, detectives,

"Yes," he said. "I have a son in college. And if he was out there breaking up public property in a campus demonstration and got shot, I'd feel remorse but I'd also feel that he got what was coming to him."

Attorney Robert Boyle blamed the news media for student unrest. "You glorify rioters and make them out to be heroes," he said. "But you never carry stories about decent youngsters who aren't involved in that rabble."

Warren Fudge, quiet-spoken superintendent of schools, said there have been no anti-war demonstrations in Sturgis High. "But that doesn't mean our young people are indifferent. Many of them are deeply concerned about the war and the general direction of our society. They are anxious about their personal futures, and the future of the nation."

Own Solutions
Fudge, who has a son nearing draft age, said his personal view is that "we can't go all out to win, because that could bring on a nuclear holocaust; we can't just pull out overnight, because that would leave chaos behind us; so we're left with only one sensible and honorable alternative — gradual withdrawal."

He said he had believed President Nixon was committed to gradual withdrawal until U.S. forces were sent into Cambodia. "Now I don't know what to think. I hope he still means to extricate us fairly quickly—but we'll have to wait and see what he actually does."

Sturgis is Republican country, and voted overwhelmingly for Nixon in 1968. Most of its citizens, if confronted by a public opinion pollster, still would say they support Nixon and his Indochina policy.

But further questioning often reveals they understand that policy to call for complete withdrawal of U.S. forces from Indochina within a year or so at the most. Many are visibly distressed when told that the president has not, in fact made any definite pledge about a timetable for complete U.S. withdrawal.

"The people I talk to are supporting Mr. Nixon because they have gotten the impression from his statements and broadcasts that he means to get all of our troops out of Indochina fairly soon," said publisher Pringle.

"If this war drags on and on and we still have a lot of men over there this time year, I think you might see a drastic change of political sentiment in Sturgis."

godmother of the ladies auxiliary.

The novel tells with sympathy and understanding what it's like for the women who sit and wait while their husbands are away collecting bad debts.

Sworn to suffer in silence, the women devote themselves to good deeds, holding benefits for the widows and orphans of the stool pigeons their men were forced to send to that big Godmother in the Sky.

"President for a Week." George Shrimpton, who has played football with the New York Giants, fought Cassius Clay, conducted the Bolshoi Theater and hijacked a plane to Cuba, has written his funniest book to date about being President of the United States. Shrimpton persuaded President Nixon to stay down at Key Biscayne for a week while he ran the country. Naturally everything Shrimpton did was wrong. One hilarious incident follows another. First he locks Billy Graham out of the White House. Then he accidentally hooks up the CIA telephone with the hot line to Moscow, and then he takes over the controls of Air Force I and almost gets shot down over Peking.

His final ignominious hour comes when he declares the Fourth of July a working day for government employees, and spoils President Nixon's only chance to bring the country together. (Non-fiction.)

Many Income Funds Do Better Than Average

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — While most mutual funds have done quite poorly this year, a noticeable exception emerges from a study of the performance charts: A good many income funds are doing decidedly better than the averages.

Not that this is any great accomplishment, but it does stand out in an industry which lost 25.5 per cent of its assets from Jan. 1 to June 11, compared with a decline in the Dow Jones Industrial Average of only 16.9 per cent.

Even more interesting is the way in which some funds accomplished their feat: They simply got out of the stock market and put their money into bonds, commercial paper, short-term government notes and cash.

Of the top 25 performance leaders in the June 11 compilation by the Arthur Lipper Corp., 15 funds emphasized income as opposed to growth, speculation of simply conservation of capital. Another four were combined growth-income funds.

Three funds—Keystone B-1, Keystone B-2 and Investors Selective—actually increased their asset value per share, although only slightly. In addition, they yielded their owners from 5.8 per cent to 7 per cent in dividends.

Performance funds, which seek great growth of capital, were at the opposite end of the scale during the sharp decline in stock prices. Lipper lists 15 of them as having lost more than 50 per cent of value since Jan. 1.

Why should the performance funds, which returned glamorous profits during the rising stock market of the 1960s, fail so miserably in 1970? Apparently because they are simply committed to stocks as a way of life.

The income funds, however, seemingly can better grasp short-term trends. Their philosophy permits them to invest in stocks when the stock market is sound; or in other securities, if they are temporarily more attractive.

Magna Income Trust, a small fund which ranked 19th in the Lipper list of 461, provides an illustration of the maneuvers used by the income funds.

On Jan. 22 the fund held more than 50 per cent of its assets in common stocks and only 1 per cent in cash. One week later it had increased its cash position to 24 per cent and reduced common stocks to 37 per cent.

By April 11 only 11 per cent of assets were in common stocks, and 81 per cent was in bonds, short-term notes and cash. Since then it has increased its stock position, but only to 14 per cent.

Most income funds are quite small, which permits more maneuverability than some of the performance funds, which grew during the 1960s to dinosaur proportions.

Publisher Edges Gaullist Deputy
NANCY, France (AP) — Jean-Jacques Servan-Schreiber, publisher of the magazine l'Express, has defeated Gaullist Deputy Roger Souchal for the National Assembly seat from this industrial city.

Servan-Schreiber, 46, polled more than 50 per cent of the votes cast in a runoff election Sunday. In the regular election the week before, none of half-dozen candidates mustered a majority.

Souchal had represented Nancy, traditional stronghold of the ruling Gaullist party, since 1958.

The size of the average camping party is 4.26 persons, says the New York State Department of Conservation.

Horses Unseated Philip, Charles
WINDSOR, England (AP) — Prince Charles and his father, Prince Philip, were spilled from their horses during a Sunday polo game near Windsor Castle.

With Queen Elizabeth looking on, her husband, Philip, hit the ground when his pony stumbled and fell. The prince went to a hospital for treatment of torn ligaments in his right shoulder.

Charles, the queen's son, then landed on his back when his pony stumbled. He lay stunned for about two minutes, but mounted another horse and finished the game.

WILL THIS FASHION CATCH ON? — A male model strolling down a Los Angeles street in a mid-length skirt draws stares from conventionally-attired men. The outfit is the brainstorm of designer Rebecca Welles, who reports a number of fine stores have ordered it. She thinks men will wear it on the golf course, around the pool, or at resorts. (AP Wirephoto)

A Plain Fourth Of July Celebration, Only Bigger

Justice Dept. Pleased With Pot War Results

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says it is highly pleased with initial results of "Operation Cooperation," the joint U.S.-Mexican drive to destroy opium poppies and marijuana in Mexico and catch those who trade in the illicit drugs.

Citing figures from a report to be published later this week, Bob Funesi of the department's Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs listed some examples of arrests due to the two-country cooperation:

—In Mexicali, Mexican police arrested a "major trafficker as he attempted to deliver one ton of marijuana to a BNDD undercover agent."

—In Guadalajara, the Mexican army seized five tons of marijuana and arrested 15 U.S. citizens alleged to have arranged to smuggle it into this country.

—In Jalisco, BNDD agents helped when Mexican police captured a fully equipped heroin laboratory, arrested three persons and seized 225 grams of pure heroin.

Other examples involved arrests in New York City, Las Vegas, California and Tucson, Ariz., and elsewhere.

In addition, the Mexican government wiped out 5,745 acres of poppies and 44 tons of marijuana in a drive last spring, Funesi said.

Operation Cooperation started last fall after an earlier anti-drug drive — "Operation Intercept" — soured U.S.-Mexican relations by creating big jam-ups at U.S. Customs points that discouraged tourism and inconvenienced Mexicans working in the United States.

Under Operation Cooperation, the United States this week is sending Mexico three light aircraft and five radio-equipped helicopters seating five persons. They are valued at a total $815,000.

In addition, the Mexican government will receive $15,000 for remote sensing experiments aimed at detecting opium poppies and marijuana in their rolling hills. Another $35,000 will go for equipment to eradicate the poppies and other drug-yielding plants.

Cooperative training programs are planned to widen the pool of people able to detect and eradicate the plants and maintain the specialized equipment.

Also, the U.S. Customs Bureau as of June 1 had strengthened its Mexico and Canadian border staffs by 900 men.

Except that in 1970 America, especially in Washington, especially when it's designated "Honor America Day," there will be bigger fireworks, a most important speaker, more music and entertainment and more flags than Grandma ever saw on the town square. And more people.

Just the motive behind an Honor America Day is suspect in the quarters that have used the same arena—the area of Washington's proudest monuments—to proclaim their dissent, and so this particular Fourth of July celebration also is more controversial than most preceding it in the 194 years since America's birth.

But the Honor America Day committee made it plain the only speech will be by evangelist Billy Graham and none of the day will be political.

"Everybody included in this program is going to be interested in building up America to make people appreciate the great joy of being an American citizen," said J. Willard Marriott, chairman of the event, a restaurant-motel magnate and good friend of President Nixon. Honor America Day's entertainment will be headlined by Bob Hope and the big-name show people.

The day will begin at a patriotic-religious service at the Lincoln Memorial with a speech by Graham, benedictions by ministers of different faiths, and a parade of flags to the Ellipse, the grassy area south of the White House.

President Nixon is in San Clemente, Calif., and won't come back for Honor America Day. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's plans haven't been announced, but Marriott says he will not be a speaker.

In the afternoon there will be activities on the long mall be-between the Lincoln Memorial and the Capitol.

Police say the crowd estimates have ranged to a half million people and they are prepared for a peaceful crowd.

The big show is in the evening near the Washington Monument, climaxed by a half-hour fireworks display, traditionally a spectacular one, winding up with a blaze of floodlights over the reflecting pool, like red, white and blue arches stabbing into the sky.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, an honorary chairman of the day, said the celebration pays homage to the things that have made the nation great—freedom, equality, opportunity, diversity and the spirit of sacrivice.

"But we also rededicate ourselves to the responsibilities of America for the unfinished tasks ahead."

"We do not insist that we are perfect. But we must continue to strive for perfection as long as there is an American nation. For only by honoring America's promise do we honor America itself."

LIFER ESCAPES
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A lifer from North Carolina escaped over the weekend from the Maryland penitentiary.

He is Henry Graham, 38, of Pink Hill, N.C., convicted of the murder of a Berlin, Md., furniture store owner six years ago.

Burial Instead Of Bible Blaze

CONCORD, N.C. (AP) — They came to see a Bible burning, but there was a Bible burial instead.

And those who attended the protest rally of the Rev. Lloyd Walters didn't get to see the burial either. The Rev. Walters got that part over with before the 200 people got there for the 3 p.m. session of protesting and "preaching, singing and praying."

Walters had announced that he intended to burn some copies of a new version of the Bible that had been distributed by other Baptists in the Concord area. He claimed the Today's English Version, also called "Good News for Modern Man," distorted the word of God.

"I'm sorry most of you missed the burial," he told the crowd

Town Seeks 5 Policemen

LOUISBURG, N.C. (AP) — This Franklin County town is seeking fulltime replacements for five of its seven policemen who quit Saturday after the Town Council refused to give them a 25 per cent pay raise.

Mayor V. A. Peoples said Police Chief Ned Lloyd had obtained men with police experience to fill in parttime until replacements can be hired.

The five who quit had told an emergency session of the council June 12 they would resign unless their $100-a-week pay was increased to $125 and they were given a five-day work week.

The council refused, saying it lacked the money. Chief Lloyd said he had received a few applications but declined to say how many.

One of the five, Furman W. Burnette, said the council met again Friday night and "decided to give us a small raise. It was not enough, though, so we went ahead with our plans."

Governor, Wife Unhurt In Wreck

CRESCO, Iowa (AP) — Gov. Robert D. Ray and his wife were passengers in a private plane which ran off the end of the runway and into a ditch while landing at the municipal airport Sunday. Both escaped injury.

The Rays and one of the governor's aides, Bill Jackson, were headed for a Howard County Republican barbecue when the accident occurred.

Jackson and the pilot also were unhurt.

Sunday. The group of 200 contained many newsmen and preachers. The crowd dwindled to only a handful after a couple of hours of preaching and the rally broke up.

Copies of the new Bible were buried on the grounds of the Rev. Mr. Walters' Gordon Heights Baptist Church. Over the grave was erected a cross with the words: "Life is in the Blood. Here lies T.E.V." The letters stand for Today's English Version.

Those who oppose this version say it has taken the blood out of the Bible in 111 of 14 instances, and has humanized Christ.

The Rev. Mr. Walters said he had received "a great pile of mail . . . persecuting me" for his opposition to the new version.

Other ministers told the gathering that TEV is not the inspired word of God.

"I believe that this TEV is the masterpiece of the devil and is a stepping stone to a one-world church," said the Rev. Howard Cane of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of China Grove.

The Southern Baptist Association disassociated itself from any Bible burning or burial. The Rev. Mr. Walters said, "Our congregation voted unanimously to come out from the Southern Baptist Association."

Governor Urges Patriotic Role Marking July 4

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott wants North Carolina's communities to plan and carry out a patriotic program Saturday in observance of July 4.

Scott said in a statement the stepped up observance of Independence Day is part of a nationwide movement. Those promoting it include entertainer Bob Hope and evangelist Billy Graham.

The governor signed a proclamation designating July 4 as Honor America Day. He called for a return to the old time observance of July 4 with "the flying of the flag, parades and patriotic speeches, climaxed by a ringing of bells across North Carolina at 2 p.m."

Scott said this "would be a most appropriate way to honor America and pay tribute to her greatness on this anniversary of our Declaration of Independence."

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets were steady to 25 cents higher today. Tops of 23.25 to 25.50 at Tarboro; 24.75 to 25.25 at Kenly, Rocky Mount; 24.25 to 24.75 at Siler City, Denton; 24.25 to 24.50 at Wilson; 23.50 to 24.50 at Bethel; 23.25 to 24.25 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Newton Grove, Albemarle, Lumberton; 25.50 at Mount Olive; 24.75 at Greensboro; 24.50 at Salisbury.

RALEIGH (AP) 8 (NCDA) — North Carolina poultry supplies were adequate today for a generally good ready to cook demand. Live at farms 13 1/2 cents per pound. Hens, supplies ample all weights, demand slow. Heavies at farm 8 cents. Light type too few to report.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices meandered downward in quiet trading early today. By 11 a.m., an hour after the start of trading, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was behind 1.50 points at 686.34. Losing issues on the New York Stock Exchange led winners by more than 3 to 2. Decliners had held only a slender lead over advancing issues earlier in the session. Analysts said that the slow trading indicated some investors had withdrawn to the sidelines to determine whether the market had touched bottom at least temporarily.

Arraign 5 For Plot To Kill Police

DETROIT (AP) — Five men faced arraignment today on charges stemming from the shooting of three policemen after authorities cited an alleged plot by an unidentified group to kill uniformed patrolmen at random.

Police said they flushed Lawrence White Jr., 26, and Michael Anderson, 22, out of a house where they took refuge after an exchange of shots that wounded Patrolmen Richard Gordon, 24, and Norman Sieloff, 28.

Chief Inspector Anthony Berton, answering a call for help from the patrolmen soon after midnight Sunday, was slightly wounded when several shots were fired into his car.

Gordon, most seriously injured of the three officers, was in fair condition at a hospital. Sieloff and Berton were not hospitalized.

White and Anderson were booked on preliminary charges of attempted murder. Police also jailed Anthony William, 28, Hayward DeVille, 20, and Richard Edmonds, 21, pending investigation of conspiracy to murder. All five are Negroes.

Jay Nolan, assistant Wayne County prosecutor testified at a preliminary court hearing Sunday that information on the alleged plot against uniformed members of the police force had been received by police intelligence officers.

North Ireland's Violence Eases

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Violence subsided in Northern Ireland early today after five persons were killed and more than 200 injured in rioting Saturday night and early Sunday. Reinforced British troops remained on alert, under orders to shoot anyone seen carrying arms.

There was considerably less violence Sunday night as the British government rushed more troops in and emergency measures were proclaimed. Another 40 persons were injured in street fights, an explosion started a fire at an oil depot, but only one shooting was reported — a shotgun blast that wounded two soldiers slightly. Police reported all quiet by 4 a.m.

Violence began Friday night over the jailing of Bernadette Devlin, the fiery young Roman Catholic leader sentenced to six months in prison for leading anti-Protestant riots last summer. The bloodiest toll came in 12 hours of fighting Saturday night as Catholics and Protestants fought each other and the steel-helmeted troops with rocks, bottles and gasoline bombs, and troops and snipers exchanged gunfire. Five civilians and soldiers were injured.

Provincial Premier James Chichester-Clark declared that his government was facing an attempted revolution. He ordered emergency measures into force, including a partial curfew and early closing of bars. He also promised new laws to deal with rioters but ruled out martial law for the time being. "All civilians carrying firearms or using firearms in any way whatsoever are liable to be shot without warning," said Lt. Gen. Sir Ian Freeland, commander of British forces in Northern Ireland.

Both of Vanceboro; his mother, Mrs. Dorcas Sutton of the home; two brothers, Earl Sutton of the home and Martin Sutton of Ernul; three sisters, Mrs. Dalton Roberson of Ernul, Mrs. Edna Butler of Newport News, Va., and Mrs. Dave Davenport of Waukegan, Ill.; four grandchildren.

Police Hunt Man In Alleged Shooting

Greenville police are pressing their hunt for a man who allegedly shot a 19-year-old through the thigh with a pistol here late Saturday night.

Brenda Colleen Dalton of Route 1, Yadkinville was hospitalized for treatment of a bullet wound in her right thigh, but was reported in good condition.

According to Chief T. E. Gladson, Miss Dalton was accosted by a Negro man in the parking lot of a restaurant at the intersection of 10th and Cotanche Streets, about 10:50 p.m. Saturday.

Miss Dalton said she has parked her vehicle and started walking toward the restaurant, when the man approached her, pulled a gun, and grabbed her left arm.

Officers quoted the girl as saying she was shot as she attempted to pull away from her assailant. The man, she reported, ran from the scene after the pistol fired.

Miss Dalton walked from the rear of the building to the 10th Street entrance before she realized she had been shot, investigators quoted her as saying.

Miss Dalton was enrolled at East Carolina University during the past academic year as a freshman.

Wilkinson Will Address Leaf Convention

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH, N.C. (AP) — Ray S. Wilkinson, farm director of Raleigh television station WRAL, will be the banquet speaker July 8 at the Bright Belt Warehouse Association's 26th annual convention. The banquet will be on the second day of the tobacco group's four-day meeting.

Wilkinson is a former vice president of the National Association of Farm Broadcasters and is producer-director of the Tobacco News Network for over 170 stations in the Southeast.

A convention speaker will be Horace Kornegay, newly elected president of the Tobacco Institute, and former North Carolina congressman. Operators of flue-cured tobacco auction markets in five states are expected.

Dillon Named New President Of Alumni Ass'n

RALEIGH (AP) — C. A. Dillon Jr. of Raleigh is the new president of the North Carolina State University Alumni Association, succeeding William Sullivan Jr. of Greensboro.

Dillon and other officers were elected in a mail poll.

Joseph N. Sherrill of Winston-Salem was elected vice president. Herbert P. McKim of Wilmington was named to a five-year term as alumni representative on the university athletic council.

Elected to three-year terms on the board of directors were Marcus B. Crotts of Winston-Salem, Joseph D. Moore of New York City, Jones Y. Pharr Jr. of Charlotte, George E. Pickett of Raleigh and N. B. Watts of Raleigh.

Hargrove Director Of Broadcasters

WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH N. C. (AP) — Wade Hampton Hargrove of Washington, D.C., will take over as executive director of the North Carolina Association of Broadcasters Aug. 1.

Hargrove's appointment was announced Sunday by Carl V. Venters Jr. of radio station WFAG, Farmville, NCAB president. He made the announcement during the association's spring meeting at Wrightsville Beach.

Hargrove, 30, is a native of Clinton and a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He serves on the board of editors of the Federal Communications Bar Journal, and has worked with the broadcast industry in North Carolina and Washington.

WRONG ADVICE

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The first bit of advice handed out by a legal aid service established by the Vancouver Bar Association turned out to be wrong. The lawyers said Tuesday the telephone number they said should be called for legal advice at a nominal fee was incorrect.

Tarboro Nine Edges Greenville Legion Team 2-1

Two unearned runs in the top of the ninth inning allowed Tarboro to sneak past Greenville's American Legion baseball team Sunday afternoon, 2-1. The loss knocked Greenville out of first place in the area standings.

Greenville now posts a 9-3 record, while Kinston takes over first with a 8-2 mark. Kinston has a game tonight with Roanoke Rapids, then comes here Tuesday in the game that could decide the title. They also have a rained-out date with Rocky Mount which will only be made up if it affects the standings.

The payoff game will be held Tuesday at 5 p.m. at East Carolina University field. Greenville is expected to go either with Benny Knox or Jimmy Bond on the mound, while Kinston will go with Cobb Turner, a righthander with a 1-1 record.

Tarboro offered a number of threats along the way, with their best chances coming in the second, sixth and seventh innings. In the second, Bruce Caldwell singled between first and second, and Mitch Evans reached when his sacrifice attempt was errored. With one out, Glenn Davis walked, loading the bases, but Russ Smith struck out the next two batters to get out of the jam.

In the fifth, with two outs, Don

Palmer singled to center, and stole second. He was cut down trying for third, however.

In the sixth, Stanley Letchworth singled and advanced when Caldwell walked. He moved to third on a wild pitch, but died there.

In the seventh, Tarboro again put a runner on third. Ricky Cook singled and Phil Webb came on as a runner. He was sacrificed to second and took third when Sherman Palmer reached on an error with two outs. The next batter grounded out to end the threat.

Tarboro tried again in the eighth, getting two straight singles with two outs before a strikeout ended the inning.

Greenville, meanwhile, has also been busy. Smith led off in the first with a single and moved around to third before being cut down. Jimmy Bond walked and Tony Whitehurst hit a high fly to right which fell in to load the bases. The attempt at the squeeze failed when the bunt was missed and Smith was caught in a rundown.

In the fifth, Joey Moore singled and took third on a wild pitch but then was cut down on a fielder's choice ending the threat.

But Greenville finally scored in the sixth. Bond led off the inning with a single to left. Paige grounded back, but the ball was played to second and errored with both runners reaching safely. Allan Wilson hit another grounder that resulted in no out being made, as Bond streaked home on the play. Paige moved on to third on the play but Greenville was unable to keep things going.

They had one last opportunity in the ninth after Tarboro had taken over the lead. Joe West led off with a single to left and Moore reached when his attempted sacrifice was errored. Tommy Durham's fly to right was dropped, but the ball was recovered in time to get Moore at second, as West moved to third. Kim Harbin then attempted to sacrifice, but the play was made, in time, on West, and Greenville's threat went down the drain.

Tarboro got both runs in the ninth. With one out, Mike Kennedy singled to left. Sherman Palmer followed with a grounder to third, but the ball was overthrown at first and both runners advanced. Letchworth grounded to short, but the ball was played to third to get Palmer, but was again errored, with Kennedy scoring. Ronnie Crisp then singled to right, driving in Palmer with the winning run.

Longtime Top Quarter-Miler Picks Conquerer As Successor

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Lee Evans, long the world's premier quarter miler, lost in his final United States appearance and immediately named his conquerer as "the man who will be No. 1 for a long time after me."

UCLA sophomore John Smith, a 20-year-old who ran in the shadow of teammate Wayne Collett this season, blasted to the front in the final 20 yards Saturday night to capture the 440 at the National AAU track and field championships.

In the process, Evans, Collett and world record holder Curtis Mills were beaten with his 45.7 lifetime best.

"John and I are good friends," said Evans after the race. "I couldn't accept losing to anyone but him. I'm through after this year and I pick John to be No. 1 for a long time. He's got the proper attitude and he's got a lot of talent."

The modest Smith — called by UCLA Coach Jim Bush "a novice in the 440" — said the quarter was billed as a race with a great field and "I think the pressure hurt everyone but me."

He said, however, that Evans' position in the outside lane was the thing that hurt the Olympic king. "If he had been inside, he would have won," said Smith, who came from four yards back with 20 to go to catch the fading Evans.

Another relative newcomer to stardom was the U.S. Army's Ben Vaughan, winner of the 220 and second in a controversial 100.

Vaughan, a 5-foot-11 former Georgia Tech sprinter, claims he has "a miserable start." But he needed only a burst of speed at the head of the final straightaway Saturday night to win the 220 in 20.8, edging late-striding Willie Turner of Oregon State, the NCAA king.

In Friday night's 100 finals, Vaughan appeared to hit the tape ahead of Southern Illinois' Ivory Crockett, the defending champ. But judges studied a photo of the finish and awarded first place to Crockett. "The least I thought they could give me was a dead heat," Vaughan said.

The next morning, officials received a protest about the decision from Army Coach Ralph Higgins and they again studied the photo. But Crockett retained his crown again when the judges stuck by their decision.

Others to win titles Saturday night at the Bakersfield College track were Ralph Mann, with a 49.8 meet record victory in the intermediate hurdles; Ken Swenson of Kansas State with a 1:47.4 half mile triumph; Bill Skinner, who heaved the javelin 276-7; William & Mary's Howell Michael with a 4:01.8 mile; Randy Matson with a meet record 67-10½ shot put and Milan Tiff who took only one attempt and won the triple jump at 53-0.

Also winning Saturday were Bill Reilly in the steeplechase at 8:34.6, Bob Seagren in the pole vault at 17-2 and Tom Dooley in the two-mile walk at 13: 44.0.

Tourney Winner

MARY MILLS of Laurel, Miss., holds the trophy she won Sunday at the LPGA $20,000 Open Golf Tournament in Columbus, Ohio. Along with the trophy goes the top prize money of $3,000. Miss Mills made par on the second hole of a three-way playoff to take the victory. (AP Wirephoto)

Champagne Flows Freely As Gurney, Andretti Rack Wins

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
Champagne flowed freely Sunday as Dan Gurney made it two in a row in the prestigious Can-Am Challenge Cup series and Mario Andretti finally get rid of early-season troubles to win his first race of the season.

But down in Dixie, 40-year-old Tiny Lund celebrated his 13th Grand American circuit victory in 15 starts by visiting a hamburger stand to feed his 250-pound, 6-4 frame.

Other winners of weekend auto racing events were Bobby Isaac, in a NASCAR Grand National stocker at Greenville, S. C., his sixth of the season; and Jerry Hansen of Minneapolis, in a Class A formula race at State Fair Park near Milwaukee.

Two drivers lost their lives in crashes, both in Europe. Derek Williams, 27, of Britain, was killed when his open-cockpit racer collided with another in a race near Stockholm. A French driver, Jean-Luc Salomon, died in a pileup of three similar cars near Rouen, France.

Gurney, 37, of Santa Ana, Calif., now has won both of the races held in the $1 million 1970 Can-Am series for Group 7 sports-racing cars since joining the McLaren team three days before the opener at Mosport Park, Ontario, two weeks ago.

At Mt. Tremblant, Quebec, Gurney drove a McLaren Mark 8B to victory by 10.4 seconds Sunday over runner-up Lothar Motschenbacher. Gurney led all but 14 of the 75 laps over the treacherous Laurentian Mountains course. His average speed was 97.95 miles per hour.

Gurney, who replaced builder-driver Bruce McLaren on the British-based team, now has won nearly $30,000 in Can-Am money and has 40 points toward a season championship worth $50,000 in bonuses. McLaren was killed June 2 while testing one of the new McLaren cars in England.

Andretti, who started the season with new German-designed McNamara Fords, finally got one of the stubby machines to work properly and easily won a 150-mile USAC championship race at Castle Rock, Colo.

The 1969 Indianapolis 500 winner, whose prize money take last year exceeded $325,000, passed top qualifier Al Unser at the start of the 17th lap over the 2.66-mile road course and was never headed.

Second place went to Swede Savage, a 23-year-old Californian who took over Gurney's championship car when the latter joined McLaren. Third was A. J. Foyt; fourth was Bobby Unser; while Al Unser finished fifth.

Lund, who operates a fish camp at Cross, S.C., when he isn't racing, drove a Camaro to victory in 100-mile race for pony cars at Hampton, Va., Saturday night. Jim Paschal, a 44-year-old veteran, was second in a Javelin, while 51-year-old Buck Baker was third in a Pontiac Firebird.

Isaac, 33, drove a Dodge to his sixth victory of the season after setting a record pace of 75.3 m.p.h. over the newly-paved half-mile oval at Greenville, S. C. Bobby Allison was second in a Dodge, while Dick Brooks was third in a Plymouth and James Hylton fourth in a Ford.

CUP DEFENDER — "Heritage", one of The America Cup defenders, sits high and dry in special hydraulic sling at her berth at Newport (R.I.) The shiny-hulled 12-meter craft, designed by Charles E. Morgan and built at St.

Weekend Fights
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Batimore — Bob Foster, 173 1/4, Washington, D.C., knocked out Mark Tessiman, 170, Houston, 10, Foster retained world light-heavyweight title.

Cathy now heads home to try for her third consecutive Oregon Women's Amateur title next week.

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — For most of her collegiate year on the links, Cathy Gaughan stood in the shadow of Arizona State teammate Jane Bastanchury. Today she basks in the sunshine.

The pretty miss from Eugene, Ore., captured the National Women's Intercollegiate Golf Championship Saturday at Singing Hills Country Club defeating Miss Bastanchury, the defending titlist, 4 and 2.

Miss Gaughan won with ease, capturing the first two holes of the 36-hole finale and never bothering to look back. She ended the morning round 2 up.

Wake Forest University took second place team and individual honors in the NCAA university division golf tournament Saturday.

Houston spurted ahead of Wake in the final round, winding up with a team total of 1,172 to Wake's 1,182. Houston's John Mahaffey took individual honors with a 284.

Lanny Wadkins of Wake Forest was the third round leader, but fell to second with a final round 74, for a total of 285.

Other Wake Forest golfers and their scores were Mike Kallan, 296, 24th place, and Steve Walker, 296, 27th place.

Martin West III of the University of North Carolina finished 11th with a 293.

The Pittsburgh Pirates closed the curtain on Forbes Field Sunday and it is rapidly dropping on the Chicago Cubs as well.

The Pirates celebrated the final day of baseball in their park's 61-year history by sweeping Chicago 3-2 and 4-1, tagging the Cubs with a 10-game losing streak.

It was the third doubleheader which Chicago has lost in eight days and the sagging Cubs tumbled into third place in the National League's East Division 2 1/2 games behind New York. What's worse is that the Cubs are almost as close to fifth place Philadelphia as they are to the first place Mets.

Wake Forest Takes Honors In NCAA Golfing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wake Forest University took second place team and individual honors in the NCAA university division golf tournament Saturday.

Houston spurted ahead of Wake in the final round, winding up with a team total of 1,172 to Wake's 1,182. Houston's John Mahaffey took individual honors with a 284.

Lanny Wadkins of Wake Forest was the third round leader, but fell to second with a final round 74, for a total of 285.

Other Wake Forest golfers and their scores were Mike Kallan, 296, 24th place, and Steve Walker, 296, 27th place.

Martin West III of the University of North Carolina finished 11th with a 293.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, Montreal tripped New York 3-2, St. Louis split a doubleheader with Philadelphia, winning 5-4 before losing 8-3 in 10 innings, San Francisco took two from Atlanta 6-4 in 10 innings and 4-3, Los Angeles blanked San Diego 2-0 and Cincinnati nipped Houston 3-2.

In the American League, Oakland swept two games from Milwaukee 4-1 and 4-1, California split with Kansas City, winning 2-1 and then losing 13-1, Minnesota and Chicago divided, the Twins winning the first 9-1 and the White Sox taking the second 11-10. Cleveland took Detroit 8-2 before the Tigers rebounded in the nightcap 5-1, Boston downed New York 5-3 and then bowed 8-2 in the second game, the Washington edged Baltimore 4-3 in 14.

The Cubs and Pirates were tied at 2-2 in the eighth inning of their opener when Roberto Clemente doubled. Reliever Larry Gura hit Al Oliver and then Phil Regan came on. In between umpire examinations of the baseball, Regan's cap and glove for possible foreign substances, Gene Alley and Jerry May both walked, forcing in Pittsburgh's winning run.

In the second game, the score was tied 1-1 in the fifth when Bob Robertson singled and stole second. Bill Mazerowski was intentionally walked and then Jim Hickman dropped a throw on pitcher Jim Nelson's bounce, loading the bases. Matty Alou followed with a two-run single.

The sweep was a happy send-off for the old stadium and moved the streaking Pirates to their seventh straight victory and a virtual tie for the NL East Lead. Pittsburgh trails the Mets by two percentage points and starts a three-game series in New York tonight.

The Mets fell victim to some late-inning thunder in Montreal with Rusty Staub hammering a two-run eighth inning homer that brought the Expos from behind.

Dave Marshall, who had three hits, homered in the top half of the eighth for New York, breaking a 1-1 tie. But Staub connected after Don Hahn's single to win it in the bottom half of the inning.

St. Louis moved to within one game of the Cubs by splitting with Philadelphia. The Cards took the opener with Richie Allen's seventh inning single driving in the deciding run against his ex-teammates. Joe Torre had two singles and a homer and drove in two runs.

In the nightcap, the Phillies earned the split by getting five runs in the 10th inning to break the game open. Johnny Briggs' pinch single delivered the tie-breaking run and an error and four more singles produced the insurance runs. Reliever Dick Selma lost the first game and won the second. In the West Division, Cincinnati maintained its nine game lead by knocking off Houston on three solo home runs by Pete Rose, Bobby Tolan and Tony Perez. Rose and Tolan connected consecutively at the start of the game and then Perez' lead-off homer in the ninth snapped a 2-2 tie.

Los Angeles, running second in the West, won its sixth straight with Alan Foster and Jim Brewer combining to shut out San Diego. Wes Parker and Jim Lefebvre drove home the Dodgers runs in the first inning and that was enough to tag the Padres with their eighth consecutive loss. Teh Braves' losing streak stretched to seven games with the doubleheader loss to San Francisco. Rookie Alan Gallagher's 10th inning homer won the opener for the Giants after San Francisco had rallied to tie the game on Ken Henderson's RBI-single in the seventh.

In the second game, Frank Johnson, substituting for Willie Mays, drove in three runs with a triple and a single as the Giants completed the sweep.

Dr. Grant Joining In ACE Workshop

Dr. Isa C. Grant, chief of the Chronic Disease Section of the State Board of Health in Raleigh, will be the consultant for the Association for Childhood Education Workshop beginning Tuesday at Elmhurst School.

Theme for the workshop, to start at 8:30 a.m., is "Communication: Parents - Children - Teachers." Dr. Grant's topic will be "Public Health Service as a Communicative Agent."

A native of Sunbury, Dr. Grant attended elementary and high school in several North Carolina schools and finished in 1931 at the Charles L. Coon High School in Wilson.

A graduate of East Carolina University with an A. B. degree, she completed an additional pre-medical year at Duke University before entering the Medical College of Virginia in 1941.

After receiving her M. D. degree from MCV, Dr. Grant served an internship at Wilkes-Barre - General Hospital and a two-year pediatric residency at MCV.

Dr. Grant has had a private practice of pediatrics in Franklin, Va., served as staff physician at Catawba Sanatorium in Virginia, and from 1951 until 1954, was chief of maternal and child health at the City Health Department in Richmond, Va.

She has served as health director at Wake County Health Department in Raleigh and as director of the District Health Department in Elizabeth City.

The daughter of the late Thomas McMillan and Malene Harrell Grant, Dr. Grant is a twin to Dr. Malene Irons of Greenville.

Any interested persons may attend the general session of the workshop from 8:30 - 10:15 a.m. The workshop continues through July 3.

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says he has no plans for campaign speeches this fall. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has lots of them.

His office says the vice president's calendar for September and October, when the congressional and senatorial contests are in full sway, is rapidly filling with speaking dates.

Anyone who has followed the popularity polls can see why Agnew's help is much sought after in this election year with 435 seats in the House and 35 in the Senate at stake.

Nixon told newsmen in Belleville, Ill., Thursday he feels he can best serve Republican candidates by making "as good a record as possible in Wash-ton." Any presidential involvement in the campaign, he said, will depend on international developments. "I have no plans for any speeches in October," he said. Agnew's office says "an intensive campaign schedule is being arranged for most of those two months."

It is working in close cooperation with the Republican National Committee, and the campaign committees in the House and Senate.

The vice president proved to be a bigger drawing card than anyone thought in the spring and early summer when he criss-crossed the country, speaking at fund-raising affairs and throwing his most controversial jobs.

His role in political leadership was worked out by Nixon and Agnew in the early days of the administration and even before they came into office. The matter came up in their discussions of the role of the vice president in many areas.

What Agnew will do for his President is much the same as Nixon did for President Eisenhower. As vice president, Nixon took over most of the campaigning and there was talk then that Eisenhower was taking the high road and Nixon the low.

The 84-year-old statesman's condition was described as good when he left for his home Sunday night.

Anti-War Plans Set

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Delegates to a national radical strategy conference have mapped plans for an intensified antiwar campaign to be climaxed by mass demonstrations in Washington in October.

The proposal includes a series of marches to converge on the nation's capital from various parts of the country.

Details were deferred pending a series of regional meetings to be held within the next month. Organizers said the regional meetings would be followed by another national conference.

Organizers said the proposed Washington demonstrations would demand not only U.S. withdrawal from Southeast Asia but a guaranteed annual income of $5,500 for all families and home rule for the District of Columbia.

The conference was sponsored by a variety of militant organizations, including the Black Panther party.

The Southern Christian Leadership Conference, a spearhead of the black civil rights movement, and the National Welfare Organization were among the larger groups represented by delegations.

Sturdy Tudor building has withstood centuries—and fire.

anne hathaway's cottage

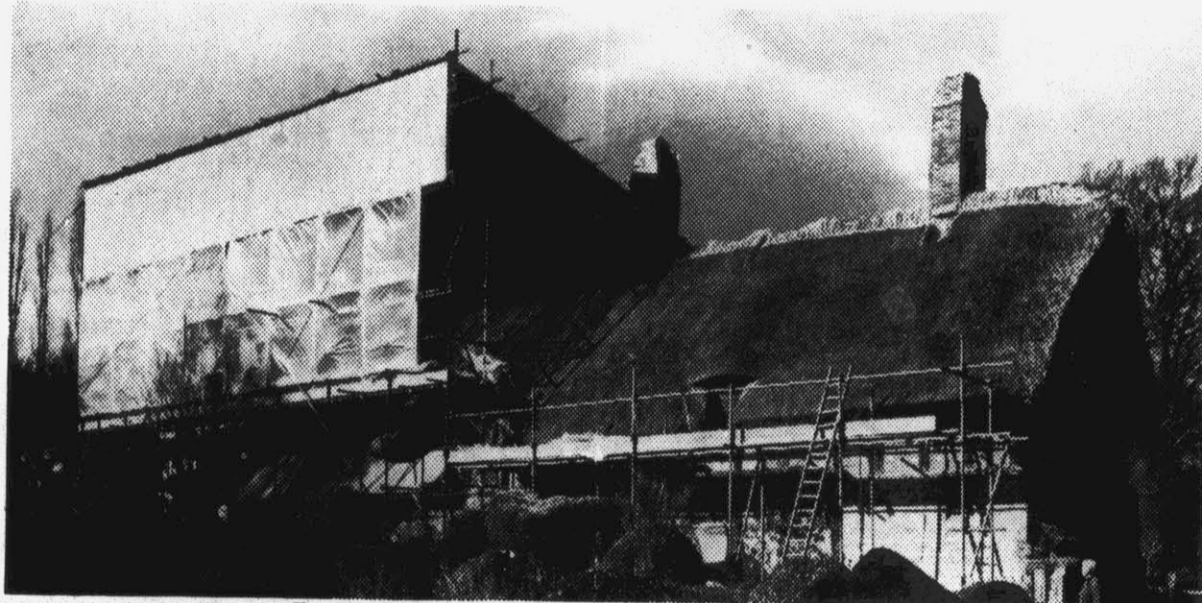

Finished roof, after 12 weeks' work, will have 20-inch-thick thatch of wheat straw weighing 11 tons.

"The Cottage," as it is known locally, is one of England's most historic buildings: a picturesque Tudor farmhouse just over a mile from the center of Stratford-upon-Avon. It was the early home of Shakespeare's wife, Anne Hathaway (whom he married in 1582), and of the Hathaway family of yeoman farmers.

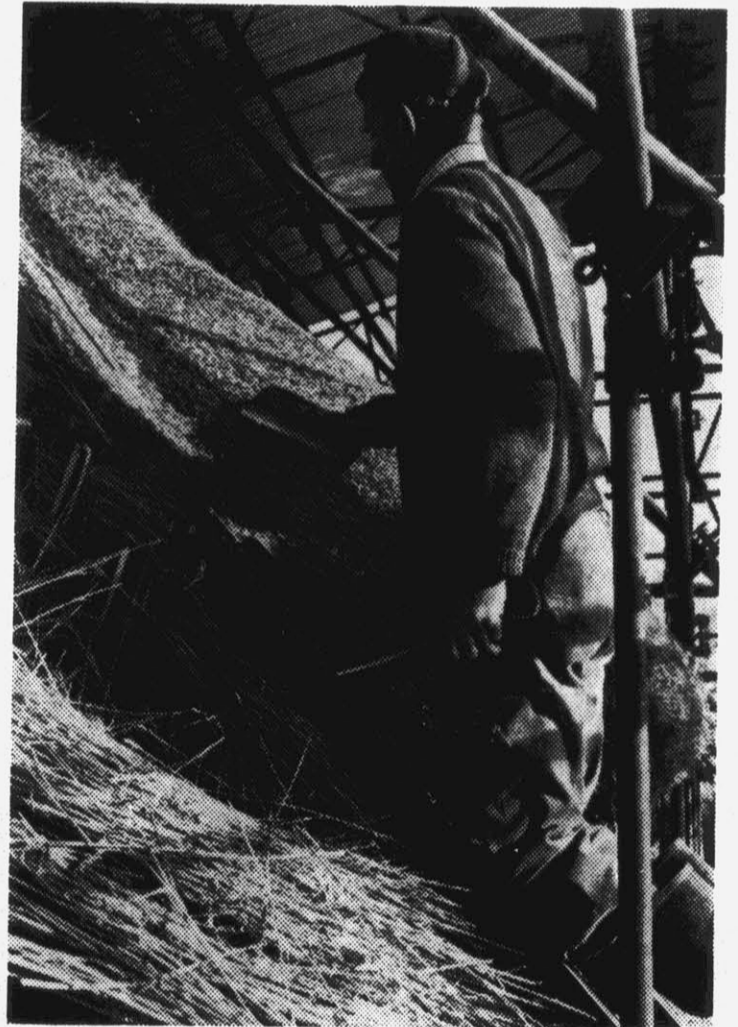

Part of the building dates back to the fifteenth century, and it is a marvelous specimen of early domestic architecture, built of stone, timber-framing, wattle and brick. Inside are original Hathaway furniture and relics, and there are attractive gardens and an orchard. The cottage was bought from the Hathaway family in 1892 by the Shakespeare Birthplace Trust to be preserved as a memorial to the Bard.

The cottage has recently been the object of an unusual repair job, carried out by skilled craftsmen using traditional tools and materials. A section of the cottage was badly damaged by fire late last year. Part of it was open to the public again within two weeks and now the entire building has been painstakingly restored to as near its former state as possible.

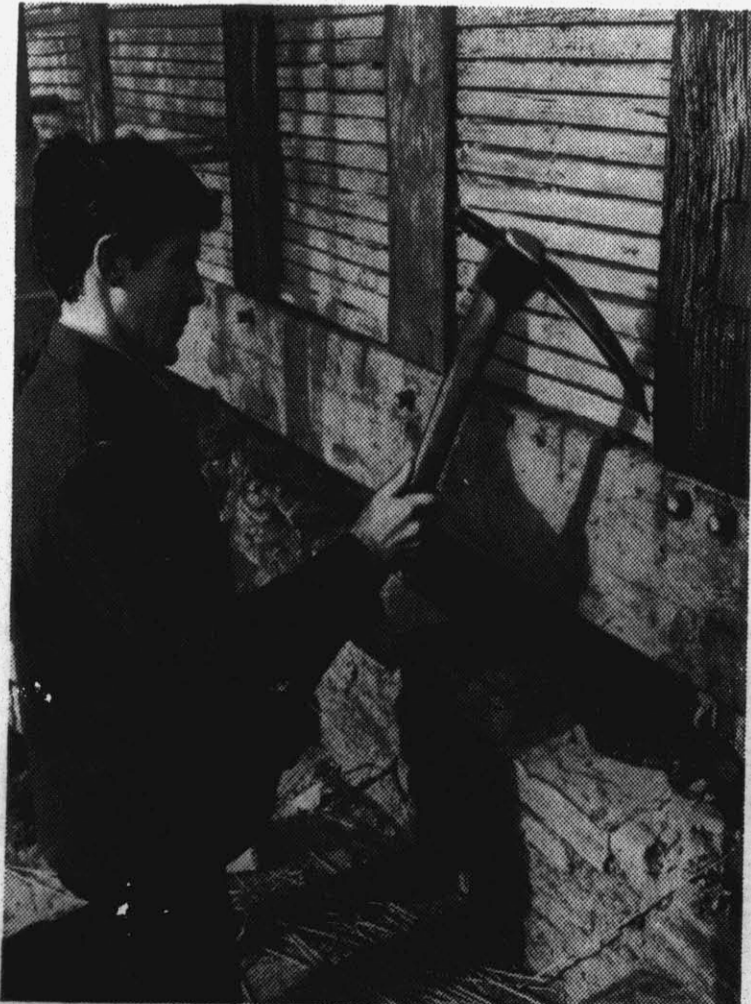

The restoration work included re-thatching the long roof with 11 tons of wheat straw; repairing walls with cleft oak laths; replastering destroyed panels with the old ingredients of lime, sand and cow-hair to reproduce the same kind of wall surface as before; and replacing some of the venerable timbers with wood of a similar age.

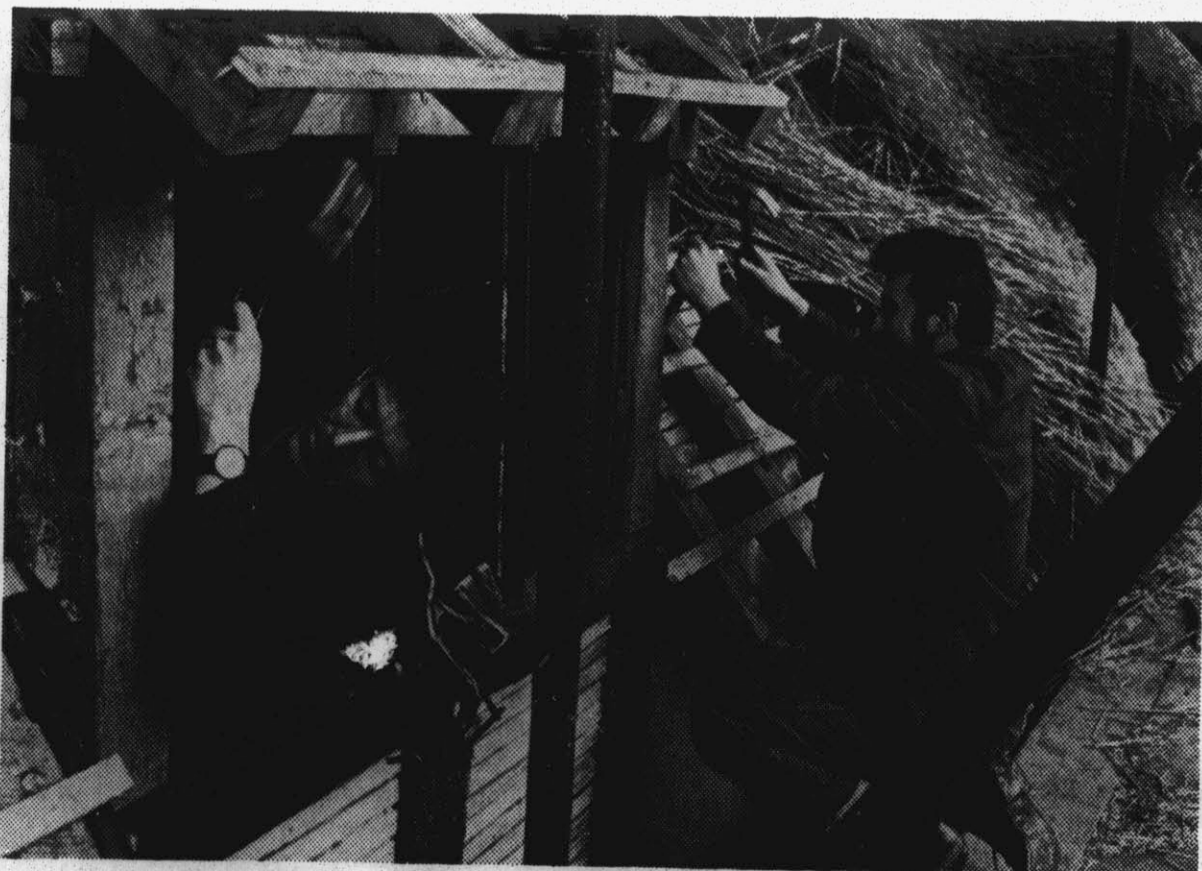

Scaffolding and protective coverings are used during 4 months of restoration.

The thatcher smooths section of new thatch with comb-like tool known as "leggett."

Carpenter with adze works on wall of beams and cleft oak laths.

Traditional materials and tools are used in repair of window frames.

Hathaway bed has stood here since at least 1600: it must have been built here since it is wider than door.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (1970 - By The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:

♠KJ93 ♣5 ♦KQ105 ♣AJ109

Your partner opens with one spade. What is your response?

A.—Two diamonds, not three spades. The limits of the jump raise are 15 to points and this holding is worth 17 points in support of spades. Hands which are not quite strong enough for a jump shift response are properly described by bidding new suits twice before raising partner.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:

♠AQ103 ♦KJ1042 ♦K6 ♣42

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. Do not bid four hearts which might be construed as a slam try. Your hand is worth 15 points and partner can have at most 16 for his jump raise.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

♠KQ963 ♥82 ♦AKQ75 ♣K

The bidding has proceeded: South West North East 1 ♠ Pass 2 NT Pass 3 ♦ Pass 3 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—There is little doubt that a slam should be contracted for, but care should be exercised in the selection of the slam contract. Partner has shown the ace of clubs and evidently the ace of spades but seems to lack the ace of hearts for, over four diamonds it would have been easy for him to bid four hearts holding that ace, rather than five clubs. It is a moral certainty, however, that he holds the king of hearts and if you contract for a

Tobacco Harvest Hands Short This Season

Labor to harvest North Carolina's 380,000-acre flue-cured tobacco crop will be short again this year, but no real crisis is anticipated.

"There is a shortage of labor here," said Aubrey Hardee, Granville County extension chairman, "but I'm confident that farmers will manage to harvest all of the tobacco."

Hardee, one of six extension agents questioned regarding harvest labor, said the situation "was about like last year."

Further south and east, things apparently have gotten slightly worse since last year. "Our farmers are recruiting labor from Charleston (S.C.) to Virginia," said Charles Raper, Columbus County. "We're still not going to have enough."

Bill Lewis, Wilson County, said farmers in his area were worried but felt they would "squeeze by one more year." He added, "The labor supply seems to be shorter than a year ago—and we just barely got by then."

"Fortunately, more of our farmers recruited and made plans back last winter rather than waiting until harvest begins," said Lewis.

In big tobacco producing Pitt County, Extension Agent Sam Weeks said the situation "doesn't appear to be critical now but it could be two weeks from now, depending on whether farmers are able to get towns people out to work."

The Piedmont apparently is having less trouble than the eastern areas, primarily for two reasons: 1. The non-farm population from which seasonal labor can be recruited is larger, and 2. Acreages are smaller, allowing families to handle much of the harvest labor themselves.

Sam Young, extension chairman in Yadkin County, said migrant labor is being used on some of the larger farms. "A farmer in most cases has to be large enough to keep a crew busy all week to get the migrant workers," he said.

Swapping labor among neighbors is another tactic being used. "Swapping seems to be coming back into vogue," said Columbus Raper. "We had gotten away from this to a large extent but farmers are doing more of it now. One difference is, everybody gets paid on Saturday. Although it might amount to two farmers swapping dollar bills, the tried is that everybody gets a pay day."

Teen-agers and women represent the bulk of the available labor supply. Mature male labor is practically out of the question in most areas. "With the use of stitching machines and priming aids, farmers are better able to use women and children," Weeks explained.

The partial mechanization has speeded up the barning task, putting less strain on the women and young folks. It also allows part-time farmers to work a shift in a textile mill or other place of employment and put in a barn of tobacco in the afternoon.

"We have some of this in Rockingham County," said Frank Green, extension agent. "Part-time farmers are able to recruit help from among the people they work with in town. They can get a barn in after getting off work about 3 o'clock in the afternoon."

Farmers who still haven't filled out their crews might find the best shopping in town among teen-agers. Jim Allgood, extension farm management specialist at North Carolina State University, believes more recruiting could be done among these young people.

"Many of these kids have nothing to do in the summer," he said. "I feel more of them would be willing to work in tobacco if farmers could establish some contact with them."

Farm Scene

By EDWIN L. YANCEY,

Pitt County agriculture is obviously undergoing much change. Mechanization, genetic improvement, plant and animal nutrition, pesticides, and management systems are among the changes taking place. Most dramatic of the changes, however, is the development of a new industry - pork production.

Hogs have been a part of the Pitt County agricultural scene as long as most farmers can remember. It is only recently however that their production has become a major enterprise on many farms. Indeed, for many it is now the only enterprise. This shift to greater emphasis on pork has pushed Pitt into a position of leadership in the industry. The county ranks sixth in numbers of hogs produced for market and had income from this industry of 4.8 million dollars in 1969.

Opportunities for growth in the industry are good according to livestock marketing economists at North Carolina State University. Although prices are not expected to hold their present favorable levels they state, "There is little doubt that over the next 3-5 years many North Carolina farmers will continue to find swine a relatively profitable enterprise."

Dr. D.G. Spruill, Extension Swine Specialist at N.C. State University, cautions, however, that pork production is not an enterprise to be entered into without sound planning. The modern pork farm is complex and requires long term investment. The potential producer should use all help available in planning for his operation. The Agricultural Extension Service can provide plans of the latest buildings and equipment, and research information on feeding, breeding and management.

For more information about pork production and its potential for your farm contact the Pitt County Agricultural Extension Service.

Payments To Be Started Wednesday

Farm program payments for 1970 will begin Wednesday and are expected to be completed by the end of August.

Producers who earn payments in the voluntary feed grain, wheat, and cotton programs will receive payment computation statements along with their payment drafts, Stacy J. Evans, Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service executive director.

He said it is most important for producers to retain these computation statements along with their other farm records.

The computation statements provide these important details: —program for which payment is made. (feed grain, wheat or cotton); —both gross and net payment, for entire farm and for individual producer; —planted acreage and diverted acreage; —projected yield, used for payment computations.

Evans suggested that producers verify their computation statements with their farm records before filing them in a safe place. If they have any questions, they should get in touch with their county ASCS office as soon as possible.

If farm program computation statements are lost or destroyed, producers may obtain the information from records in the County ASCS office, Evans explained.

Tobacco TIPS

By S. J. WEEKS
Pitt County Tobacco Agent

At this time of the tobacco growing season we usually are on the lookout for hornworms. Some control programs are improperly applied and improperly timed.

A control program is not justified unless the hornworm is causing more damage than the cost of an insecticide application. To justify control, hornworms must eat about one whole leaf per seven plants. The number of eggs and small worms give very little indication of the number of big worms that will be produced because wasps and other predators destroy them. Ninety percent of the damage is done by the large worms.

The proper time to apply insecticides is when the hornworms are about two inches long. It would be a good idea to check the hornworm infestation before applying a recommended insecticide. As a guide, examine 50 widely scattered plants throughout each field and count the number of worms that are from one to two inches in length. If five or more worms of this size are present the cost of insecticide, machinery, and labor would be justified. Fields should be examined weekly as discussed above in order to know just what the hornworm situation is at all times. The hornworms are much easier and more economical to kill when they are small than when they get large. If treatment is delayed until several large worms are present they should be killed quickly with a more complete coverage using a full dosage of the recommended fungicide.

Occasionally, when emulsifiable concentrates are used, bud and foliage injury occurs. There appears to be more risk of plant injury when the more concentrated low gallonage sprayers are used. Recommended rates should not be exceeded, spray materials should be mixed thoroughly, and all equipment should be in good working order and adjusted to produce a uniform spray pattern.

Since the hornworm population varies from year to year and from field to field, it is essential for growers to examine their fields frequently and treat when necessary; but treat only when necessary to avoid excessive insecticidal residue and to save money.

FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE

TOKYO (UPI) — Japanese sake (white rice wine) normally is served hot in tiny porcelain cups or square wood boxes. But sake makers now are trying to stir up interest in sake on the rocks, martini style.

Young Police Sociologist Works Among Derelicts

By ROBERT D. INDERMAN
DALLAS (UPI)—Phillip Lewis, 26, is in jail this summer to rub elbows and swap stories with society's derelicts the drunks and drifters who spend their lives bouncing in and out of jails.

help to stay out of trouble—and out of jail.
He knows the job will be tough.
"Solving the problem of a man who has spent every other week in jail for the past 10 or 20 years isn't going to be easy," he acknowledged in an interview. "I have a long and difficult job before me. It's no one day or overnight affair. Not only must I try to find the root of the problem of our habitual offenders but also some way in which to solve it."

Plenty Of Patients
He does not lack for patients ... Jimmy the up and Down Man who works off another sentence between booze binges by running the city jail's elevator ... Bill the Cook, a 50-year-old wino who acts as chef for other down and outers ... Harmonica-playing Oscar ...

Screaming Jeff ... Bayou Billy. All told, 200 or more of society's misfits who have taken up virtual residence in the city jail. Every city in the country has their like.
"The goal of any society is to reach a point where law order prevail among its with minimal enforcement and people," Lewis said.
"But, ironically, despite all the advances we have made in our technology and our styles of life, we have not reached that level of discipline. And we can trace the problem essentially back to our society."
Won't Help
"We live in such a high pressure society that inadequacy is constantly springing up—inadequacy in our jobs, our education, our social standing, or even in our role as parent and family provider. The inability of the individual to cope with his particular inadequacy leads him to some form of escape, such as drinking or some other social deviation."
Lewis explained that these down-and-outers do not accept this form of life because they like it.
"Alcoholics don't drink necessarily because they like the taste of liquor," he said. "Many of them want to stop, but they don't have the strength or the drive to do so. This holds true for most of the other derelicts. They want help, but they don't know how to go about finding it."
And in that, Lewis said, lies the major portion of the police departmental sociologist job.
"One of my first tasks will be a study to determine the best methods for serving those brought to jail," he said.
Lift Man's Burden
Lewis, who holds a master's degree in social rehabilitation and social services from the Institute of Contemporary Corrections at Sam Houston State, has strong feelings about the concept of rehabilitation.
"You can take a drunk or derelict out of jail, bathe, clothe and feed him, but you still haven't removed his problems," he said. "A person burdened by problems—family dissension, lack of education, lack of job skills—will continue to get into trouble until his problems are solved."
Lewis places primary interest on establishing a stable family atmosphere to which the offender can return.
"The family is the vital key in the rehabilitation process. While working with the offender—helping him with his problems and getting him in contact with the right community services who will continue working with him—I also will be planning to counsel his family as well," he said.
"The root of a man's problem may be in his home. Helping him there could make all the difference in the world."
2 Year Pilot Project
This family counseling may be providing a dual service for the community.
"We also may be preventing delinquency of the children by remedying the problems of the parents," he said. "perhaps another aid in minimizing law enforcement in the future."

In addition to his jail cell tours and counseling, Lewis also will be serving as a consultant to officers manning four "store front" community service centers across Dallas. Laying the groundwork for an effective vocational rehabilitation program also is on his schedule.

"Of course one man can't successfully handle this job alone," Lewis said. "But this program is only a pilot study to find out in what capacity we can help the community offender."

The position of departmental sociologist was established by the City of Dallas with a $20,000 grant provided by the National Council of Jewish Women. Under administrative supervision by the police department, the program is scheduled for two years under its pilot status. Following the conclusion of the two trial years, the program will either be continued and expanded, revamped, or eliminated.

"I am very optimistic about this service," the young sociologist said. "The need is here. I never would have taken this job in the first place if I felt that it would not work or that it would end in two years."

Sugar Ray Robinson Has Acted All His Life

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Meet Sugar Ray Robinson, actor.
"I've been a ham all my life," he explains. "Why shouldn't I get paid for it?"
The former middleweight and welterweight boxing champion is getting paid regularly for the acting chores. He just finished a role as a policeman in National General's "What Are We Going to Do without Skipper?" He has also played roles in such television series as "Mannix," "Mission: Impossible," "Land of the Giants" and next season's "Barefoot in the Park."

Not to mention the beer commercial he did with Rocky Graziano.
"The residuals are great, but I wish it had been for a soft drink," he says. "I don't drink beer."
He's selective about his film roles: "I was up for a good part at Fox, but they wanted me to play a dope fiend. I couldn't do it. I spent too many years building up a good name; that means more to me than the championship."

As he himself indicated, Robinson has been acting for a long time. Before, he was mainly playing Sugar Ray Robinson. Now he enacts other roles as well.
"So far I haven't taken any acting lessons, and I don't think I will," he remarks. "I've talked about this to friends of mine like Dick Burton, Frank Sinatra and Marlon Brando. They tell me that some actors study for years to be able to move the way that I do naturally."
"Maybe if I studied what I was doing, I'd spoil it."
Sugar Ray will be 49 next month, but you'd never know it. His belly is as flat and hard as when he was decking all comers in the ring. He weighs approximately one pound over his fighting weight of 160. He philosophizes:
"If you don't keep your body alive, it won't keep you alive; that's what I believe. If I don't get down to the gym to work out and relieve my frustrations on the boxing bag, I don't feel right. And I never ride elevators; I walk up the stairs instead."
Robinson has a new calling which he feels is more important than his careers in boxing and acting. That's the Sugar Ray Robinson Youth Foundation. He now is devoting most of his spare time to it, organizing events, making appearances and raising funds.
He has the cooperation of the Los Angeles Council of Churches and is working on a San Francisco branch. His current aim is to organize a statewide Olympic Games for youth of all races.

Shorter Week In The Office Job

OTTAWA (UPI)—The majority of office workers have a shorter work week than non-office workers, according to a study by the Federal Department of Labor on working conditions in Canadian industry.
Most office workers spend 37.5 hours a week at their desks while a majority of non-office workers—71 per cent—has a 40-hour week, the study showed.

President Lincoln was shot April 14, 1865, and died April 15.

WAITING FOR A NEW HOME — A South Vietnamese boy stands beneath a grotto in the yard of the Notre Dame Catholic Church in Phnom Penh, Cambodia's capital. The church property serves as a refugee camp for 19,000 Vietnamese who are awaiting resettlement in South Vietnam. An average of four refugees die each day in the camp because of poor sanitary conditions. There are 18 similar camps in Phnom Penh. (AP Wirephoto)

Here's a Map That Helps Your Child Understand Today's World Happenings!

Do you and your children know WHERE the great news events are taking place? Do you know WHAT is behind many of the crucial front page developments you see headlined? AP's Background News Map supplies the answers. THE ROAD BACK HOME — A long column of tanks and vehicles is strung out on winding road just north of the Cambodian border in the Fish-hook region as a squadron of the U.S. 11th Armored Regiment prepares to leave Cambodia and return to South Vietnam. The 11th Armored was the first American unit to enter Cambodia after President Nixon decided to attack Vietcong sanctuaries in that nation. The roadway crosses the Cambodian - South Vietnamese border near the town of Katum. (AP Wirephoto)
