

House Demos React Sharply To Vetoing Of Money Bills United Fund Adopts Goal Of $126,387

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats, reacting sharply to President Nixon's veto of education and government agency money bills, spearheaded an attack today to reverse the chief executive's action.

The two bills would have added nearly $1 billion to the administration's budget recommendations. Nixon said they represent "the kind of big spending that would drive up prices or demand higher taxes."

Democratic leaders were optimistic about their chances for overriding the Office of Education bill, but less certain about the prospects for the larger measure. Many Republicans, including Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, shared that appraisal.

Democratic national chairman Larry O'Brien said Nixon's action "illustrated in starkest terms the distorted priorities of his administration."

The overriding cause of the rising cost of living is "Nixon's refusal to use the powers of the presidency to control excessive price and wage decisions, and his refusal to use the economic tools which Congress has given him," O'Brien added.

One bill would provide $18 billion in new funds for the Veterans' Administration and a score of other agencies. One of the larger boosts in the education bill was $126 million in funds for so-called impacted school districts heavily populated by children of federal employees.

The Pitt County United Fund goal for 1970-71 was established for a total of $126,387.06 last night at the annual budget meeting of the Board of Directors.

Loading Gas On Old Ship

By HOWARD BENEDICT Associated Press Writer SUNNY POINT, N.C. (AP) — Stevedores today begin loading 418 steel-jacketed vats of nerve gas aboard an old Liberty ship which will become a tomb at the bottom of the sea for the deadly chemical.

Each of the concrete coffins, capped by a quarter-inch layer of metal, contains 30 M55 nerve gas rockets, a total of 12,540.

Two heavily guarded trains rolled into this military port Tuesday night and early today after uneventful trips from Army arsenals at Anniston, Ala., and Richmond, Ky.

The gas is called GB, or "Sarin," and is capable of killing a person in minutes after attacking part of the central nervous system. It is in liquid form but would quickly turn to gas if it escaped.

The loading is expected to take two or three days. Then the government plans to have Navy tugs tow the 442-foot vessel, the LeBrannon Russell Briggs, to a point in the Atlantic 282 miles east of Cape Kennedy, Fla.

In addition to the GB gas, sealed in one of the Anniston coffins is a 10 1/2-pound container of VX nerve gas, the substance that is believed to have killed 6,400 sheep when tested at a Utah proving ground in 1968.

The scuttling is expected next Tuesday. But the tugs, escorted by a destroyer escort and Coast Guard cutter, will not leave port until they have a 96-hour prediction of good weather. The Army and Navy want to accomplish the job before September, usually the most active month for hurricanes in the Atlantic.

Veto Said Blow To N.C. Schools

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina education officials say President Nixon's veto of a $4.4 billion education appropriation bill comes as "a real blow."

"This is a real blow," said the assistant superintendent of public instruction, Max Abbott. "It's come at a time when things were on the upswing and we had a real opportunity to meet some of our pressing problems."

The emergency desegregation aid proposed by Nixon was aimed at helping solve problems arising from extensive changes in the school systems caused by desegregation.

The men, serving sentences for crimes ranging from theft to homicide, have never met Chris. But they read that he needs transfusions—at least two pints a week—to stay alive.

The President vetoed the bill and another providing funds for 23 government agencies Tuesday after saying they would add nearly $1 billion to his budget recommendations and pose "a threat to every American pocketbook."

Supt. Craig Phillips was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

Martin is a member of Kimley, Horn and Associates of Raleigh who were contracted jointly by the city government and the N. C. Governor's Highway Safety program to conduct and publish a plan which would outline the basic existing safety conditions within Greenville.

He observed that the study "does not present design work as a part of accomplishing this. This matter would be the subject of a follow up study," he commented.

Greenville Traffic Study Reviewed At Meet

Members of the City Council, the Planning and Zoning Commission, the State Highway Commission and other officials of Greenville and Pitt County heard Robert Martin in a presentation of the recently completed "Traffic Safety and Operational Improvements Needs of the City of Greenville," yesterday morning at the city hall.

Stating that the purpose of the study is "to assure adequate operational traffic techniques to improve standards to reduce the frequency and seriousness of traffic accidents in Greenville," Martin told those attending the meeting "the study is based on all available data to determine the problems and what to do to solve them."

Gift Of Life From Convicts

NEW YORK (AP)—Chris Regano, a 6-year-old hemophiliac, has 126 more pints of blood waiting for him, a gift of life from a group of convicts at Wallkill State Prison who read of his need.

Chris was playing whiffle ball at his home in Queens Tuesday when informed of the donation. The bright-eyed boy said, simply, "Thank you."

"We gave the blood because we cared about Chris Regano," one of the blood donors wrote in the prison newspaper. "Just as we care about our own kids."

The men, serving sentences for crimes ranging from theft to homicide, have never met Chris. But they read that he needs transfusions—at least two pints a week—to stay alive.

So the men organized the drive. Msgr. Robert Moore, a prison chaplain, commented: "The men make regular donations to the Red Cross. But for Chris the response was terrific. About 50 more men than usual contributed."

Explaining the purpose of project notes, Lamm noted "These are sold by the Redevelopment Commission to cover renewal of notes we

After listing various data used to substantiate findings and determinations set forth in the report, Martin furnished an analysis of the current conditions of Greenville's streets, intersections and approaches.

Other deficiencies noted in the report (which is to be published in final form including a fold out map about the first of September) included: —34 signalized intersections deficient in capacity (26 now and 8 additional ones by 1976). Deficiency in capacity was explained as including not enough lane width, and insufficient signal green time to permit traffic to pass in a free-flowing condition during peak hours.

He observed that the study "does not present design work as a part of accomplishing this. This matter would be the subject of a follow up study," he commented.

Signs Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed the postal reform bill today. He said the task of overhauling the Post Office was accomplished only through bipartisan support that "showed the system at its best."

"There is no Republican way or Democratic way to deliver the mail," Nixon said at signing ceremonies in the office of Postmaster General Winton M. Blount. "There's only the right way, and that's what this occasion is all about."

Blount has declined to say what his plans are when the new postal system becomes fully implemented a year from now.

Major provisions call for: —Mandatory quotas on imports of textile articles and footwear. Exporting countries could avoid these by negotiating voluntary limitations. The president could, in the national interest, lift the restrictions by categories or country of origin.

Lanier Is Opposed To No-Fault Plan

RALEIGH (AP) — Insurance Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier urged today that the so-called "no fault" plan of compensating persons involved in auto accidents be rejected in North Carolina.

North Carolina's present compulsory auto liability insurance program and the present method of setting liability insurance rates be retained.

In a statement prepared for presentation to the Governor's Study Commission on Automobile Liability Insurance and Rates, Lanier also urged that

Lanier told the study group that the no fault plan which he approved and which is now before its governor would "provide a very limited amount of insurance protection for innocent victims of automobile accidents—and for the persons who caused the accidents."

Close Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the outcome too close to call, the Senate faces a crucial vote on restricting the Safeguard antiballistic missile system, amid warnings a vote against the ABM will be counted a vote against President Nixon.

Late Guest Should Be Ignored

Girls Should Be Urged To Achieve

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: An otherwise charming woman I know always arrives 45 minutes to an hour late for dinner. She always sails in radiant and well pleased with herself in spite of the fact that she has ruined a meal that took much time and money to prepare. She claims she is not "geared" to look at a clock, but on those occasions when it is important to HER to be on time, she can do it.

I claim she is chronically late because it makes her feel "important" to keep everyone waiting, and to make a grand entrance. What do you think?
A VALLEYITE

DEAR VALLEYITE: If your chronically late friend actually keeps everyone waiting, and causes them to partake of "ruined" meals, then she MUST be "important." A habitual late arriver could be taught a lesson if her "grand entrance" is ignored, and all the guests are busily engrossed in their desserts.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and my fiance is 26. Ernie is very quiet, but he is not dumb. In fact he went all thru college on scholarships and has the I. Q. of a genius. Ernie says I'm the first girl he's ever been in love with and I'm sure it's true because I had to teach him how to kiss which I didn't mind because he caught on real fast.

I am a virgin and Ernie wants me to stay that way until we get married in December so he made a regular chastity belt out of leather and metal, like they used to wear back in the days of the Crusades. He did a lot of research on it. He says it's not that he doesn't trust me, but with the new morality making sex so casual these days he doesn't want to take any chances. Also he says there are a lot of hopped up crazy fellows running around nowadays and he wants me to be protected against rapists. There is only one key to this thing and he will carry it.

Abby, I don't date anyone but Ernie and have no desire to. Also, I am not afraid of rapists. Should I wear this contraption as a favor to Ernie? He says if I really love him, I will.

ERNIE'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Tell your "genius" that when HE fashions a chastity belt for HIMSELF and gives YOU the case key, you will wear one. You didn't say whether Ernie expects you to wear this harness after you're married, but if I peg this ding-a-ling right, if you agree to wear it at all, it will become a part of your permanent attire.

DEAR ABBY: I have a boy friend I like a lot, but he does something that really bugs me. When we have a date, after he brings me home [about midnight] he goes out and stops at different hangouts around town to have a beer with some of the kids. He doesn't sneak about it, he tells me afterwards where he went and whom he talked to. Sometimes he stays out until two or three in the morning.

I think it's dirty of a guy to take a date home and then go out by himself, even though our date is over. Please tell me what you think, Abby? If I'm wrong, I'll get off his back about it.
BUGGED

DEAR BUG: As long as your boy friend doesn't rush you home in order to make the rounds of the hangouts without you, you have no reason to complain. And if you like being his "girl friend," my advice to you is to get off his back or he may get the idea that you are too possessive and a bit bossy.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GORDY: Don't marry for money. You can borrow it much cheaper.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Letter writing can be a breeze. For Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Almond Sole Brown Rice Okra with Tomatoes and Zucchini

Peach Shortcake Beverage

ALMOND SOLE

1 1/2 pounds sole

Salt

2 teaspoons instant minced onion

3/4 cup mayonnaise

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1 tablespoon minced parsley

1-3d cup sliced unblanched almonds

Sprinkle each side of fish lightly with salt. Roll and skewer with toothpicks. Place on wire rack above waterand cover; bring water to boil and steam until fish is opaque—12 to 15 minutes. Mix onion, mayonnaise, lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt and parsley. Carefully remove cooked fish from steamer and quickly spread with mayonnaise mixture; sprinkle with almonds. Serve at once. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

When reading from a recipe book and mixing at the same time, put a sheet of glass or plastic over the pages to keep them from being soiled by spatters.

Media Influence Styles In Names

NEW YORK (AP)—A discussion of names is guaranteed to liven up any conversation or party, but few people are aware that fashions in names have changed dramatically since the turn of the century.

Ichabod and Lemuel for the boys and Clementina, Clarissa, Dornia and Jerusha for the girls are some frequently used names listed in Webster's First Collegiate Dictionary published in 1898.

The same boys today would probably be called Brent, Ben, Gerry, Ian and Lee. The girls would answer to Tina, Cindy, Dee and the feminine Jerr.

The style these days is for young men to have first names that originally were surnames, or to have the easy convenience of those that were formerly considered nicknames. And many more girls now have boys' names or shortened names.

Cary or Carey, Dale, Floyd, Glenn, Gary, Keith, Kent, Preston, Ross, Sherman, Tracy and Wayne are a few of the many surnames today's male teenagers received as first names.

The former nicknames boys now give as their official names include Bert or Burt, Eddie or Eddy, Gene, Gregg, Gus, Lance, Lon, Mike, Nick, Pete, Randy, Sam, Terry and Tony.

Modern misses share many names once considered exclusively masculine, such as Bryl, Dale, Dana, Leslie or Lesley, Marion, Merle, Robin, Shelly, and Meredith. A few are now so widely accepted as girls' names—Evelyn, Joyce, Shirley and Vivian—that they have practically been abandoned for boys.

The popular shortened names streamlined Sally.

In sharp contrast, names of the 1890s still carried forward the Puritan preference for the Old Testament, plus the high respect for the classics and the sentimental literature of the period.

Asa, Caleb, Ebenezer, Ezra, Gideon, Hosea, Immanuel, Isaiah, Jedediah, Job, Levi, Peleg, Salmon, Silas and Zachariah are some of the Old Testament names first selected by the Pilgrim fathers for their sons in rebellion against the traditional choice of saints' names in Europe.

Boys were also frequently named Augustus, Claudius, Dionysius, Horatio, Lucius, Octavius, Titus or Ulysses for the epic heroes of fact and legend at the height of the Greek and Roman cultures and conquests.

Names like Algernon, Hillary, Maximilian, Leander and Osmond were passed on by dotting parents after reading the romantic novels and poetry of the last century.

The same influences are seen in the girls' names of the time—Arabella, Aurora, Claribel, Cordelia, Faustina, Jamima, Mehetabel, Lavinia, Lucretia, Octavia, Ophelia, Philippa, Theodosia and Zoe.

With all the changing vogue in names, Dr. Woolf adds, the all time favorite names parents bestow are still John and Mary. The youngsters themselves, however, are more likely to be signing their names as plain Jack or a pert Mimi.

Designers Create Four Firsts In Fashion Flair

By AP NEWSFEATURES
There has been much heated discussion over the antiquity and authenticity of Scottish tartans. Some are ancient, others are not so old, and some tartans are quite modern. Authenticity, however, is not a question of age but whether the design is the approved clan design. For the second straight year, the House of Ballantine, makers of scotch whiskey, commissioned four of the world's best-known designers to create outfits using its tartans. Though misty Highlands may not be the locale, fires will burn and hearts will beat as if to the tune of bagpipes for this Fall Collection.

Layout by Joe Damone

FOR THE BALLANTINE TARTAN... John Kloss at Joseph Pruzan likes trews (that's scottish for trousers) and boots. His jumpsuit is lean and spare. The split overskirt moves with the body and the breeze. Adolfo evokes an olden days mood with his tartan skirt and jet trimmed black moire blouse. His black sombrero and the sweeping cape add to the overall effect. Giorgio Sant'Angelo's choice is a hooded great cape and long skirt. Tiffau sees today's highland lassie in pants-with-a-difference. The tunic meets only at the waist. The wide cummerbund reminds us that a tiny waist is an integral part of fashion news for fall.

First aid for a burned enameled pan: fill with cold water and three tablespoons of salt. Let stand overnight. Next day bring this to a slow boil. You should have no difficulty cleaning the pan.

Man Of Experience Answers Questions

ANTWERP, Belgium (WNS) — On his 90th birthday, actor Marc Leman lunched with 20 fashion models and young actresses. He warned the girls that he has been married five times, then recited bits and pieces of his favorite Shakespeare role: Romeo. Finally he offered to answer any questions about women. When he was asked which ladies are the most faithful — blondes, brunettes or redheads, he replied, "Only the ones with white or gray hair."

A Reasonable Court Decision

U.S. Eastern District Court Judge John Larkins has agreed with Pitt County school officials in their contention that the county's desegregation plan should be carried out as the four new high schools are completed.

The judge approved an amended desegregation plan which calls for desegregation of the North Pitt attendance area at the beginning of the 1970-71 school year and the desegregation of Conley, Ayden-Grifton, and Farmville High School attendance areas at the beginning of the second semester (about Jan. 25, 1971).

Pitt School Supt. Arthur S. Alford said the Pitt Board of Education had asked the court since 1968 to allow for the completion of the four high schools before total desegregation was required. Last week's court order allows the additional time which the county board of education feels is needed for completion of the schools.

We feel the court decision is reasonable. The

Auto Liability Rates Argued

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — More frequent automobile accidents. Climbing hospital and medical costs. Higher charges for auto repair work, parts and labor.

Add them up, and the sum is the case for upward adjustments in rates for automobile liability insurance.

A 14.3 per cent increase over the present level of rates is what the North Carolina Automobile Rate Administrative Office says is needed now for companies writing automobile liability insurance in the state.

The proposed rates would increase premiums an estimated $20. For the most typical policyholder, providing minimum coverage required by law on a private passenger car with no youthful male driver, it would mean an additional $6.40 in annual premium.

A public hearing on the rate request has been set for September 15 by State Insurance Commissioner Edwin S. Lanier.

Meanwhile, the State Supreme Court on September 8 will hear arguments on an action contesting Lanier's approval of a 2.8 per cent increase last December.

The appeal to the high court was taken by Attorney General Robert Morgan, who entered the case on behalf of the public, after Superior Court Judge James H. Pou Bailey upheld Lanier's order. The Rate Office, which initiates rate matters for its 259 licensed member companies, filed the request for a 5.3 per cent increase on July 1, 1969.

The present filing, dated last July 1, does not take into account the 2.8 per cent increase since it did not become effective because of the court action. If it had gone into effect, according to General Manager Paul L. Mize of the Rate Office, the rate increase now needed would be 10.7 per cent rather than 14.3 per cent.

The Governor's Study Commission on Automobile Liability Insurance and rates now has under study the whole area of the state's auto liability insurance laws and the rate-making process. State Senator Clyde M. Norton of Old Fort is chairman.

Insurance Commissioner Lanier will appear before the study commission here on August 12 (Wednesday) to give his views on possible changes in auto liability insurance laws, and to discuss insurance plans used by some other states.

"The man in the street understands inflation because he experiences it when he goes to the grocery store, takes his car in for routine maintenance, or pays for medical care for his family," Mize said.

"But he doesn't like to see his automobile insurance rate go up, and he doesn't relate that to inflation."

Like it or not, inflation is a very real and pressing factor in insurance costs, Mize went on. "Higher average costs of settling claims," he said, is the simple fact behind their request for increased rates.

He pulled out figures to

buttress the case. The average bodily injury liability claim paid in North Carolina for the year ended Sept. 30, 1969 (latest figures available) was $1,111. For 1968, the figure was $1,056.37. Looking backward to 1957, the last year before compulsory insurance was effective, it was $668.

The average property damage claim for the year ended September 30, 1969, was $299. For 1968, it was $274, and for 1957, it was $130. Why the rise? He pointed to U. S. Department of Labor statistics showing that hospital daily service charges increased 27.9 per cent from 1967 to 1969, while physicians' fees went up 12.9 per cent, and total medical care costs rose 13.4 per cent. He reviewed hourly labor charges by repair shops in eight Tar Heel cities, showing increases of 40 to 60 per cent over the past five years; most of them going up $1 to $1.50 per hour over the past year, to $7, $8 and $9 per hour.

He brought out the annual report of the state Motor Vehicles Department, noting that from 1966 to 1969 motor vehicle registrations increased 18.7 per cent while the number of accidents went up 23.8 per cent. The point, he said, is that accident

Pitt County Board of Education is clearly working toward a unitary system and some years back the people of the county voted the funds needed to construct four new high schools which will replace all of the older black and white high schools of the county.

The new schools will be modern in every respect and each will be large enough to provide the programs needed to suit individual student needs. Integration has seemed to work better where students have reported to new schools rather than one group of students having to move to another already existing high school.

The Pitt County Board of Education has a sound plan for desegregating the schools, which will also provide new and modern high school facilities of sufficient enrollment to offer a broad curriculum. All four schools are in various stages of construction. The wise course is to carry out desegregation as the new high schools are completed and placed in service.

Realizing The Use Of Land Needs Good Care

The nation is at last coming to realize that uses of land must be controlled if we are not to wreck our environment.

President Nixon has sent Congress a State of the Environment report which urges development of a national land use policy. Particularly recommended is the acquisition of small parks near cities and the protection of areas of special ecological significance.

"Today, we are coming to realize that our land is finite, while our population is growing," the president stated. "Society as a whole has a legitimate interest in proper land use."

Only a sound land use policy can prevent some of the things which have been happening to our countryside and seashore. This is a direction in which we must move.

An Old Pro Is Campaigning

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

NEW YORK — At the precise moment Arthur Goldberg and top campaign aides were critically viewing a screen test of Goldberg - for - Governor television spots here last Thursday (Aug. 6) New York City voters were getting their first eyeful of actual Rockefeller - for - Governor TV ads in the prime - time hours of 6 p.m. to midnight.

TV spots for the impoverished campaign of Democrat Goldberg, when finally approved, will be only ten seconds long, but the spots for Republican Nelson Rockefeller, filmed and approved by the candidate weeks ago, are cut for a full 60 seconds.

Thus the well-oiled Rockefeller campaign is already outpacing the campaign of the former Supreme Court Justice and United Nations ambassador in two critical areas: money and organization. With all the polls now showing Goldberg substantially ahead of Rockefeller, money and organization - campaign tools that Rockefeller has more of than any candidate in history - are essential if he is to close the gap and win an unprecedented fourth straight four-year term in Albany.

But even with his huge money - and - organization margin over Goldberg, closing the gap (15 percentage points in the recent highly-regarded Oliver Quayle poll) won't be easy. Goldberg is Jewish and his running mate, State Sen. Basil Paterson, is black. Between them, the Jews and the blacks make up fully one-third of the state's total vote.

Accordingly, Rockefeller starts far behind with two voter blocs that have given him substantial support in his three previous campaigns. To reduce this disadvantage, extraordinary efforts are being made, built on cash and organization. Long-time Rockefeller political ally Jackie Robinson and Mrs. Evelyn Cunningham (a Negro state aide to Rockefeller now on leave) have warned R. Burdell Bixby, Rockefeller's tough, able campaign manager, that a special campaign fund of between $500,000 and $1 million to be used in Harlem and other black areas is absolutely essential.

Robinson (who has the title of deputy campaign manager) and Mrs. Cunningham are in command of holding losses in black communities to a minimum. Because of what one black politician calls "the delicate nature of the campaign" in black areas, they want carte blanche to run their own campaigns among black voters their own way, without interference from Rockefeller headquarters. Without at least a half-million dollars, Robinson has told Bixby, the effort would not be worth making.

Whatever amount is finally sent into black communities, Rockefeller's battle to offset the political pull of Paterson (the first Negro ever nominated for lieutenant-governor) will be unprecedented.

As for the even more important Jewish vote, Rockefeller is finding that Goldberg is something less than a universal choice. The most conspicuous defection is Samuel I. Rosenman,

Tahiti and the other islands

Other Editors Say Flag's Protection

(Henderson Dispatch)

For many a long year, appointments to the U.S. foreign service have been sought and cherished by younger men. Their patriotism and loyalty was seldom questioned. Indeed it didn't need to be. In former times, American citizens had no split allegiance as many do today. They were simply good citizens and that was it.

These young men had ambitions in the diplomatic service of their country. Other than that, they had no axe to grind, aside from the yearning to see the outside world, and that, to be sure, was legitimate along with the duties rendered.

When these representatives of the U.S. government went abroad they did so in the assurance that the flag of their country would protect them as need arose, as it seldom did. It doesn't always any more. Insults both to American officials and to this nation are passed over with certainly less than serious notice, other than some sort of protest. If this is ignored by the foreign country to which these envoys are assigned and which flout appeals from Washington, little more is done.

A case in point. An official of the U.S. Embassy in Uruguay was kidnapped last week and his life threatened. Apparently it was not that guerrilla bands intended slurs at this country but that the American was held hostage as a means of trying to force the Montevideo government, ostensibly in fear of reprisals from Washington, to liberate those held as prisoners by the government there.

There have been other similar incidents in Central and South America involving other nations. One such diplomatic agent was executed when demands for liberation of the gangsters were not met.

What Washington is doing or intends to do in the Uruguayan incident is not clear. But it is reasonably evident that there is no great excitement about it in Washington.

This may cool the eagerness of young men who would be career agents to serve their country abroad in the diplomatic field. There will be others to take their place and who may be willing to accept the risks. But unless this government stands ready to protect its own nationals, the foreign service may suffer for lack of some of the best qualified youths who are loyal and patriotic, who are able, willing and eager for appointments.

It's a different practice in Washington today from what it once was. Insults to our flag were treated as such and action taken accordingly. But not always any longer.

in the South Pacific are caught between cultures. The airplane has made it possible to fly to Tahiti in a matter of hours. The only ones who aren't awed by this are the Tahitians. They don't know who designed the 707 jet but they'd just as soon he'd drown in the nearest atoll.

For hundreds and hundreds of years Tahitians have set their own pace, which is somewhat slower than that of Americans and Europeans.

To cite an example, as of this writing, Tahiti is still celebrating Bastille Day, which took place on the 14th of July.

No one is exactly sure when the 14th of July will be over out here, though some hotel owners, whose help has not come back yet, are hopeful everyone will be at work by Christmas.

In order to enjoy the islands you must understand the thinking of the Tahitians. The American says "Please, I must have breakfast immediately because I have to catch a plane for Pago Pago."

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says. But he thinks "I have already had breakfast and besides I do not have a plane to catch, so why is he bothering me with his problem?"

Ten minutes later the American says "Waiter, I must have breakfast now!"

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says. But he thinks to himself (Continued on page 5)

Things Worth While

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things that make life worth living:

Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The memory of vanished Aprils and the anticipation of others yet to be.

Coming into harbor at twilight in a sailboat under the wind's power.

An old dog snoring on an old flag rug in front of a stone fireplace.

Home-made biscuits, home-made cornbread, home-made ice cream, home-made watermelon pickles, home-made love.

Watching a young woman get married in the wedding dress worn by her mother and her grandmother before her.

The unpolluted taste of snow-ice plucked from the branches of an evergreen tree in the mountains.

Any holiday that falls on a Monday.

Opening a letter from friends that says all is well with them.

Searching through the pockets of a suit to be sent to the cleaners and flushing out a forgotten $5 bill.

The first rainbow of spring.

The day the supermarket finally gets in a shipment of juicy fresh tomatoes that actually taste like fresh tomatoes, instead of those pink shells filled with pulpy sawdust you get all winter.

Being told by the dentist that if you just massage those gums a little more your teeth should hold out for another five years at least, and probably ten.

The awe of a small child seeing kittens being born.

Ending an old and foolish feud and beginning a new and lasting friendship.

Helping the neighborhood kids try to save a young bird fallen from its tree nest.

The homely grace of Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley's face, a successful battlefield at 77.

Stumbling on an unexpected bed of wildflowers in a forest.

Getting a merit raise during a week in which you actually felt you deserved a cut in pay.

The sound of the doorbell ringing after you've been waiting half the night for someone to get back safe.

Finding a new television program that is worth tuning in all season long.

The touchdown of wheels after a long and bumpy airplane flight through storms.

Quitting any game a winner — and happily sharing the loot with a loving heart at home.

Strength For Today

TRYING TIMES

Some people seem to have no moral passion. They can look on injustice, cruelty, international disturbance and not be moved in the least. This is far from a noble attitude and cannot be dismissed with a shrug of the shoulders.

We are definitely instructed in the Bible not to hate people or judge their motives. By the same token, however, the Bible from beginning to end urges us to hate the things that are wrong. Truly great reformers have been persons who were stirred to their depths as they contemplated evil situations. Patrick Henry's declaration "Give me liberty or give me death" is an example of moral passion at its best. Today in a world which appears to be turned upside down we find plenty of indignation and protest, but sometimes it is not wisely directed. We live in an age when everybody appears to be at somebody's throat. There is no war — constitutionally declared — but we hear the tramp of soldiers' feet and the cry of multitudes, some on one side of an issue and some on the other.

In these trying times it would appear that one of the things we need most is the proper direction of moral passion. Some important matters can be settled by confrontation and discussion. Others cannot. There has not been a time in recent decades — perhaps generations — when people so needed to make up their minds on moral issues with vigor and decisiveness as right as this present time.

Passions of all kinds need to be properly channeled — and sometimes challenged. By Earl L. Douglass

Fortunes In Crisis-Peddling

By ELMER ROESSNER

A new industry has sprung up in America: crisis peddling. Perhaps it isn't new after all. Perhaps it has been going on for years; perhaps Paul Revere was one of the earliest American crisis peddlers.

But recently — perhaps because this is a period of sunspot maxima — crisis peddling has reached its own maximum. Everybody wants to sell you and everybody else concern for a crisis.

The young, at least some of them, want to sell somebody else — I know not who — the critical situation of the ruin of the world by the Establishment — whatever that is. And the older generation wants to sell somebody or other the crisis of the youth revolution which, some seem to think, can be cured only by enforced barbering, tear gas or, in critical cases, shooting. Black and White Crisis Others are peddling black and white crises. Negroes have been in America for more than 300 years. It is true that they were enslaved, exploited, deprived and occasionally lynched. But now we are being sold the idea that matters are at a crisis, and you can buy either side.

We must make up for the years of lack of brotherhood and at least one sits on the Supreme Court.

There are other crises being peddled. The oil companies are ruining our beaches by under-water drilling, or they are saving the nation by expanding the energy reserves. Lumber interests are devastating our forests, or their reforestation programs are saving our land. Industry is ruining our streams and air, or it is saving the economy by creating jobs. There Are Careers In It The worst thing about these crises peddlers is that they are diverting think - power, manpower and ladypower from more important things, such as winning the war in Vietnam or eliminating poverty. However, they are creating jobs in a time of declining employment. One way to fame and fortune in this crisis - conscious era is to find a new crisis, to form an organization, to raise funds and create a lot of jobs. Are the artichoke growers being oppressed? The Ojibway Indians? A 1934 baseball hero? The Jukes family? The Establishment? The bearded ones?

Form a committee, hire a press agent, clamor for contributions and, perhaps, seek aid from the Ford Foundation or the Federal government! There may be a comfortable, life-time career in it.

It doesn't have to be a cosmic issue. For a starter, how about library books? They may transmit disease germs. I know of people who will take books only from pay libraries because books from public libraries have grease spots, dead mosquitos and the aura of contamination. Others have told me their children have got impetigo from school library books.

Let's organize an institution for sterile library books. Let's save America from itself! Besides, there's a thousand good jobs in it.

South Vietnamese Battle For Fourth Day At Fire Base

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces battled the North Vietnamese for the fourth day today at Fire Base O'Reilly, in the northern part of the country, and claimed 96 enemy killed in two battles in the south. But Saigon's forces suffered heavy casualties in one of the latter engagements.

A company manning an outpost about a mile south of O'Reilly beat back an attack before dawn by a North Vietnamese company and reported 10 of the enemy killed. The defenders said two of their men were wounded.

Military spokesmen said contact with the North Vietnamese continued during the morning.

The artillery base 27 miles west of Hue has been under mortar and automatic weapons attack since Sunday by massing

North Vietnamese troops who also have made several probing ground attacks against outposts. The base and its outposts are defended by a 665-man battalion from the South Vietnamese 1st Division, supported by American helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers.

The enemy force in the area is estimated at 1,500 men. O'Reilly is one of five mountain artillery strongpoints strung along North Vietnamese supply and infiltration routes to the populous coastal lowlands to the east.

In Laos, government sources reported that the Communist Pathet Lao has agreed to hold peace talks with Premier Souvanna Phouma's government at Khangkhai, 120 miles north of Vientiane on the Communist-controlled Plain of Jars.

A Pathet Lao representative, Prince Souk Vongsak, is now meeting in Vientiane with Prince Souvanna to arrange the peace talks. The sources said the date for the talks to start is still to be worked out.

The Pathet Lao at first rejected Prince Souvanna's proposal of Khangkhai for the talks, saying the delegates would be in danger because U.S. planes were bombing the area. Diplomats in Vientiane believe air attacks will be suspended around Khangkhai.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said he knew of no request yet from the Laotian government to halt the raids.

MacDonald Will Testify Today

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer
FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP) — Capt. Jeffrey MacDonald prepared today to offer testimony in his own behalf at an Army hearing into charges he killed his pregnant wife and two children at their Ft. Bragg home last Feb. 17.

The testimony by the 27-year-old Green Beret physician, who contends the slayings were the work of mysterious intruders, was expected to begin late in the day and perhaps continue into Thursday.

Defense attorneys said MacDonald's testimony would wind up presentation of their case, leaving only closing arguments to be completed Friday.

It was not known whether the Army might offer further prosecution testimony next week.

The hearing will determine whether MacDonald, from Pathogue, N.Y., should be cleared or should face a trial by court-martial.

The closed door hearing which began more than a month ago was told Tuesday it was rumored that drug users at Ft. Bragg were angered shortly before the slaying of MacDonald's family over rumors that Mac-Donald and other physicians might inform on them.

Capt. James Williams, a medical services officer, was quoted by MacDonald's attorneys as testifying he had referred several drug users to MacDonald. All information on testimony during the hearing has come from defense lawyers. The Army has refused to comment since it closed the hearing over defense objection shortly after it began.

The attorneys said Williams testified the rumors started in January, about a month before the slayings. He was quoted as saying that men attending a drug seminar were told by a chaplain that physicians could be required to tell authorities of treatment rendered to drug users if the men were brought before a court-martial.

Williams said this set off rumors that some physicians might be informers and kept many drug users from seeking further medical counseling.

MacDonald told investigators after the slayings that they were the work of mysterious intruders who attacked him as he slept on his living room couch. He said a girl in the group murmured, "Acid is groovy; kill the pigs."

Present automobile liability insurance rates in North Carolina were established April 9, 1969 when 3.9 per cent increase was approved, based on a request filed July 1, 1968 for a 5 per cent increase. Actually, premium volume under these rates were reduced by 1 per cent through the reduction last year of certain surcharges under the Safe Driver Insurance Plan.

Companies contend that the present rates are grossly inadequate, and that claim costs are running beyond that amount of premiums provided for losses. The Rate Office's figures place at $8 million the excess of claims over premium provisions for losses during 1967 and 1968.

Some companies regard the situation as so serious that they have indicated they will stop writing policies in North Carolina unless relief is forthcoming.

Franklin Roosevelt's special counsel, who heads a new "Democrats for Rockefeller" committee.

Rockefeller's problems with the Jews and blacks, however, may be more than offset by his new appeal to labor unions, particularly hard hats in the conservative construction unions, and to ethnic Italian and German voters who like his conspicuous third-term move to the right. Rockefeller aides have been talking quietly to Mario Procaccino, last year's hard-line Democratic mayoral nominee. A Procaccino endorsement of Rockefeller would cause Goldberg a sizeable slice of the normally Democratic Italian vote.

To help capture this ethnic vote, much of it in rebellion against student riots, black demonstrations, and hippyism, Rockefeller and his running mate, Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, will have a second line on the November ballot labeled "Civil Service - Independents." The objective: to give what Rockefeller aides call "monolithic" Democratic voters a chance to vote for Rockefeller without voting Republican.

Moreover, Rockefeller is getting subtle help from the Conservative party, whose Senate nominee, James Buckley, is careful to avoid harsh criticism of his record as governor. In keeping with this unacknowledged mutual aid society, Buckley is conspicuously ignored, instead of being attacked, by Rockefeller. More important, Buckley's astute campaign manager, F. Clifton White, is publicly backing Rockefeller.

Add to this the vivid contrast between amateur campaigner Goldberg, still stiff, aloof, and untutored, and old pro Rockefeller — relaxed and affable with 12 years of practice under his belt — and Goldberg's 15-point advantage in the poll seems curiously irrelevant.

"If I do not give him his breakfast, perhaps the French manager will fire me and then I can go fishing in the lagoon."

Fifteen minutes later a fuming American says "See here, I have been waiting for breakfast for 25 minutes. I haven't even had coffee. I have five countries to see in six days. When I get back to the United States I will tell all my friends not to come to Tahiti."

"Yes, sir," the Tahitian says, wiping the counter. But he thinks "If he would only keep his promise, then this hotel would close, and I could sleep with my payaya all day long."

The tourist says sternly "Your economy depends on tourism, and you will never prosper and become rich if you don't learn that tourists like to be served fast."

"I know," the Tahitian nods sadly. But he thinks to himself "Who wants to become rich if it makes you so nervous?"

"Don't get me wrong," the tourist says. "I admire your life style. But one must get with the 20th century. You

Good Prospect For Future Farriers

By JAMES K. STALEY
Associated Press Writer

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A dozen Sacramento high school kids recently finished a busy year learning a trade that was nearly wiped out by the invention of the horseless carriage.

The youngsters are learning to be farriers—horseshoers. And their prospects for making a good living at the trade are excellent, and are getting even better.

The farriers-in-training are part of what is believed to be the country's only high school class in horseshoeing. County school officials decided on the course after learning of a nationwide shortage of horseshoers. The course is part of the county's vocational training program for students who aren't headed for college.

In the Sacramento area alone there are only 15 qualified farriers for a horse population of 50,000.

A good farrier at best can care for only 400 horses a year, which leaves about 10 times as many horses as there are shoers to care for them.

"There's been a phenomenal population explosion in pleasure horses," says Larry Fisk, the course instructor. "Horses are being ridden barefooted simply because of the short shortage of shoers."

Fisk said there are now more than nine million horses in the United States—more than there were at the turn of the century, before the advent of the automobile.

Sacramento's student farriers can't just dilly dally all day long "You have to go, go, go."

"Thank you," the Tahitian says. But he thinks "I wouldn't have to put up with all this garbage if I had gone canoeing with Fredo this morning."

A half hour later the American is now steaming and shouting for the French manager, who is also steaming and yelling.

The Tahitian smiles at both of them and thinks to himself sadly "I would hate to be a tourist in Tahiti because it's almost impossible to get anything to eat."

—including two pretty girls—are chosen carefully. Fisk said he takes only those he thinks can make the grade as fulltime farriers. He added that he expects 400 to 500 applicants for the 20 openings in next fall's class.

In California, a young-well trained but unseasoned farrier can expect to earn $8,000 a year right off and $20,000 a year within five years "without any trouble," according to Fisk.

Fisk places a heavy emphasis on shoeing horses with special problems.

"If these kids ever see a horse with four normal feet," he jokes, "they won't believe it. But give them a horse with a problem and they'll go right to it."

The students are taught to recognize disease and how to build special shoes for split and damaged hooves. In fact, for the first semester of the one-year course, the students have to hand-forged every shoe they use. They are also taught how to build up a damaged hoof with a fiberglass plaster filling to hold the damaged hoof together while new hoof tissue grows out.

Hooves, very much like human fingernails, grow steadily and need to be trimmed every few weeks even if the horse is not shod.

Payne said the two girls in the course had already landed jobs as farriers for a Nevada dude ranch where the manager liked the novelty of having girl shoers.

Asked if horse shoeing didn't seem a little unladylike, pretty 17-year-old Linda Clarke replied: "I don't think so." Beating a glowing horseshoe on the anvil as she talked, she continued: "So I get my face smudged. But I can make money being a farrier than being a secretary or an airline stewardess."

According to Fisk, a farrier in the Sacramento area is paid $14 to shoe a horse, in Los Angeles, County $18 to $20, and elsewhere in California as much as $30. Racetrack farriers, Fisk added, may earn more than $40,000 a year.

Beliefs Often 'Incompatible'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Surveys turn up some curious sidelights on religion, including a recent finding that what people say they believe doesn't actually have much bearing on the way they act toward others.

This was the general conclusion of a study by Dr. Milton Rokeach, psychology professor at Michigan State University.

The results "suggest a pervasive social outlook among the religious-minded that seems to be incompatible and often opposite to the compassion taught in the Sermon on the Mount," he reports in the journal, Psychology Today.

He says the results indicated that "religious values serve more as standards for condemning others or as standards to rationalize one's own self-pursuit than as standards to judge oneself by or to guide one's own conduct."

Among Catholics surveyed, he says, religious values seem "more or less irrelevant as guides to compassionate social action," and among Protestants, there was an actual "negative relationship" between the two factors, that is, the most devout showed the least social compassion.

Commenting on the results, the Rev. Dennis J. Geaney, a Catholic theologian, writes in the Catholic Messenger that they constitute a "devastating blast at organized religion," and reflect the tendency of many clergymen to disregard the social implications of the Gospel.

Nevertheless, the director of the American Foundation for Religion and Psychiatry reports that 42 per cent of Americans in trouble still turn first to clergymen for advice, rather than to psychiatrists.

This "figure seems to be on the increase," the Rev. Dr. Donald E. Smith, of New York, told the American Association for Mental Health, meeting in St. Paul, Minn.

He says studies indicate that one of every 10 Americans need psychiatric help, but since the nation has fewer than 50,000 psychiatrists and psychologists, clergymen provide a logical adjunct in the field.

He says that of the country's 260,000 parish clergymen, about 25,000 have had some clinical training in counseling those with mental-emotional problems.

POLICY CHANGE

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky has changed its policy on reservations for state parks, shelving the previous rule that they can be made only after Jan. 1 for the next 12 months. Henceforth they can be made a year in advance any time.

Opening lead: Deuce of ♣. South's hand did not contain enough high card strength to warrant a free bid over East's two club overcall. However, when North reopened the bidding with a take-out double, South properly jumped to three spades to indicate that he was not far removed from an original response.

Holding an unbalanced hand, South resisted his partner's attempt to play no trump, and he carried on to four spades.

West opened the deuce of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. A spade was led and when East followed with the eight, South put up the jack. A heart finesse was taken and North's jack won the trick. A spade was returned, East played the nine and South won the trick with the queen.

The queen of hearts was finessed and a club was ruffed in the closed hand. Another heart was led to North's ace and East ruffed with the ten of spades, cashed the ace and exited with the jack of clubs which South trumped with the six of spades.

A small diamond was led and the ten was played from dummy. East won the trick with the jack and returned another club which South ruffed with his last spade—developing the following end position as West and North had to make discards.

West was obliged to retain the king of hearts to protect against the dummy's six, so he parted with the five of diamonds. North now discarded the six of hearts, South led a diamond to the next trick. West followed with the nine and inasmuch as his remaining card was known to be a heart, there was nothing to be gained by taking a finesse, so declarer went up with the ace and dropped East's king. North's queen of diamonds took the game fulfilling trick.

Farm Subsidy Limit Felt First Step To Ending All

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $55,000 ceiling on farm subsidy payments voted by the House represents only a $38 million cutback in the $3.5 billion program, but some congressmen see the action as the first step in eliminating payments to farmers for not growing crops.

"This may be the last farm bill Congress ever passes," said Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., after the House approved the omnibus bill containing the subsidy ceiling. "One way to end the program is to cut down on payments."

Some lawmakers don't want to end the program. The result, they say, would be higher food prices, a cutback in the number of farms and the threat of an economic disaster.

The bill, which sets the $55,000 per crop ceiling on cotton, feed grains and wheat, now goes to the Senate where President Nixon is expected to fight attempts to lower the limit to $20,000. Present law sets no limit.

The House passed the bill last week after Nixon urged acceptance of the Agriculture Committee version with the $55,000 lid. Backers of the lower figure have vowed to continue the fight after the Senate acts and the bill goes to conference committee.

The subsidy lid was a landmark move to include in a general farm bill restraints on huge subsidy payments to individual growers.

It was time, the House decided, to shut off million-dollar subsidy payments—five of them last year—to huge operators like the J.G. Boswell Co., Corcoran, Calif., whose $4,370,657 payment has become a rallying cry for subsidy critics.

The limitation, to begin next year, was introduced in the Senate by Dole, one of Nixon's staunchest supporters.

But Dole is with Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, the White House and the House Agriculture Committee in holding the line at $55,000 limit, a figure deemed ridiculously high by farm critics.

The issue is expected to come to a head on Aug. 18 when the Senate Agriculture Committee takes up the farm bill. Chairman Allen J. Ellender, D-La., told a reporter he will do all he can to get the legislative package through Congress by Labor Day. He also is reconciled to a subsidy lid but says anything lower than $55,000 would disrupt agriculture severely.

The subsidy issue has been simmering a long time. Twice in recent years the House has passed a $20,000 lid, with both efforts failing in conferences with the Senate.

This year the Senate went for a $20,000 limit. The House action headed off the lower restriction but included a measure which sets up key programs for the most bothersome of the nation's major farm commodities.

The $55,000-per-crop limit would shave about $58 million from the subsidy program if applied strictly to the more than 1,100 farmers last year who got at least that.

If enforced strictly so that corporation farms could not split up and get several payments instead of one, it would put a severe curb on the Boswell-type operations. But trimming $58 million from a program costing $3.5 billion a year and involving 2.5 million farmers is not a deep cut.

Rather, as some congressional farm leaders privately see it, the $55,000 limitation would be a neat bit of cosmetics to uplift the sagging image of U.S. agriculture.

One key reason involves U.S. agriculture's fantastic production. This is so huge that even with one cropland acre out of five producing for the export market, almost as much must be kept idle to prevent a glut.

Another reason is the pattern of government controls and subsidies to agriculture itself, a multi-hued skein of programs going back 37 years to the early New Deal days.

Most of today's farmers have never operated without some kind of government program. It has been built into their seasons, their credit, their production and their way of life.

Secretary Hardin and others in the administration have noted this. To remove government at once from farming would spell bankruptcy for farmers and perhaps economic disaster for the nation, they say.

About one-fourth of the nation's net farm income last year came through direct government payments—roughly $3.8 billion—with the lion's share of $3.3 billion paid to producers of the three commodities now facing payment limitations.

Removal of this money, farm block spokesmen, say, would force consumers to make up the difference through higher market prices or bankrupt more of the nation's three million farms.

But the costs of paying farmers not to farm have not been accepted by the public as being necessary to the well-being of the country.

Farm program costs are spiraling. Between 1933 and 1960 the total federal expenditure was less than $20 billion under specific programs aimed at stabilization of farm income through a myriad of devices, including price supports, payments, soil bank and income supplements.

In the 10 years since, costs for these direct programs have been about $28 billion.

Many critics point out that the big farmers seem to be getting the largest share. But the reason is fairly simple: current programs are keyed literally to renting land out of production. Therefore, the farmer with the largest acreage or production potential, gets the most money.

The government classifies as commercial only those farms that sell $10,000 or more a year in products. These represent less than one-third of the nation's three million farms but produce more than 80 per cent of its food and fiber.

Administration officials have suggested that farm programs be designed with income guarantees to help the commercial producer over the hump until he is able to function in the free market.

This has been the dream for many years. In some way, many have suggested, problems of the small, poverty-level farmer must be separated and programs designed especially for him.

But backers of the $55,000 limitation say reducing this to $20,000 or $10,000 is not the way. Excess land still must be taken from production. If the larger, commercial operators do not do this, they say, so much would have to be taken from the small farmer that he would be wiped out.

"I think the $55,000 limitation is a recognition that there should be one," said Dole, a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee. "But beyond that I don't think it will have much impact."

"What the Congress should face up to—and it never has—is whether there should be farm payments at all," Dole said.

What would happen if all government farm programs and subsidies were ended immediately is mainly an educated guess. Probably nothing for a while, but as the crunch of larger production and—presumably—lower prices took hold many farmers would quit their land absorbed by larger operators struggling to hold out longer.

Introducing the lowest-lead, highest-octane gasoline for the money. Anywhere.

New Big Plus.

We've taken lead out, kept the octane high. And we've priced it below premium.

To help clean the air.

Cleaning the air is the biggest thing we wanted to accomplish. So we took lead out of Big Plus. Actually, there wasn't that much lead to begin with. One-and-a-half cc's of tetraethyl lead, less than an eyedropper-full in a gallon. Now we've removed one cc of that. To make Big Plus 99.98% lead-free on a volume basis.

Then we doubled the amount of engine-cleaning detergent, to reduce exhaust emissions even more.

It all adds up to this: Big Plus can cut automotive air pollution from your car significantly. Right now.

9 out of 10 drivers can use Big Plus without worrying about engine knock.

Big Plus is high in octane.

It has what engineers call a 'research octane' rating of 96. Octane, of course, is not the only guide to choosing a gasoline. But it's important.

Big Plus will work perfectly in cars that don't have real high-compression engines. Cars that do should use our premium gasoline, Esso Extra.

There are 83,000,000 cars on the road today. What we've done is to make Big Plus an anti-pollution gasoline that 9 out of 10 drivers of today's cars can use without worrying about engine knock. And it'll be good for the 1971 cars, too.

Why we didn't take out all the lead.

We could have, of course. But engine testing shows that some lead is needed to prevent possible valve damage.

So we left the minimum amount in. And still made a cleaner gasoline. Try it soon. And help your car run clean.

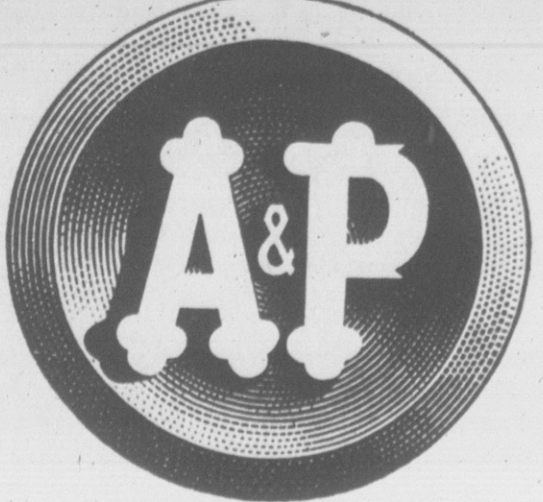

There may be other questions about gasoline you'd like answered.

So we've prepared a comprehensive brochure. You can get it free at Esso stations. Or write Humble's Consumer Affairs office, Box 2180, Houston, Texas 77001.

Commission Disclaimed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House says the President's Commission on Pornography, whose preliminary report is under attack in Congress, is not a part of the Nixon administration.

"This is not Nixon's commission," Ronald L. Ziegler, the President's news secretary, said Tuesday. "It was formed under a previous administration. He did not appoint the members, and the commission's recommendations are not those of this administration."

Ziegler made the statement as the House postal operations subcommittee was challenging the draft report. The biggest fuss has come over tests, sanctioned by the panel, in which reactions of 23 young men to stag movies were checked.

Ziegler said no White House staff members were involved in the experiment.

"There is no intent to pre-judge the findings of the report," Ziegler said. But he said Nixon "believes pornography and obscenity relate to adverse social conduct."

The commission's draft report concluded that exposure to pornography does not result in an increase in sex crimes.

$76,000 Grant Awarded Rehabilitation Program

A grant of $76,029 has been awarded to the East Carolina University School of Education for the continuation of ECU's traineeship program in rehabilitation counseling.

The award, increased over last year's award by more than $2,000, was given to the East Carolina program by the U.S. Social and Rehabilitation Service, an agency of the federal government. This is the fourth year that ECU has received the grant.

The rehabilitation counseling traineeship program is designed to educate students at the master's degree level to work in the field of rehabilitation counseling.

Specifically, it trains them for work with the N. C. Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, a state agency which works for the betterment of conditions for physically and mentally handicapped persons in North Carolina.

According to Dr. Sheldon Downes, director of the ECU program, the new award will support 25 students who will hold traineeships in the two-year program for the academic year 1970-71.

While earning master's degrees in rehabilitation counseling, the students attend classes, consisting of both theoretical and practicum courses. During the fifth quarter of the traineeship program, the students hold counseling internships in various rehabilitation agencies in North Carolina. Some students will write a master's thesis as well.

The East Carolina traineeship program in rehabilitation counseling is open to students from all disciplines, although those whose undergraduate major fields were psychology or sociology are preferred.

Dr. Downes noted that of the approximately 70 graduate schools in the nation which have similar programs, many received lowered grants this year, while that of East Carolina was significantly increased.

Of the awarded sum, Dr. Downes said: "We are extremely pleased with the grant. It will enable us to meet the needs of the state for rehabilitation counselors."

He also pointed out that Greenville is rapidly becoming a "rehabilitation complex." It is the location of a sheltered workshop, a district office, a mental health clinic, an alcoholic rehabilitation center and the recently selected site for a regional rehabilitation center for the severely physically handicapped.

"We expect that Greenville will become quite well known in rehabilitation circles because of the complex of rehabilitation services that we have here," he said.

Marketing Golf Balls For Spiro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A realtor in suburban Lawndale says he is producing "Sprio Flite Golf Balls" as desk ornaments to commemorate Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's bopping of pro golfer Doug Sanders with a shot Feb. 7.

Rudy Harper, 40, the manufacturer, said the Japanese-made balls have a blue, one-inch imprint showing a caricature of Agnew swinging a golf club and the word "Fore" above his head.

The ball, with a circular plastic stand and a plastic golf tee, will sell for $2.75.

Harper, who attended the University of Florida with Sanders, said Agnew's attorneys have agreed to allow the item to be marketed with part of the profits going to combat pollution and another portion to charity.

Threats Were Replaced By Understanding

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — The Rev. Maurice Hall, pastor of the Dellrose Church of Christ, has flown the flag 24-hours a day in front of his home since his son, William, was killed in Vietnam two years ago.

One night last week the flag was taken from its stand and a note was left saying, "Take the flag down at night. If you don't your head will be beaten in."

Hall replaced the flag and the next night it was taken down again. This time rocks were left.

The following night, the pastor left the flag flying, accompanied by a note explaining why.

About midnight, he said, two "hippie types" knocked on the door and apologized.

"They asked for forgiveness," the Rev. Mr. Hall said.

Finland has more than 30,000 islands.

Traced Guns New Officers Of Killers To Commie

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two of three guns smuggled into a courtroom and used in last Friday's shootout that killed a judge and three others were purchased in 1968 and 1969 by Angela Davis, Communist university instructor, the San Francisco Examiner says.

Miss Davis, who says her political views led to her discharge as a philosophy teacher at the University of California at Los Angeles, was not available for comment on the newspaper's copyright story published Tuesday.

Ed Montgomery, a Pulitzer Prize-winning reporter, said in his story that Jonathan Jackson, 17, who carried the guns into the San Rafael courtroom, had served recently as a bodyguard for Miss Davis, 26.

Jackson and two of three convicts to whom he gave arms in the escape attempt were killed as they tried to drive away in a van.

Highway Patrol Troop A Headquarters in Greenville will get a new second lieutenant and a new sergeant from a series of promotions finalized in swearing-in ceremonies in Raleigh yesterday.

Sgt. J.B. Pierce of Goldsboro was promoted to second lieutenant and is being transferred to Greenville to replace L.S. Meiggs.

2nd Lt. Meiggs, stationed in Greenville since March 1, was promoted to first lieutenant and will become executive officer of the Patrol's new Troop F with headquarters in Hickory.

Pt. P.C. Eure of Hookerton, a veteran of 10 years with the patrol, was promoted to line sergeant and transferred to Greenville.

According to Troop A Commander R. F. Williamson, Sgt. Eure will serve as technical supervisor for the chemical breath-testing program in the Troop A area.

"This is a new position recently created because of the intensive drinking driving program the patrol has been emphasizing for the past three years," the Troop A commander explained.

Sgt. Eure, Capt. Williamson said, has had extensive training in maintenance and all technical aspects of chemical breath-testing machines and the testing program.

A native of Mursfreesboro, Sgt. Eure is married and has a 12-year-old child.

Lt. Pierce, a member of the Highway Patrol for the past 24 years, is a native of Hamlet and is married and has one son.

In addition to his present station in Goldsboro, the new lieutenant has served with Patrol in Smithfield, and Elizabeth City.

In all, 25 Highway Patrol members were promoted during yesterday's swearing-in ceremony.

All of the promotions are effective September 1.

Retired General Faces Charges

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Retired Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell, president of the National Guard Association of the United States and former head of the New Jersey National Guard, has been named in three two-count indictments charging him with using three public employees for work on his home.

Cantwell, 62, is scheduled to be arraigned Thursday on the indictments, which were handed down Tuesday by a Mercer County grand jury.

The indictments allege that Cantwell used three warrant officers on three occasions for improvements at his Ewing Township home near Trenton.

One count of each indictment alleges illegal use of public employees, which is a high misdemeanor punishable by up to seven years in prison and a $2,000 fine.

Inside the van, Superior Court Judge Harold J. Haley, one of five hostages, was shot to death.

An automatic carbine and a Browning .380 caliber automatic pistol found inside the van were traced by serial numbers. The Examiner said the name of Angela Davis was recorded for purchase of the pistol Jan. 12, 1968, at the Brass Rail in Los Angeles, and for the purchase of the carbine April 7, 1969, at Western Surplus in Los Angeles.

At the time the guns were purchased Miss Davis was teaching at the University of California in San Diego.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales refused to talk with newsmen about the Examiner report. He is heading the investigation of the shootout.

Visits Made By Sunshine Girls

Visits to the fire station, the courthouse, the telephone company, and a local movie house are part of this week's agenda for girls participating in Operation Sunshine.

According to Mrs. Arlene Hoot, director, the girls visited the Greenville Fire Department and the Pitt County Courthouse Monday. Yesterday they had special musical entertainment and worked in arts and crafts.

Today they will visit the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph Office and will have a storytelling session. Tomorrow after a homemade ice cream party, they will see "A Boy Named Charlie Brown" at the Pitt Theater. Friday they will have cooking lessons, play games and receive a special guest.

Recalls Being Liberated Early

WOODSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Shirley Temple Black says passage of a constitutional amendment guaranteeing women equal rights won't affect her because "I was liberated early."

The measure, passed 346 to 15 Monday by the House of Representatives, still requires approval by the Senate and three-quarters of the state legislatures.

"I don't think it will affect me at all," the former child star said at her home here Tuesday. "I've worked since I was 3, so I was liberated early."

Insisting she is not a fan of militant women's rights groups, Mrs. Black said, "I prefer to have the strong arms of a man around me."

Police Evacuate Their Station

BELOIT, Wis. (AP) — The police department was flushed out of its office by tear gas Tuesday. A policeman was looking over a tear gas canister which was supposed to be a dud, when it started to leak and then broke open.

Nuclear Conductor

That's Mack Wilson's job: conducting visitors through the Vepco Nuclear Information Center at Surry.

There, he uses animated displays, movies and other aids to tell the intricate story of the atom in terms even children can understand. With a working model of a nuclear power station, he shows why this is such a safe, clean, economical way to produce electricity.

From the Center's observation deck, he can point to the real thing taking shape just a few hundred feet away. The $327 million Surry Power Station, which will begin operation in 1971, is another of Vepco's giant steps into tomorrow.

Come see it all. It's open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily, 1 to 6 p.m. Sunday, just off Route 10 in Surry County. Mack Wilson will help you understand the mighty atom, and how the energy it creates will bring you a brighter tomorrow.

Vepco is people...helping people.

Pact Signed By Brandt, Kosygin

MOSCOW (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany and Premier Alexei N. Kosygin today signed a nonaggression treaty, the keystone to Bonn's efforts to improve relations with Eastern Europe.

Pay $25,000 To Hoaxer

SETATLE (AP) — A Western Airlines plane with 118 aboard circled Seattle-Tacoma International airport Tuesday night while officials on the ground paid $25,000 after a telephoned bomb threat. No bomb was found.

Howard Clifford, public relations spokesman for the airlines, said today that Western officials received a bomb threat after Flight 722 left Anchorage, Alaska, for Seattle. The caller demanded $25,000 before he would tell where the bomb was and how to disarm it.

The plane circled Seattle-Tacoma airport while officials waited for a call from the man who made the threat. No call was received. The plane was searched in the air and no bomb turned up on the Boeing 720. The FBI is investigating.

without a signal light than one where there is a light. According to the report, the average costs of an accident is $466 where a signal light exists, but jumps to $588 at intersections without a light.

About 750,000 vehicles were junked in California in 1969, says the National Automobile Club.

Most of the 11-man politburo of the Soviet Communist party attended the brief ceremony in the Kremlin's Catherine Hall. They included Communist party General Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev.

The signing came after Brandt and Kosygin had conferred for more than two hours. German sources said Brandt also is expected to meet with Brezhnev.

Brandt and Kosygin are expected to hold wide-ranging conversations on German-Soviet relations, international policy and problems, and European integration and security during the West German leader's two-day visit.

While most Soviet newspapers today praised Bonn's policy of conciliation with the Communist world, the Defense Department's Krasnaya Zvezda—Red Star—reminded its readers that West Germany is still a member of the "aggressive NATO bloc" with a "revenge-seeking" army. The slap implied that the Soviet Union can never trust Brandt's Ostpolitik while his country remains so closely allied with the United States.

Woman Dealer At Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — For the first time, a woman is dealing cards on the Las Vegas Strip.

Women have shuffled the cards and pushed the dice over the green felt tables throughout the rest of Nevada since the man-short days of World War II, but Strip casinos have always employed only male dealers, contending women would drive away the big-money boys. Jean Brady, 47, worked her first shift Monday as a "21" dealer at Howard Hughes' Silver Slipper.

Almost Sure 'Santa Maria' Wreck Found

MIAMI (AP) — Two experts in marine archeology will travel to Haiti this weekend to help a group of explorers and businessmen seek evidence that the Santa Maria, long-lost flagship of Christopher Columbus, has been found.

The explorers and businessmen, led by Fred Dickson of West Palm Beach, say they believe a coral-encrusted wreck in about 15 feet of water off Cap Haitien on Haiti's north coast is the Santa Maria.

"We are now 95 per cent sure we have found the Santa Maria," said Herman W. Kitchen, codiscoverer of the wreck. Items removed from a wrecked ship at the site have been dated by scientific techniques and apparently are from the Columbus era, the team reported.

The Santa Maria, one of three ships that carried Columbus to his discovery of the New World, ran aground and was abandoned at Christmas 1492.

'Suspicious' Of Inegration

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — The South Carolina unit of the American Friends Service Committee says its survey has disclosed that "doubt, suspicion and fear dominate" Negro attitudes toward widespread integration of schools in the state this fall.

The organization said a survey of 25 of the 93 school districts showed compliance with the law is expected, but arrangements are regarded by Negro leaders as "insensitive to the needs, aspirations and talents" of blacks.

Utilities Are Told No Increase In Natural Gas

N.C. Natural Gas has notified Greenville Utilities that it may not be able to further increase the amount of gas furnished Greenville after the current fiscal year.

Director Charles Horne told the commissioners last night that agreement had been reached on the amount of gas the Utilities will receive in 1970-71, but that N.C. Natural Gas was informing the Utilities that there could be limitations for 1971-72 unless there was an increase from their suppliers.

Natural gas is piped to the city by N.C. Natural Gas and then distributed to Utilities customers over its own system. There have been reports that natural gas supplies were running short because new sources have not been developed to handle the increasing demand.

Horne said he planned to acknowledge the letter but to inform N.C. Natural Gas that the Utilities expects the firm to supply the city's gas needs.

Commissioners approved plans for proceeding with final plans and specifications and receiving bids for the Water Pollution Control plan expansion. The city is already eligible for a 30 percent federal grant and the commission has application for an additional 20 percent grant.

Commissioners approved sewer additions in Meadowbrook using Utilities crews. Cost of the work was estimated at $30,000. They approved purchase of three pick up trucks on the basis of the low bid of $6,213 submitted by Hastings Ford.

A plan for providing dependent life coverage at a weekly cost to the employee was heard by the commissioners. Action was deferred for six months.

Commissioners also approved calling for bids on selling $2,250,000 in improvement bonds which were authorized by the voters.

All Sextuplets Are Now Dead

ROME (AP) — The last of the sextuplets born last week to Mrs. Loredana Luzzitelli Petrone has died.

Rome University's obstetrics clinic said a girl who was the last survivor of the three boys and three girls born to Mrs. Petrone died Tuesday from a cardio-circulatory collapse.

Mrs. Petrone, 35, had taken a fertility drug. She has had no other children in her 11 years of marriage.

Traffic Study

decs in the southern part of the city.

Martin stated that major deficiencies occur "in the Central Business Development area, around East Carolina University and in the shopping centers and industrial areas."

Some problems too were noted around public schools and other public buildings, where there is a need to develop better accessibility into and out of these areas.

Emphasizing that the study he presented has as a first need that of "reducing frequency and seriousness of accidents," he noted an urgent need to "upgrade and standardize," and "to improve the pattern of layouts for the streets and intersections."

Intersections with deficiencies have been accorded priorities — depending on the relative degree of lack of safety due to the number of accidents and the number of deficiencies present. In the first, or most pressing need for action priority are 33 intersections; with 23 in the second priority and three in the third priority.

Martin suggested some things which can be done to help correct the current safety deficiencies in the city. Among these he listed "studies to complete designs and improvements to eliminate all deficiencies. He estimates the cost of such a project at about $17,000, which would include drawings, studies, etc. with interim improvements to revise signal timing, and to eliminate certain on-street parking. Other measures would include a feeder street plan to coordinate improvements. For this plan and six basic studies, Martin noted a cost of approximately $45,000, with a continuing study and evaluation on an annual basis of about $9,000, making a total of $54,000 for studies for a period of two or three years. He noted available sources of funding for such studies would be from city, state and federal funds.

For the cost of basic improvements which would follow recommendations made, Martin said "the estimated costs of would be around $88,000."

"Altogether, this would amount to something in the neighborhood of $142,000 to cover studies and improvements over a two to three year period." Of this total, he said "the city would maybe need to furnish about $60,000."

As an alternative to these recommended studies and improvements, Martin said "the City of Greenville may be ripe for a TOPIC Study." He explained that TOPIC provides for a plan to eliminate traffic operational and safety deficiencies, and believes "with the TOPIC plan the $60,000 estimated cost to the city would be reduced considerably."

In response to a query about what type of construction the $88,000 estimate for improvements would provide, Martin stated "in the $88,000 figure, we are not talking about construction costs, but improvements to signal lights, signs, removal of shrubbery and trees and general improvements for safety conditions."

City Manager Harry Hagerty commented "the whole picture is not so bad as it may look, as many of the suggested improvements are already included in various plans, such as widening 10th Street."

One sidelight revealed in the study is that in Greenville it is more expensive to have an accident at an intersection

Greenville Falls To Tennessee Team In Tenth Inning, 3-2, On Home Run

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. — A two-strike, two-out home run in the tenth inning knocked Greenville out of the winners bracket in the Babe Ruth All-Star Regional Tournament last night, 3-2, in Huntsville.

East Nashville, Tenn., took over as the tournament favorite after the victory. They are the only unbeaten team left in the field.

Greenville, now with one loss in the double elimination field, must wait until nearly time for their game tonight before finding out who they will be meeting. Columbus, Ga., and the host team, Huntsville, are meeting at 7 p.m. (EDT), and the winner will meet Greenville at approximately 9 p.m. for the right to advance to the finals.

The survivor of the two games takes on East Nashville on Thursday at 7 p.m. for the championship. Should East Nashville lose, a second game would be held at 9 p.m. The two teams battled through 10 innings yesterday before the winning blast finally came. Both pitchers went the distance, but East Nashville's defense almost cost them the game.

Both of the runs Greenville got off hurler Stinson were unearned as Tennessee committed eight errors. Greenville had scoring opportunities in nearly every inning, but could get them to pay off only in the first and fourth.

In the first, Greenville took the lead with a run, Herb Wilkerson led off with a double into center field. A passed ball allowed him to make it safely to third, and he scored from there on a sacrifice fly by Johnny Barwick, giving Greenville a 1-0 lead.

In the bottom of the first, however, East Nashville came back to push over a run and tie it up. Tommy Cartwright walked and Kenny Thomas grounded back to the second baseman, Barwick. He tried to put the tag on Cartwright, but missed, then was late on the throw to first to get the batter. Bob Latimer then singled into left field, scoring Cartwright to tie it up.

In the third, East Nashville came up with the go-ahead run. Latimer led off with a single and stole second. David Birdsong followed with a hit to left, scoring Latimer.

Greenville quickly rebounded to tie it up for the second time, 2-2. Bill Lee reached on an error and moved on to second on a passed ball. J. C. Daniels followed with a single to center, and that brought Lee across with the tying run.

For the next five innings, the two teams battled through without any damage, and it looked, in the bottom of the tenth, like it would keep going. With two down, Stanley Cobb worked up a two-strike count to Birdsong, only to have the next pitch slammed over the fence in left center, giving Tennessee the victory.

Despite the fact that East Nashville worked on Cobb for 10 hits in the game, they had few scoring opportunities. Most of the hits came with two outs, and the next batter went down, ending the threat.

But Greenville now had its back to the wall, and must win three straight games to claim the championship.

Plans call for Greenville to leave Huntsville for the return trip after the conclusion of their play, traveling all night by bus to come back to Greenville.

Bunning Gets Place In History With Win

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

A tired, but happy Jim Bunning just missed completing his milestone triumph but couldn't resist watching the dramatic ending as a last-ditch Houston rally fell short, gaining the Philadelphia veteran a place in baseball history.

The 38-year-old right-hander, who captured 118 victories with Detroit of the American League, notched his 100th triumph in the National league Tuesday night in the Phils 6-5 decision over the Houston Astros. Cy Young was the only other hurler to win at least 100 games in each league.

The veteran of 15 major league seasons was coasting with a 6-1 lead, limiting the Astros to six hits, until the roof fell in the ninth.

"I said, 'oh, no not again,'" Bunning said afterward, referring to an Aug. 1 game against San Francisco when he left the game leading 5-4 in the ninth; then Willie Mays homered off reliever Dick Selma, prolonging Bunning's quest of his historic 100th triumph.

This time however, Selma came up with two outs to bail out Bunning, whiffing Jesus Alou with two Houston runners on base.

In other NL action, Los Angeles edged Pittsburgh 5-4, Cincinnati bombed the New York Mets 8-1, Chicago stopped San Francisco 4-1, St. Louis nipped San Diego 11-10 and Atlanta blanked Montreal 1-0.

In the American League, New York whipped Chicago 7-1, Washington topped Minnesota 3-2 in 11 innings, Detroit edged Milwaukee 2-1, Baltimore ripped California 7-0 and Oakland beat Cleveland 6-5. The Kansas City at Boston game was called by rain.

Bunning, increasing his mark to 9-11, struck out five and didn't walk a batter as he became the second pitcher in major league history to win 100 games in each league. Hall of Famer Young, 1890-99, won 249 American League decisions and 262 in the National.

"I had extra good control but it went bad in the ninth. I made some bad pitches," Bunning said.

In that inning, Houston's Joe Morgan opened with a homer and four singles and three runs followed. Joe Hoerner came on and issued another hit before Selma got the last out.

"Maybe I should have walked somebody to stop the rally," Bunning, the father of nine, quipped.

"When I came out, I started up the ramp, but then came back to watch the end. I always like to finish but I was tired out there in the ninth, the right-handed nine-time All-Star said.

Don Money drove in three Phils' runs with a double and single and Deron Johnson added a pair of run-scoring doubles.

Billy Grabarkewitz clubbed a three-run homer and Claude Osteen, 12-10, won his first game in six weeks with relief help, as the Dodgers stopped the Pirates, who remained 2½ games ahead of the Mets in the tight East Division scramble.

Tony Perez crashed a tape-measure 500-foot grand slam homer and Gary Nolan scattered seven hits in winning his eighth straight triumph.

Perez' homer was his 35th and the longest hit in Cincinnati's month-old Riverfront Stadium. It came off Mets' loser Jim McAndrew, 6-11, and was enough Nolan, 15-4, who for struck out six. He lost his shut-out in the ninth on Cleon Jones' homer.

John Bench, the majors' leader in homers, rapped his 39th and Lee May had his 24th for the Reds, runaway leaders in the West.

Randy Hundley's two-out single snapped a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning, helping the Cubs edge to within 4½ games of the Pirates.

Ferguson Jenkins, a three hitter for Chicago, holding the Giants hitless after the third inning.

Ron Santo cracked a two-run homer in the eighth for the Cubs while Joe Pepitone slammed a pair of doubles.

A grand slam homer by Carl Taylor, his first ever "even in the Little Leagues," capped a five-run ninth inning Cardinal explosion as St. Louis ran its hot string to 11 victories in 13 games.

Taylor, a pinch hitter for winning reliever Harry Parker, 1-0, climaxed a Cardinal uprising which saw them come from an 8-1 deficit, scoring 10 of their 11 runs in the final three innings.

Ollie Brown drove in four Padres runs with three hits, including a homer, while Joe Torre had a solo blast and Lou Brock four hits for the Cards.

Hank Aaron drove in the only run with a fifth inning single and Jim Nash, 12-4, hurled a three-hitter, striking out six in the Braves' victory.

ONA, W. Va. (AP) — Richard Petty, piloted his 1970 Plymouth to victory in the West Virginia 300, finishing eight laps ahead of his nearest competitor Tuesday night.

The race over the 7-16 mile asphalt oval ran at an average speed of 78.358 miles per hour. The race ended without injury or mishap, despite a total power failure as the field was running on the 45th lap at close to 80 miles an hour.

James Hylton was second in a 1959 Ford. He was eight laps behind Petty.

The points standings in the NASCAR Grand National Circuit remained the same after the 300-lap race. Hylton now leads with 2,538 points. Bobby Isaacs is still second in the rankings at 2,507 and Petty remains in 5th at 2,150.

LL All-Stars Heading South

Greenville's Tar Heel League All-Stars left this morning at 6 a.m. for Raleigh for a flight to St. Petersburg, Fla., where they will take part in the Divisional Little League Tournament Thursday and Friday.

The team was to leave Raleigh - Durham on a 9:05 flight to Atlanta, where they would change for the final leg into Tampa, arriving there around 12:30 today.

A bus was to be provided to give them transportation from the airport to St. Petersburg, site of the tournament. There they will be housed and fed at a 10-acre Little League tournament area, which includes the ball field where the tourney will be played.

Pairings for the four-team field will be made tonight at 8

NPC Takes Tourney

National Products Co. captured the Ladies Softball League Tournament championship last night with an 11-8 victory over Foodmart.

The victory brought to a close the Women's softball season. NPC pushed out into the lead in the first inning as they scored four runs. The first came on a homer by Carolyn McNew.

Foodmart rallied with two in the second, then came up with five more in the third to take a 7-4 lead. NPC scored twice more in the bottom of the third to pull back to trail 7-6.

In the fourth, Foodmart added another run and led, 8-6.

But then, in the fifth inning, NPC came up with five runs to take the lead and the victory. Carolyn Hardy scored on a triple by Cathy Anthony, who also scored on another hit by Sylvia Jefferson, tying it up. The winning run then came when Sandy Hardee triple to score Sue Worthington.

(On TV And Radio)
"Unless it is a live audience, it doesn't matter how you look on radio. But on television — oh, man!" — Eddie Cantor.
Rules for both mediums are similar except for special requirements for television. In radio even though only workers watch, one should dress tastefully. Sometimes there is a live audience. The style is up to the individual for there is no camera.
The producer usually dispenses advice on dress in television.
Pastel shades are better than white, on black - and - white cameras.
On interview programs, interviewers should ask the producer for wardrobe instructions. Follow his directions as to type of suit. He will also advise you about suitable colors.
One must wear makeup for television. It is usually applied by makeup staff members. After the show players remove it themselves.

Rampants Open Football Drills

Rose High School's Rampants opened football practice yesterday with approximately 40 candidates, Coach Bud Phillips reported.

Phillips said he was not too disturbed by the small number out, since most of them are varsity candidates, and not junior varsity boys.

"We will need a lot of work," the coach said. "Some of them are in right fair condition, but others are not. We spent yesterday giving them a strength index test, so we really haven't had a chance to do much yet."

Plans call for the team to begin two-a-day workouts today. They were to drill from 9 to 11 a.m., and then return for work from 4 to 6 p.m. These drills will continue through Saturday.

August 22, when they will switch to one-a-day.

"Our biggest problem right now is to find some interior linemen," Phillips said. "We are probably going to have to move some people around. We have a lot of backs, and this is probably where they're going to have to come from."

The coach said that so far the team seems to show quite a bit of speed, but is lacking in size.

Another possible problem is in the quarterback area, where they is virtually no experience. Phillips said he had three candidates out, however, and he felt that this will come along all right.

"We've got to find an offensive center and some ends, too," he said, "so we've got to do quite a bit of adjusting."

Rose Grid Drills Open

Rose High School Football Coach Bud Phillips puts some of his varsity football candidates through running drills as football practice opened yesterday. A small contingent of only some 40 candidates turned up for the first days workouts. The Rampants will work twice a day through August 22, then go to one-a-day workouts. They open the season September 4 against Washington High School in Ficklen Stadium. (Reflector Photo)

Twins Suffer Fourth Loss

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tricky hops aren't doing Bill Rigney's ulcers any favors — and neither are the bouncy Oakland A's.

The Washington Senators upended Rigney's suddenly stumbling Minnesota Twins 3-2 Tuesday night on Paul Casanova's bad hop double in the 11th inning.

The loss extended the Twins' winless string to four games and cut their lead in the American League West to six lengths over the surging A's, who bounced past Cleveland 6-5 for their fourth straight victory to grab the runner-up spot.

California bowed to Baltimore 7-0 and dropped to third place, one-half game behind Oakland, while the New York Yankees trimmed the Chicago White Sox 7-1 and Detroit nipped Milwaukee 2-1 in other AL action. The Kansas City Boston game was rained out.

In the National League, Cincinnati blasted the New York Mets 8-1, Los Angeles toppled Pittsburgh 5-4, the Chicago Cubs topped San Francisco 4-1, Atlanta shaded Montreal 1-0, St. Louis outslugged San Diego 11-10 and Philadelphia beat Houston 6-5.

The Senators broke a 2-2 deadlock in the 11th when Ed Brinkman singled and raced home as Casanova's drive to left skipped over Rick Renick's head and rolled to the fence.

Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew slammed his 36th homer — and third in as many games — with one on in the first inning. The Senators tied it in the eighth on Aurelio Rodriguez' two-run walloop which thwarted Jim Perry's bid to become the first 18-game winner in the majors.

The A's, who started the Twins' skid by taking the last three of a four-game set at Minnesota last weekend, struck for four runs in the fifth inning to wipe out a 4-2 Cleveland lead and then held off the Indians behind the solid relief pitching of Jim Roland.

"All of a sudden, our confidence has become a big factor," said Frank Fernandez, who drove in four Oakland runs with singles in the fourth and fifth. "A week ago, that wasn't true."

Paul Blair and Brooks Robinson slammed two-run homers off Andy Messersmith in the first inning and Frank Robinson, making his first start in a week, also homered as the Orioles protected their 9½-game bulge in the AL East.

Mike Cuellar scattered four California hits for his 16th victory of the season and sixth in succession against the Angels over the last two years.

The second place Yanks hit four homers for the first time this season. Jake Gibbs poling a pair and Jim Lytle and pitcher Mel Stottlemyre one apiece, to beat the White Sox.

Don Wert's two-out single in the sixth delivered the winning run for the Tigers, who got strong pitching from Mike Kilenny and Tom Timmerman.

Trevino Won't Oversleep Now

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Lee Trevino is back from his Mexican holiday, fully rested and with a roomful of alarm clocks set for the PGA Golf Championship.

"I won't oversleep on this one," the voluble Mexican-American said today, referring to his failure to make the starting time in the $250,000 Westchester Classic a couple of weeks ago, thus blowing a chance at a $150,000 paycheck.

"My wife's got an alarm clock. My in-laws all have alarm clocks. They're not going to let me miss this time."

Trevino, who has a 9:07 a.m. EDT start, is one of the prime favorites in this 52nd national tee party of the pros along with British Open winner Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open titleholder Tony Jacklin of Britain, Masters king Bill Casper, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

A field of 135 will tee of Thursday over the 6,962-yard Southern Hills course which the pros describe respectfully as a heavyweight giant with a minimum of birdie opportunities.

"There's not a makeup hole on the premises," warned Palmer.

Ben Hogan, the four-time U.S. Open winner, decided the demanding layout and Tulsa's sweltering heat were too tough for his ailing left knee. He withdrew, as did Harold Henning of South Africa, who is ill.

Trevino called "Southern Hills" one of the toughest courses I've played — you can bet there's not a man in the field that won't have one round of at least 74."

"The fairways are about 25 steps across and they'll all bend. That makes them about 18 yards in the hitting area. The par 3 holes are all tough and the par 5, will really put pepper in your suit."

The colorful 1968 U.S. Open champion said he felt mentally rested after a two-week layoff and added: "You're going to have to be a good driver and thinker to win here. I like my chances."

Palmer, bidding for the only major title that has eluded him, and Jacklin, who returned to the tour last week after a vacation in Britain, practiced together Tuesday and drew most of the gallery.

"It's a good course," said Palmer. "The greens are in fine shape. My only objection is the 13th hole. It should be a par 5."

The 470-yard hole has a bank running across the fairway, and the best tee shots don't clear it. Thus, the golfer is hitting a second shot from the side of a hill to a blind hole protected by two lakes and five sand traps.

The staid country club, which has been scene of other national championships, was shaken Tuesday by the report of a bizarre hippie plot to disrupt the tournament. The hippies' plan, according to informants, is to send five unclad girls racing over the course.

With the police distracted, another group is supposed to sneak onto the course and paint a huge "Peace" sign with grass killer on one of the greens.

Special patrols have been assigned to the course and an all-night vigil maintained.

Atkinson Says Joe Is His Friend But He's Losing Respect For Him

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Atkinson says he'd like to talk to Joe Namath, but he doesn't know how to get in touch with the New York Jets' quarterback Phil Iselin would also like to talk to Broadway Joe, but Iselin wants Namath to do the telephoning.

Atkinson, the Jet defensive captain, retired last week. He had some harsh things to say about Namath. Atkinson, hinting Tuesday that he may end his retirement, said of Namath: "I love Joe, whether he believes it or not. If I live to be 80, he will still be one of my closest friends."

But, he added: "It's just that over the last few years I have found it harder and harder to respect him."

"Joe knows where I am. I'm not hard to find," said Iselin.

"All he has to do is call me." And Namath? He has been seen around Manhattan, but he's not talking—at least for publication. Iselin says Namath told him he had problems. That's believed to be a synonym for more money, in this case.

Iselin says he's letting Weeb Ewbank, the Jets' coach and general manager, worry about Atkinson.

Atkinson told John Maginnis of The Associated Press Philadelphia bureau his thoughts about returning to the Jets centered around the injuries to Gerry Philbin and Mike Stromberg, other defensive stalwarts on the American Conference team.

"I do feel a certain obligation to the team," said Atkinson. "Something is working inside me. It doesn't have anything to do with what Joe does or doesn't do, but with Philbin hurt and Stromberg out, that leaves the Jets with nobody."

On the subject of holdout quarterbacks named Joe, the St. Paul, Minn., Dispatch said Tuesday it had telephoned Ewbank and was told that the Jets aren't interested in Joe Kapp, whose demanding a whopping $1.25 million from the Minnesota Vikings. He's been offered $100,000 a year for three years.

"I'm not interested in him," Ewbank said. "I can answer that question quick. No player's worth that much."

Defensive back Mike Weger came to terms with the Detroit Lions and started working out Tuesday. The Lions also have cornerback Lem Barney without a contract, but Barney's been drilling while dickering for more dough.

Ray Parson, the Lions' No. 2 draft choice from Minnesota, underwent knee ligament surgery after being injured in the exhibition loss to the Kansas City Chiefs last Saturday. Parson, an offensive tackle, will be sidelined 10-12 weeks.

And there were these other tidbits Tuesday from the pro football training camps:

—Veteran Blanton Collier, Cleveland Browns' coach, says he's quite impressed by rookie Jerry Sherk, a defensive tackle from Oklahoma State. Sherk, according to Collier, has been paying attention to tips from the coaching staff and the rookie was able to get to the opposing quarterback in the Browns' exhibition game with Los Angeles.

The Browns also reported defensive end Jeff Steinberger, injured in the Ram game, would be lost for the season. Steinberger had knee ligament surgery Tuesday.

—Rodger Bird said he wanted the Oakland Raiders to trade him. Bird said Al Davis, managing general partner of the team, "will try to help relocate me."

The former Kentucky star lost his starting defensive backfield job last season to rookie George Atkinson after he'd injured a shoulder.

The Raiders, incidentally, say they're continuing their policy of not announcing cuts. All the other teams do it, but not Oakland.

Only way to guess at the players the Raiders have decided to drop is to make a daily count.

Simpson Takes ABA To Court

DETROIT (AP) — Ralph Simpson has gone to court in an effort to get a spot on the roster of the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

Simpson has filed a suit asking for $3 million damages from the Rockets, the ABA and league commissioner Jack Dolph. Money is not the major issue in the suit, however, since the Rockets have said they will honor Simpson's $1-million contract whether or not he is allowed to play.

Simpson, a sophomore stand-out at Michigan State last year, was signed by the Rockets this spring. The Rocket said Simpson was eligible for signing since he was a "hardship case."

His father had been seriously ill and ABA rules allow teams to sign college players under such circumstances.

The signing, which came less than a year after the Rockets signed Detroit All-American sophomore Spencer Haywood, provoked protests from college athletic groups, including the NCAA, which threatened to ban ABA recruiters from all NCAA games and schools.

Dolph then ruled Simpson could not play until his college eligibility expired before the 1972-73 season.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court in Detroit, charges that "no valid or reasonable excuse exists" to prevent Simpson's playing.

WBA Sets Up Pension Plan

MONTREAL (AP) — The boxing world will begin to take care of its own with a retirement annuity plan for professional fighters launched by the World Boxing Association.

The WBA established a committee Tuesday at the second day of its annual meeting to make the necessary studies and put the scheme into effect.

Described as "revolutionary" by Charles Loeb of Cleveland, Ohio, a committee member, the annuity fund will likely give participating boxers a guaranteed monthly income or a lump sum of equal value on their retirement.

It will be financed either by annual dues paid by the boxers and managers or by voluntary cuts from fight purses.

Malcolm Forrester, a banker from Yorkville, Tenn., was appointed head of the committee in charge of overseeing the plan.

Donald "Bill" Brennan, executive secretary of the Virginia Athletic Commission, who was elected WBA president Tuesday, said the scheme "is the finest thing we could do for the sport."

Van Nixon, secretary of the Washington, D.C., Boxing Commission, becomes the last professional sport to establish a pension program.

Nixon, in demanding action, said, "It is time we began to look after our own."

Delegates representing at least 10 nations, also voted Tuesday to support tough safety standards in amateur boxing. The meeting ends today.

They said they would consider a suggestion by Brennan to establish North American and Latin American championships "to stimulate interest."

Jerry Shears, president of the Canadian Amateur Boxing Association received full WBA support in a resolution for his demands of "improvements in head-gear and other safety requirements in amateur boxing."

Judge Robert M. Summitt, chairman of the Tennessee Athletic Commission in Chattanooga, said the resolution was one of the most constructive moves taken at the meetings.

Meanwhile, the WBA reiterated its stand that the eligibility of Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo is a matter for Canadian authorities to decide.

A medical committee report suggested Chuvalo be barred from the ring for medical reasons following a severe beating he received in his loss last week to George Foreman in New York.

Canadians Get Advance Look

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian golfers got an advance peek at the calibre of young U.S. competitors on hand for today's opening round of the Canadian Amateur Golf Championship, but it wasn't very reassuring.

John Mahaffey, a wiry 22-year-old from San Antonio, Tex., got his first-ever look at the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club course Tuesday afternoon.

Then he unshipped his bag and toured the 6,714-yard layout in a seven-under-par 66, just one stroke off the course record held jointly by resident professional Ken Clark and U.S. pro giant Jack Nicklaus.

"Nice course," Mahaffey said after the round, in which he had eight birdies and one bogey.

Told the course record was 65, Mahaffey said he might have carded that except that one stroke got caught in a late afternoon wind gust, "which probably cost me a chance to tie."

Mahaffey, the U.S. collegiate champion, played with Howard Twitty of Phoenix, Ariz., also 22, who turned in a respectable two-under 71.

A total of 55 U.S. golfers are in the field of 162 chasing the amateur title.

The field will be cut to the low 60 golfers and ties for Saturday's final round.

Drop-Out's Ranch Open To Escapees From City

By CLIFFORD P. CHENEY OCCIDENTAL, Calif. (UPI)— "There was an old American Indian prophecy that the white man would conquer the land and ravage it, but that his children would grow their hair long and go back to the land to live like the Indians." The speaker is Bill Wheeler, a bearded 30-year-old drop-out from Connecticut who has decided that his fate is to help fulfill that prophecy. Wheeler's ranch, 320 acres of brush-covered ridge and wooded valley in Sonoma County, 60 miles north of San Francisco, was purchased by Wheeler in 1963 with an inheritance. However, Wheeler will tell you that the land came "from God" and that it actually doesn't belong to him. In 1967 he ceased to believe in private property. He opened the gates of his ranch to anyone who wanted to escape the uptight life of the city and return to the land.

Shanties And Tents Today the ranch's 320 acres are dotted with an assortment of tarpaper shanties, improvised cabins and tents. Wheeler sees the community as a testing ground for "open land"—the doctrine that no rules nor property lines are necessary and that the land itself will "select" those who remain to live on it and with one another. Open land is the manifesto which has drawn more than a hundred seekers, most of them young, to the rustic existence at Wheeler's ranch and many hundreds more to similar rural communes across the country. About 60 men, women and children now live on the ranch. Half a dozen have been there since the birth of the commune three years ago. Many have come and gone, unable to adapt to the rigorous labor demanded by the rocky soil. "They work hard to rid themselves of "civilized" habits and to get in tune with the "tribes" from the land, the cycle of seasons and the living things around them.

Indian Medicine They grow much of their own food, using only natural organic compost and no fertilizers or pesticides. They are experimenting with herbs and Indian medicine.

Three cows provide enough milk for the children. Milking time is the center of daily social activity. On Sundays everyone gathers at the "communal kitchen"—a rusty wood-burning stove under the open sky next to the communal garden—for the weekly feast. Many hippies and other visitors from San Francisco attend, and vegetables from the garden are supplemented with food bought with welfare checks or donated. The rocky land and the informal "no rules" approach to farming it have prevented the communal garden from producing enough food for day-to-day existence.

About 40 per cent of the produce consumed by the communitarians—is cultivated there. What the land and the government food stamps don't provide, Bill Wheeler does.

Eight children, including Wheeler's two-year-old daughter, Raspberry, have been born on the ranch. All the children living there are pre-school age. Despite the spicy rumors circulated among neighboring ranchers and townspeople, the married residents of Wheeler's ranch live fairly "conventional" family lives. They believe their children are growing up healthier and happier than they could in a more "civilized" environment.

No cars are allowed to proceed beyond the parking lot just inside the gate. "Cars are a bummer," Wheeler said.

Good 'Tool' In Pollution

FRAMINGHAM, Mass. (UPI)—The microscope may turn out to be one of the best weapons in battling environmental pollution.

Two researchers explained the microscope's potential value during a symposium on microscopy at the Framingham Research Laboratory of American Optical Corp.

Dr. Walter C. McCrone of the McCrone Research Institute in Chicago explained the microscope can be used to identify even very minute airborne particles of matter. For example, he said, samples taken from the air not only identified a particular furniture factory as the polluter, but also analyzed the polluting fuel as a certain type sawdust.

Dr. Charles J. Koester, manager of applied research at American Optical Corp., pointed out the decisive role the microscope plays in crime detection and criminal law. The microscope's ability to recognize and positively identify minute particles on clothing and in hair, as well as ballistic identification long has been accepted as conclusive evidence.

Modern microscopes, he said, do not simply enlarge specimens of matter; in addition, they probe into the very structure of the observed material, supplying details of identification that go well beyond outward appearances.

"Turning the tide against atmospheric contamination is going to be a long and difficult process," Koester said "But luckily we have a good basic weapon in hand in the microscope."

Would Reform Divorce Laws

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer
BONN, Germany (AP)—The government wants to reform West German divorce laws to recognize that women are able to fend for themselves in today's industrial society.

This is somewhat of a revolution. Present laws operate on the principle that Pop brings home the bacon and Mama raises kids and taking care of the home. If Pop's roving eye gets him into trouble Mama can take him to divorce court and get support for herself for the rest of her life.

"This is a turn-of-the-century idea which no longer corresponds to developments in society and is not compatible with the independent position the constitution grants women," Justice Minister Gerhard Jahn said in an introduction to his draft of the legislation, due to come before parliament next year.

"Our view is that man and wife today have equal responsibility in a marriage."

They and not the law have to decide who takes on responsibility for what in case of a divorce, he added.

Under the proposed law, the courts will grant alimony only on a temporary basis until the economically weaker partner is able to support himself or herself. The husband must support his wife while she is taking care of minor children or while she is training or retraining for a job. The draft says a woman is entitled to be trained for a job corresponding to her capabilities, but alimony stops once she is supporting herself.

The husband must compensate for any pension rights the wife lost due to marriage.

Old Tavern Was Favored Stop

PARK CITY, Ky. (UPI)—Bell's Tavern, built here by William Bell in 1830, was used as a stage coach stop for his lines bringing visitors to nearby Mammoth Cave.

Famed with its excellent cuisine and peach and honey brandy for "joy before the journey's end," the tavern burned in 1860. The Civil War prevented completion of a new tavern, and the remainder of the original structure is still standing.

Bottle-Tosser Caught In Act

SYDNEY (AP)—Charles Gerrard Logue tossed a soft drink bottle from his car while driving at East Maitland.

The local deputy engineer spotted the throw, took Logue to court where he was fined $60.

Australian authorities have been campaigning for the past two years to keep highways clean.

Male black bears may attain weights of more than 600 pounds.

an improvement over the present law, providing for life-long alimony, because in the long run it will make the economically weaker partner independent.

The draft also proposes to do away with the principle of a guilty party in divorce proceedings. The party deemed guilty is now assessed the bulk of the financial burden imposed by a divorce.

A divorce will be granted if a court decides a marriage has failed.

If both partners agree to a divorce, living apart for a year will constitute a failure of the marriage. If one of them does not consent, three years of separation will be grounds for the court to declare a failure.

The court can refuse a divorce "in extraordinarily extreme cases" where it feels one of the partners faces hardship.

Jahn is throwing his draft open to debate and suggestions before he brings it before parliament. The West German Lawyers' Association will discuss it in September and church groups will get a chance to express their views.

The conservative Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung says the reform is on the right track.

Steam Given Its Museum

By JACK GRAEME
ALAMO, Tex. (UPI)—The steam engine—onetime undisputed king of the industrial revolution—has been deposed by the gas engine and all but forgotten by a generation planning for atomic power as it smothers in smog.

But for one man and his son in the town of Alamo, the steam engine is still king. Tommy Tomkins and his son Bucke are determined that the world will not forget the role steam engines played in making America an industrial giant.

They have founded a live steam museum and are spending all their spare time and money on it when not flying crop-dusting planes.

"Ninety per cent of the public has never even seen a stationary steam engine," said Tomkins. "When you mention one all people nowadays think about is a train."

Tomkins has acquired 14 steam engines so far. The first was obtained in 1959 when the idea was still nothing more than a dream. It was not until 1961 that he seriously considered the notion of a steam engine museum.

But it wasn't until 1965 that he and Bucke finally built the cinderblock building now housing their collection of engines. During the tourist season, he fires them up one at a time for visitors. The largest—with a 9,000-pound, 15-foot-high fly-wheel—came from a cotton gin.

Some have been donated to him, but many he had to buy at junk prices and rebuild. Museum admission is free.

Rare Breed Is Nearly Extinct

By PIERO DE GARZAROLLI
Associated Press Writer
LISBON (AP) — One of the rarest canine races in the world, the Portuguese water dog, is facing extinction because its pure breed is being killed through lack of a proper living environment.

Only 19 animals, out of thousands of pitch-black shaggy poodle-like dogs which used to roam free on Portuguese beaches, are now in existence in their native country.

They all live on a farm near Lisbon, cared for by a mother of six who used to be a leading woman bullfighter.

"It is a monumental task to preserve their purity and propagate the race but I am trying," said Conchita Citron Castelo-Branco, the self-proclaimed mother of the water dog.

Mrs. Castelo Branco, now married to a wealthy Portuguese landowner, was known as Conchita "Consuelo" Citron, the famous Peruvian daredevil who fought bulls around the world's arenas with the vigor and courage of a man.

"I got around to knowing about water dogs through a Portuguese friend of mine," she explained while feeding, her tail-wagging family a special concoction of wheat and milk.

"Dr. Vasco Bensaude told me years ago about these wonderful dogs and it was love at first sight."

The water dog looks more or less like a poodle. Always black and less than 60 centimeters tall it is however a unique species.

Once a faithful friend of the Portuguese fisherman, the water dog used to perform almost incredible feats.

Capable of diving under water to a depth of two meters proved invaluable for the range of typical fishing chores.

An excellent sea farer, it hunted fish trying to escape from the nets before they were lifted into the boats, and was exceptionally gifted in tracking down wandering fish herds.

Until about 50 years ago its contribution to the hard earned living of the fishermen of the Algarve, the sunny southern coastal area of Portugal, was priceless.

But with new fishing techniques and the need for even bigger catches, which meant long voyages into the deep sea. Its help as a humble marine worker declined and finally came to an abrupt stop.

"Shortly before dying Dr. Bensaude, who had gathered together the last water dogs living wild in the Algarve, asked me to tender his children," Mrs. Castelo-Branco said.

"It turned out to be a job as difficult as fighting bulls."

The animals were transferred to a farm, surrounded by a tall wire fence to keep other dogs out, and equipped with a spacious swimming pool.

"The most important aspect of the struggle to keep the race going is to avoid a chance meeting with dogs of other breeds," Mrs. Castelo-Branco added.

"They must be looked after constantly and trained to preserve the old habits such as diving and swimming."

A few amateurs, mostly residing in the United States, still believe that to own a water dog is a sign of distinction.

"Most of my water dogs, called Algarbium, a name taken from the root of the Algarve, their ancient homeland, are sold to America where three Portuguese water dog clubs flourish," their owner said.

Priced around $700, they make excellent watchdogs.

Offers Donate Extra Kidney Honored For Leprosy Work

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Ella Milena Villanueva, 20, of the northern city of Trujillo, offered to donate one of her kidneys to a person needing a transplant.

Ella pointed out that through a freak of nature, she has three — two on the right side and one the left side.

ATLANTA (UPI) — Dr. Charles C. Shepard, public health officer of the National Communicable Disease Center in Atlanta, was honored for his breakthrough work in growing leprosy bacilli in the footpads of mice.

College Holding East Asia Study

MIDDLEBURY, Vt. (UPI) — Middlebury College is conducting one of the first East Asian study programs in the nation this summer. Since 1966 Middlebury has been one of only two universities in the East to offer Japanese and Chinese language courses.

The other eastern university offering the course is Columbia University in New York City. Stanford, the University of Minnesota and Washington University in Missouri are three schools which also offer the program.

Unlike other bacteria causing human disease, the leprosy bacillus hasn't been grown in test tubes. Shepard's procedure makes it possible for the first time to test efficiency of drugs against the human leprosy bacillus.

HIGH COST
LONDON (AP) — Britain spends $14,186 a year to maintain each of its 385,000 servicemen, compared with $11,498 for each of 453,000 men four years ago, according to the Defense Ministry. It says the per-man increase is the result of pay raises and purchases of sophisticated equipment.

Civil War Medicine Simple Compared To Today's

Washing Sign Charged Illegal

SEATTLE (AP) — A local woman became tired of the dust ruining her laundry. So she hung a sign outside which read: "Wash Out."
She was arraigned in the local court on a charge of erecting illegal traffic controls. Her attorney claimed that all day long cars sped past the home of the woman on a rural road, despite the sign.

better exemplified than in the practice of medicine.

During the Civil War, one writer has said, a list of the items that were "as scarce as hen's teeth" would fill a book. Of these items, medical supplies were among those most sorely needed. The shortage of such household staples as pins and needles caused considerable inconvenience, but the lack of medical supplies had consequences far more severe.

The disease which hit soldiers hardest during the war was malaria. A North Carolina soldier wrote home in the autumn of 1862 that he had just had a chill that "like to shook me clean out of the garrison." Another wrote that the mosquitoes "were so large that instead of humming, they brayed like mules."

Quinine was the standard remedy used by Southern doctors in treating malaria, but toward the end of the war it was selling for $22 an ounce, and a single quinine pill sold for a dollar.

Necessity being the mother of

Kentucky Saw Political Chaos

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's political situation was in turmoil at the turn of the century.

William S. Taylor was sworn in as the state's 34th governor on Dec. 12, 1899, but was unseated Jan. 31, 1900, in an election contest which declared William Gobel the winner.

However, Gobel died from an assassin's bullet four days later and J. C. W. Beckham succeeded to the office.

invention, many medical substitutes were found. The dogwood berry, along with daily dispenses of whisky, was substituted for quinine, and it is said that the troops "manifested high approval of this latter prescription and were careful to remind their physicians of the hours appointed for receiving their favorite medicine."

Cottonseed tea and the bark and root of the chestnut and chinquapin were less favored "remedies" for malaria. Turpentine was used to treat fevers, colds, sore throats, bruises, and sprains, while seeds and leaves of mustard and pepper were used for pneumonia and pleurisy. Rheumatism and neuralgia were treated with sassafras, alder, prickly ash, sumac, and pokeroor. And the list goes on and on.

A typical home remedy of the Civil War period instructed the practitioner to, "Take watermelon seed. Boil them, then strain the tea and drink sweetened or as is. A cup or two will cure kidney trouble."

In a recent article entitled "Rural Medicine at the Turn of the Century," Dr. John A. McKay of Fayetteville (now retired) recounts the experiences of his father, a doctor whose situation and practice was typical in the South 70 years ago. McKay writes that his father graduated from a two-year medical course in 1884 without ever having seen a delivery—even a normal one—though much of his practice would be in obstetrics. He had no internship, and not once had he used a microscope. All the equipment with which he started practice was worth less than $20. "The hard fact is that doctors could not do much for their patients because medicine in 1900 was primitive, and what little was known was of no benefit to physicians who did not have the equipment or facilities to use it," McKay wrote.

Professional prenatal care did not exist, he said. More than once a sharecropper rode up to his father's house yelling, "Doctor, doctor, come quick! My wife's in labor," and this was often the first knowledge the doctor had that the woman was even pregnant. On two occasions he went to see women for "pain in the back" and found them in labor.

McKay says that in those early days of the century, very little was heard of the term coronary thrombosis, though many people died of "acute indigestion." There was no shortage of "remedies," he says, but most were worthless and used only by tradition. The older Dr. McKay once went to see a man with a bad cut to which his family had applied a poultice of hot cow manure. Another home remedy which he encountered was the practice of splitting a chicken and applying half of it to the wound. Still another was to pack the wound with cobwebs.

McKay suggests that the two most valuable offerings of doctors during the time of his father's early practice were morphine and moral support which, together, could relieve pain and give the patient hope, faith, confidence, courage, and a determined will to live.

Doctor Requests Direct Hookup

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — The intensive care unit of St. Anthony's Hospital is considering a doctor's request for an electrocardiographical hookup directly into the homes of physicians.

The doctors now have hookups from the unit at the hospital to their offices. A similar setup in their homes would enable them to keep a constant watch on a patient's heart problems.

The private room intensive unit and special coronary care unit were created from four rooms at the end of a third floor hallway. It was built after urging by physicians.

A constant cardiogram is shown on a screen and is fed into a doctor's office.

Kentucky 'Orphan Town' Reached By Gravel Road

By CHUCK RATLIFF
Associated Press Writer
KENTUCKY BEND, Ky. (AP) — At the far western tip of Kentucky, the Mississippi River meanders into an almost circular bend, isolating this section of flat farmland from the rest of the state. The section, formed by an 1812 earthquake that swept the Mississippi from its main channel, is known to outsiders as "New Madrid Bend," or "Bessie's Bend," or simply "The Bend."

Hotel Permits Soldiers—Only

JERUSALEM (AP) — A luxury hotel for Israeli soldiers with recreational facilities including a swimming pool, bar and discotheque opened in Jerusalem this month.

The soldiers-only hostel charge its guests 85 cents per night for a bed. Meals are available at minimal prices.

The hotel was built for $1.5 million from private contributions.

But to Alfred Stepp and approximately 60 other residents it's Kentucky Bend. The name is their way of reminding themselves they are Kentuckians.

The only way in or out of Kentucky Bend, short of a swim across the river, is down a gravel road that leads into Tiptonville, Tenn., from where another road winds back into Fulton County, Ky., to which the Bend belongs.

"This part of Kentucky is considered an orphan," Stepp, a farmer in his 70s, says partly in explanation and partly in pride. The local civic leader moved into the Bend with his wife Adrian in 1938. The couple, like other farm families here, raises grains for market in Tennessee, banks in Madrid, Mo., and attends church in Tiptonville.

The only time they come into contact with other Kentuckians is at election time, while swapping visits, during emergencies, or once every 10 years when the census people show up.

"The people living in the Bend aren't like other people," said Mrs. Damon Workman of Hickman in Fulton County, who helped with the census-taking this year. "They're different. They don't say much, especially to outsiders."

Although it is a small community, Mrs. Workman indicated it shares many of the problems of larger society.

"Some of the people are fishermen, some tenant farmers, and others are landowners,"

Mrs. Workman said. "There is a sharp contrast between the Bend's very rich and very poor."

"There are 23 homes in the Bend, and some of the tenants'

Display Largest Map Of Moon

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — Manchester University Library is showing one of the largest, detailed maps of the moon in the world—a map intended to give the viewer the feeling he is stepping on the moon. Zdenek Copal of the Manchester University Department of Astronomy working with the U.S. Air Force and the National Aeronautical and Space Administration prepared the map, which goes on permanent display.

homes have no electrical power," she said.

Stepp doesn't think conditions in the Bend are as bleak as outsiders say, however.

"Conditions have changed in the past few years," she said. "Things used to be rough, but you know, you get used to those things. If you have to live with the devil, you just learn to adapt and make the best of things."

The things that required adaptation were many. Not too long ago, before levees were piled up, the river annually left its banks to encroach on the expanses of grain and soybean fields, making the gravel road impassable.

"We would have to boat out of here four to six weeks a year," Stepp said.

The Bend's only school burned down several years ago, "mysteriously," Stepp said, after a voting machine was installed for use in an upcoming election.

The students, about two dozen, now make their way to the Tennessee line where they are picked up by a bus and transported to Tiptonville. Fulton County no longer receives state attendance payments for the students, who now legally belong to the Lake County, Tenn., school system.

Today, rural electric power burns the Bend's lights, the gravel road has been raised, and the Fulton County sheriff's department makes regular visits to see how peaceful the Bend really is.

Fulton County Judge James Mines, an avid outdoorsman, speaks of the Bend in an appreciative tone.

"It's a frontier area," he says. "There's a cottonwood tree over there that five of us men couldn't reach around."

"The river comes to within a mile of itself near the Tennessee line, and drops 19 feet at its sharpest turn. It's just beautiful."

Thanks to its isolation, the Bend was a haven in the past for escaped criminals seeking a hiding place from the law.

It's also a good place for season-ignoring hunters to stock their freezers with fowl and game.

Above all, the Bend is one of few remaining areas in the nation where people are left to choose how much progress they want, and how much they can stand.

Order Overalls For Hairdresser

SANDTON, South Africa (AP) — A bylaw requiring women's hair-dressers to wear overalls at work is being enforced by local health inspectors. Hair stylist Ronnie Dreger, who came here from London last year said: "It's the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard of. Never once in the 16 years I ran a salon in London was I required to wear an overall."

The national secretary of the South African Hairdressers' Employees Industrial Union, J. Daniel, supported the council and said: "Hairdressers who do not wear pocketless overalls tend to put combs and scissors in their pockets instead of in sterilizers."

Trying To Avert Ford Owned A National Forest

By RODNEY PINDER Associated Press Writer LONDONDERRY, Northern Ireland (AP) - Three thousand British troops and Irish police sealed off Londonderry and its main Roman Catholic section, trying to prevent a renewal of warfare between Protestants celebrating a victory of three centuries ago and resentful Catholics.

Youths hurled stones and bottles at the troops during the night as the first of more than 6,000 militant Protestants arrived to celebrate the 281st anniversary of the defeat of King James II and his Catholic forces at the gates of the city. The troops drove off the youngsters Tuesday night with tear gas.

In Belfast, the provincial capital, a bomb wrecked a Catholic-owned barber shop and police found an arms cache on the roof of a Protestant church hall.

70-Year-Old Adjudged Top Elephant Hunter

CHICAGO (AP) - An arms magazine says John Buhmiller of Kalispell, Mont., is by all odds the top U.S. elephant hunter, although he is nearing age 70.

Buhmiller, who didn't get his first elephant until after he was 55 years old, has run his total kill in the African bush to 176 elephants.

Most of Buhmiller's hunting has been in Tanzania and his largest bag was 81 in one trip. Three subsequent trips ran his total to 176.

"No American sportsman has ever faintly touched this number of elephants killed," said Guns Magazine.

Buhmiller, who stands 5-foot-5 inches and weighs 135 pounds, averaged two shots per kill, using guns with recoils in the 80 to 100 pound range.

Since African governments are reducing elephant hunting, it is unlikely Buhmiller's record will be challenged.

Demo Governors Eye Spiro As 'Issue'

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (AP) — Democrats are planning to make a campaign issue of the words and views of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew this fall, particularly in the big industrial states where their state house fortunes are down. Republican governors and White House tacticians will do some political strategy making of their own today in the seclusion of a nearby resort. Lawrence F. O'Brien, the Democratic national chairman, conferred with his party's minority bloc of governors, then said he was not concerned at the prospect that President Nixon and Agnew "will be heavily engaged, out front," working for Republican nominees in the

Nov. 3 elections. He said that might produce a real debate about national issues, particularly with Agnew. The political talk escalated as the nation's governors held the windup session of their 62nd national conference.

Gov. John N. Dempsey of Connecticut said the Democratic campaign plan amounts to making Agnew the issue in some states.

"The feeling is that Agnew is so controversial, and that it would help us, particularly in some of the Northeastern states," Dempsey said.

Agnew is the Republicans' champion fund-raiser and a proven political drawing card, particularly in the South and the Midwest.

Republicans now are governors in the major industrial states of the Northeast, but O'Brien said he anticipated substantial Democratic gains there in November.

Two top White House political hands, Murray Chotiner and Harry Dent, were to attend today's GOP strategy session.

Nixon and Agnew both sent messages to the governors conference Tuesday, pledging cooperation with the states and plugging for the President's "new federalism."

At a windup business session today, the conference was to deal with two issues shelved during the past two days: a controversial proposal that the governors seek to use a portion of highway aid funds to assist other modes of transportation, too; and a plan to prod Congress for action to share tax revenues with the states.

They were to act on a declaration on campus disorders which reaffirms the right and responsibility of the states to intervene "to restore peace" when other means fail.

That declaration also would condemn "the excesses of lawlessness by those who protest, and by those who are called upon to keep or restore the peace."

Democratic Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri was to be installed as chairman of the conference. There are 32 Republican governors and 18 Democrats, and the chairmanship alternates between parties.

In other developments: —The conference called upon the federal government to assume "a far greater responsibility for the financing of education." At about the same time, Nixon vetoed a $4.4 billion aid to education bill because it is $453 million over his budget.

—The governors declared the problem of narcotics and drug abuse to be a national crisis. They proposed a drive by the states and the federal government to combat it through law enforcement, prevention and treatment of addiction.

—Gov. Robert W. Scott of North Carolina was chosen chairman of the Democratic governors.

—Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia asked the conference to adopt a resolution "expressing outraged indignation at the consistently inhumane treatment of U.S. soldiers held captive in North Vietnam." His proposal would urge the government and those of other nations to do everything they can "to correct these abominable conditions."

MAIL BAGS AND $1 MILLION MISSING — A waggonette sits empty at Quebec's Ancienne-Lorette airport Tuesday after robbers took 23 bags containing money and securities from it. Advices Escape Routes From Hurricane Threat

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Expanding populations along the warm weather coasts of the Atlantic and Gulf states could become "sitting ducks for disaster" unless escape routes are provided from tropical storms, says the chief of the National Hurricane Center.

"A hurricane in the near future could kill 20,000 or 30,000, even 50,000 people unless we have sound planning," Dr. Robert H. Simpson told President Nixon's fourth regional Disaster Preparedness Conference Tuesday.

"I am enormously concerned with development of high density populations right at the shore lines," Simpson said. "If we stack in people by hundreds of thousands and fail to provide escape routes, we will be sitting ducks for disaster one of these days."

Simpson said Dade County—Miami—is a prime example of mushrooming population and poor planning.

If a major hurricane struck south of Miami, he said, 250,000 people jammed between U.S. 1 and Biscayne Bay would have only the one highway on which to travel to shelter.

"A very high percentage of these people would be drowned or killed by flying debris," he said.

Simpson told disaster officials from 12 Southern and Southwestern states that Hurricane Celia, which ravaged Corpus Christi, Tex., Aug. 3, was "a meteorological enigma which will give forecasters and building engineers something to think about for years."

The highest gusts registered by the Weather Bureau hit 161 miles per hour, Simpson said.

"But who can say how high they actually were? They might have been 40 per cent higher.

Simpson said it was the first time on record that the major damage from a hurricane was done by gusts rather than sustained winds.

"Building engineers have told us through the years that they design for sustained winds and do not bother about gust loads," Simpson said.

"We can measure these sustained winds but there is no known means of predicting gust speeds. This calls for new thinking in meteorology and in designing of our building structures," he said.

Supplement Study Grant

RALEIGH (AP) — The state of North Carolina will provide $199,000 to supplement a $398,000 sea grant from the National Science Foundation.

Gov. Bob Scott's office announced Tuesday that the funds will support a one-year program aimed at turning basic marine research information to the practical problems of persons engaged in marine industries.

The program, developed through the North Carolina Marine Science Council, will involve the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, UNC at Wilmington, North Carolina State University and East Carolina University. Some 50 scientists at the four universities will be involved in compiling information relating to fish farming, seafood processing, pollution, marine law, ecology, engineering and other areas related to the management and use of marine resources.

House Votes Limit Broadcast Outlays

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted to limit broadcast spending by candidates for major political offices but faces a fight with the Senate over whether the restrictions should apply to the 1970 elections.

Backers said a ceiling on radio and television expenditures was needed to reduce the rapidly escalating cost of running for public office.

A solid 272-97 majority Tuesday night sent an expanded version of a Senate-passed bill back to the Senate and an expected later conference with the House to iron out differences in the two measures.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., of the House Commerce Committee, who will lead the House conferees, said the legislation's effective date will be the chief difference to resolve.

Other points at issue center around House inclusion of primaries and top state officials while the Senate bill was limited only to general elections and covered just federal officials.

The Senate bill would go into effect 30 days after enactment while the House version puts it off until Jan. 1, 1971.

Both the Senate and House versions spell out a formula for computing the broadcast spending limit for general elections on the basis of 7 cents a vote cast in the last such contest for the specific office or $20,000, whichever is higher.

Announce Sum To Enlarge Park

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — A $171,364 grant from the Appalachian Regional Commission for enlarging the Pilot Mountain State Park in Surry and Yadkin counties was announced Tuesday.

The Winston-Salem office of 5th District Rep. Wilmer D. Mizell, R-N.C., said the total cost of enlarging the park is $571,214. The U.S. Department of the Interior will contribute $285,607 and North Carolina is to provide $114,243.

Safe Driver Avoids Nuts

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — John L. Harrigan's perfect driving record stretches back to the turn of the century and his advice to motorists who want to avoid accidents is simple: "Stay out of the way of all the nuts on the road who are in a big hurry."

Harrigan, 85, retired Los Angeles auto dealer, says he has followed that advice for seven decades and he never has had an accident or a traffic citation.

Harrigan still drives daily and his perfect record is the best in their files, according to officials of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Co., which has handled his policy since 1911.

The octogenarian at one time road tested and raced such long extinct automobiles as the Thomas Flyer and Selden Raacer.

"Every journey was an adventure then," he says. "Still, I think even taking part in auto races in those days was probably safer than driving on some of our freeways now."

Fugitive Priest Is Captured by FBI

CRANSTON, R.I. (AP) — The Rev. Daniel Berrigan, found by FBI agents after four months as a fugitive from a three-year prison term for destroying draft records in Maryland, is in custody awaiting transfer to a federal penitentiary.

The agents found the 49-year-old Jesuit priest in the front room.

Father Berrigan had made several public appearances before peace groups and given some interviews to news media since going underground in April rather than surrender for the prison term imposed on him April 9.

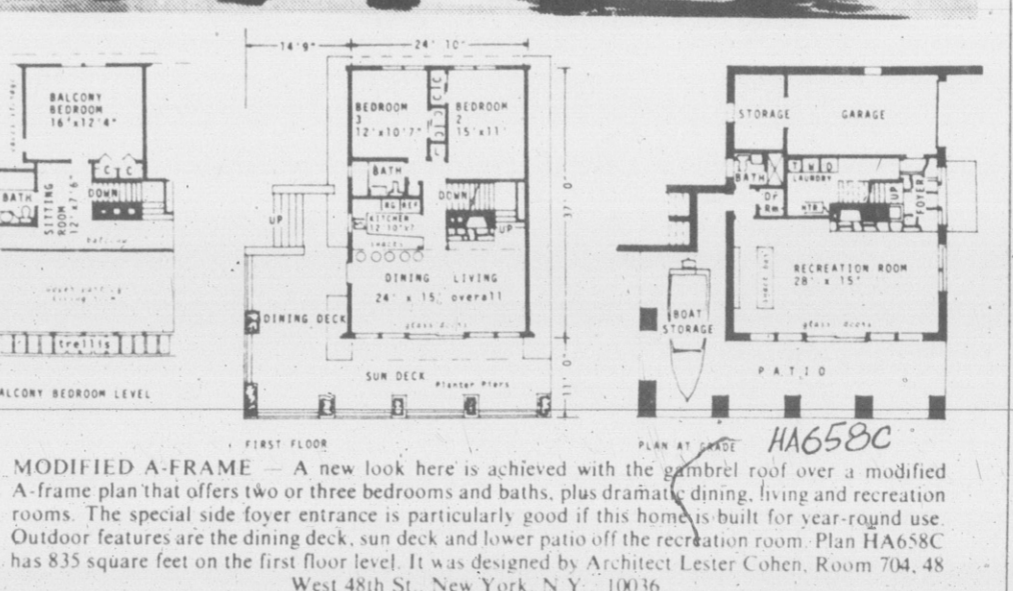

He had lost all appeals from his sentence but said he wanted to show authorities "they can no longer lock people up on their order."

In Baltimore Tuesday night, about 40 persons demonstrated peacefully but loudly outside offices of the Catholic archdiocese to protest the arrest.

Father Berrigan was one of the "Catonville Nine," who were convicted of destroying draft records in Catonsville, Md., on May 17, 1968, as a protest of the war in Vietnam.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL PROPERTY
In The General Court Of Justice
Superior Court Division
NORTH CAROLINA
PITTS COUNTY
SWIFT AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL CORPORATION vs.
CHARLIE MILLS AND WIFE, LULA MILLS
Under and by virtue of an Execution entered in the above entitled proceeding issued on April 22, 1970, by Alice Turner, Deputy Clerk of Superior Court of Edgecomb County, notice is hereby given that I will on the 17th day of August, 1970, at 12:00 Noon at the Courthouse door of the Courthouse of Pitt County in Greenville, North Carolina offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash, to satisfy said execution, all right, title and interest which the defendants, Charlie Mills and wife Lula H. Mills now have or at any time at or after the docketing of the Judgment in said action had in and to the following described real estate:
That certain tract or parcel of land in Chicod Township, Pitt County, North Carolina, lying on the south and north sides of the newly paved road leading from N. C. Highway No. 43 to Black Jack, and beginning at the north-east corner of Lot No. 1-B in the center of said highway and running thence with the center of said highway S 82-30 E 314 feet; thence N 43-5 W 129 feet; thence east 173 feet; thence S 6-35 E 540 feet to the center of said highway; thence S 6-35 E 183 feet; thence southwesterly 91 feet to Ray Mills corner; thence S 70-45 E 52 feet to corner of Lot No. 1-C; thence S 16-30 W 148 feet; thence S 77 E 160 feet; thence N 54 E 157 feet; thence S 20-45 E 212 feet to center of said highway; thence with ditch S 2-00 W 691 feet to a stake in edge of pocoin; thence N 47-55 W 105 feet N 39-45 W 200 feet, N 49-40 W 129 feet, N 54-25 W 109 feet, N 32-30 W 191 feet, N 41-45 W 100 feet, N 45-45 W 203 feet, N 42-15 W 102 feet, N 76-15 W 213 feet, to the corner of Lot No. 1-B; thence N 11 E 348 feet to the beginning and containing 13.2 acres, more or less, and being Lot No. 2 of the Martha Haddock land known as her home place.
Tract No. 2 - That certain tract of land in Chicod Township, Pitt County, on the East side of the newly paved highway leading from Black Jack to Chicod High School, and beginning at a stake, corner of Lots Nos. 1 and 2, thence S 59-30 E 1976 feet to a stake; thence S 71-5 W 240 feet to a stake; thence N 88-40 W 2030 feet to said highway thence N 15-25 E with center of said highway 855 feet to the beginning and containing 9.37 acres, more or less and being Lot No. 3 of the Martha Haddock - Thorougfare tract of land.
TRACT NO. 3 - G. however, from the above described land 5-10th of an acre, more or less, which the grantors herein conveyed to Jimmie Charles Mills by deed dated March 14, 1960 and recorded in Book P-31 at page 585, of the Pitt County Registry. This reference is made to Map prepared by deed dated March 14, 1960 and recorded in Map Book 5 at page 45 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County.
TRACT NO. 3 - Being Tracts Nos. 1, 1A, and 1B of the Haddock property as shown on Map made by Joe M. DeWich, R.S., dated January, 1960, and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County in Map Book 11 at page 86, which map is hereby referred to and made a part hereof for a more specific description of said property.
EXCEPTED from the above Tract No. 3 is the hereafter described real property which has been set off and constitute the real property exemption as by law allowed to the defendants said property being described as follows:
Beginning at a point in the southern R-W of N.C. State Road E 1774, said point being the Northeast corner of the property of P. T. Mill and at the northwest corner of the property of Charlie and Lula Mills; said point thence by the center line of said road; thence from said point of beginning and with the right of way of said road S 82-23 E 100 feet to a point; thence S 11-00 W 304.49 feet to an iron stake; thence N 73-48 W 100.24 feet to an iron stake, a corner in the line of the property of Prince Mills; thence with the common line of the property of Prince Mills and Charlie and Lula Mills N 11-00 E 289.49 feet to the point of beginning.
This property is subject to a lien of a Deed of Trust given by Charlie Mills and wife, Lula H. Mills to Vance E. Swift, Trustee, for the Farmers Home Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture as appears of record in Book R-33 at page 183 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County, and the unpaid indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust as of the date of this notice is in the approximate sum of $10,500.00. This property is further subject to a Deed of Trust in favor of Sutton's Service Center as appears of record in Book B-35 at page 7 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt County. That the principle indebtedness shown on said deed of Trust is in the amount of $1,500.00.
This 15th day of July, 1970.
