HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Bald Head Island near Southport has been purchased by the Carolina Cape Fear Corp., it was announced today by W. R. Henderson, chairman and spokesman for the organization. The purchase price was not mentioned.

The 12,000-acre island has been the object of a swirling controversy for months. Gov. Bob Scott, who has said he thinks the state should own the island, was not immediately available for comment.

A spokesman who released the announcement said Henderson was out of the city until Monday.

Frank Sherrill of Charlotte, who owned the semitropical island, reportedly has been asking $5.5 million for the property.

Roy Sowers Jr., director of the state Department of Conservation and Development, said he would have no immediate comment on the announced sale.

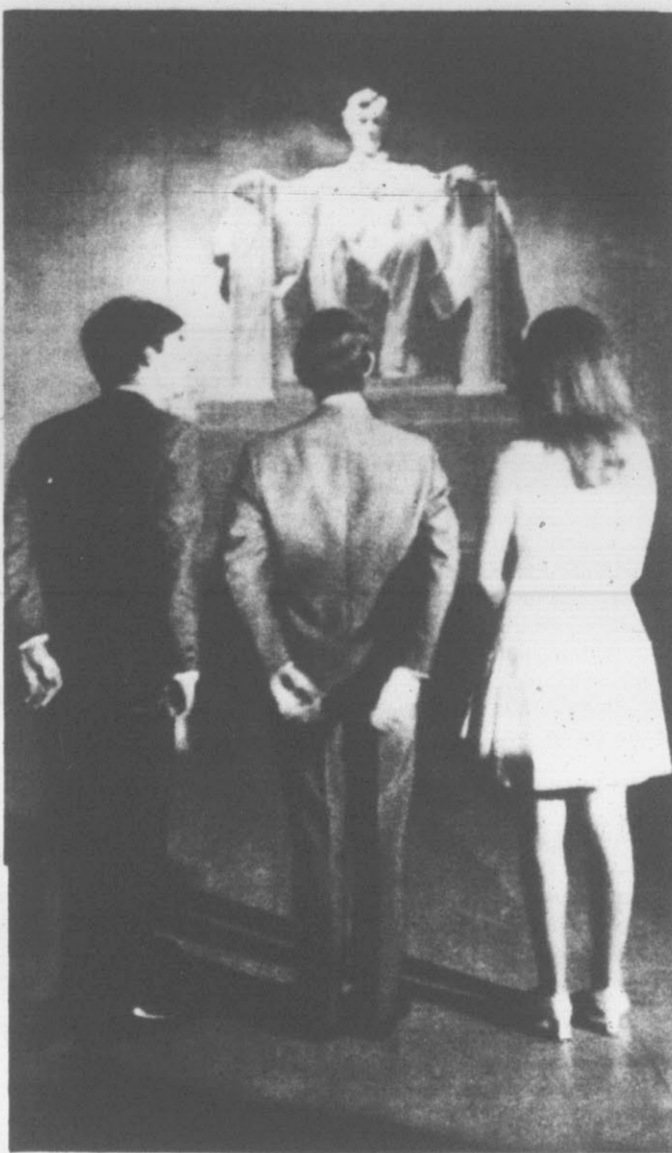

Carolina Cape Fear recently renewed its option to purchase the property. It announced earlier this year it planned to develop a plush resort on the uninhabited island.

Gov. Scott has contended the island should be conserved in its natural state for study and public recreation.

Scott had set up a nonprofit organization, headed by former Gov. Luther Hodges, to raise funds for public purchase of the island.

The nature conservancy, a national, nonprofit organization, had offered to advance the money to purchase the island and hold it until the state could raise the funds.

Henderson told potential investors in Raleigh April 20 that his firm was financially able to exercise its option.

Charles, Anne View Capital By Moonlight

By FRANCES LEWINE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Visiting Prince Charles viewed the nation's capital by moonlight on his first day in the United States and left all of his touring party but a game David Eisenhower behind to walk down 898 steps inside the Washington Monument.

David later admitted it was "heavy going at first," while the ladies—including Princess Anne, Julie Eisenhower and Tricia Nixon—had opted for an elevator down.

"We were chicken," Julie explained laughingly of the Thursday night experience.

The prince also occupied the spotlight earlier in the busy day at Camp David, Md. His shooting prowess dazzled the Nixon family and a skeet range operator when he scored three doubles in a row during a shooting exhibition.

The royal youngsters and President Nixon's daughters and son-in-law appeared to be getting along well at the outset of the three-day private visit of the prince and princess—their first to the United States.

They were applauded by a crowd of about a thousand gathered at the steps of the Lincoln Memorial when they stopped there during an hour-long night tour by presidential limousine.

Blonde Princess Anne surprised observers by appearing to be aloof and unsmiling much of the time she was publicly visible.

President Nixon gave the 21-year-old Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, and his 19-year-old sister, a royal welcome with fanfares by the Army herald trumpets, "Rule Britannia" played by the Marine Band, and a reported turnout of 5,618 White House staff families, tourists and diplomats checked onto the south lawn in 90-degree heat.

He told the royal guests, "We want you to feel very much at home in your brief stay. We want you to get to know the capital, our Congress and our baseball team"—all of which are on their sight-seeing schedule.

Then, the President promised "to get out of sight" himself "so you can feel completely at home with young people while you are here."

Tricia, Julie and David invited 15 young friends and three relatives from around the country to attend the informal Camp David barbecue with their royal guests. They all dressed in slacks and flew to the Maryland mountain retreat in two of the President's helicopters, with Prince Charles riding in the President's seat.

The White House planned a menu including hot dogs, hamburgers and steaks, reporting later everyone preferred steak.

Before dinner David and the prince rode bikes, did their skeet shooting and took a swim in the pool.

Along with some of the other guests, the prince and princess came back wearing Camp David souvenir navy blue windbreakers emblazoned with the presidential seal.

Green Beer For Irish Visitor

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Beer colored green was served to the Irish ambassador to the United States, William Warrack, and others Thursday at the opening of the Charles Town Pavilion, part of the South Carolina tricentennial celebration.

The pavilion is built near where the first settlers, many of them Irish, arrived in South Carolina 300 years ago.

MacDonald Stab Wound Said Dangerous

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — A physician testified at an Army hearing today that Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, accused of slaying his pregnant wife and two children, could not have stabbed himself without running the risk of death.

The doctor, Maj. Severt Jacobson, testified as the closed hearing resumed to determine whether MacDonald should be tried on three charges of premeditated murder in the Feb. 17 slayings.

Leaf Controls And Supports Retained

RALEIGH (AP) — Flue-cured tobacco growers in six Southeastern states have voted overwhelmingly for continuation of production controls and price supports crops for three more years.

Virtually complete figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Agriculture showed 126,420 votes cast Thursday for continuing the program and only 2,070 opposed, a favorable vote of 98.4 per cent.

The total vote was down considerably from 1967 when the last flue-cured tobacco referendum was held, but the margin of approval was up about 2 per cent.

Flue-cured growers in North Carolina and South Carolina also voted overwhelmingly to continue to assess themselves to support tobacco associates Inc., which works to boost the export of flue-cured leaf.

The vote on the tobacco control program by states:

North Carolina, 85,813 for and 1,125 against.
South Carolina, 15,286 for and 143 against.
Virginia, 13,235 for and 373 against.
Georgia, 10,183 for and 364 against.

Florida, 1,814 for and 62 against.
Alabama, 89 for and 83 against.

In North Carolina 82,849 voted for and 2,480 voted against a proposal to continue for three years a levy of up to $1 to support Tobacco Associates.

In South Carolina, 14,084 voted for and 926 against increasing the 1970 Tobacco Associates assessment rate from 40 cents to $1 an acre. And 13,862 voted for and 1,201 against a proposal to raise the maximum Tobacco Associates assessment from 40 cents to $2 per acre.

In the 1967 referendum 96.5 per cent of 162,314 flue-cured producers approved production controls for their 1968, 1969 and 1970 crops.

Under federal law, government price supports are made available to growers each year that production controls are in effect. If the growers should disapprove of production controls, then there would be no price supports.

The support level for the 1970 crop is 66 cents a pound, up from 63.8 cents last year. The price support program is operated by the Flue-Cured Tobacco Stabilization Corp.

Pitt Tobacco Growers Overwhelmingly For Quotas, Assessment

Acree-pounding marketing quotas and an assessment for flue-cured tobacco were approved by Pitt County growers voting in a referendum yesterday, Stacy J. Evans executive director for the Pitt County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) announced today.

The preliminary tabulation shows approval of the acreage-pounding marketing quotas by 99.6 of the local growers who voted. A favorable vote of two thirds or more of the total votes was necessary to make the acreage-pounding program effective.

Some 2,980 farmers voted for the program and 11 voted against it.

Some 98.7 percent of the North Carolina owners and operators of tobacco farms favored the program. On a national basis, the vote was 98.4 percent for and 1.6 percent against. The national vote is mainly in North Carolina, South Carolina, Virginia, Georgia, and Florida.

"As a result of the referendum, price support will be available to a grower whose harvest stays within the farm's flue-cured tobacco acreage allotment," Evans explained.

Marketing up to ten percent above the poundage quota will be deducted from the farm's quota for the following year. A penalty will apply to marketings above this amount. If less than the poundage quota for a farm is marketed in any year, the difference will be added to the farm's quota for the following year.

In voting for the assessment, the farmers agreed to assess themselves up to a dollar an acre to promote flue-cured tobacco for the next three years. The vote was 2,912 for and 42 against.

Prettiest Possum To Be Eaten

RALEIGH (AP)—Slow Poke, the "prettiest possum" in North Carolina, will soon grace the dinner table at the Governor's Mansion.

The nearly three-foot long animal was presented to Gov. Bob Scott Thursday by L. E. Baker of Dunn, who captured him in Harnett County several weeks ago.

Slow Poke was entered in the recent possum competition at the Spivey's Corner Hollerin' Contest and won the "prettiest possum" title.

He will be fattened for a time on sweet potatoes and then served at a banquet at the mansion.

Pretty Margaret Anne Wilkes of Spivey's Corner, the Possum Queen, confided to Scott that she has never tasted possum.

"Will you eat some?" he asked.

She gulped, "Yes."

Bids Requested On Farmville Housing Project

FARMVILLE — Bids have been requested on the Pine Grove Apartment public housing project to be begun here late in the summer, according to Lloyd Englehardt, executive director of the local Housing Authority.

The bids will be opened Thursday, August 13, in the town hall.

Located just off Main Street to the north of the Farmville Corporation, the project will include 71 dwelling buildings, containing 150 units, and a community, administration, and maintenance building.

Contracts for utilities, site improvements, and landscaping will also be let, Englehardt said.

Restraining Order Faces Imperial Co.

COLUMBUS, GA. — Judge Robert Elliott, U. S. federal judge for the Middle District of Georgia, has issued a restraining order against the Imperial Tobacco Company requiring them to keep their buyers on all tobacco markets.

According to an announcement this morning by R. Frank Everett of Robersonville, who has been elected president of the 16 representative tobacco markets affected by Imperials earlier decision not to place buyers on the markets, Judge Roberts set July 24 as the date for a hearing on the Imperial case.

Everett noted that the tobacco markets are scheduled to open in Georgia on July 22 and therefore Imperial will be required, according to the restraining order, to have buyers present on that date.

The hearing will be held in Thomasville, Ga., he added.

Robersonville is the only market in the immediate area affected by the Imperial matter. Others in the state include markets in Clinton and Fayetteville, Everett said.

Youngsters Had No Eggs, But—

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A group of ninth-graders decided recently to raise money for a pair of child care centers by selling eggs.

But they had no eggs. So the youngsters trooped from house to house, asking for a donation of one egg at the first home, then selling it at the next.

The child care centers have received a check for $33.

Raising Parcel Post Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Increases averaging 15.2 per cent have been approved for fourth class parcel post by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but it withheld decision on a plan to charge 35 cents extra for hard-to-handle packages.

The ICC said the rates could go into effect today, but the Post Office declared after Thursday's decision it would wait to use the authority until after consulting with parcel post users. This would allow the users time to raise rates. A spokesman had no idea how long such action might take.

The bulky package surcharge was not scheduled to take effect until April 1, 1971.

The Post Office Department had estimated the rate increase would boost parcel post revenues $123 million, an amount Postmaster General Winton M. Blount said would bring the service to a break-even point for fourth-class mail.

Rates for fourth-class mail, unlike other postage rates, are determined by the ICC not the Congress.

Mail order houses are expected to be hit hardest by the new rates, the spokesman said.

The new scale would increase the price of mailing a small package locally from 50 to 60 cents. Sending an eight-pound package coast-to-coast would cost $2.60 compared with the present $2.15.

Fourth-class mail consists of merchandise or printed matter over a pound in weight. Similar matter under a pound goes as third-class mail.

Davis Named To Pitt UF Post

Dr. John B. Davis Jr., director of Institutional Research and Professor of Mathematics at East Carolina University, will serve as the ECU division chairman for the 1970-71 Pitt County United Fund Inc., it was announced today.

Joseph O. Clark, general chairman, in making the announcement said, "We are very happy that Dr. Davis has agreed to join us in working in this most important civic project."

Dr. Davis, a native of Rocky Point in Pender County, has been Professor of Mathematics at ECU since 1960 and Director of Institutional Research since 1967. He holds degrees from Wake Forest University, East Carolina University and received his doctorate in education from Florida State University.

He and his wife, Marie M. Davis, live at 211 York Road, Greenville, and are parents of five children. A member of the First Presbyterian Church, he is a deacon and assistant superintendent of the Sunday School.

This year's United Fund campaign will be conducted in October.

Hold Hearings On UF Budget Needs

The Budget sub-committee of the Pitt County United Fund Inc. headed by Dr. Ray Minges has begun a series of hearings for each of the 13 participating UF agencies.

The hearings, which began Wednesday evening, are concerned with information about the agency's proposed budget, income received and expenditures for a 12-month period. This information will be utilized in drawing up a 1970-71

United Fund budget for all agencies.

Presentations Wednesday evening included those by the Red Cross, Mental Health Assn., and the 4-H Clubs.

Thursday night presentations were by the Retarded Children's Assn., Association for the Blind, Girl Scouts and the Salvation Army. Hearings next Tuesday night will include presentations by the Boy Scouts of America, and N. C. United agencies.

Thousands Pour Into Love Valley For Music Festival

LOVE VALLEY, N. C. (AP) — No one has any idea how many people have poured into the area of this town of 100 for a three-day rock music festival, but traffic was reported backed up for 10 miles Thursday night on the highway leading into the valley.

Promoters and health officials anticipate anywhere from 10,000 to 100,000 youngsters for the weekend blast. Love Valley is near Statesville and about 40 miles north of Charlotte.

By Thursday night the pre-festival activity was about par as far as rock festivals go — a handful of drug arrests that made the thousands of other youngsters look bad, cuts and scratches, bumps and bruises and plenty of false alarms about injuries.

Mrs. Andy Barker, the wife of the festival promoter and mayor of Love Valley, said, the mountainside was covered with people and campfires. Some of the bands, she said, already were holding jam sessions for the thousands of kids.

Injuries were many, but minor — a girl skinned her head when she tumbled down an embankment, a cut foot, a scratched leg. A doctor has been stationed at the festival site, at an improvised hospital.

The Iredell County Sheriff's Department reported that other authorities had made 11 drug arrests since Tuesday.

The State Bureau of Investigation, the Highway Patrol and the Iredell County Sheriff's Department all have contingent in the area.

The sheriff's department, which has undertaken the task of protecting private property, reported that the kids had been well behaved.

The music cranks up at 6 p.m. tonight.

McDonald Stab Wound Said Dangerous

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — A physician testified at an Army hearing today that Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald, accused of slaying his pregnant wife and two children, could not have stabbed himself without running the risk of death.

The doctor, Maj. Severt Jacobson, testified as the closed hearing resumed to determine whether MacDonald should be tried on three charges of premeditated murder in the Feb. 17 slayings.

Dennis Eisman, one of MacDonald's two civilian lawyers, said he asked Jacobson whether even a medically trained person like MacDonald could stab himself in the way MacDonald was stabbed and "know the possible medical complications."

Eisman said Jacobson replied: "No."

MacDonald's attorneys have been the only source of information about the hearing since the Army ordered the proceedings closed over defense protests shortly after they began two weeks ago.

Jacobson treated MacDonald after military police found him wounded and his wife Colette, 26, and daughters Kimberly, 6, and Kristen, 2, dead in their Ft. Bragg home.

MacDonald, 27, a Green Beret physician, said the slayings were the work of hippie-type intruders. Eleven weeks later, the Army charged him with murder, contending he injured himself and invented the story of the intruders.

Eisman said Jacobson testified that MacDonald suffered five different injuries — a stab wound of the right chest, a stab wound of the stomach, at least four puncture wounds of the left chest, a laceration of the left upper arm and a blow on the left forehead.

Eisman said Jacobson testified that one of the stab wounds collapsed MacDonald's right lung by 20 per cent initially to 40 per cent later.

Eisman also reported that a petition was filed in Washington today with the U.S. Court of Military Appeals seeking to prevent Capt. William Thompson from participating in the prosecution against MacDonald.

Copies of the petition distributed at Ft. Bragg contended that Thompson, an Army attorney, had taken part in the preparation of MacDonald's defense and therefore should not be allowed to join the prosecution.

Thompson has been assisting the Army's principal prosecuting attorney, Capt. Clifford Somers, for several days.

Eisman said two pathologists who appeared at the hearing Thursday testified that all the victims had stab wounds and that Mrs. MacDonald and Kimberly were bludgeoned.

N.C. Medal Presented Colonel Guy Langston

Thirty-five years of service to the state and nation by Col. Guy C. Langston of Greenville were recognized recently by Governor Bob Scott when he presented the North Carolina Distinguished Service Medal to the local Guardsman.

The award was presented at Langston's last field training period before retirement with the 30th Infantry Division (Mechanized) Artillery at Ft. Bragg.

The colonel, who began his military career in 1935 as a National Guard private, was called to active duty with the North Carolina Guard in September of 1940, and served throughout World War II.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant in May 1941, promoted to first lieutenant a year later, and to captain in January of 1943. He served in the European Theater of Operations for 22 months, then was separated from active duty in 1945.

Langston was appointed a major in the North Carolina Army National Guard in 1949 with the 196th Field Artillery

Group in Jacksonville, promoted to lieutenant colonel in May of 1952, and the following January, he was placed in command of the 690th Field Artillery Battalion.

In March of 1963, he was assigned as executive officer of the 30th Infantry Division Artillery with headquarters in Greensboro. In February of 1964, the colonel took command of Division Artillery, and the following May received the silver eagles of a colonel.

In addition to the North Carolina Distinguished Service Medal, Langston has received the Bronze Star Medal, European - African - Middle East Campaign Medal, World War II Victory Medal, American Campaign Medal and Armed Forces Reserve Medal.

Langston, a former Greenville Police Chief, is now coordinator and supervisor of Technical Institute Police School in this area. He and his wife, the former Joyce Holland of Grantsboro, reside on Third Street. They are the parents of two sons.

Interim Steps To Guard Fish

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Interim steps will be taken to prevent recurrence of fish kills in the Yadkin River below Winston-Salem until the Twin City has completed a $5.5 million enlargement of its waste treatment facilities.

City Manager John Gold said the city will take bids on the new facilities Tuesday, and expects them to be completed in about two years.

The interim steps were discussed Thursday at a meeting of city officials and state pollution control experts.

The conference came after Hubbard said Wednesday that dumping of inadequately treated wastes in the river by the city, plus excessive runoff from heavy rains, had caused three kills in a month in which an estimated total of 40,000 to 50,000 fish died.

Gold told newsmen, "We're quite concerned about these fish kills," but the city feels they resulted from a combination of factors.

Hubbard agreed that the kills resulted from a complicated combination of circumstances—including the increased dumping of waste by the city, pollution from other sources, hot weather and torrential rains. But he said there is "no other source comparable to Winston-Salem."

Housing Loan For Mount Airy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a loan of $2.1 million to the Mount Airy, N. C., Housing Authority for construction of 110 low-rent housing units. Forty will be for the elderly.

The units, in single-family and row-type structures, will be built on five sites.

Many Priests Choose Abandon Clerical Garb

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — When a bishop urged the spring meeting of the nation's Roman Catholic Bishops to reassert the rule requiring priests to wear clerical dress, the proposal was simply bypassed in silence.

"There was no reaction expressed at all," Archbishop Philip M. Hannan of New Orleans says of the closed meeting.

The situation apparently was past the point of even discussing it. In fact, the old rule of Catholic clerical garb is so commonly disregarded by many American priests today that it goes scarcely noticed.

"It's cooler, man," said the Rev. Thomas Stransky, the new head of the Paulist Fathers, clad in blue spurs and casual slacks at a recent interdenominational meeting in Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

At virtually any religious Greeting these days in which Roman Catholic priests take part, there are nearly always some of them in various kinds of lay dress, ranging from turtle-neck knit shirts to string ties.

The sartorial switch for many Catholic clergy in public and in the classroom has come about swiftly but with little mention of it in the last few years, along with relaxed modes of habits for nuns.

Until the late 1960's, the public apparel of the Catholic clergy in this country was almost invariably uniform—a black suit and Roman collar.

"Give the collar back to the Romans," writes the Rev. John L. McKenzie, a noted Catholic Biblical scholar, in a recent article in the Critic lampooning the past fixed form of clergy dress.

He says he now prefers a plain suit and ties from Lyton's. "I found the best way to handle the stares is to stare right back," he adds. "But even then I wondered why the work of God should engage one in a duel of stares."

Clerical garb, he says, contributes nothing to service of Christ, but it does "establish an unwanted and useless gulf" between priests and laity, isolating them from one another. He says this is a "net loss" and part of the present clergy "crisis of relevance."

"Nothing in the New Testament indicates there was any difference in dress, status and manner of life" of ministers and people, he says, "but the modern priest does not have this community with those to whom he must speak."

Defenders of clerical garb insist it provides a tangible symbol of faith in an increasingly secular world. But critics say it also can be a mark of special privilege and sanctimony that detracts from a man's real humanity.

In the sanctuary, priests still adhere to the prescribed vestments. But in other activities, such as academic functions, theological conferences and social gatherings, some are apt to show up in mufti.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was the first President to visit Hawaii while in office.

What we mean by a "friendly" store

When you live in a small town, you get to know just about everybody. When you walk down the street, you find smiles and handshakes all the way. That's one of the nice things about small town life.

Here at Blount-Harvey Co., we try to mix small town friendliness with big city restraint. Our customers like the mixture. Many of them are on intimate terms with certain salesmen, ask for them by name, let no others take care of them. Shopping here is a person-to-person matter. We prefer to keep it that way even though our business has grown over the years. May we add your name to our roster of satisfied customers?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to pass along a little advice to the young mother who was so upset over having to tell her mother they were expecting their third child in 5 years.

When I told my little 96-year-old mother that my daughter was expecting her fourth child, she looked at me and smiled, and said, "It is always nicer to put an extra chair up to the table than to take one away."

MACON, MISSOURI

DEAR MISSOURI: Your "little 96-year-old mother" was probably thinking about the days of her youth when another child meant another much needed farmhand. Today, if somebody doesn't blow the whistle on the birth rate, we won't NEED any chairs.

DEAR ABBY: All four of your corners are showing again. I refer to your backward attitude with regard to "swinging."

Any swinger can tell you that there are personality clashes between "hip" people the same as between the squares. Incompatibility is not just a word used by lawyers to obtain favorable court action for the clients.

You could have told your correspondent to increase the number of couples she and her husband go around with. Perhaps one of the new wives will dig her husband, and one of the new husbands will dig her. There is nothing in the rules that limits the number of participating couples.

NEVADA READER

DEAR READER: Let's call a spade a spade. The kind of "digging" you seem to dig is the best way I know to bury a marriage.

DEAR ABBY: You hear doctors complain that they are cornered at cocktail parties and asked for free professional advice. Well, how about lawyers?

I am married to a lawyer, and a doctor friend of ours corners him every time we see them socially, and this doctor has gotten plenty of free legal advice from my husband. At the last social gathering, my husband gave him at least $300 worth of legal advice regarding his ex-wife's right to claim more support money for their child.

When I commented later to my husband that he and our doctor friend were in a huddle for a very long time, my husband said, "He always wants some free legal advice. When you or the children go to his office, he sends me a bill!"

But then he calmed down and said, "But as long as I'm with people and have to talk about something, I'd prefer to be talking law."

ATTORNEY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Your husband has a point. But not all lawyers like to talk "law" when they're out socially.

DEAR ABBY: In reply to CARL, and all his statistics about women being upgraded to the same status as men:

I weigh 100 pounds. Obviously I am not about to demand a job with the Green Bay Packers in the name of "women's rights." [A 100 pound MAN couldn't make the team either.] I might qualify as a jockey, however, and shouldn't be kept from this occupation because I am a woman.

I wouldn't make a very good ditch-digger, either. I don't have the strength. Few 100 pound MEN are ditch-diggers. On the other hand, some 175 pound woman might do well in this job.

If I were to demand equal rights and opportunities in this society, I would be more than willing to share the responsibilities, to be subject to the draft and combat duty (as all women in Israel are), to pay my own way on dates, etc. As for ulcers, I already have one.
Yours Sincerely,

Shower Given Wedding Couple Tuesday

Miss Beverly Sue Farmer and Karlton Joe McLawhorn were honored at a miscellaneous floating shower on Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Allison Farmer.

Assisting hostesses were Mrs. Cullen Haddock, Mrs. Connie Alcock, Mrs. Billy Cannon and Mrs. Bruce Cannon.

The honoree was remembered with a corsage of white mums with a miniature bride and pink ribbon.

The refreshment table was covered with a pink imported linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of white gladioli, pink and white snapdragons and baby's breath flanked by pink tapers in double candleholders.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Bright request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Edna Faye Moore, to Jimmy Benjamin Wall on Saturday, July 18, at 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon, First Baptist Church, Grifton.

Patio Party Set For Saturday

A patio party and dinner for members of the Brook Valley Country Club has been planned for Saturday night beginning at 8 o'clock.
Reservations should be made at the club by Friday night.

Couple Honored Saturday Night

GRIFTON — Miss Terry Yelverton and Frank Hines III were honored Saturday night by Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Edman.

They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jenkins, Dr. and Mrs. B. C. Troutman, Mrs. B. C. Langston and Mrs. O. B. Turner.

The house was decorated with arrangements of yellow and white gladioli. The refreshment table was overlaid with a white linen and lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow gladioli and pom poms.

Punch was poured by Mrs. Troutman and Mrs. Jenkins. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Edman and presented to the honorees, the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Hazel Yelverton Davis, and parents of the bridegroom-elect, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hines. Miss Yelverton, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Hines were presented mum corsages.

The honoree couple was remembered with a gift from the hosts and hostesses.

The first woman graduate of a law school in the United States was Ada Kepley, who received her degree in 1870 from Chicago's Union College of Law.

A Two-Fold Move For County

In appointing a county manager, Pitt County Commissioners have made a two-fold move. They have taken a step which should mean a more business-like operation of county government, and they have chosen as Pitt's first County Manager a man of proven ability and experience in local government operations.

There is probably no individual more thoroughly familiar with Pitt County's government operation than H. Reginald Gray who has served as County Auditor for the past 18 years. During those years Gray has been the county's chief financial officer and has assumed a major portion of the managerial responsibility for the county government operations.

The experience he brings to his new post will serve him in good stead, and certainly it will be of great benefit to Pitt County.

As County Manager, Gray will carry out the duties delegated to him by the Board of Commissioners. How innovative the new County Manager will be in discharging his new responsibilities will depend in large measure on the authority given him by the Board of Commissioners. If Mrs. Gray is to have the responsibility as the chief operating officer for the county's government, he must likewise be given by the Board of Commissioners commensurate authority to carry out what that responsibility entails. Otherwise the title will mean little and the benefits the county realizes from this new move will be limited.

Many municipal governments in North Carolina have found important economies and much more efficient operations in moving to the manager form of operations. So too have the few counties of the state — mostly larger counties — which have hired professional managers as the operating head of local government.

It is a new and important step for Pitt, and one which offers the opportunity for tremendous benefits in future years.

That 'Remote Chance' Is Suddenly Upon Us

The North Carolina Utilities Commission spelled it out for Tar Heels yesterday: a stronger possibility exists, than had been anticipated, of electric power supplies dangerously near the point of potential demand.

Unexpected delays in scheduled additions to generating capacities are blamed.

Members of the Carolinas-Virginia Power Pool say a generating reserve of only a little more than one-half of anticipated reserves will be available until about mid-August.

We're lucky that brownouts or blackouts are not expected; but, on the other hand, the power companies did not expect to be put in their present position, either.

Flipping a switch can be such a commonplace thing . . . turning on lights, turning on an air-conditioner, an electric fan, an electric knife, an iron, a radio or television set . . . it's hard to conceive the most remote chance of a limited use of electricity.

But there it is, a remote chance.

Return To The 'Old Politics'

A Landmark In N.C. Politics

By BRYAN HANSLIP

RALEIGH — The 1970 Democratic State Convention may turn out to be a landmark event in North Carolina politics, before and after which things are never the same again.

New voices and new forces shaped the outcome of the biennial party affair, first under a plan of organization opening up greater participation to the young and to blacks.

The platform they adopted set the stage for a further polarization of the parties in the state. By moving the Democrats sharply to the left on issues such as the Vietnam War, labor and civil rights, they left a clear field to the Republicans, for those of fixed conservative sentiments.

An atmosphere of strained surface harmony and underlying division pervaded the convention proceedings. Governor Bob Scott and Party Chairman Eugene Simmons laid urgent stress on making room for everyone in the party through the new changes in organization, allowing full expression of differences, and working together for victory in the fall general election.

As soon as Permanent Chairman Ed Kemp of High Point took the gavel and cleared away formalities, the new party elements among the delegates made it clear they had the strength to have their say and have their way, too.

On one critical issue after another, they rebuffed the Platform and Resolutions Committee headed by Miles Smith, Jr., of Salisbury which had labored valiantly to bring in a document broad and bland enough to accommodate everyone.

Adopted after a flurry of parliamentary maneuvers and a tense series of votes, some by voice and some by roll call, were platform planks to:

Pledge the Democratic party to "total and absolute commitment to abolish all forms of racism in America." Endorse the right of collective bargaining for public employees, including the right to strike for all except firemen and policemen.

Provide easy access to voter registration books in all counties of the state.

The only skirmish the liberal coalition lost was on a plank to make abortion a matter solely between a woman and her physician.

The climax came on a resolution dealing with the conflict in Southeast Asia. A compromise backed by the party leadership calling for Tar Heel Congressmen to use their influence with the President for an early end to the war in Indochina was easily swept aside in favor of a specific endorsement of the McGovern-Hatfield amendment to set a June 30, 1971, deadline for withdrawal of all U.S. troops from Vietnam.

In the aftermath, there were long-time Democrats who tended to console themselves that the convention kept a semblance of order and that a platform, after all, is a showpiece document rather than a contract.

As a practical matter, they reasoned, Democratic candidates in the fall general election will tailor their campaigns to their own local situations with little regard to what the platform says on issues.

If the convention did not produce chaos neither did it bring confrontation. Many party members of conservative bent simply didn't show up, and those present read the signs and kept silent. No meaningful debate developed on any point.

Jim Hunt of Wilson, chairman of the study commission which drafted the reorganization plan, said he felt the convention went well. It revealed divisions and may cause some to depart the party, he acknowledged. "Although I personally differ with some of the stands taken, I think we should be proud of the fact that everyone conducted themselves as mature, responsible delegates," he said.

That was a charitable observation, since Hunt attracted hisses and boos when he spoke in opposition to the Vietnam resolution which was adopted.

After the shouting and tumult of the convention, what does the 1970 Democratic platform mean? A victory for the young and the black activists in the party, certainly; to a degree at least, a defeat for Governor Scott and the party leadership.

The real test is whether it will win or lose votes for the party's candidates.

The Democratic party in the past has had the young and the black vote. There was nowhere else for them to go since the Republican position was even less compatible. For that reason, gains in this area are likely to be slight.

On the other hand, the tradition which kept conservatives in the party despite ideological differences has eroded in recent years. It is now far more comfortable and respectable to cross over to the Republican party. If they take the Democratic platform seriously, there undoubtedly will be those who do so.

Strength For Today

SPIRITUAL YEARNING TODAY

Centuries ago the psalmist wrote, "My soul doth wait for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning; I say, more than they that watch for the morning."

There is expressed here the unutterable longing of those who believe in spiritual realities and wish that they might appropriate them to their daily needs. Almost everyone has spiritual aspirations. With singular unanimity, students of world affairs are telling us that there is a tremendous spiritual yearning in the hearts of people all over the world today. Sometimes it looks as if human society is morally plunging over a precipice. The old standards are being surrendered and new customs, largely built on the desire for indulgence, have come in to take their place; yet there are still many who have not bowed the knee to Baal.

There are many whose souls wait for the Lord "more than they that watch for the morning." And often the people who, we believe, have no interest in spiritual things have a profound interest in them. It would make life new for them if someone really began to care for their souls. Evil is unnatural, and even the worst of people understand this. Firm faith is the only sure guarantee of continued happiness. And there are unnumbered millions who have a yearning for just such faith.

Washington Research

WASHINGTON — Mr. John Corry has written a piece in the July Harper's magazine titled "Washington, Sex and Power." Corry's conclusions are that there is not as much sex in Washington as one might think, and while power acts as an aphrodisiac, more men in high positions get their kicks from politics than they do from bedfellows.

Corry says that

Democrats are better Don Juans than Republicans, though some of the biggest lechers in Washington are middle-aged Republican conservatives, who were described by one hostess as "knee grabbers."

Corry says Southerners are better at horsing around than Northerners, and people who live in Georgetown are more interested in "what the kids are thinking" than having an affair with someone who lives in Bethesda, Md.

It is interesting to note that at the very time Corry was doing research on his piece for Harper's, a more in-depth study was being done by Prof. Heinrich Applebaum for the National Institute of Domestic Affairs, otherwise known as NIDA (pronounced either needa or nehda depending on how you feel at

Other Editors Say Responsibility

(Henderson Dispatch)

The Democratic party in North Carolina needs more other things in addition to Chairman Gene Simmons' goal of broadening the party base and giving the party style. Clearly there should be a new assessment of the practice of stepping up spending and of assessing new taxes, which the last Legislature did. Generosity in satisfying those demanding more money may stimulate support from some areas, but it will not please other and perhaps larger groups who also vote at election time.

Party adherents, as well as outsiders, have had enough of constantly increasing outlays for this or that purpose. That may be progress of a sort, but it could also backfire with those who are weary of having to pay more and more for support of State government. Too much liberalism has been injected into party programs, and which will not satisfy large elements of the hitherto faithful.

That happened two years ago, when the State gave its electoral vote to Republican Richard Nixon for President, and when the party's nominee, Hubert Humphrey, ran third behind third party candidate George Wallace. If Wallace has lost much of his strength, as some think, some one else might appear on the scene with an appeal that would siphon off much of the Democratic vote. Democratic leaders will be smart if they are willing to face the facts and shape their program accordingly.

If, as Simmons said, the party in the State is at the cross roads, the reason should not be difficult to find. An appeal to young voters and the black vote may be in order, but even so more frugal management of affairs still carries its inducements for perhaps the majority. Party reorganization is in order, so long as changes move in the right direction.

Expediency alone in the appeal for support should be discarded in favor of sound, substantial direction of essential needs without the frills and whims which have not been very palatable to so many. The road to take at the forks is away from trying to please groups and blocs and toward State government that makes for the best interests of all the people.

Feeling Pulse Of Franchising

By ELMER ROESSNER

The National Industrial Conference Board is conducting a major study of the franchise method of distributing products and services. This comes at a time when franchising is in serious trouble. The Four

ELMER ROESSNER

Seasons Nursing Centers of America, Inc., has filed for reorganization under Chapter X of the Bankruptcy Act and several other franchisors are reported to be in serious trouble.

The monetary controls to end inflation by the Federal Reserve and the Nixon administration are a factor. Franchise buyers have been having difficulty in raising capital to pay for their franchisees. Some franchisors, it is reported, have accepted a high ratio of promissory notes, which have been counted as income and, to that extent, have been the bases for dividends.

When franchise operators have been unable to meet their notes, the capital of the franchisors has been impaired. And banks, insurance companies and other lenders have been loath to lend under present economic conditions, just as they were unwilling to bail out Penn Central.

This shortage of available capital has also reduced the number of new prospects for franchisees.

The National Industrial Conference Board Survey of 191 franchising companies found that 34 per cent reported a shortage of working capital and 9 per cent reported a shortage of applicants, largely due to their inability to raise money, it may be assumed. Revenue Source Hit

While it did not show up in the NICB study, the general lag in retail sales, especially in optional buying, indirectly hit franchisors.

The usual franchise agreement provides that the franchisees buy certain supplies from the franchisor or designated suppliers. This is basically a sound condition. The product or service sold is thereby maintained at certain standards. By agreeing to buy all his ice cream from the franchisor, for example, a franchisee helps guarantee the quality of all ice cream sold under that franchise; he guarantees quality just as fellow franchisees guarantee his.

Part of the franchisors' revenues are from the profits of selling ice cream, chopped meat, frankfurters, nuts or

Court Haste Urged

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is under new pressure for a special summer session on the legality of neighborhood desegregation plans permitting all-white and all-black schools in large cities.

The latest plea came from the Little Rock, Ark., school board with a warning that conflicting decisions by federal appeals courts would produce chaos and confusion unless the Supreme Court settles the issue before school bells ring in September.

The appeal for a special summer session and validation of the neighborhood school concept declared there would always be some "racially identifiable" schools unless children were bused several miles.

The reason, the board said, is "the tendency of the people in this country, North, South, East or West, to reside in those areas of a city populated by other citizens of their race."

The board appealed from a 5-2 decision by the U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis that disapproved a student assignment plan based primarily on assigning children to schools in their neighborhood.

The majority, which included Harry A. Blackmun, now a Supreme Court justice, said the geographical zones tended to perpetuate rather than eliminate segregation.

Since most of Little Rock's Negroes live in the eastern part of the city the appeals court suggested one means of attaining fuller integration would be "strip-zoning"—drawing attendance zones horizontally across the city.

The school board conceded that 10 schools in the district have no Negro students and that blacks comprise less than 15 per cent of the enrollment in 10 other schools.

A more proportional balance, the board said, would require busing of children from six to eight miles at an annual cost of about $500,000.

Questioning whether the Constitution requires compulsory busing, the board quoted President Nixon's endorsement of the neighborhood school system and his disapproval of "transportation of pupils beyond normal geographic school zones for the purpose of achieving racial balance."

Last spring the Charlotte-Mecklenburg County, N.C., school board and the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund asked the court to rule on these issues even if it would mean a summer session.

The Cincinnati chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People asked, meanwhile, for a ruling on school segregation in the North that results from neighborhood residential patterns.

The court sidestepped the Charlotte case temporarily at least by returning it to a federal district court for consideration of new desegregation plans. No action was taken on the Cincinnati case.

Summer sessions are rare. The three most recent were in 1958, 1953 and 1942.

New Heat-Seeking Missile For Egypt

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. intelligence has reported the appearance in Egypt of an anti-aircraft missile similar to the U.S. Redeye, which is designed to knock down low-flying airplanes by homing in on their engines.

Such a heat-seeking missile could further complicate the problems of Israeli pilots, already facing more effective high-altitude, radar-guided SAM-2 missiles and SAM-3 batteries.

Presumably, the heat-seekers were supplied to the Egyptians by the Russians, as were the SAMs.

Reports reaching the Pentagon say the Redeye-type missiles were fired during Israeli strikes on SAM-2 sites.

Their apparent purpose is to help protect SAM-2s from knockout, U.S. sources said, but so far as is known they haven't hit any attacking jets.

The Redeye, as used by the U.S. Army and Marine Corps is small enough to be fired by a soldier. It looks something like the old tank-killing bazooka.

The weapon gets its name from an infra-red sensor mounted in its nose.

The Israeli air force has lost three fighters since June 30 to improved SAM-2s on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal.

To maintain the precarious military balance in the face of growing Soviet arms support to the Egyptians, U.S. authorities reportedly have decided to replace Israeli combat losses of F-4 Phantom fighters, and to furnish the Israelis some radar-jamming equipment in an effort to foil the SAMs.

Nothing has been said officially here about the electronic equipment reportedly to be provided the Israelis.

extracurricular activity, except for the fact that they never knew when they would be called for a roll-call vote. It would be very hard to explain to their wives where they had been when the Washington Post reported the next morning that they were marked "absent."

Since this is an election year, House members have been so busy running for office they haven't had time to think about sex, Applebaum says. He also makes the point that most congressmen are so strapped for cash they would rather put money in their campaign fund than spend it on some young secretary or passionate constituent.

As for the executive branch, Applebaum's study revealed that Nixon appointees prefer watching spectator sports on TV rather than getting involved themselves.

Also, Applebaum points out, Nixon Administration officials have been so drained trying to get through to someone in the White House each day that they're not good for much except to head home and go right to sleep.

The press and TV corps in Washington might have gotten into trouble, Applebaum notes, except for Spiro Agnew. The only thing the Vice President hasn't accused the press of, so far, is adultery. To keep Agnew from making such a charge, the entire membership of the National Press Club has taken a vow of chastity, which will remain in effect as long as the Vice President is in office.

If there has been any talk of sex in Washington, it's come from the Pentagon. Every time someone in Congress tries to cut the military budget, everyone in the Defense establishment starts screaming "rape."

financial support from labor unions and his proposed enactment of a state corporate income tax. But such an attack won't have much impact outside the state's corporate board rooms.

which are overwhelmingly Republican anyway.

Moreover, Gilligan is doing something he scarcely attempted in 1968: courting the business community. A cordial meeting was held recently in Dayton with top business executives, Gilligan giving a plausible though not universally accepted explanation for his corporate tax scheme.

Where Gilligan is most vulnerable and where the Republicans hope to bring him down, however, is the student issue. Ohio politicians generally agree that the killing of four students at Kent State University by National Guardsmen dispatched by Gov. James A. Rhodes actually won Rhodes votes in his losing May primary battle for the Senate against Rep. Robert Taft, Jr.

Accordingly, Republicans are dredging up an off-the-record 1966 speech by Gilligan to Xavier University in Cincinnati putting him in favor of student revolt. In advance rebuttal, Gilligan's office is mailing a detailed explanation of the Xavier affair to Ohio newspapers. More important than rebuttals will be Gilligan's ability to hold his tongue. Advisers have strongly urged him not to voice his misgivings about the Ohio legislature's tough new legislation requiring expulsion of disorderly students from state colleges. According to polling data, close identification with the students means political defeat in Ohio.

Therein lies the difference between the Gilligan campaigns of 1968 and 1970.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)— North Carolina egg markets steady Thursday, supplies adequate, demand good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:
Grade A large whites: 51½ to 52; medium whites: 40 to 41; small whites: 28 to 29.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)— North Carolina hog markets today were steady to 25 cents lower. Tops of 23.50-24.50 at Kinston, New Bern, Benson, Alberton, Newton Grove, and Lumberton; 23.75-24.25 at Rocky Mount, 23.00-24.00 at Tarboro, 23.50-24.00 at Siler City and Denton; 23.00 to 24.00 at Bethel; 24.50 at Mount Olive, 24.25 at Salisbury; 23.75 at Greensboro.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA)— North Carolina poultry ready to cook values declined one cent per pound today. Offerings were adequate for a generally fair demand. Weights desirable. Live, at-farm prices on broilers and fryers today 11½ to 12, mostly 12 cents per pound. Hens —offerings generally in balance with trade requirements.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market took another bold surge today in the third day of its rally. Trading was moderate.

At 11:30 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 10.13, or 1.40 per cent, at 733.57.

Advancing issues led declines by more than 4 to 1.

The Dow is beyond the recovery highs set after the market lows in late May with substantial institutional support.

The institutions, analysts said, have been waiting for second-quarter earnings reports to come out and are now on bargain hunting expeditions.

Many Help Orphanage

Mrs. Phyllis Perego, who leaves Sunday to fly to Bangkok to visit her husband, Lt. Nelson Perego, stationed in Phu Bai, Vietnam, today said that "response has been tremendous."

The story in Wednesday's paper explained that the young military wife was flying to Bangkok to meet her husband on his R and R vacation, and that she was interested in taking along items which could be used by children in an orphanage where her husband is stationed.

Expressing delight in the response, Mrs. Perego said people "began bringing things even before I got back home yesterday. There were items left by the door for me to take."

Persons interested in sending any of the needed items for the orphan children can, if they wish to, send them direct to her husband. His address is: Lt. Nelson Perego, 226527144, 131st SAC Avn., APO 96308, San Francisco, California.

Sheriff's Dept. Probes Break-In

GRIMESLAND — County Sheriff's Department officials are investigating a break-in at Joe's Grill here that resulted in damages to four pool tables and two pinball machines.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that entrance to the business, owned by Joe Eller, was gained through the front door.

Damages to the merchandise was estimated at approximately $50, the Sheriff said, and another $36 in change was also reported missing.

The incident was reported Thursday morning at 8:25.

Obituaries

Harris — Funeral services for Mr. Josh Harris of Winterville will be conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. at Norcott and Company Funeral Home Chapel with the Rev. P. D. Blount officiating.

Interment will be in the Barrett Cemetery, where military rites will be rendered at the graveside.

Mr. Harris died at his home Sunday after a lingering illness. The son of Mrs. Sue Harris of Winterville and the late Mr. Samuel Harris, he was born and lived all his life in Pitt County. He was a World War II veteran and a member of Rock Spring F.W.B. Church.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Gertrude Graham Harris of Greenville; two daughters, Mrs. Ernestine Blow of New Haven, Conn. and Miss Mary Joyce Harris of Greenville; two stepdaughters, Mrs. Annie Mae Crandle and Mrs. Ree Bertha Crawford, both of Lakewood, N. J.; three stepsons, James D. and Lonnie Graham, both of Greenville, and Elmer R. Graham of New Haven, Conn.; his mother; five sisters, Mrs. Della Smith of Winterville, Miss Lizzie Harris of Route 1, Greenville, Miss Annie Willis Harris of Route 2, Ayden, Mrs. Vivian Ree Harris of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Mrs. Ardenia Booe of Washington, D. C.; three brothers, Will Harris of Bridgeport, Conn., Ceasar Harris Jr. of Route 1, Winterville, and David Harris of Route 1, Ayden; 26 grandchildren.

The family will be at Norcott and Company Funeral Home from 8 to 9 o'clock tonight.

Controlled House Fire

Fire yesterday afternoon damaged a farm house occupied by the Mack Clemmons family on the Frank M. Wooten Jr. farm east of Greenville on highway U. S. 264.

The Eastern Pines Fire Department received an alarm at 2:29 p.m. On arrival at the house, according to Pitt County Fire Marshal Mike Worthington, firemen found the house full of smoke.

"The fact the house was closed tightly helped prevent the spread of flames," Worthington noted. He said the fire started from a hot plate left on top of a cabinet. Firemen were able to extinguish the flames and confine damage to an estimated $300.

This morning at 9:17 a.m. firemen from the Palkland Fire Department answered an alarm for a tobacco barn fire. The barn, on the J. E. Hice farm on Road 1212 near Bell Arthur, was saved by firemen with only the loss of 50 sticks of tobacco. The rest of the tobacco and the barn were not damaged by the blaze.

Training Grants Approved

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Three grants for police science education at three Eastern North Carolina educational institutions were announced Friday by Rep. Walter B. Jones.

Largest is an $80,000 grant to Beaufort Technical Institute. Some $25,000 was allotted to Pitt Technical Institute, and $5,000 went to East Carolina University.

Jones said the grants will help expand existing police science programs and provide equipment, textbooks, and tuitions. The grants are from the Department of Justice Law Enforcement Assistance Programs.

MR. ANTHONY DIES — SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John J. Anthony, whose daily advice show was broadcast nationally on radio for 20 years, died Thursday night of an apparent heart attack.

Encephalitis, or sleeping sickness, is carried by a mosquito.

Dudley — Funeral services for Mr. Roy Lee Dudley, 42, will be conducted Sunday at 1 p.m. at Haddock's Chapel F.W.B. Church with Elder Stephen Jones officiating.

Interment will follow in the Winterville Cemetery. Mr. Dudley died Monday from injuries received in an automobile accident near here July 4. The son of Mr. Peter Dudley Sr. of Route 2, Robersonville and the late Mrs. Leander Daniel Dudley, he was born and reared in the Haddock's Crossroads community of Pitt County and was a member of Haddock's Chapel Church.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Annie Jones Dudley of Ayden; his father; two sisters, Mrs. Lillian Earl Moore of Route 2, Ayden and Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Weeks of Washington, D. C.; six brothers, Ernest M. Dudley of Route 1, Winterville; Jesse Ray Dudley of Norfolk, Va.; Dallas Dudley of Greenville, and Bobby Gray, Jimmie Lee and Robert C. Dudley, all of Robersonville.

The body will be at the Norcott and Company Funeral Home Chapel from 5 p.m. Saturday until one hour of the funeral.

Jordan — Mrs. Georgianna Jordan died in Pitt Memorial Hospital Tuesday after a lingering illness.

The widow of the late William Jordan of Winterville, she was born and reared in Pitt County. She was a member of Good Hope F.W.B. Church.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p.m. at Good Hope Church, with the pastor, Bishop Mitchell officiating. Burial will follow in the Winterville Cemetery.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Beulah Mae Daniels of the home and Mrs. Emma J. Mills of Ayden; one sister, Mrs. Janie Carroll of Baltimore, Md.; and 11 grandchildren.

The body will be at Flanagan and Parker Funeral Home until it is taken to the church one hour before the funeral. The family will be at the funeral home Saturday night from 8 to 9 o'clock.

King — Funeral services for Mrs. Suttie Dixon King will be conducted Sunday at 4 p.m. at Little Creek F.W.B. Church with the Elder W. L. Harris officiating. Assisting Elder Harris will be Elder J. L. Wilson. Interment will be in the Red Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. King, a lifelong resident of the Edwards Bridge community of Lenoir County, died last Sunday at the Wilson Medic Home in Wilson. The daughter of the late Mr. Amos and Mrs. Susan Turnage Dixon, she was a member of Little Creek Church.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Hilda Mary Hawkins of New York City; one stepson, Allen King Jr. of Kinston; and two sisters, Mrs. Rosia Canady of Route 2, Grifton and Mrs. Ida Mary Brown of New Haven, Conn.

The body will be at the Norcott and Company Funeral Home Chapel from Saturday at 3 p.m. until one hour of the funeral.

Approve Pamlico Watershed Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee approved Thursday the 56,300-acre Upper Bay River watershed project in Pamlico County, N. C. The total cost would be $1,834,000 with the federal government share $946,000.

The action completed congressional authorization for the project, first approved by the Senate Agricultural Committee.

'Task Force' For The South

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal task force of more than 100 lawyers and marshals will be assigned to the South next month in an effort to assure complete desegregation of schools.

The disclosure, by the Washington Post in today's editions, said each lawyer would be accompanied by a deputy U.S. marshal as his personal escort. The newspaper quoted Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell as saying he did not anticipate trouble, but added: "You never can tell."

"Much depends," he said, "on how firmly state and local officials uphold the law."

Southern schools, many of them under voluntary or compulsory orders to desegregate, open as early as Aug. 17 and continue through the day after Labor Day, which falls this year on Sept. 7.

The newspaper said the task force officials will be equally divided between the Justice and Health, Education and Welfare Departments. Five temporary regional offices will be set up before the start of school to handle citizen complaints.

Jerris Leonard, assistant attorney general for civil rights, said a person with a complaint will deliver it to a regional center and "it will be assigned to the nearest field lawyers to make a personal investigation." He said if the complaint appears justified, he would call for an immediate FBI investigation.

Mitchell, in his interview with the Post, said: "The Supreme Court has ruled that schools must be desegregated now. Without fervor, without passion, we will enforce the law."

Ft. Macon Still Most Popular

RALEIGH (AP) — The Ft. Macon State Park on the ocean near Atlantic Beach continues to be the most popular in the state park system.

State Parks Supt. Thomas G. Ellis noted this Thursday in a report which showed the 15 operating state parks had 710,560 visitors during the first five months of 1970, a gain of 34,200 over the similar period last year.

Ellis said that attendance at Ft. Macon totaled 235,432 during the first five months of the year, and that more than 700,000 persons visited the park during 1969.

Madison Will Need A Sheriff

MARSHALL, N. C. (AP) — Madison County commissioners will begin shopping around soon for a new sheriff.

Sheriff Roy Roberts, a Democrat, announced Thursday that he would resign on Aug. 3 although his four-year term does not expire until December.

The commissioner must name a temporary successor to complete the term.

Roberts, 66, said he is quitting because he has reached retirement age and because he needs more time to devote to his trout farming business and other interests.

Ministers Will Meet Saturday

The United Pitt County Ministerial Alliance will meet Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church in Greenville.

The Reverend W. B. Moore, president of the organization, states that the purpose of the meeting is to complete the re-organization of the group and to consider realistic means of eliminating causes of racial unrest in Greenville and Pitt County.

Black ministers who live in Pitt County as well as those who serve in local churches are expected to attend.

Show Moon Rock Planetarium To

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — Morehead Planetarium will exhibit a moon rock sample about the size of a walnut from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. next Monday to commemorate the first anniversary of man's landing on the moon.

Planetarium officials said the rock, part of a NASA traveling exhibit, will be on display during normal exhibit hours the rest of July.

Is it fun to be SURPRISED?

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

When each new experience springs forth like a jack-in-the-box... and your fondest possessions are toys... and your chief concern is to squeeze out of every hour the last ounce of amusement... then it's fun to be surprised.

But when you've grown too old for toys... when life is laced with serious challenge... when happiness depends on a thousand social, economic and moral decisions... then surprises can be devastating!

It is elementary that our early education must prepare us for the later surprises. The knowledge, habits and skills we acquire must be adequate for meeting the unexpected as readily as the expected.

And because religious faith and moral fortitude are men's chief resources in the unheralded crises of adult life, we must nurture their development in every child.

Support, encourage, serve your church in its vital efforts to mold the character of today's youth — tomorrow's adults.

Greenville Sweeps Pair In Tournament

Broadway Joe Busy In Movies

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Hollywood Joe Namath will be late reporting to the New York Jets' pre-season training camp. But it's okay. He's got permission from Weeb Ewbank, head coach and general manager of the Jets.

It could be a moot point, however. The Jets are scheduled to open camp for veterans on Sunday. But the prolonged dispute between National Football League owners and players is likely to delay it.

The stalemate between the owners and the negotiators of the NFL Players Association continued today, with no talks scheduled. The owners have barred veterans from the training camps of the 26 NFL teams and the NFLPA has told the Jets not to report any way.

Jet veterans are due to report Sunday to the team's Long Island camp but Namath got Ewbank's approval to report July 26. The star quarterback, who's been making motion pictures all spring and summer, will be in Hollywood.

"He has to go to California for what they call 'looping' on the movie he made in Arizona a few months ago," said Ewbank.

Namath starred with Ann-Margret in the Arizona-filmed "C.C. Ryder & Co." He played a motorcyclist. In the interim, Namath has been in Italy, filming "The Last Rebel," in which he portrays a cowboy.

Pete Retzlaff, general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, called the NFLPA, which he once served as president, "greedy."

Analyzing the NFLPA demands for an additional $29 million over the next four years,

Retzlaff said: "When the players say make the fans pay for it, take it away from the coaches, the trainers, the equipment men, and take it away from charity, I'm left with no alternative to classify that as greedy."

The Baltimore Sun, in its Friday morning editions, said the NFLPA-proposed pension plan could produce an annual stipend of $100,000 for 15-year veterans at age 65. The newspaper said the owners' plan could produce a $72,000-a-year pension for 15-year players.

The newspaper said the pension figures were calculated by "sources close to the discussions."

The New Orleans Saints got bad news Thursday. Two highly regarded rookies received injuries in practice at Bowling Green, Ohio.

Defensive back Glen Cannon from Mississippi suffered an apparent partial tear of his Achilles tendon and will be out of action several days. It wasn't immediately known if surgery will be required. Cannon, was drafted fifth by New Orleans.

Running back Jim Otis from Ohio State, who starred in last month's Coaches' All-American game at Lubbock, Tex., got a bruised leg while being tackled but was expected to be back in action today.

The College All-Star squad ended its ministrike Thursday and reported to Coach Otto Graham for a pair of two-hour drills. The 53 players boycotted drills Wednesday in sympathy with the NFLPA. The All-Stars are scheduled to play the world champion Kansas City Chiefs July 31 in the annual Soldiers Field Classic in Chicago.

Trio Tied As Jack, Lee Leave

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Jack Nicklaus was "just too tired to coordinate" and Lee Trevino, the Merry Mexican who leads this year's PGA money winnings list, missed one-foot putts because he couldn't concentrate.

So, the two stars got permission to withdraw from the $150,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic after Thursday's first round, led by Bob Murphy, Don Mas-sengale and Labron Harris.

Murphy, who hasn't won since 1968; Mas-sengale, a non-winner since 1966; and Harris, a six-year tour veteran still looking for his first triumph, each carded five-under-par 67s over the 6,615-yard Whitmarsh Country Club course.

They held a one-stroke advantage over defending champion Dave Hill, Masters champ Billy Casper, Art Wall, Dick Ryan, and Charles Coody.

Trevino shot a one-under 71, while Nicklaus carded a 74. Both were excused by the sponsor.

Trevino left for El Paso, Tex. "It's something that came up while my wife and I were in Europe the last few weeks," Trevino said. "It's on my mind and I just can't play. I've got to go home and get it straightened out. It's really got me bugged. I had a one-foot putt out there today and left it short. I just wasn't thinking about my game."

Nicklaus told a formal news conference, "This is the first time I've ever asked to be excused from a tournament. I'm just too tired to coordinate."

Nicklaus, who won the British Open last Sunday in an 18-hole playoff with Doug Sanders, added "I played very poorly Thursday. I'm even too tired to sleep. I wake up at 4 a.m."

Distressed about his withdrawal, Nicklaus continued, "If I continue I'll be susceptible to injuring something. There is too much going on the rest of the year to let that happen. I'm going home. I'll spend three days at home and be ready for next week."

With Trevino and Nicklaus gone, the tournament lost a lot of its color. U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and two-time winner Dick Lotz took the week off. That means five of the top 10 money winners aren't here.

The 33-year-old Mas-sengale, twice a winner in his 10 years as a touring professional, shot an opening round 33-34 with seven birdies and two bogeys. For the second straight week he used a stance he gave up after the 1967 season. "I've gone back to what I used to do, playing the ball a little bit back," said the Texan, who a week ago finished second in the Milwaukee Open. His birdie putts included one of 25 feet and another of 30.

Murphy, 29, said he was going to win the $30,000 first prize for two reasons, to get even for the clubs that were stolen out of his car here last year, and to help pay for a $100,000 house his family will move into at Delray Beach, Fla., in a few weeks.

The 212-pound Murphy shot a 34-33. He had five birdie putts and played the rest in regulation.

Harris a 29-year-old Oklahoman, came in with a 33-34, including a 30-foot putt for an eagle on the par five 488-yard fifth hole. He had five birdies and two bogeys in the round. Harris finished in a tie for fifth last week in Milwaukee, one of his best finishes since he lost a playoff here in 1968 on a third sudden-death hole to Murphy. His only better finish since was fourth in the Minnesota Classic last year.

Two strokes behind the top three came Bruce Devlin, PGA champion Ray Floyd, Bunky Henry and Gibby Gilbert. Each had a 69 over the par 36-36-72 course. Deane Beaman, who won at Milwaukee last week, was among 10 at 70.

Twin Errors Lead Baltimore To Victory

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Baltimore-Minnesota game was a clash between the American League's division leaders, but to the Twins, it was all a mistake. In fact, it was a lot of mistakes.

The Twins made throwing errors and catching errors along with some faulty baserunning to bungle their way to a 5-1 loss to the Orioles in Baltimore.

"Those three days off sorta slowed us down a bit it seems," drawled Manager Bill Rigney, referring to the All-Star break. The Twins had won six of eight games before the three-day rest.

The outcome left the Orioles six games ahead of Detroit in the East after the Tigers outslugged the Chicago White Sox 11-6, and cut Minnesota's lead in the West to four games over California, which nipped Washington 3-2.

In the only other night game, Cleveland blanked Kansas City 6-0. In day games, Boston edged Milwaukee 6-5 in 10 innings and Oakland clobbered the New York Yankees 8-2 before losing 4-1 in a doubleheader.

In the National League, Cincinnati stopped Pittsburgh 3-2, Atlanta hammered St. Louis 7-3, Houston trimmed the Chicago Cubs 2-1, Los Angeles downed the New York Mets 3-1 and Philadelphia outthit San Diego 10-7 in the only games scheduled.

The Twins' problems began in the first inning when they had one runner thrown out at the plate and then gave Baltimore a run on George Mitterwald's two out passed ball.

Two innings later, the Orioles made it 2-0 when Paul Blair scored from third base on a very short sacrifice fly. Left fielder

Bob Allison caught the ball only 20 yards beyond the infield and then dribbled a throw to the plate that hit Blair on the bounce about 10 feet from home.

Harmon Killebrew managed to get one run back for the Twins in the sixth off Mike Cuellar with his 27th homer, but the Twins boo boomed themselves out of the tying run and perhaps more.

A walk and Rich Reese's single put runners on first and third with two out when Mitterwald hit a shot that bounced off third baseman Robinson's chest. But he recovered and still got his man in plenty of time when Mitterwald fell leaving the plate.

After Boog Powell opened the Baltimore sixth with his 24th homer and Robinson walked, Dick Woodson relieved loser Tom Hall and quickly threw away a sacrifice bunt. Andy Etchebarren followed with a wrapup two-run double. Killebrew followed that by booting a grounder, but the Orioles were finished scoring—and the Twins were finished.

Detroit won a slugfest duel, outthitting the White Sox 18-12 and out-homering them 4-2. It was the most Tiger hits in a game since June 1967.

California overcame Washington homers by Aurelio Rodriguez and Lee Maye with Jim Fregosi's run-scoring single and Earl Voss' sacrifice fly, and then won in the ninth.

Tom Egan doubled with one out and Chico Ruiz ran for him. An infield hit got him to third and then Sandy Alomar bunted and Ruiz beat the throw to the plate.

Rookie Rich Hand, 3-8, pitched Cleveland to victory with a four-hitter and the Indians, without a hit for four innings, bombed Jim Rooker for five runs in the fifth.

Boston also won a home run duel on George Scott's sacrifice fly in the 10th with the bases loaded and none out against a two-man outfield—Milwaukee manager Dave Bristol moved left fielder Tommie Harper in as another infielder.

Harper had tied the game in the ninth with a two-out, two-on homer, the Brewers' third homer. Boston also had three, including two by Billy Conigliaro.

Pete Ward, starting only his fourth game, doubled and singled for three runs to give the Yankees their split behind Stan Bahnsen's four-hitter.

The A's used six unearned runs, a two-run homer by Frank Fernandez and Reggie Jackson's two-run single to win the opener.

Pair Enter Jr. Olympics

Two Greenville youths, seeking a slot in the National Junior Olympics, will compete Saturday in a three-state regional in Sumter, S. C.

Two other qualifiers will not be able to make the trip, however.

Alec Allen will be after the title in the 880-yard run, while Matthew Clark will be trying to take a spot in the shot-put event.

Joe Hunter, who qualified for the discus, will be unable to compete because he has left to take an appointment to West Point. His brother, Al, who qualified in the 100-yard dash, suffered an injury when struck in the knee by a rock tossed by a young child, and will not be able to run.

The top three finishers in each event will qualify for the nationals, to be held in Knoxville, Tenn., next month.

In a game dominated by the home run, a lowly hit batter gave Greenville new life and enabled them to start a comeback that forced another game in the District Seven Babe Ruth Tournament.

The local team nipped Havelock, 8-7, in the first game last night when Herb Wilkerson was hit by a pitch with a bases loaded in the seventh inning. They then went on to down previously unbeaten Pitt County, 10-6, in the second game.

That leaves Greenville and Pitt County each with one loss, and the final game will be played tonight at 6:15 p.m.

Greenville looked like a sure winner in the opening game as they picked up four runs in the first inning. Wayne Bailey walked and John Barwick reached on an error. J. C. Daniels singled into center field, scoring Bailey. An error on the play let Barwick come around with the second run, while Daniels came on to second. David Clifton sent a bouncer past first base that scored Daniels, and Clifton moved up on a wild pitch. He scored when Robert Carraway singled to right.

It stayed that way until the fifth inning, when Havelock exploded to come up with six big runs, and take the lead. Bill Richards led off with a single to left and Louie King got Havelock on the scoreboard with a homer to left. Don Beaver followed with another homer, this time to right, cutting the lead to 4-3. Steve Clemenc walked and Eric Brown put Havelock on top with the third homer of the inning, making it 5-4. And John Lee added insurance with still another homer, this time to left, giving Havelock a 6-4 advantage.

In the top of the sixth, Greenville came back to move ahead again, also using the homer route. David Clifton closed the gap with a homer to center and Stanley Cobb tied it with another to right. With one out, Wilkerson came on to slap another homer, moving Greenville back on top, 7-6.

But it didn't last long either. In the bottom of the sixth, Richards cleared the fence with another shot to left, tying it again. Stanley Cobb then came on in relief, and struck out the next two batters and got the other on a foul fly. He then struck out all three batters in the seventh after Greenville got the winning run.

That came when Clifton reached on a fielder's choice and Cobb was hit by a pitch. Jack Jones was walked, loading the bases, Wilkerson was then hit by a pitch, forcing in Clifton with what proved to be the winning run.

Then Greenville had to win the second game to keep their hopes alive, and they promptly went to work to do it. In the second inning they pushed over the first of their 10 runs. That came on a solo homer by Cobb.

In the third, Pitt County came up with an excellent chance to score, loading the bases with none out. But the next batter hit a short pop fly that no one could advance on. Then, the next batter attempted a squeeze bunt, but the ball went only about a foot from home, and Seth Jones grabbed it, stepped on home and fired to first to complete the double play and get Greenville out of the jam.

Greenville scored two more runs in the bottom of the third. Bill Lee walked and stole second. Daniels singled to left, scoring him, and then stole second. Clifton singled to right, moving Daniels to third, but he was cut down trying to score, as Clifton moved on to second. Two wild pitches allowed Clifton to come in.

In the fourth, Greenville picked up five more to move into an 8-0 lead. Howard Leggett walked and moved up on a passed ball and Wayne Bailey homered. Lee broke his hitting slump with a double and stole third scoring on Daniels' single. Daniels stole second and moved to third on Clifton's hit to right. Clifton moved unheeded to second and a sacrifice by Cobb scored Daniels. Wilkerson walked and Jones reached on an error, scoring Clifton with the fourth run.

Pitt County got into the act in the top of the fifth. Chuck Finklea singled to center and moved up on an error. He scored on a double by Dail Manning. Manning moved to third on Bobby Bryan's singled and scored when Bryan stole second and the ball was errored in the attempt to get him.

In the bottom of the fifth, Greenville picked up its final two runs. Barwick walked and Lee capped his comeback with a homer to center, running the score to 10-2.

But Pitt County wasn't ready to give up. They came up with three runs in the sixth. Tom Craft reached on an error and Johnny Willis singled. Finklea reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases and Manning doubled in Craft and Willie Finklea scored when Cleve Averette reached on an error.

In the seventh, Pitt County tried again, scoring once. Mike Griffin reached on an error, and Glenn Dywer walked. Both advanced on an out, and a walk to Willis loaded the bases. That brought on Bobby Kittrell in relief of Leggett, who had done hero's work in the game thus far. Only one of the six runs eventually scored off him was earned.

With two outs, Finklea reached on an error, scoring Griffin, but the next batter grounded out, ending the game.

Cage Camp Next Week

The third session of the Buccaneer Basketball Camp gets underway at East Carolina University this Sunday, according to ECU Basketball Coach Tom Quinn.

The session runs through Friday.

Steve Vacendak, a former member of the Duke University basketball team, and formerly a Pittsburgh Piper, now on the Converse staff, will serve as a special guest lecturer for the session.

In addition, Brad Evans of Duke and Bill Ott, a former ECU player, now coach of Sayersville (N. J.) High School will be on the staff.

Walter Noell, freshman basketball coach at ECU is the camp's supervisor.

There are still opening available for the session, according to Quinn.

Death Comes To Fabled Peahead Walker, Former Wake Forest Football Leader

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — It had always been difficult to separate fact from fiction when it came to Douglas Clyde (Peahed) Walker. And now that the only man who knew whether the rumors were true — Peahead himself — is dead, no one will know for sure.

One thing is certain, however. His name will go down in sports history as a tough, likeable — and winning — football coach.

They were telling the stories in the Carolinas Thursday after Peahead died at 71 after a long illness.

One told of a hot day when a member of Wake Forest University's football team collapsed during a brutal workout under a hot North Carolina sun.

"This man isn't breathing," said the medic. Walker looked down. "Well," he said, "you're a doctor. Make him breathe."

What Walker lacked in tact, he made up in winning football games. He turned virtually unknown Wake Forest into a team to be feared after he took over in 1937.

The Deacons won their only bowl game in history under Walker, defeating South Carolina in the 1946 Gator Bowl game at Jacksonville, Fla. He took the Deacs to another bowl — the 1949 Dixie Bowl — but lost to Baylor.

His proudest moment, however, was when he led his Deacons to 19-6 upset over Bob Neyland's great Tennessee team in 1946, just a week after the Volunteers had beaten the Alabama Rose Bowl champions.

The stocky native of Birmingham, Ala., played football, baseball and basketball at Birmingham Southern and Howard College. After graduation from Howard in 1952 he played minor league baseball, and for five years in the '30s managed the Snow Hill, N. C., team in the old Coastal Plain League.

He coached football at Atlantic Christian College at Wilson, N. C., in 1926, and moved to another small North Carolina college, Elon, where he stayed 10 years before going to Wake Forest.

At Wake Forest he guided his teams through 77 triumphs, 51 defeats and 6 ties in 14 years. No other coach since then at Wake Forest has lasted more than five years or won more than 21 games.

After he left Wake Forest he was an assistant on the Yale staff, and coached the Montreal Alouettes professional team. In recent years he had been a scout for the New York football Giants.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday in Christ Episcopal Church in Charlotte. He wore colorful ties, many sent to him by friends who knew of his predilection for such cravats.

He and Frank Howard, former football coach and now athletic director at Clemson, for years bantered each other. Their good-natured "feud" enlivened sports pages. Tex Coulter, who played right offensive tackle when Peahead coached Montreal in the early '50s, recalled that Peahead's reputation for toughness was largely undeserved. Others, too, saw through that camouflage of gruffness.

Wallace Wade, the Duke coach in the '30s and '40s, had sat across the field from Peahead many a football game, trying to figure what the "Dixie Giant Killer" was going to do next. Wade remembers that everyone who knew Peahead liked him.

It was after a Duke game that Peahead pulled off a stunt they still talk about. In 1942 Wake Forest beat Duke for the first time in 16 years. Walker was so overcome with elation that he grabbed a trophy that was to be awarded to the team's most improved player, ran upstairs to his living quarters over the gymnasium and put the trophy on his chest of drawers. No player ever received it. "I improved more than they did," Peahead said.

Cincy Spoils Pirate Opening

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer Tony Perez hit a fly ball that was an easy out in Forbes Field. The trouble, for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was the game wasn't being played in Forbes Field.

"That ball was an easy out in Forbes Field," Perez said of the two-run homer that he hit in Thursday night's Cincinnati's 3-2 victory that spoiled the Pirates' debut in Pittsburgh's new Three Rivers Stadium.

Perez' belt, his 30th homer of the season, probably would have been caught in spacious Forbes Field but it cleared the 410 mark in center field, the deepest point of the new park, and put the Reds ahead 2-1.

Perez also figured in the winning run for the Reds, the runaway leaders in the National League West, when he singled and scored on Lee May's single in the ninth.

Despite the loss, the Pirates kept their 1½ game lead in the NL East when the runnerup New York Mets were edged 3-1 by Los Angeles.

Atlanta topped St. Louis 7-3, Houston nipped the Chicago Cubs 2-1 and Philadelphia outlasted San Diego 10-7 in other NL action. San Francisco and Montreal were not scheduled.

In the American League, Detroit walloped the Chicago White Sox 11-6, Cleveland blanked Kansas City 6-0, Baltimore took Minnesota 5-1, California shaded Washington 3-2, Boston nipped Milwaukee 6-5 in 10 innings and Oakland tripped New York 8-2 before the Yankees came back to win 4-1 in a doubleheader.

The American men, however, won 122-100 with a U.S. record clocking by Ken Swenson, a 22-year-old blond from Kansas State, in the 800 meters highlighting their victory.

The West German women won 82-53 but American Coach Ed Temple said his squad faced "a great German team that had to set West German records in many events to beat us."

Leroy Walker, coach of the American men, was elated by his team's victory, saying it resulted from "the swing events going in our favor."

He said eight Americans recorded lifetime bests—sprinter Ben Vaughan in the 100 and 200 meters, Willie Turner in the 200 meters, Swenson and Mark Winzenried in 800 meters, Bill Skinner in the javelin, Tim Vollmer in the discus, Norm Tate in the triple jump and Dave Roman-sky in the 10,000-meter walk.

Walker was particularly pleased by Swenson's crucial 800-meter triumph and explained, "We wanted to run a fast quarter and break up any possible German 1-2 finish."

Looking ahead to the meet in Leningrad next week against the Soviet Union, Walker said, "If my information about the Russian team is as accurate as was my information about the German team, I think we have an excellent chance."

He said that both the French and German teams "have given us very fine competition and we expect more of the same from the Soviets."

Los Angeles a 2-1 lead. The Dodgers also got another run in the inning on a single by Jim Lefebvre that drove in Manny Mota, who also singled. Grabarkewitz now has won games with six of his 10 homers.

The Mets, who have lost four in a row had tied it 1-1 in the seventh on Cleon Jones' third homer. Wes Parker's sacrifice fly scored Grabarkewitz, who had walked, for the Dodgers opening run in the first inning.

A five-run seventh inning, keyed by Felix Millan's two-run single, helped Atlanta send the Cardinals to their eighth straight loss. Clete Boyer homered for Atlanta.

A throwing error by the Cubs' Glenn Beckert opened the door for Houston's two runs in the second inning. Jesus Alou drove in one with a sacrifice fly, and Jim Wynn singled home the other. Don Wilson made the lead stand up with relief help from Jim Ray in the ninth, when John Callison singled in the Chicago run.

Byron Brown's bases-loaded homer in the ninth boosted the Phillies over San Diego. San Diego had taken a 7-5 lead in the seventh on Dave Campbell's homer. Clarence Gaston's triple and Ollie Brown's RBI single. Brown also hit a three-run homer in the first when San Diego rallied to tie the game 4-4.

SMITHFIELD — Greenville's American Legion baseball team rode a five-hitter by Bennie Knox to a 2-1 lead in the best of five area semifinals here last night, and returned home to hopefully finish off the series tonight.

With a 3-1 victory in the bag, the locals hope to wind up the series tonight as they play at Guy Smith Stadium. The game will be part of a doubleheader. The first game, at 6:15 p.m. will be between Greenville and Pitt County for the Babe Ruth League District Championship.

Knox, who struck out 11 and walked four, was in trouble only three times during the game, and only once, in the seventh, did Johnston County manage to slip in a run.

In the first inning, Phil Langdon opened the inning with a double and took third on a wild pitch. But a strikeout and a double play got Greenville out of the jam. In the fourth, Robert Wheelers singled and was sacrificed to second but died there.

Greenville, meanwhile, was not idle. They threatened in the second when Jimmy Paige singled and stole second, and then got another opportunity in the fourth, but alert fielding stopped that. Tony Whitehurst had reached on a fielder's choice and then stole second. He was cut down, however, trying to make third when the ball was overthrown at second.

Then, in the fifth, Greenville pushed over two runs to get all they needed. Ronnie Leggett doubled down the third-base line. Jimmy Bond hit a pop-up to short right, but the fielder misjudged the ball and it fell in for a double with Leggett moving to third. With one out, Kim Harbin laid down a sacrifice bunt to score Leggett and reached when the ball was misplayed. Harbin then stole second and Knox put down another sacrifice bunt to score Bond with the second Greenville run.

In the sixth, Greenville picked up its insurance run. Paige doubled to left-center, and then scored when Leggett singled through the middle. Greenville had only one other opportunity, in the eighth, when Whitehurst reached on an error and stole second.

The lone Johnston County run came in the seventh. Stan Coats walked and moved up when Trigger Byrd also got a free trip to first. John Williams hit into a fielder's choice, getting Byrd at second, but the relay to first for the attempted double-play was wide, and Coats sped-home with the run as the ball was chased down.

Should Smithfield come back to win tonight, the series would return to Smithfield for the final game on Saturday night.

American Teams Claim Victory

The two American Division teams advanced into the winners bracket in the Church Softball Finals last night. Meadowbrook downed Black Jack, 5-0, while Presbyterian downed Mt. Pleasant, 10-8.

Tonight, in the first game, Black Jack takes on Mt. Pleasant with the loser eliminated. Presbyterian and Meadowbrook meet in the other game, with the winner taking on the favorite's role in the tourney.

In the opener, Meadowbrook broke open the scoreless tie in the fourth inning pushing over three runs. They added the other two in the sixth.

Carl Power led the Meadowbrook hitting with three, while Linwood Owen had two. For Black Jack, T. Dixon had a pair of hits.

Presbyterian pushed over two runs in the first, but Mt. Pleasant came back with three to move ahead. Presbyterian again took the lead with two in the second, including a homer by Wilson. But Mt. Pleasant scored once to tie it at 4-4 in the bottom of the frame.

In the fourth, Presbyterian moved back on top with three runs, but four in the fifth by Mt. Pleasant put them back ahead, 8-7. In the seventh, Presbyterian tied it up on a homer by Fuller, and then Glidewell singled, moved up on an out, and scored on a hit by Knowles to give Presbyterian the lead and the win.

Briley led the Presbyterian hitting with three, while Johnston, Glidewell, Oswald, Wilson, Knowles and Graham each had two. For Mt. Pleasant, Nobles had four, while Bullock, Parker and B. Bullock each had two.

Ashe Doesn't Know Why He's Winning

By TOM SEPPY Associated Press Sports Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur Ashe, not known especially for his clay court game, doesn't have an explanation for his easy victories thus far in the Washington Star International Tennis Tournament.

"I don't know the reason," said Ashe, the second-ranked U.S. player and third seeded here. "I guess they think they have to be exceptional to beat me. And they don't."

Ashe made his comments Thursday after he defeated Jaime Fillol of Chile 6-2, 6-2, to advance to today's quarterfinal round.

"He didn't play as well as he can on clay," said Ashe. "I've just tried to keep the ball on the court this week. That's all."

Ashe defeated Ian Crookenden now a teaching pro but a team-mate and doubles partner at UCLA, 6-1, 6-1, Monday in the first round and then ousted Onny Parum of New Zealand 6-4, 6-3 Wednesday before taking on Fillol.

By the luck of the draw, Ashe and Stan Smith of Pasadena, Calif., America's top-ranked player and the No. 2 seed here, fell into a bracket which does not have the best of the clay court artists going into the quarter-final round.

Ashe meets Dick Crealy of Australia, a serve and volley player like himself, in today's matches while Smith meets the best base-line player in the lower bracket—Ion Tiriac of Rumania.

In the top bracket, three of the players are clay-court specialists and the fourth plays a fair game.

Ilie Nastase of Rumania, the top-seed here, Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., fourth seed, and Georges Goven of France, fifth seed, play their best games on clay. Eighth-seeded Bob Hewitt of South Africa is known to play a fair clay court game.

Nastase, who ousted Pancho Guzman 6-2, 6-2, Wednesday, meets Hewitt, who had some trouble with ninth-ranked Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 6-4, 5-7, 6-1.

Richey, winner over Mike Estep 6-0, 6-3, meets Goven, victor over Bob Lutze of Los Angeles, 6-2, 10-8.

Paschal Wins Race

MILTON, Vt. (AP) — Jim Paschal, 44, of High Point, N.C., driving a 1970 Javelin, won the Panther 300 NASCAR Grand American Challenge Series 100-mile race Thursday night at Catamount Stadium.

Paschal averaged 60.193 m.p.h. on the one-third mile paved oval track, winning in 1:39.41. The race was delayed an hour by rain and caution flags were up for 28 of the 300 laps.

Paschal and Max Berrier, 34, of Thomasville, N.C., also driving a 1970 Javelin, were one-two most of the way except when sandwiched by Wayne Andrews of Siler City, N.C., in a 1970 Cougar.

Only 16 of the 28 starters finished the race.

Berrier finished second and Andrews third. Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., was fourth in a 1970 Firebird, followed by Ken Rush of High Point, N.C., in a 1969 Camaro.

Germans Top American Team

STUTTGART, Germany (AP) — It was on to Leningrad today for America's touring track and field team.

The United States was defeated in over-all point standings Thursday after the end of a two-night meet with West Germany. The hosts won 182-175, mainly on the strength of their women athletes.

The American men, however, won 122-100 with a U.S. record clocking by Ken Swenson, a 22-year-old blond from Kansas State, in the 800 meters highlighting their victory.

The West German women won 82-53 but American Coach Ed Temple said his squad faced "a great German team that had to set West German records in many events to beat us."

Tobaccomen Tour Pitt, Surrounding Counties

A group of tobaccomen toured Pitt and surrounding counties this week to assess the tobacco outlook for the 1970 selling season.

The group represented owners and operators of Planters & Prewitt's Warehouse in Farm-

While on their tour in the Ballards Cross Roads section of Pitt County, they inspected a field of tobacco on the Frank Dail farm. Chester Worthington, Sr., commented that the Frank Dail tobacco crop was one of the finest he had seen.

Spokesmen for the group, B. S. Correll and David Jones, discussed the outlook for sales of tobacco for the '70 selling season. They said, "From the standpoint of tobacco that is cured... it is a good usable type tobacco that is usually preferred by the manufacturers."

The Worry Clinic Nagging Wife Like A Child

Nanette's husband is a twin for Jiggs in the famous "Jiggs and Maggie" comic strip. And Nanette doesn't consciously realize what is wrong with herself. For nagging is a subconscious device that sexually hungry women have adopted ever since the Garden of Eden.

Both erotic and gastric hunger will produce nagging, so study this case with care!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.
CASE N-567: Nanette G., aged 27, is a problem wife. "Dr. Crane," her placid husband began, "Nanette is a nagging wife."

"Hardly a day passes that she doesn't rake me over the coals and scold or quarrel with me. "Yet I do everything that I can to please her."

"But the more I give in to her whims, the worse she nags, so what is the solution?"

Hunger is a common cause of nagging. Thus, a man with a peptic ulcer that is gnawing, will grow snarlish and "chew out" his wife, as well as his innocent kiddies.

But Nanette's hunger is not for dinner table calories. Her problem was well diagnosed by that famous author, William Shakespeare, in his "Taming of the Shrew."

For women ever since Adam and Eve have hit upon the deft strategy of nagging in order to make their mates assert their masculinity!

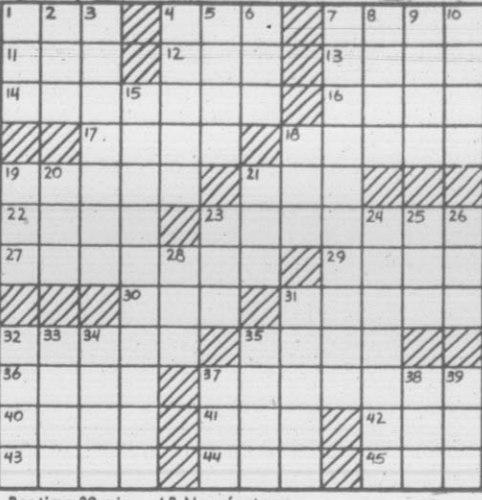

That's also why the more Nanette's husband gives in to her, the worse she scolds.

For she wants him to stop his meek acquiescence and rule the roost!

"Dr. Crane," many of these frustrated women have exclaimed, "I just wish my husband would grab me and turn me over his knee for a re-"

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN (10 1970; by The Chicago Tribune) Neither vulnerable. South deals.

NORTH: ♠ Q96 ♣ Q42 ♦ Q10 ♣ K J 10 6 2
WEST: ♠ A J 10 5 4 ♠ 8 3 ♠ 9 6 ♠ 8 7 ♠ J 8 5 ♠ K 9 7 6 4 2 ♠ 9 5 3 ♠ A Q 4

The bidding: South West North East 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass 4♥ Opening lead: Five of ♠

An aggressive defense submerged South's four heart contract when the declarer failed to adopt effective countermeasures.

West opened the five of diamonds and declarer was confronted with a choice of plays from dummy, depending on whether he believed that his opponent had led from the jack or king. South made the winning guess by putting in the ten. East covered with the king and declarer played the ace.

Trumps were drawn in two rounds ending up in the closed hand and the eight of clubs was led. West followed with the three, the ten was played from dummy losing to East's queen. The latter realized that it was essential for the defense to develop some spade tricks before the ace of clubs was dislodged. He therefore shifted to the eight of spades. South played the deuce and West cooperated with his partner by putting on the ten to dislodge dummy's queen.

A club was led to the jack and East played the ace. On the spade return, South's king was trapped under West's ace and the latter cashed two tricks in the suit to put declarer down by one.

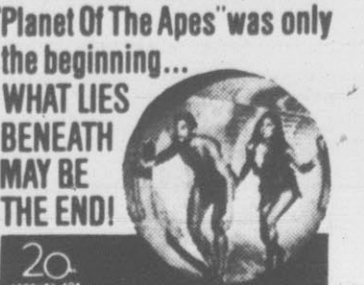

South could have frustrated his opponents' efforts by merely severing their line of communications. To accomplish this, he must play the king of spades from his hand when East shifts to that suit at trick four. West is obliged to release his ace to prevent South from winning two spade tricks, and now when he returns the jack to drive out dummy's queen—East follows with his remaining spade. When the latter gets in with the ace of clubs, he is unable to put West in to cash another spade trick and South subsequently discards his spade loser on North's established king of clubs.

WestGermany's Aid Expanding

BONN (UPI)—Public and private West German aid to developing countries in 1969 reached 8.9 billion marks ($2.4 billion), equal to 1.48 per cent of the nation's gross national product, the Ministry of Economic Cooperation reported. Public funds provided 26.2 per cent, private organizations 2.2 per cent, and commercial companies 71.6 per cent of the aid.

spanking. "Or I would like to have him seize me and shake me till my teeth rattle!"

"For I don't know what comes over me, but I just feel irritable and take it out on my long suffering husband."

Oddly enough, when you are hungry for meat and potatoes, you know what you crave.

But the female erotic hunger is not as specific, for women have a more diffuse distribution of erectile tissue and thus their romantic hungers are vague.

But while women enjoy male gallantry up to a reasonable degree, they also want to know they are married to a virile creature and not a half - female.

Children, too, will impose unduly on "permissive" parents who always give in to their demands.

But once you have spanked a child for naughtiness, it then holds far more respect for you parents.

Besides, it will then curb its provocative behavior, at least when your parental voice rises to such a note that it realizes one more elevation in pitch means a "laying on of hands."

But some love - starved kiddies deliberately crave this "laying on of hands," even if it means a spanking, because they want to preempt the attention of their parents' and feel physical contact, even though pain may be involved.

Similarly, a woman who has not been erotically satisfied, keeps subconsciously "picking on" her mate and even nagging him in the hope that he will finally throw off his mild manner and show her who is boss.

Children often engage in provocative naughtiness by deliberately violating parental taboos till they get corporal punishment.

Nagging is merely a disguised form of an adult woman's resort to that child's provocative naughtiness.

Once a wife knows her mate has fists of steel underneath his kid gloves, she will thereafter be docile and delighted.

So send for the medical

You've got a lot to live
Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
