

Six-Member Body Argued

City Council Again OKs Enlargement

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville's City Council last night approved the second reading of an ordinance amending the city Charter which will increase the membership of the City Council from four members and a mayor to six members and a mayor.

Unanimous approval came for the enlarging amendment, to be effective for next spring's election, following an expression of objections voiced by Richard (Dick) King.

"I've seen the good work you've done," King said. "It seems four men are sufficient. If you don't have time to take care of your job, I think you should resign."

King also suggested that the councilmen draw straws, with the one with the shortest dropping out. He then added, "You could select a good black man and appoint him. If you wait til the next election there will be a struggle. In this way you could get a good man of your own selection."

When asked by Councilman Percy Cox what his basic objection was to a six member council, King said "Two or three men can settle more than a dozen, my idea is the fewer the better."

Cox told King, "Statistics show Greenville is the only municipality of its size in North Carolina that still has only four councilmen."

Councilman Jerry Sutherland noted "The subject of race never came up in this ordinance. We consider the electorate of Greenville smart enough to choose the right people, the people they want representing them."

In what was probably a record breaking agenda — with 15 listed items and a large number of non-listed ones considered at the regular meeting for October, the councilmen took action approving some items, denying others, and setting public hearings at a later date on several:

—Approval was made following a public hearing, without any objections being voiced, to the rezoning of the M. B. Massey Jr. property and Westhaven Subdivision. The Planning and Zoning Commission had recommended approval of this request for the property which was recently annexed into the city limits.

The land, in four tracts, lies along N. C. 11 in the southern part of Greenville. That area along the highway was rezoned to highway commercial, with the other inner areas becoming R-9 residential. Previously, the entire area was zoned RA-20.

City Manager Harry Hagerty cited this action as "advance planning in its best light," and noted "this zoning is compatible with adjacent zoning."

—A resolution was adopted authorizing designating the portion of the General Neighborhood Renewal Program (GNRP) known as Southside Project as the first project to be undertaken under the GNRP. In effect, the resolution enables the Redevelopment Commission to apply for a federal fund grant to carry out a study of the area in order to perfect plans for urban renewal of the area.

T. I. Wagner, Deputy Director for the Redevelopment Commission, explained to the approximately 40 interested persons present that before action was taken, a public hearing had to be conducted by the Redevelopment Commission and another public hearing held by the City Council.

Wagner reiterated that the plan will call for assistance to property owners for rehabilitation of homes, with outright grants to individuals with family incomes of less than $3,000; and below market interest rate loans to property owners whose family incomes range from around $3,000 to $8,500 yearly.

"This project is not to be looked at in the same light as urban renewal in Shore Drive or Newtown," Wagner stated. "They were clearance projects. This is the opposite, to conserve, to rehabilitate as many housing units as possible. It is designed to help people in rehabilitating."

A number of citizens from the area offered opinions on this proposal — Mrs. Walter Perkins, Rev. Alfred Norfleet, Mrs. Edna Sullivan, George Saad, Jerry Spain, Mrs. Mary Brewington, James L. Snuggs, Edd Fleming, and Ernest Adams, Sr., among others.

Most of them gave statements of support for the project, asking that action be taken to get it underway.

Mrs. Sullivan told the councilmen "You ought to see what some people are living in. They want to get some place decent. Some of them are paying $40 to $48 a month rent. One lady told me she needed an umbrella to walk in her house when it rained."

Please don't delay this project."

Mrs. Perkins noted, "My aim is I want the community brought up to where our property has value, regardless of what it takes. If it takes paving streets — and we don't have paved streets, let's do it. We don't need another single meeting, we want to get to work on our property over there."

Rev. Norfleet expressed objection to taking the requested resolution action at last night's meeting, saying he felt all property owners should be contacted. Norfleet offered to take a petition to property owners. "I know there are as much as 100 black property owners in that area," Norfleet commented. "There's only 15 or 20 here tonight."

Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr. asked property owners present in the audience to stand. There were considerably more than 20, black and white, who stood. "There's more here than I thought," Norfleet said, "maybe 40 percent, but there's white as well as colored, I don't think blacks should be considered alone."

Edd Fleming supported Norfleet's suggestion to wait until all could be heard from. He mentioned that several who could not be there last night had asked him to state their desire to wait. Councilman Johnny Edwards reminded the spectators, "this is not a public hearing tonight, and what we're voting for is appraisal funds. There will be public hearings later."

"This has to be done to get facts and figures for a public hearing," councilman Cox stated. "Then we can know in detail what we are talking about."

Claim Proof Soviets Man SAM Sites

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A military spokesman in Tel Aviv said today that Israel has definite proof that Soviet crews are manning anti-aircraft missile sites on the Egyptian side of the Suez Canal.

"We have photographic and other evidence proving that Russians are manning SAM3 missiles at the canal," the spokesman said.

The spokesman refused to say what "other evidence" Israel possesses, but observers believe it may include radio traffic between Russians and Egyptians which the Israelis intercepted.

The Soviet government on Thursday denied its personnel were manning the missile batteries it has supplied Egypt. It countered with charges that Israel is making "almost daily" intrusions into Egyptian air space, that Israeli troops are "continuously building fortifications" along the east side of the Suez Canal, and that Israel and the United States are stalling Middle East peace talks.

The statement coincided with Israel's 22nd complaint that Egypt is violating the Middle East cease-fire by deploying Soviet missiles in the standstill zone along the canal.

In Beirut, the right-wing newspaper Al Hayat reported that President Gamal Abdel Nasser had issued orders a week before he died for the withdrawal of the missiles. The paper said as soon as Nasser died, a group of junior army officers apparently prevailed on Gen. Mohammed Fawzi, the Egyptian commander in chief, to reverse the order.

Old Kingdom Now A Republic

By JOHN T. WHEELER

Associated Press Writer PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cannon thundered a ragged salute, thousands of youths paraded in a variety of uniforms, and the ancient kingdom of Cambodia became a republic today in the middle of a war.

Leaders of the government that ousted Prince Norodom Sihanouk as chief of state on March 18 moved up in military rank in honor of the occasion: Premier Lon Nol to four-star general, Vice Premier Sisowath Sirik Matak to lieutenant general, and Im Tam, president of the National Assembly, to major general.

Im Tam recalled an old Cambodian saying, "crazy like the king," and said the new republic ends more than 1,000 years of "often cruel, capricious rule by the monarchy."

"We solemnly proclaim on Oct. 9, 1970, that from this hour onward Cambodia is a republic, one and indivisible," he said. He declared that the people's rights had not been respected by Sihanouk, now an exile in Peking, "the dictator who was a hypocrite and an excellent demagogue."

Lon Nol, Sirik Matak and Sihanouk's successor as chief of state, Cheng Heng, walked to the square in front of the former royal palace and there raised the flag of the republic—blue with three white stars on the lower left and above it the temple of Angkor Wat outlined in white on red above. The stars symbolize nationhood, republicanism and happiness, and Buddhism and justice.

Cambodian Air Force T28s, MIG15s and Fougat jets made low passes overhead.

The 101-gun salute was a flop.

HUMAN RELATIONS WEEK... for November 2-8 was proclaimed by County Commissioner Charles Gaskins (left) and Greenville Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr. (right). Dr. Andrew Best, center, called on governments in eastern North Carolina to take similar action on efforts to involve their communities in the week long program.

Human Relations Week Launched At Meeting

Dr. Andrew Best, recently appointed director of the Eastern District of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council, held a press conference this morning at Holiday Inn to initiate a campaign for observance of Human Relations Week in Greenville and Pitt County for the week of November 2 through 8.

Representatives from city and county governments, education institutions, and civic and religious organizations were on hand for the occasion.

Those present were: Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr., Dr. Robert Holt, vice-president and Dean of Administration, East Carolina University; County Commissioner, Charles Gaskins; City Manager Harry Hagerty; City Councilman Johnny Edwards; Chief of Police Tommy Gladson; Superintendent of County Schools Arthur Alford; Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association manager Harold Creech; school principals Robert Allgood and John Jones; assistant principals C. B. Gray and Raymond Williams, county auditor Reginald Gray, clerk of Superior Court H. L. Lewis; Rev. Tommy Payne, John Taylor, D. D. Garrett, and J. J. Brown.

Both Mayor Wooten and commissioner Gaskins read proclamations setting the first week in November as Human Relations Week.

"This time of transition in our educational system and our social order requires new efforts from all our citizens to meet the challenge of change," Mayor Wooten read from his proclamation. "All city departments and agencies will cooperate and we encourage all citizens to support and participate in the observance of this week."

Gaskins, noting that the commissioners and a number of agencies in the county were sponsoring the appearance of Brooks Hays, chairman of the North Carolina Good Neighbor, in Greenville on November 8, stated in the county's proclamation "emphasis is on total community cooperation for good human relations." He urged all county agencies to participate in a matter of primary importance.

Dr. Best remarked "the whole idea for this, the original request, is Arthur Alford's. We're sorry," he told Alford, "We are a year late getting around to action on this."

Plans noted in conjunction with observance of Human Relations Week call for a session of rapping with youth on November 7 at Aycock Junior High School. On Sunday, a public mass meeting, to be addressed by Brooks Hays, will be held at Wright Auditorium on ECU campus.

Revealing that he hopes other cities and counties in the 26 county eastern district will follow the example of Greenville and Pitt County in proclaiming the week Human Relations Week, and in planning a series of events to involve the total community, Dr. Best said: "We call upon all city and county officials, government agencies, schools, churches, human relations groups, civic and fraternal organizations, and individuals to join in the observance of this period."

"We call for activities which will focus on and promote mutual understanding and respect, equal opportunity, social justice, and above all — an atmosphere which is conducive to learning."

Open Door To FBI Entry Senate Broadens 'Federal Crimes'

By JOHN CHADWICK

Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — In a burst of anticrime activity, the Senate has passed legislation providing heavier penalties for terror bombings, increased protection for the president and members of Congress, and more federal aid for state and local police.

What started off as a batch of separate bills and ended up in one big legislative package also includes extra jail sentences for federal crimes carried out with a gun and special presidential awards for valorous conduct by law enforcement officers.

The vote on final passage Thursday, after eight hours of debate, was 59 to 0—the low count indicating only that a lot of senators are out campaigning for re-election in a year when law and order is a prime issue. The package now goes to the House.

First off, the Senate passed 68 to 0 a bill broadening and strengthening federal laws against bombings and permitting the death penalty in cases causing fatal injuries. It authorizes use of wiretapping under court order when criminal use of explosives is suspected.

An amendment by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to strike out the death penalty was rejected 46 to 22.

The bill makes it a federal crime to damage or destroy with explosives any federal property or the property of any institution receiving federal funds. This opens the way for the FBI to investigate bombing on virtually any college campus.

Another bill passed by voice vote is designed to provide increased protection for the president when he is away from Washington.

Its effect is to permit the Secret Service to cordon off areas for the president's protection, without having to rely on state or local trespass laws.

Also passed by voice vote was a bill making it a federal offense to assassinate, kidnap or assault a member of Congress or a congressman-elect.

Still another bill passed by the Senate permits the government to appeal federal district court rulings dismissing criminal prosecutions when there has been no verdict of acquittal. It also permits appeal of rulings that suppress evidence before trial.

These separate bills were added to still another measure authorizing a vastly increased program of federal grants to assist state and local governments in improving their police forces, courts and correctional systems.

Rioting Charged

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Police said today 24 persons have been charged with inciting to riot after about 100 state and city police, armed with tear gas and loaded shotguns, dispersed a crowd estimated at 2,000 on the Marshall University campus.

Police said none of the 24 $1,000-bonds had been posted.

The number who actively participated in the demonstration was estimated by police at about 100 to 200 students, but at times the entire crowd joined in shouting obscenities directed at police.

The students apparently were incensed over drug raids that netted 10 arrests early Thursday. The refused to disperse throughout the evening. But they retreated each time police advanced.

Open House

The Daily Reflector will hold open house Sunday afternoon from 2 until 5 o'clock.

The newspapers offices and plant will be open during that time and the public is invited to visit. The new advertising and business department areas and news room facilities will be open.

In the production department visitors will see the photo composition methods which have replaced the old hot metal way of producing the newspaper.

The new 32-page Goss Urbanite high speed off-set press can also be seen on the tour of the facilities, as well as the plate making department.

Co-Publishers John S. Whichard and David J. Whichard II urged all interested persons to attend the open house Sunday.

Police Find Few Leads In 3 Bombing Attacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Police in three West Coast cities said today they had few leads to the bomb blasts that ripped two military facilities and a county courthouse, but indicated they were proceeding on the assumption it was a radical conspiracy.

The pre-dawn explosions Thursday damaged a courtroom and rest room of the Marin County Civic Center in San Rafael, Calif., shattered a section of an outside wall at an Army National Guard armory in Santa Barbara, Calif., and caused an estimated $150,000 damage to a building housing the Navy and Air Force ROTC departments at the University of Washington in Seattle.

A bomb was found in the heating duct of a building at the University of California at Berkeley and was disarmed.

Some 820 men and women students in robes and slippers were evacuated early today from a coed dormitory at UCLA when an anonymous caller telephoned a bomb threat. No bomb was found.

"We certainly believe this bombing is connected with the Weatherman faction and other terrorist groups in our nation today," said Santa Barbara Police Chief A. W. Trembley, adding that he had several leads. The Weatherman faction is a group which broke from the Students for a Democratic Society.

California Gov. Ronald Reagan termed the bombings a "cowardly and despicable ... terror tactic" by radical factions and told neqmen, "I think there's going to be more of this."

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, speaking in San Francisco, attributed the bombings to "psychopaths." He said he believes a nationwide conspiracy exists among some radicals to destroy American institutions.

The courthouse at San Rafael was scene of a shootout during an escape attempt in which a judge and three others were killed.

The explosion there and at Seattle were preceded by telephone warnings and a telephone call led to the unexploded bomb at Berkeley.

About 12 hours after the Santa Barbara armory blast, the campus radio station, KCSB-FM, at the University of California at Santa Barbara received a typewritten letter by special delivery mail which claimed responsibility for the bombing.

Signed "Perfect Park Home Grown Garden Society," the letter said the bombing was timed to coincide with the third anniversary of the death of Cuban revolutionary Ernesto Che Guevara, shot to death in Bolivia Oct. 8, 1967.

At a news conference in New York Tuesday, officials of the Youth International Party—Yippies—had played a tape recording by Bernardine Dohrn, a fugitive leader of Weatherman, threatening "a fall offensive of youth resistance that will spread from Santa Barbara to Boston back to Kent State and Kansas."

Golden Frinks Reports An Ambush On Highway

SWANQUARTER, N. C. (AP)

—A North Carolina civil rights leader told the Highway Patrol early this morning that night-riders ambushed him on a state highway in coastal Hyde County, pumping three slugs into the back of his car and shooting out three tires.

Golden Frinks, state field secretary for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told the Patrol that he was lured out onto the highway by a mysterious telephone call. He was not injured.

He said the ambush may be connected with opposition to his helping organize a black-owned business in Hyde County.

Frinks said he received an anonymous call Thursday night from someone who said another civil rights worker's car had broken down near Englehard, 14 miles north of Swanquarter on N.C. 264.

Frinks said that he drove to the spot where the worker — Miss Alice Spencer — was supposed to be, but found nothing. Driving about five miles further, he found the worker driving down the highway. She had not had any car trouble.

Frinks said he was following Miss Spencer's car back to Swanquarter when he noticed headlights behind him.

A fusillade of shots rang out, he said. With the tires shot out, he lost control of his car, which struck the rear of Miss Spencer's car. Miss Spencer was not hurt.

The nightriders sped off onto a side road, Frinks said.

Highway patrolman Jerry Jenkins of Swanquarter confirmed that Frinks had reported the ambush to the patrol.

Frinks said he has helped organize a black-owned grocery-service station in Hyde County and said there may be some link between the shooting and opposition to the business.

The civil rights official was involved in school desegregation in Swanquarter in 1968 that led to racial disorders. The Highway Patrol was called in to restore order.

Their Children Married, Life Seems Meaningless

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are "alone" again, after raising, educating and marrying off two children. Our house is paid for, we have no debts, and with our combined incomes we have no money worries. Now that we can take life easy we should enjoy the happiest days of our lives. But we're not. Life seems boring and empty. We have taken a few trips, but you have to come home sometime. Is there something the matter with us? Or does this happen to other people our age? M & J

DEAR M AND J: It happens to lots of people. You need to come out of your insulated world and face a few more challenges. Become involved in projects, and causes, and people to whom you can devote your energy, time and money. [You won't have to look far.] Happiness doesn't come from "taking life easy." It comes from making your time count for something. The most miserable people in the world are those who don't have anything to get up in the morning for. Don't join that club.

DEAR ABBY: I never thought I would ever write to you, but if "Chastity Belt" isn't a hoax, it beats everything I've read thus far.

Therefore, please accept the limerick below as my reply to Ernie's Girl:

"Rather than suffering the indignity
Of steel encased virginity
Serve this maniac of chastity
A dose of psychotherapy."

SINCERELY, G. W. D.

DEAR G. W. D.: T'was no hoax, I assure you. Name, address and documentation was provided by the correspondent.

DEAR ABBY: You gals sure do stick together! About the couple who were dining in a fine restaurant: It seems the strolling musicians offered to play their favorite tune. The gentleman didn't tip the musicians, so the lady wrote to say she thought the gentleman was a cheapskate. And you agreed with her.

I can name several reasons why a gentleman wouldn't want to have a band of strolling musicians stand by his table and play his favorite song. For one thing, maybe he doesn't want to suffer the grins and stares from a roomful of smirking morons.

Also, it's possible the gentleman didn't know what an appropriate tip for such a favor should be.

Or he could have been just plain resentful for having been hustled by the musicians.

Your attitude is enough to drive a man into gay lib.

NO PATSY

DEAR NO: I can understand the gentleman's wish to be inconspicuous, and I respect it. But not knowing what an appropriate tip should be is certainly no excuse for not tipping at all. When in doubt, a dollar will do.

DEAR ABBY: It's late and I have to be to work early in the morning, but I just had to write this to "Undecided" who saw one of her best friend's husband out with another woman.

"Keep your mouth shut! Do you think the wife will stop loving him because of this? No, she won't. She may leave him, and even if she doesn't, things will never be the same between them. One thing, for sure, she will never thank you for having told her. In time she will resent you for telling her."

I know what I am talking about, Abby, because tonight I sit alone in a house, not a home, for I had one "friend" too many.

Lamb Has Been Favorite Since Biblical Times

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer
You might not care for it stuffed with ox suet, larks and olives as they did in lusty 17th century Europe, and the Roman custom of basting it with a fishy brine might sound pretty far out.

But lamb, served in its infinite varieties, is still an eye catcher on menus around the world.

The ancient Israelites, most of whom were shepherds, developed a fondness for lamb, and the Old Testament gives one of the earliest recorded directions for eating it.

Before the flight of the Jews from Egypt, the Lord instructed them each to take a lamb. Then, said the Lord, "And they shall eat the flesh in that night, roast with fire, and unleavened bread; and with bitter herbs they shall eat it." (Exodus 12:8).

There is a versatility about lamb that lends itself to a broad range of cooking techniques varying from the hot curries of the East Indies and the shish kebabs of the Middle East to the hearty mutton cutlets of Britain and the barbecues of America.

England made roast lamb with mint sauce a classic, while the Middle Eastern chefs roasted it with fragrant herbs and pistachio nuts.

But the sons and daughters of Erin weighed in with a dish that has achieved immortality. Recipes for Irish stew can be found in Escoffier, Montagne and virtually every other lexicon of cooking. They differ in many ways, but the best agree on one point. Good Irish stew is not a thin, watery soup with meat and vegetables floating in it, but a robust dish of meat, potatoes and onions cooked slowly until it is thick, rich and redolent.

Lamb is an ancient symbol of spring and its flesh is popular at religious festivals, including the Christian Easter and the Jewish Passover.

In olden days it was the custom in England and many other lands to roast a whole sheep stuffed with such ingredients as currants, raisins, and bread soaked in cream and egg yolks and sugar.

Orthodox Greeks put on an Easter Feast that is lavish to put it mildly, and lamb is the centerpiece. It leads off with magerita, a soup made of the heart, lungs and liver of a baby spring lamb, which is traditionally served after the midnight Resurrection service.

Then comes the centerpiece, the roasted lamb. Traditionally, it is cooked in an open pit, but today many Greek hostesses have a neighborhood baker cook it in his spacious oven.

The Greeks are also fond of broiled lamb chops and give them an added zest with sprinkled oregano and lemon juice.

But one of the most enticing Greek dishes is moussaka, a baked meat custard that blends ground lamb, spices, eggs and cheese into a memorable re-past.

Perkins noted "I have five trailers in the same area, on Spencer, Raleigh and Paris Streets." Approval carries a restriction that it be used only for a residence, and not for rental purposes.

—A similar approval with the same waiver provision was granted to William F. Bullock Sr. to place a trailer at 401 Church Street.

—A third request for a trailer placement permit, that of Marvin Whaley to place one at 2623 South Wright Road, at the corner of Cedar Lane and South Wright was ruled "not within the council's purview," as the location is zoned R-9, which calls for one or two family dwellings only.

—A final request for a trailer permit, by Rudy Lloyd for 2117 Montclair Drive, zoned R-6, resulted in setting a public hearing for the November meeting on the matter.

—A public hearing for November was declared in order to authorize assessment rolls on curb, gutter, and paving for Monroe Street and Park Drive; and for curb and gutter on Nichols Drive, Emerson Road, Belmont Drive, and Kent Road.

—The Council approved placing, on the normal priority listing, a petition for street improvements on Fourth Street from Memorial Drive to Conley Street and on Third Street from Memorial Drive to Conley Street.

—Approval was also voted, on normal priority list for curb, gutter and street widening on Arlington Drive between Memorial Drive and Hooker Road. Billy Ellis asked "to go on record as being definitely opposed to widening Arlington Street to 80 feet." Ellis, in stating his opposition, said "I understand plans are shaping up to do this (widen the street), and it will turn a lot of traffic into the area. We had a community meeting, and are against this. I bring this up now for future reference."

Hagerty said "we have no plans yet. It will probably be another 20 years before this develops."

—Tax refunds were approved for: Dorsey Williams, in the amount of $61.55 and Milo and Grace Smith for $9.38. A refund was also approved for the Pitt Plaza Dairy Bar for $10.00 tobacco license purchased which was not required.

—Approved the city buying back two cemetery lots from John F. Minges for $570.00, the original price paid by M. O. Minges in 1950.

—Authorization was made for payment of one quarter of the funds allocated earlier by the city for payment to the Mid-East Regional Airport Authority. The Mid-East Economic Development Commission had requested payment of funds for a one-half year period.

—City Attorney David Reid was asked to study the matter of drawing up an agreement with the Raleigh Coach Line which operates busses at ECU. The line has requested a non-exclusive franchise because of its route from ECU to Pitt Plaza, down 14th Street and Charles Street. The council asked Reid to look into the legalities, to prepare the required papers, and to report back with this in the November meeting.

—A resolution of endorsement was authorized in support of the hospital bond issue to be voted on in the November elections.

—Approval was given to issue a taxi franchise to Franklin L. Bradley for a franchise formerly held by W. W. Ballard.

—The council is taking under advisement a request by Mrs. George Coffman and Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood for sidewalks along Fifth Street to the site of the new Wahl-Coates School.

—A report was made by Fire Chief Ray Smith which revealed that a fire alarm box in the 1700 block area of South Pitt Street had been removed because it was constantly being broken and used for turning in false alarms. "This is costing the city $300 to $400 a week," Smith noted, "for paying firemen in answering calls." He added, "The people in the area will not tell us who it is."

—After hearing a report by Dr. Andrew Best, recently appointed chairman of the Eastern District of the North Carolina Good Neighbor Council, city councilmen approved a resolution for a proclamation to be issued for the first week to November to be marked as Human Relations Week. Councilmen also assured Dr. Best that representatives from the council would be present at today's press conference at 9:00 a.m., to be held at Holiday Inn.

—A low bid for a 1970 model pick up truck, at $1,755 with trade-in, was approved. The truck is to replace a 1966 Scout pick-up now used by Tom Adams of the Sanitation Department.

Speaker Urges 'Involvement'

DISCUSS POLICIES... J. C. Galloway and John Sledge discuss Farm Bureau policies at the group's annual ladies night banquet.

John Sledge, vice president of the North Carolina Farm Bureau, was the keynote speaker for the annual ladies night banquet of the Pitt County Farm Bureau held last night at the Moose Lodge.

Sledge challenged the farmers to become actively involved in policymaking. He said it will take dedication and loyalty working together to solve the farmers' problems.

A question and answer period followed Sledge's address.

The local FB group discussed the congested tobacco market problems at the warehouses and talked about the idea of synthetic tobacco for cigarettes.

Resolutions to improve tobacco marketing conditions will be adopted at the annual Pitt County FB meeting Oct. 22 at 7 p.m. in the Pitt County Court House.

J. C. Galloway, president of the local FB, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. Mayo Cheery of Rocky Mount, chairman of the North Carolina Farm Bureau Women's Advisory Council, brought greetings from the state office and told of the many areas of Farm Bureau work in which women can participate.

Multi-County Project Discussed At Meeting

Robert Powell discussed a Resource Conservation and Development project which will include Pitt County, at the meeting of Soil Conservation district supervisors and representatives from nine counties in Washington Wednesday night.

The meeting was attended by SCS district supervisors, county commissioners from nine counties, and representatives of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

R. L. Mohler, SCS district supervisor for Beaufort District, conducted the meeting.

Powell told how a resource conservation and development project is a multi-county effort of people to strengthen their resource base for economic development of the area.

"Natural resources as well as human resources are involved,"

Dr. Indorf Will Attend Session

Dr. Hans H. Indorf of the East Carolina University Office of International Studies will attend a "Conference on Relations Among the North Atlantic Nations" at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Tuesday through Thursday.

Several hundred leaders of government, industry, finance, and education will attend the Conference, one of five slated during International Month in North Carolina.

Powell explained. "The Department of Agriculture assigns a project coordinator to help local people develop their plan and select the resource development projects to be worked on."

Powell is currently project coordinator for the six county North Central Piedmont RC and D, headquartered in Graham. Powell explained how federal RC and D funds this year will be used. About 60 percent will go into personal services and 40 percent for cost-sharing of projects for flood prevention, erosion control and water management.

N. Worth Chesson, development specialist, assured the group that an RC and D project would complement rather than conflict with goals and activities of the Mid-East Economic Development Commission.

ABC's Of Higher Education

In a recent talk before the Legislative Work Conference of the Southern Regional Education Board, Gov. Bob Scott outlined his suggestions in the search for answers to the problem of student unrest on our campuses.

He called them Bob Scott's "ABC's of higher education."

We thought the governor said it pretty well and we would like to present the Scott ABC's of higher education here:

It is time for academic responsibility, not academic anarchy.

It is time for brains and biology on our campuses, not bullets and brutality.

It is time for creativity, not criminality.

It is time for discipline and direction, not disruption and divisiveness.

It is time for English and economics, not endless encounters.

It is time for firmness and fairness, not fires and flag-stomping.

It is time for greatness, not guns.

It is time for history and honesty, not harassment and hate.

It is time for ideas, not ignorance.

It is time for journalism, not jeopardy.

It is time for kindness, not kleptomania.

It is time for libraries and learning, not license and larceny.

It is time for music and morality, for medicine and mathematics, not madness and mindlessness.

It is time for nursing and nutrition courses, not narcotics and non-negotiable demands.

It is time for ocean studies and objectivity, not obstinacy.

It is time for peace and planning, for philosophy and psychology, not pot and polarization.

It is time to question, not quarrel.

It is time for reason and respect, not revolt and riot.

It is time for scientific inquiry, not strikes.

It is time to train teachers, not troublemakers.

It is time for urban studies, not unrest.

It is time to value laws, not violate them.

It is time for work, not waste.

It is time for x-ray therapy training, not x-marks in roll books for absent students.

It is time for youth, not yahoos.

It is time for zoology, not zeroes.

In summary, it is time for a renaissance in higher education, for a rebirth of the love to learn, for a renewal of the quest for truth, and a respect for truth when it is found.

It is time for our campuses to reject the drift toward political activism toward becoming asylums of professional political anarchists, and return to their respected, useful and still valid function as seats of truth and learning.

Duffey Versus Blue Collars

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

BRIDGEPORT, Conn.—In blue-collar neighborhoods of this old factory town, the Rev. Joseph Duffey is losing — and losing badly — his audacious bid to weld a neo-Rooseveltian coalition between the peace movement and the white workman.

Our interviews with 67 voters in predominantly Italo-American working-class precincts which usually vote Democratic, conducted through pollster Oliver Quayle's organization, showed a huge lead for Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, the Democratic incumbent disowned by his party and running as an independent. The result: Dodd, 43 percent; Rep. Lowell Weicker, Republican, 27 percent; Duffey, the Democratic nominee, 11 percent; undecided, 19 percent.

This by no means reflects the overall Connecticut situation. In comprehensive statewide polls (including Quayle's), Duffey and Weicker run a virtual dead heat with Dodd a poor third. Besides, Bridgeport voters who told us they support Dodd may well revert to the habits of a lifetime on Nov. 3 and pull the party lever for the entire Democratic ticket (including Duffey).

Nevertheless, our interviews do constitute a verdict of failure for Duffey's year-long effort to reach the blue-collar worker and convince him that his economic woes flow from Vietnam. Nearly half of these voters perceive Duffey, a leader in the peace movement as national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), only dimly or not at all and back Dodd as the more familiar face. Were Dodd not running, such voters might support Duffey.

But among those who do perceive Duffey, there is an overwhelming rejection, not because of his Vietnam views but because they consider him a radical. Thus, a maintenance man at Bridgeport's General Electric plant, normally a straight Democratic voter, opposes Duffey because "he's always with the wild students" while Dodd "is a man for law and order." Such voters would not conceivably back Duffey even in a two-man race but instead would go Republican.

In answer to questions posed by us (aided by Quayle polltakers Joy Stile and Hilda Schaeffer), the voters who knew anything about Duffey were fundamentally in agreement: he is too liberal, too left-wing, too closely associated with the SDS, not really a Democrat. Four voters volunteered that they regard Duffey as a Communist.

Moreover, Duffey's background as a Protestant clergyman is widely resented. "I wouldn't want any minister for my Senator," a retired GE plant worker told us.

But Bridgeport's blue-collar districts are not converting to Republicanism. They are unhappy with President Nixon and much prefer Sen. Edmund Muskie over him in 1972, support the Democratic nominee for governor (Rep. Emilio Q. Daddario) over the Republican (Rep. Thomas Meskill), and blame the Republicans for rising unemployment.

Where Duffey suffers is that they think there are worse things than unemployment. By a 3-to-1 margin, they view restoring law-and-order as more important than fighting recession. Thus do they choose Tom Dodd, censured by the Senate and in failing health over young, ethically spotless but ideologically suspect Joe Duffey.

Typifying Duffey's failure to capitalize on economic discontent is a middle-aged house painter who blames all economic problems on the Nixon administration and will vote straight Democratic except for Duffey. "He really should stay with the church. All Duffey's followers are the young hippies." Dodd? "He's the man for the workingman."

Even Duffey's few supporters (7 out of 67) are not backing him as the friend of the workingman. Three of them told us they know nothing about Duffey but always vote Democratic. The other four are liberals, supporting him for the very reasons that the others oppose him.

No amount of Duffey support from the liberal suburbs can overcome blue-collar defections of this magnitude if these Bridgeport interviews indeed reflect sentiment elsewhere in Connecticut.

Strength For Today

EXPECTATIONS

Whither are we going? This day in which we live is so utterly mystifying and astounding that we rub our eyes and shake our heads and throw up our hands in a gesture of utter confusion. It used to take weeks and months to make journeys that we now make in a few hours. We look up into the heavens and see the stars about which so many sentimental poems have been written, and then read what the astronomers tell us about times and distances.

We have of course learned more scientific facts in the past one hundred years than the human race has learned during all its history. We have reached the moon, which astronomically is just a step into the great beyond. Will we go from there to planets and other solar systems? The day we find a cue for cancer will not only be one of the greatest days in world history but a day that will make everyone wonder why the discovery was not made fifty or a hundred years earlier.

Sometimes war seems so inevitable that we can smell the cannon smoke. They use atomic energy now to blow up cities. The time may not be far distant when we will use atomic energy for the strengthening of powers that will bring universal happiness to mankind.

A world leader remarked before his death some years ago that he would like to live until the year A.D. 2000 just to see this research and implementation may mean to humanity.

Many of us are betting that the year A.D. 2000 will be indescribably wonderful.

"Keep Me Out Of It"

WASHINGTON — As everyone knows, there is a "New Nixon" and an "Old Nixon." For the past two years, the New Nixon is the one that has appeared on TV and at press conferences, and the Old Nixon has stayed in the background.

The only time the Old Nixon was allowed to make a public appearance was at the Pentagon when he called the students "bums." This so infuriated the New Nixon that he ordered the Old Nixon to remain out of sight. But this doesn't mean the Old Nixon and the New Nixon are not still close friends.

For example, when the New Nixon came back from his earth-shaking trip to Europe this week, the first person he checked in with was the Old Nixon.

"What's been happening since I've been gone?" the New Nixon asked.

"We're doing great, Dick," the Old Nixon said. "I got Spiro to attack the campus unrest report and call the whole thing a fraud."

"Great," said the New Nixon. "You kept me out of it, I hope?"

"Of course, Dick. Now that Spiro's pulled the rug out from the Scranton commission, you can say anything you want to about it and people won't care."

"Fine. What else?"

"Well, we really socked it to the pornography commission. Spiro has the country believing the Democrats are responsible for all the dirty movies and books in the United States."

"I like it," the New Nixon said. "But you kept me out of it?"

"They can't touch you. Every time someone starts screaming about Spiro's rhetoric, we say he's only speaking for himself. Then we leak it later that he's really speaking for you. We have the best of both worlds."

"Good thinking," the New Nixon said. "I don't know how I'd get along without the both of you."

"You should see Spiro, Dick. He's better at demagoguing than I ever was," the Old Nixon said. "He learns fast, and I've never known a guy who enjoyed going for the jugular as much as he does."

"As long as he keeps me out of it," the New Nixon said. "He uses words that no one's even heard of, and still gets standing ovations. The press can't get enough of him. And the money, Dick, it just keeps pouring in. Every time he says 'Doctor Spock,' we raise another $100,000."

"Fine. What's going on politically around here?"

"You're going to love this, Dick. Agnew attacked Charlie Goodell, who's running for senator in New York."

"Did he keep me out of it?" the New Nixon asked.

"Yup. He said Goodell was a radical lib, and he practically endorsed James Buckley of the Conservative Party."

"I hope people don't think I was behind it," the New Nixon said.

"You're clean, Dicky, absolutely clean. Only you and I know how much you wanted to zap Goodell. It also puts egg on Rockefeller's face, which I'm sure doesn't shake you up."

"As long as no one connects me with it. Hey, by the way, did you see the TV pictures of me riding in the rain with Tito?"

"No, I haven't had a chance to watch TV. I've been spending all my time with Spiro trying to think of new ways of attacking college administrators."

The New Nixon nodded his head. "I hope nobody thinks I have anything to do with it."

Learn How To Say No

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — There's a big difference between what happens to a girl who can't say no and a fellow who can't say no.

The girl is wined and dined and taken everywhere, and may end up married to a successful lawyer or even—if she plays the game well—to a rich pro basketball player.

A different fate, however, awaits a fellow who can't say no. Disaster dogs his step as he plods from woe to woe.

Here, for example, are a few invitations which, if accepted, lead only to sorrow:

"Let me appoint you chair-

man of the committee. Don't worry, I'll see that somebody else does all the work."

"We want to throw a surprise party for old George on his birthday. How about using your apartment? If there's any damage, we'll all chip in and pay for it."

"If it wasn't a hot mink coat, do you think I'd be selling it to you in an alley? But my wife needs an operation, and I'm desperate. If I knock the price down to $50, will you take it?"

"I could tell you were a classy guy the minute you stepped into the bar, mister. How about buying a lonesome girl a teentysweezy drink?"

"Just because he's wearing a uniform and a badge, you're not going to let him get away with talking to you like that, are you, Rodney? Tell him who you are."

"I think there's a pheasant in that patch of tall grass just ahead. Why don't you try to flush it, and I'll stand back here and wing it when it flies up?"

"Maybe your luck will change if we raise the ante to $5. Okay?"

"My yogi showed me an exercise that will make a new man of you. Here, just bend over and start to stand on your head, and I'll—"

"This restaurant looks so quaint and small I'm sure it couldn't be very expensive. Let's go in."

"The only way to impress a boss is to speak up to him. How about telling yours that he has to give you a merit raise or you'll peddle your wares elsewhere?"

"Go on and pass him. You're not chicken, are you?"

"You hold the nail—I'll do the hammering."

"The best way to win respect from one of these teen-age kids is to take him out in the back yard, put on the gloves, and show him who's who. I did it with mine, and now he calls me mister. Do you want to borrow my gloves?"

"Things are going so well I probably can pay back the $1,000 long before it's due. You don't mind being my cosigner, do you?"

Other Editors Say Point Of Rally?

The Oxford Ledger

There is increasing evidence that Dr. Leo Jenkins is inclined to further probes of his chances as a candidate for governor two years hence.

His name has been dropped into the discussion time and again by friends, particularly those from Eastern North Carolina where the vigor of his leadership has made its mark and where he is recognized and appreciated for his ability in this respect, not alone in the realm of higher education, but as an industrial and agricultural promoter.

Appearing Monday night on state-wide television program originating at Chapel Hill, responding to a question as to his interest in the 1972 nomination, the ECU President said: "Its flattering that some people feel I might be the type of person to qualify for that position."

Showing personal interest in a campaign is far from sufficient to flame into a successful endeavor. First, there must come expressions of support from voters, promises of contributions and more, for launching a state-wide campaign without money, or money in sight, would be as unwise as attempting to float a battleship on diminishing Tar River.

Dr. Jenkins possesses many of the qualities of a successful campaigner. He has shown his executive ability in sound programs at East Carolina; his name is well established across the state; he's a forceful and knowledgeable speaker and a good hand-shaker.

Should Dr. Jenkins get more than a little bit serious about his interest in the 1972 gubernatorial campaign, he might be surprised at the tide of political interest flowing to his political shores.

They Were The Good Old Days

By ELMER ROESSNER
Americans are a hardy people. They survived the great patent medicine era, judging from a new book.

The book is "The Great Patent Medicine Era or Without Benefit of Doctor".

ELMER ROESSNER

by Adelaide Hechtlinger, a Long Island, N. Y., science teacher, published by Grosset & Dunlap at ($14.95). It is 248 pages, illustrated with old patent medicine ads and with copious extracts from the texts of medical books and other literature written on some ancestral Madison Avenue.

Around 1900, before the Food and Drug Administration, the Federal Trade Commission, Better Business Bureaus, Consumers Union, the American Medical Association and Ralph Nader, anything went.

There were mixtures, herbs, Indian formulas, powders, tonics, home recipes, liniments, plasters, electric belts and other mechanical devices.

Who Needed Doctors? Many remedies were advertised as cures for varied ailments. Hoods Sarsaparilla cured indigestion, distress, palpitation of the heart, sour stomach; Carr's Baby Syrup was promoted as a remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, sore throat, hoarseness, and difficult breathing induced by congestion of the throat and lungs. Nichols' Bark and Iron was a "specific" for ague and malarial fevers, dyspepsia, all nervous diseases, sleeplessness and prostration.

Boothbay Medicinal Spring Water was claimed to have cured liver complaint, dyspepsia, asthma, rheumatism, salt rheum, scrofula humor, piles, diabetes, inflation of the bladder, Bright's disease, gravel, dropsy, indigestion, bilious headache, dizziness, constipation, diarrhoea, heart disease, sour stomach, rush of blood to the head, cararrah, paralysis, blood poison, neuralgia, chalbains, general debility and kidney complaint.

A Sickly Race The ads suggested that people suffered from many complaints. There were concoctions for overweight, underweight, nerve trouble, consumption, ruptures, piles, worms, complexion troubles and growing hair.

This electricity stuff was regarded as a sure cure for many troubles. There were electric oils, electric pills for various ailments; electric garters to cure rheumatism, sciatica, cramps, stiffness of the joints and swelling; electric brushes; and electric belts for paralysis, neuralgia, nervous exhaustion, lumbago, dyspepsia, fever and ague, seminal weakness, female complaints, malaria, lame back, liver complaint, kidney disease; hair curling and general debility.

Women's breasts appear to have been a problem. There were a number of corset devices that held some in and several methods of increasing the size of others. La Dore's Chemical Laboratory, Chicago, offered a mechanical bust expander and a jar of "bust food" for $1.46.

Many ads remind one of current complaints. There were "cures" for morphine and opium addiction, alcoholism, the tobacco habit and venereal diseases.

Sears Roebuck advertised "Berry brandy" for all derangements of the stomach and bowels" at 48 cents a quart, and F. X. Wolf of Reading, Pa., advertised Anti-Rheumatism containing "alcohol about 36 percent."

Geologist Plans Examine N.C. Housing Corp. Is Ancient Chunks Of Bone Approaching Loan Time

LUMBERTON, N. C. (AP) — A University of North Carolina geologist plans to examine bone chunks that scientists believe may have settled in the ground near Lumberton 11 million years before man appeared on earth. Dr. Walter Wheeler of Chapel Hill has speculated the bones came from a whale washed ashore in primeval times when North Carolina's eastern flats bordered on the ocean—now 100 miles to the east. If Wheeler's theory is correct, the bones would disclose little that is not already known about life as it was millions of years ago.

Gerald Borland, an associate professor of geology at Pembroke State University, said whale bones are "comparatively common" from the era when the bones are believed to have washed ashore.

Borland estimated they are 13 million years old. Scientists generally agree man has been around about 1.7 million years.

Borland said Wheeler would probably scrutinize the trove during the Oct. 25 weekend. The bones were unearthed by the James Cox Construction Co. as workmen excavated to prepare for construction of a Lumberton water plant.

The Cox firm scoured the excavation area for more bones after the find, Borland said. But no skull was turned up and there were not enough bones to form a skeleton.

Found near the bones were shark's teeth, pieces of petrified wood and other fossils.

The largest two bones were eight inches wide. Borland said their size indicated they were from an animal much larger than a horse.

He said the shark's teeth were three inches long. The geologist added sharks grew to lengths of 50 and 60 feet in prehistoric times, as long as some present-day whales.

ASHEVILLE, N. C. (AP) — The North Carolina Housing Corp. expects to provide mortgages for homes for low-income families within the next three to four months.

Gov. Bob Scott made the announcement Thursday in a speech before the annual convention of the North Carolina

Association of Realtors.

"We are now awaiting a ruling from the Internal Revenue Service that will determine the Housing Corporation's lending rate," Scott said.

The Housing Corp. was authorized by the 1969 General Assembly to issue $200 million in bonds to finance a low-cost housing program for low-income families.

Scott said he thinks "our problem of substandard housing stems from the fact that too many of our houses have been lived in 'a heap too long'."

"Many health problems, such as poor eyesight, poor physical health, and mental illness, are concentrated in families living in substandard housing," he said.

"These neighborhoods tend to produce school drop-outs and juvenile delinquents," Scott said. "They deprive far too many North Carolina children from having a good beginning in life. The disadvantages in a child's formative years are difficult to overcome."

He said, "the criteria for making these loans available is being worked out, along with the raising of the funds."

"One legal stipulation is that those who can get development and construction money in the private sector must still do so," he said.

"The single-family dwellings that our corporation will finance will likely range in costs from $8,000 to $15,000," Scott said.

As an elective official, he is politically involved. Attendance at Democratic rallies during the campaign season lengthens the 10 to 12 hours a day he gives to his job.

Politics has no place when it comes to administering regulatory laws under the department. "We feed everybody out of the same spoon," Graham said. "It's so simple when you enforce the law without fear or favor."

Reviewing Consumer Services

Scanning the field of consumer services performed by the department, Graham called attention to the following areas.

The North Carolina Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act is among the control laws under the department's chemistry division. About 3,500 food and beverage plants are inspected each year. The basic purpose is to safeguard the health and economic interests of consumers by assuring products which are sound and properly labeled.

The dairy division maintains a central laboratory in Raleigh and three field laboratories in other parts of the state for routine analysis of milk and dairy products, in order to provide uniform quality of dairy products reaching the public.

Under the markets division is administration of the North Carolina Egg Law, poultry grading, and grading for quality and size of fruits and vegetables. The veterinary division has responsibility for the compulsory meat and poultry inspection laws. It also works to prevent and control animal diseases which can be a hazard to human health.

The weights and measures division and the oil inspection section is the assurance for consumers that they receive fair quantity at the market place. Scales in commercial use are checked for accuracy, and pre-packaged products for correct labeling. Gasoline inspection also checks quality of petroleum products offered to the consumer.

Concern Over Bolivian Events

By GEORGE GEDDA
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Some U.S. officials are expressing concern the latest upheaval in Bolivia, combined with an anti-American drift in Chile and Peru, could create a "Middle East-type situation" the Soviet Union might find inviting.

According to this view, declining U.S. influence could open the way for a show of Soviet power along South America's Pacific coast—similar to the Soviet military initiatives in Arab countries after the six-day war in 1967.

There is no broad consensus among U.S. officials as to implications of the "popular unity" coalition which took power in Bolivia Wednesday under leadership of Gen. Juan Jose Torres. There are no firm indications Torres will direct Bolivia on an anti-American course. However, officials here consider it significant that rhetoric commonly identified with Communist nations has been very much in evidence in La Paz since he swept to power.

The Soviet Union has yet to show any evidence of military movement in South America, having concentrated mostly on establishing diplomatic and trade links with nations of the area. Five Latin nations have established diplomatic ties with the Kremlin over the past two years, leaving Paraguay the lone holdout in South America.

But some officials do not rule out the possibility of increasing Soviet interest in the region.

"Power abhors a vacuum," said one official, "and our capacity to influence events down there is not what it used to be. It is not inconceivable that our place could be taken by someone else."

Fears are also being expressed over the future of the Organization of American States and the Inter-American Defense Board. Sources acquainted with hemispheric affairs say it would not take too many hostile voices within these organizations to disrupt the relative harmony with which they have functioned in recent years.

The recent events in Bolivia came on the heels of the election in Chile of Salvador Allende, an outspoken admirer of Fidel Castro who has promised to put his nation on the road to socialism. There is every indication here that the Chilean Congress will ratify Allende's election when it meets Oct. 24.

It was two years ago that Peru nationalized properties belonging to the International Petroleum Corp., and the two nations are as far apart as ever on the issue of compensation.

Of added concern to officials here is the recent evidence provided by U-2 flights over Cuba that the Soviet Union may be establishing a strategic submarine base at Cienfuegos.

Military experts say the principal Soviet benefit of such a base would be the ability to station submarines equipped with nuclear missiles close to Western shores for much longer periods of time.

WET WORK — Workers in cranberry bog at Plymouth, Mass., employ new method of harvesting their share of Cape Cod's estimated crop of 850,000 barrels of the berries. More than a third of the crop is being harvested by flooding the bogs and funneling the berries onto trucks. Usually the berries are combed dry into a machine with a 20 percent crop loss. Massachusetts is the world's largest producer of cranberries. (AP Wirephoto)

Burroughs Wellcome Transfer Of Operations To Greenville Said Now Virtually Complete

The transfer of manufacturing operations of Burroughs Wellcome Co. from Tuckahoe, New York to Greenville has been virtually completed, according to Charles H. Pressel, Vice President in charge of Production of the pharmaceutical company.

He stated that a dedication ceremony is scheduled for October 30th, at which leaders of the State and a delegation from The Wellcome Foundation Ltd., the company's parent organization, will participate. An Open House for the general public will be held the following day, October 31.

Pressel said, "The process of moving into our new quarters required several months. Large vans—six and eight and more a day—brought in processing and laboratory equipment, finished products, bulk stock, packaging materials, and much more. The operation required a year and a half of preparation. It involved all the complexity of moving—after 45 years of growth in Tuckahoe—to a new community and starting up production again. Our buildings are just about complete, and we've installed new, sophisticated manufacturing and testing equipment as well as some indispensable machinery from Tuckahoe. Before we commenced production of our products in Greenville, we filled the distribution 'pipeline' by shipping finished goods produced in Tuckahoe. The result has been that we have maintained essential services to customers during our startup operations."

Most of the Greenville personnel of Burroughs Wellcome Co. are from the local community. Some 140 families elected to move with the company from the New York area to Greenville.

The company's plant manager, Harry Leslie, reported, "We still have many scheduled operations to complete before we are in full production, but our progress has been such that we will soon be able to supply the needs of all customers."

Officials at Burroughs Wellcome Co., a major U.S. pharmaceutical manufacturer, announced early in February of 1969 their intent to transfer the entire production facilities from Tuckahoe, a suburb of New York City, to Greenville. At the same time they planned the relocation of the company's administrative offices and research branch, The Wellcome Research Laboratories, from Tuckahoe to Research Triangle Park, North Carolina. These facilities are being completed.

The company's manufacturing and production facilities are located on U.S. Route 13 at its intersection with State Road 1584 just north of Greenville.

Testimony Heard In Trial Of Stocks

Testimony continued this morning in the rape - burglary trial of Thomas Earl Stocks in Pitt County Superior Court.

The State began its presentation of evidence in the case before Noon yesterday, as Mrs. Ann Baker Barry, victim of the alleged assault told how two men, one white and one Negro, entered her bedroom and attacked her in the pre-dawn hours of April 27.

Two Pitt County Sheriff's deputies, Brooks Oakley and Dalton Respass and City - County Bureau of Identification officer E. H. Atkinson described their preliminary investigation of the case and how the Brook Valley home where the attack occurred was searched for evidence.

Before Noon today, Mrs. Nancy W. Baker, the victim's mother, testified that she had seen the defendant Stocks and a Negro, Elmo Barber prior to the April incident.

Mrs. Baker said she saw Stocks and Barber working on a house behind the Baker resident on a cold morning.

"I served them coffee," she explained. It was "very cold... snowing," Mrs. Baker said. "I made a pot of coffee and put it on the barbecue pit..." for the workmen.

Barber, whom Mrs. Baker referred to, was tried in Superior Court on rape and burglary charges which stemmed from the April attack, during the August term of court. A jury found him guilty of the charges and Barber was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Tobacco Sales Volume Sagging

FARMVILLE — Volume of sales yesterday on the Farmville market showed signs of dropping from peak sales, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor. A total of 547,926 pounds sold for $399,929.19 for an average of $73.00 per hundred pounds.

Knowledgeable landscapers pick PENNINGTON GREEN COATED grass seed

The proof is in the picture...taken two weeks after planting. The top row of untreated seed are slower to germinate, adding to the possibility of the seed and seedlings being attacked and destroyed by soil fungus before they emerge from the seedbed. Root systems are weak - stands may be thinned or "spotted". Each of the Pennington Green Coated® seed in the lower row has germinated faster sending a strong root system - free from disease damage due to soil fungus - deep into the earth. This means a faster lawn, a healthier lawn.

Pennington Green Coated® grass seed are as close as your favorite nursery, garden shop, or hardware store. Stop in - ask for Pennington Green Coated® grass seed. It's available in all popular varieties and sizes.

FARMVILLE — H. B. Sugg School principal Frederick Graham last night appeared before the Farmville Commissioners asking for additional police patrolling of the school area.

He said some 18 school buildings' windows were broken last weekend.

He was promised by Police Chief Graham Creel that the Police Department would do whatever is necessary to put an end to this menace and also that a no parking area will be designated in front of the Sugg School main entrance, as he requested.

The Commissioners asked that all loading zone signs in town have "15-minute limit" added to them. Once this is done they are asking the local police to enforce the loading zone parking limit ordinance.

Jack McDavid reported that the curb and gutter work on Cameron Street should be finished within the next day or two. Projects still pending include Walnut Street and the sidewalk on the west side of Main Street from Railroad Street to Acton Place, and curbs within Hollywood Cemetery. A petition for Dail Drive was signed yesterday. Town Clerk Carl Beaman said.

James Taylor, a citizen who has pushed the petition-signing etc. toward getting the Main Street sidewalk installed, was told that the cost has been estimated at $2.50 a running foot for the 1,354 feet needed. He reiterated his belief that those who petitioned for the walkway know it will be expensive, but think it is worth the expense. The Commissioners did not oppose the issuance of a beer permit to James Henry Heath, operator of Capt. Hank's Restaurant on the outskirts of Farmville.

Fire Chief H. P. Norman told the Commissioners that the Farmville Fire Department will burn a condemned, already partially burned building on South Main Street Monday, October 19.

Big Five Football Begins

Paul Haug, left, and Dick Corrada will be two of the East Carolina University football Pirates who carry the challenge to N.C. State Saturday night in Raleigh. The Bucs will be facing their second foe ever in the "Big Four," and Coach Mike McGee says it is now the "Big Five." Haug, a 6-2, 235-pound junior, is a junior college transfer, who is a starting tackle on offense. Corrada, a 6-0, 185-pound senior, is the starting flanker back, and ranks third among all time Buc pass receivers.

Williamston Returns To Loop Action Against Perquimans Team

The Williamston Tigers, after two unhappy non-conference contests, return to the Albemarle Conference war tonight, seeking to begin to move on loop leader Ahoskie.

The Tigers travel to Perquimans for their second conference game of the season. Last week, they suffered a 14-0 loss at the hands of 3-A Roanoke Rapids.

In other games around the conference, Plymouth downed Perquimans, 34-0. Ahoskie rolled to a 34-0 romp over Northampton, and Edenton fell to Northeastern in a non-conference game, 26-0. Gates County downed Barry Robinson, 34-8, in another non-conference encounter.

"We had the best effort we've had since I've been at Williamston," Coach Dinky Mills said of his team's losing venture. "Actually it would have been a lot closer, but we had a key injury which took out the boy who is our halfback, punter, and defensive corner back. One of their touchdowns came when he was hurt, giving them the ball in good field position.

"And we fumbled on their five on first down and goal to go. We should have scored then. It could easily have been a 7-7 tie."

But overall Mills was pleased. "According to the odds, we did a good job against them."

This week, against Perquimans, Mills hopes to have the team back to full strength. Only one player, a defensive linebacker, is expected to miss, due to an ankle injury suffered several weeks ago.

"They haven't had a lot of success," Mills said of his opponent which brings a 2-3 overall mark into the game. "They apparently have quite a bit of talent, but they just don't seem to have jelled as a team. Offensively they haven't been consistent. They do like to throw a lot."

Defensively, Perquimans has been pretty tough. Only in last week's game with Plymouth did they give up more than two touchdowns. Even Ahoskie, the current loop leader, was unable to score more than twice.

Two other Albemarle games mark the schedule for tonight. Besides the Williamston-Perquimans encounter, Gates is at Plymouth and Edenton travels to Northampton. Ahoskie, which opened the season a week early, takes tonight off.

The current Albemarle conference standings:

The Dress Boot by Johnston & Murphy

A number of years ago, when East Carolina was still a college, Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of the institution, called upon North Carolina State University to play the upcoming Pirates.

Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in Carter Stadium in Raleigh, the dream of Dr. Jenkins comes true. The Pirates will take on N.C. State.

But some observers feel it couldn't have come at a worse time.

Both State and East Carolina go into the game without a victory this year. East Carolina was unable to score a touchdown until last week against strong West Texas State. State does have a 7-7 tie with tough South Carolina to its credit.

An upset could do much for East Carolina, but the Bucs go into the game decided underdogs.

And the Bucs have an injury situation that may cause them some problems before the evening is over.

"We played spottily in the first half against West Texas," Coach Mike McGee said of last week's game. "We had a number of problems, both offensively and defensively. We had to readjust our defense because of their great speed. Later they ran straight at us, instead of trying to outflank us, and they gained some long yardage in situations where we were clipped and it wasn't called.

"Our offense made some mistakes, but I have to give a lot of credit to the fine running of George Whitley and Billy Wallace," he added. Whitley picked up 96 yards in 27 carries, while Wallace picked up 137 yards in 23 lugs.

"In the third quarter, we completely outplayed them," McGee said. "We had poise going into the third period, and I was proud of the way we played. We got 120 yards more total offense in the second half than they did."

McGee noted, however, that he was not putting West Texas down. "They have a great collection of athletes," he said.

But the game resulted in some problems. "We are in probably the worse shape we've been in all season," the coach said. And the injuries are ones that decimate the backfield. "Whitley has a problem and it is doubtful whether he'll be able to play. (Rusty) Scales was out last week, and we expect him to be able to play, but we don't know how effective he'll be. Wallace also has an injury problem, but we hope he'll be able to go. (Les) Strayhorn is still hobbled by an injury he received earlier this year."

So the Pirates turn to preparing for the Wolfpack, a team McGee feels is much stronger than its record.

"State has an extremely sound defense. They have great size in their defensive line. For example, Florida intercepted seven passes on them, but was able to score only 14 points. They knocked South Carolina around and held them well.

"North Carolina moved the ball on them, but that was somewhat sporadically. Richmond moved the ball well, too."

But Frank Jones, coach of the Spiders, said that State beat up the Richmond team so badly that they still haven't recovered, and have not posted a win since then.

George Smith, State's middle guard, 5-11, 209, rates as the cream of the crop, according to McGee. "They also have good personnel in Dan Medlin and Roger McSwain, their tackles. Both are 6-4 and over 240. Their safety, Jack Whitley, was All-ACC last year, and Van Walker (cornerback) has played well for them."

Offensively, McGee feels that the Wolfpack has a lot in common with the Bucs. "They move the ball well, get close, then their own mistakes have cost them. Still they are a solid football team. They have a hard-nosed tough running game. They come right at you, or fake the play action pass. They have experience, despite having some sophomores in the lineup. They are redshirted sophs."

Pat Korsnick anchors the offense at quarterback, having transferred to State from Purdue. "He has looked real good at times," McGee noted. The State tailback, Don Bradley rates as a good runner, and flanker Pat Kenney has "great quickness." The line is led by guard Bill Yoes, 6-1, 220.

So at 7:30 p.m., what has been known as the "Big Four" comes to an end. From then on, ECU fans say, it must be known as "The Big Five."

The probable offensive starting lineup for the Bucs has Bill Croisetiere and Carl Gordon at ends, Paul Haug and Tim Tyler at tackles, Steve Davis and Mike Kopp at guards, Mark Pohren at center, John Casazza at quarterback, Dick Corrada at flanker, Billy Wallace at fullback and either Rusty Scales or George Whitley at tailback.

On defense, the Bucs will start Ted Salmon and Wes Rothrock at ends, Chuck Zadnik and Rich Peeler at tackles, Ralph Betesh at middle linebacker, Don Mollenhauer and Monty Kiernan at linebackers, Will Mitchell and Mike Mills at cornerbacks and Tom Pulley and Tom Threlkeld at safeties.

Old Crow begins with men who love to work with their hands.

The formula that gives Old Crow its special character begins with Robert Landon Curry. It's up to him to mix the exact measures of corn, barley and rye that go into each batch of our country Bourbon.

The first scientific way of distilling Bourbon was invented by Dr. James Crow back in 1835. But giving our Bourbon a handcrafted taste is still an art.

"Between my job at Old Crow and my woodshop at home," says Curry, "there's hardly a time in the day when I'm not working with my hands." Bob Curry calls on the same craftsmanship making this sailing ship-weathervane as he does mixing grain at our distillery.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Sailing ship-weathervane hull is made by gluing 3 pieces of wood in a "sandwich."

Cut sail from sheet copper. Paint or let it weather naturally.

Make wind direction letters. And now it's getting on toward Old Crow time.

Things could be better, but who am I to complain? For the second straight week, this column managed to pick the winners in 16 of 19 contests, and the old percentage is finally getting back to the respectable.

Another week like this and things will be looking very good. Well, they say things come in threes. We hope they do.

Starting things off, Rose High School hosts New Hanover tonight in Ficklen Stadium. The Rampants have now lost 12 straight games over the past two years. This is their 13th since their last win. Hopefully it will prove to be a lucky number for the Rampants. But we have the feeling it'll just be another loss for Rose.

Greene Central travel to Southern Nash for an Eastern Plains game. Southern has yet to win this year, while Greene Central continues to show rapid improvement. The Rams will be the choice here.

Farmville tackles Ayden in an annual high-ranking contest. It should be quite an exciting game, with both teams wanting this one badly. It could go either way, but I'll go along with Farmville to win it.

Williamston goes to Perquimans in an Albemarle Conference game. The Tigers want to win this one badly to stay in the race for the title, and we feel they'll do it.

Belhaven is at Robersonville in a Tobacco Belt game. The Rams are going along now, and it would take a major upset for Belhaven to pull this one out. Robersonville should win.

Grifton goes to Elm City in another Tobacco Belt affair. The Bulldogs nearly did it against Ayden last week, and this week, they should come away with a victory.

East Carolina University opens the "Big Five" era Saturday night when it travels to Carter Stadium in Raleigh to meet N. C. State. The Bucs showed surprising offensive power against West Texas last week, and only their offensive mistakes caused their loss (three interceptions, a punt return, and a short punt gave the Buffaloes five of their six scores.) If these can be eliminated, the Pirates could come up with the upset of the year.

But we must go along with N. C. State to win this one.

In other Southern Conference games, we'll choose The Citadel over William & Mary, Davidson over Bucknell, Richmond over Furman and Virginia over VMI.

Turning to the Atlantic Coast Conference, it'll be Auburn over Clemson, West Virginia over Duke, Syracuse over Maryland, North Carolina over South Carolina, and Wake Forest over Virginia Tech.

In other games, it'll be Colorado over Iowa State, Wyoming over Colorado State, Cornell over Penn and Dartmouth over Princeton.

Season's record: 62 right, 20 wrong, 75.6 per cent.

Tough To Pick UNC-USC Winner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

How do you pick a winning football team?

Its record? North Carolina has four impressive victories to its credit this season, two of them crushing victories over rival Atlantic Coast Conference teams.

South Carolina has two wins, a loss and a tie. In the ACC, one win and the tie, but the Gamecocks are last year's defending champs.

Its style? North Carolina uses a basic Wing-T formation and relies on a grinding ground game that averages better than 275 yards a game.

South Carolina plays wide-open football from a multiple offense including pro-set use of split ends, flankers and two running backs. Passing stacks up as the Gamecocks' No. 1 weapon for rapid yardage.

Its stars? North Carolina has Don McCauley, a senior tailback with a per-game average of 132.3 yards. The statistics may be dull, but they're good enough to make McCauley the nation's eighth-ranked rusher.

South Carolina has Tommy Suggs, signal-caller for the flashy Gamecock offense. Suggs, regarded as the master detonator for an explosive big play, has fired the ball for 43 completions, 592 yards and three touchdowns.

With this data, some experts are picking North Carolina by more than a touchdown over the Gamecocks Saturday at Chapel Hill. And in so doing, they are saying the Tar Heels are favored to carry home the ACC honors this season.

But the peculiar chemicals of a football afternoon — autumn nip, blaring brass bands and jarring body contact — can combine to befuddle the most carefully drawn predictions.

A thudding tackle that wrenched McCauley's knee, a forearm smash that knocks the breath out of a Tar Heel lineman, a quick Suggs touchdown march that drains the North Carolina team of its fight — these are possibilities that leave the game wide open. And no one is more aware of the possibilities than the players and their coaches.

"We can't make mistakes like we did last week against Vanderbilt and expect to win," warned North Carolina's Coach Tom Dooley. "South Carolina is a solid football team in every department."

"Here is a team that can run the ball right at you or can hurt you with wide plays and passing," he said. "Our defensive team will have to play its best game of the season in order for us to win."

To make sure the mistakes don't get repeated, Dooley ran his players through all phases of offense and defense Thursday.

In Columbia, Coach Paul Dietzel was doing the same for the Gamecocks. Dietzel sent his boys walking through the plays he plans to throw at North Carolina. Then he concentrated on getting off plays quickly and for short yardage.

Apparently, plenty of fans also believe the game will be decided on the field rather than on the statisticians' charts. A sellout crowd of more than 47,000 already has been assured for the 1:30 p.m. meeting.

Right down the road, however, another contest of note will be available for those who can't find room at Kenan Stadium. North Carolina State meets the East Carolina State Pirates Saturday evening at Raleigh.

It's the first meeting of the twoteams. Wolfpack Coach Earle Edwards has warned his players against being too cocky. He pushed them Thursday afternoon in defensive drills and protection practice.

The Wolfpack's game is one of seven out-of-conference contests Saturday. Others on the schedule send Maryland to Syracuse, N.Y., and Duke to West Virginia.

Clemson hosts Auburn, Virginia receives VMI and Wake Forest greets Virginia Tech.

On Eve Of Series, Managers Are Worried

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
CINCINNATI (AP) — A conviction that "right makes might" appears to have taken hold in both camps as the Baltimore Orioles and Cincinnati Reds approach the final countdown for what promises to be an explosive World Series confrontation.

Managers Earl Weaver of the Orioles and Sparky Anderson of the Reds, each acutely aware of the other's right-hand hitting power, had second thoughts Thursday about their long-range pitching plans for the best of 7 series beginning Saturday at Riverfront Stadium.

Jim Palmer will start on the mound for the Orioles against Cincinnati's Gary Nolan in a first-game duel of smoke-throwing young right-handers.

But Weaver, who selected Palmer ahead of southpaw ace

Mike Cuellar and Dave McNally to counter the Reds' 3-4-5 punch of right-hand swingers Tony Perez, Johnny Bench and Lee May, expressed some concern over the readiness of Cuellar as his starter in game 2.

And Anderson, who plans to go with right-hander Jim McGlothin Sunday, suggested he might bypass left-hander Jim Merritt, his biggest winner, in favor of Tony Cloninger when the Reds face McNally in game 3 at Baltimore next Tuesday.

McNally worked seven brisk innings as the American League champs breezed through an intra-squad game at home before preparing to depart for Cincinnati today. Weaver used Cuellar for the last two innings, then said he was convinced McNally was ready ... but not so certain about the Cuban screwball artist.

"Two innings might set Mike up for Sunday," Weaver said. "I'll just have to wait and see." Cuellar and McNally each won 24 games and Palmer took 20 for the Orioles during the season. Cuellar, however, was the least effective and Palmer the sharpest, with a 12-strikeout spree, as the defending AL kings swept the pennant play-offs from Minnesota.

Anderson, meanwhile, explained he was leaning toward Cloninger because the recent elbow troubles of 20-game winner Merritt ... as a concession to the Orioles' right-hand hitters.

"Merritt's elbow is still sore," the skipper said as the Reds worked out on their astroturf diamond. "And anyway, with the lineup Baltimore puts on the field, it's not much of an advantage going with a left-hand pitcher."

Big Boog Powell, who hits from the left side, is the Orioles' top run maker. But right-hand hitting Frank Robinson, Brooks Robinson, Merv Rettenmund, Dave Johnson and Paul Blair all are formidable threats.

Cloninger, a 10-year National League veteran who once hit two grand slam homers in a single game, failed to finish any of his 18 starts for the Reds. But he did a good job filling the gaps when injuries sidelined rookie star Wayne Simpson, McGlothin and Merritt. He finished with a 9-7 mark.

"I feel I pitched more consistently in the second half of the season than I had since 1964 and 1965," said the strapping right-hander, who won 43 games over those two years for the Milwaukee Braves.

The managers' concern over their pitching rotation underlines the feeling among most on-lookers that a free-swinging, high-scoring series is in the offing — between two evenly-matched powerhouses.

Despite an offensive sag during their sweep of Pittsburgh for the NL crown in a playoff supposedly made for hitters, the Reds have proven their capacity to roll up high scores.

The Orioles displayed their power by crushing Minnesota 10-6, 11-3 and 6-1 behind a 36-hit binge.

Cincinnati batted .270, Baltimore .257 during regular season play. The Orioles outscored the Reds 792-775, but Cincinnati had the edge in homers, 191-179.

"Our scouting reports on Baltimore are so high," Anderson said. "But our players prefer to play Baltimore just because of that. You want to play the best club. I'm sure Baltimore feels the same way about us."

Robbins, Eaton Have One Thing In Common

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Marty Robbins and George Eaton are about as different as two persons can be, except that both have an interest in motor racing and like to drive fast cars.

Robbins is a nationally-known country and western singer. Eaton is a professional race driver, though he has promoted rock music festivals in his native Canada. Robbins is 37, Eaton is 24. Both wear their hair long.

The two are among drivers who will attempt to qualify their race machines today for Sunday's $145,000 National 500 stock car classic. There are only 16 spots left in the 40-car field and, in addition to Robbins and Eaton, there are 38 drivers on hand to try for them. Many of the candidates are veterans of the oval tracks.

Robbins and Eaton watched Thursday's second day of qualifying from the sidelines, their Dodge cars propped up on blocks and not ready for action. Donnie Allison, a Ford driver and last year's National 500 winner, turned in the days best speed, 153.745 miles per hour. It was good for 13th starting position. Jim Vandiver of Charlotte was next best in a Dodge at 153.657 m.p.h.

The pole position and a bonus of $1,500 was captured Wednesday by Charlie Grotzback in a Dodge at 157.273 m.p.h.

Robbins and Eaton say they have no thought of beating the top early speeds. Robbins, long a best-seller in the music field, has driven a stock car once before—in the National 500 of 1968, when he finished 12th in the field of 44 starters.

Eaton has never driven on an oval track, nor had he ever been in a stock machine until top money winner Pete Hamilton let him sit in the driver's seat of his blue Plymouth three days ago.

But the young Canadian is an experienced racer. He has campaigned a British-made BRM on the elite Formula 1 Grand Prix circuit for two years. He has been a regular on the rich Canadian-American Challenge Cup series for exotic sports-racing cars since 1968.

Rose Cubs Bop North Pitt Team

Rose High School's Junior Varsity rolled to a 28-0 victory over North Pitt High School here last night. It was the first victory of the year for the Rampant Cubs, who lost their previous three starts.

The Cubs got on the scoreboard in the first period when Rusty Purser recovered a North Pitt fumble in the end zone for a touchdown.

Then, in the second period, Rose put two more scores up on the board. Dean Phillips hit the first on a 35-yard run. Paul Zurav added the extra points and Rose held a 14-0 lead.

Later in the period, Phillips hit J. C. Daniels for a 40-yard scoring pass, and that ran the margin out to 20-0 at halftime.

The final Rose touchdown came in the final period of play. That also was an aerial bomb, but this one went from Daniels to Purser, and covered 48 yards. Rusty McKinney added the two-point conversion for the final 28-0 margin.

North Pitt, which lost its second game in as many starts, offered only one threat, in the fourth period. That was halted when Linwood Vail pulled down an interception.

North Pitt is in its first season of football.

Top Runners In Key Loop Game

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four of the top runners in the Southern Conference, including the two leaders, will begin action Saturday at Williamsburg, Va., as William and Mary's Indians make their league football debut against The Citadel's Bulldogs.

The spotlight will be on a pair of juniors — The Citadel's Bob Duncan, bidding for his second straight ground-gaining title, and William and Mary's Phil Mosser, who set a single-game league mark with 257 yards last week.

Duncan holds a slim lead over Mosser with 371 yards in three games for a 123.7-yard average to Mosser's 487 yards and a 121.7 average in four encounters. Backing them up will be Todd Bushnell of William and Mary with 218 yards and Ben Chavis of The Citadel with 182, each in four games.

"William and Mary is a game that I have picked throughout the summer and fall as a must game," says The Citadel coach Red Parker, "because it is our first conference game on the road and they beat us last year."

Both are 1-3 over-all, and Parker says "we are not influenced by the fact that they haven't been impressive so far. Neither have we."

The Citadel, tied at 1-0 with Davidson and Virginia Military inside the conference, can take over the league lead with a victory.

A Saturday night conference scrap sends Richmond's Spiders to Furman to battle the Paladins. Both are 0-1 in league play, but Furman is 2-2 against all opposition to the Spiders' 1-3 over-all mark.

This is a "must" game for Richmond, which had been favored to win the conference title until the Spiders ran into a 14-5 upset at the hands of Davidson in their league debut two weeks ago.

Three conference teams have dates against outside opposition, but not with much hope of improving the league's dismal 4-16 record in that respect.

VMI goes to Virginia of the Atlantic Coast Conference and Davidson is host to Bucknell in the afternoon. VMI is 1-3 overall, Davidson 1-1. East Carolina, 0-4, is at N.C. State of the ACC for a night scrap.

"After playing Rice, West Virginia and Boston College, it will be important for our team to be prepared psychologically as well as physically," says VMI coach Vito Ragazzo. "It's good to be playing closer to home, but Virginia presents us with another tough assignment."

Despite the running ability of Mike Mikolayunas, it looks as though the key to Davidson's success will be through the air. Quarterback Mark Thompson is averaging 13 completions per game, while Mikolayunas has caught 10 passes and sprinter Rick Lyon has grabbed eight.

This will be the first football game ever between East Carolina and N.C. State in Pirate coach Mike McGee's big bid to turn the Carolina "Big Four into a "Big Five."

There were signs last week McGee's conversion from the single wing to the T on offense was beginning to pay off as the Pirates scored their first four touchdowns of the season in a 42-30 defeat at West Texas State.

CLEMENTE TO MANAGER

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Although Roberto Clemente of the Pittsburgh Pirates thinks his bad back is a slipped disc, he plans to manage the San Juan team in the Puerto Rican League when the season opens Oct. 23.

The hard hitting right fielder managed San Juan for half of the 1965 winter season after the previous manager was fired.

"I didn't play then because I had an operation," says Clemente. "I was mowing a lawn with my brother when a rock hit me in the groin."

Conley Picks Up 2nd Victory

FARMVILLE — D. H. Conley High School picked up its second straight victory without a loss last night, as it downed the Farmville High School junior varsity, 28-14.

Farmville scored first, on a pass play, but Conley came back later in the first period to tie it up. The tying score was made on a 50-yard run by Calvin Clemmons.

In the second period, Farmville again scored, again using the aerial route, to take a 14-8 lead at intermission.

Conley came back in the third period, however, to score twice and take the lead. The first score came on the first play from scrimmage in the half, as Lonnie Wilkes raced 72 yards for the score. Jerry Lacy put over the two-point conversion to tie the score at 14-14.

Then, Lacy cracked over from the six to put Conley ahead for good. Wilkes ran over the conversion, and Conley led, 22-14.

In the final period, Conley put the finishing touches on the game with its final touchdown. That came on a five-yard ramble by Clemmons, upping the margin to 28-14, the final score.

Conley, in its initial year as a football team, takes on The Tornado junior varsity in Ayden next Thursday.

Professional Dissenters Find Profit In The Role

EDITOR'S NOTE—Their books are best sellers; they are in demand as speakers. Which translates into money. And money is just what many leaders of antiestablishment movements find in their role as dissenters from American society. Following is a report on this phenomenon by the AP Living Today department.

By LYNN SHERR
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Leaders of the nation's various antiestablishment groups are finding that the hand they are biting is feeding them, too.

Through best-selling books, high-priced lecture appearances and other by products of their rebellion, the top names of such organizations as the Yippies, Women's Liberation and the Black Panthers are grossing profits which have mounted into the tens of thousands.

They say, however, the big money is not lining their pockets. Instead it is going into the coffers of the various branches of The Movement.

"It's not my role to be rich. It's happened accidentally," says Yippie leader Jerry Rubin, whose best-selling book "Do It!" has sold more than 200,000 copies at $2.45. Based on standard author's royalties, he can figure to earn more than $50,000.

Rubin points out that because his publisher issues royalty checks only twice a year, he has not yet seen a penny of profit. But when the money comes on Feb. 1:

"I may burn it. I may hand it out for free Any way to completely and thoroughly destroy capitalism," he says.

Abbie Hoffman, a codefendant with Rubin in the Chicago 7 riot trial and a cofounder of the Yippies, said, "When a revolution has spread, he's got to give it away."

Hoffman's two books—"Woodstock Nation" and "Revolution for the Hell of It"—both of which advocates his goal "to create chaos in the ruling class," have grossed him some $75,000. After contract fees, publishing costs and miscellaneous expenses, he claims his actual earnings have been divided up as follows: $25,000 for Black Panther defense funds, $10,000 for bail money for other revolutionaries, several times $10,000 for Chicago trial expenses.

Hoffman and Rubin also say they are committed to giving at least $5,000 a month to the Youth International Party—Yippies—for assorted "projects."

Asked about the use of Establishment channels to further their cause, Hoffman quoted Lenin: "When capitalism hangs itself, it will be the bourgeoisie who sell the rope."

nate such "straight" institutions, Hoffman and others formed their own speakers' bureau, offering such luminaries as themselves, lawyer William Kunstler, women's movement activists Shulamith Firestone and Jo Freeman, and rock writer Richard Goldstein.

"It's absurd to book through the going lecture bureaus and let them rip off 25-30 per cent of radical speakers," says Robert Lamb, office manager of The Movement Speakers' Bureau in New York. He said that with Move-Speak—as it is known—the speaker would get 75 per cent, the bureau, 25. And all profits beyond office costs would be voted back into everyone's favorite Movement cause.

In the past, radical speakers have commanded fees up to $2,000 an appearance.

A handful of other Movement leaders share financial success in publishing. Panther author Eldridge Cleaver's book, "Soul on Ice," has sold some 120,000 hardbound copies—at $5.95—and nearly 2 million in paperback. And that doesn't count the 100,000 copies of his "Writings" for another publisher.

While California lawyers for Cleaver, now living abroad, would not disclose the amount of money he has earned, his New York literary agent, Cyril Abels, said, "It's not as much as people expect because an awful lot is drained off by lawyers and debts."

Another Black Panther leader, Bobby Seale, has racked up some 22,000 sales of his writings at $6.95.

The newest Movement issue, women's liberation, has begun to be a money-earner also. Kate Millet's "Sexual Politics," a blast at male domination, has sold 60,000 copies at $7.95 after only 10 weeks in print.

"I plan to give all my money away," she says.

Robin Morgan, whose anthology of women's liberation writings entitled "Sisterhood is Powerful," has just been published, says she plans to donate all profits to the Movement.

"It will be up to the women—all 54 of them—who contributed to the book," she said. She cited such possible recipients as an abortion fund, bail money for prisoners in New York's Women's House of Detention, and a national archives for women's history.

She and other radical leaders are quick to point out that their personal lifestyles have not changed materially since their books and speeches became so successful.

Gov. Scott And Faircloth Split Over Tax Share

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott and his highway commission chairman are at odds on how much revenue from North Carolina's gas tax should go to municipalities.

Highway Commission Chairman Lauch Faircloth took issue Thursday with Scott's proposal that the municipalities' share of the gas tax collections be doubled.

Faircloth said increasing the municipalities' portion from one-half cent per gallon to one cent would take $12 million out of the total available for highway construction.

His comments came in a prepared statement. Scott made the proposal to double the funds available to cities and town under the Powell Bill of 1951 in a speech Tuesday to the North Carolina League of Municipalities.

The doubling of the municipal gas tax share has been listed by the league as one of its major objectives during the 1971 General Assembly.

The state's 428 municipalities got about $12 million last week under the annual Powell Bill allocations.

Scott said municipalities deserve a larger share because what they now get pays for only one-seventh of their road service expenses, which rural and suburban areas get all their road service from the state.

Faircloth noted that the "ultimate decision ... rests with the General Assembly" and added: "I am sure they will look into the matter thoroughly."

The highway official, who serves under appointment by Scott, said he had spoken out against the proposal before.

"As to the governor and myself, there is nothing in the rule book that says we have to think alike on every matter that arises," Faircloth said. "Since this is the legislature's decision, I will be happy with whatever they do."

Scott was in Asheville for a speaking engagement Thursday and his office said he would have no immediate comment on Faircloth's statement.

Will Spreak At Revival

GRIFTON — Revival and evangelistic services are scheduled for the First Baptist Church here Monday through Sunday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Arnie Robertson of Greensboro will be the guest minister. He attended from the Northwestern Bible College and graduated from the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. He received the B. A. degree from Guilford College and the B. D. degree from Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary. He also graduated from the School of Pastoral Care of the N. C. Baptist Hospital and Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

His experiences include serving as a staff member and director in the Youth for Christ movement, traveling with the Couriers For Christ Quartet, appearances on radio, television and in Christian films. Robertson went to Europe on one of the first teams with Billy Graham and Grady Wilson.

The public is invited to attend the services.

Cars Collided Here Yesterday

Claude Cameron Tyson, 63, of Farmville was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of a 1:35 p.m. collision at the intersection of First and Summit Streets here yesterday.

Police reported the Tyson car collided with a vehicle driven by Alice Partin of 201 North Library St. causing an estimated $600 damage to the Partin car and about $20 damage to the Tyson vehicle.

Will Press For Discount

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina intends to try to force the "big three" auto makers to continue giving state and local governments discounts on fleet cars.

The state's deputy attorney general for consumer protection, Jean Benoy, said Thursday that North Carolina may already be a party to such a suit. The city of Philadelphia has filed a "class action" against the auto makers on behalf of all states and municipalities.

"If the judge in the case allows the class action, we will be in the suit under the Philadelphia action," Benoy said. "If not, North Carolina probably will file its own individual suit."

Individual suits already have been filed by New York City and six states — Oklahoma, Vermont, Arizona, Texas, Florida and Iowa.

Earlier in the year, Ford, General Motors and Chrysler Corp. announced they were discontinuing most cut rates to volume car purchasers.

The suits charge the manufacturers with violating the Sherman Anti-Trust Act by being engaged in a conspiracy.

Benoy said North Carolina has one other matter to clear up before deciding whether to join the Philadelphia class action. In a class action filing by Philadelphia last year in a textbook price fixing case, the city sent all parties to the class action a bill for legal fees.

North Carolina refused to pay, and the matter is now before U. S. 7th Circuit Court of Appeals.

"If our suit is successful, and we don't have to pay legal fees to Philadelphia, we will join their class action," Benoy said. "If not, we will file our own suit and argue our own case."

The Worry Clinic

Communicate, Not Bewilder

Dr. Lois DeBaKey and Prof. Monty Curtis have some terse advice for teachers, authors and clergymen! Beware of "logorrhea" is their theme! Plus the "passive voice" and polysyllables! To be understood most quickly, use words the customer can understand at the first exposure thereto!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

CASE O-552: Monty Curtis formerly was the talented head of the American Press Institute. In the latter's 2-week institutes for editors and other newspaper executives, Prof. Curtis really got down to concrete cases.

"Dr. Crane," he said when we were both scheduled to address the Mississippi Press Association, "we find that long sentences are making printed copy less attractive to the reader.

"On one survey of editorials, for example, the average sentence ran 39 words!"

Prof. Curtis thus urged writers to make their copy sound as if it were ordinary conversation. And an advertising survey some years ago showed that 12 words are the typical length of an everyday sentence.

College textbooks are notorious for their long sentences.

And their paragraphs may often fill almost an entire page! No wonder students dread to read their assignments.

Prof. Lois DeBaKey also criticized medical journals for similar "logorrhea", meaning, the use of many words where just one could fill the bill.

Contrast the following two sentences, which she cited:

"Transplantation of the kidney was accomplished by Jones."

"Jones transplanted the kidney."

She wisely warned that such roundabout sentences also travel with a dangerous companion, namely, the "passive voice."

And she vetoed the "passive" as being impersonal.

Then she gave this example from a medical journal:

"The patient was emptied of urine by the catheter."

Instead, it is more dynamic to use the active voice and write:

"The patient voided his urine via a catheter."

Many of my psychological colleagues in "ivory towers" still damn this daily column by saying:

"That awful Doctor Crane! He is belittling the dignity of campus psychology by his use of 2-syllable words."

For far too many educators not only are guilty of logorrhea

Ontario Acts On Birth Control
