

School Plan Unchanged

Board Okays Compliance

The court approved school plan for Greenville's City Schools for the school year 1969-70 remains unchanged following a special meeting held this morning at 9:00 o'clock.

Approval was voted by board members for a letter of compliance to HEW which will result in Greenville's school being removed from the deferred list of federal funds for new projects.

School board members at an earlier special meeting Tuesday night had deferred voting on an amendment proposed by residents of Hillsdale - Carolina Heights until a legal opinion could be received from board attorney W. W. Speight.

Speight informed board members it was his opinion that any amendment submitted would have to be a board request for an amendment to the approved school plan. This in turn, he noted, would necessitate the court having to submit the amended plan to attorneys for the plaintiff, permitting them time to file a reply, and then establish a hearing on the amended plan.

In briefly reviewing prior action on formulating the accepted plan, Speight noted that the zoning map had been made a part of the plan and changes to the map would constitute an amendment to the basic plan.

"There is no other way to submit an amendment," Speight commented, "and it is my opinion the judge (federal judge John Larkins, Jr.) would not consider it except as an authorized amendment submitted by the board."

Following Speight's resumé of opinion, Mrs. Robert Kittrell entered a motion that "the elementary portion of the school plan be amended to return 134 children from the Hillsdale - Carolina Heights area to South Greenville School from assignment to Sadie Sautler School, and that the necessary adjustments be made by assigning school children from Brook Valley and the Washington Highway area to Sadie Sautler."

When Mrs. Kittrell's motion failed to receive a second, Board Chairman Dr. E. B. Aycock stated "I assume then that the approved plan remains unchanged."

Board members then approved the submission of a letter of compliance to HEW. The letter, prepared by board attorney Speight, indicates that the Greenville School plan has been approved by the court, and asks that federal funds for new projects no longer be deferred.

By being on the deferred list, the Greenville City Schools has been unable for the past year and a half to request federal matching funds for new projects. The deferral did not actually result in the loss of any funds for projects already in progress, but meant that the school system could not ask for funds for new programs such as the kindergarten program and expansion of the vocational rehabilitation program.

City Council Acts To Expand Size By Two Members

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

City Councilmen declared their intent last night to direct the drafting of an ordinance for the city which would lead to increasing the size of the city's governing body from four to six councilmen.

City Manager Harry Hagerty read the resolution of intent, which noted that an ordinance to effect the increase would be introduced into the regular September meeting, with a public hearing to be established for the regular meeting in October.

Thomas Long, a resident of the street, appeared to explain that 13 children live in houses on the short half - block street. He noted he believes a petition to close the street can be secured if the approved plan does not alleviate the present dangers. In other actions, the councilmen: —Approved the first quarter payment of $375.00 to the Greenville - Pitt County Council (Continued on page 6)

Mid-East Truce Only Days Away

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring was seeking agreement between Arab and Israeli diplomats today on peace talk procedures, and sources in Jerusalem said the talks probably would get under way on the island of Cyprus in about 10 days.

Jarring is meeting in New York with the U.N. ambassadors from Egypt, Jordan and Israel, whose governments all have accepted the U.S. proposal for 90-day cease-fire and indirect negotiations with Jarring as the go-between.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli defense officials met to work out details of a cease-fire plan, and reliable sources said it could take effect "in a matter of days."

The Israelis were reported giving serious consideration to a U.S. suggestion that Egypt and Israel police the cease-fire themselves. But the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Egypt had turned down the idea, apparently because it called for flights by Israeli reconnaissance planes over Egyptian territory as well as Egyptian flights over Israeli territory.

Informants in New York said the United States was negotiating with Arab and Israeli officials in Cairo, Jerusalem and Washington on procedures for policing the cease-fire and the ban on military buildups that is to accompany it.

There also were reports of disagreement between the Arabs and the Israelis over where the peace talks would take place and the level on which they would be conducted. One informant in New York said the Arabs wanted the talks to be held on the ambassadorial level at the United Nations, while the Israelis preferred that they be held on the foreign ministers' level in Nicosia, Cyprus.

Another source said the Israelis were open-minded on both questions but considered ambassadorial talks a break from precedent, since Jarring has dealt with foreign ministers on previous occasions.

In a statement in Cairo today, Egyptian Information Minister Mohammed Hassanein Heikal that the "total war against Israel" they seek is "an impossibility." The guerrillas have vowed to do all they can to sabotage any cease-fire.

Heidal, a confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, reiterated Egypt's support for the Palestinian cause but declared: "The Palestinian resistance, no matter how valiant, definitely cannot lead a total war of liberation against Israel because it is just beyond its capacity."

"The Middle East conflict should never be portrayed as anything but a pan-Arab conflict comprising all Arabs. The Palestinian resistance has great moral value, but all it can do on the practical side is merely annoy the enemy. To say anything other than this would be a return to mixing truth with fiction."

"If there is any hope for liberation it is dependent on providing Egypt with the right circumstances for spearheading the pan-Arab struggle against Israel in political or military tactics it sees fit."

Blount Fills Judge's Seat

RALEIGH — Governor Bob Scott today announced the appointment of Marvin Key Blount Jr. of Greenville as Special Judge of Superior Court, succeeding George Ragsdale who resigned.

According to Fred Morrison, legal assistant to the governor, Blount, who will be 31 on Aug. 21, is the youngest man ever appointed or elected to the Superior Court bench in North Carolina.

Blount will serve the remainder of Ragsdale's term which expires June 30, 1971.

A Greenville attorney, Blount received his law degree from Wake Forest University School of Law in 1966.

Blount, a former Jaycee, is a member of the Greenville Rotary Club, vice chairman of the Salvation Army Advisory Board, a director of the Boys Club of Greenville and chairman of the administrative board of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church.

He is married and has three children.

Blount was a candidate for the

MARVIN K. BLOUNT, JR.

North Carolina Senate in the May primary but lost his bid for the Democratic nomination to incumbent Senator Vernon White of Winterville by a small margin.

Appointed

Six appointment and reappointments were confirmed by City Councilmen last night.

William Nobles was named to fill the unexpired term of Frank Little of the Planning and Zoning Commission. Little resigned by virtue of having moved outside the city limits.

Marshall W. Crumpler was named a member of the Housing Authority of Greenville; and Salvation Army Captain Alvin Smith was appointed a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee to replace Salvation Army Captain Wayne McHargue, who has moved from Greenville.

Closed By Yippies

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Because 300 youths didn't behave themselves, Disneyland officials say, nearly 30,000 visitors to the world-famous Magic Kingdom had to be sent away.

The giant amusement park closed more than five hours early Thursday night after about 300 long-haired, self-proclaimed Yippies gathered for a rally at Disneyland's make-believe city hall.

The group, officials said, shouted obscenities, unfurled a Viet Cong flag and a "marijuana flag," tore down some red, white and blue bunting and "presented a menace to the safety of other."

Some 100 riot-clad police, carrying batons, were ordered into the amusement park after the youngsters refused to stop their rally and a march down Main Street.

As the police moved in, loud speakers instructed visitors to leave the 73-acre park. The crowd of 29,895 passed through the turnstile exits within two hours. The park normally closes at 1 a.m.

Except for a few scuffles with the hippies, Disneyland officials said, the evacuation of the amusement park passed without injuries. There were 18 arrests, they said, most on misdemeanor charges of disturbing the peace.

Tourists who left the park Thursday night were eligible for free readmission on their word today, officials said.

The closing was the second in Disneyland's history. In November 1963 it shut down to mourn the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Municipalities Told Eye Industrial Effect On Environment

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Water and Air Resources has delivered a sharp reprimand to municipalities which welcome any and all new industries without regard to their effect on the state's environment.

At a meeting Thursday the board issued a sharp rebuke to such municipalities and approved a policy which will let industries know before they settle here just what obligations they will have to protect air and water quality in the state.

Board chairman S. Vernon Stevens of Broadway said: "In recent years, the failure of communities to meet (state) standards has all too often arisen from lack of proper planning. It has also too often resulted from the wholesale acceptance of new industry without consideration for the capacity of the municipality to effectively treat the wastes discharged and emitted by these industries."

"In following such a course, these municipalities have failed in their responsibility both to their citizens and to all the citizens of this state. The problems created by this irresponsible action have produced an intolerable situation that, if continued, may constitute an insoluble crisis," Stevens stated.

The board voted to adopt the statement "in principle" and consider it again at its next meeting in Maggie Valley Oct. 15-16.

The board also directed the staff of the State Department of Water and Air Resources to send copies of the statement to municipalities for their comment.

Stevens acknowledged that the policy probably would invoke the wrath of some chambers of commerce, but he said, "if the industries can't live with our regulations, let them go elsewhere."

J. Nelson Gibson of Gibson said, "I think we're late in saying it. We should have said it before."

Stevens said in the statement that the state agency would inaugurate soon a long-range planning program requesting each municipality to submit a report analyzing the existing and planned municipal waste disposal facilities.

The board also would ask all municipalities:

—To state all local ordinances dealing with disposal, air pollution and other sources of air and water contamination.

—To outline enforcement procedures used by the municipality.

—To inform the state board in advance of the proposed location of new industries within or around the municipality.

—To relay plans for expanding existing industries.

—To inform the board of proposed annexation of residential areas.

—To submit to the board the projected impact that all such actions would have on the municipal waste disposal systems.

Stevens' statement added, "the coordinated efforts of the board and the municipalities to discover potential trouble spots and to pre-plan to eliminate them should reduce the adverse effects of municipal and industrial expansion upon our water and air resources to a minimum."

Taylor-Dixon Vows Said In Ceremony On Sunday

FARMVILLE — Miss Verona Agnes Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Vane Dixon of Farmville, became the bride of Richard Wayne Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Wayne Taylor of Rockingham, on Sunday at 3:30 p.m.

The ceremony was performed in the First Christian Church here.

A program of nuptial music was presented by Barbara Lang, organist, and Diane Griffis, soloist, who sang "Because,"

"Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer" as the benediction.

The background of the church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, white mums and French pom poms interspersed with emerald green fern. Fifteen branch spiral candelabra entwined with plymosa fern held white burning cathedral tapers. A white profile kneeling bench completed the setting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of rosepoint lace over peau de soie designed with a high colonial neckline, empire waist and long sleeves ending in calla points. The front of the gown was accented with bridal buttons of peau de soie and the back of the gown featured an attached train.

Her matching chapel length mantilla of imported silk illusion was bordered with rosepoint lace. She carried a bouquet of French pom poms centered with a white hybrid orchid adorned with marvel French lace and tied with bridal satin.

Mrs. Lloyd Funderburk of Charlotte, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Nancy Leckie of Farmville, Lynn Blackman of Goldsboro, Jane Vann of Zebulon and Ethel Allen of Greenville.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Groomsman were Steve Taylor of Rockingham, brother of the bridegroom, Lloyd Funderburk of Charlotte, brother-in-law of the bride, John Sugg of Snow Hill and John Hartgrove of Rockingham.

The mother of the bride wore a dress of blue crepe with matching embroidered appliques. The mother of the bridegroom selected an ensemble of pink lace and karate linen designed with a sleeveless redingote overdress of lace. Both wore matching accessories and white orchid corsages.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed into a light blue linen dress styled with white trim. She wore white accessories and the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride graduated from Farmville High School and is a senior at Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, majoring in elementary education.

The bridegroom graduated from Hamlet High School and Atlantic Christian College, Wilson, with a B.S. degree in business administration.

Regret Won't Solve Problems Of Dilemma Queen Mother Elizabeth Takes Aging, In Stride

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Altho this is terribly involved, I'll try to make it brief. I am married and have a child a year old. At the time I became pregnant I had four promiscuous affairs going at the same time. I told Vic (not his real name) we had to get married because he was the one I knew would make the best provider. [None of the men knew about the others.] Abby, Vic has been a wonderful husband and father and I've grown to love him very much. Now, my problem: I've always had the feeling that he wasn't the father. This was confirmed recently when I found out Vic's blood type and also my child's.

I could never hurt my husband by telling him the truth, but this guilt is destroying me. It is becoming harder and harder to live with this on my conscience. I am the luckiest woman in the world, and should be the happiest, but I am miserable. What do you suggest?

DEAR MISERABLE: Professional counseling. You'll probably learn that you are "miserable" because you feel you aren't entitled to so much happiness, and deserve to be punished instead. But since "fate" has not punished you, you are determined to punish yourself by not permitting yourself to enjoy your good fortune.

If your counseling is successful, you will then learn that regret is the cancer of life, and there is nothing you can do about your past.

You have wisely rejected the idea of "confessing all" to your husband. Such a confession would only punish HIM and increase your feeling of worthlessness.

I suggest that you do everything within your power to build your self-esteem. Try hard to be a first class wife and mother so that you can feel deserving of your good fortune. I think you can do it. Please try. God bless.

DEAR ABBY: My mother, age 57, lives alone and leads a very active social life. She has a good job with 30 days vacation each year, which she spends on trips to various places with an extremely likable man she has known for a long time.

My children are growing up, and Mom doesn't pull any punches about where she goes, with whom and so forth.

How do you teach children right from wrong when "Granny" is so open about this relationship?

WORRIED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Your children are exposed to a grandmother who obviously lives her own life in her own way and isn't ashamed of it. If this is "wrong" her "sin" is indiscretion, and your children will noodle it out soon enough. There is nothing you can do about it. If they think less of Granny because she vacations with a man who isn't her husband, Granny will have to take the mark-down, which will be Granny's problem.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, attempting to run an eight-cabin motel, pay off the mortgage, taxes, insurance, and food and living costs from it's income. I have no hired help and must do most of the repairs myself, even crawling on the roof with tar sealer searching for those elusive leaks.

I must keep my rates low to compete with the luxury credit card trade.

My problem is that so many "guests" decide to carry away my property that I am being driven out of business. Will you help me, Abby, and print the following for travelers:

"I don't mind your using my towels to wipe off your windshield—but please leave the towel—don't toss it in your car. Or if you use my wash cloths to wipe off your kids' hands and faces en route, please leave a quarter to replace the cloth because that's what it costs me. And when you accidentally carry off a key, drop it into any mailbox. I'll gladly pay for its return. It's a lot cheaper than having new keys made.

"And as for you gals who take coffee pots, dishes, silver and pillows—have a heart! I'm sure you have much better at home.

"I don't want to start charging deposits against the return of such items, neither do I want to turn your license number into the motel black list.

"After you've gone and I go to clean your cabin and check my pilferage loss it makes me sick to realize that I've actually lost money on you. I work so hard. Think about it next time, will you?" SELINA IN LEESBURG, FLA.

By MARGARET SAVILLE LONDON (UPI)—No member of the British royal family enjoys more popularity than Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Queen Elizabeth, her elder daughter and the reigning monarch, has some unkind critics. But hardly anyone has a disparaging word for the "Queen Mum."

"She looks like everybody's favorite grandmother," an American visitor remarked recently upon seeing her in public.

The Queen Mum takes the advancing years placidly in her stride. She is a little slimmer now and her hair is carefully restored to its original chestnut brown color with a becoming gray streak in front.

Her pink and white complexion is as fresh as ever. Her fashion style, distinctive and individual, has not changed for many years.

She still wears the pastel blues and pinks in which her husband liked her best. "A queen does not follow the general fashion anyway, and I see no reason to change style now," she told friends recently.

No Shirker Of Wrinkles She does not try to hide the wrinkles. Not long ago she sat for a series of photographic portraits.

When the proofs arrived, she found the photographer had retouched the pictures to remove signs of age.

The Queen Mum returned the proofs with the polite message: "Please put the wrinkles back. Everybody knows they are there and so do I."

Hundreds of letters and telegrams from around the world arrived at her London home, Clarence House in St. James Palace, on her birthday, which was July 28. A special room there always has to be set aside for the flood of birthday flowers she receives.

Members of the royal family and her friends in the royal circle telephoned her during the morning to wish her a happy day. All the preteen royal children sent her little flower posies and carefully signed birthday cards bought out of their weekly pocket money.

The Dotes On Charles Composer Benjamin Britten arranged a special concert of her favorite music in her honor as one of several special birthday tributes in London. The queen mother's love of classical music is well known and it was she who first noticed and encouraged Prince Charles' interest in serious music when she looked after him as a child during his parents' overseas tours.

She bought him his first trumpet and gave him his first singing lessons while she played the piano.

Grandmother and prince attend many Covent Garden opera and concert performances together. There is a strong bond between them and friends say the queen mother dotes on Charles as "the son for whom she always hoped but never had."

Schedule Set For Evening Adult Courses

The East Carolina University Division of Continuing Education has announced the fall schedule for the evening college for adults to begin Monday, Sept. 14.

Registration will be held in Erwin Hall, first floor, Sept. 11, 14, and 15 from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. Classes will begin at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Sept. 14 and Tuesday, Sept. 15.

Associate Dean Harman Phelps, director of the evening college, said the evening program is particularly designed for those who are unable to enroll as regular day students. Courses in business, English, history, mathematics, and geography will be offered. Freshman and sophomore courses will meet two nights each week.

Courses offered in the evening college carry resident college credit. There is no limit to the number of quarter hours a student may earn in the evening school.

Prospective students who have never enrolled at ECU should make application as soon as possible, Phelps stated. Students over 21 years of age are not required to take an entrance examination to enroll in this program.

Tuition cost is $12 per quarter hour for North Carolina residents.

Veterans may use GI Bill benefits while attending. Veterans taking two or more courses can get full allowance. Veterans who take one course can receive half the allowance for full-time students.

Students who enroll full-time in the evening college program, Phelps noted, can complete a year's work in about the same time required in the regular day program on campus. However, students who have full-time jobs are advised to take only one course each term.

Detailed information about the evening college is available by telephoning or visiting Phelps at the offices of the Division of Continuing Education in Erwin Hall on the ECU campus.

New Jaycees Are Inducted

Fourteen new Jaycees were formally inducted into the Greenville chapter on Thursday night. Jim Lesley, immediate past president, conducted the induction ceremony.

Inducted were: Larry Graham, Mitchell Jones, Tommy Anthony, Rex Vorhees, Steve Barry, Jeho Taft, Al Wood, Bill Fuqua, J.B. Surles, Mike Mills, Cliff Everett, Tommy Forrest, Bill Brame, and Butch Ward.

Lesley challenged the new Jaycees to take an active part, not just to attend the meetings. He pointed out that there is much to be done in the community, and now is the time to do it.

Assisting Lesley with the ceremony were Jack Wall, Jaycee president, and Tom Reese, Orientation and Induction Chairman.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Gov. Lester Maddox has ordered to ride atop steel and concrete vaults carrying nerve gas to assure Georgians the shipment is safe.

Barrette Sumrell says "I am as proud of my six acres of Coastal Bermuda grass as I was of my first tobacco crop," and Sumrell was born and reared on a tobacco farm.

"The secret of success in growing coastal is management. Adequate fertilizer and lime applications are essential. Begin with a soil test and apply lime if needed. Then start fertilizing in spring and into summer, broadcasting first application of LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Something is crooked at City Hall: its three-story century-old tower is leaning four inches, officials say.

N-P-K as recommended by the Soil test. Do not lose the stand from too little potassium with nitrogen," he explained.

Coastal may be used for grazing, hay and silage. Graze often but light enough to allow some grass to accumulate for maximum carrying capacity, he said. Quality drops sharply if the plant matures to the point that seed heads develop.

"For hay the first cutting should be made when grass is 12 to 18 inches high, then cut it every four weeks," Sumrell noted. "For silage chop every four weeks. This conserves its quality when weather is not suited for hay to cure." Sometimes herbicide is needed to apply one pound of 2-4-D Amine to control broadleaf weeds. He concluded, "If you feed it, control winter weeds, spittle bugs and other pests, we should always conserve where there is late in February, a stand of coastal."

Some Common Sense Needed

Certainly President Nixon made a bad slip in his recent comments on the Tate murder trial and, as an attorney, he should have known better.

The president later amended his statement by saying that he had not intended to speculate on the guilt or innocences of the defendants and instead they should be "presumed innocent at this stage of the trial." Of course, this is correct since the trial is still underway.

However, the defense in the case immediately seized on the original statement as being prejudicial and promptly made motions for mistrials. The judge in the case denied the motions.

What it all brings in focus to us is a long held belief that both the news media and the courts are going to have to use common sense in matters of pretrial publicity. We cannot believe that we should live in a society where major crimes should not be reported to the public, nor where prospective jurors could be expected to be completely ignorant of any knowledge of sensational cases.

Whenever anything of a sensational nature occurs in any city there is no way to protect the public from hearing about it. Even if not a word were published, the rumor mill would certainly spread the word and almost always in a highly distorted fashion.

If we are to believe in the jury system we will have to believe that impartial citizens can be selected to judge the evidence fairly in spite of anything they have heard or read about the case previously. The alternatives will be that defendants cannot be tried in the particularly sensational cases; or that jurors would have to be selected who are so completely out of touch with the world that they could not make an intelligent decision even after hearing the evidence.

Plans Should Include Good Disposal Means

Before the army develops any more nerve gases, or anything else of such high risks, Congress should make certain that there is a plan for disposing of it.

We have suddenly found ourselves with a deadly gas on hand which the Pentagon plans to dump in the ocean. The army says that it must dispose of the gas as soon as possible because the deadly gas is losing stability and could explode inside the concrete casings.

Surely such a critical stage could have been foreseen when the gas was being manufactured and some thought should have been given to the time when it would have to be disposed of.

Since the gas must be disposed of, ocean dumping seems to be the only alternative. However, Congress should make certain that the Pentagon is not developing other chemicals where the method of future disposal is not clear.

Nasser's Risk Is Out In Open

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Although the U.S. Middle East peace plan has produced only a first faint glimmer of hope for eventual settlement, it has already shattered the harmful illusion of "unity" in both the Arab world and in Israel which sprang into existence as a result of the six-day war of 1967.

"The Middle East will never be the same again," a chief architect of the U. S. peace plan told us. "The extremists are being isolated and the moderates are taking over."

Whether or not time may prove this to be the overstatement of the year, the immediate political reaction to U.S. and Soviet pressure for a non-military solution has established for the first time a moderate consensus on both sides, with the extremists driven out of policymaking positions.

Thus, right-wing hawks in the coalition government of Prime Minister Golda Meir, led by Menahem Begin — head of the Gahal party — broke with Mrs. Meir's Labor party majority over the U.S. peace plan. Begin refuses to accept any approach to a political settlement that includes eventual Israeli withdrawal from the extensive territories captured in the 1967 war.

At this writing, it was still uncertain whether the Gahal splinter (six out of 24 cabinet posts) would stay in the government or quit, but that is secondary. President Nixon's advisers are convinced that, remain or walk out, the public repudiation of Gahal's hard line by Mrs. Meir's Labor party majority will undercut Gahal's influence within Israel.

Without the political pressures from Gahal, which joined the National Unity government only in the desperate days just before the six-day war, Mrs. Meir's government should be freer to negotiate settlement terms, including withdrawal from most of the Arab lands seized in that war.

But the public hawk-dove split in Israel is small indeed compared to the vicious infighting in the Arab world. The decision by Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to accept the U. S. plan is surfacing deep political splits.

Some of these ruptures have little if anything to do with the basic struggle with Israel. Rather, they involve ancient Arab rivalries now suddenly brought into the open by big-power pressure for an Arab- Israeli settlement.

Algeria, a conspicuous holdout, is trying to use Nasser's acceptance of the U. S. peace plan as a wedge, partly to pry the revolutionary government of Libya away from Nasser's influence, partly to enhance its standing with the Palestine refugees.

The Algerians scorn Nasser and the Egyptians. They have only slight interest in what happens to Israeli occupation (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

Concerning Interior Decorating

Almost everyone is familiar with the story of the response made by John Quincy Adams who at the age of eighty was asked by a friend who met him on the street, "How is John Quincy Adams?" This was his reply: "John Quincy Adams himself is very well. But the house he lives in is sadly dilapidated. The building trembles with every wind and I think John Quincy Adams will have to move out of it before long. But he himself is very well."

A noted American preacher quoted this incident in a sermon one day over the radio, and the following week received through the mail from one of his listeners the following: "This is an old lady who is writing you. Or at least the house I live in is eighty-two years old. Considering its age, the house is in fairly good repair, though I don't think it looks quite as well as it did fifty years ago. I have neglected to keep it painted, as so many of this generation do. To tell the truth, I have been spending my time on interior decorating. The windows I look out of are fairly clear and I am glad to tell you that I have a reliable tenant in the upper story."

There are people who take life that way, and to use an expression made long ago, they are the salt of the earth. Old age is largely a matter of attitude. If we forget about the condition of the outside of the house in which we live and give enough attention to interior decorating, the passing years make little difference.

A Battle To Get News

(Art Buchwald took off for Tahiti before anyone could catch him. He left behind what he claims are some of his more memorable columns.)

WASHINGTON — There has been a lot of talk about news management in the government these days, but if you go through history you can find that every presidential administration tried to manage the press in one way or another. I found an old transcript the other day of a press briefing between Abraham Lincoln's press secretary and White House reporters, which shows that even in those days attempts were made to bottle up vital news of interest to the public.

Here are excerpts from it: Question: Mr. Nicolay, yesterday the President gave a speech at Gettysburg, and he started it out by saying, "Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation." Sir, would you mind telling us the names of the fathers he was referring to?

Secretary: I'm sorry, gentlemen. I can't reveal the names at this time.

Question: The Saturday Evening Post, which is published in Philadelphia, said he was referring to Washington, Jefferson and Franklin. Is that true?

Secretary: That's just conjecture. The President is not responsible for everything written by his friends.

Question: The President said yesterday in the same speech that the country was engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. He didn't say how he intended to win the war. Does this mean he has a no-win policy?

Secretary: The President in his speech was only concerned with the Battle of Gettysburg, which incidentally we won. The Department of War will give you full details on other battles.

Question: The department refuses to give us any information. We don't know how many troops were used at Gettysburg, who commanded them, or how many casualties there were. All we were given were some lousy photos of Confederate gun emplacements. How can we be sure the Confederates still don't have artillery hidden in the hills around Gettysburg?

Secretary: We have constant surveillance of the hills. To the best of our knowledge, all Southern artillery pieces have been removed.

Question: What about Confederate troops? There are an estimated 17,000 in the area.

Secretary: We have the South's promise they will be removed in due course.

Question: Mr. Secretary, why didn't Mrs. Lincoln go with the President to Gettysburg?

Other Editors Say Act Too Hastily

(Wilson Times)

Federal district courts, aided by the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the U. S. Justice Department, are rushing pell-mell to effect maximum racial balance in Southern schools before a lethargic Supreme Court gets around to saying whether such racial balance is constitutionally required.

Just before the Supreme Court recessed for the summer, Chief Justice Warren Burger said the high tribunal ought to resolve "as soon as possible" three basic school desegregation questions:

1. The issue of racial balance.
2. How much rezoning is necessary to meet desegregation requirements.
3. The issue of forced busing.

Unfortunately, the top court rejected pleas for immediate consideration of the questions and knocked off for the summer. As a result, public school education throughout the South is in turmoil.

Education officials are bewildered by lower court orders for racial balance, sweeping changes in district lines and forced busing. Why, they ask, is there such a rush to impose requirements which may be ruled unjust?

As columnist James J. Kilpatrick recently pointed out, there are pending a dozen or more cases, including the Charlotte case, that could be argued immediately before the high court.

What will be the course of school officials bludgeoned into disrupting the education process in order to achieve racial balance if the Supreme Court later rules that such racial balance is not required?

Once a neighborhood school system is ripped asunder to comply with a lower court order, could a community afford a second agonizing upheaval in an effort to put the pieces back together again?

There is general agreement that neighborhood schools serve best the educational needs of children at the elementary level.

To destroy neighborhood schools only to have the Supreme Court rule that racial balance is not required would be a tragedy.

In view of the cases pending, the lower courts should go slow in tampering with education until the constitutional questions cited by the Chief Justice are resolved.

Tips On Double Talk

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The class in double talk is now in session.

You remember, students, what double talk is: the saying of one thing when you are actually thinking just the opposite.

This may sound like hypocrisy, and of course it is. But double talk is essential in any civilization. Without it language would disintegrate into grunt-and-sign talk.

For the benefit of newcomers here are a few examples of double talk—in each case the spoken remark is followed by what the speaker really thought:

"I certainly enjoyed your lecture, professor."—I haven't slept better in any other class I've had this week.

"I regard golf as a mere game, not a religion. I can take it or leave it alone."—But if I left it alone I'd have to spend more time in the office, and who wants that?

"I wouldn't mind paying the higher prices if a person could be sure he was still getting the same value."—Even if the value was doubled I'd still hate to pay a penny more.

"You men, with your silly vanity about your male prerogatives, you amuse me."—I hate you all, you muscle-brained slobs!

"Whatever you decide to do about it, I know you'll be utterly fair."—I'd be utterly crazy if I really believed that.

"When you realize that I want you to hold this in the strictest confidence."—If I hadn't wanted it blabbed all over town, I wouldn't have told it to you, bit mouth.

"Naturally, there are two sides to every question."—And you always manage to pick the wrong side, don't you, dummy?

"This job calls for someone with vision, tact, boldness, originality, and a really creative imagination."—He also must be able to put a stencil in the mimeograph machine.

"Why, I wouldn't marry him if he were the last man left on earth."—We wouldn't be able to find any minister to perform the ceremony.

"It isn't every day a guy gets to meet a fellow like you."—It's every night—in any gutter.

"Now if you have any further questions about double talk, class, don't hesitate to speak up."—Get lost, kids—teacher has had it for today.

Electrical Shortage Imagined

By ELMER ROESSNER

On July 13, at noon, D Bruce Mansfield, president of the Edison Electric Institute, issued a press release in which he declared that rationing of electric power is not necessary. The release noted that the EEI is the national association of

"investor-owned electric light and power companies which serve 77 per cent of all electric power customers in the United States."

In the following week, the second giant generator of Consolidated Edison of New York conked out and Con Ed was forced to cut voltage of its power to more than 15 million users in New York City and surrounding areas. And if hot weather continues, it may be forced to ration electricity, forbidding the use of air conditioners as it did during the last crisis, a couple of years ago.

And where, in this crisis, did the investor-owned Con Ed turn to for additional power? Not to any of the investor-owned utilities that supply the rest of the power to the 77 per cent of power customers in the U.S., but to the Tennessee Valley Authority, not investor-owned but an agency of the U. S. government.

Also in New England Despite all this, subway service was slowed and thousands sweated in hot, stinking tunnels.

Then New England power companies agreed to cut electricity by 5 per cent to conserve it in case of equipment failures.

Mansfield complained, "In recent weeks there have been several articles and editorials in national publications relating to concern over the adequacy of the nation's present and future supplies of electric power. In essence, it has been suggested by these news media and others that there is a national power crisis; that expansion of generating capacity may not be able to keep pace with rapidly mounting power demands; and that consideration should be given to rationing power and designing rates to discourage the use of electricity.

"First of all, there is not a national power crisis. The most recent data available, covering the entire electric utility industry in the United States, indicate that for peak requirements this summer the reserve margin of generating capacity over demand will be better than 18 per cent."

Blames Others Mansfield, who is also president of the Ohio Edison Co., conceded that this summer "there will continue to be some areas where reserve margins are less than would be desirable and where difficulties may be encountered during periods of very hot weather.

"The problems which have arisen in some areas of the nation result principally from obstacles to getting major generating units into operation on time. There have been delays caused by strikes, shortages of skilled labor, late equipment deliveries, poor quality workmanship and extended regulatory procedures.

"The possibility of inadequate coal supplies is of serious concern."

Fail Effort To Get Inspectors

TRENTON, N. C. (AP) — Guay-Varina has failed in its efforts to obtain federal tobacco inspectors for an opening of its flue-cured tobacco markets with the eastern belt on July 18.

U. S. District Judge John D. Larkins Jr. of Trenton ruled Thursday that U. S. Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin is not required to provide the inspectors.

The judge not only denied the injunction requested by the Fuquay - Varina Tobacco Board of Trade to obtain the graders, but he also dismissed the suit against Hardin.

City Counted Three Accidents Thursday

An estimated $1,475 damage was reported by police in three mishaps here yesterday.

Officers said heaviest damage resulted from a 3:15 p.m. collision in which vehicles driven by Nancy Ogeary Phelps, Route 1, Greenville and Lasander Killpatrick, 19 of 1516 West Sixth St. were involved.

Warned Of Swindlers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Carolina farmers, particularly tobacco farmers, have been warned by the state's three Better Business Bureaus to beware of swindlers.

Marvin E. Sykes, the Greensboro BBB manager, said Thursday that fast-talking promoters — such as the one who enticed a Guilford County farmer out of $300 to have his lightning rod recharged — are expected to descend on farmers who have cash on hand from crop sales.

Sykes listed other schemes, such as selling a "selected by computer" list of business prospects which would receive mailed sample pens. He added that the response from the mailing isn't going to be profitable, despite the sales pitch.

Others are selling franchises for an untested product, sales routes for records and tape cartridges and house repair or improvement "deals."

Sykes added, "In each instance, the price, quality, terms and contract will bear extreme scrutiny."

Fuquay - Varina lies in "acceptance by the Eastern Belt Association." The Eastern Carolina Warehouse Association already has turned down the market's request for membership.

The judge said legal action against the association "is where relief may be found."

He said tobacco marketing now has systems and institutions for the fair and equitable sale, purchase and processing of the commodity.

"Those systems and institutions should be looked for any relief sought," Larkins added.

He found that despite testimony, Fuquay - Varina "is not unique" among Middle Belt markets as to crop maturity and other factors, since at least three other areas — Sanford, Carthage and Aberdeen — are in a similar situation.

He said the Fuquay - Varina market has experienced a tremendous loss in volume of tobacco marketed annually since 1962, but so have the other multiple - sale markets in the Eastern and Middle belts.

Pitt Lists 17 Tobacco Barn Fires For Period

Seventeen tobacco barns have been reported lost or damaged by fire since July 28. The report released today by Pitt County Fire Marshal Mike Worthington shows that 12 of the 17 were total losses, one was a no damage fire, and five suffered damages less than total.

One additional barn loss for July 28, not previously reported, was that of a barn on the Julian Timberlake farm on Highway 43 east of Falkland. This was a total loss with value estimated at $2,000.

Question: In talking about the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, did the President have any particular group in mind?

Secretary: Not to my knowledge, gentlemen. But I'll check it out just to make sure.

Question: Mr. Secretary, didn't the President in his speech yesterday indicate he intended to manage the news?

Secretary: In what way?

Question: He said, "The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here." It seems to me in the phrase he was intimidating the newspapermen who were there.

Secretary: I don't think you have to interpret the speech in that manner. The President's remarks, written on an envelope, were off the cuff, and he felt there was no reason to be quoted. An official version of his speech will be made available to the press in due time, as soon as the President has a chance to go over it again.

The 16 remaining barn fires over the period July 29 to date, with the time of the fire, name of owner and location of the farm, and estimated value of loss is given below. ($2,000 is the value that has been established as a total loss of a barn with tobacco).

—July 29-5:45 p.m., J.C. Edward farm, Sharp Point Community northeast of Fountain, $2,000. This barn was struck by lightning.

—July 30-5:15 a.m., Bruce Garris Farm east of Winterville, $2,000. 6:50 p.m., L.J. Whitehurst farm near Bethel, $100 damage to tobacco only.

—July 31-9:15 p.m., Johnny Carraway farm, north of Belvoir, $2,000. 11:08 p.m. Otis Stokes Farm at Stokestown east of Ayden, $2,000. 11:57 p.m., Joe Moore farm, Highway 43, west of Falkland, $2,000.

—August 2-12:41 a.m., Johnny Shackelford farm, west of Farmville, $500 damage to tobacco. 8:12 a.m., Marvin Peaden farm near Bell Arthur, $1,000. 9:16 a.m. M. K. —August 3-11:29 p.m., Robert Sutton farm, Frog Level, Highway 264, $1,200 damage, tobacco and barn.

—August 4-11:35 a.m., the Focette farm east of Grimesland, $2,000. 7:21 p.m., D.S. James farm, Highway 903 east of Stokes, no damage to barn or tobacco.

—There were no barn fires reported on August 5.

—August 6-9:20 a.m., Bryan Tippin Farm, near Fred Tripp's store south of Farmville, $2,000.

Several non-barn fires in the county were also reported by Worthington for this period. Two fires within a two day period occurred on one farm, that of M.K. Blount on the River Road Ranch. Only July 29th at 11:50 a.m., Deputy Sheriff D.C. Martin, driving by the farm, spotted a house on the farm on fire. Belvoir Fire Department was summoned. Damage was confined to the kitchen, and is estimated at $500. At 8:48 p.m. on July 30, tractor on the same farm caught fire. Damage to the $3,800 piece of equipment was placed at $1,800.

On August 1, at 1:10 p.m. a fire occurred in a packhouse on the W.W. Carson farm just south of Bethel. The barn, filled with hay, did not contain tobacco. Damage was placed at approximately $4,000.

A house fire at 12:02 p.m. on the Edmond-Smith farm near Worthington's Cross Road resulted in damage estimated at $1,700. Winterville and Black Jack Fire Departments responded to the fire.

of the Egyptian Sinai. Their concern is with the Palestinian refugees and their elusive goal of setting up a joint Jewish - Arab state in all of Palestine.

While Nasser abruptly ended the daily flood of hate-Israel propaganda beamed from Cairo to the vast refugee and commando camps in Jordan and Lebanon, in the interests of the U. S. peace plan, Algeria ridiculed the peace plan and encouraged the commandos to strike Israel harder. Algeria is comfortably out of the line of fire.

Likewise, Iraq, scorning a major Soviet effort to bring it into line on the side of the U. S. plan, flatly rejected the plan in hopes of embarrassing Nasser and making points in the long and bitter rivalry between Baghdad and Cairo. Syria, unable to make up its mind, is trying to hold open all possible options.

But Jordan and Lebanon, the two countries that bear the brunt of Israeli counterattacks to commando raiding, have accepted the U.S. plan. Jordan's King Hussein, who almost lost his throne two months ago to the growing power of the commandos, may not be able to stay in power even with a settlement. Without one, the life of his regime is uninsurable.

This public outbreak of Arab rivalries and hostilities is an obvious threat to Nasser's preeminent position within the Arab world. His willingness to take that risk and let the extremists go their way is a key factor in the Nixon administration's cautious hope that a political settlement may not be utterly impossible.

West began leading trumps one trick too late. If he opens a heart originally, declarer cannot prevent him from getting in twice more to complete the sabotage. The club suit provides one entry, and when South tries to come off the dummy in either spades or diamonds, West regains the lead to play a third heart. Declarer obtains only club ruff and must therefore lose two club tricks.

North's jump to four hearts and West's holding in clubs should have made it apparent that dummy would be short in declarer's second suit. A trump lead to prevent ruffs therefore becomes an obvious choice.

City Hall Ladies Put In Uniforms Alcoholism Theme Of Play On Sunday

Worthington, Mrs. Gail Meeks and Mrs. Charlotte Mills. Costumes for each day are of a different color.

A play with a grim and tragic but utterly realistic theme will be presented by the Eastern North Carolina School of Alcohol Studies at East Carolina University Sunday evening.

The theme of the play, "Lady on the Rocks," is that alcoholism is a progressive disease, insidious and masked by a socially acceptable custom — drinking. Thus, its progressive stages are seldom recognized or understood. The purpose of the play is to develop recognition of alcoholism as a disease; to create understanding and compassion for the sufferer and to motivate people toward constructive action on this complex and far-reaching community health problem.

"Lady on the Rocks" was written by Elizabeth Blake, commissioned by the National Council on Alcoholism and produced by Plays for Living, division of Family Services Association of America.

The play is part of the opening session of the School of Alcohol Studies which is conducted by the ECU Division of Continuing Education.

The public is invited to attend. Admission is free. It is the only part of the School of Alcohol Studies program open to non-participants.

The production will be given at 8 p.m. Sunday at the ECU School of Music Recital Hall. The cast includes:
Deborah — Florence Armstrong; Mark — I Linwood Hary; Danny — Al Johnson; and Sue — Pat Boyd. The director is R. D. Watson.

of the Aging. The council earlier approved an annual assistance of $1,500. Approval of this first quarter payment makes the next three payments automatic.

—Granted a request to the Greenville Jaycees to waive carnival privilege license requirement for their annual Palmetto Rides Fair to be held at Pitt Plaza in September, provided sponsors assume responsibility for cleaning up the area; that no transit accommodations are installed on site; that sufficient toilet facilities are available to the public; and that proof of adequate liability insurance is furnished.

—Set the regular meeting in September as a public hearing on a request for a trailer permit by Asa Waters for his property at 2817 Jackson Drive.

—Approved granting of a trailer permit to Willie Dixon for the 200 block of East Dudley Street when no opposition developed at the public hearing last night on this request.

—Deferred until next month a recommendation from City Manager Hagerty on the matter of off-duty court time for police officers. Hagerty stated, "The report I have is not conclusive enough for me to make a recommendation, but I will have a firm recommendation for the September meeting."

—Approved sending a letter to R.S. Pollard in connection with his earlier request that his property at 204 Wade Street be excluded from the New Town Project. The letter reminds Pollard that the Redevelopment Commission must have in writing such a request from Pollard prior to September 1 or it will be construed that Pollard does not wish exclusion. Hagerty noted that Pollard claims he has already put the request in writing. Councilman Cox asked that a note be appended asking Pollard to furnish the mayor or city manager a copy of his letter. Councilman Jerry Sutherland requested a second note be added informing Pollard of the necessity for meeting the requirements of the Building Code of Greenville.

—Approved, as a matter of public hearing without opposition, closing of a portion of Factory Street sought of Ridgeway Street. The request, by Garris Evans Lumber Company, pointed out the portion under consideration has never been used by the public.

—Voted to re-purchase two cemetery lots for $100 from C.B. and Clara Harris, who moved to Enfield some years ago and no longer wish to keep the lots; —Noted that taxi franchises 6, 14, and 21 are inoperative and available for assignment.

Two items considered last night not on the official agenda, dealt with a bid from three suppliers for 1000 feet of fire hose and transferral of authority for parking facilities to the

Recommend Divorce Cause

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A national law group recommends one single ground for divorce across the nation: "irretrievable breakdown" of a marriage.

The proposal, made Thursday by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, would end the need for one marriage partner to establish fault as a basis for divorce.

A court, after finding that a marriage was "irretrievably broken," would grant custody of children "to the person best qualified to serve the best interests of the child."

The conference has been trying to write a national divorce law since it was established by the American Bar Association in 1892. The conference' latest proposal was approved by the ABA Board of Governors, which voted to put it before the House of Delegates, the policy-making body of the association, next Tuesday.

If approved, it will be presented to all state legislatures in their 1971 sessions.

Greenville Parking Authority. Councilmen approved a low bid of $1,950 for 1,000 feet of 100 percent Dacron fire hose, 600 pound test. This is to be used for new fire equipment to be delivered in October, and represents an item not previously funded as part of fire fighting equipment.

Councilmen agreed to authorizing the city manager to prepare a contract which will spell out in details terms of transfer of the city's parking facilities to the Greenville Parking Authority. This contract, Hagerty explained, will include the mechanics of operation of the facilities, spelling out that part to be managed by the city and that which will be a sole function of the Parking Authority.

In approving the drawing up of a contract, the councilmen included a provision that a member of the City Council be appointed ex-officio member of the Parking Authority. Councilman Cox was named by Mayor Wooten as the ex-officio member.

Army Readies Gas Shipment

WASHINGTON (AP)—Coffins containing nerve gas, destined for burial at sea next week, are being readied for rail journeys from storage centers in Alabama and Kentucky as the Army advances with plans for the controversial disposal operation.

The Army also arranged for newsmen to witness loading operations today at depots in Anniston, Ala., and Richmond, Ky. The loading is expected to take several days. The slow trip by train then will begin next week.

The first of the 3,000 ton of nerve gas rockets in steel and concrete coffins was lifted onto rail cars at the Alabama facility Wednesday, with loading to start today at the Kentucky depot.

Sign Treaty With Spain

WASHINGTON (AP)—A five-year agreement on military bases has been signed by the United States and Spain amid demands from members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for a public explanation on why it should not be a formal treaty subject to Senate approval.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Spain's foreign minister, Gregorio Lopez Bravo, signed the pact Thursday and issued a statement calling the agreement one which "initiates a new era of partnership" between the two nations.

But Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, saying he spoke for a majority of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he does not approve of "secret deals with the Franco government, particularly of the kind that could involve us in a war."

The pact is in the form of an executive agreement which does not require the Senate's advice and consent. The committee had sought swift public hearings on the extension of the U.S. right to use three air bases and one naval base in Spain. The arrangement had been agreed on in private negotiations.

As made public by the department, the agreement itself provides no over-all cost figures but officials told reporters at a briefing that the main cost items are $125 million in Export-Import Bank loans and $25 million in outright grants.

Graduating As A Nurse

KINSTON — Miss Margaret Janelle Tetterton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Tetterton of Rt. 1, Bethel, will be graduated from the Lenoir Memorial Hospital School of Nursing at ceremonies held at the First Presbyterian Church here tonight.

During the graduation exercises, Miss Tetterton received her diploma and her hospital pin which she will wear to signify that she is a graduate nurse. Upon successfully passing the North Carolina State Board of Nursing examinations in September, she will become a registered nurse.

A native of Bethel, Miss Tetterton graduated from Stokes - Pactolus High School in 1967. While in Nursing School she was a class officer, freshman representative for Halloween Queen and junior representative for Valentine Queen.

Miss Tetterton will continue her nursing career at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Miss Tetterton was one of 15 students out of a starting class of 21 who completed the three-year nursing course at Lenoir. The School of Nursing will be expanded upon the planned completion in 1971 of the new Lenoir Memorial Hospital now being designed.

Tiny Fred Patek Wiends Big Bat In Leading Pirates To Double Triumphs

Air Mail Birth Certificates

Bob Tillison (L) president of the Northwood Little League, receives birth certificates from Dick Hendley, a little league parent, after the trip from Greenville, S.C. was made by chartered flight to bring official birth certificates for three Northwood players.

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Roberto Clemente, Willie Stargell, Al Oliver, Bob Robertson... those are the big guys in the Pittsburgh line-up. But little Fred Patek is growing. He's growing.

He stands only 5-foot-6 and weighs only 165 pounds, but the miniature shortstop had been wielding a big, big bat for the Pirates. Thursday night was a good example.

While Stargell hit two sacrifice flies and a homer, Oliver drove in four runs with a double and a triple and Robertson hit a three-run homer, Patek was up front setting them up with runs batted in situation. He ripped a double, a triple and four singles, and walked once, and scored five runs.

The result: the Pirates swept a doubleheader from the Philadelphia Phillies 4-0 and 8-3, and increased their national League East lead to 2½ games over the New York Mets, who lost to St. Louis 3-0.

In other games, the Chicago Cubs moved within two games of the Mets with a 4-2 victory over Montreal, Houston beat San Diego 8-6 and Atlanta downed Los Angeles 4-1 in night games. San Francisco hammered Cincinnati 9-3 in the afternoon.

Patek's mini explosion—he had two hits in the opener and four in the nightcap—gave him 20 hits in his last 39 at bats, raising his average from .228 to .301 as an occasional replacement for Gene Alley, who is suffering from a sore heel.

He still remembers the last time he got four hits in one game—it was June 2, 1968, with Columbus of the International League. He was called up to the Pirates the next day.

Patek, who has played in only 57 games this season with 153 at bats after hitting .255 in 1968 and then .239 as the injured Alley's replacement last year, was moved into the leadoff spot, with Matty Alou dropped to second.

He singled in the first inning of the first game and scored on Oliver's double, and then he doubled in the eighth and scored on Alou's single. It was more than enough for Dock Ellis, 12-8, who stopped the Phillies on six hits in outdueling Jim Bunning, 8-11.

In the nightcap, Patek opened with a walk and scored on Stargell's sacrifice fly, singled in the third and scored on Oliver's triple before Robertson unloaded in the inning. He added a single in the fourth, then tripled in the seventh and scored on Alou's single, and singled again in the eighth.

Bruce Dal Canton, 7-1, stopped the Phillies this time on six hits, winning his third game in four starts since leaving the bullpen.

"It was my best night in the majors," Patek smiled, and it might have earned him a reprieve from the bench. Alley was scheduled to return against the Mets today in the start of a four-game weekend series.

The Mets come to Pittsburgh after having ace Tom Seaver, 16-6, beaten by Nel on Briles, 4-3, the Cardinals' ninth victory in 11 games which moved them ahead of the Phillies into fourth place.

Felix Millan stroked three singles and two doubles and drove in two runs, leading Atlanta past the Dodgers. Jim Nash, 11-4, with help from Hoyt Wilhelm, won his first game since July 3.

San Francisco exploded for seven runs in the first inning, with Willie McCovey hitting his 28th homer with two on and Frank Johnson adding another three-run clout. Tony Perez hit his 32nd for the Res.

Parents Charter Plane To Bring Certificates

A quick trip by chartered plane Thursday from Greenville, S.C. here would have enabled three little leaguers to play in their teams state tournament game here yesterday, but the weatherman made it all rush-for-naught.

Due to having the wrong birth certification forms, Tim Harvey, Todd Hendley and Randall Taylor, all members of the Northwood Little League team from Greenville, S.C., were declared ineligible to play in Wednesday tournament opener.

According to team safety officer, Jack Walker, a plane was chartered in Greenville, S.C. following a call from here and the official birth certificates giving proof of age of the three players were flown in at the local airport.

According to the regulations set up by the National Little League, headquartered in Williamsport, Pa., the players are required to present official proof of their ages. Local certificates issued by their doctors could not be accepted.

A parent of one of the players involved, Dick Hendley, contacted a friend, chartered an Eagle Airlines plane and rushed back to Greenville, N.C. with the correct certificates just in time to allow the players to participate in yesterday's ballgame.

Rains force postponement of the tournament action yesterday but the efforts of the little league parents will enable the three to be in the lineup for Northwood today when they face Caldwell County for the right to advance to the tournament finals.

Walker explained that the decision not to allow the boys to play in the Wednesday afternoon opener was not a local ruling one made by the National league headquarters.

Gift Homer Helps To Put Yanks In Second

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Detroit's Ike Brown helped carry the New York Yankees back into second place in the American League East—unintentionally, of course.

Brown raced over and got his glove on a ball hit to left field by left-handed hitting Bobby Murcer Thursday night. But Brown's momentum carried him against the fence and the ball fell into the stands for a two-run homer.

The play came in the fifth inning of the second game of a doubleheader and gave New York a 5-5 tie and the Yankees went on to win 7-5 and move back into second place ahead of the Tigers.

Detroit had taken over second briefly by winning the opener 2-1.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota edged California 2-1 in 14 innings, Cleveland blanked Baltimore 4-0 before the Orioles won 7-1, Kansas City edged Oakland 5-3, Washington topped Boston 5-2 and the Chicago White Sox took Milwaukee 7-3.

The Yankees scored the winning run in the nightcap in the sixth inning. Jerry Kenney doubled, moved to third on Gene Michael's bunt single and scored as Thurman Munson bounced into a double play.

Vikings Face Loss Of Kapp

MANKATO, Minn. (AP) — Bud Grant, Minnesota Vikings' coach, isn't overly concerned about the possible loss of his No. 1 quarterback, Joe Kapp. "Players come and go," Grant said Thursday. "You can't call off the season if your quarterback goes down."

Kapp is seeking a five-year contract for $1.25 million, while the Vikings have offered him $100,000 a year for three years.

The Vikings say they will not meet Kapp's demands, and Kapp's attorney has rejected the Viking offer.

The impasse prompted John Elliot Cook, Kapp's attorney, to say Thursday that, "The Vikings are out of the picture now."

But Cook had no comment when asked if negotiations had started with any other pro football team.

There was a general feeling among Vikings veterans that Kapp would eventually come to terms with the Vikings.

Kapp came out of the Canadian Football League and signed with the Vikings just before the 1967 season. The Vikings had an 0-4 record when he was given his first starting assignment. He led the team to a 10-7 victory over Green Bay, and Minnesota was 3-4-3 the rest of the season under Kapp.

Baker OK After Crash

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP)—Stock car race driver Buddy Baker of Charlotte was uninjured in a collision with a motorcycle on—85 near Gastonia Wednesday.

The motorcyclist, William Haynes, 19, of Danville, Va., was treated at a hospital for minor lacerations and leg injuries.

Police said both vehicles were traveling north on the four-lane highway when the crash occurred. No charges were filed.

Evans To Try Football

DURHAM (AP) — Duke University's Brad Evans, a regular for the 1969-70 Duke basketball team, plans to try out for the Blue Devil football team when the squad reports for pre-season drills on Aug. 24.

Evans, a 6-3, 195-pounder, was a standout football and basketball player at Durham High School. He played in the prep all-star football game in 1967.

He said Thursday he feels he can play "both sports with equal success" next season.

Brief Rained Out

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Steve Waterbury, an 18-year-old right-hander, signed Thursday with the St. Louis Cardinals. He will report to the Cards' Sarasota, Fla., farm club in the Gulf Coast League next spring.

The Little League games scheduled for yesterday were rained out, yesterday's game will be played at the same time today weather permitting. The Championship game regularly scheduled for today will be played tomorrow by the two winning teams of today's games.

Linda Kasabian Shaken By Photo Of Slain Actress

FESTIVAL TIME — As always at moviedom meetings, interesting things are happening not only on the screen at the international film festival at Taormina, Sicily. This particular attraction is a French starlet, 22 years old and named Katia Cenko. And, oh yes, in the background that's the Bay of Taormina. (AP Wirephoto from Rome)

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — With a gasping cry of "Ohhh," Linda Kasabian buried her head in her hands and sobbed after Charles Manson's attorney thrust in front of her a color picture of actress Sharon Tate in death—her nearly nude, pregnant body bathed in blood.

Court was hastily recessed Thursday after the petite witness was led from the stand weeping. "She was terribly distraught," said Ronald Goldman, one of Mrs. Kasabian's attorneys. "We took her upstairs to lie down and put a cold compress on her head to try to calm her down."

Irving Kanarek, representing the shaggy-haired clan leader on trial in the slayings of Miss Tate and six others, pulled out the photograph while cross-examining Mrs. Kasabian, the state's star witness. Kanarek was asking what Mrs. Kasabian had seen when she looked into a window of Miss Tate's home. "I show you ..." said Kanarek as he flashed the photo in front of Mrs. Kasabian. He got no further. The witness recoiled, shifting in her chair and turning her head away. Then she broke down. The picture showed the blonde

Miss Tate wearing bikini pants and a bra, lying on the living room floor in front of the couch. The prosecution said the angle of the picture was meant to show her 16 stab wounds. The photo, part of material the prosecution said it planned to present later, had not been entered in evidence. A prosecutor told newsmen he had not shown the photo to Mrs. Kasabian because "she is a sensitive girl" and there was no reason to do so because the state says she never entered the house where Miss Tate's body was found.

Also on trial with Manson and Miss Kregwinkel are two other women followers of Manson—Susan "Sadie" Atkins, 21, and Leslie Van Houten, 22. The green-eyed Mrs. Kasabian, once a member of Manson's clan, has been telling her story of the slayings after being promised immunity from prosecution. She has said she went on murder missions with Manson's clan but remained outside the death houses the nights of the murders.

Power Of Senate Probe Groups Curbed In Ruling

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time in 30 years the Senate investigations subcommittee faces a direct legal threat to its power to compel hostile witnesses to testify. Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., called the situation intolerable and said Thursday it may result "in a confrontation between the legislative and judiciary branches of the government."

The U.S. Court of Appeals in the District of Columbia issued a preliminary injunction barring the committee from forcing Thomas W. Sanders of Berkeley, Calif., to testify in a probe of terror bombing. The committee sought to question Sanders about his alleged connection with publications advocating sabotage and guerrilla warfare and giving bomb-making instructions. Sanders' lawyers contend forcing Sanders to testify would violate the guarantee of freedom of the press. A hearing on the restraining order is scheduled Monday.

"We must act, or we will fall victim to the mob." He said his subcommittee's power to shed light on bombing and organized crime is endangered by the Court of Appeals decision. He noted subpoenas similar to the one issued Sanders have been served hundreds of times. This instance, he added, is the first time the subcommittee's power has been challenged successfully in court. "The court order, in my opinion as an attorney and in my experience as chairman of the Senate committee for more than 15 years, represents an unwarranted and likely unconstitutional abridgement of ... the separation of powers among the three branches of the federal government," McClellan said.

He said the Supreme Court has long held that the power of Congress to force witnesses to appear and testify is part of its power to legislate. Phillip R. Manuel, a committee investigator, testified he believes Sanders, using the name George Prosser, wrote a series of articles for the magazine Black Politics in which he advocated guerrilla tactics and bombing.

Goldman said later the judge ruled that in the future, before any exhibit is shown to a witness, the state will be given the chance to object. Asked later why he took the photo out of a folder to show it to Mrs. Kasabian, Kanarek would say only, "I believe anyone should be able to see a public record."

Winston-Salem Has 30 Days To Solve Wastes

RALEIGH (AP) — The city of Winston-Salem has 30 days to come up with a plan to alleviate conditions which could cause more fish kills in the Yadkin River. The directive came Thursday from the Board of Water and Air Resources. The board approved a resolution accepting a report of its Pollution Control Committee. The committee report placed the major blame for three of the five fish kills since June on the city of Winston-Salem. The report assessed damages in the three kills at $23,202.22. However, the board said final action on assessing damages would be postponed until all investigations of any fish kills which occur in the Yadkin this summer are completed.

The report concluded that the city is discharging "excessive quantities of inadequately treated waste through its sewage treatment plant into the waters of Salem Creek," which carries the wastes into the Yadkin. The discharge of these wastes, the report said, is in violation of the water quality standards set for Salem and Muddy creeks by the board. The board directed the city to expedite its efforts to reduce "to the maximum extent possible, waste discharges from all major contributors in order to reduce the overloaded condition of its waste treatment plants."

Continuance For Cousins

BARNSTABLE, Mass. (AP) — A judge has told two young Kennedy cousins that marijuana possession charges against them will be dropped in September 1971 if they stay out of trouble.

Dist. Court Judge Henry L. Murphy said his action in the cases of the two 16-year-olds, Robert F. Kennedy Jr. and R. Sargent Shriver III, was the usual procedure for juveniles the first time they are brought to court on such charges. He declined to find them innocent or guilty of charges that they were delinquent by reason of possession of marijuana, and said the continuances he granted them until September 1971 had the "effect of probation."

Asks Aid On Most Officials See No Hazard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, in an unusual move keyed to interest in environmental problems, asked the public today to take part in setting engine noise standards for the civilian supersonic transport plane.

Most officials in Deep South states say they are convinced that the Army's planned train shipment of nerve gas through their states poses no undue safety hazard. Mayor Ronnie Thompson of Macon, Ga., who had adamantly opposed the plan, said Thursday he might allow the train through if it appeared that an alternate route would create danger of sabotage.

Georgia Gov. Lester Maddox also approved the plan and said he was confident enough to ride aboard one of the boxcars carrying the gas. Mayor Wallace G. Moffett of Richmond, Ky., near the Blue Grass Depot, said that since the gas was brought in by train he saw no reason why "it should be any problem to move it out that way."

Florida Gov. Claude Kirk said that 17 state scientists and Army officials would meet today to discuss the situation. He said the Army would have to show the dumping would not endanger Florida. The nerve gas is to be shipped from Anniston and the Blue Grass Army Depot in Kentucky to Sunny Point, N.C., for loading aboard an obsolete Liberty ship

Meanwhile, heavy rains in Forsyth County early Thursday caused organic wastes to move down the Yadkin River about 12 hours later, but game protectors said there was no fish kill. They explained that there are no fish left to kill in the river between Muddy Creek where the Winston-Sewage sewage disposal plant discharges wastes and High Rock Lake, 25 miles away. It was the sixth time this summer that oxygen had been depleted in the stream, the second in a week.

In other action, the state board: —Voted that the state retain jurisdiction over air pollution caused by: (1) fuel burning by the state's 12 major electric plants, (2) automobile emissions, (3) chemical plants producing acids, fertilizers, dyes, synthetic fibers and industrial gases and (4) pulp and Volpe extended the invitation in connection with a Federal Aviation Administration notice of proposed rulemaking. He said the new rules will be aimed at insuring that the new generation of aircraft will be developed in line with the environmental objectives of the department. Several individuals and groups have voiced concern that the SST would be too loud on the ground and when flying would blast the ground with damaging sonic booms. Current engine noise standards became effective Dec. 1, 1969. They are limited to the new subsonic aircraft soon to enter commercial service. These standards set top limits on the amount of noise permitted on the sidelines of airports, and on approach or takeoff.

The FAA invited comment on the SST noise regulations by Nov. 6. Last April, the agency issued a notice of proposed rules on the sonic boom—regulations that would bar flight over the United States at speeds producing such a noise. These are under evaluation now.

By law, juvenile cases are secret in Massachusetts. Judge Murphy spoke with reporters after the court session and authorized the release of a statement that the Kennedy and Shriver youths and 10 other juveniles who appeared before him had their cases continued. Seven of the juveniles were accused of drug-law violations.

The senior Shriver, a former U.S. ambassador to France and husband of Sen. Kennedy's oldest sister, Eunice, said afterward that the judge "heard all the facts."

Sen. Kennedy said only that Shriver's comments covered the case. The cousins were answering summonses that were brought to their summer homes Tuesday night and ordered them to appear on charges of being in possession of marijuana July 10.

One version of the incident, gleaned from talks with some young summer residents of the area, was that an unidentified taxi driver was a police informer and linked the two Kennedy cousins to marijuana.

One young man said he heard that the taxi driver had taken the Kennedy youth and three friends 60 miles to Cohasset from Hyannis Port July 10 on a trip to retrieve a pet falcon that had escaped from the Kennedy compound.

Clark's Choice
IMAGINE— A 5 bedroom brick home on a one-half acre lot, surrounded by trees, located in Brook Valley!
AND— Suppose this home had a formal dining and living room, both carpeted, slate entrance hall, study, den-kitchen, utility room, and 3 full baths!
FURTHER— Would you even hope this home had an existing loan with an annual percentage rate of 8 percent!
BEHOLD— We proudly offer ONE house, at 211 York Road, under ONE roof, with all the above, plus more! And it will be ready for occupancy by September 1st. Interested?

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
