TRUTH IN PREFERENCE TO FICTION

Sharing Of Revenue Is Analyzed

By JOHN M. PEARCE

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York would be the major beneficiary of the Nixon administration's revenue sharing plan...

The department prepared an 84-page listing of how much each state and most cities and counties would receive...

New York would receive $542.67 million in the first full year, while California would receive $536.37 million...

The federal grants would build up to the totals in the years before revenue sharing takes full effect...

Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, the Democratic chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee...

They prepared the long city-by-city table, which has not yet been officially released...

Under the revenue sharing plan, each state's allocation would be figured according to its population...

Jack Spain, administrative assistant to Senator Sam J. Ervin, was the keynote speaker at the Research on Wheels banquet held last night...

Spain discussed the growth of tobacco and the problems of taxation and the cancer scare. He also explained the mechanization of tobacco in order to combat the rising labor cost...

Local government allocations would depend entirely on the revenues they generate in proportion to all the money raised in the state...

The money left over would be available to the state government.

Here is a list of the North Carolina cities and towns affected and the amount of money they would receive:

Record Price

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Opening day sales on the South Carolina and border North Carolina flue-cured tobacco markets brought a record average price of $70.93 Tuesday...

The price fell slightly short of a predicted $71 average. The Market News Service said the average price in North Carolina was $71.29...

Total sales for the day were 10,287,907 pounds, with 5,495,018 in South Carolina and 4,792,889 in North Carolina.

The news service said most average prices by grades ranged from $1 to $4 per hundred pounds above the first day last year, but poorest nondescript $7.

Cambodians Are Bloodily Driven From Positions

By JOHN T. WHEELER

Associated Press Writer PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The battle for the Kiri Rom plateau ended today in a major Communist victory...

The Cambodian command released no casualty figures for the 18-day battle, but several hundred government troops were believed killed or wounded...

Enemy losses were believed considerably less. One Cambodian field officer said the defeat might force his senior officers to re-evaluate their defense strategy...

It was the second major Communist victory in Indochina in a week. U.S. forces abandoned

Fire Base Ripcord in the northwestern sector of South Vietnam last Thursday after North Vietnamese fire killed 61 Americans and wounded 345 in three weeks of attacks.

After the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese drove one battalion from Kiri Rom at the start of the battle, the government rushed more than 1,500 troops to the area to do battle with an enemy force estimated at more than 1,000 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese.

After several days of inflicting heavy losses on the Cambodians, the enemy forces pulled back and let the government troops regain considerable territory on the top of the plateau.

Two of these battalions were thrown into heading retreat down the slopes Monday by heavy mortar fire and enemy assault troops. The Cambodian military spokesman said it was decided to withdraw the rest of the force for 'tactical reasons' and that they made their way down safely.

Park Violence 'Premeditated'

CHICAGO (AP) — A series of free rock 'n' roll shows to 'bridge the generation gap' has been called off because of a performance that erupted into a three-hour battle between spectators and police.

Both Mayor Richard J. Daley and Daniel J. Shannon, president of the park district which sponsored the concerts, said at news conferences Tuesday that the violence had been premeditated.

Shannon said chains, rocks, knives and firearms were brought into Grant Park, scene of the concert, Monday, by 'those bent on destruction' who overwhelmed 'the good kids who just wanted to communicate with music.'

Police arrested 165 persons on charges of mob action in the park and in the downtown district, where windows were smashed and stores looted. The total injured was set at 135, including 65 policemen. Three youths were wounded by gunfire.

Chicago Park District commissioners voted unanimously to cancel four more such concerts set for the Grant Park bandshell and a fifth planned for Soldier Field in September.

Monday's disorder erupted after the crowd demanded the appearance of the rock group Sly and the Family Stone and some youngsters mounted the stage.

High Temperatures Plus High Humidity Equal Higher Bills

This summer is no exception to the general rule that high temperatures plus high humidity equal high utility bills, according to Charles O'H. Horne Jr., director of Greenville Utilities.

From May 20 to July 20, our high temperatures have averaged 90 degrees, with a maximum high of 101 and a minimum high of 84. On at least 25 days during this period, the temperature exceeded 87 degrees and the humidity must have been high since we have recorded a total of 5.14 inches of rainfall.

The combination of high temperature and high humidity create high air conditioning loads," Horne said. "And utility bills are running high also. In a typical meter reader's route of subdivision in the southern section of the city, covering some 181 residential customers, the average utility bill during the same general period was $42. The maximum bill ran $83 and the minimum one, about $18.

Another factor that influence utility bills is the number of days in the billing period. It is almost impossible to read meters on a 30-day interval because of holidays, weekends, and bad weather. A reading period of 35 days would represent a 15 percent increase in the billing period, and probably cause approximately the same increase in the amount of the bill," he said.

Horne added, "It is often assumed the meter readers estimate what a customer should use and report accordingly. This is virtually impossible since meter readers carry no previous meter readings with them on their routes and must report current meter readings."

House Reformers Retain Seniority Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The venerable seniority system, which keeps venerable congressmen in committee chairmanships, has survived the first legislative assault aimed at it in recent years.

Hammering out a legislative reorganization bill, the House Tuesday refused either to require committee election of chairmen or simply to state that length of service should not be the only standard. However, some members who

Cabinet Crisis Looms In Israel Over Acceptance Of U.S. Cease-Fire Plan

MOSHE DAYAN addresses Israeli youths in Tel Aviv Tuesday night, voicing reluctant acceptance of a U.S. peace plan for the Middle East. (AP Wirephoto via cable from Tel Aviv)

By MARCUS ELIASON

Associated Press Writer TEL AVIV (AP)—Right-wing ministers blocked Israel's decision on the U.S. cease-fire proposal Tuesday night by threatening to quit the government if it was accepted.

The cabinet was scheduled to discuss the American proposal again today, and government sources said a majority was expected to give reluctant, qualified approval. But they said Premier Golda Meir was determined to obtain unanimous assent.

The right-wing Gahal party, which holds six of the 24 cabinet seats, split over the U.S. proposal in a stormy meeting. Sources said some members were willing to abstain in the cabinet vote but hardliners refused to accept any compromise.

Some Gahal members said it was "almost 95 per cent certain" that the party would quit the cabinet if it accepted the plan, the government radio reported. Mrs. Meir conferred with Gahal leaders Tuesday night in an effort to avert a cabinet crisis.

Defense Minister Moshe Dayan meanwhile denied that he had threatened to resign if the government accepted the U.S. proposal. He told a group of high school students in Tel Aviv that he would accept the plan reluctantly.

"We are not so strong we can forfeit our allies," he said. Local press reports said earlier Tuesday that Dayan had misgivings about the plan because it speaks of Israeli withdrawal from lands captured in the 1967 Middle East war.

Dayan believes Israel's security depends on retention of the Gaza Strip, the Syrian Golan Heights, and the strip of Sinai coastland that runs from Israel's southern tip to the Red Sea. The Gahal party advocates holding on to all of the occupied territory.

Dayan also said the Soviet Union has "supervisors" of SAM2 and SAM3 anti-aircraft missiles in Syria as well as Egypt. Egypt is known to have both models of the Soviet missile and Russian technicians helping to man them, but an Israeli command spokesman said he had no knowledge that the Syrians have any SAMs.

The American peace proposal, put forth by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, calls for a 90-day cease-fire so that U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring can resume his third-party attempts to bring the Arabs and the Israelis together. Egypt and Jordan have accepted the plan, but the Palestinian guerrilla organizations have turned it down and vowed to keep on fighting.

Egypt suspended two nightly guerrilla broadcasts on Cairo Radio because they were denouncing Egyptian acceptance of the U.S. initiative.

Bloodmobile

Tomorrow is the first opportunity for blood donors to give to the Pitt County Bloodmobile as the collection for the 1970-71 year gets underway.

From 11:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m., the bloodmobile will be stationed at the Greenville Moose Lodge to receive donations.

Douglas Morgan, chairman of the unit, expressed the hope that interested persons will make this first collection drive one of outstanding response.

Larger Budget Deficit

By FRANK CORMIER

Associated Press Writer SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Winding up a first round of budget-making conferences today, President Nixon faced problems underlined by disclosure of a bigger-than-expected $2.9 billion budget deficit for the past 12 months.

The Western White House announced Tuesday results of federal spending and outlays for the 1970 fiscal year that ended June 30. The red-ink total was $1.1 billion more than a May forecast of $1.8 billion. An official projection last February called for a $1.5 billion surplus.

Nixon and his associates took heart from the fact that spending was below both the February and May estimates, said George P. Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget.

In May the administration had predicted spending of $198.2 billion and revenues of $196.4 billion, compared with a February estimate of $197.9 billion in spending and $199.4 billion in receipts.

Actual spending totaled $196.8 billion and actual revenues were $193.8 billion. This does not square exactly with the announced deficit of $2.9 billion because of rounding off of figures.

"We were successful in holding the expenditure line," said Shultz, who attributed the enlarged fiscal 1970 deficit to a slump in tax revenues caused by the economic slowdown.

NO INJURIES

STOREKEEPER SLAIN

MOUNT HOLLY, N.C. (AP) — A.A. Farrar, 60, died Tuesday shortly after he was found slashed on the neck and head behind the counter of his small store in Gaston County. Police said he had been robbed.

Power Pinch

NEW YORK (AP) — From sweltering subways to dimmed skyscraper corridors, New Yorkers felt the pinch of the city's power shortage Tuesday as they struggled through the hottest day of the year.

Subway service was temporarily cut 30 per cent, telephones were run on emergency power. Major buildings reduced air conditioning, halted some escalators and elevators, and turned off lights.

The cutbacks in electrical use combined with voltage reduction and the purchase of 1.35 million kilowatts from outside the city enabled power-short Consolidated Edison Co. to ease through the day as the mercury hit 94 degrees.

With more hot and humid weather was forecast through Sunday, the power crisis was expected to continue.

A stable high pressure air mass, extending from the Gulf of Mexico to New England has not only caused the heat wave, but also shrouded cities from New York to Atlanta in an annoying haze.

The Weather Bureau said Tuesday that atmospheric conditions in a seven-state area bounded by Philadelphia, Atlanta and Chattanooga could cause potentially serious air pollution.

Bess-Boyd Vows Spoken In Saturday Ceremony

Miss Linda Ree Boyd became the bride of Thomas Wayne Bess Saturday at 8:00 p.m. in the Black Jack Pentacostal Free Will Baptist Church.

The Rev. R. M. Stewart, pastor of the bride, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Hubert Boyd of Rt. 3, Greenville, and the late Mr. James Clifton Boyd. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Bess of Rt. 2, Greenville.

The vows were spoken before an altar centered with a basket of white gladioli and mums interspersed with bridal greenery. A nine branched candelabra stood on each side with baskets of bridal palms adding accents to the altar. The couple knelt for the benediction on a satin covered prie-dieu. Pews were marked with white satin ribbon. Lighted tapers were used throughout.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. R. M. Stewart, pianist. She also sang "Each to the Other," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Wedding Prayer," as the benediction.

The bride entered the church alone. She wore a formal white satin organza gown fashioned with a round neckline, lace accented bodice and elbow-length sleeves accented with pearls and lace. The chapel length train was attached at the waist by a bow and was adorned with lace and seed pearls.

Her fingertip veil of silk illusion was attached to a band of lace and seed pearls to match her dress. She carried a bouquet of white miniature mums and daisies centered with a white orchid and tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Patricia Peaden of Greenville served her sister as matron of honor. Serving as bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Bess, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Betsy Boyd, step-sister of the bride, Miss Mary Lou Stox, all of Greenville and Miss Sue Knox of Robersonville, cousin of the bride.

The attendants were attired in floor length gowns of white taffeta with an overlay of white organza embroidered with yellow daisies. They were designed with high rounded necklines and butterfly cap sleeves. Yellow velvet ribbons with floor length streamers accented the waist where they were attached with matching bows.

Their headpieces were of yellow silk illusion attached to bows of yellow velvet. They carried bouquets of yellow daisies and miniature mums tied with yellow velvet streamers.

Douglas Ross of Ayden served as best man. Ushers were Alvin Peaden, brother-in-law of the bride, and Mike Clark, both of Greenville.

Mrs. Evelyn Carmichael of Ayden directed the wedding.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boyd selected a light green bonded knit dress with white accessories. Her flowers were white carnations.

Mrs. Bess, mother of the bridegroom, chose a yellow dress of embroidered crepe with yellow accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Burley Mills, grandmother of the bride, wore a beige knit dress with beige accessories. She wore a lavender rose corsage.

Mrs. Archie Bess, grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a gold dress with black accessories. Her corsage was of roses.

After a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside in Lexington Park, Md.

The bride graduated from Winterville High School and was employed by Pitt Memorial Hospital.

The bridegroom graduated from Chicod High School. He attended N. C. State and Lenoir Community College. He is presently serving in the U. S. Navy.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple received in the church.

The Bess-Boyd wedding party and friends were entertained at an after-rehearsal party Friday night in the church hall by the bride's family.

On Thursday evening, Miss Boyd was entertained at a lingerie shower given by Mrs. Gentry Mills. Honored guests were Mrs. Hubert Boyd, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Burley Mills, grandmother of the bride-elect.

Miss Judith Reynolds Weds Richard Reeves Jr. Sunday

GOLDSBORO — Miss Judith Gayle Reynolds, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Walter Reynolds of Ayden, and Richard I. Reeves Jr., son of Mrs. Evelyn Reeves of Goldsboro and the late Mr. Reeves, were married Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the First Free Will Baptist Church here.

The Rev. J. W. Everton officiated at the double ring ceremony assisted by the Rev. Walter Reynolds who completed the ceremony after giving his daughter in marriage.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Linda Glenn of Goldsboro, organist, and Peyton Lee of Dunn, soloist, who sang "O Promise Me," "Because," and "The Wedding Prayer."

The church altar was decorated with brass candelabras holding white tapers banked by floral arrangements of white gladioli, mums and greenery. The couple knelt on an antique white velvet kneeling bench for the closing prayer and benediction.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of peau de soie and silk organza fashioned along empire lines. It featured a yoke and sleeves of silk organza. Alencon lace appliques embellished with pearls and crystal beads framed the yoke and a cascade of the same accented the front of the A-line skirt. The long sleeves, ending in a scallop of lace over the hands, were also embellished with pearls and crystal beads. Falling from the yoke in the back was a cathedral train featuring a panel of matching lace appliques.

The bride's shoulder length mantilla of silk illusion was edged with matching lace. She carried a white Bible showered with satin streamers, stephanotis and greenery. The bride's gown was designed and made by her mother.

Matron of honor was Mrs. John Smith Bennett. She wore a floor length gown of cruise blue silk linen fashioned with an empire waist and an A-line skirt. Her headpiece was made of matching tubing bows and tulle with daisy tipped side trailers centered with pearls. Her bouquet was a nosegay of mixed summer flowers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Batten of Selma, Miss Carolyn Cobb of Farmville, Miss Susan Beaman of Hookerton, Miss Nina Taylor of Kinston, Miss Dianne Cobb of Farmville and Misses' Bettie and Margaret Reeves, sisters of the bridegroom of Goldsboro. Their dresses were styled like that of the honor attendant.

The bridegroom had for his best man his grandfather, W. A. Avery Sr. of Cove City. Ushers were Sammy Reynolds of Raleigh, Steve Reynolds of Ayden, brothers of the bride, David and Dorsan White of Swansboro, Donald Heath of Goldsboro, cousins of the bridegroom, and William Pearsall of Burgaw.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pink linen dress with matching accessories. Both wore white cymbidium orchid corsages.

The bride is a graduate of Mount Olive College. The bridegroom attended Mount Olive College and Campbell College and is presently with the U. S. Air Force.

Following a brief wedding trip to the coast, the couple will make their home in Colorado Springs, Col., where he is stationed.

Big Blowout At Birthday Party

MERDIGNAC, France (WNS) — One birthday cake with 304 candles almost filled the mayor's banquet hall here. He had offered to give a 104th party for Hortense Berthelot, and she insisted on bringing along Annie Gaudaire and Marie Augustine Hello, who live at the old folks home with her. Mme. Gaudaire was 100 years old on February 23 and Mme. Hello passed the century mark on January 1. "It's much more exciting to have one giant party than three little ones," explained Mme. Berthelot, "so we saved up for this big blowout."

Victims Are People Of Cuba

There are still those who feel that Cuba is better off under Castro and Communism than it was under Batista, but there is little evidence that there is any improvement.

In fact Castro said in a 17th anniversary speech that Cuba is beset by economic trouble and that it was "The responsibility of all of us, and mine in particular."

He said Cuba could change its leadership if it wanted to — "right now, at the moment it wishes," although this does not seem likely.

Castro made a mighty effort to harvest a 10 million ton sugar crop this year and ended up with a 8½ million ton yield. Since manpower was mobilized for the cane harvest, there was a lag in production of meat, milk, bread, vegetables, tobacco and clothing. In addition, Castro admitted that Cuba's balance of trade is worsening, especially with the Soviet Union.

All of this could be expected, since Cuba has been at odds for a decade with its mostly likely economic ally, the United States, and with other countries of the Western Hemisphere.

Many of the country's best trained people have fled since the Castro take-over and their talents were badly needed in the poverty ridden nation.

Cuba does not need another Bastista regime. However, it does need to improve its relations with the United States and the Latin American countries so that trade can resume. Cuba should entice its educated people back home so that they can lend their talents to improving conditions there.

So long as Castro keeps his close ties to the Communist nations there will be little progress in improving relations in the Western Hemisphere. As a result it will be the people of Cuba who will suffer.

Our Representatives Should Have No Fear

The U. S. House of Representatives has made a good move in relaxing its secrecy on voting. The House's rules now provide for recorded votes on amendments. Previously voting on amendments was done under a teller system with only vote totals available.

Members of the House should have no fear of the public knowing how they vote on vital issues. Representatives are elected by the public and the public has a right to know how they vote.

The house has taken a forward step in approving this rule change.

U.S. Pressure On Jerusalem

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration, convinced that Moscow put Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser under heavy pressure to accept the U.S. Middle East peace plan, is now gritting its teeth to do the same to Israel.

"It took the Russians 19 days to deliver Nasser," one high official told us, "our job now is to do the same to our friends in Jerusalem."

Accordingly, immediately ahead is the most serious crisis in U.S.-Israeli relations since President Eisenhower forced the Israelis to evacuate the headlands at Sharm-El Sheik in 1957 under threat of U.S. support for anti-Israeli sanctions by the United Nations. This new crisis, assuming no radical change in Cairo, will either "deliver" the government of Prime Minister Golda Meir, already under extreme hawk-dove tensions, or critically rupture historically intimate relations between the U.S. and Israel.

As of today, Mr. Nixon's top Mideast advisers are convinced that Israel will reluctantly accept the temporary cease-fire and consent to serious negotiations with the Arab states through the offices of Gunnar Jarring, the special United Nations negotiator in the Middle East.

The President simply won't take no for an answer from Jerusalem, even though he fully comprehends the possibility that Mrs. Meir's cabinet might splinter under the pressure. Israeli hawks are convinced — or say they are — that the temporary cease-fire in the U.S. peace plan is a Trojan horse which will enable the Egyptians to plant more anti-aircraft missiles in the Suez Canal zone. It will break the present

Israeli air control over the canal. Since the hawks contend, and will lead to Egyptian ground attack across the canal.

Mr. Nixon's advisers see it differently. The grave warning of a big power confrontation arising out of the Arab-Israeli mini-war which President Nixon sternly warned against at San Clemente three weeks ago has compelled the Russians to take a fresh look at the whole problem. That fresh look, so the Administration argument goes, frightened Moscow and changed its earlier policy of letting the situation go from bad to worse.

In short, Moscow now wants a political settlement and, during Nasser's long stay in the Soviet capital, exerted against the Egyptian maximum pressure to that end. The result, say Presidential advisers, was a far more affirmative response to the U.S. plan than the White House had dared hope for.

To ease Mrs. Meir's domestic political problem in selling the peace plan to her cabinet, the U.S. is dangling the promise of special types of defensive weapons — but not the offensive supersonic F-4 Phantoms Israel wants — for delivery after a settlement.

Further, President Nixon will hold open the possibility of including U.S. troops in the peace-keeping forces which eventually would be sent to demilitarized areas to guarantee the borders finally agreed to.

But all that would come in the future and only if Israel agrees in good faith to play out the U.S. peace plan. For the present, President Nixon is totally aware that, despite Egyptian acceptance of the plan, it could be torpedoed in

That Inflation Alert

WASHINGTON — The Nixon Administration will announce the first in a series of "inflation alerts" next month. No one knows exactly what an "inflation alert" is, though it seems to be a way of alerting the American people as to what products are going up in price so the public will be able to boycott them.

The details of the "inflation alert" have not been worked out so it's everyone's guess as to how it will be implemented.

Perhaps like this: Let us suppose a rumor is out that the price of ground beef will rise 4 cents a pound. This is picked up at the top-secret headquarters of the Inflation Alert Command located in the mountains of West Virginia. IAC sends out a squadron of Comparison Shoppers who make a fast swing through supermarkets in Madison, Wis.; Boise, Idaho; Tucson, Ariz.; and Flatbush, Brooklyn. They must report back to IAC within two hours. (It is estimated that inflation can now hit this country in four hours.)

If IAC's suspicions are confirmed they immediately notify Washington on the inflation hot line (it's called that because the telephone company has just asked for a raise in rates).

Washington notifies the White House and a meeting of the National Security Council on Ground Beef is hurriedly called.

The meeting is presided over by the President who demands to know if the price rise in ground beef is a serious attack on the nation or just a diversionary tactic to keep the country from knowing of the meat packers' real plan which is to raise the price on porterhouse steak. George Shultz, the President's Chief of Staff, says all his intelligence indicates that the ground-beef hike is the real thing, and he urges the President to call an inflation alert.

The President then goes into a small room by himself with a yellow pad and pencil and lists all the options he has.

His big problem is: Can he call an inflation alert without notifying Congress? He asks Atty. Gen. Mitchell who assures him that he legally can. Mitchell warns the President he can expect some static from the Senate, but if they are consulted they'll debate the alert to death, and before they're finished ground beef could be up by more than 10 cents a pound.

The President makes his decision. He goes to his desk and takes out a key and unlocks a box. Then he presses a red button.

All over the United States, in every city and town, sirens start screaming. Inflation wardens grab their helmets and rush out into the streets, making everyone go into an inflation shelter or cellar.

Cars and all transportation must come to a halt. In 45 minutes, every consumer must be off the streets. By this time, the meat packers start dropping their inflation bombs on the country.

Restoration Is An Area Dream

By BRYAN HAISLIP

WINDSOR—I saw her first in her impoverishment, gaunt and gray in the field at the end of the lane.

Even then the name "Hope" suited her. Use and misuse had left bare the lines of classic dignity. Lacking paint, shutters askew or missing, she nevertheless kept the serenity of a house that, having long sheltered human life, waits expectantly for renewal.

Today expectation is near reality. Painstakingly restored, only interior work and furnishings remaining,

BRYAN HAISLIP

Hope again looks as it must have when it was home to Governor David Stone in the first years of the 19th century.

Restoration should be completed by 1972 when Bertie County will celebrate its 250th anniversary, said John E. Tyler of Roxobel, president of Historic Hope Foundation.

The reversal of fortune for Hope, one of the most impressive early residences in North Carolina, came through the determined and dedicated efforts of a number of area people. They initiated the project to save the mansion, rallied support locally, and enlisted the aid of the state and foundations.

Tyler, an authority on things antique, was a leader from the start. He knew the architectural and historic importance of the 175-year-old house. He was convinced it could be an economic asset as an attraction to bring tourists into the area.

More than anything, he hated to see the joy of a thing of beauty wasted in neglect.

Tyler told us about Hope that July eight years ago when we spent part of vacation exploring eastern North Carolina.

"You shouldn't miss it," he said. "It's run-down but still beautiful."

We drove through the field off highway NC 308 between Lewiston and Windsor. At the edge of the yard workers were putting in tobacco, among them the black tenant family then living in the house.

"May we look inside?" I asked. One of the women nodded, a gesture of innate hospitality.

The wide, high-ceilinged hall was cool and dim after the outside heat. The wear of daily life had scarred but not destroyed the grace of the interior.

Mary Allen was the first upstairs. I heard her gasp. She stood at the door of the great drawing room, breathtaking with the superb craftsmanship of its woodwork, carved mantel, wainscoting and moulding.

"Can you imagine how it must have looked for a party?" she asked. We paused in the upstairs library, paneled and with two walls of floor-to-ceiling bookcases with glass-paned doors. They held the 1,400 books in Governor Stone's collection. Pencil writing in one section is believed to be in his hand.

The children were most impressed with a trough in the above-ground basement, a single hollowed-out log at least 15 to 20 feet in length. "They used it to water the horses," speculated Teresa.

The four-year work of restoration has cost some $115,000 to date. Historic Hope Foundation raised about $35,000. State appropriations have totaled $75,000. The Richardson Foundation has awarded grants of $10,000.

This spring the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation of Winston-Salem made a $10,000 grant to Hope. "This is a good start towards obtaining the approximately $75,000 we need to finish the restoration, do some preliminary landscaping and begin the acquisition of furnishings," said Tyler.

Mrs. H. H. Jones of New Bern, a Stone descendant, has given a sampler done by the Governor's daughter, Hannah, while a student at Salem College, and the Governor's chess set. Three volumes from his library, containing his autograph, have been donated.

Furniture, both pieces original to the mansion and others of the period although not owned by the Stone family, is in hand and awaiting the completion of the restoration.

Evidence uncovered in the restoration indicates Hope was begun in the last years of the 18th century, and completed by 1803. It is on land originally granted in the 1720's to the Hobson family. In 1765, Francis Hobson deeded the property to his wife, Elizabeth. After Hobson's death, she married Zedekiah Stone who came from New England to settle in Bertie County. David Stone, the governor (1808-10), was their son.

We ended our first visit to Hope looking backward. We thought how those craftsmen must have felt when their work was finished.

Strength For Today

FORGET IT

Whose fault is it — that the money was lost, that we broke off relations with former friends, that the children went their several ways without consulting us and ended up with problems on their hands? Fifty more accusations commonly heard and hurled could be added to this list. The accusing finger gets longer with constant use. Voices get sharper, chins are raised higher. Altogether the situation is disagreeable — not to say intolerable.

Well, the answer of course is that nothing ever happens for good or bad that isn't the fault of more than one person or the tangled result of a multitude of circumstances. It does no good to accuse. The chin held high, the bitter words snapped out, the shaking of the head, the right-about-face and a quick exit get us nowhere.

Why can't we learn that there are dozens of causes for almost everything that happens? Why also can't we learn that mean, contemptible people are very scarce? Most people want to do the right thing, to be kindly, to be considerate and tolerant. Probably one per cent of our population is so mean and unprincipled that we have to put them behind bars. But the other ninety-nine per cent are pretty nice folks after all and more willing to do good by their friends and neighbors than to do evil.

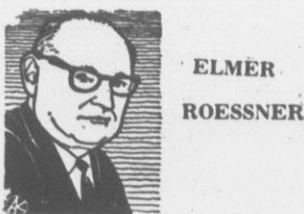

So forget the accusation. Modulate the voice. Smile — or even grin. There's enough trouble in this world without our adding to it.

Smile, grin, shake hands. Earl L. Douglass

Tax Credit Panacea Is Pushed

By ELMER ROESSNER

The Nixon administration is determined to attack some of the nation's economic and social problems by luring businesses and individuals into the fray through tax credit incentives. The tax credit and its cousin, the tax deduction, have long been used to influence business and regulate peoples' lives in order to achieve governmental goals. In the past, they have encouraged people to get married, buy a home, drill for oil, stop drinking and smoking, give money to charity, expand industry, have offspring, borrow money, get medical attention, buy certain securities and what-have-you.

The tax credit incentives being mulled would encourage us to rebuild city slums, establish industries in ghettos and train hard-core unemployed, among other schemes. These are worthy goals. But tax incentives are not necessarily the best, cheapest or most efficient way to achieve them.

A major tax incentive flaw is that it does not save money. According to the Treasury Department, the government will lose some $40 billion this year through special tax provisions.

Incentives may or may not help attain certain goals. One thing they absolutely will not help attain is a balanced budget.

Another fault is that there is no way to determine how much tax incentives really accomplish. Depletion allowances for oil and other mineral exploration were intended to boost development of our natural resources. However, most such development probably would have taken place without incentives.

In the same vein, incentives to train hard-core unemployed could spur one company to undertake such a program. But it would be a needless windfall for the firm already into such a program because of local labor conditions.

Negative Effect Tax incentives can also encourage waste and inefficiency. Starting a particular industry in a ghetto may be intrinsically unsound, yet incentives can push it through. There it will remain for years after, a burden on the community and a drain on resources.

Expo '70 Is Winner

By TELJI SHIMIZU

OSAKA, Japan (UPI)—Heading now into the last two months of its six months' stand, Expo '70 looks like a money maker. Not everyone thought it would be.

When the government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato decided to host the 1970 world exposition, many Japanese thought it would not be a success. Even selection of Osaka for the first world's fair in Asia was considered bad.

Although Osaka is Japan's second largest city (population 3 million), it had never held a show of international scale such as the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo. But the government went ahead. Construction workers cleared Senri Hills of bamboo thickets and built pavilions on 815 acres.

The fair has been so successful since it opened March 15 that well over 30 million people visited it during the first three and a half months.

Expo officials, who had earlier predicted it would be a success if 50 million people attended, now confidently forecast that the number of visitors will total more than 55 million by the time the exposition closes Sept. 13.

A Japanese bank employee became the 30 millionth visitor to the fair June 23. He was honored with a 10-day trip to Europe plus $55 in cash.

If the number of visitors does go beyond the 50 million mark, the Expo Association gains nothing but profits.

The exposition, a $2.9 billion extravaganza, offers something for everybody. There are 117 pavilions, each built and operated by 77 countries, including the United States and the Soviet Union.

The overwhelming number of visitors to the fairland have been Japanese.

There is no way of keeping track of how many foreign visitors have attended. Among foreign visitors have been Emperor Haile Salassie of Ethiopia, Prince Charles of Great Britain, David Eisenhower and his wife, Julie, Mrs. Imelda R. Marcos, wife of Philippine President Ferdinand E. Marcos, and their three children, Indonesian President and Mrs. Suharto and the prime ministers of Canada, Australia and South Korea.

A lost child center, complete with computers and television cameras and employing 52 hostesses, has restored more than 10,000 children, ranging in age from 2 to 14, to their parents.

Hotel accommodations have not been as short as had been predicted. There are 12 Western-style hotels in Osaka and they have been able to fill the needs of foreign visitors most of the time.

Panel Advises Pentagon Cures

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A blue-ribbon panel's sweeping reorganization plan to strengthen civilian control over the U.S. military establishment has been met in Congress with some enthusiasm—but no commitments.

"They're talking about some of the things we've been talking about in Congress for years," Chairman George H. Mahon, D-Tex., of the House Appropriations Committee, said Tuesday. "I'm very enthusiastic about it although I might not agree with every recommendation."

The White House-appointed panel, whose chairman, Gilbert Fitzhugh, called the Pentagon "just an amorphous lump ... with nobody in charge of anything," released its findings

Tuesday. The 113 recommendations represent the most far-reaching Defense Department

Valued Rifle Is Stolen

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N. C. (AP) — Officials of the Kings Mountain National Park broke a year's silence Tuesday and announced that the Ferguson Rifle, one of the first breech loading rifles invented, and valued in five figures, has been missing from the museum at the park since April of 1969.

They said a model of the rifle was hung in its display case, and the theft was not made public in hopes the gun could be recovered.

The rifle was designed by British Maj. Patrick Ferguson in 1776, four years before he was killed in the battle of Kings Mountain. The battle was won by the Americans and was a turning point in the revolutionary war. The major is buried at the battle site.

The Ferguson rifle was bought by the National Park Service in 1937 from a family in Scotland.

Ben Loomar, superintendent of the Kings Mountain museum and park, said the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Interpol, the International Police Force, have been working on the theft of the rifle and of a Kentucky mountaineer muzzle-loader which was taken from the museum at the same time.

reorganization plan in 10 years.

Both Armed Services Committee chairmen, Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said their staffs are studying the 237-page proposal and declined to comment until they see the results.

A major proposal would put a civilian deputy secretary of defense in direct charge of U.S. war and other military operations, and of a centralized intelligence setup.

A related proposal, sure to stir controversy, would strip the Joint Chiefs of Staff of its military operations functions. These would go to a separate staff under a general or admiral directly accountable to the civilian deputy secretary.

The Fitzhugh panel did not say who should be the top military operations officer.

Putting the operations under a single officer was turned down by the Hoover Commission 20 years ago when the idea was opposed in Congress.

The military chiefs still would be uniformed heads of their respective services under the Fitzhugh panel proposal, and would retain authority to recruit, train and equip their Shooting stars are meteors usually no bigger than a pebble or grain of sand.

Fitzhugh acknowledged the joint chiefs are "less than enthusiastic about the panel's reorganization ideas."

The civilian operations chief would be one of three deputy secretaries, sharing the Pentagon's major responsibilities.

A second would be in charge of the major cost items: weapons and equipment research and procurement, military bases and manpower. A third would be in charge of weapons and equipment tests and evaluation.

The strategic missiles in all three services would go under control of one military command, all land-sea-air conventional forces under the control of another, and all supply and logistics under the control of a third.

These three military-wide commands would be directly responsible to the central military operations staff.

A dozen recommendations for curbing cost overruns include "fly before buy" testing of weapons before they are committed to full-scale production.

a policy already agreed to by Laird; elimination of nonessential and costly sophisticated gadgetry, and emphasis on modernizing existing weapons systems rather than scrapping them for new ones.

Two of the 14 Fitzhugh panel members dissented. Wilfred J. McNeil, former Pentagon comptroller, said instead of centralizing decision-making authority, the recommendations "should go in the other direction."

Fitzhugh, board chairman of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., said about 90 per cent of the plan could be carried out without approval of Congress.

But Laird has made a point of keeping good relations with Congress, which controls his purse strings, and is likely to seek its blessing even on sections that do not require it.

TRIO OF CRUSADERS . . . try their hand at cement mixing. Denise Speight (left), Carolyn Dawson and Virginia Mills, shown above, were three of those on hand last Saturday to lend a help in the Helping Hand Project to restore Allen

But everyone is in his shelter and there is no one left topside to buy ground beef. The first day, the supermarkets drop it a penny a pound. Still no buyers. The next day, 2 cents a pound. Still nothing. On the fourth day with still no business, the supermarkets put large signs in their windows announcing a sale on ground beef (the same price it was before the raise).

When this happens, President Nixon presses the all-clear button and everyone comes up from his shelter.

any number of different ways.

For example, King Hussein of Jordan has not yet responded. Diplomats here think the king will go along with the cease-fire. But because the Jordanian government would also have to end commando raids into the West Bank during the cease-fire, the situation along the Jordan River is perilous.

Hussein was almost overthrown during the brief civil war between his own army and the Palestinian commandos two months ago. One result of that revolt was a new agreement under which the government promised to coordinate its army with the commandos, giving the Palestinians far more freedom of action. But if he accepted the temporary cease-fire, King Hussein would also have to silence the Commandos who, unlike Hussein himself, want not a settlement but protracted warfare with Israel.

Worse still is Syria, which has never even accepted the November, 1967, UN resolution calling for a guarantee of Israel's independence and sovereignty and withdrawal of Israeli troops from territories occupied in the six-day war. Of all the territorial adjustments to be made as part of a settlement, the Israeli-occupied Golan Heights in Syria poses the most intractable deadlock.

But Mr. Nixon is playing his bold peace game one play at a time. The next move is to get Israel itself into the game on the U.S. side.

ASC Candidates Be Nominated

North Carolina farmers will soon have the opportunity to nominate by petition candidates for ASC community committee posts.

The nominating period will begin July 28 and close August 17. "This year we hope farmers will nominate by petition full slates for all communities. A full slate means a minimum of six candidates to choose from in electing a community committee of three members and two alternates," Stacy J. Evans, Pitt County Executive Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said.

All ASC community committees are elected annually. The newly-elected community committeemen will convene shortly after their September election to elect one new ASC County Committee member and two alternates. County Committee members serve three-year terms, with one new member elected each year. Alternates are elected annually.

Evans explained that the County ASC Committee administers agricultural programs such as marketing quotas and acreage allotments, price support loans and purchases, ACP, and other farm action programs at the county level, dealing directly with producers. Community committees not only elect County Committee members and alternates, but also help the County Committee administer these programs.

"There's no red tape tied up in nominating a community committee candidate by petition," Evans explained. "All that's really needed is a sheet of paper naming a candidate — and six or more signatures by eligible voters on that paper."

Petitions are limited to one nominee each, but voters may sign as many petitions as they want.

A farmer who is an owner, tenant, or sharecropper is an eligible voter in the community where his farm interest is. He can only nominate and vote in one community, however, even if he has farm interests in more than one.

Evans pointed out that if at least six eligible candidates are nominated by petitions submitted by farmers in their community, no other nominations need be made.

However, if less than six are nominated by petition, the incumbent community committee will complete the slate, selecting candidates actively engaged in farming.

If fewer than six candidates are nominated by petition, and there is no minority group member among those nominated, then at least one representative of this minority group will be nominated when the community committee fills the slate. However, if a full slate of six persons has been nominated by petition, no nominations of any kind can be made by the community committee.

Can Pipe-Smokers Be Called Selfish Folk?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why are pipe smokers the most selfish and egotistical of all men? My gentleman friend recently gave up cigarettes, and he's taken up a pipe instead. It may be easier on his lungs, but it's harder on me.

He is so vain he doesn't want to spoil his silhouette with pockets bulging with a tobacco pouch, two pipes, a goodly supply of matches, pipe cleaners, etc. so when we're together he asks me to carry his smoking gear in my purse. I don't mind, really, but when we're at a party I have to be right at his elbow like a "servant" in case he wants something.

Also his tobacco has a sickeningly "sweet" aroma and it smells like cookies are burning. Please print this with your advice. He thinks you're the grooviest. BACK MULE

DEAR BACK MULE: Advice for whom? Your gentleman friend seems to be doing all right if he can load his lady down with the smoking gear and have her at his elbow in case he needs something. If you feel abused don't depend on "smoke signals." Tell him in plain English.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 40-year-old bachelor who feels that he should live with a woman before considering marriage. He claims that two people don't really know each other until they live together.

I believe that two people can get to know each other well enough without living together, if enough time is allowed.

I realize that they will not know everything about each other, but they'll know enough to decide whether they want to be married to each other.

I would appreciate your opinion in print.

BEING COURTED

DEAR BEING: I'm with you. Tell him it's nix on the undress rehearsals.

DEAR ABBY: I have heard of bridal showers for a bride, but here's a new one: A shower for a groom-to-be!

He is going to be married in the town of the bride, which is customary, which is 2,000 miles from here, and none of his family knows the bride or her people. The groom is a nice enough fellow, but I have never heard of giving a "shower" for a groom, have you? SHOOK IN MONTANA

DEAR SHOOK: Yes. But I have also heard of people selling "tickets" to showers, which doesn't make it "proper" in my book. There is entirely too much "begging" for money and gifts, which should be voluntary. The only solution to stamping out such tasteless practices is to decline to be a part of it.

DEAR ABBY: I am dating a gentleman who seems very much interested in me. He's charming, well-to-do and attractive. We're not kids, he's 50 plus and I'm a few years younger.

Last evening we were having dinner in a very fashionable spot when a trio of musicians strolled by. An accordion, guitar, and violin. They asked if we had any "favorites," whereupon my gentleman friend replied, "No. We like them all." I then said, "Do you know 'Chasing Rainbows'?"

They stood by our table and played "Chasing Rainbows." Afterwards my escort smiled and said, "Thank you... that was very nice."

I was terribly embarrassed. I thought he should have given them something. On the way home I mentioned it and he said he didn't think it was necessary, since the musicians were paid to play anyway. One word led to another and a heated argument followed. Do you think I was wrong to bring it up? And isn't it customary to tip musicians under these circumstances? RAINBOW CHASER

DEAR CHASER: I think you were wrong to have made an issue of it. And yes, it is customary to "tip" musicians for playing requests, even though the musicians sometimes solicit them. P. S. A lesson might have been learned from this. Don't expect a "pot of gold" at the end of THAT rainbow.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Doolittle Says His Luck Has Been Pushed Enough

By JACK V. FOX
LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Jimmy Doolittle leered back in his swivel chair and thought for a few seconds about the question.

Does he envy the young Americans who are flying to the moon?

"No, I don't, and I'll tell you why," the tough little general said. "I boxed when I was younger. I enjoyed boxing. As a matter of fact I was feather-weight intercollegiate champion when I was at Berkeley."

"That was —no, it can't be — that was 48 years ago. That rocks me back on my heels. Now at the age of 73 I have no desire to get into the ring. By the same token I have no desire to go to the moon and for about the same reason."

A Famous Exploit

Of all the lustrous names that came out of World War II — MacArthur, Eisenhower, Halsey, Bradley —none shone more brightly than that of Doolittle. That war ended 25 years ago but the older generation remembers that the first piece of good news in that great struggle was Jimmy Doolittle's raid on Tokyo.

Sixteen B25 bombers took off from the deck of the carrier Hornet the morning of April 18, 1942, and struck the war's first blow against Japan proper. Of the 80 men aboard, six were killed and eight taken prisoner. The majority managed to make it safely to buses in China.

Does Doolittle consider that the high point of his career?

"Well, it certainly got the most publicity," the retired lieutenant general replied. "I still see that movie, 'Thirty Seconds over Tokyo,' on the late late show on television."

Survivors Gather Annually

Thirty-two of the original 80 still survive and they held a reunion this year —as they have for many years. The latest gathering was in Florida.

"We drink a toast to those who have made the supreme sacrifice," Doolittle said.

"There are 80 silver goblets in a case which is kept at the Air Force Academy. Each year they send it to the reunion with a cadet guard and each year we toast those who are gone.

"Their goblets are turned upside down. The goblets that are right side up are living members. They also gave us a bottle of old Napoleon brandy. And the last two that survive will open that bottle and make a toast to the 78 who are gone."

On The Younger Generation

Doolittle's grandson, James H. Doolittle III, is now serving as a fighter pilot in Southeast Asia.

What does he think of the younger generation in general?

"Young people live in a very complex society," he said. "I feel they tend to see things either black or white, good or bad, and it is not until they have lived quite a while that they realize there is a great deal of grey between the black and white and the grey is lighter or darker according to your viewpoint."

"They see that our system isn't perfect. But some of them are for destruction instead of construction. I believe in protest but I don't believe in protest that assures the rights of some but in so doing denies the rights of others."

On The War

What about the American presence in Vietnam?

"Well, I question the wisdom of going into Vietnam in the first place. But once we were there our course should have been to achieve prompt and decisive victory. But political decisions prevailed."

"I'm not smart enough to know just what should be done now. I support the president 100 per cent in what he is doing—anything we can do to help the boys who are there and those who have been taken prisoner."

Doolittle is best remembered for the Tokyo raid. It is frequently forgotten that he was one of the ace flyers in the pioneer days of aviation, winning the MacKay, Harmon, Bendix and Thompson trophies. He also went on in World War II to command the 12th Air Force in North Africa, the 15th Air Force in Italy and the 8th Air Force both in England and Okinawa.

"Someone asked me the other day if I would like to live my life over," Doolittle said. "I said no, I wouldn't. I've had a very interesting life. I've done some colossally stupid things and came out lucky. I could never be that lucky again."

The general is now on the board of directors of the Mutual of Omaha Insurance. His office is on the seventh floor of a building in the Wilshire district and he climbs up and down the steps every day to keep trim.

Doolittle also is a member of the Plowshare committee of the Atomic Energy Commission, which works on peaceful uses of nuclear energy, and is a member of the space and missiles system advisory committee. He travels a great deal, tries to spend some time every year in Alaska hunting and fishing.

"I don't believe anyone can be happy if he has some usefulness in him and doesn't employ some part of that in behalf of his fellow man," Doolittle said. "That may sound a little corny but that is my sincere personal belief."

Still Dedicated To Aviation

Doolittle believes commercial aviation has a bright future. He recently was invited to take the controls of the new Boeing 747 airliner during a test flight.

"I thought it would handle like a truck but the controls are as delicate as those on a small plane. It's a beautiful aircraft. The pilot asked me if I would like to land it and I said, no, sir, I've pushed my luck far enough in my lifetime."

He and his wife live in an apartment in Santa Monica and his greatest delight is taken in two great-grandchildren, aged 4 and 2.

"The youngest came into the kitchen the other day when my wife was cooking dinner and the first thing you know he had turned on all the gas, full burner."

That's a Doolittle for you.

Prefers Oxen Over Mules For Garden

By BILL HUDSON
Associated Press Writer
PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (AP) — There are two reasons why folks might stop to watch Ellis Gearhart plow his garden in mountainous Eastern Kentucky.

One is Buck, the other John—a yoke of 3-year-old oxen which Gearhart prefers over a horse or mule. They're probably the only ones in an area where 50 years ago these draft animals were used to transport heavy gas and oil drilling equipment from the valleys to the hillsides.

"I've got a wagon, a sled and a plow, work 'em to anything, even lay off ground," explained Gearhart. "They have to be broke pretty good to lay off ground and plow the rows before planting crops."

"I think they work better than mules. Last year I raised three acres of corn with them."

These 1,000-pound Jerseys responded satisfactorily to their long training under Gearhart.

"I can catch 'em anywhere," he said. "They're broke the old fashioned way. It takes about two years to train 'em, to make 'em mind."

"I work 'em single, or I work 'em double," he continued, "just use a yoke."

The 60-year-old Gearhart hinted at a sort of natural attachment for the oxen—"My dad use to have them."

So, about two-and-one-half years ago, Gearhart bought the two steers, one in Mount Sterling and the other "up the river" in Floyd County. The cost of keeping the work cattle is about the same as feeding a horse or mule.

Gearhart figures the oxen could work for 25 years "if you take good care of 'em. I know a fellow that had a yoke that long."

During the winter, the oxen are kept in a barn. "Feed 'em dry feed and they stand up pretty good," said Gearhart, "but they don't take much to grass."

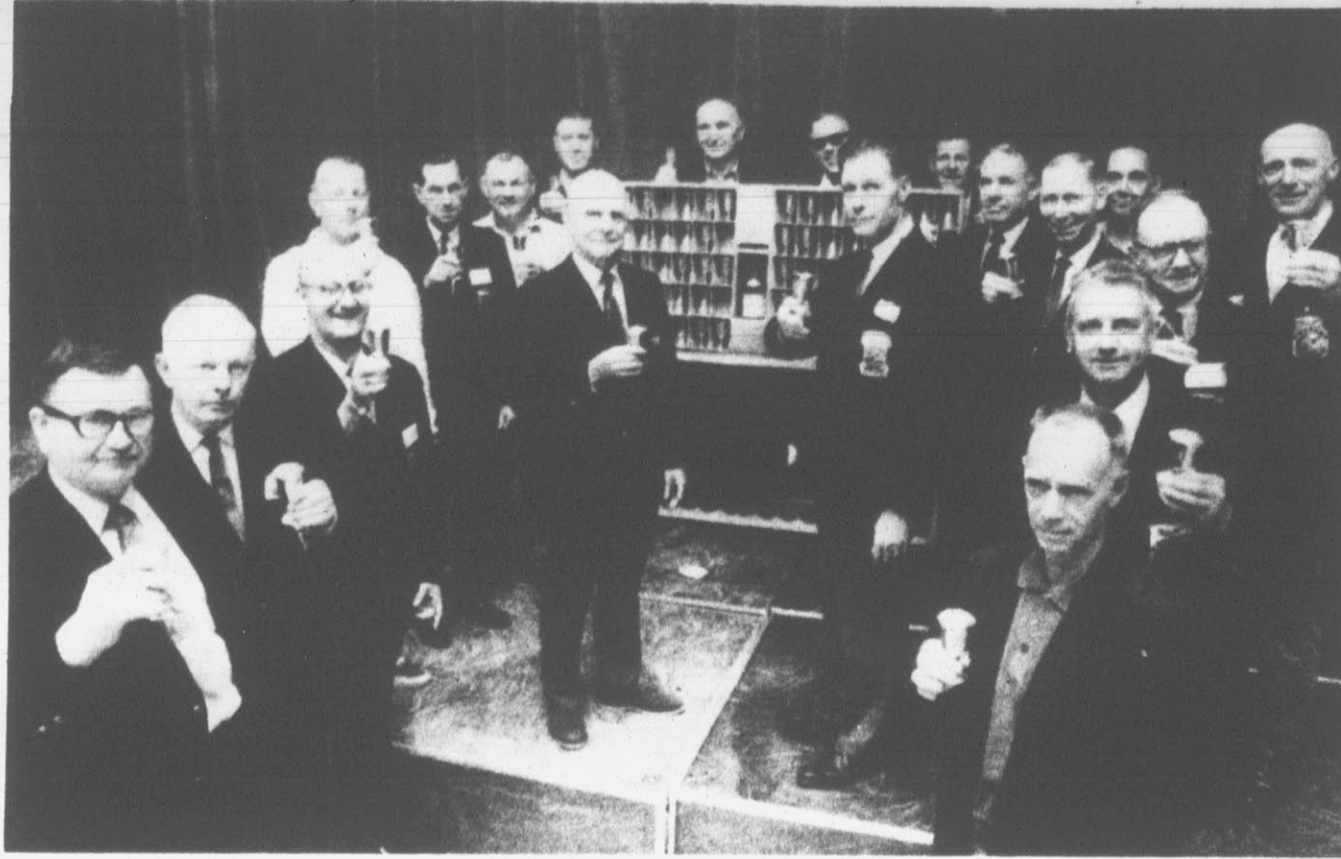

Gearhart is a mechanic at Hueysville, about 25 miles from Prestonsburg, and his hobbies include antique cars and old mechanical devices, in addition to his oxen.

"I think a lot of them. There's been hundreds of pictures taken," he said in attesting to the popularity of the animals.

Computerized Education For Institutions

CHICAGO (AP) — Computerized educational control in planning school programs will enable administrators to make decisions based on information from many sources, an educator here says.

Dr. Benjamin C. Willis, former Chicago superintendent of schools, said a new low-cost computer system, "The Educator," is specially designed for educational institutions. The system, produced by Compu-matics Educational Services, Inc., computes the file of information for the logistical operation of school facilities, fiscal planning and cost projections and designs courses.

"Those of us in the education business have to face up to the fact that we are very late in recognizing that the computer will and is affecting the operation of schools and school systems," Willis said.

ECU Has Largest Music Camp In State

By FRANCEINE PERRY
Under the bright lights of the concert stage, the musicians sit with their instruments poised for playing, as the conductor steps up to the podium, glances at the score before him and lifts his baton.

This is a fairly usual occurrence at the East Carolina University School of Music, but this particular conductor is about 14 years old, and the members of his orchestra are wearing tee-shirts and sneakers, and several of them have braces on their teeth.

The scene is an afternoon conducting class at the 18th annual Summer Music Camp at East Carolina University, where about 250 junior and senior high school students are experiencing an intensive two weeks of classes in band, choir, piano performance, conducting, arranging, composition and theory.

Among the special events in the camp calendar are demonstrations of the classic organ and the Moog electronic music synthesizer by ECU professors. And there are performances. The camp presents two public concerts and several recitals for the general public.

A final concert will be given Friday, July 31, at 3:30 p. m. in Wright Auditorium on the ECU campus.

Besides their work in music, many of the campers have classes in art as well — painting, sculpture or crafts.

And there is recreation for the free time remaining. The campers can swim, play tennis, attend free movies on the campus and dance at special dances to the music of their own stage band.

"There's never a dull moment," says Leslie Glenn, a flutist. Cathy Manley, an oboist, agrees wholeheartedly, and adds that the variety of activities, musical and recreational, is "very well organized." They really keep you busy," she laughs.

And that's the way these girls, both of Asheville, like it. This is her third year that they have come to the camp, and as veteran campers, they have noticed certain improvements. "The food is better," says Cathy, "and there are more teachers."

The camp has attracted young musicians from all over North Carolina and Virginia, West Virginia, Florida, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, and even Kansas.

Upon arrival, each student is given a private audition for placement in one of the bands or other classes, according to his level of achievement and ability.

Dr. Herbert Carter of the ECU School of Music faculty directs the camp, with the aid of a large teaching and administrative staff. Classes are taught in various fields. Besides the courses in arranging, conducting, theory and styles in music, there are performance classes in piano, choir, percussion, reed and brass instruments. Some students take private lessons in their strongest fields.

Three bands have been formed from the instrumentalists among the campers — the Blue Band, or most advanced band, conducted by Carter; the Green Band, led by Patricia Laye, supervisor of music for the Asheville city schools; and the Red Band, under the direction of Lee Wales, supervisor of music for Virginia's Prince William County schools.

Band rehearsals are held daily, both full band and sectionals, with the students themselves occasionally conducting.

Piano students attend private and group classes, and practice their technique in a specially-equipped room with small Fender-Rhodes electronic keyboards.

made an agreement to limit its use of the sewage plant and that it has abused those limits.

The Springers invited others to join the suit and said any exemplary damages would be donated to a foundation to be set up to "maintain the natural ecology of the Yadkin River."

Damage To Three Cars

A wreck Tuesday morning on Washington Street just south of its intersection with Tenth left three cars damaged and charges preferred on one of the drivers involved.

Investigators said the mishap involved cars driven by Richard Hall Jennings Jr. of Rt. 5, Greenville, Jeanette Parker Artis of 602-B Roosevelt Street, and a parked vehicle owned by Thurston E. Rowe of 2612 S. Wright Road.

Police, who charged Jeanette Parker Artis with failing to use reasonable care to avoid an accident, estimated damages at $400 to the Jennings car, $10 to the Artis vehicle, and $20 to the parked car.

No injuries were listed as a result of the accident, reported at 7:50 a. m.

An estimated $350 in damages resulted from an accident Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 at the W. Fifth-Ford Street intersection.

Involved were cars driven by Hildred Wilson Jr. of 3-Heckman Drive, Jersey City, N. J., and William Holden Langley of Rt. 6, Greenville.

Investigating officers estimated damages at $300 to the Wilson car and $50 to the Langley vehicle. Langley was charged by police with failing to yield right of way. No injuries were reported.

Tobacco Barn Fire Toll Slowly Rises

With the toll of tobacco barns lost and damaged slowly but steadily accumulating during the peak of the harvest season, Pitt County Fire Marshal Mike Worthington reports the total barn fires known to date as 29.

"This is exactly the same number reported this date last year," Worthington noted. "So we're at least maintaining the same loss rate, although we had hoped to show some improvement this summer."

The 11 barn fires reported for the past week, and the extent of estimated damages are:

July 21 — 802 p. m., the R. B. Edmondson farm between Bethel and Robersonville, $2,000 loss, for barn and tobacco.

July 22 — 7:20 p. m. on the John Williams farm near Farmville. Damage to tobacco and barn estimated at $400.

July 24 — Total loss of $2,000 for a barn on the George Beckman farm north of Bethel.

July 26 — Ayden Fire Department answered an alarm at 11:45 a. m. The name of the farm or owner is not known. The loss was total, at $2,000. At 4:45 p. m., on Highway N.C. 102, a large barn on the Clyde Loftin farm near Ayden burned with a loss of $2,250.

July 27 — Damage amounting to $1,000 was reported for a barn on the Beaman Farm on highway 264A east of Farmville at 3:05 a. m. At 11:24 p. m., a barn was a total loss on the Carl Shirly farm on highway 264A east of Farmville.

July 28 — Three total losses amounting to $2,000 each resulted from barn fires on the Cotton Dail farm at 9:30 a. m., off highway 43 near Falkland. At 12:39 p. m. on the Beulah Cannon farm south of Grimesland; and the J. P. Raspberry farm near Gritton.

Worthington notes that 15 of the 29 barn fires to date are total losses, with both the barn and the tobacco being destroyed.

Ex-Student Suing East Carolina Univ.

NEW BERN — A suit was filed in Federal Court here yesterday by a former East Carolina University student charging that he was unconstitutionally denied his right to student teach and was thus prevented from earning his livelihood in his chosen profession.

Named as defendants were the Teacher Education and Career Committee of East Carolina University, composed by Tom Chambliss, Frank Motley, Harold McGrath, Ralph Berrasto, Katye Sowell, Mary Jo Bratton, and Moses Sheppard, and the administration, with Dr. Leo Jenkins as University president, and Robert Morgan as chairman of the Board of Trustees.

Robert Lai, a New York native, says he believes he was denied the right to student teach because of his arrests on two charges of possession of marijuana, both of which resulted in verdicts of not guilty.

The plaintiff was a full-time student at the time of the charges in 1968 and he said he was allowed to return to school and was told that, if found not guilty, he would be able to student teach.

His complaint says his application to the committee to student teach was submitted in January and was rejected two weeks later. He appealed it to the Faculty Senate Review Board and learned, not by official notice, but by word of mouth that it was rejected.

The complaint says his "need for immediate relief because of due dates of loans obtained to complete his education and further indebtedness and loss of prospective wages" is stated. Some $12,000 in damages is asked.

The suit contends that the plaintiff was not allowed to argue his case before the Teacher Education Committee and that no reason was given for his non-eligibility for student teaching. It maintains he met all academic requirements and has no record of misconduct.

To obtain an A certificate and receive a state license to teach, student teaching must be successfully completed.

The complaint said Lai told the Faculty Review Board that he would maintain any appearance that he was asked to, if allowed to student teach, and that if the principal at the school where he was to student teach felt he should not be allowed to student teach because of his arrests that he would abide by this decision.

The federal suit is being brought by Greenville attorney, Jerry Paul. The case has not yet been put on the court docket.

Brewery Is Suit Target
GREENSBORO (AP) — The Joseph Schlitz Brewing Co. has been named defendant in a $2 million damage suit which charges that the company's Winston-Salem plant is responsible for excessive waste being dumped into the Yadkin River.

The suit was filed in U. S. Middle District Court in Greensboro Tuesday by David and Dianna Springer of Rt. 4, Mocksville, owners of an 800-acre farm between the north and south forks of the Yadkin River.

Three massive fish kills have occurred on the Yadkin in the last two months. Pollution control officials blamed them on the discharge of improperly treated sewage from Winston-Salem's treatment plant.

The Springers are asking $1.5 million in exemplary damages and $500,000 actual damages. They also want a permanent injunction enjoining Schlitz from discharging its industrial waste into the Winston-Salem sewage system until the system has a capacity of 36-million-gallons a day.

The suit claims Winston-Salem's Archie Elledge sewage plant has a treatment capacity of only 18 million gallons a day and that it was already operating beyond capacity prior to the Schlitz operations.

The suit also claims Schlitz

Helped Cut Fire Loss

Quick thinking on the part of a neighbor was instrumental in saving Robert Peele's home from possible extensive damage on Monday according to Pitt County Fire Marshal Mike Worthington.

The neighbor, whose name Worthington did not know, noticed flames coming from the bathroom window of the Peele home. He immediately called the Stokes Fire Department which responded to the alarm at 2:04 p. m.

While waiting for the fire fighting trucks to arrive, the neighbor fought the fire with a garden hose. His prompt action, in first calling the fire department and then fighting the fire with available means was credited by firefighters with keeping possible damages to a minimum.

Estimated damage to the home, where the fire was confined to the bathroom, has been set at $400. No one was home at the time of the fire.

KINSTON — Kinston's American Legion team took a 5-3 victory over Greenville yesterday to wrap up their best-of-five series, three games to none in the Area One Tournament finals.

Kinston now continues in play, meeting the winner of the Wilmington-Richmond County series in the first round of the state playoffs.

Greenville put on a rally after six scoreless innings, and eventually tied Kinston at 3-3 in the top of the eighth, but couldn't hold them. Kinston came up with two more in the bottom of the eighth, and then set Greenville down in order in the ninth to claim the title.

Greenville offered its first threat in the third inning, when Allan Wilson singled and moved to second on an infield out. But it was the only threat the locals got until the seventh, when they finally pushed a run over.

Kinston, meanwhile, had been busy scoring twice in the first inning. Allan Sasser led off and was hit by a pitch. Mike Hatcher singled to deep short and Richard Sugg moved both runners up with a sacrifice.

It stayed that way until the sixth, with Kinston threatened again, but was unsuccessful. Don Hatcher singled to open the inning, and moved up on the first out of the frame, only to die at second.

In the top of the seventh, Greenville finally managed to score a run. Jimmy Paige reached on an error. Ronnie Leggett singled, and Wilson walked, leading the bases with two outs.

Greenville rallied again, this time getting two, tying it at 3-3. Russ Smith led off with a double to right and moved to third on an out by Joey Moore.

By RALPH BERNSTEIN Associated Press Sports Writer PHILADELPHIA (AP) — National Football League owners broke off contract talks with the Players Association Tuesday night and immediately were charged by the players with bargaining in bad faith.

The NFL is running out of time with the first exhibition game scheduled for Aug. 7 in Los Angeles. Nine more are slated for Aug. 8.

Lifting the ban would test the strength of the association, which has directed veteran players to stay away from camp until the negotiation over pension benefits is resolved.

It also was learned after the five-day wall of silence which prevailed over the talks was lifted, that money still was the key issue. The association wants the owners to boost their four-year $18 million dollar pension contribution offer.

The Players' Association committee of president John Mackey of the Baltimore Colts, Ernie Wright of the Cincinnati Bengals and Ken Bowman of the Green Bay Packers was upset by the owners' recess move.

Both L. League Teams In Wins

ROBERSONVILLE — Both the North State and Tar Heel Little Leagues from Greenville emerged victorious yesterday in the second round of the Area II tournament.

The Tar Heel All-Stars rolled past Warren County, 18-2, while the North State All-Stars eased by Roanoke Rapids, 2-0, on a one-hitter by Kelly Heath.

Today, the Americans meet the Tar Heel Stars at 3 p.m., while the North Staters take on the National team from Bragg at 5 p.m.

In the opener, the game was scoreless for the first two innings, then Warren County came up with two runs to take the lead. Larry Richardson reached on a fielder's choice and William Coleman walked.

But in the bottom of the inning, the Tar Heels ignited for four runs and the lead, which they never lost. Greg Sasser bunted his way aboard and James Weeks walked.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Silence continued Wednesday to surround the latest of two operations performed on coach Vince Lombardi of the Washington Redskins.

Scant detail has been released by the Redskins on the Monday operation, the second in a month Lombardi has undergone. On June 27, the 57-year-old coach had a tumor, said to be non-malignant at the time, and two feet of colon removed.

The only report issued by the Redskins Tuesday was that Lombardi "is resting comfortably."

The Washington Post said in its Wednesday morning editions, however, that Lombardi will not return to this coaching duties this season. The Post story quoted doctors familiar with Lombardi's illness as saying the surgery would prevent his return in time to coach the team.

Pittsburgh, New York Win In Different Ways

Players Divided Among 19 Different Schools

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the New York Mets continued their power struggle in the National League East with a little power play—Dave Giusti turned it off in Cincinnati and Donn Clendenon turned it on in New York.

In Cincinnati, where there is seldom a shortage of power with the free-swinging Reds, Giusti came in from the bullpen and short-circuited them in the ninth inning as the Pirates slipped off with a 4-3 victory Tuesday night.

In New York, however, where power-hitting and electrical—is normally at a premium during the summer, Clendenon sent a surge through the Mets with two three-run homers as he led them in a 12-2 rout over San Francisco.

The victories kept the Pirates one game ahead of the Mets.

In other games, Los Angeles downed Philadelphia 6-2, Montreal nipped San Diego 5-4, St. Louis trimmed Atlanta 6-4 and, in the afternoon, Houston hammered the Chicago Cubs 10-4.

In the American League, Baltimore axed the Chicago White Sox 4-2, Minnesota topped Cleveland 5-2, Milwaukee halted Washington 5-1, Kansas City nudged Detroit 7-6, Oakland downed Boston 6-4 and the New York Yankees nipped California 6-5.

Giusti, a retreat from Houston and St. Louis who was acquired last winter and marched to the top of the Pittsburgh bullpen, turned off the switch in Cincinnati in the ninth inning.

Bruce Dal Canton, 6-1, another bullpener making only his second start of the season for the injury-riddled Pirates, had stopped the slugging Reds on six hits and held a 4-2 lead entering the ninth. But a single by pinch-hitter Jim Stewart knocked him out.

Joe Gibbon relieved, gave up a loop single to Bobby Tolan and a bunt single to Pete Rose and left in favor of Giusti.

Giusti got Tony Perez, with his 30 homers and 94 runs bat-

Charlie O. Likes Color

MONTREAL (AP) — Charles O. Finley's suggestion that baseball needs colored bases didn't get very much attention at Tuesday's major league meeting.

It was one of the items that the baseball owners didn't even discuss as the baseball czars shelved several matters and referred others to study.

Finley, the owner of Oakland A's of the American League, said baseball needs a blue bag at first, a red bag at second and so on. Why? No special reason. It is just that Charlie O. likes to keep things moving.

The first day of the two-day sessions were quite uneventful but Chub Feeney, president of the National League, Joe Cronin, president of the American League, and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn promised some interesting news after today's joint session.

Among subjects discussed Tuesday was a proposal by the Montreal Expos of the National League that Canadian amateur baseball be put on an equal footing with that of the United States in terms of grants from the major leagues.

At present, only U.S. amateur baseball benefits from the major leagues' financial program. Kuhn said discussion of the Montreal proposal was favorable.

Two other subject which did not get discussed were a proposed ceiling of 25 on free agents drafted each June and permission to trade future draft choices as in other sports. Both were referred to the winter meeting to be held in December because more study and legislation was required.

Kuhn said there was no discussion of the all-star selection results. This year, fans were allowed to pick the all-stars by ballots distributed across Canada and the United States.

"I anticipate the same method next year," said Kuhn. "We'd like to see the nominations and printing done at a later date so that no one who should be considered is left off the ballot."

ted in, to hit a sacrifice fly; walked Johnny Bench, with his 34 homers and 97 RBI intentionally, and then struck out Bernie Carbo and got Lee May on a fly.

Bill Mazerowski had given the Pirates a 3-0 lead in the second inning with a three-run homer, his fifth, and consecutive doubles by Richie Hebner and Al Oliver in the fifth provided the decisive run as the Pirates won their fifth game in six tries, and their first all year in Cincinnati.

Jim McGlothlin, 11-5, took the loss, but it didn't hurt Cincinnati's lead in the West, which stands at 11½ games over Los Angeles.

With the electrical power already cut in humid, heat-stricken New York and the Mets little known for their muscle, regardless of the weather, Clendenon really turned it on in one of his few starts against a right-hander, Rich Robertson.

He hit a sacrifice fly in the first inning and then blasted a three-run homer in the third for a 5-0 lead. Then, against a lefty in the fourth, he hit his 12th of the season with two on for seven RBI.

Joining Clendenon was the most powerless Met of all, little Bud Harrelson, who stroked a single, double and a triple, scoring three runs and driving in two.

The recipient of all this was Jim McAndrew, 6-8, who

All-Star Game Most Unusual

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — In the words of Otto Graham, dauntless coach of the underdog collegiate squad, the 37th All-Star Football Game will be played at Soldier Field Friday night as "the most unusual in many, many years."

Graham's 56-member collegiate squad and the pro champion Kansas City Chiefs will clash with 11th hour preparation and inspiration after the Chicago Tribune Charity classic nearly was cancelled by the current National Football League owner-player labor dispute.

"We have had only one full scrimmage, but as a group we have the talent to give the Chiefs a heck of a football game and with a couple of breaks we can win it," said Graham, whose All-Stars barely were shaded, 26-24, by the New York Jets last year.

Because the Chiefs didn't get permission from their NFL player colleagues to begin practice until last Saturday, the oddsmakers have been slow in posting an official "line" on the game.

The Chiefs, who smothered the Minnesota Vikings 23-7 in the Super Bowl game last January, may hold considerably less than the customary two-touchdown favoritism accorded the pros in a series they dominate with a 25-9-2 record.

The game will be telecast nationally via ABC beginning at 9:30 p.m., EDT.

Graham, whose All-Stars recorded the last two collegiate triumphs—in 1963 over the Green Bay Packers and in 1968 over the Detroit Lions—said his troubles have been a lot different than in previous years.

Last year, for instance, Graham had to get along without such superstars as O. J. Simpson, of Southern California and LeRoy Keyes of Purdue, who were dickering for big pro contracts.

stopped the Giants on five hits and fanned Willie Mays three straight times, giving Mays six strike outs in a row before he was taken out.

The Dodgers ruined Jim Bunning's try for his 100th National League victory, which along with his 118 triumphs in the American League would have made him the only other pitcher beside Cy Young to win 100 in each league.

But the Dodgers, handing Philly only its third loss in 13 games since the All-Star break, scored twice in the first on Wes Parker's double and an infield out and twice in the fifth on Maury Wills' single and Parker's sacrifice fly.

Ron Fairly's second homer of the game broke a 4-4 deadlock in the eighth inning for Montreal. He had hit a three-run shot in the third. Al Ferrara singled in one run and then tied the game in the fifth with a homer for San Diego.

Vic Davalillo drove in three runs with two singles and Bob Gibson, 13-5, staggered in with a 12-hitter for St. Louis, which beat Jim Nash, 10-3, for only its fourth victory in 21 games.

Jim Wynn's three-run homer got Houston started and Johnny Edwards and Doug Rader added two-run shots for the Astros' 11th victory in 14 games. Al Spangler and Ron Santo homered for the Cubs.

opposing talented Len Dawson of the Chiefs, are Dennis Shaw of San Diego State and Purdue's Mike Phipps.

"Both Shaw and Phipps are fine quarterbacks and the one you see come out to start will be the winner of a coin toss just before the game," said Graham.

Graham minimized his squad's apparent advantage in drilling since July 10 in contrast to the Chiefs' practice start last weekend.

"Don't anybody feel sorry for the Chiefs because they got a late start," said the former star quarterback of the old Cleveland Browns.

"Hank Stram always has things very well organized. Most of his players live in Kansas City and have been working out three and four hours a day on their own. I'm sure they'll be ready."

Playing the All-Stars is part of the package of winning the Super Bowl game," Stram said.

"It is the reward for winning football's biggest prize. It is the only big one we haven't participated in as a team."

The boss of the Chiefs doesn't seem disturbed by the fact the squad wasn't able to practice until last Saturday because of the stalemate over a contract between the National Football League Players Association and the 26 club owners. Veterans on the other 25 clubs still are idle.

In fact, Stram is tapering off on the Chiefs' workouts. The tapering off process began Tuesday and only one practice session was scheduled today instead of the two originally planned. Stram said only a brief workout will be held Thursday night in Soldier Field, scene of the annual conflict between the best team in pro football and a glittering array of aces from last year's college graduates.

Stram had the marks of a man who is confident and optimistic as he put the finishing touches on the Chiefs' preparation. "We wouldn't be playing this game if we weren't ready to win it," he said.

After it's all over, the Chiefs will break camp if the players-owners contract squabble isn't settled. It agreement has been reached, the Chiefs will return to Liberty and start work on Aug. 8 exhibition game with the Lions in Detroit.

Stram makes a habit of saying nothing about the odds on a game.

Stram's two quarterbacks opposing talented Len Dawson of the Chiefs, are Dennis Shaw of San Diego State and Purdue's Mike Phipps.

Both Shaw and Phipps are fine quarterbacks and the one you see come out to start will be the winner of a coin toss just before the game," said Graham.

Stram: Game Is Extra Reward

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

LIBERTY, Mo. AP — Coach Hank Stram had his usual "no comment" today about the Kansas City Chiefs being a 10-point favorite to win Friday night's clash in Chicago with the College All-Stars but he did say "there's nothing at all about this game that bothers me."

Stram makes a habit of saying nothing about the odds on a game.

Playing the All-Stars is part of the package of winning the Super Bowl game," Stram said.

The staff of Coach Mike McGee, East Carolina University's new football mentor, stand to gain the biggest benefit from the Boys' Home All Star Bowl Game, here Saturday at 8 p.m. in Ficken Stadium.

For McGee and his coaches have gathered in the largest number of both scholarship and just plain free choices among the 54 boys assembled here for the game.

A total of five of the players have been awarded grants-in-aid to East Carolina, and 11 altogether are headed toward Pirate-land.

Next down the line comes N. C. State with four scholarships among six entering students.

Livingstone College has recruited four, while Elon also is getting four on grants, with one other going there also.

Appalachian has two players coming there way, one now on grant, while Guilford has one non-scholarship student planning to come there.

Elizabeth City State will pick up two, both on grant, while one student is headed for Chowan, without a grant. Two others, both on grant will go to Johnson C. Smith, while Davidson has awarded a scholarship to one.

Three players have made Wake Forest their choice, and two have signed grants-in-aid to Meadowbrook Wins Title

Meadowbrook trounced Black Jack last night, 14 to 4, to gain the Church Softball Championship.

Meadowbrook broke Black Jack's back in the first inning by scoring ten runs. Benny Garrett scored what proved to be the winning run. Meadowbrook also came up with two in the third and got single runs in the fifth and sixth. The runs in the fifth and sixth came on home runs by Bobby Harris and John Huber.

Black Jack scored single runs in the first, third, fourth, and sixth. Two of Black Jack's runs came on round trippers by Talmadge Adams and J. T. Mills.

N. C. State: North, Mike Bunch, Charles Young, Ronald Sewell; South, John Morris.

the Baptist school. North Carolina Central has signed up its only entrant, while Western Carolina has awarded a grant to one of two headed there.

Carolina Military and The Citadel and Wofford each have one scholarship in the game, while one none scholarship player is headed to Gardner-Webb and another to Western Piedmont Community College.

Earlier, it was announced that McGee had also scored in the East-West All-Star game. He has picked up nine players in that game, while eight chose Carolina, seven are going to State and five chose Duke.

Wake Forest and Davidson failed to sign up anyone in that game, as Duke did among the Boys Home players.

And while there are still some boys without grants in the game, that may not last long if tradition has anything to do with it. In the past, a number of non-scholarship boys have received grants after coaches got a chance to look at them in the game.

And it is for sure that a number of coaches will be present to look over the talent Saturday night.

A breakdown of the chosen schools is as follows.

N. C. State: North, Mike Bunch, Charles Young, Ronald Sewell; South, John Morris.

Appalachian: North, David Smallwood, Joe Gibbons, Guilford: North, Johnny Wood.

Elizabeth City: North, Peter Stokes, Lindsey Riddick, Chowan: North, Donald Leohard.

Livingstone: North, Sidward Boyce, Joe Mason; South - Don Miller, Reginald Chlicers.

North Carolina: North, Bob Johnson, Charles Sink, Frank Smith, South, Mike Harrington, Bill Brämé.

Johnson C. Smith: North, Billy Corbett; South, Ralph Collette.

Elon: North, Ed Fowler, Gary Meredith; South, Joel Hancock, Sam Rush, Charles McLellan.

Davidson: North, Jim Ward, Wake Forest: Bruce Miller; South, Jeff Stocks, John Pennington.

North Carolina Central: North, Johnny Johnson.

Western Carolina: South, Joe Hunter, Terry Hardee.

Carolina Military: South, Norman Brooks.

The Citadel: South, Horace Pisford.

Western Piedmont: South, Mike Laughter.

Wofford: South, Bob McKenzie.

Gardner-Webb: South, John Davis.

Little Mint Is Champ

Little Mint earned the regular season Ladies Softball championship by defeating Coke, 18 to 3, in their final game. The playoffs are scheduled to start Thursday.

Little Mint came up with seven runs in the first inning with Doris Garrish scoring what later turned out to be the winning run.

Little Mint also scored three in the third, six in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

Coke scored three runs in the third inning but Little Mint buckled down and allowed no more the rest of the game.

Credit Card Drop-Out Is A More Familiar Figure

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — A mutation in the species Debtor Americanus may be making its appearance. Statistical evidence of its emergence has not yet been compiled, but an unusual number of people appear to have its characteristics.

Americans are big debtors and have been since World War II. More than $120 billion is now owed by consumers, $36 billion of it for automobiles and $30 billion more for personal loans. That's why the mutation is interesting; it's quite a contrast to the familiar species.

What is it called? The credit card dropout. What are its characteristics? A weariness with fi-ancial problems that justly or unjustly are attributed to the credit card.

One mutation, a well paid individual who enjoys living close to his limit, described his situation the other day.

"I was planning a trip to Europe this October with my wife and four kids. I think it's wise to let youngsters see and observe the places they read about in their books. I thought I could afford it.

"My wife told me that she and the children needed clothes for the trip and I didn't object. I told her to go out and buy them, that she had the cards. I didn't question her anymore; I make a good salary and have outside income, too.

"In fact I felt so good I went out and bought $120 worth of ties. I know that sounds absurd, but I buy ties every two years and never in between. It's not that I'm extravagant; I don't keep that kind of money on me, but I do have credit cards."

Then the bills came in. "I knew they looked awfully big and I began to get worried about them. But can you imagine, when I added them up I found I owed $3,800. Now the trip is off and so are the credit purchases. I'm paying cash from now on."

Check with your friends and you'll probably find a similar experience, although hopefully on a smaller scale. Families have been cutting back since the economy began drifting into recession. And now many families feel they do not have adequate control over expenses when several cards are outstanding.

There are other reasons also to explain the actions of the dropouts. While many credit card operations are efficient, a good many are suffering from indigestion of the bookkeeping system. They are belching out all sorts of errors.

Despite the seeming increase in the number of dropouts, the rise in credit card debt continues, and now there is a total of more than $15 billion outstanding, or several billions more than during last year.

Evidence of further resistance is that many individuals now badger storeowners for cash discounts, arguing that since they are saving the seller time and expense, the rewards should be shared.

Ready To Close Bridle Path

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The bridle path along tree-lined Southern Parkway has been a sore spot with residents for more than 20 years in this Kentucky Derby city.

Those opposing the more than mile-long path that connects with paths in the 740-acre Iroquois Park have lodged complaints of flies, dust, manure and property damage.

The complainers say the riders have enjoyed the bridle path for some 70 years and argue that now it's time to see what it's like without the animals.

OLD BASE REOPENED — U.S. Army helicopter brings in a load of supplies to the newly-reopened former Special Forces camp at Kham Duc, South Vietnam. Troops of the U.S. Americal Division reopened the base, closed since May of 1968, to support operations in the vicinity of the Laotian border. Wreckage of a C130 plane shot down by the enemy in 1968 is a reminder of fighting the area saw in an earlier day. (AP Wirephoto)

Widening Gap Faces City Revenues And Spending

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN
Associated Press Writer

A gap between revenues and spending faces many of America's large cities this year and officials are rushing to fill up budgetary holes by means of new taxes, city-employee layoffs and service cutbacks.

New York, Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Detroit and Seattle all report trouble balancing their 1970-71 budgets and all predict deficits unless new sources of revenue are found.

In Baltimore, St. Louis and Cleveland spending will not outpace revenue because the cities' charters don't allow deficit spending. But the charter requirement makes their financial woes no less serious than the others.

Two main reasons are given by city officials for the financial crisis— inflation and movement to the suburbs.

"National inflation," says Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York, "relentlessly drives up operating costs for the city—as well as for every one of our citizens—with no letup in sight."

Of the growth of the suburbs, C. Erwin Piper, Los Angeles City administrative officer, says:

"Ours is the problem of all core cities that have to provide services for adjoining bedroom communities. You just can't stop because the fire is across the street on the other side of the line. Unfortunately, these towns take advantage of our service."

When Mayor Roman S. Gribbs of Detroit took office in January he was told the city faced a $60-million budget deficit unless it found new revenue sources.

The mayor then asked the state legislature for permission to increase the city income tax and to levy an excise tax. The legislature turned down the highly unpopular income tax hike.

Caught in this financial squeeze, Detroit began laying off employees to cut costs. Some 350 have been let go so far—the first such large layoff since the depression.

Mayor Peter Flaherty of Pittsburgh says that tax revenue there will come to $95 million or $96 million. That doesn't cover the city's 1970 budget of $101 million. So the mayor has cut 300 people from the payroll and tried other cost-cutting measures.

Philadelphia, faced with a budget gap of between $17 million and $33 million for 1970-71, has put a freeze on hiring in all but critical jobs and is considering laying off 900 city workers.

Cleveland finance director, Phillip Dearborn, says that his city has laid off 100 non-administrative employees and not replaced another 100 who retired or quit.

John Coulter of the Chicago Association of Commerce and Industry says Chicago has added a significant number of teachers to the system in recent years and has reduced the scope of physical education and library programs.

New York City has had to dip into its so-called "rainy day fund," taking out $35.1 million of the $84 million in the fund to balance the expense budget for the year that ended June 30. The fund is provided for in the city charter and is to be drawn on if receipts from certain taxes and other receipts fall below normal.

New York was also counting on an estimated $50 million it hopes to get from the first year of off-track betting. But Howard Samuels, the chairman of the city's new Offtrack Betting Corp., said Sunday that the $50-million figure was "unrealistic" because the off-track parlors will probably open later than expected.

Erosion of the tax base coupled with an inflationary economy is blamed time and time again by city officials trying to find ways to meet financial crisis.

Detroit's troubles resulted, officials say, from the failure of the tax base to increase as fast as costs. Detroit has been faced with a decrease in population, eroded property values and elimination from the tax rolls of thousands of properties cleared for freeways.

Building sites burned out during the racial rioting of three summers ago, lie vacant.

Most cities raise the majority of their revenue from property taxes but cities like Detroit feel they have just about reached the cutoff point in raising such taxes.

In Los Angeles, faced with a deficit of between $17 million and $31 million, property owners are taxed to the hilt with Mayor Sam Yorty having broken the city charter ceiling of $1.25 per $100 assessed valuation.

To avoid further burdens on homeowners, the City Council is trying to come up with new tax techniques. It has voted to increase business and utility users' taxes and to adopt a tax on commercial rentals.

"The question is," says administrator Piper, "when do you get to the point of confiscation because the people can't pay their taxes?"

Houston, Tex., is an exception among major American cities. It reports it has no financial crisis for the 1970-71 fiscal year. With practically no discussion, the City Council approved a record $167.9-million budget this April. Included in it were pay raises totaling $7.2 million a year for 10,000 city employees.

The reason for the lack of financial problems, say officials: unexpectedly high revenues from the city's new one cent sales tax. Original estimates of Houston's sales tax revenues were $14.5 million a year. In 1969, the city collected more than $25 million.

Houston, however, has enjoyed a population increase from 938,219 to 1,212,967 over the last decade. This, combined with rapid economic expansion in the city, has provided a growing tax base—something the other cities lack.

Martha Would Add Some Love

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Martha Mitchell says she would like to work in the State Department "to try to put a little love in the world, instead of being at each other's throats."

The outspoken wife of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell was asked during an interview on television station KATV Tuesday whether she regarded herself as a controversial figure in Washington, and replied:

"They have to have somebody to pick on. I happen to be the one. They get at the President ... and they get at my husband through me, or they think they do. But they don't do it. As a matter of fact, I have fun with the whole thing."

Victims' Screams Still Vivid To Murder Witness

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Screams pierced the darkness, Linda Kasabian said, as a man, blood streaming from his wounds, stumbled from actress Sharon Tate's hilltop mansion across the lawn.

"We looked into each other's eyes for a moment, and I said, 'I'm sorry. I'm sorry. Oh, God, make it stop.'"

Sobbing into her hands, the petite, green-eyed Mrs. Kasabian testified Tuesday that she saw two persons slain at Miss Tate's home Aug. 9 and heard the screams of three other victims pleading for their lives.

"I heard a man scream out 'No, No' and then I just heard screams. I don't have any words to describe how these screams were. It was just unbelievably, horribly terrible," Mrs. Kasabian cried.

The sandy-haired 21-year-old mother of two told her version of the bloodbath as she testified at the murder-conspiracy trial of shaggy-haired cult leader Charles M. Manson, 35, and three women followers.

Mrs. Kasabian said Manson instructed her to follow the orders of his lieutenant, Charles "Tex" Watson. Then he sent Watson, Mrs. Kasabian and two other girl followers on a midnight mission which ended at the home of Miss Tate, 26, a blonde, pregnant movie star.

Mrs. Kasabian testified that she saw Watson shoot to death the first victim, Steven Parent, 18, a visitor driving away from the house, and stab and beat to death Wojciech Frykowski, 37, a Polish-born guest whose body was found later on the lawn.

Mrs. Kasabian said it was Frykowski she encountered on the lawn, and at one point, after he had fallen, he tried to get up and "Tex hit him on the head and was stabbing him in the back ... I don't know how many times. He just kept doing it and doing it and doing it."

Still weeping, Mrs. Kasabian told of seeing one of Manson's codefendants, Patricia "Katie" Krenwinkel, 22, knife raised, chasing nightgown-clad Abigail Folger, 26, across the lawn. Miss Folger, a coffee company heiress, also died outside the house.

Mrs. Kasabian said another defendant, Susan "Sadie" Atkins, 21, approached her in the midst of the killing.

"I said, 'Sadie, make it stop,' but she said, 'It's too late,'" Mrs. Kasabian continued.

Mrs. Kasabian said she didn't see Miss Folger slain. And apparently she didn't witness the killings of Miss Tate and hair stylist Jay Sebring, 35, who died in the house.

Mrs. Kasabian's testimony was interrupted by a rapid-fire volley of objections by Manson's attorney, Irving Kanarek, who vainly challenged virtually every statement.

The state's star witness, who has been promised immunity from prosecution, said she was unaware of the purpose of the mission when Manson sent her with the others into the night.

"Charlie told me to go with Tex and do whatever Tex told me to do," said Mrs. Kasabian. Watson has been indicted in the case and is fighting extradition from Texas.

As Watson started the car, Mrs. Kasabian said, "Charlie came to my side of the car and told us to leave a sign. He said, 'You girls know what I mean—something witchy.'" She said Manson referred to girls in his mostly female clan as witches.

Bloody scrawlings were found at the death scene.

After Parent was killed, Mrs. Kasabian said, she went with Watson to the house where he cut a window screen, but she was sent back to Parent's car to act as lookout.

"I waited a few minutes and then I heard people screaming and saying, 'No, please, no.' It was horrible. I can't tell you how horrible it was."

She was asked how long the screams continued. "It seemed like forever, infinite," she replied.

The four defendants, all in jail denims, sat impassively, staring straight ahead as Mrs. Kasabian testified. At one point, the girls mouthed a message to the witness and she silently mouthed an answer.

Her attorney said later the message from the girls was, "You're killing us," and that Mrs. Kasabian replied, "I'm not killing you. You've killed yourselves."

Earlier Tuesday, Mrs. Kasabian gave an account of the Manson "family's" unconventional sex rituals, including group sex gatherings in which "everybody made love to everybody."

Smiling nervously, the witness told of a family gathering at which Manson had sexual intercourse with a 16-year-old girl while 20 "family" members watched.

Mrs. Kasabian said that after he took the girl, Manson "told everybody to make love to everybody."

Q. What followed thereafter?
A. Everybody made love to everybody. We shed our clothes and were lying on the floor and it didn't matter if a man or a woman was beside you. You touched everybody and made love to everybody.

Four Businesses In Stokes Area Robbed

Four business establishments in and near Stokes were robbed Monday night, according to Pitt County Sheriff Ralph Tyson.

Within the Stokes town limits, Roebuck and Parker Service Station was robbed of a portable television set, a radio and receiver set, some tools and flashlights and about 75 cartons of cigarettes.

Also in Stokes, the firm of Stokes and Congleton reported nothing missing, although merchandise had been pulled to a door. Apparently the robbers were frightened away before removing goods. A glass door of the store was broken, with damage estimated at $100.

One mile east of Stokes, Cecil Crandell's service station was entered with 50 to 60 cartons of cigarettes missing, along with five or six cases of beer, some battery cables and boxes of spark plugs.

The C.L. James store, about two miles east of Stokes, was the fourth firm Sheriff Tyson reported had been robbed. From this store 75 cartons of assorted brand cigarettes are listed as missing, as well as a supply of sugar, 10 white wall tires, some canned goods and meats.

Except for Stokes and Congleton, the other firms had been entered by means of locks being forced to gain entrance, Tyson commented.

Sue Procedures For Commitment

RALEIGH (AP) — Commitment procedures in North Carolina's hospitals for the mentally ill have come under attack by the state unit of the Civil Liberties Union.

Jerry Paul, a Greenville lawyer with the organization, said Tuesday the union will file suit in U. S. Dist. Court early next week questioning the constitutionality of the procedures.

Paul said the statutes deal with the temporary detention of persons who become suddenly violent, the judicial hospitalization process, the procedures by which a person may challenge his commitment, and discharge procedures.

Under present procedures, he said, "unscrupulous individuals or members of a person's family could take serious advantage of a person's liberty."

The suit is part of an attack on procedures used at Dorethea Dix Hospital in Raleigh. The North Carolina Civil Liberties Union was engaged by several patients in the alcoholic ward who claim they were admitted by falsely signed affidavits.

Conditions at the hospital have become the subject of criticism from several quarters recently. Last week, four student nurses at the hospital met with Gov. Bob Scott to discuss the situation. They said the hospital is understaffed, underfunded and unsanitary.

Under state law, a person who becomes "temporarily violent" can be detained in a state mental hospital for 20 days with the authorization of a physician. If a person objects to his commitment, he can, after 60 days, file an objection with the clerk of Superior Court.

Discharge procedures provide that any patient released on probation can be returned to the hospital against his will if a complaint is filed. No medical examination is required for re-admission.

Under the judicial hospitalization procedure, a patient can be committed under orders of a clerk of Superior Court and the signed statements of two physicians.

Dentist Has Moved Here

Dr. Robert (Bob) F. Cargill, a dentist from Illinois, has moved to Greenville to begin practice after graduating cum laude from Indiana University with a degree in dental surgery.

A native of Decatur, Illinois, Dr. Cargill received the A. B. degree at Butler University before studying at Indiana.

Dr. Cargill is located at the complex of dental offices at 608 East 10th Street. He is married to the former Judi Brannen of Highland, Indiana. They have two young daughters, Kristine and Kira.

In college, Dr. Cargill was a member of Omicron Kappa Upsilon, the national dental honorary society. He noted he is very much interested in all types of sports, particularly basketball, softball and tennis.

As he begins his career in Greenville, Dr. Cargill states he will be engaged in general dentistry.

Abbie Hoffman Going To Cuba

CHICAGO (AP) — Abbott "Abbie" Hoffman, one of the convicted defendants in the Chicago riot trial, has received court permission for an August trip to Cuba.

Hoffman, 33, is appealing his conviction on a charge of interstate travel tincture rioting at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention. He was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $5,000.

Permission for the Cuban trip was granted by the U.S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday.

Hoffman's lawyer said the defendant planned to collect information for a series of magazine articles on Cuban youth. He leaves for Cuba next Tuesday by way of St. John, N.B., where he will board a ship, and is scheduled to return by the same route, arriving Aug. 30.

All-Star Day Computer Shopping Proclaimed Is Coming To N.C.

Governor Robert W. Scott has proclaimed next Saturday "Boys Home All-Star Game Day in North Carolina" and commended the observance of the day to all citizens of the state.

The official proclamation noted that the Boys Home, located at Lake Waccamaw, "provides a Christian environment, educational opportunity and physical training for homeless boys of the state."

It also pointed out that the North Carolina Jaycees "assist in the support and maintenance of Boys Home by the annual sponsorship of a football game," played on Aug. 1 at Ficklen Stadium on the campus of East Carolina University. Net proceeds, he proclaimed, go to the benefit of Boys Home.

The twofold purpose of the game is first, he said, "to provide financial aid and support" for the Home and second, "to recognize 54 outstanding athletes and four coaches throughout the State whose achievements have been exemplary."

Name Bldg. 'Albemarle'

RALEIGH (AP) — The state government's newest office building will be named The Albemarle Building, in honor of North Carolina's first county.

The county of Albemarle in the northeast portion of the state was founded in 1664, but was divided into the present counties of Chowan, Currituck, Pasquotank and Perquimans in 1689.

The name of the building was chosen by the State Capital Planning Commission Tuesday. It marks the first time a state building has been named for a geographical place instead of its function.

The building will be ready for occupancy in September. It will house the treasurer's office, Industrial Commission, Wildlife Resources Commission, and the departments of mental health and social services.

In other action, the commission turned over the Department of Administration for study a plea by Raleigh groups for the preservation of a dozen old homes north of the executive mansion.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Chance of afternoon and evening showers Thursday through Saturday. Warm and humid throughout the period.

NEW YORK (AP) — Before long, North Carolina shoppers will be able to drive into a convenience food store, punch out their request on a computer keyboard, and have their car filled with gas while their order is being processed — all without getting out of their car.

The first store of the Bread Basket chain has been operating in Atlanta for two-and-a-half years. Other stores are being built in Fayetteville, Raleigh and Charlotte, N.C., and Winter Park, Fla.

The stores stock only the 100 items consumers are most likely to run out of, such as milk, bread and beverages.

The idea for the Bread Baskets was developed by John Hitchens, who explains, "Nothing bothers me more than sitting at a gas station for five minutes while my tank is being filled."

Here's how the store operates:

A customer drives in and parks on one side of the triangular store. Each side has a gasoline pump and a 50-button keyboard. An additional 50 items are available from the attendant's keyboard.

The customer punches out the items desired — each is pictured next to a button. Inside the store a computer prints out the requests and performs inventory while a clerk gathers them, bags the order, attaches the readout, which also serves as a bill and slides the order out a chute.

The customer pays the outside attendant for both groceries and gasoline and drives off.

The purpose of the triangular store, Hitchens said, is to provide a better traffic pattern. "We haven't had an accident in two-and-a-half years," he said.

This the 27th day of July, 1970.

Joseph F. Bowen, Jr., Substituted Trustee July 29, August 5, 12, 19, 1970

All persons interested in the establishment of Pitt County Drainage District Number Nine will hereby take notice:

1. That the Board of Viewers has filed their Preliminary Report in the office of the Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County, Greenville, North Carolina.

2. That the said Report has been examined by the Court, and the Court has found that the drainage system is practicable, that the drainage system will benefit the public health, public highways and will be conducive to the general welfare of the County, and that the same is in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 156-42. That the said Report is regular in all respects, and is so found.

3. That the Court has ordered a Hearing upon the said Report to be held before H. L. Lewis, Jr., Clerk of the Superior Court of Pitt County, in the Court Room of Pitt County, Court House in Greenville, North Carolina at the hour of 3:30 P.M., Thursday, August 6, 1970.

4. That the undersigned will be present and offer any objections thereto, if any.

5. That the said Court will hear and determine any objections that may be offered to the said Report.

6. That the said Court will consider and pass upon the said Report on the date of the hearing.

This Notice is given pursuant to G.S. 156-44 and amendments thereto. This the 20th day of July, 1970.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

Under and by virtue of the terms of a Deed of Trust made and executed by W. N. Moore, Jr., and wife, Mary Peterson on the 6th day of January, 1964, in favor of J. W. H. Roberts, Trustee for Grifton Fertilizer & Supply Company, Incorporated, which trust instrument secures a loan in the original amount of TWO THOUSAND AND NO - 100 ($2,000.00) Dollars, and being the identical property described in first deed of trust in favor of the Federal Land Bank of Columbia, recorded in Book 13, page 513, of the Pitt County Registry, to both of which map and deed of trust reference is hereby directed for more specific description by reference to the said Deed of Trust.

This sale is being made subject to the lien of any and all prior encumbrances of record and all ad valorem taxes which may be due on said property.

The highest bidder at the sale will be required to make a deposit (ten percent) of the bid amount as evidence of good faith pending any raised bid, as prescribed by Statute. This the 7th day of July, 1970.

Laurence C. Graham, Substituted Trustee July 15, 22, 29, August 5, 1970.

INVITATION FOR BIDS

FOR GENERAL CONSTRUCTION ONLY

The City of Greenville will receive Bids for Renovation of Pitt County Maintenance Garage for Social Services Center, until 2:00 P.M. (D.S.T.) on the 12th day of August, 1970 at the Police Assembly Room in Greenville Municipal Building at which time and place all bids will be publicly opened and read aloud.

Bid Proposals will be received for GENERAL CONSTRUCTION ONLY. Contract documents, including Drawings and Technical Specifications, are on file at the office of Dudley & Shoe, Architects at 402 Memorial Drive, Greenville, North Carolina 27834.

Copies of Contract Documents may be obtained by depositing $50.00 with the Architect for each set of documents so obtained. Each such deposit will be refunded if the Drawings and Contract Documents are returned in good condition within 10 days after Bid opening.

A certified check or bank draft, payable to the City of Greenville, negotiable U.S. Government Bonds (at par value) or satisfactory Bid Bond executed by the Bidder and an acceptable surety, in an amount equal to five percent (5 percent) of the total of Bid for Site Preparation shall be submitted with each bid.

Attention is called to the fact that no bids will be accepted if the contractor's wages as set forth in the Contract Documents must be paid on this project, and that the Contractor must ensure that employees and applicants for employment are not discriminated against because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin.

The City of Greenville reserves the right to reject any or all bids or to waive any informalities in the bidding.

Bids may be held by the City of Greenville for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days from the date of the opening of Bids for the purpose of reviewing the qualifications of Bidders, prior to awarding of the Contract.
