

Arab Guerrillas Oppose Accepting Peace Plans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Thousands of youths demonstrated in Amman today to protest acceptance by Jordan and Egypt of a U.S. plan for peace in the Middle East. Syria and Iraq stepped up attacks on the plan, indicating a deepening Arab rift on the issue.

The demonstrators in the Jordanian capital called President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt a coward. The youths appeared to be members of Arab guerrilla organizations and union members.

The Palestinian guerrillas also have assailed the U.S. proposal.

Jordan's acceptance of the plan on Sunday carried a reservation which said the government could not stop the actions of Palestinian guerrillas in continuing to attack inside Israel. The U.S. plan calls for a 90-day cease-fire.

In Algiers, the newspaper El Moudjahid, which usually reflects the views of the Algerian government, also rejected the plan.

The Israeli cabinet postponed a decision on Washington's proposal after a six-hour meeting

Sunday. The Jerusalem Post, which usually reflects the Israeli government's thinking, said the cabinet probably will give a "qualified affirmative reply" but will request "firm guarantees that the cease-fire will not be exploited."

The newspaper said Israel would insist on an indefinite cease-fire rather than the 90-day truce period U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers proposed for Egypt, Jordan and Israel. Members of the Israeli government contend that the Egyptians would use a limited cease-fire period to fortify missile sites and other military positions along the Suez Canal.

Sources in Jerusalem said President Nixon had assured Premier Golda Meir after Egypt accepted the plan that the United States would maintain a balance of power in the region.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser approved the proposal last week after the Soviet Union endorsed it. Syria rejected it Sunday as expected, and so did Iraq, which has troops stationed in Jordan.

Jordan's conditional acceptance followed a day-long meeting Sunday of Prime Minister Abdel Moneim Rifai's cabinet and an announcement by the guerrillas Saturday night that they will fight on for "complete liberation of Palestine."

Rifai announced the decision was "unanimous, positive and consistent with the reply of the United Arab Republic (Egypt)."

Informed sources said the reply to Washington would contain some reservations, the chief of which would say the Amman government could not be responsible for actions by the Palestinian commandos. Since they are responsible for most of the attacks from Jordan on Israel, this promised no appreciable reduction in the level of fighting along the Israeli-Jordanian frontier.

Syria's rejection of the American peace initiative came as no surprise, because Syria never has accepted the 1967 United Nations Security Council resolution on the Middle East. Damascus radio said Sunday this refusal remains "absolute," precluding acceptance of any political solution based on it.

Iraq called on all members of the Arab League to join in rejection of the U.S. plan.

Defense Budget's Debate Refueled

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration's bid to halt the arms race and a U.S. admiral's warning of growing Soviet naval power have refueled the heated Senate debate over the nation's defense budget.

The issue presently stems from the $19.2 military hardware bill that critics claim could be cut $5 billion without damaging national security.

Senate forces defending the $19.2 procurement bill for new ships, planes, tanks, missiles and the controversial Safeguard anti-ballistic missile system also may have been handed a telling argument by the commander in chief of the Soviet navy.

Debate resumed today in the Senate, only a few hours after it was disclosed the United States had asked the Soviet Union to join in a mutual limit on land and sea-based strategic nuclear limit ABMs to approximately the same number now deployed around Moscow by the Soviet Union.

The Soviets have not replied to the American approach. Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said Sunday that any attempt to limit the $1.3 billion asked by the Pentagon for the Safeguard ABM system could "pull the rug" from under the U.S. bargaining team at the Vienna arms limitation talks.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he believes it no coincidence that the new U.S. approach at Vienna was revealed at the time the Senate debate on the ABM and other weapons systems was opening.

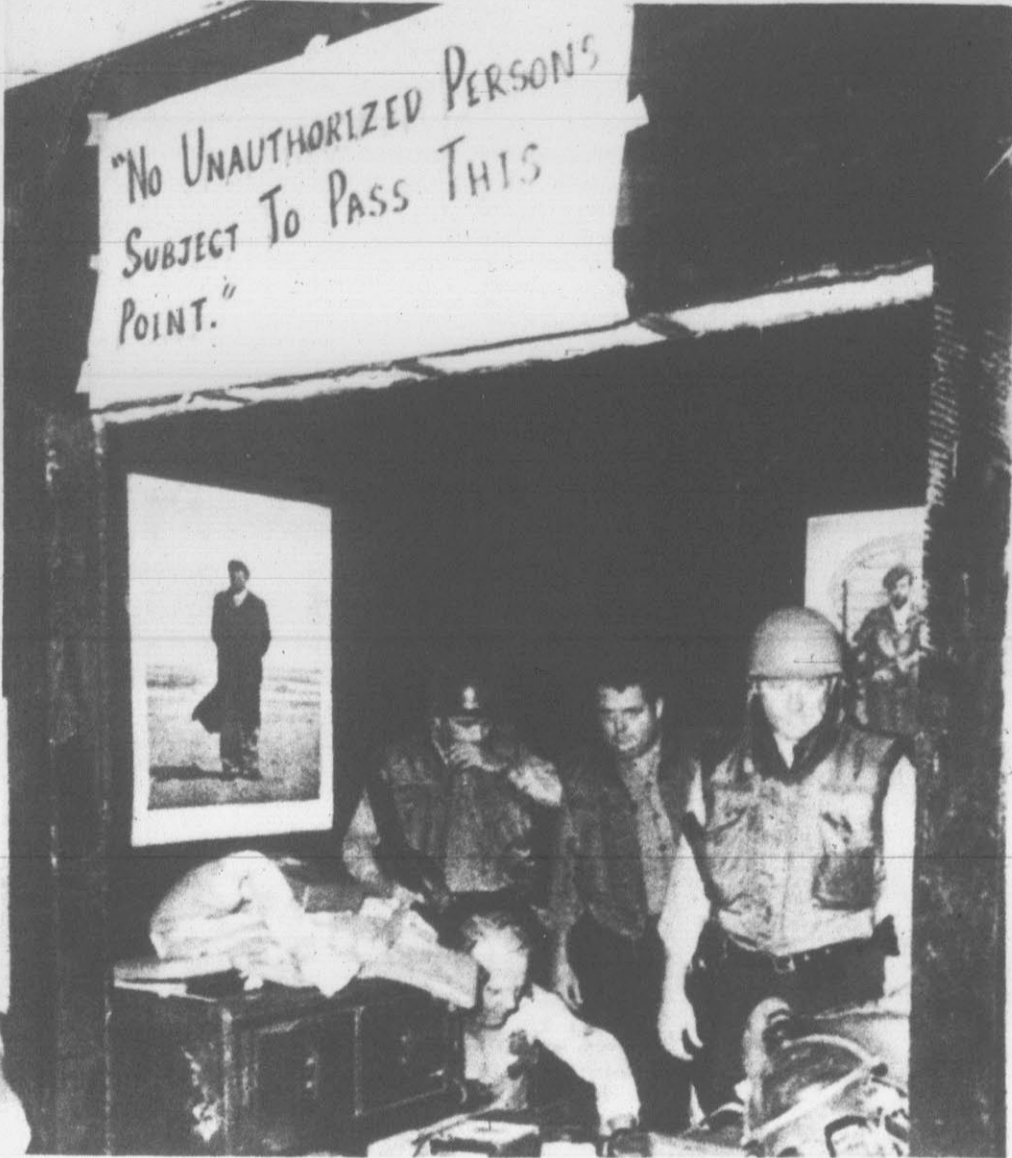

Last year, the decision to start ABM deployment was approved by only one vote. The issue before the Senate now is whether the Safeguard system, intended to protect the nation's offensive missiles, should be expanded to four sites.

Hyman Rickover said if the Soviet Union has not already surpassed the United States in total numbers of operational nuclear submarines, it can be expected to do so by the end of the year.

Rickover, in testimony given last March and released Sunday by the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy, said Soviet missile-firing submarines are now stationed off the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

He added the Soviet drive to forge a first rate naval force apparently is succeeding and that the American defense posture is deteriorating to the point where he has no confidence the United States would be victorious in an all-out war with the Soviet Union.

Rickover's grim portrayal was almost immediately matched by a boast from Soviet Adm. Sergei Gorshkov who said his navy's nuclear submarines have "bound the hands of the imperialists" and can give "a crushing rebuff to any aggres-

Police 'Shoot To Kill' In Houston Gun Battle After Militant Boasts

By JIM BARLOW
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Two police officers, perched atop St. John's Baptist church, returned fire from black militants Sunday night, they said, killing one Negro and wounding three Negroes and a white man.

Police said that in all about 100 shots were fired and that the exchange of gunfire ended quickly. They said that after the shooting about 30 armed blacks stalked the streets brandishing shotguns and rifles and warning police to stay away.

Before order was finally restored, police said a battery of helmeted officers charged a concentration of 150 to 200 blacks, striking them with rifle butts and making about 75 arrests.

No policemen were reported injured. The intelligence officers had been posted on the churchtop in a predominantly Negro neighborhood to observe a rally staged nearby by People's Party II, a black group. Killed in the gunfire was Carl Hampton, 21, the party chairman.

The rally was an impromptu affair hastily assembled to protest the arrest of two Negro youths earlier in the day.

After the trouble was put down police raided the three-story brick building housing headquarters of People's Party II and confiscated what they called a large quantity of rifles, shotguns, pistols and ammunition. Officers did not immediately issue a count of the weapons.

An official police statement said two officers encountered Herbert Joseph Gerac, 19, armed with a pistol, and a 15-year-old carrying a shotgun in the middle of the street in front of People's Party II headquarters about 6 p.m.

Police said the youths pointed their weapons at the officers. They said Gerac broke and ran into the rear door of St. John's and pointed his pistol again.

Police said they could not shoot for fear of hitting two women. Three men church members wrestled the pistol from Gerac, charged later with carrying a pistol and assault. The younger one was turned over the juvenile authorities.

The rally of about 150 persons followed the incident by several hours. O.J. Norris, chief of police intelligence, said the rally had broke up when someone in the street saw the officers and ran into People's Party II headquarters.

Norris said a group of armed men then moved back onto the street.

"One shot at us," said Norris. "We didn't return the fire then. Two Negro males ran across the street and began shooting at us again. We shot them. Four more armed men came down the street shooting at the church roof. We hit one and the rest ran back into the headquarters building. Then we were being sniped at from all around and we returned the fire."

Authorities sent 125 to 150 men into the area in what Police Chief H.B. Short said was a preplanned response to possible mass disturbances.

Officers said literature of the militant Black Panthers was found in the headquarters. The 15-year-old arrested earlier with the shotgun said 40 to 45 men, mostly young, lived in the party headquarters.

"We were shooting to kill," said Norris. "They were shooting to kill me and I sure wasn't going to shoot for their legs. This isn't a cowboy movie where you shoot to wound them."

Mark Hapler, speaking for Mayor Louie Welch, who is in Europe, said the mayor "was pleased with the restraint the police exercised over the past two weeks while being goaded into this type situation."

Giant Bombers Attack Red Build-Up Points

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. B52 bombers attacked North Vietnamese positions at eight points along South Vietnam's border with Cambodia and Laos today amid reports of new enemy buildups.

The raids were the heaviest by the giant eight-jet bombers in two weeks, stretching from the southern Mekong delta to the demilitarized zone at the northern end of the country.

Eight waves of the Stratofortresses dropped 1,200 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese bunkers, base camps, weapons positions, staging areas and supply depots. Other B52s and smaller fighter-bombers pounded enemy supply routes from Laos and Cambodia.

The U.S. Command ordered the strikes after intelligence reports that some North Vietnamese troops were moving back into border areas from which they withdrew when American and South Vietnamese forces struck at the enemy's Cambodian sanctuaries in May and June.

A task force of 2,500 South Vietnamese troops launched a new operation in southeastern Cambodia Sunday. Reports indicated North Vietnamese and Viet Cong soldiers were massing with large munitions stockpiles southeast of the town of Kompung Trabek.

The sweep centered about 50 miles southeast of Phnom Penh, in a region five to ten miles from the Vietnamese border and just to the north of the Plain of Reeds, an enemy infiltration corridor into Saigon and the northern Mekong Delta.

A spokesman said 18,500 South Vietnamese troops now are operating in Cambodia, well below half the peak force of 47,000 in May.

125-Pint Goal By Bloodmobile

The Pitt County Bloodmobile makes its first collection on the 1970-71 year with a visit at the Greenville Moose Lodge from 11:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. Thursday.

Douglas Morgan, chairman of the Pitt County Bloodmobile, states they are seeking 125 pints for the initial collection this year.

"We are doing something new for the first time," Morgan related in speaking of plans to make efforts to get full cooperation of as many people as possible. "Two of the pathologists at Pitt Memorial Hospital, Dr. Lee West and Dr. Charles Gilbert, have made a list of people who have received blood at Pitt recently."

"The medical and administrative staff, working with the two doctors, have sent letters to these people, asking them if they might be able to donate, or to get a friend to donate a pint if they cannot," Morgan commented.

Morgan also mentioned a couple of basic rules for blood giving. "Each prospective donor must be checked on the spot to determine that the individual can give at the time. Another rule is that a person cannot donate blood more than once every eight weeks. Donors must wait that long between donations."

Morgan noted these regulations are national ones established by the American Red Cross.

Castro Admits Troubles Grow

MIAMI (AP) — Fidel Castro says Cuba is beset by economic trouble and needs better leadership from its Communist party.

Addressing his island country Sunday night on the 17th anniversary of his revolution, Castro called its problems "the responsibility of all of us, and mine in particular."

He said Cuba could change its leadership if it wanted to—"right now, at the moment it wishes"—but apparently saw no likelihood that this would come to pass.

"We have no fear in admitting our responsibility and stating our problems before the people in view of the confidence that we have," the prime minister declared.

Castro spoke at the end of a 12-month sugar harvest which yielded 8½ million tons—a record, but still far short of the goal of 10 million tons.

The prime minister admitted that while manpower was mobilized to harvest cane, there was a lag in production of other items, such as meat, milk, bread, vegetables, tobacco and clothing.

He said Cuba's balance of trade is worsening, especially with the Soviet Union.

"The enemy says we have problems," Castro declared. "In reality, they are right. That there is discontent. And they are right. That there are irritations. And our enemies are right."

Castro also said changes must be made in the structure of Cuba's Communist party.

Castro's broadcast speech commemorated his July 26, 1953, assault on an army barracks of then dictator Fulgencio Batista.

The attack failed, but Castro continued his campaign until he toppled Batista in 1959.

Bonn, Soviet Diplomats Iron Out Pact Details

By JOHN BAUSMAN
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The West German and Soviet foreign ministers began talks in Moscow today to complete a nonaggression pact the Bonn government hopes will open the way to better relations with Eastern Europe.

West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko are trying to conclude an agreement in which West Germany and the Soviet Union renounce the use of force against each other and West Germany accepts the postwar loss of German territory to Poland and the Soviet Union. But in an attempt to appease the political opposition at home, Scheel brought along amendments he wants to attach to the treaty emphasizing Bonn's aims of German reunification and improved access to West Berlin.

Scheel arrived Sunday from Bonn and called on Gromyko at his office this morning. A West German source said Scheel planned to present his amendments at this first meeting but that Gromyko was not expected to respond until a later session. The meeting lasted just over an hour. Scheel told newsmen the meeting had been "good" and its atmosphere "cooperative, very cooperative."

He and Gromyko scheduled another meeting in the afternoon.

Socialist Chancellor Willy Brandt's conservative opposition, the Christian Democrats, have been charging that the proposed treaty's recognition of Germany's postwar eastern borders gives away the government's chief bargaining point without getting enough in return. But an article Sunday in Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, indicated a chilly reception for the amendments Scheel worked up to counter the Christian Democratic argument.

The West German government also hopes an agreement in Moscow will lead to improved relations with other East European countries. Bonn now has diplomatic ties with only three Communist states—the Soviet Union, Yugoslavia and Romania—but would like to expand trade and political relations with others, particularly Poland.

A draft of the nonaggression pact was worked out in meetings between January and May between Gromyko and Egon Bahr, a state secretary in Brandt's office.

Portugal's Long-Time Leader, Salazar Dies At 81

LISBON (AP) — Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, premier and dictator of Portugal for 36 years, died at his home in Lisbon today after a long illness. He was 81 and Europe's longest surviving government chief in modern times. The government secretary of information said Salazar died at 9:45 a.m.

THAT FEELS SO GOOD — Staff Sgt. Jack Nelson, 34, rests at home as his brother Arlen pours cold water over his feet after he finished a 130-mile trek through the blistering heat of Death Valley early Saturday. Nelson, who is on convalescent leave after suffering a broken elbow in Vietnam, said the hike was dedicated to "my good friends who were not so lucky to come back." — (AP Wirephoto)

President Americo Thomaz, the admiral Salazar elevated in 1958, was touring Portuguese provinces in Africa and was immediately notified of the death. He was expected to return to Lisbon immediately.

The bachelor premier suffered a stroke in September 1968 which left him partially paralyzed and forced his retirement. He developed a kidney infection 12 days ago, and since then his condition had steadily worsened.

A bashful dictator, Salazar loved power but shunned its trappings. Ruler of the world's last great Victorian-style overseas empire, he lived like an obscure clerk. Simplicity, frugality and austerity marked his personal life.

A shy, scholarly economist, he was rarely seen by his own people. In a nation of poverty, he paid himself $130 a week and spent his vacations in a one-story cottage in the village where he was born.

But from the day he took over as premier in 1932, he held Portugal and its African fiefs in an iron grip. Rebellions developed but did not prevail during his lifetime in the African territories of Angola, Mozambique and Guinea.

Efforts to stir his people to uprising came to naught.

Salazar's technique was paternal, sometimes even benevolent. But he controlled police and press and permitted token opposition for only 40 days before elections every four years.

With a reputation for financial wizardry, Salazar kept Portugal's budget balanced when other European nations were deep in debt. But he did so at the expense of the workers, who are among the lowest paid, worst fed and most illiterate in Europe.

Yet Portugal's voters showed political unconcern and made no serious move to replace him. In 1966 Salazar declared the public revenue had increased 12-fold to $600 million, illiteracy in the school population had dropped to almost zero from 70 per cent and that production was up.

Salazar was born April 23, 1889, of peasant stock in Santa Comba Dao. At his mother's behest, he entered a seminary to study for the priesthood but soon changed his mind and took up economics.

He was a professor of economics at the University of Coimbra until 1928, when Gen. Antonio Oscar de Fragoso Carmona, the survivor of a 1926 military coup, called him to the ministry of finance to straighten out Portugal's snarled finances.

Four years later Salazar became premier and in 1933 ushered in the "New State" constitution which set the legal basis for his dictatorship.

Unrest marked the early years of Salazar's rule and in 1937 he narrowly escaped a bomb plot against his life. But he quickly entrenched himself as the nation's strongman.

Salazar's exit from power began early in September 1968 when a deckchair collapsed under him at his summer palace, injuring his head. A cranial blood clot developed, and he was hospitalized on Sept. 7 for its removal.

As he was convalescing, an artery in the right side of his brain burst on Sept. 16, causing bleeding, coma and paralysis.

When it became apparent he could not recover, President Thomaz appointed Marcello Caetano, a law professor and associate of Salazar, to be premier.

Congress Warned Takeover Or Railroad Subsidies Possible

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Before the Penn Central reorganized under the Bankruptcy Act, the Department of Transportation told Congress such a move could lead to a government subsidy or takeover of some of the nation's railroads.

Undersecretary James M. Beggs also testified "the likelihood is that the whole rail transportation system in this country would suffer very severely" and the ability of other railroads to obtain needed financing could be severely impaired." Beggs gave this testimony to a House Appropriations subcommittee June 11, when the administration was planning a Defense Department guarantee of some $200 million bank loans to Penn Central.

The guarantee plan was dropped June 19 in the face of strong congressional opposition. The railroad then went ahead with the reorganization against which Beggs had warned.

The transcript of his testimony was made public today.

"If you throw the railroad into reorganization, the likelihood is that there is no way ... of reorganizing this railroad and bringing it back to financial health," Beggs said.

"The longer it stays in a reorganization, I think the more the likelihood that some form of government aid, some government subsidy and eventually perhaps nationalization, would be the result."

He said he thought the railroad could be brought back to health with good management if it could obtain needed loans.

He also said management would lose its effectiveness during the period of reorganization.

Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board commented Sunday that he was not only opposed to nationalization of railroads but viewed some of the present government controls as "simply stupid."

Meanwhile Sunday, a New York auditor said that a Fortune magazine article critical of the Penn Central Co.'s accounting practices was "shockingly in error."

"The references to accounting practices and to Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. are utterly wrong ...," said Walter E. Hanson, senior partner of the firm.

The Fortune article, in the August issue distributed Sunday, said that "unique" book-keeping enabled Penn Central to disguise the true state of its affairs before the railroad filed for reorganization under bankruptcy laws.

City Counts Two Traffic Accidents

Damages totaling an estimated $1,525 resulted from two weekend traffic accidents investigated by the Greenville Police Department.

A wreck Saturday night at 8:18 at the intersection of E. Third and Summit Street left three vehicles damaged and the driver of one charged with failing to stop for a stop sign.

Police reported that cars driven by James Franklin Gudger of Brentwood Apartments and Peggy Stocks Harrelson of 411 E. Second Street were involved, in addition to a parked car owned by Pearl Waldrop Turner of 301 Summit Street.

Damages were estimated at $350 to the Gudger car, $375 to the Harrelson vehicle and $400 to the parked car. Officers charged Peggy Harrelson with passing the stop sign.

No injuries were reported, according to police records.

An accident Sunday morning at 12:15 on W. Fifth Street near Hudson caused an estimated $400 damage to two vehicles.

Involved were cars driven by James A. Council of 901 W. Fourth Street and a parked car by Norma F. Roberson of Rt. 3, Greenville.

Police, who charged Council with improper passing, estimated damages at $250 to the Council automobile and $150 to the parked vehicle. No injuries were reported.

Being Thirty 'Not So Bad'

LONDON (AP) — Ringo Starr has been 30 for 26 days, and he says it isn't so bad after all.

"When I was 19, I thought 30 would be the end of the world," the Beatles drummer told an interviewer from the Daily Express, "but it's nothing. It's okay."

Ringo was 30 on July 7. The Beatles are okay, too, Ringo said, even though the foursome has not performed in public for more than two years. They continue to make hit records.

"What we are doing at the moment is all our own things and getting them out of the way. Then we'll see what we shall do together. I should think around November we should all know where we are."

Ringo has been making films and a solo album, and his wife, Maureen, has cut her hair the shortest it has been since 1962.

"I just got bored with its being long," Ringo explained. "It was driving me nuts. One day I found I just hated it. You can't live with what people identify you by."

Claim Mark For Gliding

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP)—A pair of glider pilots who took off from Odessa, Tex., Sunday claim they set a world distance record for single placed glider planes when they landed in separate gliders at Columbus, Neb., nine hours and ten minutes later.

Ben Green, 46, an Elizabethtown, N.C., lumber manufacturer, and Wallace A. Scott, 46, a theater owner from Odessa, Tex., computed their glide distance at 720 miles.

The pilots said they had to land because the winds changed and a storm cell was developing ahead of them. They estimated a top altitude of 11,000 feet during the flights.

They said the previous record for distance travel in a singled placed glider was 647 miles set by L. Parker of Odessa, Tex., in 1965.

Confirmation of the new record must be established by the Soaring Society of America, sponsor of the flights; the National Aeronautics Administration, and the Federation of Aeronautics Internationale.

Immunity For Witness

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former member of Charles M. Manson's hippie-style "family" who is the state's star witness in the Sharon Tate murder trial will receive immunity from prosecution for her testimony this week, the prosecution says.

The witness, Linda Kasabian, 21, was indicted with Manson and three women followers whose trial resumes today.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Vincent Bugliosi said in his opening statement Friday Mrs. Kasabian would testify that Manson ordered some of his followers to shoot and stab the seven victims and write messages on the walls in their blood.

Before the trial recessed for the weekend prosecutors introduced the first three of more than 80 witnesses: Miss Tate's father, her estate caretaker and her maid.

Bugliosi said Manson ordered the killings of Miss Tate, a young actress, and six others on two nights last August to demonstrate how blacks might start a war to exterminate whites. Bugliosi said Manson believed the victorious blacks would turn power over to him and his desert-dwelling band as the only surviving whites.

False Alarm And One House Fire

A response to a fire alarm called into the Greenville Police Department Sunday morning at 11:05 resulted in a false alarm. Investigation of the reported fire at 405 E. Tenth Street turned up no such address and no fire, according to police reports.

The City of Greenville will pay a $100 reward to anyone giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of a person turning in a false alarm.

In addition to the false alarm, the Greenville Fire Department sent units to the W.B. Carlisle residence on 909 Howell Street at 3:30 this morning.

According to department reports, heavy fire damage resulted to the living room and attic and also heavy smoke damage to much of the wood frame dwelling.

Face-Lifts For Old TV Shows

AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — This is the time of the year when, in preparation for the fall season, the returning shows go in for a face lifting.

A few members of the cast depart and new ones are added. These and other cosmetic changes are done to keep viewer interest from lagging when new shows debut.

Frances Bavier, the last of the original cast from the time Andy Griffith founded the series 10 years ago, departs "Mayberry R.F.D." and is being replaced as housekeeper by Alice Ghostley.

"I'm afraid I'm not going to be a very efficient housekeeper," said Miss Ghostley, who also is a bumbling witch on "Bewitched." She will play star Ken Berry's cousin who retires after 25 years in the WACs.

"Mission: Impossible" undergoes yet another change in its fifth season as it moves to Saturday night, where it originated, and gets a new cast member. Lesley Warren joins the IMF forces as a beautiful agent. In addition, the whole crew is supposed to be more human this year and less mechanically perfect. They may even make a few mistakes.

On "Bracken's World," that hokey drama school is being tossed out and Bracken will appear for the first time in the person of Leslie Nielsen.

The show's first year dwelled on Hollywood's past, but this year promises to be more contemporary

Walter Brennan is being added to the cast of "To Rome With Love," which moves to 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays. He will play a lowa farmer who sells his land to live in Italy with his widower son-in-law and granddaughters.

Diahann Carroll gets a new boy friend in "Julia," played by former football player Fred Williamson. Nurse Hannah Yarby, played by Lurene Tuttle, also gets married to Cesar Romero.

Doris Day deserts the farm and moves into an apartment, where her new landlady will be Kaye Ballard.

Nancy Watkin joins "Family Affair" as a rather messy, talkative housecleaner.

David Canary departs the cast of "Bonanza" and will be replaced by 15-year-old Mitch Vogel, who was in "The Reivers." On "High Chaparral," Mark Slade leaves the nest and the new young male interest is Rudy Ramos. Both were victims of "aging."

"There were so many stories we couldn't tell because we didn't have young people," said David Dortort, who is executive producer for both shows.

The biggest face-lifting of all is being made on the "Virginian." The show is being retitled "The Men From Shiloh" and will have three rotating leads, similar to "Name of the Game." They will be James Drury, Doug McClure and a newcomer, Lee Majors. Stewart Granger rides in as the new owner of the Shiloh ranch and will appear in all three segments.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 34-year-old married woman and here is my problem. I am in love with a kid who comes into my husband's service station. He is 16. I told my husband I was in love with this kid, and my husband says I should forget it as it would never work out. I've asked a few friends and they agree with my husband. A couple of people have said I am out of my mind.
 My husband says it's because he's a motherless boy, and I never had any children of my own and what I feel for him is really "mother love," but you'd better believe it does not resemble anything near that. This kid has been real sweet to me at times, but other times he will tell me he likes this young girl and that young girl which about tears me apart. I send him love letters and call him on the phone a lot, which he has asked me to cut out, but I can't stop. I don't suppose it could ever work out, but how can I get this kid out of my heart?
 LOVESICK IN PA.

DEAR LOVESICK: You can get the kid out of your heart by getting him out of your mind. Don't write to him anymore, and don't call him. If you have too much time on your hands, get interested in a hobby, but don't sit around doing nothing of your thoughts will wander back to the boy and you'll be tempted to pursue him.

DEAR ABBY: A guy who works with us has given up cigarettes. Not SMOKING them—just BUYING them.
 He has bummed at least one cigarette a day from each of the six guys who works with him, and of course since he never carries any of his own, there is no chance of getting one back.
 We can't say we don't have any when he asks, because he knows we do, but please tell us how to cure him of this chintzy trick?
 GARY AND FRANK

DEAR G AND F: Next time he asks for a cigarette, offer to SELL him a pack.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who is a dentist, has been married for 7 years. My problem is, his wife never does any ironing. Everything she buys is "permanent press," and after she washes it, she assumes it is ironed. Pillow cases, shirts, tablecloths and handkerchiefs all go unironed, and believe me they look it.
 I am embarrassed for any professional man who must carry a crumpled handkerchief. But a dentist who must display it before his patients—well, this is too much! Abby, how can I tell her what an impression her husband is making?

"D.PRESSED"

DEAR "D.PRESSED": If your son is embarrassed to carry a crumpled handkerchief, it's up to him to tell his wife to get on the stick and do some ironing.

DEAR ABBY: I certainly didn't notice the name of Rev. Whipple's church mentioned in your column, or he would have received 151 letters instead of 150. When the good Reverend expounded the "tragedy" of the non-virgin bride who was criticized for wearing white, I saw red! White for a bride is traditional, and if she isn't a virgin, then she has already broken the tradition, so who cares what she wears?

I've never seen so much fuss made about nothing by two intelligent people who are in a position to do so much good. When one looks around at the dreadful misery and human suffering all over the world today, if all you and Reverend Whipple have to worry about is whether or not a bride should wear white, I think it's time for both of you to look for an absorbing hobby.

You won't print this, I know. And if you do, I won't see it, because I'm off you for life. Phooey on such trifles!
 DISGUSTED IN LINDSAY, ONT.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

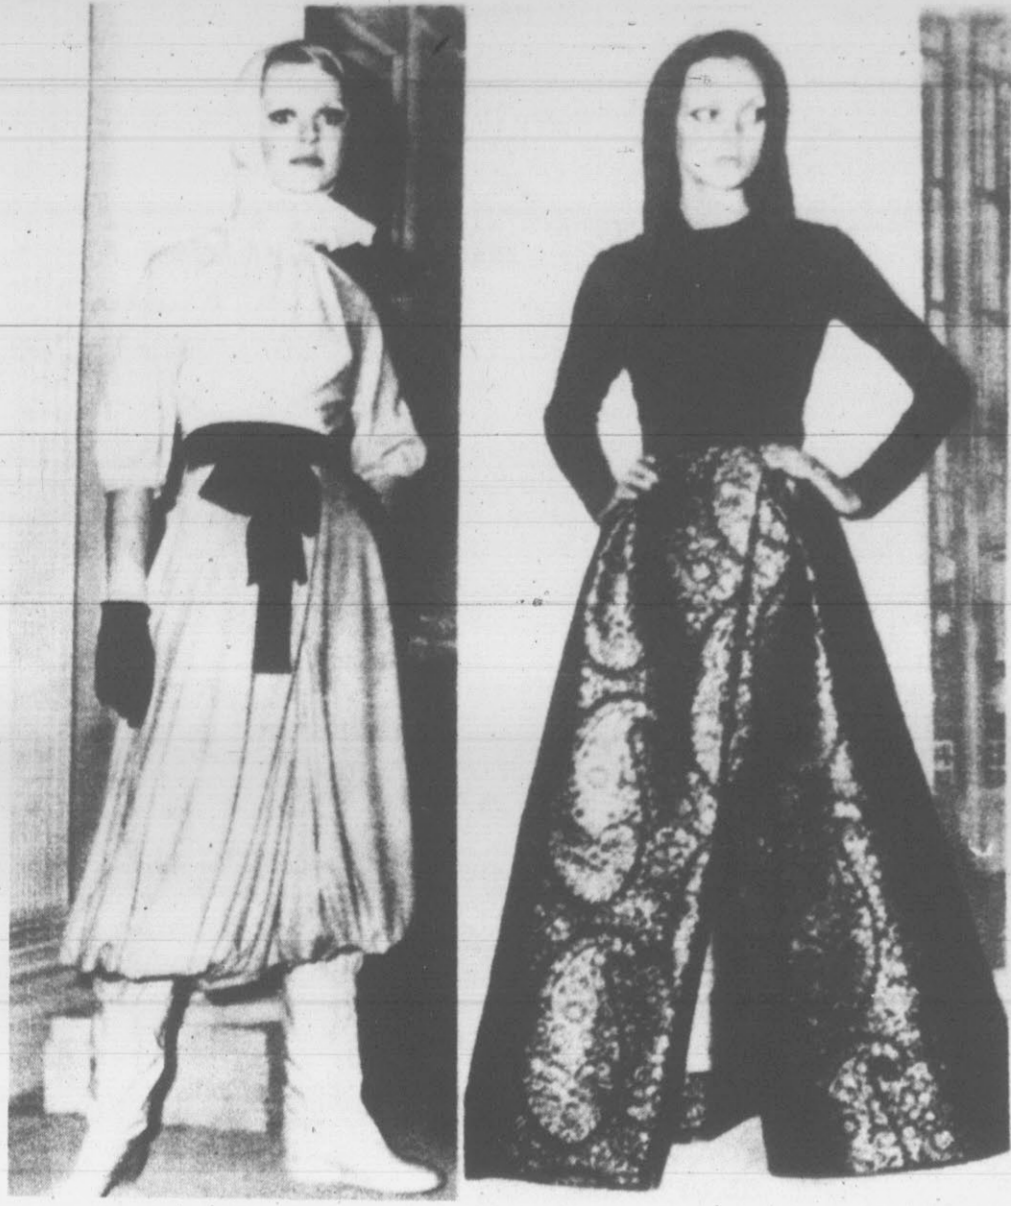

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

The Faculty Duplicate Club held its regular game Friday evening at the Planters Bank. North-South winners were: Mrs. Larry Eagles and Mrs. Irvin Adler of Tarboro, first; Mrs. Robert Barnhill of Tarboro, and Lewis Newsome, second; Mrs. J. S. Willard and Dr. Graham Davis, third; Mrs. D. L. Harrell and Mrs. J. W. H. Roberts, fourth.

East-West winners were: C. J. Goodman and David Proctor, first; Mrs. H. T. Swindell and Martin Gill, both of New Bern, second; Mrs. S. M. Woolfolk and Mrs. Harold Forbes, third; Mr. and Mrs. J. Zurav, fourth.

Next time you make dumplings from biscuit mix, add minced parsley. Use about 1/4 cup of the parsley to about two cups of the mix.
 Dip strips of cooked carrots in milk and then in corn flake crumbs; fry crumbed carrots in melted butter in a large skillet. If you like, you can add salt and pepper to the crumbs.

Report On State Convention

A report on the recent state convention held in Winston-Salem was given by Margaret Joyner at the meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the VFW on Thursday evening.

The theme for the year is "Patriotism in Action." This was the first meeting of the new year with the newly installed president, Myrtle Meeks, presiding.

Plans were made to attend an area conference of the VFW and Auxiliaries in Kinston. A social hour followed the business session.

Was Marriage Worth $6,000?

LONDON (WNS)—Dorothy Gamble, 28, has lost $6,000 because she was in such a hurry to marry William Walker. Mrs. Gamble was awarded $18,500 in damages last November after her husband died in a factory accident. Unfortunately, she had testified in court that she did not contemplate marrying again until she was 40. The judge has now ruled that her quick change of mind and her new happy state of wedlock should be worth $6,000 to her.

State Session Discussed At Meet

Plans were discussed for attendance at the annual N. C. State Convention of Optimist and Opti-Mrs. which will be held in Greensboro at the meeting of the local Opti-Mrs. Club held Tuesday night.

The state meeting will be held in September. Members completed their project for the convention.

A committee for the installation of officers was named: Ellen Ross, chairman; Faye Howell; and Ingrid Wright.

Reports were given on the work which Opti-Mrs. have been doing in Operation Sunshine. Ingrid Wright, director of Operation Sunshine, expressed thanks for members participating in making this program a success.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Ross.

Four-Lane Highway 'Assured'

In the past few days two announcements have come from the Highway Commission that will be of incalculable importance to our area.

Early last week it was announced that plans for an expressway type relocation of U.S. 264 between Wilson and Zebulon are being made.

Under consideration is a 17.3 mile relocation of the highway as a controlled access road. The plan is to purchase the dual lane right-of-way and construct a two-lane highway with the additional lanes to be added later.

Then late last week Highway Commissioner Arthur Tripp announced that the primary roads committee had approved preliminary surveys for a controlled access dual lane relocation of U.S. 264 between Greenville and Wilson.

It had previously been announced that dual laning of U.S. 264 or an alternate route between Greenville and Washington, N. C. has been approved.

Thus it appears now that a four-lane super highway all the way from N. C. 17 at Washington through Greenville, Farmville, Wilson and other municipalities along the way is virtually assured.

For an area that has so long been isolated by less than adequate roads this is splendid news. U. S. 264 runs through the center of the most heavily populated area of Eastern North Carolina. The construction of this super highway should pay huge dividends in the development of our area. This link with Raleigh means that we will be tied into interstate routes that lead westward to the other end of the state, then to Atlanta and, indeed, all the way to the west coast.

With our population density it is almost certain that the highways will be our main means of transportation for many years to come, even if more emphasis is placed on mass transportation. Thus this development of U.S. 264 is of the greatest benefit to our area.

The important thing now is to see that this work moves along as rapidly as possible. With the gas tax increase enacted by the 1969 Legislature funds should be available in future years to do the work. We hope that highway officials will see that there is no delay in getting this huge project underway.

Valuable Civil War Collection

By STEVE PRESSLEY
The Waynesville Mountaineer

WAYNESVILLE, N. C. — The amateur historian's study of a Haywood County unit of the Confederate Army has resulted in the discovery of what may be one of North Carolina's most significant collections of letters, books, and other memorabilia, dealing with the Civil War era and the years following it.

Vernon H. Crow, a Fresno, Calif., advertising man who likes to write Civil War history in his spare time, unearthed the find a few weeks ago in connection with another study.

The manuscript collection is now safe in the hands of the archives division of Hunter Library at Western Carolina University. "As soon as the proper people are notified, the historians will begin to knock on our door," said Dr. Richard W. Iobst, assistant professor of history and activity university archivist.

Comprising the valuable collection are letters, written records, books, and photographs which belonged to the late Col. William Williams Stringfield.

He served with the Thomas Legion, a unit made up primarily of Haywood County men and operating in east Tennessee and western North Carolina during the Civil War, guarding the mountain passes and quelling unionist sentiment.

Dr. Iobst said the manuscripts are valuable because they represent the almost complete, day-to-day correspondence of a Southern leader at one of the most interesting and most crucial periods in history. The letters and papers cover not only Stringfield's wartime escapades, but his life during Reconstruction and his experience as an aide to Gen. Robert B. Vance, a U. S. Congressman. Stringfield also served in the N. C. State Senate in the latter part of the 19th century.

"It's just that the collection is so tremendous and so complete," said Iobst. "It's difficult to find such an articulate collection of letters written by a 19th century western North Carolinian. Especially complete are the letters written between Washington and Waynesville in the period 1875-77."

There are over 3,500 items in the Stringfield collections. "There is so much to be learned from these letters and clippings: how the mountain people lived during the war and reconstruction, what they were thinking about national events."

The Stringfield papers were discovered as a result of Crow's interest in the Thomas Legion, named for the late Col. William Holland Thomas of Waynesville. Crow has become fascinated with Civil War history during the centennial of the early 1960's. He now pursues the writing of Civil War history as a dead-serious avocation.

Dr. Iobst said Crow thought he was familiar with every military unit involved in the South's struggle until he happened to run across a reference to the Thomas Legion in connection with events which marked the end of hostilities in 1865. An inquiry at Fresno State led Crow to the discovery that Dr. Mattie Russell, curator of Archives at Duke University, had written an unpublished thesis on Col. Thomas and his pre-war years as an Indian trader. The thesis was titled: "William Holland Thomas: White Chief of the North Carolina Cherokeees."

Dr. Russell put Crow in touch with Mrs. R. Roy Campbell of Waynesville, a granddaughter of Col. Thomas who has been working for some time with Dr. Iobst and WCU historians in supplying the university archives with material on her grandfather's life.

Crow decided to write a monograph on the Thomas Legion and its role as the last Confederate unit to surrender. In correspondence with Mrs. Campbell he learned of other colorful figures in the Thomas Legion, including Col. Stringfield. Crow also became acquainted with Dr. Iobst in the course of his correspondence with Mrs. Campbell and Dr. Russell.

As a result of Crow's contacts with the Stringfield descendants, the collection of papers was found. Most of Stringfield's papers, letters and books had been in the possession of grandson, Joe Sloan, since removal from Dr. Sam Stringfield's home in Waynesville. The descendants had not realized the historical significance of the books and correspondence.

Crow came east on vacation this spring to interview members of the Stringfield family and others, and to examine the Stringfield papers and the WCU manuscript collection. When Crow and Dr. Iobst perused a good part of the Stringfield collection, they were convinced of the value of the find.

Iobst, who earned his doctorate from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, plans a full-scale biography on Col. Thomas. There are over 5,000 items in the Thomas collection of papers in the WCU archives.

A Good Indicator Of ECU Faculty Quality

On July 2 the Wall Street Journal published an article on its editorial page entitled "Why So-Few Conservatives on Campus?" by John P. East of the ECU political science faculty.

The article was well received by the Wall Street Journal's readers and quite a few letters were received. On July 22 the paper's entire letters to the editor section was devoted to replies concerning Dr. East's article. Seven letters were used.

Then on July 22, the Wall Street Journal carried a letter from James L. Knipe commenting on another article "Debate at the Fed."

An editor's noted pointed out, "Professor Knipe was formerly consultant to the Chairman of the Federal Reserve System."

This recognition at the Wall Street Journal of two ECU professors in this month is a good indication of the high calibre men who are being attracted to the university faculty.

Steps To Save Environment

By BRIAN SULLIVAN
AP Science Writer

Mid-year of 1970 brought two major events that could shape much of the fight to save the American environment throughout this decade, and beyond.

One of them, President Nixon's sweeping attempt to coordinate the federal environmental effort, holds the promise of making the fight more effective.

But the other, the discovery of widespread and dangerous mercury poisoning of many American waters, promises that the struggle will be even more difficult than many had feared.

While any benefits to come from the President's proposed reorganization are some time away, making this a potential gain, the mercury pollution is an immediate reality and a major loss on any scorecard of man's antipollution race.

In pulling together a variety of pollution control efforts now scattered throughout government into one new agency, the Environmental Protection Agency, the President hopes to overcome the present system, which he said "often defies effective and concerted action."

One phase of the reorganization plan should please environmentalists—removing from the Atomic Energy Commission the authority for setting radiation exposure standards. Environmentalists have long charged the AEC with a conflict of interest, promoting the use of atomic energy while being responsible for regulating it.

The President also proposes combining air and sea research under a new National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration within the Commerce Department. It is being called "Noah."

Unless Congress objects, the entire plan goes into effect in 60 days from the July 9 announcement. Observers expect controversy over the AEC proposal.

The discovery of significant amounts of mercury in waters of at least 17 states takes on even more importance because it appears most people did not suspect the problem even existed. Just how widespread, how serious, and what damage to human health may already have occurred, is unknown. And what of all the other chemicals in the environment?

Mercury, the liquid inside ordinary thermometers, is a heavy metal that is poisonous to humans. It finds its way to water, federal officials say, in waste from industry, from paper, chlorine, sodium and plastics operations.

It can cause progressive brain damage, blindness, kidney damage, death. It can persist in water for 100 years, experts say. Industrial

Strength For Today

KEEP COOL

Reform movements often take over the headlines for weeks, days or months. One might think that reform, and the need for it, is something so rare as to be startling and spectacular. But this is not true. The world has been reforming and un-reforming for centuries. Almost every situation (social, political, financial, educational) needs to be torn open once in a while and a good look taken at its contents. Probably the greatest need for reform is not the reform of some situation but some person, and we would not be taking too long a chance if we ventured the opinion that that person might be ourselves.

Scientists tell us that the world in which we live is in constant motion. This solid table before us is not as solid as it seems. Electrons are buzzing around each other. The earth is going about on its axis and its orbit. Incalculable energy is flowing into our planet and going out from the planet again. When there is a strike or a student riot or the marching of troops across some border — there is nothing new in this. If we did not give ourselves to reform movements our civilizations would atrophy, our political structure would come apart, even the contour of our landscape might change.

Reform is a continual necessity. We need to keep it within bounds and not allow reform to become riot. Reform is an essential factor in growth. Let us not lose what the young people today call "our cool" over such a continual and necessary fact as form.

How To Deflect An Ax

WASHINGTON — As the earnings statements of large companies get gloomier there is more and more pressure on corporation executives to make economies in their firms.

Most companies do this by first firing the office boy, then retrenching in the mail room department and finally by cutting the budget on the softball team.

But as time goes on and stockholders get unhappier and unhappier, management may have to start making cuts in the upper levels of the company and even executives are in danger of losing their jobs.

How does someone in a large company save his job when all about him are losing theirs? Perhaps I can be of help.

The first bit of advice is DO NOT TAKE A VACATION this year. No matter how badly you need one, hang in there or else this is what could happen.

"Maxwell, what are you doing sitting at my desk?"

"Oh, Herndon, how was the Cape?"

"Fine. Now what are you doing in my office?"

"Well, finance decided to merge sales with packaging and they asked me to take over. I naturally fought the move but they were adamant. We tried to reach you on the Cape but they said you were racing in the Hyannis - Nantucket sailboat trials. How did you do?"

"I came in third. Now where have I been moved to?"

"That's what they were trying to reach you about. They've had to cut across the board. I spoke up for you but . . ."

Other Editors Say Language Goal

(The Oregonian)

One of the recommendations of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission for a year-long celebration in 1976 of the 200th anniversary of American independence was that every American learn at least one foreign language during the next five years. This goal is less likely to be reached than the many others the commission suggested to President Nixon, but it is a worthy one.

Americans who travel in foreign countries expect the people there to speak English. Not all do, of course, but English is taught in the elementary schools in many countries and most young people are able to converse in that tongue. There is some resentment, however, among those who don't know English of the American attitude that there is no need to have a working knowledge of German, French or any other language for a tourist from this country to get along anywhere.

The plan for the bicentennial celebration includes promotion of travel to the United States from all over the world to attend an international exposition in Philadelphia and to visit historic, scenic and other interesting places in all parts of the United States. It would be a mark of courtesy to visitors as well as a convenience if someone in a group of Americans could speak an individual foreigner's own language. It would create international good will, and learning a foreign language would be an educational experience in itself for people of this country.

Probably only a small minority of Americans will thus prepare themselves for greeting foreign travelers in 1976, but it may be enough will do so to make a visitor feel welcome even if he knows no English. One hopes so.

The second bit of advice is to institute an economy committee, before one is constituted without you. Go into the president and say, "B.J., I'd like to organize a cost-cutting program so we don't get caught like Penn Central with our pants down. What I suggest we do is form a team and go into every department and see how we can eliminate waste. We could report to you within a month, so you'll have something to show the board."

If your idea is accepted, you must use great tact in suggesting the elimination of somebody else's job, on the off chance that he might survive and do you in.

You could say, "Gentlemen, I think we'd make a mistake if we let Fowler go. It's true his advertising campaign for 'Fluff' was a complete disaster, but we must remember there has been great consumer resistance in toiletries for dogs this year. Fowler is a genius when it comes to advertising even though he has a tendency to antagonize everyone in the company."

If Fowler loses his job you have the minutes of the

Looking To The Next Decade

By ELMER ROESSNER

Today's column, in a sense, is guest-written by a large American corporation. The eight significant trends listed below were forecast by a special study group established by the company.

The views expressed, as the old cliché has it, do not necessarily reflect those of this columnist. Nevertheless, they are interesting in themselves and as a reflection of management's thinking.

Economic stabilization — The business cycle will flatten out due to government policies, long-range company programs and associated large, fixed overhead costs, and business confidence. Unemployment fluctuations will narrow because of growth in the more stable white collar, services, trade and government employment sectors.

Educational level — More students will complete higher schooling levels. Educational expenditures will rise. Investment in computer-assisted instruction and other new methods and materials will grow. Education will be more respected and the better educated population will be less tolerant of authoritarianism and organizational restraints.

Why Both To Work?

Work attitudes — An erosion of work values is likely. The concept of work as a duty will be questioned. Acceptance of the idea that hard or unpleasant work must be tolerated will diminish. And the idea that leisure is a right, not something to be earned, will grow.

Affluence — Real income will rise rapidly, resulting in greater impatience with economic hardships such as poverty, unemployment, sickness and old age. A gap in attitudes towards money by the old and new generations is being created. Money will be taken more for granted and decline as a motivator.

Interdependence — Closer interaction of individuals and organizations, both domestically and internationally, is forecast. Government, economic and non-profit institutions will be more interdependent. The traditional division between public and private sectors will blur.

Decentralization, Individualism

At the same time there will be a counter-current towards individualism and decentralization. "Human capital" will be the most important resource, leading to more individualized

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Americans spend $400 million annually for headache cures. Maybe the best way to cut down the cost is to quit trying to pass on to others the headache someone else gives to us.

Here are some statistics that the Women's Liberation Movement might ponder:

Just by clicking the switches in her home, the average American housewife controls about 65 horsepower. If you figure it takes 22 men to put out the equal of one horse's energy, that means she has 1,430 men at her beck and call at any time. If that doesn't satisfy a woman, what really could?

Why you should wear a car seat belt: Studies show that if you don't, you are 100 per cent more likely to suffer severe injury or death. You are also 40 per cent more likely to be a victim of a minor injury.

Being America's First Lady probably isn't as much fun today as it was during Dolley Madison's White House reign early in the 19th century. A young and merry widow when she married James Madison, she used snuff, wore jeweled turbans, and liked to throw dinner parties and play cards for money. She was still so popular in 1844, some 27 years after Madison's term as president ended, that the House of Representatives gallantly and unanimously paid her the unprecedented tribute of voting her a seat in the House.

Quotable notables: "If education is for anything it is that we learn to choose the good." — Edward Dean Martin.

Valuable: Collectors are avidly seeking old bottles now as well as old coins. These colorful glass souvenirs of America's past have fetched up to $950 at auctions, the National Geographic Society says. A whisky flask put out in 1840 and shaped like a log cabin is worth $150 or more today. It carried the product of Philadelphia distiller E. G. Booz, so popular it became a slang term for hard liquor.

Odd claims to fame: Lester B. Dill, owner of the Meramec Caverns in Missouri, has visited 100,000 caves all over the world. He says he has never met a cave he didn't like.

Worth remembering: "You don't need you bifocals when you are looking for trouble." — Arnold H. Glasow.

Quickies: The Northern Lights are caused by sun spots. A survey of teen-agers by Pepsi-Cola found that most agreed 23 is the best age at which to marry. The reason we're so crowded is that 57 per cent of the people live on five per cent of the earth's surface. If you don't put down 14 pounds of watermelon this summer, you're not getting your fair share.

It was Anne Morrow Lindbergh who observed: "The most exhausting thing in life is being insincere."

Farm Scene

By LEROY JAMES

If trends of the last ten years continue, Mrs. Average Housewife of 1980 should be able to buy her groceries with only 13 percent of the family's disposable income.

Food expenditures now account for about 16 percent of the average family's disposable income. Ten years ago the figure was around 20 percent.

Assuming that these same trends will continue for another ten years, here are some things that could happen:

The average farm worker will be able to feed 87 people in 1980, as compared to 43 people in 1968. The figure in 1958 was 23.

Farm output per manhour has increased over 8 percent annually during the last 10 years. If this rate of gain continues, the number of farm workers needed in 1980 will be down to about 2.7 million as compared to over 4 million today.

The value of farm output went up about a fourth from 1958 to 1968. By 1980 it is projected to increase by about a third from the $62 billion 1968 estimate.

However, since the market for processing and services is expanding even more rapidly, the output of farm processing and services is expanding even more rapidly. The output of farm processing industries is projected to rise 90 to 95 percent from 1968 to 1980.

Farmers will be using less labor in 1980 and more machinery, electric power.

Fertilizer, lime and other chemicals. Little change is expected in the number of acres harvested while total crop production is expected to rise.

Continuing this projection, another change already beginning to take place, is that farmers, especially the younger ones, are not striving for full equity ownership of the land, machinery, and other resources they use. Instead they rent much of the land they farm and custom hire some of their services.

Other farmers are beginning to incorporate to bring in outside capital, and this trend should continue. In North Carolina the number of incorporated farms rose from 159 in 1960 to 235 in 1968.

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS

Plant diseases reduce the tobacco income in North Carolina by thousands of dollars each year. Efforts are being made by North Carolina State University to obtain all possible information on methods of tobacco disease control.

A program known as Research on Wheels, takes the research on tobacco disease where the problems are — on the farms. There are two Research on Wheels projects being conducted in Pitt County this year. A tobacco disease interaction test is being conducted in cooperation with Worthington Farms, Inc. of the Ballards Cross Roads Community. A brown spot study test is being conducted in cooperation with R. M. Dilda of the Fountain Community.

The annual Research on Wheels Tour will visit Pitt County this year. The tour stops will be made Wednesday, July 29. The first stop will be made at Speight Seed Farm at 7:55 a.m. to observe tobacco variety development. The tour will continue to the Worthington Farm where the disease interaction test will be observed. An additional stop will be made on the Worthington Farm to show how mechanization plays an important role in "The New Day for the Golden Leaf".

All interested persons are invited to meet with us on this tour — Wednesday, July 29.

Their Dictation Machine Helps Hospital Nurses

NEW YORK (UPI)—The dictating machine has now come to the aid of the hard-working hospital nurse, saving her time and effort.

When nurse shifts change at a hospital, the head nurse and staff provide a report on patients to the new head nurse and staff, including patient name, room number, doctor and any special instructions.

To speed up this process, Dictaphone Corporation reports, a number of West Coast hospitals have been experimenting with dictating machines. The machine is placed in the nurses' lounge. At the end of each shift, the head nurse records general patient information and then asks each attending nurse to add any information that would help nurses on the next shift.

When the new shift comes on they gather in the lounge and play back the conference recording.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Arthur F. Burns of the Federal Reserve Board says the economy will "resume its growth very shortly, if it is not already doing it now" and that further inflation will not occur "if we proceed cautiously."

Inflation is "in the process of unwinding," Burns said Sunday. "We're just about on the right track."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was asked today to approve a bill aimed at preventing any more "dead seas" like that created in New York Harbor by dumped wastes.

"There can be no argument, reasonable argument, to dissuade prompt government action in responding to the environmental emergency that exists," Rep. John M. Murphy, D-N.Y., said in testimony for the House conservation subcommittee.

Murphy introduced his bill after New Jersey's Sandy Hook laboratory found in an interim report that dumping of sewage sludge and dredge soil in New York Harbor had created areas of several miles square where marine life was "severely impoverished."

The bill would provide for a study to find areas where wastes can be disposed of safely, and would prohibit dumping them anywhere else in the nation's rivers, harbors, lakes and coastal areas.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has agreed to study whether perishable foods should be dated for consumer as well as grocer.

Manufacturers already put coded dates on their products so the storekeeper will know if the food is too old.

Manufacturers generally are opposed to uncoded dates on ground that consumers would choose the freshest products, leaving the older ones to rot. And that would boost costs, they say.

But Rep. Leonard Farbstein, D-N.Y., says the grocers sometimes ignore the coded dates and leave unsafe food on the shelf.

Some states and localities already require that perishable foods carry uncoded dates. Advocates say the consumer has the right to know, and that such items as drugs and camera film have been dated for years with no complaints.

meeting to prove that you've defended him.

To show that you have the company's interest at heart before your own, announce some economies you're making in your own department. "I'm happy to announce, gentlemen, that I've furloughed two telephone operators and laid off four watchmen in our Wichita warehouse, thus saving the company $33,000. This cuts my department to the bone, but I believe we can manage with what we've got."

The biggest danger during an economy drive is that the company may hire an outside consulting firm to make a private report on which people should be let go.

If one comes in the plant, stop all work you are doing and spend every waking moment with him. Most consultants know little or nothing about the businesses they are investigating, and if you can make them look good they may believe you are necessary to the firm.

You can also get even with some old enemies. "Tell me, Herndon, where is Mr. Maxwell?" "Maxwell? I believe he's playing golf. He always plays golf on Wednesday afternoon with his doctor."

pollution experts previously believed that mercury did not dissolve in water, but sank harmlessly to the bottom of rivers and lakes.

But for all the awareness, there is still a lot of adverse ecological news.

The government's effort to ban lead from gasoline is in trouble in Washington and the 1970 cars on the road have failed to meet exhaust reduction standards.

If everybody stopped polluting Lake Erie today it would take at least 12 years for the lake to regenerate naturally.

The Seminole and Miccosukee Indians have leased exploration rights to 100,000 acres of their land in the heart of the Florida Everglades to major oil companies, posing a new threat to the ecology of the Everglades.

Further, Florida faces pollution problems of "catastrophic proportions" in the 1970s, according to a state report. Plans for coping with the problem are termed "grossly inadequate and ineffective."

Of the positive steps taken, many, like the President's reorganization plan, require time before they can produce results.

But as an indication of the changing times and attitudes, there is the new policy of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers—a group often considered as "an enemy of the people" by conservationists because of the engineers' preoccupation with construction.

Lt. Gen. F. J. Clarke, chief of the Army engineers, unveiled the policy statement in Washington, committing the corps to "give full consideration to environmental values along with economic, social and technical factors" in projects such as dam building.

Also on the plus side of the environmental scorecard, some beginnings are being made on recycling materials rather than junking them.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., for example, is building a pilot plant in Akron, Ohio, for converting used tires into usable materials. If it works, Firestone says it will set up 10 plants around the country.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has awarded a $364,000 grant to the National Association of Secondary Material Industries, Inc., to do a study of possible uses of solid wastes. It will focus on scrap copper, aluminum, lead, zinc, nickel alloys and stainless steel, precious metals, paper stock and textiles.

On noise pollution, Citizens for a Quieter City, a group of business and professional people in New York City, has designed a project aimed at substantially reducing the noise from jackhammers, automobile horns, sirens and garbage trucks in a 60-block area of Manhattan. The group, with a $300,000 Ford Foundation grant, will study how the noise reduction affects the attitudes and well-being of the people who live in the area.

Thinning Woodland Allows Full Growth

CHECKS TREES — Pitt County Forest Ranger Ben Hardison checks the condition of a pine stand on the David Hardee farm before marking it for thinning.

Thinning is the primary cultivation practice the farmer can do in his woodland, according to Ben Hardison, Pitt County Forest Ranger.

"By thinning, the tree farmer keeps his crop in good growing condition and thinning acts like fertilizer on a row crop," Hardison explained.

Thinning allows the trees to reach full size in the time required to reach maturity.

"The larger trees are left in a thinning operation," Hardison said. "The smaller, weaker trees are removed."

David Hardee of Ayden recently farmed some of his woodland, Hardison reported.

Recommend Six Jetport Sites

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI)—The Louisville-Jefferson County Air Board has recommended six sites for a proposed $230 million intercontinental jetport to the Federal Aviation Administration. Airport director Foster V. Jones said none of the six sites are located in Jefferson County but are within 35 miles of downtown Louisville.

The pines were 25 years old and had never been thinned. The area will need thinning again in five to eight years.

The North Carolina Forest Service offers forestry advice to the landowners in Pitt County. The advice is free of charge to the farmer.

Anyone desiring this service may contact Pitt Forest Ranger Ben Hardison at his office by calling 756-0414.

Thirty Ticketed For Leaving Key

The law forbids drivers from leaving keys in parked cars and was enacted to cut down on the number of auto thefts.

If you die from T.B., it's nobody's fault but your own.

Tuberculosis. A disease that should be non-existent. A disease easy to detect, easy to cure if you catch it early. And yet people are still dying from it. T.B. is caused by a germ breathed into the lungs. It is estimated that 30 million people have T.B. germs living in their bodies right now. Some people will be strong enough to fight the germs off without the help of medicine. But too bad for the ones who won't. The germs will multiply, and by the time symptoms such as a cough and loss of weight appear, serious damage may have already been done. The best way to protect yourself against T.B. is to have a simple screening test every year. These tests are given free in many locations. See your doctor, or your local County Health Department. And help kill a dying disease.

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned slightly downward in slow trading early today.

At 11 a.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off 1.51 at 728.71. Winning, issues on the New York Stock Exchange led losers 5 to 4. The gainers had held a nearly 2-to-1 advantage over losers near the session's start. Analysts said that the low volume reflected inaction by many investors wary over second-quarter earnings reports and the general state of the economy.

Fear Loch Ness Monster Victim Of Pollution

LONDON (AP) — Pollution is either killing the Loch Ness monster or has already done it in, a British scientist said today. The experts on the loch said his warning was nonsense. Douglas Drysdale of the British College of Naturopathy and Osteopathy told newsmen he analyzed samples of Loch Ness and found the pollution northern Scotland.

"I am a firm believer in the Loch Ness monster," said Drysdale, "but I don't think it could survive the level of pollution going into the loch."

A spokesman for the Loch Ness Phenomena Investigation Bureau, which checks and records reported sightings of the hump-backed creature known as Nessie, said if pollution was all that bad, "why have the fish not died?"

He added that Nessie was reported sighted again Sunday night.

Thieu To Give Peace Terms

A government spokesman said today Thieu will clarify his conditions for a cease-fire in Vietnam and "how to end the war."

Navy Postpones Poseidon Test

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The navy has postponed the first undersea launching of its multiwarhead Poseidon missile in favor of more testing on the surface.

Navy spokesmen, without elaboration, said Sunday the underwater launching might be rescheduled by late August.

Endorse Docks Pay Increase

By DONALD M. MCNICOLL LONDON (AP) — A court of inquiry recommended today higher guaranteed weekly wages and more pay for overtime, holidays and the operation of "modernization" to settle a strike by 47,000 British longshoremen.

It was less than the strikers had demanded, but it opened possibilities for an end to the 13-day dock strike. The dock employers promptly pledged to accept the recommendations in full. The strike leaders called a national conference for Wednesday to decide whether to accept. A union official called the recommendations "a significant advance."

The strike was called in support of the men's demand for raises that would almost double their basic wage.

The court of inquiry, under

108th Bite Is Among Worst

MIAMI (AP) — Snake handler Bill Haast, whose blood contains so many anti-toxins it can save the lives of other snake-bite victims, is reported in serious condition after being bitten by a Malaysian pit viper.

"His condition is bad. It's very bad," said Dr. Ben Shepard, his attending physician, Sunday night.

It was the 108th bite from a poisonous snake experienced by Haast, who operates the Miami Serpentarium Haast, who milks venom from poisonous snakes and supplies it to drug firms for research and preparation, has immunized himself against many snakes by injecting small amounts of venom into his veins over a period of years.

Education Funds Bill Is Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — An election-year spending controversy between the White House and Congress is likely to flare again Tuesday when the Senate considers a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill.

The measure was to have come up today, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, in a last-minute switch, put it off for a day.

Liquor Imports Up Despite Tax

NEW DELHI (AP) — Despite heavy Customs duties and local excise taxes, the import of foreign liquor into India almost trebled during the past three years to $930,000, a government spokesman told parliament. Despite all measures taken to encourage prohibition, the consumption of local-made liquor also has been going up, he said.

NOT A CHALLENGE

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Explorer Thor Heyerdahl says his Atlantic crossing in a papyrus boat was not intended as a challenge to the belief that Christopher Columbus discovered America.

Lord Pearson, rejected this demand, but recommended instead that the longshoremen accept the employers' offer of an increase in the guaranteed weekly wage. The men already had rejected the employers' guaranteed weekly wage offer, but the new recommendations could change the picture.

The inquiry board left open the possibility of improving the basic wage. Although it rejected the dockers' specific claim for a $21.60 increase in basic pay, the inquiry said the basic pay was outdated and inadequate. It said "some remedial action" was called for, without giving specifics.

Obituary

Keziah

Mrs. Jane Clark Keziah, 58, died in a Charlotte Hospital Sunday night. Funeral services will be held at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at the Chapel of McEwen Funeral Home in Monroe. The body will be brought to the Wilkerson Funeral Home and graveside services will be held at ten o'clock Wednesday morning in Greenwood Cemetery with the Rev. Dana Hunt, officiating.

Mrs. Keziah, a former resident of Greenville, had been living in Monroe for a number of years. She was a member of the Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church. Her husband, James E. Keziah, died in October, 1968.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Fred T. Mattox, of Greenville; a sister, Mrs. McLane Brooks of Monroe; three brothers, Henry M. Clark of Wichita Falls, Tex., J. Neal Clark of Monroe, and Horace B. Clark Jr. of Myrtle Beach, S.C.; and three grandchildren.

The two young ladies representing Greenville as community ambassadors this summer have written letters to the citizens of Greenville telling of their experiences.

Elizabeth Jones, living in Athens, Greece, and Susan Leggett, spending the summer in Cori, Italy; were chosen earlier this year as the two students for the ambassador project, now several years old.

Both, in addition to describing their adopted families and home towns, emphasized their deep appreciation to the citizens of Greenville for making these trips possible.

Writing from Athens, Elizabeth described her arrival in Athens as one in which she "was excited and nervous." On meeting her adopted sister for her stay in Athens, 23 year old Dominique Apostolidou, however, she writes "I knew I was going to be very happy."

Elizabeth is living in downtown Athens in an apartment. "My room has doors which open onto a balcony overlooking the street below," she writes. "It is very pleasant at night."

Her adopted family is in the cafe and pastry shop business. Mrs. Apostolidou operates the cafe in Athens, and Mr. Apostolidou during the summer runs a pastry shop in the seashore village of Tojo.

"My sister, whom we call Donna, speaks English quite well," Elizabeth notes, "but my mother knows none. I enjoy talking with mama since it gives me a chance to use the 90 hours of Greek I had at the Experiment Orientation Center in Putney, Vermont."

From Elizabeth's letter, it is apparent that in the Greek way of life food is an important affair and that the daily routine of work, sleep and play is vastly different from the American way.

"We get up around 9:30 and have a light breakfast of milk, cookies and marmalade," Elizabeth writes. "At 2:00 we have lunch at the cafe. Greek food is very heavy since Greeks do all their cooking in oil. But the food is tasty and I eat a lot of it."

Elizabeth reveals her favorites are moussaka, made with ground beef, eggplant and cheese. "I also like souvlakia, which is a pancake rolled around a special kind of beef, mixed with onions, tomatoes and much pepper."

The 2:00 o'clock lunch is followed at "3:00 for a siesta until 6:00 because of the intense, dry heat of the afternoon. After siesta, we visit a friend or go to a movie. Supper is never eaten until 9:30 or 10:00, often much later."

"Street vendors selling watermelons and yogurt go down the street from dawn until dusk in their horse drawn carts calling about the goods they have to sell," Elizabeth notes in her letter.

She finds the suburbs beautiful, quiet and non-commercial. From the suburbs, "sunsets on the ocean are magnificent."

Elizabeth writes about trips to two beaches, Vouligmeny and Rafina. "I like Rafina better because it was a natural beach, not built up by bath houses and hot dog stands."

The group of 12 Americans who are community ambassadors in Greece, along with their counterpart Greek brothers and sisters, are now on sightseeing trips to famous places in Greece such as Delphi and Mt. Olympus.

Susan Leggett, Greenville's ambassador to Italy, lives in a small mountain village. She begins her letter with "I'm not sure when you'll get this because the Cori mailmen are on strike."

Susan has two Italian sisters, Ivonne 21, and Giancarla, 26. The two girls live with their mother. "Ivone speaks very good English while Giancarla and my mother speak none," she notes. "They are wonderful people and have been very good about teaching me the language."

"Our summer has been very full," Susan related. "Going to Rome, the beach, and attending concerts. Here, the boys and girls all go around in groups of about 10. It is very nice and relaxing."

Noting that "Cori is high in the mountains," Susan adds "it is much older than Rome. We have no water except about once a week, but improvements are underway now for a better water system."

Observance of customs strikes Susan as being in contrast to American attitudes on such things. "Ladies wear solid black for three years after their husbands die," she writes. "The women go the market each day to buy fruits, bread and other necessary foods."

Like Elizabeth, Susan brings up the subject of food. "Our diet is mainly pasta, fruit and eggs. There is little meat and lots of wine."

Her comments on Rome are interesting. "Rome is the hottest city I've ever been in, and it seems like there are thousands of American tourists."

"I really love being in Cori. It all seems like a dream. I've met many people on tour groups and they all wish they could be living with a family. It's really the only way to see a foreign country in my opinion."

It's easier to drive than a Volkswagen.

Just for the record, there are two kinds of Volkswagens around:
- The Volkswagen.
- And the Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift.
Now the idea of driving a Volkswagen with a regular stick shift may scare you.
But the idea of driving a Volkswagen with an automatic stick shift, shouldn't.
It makes everything very easy.
It dips away with the clutch pedal.
It does away with shifting every other mile. (You merely put it in Drive 1 to start. Then Drive 2 at 55 mph.)
And best of all, it doesn't do away with giving you a good 25 miles to a gallon of gas. (The average car only gives you 14.)
After all, why make a Volkswagen that's easy to drive.
If you take away the best reason for driving it.

Nicklaus Shares Glory In Arnold Palmer-Land

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP) — It was Palmer country and they were Arnie's Army. But Jack Nicklaus earned his share of glory, too.

Golf's most famous duo, playing together instead of against each other, shot a final-round 67 Sunday in the National Four-Ball Championship for a three-stroke victory over three other teams. They finished with a 259 total.

"There's never been a member-guest tournament that has had this much attention," the blond Nicklaus said.

"I'll invite him back every year," said Palmer.

Their 25 under par gave them the $40,000 first prize, $20,000 each. It also gave Palmer his first victory of the year—on his home course.

Three strokes back, at 262, were Bruce Crampton and Oville Moody, the tournament's oldest pair, 58-year-old Sam Snead and 42-year-old Gardner Dickinson, and the 1968 cham-

Burton Again PBA Champion

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Nelson Burton Jr., the slender St. Louis pro, captured his seventh Professional Bowlers Association crown Sunday night as he won the $30,000 Fort Worth Open Bowling Tournament by 141 pins—average 219 for the 40-game route.

The only four-time winner this year, Burton rolled games of 225, 195, 258, 177, 215, 220, and 195 Sunday night to withstand a late charge by 1968 bowler of the year Jim Stefanich of Joliet, Ill.

The handsome Ourton won 12 of 16 match games Sunday—receiving 50 bonus pins for each win—to finish the tourney with a 9,394 total and take the $3,000 first prize.

Stefanich needed a 27-pin victory over Burton in the final game, but a pair of splits kept him from his 12th PBA title and he settled for second and $1,600 with his 9,253 total.

Each player in the second shot won $8,166.67.

Crampton and Moody were tied with Palmer and Nicklaus until the 12th hole when Arnie put it close to the pin and Jack hit a nine iron about a foot and half away, then got the birdie.

Nicklaus got four of the team's six birdies and hit his second shots exceptionally well. Only his putting kept the final score from being even more decisive on this lush par 71 course in the hills of western Pennsylvania.

Nicklaus had the crowd roaring at the ninth when he hit his second shot five feet away. But he hung his putt and had to be satisfied with a par.

"Hold him in," one of Arnie's Army told Nicklaus on the 10th tee. But he didn't there.

His tee shot went into a fairway bunker and he topped his second shot, the ball going only about 50 yards. Palmer turned, his hands on his hips, and just laughed.

Palmer held Nicklaus in with a bar.

But Nicklaus got the birdie on 12, nearly getting an eagle as his second shot rolled over the

Buck Baker Ran Second To Lund

ONA, W. Va. (AP) — Tiny Lund of Cross, S. C., pushed his 1970 Camaro past the field for the 18th time in 32 NASCAR Grand American races this season Saturday night in the International 300. He averaged 75.601 miles an hour.

Buck Baker of Charlotte, N.C., was second in a 1970 Firebird an eighth-mile behind.

Lund won $1,600 and Baker $850.

The race was run on the seven-sixteenths mile over International Raceway Park oval. It was the last in the Northern tour for the Grand American autos.

KINGS MOUNTAIN — Greenville's Babe Ruth All-Stars reign today as the North Carolina State Champions.

Greenville took a 4-1 victory over Concord Sunday afternoon to sweep through the nine-team tournament without a loss. They now advance to the regionals, to be held in Huntsville, Ala., starting next week.

For J. C. Daniels, it was a frustrating game. He allowed a hit. It was the first time in the two games he hurled in the state event. He tossed a no-hitter in his first appearance, shutting out Kings Mountain.

And that lone hit accounted for the lone Concord run in the game, although it was unearned.

That came in the first inning and gave Concord an early hope of pulling off an upset. David Caldwell led off the game with a walk, and then was safe when a pickoff play was errored. With two outs, Jerry Furr slammed a single to right, scoring Caldwell. Furr was out, however, trying to stretch his hit into a double.

For Concord, that was all the scoring, and practically all their baserunning. In the fourth, they got a man on third, but to no avail.

Greenville, meanwhile, rallied for four runs in the bottom of the first, and took the game with them.

Herb Wilkerson led off, reaching on an error. John Barwick followed with a single, and Wilkerson scored on an error. With one out, Daniels also was safe on the third miscue of the inning, and Stanley Cobb rifled a single to right, scoring Barwick with the go-ahead run.

Daniels moved to third on the play and Cobb promptly moved on to second, and both runners scored when David Clifton got a single to right, running the score to 4-1 the final margin.

Greenville didn't have another chance until the fifth inning, when Barwick walked and stole second, only to tie there.

In the sixth, Greenville tried again, as Cobb reached on a third-strike passed ball and Wayne Bailey singled, but again, it was to no avail.

But they had all they needed to win the title with their 4-1 lead.

Next comes the regional tournament, which encompasses the nine states of the Southern region. That tournament will be held in Huntsville, Ala., beginning on August 8. Greenville is scheduled to play the South Carolina champion in the opening round, at 3 p.m. A total of nine teams will take part in the double-elimination tournament. The winner of that tournament advances to the national tournament, late this month in California.

Extra Innings Prove Fatal To American Legion

Kinston's American Legion baseball team rolled to a 7-0 victory over Greenville Saturday night, then came back to take a 6-5 win in extra innings last night for a two-game lead in the best-of-five series for the area title.

The two wins give Kinston an almost overwhelming lead in the series, and will force Greenville to win three straight if they are to come back.

In last night's game, it appeared that Greenville had it made until the last man came up in the top of the ninth. That was Troy Eason, and with two men on base, he ripped off a home run to pull Kinston back from a 5-2 deficit and give them the chance to rally again in the 12th.

Saturday night, after four days of postponements, Greenville's mistakes led Kinston to its rout. Only two of the runs in that game were earned.

Greenville, meanwhile, never offered a threat in the Saturday game after the first inning. Russ Smith led off with a single and Joey Moore was hit by a pitch. Smith advanced to third on a double-play, but died there. Only one other man reached second base in the game, as Mike Edwards allowed only two hits.

It was a scoreless duel until the sixth inning when Kinston finally pushed over two runs. They had threatened in the fourth, putting a man on second, but it hadn't paid off.

In the sixth, with one away, Richard Sugg was hit by a pitch. Donnie Hatcher followed with a double to left, moving Sugg to third. Troy Eason then struck out, but the ball got by the Greenville catcher, and Eason reached safely, with Sugg scoring and Hatcher moving to third. Mike Edwards laid down a bunt single, driving in Hatcher for a 2-0 lead.

Kinston came up with two more in the seventh. Don Mills singled, but appeared to be caught when Allen Sasser grounded to the infield. But an error left both runners safe. Mike Hatcher singled to right, scoring Mills. Sasser then stole third and scored when an attempted pickoff play was erred. The final three came in the eighth inning. Eason became the second man in the game to reach after striking out to open the frame. Edwards followed with a single to center and Charles Eubanks singled to score Eason. A balk brought in Edwards from third, and Sasser doubled to score Eubanks with the final run.

In last night's game, however, it looked like Greenville would win and even up the series. They picked up three runs in the bottom of the first. Smith led off with a single to right, and Joey

Moore reached on an infield hit, with Smith speeding all the way to third. Jimmy Paige lifted a long triple to deep left, scoring both runners. Then, with two outs, Jimmy Bond reached on an error, scoring Paige for a 3-0 lead.

Kinston came right back in the second with a pair of runs. With two outs, Don Mills and Cobb Turner both drew walks. Sasser grounded to short, but the ball was thrown away, and both Mills and Turner came around to score.

It stayed that way until the fifth inning, when Greenville added insurance. Byron Dickens reached on an error and Smith was safe on another miscue as he attempted to sacrifice, with Dickens grounded out, but it allowed Dickens to score to make it 4-2.

In the seventh, Greenville scored again. Dickens, attempting to sacrifice Kim Harbin up, reached on another error. Smith was hit by a pitch, loading the bases. Moore grounded to first, and Harbin was cut down in the first out of a home-to-first double play, but Dickens sped home as the relay was made back to home, but not in time.

Then, in the fatal ninth, Kinston rallied to tie it up. Hatcher singled to second and Sugg walked. With two outs, it looked like Greenville might get out of the jam, but Eason slammed the ball deep into right field, and easily circled the bases before the relay arrived, scoring Hatcher and Sugg ahead of him to tie it at 5-5.

Both teams had chances in the next three innings, but it was Kinston that got the only score, giving Kinston the win. The series is scheduled to be resumed on Tuesday, but the site and time have not been set.

Chiefs Gird For Friday

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hey, guess who's coming to dinner at the Kansas City Chiefs' training table? The veterans.

And you'd never guess who's happy to see them—Coach Hank Stram.

"Our squad reported in good physical condition," chirped an elated Stram, who has only a handful of days to hone his team for Friday night's game with the College All-Stars in Chicago.

The defending National Football League champs hurriedly assembled for weekend practice at Liberty, Mo., after getting the green light from the NFL Players Association. The other 25 teams remained sidelined by the owners-players' contract dispute.

In Baltimore Sunday, the Colts nailed the Washington Redskins 14-0 in a rookie scrimmage game.

Quarterback Jeff Beaver hooked up on touchdown passes of 47 yards with Ara Person and 29 with Alvin Pearman for the only scores of the game.

Baseball's Hall Of Fame Adds Names

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Four new members move into baseball's Hall of Fame today as 10,000 fans jam this historic village to honor Lou Boudreau, Earle Combs, Jesse Haines and Ford Frick, and to watch a ball game.

After watching the formal induction ceremonies and the unveiling of the new plaques, boosting the total membership to 118, the fans stroll down Main Street to Doubleday Field to see the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game.

Because Montreal, one of last year's expansion clubs, is playing here for the first time, a planeload of 98 persons from Montreal will be on hand for the game between the Expos and the Chicago White Sox.

Although both teams are bumping around in the lower reaches of their respective divisions, the annual game attracts a sellout throng. The American League, which long ago lost its domination of the All-Star series, still holds a 15-11-1 edge in this series that means no more than possession of the Hall of Fame Cup.

The induction ceremonies are set for 10 a.m. EDT, in front of the Hall of Fame Library. Commissioner Bowie Kuhn runs the show with the help of Bob Hunter of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, president of the Baseball Writers Association who is master of ceremonies.

Another planeload of 70 friends of Boudreau from his home town of Harvey, Ill., will watch the former Cleveland shortstop and player-manager take his place with the baseball greats of the past.

Boudreau, 52, was voted into the Hall by the veteran baseball writers in January with 232 of a possible 300 votes, or more than the required 75 per cent. He played 15 big league seasons with Cleveland and Boston and had a career batting average of .295, leading the American League in 1917 with .327. Boudreau managed Cleveland, Boston, Kansas City and the Chicago Cubs before moving into the radio-television berth in Chicago.

Combs, 70, Haines 76, and Frick 75, were selected by the veterans committee in a special election.

Combs spent 12 years in the majors with the New York Yankees as leadoff man and center fielder for the great teams from 1924 through 1935 and compiled a .325 average.

Haines, a 24-game winner for St. Louis in 1927, won 210 and lost 158 for the Cardinals. The knuckleball pitcher broke in with Cincinnati in 1918 but had no record and came back with St. Louis to stay from 1920 through 1937.

Frick, former commissioner and president of the National League, moved into the executive branch of the game after a career as a baseball writer. It was his leadership that led to the establishment of the Hall of Fame in Cooperstown in 1939.

Workouts Start For Bowl Game

Players and coaches arrived here yesterday to start workouts for Saturday's eighth annual Boys Home All-State Bowl Game.

The contest, in which the North holds a 6-1 edge, will get underway Saturday at 8 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium. The game is held under the sponsorship of the North Carolina Junior Chamber of Commerce.

This year's North team will be coached by Dick Kemp of Elizabeth City, while Ken Morgan of Lenoir serves as his assistant.

Cameron Little of Jacksonville will help up the South staff, with an assistant to be named today to replace Glenn Sasser, of Wilmington, who was forced to withdraw from participation.

The two teams will hold twice daily workouts through Friday in preparation for the game.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠A7 ♠A9754 ♠AJ843 ♠8
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 Pass 1 Pass
 2 Pass 2 Pass
 3 Pass 3 Pass
 4 Pass 4 Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Three spades. With this attractive distribution, you should give partner one more chance. A single raise at this point is a mild effort inasmuch as partner could have passed two diamonds.

Q. 2—As South vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠K1094 ♠QJ4 ♠J98 ♠A83
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 Pass 1 Pass
 2 Pass 2 Pass
 3 Pass 3 Pass
 4 Pass 4 Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Five clubs. Your one-over-one response and mere preference for partner's first bid suit have shown nothing above minimum strength. In fact you have an above average hand facing a game forcing jump and there could easily be a slam. You should show the ace of clubs.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠KQ8 ♠10842 ♠1075 ♠KJ7
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass Pass Pass 1 Pass
 1 NT Pass Pass
 2 Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Double. You have a good prospect of winning at least three and possibly four tricks so that a penalty of 100 is in view, with a chance for more.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠62 ♠A7 ♠AJ1085 ♠KQ3
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 Pass 1 Pass 1
 1 Pass 1 Pass 1
 1 Pass 1 Pass 1

What do you bid now?
 A.—While you have sufficient excess values to justify a free rebid, you should refrain from doing so merely to give your partner the courtesy of the road. He may be able to punish one spade, the rescue bid. If so, you must not get in his way.

Q. 5—As South vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠AK984 ♠A842 ♠AJ95
 The bidding has proceeded:
 East South West North
 1 Pass 2 Pass
 2 Pass 3 Pass
 3 Pass 4 Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Inasmuch as your partner made a free bid of three hearts you should be mildly interested in a slam. This intention should be flashed by means of a cue bid of three spades. Observe that we would not consider the hand quite strong enough for an immediate cue bid, but now that partner has spoken voluntarily the hand shapes up to be much more impressive.

Q. 6—As South vulnerable, you hold:
 ♠A4 ♠KQ84 ♠AK102 ♠963
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 Pass 2 Pass
 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—At least five hearts, with six hearts an acceptable second choice. Valued at hearts your hand contains 17 points and partner has promised a holding of 16 in high cards.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠AKJ10 ♠AK ♠AQ842 ♠J8
 The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 Pass 1 Pass
 2 Pass 2 NT Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—This is a close choice and, in the special circumstances, we are inclined to favor a rather unusual bid, namely three hearts. If partner chooses to go on to four that may be the best contract. However, we would accept as correct a direct raise to three no trump.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
 ♠5 ♠6 ♠Q10987642 ♠K75
 The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South
 1 NT Pass ?

What do you bid?
 A.—It is difficult to lay down rules for hands containing eight card suits. It is equally difficult to estimate their trick-taking possibility. It amounts to sheer guesswork and our guess is in favor of a five diamond bid on the theory that there is more to be gained than lost by taking this action.

At Least 5 Traffic Dead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Traffic accidents claimed at least five lives in North Carolina this weekend, pushing the state's fatality toll for 1970 to 817.

The State Highway Patrol said this year's total compares to 918 killed during the same period last year.

Two persons were killed in a single-car crash in Burke County. They were identified as Howard Woodrow Henson, 27, of Hickory and 2-year-old Joseph Henson.

 The patrol said both died when a car driven by Howard Henson ran off a rural road and smashed into an embankment a half mile south of Hildebran.

Charles J. Weiss, 23, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., was killed when the car he was riding in slammed into a traffic island on U. S. 70 a mile west of New Bern, the patrol said.

Lewis Congleton, 47, of Wilson, was killed when the car in which he was a passenger ran off U. S. 264 four miles west of Wilson.

A Randolph County accident cost the life of 19-year-old Ronald Robbins of Asheboro. The car he was riding in slammed into a utility pole, the patrol said.

Worry Clinic Budget Needed By Newlyweds

Heed Anita's comments. For "heart trouble" not only kills 3 times as many people as all cancers, combined. But it also is a major cause for divorce among the young newlyweds! Remember, 50 percent of all teen-age wedding end in divorce before the 5th wedding anniversary, due basically to the juvenile way young couples squander their limited pay checks!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
 Ph. D., M. D.
 CASE-N-574: Anita B., aged 26, has heart trouble.

"But, Dr. Crane," she began, "it deals with love, not a coronary attack."

"For we have been married 3 years and now we are always quarreling about unpaid bills. 'Are such budget problems a major cause of divorce?'"

Yes, among young married couples, a major reason for divorce involves money matters.

But after the age of 40, it is more likely to be sex problems or maladjustment in the boudoir.

Many young people rush into a quickie wedding or an elopement when the husband hasn't a trade or profession and is hardly able to finance himself.

They are so unfamiliar with the budget demands of an average household that they react much like children.

If they can scrape together enough money for a down payment on a color TV set or an automobile and other luxuries, they enter into various sales contracts.

But they don't look ahead to the time their next payments will be due!

So they get into trouble with their creditors and then expect a short loan agency to hand them far more cash than their meager pay checks will warrant.

Meanwhile, they begin to argue and fight, because their nerves are frayed from being hounded by bill collectors.

And the wife soon gets pregnant, which necessitates regular visits to the physician, plus hospital expenses at the time of delivery of the baby.

Their rent then is unpaid, so they finally are forced to move in with the in-laws.

If they barge in on the wife's parents, then the young husband's ego is affronted because his wife begins to defer to her father and also lets her mother call the shots.

Yet that is proper, for whoever pays the piper is supposed to call the dances, as per a wise old adage still quite true.

So you young people should follow this policy exactly:

1. Don't marry till you have at least out of high school and with a year's diploma at Business College or an established trade.
2. Both of you should also have worked for at least a full year, so you become educated in handling a pay check and budgeting funds.
3. Don't marry till you have at least 3 months' advance rent in the bank!
4. Carry enough insurance to cover pregnancy and other medical problems that will arise when you have a baby.
5. Don't buy new furniture but watch for bargains in good used tables, chairs, etc.
6. And you simply cannot afford a new car, so purchase a jalopy that will get the husband to and from work.
7. Learn how to get bargains at the grocery store, as by buying day-old bread and other "marked down" foods that have the same caloric value but cost much less.
8. The smarter you are, the less you have live on, for people with budget experience try to get the most calories per penny when buying foods. Oatmeal is thus much cheaper than fancy breakfast cereals!

Hamburger is also as rich in calories as T-bone steak! And cottage cheese gives you the equivalent protein intake of sirloin steak!

So send for my "Budget" booklet, enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Seeks To Learn If Fish 'Lonely'

RADFORD, Va. (AP) — Do fish swim in schools because otherwise they get lonely? A Radford College psychology professor is trying to prove this is the case.

Dr. Carroll E. Smith's experiments consist of placing a lone minnow in a dark tank pierced by a slim light beam. When the minnow swims through the beam, he triggers a five-second light in an adjacent tank containing other minnows.

If the lone minnow breaks the beam at an increasing rate, Smith says, it would indicate that schooling fish find the sight of other fish rewarding.

Greensboro Ex-Mayor Dies

GREENSBORO (AP) — Former Greensboro mayor David Schneck, 43, died Sunday at a Greensboro hospital. Doctors said he had a cerebral hemorrhage early Sunday at his home.

Schneck was one of the founders of the Piedmont-Triad Council of Governments and was vice president of the Wachovia Insurance agency. While he was mayor the city's first human relations committee was founded.

He was first elected to the city council in 1959. He was chosen mayor in 1961 and was re-elected in 1963.

UN Report Says Despite Study Crime's Cause Still Unknown

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—A new U.N. report says that despite long investigation, the experts still do not know what causes crime.

"Despite the years of extensive and intensive study and research in many countries, the vital factors causing crime still escape unequivocal, positive identification," says a paper prepared by the U.N. Secretariat.

"For nearly every factor known to be associated with delinquency, from 'broken homes' and mental deficiency to overcrowding, delinquent subcultures, child neglect and poverty, it is still possible to show at least as many young people subjected to such conditions who do not commit crime as those who do."

The paper is titled "Social Defense Policies in Relation to Development Planning. It lists as "the main aspects of development which have been thought" potentially crime-inducing: urbanization, industrialization, population growth, migration from farm to city and technological change.

Urbanization, it explains, means more "uncontrolled children on the streets of a town" and "implies more opportunities for crime with less risk of detection and a disturbing juxtaposition of affluence and poverty

"The effect of industrialization on crime is said to be through other factors: ... offering work to women who then may not be able to give proper care to their children ... young people being attracted to town when there is still not sufficient work to go around ...

"Excessive population growth leads to crime by adding weight to the burden on the wage earner, overcrowding small houses, overcrowding school facilities ...

"However ... most of these influences have provoked endeavor and greatness as well as delinquency. It depends on the person."

Though crime in general grows as a country develops, the paper states, "the proportionate difference between male and female delinquency usually remains unchanged until the later phases of development and urban complexity, when female delinquency increases."

In those phases, too, come "the tremendous increase in crime in a society five years hence, using certain assumptions about population growth, rate of urban growth, police strength, etc."

Using such projections, it says, the authorities of a country might try one thing after another to hold the crime level down; for example, rural development projects for unemployed youth, child health schemes stressing behavior, housing especially designed for problem children, new banking practices to discourage robberies, and decentralization of police control.

The paper will be discussed at the Fourth U.N. Conference on the Prevention of Crime and the Treatment of Offenders, to be held in Kyoto, Japan, Aug. 17-26.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY
In the General Court of Justice
Superior Court Division
NORTH CAROLINA
PITT COUNTY
SOUTH AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL CORPORATION VS. CHARLIE MILLS AND WIFE, LULIA MILLS

Under and by virtue of an Execution entered in the above entitled proceeding issued on April 22, 1970, by Alice Turner, Deputy Clerk of Superior Court of Edgemont County, notice is hereby given that I will on the 17th day of August, 1970, at 12:00 Noon at the Courthouse door of the Courthouse of Pitt County, Greenville, North Carolina offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy said execution, all right, title and interest of the defendants, Charlie Mills and wife Lulia H. Mills now have or at any time in or after the docketing of the Judgment in said action had and to the following described real estate:

That certain tract or parcel of land in Chicod Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, lying on the north and north sides of the newly paved road leading from N.C. Highway No. 43 to Black Jack, and beginning at the north-east corner of Lot No. 1-B in the center of said highway and running thence with the center of said highway S 82.30 E 314 feet; thence N 4.35 W 543 feet; thence east 172 feet; thence S 4.35 E 540 feet to the center of said highway; thence S 6.35 E 183 feet; thence southwesterly 91 feet to Roy Mills corner; thence S 70.45 E 52 feet to corner of Lot No. 1-C; thence S 16.30 W 148 feet; thence S 77 E 160 feet; thence S 77 E 160 feet; thence 70.45 E 212 feet to a ditch; thence with ditch S 2.00 W 691 feet to a stake in edge of pocoin; thence N 47.55 W 105 feet; thence S 20.25 W 49.40 W 129 feet; N 54.25 W 109 feet; N 52.30 W 191 feet; N 41.45 W 100 feet; N 45.45 W 203 feet; N 42.15 W 102 feet; N 76.15 W 213 feet; to the corner of Lot No. 1-B; thence N 11 E 345 feet to the beginning and containing 13.2 acres, more or less, and being Lot No. 2 of the Marsha Hadcock land known as her home place.

Tract No. 2—That certain tract of land in Chicod Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, lying on the newly paved highway leading from Black Jack to Chicod High School, and beginning at a stake, corner of Lots Nos. 1 and 2; thence S 9.30 E 197 feet to a stake; thence S 7.15 W 240 feet to a stake; thence N 88.40 W 2030 feet to said highway thence N 15.25 E with center of said highway 185.5 feet to the beginning and containing 9.37 acres, more or less and being Lot No. 3 of the Marsha Hadcock - Thoroughfare tract of land.

EXCEPTED, however, from the above described land 5.10th of an acre, more or less, which the Grantors retained to Jimmie Charles Mills by deed dated March 14, 1960 and recorded in Book P-31 at page 585 of the Pitt County Registry. Reference is made to Map prepared by J.B. Porter, R.S. and recorded in Map Book S at page 45 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County.

TRACT NO. 3—Being Tracts Nos. 1, 1A, and 1 B of the Hadcock property as shown on Map made by J.B. Porter, R.S., dated January, 1963, and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County in Map Book 11 at page 86, which map is hereby referred to and made a part hereof for a more specific description of said property.

EXCEPTED from the above Tract No. 3 is the real property which has been set off and constitute the real property exemption as by law allowed to the defendants said property being described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the southern R.W. of N.C. State Road E 1774, said point being the Northeast corner of the property of Prince Mills and the northwestern corner of the property of Charlie and Lulia Mills; said point further referred to as being 30 feet from the center line of said road; thence from said point of beginning and with the right of way of said road S 82.23 E 100 feet to a point; thence N 11.00 E 289.49 feet to the point of beginning.

This property is subject to a lien of a Deed of Trust given by Charlie Mills and wife, Lulia H. Mills to Vance E. Swift, Trustee, for the Eastern Home Administration United States Department of Agriculture as appears of record in Book R-33 at page 439 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County. The unpaid indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust as of the date of this notice is in the approximate sum of $10,500.00. This property is further subject to a Deed of Trust in favor of Sutton's Service Center as appears of record in Book B-35 at page 7 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County. That the principal indebtedness shown on said deed of Trust is in the amount of $1,000.00.

By DONALD M. ROTHBERG Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three things might halt plans for underground nuclear weapons tests on the remote Aleutian island of Amchitka: diplomacy, law suit or gigantic earthquake.

Earthquakes are common on Amchitka. A shake just before the test scheduled for autumn 1971 could delay it. But far more damaging to Atomic Energy Commission plans for continued use of the island as a test site would be a big quake right after the 1971 blast.

Testing could be curtailed if agreement is reached at the Strategic Arms Limitation

Talks between the United States and the Soviet Union, or if a group of Alaskans who feel they are personally endangered by the tests won their contemplated law suit.

But the earthquake issue is the big one in scientific circles. It was raised by a blue ribbon panel of scientists formed to report to the President's science adviser on the potential hazards of underground nuclear tests.

The panel, headed by Dr. Kenneth S. Pitzer, president of Stanford University, studied data compiled primarily by the AEC from previous tests, talked to AEC scientists, then utilizing the expertise of its own members wrote:

"The panel is seriously concerned with the problem of earthquakes resulting from large-yield nuclear tests ... new and significant evidence demonstrates that small earthquakes do actually occur both immediately after a large-yield test explosion and in the following weeks.

"The largest of the observed associated aftershocks have been between one and two magnitudes less than the explosion itself. However, there does not now appear to be a basis for eliminating the possibility that a large test explosion might induce either immediately or after a period of time, a severe earthquake of sufficiently large magnitude to cause serious damage well beyond the limits of the test site."

The report went to the White House Nov. 27, 1968, about 11 months before the first of a series of large-yield nuclear tests was to go off on Amchitka.

The panel also gave its opinion of the earthquake potential at the three existing test sites:

"The proposed tests at the central Nevada site involve a greater risk of earthquake than those at the regular Nevada test site since the more northerly portions of Nevada are more active seismically. Since the Amchitka area in Alaska is still more active seismically, the hazard of inducing an earthquake must be considered to be greater at that location than at either Nevada site."

The report disappeared into the White House. Preparations continued on Amchitka. Finally on Sept. 29, three days before an underground blast in the range of about one million tons of high explosive was to be set off on Amchitka, the Pitzer report was released.

It was included, beginning on page 49, in a 59-page pamphlet that discussed Amchitka test preparations, safety, site selection, the environment and even a sea otter relocation program.

Despite congressional apprehension, the test went off on schedule. No earthquake followed. No radioactivity escaped. Things went better than the AEC had anticipated.

But Dr. Frank Press, head of the department of earth sciences at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a world renowned seismologist who was a member of the Pitzer panel, said: "We all would have bet that nothing would happen. The probability of something happening is small. The risk is very great."

Press pointed out that the AEC has said it plans to set off nuclear explosives of progressively larger yields. He said scientists don't know enough about earthquakes to know whether there might be a certain size shock from a nuclear blast which would trigger a major quake.

The greatest danger from an earthquake at Amchitka would come from the tidal wave it could generate. Press estimated it would take a quake with a Richter scale reading of 7.5 or 8 to generate a tidal wave large enough to cause damage in populated areas. The 1964 Alaska earthquake, one of the largest on record, had a Richter reading of 8.5.

An earthquake that large at Amchitka could send a tidal wave across the Pacific that would devastate coastal areas as far away as Japan.

The AEC answers that there are frequent large earthquakes in the Amchitka area and none has ever triggered a large tidal wave.

Two government seismologists for the U.S. Geological Survey said this month they found in a seven-year study that just as many earthquakes occurred before underground atomic explosions as afterwards.

Their report in a scientific journal had been preceded last year by another report of three different scientists who concluded that underground explosions triggered significant earthquake activity.

Robert D. Jones Jr., manager of the Aleutian Islands National Wildlife Refuge which includes Amchitka, watches with growing frustration the coming of what he calls "the bomb people."

For years Jones has worked to make Amchitka and other islands in the chain more hospitable to the rare Aleutian Canada Goose, as well as to Bald Eagles, and other wildlife.

But the preparations for CANIKIN, the 1971 test, are eliminating the ground cover and driving off the birds, says Jones. Another factor is the noise and activity.

With its wildlife and susceptibility to earthquakes, why did the AEC settle on Amchitka for its test site?

AEC officials say the choice was narrowed to Amchitka and the North Slope in northern Alaska. According to Dr. Harry Reynolds of the Weapons section of Lawrence Radiation Laboratory in Livermore, Calif., the North Slope was eliminated because of the inhospitable climate although it is seismically stable. Maj. Gen. E. B. Giller, director of the AEC's weapons division, says another factor was ecological, particularly the presence nearby of caribou calving grounds.

But doesn't the AEC know enough already about detonating nuclear bombs or devices, as it prefers to call them? Is there any real need for more tests?

"You don't design a weapon and wonder if it will go bang," says Reynolds. The tests are "experiments, a series of experiments."

Not all the devices that the AEC makes go bang deep underground are weapons. Some are handled by the Plowshare program, the U.S. effort to find peaceful uses for nuclear explosions.

John S. Kelly, director of the AEC's division of Peaceful Nuclear Explosives, sees the use of nuclear explosions to release new energy sources as the most promising current Plowshare program.

Such experiments with natural gas and oil shale involve underground nuclear blasts in Colorado. They have popularized a bumper sticker among test opponents that advises: "Visit Colorado, Playground of the AEC."

There are problems, Kelly admits. The first natural gas stimulated by a nuclear explosion was radioactive to an extent that makes it unfit for use in homes. But Kelly is certain the radioactivity can be reduced in future shots.

Opponents of such programs worry that economics will dictate a relaxation of safety.

The two companies most involved in this program are CER Geonuclear Corp. of Las Vegas, Nev., and Austral Oil Co. of Houston, Tex. Three officials from these companies recently jointly authored a paper called "Economics of Nuclear Gas Stimulation."

In it they said, "The two gas stimulation experiments performed thus far were so expensive they could not possibly be economic."

Opposition to the gas stimulation project known as Rulison in western Colorado led to the filing of a suit in U.S. District Court in Denver.

Everybody won a little bit. The project was allowed to continue with provision that proper safeguards be followed. But opponents were cheered by that part of the decision which gave them the right to sue a government agency whose activities they felt were potentially harmful.

Soviet Undersea Power Growing, Says Rickover

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover said the Soviet Union may be ahead of the United States in undersea power and warned a State Department plan to sell nuclear submarines to allies could worsen the balance.

Rickover asserted the poor security among European nations might give the Soviets access to U.S. propulsion technology, even though the nuclear subs in question are older models.

The comments of the admiral, known as father of the nuclear submarine and a long-time champion of naval strength, were made in March before the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and released Sunday.

Rickover also said the Soviet Union had asked the United States for one of its most advanced computers to use in connection with an experimental nuclear accelerator at Serpukhov.

He said Soviet ballistic missile submarines are now stationed off both American coasts, and that its total nuclear fleet may outnumber that of the United States.

"The Soviets are capable of starting tomorrow the biggest war there has ever been," Rickover said, "and frankly I am not confident of the outcome."

Rickover said the long-standing State Department proposal to sell used nuclear subs to allies has been opposed by other government agencies. "Only the State Department has kept the matter alive," he said.

"The State Department has very little appreciation for the value of our Polaris submarine propulsion technology and its strategic implications," Rickover said. "They have been trying to give it away for years."

He said a State Department official recently referred to nuclear propulsion technology as "Admiral Rickover's little plaything."

Rickover testified the Soviet Union asked U.S. scientists to arrange for a CDC6600 computer, described as the nation's best, to be installed in Russia in return for scientific information produced by the accelerator.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., chairman of the joint committee, said his panel blocked the proposal.

"Even if we furnished the Soviets a U.S. computer and could assure it was not used for defense purposes, having this powerful unit at Serpukhov would probably free other computers of Soviet design for defense work," Rickover said.

He indicated the Soviet Union apparently made the request in 1969 through Dr. Wolfgang Panofsky, director of the linear accelerator laboratory at Stanford University.

The Rickover testimony was released simultaneously with the opening of Senate debate on the $19.2 billion military procurement authorization bill, a measure containing funds for a number of advanced weapons systems, including submarines and ships.

The size of the bill is expected to be hotly contested by Senate advocates of reduced military spending. Rickover said these sessions ignore "the cold hard facts" of what he said is a deteriorating defense posture.

Armed Forces Accept 'Unfit'

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard S. Schweiker today called for improved military physical examinations after a government report disclosed the armed services continue to accept men who are physically unfit to serve.

Some men recently inducted were found to have only one kidney, deformed by polio or missing part of a thumb, the Pennsylvania Republican said in releasing a report by the General Accounting Office.

He called on the Pentagon to improve its screening procedures to weed out men physically unfit to serve before induction.

Nearly 40,000 servicemen who were discharged in fiscal 1968 and 1969 within a year of their enlistments were released because of prior physical defects, Schweiker said.

Among the cases, the report said, were those of an Air Force man with a large scar from a kidney removal operation, a Marine released when it was found he had only part of his left thumb, an Air Force man discharged for an absence of muscles on the left side of his trunk, and a man whose childhood bout with polio had left him with his left leg more than one inch shorter than his right.

The Pentagon spent $17.9 million for pay, travel, allowances and uniforms in fiscal 1969 alone for men discharged for such prior defects, the report said.

Schweiker asked the General Accounting Office—the congressional investigative agency, to update a similar report two years ago. The GAO earlier found 40,200 discharges for prior defects during a similar two-year period.

The latest report said the number of such discharges held steady during both periods at 2.3 per cent of all those inducted.

The GAO recommended improvements including efforts to even the flow of inductees through examining stations. Schweiker said Pittsburgh station had a capacity of 200 men a day, but the actual workload varied last April from 65 to 356 men daily.

STEEL DELIVERIES

LONDON (AP) — Finished steel deliveries in Britain increased 9 per cent in the year ended March, 1970, according to British Steel Corp. figures. Total deliveries—including exports—were up 5.7 per cent, the figures say.
