Plan Termed 'Most Feasible' Commissioners Endorse Projected New Hospital

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners in a resolution yesterday afternoon formally endorsed a proposed $9 million bond issue for construction of a new hospital to serve the county's residents. The Commissioners statement said they "...recognize the urgent need for a new and adequate hospital facility to serve the people of Pitt County."

It continued, "The Board feels that the presently adopted plan for a new hospital with all private rooms is the most desirable and feasible plan to meet the needs of Pitt County citizens."

"With the North Carolina Medical Care Commission contributing two million dollars ($2,000,000) through the Hill-Burton Program, the tax payers will get more for their tax dollars this way, rather than trying to renovate and expand the present hospital." The commissioners explained. "Also, this plan will leave and made available the present hospital building and land, which will be owned by the County, to be used to house growing county agencies without new construction of additional buildings. This will ultimately result in a savings to the tax payers."

"In addition, the estimated average tax rate of 29.96 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to pay for the Bonds and interest over the life of the bonds, can be substantially reduced by a favorable vote on an additional one cent sales tax which will be submitted to the voters again in January 1971, when permitted by law."

"This would also provide additional financial support for the county and city schools," the commissioners statement concluded.

Yesterday morning, the board took final action on the Bond Order which calls for a referendum on the proposed $9 million in bonds for the new facility at the November 3 general election.

Commissioners, in endorsing the proposed bond issue, emphasized the wise use of county funds in building a new facility rather than in renovating and adding to the present hospital.

If additions were made to the present overcrowded building, and renovations made, much of the money secured from the sale of the bonds would be used to bring the old facility up to present-day standards as well as causing a loss of room and much confusion during the period of renovation.

Rather than spend funds to bring the old facility up to date and cause a loss of space, the same money could be used to construct a new, modern 300-bed medical treatment facility with all private rooms.

In other business yesterday, the board amended the county holiday schedule to conform with State and Federal holiday schedule changes made by Congress.

The two holidays affected included Memorial Day and Veterans Day. The change is to become effective January 1, 1971.

Under the new policy, Memorial Day, formerly May 30, has been changed to the last Monday in May, while Veterans Day, formerly November 11, will be the last Monday in October.

Slash Funds Of Pentagon

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Slashing $2 billion off the Pentagon's money bill, the House Appropriations Committee approved today $66.7 billion which it said will cover all contingencies including increased U.S. forces in the Middle East if necessary.

"The tense situation in the Middle East is a matter of grave concern," the committee said, and "there is a possibility" that more U.S. military forces will be needed there some time during the fiscal year ending next June 30.

But it said U.S. military demands require better Pentagon management and "more defense for the dollar," not simply more money, which it said only aggravates ineptness and mismanagement.

Some $1.5 billion of the cuts from President Nixon's $68.7 billion defense request for the fiscal year starting last July 1 is in weapons development and purchase money.

The House is expected to vote on the bill Thursday or Friday, which could put the House in a position to recess this week until after the Nov. 3 elections.

The committee knocked out all funds for the Army generals' helicopter training program under which Army Chief of Staff William C. Westmoreland has just won his wings—and urged the Navy to collect another $196,000 for the filming of "Tora! Tora! Tora!"

The Navy has billed 20th Century Fox $319,091 for assistance in filming "Tora!" the committee said, but should charge another $196,000 including $136,500 for 2½ days' unbilled use of the aircraft carrier Yorktown.

The movie is a reconstruction of the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor.

The committee bill contains the $54 million asked for the C5A supercargo jet but specifies the $200 million included for emergency payments to the manufacturing Lockheed Aircraft Corp. cannot be obligated until the committee is briefed on resolution of the company's contract dispute with the Air Force.

Opening a new session of the Iranian parliament, the monarch did not say what retaliatory measures would be taken. But informed sources said the legislation would provide for seizure of some of the concession area of the consortium of British, French, Dutch and American companies which operates the Iranian industry.

Last year Iran received $1 billion in revenue from the consortium.

The Shah also forecast extension to 15 years of the present five-year, billion-dollar trade and technical treaties with the Soviet Union.

In a thinly veiled warning to neighboring Iraq, he said Iran enjoyed friendly relations with all its neighbors except one, and he warned this neighbor that "Iran will not accept any foreign-power rule in the Persian Gulf when the British leave this region in 1971."

The ruler also said Iran will strengthen its navy, air force and army to ensure free navigation and trade in the Shatt al Arab waterway between Iran and Iraq, a waterway which Iran contends the Iraqis are trying to control.

President and Mrs. Nixon were given a red-carpet welcome on their arrival at nearby Andrews Air Force Base Monday night.

Nixon repeated at the airport that his tour had been aimed at "strengthening the structure of peace in the Mediterranean and in the world. I think we made progress in strengthening that structure," he said.

The Nixons were greeted by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, congressional and administration leaders and members of the diplomatic corps.

Nixon said he had found in Europe a greater understanding of U.S. policy in Vietnam than on his previous tour last year. He said "events in the future will demonstrate" that the United States is making progress toward achieving its goals in Vietnam.

He reported a favorable sentiment for the U.S. attempt to win peace in the Middle East, and said the countries he visited consider it essential that the United States maintain its strength in the Mediterranean and in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

ANWAR SADAT

Named Nasser Successor

CAIRO (AP) — Egypt's only political party named Anwar Sadat Monday night to succeed the late President Gamal Abdel Nasser, assuring his election by the National Assembly Wednesday.

Meeting shortly before midnight, the 150-member central committee of the Arab Socialist Union unanimously approved the nomination of Sadat by the party's executive committee.

Sadat, 52, has been serving as provisional president since Nasser died Sept. 28.

The executive committee recommended that the assembly meet Wednesday to endorse Sadat, that his election be confirmed by a nationwide referendum Oct. 15, and that the president be inaugurated two days later.

Named vice president by Nasser in 1969, Sadat was considered by most observers to be the least controversial of several potential contenders for the presidency. One of the others, Lt. Gen. Mohamed Fawzi, commander-in-chief of Egypt's armed forces, assured the central committee of the military's full support for Sadat.

The executive committee made a plea for solidarity in the face of "the designs of hostile forces who desire to sow discord in our ranks." It moved quickly to replace Nasser, it said, to discount "reports spread by the imperialist press of the existence of a so-called vacuum in Egypt."

"Nasser's death places a great burden on the ASU and its various organs to work closely with the new president to further Nasser's ideas," the statement said.

It also said Egypt's alliance with the Soviet Union is "a permanent factor, not a temporary convenience," and warned that Israel might decide to renew "military aggression" because of the present situation in Egypt.

A close friend of the dead president, Sadat was among the "free officers group" that overthrew King Farouk in 1952 and provided Nasser's springboard to power. The only other member remaining in the government is Hussein el Shafai, 51, who has little public support and is known to have no presidential aspirations.

Pleased By First Parade

Greenville's first Fire Prevention parade, held yesterday under the sponsorship of the Pitt County Firemens Association, was termed a success by fire officials who said they were well pleased with the number of spectators that gathered along the line of march.

Pitt County Fire Marshall Michael Worthington and Greenville Fire Chief Ray Smith said the parade accomplished its purpose, that of calling attention to Fire Prevention Week.

A score of modern fire-fighting units from Pitt County Departments were interspersed with old trucks and antiques — including an 1890 hose reel from Washington, and a hand pumper from Tarboro — as well as rescue equipment and other fire department vehicles.

Of special interest to youngsters along the parade route was Smokey the Bear riding a North Carolina Forest Service fire fighting unit, Sparkey the Fire Dog, and clowns from the Bell Arthur Fire Department and the Greenville Moose Lodge.

Leading the parade, behind units of the Greenville Police Department, and the East Carolina University Air Force ROTC color guard was the Rose High School Band and Miss Fire Prevention, Patricia Fallon of Fayetteville, an ECU sophomore.

Yesterday's parade will be followed the rest of this week by visits to Greenville city schools and many of the county schools by firemen to conduct fire drills.

Worthington and Chief Smith indicated they hope to make the Fire Prevention parade an annual event, thus giving Pitt residents an opportunity to see much of the fire fighting equipment in the county on display at one time.

Housing Okayed In Williamston

WILLIAMSTON — Plans to construct 100 units of public housing in Williamston have been approved by federal authority and funds allocated for the project.

At last night's Town Board meeting, Henry Leggett, executive director of the Williamston Housing Authority, informed the board that a letter of approval had been received for the public housing. Funds for this project, to be built on East Main Street, will amount to approximately $2 million.

The town board also approved an agreement for the town and Williamston Housing Authority to make application for an additional 150 units. The application is expected to be forwarded in a short time.

Merchants of Washington and Horton Streets last night dropped their request to change a present one-way street arrangement. It was also announced that bids will be sought to install steel poles for stop lights at intersections of four streets — Watts, Smithwick, Horton and Elm Streets.

A contingent of property owners submitted a petition objecting to a proposed pass route which would route traffic from Smithwick Street north to Liberty, west to Horton, past the Woodlawn Cemetery on to Clark Avenue at West End. The town board is advising the thoroughfare planners of the objection and recommending the state highway commission delete that portion of the thoroughfare plan.

Mrs. Evan Griffin advised the board she is resigning from the Williamston Board of Adjustments as she is accepting a full time teaching job. A replacement will be named at a later date.

Social Center Building Use Extended

Housing Authority commissioners last night voted to authorize the continued use of a unit in Moyewood as a temporary social services center until April 1 while renovations are completed on the old school bus garage.

$13,550 Grant

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones today announced a grant of $13,550 from the Department of Interior to the Greenville Recreation Department.

Jones said the money will be used for acquiring and developing 5.42 acres of land known as the Hardee property at the intersection of Cotton and Wright Roads in the College Court section of Greenville as a neighborhood park.

POW's Families Advised To Launch Nat'l Effort

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Robinson of Robersonville attended a meeting of the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia in Washington, D.C. held during the weekend. Their son, Airman Billy Robinson, has been a prisoner in North Vietnam since his helicopter was shot down September 20, 1965. They and other relatives of POWs and MIAs heard various individuals and organizations, including Vice President Spiro Agnew and representatives of the Disabled Veterans of America offer financial and other support to their cause.

Most of the financial help will be directed toward publicizing the plight of these prisoners in an effort to raise public opinion to prevail on North Vietnam to honor the tenets of the Geneva Convention concerning the treatment of prisoners. Agnew told the group that profits from the sale of Spiro

Agnew wristwatches and sweatshirts will go into a POW-MIA fund. The Disabled Veterans have spent more than $200,000 on publicity for the cause in recent months, its representatives said. Concerted efforts are to be made immediately in the home areas of all the families who attended to contact political allies, publicize in newspapers and on radio and television, and to ask for prayers and letters on behalf of the men held in North Vietnam and other points in Southeast Asia.

The Robinsons ask that individuals and groups write letters expressing their concern for their son and other prisoners of war and men missing in action. Points that could be made, they said, are as follows: that all injured prisoners be released as quickly as possible; that all names of all prisoners be published; that prisoners be allowed to exchange mail freely with their families; that impartial inspection be made immediately of prisoners' facilities; that prisoners receive proper diet and medical care; and that all prisoners be released as soon as possible.

Letters should be brief and to the point and should not be abusive. Airmail postage is 25 cents for a letter under one-half ounce. They should be addressed to: Office of the President, Democratic Republic of Vietnam, Hanoi, North Vietnam (via Moscow). Letters to Congressmen and senators and letters to heads of foreign governments who maintain diplomatic relations with North Vietnam should also be helpful. Mrs. Robinson tells anyone who suggests that such letter writing will not be noticed by North Vietnam: "We know that American and worldwide public opinion concerning the welfare of prisoners has helped and we believe that a greater show of concern will produce more results."

"Proof enough to us is that we have received ten letters from

Charles Manson Again Is Ousted From Court

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson has been ousted from the courtroom again after taking a flying leap at the judge in the Sharon Tate murder trial.

"In the name of Christian justice, someone should cut your head off!" Manson shouted as he wrestled with bailiffs at the foot of Judge Charles H. Older's bench Monday.

The bearded, long-haired leader of a hippie-type clan sprang at the judge after telling him: "The minute I see you are going to use this courtroom to kill me, you know what I'm going to do to you."

Manson, 35, is on trial with three women followers, charged with murdering Miss Tate and six others in August 1969. Twice ejected last week for singing and shouting taunts at the judge, the defendants were readmitted Monday and given another chance to behave.

But as the session began, Manson spoke up, asking a chance to question witnesses. The judge refused.

"Are you going to use this courtroom to kill me? Do you want me to be dead?" Manson asked the judge, his voice rising with anger. The judge repeatedly told him to be silent. Then Manson asked, "Do you know what I'm going to do to you?"

The judge said, "What are you going to do to me?" Manson mumbled, "You know," paused, then added: "You order me to be quiet while you kill me. I'm going to fight for my life one way or another. You should have let me do it with words ... I'm going to have you removed. I have my own little system you know."

The judge tried to proceed with testimony, but was interrupted by Manson who shouted, "Do you think I'm kidding?" With that, the slim 5-foot-5 defendant, with a sharp pencil clenched in one hand, made a quick cat-like jump with one foot on the counsel table, launching himself into a dive at the judge. He plunged head first to the floor within two feet of the bench. Subdued by bailiffs, he was removed to an adjoining detention room.

The three women—Susan Atkins, 21, Leslie Van Houten, 20, and Patricia Krenwinkel, 22—began a largely unintelligible singsong chant from their seats at the counsel table. When they refused to stop, the judge ordered them ejected too. The chant was a "universal chant," a defense lawyer said later, and the words were "Nam-ma-ho-ram-gay-ky-o." The attorney said the women wouldn't explain its meaning. A court observer said it was a chant of Oriental origin which has no specific meaning but it supposed to bring wish fulfillment.

Tornado Killed Three Persons

By RALPH MARSH
Associated Press Writer
SHAWNEE, Okla. (AP) — A sudden autumn tornado which hopped across this central Oklahoma town of 25,000 has killed three persons and injured more than 40.

Mayor Pierre Taron estimated damage Monday, mainly in the business center, at $3.5 million to $4 million.

A twister, possibly the same one, killed one person in Prague, population 1,500 about 15 miles northeast of Shawnee.

In Shawnee, the storm cut a four-mile diagonal path across the city from southwest to northeast.

Ralph Coats and Roy Lee Coats, not related, died when the tornado ripped through a car agency where both worked. The third victim, Mrs. Allen Roberts, 25, lived in a trailer court which was smashed by the big wind. Instances of looting were reported and 50 highway patrol troopers, 42 National Guardsmen and police and other helpers were called in for rescue and guard duty. Damage was concentrated in the downtown area, where Taron said at least 150 businesses were hit, and a northern section of the city where many residences were damaged or destroyed. Police dispatcher Charles Knox said a woman called to report a tornado funnel approaching. The police operate a weather warning system and Knox said, "I managed to get the siren turned on, but 'whammo' the windows came in and the electricity went off."

See Smoking Habit Linger

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — An agriculture department official says Americans continue to smoke about as many cigarettes as ever despite rising costs and a health controversy.

Fritz Behrens, executive assistant to Secretary of agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, Monday told members of the Burley and Dark-leaf Tobacco Export Association that although per capita smoking has decreased, the decline has been offset by an increase in population.

Behrens also said tobacco production is down slightly this year but the nation's total supply remains large, partly because of a gradual shrinkage in the amount of tobacco used in each cigarette. "The high quality of U.S. leaf continues to be a favorable factor in foreign trade," Behrens said, "but many countries are producing more of their tobacco locally or are importing it from areas where production costs are over."

Earlier Monday, an official of the Tobacco Tax Council told the group that every time a state increases its tobacco tax, sales go down.

William A. O'Flaherty, executive director of the council said six states have increased their tax on tobacco so far this year.

Singer Died Of Drugs Overdose

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Behavioral scientists will investigate the short, frenzied life of Janis Joplin to try to determine whether the drug overdose that killed the blues-shouting star was accidental or deliberate.

The coroner's office said Monday an autopsy showed the 27-year-old singer died from an overdose, but that further tests would be needed to identify the drug.

Police called to Miss Joplin's apartment after she was found dead Sunday said they found small amounts of heroin and marijuana. Her left arm bore fresh needle marks, Coroner Thomas Noguchi said.

Noguchi said he had assigned scientists to conduct the "psychological autopsy" to "determine the mode of death more specifically."

Miss Joplin often told interviewers during her three years of international fame that she never expected a long life.

She said once: "Man, I'd rather have 10 years of superhypermost than live to be 70 sitting in some goddam chair watching TV. Right now is where you are. How can you wait?"

Her nothing-held-back, wailing, writhing singing style—and her prodigious bourbon drinking offstage and on—alarmed some rock music devotees who feared she would burn her voice out early.

To them she once replied: "People say I'm ruining it. Maybe it's getting rough, but I still could reach all the notes I ever could. I don't know how long it will last. As long as I do, probably."

Of her career, Miss Joplin said once: "The worst thing is the loneliness. Somehow you lose all the old friends ... When we're not on stage, we rehearse, lay around in bed, check in and out of motels, watch television ... I live for that one hour on stage. It's full of feeling ... It's a rush, honey."

Her press agent, Myra Friedman, told newsmen Miss Joplin, who had been recording here for several days, was "very happy with her voice, very happy with her group," but added, "I certainly would not say she was a happy person."

Looking Into Abuse Claim

GREENSBORO (AP) — The state and a team of lawyers are looking into charges that guards at the McLeansville state prison unit have abused prisoners.

Gov. Bob Scott requested the group of lawyers after a former prison guard wrote to Scott about the alleged abuse.

The other team was sent to the prison unit near Greensboro at the direction of state Correction Commissioner Lee Bounds. It is headed by Martin Peterson of Raleigh.

The former guard said guards "pick on" inmates and that inmates are placed in solitary confinement for extended periods at reduced diets. He also said prison guards had refused to permit inmates needing medical attention to see doctors.

A corrections department official explained that it is standard practice in the state prison system to place inmates into solitary confinement cells for infractions of prison rules. He said such inmates are confined in solitary from 3 to 30 days and are fed a reduced but adequate diet.

You don't need to be told to save. What you need is a bank that makes saving a bit easier. And no bank, no bank in North Carolina, makes saving easier than NCNB. For one thing, we don't have something other banks have. We don't have passbooks. Passbooks that you can lose or forget. Passbooks that could be stolen. A husband can use the NCNB office near where he works (we have 100 offices) and his wife can use the office near her home. Both can deposit or withdraw money from the same account without presenting a passbook. And we have lots of savings plans. Regular savings. Bonus savings. Savings certificates. No bank pays higher interest. We also have will power. Will power for you. In the form of automatic savings. Tell us what amount you want taken out of your checking account and put in your savings account, and we do it automatically. We have other things going for you at NCNB too. But what they all add up to is a nice sum put away for you, by you, as easily as possible.

We want you to be able to say "Now that wasn't so hard."

Daughter Included Chicken From Spanish Cuisine In This Triangle

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-M. Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a middle-aged widow in love with a divorced man, but I feel like "the other" woman in an impossible triangle. Not the usual triangle of husband, wife and other woman, but that of daughter, father and other woman.

Kenneth's daughter is 26 and unmarried, and I doubt if she will ever marry. Her father is her whole life. She doesn't work, and seems content to stay at home with him. She doesn't date. They go everywhere together — theater, concerts, vacation trips. Daughter suffered a nervous breakdown a few years ago, but seems all right now, but she still leans on "Daddy" for everything.

Kenneth wants me to marry him. He has assured me his daughter will not live with us, but I'm afraid if he leaves her she will go to pieces again. I would love to marry this man, but I have so many fears and doubts. Should I try to find happiness with someone else, or should I marry him anyway?

DEAR OTHER: Even the Kenneth probably meant well, by allowing his daughter to stay at home and play the "wife" role, instead of encouraging her to make a social life of her own, he's partly responsible for her unhealthy dependence on him. Obviously since he was able to fall in love with you and "assures" you that if you marry him he will leave his daughter, he apparently isn't as "sick" as she is. But he should consider how this will affect his daughter — whose stability is probably marginal to begin with. She will need psychotherapy to help her adjust to "losing" her whole life. Kenneth is entitled to a life of his own. So are you. And so is the daughter. The best advice I can offer you is to hold off marrying him until all your fears and doubts are resolved, which could take longer than you care to wait.

DEAR ABBY: If your husband couldn't hardly wait for the hunting season to open, and then he took off in the middle of the night for a five-day hunting trip and forgot to take his rifle, what would you think? HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I would think that he did not intend to shoot whatever it was that he set out to hunt.

DEAR ABBY: Last January, my fiance and I decided on November 21 for our wedding date. I told my best girl friend and asked her to be my maid of honor. She accepted. A few months later, I asked her to go shopping with me to price wedding gowns and she said she "thought" she could spare "a few hours" as she had other things to do. She went with me and didn't say much.

A few weeks later this girl friend told me that she was going to announce HER wedding plans—to take place two weeks before MINE! She also told me she wouldn't be able to be my maid of honor because she'd be on HER honeymoon.

We had known each other for many years and we were close as sisters. We have the same circle of friends, which will make it hard on them with wedding showers, bridesmaids dresses and all. Tell me, honestly, am I out of line for being— DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Disgusted? Yes. Disappointed? No. Your friend obviously had some unmet needs of her own going for her when you told her about your wedding plans. But you can't blame her for not disclosing her plans until she was sure they would materialize. For you to have expected your friend to have put off her wedding until after yours would, I think, have been expecting too much. It's not as though she waited until the last moment to tell you.

DEAR ABBY: Your suggestion to discourage those who are constantly mooching cigarettes—"offer to sell him a pack" was fine, but I have a better idea:

In addition to your regular brand, carry a pack of cheap ones that have been made from floor sweepings. They should be hot and strong and certain to irritate the bronchial tubes, lungs, esophagus and everything else in that area. The second time the moocher sees that pack come out of your pocket, he will quit smoking. W. P., ALEXANDRIA, VA.

Christmas Idea Display Planned

WASHINGTON — Extension Homemakers in Beaufort County are having a Christmas Idea Display at the Home Economics Extension Office Wednesday through Friday. The hours of the display are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day and on Thursday night, Oct. 8, from 7-9 p.m.

The public is invited to view the display of ideas. Instructions will be available for making many of the items and interested persons may sign up for workshops to make decorations and gifts in a group.

When buying mushrooms, look for young ones that are small to medium in size. Caps should be either closed around the stem or moderately open with pink or light-tan gills. The surface of the cap should be white or creamy — or light brown from some producing areas.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Los Angeles: — Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise. Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer genius, Olga. They are available at SEROTT'S GEORGETOWNE SHOPPEES 758-5777

Food Taster Approaches Her Job With Relish

By PEACE STERLING
AP Newsfeature Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "People taste first with their eyes, then with their noses, and last with their mouths."

Joy Nigrelli should know because for the past two years, for approximately eight hours every working day, she has been cooking foods like instant mashed potatoes, spaghetti sauce and brown gravy mix; testing them against her sensitive taste buds and sending them back to her manufacturer's kitchen when they aren't just right.

Usually she approaches her job with relish—but not always. Recently she had to taste a product she'd rather have avoided: a new dog gravy, meant to entice dogs to eat dried dog food.

"If I bark it's good," she told her boss before she bravely sampled some of the brown liquid. When the first batch of gravy was made up, she decided it wasn't right. To prove her point she decided on a barking panel of experts. The dogs refused to eat the gravy!

Since dogs themselves don't buy their food, Miss Nigrelli says, dog food must appeal to humans as well. "To a human palate, dog food is bland," she explained. "But what's important for the owners is how it looks and smells." As an example she cited dog snacks made in the shape of people. "The owners love to say, 'here doggy, have a mailman!'"

The 26-year-old Miss Nigrelli wasn't always a taster. She had been working for French's Food Company for several years when a vacancy occurred in the tasting department. Several applicants were tested and her taste buds turned out to be the most sensitive.

"They weren't looking for people with scientific backgrounds," she explained, "because they would be looking too hard for faults. Actually my only training was to familiarize myself with the products."

Since she's been a taster Miss Nigrelli has learned what Americans like to eat. "Most Americans aren't too adventurous," she noted. "Take smelly cheese for example. Except for a small group of gourmets, it's not popular. But the most interesting thing is that people only like what they've been conditioned to expect."

She described one test she conducted with spaghetti sauce. A group of people was served the traditional deep red sauce and the identical sauce, except that it was colored pink.

"Without exception they preferred the red," she said. "But when we darkened the room so they couldn't see they liked both just as well."

She's also discovered that although there are no basic differences between men's and women's taste buds: Women have a slightly more sensitive taste for salt, and men prefer hot foods like red pepper.

Slim and pretty, Miss Nigrelli doesn't seem to be affected by the calories she consumes at work. "I make up about 60 sample batches a day," she said. "But that only adds up to about 200 calories, since I only need a little taste."

Does all that testing make her too choosy about her foods? "No," she said. "I like just about everything if it's cooked well. The only thing I don't like is avocado—which I think tastes just like lard."

Mrs. Casey Gives Program At Woman's Club Meet

Mrs. Betty Casey, a member of the League of Women Voters, spoke to members of the Greenville Woman's Club on Friday afternoon.

She told of different things the league is interested in such as phosphates in detergents and how they pollute streams and rivers. She announced that on Dec. 8 an open meeting to discuss pollution in Tar River will be held.

Mrs. Casey explained that the league is nonpartisan and its purpose is to have informed women who make recommendations after a study of certain situations. She was introduced by Mrs. D. R. Roscoe, chairman of the Public Affairs Department.

Mrs. George Clapp, president, presided over the business session. Mrs. T. I. Moore led the devotional. Mrs. J. R. Carrington expressed appreciation to Dr. W. E. Roseveare and others who have worked on the club house grounds.

Mrs. Sylvester Green will serve as chairman of a tea on Oct. 22 from 3:30-5:30 p.m. at the club house for new and prospective members.

Mrs. Clapp Urged Members to Attend the District Meeting in Farmville on Oct. 27

Mrs. R. P. Rogers, chairman, gave the report of the nominating committee composed of Miss Nettie Brodgon, Mrs. D. M. Clark and Mrs. J. C. Galloway.

The following slate of officers for 1971-72 were elected: Mrs. Milam Johnson, president; Mrs. Roseveare, first vice president; Mrs. Clapp, second vice president; Mrs. H. R. Phillips, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Pollard, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Clara Moyer Shackell, treasurer; Mrs. Sallie Klingeaschmitt, historian; and Mrs. Rogers, reporter.

Prior to the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. C. B. Hargett, Mrs. George Fleming and Mrs. Roscoe, hostesses.

HOSIERY—FIRST FLOOR

Here comes a Spanish chicken dish, and it's good enough for company. Although it was concocted by an Andalusian who lives in Seville, it can be made most successfully in this country.

Andalusian cooks occasionally add green olives to a main-course dish so it is not surprising that this recipe follows that pattern. Onions and mushrooms go into the dish, too, and it is garnished with crisp bacon. The sauce, thickened with egg yolks, is most delicious.

If you want to keep your menu Spanish, you might preface olive chicken with gazpacho—the soup for which Andalusian cuisine is famous. To accompany the chicken choose rice and a cooked vegetable. For dessert you might serve a sponge-cake roll filled with cinnamon-flavored custard just as is done in Spain.

For cookbook buffs who want to delve further into Spanish cooking, we recommend three interesting books: "The Classic Cooking of Spain" by Jeannette Aguilar (Holt, Rinehart and Winston); "The Spanish Cookbook" by Barbara Norman (Atheneum); and "The Art of Spanish Cooking" by Betty Watson (Doubleday).

OLIVE CHICKEN
4 slices bacon, cut into cross-wise strips
2 tablespoons olive oil
1 tablespoon butter
3 medium onions, peeled and thinly sliced and separated into rings
2½ to 3-lb broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
¼ cup flour
¾ cup dry vermouth or white wine
¼ cup water
¼ pound fresh mushrooms, sliced
Salt and pepper
¼ teaspoon dried crushed thyme
½ teaspoon sugar
½ cup sliced pimiento-stuffed green olives
3 egg yolks

In a large saucetop or Dutch oven slowly cook the bacon until crisp; with a slotted spoon remove bacon and drain on paper toweling; reserve.
To bacon fat in saucetop add the oil and butter; and onion and cook gently, stirring often, until golden—about 10 minutes. With a slotted spoon remove onions.

Coat chicken with flour and brown on both sides in same saucetop over moderate heat, adding more oil if needed; this will take 10 to 15 minutes; remove chicken and drain off fat. Reduce heat to low; add onions, vermouth, water, mushrooms, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, the thyme and sugar; stir well to get up drippings. Return chicken to saucetop. Cover and simmer for 25 minutes. Stir in the olives and simmer 10 minutes longer—chicken should be cooked through.

With a slotted spoon remove chicken, onion, mushrooms and olives to serving dish; keep warm in a low oven.

In a small mixing bowl beat egg yolks slightly; blend a little of the small amount of sauce in saucetop into the yolks; stir back into saucetop. Cook briefly over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened—do not boil. Add salt and pepper to taste. Pour sauce over chicken mixture. Sprinkle with the reserved bacon. Serve at once.
Makes 4 servings.

More Cloudy Tobacco Future

A recent Associated Press article indicated that tobacco may be in for stormy weather because of a continued decline in American cigarette habits. Total production this year was estimated at 1.86 billion pounds for a slight increase over the 1969 crop. However the Agriculture Department looks for the current 1970-71 marketing season to see combined domestic and export use to be slightly less than the 1.95 billion pounds of 1969 - 70. They expect the amount of tobacco used per cigarette to be down and exports may be down.

and older will smoke an average of 3,960 cigarettes in 1970, which is a one percent drop from 1969. Last year the per capital average was 3,993 down from 4,186 of 1968.

The Agriculture Department expects a decline in exports. Shipments totaled 572 million pounds of leaf during 1969-70.

Next year's picture is not entirely clear. National marketing quotas and acreage allotments for flue - cured tobacco will remain about the same as for 1970, but individual farm quotas and allotments next year "will reflect overmarketings and undermarketings in the current crop."

Of course, the picture for tobacco has been cloudy for a number of years and the market hasn't dropped out yet. Still there is much reason to believe that the possibilities of declining markets for tobacco is very real, indeed. Many of the major cigarette companies have already diversified. There is no reason why farmers cannot do the same. Extensive efforts should be made now to get into other farm products, even as we continue to grow tobacco. In this way if tobacco usage should drop sharply in the years ahead our farmers would have something else to carry them on.

Farming in general should have an unlimited future as people demand to eat better every year. Farm producers, however, will have to anticipate the needs of future years and try to change in adequate time to meet them.

GOP Portent In Horoscope

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Vice President Agnew's projected campaign visit to North Carolina is one more portent in the political horoscope which has Republicans reading 1970 as the Year of the Elephant.

Congress from out - of - state have assisted in campaigns, and Democratic National Chairman Larry O'Brien will address the Vance - Aycock Dinner in Asheville on October 24, there are no plans to bring in an outside campaigner comparable to Agnew.

Tar Heel GOP leaders look to the October 26 rally in Raleigh with Agnew as the star for the impetus to pick up seats in Congress, strengthen their General Assembly delegation, and boost candidates in local races.

"The Republicans wanted to bring Agnew in as badly as we wanted to keep Humphrey out in 1968," one Democrat commented wryly, perhaps not without a trace of envy. N.C. Target Area

Specific targets are eastern Congressional districts where the party is hopeful of breaking Democratic Getting the Vice President into the state was a coup. The Republican National Committee had reserved his talents for those states where Senate seats are at stake.

Holshouser pointed out that North Carolina is the only campaign stop for Agnew where there is no statewide contest. "This demonstrates that the party is looking to North Carolina to pick up seats in the Congress," he declared.

BRYAN HAISLIP

dominance and electing Republican challengers.

Timing and location for the Vice President's visit indicates that Republicans are aiming for gains, not simply bidding to hold their own.

Prime prospects are in the Third where Herb Howell of Goldsboro is making his second try against incumbent David Henderson, and the Fourth where Jack Hawke of Raleigh is attempting to shove out Rep. Nick Galifianakis.

The final week before balloting is traditionally set aside for top target areas, and North Carolina is one, Holshouser noted.

Howell and Hawke stood at the side of State Republican Chairman Jim Holshouser last week when he announced plans for Agnew's visit. Both also will figure prominently in the rally.

GOP incumbents are involved in contests in piedmont and western districts. The fact that Agnew is coming to Raleigh rather than Winston - Salem or Charlotte suggests confidence that those races are going well.

Agnew undoubtedly is the nation's top political attraction. What he says and how he says it has made Spiro practically a household word. His flair for rhetoric in expressing middle class indignation at contemporary permissiveness has ignited public attention and response.

One Republican incumbent's campaign will be embraced by the Raleigh rally. That is the Eighth District, where Rep. Earl Ruth of Salisbury is opposed by H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen. Ruth, after his second term, has been identified as perhaps the most vulnerable of the four Republican incumbents.

Will It Mean Votes? His appearance in Raleigh is certain to draw a crowd. Will it make a difference when voters go to the polls on November 3?

It is a sign of the times that the focus for the rally is eastern North Carolina. Not too many years ago a major GOP campaign in an off - year election in the east would have been a futility. In 1970, the party scents opportunity for victory.

Holshouser is confident it will. "The Vice President will peak our campaign at the critical time before the general election," he said. "The party ticket across the board will benefit."

Republicans came close in 1968 in both the Third and Fourth Districts. Howell lost to Henderson that time by a margin of about 8,500 votes. Galifianakis defeated his '68 GOP opponent, Fred Steele of Durham, by just over 4,000 votes.

Clearly, the Democrats have no artillery from the national level to match the Vice President. While some leading Democrats in

With this in the background, Republicans are mindful that Agnew's brand of campaign oratory may well fire up voters enough to make the difference this time around.

Reagan Wants Big Majority

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK ANAHEIM, Calif. — Even the fiercely conservative Republican faithful of Orange County could scarcely believe their ears when Gov. Ronald Reagan told a fund - raising banquet here last week: "This is not going to be an easy battle for us."

In truth, seldom has a campaign for governor of California been less suspenseful. Reagan seems headed for a landslide reelection against the faction - torn, penniless Democrats. Yet, Reagan's public admissions in Orange County are mirrored in private pep talks to political aides. "I don't want to be another Dewey," he tells them, warning against overconfidence.

Reagan is running hard. While other California candidates search for their next campaign dime, Reagan's budget is lavish — admittedly $1.5 million, twice that by the guess of others. Perhaps the best stump speaker in America, his campaign is masterful. In an autumn of apathy, Reagan generates rare visceral reaction hitting the issues everybody else talks about: law and order, campus unrest, drugs, welfare chiseling.

The answer to what makes Reagan run so hard is found in Republican power realities, national and state. He is not really concerned by the absurdly remote possibility of losing to Democrat Jess Unruh Nov. 3. Rather, he needs a huge majority to preserve his power here in California and to fortify himself as the nation's No. 2 Republican.

Actually, some enthusiastic Reaganites are thinking well beyond No. 2. In one major California county, for example, Reagan's campaign chairman has been telling business associates that "on Nov. 4, we begin the dump-Nixon movement."

Such zeal does not reflect the Reagan inner circle, which understands the futility in trying to block President Nixon's renomination. Instead, Reagan's advisers see him as a conservative tug on Mr. Nixon, his prestige reaching across the continent into the White House. "We plan to lean a little heavier on Nixon the next four years," a Reagan intimate confided to us.

To do so will require the political credentials of a big Reagan win this year. So will the maintenance of his unprecedented political control in California. In a state notorious for fragmented power, the ex - movie actor has taken over his political party as no previous governor has done.

His political prime minister in this operation has been Tom Reed, Republican National Committeeman and Reagan's campaign manager. Heir to an oil fortune and a physicist by profession, Reed has developed from an enthusiastic conservative amateur to an astute political professional. He has conducted comprehensive fund - raising (known here as "Reagan's vacuum cleaner") which has sucked up all available Republican money, intentionally reducing other Republican candidates to vassals relying upon the governor's favor.

Because of this dependency, other Republican notables are suppressing anti - Reagan sentiments. But many warn things will change after the election. "When we reconvene in January," a leading Republican State Assemblyman told us, "Reagan will be a lame duck."

Reagan's advisers disagree, picturing him as another Hiram Johnson, the great progressive Republican who dominated California from the U.S. Senate after leaving the governorship. Whether merely a ploy or not, hints from Reagan's office that he might run for the Senate in 1972 make him that much less the lame duck the next four years.

Similarly, the governor's insiders insist there is no commitment about a successor — not even to Edward Reinecke, plucked by Reagan from Congressional obscurity to become lieutenant (Continued on page 5)

"In Your Opinion, Sir . . . Would You Say That the Vice President Is Splitting the Country?"

By JAMES KILPATRICK

The Risk And Promise

The Corporation for Public Broadcasting comes of age this fall: It goes network, with 199 participating TV stations across the nation. By next spring its publicly owned radio net will be in operation also. The prospect is exciting; but there is an element of risk here, too.

To celebrate this cultural bar mitzvah, the CPB threw an elegant dinner one night last week at the Mayflower Hotel. It must have been pure heaven for the Mayflower chefs. Under the tutelage of Julia Child, they turned out a menu that began with spinach and ended with French pastry, and it somehow seemed symbolic. For this was no ordinary spinach, any more than "Sesame Street" is ordinary instruction; this was patin aux epinards Forestiere, and the pastry was gateau St. Honore, which counts a thousand calories to the forkful, a dessert as rich as the CPB's autumn schedule.

The previews made it evident that public broadcasting has come a long way since the first "educational TV" flickered onto local screens some 17 years ago. Some of those first experiments now seem pretty awful; no one knew much about the uses of television in the classroom and it took a while to learn. Now this supplementary tool has found a useful place in the total educational picture. Some 54 percent of CPB's television budget this year will be financed by state and local governments.

Other Editors Say The Prisoners

(Pottstown, Pa., Mercury) It's easy to forget them; these men who are prisoners in North Vietnam.

For most Americans the concern for prisoners is brief; only as long as it takes to read an occasional news story about them or to see their photos flashed on a TV screen.

But then your life goes on and, unless you're a wife, mother, child or relative of a prisoner, the issue doesn't cause your blood to boil.

Buried within you is the knowledge that men do live under terrible conditions in North Vietnamese prison camps. But your daily routine, your own problems cancel out any concern or thought for them.

It's sad but true that few Americans are deeply concerned about their fellow Americans who are held in captivity.

The Doves protest against the war but ignore the plight of captive servicemen. The Hawks seek more action but fail to take action which might help U.S. prisoners. Senators speak out pro and con about the war but few embrace the cause of freedom for these men.

Across the nation on the 30th day of May, July 4 and Veterans Day, Americans pause to remember the war dead but think nothing of the war living.

The war dead "rest in honored glory" but the war living can't rest because of endless days of unhappiness, uncertainty, and captivity.

Unless you are close to a prisoner it is difficult to imagine what families go through.

H. Ross Perot of Dallas, Tex., has been attempting to help the prisoners. He sent the wives of some of the imprisoned servicemen to France to plead with the North Vietnamese. He has sponsored displays showing the plight of the captives. He has done numerous other things in an attempt to effect the release of the prisoners.

But, possibly more important, he has alerted many to their situation.

Strength For Today Guaranteeing More Inflation

NEVER GIVE UP

In every aspect of life leaders are on the alert looking for a man. They know that somewhere there is a man who can furnish information, scientific know-how, leadership. He is just the man that an industry needs. Men have been laboring for decades in laboratories and they know that there is someone who some day will come across with a little bit of information that will solve the problems they have been pondering for years. Some man (or perhaps some woman) will bring the horizon right up to one's door step.

Any one of us may be that essential person.

Can we prepare for that day of disclosure-discovery? As a matter of fact, we are preparing all the time. Or maybe we are spoiling things for ourselves. One person throws up his hands and declares that he has had enough. "For years and years I've been working on that confounded problem and I'm standing precisely where I stood thirty years ago." A physician who has spent his life studying the cause and cure of a certain disease says (ruefully, but not in a dejected tone of voice) that he feels he has not taken a single step toward the ultimate solution of the problem that has constituted his life work.

We can well thank God for the foundations which furnish money to help scientific research. Most of all we can thank the Almighty for men who simply will not give up in their search for truth—especially for truth that will heal wounds and turn on light in corners that have known only darkness.

Although the August consumer price index showed an increase of only 0.2 percent, the smallest since December, 1968, there is no end of inflation in sight.

In fact, the August index is 5.7 per cent above a year earlier, a year in which monetary controls were employed to arrest inflation.

The controls battered the stock market, bankrupted many shaky businesses and swelled unemployment, but did nothing to brake inflation.

Now the price of all autos is going up and are very likely to go up again when the General Motors strike is settled and other auto makers settle on similar terms.

I. W. Abel, president of the United Steelworkers, has served notice that his union will demand "the best contract ever" in negotiations next year and if necessary will strike to get it when contracts expire on Aug. 1.

That will raise the price of steel and cause another round of auto price increases. Everybody Into The Act
Higher wages for these two giant unions will be reflected in other wage demands, from typists, who are lightly organized, to Congressmen, who are tightly organized.

There is a broad rise in taxes ahead. The current lag in business, resulting from the efforts to curb inflation, is creating deficits in many local taxing districts. New York City reports that it faces a $100 million drop in tax collections because of the slump, and other cities and states have been hit hard.

Estimates of the federal deficit in the current fiscal year, worsened by a rise in do-good spending and the clamor of cities and states for more financial aid, range from $2 billion to $12 billion.

Tax increases are inflationary since they are passed along in higher prices and higher wages. The only alternative is borrowing money, which is directly inflationary.

The Battered Dollar
The Department of Labor, in reporting on the spendable average weekly earnings of production or nonsupervisory workers on private, nonagricultural payrolls, said that a worker with three dependents in August has a spendable income of $106.74, compared with $101.51 a year earlier. That's a nice gain. But, the department also reported that in terms of 1957-59 dollars, that worker had a purchasing power of 178.49, compared with $78.87 a year ago.

The worker with no dependents did slightly better. His pay, in current dollars, rose from $92.41 to $97.95 in the year and, in 1957-59 dollars, his spending power increased from $71.80 to $72.02, a raise of 22 cents.

Like the White Queen in "Through the Looking Glass," the American workingman has to run like hell to stay in the same place. Or strike.

The Labor Department also reported that the purchasing power of the consumer dollar in August, in terms of the 1957-59 dollar, was 73.5 cents, and in terms of the 1939 dollar was 35.7 cents.

Handicapped Seek Jobs In Pitt

A total of 114 persons with handicaps were seeking employment in Pitt County as of Sept. 30.

According to Lloyd Nooe, manager of the Employment Security Commission, of the 114 persons who applied for work, 37 are females and 32 are veterans.

"The applicants have such handicaps as partial amputation of fingers, impairment of limbs, diabetes, alcoholics, polio, stuttering and speech defects and hard of hearing," Nooe explained. "Other handicaps include ulcers, heart disease, slipped disc, asthma, severe burns, mental retardation, heart murmur, arthritis and cancer."

This week has been proclaimed locally and nationally as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week."

"The observance this week is for the purpose of calling to the attention of the public, particularly employers, the importance of training and using this segment of the labor supply," Nooe explained.

"Plans have been made to publicize the week-long observance through newspapers, radio, television and letters to various clubs and organizations in the community," the ESC manager added.

Nooe said letters have also been mailed to employing firms urging them to consider the possibility of using a handicapped person on their work force.

Handicap placements made by the local office during 1970 include: January, one; February, three; March, 15; April, 11; May, six; June, three; July, four; August, five; and September, 13.

"The handicap placements average about five per month for the entire year," Nooe said.

An essay contest will be offerred to all high school juniors and seniors.

The theme for the essay is "Employment of the Handicapped and Community Attitudes".

The essay is not to exceed 750 words and the deadline for the national contest entries is March 1, 1971. The deadline for state entries is near the end of December.

Anyone interested in entering the contest may call the ESC for information.

Other awards offered in connection with the week's events are the President's Trophy for the Handicapped American of the Year and also the Employer's Award.

Members of the National Employ the Handicapped Week include: Gerald Smith, Chairman; Oscar Moore, John M. Nickolaus, Robert

Allen, Harold Creech, Mrs. George Clapp, Max Stephenson, Gene Skinner, Jack Wall, H.A. Hendrix, Jack Whichard, Donald Dansey, Dr. Malene Irons, Dr. Jay M. Collie and Christopher Hargett.

Lawmen Hunting Bank Bandit

EUREKA, N. C. (AP)—Lawmen were hunting for a young bandit today who robbed the office of Branch Banking and Trust Co. in this small Wayne County town Monday. The robber made his getaway in a late model car.

The amount taken was not released. Eureka is in northeastern Wayne County, about 15 miles from Goldsboro.

Headon Collision Takes 3 Lives

HENDERSON, N. C. (AP)—Three persons, Vance County residents, including a 10-year-old boy, were killed Monday in a headon crash on N. C. 39 north of Henderson.

Highway patrolman S. E. Atkinson identified the dead as Jerry Lee Fisher, 10, and William Randolph Martin, 20, who were riding together, and Raymond Vinson Strum, who was alone in a pickup truck.

Martin's 19-year-old wife and their son, Ryan, 11 months old, also were injured. Mrs. Martin was in serious condition at a Henderson hospital.

Abductors Say Life Of Diplomat Is At Stake

MONTREAL (AP)—The Canadian government promised extra protection Monday night for foreign diplomats following Canada's first political kidnapping. But the Montreal police temporarily halted their hunt for the Quebec separatists who took Britain's senior trade commissioner in Canada from his Montreal home Monday morning.

A police spokesman said the manhunt was halted after a ransom note said there must be "no police action" against the kidnapers. "A man's life is at stake," the spokesman said. "We don't want to make the terrorists jittery."

The kidnapping of James Richard Cross, 49, was blamed on the terrorist Front de Liberation Quebecois, the FLQ. The organization seeks Quebec's independence and is believed responsible for scores of bombings in Quebec since 1963.

Provincial Justice Minister Jerome Choquette told a news conference the ransom note demanded that a "certain number of alleged political prisoners" be put aboard a plane for Cuba or Algeria along with $500,000 in gold bullion by Wednesday morning.

The federal and provincial governments apparently had reached no decision on what to do about the ransom demand.

Will Oppose Reform Bid

CHAPEL HILL (AP)—The man who headed a legislative committee that helped draft a constitutional amendment to require a reorganization of state government now says he will vote against the amendment in the Nov. 3 election.

Rep. Ike Andrews, D-Chat-ham, who was chairman of the Committee on Constitutional Amendments in the 1969 General Assembly, said his opposition resulted from a ruling by Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan.

Morgan held that the amendment, which calls for placing some 300 present state agencies into not more than 25 departments, applies to the state's universities.

Andrews appeared on University of North Carolina Educational Television Monday night. He said he could foresee "severe problems" if the amendment is approved by the people.

Andrews said the General Assembly did not intend for the reorganization proposal to apply to the institutions of higher education.

"I don't think any of them (universities) would want to surrender any appreciable amount of individuality," Andrews stated.

Morgan To Tour Danish Prison

COPENHAGEN (AP)—North Carolina Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan was scheduled to visit a Danish prison for hardened criminals today before leaving for Stockholm on the next leg of a European tour.

Morgan said he was interested in discovering if methods have been developed here to dispose of criminal cases without bogging down the courts.

The first commercial film showing in Canada was held in Ottawa in 1894.

Monday night that additional protection will be provided for the more than 1,000 foreign diplomats in Canada.

Cross, who came to Canada in 1968 with his wife and daughter, was kidnapped by men who gained entrance to his home in downtown Montreal on the pretext that they were bringing him a birthday gift. Once inside the house, one man pulled a gun on the maid and two others entered the diplomat's bedroom, handcuffed him and forced him into a waiting car which bore the marking of a local taxi company.

The provincial justice minister appealed to the kidnapers to procure a supply of a drug which he said Cross takes twice daily for high blood pressure. A Montreal doctor said he could be in grave danger in a few days if he did not get the medicine.

The ransom note also demanded full publication of the kidnapers' demands along with the photograph of the person whose information led to a recent roundup of alleged FLQ members, publication in all Quebec newspapers of the FLQ's political manifesto and reinstatement of all Montreal

Sanford Points To Protection Of Integrity

GREENSBORO (AP)—Duke University President Terry Sanford says the task of American higher education must be to protect its own integrity against assaults.

Sanford, speaking at the 78th Founder's Day observance at the University of North Carolina at Greensboro, said people who demand that college presidents "put down the students" don't understand history, society or young people.

He said college presidents are the only ones who have been caught off guard by violence. The administrators of colleges and universities "will answer our critics," he said. "Our institutions of higher education are not America's goats, and they will not become their scapegoats."

The technique is clear: the many Republicans who want to be governor of California will hesitate to battle Reagan if they believe his anointment might yet be theirs.

The Reagan picture, then, is one of a subtle, self-confident politician, not only instinctively attuned to what bothers voters but skilled in political maneuver.

Section 315 (a) of that law proscribes editorializing and explicitly demands that programs shall be produced "with strict adherence to objectivity and balance."

Dean Burch, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, laid it on the line in his talk to the dinner guests last week. He promised to work on the Hill for public broadcasting funds, but he warned his hosts of the obstacle they face: "That is the fear that if and when it is independently financed, public broadcasting will go careening off with its own bent on the issues to be covered, and will be a propagandist for one point of view on those issues."

That is to say, to paraphrase another administration spokesman, if PBS falls into the hands of a tiny and closed fraternity of effete snobs, frustrating Eastern liberalism, the network will die. The risk is real, if only because the innovative nature of public broadcasting, with its prospect of public service, will attract creative liberals. One show this fall is the "Ralph Nader Report," but nothing specific is yet planned as a balance to the young crusader. The infidels of business will have to have equal time.

Fortunately the leaders of PBS seem to understand this.

Their top commentary show, "The Advocates," will pit conservative William Rusher against liberal Howard Miller—a fair match. Even so, the warning stands. If public broadcasting can keep its balance, it offers a happy prospect for television viewers who are fed up with ordinary spinach and would like a taste, now and then, of patin aux epinards.

Church Supporting 'Balanced' Schools

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The Presbyterian Church in the United States, in an official message to its 955,000 members, calls for support for efforts to desegregate and upgrade public schools.

The statement issued Monday by the general council of the predominantly Southern denomination warned against "the dangers of undermining public education systems by establishing, supporting or patronizing private schools or academies whose deliberate purpose or practical effect is to maintain racial isolation."

The appeal was from the Council on Church and Society of the denomination in Richmond, Va., and Dr. William A. Benfield Jr., moderator of the Church's General Assembly.

Some Presbyterians are among those resisting racial balancing of school systems, the statement said, and "for many people, busing has become a smoke screen hiding more central issues."

It invoked the support that the Presbyterian Church traditionally has expressed for public education and called on Presbyterians to keep their children in public schools "even when they are in a racial minority, black or white, or must be bused."

Farmville Mart Has $75.22 Day

FARMVILLE—The Farmville market averaged $75.22 per hundred pounds Monday when 592,466 pounds of leaf was sold for $445,688.

The volume of sales continued heavy and all warehouses had full sales, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor of the Farmville market.

"Marketings of primings and lugs showed a remarkable increase for this late in the season," Williams said. "Cutters for the first time have shown a large increase in sale."

Grades for grade prices remained steady and the increases offset the declines. Stabilization received five percent of gross sales Monday.

Schools Get $110,300

WILLIAMSTON—Martin County Schools are receiving a total of $110,300 in emergency school aid federal funds. This was revealed yesterday at the regular monthly meeting of the Martin County School Board.

School Superintendent Eugene Rogers noted that the money will be used for three guidance specialists for students in the seventh and eight grades; for four special remedial reading teachers; for a band teacher in the Oak City Schools; and for various other teacher aides.

The board was also informed that two representatives from the Atlanta office of HEW are in Martin County today, making a study of desegregation procedures in the schools.

Plans were made for the attendance of a representative from Martin County to the annual meeting of the North Carolina State Superintendent's Board Association, to be held in Charlotte November 13-14.

Everetts School made a request to the board for a public school music session to be held weekly.

Few Complaints By Fishermen

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—Western North Carolina fishermen had few complaints with proposed changes in the statewide fishing regulations Monday night here.

About 100 heard State Wildlife Resources Commission personnel explain the proposals, which include use of treble hooks in some trout waters and extension of the fishing season on game lands from Labor Day through Oct. 31.

Winterville Board Sets Hearing Date Two Injured In Collision

WINTERVILLE—The Winterville Board of Aldermen set Nov. 2 as the date for a public hearing to consider rezoning property owned by Billy and Elizabeth W. Dail from residential to industrial.

The property, about five acres, is located on SR 1130 between the Seaboard Coastline Railroad and SR 1700 and is within the one mile radius outside the town limits.

The property, if rezoned, will be used for a mobile home park.

The hearing will begin at 7 p.m. in the municipal building. Mayor Walter Dail appointed Franklin Branch and E. C. Hines to represent the town as members of the Mideast Law Enforcement Planning Division, Mideast Economic Development Commission.

Board members heard complaints from several citizens about the discharge of firearms within the town limits.

It was pointed out the town has an ordinance prohibiting the discharge of firearms within the town limits and an investigation into the matter will be made.

Other business, board members:

- purchased an ad on the Winterville Ruritan Club birthday calendar;
- announced the Winterville Fire Department had become a member of the Pitt County Mutual Aid Group;
- earned final inspection for the Pitt Technical Institute water and sewer project will be held Wednesday at 10 a.m.;
- approved a request from Jack Tripp to change his garage on East Blount Street into a beauty shop with the understanding he is to remove everything pertaining to his present garage.

Two Injured In Collision

An estimated $3,300 property damage resulted from two collisions here yesterday.

Greenville police investigators reported two persons were injured in a 7:15 p.m. collision at the intersection of Memorial Drive and Farmville Boulevard involving cars driven by Linda Kay Morris, 18 of Route 1, Grifton and Gaston Monk, 48, of Bell Arthur.

Officers, who reported Miss Morris and a passenger in the Monk car were injured, charged Miss Morris with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety.

Damage was estimated at $2,200 to the Morris car and $800 to the Monk vehicle.

Sandra Faye Langley, 17, of Route 1, Stokes was charged with following too closely following investigation of a 4:08 p.m. collision on Memorial Drive, 500 feet North of the Trade Street intersection.

Police cited the Langley vehicle collided with a car driven by Lois Marie Garrett, 24, of Falkland.

Damage was set at $150 to each of the two cars involved.

Dr. Wenger To Address Alumni

Dr. A. D. Wenger, president of Atlantic Christian College, will be the featured speaker at a meeting of the Pitt and Martin County ACC Alumni Association here Thursday night at 7:30.

The meeting will be held at the Greenville American Legion Hut. All alumni of Atlantic Christian are invited, whether they are members of the local chapter or not. For further information call Mrs. A. H. Cheek Jr. at 752-2500.

Co-Chairmen Of Voter Education

RALEIGH—M.K. Blount Sr. and John Lewis Sr. will serve as co-chairmen of Judicial District Three in the North Carolina Bar Association's campaign launched this week for a statewide voter education project.

The project is designed to arm Tar Heel voters with facts concerning seven proposed state constitutional amendments on the ballot for the Nov. 3 general election.

The movement for reform of the present North Carolina Constitution began with the legal profession and the Bar Association has accepted responsibility for conducting a statewide voter education project concerning the seven-proposed amendments.

Demolition Contract Is Awarded By School Bd.

The Wright Wrecking Company of Winston-Salem has been awarded a contract for the demolition of three buildings — two at the former Eppes Junior High School and one at Third Street School. Approval for the company's low bid of $8,640 was given at a special meeting of the Board of Education last night.

Grifton Club Backs New Hospital Plan

GRIFTON—The Grifton Lions Club adopted last night a resolution supporting the proposed $9,000,000 hospital bond issue and urged the support of individual members at the November 3 primary.

In describing the absolute necessity of a new hospital, Richardson said that all present departments seriously lack space. Make-shift space, which was not designed for hospital use must nevertheless be utilized, creating severe problems for staff and patients.

The present hospital has only 200 beds, 26 of which must be used for maternity patients only, leaving 174 beds for medical and surgical patients. Bed shortages cause waiting lists and as many as 22 patients have been placed in hall beds at one time due to the shortage.

In answer to the questions from Lion members it was stated that the new hospital would be a real bargain for the citizens of Pitt County. Renovation of the existing hospital is impractical — costs for remodeling are prohibitive and the site is too small for today's needs. It would cost nearly as much to rehabilitate the present hospital as it would to build a new one.

The new hospital would cost approximately $11 million and the Medical Care Commission of North Carolina has indicated it will assist through Hill-Burton funds in the amount of $2 million toward the total costs. The county would still have the old hospital on the existing 30 acres of land that could be used for other county purposes thereby realizing a savings to the taxpayers.

Jack Richardson, assistant hospital administrator was the guest speaker. In his talk on the importance of proper health facilities in a modern world, Richardson cited a few examples of the inadequate health facilities in Pitt County mainly in the area of hospital beds and supporting services.

Agree To Pay Cost Of Conference Fees

WILLIAMSTON—Martin County Commissioners, yesterday, agreed to pay conference fees of officials attending the Coastal Highway Conference in Myrtle Beach, S. C. on October 19. The number of officials planning to attend is not known, but invitations have been mailed to those expected to attend.

County Commissioners voted approval of a request by Hyde County to withdraw from the structure of Mid-East Regional Development. Hyde County wants to affiliate with the Albemarle Region, and each of the five counties other than Hyde in Mid-East must vote approval of the withdrawal action.

A request for a railroad crossing light at Hardison's crossing between Williamston and Jamesville was studied by the commissioners and is being passed to the State Highway Commission. Petitioners noted there have been two fatalities at this crossing.

R. Mack Edwards gave a report on Agriculture Extension Services for the past quarter.

Selecting Stocks Jury

The selection of a jury in the case of Thomas Earl Stocks, charged with rape and burglary in connection with an April 27 incident at Brook Valley, began yesterday morning and continued today in Pitt County Superior Court.

Six jurors were seated yesterday afternoon before Judge Joshua S. James adjourned court just after 6 p.m. None had been seated by 11:30 a.m. today as defense attorneys Milton Williamson and C.W. Everett Jr. and prosecuting attorneys John Lewis Jr. and Solicitor Luther Hamilton questioned prospective jurors.

Stocks is charged with allegedly forcing his way into a Brook Valley home and assaulting Mrs. Ann Baker Barry.

A Negro, Elmo Barber, was convicted in Superior Court in August of similar charges and sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge James.

Development. Hyde County wants to affiliate with the Albemarle Region, and each of the five counties other than Hyde in Mid-East must vote approval of the withdrawal action.

A request for a railroad crossing light at Hardison's crossing between Williamston and Jamesville was studied by the commissioners and is being passed to the State Highway Commission. Petitioners noted there have been two fatalities at this crossing.

R. Mack Edwards gave a report on Agriculture Extension Services for the past quarter.

N. C. Truckers Said On 'Brink'

ASHEVILLE (AP)—North Carolina's trucking industry is dangerously close to going broke, the head of the N. C. Motor Carriers Association, Inc., warned today.

President M. C. Benton Jr. told delegates to the association's annual meeting today that 18 of the state's 53 largest trucking firms are operating at a loss this year.

In a prepared speech, he blamed the situation on a lack of rate increases, high taxes and soaring operating costs.

THE FAT LIP!
Last week we suggested that you select one of your male friends to explain the ABC's of hair anatomy. Well, we hope you had much success. But just in case you didn't and are nursing a fat lip, we felt it our obligation to assist you during your next try. That is, if you've still got the nerve.

Anyhow, try telling him that he should at least know the two main parts of a hair — the shaft and the root; and that each hair has three layers of cells.

The first layer is the cuticle, or shingle like outer protective layer. The cortex is the second layer. It is the major part of the hair shaft where coloring and permanent wave action takes place. The third layer is the medulla, or the innermost layer — known also as the pith.

Praised For Play

OUTSTANDING PLAYERS... Fullback Billy Wallace holding his daughter Kimberley Anne, George Whitley, fullback and defensive back holding his son Kevin, split end Carl Gordon and defensive tackle Rich Peeler, have been singled out by East Carolina University head football coach Mike McGee for the work they did in the West Texas State game Saturday — adding that they have been outstanding all season and should receive All-Southern Conference recognition. And, in fact, Peeler was honored today as Southern conference Defensive Player of the Week for the eight tackles and 100 assists he made against West Texas in the 42-30 loss. The pirates play N. C. State in Raleigh Saturday night.

The Citadel Gets Real Chance Next Saturday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Citadel's Bulldogs, thrust into the favorite's role in the Southern Conference football race when preseason choice Richmond was upset by defending champion Davidson, get their chance Saturday to show whether they're ready to fill the bill.

But coach Red Parker has promised some lineup changes for Saturday's clash at William and Mary, which will be making its league debut, as a result of the Bulldogs' 24-7 defeat last Saturday night at Arkansas State.

One will involve the offensive center spot, where starter Dan Cataneo has been declared out of action for the rest of the season as a result of an injury suffered against Arkansas State, the nation's top-ranked small college team.

Others will be the result of what Parker called "tender" play, although after the game he remarked he thought the Bulldogs "played as well as we can." He observed that he "told everyone how good Arkansas State is. They did a real great job."

The Citadel, Davidson and Virginia Military are tied for the conference lead at 1-0. Davidson entertains Bucknell and VMI goes to Virginia for nonleague games Saturday. Other games have Richmond at Furman Saturday night in a league clash and East Carolina at N.C. State in a nonleague.

The Paladins, 2-2 over - all after beating Carson-Newman, got a scouting report Monday on Richmond and worked on defenses to stop the passing of Charlie Richards to receivers Jerry Haynes and Jim Livey.

Halfback Buddy Woodle, who sat out Richmond's defeat at Southern Mississippi, worked out Monday with the Spiders but still was limping with an injury and is questionable for the Furman game. Coach Frank Jones praised the work of reserve quarterback Ken Nichols in the Saturday loss.

Enthusiasm was reported high at VMI as the Keydets began preparation for their first game against in-state opposition. Only a few minor injuries were reported in Saturday's defeat at Boston College.

Coach Mike McGee of East Carolina singled out offensive starters George Whitley, Billy Wallace and Carl Gordon and defensive tackle Rich Peeler for their play in the West Texas State defeat.

Wake Forest's Deacons — hungry for their second win, meet Virginia Tech Saturday. They got their first look at the Tech formations Monday.

The first offensive and defensive units went through a short workout in sweatsuits and then the substitutes scrimmaged with the freshmen.

Duke head coach Tom Harp said he was pleased with his team's performance last Saturday against No. 1-ranked Ohio State. He said he wanted to forget that loss and concentrate on Saturday's opponent.

The Blue Devils meet West Virginia — ranked 14th and leading the nation in total offense and second in scoring.

The Clemson team avoided contact Monday in an extended practice session as it began preparations for Saturday's game with Auburn.

Coach Hootie Ingram called Auburn "the best team in the South, a step ahead of Ole Miss." Ingram said split end Jack Anderson, who missed two games because of an injury, will play against Auburn.

N. C. State, looking to its game with East Carolina Saturday, began practice without starting linebacker Bryan Wall and second unit guard Bryan Cheek. Both missed workouts because of injuries in last week's game.

"We won't know the status of these boys, along with quarterback Darrell Moody, who missed our Florida game, until later in the week," said Wolfpack Coach Earle Edwards.

Virginia also was suffering Monday because of injuries. Regular sophomore quarterback Larry Albert probably won't start in Saturday's game with Virginia Military Institute, coach George Blackburn said.

Albert suffered a shoulder separation last week. Sophomore Bill Troup, who played most of that game, would replace Albert.

Harold Barnes of Azalea Gardens was first place winner in The Daily Reflector's third weekly football contest.

Tom Jamieson of 212 N. Warren St. was second place winner in the contest.

Both entrants missed four games each. However Barnes guessed 75 as the most points scored in any of the contest games. Jamieson guessed 72.

Barnes was closest to the 84 points scored in the Texas Tech-Santa Barbara game.

The fourth weekly contest appears in today's edition.

Baltimore And Cincinnati To Meet In World Series Play

By RALPH BERNSTEIN

Associated Press Sports Writer CINCINNATI (AP) — Not too many years ago Sparky Anderson was wearing legs into tables in a furniture factory, his baseball career apparently over.

Now he's the manager of the National League champion Cincinnati Reds preparing for Saturday's opening of the World Series against American League champion Baltimore.

Anderson recalled those lean days Monday as he stood dripping with champagne in the Cincinnati dressing room after his Reds had defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates for a three-game sweep of the National League playoffs.

The Reds took the payoff game on a play that characterizes their manager's philosophy of the game—aggressiveness and the willingness to gamble.

The score was tied 2-2 in the eighth at Cincinnati's Riverfront Stadium. Ty Cline was on second and Pete Rose at first. Bobby Tolan lashed a single to left and Cline rounded third just beating Willie Stargell's throw to the plate with what turned out to be the winning run in a 3-2 game.

"We try to play aggressive baseball," said Anderson. "Sure we've had guys thrown out at the plate, but that's the chance you take," observed the guy who six years ago was fired by Toronto in the International League and turned to work in the furniture factory.

The 36-year-old Anderson, youngest manager in the major leagues, took a moment from explaining his strategy in the deciding game against Eastern Division champion Pittsburgh to announce Gary Nolan as the Reds' first-game pitcher against Baltimore Saturday in the World Series.

Nolan won 18 games during the regular season and the first of the playoff. He'll probably be opposed by Orioles' Jim Palmer.

Cline, whose pinch triple started the Reds' winning three-run rally in the 10th inning of the playoff opener, was called upon in the eighth inning Monday with two out and the bases empty.

He walked and moved to second on Rose's single.

Cline said he made up his mind to try for home as soon as he saw Tolan's hit to left.

"As I rounded third I slipped and lost my balance completely," he related. "I lost Alex completely," he said, referring to third base coach Alex Grammas, who was waving and shouting for Cline to keep going to the plate.

"I didn't hear him either," Cline said, "but I knew he would want me to try and score."

Cline said that as he neared the plate he saw Pirates' catcher Manny Sanguillen go toward first. "I tried for the third base edge of the plate," he went on.

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer BALTIMORE (AP) — The biggest machine in Cincinnati this weekend won't necessarily be red.

The peaking Baltimore Orioles qualified Monday as a formidable World Series match for Cincinnati's slugging Reds by thrashing Minnesota 6-1 to complete a methodical three-game sweep of the American League championship playoffs.

"We want the choice cut this year," said Orioles sparkplug

Frank Robinson, for whom the series, opening Saturday at Cincinnati's new Riverfront Stadium, will mark a second homecoming of sorts. The former Red star was dealt to the Orioles five years ago.

"I was back there for the All-Star game this summer and it was a lot of fun," he recalled. "Now, it's for real. And we're ready."

Robinson spoke of the Orioles' readiness after they proved it convincingly at Memorial Stadium behind the 12-strikeout pitching of right-hander Jim Palmer, one of their trio of 20-game winning aces.

Palmer, who also won the finale of last year's three-game Twin killing in the first playoff of AL division champs, scattered seven hits ... and possibly earned a series-opening start against the National League champion Reds.

Cincinnati capped a three-game sweep of the NL playoffs Monday with a 3-2 victory over Pittsburgh.

While the Reds were taking their league apart from the outset, the Orioles shook off the spectre of a humiliating series setback at the hands of the New York Mets and rolled to 108 victories—tops in the majors.

They won their last 11 regular season games, then smacked the Twins 10-6 and 11-3 at Minnesota last weekend before closing out the set at home.

Manager Earl Weaver shrugged off the winning streak, however, while discussing his outlook on the upcoming confrontation.

"Sure, we've won 14 in a row," he said. "But they don't count now. It's not the winning streak I like, it's the type of people we have on this ball club. If we had lost 14 in a row I'd still think this team can beat Cincinnati."

GOP Using Tax Repeal Theme as Issue in Campaigns

By RICHARD DAW
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — A Republican campaign drive with a tax repeal theme is off to a controversial start. One GOP leader said Monday the state government will wind up this year with a record $200 million surplus.

Top GOP leaders flew across the state Monday to boost chances of Republican candidates for the General Assembly, long dominated by Democrats. Hitting at the theme that Democrats imposed the taxes unnecessarily, Sen. Harry Bagnal, R-Forsyth, the party's senate leader, took aim at the surplus and declared:

"The people's money is sitting idle, not being used, at a time when money is tight and sorely needed."

It was another member of the flying team, Rep. Charles Taylor, R-Transylvania, who predicted the surplus figure would reach $200 million.

The prediction contrasted sharply with the contention of Gov. Bob Scott, a Democrat, that the state's current $118 million surplus is likely to shrink considerably.

Taylor, the House minority leader, said he disagreed with Scott, but that even if the surplus does decrease, "the new taxes still were unjustified."

State budget officer Andy Jones also disagreed with the Taylor prediction of a $200 million surplus.

"I don't see where they get the basis for predictions such as that," Jones said. "Maybe they've got a better crystal ball than I have." Jones said the size of the state's surplus will depend on the state of the economy.

Accompanying Taylor and Bagnal on the 12-stop tour was Rep. Jim Holshouser, R-Watauga. Holshouser is the state party chairman and joint caucus leader for the GOP legislative delegation.

Holshouser called the trip "an unprecedented campaign tour" that should "dramatize the campaign issues."

"If the climate is right in the few weeks before the election, we expect to make substantial gains" in the General Assembly, Holshouser said.

Democrats now control the House 91-29 and the Senate 48-12.

Not A Criminal, Says Robber And Murderer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Stanley R. Bond, accused of robbery and murder in a Boston bank holdup-slaying, says he is a fighter in a revolution against this country—not a criminal.

Bond, 25, said he had "declared war" on the United States as leader of a combat group in an organization he called "Revolutionary Action Force—East."

The young ex-convict college student, who was captured and jailed last week in Grand Junction, Colo., was quoted as making his disclosures in a telephone interview with The Phoenix, a Cambridge-published weekly which caters to university-age readers.

A Boston policeman, Walter A. Schroeder, 42, was fatally shot during the $26,000 holdup by three men and two women Sept. 23.

City Editor Vin McLellan of The Phoenix, who conducted the telephone interview with Bond, quoted him as saying:

"I certainly think that anybody who is going to make the decisions that I've made, you know, they have got to get money somewhere, I'm sure."

"I would recommend that everyone go out and rob a bank if they want some ..."

"One thing I can say, they don't have to kill a cop though ... to rob a bank."

Ervin Raps Army Free Speech Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., blasted the Army again Monday for "gross indifference" to free speech guarantees because of the Army's handling of a Ft. Bragg, N. C., case.

"Army practices have more than a chilling effect on the First Amendment," Ervin said. They put it in cold storage."

Ervin made the comment as he released a reply from the office of Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor. Ervin wrote to Resor seven months ago and questioned the Army's refusal to allow distribution of critical comments on the Vietnam war from three U. S. senators.

The North Carolina senator wrote Resor after Joel Polin, a civilian resident of Chapel Hill, N. C., was refused permission to distribute comments by Democratic Sens. George McGovern of South Dakota, Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota and Vance Hartke of Indiana at Ft. Bragg.

The three senators had been quoted in an interview in the Congressional Quarterly as supporting an end to the bombing of a coalition government in Saigon.

Army General Counsel Robert E. Jordan told Ervin the delay in responding to his query was caused by an over-all review of policies regarding dissent and that in the future excerpts from the Congressional Record could be handed out on Army bases provided they meet tests established by the Army's "Guidance on Dissent."

That guide allows commanders to prohibit only publications which are obscene, or which counsel disloyalty, mutiny or refusal of duty.

Ervin said, "Such delay, coupled with the original erroneous and tardy denial of permission to distribute the Congressional Record excerpts rendered the constitutional guarantee of free speech absolutely worthless in this case."

Municipalities Adopt Programs

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — City officials from all over the state were to adopt the program today they will push in the 1971 North Carolina legislature.

Today was the final business session of the annual convention of the North Carolina League of Municipalities. Adopted previously were resolutions supporting revenue sharing, the expansion of the 1 per cent local option sales tax, and a payroll tax.

Money was the main topic Monday at the midpoint of the three-day meeting.

City and state officials said the picture was bleak for cities in the 1970s unless new sources of revenue were found.

Charles A. Lindbergh made the first non-stop trans-Atlantic flight, New York to Paris, May 20, 1927.

ty-age readers.

City Editor Vin McLellan of The Phoenix, who conducted the telephone interview with Bond, quoted him as saying:

"I certainly think that anybody who is going to make the decisions that I've made, you know, they have got to get money somewhere, I'm sure."

"I would recommend that everyone go out and rob a bank if they want some ..."

"One thing I can say, they don't have to kill a cop though ... to rob a bank."

Bond was a student at Brandeis University near Boston, where he enrolled after serving three years of a 6-to-12-year sentence in the Massachusetts state prison at Walpole for bank robbery.

At Brandeis he met Susan Saxe, 21, of Albany, N.Y., and Katherine A. Power, 21, of Denver, Colo., who are sought in the holdup-killing.

The three worked together in the National Student Strike Information Center, set up last spring after U.S. troops entered Cambodia and the Kent State shootings. An associate at the center was Michael Saul Fleischer, 23, under arrest as an accessory in the case.

The Phoenix quoted Bond as saying criminals "are those people who are out for their own personal interests, who live in a world by themselves."

Once enrolled at Brandeis, the newspaper quoted Bond as saying, "again, almost by definition I was asked to become a criminal, I couldn't. None of the things I had worked for were really there. So I had to have some hand in changing them."

Bond continued, "A university today does nothing but teach young people how to make a basic affirmation of contemporary American values."

GOREN ON BRIDGE

pected tricks — enough, he hoped, to make six hearts. East's double of slam bid is conventional and bars a player from making the normal lead, which, in the present case, would be a diamond.

Since only diamonds and hearts have been bid, West's choice is restricted to the unbid suits. East hoped that his partner would select a club.

West was confronted with a pure guess; however, he had nothing to go on. He finally decided to lead his singleton spade in the hope that East's high card strength was concentrated in that suit.

South played the ace of spades from dummy at trick one and promptly drew trumps by leading to the ace of hearts and then crossing back to North's jack. The two losing clubs were discarded on the king and queen of spades, and declarer graciously conceded one diamond trick and claimed his club.

If East had raised his partner to five diamonds directly, his opponents might not have bid the slam and a considerable saving would be achievable. East can go one step further and bid four clubs as his initial response. This action would assure a club lead against any contract reached by the opponents.

Also the bid of a new suit by responder is forcing for one round. East incurs slight risk, for even if West should raise clubs—East can always return to five diamonds.

Observe that East and West have a cheap sacrifice in five diamonds, losing only three tricks. A save at six diamonds cost only 300 points, and if the opponents persist to six hearts, West may be expected to find the killing club lead provided that East has bid that suit earlier.

'Book Learning' plus Business Training!

NO OTHER part-time activity ties in so well with a boy's education as does newspaper route work. It adds business training, experience and earnings, to his day-time schooling!

HIS ROUTE is really a modern business operation in miniature! It enables him to put so many of his classroom lessons to immediate use — as he serves customers, keeps records, collects money, pays bills, contacts newcomers and deals with people.

IMPORTANT TOO, is the regular profit his route provides and the opportunity he has to increase it! This means money for books, sports and good times, as well as savings for college! See if there's an opening where YOUR son can add this valuable "PLUS" to his schooling — a newspaper route!

Hume, Richards Ethel Was Not Included In Study Group

NEW YORK (AP) — Every body thought it was Ethel Kennedy who pushed Arthur Schlesinger Jr. into that swimming pool at the Robert F. Kennedy home during the John F. Kennedy administration, but Time magazine says actually it was Lee Udall.

At the time, her husband Stewart was secretary of the interior and historian Schlesinger was a presidential aide. Time quotes Mrs. Udall as saying: "All these years Ethel has been taking the rap for me. I'm the one who pushed Arthur into the pool. I was dancing by and he was standing there holding forth and looking so Arthurish, and something came over me. I just stuck out my arm and pushed him in and danced away. He never knew."

Hume, Richards Ethel Was Not Included In Study Group

Dr. W. Garrett Hume and Dr. John Richards are included in a newly organized steering committee to study the preparation program of special education teachers.

The committee will have its initial meeting October 15 in the offices of the Division for Exceptional Children of the State Department of Public Instruction. According to George Kahdy, director of the Division, the purpose of the committee is to revise the guidelines set up by the State Board of Education in 1962 for the preparation of public school special education teachers. Kahdy said the guidelines set in 1962 should be updated to be relevant in the 1970s.

Dr. Hume is director of speech and hearing at East Carolina University and Dr. Richards is director of special education at ECU.

The Worry Clinic Moving Can Be Cruel To Child

Miriam has been the victim of extreme child cruelty! Millions of other youngsters have likewise been soured on school and made potential dropouts just because their parents omitted the vital steps outlined today. Social "vaccination" is often as vital as smallpox vaccination, so study this case with care!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

Ph. D., M.D.

CASE 0-549: Miriam D., aged 8, is a bright child. "But, Dr. Crane," her mother began, "we moved into a new school district last term, and Miriam's grades have been dropping fast.

"For she is shy and has been torn away from her former classmates with whom she started to school in kindergarten.

"So what can we do to help her raise her school marks?"

A lot of child cruelty occurs that isn't even recognized as such by doting parents.

For when you uproot a youngster from its familiar neighborhood that child often becomes tense, fearful and likely to drop in its school marks.

Parents, PLEASE, have a heart!

If you are forced to move because daddy's job requires it, then by all means "vaccinate" your youngster favorably to the new neighborhood.

If you have several kiddies of school age, they can help bolster up each other's timidity about entering a new school but even so, they appreciate the "vaccination" process outlined below.

And a shy "only" child is doubly grateful for it.

(1) Schedule a little party at your home or a nearby park for those youngsters in your city block who are the same age as your school tot.

Do this before school begins, so your youngster will have made a few friends in advance of the opening day of school.

(2) Take your child to the neighborhood Sunday School the very first Sunday you are in the new neighborhood.

This will probably get him into a classroom situation with other kiddies of his age who will then be in the same room with him at public school.

(3) Contrive to have a neighboring youngster stop for your child en route to school or to the corner where the bus picks them up.

NEVER LET YOUR CHILD START ALONE TO HIS NEW SCHOOL!

(4) If there are no nearby youngsters to chaperone your child on that first day, then Mamma should escort him to the bus and introduce him to the driver.

Also, get the driver's name, for when people know each other's names, they don't feel as strange and fearful.

(5) Mamma should also have obtained the teacher's name and preferably have met her prior to the child's first day in the new school.

(6) By all means, attend the first PTA or PTO meeting.

Daddy should likewise exert enough energy to accompany Mamma, so both parents know the teacher.

And visit your child's room, where you can take note of any papers or drawings of your youngster that may be on the blackboard.

(7) If your child is below average in any subject, such as reading, spelling or arithmetic, then engage in a little tactful home tutoring via the "flash card" method outlined in the booklet below.

Cut some strips of white cardboard upon which you print the words from your child's reading book which he doesn't understand.

Then hold up two cards, showing the differences in the printed words and let him pronounce them correctly.

Now shuffle the cards and ask him to identify them. Add a 3rd, then a 4th, etc.

He'll learn 25 new words in just a few minutes!

Let Daddy compete with him while Mamma holds up the cards as she counts slowly to 10. First one to pronounce the word gets that card.

Use the backs of these cards for math, as 5 x 3 are —

So send for my booklet, "How to Raise Your Child's School Marks," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Hospital Ass'n Meet Set Here

Joseph H. James Jr., administrator of Wayne County Memorial Hospital in Goldsboro, will address a Legislative dinner meeting to be held Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Greenville Moose Lodge.

The meeting is being sponsored by the North Carolina Hospital Association, of which James is president-elect. He will make a brief presentation on critical issue currently facing hospital, including those that

Silkworms Still Royal Industry

TOKYO (UPI) —About 1.2 million silkworms being raised at the Imperial Palace are expected to yield some 90 pounds of raw silk this year, according to the Imperial Household Agency.

The agency said cloth made of silk from the imperial cocoons will be used by members of the imperial palace and for presents to foreign guests of the palace. Silkworm raising inside the palace grounds was started in 1871 by the Empress Eisho, mother of the late Emperor Meiji.

will come before the 1971 General Assembly. A question and answer session will follow. The dinner meeting will be preceded by a social hour that begins at 6 p.m.
