

Mount Final Drive In Cooper-Church Senate Debate

By H. L. SCHWARTZ III

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration forces mounted a final assault on the Cooper-Church amendment today as the Senate wound up its eight-week debate on Cambodia.

They took their final stand behind two amendments—one by Assistant GOP Leader Robert P. Griffin, the other by Washington Democrat Henry M. Jackson—aimed at easing Cooper-Church's ban on future U.S. military activity in Cambodia.

After the Senate finished work on the Cambodia proposals, the schedule called for final action on the foreign military sales bill, which Cooper-Church amended.

Sen. Robert J. Dole, R-Kan., a leading administration spokesman, conceded before today's vote there was little point in

All Ground Forces Withdrawn Pres. Nixon Reports End Of Cambodia Operations

By FRANK CORMIER

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, reporting on the end of all U.S. ground operations in Cambodia, pledged today that "we shall renew our efforts" to end the war in all of Indochina.

Without elaborating, the President said he seeks "genuine negotiations both in Paris and for all of Indochina." The Paris talks involve only the Vietnam segment of the conflict and Nixon did not indicate what further steps he might take to seek an expanded settlement that would also embrace Cambodia and Laos.

The occasion for Nixon's pronouncement was passage of the deadline for the exit of all American troops from Cambodia.

Looking ahead, he said in a 7,000-word statement: "With American ground operations in Cambodia ended, we shall move forward with our plan to end the war in Vietnam and to secure the just peace on which all Americans are united."

Military See Time Gained In Cambodia

By PETER ARNETT
SAIGON (AP) — The two-month U.S. military foray into Cambodia will enable American troops to be withdrawn from Vietnam even faster than already scheduled, even though the war may have been enlarged indefinitely by the allied attacks on enemy border sanctuaries.

That is the view of senior American officers who participated in the drive that ended in the monsoon rains Monday.

"This operation has made all the difference; I would send troops home with much less trepidation now," commented a planning officer in the U.S. 25th Infantry Division that has guarded the western approaches to Saigon.

"I think we have worked ourselves out of a job," declared a senior officer of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division, which secured the largest hauls in the Cambodian foray.

The "continued success of our withdrawal and Vietnamization programs" was given by President Nixon as one of his major reasons for dispatching American troops into Cambodia.

Another of his major objectives, that of shortening the war, remains in doubt.

"We have left ghost towns along the border," commented a 1st Cavalry officer, referring to the destroyed rubber plantation centers of Snuol and Mimot, and other Cambodian towns. "They will remain ghost towns as long as the area is in turmoil."

Thousands of South Vietnamese troops remain inside Cambodia. The U.S. Command in Saigon is planning to support these forces with air strikes and artillery fire from new firebases built within yards of the border.

American officers expect the South Vietnamese to "straighten out" the twisting border for their own benefit, particularly west of Saigon where the Parrot's Beak jabs into Vietnam almost to the capital city.

Other ambitious plans for the border areas include the recruiting and arming of Cambodian militiamen fighting for the South Vietnamese.

Court OKs CBD Plan

"I see no reason why those making plans for the rehabilitation of the Greenville Central Business District should be restrained at this time," Judge Joseph Parker ruled early this afternoon.

Greenville Mayor Frank Wooten has lost his case against the City of Greenville, the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, and the Greenville Utilities Commission to stop work on the proposed project. S. H. Skinner and J. J. Perkins joined the Mayor in making the complaint.

The complainants tried to show that not all the expenses which will be incurred by the project are necessary expenses and that, therefore, the matter should be put to a vote of the people. Defense attorney Louis Gaylord said that by definition all the improvements the city will be making, such as streets, waterlines, sewer systems, and the like are necessary improvements that do not have to be voted on by the citizenry.

Redevelopment Commission attorney Kenneth Hite showed how the proposed traffic pattern would actually eliminate a hazardous situation in midtown as well as provide convenience. Hite also said exhibits of detailed estimated costs refuted the complainants' charge that the Redevelopment Commission has no financial plan. He explained that the city will not foot one-quarter of the bill of rehabilitation, as he said the complainants had tried to make the court believe, but that most of the city's contribution would be in kind — street work and the like, which it would need to do anyway.

Dave Reid, representing the City, said that the plans for the project have always been open for any citizen to see and that nothing was withheld from those preparing the complaint.

Robinson Everett of Durham, attorney for the Utilities Commission, reported that everything the Redevelopment Commission has done has been in order insofar as HUD is concerned and that their studies and financial analyses have been exhaustive. He has been a leader in redevelopment efforts in Durham.

Postal Reform Bill To See Pornography Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, forging a postal reorganization bill in step-by-step, night-by-night debate, has made sure strict pornography curbs will be part of any reform package.

And, in a 48-41 vote Monday night, it resisted a strong bid to toss out the bill written by its own Post Office Committee in favor of a version already passed by the House.

The antipornography measure, identical to language in the House bill, was introduced by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican Senate leaders and carried overwhelmingly, 83-2.

Earlier, by rejecting an amendment offered by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., to accept the House bill, the Senate made inevitable a series of votes on specific provisions of the massive and historic postal reorganization act. The rejection also set the stage for a possible donnybrook over a bid to ban attempts at setting up a union shop among the 750,000 postal employees.

As they stand, both versions would create a nonpartisan postal commission and a rate-setting board which would be between them run the mails, negotiate with employees and set postage rates.

Mail workers would get an 8 per cent pay hike under both bills as part of a settlement made by the postal unions and the government last April following the postal service's first strike.

The act now under consideration would allow workers to bargain collectively for wages, working conditions and benefits — including, in the Senate version, the union shop. But it would bar strikes.

Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., is seeking passage of a so-called right-to-work amendment which, in this case, would allow the postal service's 250,000 employees who presently belong to no union freedom from ever being compelled to join one.

Another senator, Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., a dissenting member of the Post Office Committee, is seeking passage of his amendment which would strip the bill of all but the wage hike and a set of rate increases to pay for them.

Planes And Border Area Guns Pound

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes and artillery today pounded Cambodian border areas vacated by American ground troops as the last American advisers were pulling back into South Vietnam.

Military sources said some advisers were still with the South Vietnamese forces who are remaining in the neighboring country, but "all of the Americans will be out of Cambodia by midnight tonight."

The aircraft and artillery attacks were aimed at suspected supply dumps and base camps which American ground forces did not have time to explore before the June 30 deadline set by President Nixon for them to withdraw.

It was not clear whether the bombing and artillery would continue after midnight. The U.S. Command refused to discuss the possibility that big guns installed in a series of firebases along the border would be used in support of South Vietnamese troops operating in Cambodia.

South Vietnamese officials announced the withdrawal of some 5,000 of their troops, leaving 34,000 South Vietnamese troops still inside Cambodia. The Saigon government said the 5,000 troops were withdrawn after completion of two operations in which they killed 1,149 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese and captured more than 1,800 weapons and 58 tons of munitions.

The U.S. Command reported the death of one American and the wounding of another in a Cobra helicopter gunship shot down over Cambodia Monday in the final hours of the withdrawal of U.S. combat troops.

Officials said this brought the total U.S. casualties in Cambodia to 338 killed and 1,529 wounded. It was the 38th helicopter lost in Cambodia, the command said.

Spacecraft To Get Extensive Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Extensive changes costing $10 million to $15 million will be made to future Apollo spacecraft before men can be launched to the moon again, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

As one result, Apollo 14 will be launched no earlier than next Jan. 31, NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine told the Senate space committee.

This marks a further delay of nearly two months for the Apollo 14 flight scheduled to land three men on the highlands of Fra Mauro. The flight, first was scheduled for October, then was postponed to Dec. 3.

Paine said the Apollo command service module systems will be modified to eliminate potential combustion hazards that caused the explosion on Apollo 13 in April, canceled the moon landing, and endangered the lives of three astronauts.

The major changes will be the addition of a third oxygen tank in the service module; removing unsealed fan motors from the tanks; and limiting electrical wiring within high pressure oxygen systems to stainless steel wire.

"I see no reason why those making plans for the rehabilitation of the Greenville Central Business District should be restrained at this time," Judge Joseph Parker ruled early this afternoon.

Greenville Mayor Frank Wooten has lost his case against the City of Greenville, the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, and the Greenville Utilities Commission to stop work on the proposed project. S. H. Skinner and J. J. Perkins joined the Mayor in making the complaint.

The complainants tried to show that not all the expenses which will be incurred by the project are necessary expenses and that, therefore, the matter should be put to a vote of the people. Defense attorney Louis Gaylord said that by definition all the improvements the city will be making, such as streets, waterlines, sewer systems, and the like are necessary improvements that do not have to be voted on by the citizenry.

Redevelopment Commission attorney Kenneth Hite showed how the proposed traffic pattern would actually eliminate a hazardous situation in midtown as well as provide convenience. Hite also said exhibits of detailed estimated costs refuted the complainants' charge that the Redevelopment Commission has no financial plan. He explained that the city will not foot one-quarter of the bill of rehabilitation, as he said the complainants had tried to make the court believe, but that most of the city's contribution would be in kind — street work and the like, which it would need to do anyway.

Dave Reid, representing the City, said that the plans for the project have always been open for any citizen to see and that nothing was withheld from those preparing the complaint.

Robinson Everett of Durham, attorney for the Utilities Commission, reported that everything the Redevelopment Commission has done has been in order insofar as HUD is concerned and that their studies and financial analyses have been exhaustive. He has been a leader in redevelopment efforts in Durham.

Postal Reform Bill To See Pornography Curbs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, forging a postal reorganization bill in step-by-step, night-by-night debate, has made sure strict pornography curbs will be part of any reform package.

And, in a 48-41 vote Monday night, it resisted a strong bid to toss out the bill written by its own Post Office Committee in favor of a version already passed by the House.

The antipornography measure, identical to language in the House bill, was introduced by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., endorsed by both the Democratic and Republican Senate leaders and carried overwhelmingly, 83-2.

Earlier, by rejecting an amendment offered by Sen. Henry Bellmon, R-Okla., to accept the House bill, the Senate made inevitable a series of votes on specific provisions of the massive and historic postal reorganization act. The rejection also set the stage for a possible donnybrook over a bid to ban attempts at setting up a union shop among the 750,000 postal employees.

As they stand, both versions would create a nonpartisan postal commission and a rate-setting board which would be between them run the mails, negotiate with employees and set postage rates.

Mail workers would get an 8 per cent pay hike under both bills as part of a settlement made by the postal unions and the government last April following the postal service's first strike.

The act now under consideration would allow workers to bargain collectively for wages, working conditions and benefits — including, in the Senate version, the union shop. But it would bar strikes.

Sen. Paul Fannin, R-Ariz., is seeking passage of a so-called right-to-work amendment which, in this case, would allow the postal service's 250,000 employees who presently belong to no union freedom from ever being compelled to join one.

Another senator, Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., a dissenting member of the Post Office Committee, is seeking passage of his amendment which would strip the bill of all but the wage hike and a set of rate increases to pay for them.

Son's Being Prisoner Is Not News To His Parents

A PACKAGE FOR BILLY... Bill and Jessie Robinson prepare a package for their son, who is a prisoner of war in North Vietnam. They send one filled with personal items, vitamins, and individually packaged food every other month.

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
ROBERSONVILLE — The name, hometown, and serial number of Airman Billy Robinson were on a list of American prisoners of war just released by Hanoi as an accurate list of those being held captive in North Vietnam.

However, their son's being a prisoner is not news to Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson of Railroad Street here. This was confirmed for them February 7, 1966 when they received their first letter from Billy after he was taken prisoner. His letter was their government had listed him as missing in action.

He reportedly had been shot down near Da Nang, South Vietnam, while on a helicopter rescue mission September 20, 1965. His letter said that he had not been injured in the crash, that he had adequate food and clothing, and that he had managed to maintain his normal weight of about 200. It sounded as if it had been dictated to him and his parents did not know how much of it to believe. However, recognizing his handwriting, they were thankful to know he was alive. Once since then a tape recording of his voice has been sent.

Billy had liked the Air Force and had thought of extending his enlistment, which was due to be up in November, two months after the helicopter in which he was riding was shot down. He had gone into the Air Force in November, 1961 after he had graduated from Roanoke Rapids High School in May of that year. For 13 months of his hitch, he had served in South Korea. The final day of leave after this tour of duty — December 4, 1964 — was the last time that Bill and Jessie Robinson, his father and stepmother, have seen him. He was subsequently stationed in South Dakota, but was on temporary duty in Thailand being sent on a rescue mission to Vietnam when he was captured.

At first his parents hoped for his life and prayed for his humane treatment, but they said little because the government advised them that saying too much could perhaps make things worse for Billy and other prisoners of war.

They wrote letters often and sent several packages, all of which came back unopened. Then only last August, they sent a package that was not returned. And at Christmas, they mailed one that didn't come back.

By this time, they had received instructions through a group called the Committee of Liaison With Families of Servicemen Detained in North Vietnam that they could send their son one letter a month between the 25th day and the first day of the next month and that they could send a package every other month. This same committee is the one through which this week's list of 335 prisoners was transferred.

Whenever any member of the committee goes to Hanoi, the Robinsons and, presumably all POWs' families, are notified beforehand so they can send letters. This they do, but they mail their monthly letter just the same.

Their son's letters to them, which they receive about four times a year, never give any indication of whether he receives letters or packages from them. In a letter received this month, he named some items he would like for them to send him. Some were things which they had included in their April package.

They know, however, that his letters are greatly detained. A Christmas card he sent his grandparents in Roanoke Rapids, the only piece of mail turnout here in Martin County was wonderful. The people of Robersonville who got out and walked the streets with petitions for their neighbors to sign will never know how happy they made us."

"Yes, we thank our neighbors and we thank the National Guard and the Jaycees for promoting the project," her husband said. "We were on the East Carolina University campus Signature Day and the sight of a hundred or more students waiting in line to sign a petition was so wonderful to me."

"Public opinion seems to be the only thing that Hanoi heeds," if that," Mrs. Robinson said. "We ask individuals and church groups and other organizations to write letters to the embassies of neutral countries asking them to prevail on Hanoi for the humane treatment and early release of our prisoners. We suggest that they mail the letters to their Congressman and ask him to forward them for them."

"We also ask our friends to write to Ross Perot to thank him for his continued efforts for the welfare of the prisoners," Robinson said. An address through which he will get these letters is "Ross Perot, Box 7777, WITN, Washington, N.C."

"I know these things may not do much," Robinson continued "but we have to do what we can. I want my son and all these boys back so much. We don't know what they are suffering, but we do know that the longer they stay the worse their conditions may be. Organized negotiation between the warring governments seems to do no good. I think it's time we take the risk of going in after these almost 1600 men who are believed captured. To pull out now and leave them there is unthinkable. The risk seems much more worth taking than some we have taken in the past — like the Cambodian gamble.

"We know most of the families of the known prisoners from North Carolina and some of the others. We know what the wives, children, and parents are suffering. We can imagine what our boys who risked everything to protect our safety are suffering. I say we must do what we have to do to get them out of there. By this I mean every peaceful means and also a full-fledged raid to bring them out. I can hardly bear the thought of Billy's spending another year of his young life there."

BILLY ROBINSON

that has gone from him to anyone except them as far as they know, arrived in April.

He says nothing of his surroundings or of his physical condition. One exception was when he said he had had his appendix removed and was doing well.

Last Christmas Billy's parents, his grandparents, and the families of his sisters, Mrs. Grady Robertson and Mrs. Arnold Ray Hux, both of Roanoke Rapids, excitedly packaged goodies and some clothing that Texas billionaire, Ross Perot was going to fly to the prisoners of war in North Vietnam. As it turned out, he was unsuccessful in delivering the Christmas gifts, but the Robinsons say they are grateful for men like Perot who show their concern for the captive men.

Within the past year, the government has changed its advice to the families of men who are known prisoners or who are missing in action. It has been acknowledged that perhaps public opinion on behalf of the prisoners will afford them more humane treatment and lead to their safe return home.

"Some one asked me what I wanted for Father's Day this year," Bill Robinson said. "I said, 'I want my son home with me.'"

"I was fortunate enough to get a letter from him two days before Father's Day — June 18, which was Signature Day."

"We are so very grateful every one who signed the petitions on behalf of the prisoners of war on Signature Day," Mrs. Robinson said. "The

Unaffected By Retirement Rule

Francis W. Speight, East Carolina University artist-in-residence, will not be one of the nine members of the ECU faculty and administrative staff to retire this year, as was reported Sunday.

As artist-in-residence, Speight's teaching duties are on a part-time basis and therefore, he will not be affected by the mandatory State Retirement Act.

According to the Dean of the ECU School of Art, Dr. Wellington Gray, Speight will continue his painting and teaching duties in the art department as usual.

Health Care System Is Found Ripe For Change

By G. C. THELEN Jr.
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A task force commissioned by the Nixon administration has found the nation's health care system antiquated, inefficient, largely inaccessible to the poor and ripe for change.

As a first step, the blue ribbon panel says the administration should scrap the $6 billion-a-year medicare program and substitute 100 per cent federally financed health insurance for up to 40 million poor persons. The yearly cost would range between $10 billion and $18 billion. The task force also wants consumers to have greater voice in operating health institutions with the federal government more involved in developing a new medical care system.

The chairman of the advisory committee, Blue Cross President Walter McNeerney, endorsed some form of universal national health insurance. But the panel suggested a second committee to consider possible national insurance legislation that could be introduced in 1971.

The administration already has incorporated some of the panel's recommendations in its own legislative proposals, notably, government support of prepaid group practice and a small-scale trial of federal health insurance for welfare recipients.

The President's plan unveiled three weeks ago substitutes contributory, federal insurance for medicare assistance to the estimated 6 million families that would be eligible under the pending family assistance welfare reform proposal.

The McNeerney panel, however, wants all poor people—married or single, with or without children—to have paid-up insur-

Durham Schools Offer New Plan

DURHAM (AP) — A new desegregation plan filed by the Durham Board of Education calls for pairing of four city elementary schools and revised boundaries for the junior and senior high schools.

The plan was submitted to U. S. Dist. Judge Edwin M. Stanley in Greensboro. The board altered its preliminary plan, made public June 14, after a number of city school patrons voiced objections in a public hearing.

School board members were instructed by Judge Stanley last month to provide a new plan for further integration of city schools without a continuation of the seven-year-old freedom of choice plan.

ance. The task force concluded medicare has failed its promise of financial aid for all the poor who need medical care because of stinginess by the states in setting eligibility requirements.

The task force said consumers are now effectively shut out of policy making in hospitals, medical insurance companies and government health units.

The panel, largely composed of health professionals, advocated mandatory consumer representation on all health organizations getting federal assistance. The panel said the government should preserve and strengthen "the essential voluntary aspects of our health care provider system" while stimulating neighborhood clinics for the poor, prepaid group practice, and home services as a substitute for some hospital care.

Government assumption of all medical cost without change in the system would only spur inflation, the report said.

Tobacco Co. Is Now Subsidiary

WINSTON - SALEM (AP) — Under a reorganization plan, the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. became a wholly-owned subsidiary of the newly formed R. J. Reynolds Industries, Inc., Monday.

Reynolds Industries is now the parent company for Reynolds Tobacco and its subsidiaries in aluminum and packaging, foods, containerized shipping and corn refining.

Common stock and $2.25 convertible preferred stock of Reynolds Tobacco have been converted into identical shares of Reynolds Industries stock.

$109,200 Going To NCSU Role

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina State University will receive $109,200 from the U. S. Office of Education to support 14 doctoral fellowships in occupational education.

It was announced Monday that NCSU was one of 11 universities selected for the program.

Deadline On Resolutions

RALEIGH (AP) — All resolutions and proposals for this year's North Carolina Democratic party platform must be submitted to the Resolutions and Platform Committee by July 7.

The committee met for the first time Monday and set the cutoff date. It also elected Miles Smith Jr. of Salisbury as chairman.

The committee will draw up a proposed platform and submit resolutions to the state Democratic convention in Raleigh July 14.

Smith urged Democrats to give their proposed resolutions, platform planks, or briefs to the committee members from their own congressional districts, or mail them to Democratic headquarters in Raleigh. He challenged members of the committee to come up with a platform that will help Democratic candidates win elections this fall.

"We must think of what is best for the most number of people running," Smith said. "After all, we're here for one purpose — to get our people elected."

Officers elected besides Smith were the Rev. George Dudley of Rocky Mount, vice chairman, and Mrs. Jo Ann Smith of Raleigh, secretary.

The next committee meeting is scheduled at noon July 7. Smith emphasized that any resolutions received after that time would take a two-thirds vote of the convention to be heard.

Replace 30 Of Fired Workers

GREENSBORO (AP) — The city has replaced 30 of the 74 garbage workers fired for striking last week, says Mayor Jack Elam.

After a meeting with Negro leaders Monday, Elam reaffirmed his stand against restoring seniority benefits to sanitation workers who were fired when they went out on strike, but who returned to work.

Thirty new men have been hired by the Sanitation Department, and 25 of the fired men have returned to work, city officials say. Elam said applications were continuing to come in for the remaining 19 places. City Council is expected to discuss the sanitation situation at a special meeting Thursday.

Couple Exchanges Vows Calendar Price-Reavis Vows Spoken On Sunday On Saturday Afternoon

WILLIAMSTON — The Holy Trinity Catholic Church here was the scene of the wedding ceremony of Miss Huynh Hoa Thi Thai and Trung Van Lu Raynor, both of El Paso, Tex. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Chan Quan Thai of Saigon, Vietnam, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry S. Raynor of Greenville.

Father Hugh Mulholland of Greenville officiated at the double ring ceremony on Saturday at 3:30 p.m.

A program of organ music was presented by Miss Julia Raynor, cousin of the bridegroom. The church was decorated with two standing baskets of white gladioli, pom poms with greenery.

The bride was given in marriage by J. C. White Sr., uncle of the bridegroom. She wore a traditional Vietnamese dress of off-white silk brocade with white satin trousers. The dress was designed with a round neckline and long sleeves with lace cuffs.

She wore an elbow length illusion veil attached to a satin bow trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white pom poms and baby's breath centered with a white orchid and showered with white satin streamers.

Miss Susan Raynor of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length A-line gown of yellow chiffon over peau de soie designed with an empire waist embroidered with flowers.

She wore a matching bow with a bouffant veil and carried a bouquet of white daisies and assorted flowers.

Miss Denise Raynor of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She wore a dress with a white lace bodice and yellow skirt. She carried a white basket filled with petals.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Pham Dang Duoc and Keith Taylor, both of Greenville.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a dress of aqua with a matching lace coat. She wore white accessories and a white carnation corsage. Grandmothers of the bridegroom, Mrs. J. A. White and Mrs. Sylvester Raynor, wore corsage of white carnations.

After July 12, the couple will reside in El Paso, Tex. The bride and bridegroom are teachers at the Vietnamese Language School of Defense Language Institute, Biggs Field, Fort Bliss, Tex. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School, Greenville.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at Wild Cat Farm, Williamston, home of the bridegroom's maternal grandmother, Mrs. J. A. White.

Mrs. Gene Boney greeted guests and Mrs. Roger Grimes presided at the guest register.

The bride's table was covered with a white cloth and featured a centerpiece of a Vietnamese girl in traditional dress surrounded by white lighted tapers and gardenias.

Mrs. Donald Taylor poured punch and Mrs. Jerry Raynor, mother of the bridegroom, served cake squares.

The house was decorated with arrangements of hydrangea, gladioli, crepe myrtle, white daisies and greenery.

Foskey

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carlton W. Foskey, 526 S. Gilpin Ave., Dallas, Tex., a son, Carlton Wayne Jr., on June 10, 1970, in Steven's Park Hospital, Dallas, Tex. Mrs. Foskey is the former Norma J. Stokes of Greenville.

HENDERSON — Saint Andrews Presbyterian Church here was the scene of the wedding of Miss Peggy Lou Reavis and John I. Price Jr. on Sunday at 7:00 p.m. The Rev. Gerald Lee Wilson officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Reavis of Rt. 3, Henderson, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a formal length dress of silk organza over peau de soie fashioned with a Mandarin collar and empire waistline. Augmenting the bodice and front of the gown were chantilly lace appliques sprinkled with seed pearls. Identical lace and beading formed short scalloped sleeves to which were attached full organza bishop sleeves which ended with tapered wrist bands with lace appliques, seeded pearl trim and tiny covered buttons.

In back, the gown was highlighted by self-covered buttons extending to the waistline which was accented by a bow. Extending from the empire waistline and further augmenting the gown was a chapel train which repeated the applied lace and bead work.

Her triple-tiered veil of imported illusion was attached to an organza bow accented with lace and pearls identical to those of the dress. She carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses, daisies and centered with a white hybrid orchid.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John I. Price Sr. of Rt. 1, Fountain.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Sherwood Fuller of Oxford, organist, and Mrs. Ronald Jones of Raleigh, soloist.

The honor attendant was Suzanne Whitson of Alexandria, Va. She wore a full length gown of yellow organza over peau de soie fashioned with a Mandarin collar, empire waistline and full bishop sleeves. The back was accented by a bow attached at the waistline. She wore a yellow peau de soie bow attached to a pouf of matching net. She carried a nosegay of white daisies showered with yellow satin ribbon streamers.

Miss Elizabeth Price and Miss Selma Price of Rt. 1, Fountain, sisters of the bridegroom, and Miss Sue Bland of Rt. 1, Fountain, cousin of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

They wore formal sleeveless gowns of pale green peau de soie fashioned with empire waistlines and round necklines. The gowns featured a matching front bow with streamers extending the length of the gowns. Their headpieces were identical to the honor attendant's and they carried colonial nosegays of white daisies with showers of green ribbons.

Miss Sara Katherine Dunn of Raleigh was flower girl. She wore a formal length gown and headpiece similar in design and augmented with lace appliques with seeded pearl trim identical to that of the bride. She carried a basket of petals.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were David Reavis of Henderson, brother of the bride, Ray Price, brother of the bridegroom, and Dwight Eastwood, both of Fountain. Bailey Barker of Henderson was ring bearer.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a graduate of East Carolina University and taught school in the Goldsboro City Schools. She will teach in Pitt County beginning in the fall. The bridegroom is a graduate of Belvoir-Falkland and has just completed two years in the U.S. Army. He will resume studies at Pitt Technical Institute in the fall and is employed at Ina's House of Flowers

Reception

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Greeting guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Brummitt. Mrs. Roy Davis, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest book. The guest register table featured a picture of the bride with an arrangement of yellow roses and a single candle.

The bride's table was covered with a mint green cloth overlaid with white lace draped at the corners and caught with satin ribbon and wedding bells. The table featured a five branch silver candelabrum holding a white floral arrangement of daisies and snapdragons and white tapers.

DEAR ABBY: While putting socks and underwear in my son's drawer, hidden far back I found several pages of sexy nudies, torn from a girlie magazine. They were folded many times and looked as though they had passed through many hands before reaching my son's. To say I was shocked is putting it mildly, as he is 15½, an officer in the DeMolay, and an upright Christian boy of high ideals. His father died when he was 12, and he and I have always discussed everything openly and I thought we had a good relationship.

After long deliberation, I took the pictures from his hiding place and pasted them on the door of his room. When he came home from school I told him I had "cleaned" his room and had put his "art pictures" where he could see them and enjoy them. He said thanks, and 3 minutes later they were removed by him and put in the trash. Somehow I feel he will never want to collect such things again. Was there a better way to handle this? MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I suppose because your son took the pictures down, and put them in the trash, you feel you "won." You could be wrong. It is important for young people to know that their privacy will not be violated. I am not accusing you of deliberately snooping, but having come across such "art"—obviously hidden, I think you should have left it alone. All your son will learn from the demonstration you described is that next time he wants to hide something, he'll have to find a better hiding place.

DEAR ABBY: I have been burning since National Secretary's Week. Why should a wife sit home while her husband "honors" his secretary with flowers [he never gives me any], takes her out to lunch and then takes her to dinner? I admit I am jealous. She is young and I no longer am. Why should there be a National Secretary's Week?

I don't see any National Nurse's Week. Or National Janitor's Week. Or National Gas Station Attendant's Week. Or National Store Clerk's Week. What makes secretaries think they are entitled to special consideration? J. W.

DEAR J. W.: Their bosses.

DEAR ABBY: I have just read a letter signed "DISGUSTED," who married a man with two children. And she's complaining because she has to take care of them on week-ends.

A year ago I married a man whose wife ran off and left him and their five children. The youngest was three, and the eldest was nine. It was a big job I took on, but I haven't regretted it for one minute. My husband is an officer in the Coast Guard and I knew he'd be gone a lot, but we found so much happiness I almost can't believe it. These children are like my very own and they love and appreciate me.

Please print this to let people know that it's possible to marry a man with small children and be happy. By the way, I'm 24 and my wonderful husband is 29.

CAROL IN ASTORIA, ORE.

DEAR CAROL: Please congratulate your wonderful husband for me. He picked a wonderful wife.

CONFIDENTIAL TO LISA: I don't think he was "confessing." I think he was BRAGGING. [And possibly, lying.]

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Barge Sites Can Be Important

The fact that plant location experts have looked at a couple of possible barge sites in Pitt County doesn't necessarily mean they'll be bringing an industrial prospect back to those same sites in a couple of weeks.

The recent tour by plant location engineers of possible barge sites in the Eastern section of the state does mean that these people will know where to take prospects who may be interested in water transportation.

The new interest in barge sites by the Department of Conservation and Development should be encouraging to these areas interlaced by the 1,200 miles or so of navigable inland waterways in this part of the state. It can be reasonably assumed that some points along this extensive system will be attractive to industrialists who are planning new plants that need water transportation.

Research work done by the East Carolina

University Regional Development Institute in conjunction with waterways and plant sites in this area provides valuable information for the individual counties and for the state as a whole as attention is turned to developing greater commercial traffic on the waterways of the East.

Distinguished Career Of Service Is Ended

It was sad news that Judge William J. Bundy, who has had a distinguished career as a Superior Court judge, had died in Norway.

Judge Bundy had announced that he would not seek reelection after serving since July 1, 1955. He thus was scheduled to retire this year. Prior to serving as Superior Court Judge he had been district solicitor.

Judge Bundy had been active in civic and church work, in addition to his outstanding career as a jurist. He will be missed.

Spiro Meeting Chilly Shoulder

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Despite his fantastic success as a party fund-raiser, Vice President Spiro Agnew's political appeal for moderate Republican officeholders is wearing thin, as his recent trip to Cleveland conclusively proved.

The only member of the Ohio Republican Congressional delegation showed up on the dais at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel for last week's $250-a-plate dinner was Sen. William Saxbe and Saxbe was there for only one reason: Agnew telephoned him a personal invitation to come aboard the Vice Presidential plane for the trip to Cleveland.

Not visible were three Congressmen specifically invited to the dinner: Reps. William Stanton, William Minshall, and Charles Mosher who represent districts either in or adjoining Cuyahoga County (Cleveland). All three sent regrets, pleading prior engagements. But their real reason was fear that too much proximity to the most controversial Republican now at large might hurt them in November.

Another regret came from Rep. Robert Taft, Jr., nominee for the Senate. His motive was the same.

As one Ohio Republican told us: "Let's face it, Spiro is doing a good job as Dick Nixon's hatchet man, but hatchet men can lose more votes than they win."

A footnote: Whatever Midwest Congressmen think of him, Agnew is riding high in the South. In a private poll taken by Democratic Sen. Russell Long of Louisiana, Agnew ran ahead of every single statewide officeholder, all of them Democrats.

The tortuously negotiated agreement between Lawrence F. O'Brien, Democratic National Chairman, and Sargent Shriver to launch a political fund-raising drive starring Shriver very nearly came unstuck at the very last moment.

During weeks of negotiations punctuated by one public outburst from O'Brien, Shriver reluctantly agreed that his fund-raising operation (called the Congressional Leadership for the Future) would be under O'Brien's control. But on the eve of Shriver's Capitol Hill press conference unveiling the operation, Shriver lieutenants leaked information to the press implying it would be a wholly independent venture.

When that report drifted back, Democratic national headquarters sizzled. An O'Brien emissary informed Shriver in hard-hat language: unless you make it perfectly clear that you are sailing under O'Brien's colors, we will blow you out of the water. Backing down, Shriver contended there must be some mistake and suggested that O'Brien aides help prepare a press release announcing the committee's formation.

Shriver followed this agreement at the press conference — up to a point. Mysteriously, the press release containing quotes from O'Brien was not distributed to newsmen at the press conference, breeding more suspicion among the O'Brien men.

A footnote: Although Shriver's supporters in Congress thought up the fund-raising scheme as a device to boost him for the 1972 Presidential nomination the idea so far has simply exposed more Shriver political naivete on top of his abortive entry into Maryland politics.

For instance, Shriver proposed that his new committee include Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard. When a party source pointed out that Galbraith wants to purge all Democratic officeholders with insufficiently dovish views on Vietnam, Shriver was genuinely surprised. He then dropped Galbraith's name.

Although Rep. Wright Patman of Texas is generally given credit for derailing the government's proposed bailout of the Penn Central Railroad, a more important influence was exerted by two pillars of the Senate Democratic establishment: Warren Magnuson of Washington and John Stennis of Mississippi.

With his lifetime anti-business bias, Patman was expected to be troublesome. More surprising was the fact that Magnuson, after first indicating sympathy, decided against the Nixon administration's bill to provide loans to the Penn Central. Considering Magnuson's power as chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, that doomed the entire plan.

More static came from Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee. He informed the Pentagon that, while he would go along with the (Continued on page 5)

OK, Japan Asked For It

With the collapse last week of textile trade agreement talks with Japan, Congress has but one course left open to it: This is to smack the Japanese with what is known in the trade as the Mills Bill. And high time!

Granted, this is not a pleasant prospect for members of Congress who are dedicated to reducing trade barriers, not to raising them. Approval of the Mills Bill would be a step backward from the lofty goal of free commerce envisioned under the international General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs. If protective quotas are granted to the textile-apparel industry, other industries hurt by foreign competition will be crying, "me, too."

There is this further objection, that by imposing even the mild and reasonable restraints proposed in the Mills Bill, the U.S. would subject its diplomatic relations with Japan to additional strain. The leaders of last week's massive anti-government riots in Tokyo, protesting extension of the two nations' security treaty, presumably would pick up wider popular support.

Yet the case for a quota system, intended to protect the domestic textile-apparel industry, is supported by compelling evidence. And the record of patient efforts to reach a voluntary agreement suggests that the Japanese propose to stall indefinitely.

Time has run out. The U.S. industry is in deep trouble. Its profits are down. Employment has declined by 65,000 workers in the past 15 months. New capital investment has dropped sharply over the past year. The number of closed plants is increasing. The gloomy picture is almost entirely the result of one cause: the dramatic increase in textile imports.

Dramatic is the word for it. The picture began to change as far back as 1957, when textile imports for the first time exceeded our exports. Now the imbalance amounts to $1.4 billion annually; and more than a third of this imbalance winds up in the hands of Japanese. In the past five years, the volume of textile imports has tripled. If the increase is merely alarming in cotton and wool, it is staggering in the field of man-made fibers.

Several elements account for the situation. Primarily, the imbalance results from wage differentials. The typical American textile worker earns $2.43 an hour; his counterpart in Japan gets 53 cents. In Korea and Taiwan, the figure is 11 cents. The suit that is mail-ordered from Hong Kong is sewn together by tailors paid 25 cents an hour.

Other Editors Say Finch Invited It

(Goldsboro News-Argus)

Some weeks back, a picture moved on the Associated Press wire showing a band of militant Welfare Rights Organization representatives taking over the office of HEW Secretary Robert Finch.

One had appropriated to his own use Secretary Finch's chair and had his feet propped on the desk. Others sprawled on the floor.

Mr. Finch had fled to other quarters.

The News-Argus was critical of the Department of HEW for permitting such an occurrence. Editorially, we suggested that to be permissive in such a situation was to but encourage those who would ignore the rights of others and disrupt the function of a high office.

This very week another Associated Press picture moved out of Washington. A member of the same organization was clearly shown kicking out the glass panes of the door leading to the Welfare office.

The exasperating thing is that no one is held accountable for such actions. If the photographer could get the picture, then some one can identify the one who kicked out the panes. If the person can be identified, then an arrest can and should be made.

We are not among those who would contend that recipients of welfare have no right to organize. We have a welfare program with funds set aside for specific purposes. Those persons who meet the qualifications have a right to share in those funds.

If they feel they are not receiving funds earmarked for people with their qualifications, then they have a right to present their grievances. But that presentation should be in accordance with acceptable rules of conduct. Commandeering the office of the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare and creating such a disturbance he has to seek refuge elsewhere does not fall into the realm of acceptance. Neither does kicking out the windows and doors of a public building.

And when public officials — elected or appointed — condone such actions, then that doesn't fall into the realm of acceptable conduct on their part either.

Buying Trip Is Chancy

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — A successful shopping trip takes more than a pair of comfortable shoes and unlimited funds. What you really need is the flexibility to want what you find, when you can't find what you want.

I always start my expeditions with a pocket full of cash, a heart full of hope and a head full of ideas on exactly what I want. By the time I've reached the finish line, I've got only the money. I've lost all hope of locating what I'm looking for.

If I find the perfect dress, it's the wrong size. If it's the right size, it's a color that even an eager saleslady can't bring herself to admire on me. If it's a becoming shade, it's not my style.

And if it's the right size, right color, right style and right price, just as I'm happily starting to pay for it I'm sure to find a misweave in the material or an irreparable rip in the skirt. With my new raincoat, though, I beat the odds.

I already had a couple of raincoats in bright colors that always seemed to clash with what I was wearing, so I was determined to get a good, old-fashioned raincoat-color raincoat. The sort of noncolor that would go with everything proved predictably elusive but at last I found THE coat—and it fit perfectly.

Then I noticed that one button, impossible to match, was off and two more barely hanging on. The missing button turned up in the pocket and the saleslady suggested that the seamstress, already gone for the day, would sew them all back on if I'd leave it overnight.

Since I hate to sew buttons on even more than I hated to walk back to the store, I paid a deposit and left. The next night I presented my sales slip to a young gentleman in charge of the department, who trotted off to layaway.

But the coat wasn't where it should have been. I explained about the buttons and we decided it had to be in the sewing room. No luck there either. My helpful friend then checked every fitting room, a process that took another 10 minutes. He apologetically offered to return my deposit but I didn't want the money—I wanted the coat.

"Let me look in the sewing room once more," he insisted. And back he came with the prize, which had been hidden behind a door.

But the button was still missing, the others still loose. "If you'll be patient a few minutes longer, I'll have one of the girls sew them on," he promised. It took a bit longer than that, but at last my coat was really mine—elapsed time 38 minutes.

I was thanking my gracious helper warmly when suspicion dawned. "Did you," I asked, "sew those buttons on yourself?"

Just as I thought—he had.

Opinions In Brief

The right of gun ownership by U.S. Citizens is so much an integral part of the American tradition of freedom under a constitutional government that many view it as the taproot of liberty. Gun control extremists have shown little regard for this fundamental consideration. — Rocky Mount Evening Telegram.

Strength For Today

HAPPINESS
Aldous Huxley, in one of his novels portrays a mythical world of fabulous luxury and universal happiness. Each person is created specifically to fill a particular position necessary to a stable economy. There is no loneliness, frustration or sadness. Everybody is happy.

Mr. Huxley's world differs greatly from our real world. But let us think for a moment about one aspect of this problem of happiness. Do we get happiness out of the mere act of going to the movies or playing golf? When we listen to a concert or read a novel, why are we happy? These things in themselves do not primarily constitute our happiness. What, then, really is happiness? Often it has been defined as the absence of pain, mental or physical. It is the result of accomplishing some end. We work ceaselessly, we worry, we drive ourselves and are driven. Then we enjoy recreation — a concert, or a good book, or taking part in some sport. We are happy because the cares and worries of the day are temporarily forgotten. But if there were no pain and sadness and striving life would lose its meaning. All pleasures would become stale and monotonous routine. Happiness is contrast — that is why it is happiness.

Franchising Is Hurt In Slump

By ELMER ROESSNER
The business slump has started to hurt the franchise field and the pain will worsen in the near future.

Many franchisees are finding sales less than expected. Sales projections were based on a roaring economy and the roar has quieted down. Enfranchising companies have been double hit. Sales of franchisees are slowing down because would-be franchisees are having difficulty in raising money and revenue from existing franchisees is declining, whether based on percentages of sales or in the sale of supplies to outlets.

Another hot summer lies ahead. Unemployment has hit minority groups hard. Youngsters in all economic classes have found few summer jobs. Idleness, reduced income and rising prices are causing unrest which can worsen as summer drags along.

Snipers A Problem

One positive factor is that ghetto residents are learning that fires and looting don't pay off. The amount of loot is small; burned-out places may never reopen, costing jobs; shoppers may have to go further to buy supplies and prices invariably rise after riots.

However, snipers are a growing menace. Attacks on police and firemen are difficult to control, especially when snipers are organized, as some appear to be.

More cuts in capital spending are coming. Plans for this year have already been trimmed, and while total spending is still slightly above that of 1969, the increase is less than the rise in costs. This means that physical volume of new plants and equipment will actually be less than last year, with less employment.

But money continues tight and expensive. Provisional management will dictate the postponement of all but urgent expansion.

Defense Spending Shrinking
Defense spending is being reduced and will go down further as more American troops are withdrawn from Vietnam. The Chase Manhattan Bank says in its current business letter, "A significant part of the overall weakness reflects reduced defense production. . . in the longer run, of course, reduced defense spending will have the positive effect of helping to relieve inflationary pressures."

The Defense Department appears to be rushing whatever new contracts are authorized. This may modify the situation somewhat.

The current lag in sales may be relieved by three important factors. The surtax ends in a few days. Increases in government pay, with retroactive payments, have increased total income by around $6 billion, and the postal workers are still to get theirs. And the increase in Social Security payments has added another billion.

These increases in pay and Social Security are highly spendable, since they go largely to groups who need goods and services.

Many Facets In Abortion Studies

AP News Special
By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's state health director, newly named to a national group seeking repeal of all legal restrictions on abortion, said today the group doesn't expect immediate success.

"Abortion is a many-faceted question and each state is going to face it on the basis of what fits its own situation," the Tar Heel official, Dr. Jacob Koomen, said in an interview. Koomen declined to predict whether North Carolina will liberalize — or perhaps abolish — its abortion laws.

But he pointed out the state "long has been known as a leader in programs of family planning, and abortion is one aspect of that." Koomen commented after announcement of his selection as secretary of the American Public Health Association's new formed Action Board.

Although the ideal would be to abolish all laws restricting abortions and let the matter be handled strictly on a doctor-patient basis, Koomen said, he doesn't expect that to happen, at least not right away. "Some states will interpret abortion reform as meaning abolishment of all restrictive laws and may do that," he said. "Others may interpret it to mean abolishment of all restrictions except one requiring consultation by three physicians, or except one requiring a minimum residence period, or some other particular regulation."

The matter will be handled on a practical basis by states which undertake changes, he said, taking into consideration the pressures on both sides of the question. Is North Carolina's recently revised abortion law likely to be revised again during the approaching session of the General Assembly? "It isn't proper for an official in my position to comment on that," Koomen said. But, he said, "Our legislature has been very active in keeping us up to date on family planning."

Four Arrested In Killing, Rape

LILLINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Three Ft. Bragg paratroopers and a Fayetteville civilian have been charged with kidnaping a couple, killing the man and raping his 14-year-old companion, Harnett County Sheriff Wade Stewart said today.

The soldiers were identified by Stewart as Spec. 4 Andrew D. Strickland, 24, of Fayetteville; Spec. 4 David F. Sisneros, 18, of Denver, Colo.; and Pfc. Charles Wilcosky, 20, of Uniontown, Pa. The civilian is Danny Chance, 21.

The four were arrested Monday, Chance and Strickland at Fayetteville and Sisneros and Wilcosky at Ft. Bragg. The soldiers are members of the 82nd Airborne Division's 325th Infantry.

They were taken to the Harnett County Jail in Lillington, since the body of the victim, James Earl Buckner, 23, was found Monday in that county, in dense woods three miles north of Godwin. He was an employee of the Highway Commission and was working on a survey team in Fayetteville.

Investigators from Harnett County and from Cumberland County at Fayetteville said the girl gave this account: Four men driving a white station wagon with Connecticut license plates kidnaped her and Buckner at gunpoint near her home in Fayetteville late Sunday night and took them to the wooded area. Buckner was tied to a tree and beaten, and she was raped repeatedly before being released a short distance away about 5 a.m. Residents of the area took her home.

The Cumberland County Sheriff's department said her mother called about 8 a.m. Monday, and the girl led officers to the scene, where detectives found the body of Buckner about 50 feet from where she said he had been tied. They said marks indicated a rope had been tied tightly around his neck.

Perle Returns To Luxembourg

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — Perle Mesta, former U.S. ambassador and famed hostess, made a triumphant return to Luxembourg after an absence of 15 years.

"I spend in this country the five happiest years of my life," she said, almost in tears.

Luxemburgers who saw her applauded. They stopped others to tell them "Perle Mesta is back." Mrs. Mesta served as ambassador here from 1950 to 1955. Her swinging style and lavish parties became famous in the diplomatic world and inspired the Broadway musical "Call Me Madam."

Pay Raises For State Employees

RALEIGH (AP) — Almost 100 state employees, including top state officials and university administrators, will get raises ranging from $650 to $6,000 a year, effective Wednesday.

The salaries of these employees are not subject to the State Personnel Act. The law provides that they be set by the governor and the Advisory Budget Commission.

Family Has 3 Beauty Finalists

HAILEY, Idaho (AP) — Three of the six finalists for queen of this small south-central Idaho community's annual Old West celebration are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Dale.

Twins Laurie and Leslie, 16, and Lynda, 15, are competing for the title, to be announced July 4. The Dales have an ace up their sleeve in case one of the girls isn't selected this year.

"Our sister Lisa will be eligible to compete next year," Laurie said. "You have to be 15 to enter. She's just 14."

Lutherans Decide Admit Women Into Ministry

By JOHN LUNDQUIST
Associated Press Writer
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Delegates to the Lutheran Church in America convention have shattered tradition by moving to admit women to the ministry.

It was the first time a Lutheran church body in this country had decided to give women the right to be ordained on a par with men.

The LCA, with 3,259,000 baptized members, is the largest of three major Lutheran denominations.

After 25 minutes of brisk debate Monday night, during which delegates turned down a move to postpone action until 1972, a roar of "aye" votes approved the proposal, authored by a Commission on Doctrine of the Ministry.

There were a few, barely audible "no" votes in the spacious Minneapolis Auditorium.

The convention action directs that church bylaws, and bylaws and constitutions of the 33 synods and 6,186 congregations, be changed so that the word "person" shall be substituted for "man" in outlining qualifications for ordination.

The study commission declared: "The church in its thinking and its action has up to this point lagged seriously behind secular society ... the crux of the matter is justice."

Dr. Robert J. Marshall of New York, president of the church, told a reporter later it "was a momentous decision, and wholly in accord with our church's understanding of scripture and with the status of women in our time."

Dr. Fredrik Schiott, president of the American Lutheran Church with headquarters in Minneapolis, said he was pleased with the decision and that he supports ordination of women in his church as well.

The American Lutheran Church Council, its governing board between biennial conventions, has voted to recommend ordination for women when delegates meet in San Antonio, Tex., in October.

However, a demurrer came from Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, with headquarters in St. Louis.

"I was amazed at the speed it went through and the size of the vote," he said. "I am rather sorry it was done because it will not help inter-Lutheran relations, and I think personally we should not do it."

"I just feel that the biblical orders of creation differ between men and women, which has been the chief argument against this."

The Missouri Synod only last year decided to admit women as delegates to its conventions.

Weed Killer On Berries By Roadside

RALEIGH (AP) — A botanist at Duke University is cautioning motorists not to eat blackberries picked along North Carolina roadsides. He says they may contain dangerous levels of the controversial herbicide 2,4,5-T.

Dr. William Louis Culbertson said Monday he first became aware of the situation when he noticed the blackberry bushes along Highway 50-51 South were dying from what seemed to be an application of 2,4,5-T.

The herbicide has been withdrawn from use in Vietnam, and from most domestic uses by federal agencies because of possible harm to unborn babies. It is being used to control weeds on state highway rights of way throughout the state.

Earlier this year a highway commission spokesman denied that the herbicide was still being used by the agency.

But Monday, Frank Brant, landscape engineer for the commission, said the agency had sprayed 2,009 gallons of the weedkiller along rights of way since January of this year.

The chemical is an efficient killer of woody vegetation a mower can't handle. Brant said its use has decreased and the commission has issued careful instructions restricting its use since the controversy began over the chemical earlier this year.

He said the commission issued instructions to the state's 14 maintenance divisions not to use the weed killer around recreation and water areas, farm ponds, homes or food crops.

"We are being cautious," Brant said. "I doubt anyone would get harmed from eating those blackberries. I think the whole thing has been overemphasized. I don't know what the scientists claim, but we've never considered it as a poison."

Federal restrictions on the use of the chemical resulted from a report by government scientists at the North Carolina Research Triangle's National Institute for Environmental Health Sciences that pregnant mice fed 2,4,5-T produced a large number of deformed offspring.

trade policies there. The Japanese, while they adamantly oppose quotas anywhere else, impose relentless import restrictions of their own. Within the European Economic Community, the same picture obtains. No nation in the world has a freer policy on imports than the U.S. As a consequence, one-third of Japanese production goes to American buyers.

Finally, Japanese manufacturers operate without the restraints of anti-trust law. Nothing prevents them from entering into price and market agreements that would be patently illegal here. It is a great convenience not to have a Justice Department breathing down one's neck.

The Mills Bill, sponsored by Congressman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas and 200 other members of the House, would put a ceiling on imports of textiles, apparel, and footwear geared to levels of 1967-68. These limits would be adjusted annually to reflect increases or decreases in domestic consumption. A more reasonable, or more generous policy scarcely could be proposed.

Federal restrictions on the use of the chemical resulted from a report by government scientists at the North Carolina Research Triangle's National Institute for Environmental Health Sciences that pregnant mice fed 2,4,5-T produced a large number of deformed offspring.

Navajo Tribe Wins Claim To Vast Area

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — A federal financial settlement for millions of acres of land claimed by the Navajo Indians may help solve the tribe's unemployment problems.

The Indian Claims Commission ruled in Washington Monday that the tribe occupied a much wider area of Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado than was included in an 8 million-acre reservation when a treaty was signed in 1868.

The reservation now covers about 16 million acres. In the boundary lines laid down Monday, the Navajos are credited with what one commission official said could be about 30 million acres—about the size of Ohio. The ruling means the Indians should have been compensated in 1868 for that acreage.

The Indians won't get the additional land which is lightly populated and suitable only for grazing. But they may get a considerable dollar settlement when details are worked out to compensate them on the basis of 1868 land values.

The tribe has valued the land at $1 an acre, but this would have to be decided by the Indian Claims Commission. Said Harold Mott, the tribe's general counsel: "An appreciable part of the money will go for industrial development."

Tribal Chairman Raymond Nakai is concerned about the high unemployment—about 30,000 of 125,000 workers are unemployed. It costs money to attract industry, and that's where some of it will go.

Plants on the reservation now make camera and missile components, tennis shoes, prefabricated housing and electrical products.

In a related ruling Monday the commission gave the Hopis exclusive title to nearly 2 million acres also claimed by the Navajos. The Hopis' 2.45-million-acre reservation is completely surrounded by the Navajo reservation.

Also involved are overlapping claims by half a dozen smaller tribes. Mott said that until these are taken into consideration, it won't be known exactly how much land the Navajos gained.

Clendenon's Sacrifice Allows Mets To Slip Past Pittsburgh

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Donn Clendenon thinks Pittsburgh is the team to beat in the National League ... and it seems he's determined to do it all by himself.

Clendenon drove in the winning run with a pinch hit sacrifice fly Monday night as the New York Mets rallied in the ninth inning to nip the Pirates 3-2 in a first place showdown between East Division contenders. It was the Mets' second victory in five meetings with Pittsburgh this season ... and ex-Pirate Clendenon has provided the margin each time in the pinch.

The part-time first baseman, hero of the Mets' World Series triumph over Baltimore last October, shook up his teammates ... and Manager Gil Hodges ... on the eve of the season opener at Pittsburgh by picking the Pirates to take the pennant. The next day his two-run pinch single in the 11th gave New York a 5-3 victory.

His sacrifice fly in the ninth Monday night capped a two-run comeback, nailed Tom Seaver's 12th victory of the season, snapped the Pirates' winning streak at seven and gave the Mets a one-game edge in the division race.

Pinch hitters also supplied the punch as the St. Louis Cardinals struck for four runs in the eighth to down Chicago 8-6 and move past the skidding Cubs into third place in the East, 3½ games off the pace. Vic Davalillo and Jose Cardenal came off the Cards' bench to deliver two runs apiece in the eighth, sending the Cubs spinning to their 11th consecutive loss.

Houston whipped Los Angeles 1-5 in the only other NL action. Philadelphia's scheduled game at Montreal was rained out.

In the American League, Washington upended Baltimore 5-3; Minnesota edged Kansas City 5-4 and California blasted Milwaukee 10-3.

The Mets trailed 2-1 when rookie Ken Singleton singled to open the bottom of the ninth. He took third on Art Shamsky's single and scored the tying run when Dave Marshall bounced a single through the Pirates' drawn-in infield.

Joe Gibbon replaced Pittsburgh starter Steve Blass and hit Ken Boswell with his first pitch, filling the bases with none out. Orlando Pena came out of the bullpen and got pinch hitter Cleon Jones to tap into a force at the plate. But Clendenon, swinging for Jerry Grote's sent Marshall across with a fly to deep right, breaking the knot.

Seaver, 12-5, had a two-hitter until the top of the ninth, when he was cuffed for singles by Richie Hebner, Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell, giving the Pirates a one-run edge.

Clendenon had no predictions to make after the Mets' seventh win in nine games.

The Cards overran the Cubs with a four-run eighth after Ernie Banks, who drove in five Chicago runs, broke a 4-4 tie in the top of the inning with his second two-run homer off Steve Carlot.

A walk, Joe Torre's single and a bunt single by Jim Beau-champ filled the bases with none out in the bottom half and Davalillo's pinch double off Phil Regan retied it before Cardenal stroked the deciding two-run single.

Bob Watson cracked a single, double and homer, driving in five runs, as the Astros pummeled Bill Singer and ended the Dodgers' winning streak at six games. Joe Pepitone also homered for Houston.

Singer, who pitched 7 2-3 hitless innings against Atlanta last week, was kayoed in the third after yielding five runs and seven hits.

North State Little League champion Kiwanis closed out their season with a 10-2 romp over second place Jaycees yesterday.

The Kiwanis finish up with a 12-3 mark, while the Jaycees are 9-6. R. C. Cola and Coca-Cola are tied for third with 6-8 records, while the Lions and Optimists are knotted at 5-9. The tied teams play each other in the two final games, but a tie for fourth place is assured between the winner of the lower game and the loser of the upper one.

The Jaycees pushed into the initial lead in the game, scoring both of their runs in the second inning. Curtis Lee led off reaching on an error. Chris Garrett singled driving in Lee. Mel Boyd got a hit, scoring Garrett.

The Kiwanis started their rally in the third, getting a run. That came on a home run by Kelly Heath.

In the fourth, another Kiwanis run tied it up, 2-2. Kent Phillips reached on a fielder's choice and Carolina Dairy added breathing room between it and the two trailing teams last night in the Babe Ruth League. The Dairymen knocked off second place Home Builders, 5-3, while State Bank picked up its first victory of the year, a 7-6 win over third place Planters Bank.

Carolina Dairy now holds a 9-2 record, while Home Builders is 7-3 and Planters Bank is 6-5. College View is 4-5, Pepsi-Cola is 4-6, and State Bank, 1-10.

Home Builders scored first, pushing over a run in the third. Gary Hall reached on an error and Harding Sugg followed with a walk. Bill Lee reached on a fielder's choice, and a walk to Jeff Daniels forced in Hall.

But again, Carolina Dairy came up with the runs, getting three in the bottom of the frame. Robert Carraway reached on a fielder's choice. John Causey singled to left and Larry Roebuck walked, loading the bases. A walk to Jones brought over Carraway with the tying run, and a passed ball let Causey in. Another scored Roebuck with the final run.

Despite its three runs, Home Builders failed to get a hit off the combination pitching of Clifton and Daniels. No one managed to get more than one for the Dairymen.

In the second game, Planters took the lead in the first with a run. Mike Wallace walked and Robert Brinkley was hit by a pitch. Two passed balls let Wallace come in to score.

In the top of the second, State came up with four runs to move ahead. Greg Chapman walked and Danny Norris singled. Jerry White accounted for three runs with a homer. Al Heath reached on an error and moved up when Roy Hudson reached on an error. Another allowed him to score.

In the bottom of the second, Planters cut the lead to 4-2 with another run. David Prewett singled and was walked to

Dairymen Down Home Builders; State Bank Takes First Win

The Dairymen came right back with two however, for a 2-1 lead. Seth Jones doubled and an error on the play let him come the rest of the way. David Clifton singled and stole second. J. C. Daniels walked and then was caught in a rundown off first as Clifton came the rest of the way around.

Home Builders returned to the lead in the fourth, scoring twice more to lead 3-2. Jeff Beaman walked and stole second. He took third on an error and Fred Lemmond walked. He also stole second, and Wesley Puryear sacrificed to bring in Beaman and move Lemmond to third. Jon West then sacrificed to score Lemmond with the go-ahead run.

But again, Carolina Dairy came up with the runs, getting three in the bottom of the frame. Robert Carraway reached on a fielder's choice. John Causey singled to left and Larry Roebuck walked, loading the bases. A walk to Jones brought over Carraway with the tying run, and a passed ball let Causey in. Nat Rally Nips Birds—Again

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore's ailing Orioles are getting quite good at snatching defeat from the jaws of victory after three straight doses of Washington's newest medicine—late-inning lightning.

The Birds came out to the short end of a 5-3 decision Monday night—the third straight game in which Washington came from behind in its final at bat to win the game.

Saturday night it was Wayne Comer's bases-loaded eighth inning double that did the damage. Then Sunday, Rick Reichardt rifled a pinch two-run homer to turn the game around in the 12th. And on Monday night it was a three-run homer by Aurelio Rodriguez that wiped out a Baltimore lead.

Elsewhere in the light American League scheduled Monday night, Minnesota tripped Kansas City 5-4 and California battered Milwaukee 10-3.

In the National League, New York edged Pittsburgh 3-2, St. Louis knocked off Chicago 8-6 and Houston drubbed Los Angeles 9-5. Philadelphia's game at Montreal was rained out.

The Orioles' American League East lead was trimmed to two games over idle New York as they lost their fifth game in the last seven starts.

Frank Howard had poled an early two-run homer for the Senators but Baltimore battled back, tying the score in the fourth on a walk, Frank Robinson's infield hit and RBI-singles by Boog Powell and Paul Blair.

Then the Birds went ahead in the seventh—a fatal mistake on singles by Brooks Robinson and Ellie Hendricks and a sacrifice fly by Mark Belanger. Washington bounced right back when Ed Brinkman opened the eighth with a single and Howard walked with one out. Reichardt, Sunday's hero, bounced out but Rodriguez followed with his 12th homer of the year to win the game.

Hot-hitting Cesar Tovar cracked four straight hits including a game-winning triple as Minnesota overcame a fourrun Kansas City lead to beat the Royals.

Tovar's sixth inning triple drove in winning pitcher Jim Perry, who was credited with a double when his fly ball fell between KC outfielders Amos Otis and Pat Kelly.

Tovar, who has raised his average 30 points and moved past .300 in the last five games, keyed Minnesota's comeback after the Royals tagged Perry for four runs in the first, two of them on Ed Kirkpatrick's double.

Perry allowed only two hits after the third inning and mowed down 14 in a row over one stretch. Ron Perranoski came on to get the final out.

Sandy Alomar, whose 22-game hitting streak was ended Sunday, cracked two triples, a double and a single leading California's romp past Milwaukee.

Clyde Wright rode the 12-hit Angel attack to his 11th victory of the season. Ed Fisher finished up.

Alomar scored three times and drove in one run. He started California off quickly when he tripled in front of Roger Repoz' first inning homer.

Tommy Harper had three hits including a homer and Max Alvis also connected for the Brewers.

winning every round but the fifth and sixth and drawing the third.

Wepner, supported by a large contingent of hometown fans from neighboring Bayonne, had hoped a victory would lead him into big-money boxing and a fight against title contender Jerry Quarry.

Now, if either man fights Quarry, it will be Liston. A Jersey City syndicate has put up $40,000 for that bout, which could be held in Atlantic City later this summer.

Liston heads back to Las Vegas, Nev., with a 45-4 lifetime mark. Wepner is now 23-6-2.

Liston TKO's Chuck Wepner

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Sonny Liston, a winner again, sat in his dressing room and said he'd like another try at the heavyweight boxing championship.

In the next room Chuck Wepner soaked his feet in ice water and made a few unkind remarks about referee Barney Felix, who halted Monday night's fight against Liston after the ninth round with Wepner's face a bloody mask.

Liston, now 38, said earlier the fight could have ment the end of the road for him. But he made the oddsmakers look good

Hogan Is Not Finished Yet

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bantam Ben Hogan, the wiry golf great who thrives on his deep concentration on the game, is having the time of his life at 58...with golf.

He isn't playing in many tournaments on the pro tour where his name became No. 1 in the golf world, but he's "keeping at my game" and making plans for the future.

And don't let anybody kid you. Hogan will be back for more tournaments and will pick his spots "when I'm ready."

"I don't know where anybody gets the idea that I'm through" Hogan said Monday. "I've read that I wasn't going to play in any more tournaments. That's absolutely untrue.

"Right now, I don't know when or where I'll play next, but I am playing well and I practice all the time. If you're going to play well, you have to do both...practice and play."

Hogan's most recent round in competition was Sunday when he teamed with Sam Snead in a best-ball match at Piper, Kan. They defeated Byron Nelson and Jug McSpaden 3 and 2.

Afterwards, Nelson, one of golf's elite and now retired from tournament play, said Hogan was driving better than at any time in his long career.

McLain Returns

DETROIT (AP) — True to form, Denny McLain is being secretive about his return to Detroit.

McLain will end a three-month suspension, imposed by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for involvement in bookmaking activities, Wednesday night when he takes the mound against the New York Yankees at Tiger Stadium.

McLain originally had said he would arrive in Detroit from his Lakeland, Fla., home Tuesday, but he said Monday he may not return until Wednesday.

It also is not known where McLain, his wife and their two children will stay once they get to Detroit.

McLain has said they have a place to stay in Detroit, but wouldn't say where. His wife said Monday they plan to look for a home.

Moose Roll By Jaycees, 10-2

North State Little League champion Kiwanis closed out their season with a 10-2 romp over second place Jaycees yesterday.

The Kiwanis finish up with a 12-3 mark, while the Jaycees are 9-6. R. C. Cola and Coca-Cola are tied for third with 6-8 records, while the Lions and Optimists are knotted at 5-9. The tied teams play each other in the two final games, but a tie for fourth place is assured between the winner of the lower game and the loser of the upper one.

The Jaycees pushed into the initial lead in the game, scoring both of their runs in the second inning. Curtis Lee led off reaching on an error. Chris Garrett singled driving in Lee. Mel Boyd got a hit, scoring Garrett.

The Kiwanis started their rally in the third, getting a run. That came on a home run by Kelly Heath.

In the fourth, another Kiwanis run tied it up, 2-2. Kent Phillips reached on a fielder's choice and

Graniteers In Final Victory

The Graniteers closed out their regular season with an 11-1 romp over the Moose yesterday.

The win left the Graniteers with a 14-1 record in the Tar Heel Little League, the winner by at least three games. Pepsi-Cola is second with a 10-4 mark, while the Moose finish up with a 10-5 record. The Exchange is 4-10, the Elks, 3-11, and Integon, 2-12.

Three Graniteer runs came across in the first inning of play. James Weeks led off with a single and Jum Wilkerson followed that up with another hit. Macon Moye then topped that with a three-run homer.

In the second, the Graniteers added five more to their total for an 8-0 lead. Weeks singled and Howard Vainright reached on a fielder's choice. Wilkerson reached on an error, and another allowed both Weeks and Vainright to score, while Wilkerson moved all the way to third. Moye singled, scoring Wilkerson, and Joel Clark got a hit. Kyle Wills singled to score Moye, and an error on the play let Clark come around with the fifth run of the frame.

One more crossed in the third. Chris Moye walked and Vainright reached on an error. Another let Moye come across with the ninth Graniteer score.

The Graniteers picked up their final two runs in the fourth, making it 11-0. Steve Manning advanced on a passed ball. David Middleton walked, and Mike Langley reached on a fielder's choice. An error let Phillips score.

The Kiwanis then pushed over five runs in the fifth to run out to a 7-2 lead. Sid Ashby doubled and Heath reached on a fielder's choice. An error let Ashby score. Steve Camp singled and Phillips reached on an error, scoring Heath. Middleton reached on a fielder's choice, bringing in Camp. An error brought Phillips over. Langley walked and a single by Danny Hester scored Middleton.

The final three runs came over in the sixth. Chuck Ellis reached on a fielder's choice and Camp and Phillips both reached on errors. The second miscue scored Ellis. Camp then came over on a wild pitch and Phillips stole home.

Heath led the Kiwanis hitting with two, while no one on the Jaycees had more than one.

Mt. Pleasant, Trinity Win

The outcome of two rained-out Church League games straightened out the standings of the American Division last night, but left the third spot in the National Division in doubt.

In the two games, Mt. Pleasant downed National champ Grace, 12-10, and Trinity beat Meadowbrook, 5-4.

In the American Division, each team is set in its place for the playoffs. St. James and Gum Swamp each have a game left, but they will have no effect on the final results. St. James is in first place with a 13-2 record, followed by Trinity, 10-6, Presbyterian, 9-7, Meadowbrook, 8-8, Gum Swamp, 5-10, and First Christian, 1-15.</

The bidding: North 1♥, East Pass, South 3♠, West Pass. Opening lead: King of ♦. The defense succeeded in scoring an upset in today's deal by applying considerable pressure against South, the declarer at four spades. The latter could have foiled his opponents' efforts had he not been the victim of a blind spot. West opened the king of diamonds and East followed suit with the queen. This is a conventional signal announcing that the player is prepared to have his partner underlead the ace subsequently. In other words, a defender should not play the queen unless he also holds the jack or else has a singleton and can therefore ruff the next trick.

West dutifully continued with a small diamond and East put up the jack. There was no appealing shift, so East led a third round of diamonds, forcing the dummy to ruff. The king of spades was cashed on which West dropped the eight. North continued with a small spade and when East followed with the six, South took the finesse by playing the ten from his hand. West was in with the queen of spades and he returned the ace of diamonds. North ruffed with the nine of spades and East discarded his singleton heart. Declarer could not get off dummy without leading a heart and East ruffed with the seven of spades to score the setting trick. South could have made his contract by going up with the ace of spades on the second lead of that suit. The fact that the queen falls is fortuitous, however, even if West shows out—marking East with four trumps, the jack of spades can be safely led to drive out the queen, for East has no diamonds left to return. When South regains the lead, he can draw the last trump with the ten of spades and then discard his remaining diamond on North's hearts. The suggested line of play fails only if East has four trumps and is void of hearts, which is a very remote prospect.

The Worry Clinic Our Country Is No Democracy

Norma is puzzled. But most Americans also cannot clearly distinguish between our famous Republic vs. a Democracy. So, like Norma's teacher, they try to cover up their ignorance by saying this is a "representative Democracy." It definitely is not! So teach your kiddies why we say "Republic" in the pledge of allegiance!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.

CASE N-546: Norma J., aged 17, is a high school senior.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "is our country a Republic or a Democracy?"

"We had a debate on that point last term and I was still confused at the end of the arguments."

"For our teacher told us we have a 'representative democracy,' but in the pledge of allegiance don't we say, 'and to the Republic for which it stands?'"

Our American form of government is NOT a "representative democracy" but is a Republic.

Chief Justice John Marshall, who served on our U. S. Supreme Court for 34 years and was the most influential jurist ever to preside over that famous body, stated positively:

"... between a balanced republic and a democracy, the difference is like that between order and chaos."

Please note that "order" and "chaos" are radically

Doctor Joins Local Office

Dr. William Murchison Monroe of Sanford, has recently joined Dr. Steven M. White in the practice of Ophthalmology in Greenville. Dr. Monroe is a 1964 graduate of the University of North Carolina School of Medicine in Chapel Hill. He completed his pre-medical studies at the University of North Carolina in 1960.

Dr. Monroe was in the United States Army for three years and served in the Republic of South Vietnam in 1966 where he was awarded the Bronze Star for meritorious service. He has recently completed his residency training in Ophthalmology at Memorial

DR. W.C. MONROE

Hospital in Chapel Hill and at McPherson Hospital in Durham. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Monroe of Sanford and he is married to the former Blanche Keels Kammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Kammer of Sanford. Mrs. Monroe is a 1962 graduate of East Carolina University. Dr. and Mrs. Monroe have three children - Will, age 5½, Christina, age 4, and Melissa, age 1½.

Burnouts are back in fashion. A burnout is a printing process using chemicals to burn out or dissolve one fiber in a mixed fabric, resulting in a heavy and sheer design. Holes, such as eyelet, may also be burned out of a cloth.

Not Connected With WECU

A picture, used in Friday's Daily Reflector incorrectly linked James Rees of the East Carolina University staff as being connected with the student-operated campus radio station WECU-AM.

Rees is director of radio services for the university and as such is in charge of preparing tape recorded public relations programs for the university for use by a state-wide network of radio stations.

The programs include news programs, sports programs and discussion-type shows. Rees is not connected with the campus student station. WECU-AM station manager is Jim Davis. Reception of that station's programs is limited to EC's 17 dorms, the student union and the cafeterias on campus.

Charlie Is Back At Old Stand

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) - Charlie the alligator is back. Charlie has been living in the area of the battleship North Carolina since 1961, getting snacks from the spectators and pieces of chicken from the watchman. The battleship is permanently moored at Wilmington as a tourist attraction.

The 9-foot alligator returned Sunday for the 1970 summer session. No one knows where he goes in the winter. He has missed only the summer of 1968 in the last 10 years.

right to go back in.

"But the other side also has lots of space. He can put his depots farther to the rear and truck it up when he needs it."

The Americans were finding enemy caches right up to the last day, and some officers complained that Nixon's two-month time limit had prevented them from cleaning out the sanctuaries.

Other officers were more philosophical.

"How long have we been inside South Vietnam and yet failed to clean out the caches there?" one commented. "Turn your back in War Zone C for one day and there will be a new cache behind you."

The most optimistic estimates in the 1st Cavalry show 70 percent of the likely supply caches discovered. Other estimates run as low as 30 percent.

Some Americans were unhappy that forces concentrated on supply caches rather than enemy troops.

"The 7th Division was in our hair the whole time, yet we had to walk around it," one officer declared.

Another enemy unit, the 95C Regiment, also survived when a U.S. 25th Division brigade pushing toward its headquarters area was withdrawn early in May after five days inside, in a move apparently designed to placate war protesters in the United States.

These enemy units are expected to spearhead an attempt to re-establish strength inside South Vietnam.

"They will try to move back into the Fishhook and rebuild the Saigon River supply corridor," commented a 25th Division intelligence officer. "Also, they will probably try to reconstitute themselves in the Parrot's Beak."

The failure to capture COSVN, the enemy's Central Office for South Vietnam and the key control center targeted by President Nixon in his April 30 speech announcing the Cambodian venture, rattles the military.

"Let's face it, the big prize was COSVN," one senior officer said. "I wish we could have gotten it in these six hours earlier."

And no Americans are forgetting that guerrillas and small North Vietnamese units still abound in South Vietnam.

The possibility of sizable enemy attacks is remote for many months in the southern part of the country, most Americans believe. If these attacks do come again, American planners hope the Vietnamese can bear the brunt of them. This will considerably lessen American casualties, another Nixon goal. It should also get the boys home faster.

Electrical Charge Fatal

FARMVILLE — A 30 year old Kinston man was electrocuted around 11:15 yesterday morning near Farmville as he and a brother-in-law were loading junked automobiles onto a truck.

According to Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey, who ruled the death accidental, Robert Earl Hill was killed instantly when the metal cable of a crane they were using struck a high tension wire overhead.

Hill, the Coroner said, was guiding one of the junked cars onto the truck when the contact was made and the shock of the high voltage knocked him from the truck. Harvey estimated the overhead wire was some 25-30 feet above the area where the two men were working.

The accident occurred some three miles from Farmville on Highway 264 at the A & R Body Shop.

New Debt Ceiling Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has completed action on a bill raising the temporary national debt ceiling to $395 billion and making the permanent ceiling $380 billion.

The Senate passed the measure Monday night. It now goes to President Nixon for his expected signature. The old permanent ceiling was $365 billion — $15 billion under the new top.

By raising the temporary ceiling to $395 billion it now will be possible for the government to borrow money it says is needed to pay bills. The temporary ceiling will remain in effect to June 30, 1971 and then revert to the permanent $380 billion figure.

Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy told the Senate Finance Committee last week that the debt would likely reach $370 billion today. He said then that failure to approve the increase would mean that the government would be unable to refund any maturing debt or incur new debt.

The Senate, before passing the bill to increase the ceiling 64 to 19, defeated an amendment that would have suspended the $12,500 annual pay increase that the 535 members of Congress voted themselves a year ago. Their annual pay now totals $42,500.

About 700 babies are born with birth defects in the United States each day, says the March of Dimes.

NEW OFFICERS — Dr. Jay Collie (center) is presented the gavel as president of the Greenville Lions Club by Roy Poole, past District Governor (right) as outgoing president J. D. Wilson looks on. The new officers of the Greenville club were installed last night at special ceremonies held at the Moose Lodge. Other officers of the club include: Charles Waller, 1st Vice President; Robert Lamb, 2nd Vice President; Charles Snell, 3rd Vice President; Waitus Howell, Secretary; Ray Brewer, Asst. Secretary; James Hix, Tail Twister; Warren McAllister, Lion Tamer; Board of Directors Robert Boudreaux, William Warrington, Lloyd Rhodes and James Harris.

Investigate 2 Break-Ins

The Greenville Police Department is continuing their investigation of two break-ins that occurred Monday night in the city.

A break-in at the South Greenville School on Howell Street was reported at 7:20 Monday morning. Investigation revealed that entrance was gained through a window in the school lunch room.

School officials reported a total of 25 and a half pints of milk and two boxes of cookies missing following the incident.

Officials are also investigating a break-in at the Pitt County Health Department on the Falkland Highway.

Reports said that someone had gained entrance through the back door and had been through the offices on the inside. Health Department officials said that a door had been opened and the change total of $15 in bills and change removed, reports said.

Nixon . . .

"There is no military solution to this conflict," he stated. "Sooner or later peace must come. It can come now, through a negotiated settlement that is fair to both sides and humiliates neither. Or it can come months or years from now, with both sides having paid the further price of protracted struggle."

"We would hope that Hanoi would ponder seriously its choice, considering both the promise of an honorable peace and the cost of continued war."

Nixon said that "we have not raised the terms of a settlement as a result of our recent military successes." At the same time, he vowed that "we will not lower our minimum terms in response to enemy pressure."

As in the past, Nixon stated, "we recognize that a fair political solution should reflect the existing relationship of political forces." This was a way of saying the United States would be prepared to give Communists some role in a postwar South Vietnamese government.

Nixon contended that the Cambodian operation "eliminated an immediate threat to our forces and to the security of South Vietnam — and produced the prospect of fewer American casualties in the future."

He said "we have inflicted extensive casualties and very heavy losses in material on the enemy," have ended the concept of Communist sanctuaries immune from attack, dislocated enemy supply lines and "disrupted Hanoi's strategy in the Saigon area and the Mekong Delta."

As he did on April 30 in announcing the operation, Nixon argued his decision will save American lives, "assure that the withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam can proceed on schedule," and enable continuation of the Vietnamization program.

Strange Cloud In Night Skies

A giant cloud was observed by many local citizens as it floated across the city last night.

The cloud started low and small and gradually spread to form a rainbow effect.

In the past such clouds have been attributed to rocket shots or sodium clouds, although the origin of this one had not been determined.

Tips For The College Bound Senior

Now that the school term has ended, the embryo high school seniors who hope to attend college should discuss the prospect with their parents and start making plans now.

Some statistics might emphasize the sense of urgency that exists. For the Fall semester, 6.8 million students were registered in the nation's colleges and universities. This figure represented a 46% increase in student enrollment over the Fall 1965 term.

In other words, almost 3 million more students clamored for admission to colleges in 1969 than were registered in 1965 — and the growth trend will continue.

School construction hasn't kept pace with the explosive growth in student registration so the chances of getting into the school of one's choice, assuming marks are satisfactory, grow slimmer with each passing week.

Most, if not all colleges are open during the summer. It would be timely to write to — or better still — visit two or three schools. Obtain their catalogues. Check on entrance requirements, and investigate the possibility of obtaining scholarship assistance. Check, too, to determine whether the student's high school credits satisfy entrance requirements for the colleges.

Because of the tremendous task involved in attempting to screen applicants, schools accept the results of the college entrance exams which are given in mid-winter in many areas of the state. Obtaining good marks in these exams doesn't automatically assure entrance to the college of one's choice. There must be room for the student.

For example, Penn State University has had to turn away 8000 qualified students because — there's no room. The University of Georgia has 4900 students applying for 2500 freshman openings. The University of California, Los Angeles, has already closed off September admissions.

Obviously, there is no time to waste. Select the schools whose curricula suit the budding graduate's ambitions and write for their catalogues. Visit the school's if possible. Do your school shopping NOW!

Another — and probably the major consideration is finances. Regardless of circumstances, financing a youngster's college education taxes the resources of the average family. Recognizing the fact that mounting costs could deprive many deserving young men and women of a higher education, Federal or State agencies have set up programs of aid for educational purposes. They are bank-administered Student Loan Programs. Inquire about them the next time you visit the bank.

In essence, the program permits any qualified student, who has been accepted at an accredited school, to apply for a loan to finance his college education. The terms are liberal and realistic. Monthly repayments do not start until six months after graduation.

The importance of doing your school shopping early cannot be stressed too strongly because if financing is required, it cannot be arranged until AFTER a student has been accepted by the school.

Don't be reticent about making inquiries into the Student Loan program. Several million kids have already taken advantage of this educational aid.
