Mayor Defers Any Decision On Case

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
"Needless to say, we are pleased that we have not been restrained from going on with our plans for rehabilitation of the Central Business District," John A. Messick, CBD project manager for the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, said this morning.

The complaint of Greenville Mayor Frank M. Wooten Jr. against the City of Greenville and the entire CBD redevelopment project was denied yesterday by Superior Court Judge Joseph Parker. Messick said the court case against the city, the Redevelopment Commission, and the Utilities Commission has slowed work on the central business district project very little. He said that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has paid no official attention to the case.

More Time To File Complaints

WASHINGTON (AP) — The counties and towns in northeastern North Carolina's 1st Congressional District have been granted a 10-day extension to file complaints of not-counted population during the 1970 census.

question." He said he would not make a decision about whether to appeal his case until the judgment in the hearing completed yesterday has been written.

"The winning side, in this case, our opponents, the defense attorneys — write the judgment and then give us a chance to see it," he explained. "If we disagree about certain points, we meet with the judge, who has the final say and must give the order his signature before it is binding. Our future plans will depend on this judgment. We have so many days after it is signed before we must decide whether we shall appeal."

First Draft Call Is For Those Born July 9, '51

WASHINGTON (AP) — Men born on July 9, 1951, will be the first called for the draft in 1971, under a national lottery conducted today.

The lottery is to assign numbers from one to 365, each to one date of the year, corresponding to the birthday of men born in 1951.

The selections were made by the drawing of capsules from two plexiglass drums, rotated between each call.

For each selection a red capsule containing a date was picked out and matched with the number from a green capsule drawn from the other drum.

The numbers and dates were drawn by delegates to a convention of the Selective Service Youth Advisory Committee.

The High Cost Of Senior Proms Phillips-Hooks Vows Exchanged Recently

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Tonight was the Senior Prom and a lot of nice girls sat home wondering why they didn't get asked. I am a nice boy who went, and now I wish I hadn't and I tell you why. It cost me over $50. Not for the prom itself, but on all the junk that went with it.

My girl already had tickets to the prom and she said, "It won't cost much—let's go." So I said, "Sure." At first she said she would wear her old formal and I could wear my suit. Next thing I knew she started talking about the gorgeous formal she was making, and I felt like a heel not to rent a tux to match, so I did. She said she didn't need a corsage—a nosegay would be nice. Well, that was $10. She said she would fix something to eat at her house after the prom, but that night she didn't say a word about it. I guess she forgot so we went to the restaurant all the kids go to. Another $20.

Abby: That evening cost me two week's wages. And for what? Sadder but wiser, Bremerton, Wash.

DEAR SADDER: The way I see it, you could have gone to the prom without all the frills and saved a few bucks. Your mistake was getting roped into a more costly deal than you originally bargained for. But don't blame the girl. You could have held your ground. I.P.S. And you'd better learn how to say NO or you'll wind up with a wife who will put you in the poorhouse.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who interrupts me every time I start to say something. I get about two words said, and she cuts me off and I never do get to finish what I started to say.

I think this is just plain rude. Is there some way I can let her know how much I dislike this about her? BUGGED

DEAR BUGGED: If you can't get more than two words said before she interrupts you, maybe you'd better write HER a letter instead of me.

DEAR ABBY: I need your assistance. When your son's wife calls you up and says, "My family is coming to dinner to celebrate Andrea's birthday. Come if you want to," should I refuse or accept?

Andrea is my little grandchild, and I love her dearly, but what kind of an invitation do you call that? And what should I do? HURT

DEAR HURT: I call it a pretty shabby invitation. But don't stay away in order to "punish" your daughter-in-law. You would only be punishing yourself.

DEAR ABBY: I want to tell that 14-year-old, signed "NOT CONCEITED," that I am a woman past 80 years old. I live alone and have a full length mirror near my front door. There I always pause before going out, to take a good look at myself. How else would I know if my petticoat was hanging? Of course endless primping is a waste of time, but a little last minute glimpse is reassuring.

NOT CONCEITED, JUST CONCERNED

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Marianne As BB To Be Installed

THIRON GARDAIS... France (WNS) — Mayor Philippe Lamirault is a man of the present if not of the future. On Bastille Day, the 14th of July, he will hold official ceremonies to install the new bust of Marianne in his City Hall. Marianne represents France as Uncle Sam symbolizes the United States. But this new Marianne looks exactly like Brigitte Bardot and was made by sculptor Aslan, who won the Grad Prix de L'Armee for his bust of Marshal de Lattre de Tassigny. "France is not a lady of the past," explained Mayor Lamirault. "She is a vital star today, and I hope that Miss Bardot will attend the ceremonies."

Negativism Can Prove Costly

The supplemental school tax was soundly defeated in Saturday's Greenville School District election. This followed on the heels of a defeat of the tax for converting Pitt Technical Institute to a community college.

Certainly the voters have the final say on any tax submitted to them in a referendum and we wouldn't have it any other way, regardless of the position this newspaper may take on any issue. We would have no quarrel with any voter on expressing his convictions on any individual issue.

All of us, however, as citizens of Greenville and Pitt County should be concerned about meeting the needs of our community. Thus if there is a feeling among some voters to defeat any new tax regard-

Discrepancies Worry Many

By BRYAN HAILSLIP
RALEIGH — A question mark on preliminary census results is the extent to which black citizens may not have been counted.

The glaring instances of discrepancy between estimates and unofficial census reports that have come to light in North Carolina are in counties with a high proportion of nonwhite population. They also are in counties where much of nonwhite population is in rural areas.

These include Halifax, where the unofficial count of 51,808 was nearly 7,000 under the estimate. Pitt, whose 72,264 tally was more than 6,000 short. Bertie, 19,635, under by 4,000; and Edgecombe, 50,607, under by 4,000.

The widest margin between estimate and preliminary census count was in Robeson County, where nonwhites comprise three-fifths of the population. The 82,347 figure reported was nearly 11,000 below the estimate.

The estimate used for the comparisons above are not local chamber of commerce expectations. They are provisional 1969 estimates taken from a report jointly prepared by the Carolina Population Center at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and the planning division of the state department of administration. As such, they were soundly researched and prepared.

Counting the black population presents some recognized problems.

Two million blacks were missed in the 1960 U. S. census, including one million males between the ages of 18 and 40. That represented 10 per cent of the nation's population which didn't get counted. Aware of this missed population, especially in the South, the Census Bureau planned its 1970 assignment with massive appeals for black cooperation.

While it received a favorable response from groups such as the Urban League, the NAACP, and other black interests, the Census Bureau was rebuffed by the militants. They regard the census taking as a police state conspiracy to gather detailed information on a potentially rebellious element of the population.

The March issue of The Black Scholar carried an article titled, "Census 70: Blueprint for Repression," by Sid Walton, principal of Martin Luther King elementary school in Sausalito, Calif. The author described the census as "a comprehensive intelligence operation which has strategic military significance." He said census data will be coded in a massive computer. "This means that with lightning speed any black person in the United States can be located by house number, street, block side, city, state," he said.

"Thus, in a matter of minutes, the precise location of all black communities in the country can be relayed to any organization that might request it — like, say, the U. S. Army. This data will make instant pogroms and complete or partial extermination or concentration camp detention of blacks something easily accomplished and centrally coordinated," the article added.

Whether this inflammatory point of view has penetrated the North Carolina black community is unknown, but is regarded as unlikely — certainly to any significant degree.

A black businessman and leader in Raleigh said he was unaware of any intentional resistance to the census among blacks. Rather, he said, it is recognized that blacks have a substantial stake in accurate census information since population count is a vital factor in funding programs which benefit them.

However, he said, it is obvious that many blacks because of lack of training or mistrust of the establishment need assistance in responding to the census. What is called for, he suggested, is a fully coordinated and implemented effort to reach the black community.

In the East, where preliminary reports caused consternation because of local officials felt the count was incomplete, it has been murmured that many census takers threw up their hands when they came to black districts. There have been reports that whole sections of a town or county went uncounted because the enumerators were hesitant to tackle the job.

Mrs. Therese H. Ramsey, statistical analyst with the state planning division, advised patience on the part of local officials alarmed over preliminary census reports. The preliminary figures are minimums, she said, which will be revised upward on the basis of screenings to locate any uncounted population.

Census Bureau officials have said these revisions to be made before official figures are released later this year will add from one to five per cent to the preliminary figures in many cases.

dless of the need, then we think it is time to be concerned.

In a few months Pitt voters will have to decide on a $9 million bond issue for additions to Pitt Memorial Hospital and anyone who has had any dealings with the hospital recently knows that the added facilities are already needed. It would be regrettable, indeed, if a negativism were to carry over and defeat this important issue, also.

Public officials get much criticism when new taxes are proposed; yet in most cases the planning they are doing will result in long range savings to the local tax payer. There is a good chance, for instance, that if the hospital bonds are voted, financial assistance will be coming from state, federal and other sources so that the cost to Pitt County tax payers will be cut considerably. When outside funds become available, however, nothing can be done if the initial funds have not been approved by the voters.

A good example is the revenue bonds approved by local voters for Utilities expansion of the water treatment plant, sewage disposal plant and other projects. The Utilities Commission immediately made application for federal funds and only this week it was announced that a $376,000 grant had been approved by the Federal Water Quality Administration. This is expected to be followed up by other grants to total $1,378,000. If approval of local funds had been put off until the water and sewer needs became critical, a crash program would have been needed and the citizens would have wound up bearing the entire cost.

Every citizen has the right to choose which bond issues or tax referendums he feels are most needed. However, voting down everything that comes along will mean that our needs are going to pile up and ultimately they will have to be handled at great additional cost to the taxpayers.

Greenville, based on preliminary census figures, is going to show perhaps the greatest percentage growth of any eastern city. Pitt County is one of the few eastern counties to show a population increase. This means that our needs are growing, too. They are going to have to be taken care of through careful planning, taking advantage of all outside funds; or else through crash programs in education, medical care and other areas which will mean much higher costs to local citizens.

Nixon's Secret Peace Efforts

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON —

Mohammed Riad, a high-level troubleshooter in the Egyptian office, slipped into town last Friday (June 26) for secret talks with U. S. officials on President Nixon's new Middle East peace plan.

Not only was Riad's presence here not announced; it was the subject of unofficial denials. This secrecy of the Egyptian's visit underlines the drastic, almost revolutionary change of direction in the President's new approach to the volcanic Israeli-Arab dispute.

The heart of that new approach is secret diplomacy. Until recently, the Israelis probably would have known of Riad's visit before the Egyptians themselves. Coupled with this secret diplomacy is a hard determination, in the words of one top Nixon strategist, "not to play the role of Israel's attorney." Thus, the new approach is filled with domestic political danger, considering the strength of Israel's allies here.

In keeping with this new and secretive approach, there is reason to believe that not even the Israeli government itself knows for a fact what new aircraft, if any, Mr. Nixon may be prepared to sell Israel if his new peace plan flows. The matter of aircraft, which never should have publicly surfaced as a specific Israeli request in the first place, is being handled here as a potent bargaining card in the Nixon plan to get talks started between the two sides.

In the past, an Israeli request for military help from the U.S. was handled in Washington as though it had divine inspiration. Mr. Nixon has signalled the end of that highly special relationship for one reason: it was inexorably corroding U.S. influence among the Arab states and, as a consequence, elevating Soviet power and prestige at an alarming rate.

Thus, before the Middle East volcano erupts into a military showdown between the U. S. and the Soviet Union, Mr. Nixon has to prove what he has been claiming ever since he sent William Scranton on a pre-inauguration Middle East tour. His claim is that his new Administration really intends to fulfill Scranton's promise of an "evenhanded" policy between Israel and the Arab states.

If he can do that, the President has a chance — admittedly, a slender chance — for a political solution that would starkly limit Soviet influence.

That chance is partly based on new diplomatic readings that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser is himself deeply worried over his new and total dependence on Moscow (as we first reported from Cairo last winter). If true, Nasser may now be far more eager to start talks — direct or indirect — with Jerusalem than he is willing to admit.

Moreover, another and even more ominous political development in the Arab world is believed here to be pushing Nasser toward serious peace talks with Israel. That development is the steadily growing political and military power of the autonomous commando organizations composed of Arab refugees from what is now Israel and the Israeli-occupied West Bank of the Jordan.

CHURCH IN THE HOME
"Paul... unto Philemon our dearly beloved, and fellow labourer... and to the church in thy house." Thus begins a letter of the Apostle Paul to one of his followers. By "the church in thy house" he meant the meetings of Christians which were then held in private homes.

The family unit is the heart of the world. Raise children with loving care, with tender affection, with a sense of family responsibility, with a feeling of "belonging," and as the family is put in order, so the nation will be put in order, and eventually the world also. The real tragedy of broken homes is not that they are broken but that the damage cannot be mended, that the children are grown and moulded and gone forever.

Religion is the heart of the family. A family that can hope together when dark days come, that can offer up thanks for daily blessings, that can kneel in devotion and prayer in the morning and in the evening — that family has something even more binding than love and security. Paul referred to a physical "church in thy house," but in these days it is imperative for world peace that each family look to "the church in thy house."

GOP Steals Christmas

WASHINGTON — The Democrats won't say it publicly, but they're not too happy about the Republicans stealing the Fourth of July. While the "Honor America Day" celebration in Washington has been advertised as nonpartisan, any professional politician knows that when the American public sees Billy Graham, Bob Hope and Lawrence Welk on the platform, the Nixon Administration will be the only ones enjoying the fireworks.

An official of the Democratic National Committee said, "I can't blame the Republicans for what they've done. The Fourth of July has been around for a long time, and we never thought to do anything with it. All we ever considered it was just a national holiday."

"But if you believe the Republicans stole the Fourth of July, why did the Democrats join the celebration committee?" "The Republicans sandbagged us. They invited us to join and had we refused, it would have looked as if we were spitting on Mom's apple pie. How can any politician in this country come out against the Fourth of July?"

"What makes you think the Republicans will try to cash in on the Fourth of July?" "Nothing I can put my finger on, but the other day I was up at the Capitol for a flag-raising ceremony and after the U. S. Marine Band played 'The Star Spangled Banner,' I overheard Congressman Gerry Ford whisper to Sen. Hugh Scott, 'They're playing our song.' 'It sounds like you did get sandbagged,' I said.

"We can't do anything about the Fourth of July any more," he said sadly. "But what we're starting to worry about is Christmas."

"You don't think the Republicans would steal Christmas?" I said aghast. "It's in the works already. Bing Crosby and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale have been asked to head the 'Keep Christmas in America' committee, which is supposed to bring Americans together on Christmas morning."

"But it's too cold to hold a rally on the Washington Mall on Christmas morning," I protested.

"This one will be on television. The plan is to have Martha Mitchell and Atty. Gen. Mitchell read from 'A Christmas Carol,' and David Eisenhower has agreed to play Tiny Tim. To make it bipartisan, they've asked the Democrats to supply someone to play Scrooge."

"I can't believe it." "You can't, huh? Then why has Spiro Agnew been secretly rehearsing 'Silent Night' with the Mormon Tabernacle Choir?"

"I didn't know that." "We also have confirmation that the Walt Disney people are building a huge manger at the winter White House in Key Biscayne, where the President is expected to speak."

"The way you describe it, this could even be bigger than 'Honor America Day.'" "If the Republicans grab both the Fourth of July and Christmas," my informant said, "it's going to be tough for the Democrats to ever come back."

Sincerely yours,

Empty Right 'Won'

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — You can lead me to McSorley's, but you can't make me drink.

Far be it from me to sneer at the efforts of those women who finally broke the 115-year-old sex barrier at McSorley's Old Ale House in Greenwich Village.

They've won the right to stand in the sawdust, belly up to the bar and quaff their ale with the men.

What puzzles me is why they'd want this somewhat dubious privilege.

Women are never really at their best in bars.

Try perching on a bar stool. Chances are your legs aren't long enough. Hoist yourself up anyway. With the midl, there isn't too much peril to modesty.

Now find a place to put your purse. Before all you militants do away with that little feminine frippery you'll have to find a place to carry the money with which you'll independently pay for your own drinks.

Put the purse on the floor and you can't reach it. Put it on the bar and get a sneering, "Lady, I gotta serve drinks here. Move that thing." Put it in your lap and it falls into the sawdust.

The art of drinking isn't much easier. That hearty mug of ale — no fair cheating and ordering an apricot brandy sour — is designed for male mitts, not feminine fingers. And nothing looks sillier than a ale drinker who hoists the mug with two fists.

If you're looking for conversation, the bar ain't the place.

What about eavesdropping on those tales of woe poured out to the bartender, legendary amateur psychiatrist? Close your eyes, imagine the voices are an octave higher and you might as well be at the beauty parlor listening to Mrs. Jones regale her hairdresser.

Entertainment means television, preferably two sets, each tuned to a different sports event. Don't try to listen. Just grunt with the crowd.

If this is freedom to the feminists, they can have it. I'll slither off my stool remembering the words of Aesop: "Better beans and bacon in peace, than cakes and ale in fear." Or in a liberated saloon.

Opinions In Brief

No matter how firm a following the administration might gain with a coalition of the "silent majority" and the South, it cannot write off the campus young or the intellectual community. Nor would it want to. For a political victory at the polls would be worthless without a governable land — which further campus turmoil could lead to. — Christian Science Monitor.

Confusion In Business Jargon

By ELMER ROESSNER
You may not be able to tell the players without a scorecard or a live television set. Furthermore, you can't tell what's going on in business without a glossary. If you don't know what ecology is, you may be out of business for having a smoky chimney or releasing noxious effluents into a nearby stream.

But — look at your watch! — the world moves beyond those words in minutes. This week you must know what the science of ekistics is, or what a baud is, or be left behind in the business race.

Ekistics is the study of human settlement, according to Kaiser Aluminum. It reports that cities cannot be planned, but must be guided along scientifically determined channels of development. Kaiser suggests that shelter of the future may use new shapes such as domes and spheres instead of "little boxes" for living in. Ah, copocetic!

A Baud Is A Baud

The flood of new words into modern business is so great that Salmon Brothers and Hutzler of Wall Street have issued a data communications glossary. And if you have passed ekistics, you may be ready for baud, which has no relationship to the Shakespearean word "bawd," meaning "whore," but, according to the dignified S. B. & H., now a unit of signalling speed.

This is not to be confused with "Baudot Code," a name for the transmission of data in which five bits represent one character. It is named for Emile Baudot, a pioneer in printing telegraphy.

S. B. & H. also defines "buffer," a storage device used to compensate for a difference in rate of flow of data or time of occurrence of events, when transmitting from one device to another.

It also defines demodulation which, of course, is the process of retrieving an original signal from a modulated carrier wave. "This technique is used in data sets to make communication signals compatible with business machine signals," one of the Salmons explains.

The Elite Language
"Digital signals" are not the first reactions to a nip of digitalis but the glossary explains, are "signals which can assume certain discrete values." This should not be confused with "discreet values" of a private secretary. She must be a "storage," which is defined as "a general term for any device capable of retaining information."

There are many more. A "volatile display" is the non-permanent image appearing on the screen of a visual display terminal. A "word" in telegraphy is six characters plus one space and a "modem" is a modulator-demodulator, "a device which modulates and demodulates signals transmitted over communication facilities."

And a "throughput" — well, everybody knows what that is.

If these new terms baffle you, you are undoubtedly not fit for business success today and your best hope is to go back to college for four years.

Of course, when you come out, business will be using a brand new set of terms, such as "nitty-gritty" and "up-tight" and you'll have to go back to Harvard for four years more.

Sees Rebellion Over Welfare

RALEIGH (AP) — Welfare Commissioner Clifton Craig has described as a "revolt" the failure of seven counties to appropriate sufficient funds for their share of the costs of next year's welfare programs in North Carolina.

Craig said Tuesday a number of other counties which have not yet submitted their 1970-71 budgets appear to be planning similar action.

He said it was a matter for the Social Services Board to decide what to do about the holdout counties.

Craig declined to name the seven because he said he hoped to work out the situation.

Thirty-six counties have not yet submitted their budgets for welfare programs for the 1970-71 fiscal year and 48 have failed to submit administrative budgets, he noted.

Craig said, "It's probably those budgets we have not received that represent the real problem and that's the reason they were not submitted on time."

The federal government, he noted, requires that welfare programs in various states be uniform. North Carolina could be faced with a cutoff in federal funds unless the counties provide their share. The federal funds make up the bulk of the organizations now threaten Nasser's preeminence as the most potent single voice in the Arab world, steadily undermining his power to play the leading role in peace talks with Israel.

If, for example, the Palestinian commandos had actually seized power from King Hussein in Jordan's war within a war two weeks ago, Nasser's negotiating power would have been fatally diminished. That prospect is not only still open; it grows every day.

On the Israeli side, Mr. Nixon's Middle Eastern experts are hoping the shock effect of his new policy will make the government of Prime Minister Golda Meir more interested in withdrawing from Arab lands seized in the six-day war. The answer to that question is locked inside the divided Israeli cabinet, but President Nixon is hopeful for one reason: Israel would much prefer a political settlement based on a U.S. plan than on a joint U.S.-Soviet plan.

Senate Approves Postal Reform Bill

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate agreed today to fatten every mailman's wallet and create an independent take over operation of the ancient and deficit-plagued Post Office Department.

The postal reform bill, passed 76 to 10 in a post-midnight vote, now goes to a conference committee to resolve differences with a similar bill previously passed by the House.

A U.S. Postal Service would replace the present Cabinet-level Post Office Department under the sweeping reorganization plan that, in its broad outlines, carries out recommendations of President Nixon.

Postal workers also will receive an 8 per cent pay raise.

The new agency, run by a board of governors appointed by the President and subject to Senate confirmation, would have control over postal rates, negotiate pay scales with employ unions, and could issue up to $10 billion in bonds for modernization of post offices and equipment.

The Senate bill, unlike the House bill, would not give Congress a veto over increases in postal rates.

The 8 per cent pay raise, initially costing $645 million, is part of an agreement worked out by Postmaster General Winston M. Blount last April to end a strike by postal workers.

It is on top of a 6 per cent pay increase for all federal employes voted by Congress earlier in the year. The Senate adopted, 73 to 14, an amendment by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., to make it retroactive to April 16 as in the House bill.

Blount's agreement with the postal unions also provided they could negotiate for union shop agreements—a form of compulsory unionism—subject to state right-to-work laws.

The House refused to include such a provision in its bill, and the issue stirred a major dispute in the Senate.

An amendment by Sen. Paul J. Fannin, R-Ariz., providing that postal employes should have the right to join or refrain from joining a union, was defeated by voice vote.

Earlier, on a test vote forced by Javits, the Senate had upheld 52 to 38 authority for the new postal service to negotiate closed shop agreements.

Also in the Senate bill is an amendment by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to make it unlawful to send sex-oriented advertising through the mails to persons who have notified the Post Office Department they don't want to receive it.

The House has passed a separate and almost identical bill but not as part of its postal reform measure.

Another difference: The House measure requires the postal service to operate on a self-sustaining basis by 1978. The Senate provides for appropriation of up to 10 per cent of postal operating costs as a subsidy for public service charges.

Eure Dubious Over New Responsibility

RALEIGH (AP) — Secretary of State Thad Eure says a proposal to place the Board of Elections under his office "could raise questions of conflict of interest."

"An elected official should not be a party in any way to canvassing his own vote," Eure said in an interview Tuesday.

The bipartisan elections board is now an independent agency appointed by the governor. The shift of the board is proposed in a framework for reorganization of state government.

It will be studied by a subcommittee of the Governor's Committee on the reorganization of State Government. A study staff directed by State Sen.

John Henley of Cumberland drew up the proposed framework.

Eure said he expressed his views on the proposed change when he was approached about it by Sen. Henley.

"Any plan to move the elections board to my office — as long as I'm here — wouldn't have my approval," he added.

The reorganization committee is studying a proposal that would create 12 cabinet-level departments and eliminate many of the present 317 state boards, agencies and commissions. The plan also would retain the present eight elected Council of State officers, including the secretary of state.

First Lady's Mission To Peru Is Personal, Diplomatic Success

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — First Lady Pat Nixon came home from Peru with compliments for a goodwill relief mission described as diplomatically and personally successful.

She said she hoped it would focus worldwide attention on the needs of 800,000 people homeless since a May 31 earthquake.

"They have a lot of courage and will and I know they will recover with the help of the people in this country and throughout the world," she said on her arrival Tuesday.

Mrs. Nixon noted the U.S. may have competition in relief aid, referring to rumblings of international rivalry in the effort. But, she said, "That's good. I don't mind that kind of competition."

Mrs. Nixon won thanks and praise from Peruvian officials, from President Nixon and from the refugees she went to console in the devastated high valleys of the Andes.

It was a mission such as no other first lady ever had undertaken. And President Nixon jokingly suggested: "We will now have invitations for her to represent us in other places, too."

Sounding out the diplomatic reactions in Lima, U.S. Ambassador Taylor G. Belcher said the trip was "a tremendous success" and "would certainly improve the some what at strained diplomatic relations between the two countries. "It can't help but help," he added.

President Nixon, welcoming his wife home, said her journey had been "in effect, people speaking to people, despite differences between governments" and "we should have more of it."

Mrs. Nixon reported the earthquake disaster was of a magnitude she could scarcely believe—"just whole valleys destroyed."

She told reporters flying home with her she was horrified at the thought of "all those people there with loved ones still buried under the rubble. It would be a horrible sensation to be there walking over the ground."

The three-day trip also launched a warm relationship with Peru's first lady, Consuelo Velasco, who was Mrs. Nixon's traveling companion and heads the Peru National Volunteer Relief Organization.

Atlantic City Boardwalk Now 100 Years Old

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — On June 26, 1970, the famous Atlantic City boardwalk will be 100 years old.

Each year 15 million vacationers and conventioners tread the five miles of boardwalk, chewing on something called salt water taffy and shopping in an array of stores featuring everything from handkerchiefs to $100 hats and from postcards to platinum mink.

At Needlecraft, a chic women's shop featuring original knits, they recall Mike Todd getting down on his knees to propose to Elizabeth Taylor. Her answer at the time goes unrecorded, but her later reply is history.

Just for the fun of it, Milton Berle pretended to be a salesman at Harrold's, a haberdashery for men and women. He rang up several laughs, but no sales.

The sights and sounds in the shops and on the Boardwalk inspired Thornton Wilder to create the Atlantic City scene in "The Skin of Our Teeth."

Watching the foot traffic from her hotel window, Edna Ferber wrote "Ice Palace," a novel about Alaska, and "Giant," a novel about Texas.

The destination for many strollers is the huge Convention Hall. Sprawling over seven acres, it has 325,000 square feet of exhibit space and the world's largest auditorium, with a seating capacity of 35,000 persons. A new West Hall addition to the building will open in December of this year adding another 200,000 square feet of exhibit space.

Since the $15-million structure was opened in 1929—a year not remembered for sound economic investments—the Hall has played host to over 3,000 events ranging from undertakers' conventions to a ping-pong tournament, from the annual Miss America finals to national political conventions.

Shortly after Convention Hall opened and the Depression hit the nation, a Philadelphian, Charles B. Darrow, drew upon his many pleasant visits to Atlantic City in designing the most successful parlor game in history, "Monopoly."

The most expensive property on the "Monopoly" board—the last stop before passing "go" and collecting $200—is Boardwalk. The long ribbon of lumber has not always occupied such a lofty perch. Indeed, when the City Fathers authorized $5,000 to build the original boardwalk in 1870, the nation's real estate men paid little mind to it. They were too busy discussing the pros and cons of the proposed $7.2 million deal to buy Alaska.

Jacob Keim, a hotelkeeper, complained to Atlantic City officials that because they cleared away sand dunes in front of his hotel, ocean tides swept over the marshland in front of the place inconveniencing his guests. At the same time, Alexander Boardman, a railroad conductor, objected to the fact that homebound visitors dirtied his train with sand in their shoes. It was clear some sort of walkway had to be created.

That first boardwalk was a mile long, eight-feet wide, and elevated about a foot off the sand. It was constructed in eight-foot sections and, after the summer, dismantled and carted to a barn where it was stored for $17 a year. In 1876, the boardwalk was the site of the first Easter Parade, and although widely imitated, it continues to be an Atlantic City institution.

The second boardwalk was built in 1879, but was quickly wrecked by a severe storm in 1883. During the storm, David Bradley, a seaside candy vendor, had his taffy ruined by the tidal waters. The next day, he dubbed his product "salt water taffy." More than four million pounds are sold yearly and both salt and water remain among the ingredients.

The boardwalk was rebuilt in 1884. It was wrecked in 1889 and the fourth boardwalk—a monument to persistence—was dedicated in 1890.

The devastating hurricane of 1944 forced such extensive repairs that an almost complete new boardwalk resulted—five miles long, 60 feet wide, and maintained at a cost of $100,000 per year, 20 times the cost of erecting the original boardwalk.

Is it worth it? A popular tune from another era says so: "On the Boardwalk in Atlantic City life will be peaches and cream."

Arab Handicraft Co-Op Set Up

TEL AVIV (AP) — Twenty-four Arab women of the occupied West Bank of Jordan have recently formed a handicraft cooperative—the first such venture to be tried by West Bank women.

The women, all trained in sewing and handicrafts in an Israeli Labor Ministry course, have raised enough funds to rent production quarters, and are negotiating with several companies for orders.

3 Injured In 2 Collisions

Three persons were reported injured in two traffic collisions investigated here yesterday.

Police reported James Earl Staton, 27 of 606 Ward St. was injured when the car he was driving collided with a vehicle driven by Louis Artis Smith, of 603 Roosevelt Ave.

Damage was set at $50 to the Smith car and $200 to the Staton vehicle.

Smith was charged with driving under the influence following investigation of the mishap, which occurred about 8:15 p.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Ford Streets.

Theodore Ludwig Manoly, 24, of Congers, N.Y. and a passenger in his car were reported injured in a 10-15 a.m. collision at the intersection of N.C. 11 and the Airport Road.

Police reported the Manoly auto collided with a vehicle driven by Clyde Cecil Casper Jr., 35, of Route 1, Winterville, causing an estimated $300 damage to the Manoly car and about $1,000 damage to the Casper vehicle.

Police charged Casper with failing to reduce his speed enough to avoid an accident.

An aulos was an ancient Greek double pipe wind instrument.

Movie-Goers Puzzled By Unbridled License

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
"HOLLYWOOD (AP) — How much farther can the movies go?

That question has been asked ever since the film companies started latching onto the sex revolution and throwing the self-censorship guidelines out the window. Each season has brought a new wave of what a Catholic critic has deplorably termed "moral brinkmanship."

"How can they get away with it?" puzzle movie goers who remember when married couples couldn't even share a bed in films.

The question now seems useless. It is no longer a question of "getting away with it." The one-time Production Code appears reduced to the function of determining which films are too gaudy to be seen by minors. Consider the case of "Myra Breckinridge." One of the major scenes in the Gore Vidal novel depicted the sex-changing Myra committing an act of sodomy with a brawny actor.

"You can't film that," the scoffers said. But 20th Century-Fox did. With Raquel Welch. In living color.

Many other sexual acts between persons of varying sexes are displayed in the film. This is the movie that Jack Valenti, president of the Motion Picture Producers, gave an unprecedented endorsement. In handing "Myra Breckinridge" an X rating, he remarked:

"I personally found the film a very funny spoof, but a picture children should not see."

Other reviewers weren't as kind. Daily Variety's Arthur Murphy called the film "strictly exploitation novelty material of dubious taste." The Los Angeles Times' Champlin called it "putrescence."

Producer Paul Monash of "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid" jumped into the affair and said such films gave Hollywood the reputation of being a purveyor of "unredeemed filth." He called for Valenti's resignation "unless he can feel the need to exert some moral leadership in the industry."

Another 20th Century-Fox film was released in the same week, "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls." Critic Champlin called it "a treat for the emotionally retarded, sexually inadequate and dimwitted," adding:

"The Zanucks, man and boy, ought to have their studio washed out with soap."

Ladybugs Help Remove Pests

SEATTLE (AP) — Ecological interest ran rampant in the Seattle Times city room recently when newsman Jim Heckman portioned out 100,000 ladybugs to fellow workers who preferred the insects to use of pesticides.

Ladybugs eat aphids and other plant-destroying insects. Heckman ordered his to deal with garden problems on which he didn't want to use a pesticide. Before ordering he posted a notice on the city room bulletin board for anyone else interested.

A number of colleagues responded, and Heckman wound up sending $410 to a California firm for the ladybugs, then distributing them to his co-workers. His major problem at that point, he said, turned out to be packaging.

Raleigh Has Another Statue Of Geo. Washington

By H. G. JONES
N.C. Dept. Archives & History
Written for the AP

RALEIGH (AP)—Recent publicity over Canova's statue of George Washington brings to mind the story of another statue at the Capitol in Raleigh, also a likeness of Washington.

It is in bronze and is copied from an original in marble which is in the Capitol of Virginia at Richmond. The original was done by Jean Antoine Houdon, who was selected for the job by Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin. Our copy in North Carolina was made by

J. W. Hubbard, and its dedication on Capitol Square was a part of the Fourth of July celebration in 1857.

The observance began with a sunrise service at the Presbyterian Church across from the square, followed by a mid-morning parade from the Courthouse to the Capitol and into the House of Representatives where the Declaration of Independence was read. Militia units and public officials, including Gov. Thomas Bragg, participated. The festivities continued with a traditional fireworks display on Nash Square and the usual

Fourth of July orations.

Although the Houdon marble statue had been finished in Paris in 1788, the Virginia capitol was not completed until 1796. In 1851 the Virginia Legislature, fearing damage or loss of the statue, authorized a "security copy" in bronze from J. W. Hubbard who had a foundry just outside Richmond.

A copy was made and sent to Virginia Military Institute in Lexington, and Hubbard was authorized to keep his mold for seven years and then destroy it. In 1854 North Carolina State Sen. and former Gov. William

A. Graham introduced a bill for purchase of a copy of the statue for the rotunda of the North Carolina Capitol. Final authorization came from the 1856 Legislature, and Gov. Bragg and Hubbard began correspondence which lasted through most of the year.

There was some criticism of the statue which the local newspaper attempted to placate. Apparently some were offended because the father of the country looked too young—this was not the man they had "almost worshiped." The editor pointed out that Houdon had taken a cast of Washington's face at Mount Vernon in 1784 when he was 54 years old. People tended to remember him, however, from paintings done near the end of his life in 1799. Claiming Washington as a man for all ages, the editor thought age 54 could appeal to the old, the mature, and "even the young."

Hubbard's suggestion that the statue be placed on the capitol grounds rather than in the rotunda was accepted, but arguments developed between the governor and the artist over landscaping. Bragg sent plans for a flower garden setting, which Hubbard scorned as fit only for palaces and villas, envisioning wide spaces and walks under the stately trees where benches could be placed. Hubbard's plans called for a sloping elevation of the grounds; Bragg decreed steps leading to the statue. The governor wanted to make room for water closets in the area, Hubbard said the only possible solution would be "lodges" on either side of the gate at the edge of the square, but he saw no reason why they couldn't be placed across the street. He further complained that places for toilets and fuel should have been provided in the vaults in the basement of the original plans for the Capitol.

The railing which Hubbard had designed for the statue did not arrive in Raleigh until several months after the statue's dedication. So, on that day, 113 years ago the likeness of President Washington stood without benefit of railing, head uncovered, sword on the left, cane in the right hand, to express his belief in the subordination of the military to civil power; and the fasces and plowshare by his side—one representing authority, power, and honor; the other, the peaceful arts.

Hubbard worried that the Scottish stone mason wouldn't cut the granite pedestal just right. The governor became agitated about mounting costs and refused to order a bronze shield with the state seal for the front of the pedestal. He complained about the transportation costs of the statue. Hubbard patiently explained that, in order to get the statue to Raleigh in time for the Fourth of July celebration, he had sent the bronze by the mail train, not a slow freight train and that he had to provide all the men to guard it from Richmond to Raleigh. By this time the cost, which had been planned at around $10,000, had already exceeded $15,000.

The indomitable Hubbard was mortified by complaints about the cost of the statue, but he assured the governor that the legislature and the people would be happy with the results when they saw the total picture of the beautiful statue, its railing, and the improved grounds. Many years later the area around the statue was relandscaped to provide the sloping elevation prescribed earlier by the caster.

Today the copy of the Houdon statue continues to stand guard over the south entrance of the State Capitol, facing down Fayetteville Street.

Experts From Several States Will Be Speaking

Medical experts from several states will be the featured speakers this year at the 20th annual Institute on Tuberculosis and Other Respiratory Diseases to be held at the Blue Ridge Assembly in Black Mountain from July 6-9.

Attending from Greenville will be Mrs. Ruth H. Peterson, executive director of the Eastern Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, and Miss Jacquelyn Norris, program director.

In addition, two representatives from the Pitt County Health Department, Mrs. Violet Jones and Mrs. Louise Schlegel, will attend the sessions.

This year's theme, "Risks, Remedies and Respiratory Diseases," will be keynoteed by Dr. Joseph B. Stocklen, controller of chronic illness and tuberculosis for Cuyahoga County in Cleveland, Ohio.

The institute is co-sponsored by eight North Carolina agencies and is expected to attract some 300 health, welfare, rehabilitation, and TB Association workers.

Other primary speakers will include Dr. Wilbur J. Steinger, medical director of the North Carolina Sanatorium at McCain; Mary Louise Atkinson, R.N., assistant chief of evaluation services at the Tuberculosis Branch of the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta; and Dr. W. Paul Glezen, associate professor of pediatrics at North Carolina Memorial Hospital in Chapel Hill.

Principal addresses will be followed by discussion groups, and a final panel discussion to answer questions from the health directors, DVR personnel, nurses and TB Association personnel.

Little Magic Box For Future Homes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Someday, no home may be complete without Dr. George E. Mueller's little magic box.

It would play wake-up music in the morning and report the news while preparing the family breakfast and delivering it to the bedside.

It also would telephone for a taxi to get the man of the house to work, do the family grocery shopping, handle the family finances and give advice on the stock market, among other things.

So far the box only exists in the imagination of Dr. Mueller, vice president of General Dynamics and former head of manned space operations for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA). But he predicts it might be reality by the year 2000.

The heart of the wonder gadget, estimated by Mueller to cost about $1,000 each, would be a small central processor, perhaps an inch wide, an inch deep, and two inches long.

Technical Developments

Mueller said the idea occurred to him while he was preparing a series of lectures on space to be delivered at an international seminar in Australia in August.

He concluded there was no reason why technical developments already known and used by NASA shouldn't be wedded to other concepts still on the drawing board to make life easier for housewives.

He acknowledged his dream might not be wholly pleasing to everyone. A broker whose advice ran counter to that of the magic box might be miffed. But Mueller was certain this would be offset by the housewife's pleasure with the cube.

Embedded in a display console no bigger than a television set, it would have a high-speed memory of about 10,000 words, a memory for voice commands, a circuit for recorded messages, and a tape recorder that could store several days of designated programs.

That would be only the beginning.

Store Information

The housewife could tell the computer what music she wants to hear and TV programs she wants to watch during the day, and store the information for delivery when requested.

When her husband is ready to leave for work, the computer would order a taxi, and stay on the job until there was assurance that the cab was en route.

Grocery shopping would be revolutionized. The hard-working housewife would dial her supermarket and, with the aid of the computer's compressed information and a remote TV unit, select the food she wants and load it on an automatic shopping cart tagged with her name and address.

An automatically computed bill would be submitted on the TV screen for her approval, then charged to her account and credited to the grocer's at the local bank.

After ordering the groceries, the housewife could dial her favorite shop and select a new dress from those shown on the TV screen. It would be charged to her account and delivered before sundown.

The electronic cube would provide the man of the house with a running account of his personal finances, and with current and past information about his stocks. Their performance would be analyzed and forecast, and orders to buy or sell would be honored.

The computer could keep a current account of his tax situation, advise him how to avoid tax liabilities, and pay his taxes—as it would his wife's grocery bill—when they come due. The magic box could even evaluate the market and predict the action of his competition.

2 Birchers Are Elected

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two Republicans have won election victories which make them the only acknowledged members of the ultraconservative John Birch Society in Congress.

John Rousset and John Schmitz racked up winning margins of more than 2 to 1 in Tuesday's special election to the unexpired terms of two Southern California GOP congressmen who died this year.

The losing Democrats, making their first tries for public office, were David N. Hartman, a political science professor, and Myrtle Evers, 37, widow of Medgar Evers, the Mississippi civil rights leader assassinated in 1963.

Voter turnout in the solidly Republican districts was small, about 30 per cent of the eligibles in each.

Rousset and Mrs. Evers will reappear on the November general election ballot vying for a full two-year term beginning in January.

Schmitz will oppose Thomas Lenhart, a Democratic businessman, in November.

The four were nominated in the June 2 primary.

For the unexpired terms, Rousset and Schmitz replace two veteran, conservative Republicans, Glenard Lipscomb in the 24th and James Utt in the 35th.

"My son Stevie has diabetes. That makes him a pretty bad risk in anybody's book."

Diabetes. That means being careful about food, drink, and taking the proper medicine. It also means regular visits to the doctor. And if complications occur, a hospital stay—and more bills. To an insurance company, it means a bad risk. But to Blue Cross and Blue Shield, diabetes means someone to protect.

When Stevie's dad took out a Blue Cross and Blue Shield family certificate, he knew Stevie would be covered from the minute he was born. With a Blue Cross and Blue Shield family certificate, you, your wife and newborn children are covered—whether they become bad risks or not. We won't cancel your coverage no matter how often you use it, even if you have a serious disease.

At nineteen, Stevie will have to convert to his own Blue Cross and Blue Shield certificate. And we won't cancel then, either. And at age sixty-five he'll be eligible for Medicare, and the Blue Cross and Blue Shield supplemental 65 plan. So, he'll be covered for life. No, we don't mind taking the risks. After all, that's what we're here for.

Crime Bill Vote Is Due

WASHINGTON (AP)—An administration-backed bill to authorize $3.2 billion for state and local law enforcement headed today for expected passage in the Senate after the House approved it 342-2.

One-quarter of the funds—which would be spread over three years—would go to improve jails and prisons.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has called the bill the administration's major program to reduce lawlessness, although the expanding program was begun in the previous administration.

The bill, which the House passed Tuesday, would authorize $650 million for the fiscal year starting today, $1 billion for fiscal 1972, and $1.5 billion for 1973. Actual appropriations might be less.

Local agencies would have to put up some of their own money to qualify for federal grants, and states must put up 25 per cent of the local share.

State governments—often criticized as favoring rural areas over cities—will distribute the funds, but must allocate "adequate" money to high-crime cities.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices drifted downward today in slow trading.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 0.27 at 683.26 at 11 a.m.

Declines took a slight lead over advances among the issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Among the large blocks crossing the Big Board ticker tape were 87,000 shares of International Telephone at 34, down ½; 69,000 of IT&T preferred at 42½, down ¾; 15,000 of Johnson & Johnson at 46, off ¾; and 40,800 of Mead Corp., at 11, down 1½.

Prices on the Big Board included Penn Central, down ¾ to 6; Chrysler, off ¼ at 17¾; Twentieth Century Fox, down 1½ at 6¾; National General, ahead 1 at 10; General Motors, down ¾ to 61¾; and IBM, up ¾ at 250¾.

Meat Import Quota Hiked

By DON KENDALL, AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has opened the door a little wider for increased imports of meat, but the unprecedented move is not expected to alter hamburger prices much.

About 78 million pounds of additional meat will be allowed in the United States this year under the action announced Tuesday by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin.

Cattlemen were pleased the increase was not larger and Hardin himself said the extra meat would do little to ease retail prices for consumers.

Most of the imported meat is beef from Australia and New Zealand. A large share of the increase already has arrived in the United States, Hardin told a news conference.

The administration had been under pressure for many months from consumer interests to make more imported meat available to help head off the kind of retail price crunch that hit housewives last summer.

Government statisticians say the average over-the-counter price of hamburger was 66.3 cents a pound in April and 66.7 cents in May. The price was 61.2 cents in May 1969.

But Hardin said the boosts in meat imports just won't be enough to stem any increase in consumer costs.

ECU President's Salary Boosted

A salary increase for ECU president Dr. Leo Jenkins was among a large number of increases granted for key state personnel by the Advisory Budget Commission Monday.

Dr. Jenkins annual salary was set at $33,000. He had been making $30,000 annually.

The highest salary went to William C. Friday, president of the Consolidated University. His salary was increased from $38,850 to $42,000.

The officials' pay raises are handled by the Advisory Budget Commission because they do not come under the State Personnel Act as do most state employees.

Split During Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett Jordan voted with the majority Tuesday as the Senate passed 58-37 the Cooper-Church amendment which seeks to restrict future United States military operations in Cambodia. The other senator from North Carolina, Sam Ervin, also a Democrat, voted against it.

They also split on a measure by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., which would have eased restrictions in the Cooper-Church amendment on U. S. financial support of troops of other nations fighting in Cambodia. The Griffin measure was defeated 50-45, with Sen. Jordan voting against it and Sen. Ervin voting for it.

Ervin and Jordan voted with the Senate majority which overrode 76-19 President Nixon's veto of hospital construction legislation.

Service Academies See Enrollments Set Record

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN, AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Student opposition to the Vietnam war apparently has not dimmed the drawing power of the nation's three service academies; they report the highest enrollment in history this year.

Total enrollment is expected to reach 12,848 and incoming freshmen classes will include a record number of Negroes and other minority group members. The increased enrollment dates back to 1961 and reflects the desire of the late President John F. Kennedy to significantly bolster the strength of both West Point and the Air Force Academy.

Three years later, President Lyndon B. Johnson signed legislation increasing the cadet strength of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point and the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., from 2,529 to about 4,500—the authorized enrollment level of the brigade of midshipmen at Annapolis.

The Naval Academy's enrollment was higher because it had fewer Reserve Officer Training Corps detachments on the nation's campuses to train officers.

For the first time in its 168-year history, West Point now has a cadet strength of more than 4,000 with this week's arrival of the class of 1974.

At the Air Force Academy, 1,438 freshmen—the largest in the school's 15-year history—join 2,713 upper classmen. The Navy said it expects a class of 4,400 and total enrollment of 4,517.

Opposition to the Vietnam war apparently had little effect on the service academies' search for cadets.

The Air Force said more than 6,000—the largest ever—applied for admission. The Army examined about 6,000 of the more than 30,000 candidates who submitted inquiries.

The enrollments also reflect the results of the Defense Department's efforts launched two years ago to attract more young men from minority groups.

The class of 1974 gives the service academies a total minority enrollment of 299, up from 116 in 1968.

Two From Pitt Make Honor Roll

Two Pitt County students attained the honor roll at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro during the spring quarter that ended recently.

Katherine A. Inman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Inman of Greenville, and Mary Louise Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman F. Moore, of Rt. 1, Bethel, received the honors.

The area students are part of the total of 490 at UNC-G attained the honor roll during the semester. The University had a total undergraduate enrollment of 4,536 during the period.

Hanoi Claims U.S. Is Prolonging War

HONG KONG (AP) — North Vietnam charged today that the United States, despite the withdrawal of its ground forces from Cambodia, is prolonging the war in that country by aiding forces there opposing the Communists.

In the first North Vietnamese reaction to President Nixon's report Tuesday on Cambodia, Radio Hanoi cited Nixon's promise to aid the Cambodian government of Premier Lon Nol and other governments sending forces into Cambodia to fight for the government.

"It is clear that although U.S. ground troops have been withdrawn, the U.S. is prolonging and expanding the war in Cambodia through the service of the mercenary clique supplied by reactionary authorities in Southeast Asia," said the North Vietnamese radio. "Unquestionably this move is an implementation of Nixon's doctrine of making Asians fight Asians for the realization of U.S. neocolonialism in Asia."

The broadcast said the U.S. operation in Cambodia "has met with disastrous failure... yet in his June 30th report Nixon again talks about military wins which have never existed and played his numbers game by producing figures about so-called supplies seized and destroyed by U.S. troops in Cambodia."

Six People Die In Newark Blaze

NEWARK (AP) — Six persons, including four children in one family, died early today when a fire of suspicious origin ripped through two three-story frame buildings in Newark, officials said.

Six brothers and sisters of the dead children were injured, along with four other residents and two firemen.

The youngsters were the sons and daughters of Marcos Meneses, 43.

Deputy Fire Chief Thomas O'Boyle said investigators believed the fire was set by arsonists. He said gasoline cans were found where the fire started in the front stairway and halls of the gutted buildings.

Becomes A Lord For Second Time

LONDON (AP) — Quintin Hogg, who once surrendered a peerage because it was a political handicap, has become a lord for the second time.

He signed on at the House of Lords Tuesday as Lord Hailsham of St. Marylebone, a life title created for him by Queen Elizabeth II after the new Conservative government selected him as its lord chancellor, or head of the British judiciary.

Hailsham, now 62, gave up the hereditary title of Viscount Lord Hailsham in 1963 when he was trying to win the Conservative party leadership.

Roosevelt Will Wed Divorcee

NEW YORK (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. and Felicia Warburg Sarnoff, who was divorced several months ago from board chairman-president Robert Sarnoff of RCA Corp., planned to be married today.

The late president's son obtained a divorce decree from his second wife Monday in Juarez, Mexico.

Friends said Roosevelt and his bride, daughter of the late financier-philanthropist Paul Felix Warburg, would sail on the liner France Thursday for a honeymoon in Europe.

Back To Normal In Greensboro

GREENSBORO (AP) — Wayne Hall, superintendent of the sanitation department, says garbage collection is back to normal for the first time since a strike began two weeks ago.

He said that collections were made Tuesday with all 32 of the packer trucks in operation. The city has replaced some of the strikers, who had been given a raise in pay in the new budget but were asking more. Other strikers have returned to work.

Plan Apartments For The Married

BOONE, N. C. (AP) — Appalachian State University will build 103 apartments for married students.

A grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development will pay for the $52,000, annual interest costs of a $1.6 million loan needed to build the apartments, according to university officials.

Kidnapping

RALEIGH (AP) — Police reported they found a nine-year-old boy in a wooded area near the exclusive North Ridge section of Raleigh early today and charged a 23-year-old man with kidnaping.

Police said that Bruce Wayne Lilley was being held in Wake County Jail without bond on the kidnaping charge.

Officers refused to identify the boy Lilley is accused of kidnaping because he is a juvenile.

The police said officers and civilian volunteers found the boy in a patch of woods in the North Ridge section.

"He was bound with tape," the police reported. They said Lilley "was sitting with him."

The police said the boy was riding his bicycle near his home when he was allegedly kidnaped. His mother reported him missing shortly after 9 p.m. and officers found him at 4:15 a.m. headed by Democrat George S. McGovern of South Dakota and Republican Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon try to amend the upcoming military procurement bill with their "Amendment to End the War" by requiring withdrawal of all American forces from Indochina by next July 1.

It is considered much more drastic—and its chances for passage considerably less—than the Cooper-Church measure, which limits funds for U.S. activities in Cambodia.

Use of U.S. ground combat troops in Laos or Thailand was barred by an amendment passed last year to the defense appropriations bill.

After the approval of Cooper-Church, the Senate voted 75 to 20 to pass the military sales bill which had served as the vehicle for the debate. The measure restricts the program under which surplus U.S. military equipment is sold to foreign countries at bargain rates.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and likely head of his house's conferees, said, "I don't think we'll be in any hurry to go to conference. But eventually we will have to have a military sales bill."

Sen. Church, cosponsor of the amendment and a likely Senate conferee, said he is opposed to the military sales bill unless his proposal is retained.

Rogers Pleased By SEATO Role

By SPENCER DAVIS, Associated Press Writer

MANILA (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William Rogers arrived in Manila today for a meeting of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and said self-reliance has become the keynote for the area's nations—including those beset by war in Indochina.

"Asians are seeking through self-help and regional cooperation to apply Asian solutions to Asian problems," said Rogers in an airport statement.

"We are glad to see Asian members of SEATO in the forefront of this important development," he added, referring to the Philippines, Thailand, and Pakistan.

"SEATO has played a vital role in helping to maintain the shield to protect the free countries of East Asia against Communist aggression," Rogers continued. "Behind this shield there has been remarkable growth."

"It will be the purpose of our conference which starts here in Manila tomorrow to discuss how the SEATO nations can continue to play a constructive role in maintaining the peace and advancing the development and well-being of the people of this area."

Rogers noted that President Nixon had reaffirmed that the United States would remain faithful to its commitments to friends and allies. He said the United States was proud of its participation in SEATO and its membership in the Pacific community.

But he strongly emphasized the theme of self-help and regional cooperation which Nixon made an important part of his Guam Doctrine last year.

The Guam Doctrine and its application is one of the key questions to be discussed when the SEATO ministers open their 15th annual meeting Thursday.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Perry Como says he's highly pleased with his reception in his first night club appearance in 26 years.

The 58-year-old singer, who is drawing big crowds at the International Hotel, told newsmen: "Oh, I was nervous and hesitant. It's been so long. I wondered. But I wanted to be active and prove I can still do it. I just never knew the response would be this ridiculously terrific."

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The problems of the Model Cities program in Charlotte, including the resignation of the program's director, will be investigated by Atlanta-based officials of the U. S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Paul R. Jones, executive director of the program in Charlotte, resigned last week. He charged that he had been the victim of "pressures."

But Integon came up with three runs in the bottom of the first to take the lead. Worth Albea singled and took second on a wild pitch. Howard Hill followed with a homer putting Integon ahead. Jack Bratton walked and stole second. An error enabled him to score.

Pepsi rallied in the third, scoring three runs to gain a 4-3 lead. Lee Shearin singled and Ricky Avery got a hit. Davis reached, on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Oldham doubled in Shearin and Avery, and Mark Conway walked. Dana Kendrick singled, driving in Davis with the go-ahead run.

In the fourth, Pepsi pushed over 11 runs to take a 15-3 lead. Mike Shank singled and Shearin walked. Avery reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Davis doubled in Shank and Shearin, and Oldham walked, reloading the sacks. Danny Bowman singled in Avery, and McDonald Avery doubled, scoring Davis and Oldham. Thursday's Sports Ladies Softball Wachovia vs. Foodmart MPC vs. Bob's Atlantic Coca-Cola vs. Little Mint Little League League Playoffs

The old saying is that it is better to give than to receive. If so, it must be heartening to Greenville's American Legion team, because yesterday they gave and gave and gave.

And by the time they had quit giving, Kinston's Legion had come away with a 7-4 victory, and wrapped up first place in the area standings.

It was the last game of the regular season for both teams. They now enter the playoffs, which will begin later this week. Greenville Coach Johnny Holt said Greenville would most likely play Roanoke Rapids-Weldon in the series, a best-of-five affair. Time and sites are to be arranged.

The great giveaway came on six errors committed by the locals, allowing four unearned runs to cross. Kinston meanwhile made four miscues, but they resulted in only one Greenville tally.

Kinston threatened in the first, second and fourth before breaking the ice and scoring in every inning after that.

Greenville was not idle, however. They offered threats in the first four innings, but were unable to put enough hits together. The leadoff batter in the first two innings reached third base, and did it again in the fourth. In the third, the second batter got as far as second.

Only in the fifth did Greenville not get an opportunity, when a double play cut them down.

Kinston finally took the lead in the top of the fifth, and never let it go thanks to the misfortunes of the Greenville nine. With one out, Cobb Turner drew a walk.

Conway At Randle Camp

John Conway, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Conway of Greenville, attended Sonny Randle's Football Camp in Fork Union, Va., last week.

A rising junior at Rose High School, Conway took part in quarterback training under Norman Sneed of the Philadelphia Eagles. Conway played quarterback and was a starting defensive end at Rose last year.

Allan Sasser followed with a single to left field. Mike Hatcher then sent a double down the right field line that stayed in by only inches. It brought in Turner with the go-ahead run. The next batter grounded out to first, moving both runners up. Donnie Hatcher then grounded back to short, but the ball was errored, allowing Sasser to come across and make it 2-0.

Kinston came back with another run in the top of the sixth. Troy Eason led off with a single to right. Mike Edwards bounced back to the pitcher, but the throw to second to get Eason was wide of the mark and both runners reached safely. Charles Eubanks hit into a fielder's choice, getting Edwards, but moved Eason to third. Eubanks moved down to second untested, and Turner then grounded out to second, driving in Eason with the third Kinston run.

Greenville broke the ice in the bottom of the sixth, but couldn't get enough to tie it up. Eddie Vincent led off, sending a hit into left field. Joey Moore then followed with a drive up the alley in right center, driving in Vincent and finishing up with a triple. Tommy Durham lifted a sacrifice fly to deep center, driving in Moore to cut the lead to 3-2.

But the Greenville defenses couldn't hold up and stop Kinston. Another run came over in the seventh, to move them out 4-2. Mike Hatcher singled to left and moved to second when the ball got away from the left fielder. Richard Suggs flied out to right, and on the throw-in, the ball was again errored, allowing Hatcher to trot down to third. Donnie Hatcher then lofted a sacrifice fly to center, scoring Mike from third.

Greenville countered with a run to stay close. Jimmy Paige picked up his third hit of the day, a single to center and then stole second. Ronnie Leggett double to left center, scoring Paige, and making it 4-3.

But again, Kinston pulled away, scoring two more in the eighth. Eason led off with a double to center and Edwards followed with a hit to almost the same place, scoring Eason. A wild pitch put Edwards on third, and he scored on Dick Riggs single to right. Greenville again managed a run, making it 6-4. Durham reached on an error and was wild pitched to second. Alan Pate singled to move Durham to third, and he scored when Russ Smith hit into a fielder's choice.

But Kinston came up with still another run. Donnie Hatcher singled to right, moved up on a sacrifice and moved to third on a wild pitch. Edwards reached on an error, scoring Hatcher with the final run.

Word was expected sometime today on the playoff situation.

Black Jack came up with three on a homer by S. Peele in the fourth to tie it up, then took a 5-4 lead in the fifth with a run.

St. James came back with a homer by Ricky Chambers in the sixth to tie it up, then pushed over the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. Rusty Jacobs reached on an error and scored when Bill Potter doubled.

Hardee and Peele each had two for Black Jack, while Roy Carawan, Chambers, Joe Brown and Ed Smith each had two for St. James.

In the second game, Mt. Pleasant pushed over three in the fourth and never trailed after that. They added one in the fifth and scored two in the sixth, on a homer by R. Bullock.

Gum Swamp scored two in the bottom of the fourth, and another in the sixth.

Bullock had two hits to lead Mt. Pleasant, while J. Tripp had three for Gum Swamp.

Renko's Three-Hitter Beats Expos For Phils

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Steve Renko believes in taking his milestones in a logical order. So he'll concentrate on getting his first major league shutout before he thinks about his first no-hitter.

Renko mowed down the first 19 batters in order before surrendering a hit Tuesday night and settled for a three-hitter, pitching Montreal to an 8-1 victory over Philadelphia.

"I was more disappointed at losing the shutout than the no-hitter," said the logical pitcher. "I haven't had a shutout in the major leagues."

If Renko was disappointed it was nothing compared to the 51,050 fans who packed Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium only to see Atlanta spoil the ballpark's debut by thumping the Reds 8-2.

Elsewhere in the National League Tuesday night, St. Louis tagged Chicago with its 12th straight loss, 5-4, New York hung on to edge Pittsburgh 7-6, San Diego nipped San Francisco 3-2 and Houston downed Los Angeles 6-2.

Renko, a hard-throwing right-hander, was perfect for 6 1/3 innings, overpowering Philadelphia with a mixture of fastballs and sliders.

The spell was broken by Oscar Gamble, who outlegged an infield hit to second baseman Marv Staehle.

Mack Jones handled the bulk of the Expo offense, driving in three runs with two homers. Renko's shutout went down the drain in the eighth when the Phillies got their other two hits.

Hank Aaron inaugurated Cincinnati's new ball park with a two-run homer in the first inning and Rico Carty added a three-run shot in the third to help Atlanta whip the Reds.

Pat Jarvis rode the heavy hitting to his eighth victory, scattering nine hits and ending Cincinnati's winning streak at five games.

Pete Rose broke the Astroturf-covered field in right for the Reds with three hits.

The Mets came from behind with a four-run sixth inning to whip Pittsburgh as Jerry Koosman evened his record at 4-4.

Tommie Agee cracked his 17th homer of the year for New York and 11th this month, setting a Mets' club record. Al Oliver and Willie Stargell homered for the Pirates with Stargell's two-run shot knocking out Koosman in the ninth. Ron Raylor came on to retire the last three batters and save the victory.

Walton's Homers Bedevil Angels As Brewers Rally To Take Win; Twins Win

By HERSHEL NISSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Danny Walton can't do enough for the left field bleacherites in Milwaukee's County Stadium but you won't find the California Angels among his fan club members.

Walton destroyed the Angels Tuesday night with a game-tying home run in the third inning and a tie-breaking two-run shot in the eighth that powered the Milwaukee Brewers to a 5-4 victory.

The Angels dropped four games behind Minnesota in the American League West when Rick Renick's pinch hit grand slam homer rallied the Twins to an 8-5 triumph over Kansas City.

Elsewhere in the AL, Baltimore downed Cleveland 4-2, Detroit prepped for Denny McLain's return tonight with a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees, Washington beat Boston 3-1 and Oakland edged the Chicago White Sox 4-3.

In the National League, the New York Mets held off Pittsburgh 7-6, St. Louis nipped the Chicago Cubs 5-4, Atlanta drubbed Cincinnati 8-2, Houston beat Los Angeles 6-2, San Diego shaded San Francisco 3-2 and Montreal trounced Philadelphia 8-1.

Walton, Milwaukee's slugging left fielder, hadn't homered since June 13 and fouled out with the bases loaded in the first inning. But he stepped to the plate in the third and created a Rudy May pitch into a left field bleachers — Walton Country. He connected again in the eighth following a leadoff walk to Dave May — same place — and Bob Humphreys put down a California threat in the ninth at the cost of one run.

Sandy Alomar's single, a double by Roger Repoz and Alex Johnson's two-run homer gave the Angels a quick 3-0 lead in the first inning. But the Brewers got two back in the bottom of the inning on Gerry McNertney's bases-loaded single after Walton fouled out.

The Twins trailed the Royals and rookie Don O'Riley 5-1 in the sixth inning but Harmon Kil-brew started a five-run uprising with his 21st homer and, following Jim Holt's single and two walks, Renick walloped his grand slam off reliever Bob Johnson. Holt tripled home two insurance runs in the seventh.

Bob Oliver and Paul Schaal homered for Kansas City. Having suffered three straight late-inning losses to their ex-patsies, the Washington Senators, Baltimore found just the tonic it needed to snap a three-game losing streak — the Cleveland Indians.

Boog Powell drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Don Buford also hit one out as Dave McNally breezed to his third win of the season over Cleveland and the Orioles seventh without a loss.

The Tigers did in the Yankees with a five-run two-out burst in the third and five double plays. Pitcher Les Cain started the fire-works with his first major league homer, Mickey Stanley followed with his third of the season and, following Dick McAuliffe's single, Al Kaline cracked No. 10.

All the long balls came off Fritz Peterson and the Tigers immediately added a run off Ron Klimkowski on Gene Michael's two-base error and Jim Northrup's single. Ron Woods homered for the Yankees. The Senators made it four consecutive late-inning victories, scoring three times in the seventh to beat the Red Sox. They trailed 1-0 with two out but walks to Aurelio Rodriguez and Bernie Allen and Eddie Brinkman's game-tying single finished Sonny Siebert.

Loop Leaders Gain Victories

The three leading teams all came up with victories in the Ladies Softball League least night. Little Mint nipped Foodmart, 13-12, Bob's Atlantic rolled to an 11-6 win over Wachovia, and National Products Co. beat Coca-Cola, 11-1.

The Little Mint leads the standings with a 10-2 record, while NPC is in second place with an 8-3 mark. Bob's is third at 7-5, followed by Foodmart, 6-5, Wachovia, 3-9, and Coke, 1-11.

In the opener, NPC pushed into the lead with a run in the first, then added three more in the second to wrap it up. They went on to add three more in the third, one in the fourth, and three more in the seventh.

The lone Coke run came in the second inning.

Wachovia pushed ahead in the top of the first, but Bob's tied it up in the bottom of the frame. Wachovia came up with two more in the second, but again Bob's came back to tie it up.

Then, in the third, Bob's pushed over two more runs for a 5-3 lead. Wachovia came up with three in the fourth to move back ahead, 6-5, but it was the last time.

Bob's added two more runs in the bottom of the fourth taking a 7-6 lead. They went on to add one in the fifth and three more in the sixth.

Foodmart took the lead in its game with three in the top of the first, but the Little Mint added three in its half of the frame to tie it up. They then moved ahead with one in the second, and came up with two more in the fourth on a homer by Doris Garrish.

In the top of the fifth, Foodmart exploded for nine runs and moved into a 12-6 lead. The Little Mint then began its rally which carried for the win. They picked up two in the fifth, and three in the sixth to close within one.

In the seventh, Wink Phillips singled and scored the tying run on a triple by Nancy Taylor. She came over with the winning run on a single by Dorcas Carter.

Pearson Doesn't Like Daytona

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Speed's game at Daytona International Speedway. To graying David Pearson, speed is a money-making game. But the 35-year-old driving ace had rather do his 200-m.p.h. thing elsewhere.

Pearson clocked the second best time in Tuesday's opening trials for the Firecracker 400, scheduled for a 10 a.m. Saturday start.

Doing an average of 188.750 miles an hour isn't bad.

Yet, Pearson isn't at all happy on this steeply-banked course that covers 2.5 miles.

"Drivers don't like this race track," he said in an interview. "If any of them tell you the truth, they will say they don't like to run here."

"I'm not scared," Pearson added quickly. "If I have control of the throttle, I'm not going to be scared. And, I'm not going to drive if I'm scared."

He gets uneasy on the 31-degree banks at both ends of the speedway. Pearson says the Ford feels as though it's about to leave the ground when topping 180 miles an hour.

Pearson and Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., said the Dodge-Plymouth entries here have an edge because of the famed rear stabilizer wing and turned-down nose. Yet, Cale's Mercury was fastest in practice 190.162 m.p.h. and Pearson's Ford next at 188.750.

They were among favorites for the pole in this afternoon's qualifying, along with Daytona 500 winner Pete Hamilton of Dedham, Mass., in a Plymouth.

Crowell's Clothing Comments

(In Business)

"You can tell a great deal about a man by the clothes he wears." —Dr. Robert Sessions Woodworth, Psychologist.

A businessman's wardrobe should be composed of inconspicuous garments. He desires to attract attention to his business not to himself.

His suits may be either double-breasted or single-breasted. They should be very well-fitted. If desired, vests may be worn. In fact, vests are returning from a long absence.

Striking materials or patterns are not in good taste. Suitable wools are found in many desirable varieties. Muted stripes, quiet plaids and herring-bones are attractive.

Not every man can wear all colors. Some, for instance, cannot wear gray. Others do not look well in blue. One must select colors which flatter.

Ask your clothing merchant. He is anxious to please and trained to advise you.

Pinpoint The Most Risky Driving Time Injured Twice In Line Of Duty

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UPI)—The most dangerous time of year on the nation's highways is at 6 p.m. on any Saturday in August or November, according to a survey by State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co.

The conclusion was drawn from a study of 2,828 fatal auto crashes during 1968. It showed that about 40 per cent of all the fatal accidents happened during the weekend, with most of these occurring on Saturday. The hour of 6 p.m. was the most common time for a fatal accident, with 1 a.m. nearly as high on the "crash-by-hour" chart.

August was the month during which most deaths occurred.

Other data compiled from the State Farm records indicate: —Drivers 30 and over 74 are involved in a disproportionately large share of fatal accidents.

—About four of every five drivers involved in the fatal accidents was a man.

—Three types of crashes accounted for almost three-quarters of the 1968 State Farm fatalities. These were broadside collisions, running off the road and head-on crashes.

—About two of five (41.8 per cent) of the fatal crashes involved collisions between two automobiles and about one of five (19.8 per cent) involved the insured's vehicle and some sort of fixed object, such as a telephone pole or bridge abutment.

The reports listed "improper driving" as the primary cause of 56.9 per cent of the fatal crashes studied.

The head-on collision was listed as the most common type of accident fatal to drivers; of the drivers killed, 31.4 per cent were involved in head-on crashes.

Data on seat belts in the cars involved show that seat belts were available in nearly half (45.5 per cent) of the vehicles involved but they were being used in only one out of four cars equipped with them.

Jesse Held Up

Bank That Aided

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky. (AP)—One of the greater ironies in Kentucky history unknowingly began in Logan County in the early 1800s when two Russellville bankers helped a promising young ministerial student to realize his dream of becoming a Baptist minister.

In 1868, Jesse James, the son of the Rev. Robert James, unleashed his gang on Russellville and robbed the very bank which had aided his father. The bank, the old Southern Bank of Kentucky, still stands.

By CALVIN MANON Associated Press Writer KANSAS CITY (AP)

Things are normal again at No. 8 fire house. Sparky is back on the job and in fine fettle after his second stint in the hospital in two years as the engine company's mascot.

Sparky, a Dalmatian, is to the Kansas City Fire Department what Smokey the Bear is to the Forest Service—public relations representative, good-will ambassador and a trademark.

Actually, Sparky, a large, short-haired, long-eared white hound with black spots over his body, is a living relic of bygone days.

There was a time when each fire house had its own Dalmatian, or coach dog, to help train fire horses. The horses traditionally were highstrung and nervous. For some reason, a Dalmatian seemed to have a steadying effect. Also, the dogs had the knack of nudging the horses into line and seeing that they tended to business.

The last of the horses retired some 43 years ago, but in Kansas City, the dogs stayed on as pets and became an institution. Sparky is one of five Dalmatians on the job here. His home is Engine Company No. 8 in the downtown area. Consequently he has become probably the best-known dog in town.

Firemen say Kansas City is one of the last (if not the last) cities in which dogs actually make fire runs.

A smoke-eater's life is dangerous and trying for dogs as well as for men. In his two years of service, Sparky has been hospitalized twice, once from injuries received in the line of duty and later for what was diagnosed as nervous exhaustion probably brought on by combining devotion to duty with nights out on the neighborhood.

Sparky sustained a serious hip injury when he was struck by the truck as it backed into the station. He jumped from the rig a little too soon and was caught under a rear wheel.

He stays busy—His company averages 1,200 runs a year and the big, friendly dog makes virtually every one of them.

"On the few occasions when his visits around the neighborhood cause him to miss an alarm, he's sitting there waiting when we get back. He hates to miss one," said Capt. Jack Dolloff.

En route, he rises in the middle of the truck atop the neatly stacked fire hose. He stands upright, leaning with the turns, and barks and wags his tail with equal vigor. It's almost a toss-up as to who makes the most noise—the siren or Sparky. Capt. Mike Horan, another of Sparky's commanding officers, says "that whistle (siren) just turns him on. The only way to shut him up is to shut off the siren. It seems to do something to his ears, or maybe it's a result of long experience—the siren means excitement."

Sparky frequently sleeps on the truck. His bed is the mound of hose where he perches en route to a blaze. In the daytime unless he is paying a neighborhood visit, he usually is first on the truck. He keeps a close eye on all goings-on in the fire house and clearly is anxious to go at the first hint of an alarm.

"He kind of thinks he's in charge," says Horan.

Although friendly to all he demonstrates a somewhat possessive attitude toward the truck while at a fire. He will bark furiously at any stranger, particularly a non-fireman, who approaches the vehicle, until he is satisfied that the stranger is friendly.

He has a lot of company at the fire house. People come by either to take his picture, or simply to see him close up. Hundreds of people see him almost daily in his yapping dashes through the downtown area through the truck.

He's happy to see the callers and extends an enthusiastic welcome, ears flat and tail flapping.

"He wants them to see the truck," said Dolloff. "He doesn't realize they came to see him."

Sparky's wife, Sparkle, is stationed at Pumper Company No. 23, in an industrial district of northeast Kansas City. Three of their sons are attached to other companies.

Sparkle is more the home-loving, domestic type, rather than the rambunctious, dog-about-town that Sparky is. She rides the truck to fires, but prefers to entertain the neighborhood school children.

Sparky came to the department at the age of 7 weeks in March, 1968, to replace Sparky I, who died of a stroke after 12 years of service.

The elder Sparky was injured repeatedly in the line of duty. Once he was blown nearly half a block from his truck in an oil tank farm explosion that killed six firemen and injured 40 others.

The walls of No. 8 are adorned with photos of the original Sparky in action and the present Sparky's collection is growing rapidly.

AIR-RAID SHELTER

TEL AVIV (AP)—A prefabricated air-raid shelter, with room for 11 persons and costing about $3,200, has been introduced on the Israeli market.

Parents Urged To End 'Civil War' With Children

By MICHAEL L. POSNER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Psychiatrist Rudolf Dreikurs is pushing a campaign with parents to get them to "end the civil war against their children."

The 73-year-old Dreikurs claims the "movement, as he calls it, has up to followers from Boston to Los Angeles.

Made up of ordinary housewives and fathers, they study Dreikurs' theories of child upbringing which decry screaming, nagging, punishing and arguing as a way of raising youngsters.

Dreikurs, professor emeritus of the Chicago Medical School, advocates what he described in an interview as "a democratic society based on recognition of human equality—or mutual respect."

Various Conflicts
Dreikurs, who could pass for a movie psychiatrist, is a child rearing expert. But he says hit theories can solve the "civil wars" between husbands and wives, blacks and whites, college students and educators, labor and management.

Oversimplified, Dreikurs says that once people treat other people as equals—including parents and children—and let others in on the decision-making, the beginning of the end of the war is in sight.

He says the nation is embroiled in conflict in various arenas because people want—but are denied—a voice in the decision-making process.

He contends, for example, that current campus turmoil will not end, even after Vietnam, unless school administrators give students a voice in decision-making. On the other hand, he characterizes students dictating demands as anarchy, and administrators issuing flat edicts as tyranny.

Not So Permissive
To deal with family issues, Dreikurs suggests councils or little "town meetings," in which everyone shares in the basic decision—whether they involve menus or the annual vacation.

What appears to be surprising is not Dreikurs' teachings so much as the way such study groups have mushroomed, mostly by word of mouth, from community to community. The groups ponder the psychiatrist's numerous books and teachings which he produces as director of the Alfred Adler Institute of Chicago.

He differs from famed baby doctor and antiwar leader Benjamin Spock in "Dr. Spock is against punishment as I am. But he also is more permissive than I am."

Shortly before addressing a recent Washington workshop, called the "individual psychological association," Dreikurs discussed his theories over an omelet in the Shoreham Hotel here.

Parents Arrange Results
He says parents tend either to be tyrants who command and punish their children to no avail, or they are anarchists who are so permissive the child runs over them.

Dreikurs claims children always know exactly what they are doing, and their actions in most cases are attempts to get the parents to react angrily—which is exactly what the parent does.

To deal with children, Dreikurs advocates that he calls "logical consequences," in which the child experiences the unpleasant result of his own actions—more or less arranged by the parent.

One of Dreikurs' basic rules is to avoid the conflict which the child is trying to bring on. For example, if a child suddenly lets out with a swear word, the parent should not get angry or try to admonish the child in any way.

Parents Get Stubborn
According to Dreikurs, the surest cure for swearing is to let bad language appear insignificant. Instead of screaming at the child, Dreikurs says the parent should find out how many swear words he knows. This response, the doctor says, takes all the fun out of swearing. It can also be applied to lying or stealing.

"When parents take the proper attitude of non-involvement, or flat fighting or yielding, then results will occur that parents would not believe possible," Dreikurs says.

In another example, Dreikurs asserts that "the only animals on Earth who refuse nourishment are our children." When a child refuses to eat, Dreikurs says, most parents nag and try to force them to eat—which he says is wrong.

The effective response, according to Dreikurs, is to let the child alone. He tells of one child who would eat nothing but hot dogs so his mother gave him hot dogs every day until he was tired of them. But instead of yielding to him at this point, she continued making hot dogs for him for another week. After that, Dreikurs says, the child ate everything.

Owl Struck At Fishing Lure
UNION CITY, Tenn. (AP)—Tom Meyer, of Louisville, Ky., was at Reelfoot Lake the other day trying to prove owls really don't see too well in the daytime.

Tom cast a surface lure, when not a fish but an owl took the bait. The usually nocturnal bird missed on his first strike, but came back for more and scored on his second attempt, taking the lure into a tree.

Before the owl could enjoy what turned out to be a surprisingly tough meal, Tom reeled in bird and all but had to pry the owl's talons loose to regain the plug.

Instant Forest Being Installed
HIGHLAND PARK, Ill. (AP)—A large instant forest is being installed on an 11-acre site as landscaping for a $4.5-million apartment complex.

Max A. Matz, chief landscape architect for the Chicago Park District, heads a firm that created the plan that calls for planting 13,416 trees, bushes and flowers on a portion of the land. Nine acres will be left free of growth to give the area an open-land appearance.

Many of the trees—honey locusts, pin oaks, sugar maples and Maraine ash—average 30 to 35 feet in height.

Mao's Son In N. Korea

HONG KONG (UPI) — According to an alleged red Guard document smuggled into Hong Kong, the eldest son of Red Chinese leader Mao Tse-tung was killed during the Korean war and still lies buried in North Korea.

The document said the son, Mao An-Ying, "heroically laid down his life in November, 1950, in the Korean theater of war. At the request of the Korean people, his body is still buried in Korean soil."

Other references to Mao in the document said: —His only sister, Mao Tse-Chien, was executed by shooting "at Hengshan in Hunan Province" in August, 1929, at less than 24."

—His father died at the age of 70 of typhoid in 1920; his mother died a year earlier at age 52 of tonsillitis.

—Although Mao was born on Dec. 26, 1893, "we only tell people in other countries that he was born in December (because) once they learn it is the 26th day—they will hold meetings to celebrate it and send us congratulatory messages. It would be a discourtesy for us to ignore their messages, but should we acknowledge their receipt with thanks this would imply our consent to celebrating his birthday, to which Chairman Mao is firmly opposed."

Use Liquor For Bed sore Lotion

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — The county gave Charlotte Memorial Hospital 96 pints of confiscated liquor Monday. A hospital spokesman said the whisky will be used to make "bismuth and bourbon," which he described as the world's best bed sore lotion.

Court Upsets The Old Rule Of Joint Liability

CHICAGO (AP) — A U.S. Appeals Court has upset the long-followed rule that spouses are jointly liable for fraud when a joint return is filed, although one spouse has unreported income not known by the other.

The Cincinnati Appeals Court has returned such a case to the U.S. Tax Court, holding that an innocent wife possibly could avoid liability if the Tax Court found she did not know of the unreported income embezzled by her husband.

Previously, the only exception has been where the innocent spouse signed the joint return under duress.

Commerce Clearing House, a tax law authority, said, however, that if other types of income were involved it is unlikely that the court would find the innocent spouse not liable.

Seniors Among Safer Drivers

Judge Finesilver offers some "shocking" data regarding the age groups of motorists. He punctures a widespread delusion that the Senior Citizens are dangerous drivers. So scrapbook this case and discuss it at your men's luncheon clubs. High School drivers' classes need it, too!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.
 CASE N-549: Amos G., aged 78, is a farmer.
 "Dr. Crane," his grandson began, "Grandpa still insists on driving his automobile."
 "But the rest of the family feel he is getting too old to be safe behind the wheel.

 "But he insists it isn't the elderly who are the chief cause of most accidents. He argues that the younger drivers are far worse."
 "Dr. Crane, what are the facts?"

Last year the University of Denver Law School released exact on auto accidents. Judge S.G. Finesilver headed the investigation, which covered 30 states and the District of Columbia.
 Six age groups were compared, namely: under 24 years, 25-34, 35-44, 45-54, 55-64 and 65 or over.

Senior drivers (65 and above) averaged 37 percent fewer auto accidents than their proportion of the driving population!

For example, 7.4 percent of auto drivers were in that "senior" category, yet they were involved in only 4.8 percent of accidents.

In Arizona, with a large senior population, the older driver ranked 2nd lowest in accidents of all those age groups.
 Delaware — senior drivers ranked lowest!
 Same for District of Columbia!

Ditto for populous Illinois, where senior drivers ranked lowest of all — and less than half the accident rate for the youngest group!

Indiana's senior drivers also ranked lowest of all 6 age groups. Same for Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Virginia, Washington State and Wisconsin!

 In New York, senior drivers ranked 2nd best in avoiding accidents.

Judge Finesilver wisely remarked that as drivers grow older, they actually become safer motorists!
 "The older that people grow, the safer is their driving record!"

As a result, Washington, D.C. has rooped its previous requirement that auto drivers take compulsory re-examinations when they reach the age of 65.

"The senior driver," adds Judge Finesilver, "has been made a scapegoat."

"There are logical reasons why the senior driver is a good, rather than poor, motorist."

"For example, numerous studies have shown that he is almost error-free with respect to some of the most disastrous driving errors."

"Speeding, drunk-driving, and 'tailgating' are accident producing causes of which senior drivers are almost never guilty!"

As a result of these accurate statistical studies covering a wide sample of our United States, senior drivers should no longer be subjected to such gross inequities as:

Jeopardizing of his driving license: curtailment of insurance, and the false notion that older drivers are unsafe!

It is in that youngest age bracket that the most accidents take place!

These are due in part to a smart aleck teen-ager attempt to "show off," as by purposely exceeding speed limits, swilling liquor and taking unwise chances on curves or no-passing lanes.

Opening lead: Queen of ♣
 South was in too great a hurry to draw trump in today's hand and he thereby provided the opposition with an opportunity to sink his four spade contract.

West opened the queen of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. Declarer found it necessary to dispose of a club loser without delay, he therefore cashed the ace of diamonds and continued with North's king and queen to discard the five of clubs from his hand.

The jack of spades was led next for a finesse. West won the trick with the king and alantly returned a trump, rather than attempt to cash any clubs. South was in his hand and rather belatedly, he led a heart and put up the queen. East played the ace and returned his last trump.

Declarer could ruff out only one heart loser, and in the end he was obliged to concede a heart and a club to the opposition for a one trick set on the deal.

After he has provided for one of his club losers, declarer can afford to give up a club, the ace of hearts and—if necessary—a spade trick, however he must take pains to assure himself of two heart ruffs in dummy, so that he does not lose a second trick in that suit.

After the third round of diamonds, South should lead the queen of hearts from dummy. East puts up the ace and may return a trump. Declarer can afford to take the finesse now, since he does not intend to surrender the lead again, until he has completed his washing. West is in with the king of spades and returns the suit.

South cashes the king of hearts and ruffs a heart. He returns to his hand by trumping a diamond and then ruffs his remaining heart. The ace of spades provides him with his 10th trick.

By MICHAEL GROSS
Associated Press Writer
TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel admitted the loss of two of its warplanes in bombing raids Tuesday along the Suez Canal, and a senior army officer said Russian SAM2 missiles probably brought them down.

The Jerusalem Post said the planes might have been downed by the more advanced SAM3 missiles the Soviets have installed in Egypt, but the Israeli officer said the Egyptians fired a "rash" of SAM2s during the raid.

The officer said the SAM2 sites are generally manned by Egyptians with Soviet advisers. SAM3s are deployed in the Nile Valley, but there have been no reports to date of any in the canal zone, presumably because they are manned by Soviet crews and the Russians don't want to expose their men to Israeli attack.

Israeli pilots have reported seeing sites for SAM2's under construction along the Egyptian side of the canal, and these sites are one of the main objectives in the round-the-clock bombing raids now being carried out by Israel against Egypt's canal defenses.

This was the first time Israel has admitted losing any planes over Egypt since June 1, when the constant bombing raids began. The officer said the only other Israeli plane brought down by a SAM2 was a Piper Cub spotter downed in March 1969 as it flew over the Israeli side of the canal.

No Israeli planes have been reported downed by SAM3s.

The two planes lost Tuesday went down in the central sector of the waterway, the officer said. He said three crewmen bailed out.

A military spokesman in Cairo claimed the Egyptians shot down four Israeli planes and captured three of the pilots. He reported that two of the planes were Phantom jets and two were Skyhawks, all American made, and he said one of the captives was being treated for broken arms and slight burns.

In Moscow, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser continued his talks with Kremlin leaders. It is the third day of his visit to the Soviet capital.

Nasser in a speech Tuesday night thanked the Soviet Union for its support to the Arab states "in the most complex and dangerous conditions."

Nasser also commended the Palestinian guerrillas for turning themselves from refugees "into a people of fighters."

The Egyptian leader met with Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev. They were believed to have discussed the Middle East peace plan offered last week by the United States, but Nasser did not mention the proposal in his speech, given at a banquet in his honor.

Podgorny said the Soviet Union is "convinced that a just political settlement will be reached" in the Middle East because of the Arabs' growing strength and the support they are being given by Russia and other countries.

He said the Soviet Union will "continue to help the Arab countries in their struggle to eliminate the consequences of Israeli aggression," and he declared that time is against the Israelis.

Emergency Bill Rushed By Ulster's Parliament

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Pressured by the threat of Protestant demonstrations that could spark new violence tonight, Northern Ireland's parliament rushed through an emergency bill today ordering mandatory jail sentences for rioters.

The bill, approved after an all-night debate, takes away magistrates' discretionary powers and orders a minimum of six months in jail for riotous or disorderly behavior and at least 12 months for gasoline-bomb offenses.

In cases tried by jury, the minimum for a gasoline-bomb offense is two years in jail.

Pitt TB Ass'n Offices Entered

Detectives today are continuing their investigation of a break-in at the Pitt County Tuberculosis Association office at 112 South Pitt Street which was reported yesterday.

Officers said the thieves gained entrance to the office by climbing onto the back porch roof and entering a second floor window.

Missing was an estimated $5 in money.

The bill was expected to receive approval from British Governor-General Lord Grey today, becoming law before five parades tonight planned by the military Protestant Orange Order. Orange parades often set off fighting between Protestants and Roman Catholics, and tonight's marches come after a weekend of Protestant-Catholic street fighting in which six persons were killed and more than 200 injured.

The Orange Order raised the threat of Protestant vigilantes.

More Funds Than Charlotte Asked

CHARLOTTE (AP) — A federal grant of $11 million for urban renewal in the Greenville section of northwest Charlotte has been announced.

The amount is several hundred thousand dollars more than Charlotte officials had requested, and nearly $5 million more than was originally reserved for the project in 1966.

The new grant was announced Tuesday, one day after the Greenville Residents' Council, a Model Cities-sponsored group, voted to convey to federal and local officials complaints regarding the slow pace of neighborhood transformation.

on the order of the B-Special Constabulary disbanded after last summer's religious warfare. In a warning today, the order said if security forces appear to lose control of the situation, "Ulstermen will rally again as they did in bygone days to maintain the welfare of the province and the welfare of their homes."

Meanwhile, truckloads of British troops fired tear gas to disperse a crowd of about 100 in a mixed Protestant-Catholic area in East Belfast. The crowd hurled bottles and rocks at the soldiers.

Inside Parliament, the anti-riot bill was fought line by line by the Rev. Ian Paisley, the Protestant extremist, who charged that the government was acting too weakly and too late. Paisley found some unexpected support from Gerry Fitt, a Republican Laborite supporting the Catholic minority's civil rights demands.

Fitt joined Paisley in calling for stiffer penalties under sections of the bill covering conspiracy to intimidate.

UPHELD AGAIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker's conviction for larceny, income tax evasion and conspiracy has been upheld again by the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Price Hike For Milk Producers

RALEIGH (AP) — Effective today, producers will receive an increase in minimum prices for milk processed in North Carolina and sold out of state.

The Milk Commission updated the prices Tuesday under a court order issued in Mecklenburg county months ago.

The order requires the commission to average producer prices in effect in the receiving area and in North Carolina, in order to determine the price at which milk will move to another state.

Prices in South Carolina and a federal marketing order area in northern Virginia have increased since prices were last set by the North Carolina commission.

In its latest action, the commission updated the price of milk moving into South Carolina from $7.07 1/2 a hundred pounds to $7.32 1/2.

The price on milk moving from to northern Virginia was boosted from $7.23 1/2 to $7.35 a hundred.

The commission voted to boost the minimum price for milk processed and sold to military installations from $5.65 to $6 a hundred and the minimum for Class II milk used for manufacturing purposes to $4.60 a hundred.

The commission was told that a new shrinkage proposal is being developed in consultation with the industry, and a pending court case possibly will be dropped.

Shrinkage is an allowance for that part of a producer's milk lost in processing. The commission adopted a maximum shrinkage order in late 1968, but it was restrained from enforcing it by Mecklenburg Superior Court.

A 3 1/2 per cent shrinkage allowance is being considered.

The commission approved a license for a new A&P milk plant to be built near High Point to serve 75 counties.

and put high income in its place. That's right. We're looking for men who have never sold before... men to whom the word "insurance" is enough to make them stop right there... but men who sincerely want to get ahead in the world.
