$5 Million Jetliner Is Axed By Dog Lover For Death Of A Wolfhound

MIAMI (AP) — A dog lover blaming the death of his traveling Irish wolfhound on an airline took a $6.60 axe and hacked 18 slashes in a $5 million jetliner to get "what they owe me."

Thomas William Brown, 38, a lanky carpenter who said he blamed Eastern Airlines for the death of his 2-year-old champion dog, Lost River, threw black paint on a Boeing 727 cockpit Monday and slashed its underbelly before a crewman stopped him, the FBI said.

The airline estimated the damage at $100,000.

The dog died May 22 of what a veterinarian called a heat stroke shortly after returning to Miami from Dallas in the cargo hold of an Eastern jet. The dog had been sent to Dallas to be bred.

Brown claimed in a lawsuit against Eastern the shipping hold didn't have enough oxygen for the dog and no temperature control.

Eastern said it was not negligent, claiming in court papers the dog was highly nervous and "this nervousness and excitement was probably the cause of the ... eventual state of prostration to which the dog succumbed." The airline asked Monday for dismissal of the lawsuit in Dade County Circuit Court.

Authorities said Brown, father of four daughters, then bought an axe and walked up to the jet as it unloaded passengers at Miami International Airport after a flight from New York. He hacked through the metal skin, cables and hydraulic lines before Second Officer Jim Broadman asked him what he was doing.

Broadman said Brown replied, "None of your business ... Well, I guess I've done $5,000 damage to that airplane, and that's what they owe me."

"He worked that right hand side over pretty good," an Eastern spokesman said. "He used a full axe, single bladed. The thing was brand new, it still had the $6.60 price tag on it."

A U.S. marshal at the airport on antihijack duty held Brown until he was charged by the FBI with destruction of an aircraft and jailed under $100,000 bond. "Dogs represented his whole life, and he couldn't get anything but indifference from officialdom when he tried to get satisfaction for his dog's death," Brown's attorney, Laurence Feingold, said Monday night after visiting his client in the Dade County jail.

"He is just a simple man who dreamed of breeding puppies from the dog he bought for $800 and raised to be worth what he considered $20,000. When the dog died, and nobody seemed to care, he just blew his top," Feingold said.

Additions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has decided to add an emergency power supply and some 20 pounds of drinking water to the Apollo 14 command-and-service module for its moon flight this winter.

The two changes were announced Monday as preparations continued for a launching now tentatively scheduled for Jan. 31.

An oxygen-tank rupture and explosion on the way to the moon last April forced the Apollo 13 crew to abandon plans for a lunar landing. Failure of the fuel cells left the main part of the spacecraft without electric power and a continuing source of water.

Lightning Cut Off Electric Power In Parts Of Greenville

A severe thunderstorm late yesterday afternoon dropped .6 of an inch of rainfall over the Greenville area and caused some power outages.

Charles Horne, director of the Greenville Utilities Commission, said lightning hit the main station and damaged the circuits that control the main tie breakers.

Horne said the utilities workers had to cut the wires at the north VEPCO station so the tie breakers could be reset manually.

"Following this," Horne explained, "several power outages were reported all over town."

Utilities workers had everything on about seven o'clock last night. The majority of power was restored within 30 minutes after the storm occurred. Other problems took 45 minutes or longer to repair.

Horne reported very few outages in the county. The trouble was concentrated within the city, he said.

The high temperature for the 24-hour period ending this morning at 8 a.m. was reported at 96 degrees, while the low was 67 degrees. The temperature this morning at 8 a.m. was set at 70 degrees.

The Tar River level was reported as one foot and at a standstill.

Nixon Policy Upheld 55-39 Senate Votes Against Deadline On Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, in a vote that upheld President Nixon's Vietnam policies, refused today to set deadlines for withdrawal of all American troops. It turned down a proposal that the troops be pulled out by the end of 1971.

The defeat of the "Amendment to End the War," came as a triumph for the Nixon administration, after months of controversy in which critics denounced the measure as a blueprint for the first defeat in American history.

But Sens. George McGovern, D-S.D., and Mark O. Hatfield, R-Ore., the principal sponsors of the amendment, said the vote succeeded in demonstrating the depth of national discontent over America's long and bloody struggle in Southeast Asia.

"This amendment gave a rallying point to millions of anguished citizens across this war-weary land," McGovern told the Senate.

Branding the war the cruellest, the most barbaric and the most stupid conflict in American history, McGovern said:

"Every senator in this chamber is partly responsible for sending 50,000 young Americans to an early grave."

The defeat of the amendment was all but sealed less than an hour before the vote when Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., considered a key figure by the Hatfield-McGovern forces, announced he would not support it.

Cooper said the Congress must place its faith in the President.

Voting against the Hatfield-McGovern amendment were 34 Republicans and 21 Democrats. The supporting vote was made up of 32 Democrats and 7 Republicans.

taken by the McGovern-Hatfield forces.

The galleries were only partly filled during the 15-minute count down.

Spectators made no sound as the vote was announced. Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania told the Senate in closing debate that the amendment was mischievous and could do harm and no good, although he said it might be advantageous to senators "who can manage to get full-page publicity" from it.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said in closing debate that rejection of Hatfield-McGovern would amount to praise for a "military withdrawal that has yet to take place."

Israel Said Prepared To Wreck Talks

JERUSALEM (AP) — The Israeli Cabinet met again today amid reports that it was threatening to torpedo the Middle East peace talks at the United Nations unless the United States makes Egypt stop its alleged missile buildup along the Suez Canal.

Meanwhile, Israeli troops raided a Lebanese frontier village during the night, and the Israeli air force attacked Arab guerrilla positions farther to the east in Lebanon, the Israeli military command announced. It said one Israeli soldier was killed and two slightly wounded in the ground attack.

The Cabinet was continuing its debate on what instructions to give Ambassador Yosef Tekoah, Israel's representative in the indirect peace talks with Egypt and Jordan at U.N. headquarters in New York.

The newspapers Maariv and Yediot Aharonot reported from Washington that Israeli Ambassador Yitzhak Rabin had warned Joseph Sisco, the assistant secretary of state for Middle East affairs, that the United States faces the prospect of a collapse in the peace talks unless it gets Egypt to stop the alleged transfer of anti-aircraft missiles closer to the canal.

Although the United States has been trying to play down the Israeli charges in an effort to improve the climate for the peace talks, high Israeli sources said Monday Washington has indicated in diplomatic contracts it recognizes the Egyptian violations. But it still has not agreed to make this public as Israel wants, the sources said.

Deactivating

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. 199th Light Infantry Brigade and the 3rd Brigade of the 9th Infantry Division are being deactivated within the next six weeks as part of the American troop cutback in South Vietnam, informed sources disclosed tonight.

The disbanding of the two units, which helped defend Saigon during the Communists' 1968 Tet offensive, will reduce American strength by about 10,000 men.

The brigades are the first major combat units being pulled out in the fourth phase of President Nixon's withdrawal program. That phase will reduce authorized American troop strength in Vietnam to 384,000 by Oct. 15.

Lightning Set 80 More Fires

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP) — Cracking dry lightning has touched off at least 80 new eastern Washington forest fires but spokesmen for the Wenatchee and Okanogan national forests said quick shuffling of men and equipment prevented a potential disaster.

The new blazes brought the region's forest fire count to about 400, with over 102,000 acres already blackened.

About 8,500 men from national forests all over the country are thinly spread against the flames.

Tobacco Prices Are Stronger

Eastern North Carolina flue-cured tobacco prices improved Monday, reports the Federal-State Market News Service.

Over one-half the grade averages gained $1 to $3 per hundred pounds when compared with levels of the previous sale, with most others unchanged. Top price paid by companies was reported as $94 per hundred pounds for some good leaf offerings.

Quality of marketings was up considerably. The percentage of good and fair tobacco increased while the proportion of low, poor and nondescript grades dropped accordingly.

Better grades of leaf marketed yesterday accounted for the highest average of the season on the Farmville Tobacco Market.

"The volume of primings and leaf grades showed a remarkable increase over last Thursday," reported Louis Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville market. "The quality of all grades increased compared with Thursday's sale."

The volume of nondescript grades on the Farmville market were the lowest of the season Monday.

Stabilization received 6.67 percent of gross sales on the Farmville market Monday.

A total of 631,104 pounds of tobacco was sold on the Farmville market yesterday for $483,104, yielding an average of $76.19 per hundred pounds.

The Greenville tobacco market yesterday averaged $75.64 per hundred pounds when 1,551,440 pounds of leaf went for $1,173,441.

Purchase Of 25 Acres Of Land For Recreation Use Is Completed Today

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Action begun 18 months ago to purchase 25 acres of land on Hooker Road for an all-purpose recreational park for Greenville was completed today.

At 10:30 this morning, City Manager Harry Hagerty, City Attorney David Reid, Recreation Director Boyd Lee, and Recreation Commission Chairman Mrs. Clay Burnette met with Mr. and Mrs. Amos Evans and attorney W. I. Wooten to complete transaction of the sale of 25 acres of land to Greenville.

On the completion of signing of deeds, Hagerty presented a check to Evans for $64,000. This represents the full purchase price of the property. The federal government will reimburse the city for its 50 percent share. "We expect to have a check for $32,000 from the government within a matter of a very few weeks," Hagerty noted.

The government will also undertake a portion of the development cost of the park. Director Lee commented that work to open the area and to begin putting the project into place would begin immediately with cutting an access road. "This is the greatest thing to take place in Greenville in a long time," Lee commented. "We are all excited about plans for the multi-program recreation facility which will be at this park."

Mrs. Burnette said "I've walked over this area several times during the negotiation stages, and I'm certainly going to be out there this afternoon to walk over it again." She added she is "truly delighted this project has materialized."

Negotiations for acquiring this land began 18 months ago and today's deed signing has resulted in the city's having a land area for recreation as large, if not slightly larger, than Green Springs Park. Hagerty mentioned that the city is grateful "for the generous donation of land made by Mr. and Mrs. Evans." Part of the 25 acres constitute land purchased by the city, and part of the area is a gift to the city from the Evans family.

Hagerty said that "a proposal is being made to name the park the Amos Evans Park, not for the present Amos Evans, but for his grandfather."

Mrs. Evans commented that "five generations of the Evans family has lived on this land, so we'll be happy to have the Evans name remembered in connection with the park."

Time is a vital factor in developing the area. Lee explained that to qualify for the federal portion of development assistance, work must be completed within the next year. With this in mind, he indicated steps to implement development would be taken without delay.

The idea of this park was originally conceived in 1962, when a recreation planner from Atlanta Dr. Charles Graves, recommended that a site of at least 15 acres be acquired by the city for creating a family type, multi-purpose park.

Spy Satellite To Watch Asia

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The hurry up launching of a secret spy satellite has underscored America's need to fill an intelligence gap on Red China's missile progress.

The new satellite, sent aloft Monday night, was headed today toward a stationary orbit some 20,000 miles above Southeast Asia, where it would be in position to monitor test launchings by both Red China and the Soviet Union.

The Air Force, which launched the spy craft, hopes it will do better than a similar satellite sent up last June.

That payload achieved a preliminary orbit of 112 to 20,736 miles above the earth. But two days later, the second stage of the Atlas-Agena rocket failed to restart and the satellite did not reach the desired orbit over Southeast Asia.

Sources said the Atlas-Agena rocket fired Monday night was rushed to the launch pad ahead of schedule because of the June failure. They said the move was necessary because the Defense Department wanted to monitor a reported upcoming series of Red Chinese missile firings.

The Air Force clamped a secrecy lid on the launch and did not announce it in advance. Five minutes after liftoff, a brief statement said only that an Atlas-Agena had been launched with an experimental payload.

The sources said the United States increased its surveillance of Red China missile activity significantly after the Chinese launched their first earth satellite last April 24. Observers said this demonstrated the capability of launching an intercontinental range missile with a nuclear warhead.

In a stationary orbit 19,000 to 24,000 miles high, the new satellite would provide 24-hour-a-day reconnaissance. The sources said the satellite also carried a television camera and sensors to spot missile bases, air fields, troop movements and other military installations in the Soviet Union, Red China and North Vietnam.

The Air Force launches most of its military satellites from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., into north-south polar orbits. But to achieve a stationary orbit, spacecraft must be launched from Cape Kennedy.

Major Oceanic Fish Kill

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — A major oceanic fish kill for which specialists could immediately assign no cause struck the inshore Atlantic Monday along a stretch of beach next to Back Bay National Wildlife Refuge at Sandbridge in Virginia Beach.

Although there was no way to estimate the severity of the mysterious kill that claimed surf clams and blue crabs as well as countless game and food fish, it reached drastic proportions along the four miles of refuge beach.

"I don't know how many fish were killed," said commercial fisherman Marshall Belangia, who discovered the disaster late Monday morning, "but it will go into the thousands of dollars."

A team of biologists was dispatched from the office of the State Water Control Board in Richmond and arrived at Sandbridge late in the afternoon to sample the ocean water.

"It may be a week or 10 days before we find the cause," said biologist Brian Harrison. "Or, we may never know. There's a lot of water out there and the cause could be miles away by now."

Belangia said when he and his crew arrived on the beach to set their nets just before low tide Monday morning they spotted vast schools of spot, bluefish and other game and food fish "acting real funny, like they were sick."

He said there were only a few dead fish around then, but by noon there were thousands, lifeless and being tossed about in the clear, gently rolling wash.

"I've been fishing on this beach for more than 15 years," he said, "and this is the first time I've ever seen anything like this. It was terrible."

Labor Czar Refuses Support Women's Liberation

WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany says the politically powerful labor federation opposes the women's liberation movement for absolute equality because millions of women union members don't want to give up the job protections they have won in federal and state laws.

"There are laws in some states that women cannot work in coal mines," Meany said, adding that most women don't want to win the dubious right to mine coal or other heavy, dangerous work.

He said the AFL-CIO, one of the strongest lobbying blocs in Congress, won't help enact the amendment to give women absolute equality which was passed by the House and is pending in the Senate.

Meany, in a pre-Labor Day interview, also said Negroes are making progress in getting better-paid union jobs "but the process is very, very slow."

And the 76-year-old labor chief, father of three grown daughters, gave short shrift to today's generation of rebellious youth.

"If the younger generation are the hundred thousand kids that lay around a field in Woodstock, N.Y., I am not going to trust the destiny of the country to that group," Meany said.

"By what stretch of the imagination can you say that a 20-year-old kid knows what is wrong with the world and what should be done about it to a greater extent than a person who has had years of experience?" he asked.

Meany said there is a limited role for youth in the nation's labor movement, but suggested they must win their spurs through experience before exercising any major influence on union members.

Here are questions and answers from the interview:

Q: Are you going to help the ladies get their equal rights amendment across?

Meany: No.

Q: Why?

Meany: Well, there are certain protections in the law for women that we have been fighting to put into the law for many, many years. I passed a number of them 30-odd years ago in the New York State legislature. And all of this legislation was prepared by the ladies.

Now, of course, we get these militant feminists and they don't want any protection. They are equal and so on and so forth.

We represent millions of women who are in our unions and if they were willing to lose these protections, it would be all right with the AFL-CIO.

But we are going to take our policy from the women who are represented in our unions and they are opposed to this so-called equal rights amendment, unless there would be some safeguard in there to preserve this protective legislation.

Q: What about the situation in the labor movement with black workers, with Negroes and other minorities, are they getting more jobs, are they finding it easier to get into unions?

Meany: They're getting more jobs, but the process is very, very slow and we have tried to speed it up. We've tried to get more blacks in.

Take the construction industry. Now what do we want?

What should the blacks want?

Well, I would say that they would want black young people in these industries who acquire the skills and who become part of the work force of these industries. In other words, qualified and skilled and able to command whatever wages are paid these people. Now, this, this should be their aim.

And the only way that I know to do this, is through training with the young people, apprenticeship training.

And a lot of people have theories. They say well you have so many members, you have so few blacks. Ipso facto, you are discriminating.

Well, if that is true and we say alright, we're discriminating, or were discriminating, now we don't want to discriminate anymore, well what do we do from there?

We've had a tremendous change in the position of the trade unions, not only are our unions saying in effect—and these are the skilled unions—not only are we saying we will take in blacks, we are saying also that we will try to help recruit them.

And the recruitment is the problem.

I was reading the story just this morning, where the representative of the union with the cooperation of the black civil rights organization, they succeeded in two predominantly black high schools, they succeeded, I think, out of an enrollment of 4,000 youngsters, in getting five to agree to take up the apprenticeship trade.

Now, why they're not more successful, I'm not quite sure. Because there is no question that the wages and the possibility of making a living, the wages are good....

The fellow who works year round, he is well above $10,000 a year. And even the laborers are way up there. So I don't see why we are not able to attract more of these young Negro boys.

Q: Could you comment on a philosophical question regarding youth protests today; I am not thinking about the extremist type or the destructive type, but a lot of kids seem to think that the system doesn't seem to work well, it doesn't respond so well any more. The labor movement is sort of the original rebels in this country. Does the labor movement have anything to say to today's kids in general?

Meany: Well, we don't have much contact with them. I don't hold with the idea that this generation of kids is exceptional except in the sense that they have had greater educational opportunities.

And the mere fact that they have had greater educational opportunities doesn't indicate to me that they have got the answers that the older generation hasn't got. I can't see that at all.

To these people who constantly say you have got to listen to these young people, they have got something to say, I just don't buy that at all. They smoke more pot than we do and if the younger generation are the hundred thousand kids that lay around a field up in Woodstock, New York, I am not going to trust the destiny of the country to that group.

Q: Do you think there is any way the labor movement could, perhaps, rope some of these kids into a constructive program—organizing farm workers or whatever? Has that been tried?

Meany: No, it hasn't been tried. I don't know what justification there would be for trying it, really. The education of the kids is supposed to be the job of the schools and we have promoted the schools ever since the labor movement started in this country. I don't think it is our job to educate them. I think it is the school's job to educate them.

Q: Is there greater polarization between, say, labor union people and the youth intellectuals?

Meany: I don't see any polarization at all. I think there is a certain amount of emphasis. I think kids are more talkative in the sense they will talk up to their parents than they were when I was a kid and I think this comes from the fact that kids have a wider knowledge of what is going on. But I don't think that this means the kids have any better judgment.

Marine Corps Disputes Story Told By Returnee

NEW YORK (AP) — John M. Sweeney, 21, a Marine who said he defected to the Viet Cong after his company commander shot at him and left him for dead in the jungle, has returned to the United States at his parents' request and is undergoing military debriefing.

Sweeney, listed as a "returned prisoner of war," arrived Monday from Stockholm where he "requested assistance in voluntarily returning to military control," the Pentagon said.

Newsmen were denied access to Sweeney pending completion of the debriefing and examination at St. Albans Naval Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sweeney of West Babylon, N.Y., the youth's parents, travelled to Sweden after the Marine held a news conference last week claiming he had defected. The couple was reported Monday to be occupying a hospital room adjacent to their son's.

A Marine Corps spokesman said no charges have been filed against the youth and none would be until "we have an extensive debriefing."

No Trouble As Legion Parades

By ELIAS CASTILLO Associated Press Writer PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The national American Legion convention gets down to official business today after a gala four-hour opening parade mildly heckled by antiwar demonstrators.

On the agenda were brief addresses by Oregon Gov. Tom McCall, Portland Mayor Terry Schrunk and other officials and dignitaries.

The convention's 14,000 delegates then begin consideration of more than 500 resolutions, expected to emphasize strong support for U.S. participation in the war in Southeast Asia, curbing campus violence, and maintaining national security.

Some 10,000 persons marched or rode in Monday's parade while National Guard troops stood by, but out of sight, ready for trouble that never materialized.

About 1,300 members of the People's Army Jamboree, a group opposing U.S. policy in Southeast Asia, had marched on Sunday in a "Victory for the Vietnamese People" parade, and it was expected they would try to confront the legionnaires.

At one point in Monday's march a handful of youths chanted antiwar slogans, and displayed a Viet Cong flag. A scuffle broke out.

A squad of city police with face masks and riot sticks moved in.

But a tiny white-haired woman, who said she was a grandmother, interceded.

She stepped up to the police captain at the head of the squad, told him his men would do more harm than good, and demanded he take them away.

"Your men are causing fear," she said. "Get back. I can calm them."

The captain's face grew red. He stammered. The crowd began to snicker.

With a disgusted shrug, the captain ordered his men back and the woman, who declined to give her name, restored order.

At another point, a group of long-haired youths stepped into the parade behind a California band.

They laughed, raised fists and displayed Viet Cong and Canadian flags as they passed the reviewing stand.

They received little attention. Otherwise, the parade went without incident.

Miss Susan Tucker Weds On Saturday Afternoon

Miss Lula Susan Tucker became the bride of Tony Preston Moore in a double ring ceremony Saturday at 3:00 p.m. in the Reedy Branch Free Will Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Burney Leland Tucker Sr. of Winterville and Mr. C.B. Moore of Greenville and Mrs. Rachel Meeks Moore of Fountain.

The Rev. Willis Wilson officiated at the ceremony. A program of wedding music was presented by Tommy Manning, organist, and James Ray Stocks, who sang "Whiter Thou Gost" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The chancel of the church was centered with a fifteen branch candelabra. On each side a basket of white gladioli and emerald with a fifteen branch spiral candelabra was used. The couple knelt for their vows on a white prie-dieu.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white silk organza over peau de soie featuring a rounded neckline, bishop sleeves and a detachable train. The bottom of the gown was highlighted with peau d'ange lace, beaded with pearls.

Her elbow length bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece of silk organza roses. She carried a Juliet bridal bouquet of white roses, miniature carnations and ivy centered with a white cattleya orchid.

Mrs. William Wayne Wyatt of Snow Hill, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Trillis Pollard of Winterville, Mrs. Leland Tucker of Ayden, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Virginia Thompson and Miss Yvonne Weathington, both of Winterville.

They wore formal gowns of green brocade featuring empire waists and butterfly sleeves. Their headpieces were a rose of silk organza and illusion and they carried crescents of asters and camellia leaves.

C.B. Moore, father of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Michael Hazelton of Winterville, Brinkley Moore of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, Leland Tucker of Adak, Alaska, brother of the bride, and Jeffery Tucker of Winterville, brother of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a sheath dress of green silk shantung with a lace panel and matching accessories. She wore a white Georgia orchid.

Mrs. Rudy Robinson directed the wedding.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a beige coatdress with matching accessories and wore the orchid lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Winterville High School and is a rising sophomore at East Carolina University.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Winterville High School and attended Lenoir Community College. He plans to enter East Carolina University in the fall.

After the wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Greenville.

Following the rehearsal Friday night, the couple was honored at an after-rehearsal party given by Mrs. Helen Sermons, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Whitley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Beppard and Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Tucker in the fellowship hall of the church.

He's Living It Up At His Own Expense

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 BY CHICAGO TRIBUNE-N.Y. NEWS SYND. INC.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 55, and thank God he's in pretty good health, but every time he hears that someone he knows under 75 dropped dead, he announces that he is going to "start living." Abby, Harry has been "living" all his life, and if he has ever missed anything, I don't know what it could be.

Well, Harry started "living" again last week after he buried a 57-year-old friend. He is eating all the things he shouldn't [he is supposed to watch his diet because he's inclined to be heavy] and he also drinks more than what is good for him. He quit smoking a year ago, but now he's started again, saying he is not going to deny himself anything, because who knows, tomorrow his number may come up.

So what is a wife supposed to do with a husband like that? I love him. HARRY'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Hit him over the head with his life insurance policy. If he doesn't get the message, nag him.

DEAR ABBY: Your support on behalf of that long-haired son who is unable to find a job because of his hair, and wants to bring his bride home for mom and dad to support, makes me cringe.

It is this kind of stupid thinking that makes parents support kids on college campuses who spend the academic year causing trouble instead of attending classes.

I say the boy is entitled to wear his hair to his knees if he so wishes, but if he's old enough to make this decision, and old enough to take a wife, he must suffer the consequences. Mom and dad should tell him to support his own wife and establish his own home.

What is a married man doing at home living off his daddy, anyway? Even the mother bird shoves her babies out of the nest to try their wings. She knows the only way to strengthen these wings is to use them. We are raising a generation of weak, crybabies, thanks to people like you. Abby, you blew it again, and I will be most surprised if you print this. DISGUSTED IN WISCONSIN

DEAR DISGUSTED: The parents of "Long Hair" asked me if they should let their college son [newly married and jobless] come home with his bride to hunt a job—on the condition that he cut his hair. I said, "If you let him come home, don't offer him bread with a hook in it." And, that's what I meant.

DEAR ABBY: There are 10 of us girls who recently formed a club. We call ourselves "The Triple T's" for "Ten Terrific Teens." We have a question to ask you.

How can a girl keep a boy interested in her without letting him get out of hand—if you know what I mean?

Linda says a girl simply has to let a boy advance a little by little in order to keep him coming back for more, but if he really gets out of line, she should slug him.

Barbs says a girl should advertise the fact that she is pure, and intends to stay that way. Well, that sounds groovy, but Barbs stays home nearly every weekend. What is your advice? "THE TRIPLE T'S"

DEAR TRIPLE: It's up to the girl to set the limits and make it crystal clear what those limits are. If she lets a boy "advance" little by little in order to keep him coming back for more, she'll soon have nothing left for him to come back for. Also, I don't recommend leading a fellow on, and then "slugging" him.

I think Barbs has the right idea if she doesn't overdo the goody-goody bit. And staying home weekends beats hand-to-hand combat with an octopus.

Reducing Presence In Vietnam

Regardless of what happens to the so-called "Amendment To End the War" in Congress it is a certainty that United States presence in Vietnam is going to be drastically reduced.

This movement started when former President Johnson ended the bombing of North Vietnam and it has continued as a commitment of the Nixon administration, despite the excursion into Cambodia.

President Nixon reiterated this as recently as Monday when he said on the CBS Morning News that "so far as the United States involvement is concerned in Vietnam, peace is certain."

Less Smoke In Burning Curbs

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Everett Knight believes it's not wishful thinking that the air seemed clearer on recent trips from one end to the other of North Carolina.

"My observation was that there is less smoke," he said. "It comes about because a lot of open burning we had before is no longer being done."

It made him feel good. The air quality division of the state Water and Air Resources Department which he heads as director has prime responsibility for air pollution abatement regulations which became effective July 1.

An eyeball judgment of improvement within 60 days may leave room for question, but Knight is certain about the response of industries, municipalities and institutions to the new air quality standards and regulations. Of some 4,000 notices mailed so far, he estimated replies from 1,600. "We've been deluged," he said. The majority not only acknowledged receipt of the regulations and intent to comply voluntarily, as they were supposed to do within 30 days, but also submitted their time schedules for compliance action which was not due for 120 days.

That gave Knight mixed emotions. He was pleased at the prompt and favorable response, but he had misgivings about the burden of work dumped on his office.

Enforcement Phase Next

It means that division must push ahead to complete phase one—the notification of those responsible for air pollution—and tackle phase two—inspection and enforcement. District offices, each with a staff of six, will be opened this fall at Greenville and Asheville. The Greenville office will cover the East; the central area will be handled out of the state office in Raleigh; and Asheville will be responsible for the western region.

While things have gone well in the two months since the first air quality standards and regulations became effective, problems have not been absent.

Some confusion arose over the role of municipalities in regard to the prohibition of open burning without a permit from the air quality division. Conferences with the North Carolina League of Municipalities, and a memo to city and town officials, helped clarify the matter.

Cities which have ordinances regulating of prohibiting open burning except by permit will continue to enforce them as long as there is no conflict with the state regulations. In all cases, close coordination and cooperation between the state and local agencies will be the objective in order to effectively enforce the regulations.

Local Agencies Alarmed
Local air pollution control agencies which have programs in force in 14 counties became alarmed when the State Board of Water and Air Resources early in August voted to retain state jurisdiction over four classes of air contaminants. The local agencies feared the action would weaken their own programs. Knight said the purpose was to assure uniform, statewide standards in the affected instances—public utility power plants, emissions from automobiles, pulp and paper plants, and chemical manufacturing industries. A consideration was the fact that in the event it becomes necessary to bring a court action in the future to enforce compliance it could more effectively be done in the name of the state rather than a local agency.

Counties covered by local air pollution programs are: Haywood—Buncombe, Cleveland, Gaston, Mecklenburg, Catawba—Lincoln, Rowan, Forsyth—Davie—Surry, Guilford, Durham and Cumberland.

The regulations which went into effect last July 1 apply to open burning and emissions of dark smoke, sulfur oxides, and particulate matter. Standards and regulations covering a number of other air contaminants will be adopted and put into force over the next year, after criteria documents issued by the federal government are studied.

New Auto Inspection Due
Congress has specifically reserved to the federal government the setting of standards for emissions from motor vehicles—a major source of air pollution. The states will establish inspection programs to assure the control devices on motor vehicles are properly installed and functioning.

Such an inspection program for North Carolina will be drafted and submitted to the 1971 General Assembly, Knight said. Whether it will be designed as an addition to the existing vehicle safety inspection program, or a separate program, has not been determined. In any event, he added, it must be an inspection which can be carried out with minimum inconvenience to the public.

He noted on the news show that U.S. troops are being withdrawn and they are being replaced with South Vietnamese troops.

The administration has said more than once that the decision to pull American troops out of South Vietnam on a planned basis is irrevocable.

Yet, in the face of all this the End the War Amendment has been debated in Congress. It will come to a Senate vote, perhaps today, and it is almost certain to be defeated, as it should be.

The amendment called for reducing U.S. troop strength to 280,000 by the end of next April. After that funds would be authorized only for withdrawal all U.S. military forces by the end of the year.

Since the enemy follows what Congress does, this could make things extremely difficult for U.S. troops still left in South Vietnam, as it would for our allies there.

There can be no doubt that U.S. troops are coming out of Vietnam. Our disengagement from Vietnam should be done in a way which gives the South Vietnamese the best opportunity to take over their from defense.

Additional Weeks To Handle Court Cases

There can be little doubt that the two additional weeks of Superior Court scheduled for this fall are badly needed to handle a backlog of pending cases.

District Solicitor Luther Hamilton, Jr., Resident Judge Robert D. Rouse Jr. and Judge Joshua S. James made tentative plans for the extra sessions following a conference last week.

The decision followed a time consuming capital case trial. There are also six other capital cases awaiting trial.

It was a wise decision and one which will perhaps keep the Superior Court docket from hopeless piling up.

Israeli Smell U.S. Disaster

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
JERUSALEM — The Israeli government is now engaged in a violent intellectual and political battle with the United States to prove that the American peace plan designed to end 22 years of war in the Middle East is playing smack into the hands of the Arabs and the Soviet Union, probably ending in humiliation for Washington.

How much of this apocalyptic line is based on inner Israeli conviction and how much to strengthen the Israeli bargaining position as the talks get underway is a matter of debate.

Obviously, the political and military leadership here—the most resourceful in the world today—does not altogether agree on what lies ahead. There are some in the foreign office and among Prime Minister Golda Meir's top political advisers who say privately that the U.S. peace plan, given good faith on both sides, could put at least a semi-permanent end to the bloody cycle of war. With the Israeli defense budget now nudging 30 percent of the gross national product, and with an alarming manpower shortage, they are eager to test the diplomatic waters ahead, no matter how rough.

But the dominant view, expressed with far greater conviction privately than publicly, sees disaster on the horizon, and the officials who hold it are unable to understand why the Nixon administration does not also smell disaster. There is, in short, an unwillingness here to accept an obvious truth—that the Nixon administration and Israel have different and in some cases conflicting goals in the Middle East.

These politicians assert that a real settlement is out of the question because it would open the way to peaceful competition throughout the Middle East between the Russians and the Americans.

The Russians are well aware, according to this widely-held view, that in any such competition Egypt would turn away from Moscow and toward Washington, thus costing the Soviets their preeminent position in the Arab world. Accordingly, Soviet agreement to the cease-fire was simply to give Egypt breathing space for an arms buildup and a new war.

The other side of that coin—that continuation of the pre-peace-fire situation assured increasing Soviet penetration of the Middle East and further deterioration of the U.S. position—is either ignored or ridiculed, because it conflicts with Israel's basic goal of a joint U.S.-Israel policy "laid down in Jerusalem, and financed in Washington," as one U.S. diplomat put it.

Likewise, much is privately made here of a supposed split between the State Department and the White House on Soviet intentions. It is said at high levels that President Nixon backed the peace effort with foreknowledge of failure, on the theory that a major effort had to be made before the U.S. military tap is opened wide for Israel. The State Department, on the other hand, wears blinders, as one Israeli official told us: "Rogers (Secretary of State William P. Rogers) swoons every time Anatoly Dobrynin smiles."

But in fact the U.S. peace plan is backed with astonishing unanimity at both the White House and State Department. Not even the Egyptian violations of the stand still along the Suez Canal ruptured that common front.

In short, the U.S. peace

CLOUDY DAYS
Strange as it may seem, we can see further on a cloudy day than we can when the landscape is brilliant with sunshine. People who live sixty miles from the seashore in one of our eastern states tell with amazement that if they go up into certain high places they can see vessels going back and forth.

This is not only a physical phenomenon: that astounds one no end the first time he encounters it, but it also has moral and spiritual connotations. On the whole we see further into the issues of life on a cloudy day than on a fair and sunny day. Frequently it requires a setback of considerable severity to make some people realize the significance of life. We weep at the passing of loved ones, yet this very circumstance has often led people to understand themselves better and furthermore to understand what life is about anyway. We want the circumstances of life to be passed in the sunshine of happiness, beauty and achievement. We don't like it when clouds gather above our heads, when the daily circumstances of life begin to be hard, when friends and relatives disappoint us, when the plans we cherished turn sour and we find ourselves in shadow instead of sunshine.

Every normal person would choose sunshine and happiness over circumstances that challenge and hurt, decisions that turn out unfortunately. The cloudy day has its place in life—and in the natural world. Continual sunshine makes deserts. Life that never knows a cloudy day or a reverse is seldom a happy and achieving life.

A Different President

Hundreds of committee reports, complete with majority and minority views, roll from government presses every year. Most of them are as flat as yesterday's beer. A truly brilliant exception is the minority report recently submitted by six senators opposed to the direct election of Presidents. They have come up with a superlative piece of work.

Their target is the pending constitutional amendment, already approved in the House, by which our existing electoral procedures would be abolished. Instead of voting within our States for presidential electors, we would vote directly, under this amendment, on a national basis, for the presidential ticket of our choice.

On the surface, at least, the proposal has great appeal. It bears the endorsement of such diverse groups as the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and the AFL-CIO. The House voted 339-70 for the proposition. Public opinion polls indicate that 80 percent of the people like the idea. It rings all the congenial bells—democracy, equality, one man, one vote.

Yet in the view of the six senators—Eastland, McClellan, Ervin, Hruska, Fong and Thurmond—the concept is fundamentally wrong. In their report—it is No. 91-1123, available through the Senate Judiciary Committee—they make an overwhelming case.

The dissenters are at their best in arguing that the machinery for electing a President cannot be viewed simply as an isolated piece of machinery. The proposition at hand is far more complex than the mere replacement of an old wood stove with a shiny new range. It is as if the proprietors of a bakery, impatient with a homely doughnut machine, installed a stainless steel beauty in its place. They press the button, and presto! french fried potatoes emerge.

That is what is involved in this amendment. A President elected by a direct vote of the people would be a very different President from the Presidents we have known since our union of States began. His constituency would be different; his political obligations would be different; his relations with the Congress would be different.

Nothing in politics would stay the same. What we think of today as "national parties" are in fact coalitions of state parties. The state parties organize the quadrennial national conventions; in the off years, they elect members (Continued on page 5)

Other Editors Say Secret Weapon

(The Wilson Times)
You recall Khrushchev said Russia would conquer America by telephone, or something to that effect. Well he did not know there was a secret weapon rising on the horizon, by the name of pollution.

And another angle is that the one product no one is going to do without, the automobile, is a contributor to pollution. So Russia's present ambition is to equal the automobile production of this nation.

Russia has few automobiles as compared to this country. But Russia hopes to catch up. Moscow, a city of nearly seven million people has only about 375,000 motor vehicles and it is almost free of pollution. The air is said to be fresher and more natural than in any other city anywhere.

This will not be the situation long, for "Moscow is rushing belatedly but determinedly into its own era of traffic congestion, exhaust fume pollution, collision fatalities and frayed nerves," the New York Times News Service reports.

So it will not be long before the cool or cold clean air of Moscow will be a memory. Russian passenger car production this year will total 348,000. Government plans call for increasing that figure to one million within two or three years.

Russia will have problems other than pollution, for there are few roads or traffic systems to handle an auto population explosion.

So Russia is working to get into the same condition all other countries find themselves where the automobile is considered a necessity and also for pleasure. In this country there are several automobiles to a family. The family thinks it could not get along, in this day and age, with only one automobile.

We remember when a family that owned an automobile was an affluent household. Today there are usually two to a household and possibly more. The cars are in the back yard and the boat stays in the garage.

Yes, the automobile may be the creator of problems, but it is a necessity in the world in which we live. So there isn't anything to do but to wish Russia well in its efforts to reach American production, pollution and all.

Death Penalty Status

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—With the lives of 500 condemned men and women at stake, the Supreme Court will hear two death penalty challenges in its new term, probably the week of Oct. 19.

The capital punishment issue thus will be given the same early consideration the court is giving school desegregation and the 18-year-old vote.

The result could be a final decision on the constitutionality of capital punishment by mid-term instead of toward the end of the term in June.

The two cases, from California and Ohio, raise the same constitutional points the court confronted in the past two terms and was unable to resolve in an appeal by William L. Maxwell, a Hot Springs, Ark., Negro sentenced to death in a rape.

These are: (1) Whether it is a violation of due process of law for juries to be given free discretion to decide which convicted defendants in capital cases should be sentenced to death and which to lesser penalties; and (2) Whether it is unconstitutional for a jury to decide guilt or innocence and the penalty at the same sitting.

The cases concern James Crampton, a Toledo man under death sentence in the slaying of his wife, and Dennis C. McGautha, a Louisiana man condemned to death in California in the slaying of a Los Angeles storekeeper.

The court never has said publicly why it could not answer these questions in the framework of the Maxwell case. Evidently closely divided, the justices dropped the case last June and took of two fresh ones probably because Justice Harry A. Blackmun, having participated in a Maxwell ruling while an appeals court judge, would not have been able to vote.

The last execution in the United States was in June 1967 when Luis Jorge Monge died in Colorado's gas chamber for the murders of his wife and two children.

There has been a judicial freeze on executions in the United States since the Maxwell case reached the high court. A ruling against Crampton and McGautha could revive use of the death penalty in the nation.

The court begins the new term Oct. 5 with a ceremonial and perfunctory public session. The first real public work day is Oct. 12 when the justices will hear school desegregation cases from Charlotte-Mecklenburg, North Carolina; Mobile county, Alabama; and Clarke county, Georgia.

On Oct. 19 the court is scheduled to hear argument on the 1970 federal law that granted the vote to 18-year-olds.

Inflation Spurs Boom Feeling

By ELMER ROESSNER
Business will appear to be improving in September and October. The war on inflation has been called off on account of wet grounds or, more precisely, because of the elections in November.

In fact, there will be quite a bit of inflation. The Federal Reserve Board, which had taken a position that the increase in the money supply should not be more than 4 per cent a year, increased it at a rate of 11 per cent in July. In August the Federal Reserve lowered the reserve requirements for banks from 6 to 5 per cent on time deposits in excess of $5 million. That, too, increased the money supply.

On top of that, the Treasury reported that the nation faces a budget deficit of more than $14 billion in the current fiscal year, which is purely inflationary.

Price Inflation Continues
The cost of living is still going up. While the cost of food seasonally drops in September as harvests come in and farm prices dropped in August, higher costs of labor are pushing other prices up.

The Department of Labor reported that the consumer price index rose 0.4 per cent in July, the same rate as it did in June, but the department said that after seasonal adjustments the increase was only 0.3 per cent. That's still at an annual rate of 3.6 per cent, which is inflationary. The impact of the auto industry on the economy in September is still uncertain. A strike could increase unemployment and send almost all businesses into a nose-dive. However, there seems less likelihood of a strike now than there was a month ago. The manufacturers, with new models coming out, and the United Auto Workers, with a rise in unemployment nationally, seem more willing to compromise.

In past auto strikes, many strikers found other work, but there is not much available today.

The Early-Bird Rush
If there is no strike, the rush of people to be first with the new models will give all business a lift. The new small cars have stirred great interest. They may not only enlarge the second-car market but regain for the United States some of the million foreign-car sales a year.

Another impact may be an increase in government contracts. With elections coming, the heads of federal departments and agencies need no memo from the White House to increase spending within available appropriations now.

However, the increase in inflation, as always, will be a tax on those with fixed incomes, those who have savings and life insurance, and on our children and grandchildren.

Thousand Trained Santas Offered Department Stores
Up to 1,000 trained Santa Clauses, as temporary employees, will be offered stores this year by the Western Girl Tempo agency. They will be costumed, made up by experts, their boots blackened, and bonded at $100,000 a man.

The tempo Santa Clauses were tried out in 15 cities last year and the agency says the pilot run was successful. While the Santas are being offered to stores, there may be a few available for private parties.

ABM Scores 'Hit' On Target Missile

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Development of the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile (ABM) system has reached a significant milestone with its first interception of a missile in outer space, but the ultimate test remains five years away.

A Spartan missile fired Friday from a mid-Pacific test site on Kwajalein Atoll intercepted a Minuteman I ballistic missile nose cone high over the Pacific and above the earth's atmosphere.

It was the first time the Spartan was fired at an actual target and guided by its new and complex missile site radar (MSR), the Defense Department said Monday in a brief announcement of the test. In previous tests, Spartans were fired only at points in the sky.

"This was the first test to see if the system works," a Pentagon spokesman explained. "It wasn't the ultimate test, but it was a milestone."

The ultimate test of the disputed multi-billion-dollar ABM system will come in 1975 when the first Safeguard site is scheduled to become operational with all its component parts, including the important but still not completed perimeter acquisition radar (PAR), at Grand Forks, N.D.

Safeguard is designed to protect America's offensive Minuteman missile force by knocking out incoming enemy missiles with its long-range, nuclear-tipped Spartan and short-range Sprint missiles.

Safeguard critics, both in Congress and the scientific community, question whether the ABM's guiding radars are sophisticated enough to distinguish the incoming nuclear warheads from decoys and other electronic devices designed to fool or jam the system.

Friday's mid-Pacific test demonstrated the missile site radar's ability to track an incoming missile and guide Spartan to its target. In this case, it was a single nose cone and not a multiple warhead such as would be expected in an actual attack.

The Safeguard system also will be aided by its perimeter acquisition radar, which is being designed to pick up enemy missiles when they first appear over the horizon minutes after launch. However, because of its size and complexity, it will be impossible to fully test the PAR and the completed Safeguard system until the first site is installed at Grand Forks.

In describing Friday's test, Pentagon officials said the Spartan intercepted a Minuteman nose cone launched 4,200 miles away from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.

Ground tracking instruments indicated that the Spartan's final stage, which in an operational situation would carry a nuclear warhead, flew close enough to the target nose cone to have caused its destruction," officials said.

Neither the Spartan nor the target nose cone carried explosive warheads.

Wreck Injured Three Persons

Three persons were injured and four vehicles damaged in a collision about 8:40 a.m. yesterday seven miles east of Greenville on U.S. 264.

Highway Patrolman H. R. Winslow reported Mrs. Patsy Lee Mills, 19, of Route 3, Greenville, was admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital in serious condition following the mishap.

Mrs. Leona Kite Mills of Route 3, Greenville and the younger Mrs. Mills' son, two-year-old Stacy Wayne Mills were both treated for injuries and released.

According to the trooper, a truck driven by David James Smith, 26, of Route 1, Burgaw struck the rear of a car driven by Mrs. Leona Mills, causing an estimated $500 damage to the truck and demolishing the Mills car, a 1962 model.

Debris from that crash damaged the windshield of an oncoming truck driven by Harley Edward Baynor, 39, of Route 1, Pinetown. The force of the impact forced the Mills car across the center line and into the side of a car driven by April Todd Marshall, 18, of Route 1, Englehardt traveling behind the Baynor truck. Damage to the Marshall car was set at $400 while damage to the Baynor vehicle was placed at $150.

Smith was charged with careless and reckless driving.

of the Congress and perform other political functions.

By contrast, under a system of direct national elections, state parties become almost irrelevant to the presidency. Presidential candidates no longer would think in terms of carrying States. Their quite different purpose would be to win at least 40 percent of the nation. A victorious President could ride into the White House on the crest of a narrow but passionate wave.

Could such a President, so elected, govern the nation? That is the grave question raised by the minority report. Without the compromises of the present system, without a broad geographical appeal, without a close working relationship with state parties, what becomes of a President who is an all-out liberal, or an all-out conservative, a militant hawk, or a conciliable dove?

The report filed by the six senators is largely the work of Mike Uhlman, in Hruska's office; Peter Stockett, of the Senate Judiciary staff, and Robert B. Smith, in Ervin's office. Dorothy Parker, an aide to Senator Fong; Malcolm Hawk, of Hruska's staff, and Mike Pulliam, in Thurmond's office, contributed also.

Together, they have compiled a superb statement of political philosophy and practical politics that merits the study of thoughtful Americans everywhere. If enough senators will read the report before the amendment is debated, this dangerous and drastic scheme will die on the floor.

plan is still not fully accepted for what it really is, and that explains Israel's extraordinary diplomatic efforts to turn the Nixon administration away from its objectives. Thus in prospect from the Israeli side is a long series of delaying tactics at the New York talks, with 12 to 18 months of negotiating seen here as the minimum. During that long span, the Israelis suspect that something will rupture the case-fire and that behind that "something" will be the Soviet Union.

Ayden's Tornadoes, With Depth And Experience, Roaring Again

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

The word is out around Ayden: Tornado warnings have been hoisted again.

And if the Tornadoes of Ayden High School strike as they have in the past, the other members of the East Tidewater Conference had better be on the lookout.

Ayden and the other members of the conference open play this Friday night. The Tornadoes play host to Greene Central in a non-conference game, and it will be a vital indicator as to how the Tornadoes will do this year.

Coach Nelson Gravatt in his second year at the Tornado helm has a wealth of talent back for this final year at Ayden. (The school is scheduled to consolidate with South Ayden and Grifton by next fall. Athletes from South Ayden are already participating in the Ayden program.)

There are 18 lettermen back, including eight players who were starters on both the offensive and defensive unit. Some of these will be returning to their old spots, but a few will take on new positions.

"We have a good nucleus back on our offensive unit," Gravatt said. "We started seven sophomores and one freshman last year, so we have good experience. We'll also be able to do some platooning this year. There will be a few players who'll still go both ways, but not as many as last year." Gravatt has a pool of almost twice as many players to draw from this year.

One of the bright spots in the backfield will be Willie Stewart, a sophomore, who will be one of the running backs. "He's our best looking back," the coach said. "He has only average speed, but he has real good agility, better than average quickness and has good moves." He and veteran Debro Blount will handle the ball carrying duties most of the time. Blount was a halfback last year, and moves to fullback this season. Joining them in the backfield will be slotback Mike Griffin, another veteran, and Ken Cleaton at quarterback. Cleaton played end all but one game last year, when he filled in at quarterback. "He throws the short pass well, and he's smart and a good leader."

Griffin will be mainly a receiver and blocker from his position. The weak link on offense is at end, where there is no experience. Ivory Phillips, who lettered at South Ayden, moves into the tight end slot, while Jackie Eason has been moved from halfback to split end. "Phillips is a big, strong player," Gravatt said of the 6-2 190-pounder. "He blocks well and is a better receiver than anyone we had last year. Eason is also a good receiver."

The interior line has plenty of experience. Back are veterans Mike Tripp and Kent Loftin at tackle, backed up by Ricky Adams and Deranders Holton. Returning at guard is Jimmy Robinson and Wayne Byrd. Byrd will go to the defensive unit, however, and Adams is expected to be here when not at tackle. Johnny Hoover is also back, returning to the center spot. "The line is our strong point," Gravatt said. "We have a lot of good players here, and there is good size for a 1-A school. We have eight players who weigh 200 or more. We'll rely on power rather than quickness."

The defense is still somewhat of a question mark. At the ends will be newcomers Leroy Sumpton and Demitrius Edwards. "Both are big and strong," the coach said.

Tripp and Loftin will handle the tackle slots with Eddie Hooker, a 210-pounder in reserve. The guards will be Ricky Allen and either Byrd, Hoover or Holton.

Back at linebacker is Blount, was the Daily Reflector Lineman of the Year two seasons ago. He'll be joined by Ronnie Eason, who Gravatt rates as the best football player on the team, pound for pound. "He's only 135, but he's mean as can be out there."

The real question mark in the defense is in the secondary. "Cleaton will probably be at safety with Willie Stewart and Phillips at the halfbacks."

"We have a lot of experience in the defensive line, and we're big and strong. Our problem will be speed and in containing the offense between our ends."

Last year, Ayden suffered a 5-5 season, unusual for the rarely beaten Tornadoes of recent years. "We lost four of those by a total of nine points," Gravatt said.

"We didn't have a good kicking game last year, and so far this year, we still haven't one. It could be a real problem for us unless we do a lot of scoring."

Another big asset, Gravatt said, has been the addition to the staff of former ECU-star Neil Hughes. "He's helped us out in morale and in football knowledge. Johnny Davis has also joined us from South Ayden, and he's been a real asset."

Gravatt rates Manteo, the defending champion as the team to beat in the conference. "They beat us by two points last year, and we want to win if badly this year."

The first test is a non-conference one, this Friday. The Tornadoes will have an idea of their strength then.

In other Tidewater games this weekend, Columbia is at Manteo for a non-conference meeting, Belhaven visits Camden and Knapp travels to Perquimans.

Detroit Smothers Philadelphia, 31-7, As Fights Interrupt Game

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP).— Philadelphia is the City of Brotherly Love, but when the Philadelphia Eagles leave home they must leave their love behind.

They left it behind Monday night, but they sure weren't angry enough to handle the growling Detroit Lions.

The Lions came out fighting first and shook hands later as they crushed the Eagles 31-7 in their National Football League exhibition game before a record preseason crowd of 56,032.

Although there were several fights during the game the biggest fight seems to be the one developing over who'll be Detroit's No. 1 quarterback. Greg Landry won his bout against the Eagles, firing a pair of touchdown passes and running 33 yards for another score to draw the praise of coach Joe Schmidt.

Bill Munson had started Detroit's first three games, although Landry has played considerably. Munson didn't play at all against the Eagles, who have lost their three exhibitions. Third-stringer Greg Barton played the fourth quarter for the Lions who have won three straight in a 3-1 record.

It is generally conceded Detroit has a fine defense. The Eagles only score came on a one-yard plunge by rookie Lee

Landry put the Lions ahead 7-0 at the five-minute mark of the first quarter with a 29-yard touchdown pass to tight end Charlie Sanders. The sensational Sanders, recently returned from the Army, made fine catches on two other apparent TD tosses from Landry only to have them nullified by penalties. One was a 46-yarder in the second quarter and the other for 42 yards in the third.

Sanders didn't only shine as a receiver. Landry, who likes to run, found his receivers covered and so sprinted the 33 yards for his TD in the third period. Former Michigan State quarterback Jimmy Raye, an Eagles defensive back, had a clear shot at Landry on the five but Sanders upended him with a jarring block.

The 6-foot-4, 235-pounder was involved in a little of every thing. In the third period he and Eagles defensive tackle Gary Pettigrew scuffled briefly.

"Landry was rolling out and the only person between him and me was Pettigrew," Sanders explained. "So I blocked him in the legs and he started kicking me. But we shook hands afterward."

However, the big fight came early in the fourth quarter moments after Lem Barney intercepted a Norm Sheard pass and returned it 16 yards to the Philadelphia 24.

Lions defensive back Bobby

Williams threw a punch at Eagles defensive tackle Ernie Calloway after both benches cleared to the Eagles end zone where some pushing was going on.

Strangely only Philly's Ronnie Bye was ejected. Philadelphia managed just 172 yards total offense to 405 for the Lions, who out rushed the Eagles 219 yards to 67.

George Mira went most of the way at quarterback for the losers and had passes intercepted by Barney and Tom Vaughn. The same two Lions snared two of Snead's tosses.

A wave of cuts highlighted Monday's off-field activities. Two of those released were Billy Cannon, by Oakland, and Jimmy Hines, by Miami. Cannon won the Heisman Trophy as a running back for Louisiana State and then played running back and tight end for Houston and Oakland over a period of nine years.

Hines, an Olympic sprint champion, spent two frustrating seasons as a wide receiver for the Dolphins.

In trades, Pittsburgh sent center Bob DeMarco to Miami for a 1971 draft choice, the Oakland Raiders dealt Ike Lassiter, a former all-American Football League defensive end, to the Boston Patriots, also for a future draft pick and the Denver Broncos acquired veteran cornerback Booker Edgerson from the Buffalo Bills for a future draft selection.

Mets End Loss String, 11-5

By HERSCHEL NISSESON
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you thought you saw everything last year when the New York Mets cakewalked to the world championship with a great young pitching staff ... well, you haven't seen everything. This time the Mets may do it with their bats.

They snapped a three-game losing streak Monday night by trouncing the St. Louis Cardinals 11-5 with the help of two-run singles by Donn Clendonon, Art Shamsky and Cleon Jones and Tommie Agee's 22nd home run.

That was the only game in the tangled National League East and the standings now show Pittsburgh on top by one game over the Cubs and 1½ over the Mets.

In a sparse American League schedule, Baltimore crushed the New York Yankees 10-2, Boston topped Detroit 4-2 and Washington held off Cleveland 5-4.

While the talented young Met pitching arms continued to serve up hits of all kinds to the opposition, the once puncheon Met bats are taking up some of the slack. "It's encouraging that we're getting the hitting," said manager Gil Hodges, "because we're not pitching well... It's good to get back on the winning track. Holy cow, it's been a long dry spell."

The dry spell covered six losses in seven games, and even though the Mets dropped from second place to third they gained ground on the Pirates, who lost six in a row. That's how confusing the race is.

Even in winning, the Mets had a scare. Starter Jerry Kosman, sailing along for five innings, yielded a three-run homer to Joe Torre in the sixth, followed by Jose Cardenal's single and another home run by Ted Simmons, and the lead was a shaky 6-5. But the Mets wrapped it up with five runs over the final three frames.

Vic Davalillo of the Cards drilled a pinch single in the ninth and set an NL record of 23 pinch hits in a season, one short of the major league mark.

Both the Mets and Pirates made moves Monday to bolster their pitching staffs.

ABA's Bucs Are Off To Memphis

By RANDOLPH SCHMID
MEMPHIS, Tenn. AP — The New Orleans Bucs, faced with slumping crowds and loss of revenue at home, have been sold and will be moved to Memphis this season.

The move, announced at news conferences Monday in both cities, remains contingent upon approval of the league expected today.

P.L. Blake of Greenwood, Miss., negotiated purchase of the team from Maurice Stern of New Orleans.

Neither side would disclose the purchase price, but Stern admitted that the club owners did not get their investment back. "We took a loss," he said. Stern said he had initially been approached by Blake about 10 days ago, and the formal agreement was reached Saturday.

Coach J. H. "Babe" McCarthy, who will remain with the squad, said pre-season practice will begin Sept. 14.

Club spokesmen said that at least temporarily the team will be renamed the Memphis Pros. Eventually, they said, the citizens of Memphis will have an opportunity to choose a new name for the squad.

McCarthy said that a six-game exhibition schedule has been planned, to precede an 84 game regular season schedule. The pros will open their season Oct. 22 at the Mid-South Coliseum in Memphis against the Kentucky Colonels.

Last year McCarthy piloted the Bucs to a .500 record, but still finished last in the ABA's Western Division.

Bucs Working On Kicking Game

East Carolina University's football team went through a complex day yesterday working on nearly every phase of the game.

One bright spot was the return of injured Dwight Flanagan who worked out for the first time yesterday. Bad news came however, with work that Rich Bradley, who had been running at first string middle guard, would not return.

Coach Mike McGee said that Tony Maglione and Ralph Betesh are currently battling for the position and are looking good. He rates them about even at this point.

The Bucs also put some emphasis on their kicking game yesterday, especially giving protection to the place kicking. Handling the kicking duties at this time are a number of players.

Earl Clary and Tony Guzzo are kicking placements for short distance, while Carl Gordon and Steve Davis handling the long kicks. Davis and Gordon are handling the kickoffs with Maglione and Clary doing the punting.

"We didn't work on our kicking game much during the spring," McGee said, "but it's beginning to come around now. Maglione was our best punter during the spring, but he hasn't loosened up yet this fall."

Maglione and Clary both kicked three times during the spring game. Maglione kicked for 118 yards, and a 39.3 average, while Clary added one more yard to his total for 119 yards, 39.7 per kick.

The Pirates, still on their three-day drill sessions, will continue the pace today.

Bowling

The Wednesday Morning Coffee League will get underway Wednesday at Hillcrest Lanes. All ladies wishing to participate are invited to attend the opening session. Free babysitting will be provided.

The City Association will hold its annual meeting at the lanes on Thursday at 8:30 p.m.

The Worry Clinic Elder Drivers Often Safer

Wives, be sure you heed Charles Guthrie's shrewd advice! For it will keep you younger in your social outlook, especially after you pass the age of 45. And you can be a big help to your husbands, too, when you act as their chauffeur. Mrs. Crane often does the driving for me, so I know!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.
 CASE 0-519: Charles Guthrie, aged 45, is the Director of the auto drivers' license bureau in Danville, Illinois.

Mrs. Crane's license had expired, so she decided to go to Danville, since it was closer than our Chicago home.

And while she took the written test, Charles and I talked about his problems.

"Dr. Crane," he said, "I always urge wives to be sure they learn how to drive the family car."

"For then they can do many errands and go to the shopping centers without waiting for their husbands or a neighbor to chauffeur them there."

"Besides, many older wives may be unexpectedly left as a widow, due to a coronary attack or some other cause of death of their mate."

"So these middle-aged widows may then be marooned on their farm or way out in the suburban area and with nobody else to take them to church or to the super market."

"Thus, they actually become isolated, for it is too far for them to walk to the distant shopping centers."

"It is not only more efficient for them to know how to handle the family car."

"But it is good for their morale, too, don't you agree?"

"For then they can go places and to things that keep them in contact with their community."

Big Drop In Farm Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says prices received by farmers for raw products dropped 3 per cent in the July 15-Aug. 15 period, marking the largest 30-day decline since October, 1948.

The crop reporting board said Monday that lower prices for hogs, cattle, potatoes and pigs contributed most to the decrease. Higher prices for milk, lettuce and wheat partially offset the loss.

The over-all August index for prices paid farmers was put at 276 per cent of the 1910-14 base period, compared with 286 per cent a month earlier and the five-year high of 290 last February.

The board noted that the report did not reflect the sharp grain market fluctuations the past two weeks caused by reports of 1970 corn losses because of the Southern leaf blight.

the queen, is to play the ace and king. South thought that he might be able to improve his prospects by finding out more about his opponents' distribution. The play in the heart 'suit' had already revealed six of the 13 cards held by West.

A club was led to the ace. Next came the king of diamonds, the queen was then overtaken by the ace in order to cash the jack on which North discarded a club. West followed to each lead and the nine and ten of diamonds had appeared on the second and third rounds of that suit. It appeared reasonably safe to play another club and declarer led over to North's king.

When West showed in again, 11 of his cards could be identified. He was known to have six hearts, three diamonds and two clubs. Declarer was now ready to lead trumps. The ace of spades was cashed and then came the five. When East followed with the nine, South promptly played the ten from his hand. West showed out and the queen of spades was picked up on the next round by declarer's ace. A club was conceded at the end.

South's trump finesse was a foolproof safety play, for, even if it lost to a doubleton queen, West would have only hearts left and the forced return would permit declarer to trump while he discards the losing club from his hand.

Set Land-Forming Demonstration Day

By EDWIN L. YANCEY
 A land forming demonstration will be held on the Marvin Horton Farm near Farmville on Thursday, September 17.

Equipment will be working all that day and Soil Conservationist and Extension agents will be on hand to discuss the practice. At 2 p.m., Ronald Sneed, Extension Agricultural Engineer, Roy R. Beck, District Conservationist for the Pitt Soil and Water Conservation District, and others will present a program on land forming as a practice for farmers in eastern Carolina.

The Horton farm is located on Secondary Road 122B which intersects with U. S. 264A about 1 mile west of Farmville. All farmers in the area are invited to attend this demonstration.

Land forming is a tool that can be used for soil and water management. Fields that have pockets which tend to be unproductive in wet years may be improved by the practice. The use of bigger and more expensive equipment makes it more desirable to have larger fields where rows can be long. This reduces "wasted" time in turning and backing. Open ditches, which have been tentatively used for drainage, tend to limit field size and also present a maintenance problem. Land forming may be one way to manage water without these ditches thereby increasing field size.

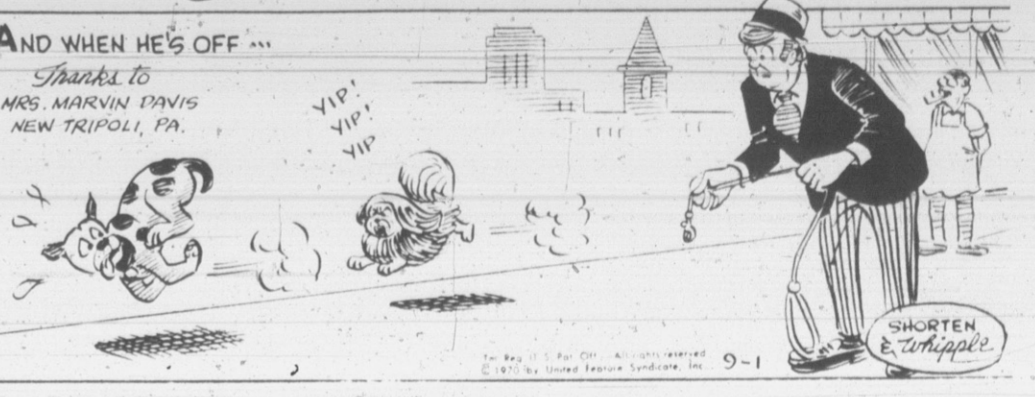

The demonstration on the Horton farm will show cutting and filling, land smoothing, and elimination of open ditches. The local Soil Conservation staff and Agricultural Extension Agents have worked with Agricultural Engineering specialists at North Carolina State University in the design of the land forming plan for this farm.

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council has estimated that 570 to 670 persons will die on the nation's highways over the Labor Day weekend.

The council said Sunday that American motorists will drive 300 million miles more over the three-day holiday than they would during a normal week-end.

THEIR ENEMY: CHILDREN — The bodies of children and staff of a Buddhist orphanage, which was overrun by North Vietnamese sappers Sunday in Xuyen Phu, South Vietnam, lie covered as orphanage workers and villagers look on. The orphanage, about 22 miles southwest of Da Nang, had no defenders. They executed the Buddhist monk who operated the orphanage and killed 12, most of them children, and wounded 45 in the attack. Ministry Begun To Probe Fish Kills In Hyde

The Rev. M. D. McPherson has begun his ministry here as pastor of the First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville.

The Rev. Mr. McPherson succeeds the Rev. W. Harvey

REV. McPHERSON

Morris who was assigned to the First P. H. Church of Lumberton by the North Carolina Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness Church.

Born in Marshfield (new Coos Bay), Oregon, the new minister in Greenville was reared in Oklahoma, completing his elementary and high school education in Seminole and Tahlequah. He was educated at Holmes Bible College (now Holmes Theological Seminary) in Greenville, S. C., from which he was graduated in 1939, and at Emmanuel College, Franklin Springs, Ga.

He was pastor of two churches in Richmond, Va. and one in Suffolk, Va. before transferring to the North Carolina Conference in 1948.

The Rev. Mr. McPherson has served pastorates in Benson, Kenly, Bethany (Williamston), Jacksonville, and Bizzell's Grove (Princeton). From Bizzell's Grove, where he led a building program, he was given the First P. H. Church assignment in Greenville.

He is married to the former Miss Evelyn Reece, of Blacksburg, Va. The McPhersons are parents of three children, Mrs. Durwood Cowan, of Jacksonville, N. C.; Mrs. Brenda Fox, of Princeton; and Mrs. Ronnie Gower, of Pine Level, N. C. They have four grandchildren.

The Rev. Mr. McPherson is known by his associates as a successful pastor - evangelist.

Raleigh (AP) — Officials from several state agencies in North Carolina will investigate reports of fish-kills in coastal Hyde County.

James Pickett, director of the Department of Water and Air Resources, says the fish kills were first noticed last Friday.

They may be linked to pesticide sprayings of the soybean crops in the county, he told a meeting of representatives of several state agencies Monday.

The dead fish were discovered in drainage ditches in the county's soybean fields. The soybean crop has been plagued this year by Army worms and has been sprayed by plane because of these insects, Pickett said.

He said the crops have been sprayed with the pesticides sevin, malathion and other un-

Anti-Govm't Slate Proves Top Winner

SAIGON (AP) — Vu Van Mau's antigovernment slate was the top winner in South Vietnam's senatorial election, unofficial returns from all provinces showed today. The other two winning slates were moderately progovernment groups headed by Sen. Huynh Van Cao and Senate President Nguyen Van Huyen.

Thirty of the 60 Senate seats were at stake, and each of the winning tickets will fill 10 of the seats. President Nguyen Van Thieu's government retained a majority in the upper house, but it was not known yet whether it won or lost any representation because exact lineups have not emerged.

There were 160 candidates in the election, divided up into slates of 10 candidates each. Each slate represented a political bloc, not a constituency, and voters could choose up to three slates each.

Official election results are not expected for another two weeks. Then they will have to be verified by a joint electoral committee before being sent to the Supreme Court for approval.

Backers of a losing slate charged today that their representatives had not been permitted to verify returns in some districts. There were no other charges of irregularities.

Burlington Ind. Talks Pay Hike

GREENSBORO (AP) — Burlington Industries, giant textile chain, has announced that some of its manufacturing divisions are planning to increase wages, probably in October.

The amount of the increase, the divisions, or how many employees would be covered was not disclosed in the Monday announcement.

A spokesman said wage decisions were being made at the divisional level.

"While some of our divisions are expected to make wage adjustments, others will very likely move at a later date, in keeping with conditions in their particular segments of the industry," he said.

Routine Checkup Another Gen. Graham Taking Clay Commands

SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Lucius D. Clay Jr., son of the famed World War II Army general, took over today as commander of the U.S. 7th Air Force in military ceremonies at Tan Son Nhut Air Base.

Clay, 51, replaced Gen. George S. Brown, who held the post for two years.

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham has entered the Mayo Clinic for what was described as a periodic medical examination.

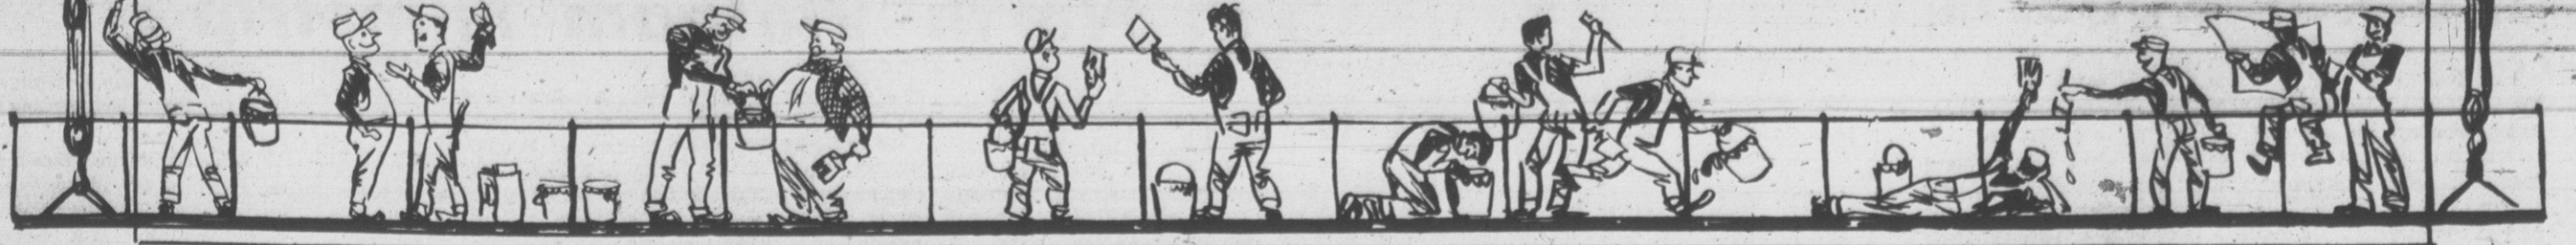

Graham, 51, said jokingly at his hotel before going to the clinic Monday: "I hope it is a routine medical checkup."

He had surgery for an oral abscess at the clinic in 1968,

'Anti-Semitism' Charged Lindy

MILTON, Mass. (AP) — The national commander of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States has charged Charles A. Lindbergh with anti-Semitism. The commander, Albert Schlossberg of Milton, took exception Monday to one of the statements in the flyer's forthcoming book, "The Lindbergh Journals." Portions were released last weekend. Schlossberg's statement cited a paragraph in which he said Lindbergh professed to believe that "the Jews, the Roosevelt administration and British sympathizers combined to encourage the United States to enter World War II." This Schlossberg said, was "obvious anti-Semitic bias" of a type that "will put a question of respectability on the Lone Eagle."

Traffic on Interstate 20 east of Atlanta was blocked for two hours while the gas dissipated. An evacuation of nearby homes was ordered but the emergency ended before it was carried out. None of those taken to hospitals was seriously hurt.

Recognized Her POW Husband

GREENSBORO (AP) — Mrs. Jean C. McDaniel of Greensboro was able to recognize her husband from pictures of prisoners of war shown Monday night on a CBS television news program. She had known that her husband, Air Force Maj. Norman McDaniel, was alive by letters she had received and a recording of his voice sent her last Christmas by CBS.

"I was glad to see that he looks healthy, in fact looks as well as before he left except for his haircut," Mrs. McDaniel said.

Both the couple's children were able to recognize their father, she said, because Christopher, 8, and Crystal, 5, have often seen his picture in the home.

Maj. McDaniel has been listed as missing since July 1966.

District Court Judge Stricken

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — State Dist. Court Judge William A. Mason, 61, died of an apparent heart attack Monday as he was driving out of the Gaston County Courthouse parking lot during a court recess. He was found slumped over the wheel of his car after it struck several other cars. Mason sat on the bench for the district made up of Gaston, Cleveland and Lincoln counties. He also was secretary of the Suburban Radio Group, composed of 10 stations in North Carolina and Virginia. Funeral services were scheduled for 4 p.m. today at the First Presbyterian Church in Belmont.

Some Identify POW Relatives In North Vietnam Filmstrip

By JIM LUTHER Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — A 12-minute North Vietnamese film purporting to show U.S. prisoners of war celebrating Christmas was received with mixed reaction by families at home. Some shouted recognition, some were skeptical.

In Cleveland, Mrs. Charles S. Stanley Sr. said she, a son and daughter were viewing the television film when a familiar profile appeared.

"We all jumped at once, so it must be him," she declared, referring to CWO Charles S. Stanley Jr. She said he had his head down and looked "so sad." The film was aired nationally Monday night after the Pentagon had sent telegrams to families of missing soldiers asking them to view it. Spokesmen said most of the men who appeared weren't on the official prisoner list.

Nina Trout of Murfreesboro, Tenn., said one of the men was her son, Capt. Mark Babson. "It may be a propaganda film, but that's my son."

Mrs. Trout said she had been notified her son was missing in action on Oct. 14, 1969, and received no further word until she got the Pentagon's telegram earlier Monday.

Babson's wife, however, who watched the film at her home in Ozark, Ala., was unable to spot him.

Other relatives contended the pictures of the healthy-looking men may have been faked to leave the impression that Hanoi treats prisoners well.

The film was handed to Rep. Roger Zion, R-Ind., by North Vietnamese in Paris last week. Zion, who had gone to Paris to deliver a letter from 406 congressmen seeking humane treatment of POWs, said he was not told where the movie film was taken.

The Defense Department counted 75 faces in the film. Of these, officials said, 14 were on the Pentagon's POW list, 41 probably were known prisoners and 20 had not been listed previously. No names were listed.

"We know that other films like this have been staged," said Iris R. Powers, coordinator of a group of families whose sons or husbands are missing in action.

"Many of the men shown in the film are wearing different kinds of clothing," Mrs. Powers said. "Now why? Is it because they come from different camps?"

"If so, and we suspect this could be the reason, then it follows that they very probably may have been hand-picked because they are not representative of those who have suffered most, who are ill or injured ... or have been brutalized by their captors," she added.

She said the nine U.S. POWs released by Hanoi told of not being allowed to leave their cells, let alone attend a church service.

The silent film shows GIs in what appeared to be a church lit with "Noel 1969" signs. Various scenes show prisoners singing, taking communion and kneeling at an altar.

The Defense Department lists 454 prisoners of war.

Disagree Over Parathion Risk

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina health and agriculture officials continue to disagree over whether use of the pesticide parathion should be continued.

In a news conference Monday, Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham recommended continued use of the pesticide, but he said a state law should be passed regulating its use.

However, Dr. Martin Hines, director of the division of epidemiology of the state Board of Health, said "I have not yet seen any way that this can be regulated" so that the parathion is kept out of the way of children and others who should not be exposed.

Hines has been a leading advocate of banning the pesticide. He said last week that his office is studying about 30 cases of parathion poisoning in the state.

Support for banning of the pesticide arose after parathion was cited as the cause of death of a 7-year-old Pink Hill farm boy and several other persons in the state.

Graham told the news conference his department was willing to cooperate in the continuing studies of alleged poisonings and deaths from the pesticide. But, he said, he is not yet convinced that the pesticide has caused the illnesses and deaths under investigation.

He said that parathion "is needed for the production of food. We know that it is a dangerous pesticide and should be handled accordingly. We are not disputing the fact that it is dangerous."

He said he neither advocated nor condemned parathion. But, he said, "we feel that if the instructions are followed, it can continue to be used successfully."

Sadie Sauter School Boycott Losing Ground

The opening week apparent boycott of Sadie Sauter Elementary School continues to lose ground as the fifth day of school gets underway.

Attendance figures again today showed a substantial rise, with 424 students in school. This is 48 higher than yesterday's attendance, which in turn was 41 more than had attended Friday, and represents 88 more students in attendance than was recorded on Friday, the low point, when only 335 were in that school.

With an estimated total enrollment at a little over 450, today's figures means that only about 30 students of those assigned to this school were not on hand today.

Protect the Widow's Mite

If you think estate planning is only for the rich, consider this: you're most likely one of the rich yourself, especially by the standards of a generation ago. If you want proof, add it all up: house, car, savings, insurance, pension and everything else.

Because your assets will grow, you might well leave an estate worth tens of thousands of dollars or more. Such an estate is commonplace, nowadays. Unfortunately, it's also commonplace to see a fortune like that go down the drain. "The surest way to lose a fortune" as the saying goes, "is to leave it to a widow."

Even today, when people are a lot more sophisticated than they were, the saying holds true. The same woman who is the world's shrewdest shopper in the supermarket lacks the business know-how to invest and manage a lump-sum inheritance.

At best, she may listen to her family or well-intentioned friends who know no more than she does. At worst, she may fall prey to a well-dressed, smooth talking "con man" who makes a living fleecing widows especially those under recent emotional strains.

For example: Mrs. Smith, the widow, inherited close to $100,000 in personal and company insurance — quite enough; if invested properly and supplemented by Social Security to support herself and three young children. The company policy came in monthly payments but Mrs. Smith had the responsibility of investing all that $50,000 of lump-sum insurance.

Seeking both security and growth, she was an "easy mark" for a glib real estate salesman who promised her a quick profit on land near the edge of town. Knowing nothing about zoning, water tables or soil testing, she bought the property and waited 15 years for the "quick" profit, which turned out to be very modest. During that time, she had to work full-time to pay property taxes and make up for the lost income.

A widow who inherits a lump-sum, rather than a managed monthly income, should see her banker promptly. He is in position to know the lawyers and other people who can be of help to her. As a businesswoman who operates on the narrow margin of error, her banker would be an interested yet impartial advisor on sound investments.

Today, estate planning is more important than ever. Aside from the fact that people have more money, women are doing an exceptionally good job of living longer. They should be protected. The next time you stop in at your bank, discuss your concern about the well-being of your family with one of the officers.
