Reducing Protection

NEW YORK (AP) — Police protection for foreign government interests in New York is to be cut nearly in half starting at midnight.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary announced Thursday that 50 of 106 patrolmen assigned to diplomatic posts would be withdrawn at that time and protection at 17 of 37 locations housing foreign interests would be eliminated.

However, patrols outside the major United Nations missions and consulates are to be maintained at present levels, he said in a statement.

Leary said the move had been under consideration for several months and was ordered after "extensive discussion" with the State Department and the U.S. mission to the United Nations.

A Spider For Baby

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — People are doing a double take over an advertisement on page 460 of the telephone book yellow pages that shows a mother feeding a big juicy spider to her infant.

General Telephone Co. said the drawing—which depicts a woman talking on the phone while spoon-feeding the child—did not include the spider in the original version.

It seems a clerk employed by the General Telephone Directory Co. in St. Petersburg made the change while the pages were being pasted up for printing.

Bob Cromwell, General Telephone public relations man, said the bug was not noticed by company officials until the book had been printed.

The advertisement is one of the telephone company's own and reads, "Additional phones, ideal for mothers."

'Tool Of The Guilty'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — North Carolina Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan says heavy court backlogs and the delays they cause are "the most effective tool of the guilty."

Morgan, speaking Thursday night at Charlotte's new Law Enforcement Center, blamed the pile-up of pending court cases on rising crime rates, paperwork and the ballooning number of minor offenses that courts must handle.

"We need to look (at public drunkenness) to see whether it should continue as a criminal offense," he said in citing an example.

The attorney general gave the main speech at the first of four open meetings in Charlotte designed to explore the citizen's role in fighting crime.

Farmville Average Up

FARMVILLE — An increase yesterday in the volume of leaf and lug grades sold on the Farmville market accounted for an increase in average prices, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor here.

Primings continued to account for most of the volume, Williams said.

"For the first three sale days, there have been less of the nondescript grades than in past years. Marketing of leaf grades has been heavier than usual for this early in the season," he said. "Stabilization receipts yesterday were only 6.23 percent of gross sales. Receipts consisted mostly of top grades of leaf and lug."

Some 683,314 pounds of tobacco were sold here yesterday for some $509,750,12 an average price of $74.57 per 100 pounds.

The number of pounds sold so far is 2,064 pounds for an average of $73.97 hundreded pounds.

Dorothy Is Weakened

MIAMI (AP) — Weakened in her passage through the mountains of the Windward Islands, Tropical storm Dorothy packed a top wind punch of only 50 miles an hour today on a west-northwest course across the Caribbean Sea.

Winds had been hitting 70 mph Thursday.

A gradual rebuilding of intensity was forecast, however, and residents of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Haiti and the Dominican Republic were advised to keep informed of storm advisories.

A Navy reconnaissance report placed the storm center near Latitude 15.1 north, Longitude 64.0 west, about 260 miles southeast of San Juan and 1,000 miles east-southeast of Miami. It was moving at 14 m.p.h.

Gale force winds covered an area 150 miles in diameter.

Tar River Clean-Up Is Underway Today After Extensive Oil Seepage

By TOM BAINES Reflector Staff Writer

The task of mopping up the accumulation of straw and oil that has resulted from an oil slick on the Tar River stretching from Greenville to Grimesland was in full operation today.

The slick, originating from seepage from the fuel supply of Imperial Tobacco Co., here was discovered late Wednesday at the Old Town Creek sewer outlet in the Shore Drive area of the Tar.

Officials at Imperial said that a valve left open on an oil tank had caused an overflow and subsequent flooding of a basement and that the oil had seeped out and into the storm drainage system.

James Davenport Jr., Imperial plant manager, commented, "At first we thought it was only an overflow on the basement floor, and had not realized oil had seeped out into the storm drain."

W. J. Riley of the Federal Water Quality Control Administration in Charlottesville, Va., flew in to Greenville Thursday and conducted an investigation that showed the oil overflow made its way into the drainage system Wednesday night.

Riley estimated Thursday night that approximately 5,000 gallons of excess oil and possibly more had made its way into the river.

A professional cleaning firm, Industrial Marine Service of Norfolk, Va. has been hired by the tobacco company to handle the mop up operations, officials reported.

The slick has been stopped in the vicinity of the Grimesland Bridge, according to John Melvin, regional chemist with the State Department of Water and Air Resources and booms have been erected to curtail the flow of oil beyond that area.

Melvin said this morning that tide changes early last night had caused a shift in the location of the booms for a short time and when the tides again changed to move the booms back quite a mess was left a short distance upstream from the immediate area.

The booms have effectively caught the discharge, he said, and the slick has been stopped near the bridge, about ten miles from Greenville. Melvin said that the Norfolk firm would use an oil separator truck to suck the oil and water (Continued on page 6)

U.S. Surveillance Of Cease-Fire Is Barred By Egypt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Egypt today rejected American surveillance of the Middle East cease-fire by satellite and U2 spy plane, calling the plan a "pretext for espionage."

Such reconnaissance, "even if undertaken over Israeli-held territories, could provide Israel with additional advantages in the present delicate circumstances," said Cairo's semi-official newspaper Al Ahran.

The Egyptian statement came as a surprise. When the United States announced earlier in the week that it was undertaking reconnaissance and had informed Egypt, it was generally understood that it was being done with Cairo's consent.

Al Ahran said Egypt's stand had been known all along. It added that the United States "must adopt a neutral stand regarding this issue" if it is interested in seeing peace in the Middle East.

Al Ahran said Egypt also had turned down an American suggestion for Soviet high-level reconnaissance. But both the U.S. suggestion and the Egyptian rejection were formalities because the Soviet Union already has large numbers of military personnel on duty with Egypt's air and missile forces, and needs no high-flying planes or spaceships to keep it abreast of developments.

In Israel, opposition parties demanded that the Israeli parliament be recalled from its summer vacation for an urgent debate on Israeli-American relations, and the state radio said the lawmakers probably would return to Jerusalem on Monday.

The opposition was expected to try to exploit the rift between the U.S. and Israeli governments over Washington's refusal to give full backing to the Israeli charges that Egypt has violated the cease-fire by moving SAM anti-aircraft missiles closer to the Suez Canal truce line.

The Arab parties to the cease-fire, Jordan's King Hussein and Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, were meeting in Cairo to discuss strategy at the coming indirect peace talks which U.N. envoy Gunnar Jarring will hold. The two Arab leaders also were expected to reach some agreement on ways to deal with the Palestinian guerrillas who are trying to sabotage Hussein's peace efforts.

Israel informed Jarring that it would prefer to have the peace talks near the Middle East rather than in New York, but an Israeli spokesman said his government did not make the preference "an absolute condition."

tion." Egypt and Jordan proposed earlier in the week that the three nation's delegates to the United Nations begin the talks there, and today the independent Israeli newspaper Haaretz said this idea had a certain advantage. It said if the ambassadors got the "first round" out of the way, "the possibility would exist of solving outstanding problems via the foreign ministers in the second round."

City Receives SBI Report In Phillips Probe

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer

A much-publicized report by the State Bureau of Investigation into a shooting incident at Pitt Memorial Hospital involving a police officer and a Negro man here July 6 was handed to City Manager Harry Hagerty yesterday.

But according to the city manager, it may be as late as Monday before any action is taken by officials in the case. Hagerty said he wanted Police Chief T. E. Gladson to review the report and said the chief is out of town on vacation.

Policeman Barley Phillips was suspended following the incident. The officer wounded a 21-year-old Negro during a fight that erupted after the officer placed the man under arrest on charges of disorderly conduct.

The man, Julius Stewart Summrell, was found guilty in District Court last week on the disorderly conduct charge as well as charges of resisting arrest and assault on an officer that stemmed from the fight. He appealed his conviction to Superior Court.

At the time the officer was suspended, City Manager Harry Hagerty said the officer's pay would not be affected, and termed the suspension non-disciplinary.

Later, members of the City Council meeting with a group of Negro leaders at City Hall, agreed to suspend the officer's pay.

Councilman Percy Cox disputed this in commenting on Phillips' suspension late yesterday said he felt the council has had undue criticism.

The council, Cox commented, did not suspend Phillips. "The city manager has the authority to suspend and did suspend Phillips," Cox emphasized. "And according to our ordinance (Phillips) is automatically suspended without pay."

"The city council," Cox continued, "had nothing to do with suspending Phillips. The council was not consulted about the suspension. . . not given a chance to judge whether he should have been suspended or not. It is a city ordinance. . . and according to the ordinance, a person can be suspended without pay only . . ."

Pt. Phillips returned to work Wednesday, but Hagerty termed the action "premature," and said the officer will not be restored to duty until the SBI report has been reviewed.

Hagerty explained that Phillips had been scheduled for reinstatement by Chief Gladson "prior to his vacation, based on the assurance that the SBI report would be in hand the first of the week."

The ordinance under which Phillips was suspended provides: "During the investigation, hearing or trial of an employee on any criminal charge, or during the course of any civil action involving an employee, or when suspension would be in the best interest of the employee or the governmental unit, the City Manager may suspend the employee without pay as a non-disciplinary measure. When the suspension shall be terminated by full reinstatement of the employee, the City Council may authorize full or partial recovery of pay and benefits for the period of the suspension."

Take Appeal To Burger

WASHINGTON (AP)—Attorneys for the Winston-Salem-Forsyth County Board of Education appealed to Chief Justice Warren Burger today for a delay in carrying out a court-ordered desegregation plan for the city-county schools.

The plan, ordered by U.S. District Judge Eugene A. Gordon, would require busing schoolchildren out of their neighborhoods to promote classroom integration despite largely segregated residential patterns.

The school board attorneys asked Burger to order a stay of execution for the plan until the constitutional mandate to desegregate is more clearly defined by the Supreme Court. Anticipating today's appeal, board members voted Thursday to postpone the opening of school to Sept. 8.

Board members are looking to an appeal lodged by the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Board of Education—also fighting a busing order—to elicit a specific Supreme Court ruling on whether busing children is required as part of the schools' duty to desegregate.

Attorneys for the Charlotte system petitioned Burger Thursday for a stay of execution for their schools.

Storm-Swept

SUDBURY, Ont. (AP) — Homeless hundreds took shelter in schools and churches Thursday night in the wake of a sudden storm that swept through this nickel mining area near Lake Huron. Authorities said at least four people were killed, 150 were injured and property damage totaled millions of dollars.

The storm, packing torrential rain and winds of up to 90 miles an hour, smashed through the nearby communities of Lively and Copper Cliff, into the southern edge of Sudbury and on to the logging community of Field, 45 miles to the east.

It left buildings in ruins, uprooted trees and concrete sidewalks, smashed windows and vehicles and cut power and telephone lines.

At the International Nickel Co. mine in Copper Cliff, power failures cut off mine elevators and temporarily stranded miners as far as 6,000 feet beneath the earth. Many men had to walk out and others waited for power to be restored, but all emerged safely.

The Red Cross estimated that 350 persons were left homeless in the Sudbury and Lively areas, where 86 houses were destroyed and more than 100 were heavily damaged.

Ervin Sees 'Legal Chaos' In Women's Amendment

WASHINGTON (AP) — A week could abolish all federal and state laws making distinctions between men and women—even if it meant ending necessary legal protection.

Ervin has been seeking support for a substitute amendment he proposed Wednesday. He has been unsuccessful in winning any public endorsements, but several senators have said privately they would support his resolution, an aide said today.

Ervin's version seeks to abolish unfair legal discrimination against women but still allow for physiological and functional differences.

For example, Ervin said in an interview, his measure would force equal hiring and promotion of women but still protect them from long hours and hazardous duties, fighting with U.S. troops and sharing jails and restrooms with men.

In a brief lesson on religion, biology and sociology, Ervin told his Senate colleagues: "From the time whereof the memory of mankind runneth not to the contrary, custom and law have imposed upon men the primary responsibility" for supporting their families "to enable their wives to make the habitations homes."

"In this respect," Ervin continued, citing an ancient Yiddish proverb, "God could not be everywhere, so he made mothers."

Rep. Martha Griffiths, D-Mich., who pushed the stronger amendment through the House, says Ervin's amendment would nullify everything hers would do.

"All we want is equal protection under the 14th and 15th amendments," she said Thursday. "Ervin says 'yes,' except for equal protection. You'd have a million law suits as to what is equal protection."

Ervin said the word "sex" itself has six or more meanings which could result in various interpretations of the amendment.

"Militants ought not want to take away the rights of their sisters," he says.

Whichever amendment—if either—emerges from Congress would require ratification by three-fourths of the state legislatures, a route Ervin says will stop the Griffiths amendment if the Senate doesn't.

Miss Catherine Walston Weds These Dullards Deserve Each Other

MRS. NORMAN RAY WOOTEN JR.

FARMVILLE — Miss Catherine Ann Walston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Turner Walston of Farmville, became the bride of Norman Ray Wooten Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Wooten Sr. of Ballards Cross Roads, on Saturday at 4:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed in the First Baptist Church here by the Rev. M. D. Lark and Rev. E. S. Coates.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Jack Allen of Virginia Beach, Va., soloist, who sang "Panis Angelicus" and "The Lord's Prayer." Wilson Smith Nichols Jr. was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an original design gown of silk faille taffeta with a bib lace bodice adjoining an A-line empire skirt enhanced with lace appliques. The lace bodice was designed with a high neckline of patterned Venise lace on peau d'ange lace continued on a sheer panel and finished with streamers fastened at the back.

She wore a matching lace banded mantilla of illusion flowing chapel length. She carried a cascade bouquet of snowdrift French pom poms surrounding a white orchid and bridal lace.

Mrs. Jack Woolard Calhoun of Springfield, Va., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Kate Allen Huggin of Greensboro, Rita Ann Reavis of Raleigh, cousin of the bridegroom, Nancy Jessica Smith of Raleigh and Mrs. David Clinton Corn of Rocky Mount.

The attendants wore formal dresses of navy organdy with a wide border of lace at the neck and hemline. They carried white baskets of mixed summer flowers and wore hats of white net centered with a navy bow.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. J. S. Tripp of Greenville, Karen Janette Daughtry of Farmville, Mary Neal Reavis and Elizabeth Gill Reavis of Raleigh, both cousins of the bridegroom.

Honorary bridesmaids were Mrs. J.S. Tripp of Greenville, Karen Janette Daughtry of Farmville, Mary Neal Reavis and Elizabeth Gill Reavis of Raleigh, both cousins of the bridegroom.

They wore formal dresses in pastel colors and carried a single long-stemmed red rose. Jack Woolard Calhoun Jr., nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The father of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were John Turner Walston Jr. and William Albert Walston, brothers of the bride, Jack Woolard Calhoun, brother-in-law of the bride, John Frank Ippock of Pollockville and Joe Speight Tripp.

The bride's mother wore a dress and coat ensemble of blue wool silk with a beaded lace top.

matching accessories and an orchid corsage. The mother of the bridegroom selected a pink crepe dress with a long sleeveless jacket. The dress was designed with long sheer sleeves and jeweled neckline. She wore matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

For a wedding trip, the bride changed into a blue knit coat-dress and wore the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will reside in Raleigh.

The bride is a graduate of Meredith College and is a graduate student at North Carolina State University. The bridegroom is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College and is presently employed as an accountant at Crown-Zullerback Corp., Raleigh.

Mrs. Johnny Miller directed the wedding assisted by Cedric Davis.

Reception

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bachelor and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thomas.

Mrs. Johnny Miller introduced guests to the receiving line composed of the bride's mother, parents of the bridegroom, the bridal couple and bridesmaids.

The refreshment table was decorated with a three-tiered columned wedding cake. Mrs. Frank Dail, aunt of the bride, served cake and Mrs. Clyde Harris, grandmother of the bridegroom, poured punch. Mrs. Troy Tyndall, aunt of the bride, presided at an auxiliary punch bowl.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Batchelor said good-byes. Mrs. Charlie Walston, aunt of the bride, presided at the guest register.

An after-rehearsal dinner was given by the bridegroom's parents at the Ayden Golf and Country Club honoring the Wooten-Walston wedding party and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Mozingo Honored Sunday

GRIFTON — Mrs. Mattie Mozingo of Goldsboro was honored Sunday at the home of her grandson, Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Casey, on her 94th birthday.

The house was decorated with arrangements of summer flowers. A buffet dinner was served to guests.

Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Mozingo; Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Dees; Mrs. Carolyn Harris; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Edwards and children; Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Rogers; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mozingo; Mrs. W.C. Hinson; Mrs. Guy Jones; and Howy Fields.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Why do men and women at so many parties insist on segregating themselves?

My husband and I recently left such a party rather early because of sheer boredom. The women sat on one side of the room and talked about their children, clothes and other women. While the men sat on the other side rehashing every baseball, basketball and football game played during the last five years. They also complained about their jobs. These couples are college graduates in their mid thirties.

The men seem to resent any attempt to change the subject of their conversation, and the women couldn't care less about anything other than their homes and families.

The purpose of a party is to meet new people, discuss different ideas and viewpoints and to get away from the household routine and daily grind of the office.

There must be something a guest can do to break up the hen sessions and the locker room boys.

BORED IN ATLANTA

DEAR BORED: Not in that crowd. You and your husband should find other friends. There are plenty of young people in Atlanta who can offer more stimulating conversation than you describe. If you aren't involved in civic and political things you ought to be. That is where the action is. Dullards deserve each other.

DEAR ABBY: Last night my husband and I were dining out and we received the shock of our lives. The husband of one of my best friends was also dining out with another woman! I am sure it wasn't innocent. You can tell the way people act around each other.

Should I tell my friend about her husband's rendezvous? Or should I keep my mouth shut? I am hesitant because there are children involved, and I wouldn't want to be responsible for breaking up a home.

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: In that case, the answer is obvious. Keep your mouth shut.

DEAR ABBY: I am 57 years old and a grandmother, and I've always acted my age and dressed my age. My daughter, who is 23 is after me to wear shorts, especially to picnics and outings where there are folks of all ages present. Abby, I am quite slim and I don't suppose I would look too bad in shorts, but I just don't think it's becoming for a woman my age to wear them. I feel much more comfortable in a dress or slacks.

Do you think I'm an old stick-in-the-mud, Abby? I want to please my daughter but I must please myself, too. What do you think?

"GRANNY GOOSE"

DEAR GRANNY: If you feel uncomfortable in shorts, don't wear them. I'm sure your daughter means well, but

Mrs. Edwards Is Named Area Craft Specialist

RALEIGH — Mrs. Elsie B. Edwards of Elizabeth City has been named Creative Crafts Specialist for the Albemarle area to succeed Edna Bishop, who retired July 31.

Mrs. Edwards assumed her new duties Aug. 17, according to Dr. Eloise Cofer, assistant director North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service. "Mrs. Edwards worked closely with Miss Bishop in promoting crafts interest in the Albemarle area," Dr. Cofer pointed out. "She will bring many competencies and skills into her new work."

Mrs. Edwards received her Bachelor of Arts Degree from East Carolina University. She taught home economics in Ayden High School before she joined the Extension Service in 1955 as agent in Tyrell County. She transferred to Pasquotank County in 1961.

Mrs. Edwards received a Distinguished Service award from the National Association of Extension Home Economists in 1968. She is the mother of two girls, Charlene, who will enter East Carolina University in September and Julia, who attends high school in Elizabeth City.

Manson On Team Will Aid Fund-Seekers

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sullen and scowling, Charles M. Manson told the judge in the Sharon Tate murder trial that he was being mistreated in county jail, and "it's like kicking a dead man."

Manson is seeking a "cease-and-desist" order against the sheriff's department.

"I have not heard or seen any evidence thus far of interference with the preparation of your case," Superior Court Judge Charles Older said after listening to Manson for 45 minutes Thursday.

He postponed the rest of the hearing on the Manson's motion until today so the trial could go on.

The shaggy-haired, bearded Manson took the witness stand, with the jury absent, before the regular court session. He said he was receiving "barbaric" treatment and was forced to go through "a lot of confusing procedure" in jail.

But he added: "It makes me stronger. I can't be discouraged. I don't know what discouragement means."

Manson, 35, leader of a nomadic clan, is on trial with three women followers in the murders of Miss Tate and six others.

Manson said that several times daily he had been subjected to "shakedowns" in which deputies made him disrobe and then probed his body.

He said he wasn't allowed to have pencils and paper and that mail from his friends was stopped while "hate mail" was allowed to get through. He said a "dark screen" interferes with vision and voices when he interviews prospective witnesses.

"The mental aspect is much more cruel than the physical," he said. "If someone comes in and beats you up it's all over ... But I have to go through your sex paranoia and your insecurity over and over."

Under cross-examination by a county counsel, Manson said the skin searches had dwindled lately; he had plenty of pencils in court and had interviewed three witnesses in the attorneys' room of the jail.

In trial testimony, the prosecution called a series of witnesses who described the bloody scene at the Tate mansion the morning of Aug. 9, 1969, when the blonde actress and four others were found slain.

The defense said outside the courtroom it had offered to accept details of the death without witnesses, but that the prosecution refused.

"Unfortunately, we agree that there were a tragic series of homicides at the house on Cielo Drive," said Paul Fitzgerald, representing Patricia Krenwinkel, 22. "We just contend that these defendants didn't perpetrate them."

Team Will Aid Fund-Seekers

RALEIGH (AP) — A 12-member federal team will be in North Carolina through next Wednesday to help eligible Tar Heel school systems apply for their share of an estimated $7 to $8 million in emergency desegregation funds.

A spokesman for the Department of Public Instruction said 95 of the state's 152 local systems are eligible and the number might increase.

John Rooks, an official of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's office in Philadelphia, explained the program to representatives of more than half the districts Thursday.

Only "top quality programs" will get money under the first phase of the plan, Rooks said. Some $75 million will be spent during the next school year in 17 Southern and Border states. "There will be a great deal more money to follow," Rooks said.

Eligible school systems, he explained, will be those which undertake this fall the final phase of a desegregation plan ordered by a court or approved by HEW, or which did so during the last two school years.

Money will be allotted for special needs as a result of desegregation, he said, such as revising study programs and starting special programs of education and pupil counseling.

Rooks noted that school systems with a student population more than 20 per cent Negro are most likely to get a share of the initial funds.

He urged school officials to apply for federal money even if they believed their chances of receiving it are slim.

Progress In Race Relations: Scott

CHAUTAQUA, N. Y. (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott says the progress being made in race relations in the South "is painfully slow for some, far too fast for others."

"The fact remains, though, that progress in the South is just as sure and as certain as the daily rising and setting of the sun," Scott said Thursday night in a talk at the Chautauqua Institution.

"I believe the worst racial problems in the South are behind us," he said. "We have seen burning and bloodshed, and we want no more of either. We take our battles to the courts instead of the streets."

"It is most regrettable to me that so many citizens who live outside the South have been conditioned to expect only reports of violence, injustice and poverty in the south.

"For too many years, the South has been the nation's number one whipping boy."

"We in the South know that progress, be it progress in race relations, or progress in economic well being, or progress in environmental protection, stems directly from the progress we make in education."

"A new South has emerged — a South that is vibrant and alive, a South that is dynamic and progressive, a South that is merging, if it has not already done so, into the mainstream of all that is good and honorable in America."

Scott declared people in the South are "better housed and clothed, better educated and informed, better fed and healthier than ever before."

PTI Has Begun Class In Insurance Adjusting

A class on insurance adjusting at Pitt Technical Institute began Thursday at 7 p.m. in the conference room.

The 30-hour course will meet for 15 weeks each Thursday night for two hours, from 7 to 9 p.m.

This is one of a series of six courses being offered in the Insurance Adjusting Certificate Program. Two are available each year, one beginning in August, the other in January.

This course, Adjuster 32, deals with the principles of insurance and liability claim adjusting. Areas studied will include the legal liability hazard and investigation, negotiation, evaluation, and settlement of bodily injury and property damage claims. There are also brief discussions of underwriting, rating, regulation, and the organization of insurance companies.

The first meeting was for organizational purposes. Teaching begins next Thursday. For further information, one should visit the Pitt Tech classroom building, Room 113, or call 756-3130, Ext. 38.

Plane Crashes Into Power Line

GARNER, N. C. (AP) — A small plane crashed into a power line two miles east of Garner Thursday, killing the 35-year-old student pilot from nearby Raleigh.

Wake County Coroner M. W. Bennett said the pilot of the single-engine plane was James Edward Temple, whose body was burned beyond recognition.

Witnesses said the craft exploded on impact and burst into flames. The plane knocked out a 115,000-volt power line, causing two television stations, WRAL-TV and WTVD, to leave the air. The transmitting towers of the stations are near each other in the area.

According to an announcement from Everett's office, Sen. Belmon is scheduled to arrive in Washington Tuesday afternoon and speak at the Brentwood Club at 7:30.

Everett noted that Sen. Belmon has an active interest in this District because his brother lived around Washington before moving to Oklahoma.

"Sen. Belmon is just one of the many distinguished Republican speakers who will be visiting and speaking in my behalf during the campaign," the Congressional candidate said.

Everett added that the public is invited to attend the Washington rally.

'Cold' Front Moving In

A cold (that's what they're saying) front is headed this way. The weather won't get cold, but weathermen say it will be a little less hot Saturday.

The front is moving in from the Ohio River Valley. As it approaches, cloudiness and thundershower activity will increase.

The forecast calls for highs in the 80s in North Carolina Saturday. Tonight, the temperature will dip to the low to mid 60s in the mountains and lows will range to the low 70s on the coast.

A few thundershowers broke out Thursday afternoon, but they were far less numerous than Wednesday. Cherry Point reported the heaviest amount of rain, a half-inch. There were a few showers in the mountains but most of them produced less than a tenth of an inch of rain.

Closing Gap In Industry

LUMBERTON, N. C. (AP) — Industry committed $317.7 million for new and expanded facilities in North Carolina during the first six months of this year, a state official reports.

In releasing the figures Thursday, Roy Sowers Jr., director of the Department of Conservation and Development, said the state is closing the gap in its lagging industrial expansion.

He said the commitment would create 13,500 new jobs and provide additional payrolls of $66.4 million.

Sowers told the Lumberton Kiwanis Club that the figure for the six-month period is only $78.8 million below the similar period of 1969. Earlier this year the difference had been $124.6 million.

Prayerfully, A Reassessment

The old Liberty Ship LeBaron Russell Briggs has gone to a watery grave laden with the deadly nerve gas, and attracting international attention.

We have the assurances of the experts that the gas will dissipate harmlessly at the ocean bottom—although no one can be absolutely sure. On top of this the army has guaranteed that this will be the last shipment of gas to be scuttled at sea. From here on out, they say, chemical agents will be used for detoxification.

The Navy which had the job of towing the ship to a spot in the Atlantic where it was to sink to a depth of 16,000 feet offers assurances that the ship made it to the bottom. There was a loud thud on sooner when it crashed in a deep trench at the bottom of the Atlantic.

Unfortunately an experiment failed which was to send back to the surface bottles filled with water. The bottles would have shown whether the deep water had been contaminated by the nerve gas.

The sinking ends a controversy which for a time appeared headed for the U.S. Supreme Court and it also concludes a race to dump the gas before it deteriorated.

All that remains now is for the United States to make certain that nothing like it occurs again. We must be sure that whatever deadly weapons we feel called upon to manufacture can be disposed of without danger to humanity and to the environment.

It is also a good time to assess whether such weapons as this nerve gas should ever be developed at all, since its use in warfare would be unthinkable. It is just possible that mankind may be coming to realize that the development of further terror weapons in this age of overkill is futile. Perhaps the furor over this nerve gas will help to put weapons development into perspective.

Pure Water Should Be Given Major Priority

A report by a University of North Carolina environmental engineer that one-third of the people in the country drink waste water should mean new efforts to clean up our environment.

"The quality of water service in the United States is cause for growing concern," said Dr. Daniel Okun, chairman of the Department of Environmental Sciences and Engineering at UNC School of Public Health.

A number one project for our nation should be cleaning up the water ways and the atmosphere. Pollution is a growing problem that must be dealt with.

A Balance To Aid Budgeteers

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — The outlook right now is that North Carolina will have a biennium-end credit balance at least in the neighborhood of $80 million to ease budget-making for the 1971 General Assembly.

If an upturn in the national economy materializes this fall, as now widely anticipated, and revenue collections continue to show the present rate of gain the result could be a credit balance comparable to or above the $153 million with which the state began the 1969-71 budget period.

The prospects, considerably brighter than generally conceded a month or so ago, came into focus last week with Governor Bob Scott's fiscal 1969-70 report.

needs.

"We are fortunate to be in sound condition," he said. "But as revenues continue to rise, so do expenditure levels. There are a number of factors which will cause substantial increases in the A Budget (to continue government services at current levels) for 1971-73."

Further, he said, beyond continuing services at existing levels, "there will still be many pressing needs which should be met. Cost-of-living increases are justified for our teachers and state employees; the shortage of coal and natural gas has already caused substantial price rises for all fuels; and many important capital construction projects are sorely needed."

The message came through clearly: money in the bank doesn't mean the state can afford any reduction in income.

Revenue Gain Revealed

The report for the fiscal year which ended last June 30 showed the General Fund revenue collections were $878½ million, above the estimates projected by the 1969 legislature by 4.2 per cent or $35½ million.

General Fund appropriations for the year were $969½ million. Expenditures were $912 million. Budget officials describe the $57 million difference — appropriated to state agencies but unspent due to savings, delayed start-up of programs, and other reasons — as "reversions" since it goes back to the treasury.

The $57 million gross reversions for the year will be reduced to a net of around $45 million, through the carry over into the new fiscal year of a portion of the unspent appropriations.

The $35½ million excess collections over estimates, plus the $45 million net reversions, would mean a total of around $80 million as a credit balance at the end of the 1969-71 biennium. Of course, that is contingent upon the realization of revenue estimates for the current year.

General Fund revenue estimates for 1970-71 are $937,200,000. If this year's 4.2 per cent gain over estimates should continue, that would add another $37½ million. Reversions of only $35 million under this year's $961½ million General Fund appropriations would give a credit balance at the end of the biennium of around $153 million.

BRYAN HAISLIP

It is an encouraging picture, and a tribute to financial stewardship for the state under Governor Scott — but it has caution signals for his administration as well.

A healthy surplus (budget officials flinch at the word, preferring the more accountable sound of "credit balance") always encourages those after a slice of the state's tax pie for new or expanded programs. That can build uncomfortable pressure in the budget-making process, and roughen going for the governor's own projects.

Tax Repeal Specter

For the coming session, the real cause for concern is that a sizeable carryover of funds may give a talking point to campaigns for repeal of taxes enacted by the last legislature. Repeal advocates might well use the figures to argue that the state can afford to take off a portion of the tax burden.

The governor obviously is aware of the pitfalls in the situation. The fiscal year-end report usually comes out around August 1. It was two weeks late this year, and speculation was that the administration delayed in order to decide how best to present the news.

Governor Scott opted for a cautious approach, laying stress on the state's future

The Angry Man Of Currency

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — As usual, Dr. Franz Pick is angry, even though he has removed himself from the scene of battle for a few days to vacation on the southern shore of Long Island.

Even at rest, the 72-year-old "conscience of currency" cannot forget that the value of almost all the world's monies are being diluted. And he won't forgive the sinful governments, the United States included, which permit values to deteriorate.

Pick doesn't believe that currencies simply erode; that's too passive, and it suggests a trend over which humans have no control. Not so, Pick maintains.

"Governments are responsible for their monetary destiny," he states unequivocally. And when they permit inflation, they are "debasers" of currency — and much more than that if you wish to hear Pick to the end.

To hear Pick use the word "debased" in a Bohemian accent, enriched by years of education in Germany and France, is to know he is emotionally involved in his subject, and that if he had the power, debasers would be sentenced to hell.

Nevertheless, he must deal with debasers. The 103 currencies he monitors as consultant to foreign central banks and United States and foreign companies are continually being debased. He is particularly upset about the dollar, and he has railed against U.S. policies. As a result, says his assistant, "The Treasury wouldn't give him the time of day."

A sample of his distress is contained in a recent copy of Pick's World Currency Report, called "The Constant Dollar," an ironic title because the contents are devoted to showing the fickleness of American money.

Government reports on purchasing power, he points out, are based on 1958 equalling 100. The year is arbitrary; you could choose any year for the base, call it 100, and measure purchasing power from that date.

That's what upsets Pick. Why 1958, he asks? Why not 1940, which he claims was the end of stability and the beginning of a long, sometimes interrupted, inflationary spiral.

Based on 1958, the dollar was worth 73.6 cents in July. But, based on 1940, the dollar was worth only 35.9 cents. In other words, the choosing of 1958 disguises about half the purchasing power lost since 1940.

The International Monetary Fund also is criticized. That organization, he argues, "threw an even wider veil of oblivion over monetary expropriations by deciding that 1963 should be the basic year for measuring worldwide increases in the cost of living for more than a

Strength For Today

By EARL L. DOUGLASS

There are believed to be about five million alcoholics in this country and three million problem drinkers. An alcoholic is an addict with an uncontrollable craving for beverage alcohol. A problem drinker is one still able to exercise some control over his life but whose drinking has become a serious problem for him and everybody with whom he comes in contact.

Of those who start to drink one out of every ten will become either an alcoholic or a problem drinker. According to a study published sometime ago in a nationally read magazine, it costs about five thousand dollars to cure one alcoholic. That wonderful organization, Alcoholics Anonymous, has done, and is still doing, a remarkable piece of work. But to make any effort in his behalf really effective a drinker has to have a strong desire to be cured. If the only reaction he has towards the problem is the shrug of his shoulders and the wisecrack, then he is in for hard times.

Very often heavy drinkers declare that their first drink was taken in their own homes. Parents who set a bad example to their children in the way they entertain themselves and their friends had better awake to the realization that they confront a serious situation which can be made better by no one but themselves.

There are fine, noble people on both sides of the drinking problem. In a day of turbulence and unrest we all need to do some serious thinking about the whole problem of beverage alcohol. We are up to our necks in a very serious problem.

Mafia Are Boy Scouts

We hope the Italian American Anti-Defamation League doesn't take offense at our use of the word 'Mafia,' but in Sicily it did exist when this column was written.

PALERMO — As a distinguished student of European driving habits and their effect on the human heart, I wish to make a statement. Of all the peoples I have studied so far, there are none to compare with the Sicilian drivers. One only has to be on the winding roads of this beautiful country a few hours to understand why so many Sicilians left the island and came to America.

To comprehend the problems facing a driver in Sicily, one must first take note of what can be found on the Sicilian highway during the course of a day's drive. There are, and not necessarily in this order, four

Other Editors Say Enough Evidence

(Jacksonville Daily News)

A group of 50 international scientists has called for a moratorium on further development of supersonic transports.

The scientists — meteorologists, physicists, geologists and others from the United States and Europe — warn that the SSTs could have drastic effects on the world's climate.

Cruising in the stratosphere at altitudes above 65,000 feet, above most of the winds and storm which are constantly mixing the air of the lower atmosphere, the SSTs could leave long-lasting vapor trails that might form clouds which could cause unforeseen changes in the gases of the upper atmosphere. Particles of smoke could linger and accumulate, and if they become dense enough could cut off radiation from the sun.

The world doesn't need another ice age, or even the chance of one, and the convenience of flying from New York to Paris a few hours faster is not worth the risk of causing further damage to an environment that is in trouble enough already.

Yet it is not as if supersonic jets were something absolutely new. The air forces of dozens of countries have been using them since the 1950s. Tens of thousands of flights have been logged, both by single-engine fighters and multiengine bombers. Moreover, thousands of rockets have been fired through the stratosphere, adding to the contamination.

Not all supersonic jets, even military ones, can fly as high as the SSTs will fly, of course. But certainly those that can have released more pollution into the stratosphere over the past two decades than the tiny fleets of SSTs planned by Britain, France, Russia and the United States could equal in many a year.

The British-French Concorde is still in the testing stage. Russia's Tu-44 is believed to be somewhat further along. America's controversial entry is still on the drawing board.

If high-flying supersonic jets cause damage to the atmosphere, there ought to be enough accumulated evidence — or nonevidence — of that damage for the scientists to issue a verdict in place of a vague warning before the commercial SSTs go into service.

sheep, chickens, children, fishermen, members of the clergy, carabinieri and highway bandits.

It has been said that the dreaded members of the Mafia are boy scouts compared to the people who have drivers' licenses in Sicily.

For one thing, the traditional omertà, or conspiracy of silence that Sicilians are known for, does not apply to anything that happens on the road. When one Sicilian passes another, he will shout at him that he is a fool, an idiot and his mother was a goat and, if really angered, that his father was a policeman.

The man passed will retort with words of equal passion, and will, if the wind is right, spit at the other car. Since Sicilians must use their hands when making expressive statements, neither driver has his hands on the wheel when yelling at the other.

If there are other passengers in the cars, they, too, will join in the argument. Even after the man who is doing the passing has made the maneuver, he will look back, waving both hands at the driver he has passed, who in turn will retort by either waving his hands or pressing the horn for as long as the ployment and industrial production must be halted "to avoid a significant deterioration of business and consumer attitudes." He said all available evidence indicates the economy is basically sound and resilient.

And the Department of Commerce reported that industrial production in July rose 0.2 to 169.2 of the 1957-59 level but 5.6 per cent less than a year ago; that personal income rose by $3.6 billion in July to an annual rate, seasonally adjusted, of $801.8

billion, and that the gross national product rose from an annual rate of $959.5 billion in the first quarter to $971.1 billion in the first quarter. However, after adjustment for price increases, the rise was only at a rate of $1.1 billion.

No Dancing In The Streets

The government's interpretation of these figures looks like a load of wishful, political thinking.

There are two dark clouds over the economy today.

One is the threat, if not the probability, of an auto strike. The other is the licking the apparel business and soft goods industries are taking.

The threatening auto strike can be serious. The auto makers are not only unwilling to limit labor costs but they must. They have been losing more and more sales to cheaper-labor European and Japanese imports; sales of U.S.-made cars have been declining; and the makers have been betting hundreds of millions of dollars on new compact models, which will yield small profits even if they are magnificently successful.

Meanwhile, Leonard

ART BUCHWALD

Woodcock, the new head of the United Auto Workers Union, has to prove that he is a worthy successor to the late Walter Reuther or give away to some younger, leftish upstart.

That can add up to a long strike. A long strike can depress business even further.

The Second Fear

The soft goods industry is in a triple panic.

First, it is constricted by the fact that most apparel is postponable purchases. Those who have taken a licking in the stock market, and those who have lost jobs in the rise in unemployment, can't postpone buying food or transportation or paying rent and medical charges, but they can make clothing do.

A woman told me that she had brought out of her closet a coat that she had bought with her first paycheck 22 years ago which, she said, is almost identical in styling with a coat being advertised today.

That points up the second panic: the uncertainty about styling.

Women with spending power are holding back purchase because the fall and winter styles are uncertain. Uncertainty has spread far beyond the length of skirts. Consequently stores are slowing down orders until there are better indications. And many apparel makers have sold out, gone broke or simply closed doors.

Another woman told me of taking her mother to the suburban ranch of a swank downtown store to buy her a new coat. Money was of scant object. Yet in the coat department there were neither coats nor other shoppers. Store buyers and consumers are waiting things out.

The third panic is over the possible auto-strike, which is almost as bad as a strike would be. Many stores have slowed buying not only of apparel but of other goods.

One of the largest retail chains in the country has sent confidential advisories to all regional executives giving explicit instructions on what to do in event of an auto strike. It is understood to cover handling of inventory, layoffs, credit granting and collections.

Actor Cuts Swath

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Any woman in the world would be happy to buy pork chops from a butcher as handsome as Alain Delon — no matter how heavy a thumb he put on the scales.

But the actor, who once whacked up hams in his stepfather's pork shop in a Paris suburb, is now cutting a wider swath as an international matinee idol.

At 34, tall, dark, blue-eyed and handsome, Delon is strikingly reminiscent of the late Tyrone Power. In the latest of his 30 or more films, "Borsalino," which he also produced, he is co-starred with Jean-Paul Belmondo. They play a couple of small-time rogues who wind up dominating the Marseilles underworld.

Vanity is about the only buffer an actor has between himself and the rude shocks of this world, and many a one believes his career to be the most important thing in the universe.

Alain regards his craft with a more Gallic practicality.

"A statesman, a scientist or a writer can put his stamp upon his time," he said, "but not an actor. There is a difference between creativity and interpretation."

"I don't have the vanity to want to be eternal. A famous painter might paint your portrait, and it might be eternal — but you wouldn't be eternal. It is only the creation that is eternal. It remains. The individual is dead."

Alain put down his butcher knife at 17 and spent four years in the French marines. He worked briefly as a porter before journeying with a group of actor friends to the film festival at Cannes, where he caught the eyes of producers.

"Life is a constant fight, but beautiful," he said. "You fight every day for what you believe, but it is worth it. It is all too short anyway. It is a race run so fast it is a shame."

"I want to live for myself and the few people I love. I want to do only the things I believe in deeply, so that I can look in the mirror at my face and not be ashamed."

Divorced more than two years ago from his actress wife, Nathalie Delon, Alain is devoted to his 6-year-old son Anthony.

"I worry only about him and no one else," he said. "All my life is him. He is the continuation of myself."

"I am almost of the past. He is the future."

"He is so sensitive, so touching — and so sensible. I'd like him to be a surgeon."

Discussing his own personality, Alain said he felt his best quality was "a sense of friendship," and his worst fault lack of self-control.

"I lose my temper over things, big or little, when people are weak or mean. There is too much hypocrisy in life."

Scant Embassy Concern, Assault Victim Says Says Bereaved Parent Her Eyes Were Covered

MURPHY, N. C. (AP) — A North Carolina pharmacist who says he spent three days fighting red tape before getting his son's body home after an airplane disaster in Peru has accused the American embassy at

Lima of showing "a lack of concern."
Kenneth Godfrey's 17-year-old son, Kenneth Allen Godfrey, was one of 49 American exchange students killed Aug. 9 when a Peruvian airliner crashed near Cuzco, about 380 miles from the capital of Lima. The youths were returning from a trip to Inca ruins.

Godfrey and his wife were visiting their son at the time. They wanted to bring his body back to North Carolina for funeral services and burial, but Godfrey said, "I got more help and more compassion from the hotel owner than from the American embassy."

He said U. S. officials were unwilling to help him obtain a death certificate so the body could be embalmed and shipped. A press officer at the embassy said Thursday the staff "is confident that it did everything possible to speed up the administrative process for removing the bodies and to make the tragic task a little less painful."

He added that the deputy chief of mission talked with the

Godfrey and was a ware of the "complex business of getting the necessary work completed to satisfy Peruvian legal regulations before the bodies could be taken out of the country."

"All it would have taken is somebody with some concern to go over to Cuzco to get the death certificates," Godfrey said.

Godfrey, who speaks no Spanish, said he had trouble communicating with Peruvian officials. It's another world, you know," he said.

Godfrey charged that American embassy officials "should have been there (in Cuzco). They were just sitting in the office and waiting for it to pop up on the desk."

The North Carolinian said he obtained the death certificate only when a Peruvian acquaintance went to Cuzco and sent the document back on a commercial airliner. Then, he said, an officer at the embassy called to ask him how he accomplished that.

His son was buried in Murphy Sunday a day after his body arrived.

Testimony, which began yesterday afternoon, continued this morning in the trial of Elmo Barber, charged with rape and burglary in connection with an April 27 incident at Brook Valley.

The 22-year-old Negro and a 26-year-old white man, Thomas Earl Stocks are charged with forcing their way into a Windsor Road home and assaulting Mrs. Ann Baker Barry, 24.

Mrs. Barry was the first witness called for the state yesterday and Superior Court Judge Joshua S. James instructed all spectators not connected with the trial of the case to vacate the courtroom during the time Mrs. Barry testified.

According to Mrs. Barry, she and her young daughter were alone in her father's home at the time of the attack.

She testified that she awoke about 1:30 a.m. when two men entered her bedroom. "I just remember sitting up screaming. One was Negro and one was white."

"They covered my mouth and my eyes and put a knife to my throat and told me that if I screamed, they would kill me and my baby," the witness testified. Mrs. Barry said the two men then assaulted her.

"I tried to resist, but they would poke the knife in me and say if I didn't quiet down, they would kill my baby."

"Are you unable to say that the defendant (Barber) is the man that was in your room?" asked District Solicitor Luther Hamilton.

"Yes sir," Mrs. Barry replied.

explaining that hands covered her eyes during the time the two men were in her bedroom.

Cross examination of the witness, begun yesterday before court was adjourned for the day, was resumed for a brief period this morning by defense attorneys M. E. Cavendish and Robert Browning.

Mrs. Barry told Cavendish that she was not physically injured other than small cuts or scratches made on her neck by the knife.

Ptl. E. H. Atkinson, an identification officer with the Greenville Police Department and the City-County Bureau of Identification took the stand before lunch. He told that he lifted several finger prints and "what appeared to be" palm prints from the inside of Mrs. Barry's bedroom door after arriving at the home after 2:30 a.m.

Propose Mixing Mobiles And Standard Homes

LEXINGTON, N. C. (AP) — The Lexington Planning Board will hold public hearings this fall on a new housing proposal — mobile homes intermixed with standard dwellings.

The idea as proposed by board member Tony Craver Jr., a builder of conventional homes, would let moderately priced trailers be used to help solve the housing problems of the poor or newlyweds who can't afford anything else.

"We felt our ordinance was backwards," Craver said. "We permit a trailer park, but not a single trailer. Yet we know that crime problems and general slum-type conditions come from high-density living."

"We can't build a new home for $6,000 to $7,000. But a family can buy a new mobile home, furnished, at that price."

Find Wreckage Of 1943 Crash

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PORT MORESBY, New Guinea (AP) — A Lutheran missionary has found the wreckage of a World War II American bomber with four skeletons in it on Mt. Schrader about 120 miles west of Madang, Australian officials said today.

The Rev. Davis Schendall discovered the wreckage while traveling on foot through the rugged mountain area near the north coast of the New Guinea trust territory. He found identification tags among the skeletons, and Australian officials are now assembling information on the plane and its occupants to forward to Washington.

The plane is believed to have crashed in 1943, officials said.

battery will allow. The only place one Sicilian will pass another Sicilian is on a curve. Occasionally a car or truck will be coming the other way, and then the driver faces what is known in Sicily as "the moment of truth."

If he swerves to avoid the oncoming car, he will be considered a coward and his whole family will be in disgrace. He just force the other car to swerve. To see two brave men meeting face to face on a Sicilian highway is a sight one will never forget.

The one thing that can slow up a Sicilian driver is a donkey cart. All the donkey carts in Sicily are beautifully painted with pictures of knights in armor and scenes of great battles. Drivers of donkey carts get most of their sleep on the roads of Sicily and the donkeys seem to also.

A donkey cart can be found on any side of a Sicilian road, going in any direction. Although the carts themselves only take up one lane, the hay the carts carry is purposely laid horizontally across them, taking up two or sometimes three lanes, thus making it impossible for anyone to see what is happening ahead.

Donkey drivers are used to the sound of automobile horns and can rarely be waked up by one. The best thing you can do when you're caught behind a donkey cart is to relax and enjoy the painted pictures.

It is an accepted fact that when a Sicilian car is approaching a village, the driver speeds up and presses his hand on the horn as hard as he can. But instead of frightening the villagers, it has exactly the opposite effect. Children rush out of their houses at the sound of a horn and start playing in the streets, dogs out minding sheep rush into town to find out what is going on and chickens start crossing the road to get to the other side.

The driver who has his honor at stake refuses to slow down, and the village population refuses to get out of his way. I can't tell you how it is possible for a car to get through a village without hitting anything since I've always had my eyes closed when I've gone through one.

Barbers Urged Not Patronize 'Shaggy'

By PAUL DRISCOLL
Associated Press Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — The number of barbers in Chicago has been trimmed by the long-hair fad, so their union is urging them to cut their patronage of the shaggy maned.

"We've lost about 400 barbers in the last couple of years," said Thomas Siracusa, secretary-treasurer of Local 548 of the Journeyman Barbers Union, AFL-CIO.

Siracusa said Thursday that his local, which he described as the largest in the nation, is down to a membership of 2,500 from close to 3,000 about two years ago.

"In our magazine we try to promote the clean-cut look," he said. "And we're telling our barbers not to patronize long-hairs."

"They don't give us any business," he said. "Why should we give them any?"

"I even told my wife, 'If you go to a store where longhairs work don't buy there, go someplace else.'"

"And what can the wives say?" Siracusa continued. "If we don't bring home the money what can they do?"

"I think the government should do something about it," Siracusa said.

"They should kick these longhairs out of school, as dirty as some of them are. This is a national problem, it's hurting barbers all across the country."

He said many of the barbers in his local quit the trade to go into another business. Most of the job attrition has been in shops that employed more than one barber.

"If a barber shop had three barbers," Siracusa said, "it's down to one or two barbers. They just can't afford to keep on more."

hundred countries." Under the IMF method of computing, the dollar is worth 78.3 cents. "Despite the impact of these Washington-influenced techniques," wrote Pick, "the author will not hesitate to disregard them." The "logical" value of the dollar, he maintains, is less than one-half that and is heading toward 34 cents by the end of the year.

Hunt Two Men In Gun Slaying

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Two men are being sought in the slaying of a Winston-Salem service station attendant early Thursday.

Police said Bobby Anders, 19, of Rt. 3, Sparta, was slain while he was the alone at the station. They said two boys who were fixing a flat tire in the rear of the station saw two men just before hearing shots.

Tennessee Says Bootleg Drive Is Paying Off

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Tennessee officials say an anti-bootlegging campaign against cigarette imports is paying off. The number of taxed packs of cigarettes being sold is higher than a year ago.

Tennessee, which has a 13-cent tax on cigarettes, had been plagued with bootlegged cigarettes from neighboring states with lower taxes. So this spring it took steps to halt the practice. Among the actions were billboards warning motorists that they violate the law if they bring in more than two cartons of untaxed cigarettes. Another was aimed at counterfeit tax stamps.

State Revenue Commissioner Thomas D. Benson said Thursday that the tax collection from cigarettes rose $367,971 in July over July 1969.

Larkins Allows 'Intervention'

TRENTON — An intervention into the case of Edwards versus the Greenville City School Board was allowed by Federal District Court Judge John Larkins Jr. here this morning.

Barry Christopher Henderson, by his guardian, Christopher Henderson, is the intervenor plaintiff.

Judge Larkins gave until August 28 for the intervenor plaintiffs, other plaintiffs, and defendants to file responses. Discovery procedures were permitted in this case.

The petition by the intervenor plaintiff for preliminary injunction restraining the school board from implementing the school plan was taken under advisement by Judge Larkins pending responses of plaintiffs and defendants.

The petition for preliminary injunction was entered this morning as part of the case by Attorney Laurence Graham and was taken under advisement.

The use of discovery procedure permits plaintiffs and defendants to take evidence by deposition which may be permitted to be entered into the record at the time of the hearing next Friday. Judge Larkins said discovery procedure could begin immediately.

W.W. Speight, attorney for the School Board, agreed to the motion of intervention, but said that the Board will take exception to the motion for the preliminary injunction.

Call Antipoverty Discussions

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (AP) — A meeting of delegates from all antipoverty programs in North Carolina will be held to strengthen the program and help individual associations.

This was decided Thursday as a statewide association of antipoverty workers laid the groundwork for a united front of all welfare agencies.

North Carolina Community Action Association, a group of 24 Office of Economic Opportunity agencies, approved plans for the meeting. The date will be decided later.

mixture from the river. The booms in the river have been placed at angles to cause the oil to flow to one area and the suction operations will be concentrated at these areas, he added.

He explained that when the operation is begun by the firm, flexible hoses from the truck will be run into the accumulation and the mixture will be sucked into the trucks. The apparatus is designed to separate the oil and pump the water back into the river. Tankers will be at the scene to receive the oil as it is pumped out of the truck.

Representatives from the Air and Water Resources board worked through the night to curb the flow of oil beyond the booms and very little oil has managed to get by the barriers, it was reported.

City officials took the initial steps to soak up the oil in the immediate area of the town creek sewer outlet and tons of straw was placed in the basin.

Officials report that there is no threat to the water supplies of Greenville since water is pumped from the river up stream from the outlet. Washington gets its water from Tranter's Creek and would not be affected by the discharge.

The assistant director of the Department of Water and Air Resources in Raleigh, Earle Hubbard, said this morning that he has received no reports of any fish kill in the area or any threat to wildlife.

Hubbard said he understood that the only possible danger that could arise would be from the oil sealing off the oxygen content of the water but that since the slick does not cover the

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Police Chief Bruce Baker says the third fatal shooting of a policeman in the San Francisco Bay area in two months was a political assassination.

"This is a technique that has been suggested by various underground newspapers," Baker said at a news conference about the shooting of Patrolman Ronald T. Tsukamoto, 28, early Thursday.

"Various speeches . . . have incited such acts," he said.

The chief said the officer was issuing a routine warning to a motorcyclist who had made a U-turn on University Avenue when a tall black man walked up, said a few conversational words, then pulled a revolver and fired point blank.

"There is no doubt that this shooting was political," Baker said. "We call it an act of assassination."

The motorcyclist used the patrolman's car radio to summon help, but by that time the gunman had run to a waiting car and been driven away, police said.

entire river that situation was not a threat. Officials report that the clean up operation will last for several days and the combined efforts of the Water and Air Resources department, the U.S. Coast Guard, the State Highway Commission and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers are being concentrated in the clean-up operation.

Riley has said that there was no fire hazard as a result of the oil discharge.

Yankees Snap Twins String

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Mel Stottlemyre and Ron Reed switched their talents to slugging, and the right-handed pitchers came out with a pair of victories—and a draw.

Stottlemyre took his frustrations out against Minnesota, ripping a two-run, seventh-inning triple that enabled the New York Yankees to nip the Twins, West Division leaders of the American League, 4-3 Thursday night.

Reed, Atlanta's tall curveballer, drilled a run-scoring single in the middle of a three-run second inning as the Braves trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-2 in the only other major league game.

Reed also came out with a no-decision in an exchange of blows with teammate Rico Carty prior to Wednesday night's game, the Atlanta Journal reported.

The incident between Carty, the major league's leading hitter with a .357 average and Reed, now 6-5 after missing half of the season with a separated shoulder, occurred in the Braves' dressing room and involved the removal of Little League bats by Carty from Reed's locker.

Club officials confirmed the incident but said: "It was just a case of a couple of guys getting a little mad. It happens with all clubs sooner or later." Carty previously had been involved in a fight with Hank Aaron aboard a plane in 1967.

Stottlemyre, 12-10, who was thrown out of Wednesday night's game against the Twins when he disputed a call from the bench, held the Twins to seven hits and all three runs in seven innings. Lindy McDaniel stopped Minnesota over the final two frames.

Leo Cardenas drove in a pair of Minnesota runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and George Mitterwald socked a homer for the Twins, now five games in front of California.

Felix Millan knocked in a pair of runs for the Braves with a single and sacrifice fly and Reed stymied the Phils on seven hits for his second straight triumph. Carty had a double in the seventh and scored on an error.

Leo Cardenas drove in a pair of Minnesota runs with a homer and sacrifice fly and George Mitterwald socked a homer for the Twins, now five games in front of California.

Felix Millan knocked in a pair of runs for the Braves with a single and sacrifice fly and Reed stymied the Phils on seven hits for his second straight triumph. Carty had a double in the seventh and scored on an error.

Furman Program Is On The Upswing

By WOODY PEELE
(Reflector Sports Editor
Fourth of a series)

Furman University's Paladins have gone from being one of the powerhouses in the Southern Conference to being one of the doormats during the past 12 years.

But there may be signs that Furman is on the way back up. Coach Bob King recalls that when he came to Furman in 1958, the schools was at the crossroads in football, hoping to start a good, sound program.

"We worked up to 60 scholarships in four years," King said. "We had a 7-3 year and were invited to the Tangerine Bowl."

Then, in 1963, Furman decided to scrap its program of scholarships and go into one based only on need. "This was a blow to the program," King said. "We went for three years using only this type of approach to recruit players. Some people in the country feel this is the trend in football because it is becoming so expensive."

"Well, that won't be true, but if it ever comes about, it won't come from people connected with football. It does not have the potential for a successful football program."

And King speaks from experience. Since 1963, when the program was put into effect, Furman has won only 17 games, while losing 41 and tying two. There were two break-even seasons, but not a single winning one.

"It took us five years to prove that you can't win with 34 scholarships when the next team in the conference had 52. So we have decided to improve. We're going to up our grants to 50 within the next two years. This will be a great help despite our still being last in the conference in grants. I hope we'll continue to improve."

King said that 24 freshmen were recruited for this year, and some of them are on full grants for the first time since 1963. "You don't get good ones on half grants," he added.

"We've also picked up five junior college players, what we call 'instant help.' We believe there are more good football players in junior colleges than ever before and we're going to go after a lot of them."

Based on all this, King is optimistic for the future. But the future is still at least a year away, and he must field a team this year.

There are 21 lettermen back for the Paladins this season. Fourteen are offensive players and the other seven are on the defensive unit. "Our offense is in better shape than the defense, and this is no accident. We've always been able to move the football; you have to score to draw the fans. Some people are asking when the defense is going to catch up with the offense. I hope it never does... unless it's our defense and our offense."

Furman will employ the prototype offense. "We don't have the type of players who can use the T and run over you," King said. "We have to spread 'em out and use speed."

King believes he was an outstanding quarterback to help move the Paladin offense in Cleve Hightower. "He looked real good in the spring game, and John Wolf from looked good right behind him. But one of our junior college boys, John Deleo, could push them both."

"You've got to have blocking," King added, and this might be a problem. "We've got some good ends to catch the ball in Byron Trotter and Philip Howle. Flanker Rodney Acker could develop into an outstanding receiver, and our fullback, Pat Carroll will be doing a lot of running."

Defensively, Furman will use an eight-man front. "We feel we can adjust better from this. We may be in trouble here, however, since we'll probably have five sophomores starting. Two of these, David Shi and George Harbin, will be ends, and we have an outstanding sophomore in Ivey Stewart, a linebacker. The other two are Jimmy Hagelthorn at halfback and Donald Haynie at tackle."

King feels the two best defensive players are Chuck Cross at linebacker and Don Calhoun at safety. "We're going to have to make some sacrifices personnel-wise. We want to have our best players on defense this year."

King also believes he has a basically sound kicking game. Jim Newmeyer will handle the kicking duties. All in all, 1970 might find the Paladins down near the bottom again. But, if things continue, the Paladins may be ready to start the hard climb back to the top again.

Kapp's Lawyers Talk Of Million-Plus Suit

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Joe Kapp and the Minnesota Vikings are still $1 million apart and money alone can't bridge the gap between Jim Nance and the Boston Patriots.

In contrast, all that stands between Roger Brown and the Los Angeles Rams is a 29-pound weight lag. But it appears that Brown's gain will be the Fearso's loss.

While a lawyer for quarterback Kapp threatened the Vikings with a multimillion dollar court suit and the Patriots reached an impasse in contract talks with fullback Nance Thursday, the Rams quietly "retired" defensive tackle Brown, a 10-year National Football League standout, because of his 329-pound impost.

Roger had three fine years for the Rams and I'm sorry to see him go," said Coach George Allen. "He has at least three more good years... if he takes care of himself."

Big Roger reported to the Rams' training camp at a not-so-svelte 334 pounds—and was barred from practice pending a drastic reduction. But, despite rigorous efforts, he managed to shed just five pounds before the club lost patience.

The former All-Pro performer, acquired by Los Angeles in a 1967 trade with the Detroit Lions, was placed on the reserve list.

Attorney John Cook, representing Kapp, the NFL's No. 1 holdout, charged that the free agent quarterback's negotiating efforts were being sabotaged by "gentlemen's agreements" among the club owners.

"If Joe is unable to play football because of those tactics," Cook told the San Antonio News, "they (the owners) will be confronted with a multimillion dollar anti-trust and fraudulent connivance suit."

Nance, who, like Kapp, played out his option last year, had been bargaining through representatives, with the Patriots for several months. But the club said Thursday that the negotiations had been broken off.

"While the financial terms were satisfactory for both parties, and have been for several weeks," Pats President William H. Sullivan Jr. said, "there were certain conditions desired by Nance and his advisors that the Patriots felt they could not grant without giving up some of the prerogatives of management."

Elsewhere, Baltimore and Pittsburgh swapped gifted pass receivers, the Colts picking up All-NFL Roy Jefferson in exchange for Willie Richardson, a seven-year vet, plus a high 1970 draft choice.

"Jefferson is one of those scorers," Colts General Manager Don Klosterman said of the sixth-year pro whose 67 catches last season set a Steeler record. "We are expecting great things out of his speed and ability to get open for pass receptions."

Richardson caught 43 passes for the Colts last season. "He's a fine athlete and we are very fortunate to get him," said Steelers' Coach Chuck Noll.

Two games kick off the weekend exhibition schedule tonight. Atlanta invades Washington and Philadelphia visits Buffalo.

Tommy Nibis, who sat out Atlanta's last nine games in 1969 with a damaged knee, returns at middle linebacker for the Falcons, who are coming off a 33-7 romp over the New York Jets.

They should have their hands full this time against the Redskins' Sonny Jurgensen, who fired four scoring passes in a 45-21 massacre of Boston last Sunday.

Quarterback Dennis Shaw, the Bills' No. 1 draft pick who signed a $100,000 three-year contract Wednesday, will watch second-year man Jimmy Harris direct the Buffalo attack against

Ever Wonder Why Terms Are Used?

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
NEW YORK (AP) — The ancient Olympic Games were performed in the nude and the performers were known as "lovers," says a leading authority on the English language.

But "love" means "nothing" in tennis and bowling gets its name from "bubble," the kind used by strip-teasers in the 1940s.

If you score, you "notch," according to Dr. H. Bosley Woolf, managing editor of the Merriam-Webster dictionaries, who has just completed a study of the derivation of sports terms.

"In the golden age of Greece, athletics played an important part in everyday life, and physical strength and grace were highly regarded," Dr. Woolf said. "The athletes, in their games, were not impeded by costumes. They exercised nude. The original Olympic Games were conducted in the nude."

The word "gymnastics," he added, stems from the Greek "Gymnos" (nude) and "Gymnaszein" (exercise naked).

Only amateurs compete in the Olympics—or so insists Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee. The word "amateur" comes from the Latin "amator," or "lover," meaning one who indulges for the love of the game.

"Love" in tennis is derived from the French "l'oeuf," meaning goose-egg or zero. The sport itself gets its name from the French exclamation "tenez" (take it!) and "racket" comes from the Arabic "rahat," or palm of the hand. It was first handball.

The root of the general term "sport" is the Latin "des" (away) and "porto" (carry).

"Of course, that is what sports really do," Dr. Woolf says. "They carry us away from the cares and daily routine of the workaday world."

"Athlete" is borrowed from both Latin and Greek, "athlein" and "athlos," meaning to contend for a prize. "Arena" stems from the Latin "harena," sand or a sandy place. Norway contributed "skor," which became "score" or "notch."

Dr. Woolf's dictionaries show that hockey got its name from the Middle French "hoquet," or shepherd's crook, implying the game was played in the early Christian era by sheep-herders. Bowling is derived from the Latin "bulla," or bubble.

The early Dutch played with clubs they called "kolf" or "colf," from which golf came. Squash is just as rubber sounds when it is struck by a racket. Skeet is one of the newest sports terms, from the Norwegian "skjota," or shoot, adopted in 1920 after a nationwide contest.

It's okay to run nude in the Olympics and inject love into tennis, but it's worse not to show up at all or default.

"Forfeit," says Dr. Woolf, is a compound of the Middle French "fors" (outside) and "fait" (done), meaning something done outside the law.

"To forfeit is a crime, punishable by law."

Drills Start At ACC Camps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
With the first game for all Atlantic Coast Conference football teams scheduled Sept. 12, practice is just getting under way at three schools while at Clemson workouts are tapering off to one a day.

The Tigers started earlier because classes begin earlier. New Coach Hootie Ingram has ended twice-daily drills for his team and Thursday sent the squad through a two-hour session in 91-degree heat.

Wake Forest Coach Cal Stoll will greet 69 candidates today for physicals. The first practice will be Monday.

At South Carolina, Coach Paul Dietzel greets his defending ACC champions today and plans workouts beginning Monday.

Another day—and a better day when you provide financial security for retirement with a Horace Mann retirement program. Call now for details.

Putts Give Two Stroke AvcoLead

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer
SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Raindrops kept falling and so did the putts, sending veteran Dan Sikes into a two-stroke lead in the opening round of the $160,000 Avco Golf Classic.

"It's probably the best putting round I've had in my life," the 39-year-old non-practicing attorney who retains membership in the Florida Bar Association said Thursday.

"I've been playing golf for 20 years and this must be the best putting I've ever done," Sikes said after mastering mammoth greens for a six-under-par 66 at Pleasant Valley Country Club. Carrying an umbrella, Sikes was an early starter in the bulky field of 153. He got off to a watery start, taking three putts for a bogey four on the first green.

However, the drawing veteran from Florida quickly adjusted to the sprinkles, reacting like a duck. He registered four consecutive birdies starting with the second hole, and finished with a total of eight birds despite three three-putt greens on the 7,212-yard course.

"I had a couple of other chances for birdies with reasonable putts, but I guess I had collected my share," Sikes said.

"This is a nice start, but the important thing is the finish. I usually get tangled up somewhere along the line in 72-hole tournaments such as this. The older you get, the more you run out of gas."

Sikes, winless in two years on the PGA tour, came within one stroke of Pleasant Valley's competitive course record. He stamped himself as a top threat for the $32,000 first prize.

However, he had plenty of contenders waiting for him to falter in the second round today. Just two strokes back were Billy Casper, Bobby Mitchell, John Schlee and local product Joe Carr. The four just missed in bids to overtake Sikes in the first round, each settling for 68.

Defending champion Tom Shaw, Dave Eichelberger, Don Bies, Tom Aycock, Jim Colbert and R. H. Sikes were bunched at 69. Then, another stroke back with 70, were U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin, Lee Trevino, Tom Weiskopf, Bob Goalby, Herb Hooper, Lou Graham, Lionel Hebert, and Lloyd Monroe.

Gary Player and Dave Stockton, the newly crowned PGA champion, were tied with a flock of entries with 72.

After three-putting from 20 feet on the first hole, Dan Sikes earned his birdies with putts of 15, 10, 12, 8, 12, 25, and 30, and 10 feet.

"The second hole was the key," Sikes said. "Everything seemed to go right for me after I holed that 15-footer downhill."

Drafting May Play Big Role At Talladega

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Dick Brooks, a Californian who won NASCAR Rookie of the Year honors last season, has a hot tip for drivers who want to win Sunday's $135,000 Talladega 500 Stock Car Race.

"All you gotta do is draft another car for 499 miles, then pass everybody on the last lap," he said Thursday. "That's the way to do it, the only way."

Brooks, 29, was one of many drivers who had complained earlier this year about the increasing speeds of stock racing cars on the big speedways.

And he was among the first to approve when NASCAR imposed a rule 10 days ago that requires special plates to reduce venturi openings on carburetors. The idea is to slow the cars down, and at the same time reduce the number of broken engines and suspension failures.

The rule went into effect at the Yankee 400 in Michigan last Sunday. The 4,000-pound stockers ran 45 miles slower than they did at the same track in June and only two of the 40 starters had to quit because of engine failures.

But the most dramatic evidence of the effectiveness of the rule came at Talladega Thursday when 20 drivers, including Brooks, earned starting spots in the 50-car field for Sunday's ace at Alabama International Speedway, a highly banked 2.66-mile trioval.

Bobby Isaac won the pole position at 186.834 miles per hour — in the same winged Dodge with which he posted 199.658 m.p.h. for the pole spot in the Alabama 500 here last April.

All of the other drivers were running proportionately slower, and many of them complained heartily that the new carburetor plate was working too well at Talladega.

"The car runs like it was on strike," Brooks laughed. "I may need someone to ride with me to keep me from falling asleep."

Brooks' Plymouth, which has finished fifth or better in 13 races this season and earned him $39,612, will start in eighth place after qualifying at 178.580 m.p.h.

He believes the drafting technique — riding in the slipstream of a faster car — used at Daytona Beach and some of the other southern speedways will be an important factor in Sunday's race.

"You can't draft very well at speeds above 190 m.p.h. like we ran here in April. But Sunday's pace should be around 175 m.p.h. and that's just right for drafting. I'm planning to hitch a ride behind one of the faster cars and hang on for 499 miles. That should put me right in there at the finish."

Pete Hamilton, a 26-year-old Plymouth driver who won the April race here, said the new carburetor rule and the drafting technique probably will keep more cars running at the finish. Therefore, he said, pit stops will play an important role for the winner.

"I'm sure you will see several of the top crews practicing their pit stop procedures before the week is out, trying to pick up a second or two for their driver."

Twenty additional spots in the field will be filled today.

Four Teen-Agers Set New Swimming Records

By BOB EGELKO
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Alice Jones was elated, Dobbie Meyer was calm, Mike Stamm knew he could swim as fast as he did and John Kinsella was disappointed he hadn't swum faster.

But the four teen-agers have three things in common: newly minted national AAU titles, world records, and sights set on the 1972 Olympics in Munich — which made Thursday's opening night of the 1970 AAU championships a good one for U.S. hopes.

Miss Jones, a pert brown-haired 18-year-old coed at the University of Cincinnati, had never swum the 100-meter butterfly in less than 1:06.7 before Thursday. Then came a meet record in the morning preliminaries, and a sizzling 1:04.11 clocking in the finals that cut nearly a half-second off Ada Kok's five-year-old record.

"I can't believe it—I always choked before," she said, breathless but happy after the race. She led the qualifying last year but finished seventh.

Miss Meyer, 18, from Sacramento, Calif., had the aplomb of someone who's been there before, as indeed she has. Her 4:24.32 clocking in the 400-meter freestyle lowered one of three world records she owns, a mark she set during trials in this same Los Angeles Swim Stadium pool for the 1968 Olympics in which she won three gold medals.

Debbie started slower than her 1968 pace. "I didn't think it was going to be a record," she admitted. But she picked up the pace and started to sense the record.

"I knew it was going to have to hurt," she said. "I could feel the strain down to my toes."

Kinsella, a muscular 17-year-old from Hinsdale, Ill., apologized for his 400-meter time after the race. "I thought I could go faster," he said, "but I haven't been out in a while."

His time of 4:02.81 was fast enough to shatter the record set last year at 4:04 by West German Hans Fassnacht, who finished seventh. Olympic champion Mike Burton of Arden Hills, Calif. finished second.

Stamm, 17, from San Diego, figured he could swim the 200-meter backstroke "faster than I went in the prelims," when he led qualifiers at 2:07.6.

He proved himself right in the finals, withstanding a late rush by Gary Hall to win in 2:06.33, breaking East German Roland Matthes' year-old mark of 2:06.5.

Jose Fiolo's American record of 1:06.9 in the 100-meter breaststroke took a beating Thursday. Fiolo broke it twice himself, but finished only third in the finals, as Brian Job of Santa Clara, Calif., overtook him in the stretch to win in 1:06.49.

Susie Atwood and Mark Spitz won their events easily but fell short of their own world records.

The women's 200-meter breaststroke went to Linda Kurtz, of Long Beach, in 2:16.66.

Leaders

PITCHING—Ron Reed, Braves tossed a seven-hitter as Atlanta topped Philadelphia, 6-2.

BATTING—Mel Scottlemyre, Yankees, drilled a two-run triple in the seventh inning, giving New York a 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

Pair Leading Eastern Amateur

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP) —

Rick Wolfe and George Haines are a couple of likable guys plugging along in amateur golf. Rick is a college student, George a school teacher.

They'd be the last to stir up things in a crowd, yet on Thursday in the first round of the Eastern Amateur tournament, they led the wildest assault on the Elizabeth Manor course in 14 years.

Wolfe, 20, a Michigan State Senior and an economics major, and Haines, 27, a sixth-grade instructor at a Quaker Prep School near Philadelphia, were the instigators of the whole par-breaking uprising by shooting a pair of five-under-par 65s.

When the hectic, 90-degree day had ended in the opening round of the tournament, 18 golfers had bettered par and 76 had shot 73 or lower.

The record for the Eastern's 72-hole distance is just five-under-par 275 and it has stood for eight years — since Charlie Smith's 275 in 1962.

What was the answer to the first-round bombing the field administered Thursday?

"It's simply this, said Wolfe. "This is the strongest amateur field put together on one course this year."

Jim Simons of Butler, Pa., and Wake Forest University had 68.

Among those shooting 69 was the defending champion, Lanny Wadkins of Richmond, also a student at Wake Forest.

Raleigh Board To Reconsider Busing Decision

RALEIGH (AP)—The Raleigh school board plans to re-examine its decision to discontinue bus service to city pupils. The board decided this Thursday at a meeting at which eight attendance plans for the coming year were outlined. The plans, submitted by citizens, range from strict geographic assignment proposals to racial balance. Chairman Casper Holyrod said the board will meet again as soon as possible to consider the eight plans and the possibility of providing bus service for all city pupils. A three-judge federal court ruled earlier this year that North Carolina school systems would have to bus all or none of their city children living more than 1 1/2 miles from school.

Broadcasters To Hear Broyhill

BANNER ELK, N.C. (AP)—Problems facing the broadcasting industry are expected to be discussed by Rep. James Broyhill, R-N.C., Saturday night during the annual meeting of the North Carolina Associated Press Broadcasters Association. The meeting began today. Broyhill is a member of the House Interstate Commerce Committee, which oversees operations of the Federal Communications Commission. He will speak at the annual awards banquet of the association, when AP member stations will be honored for outstanding news contributions. The organization's president is Jack Brown, general manager of WLON, Lincolnton. The glue secreted by barnacles is the world's strongest, with a shear strength of more than 7,000 pounds per square inch.

You've got a lot to live

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
