

No Commitments By Agnew During Cambodia Stop

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
BANGKOK (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived today in Bangkok, last stop on his Asian tour, after a stopover in Cambodia during which he said he "made no commitments whatsoever."
"My conversation was extremely guarded in that respect," the vice president told newsmen after his visit of just under five hours to Phnom Penh, the Cambodian capital.
Agnew said he made clear to Cambodian Premier Lon Nol that although the United States is willing to give him arms and economic aid, it wants to keep from becoming "militarily involved." But Cambodian officials were reported highly pleased by the visit, even if it results in no major increase in U.S. aid.
The vice president's visit was the clearest demonstration to date of American support for Lon Nol's regime, and the Cambodians viewed it as a tremendous psychological boost, both at home and abroad.
Agnew said Lon Nol's requests for additional arms aid beyond the $40 million Washington announced this week were "extremely modest," and he declared: "I see no prospect for our sending military advisers" into Cambodia.

Agnew said Sunday en route to Asia that the United States would do anything it could to help Lon Nol's government. But today he said he told the Cambodians at the start of the meetings "we wanted them to understand we did not want to become militarily involved in Cambodia."
The vice president flew to Phnom Penh from Saigon, where during an overnight stop he talked with South Vietnamese and U.S. officials.
"There is just amazing progress since my last visit," Agnew said, comparing the briefings with those he received on a visit to Vietnam on New Year's Day.
He said he could not state what troop withdrawals might take place after next spring, when the total of U.S. forces is scheduled to drop to 284,000 from a high of 549,000. But he indicated some U.S. troops may be needed in Vietnam for some time.
Reporting on a briefing from Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam, Agnew said the level of fighting has diminished considerably due to a "diminution of enemy capability." But he said the United States will continue to help the South Vietnamese until they are able to defend their country, and "that is going to take an awful lot of doing on their part."

Student Killed By School Bus At Junior High

Timothy Wallace, 13, died yesterday at Aycock Junior High School after being run over by a school bus.
Police reported the incident occurred at 3:45 p.m. in the west driveway of the school. According to investigating officers, the bus, driven by Frank Jerome Streeter, 17, was stopped in line waiting to load students.
Streeter was quoted as saying a group of children were standing, knocking on the side of the bus. He blew the horn, the children moved, and he started driving forward.
Officers reported Streeter said he felt the rear wheels rise up and stopped. He then found Wallace on the ground. Police said the right rear wheel of the bus had crushed the youth's head.
John Jones, principal at Aycock, said the bus loading was being supervised by teachers at the time of the accident.
Wallace, an eighth grader, lived at 900 Douglas Avenue. Both his parents are listed as deceased in school records, and the lad has made his home with an uncle, Calvin Hansley, since early childhood.
Police stated that investigation into the fatal accident is continuing.

School Board And Plaintiff Move To Dismiss Suit

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer
The Greenville City School Board as defendant and the original plaintiff against the City School Board, Douglas Edwards, a minor, have both filed a motion for dismissal against plaintiff-intervenor Barry C. Henderson, also a minor.
The two motions to dismiss follow a ruling last Friday by Federal District Court Judge John Larkins, Jr., requesting the original plaintiff and the defendant to submit responses to him by today.
Judge Larkins last Friday granted the motion of intervention on behalf of Henderson, representing a class action for about 134 white students in the Carolina Heights-Hillsdale area, and also took under advisement a request by the same plaintiff for an injunction to restrain the Greenville School Board from implementing a portion of the court approved school plan which directs white elementary school children in the Carolina Heights-Hillsdale area to attend Sadie Sauter Elementary School.
Both motions to dismiss the plaintiff-intervenor case were filed in Federal Court in Trenton yesterday, according to Dr. Clet C. Cleetwood, Superintendent of Greenville City Schools.
James Lanning, Durham attorney and one of several attorneys representing Edwards, the original plaintiff, asked the Court to dismiss the pleading filed by the plaintiff-intervenor, Christopher, on the grounds that "the plaintiff-intervenor has failed to invoke the jurisdiction of this court;" and "plaintiff-intervenor's petition does not state a claim upon which relief can be granted under any possible set of facts."
William Brewer and W. W. Speight, attorneys for the school board, based their motion to dismiss the request of the intervenor on the grounds that "the allegations of the intervenor that he is being forced to participate in the integration of an all-black school for the second consecutive year has no basis in fact, when the record in this case reveals that the intervenor attended a school (South Greenville) during the 1969-70 school year which had a ratio of 70 percent white pupils to 30 percent black, and that he is assigned to attend an elementary school for the 1970-71 school year which has approximately the same ratio of white to black pupils."

The school board attorneys also state "the intervenor has not shown . . . that his constitutional rights have been violated by being assigned to that school, or that the board has abused its discretion in the adoption or implementation of the plan for the 1970-71 year."
Lanning, in a plaintiff's response to the plaintiff-intervenor's pleading, notes that "an assertion of emotional strain as an impediment to complete desegregation is invalid on its face."

A new development was introduced in the case yesterday when Laurence Graham, attorney for plaintiff-intervenor Christopher filed an amended petition in the Federal Court. Commenting on this action, Graham noted "There was some question on whether we had pled federal jurisdiction. The amended petition simply amounts to a statement by me saying the Federal court does have jurisdiction."
Speight, referring to a letter received from Judge Larkins this morning, said Judge Larkins stated that "due to urgency in making a decision, the court is granting only ten days in which respondents may apply to the amended petition."
Indicating this means 10 days from August 26, the date of the letter, Speight said that Judge Larkins will at the end of the ten days set a time for the next hearing. "In the meantime," Speight commented, "depositions will be taken to be considered whenever the hearing is conducted."

Kosygin To Nixon: An All-European Forum Preferred For Parleys

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has told President Nixon in a letter that he favors "an all-European forum" to work out problems between Russia and its Western neighbors.
President Nixon, replying, indicated he was interested more in a U.S.-Soviet meeting rather than an all-European conference.

The exchange of letters was released Thursday by the Western White House.
The Russian premier's letter was dated Aug. 1, the 25th anniversary of the Potsdam Agreement which established post World War II boundaries in Europe.

Case Going To Jurors Today

The hearing of evidence was concluded yesterday and lawyers were presenting their arguments before the jury in the Elmo Barber rape - burglary trial, under way in Superior Court here this morning.
The only witness tendered for the defense was Dr. Bruce Kyles, assistant superintendent of Cherry Hospital in Goldsboro, who took the stand late yesterday afternoon.
Dr. Kyles told the court that Barber, charged with forcing his way into a Brook Valley home here April 27 and assaulting Mrs. Ann Baker Barry, is "suffering a borderline degree of mental retardation, having an IQ (intelligence quotient) of 73" and said the defendant's mental age is "approximately 14."
The doctor did say, however, that Barber is "quite able to consult with counsel in his defense."
Earlier, Judge Joshua S. James allowed a statement in which Barber allegedly admitted to officers his implication in the burglary and rape.
Deputy Sheriff D. D. Respass related to the court how the defendant told officers he and another man went to the Windsor Road home, forced their way in, and assaulted Mrs. Barry.
Earlier an FBI fingerprint examiner told the court that three prints found on Mrs. Barry's bedroom door were made by Barber's left ring, left middle and left index fingers.
This morning, defense attorneys M. E. Cavendish and

Same Medicaid Problem May Arise In Spring

RALEIGH (AP) — A north Carolina social services official says that although the state has staved off a threatened cutoff of millions of dollars in federal Medicaid funds, it may face the same problem again in the spring.
Robert H. Ward, assistant commissioner of the Department of Social Services, said Thursday that seven counties have not included enough money in their budgets to carry their anticipated Medicaid payments through the year.
Officials in the department announced Thursday that the last holdout county—Ashe—had sent in a check for $3,600, bringing all 100 counties up to date with their assigned portions of the Medicaid program's cost.
As long as even one county failed to pay its share, the state faced a total cutoff of federal aid for the program, under which an estimated 350,000 needy persons get free medical attention.
The state receives an estimated $75 million per year in federal funds, which makes up 75 percent of the program's cost. The state and counties share the remaining cost evenly.

The counties which have not appropriated adequate funds for the coming year, and the amount by which their budgets are considered short, were listed by Ward as Bladen, $26,633; Hyde $5,017; Jones $12,345; Mitchell $28,013; Robeson $89,871; Sampson $18,849; and Wayne $31,548.

Officials said a 25-by-60-foot building was destroyed.
The plant is operated under government contract by Hercules, Inc. Plant officials said an investigation is under way to determine what caused the explosion.

Few Changes On Tobacco Marts

Very few changes were reported on the Farmville tobacco market yesterday.
Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville market, said leaf grades accounted for most of the volume.
"Cutters showed a small gain in volume as compared with previous sales days," Williams said.
Stabilization receipts showed a sharp decline as compared with the same sales day last year. Yesterday's receipts were 4.37 percent of gross sales on the Farmville market as compared with last year's stabilization for the same sales day of 8.3 percent.
A total of 661,447 pounds of leaf was sold on the Farmville market yesterday for $494,165, giving an average of $74.71 per hundred pounds.

For the season, a total of 5,487,464 pounds of tobacco has been sold on the Farmville market for an average of $74.44 per hundred pounds.
Greenville market averaged $73.11 when 1,648,455 pounds of leaf went for $1,205,134.
The highest average recorded in the Eastern Belt yesterday was on the Wilson market. That market averaged $75.97 per hundred pounds when 1,700,704 pounds of tobacco sold for $1,292,086.
A tabulation of sales of the individual markets in the Eastern Belt as reported by the Federal-State Market News Service includes:

New 'Reclosers' Being Installed

Automatic reclosers are being replaced at the Greenville Utilities electric substation at 14th Street and Greenville Boulevard to improve service eastward, Director Charles Horne said today.
The reclosers had given trouble on several occasions and it was decided that the units should be replaced, Horne stated.
The work should give more reliable service for the Brook Valley and Red Banks Road areas, he indicated.

NCNB Applies For Shopping Center Branch

An application to establish a new office in the vicinity of Pitt Plaza Shopping Center has been filed with the U.S. Comptroller of the Currency by North Carolina National Bank.
John T. Marston Jr., senior vice president in charge of the NCNB offices here, said the proposed Pitt Plaza office would serve as a convenient banking facility for present customers and would allow NCNB to compete effectively for new customers in a rapidly developing, predominantly residential area of the city.
NCNB now has three offices, here, with the main office — three miles away — the nearest office to the Pitt Plaza Shopping Center.

Explosion Rocks Army Arsenal

RADFORD, Va. (AP) — The Radford Army arsenal was rocked early today by an explosion that killed two employees, injured four other persons and caused an estimated $200,000 damage.
The explosion and fire occurred shortly after the third shift had gone on duty at mid night.
Officials said a 25-by-60-foot building was destroyed.
The plant is operated under government contract by Hercules, Inc. Plant officials said an investigation is under way to determine what caused the explosion.

Bomb Damages Legion Building

SEATTLE (AP) — A bomb shattered glass front doors of the American Legion building in downtown Seattle early today and sent shards of glass scattering into the adjacent street, police reported.
There were no injuries and no arrests, a police spokesman said. A subsequent search turned up no other explosive device, he said.

Grifton Pharmacy Owner Is Charged

The owner and operator of Grifton Pharmacy has been arrested on charges of unlawful burning of a business following investigation of an Aug. 2 fire that caused extensive damage to his downtown Grifton drugstore.
Pitt County deputies, along with State Fire Marshal officials, yesterday arrested John E. Cameron, 29, of Rt. 1, Grifton.
Sheriff Ralph Tyson said this morning that Cameron has been released on $10,000 bond and is scheduled to appear at a hearing set for Sept. 9 in District Court here.

Deputies Tommy Burney and L.B. Williamson investigated the fire, which caused an estimated $50,000 damage to the building, contents and fixtures, and made the arrest Thursday.
Slight smoke to two flanking stores resulted from the blaze but water and fire damage was confined to the downtown pharmacy. Total value of the building, contents and fixtures has been estimated at $85,000.

Two Top Executives Of Commission For The Blind Are Fired

RALEIGH (AP) — Two top executives of the North Carolina Commission for the Blind were fired Thursday after a preliminary study of commission records by the state auditor cited "mismanagement" and "improper procedures."
State Auditor Henry Bridges told a newsmen that the "initial overlook" by his office pointed to practices which had put the commission in "a serious financial crisis."
Commission Chairman Herbert L. Hyde of Asheville, in a brief statement late Thursday, announced the "resignations" of Grady Galloway, the commission's executive director, and Thomas F. Nance, head of the bureau of the employment of the blind.
The decision to request the resignations came several days ago at a special closed-door meeting called by Hyde.

At that meeting the finds of a special team sent by the state auditor to take a preliminary look at the commission's books were described.
Bridges said Thursday that the two-week study of the books showed not only mismanagement but indicated the commission staff was not following proper procedures, "particularly in purchasing."
"The situation was such that corrective action was necessary immediately," Bridges said. He said he notified Gov. Bob Scott, who relayed the word to the commission.
The announcement by Hyde said that both Galloway and Nance had left their offices as of noon Thursday.
Neither could be reached for comment immediately.
Carlton F. Edwards, budget administrator of the Department of Administration's budget division was temporarily assigned to act as executive director of the commission. Mrs. Ethel Faison, the commission's fiscal officer, was named acting chief of the bureau of employment.

The bureau provides a livelihood to blind persons through the operation of newsstands, concession stands and vending machines.
Bridges said that his staff members found the commission in a financial crisis, but he said, "It can be worked out all right" and all of the commission workers will be paid on schedule.
He said a full audit of the books has just been started and a final report may not be available for several weeks.
The commission has been the object of controversy for several years.
In 1969, Hyde, who was then a commission member, became involved in a dispute in the news media with the commission's former chief, W. Joseph Strickland, over the commission's private retirement system and its financial practices.

After a power struggle, Galloway and Hyde succeeded in ousting Strickland.
The 1969 General Assembly, meanwhile, abolished the entire 11-member commission and authorized Gov. Scott to name a new nine-member commission.
Scott named Hyde to head the new commission and kept only one other member from the former commission.
Last December, the new commission reappointed and commended Galloway.
Hyde said at the time that the reappointment of Galloway "reflects the confidence in Mr. Galloway shared by all members of the new board" named by Scott.

Future Mothers Prefer Tunics

LONDON (WNS) — The Young Motherhood Group of maternity shops is holding a competition for the Most Beautiful Expectant Mother of 1970. Its survey of future mothers has revealed that 75 per cent do not enjoy being pregnant and would prefer having other women carry the burden. However, they want to look fashionable during pregnancy and currently prefer tunic and trouser suits.

Nurse Urged To Act Fast On Drug Abuse

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse and work in a small hospital. Our director of nurses is a young divorcee. Recently, while on duty, I observed this girl "sign out" a narcotic in the name of a patient and disappear into the ladies room with it. Moments later she returned to the nurses' station where she charted the medication on the patient's chart and continued making rounds.

Abby, I know this girl took the drugs herself, but I have no proof. The patient on whose chart she charted the medication is elderly and very disoriented most of the time, so questioning him would prove nothing. I have noticed, more recently that narcotics have been signed out by this same nurse and charted on the charts of other patients in the same mental condition as the elderly gentleman.

I haven't reported this to anyone as I have no proof, but perhaps I should. Or should I mind my own business, hoping someone else will discover the same thing? "ELWOOD"

DEAR ELWOOD: Report your suspicions to the hospital director, or senior administrator. Independently of what he says or does, also notify the director of the State Board of Nursing. A confidential investigation will be made and the situation will be handled from that point on. You will then have discharged your obligation properly, and perhaps the young woman with the alleged drug problem can be helped.

DEAR ABBY: How do you get rid of a guy you don't care for?

LORI

DEAR LORI: Introduce him to a GIRL you don't care for.

DEAR ABBY: What does a woman do when she discovers that her husband whom she has dearly loved for 20 years has been unfaithful.

He has admitted it. [He had no choice.] Now he says that the affair is finished and he wants only me.

I do love him and want so desperately to believe him, but how can I be sure he won't resume the affair? The other woman is younger than I, attractive, and unhappily married. She is easily accessible, too.

We have two teenaged children who would be affected by a separation or divorce, but I must think of my future when they are grown and gone. If I am to make another life for myself my chances are better before I get much older.

Abby, is it possible to eventually get over this terrible nightmare, or does it go on forever?

NEEDS HELP IN B. H.

DEAR NEEDS: Yes, it is possible to get over the "nightmare." Women have told me that it sometimes takes such a crisis to "test" a marriage, and theirs have emerged stronger and better for the test. Believe your husband, and don't torture yourself with thoughts of what "might be." Nothing that's worth having comes easily.

DEAR ABBY: This is the second marriage for both of us, and it would be perfect except for one thing. My husband wants to go visit his daughter on our vacation and I don't want to go because the last time we went my whole vacation was spoiled by something which upset me.

In the bedroom where his daughter put us there was a large picture of her mother. It was setting on the bureau facing the bed. It could have been placed in another room while we were there. Being a mother myself I thought it would be wrong of me to ask her to remove it, so I didn't say a word.

I can't understand why she would want to hurt me that way. She knows I have been a good wife to her father. Her mother died an alcoholic and gave her father a lot of trouble.

Am I wrong to feel the way I do? Would you go again if you were in my place?

SECOND WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Yes. But first I would tell my husband what upset me on the last visit there, thus precluding a repeat performance. It could have been an oversight on the part of the daughter. I think you were wrong to have suffered in silence.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Miss Loretta Hester Weds Robert W. Smith

OXFORD—Enon Baptist Church was the setting Sunday for the 4:00 p.m. wedding of Miss Loretta King Hester, daughter of Charlie Landis Hester, of Rt. 5, Oxford, and the late Mrs. Hortense King Hester, and Robert Wayne Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith of Greenville.

Miss Emma Day, organist, and Mrs. J. Marshall Neathery, vocalist, presented a program of wedding music.

Vows were spoken before a satin covered prie-dieu set against a background of seven and nine branched candelabra, emerald fern and tall baskets of white chrysanthemums.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a floor length gown of bonded lace and satin with back pleat extended to form a brief train. The broad satin ribbon which accented the raised waist ended in a back bow with long streamers.

Her fingertip veil fell from a crown of seed pearls. Her bouquet was a semi-cascade of white feather carnations centered with a white orchid.

Miss Linda Hester was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of bright green with back pleat edged with small green and white flowers. Her bouquet was a semi-cascade of yellow and white daisies.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. James Horner of Greensboro and Miss Gay King of Oxford, cousins of the bride. Miss Cindy Smith of Greenville, sister of the bridegroom, Mrs. Marshall Neathery of Middleburg, Miss Jane Daniel of Durham and Mrs. Larry Hicks of Tappahannock, Va. Their yellow gowns were similar in style and material to that of the maid of honor and they carried similar flowers.

Miss Elaine King of Oxford, cousin of the bride, and David Ward of Williamston, cousin of the bridegroom, were junior attendants.

Mr. Smith was his son's best man. Ushers were James E. Hester of Raleigh, brother of the bride, Royce Ward of Williamston, uncle of the bridegroom, and Dave Rogers, Milton Sawyer, H. T. Wainwright and Allen Harris, all of Greenville.

The bride's stepmother wore a light blue sheath with matching coat and blue accessories. A corsage of white carnations completed her costume.

The bridegroom's mother wore a mint green dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride is a graduate of J. F. Webb High School. She attended ECU and has been employed in the office of the Granville Register of Deeds for the past two years. The bridegroom is a student at ECU.

For a wedding trip to the beach, the bride changed to a pink and white dress with white accessories. She wore the orchid lifted from her bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Greenville.

On Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Smith, parents of the bridegroom, entertained the wedding party and other guests at a pre-rehearsal supper in Enon Community House.

Following the rehearsal, Mrs. J. T. Yancey, Mrs. Lettie Yancey, Mrs. Felicia Williams, Mrs. Nell Trimm and Mrs. Stan Westerholm entertained in the social hall at the church.

Guests were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Culom Hester, and Mrs. Leonard Whitesell of Pinehurst presided over the bride's book.

Mrs. Nell Trimm poured punch, and Mrs. Larry White of Southern Pines served slices of the four-tiered wedding cake to about a 100 guests.

ECU Alumnae Chosen As Outstanding Young Women

The East Carolina University Alumni Association announced today that two ECU alumnae have been selected to appear in the 1970 edition of Outstanding Young Women Of America.

Mrs. Jane Murray Dillard and Miss Cheryl Lynn Willard have been chosen for the awards publication on the basis of achievement.

Mrs. Dillard, an undergraduate and graduate voice student of Mrs. Gladys White, received the BS degree from ECU in 1960 and the MA in 1962.

Her many professional accomplishments include: winner of one of the two top prizes in the International Singing Contest, Geneva, Switzerland, Fall, 1967; role in Die Walkure in Festival of Rome, 1968, which was broadcast over Radio Rome; a series of concerts with orchestras in France and Switzerland; and guest artist at Brevard Music Center, 1970, in which she sang the role of Amneris in AIDA.

Mrs. Dillard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Murray of Roxboro and presently resides in Tampa, Florida.

Miss Willard is a 1969 nursing graduate of ECU.

In May, 1970, Miss Willard was appointed head nurse in the Phipps Psychiatric Clinic at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

The Phipps Clinic, which represented the first attempt to bring psychiatry into a general hospital, opened in 1913.

Miss Willard, who hopes to become both a nursing educator and administrator, is working toward a masters degree in psychiatric nursing. She is a graduate of Pamlico High School, Bayboro, N.C.

COOKING IS FUN!

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
AP Food Editor

Here's something spanking new—Macaroon Cupcakes baked in foil or paper cases. They're pretty as can be and have pronounced macaroon flavor. Their macaroon-type texture is due to the use of lots of cookie coconut and a minimum of flour.

These cupcakes may be baked in medium-size baking cups; this way they make a substantial luncheon or supper dessert.

Baked in miniature-size cups, they're perfect teatime snacks.

MACAROON CUPCAKES
6 tablespoons sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon double-acting baking powder

1 package (7 ounces) cookie coconut (about 1 1/4 cups)
2-3rds cup sugar
2 large egg whites
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Lemon Glaze, if desired—(See recipe below)
On wax paper sift together the flour and baking powder.

Into the top of a double boiler turn the coconut, 1-3rd cup of the sugar and one egg white. Set over boiling water and stir until heated throughout—about five minutes. Remove from heat and from over water. Add sifted flour mixture and almond extract; mix well.

In a small mixing bowl beat the remaining egg white until foamy throughout. Gradually beat in the remaining 1-3rd cup sugar. Continue beating until mixture forms peaks that tilt over slightly when beater is slowly withdrawn; fold into coconut mixture.

Divide mixture among eight medium-size foil baking cups or 15 small-size (about 1 1/2 inches) foil baking cups, filling each to the top. Place on cookie sheet and bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean—about 25 minutes. Cool.

Spoon Lemon Glaze, if used, over cooled cupcakes. Garnish, if you like, with candied cherry halves and slivered toasted almonds.

Makes eight medium or 15 small cupcakes.

Note: If desired, paper baking cups placed in muffin pans may be used instead of foil baking cups.

LEMON GLAZE

1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 to 4 teaspoons milk

With a spoon, beat together all the ingredients until smooth and the right consistency to spread thinly.

Family Reunion Held Recently

About 50 descendants of the John Thomas and Minnie Stocks Allen family gathered at the Red Oak Community Building for their first reunion and to honor their aunt, Mrs. Lizzie A. Vandiford, on her 82nd birthday.

The Rev. Kenneth A. Moore gave the invocation. After dinner, Mrs. Vandiford was presented a birthday cake by her daughter.

It was decided to make this an annual affair. The following officers were elected: Fenner Allen Jr., president; Rubelle Goin, vice - president; Bob Beardsworth, secretary - treasurer.

Out - of - town guests were Mrs. Stella Winstead, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Goin of Walstonburg, Mrs. Paul Jones and Dabney Goin of Wilson.

Mrs. Audrey Jordan and James S. Allen were co-chairmen of the event.

Jilted Bride Is Perfect Hostess

DONCASTER, England (WNS) — Esther Carver, 17, went right ahead with the wedding reception even though Brian Barrett, her 20-year-old groom-to-be, never showed up at the church. "This is the second man who jilted me this year, but I can't jilt 200 guests out of a party," said Esther, who now has two engagement rings, one wedding ring and a wedding gown that she will convert into a maxi for fall. "I'm unlucky in love, but I've got more rings than my girl friends," she smiled.

Groom Wants Name Change

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (WNS) — The handsome young Polish refugee had no trouble attracting interest from pretty coeds with his name, but he wants to change it to Christensen now that he is interested in marriage. "My Elsie refuses to change her name to Krzystyniac," he said. Elsie's maiden name is Christensen, and the groom would like to have it as his own.

Links To Piedmont Essential

The Coastal Plains Regional Commission Wednesday approved a regional highway development plan and recommended that Congress be asked for funding.

The commission agreed that the corridor which is to run north and south (along U.S. 17 route) is urgently needed. Gov. Robert McNair of South Carolina said the commission should establish priorities or risk delaying the program for a number of months.

We have to agree that the north-south coastal highway is indeed important to the region's overall development. However, we also have to point out that North Carolina is an east-west oriented state and developing the dual lane limited access highways tying the eastern portion of the state to the populous Piedmont is essential to economic improvement in Eastern North Carolina.

The plan adopted by the commission calls for primary center connectors along the present U. S. 17 route, from Raleigh east along U.S. 64 and also from Raleigh to Morehead and Raleigh to Wilmington.

What the commission considers secondary center links are proposed from Jacksonville through Greenville and then on to the Virginia line and from Greenville to Wilson and also between Wilson and Goldsboro.

All of the projects have great merit, but we would hope that the priorities would not be in that order. The U. S. 264 development could wait a long time if the primary center connectors were developed before the secondary center links.

There will be great enthusiasm in the Piedmont to develop the routes leading to resort areas as rapidly as possible. While this can be beneficial to the state the object of the highway work should be to stimulate commerce and since most of the east's economic development is taking place along a belt with U. S. 264 as its center, then it makes sense to expedite improvement of this highway.

First, Teach The Children

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — How will man learn to live in the natural world without destroying it or himself, perhaps the most important lesson of the final third of the 20th century?

"Teach the children," said John Trott.

The classroom is the open field, stream and woods. The subject matter is life itself and its delicate balance with environment. The method is direct, emotional experience.

As a naturalist and teacher, Trott has developed a theory and technique of teaching centered on ecology which has received wide attention and praise. He is a wildlife photographer whose pictures have been used in a number of books and magazines, and a champion of conservation causes on many fronts.

John and his wife, Lee, the public school system in a manner I felt was valid as far as the students were concerned," he said.

What he has accomplished at Burgundy is the subject of an article, illustrated with his own bird photographs, in the U.S. Information Agency magazine, America, distributed last fall in Russia and other countries. He and the school have been the subject of newspaper features, and he has appeared on Washington television shows.

TroTT, whose teaching experience is at the seventh grade level, finds the adolescent period a receptive time for learning. Attitudes towards education can be fixed then, in either excitement or boredom. He maintains the objective of drawing students into direct involvement. He gives them the responsibility for choice of research (subject, critical observation in the field, and decision on conclusions).

"Learning is an emotional experience," he said. "When you really learn something your life is changed."

Pupils relate their studies to what's going on in society around them, with particular attention to the nearby national capital. They follow environmental issues, write letters to Congressmen and federal departments, and express their opinions with candor and vigor.

"If young people today don't grasp the extent of problems of the environment and become deeply concerned, I don't know what's left for us," Trott said.

His pleasure in teaching is partly a vicarious re-experience through his students of the awakening wonder in the natural world which he felt during his boyhood in New London.

On summer evenings his father would imitate the whip-o-will, calling the nocturnal birds up to the house. A cardinal's nest discovered in the abandoned orchard where he built foits and played further spurred his interest in ornithology—the science of bird life—now a self-mastered specialty.

"A woman who called about getting her granddaughter into summer camp told me: 'What happens during the summer you are 12 years old makes up your childhood memories in later years,'" he said. "It's very true. It is a critical time in a person's life."

He was an ardent conservationist years before the cause was discovered by politicians and the public. "I decided to let them join me," he chuckled. "It's good to have other people worrying about the same things that I've been bothered about all this time."

Should Lose No Time Clarifying Legality

A Supreme Court hearing on the new law lowering the minimum voting age next year to 18 should be welcomed by all Americans.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger has announced that the court will hear arguments Oct. 19.

There has been much confusion about this law and doubts have been expressed about its constitutionality. The law's validity should be established by the Supreme Court before another election is held. In this way there will be no question about the legality of the elections.

Management Taking Lumps

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The great genius of American industry is the art of management and organization, almost everyone concedes.

Foreign companies clamor for men with experience in American firms, for American management consultants, for anyone who can teach them the management techniques that have so far sustained the affluent society. And American managers are just as high in their praise when they evaluate the system that has almost put a "chicken in every pot," or translated into modern terms, two cars in every garage.

All of which sounds good until one considers the performance, or rather lack of performance, in the business community in the past year.

The current slump in the business cycle is hardly conducive to bold leaps forward. But if American management is doing so many things right, why are so many things going wrong? Is it perhaps that American management rates star billing only when times are good for selling.

"We Americans have always taken a lot of pleasure in telling ourselves how good we are," observes George F. Lombard, senior associate dean for educational affairs at the Harvard University Business School. "And it's equally true that the American business culture, as are most business cultures, is relatively success-oriented."

Lombard contends that American business would perform better if it attempted to operate with an understanding of broad social problems rather than just concentrating on its own limited area of interest.

To clarify the point,

Lombard points to a passage in the book "The Theory of Social Revolutions" written decades ago by a man named Brooks Adams. According to Adams, the American specialty is making money. And he says, most American businessmen are too busy making profits in specialized areas to comprehend fundamental or over-all social considerations.

True administration, Lombard points out, is defined by Adams as the art of generalization. In other words, it is the ability to coordinate many diverse factors into a coherent whole.

Modern management, Adams asserts, has developed in the opposite direction. Specialization is the ultimate end, he says. The problem, according to both Adams and Lombard, is that American business is too specialized to do any good for itself or for the increasingly complex society in which it operates.

The major question for business today, Lombard says, is: How to cope with the diversity and specialization that an accelerating rate of change brings? "This question is open for discussion more now than anytime since the '30s," Lombard adds.

Opinions In Brief

"I don't know who my grandfather was; I am much more concerned to know what his grandson will be." — Abraham Lincoln.

"The darkest hour in any man's life is when he sits down to plan how to get money without earning it." — Horace Greeley.

Strength For Today

NOT WORDS BUT ACTS
Gladstone once said: "Don't let your religion spoil your morality."

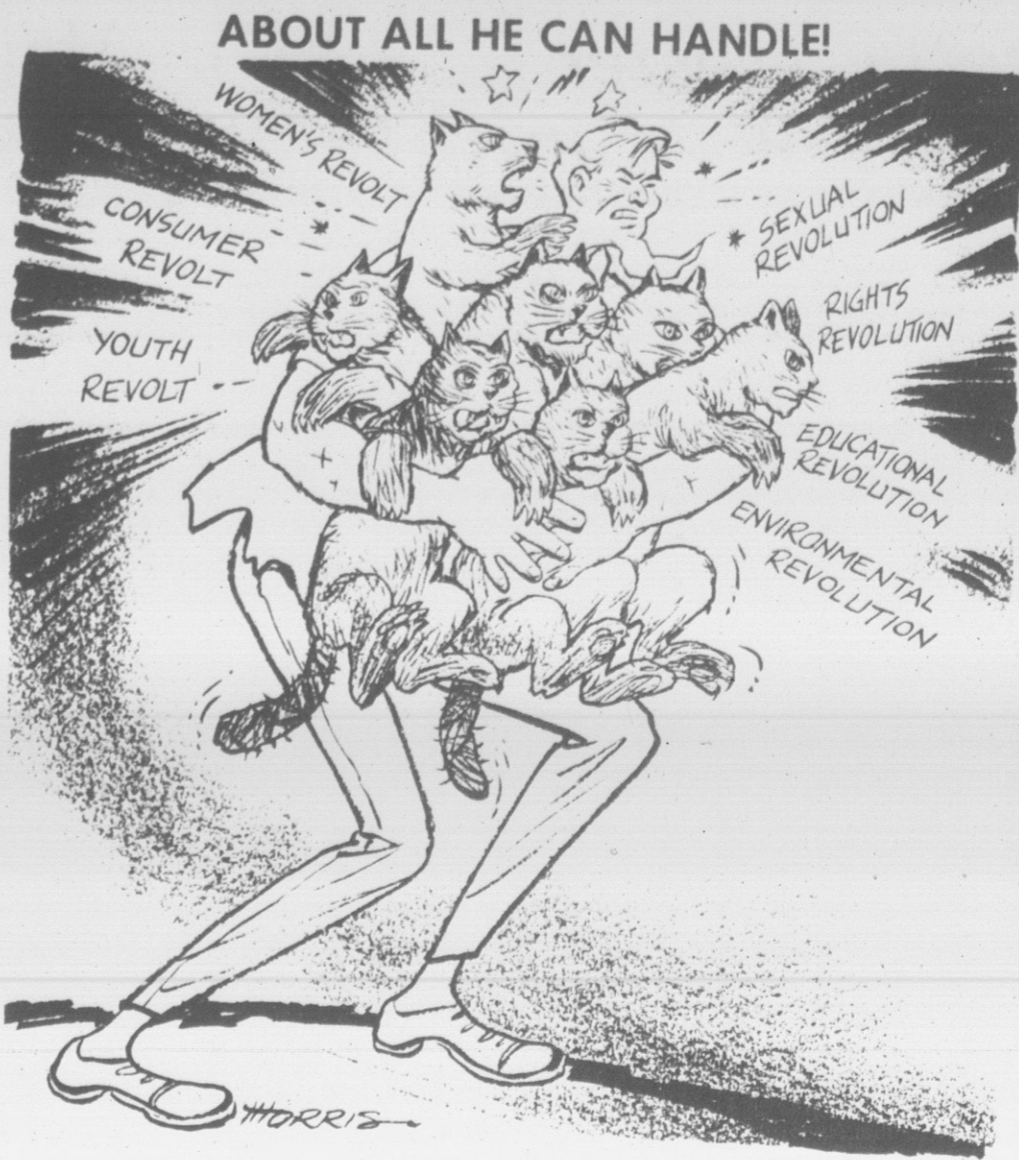

Some people do. This was what the little girl had in mind when she prayed, "God, make all the bad people good and all the good people nice." Nothing hurts religion so much as to have people of great religious pretensions constantly belie those pretensions by unkindness, ill-temper, and avarice. The church official who has to be watched in a business deal, or the woman, supposedly pious, who is eager to accelerate evil rumor about her neighbors, do the cause of religion incalculable harm.

But the people who above all allow their religion to spoil their morality are those who emphasize certain aspects of their faith and neglect other aspects. Generally these emphasize creeds, church attendance, devotion to religious customs. They neglect kindness, love, tolerance, understanding, and justice. Worst of all, they consider themselves blameless because they hold fast to the letter. Nothing is more dreadful than the person who holds fast to the letter of religious truth and violates its spirit.

Our Lord expressed himself in this regard when he declared, "Not everyone that saith unto me Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of Heaven, but he that doeth the will of my Father, who is in Heaven."

By Earl L. Douglass

By ART BUCHWALD

Five Acres In Florida

Some years ago, Art Buchwald became a landowner in Florida. This is how it happened:

MIAMI — The magic word in Florida these days is "land." According to the exciting advertisements on the highways, and in newspapers and magazines, anyone who is willing to plunk $10 down and pay $10 a month can in no time at all become another William Zeckendorf or Conrad Hilton.

No matter who you are, the land fever grips you as soon as you get off the plane, and I must admit I was no exception. Not wanting to be left out of what is potentially the greatest "growth investment in the United States" since fallout shelters, I swiped 10 bucks from my kid's toy bank and rushed out to the nearest real-estate development office (there are about two on every block).

The office, located in a vacated store, was very plush. There were photos of beautiful homes on the wall. (I discovered later that they had nothing to do with the development, but gave the place a nice atmosphere.)

A gorgeous receptionist was typing up mortgages, but when she saw the $10 I was clutching in my hand, she immediately ushered me into the plush office of the managing director. The director, a jovial man in a Palm Beach suit, shook my hand vigorously and invited me to sit in one of his plush chairs. On his desk was a mock-up, in scale, of his latest development: an entire town. The mock-up showed three golf courses, five schools, a church, a yacht club and basin and 500 ranch-type houses.

I gasped when I looked at it.

"You're very lucky," he said. "We have only one house left."

"Could I go out and see it?" I asked excitedly.

"Why would you want to do that?" he asked. "Don't you believe what you see here on my desk?"

"Well, it is beautiful," I said. "But I thought it would be fun to go and see the place for myself, size up my neighbors and that sort of thing."

"It's a pretty long trip," he said. "You see, we built this town in the Everglades to get away from all those jet noises people are always complaining about. It's about a hundred miles inland, but you can only travel by day because of the alligators."

"Alligators?"

"Of course. You have to have alligators to eat the moccasin snakes, or they'd be all over the place."

Learn It In Mails

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: The 50 million middle-aged Americans between 40 and 65 make up only a fourth of the population, but they earn more than half the national income, own more than half of the stock in all U.S. corporations, account for 40 per cent of the female labor force, and vote more than any other age group.

So how about a National Middle-Age Day to salute them?

One of the most restricted groups of people on earth are the 100,000 Chinese who live aboard fishing and cargo junks in Hong Kong harbor. Many spend their entire lives aboard these picturesque vessels without ever stepping ashore.

Businessmen's conventions are no longer stag spees. Some 2,825,000 delegates attended 829 conventions in New York City last year, and 60 per cent of the men brought along their wives.

Sleep doesn't come cheap in this country. We now are spending more than $80 million annually for sleeping pills and potions of all kinds—plus millions more for such sleeping aids as ear plugs, eye masks and mechanical vibrating beds.

Never monkey around with a chimpanzee. One of these apes weighing 120 pounds or less, if aroused, could maul a 250-pound pro football tackle unconscious and leave him toothless in less than a minute.

Quotable notables: "Doing well is all that matters."—Poet Robert Frost.

Mighty mama: Nothing man-made approaches the sheer power of Mother Nature. It is estimated that a single tornado can generate 100 million kilowatts of energy—about a third of the capacity of all the electrical power stations in the United States put together.

Worth remembering: "If you can't think of any other way to flatter a man, tell him he's the kind who can't be flattered."

Dobbin returns: Horses, like people, are having a population explosion. The 15 million horses counted on farms in 1915 had dropped to three million by 1959. But now, thanks to a new interest in riding, the number has crept above the seven million mark.

Some birds, ornithologists say, sing up to 18 hours a day. Wouldn't it be wonderful if human beings felt they had that much to sing about?

Other Editors Say Primary For N.C.

(Washington Daily News)

A group headed by James Hunt of Wilson, N. C. is recommending that the preferential primary be instilled in North Carolina so that citizens can express themselves on presidential candidates in advance of the nominating conventions.

The recommendation has more than passing interest to a lot of people. As of now the average North Carolinian has no choice whatsoever in determining the candidates for president and vice president.

Of course usually the presidential candidate names his own running mate. And in the future we suspect that this course will be followed regardless of any presidential primaries.

In 1968 had North Carolina been using a presidential primary, we doubt that a majority of the Democrats would have supported Hubert Humphrey, Eugene McCarthy, or any other of the far our liberals.

This argument that not having any such primary enables our delegates to have a free hand and to maneuver on their own at nominating conventions with the idea in mind that uninstructed delegations give us a bargaining power which otherwise we could not have.

What good is bargaining power to North Carolina?

What have we gained in the past by having that so called "bargaining power"?

We tend to look with favor upon the idea of a presidential primary for North Carolina. We feel that there is no good substitute for an expression by the people. The only big difficulty, as we see it, lies in the fact that the choices offered in a presidential primary might all be unsatisfactory to a majority of our own people. The idea of choosing between the "lesser of the evils" will put many voters in a difficult position.

As we look upon the proposition, it is one of allowing the people to decide on one hand or a small group on the other hand.

Many of us might not like what the majority opinion in this state might be on any given primary, but we do like the idea of an expression by the people whether we agree with the results or not. And it would be our hope that before the 1972 political convention, the machinery can be set up for such a primary.

There will be a lot of work to be done in setting up the machinery for a presidential primary. But it can be done, and to our way of thinking, this state will be better off holding a primary than holding a caucus between just a few people.

Looking Back On A Good Year

By ELMER ROESSNER
The drug and medicine industry makes the highest return on the stockholders' investment, or at least they did in 1967 and 1968, according to a study by the

ELMER ROESSNER

Federal Trade Commission. The industry made 18.8 per cent in 1968, after taxes, it found.

The next five most profitable industries were:

- Typewriters, computing, other business machines 17.7 percent
- Pumps, air & gas compressors 16.7
- Motor vehicles 15.4

Radio & TV and related products 15.0
Footwear, except rubber 14.8
Runners Up

Other industries with profit ratios above 10 per cent and their 1968 take in percentages of stockholders' investment were:

- Tobacco, 13.8; aircraft, 13.2; machine tools, etc., 12.9; bakery products, 12.7; periodicals, 12.7; petroleum products, 12.4; candy & chocolate, 12.3; motor vehicle parts and accessories except leaf springs, tires and electrical equipment, 12.3 printing trades machinery and equipment, 12.1; malt liquors, 12.1; carpet and rugs, woven & tufted, 12.1; glass and glassware, 12.0; tires and other rubber products, 11.9; dairy products, 11.0; ball & roller bearings, 10.9; smelting, refining, rolling or drawing nonferrous metals, 10.3; ship and boat building and repairing, 10.2.

Enjoy, Enjoy!
Five drug companies "enjoyed," the FTC's word, 20 per cent or greater returns on stockholders' investment. Individual companies in nine additional industries had return to 20 per cent or more, including two companies each in the typewriter and business machines category and in the radio and TV equipment category.

One company in each of the meat products, candy and chocolate, carpeting, footwear, bearing, auto accessories, and aircraft industries had earnings of 20 per cent or more.

There have been major changes since 1968, of course. Profits in 1969 averaged higher, especially in the first half of the year, and declined sharply in the first half of this year.

In fact, four industries reported significant decreases in profits even in 1968 compared with 1967.

They were bakery products; vitreous china, enameled metals, brass plumbing fixtures, valves and pipe fittings; machine tools and related products; and ship and boat building and repairing.

For specific companies that are making more or less this year, see the stock tables.

Tight Bus Windows Proposed By Transportation
The Department of Transportation has proposed a safety standard that would require buses manufactured after Jan. 1, 1972, to have side and rear windows so securely fastened that passengers would not pop out in crashes.

However, the Department, which insists on seat belts for private cars and for bus drivers, has taken no action to require seat belts for bus passengers. Let them eat cake.

"It's not completed yet, but we've already sprayed the malaria-mosquito ponds, and by next month we should have the wild-boar traps all dug. In a year it will look just like this mock-up."
"You mean the church isn't even built yet?"
"Well, no. But don't forget this is the church of your choice, and if it were already built it wouldn't be the church of your choice then, would it?"

I admitted that was true. Just then the phone rang and he picked it up. I couldn't help overhearing the conversation.

"Yes sir, Mr. Ford. You'd like to build a factory on my tract? It's going to be difficult. I have a man in my office now and I've already promised him the last five acres. No, I can't give you his name. But perhaps he'll get in touch with you. Sorry, Goodby."

I plunked down the $10 and hurriedly signed the deed.

I've been trying to get in touch with Mr. Ford ever since, but he always seems to be out. Once I get him on the phone, though, and tell him about the land I own, he's really to have to pay through the nose.

Protestors March, Ask Boycott In Winterville

WINTERVILLE—A group of about 90 blacks held a peaceful and orderly march and picketing session here last night, and called for a boycott of town merchants.

According to Calvin Henderson, spokesman for the group, the march and picketing, as well as the boycott, are designed to call attention to a list of grievances presented to Mayor Walter Dail earlier this week.

Last night, marchers carried placards saying the "mayor and aldermen are unfair to black community," requesting "more paved streets, better street lighting and more fire hydrants," "demanding action. . ." toward lowering high electric rates, asking for "more blacks on appointed committees," saying "merchants practicing unfair hiring. . ."

Henderson said the black community is "not asking for outside help" and said the protesters "intend to stay within the boundaries of the law." A group of Negroes attended a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen Monday when the board passed an ordinance regulating parades, demonstrations and picketing. Mayor Dail said he refused to discuss the list of grievances with the group at that time because it was not on the agenda of the special session.

The group had a permit for the march last night, and had applied for a permit to march and picket tonight. Henderson said he would apply for a permit to picket Saturday.

Last night's protest began about 7 p. m. and lasted for about 30 minutes.

Bomb Blast At School

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C. (AP)—A formerly all-black school being paired with a white school was bombed late Thursday night, four days before the opening of schools. No one was injured.

Sheriff Tom Bardin of Edgecombe County said he believed dynamite was used in the two blasts at the Bullock School 10 miles east of Rocky Mount.

He said one charge, set off against an outside wall, blew a hole about three feet square in the building at ground level, and then shattered panes in about 20 windows. Apparently no other structural damage was done, he said.

Another charge blasted a hole in a water storage tank just behind the school, but flooding was minor.

Schools in Edgecombe County in eastern North Carolina open Monday. The Bullock school, with enrollment of 475, 60 per cent white and 40 per cent black, is being paired with the previously all-white Edgecombe School. It will have grades 1 through 3.

Timber-Cutting Before Judge

ASHEVILLE (AP)—A federal judge is deciding whether to prohibit the U. S. Forest Service from cutting timber next to a Florida Girl Scouts' mountain camp.

Witnesses for the girls testified Thursday that the logging operations would bring in "drunken hunters," cause soil erosion and ruin the view.

But U. S. District Judge Woodrow J. Jones indicated that "the plaintiffs are not entitled to an injunction" to prevent the whole logging operation.

The injunction was sought by the Suncoast Girl Scout Council of Tampa, Fla. The group has a 1,500-acre tract in the North Carolina mountains near Bryson City.

Investigating Reported Poisoning By Pesticide

RALEIGH (AP)—A North Carolina Health official says his staff is investigating about 30 cases of pesticide poisoning which may have been caused by parathion, an agricultural insecticide.

The comment came Thursday from Dr. Martin P. Hines, director of the Board of Health's epidemiology division.

Meanwhile, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said his department is not "disputing" facts collected by the Board of Health in its investigation of the death of a farm boy. Hines had said Wednesday night that the federal and state agriculture departments had disputed the diagnosis of the death as parathion poisoning.

The exchange involved the diagnosis of the state's chief medical examiner Dr. R. Page Hudson, that Daniel Boyette, 71 of Pink Hill, died July 31 as a result of parathion poisoning. The death brought demands that the pesticide be banned. Dr. Cipriano Cueto, chief state officer of pesticide evaluation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, said Wednesday that clinical evidence raised doubts in his mind as to whether parathion was responsible for the boy's death.

Graham declined Thursday to comment on questions raised by the various investigations, but he defended Cueto as "one of the most outstanding authorities on this subject." Graham said he welcomed the Board of Health's investigation and said his department is trying "to get all the facts and let the chips fall where they may." U. S. Department of Agriculture investigators have been in the state since mid-August, looking into cases of suspected parathion poisoning.

Stock And Market Reports

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina egg markets steady to stronger Thursday, supplies short in instances, demand generally good. Prices paid producers and handlers for consumer grade eggs in cartons delivered nearby outlets:

Grade A large whites 52½-53; medium whites 40-40½; small whites 26-27.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina poultry live values declined 1½ cents per pound today. Supplies were fully adequate, with weights heavy at some points. Live, at farm based valuation, 10½ cents per pound. Hens: supplies fully adequate for a slow-to-fair buying interest. Heavies—at farm, 8½ to nine; lights at farm, 4½ to 5.

RALEIGH (AP)—(NCDA) — North Carolina hog markets prices were steady today. Tops of 17.50 to 19.50 at Tarboro, 19.00 to 19.25 at Wilson, 18.50 to 19.00 at Siler City, Benson and Rocky Mount, 18.00 to 18.50 at Aberdeen, 17.50 to 18.50 at Bethel, 19.50 at Salisbury.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices continued higher today in brisk trading. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials rose 1.78 points to 761.57 at 11 a.m. A half hour earlier it had been ahead 2.05 points.

Continued Absentees

Student attendance at Sadie Sautler Elementary School again today reflected more than 100 absences as the first part week of school comes to a close and the apparent boycott by about a quarter of the students assigned to this school continued.

Attendance figures reported today was 335, compared to 338 yesterday and 347 on opening day. Estimated enrollment for Sadie Sautler is about 450 to 465 students.

At Wahl-Coates, where first day attendance was 499, attendance today was much higher with 557 in school.

Attendance figures from other schools show: Rose High School, 1,303 Aycock Junior High School, 1,492; Eastern Elementary, 512; Elmhurst Elementary, 541; Third Street School, 202; and South Greenville, 586.

Texas Counts Up Road Costs

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Nearly $8 billion has been spent in Texas for construction and maintenance of roads since the state highway department was created in 1917.

Construction has included 37,865 miles of farm and ranch roads, 25,809 miles of U.S. and state highways and 2,749 miles of interstate roadways.

Advances on the New York Stock Exchange held the 2 to 1 lead over declines.

Analysts said that they expected today's trading to follow the pattern set during the past three sessions when prices flattered back and forth between the plus side and the minus side under pressure from profit takers.

Apologetic Note From Car Thief

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — A car thief left an apologetic note when he abandoned an auto on a residential street here: "To whom it may concern: I would like to apologize for causing you so much trouble. The note also had some advice for the car's owner: "The tone of your radio isn't working very well."

Beggars Refuse Government Aid

HONG KONG (UPI) — Many beggars in Hong Kong are refusing government aid because they can get more from panhandling than from the social welfare department.

A department spokesman said a beggar gets $15 on the average a month. The welfare department gives slightly more than $5 a month to a beggar.

DISASTER CLAIM

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A Georgia official has asked the U. S. Department of Agriculture to declare the state a disaster area due to an epidemic of southern leaf blight which scientists say has destroyed nearly half the 1970 corn crop.

He was a member of Cornerstone Baptist Church and usher. He was an eighth grade student at E.B. Aycock Junior High School.

Fading Naval Power

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. navy will end this fiscal year next June 30 with 175 fewer active ships and 732 fewer aircraft than it had at the end of fiscal 1968, Jane's Fighting Ships reports in its 1970-71 edition.

By contrast, it says, the Soviet navy is undergoing "spectacular" growth.

Editor Raymond Blackman wrote in his foreword to the authoritative annual review that while the U.S. and British fleets are spread thin and growing obsolete, the Soviet fleet is growing so rapidly that "there are no hiding places from the hammer and sickle."

He said the Soviet merchant fleet rose from 1,000 ships in 1955 to 7,000 in 1970 and that the increase in the Russian's fighting fleet "has been no less spectacular, particularly in the late 1960s."

"The U.S.S.R. is no longer copying and emulating," Blackman wrote. "She is initiating and inventing."

Blackman said Britain is withdrawing into isolation and that the U.S. Navy faces "the encroaching obsolescence of much of the fleet. The replacement of these worn-out ships and aircraft is expensive under present market conditions, but cannot be further delayed if the navy is to have the combat capabilities which the United States can rely on in the future."

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — U.S. Atty. Warren Coolidge has described as a "cheap publicity stunt" by lawyers an incident that occurred after military policemen forced off a road a car carrying the defense party in a murder case.

The incident ended with one defense lawyer lying on the ground and the defendant, Capt. Jeffrey R. MacDonald, taken into "protective custody" by police so they could obtain his hair sample.

Coolidge gave his opinion in a report to Washington on the July 20 incident at Ft. Bragg. He sent the report to the criminal section of the U. S. Department of Justice.

It was based partly on an investigation by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Newsmen who witnessed the incident told the FBI a big Army CRIMINAL Investigation Division (CID) agent slammed one of the lawyers, Dennis Eisman of Philadelphia, Pa., to the ground as Eisman stepped out of a car.

Coolidge's report also was accompanied by reports on investigations by the CID itself and by members of Coolidge's staff. Coolidge declined to comment on the report other than to confirm it had been mailed. The contents of the report were learned from other sources.

The incident occurred after a military police captain, driving a civilian car, forced off a Ft.

Policeman Shot In Gun Mishap

A Greenville police lieutenant was hospitalized here last night for treatment of a bullet wound in his right foot suffered when a pistol being worn by a fellow officer accidentally discharged.

According to investigators the incident occurred about midnight in an office at police headquarters.

Lt. R. B. Elks, Chief T. E. Gladson said, was standing at a counter in the department's front office filling out a report. Another officer, Ptl. A. C. Fonseca was standing beside the lieutenant, the chief explained.

A third officer standing at the counter, Ptl. Jackie Moye, turned, brushed against Fonseca, and Fonseca's and Fonseca's weapon discharged. The projectile traveled through the foot, exited, then ricocheted before spinning to a stop on the opposite side of the room.

Bragg road a car carrying the defense party and a trailing car carrying newsmen. In the lead car were MacDonald, Eisman and his law partner, Bernard L. Segal.

"The Army authorities said they wanted to take the 27-year-old Green Beret physician into custody to obtain hair samples for use in investigation of murder charges against him.

MacDonald, of Paachogue, N. Y., is charged with three counts of premeditated murder in the Feb. 17 slayings of his wife and two children at their Ft. Bragg residence.

Newsman who observed the incident reported one of the military authorities threw Eisman to the ground.

The Army issued a statement later that day saying Eisman "stood as to block the military police from reaching MacDonald" and that before Eisman was touched, he "wrenched himself violently aside and either fell or threw himself to the ground."

The Army authorities took MacDonald from the scene and obtained the hair samples they sought.

MacDonald's attorneys had tried unsuccessfully earlier to get U. S. District Judge Algernon Butler of Clinton to issue an order preventing the Army from taking the samples. The attorneys contended it would violate MacDonald's constitutional rights by requiring him to provide evidence against himself.

The Army apparently wanted the hair samples to compare with strands found in the hand of MacDonald's slain wife, Colete, 26. The samples were sent to the Army Criminal Investigation Division laboratory at Ft. Gordon, Ga., but no word of the outcome of the tests has been made public.

A hearing into the charges against MacDonald, aimed at determining whether he should stand trial at a general court martial, is scheduled to resume at Ft. Bragg Sept. 8 after a three-week recess.

Argentina Eyes Added Research

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Research spending in Argentina averages six pesos (1.5 cents) a year for each of the nation's 24 million people. Alberto C. Taquini, secretary of the National Research and Technical Council, plans to raise research spending to 40 pesos (10 cents) per person a year over the next decade.

Legion Strife Feared

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Six thousand National Guardsmen were on alert today as Portland prepared for antiwar demonstrations during the American Legion national convention opening this weekend.

Other preparations include giving the Multnomah County sheriff emergency powers and setting up a special round-the-clock command post to coordinate activities of city, state and federal officers.

The antiwar protests are being organized by a group called the People's Army Jamboree, which urged demonstrations against the legion because of its call for military victory in Vietnam.

Late Thursday night, youths were continuing to drift in, congregating at three city parks that have been put aside for their overnight use and at two rock festivals sites 25 miles out of town.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, in an unprecedented television and radio address Tuesday, said Portland and the state were prepared to handle any violence.

So far, the nearest thing to a confrontation was the arrest for parole violation of one rock festival organizer. He was quickly released.

The turnout of youths at the festivals had fallen far short of promoters' expectations.

The Sky River Rock Festival and Lighter Than Air Fair, whose backers hope for 100,000 people, has only 3,500 so far. Vortex I, on the opposite side of town, has fewer than 4,000.

Pirates Don Heavy Gear

Coach Mike McGee got his first fall look at the East Carolina University football Pirates in heavy gear yesterday. The Bucs moved into their fourth day of practice, the first for pads allowed by the NCAA.

The three Pirate quarterbacks, vying for a starting berth, have been working on their timing, and setting up, along with the receivers and the other backs.

The three currently working are Jack Patterson, Pete Wooley and John Casazza. Casazza appears to be throwing well, while Patterson is improved from his passing in the spring. Les Strayhorn, running from the tailback position, appears to be holding down a starting berth, and is running well.

Currently running in the backfield are either Patterson or Casazza at quarterback, Strayhorn at tailback, Billy Wallace at fullback and Dick Corrada at flanker.

The receivers include split end Carl Gordon and tight ends Bob Ileman and Bill Croisetiere.

The Bucs will continue their three-a-day drills today, but will work only twice on Saturday. Sunday, they will participate in the first annual Picture Day at East Carolina's Ficklen Stadium. The affair, co-sponsored by the Daily Reflector, begins for the public at 2 p.m. and lasts until 5 p.m. Members of the team and coaches will be available for pictures and autographs during this period.

VMI Is Making Lot Of Changes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

When you've lost 12 straight football games and won just one of your last 20 in two seasons, you'll try most anything.

Virginia Military Institute's coach Vito Ragazzo is no exception. His innovations this year in a bid to escape the Southern Conference basement include new uniforms, new helmets and various other special effects.

Also involved is the switching around of players. Three have made changes in recent days, and the Keydet coaching staff says there may be more before the season opener with Furman.

The latest moves have sophomore Tommy Howell going from the defensive secondary to wingback on offense and quarterbacks Vern Beitzel and Randy Kinsey alternating in the defensive secondary.

Beitzel, a junior who also pitches for the baseball team, has been particularly impressive, says assistant defensive coach Dave Braine.

"I think Vern has shown us a great effort to master his alternate role on defense and has done a fine job in the past few days," says Braine. And Ragazzo says "every player on the team seems to be getting the hang of where he should be and what he should be doing."

Thursday's VMI practice session was called one of the best this fall.

Offensive guard Ben Maddox, offensive tackle Butch Kersey and running backs Jim Barnett and Pat Carroll were impressive in Furman contact work.

After a fourth day of rain at The Citadel, coach Red Parker took the Bulldogs inside for part of the day, which included the first contact work. Parker said he may have to call on the chaplain for a weather prayer.

ACC Teams Get Hard Workouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Atlantic Coast Conference football coaches got down to serious business Thursday as they set their teams through the heaviest workouts yet.

Most of the teams got in their first day of contact scrimmage in pads.

South Carolina Coach Paul Dietzel said he may start making depth chart revisions as his team gets into more and more hitting. He said he was generally satisfied with the Gamecock workout.

Hootie Ingram of Clemson said he thought defensive assignments in practice were poor. But he threw a few bouquets for those who blocked for left half Ray Yauger. Yauger did much of the carrying Thursday afternoon, including a 50-yard touchdown sprint.

Duke began twice-a-day workouts in full equipment. Junior Dennis Satyshur got praise both at quarterback and at wing end assignments. Coach Tom Harp also had some kind words for the performance of junior cornerback Ernie Jackson.

North Carolina cut its daily practice sessions from three to two. The season opener, with Kentucky, is just a couple of weeks away now — Sept. 12.

Coach Bill Dooley put the Tar Heels through individual contact drills. Sophomore guard Ron Ruskak and junior defensive end Judge Mattocks were the standouts, the coach said.

The Virginia Cavaliers were described by Coach George Blackburn as going through a day with "a lot of hit." A tussle between the first units was declared a standoff. A game condition scrimmage is scheduled for Saturday.

The Maryland Terrapins' junior quarterback Jeff Shugars and senior receiver Dennis O'Hara poured on the steam in their first day in pads.

Coach Roy Lester said he was disappointed with the morning workout, but "very pleased" with the afternoon practice. Three men missed the practice because of a cold virus. A full scrimmage is set for Saturday morning.

Clyde King Says He's Ready To Go To Work

By KEN ALYTA

Associated Press Writer

GOLDSBORO, N. C. (AP) — Clyde King, who took the summer off after being fired May 23 as manager of the San Francisco Giants, says, "I'm ready to go back to work now."

He doesn't know where, but he knows it'll be in baseball. King was fired with his second season as manager less than two months old.

As a result, he says, "For the first time in 27 years of playing or managing baseball I've had a summer off to spend with my family."

"We've really discovered North Carolina," the spectacled, 46-year-old King said Thursday before setting out to paint the trim on his house.

Briefs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Mataya of Lansing, Mich. beat Luther Lassiter, of Elizabeth City, N.C., the defending champion, 150-34 Thursday in the U.S. Open Billiards Tourney. It was Lassiter's first defeat in the double-elimination competition.

SANTOS, Brazil (AP) — The wife of Pele, Brazil's world famous soccer star, gave birth Thursday to a seven-pound, eight-ounce baby boy. The couple also have a three-year-old daughter.

"My wife and three daughters and I have been to the mountains and the coast and I've spoken at meetings of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Rome, Ga., and Ashland, Ore. I'd been asked many times before to attend those meetings, but never had the time."

"I've enjoyed this summer. I saw a few baseball games, watching the Giants at St. Louis and the Phillies at Atlanta. And, of course, I've seen many televised games and listened to many on radio."

"Back in May and June, shortly after I left the Giants, I had many phone calls with offers, both in and out of baseball. Some of those out of baseball were both attractive and flattering, but I told all callers I was going to take the summer off to be with my family. I don't regret it; we had a fine time."

"The Giants told me I could stay with the organization (in an undefined capacity) but I thought it would be best to be away from the Giants. Of course I'm still on their payroll for the season."

"I still feel baseball is my life and I want to manage in the big league again. However, other men have gone back to the minors to manage and then come back to the big leagues, and if the offer was attractive I wouldn't mind taking a step backward, so to speak, if it meant taking two steps forward later."

King noted that in managing in the high minors at Phoenix, Rochester, Columbus, Hollywood and Atlanta he never had finished out of the first division.

He led the Giants to second place in the National League West Division in his first season in 1969, finishing three games back of Atlanta. It was the fifth straight second-place finish for the team, and the other four coming before divisional play was established.

When King left the Giants last May they had a 19-23 record and were about a dozen games behind front-running Cincinnati. Under Charley Fox, who was called in from Phoenix to replace King, the Giants have gone 47-39 but have dropped 18 games behind the Reds.

King figures they still have a shot at overtaking the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, now that slugger Willie McCovey is sound again and pitcher Juan Marichal has regained his stride.

He noted Marichal pitched a five-hitter Sunday to beat the Chicago Cubs for his fifth straight victory, bringing his record to 8-9. A 21-game winner last year, Marichal managed only one victory in the 42 games the Giants played under King this year.

It Was A Bad Night For The Oakland A's

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

The Oakland A's have had their fireworks turned off but they'll have something new when they return home from a disastrous road trip—an exploding catcher.

As if things weren't bad enough for the A's, whose 6-4 loss to Baltimore Thursday night was their sixth straight since leaving home and dropped them 8½ games behind Minnesota in the American League West, the Oakland city fire marshal revoked the license of the company that handles the fireworks displays at the A's home contests.

The action was taken because of three grass fires during an Aug. 19 game caused by sparks from the fireworks, set off behind the center field fence.

The frustration of the winless road trip boiled over Thursday night when catcher Frank Fernandez fired his batting helmet onto the screen behind home plate and toward the press box to demonstrate his displeasure with a ruling by the official scorer.

Fernandez ripped a smash off third baseman Brooks Robinson's leg in the eighth inning but shortstop Mark Belanger recovered the ball and heaved it past first base. It was ruled a two-base error and Fernandez did his helmet-throwing act as he crossed the plate with the final run of the game.

He was thrown out of the game by umpire Larry Barnett, and, since the A's had used their other two catchers as pinch-hitters earlier, second baseman Dick Green had to finish up behind the plate.

In other American League action, Minnesota downed Boston 5-2 and Milwaukee blasted Cleveland 14-2.

In the National League, the New York Mets beat Atlanta 5-1, the Chicago Cubs defeated San Diego 5-1, Philadelphia turned back Cincinnati 6-3, St. Louis took San Francisco 4-1 and Houston edged Montreal 5-4.

Fights

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

COPENHAGEN, Denmark — Tom Bogs, 163, Copenhagen, outpointed Chris Finnegan, 161, Britain, 15. Bogs retained European middleweight title. Rene Roque, 138½, France, and Boerge Krogh, Denmark, 139, drew, 10.

LOS ANGELES — Jimmy Robertson, 136, Harbor City, Calif., outpointed Tetsuo Daigen, 135½, Tokyo, 10.

PORTLAND, Maine — Eddie Spence, 165, Pittsfield, Mass., outpointed Pete Riccitelli, 173, Portland, 10.

Fernandez' eruption somewhat overshadowed Mike Cuellar's 20th victory for the Orioles and Frank Robinson's emergence from a lengthy batting slump.

Cuellar, who shared the AL's Cy Young Award last season allowed 10 hits, including a homer by Koe Rudi.

Robinson, mired in a .243 slump with only two home runs and 12 runs batted in since suffering a shoulder injury July 9, belted two tremendous homers and drove in three runs. Terry Crowley also homered for the Birds.

The race in the National League East tightened a bit as the Mets and Cubs won and both gained one-half game apiece on idle Pittsburgh. The Mets trail the Pirates by 2½ games, the Cubs are four back.

Jim McAndrew halted New York's three-game skid by firing a five-hitter at Atlanta. Donn Clendenon gave McAndrew all the runs he needed with a two-run double in the first inning off loser Phil Niekro, 10-16.

Milt Pappas hurled a six-hitter as the Cubs whipped the Padres on the hitting of Glenn Beckert, who had a double and three singles, and Billy Williams, who stroked two doubles and a single and drove in two runs. Nate Colbert homered for the losers.

It was a day of contrasts for the pitching Perry brothers.

Buffalo Set To Test Redskins Inexperienced Defense Tonight

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Buffalo Bills unleash their thundering herd in the Washington Redskins' happy hunting ground and Pittsburgh steels itself for a visit from the New York giants in pro football tonight.

O. J. Simpson and Max Anderson, a pair of foot-loose running backs, will no doubt test Washington's young and inexperienced defense when Buffalo meets the Redskins in RFK Stadium.

The Steelers, playing in their new Three Rivers Stadium for the first time, take on the Fran Tarkenton-less Giants in the other National Football League exhibition game.

It'll be a full weekend of football, with six games Saturday night, two Sunday and one Monday night.

On Saturday night, it's Chicago at St. Louis, Kansas City at Atlanta, Los Angeles at San Diego, Dallas at Houston, New Orleans vs Boston at Jackson Miss., and San Francisco vs Denver at Eugene, Ore.

Green Bay plays at Oakland

Sunday afternoon and the New York Jets are at Minnesota in a unique Sunday night game. Philadelphia plays at Detroit Monday night.

Washington Coach Bill Austin, hoping to strengthen the up-front defense, said he would start a blend of rookies and young veterans.

"This line is young and has tremendous potential," Austin said. "The big thing is to instill confidence. For years the Washington defensive line has been downgraded so that they've almost begun to believe it."

In three exhibition games, two won by Washington, the Redskins' defense has gotten to the quarterback only three times, and has given up 345 yards.

Simpson is expected to start despite an ankle sprain suffered last week against Philadelphia. He's scored three touchdowns and rushed for 141 yards in Buffalo's three games, two of which the Bills have lost.

Anderson rushed for 66 yards and caught four passes for 84 more in last week's 35-20 victory over the Eagles.

Dick Shiner will probably start at quarterback for the Giants in place of Fran Tarkenton, who has been sidelined by injury.

The Giants have a 1-1 record and the Steelers are 1-1 in exhibition play.

Pittsburgh bounced back from a 16-10 opening loss to Miami with a 20-13 victory over Minnesota. Terry Bradshaw, Pittsburgh's No. 1 draft-pick, went all the way in the Viking game and will start at quarterback tonight.

In off-field activity Wednesday, Green Bay released kicking specialist Mike Mercer, a nine-year veteran and Washington claimed Steve Wright, an offensive tackle waived by the Giants.

The Kansas City Chiefs put eight players on waivers.

Leader Had Good Teacher

By DAVE GOLDBERG
Associated Press Sports Writer
CLIFTON N. J. (AP) — Mike Reasor once caddied for Arnold Palmer and has learned a lot about golf from Billy Casper. But he's beginning his quest for the sport's richest prize by giving both of them a lesson.

Reasor, a 28-year-old former high school teacher in his second year on the PGA tour, fired a six-under-par 66 Thursday to take a one-stroke first round lead in the $300,000 Dow Jones Classic.

That was seven strokes better than Palmer for whom he caddied during the 1966 U.S. Open in San Francisco, and four better than Casper, this year's leading money winner and the sport's third million-dollar player.

"He's been a great help to me," Reasor said of Casper, with whom he played 36 practice holes Tuesday.

One stroke behind Reasor were the veteran Paul Harey, a part-time tour player, and Terry Wilcox who shot a 67 over the 7,085-yard Upper Montclair Country Club course. Bobby Nichols, Bruce Crampton, Bob Lunn and George Archer were grouped at 68 with Jim Jamieson and Jim Ferriell, and ten more players had 69's, including PGA champ Dave Stockton.

Most of the pre-tournament favorites were well off the pace. Casper was at 70 with Bob Murphy, who won the last tour tournament here two years ago; U.S. Open champion Tony Jacklin was at 71; Lee Trevino at 72; Palmer and Jack Nicklaus at 73; Dave Hill at 75, and Gary Player and Sam Snead at 76.

Reasor, who comes from Seattle but plays out of the PGA player's school at Palm Beach Gardens, Fla., has been on the tour for 15 months. But he won less than $3,000 last year and has only $6,400 this season.

His only victory came in the Manitoba Open on the Canadian tour, which earned him $1,200. He can win that much by finishing fifteenth in the Dow Jones, which has a first prize of $60,000.

Reasor played an errorless round in carding his 66. He had six birdies and was without a bogey as he consistently hit the greens close to the pine.

His introduction to big-time golf came in 1966 in San Francisco, when he caddied for Palmer in the open in which Arnie lost a seven-stroke lead to Casper and the playoff the next day.

Reasor got to know Casper better the following year while he was a student, a golfer and an aspiring basketball player at Brigham Young.

Their formal introduction came when Casper came to the campus to address the student body. Since then, they've been close friends and Reasor is following Casper's path by preparing to become a Mormon.

Reasor's basketball career ended at about the same time.

"The coach came up to me, put his arm around me and said I'd better stick to golf," he recalled.

After his graduation from Brigham Young, Reasor took a job teaching disadvantaged and retarded high school students in Seattle. But the golf course beckoned and he earned his tournament player's card last year.

Penn State Has Challenger In Strong West Virginia Team

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — There's something old and something new in Eastern college football circles this season. Penn State, trying for an unprecedented fourth consecutive Lambert Trophy, has a surprise challenger in powerful West Virginia, one of three newcomers to the Eastern College Athletic Conference, Division I.

Penn State has had things pretty much its own way for three years in rolling up 22 straight victories and a 30-game unbeaten string, both longest in the nation at present. In addition, the Nittany Lions can post the longest unbeaten streak in the school's history by beating Navy in the Sept. 19 opener.

Ironically, Navy ended Penn State's other 30-game unbeaten string in 1922.

But now come the Mountaineers of West Virginia to try to throw a monkey wrench in the path of the Penn State express. They're fresh off a 10-1 season, climaxed by a Peach Bowl triumph over South Carolina.

West Virginia quit the Southern Conference a few seasons back and was just admitted to membership in the ECAC, along with William & Mary, Temple, formerly in Division II, has moved up a notch and is the other Division I newcomer, bringing the number of entries in the Lambert chase to 26 schools.

The battle royal could come on Oct. 31 when none other than West Virginia invades the Nittany Mountains to have it out with the Lions. Syracuse, Pitt, Army and Boston College, however, would like to think that their games with Penn State will decide the Lambert winner.

"We have much to accomplish," says Penn State Coach Joe Paterno, who lost 11 starters from the squad that demolished

10 regular season foes in 1969 and then downed Missouri in the Orange Bowl. It was the same story in 1968, except that the Orange Bowl victim was Kansas.

Seven of the departed starters were from the defensive unit that Paterno calls "perhaps the best in the history of college football."

The four returnees are good ones, though, and linebacker Jack Ham and back George Landis are solid all-star candidates.

"The pressure is going to be on the offense and the offense should be more wide-open this year. We have some people who can throw, catch and run," says Paterno.

Especially run. Fullback Lydell Mitchell and fullback Franco Harris, both juniors, are as fine a one-two ground punch as a coach could want.

"We have four fine wide receivers (Gary Hayman, Gary Juel, Greg Edmonds and John Skarzynski) and our backs all catch the ball well and know what to do with it after they have it," adds Paterno.

The quarterback battle is among holdover reserves Mike Cooper and Bob Parsons and sophomore John Hufnagel. The offensive line should be sound with Warren Koegel at center, Bob Holuba at guard and Vic Surma at tackle, although All-East guard Charlie Zapiec is now a linebacker.

West Virginia has a new coach, Bobby Bowden, and Bowden has a new goal—a perfect season.

West Virginia's only 1969 defeat, by the way, came at the hands of Penn State, 20-0.

Twelve starters return, led by what the Mountaineers call their own version of the Four Horsemen—the star-studded backfield of quarterback Mike Sherwood, halfbacks Bob Gresham and Eddie Williams and fullback Jim Braxton. The defensive leader is massive linebacker Dale Farley.

Besides Syracuse, Pitt, Army and Boston College, none of the other Eastern independents—Boston University, Buffalo, Colgate, Holy Cross, Navy, Rutgers, Temple, Villanova, W&M—seems capable of joining the chase. Nor do the eight Ivy leaguers or Connecticut, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, the three Yankee Conference Division I representatives.

But that doesn't mean the East is devoid of other strong teams. Syracuse, beset by a racial dispute between seven black players and Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, has its usual stubborn defense, spearheaded by 243-pound tackle Joe Ehrmann. For a change, Schwartzwalder also should have a potent offense, too.

The Pitt Panthers started to awake last season. After three 1-9 campaigns (they improved to 4-6) and could be the sleeper in the East this fall. Linebacker Ralph Cindrich and tackle Lloyd Weston are fierce defenders and Tony Esposito (accent the second syllable, please) and Dennis Ferris are strong runners.

Army will be stronger than a year ago, with some sturdy newcomers making up for the loss of star runner Lynn Moore.

Boston College has a great passer in Frank Harris, a top-notch runner in Fred Willis and an outstanding blocker in Gary Guenther to protect one and clear the way for the other.

Dartmouth, Yale and Princeton, who wound up in a triple tie for Ivy honors in 1969, are tabbed to battle it out once more. Dartmouth has quarterback Jim Chasey and halfback John Short on offense and a magnificent defensive backfield.

Yale returns its entire offensive backfield and a solid defensive line, featuring tackles Tom Neville and Rich Lolotai and end Jim Gallagher.

Opening lead: Ace of ♣
South, the declarer at six spades, focused his attentions on the wrong hand and thereby paved the way for his own downfall.
South opened the bidding with one spade and when his partner was able to respond at the two level, he had visions of big things. Observe that South's hand is worth 21 points and North has promised a minimum of 10.
South revealed his strength by making a jump shift to three diamonds. When North confirmed the fit by returning to three spades, South checked for controls by using Blackwood. Learning that the partnership had three aces, he proceeded to six spades.

West opened the ace of hearts and continued the suit, declarer ruffing East's queen away with the five of spades. The ace of spades revealed the bad news in trumps when West discarded a heart.

South decided to establish the diamond suit. He led over to the king and back to the ace. A third diamond was played and when West followed with the jack, declarer ruffed with North's eight of spades. East overruffed with the jack to score the setting trick.

Declarer could have made his contract by establishing the dummy. All that is required for success is for East to have two clubs. After South plays the ace of spades and West shows out, the king and queen of clubs are cashed. With this hurdle surmounted, declarer crosses over to the king of diamonds and leads high clubs from dummy. If East ruffs, South overruffs, with the ten, draws trumps with the king and queen, cashes the ace of diamonds and enters dummy by ruffing a diamond with the nine of spades. The North hand is high with good clubs.
If East refuses to ruff the clubs, South discards his losing diamonds and then picks up trumps by finessing against the jack of spades. In either case, the defense is restricted to the one trick in hearts.

Speaks Here On Sunday

William M. Zachman, native of Chicago, Ill., and residing in Greenville since 1965, will be the guest speaker at the Holy Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday, at the 11:00 worship hour.

The services will be held at the Aycock Junior High School, located on Red Banks Road. He will be speaking on the subject, "The Unsearchable Riches of Christ." The public is invited to attend.

Zachman has been active for sometime in the field of Christian lay work, both as a Sunday School teacher and certified lay speaker. He is a member of the Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church. He is past president of the Greenville Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International.

Zachman is a certified public accountant connected with Worsley Farley and Prescott of Greenville. He is currently with the Raynor and Forbes Tobacco Warehouse. He is married to the former Katherine Raynor of Greenville and they have a son and a daughter. They reside at 1107 W. Wright Rd.

Abraham Lincoln was the first President born outside the boundaries of the 13 original states.

The Worry Clinic Obsessed By Hospitalitis

Dr. Zee was flattered by the invitation to use the city hospital operating rooms. But that's a trap all dental surgeons must escape! For they already have their own "private hospital" in the form of their modern dental chair, X-ray and talented assistant. And they PAY taxes thereon, whereas city hospitals SOAK US via taxes! So get hep!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.
CASE O-517: Dr. Zee is a young dental surgeon.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "some of the physicians in my city want me to go on the staff of our local hospital."

"But they also have invited me to do my dental surgery in the hospital, too."

"Yet at our state convention, I heard you veto this sort of thing. So would you please brief me again on your arguments?"

Dental surgeons should have been on hospital staffs 50 years ago, so I approve of that suggestion. But don't operate there!

For dental surgeons must beware of the trap into which modern physicians have fallen, namely, hospitalitis.

Due to the dramatic TV shows about Dr. Kildare and Dr. Casey, the American public has now been brainwashed into thinking good medical attention must involve hospitals and operating rooms!

So they are driving physicians into sending patients to expensive hospitals for diagnosis, minor surgery and medication that should be handled in the doctor's private office.

Dr. Zee, for example, has 3 operating chairs and an M.D. anesthetist to help him.

So his own suite of offices is actually a "private hospital." And it is not supported by the coerced taxes of you laymen, as is true of county or government hospitals.

In fact, it not only doesn't require taxes from you folks, but it actually PAYS TAXES to help you other taxpayers!

At Indianapolis, a dental friend of mine has 5 operative chairs and thus can efficiently step from one room to another to perform his surgery.

But a young dentist called him recently about a boy who had a baby tooth that hadn't come out. Its long root had not dissolved as is usually true of deciduous teeth when they grow loose.

My friend agreed to remove the tooth.

"Well, Doctor," the young dentist replied over the phone, "we'll meet you at the Methodist Hospital tomorrow morning at 9:30, for I'll set up the operation at that time."

"Wait a minute," rejoined the older dental surgeon, "why should I waste an hour of my time driving out to the hospital and back when I have 5 operatories right here in my suite downtown?"

"Besides, I'd have to treble my charge for that extra hour of my time!"

"Here I can remove the tooth in 3 minutes!"

But the young dentist was affronted and irate because the older dental surgeon didn't want to disrupt his smooth functioning suite of operating rooms in the downtown office building where he was located.

Readers, this hospitalitis craze has now even obsessed many young doctors, as well as the general public!

But it is costing you more for personal care and also zooming your tax rates for the support of those expensive hospitals.

Hospitals are superb and vital for maybe the 15 percent of medical cases that will not cure themselves.

But your fees will be less if you patronize dental surgeons and medics who work out of their own offices!

For they PAY taxes thereon, whereas county and church hospitals PAY NO TAXES! Get hep!

You've got a lot to live

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
