Cherry View Clearance Not Seen

By TOM BAINES
Reflector Staff Writer

"There will be no clearance in Cherry View," Col. A. E. Dubber, executive director of the Redevelopment Commission, told residents of the Cherry View area Wednesday night at a meeting held at Holy Trinity Church on Douglas Avenue.

The meeting, hosted by the Cherry View Neighborhood Organization, was held in response to interest shown by the residents of the area in the General Neighborhood Renewal Plan, a program for rehabilitating Greenville's older neighborhoods.

At the invitation of the neighborhood organization, members of the Redevelopment Commission were on hand to explain the GNRP and answer questions pertaining to its format.

Urban renewal, Dubber pointed out, has wrongly been given public interpretation as meaning slum clearance. The Shore Drive project and also Newtown dealt with and are dealing with clearance, he said, but "there should be no more clearance projects in Greenville."

Contrary to misunderstandings many residents of the city have, he added, the GNRP has been contrived to mean that homes in residential areas, will be bought and torn down as part of clearance. This is not true, he emphasized.

"We were thinking you would do the same thing here (Cherry View) as in Shore Drive and Newtown," the chairman of the Cherry View Neighborhood Organization, Robert Bellamy said.

"Let me make it clear that the GNRP is not a rehabilitation project in itself, Dubber noted, but a program to study and survey the needs of residential areas in the city."

"A grant of some $42 - $43,000 was received by the city to study the areas thought by the City Council to be in need of improvement," he continued, "and studies will be made of every house and family in these areas (located south of the river)."

Dubber explained that the GNRP was broken down into five areas of the city as "projects" and could be identified as A, B, C, D, and E rather than as Cherry View and some of the other designations that may have confused residents regarding boundary lines and the like.

Under the GNRP, the executive director continued, studies are made of the area and it is determined whether such areas are in need of improvement and rehabilitation. Later designation of areas as rehabilitation projects, following public hearings, could mean authorization for residents to apply for federal loans and grants to help with the renewal of their homes in the areas.

Under the federal assistance program, Dubber said, various loans and grants (up to $3,500 in grants) are available to residents. Everyone will not qualify for the maximum grant, he added, but will qualify according to the amount it will take to fix up their property.

Dubber was asked by a resident if poor credit ratings would keep the property owner (Continued on page 8)

Corpus Christi Over The Hump

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) - Battered Corpus Christi is "over the hump," a city official said, in recovery of essential services knocked out by Hurricane Celia.

But small towns nearby still suffered today with scant relief in sight. Property losses in the Corpus Christi metropolitan area were estimated at $375 million to $500 million.

Corpus Christi remained under curfew and armed National Guardsmen patrolled streets from dark to dawn. Looting has been minor, authorities said.

Guardsmen and state police turned back nonresidents at approaches to other communities hit by Monday's storm.

Electric power has been restored to 7,000 customers and to all vital services in Corpus Christi, a utility company spokesman said. Telephone service was available in some areas. Water service was almost completely restored and a city official said supplies are adequate for even major fires.

Small cities near here, such as Taft, Aransas Pass, Ingleside, Port Aransas and Portland, were still without utilities. All were more heavily damaged than Corpus Christi.

At hospitals minus electricity, a lack of refrigeration put perishable tetanus antitoxins in danger.

Damage to telephone facilities was estimated at $8 million. A utility official said the recovery "will be more of a rebuilding job than a restoration job."

The Coastal Power & Light Co. said it may be several weeks before every home here has electricity again, and even longer in the smaller towns.

Dozens of luxury hotels along the Corpus Christi beach were turned into dormitories for repair crews. Heavy construction equipment jammed nearby streets.

AEC Refused To Destroy Nerve Gas As Army Requested

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Pentagon decided to bury nerve gas on the ocean floor—and risk damaging the environment—chiefly because of adamant Atomic Energy Commission opposition to destroying gas under the Nevada desert, congressional testimony indicates.

AEC reasons for refusing to destroy 12,540 gas-filled rockets in an underground nuclear blast at Yucca Flat last September were spelled out to a Senate panel by Dr. Fred Tesche.

The decision, the AEC official said Wednesday, was based on safety, public relations aspects of such a project, and current AEC operations.

The Army plans to dump the gas—stored in 418 steel-jacketed concrete coffins of 30 rockets each—into the Atlantic Ocean next week. Three days of Senate and House subcommittee hearings on the plan were ended Wednesday.

The rockets are stored at depots near Richmond, Ky., and Anniston, Ala.

The Army says the rockets must be destroyed as soon as possible because the deadly gas inside is rapidly losing stability and could explode inside the coffins.

Ocean burial is now the fastest method of disposal, all witnesses agreed.

Russell Train, chairman of the President's Council on Environmental Quality, told the Senate panel ocean dumping appears to be the least undesirable alternative due to the possibility of the explosives becoming unstable and bursting inside the coffins.

U.S. Spokesmen Hopeful Guerrillas Vow To Push Mid-East War

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. ambassador to the United Nations said Wednesday night that he hopes the new Middle East cease-fire proposed by the United States will take effect "very soon." But the Palestinian guerrillas vowed to keep the fighting going, even if it means attacking U.N. truce observers.

Ambassador Charles W. Yost met for three hours with the chief U.N. delegates of the other Big Four powers—Britain, France and the Soviet Union. They passed the word to Secretary-General U Thant that he should send U.N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring back to the Middle East now that Egypt, Jordan and Israel have accepted the U.S. proposal for a 90-day cease-fire and resumption of indirect peace negotiations.

However, there was no indication of just when the acceptances of the U.S. proposal would be translated into orders to stop shooting and stand fast.

Representatives of two Palestinian guerrilla organizations told a news conference in Tripoli, Libya, Wednesday that even if a cease-fire is proclaimed they are prepared "to force U.N. observers off the cease-fire line to keep up the fight against Israel."

Abu Nedal of Al Fatah and Bashat Aby Garbiah of the Palestine Popular Struggle Front declared that their groups would continue to fight to "liberate" Israel from Zionism.

While the guerrilla threat promised continued harassment along Israel's frontiers with Jordan and Lebanon, it should have no effect on a cease-fire between Egypt and Israel since there are no Palestinians along the Suez Canal front. The guerrillas already had said they would not be bound by any cease-fire, and the Jordanian government in its acceptance of the U.S. proposal said it could not curb the Palestinians.

U.S. officials in Washington said the United States would propose that Israel and Egypt themselves do most of the policing of their cease-fire. They said the current thinking in Washington is that the U.N. observers could assist in the watch against ground violations. But the American sources said the Egyptian and Israeli air forces could do a better job of detecting infiltrators and also should take on the important task of seeing that the other side did not use the truce period to build up its forces and arms along the Suez Canal.

Meanwhile, the propaganda war between Egypt and Iraq over Egypt's acceptance of the U.S. proposal raged on, overshadowing the strategy conference in Tripoli of the defense ministers of Egypt, Jordan, Libya, Syria and Sudan.

Al Ahran, the semiofficial Egyptian newspaper, said King Hussein of Jordan told the Arab summit meeting in Tripoli in June that the Iraqi government issued communiques making false claims of attacks on Israel by Iraqi forces stationed in Jordan.

Al Ahran also said that President Gamal Abdel Nasser told Iraqi President Ahmed Hassan El Bakr at that meeting: "We have no trust in you because you are always making political maneuvers... All our previous experience with you compels us to doubt you and doubt everything you propose."

Kennedy Cousins In Court

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP) - Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and R. Sargent Shriver III, both shaggy haired and grim faced, entered Juvenile Court today for preliminary hearings on charges of being delinquents by reason of possession of marijuana.

The two cousins, both aged 16, were accompanied by their uncle, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass.; and by Ethel Kennedy, Bobby's mother, and Mr. and Mrs. Sargent Shriver Jr., parents of the Shriver boy, who also is known as Bobby.

The Juvenile Court session before Judge Henry L. Murphy of 1st District Court of Barnstable County was closed to the public by law.

Juvenile courts usually require the presence of one or both parents of youthful offenders. They are allowed to have lawyers with them.

Police declined to disclose any information about the case under a state law protecting accused persons under age 18.

The summonses served on young Kennedy and Shriver were among five in which juveniles were named defendants in drug cases. The other juveniles were not named.

At the same time, police charged 23 adults with possession or sale of marijuana. Several also were charged with possession or sale of heroin. Their cases were continued.

There was no indication that the Kennedy-Shriver cases were connected with those against the adults. The summonses cited July 10 as the date of Kennedy-Shriver offense. The adult arrests cited dates running back to April 23. None of those charges was made on July 10.

The penalty for possession of marijuana under Massachusetts law can be 3 1/2 years in prison. But the courts generally are lenient with first-offender juveniles, normally releasing them on probation in custody of their parents.

Young Kennedy is the third child among the 11 of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy of New York, and his wife Ethel. President John F. Kennedy was the boy's uncle.

Shriver's father stepped down last March as U.S. ambassador to France. His mother, Eunice, is the oldest daughter in the Kennedy family.

President Asks Paperwork Cut; Costs Too Much Car And Train In Collision

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon has called for a cutback in executive branch paperwork after noting the cost of shuffling paper in the federal government approaches $10 billion a year.

In a memo to department and agency heads, Nixon put forward a plan for the current budget year that he hopes will save the executive branch $200 million and shave off 5 million man-hours of work.

The action affects individuals, businesses and state and local officials who are required to fill out more than 5,000 questionnaires under the Federal Reports Act.

Norman Peterson, an official of the recently-created Office of Management and Budget, told newsmen at the White House Wednesday night the cost of handling paperwork in the federal government—including the Congress and the courts—currently is estimated at $8 billion to $10 billion each year.

Nixon can do nothing about letter writing and other written exchanges by members of Congress or the judiciary.

But he called for a five percent cutback in the estimated 100 million man-hours that folks outside the federal government now put in each year filling out administrative forms and inquiries covered by the Reports Act.

Nixon hopes to save $200 million in fiscal 1971 on executive branch handling of the required reports.

Peterson estimated the executive branch currently spends about $41 billion a year processing required reports—but that figure includes income tax returns and a variety of other questionnaires not covered by the laws over which the President has some direct jurisdiction.

Resolution of intent to increase the membership of the City Council.

Request to waive carnival privilege license requirement by Greenville Junior Chamber of Commerce.

A Greenville mother and her two children narrowly escaped serious injury yesterday afternoon when their car collided with a train.

The collision occurred at the Norfolk-southern Railroad crossing on the Allen Road (rural road 1203) between U.S. 264 and the Stantonsburg Road about 1 1/2 miles West of Greenville about 2:08 p.m.

Highway Patrolman W. L. Thames identified the driver of the auto as Mrs. Linda Jones Parham of 1210 Oakview Dr. The train's engineer was listed as Joseph Pippin Wiggs, 43, of Raleigh.

According to Ptl. Thames, Mrs. Parham attempted to stop when she realized the train was approaching the crossing, but was unable to do so. Wiggs applied brakes to the train, the officer noted, when he saw Mrs. Parham's vehicle.

Damage was estimated at $1,000 to the Parham car and $250 to the engine of the train.

No charges were made. Mrs. Parham and one of her two children received minor injuries in the collision.

FIRST SESSION PARIS (AP) - Ambassador David K. E. Bruce made his first appearance at the Vietnam peace talks today as the chief U.S. delegate, but there was no indication his presence would ease the long deadlock.

Allies Of VC

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Released from jail on bond, Black Panthers leader Huey P. Newton says his militant Negro group will pledge members to help the political arm of the Viet Cong in Vietnam.

Within two hours after his release Wednesday in nearby Oakland, the Panthers' cofounder and minister of defense told newsmen:

"We are going to pledge troops from the BLACK Panther party to the National Liberation Front."

"We have our own domestic problems, but we can do it. The fascist United States has its domestic problems, too, and it has troops in Vietnam," Newton, 28, told newsmen in the office of his attorney.

Newton set no timetable and did not elaborate on the plan, but repeated the pledge of troops when questioned by newsmen. He said other revolutionary groups also will participate.

Newton was free for the first time in 33 months on $50,000 bail awaiting retrial in the 1967 slaying of an Oakland policeman.

When he left Alameda County jail Wednesday, a crowd of about 350 greeted him.

Newton's 1968 conviction for voluntary manslaughter in the death of officer John Frey was overturned last May by the state Court of Appeal. He had been serving a prison term of 2 to 15 years.

The reversal was upheld last week by the California Supreme Court.

The conviction was reversed on grounds the trial judge failed to inform the jury of the defense possibilities in Newton's claim he was unconscious from a bullet wound when Frey was killed on Oct. 28, 1967. Frey and another officer had stopped Newton's car.

The first trial was on a first-degree murder charge, but under state law the retrial charge cannot exceed involuntary manslaughter.

which few people read and fewer heed, says the Oregon Democrat.

In the last five years, Mrs. Green told a news briefing Wednesday, the industrial-education-poverty complex has become a major growth industry.

"Our most enduring monument to poverty has been the creation of a 'poverty' industry" which, Mrs. Green said, works against the abolition of poverty. If poverty were eliminated, she reasoned, so would be the lucrative jobs of experts studying it.

Mrs. Green, No. 2 Democrat on the House Education and Labor Committee, said she is investigating the practice of hiring consultants from the ranks of former high-level officials of the Office of Economic Opportunity and the Office of Education. "Contracts have been given with outrageous conflict of interest," she declared, comparing the education-poverty consulting field with defense industries which hire retired military officers for ranking positions.

And she ranked the threat of the industrial-education-poverty complex with that of the military-industrial complex which the late President Dwight D. El-senhower warned of as he left office.

"With the tremendous task ahead in solving poverty, billions are being siphoned off to profit-making companies—and I question the results," she said.

She suggested universities and non-profit educational institutes could do much of the research now farmed out by OEO and the Office of Education to private consultants.

Mrs. Green said her investigation shows the federal agencies often don't know how many contracts they have out, to whom they are assigned, what the subjects are, or whether they duplicate others.

Of the OEO budget of $7.5 billion, $500,000 goes for such services as evaluations, studies and reports, Mrs. Green asserted.

Uncle Sam's Advice Compiled Into Book

By JEANNE LESEME
UPI Food Editor

NEW YORK (UPI)—Uncle Sam's advice on buying and storing food is Grade A and mostly free. But until recently, a shopper either had to cram her purse with individual folders and booklets or memorize their contents.

Now, the latest U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) information on shopping and storing fresh and processed foods is available in one convenient 9½-ounce, purse-size paperback book that is as practical for grocery shoppers as field guides are for birdwatchers and amateur botanists.

"How to Buy Food" was compiled and edited by Valerie Moolman from USDA publications and published by Cornerstone Library.

Chapters on beef steaks and roasts are immensely helpful, with photographs of basic cuts and captions that tell how to recognize each and the best methods for cooking them.

Strangely and regrettably, similar information on veal, lamb, pork products and variety meats is omitted.

To its credit, the $1 book describes safe storage times and methods for dozens of different foods. It recommends refrigerating fragile berries uncovered in shallow containers so they won't crush under their own weight. Washing them just before mealtime also is suggested, to retard spoilage.

Directions for three different methods of thawing uncooked poultry are a great help for last-minute meals or coping with big birds when refrigerator space is limited. Poultry thawed in a water-tight wrapper in several changes of cold water will take about 1 hour for small birds, or 6 to 8 hours for large turkeys, writes Miss Moolman.

Another safe room temperature method involves placing the poultry in its original plastic wrap in a closed, double-wall paper bag or wrapping in in newspaper and setting it in a corrugated box. All poultry should be thawed only until pliable.

Fresh fruit and vegetables are cheapest when they're in season. But how does a city dweller recognize harvest time unless he drives past a farm or an orchard when the pickers are at work? Miss Moolman's book reproduces a USDA chart that indicates month-by-month, when 28 different fruits are in good, fair or small supply.

She advises against buying vegetables that have begun to decay, even though they're priced lower than unblemished produce. Decay spreads rapidly, so you'll probably end up with start less edible fruit for the money than you would if you buy top quality.

An alphabetical buying guide for fresh vegetables describes the signs of good and bad produce. With carrots, a shapely, smooth, firm and well-colored appearance is desirable. Roots that have large green "sunburned" areas at the top and flabby roots are not.

Shoppers baffled by the net weights quoted on canned and frozen food labels get help in planning servings both from the text and from charts that indicate the volume of solids in various standard size cans and packages. Half a cup of solids is considered an adult serving of vegetables, and ¼ to 1-3 cup, a serving for small children and light eaters.

To save money on canned and frozen vegetables, cut styles are recommended instead of whole ones, because it's hard—and also costlier—to keep fragile products whole during processing. But fancy-cut vegetables, such as french-style green beans and julienne carrots usually are more expensive than plain cuts.

Grade A and fancy vegetables are suggested for serving when attractiveness and top flavor are desired, but Grade B and Extra Standard quality also are nutritious and a good buy for casseroles, gelatin salads, soups, purees and souffles, in which shape, tenderness and flavor are secondary.

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're doubtful about skirt lengths—buy pants. At least that's the theory of early fall shoppers.

Pants suits are the hottest selling fall item so far, according to many retailers across the country.

Customers aren't clamoring for the midcalf skirt or asking for the short mini. If anything, they're accepting hemlines at or just below the knee. But women have not gone strongly for any one length. Instead, they're buying pants combinations, sometimes with midi coats.

As a Boston retailer says, "For what sales there are, pants are most interesting to our customers."

With a few exceptions, this is the message from Atlanta, Chicago, Dayton, Dallas, Los Angeles and New York City.

Fall merchandise is pouring into stores now.

Retailers look to August and September for a clearer direction on hemlines. The longer-than-midcalf skirts at the recent Paris shows are expected to give impetus to the long look here. Retailers point to the trend of customer buying closer to time of need as a delay factor. Finally, many spokesmen explain that women remain confused and undecided.

Some retailers are dubious about customer acceptance of midis and are unhappy about sales to date.

Other retailers take their booming pants sales in stride.

(Care of Glasses)

Once you have your new glasses, take good care of them. Never toss them carelessly about, or you may end up replacing them more frequently than you care to. If you set them down, put them in their case, and never rest them on the lenses. Never wipe them clean without first washing them, as the tiny dust particles that gather on lenses can scratch them severely. Remember that you should have your glasses checked periodically and have the temple-pieces tightened. With normal wear, glasses screws may come loose and weaken the frame, thus causing the lens to move and change your whole perspective!

Be sure to have your eyes checked regularly, too. Your visual problems can change rapidly, and wearing glasses that do not fit your needs can be more uncomfortable to your eyes than not wearing corrective lenses at all.

DEAR ABBY: We have some young friends (I'll call John and Mary) who have no children. Last summer they put in for adoption thru welfare. In the meantime their marriage became somewhat rocky. Mary has confided to me that they are not compatible all the way from sex to managing their money affairs. I suggested a marriage counselor and Mary went by herself. Later John went—but reluctantly.

They have been fighting a lot even since. They even made an appointment with a lawyer about a legal separation. Then the adoption agency called to tell them a brand new baby was available. John and Mary took it immediately. Now this couple act like they never had a problem. The final adoption won't take place for 6 months.

I wish no ill toward my friends. My only concern is for the baby. I say if the agency knew how this couple had been getting along they never would have placed that baby in their home. I don't think it's right to use a baby to make a go of a marriage. Should I make the agency aware?

CONCERNED FOR BABY

DEAR CONCERNED: I appreciate your "concern" over the baby, but your "concern" appears to have a bit of a malice needle in it. If this couple saw a marriage counselor, it indicates that they are making an honest effort to make a go of their marriage. The mutual responsibility of a baby does sometimes "save" a marriage. If I were you, I'd hope for the best, and place your concern elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: I am 14 and there is a kid in our neighborhood who likes me. He let the grass grow in their back yard, and when he mowed the lawn he CUT my initials in the lawn. Everybody in the neighborhood has seen it and they think it's funny. It is very embarrassing to me. How can I get him to quit advertising this crush he has on me?

DEAR L. S. A.: Hand the kid a pair of shears and ask him to please cut it out.

DEAR ABBY: My sister and her husband had a falling out with my husband and me about 9 years ago. (Wouldn't you know, it was over money?) We didn't speak to each other, and avoided one another whenever possible.

Well, my sister's husband died suddenly about 4 weeks ago. I know you don't have to be "invited" to a funeral, but we weren't sure how my sister would have reacted to seeing us at such a time so we didn't go.

Do you think we should have gone? I say, "Why be hypocrites?"

Others in the family say, "You should have gone." How would you have handled this?

PLEASE WITHHOLD MY NAME AND CITY

DEAR PLEASE: I would have asked someone in the family who was on good terms with this sister how she would feel about seeing you and your husband at the funeral, and acted accordingly.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a mother who has a 16-year-old daughter, but has to pay a 15-year-old neighbor girl to come in and sit with her two younger children, ages 9 and 7?

This mother claims that her 16-year-old daughter has "more important" things to do with her time. Meanwhile the daughter goes around evenings at another neighbor's house, playing records and watching television when she's supposed to be over there studying. Please put this in the paper with your answer as some people need to be told off—but good! Thanks, Pal.

"THE SEEING EYE"

DEAR SEEING: This strikes me as something that is none of my business. Now, what's YOUR problem? Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Car Shuffler Future Trend?

BOURNEMOUTH, England (WNS)—Ann Wilson was engaged as a typist for a photographic firm here but seldom goes near a typewriter. Her job is to beat the traffic cops by moving her company's cars from one parking zone to another before the parking limit runs out. "Some traffic wardens look surprised when they see what I'm doing, but they don't complain," said Miss Wilson. "One even opened the door for me the other day." Alex Snaith, her boss, added, "She's worth her weight in parking tickets. This could be a trend for the future."

Groundwork Laid For Future Tate Case Appeal

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Defense attorneys, satisfied they have laid the groundwork for a possible future appeal in the Sharon Tate murder case, say they are abandoning their quest for a mistrial based on comments by President Nixon.

Three times Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older has denied the motion. "This will be one of the biggest cases in history regarding prejudicial publicity," commented coprosecutor Vincent Bugliosi during a break in Wednesday's proceedings.

Bugliosi told newsmen that should the four defendants be convicted on charges of murder and conspiracy in last August's slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others: "I'm sure on appeal, this is going to be an important case on pretrial as well as in trial publicity."

Nixon told newsmen in Denver Monday Manson was "guilty, directly or indirectly, of eight murders without reason." Later he amended this saying he had not intended to speculate on the guilt or innocence of the defendants who "should be presumed innocent at this stage of the trial."

tered on the credibility of the state's star witness, Linda Kasabian, who resumed the witness stand for cross-examination. One line of questioning dealt with Mrs. Kasabian's experience with the drug LSD, with the defense contending her use of it may have clouded her memory of the slayings. The other line of questioning focused on Mrs. Kasabian's testimony in a child custody case—testimony in which the defense says Mrs. Kasabian lied to get her daughter back from a foster home.

Three times the attorneys asked that the trial be called off following President Nixon's comment in Denver, Colo.—later retracted—that he believed one of the four defendants, Charles M. Manson, guilty.

$1,000 Offered For Only Child

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — A $1,000 reward has been offered for information leading to the safe return of a Charlottesville's girl missing since she attended a rock festival at Love Valley, N. C., last month.

Louis Gleason, who offered the reward, says he has not given up hope his honor-student daughter, Karen, will come home.

Karen, an only child, left Friday, July 17, with five boys in a van, leaving a note saying she was with friends and would return home Monday.

—A plea by Charles Kanarek, attorney for Manson, 35, that president Nixon be asked to take the witness stand in the case so that defense attorneys might learn his motives in taking up publicly the Manson trial. The motion was denied.

—A plea by Paul Fitzgerald, attorney for Patricia Krenwinkel, 22, for a mistrial on grounds the jury was unduly influenced Tuesday when Manson banished a newspaper headline in court reading: "Manson Guilty, Nixon Declares." Judge Older, in ruling against the motion, said he was certain the jury could still "render a fair and impartial verdict."

—Manson's three women co-defendants arising when the jury returned to the courtroom to chant in unison: "President Nixon says we're guilty, so why go on with the trial."

On trial with Manson and Miss Krenwinkel are Susan Atkins, 21, and Leslie Van Houten, 20.

Nixon told newsmen in Denver Monday Manson was "guilty, directly or indirectly, of eight murders without reason." Later he amended this saying he had not intended to speculate on the guilt or innocence of the defendants who "should be presumed innocent at this stage of the trial."

Besides the Tate slayings, Manson is charged with murder in the death of a Malibu musician.

Widow Sues Three Men

OXFORD, N. C. (AP) — The widow of a Negro who was shot to death May 11 in Oxford has filed a wrongful death suit for $200,000 against three white men.

The suit was filed in Granville County Superior Court by Mrs. Willie Marrow, administrator of the estate of Henry D. Marrow Jr., against Robert Gerald Teel, his son Larry Teel and a stepson, Roger Oakley.

Marrow was beaten and shot outside a small shopping center operated by the elder Teel. He was taken to Granville County Hospital then transferred to Duke Hospital in Durham, where he died upon arrival or shortly afterwards.

The suit contends that each of the three defendants attacked Marrow with the "malicious intent of injuring and killing him."

"The deliberate, willful, reckless, wanton, malicious and unlawful attack upon" Marrow by the defendants was without just cause or provocation upon Marrow's part, the suit contends.

The suit asks for $100,000 in actual damage and $100,000 in punitive damages.

The shooting triggered a wave of racial violence in Oxford.

Gerald Teel and his son Larry were acquitted by a Granville County Superior Court jury of murder charges in the case Sunday, but immediately afterward they and Oakley were arrested on bench warrants.

The warrants charge Oakley and the elder Teel with first-degree murder and Larry Teel with assault inflicting serious injuries.

Illinois City Is Nearly Lawless

SESSER, Ill. (AP) — This is a lawless city—or nearly so. That was revealed by city councilmen who said all city ordinances except those governing traffic had been stolen about a year ago.

A group of Sesser's 2,200 residents had demanded this week that aldermen produce an ordinance to support the legality of the city's garbage collections.

"We can't. They've been stolen," said Alderman Sewell Hurst.

Mayor Willie Stubblefield said he found pry marks on an empty file cabinet that had contained ordinances a year ago. Traffic ordinances were in a separate file.

Will Recommend Park's Closing

RALEIGH (AP) — The Pollution Control Committee of the North Carolina Board of Water and Air Resources was to recommend today the closing of a Guilford County trailer park and motel.

The committee voted Wednesday to recommend that the Board of Water and Air Resources, which was to meet today, shut down the Sedgfield Mobile Home Park and Motel within 60 days.

The committee contends that the park and motel are major sources of water pollution.

Another Spectre On Horizon

It appears that North Carolina, already facing the possibility of an electrical power shortage because of a lack of generating capacity, may also face a shortage of fuel to run the present generators.

The state Utilities Commission has reported that shortages of coal and gas in the state are reaching the critical stage. Both Duke and Carolina Power and Light have reported their coal supplies down as much as 60 percent.

The shortage of coal is blamed largely on new federal mining regulations which allow more coal to be shipped to Japan and Italy. The two countries are paying a higher price for coal and thus getting larger supplies.

The Utilities Commission also reported that the gas shortage is so severe in some areas that some gas companies are restricting the addition of new customers. This shortage is said to be due to the fact that few new wells have been opened in the past few years.

The Utilities Commission has shown that it is aware of these problems and it has begun monitoring the coal supplies of power companies to see that reserves do not fall even more. The federal office of emergency planning has also been alerted to the situation.

With the widespread use of coal for generating electricity and gas for industrial and other uses, it is essential that every possible effort be made by the state and federal agencies to see that adequate supplies are made available for the coming winter months.

The specter of a fuel shortage on top of slim electric generating reserves is enough to cause much worry for all concerned.

A Message For Young People

By BRYAN HAISLIP
GREENSBORO — North Carolina needs a strong, well planned and executed program of education to get the message to young people that drinking and driving make a lethal mix.

A series of films—cartoons for the early ages, vivid documentaries for teenagers—is the vehicle suggested by State Sen. Hargrove (Skipper) Bowles, Jr.

He is convinced that use of the films in schools, on

The statement was widely interpreted as endorsement for a referendum on the liquor-by-the-drink, and an indication that Bowles was prepared to support such legislation in the 1971 session.

Not at all, he insisted. "As of this moment, I don't know how I would vote. Naturally, it would depend a great deal on the form of the bill, and the nature of controls it would provide," he said.

"As a matter of fact," he pointed out, "I said to the ABC association that legislators need to hear from them with their views and recommendations before making up their minds on the issue."

No Trial Balloon

Nor was it intended as a trial balloon to test out an issue for a future political race, said Bowles, who is openly expressing interest in the 1972 gubernatorial sweepstakes.

"No man in his right mind would attempt to use liquor-by-the-drink as an issue in a statewide campaign," he said. "It's a no-win issue. People are too sharply divided on it."

That's been the nature of reaction to reports on the Asheville speech — sharply divided. There have been those who felt it was a great thing, and there have been friends who said simply, "Skipper must have lost his mind."

The Bowles approach to alcohol, and other problems, is pragmatic. "If we could wave a wand and do away with alcohol completely, I'd say do it this minute. I've seen enough personal tragedy caused by alcohol," he said.

"I'm convinced we can't do away with it, and I see the solution in education and control." Bowles, a Greensboro businessman of diverse interests, served as Conservation and Development director in Terry Sanford's term as governor. That experience convinced him of the need to raise per capita income in North Carolina, in order to develop the resources needed to move the state ahead.

Again, boosting per capita income is no wand-waving assignment. Vocational education and training, opening opportunities before young people at an early stage, is an area in which Bowles has taken a keen interest. In the 1969 session, he joined in the sponsorship of legislation to initiate vocational training in the junior high years.

An Awesome Reminder Of Hurricane's Power

Celia's $300 million damages with 32 lives claimed in Texas is an awesome reminder that Man is still at the mercy of the elements in many cases.

Despite the fact that Celia was carefully tracked and there was time for the area to prepare for the hurricane there were still many lives lost and heavy damage done.

The hurricane had winds of up to 160 miles per hour as it tore into the Corpus Christi area. The residents of the area were powerless to do anything about it except to prepare to ride out the storm as best they could.

It must have been a terrifying time in the Texas coastal section.

More Teacher Activity Seen

By WILLIAM J. WAUGH
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teacher labor leaders predict that union activity will gain momentum this fall in urban, suburban and rural schools of all 50 states, bringing with it the increased chance of teacher strikes.

Their forecasts come after a decade which saw dramatic escalation in the number of teacher walkouts. In the past three years there have been 425 teacher strikes—nearly six times as many as there were in the previous seven years.

The labor movement, which was confined mostly to elementary and secondary schools in the 1960s, now has begun to spread to the two-year and four-year colleges.

Both the National Education Association, with 1.1 million members, and the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, with 200,000 members, are actively organizing higher education personnel.

"The most dramatic change in the next few years will be in the field of higher education," said Robert H. Chanin, NEA general counsel. "There will be a revolt of staff relations to administration in every university."

In three years the NEA affiliate, National Higher Education Association, has chartered 157 chapters with 7,770 members at two-year colleges and 132 locals with 23,000 members at four-year schools.

Negotiations now under way in New Jersey with 14 state colleges are at an impasse that could lead to a strike showdown, Chanin said in an interview.

AFT spokesman John Converse said his organization has enlisted 15,000 higher education members spread over 200 locals. He said at the "present time the only place we are having difficulty is at Seattle Community College."

Adding thrust to the educators' labor movement are new laws in Hawaii and Pennsylvania legalizing teacher strikes. Similar legislation is sought by both teacher groups at state and national levels.

What happens in Pennsylvania will be watched closely by the NEA and AFT. "Pennsylvania could be smooth if the school boards play the game," said Chanin. "We don't expect them to love it but we hope they will accept it and bargain in good faith."

Pennsylvania had 15 teacher strikes last year and Chanin said there undoubtedly will be more.

Converse and James E. Mundy, AFT director of organization, said among their locals they could end up with strikes in Illinois, New Haven and West Haven in Connecticut, Philadelphia and Springfield, Mass.

Converse added that there is a "grave possibility of trouble in Washington, D.C., and a distinct possibility of it in San Francisco."

Since AFT has negotiated multi-year contracts there is little likelihood of labor trouble in New York, Chicago, Detroit, Kansas City or Pittsburgh schools, he said.

Both unions look for considerable activity in the northeast. In the Midwest, Michigan has had a lot of strikes and Chanin said "we'll have fun and games in Michigan" again. Munday agreed.

"There's a lot of grumbling in California," Chanin said, mainly over a state law which prohibits union teacher contracts.

Although last year's 180 strikes is small in relation to the number of school districts in the country—more than 21,000—the increased activity nonetheless "reflects a changing attitude of the teaching profession in general toward unionism."

For years the NEA refused to identify a strike as a strike. Instead, it referred to walkouts as professional holidays, a recess or a withdrawal of services. This is no longer true, and this year the NEA voted 20 per cent of its $25.5 million budget for field staff representatives who, NEA officials say, will be skilled in organizational bargaining for teachers.

Chanin summed up the new attitude this way: "Speeches I make now would have got me fired 10 years ago."

Chanin said there are many reasons for the changing view: a growing desire to have the right to bargain, a desire to have something to say about their future and a right to be involved in school television and before community groups could make a lasting impression on young drivers and a significant contribution to highway safety.

"The under-25 age group represents only one-fifth of the drivers on the road, but they are involved in one-third of the fatal accidents," he said. "Alcohol has a part in more than one-half the fatal accidents. Doesn't it look like this is the proper place to get something going?"

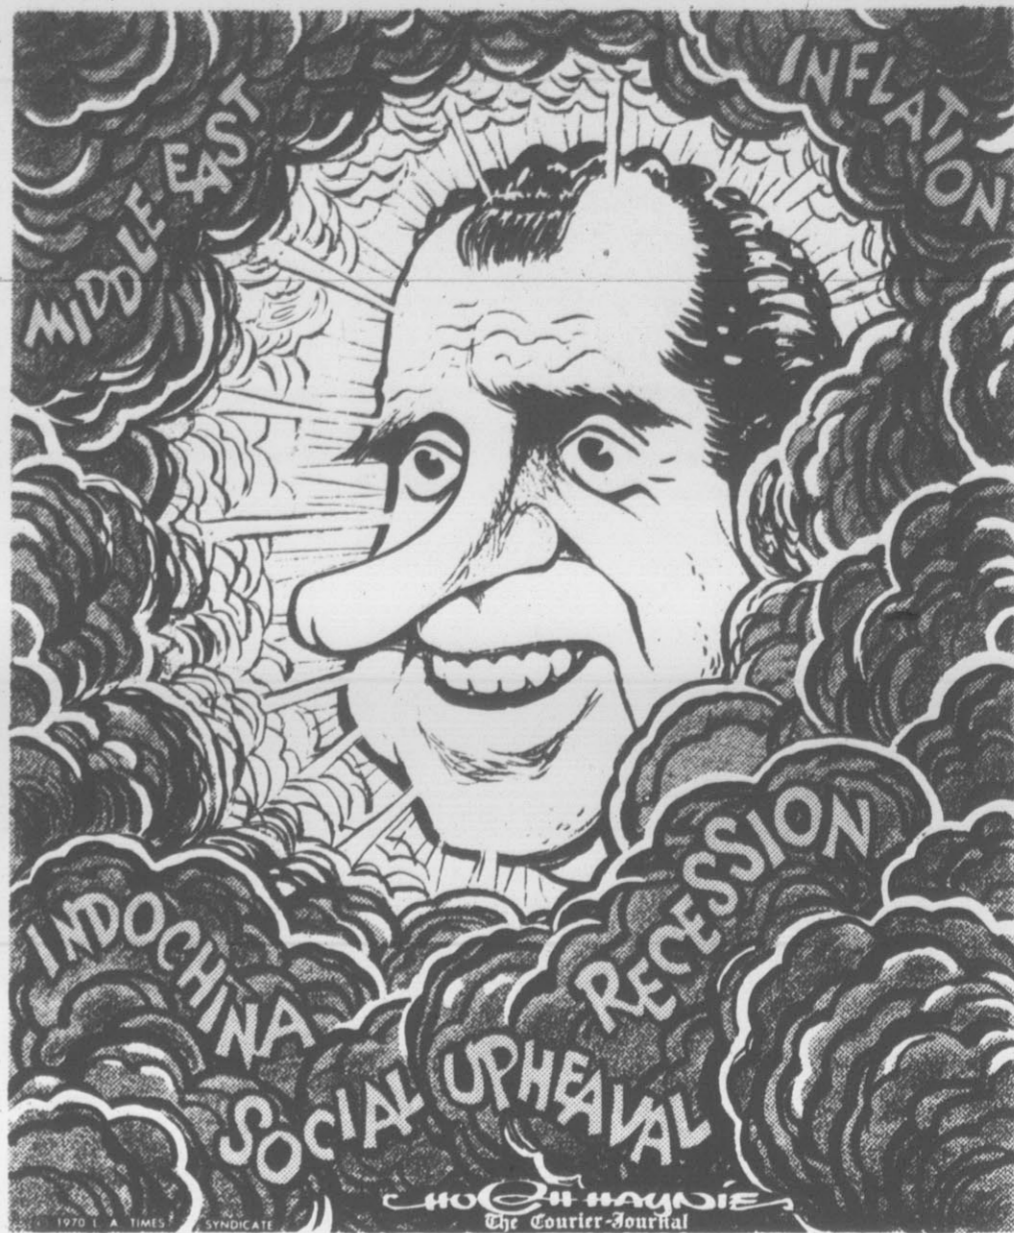

Producing the films is an ambitious and costly project, but Bowles believes it is practical, too. He has an idea for the source of the funds.

ABC Funds Available

"Each of our local ABC units is authorized under the law to spend up to 5 per cent of its profits for educational purposes on the effect of the use of alcohol and for rehabilitation of alcoholics," he explained. "Some of them, particularly the small units, are limited in what they can do alone. By joining hands and working together, they have the resources to mount an impressive and effective program."

Bowles first advanced the proposal last month at the annual conference of the North Carolina Association of ABC Boards in Asheville. It was overshadowed by other remarks he made on the subject of liquor-by-the-drink.

Bowles told the ABC men that the issue is too much for the legislature to solve on its own. "I don't think we should try to make the final decision in the General Assembly that the General Assembly should consider giving the people the opportunity to vote on the entire matter," he said.

"Hey, Look! Some Silver Linings!"

By JAMES KILPATRICK

Decline Of The West?

A month has passed since the cutting-out operation in Cambodia came to an end. By all the usual criteria for judging presidential decisions, this successful venture ought to be winning acclaim. Yet the President continues to suffer denunciation for his action in Cambodia — and it is a terrible symptom of the national sickness that this should be so.

How is one to define this sickness? Part of it is blurred vision: We look at communism, but do not see it clearly. Part of it is an impediment in hearing: Certain voices — the voices of students, the voices of dissenters — register in our heads with disproportionate volume. But the signs point most sadly to a kind of wasting disease.

"It is a matter of will," Frank J. Johnson has written, "and we no longer have it."

Johnson is foreign editor of the American Security Council's Washington Report. Last month he delivered himself of a somber epitaph to the declining greatness of our country. Johnson is not an extremist; he is a scholar and a thinker. He merits an attentive hearing when he concludes that "the tide of history has begun to run against us, and the day of our world preeminence is over."

Listen to Johnson for a moment: "The internal convulsion which beset Rome in the First Century B.C. did so with her external frontiers at least secure so that she could afford the luxury of domestic strife and still survive. We are not so fortunate. Our Times of Troubles has come upon us in the midst of, and in part because of, a titanic world conflict for the political destiny of all mankind. A large segment of our population seems entirely to have lost sight of what is at stake. We are turning inward and contending against each other, either unmindful or uncaring about the holocaust which our withdrawal from power and responsibility will unleash upon the world and upon ourselves."

Everywhere that one looks, as Johnson remarks, one sees a fretful isolationism growing. In the press, in the Congress, in the universities, the "cop-out" counsel swells: Get out of Vietnam. Call the troops home from Europe and Korea. Cancel a scheduled aircraft carrier. Reduce the role of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Cut the funds for weapons research. Downgrade the anti-ballistic missile system.

It is all part of the same myopia, the same tiredness. Great powers must act as great powers. So Mr. Nixon acted in Cambodia — boldly, decisively, responsibly. He said his action would not enlarge the war; and it has not. He said that destruction of the Communist arms depots would enhance the safety of our remaining

Other Editors Say Vital To The State

(Kinston Free Press)
The State Supreme Court has held by a 5-2 vote that the 1969 legislation establishing the North Carolina Housing Corporation is constitutional and thereby has reversed a lower court ruling which questioned its legality.

The action is vital to this State from a number of viewpoints. The first has to do with the authority of the corporation to issue bonds that are tax-free for the establishment of low-cost housing units where they are needed. Secondly it affirms the State's authority to work in this field, where a great deal of progress can be assured if state and local authorities can work together. Finally, it minimizes the emphasis of the federal government in this sector and provides incentives for state and local action.

Chief Justice William Bobbitt in issuing the majority opinion said in part: "The General Assembly, exercising the police power of the State, may legislate for the protection of the public health, safety, morals and general welfare of the people."

"Unquestionably, when construction of residential housing is made possible by the Corporation's assistance, all persons in the building industry benefit from such construction. . . . Too, the 'persons and families of lower income' who will occupy such residential housing as owners or tenants will benefit. . . . The General Assembly with good reason was fully aware that the acquisition of homes by 'persons and families of lower income' gives then a stake in the preservation of our society. Nothing could contribute more to the stability of our institutions than the acquisition of homes by an ever-increasing proportion of our people."

The Court's majority has reasoned well and this ruling should mark a new step forward in the fullest possible development of the whole State as it looks to better housing for all in the future.

Sea's Resources Are Limited

By ELMER ROESSNER
Like so many of today's crazes the wealth-from-the-sea bit has been somewhat overdone.

Not that the oceans don't hold considerable resources. They do. But probably not as many as we have been led to believe. And the resources that are there are going to be hard-very hard—to get at. In many cases the effort will cost far more than the result. Most popular accounts of the sea's wealth stress minerals and food. As for food, this is hardly

new. Man has been taking fish and other nutrients from the oceans since he first learned how to make fishhooks and nets.

There are new opportunities in farming coastal waters but these are limited to the problems of working under water, controlling the environment and pollution. It will probably be simpler and cheaper to turn desert into productive land than to farm beneath the waves.

Bigger Catches
Greatly expanded commercial fishing has also been proposed but this poses questions of basic supply and ecological upset. The problems of Peru's fish meal factories, operating at a low level because of recent poor catches, is indicative.

In minerals there are a few possibilities and many fanciful dreams. The most successful effort has been in oil. But oil drilling is one of the few techniques that can be carried out "at arm's length." You don't have to go under the sea to drill for oil.

Underwater sand and gravel deposits have been lauded. However, there is no dearth of these on dry land.

As for metals, Dr. Preston Cloud, chairman of the Committee on Resources and Man, of the National Academy of Sciences, has interesting points to make. Large quantities of dissolved salts exist in seawater but most are too difficult to extract at reasonable cost. Dr. Cloud notes that it would take almost nine cubic miles of seawater to produce a mere 400 tons of zinc if every bit was extracted.

Rarer Elements
He also points out that it may be feasible to get bromine and magnesium from the ocean, and possibly

Life In 3 Words

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "If you had to sum up the meaning of life to you in a single word, what would that word be? Life is—what?"

In interviewing some 1,500 people in the last 15 years, I have found that question to be the one that intrigues them most.

One expects not surprisingly, the response to the query of what life means reveals Americans to be stubbornly optimistic people. For a great majority answered with one of these three words—love, hope, happiness.

Love, hope, happiness—that is what most of them said life meant to them, young or old, rich or poor, wise or foolish. If there were any difference by sex in their answers, it was that women were more likely to say that life is love and men to say that it is hope.

People who had survived an illness or lost a loved one were more likely to say life is hope. Those in good health and with fond expectations were more inclined to say that life is happiness.

Several people said life is achievement, quest, search, adventure, discovery, pleasure, fun.

Three said life is family. Two, both Roman Catholics, said life to them is God.

One, an executive now self-retired, said life is confusion. A few said life is existence. Many, struggling for a word, came up with "Life is . . . life is . . . why, life is living." They meant by that, I gathered, that no other word could adequately capsule the range and mystery of life.

But no one I questioned said that life is work, labor, money, cash or credit or evil.

Very few people were downright pessimistic. One man did say, "Life is frustration." A few days later he told me he wanted to change his word. Figuring he must be feeling somewhat better, I asked him what he wanted to change it to. "Life is a dead end," he replied.

My own word for the meaning of life is hunger—the desire to know the unknowable, the unrealizable wish to have every experience and to see what is going on in every corner of the world.

But the answer I liked best was one given to me by a friend of 40 years, well acquainted with the pangs and perils and rare enjoyments of life.

"Life," he said, "is bitter-sweet." It is at that, isn't it?

To The Editor:
It seems that most everything we read in our papers nowadays is of a negative nature. I ran across some statistics that I thought would be rather pleasing for some to read.

No matter how it may seem from watching the news on television, radio and reading in our newspapers, in the past year 4,896,720 college students did not demonstrate or burn buildings; 201,489,710 people did not use illegal drugs; 96,459,483 men did not commit a criminal offense.

It would seem there is a bright side to our lives, an extremely bright side if we care to look for it.

Sincerely,
M. W. Aldridge, D.D.S.

Oversupply Of Teachers Emerges In Many Areas

Australia Now Recruits Teachers From America

By IAN McCAUSLAND
Associated Press Writer
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — An advertisement with the invitation "Teach in the happy country down under" has drawn inquiries from 9,000 teachers in the United States.

The drive is for schools in New South Wales, the state which has Sydney as its capital. "We have been astonishingly successful," says Cecil Rubie, of the state's Education Ministry. "We have had to send four additional staff members to the United States to cope with the inquiries."

The advertisement ran once in single newspapers in Washington, New York, St. Louis, San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans and Chicago.

An ad in Canada drew 1,500 inquiries. One ran in chilly Britain and headed "Teach in the sun" brought 3,500 bids for further information.

The greatest number of U.S. inquiries has come from California. New York was second, followed by Maryland and Connecticut.

The unofficial target is 1,000 teachers to overcome what threatens to be an acute shortage in 1971-72.

If 1,000 teachers arrive, this "happy country down under" will be happier; if double this number decides to immigrate it will be delighted.

The shortage stems mainly from a change in the school system under which pupils study for six years in second grade school instead of five. The alteration set up a delayed-action gap of school-leavers which will become evident this year with fewer college graduates taking teacher training.

Another reason for the shortage, teachers say is that the New South Wales government has failed to expedite plans for expanded teacher-training colleges.

The recruitment is welcomed in the United States, says Rubie, since U.S. Office of Education has said 6,000 of 189,000 college graduates with teaching degrees will be unable to find jobs this year.

Salaries in Australia do not compare with those of North America, but neither does the cost of living. A certified teacher straight from college will earn $4,593 a year here. That sort of money puts one in the middle-income group. With five years' teaching experience the minimum salary is $5,604. Those with proven ability will earn more and there are opportunities for promotion.

"Go into teaching. You'll always be able to get a job."

For years, college students have been given that advice by parents and placement officials familiar with the seemingly never ending complaints of a teacher shortage.

That advice may no longer be valid, however. An Associated Press survey shows many metropolitan areas report they have more applications for teaching jobs than positions open and their turnover rate is declining.

Personnel officials attribute the change to several factors: an increase in the number of college graduates going into teaching, higher starting salaries and an economic squeeze that has cut industry's need for scientists.

The Michigan State Board of Education warned recently that because of the oversupply of teachers it is "entirely possible that several hundred spring and summer graduates will not find teaching positions for the 1970-71 school year."

In Detroit, a Board of Education spokesman reported the city had 11,000 teachers and a backlog of 1,000 applicants.

"The simple truth," said the spokesman, "is that teaching jobs are hard to come by right now and so teachers under contract stick with the jobs they have. I know some of them have looked as far as Colorado or Montana for jobs, but the demand is pretty small."

Marvin C. Davis, Education Department personnel director for Baltimore, said the city has "an abundant teacher supply." He said the only shortages are in areas like special education, and in some subjects—including foreign languages and social studies—there are three or four times as many applications as jobs available. The city has 8,500 classroom teachers.

Chicago had so few teachers last year that the Board of Education hired 1,000 persons with provisional teaching certificates. This year, said Edna C. Hickey, director of teacher personnel, "We have Ph.D.s coming to our door for teaching positions that already have been filled."

Mrs. Hickey said the turnover rate in teachers is 6 per cent, which she said was "one of the lowest in the nation and compared to a 15 per cent national average."

Elsie Stone of the Boston University placement bureau said she was having difficulty finding jobs for teaching graduates because a lot of scientists laid off by industry are seeking classroom work.

David Fitzpatrick, assistant director of the Massachusetts Bureau of Teacher Certification and Placement, said there was a general oversupply of English and social studies teachers, although there were some shortages in the fields of industrial arts, women's physical education, math and science. He said the Boston area was attractive to teachers who hoped to do graduate work at colleges and universities in the area.

The story is the same in the Washington, D.C., area.

"We've quit interviewing in most cases and we have a list of people waiting," said Dr. Jack

Hill, director of recruitment for Montgomery County, Md. "We're not finding it too difficult to get experienced teachers and teachers with advanced degrees."

The first U.S. postage stamps (5 cents and 10 cents) went on sale July 1, 1947.

Desegregation Panel Is Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 28-member North Carolina State Advisory Committee on Public Education has been named by the White House to help the state to comply peacefully with school desegregation orders.

planning. Teachers, looking at their own economic plight, also see other unions "outstripping them" in financial gains, he added.

Another element, he said, is the increasing number of male teachers.

Just after World War II almost 95 per cent of the elementary and secondary teachers were women, Chanin said, and of this group 75 per cent were teaching to earn secondary income. Today, he continued, nearly 40 per cent of the teachers are male and their income is basic to the family.

Still another factor, Chanin said, is that teachers now see "social protest as acceptable" to all walks of life—professional as well as nonprofessional.

Asked to list the main causes of teacher walkouts, AFT's Munday said, in the order of importance:

Teaching conditions—size of class, lack of supplies, lack of rapport with administration, lack of proper grievance procedure.

Inability of teachers to be heard—a positive voice in curriculum, selection of books and shaping school policy.

forces; and there is every reason to believe this is true. He promised to withdraw the expedition by June 30; and he fulfilled that promise.

Tactically, strategically, psychologically, the Cambodian venture was sound. Yet much of what might have been gained by this stroke of arms has been lost to the strident clamor of immature students and professional liberals who shun the whole concept of power. They want no part of greatness—not if greatness demands cold steel. Let us therefore ridicule "the generals" and "the admirals," and let us make love, not war.

It is all very tempting. But this should be understood. If the United States advocates its inherited responsibility for defending and preserving Western values, those values are done for. No one else remains to defend them. We must look down the road, in this event, to a twilight of abdication and a long night of tyranny.

For it is just as Johnson says: Willy-nilly, order will be kept. Power vacuums will be filled. In one fashion or another, while we are making love the Communist empire will be waging war. Its purpose never alters. Nixon understands this; but there must be times, in the midst of Washington's cricket chorus, when he wanders in despair if he understands this alone.

Reservist Seeks Army Discharge

GREENSBORO (AP) — The second military reservist in two days has filed suit in U. S. District Court here seeking a discharge on the grounds he is a conscientious objector.

Pvt. John Wilton Day Jr., a member of the 3274 Army Reserve unit in Durham and a graduate student at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, filed suit Wednesday.

Since enlisting in the reserve last May the suit said, Day has decided he can "no longer reconcile service in the military with his beliefs."

Escaped Twice, Never Again

MARSHALL, N. C. (AP) — The sheriff of Madison County says a prisoner who escaped from his jail twice within a week "is going to stay locked up this time."

Sheriff James D. Brown said Kenneth Roland, 40, of Mars Hill escaped once last week and then escaped again Monday night, Brown's first day on the job as sheriff. Roland was recaptured again Wednesday.

A realistic appraisal of his prospects guided South, the declarer at four spades, into a line of play that ran distinctly counter to the odds.

West opened the five of diamonds and East cashed the king and ace. He switched to the three of hearts. After considerable thought, declarer played the nine which disclosed West's ace. South won the heart continuation in his hand, crossed over to the ace of clubs and led the queen of spades for a finesse. When East turned up with the king of spades, South cleared the trump suit without casualty and claimed his contract, having lost two diamonds and one heart.

North congratulated his partner on the latter's fancy footwork in manipulating the heart suit, observing in the process that South had played against the odds in taking a deep finesse. North pointed out that if East was under-leading the ace of hearts, declarer can restrict himself to one loser by putting up an honor and subsequently leading a second heart from the dummy toward the other honor. For South's play to succeed, he had to find East with both the jack and ten of hearts.

South agreed with his partner's conclusions regarding percentages, however he pointed out that his decision had been influenced by purely practical considerations. East had already shown up with the ace and king of diamonds. In order for the contract to succeed, South must play his opponent for the king of spades, where that card is finessable. If in addition, East has the ace of hearts, then surely he would have opened the bidding as the dealer.

Inasmuch as East had passed originally, South automatically assigned the ace of hearts to West in which case he can get out with one heart loser only if East has both the jack and ten.

To Ask Delay In Penalizing For N.C. Fish Kills

TRY THE MOLARS NEXT — This bird toothpicker found more than wood when it started getting a little food from this Tiki statue in Miami. And when he finishes with his snack, it's a good bet that the Tiki will have a lot of cavities. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Water and Air Resources was to be asked today to delay assessment of penalties for the fish kills in the Yadkin River until this fall.

A report presented to the State Pollution Control Committee by the Department of Water and Air Resources Wednesday said three of the five fish kills in the Yadkin since June have cost $23,202.22.

The department placed the major blame on the city of Winston-Salem.

The Pollution Control Committee chairman, P. Greer Johnson of Asheville, said the report would be passed back to the Board of Water and Air Resources today. He added that he would recommend that no other action be taken until after the summer ends because of the possibility of additional fish kills.

The board has the power to pinpoint the blame for the fish kills and assess the guilty party for the cost of the investigation and of replacing the fish.

Tom Walker, public information officer for the department, told a reporter after the meeting that he was sure Winston-Salem would eventually be made to pay for the kills.

The report found that the city of Winston-Salem "is discharging excessive quantities of inadequately treated waste through its sewage treatment plant into the waters of Salem Creek," which carries the wastes into the Yadkin.

It also stated that the discharge of these wastes "result in violation of the water quality standards" set for Salem and muddy creeks by the Board of Water and Air Resources.

The report further states that the flushing of these wastes from the creeks into the river during heavy rainstorms had caused the fish kills by reducing the oxygen content of the river water.

Winston-Salem's city attorney, Pen Sandridge, asked the committee to defer action on the report until city officials could study it.

Norman Buddine, a special assistant to the mayor of Winston-Salem on pollution control, told the committee that although the city is "deeply concerned about this problem," he could see "no constructive accomplishment from singling out the city of Winston-Salem."

"We feel our share of the blame is serious and important, but not unique," he added.

He said the city had started four years ago to increase the capacity of its sewage treatment plant, but that delays to which both the state and federal governments contributed had prevented the building of the addition as quickly as it was needed.

Buddine said the city is currently doubling the plant's ca-capacity at a cost of $6 million and "we hope the first beneficial effects will be felt next year."

He said the city has also met with business and industry leaders from the area, and they have agreed to begin reducing the amount of untreated wastes they discharge into the municipal sewage system each day.

The department report stated that investigators of the State Wildlife Resources Commission had counted 42,310 dead fish weighing 10,989 pounds in three of the five recent fish kills.

Cambodian Air Support Seen 'Americanized'

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

NEAR SKOUN, Cambodia (AP) — Any doubts that U.S. air power has been committed to saving Cambodian battalions in need of direct air support were swept aside today by seven American warplanes.

The air controller on the ground was a U.S. Special Forces-trained Cambodian officer whose radio technique and American slang were flawless. After the air strikes, Cambodian troops recaptured part of the outskirts of Skoun, but heavy fighting still lay ahead. The town lies 40 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Three battalions of Cambodian troops trying to drive away a large Viet Cong and North Vietnamese force on the last four miles to the key road intersection of the district capital at Skoun were caught in firefight early today. They sent out urgent calls for air support.

The first to arrive were a U.S. OV10 reconnaissance plane and a South Vietnamese transport bristling with miniguns.

As the South Vietnamese plane pulled off target with its ammunition spent, this correspondent, who has heard hundreds of air strikes called in South Vietnam listened as the Cambodian officer said on the radio that more air strikes were needed to break down enemy strong points.

The American pilot in the OV10 Code named "Rustic Zero Eight," said in a Midwestern accent; "If you can't get yours (Cambodian aircraft), we will call in our own."

Thirty minutes later, the first F100 arrived and started a bombing pattern.

The Cambodian officer was asked if the strikes were in direct support of his troops or were bombing Communist supply lines leading to South Vietnam, as Washington insists American bombers here are only doing.

"This is direct support for my battalion, watch," the Cambodian officer replied.

On the first pass, the F100 flew at tree-top level and dropped "snake-eyes" bombs—250-pounders with air brakes developed for Vietnam to permit attacking aircraft to get as low as possible before releasing, thus insuring maximum accuracy.

When the first group of two F100s had dropped their last bombs, a second group dove in for napalm passes and huge orange clouds turning dirty black sprang up a bare 900 feet down Highway 6 from the Cambodian soldiers. This is about as close as air support can be and still remain safe.

Finally the jets, still roaring at tree-top level, fired 20mm Gatling guns with high explosive incendiary shells into the enemy positions.

"Okay, that's it, Hotel Eight. There will be another Rustic here in two zero minutes if you need more help," the OV10 pilot said.

"Rustic Zero Eight, this is Hotel Eight," said the Cambodian ground controller over the radio. "Roger that and thanks."

Oppose Fire Ant Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two groups have filed suit to challenge a $200 million battle against stinging fire ants in North Carolina and eight other Southern states.

The suit filed in U. S. District Court Wednesday, accuses the Agriculture Department of indiscriminately bombing 120 million acres with an insecticide alleged to have caused cancer in laboratory mice.

The suit was filed by the Environmental Defense Fund, East Setauket, N. Y., and the Committee for Leaving the Environment of America Natural (CLEAN) a citizens' association in Oktibbeha County, Miss.

The eradication campaign — already under way in South Carolina and Georgia — calls for scattering from aircraft 450 million pounds of Mirex insecticide over a 12-year period.

The suit's sponsors described Mirex as an "extremely stable and persistent" insecticide and a carcinogen (cancer-causing agent) that can kill birds and mammals but is most damaging to oysters, shrimp, shell fish and fish "with man at the top of these food chains."

The groups also say the complete eradication of fire ants is neither biologically nor technically feasible and economically unjustified.

Local Student On Dean's List

SPARTANBURG, S. C. — Miss Carol Andresen of Greenville, N. C., has been named to the Dean's List at Converse College for the spring term of the 1969-70 session.

To achieve this honor, students must be in the upper 20 percent of their class academically and have a grade-point ratio of at least 2.0 under the 3.0 system.

Miss Andresen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. K. Andresen, of E. 10th St., is a rising senior at the four-year women's college.

Might Withdraw Free Bussing

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Free bus transportation for some 7,000 Charlotte pupils might be withdrawn because of other bussing demands extending from court-ordered desegregation of local schools.

A three-judge federal panel had told school boards across the state last year that they must provide transportation for all city pupils, not just those in recently annexed areas.

Charlotte-Mecklenburg's school board chairman, William Poe said all available buses would be needed to carry out bussing that results from a U.S. District Court desegregation order.

The National Automobile Club says 99 per cent of all trips in the nation's urban areas are made by motor vehicle.

Can't Solve Its Problems

RALEIGH (AP) —A chicken processing plant in Chatham County will shut down its operations in December and move to another county because it has not been able to solve the water pollution problems it was creating for Pittsboro.

The Pittsboro Poultry Co., a $1 million firm employing 140 persons, reportedly plans to move its operations to Lumber Bridge in Robeson County.

The Pollution Control Committee of the State Board of Water and Air Resources adopted a resolution Wednesday endorsing "the proposed action to correct the pollution abatement problem for the town of Pittsboro by the removal of industrial waste water from the town's sewage system."

Statistics showed the company discharges an estimated 250,000 gallons of waste water a day into the town's sewage system. The firm overloads the system and creates smelly contamination when the waste is flushed into Robertson's Creek.

from getting a loan. "The government or anybody else would not lend money to a bad credit risk," he informed them, but the grants, if made, do not have anything to do with credit but are made in the form of gifts.

"Naturally, only people with 'moderate' incomes would qualify for the grants and credit ratings would have no bearing," he said.

Pearlie Moore, a Cherry View resident, commented, "I'm in favor of rehabilitation but at the same time I would like to have some assurance in black and white that if you come into the neighborhood, that would be as far as you would go."

"I would hesitate to draw up such a document because I do not know what you mean by 'as far as you would go,'" Dubber said. "We would carry out a project exactly as we said it would be done and no further," he added.

Replying to accusations that plans made public as to the execution of the Shore Drive project were not carried out, Dubber said that the project was executed "exactly the way it was explained in public hearings" and nothing was done beyond what was planned and made public.

Billy Laughinghouse, chairman of the Redevelopment Commission, pointed that "urban renewal is a living, breathing project. We can not stand here tonight and tell you exactly what will be done in the future because things change."

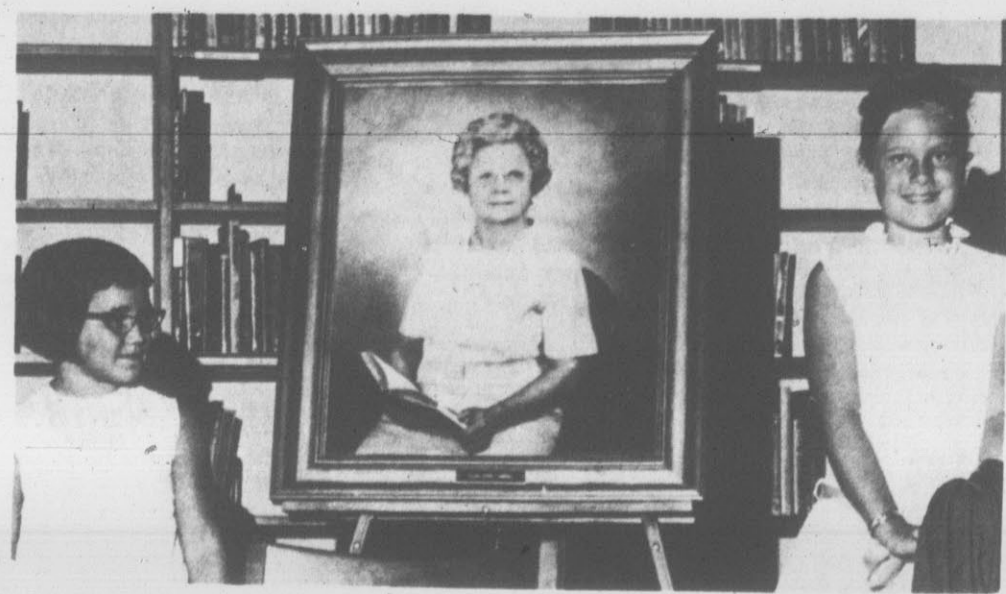

"But, I do not foresee the building of any public housing in this area. I'm not saying it will not be done ever but I do not foresee us building any public housing here," he added.

Laughinghouse pointed out that the commission does not have any feelings as to which residential area of the GNRP the rehabilitation work beings in. "The reason we picked Cherry View as a possible starting project after GNRP was because it is the easiest to do."

It was explained that clearance was not included in GNRP nor physical rehabilitation. "What we are trying to do is improve what you have got, not tear down," Dubber said.

Dubber said that under GNRP, no rehabilitation was planned for the area known as Cherry View. If, after studies are made, the area is found to qualify as a rehabilitation project, then the people of the area can go to the City and ask for authorization to receive the grants and loans under the project format.

Hoffa Fails A Third Time To Win Reversal

CHICAGO (AP) —James R. Hoffa, imprisoned president of the Teamsters union, has failed for the third time in an attempt to have his conviction for mail and wire fraud and conspiracy overturned.

The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals denied Wednesday a request by Hoffa and five others to have their 1964 convictions reversed.

Hoffa claimed the U.S. District Court should not have denied the defendants' request to examine summaries of the logs of recorded conversations between them.

The appeals court ruled the defendants did not need a summary since they had been allowed to look at the logs.

Hoffa was convicted of defrauding the Teamsters Pension Fund of more than $1 million and was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $1,000. The appeals court denied in 1966 and again in 1968 attempts by Hoffa to get the conviction overturned.

possession of a quiet voice backed up by great inner strength," Rose said. "The great and good people of the earth possess this quality. Ellen Carroll has it."

Rose continued, "One of her assets is her interest in and sympathy for the child who found the going rough because of anti-social behavior caused by the lack of proper home atmosphere or poor health or the lack of average mental ability."

"Mrs. Carroll was a pioneer in the field of Mental Health for Pitt County," he said.

Mrs. Carroll has served as an elementary school principal, as a critic teacher, as an instructor in the Department of Education at East Carolina University, as a Director of Instruction in the Greenville City Schools for seven years, as assistant superintendent of Greenville City Schools in charge of Instruction for four years.

Participating in Sunday's event were Dr. C.C. Cleetwood, Sam D. Bundy, Mrs. Georgia

Franklin, John T. Jones, Laura Ellen Lewis and Sarah Ellen Carroll.

Students assisting were Rhonda Hooks, Linda Carter, Sylvia Carraway, Kim Jordan, Angela Jones and Janet Boone.

Mrs. Leonard Crawford and Miss Nancy Jane Carroll poured punch at the reception and Miss Nancy Lewis presided at the guest register.

Guest Lectures By Scientists

Two distinguished scientists recently addressed the East Carolina University Summer Institute in Project Physics.

Dr. Ernan McMullin, chairman of the Department of Philosophy at the University of Notre Dame, and Dr. Norman D. Anderson, associate professor of science education at N. C. State University, were guest lecturers for the institute last week.

Dr. McMullin's address was entitled: "Is There a Scientific Method?" and Dr. Anderson's, "Some New and Exciting Things in Science Education." Both lectures were part of a series of programs for teachers of secondary school physics who are participating in the six-week institute.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj. Otis C. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morgan of Candler, N. C., was listed Wednesday as killed in action in Southeast Asia.

Firemen Respond To False Alarm

Greenville firemen were called to Box 336 at the intersection of Sunset Avenue and Hillcrest Drive at 9:58 p.m. yesterday when a false alarm was turned in from that box.

The Greenville City Code provides for a $100 reward to be paid for information leading to the arrest and conviction of anyone turning in a false alarm.

The Children's Theater of Greenville will give its final production of the summer at 8:00 tomorrow night in the Elmhurst Elementary School Auditorium.

The production, entitled "Kaleidoscope," will feature a variety of comedy acts. Master and mistresses of ceremonies are Wayne Smith and Jane Welborn and Sharon Powell.

"Bewares" and "The Machine," will be presented by the entire group. Another of his poems, "Brother Nothings" will be portrayed by Teresa Roscoe and Denise Bullock.

Sandburg's jokes too will be part of the evening fare. These will be told by Dorsey Sanderson, Becky Dixon, and Sandy and Gail Sanderson.

James Thurber's "Unicorn In The Garden" is to be enacted by Anne Corso as the wife, Dorsey Sanderson as the husband, and Kim Gibbs, narrator. Teresa Roscoe plays the psychiatrist and Todd Weeden the policeman.

Another Thurber classic "Little Girl and The Wolf" will have Beth Hignite, Amy Jo Pierce, and Mike Dixon in the cast.

A stage version of "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty" stars Pit Dickson as Walter Mitty and Donna Weeden as Mrs. Mitty. Others having roles in this abbreviated version will be Will Sanderson, Todd Weeden, Kim Gibbs, Cora Lee, Tammy Cayton, Amy Jo Pierce and Jack Mann.

A final act in "Kaleidoscope" will be a ventriloquist dialogue with Will Sanderson in the role of Mortimer Snurd.

The public is invited to attend the final summer performance by the children. Admission is free.

NEW YORK (AP) —A stubborn, smoky fire in a new, 50-story skyscraper at the tip of Lower Manhattan has killed two security guards and injured 35 other persons, including 24 firemen.

It was about 6 p.m. Wednesday when the fire began, apparently in a 33rd floor room housing elevator motors. Not until midnight were the flames declared under control.

The glass-and-aluminum tower at 1 New York Plaza opened five months ago. Its principal tenant is Chase Manhattan Bank. Much of the interior was still being finished when the blaze occurred.

Chief of the Fire Department John T. O'Hagan said the glass and metal construction created considerable difficulties for the firemen.

"The thing that hinders us is the design and construction of the building — they don't provide for any ventilation to dissipate the heat when you have a serious fire," he said.

Tiny Tim Now Jaycee Member

PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. (AP) —Tiny Tim, the long haired, falsetto-voiced singing star, eagerly signed an application card for a local Jaycee unit Wednesday and was promptly accepted as a member.

The performer was rehearsing for an appearance at the Clinton County Fair when he was approached by several Jaycees who suggested the join the organization.

"His wife filled out the card," said Sgt. Gary Flaherty, an Army recruiter who is president of the local chapter, "and Tiny Tim signed it."

Northwood And Sylva Advance To Semi-Finals

Northwood Advances Into Semi-Final Play

Sylva Breaks The Ice In The Eighth

The opening game of the State Little League Tourney at Elm Street yesterday turned out to be a pitcher's duel up until the last inning. Pineville's Tom Rea had a no-hitter going for him until the bottom of the sixth inning. Northwood's Mark King allowed five hits but they were scattered throughout the ball game.

Pineville threatened during most of the ball game, in the first as three men walked but all three were stranded. The closest they came was in the second when another runner reached on a walk and then advanced all the way to home only to be cut down at the plate. In the fourth Pineville threatened again with Price and Norwood getting to second and third on their own hits but again they were left on base.

Northwood couldn't seem to sight in on Tom Rea's pitching yesterday. Rea pitched a no-hit ball game until the bottom of the sixth inning when Rick Aldridge singled and George Wilkie's fielders choice was errored putting runners on first and second. Bobby Tillison sacrificed Aldridge to third and another bunt by Marty Burdett scored Aldridge to wrap up the win for Northwood.

Northwood will advance into semi-final play today with a game with Caldwell County at 3 p.m. All games will be played at Elm Street.

The second game turned out to be an extra inning affair. The two teams each playing for a bid for the State title found themselves tied at three all at the end of regulation play. The game went eight innings before Sylva could come up with three runs to claim the game.

Cool Springs started with a bang, scoring three runs in the first inning. The bases were loaded because of a series of errors and David Wright hit a double that cleared the bases.

The Sylva team seemed to settle down after that and allowed no more runs the rest of the game.

Sylva showed their power in the fourth inning when Tim Jones singled and Jimmy Streeter hit a home run that brought in two runs for his team.

In the fifth inning; the only scoring was done by Stevie Streeter when he hit a line drive home run to tie the score at three all. The score remained the same until the top of the eighth inning when Stevie Streeter doubled and Alton Owen singled. Jimmy Streeter came up and promptly hit another homer this time bringing in three runs. This proved to be the ball game because Sylva held Cool Springs in their half of the inning.

Sylva advances into the semi-final round today. They play the Greenville Tar Heels at 5 p.m. at Elm Street.

Larry Hinson Satisfied With Only First Place

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Larry Hinson looked almost embarrassed as he received congratulations from his fellow pros for his gutty, second place tie in last week's rich Westchester Golf Classic.

"But I didn't win," the boyishly handsome 25-year-old blonde said. "I didn't win."

"That was a $7,000 putt you made," Bunky Henry said.

"But I didn't win."

"You've had two seconds and three thirds this year," another pro said.

"But I didn't win."

Hinson, in his third year on the pro circuit and winner of last year's New Orleans Open, has picked up almost $84,000 this year and has been tabbed by many as one of the most promising young plays on the tour.

"The money's nice, but I want to win," the 6-foot-2, 155 pounder said today before the first round in the $150,000 American Golf Classic on the 7,180-yard, par 70 Firestone Country Club course.

He has the determination, the good looks, a certain flair with the gallery that is winning him bigger and bigger followings.

The tie with Jack Nicklaus, his playing partner, last week helped put him in the public eye.

Both trailed eventual winner Bruce Crampton by three strokes going to the final hole, a long par five. Hinson put his second shot on the green, about seven feet from the hole.

Nicklaus also reached, but was about 21 feet away.

"When I put it on the green I thought there was no way Nicklaus could beat me for second," Hinson said. "I thought the same thing when I got to the green and saw him away. But he ran that thing in and then I got mine. The guy must have nerves of steel."

Hinson said the millionaire Nicklaus told him, "Larry, that last shot of yours cost me a lot of money."

"I told him if I knew he needed the money I'd have missed the putt," Hinson said. Hinson, a native of Douglas, Ga., now playing out of North Carolina, overcame the handicap of a polio-withered left arm to become a top money winner.

He played football, basketball, baseball and high jumped in high school after making a decision "that polio wasn't to stop me from being an average boy. I was a while convincing my parents of it, but I never doubted in my own mind that I was going to make it."

He said the victory at New Orleans was a key factor in his career.

"There's nothing like your first win on the tour to build the right attitude, and that's what New Orleans did for me," he said.

"It isn't a feeling of cockiness, but rather a feeling that you belong and have as good a chance as anyone else of winning a tournament."

He was one of the top choices in the field of 101 chasing the $30,000 first prize here. Others include Nicklaus, U.S. Open champ Tony Jacklin, defending champion Ray Floyd, Gary Player and host pro Bobby Nichols. Arnold Palmer is not competing.

Minnesota Prepared To Play Without Kapp

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
While the Minnesota Vikings were telling Joe Kapp to take it or leave it, most National Football League clubs were shedding players and a few were picking them up.

Kapp, who played out his option last year as he led the Vikings to the NFL championship, is reportedly demanding a four-year, million-dollar contract and a $250,000 bonus. His whereabouts have not been known for nearly two weeks.

Wednesday, though, the Vikes sent a telegram to Kapp's attorney, John Elliott Cook, saying further meetings to discuss contract terms "would serve no real purpose" and that Kapp should either accept their previous offer and report to training camp immediately or look for work elsewhere.

"We are prepared to play the 1970 season without Kapp,"

General Manager Jim Finks said. "We won't give in to demands that are totally out of line with the principles we have used in the past to sign Vikings players."

Nine-year cornerback Herb Adderly of the Green Bay Packers and five-year middle linebacker Al Atkinson of the New York Jets retired.

Adderly gave no reason for his action but Atkinson said players such as controversial Jets quarterback Joe Namath and the recent players' strike were major factors in his decision.

The Chicago Bears signed wide receiver George Farmer of UCLA, their No. 1 draft choice, after a brief salary dispute.

The Cincinnati Bengals' first pick, tackle Mike Reid, of Penn State, strained his right knee and was hospitalized. He will miss the Bengals' exhibition opener Saturday night against Washington.

The Redskins released 10-year defensive tackle Joe Rutgens and five youngsters and announced they will start a veteran offensive unit headed by quarterback Sonny Jurgensen.

The New York Giants acquired veteran linebacker Matt Hazeltine from San Francisco, reportedly for cash.

Ashe Putting His Game Together For Tournament

BROOKLYN, Mass. (AP)—Arthur Ashe seems to be putting his game together just at the right time, and the onetime king of American amateur tennis hopes it just might carry him to the top in his first crack at the U.S. pro championship.

"I figure my chances are pretty good," the Davis Cup star from Gum Spring, Va., said Wednesday after advancing to the quarterfinals with a 6-3, 6-4 second round victory over Ismail El Shafey of the United Arab Republic.

It was the second consecutive triumph in straight sets for Ashe, but he figures to have a bit more trouble in his quarterfinal test against Tony Roche, who also advanced Wednesday by defeating his fellow Australian Fred Stolle, 7-6, 6-7, 6-1.

Roche, who is seeded fourth in this tournament compared to Ashe's No. 8 seeding, defeated the American in their last meeting and holds a over-all edge against him. But in the current $50,000 tourney at Longwood, with its use of the relatively new sudden death tiebreaking system, anything can happen in a given match.

Roche and Stolle gave a good demonstration of that in their duel Wednesday night, taking turns winning via tiebreakers before Roche turned it on take the last set easily.

Ashe had less trouble with El Shafey, breaking him at love in the eighth game of their first set and the holding his service in the ninth game to close it out.

The American also broke in the first and third games of the second set for an apparent runaway, but the two-handed hitting Arab came back to make a battle of it for a while, breaking in the sixth game and carrying Ashe to duce on his serve in both the eighth and 10th games before finally succumbing.

Australia's unseeded Ray Ruffels pulled the biggest upset of the third day of the week-long tournament, ousting fifth-seeded Andres Gimeno of Spain, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, while another Aussie, sixth-seeded Roy Emerson, breezed past Mark Cox of England, 6-1, 6-2.

Ashe, Roche, Emerson and Ruffels thus are in the quarterfinals, with the other four places being decided today. Rod Laver of Australia, seeking a fifth consecutive championship here, meets Ray Moore of South Africa; Clark Graebner of New York City, upset winner over top-seeded John Newcombe in their first round match, plays Jaime Fillol of Chile; third-seeded Ken Rosewall of Australia meets Cliff Drysdale of South Africa; and Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., plays Jan Kodeš of Czechoslovakia.

Billy Joe, Son To Defend Title

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP) — Billy Joe Patton of Morganton and his son Chuck will defend their title Friday in the 4th annual father-son championship of the Carolina Golf Association at Pinehurst.

A record field of 130 two-man teams are scheduled for the 18-hole event at the Pinehurst Country Club. Both team members will play from the tee, but after the drives, the better ball will be played to complete the hole.

The Patton twosome won the title last year with a birdie on the third hole of a sudden-death playoff of four teams.

A home modernizing plan for people who hate to give up a beautiful 5½% mortgage.

The home you bought five or ten years ago may not be the carefree, modern beauty you'd like to buy today.

Maybe the kitchen doesn't have all those up-to-date conveniences. And it doesn't have a panelled family room (which you didn't need then because you didn't have a lot of family). And the laundry room is two floors away from the laundry. And there aren't enough bedrooms.

But there is one thing about your home that looks more beautiful every year. The old mortgage.

It may have cost you around 5½%. A bargain compared to today's high mortgage rates.

How to move up without moving out.

If you've decided that this just isn't the time to buy your dream home, at least you can make the most of what you've got. With a plan that creates new space within old walls. That makes adding space easier.

Modernizing with electric heat.

Considering, for example, your old furnace and fuel tanks. They could be eating up a lot of valuable space that might be turned into a cheerful family room or den.

Perhaps bulky radiators or floor furnaces are taking up valuable space that could be used to make rooms larger. (Aren't uncluttered walls and floors one thing you love about today's new homes?)

Maybe you'd like to add an extra bedroom and bath. But you know your present heating system won't handle the extra load.

Electric heat. The problem solver.

Today's modern electric heating systems can solve all of these space problems. And give you cleaner, safer year-round comfort as well.

Consider all the options available with electric heat. If you want to use existing pipes and ducts, you can change your fuel-burning furnace to a space-saving electric furnace or boiler. No fuel to burn, no fuel tanks, no smoke, no air pollution.

Or you can put a "heat pump" outside to save more space. And enjoy heating and cooling for year-round comfort.

Or you can replace everything—especially bulky radiators and floor furnaces—with modern electric baseboards. And enjoy clean, uncluttered rooms that open up all kinds of decorating possibilities.

Electric baseboards also simplify adding extra rooms—and give you another feature of total electric living: room-by-room temperature control.

Namath Says Football No Longer Big Concern

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Problem-plagued Joe Namath, at still another crossroads in his career, was expected to meet with New York Jets' officials today following verbal blasts by teammates Al Atkinson and Gerry Philbin that indicated the controversial quarterback was the cause of dissension on the club.

"I am going to try and sit down with Mr. Iselin (Jets President Phil Iselin) and talk to him to get this straightened out," Namath told the New York Times late Wednesday from his new East Side apartment in Manhattan.

"I've got a lot of problems. Football used to be No. 1 with me but at this stage it's not my main concern. I honestly don't know what I'm going to do. I'm working to get my problems solved. Some of them are business problems, a lot are personal."

Namath also seemed to be apologizing for the problems he had stirred on the Jets, only one year removed from their Super Bowl triumph that astounded the world of professional football, when he said:

"When someone of Al's character questions by character, I have to question myself. I don't try to hurt anybody in any way and if I have I'm sorry."

While the latest cause celebre in Namath's career of cause celebrenhis failure to report to camp following the end of the players' strike—seemed to precipitate the revelation of dissatisfaction on the club, indications were that the disenchantment has existed for a considerably longer time.

That was evident in veteran defensive end Philbin's admission that a double standard going back five years has been condoned by the club in regard to Namath and Atkinson's surprise retirement at age 27 because of his complete disillusionment with Namath and players of a similar like.

Atkinson's deep feelings were hinted at in an official statement announcing his retirement which said:

"I was somewhat disturbed about the recent negotiations for a new players' contract. A lot of people these days just want to do their own thing. They don't know where they are going, but they want to go their own way anyway."

Atkinson said he would have more to say, but would only say it to Dave Anderson of the New York Times and Dick Young of the New York Daily News, and in interviews with them, did single out Namath for a verbal broadcast.

"What really disqusts me is this quarterback not thinking for a minute about the married men on the club, the guys with responsibilities, the average little guys who have families to worry about," Atkinson said.

"That extra money in January means something to them. Not to him. He has his. It bothers me that a lot of guys with kids and mortgages are working hard hoping for a big payoff by winning the Super Bowl, but are wondering where their leader is."

"That quarterback," Atkinson continued, never once mentioning Namath by name, "hasn't even told his team what he intends to do now. I don't think it's fair."

Oyler Finally Has Some Fans

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Somewhere in baseball-barren Seattle, a small group of die-hard fans surely are cheering again for Ray Oyler after he gave California fans something to cheer about for the first time.

The light-hitting shortstop, who left Seattle before the baseball team did finally made some fans in Anaheim as the minhero in the Angels' 7-5 victory over the Minnesota Twins in Minneapolis Wednesday night.

Jim Spencer was the big hero with two two-run homers, including the game winner in the eighth inning, as the Angels remained tied for second place and pulled within seven games of the leading Twins in the American League West.

But it was Oyler, a fifth inning replacement for All-Star shortstop Jim Fregosi, who did the unexpected—he got a base hit—setting off the winning three-run explosion in the eighth, and then he squeezed home an insurance run in the ninth.

Oakland, tied with the Angels, kept pace with a 4-1 victory over Kansas City, while elsewhere, Baltimore slapped down Boston 3-0, Detroit tripped Washington 3-1, the New York Yankees dropped Cleveland 7-3 and the Chicago White Sox bombed Milwaukee 9-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 4-0, the New York Mets downed St. Louis 5-3, San Francisco dumped Cincinnati 5-3, Los Angeles crushed Atlanta 12-2, Montreal upended the Chicago Cubs 6-2 before losing 11-3 in a two-night doubleheader and Houston edged San Diego 4-3 in 10 innings.

The Angels, despite Spencer's two-run homer in the sixth inning, entered the eighth trailing 5-3. It was here that they must have really felt the pain in Fregosi's back, which he injured the night before and forced him out of this game.

Instead of Fregosi leading off the eighth, it was Oyler, who oddly had a rabid fan club in Seattle last season despite his .176 career batting average. After being traded first to Oakland and then sold to the Angels, he hadn't made much of a hit in Anaheim without a hit in nine times at bat.

But, lo and behold, Oyler made a big hit here—a single past third and the Angels were rolling. After a walk, ace reliever Ron Perranoski came in and got Billy Cowan to hit into a doubleplay, but Tommie Reynolds beat out a roller, scoring

NBA Clubs Meet Today Danny Frisella Pitches Mets By St. Louis Cards

CHICAGO (AP) — Owners of National Basketball Association clubs met today for a series of discussions on routine matters and, it's believed, on proposals to merge with the American Basketball Association.

There's nothing on the agenda to indicate that any formal consideration will be given to the idea of merging, but an issue with such ramifications is not likely to escape some notice.

Officially, the league's Board of Governors had before them plans for the 1971 All-Star Game, television policy, and next seasons playoffs, which now affect 17 clubs with the addition of three new members.

The move to merge has been stalled by the NBA player's suit and awaits possible enabling legislation by Congress.

There also is some opposition to merger among NBA owners.

At a session Wednesday, coaches got together for a run-down on rule interpretations, necessitated particularly by the appearance of four new mentors, one heading the Phoenix Suns and the others leading the three expansion clubs, Portland, Cleveland and Buffalo.

The New York Mets put ointment on Gary Gentry's blister and reliever Danny Frisella in Gentry's place as starting pitcher. It was the right treatment.

When Gentry developed a blister on his pitching hand, Frisella, also a right-hander, was given his first start of the season and he worked 7-3 innings in the Mets' 5-2 victory over St. Louis Wednesday night.

The victory kept the Mets a game behind the first-place Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-0 winners over Philadelphia, in the National League East.

Elsewhere in the National League, Montreal beat Chicago 6-2 before the Cubs came back to win 11-3, San Francisco stopped Cincinnati 5-3, Houston shaded San Diego 4-3 in 10 innings and Los Angeles blasted Atlanta 12-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees topped Cleveland 7-3, Kansas City took Oakland 4-1, California nipped Minnesota 7-5, Detroit edged Washington 3-1, Baltimore blanked Boston 3-0 and the Chicago White Sox walloped Milwaukee 9-3.

Frisella, who had relieved 10 times this season, stopped the Cardinals on four hits and a run until Vic Davalillo's pinch triple with two-out in the ninth. Frisella, 5-1, was then relieved by Ron Taylor who gave up an RBI single to Joe Torre, making it 5-2, and then stopped St. Louis the rest of the way.

rotation upset by injuries, Luke Walker, 8-3, joined the Pirates' relievers-turned-starters and stopped Philadelphia on two hits, singles by Jim Hutto and Mike Ryan in the sixth.

Al Oliver drove in three runs for Pittsburgh with a groundout and a two-run homer, and the Pirates' Bill Mazeroski recorded his 4,781 putout in the sixth setting a National League record for career putouts by a second baseman.

It was all Bob Bailey on offense in Montreal's first game victory. Bailey lashed a single and three-run homer to back Mike Wegener's seven-hit pitching.

In the nightcap, Cubs' rookie southpaw Larry Gura, making his second start, won his first major league game. An RBI single by Glenn Beckert and Jim Hickman's three-run homer sent the Cubs to a 4-0 lead in the first inning. John Callison also homered for Chicago, while Rusty Staub and John Boccabella homered for Montreal.

Gaylord Perry, 15-10, stopped Cincinnati on four hits and drove in what proved to be the winning run with a sacrifice fly in the fourth. Perry no-hit the Reds until they scored on three walks and two hits in the sixth.

After Pete Rose singled with one out, three walks forced in a run and Lee May's two-out double drove in two.

Oyler, and Spencer followed with his 10th homer.

Refusing to rest on his laurels in the ninth, Oyler squeezed in Sandy Alomar with another run.

Oakland relied on the big bat of Don Mincher and the pitching of Chuck Dobson, 13-10. Mincher hit two doubles and a single and drove in two runs behind Dobson's four-hitter.

Jim Palmer equalled his 16 victories of 1969 by clipping Boston on four hits as Baltimore won its fourth in a row and ended Sonny Siebert's personal winning string at five games.

Don Wert was the power behind Detroit as he singled in one run and doubled and scored another, giving the Tigers a 2-0 lead. Mickey Stanley homered in the ninth for the extra run, but Mickey Lolich, 10-12, didn't need it, scattering seven hits as Detroit broke a four-game spin.

The Yankees jumped on Sam McDowell, 16-6, with two run homers by Thurman Munson and Bobby Murcer. Then, after Ray Fosse pulled the Indians within one run in the sixth with a three-run homer, Pete Ward and Gene Michael singled in runs in the ninth and another scored on an error.

Ed Herrmann hit the first grand slam homer of his career and Jim Magnuson won his first major league game for the White Sox. Bill Melton also drove in two runs and Syd O'Brien hit a two-run homer.

Underpaid, Quits Pros

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Lance Alworth says he quit pro football cause he was vastly underpaid.

The All Star wide receiver of the San Diego Chargers unexpectedly retired Tuesday and Wednesday he said he never received the salary many believed he was earning.

It had been estimated that the 6-foot former Arkansas pass catcher had earned about $70,000 yearly on a long-term contract.

"If the published figures were correct, I couldn't afford to quit football," Alworth said. "But I can go to Phoenix and earn $25,000 or $30,000 along with certain other opportunities and do better than I can playing with the Chargers. I've been offered a fine job and the time came to retire."

Alworth's lawyer, Don Augustine, said Alworth made a series of good business deals but got caught in the tight money market.
