Some Flooding, Power Outages In Night Storm

An electrical storm late yesterday and last night caused power outages and some flooding in the Greenville area. Charles Horne, director of the Greenville Utilities Commission, reported the electrical storm caused a great deal of problems late yesterday and late last night. Horne said some control equipment which failed to function caused most of the damage yesterday. "Most of the power outages were widespread over the entire

Public Drunk Costs Cited

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Mecklenburg County Sheriff Donald W. Stahl says "something has got to be done" about public drunkenness — a problem he estimates costs local taxpayers about $190,000 a year. "We never have fewer than 60 in here at one time for public drunkenness," he said. "We usually have more than that." City police estimate manhours spent in handling the drunks take $65,000 out of the annual police department budget. Judicial procedures made necessary by picking up the drunks cost another $25,000. The jailing costs run about $100,000 a year, Stahl estimated.

Vandals

Greenville police reported vandals entered Eppes High School and caused damage throughout the entire building over the weekend. Officers on patrol reported finding a rear door to the school open about 5:04 p.m. Sunday. Investigating, police found equipment in the building had been damaged. In addition, two United States flags and one North Carolina flag had been placed on the floor and ink poured on them. Investigation of the vandalism is under way.

Agnew Reassures S. Korea

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF Associated Press Writer SEOUL (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew told South Korea today that the United States is transferring a wing of F4 Phantom jet fighters from Japan to Korea and will supply additional military assistance, including planes with special radar equipment to detect infiltrating North Korean boats. Arriving in Seoul for a two-day visit to reaffirm U.S. intentions of helping South Korea's anti-Communist government, Agnew announced the new mili-ary aid in a speech at City Hall Plaza before paying a courtesy call on President Chung Hee Park. The new aid is intended to ease South Korean objections to the U.S. decision to withdraw by next June 30 some 20,000 of the 62,000 U.S. troops in Korea. The vice president did not go into details. A week ago, the New York Times reported that the arrival of the Phantom wing—three squadrons totaling 54 planes—would not increase American air strength in Korea greatly because at least two other Phantom squadrons which have been in the country on rotational assignment from the United States will go home soon. Following his courtesy call to Park, Agnew confers with President Park Tuesday to receive some details of the specific weapons and equipment the Koreans feel they need to make up for the 20,000 American troops to be withdrawn. American officials said the Koreans are seeking $13 billion worth of aid over five years. Launching a four-nation Asian trip, Agnew flew here from Guam, where he spent the night after the trans-pacific flight from California. Talking with newsmen aboard his plane, the vice president declared that "we are going to do everything we can to help the 'Lon Nol government' in Cambodia because 'the whole matter of Cambodia is related to the security of our troops in Vietnam.'"

It was the strongest support any top official of the Nixon ad-

1995 Plans

Greenville's future, including a traffic plan for 1995 and further developments in the Pitt Plaza section, figure prominently in Planning and Zoning Commission meeting, Wednesday. The agenda of the Commission, which meets Wednesday at 8:00 p.m. in the Police Assembly Room contains a total of six scheduled items. (The Police Assembly Room is located in the rear of the newly renovated City Council chambers). Items to be considered are: — Welcome of new member, William M. Nobles; election of vice-chairman; thoroughfare plan presentation by Bill Beddingfield of the Advance Planning Division, N.C. State Highway Commission, with a plan visualizing traffic in 1995; discussion of scattered housing sites by the Redevelopment Commission; rezoning of M.B. Massey, Jr. property and Westhaven Subdivision; and Pitt Plaza investments, section number one, with a plan presented by Philip E. Carroll.

Finger Prints Identical

A Federal Bureau of Investigation fingerprint examiner this morning testified in Pitt County Superior Court that three latent finger prints found on a door in a Brook Valley home April 27 and inked prints of Elmo Barber on a finger print card were "impressions made by the same fingers."

Philip W. Conover, who testified he has been engaged in fingerprint print work with the FBI for 28 1/2 years said he compared latent prints with inked impressions and found the left index, left middle and left ring fingers were "made by one and the same fingers."

Conover was comparing latent prints, which had been identified earlier as having been lifted from the inside of Mrs. Ann Baker Barry's bedroom door April 27, with inked impressions of Barber's fingers made May 4. Barber, a Negro, is on trial on charges of rape and first degree burglary stemming from an April 27 incident at Brook Valley.

Mrs. Barry, last week, described how two men, one white and the other Negro, assaulted her in the early morning hours of April 27 as she and her then-13-month-old daughter were alone in her father's Windsor Road home.

Wisconsin U. Bldg. Bombed

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — An explosion apparently caused by a bomb killed one person and heavily damaged a mathematics building containing millions of dollars worth of equipment at the University of Wisconsin today. Police said a graduate student was killed and two researchers and a watchman were injured. Nearby buildings also were damaged. Lt. Kenneth Buss said police received a telephone call at 3:40 a.m. from a person who said there was a bomb planted in the building. Buss said, "At 3:42 the building exploded. There was a flash fire."

Board To Meet

The Pitt County Board of Education will hold a special meeting tonight to discuss funding the Pitt County school district may receive from the federal aid to education legislation earmarked to aid school districts in their attempts to desegregate the schools. Members of the local school advisory councils and school principals have been invited to attend the 7:30 meeting at the Pitt County Court House. The special funds were approved by Congress when the lawmakers overturned President Nixon's veto of the school legislation several weeks ago. The money is designed to be used by local school districts in meeting problems of desegregation.

Nasser Supporters And Palestinians Battling In Lebanon

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syrian-backed guerrillas and pro-Nasser Lebanese battled today in the city of Sidon, 20 miles south of Beirut, security officials reported. They said 12 Lebanese were taken prisoner by the Al Saika guerrillas, who are controlled by the Baath Socialist party in Syria. There were no immediate reports of casualties. But the officials said the two sides had entrenched themselves behind barricades and on rooftop strongpoints. The trouble started early today when unknown persons threw explosives at the Saika office, wrecking it. No casualties were reported, but a short time later Saika guerrillas and the Nasserites were shooting at each other. Relations have been tense in recent weeks in Sidon between supporters of Gamal Adel Nas-

Claim Agnew On 'War Junket'

TOKYO (AP) — North Korea said Monday Vice President Spiro T. Agnew is visiting South Korea on "a dangerous war junket" aimed at provoking another Korean war. The North Korean Foreign Ministry said American plans to withdraw 20,000 of its 62,000 troops from South Korea actually are a "smokescreen" to shield a U.S. military buildup.

Red Captors Treated Him 'Like A Brother' Asserts U.S. Newsmen

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — "They were not my jailers or captors or enemy. Their treatment was marvelous. They treated me as a brother." Time magazine-correspondent Robert S. Anson said of the Communist troops who held him prisoner for three weeks.

The 25-year-old newsman from Cleveland, Ohio, drove back into Phnom Penh Sunday in the same car in which he was captured Aug. 3. Looking thinner than when he disappeared, he said he would stop reporting the Indochina war because "I don't want to see my friends die."

Gladson Signs Picket Permit

Police Chief Tommy Gladson said today he has signed a permit granting a group the right to picket the Police Department. Gladson said the request to picket was signed by Benny Roundtree, Pete Little, Howard Joyner, George Garrett, Calvin Henderson, C. B. Gray, W. B. Moore, John Taylor and Donovan Phillips. Permission to picket was authorized to begin at 9:30 a.m. today in the block on which the police station is located, according to Gladson. "However," the chief noted, "possibly because of the weather, no picketers have shown up so far." This was shortly before noon.

His captors were Cambodians or Vietnamese, referring to them as members of the "front."

He passed troops just south of Skoun and realized they weren't Cambodian because their helmets were camouflaged with leaves, and "Cambodian troops don't wear leaves in their helmets." He said he destroyed his American and South Vietnamese press credentials, retaining only his Cambodian card, and turned his car around. The soldiers waved at him to stop, and when he backed up two other soldiers appeared "from nowhere" and led him away. He was jogged to a command post where he explained he was a journalist. He was kept in a small house during the remainder of his capture, Anson said, but he did not reveal its location. He said he recorded a statement for his captors, which he said they plan to use in radio broadcasts, during a brief ceremony Saturday. He was given a safe conduct pass to travel in Communist territory for 24 hours, he said. Anson refused to say whether

Friday Sales Average High

The average price per hundred pounds of leaf sold on the Greenville Tobacco Market Friday was $73.86, placing it second among the four markets which sold over a million pounds of tobacco Friday. Wilson, which sold 1,499,660 pounds of tobacco for $1,107,774 averaging $73.87, topped the four markets. Rocky Mount and Kinston, which both sold more than one million pounds of leaf Friday, averaged $70.65 and $73.31 respectively. The highest average price on the Eastern Belt Friday was set on the Goldsboro market where 263,672 pounds of leaf went for an average price of $74.42 per hundred pounds. The Cooperative Stabilization Corporation Friday received 5.3 percent of the gross sales on the Greenville tobacco market Friday. A tabulation of sales on the various markets in the Eastern Belt as reported by the Federal State Market News Service includes:

Four New Principals For County

Four new principals will be heading schools in Pitt County when students return to the classroom in September.

The new principals were named by the Pitt County Board of Education in a special meeting last week.

David Plummer Jr., a graduate of Woodington High School in Kinston and Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, was named principal at W.H. Robinson School.

Plummer, married and the father of one child, has taught in the high schools in Laurinburg, Sanford, Fayetteville and taught last year in Kinston.

Eugene Morris, a Pitt native, will serve as principal of Ayden High School.

Morris is a 1943 graduate of Belvoir-Falkland High School and received his AB degree from Atlantic Christian College in Wilson and a master's degree from East Carolina University in 1953.

Morris, married to the former Elizabeth Coor, taught in Chico and Belvoir High School and was principal at Pactolus from 1956 to 1960. He has been principal in Wayne County Schools from 1969 to 1970.

He has four children.

Bernard R. Haselrig will serve as principal of Bethel Primary School. Haselrig, a native of Johnstown, Pa., earned his B.S. degree at North Carolina A and T College in 1961 and taught at South Ayden until 1968 when he became assistant principal at Bethel Union. He finished the 1969-70 school year as principal of that school.

He is married to the former Ernestine Bush and they have three children.

Nelson I. Baldree, an Ayden High School graduate, will serve as principal of Grifton High School.

Baldree, who received his undergraduate degree from East Carolina University in 1960 and his master's degree from ECU in 1963, has taught in Havelock and Grifton and has been high school supervisor with the Pitt Board of Education for one year.

A member of the Grifton Methodist Church, Baldree is married to the former Linda Chauncey and they have two children.

Will Ask For N.C. Grants

DURHAM (AP) — The director of the North Carolina Department of Local Affairs said today the 1971 General Assembly will be asked to provide a state grant-in-aid program to help local governments.

Irvin Aldridge said that in working with local governments on financing projects, "we are repeatedly faced with local government's inability to produce matching funds and initial financial self-help."

He said if a grant-in-aid program can be established, "funds would be used to promote and stimulate new approaches to local problems without being tied to federal program requirements."

Aldridge made his remarks in a prepared talk to the Durham Rotary Club.

He said that under a state aid plan, a grant might for example be used in one city for emergency construction of a later main, in another to purchase right-of-way for a bypass, and in another to retrain unemployed men and women.

"Lack of funds," said Aldridge, "has been almost insurmountable to many smaller cities. It is likely metropolitan governments face the same problems."

Governor Nunn To Aid Everett In Campaigning

ROBERSONVILLE — Republican candidate for Congress R. Frank Everett has announced that Governor Louie B. Nunn of Kentucky is to be in the First Congressional District on September 18.

The Governor will begin his day in the area with a luncheon at 1:00 p.m. in Ahoskie. After campaigning in Hertford County, Governor Nunn and Everett will fly to Pitt County for a reception and a dinner to be held at the Moose Lodge in Greenville.

Governor Nunn in 1954 was elected Judge of Barren County, Kentucky and in 1956 was elected Republican State Campaign chairman for the Eisenhower campaign of 1956, the Nixon one in 1960, and for Senator Morton in 1962. Defeated in his first race for governor in 1963, Nunn was elected governor in 1967.

Home Damaged In Sunday Fire

Greenville firemen reported heavy fire, smoke and water damage resulted to a 209 Kirkland Dr. home about 5:48 p.m. yesterday.

Officers said the fire originated in the den of the home, causing heavy damage. Cause of the fire was listed as "undetermined."

No one was at home when the fire erupted, fire officials said.

Teen Offenders Write Essays

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — "Anyway, I just want to say I will try not to abuse laws any more, because I know you guys are smarter than we realize you to be. You won't catch me missing any more stop signs. I think you can count on that."

This is quotation from one of the 500-word essays Norfolk Police Judge C. E. Trimble has assigned youthful traffic offenders since he took office in April, 1967.

The essays are primarily ordered from young persons charged with traffic law violations in which the judge thinks a period of reflection and writing would do more good than a fine. Usually they are first offenders.

He said that sometimes a young person found guilty of a traffic violation doesn't seem to know why he was arrested.

Another reason for an essay assignment, the judge said, is that it has the same effect on persons of all financial means.

The essays turned in to the judge are funny and serious, sincere and not so sincere, well written and ungrammatical, typed and hand scrawled. Some come neatly bound. One had a pink and blue cover. Another included a bibliography. Some are from facile writers, some laboriously done.

One student wrote, "I hope you have enjoyed reading this as much as I have enjoyed writing it."

Another humorist ended with, "I think my driving on the whole is pretty good—at least fair to mediocre."

Do the essays do any good? "I honestly don't know," says the judge. "But I hope so."

A few persons have turned up in court again on different charges. But no one is assigned an essay a second time on the same offense.

Driver Injured As Car Hit Pole

Frank Harrington, 69 of 2020 Dickinson Ave was reported injured yesterday when the vehicle he was driving collided with a utility pole on Dickinson Avenue, one-tenth of a mile West of the Skinner Street intersection.

Police, who placed damage to the Harrington vehicle at $400 and set damage to the utility pole at $200, reported no charges were made in the 9:05 a.m. mishap.

Ask Exclude 3 From Suit

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP) — The U. S. Eastern District Court has been asked to exclude Burlington and three other school systems from a federal desegregation suit.

Louis C. Allen Jr., an attorney for the Burlington school board, said the request was made because none of the parents named in the suit has children in the Burlington, Tarboro, Goldsboro or Edgecombe County schools.

The court was asked last week by the U. S. Justice Department to name the Burlington, Rocky Mount, Tarboro, Goldsboro and Edgecombe school systems as additional defendants in a state-wide desegregation suit.

The action was brought by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. The Justice Department joined in the suit, which was originally aimed only at the State Board of Education. Action against the state board has been delayed pending an appeal to the U. S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony On Sunday

Miss Mary Jo Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Galloway Little of Rt. 1, Grimesland, became the bride of William Iverson MacKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wallace MacKenzie of Greenville, on Sunday at 5:00 p.m.

The Rev. Lawrence Patrick Houston officiated at the double ring ceremony at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

A program of wedding music was presented by Dr. Robert E. Irwin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white silk organza gown styled with a round neckline and long sleeves. The A-line empire gown featured Venise lace bands accented with seed pearls which extended down the bodice and skirt front. Matching lace bands extended down the sleeves and trimmed the pointed calla cuffs. The chapel length watteau train flowed from an organza bow in the back of the gown.

She wore a bouffant silk illusion veil which was attached to a headpiece of silk organza loop bows trimmed in Venise lace flowers and silk orange blossoms. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of Eucharis lilies, tips of green English ivy, white orchids tied with white bridal satin.

Miss Kathy Teague of Kannapolis were Miss Margaret Mauldin of Concord, Miss Mary Katherine MacKenzie of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sherer Mizell of Tarboro, cousin of the bride.

The attendants were gowned alike in floor length dresses. The empire bodices overlaid in pink chiffon featured high necks and long full sleeves. The full skirts of pink chiffon were enhanced by satin braids of matching and contrasting pink.

They wore picture hats to match their gowns. They carried fireside wicker mesh baskets overflowing with shades of light azalea pink asters, miniature lavender carnations and baby's breath tied with azalea pink velvet bows with hem length streamers.

The mother of the bride chose an aqua street length silk saki dress with a jeweled roll ring collar. She wore a matching flower hat and accessories with a white orchid corsage.

The mother of the bridegroom selected a French voile hand-embroidered misty green ensemble with matching accessories. She wore a white orchid corsage.

The bridegroom's grandmother wore a white crepe dress trimmed in lavender and purple with matching accessories. She wore a purple-throated orchid.

The father of the bridegroom was best man. Ushers were Bill Little of Grimesland, brother of the bride, R. W. MacKenzie of Ayden, brother of the bridegroom, Travis Flanagan, Lee Dunn and Mac Simpson, all of Greenville.

Following a wedding trip to unannounced points, the couple will reside at Rt. 1, Grimesland.

The bride attended Rose High School and Pfeiffer College. She plans to continue her education at East Carolina University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School and will be associated with MacKenzie Security, Inc.

Reception
Immediately following the ceremony, the parents of the bride entertained at a reception at their home.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Little.

The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of white snapdragons and white carnations designed in a five-branch candelabra.

Good-byes were said to Mr. and Mrs. R. W. MacKenzie Jr. The MacKenzie-Little wedding party was entertained at an after-rehearsal party given by Mr. and Mrs. R. W. MacKenzie Sr., Mr. and Mrs. R. W. MacKenzie Jr. and Miss Mary Katherine MacKenzie.

Prior to the rehearsal, a dinner party honoring the MacKenzie-Little wedding party was held at the Ayden Golf and Country Club.

Hosts and hostesses were Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Gooding, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Simpson and Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Wells.

Few Words About 'Clean Living'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I was still boiling over your correspondent who complained about her married daughter's sloppy housekeeping when other mothers rushed to side with her. I have something to say to all of them:

Dear Mothers:
Why don't you compulsive uptight neatness freaks get lost?

For one thing, with Viet Nam, pollution, Spiro Agnew, George Wallace and youthful neo-Bolsheviks to worry about, how can a little clutter and disorder bother you? Especially when it's not even in your home?

And what makes you crusaders think you've been appointed by God to tell the rest of the world [and that includes your own daughter] how to live? Does it ever occur to you that alternative lifestyles not only exist, but deserve to be tolerated?

You say, "There is a lack of something when a person can learn to live with clutter." Right! A lack of obsession with trivia. Some call this "mental health." There are shrinks who specialize in people who wash doorknobs a lot.

SLOPPY BUT HAPPY

DEAR S. BUT H.: Many of my readers share your views. Read on for an eloquent expression from another mother.

DEAR ABBY: You've been getting a lot of static from irate mothers lately over their sloppy married daughters. One mother wrote, "She's usually the type who leaves her own home a mess, and goes out to help others."

Well, thank God for sloppy girls with big hearts. Of what importance is a well-ordered, scrubbed and polished home in the face of so much loneliness, hunger and despair?

My home is constantly cluttered with school books of other mothers' children, with sleeping bags brought by homeless hippies on their way to some vague dreams, with alcoholics and runaway pregnant girls, and prisoners out on parole and wards of the court.

Let the mother with spare time enough to clean her daughter's house come help me—but not with sweeper, dishwasher and scrub brush, but with an open heart, ready to help ease the pain of others, and with eyes that can see human need.

Whatever is that mother talking about when she belabors her daughter's "blindness"? There is so much more to see in this world than a few dirty dishes in the sink.

MRS. P., SAN JOSE, CAL.

DEAR MRS. P.: Thank you for your heartwarming letter. You make clutter sound beautiful.

DEAR ABBY: My husband loves to play golf, and he has been invited to play in a foursome every Sunday with a friend of his. This I don't mind, as I don't play at all. Now, my problem: His friend is a big swinger, and he has two girl friends who make up the other half of the foursome. I have never had to worry about my husband playing around, but now I wonder if maybe this arrangement couldn't lead to trouble.

GOT A PROBLEM

DEAR GOT: For whom? As I see it, your husband's swinging friend is the one with the problem. Instead of doubling his pleasure and doubling his fun, he is doubling his handicap.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "DISAPPOINTED IN ABBY": You were only one of many who misunderstood me. I refer to that little 96-year-old grandmother who, upon learning that her granddaughter was expecting again, said, "It's always better to put another chair up to the table than to take one away." I pointed out that times have changed, and we must now consider seriously our responsibility to control the population growth of the world.

I did not mean to minimize the tragedy of having to remove a chair from the table because a child had died. Losing a child is indeed the most tragic of all human experiences, and only those who have suffered that loss can fully appreciate the pain of such a tragedy. Forgive me?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Healey-Sears Vows Spoken In Double Ring Ceremony

GREENSBORO — In a double ring ceremony on Sunday at 5:00 p.m., Dr. Nancy Jane Sears became the bride of Dr. Kent Waddell Healey in the Hannah Brown Fince Memorial Chapel on the Greensboro College campus here.

Dr. A. Leroy Parker, pastor of the Friendly Avenue Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony.

A program of wedding music was presented by Robert F. Waddell of Greensboro.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harmon Sears of McLeansville, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of ivory silk faille designed with alencon lace, with long English net sleeves, semi-fitted empire bodice and A-line skirt with watteau chapel length train attached to the back lace yoke.

Her long imported silk illusion veil was edged with alencon lace with lace motifs scattered over the veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and roses.

Miss Eleanor A. Quick of Greenville and Raleigh was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Thomas H. Sears Jr. of Greensboro, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Melinda Lou Bryant of Spartanburg, S. C.

The attendants were in dresses of light blue silk jersey of Grecian design with matching picture hats trimmed with light blue organza. They carried cascade bouquets of roses, pompons and carnations in varying shades of pinks and blues.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Healey of Burnt Hills, N. Y.

The father of the bridegroom served as best man. Ushers were Dr. Thomas H. Sears Jr., brother of the bride, Dr. Preston W. Keith, Dr. Ronald K. Hines, all of Greensboro, Ralph M. Sears of McLeansville, brother of the bride, Terry C. Parker of Charlotte and Dr. Theodore C. Rowe III of Chapel Hill.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Harmon Sears entertained at a reception at the Alumnae House on the campus of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. Background music of semi-classical piano selections were played by Miss Jean Anglin of Greensboro throughout the reception.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the New England states and Nova Scotia.

The bride received bachelor of science, master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees in home economics from the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, where she was named to Omicron Nu, national home economics honorary. She has also done graduate study at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and Duke University, Durham. She is assistant professor and chairman of the Department of Clothing and Textiles in the School of Home Economics at East Carolina University, Greenville.

The bridegroom received the degree of doctor of dental surgery from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, where he was a member of Psi Omega dental fraternity. He served for two years as a captain in the U.S. Dental Corps and until June, was dental director with the Guilford County Health Department. He is now specializing in prosthodontics at the UNC School of Dentistry.

Mr. and Mrs. John T. Healey entertained at a rehearsal dinner at the Carriage House Restaurant.

A bridesmaids luncheon honoring the bride-elect was given by Mrs. Thomas H. Sears Jr. in Greensboro on Thursday. Special guests were mothers of the bridal couple.

Wedding Invitation

Mr. and Mrs. Bernice Braxton request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter, Bernice, to Ernest LeRoy Corbett Jr., on Friday, Sept. 4, at 8:00 p.m. in the Liberty Free Will Baptist Church, Ayden. No invitations were mailed.

French toast comes partstyle when it is served with maple syrup and a sprinkling of chopped walnuts or pecans.

When you are testing a candy mixture, about 1/2 teaspoon of it should be poured into a cup of very cold water.

Early Egyptians, who had no sugar, made candy by sweetening dough with honey and dates. The latter are high in natural sugar.

Charlotte and daughters, Janette Diann and Donna, were weekend guests of Mrs. George James and her daughter, Mrs. Estell Raines.

Mrs. Wayne Rogerson and daughter, Terry, and a friend, Phyllis, are vacationing at Hickory Point.

FOOT NOTES OF INTEREST

There are so many great things happening in the trends in women's shoes that the latest seems more than enough to answer every woman's taste for the unique. At a recent showing of coming foot fashions, glitter was the big word on everyone's lips. Glitter found its way onto bright golden bows, and it was also seen from the opposite direction, trimming the heels.

At the same showing, boots made news as well. This show revealed that boots are holding fast to the calf as before, all the way to the knee. But the laced boot in the pre-Twentieth Century style also looks like a definite part of the season ahead. This boot is styled to mid-calf.

Michigan Takes Strong Steps

Those who wonder whether state legislatures may take punitive action against their universities in the wake of campus unrest may find a partial answer in recent action by the Michigan legislature. We do not anticipate any attempt by the North Carolina General Assembly to control campus conditions through punitive legislation. It has been made clear that maintaining order on the campuses is the responsibility of institution administrators so long as they effectively handle the job. By and large, they have discharged well this heavy new responsibility thrust upon them by conditions in recent years.

In Michigan, however, the case with the legislative-campus relationship does not appear to contain that degree of mutual respect.

Before it passed the appropriations bill for its 13 state supported universities and colleges, the Michigan legislature adopted amendments which would require institutions:

- 1. To immediately expell any student who damages campus property.

2. To immediately revoke scholarships of any student found guilty of violence to a person or damage to property.

3. To expect loss of all state funds if students and faculty members who break university rules are not disciplined.

In addition, the legislature provided in the budget bill that faculty members must teach a set number of hours. Full-time faculty members at the state's three major institutions are required to teach 10 classroom hours a week. At the four other four-year colleges faculty members are required to teach a minimum of 12 hours a week and at the junior college level faculty members are required to teach at least 15 hours a week. The measure provides for proportionate reduction in salary of faculty members who do not meet the prescribed minimum teaching load.

The backlash against campus conditions, as seen through the action of this one legislature, is severe indeed.

A Dream That Won't Vanish

BY FRANK DASCENZO

DURHAM — It is a lazy morning in the country and the breeze is sweeping through the leaves. Out in the pasture the cows walk slowly around the corral-like fences and down by the lake the ducks are near silent.

Some might call it peace. Others might call it restful. Picture though a small boy reclining under a tree. His eyes are staring into the sky partially hidden by the branches and the fluffy green leaves.

Picture Samuel Gupton of Durham then, dreaming.

Now dreaming is a word carrying several connotations. It can mean reaching for something unreachable, thinking, like how to pass a history exam; or planning, like how to build a soap box car and become the world's best racer.

Dreams aren't answered. The gypsy fortune teller, the crystal ball gazers, the circus swindlers, might not agree. Samuel Gupton will have to disagree, too.

Sam Gupton knows. He, too, feels what it's like to wake up under a tree in the country and suddenly have dreams turn into reality.

It happens to one in a million. It's happy-ending story to see the bright side of victory, something even little boys know there is no substitute for.

Recognition for little boys often is kept hidden. Outside of their immediate families, the world knows little of them. Then, the dreams filter into into the picture. Every boy dreams.

Sam Gupton, at 13, has been dreaming and he doesn't know when he'll ever wake up. It would be all right with him if he could just stay in his dream world.

He really is no different from any other junior high student. He is anxious to be in the spotlight, to be recognized, to be heard. More importantly, he wants to take part.

In his dreams he saw what many his age see. He pictured his soap box winning, and the cheering and screaming and bedlam which would break loose. He saw people crying with joy, and the trophies, and how proud mom and dad would be.

He set his sights on big things. His rivals had mutual ideas, but ambition is a powerful thing and Samuel Gupton never did run out of it.

His dream actually did not begin under a tree in the country with a nearby lake. Instead it began in Durham at 114 W. Edgewood Drive, a suburban home like many other throughout the land.

Samuel Gupton's dream began several years ago. He wanted to race in the soap box derby like millions of the nation's boys.

He had to win the Durham Soap Box Derby. He did.

It qualified him for a trip to Akron, Ohio, to compete against 259 others, from all over the nation, for the world's championship. The tree was getting exciting now. The actual feeling of being there, shooting for the prize, the gift you receive for being pronounced the best.

The preliminaries ended, and around 5 p.m. on Saturday, August 15, Sam Gupton won it all, the prize ($7,500) and the dream—turned reality.

Coming home was something special. Mayor Wense Grabarek of Durham saw to it with congratulations.

Mayor Grabarek, the Durham City Council, Durham Jaycees, and several hundred Durham residents turned out at City Hall last Tuesday night to welcome Gupton, his parents, and his sisters, Janet and Shelly, back home.

Grabarek, extremely kind in congratulating Gupton, made it clear how proud the hometown is of the Carrington Junior High lad's achievement.

Grabarek presented Gupton with the key to the city. The mayor said there will be another evening for Sam Gupton and a coming announcement calling for a Samuel Gupton Day.

The trip home had suddenly ended, the well-wishers had gone home. Samuel Gupton got in his station wagon and was driven home — at last.

The dream. The dream lingers with Samuel Gupton. It will never, never vanish. How many kids win the All-American Soap Box Derby crown?

Unskilled Workmen Are Being Hurt Most

Irvin Aldridge, director of the N.C. Department of Local Affairs, has reported that unemployment is on the increase in the state.

Late last week the figure had reached 113,000 and it is a situation which "will make it increasingly difficult for unskilled or semiskilled workers and hard core unemployed to find jobs," Aldridge reported.

"When trained workers are being laid off, there is little hope for the others."

It is said that those who can afford it least suffer most when the economy tightens up a little, but it is true that the least skilled are the first to be hurt.

Aid programs should be designed to help people in this category.

An Animosity Is Building Up

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON

Disgruntled with Israel in some cases downright angry, U.S. officials were set to declare as early as last weekend that the strategic balance of power along the Suez Canal had not been disturbed by new Egyptian missile emplacements.

At the last minute, they were pressured by the Israeli government of Prime Minister Golda Meir to say nothing until new intelligence photographs were sent to Washington from headquarters of the Israeli Defense Force.

These photographs, the U.S. was told, would remove all doubt about forward movement of Soviet-Egyptian anti-aircraft missiles since the Mideast cease-fire Aug. 8 and convince the Nixon administration it had only one recourse: demand that Cairo and Moscow dismantle any new sites immediately.

But when the new photographs arrived they were, in the words of a top U.S. official, "fuzzy and inconclusive." So, angry about the delay imposed by Israel, the State Department finally issued its statement on Wednesday. "Conspicuously omitted from that statement was any hint of a demand on Cairo and Moscow to remove the offending missiles.

That bloy reveals the animosity which has been allowed to build up between two steadfast allies, Israel and the U.S., since President Nixon started applying inexorable pressure for a Mideast settlement.

Part of the blame rests squarely on the Nixon administration. So anxious were the President and Secretary of State William P. Rogers to put the cease-fire into effect that they ignored a fundamental requirement: a foolproof system of monitoring the Suez Canal zone to prevent just what Israel now charges.

Thus, neither the U.S. nor Israel can now know for a hard fact exactly where the Egyptians placed the scores of anti-aircraft missiles strewn all over the desert on the edge of the combat zone as of the precise hour of midnight, Aug. 7. That was the time picked for the standstill when Israel, after a long stall, suddenly announced its acceptance of the cease-fire.

But even with this conspicuous failure, the President's Mideast experts see behind Israel's demand on the U.S. to crack down on Cairo far more serious implications than a few missiles which may or may not have cost Israel control of the air space over the canal. The Presidential advisers suspect Mrs. Meir's government, already shorn of its right-wing Gahal faction, cannot quite accept domestically what is about to happen: forced Israeli withdrawal from almost all territories occupied in the six-day war of 1967.

As one U.S. official told us: "They are going to have to get out of the Sinai whether they like it or not and they can't face up to it."

In addition, the fragile new bridge between Washington and Cairo is worrying the Israelis, who are wary of the number one Arab state competing with them for Washington's favor in the Middle East. The prospect, increasing every day, of a resumption of diplomatic relations between the U.S. and Egypt is one more factor in Israeli politics preventing Mrs. Meir from lining up her government solidly behind the U.S. plan.

Strength For Today

A LITTLE KNOWLEDGE DANGEROUS

We have all heard the statement that a little knowledge is a dangerous thing. Thomas Henry Huxley, the scientist whose ideas were so influential the latter part of the nineteenth century, once wrote: "If a little knowledge is dangerous, where is the man who has so much as to be out of danger?"

The Bible makes it very plain that the reason why we should refrain from judging others is not because their actions are not worthy of judgment, but because we know too little to judge anybody. The next time you start to express wholesale condemnation on some person in public life or private, just stop a moment and ask yourself whether or not you actually know very much about the situation or person you are condemning. You may know quite a few facts, but do you know them all? Full justice is never accorded any man, nor is proper condemnation made, until every last fact is available, and has been given thoughtful consideration.

And in the field of opinion as to what constitutes truth or error, we should certainly be reticent to speak. Many of the things people were perfectly sure about in the field of science fifty years ago have been repudiated by scientists today. It was this same Huxley who said also that is the customary fate of new truths to begin as heresies and to end as superstitions. By Earl L. Douglass

What's Wrong In TV

I was talking the other day with a friend and we got around to the question of what was wrong with television. We both came to the conclusion that everyone on TV was being presented in a false light, and the public was being cheated out of seeing situations as they really are. For example, on the lawyer show Perry Mason and The Defenders, no one ever asks for a fee. There is never any discussion of money on these programs and people are under the impression that any lawyer will defend you for the love of it.

But in real life this is what

Other Editors Say Shriver Emerging

(Washington Daily News)

Somehow when we look at the list of possible presidential candidates among the Democrats today, we end up with a sort of void as we find no one right now who can command the strength necessary for such a race.

Yet, we look at the names of Hubert Humphrey, the 1968 Democratic candidate, at Senator Muskie, the 1968 vice presidential candidate, and we weigh these two men against the statement recently made by Senate Majority leader, Mike Mansfield, who expressed the opinion that no Democrat could beat Richard Nixon in 1972.

Then we look at the emerging picture as several others seem to be lurking in the shadows hoping that political lightning will strike. Foremost among this group right now seems to be Shriver, brother-in-law of Senator Ted Kennedy, former ambassador to France, and a man who has held several top positions in government.

Mr. Shriver is heading a special committee whose purpose is to raise money and seek election of Democratic candidates for congress in November. And writers look to the organization he has established and quite frankly say it looks like a "blueprint for the presidency." And they wonder if he is more interested in a "Shriver for president" campaign or in the congressional campaigns. It is just about impossible to evaluate Mr. Shriver right now as even a potential candidate for president. He is a close part of the Kennedy clan, and over the nation that closeness is said to be of tremendous help. He has the looks and the personality. And he can possibly get more financial help in a presidential campaign than most people.

Senator Mansfield's statement might have thrown much cold water on the hopes of a lot of people. But make no mistake about one fact. The Democrats will come out fighting when the time comes to wage the next presidential campaign. Whether the top candidate will be Mr. Humphrey, Mr. Muskie, or Mr. Shriver, no one knows at this time. And it can indeed be someone else.

Right now the strategy of both parties seems to be that of trying to elect as many congressmen, senators, and governors as possible in November. After the election on November 3, attention definitely will begin to focus on the next presidential election.

Right now the Republicans know their candidates. They are Richard Nixon and Spiro Agnew. The Democrats cannot enjoy such a status because at this date no one has emerged to take a commanding position. Mr. Shriver might indeed come forward in the days ahead.

would happen: A woman comes into Perry Mason's office. She says, "My son has been accused of a crime, but I know he didn't do it."

Perry in real life would say, "Wait a minute, madam. Before you go any further, I'll have to ask for a retainer."

"He's innocent," the lady says. "You've got to defend him."

"How much can you afford? Legal costs are expensive. If he pleads guilty, I'll make a deal with the district attorney and save you the expense of a long, drawn-out jury trial."

"But he wants to plead not guilty."

"Big deal," says Perry. "They'll probably hang him anyway and it will still cost you $5,000."

"I guess you're right," the woman says. "Plead him guilty. He's always getting into trouble, anyway."

"That will be $500 now and $500 at the start of the trial. If there are any other expenses, I'll let you know."

Or let's take Dr. Kildare. What kind of guy would Dr. Kildare be if he weren't on television? Perhaps something like this:

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The time of day affects your height. An adult man is about an inch shorter at nightfall than he was when he woke up, because of gradual compression of his spinal disks during the day. During sleep they relax and he regains his full height. Sometimes it's better to lose your temper than to keep it. Doctors believe that the major cause of tension headaches is psychological—the result of repressed hostility. So if you vent your wrath, you may avoid a headache. But if you blow up at the boss, you may lose your job—and that could lead to an even bigger headache.

Don't believe anyone who tells you, "Your eyes are bigger than your stomach." The average human eye is only about an inch in diameter, but the stomach is large enough to hold a pint of food or drink, and can stretch to hold considerably more.

We are still one of the world's more restless peoples. In 1870 the population of the United States was slightly under 40 million. This year, a century later, more than 40 million people will move to a new address.

The largest antlers in the deer family are carried by the Alaskan moose, and can achieve a spread of nearly six feet. Warning: If you wish to check this figure, please do it on a stuffed moose. Few things annoy a live moose more than having a total stranger step up to it in the woods and try to measure its antlers.

Quotable notables: "To the average man, doomed to some banal and sordid drudgery all his life long, women offer the only grand hazard he ever encounters. Take them away and his existence would be as flat and secure as that of a milch cow." —H.L. Menckén.

Only too common: You're normal if your back aches. At some time in their lives 80 per cent of the population suffer low back pain, which literally can spring from scores of causes.

Equal rights note: In Spain, women are legally permitted to work only half a day. They are then supposed to go home, take care of their children, do their household chores, and fix Papa his dinner.

"Mrs. Kilroy was herè": So many tourists have marked the Statue of Liberty with lipstick in recent years that officials finally coated public areas of the statue with a special lipstick-resistant paint.

Worth remembering: "Some people's financial affairs are in such a mess you'd think they were getting advice from the government."

History lesson: Which U.S. President was the ablest horseman? Although at least a dozen Presidents enjoyed horseback riding, probably the most expert was Gen. U.S. Grant. During graduation exercises at West Point, he set a jumping record that remained unbroken for a quarter of a century.

Time on your wrist: The average wrist watch has 125 or more parts and tick-tocks from 518,400 times a day up to double

Anti-Inflation War Suspended

By ELMER ROESSNER

The war on inflation is being suspended until after the election. The truce appears more effective than the one between the Israelis and Arabs.

The Federal Reserve Board this week reduced the amount most member banks must keep on reserve against time deposits from 6 to 5 per cent. It also applied a 5 per cent reserve requirement to funds banks obtain through affiliates' commercial paper. The net result is that banks will have about $350 million more to lend.

The Fed piously hoped that the money will be used "in financing housing and state governments."

Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns, who once told Congress that the annual growth of the money supply should be kept within 2 to 4 per cent, said later the money supply, which had been increased at a 4 1/2 per cent rate from April through June, had been increased at an annual rate of 11 per cent in July.

Increasing the money supply is as directly inflationary as printing more paper money would be.

Helping Republicans The Fed's relaxation of monetary restraints will be a pep pill for business. It may tend to stop the slide in the stock market and halt, if not reverse, the rise in unemployment. These consequences will also tend to halt the rise in resentment against the administration and therefore improve the chances of GOP candidates in November.

Consumers will pay the bill for the truce. The parade of rising prices will continue.

Among the things going up price, or started to rise in recent days, are: carpeting, lawn mowers, kraft paper, containerboard, zinc, casein, railroad freight rates, domestic air fares, and autos.

The federal unemployment tax goes up from 0.4 to 0.5 per cent the first $3,000 of a worker's wages on Oct. 1.

On The Down Side For supply reasons the price of cadmium, copper and brass are down. Frigidaire has also reduced prices of some side-by-side refrigerator-freezer units. Before the latest Fed action, the Federal Reserve

Bank of St. Louis, in an article in its monthly Review by Norman N. Bowsher, said: "Inflation has been accelerating since the end of 1964. Actions taken to resist inflation have been more carefully applied than during previous periods of economic correction. As a result, total spending has continued to rise at a near long-run optimum rate. Prices have continued to rise rapidly and production has declined slightly."

"Continued price increases are disheartening, especially when there is a growing slack of productivity. It is unlikely that a substantial improvement will materialize for a considerable period. . . . There is, some evidence that the battle against inflation may be postponed again in 1967."

It has.

No Rush To Report On Justice Douglas Probe

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—A special House subcommittee probing the affairs of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas is expected to ignore its second deadline today and remain silent on whether impeachment proceedings should be brought against the jurist.

"We'll probably have some kind of report when the House reconvenes" in mid-September, said Rep. Byron G. Rogers, D-Colo., a member of the five-man Judiciary Committee panel.

He declined to say whether the committee will make a recommendation or issue a progress report and request more time like it did on the June 20 deadline.

Leaders of the drive to impeach Douglas for writing "Points of Rebellion," a court vote and association with a gambling-connected foundation have accused the subcommittee of dragging its feet.

Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., has served notice he will try to take the Douglas investigation away from the Judiciary Committee when the House reconvenes.

Meanwhile Douglas' backers are arguing to the Judiciary Committee it must determine not only whether House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford's charges against the justice are accurate but whether they're impeachable offenses.

Rep. Paul N. (Pete) McCloskey Jr., R-Calif., said in a letter to Judiciary members that all but one of Ford's charges deal with Douglas' off-the-bench activities and thus would not be grounds for impeachment even if proved.

Douglas' lawyer, Simon H. Rifkind, contends a justice can be impeached only for criminal conduct.

But "conscience of Congress" power to determine when a justice's conduct should remove him from office is defended in a memorandum written for Ford by two Detroit lawyers, Bethel B. Kelley and Daniel G. Wyllie.

"If a judge's misbehavior is so grave as to cast substantial doubt upon his integrity," says the Kelley-Wyllie memorandum, "he must be removed from office regardless of all other considerations."

Ford's only charge of improper court activity by Douglas is that the Justice accepted $350 for an article in publisher Ralph Ginzberg's Avant Garde magazine and later ruled in favor of Ginzberg in an action against his magazine ROS.

Rifkind says Douglas had no way of knowing Avant Garde was a Ginzberg publication and even if he had known, his action was not improper.

Ford and Wyman also said Douglas should be impeached for writing "Points of Rebellion," a book they called inflammatory and for allowing an excerpt of the books to appear in Evergreen magazine between pictures of nude men and women which Ford called hardcore pornography.

Their impeachment charges also include Douglas' past associations with the Albert Parvin Foundation, linked to three Las Vegas gambling hotels, and with the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, which Ford called a focal point for organizing militant student unrest.

Dr. I.L. Baker At Convention

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Ira L. Baker, professor of journalism at East Carolina University, is attending the 53rd annual convention of the Association for Education in Journalism at The American University here.

Highlights of the convention include a briefing followed by a buffet dinner at the State Department, and a reception at the White House.

Traffic Claimed 8 Over Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least eight persons were killed on North Carolina's highways this weekend, bringing the toll for this year to 1,019 deaths.

The State Highway Patrol said this year's count compares with 1,110 highway deaths at this time in 1969.

The weekend fatalities included a man and his daughter killed when their car was involved in a head-on collision 10 miles north of Edenton on N. C. 32. The patrol identified the victims as Donald Carlton Jones, 38, of College Park, Md., and his 12-year-old daughter, Sally Irene Jones.

Monroe Hood, a 25-year-old Charlotte man, was killed Sunday when the car he was driving slammed into a bridge abutment on a rural road near Concord.

A 35-year-old Wilmington man, identified as Jesse Thomas Sessom, was killed in a two-vehicle wreck on U. S. 177 about two miles north of Warsaw in Duplin County.

Hugh Rogers Morrison, 19, of Gastonia was killed when the car in which he was a passenger crashed into a tree on a Gastonia street.

A crash on N. C. 90 six miles east of Lenoir killed 27-year-old Jerry Eugene Pre-snell of Banner Elk. The patrol said his car veered off the road and overturned after it was hit in the rear by another vehicle.

Norman Clark, 47, of Rt. 1,

Laurel Hill, was killed six miles east of Maxton in Robeson County when his car ran off the road on a curve, crashed into a fence and rolled over several times. The patrol said one of its troopers was pursuing Clark when the accident occurred.

A 75-year-old Madison woman was killed near the Stokes County town of Dogdowntown when she was hit by an automobile. She was identified as Mary Ann Bullins.

OLD BUILDING
FAIRPLAY, Colo. (AP)—The oldest operating courthouse in Colorado is at Fairplay, in the mountain-surrounded South Park area. The building of native red stone was erected in 1874, two years before Colorado gained statehood.

The original 1849 Constitution of California was written in both Spanish and English.

about pains in people's sides. I'll send you to a specialist, Dr. Renfrow."

"But besides my side, my left leg hurts."

"Why didn't you say so in the first place? Dr. Lavine is the best leg man in town. Tell him I sent you."

"And it hurts when I breathe."

"You need a good lung man. After you see Dr. Lavine about your leg, go over and see Dr. Ordman about your chest. I'll write down the address here."

"I can't read your handwriting," the old man says.

"Eye trouble, too? You better see Dr. Feldman, the eye, ear, nose and throat man."

"Thank you very much, Dr. Kildare."

"Don't mention it. That will be $10."

What about Dr. Ben Casey, if there were such a person in real-life?

A nurse rushes in "Dr. Casey, there's been a terrible skiing accident. They want you in the operation room right away."

Casey puts on a mask, sterilizes his arms, walks over to the table.

"Has this man signed a release that I'm not responsible if the operation doesn't come off?"

"No, sir. He was brought in unconscious."

"Well, I'm not operating until someone signs a release. Do you think I'm going to be sued malpractice?"

The final thing to make one suspect television of not being true-to-life is that taxis are always plentiful on TV and ready to pursue the heavy.

This is what would happen in real life if a private-eye like Peter Gunn tried to follow someone.

"Taxi, taxi! Follow that cab!"

"Waddaya mean, 'Follow that cab?'"

"I want you to follow that cab, like I say."

"Look mister, I pick people up and take them to a destination. I don't follow no cabs."

"You're letting him get away."

"Get yourself another hack. I got a wife and kid to think of, and I don't have time to get involved in any cops-and-robbers stuff."

"You mean you refuse to follow that cab?"

"Out, mister, you've been watching too many television shows."

Now hear this: Unless some way can be found to soundproof civilization, noise pollution is expected to increase the number of Americans now suffering hearing loss—estimated at 20 million. But of these only about 300,000 are classed as profoundly deaf.

Accordingly, relations between the U.S. and Israel are now approaching a low point not seen since early 1957, when President Eisenhower forced Israel to withdraw from lands conquered in the 1956 Suez war. The dispute over the anti-aircraft missiles is simply the tip of the iceberg, the first of what seem sure to be far more serious political battles between Washington and Jerusalem.

MacDonald Hearing Is Delayed A Week

FT BRAGG, N.C. (AP)—The Army announced today testimony in the hearing into murder charges against Capt. Jeffrey R. MacDonald will not resume this week as scheduled so that Army psychiatrists will have time to observe the defendant.

The hearing was to have resumed today at 8:30 a.m.

An Army spokesman said the hearing officer, Col. Walter Rock, decided MacDonald, a 27-year-old Green Beret physician charged with killing his pregnant wife and two daughters, should be observed by Army psychiatrists. MacDonald has been sent to Walter Reed Hospital at Washington, D.C.

The defense earlier had presented testimony from civilian psychiatrists who said MacDonald was mentally incapable of slaying his family.

Army public information officers went to the hearing room today expecting the hearing to begin. They were told after they arrived that the earliest possible resumption date is next Monday.

A spokesman said MacDonald's counsel, including civilian lawyers Bernard L. Segal and Dennis Eisman of Philadelphia, Pa., were advised of Rock's decision by telephone.

The hearing is to determine whether MacDonald, from Patchogue, N.Y., should be court-martialed on the three murder charges. The Army has spent three weeks presenting evidence to Rock and the defense spent a week presenting its evidence. In next phase of the hearing the Army will give rebuttal to the defense evidence.

On the witness stand, MacDonald denied he was guilty. He says three young men and a young blonde woman wearing a floppy hat entered his Ft. Bragg apartment during the night, stabbed him repeatedly and stabbed and beat to death his wife, Colette, 26, and his daughters Kimberley, 6, and Kristen Jean, 2. MacDonald was hospitalized at Ft. Bragg.

Americans Back In France, Spending

By RODNEY ANGOVE
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP)—Charles de Gaulle is gone now, and the Americans are back in France in record numbers, filling the hotels, crowding the museums and packing the night clubs.

Many are in a spending mood, a far cry from the years when they boycotted everything French because President de Gaulle was snatching up American gold and pushing out American troops.

"There are other factors of course," explained the manager of a large hotel near the Louvre, who asked to remain anonymous. "But I believe the Americans have a highly developed sense of civic spirit. They did their patriotic duty by dropping France off their itineraries for one or two years. But that's done now, and France is back on the tours."

The other factors might include a recent cleanup of French business practices. Habitués of Paris' 70 cabarets, 23 discotheques, 18 key clubs and 8 dance halls say that more than ever, the prices are prominently and correctly displayed outside, and the floor shows are of higher quality.

For one thing, such plays as "Hair" and the permissiveness in films are endangering nudity for nudity's sake on the night club circuit.

"We have to advance to find something new," says Gerard Perrault, coproprietor of the Sexy "And no matter how daring, it can never be vulgar."

There is plenty of room for disappointment in the hotels, however. The government says outmoded hotels and indifferent service are turning Paris into a city of quick stopovers. The guided tours, especially, "do" everything from the Eiffel Tower to Montmartre in one or two days and nights. Statistically, the foreigners now stay only 2.9 nights, on average, compared to 3.02 in 1966.

Sight cramming exacts its price. A recent poll by the Paris prefecture shows that visitors left behind 73 per cent more money, per day, than in London, and 43 per cent more than in the big German cities.

The Americans seem to have the money, however. So do plenty of South Americans, say the night club operators—one cited the Mexicans as the surprise big clients this year. The Germans are still big. And for the first time, "import quantities" of Japanese are showing up at expensive places.

BUM PREDICTION
WEISER, Idaho (UPI)—"Fiddlers never amount to anything—they always wind up as drunks or bums." Alvin Sanderson's father told him in 1909. Sixty-one years later, Sanderson won his third straight title here as the best senior division old-time fiddler in the nation.

Joint Meet Tuesday Of Accountants

A joint meeting of the Northeastern and Eastern chapters of the North Carolina Society of Accountants will be held at the Beef Barn here Tuesday night.

The session will begin at 6:30 p.m. with a social hour and dinner will follow at 7:30. Society members are expected to attend from as far north as Elizabeth City and south to Jacksonville and Morehead City.

Principal topic for discussion will be the forthcoming Professional Development Conference scheduled for Sept. 21 and 22 in Greenville. The conference will be conducted by East Carolina University, Department of Continuing Education.

Expected to attend from the state society will be Mrs. Annette S. Boutwell, director of Public Relations of Raleigh and state society president, G. Lewis Wright of Asheboro.

The two chapters of the state society worked together last year in making plans for a similar conference and 1970 conference details will be ironed out at the meeting tomorrow night.

William D. Smart of Havelock, Eastern chapter, is chairman of the conference. Louis D. Whitford of New Bern is president of the Eastern chapter and John I. Whitfield of Farmville is president of the Northeastern chapter.

Chemists Going To Symposium

Four East Carolina University chemists will attend a symposium on molecular spectroscopy at Ohio State University next month.

The group includes Dr. Warren A. McAllister, assistant professor; Waitus V. Southerland, graduate research assistant; and George B. Rouse and Charles W. Williams, undergraduate research assistants.

The symposium, to be held on the Columbus, Ohio, campus September 8-12, has attracted scientists from several universities.

Dr. McAllister will present a paper entitled, "The Vibrational Spectra and Structure of Some Metal-Alkyl Complexes."

Found Shot To Death At Home Of A Friend

LEXINGTON, N.C. (AP)—A young Thomasville man was found shot to death Saturday night in the home of a friend, according to Davidson County Sheriff's deputies. The victim was identified as Clyde Everhart, 22.

One of the victim's friends, 22-year-old Don Hill, was arrested near his Lexington home shortly after police were called to the scene.

Police said they were notified of the incident by an ambulance service which had received an anonymous telephone call saying a man had been shot.

Eastern Belt Is Seeing Records

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The tobacco markets on the big Eastern North Carolina Belt begin their second week of sales today, after seeing record high price averages set last week.

The Federal State Market News Service reported Saturday that 43,966,224 pounds were sold last week for an average of $72.84 per hundred pounds.

Growers placed 12.8 per cent of the gross sales under the government loan program, compared to 8.8 per cent the first four days last year.

Class Of 1930 Held Reunion Saturday

WINTERVILLE — The 40th anniversary of the 1930 graduating class of Winterville High School was celebrated Saturday night with a reunion and dinner meeting at the Winterville Community Building.

Ray Oglesby, vice-president of the 1930 class, was master of ceremony. The building was decorated with pictures and other mementos of activities of the class, including a display of class day exercises at the time of graduation four decades ago.

Mrs. Lila Taylor Tyson, former Winterville High School principal D.H. Conley; and retired science teacher Mrs. Mary Ida McLawhorn Langston were among special guests at the anniversary reunion. Other guests included husband and wives of the graduating members.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Myrtle Ange Black of Sarasota, Florida, and Mrs. Minnie Mae Ange Smith of Greenville.

At the time of graduation in 1930, the class consisted of 24 students. Three of the 24 are now deceased, and 10 of the 21 living graduates were in attendance. These were, in addition to Mrs. Tyson, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Smith—Mrs. Alma Braxton Worthington, Mrs. May Griffin Sutton, Mrs. Elizabeth Hardy Averette; Mrs. Selma McLawhorn Clark; Mrs. Sally Bett Worthington Little; Ray Oglesby and Julian Worthington.

At a business meeting, class members voted to meet again in June, 1975 at the Winterville Community Building. Mrs. Minnie Mae Smith was reelected chairman of the anniversary committee.

Predicts Pork Prices To Drop

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Pork prices, on the rise of late, will start a downward trend early next year.

So says Verle Houghaboom, an economist with the University of Vermont Extension Service. Costs have gone up because not enough hogs were being slaughtered but now hog producers are increasing their output.

Namath Becomes Target Of Criticism For Fans

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)— "I have nothing to say," said Joe Namath.

But the fans did. They said what they had to say with practiced one-liners. And they said what they had to say with waving white handkerchiefs.

And, while no one can say for certain why they booed the shaggy-haired quarterback of the New York Jets, one thing is certain—Namath was a target for derision Sunday at the Yale Bowl as the Jets lost to the New York Giants 28-24 in a National Football League exhibition game.

Possibly it was events of the last several weeks when he did not report to the Jets camp. Possibly it was the fact he did not play in the emotional game between cross-town rivals. Possibly it was a combination of both.

But whatever it is Namath was an anther before 70,854 fans as he stood along the sidelines in yellow bell-bottom and blue shirt, hands folded across his chest as the Jets struggled without him.

He watched during a hectic first as Fran Tarkenton, the quiet, conventional Giant quarterback, passed for three touchdowns and Scott Eaton ran 50 yards with an interception for another touchdown the first four times Giants had the ball.

Then, at halftime, with the Jets training 28-3, he marched across the field for a television interview to a serenade of boos and an occasional shout of "Go Back to the movies, Joe!"

Namath replied with a peace sign—the old World War II victory symbol—but the boos did not abate and the waving handkerchiefs multiplied.

Namath said he would not comment in the dressing room after the game. The Jets' team physician, Dr. James Nicholas, said the decision to keep Namath out of the game after only four days in camp was made by him. Coach Ewbank, obviously, unhappy about the loss, said his plans for Namath this coming week were simple: "Increase the tempo."

With three exhibitions to go, Ewbank would like to have Namath play one quarter against Minnesota, two against New Orleans and three against Dallas in preparation for the regular-season opener Sept. 21 against Cleveland.

While Namath was booed, Tarkenton was cheered, particularly after each of his touchdown passes, 13 yards to Joe Morrison and 23 and 1 to Aaron Thomas. But, it was not a top performance as he hit on only 8 to 21 attempts.

The weekend pro football again lingers through Monday night with the Chicago Bears traveling to San Diego for a game against the Chargers. Lance Alworth is expected to be in uniform but not in action for the home team after ending his brief retirement.

Hamilton Wins Talladega 500

By BLOYS BRITT Auto Racing Writer

Young Pete Hamilton dropped out of college five years ago to become a race driver - an ambition he first realized at age 10. It was the smartest move, he ever made.

The former dean of Northeastern University in Massachusetts drove a Petty Plymouth to victory in the Talladega 500 - mile stock car race in Alabama Sunday, raising his winnings for the year to $120,560 and his big track skein to three.

Hamilton's average speed for the race was 158.517 miles an hour, a race record for the 2.66-mile Alabama International Speedway.

In other races, Denis Hulme scored his third straight Canadian-American cup victory by winning the Buckeye Cup, and Al Unser won the race at Milwaukee fairgrounds.

Hamilton took charge of the Talladega race shortly after the 50th mile. Although there were other leaders - eight of them, in fact - the Plymouth drive managed to stay in front for 153 of the 188 laps as he wheeled around at lap speed in the 185 m.p.h. bracket.

Hamilton crossed the finish line 8.9 seconds ahead of Dodge's Bobby Isaac, who pocketed $11,490 to run his own earnings for the year to $87,925. Isaac also picked up valuable points over Ford's James Hylton in the chase for NASCAR's Grand National driving crown that pay upward of $75,000 in bonus money.

Hulme, of England, won $12,000 of the $89,000 purse at Mansfield, Ohio, piloting his Chevrolet - powered McLaren MHD to a record speed of 95.184 m.p.h. for the 192 miles.

Peter Revson of New York was more than one minute behind in his Lola T-220.

Hulme thus expanded his Can-Am drivers lead, and now has 72 points. Dan Gurney, who is second, has withdrawn, and Lothar Motschenbacher of Hollywood, Calif. who finished third here, is third in the standings.

Unser of Albuquerque, N.M., finished more than three laps ahead of Roger McCluskey of Tucson, Ariz., as he averaged a record 114.307 m.p.h. on the one mile oval track at the Wisconsin State fairgrounds at Milwaukee.

Driving a Ford - powered Johnny Lightning 500, Unser won $14,917 of the $63,225 purse and raised his U.S. Auto Club national driving championship points to 3,290 with the 400 points he got for this victory.

Clemente Gets Second Straight Five-Hit Game

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer If Roberto Clemente ever stops pulling his punches, he's liable to turn the National League race into a demolition derby.

Clemente staggered Los Angeles pitching Sunday with his second straight five-hit game, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to an 11-0 triumph, lifting his league-leading batting average to .363 and setting a modern record of 10 hits in two successive games.

The 36-year-old superstar, who had vaulted Rico Carty in the batting race with a 5-for-7 spree against the Dodgers Saturday night, came right back to drill three singles, a double and his 14th home run in six trips to the plate as the Pirates unleashed a 23-hit barrage—high in the NL this year.

Clemente, however, can see room for self-improvement. "I feel I could hit even better," he said. "If I went out and just punched at the ball. But you can't do that. You have to look at the situation."

"Like when I came up today with the bases loaded, I tried to hit the ball out of the park (and) flew out. Most of the time, I'm trying to hit the ball hard, not just punch it."

Clemente's burst and the four-hit pitching of Steve Blass helped the Pirates increase their East Division lead to three games over the second place New York Mets, who divided a doubleheader with Cincinnati's runaway West Division pace-setters.

The Mets won the first game

5-4 with a three-run rally in the ninth, but pinch-hitter Jimmy Stewart's three-run homer off Tom Seaver gave the Reds a 7-5 nod in the nightcap.

Elsewhere, San Francisco nipped the Chicago Cubs 4-3, St. Louis outslugged San Diego 8-7 and Philadelphia trimmed Houston 4-0. Atlanta's game at Montreal was rained out.

In the American League, Detroit slipped past Milwaukee 1-0, Baltimore shaded California 6-5, Washington stunned Minnesota 11-1, Cleveland topped Oakland 8-6, Kansas City edged Boston 4-3 and Chicago split a twin-bill with New York, the White Sox winning the opener 2-0 and the Yankees taking the second game 7-5.

Clemente scored four runs and drove in three to key the Pirates' romp, but got plenty of help from his teammates. Bill Mazaroski stroked four hits, Manny Sanguillen, Fred Patek and Matty Alou rapped three apiece and W. Oliver slammed a two-run homer.

The Mets overcame Johnny Bench's 42nd homer in the first game, delayed by a rainstorm for two hours and 15 minutes at the start, as Tommie Agee ripped two homers and two singles and Joe Foy drew a bases-loaded walk from Wayne Granger to cap the three-run ninth.

But Stewart tagged Seaver for his first 1970 homer after seventh-inning singles by Bernie Carbo and Tommy Helms, bringing the reds from behind in the nightcap. Rookie Don Gullett retired all 12 batters he faced to pick up the victory and struck out six straight Mets.

Some Favor The Citadel

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor (Last of a series)

While Richmond's Spiders seem to be the favorite in the Southern Conference in most camps, there are a few who favor The Citadel, and nearly everyone is betting that if Richmond isn't up there, the Bulldogs will be.

Bob Gatling, an assistant coach at The Citadel, was that school's spokesman at the recent Southern Conference Football Rouser. Head Coach Red Parker was unable to attend due to an illness in his family.

"We feel we have some real good players," Gatling said. "And we just might be ready to take it."

One of the top men is tailback Bob Duncan, a speedster who led the Southern in rushing last year. "He's only a junior this year," Gatling pointed out, "so we're looking for two more fine years out of him."

Another fine player is the Bulldogs' new quarterback, Billy Watson, who moved in after playing as a defensive halfback and a split end last season. "We lost a real good man in Tony Passander," Gatling said. "But we feel that Watson will be just as good a runner as Passander. He'll have to improve on his passing, however."

Two linemen, tackle Mike Davitt and guard Don Dease, both offensive standouts, are listed by Gatling as the top blockers. Over on the defensive side, middle guard Charlie Baker and linebacker Jim Lee get the top nod from the coaching staff.

"We have others who are potentially good," Gatling said, "but these are the men we are really depending on."

The coach went on to say that he felt The Citadel had good defensive ends back in Don Cox and Tom Utsey. "Joe Bedenbaugh is back and will be a threat as a running back for us. He'll do a good job in the backfield with Duncan."

"I think we are going to have a good offensive line. We lost a lot here, but if our younger kids do as well as we expect them to, we'll be all right."

Gatling pointed out that the Bulldogs lack a good passing threat, however. "Watson is not a real good passer, and if we can't pass, the defense will make it harder for us to run."

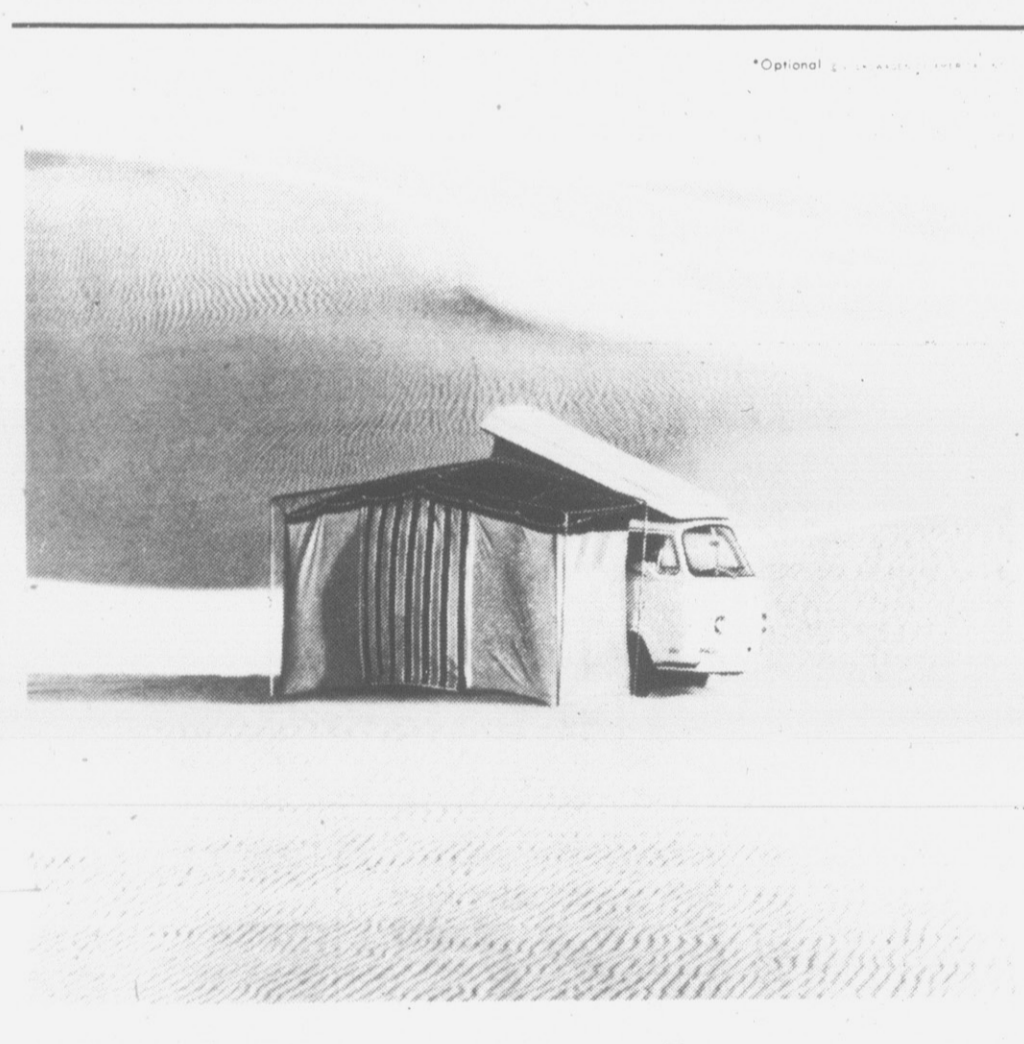

There is also inexperience in the defensive secondary. "We'll probably go with a couple of sophomores," Gatling said. "These are halfbacks Bob Carson and Jeff Varnadoe. If they don't come through, we're going to be hurt." And while there doesn't seem to be much in the way of passing, there is also a lack of good receivers, according to Gatling.

"I think we are a lot like many of the other teams in the conference in our schedule. We open with Clemson and Vanderbilt, and if we can come out of these okay physically and mentally, we'll be all right."

Gatling is the man on Parker's staff who talked him into adopting the Houston option, which is called the Citadel Veer down in Charleston. "We feel we can move the ball better with this system," Gatling said. "We fumble a lot more too, and we have to be brave to use it."

So far, however, the Veer has done well by The Citadel. They were the only school to stop Tangerine Bowl-bound Davidson last year.

And maybe this year, the Veer could send the Bulldogs to the bowl themselves.

Volkswagen the tentmaker.

Although Omar the tentmaker could make a perfectly nice tent, he was no help if you wanted to take it somewhere. For that you had to see your local camel dealer.

There are other tentmakers now, thank Allah.

Every tent* Volkswagen makes comes with an attachment that will take you and the tent anywhere: a Volkswagen.

Giving you about 23 miles for a gallon of gas, the VW Campermobile is a lot cheaper to feed than a camel. And a great deal more comfortable.

It has a full-length double bed, a child's bed, a child's hammock and a cot. As well as closets, curtains, and a reading lamp.

It even boasts a kitchenette. Complete with a cupboard, a dining table, an icebox and a sink.

Of course, cozy as living quarters are on the inside of the Volkswagen Campermobile, it's good to know you can always set-up living quarters on the outside.

As Omar used to say... a man's home is his tent.

Lester Has High Hopes For His Terps This Year

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE PARK (AP) — Roy Lester presided at the meeting and spoke of campus demonstrations, subversives and Playboy magazine.

All of the subjects had football connections—of course—and the Maryland football coach weaved them into his dissertation at the Terps' 1970 kickoff luncheon Sunday.

"I've seen most of the players," Lester said of the 79 candidates who were to report today, "and I don't think they'll cause the university any trouble. I don't think we've got a subversive in the outfit."

"If we do," Lester added, with his usual droll touch, "we'll probably find out at the wrong time."

In answer to a question, Lester said if last spring's campus demonstrations "caused us to lose a football prospect, I don't know of it."

"In fact," he said, "the university took a pretty strong stand. Most parents know that."

Playboy magazine entered the discussion when someone noted the publication had picked Maryland to have a 3-8 record for 1970.

"That's pretty good," said Lester, whose Terps posted a 3-7 mark in his debut last season. "But I have high hopes we'll do better."

An 8-3 record, someone suggested, should provide Lester with a centerfold spread in the magazine. The coach agreed.

"We're not going to say we can beat any team in our schedule," he said, "but we're not going to concede defeat to anyone either. We may be out-manned by some teams, but it comes to matching our first 22 players, we stack up pretty good."

The Terps play at home on Sept. 12 against Villanova, opening an 11-game scheduled which includes other nonconference games against Penn State, Syracuse, West Virginia, and Miami of Florida.

Maryland's Atlantic Coast Conference foes include Duke, North Carolina, South Carolina, N.C. State, Clemson and Virginia.

After watching the Terps shut out three times last season and held to a single touchdown in two other contests, Lester is doing an about face in his coaching philosophy which once stressed the ground game.

"Everybody else is throwing the ball, and so will we," Lester said. "We've got to do some scoring. We'll use a pro-type offense and throw as much as we have to."

Jeff Shugars, a junior quarterback who set a Maryland record by trying 35 passes in a single game last season after becoming a starter, is the chief reason for Lester's change of heart.

"Shugars is still raw and he has a lot to learn," Lester said. "But we think he's going to be a good passer, and we've got to have faith in him."

Lester said the defensive line and the linebacking corps should be the strongest part of the team, while the defensive secondary—as last season—probably will be the chief problem.

Maryland hasn't posted a winning season since 1962 but Athletic Director Jim Kehoe said, "We're all working hard to turn the corner—and it will be turned."

Lester, meantime, perused Maryland's list of all-time opponents and drew up an 11-game schedule against teams the Terps have never beaten.

He left off the likes of Oklahoma, Indiana and Texas, but included American U., Episcopal High, Baltimore Medical College, Curtis Bay Coast Guard, Gibraltar Athletic Club, University of Chicago, Swarthmore, Haverford, Walbrook Athletic Club, Western High and Columbia Athletic Club.

With that card, he might make the centerfold.

Howards Booming Homer Helps Senators Trounce Minnesota

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
As far as Manager Bill Rigney of the Minnesota Twins is concerned, Frank Howard is the king, especially after the huge Washington slugger trumped his ace.

Howard, the Senators' 6-foot-7, 250-pound left fielder, drove a 460-foot home run off 18-game winner Jim Perry Sunday as the red-hot Senators trounced Minnesota 11-1.

The first-inning, three-run shot was Howard's 36th of the season and increased his American League leading runs batted in total to 11.

"Our ace got trumped," Rigney said afterward. "My man (Perry) didn't look like he wanted to let it all out against Howard. He just couldn't get rolling and we got the heck knocked out of us."

It was the West Division leaders' second-straight loss and 12th in 16 games. However, Minnesota still leads runner-up California by five games.

Meanwhile, the Senators, in last place in the East, 20 games behind Baltimore, won their second in a row and ninth in 12 starts and are only five games under 500.

In other AL contests, Baltimore edged California 6-5, Cleveland topped Oakland 8-6, Chicago split a doubleheader, blanking New York 2-0 before the Yankees won 7-5, Detroit ripped Milwaukee 1-0 and Kansas City nudged Boston 4-3.

In the National League, Pittsburgh bombed Los Angeles 11-0, San Francisco trimmed Chicago 4-3, Philadelphia shut out Houston 4-0, St. Louis beat San Diego 8-7, The New York Mets split a pair with Cincinnati, winning 5-4 and then bowing 7-5, and Atlanta at Montreal was rained out.

"Nobody has ever played this game who can hit a ball as far as Howard," said his manager, Ted Williams, the last of the 400 hitters, who also knows something about home runs.

Del Unser also slammed a three-run homer for the Senators who got six-hit pitching from their ace Dick Bosman, 13-9.

Paul Blair drilled a run-scoring ninth-inning single after two were out, helping Mike Cuellar to his 19th triumph, matching teammate Dave McNally as the top winner in the league.

Cuellar, 19-7, gave up nine hits and saw his earned-run streak of 30 consecutive scoreless innings against the Angels shattered in the third when Roger Repoz homered. Jim Spencer hit a two-run shot in the eighth, tying it at 5-5 for the Angels.

Eddie Leon smacked a two-run double in the eighth inning, sending the Indians to their fourth straight triumph. It was the A's seventh loss in eight games. Six homers were hit, four by the A's. Gene Tenace, Blue Moon Odem, Rick Monday and Don Mincher had Oakland's circuits while Jack Heidemann and Graig Nettles had Cleveland's pair.

Rookie Jim Lytle drilled four hits and drove in three runs, enabling the Yankees to grab a split after dropping the opener on Tommy Johns' four-hitter for the White Sox.

Lytle had a two-run double, a sacrifice fly and three singles in the nightcap. The White Sox clubbed three homers, one each by Duane Josephson, Bill Melton and Syd O'Brien.

Mickey Lolich, 12-14, struck out 14 Brewers and allowed only two hits but needed ninth-inning help from Tigers' reliever Tom Timmerman after loading the bases with none out.

Rose High School's Touch-down and Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Club president Walter Harbin and Athletic Director Boley Farley said the meeting would be held in the school's field house.

Coach Bud Phillips and his staff will give a rundown of the upcoming Rose football season. All interested Rose fans are urged to attend.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(c. 1970; by The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQJ1062 ♠Q62 ♣A ♣AK5
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♠ 2 ♣ Double Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The proper call is to pass. You have no support in the spade suit, you should take matters into your own hands and head toward game. The proper rebid is a jump to three spades. A simple rebid of two spades would indicate merely a dissatisfaction with the double.

Q. 2—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ43 ♠K10752 ♣Q53
Your partner has opened the bidding with one no trump. What is your response?
A.—Three spades. Despite partner's minimum sounding rebid, a push to game is in order. You have a near maximum one no trump response, and North very likely has a six card suit, since he had an opportunity to show another suit at a convenient level and yet failed to do so. He is considered as ample trump support.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AQJ965 ♠32 ♣Q6 ♣K1093
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ 2 ♣ 2 ♠ 3 ♠

What do you bid?
A.—Two spades. If North can fit the spades there may be a chance for game in the major suit, and South might just as well try to improve matters, for he is prepared to have his partner return to diamonds.

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠712 ♠AJ9632 ♠A ♣52
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two hearts. While a forward move must be made, the hand does not qualify for a jump bid of any kind. Unless partner can bid again there will not be a very good play for game.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:

Senate Absentees Worried Mansfield

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Embarrassed by absenteeism in a campaign-minded Senate, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield intends to step up the work schedule in hopes of keeping enough members in town to do business.

The first order of business today is leftover from Friday. "We haven't got much choice," Mansfield said. "We have a lot of measures to consider, and not many days to consider them in."

"The members have just got to stay in town—or take their chances if they're out campaigning," the Montana Democrat said.

Mansfield said he may put the Senate on a six-day schedule when absenteeism prevented passage of a $5.2 billion public works appropriations bill.

Only 49 senators showed up to do business. The count was 48 to 1 for passage of the bill when the Senate had to adjourn for lack of a quorum.

"That was an embarrassing situation," Mansfield said. "I think what happened may well be a lesson that would sink home."

Mansfield said he may put the Senate on a six-day schedule starting this week. He said he may seek to keep the Senate work on Saturdays until mid-October.

The attendance problem the Senate encountered Friday certainly will be worse on autumn Saturdays in a congressional election year.

But Mansfield said the work load leaves no alternative. The Senate has spent a month on a $19.2 billion military procurement bill, and Mansfield hopes to complete work on it before a brief Labor Day recess begins on Sept. 3.

The Worry Clinic 'Equal Rights' To Cliff-Jump

Nancy is perplexed about the use of the "Pill" by many unmarried college coeds. And the advice of a psychiatrist to indulge in many sexual episodes prior to marriage, also disturbs her. But you smart girls must never let the malarky about "equal rights" ruin your future happy marriage.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

CASE O-513: Nancy B., aged 18, is a college freshman. "Dr. Crane," she spoke uncertainly, "I am all confused. Many people nowadays seem to think it is quite O.K. for a girl to reward her date by letting him have sexual relations.

"And a lot of college coeds I know are doing just that, for they say women have now been liberated and thus have as much right to be promiscuous as do men.

"In fact, several of my dormitory classmates are using the 'Pill' to permit them to have sexual affairs without worrying about pregnancy.

"And a psychiatrist who addressed a group of us coeds recently, said it also helps a girl to adjust more successfully in marriage if she has had a few sexual episodes with different boys prior to her wedding.

"But my parents have taught me the opposite view, so who is right?"

Beware of that "equal rights" nonsense.

For girls also have "equal rights" about jumping off a cliff or out of a 20-story window!

But smart women don't do so just because of that so-called "equal rights" malarky.

And promiscuity before the wedding definitely jeopardizes a girl's chances of a happy marriage later on.

Moreover, sexual episodes with various boys do NOT teach a girl how to be compatible after the wedding.

This is what I term the "10 piano fallacy."

You readers know very well that just because an untutored boy or girl sits down and pounds the keyboards of 10 pianos, doesn't make them skilled pianists!

For one piano is entirely adequate to produce a Paderewski, IF.

And that big "IF" means, IF they are properly taught how to produce harmony from the keyboard.

Promiscuously pounding the keys of 10 or even 1,000 pianos does not teach melodic harmony.

Nor does sexual harmony result from a girl's letting a dozen boys seduce her as repayment for dates!

Actually, the marital harmony that should exist between a devoted husband and wife depends on a specific erotic technique that is not inborn nor based on pre-marital sexual affairs with different people.

It is a late medico-psychological discovery that even most husbands and wives have never yet learned.

For when a couple have been taught the specific strategy for sexual harmony and then apply it, divorce is almost unheard of.

On the contrary, the straying husbands, plus the many divorcees nowadays, are very flagrant signs to an experienced physician that the couples are still untutored.

Furthermore, a cigarette-smoking wife is usually a sure indication of the same fact, for her undissipated erotic tensions show themselves in her chain smoking.

Sexually adjusted females are not inclined to smoke or demonstrate other social signs of jitters.

Nancy is wise in thus holding doubts about the stampeped tactics on many college campuses to get the coeds to let down their moral standards.

Girls, this is still a double standard world, despite all the malarky about "equal rights."

Men themselves may "sell" you the sophistry of Dr. Spoof's permissive doctrines; then jilt you after they have used you for sexual experimentation.

So send for my booklet "Sex Instruction for Teen-agers," enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AKJ ♠72 ♣853 ♣QJ754
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♣ Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The proper call is two spades. Some players will holt at this suggestion on the grounds that for a preempt a mere preference instead of a raise. It doesn't much matter by what name you call it as partner will realize that you have a fairly good hand from the fact that you first took the trouble to bid two clubs.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠2 ♠Q53 ♠A1064 ♠AQ1053
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Three diamonds. The hope for a slam should not be abandoned. Partner is marked with a singleton diamond and now that has shown club support a slam should be contemplated in that suit.

Q. 8—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠J1085 ♠5 ♣Q743 ♠A1082
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♠ Double 3 ♠ ?

What do you bid?
A.—Three spades. Prospects for game are bright. You have nine points which is a pretty fair hand for a partner who was able to make a vulnerable take-out double and you should not permit East's preemptive action to shut you out. Bidding the weak spade suit at this level should not deter you, for North should have good support when he doubts the other major.

Farm Scene

By LEROY JAMES

Legumes are the most profitable part of your pastures, but keeping legumes in your cool season pastures is not easy. However, it is worth the effort from a dollar - and - cents standpoint. First, your cattle and sheep will perform better on legumes and grasses than on grass alone. Second, legumes supply a large part of the nitrogen needed by the grass.

alleviate this problem by keeping pastures more productive during these months. The growth pattern possible with legumes is especially important to cattlemen who use seasonal breeding with their cows. Calves six to eight months old during June - August need a maximum of milk during this time. This means your cows need a greater abundance of high - protein grazing in June, July, and August than at any other time of the year.

Tobacco TIPS

By S. J. WEEKS

Diseases and insects take a heavy toll from our tobacco crop each year. Cutting tobacco stalks and plowing out the stubbles immediately after harvest reduces mosaic, nematodes, brown spot, horn worms, budworms, and flea beetles. A statewide program has been launched to reduce these six pests. The program is called OPERATION R-6-P (Reduce 6 Pests). Our goal in Pitt County is to get 100 percent participation in 1970.

It is very important that all tobacco stalks and roots are destroyed as soon after harvest of the 1970 crop as possible. Old stalks and roots will decay faster during warm weather than during any other time. The quicker the stalks and roots decay, the quicker the increase of diseases and insect organisms will stop.

Results from research tests have shown that by following this simple practice, the nematode population in the soil can be reduced as much as 75 to 90 percent. In addition to reducing the nematode population, mosaic and brown spot disease organisms would be reduced by decaying tobacco crop refuse. The population of three major insect pests will also be reduced.

Only four steps are required to do this job on your farm.

1. Cut stalks
2. Plow out roots
3. Disk field two weeks after roots have been plowed out, and
4. Seed winter cover crop to prevent erosion

Remember, it is most important to do the job "right now." The complete operation should be carried out while the soil is still warm so that the rotting and decaying process will take place as soon as possible.

WORLD'S CHAMPION PEANUT GROWER SAYS: "MY LILLISTON ENABLES ME TO PICK OVER 30,000 POUNDS OF PEANUTS A DAY"

E. W. Evans, Como, N. C., produced history's highest recorded acre-yield of 6,059 pounds of peanuts in 1969.

Here's what he says about the machine that helped him do it:

"I like my Lilliston 1500 Peanut Combine better than any machine I've ever seen. It's a high capacity combine which enables me to pick an average of over 30,000 pounds of peanuts a day. My Lilliston is a clean-picking combine, too, and gets all the nuts off the vines—even in tough conditions. And it's the most trouble-free machine I've ever used."

More Trolleys Fated To Go

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—The last trolley in Copenhagen is expected to be scrapped by 1972. The city traffic department said Line No. 5, running through downtown Copenhagen, would be the last to go. Ten years ago 14 trolley lines crisscrossed the city.

Pilot With Wanderlust Has Always Been Gypsy

By DOUG TODD
 Associated Press Writer
 JENNINGS, Okla. (AP) — "If you get around to doing everything you planned to do," said Arlie Nixon, "you didn't plan to do enough."
 He's a polar bear-hunting, bobcat-shooting, straight-talking collector of hand-stitched quilts. He's an oilman, a businessman, a cook and a transoceanic jet pilot.
 He is, by his own definition, a "character" and a "gypsy."
 Capt. Arlie Nixon flies the huge 747s for Trans World Airlines. His home base is Kennedy International in New York, but he doesn't like living in "that other world." So he set up solitary housekeeping on a 700-acre farm 15 dirt road minutes from this tiny northeastern Oklahoma town. And he commutes.
 "It's not bad," he said. "I've got a four-seater out there in the pasture, and I can be Oklahoma City or Tulsa in no time at all. Then I switch to a commercial flight to New York. It takes me less than five hours to get to work."

 Nixon, 55, is a Pawnee County native who graduated from nearby Oklahoma State University with a degree in dairy production.
 "I'm kind of sentimental about this land," he said. "My mother was born on the farm across the road, and my grandfather homesteaded the place."
 "My house is built out of the stones from the school I attended when I was a boy. I'm happy here."
 Somewhere along the line, however, young Arlie Nixon caught a bad case of wanderlust and he's never been able to shake it.
 He joined the navy in 1935, earning his naval aviator's wings at Pensacola, Fla. In 1939 he hired on at TWA, and that job has been the foundation on which he's built his singular life.

 Nixon received a guest at his farm home recently, after first laying the ground rules. No shoes—"I learned that in Japan," and no smoking—"It's a stupid habit. I quit and everyone else ought to."
 He was wearing a pair of faded swim trunks and a comfortable old sport shirt. His curly silver hair was long in back and his round, bushy eyebrowed face featured a two-week-old beard. That was a souvenir of a stay in the hospital "with mumps, can you believe that?"
 On the floor of the large den was a polar bear rug from Spitzbergen, off the coast of Norway. On top of that was a little bobcat rug from the Nixon farm on the banks of the Cimarron River.
 Through large picture window Nixon's lake could be seen, as well as the four-door Mercedes-Benz he uses for a work vehicle when it's raining and the topless Jeep won't do.
 Nixon also owns a natural gas company and the only "crop" on his farm is oil.
 He's also one of the top pilots on the line. Two years ago he landed a 707 minus its nose wheel on a carpet of foam at Kennedy. There were 129 passengers on board.
 Nixon would rather talk about his life outside the cockpit.
 He once spent a month sailing around Iceland—"a great vacation." This year he's going across Russia by train, with Osaka, Japan, and Expo '70 his ultimate destination.
 "Aw, I've been everywhere," he said. "I'm a gypsy. I was hunting polar bear in Alaska one time when the guide shot this big old she bear. I brought her cub back for a pet, and he was a cute little thing."
 "But when he got to weigh about 70 pounds I couldn't handle him. I gave him to the Baltimore zoo."
 One of Nixon's favorite hobbies is collecting hand-sewn quilts, the kind your grandmother, and his, used to make. "I buy them at farm sales."
 He's also an expert maker of "squaw bread," a tasty American Indian dish prepared in a frying pan and eaten hot with plenty of butter. Visitors get a loaf to take home with them.
 Nixon's closest neighbor is his 29-year-old son, Cole, who recently settled a half-mile away. Nixon was divorced several years ago and relishes his privacy.
 A census taker stopped at his home this year, asking the usual questions. He got to the one about television sets.
 "Don't own one," said Nixon. "Well, you're one of three people in Pawnee County who doesn't," replied the census taker.
 "They're probably a couple of wierdos, too," said Nixon.

Bank Boasts 73 Vice Presidents
 MANILA (UPI) — Philippine congressmen looking into the operations of the state-run Philippine National Bank have been told the bank has 73 vice presidents.
 The breakdown shows the bank has one executive vice president, three senior vice president, 13 (standard) vice presidents and 56 assistant vice presidents.

Remember when we took pills to get well?

Today a lot of people take them to get started. To calm down. To cope with big problems and even little ones. To blow their minds. To keep from losing them. Today, 10 million Americans use tranquilizers and pep pills regularly. Every year, 1,200 die from misuse of sleeping pills alone.
 It's time we stopped depending on pills. It's time we realized that "pill addiction" can be just as deadly as drug addiction. And that medicine isn't something you take lightly... without a doctor's prescription and the safeguard of a professional pharmacist.

We believe there's more to good health than just paying bills.
