New Military Regime Acts

Menaced Jordan Is Under Martial Law

By ALEX EFTY
Associated Press Writer
AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — A royalist military regime, dominated by British-trained Field Marshal Habis Majali, took power in Jordan today and imposed martial law to put an end to the threat of civil war. One of Majali's first acts was an appeal to rebellious Palestinian guerrillas to respect a new cease-fire agreement with the royal army, set to go into effect at noon EDT. Damascus radio reported that Yasir Arafat, head of the Al Fatah guerrilla organization and over-leader boss of all Palestinian commandos, had placed guerrilla forces under an "emergency alert" and under his personal command to fight what he called Jordan's new "Fascist regime."

He is said to be fiercely loyal to the king. Informed sources said at least one army officer, two soldiers and the 15-year-old son of the new military governor of the Amman district, Gen. Kassem El Maita, were killed in fighting Tuesday between Palestinian guerrillas and Jordanian troops in Zarqa, 15 miles from the capital. Guerrillas were also reported in control of Irbid, Jordan's second largest city, 40 miles north of Amman. The new government said in a proclamation that its primary objectives would be to end internal fighting, assist the Palestinian resistance movement, and implement cease-fire agreements between the government and the guerrillas. The latest agreement calls for withdrawal of most army units from the cities in return for the removal of guerrilla roadblocks, an end to their armed presence in the streets.

Fullest Confidence In Staff: Jenkins

East Carolina University president Dr. Leo W. Jenkins this morning responded to a Raleigh newspaper's charge critical of efforts by ECU to establish a medical school in Greenville. An editorial this morning in the Raleigh News and Observer charged that Dr. Jenkins has "misrepresented the progress" of the proposed two-year medical school at ECU.

He surrounded himself with seven full time staff members with their doctoral degrees in their various disciplines and, in addition to the full-time staff members, Jenkins continued, has some 20 physicians who are board-certified in their respective specialty area of medical practice," he said. "These medical doctors and medical scientists received their education and training at leading medical schools such as: Duke, The University of North Carolina, Bowman-Gray, The Medical College of Virginia, The University of Colorado, Brown University, and the Universities of Kansas, Tennessee and Georgia. I have complete confidence in the qualifications of these men and the schools that trained them," Dr. Jenkins added. Referring to the editorial this morning, he said, "If the News and Observer claims these people are not capable of giving anything but "cheap professional guidance" it seems to me the burden of proof rests with that newspaper and not with us. I further do not think that any of these people would be associated with unsound planning and "shoddy claims to easy cheap success."

Uncomplimentary editorials in the News and Observer do not bother us for we have lived with them over the years, Dr. Jenkins said. In spite of any action taken by this newspaper we are going to continue to do all in our power to get adequate medical care in the rural areas of our state. Deliberately misleading editorials from this newspaper merely renew our determination to do what we know is proper." Dr. Jenkins continued, "I want to make it clear from the beginning that I have complete confidence in our Director of Health Affairs, Doctor Edwin Monroe. He came to us with excellent credentials, being a graduate of Davidson College, the two year school of medicine at the University of North Carolina, a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Medical School, and a three year medical residency at Chapel Hill. "He surrounded himself with seven full time staff members with their doctoral degrees in their various disciplines and, in addition to the full-time staff members, Jenkins continued, has some 20 physicians who are board-certified in their respective specialty area of medical practice," he said. "These medical doctors and medical scientists received their education and training at leading medical schools such as: Duke, The University of North Carolina, Bowman-Gray, The Medical College of Virginia, The University of Colorado, Brown University, and the Universities

North Pitt School Opens For Some 1,150 Students

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Summer vacations ended and a new era in schooling for some 1,150 high school students began as the North Pitt High School opened for the first time today. Although there was the normal amount of confusion in the halls caused by students entering a new school for the first time, the general atmosphere and general attitude of the students seemed very good. "It will take the rest of the week to work out some mechanics of the operation . . . getting desks placed, books distributed. . ." Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County schools, said. "But every day should get better as the year moves along." Other Pitt County schools opened last week, but the North Pitt opening was delayed a week in order to give workmen an opportunity to complete painting and other work on the building and grounds. That work still is not completed, and classes at the school will be on a half-day schedule for the remainder of this week and possibly part of next week in order to allow workers to complete the construction. Principal Walter Latham said school hours for the remainder of this week will be from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. and hours for next Monday, Tuesday and possibly

Wednesday, will be from 8:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. The lunchroom will probably open one week from today, he added. The regular school day will run from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. with seven 50 minute periods scheduled. Latham said there is a five-minute break between each class. "I am very happy with this morning's opening," stated Latham. "Everything is going just fine." Latham said a number of students reported for school this morning who do not live within the North Pitt attendance area. Due to the lack of space, students who do not live in the attendance area will not be allowed to attend classes at North Pitt. "Students who attended one of the five feeder schools in the North Pitt attendance area but do not live within the school district, will not be accepted at the high school," Latham explained. "I would like to discourage parents from visiting the school for now because there is much work which remains to be done on the parking areas and the roads on the school campus," Latham said. "Also, the school has only two telephone lines, one Greenville and one Bethel exchange, and I would like for parents who call the school to make their calls brief."

Says Synthetic Tobacco Ahead

An East Carolina University professor, Dr. James Bearden, warned yesterday that an English firm may begin production of synthetic tobacco soon, and said domestic companies and farmer groups should begin planning now to meet such an eventuality.

Division of ICI in Stevenston, Scotland by telephone September 11. "Dr. Short said they were considering construction of plant facilities, and in response to an inquiry as to when such full-scale investment might occur, his reply has straightforward and succinct, 'imminently.'"

Dr. Bearden, Dean of the School of Business at ECU, has been studying the impact synthetic tobacco might have on the economy of Eastern North Carolina and the state as a whole, since 1967.

"He indicated that in a proposal which would be presented to ICI within the next six months," Dr. Bearden continued, "three sites would likely be recommended. The first plant would be built in the United Kingdom, the second in the United States and the third somewhere in Europe."

"In 1969, we tried to get several major tobacco companies to come to ECU to start a dialogue on the question of synthetic tobacco. They refused," Dr. Bearden explained.

According to Dr. Bearden, conversations with William Doyme, special programs manager for Imperial Chemical Industries, America, Stamford, Conn., ICI would handle the synthetic product in America if the product "matures to viability in the United States."

Time for dialogue is less plentiful now, Dr. Bearden indicated, as he referred to the latest developments in the inquiry.

An English patent has been issued for the ICI product and a U. S. patent has been applied for, Doyme explained.

"Dr. A. G. Short of Imperial Chemical Industries told us Friday, full scale investment in the production of synthetic tobacco is imminent."

According to Dr. Bearden, Imperial Chemical Industries (ICI) and Imperial Tobacco Company joined forces in 1967 as Imperial Development Ltd., to develop and manufacture a new smoking material.

Dr. Bearden said he talked with Dr. Short, research director for the Nobel prize winner, Dr. Bearden, Doyme said "there is no pre-designed view where a facility like this would go" in the United States, but indicated that his firm has a fine impression of the South, and "indicated that North Carolina would certainly be considered, particularly

Pou Is Named Chairman For Hospital Drive

J. W. "Joe" Pou, Ph.D., vice president of Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, has been named general chairman of the newly formed Citizens' Committee for the new Pitt County Memorial Hospital.

The announcement was made Tuesday by W. W. Wooten, chairman of the Pitt County Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees.

Bond Issue Talked At Meeting Of Pitt Hospital Trustees

The bond issue referendum set for November 3 was the main discussion topic at a meeting of the Pitt Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees here last night.

Miss Jean Owens, the hospital's new director of nursing, was introduced to the Board. She spoke briefly, commenting on the lack of departmentalization and the presence of cooperation she has found at Pitt Memorial.

Dan Polito, a professional campaign organizer hired by citizens who wish to see the bond issue passed, attended the meeting. He is an employee of Ketchum, Inc. Fund - Raising Counsel.

Jack Richardson, assistant hospital administrator, reported that all current accounts are now "on the county computer." Persons owing the hospital will be billed once a month from now on, instead of about three times a year as in the past. Balances can now be ascertained quickly since the files are arranged both alphabetically by guarantors' names and also numerically by the ages of the accounts.

All trustees present pledged themselves to support Dr. Joe Pou, the newly elected chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the new Pitt County Memorial Hospital. Dr. Pou's leading the committee was unanimously approved by the Board, as it had been by the Board's executive committee earlier in the evening.

Board members submitted names from their respective towns and areas for prospective leaders of the drive.

Cambodian Offensive Effort In Big Trouble

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodia's first major offensive against the Communists is in so much trouble that some combat commanders want to call off the whole operation, participants at a high-level meeting in Phnom Penh report.

The reports came as senior commanders directing Cambodia's first major offensive against Communist troops continued urgent talks with the military high command. The commanders were said to be especially worried about a large North Vietnamese and Viet Cong force reported moving toward their rear, apparently trying to get into position to cut off the government forces' only withdrawal route.

Nearly a division of Cambodian troops in the drive, the first significant attempt to seize the initiative from the enemy, remained stalled 47 miles north of Phnom Penh by a powerful and well dug-in Communist force in the village of Taing Kauk.

Commanders of the drive have orders to blast through all enemy resistance on Route 6, running from Skoun north to Kompong Thom, the provincial capital surrounded by enemy troops and nearly captured twice by Communist forces during the past three months. The road is 50 miles long.

The Cambodian command was said to fear that canceling the operation now would be a major psychological blow to the nation's population in view of the propaganda buildup the offensive has been given. But combat commanders reportedly were far more worried about the possibility of disasters to their troops as the column pushed deeper into enemy-held territory.

One participant in the conference said there was a possibility that most of the divisional force could be cut off and made ineffective while other enemy forces took advantage of the absence of the Cambodians' reserves and struck elsewhere, possibly against Phnom Penh.

List Of Latest French Lip Colors Reads Like A Menu In Restaurant

By TRIXIE BELMONT
A list of the latest French lip colors reads more like a menu at an exotic restaurant than beauty items.

Lips are naturally soft. But for this summer the Paris beauty counters are full of even softer textures and names like "Apricot Cream," "Pink Trifle," "Peach Mango" and Lechner's "Pumpkin Slice."

One of the new shades called "Capri," from the famous French dress house of Guerlain, has a dash of frosted highlights, and is in a mixture of peach and pink that is easy to wear with any shade.

Mother Comes First
Heather Sears won a film contract while still at drama school, became an international star almost as soon as the ink was dry—in "Room At The Top"—and has won acting awards the way some healthy girls win tennis trophies.

But then something faded. After "The Story of Esther Costello" her name disappeared from cinema posters for a long time.

What happened? She got married, to film producer-designer Tony Masters and has presented him with three fine sons over the past nine years. "Yes," she says, "my career could be a lot more advanced without them. But my family matters most, so regrets don't enter into it.

"If I weren't so guilt-ridden about the population explosion, I'd have at least two more! One makes an absolute decision to put human, family things first, and acting second. I'm very happy to be 34 years old, and married, with children."

What's New?
Joan Baez, high priestess of protesters, currently in Italy, has agreed to appear at a pop festival—provided she gets the use of a villa and a yacht.

Dior's latest range of stockings have a pattern that looks just like a bracelet with a charm interwoven round the ankles.

Vanessa Redgrave, still "divinely happy" with Franco Nero, talking for once on the subject of her ex-husband, director Tony Richardson, says, "We only achieved a real relationship when we were working together."

Top French couturier Yves St. Laurent is moving from the staid right to the gayer Left Bank of Paris. His new pad in the Rue Babylone will have two floors and an enormous garden.

The Last Word
"I haven't got a family, or a husband, or a lot of money. I have nothing like this behind me, no protective cloak to shelter me and say, 'Go on, enjoy yourself, have a super holiday on me,' I've just got my work—and that's my life."—Ballerina Antoinette Sibley.

"I don't mean to sound unforthcoming, but I think that for an actress to talk too much, and publicly, about her marriage or her babies, is a sort of prostitution of the situation."—Actress Susan Hampshire, married to French producer Pierre Granier-Deferre.

"I was born to act. It's in my blood. But I would never let my career stand in the way of my life. I shall definitely stop working when I have children and just hope that I'll be able to start again a few years later."—Hayley Mills.

"If I were starting again I wouldn't go into show business for $15,000 a week, knowing all that I do now. Show business is the most insincere profession in the world."—Ex-actress Eve Taylor, turned manager, who looks after singers Sandie Shaw, Val Doonican and Adam Faith among others.

Homemaker's Haven By Evelyn Spangler Pitt Home Agent

Are you always saying to yourself: "I wish I had more time to do all the things I want to do and need to do." You can't add to, or take away from the 24 hours in each day. It's up to you to determine how you will use those hours every day to the best advantage.

Housekeeping jobs may be taking more of your time than should be necessary. The stress of rushing from one thing to another, day after day, generally results in an exhausted, nervous feeling at the end of each day. Such a situation can impair your health and make it impossible for you to give your best physically or socially to your family.

You do want to be a successful homemaker and housekeeper; but you also want to have time for other activities - community and church work, club work, reading, music, recreation, and visiting neighbors and friends.

Recently we have been hearing a lot about work simplification. It simply means learning to do jobs well in the quickest, easiest ways, combining jobs or even leaving out some jobs. This is important if you want to save time and energy and when you fully realize the number of jobs in housekeeping day after day.

In food preparation alone think of the many different jobs you do in preparing one meal! How many meals do you prepare in a year? You can begin to see how much it would mean to save a few steps, stoops, and minutes on each job. It adds up to a lot of time and energy saved in a year.

One reason many of us dislike housekeeping jobs is because we are still doing them the hard way. We haven't yet learned the quickest, easiest ways, using the tools, equipment, and supplies best suited to each particular job. Have you ever questioned your work methods? Are you doing jobs that other members of the family could and should do?

No two homes are run exactly alike. No two people do the same jobs exactly the same way. Housekeeping methods can't be standardized like those in a factory. Nevertheless you can examine your present work methods, learn all you can about improved housekeeping methods, and put them into practice.

Homemaking now has a place of dignity along with other professions. The science of homemaking is an important course of study in schools, colleges and universities. Many studies have been made in homes on time and energy-saving methods and work efficiency. There are many well-trained people who are giving women much helpful information on modern homemaking problems.

Do you really mean it when you say "I wish I had more time to do all the things I want and need to do"? Then call or write our office for the booklet "Let's Make Housekeeping Easier." Our telephone number is 758-1197. Our address is Home Economics Extension Office 203 West Third Street, Greenville, North Carolina.

Summer Reports Given At Service League Meeting

The first Service League meeting of the fall was presided over by Mrs. Morris Brody, new president. Members heard reports of work done during the summer.

Mrs. A. M. Mumford, chairman of the Laughinghouse Hospital Fund, reported 11 memorials had been received and two patients assisted. Emergency Charity Chairman, Mrs. John Shannonhouse, said eight calls had been answered.

Mrs. Ray Minges, chairman of Lending Chest, answered calls for two wheel chairs and a request for crutches. Pajamas, a robe and slippers were donated to the chest. Mrs. Dwight Garrett's report on Hospital Activities was read. Tray favors numbering 140 for the hospital were made for July 4 and an arrangement was placed in the lobby.

Chairman of the Bloodmobile, Mrs. Charles Gilbert, thanked 80 summer Service League workers who gave 246 hours to collect 236 pints of blood. She announced the next Bloodmobile visit will be on Sept. 22 and 23 at the Moose Lodge. She named Mrs. Sam Price as assistant Bloodmobile chairman.

Layette Chairman Mrs. Leon Moore reported four calls for layettes were answered this summer. Mrs. Moye Dail, as chairman of placement, secured a full coffee shop schedule for the fall and named as her assistant, Mrs. Phillip Goodson.

Coffee Shop Chairman, Mrs. Ernell Webb, set up a schedule for X-rays. Mrs. William Hudson, Finance chairman, gave the date for the 1971 Charity Ball as Feb. 19 with Mrs. Leon Moore as ball chairman.

After hearing the report of the first vice president and chairman of membership Mrs. Charles Stevens, sustaining representative, Mrs. W. S. Bost, gave a welcome to persons moving into sustaining membership. Mrs. William Watson, as chairman of special projects, named the following new committee chairmen: Children's Home, Mrs. Percy Cox; and Art Center, Mrs. J. W. H. Roberts.

Mrs. Brody thanked the nominating committee which functioned during the summer. They were Mrs. Wilson Guice, chairman and past president, Mrs. Reid Hooper and Mrs. Ed Rawl. Mrs. Carl Pierce was nominated and approved as new corresponding secretary.

Miss Phyllis Warren Charming Friend Is Restaurant Industry Taking Weds Sunday Afternoon A Nonstop Talker Steps To Ease Labor Shortage

Miss Phyllis Dare Warren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Warren of Stokes, became the bride of Gerald Lee Wainwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wainwright of Greenville, on Sunday at 2:00 p.m.

The Rev. Ola Porter officiated at the double ring ceremony performed in the Grifton Pentecostal Holiness Church.

The church was decorated with a basket of mixed colored flowers with a centered lace umbrella. Standards of emerald jade banked the church.

A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Gail Crisp, organist, and Miss Ann Edwards, soloist, who sang "Whither Thou Goest," "More," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a silk peau de soie and alencon lace gown with a chapel length train. The bodice featured a portrait neckline, basque waist and bracelet length sleeves. Re-embroidered alencon lace was applied around the neckline and down the center of the sheath skirt with a matching border of lace at the hemline. The chapel length train, trimmed with re-embroidered alencon lace, was centered in back.

Her veil of silk bridal illusion was attached to a crown of lace petals trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a colonial nosegay of white roses and white daisies.

Miss Judy McRoy of Greenville, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a floor length gown of maize silk chiffon trimmed with satin. The empire bodice featured a high neckline with mandarin collar. Her headpiece was maize heart-shaped petal designs with a tiered veil of illusion. She carried a colonial nosegay of yellow and white daisies.

Miss Donna Lois Warren of Alexandria, Va., niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a short yellow dress and carried a basket of yellow daisies.

Charlie McKeel of Greenville was best man. Ushers were H.T. Wainwright of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, and Steve Tripp of Richmond, Va.

Alan Wainwright of Greenville, brother of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. He carried a white satin pillow.

The mother of the bride wore a blue and white crepe two-piece suit, navy blue accessories and a corsage of white roses. The bridegroom's mother selected a pink flowered A-lined dress with a matching lace coat. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a purple crepe dress with puffed sleeves and a white vest.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a senior at North Pitt High School. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rose High School and is employed by Wainwright's Amoco.

Rehearsal Party
The Wainwright - Warren wedding party and out-of-town guests were entertained at an after-rehearsal party on Saturday night held at the home of the bridegroom.

Host and hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Wainwright and Mrs. Roy Warren.

The refreshment table was covered with a gold lace cloth. Mrs. Peggy Boyd, sister of the bride, poured punch and Mrs. Donnie Warren, sister-in-law of the bride, served cake.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who is a great talker. The minute she appears she starts talking and goes on and on and on hardly coming up for air. No exaggeration, last Sunday we went for a drive and she talked for six hours straight! All I said was "Uh hu," and "Is that so?"

How does one handle such a situation? Otherwise she is a very charming person. Thank you. NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: How can a nonstop talker be "charming"? And when? If you can explain that to me I will tell you how to "handle" the situation.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to comment about the middle-aged widower who had arranged for a "cute young doll" to come to his hotel room for some "pleasure-C.O.D."

The doll turned out to be the daughter of a friend of his. He said she applied a secretarial job and he had always thought she was a lovely young lady. He said as soon as he opened the door and recognized her, he called it off by saying there had been some "mistake."

Now he wonders how she can face him when he goes to visit her parents?

I would like to ask him how he can face her? What makes him think that he is blameless? Wasn't it a two-sided proposition? What's good for the goose is good for the gander.

DEAR G AND G: The young doll was obviously new in the oldest profession. It's hard to say which one has more cause to be humiliated—the buyer or the seller. I suspect if this gander and goose never see each other again it will be lucky for both of them.

DEAR ABBY: The people down the block have a beautiful collie dog, and she is a mess. I walk by their house on my way to work every morning and this beautiful friendly dog walks about a block with me and it just pains me to see how dirty and neglected she looks. Her rump is all matted and she scratches herself a lot. She must be terribly uncomfortable. I know she hasn't had a bath or been brushed since I moved into the neighborhood nearly a year ago.

I would tell her owner to take her to the vet and get her cleaned and groomed, but I'm afraid they would think I was butting into their business. I wouldn't even mind paying the $12 myself, altho the dog's owners live in a grand house and I know they could well afford it.

Please tell me what to do before I kidnap that lovely dog and take her to the vet, then I'll have to write to you from jail.
DOG LOVER

DEAR LOVER: I don't recommend kidnapping, even tho your motives are humane. Get acquainted with the collie's owners. [It's easy. Dog owners are always receptive to strangers who show an interest in their dogs.] Then gently lower the boom.

JAMES CASH PENNEY listens intently as E. James Stavrakas, manager of Penney's merchandise testing center, discusses the center's consumer-oriented testing activities. Mr. Penney was the Company's first consumer advocate, and, as he nears his 95th birthday on Wednesday, Sept. 16, he feels consumer protection is more important than ever. Today, Stavrakas and his colleagues in the testing center use sophisticated equipment to test the properties of fabrics. The laundrometer which Stavrakas is discussing here simulates the laundering Mr. Penney conducted in his hotel room.

CONSUMER PROTECTION MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER, SAYS J.C. PENNEY AS HE NEARS 95TH BIRTHDAY.

There's nothing really new about the idea of consumer protection. What is new, however, is the seemingly sudden surge of interest in the subject.

As he nears his 95th birthday on Wednesday, Sept. 16, James Cash Penney will tell you that consumer protection has been a continuing concern of reputable retailers for a long time.

"Mr. Penney himself set the tone for the Company's consumer protection policies when he talked about the 'integrity of the business.'" To Mr. Penney, from the time his first store was opened in 1902 in Kemmerer, Wyo., it was an inflexible rule that the merchandise offered had to be the best possible value at a reasonable price.

It was Mr. Penney who conducted the first consumer-oriented testing for the Company. Before the firm's headquarters were moved to New York, he would go there on buying trips with his early partners Johnson and Callahan.

On one of those trips, the trio had been in a warehouse looking at piece goods, and Mr. Penney asked for samples. He was scrubbing them in a lather of soapy water in a washbasin when Callahan came into his hotel room.

Callahan asked in astonishment, "Jim, what in the world are you doing there?"

"I'm washing these samples to see if the colors are fast."

With a look of disappointment, Callahan looked at the samples Mr. Penney had pinned against the curtains to dry, walked into the room, and peered into the washbasin. He asked, "Why are you doing that?"

Although the wholesaler had told the men that the colors were fast, Mr. Penney said, "I wanted to know for myself. I want my customers to be able to trust what I say. I've got to know before I can tell them."

The Penney Company still "has to know before it can tell them." Instead of washing samples by hand, the Company has in its New York merchandise testing center laundrometers which simulate home laundry conditions. In addition to laundrometers, the center—which occupies 17,000 square feet of space—has a broad variety of sophisticated equipment designed basically to test the quality of merchandise.

While consumer testing is infinitely more complex than it was back in the early 1900s, Mr. Penney feels it's even more important today because of the textile developments that have taken place. The Company is also now in the hard goods business selling household appliances and such—an area that Mr. Penney didn't have to concern himself with in the early days.

Says Mr. Penney, "I would be disappointed if the company that bears my name could not stand up and say, 'We have a deep and abiding commitment to and belief in consumer protection.' When I reach my 100th birthday, and I fully expect to, I am confident this commitment will be even greater than it is today."

The above article is an official news release from our Media Relations Division. However, since this local newspaper, as a matter of policy, does not consider newsworthy, we at Penney's in Pitt Plaza wish to bring this timely story to the attention of our customers. Mr. Penney is feeling quite well and is looking forward to his birthday on September 16.

"YOUR COMPLETE MUSIC DEPT. STORE"

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) —The restaurant industry is taking a cue from Horatio Alger in an effort to ease a growing labor shortage.

Alger's fictional heroes were poor boys who rose from rags to riches through hard work and determination. A management education program based on the same principles is scheduled to be launched in September by the National Restaurant Association (NRA).

At a news conference here, officials said its National Institute for the Food Service Industry is designed to train men and women both in and out of the field for middle A-management jobs.

The category includes chefs, to plan menus, order food and utilize leftovers in menu planning; stewards, to direct purchasing, receiving and storing; and dining-room managers, to hire, fire and train personnel.

The officials said 25,000 persons will be needed in the present decade alone to fill new jobs and replace retirees and dropouts.

The program will be open to anyone. It is designed primarily, however, for persons who already are in the industry but who have been held back by lack of formal education or educational opportunities, said Martin L. Horn, Jr., a New Jersey restaurateur and association president.

"Middle-management jobs are the toughest to fill, and we haven't brought enough people along," he added. "Young people who come in as waiters and waitresses don't stay, because they don't like the hours—the nights, weekends and holidays."

Patrick L. O'Malley, Chicago, a food service executive and education committee chairman for the NRA, said the new program adds the lure of professionalism to restaurant management. It will be available as both day and night classes at the college level and as a home study course for anyone who can't attend regular classes. The food service institute is being established at Northwood Institute, a coeducational, private independent college with campuses at Midland, Mich., West Baden, Ind., and Cedar Hill, Tex.

It will develop new training courses and arrange for their teaching at hundreds of colleges, plus companies and associations in the United States. Horn added that it also will conduct certification examinations for students.

Both Horn and O'Malley see the program as a great opportunity for women.

"They manage budgets at home and even save money for extras," said O'Malley. "They'd do the same thing on a larger scale in the food service field."

O'Malley also said the new program will give every opportunity to the undereducated and the underprivileged; although it is not designed specifically for this economic group.

Until now, similar programs have been private ones established by large corporations to meet their own needs. The NRA program is designed for independent operators, who represent 84 per cent of the 380,000 food-service establishments in the United States. The remainder are chains.

Association officials said their organization will provide seed money for the $200,000 a year program. They anticipate financial support from all areas of the food industry.

Neither Horn nor O'Malley appeared concerned about recent reports that the restaurant industry is in a slump because of the tight money situation. They attributed drops in center city lunch business to cutbacks in corporate spending and convention attendance, and decreases in dinner business, to fear of civil disorders, but they added that suburban restaurant business is increasing.

"In-plant feeding has hurt the worst," according to O'Malley, whose Canteen Corp. is a major operator in that field.

Hatchet Job On Traffic Wardens

TROWBRIDGE, England (WNS) — George Applegate, member of the City Council, has protested that four lady traffic wardens have given Trowbridge a bad name by hounding motorists. The women have threatened to sue Applegate because he called them "hatchet-faced."

Chief Constable George Glendinning says that his traffic wardens behave properly and look attractive, too. "Mr. Applegate may have other standards because he visits big cities," he said. "Right now he is in New York on business, so nothing will be done until his return."

A New School Signals A Dream

Opening of the new North Pitt High School is the start of the realization of an old dream. It signals the beginnings of a truly consolidated high school system in the county; and as such, represents a truly tremendous effort by the people of Pitt.

Three other high schools have entered the final laps of preparation for opening in early 1971. But you can count on it, attention will be focused on the trail-blazing done at North Pitt.

Despite all the forethought, planning and care that has gone into the new school, some adjustments and re-thinking are almost bound to be necessary. Hopefully, there will be a minimum of this.

Some patience, much goodwill, much understanding will be required of patrons, students and staff members.

Our new schools are the product of many people working together to achieve a new milestone; but it will take many more people working together to assure their functions are the kind of success the groundbreakers envisioned.

Industrial Investment Data Is Promising

Among the cheerful news recently was the N. C. Board of Conservation and Development's report that there had been an upturn in investments in new and expanded industry.

The Commerce and Industry Division reported that investments for April, May and June totalled $142,541,000. For the first six months of the year the total is $248,032,000. The second quarter total represented a decided upturn, it was reported.

New and expanded industries for April-May-June will provide employment for 6,283 people and a payroll of $31,144,000.

There is no way of telling from the report if the industries are the kind that will not pollute or alter the environment, but if they are we can put this in the category of good news.

North Carolina needs the additional jobs which only industry can provide. At the same time it needs industry which will not have an adverse effect on our environment.

Buttoned Down Collar Is Dead

By BRYAN HAISLIP
The buttoned-down collar for men's shirts is dead. Its obituary was on the front page of The Wall Street Journal last week. The article said the loose and free fashion approach of today's male has brought the downfall of the button-down, regarded by the now the sale. Look, you don't want to buy one, do you?" The tone was disbelief.

After I assured him I didn't, he talked freely. "They're out," he said. "For at least nine months, the buttoned-down collar shirt has been strictly out. Holdouts for Button-Downs. "Oh, a few conservative diehards still ask for them, and men who simply want a shirt on their back will buy them on sale. But for the young crowd—junior business executives, the college-man—they wouldn't be caught dead in a buttoned-down collar."

BRYAN HAISLIP

generation as "the ultimate symbol of up-tightness." I hurried to the dresser to see how many corpses were in the drawers. Too many. My purchases normally coincide with sales which means a sartorial mode more deja vu than au courant.

I wore a shirt to work that was a Father's Day gift, not bought at season's end and therefore in proper style with longer, straighter and unbuttoned-down collar. The vari-colored stripes made me a little self-conscious but I wanted to avoid an up-tight impression.

At Governor Bob Scott's news conference I paid particular attention to his attire. After all, as Governor he has cultivated a with-it impression for his administration in personal appearance as well as on issues. He had his hair styled while other politicians were still using a comb and greasy kid stuff.

Scott in Style
Sure enough, the Governor was loose and relaxed. He was wearing a shirt with wide, unbuttoned-down collar and a generously knotted navy tie with red figures.

A couple of his staff members, obviously up-tight, wore buttoned-down collar shirts.

Eugene Simmons, whose job as State Democratic Chairman is enough to keep a man up-tight, also had on a buttoned-down collar.

I called on a haberdasher friend to check further on the matter of men's fashions. Arnold Jacobs has been in the clothing game 35 years (he started young), long enough to observe the width of neckties wax, wane and wax again.

"Do you carry buttoned-down collar shirts?" I inquired. He looked as though I'd asked if he left his family without the Right-Guard.

"Yes, a few," he answered cautiously.

"I don't see any on display," I said.

"They're in the basement. I moved them down there after

I felt a little sad. I could remember my own post-college days when the Ivy League look, epitomized by the buttoned-down collar, was the mark for every young man going places.

"Everything is more liberated in men's fashions," Jacobs went on, breaking into my melancholy train of thought. "Style, comfort, color—men aren't afraid of color anymore." A look around his shop confirmed it. The merchandise exhibited a spectrum that would make the North Carolina mountains in October pallid by comparison.

Walking down Fayetteville Street, I took note that the Raleigh male—and I suspect his Tar Heel brethren generally—remains blissfully unaware of the fashion revolution. Store windows showed candy-stripe shirts, but for the man on the street the obituary for the buttoned-down collar, like Mark Twain's, is premature and exaggerated.

It's true that the younger set is taking to the loose and free styles. For the time being they stand out in the crowd like peacocks among starlings. In matters of fashion North Carolina men may not be the last by whom the new is tried, but they certainly aren't the first to lay the old aside.

Of course, the real individualist in dress is the one who sets his own style and keeps it despite the ripples and tides of fashion andfad.

Such a one is Thad Eure, jaunt Secretary of State. His navy blazer, red bow-tie and straw sailor skimmer is a summer uniform.

He took the news of the fade-out for the buttoned-down collar with equanimity. "I don't own one myself," he said.

I tried to settle the matter with my wife's advice. "Do you think a buttoned-down collar shirt makes me look up-tight?" I asked Mary Allen.

She looked at me critically. "Is that what it is?" she asked absently.

Doubts About Nasser 'Plot'

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
CAIRO — If Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser is plotting an attack against Israeli forces across the Suez Canal, as Israeli leaders darkly suspect from his missile violations, he is deceiving not only Israel and Washington but also his own political and military high command.

That conclusion is inescapable from a study of Nasser's secret efforts with his leaders and with other Arab states to cushion the shock of his acceptance of the U. S. peace plan in mid-July. It is also buttressed by the hidden casualties Nasser privately admits his army and civilians sustained from Israeli bombing during the three months preceding the cease-fire—50 to 100 a day according to his own unpublished estimate—and the grave deterioration of the Egyptian economy. Egypt is so short of hard currency that vital medical supplies cannot be purchased abroad and some exports are being sold at less than cost.

A temporary cease-fire, followed by a new war, would not solve any of these problems no matter how much Nasser's Suez Canal generals improve their missile defense in violation of the standstill along the canal's West Bank.

Consider Nasser's handling of skeptical questioning at a July 24 closed-door meeting of the central committee of the Arab Socialist Union (ASU), summoned to hear why Nasser chose to accept the American proposals. Questions asked Nasser at that session, important parts of which have never been published, hinted at deep concern over the risk of Nasser's decision isolating Egypt from the rest of the Arab world, destroying his position as the pre-eminent Arab leader, and causing a rift between him and his army.

Nasser is understood to have replied that, with the exception of Algeria and Iraq, most Arab states would give him at least conditional backing.

Algeria attacked the U. S. proposal, he said, because Algeria wants to replace Egypt as the number one Arab state and is using Egyptian acceptance to destroy Nasser's reputation in the Arab world. Iraq, on the other hand, is guilty of betraying the Arab cause and should be treated as an outcast.

As for Nasser's own position in the Arab world, he said he did not think it would be threatened.

Possible army resistance to his acceptance of the U. S. plan, however, created special problems. Nasser revealed that his defense minister, Gen. Fawzi, had summoned 300 army officers to a secret meeting to seek support for Nasser's surprising decision. Some younger army officers have been critical of Nasser's surprising decision. Some younger army officers have been critical of Nasser's refusal to take a far more vigorous offensive across the canal and drive Israel out of the Sinai (which Nasser knows is impossible without total Soviet air support, in turn leading to a direct Soviet-U. S. confrontation).

After that session with army officers, Gen. Fawzi informed Nasser the army would support the cease-fire.

But perhaps the strongest point made by Nasser at the July 24 session with the ASU death with Egypt's precarious economy. Egypt, he said, is at least 50 years behind the developed countries and falling further behind every day. The Egyptian economy cannot improve while war lasts, yet without drastic improvements Egypt cannot compete with the developed world.

If that judgment of Egypt's current situation enhances

The Midi Uber Alles

WASHINGTON — It was the end of the 1970 fall fashion season, and the news on all fronts was bad. The Fuehrer, deep down in his bunker underneath the Seventh Avenue Subway, was reading reports from all parts of the country in rage and frustration.

"Mein Fuehrer," one of his aides told him, "Seventh Avenue is in ruins. The mid-length skirt has bombed. All is lost. We must surrender."

"Don't tell me we have lost the war," the Fuehrer screamed. "We will counterattack. We will punish all those who refuse to wear the midi-skirt!"

Another aide came in. "Good news, mein Fuehrer," he said. "Bonwit Teller reports it has just sold two midis today."

The Fuehrer started to dance a jig. "You see, swine. It is selling! The midi is selling! Today, Bonwit Teller, tomorrow the world."

The Fuehrer went over to his map and stuck two pins in it. "That makes 234 midi-skirts sold this year. I told you the women would go for it."

Another aide came in with a telegram. "Mein Fuehrer, Saks Fifth Avenue has surrendered to the mini forces. So has Macy's, Gimbel's and Bloomingdale's. We cannot hold out much longer. Perhaps we should issue a communique saying that it makes no difference what length a woman's skirt is this year as long as she's happy."

"Never! Never!" screamed the Fuehrer, kicking over chairs and tables. "I decreed that women would wear midis and they will wear midis, whether they like them or not."

Public Forum

To the editor:
What is the city manager's job?

A manager should be a person who can put others to work to get a particular job done. Our city manager has well-qualified department heads. If they have no authority, why keep them?

I fell it is time we got a city manager and council who are men enough to take the blame if it is theirs and stop passing the buck. If they are going to have department heads, and they should, let them have authority and back them up.

The city manager said a few days ago that he knew nothing of firemen being told they could not hold a union meeting at the central fire station, which they should be able to do because of their shift work. A few days later he called a meeting with union officers and said then that it had been city council policy since March that the union not meet there. The reason—because the council was afraid it would be recognizing the union. If the city manager's meeting with union officers is not recognizing the union, what is?

Earlier, the city manager made several statements about a Greenville police officer who had been suspended. First he said the officer's pay was not affected, then stated the suspension was without pay.

I ask him to read the article on Page 10 of the city personnel directory. It says the city manager MAY suspend without pay... not that he has to.

If this was what was done at first, why did it take the city manager and councilmen two hours at midnight to explain this to a group of black citizens?

I wonder what effect this statement changing has on the city employees involved. Certainly it must affect their morale.

Come on, fellows, quit passing the buck and take responsibility. You made the mistakes.

Norlan L. Harrison

The aides looked at each other in hopelessness. The Fuehrer's mistress, who was playing solitaire, looked up from her game. "Perhaps it may be better, liebchen, to give in."

The Fuehrer looked at his mistress and screamed, "Yes, and if I surrender I will be tried as a war criminal and they will hang me. They will say I brought ruin to all of them. The answer is, 'No.' My plan to bring order to the fashion world will triumph. If they do not listen to me, there will be anarchy in the land. What word from Sears, Roebuck?"

An aide came in with the new Sears, Roebuck catalogue.

"They've replaced the midi with pantsuits," the aide said.

Worst Pollution In 'Sameness'

By ELMER ROESSNER
The sameness of the American countryside and its towns and cities may be more deadly than the pollution. The time may come when a group of rebels may arise and scream, "This damn assemblyline country is not worth fighting for!"

This sameness afflicts our highways. The freeways and California. They are lined with the same franchised chicken, hot dog, hamburger and pizza stands and the same billboards in Pennsylvania as they are in New Mexico.

The Landis Memorial
Only the gas stations change from region to region, a memorial to Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis who once split up Standard Oil and set a precedent that keeps other oil companies from national monopolies. But except for a change in color schemes, the gas stations look alike, with the same red pumps, the same pennants, the same bait signs (gas 38 cents with a miniature 9-10 in the corner) and the same rest room doors with a sign saying that the key can be obtained at the office.

There's a small variety in the motels, but from a mile away, or the first sign, a traveler can tell what franchise the next motel operates under. The big difference is usually in whether the motel serves marmalade or currant jelly with toast in the lunchroom. Towns And Cities Worse

The towns and cities suffer an even more deadly sameness. Every town looks the same. There's the Montgomery Ward, the J. C. Penney, the Sears, the Woolworth and several other stores, the scattering of area supermarkets, all looking alike and all with signs in the windows offering young broilers (always tasteless) at 31 cents a pound.

There are the same chains and the same franchised stores. The restaurants, franchised or not, are all alike, all offering portioned food. And there are always the cross streets with a service station on each of the four corners, each offer a different brand of gas but each looking much alike and charging the same prices.

I have traveled every state in the union. Time was when each city and town had a different look, a different smell, a different personality. There were little restaurants that served the food of the area, there were stores where you might be charmed or insulted by the proprietor; there were local hotels, family owned motels, and tourist homes. When you talked to the people, you got real, sincere answers, not the pat lines some franchiser's guide prescribes for tourists.

But today, an astronaut landing in an emergency capsule couldn't tell whether he had come down in Hither, Pa., or Yon, Calif. Maybe we ought to accept that offer of the Indians to take America back.

Japanese Like American Lemons
Since 1964, when Japan removed import restrictions on lemons, demand for American lemons has increased from zero to 41,000 tons last year and 12,000 tons in the first quarter of this year.

Some lemons are grown on islands in the Inland Sea, but these are admittedly inferior to California and Arizona lemons.

Strength For Today

GOOD USE OF TAXES
We live in an age and in a country where education advantages are offered to practically everybody. At first we had only grade schools. High schools then came in, but it was quite a while before high school education was free to anyone who wanted to take it. We are now coming to the regional college wherein anyone may get a college education absolutely free if he or she cares to do so. This is right. The time may even come when on the basis of high academic standing people will receive advanced and professional degrees without tuition. Taxes of course will go under such circumstances, but there is no better use in the world for taxes than to give young people all the education they are capable of taking.

If they want to be graduated without grades then they are asking for something absurd. A person whose brain does not permit him to engage in high intellectual activities or choose a profession should not be allowed to waste the taxpayers' money and come out of professional schools unequipped for the profession he claims to be able to practice.

Education is one of life's greatest blessings. Never has a nation been blessed as our nation is with educational opportunities. Let us have education and more education. Let us never hold anyone back from getting all the education he is capable of handling. But we should be realistic. No one should be able to get away with anything and come out a doctor or a lawyer or an engineer or a teacher or anything else that requires a diploma unless he is capable of earning the degrees he professes to have.

Old Ordinance Is Dead; Cases Are Not Prossed

Greenville's old city ordinance Number 330, designed to regulate parades, group demonstrations and picketing, has been declared unconstitutional by U. S. District Judge John Larkins.

Judge Larkins' decision was contained in an order signed last week. The greatest effect of the order is on cases pending in court for alleged violations of the ordinance.

The federal court order, in addition to finding the ordinance unconstitutional, permanently enjoins the city and state from imposing any sanction for any alleged violation of the ordinance.

The Federal order was rendered in the case of Janet Underwood and others, charged with violating the ordinance by parading without a permit here December 4.

After their arrest, the 27 charged with the December 4 march petitioned the Federal Court to declare the ordinance unconstitutional and to prevent their trial for the alleged violations of the ordinance.

The order issued Thursday by Judge Larkins grants the plaintiffs' requests.

His order said the city and state are "permanently enjoined from imposing any sanction for any alleged violation of Greenville City Ordinance Number 330, and the defendants be and are permanently enjoined from allowing or refusing to allow any parade, march, picket, assemblage or gathering or demonstration under and pursuant to the provisions of . . . ordinance Number 330 which is hereby declared to be and it is unconstitutional on its face and void for vagueness. . . . The federal jurist also said the ordinance had been "adopted unconstitutionally and not in conformity with North Carolina General Statutes. . . ." when it was approved by the City Council December 3, 1969.

In view of the federal order, 27

Lasting Peace Seen Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N. C., just back from a trip to the Arabian nations and Israel, doubts there will be a lasting peace in that area until a satisfactory solution to the refugee problem.

Fountain is chairman of the Near East subcommittee of the House Foreign Affairs committee.

He said the Palestinians want the right to return to Israel on a basis of equality.

He added that the recent plane hijackings indicates the extent to which militant Palestinians will go to sabotage peace.

cases growing out of the December 4 march and pending in District Court were not prossed last week. The order will also affect 30 individuals charged with violating that old ordinance whose cases are pending trial in Pitt County Superior Court. Those 30 were arrested December 13 while marching on Albemarle Avenue near the intersection of Fifth Street.

The fact that ordinance 330 was declared unconstitutional has no effect on the present city ordinance regulating parades, pickets and demonstrations.

The new ordinance, number 337, was approved by the city council March 5, 1970, and replaces the old ordinance 330.

the credibility of his unconditional acceptance of the American peace plan, it also raises a most serious question: why did he violate the standstill and why are shiploads of amphibious equipment and heavy guns being shipped here in large quantities from Russia and Czechoslovakia? The answer to that question requires discussion in a future column.

"Traitors! They will pay for this," the Fuehrer yelled as he started tearing the catalogue to bits. "I made Sears, Roebuck and I will destroy them."

The telephone rang and an aide grabbed it. "Yes, yes. Good, good." Then he turned to the Fuehrer. "It's Orbach's. They have a customer in the store and she's looking at midis."

The Fuehrer started to dance another jig. "The tide is turning," he cried.

"What's that?" the aide said. "Oh." He hung up the phone. "Her husband came in and dragged her out of the store."

The Fuehrer's mistress began to cry. His Alsatian dog, sleeping in the corner, whined.

The teleprinter rang.

An aide went over to the machine. "I. Magnin's, Marshall Field, Lord & Taylor, and J. C. Penney have collapsed. They're all holding fire sales on the midi."

The Fuehrer sank down in his chair. "That does it. No more Mr. Nice Guy."

The Fuehrer's mistress took a bottle of cyandise capsules out of the drawer and placed one in each cupcake. Then she called over the dog and gave him a cupcake. He ate it eagerly and rolled over dead.

She poured out two cups of coffee. She handed the Fuehrer a cupcake. He looked at her and said, "Liebchen, you believed in the midi, didn't you?"

The mistress took the other cupcake. "With my legs, what choice did I have?"

Hijackings Are Center Of United Nations Talk

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) — Talk at the opening session of the 25th U.N. General Assembly centered on the No. 1 international problem of the day—how to stop hijackings of airliners.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Carlos P. Romulo told a reporter after the session began Tuesday that he was "exploring the possibility of having other delegations cosponsor with me a supplementary item on the agenda" dealing with an anti-hijacking proposal made by U.N. Secretary-General U Thant in a speech Monday night.

Replace Burned Bank Building

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A new Bank of America branch is open in the campus community of Isla Vista to replace one burned by young rioters.

In place of a prefabricated building that replaced the building destroyed last spring stands a windowless, $425,000 concrete and steel building in Spanish baroque style.

national tribunal be set up especially to try hijackers and that all countries agree to extradite hijacking suspects for prosecution in the name of the "people of the world."

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost said Tuesday that the question of a tribunal was "complicated," but added, "We ought to look into the hijacking situation and see what we can do."

The hijacking question is not on the assembly's agenda, but it could be added as a supplementary item by majority vote.

The outgoing president of the 80th Book On 80th Birthday

LONDON (AP) — Agatha Christie, the crime story writer, has marked her 80th birthday with the publication of her 80th book, and it's right abreast of the news—about the fictional hijacking of four airliners.

Miss Christie wrote the book months ago. It is called "Passenger to Frankfurt."

"I call the book an extravaganza," she said. But in view of recent headlines, she added, "evidently it is not quite as extravagant or fantastic as I had supposed."

assembly, Angie Brooks of Liberia, raised the hijacking question soon after she called the new session to order Tuesday.

She called the hijacking of aircraft and the kidnaping and killing of diplomats a new threat to international peace and security, and she called for measures "to avert such criminal acts."

She presided until the assembly elected Norwegian Ambassador Edvard Hambro president of the three-month session.

Hambro is the 59-year-old son of the last president of the League of Nations assembly, the late Carl Hambro.

The only announced candidate, he was elected by 122 votes, with one of the 126 U.N. members absent, one abstaining, and one each voting for Ambassadors Jamil Baroody of Saudi Arabia and Jose Pinera of Chile.

Hambro told the assembly that with the world facing overpopulation, pollution, conflict and a threat of nuclear annihilation, "the fragmentary society of yesterday is obsolete."

He said he foresaw an "organized and integrated community... under more effective rules of international law," involving a "steadily expanding network of international organizations" from which "no nation must be excluded."

Staton Will Attend Meet

Dr. Lois Staton, Professor of Education at East Carolina University, is one of 14 key educators invited to participate in a state-wide meeting, discussing the "right to read" program.

The meeting is being held Sept. 16, at Quail Roost, near Durham, and is directed by Mrs. Tora T. Ladu, Division of Languages, State Department of Public Instruction.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss how and what should be done to implement the U.S. Commission of Education's National goal: "by the end of the 1970's, no child should be leaving our schools without the ability and the desire to read to the full extent of his capabilities."

Dr. Staton is scheduled to share her experiences in seeking ways to determine reading achievement, to design a workable program, and to project patterns of articulation from the primary level through the high school.

WORKING FAST

LONDON (AP) — Volunteer archeologists are working hard at a dig in Hertfordshire to beat the advance of a new motorway. Under a field they uncovered a Roman bath house, dating back to the 3rd century.

The dig has unearthed a 20 foot section of the hot room where patrician Romans lolled at leisure during their occupation of Britain.

The bath block is alongside another Roman architectural relic found a year ago.

'Synthetic' Home Rapped

NEW YORK (UPI)—Children who come home to warm homes permeated with the smell of good cooking are less apt to seek sensations such as drug-taking, in the opinion of author and social commentator Sam Levenson.

Levenson, who has written two best sellers on the simple virtues of life, is working on a third book which argues that the "synthetic, automatic, electronic, noise-infested, soot-laden, oxygen-free, peace-free" atmosphere in which children are raised promotes addiction.

"A home should smell like a home," Levenson said. "Children have got to touch, see and feel that they are home. Mothering requires smothering—children whose senses come alive at home do not need to take a trip in search of what is so freely available to them."

"We need to retrace our steps to the days when this kind of home was the rule and not the exception it is today. Too many children do not come home to something cooking in the oven. Over and over they say they 'come home to nobody all the time.'"

Levenson who wrote "Everything But Money" about life in the ghetto and "Sex and the Single Child" about the basic innocence of youth, does not consider the old-style home a universal panacea. But it can, he says, help eliminate the "boredom, loneliness, sense of personal irrelevance and leisure without purpose" that plagues the younger generation.

Jet Wrecks On Landing

NEW YORK (AP) — An Alitalia DC8 jetliner carrying 156 persons skidded off the runway upon landing at Kennedy Airport and split in half. Six crewmen and 71 passengers were injured, 10 requiring hospitalization.

"It's quite a miracle that we have no more injuries than we do," said George Van Epps, the northeast regional chief of the National Transportation Safety Board, which will investigate Tuesday's accident.

The plane, Alitalia's Flight 618 from Rome, was making an instrument landing on schedule at 1:20 p.m. when it touched down "with a bang," according to witnesses.

Soon after, the two starboard engines dropped off, causing the plane to veer or "cartwheel" to the left and off the runway. It split open just aft of the wing bulkhead.

Van Epps attributed the low injury rate to the fact that all passengers were secured with seat belts, the lack of a major fire and the nature of the damage, which allowed easy exit.

Might Prevent Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP) — A million or more American now receive treatment for thyroid deficiency, or hypothyroidism. Some have serious medical conditions such as cretinism or goiter, but most are listless, experiencing weight gains, have scaliness of the skin, a decreased heart output, or reduced sexual drive. Undetected hypothyroidism has also been linked to heart attacks and blood clots in women taking birth control pills.

NEW PARK PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — Buildings along Canal Street will be razed to make way for a new national memorial park in honor of Roger Williams, the founder of Providence. Officials are having trouble, however, locating the spring where Williams declared there would be a city.

Appliance Firm Has New Home

After over 18 years of service at 921 Dickinson Avenue, Greenville TV and Appliance Center has moved to their new location at 200 East Greenville Blvd.

Malcolm C. Williams, owner and operator of the local appliance center, announced that grand opening festivities for the new store have been set for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Williams, an appliance dealer at the Dickinson Avenue store since 1952, noted that the new location affords a substantial increase in space. A recently completed brick structure will house the dealership.

"The added room at the new location will enable us to have a better display of our merchandise, Williams said, and will afford us the opportunity to serve the public more efficiently."

He noted that in addition to added store space at the new center, the change in location will offer more customer parking and convenience. In addition, several offices have been built in the south section of the building and will be rented. The modern facility will handle a full stock of appliances, including portables, along with televisions, stereo units, and air conditioners.

Mrs. Malcolm Williams will serve as secretary and treasurer

Revival Series Now Under Way

Revival services are being held this week at Burney's Chapel Free Will Baptist Church. The Rev. Stephen Jones is conducting the services.

The following choirs are presenting the music: tonight, St. Monica Choir; Thursday, Live Oak Choir of Gritton; and Friday, a guest choir.

On Sunday night, Burney's Chapel pastor, choir and ushers will be in charge of services at Union Grove Church.

at the new store and Mrs. Edna Lemmond will continue her duties as bookkeeper.

Cedric Burroughs, who has been associated with the firm since 1952, is assistant manager and also serves as TV repairman.

Other employees are Kirby Hudson, salesman and appliance repairman; Billy Jones, serviceman; and Tyrone Dancy, serviceman.

Williams' son, Malcolm Jr., plans to return to Greenville and join his father in the business following graduation from college this year. Malcolm Jr. has been working with the firm during the summers between school years.

A native of Edgecombe County, the owner and operator has been a resident of Greenville for 32 years. The Williams' reside on Martinsborough Road.

City Recreation Land Has Passed 100-Acre Mark

Recreation land owned by Greenville has passed the 100 acre mark with the recent acquisition of the 25 acre Evans property on Hooker Road.

In a report prepared by Recreation Department Director Boyd Lee, it is shown that the nine tracts owned by the city for basic recreation purposes, plus the city owned Old Town Commons, which will include recreational oriented facilities, totals approximately 105 acres.

To this is added an area of 17 undeveloped acres at Moyewood, which has been leased by the Housing Authority to the city on a 99 year lease agreement; and three recreational properties on loan by the owners which amounts to a little over one acre of land combined.

Putting these all together, the total acreage available at this time for a variety of recreational purposes for Greenville citizens runs well over 120 acres.

Future plans also call for the purchase of five acres on Golden Road. A request for federal grant to assist in purchase of this property has been made and is under study by the government.

Three of the recreational areas account for the major portion of the total acreage — Green Springs Park with 25.5 acres; the Evans property, 25 acres; and the Old Town Commons (or Shore Drive), 19.03 acres. These three comprise nearly 70 of the approximately 105 acres.

None of these statistics take into account playground areas of the city and private schools, notably Third Street School and

St. Gabriel's Catholic School playgrounds, which are used extensively by children in these areas.

Acreages for parks other than the three largest show: South Greenville Park, 9.1 acres; Elm Street Park, 8.4 acres; Guy Smith, 12.17 acres; Meadowbrook, 1.2 acres; Peppermint Park Playground, 1.14 acres; and Greenfield Terrace, approximately 2 acres.

City owned playgrounds and areas with less than one acre of land are Woodlawn Playground and Hillsdale Playground.

The three areas on loan at no cost to the city each contain less than an acre of land. These are Kittrell - Goodson Playground, Williams Park Playground, and the Lovitt Property.

Land area alone does not give a full picture of the scope of activities conducted on a routine, month in - month out basis by the Recreation Department.

The facilities survey report gives a comprehensive listing of facilities and programs in existence and being used in the recreation areas scattered throughout the city.

This portion of the report shows a substantial variety of recreation time activities available to Greenville citizens:

—Elm Street Park—The Recreation Center includes offices, storage rooms, a kitchen, rest rooms, an arts and crafts section, and games and classes section. The gymnasium offers TV, rest rooms and showers, basketball, volleyball, men's and ladies' exercise classes, table games and a weight training program.

Outdoors there are two Little League fields, a football field, four lighted tennis courts, a Tot Lot playground, two picnic shelters, a Kiwanis train, and a cooking shelter.

While Elm Street Park offers more to choose from than any other facility in Greenville, other areas are also consistently expanding and adding to services offered.

South Greenville Park, with a community center and a gymnasium, has an office, a meeting room, kitchen, storage room, rest rooms, an arts and crafts program, games, and a place for club meetings. Sports offered in the gym includes basketball, exercise classes, and volleyball. Rest rooms and showers are available. Outside activities includes the city's one portable swimming pool, a Tot

Lot and picnic area, and fields for baseball, softball and football.

The smaller park and playground areas feature playground equipment, and in most instances, a metal shelter. Greenfield Terrace Playground has a Little League size ball field.

Guy Smith, the only recreation stadium in the city, seats 1,200 people and has lighted fields for night play — one baseball, two softball, and a Little League field, as well as a quarter - mile tract.

Meadowbrook, north of the Tar River, has a community center complete with kitchen, rest rooms, arts and crafts and games programs, and for outdoor activities there is a Tot Lot and two tennis courts.

No tax money has ever been used for purchase of land, facilities and equipment for these parks and areas. City Manager Harry Hagerty noted "the money all came from non-tax revenues, mostly from utilities money."

President Thanks Brinks Guard For Preventing Hijack Of Plane

CHICAGO (AP) — A Brinks courier who wounded a would-be hijacker aboard an airliner told President Nixon, "I was only doing my job."

The President thanked Robert E. DeNisco, 34, of Brooklyn, N.Y., by telephone Tuesday night. Nixon asked him to give a first-hand account of the episode on the TWA Boeing 707 to federal authorities assembling a force of armed guards to counter airline hijackings.

The incident occurred on a San Francisco airport runway. DeNisco later flew to Chicago where the White House reached him by telephone. DeNisco said Nixon "was very enthusiastic and happy it turned out the way it did."

DeNisco, firing over the heads of other passengers, shot the hijacker, Donald Irwin, 38, of Renda, Calif., in the abdomen with a .38-caliber pistol.

Earlier, Irwin had handed a stewardess a note saying he had a gun and wanted to go to North Korea. Federal authorities said the man, a former mental patient, would be charged with air piracy. He was in critical condition in a hospital.

DeNisco, a veteran of Army service in Vietnam, said that before boarding he had identified himself as a Brinks courier escorting negotiable securities and the airliner crew knew he was armed. He told this story: "The stewardess who gave the note to the captain asked me if I would intercede or extend help."

"Once I was approached I had no second thoughts except for the safety of the passengers, stewardesses and crew members.

"I sat in the aisle about midway in the group of passengers and waited, hoping he would pass me at some point. But he stayed where he was. As a stewardess who was taking a message from him the captain came back past me, she said in a low voice without stopping, 'He is in the aisle—clear.'"

"Then feeling that I had the advantage of surprise, I stepped into the aisle facing the man. I expected when I stood up that this man would immediately start firing at me.

"I yelled in a loud voice, 'Police. Seeing me, the man backed off and started to move out of the aisle to get out of my line of fire and started to reach into his jacket and I fired one shot."

A San Mateo County sheriff's deputy said later the gun Irwin carried was a sports starter's pistol, which normally fires only blanks. The officer said he did not know whether it was loaded.

DeNisco said he had been a military policeman in Vietnam and had undergone extensive marksmanship training.

DeNisco said Nixon "gave me his thanks and said it was an example to everyone and would show that maybe people wouldn't have to fear this happening if they know it can be stopped."

The courier said that in his opinion the San Francisco incident "should be enough of a de-since it is an industry akin to what is already going on," Dr. Bearden continued.

A multi-million dollar investment would be required in plant and equipment for such a manufacturing facility, Dr. Bearden noted. "To replace one billion pounds of tobacco usage would obviously be a significant plant requiring a large investment."

The synthetic product, Dr. Bearden theorized, would probably be used as a blend with natural tobacco and would carry a reduced health hazard.

Dr. Bearden said when Doyno was questioned, he was "vague" but said that "terrent" to stop future would-be hijackers.

"It should never happen again," he said.

"obviously for a company to get into such a product would likely mean that there was some reduction in health hazard or that the cigarette could be manufactured awfully cheap or a combination of both."

One U. S. firm, Celanese Fibers Company, Charlotte, now holds a patent for an "oxidized cellulose tobacco substitute composition".

That patent, issued August 19, 1969, was based in part on claims that the substitute matter could "if desired be blended with other forms of cellulose, polymers or tobacco . . . reduces smoke condensates . . . phenols as well as some of the major molecular components reported as harmful in conventional tobacco smoke."

Dr. Bearden said, Dr. William Roberts, vice-president and technical director for Celanese Fibers in Charlotte, indicated that the question of synthetic tobacco and when a product would be test marketed "was quite sensitive" and had no other comment.

In other conversations with Celanese officials in New York, Dr. Bearden said he was told that the synthetic tobacco would remain in the so called "research stage" until it actually comes to the market.

"An interesting facet of this situation is the fact that there is some existing relationship between Celanese Corporation and ICI," Dr. Bearden explained.

"Fiber Industries is jointly owned by Celanese and ICI. However, ICI indicated that there is no relationship between Celanese's work on a synthetic and ICI's work on a synthetic."

"Someone needs to be looking into the impact synthetic tobacco production would make on Eastern North Carolina, the state and the nation," Dr. Bearden suggested. "It is imperative that we consider what the implication of such a move would be . . . particularly for the region in which tobacco is grown."

Dr. Bearden added, "A synthetic cigarette has been produced, certainly in the laboratory, and I suspect that it has been test marketed without question."

Jim Graham, North Carolina Agriculture Commissioner expressed his concern over the prospect that synthetic tobacco production may be a fact in the near future.

If the report is correct and the product is accepted by the public, Graham said today, "it can have a devastating effect on the economy of North Carolina."

The effect, Graham emphasized, "will not be limited to the farmers of the state, but will be a blow to all our people."

Messick Leaves Position

John A. Messick, director of operations of the Greenville Redevelopment Commission, has resigned his position to accept an offer as associate director of the Wilmington Redevelopment Commission. Messick, who has been with the local commission for five years, submitted his resignation to be effective Oct. 23 but if arrangements can be made with the Wilmington commission, he may remain here on a part-time basis until Nov. 30.

Commission executive director A E Dubber announced that Lawrence D. Holt, real estate officer, will assume the additional responsibility of central business district project manager. A replacement for the real estate position will be named later.

Dubber said that the director of operations position will not be filled immediately. There are several possibilities, he added, but no decision will be made for a successor at this time.

A native of Spencer, Messick has been in Greenville since 1947. He was formerly associated with the Bennett-Messick Insurance Agency and later served as president of the firm.

Scholars . . .

medicine. The son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Worsley, Stephen is a member of the National Honor Society, the Student Council, and is on the swimming team.

The semifinalists were the highest scorers in their states on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, which was given last February to some 710,000 students in 17,000 schools nationwide. They constitute less than one percent of the graduating secondary school seniors in the United States.

Semifinalists must advance to finalist standing to be considered for the Merit Scholarships to be awarded next spring. Semifinalists become finalists by receiving the endorsement of their schools, substantiating their high NMSQT performance on a second examination, and providing information about their achievements and interests.

Set Demonstration On Land-Forming Thursday

Pitt County agricultural extension chairman Ed Yancey reminds farmers and land owners that a land forming demonstration will be held tomorrow on the Marvin Horton farm near Farmville.

Yancey said that the farm may be reached by taking U.S.

264 west from Farmville to state road 1228. Signs will be put up to direct interested persons to the farm, he added. State road 1228 may also be reached by taking the Stantonsburg Road.

The extension chairman noted that work will be in progress all day at the farm beginning at around 8:30 a.m. and persons are invited to attend at any time throughout the day.

A special program has been scheduled for 2 p.m., Yancey said, when agricultural engineering and soil conservation personnel will be on hand. He urged farmers and land owners to attend the 2 p.m. program if possible.

Hospital . . .

was treated there last year — its physical plant is hopelessly outdated.

"The new Pitt County Memorial Hospital is an urgent and immediate need," Dr. Pou explained. "It will have a direct effect on the health of every man, woman and child in the entire county by providing the most modern medical and health care available today. As a county wide project of the first importance, volunteers will be needed from every township and community. All who are willing to help build the new hospital, by working actively with the Citizens' Committee on securing passage of the bond issue November 3, are invited to contact headquarters and offer their services as soon as possible. We have a big job ahead of us."

Several sites are under consideration for location of the new hospital. Decision will be announced as to the exact location in the near future. The architectural firm of Freeman-White Associates hospital specialists, has been selected to draw final plans as soon as the bond issue is voted.

Cost of the new general hospital will be $11,000,000. Of this, $2,000,000 will be made available by the Hill-Burton Program, a federal funding bill.

These federal funds, designed to encourage and assist in the improvement of hospital facilities and care everywhere throughout the nation, will be forthcoming only if the people of Pitt County approve the bond issue.

With Hill-Burton paying about 20 per cent of the total cost of the hospital $9 million must be raised by the proposed tax levy of 46 cents per $100 of property evaluation which runs over a period of 20 years.

Dr. Pou pointed out that "to an owner of a property assessed at $20,000 (tax assessment based on 50 per cent of valuation) the proposed hospital levy will represent the modest amount of only $46 a year."

Cut Down 4

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Police shotgun blasts cut down four Negroes Tuesday night when officers said they tried to firebomb a grocery store near the Black Panther headquarters where police and militants had a gun fight earlier in the day. One man was killed.

The shooting happened at a small corner grocery that gave sanctuary early in the day to two Negro men fleeing from an angry crowd after Black Panthers accused them of being police undercover agents.

"Four New Orleans police officers were assigned to the inside of the store to guard it and when they were fired upon they returned the fire," said Sgt. Frank Hayward, police information officer.

Police said they had stationed four black officers in the store after receiving a tip that it would be firebombed.

Three of the wounded men managed to crawl out of the glare of street lights outside the store. They were picked up and taken to a hospital.

The fourth man lay sprawled in the street for more than two hours as police waited for an armored car so he could be moved without officers being exposed to possible sniper fire.

Charge Assault Jenkins By Local Man

John Willis Jr., 47, of 1217 Davenport St. was charged yesterday with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill after he allegedly assaulted Frank Deiner Jr. at Deiner's Bakery on Dickinson Avenue, where he was employed.

Police investigators quoted Deiner as saying Willis assaulted him with a knife following an argument over Willis' hours of employment.

Deiner suffered cuts to his face, neck and right hand.

The incident occurred about 11:45 a.m.

A FEDERAL CRIME?

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., introduced a bill today to make killing, assaulting or injuring local policemen, firemen and judges a federal crime.

Grifton Bulldogs Lack Depth, Experience, But Determined

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

GRIFTON — The Grifton Bulldogs, playing their final season as a separate team, find themselves thin in numbers and experience, but determined to go out in a bang.

Next season, Grifton, South Ayden and Ayden high schools will merge into the consolidated Grifton-Ayden High School, and move into 3-A competition. So this is the last chance for the Bulldogs to do anything in the Tobacco Belt Conference.

"We have a good nucleus for this year," Coach Claude Kennedy said, "but that's it. We've lost some valuable people, and we are thin in experience and depth."

There are nine lettermen back for the Bulldogs this year, and six of those were starters. They include Billy Edwards, an offensive end; Mike Foss, a defensive end; Jimmy Brown, an offensive tackle and defensive guard; Doug Edwards, center; Mike Coles, fullback and defensive halfback, and Mike Tyndall, offensive halfback and linebacker.

Several of these, however, have been switched to new positions. Billy Edwards will also handle a defensive halfback slot, while Foss moves into an offensive tackle spot. Brown will switch from guard to tackle on defense, while Doug Edwards also takes on the middle guard position.

Coles, who is out injured, is expected to take over at a linebacker spot when he returns, with Tyndall the only player who has the same assignments as last year.

"The two factors of depth and experience seem to be the key," Kennedy said. "After we get some experience, we should improve. Mike Jackson, our quarterback, played his first varsity game against Saratoga and did a very good job. Another fellow, Rich Ricciarelli, has looked good at the halfback spot.

Kennedy feels that the fundamentals, blocking and tackling, are one field where the Bulldogs must show improvement if they are to be successful. This was quite evident against Saratoga, but really work on the passing game as much as we want to."

At the tackles are Jimmy Brown and Foss. "We have good experience here, and Brown gives 110 percent all the time."

H.J. Smith and Donnie Purser are the guards, while Doug Edwards returns at the center slot. "Edwards is only a sophomore, but he's real solid and probably our hardest hitter."

Jackson, a junior, is the quarterback, and Kennedy feels that he will be more than adequate with some experience. "He can run, too."

At the backs are Coles and Ricciarelli, along with Eddie McCullen and Melvin Chapman, while Tyndall handles the fullback slot.

"Once we get squared away, I feel we'll be able to move the ball fairly well. Right now, our defense is a little ahead of our offense."

"But really, it's kind of hard to say. We may really be a little stronger on defense than we were last year," Kennedy added.

Handling the defensive jobs are Foss and Herring at the ends, Brown and Jimmy Davis at the tackles, Doug Edwards and Kenny Arnold at guards, Tyndall and Purser at linebacker, and Ricciarelli and Billy Edwards at halfback with Jackson at safety.

"Just about everybody will go both ways. We need to develop depth all around, and injuries will kill us," Kennedy said.

Tobacco Belt

showed progress in the victory over Aurora. "This will come with experience," the coach said.

Kennedy feels also that Grifton has run through a cycle of players and that they are in another cycle. This time, those who could be playing football have other things on their mind rather than football.

Kennedy feels that the team's overall speed is not too bad. "Our guards needs more speed. We have good quickness in the line, but we're not making real good contact. Tyndall is probably our biggest threat in the backfield as a breakaway runner."

Running down his offensive setup, Kennedy has Billy Edwards, a veteran and Jim Herring at ends. "Both have fair hands," Kennedy said, "but we haven't had an opportunity to airport, which means busing the players. We're concerned for the players because we won't get back until 1 a.m. Sunday anyway and an hour or more bus trip would make things even worse. I have lunch with George McClelland, executive sports editor of the Norfolk Virginian - Pilot, who is spending the day with us. Then, the afternoon practice which, for the first time, omits wind sprints. After the long pre-season practice, the players' legs are beginning to lose a little spring. Now we need to rest them a little, to freshen their legs for Saturday night.

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 10 — Classes begin. Several of my assistants are teaching classes this fall and they spend the morning organizing and planning their classes for next few days. I cut tape with Dick Jones, sports director of WITN-TV in Washington. In the afternoon I do a radio tape with Jim Woods, sports director of WNCT here in Greenville. Congressman Jones calls to say

This week, Grifton takes on Bath, which was beaten last week by Vanceboro. "They have a good sized club, and their quarterback likes to run off the power-I. They also have a good receiver whom they send straight down the field on the wide side."

Robersonville, coming off a 15-8 victory over Chocowinity, feels good about its game. "We scored four times, but had two called back on penalties. I thought we played a lousy game because of the penalties. We moved the ball well, but we also got a lot of injuries. None however, should bother us," Noland Respess, the Ram coach, said.

"Chocowinity hits hard, and they looked good. We managed to control the game, but we didn't execute as well as we should have."

This week, Robersonville goes against Aurora, which lost its last two outings. "They've had their problems. They don't have a lot of size, and I understand one of their top players is injured."

Besides the Grifton and Robersonville wins, Saratoga downed Elm City, 34-0, Belhaven topped Mattamuskeet, 12-6, and Vanceboro beat Bath, 32-8, in conference games.

This week, Mattamuskeet is at Saratoga, Elm City at Belhaven, Dixon at Chocowinity, Farmville at Vanceboro, Bath at Grifton, Aurora at Robersonville.

The current Tobacco Belt standings:

On the Sidelines with Mike McGee

Head Football Coach - East Carolina University

Last week was a busy one here at East Carolinas we prepared for our first game of the season against Toledo. Many fans have asked me what a typical week is like for a college football team. They realize there's a lot more to football than the game on Saturday, but aren't sure just what preparing for a game entails. So, I offer this "diary of Toledo week" here at ECU.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 6 — Meet with my assistant coaches at 12:30 p.m. My brother, Jerry, in charge of scouting Toledo, has studied films of their last four 1969 regular season games plus Tangerine Bowl (in which Toledo beat Davidson 56-33) and their spring game. Has compiled 80 - page scouting report. We go over this report until 4 p.m. when we meet the players. Hand out the first few pages of this scouting report and show them one reel of the Gangerine Bowl film. We're trying to get their minds on Toledo. When the meeting ends at 6 p.m. they go to supper, carrying with them a report on Toledo's personnel.

The report on quarterback Chuck Ealey reads: "Heart of offense. . . very quick. . . dangerous scrambler. . . must be contained." The players have the night off—to think about Toledo.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 7— Labor Day for coaches means coming to work at 7:30 a.m. and going until 11 p.m., a schedule that's kept up all week. The players all housed in New Men's Dorm, are allowed to sleep until 8 a.m. Al Ferguson, our offensive line coach, who lives in the dorm, has been waking them up at 6:30 each morning since pre - season drills began. Work out for 45 minutes in shorts in mid - morning, working on kicking game. Then it's lunch in Pirate's Room, painted purple and gold and used exclusively for the players. After lunch they rest until our run practice. We work offense against Toledo's defenses and run Toledo's 10 favorite plays over and over against our defense. Practice lasts until five o'clock, ending with wind sprints. Team meeting at 7:15. Players get rest of scouting report. Players are curious about Toledo.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 8 — Students arriving in Greenville. Players spend morning seeking that their fees are paid.

Coaches work on such diverse things as how to beat Toledo blitz, studying out-of-town newspapers for bits of information on prospects and making up a tentative traveling squad. We'll carry 75 on the flight including 44 players. We'll need to train some players for several positions, due to uncertain injury status. No. 3 quarterback Pete Woolley is one such player. We decide to use him at fullback. Also, the mother of one of our defensive players is seriously ill and this may cause this young man to miss the trip. As a result, David Glosson, one of our reserve defensive ends is switched to second team, middle line - backer behind Ralph Betesh. In the afternoon we run through our longest practice of the week, an hour and 50 minutes. We break our offense into small groups to drill on blocking techniques against particular Toledo defenses. That evening we have another team meeting. The players are starting to get keyed up.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 9 — Campus is really alive with students now. Players who haven't pre - registered for their classes spend morning working out class scheduling. Others talk with the Football team Academic Counselor, Bill Dickens. Coaches finalize game plan. A snag develops in travel plans, however, Southern Airways, with whom we are chartering plane, calls from Atlanta to say they can't land or take off in Greenville because there is no weather reporting station at airport. I call Jim Darden, the operator of the Greenville airport, who immediately goes to work on the problem. A call is made to Congressman Walter Jones in Washington, who also gives his attention to the problem. If we can't use the Greenville airport, we'll have to use an alternate

The State Champs

The Greenville Tar Heel Little League team, which won the state title earlier this summer, was honored last week at a dinner at which the pennant and the tournament trophies were presented. Members of the team are, first row, left to right, Manager Ronald Vincent, Jim Wilkerson, James Weeks, Ricky

Greene Central Opens Conference Schedule

Surprising Farmville finds itself all alone on top of the Eastern Plains Conference after two weeks of play, while neighboring Greene Central is showing signs of becoming tougher each week.

The Red Devils polished off their second straight conference win Friday night by dropping Southern Nash, 34-0. The win left them a half-game ahead of Northern Nash and North Lenoir, both of which won their first loop game. North Lenoir bopped Hobbs, 13-0, while Northern Nash trimmed Charles

B. Aycock, 26-7.

In the two non-conference games over the weekend, Greene Central won its first of the year, downing Pamlico County, 18-10, while Southern Wayne also got its first victory,

Eastern Plains

27-8, over James Kenan.

Farmville coach Gene Brewer said he was pleased with the work of his Red Devils. "I thought we were more aggressive this week. We had better blocking, and we had our backs moving well. Overall, I thought we did a pretty good job."

"There is still a lot of room for improvement," he added. "Southern Nash didn't play as well against us as they need against Aycock, but I must admit that we've come quite a ways."

Brewer said that he thought the defense did a pretty good job. "They got to the 20 only once, and we threw them back to the 40 after that."

The Red Devils, who played the game without Mark Oglesby and Greg Taylor, both out with injuries, expect to have all at full strength for this week's game with Vanceboro.

"They are tough," Brewer said of his upcoming foe. Vanceboro is the defending Tobacco Belt Conference champion, and is currently 2-0 for the year, rolling to easy wins over Aurora and Bath. "They have a senior club with plenty of experience. They lost only two or three off last year's team."

The man Farmville must stop is Roland Hooks. "We understand that he's a good college prospect, and a real good all-around athlete."

Greene Central meanwhile, continues to flex its improving muscle. "We played only half of the game," Coach Stewart Smith said. "We looked real good in the first half, running up an 18-0 lead. But we ran out of gas after that and they came back. We just need to be in better condition."

"We did everything right in the first half, and everything wrong in the second. We could have done a lot better job," he added.

Johnny Earl Johnson was the only player injured, spraining an ankle, but he is expected to be ready to go this Friday against Aycock. "Pamlico was 20 pounds heavier than us, and this helped to wear us down, and cause some light injuries."

McGee

the Weather Bureau in Raleigh will send weatherman to Greenville so that Southern Airways can take off and land here. In afternoon the traveling squad of 44 players is posted. Practice is light, planned to last only an hour and 10 minutes but extended 25 minutes because of some technical problems we're having. Players seem to have lost a concentration with all the activity connected with the start of classes.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 11—Travel Day. Players go to morning classes, then meet coaches for 11:15 a.m. lunch in the Pirates Room. We take a bus to the airport and board the Southern jet under gray, overcast skies. At 12:01 we're off ground and at 1:25 we're back on the ground—in Toledo. At 5:30 we have a buffet dinner in motel, then board bus again for a trip to Glass Bowl where we hold a very light workout for our backs and receivers to get them accustomed to lighting. Then back to the motel for a team meeting. At 11 p.m. the lights are out. In the motel lounge Count Basie and his band are going strong. But our thoughts are on the Toledo Rockets.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 12—A long day of waiting for the 8 o'clock game. We have a squad meeting in the morning then players relax in their rooms until a 3:30 pre-game meal. After the meal we show two reels of Toledo film. (The Toledo study film had been left behind in Greenville, but Carl Woxman, a Greenville businessman, flew up Saturday for the game and brought it with him.) Our trainer, Rod Compton, starts taping the players after the

Pirates, Cubs Claim Victories, Mets Are Beaten; Perry Chalks Up 21st Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
One, two, three.
The Pittsburgh Pirates, Chicago Cubs and New York Mets are doing their number. The names and places may change ... but the characters usually remain the same. Willie Stargell stayed in character with a three-run homer that powered Pittsburgh over Philadelphia 8-3; Billy Williams did his hitting thing to pace Chicago over St. Louis 5-3 and Montreal tripped New York 5-4 on an uncharacteristic bad pitch by Jerry Kosman in the National League's dramatic East race Tuesday.

The Pirates thus pulled a full game ahead of the Cubs and Mets, who changed places after Tuesday's developments. Chicago is now second, less than a percentage point over third-place New York.

"I liked the way we bounced back after Sunday's game," said Pirate Manager Danny Murtaugh, referring to Pittsburgh's 3-2 loss at Chicago when Matty Alou dropped a two-out fly in the ninth. "We disregarded Sunday and went out and played like nothing happened."

Williams, who capped that rally Sunday with a two-run double, took advantage of another misplayed ball to drive in the tie-breaking run Tuesday with a sixth-inning single.

"To win, you have to take advantage of the breaks," said Williams.

And Kosman, who let Tuesday's game get away by gifting the Expos with a wild-pitch tying run in the 10th before they scored the clincher, had this refrain:

"I'll probably replay that last wild pitch throughout the winter. It's the type of thing you can't forget." Houston rolled over West Division-pacing Cincinnati 9-2, San Francisco hammered Atlanta 8-0 and the Los Angeles Dodgers edged San Diego 5-4 in other National League games.

In the American League, New York swept a two-night doubleheader from Boston 8-6 and 3-2; Baltimore turned back Washington 6-2; Cleveland beat Detroit 4-3; Minnesota won the opener of a doubleheader from California 7-5 and the Angels took the second game 5-3; and Milwaukee and Oakland split a pair—the Brewers taking the opener 1-0 and the A's the second game 6-5. Rain washed out Chicago at Kansas City.

Bill Mazerowski, who had a solo homer along with Rich Hebner in Pittsburgh's long-ball offense at Philadelphia, expressed sentiments similar to Murtaugh's.

"We could have had a letdown after Sunday," the Pirates' magic-glove second baseman said, "it could have worked either way ... but it worked for the best."

Stargell's 30th homer off Barry Lersch got Pittsburgh off to a 3-0 lead in the first and Hebner and Maz jolted successive homers in the fifth.

Gaylord Perry pitched his third straight shutout for the Giants as he stopped slugging Atlanta on four hits.

Sports Medicine Conference Topic

A Sports Medicine Conference will be held Saturday and Sunday at East Carolina University, in conjunction with the Pirate-East Tennessee football game, set for Saturday night.

The conference has been endorsed by the National Athletic Trainer Association, the Committee on Medical Aspects of Sports of the Medical Society of the State of North Carolina; and the Pitt County Medical and Dental Society.

The conference is designed to provide insights into training as an important and necessary part of any organized athletic program. Also the conference will provide information that will encourage the establishment of training programs where they currently are not used.

The conference also hopes to improve the competence of trainers, coaches and others concerned with the car and prevention of athletic injuries. Registration for the conference is $20, which includes lunch and tenner Saturday, breakfast and lunch Sunday, and a ticket to the ECU-ETSU football game.

Among featured speakers will be Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina University; Frank Freeman, area representative of Cramer Products, Inc.; Dave Thomas, National Sales Manager of Bike Division of the Kendall Co.; Mike McGee, ECU head football coach; Dr. M. W. Aldridge, periodontist; Dr. Howard Gratis, ECU team physician; Dr. James Bowman, orthopedic surgeon; Dr. Ira Hardy, neurosurgeon; Rod Compton, ECU head trainer; Dennis Davis of the Department of Physical Therapy, ECU.

All sessions of the conference will be held in Minges Coliseum, with meals in Jones Cafeteria.

Further information can be had by contacting the Division of Continuing Education at the university.

Biologist Joins ECU Medical Core Faculty

Dr. Irvin Emmett Lawrence, Jr. has joined the East Carolina University School of Allied Health and Social Professions as part of the core faculty for the development of a two-year medical school. Dr. Lawrence holds degrees in zoology, ecology and anatomy from the Universities of North Carolina, Wyoming and Kansas. He has also studied in the Viktor Hamburger School of Experimental Embryology under the direction of Byron Wenger and has done additional research under a grant from the National Institute of Health. Prior to his appointment to the medical faculty, Dr. Lawrence was associate professor in the ECU Department of Biology. He has taught at the University of Wyoming and at Lousburg College.

Calls In SBI

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott has asked U. S. Atty. Gen. John Mitchell to investigate what Scott says "appears to be a flagrant violation of the Hatch Act" by R. Frank Everett of Martin County. The act forbids soliciting of-ficeholders for political contributions.

Scott said Tuesday night that Everett, a Republican congressional candidate, sent a letter last April 8 to census workers asking them to purchase and sell tickets to a rally planned for state Republican Chairman Jim Holshouser May 9.

At the time, Everett was serving as federal census coordinator in the 17-county First district.

Scott told a Democratic rally in behalf of Congressman Walter Jones that he had sent a telegram to Mitchell requesting an investigation.

Holshouser charged last Friday that employees at the Broughton Hospital at Morganton have been pressured into making contributions to the Democratic party. He called for an SBI investigation of his charges.

Primarily interested in histology and embryology, Dr. Lawrence has had experience in the fields of human heredity, human anatomy and organic evolution.

The results of his observations of mutant varieties of the developing chicken comb have been published in zoology journals.

Dr. Lawrence is a member of the New York Academy of Sciences, the Society of Developmental Biology, the American Society of Zoologist, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the International Society for Stereology and the Society of Sigma XI.

Resigns To Take
Post In Georgia

RALEIGH (AP) — Dr. Glen I. Freeman Jr. has resigned as superintendent of Broughton Hospital at Morganton to accept a position with the Georgia Department of Mental Health.

His resignation, effective Sept. 30, was submitted to the state commissioner of mental health, Eugene Hargrove, in a letter dated Sept. 1.

Freeman said he expects to report to his Georgia post Oct. 1. He will be director of the community services branch.

NEW BOOKS
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Louie B. Nunn has asked the state Board of Education to consider adopting a series of textbooks on conservation and the environment.

MOTHERHOOD FOR ACTRESS — Tina Louise, shapely redhead who has epitomized sex in films and television, discusses forthcoming birth of her first child. (AP Wirephoto)

Tina 'Expecting' And Divorcing

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "I've had good experiences and bad experiences all my life, plenty of both. But this one is going to be good — I'm convinced of that." Tina Louise, the shapely redhead who has epitomized sex in films, "Li'l Abner" and television, "Gilligan's Island," was reflecting about her unusual situation: she is expecting her first child on Oct. 23; she recently filed for divorce from television personality Les Crane.

The prospect of facing a fatherless birth doesn't seem to faze her.

"Of course it's not easy," she remarked at the Hidden Valley home where she lives alone.

"There are times when I become overwhelmingly lonely. But I've entered a new phase: the baby is kicking now. That becomes a reminder that it will all be worth it."

Miss Louise has always been a frank and open talker, but she was strangely silent about the details of her parting with Crane. She said only that they both were aware of the pregnancy before they separated—"the rest is too personal to talk about."

She feels that under the relaxed California law, she probably would have qualified for an abortion. She declined to have one.

"I was told that due to my own physiological condition, I might not be able to have another baby if I submitted to an abortion," she said. "I wasn't willing to risk that. I had been waiting too many years to have a child of my own."

Too rounded to accept acting roles, she is spending her time waiting. One of her pastimes is yoga. She conducts classes twice weekly and maintains her own daily regimen of exercises. During the entire time we chatted, she sat on her bed in the usual cross-legged fashion—"it's the most comfortable position I know." Her single state, Miss Louise believes, will be temporary.

"It's not as though I rushed from one marriage to another," she said. "I waited a long time before I married, and Les and I were together for five years. "I believe in marriage, and I feel sure that another man will come along who will want to marry me. Then the baby will be lucky enough to have two fathers."

Diseases Of Affluence

JOHANNESBURG (UPI) — South Africa's black population has begun to suffer from the white man's "diseases of affluence," according to Dr. Henry Seftel, senior physician at Johannesburg's Non-European Hospital.

Seftel told a medical meeting that Western communities throughout the world were experiencing diabetes, obesity, coronary heart disease and high blood pressure "in epidemic proportions." All are largely the result, he said, "of sloth and gluttony." And he added:

"We are witnessing the beginning of a similar epidemic in our urbanized semi-westernized African population. Already diabetes appears to be as common among them as it is in whites.

"Obesity is very common — the fattest women in the world today are found in the African townships of Johannesburg. And when we study this first generation of Africans with heart attacks we find they have the same characteristics as the whites."

The insulin level in a person's body might be an important factor in causing these diseases, Seftel said, and unlike their rural counterparts, the urbanized African who suffered from any of the "sloth and gluttony" diseases also had high insulin levels.

"I believe," he said, "that the lower incidence of diabetes among Africans is going to be a thing of the past, and this gives some idea of the public health problems facing this country with the emergence of the Westernized African."

Miner May Lose Limbs

HENDERSON, N. C. (AP) — Doctors studied today whether they would be able to save the legs of a miner trapped for 10 hours under 10 feet of slush and rock at the 1,500-foot-level of a tungsten mine.

The miner, Richard Owens, 36, of Dabney, N. C., had been working on top of a waste chute when an air pocket gave way and he fell face down.

He was able to breathe because of the air spaces in the slurry at the Ranchers Development and Exploration Co. mine at nearby Townsville.

Rescue workers, who used their hands and buckets as well as shovels, said the slush kept falling, and by the time they got to him he was 15 feet down in the chute.

Dr. J. P. Green, who stayed in the mine with the rescuers, said that X-rays showed no fractures of Owens' spine and legs. But the physician said the leg muscles had been severely bruised, and it probably would be Thursday before he would know whether the legs could be saved.

Owens was taken to a hospital in Henderson, north-central North Carolina, near the Virginia line.

Tungsten, a metal with a very high melting point, is used in electric-light filaments, sparking points for automobiles, and electric contacts. It also is used as an alloy for steel.

Gatling Gun's Inventor Was N.C. Native

"The Light of History"
By H. G. Jones
N.C. Dept. Archives & History
Written for The AP

RALEIGH (AP) — Richard Jordan Gatling, a native of North Carolina whose inventions ranged from toilets to torpedo boats, is best remembered for his "labor saving device for killing"—the rapid fire gun which bore his name.

He was born on Sept. 12, 1818, at Maney's Neck in Hertford County.

His first job — copying records for his great-uncle who was clerk of court — lasted about a year, and it was during this time that he began his career as an inventor. The government was seeking a new system for powering warships, and, as a boy of 17, Richard Gatling developed the concept of the screw propeller and built a model which he presented to the patent office. Unfortunately, someone else had the same idea a few months earlier and had applied for a patent only a matter of days before.

Gatling produced his second most famous and profitable invention in 1839 when he was 21 and still living in North Carolina. Originally patented as a rice planter, he later modified it for use as a "wheat drill," a planting device producing higher yield from fewer seed. Five years later he moved to St. Louis, and by 1845 he was profitably manufacturing his planter on a full-time basis. Eventual profits are said to have been a "fortune."

Richard Gatling's most widely known invention and his primary claim to fame was prompted by the outbreak of the Civil War in 1861. Though the history of multibarrelled weapons of sorts dates from before the eighth century B. C., there was no satisfactory rapid fire gun available when the War Between the States began.

The original Gatling Gun, patented Nov. 4, 1862, could fire 200 rounds per minute. Plagued with operating problems, the gun was not readily accepted by the military, though some were used during the Civil War. After considerable refinement, the United States government officially adopted the Gatling Gun Aug. 24, 1866. With this mark of acceptance, a world-wide market was developed rapidly, with Russia leading the way for the major European powers to adopt the gun the following year.

During the last 15 years of Gatling's life, while continuing to make refinements on his famous gun, he also invented a diversity of things including a torpedo boat, a toilet flushing mechanism, a bicycle which could be powered by the handle bars as well as the pedals, and a steam tractor.

Richard Jordan Gatling died on Feb. 26, 1903, at the age of 84, and is buried in Indianapolis, Ind. He was still a wealthy man, though he is said to have lost over $2,000,000 in development and promotion of his latter inventions. After 45 years of service, the Gatling Gun was declared obsolete by the U. S. Army in 1911 — an action already taken by most of the foreign powers.

Go-Ahead On New Village

RALEIGH (AP) — A group of developers can proceed to incorporate a new village called Indian Hills on the outskirts of the Cherokee Indian Reservation in Jackson County.

The North Carolina Municipal Board of Control, for the second time, gave the go-ahead Tuesday for the village to be given the name.

The Cherokees had objected to the word "Indian" being used in any town so near the reservation. They contended the new town would capitalize on the Cherokee village's reputation as a tourist attraction.

After the board's first ruling in favor of the developers, the Cherokees appealed to the courts. The case was remanded back to the Municipal Board of Control recently by the State Court of Appeals.

The court said the board had not answered the important question of whether the proposed new town would be within the three-mile limit of an existing municipality.

The board said Tuesday the new village would be within three miles of Cherokee, but the Indians' town is not an incorporated municipality within the statutory definition. The board held the nearest incorporated town is Dillsboro, 11 miles away.

State Continues A Defendant

GREENSBORO (AP) — State education officials are still defendants in the Winston-Salem-Forsyth County school desegregation suit following a ruling by U. S. Dist. Judge Eugene A. Gordon.

Judge Gordon refused Tuesday to remove the North Carolina Board of Education and Dr. A. Craig Phillips, state superintendent of public instruction, as defendants. Last June 25, Gordon granted a motion to dismiss the state board and Phillips, but on Aug. 17, he reinstated them as defendants.

The latest request for dismissal was based on a contention that the court lacked jurisdiction to reinstate them. The suit was brought by a group of Negroes who named Phillips and the state board along with the Winston-Salem and Forsyth County Board of Education.

DISARMAMENT — The 60-man Swiss Guard which wears body armour and plumed helmets, left, was the only one of four Vatican guard corps that escaped disbanding under an order Tuesday by Pope Paul VI. The Vatican's 145 gendarmes, center; 500 palace guards (right) and 45 noble guards, not shown, no longer will be seen. The Pontiff explained that the guards "no longer correspond to the needs for which they were founded." (AP Wirephoto)

Incumbents See Primary Wins

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer

Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington easily defeated black, anti-war opponents in Democratic primaries for the Senate, while Sen. Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland overcame a surprisingly stiff conservative challenge.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy won without opposition, and Sen. John O. Pastore of Rhode Island overwhelmed a token foe in primaries Tuesday for five Senate seats the Democrats hope to retain in November.

Two Democratic governors, Marvin Mandel of Maryland and Frank D. Licht of Rhode Island, were renominated, and gubernatorial nominees were also selected in Massachusetts, Minnesota and Oklahoma.

Tuesday's voting was the last big round of primaries before the Nov. 3 general election.

In Massachusetts, Boston Mayor Kevin H. White, 44, led state Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, 52, in the bitter, four-way Democratic fight for the gubernatorial nomination against Republican Gov. Francis W. Sargent, 55. He was unopposed for renomination.

In the same state, Rep. Philip Philbin, 72, a 28-year House veteran and second senior Democrat on the Armed Services Committee, was ousted from Congress by the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, 47, a Jesuit priest who ran on an antiwar platform.

In Maryland, veteran Rep. George H. Fallon, 68, chairman of the House Public Works Committee, was unseated by Paul S. Sarbanes, 37, a state legislator from Baltimore. But Rep. Samuel D. Friedel, 72, chairman of the House Administration Committee, won a squeaker over Parrran J. Mitchell with a final, but unofficial, count of 23,491 votes to 23,309.

Humphrey, 59, scored a smashing 3-1 margin victory over black studies instructor Earl D. Craig Jr., 31, to capture the Democratic nomination for the Minnesota Senate seat being vacated by Democrat Eugene J. McCarthy.

Humphrey's Nov. 3 GOP foe will be Rep. Clark MacGregor, 47, who easily outdistanced a lone opponent. Polls show Humphrey running ahead of MacGregor in his bid to return to the Senate, where he served for 16 years until elected vice president in 1964.

Jackson, 58, jumped into an early 7-1 margin lead over Carl Maxey, a 46-year-old Spokane attorney who said he will announce Friday whether he will support Jackson in November.

State Sen. Charles Elicker, 44, a Bainbridge Island nursing home operator backed by top Republican leaders, led the GOP primary.

Tydings, 42, trailed perennial office-seeker George P. Mahoney, 69, on early returns from Maryland's rural counties. But once the tally mounted from Montgomery and Prince Georges counties in the Washington suburbs and the city of Baltimore, the liberal senator jumped into the lead and pulled away.

The senator's November opponent will be freshman Rep. J. Glenn Beall Jr., 43, son of the man Tydings unseated in 1964. Beall overwhelmed two opponents.

Kennedy, 38, will be opposed by Josiah Spaulding, a liberal Republican and former Massachusetts GOP chairman. He defeated John D. McCarthy, a conservative, in the Republican senatorial primary.

Pastore, 63, overwhelmed a minor opponent. His Republican rival, the Rev. John J. McLaughlin, 43, a Jesuit priest, was unopposed.

The Massachusetts Democratic contest was the only close race for governor.

Thirty-five of West Virginia's 55 counties produce coal.

How to get the most out of a bag of sugar.

- 1. Be creative. Start with any of these mouthwatering ways to do dessert, salad and more you've got one listed, try another.
- 2. Write. Write "Sweet Things Recipes" Box 339, Savannah, Ga. 31402. We'll send you a free recipe book.
- 3. Save Bonus Gifts. Bonus gifts on every bag. They're as good as money.
- 4. Always buy the bag. That says Dixie Crystals Sugar. If you're looking for a little more than just sugar.

Sweet'n Sour Cherries
To 1 pt. sour cream add 1/2 cup Dixie Crystals granulated sugar and 1 tsp almond extract. Stir in 2 cups sweetened condensed milk. Chill. Serves 4.

Peanut Butter Fudge
In a saucepan combine 2 cups Dixie Crystals granulated sugar, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup white corn syrup, dash of salt. Boil over medium heat until soft ball stage, stirring occasionally. Remove from heat, add 1/2 lb. peanut butter, 1/2 lb. margarine, 1/2 tsp vanilla. Beat until thickened and creamy; pour into a buttered dish (8x8 in). When firm cut in squares.

Sugar Phlores
Dip clean dry phlores into slightly beaten egg white. Let stand for short time on waxed paper. Sprinkle generously or roll in Dixie Crystals granulated sugar. Keep in dry, cool place.

The Worry Clinic 'Hospitalitis' Cost Stressed

Dr. Amos Johnson is stressing one of the greatest threats to our country today. It is "hospitalitis." At the present hysterical rate of rushing into hospitals for minor treatment (which General Practices could render more efficiently in their offices or your homes), Medicare will bankrupt Uncle Sam and produce more regimentation, via compulsory health insurance!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.D.

CASE O-532: Sam G., aged 28, is an irate taxpayer.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "you always stress 'horse sense' and have often mentioned in your column in our Charlotte NEWS that thousands of patients are occupying hospital beds unnecessarily.

"Well, Dr. Amos Johnson, of our state, certainly stresses the same idea.

"He was former president of the American Academy of General Practice, so he also knows whereof he speaks.

"And Dr. Johnson estimates that about 30 percent of hospital

Simply that God Almighty endowed your body with the mechanisms to heal itself 85 percent of the times.

These illnesses that are God-healed don't mean just psychosomatic or imaginary ailments.

No, they also include, "flu," food poisoning and dozens of other minor upsets that a good dose of epsom salts or a few days of bedrest would cure.

And one-third of those remaining 15 percent, the doctors can't cure anyway, so you die, despite X-ray, breast or prostate removal, etc.

Remember, over 300,000 cancer patients in the U.S.A. die EVERY YEAR, though most of

Natural Gas Companies Say Shortages Possible

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's five major natural gas companies say they will have difficulty in trying to meet service demands this winter if the weather is as cold as it was last winter.

Because of the possibility of shortages, the companies proposed Tuesday that they be allowed to restrict new customers. In some cases they want to be permitted to cut off gas temporarily to commercial and industrial customers on peak demand days this winter.

The companies are Public Service Gas Co. of Gastonia, Piedmont Natural Gas of Charlotte, North Carolina Natural Gas of Fayetteville, the North Carolina Division of Pennsylvania and Southern Gas Co. of Reidsville, and the United Cities Gas Co. of Hendersonville.

Spokesmen for the five companies said the low gas supply is due to the inability of Transcontinental Gas Pipeline Co. of Texas to supply them with sufficient gas to meet service demands.

—Large, then small industrial customers whose contracts do not call in advance for any service interruptions.

—Schools, churches, hospitals and public buildings.

—Residential heating.

The commission will consider Tuesday's testimony before either calling the companies for another hearing, or issuing an order outlining rules on service curtailments this winter.

Judges Will Attend Meet

Superior Court Judges Robert D. Rouse Jr., of Farmville, and Marvin K. Blount Jr., of Greenville, are scheduled to attend a two-day seminar this weekend in Wrightsville Beach.

Judge Rouse, resident judge of this district, and Judge Blount, a special judge, will meet with other North Carolina Superior Court judges to review sentencing procedures during the Friday and Saturday session.

The seminar is being sponsored by the North Carolina Committee on Law and Order, the N.C. Conference of Superior Court Judges, and the Institute of Government, Chapel Hill.

The keynote speaker will be Judge Griffin B. Bell, U.S. Court of Appeals, Fifth Judicial Circuit, Atlanta, Ga. His Friday night address will be "Storm Over the Courts — Refurbishment or Ferment".

Topics to be covered by other speakers include "The System of Criminal Correction in North Carolina"; "A Philosophy of Sentencing"; "Model Sentencing Act — Its Application in North Carolina" and "Selecting the Disposition."

PLANNING MEET
JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Directors of state law enforcement planning agencies in eight Southeastern states, including North Carolina, will hold a three-day conference here opening September 24.

They are receiving all the benefits of modern medical science!

And another one-third of the patients who don't cure themselves, must take insulin or sedatives or nitroglycerine tablets and digitalis all their lives.

So why break the back of taxpayers by lying on $100-a-day hospital beds when you have just as good beds at home?

The crying medical need nowadays is for big doses of "horse sense" to combat the fad of rushing to hospitals for "observation" and "bed-rest."

Wright Trophy Winner Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — C. R. Smith, retired airline president and former secretary of commerce under President Lyndon B. Johnson, was named today as winner of the Wright Brothers Memorial Trophy, a top aviation award.

The 71-year-old former American Airlines head will be honored at the annual Wright Memorial dinner here Dec. 17.

Frederick B. Lee, president of the National Aeronautic Association, which administers the trophy trust fund, said Smith was chosen because of outstanding contributions to aviation over four decades.

dummy. East followed with the seven and South put up the king. Assuming that the hearts divided two-one, which is the normal expectation, he intended to draw trump with two pulls and then lead the king of spades. The defense would presumably win the ace and cash a diamond trick, however South is in on the return and can overtake a heart with dummy's six and discard his losing club on the queen of spades to score up an overtrick on the deal.

When West showed out on the first heart lead, declarer's bubble burst. There was no way to get over to dummy and the final result was a one trick set as the opposition won one trick in each suit.

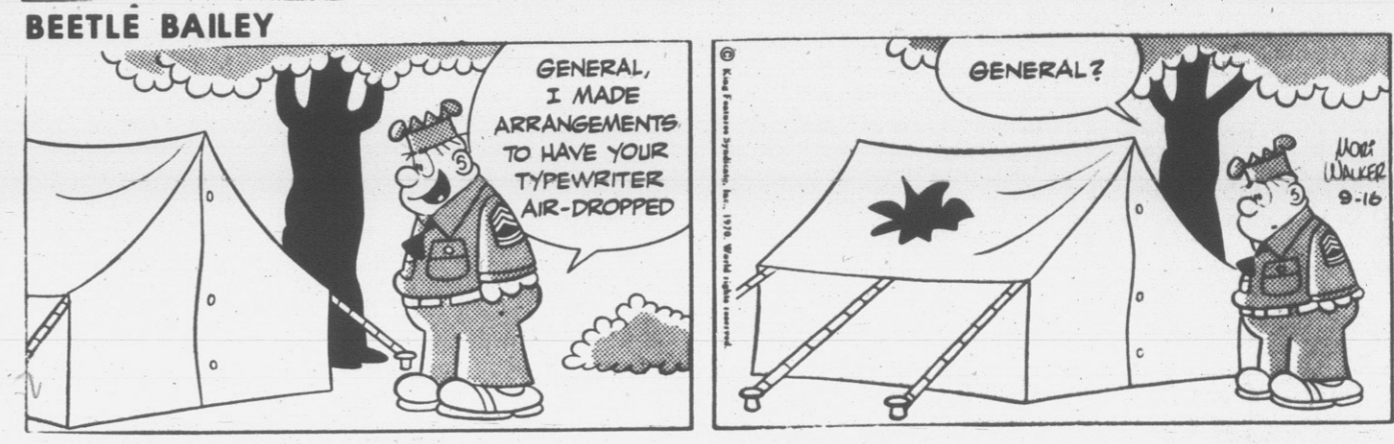

When South led the heart from dummy, he should have put in the nine from his hand as a safety play. If West has the queen, he is welcome to it, for now the trump suit is assured of dividing two-one and North's six of hearts becomes a delayed entry. After the defense cashes a diamond, they will presumably switch to a club, however South has time to establish North's queen of spades for the needed club discard and he loses only three tricks.

By taking the heart finesse, South protects himself against a three-nothing trump break.

Opening lead: Four of Overconfidence on the part of declarer led to the defeat of South's four heart contract, when he encountered an unfavorable bit of distribution in the trump suit.

West decided to open the four of diamonds. This turned out to be a fortunate choice for the defense, inasmuch as it dislodged dummy's ace before declarer had an opportunity to establish some spade discards for himself.

After winning the first trick with the ace of diamonds, declarer led a heart from

ABC Store Is Approved Over Local Protests

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Alcoholic Control has authorized the establishment of a liquor store in the Blackwelder Park area of Kannapolis over the protests of a group of residents.

Board Chairman Charles Coohon said Tuesday the location was approved "because the Rowan County ABC Board has complied with the law."

Coohon said area residents voted in favor of package stores; adequate 30-day notice was posted, and the proposed site was suitable.

The Rev. Coy Privette, spokesman for a five-member group who appeared before the state board Monday said 518 of 804 registered voters in the area had signed a petition opposing the ABC store site.

AP Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials have rejected Egypt's claim that the United States has ended its drive for peace in the Middle East. They said everything possible will be done to get the stalled Egyptian-Israeli peace talks moving again.

Informants also said the United States still is trying to achieve "rectification" of alleged new emplacements of anti-aircraft missiles on the Egyptian side of the cease-fire zone along the Suez Canal. They conceded earlier U.S. demands to Cairo and Moscow to modify military dispositions in the cease-fire zone have been fruitless. President Nixon and Secretary of State William P. Rogers are expected to urge Israeli Premier Golda Meir in meetings here Friday to resume the stalled peace talks under the guidance of U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring.

The Nixon administration has been considering a massive new economic aid program for Israel and is known to have promised the Israeli delivery of 16 to 18 additional Phantom jet fighters this year.

anti-aircraft forces in violation of the military standstill agreement. The agreement was part of the cease-fire arrangement that Egypt and Israel entered into in early August.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad declared in Cairo Tuesday the U.S. peace initiative, initially launched by Rogers in June, has ended. But he also said Egypt will live up to its commitment to the cease-fire in the hope of some progress in peacemaking.

back on a promise not to sell arms to Israel as long as the Jarring mission continued.

Other officials here declared, however, that such approaches will continue to be made not only to Egypt but also to the Soviet Union which is Egypt's major arms supplier.

Can Apply For Rates Increase

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interstate Commission told railroads in the South Tuesday that their request for a temporary 6 per cent general freight rate increase may not go into effect for at least 60 days.

But the regulatory agency gave the railroads permission to apply for the general rate increase, plus a 15 per cent rate hike for transport of coal, with Nov. 18 as the earliest effective date.

the Educated Look at College

This way, men, for college clothes on the "70 Scene"!

What's "in" at your college? We know it . . . in fact, we have absolutely all you'll need and want, on or off the campus!

beautiful shirts

Dynamic new thinking has entered the shirt fashion scene this fall. Collars go higher, longer, wider spread. Colors are lively and virile in deep solid tones or bold stripes.

Fine Fall Leather Outfits . . .

Select your favorite colors and styles of leather jackets, vest and pants. Leather is sure fall fun for '70.

BUSH JACKETS . . . In corduroy, poplin or suede are on their way to campus. Other jackets of wool in double breasted models are going also.

stripes get the message across

Lapels go wider, shoulders stay soft and natural, pockets have deeper flaps to beckon a totally new sense of balance! The suppressed waist with the longer coat tail gives a new flared look. Tweeds, soft flannels, geometrics make up the campus wardrobe this fall.

CPO SHIRTS . . . designed specifically with the college man in mind. New colorful plaids and bold color solids. Lined and pile lined. Sizes 14-17½.
