Greenville Leaf Market Has $74.03 Opening Day

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
Greenville's tobacco market registered an impressive opening day yesterday as

1,744,922 pounds of tobacco were sold at an average of $74.03 per hundred pounds for a total dollar value of $1,291,827. The average in the 17 market

Eastern Belt amounted to $73.38 per hundred pounds, very near the $73.50 predicted prior to opening of the markets. Three markets other than Greenville passed the one million pound mark — Wilson, the Eastern Belt leader in sales on opening day with 1,766, 529 pounds; Kinston, which sold 1,382,400 pounds, and Rocky Mount, with 1,380,653 pounds. Wilson averaged $74.30 per hundred pounds with total sales of $1,312,562. Kinston averaged $73.58 per hundred pounds for $1,017,223; and Rocky Mount's average per hundred pound was $72.30, with total sales at $998,208.

Keel's Warehouse commented: "I thought the selling was very good. We had a full floor of one of the best crops I've seen in a long time on opening day. It was all usable tobacco."

Don Glisson, a New Independent warehouseman noted, "Sales were good for the grade of tobacco on the floor. We had some tobacco selling up to 82 cents a pound."

Glisson added that as sales started the second day "tobacco is again selling good today. We and the farmers I've talked to are pleased with sales so far."

Market wide, nearly $8.5 million worth of tobacco was auctioned off on the floors of the 17 markets in the North Carolina Eastern Belt. The following tabulation, compiled by the Market News Service in Wilson, shows the results on the individual tobacco markets:

MARKET	POUNDS	DOLLARS	AVE.
Ahoskie	345,612	$255,549	73.94

Eastern Belt Saw $73.38 First Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Opening-day sales of flue-cured tobacco on North Carolina's Eastern Belt set a record general average price of $73.38 per hundred pounds Tuesday, the Federal-State Market News Service reported today.

The figure was 17 cents higher than last year's opening-day price but slightly below a predicted $73.50.

The news service said 11,514,567 pounds was sold on the belt's 17 markets, compared to 12.5 million last year when the markets operated a half hour longer.

Early checks Tuesday had shown that demand was brisk and prices strong and a tobacco marketing specialist said the outlook was bright.

The specialist, John H. Cyrus, said, "The market demand is better than our expectations. Several of the major companies that had been buying light up to now are buying a little heavier here in the east."

Cyrus had predicted a record opening-day record price of $73.50 would be recorded Tuesday, and he stuck by the prediction.

The Federal - State Market News Service predicted that 15 to 25 per cent of the available tobacco was being sold to the Flue - Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corp. under the government price support program.

The Eastern Belt markets are Ahoskie, Clinton, Dunn, Farmville, Goldsboro, Greenville, Kinston, Robersonville, Rocky Mount, Smithfield, Tarboro, Wallace, Washington, Wendell, Williamston, Wilson and Windsor.

On the South Carolina and Border North Carolina belt, prices declined $1 and $2 on nearly one-half of the grades Tuesday. Most others were unchanged.

Water Service Getting Worse

WASHINGTON (AP)—A University of North Carolina environmental engineer said today about one-third of the people in the United States drink wastewater.

"The quality of water service in the United States is cause for growing concern," said Dr. Daniel Okun, chairman of the Department of Environmental Sciences and Engineering at the UNC school of Public Health.

"We have become too confident about what appears to be an excellent record established decades ago and we have failed to be alert to problems that are beginning to face us on all sides," he said.

set a season record of $75.12 per hundred pounds, 82 cents above the previous high of Aug. 10. Quality of offerings also dropped Tuesday, primarily due to a larger percentage of low primings and nondescript and less fair and good leaf. Volume was heavy on practically all markets.

Override Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, spurning President Nixon's economy plea and overriding his veto, has voted into law a $4.4 billion appropriation for federal aid to education.

But it will take some political dexterity to fashion a Republican campaign issue of the 77-16 vote. Twenty-three Republicans voted to override the President.

Not one of the 16 Republicans who voted to sustain the veto is running for a new term this year.

The Senate roll call Tuesday was 15 votes over the two-thirds majority required to overturn a veto.

The House already had voted, 289-114, to override the veto, and 77 Republicans voted against the President there.

Flooding And Power Outages

By Tom Baines
Reflector Staff Writer

A late - summer storm Tuesday afternoon dumped heavy rains in the Greenville area and caused flooding and power outages in several sections of the city.

According to the Greenville Utilities Commission, the amount of rainfall was recorded at 1.49 inches during the 24 hour period from 8 a.m. Tuesday until 8 a.m. this morning.

The maximum temperature during the same 24 hours was 92 degrees and the mercury dropped to a low of 67 during the period. At 8 a.m. this morning, the temperature stood at 68 degrees. Monday's precipitation was recorded at .02 of an inch with a maximum temperature of 89 and a minimum of 70.

The river level this morning was reported at 2.2 feet and rising slowly following the quick but heavy rainfall yesterday.

Greenville Utilities director Charles Horne reported that most of the damage suffered in the electrical system of the city occurred as a result of "direct lightning strikes" on the system itself.

A direct hit occurred on the electrical transmission line that runs along the 264 bypass in the vicinity of Pitt Plaza, he said. The lightning bolt, in cutting off temporarily the transmission on that line, knocked out power feeds to East Carolina University, the Hollywood area, and Ayden and Winterville, and repair crews took 30-40 minutes in transferring the power load to other lines, he added.

Other direct strikes on the power system occurred at the east and north sub-station in the city, Horne said, causing the lights to blink and resulting in burned - out control systems in the east system.

Repairs are being concluded this morning, Horne continued, and everything is either back or close to normal in electrical operations in the city.

In addition, the director noted that the system experienced "a lot of fuses blown" as a result of the storm but the greatest effect was from the direct lightning hits.

H.K. Leggett at the Public Works Department pointed out that flooding occurred in several areas of the city and minor washouts resulted from the rains yesterday.

Heaviest water accumulations were reported at the Dickenson Avenue underpass where stalled cars were not uncommon as they ventured through the standing water and also along Fourteenth Street east of the Charles Street intersection.

Leggett said that pipes in those particular areas were not adequate to handle the heavy water load.

D.F. Johnson, maintenance supervisor for the State Highway Commission, reported that a few trees were blown down across roads in the Farmville area but as far as he knew, no road major washouts occurred in the county.

Agricultural extension agent, Sam Weeks said that since most of the tobacco crop was already out of the field, he expected very little serious damage to result from Tuesday's heavy rains.

Weeks estimated that roughly 85 per cent of the leaf crop has been harvested and pointed out that the quick runoff of the water probably would help to avoid drownings in most instances involving crops.

A 'Thud' Heard When Old Liberty Ship Hit Bottom Of Ocean Grave

ABOARD USS HARTLEY (AP) — "It was almost silent as it went down," the Navy reported after an old Liberty ship loaded with a deadly cargo of nerve gas was sent to an ocean grave at the bottom of the Atlantic.

"But when it hit, there was a thud and sounds like parts of the ship and lumber crushing or breaking up. There was a lot of noise and rocking for about two minutes until it settled."

The old LeBaron Russell Briggs was tracked on sonar as it went to the bottom Tuesday 283 miles east of the Florida coast.

Navy Capt. A. G. Hamilton, in charge of the scuttling operation, said it went very well. He commended the cooperation of the Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Air Force. The Briggs, resurrected from mothballs for the job, plummeted 16,000 feet with 418 vaults of GB nerve gas in old rockets and crashed at 25 miles an hour in a deep trench where the Army has dumped obsolete munitions for years.

The Army has guaranteed that this is the last gas shipment that will be scuttled at sea. In the future officials said, chemical agents will be used for detoxification. Some conservationists and Florida Gov. Claude Kirk had fought the ocean disposal operation.

So violent was the descent and impact of the 446-foot Briggs that a major experiment to determine if any gas leaked was lost. Ten water sample bottles, intended to rise to the surface at between eight and 10 hours after sinking, broke loose during the scuttling and rose almost immediately. If they had popped up as planned, they might have told scientists if any of the concrete-and-steel vaults cracked open under water pressure in the early hours, spilling gas.

Water samples taken from ships down to a depth of several hundred feet showed no evidence of loose gas. However, Army chemical experts say that when the gas does seep out from corrosive activity it will be confined to a small area around the vessel because of spiral currents circulating at less than one-tenth of a mile an hour.

The hulk, escorted by the destroyer escort Hartley and the Coast Guard cutter Mendota, reached the dump site Tuesday morning. Fifteen minutes later, a team of eight specialists boarded the derelict to ready it for sinking.

Wearing gas masks, they first checked six caged white rabbits in the holds where the vaults were stored.

Police Officer Returns To Duty

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
Greenville police officer Barley F. Phillips, suspended after a July 6 shooting incident here, was returned to duty today.

The officer was assigned as a desk officer during today's midnight to 8 a.m. shift.

Ptl. Phillips was suspended with pay after he shot a 21-year-old Negro, Julius Stewart Summrell, following a fight that began after the officer placed Summrell under arrest in Pitt Memorial Hospital's emergency room complex on a charge of disorderly conduct. Phillips himself was badly beaten in the fight.

City officials at the time of the suspension said Phillips' pay would not be affected and termed the action "normal procedure." However, following a later - night meeting with a group of Negro leaders July 8, members of the Greenville City Council agreed to suspend the officer's pay pending an investigation of the case by the State Bureau of Investigation.

Summrell was tried on the disorderly conduct charge and charges of resisting arrest and assaulting an officer in District Court last week. Found guilty by Chief District Judge J.W.H. Roberts, Summrell gave notice of appeal to Superior Court.

City Manager Harry Hagerty, questioned yesterday about Ptl. Phillips' return to duty neither confirmed nor denied that the officer would go back to work last night.

"It was my intention that Phillips not be fully reinstated until the SBI report had been received and reinstatement justified," Hagerty commented in a press conference at noon today.

Hagerty admitted he was aware that Phillips had been scheduled to report to work at midnight tonight, but noted that the first he knew that Phillips had begun work last night was a telephone call from a newspaperman informing him that Phillips was back at work.

He further noted that Chief Tommy Gladson had made a verbal recommendation that Phillips be reinstated to limited duty.

"I wanted the advantage of the SBI report to study and analyze before making a final decision," Hagerty commented.

In reply to a question whether Phillips had been paid during suspension, Hagerty said "I will not answer that question."

Readiness Report On School Programs Submitted To Board

The Associate Superintendent of Greenville's City Schools; principals of the junior and senior high schools; and the director of elementary education, each presented status reports to the school board Monday night on the readiness of programs for the coming school year.

Glenn Cox, Associate Superintendent, leading off the discussions, noted "We will be operating 22 busses this year, each scheduled for two runs."

"Under a new law, maintenance and operation of the busses are under Pitt County, and the busses have been turned over to the county except for two to be used in the kindergarten program." Cox noted that the full transportation schedule, to include routes, times and other data will be announced on Monday.

Prices for meals in the school cafeteria were approved by board members at 35 cents for kindergarten through grade six, and 40 cents for grades seven through 12. For adults in any schools, the price has been established at 45 cents. This year at Rose High the menu will feature a choice of items, rather than the a la carte system.

Cox noted that all schools will receive federal reimbursement for the free meal service. With the new school plan, there will be students in each school eligible to receive this assistance.

He mentioned briefly maintenance and repair work being made or already completed at the various schools, including the installation of a boiler at Elmhurst; conversion of South Greenville to oil heat; conversion of the main boilers at Rose High to oil, and the extension of the bus parking lot there. Mobile units are in place at Aycock, and steps are being installed for the mobile units.

Charles Ross, director of Elementary Education, said that "moving from seven to six elementary schools had helped the situation in Greenville." He added this results "in a better teacher - student ratio. We should find it to be 29 to 1 or lower, with Third Street having the smallest ratio."

Ross noted that about 30 to 40 out-of-district elementary students are expected to be assigned to Third Street school. All personnel positions except one have been filled for the elementary schools, and cards for pupil placement have been mailed out. "Records have also been exchanged," Ross commented, saying that the new school plan resulted in a number of records having to be transferred to other schools.

He mentioned that non-graded, team teaching is being maintained, with emphasis on "individually prescribed instruction for every child. Children are being placed in an achievement level, which is not an ability level," Ross observed.

Principal of Aycock Junior High School John Jones observed that this year "Aycock becomes the largest junior high school in North Carolina."

"My opinion is that the climate of a school is determined by the staff, and we have good teachers at Aycock," he remarked. Jones pointed to a number of activities conducted this summer which he feels have helped set the stage for a good school year ahead.

"One of the big things this coming year is that all ninth graders are required to take an English - Civics block," he revealed. Another feature in the curriculum is the required introduction to vocational education.

This year too a reading program is being conducted to assist students in better reading. Jones indicated that 225 seventh grade students and a total of 500 students have chosen to take part in this reading improvement program. "It's a good job, and we expect much from it," he said.

"We are very optimistic about our feeding program, and our education program, and our athletic program," Jones stated, indicating that Aycock expects to have two varsity teams this year.

Robert Allgood, the new Rose High principal, reiterated his belief that "if you can open and have two weeks of good school conditions, you are going in the right direction."

He told board members the "students would be informed what is expected of them, and what isn't. It's important that we get together at the beginning and establish an understanding."

Study halls will be placed on the master schedule, with 28 to 30 students in each group. "There's also to be a home room period first thing each morning."

Allgood revealed. "Construction is still going on out back in the replacement buildings for the temporary ones, and work remains to be completed on restoring the gym floor."

"What is critical is how we begin our school year," Allgood commented. "We must build pride in our school if its going to be a good school."

Plans are to mail each Rose High student a copy of the revised handbook with a letter of assignment. These are due to go out on Friday, and hopefully will be in the hands of each student prior to the beginning of school.

Hospital Board Told Computer System Plans

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt Memorial Hospital officer manager, T.B. Sitterton told the hospital trustees last night that bills will be sent out once a month as soon as the hospital's accounts are completely converted to the computer system.

The accounts of each family are now being consolidated and some 8,000 are ready to be programmed by the county computer now, he said. Besides providing a more efficient numerical filing system, the computer will age accounts by 30 day old, 60 days, etc. Billing has been done in the past only several times a year on a rotating basis, Sitterton said.

Hospital administrator C. D. Ward announced that Miss Jean Ownes, a Fountain native, has begun work as the hospital's new director of nursing.

Action on the installation of several lights on the hospital grounds was held off until a decision of whether and where to build another access road to the hospital.

Problems caused by visiting were discussed. The possibility of limiting visiting only to family members was discussed. No action was taken, but if taken, the action would probably be just until better and more spacious facilities may be provided, Board members indicated.

Whether law enforcement officers' questioning patients in the emergency room hampers operations there was also discussed. Dr. Howard Grads

Record Opener

FARMVILLE — This tobacco market's yesterday average of $73.56 per hundred pounds was the highest on record for an opening day, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor.

The sales consisted mostly of primings, lugs, and a small volume of nondescript cutters and leaf grades. Primings accounted for most of the volume, Williams said.

Some leaf and lug grades purchased by companies brought up to 81 cents a pound.

Some 694,296 pounds were sold during the first day for some $510,693.08. Stabilization receipts accounted for 19.14 percent of gross sales, he added.

Area Debutantes Entertained At Statewide Dance Last Night

to right, are Elaine Fleming, Sara Ann Evans, Lou Latham and Laura Bruce Hadley.

Popular music played by the outstanding Embers, an array of elegant formal gowns and evening pants dresses and dim lighting was the scene at the Greenville Golf and Country Club last night.

The event was a black tie statewide debutante dance which attracted approximately 350 young ladies, their escorts and invited guests.

Area debutantes honored were Sara Ann Evans, Elaine Fleming, Laura Bruce Hadley of Greenville, Lou Latham, Bethel, Sue Joyner, Jane Darden, Farmville, Ann Mallison and Julie Rumley, Washington. The honorees were escorted respectively by Tommy Christy, Clifton Edwards, Ricky Lloyd, Ferrell Blount, Mike Taylor, Ben Everett, David Carter and Mayhew Cox.

Host and hostesses were parents of the area debutantes: Mr. and Mrs. Plato Garris Evans; Mr. and Mrs. Van C. Fleming Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob M. Hadley; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Latham;

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. Joyner; Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Darden; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel M. Mallison Jr.; and Mr. and Mrs. William Rumley Jr.

The club ballroom was decorated with tall green topiary trees and twin arrangements of mangolias in gold standards flanked the bandstand. The entrance hall featured arrangements of roses in varying shades of red and pink.

The honored debutantes, holding nosegays of white pompons with long white streamers, and their escorts rotated during the evening in greeting the arriving guests.

The punch tables, covered with white embossed organdy were overlaid with satin cloths, featured silver punch bowls encircled with ivy and fruit. Individual tables featured yellow linen cloths with black wrought iron hurricane lamps entwined with ivy and yellow summer flowers.

Later during the evening, a buffet consisting of chicken drumettes, sausage pinwheels, assorted sandwiches, cheese ball and crackers, relishes and punch was served. Two four branch candelabra filled with red long-stemmed roses with white tapers decorated the buffet table.

Bride Unkissable

COTEHILL, England (WNS) — Sixty guests at the church wedding of Anne Bainbridge, 20, to James Griffiths, 21, were admonished not to kiss the bride "because it's too painful to her." Anne had refused to postpone the wedding despite a car crash that had necessitated six stitches in her lips and four in her chin.

WOTM Attend State Meeting In Wilmington

Senior Regent Beulah Jordan reported that 33 members of the Greenville Chapter of the Women of the Moose attended the annual state conference at the TimmePlaza Motel, Wilmington.

The conference included meetings, addresses from dignitaries, and a ritual session in which the Greenville Chapter performed the "Endowment Fund March." Of the five honor positions in the state, Greenville Chapter placed fourth for the year 1969-70.

The highlights of the conference included a speech given by Junior Graduate Regent Georgia McCollom at the opening meeting and a Coronation Pageant honoring Peggy Roberson of Greenville, who was crowned Queen C. Sponsors.

Mrs. Roberson will reign as queen for the coming year. She was attended by a court of 15 attendants which included Marga Ross and Patricia Warren of Greenville.

Former president of the College of Regents Edna Coniffie was presiding officer and Graduate Grand Regent Nell Dorsey was the official visitor. Also present was Mrs. Ine Richie, who will serve the state of North Carolina as Deputy Grand Regent for the coming year.

The conference will meet next year in Raleigh.

Luncheon Given Miss Ross Clark

Miss Ross Clark, bride-elect of Aug. 22 of Korghie Andresen, was entertained at a luncheon on Saturday.

Hostesses were Mrs. Paul Castelloe of Raleigh and Mrs. Ruland Davenport at the Davenport home.

The honoree was remembered with a corsage of daisies and tuberoses.

The house was decorated with arrangements of summer flowers and bridal motifs.

Mrs. Alma Clark and Mrs. P. K. Andresen were special guests.

Lady Janitors Work To Unclog Garbage

PARIS (WNS) — French concierges, the lady janitors who take care of apartment and office buildings, have gone to war to rid the city of garbage pails and replace them with sanitary plastic bags. Their monthly magazine, the Building Employees Courier, editorializes: "Today the garbage situation is clogged up! Clogged up as always! As it has been for 30 years! In June 1940 we had the call to resistance, but the future is still clogged up for France! De Gaulle was supposed to unclog France, but we still need somebody to unclog the garbage. The French concierge, 72 years old, must fight to unclog the devilish garbage pails that are spilling over more than ever before!"

Get To Know Him A Different Way

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I met a fellow rather accidentally on the telephone. We found out we had a lot in common (age and all) and he called me (on purpose) several times after that and we had many long, interesting conversations. Well, he asked if he could take me out for dinner on Sunday night, and I said yes.

He came over at 4 like we planned, and after about 40 minutes of talking he wanted to kiss me.

I said, "No, I want to get to know you better." [After all, Abby, he really was a stranger to me as I had never seen him before.]

He said, "Well, that is how you get to know a person better." I still said, "No, not yet." So he got mad and walked out the door.

Did I do the right thing in not letting him kiss me? I would still like to get to know him better. LOST HIM

DEAR LOST: From what you tell me about this young man, I'd say you didn't lose much. Yes, you did the right thing. And if he calls you again, and you still want to "know him better" don't forget the "method" he suggested for getting to know you better.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and I am having trouble with my mother. She won't let me get my ears pierced. I think I am old enough to know my own mind, and I don't see anything wrong with piercing my ears. Lots of the kids do it nowadays. Can you help me? I am a boy.

IRA IN CLEARWATER, FLA.

DEAR IRA: You are still a minor, and as such, your mother is responsible for your actions. Think about it for a few more years. Do you really WANT two more holes in your head?

DEAR ABBY: My sister is intelligent, but she has one big fault. She continually corrects her poor husband every time he opens his mouth. And she doesn't care who is present.

If she could hear a tape recording of an evening of her nagging and correcting, maybe she would realize how terrible she sounds.

Needless to say, we don't see them as often as we could even tho we live only a few miles away. She often asks me why we don't spend more time with them and I simply cannot bring myself to tell her. She has always been a bossy and opinionated person. How do I get it across to her that nobody enjoys being in the company of a person who is always belittling and correcting her husband? I hate to hurt her feelings.

HER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: If you honestly feel that by telling your sister the truth, she might accept it as constructive criticism and DO something about it—never mind her "feelings." You'd be doing her a kindness. But if I read your letter right, I think you're "afraid" of your sister [just as her husband is] and will continue to avoid her—and complain behind her back.

DEAR ABBY: Please pass this message on to your correspondent who so proudly signed herself "CALIFORNIA'S WORST HOUSEKEEPER":

Let's be honest, Baby. You are a dirty, happy, lovable pig—but a pig just the same.

There Must Be A Good Answer

There must be some answer to the rapid growth in the rate of serious crime in this country. It must be found quickly if the nation is not to become a constant nightmare of terror for many of its citizens. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has reported that serious crime increased 148 percent in the past decade while the nation's population increased only 13 percent. Perhaps more meaningful, says the FBI, is that every American's risk of becoming a victim of a serious crime has more than doubled in that period.

In many metropolitan areas crime in the streets has been a matter of serious and growing concern for several years. There are now in this land of freedom, people who dare not go out of their homes at night for fear of being seriously harmed. There are cities in which friends do not visit in each other's homes simply because of the high risk of becoming a victim of crime if one undertakes to travel from one part of the city to another after dark.

But the increase in serious crime is not limited to the metropolitan areas. In almost every size city and town, there has been an alarming increase in the rate of serious crime in the past 10 years. To be sure, the streets still seem safe at night; one does not fear to walk in his neighborhood or drive across town, as is the case in large cities. But the fact remains that in the small city, and even in the rural areas, crime is growing at an alarming rate.

There is evidence that more needs to be done at the federal level to combat crime, and to provide funds with which this may be done. It is also true that much more needs to be done at the state and local level to combat the alarming increase in serious crimes.

Greater consideration must be given to the needs of local law enforcement agencies. Greater attention needs to be given crime prevention programs. Greater efforts must be directed toward reinforcing and broadening the base of citizen support for work of law enforcement agencies.

The problems with serious crimes now faced in the metropolitan areas need not necessarily become the problems of the smaller cities and towns. But the smaller communities will in time face those same problems unless they begin now greater efforts to prevent them.

Strike Sparks In Internships

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — "State government is a huge, inefficient bureaucracy with here and there little pockets of change at work."

"My supervisor always seems to be busy doing something... but I never see the results of anything he's done. He's too busy to discuss ideas."

"I know my outlook is definitely more realistic now that I've seen what happens and how it goes on. I didn't think I was all that idealistic, but I did think some of us — since there were so many — would bring about some change if not in policy at least in attitude. But once you get in there, you find out just how ineffective you really can be."

The young people speaking have spent the summer observing and participating in the day-to-day work of state government.

They are three of 2,500 students, learning by doing under projects coordinated by the North Carolina Internship Office, jointly sponsored by the Department of Administration and the Board of Higher Education.

Three Give Impressions
Mrs. Faith Smith of Kings Mountain graduated in June from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte. After her husband completes Air Force service in New Mexico next year, she expects to continue graduate study in chemistry. She was an environmental intern in the Water and Air Resources Department.

Tom Smith, a rising senior at Shaw University in Raleigh, held a "Minorities in Planning" internship funded by the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) department. He worked in the Corrections Department.

Lawrence Whitfield of Raleigh, a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, carried out research in the internship office. He plans to continue study, either at the University of Edinburgh, Scotland, or Yale Divinity School.

"My intern experience started out as frustration," said Mrs. Smith. "Almost total frustration the first couple of weeks, then it smoothed out. What helped most was inter-action with other interns, not my own little project."

"It was a real cultural shock, in a sense," agreed Whitfield. "I was very disturbed and depressed at the lack of imagination that I saw among people in state government. It took me a while to get used to that."

"In Corrections we had good interns and we had bad interns," said Smith. "I mean by good interns people who really wanted to do something and by bad interns, those who just wanted to collect a check for the summer."

Learning on Both Sides
"I'm thinking of three interns who went to the youth facility at Polk. They definitely got a lot of reaction — don't know whether it was altogether negative or positive. First of all, they didn't want to cut their hair. They didn't. Second, they had a lot of ideas that they wanted to get across for the inmates."

"There developed — I supposed you'd call it some friction — but I think there was some learning. I don't know if I've really changed anyone's attitude or not. They know how I felt about problems, and what I think needs to be done."

"For the most part the interns have had an impact on their agencies, in one way or another," said Whitfield. "It may be in the quality of research they do, or it may be in just having a student in the office and seeing things from another perspective."

"I'm not sure that state government has really seriously evaluated how it could better use student manpower to meet community and agency problems. I'm really very skeptical about that. I'm a little bit more sure, though, that the internships have been helpful to the agencies which have developed them."

Career Interest Aroused
"They told us at Corrections that one of the reasons for the internships is for you to develop some interest in it as a career. And I did," said Smith. "I've already made my career plans, but I still may go back to Corrections."

"It's one of those 'pockets of change.' I'd like to be involved in that. I think I could have some input. I have some ideas. I think, somebody might be receptive to."

"Sometimes I got the feeling that the internships were sort of a token," said Mrs. Smith. "There was a short period when I felt some of the employees had a sort of resentment to the fact I was there."

"I don't think it's an age-youth barrier as much as it is — I don't know — a thinking barrier," said Smith. "Two of the people I worked with..."

Hard Drug Suppliers Resistant To Control

It is not good news when the director of the Narcotics Bureau tells us that the government has failed to reduce the amount of heroin available in the United States.

John E. Ingersoll has reported that cutting off the supply at the borders is impossible. Efforts are now being made to curtail overseas sources. Of those who sell the stuff, Ingersoll said, "For everyone you arrest there are a number of others standing in the wings."

Hard drugs are a real problem in the nation and we must find some way to cut off the supply and to deal with those who push dope.

Nixon-Agnew Political Plan

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — To dramatize the extraordinary importance he attaches to Vice President Spiro Agnew's campaign for a Republican Senate this fall, President Nixon dispatched his top aide, H.R. (Bob) Haldeman, to a secret Agnew campaign-planning session last Monday (Aug. 10).

The presence of Haldeman, Mrs. Nixon's appointments secretary, surprised the party's top politicians when they met with Agnew in the Executive Office Building. It also signified Mr. Nixon's intent to run the campaign from his own Oval Office.

Present also were Presidential counselor Bryce Harlow (who will head the large White House delegation assigned to Agnew this fall), political aide Murray Chotiner, Sen. John Tower of Texas who runs the Senate Campaign Committee, several Agnew staffers, and officials of the Republican National Committee.

The two-hour session rapidly made several decisions—but left open many sticky problems not easily solved.

For example, what should Agnew do when he is invited to come to Syracuse, N.Y., for a major fund-raiser?

New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, running for a fourth term, wants no outside "help"—meaning interference from Washington. Mr. Nixon, aware that an Agnew visit would infuriate liberal voters Rockefeller needs, has graciously acceded.

But conservative leaders of the Republican party in upstate New York view Agnew as a godsend for local candidates. Hence the question, which Mr. Nixon himself will have to answer: can Agnew go to Syracuse to help upstate Republican candidates without hurting Rockefeller and the liberal Republican Senate candidate, Sen. Charles Goodell?

Another sticky problem is Tennessee, where party professionals worry that an Agnew visit would simply enhance Sen. Albert Gore's claim that he is "the number one target" of the White House. These politicians see Rep. William Brock, Gore's Republican opponent in the Senate race, far ahead. An Agnew visit would only create sympathy for underdog Gore.

As of today, however, Agnew has a tentative Sept. 23 visit to Shelby County (Memphis) on his schedule (a decision made without checking Brock).

Or consider Virginia, where most of Mr. Nixon's aides regard Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Jr., a Democrat-turned-independent—not Republican nominee Ray Garland — as the strong favorite. The tentative decision made at Monday's meeting was to avoid Virginia, on the pretext that

Women's Lib In Tahiti

TAHITI — Women's liberation is working in Tahiti as well as, or better than, any place in the world. I discovered this when I visited the beautiful island of Bora Bora which inspired James Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific." We stayed at the Hotel Bora Bora where, instead of hotel rooms, each couple has its own grass-covered hut overlooking the crystal-clear fish-happy lagoon.

One morning I made a discreet inquiry as to where all the men on Bora Bora were. A Frenchman who lives on the island said, "They're probably still in their huts, sleeping. They're very tired celebrating the 14th of July which, as you know, has been going on for 10 days."

"But don't they have to go to work?"
"No, monsieur. The tradition of the islands is that only the women work."
"What do the men do?"
"Sleep, sail, fish if they feel like it. They manage to keep

The postal reform bill, after long hanging fire in Congress, has been passed by both houses and signed by the President and is now law. It takes the Post Office Department out of politics and makes it a semi-independent service.

Users of the mails, which means just about everybody, have been harassed in recent years by steadily deteriorating movement of first class and other types of mail, and have suffered from inefficiencies. They have hoped for more economical management, swifter and more convenient service, and an end to almost biennial increases in charges, which, when put into effect, seemed to make bad matters worse, and did not curtail the deficit.

"The women."
"Who does the cooking, cleaning and washing?"
"The women. You see, monsieur, the men here respect their women and let them do everything. As a matter of fact, there aren't enough hours in the day for a woman to fulfill herself."
"What about marriage?"
"Some people get married, some don't. If a man tires of his woman, he can find another one."
"Then a woman here does not have to be tied down?"
"No. As soon as her man leaves her, she is free."
"This is a women's lib paradise," I said. "It must make the men angry to know the women have all the jobs."
"Not really. You must understand that the Tahitian man is not as ambitious as the American. Many, many years ago, Tahitian men discovered that there wasn't anything they could do that their women couldn't do better. Once they made this discovery, they decided it was stupid to compete with them."
"If only American men could learn this," I said, "we would indeed have a happy country."

Test For No-Fault Insurance

By ELMER ROESSNER
At last America is about to get a real test of "no fault" auto insurance. Gov. Francis W. Sargeant of Massachusetts has approved a bill passed by the legislature to make the idea the law of that state. For several years, the merits of no-fault systems compared with the present liability system have been debated in a vacuum. In general, it does away with the idea of blame in auto accidents and it abolishes payments for pain and suffering. It authorizes insurance that pays for auto damage and medical and hospital bills of all persons involved in an accident, regardless of which driver was at fault and there is no recompense for agony. The idea has been debated pro and con. Proponents have held that it will cut auto insurance rates, perhaps in half; that it will end jury verdicts based on sentiment, reduce court congestion, and that it will end attempts to make 12 random individuals to be instant experts on psychology, physics and other causative elements in auto accidents.

It has also been pointed out that metropolitan lawyers usually favor the no-fault plan because few of them are involved in auto liability actions, but that small town lawyers are often opposed because much of their income derives from such cases. Insurance Companies No Like
In general, insurance companies oppose the idea. Obviously, if insurance losses are cut, states will insist that insurance premiums be reduced, which will affect profits. Further, some companies fear it will be a step toward government insurance. However, many years ago

Riches In The Mind

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — If you had a million memories and could sell them for a dollar each, you'd be a millionaire. But who would part with a wonderful memory for a measly dollar bill? Good memories are priceless—and, anyway, it is more fun to share them than try to put them on the auction block.

Perhaps you don't have a million memories yet. But you've got a pretty good stock if you can look back and remember when—

Bluebirds were so plentiful you could see one almost every day in summer. A good cook would rather hear her pies or preserves praised than her character. After all, nobody would dare say a word against her character. There was some perturbation throughout the country when word got around that one of President Woodrow Wilson's favorite sports was tennis. Tennis? Wasn't that a game played between sissies and young ladies? The old-fashioned icebox had room for only about a fifth of the goodies a modern refrigerator or freezer holds. Bedbugs were so common in poor neighborhoods that it wasn't so much a question of whether but when a household would be infested by them. A girl didn't know whether to be pleased or insulted if you told her she looked like Theda Bara, the famous movie vamp. We were all so young and innocent that a fellow could become the life of a cocktail party simply by putting a lampshade on his head.

Adolf Hitler was painting landscapes—before he learned the art of destroying them. People were still so friendly that if you got an attack of hiccups on a street car at least 10 strangers among the passengers would volunteer a helpful suggestion on the best way to cure them. Airplanes were so much of a novelty that lots of folks rode out to the airport every Sunday in hopes of seeing one fall. Grandma laid down the law to grandpa by informing him that he could either keep his beard or go on chewing tobacco—but he couldn't do both. You could keep a pet dog from birth until death and never spend more than $2 cash on it for a collar with a brass nameplate. Every telegram had ten words, and the tenth word always was "love."

Those were the days—remember?

Strength For Today

WIN OR PERISH
The menace of drug addiction is probably the most alarming menace that has threatened our country in the whole of its history. Addiction to alcohol is bad. Smoking no doubt frequently causes lung cancer. But being "hooked" by any form of habit-forming drug is about as terrifying a situation as one can imagine. It is not entirely hopeless. Thomas De Quincy (1785-1859) was a drug addict, and his "Confessions of an English Opium Eater" gave him an established place in the field of literature. But it also kept him from being a great man. His addiction increased as the years passed. All evidence points to the fact that a man who might have been outstanding in his personal life lived unhappily and wrestled with an increasing addiction as years went on. Nothing can more surely ruin our nation than the growth of drug addiction. We will make a mistake if we try to excuse the use of some of the milder drugs and reserve only heroin and other hard-core drugs as the enemy to be met and conquered. We need to be severe on "pushers." The most extreme of all penalties should be used against those who ply their trade among teenagers and young people in the twenties or thirties. Here is a situation that calls for a national uprising of indignation, education and prosecution. No moral issue as dreadful as drug addiction has ever before confronted our nation: Here's a place where we have to win or perish.

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS WASHINGTON (AP) — In disputing a New York Times report, the White House has handed a vote of confidence to Mayor Walter E. Washington.

The Times said Tuesday that President Nixon was preparing to replace Washington, a Negro, as figurehead of the District of Columbia's local government.

But Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, replied that "This is not the case. Mayor Washington does not plan to leave his post nor does the White House want him to."

Officials said Tuesday the prospective tightening of regulations was based on two incidents:

—A recent precautionary landing at New York's Kennedy airport of a 360-passenger 747, because of an engine fire on takeoff. The plane had taken off with an inoperable PA system, as is now permitted. Although no one was injured, the confusion resulting from the pilot's inability to issue orders to the passengers gave safety experts an indication of the chaos that would have prevailed in a major emergency.

—The water ditching of an DC9 jet in the Caribbean 29 miles off St. Croix, Virgin Islands, in which 23 of the 63 persons aboard died. Because the public address system was inoperative, the pilot was unable to give a prepare-to-ditch warning and some passengers were standing, and others had seat belts unfastened, at the time of impact.

one was in his 80s... were much older but they had a receptiveness to ideas. They were willing to think something out rather than just take it the way it's always been done."

"Older people in state government aren't as put off by students as some of the younger people who are still trying to defend their position," said Whitfield. "I think there is an amazing amount of energy expended in state government simply maintaining one's position. If the energy defending the desk at which a person is sitting could be channeled elsewhere, there might be some change taking place."

"I would say to people in state government: 'Take time to have a little insight, or foresight, about what you're doing,'" said Mrs. Smith. "I mean, just take an hour each day and think about what you're doing and how you can be more effective. There is not enough of that."

Evans, Novak

Agnew should limit his campaign to states where Republican Senate candidates have a good chance. But the real reason for boycotting Virginia is not to hurt Byrd. If elected, Byrd might vote with the Republicans in organizing the Senate.

In Wisconsin, on the other hand, Democratic Sen. William Proxmire is a preemptive favorite for reelection. But Mr. Nixon will definitely send Agnew there. The pretext? An invitation from Republican Gov. Warren Knowles, an old friend. The real reason: Wisconsin holds the second Presidential primary in 1972, and Mr. Nixon might conceivably have an opponent.

Many other questions were left open, including a dispute over how to handle Sargent Shriver. With a burgeoning organization, Shriver looks like the single biggest Democratic campaign asset. But some Republicans are warning against a public attack on Shriver for fear of building him up for 1972, as former President Johnson's 1966 attack built up Mr. Nixon for 1968.

Others argue that Shriver should be hit hard by Agnew to widen the split between him and Lawrence F. O'Brien's Democratic National Committee, which already regards Shriver with jealous eyes. Mr. Nixon will have to resolve that one.

What Agnew did decided last Monday was to open his campaign in Springfield, Ill., and to restrict it—with two exceptions—to Senate candidates. He'll go to the Michigan district of House Republican leader Gerald Ford and to the Louisville, Ky., district of Rep. William Cowger (who campaigned for Agnew when he ran for Baltimore County executive in 1962).

"Of course," the Frenchman said. "It is part of their duties. The tourists would be very disappointed to come all this way and not see the Tahitian women dance."

"To think," I said, "they've managed to have all this liberation without a revolution."

"It is a unique position for women to hold, but even in paradise there is trouble. A few women are complaining that they are too liberated. They're starting to demand less rights and more time off."

CLOWN COLLEGE

A clown's face is more than a collection of features. It's his most versatile and valuable prop and he has to learn how to use it. Clowns aren't born with those preposterous sad, saucer eyes, ballooning noses and ear-to-ear grins. The clown's art includes the use of larger-than-life facial contortions which he (or she) emphasizes still further by the skillful use of makeup.

Makeup is one of the techniques which the clown has to learn and practice. There are classical styles of clown face which are part of the circus tradition, but there is endless scope for variation and invention. It's a question of choice and temperament.

The young clowns on this page are students at the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey clown college in Venice, Fla. In addition to makeup, they study Yoga, calisthenics, pantomime and those antique comedy routines which still never fail to arouse roars of laughter.

City School Board Took Action On Confirming ESEA Budget

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

In its Monday night monthly meeting, members of the Greenville City School Board took action on confirming the proposed Title I, ESEA budget; heard a report on the current status of action to remove Greenville schools from the deferred list for Title VI funds; favorably considered a request for inclusion of West Haven into the Greenville City School System; and approved resubmission of a grant proposal for a federally funded project to alleviate problems on desegregation.

After hearing an explanation of Title I, ESEA funds from Charles Dickens, director, the board unanimously adopted the proposed budget.

The 1970-71 budget of $258,727, to which is added a carry-over amount of $23,500, gives the city schools a total of $282,227 to work with in projects for which these funds are specified.

Dickens explained the carry-over project funds resulted from deferred funds not available from last year now being eligible for pick up and adding to the current funds; and did not represent money on hand not spent last year.

"These Title I funds are not automatic, but must be applied for each year," Dickens told the board.

Under these funds, which except for the carry-over items, are the same as the 1969-70 budget, the city school will be able to pay for 39 school personnel. Of this number, 22 are professional people and 17 are non-professional, or, as Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent of city schools termed it,

"non-certified people."

Dr. Cleetwood pointed out that "about $65,000 of these funds will be used in the kindergarten program being established at Agnes Fullilove School."

A breakdown of the $282,227 shows the following amounts budgeted for the various expenditure accounts permitted for Title I funds: Administration, $21,916; instruction, $176,353; attendance services, $12,638; health services, $21,363; pupil transport, $200; operation of plant, $4,370; maintenance of plant, $1,500; fixed charges (social security, retirement pay, etc), $25,931; food services $10,200; welfare services $600; and equipment, $7,133.

Dr. Cleetwood told board members that "the new kindergarten program is a substitute for the summer program, for which no funds are presently earmarked."

An additional step has been taken on the road to removing Greenville City schools from the deferred list for new projects under Title VI funds. As long as the school system remains on the deferred list, grants for new programs cannot be approved, and the schools can only continue with programs approved prior to the school system being placed on the deferred list.

In a letter to Dr. A. Craig Phillips, Superintendent of Public Instruction for the state of North Carolina, J. Stanley Pottinger, Director, Office of Civil Rights, HEW, Washington, noted that the Greenville Board's letter of compliance and attachments had been received.

"Our action in accepting these documents does not mean that this department has considered the merits of the desegregation plan which the school system has submitted. In appropriate proceedings, either the Government or a private party may seek modification of the desegregation plan, or take such other action as it may deem necessary."

"Your office and the school board are expected to keep the Office of Civil Rights informed of any appeals from or modifications of the court order."

In the same letter, however, Pottinger wrote that "the documents (those furnished by the Greenville School Board) are considered adequate at this time to meet the requirements of Title VI. . . for the purpose of approving applications and plans and the release of funds in approved federally assisted programs."

He noted that forms for reporting the Greenville school district's student and staff assignments will again be mailed; and submission of these reports is still required despite the Federal court's desegregation order.

A request by W. G. Dunn, president of West Haven subdivision, for consideration for inclusion of the area into the Greenville School District, was approved at Monday night's meeting. The Pitt County Board of Education must also approve the request as part of a joint policy procedure for the two boards.

Approval makes residents in the subdivision eligible for becoming a part of the Greenville School District effective with the opening of the 1971-72 school year. This year, residents of the area will be required to pay "out-of-district" fees of $60 for each child attending a city school. The board also has the prerogative of assigning out-of-district pupils to the school they feel has the most space. In this instance it will be Third Street Elementary School for elementary school children.

The grant proposal for a project to alleviate problems attendant to desegregation, for which resubmission was approved by the board, will seek to provide a specialist in human relations who will be assigned to work with the schools and the community.

Board member Harding Sugg commented "I like the idea the person to head such a program can be one of our own choice and not someone sent down to us."

Once the project is approved, funds will be granted to hire a person who will work closely as a liaison between the schools and the public. "How good the program will be depends on the effectiveness of the person chosen," Dr. Cleetwood commented.

One non-scheduled item discussed was insurance for two buildings at the C. M. Eppes High School. These two buildings were not accepted in the general public and institutional coverage provided for other buildings and contents.

Two choices were noted for the board — to pay a 51 cents per $100 valuation for replacement costs of approximately $350,000, which would amount to amount $1,785 insurance costs; or to approve taking out insurance based on the actual cost at 15 cents per $100 valuation. Board members voted for the latter course.

Tobacco Barn Fires In Pitt Equal Last Year's

Tobacco barn fires in Pitt County on Tuesday reached a total of 87, the number of fires reported for the entire season last year.

"As the number has already equaled that of last year," Mike Worthington, Pitt County Fire Marshal commented, "I'm afraid this year's record will surpass last year's by at least a few."

One bright spot Worthington pointed out, however, is that of the latest fires reported, a number have been those resulting in no damage. "By no damage I refer to those cases where perhaps one stick had fallen, caught fire and had been spotted and the blaze put out before firemen arrived," Worthington explained.

"Damage at most in such cases amounted to the loss of one or two sticks of tobacco."

The tally through noon Tuesday, includes 24 barn fires reported since the last report furnished by Worthington. Information listed for these show date and time, name of farm or owner of farm, and the estimated damage. A $2,000 damage represents total loss of barn and tobacco.

August 18 — 12:10 a.m. Frank Hart farm, south of Ayden, $2,000. (This was a second complete loss for Hart, who also lost a barn on August 13). 12:42 a.m. Bill Little farm, near Reedy Branch Church, $1,500; and 11:21 a.m. Bert Green farm, on the New Bern Highway, no damage.

Try Forcing Compliance

RALEIGH (AP) — The U. S. Justice Department is going to court to try to force North Carolina to comply with the Voting Rights Act of 1970 which lowers the voting age to 18 and outlaws the voter literacy test.

Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan said his office had been told the suit would be filed in U. S. District Court at Raleigh.

The Board of Elections decided at its last meeting not to comply with the new law until its constitutionality had been determined.

"We more or less expected" legal action by the Justice Department, Alex Brock, executive secretary of the board, said Tuesday.

Brock contends that the U.S. Constitution leaves it to each state to set its voting requirements and that the North Carolina constitution establishes the age as 21.

He and other opponents of the new law also contend the voting age can be changed nationally only by a constitutional amendment, not simply an act of Congress.

The voter literacy test is used in 61 of North Carolina's 100 counties. Brock said the test was upheld in 1959 by the U.S. Supreme Court.

The Justice Department has filed suits against Arizona and Idaho.

Charge Driver In Tuesday Mishap

Loran Edward Norris, 51, of 1305 Evergreen Dr. was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of a 6:30 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Sunset Avenue and Pine Street.

Police reported the Norris car collided with a vehicle driven by Jesse Ray Daughtridge, 37 of 309 Hillcrest Dr. and caused an estimated $800 damage to each of the two vehicles.

No injuries were reported.

Virginia Dare Born Just 383 Years Ago This Week

By H. G. JONES
N.C. Dept. Archives & History
Written for the AP
RALEIGH (AP) — The first child of English parents in the New World was born on Roanoke Island 383 years ago this week and was a member of what has come to be known as the Lost Colony.

Virginia Dare was born on Aug. 18, 1587, to Eleanor and Ananias Dare. Her mother was the daughter of John White, the governor of the colony, and her father was one of the governor's assistants.

Virginia's parents were part of the third English colony, including 17 women and 9 children, to be established on Roanoke Island (two earlier efforts had failed). Born only a few days after these colonists arrived, the child was named in honor of the new land, then called Virginia, which stretched from Nova Scotia to Florida.

One of the few other documented facts concerning the fate of Virginia Dare is that she was baptized on Sunday, Aug. 20, 1587—two days old. Her baptism and that a week earlier of Manteo, a friendly Indian chief, are said to have been the first Christian sacraments administered in North America.

Near the end of that same month in 1587, White sailed back to England with plans to return in the spring with supplies and additional colonists.

His daughter and new grandchild were among the 112 men, women, and children who remained on the island, never to be seen or heard from again.

Because of England's war with Spain and the resulting shortage of ships and supplies, it was three years before White could return to Roanoke. Even then he was little more than a passenger in a fleet of three ships commanded by Capt. James Watts, who appeared to be more interested in raiding Spanish ships along the way than in relieving the colony on Roanoke Island.

When White went ashore he found the fort and houses deserted, and the only sign left was the word "Croatoan" carved on a tree. Watts would not allow time for further exploration, and White was forced to return to England with no knowledge of the fate of his colony and his loved ones. There the known facts come to an end, and the mystery of the Lost Colony remains unsolved.

Among the theories of what took place are the colonists built a ship in which they attempted to sail to England and were lost at sea, that they were killed by the Spanish or the Roanoke Indians, or, as is suggested in Paul Green's symphonic drama, "The Lost Colony," that they joined the friendly Croatan Indians on what is now Hatteras Island. There is a tradition among both the Pamlico Indians of Robeson County and the Haliwar Indians of Halifax and Warren counties that they are descended from the lost colony of Roanoke, but contemporary documentary evidence is not available for proof.

Some say that tradition illuminates periods of the past which history leaves in darkness. One colorful tradition, steeped in fantasy though it may be, tells how the colonists took refuge among friendly Indians and how the infant Virginia Dare grew into fair maidenhood only to be changed by the sorcery of a rejected lover into a white doe. The doe is said to have roamed the lonely island leading a charmed life, and that finally "true love triumphed over magic and restored her to human form—only to result in her death from a silver arrow shot by a cruel chieftain."

The tradition of the white doe and the silver arrow has survived through three centuries, and it is said that from Maine to Florida lumbermen know the old superstition that to see a white deer is an evil omen.

The disappearance of John White's colony on Roanoke Island, and with it all documented trace of the first English child born on American soil, has been called "the tragedy of American Colonization." The story has been romanticized in "The Lost Colony," which is performed under the sponsorship of the Roanoke Island Historical Association nightly through Aug. 30 at the Waterside Theater at Fort Raleigh. Now in its thirtieth season, the drama has been one of the most successful outdoor productions in the country.

makes it easy for you to own a famous encyclopedia.

Volume No. 1 now on sale for a limited time only.

We're so confident that you'll want the complete set after looking through just one volume, we're offering Volume No. 1 at the trial price of

with any $3.00 food purchase.

Pick up a volume or two each week when you shop.

The publishers of this encyclopedia came to us with a good idea. An idea so good, in fact, that we're happy to pass it on to our customers.

Just imagine owning a handsome family encyclopedia for only $1.89 a volume. Starting this week, we're offering the Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia at that remarkably low price. And to prove to you what a fine value this encyclopedia really is, we're offering Volume No. 1 at the trial price of 25¢.

Don't let the low price fool you. This is a quality reference work in every sense of the word. The publishers called upon over 200 leading authorities, experts in their respective fields, including Nobel Prize winners, to help gather the information and to write the easily understandable text. It contains nearly 10,000 pages in 25 beautifully bound volumes. 7,000,000 words. 30,000 subjects. Over 5,000 pictures and illustrations. Plus a full-color World Atlas. It all adds up to a fine encyclopedia that can benefit every member of your family.

School-age children don't have to be coaxed to consult it frequently. They find new interest and excitement in study periods and their grades can improve noticeably. It's an excellent way to help your child work up to his full potential in school. Parents, too, find it useful and informative and often wonder how they ever did without it.

We won't quote the complete review by the Subscription Books Committee of the American Library Association*, but its final paragraph says:

"Because of its wide coverage of information in factual and clearly-written, well-illustrated succinct articles, and because of the convenience of its lightweight yet durable format, Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia is recommended for the purpose for which it is intended, that is, as a brief reference set, especially for home and family use."

The Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia can be offered at such an exceptionally low price because it's sold through supermarkets. In fact, the publisher has already sold more than 100 million encyclopedia volumes to smart families through supermarkets across the country.

Stop in today and see what the excitement is all about. Volume No. 1 is on sale right now. Pick up a volume or two each week when you shop and in no time at all you'll have the complete 25-volume set.

It's everything you'd expect a good encyclopedia to be.
And it's not expensive.

Shortage In Expert Care

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A shortage of trained health experts is crippling the delivery of effective care for mental disease, reports a group of psychiatrists.

"Children have it particularly tough," said Dr. Irving Phillips of the University of California's Langley Porter Institute.

"There are about 1.4 million children who need psychiatric care, but less than 500,000 are getting it.

"Less than 10 per cent of the mentally retarded who could benefit from help are getting that help."

"There are vacancies for trained psychiatrists all over the country but we just can't fill them," said Dr. L. Douglas Lenkowski of Western Reserve University in Cleveland.

"We must step up the capacity of the medical schools."

"In my mind, the situation is going to get worse before it gets better," said Dr. Alexander Simon, head of Langley Porter.

"There are three areas of serious social need—the aged, the mentally ill and alcoholism and drug abuse," he said.

"Once alcoholism and drug abuse are defined as health problems and not crimes, the need for health manpower may well be overwhelming."

Lone Indian In Statuary

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Why a lone Indian stands in the company of nine Roman gods and goddesses at the Louisville Water Co.'s 110-year-old stand pipe is a mystery.

The monument recently was designated to become a National Historical Landmark.

The late Henry Gerber, long-time president of the company, said in 1954 that stories have persisted of an 1890 tornado that toppled many of the statues and badly smashed one.

He said the water company directors probably were too pinched to have another goddess carved, so they bought a cheap Indian statue from a local monument company.

The only evidence of another statue being on the pedestal is an old pretornado photograph that shows what seems to be a female figure with one hand gracefully raised overhead in a dancing or flower-distributing pose on the Indian's pedestal.

CAR THEFTS

OTTAWA (UPI) — A total of 28,861 motor vehicles were stolen in Canada last year, a 16.4 per cent increase over 1968, the Dominion Bureau of statistics reports. Slightly more than 90 per cent of the stolen vehicles were recovered.

Two Hearings Set This Week

Two separate hearings connected with a recent complaint filed against the City School Board are scheduled to be heard this week.

The first is a hearing scheduled tonight at 7:30 p.m. before Superior Court Judge Joshua James in the Superior Courtroom in City Hall.

In this hearing, the plaintiff, Barry C. Henderson, a minor represented by his guardian, Christopher Henderson, seeks to have a preliminary injunction made restraining the city school board from implementing the approved school plan insofar as it deals with approximately 200 white elementary students in the Hillsdale-Carolina Heights and surrounding areas assigned to attend Sadie Sautter under the 1970 school plan.

Judge James is now holding a two-week mixed term of the Superior Court and has agreed to conduct the evening hours hearing.

An answering action, filed with the Superior Court on behalf of the school board, seeks to have the complaint dismissed as not being within the jurisdiction of the Superior Court.

The second hearing connected with this complaint has been set for 10:00 a.m. Friday morning in the chambers of Federal District Court Judge John Larkins, Jr. This hearing has been set to hear a motion for intervention by the plaintiff, Henderson, in the original complaint filed by Douglas Edwards and others last November.

Rotary Club Inducts 3

Induction of three new members into the Greenville Rotary Club was conducted by Past President Sam B. Underwood, Jr. Monday evening.

The new Rotarians are Donald Davis, of Sunnyside Eggs, Inc., Cliff G. Moore, recently appointed business manager of East Carolina University, and Capt. Alvin Smith of the Greenville Corps of The Salvation Army.

Following the induction, Johnathan W. Overton, program chairman for the evening, presented for brief "autobiographical" reviews the Rev. Howard G. Dawkins, Donald Davis, and Dr. James W. Butler.

President J. W. Pou announced the official visit of Rotary District Governor Robert L. Stallings, Jr. of New Bern will be made next Monday, Aug. 24.

To Demonstrate New Harvester

Sam Weeks, Pitt County Agriculture Extension Agent has announced the first area showing of a new type of tobacco harvester. The machine, which will be explained and operated in a demonstration by a representative of the manufacturer, will be shown at 2:00 p.m. on the Howard Moye, Jr., farm. The Moye farm is located between Farmville and Falkland (nearer Falkland) at King's Crossroads.

Farmers and other interested persons are invited to the demonstration.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.

Rather warm and humid with scattered mostly afternoon and evening thundershowers through Sunday.

Police . . .

Linwood Langley at Carolina Telephone said that the company received from 200-250 reports of telephone trouble as a result of the storm yesterday but the majority were attributed to wet cables and involved minor repairs.

A near-tragedy occurred in the county yesterday afternoon in the Reedy Branch area when five members of the James A. Little family of Winterville were injured when a lightning flash struck near them.

A physician said that Mrs. Little and four of her children were injured but all were treated and released at the Pitt Memorial Hospital emergency room.

The family was reportedly working in tobacco when the lightning strike occurred.

commented that he has always found the officers cooperative and that they stay out when he asks them to for the good of the patient.

The air conditioning in the operating suite needs to be adjusted but has not been done because of the difficulty of getting the servicemen at a time when the rooms are not in use, the board was told. Lately the rooms are being used many times until late at night and even on Sunday, it was reported.

Board chairman Woodrow Wooten reported on a meeting attended by the hospital trustees executive board and several County Commissioners recently. The group went to Raleigh to talk to representatives of the Medical Care Commission recently. Medical Care frowns on adding to the old hospital, Wooten said, and has even said that it will not help financially with any renovation and annexation plans. The group was encouraged to reconsider finding a new site and building a completely new facility.

Further discussions will be held by County Commissioners, the Hospital Trustees executive board, and representatives of the medical staff tonight at 8 p.m. in the staff conference room at the hospital.

Seat 8 For Barber Jury

Eight jurors had been seated by 11 a.m. today in the case of Elmo Barber on trial in Pitt County Superior Court on charges of rape and burglary, both capital crimes.

Barber, a Negro, and Thomas Earl Stocks, white, have both been charged with assaulting a white woman in a Brook Valley home here April 27.

Both were arraigned on the charges before Judge Joshua S. James Monday. The state elected to try the two defendants separately and the selection of a jury in the Barber case began yesterday.

Five jurors, including one Negro, were seated yesterday. Three all white, were chosen before 11 a.m. today.

One of those chosen yesterday is a minister, the Rev. C. H. Overman Jr. of Ayden. More than a score of prospective jurors have been questioned and rejected.

FARMVILLE

The Farmville Golf and Country Club will play host to the Farmville Kiwanis Club's first annual tournament, to be played August 29 and 30. The tourney will have five flights, with prizes going to the first four scorers in each flight.

Proceeds from the tournament will go to various Kiwanis projects, including the Boys Home and Little League. The entry fee is $15.00.

Those desiring to enter can contact Frank Allen or pro Ed Smoot.

BROOK VALLEY

A new women's course record was set recently at Brook Valley Country Club. Reigning North Carolina Women's champ Sandy Barnhill did the honors with a 71, one-under par. She was playing with Jeanette Thomas when she established the new mark.

Don Conley recently turned in a round of 69, which included eight birdies.

Bobby Boone recorded a 70 for one of his better rounds.

The annual Father - Son Golf Tournament is planned for the club on Sunday, August 30. Entrants may sign up in the pro shop.

Furman University's head football coach Bob King took top honors in the golf tournament held at the Southern Conference Football Rouser last weekend at Hot Springs, Va. While King was the only coach who admitted his score, an 89, the real honors came with a hole-in-one.

Other coaches who played in the tournament included VMI's Vito Ragazzo, William & Mary's Lou Holtz, and Davidson's Dave Fagg.

Richmond's Frank Jones and ECU's Mike McGee didn't play, and The Citadel's Red Parker was unable to attend because of illness in his family. McGee is a golfer, but elected to take a side trip into West Virginia to do a little recruiting instead of joining in the golf.

Yours truly took third place in the writers' division of the tournament. We won't talk about scores.

Twins Get 2nd Win In A Row

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Minnesota Twins know what a slump is all about and now Earl Weaver of Baltimore claims his club is in one.

There's one big difference, though. While the Twins recently dropped nine straight games, the high-flying Orioles continue to win.

Heritages Surprises

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Valiant beat Intrepid, but the surprise yacht on the first day of the final trials to select the U.S. defender for the America's Cup yachting race next month was the Florida boat, Heritage.

A disappointment in the June and July trials, Heritage, skippered by Charley Morgan of St. Petersburg, Fla., impressed everyone Tuesday by a decisive victory over Weatherly. Her winning margin was six minutes, 19 seconds or more than one mile over the 24.3-mile course.

The gleeful Morgan, her designer and sailmaker, did a few dance steps on deck to the tune of Dixie when the Heritage docked.

"I had great difficulty steering the boat earlier in the season, but she steers beautifully now," Morgan commented. "She's docile and quite manageable. The worst thing was the unsatisfactory steering ratio in the primary rudder. Once we got that cured, it made a big difference."

Valiant capitalized on a substantial windshift to beat Intrepid by 42 seconds. Intrepid was caught in a becalmed area on the first leg and had to almost double back on the course reaching the breeze. By that time it was too late, although she gained on the remaining legs.

Today Valiant will oppose Heritage and Intrepid sails against Weatherly.

The selection committee has until Sept. 13 to name the U.S. defender to face either the Australian Gretel II or the French boat, France, for the America's Cup starting Sept. 15 off Newport.

Gretel and France start their own elimination series on Friday to determine the challenger.

Tuesday night, the Twins came up with some ninth inning heroics, getting a clutch two-run single off the bat of pinch-hitter Jim Holt to nip the New York Yankees 8-7, giving Minnesota its second straight win after their near-disastrous skid.

And the Orioles, now leading the Yanks by 10 games in the American League East, downed Milwaukee 3-0 behind the fivehit pitching of Jim Hardin and the hitting and fielding of Merv Rettenmund.

"We're on a winning streak during a slump," said Weaver, the skipper of the Orioles. "We haven't been hitting the ball at all lately, but we've won our last four."

It was also Baltimore's seventh triumph in their last nine starts. However, what Weaver says might be true. The hard-hitting Birds still stroked three hits off Brewers' loser Marty Pattin. But one of them was Rettenmund's 15th homer of the season, a solo clout in the fourth inning. The center fielder also saved Hardin's shoutout with two catches in the fourth, grabbing a sinking drive by Mike Walton and going to the fence for Mike Hegan's belt.

In other games, California stayed on the Twins' heels, 4½ games behind the West leaders, with a 12-1 trouncing of Cleveland, Detroit whipped Oakland 3-1, Boston clubbed Chicago 8-4 and Kansas City ripped Washington 12-8.

In the National League, San Diego mauled Chicago 11-3, New York downed Houston 7-1, Pittsburgh tripped San Francisco 6-2, Atlanta edged Philadelphia 3-2, Montreal topped Cincinnati 7-4 and Los Angeles trimmed St. Louis 6-2.

Holt's soft liner to center off reliever Lindy McDaniel, snapped the Yankee's winning string at four games.

Rookie Danny Thompson opened the ninth with the Twins trailing 7-6 and dropped a bunt single. After a forceout, Tony Oliva doubled, putting two runners aboard. Then Holt, on a 2-2 pitch, batting for winning reliever Tom Hall, stroked his winning hit.

John Ellis had three hits, including a double and homer for the Yankees while Danny Cater had a two-run shot.

Legion Award Winners

Three members of the Greenville American Legion team were singled out for individual honors last night as the Legion played host to the players and their parents. Jimmy Paige was honored as the team's Most Valuable

Pitt Athletic Plans Talked At Meeting

Athletic plans for the Pitt County Schools were worked out yesterday in a meeting between Pitt officials and the executive secretary of the North Carolina High School Athletic Association.

Superintendent Ott Alford, the high school principals and coaches attended the meeting with Simon Terrell and his assistant Charles Adams in the offices of the Board of Education.

According to Alford, five schools in the county will field football teams this fall. Ayden, Grifton and Farmville will operate as single units as they always have. Ayden and Farmville, however, have been given permission to use players from South Ayden and H. B. Sugg on their teams.

North Pitt High School, scheduled to begin operations when the term opens, and Conley High, set for a later opening, with both operate athletically as separate units, fielding football teams for the first time. They will play a predominately junior varsity schedule.

During basketball season, Farmville is currently a member of the Eastern Plains Conference, and would qualify this way.

It was also decided that if enough players at Sugg and South Ayden are available, teams might also be entered from these schools in the 1-A classification, pending the schools joining of the NCHSAA. Both are members of the old North Carolina High School Athletic Conference.

"This would make it easier for the schools in the county to get a full schedule in basketball," Terrell said. "It's going to be hard enough since many schools already have full schedules. But if the county fielded six teams, it would help matters in this field."

A later meeting among county principals was to determine whether such a six-team group was advisable. Some coaches and principals felt that there might be bad feelings develop between schools that are going to merge shortly if they played together as rivals. Terrell however said that he would tend to doubt this.

Work was also started in planning for the formation of a new conference in this area, to be a 3-A size group. It would include the four Pitt County Schools, plus four or five others.

Terrell pointed out that there is going to be a lot of change in this classification shortly. "The Albemarle Conference should be moving to 3-A shortly, in the area where the Northeastern already is 3-A. The Eastern Plains is now 3-A, and there are several other schools in the Eastern part of the state which should be thinking of 3-A ranking. So there is a lot of realignment which might take place."

Several schools in the immediate area were discussed as possible members of a new conference, and Alford said that he would contact these schools and see if they might be interested in attending a meeting in the very near future to discuss interest in such a conference.

Clay Group To Seek Frazier

ATLANTA (AP) — A group hoping to promote a heavyweight championship fight between Cassius Clay and Joe Frazier in Atlanta Oct. 26 planned to meet today in Philadelphia with Frazier's representatives, who still say they know nothing about the fight.

"My associated, Jesse Hill, and I are going up there to talk with Joe Frazier's people," State Sen. Leroy Johnson of the promoting group House of Sports Inc., said Tuesday.

"We are going to lend what helping hand we can in getting the contract signed," Johnson said. "We are hopeful of cementing all the plans for the fight here."

The manager of world heavyweight champion Frazier, Yank Durham, has said he has had no communication from anyone on a proposed Atlanta fight.

"I haven't received anything in the mail and I am not interested in a fight with Clay," the Atlanta Constitution quoted Durham as saying. "I would not fight Clay on Oct. 26 or any other time until I have fulfilled my verbal agreement with (light heavyweight champion) Bob Foster."

The fight, licensed by the city, has stirred considerable controversy because of Clay's conviction for draft evasion.

Gov. Lester Maddox, who first said he approved of the fight, changed his stand after his original remarks came under criticism from political candidates. Maddox, barred by law from succeeding himself, is running for lieutenant governor in the September Democratic primary.

In a statement released Tuesday, Maddox said, "If Clay is ready to publicly proclaim his readiness to fight for his country, then now is the time for him to be heard. Until he does this, or the conviction against him is removed, the City of Atlanta should not permit the proposed fight."

The governor has no direct power over the fight since local ordinances regulate such exhibitions. Mayor Sam Massell has declined to take sides, saying that whether or not the fight can be staged is a legal matter.

"I always carry this rope just in case my belt breaks." —Will Rogers.
Perhaps you never had to use a rope instead of a belt. Some of us like Will Rogers, had the misfortune of dropping trousers. In the course of masculine pursuits that used to happen.
Today however, this is not a probable hazard. Belts are not only stronger than in bygone days but more attractive.
There has been what belt manufacturers call a "revolt against tyranny". Tyranny of dull belts has been defeated. Modern belts come in a great assortment of colors. Different and attractive leathers are now used.

Buckles are stronger and better looking. They do not require fumbling to fasten. There are various lengths to fit everyone.

Davidson Hopes Ride On New Quarterback

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(Second of a series)

"Anytime you lose five All-Conference football players, you're in trouble," Davidson football coach Dave Fagg says. And when those five include passing whiz Gordon Slade and two great ends, George Hannen and Mike Kelley, the trouble tends to look a little larger.

So Dave Fagg, who replaces Homer Smith at Davidson, feels that there must be a lot of luck around Davidson if the Wildcats are to regain the Southern Conference title this season.

"We've got 21 lettermen back, but this is misleading," Fagg pointed out. "A lot of those guys got in just enough to letter and don't really have the experience."

The Wildcats have several weaknesses this year, and right now it looks like quarterback is the key spot. "We have an untried man there right now," the coach said. That man is Mark Thompson.

"He's a fierce competitor and has better speed than either Jimmy Poole or Slade," Fagg said. But right now, potential is all he does have. Last year, he ran 15 times for 35 yards, and hit on five of 12 pass attempts for 75 yards, showing his lack of true experience.

"Our offensive backfield is mostly inexperienced, and the offensive line is neither deep nor big. We lost two more people we expected to have out just recently, and we don't know how this is going to hurt us yet," Fagg added.

Fagg sees a lot of good, however, in the return of Mike Mikolayunas at the fullback slot. "He is a super young man," the coach said. "He's a good prototype prospect, and is going to be an awful lot of help to us." Last year, big Mike (6-1, 200) ran 101 times for 318 yards, and average of 3.2 per lug.

Since Fagg is taking over, he's changing things around somewhat for the Wildcats. "Our offense is sometime like the Texas look, but you always make your own personal changes, so I guess it's really the Davidson Look."

While there is inexperience at quarterback, and experience at fullback, the halfback slots are relatively untried. There will be Dave Mockbee and Johnny Ribet. Ribet carried 12 times last year, and Mockbee has been moved over from the defensive unit.

At the ends there will be new faces with Hannen and Kelley gone. The top prospect is Rick Lyon, who is also the return specialist. He caught 13 passes last year for 248 yards and two touchdowns. Joining him at end is Jim Ellison, who saw only sparse duty last year.

There is experience in the line. Back are Stu Kennedy and John Harper at tackles and Len Baugham and Frank Rader at guards. There will be a newcomer at center however in Jim Long.

Defensively, the team was hurt by the loss just weeks ago of end Ricky Snipes. Replacing him will be Steve Epperson, while Jim Buchanan adds experience at the other end. Ken Toherow and Sean McCormick will handle the tackles.

At linebackers will be Chris Giles, Woody Montgomery and Robert Norris. Nick Dumich and Terry Woodlief are the halfbacks with John Barbee at rover and either Rick Kawarrah or Jack Ballenger at safety. There is a lot of experience here, with nearly every spot held by an upperclassman.

One sophomore may break into the defensive lineup, Jimmy Hardison of Williamston. He has been penciled in for backup duty at either middle linebacker or at left defensive end, and right now, according to Fagg, the end spot looks like his best bet.

Davidson's kicking game will be handled by Harold Wilkerson, who boots the ball well, but needs experience and consistency.

"A lot has been said about our scholarship situation," Fagg said. "We have a lot of money problems, and we can't spend the money that the college has. So we're going to have to try to raise it outside. Security is a night and day thing for us, but we are going to do the best we can."

"I have great confidence. The conference has done a lot of improving lately, and Davidson is going to keep up with the rest. "We will not be a doormat for anybody."

Red Miscues Give Expos Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Riverfront Stadium was three-deep in Montreal catchers—but the Cincinnati Reds were the ones who needed more big gloves.

The injury-riddled Expos, using three catchers in their starting lineup, capitalized on four Cincinnati errors to score five unearned runs Tuesday night and hung on for a 7-4 victory that ended the Reds' winning string at three games.

Rookie left fielder Bernie Carbo committed the most damaging miscue when he muffed Coco Laboy's bases-loaded liner in the fifth inning, allowing three Montreal runs to score.

Expos Manager Gene Mauch started John Bateman behind the plate and part-time receivers Ron Brand and John Boccabella at shortstop and first base respectively.

Each contributed one hit, but it was the Reds' fielding lapses—by Carbo, third baseman Tony Perez, second baseman Tommy Helms and relief pitcher Wayne Granger—that made the difference.

Elsewhere in the National League, Pittsburgh whipped San Francisco 6-2; the New York Mets slapped Houston 7-1; Atlanta nipped Philadelphia 3-2; Los Angeles beat St. Louis 7-2 and San Diego upended the Chicago Cubs 11-3.

In the American League, Baltimore blanked Milwaukee 3-0; Detroit trimmed Oakland 3-1; Minnesota shamed the New York Yankees 8-7; Kansas City battered Washington 12-8; Boston downed the Chicago White Sox 8-4 and California mauled Cleveland 12-1.

Brand scored a tainted run in the second inning at Cincinnati, reaching first on Helms' error and scoring on Perez' wild throw. After Adolfo Phillips doubled home a run in the fifth against first-time starter Mel Behney, Carbo flubbed Laboy's two-out shot to give Expos' right-hander Steve Renko a 5-0 lead.

Renko then got into the juggling act, committing a pair of errors in the bottom of the fifth to help the Reds strike back for four runs. Another error, by Boccabella, and Bobby Tolan's two-run double kept the rally alive.

But Gary Sutherland doubled home a Montreal run in the sixth, then singled in the eighth and eventually scored the final marker on Granger's boot.

The Pirates retained their 2½-game lead in the East Division by snapping a four-game San Francisco victory streak as Bob Robertson delivered three runs with a triple and his 19th homer. Steve Blass pitched seven strong innings for Pittsburgh and picked up his first triumph since July 4.

Gary Gentry, backed by a six-run Met explosion in the third, fired a four-hitter against Houston. Gentry also drilled a run-scoring double in the third as the Mets kayoed Larry Dierker with five straight hits before he could get a man out.

Clete Boyer lifted the Braves past Philadelphia with a ninth-inning leadoff homer off southpaw Chris Short, who had allowed only four hits through the eighth. Knuckleballer Hoyt Wilhelm earned the victory in relief, pinning the Phils with their fourth straight loss.

Wes Parker stroked three singles and a double, helping Los Angeles rookie Sandy Vance beat the Cardinals with a five-hitter. Vance also poked two singles in the Dodgers' 15-hit attack.

Ed Spiezio's grand-slam homer and solo shots by Clarence Gaston and Ollie Brown powered the Padres past the Cubs. Spiezio's bases-loaded blast was the first for San Diego this year—but the record-breaking 41st in the league.

Joe's Got Problems, But He Wants Peace

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — The young boy jammed a yearbook and a felt pen into Joe Namath's hand, and over his autograph, the New York Jets' quarterback wrote one word: "Peace."

Nothing may be more symbolic of Joe Namath's plight—for peace is something Joe Namath wishes he had.

Joe Namath has long hair, earthy good looks and a $100,000-a-year contract. Joe Namath has a brown Jaguar to bring him to practice. Joe Namath has the idolatry of countless fans of both sexes and all ages.

But Joe Namath does not have peace.

And Joe Namath said as much Tuesday as he rejoined the Jets, bringing with him not only his admitted talent for completing a pass but all the problems that have plagued him during this summer of his greatest unhappiness.

Not necessarily in order of importance, the problems are:

—Trouble with his knees that apparently present, at least in his own mind, enough problems to make him say: "I don't think I can play."

—Mental problems, possibly stemming from his knees but compounded by other factors, that prevent him from meal or drinking a cup of coffee before a game and make him "sonder if it's worth it."

—"A business problem," defined only in those terms and a problem about which he would not elaborate.

Namath talked about all those problems in an unusual scene that took place outside the back door of the Jets' training room on the Hofstra University campus where Namath spoke to radio and television people with newspapermen barred.

On his arrival at camp, wearing striped belt bottoms with a blue shirt open at the neck, Namath had refused to talk to newspaper people because "Everything that's been written about me is a lie."

He began by explaining his absence, pointing out: "I was not in the right frame of mind mentally."

Then he talked about the final game of the 1969 season, a 13-6 playoff loss to Kansas City that eliminated the Jets from contention in the American Football League.

"That was a horrible experience—being humiliated like I felt we were because we scored six points," Namath explained. "It leaves a bad taste. I didn't know whether I wanted to do that again."

"I didn't know if I wanted to get up in the morning and be sick. Every time before a game, I can't even eat or drink a cup of coffee. I didn't like that feeling. You get chills in the morning and your stomach is upset. You wonder if it's worth it."

Have those kind of problems been getting worse in recent years?

"Physically and mentally it's gotten worse," he answered. "I used to look at the game differently. It used to be my whole life. It used to be everything I lived for. Logically, and realistically, it's not now."

"It is when I'm on the football field with the team—but I've got a lot of things I have to do other than football."

And physically?

"I don't think I can play," he said. "I'm going to find out in the next couple or three weeks."

Then he talked about relations with linebacker Al Atkinson, who had criticized Namath's lifestyle and pointed out:

"I respect Al's opinion. Maybe I should have done some things differently in the past. — don't know."

While Namath arrived in camp, another less-celebrated hold out was making news with the Minnesota Vikings.

Defensive end Carl Eller, an All-Pro, threatened to quit football because of his contract dispute with the Vikings. General Manager Jim Finks said he was fining Eller $100 for not reporting and $200 a day until he shows up at the Mankato, Minn., training camp.

"There's better things to do than playing ball and not getting paid," said the 6-foot-6, 255-pound Eller, one of the key front four linemen who made the Vikings the defensive terrors of National Football League.

Elsewhere, the Philadelphia Eagles announced that offensive tackle Dave Graham and safety-punter Bill Bradley were operated on for knee injuries and would be lost for six weeks. The Eagles also cut two rookies—tight end Dick Barnhorst and defensive tackle Robert Jones.

The Atlanta Falcons got full-back Art Malone back in camp Tuesday. He had missed practice since going home last Friday in a contract dispute. The Falcons also trimmed two defensive backs—Roy Robinson and Jim Hatcher.

Quarterback Roman Gabriel, who missed last week's exhibition game last Saturday, worked out with the Los Angeles Rams Tuesday. He is expected to play against Oakland Saturday night. The Rams placed defensive end Greg Schumacher on the injured list after X-rays indicated two fractured vertebrae in the lower back.

Backup quarterback Roger Staubach will start for Dallas against Green Bay in an exhibition game Saturday night, the Cowboys announced.

MOSCOW (AP) — Paul Westphal of Southern California was high scorer with 18 points as the United States Olympic basketball team suffered its first defeat in eight games Tuesday night. The Soviet Union beat the Americans 89-61.

Opening Round Play For Lady Amateurs

By KAROL STONGER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DARIEN, Conn. (AP) — Two members of the U.S. Curtis Cup team, medalist Martha Wilkinson and 17-year-old Nancy Hager of Dallas, Tex., meet in the opening round of match play in the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship today. The 21-year-old Miss Wilkinson from Whittier, Calif., won medalist honors Tuesday with a two-over-par 150 for the 36 holes of the two-day qualifying competition. Miss Hager qualified with a 159.

Match play is an entirely different game, Miss Wilkinson said during her qualifying rounds. But she wouldn't say whether she preferred medal or match play.

British Curtis Cupper Mary Everand of Yorkshire, England, who meets another U.S. team member, Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., of Indianapolis, admits she likes medal play.

"The course is static," she said. "But your opponent isn't. If she has an eagle or a birdie, then you know you have to have one, too."

Miss Everand qualified with a 160 after shooting an 85 Tuesday. Mrs. Dye was one of two players to par the course to end up at 154.

Sudden-death play at dusk put two other members of the U.S. team and a college physical education instructor into today's play.

Shelley Hamlin, Fresno, Calif., runner-up in the 1969 event, Cynthia Hill 22, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Doris Kostrinsky, the 25-year-old Ithaca College instructor from Armonk, N.Y., were among six players one stroke back of the 29 who qualified on the 6,240-yard, par-74 Wee Burn Country Club Course.

The trio eliminated three others—Delancey Smith of Snyder, N.Y., Judith Whalon of Providence, R.I., and Mrs. A. Sherrburne Hart of Short Hills, N.J.

Seven members of the U.S. Curtis Cup team qualified for match play. Only Jane Fassinger of New Wilmington Pa., at 163, failed to make the cut. All but one of seven British Curtis Cup members who entered also qualified.

Pete Gets 1st Taste Of Pros

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (AP) — Pete Maravich strapped his pistols on once more—this time to play in a pro game—but Dave Cowens did most of the straight shooting.

Maravich, college basketball's all-time scoring king, said he was "thrilled" playing with the pros in the annual Maurice Stokes charity basketball game Tuesday night.

Maravich scored only 10 points, way below his college average, so Cowens took up the slack with 32 and led the Red Auerbachs over the Dolph Schayes 86-82 Kutsher's Country Club.

The Pistol, however, wasn't to deny the crowd of 2,000 a look at his formidable passing talents. He drew "oohs" and "aahs" from the fans while firing the ball from illogical, off-balance positions.

Maravich wound up with 12 assists wearing an Atlanta Hawks uniform for the first time in a game.

While the former Louisiana State great was doing his passing thing, Cowens—Boston's first-round draft pick from Florida State—also pulled down 22 rebounds and blocked a half dozen shots.

The performance earned the 6-foot-9, 240-pound forward the game's Most Valuable player trophy.

Although not shooting well—4-for-18—Maravich played a sturdy defensive game, not one of his fortes in college ball. And nine of his points were scored in a last-period spurt as he teamed with Cowens to bring the Auerbachs a last-minute victory.

More than a million dollars worth of National Basketball Association talent assembled at Kutsher's for the game to honor Stokes, a former player who died this year. Proceeds from the game will be used to aid NBA players who might require financial assistance for disability or illness.

Jo Jo White of Boston chipped in with 15 points and Jack Marjen of Baltimore added 10 for the winners. Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia and Cazzie Russell of New York led the Schayes' team with 16 each.

Stockton Back On The Course

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

SUTTON, MASS. (AP) — Ex-hubert Dave Stockton makes his first start as the new PGA champion Thursday as one of the favorites in the $16,000 Avco Golf Classic.

Stockton, who held off Arnold Palmer in last week's PGA Championship to move, from the "who's he" class to membership in golf's who's who, has a precedent for being named the favorite.

He won the Cleveland and Milwaukee titles in consecutive appearances in 1968, his last previous victories before the PGA triumph.

The new champ will be making one of his last appearances. He said he planned to play only three more weeks, plus representing the United States in the World Cup competition in Argentina, before packing it in for the year.

Some other top candidates for the $32,000 first prize include multiple winners Billy Casper, Lee Trevino and Dick Lotz.

Records May Tumble At Meet

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When Americans meet Americans, says Debbie Meyer, "everything comes apart — particularly swimming record books."

Debbie is only 18 but she ranks as a leading authority on the subject. The Sacramento lass, who competes beginning Thursday in the 1970 National AAU championships at Los Angeles Swim Stadium, was 16 when she became the fourth woman to receive the Sullivan Award as the best amateur athlete of the world.

Some meet officials have said there is potential for 19 world records in the four-day meet. Neither Debbie nor any other competitor would say how many marks would fall.

But competitors agreed Tuesday that the National AAU championship meet is second only to the Olympic Games in stature. Swimmers point for the annual tournament as a mini-Olympics because of numerous foreign entrants.

"Coaching and training are better—harder. We put in more hours and swim more yards each year," said Debbie. "Records are made to be broken." She said she has been training seven days a week and swimming 13,000 yards during that period to prepare for the AAU. She's the world record holder in the 200, 400 and 1500-meter freestyles and Olympic champion at 200, 400 and 800 meters.

Debbie calls the stadium here "the fastest pool in the world." She notes 78-degree water, water level and gutters which cut resistance and make fewer waves.

Asked who she fears most in the competition, Debbie said: "Oh, scads of people."

Sherm Shavoor, coach of Arden Hills Swim Club in Sacramento, gives credit for Debbie's development in the distance events to her teammate, Mike Burton.

Besides Miss Meyer and Burton, the lineup of world class talent includes Mark Spitz, also under Shavoor's tutelage and holder of three world records; Gary Hall of Garden Grove, Calif., the first man to capture four individual events at the AAU Indoor championships last spring, and Susan Atwood of Long Beach, Calif., who broke two American records last year.

On his arrival at camp, wearing striped belt bottoms with a blue shirt open at the neck, Namath had refused to talk to newspaper people because "Everything that's been written about me is a lie."

Then he talked about the final game of the 1969 season, a 13-6 playoff loss to Kansas City that eliminated the Jets from conten-

Group Will Try Solve Shoe-Sizing Confusion

By JOHN A. CALLCOTT GENEVA (UPI)—International shoe sizing is a mess.

The British system, for example, is evolved from 17th century barleycorn measures. The interval between sizes is one-third of an inch, or 80 millimeters. Children's shoes go up to size 13 1/2 and then there is an arbitrary reversion to size one for adults.

American sizes for women's shoes are generally 1 1/2 sizes in advance of the British. So a woman wearing a British size five shoe finds a shoe imported from the United States and fitting her would be size 6 1/2.

Curiously, for men's shoes the American size is only one-half a size ahead of the British measure.

If this is muddling, take the French shoe. The Paris measuring system, which is used by most European countries, is based on a size interval of two-thirds of a centimeter.

The International Organization for Standardization (ISO), based in Geneva, intends to do something about all this.

It has decided to set up a new technical committee of international experts. Twenty countries have so far agreed to participate. ISO Technical Committee number 137 will work out of the French Standards Organization, which belongs to the ISO.

The new committee will carry on work done up to now by an expert group of European footwear representatives, which has developed a proposal for an international shoe-sizing system called "Mondopoint."

This system is based not only on foot length but also width which, in expert language, is "the girth measured at the base of the toes."

There is, however, a limit on the sizes the ordinary retailer can be expected to stock and, as foot lengths vary considerably, "customers with feet of unusual size must expect to go to a specialist shop," the ISO says.

One of the things the ISO wants to prevent above all is for shoes sized on the Mondopoint system to be sold alongside existing shoes. The confusion then would be great indeed.

And another complication lies in the fact, noted by the ISO, that "a person's left foot is frequently smaller or larger than his right foot."

The Mondopoint system which, it is hoped, will save the situation, is based on marking with two numbers. The first number is the size, indicated by the length of the foot measured in millimeters. The second is the width index, expressed as a percentage of the length. Thus the numbers 240-95 mean a foot length of 240 millimeters and a girth of 228 millimeters, because 95 per cent of 240 is 228.

Hollywood Sees Little Hope Of Tax Exemption

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The desperate condition of the film industry was underscored last week when labor and management joined to seek a 20 per cent tax exemption on gross income for American-made movies.

The chances that Congress will respond favorably are slim. It is hard to convince the lawmakers that the once-booming movie business is at its lowest ebb in 50 years.

"Hollywood has always had the reputation of being a gold-rush town," says an industry observer. "How can you pay stars a million dollars a picture one year and then plead poverty the next?"

"The government has never lifted a finger to help the movie business in the past. There is no reason to believe it would start now. Especially with so many voters up in arms about dirty movies."

Still, the companies and the unions are hopeful. They see governmental assistance as the only way to extricate the industry from its economic ills.

The seriousness of those ills is demonstrated in the financial statements of the major companies, most of which are awash in red ink. Hollywood also has suffered chronic unemployment, with as much as 50 per cent of the labor force out of steady employment.

Strangely, the number of films being made in this country during 1970 is far ahead of 1969. During the first half of this year, 78 movies were started, compared to 74 for all of 1969.

But figures can deceive. More than half of those pictures are being made by independent companies, not the major studios. While some are legitimate productions, a great many are "skin flicks" or shoe-string ventures that employ no union members.

In an effort to gain employment for their members in such films, the craft and actor unions agreed to lower their contract terms for movies costing less than $1 million.

Increased production doesn't necessarily mean more work for the Hollywood labor force. Of the 28 movies being filmed domestically last week, 10 were working in the Hollywood studios. The rest were scattered across from Albuquerque to Manhattan.

For the past 10 years, television filming has helped ease the economic pinch. But the trend has been toward fewer filmed series as feature movies and variety hours take over more network programming.

Researcher Learns Smiles Revealing

By PETER J. SHAW
LONDON (UPI)—The way a person smiles reveals much about his emotions, a British psychiatric researcher says.

Dr. Ewan Grant of Birmingham University's department of psychiatry has for the past seven years been studying how humans communicate without words.

He has listed more than 100 "face to face" signals like a twitch of the eyebrows, a frown or the lowering of the eyelids. But it is the smile, he believes that probably tells most.

"While it is easy enough to lie with words, it is extremely difficult to disguise true emotions coming through in non-verbal signals such as smiles," he said.

"The way we use these signals can give extremely valuable information about the way we are thinking. The mouth is frequently used to express emotions and it is very difficult to disguise them."

Grant's research is expected to help doctors see how psychiatric patients react to certain questions about their lives—not only in what they say, which could be disguised, but through their non-verbal signals.

"It will also be useful to husbands and boy friends," he said. "To find out if she really means it when she says 'yes, darling, that would be lovely,' don't listen to her—watch her lips. That is where the truth will lie."

Grant has listed five types of smiles:

The upper smile, or "how do you do" smile, which is seen briefly in formal meetings and when family members greet one another. Only the upper teeth are uncovered and the mouth is generally just slightly open.

The simple smile, what Grant calls "a non-social smile, which occurs when a person is happy by himself." The lips curve back and up but remain together so there is no display of teeth.

The lip-in smile, a coy version of the upper smile, has the lower lip drawn in between the teeth. "It implies that the smiler feels in some way subordinate to the person he or she is meeting," Grant said.

The broad smile "is the one you really want to see," Grant said. "This occurs in situations of pleasurable excitement." The mouth is open, the lips curled back and both upper and lower teeth can be seen.

There are 18,904 public school districts in the United States.

Navy Finds It Difficult To Recruit Blacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy also established an office of Minority Affairs under Patridge's direction. Both are trying to reach into the nation's ghettos to sell the Navy as a career.

The lack of black faces in the Navy is one of the biggest drawbacks to recruiting. Only two black Navy officers are assigned to the Pentagon. Patridge says prospective Negro recruits ask why there aren't more black faces around.

Another factor hampering recruiting of black officer candidates is the battery of exams. "It's the same exam for everyone," says Toney. "But he's competing with 99.9 per cent middle class whites. And let's face it—their pace is just faster than ours."

Patridge, Toney and other black recruiters are scouring college campuses for black officer candidates. But big corporations, which only a few years ago were criticized for discriminating against blacks, have the same idea.

Big companies are offering fatter pay checks, about twice what the Navy offers. At the same time, says Toney, "blacks are asking themselves 'why should I volunteer for the military when the real problem is here at home?'"

For years, the Army and Air Force drew a large percentage of its black officers from college reserve officer training corps (ROTC programs) on several predominantly black campuses. It wasn't until 1968 the first Navy ROTC program was established on a predominantly Negro college—Prairie View in Texas. More are planned at other schools.

The Navy also is knocking at congressmen's doors on Capitol Hill, trying to impress on them the need to increase the number of Negro Navy Academy appointments to Annapolis where 52 blacks are now enrolled.

Although Patridge and Toney say the Navy has finally shown awareness of the need and problems in recruiting Negroes and other minority group members, they complain of what they describe as foot-dragging and the lack of response to their needs by some top ranking officers. "I haven't been refused cooperation, but the cooperation has been slow in coming," says Patridge.

Automated File System Is Fast

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI) — A new automated filing system with which a user can pull any microfilmed document from among millions within a maximum of 10 seconds has been developed.

The system uses a television camera to provide 10-second maximum access from any number of remote points to a multimillion page master file. The system developed by Varian Associates is so flexible that the single central file can range in size from 300,000 pages to hundreds of millions or even billions of pages with the same 10-second maximum speed available at remote terminals.

Congressional Panel Advises Dropping SST Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate efficiency panel recommended today that the government get out of the program to develop a supersonic transport plane.

The plane eventually could cost federal taxpayers $3 billion, earn little or no return and provide negligible public benefit, said a report by the joint subcommittee on economy in government.

The administration has proposed $290 million in SST development subsidies this year, which the group urged be stricken. Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman, is sponsoring an amendment to do so.

Dissenting from the majority recommendation was Rep. Clarence J. Brown, R-Ohio, who declared that if the panel "had been advising Queen Isabella, we would all still be in Barcelona waiting to prove the world round before daring the Atlantic."

The subcommittee report now goes to the full Joint Economic Committee.

Brown said the report "blurred facts with suspicions and used tortured and frequently contradictory logic to come to conclusions about future U.S. transportation policy which will not bear close examination."

Proxmire released the report at a news conference today and said in prepared remarks he is hopeful the Senate will approve soon his amendment to the Department of Transportation's budget bill.

"If Congress succeeds in reordering priorities this year," he said, "there is no doubt in my mind that the SST will wind up right at the bottom of the list, where it belongs."

Despite the $290 million sought this year, the report said "no assurance can be given that there is any upper limit on the eventual total cost to the Government" and added prospects are "remote" the government will eventually recover its investment.

The Boeing Co., which won the government's SST contract, would have to sell 300 of the faster-than-sound planes before it would return the federal loan, the report said. Subsequent royalties cease under the contract when the government earns 6 per cent on its investment.

The report said 6 per cent is a poor rate of return in today's market and added "our private witnesses did not feel prospects for selling 300 SSTs were very bright."

The report was endorsed by Sens. Proxmire, Len B. Jordan, R-Idaho, Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., and Reps. Wright Patman, D-Tex., Marsha W. Griffiths, D-Mich., William S. Moorehead, D-Pa., and Barber B. Conable Jr., R-N.Y. Brown alone dissented and Sens. John Sparkman, D-Ala., and Stuart Symington, D-Mo., neither endorsed nor dissented from the report.

In addition to what it considers specious financial arrangements between the Boeing Co. and the government, the subcommittee said employment potential of the SST program is "modest" with the prototype program alone worth 20,000 jobs.

The panel said the nation's unemployment problems should be attacked on a larger scale with "productive jobs providing goods and services which society regards as useful and desirable. The SST does not qualify on these grounds."

—Concluded that rather than promoting a favorable balance of payments by as much as $16 billion by 1990—as SST proponents have said—the plane's production in the United States could have an adverse balance of payments effect. The report said the $16 billion figure is based on assumed sales of 500 SSTs and on the further assumption that without an SST, U.S. airlines will import some 300 British-French SSTs—the Concorde.

The report called the assumptions "hard to accept."

—Said the Concorde, as a competitive threat, is still unproven in trans-Atlantic flights and even if development succeeds, "purchase is not likely to

Would Counteract In 'Womanhood Day'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A mother of eight is promoting Sept. 30 as a national "Celebration of Womanhood Day"—partly to counteract the women's liberation movement "Strike Day" Aug. 26.

Helen Andelin, 50, of Santa Barbara says each wife should wear her "most frilly, feminine be a commercially attractive proposition for the airlines."

—Said sonic boom, airport noise and contamination of the atmosphere make development at this time premature.

dress" Sept. 30 and should "sing before breakfast—or turn on music."

Each wife also should serve her husband "a delicious breakfast with a smile—in bed, if possible" and should "tell him how great he is."

The date has no special significance, she said. Aug. 26 is the 50th anniversary of the day the 19th Amendment went into effect, guaranteeing women the right to vote.

She said women she had contacted in several other cities—including Dallas, Denver and Phoenix—were helping her promote the womanhood day.

She said she also is mailing material to 5,000 persons on a list used by a foundation she established to handle a book, "Fascinating Womanhood," that she wrote five years ago.

"I didn't start out opposing women's liberation movements," Mrs. Andelin said in an interview from Santa Barbara. "I really didn't know much about them five years ago."

"But when I realized that women's lib was destroying our femininity that men love so much, I started speaking out against the movement."

She said most of the women's lib people are "basically unhappy people."

Her husband is a retired dentist who published her book. Her eight children range in age from 8 to 23

Fuel Oil Prices Expected Hike Electricity Rates

By JEAN HELLER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —
World-wide shortages and sky-rocketing prices for fuel oil have hit American utility companies so hard that the result could be across-the-board utility rate hikes for the nation's consumers, a high Nixon administration official says.

The crisis involves residual fuel oil, used principally by heavy industry and utility companies. Since the first of the year, the price of foreign-produced residual fuel oil has doubled and American fuel oil prices have increased by about 40 per cent.

Nearly two-thirds of the residual oil used in this country is imported. Utility companies are being hit hard," George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, said in an interview.

Asked if this meant a possible rise in electricity rates, Lincoln said, "It certainly does."

"In most places, there's a rate adjustment tied to the cost of fuel so that when a utility company's fuel costs go up, electricity rates go up, too," Lincoln said.

Medals Boost Worker Morale

TOKYO (UPI) —The Japan National Railways is awarding medals of merit to outstanding workers in an effort to boost morale. The government-operated rail system awards its medal of honor to supervisors with notable performance records. The special medal of merit goes to employees who have won the first medal twice.

The railway expected to award 3,000 medals annually. But two rail unions filed objections to the awards. Claiming they were designed to weaken union influence.

"Some states have provisions that limit such rate increases to industry users of power, but this is the exception. In most places increases are provided for right across the board."

Lincoln would not predict when and by how much utility rates might be affected, but he held out little hope that much could be done to alleviate the crisis any time soon.

He was interviewed Tuesday following a press briefing at which he discussed the administration's decision earlier this week to scrap a proposed revision in the nation's oil import control program.

The revision would have substituted a system of tariffs on foreign petroleum products for the 11-year-old quota system. In abandoning the tariff proposal, the administration decided to concentrate on improving the quota system.

Residual fuel oil, however, is not affected by the import controls. Because the nation's needs could never be met from domestic supplies, all limitations on importing foreign residual fuel oils were lifted in 1966.

Air Cushion-Transit Talked

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A 300-mile-an-hour air-cushion transit system from Los Angeles to Las Vegas, Nev., could be operational by 1980, a study shows.

The 285-mile-long operation could start making money five years later, said the study released by state Sen. Lawrence Walsh of Los Angeles.

Walsh said he believes gambling and hotel entrepreneurs in Nevada should finance the system.

But the crisis in fuel oil supply has continued to grow.

Since the first of the year, the cost of foreign residual oil has risen from about $2 a barrel to $4 a barrel and American residual oil has gone from $2.50 a barrel to $3.60.

Coupled with the dramatic price rise there has been a drastic increase in demand, Lincoln said.

The shortages in fuel oil are attributed to a number of factors, including the Mideast political situation and growing demand worldwide.

One major cause for the increased demand, Lincoln said, was that residual fuel oil can be refined to a low sulphur content, a major requirement in many air pollution control programs.

"Whatever cost we're paying," he said, "should be chalked up to the cost of cleaning up our environment. If you're for clean air, then this is one of the prices you're going to pay. Nobody ever said it would be cheap to clean up our world, and we're just now finding out how really expensive it can and is going to be."

Huge Apartment Complex Slated

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Plans have been unveiled for an apartment complex with 2,000 housing units and a shopping center on a 217-acre site east of Charlotte.

The plans were announced by C. D. Spangler Jr., president of C. D. Spangler Construction Co. He said the complex will cost $40 million over the next eight years. He said it will be owned by an affiliate of the Spangler organization, Golden Eagle Industries.

Dress Code Has Generalities

NEWBERRY, S.C. (AP) — The Newberry County school board has adopted a dress code which requires that "all students must wear hair groomed so as not to obstruct the view of others."

Another requirement is that "all students will wear shoes." Others forbid the wearing of dark glasses in buildings unless medically prescribed and the wearing of "beach or sleepwear" in classes.

The code was adopted by the school board after considering the recommendations of two bi-racial advisory committees.

Texas recorded about 12 million passenger boardings at air terminals in 1969.

Lauds Women Of South Africa

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — South Africa should make better use of women to help ease a manpower shortage, says Maj. Gen. E. C. Raymond, South African Secretary for Health.

Raymond told the national conference of the Ex-Service Women's League the women have proved hardly any task is too much. During the two world wars, he said, women not only cared for the sick and disabled, but kept transport lines and communications networks going.

Worry Clinic Monopoly Can Hurt Romance

Tom's case causes nervous breakdowns and untold heartache to millions of girls. So don't become a constant emotional "crutch" to an old bachelor! Use the "borrowed boy friend" strategy to wake him up. And never let men obtain all the advantages of marriage without giving you a wedding band first!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE O-506: Tom T., aged 37, is a bachelor. "Dr. Crane," his girl friend began, "Tom and I have been dating steadily for 5 years. "And he parks at my apartment most of his spare evenings. "In fact, he eats here, too, and helps me get dinner, as well as do the dishes. "Then we sit down and watch TV till time for him to go home. "But he doesn't seem interested in actually proposing marriage. "Yet I think he loves me, but is just too set in his bachelor ways to want to give me a wedding ring. "So what should I do?" Monopoly is dangerous for churches, governments, business corporations and also romance. That's especially true when you girls deal with a chronic old bachelor. If you have a chance to latch on to a widower vs. a bachelor and both are above the age of 30, it is usually wiser to pick the widower. For he has already been housebroken by his former wife. He has thus been taught some of the give-and-take that helps rub off the rough spots and produces more harmonious domestic relations. The old bachelor is usually far more thoughtless of his sweetheart's feelings.

Oh, he may deny this, for he just doesn't even realize his own selfishness. Here is the typical case where a girl can profitably "borrow" a new escort. Import a cousin or casual neighbor from her home town. Then let Tom feel that the newcomer is just in town for a short time so she is obligated to show him around. Even if she must buy herself a box of candy and some flowers, that will also be good "window trimming." For it will likely wake up her stodgy bachelor suitor. He will then realize he has competition. Moreover, after several years of leaning on his sweetheart, he has learned to regard her as an emotional "crutch." Girls, knock the crutch out from under men like Tom! For then Tom will begin to feel how dependent he has become on his sweetheart. She can still remain friendly, but studiously keep away from home via nightly dates with the new "boy friend" (even though the latter be a close male relative). But don't tell Tom this fact, for he can then gnaw on his own jealousy in lieu of the former delicious roast beef she served him nightly. If this "borrowed boy friend" strategy doesn't make Tom produce a wedding band (and quickly), then apply to our Scientific Marriage Foundation for more suitable marriage prospects. Seneca, the Roman philosopher, said, "Go to the Then "push him away" if he hasn't produced a wedding ring. It may require courage, but you must take a legitimate risk to win happy marriage. Martha Raye To Go As A Nurse HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Comedienne Martha Raye will be leaving the film capital in October for another tour in Vietnam, her sixth, but for the most part she will be leaving her comedy routine in Hollywood. Her five-month tour will be as Lt. Col. Martha Raye of the Army Nurse Corps Reserve. She is a surgical nurse and as she said Monday: "There are no jokes in surgery. "If there's a soldier sitting around with a guitar in the evening, I might sing a few songs," said Miss Raye, who serves with the Green Berets.

Former Captive Going To Rome HONG KONG (AP) — Roman Catholic Bishop James Walsh, who was freed by the Red Chinese July 10 after 12 years in a Communist prison, leaves Sunday for an audience with Pope Paul VI in Rome. A Catholic spokesman said Tuesday the 79-year-old Bishop Walsh will be accompanied to Rome by Sister Patricia Fitzmaurice, chief surgeon of Maryknoll Hospital where he has been recuperating since his release. After spending a week in Rome, the spokesman said, Bishop Walsh plans to fly to Cumberland, Md., and a reunion with his five sisters and a brother.

Then the clerk on the foreign exchange counter Monday at the Munster Arcade did a double take—Germans have deutschmarks nowadays, not reichmarks. Even when the note was issued in Berlin in 1922 at the height of German inflation after World War I—it would scarcely have bought a loaf of bread.

SOUTH: ♠ 9, ♥ A1076, ♦ A865, ♣ A1096. The bidding: West North East South Pass Pass Pass 1♥ Pass 3♥ Pass 4♥ Pass Pass Pass. Opening lead: King of ♠. A blind spot induced by a failure to count his tricks, led to South's defeat in the fourth heart contract presented today. West opened the king of spades and continued with the queen, South ruffing the second trick with the six of hearts. Declarer began drawing trump by cashing the ace and then leading the ten of hearts. When West covered with the jack, he was permitted to hold the trick. East showed out discarding a spade. A spade was returned forcing declarer to use up his remaining trump—the seven. South abandoned hearts temporarily and switched his attention to the side suits. The king, queen and ace of diamonds were cashed and on the third round, East discarded a spade. By this time, declarer had an accurate count of his opponents' distribution. West had shown up with three spades, four hearts and four diamonds. This meant that he had, at most, two clubs while East was marked with a minimum of four. South led a club to the king and returned the jack for a finesse. West produced the queen of clubs and played the jack of diamonds forcing North to ruff with the nine of hearts. The king was cashed, but West retained the queen of trumps to score the setting trick. South's counting was accurate, however his conclusions were fallacious. The location of the queen of clubs was of no significance, for there was no way he could ever take more than two club tricks. Even if the finesse had succeeded, West would be able to ruff the third round in any case—so South might just as well go up with the ace from his hand on the second lead. Observe that even if the queen of clubs does not fall declarer can lead a diamond next and ruff with the nine of hearts. The king of trumps produced his 10th trick and West is welcome to ruff the last trick with the queen of hearts. In all, declarer takes two clubs, three diamonds, three hearts and two spade ruffs in his hand.

Agnew To Voice 'Reassurances'

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, in a new fight with senators who favor faster U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam, returns to Asia this weekend to reassure American allies the Nixon administration will honor its commitments.

The vice president's four-nation trip, covering some of the ground he visited eight months ago, is described by associates as a steady operation to reassure South Korea, Nationalist China, Thailand and South Vietnam of U.S. intentions to maintain a hand in Asia. Reassurances are planned, one source said, because of the reduced U.S. role in Asia under the year-old Nixon Doctrine and the continuing assault by senators who favor even sharper limitations on the American commitment.

Agnew assailed these senators Monday in words he described as "among the strongest since I took office." He charged the McGovern-Hatfield amendment to cut off funds for U.S. activities in Indochina is "a blueprint for the first defeat in the history of the United States—and for chaos and communism for the future of South Vietnam."

In part, Agnew's new trip will give the vice president an opportunity to tell pro-American Asian leaders, as he did last January, that Senate critics represent a minority viewpoint in the United States.

In South Korea, the only country on the itinerary which the vice president did not visit on his first trip, Agnew is expected to give assurances the United States will assist with the modernization of that nation's military force. There are plans to pull out some 20,000 of the 63,000 U.S. troops there.

In addition, the South Koreans are understood to be concerned about the increasing protectionist sentiment in the United States, especially the drive to put curbs on imports of textiles. This could have even more impact in Korea than Japan, some sources said.

In Thailand, a major subject is expected to be negotiations over prospects for U.S. financial support for Thai aid to Cambodia.

In Formosa, import quotas and U.S. plans for relations with Communist China are on the agenda for what is expected to be the easiest stop of the trip.

Various subjects are to be discussed in South Vietnam, but aides say the trip has nothing to do with the South Vietnamese Senate elections scheduled Aug. 30.

The Washington Post, meanwhile, reported in today's editions that the Post and Baltimore Sun had been refused permission to travel with the Vice President on his trip.

Both were denied space on Agnew's first Asian journey.

An Agnew spokesman said Tuesday he "has no information on how newspapers were selected."

The Sun reported last December that it had been refused space on the first journey because Agnew didn't like the paper's editorial policy. An Agnew spokesman denied the charge.

Ford Sees Auto Threat From Japan

By TERRY RYAN
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — American car makers will face tougher competition from Japanese imports than from the Volkswagens as they try to sell their new subcompacts, Henry Ford II says.

"The Japanese have good styling, good quality and that makes them good competition," Ford said Tuesday. "We feel they are going to be the more difficult contenders."

Ford, board chairman of Ford Motor Co., was in Las Vegas for the introduction of the 1971 Ford and Lincoln-Mercury automobiles.

He predicted that the subcompacts would reverse the upward trend in foreign car sales in this country and that Ford's subcompact Pinto, to be unveiled Thursday, will outsell Volkswagens.

Foreign car sales rose from 12 to 13 per cent of total U.S. auto sales in the past year.

Volkswagen accounted for about half those sales. Japanese cars, primarily Toyota and Datsun, accounted for about one-third of them.

American Motors was the first U.S. manufacturer into the subcompact field with its Gremlin, introduced in the spring. General Motors will introduce its subcompact Vega on Sept. 10, a day before Pinto arrives in showrooms.

The Japanese don't have the U.S. marketing experience and dealer outlets built up by Volkswagen, but Ford said he expects them to overcome those obstacles soon.

A Florida scientist said Tuesday that Datsun signed a multimillion-dollar contract with him for production rights to a free-powered engine that he said is pollution-free.

Ford said he had never heard of the engine.

The price of the Pinto will not be made public until shortly before it goes into the showroom, but it will be "directly competitive" with the Volkswagen and other small imports, Ford said.

Dealers have been told that prices on other Ford and Lincoln-Mercury models will be up 5 per cent from 1970, Ford said.

"We have had some horrendous increases in the cost of materials and labor in the past years," said Ford, "as well as increased costs for emission control and safety equipment. Prices increases in the past have not equaled our increased costs."

The success of American automotive makers in the subcompact market and other areas hinges on the settlement resulting from contract negotiations in progress with the United Auto Workers, Ford said, but he refused to comment on the negotiations.

William Poe, chairman of the school board, said that if Burger declines to intervene, "It's the end of the line" as far as staying the order before the opening of schools Sept. 9 is concerned. However, the Supreme Court has agreed to hear an appeal of the order, and likely will do so after its returns in October from its summer recess.

There are an estimated 17,588,079 high school and junior high school students in U.S. Public Schools.

B-W Is Moving Research Office

RALEIGH (AP) — Burroughs Wellcome Co., which manufactures over 80 medical products, is moving its research headquarters from New York State to Wake County.

Thack Brown, the company's public relations director said Tuesday the firm is bringing 170 families to the Research Triangle area from its New York research center, which is being closed.

The company is constructing a building with 293,000 square feet of floor space at the Research Triangle.

Brown said the company will provide 250 new research and secretarial positions in the Raleigh-Durham area within the next year.

FTC Being Reshaped To Meet Consumers Needs

By WILLIAM B. MEAD
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission was created in 1914 to bust business monopolies and expanded in 1938 to protect consumers against fraud. Somewhere along the way, according to numerous critics, the FTC quietly retired from public life.

But not forever. Today, the agency is being reorganized, restaffed and reinforced with stronger legal authority. "The little old lady of Pennsylvania Avenue is going to doff her tennis shoes and put on cleats," Casper W. Weinberger promised shortly after assuming the FTC chairmanship last January.

In his consumer protection message to Congress last fall, President Nixon predicted "a new era of vigorous action" by the FTC. Many of the agency's critics, including consumer-oriented Democrats such as Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, Wash., and Frank E. Moss, Utah, credit Weinberger with stirring the old agency into at least a semblance of the vigor forecast by Nixon.

Weinberger is leaving the FTC for a bigger job as deputy director of the new White House Office of Management and Budget. Consumer advocates mourn his departure from the FTC, but have perked up at reports from reliable senate sources that Nixon has selected Miles W. Kirkpatrick, a prominent Philadelphia lawyer, as the new FTC Chairman.

Critic Is Its Boss
 Kirkpatrick chaired an American Bar Association (ABA) study commission which reported to Nixon last September that the FTC needed reform so badly that, as it stood then, the government would be better off without it.

Its frailties and personalities aside, just what is the FTC and what does it do?

In Washington jargon, it is an "independent agency," roughly meaning that it is not directly under the thumb of the White House. The President appoints the five commissioners, but they serve staggered seven-year terms. No more than three can belong to the same political party.

The agency employs approximately 1,200, including 500 lawyers, and has a budget of $21 million a year. Both are small by federal standards. In contrast, the Commerce Department, not one of Washington's largest, employs 30,000 and spends $1.1 billion a year.

Two Purposes
 The FTC wears two hats. Under one, it enforces antitrust laws against price discrimination and monopolistic business mergers. Under the second, it protects consumers against business frauds ranging from phony advertising to charlatan sales practices. The agency's consumer chores also include enforcement of specific laws designed to ban dangerously flammable fabrics, and to require honest labeling of textile and fur products.

Despite its broad authority, the FTC's enforcement powers are limited. In both monopoly and fraud cases, the most it can do is issue a "cease and desist" order.

A business conglomerate, for example, might receive an FTC "cease and desist" order to get rid of a company it had acquired. In the consumer field, it might ban a particular advertising campaign, labeling claim or sales pitch.

The orders are issued only after a lengthy process—too lengthy according to many, including Weinberger. It starts with a "consent order" which the company can sign, pledging to follow the FTC's proposed action without acknowledging guilt. If the company disputes the FTC's contention, a hearing examiner hears the case and issues a ruling.

The commissioners review that ruling, either confirming the examiner, reversing him or writing a new order of their own. The commission's order can be appealed to a U.S. Circuit Court, and then to the Supreme Court. Only if an order is violated after final adjudication can the FTC seek prosecution.

Since even the first step follows an investigation which can take years, the FTC frequently finds itself ordering a halt to an advertising campaign that had stopped long ago anyway.

"The agency's fundamental purpose (is) to guide business, rather than to prosecute violators," the FTC says in its own brochure. The agency would much rather prevent offenses than stop them. Its chief preventative medicine is the trade regulation rule—guidelines, with the force of law, which an industry must follow. A recent one, effective next January, requires that light bulb packages disclose the bulb's life expectancy and light output.

The commission also holds occasional trade practice conferences, in which firms are told how the laws apply to their industry. Supplementing this, the FTC sometimes issues "industry guides" on a particular problem. On request, the agency will advise a company whether a proposed move—an advertising claim, for example—is within the law.

The FTC also has authority to conduct economic investigations, subpoenaing corporate records if necessary, and to release the information to the public. "The chips fall where they may," says the FTC brochure.

Responding To Criticism
 The ABA commission's report, and an even harsher one by a team of law students working under Ralph Nader, asserted that the FTC of the 1960s did a poor job in all these areas. These reports criticized the agency's staff, its procedures and its alleged failure to use the authority Congress gave it.

By abolishing some jobs, encouraging early retirements and firing a few men, Weinberger has carried out an extensive house cleaning of senior FTC staff men.

He also reorganized the agency, consolidating its five sections into two. The agency now has a Bureau of Competition for antitrust work and a Bureau of Consumer Protection. An advisory commission has started work on proposals to reform the FTC's rules, which Weinberger says cause "a lot of delays."

Weinberger also sought legislation expanding FTC authority.

The Senate has voted him some and is considering more. The House has not yet acted.

Asking New Powers
 One proposal backed by Weinberger and at least three of his fellow commissioners would empower the FTC to require that a company not only "cease and desist" a fraudulent practice, but pay refunds or damages to the customers who suffered.

Another would let the commission seek a court injunction under which an allegedly fraudulent practice would have to stop pending a decision on the FTC's complaint. Under present law, the practice can continue until the case is finished, sometimes years later.

It's here: lowest-lead, highest-octane gasoline for the money. New Big Plus.

We took most of the lead out, to help clean up the air.

We left half a cc of lead in, because engine tests show some lead is needed to prevent possible valve damage.

We doubled the amount of engine-cleaning detergent, to cut exhaust emissions even more.

We kept octane high, so 9 out of 10 drivers can use it without worrying about engine knock.

And we kept the price below most major premiums, leaded or unleaded.

We call it Big Plus. It's the lowest-lead, highest-octane gasoline for the money.

Ask for it where you see the Esso sign.

And help your car run clean.
