Tax Rate Is Left Unchanged

$5,664,735 Budget Approved For Pitt

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners last night, after weeks of trimming giant budget requests, gave final approval to a $5,664,735 budget for the 1970-71 fiscal year and set the tax rate at $1.52 — the same rate in effect for the 1969-70 fiscal period.

The 1969-70 budget totaled some $5.06 million. When they looked at the budget requests for the first time several weeks ago, Commissioners faced a whopping, $1.92 per $100 valuation tax rate needed to fund those requests.

The general fund budget approved by commissioners totaled $1,131,245 as compared with requests totaling $1,217,772. This compared with a 1969-70 budget figure of $1,071,653.

Other funds which were trimmed by commissioners included: Outside Poor and Relief which requested $254,050 and was granted $217,397; Public Assistance which requested 784,077 as compared with the 1969-70 budget of $666,456 and was granted $762,276; health department, which requested $358,902 as compared with the current budget of $287,811 and was granted $306,066; Dog Fund, which requested $19,515 and was granted $18,554 as compared, with the 1969-70 budget of $18,950; Mental Health, which requested $219,875 as compared with a 1969-70 budget of $145,636, and was granted $148,031; Hospital Fund, which requested $98,200, received $100,606 last year and was granted $69,221; Industrial Development Commission which requested $29,400 and was granted $24,400; Revaluation which proposed $25,000 and was granted $20,491; and the Ambulance Fund, which requested $32,613 as compared with a 1969-70 budget of $25,894 and was granted $22,430.

The major problem faced by commissioners was the requests by both the county and city school administrative units for funds.

With budget cuts effected, the tentative $1.52 tax rate represents a 3.9-cent per $100 valuation increase in the county-wide levy for schools.

For the county schools, commissioners approved a $493,511 figure for instructional services (including state money). The schools had requested $682,076 as compared with their 1969-70 current expense total of $431,056.

The total county wide school current expense figure was approved at $1,573,761 as compared to an initial request of $1,866 million. That same figure for the 1969-70 fiscal year totaled $1,334,655.

Commissioners approved an outlay of $286,878 for county-wide school capital outlay as compared with a requested $340,000 and an appropriation for the 1969-70 fiscal year of $200,288.

Under the budget approved last night, the Greenville City School district will receive $113,648 in capital outlay funds as compared with a requested $140,000. That figure for the 1969-70 fiscal year totaled $166,000.

Turnover to the Greenville charter district from the county-wide school levy was approved at $259,943. The city district had requested $364,430. That figure last year amounted to $235,000.

The turnover to the city schools from the county-wide tax levy is based on the student population ration of the city and county districts.

Pitt Technical Institute's requests were also cut by the board which approved a budget of $117,520 for the 1970-71 year.

PTI had requested a total of $241,010 (including capital outlay) from the county for the year as compared to a budget (including capital outlay funds) of $225,980 for 1969-70.

The $117,520 figure approved last night does not include any money for capital improvements, and is confined strictly to current expense funding. This compares with PTI's current expense budget last year of $117,718.

Gray Is Appointed County Manager

H. Reginald Gray, Pitt County auditor for the past 18 years, was named County Manager by the Board of Commissioners last night.

The County Commissioners' action also boosted Gray's salary from its present $13,880 to $16,000 per year.

In addition to making Gray county manager, the board appointed Mrs. B. J. (Margaret) Roberts assistant clerk to the board and increased her $6,072 salary as assistant county auditor by $300 per year.

Both positions were approved to be retroactive to July 1.

As county manager, Gray will carry out duties delegated to him by the Board of County Commissioners.

One of the first areas in which commissioners indicated Gray would be involved is establishing a central purchasing program where-by the county manager would approve all purchase requests from the various county departments.

Gray will also continue to serve as clerk to the board and as county accountant.

Sees Growing Demo Interest

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott told the state Democratic convention today that he is "beginning to feel a groundswell of renewed interest" in the party since its recent reorganization.

"I believe I have heard more talk for, more enthusiasm expressed, and seen more interest shown in our party the last few months than ever before," Scott said.

"This new interest is generated, I believe, through our efforts to open the door to the Democratic party a little wider ... to let more people get inside ... to make them want to get inside."

At Scott's urging the State Democratic Executive Committee in January approved the recommendations of a 60-member study commission designed to give women, young people and blacks a bigger voice in party affairs.

"Earlier this week I met with our state and party leaders to go over our party platform and discuss various plans for the convention. As I studied the platform, I couldn't help but see a change ... a change that does reflect new blood," Scott said.

"And I heard whispers of discontent about these changes." "Why?" he asked. "So the platform does reflect the injection of new blood. Isn't that exactly what we started out to do last winter?"

Scott called the party reorganization a "real victory for democracy in the Democratic party."

Cock Fight Raided

BREVARD, N.C. (AP) — State Bureau of Investigation agents arrested 117 persons Sunday afternoon when they swooped down on a cock fight near Rosman in rugged Transylvania County.

Those arrested were taken in a convoy of SBI and private cars to the county courthouse in Brevard where a battery of magistrates waited. They were allowed to plead guilty and each was fined $10 and charged $15 court costs.

The raid brought charges from Ed Owen, chief deputy sheriff of Transylvania County, that the sheriff's office was deliberately bypassed in the staging of the raid. "I guess they were afraid we would tell it," Owen said.

Owen also charged that the sheriff's department wasn't allowed to jail those arrested in the raid.

District solicitor Leonard Lowe said he had been receiving complaints from residents of the area about heavy traffic on a road near Rosman. He said he had talked with the sheriff's office about the cock fighting, "so they knew about it."

"As complaints continued to come in I decided to get help from the SBI," Lowe said.

About 20 agents assisted in the raid. Lowe said he had given orders that those arrested not be jailed but allowed to plead guilty to charges of engaging in and encouraging cock fighting.

He said there were too many people involved to pack them in jail considering the high temperature Sunday.

RALEIGH (AP) — The industry Flue-Cured Tobacco Marketing Committee has decided on a compromise schedule of opening dates and marketing times for the 94 bright leaf auction centers of the Southeast this season.

The plan, known as No. 205, was approved at a meeting of the 35-member committee in Raleigh Monday. The action came after a study subcommittee spent weeks considering more than 200 proposed plans.

The only opposing votes cast on the final plan came from two North Carolina Border Belt tobacco growers, James R. Oliver and Graham Smith.

These are the opening dates approved for the various belts, with last year's starting dates in parenthesis:

Georgia-Florida, July 22 (July

23); South Carolina, July 28 (July 23) and North Carolina Border, July 28 (July 23); Eastern North Carolina, Aug. 18 (Aug. 19); North Carolina Middle, Sept. 1 (Sept. 2); North Carolina-Virginia Sept. 15 (Sept. 16).

The Old Belt will open on a limited basis with nine of its 26 sets of buyers on Sept. 1, the same day that Middle Belt sales begin. A three-year plan allowing for this was adopted by the industry committee in 1968.

John H. Cyrus, head of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture's tobacco marketing section, described the schedule as "pretty much a compromise all the way through, with none of the belts really getting all they would like to have."

Cyrus said it was a schedule "the belts can live with" provided the necessary adjustments are made as the selling season progresses.

The committee, made up of growers, warehousemen and buyers, is voluntary and has no legal authority, but its recommendations are usually followed by the industry and government agencies such as the Tobacco Inspection Service.

Spokesmen for the Eastern Belt had pressed for a limited early opening like that in the Old Belt, but buying interests declined to go along with the idea.

After adopting the 1970 schedule, the committee approved a motion by grower Elmer Burt of Fuquay - Varina near Raleigh that a committee be named to recommend schedule changes to bring about partial early openings in the Eastern, Middle and Old Belts "as rapidly as possible." The recommendation is to be presented at the first meeting of the marketing committee in 1971.

The Eastern Belt with its 17 markets is the largest of the flue-cured belts. It will begin the season with its full complement of 33 sets of buyers. Markets will operate the first two weeks at 4½ hours a day rather than five hours daily as in 1969.

Sales will drop to four hours daily the third week but will increase to 4½ hours the fourth week, when the Labor Day holiday will cut the number of selling days to three.

The Georgia agriculture commissioner, Tommy Irvin, at the request of the study subcommittee, agreed by telephone during the Monday meeting to accept a cut in daily selling time for Georgia markets during the fourth week of sales, from four hours to 3½ hours. This means Georgia-Florida markets will have full buying power for their first 68½ hours of auctions, rather than for 71 hours as Georgia interests originally requested.

Freighter Sinks In St. Lawrence Seaway; 9 Dead

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP) — A Canadian freighter heavily laden with pig iron and carrying 121 persons struck a shoal and sank within minutes in the St. Lawrence Seaway early today.

Nine persons were believed drowned. Seven bodies were recovered, the U. S. Coast Guard said.

"It sank in about three minutes," a survivor said of the 359-foot Eastcliffe Hall.

The ship's captain drowned. His body was one of the first pulled out.

Two women and two children, relatives and crew members, were on the ship and believed lost.

The ship went down so swiftly that crewmen, lowering lifeboats, were swept off the decks into the river, where they clung to debris. Two Ontario provincial police sped from the shore in a small boat and rescued 12 persons.

Survivors said they believed those lost were unable to reach the deck from below.

The ship ran aground on a shoal about six miles west of Massena. A first radio message said the ship was in no danger of sinking. Minutes later it was below water with only the top of its mast showing.

The weather was reported clear at the time of the grounding in the seaway's manmade Lake St. Lawrence.

The body of Capt. Albert Giroux was pulled from the water shortly after the sinking.

The ship was en route from Sorel, Que., to Saginaw, Mich. Seaway officials halted traffic after the sinking.

The Hall Corp. of Montreal owned the ship.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reported today that retired Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, the colorful officer who spark-plugged the effort that produced the world's first atomic bomb during World War II, died Monday night at Walter Reed Hospital following a heart attack.

Groves, 73, died at approximately 11 p.m. EDT after being taken to the hospital sometime Monday.

Ironically, his death occurred within a month of the upcoming 25th anniversary of the dropping of the first military bomb on Hiroshima in 1945.

Indochina Peace Plan From Soviet

NEW DELHI (AP) — Deputy Foreign Minister Nikolai Firyubin of the Soviet Union flew back to Moscow today, carrying reactions from Hanoi and New Delhi to an apparent Kremlin proposal to bring peace to Indochina.

A general outline of the Soviet thinking emerged from meetings he had with Foreign Minister Swaran Singh and an 80-minute conference with Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. Firyubin, a specialist in Asian affairs, stopped here for three days on his way home from Hanoi.

Foreign Ministry sources said the Soviet proposal involves the convening of a Geneva-type conference on Indochina that would be linked with a major peace gesture from the United States.

This gesture, these sources said, could be in the form of a U.S. commitment to make a phased military withdrawal from Indochina which could take place even after the Geneva conference is held.

Indian sources said the Russians believe the United States must make such a gesture to convince North Vietnam of American sincerity and to give Hanoi a motivation for attending the conference.

It was pointed out that North Vietnam agreed to meet the United States for peace talks in Paris in 1968 only after President Lyndon B. Johnson announced a halt in bombing over North Vietnam.

Red Attackers Appear Aiming Wreck Morale

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia

(AP) — Cambodian infantrymen fought their way up the jungled slopes of Mt. Kiri Rom Monday afternoon and recaptured key parts of the resort area 50 miles west of Phnom Penh, a military spokesman reported today.

Fighting continued on the mountain today, and the Cambodian command reported another force of about 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese smashed into a battalion headquarters 25 miles south of Kiri Rom. The spokesman said the attackers inflicted heavy casualties on the government force at the village of Srak Neak, then withdrew, carrying their dead and wounded with them.

The current Communist objective in Cambodia appears to be to shatter government units and infect casualties to damage the morale of the Cambodian forces.

The heavy fighting west and southwest of Phnom Penh once again imperiled Highway 4, the capital's only link with the deep water port of Kompong Som and the country's only oil refinery, the military spokesman said.

Kiri Rom is 10 miles north of the highway. The military spokesman said the relief force of Cambodian mercenaries recruited and trained by the U.S. Special Forces in South Vietnam's Mekong Delta had retaken the main hotel and other positions.

The 300-man government garrison stationed atop the 2,000-foot mountain was overrun early Saturday with heavy casualties. There has been no official report of total casualties in the fighting, but the government claims enemy losses are high.

Highway Hearing

A public hearing will be held Wednesday at 11 a.m. in the Superior Court Room, Pitt County Courthouse, to discuss proposed Pitt County highway projects.

R. W. McGowan, Highway Department chief engineer for preconstruction, will conduct the hearing, where the proposed projects will be explained in detail.

The improvement of Charles Street from U.S. 264 by pass to 12th Street; relocation of Charles Street from 12th Street to Cotanche Street at 11th Street; improvement of Cotanche Street from 11th Street to 10th Street; and the widening of 10th Street to a 32-foot face-to-face-of-curb section from Lawrence Street to Cotanche Street, will be discussed at the hearing.

Also a proposed corridor for the location of the Eastern bypass of Greenville from the intersection of U.S. 264 bypass and 10th Street northerly and easterly to U.S. 13 and N. C. 11 in the vicinity of Burroughs Wellcome and Co., will be explained.

Recreation Board Plans Non-Resident Park Fees

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Greenville Recreation Commission last night approved notifying Pitt County Commissioners that plans are being made to establish a fee for use of recreation facilities by non-residents of Greenville effective September 1.

Approval of the motion followed discussion of alternatives suggested by various members.

On a proposal to ask the county commissioners to budget for county citizens making use of the city recreation facilities, City Manager Harry Hagerty pointed out that in view of the late date it would not be likely the commissioners could reasonably program for an additional budget item. Hagerty also observed that the county planners, like those in Greenville, were committed to keep their total budget to a minimum.

A committee from the Recreation Commission will work with director Boyd Lee in formulating a definite plan to establish a program of fees for individual and family use of the various facilities in Greenville.

The decision to inform the County Commissioners of the possibility of charging for non-resident participation was felt to be the best plan, in order to give commissioners an option to offer their suggestions.

An option to purchase approximately one acre of land in the Eastwood Sub-division was approved at last night's meeting. A period of 18 months was established in which the city and the Recreation Commission must decide on whether or not to purchase the offered land at a preferential price of $9,000. This amount compares to $15,000 which would be the normal purchase price of three lots comprising the one acre site.

Eastwood Sub-division is located east of U.S. 264 by-pass across from Town House Apartments. No immediate action is expected on moves to acquire this tract of land, but the option will be available until January 1972.

Offer of options for land is routine procedure. In accordance with city ordinances, developers of housing projects within the city and contingent to the city must offer the city a set percentage of the total land area for recreation purposes.

The tentative recreation department budget was studied and accepted by the commission members. Mrs. Clay Burnette, chairman of the Recreation Commission, expressed the commission's "deep thanks to the City Council" for the sincere consideration given to budget requests for the Recreation Department.

The total tentative budget for the Recreation Department this year amounts to $179,595, an increase of approximately $43,000 over that of last year. The biggest

Modern Lysistratatas Plan Women's Strike Aug. 26

EDITOR'S NOTE—It was supposed to have been successful once before, so some modern women are adopting an ancient ploy: a general strike to force concessions from the male populace. The strike is set for Aug. 26, and in the following, Lynn Sherr of the AP Living Today Department tells what it is all about and what it hopes to achieve.

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer

The last time a nation's women went out on general strike they stopped a war.

The date was 411 B.C.; the war was between Sparta and Athens, and it took place in a play.

This year, some American women are planning a similar action to try to help end another war—between the sexes.

The date is August 26 and it is for real.

"We're advising women to do their own thing to confront the unfinished business of equality," explained Betty Friedan, who calls herself chairperson of the event and who dreamed up the idea as former president of the National Organization for Women—NOW.

She lists the three nationwide strike demands: free 24-hour child care centers; free abortions on demand; complete equality for women in education and employment.

The political parties, corporations, hospitals, churches, unions, mass media—all the establishment groups—have not yet really felt the urgency and power women have as 53 percent of the population," Mrs. Friedan said.

"The strike should make visible the sheer fact of this oppressed majority."

In her role as a modern Lysistrata—the woman who talked her sisters of ancient Greece into abstaining from their men in order to end the Athens-Sparta warfare—Mrs. Friedan is urging women to march; demonstrate, sit-in, rap, stop typing, stop vacuuming, stop buying and, if appropriate, stop making love. "To do something to visibly protest the discrimination against women."

The August date was chosen to coincide with the 50th anniversary of the day the 19th Amendment—giving women the vote—was ratified. In 1920, the occasion was celebrated with one last suffrage march down Fifth Avenue in New York.

Marches and demonstrations are planned this year in Manhattan, at Chicago's Civic Center, in downtown Milwaukee and in Buffalo, N.Y.

Although many of the more radical women's groups aren't yet disclosing their plans—they stress the surprise element—the scheduled activities of women in many parts of the country forecast a nonviolent, highly energetic protest of what they consider discrimination against women on the job and in the home.

Freedom Trash Cans will be set up in Syracuse, N.Y., for women to dump "some object of their oppression—an apron, a copy of Dr. Spock, hair curlers, whatever," said Karen de Crow, eastern regional director of NOW. "And I fully expect that someone will deposit her husband."

To demonstrate the clout of female buying power, Los Angeles women are being urged not to purchase anything Aug. 26. From New York, consumer boycotts will be launched against companies considered most exploitative of women.

"We're looking at the advertising," explained a member of a Manhattan group called

BITCH, which is researching a list of 50 companies. "We're looking for the companies which exploit the image of women, give a very peculiar slant to what women are really about."

The economic boycotts will be maintained, she said, until the companies agree to change their advertising and pay to women reparations for use in child care centers.

To bolster the motto that "Sisterhood is Powerful"—one of the strike's themes—members of the National Coalition of Nuns, which claims a national membership of 1,800, has agreed to participate in the Chicago protest. Sister Margaret Ellen Traxler, spokeswoman for the organization who marched in Selma, Ala., in 1965 but has never joined a feminist demonstration, said, "I personally will do anything which will further the cause of women."

In New York, women leaders are also talking about a "baby-in", in which infants will be set on the steps of City Hall to dramatize the demand for child care centers.

In several cities, the day's motto for housewives will be "Don't Iron While the Strike is Hot." And in Chicago, where Rep. Martha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., is scheduled to deliver a noon-hour speech in front of the big Picasso sculpture in midtown, women will also stage sit-ins in at least a dozen all-male bars.

Endorsed by the League of Women Voters, the Women's Bureau of the U.S. Labor Department and almost every women's liberation group in the spectrum, the strike claims a diverse list of sponsors: Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y.—"I have been discriminated against more because I am a woman than because I am black"—author Kate Millet, writer Gloria Steinem, congressional candidate Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., and Jeannette Rankin, the first female member of the U.S. House of Representatives.

So far, they have aroused little collective interest from large unionized groups of women: nurses, telephone workers, factory employees. But many female leaders, like the NOW members in Florida, are urging women to stay on the job and initiate private action—discussion groups, for instance—if they would be penalized for walking out.

Point To Strange Fingerprints

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Attorneys for Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald focused their attention today on more than a dozen unidentified fingerprints found in the home where the Green Beret physician is accused of having murdered his pregnant wife and two children.

Testimony about the fingerprints was expected to come from Army investigators as the closed-door hearing continued for the 27-year-old doctor from Patchogue, N.Y., who contends the bizarre slayings last February were the work of hippie intruders who left him seriously wounded.

As the hearing entered its second week Monday, an Army chemist testified that strange hair and candlewax stains were found in MacDonald's house.

The testimony of Dillard Browning, a member of the Army's Criminal Investigation Division headquarters at Ft. Gordon, Ga., was reported to newsmen by Dennis Eisman, one of MacDonald's two civilian attorneys.

The Army, which ordered the hearings closed over defense objections, declined to comment on the testimony. The hearing will result in a recommendation whether the charges should be dropped or whether MacDonald should be court-martialed.

Eisman said Browning testified the strange hairs were found in a brush lying next to the body of MacDonald's wife Colette, 26, in the master bedroom of the apartment at Ft. Bragg.

He said Browning testified that a candle wax stain was found on a coffee table in the living room and that two similar stains were found in the bedrooms of one of the children, Kimberly, 6.

MacDonald had told Army investigators at the time of the Feb. 17 slayings that he had been awakened from a deep sleep on the living room couch and attacked by four hippie-style intruders, including three men and a girl with long, blonde hair.

He said the girl carried a candle and murdered. "Acid is groovy. Kill the pigs." Acid is a slang term for the hallucinatory drug LSD.

Eisman said Browning testified that the hair found in the brush had been dyed dark from its original light color and was unconnected with any member of the MacDonald family.

He said Browning testified that he had examined a half-dozen candles from the MacDonald home and that the wax stains did not come from any of them.

Eisman said Browning also testified that the origin of a club-like piece of wood used in the slayings could not be determined.

Browning said the two-by-two section of wood was similar to other wood in the area and that white paint on it was similar, too, but that he could not say whether it came from around the MacDonald home.

Mrs. MacDonald and Kimberly were both stabbed and bludgeoned. The youngest child, Kristen, 2, was stabbed.

Military policemen who arrived shortly before 4 a.m. in response to MacDonald's telephone plea for help found him lying next to the body of his wife. He was suffering from two stab wounds, one of which pierced his lung and partially collapsed it.

HEARTBURN? ... No, it's a bit of indecision on the part of Horace Vandergelder about his feelings for the widow Dolly Gallagher Levi in "Hello, Dolly!" Note Scattered 'Disturbances'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police moved in with tear gas, smoke canisters and riot sticks Monday night to disperse a noisy crowd of about 1,000 youths in Milwaukee, Wis.

Four policemen and a youth were slightly injured and 12 persons were arrested at Water Tower Park, scene of an earlier disturbance.

The police went into action after the crowd began tearing down signs which proclaimed a 10 p.m. curfew. Many of the youths pelted police cars with rocks and bottles, heavily damaging some of them.

Police and young people had clashed at the park July 1 and 2 after area residents and officials of a nearby hospital complained of all-night noise in the area.

Meanwhile, racially tense New Bedford, Mass., and Highland Park, Mich., were relatively calm.

The comparative quiet in New Bedford came after Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., the nation's only Negro senator, appealed to area residents to "cool it."

Before making his televised appeal, Brooke met Monday with the city's black leaders and told them he would enlist federal and state governments in an effort to get better housing and education and more jobs.

As a conciliatory gesture, Mayor George Roberts relaxed a 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew imposed Sunday, moving the starting time up to 10:30 p.m.

Two New Bedford men were arrested early today and charged with unlawfully discharging firearms. Six false fire alarms were turned in. But there was none of the rock throwing, fire bombing and gunfire of the previous five nights that had cost one life and caused extensive damage.

The Detroit suburb of Highland Park had a relatively peaceful Monday night after a weekend of disturbances stemming from the barroom slaying early Saturday of a black youth. A white bartender was arrested in the slaying.

About 125 persons have been arrested in the Highland Park disorders. There were sporadic outbreaks of minor violence Monday evening and about 25 persons were arrested, mostly for curfew violations.

Court Rejects New Election

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, beaten for Democratic renomination in the June 23 primary, has been turned down by the state Supreme Court in an attempt to force a new election.

Powell, who has represented the city's Harlem district for nearly a quarter of a century, claimed irregularities in the voting, which gave the nomination to state Assemblyman Charles B. Rangel. The court ruled that papers in the suit had not been properly served on Rangel.

The veteran representative has said that he would seek reelection as an independent if rebuffed by the courts.

Big Watershed Project Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1.8 million watershed project for North Carolina's Upper Bay River in Pamlico county has been recommended for congressional approval by the Soil Conservation Service.

The project was endorsed by SCS Monday along with five similar plans in other states being considered by a House agriculture subcommittee headed by Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex. The subcommittee took no action.

The North Carolina project would cost $1,834,000, with federal participation amounting to $945,000.

Twins Drown On Fishing Trip

McLEANSVILLE, N. C. (AP) — Fifteen-year-old twins drowned while fishing with their foster father.

They were identified as Willard and Wilfred Edwards. James Gore, their foster father, said he and the youths were fishing in a 20-foot-deep pond near McLeansville in the Greensboro vicinity. First one boy jumped in to free a tangled line Monday, Gore said, then his brother jumped in to help when the first twin got into trouble.

Gore said he in turn jumped into the water in a futile effort to save the boys.

Couple Weds In Sunday Ceremony Stewardesses Are Seldom Man-Hunters

The Maranatha Free Will Baptist Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Margaret Kaye Vandiford and Jerry Marcus Grimsley on Sunday at 2:30 p.m.

The Rev. Jack Moran officiated at the double ring ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Marcia Moran, organist, and Miss Denise Grimsley of Winterville, sister of the bridegroom, soloist.

The church was decorated with a large basket of white gladioli, mums and pom poms flanked by two tree candelabra holding cathedral candles. Accenting the prie-dieu were two Hogarth curves centered with one cathedral candle. The church was banked with standards of emerald jade. Family pews were marked with bows of white satin ribbon.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Vandiford of Greenville, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a silk peau de soie and alencon lace gown with a chapel length train. The bodice featured a portrait neckline, basque waist and bracelet length sleeves. Re-embroidered alencon lace was applied around the neckline and the natural alencon lace patterns were applied down the center of the sheath skirt with a matching border of lace at the hemline. The chapel length train, trimmed with re-embroidered alencon lace, was attached at the waist. A butterfly bow centered the waist back.

Her veil of silk bridal illusion was attached to a crown of lace petals trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of white roses.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark L. Grimsley of Winterville.

Mrs. Carolyn Dixon of Wilson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy McRoy, Miss Teresa Vandiford, sister of the bride, Mrs. Sandra Mayo, Miss Debra Elks, all of Greenville, and Miss Barbara Grimsley of Winterville, sister of the bridegroom.

The attendants wore floor length gowns of maize silk chiffon trimmed with satin. The empire bodices featured high necklines with Mandarin collars. Their headpieces were maize heartshaped petal designs with seed pearls edging the petals with tiered veils of illusion. They carried colonial nosegays of yellow and white daisies.

Miss Christine McMillen of Winterville was flower girl. She carried a basket of yellow daisies and wore a yellow dress. Marky Grimsley of Winterville, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer and carried a white satin pillow.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Otis Mayo of Greenville, Marvin Wainwright, William Nobles, Author Wainwright and Russell Everett, all of Winterville.

The mother of the bride was attired in a pink shantung dress trimmed in pink lace with matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue double knit A-line dress trimmed in white lace with white accessories. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

Mrs. Manson, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a pink crepe dress, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a navy linen dress with a wide fitted band and trimmed in white.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is employed by Pitt Memorial Hospital and is attending Pitt Technical Institute.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winterville High School and is now a second year student at Pitt Tech. He is employed by MacKenzie Security Inc.

The Grimsley-Vandiford wedding party and out-of-town guests were honored at an after-rehearsal party Saturday night at the home of Mrs. Pauline Newton.

Hostesses were Mrs. Margo Sutton and Mrs. Newton.

The refreshment table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of mixed summer flowers.

Mrs. Vandiford poured punch and Mrs. Grimsley served the wedding cake.

Director Of Boys' Club Speaks To Jay-C-Ettes

The executive director of Boys' Club of Greenville, J. Richard Ullom, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Jay-C-Ettes Wednesday night. Ullom told the club of the many experiences he has had since the Boys' Club was formed last year.

Approximately 350 Greenville boys are now participating in the varied activities which take place at the club located on Skinner Street here in the city.

He spoke of forming a boys' choir which sings at local functions, the tours the boys have taken to Fort Bragg and other interesting sites around the state, and also a trip to Washington, D. C.

Ullom also explained a program by which the boys may be tutored enabling them to receive help in their school work. In closing he summed up the purpose of the club as an opportunity for a boy to become an asset to the community instead a debit.

Jack Wall, president of the Greenville Jaycees, then gave a brief talking asking for the continued support of the Jay-C-Ettes with Jaycee activities. He also explained some of the inner workings of the Jaycee club in order that the women might be more aware of the organization in which their husbands participate.

Afterwards a business meeting was held at which the club made further plans to help the Whiteville Jay-C-Ettes in securing from the city and county schools, old books which are obsolete. These books will be sent to Vietnam to help educate some of the children in that country. Plans were also discussed for the forthcoming annual Jay-C-Ette candy sale in October.

Guests attending the meeting were Mrs. Rex Voorhees and Mrs. Kelly Kee.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is an airline captain in his late 40's. He's well built, nice looking, and in the 20 years he has been flying, dozens of tries have been made to break up our home. Some of the young "stews" call our home at any hour asking for him, or trying to find out if he's married, etc.

It's not just my husband. I've been told by other wives of airline men that it's the same in their homes. Many wives have broken under the strain. I hear that some "stews" swap flights with other "stews" in order to fly with their favorite crew member.

Why do airlines employ girls who are so aggressive and morally loose? Most of them are younger than the captains' own daughters. And how is a wife, who is hanging on for dear life, supposed to cope with this? CAPTAIN'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: First, you don't have to worry. If your Captain were fooling around with "stews" they'd know whether he was married or not, and they wouldn't be calling him at home. There are "aggressive and morally loose" women in all fields, but considering the circumstances and temptations, airline "stews" are probably better behaved than the average young working woman. And I have some more good news for you. About half of them are either married or engaged, and the other half don't exactly dig a man their father's age.

DEAR ABBY: I am getting married soon and my problem concerns my aunt, who is also my Godmother. I never liked this aunt, and I seldom see her, but my mother thinks that because she is my Godmother I have to invite her to my reception.

We have disagreed on this for a long time and can't come to a decision. I say, it's MY wedding, and it's up to me who I want. We've agreed to take your advice.

GETTING MARRIED

DEAR GETTING: Invite her. Don't mar a day that should be full of joy by causing one heart to ache. [Your Godmother may not like you any better than you like her, but why upset your mother?]

DEAR ABBY: Having lost three teen-agers in a car accident just a few months ago, I feel qualified to answer "ALONE IN ANAHEIM," who felt his friends deserted him after his son's funeral. The writer stated, "Many would call and invite us over, but we really didn't feel like going out." What kind of double talk is that? When friends reach out with invitations to come over, they are saying, "We are your friends, we want to share your sorrow, we love you."

The poet Khalil Gibran wrote:

"And let your best be for your friend.

If he must know the ebb of your tide,

Let him know its flood also.

For what is your friend that you should seek him with hours to live?

Seek him always with hours to live.

For it is his to fill your need, but not your emptiness."

If you don't want to be alone, you must let your friends touch you when they reach out to comfort you.

PICNIC SUPPER

This cake carries well and stays moist.

Cold Fried Chicken Potato Salad

Cherry Tomatoes and Cucumber Strips

Sour Cream Date Cake Beverage

SOUR CREAM DATE CAKE

2 cups sifted flour

1/2 teaspoon baking powder

1 teaspoon baking soda

1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 cup finely chopped walnuts

1/2 cup (1 quarter-pound stick) butter

1 1/2 cups sugar

Grated rind of 1 medium orange (1 tablespoon)

2 large eggs

1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream

Topping, see below

Grease and flour a 9-inch angelfood cake pan with a removable bottom. On wax paper sift together the flour, baking powder, baking soda and salt; add dates and walnuts, separating date pieces. In large mixing bowl cream butter, sugar and grated rind; thoroughly beat in eggs, one at a time. Stir in flour mixture, alternately with sour cream, in 4 additions just until batter is smooth each time. Turn into prepared pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 1 hour and 15 minutes. Slowly spoon Topping over cake, letting cake absorb it before adding next amount. Let cake stand on wire rack for 5 minutes; with a small spatula loosen tube and edges; turn out on rack; with another rack, turn right side up. Cool completely. Wrap in transparent plastic wrap and store in tightly covered tin box.

Mrs. Roberson Gives Program

College of Regents member Ellen Bradford was acting Senior Regent Thursday night in a ceremony at the Chapter 1308 meeting of the Women of the Moose.

The speaker for the evening was the newest member of the College of Regents, Peggy Roberson, who described her trip to Mooseheart in Chicago, where she received her degree.

It was announced that the state convention of the Women of the Moose will be held in Wilmington Aug. 14-16. All officers and co-workers were urged to attend and make reservations early.

Honor awards given at the meeting included the receiving of a red tassel by Ellen Bradford and Jo Anne Proctor being the recipient of a red stole.

The next meeting will be held July 23.

None Can Deny Hospital Needs

Pitt Countians had best think long and hard about that vote in November on a bond issue to enlarge and improve facilities at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Think very long... and very hard. If you've had dealings with the hospital over the past couple years, it must have been your private conclusion (as was ours) that the hospital is becoming THE medical center for eastern North

A Reshuffling Is Inevitable

By BRYAN HANSLIP
RALEIGH — Reshuffling counties in all 11 North Carolina congressional districts appears inevitable on the basis of preliminary census figures.

Any hope that the 1971 General Assembly could accomplish redistricting through shifts in a few districts, leaving the overall present pattern little disturbed, has been dispelled by the wide variation in population among the districts shown by the initial census results.

Definite conclusions cannot be reached until the official census count is in, expected by late summer or early fall. In fact, whether North Carolina will keep its 11 seats in the U.S. House of Representatives will be unsettled until that time.

The state lost a House seat on the basis of the 1960 census. The preliminary 1970 count indicates it may be able to hold onto its present 11 seats, but it remains a borderline question until the official count for the nation is in hand, according to Charles Brinkman, the Census Bureau official in Washington responsible for computing apportionment figures for the 435 House seats.

While eliminating a district would make the job even more agonizing, it will be painful enough to draft a redistricting plan retaining present Tar Heel strength in Congress.

The opinion that no district is likely to escape some changes is shared by Director John Sanders of the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill and State Legislative Services Officer Clyde Ball, two men who worked closely with legislators in drafting the present districts.

Based on the unofficial 4,966,869 count for North Carolina, each of the 11 districts should have as nearly as possible a population of 451,533. Only the Fifth District comes close with 452,648.

The range is from the Second District in the east where the total of 386,685 is 28,680 under the 1960 census, to the neighboring Fourth District where the 518,373 total represents a whopping gain of 106,024.

It is unlikely that even the Fifth can escape unaltered in the overall juggling to bring the districts into a pattern acceptable to the one-man, one-vote standards required by judicial decisions.

The strict nature of the court standards will make the redistricting chore a highly sophisticated numbers game as well as a delicate political exercise. It is considered probable that no more than a 2 per cent variation — if that much — can be allowed from the proportion of the state's population which each district must contain.

Sanders noted that the courts have struck down a plan involving Missouri districts where the variation was 3 per cent. North Carolina's present districts, framed by a 1967 special General Assembly session, has a variation between districts, based on the 1960 census, from 1.86 below to 2.31 per cent above the population level each district should contain for equality.

It is clear any new plan would have to match that degree of equality to pass inspection by the courts, and even more rigid equality might be required.

"The courts have said you must come pretty close to hitting it on the head, or justify any variation," Sanders said. "And compactness of districts, or the preservation of political subdivision boundaries is not an adequate justification for variations in population."

That raises the dilemma whether North Carolina can shape its congressional districts within the framework of population equality without breaking county lines. Both Sanders and Ball agreed a very real doubt exists on that score.

While Sanders and Ball already are studying statistics and court decisions in order to be prepared to assist lawmakers, they emphasized it must be the General Assembly itself which performs the redistricting surgery.

"We do not draw lines on maps," Sanders said firmly. "We perform research and provide information for the analysis of various plans."

Following are the preliminary 1970 census figures for each of the congressional districts, with the 1960 census figures for each of the congressional districts, with the 1960 figure in parenthesis:

- First, 402,369 (412,765);
- Second, 386,685 (415,365);
- Third, 422,340 (413,668);
- Fourth, 518,373 (412,329);
- Fifth, 452,648 (406,474);
- Sixth, 468,520 (421,735);
- Seventh, 480,776 (423,750);
- Eighth, 432,104 (407,546);
- Ninth, 501,183 (408,720);
- Tenth, 471,946 (413,729);
- Eleventh, 426,215 (420,074).

On this basis, districts which would have to be enlarged are the First, Second, Third, Eighth and Eleventh. Those which would have to be contracted are the Fourth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth and Tenth. While the Fifth is close to the necessary population figure, bringing neighboring districts into line almost certainly will mean a change in its composition.

Redistricting will mean more sprawling districts in the east and far west where population is low in relation to land area, and smaller districts in the heavily urban piedmont.

Carolina. Automobiles from many communities outside of Pitt County are represented on the parking lot. There are cars, too, from out of state.

So the importance of the hospital is something that cannot be ignored. When one is seriously ill, or seriously injured, the hospital is the last recourse for victims and their families.

Have you been inside the hospital within the past year? If you have, then you know beds in corridors are commonplace. There is simply no other way to accommodate the need. (Doctors and nurses abhor the practice; but where do you put a critically ill patient when the wards are filled?)

Does the hospital need more space? You who have been there know better than anyone.

And where would one go when specialized services are needed? To their own hospital.

For the record, it should be noted that some of those specialists who attract attention of Pitt Countians and those needing their services throughout the eastern part of the state feel so strongly about the hospital's needs they could turn to greener pastures if the facilities they need are not provided.

We submit that Pitt County is the greenest "pasture" of them all; and that November will prove it. If—

If the people who know best what the hospital means to the county (patients and their families) spread the word as to what the bond issue can and will denote in terms of medical care.

Think very long... and very hard.

Japan May Well Find Burden Is Unavoidable

Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato has said his country will never take over the military role of the United States and Asia after American forces withdraw.

"We may be able to possess military strength adequate for self-defense but the Japanese people would never allow us to take over the role of the U.S.," the prime minister stated.

Japan has maintained a low military profile since the end of World War II and concentrated its efforts, highly successfully, on building a bustling peacetime economy.

It is easy to understand Japan's desire to maintain its present position. However, like the United States, it might find that as the leading nation of Asia it cannot avoid taking a military position of leadership in assisting its neighbors. This could be a matter of survival for Japan.

In Defense Of The Waitress

By ROB WOOD

COLUMBIA (AP) — One voice should be raised in defense of a vital, but often harassed, segment of our society—the WAITRESS.

There is, perhaps, no other trade, even the television repairman, who is subjected to the insults, the abuse, and the tirades, as the waitress.

It makes no difference if the waitress serves steaks in an expensive restaurant, or mulligan stew in a cafe, or barbecue in a drive-in, or beer and weiners, she faces the daily onslaught of mankind.

One attractive waitress said recently, "I worked nine hours today, had 12 insults, nine men trying to hold hands while I gave them change, five men who tried to pinch me, and one who succeeded."

Another waitress said, "It isn't just the men. I guess you learn to accept that. It's the women who are vicious. I had rather wait on 10 men than one woman. They treat us as if we were slaves, not just people trying to make a living doing what we think we can do best."

A third waitress said, "If I had the education, I, too, would have been a secretary or an interior decorator, or maybe a nurse. I am a waitress and I am not ashamed of that fact. I just try to be the best waitress around, but you couldn't believe the insults we take in one day of work.

"We are accused of being the only reason the food is late in getting to the table; we are a target for every man that comes into this restaurant, and most of them are professional types, and we constantly are reminded that unless we jump around on our toes we just might not get a tip—big deal."

A leisurely lunch in a restaurant, almost any restaurant, will uphold the complaints of the waitresses.

A well-dressed man plops down, drinks his glass of water, and then says, as the waitress comes to take his order, "Hello, sweets, what's new with you today? Listen, I'm a stranger in town. How about showing me the sights when you get off work?"

The waitress, with a husband and four children at home, smiles and takes the order and the man smirks.

At another table, over in the corner, two women sit and one snaps, "Come on girl, we've got to be served. We have only one hour for lunch, and we work in a pretty important office." The

Strength For Today

THE WORST POLLUTION
Crime is a problem (or disease) that seems to be with every generation of mankind. It is not to be denied, however, that the crime situation now so prevalent in our midst is worse than it has been and gives little indication of getting better.

More laws may help but certainly not cure. Better people in public office, courses in schools and colleges designed to analyze the crime problem may help solve the problem, but laws alone carry no final decision. A new and strident demand for more "freedom" must be met with careful consideration and the desire takes over and laughs us to scorn when we try to break his power. In homes where parents conduct themselves in such a way that they lose the respect of their children, much crime originates and grows.

Crime and politics are frequently pals in an ignoble adventure. Congested city areas, poverty, class distinctions—these all feed the crime situation and make it worse.

If we are looking for an easy solution of the crime problem we are doomed to disappointment. Crime has to be restrained, but at the same time it has to be analyzed, understood and corrected by everything that human ingenuity and science can provide.

And the Church. Society has a right to look to the church, particularly for guidance. If the Church of the Living God mumbles and stumbles, we are in for a bad time.

The worst pollution on earth is the pollution of moral evil. Let us work on that problem with everything we have of brains and energy.

Decline Of The Church

One of the most dismaying trends in this Age of Disintegration, which we conservatives are inclined especially to lament, may be found in the steady decline of organized religion as a stabilizing force in society. The church, of course, is not dead; it may hardly be said to be dying; but it is down with a wasting disease.

The National Observer recently rounded up much evidence to this effect. The Mormon Church and the Southern Baptists continue to gain in membership, but they are almost alone in this regard. For the first time in its history, America's Roman Catholic Church last year reported a decline. The Presbyterians, Lutherans, Methodists and Episcopalians are in the same boat.

Modest losses in membership are accompanied by major changes in church income and outgo. The American Baptist Convention anticipates a $2 million drop this year in its $16 million annual budget. Other national denominations are cutting back their headquarters staffs, in response to demands for greater concentration at local levels. The National Council of Churches, which was operating last year on a $19 million budget; expects only $14 million next year.

The membership and income figures, revealing as they are, reflect only a part of the trouble. In many denominations, notably within the Episcopal Church, disagreements on the very function of the church have bitterly divided clergy and laity. To what extent, if at all, should the church involve itself through its ministers in the great political and social issues of the day?

The Rev. Dr. Beverly Madison Curran, former dean of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral at Charleston, S.C., recently addressed himself to the problem. The Executive Council of the Episcopal Church, he noted, on May 22 had adopted a resolution with which he "heartily disagreed."

In this resolution, the Episcopal Council (1) called for total withdrawal of U.S. forces in Southeast Asia, (2) approved, in effect, the Cooper-Church restriction on military spending, (3) supported the national student strike "against oppressive and unjust actions by the government such as the harassment of the Black Panther members, the killing of students on campuses by the National Guard and police forces, and the use of American resources for the destruction of human life," and (4) endorsed a special collection on September 20 to support student strike activities.

In a strong sermon delivered at Christ Church in Pensacola, where he is now rector, Dr. Curran challenged the right of his church "to take a stand on issues where there is no clear-cut moral distinction." Those who would have the church become an extension of the

Public Forum

To the Editor:

In my naivety I believed that police officers were hired to protect the population of Greenville. I did not know they were just men who were to walk the streets of the city dressed in pretty uniforms as a beautification project.

In reference to the recent disturbance at Pitt County Memorial Hospital, I wonder if the situation between the Negro citizen and the white policeman had been reversed, would a group of whites have stormed City Hall demanding his suspension. Black equality is long overdue and I am all for it, but not in such a reversal of the tables.

Martin Luther King was one of this century's truly great men and did not use "or sponsor such undisciplined manners of obtaining black equality. One cannot help but wonder if certain members of the group seek the public spotlight of advancement for themselves, rather than advancement for the entire race of Negroes. People cannot use force to obtain anything and enjoy it after the battle is over.

You can win a battle and still lose the war. Respect for one's brother is just as important as equality. Threats and petty actions such as took place recently at City Hall create only resentment — resentment at the ones who took such action and resentment at the city officials who allowed such action to take place.

If our City Fathers had already decided on a course of action for Officer Phillips, that is the plan that should have been followed. A policeman is only human, and does his duty often in a split second. Those who have criticized him have had almost a week to decide what he should have done.

Our ancestors left persecuted lands to seek justice for themselves and their children to follow. Innocent until proven guilty — not condemned by a mob who did not even witness the affray. Sincerely yours, Mrs. Georgia B. Littleton Greenville

Health Can Be Illusion

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Some people buy or rent a weekend place in the country on the theory it is a healthy thing to do.

Others hesitate to because they think life away out there where the sidewalks end would be so healthy they simply couldn't stand it.

There is no real justification for this attitude, however. Research shows that—if you're at all trying—you can be just as sick or upset in the country as you can in the city.

For the connoisseur of new and interesting maladies, there is a very Pandora's box of ailments you can acquire that will win the respect of your friends and the grudging admiration of your enemies.

Let us examine a few possibilities:

Do you feel momentarily overwhelmed by the contrast between life in the country and in the city? Already you've got it — neophobia, the fear of newness.

Do your children start whooping it up and acting like little monsters? Then you're in the first stage of Demonophobia, the dread of demons.

How about your neighbors? Do they seem like oddballs with ways of life hard for you to adjust to? Put your condition down to xenophobia, the fear of strangers.

There you are. Only a few days, and you've already got three diseases you probably never thought of before.

But you've had only a scattered sampling. There are many, many more waiting for you.

Perhaps dawn comes too soon and you find it difficult to sleep as late as you'd like to. Undoubtedly you've acquired phenophobia, the fear of daylight, and probably also heliophobia, a dread of the sun's rays.

On the other hand, if you find it hard to get to sleep in the evening because it's so black outside and the woodland noises are so weird, you have a brace of other nifties—nyctophobia, the fear of darkness, and acoustophobia, the fear of sounds.

Last but not least is the panic ailment that hits eight out of 10 weekend country dwellers. This is lissophobia, the fear they'll go out of their minds if they don't flee back to the city on the next train or bus.

Survey Tells What People Buy

By ELMER ROESSNER
Nobody knows exactly why, but sales of sleeping aids in grocery stores shot up 267 per cent above average in the Christmas holiday season, according to a year-long study by Progressive Grocer.

ELMER ROESSNER

The trade magazine studied product movement of 377 major product categories in 2,500 A & P supermarkets.

rose in cool weather, but sales of angel food, chiffon and pound cake mixes sold best in warm weather.

The study for the first time gives supermarket operators information needed to bring seasonal stocking, allocation of shelf space and promotional efforts high efficiency, said Robert W. Mueller, editor of the magazine.

Booming Items
Six categories showed such a marked upward trend that seasonal measurements are difficult. They were semi-moist dog food, dry cat food, international-style frozen prepared vegetables, frozen French toast and waffles, disposable diapers and feminine hygiene deodorants.

Products for which demand peaked in cool weather included baking mixes, candy, hot cereal, cookies, crackers, deserts, flour, canned fruit, dried fruit, canned vegetables, honey, certain pet food specialties, salt, seasonings, spices, salted nuts, syrups and molasses, frozen baked goods and pot pies, frozen poultry, frozen prepared foods, frozen prepared vegetables, refrigerated cakes and rolls, and soups.

Products that rose during spring and summer included juice drinks, plastic and paper cups and plates, pickles and relishes, prepared mustard, salad dressings, mayonnaise, potato chips, pretzels, soft drinks, tea, frozen meat, refrigerated salads and first aid supplies.

Two-Peak Categories
Some items had more than one seasonal peak. Marshmallows, which sold 68 per cent above average in mid-summer, also sold 23 per cent above average before Christmas. Chili sauce was 31 per cent above average in summer and in the holiday season. Tea products sold better during hot weather and again during the late winter cold season. Mouthwashes peaked to 34 per cent above average during late winter although most hygiene product sales were relatively constant during the year.

In early fall, sales of candy bars shot up 67 per cent, flash bulbs 42 per cent, film 86 per cent and bubble gum 84 per cent. That's back-to-school time.

Hair conditioning rinses, hair sets and home permanent kits sold well above average in spring, permanent dyes and tints peaked in the fall, while temporary hair coloring products peaked sharply in early spring and early fall.

Big Mail Theft Witness Slain

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has disclosed its main witness in a conspiracy case involving $43 million in stocks and securities stolen from the U.S. mails was found shot to death just two days after a grand jury returned a sealed indictment in a secret session.

The Miami slaying of John B. Eaton was the second shooting of a key suspect in mail thefts from New York's crime-ridden Kennedy Airport in little more than a month.

Eaton's body was found in a field near Miami International Airport June 27, just a month and a day, after another man charged in a stock theft from the mails was found stuffed in an abandoned car at Kennedy Airport.

The Federal indictment in Miami charged the remaining 10 men with conspiracy to dispose of the $43 million in securities stolen from registered mail at Kennedy Airport being sent between brokers and banks from 1967 through 1969.

Eaton, charged in a stock theft last year, was found slain in a field west of the Miami airport only two days after the stock conspiracy charges were returned by a grand jury that kept the indictment sealed until Monday.

A federal attorney in Miami has named another man charged in a case involving allegedly forged U.S. savings bonds as a prime suspect in Eaton's death.

Joel J. Rostau, 34, Los Angeles, who had been charged with interstate theft of securities from the mail at Kennedy, was found shot to death May 26 in a parked car at that airport.

The car had been rented in Boston and driven to New York at least 12 days before the California man's body was found. The slaying was similar to the fatal shooting of a suspect in another mail fraud case who was found in an abandoned rental car at LaGuardia Airport in New York several months earlier.

Asst. U.S. atty. Neal Sonnett in Miami described Eaton as a key government informant in the stock conspiracy case.

"He had been named a co-defendant in the case for his own protection," Sonnett said.

The 14-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury in Miami June 25 named 10 other defendants besides Eaton.

The Miami indictments capped a year-long investigation that was spurred by the arrests in Miami last year of four other men on charges of possessing $500,000 in bonds stolen as part of a $15 million shipment at Kennedy Airport.

A postal inspector said Eaton, arrested last fall for possession of other stock stolen from the mails en route from Miami to New York, had been a key figure in developing the 10 indictments, even though he had not testified before the grand jury.

Sonnett said he was uncertain whether there was any connection between the slayings of Eaton and Rostau, but said, "Our investigation is continuing."

In New York, federal authorities had no progress to report in the Rostau slaying.

Private Companies To Try Incentive Plan In Education Experiment

By TOM SEPPY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Eighteen school districts will be selected today for a one-year experiment in which private companies will be paid on their ability to improve the reading and mathematical skills of poor children.

Six firms will work with 15,000 children in the $5 million, one-year experiment which advocates say could lead to dramatic changes in educating all children.

The Office of Economic Opportunity announced plans for the experiment in a May 14 news conference during which Director Donald Rumsfeld said it could revolutionize primary and secondary education.

BAGGAGE SEARCH

MANILA (UPI) — Three Philippine domestic airlines have agreed to search all baggage, including hand-carried luggage. The move was taken after investigations revealed explosives caused a recent plane crash and the damaging of another in the air.

observations of reconnaissance satellites, shows the Russians began new sites for the giant SS9 missiles, as well as smaller SS11 and SS13 intercontinental missiles, in the past several months.

Officials contend these reports support Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's flat statement last week that Soviet missile "momentum has not slowed down" and that the Russians pushed ahead with new starts both after U.S.-Soviet arms limitation talks opened in Helsinki last November and since those negotiations resumed in Vienna in mid-April.

Although the SS9 with its multiwarhead has been billed by the Nixon administration as the chief threat to U.S. minuteman missiles in a surprise attack, the SS11 and the SS13 are regarded by military experts as part of the potential danger to the U.S. land-based deterrent force.

There is no evidence yet the Russians are developing multiple warheads for the SS11s and the SS13s.

However, tests monitored this year have noted not only improved accuracy for the SS11, but greater versatility, involving more sophisticated devices, such as decoys, for penetrating antimissile defenses.

Soviet Missiles More Accurate?

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet tests this year indicate the Russians have improved the accuracy of their SS11 intercontinental ballistic missiles, defense sources say.

Officials stopped short of saying the SS11 had become a serious threat to the United States' own ICBM—the Minuteman—but they strongly suggested it has progressed in that direction.

The information became available as controversy mounted over whether the Soviets had stopped building new missile sites recently, perhaps to enhance chances for agreement on nuclear arms limitation.

Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., claimed in the House Monday he has information that the Russians refrained from building any new SS9 missile sites for the nine months before June.

Defense officials insisted that hard intelligence, gleaned from

Redistricting Seen Big Time-Consuming Issue

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott has told democrats running for the General Assembly and other posts that the most time-consuming issue before the 1971 legislature will be redistricting.

He told a Democratic campaign conference Monday that he does not agree that the question of repealing tax increases made by the 1969 General Assembly will be the biggest issue before the 1971 session.

"I would say you are going to spend more time on redistricting than anything else — legislative and congressional redistricting," he added.

During the conference, which came as a prelude to today's state Democratic convention,

Scott also vigorously defended North Carolina's gasoline tax, which at 11 cents a gallon is the highest in the nation.

He said that doesn't tell the whole story because North Carolina is the only state that builds and maintains all its roads solely with state funds, and the state road system is the biggest in the nation.

In other states, he said, counties and townships build and maintain their roads through property taxes, tolls and with other tax levies.

He said that when the tax funds used by other states are added to their gasoline levy, "there are 28 other states with rates as high or higher than North Carolina."

"We've got to remember," Scott said, "that North Carolina does not use property taxes to finance roads, it does not use toll roads, and we do not use money from the General Fund as many states do."

Scott reiterated that he does not plan to ask the lawmakers for additional taxes in 1971, but he said he does not regard that session as "a lame duck session."

"I will present to the General Assembly a strong and vigorous program for your consideration that will continue North Carolina's march down the road of progress," he stated.

political arena, he said, "are simply avoiding the real issues of life and death, of sin and salvation."

Of course religion must be relevant, but relevant to what? Relevant to Vietnam? To the draft? To the demands of black militants for reparations? In Dr. Currin's view, these are secondary to the main concern of the pulpit and the church, which is to be relevant to God.

Reading Dr. Currin's sermon, I was vividly reminded of Edmund Burke's denunciation, nearly 180 years ago, of a radical Unitarian preacher who had taken to the pulpit to support the revolution in France. His sermon was a political polemic. Few harangues, said Burke, ever breathed less of a spirit of moderation: "Supposing, however, that something like moderation were visible in this political sermon; yet politics and the pulpit are terms that have little agreement. No sound ought to be heard in the church but the healing voice of Christian charity. Surely the church is a place where one day's truce ought to be allowed to the dissensions and animosities of mankind."

Burke was right then, and Dr. Currin is right today, but voices of reason, restraint and moderation are too often overwhelmed. The cacophony mounts; and the congregations decline.

waitress smiles and says she'll hurry it up.

A man with a big, black cigar sits at the front booth, polluting the air and food with his smoke, and snarls, "Worse damn service, I've ever seen. You would think these gals weren't working for a living. Look at that one over there with one foot out of her shoe. By golly, I'd fire her. They are crazy as the devil if they think they're going to get a tip from me."

The gal with the foot out of the shoe had been working for seven hours already.

Seven hours of smiling and standing and walking and dodging pinches.

One middle-age waitress said, "It's not all bad. There are some nice people who come in and they smile and they order and they chat with you and they treat you like humans. But, I've got to admit, those kind are few and far between."

Another waitress said, "You would be surprised at the many ways the customer has to gain your attention. There are the nice ones, realizing you may be busy, who try to signal, with a finger or a hand, or a wave. But there's the whistler, the loud cougher, the grumbler, the yellor and the one who says nothing to you, but turns to the next table and shouts, "What's holding up that gal. You got the same trouble we got here, getting anybody to wait on you."

At one of the large tables in the restaurant, a flabby man who had ordered a steak sent it back because it was too rare and he snarled, "Dumb waitresses, don't do nothing right."

The waitress said later, "We serve the people; we don't cook the food, but the customer takes it out on us. He takes out all his anger for the day on us, rather he is mad at his wife, or his office, or his secretary, we catch it."

Then the waitress added, as she pocketed the 25 cent tip, "Yes, we depend a lot on tips. "But, I'll tell you the truth, I'd trade a lot of tips just to hear someone say, "Thank You."

"Maybe," she said, "that would make it all worthwhile. Just a nice thank you."

Hey Frank! See Jack Now

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — You remember Jack Nicklaus—the 30-year-old golfer that fellow pro Frank Beard, in his book, said was washed up.

"That's the same hogwash I've been listening to for three years," frowned Nicklaus. "I was over the hill at 27, at 28 and at 29. Now I'm through at 30."

While Beard, yet to win a major title, remained in the United States, the trimmed-down Nicklaus edged Doug Sanders in a playoff for the British Open championship at classic old St. Andrews, Scotland.

"Any golfer worth his salt has to cross the sea and try to win the British Open," Nicklaus said, fingering the 98-year-old British Open trophy. "When you drive up to the Royal and Ancient Golf Club, you have to be motivated."

Beard wrote in his book that Jack's links desire had waned. That he didn't work at it any longer. That the incentive just wasn't there.

"I am 30 and have won 10 major golf championships," Nicklaus said, pushing back overgrown blond hair. "Bobby Jones, the biggest name in golf history, won a record 13."

"I plan to win 14 and keep on going."

It was only by the grace of Sanders' errant putter that Nicklaus had a shot at his second British crown. Doug blew a three-footer in Saturday's final round on No. 18, sending the classic into a playoff.

Nicklaus, as the boxing buffs say, will be a "fighting champion." He will play this week's Philadelphia Classic and keep going for another four weeks without a rest.

"I played the best 72 holes of my life—from tee to green—at St. Andrews," he said following a nine-hour flight from London to Miami. "No bad drives, no real trouble. My putting wasn't super. I used as many strokes on the big greens as I did off them."

The greens at the St. Andrews Old Course average six acres in size, compared to three acres on United States courses.

Nicklaus feels his previous major titles came in such rapid-fire fashion that, "I didn't fully realize the importance. Then after going three years without such a victory, I am suddenly absorbing the 100 per cent meaning."

"It'll take me a week to unwind from this win," he continued. "I can't see how I'll be up for the Philadelphia tournament, but I'd like to be."

The ancient British Open trophy, bearing golf's most famous names of the past century, was still in two parts when the Nicklaus arrived back home. Tony Jacklin, who won the 1969 title, had lost the key to its case and officials had to force open the lock.

"I guess Tony didn't mean to lose it again," said Jack. "His name hadn't even been engraved on it. Neither had Gary Player's who won in 1968. I'll spend a few bob and have their names engraved on it—so I can put my own."

Pro Camps Are Closed To Vets

NEW YORK (AP) — There's no agreement, so the training camp gates will not be open to National Football League veterans, the owners say.

George Halas, owner of the Chicago Bears and president of the National Conference of the NFL, and Lamar Hunt, Kansas City Chiefs owner and American Conference president, said Monday the camps would open on schedule for rookies—players who have not been on any team's active roster for a regular season game in any previous year—but not for veterans.

The action was agreed on after the NFL Players' Association instructed veteran players not to report as scheduled.

Although there is a possibility of a strike by the players, negotiations on a new agreement between the players Association and an owners committee, headed by Tex Schramm of the Dallas Cowboys, have been continuing. The two groups met in New York Monday.

The following reasons were given by the owners for banning veterans from camps until a settlement is reached:

—Each club will get the same amount of training time for veterans and the games' competitive scale will remain balanced.

—Allowing some veterans to report on their own would prove a disruptive influence.

Williams Left Off Star Team

By JOE MOOSHIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Despite a .317 average, 26 home runs and 80 runs batted in, don't look for Billy Williams' name on the National League All-Star roster.

Instead of going to Cincinnati Monday, the Chicago Cub slugger packed up, picked up Tom McCraw of the Chicago White Sox and headed for a Wisconsin fishing holiday.

Williams, who has appeared in four previous All-Star games, was truly a victim of circumstances.

The Cub double play combination of Don Kessinger and Glenn Beckert was voted on the team by the fans and Manager Gil Hodges of the New York Mets had to make a tough choice.

He could have taken Williams or teammate Jim Hickman, who in nine years never came close to making an All-Star team. Hodges chose Hickman at the apparent expense of Williams. Cub Manager Leo Durorher chose not to get in on any controversy and said "Williams is some kind of player who is having some kind of a year and I'm just tickled pink that Hickman made the team."

Williams, who has a current record streak of 1,067 consecutive games going, had mixed emotions on being left off the squad.

"I didn't give it much thought a couple of weeks ago," said Williams "and really didn't care to play because I need the rest. Then I got into that hot streak."

"When I wasn't selected I looked at my credentials and thought 'What does a guy have to do to make it?' I guess you could say I'm a little disappointed only because when you make the team you know you're with the best."

"But on the other hand, I'm tired and I can't really use the rest," said Williams. "I've got all the fishing gear packed and Tommy and I are going to have a lot of fun fishing."

Palmer Wonders How He Can Relax Tonight

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — Everybody wonders what kind of bounces the baseballs will take tonight in the first All-Star Game ever played on a wall-to-wall carpet. Everybody except Jim Palmer.

Palmer, whose strong right arm hopefully will provide the impetus for an American League challenge to the National's seven-year All-Star reign, is more concerned about balls that don't bounce. And he has 148 good reasons to worry.

"How am I going to relax tonight with that line-up waiting for me?" the Baltimore Orioles' pitching ace mused Monday after he was given the AL starting assignment opposite Tom Seaver of the New York Mets in the 41st All-Star Classic.

Lined up against Palmer on the Astroturf of glossy Riverfront Stadium, new home of the Cincinnati Reds, will be six of the game's most prolific longball hitters—San Francisco's Willie Mays, St. Louis' Richie Allen, Atlanta's Hank Aaron, Cincinnati's Tony Perez, Rico Carty of the Braves and Johnny Bench of the Reds.

They have belted a total of 148 home runs this season while batting an aggregate .313.

"When I heard Seaver was pitching, I thought he might be an out man for me," Palmer said. "Then I found out he hit one too last week."

Seaver, the National League's 1969 Cy Young Award winner, hit his first major league homer last Thursday night while beating Montreal for his 14th victory of the year. He has pitched three scoreless innings in two previous All-Star appearances.

Palmer, 12-6, will be making his All-Star debut. He got the starting nod from AL Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles because of the National's predominantly right-hand hitting lineup. All of the NL starters swing from the right side except shortstop Don Kessinger, a switcher.

Legion Sets Series Play

Greenville's American Legion baseball team will entertain Smithfield-Selma here Wednesday night in the second game of the best-of-five series between the two teams in the Area One Semi-finals.

The game, starting at 5 p.m., will be played at East Carolina University's field.

Weaver, who intends to follow Palmer with southpaw Sam McDowell of Cleveland and right-hander Jim Perry of Minnesota, hopes the early right-to-right ratio will be to his club's advantage.

Palmer isn't taking anything for granted, however. "I've pitched against some of them before," he said. "Aaron almost killed Brooks Robinson with a line drive off me in an exhibition game. Bench hit a grand slam homer off me in the International League a couple of years ago."

"Somebody told me Perez hits the curve ball, hits the fast ball and hits the slider. There's not much else to throw him, is there?"

While Palmer should have his hands full against the NL deep-starting leadoff man Mays, a perennial sparkler in All-Star play, there'll be no easy pickings for Seaver and his thus far unnamed successors, either.

Power also abounds in the American League line-up with Harmon Killebrew, 26 homers, Frank Howard, 24, Boog Powell, 23, and Carl Yastrzemski, 21, the foremost fence-busters.

"There are great players in both leagues," said National League skipper Gil Hodges of the Mets. "There always have been. I think maybe the National League has just had more good days in All-Star games."

St. James Out Of Church Field

The second regular season winner in the Church Softball League went down to defeat in the post-season tournament last night, as Meadowbrook edged out St. James, 8-6, in the American Division playoffs. In the other game, third-place finisher Presbyterian beat second-place Trinity, 13-4, to move into the league finals.

Those will be played tonight, with Presbyterian and Meadowbrook meeting at 9 p.m. after Black Mack and Mt. Pleasant collide in the National Division game at 7:30 p.m. All four teams will move into double elimination play in the City Tournament, starting Thursday.

In the opener, Presbyterian pushed over a run in the first inning, but Trinity came back with three in the second, all on a homer by Leroy Sasser.

It stayed that way until the fourth inning, when Presbyterian came up with three runs to move out again, 4-3. They went on to add four more in the fifth, including homers by Fuller and Jackson. They picked up five more in the sixth, with Fuller getting another homer. Trinity picked up its other run in the seventh.

Sasser, Smith Worthington, Jerry Boyd, Kenneth Manning and Donnie Bowen each had two hits for Trinity, while Fuller and Johnston had three and Briley, Oswald and Graham had two each for Presbyterian.

Meadowbrook got the lead in its game with a run in the second inning on a homer by Carl Power. St. James matched that in the bottom of the inning, however. Meadowbrook went back ahead with one in the third, but St. James again tied it with a homer by Jim Smith in the fourth.

In the fifth, Meadowbrook pushed over four runs to take a 6-2 lead, and St. James came right back with four more to retie it for the third time.

But finally, in the seventh, Meadowbrook added two more, and held off St. James, getting the win and eliminating the champs.

Wayne Nelson, Bobby Harris, Linwood Owens, Carl Power and Carson Heath each had two hits for Meadowbrook. Roy Carawan, Smith and Bill Shan each had two for St. James.

Pitt County Also In Opening Round Victory

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Pitt County and Greenville advanced in the Babe Ruth Area Seven Tournament last night, picking up victories. Pitt rolled to a 7-0 win over Carteret County, while Greenville struggled past New Bern in an extra inning affair, 4-3.

The win sends Pitt County into a bye situation, as they do not play tonight. Greenville will meet Havelock at 8:30 tonight, in a preliminary meeting Pitt County will play Wednesday night at the same time. Carteret and New Bern play tonight at 6 p.m. with the loser going home. The winner will meet tonight's Greenville - Havelock loser Wednesday at 6 p.m.

The tournament will continue through Thursday night.

Carteret County never got off a serious threat as Pitt's Lee Cherry handcuffed them with five hits. He struck out six and walked two. Two men reached in the second inning on a walk and a single with two outs, but did no damage. A double play in the third finished off their hopes when a man got as far as third.

With one out, Tom Frazier had singled and David Lewis followed with another hit, putting runners on first and second. The next batter hit a foul fly off the first base line, and after the catch, Frazier managed to beat the throw to third. Lewis broke for second, and the third baseman, Bobby Daniels, wheeled to throw. That pulled Frazier off third, and Daniels whirled around and put the tag on him.

Two other men reached second for Carteret, in the fifth and seventh, but got no further.

Pitt got off a threat in the first inning, putting two men on, as far as second and third, but they were unable to score.

Then, in the second, they connected as Mike Griffin hit the first of two homers with no one aboard for a 1-0 lead.

In the third, Pitt exploded for four more runs, all coming on homers. Dail Manning, who had a perfect 4-for-4 night, led off with a blast over the right field fence. Cherry followed with a single to center, and that brought up Griffin for the second time. He picked up his second homer, this time with Cherry beating him to the plate. Phil Lewis closed out the inning with another homer, to left field, running the lead out to 5-0.

Griffin helped out again in the fifth, getting his third hit (he went 3-for-3), a double. Glenn Dwyer reached on an error, allowing Griffin to come the rest of the way to score.

The final run came in the seventh. Cherry led off with a walk and moved to second on a single by Bobby Wooten. Griffin was walked, loading the bases and Dwyer singled to left, scoring Cherry with the seventh run.

Besides Manning's four and Griffin's three hits, Lewis finished up with two.

While the first game was wide open, the second was a nip-and-tuck affair all the way.

Stanley Cobb of Greenville and Wade Lamb of New Bern wrapped up in a pitching duel. Both gave up four hits, but it was 10 walks, as compared to eight by Cobb that helped to spell the difference Cobb struck out 15, while only eight went down to Lamb.

Both teams had chances in the early inning, but Greenville drew first blood, in the third inning. With one out, J. C. Daniels laced a single into right field. John Barwick followed that up with a homer over the right field fence, giving Greenville a 2-0 lead.

It stayed that way until the fifth inning, when New Bern rallied on two unearned runs to tie it up. Lamb led off with a walk, and was safe at second when Stuart Edwards' grounder to short was thrown away at second. James Melton singled to short left, loading the bases. David Land followed with a single to right, bringing in Lamb with the first run. A passed ball let Edwards score from third with the tying run.

Greenville moved back ahead in the top of the seventh. Barwick got a one-out single to left and moved on to second when the ball got by the fielder. Bill Lee walked and David Clifton hit what appeared to be an easy grounder to first. But the pickup was muffed, and Barwick raced safely across the plate with the go-ahead run.

But New Bern was hit finished. They came back with a run to tie it up again. Land walked to open the bottom of the seventh, and scored easily when Roland Hill, trying to make up for the error that allowed Greenville to take the lead, tripled down the right field line. But Hill was unable to score himself, and forced an extra inning.

Greenville then got the winning run in the top of the eighth. Seth Jones was hit by a pitch and moved up when Herb Wilkerson walked, Daniels grounded out to first, moving both runners up, and Barwick drove in his third run of the night with a single to short center, scoring Jones with the winning run.

The defense in the game was highlighted by two fine plays, both by the opposing catchers. In the second inning, Greenville's Seth Jones charged into the New Bern dugout, making a one-handed catch just before hitting the bat rack. Then, in the sixth, with the bases loaded, New Bern's David Land chased down a wild pitch in time to throw out a Greenville runner at the plate.

Play in the tournament continues tonight.

available to East. He could continue with the queen of diamonds in an attempt to suit a second trick in that suit if his partner had led from the king. He could switch to a club, or he could lead his singleton heart in the hope of eventually obtaining a heart ruff.

Inasmuch as the ace of trumps provided East with a fundamental-control over the proceedings, he decided to try for the ruff. The three of hearts was returned at trick two and the trick was won in dummy by the queen. A spade was led to declarer's jack as East followed with the four. He did not want to release his ace until West had an opportunity to make a discard and thereby provide East with some information.

A second round of trumps was led and West showed out, signaling with the ten of clubs. East was in with the ace of spades and he shifted to the nine of clubs. By returning his highest club, he intended to make it clear to his partner that he did not have an honor in the suit. West covered South's queen with the ace and he returned a heart. East ruffed with the five of spades to score the setting trick.

The bidding: Four of East earned his triumph in defending against South's four spade contract by maintaining a flexible attitude and adopting a plan of campaign that offered him the greatest scope.

West opened the four of diamonds and East played the ace. The latter now found himself in charge of the defense, and he surveyed the scene carefully before embarking on a definite course.

herself in age. Thus, the boy-girl age ratio may be 21-20 or 24-24, etc.

But carefree young men haven't yet earned their "spurs" in our competitive system, yet they wish to appear dominant and experienced.

A school teacher subconsciously exudes the authority of "management" whereas the boy friend is like the typical carefree employee who doesn't worry beyond punching the timeclock tomorrow morning.

If you school teachers thus wish to date young men of your own age, then you must be smart enough to act dumb!

And you should affect a helplessness that you don't feel! Lean upon your boy friend for advice! Hold to his arm tightly when you cross the street. Purposely act more like the clinging vine type.

Or else set your sights for men who are 10 years older than you are and who will thus be able to appreciate your superior talents without feeling competitive with you!

Since you seldom realize that you exude the atmosphere of "management" and thus reduce him to the "Mamma-Little Boy" feeling of inferiority, you must consciously cultivate helplessness.

Ask him for advice instead of showing your superior judgment.

Remember, men don't associate glamor and romance with "mamma" or with a "bossy, superior female." This applies to you nurses, also!

So send for the "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c and learn how to help your inferior male escort feel superior to you!

That's the gimmick that makes Cupid work overtime!

Fund-Raising And Pitt Goals Offered At NAACP Meeting

"We intend to make this county aware of our presence. We intend to make Pitt County sensitive to our wants, our needs and desires," D.D. Garrett, president of the United Pitt County Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Sunday night at a meeting at which he outlined the group's program.

Garrett, at the meeting held at the Hayes Chapel Baptist Church in Pactolus, proposed that "every member of the NAACP bring in three members" and give $5 over and above his membership; that "every black business give at least $25; that every black church give at least $50; that every social and civic organization give $25; and that "each township is expected to put on a fund raising project in 1970."

Some "demands" of the NAACP-chapter members were also proposed by Garrett. "As your president," Garrett said, I am demanding: "That you respect yourself. That you respect the property of others. That every Monday be set aside as registering and voting day here in Pitt County," and "that we learn to love each other right now."

Garrett also proposed, "That we spend our monies with our black brothers whenever possible; that you obtain full citizenship;" and "that we get together right now."

"Demands from our white brothers" proposed by Garrett included: "fair housing; fair employment practices at federal, state and local levels; protection and justice under the law; and change of the white's image and concept of the black man."

Commenting on local affairs in Greenville, Garrett said "I am not a political science major, but I do not see nor understand how the Mayor of the City (Frank Wooten) can sue the city and at the same time serve as Mayor. (Garrett was referring to Wooten's bid to restrain the City and the Redevelopment Commission from carrying out the proposed Central Business District redevelopment project now in the final stages of planning.)

"I have no objection to Mr. Wooten appealing his case or fighting the city," Garrett continued, "but I do think if he is going to do it, he ought to resign as Mayor."

Turning his attention to a July 8 meeting between black leaders and members of the city council over suspending the pay of a Greenville police officer who shot a Negro man during an affray at Pitt Memorial Hospital, Garrett said, "I would like to set the record straight."

"On that night... he (Mayor Wooten) said to me by phone, that he... did not see the good that he could do by coming down town at that hour of the night."

"My reply," the NAACP president explained, "was, 'have you thought of the damage you might cause by not coming?'"

"The newspapers stated: Mayor Wooten said the request for him to meet with the group's representatives was accompanied by a threat to 'burn down the town' if the meeting was not held," Garrett said.

Bigger Sale Of Auto Racing Today The Compact Cars 'In' Sport Of Hollywood

By LOWELL MCKIRGAN
Associated Press Writer
DETROIT (AP) — American car buyers turned increasingly to compact—particularly the Plymouth Valiant Duster—during the first half of 1970.
Chrysler Corp., sold 103,252 Dusters as it led the industry in sales for the period despite the flop of the luxury Imperial, off 55.3 per cent from the first half of 1969.

The compact Valiant line, which includes the two-door Duster and the older four-door Valiant, improved its first half sales 177 per cent from 1969. Next best improvement was posted by the Plymouth Barracuda, a redesigned specialty car, at 58 per cent. Third was the Ford Maverick at 37 per cent and fourth was the Dodge Dart with a 9.1 per cent gain.

All the big gainers were compact. Ford Mustang sales were off 48.5 per cent.
Compacts as a class increased their share of the total car market from 10.3 per cent in 1969 to 16.6 per cent this year.

Total industry sales in the United States were down 9.5 per cent at 3,971,428.
Richard K. Brown, Chrysler-Plymouth division general manager, said Monday the success of the Duster reflected "the trend of consumer interest toward the more economical type car."

The Duster accounted for 83.7 per cent of the total Valiant line sales of 123,386 during the first half. A year ago—before introduction of the Duster—the Valiant sold 44,549 cars.
The Duster can be purchased for a low of $2,172 excluding delivery and state-local taxes. That's for the no-nonsense version with a six-cylinder engine. Powerful engines, exotic paints and other options can drive the price way up.

While the Valiant line claimed the top percentage increase in sales, the Ford Maverick was No. 1 in compact sales with 204,397 and the Chevrolet Nova second with 145,454.
The Maverick was introduced on April 17, 1969 and therefore there is no first six months comparison with 1969. However, the daily sales rate percentage gain is 37 per cent.
The Nova registered a 3.4 per cent gain over 1969's first half. The intermediate Olds F85, the specialty Plymouth Barracuda and Chevrolet Corvete, a sports car, were other nameplates posting gains over 1969.

The specialty Chevrolet Monte Carlo, new for 1970, sold 62,708 cars. Other new ones which sold well were the American Motors subcompact Gremlin and the specialty Dodge Challenger.

Burt Lancaster Target Of Suit
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A Beverly Hills attorney has filed a $24 million lawsuit against Burt Lancaster and several of the actor's business associates, claiming they defrauded him of ownership of the chic Bistro Restaurant.

Also listed as defendants in the suit Monday were Norma Productions, Inc.; Jack M. Ostrow, secretary of the company, and Sol Rosenthal.

The suit, filed in Superior Court by Arthur G. Lawrence, says Lancaster and the others broke an oral contract with Lawrence on foreclosure transactions and fraudulently obtained title to the building which houses the Beverly Hills restaurant and three other firms. Lancaster and his business associates were not available for comment.

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In every era the film colony has had its own "in" sport. Now it's auto racing.
Polo was the rage in the 1930s, with Walt Disney, Will Rogers, Spencer Tracy and other notables playing before stellar crowds every Sunday. Then Charles Farrell's Racquet Club in Palm Springs helped make tennis the fashionable sport.
Bing Crosby and Bob Hope created the craze for golf, and hunting was furthered by such he-men as Clark Gable, Gary Cooper and Robert Taylor. The trend toward speed cars will be demonstrated Aug. 9 with a pro-amateur Celebrity Invitational Race at the brand-new Ontario Motor Speedway. Among those already announced for the race are Paul Newman, Dick Smothers and director Roman Polanski, as well as astronaut Pete Conrad.

Other possibilities include Robert Redford, Clint Eastwood and James Garner. Steve McQueen would probably like to enter the race, which will contribute $50,000 to the Motion Picture and Television Relief Fund. But he's in Europe making a movie about car racing.

What attracts the stars to the dangerous sport? David Lockton, president of the Ontario Speedway, offers this explanation:
"I may be prejudiced, but I think race drivers are the heroes of the 1970s. Take a man like Mario Andretti. Last year he made over $900,000—but he could be dead tomorrow.
"The superheroes of today—movie stars and astronauts—need heroes of their own, and they find such to admire in race drivers. Racing is also an excellent release from the tensions these superheroes are under."

"Paul Newman and I own a formula Ford, and we sometimes spend 12 hours racing around the track, one after the other. When we're done, we feel that we have put in a hard day's exercise. The mental relaxation is incalculable."

The Ontario plant, 40 miles east of Los Angeles, has Hollywood backing. During the formative stages Lockton discussed the project with Kirk Douglas. He was so impressed with the actor's ideas that Douglas was added to the board of directors. Dick Smothers is another member, and Newman is likely to be added.

The $25.5-million raceway is taking shape amid the orange groves of Ontario. After the preview with the pro-am celebrity race, the track will officially open with the California 500 on Sept. 6. The stadium is designed to seat 140,000 and Lockton hopes to fill it.
"We had three surveys made before we went ahead with the project," Lockton, 33 said. "Twelve million people live within a 150-mile radius of the track, nine million within 70 miles. And there is a greater density of auto racing fans in Southern California than anywhere else in the country."

But it's the nonfans that the track needs to attract, Lockton admitted, and the advertising is aimed at them. The track will be in-use daily with tests, television commercials and tours; there will be 35-40 racing days. Is that enough to make the enterprise pay off?
"Yes," replied Lockton. "The California 500 itself is expected to gross $83 million."

Alcohol Tops Drug Abuses
CHAPEL HILL (AP) — The North Carolina state toxicologist ranks alcohol first and marijuana last in safety on the list of drugs that people abuse.

"Undoubtedly, the most abused drug in the past or present is ethyl alcohol," said Dr. Arthur J. McBay.
He spoke Monday to more than 60 school officials at the opening session of a week-long drug abuse education project for teachers at the University of North Carolina School of Pharmacy.

"Marijuana in the form most often used in this country is the safest of the abused drugs," he added. "The long-term effects of its continued use is not known. The effects of concentrates (hashish) or the active ingredients are not known either."
In between alcohol and marijuana, McBay listed the barbiturates, heroin, speed, amphetamines and LSD.

Speaking of alcohol, McBay said, "efforts to control this drug have been unsuccessful. More people have been killed both directly and indirectly, by the abuse of this central nervous system depressant than by any other drug."

Mercury Poisoning In 2 N.C. Streams

RALEIGH (AP) — Earl Hubbard, assistant director of the Department of Water and Air Resources, says traces of poisonous mercury have been found in two streams in North Carolina.

One of these was in the lower Cape Fear River around Acme, near Wilmington in the southeastern portion of the state. The other was in Scott's Creek at Sylva in the west. They were reported by the Federal Water Quality Administration.

Hubbard said tests of the discharge from the Riegall Paper Co. into the Cape Fear river have found 26 micrograms per liter of mercury — "a very small concentration." It is equivalent to .026 milligrams per liter.

Pay $11,000 For Used Containers
MOUNT VERNON, Wash. (AP) — In an attempt to make Skagit County somewhat tidier, First Federal Savings & Loan Association offered two cents apiece for bottles and cans removed from the landscape.

The citizenry had responded with approximately 550,000 of the used containers when the cleanup drive ended at the weekend, costing the firm $11,000.
Rex Wilson, vice president of First Federal, said the response was a lot greater than he had bargained for, but commented: "We deal mostly in real estate. What better investment could we make than in prettifying up the landscape?"

"It is less than that normally considered toxic," he said, noting that about half a milligram per liter is the level considered hazardous.

He pointed out that the measurement was made from material being dumped into the river and was not a measure of the concentration of mercury in the river.

He said the mercury resulted from the manufacture of caustic soda and chlorine on the Cape Fear river by Allied Chemical Co. The material is used by Riegall Paper Co., which processes and discharges the waste from the process.
The mercury traces found in Scott's creek were below the Mead Paper Corp., which also uses chlorine and caustic soda.

"We are planning to collect some samples in the rivers," Hubbard said. "If they are excessive, action will be taken. We will be working with the companies to see if there is any way to eliminate the levels of mercury discharged in their waste."

Police Killed In Battling Huks

MANILA (AP) — Three more national policemen were killed today in a raid on a hideout of the Huk rebels in Balacan, north of Manila, military officials reported. On Saturday, in two clashes with Huks, six national police were killed in Pampanga, also north of the capital, and a seventh in Cavite, to the south. No Huk casualties were reported.

Area Rotarians Gather Here; Plan Activities

An area meeting of Rotary clubs was conducted by District Governor Robert L. Stallings, Jr., in Greenville, Monday evening, with Past District Governors Charles L. McCullers of Dunn and James W. Butler of Greenville assisting.

Club administration, membership extension, and service projects for the Rotary year which began July 1 were discussed.

The session followed the Greenville Rotary Club meeting, at which Marvin Blount, Jr., presented Manager Jim Slaughter of the East Carolina Summer Theater as speaker, to discuss the current season.

These club presidents were present: Tom Steadman, Belhaven; Joe Hunnicutt, Bethel; Robert T. McLaughery, Farmville; Dr. Joe Pou, Greenville; Raymond Taylor, Snow Hill; Tony Chesjon, Vanceboro.

These secretaries also were present: Paul K. Ewell, Farmville; James G. Sullivan, Greenville; Donald Witherington, Vanceboro.

L.M. Buchanan, a director of the Greenville Rotary Club, was in attendance.

Governor Stallings announced that the annual conference of District 773 will be held in New Bern on March 26 and 27, 1971.

Discuss Roots Of Disharmony

The Rev. John Taylor called a meeting of leaders of the local black community and City Police Chief T.E. Gladson and City Manager Harry Hagerty held yesterday afternoon "very productive."

The racial unrest which has resulted from the shooting of a black man by a white police officer last Monday was the reason for the meeting, he said.

"We are simply attempting to rebuild a bridge of communication between two parts of the community who have widely differing views of the same situation," he said. "We talked about some specifics of the Summerell case, but mainly about the disharmony which has come to the surface since the incident a week ago."

Julius Stewart Summerell was the man shot by Officer Barley Phillips while Phillips was attempting to arrest him.

Those attending yesterday's meeting included Taylor, Dr. Andrew Best, a local physician who is a member of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council, and D.D. Garrett, an insurance man who is the newly elected president of the Pitt County Chapter of the NAACP.

Discussed, Taylor said, were measures that each person, group, and agency can take to insure more confidence in administrative agencies. "We hope that in the future people will refrain from making irresponsible statements that might lead to hard feeling within our community," Taylor added.

Relates Recreation Highlights In June

Highlights of Recreation Department activities for the month of June was given by director Boyd Lee to members of the Recreation Commission at their monthly meeting last night.

These include: —ALL STAR SOFTBALL — A new annual affair, the Men's Church League All-Star game was held in June. Woody Peele, sports editor of the Daily Reflector, presented awards to various players.

—DRAMA — The children's drama classes attracted more participation than expected. The group, under Mrs. Beth Cayton, has more than 40 children taking part. Their first production was held July 10 in the amphitheater on ECU campus. Another production is scheduled for the end of the summer.

—DAY CAMP — The three week camp program has been completed and was felt to have been successful. Three special education teachers from the county schools were available for the program this summer.

—SWIMMING — It was reported the Port-A-Pool at South Greenville has not attracted as many people as it did last summer. The reason for this is believed to be the fact the pool is geared for teaching children to swim, whereas last year it was used for free play in the water.

—EPPE'S JUNIOR HIGH — The summer program conducted jointly by the Recreation Department and the Boys' Club of Greenville has resulted in an overflow of crowds each day for the activities. Thoughts are being given to a possible autumn program because of the popularity of the summer program.

—MAINTENANCE — Despite a busy schedule, the maintenance crew has found time to construct playground equipment for the Housing Authority in the Moyewood Project. This equipment is urgently needed to give small children in the area something to play on.

British See Big Deficit

LONDON (AP) — British trade with the rest of the world went $122.4 million in the red in June, the biggest monthly deficit in 17 months, the Board of Trade announced today.

It was the third monthly trade deficit in a row, with losses of $24 million in April and $74.4 million in May. This brought down the monthly average from a profit of $26.4 million during the first quarter of the year to a deficit of $73.6 million in the second quarter.

The June figures, the first published by the new Conservative government, supported the Tory charge during the June election campaign that the nation's foreign trade performance was still imperiling its economic health despite claims by Harold Wilson's Labor government that it reversed the deficit trend.

There was no immediate comment today from Prime Minister Edward Heath's office, but the Board of Trade attributed the June performance partly to reduced exports to the United States and Canada at a time when British imports were rising.

—ASK LIMITATION — The Secret Service has asked that the number of demonstrators in the area around the White House be limited in the interest of security.

World Youth Meeting Sees Stormy Sessions

By MILTON BESSER
 Associated Press Writer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The World Youth Assembly was threatened today by a split over the presence of representatives of South Vietnam and Nationalist China and by charges of Communist domination in the assembly's peace commission.

Bedlam broke out Monday night in the commission on world peace when delegates voted to overrule a decision by chairman Najia Fawaz of the General Union of Palestine Students to allow representatives of the U.S.-backed Asian countries to speak.

The full assembly earlier had voted down leftist demands that delegations from South Vietnam, South Korea and Nationalist China be expelled. But opponents of the governments of those countries were in control of the peace group, one of the assembly's four commissions that are to draw up resolutions for the full assembly to consider.

Dennis Prager of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation, an organization of American Jewish students, led a walkout of American and West European delegates. He charged that the commission was packed with delegates from Eastern Europe and their sympathizers.

Prager and his group presented a protest to the assembly steering committee charging undemocratic procedures in the commission.

Another American delegate, Dennis Michael Warren, 22, of Stockton, Calif., charged that attempts were being made to muzzle his delegation and rig the conference in favor of the Soviet Union. He told the commission the assembly had been "intentionally packed" and he had seen "delegates coaxed on the floors of the commission and assembly by representatives of their own governments."

Warren said members of the U.S. delegation are opposed to American policy in Indochina and in some other places around the world. But he added: "I oppose all aggression and all imperialism, and I find it curious that there has been no mention of Soviet oppression in Hungary, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia."

After the stormy meeting, delegates from many parts of the world gathered in private huddles in an effort to calm tempers and smooth future discussion.

The assembly, which convened Thursday with some 600 delegates attending, also has commissions on education, development and environment. Their meetings have been comparatively calm.

The assembly closes Saturday.

Claims Responsible Service Station Operators Quitting

By RICHARD P. POWERS
 Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Responsible service station operators are fleeing the business in droves, leaving the driving public at the mercy of money-hungry dealers, a Senate subcommittee has been told.

Charles E. Shipley, a Standard Oil dealer from Detroit, said service stations are being taken over "by the fast buck artists who employ only gas pumpers with no training, no knowledge of the automobile, and no instructions or desire to fill even the basic safety needs of the motorist."

He made the statement in remarks prepared for delivery today before a Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee hearing into gas prices in Michigan.

Dr. Ralph Steele, chairman of the committee formulating plans for the project of making Greenville a park city, noted he would have details on the campaign shaped up for the September meeting and would present them to the commission at that time.

Mrs. Burnette went on record conveying to Lee specific expressions of appreciation for the varied services offered by the Recreation Department. Mrs. Burnette stated that several people had made a point of asking her to tell Lee they were deeply appreciative of the outstanding programs offered under his directorship.

Glenn James, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard Glenn James of 601 S. Elm St., has been named the recipient of a $120 scholarship to the 1971 St. Andrews College Music Camp.

Glenn received a citation from St. Andrews which reads, "The music faculty at St. Andrews College Music Camp is happy to recognize your musical achievements and therefore awards you a Most Improved Award for the 1970 music camp season."

Attending the music camp for the second year, James received private instruction each day on percussion instruments from Conductor Jim Stockner of the music faculty. He also played in the orchestra, the band, and in the Percussion Ensemble. The four-week music camp at Laurinburg was held June 14-July 14.

James played a Timpani solo at the Percussion recital and accompanied the St. Andrews Chorus on drums and timpani for the final concert.

He will be a junior at Rose High School in the fall. For the past two years, he has played in the marching band, the concert band, and the Percussion Ensemble at Rose High.

Jazz Festival Attendance Off
NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The 1970 Newport Jazz Festival wound up three days of afternoon and evening concerts with total attendance of about 40,000 compared with upwards of 60,000 in previous years.

The festival returned to traditional jazz this year, leaving out the rock and folk rock groups promoter George Wein billed last year in an attempt to attract youthful listeners.

California produces about 80 per cent of the wine consumed in the United States.

Recreation . . .

their thoughts on planning for city fireworks display for the next fourth of July.

The Recreation Department Report for the month of June showed total participation to be about the same as for June 1969. A total of 36,178 persons made use of the various programs, facilities and activities available in Greenville. This brings to 109,109 the number of persons who have attended, in one capacity or another from the beginning of the year through the month of June.

Dr. Ralph Steele, chairman of the committee formulating plans for the project of making Greenville a park city, noted he would have details on the campaign shaped up for the September meeting and would present them to the commission at that time.

Mrs. Burnette went on record conveying to Lee specific expressions of appreciation for the varied services offered by the Recreation Department. Mrs. Burnette stated that several people had made a point of asking her to tell Lee they were deeply appreciative of the outstanding programs offered under his directorship.

Warn Syphilis Rate Is Soaring

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Social Health Association warns that "national emergency action" is necessary to curb a dramatic increase in cases of infectious syphilis.

Dr. James S. McKenzie-Pollack, venereal disease director for the association, said Sunday the incidence of the disease, which can kill, blind or cause insanity, rose 8.5 per cent during fiscal 1970 to 20,531 reported cases nationally.

For the month of June, the rate was up 27.3 per cent over June 1969.

Among states, New Jersey had the largest percentage increase in reported cases—up 55.3 per cent. Georgia's rate rose 28.5 per cent and California's 29.5 per cent.

Among big cities, New York showed the largest percentage increase, up 29.8 per cent in fiscal 1970, based on 3,230 reported cases.

Two Tar Heels Die In Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has announced that Army Pfc. Michael J. Grimm of Pinehurst, N. C., has been killed in action in the war in Southeast Asia.

Another Army Pfc. from North Carolina, Charlie G. Benton of Goldsboro, was listed as having died not as a result of hostile action.

California produces about 80 per cent of the wine consumed in the United States.

Ports Slowed By Dock Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LONDON (AP) — Work slowed or stopped at some key British ports today despite last-minute postponement of a nationwide dock strike.

But in most of Britain's 80 ports work went on normally.

The nation's 47,000 longshoremen had been scheduled to strike at midnight Monday in support of demands for more pay. The walkout would have closed all British ports for the first time since the 1926 general strike.

The employers made their new offer shortly before midnight. The terms were not disclosed immediately; the union had demanded that the basic weekly rate increase from $29 to $48.

Cleared In VC Suspect's Death

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — A military court today found Spec. 4 John R. LaNasa, 23, of Baton Rouge, La., innocent of unpremeditated murder and assault in the death of a Vietnamese army deserter suspected of being a Viet Cong.

The charges against LaNasa were based on his execution last Sept. 5 of Do Van Man, a Vietnamese captured by LaNasa's platoon from the 9th Infantry Division in the northern Mekong Delta.

Bar Search On Mount Ararat

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The Turkish government has barred an American expedition searching for Noah's ark from Mt. Ararat for "security reasons."

Turkish officials would not explain the ban on Ralph E. Lenton's expedition organized by the Search Foundation of Washington, D.C. But the heavily fortified Turkish-Soviet border is near the 16,936-foot peak on which the book of Genesis says the ark landed after the Flood.

Student Chosen To Be 'Intern' In New Jersey

Patricia A. Grimsley of Ayden is among the 59 graduate interns from 13 states and the District of Columbia selected for participation in an urban education program at Montclair State College in Upper Montclair, N. J., this summer.

The interns, all college graduates who are planning to teach in urban classrooms in New Jersey, receive free tuition and a $75 weekly stipend through funds supplied by the New Jersey Urban Education Corps.

In addition to their courses, they are gaining practical experience by assisting some 250 disadvantaged students prepare for college work.

The internship program carries a credit of nine hours toward a master of arts degree in teaching.

Revival Series Begin Thursday

The Rev. Cullen Gurganus will conduct revival services at the Winterville Pentecostal Holiness Church Thursday through Sunday night.

Services will begin each night at 7:30.

Scholarship Recipient

Glenn James, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Howard Glenn James of 601 S. Elm St., has been named the recipient of a $120 scholarship to the 1971 St. Andrews College Music Camp.

Glenn received a citation from St. Andrews which reads, "The music faculty at St. Andrews College Music Camp is happy to recognize your musical achievements and therefore awards you a Most Improved Award for the 1970 music camp season."

Attending the music camp for the second year, James received private instruction each day on percussion instruments from Conductor Jim Stockner of the music faculty. He also played in the orchestra, the band, and in the Percussion Ensemble. The four-week music camp at Laurinburg was held June 14-July 14.

James played a Timpani solo at the Percussion recital and accompanied the St. Andrews Chorus on drums and timpani for the final concert.

He will be a junior at Rose High School in the fall. For the past two years, he has played in the marching band, the concert band, and the Percussion Ensemble at Rose High.

Do's And Don'ts For Young Marrieds

The first thing newlyweds should do after the excitement of the wedding and glamour of the honeymoon has passed is to take time to review their situation—the new economic environment in which they will be living for the next half century.

It will be an exercise in will power to reduce their idyllic existence to material considerations but it will be one of the most constructive steps they can take.

Here are some of the points to discuss and resolve. They should pool their resources. From now on, they are a family unit. Savings should be consolidated. Insurance policies should be reviewed for adequate coverage. Their insurance agent could help them in this respect.

Income or incomes, if both continue working should be discussed frankly and openly. Plans for family formation is another consideration particularly if their level of living is based on the continuation of joint incomes.

Many young couples have gotten into financial difficulties because they had contracted obligations on the assumption their joint incomes would continue and increase. Don't get bogged down in a financial quagmire by overlooking this circumstance.

Having determined income prospects, the newly-weds can set up the other side of the ledger—the expense side—because income determines what expenses can be incurred. For instance, there is a relationship between income and rent or mortgage payments. Credit grantors have found that a well-planned budget will permit a borrower or credit user to allocate 14% of income to the repayment of credit obligations.

Having gone through this necessary exercise in fiscal money management, a young couple could spend a fruitful half-hour in discussing their program with their local banker. They could do this at the time they are arranging to open a checking and savings account.

Bankers use certain criteria to measure a borrower's ability to incur debt. Ask him to review your program. If it is sound, you have taken the first major step in setting up a realistic money management program.
