

Massive Hunt For Terror Killers

Montreal A 'City At War'

MONTREAL (AP) — A massive hunt for the terrorists who killed Pierre Laporte gave Montreal today the appearance of a city at war. The search went on for the terrorists' other kidnap victim, James R. Cross.

Army and police helicopters flew constantly over the city. Local and Royal Canadian Mounted Police spot-checked cars on the busy streets. Roadblocks and checkpoints were set up on bridges and routes leading out of Montreal, which has 1.2 million people and is Canada's largest city.

Security checks were increased at the U.S. border, particularly in New York, Vermont, and New Hampshire.

The Canadian army, the Mounted Police and Quebec's own provincial police expanded their operations under the War Measures Act imposed by Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau last Friday.

Trudeau himself pledged that the law forces will find "these vicious men" and bring them to justice "in the calm and dispassionate atmosphere of Canadian courts."

He predicted more terrorist violence but declared the government will not back down.

The prime minister, himself a Quebecer, flew to Montreal Sunday night to pay his respects to the family of Laporte, Quebec's labor minister, and to confer with officials. He then flew back to Ottawa, the federal capital.

Warrants were issued for the arrest of Marc Carbonneau, 37, a taxi driver, and Paul Rose, 27, a teacher, on charges of taking part in the kidnaping of Laporte Oct. 10 and Britain's trade commissioner, Cross two weeks ago today.

Laporte was shot in the head Saturday and his body found early Sunday. A letter in Cross' handwriting that reached authorities Sunday night said he was alive but in danger of execution at the hands of the Quebec Liberation Front—FLQ.

Police raided a frame bungalow in St. Hubert this morning a half mile from where Laporte's body was found and said it may have been used by Laporte's killers. There was blood on the floor.

Both suspects were described as French-speaking Canadians. There was no explanation why they were charged with both kidnapings, since communiques from the Quebec Liberation Front have indicated that separate FLQ factions carried them out.

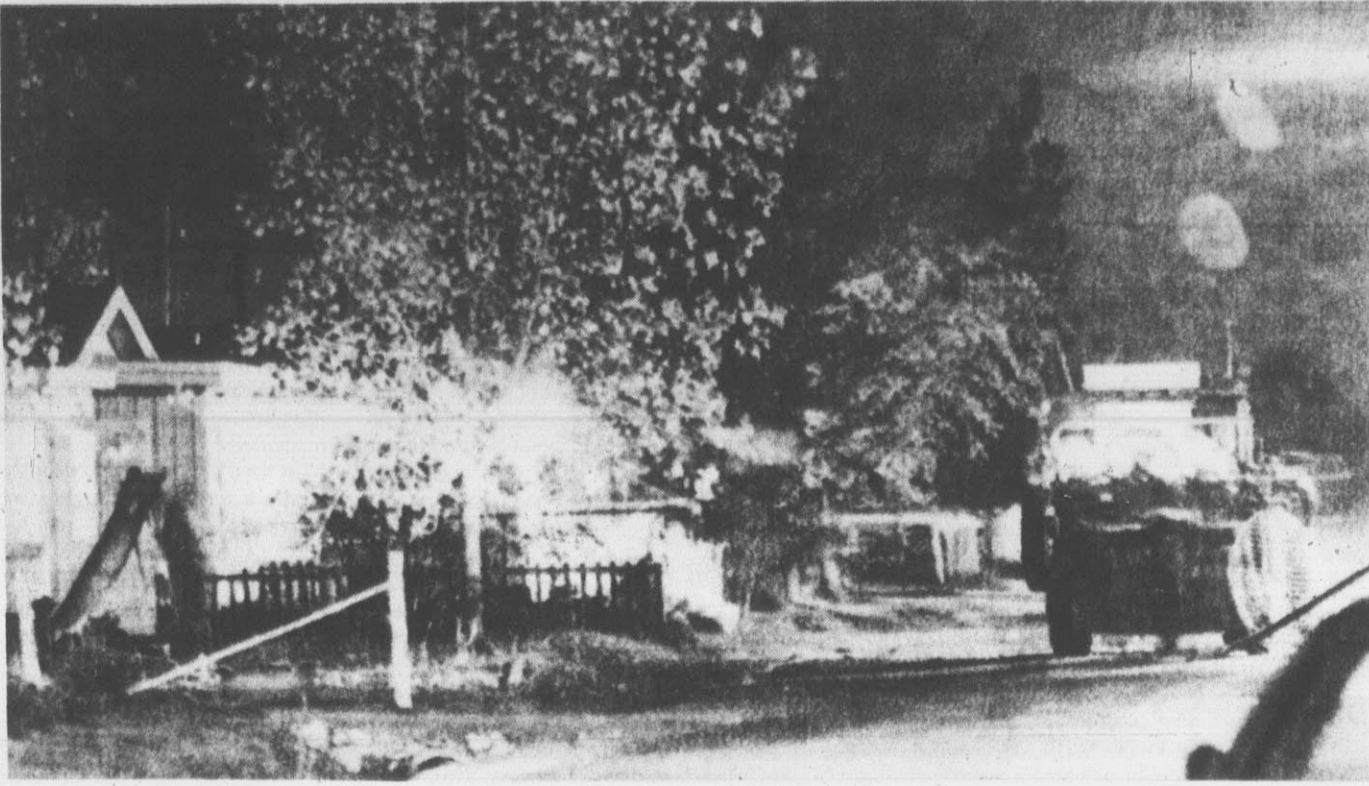

By early today, police had rounded up 319 persons in a manhunt launched after the federal government invoked the War Measures Act Friday and outlawed the FLQ. More than 180 were picked up in Montreal, the rest in Quebec City, Sherbrooke, Hull and five other Quebec towns.

Rose was involved in a 1968 controversy at Perce, on the Gaspé Peninsula, when 25 young people occupied a building. Abner Biard, Perce mayor, said the youths bothered tourists and when he and others protested, he was threatened by six or seven organizations, among them the FLQ.

Laporte, 49, was abducted as he played football with his children on Oct. 10. Five days earlier, James Richard Cross, also 49, the British trade commissioner in Montreal, was taken from his home.

The FLQ made seven ransom demands, among them release and safe conduct to Cuba or Algeria for 23 persons convicted or accused of terrorist crimes. An FLQ communique which led police to Laporte's body in a Montreal suburb Saturday night said he was "executed" because the government refused to comply.

While refusing to free the 23 men demanded by the kidnapers, the government offered to parole five of them and also promised the kidnapers safe conduct for themselves to Cuba or Algeria if Cross and Laporte were returned safe. After Laporte's body was found, Trudeau's government announced that the offer of safe conduct to Cross' kidnapers still stood.

Koonce And Joyner Pull Out

Two Members Of Election Board File Resignations

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Board of Elections chairman I. Bruce Koonce and board member Eli Joyner have submitted their resignations to the State Board of Elections in Raleigh.

Their reasons for resigning, however, seem to be different.

Koonce, in a letter mailed to the State Board Saturday, said "... it is my reluctant request that the State Board accept my resignation, effective upon receipt of this letter. This action is not taken without serious and careful consideration of what I consider to be in the best interest of my county and my political party."

Commenting on his actions this morning, the elections official said local Democrat Party leaders have "contantly used every means to exert pressure..." and "have brought pressure from the highest office in the state to the lowest office to have the present board ousted..."

Koonce's letter, sent to the attention of Alex K. Brock, executive secretary of the state board said, "As you know, I have continued to serve on the Pitt County Board of Elections since last February when the State Board reappointed me. Subsequently, I was elected Chairman and have been serving in that capacity. You will also recall that I was not the nominee of my party executive committee but, rather was requested by the State Board to continue in office so that Pitt County might make an orderly transition from the old bound book system to the modern loose-leaf system with a full-time operation."

"The administrative transition has been successfully accomplished and we now enjoy a highly efficient operation. It has been greatly satisfying and rewarding to me that I was part of this service to Pitt County."

Koonce continued, "It was well known at the time of my reappointment that those who presently purport to represent the Democratic Party were extremely unhappy that their nominee was not appointed. While I have enjoyed the cooperation and support of the vast majority of the citizens of Pitt County, of all political persuasion, I find that it is indeed difficult to work effectively when there is still noticeable resentment from even a small segment. It is not my wish to cause division because I feel that the times and especially the position I hold, call for undivided unity."

The letter concluded, "The wonderful cooperation and support given by the State Board has made an extremely difficult task easier to accomplish."

Koonce has been chairman of the county elections board since 1966 when appointed to fill the post formerly held by Spruill Spain. Spain resigned in order to run for elective office in the 1966 elections.

Joyner, a member of the local board since 1946, said today that the pressure of business forced his resignation.

"I've been caught in the grind of business...that's my main reason...business reasons," he explained. "I will be away, out of the country on the date of the elections. Actually, there was nothing else..." he said.

Joyner said his resignation was forwarded to Raleigh October 10. "I have been considering it for some time," he explained.

Koonce and Joyner, both Democrat members of the county board, were reappointed to two-year terms by the State Board and took the oath of office March 3, 1970. In reappointing Koonce and Joyner, the State Board of Elections turned down the State Democratic Party nominees, J. B. Spillman, Bernie Baker and Sam Nelson.

By law, the state majority party is entitled to two seats on the board and the minority party gets the other position. The Republican presently serving on the board is Henry T. Smith.

Nominees for the posts are chosen by the county party organizations and submitted to the state party executive committees who then recommend to the State Board of Elections for nomination.

J. Bryan Scott, chairman of the State elections board said at the time Koonce and Joyner were sworn in that the proposed slate of nominees was turned down in favor of the incumbents because the county board was involved in administrative change-overs from bound to loose-leaf registration and ex-

Morning Blast

IRVINE, Calif. (AP)—An explosion destroyed a greenhouse and damaged another at the Stanford Research Institute facility near the University of California campus here early today, authorities said.

Investigators said it "possibly" could have been caused by a bomb. There were no injuries.

Stanford Research Institute, headquartered in Menlo Park, has worked on several Defense Department projects. However, Edward Wood, executive director of the Irvine office, said the facility here was engaged in government subsidized "economic and scientific" experiments involving plants.

Wood said the greenhouses contained several plant experiment projects, most of which were destroyed. No damage figure was available.

Law enforcement officers cordoned the area after reports of escaping gas. Firemen and sheriff's deputies were investigating.

Govm't Said Infiltrated

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times said today the Central Intelligence Agency has told President Nixon that more than 30,000 Communist agents have infiltrated the government of South Vietnam.

The Times said the CIA predicted a resurgence of Communist strength as United States troops are withdrawn from South Vietnam.

The report, the newspaper said, called the Communist apparatus "virtually impossible to destroy" and listed as agents an aide to President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam, a former province chief and high officials of the police and military intelligence.

In a dispatch from Washington, the newspaper said: "The CIA's analysis does not assert or imply that the South Vietnamese government is likely to fall in the next few months, the officials who have read it said. Nor does the study discount the likelihood that the South Vietnamese Army will perform well in battle for some time to come, as occurred in Cambodia.

"What the study does imply, the officials said, is that the South Vietnamese government has little chance of enduring over the long run because of the great extent of Communist penetration."

White House officials confirmed the existence of the report, the Times said, but they contended the report "exaggerated the extent of infiltration and rejected the analysis as inaccurate and 'overly pessimistic,'" a view said to be shared by President Nixon.

The newspaper said it had obtained details of the report from government officials who had read it.

Nixon Carries Campaigning Into 3 States

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Nixon, urging the election of Republicans in the region he calls the heartland, said today they know America cannot bring peace abroad "unless we also restore peace at home—in our streets, our schools, our cities."

Nixon urged in a campaign statement the election of Robert Taft Jr. to the Senate from Ohio to displace a Democrat, and of Roger Cloud, the state auditor, to be governor.

"I know that both of them—and all of the GOP candidates in Ohio—will work closely with the Nixon administration in meeting the challenges of the seventies," Nixon said as he began a two-day campaign swing through six states.

"To the voters of Ohio, who are accustomed to judging all Americans, I say that I look upon those men as all American candidates," he said. "I regard their election as a matter of especially high priority."

The President's itinerary today also included visits to Grand Forks, N.D. and Kansas City, Mo. All three are campaign states.

During the weekend the President wooed the silent majority and offered a lower-key version of the law-and-order campaign theme of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew. The President urged Americans to "speak up with your votes" against obscenity.

A Bounty?

RALEIGH (AP) — A sponsor of drug law reform in past sessions of the North Carolina General Assembly said today the state may need to offer a bounty for drug peddlers.

"A bounty on the head of hard criminal elements in the form of a cash reward, or possible immunity for victims who are willing to testify, may be the answer in controlling the unlawful sale of harmful drugs in North Carolina," said Rep. Sam Johnson, D-Wake.

Johnson said he might sponsor such legislation in the General Assembly session which opens in January.

In remarks prepared for a news conference, Johnson said many of those being arrested on drug violations charges now "are often teenage victims."

Argue Vote By 18-Year-Olds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The states of Oregon and Texas argued today in the Supreme Court that Congress acted unconstitutionally when it granted the vote to 18-year-olds.

Both states took the position at a hearing that their 21-year minimum was not a form of discrimination the 14th Amendment gives Congress the power to correct.

"The 21-year standard is a reasonable classification that falls far short of the prohibitions of the 14th Amendment," argued Lee Johnson, the attorney general of Oregon.

Charles Alan Wright, a law professor who spoke for Texas, agreed with Oregon's position and said that were it not for the court's "respect for the body across the street," i.e., Congress, the 1970 voting rights laws would have been thrown out as "trivialous."

The argument turns on interpretation of the 14th Amendment, ratified in 1868 and designed to protect the rights of newly freed Negroes by prohibiting the states from denying anyone "the equal protection of the laws." Section 5 of the amendment gives Congress the power to enforce these provisions "by appropriate legislation."

Infant Swallows LSD; Treated

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An 18-month-old boy was treated at a hospital and his father was jailed Sunday after the child swallowed LSD tablets, police said.

Leroy Carmichael, 22, told officials at a hospital that his son, Troy, accidentally picked up the drug while the Carmichaels visited friends, police said.

Coastal Highway Plan Strongly Urged By Scott

PROPOSED EAST COAST CORRIDOR would connect the Norfolk, Va., and the Savannah, Ga. areas.

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. — Governor Robert W. Scott told an estimated 500 persons here Monday he is convinced that a proposed coastal corridor highway linking Norfolk, Va., to Savannah, Ga., "is of critical importance to the economic development of our coastal plains and coastal area."

A similar response was heard from South Carolina Gov. Robert E. McNair during the East Coast Highway Conference in Convention Center.

Gov. Scott reviewed avenues of financing the highway, noting that the states were committed to a governmental partnership in highway construction. "The challenge at all levels of concern during the next few months must be on the decision-making process in Washington," he said. "The success or failure of a coastal corridor rests to a large extent on the continued interest and support of people such as you at this gathering." He called on the audience, representing business and civic interests from Maryland to Georgia, to a "commitment to follow up on this program and to effectively represent our needs to the national administration and to the Congress."

These present for the conference unanimously adopted a resolution noting the urgency of the coastal corridor highway in terms of economic development and "strongly recommending the earliest construction" of the highway.

Police Mascot Stole The Show

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — It was Freaks 5, Cops 4 in a softball game Sunday between bearded local collegians and community relations-minded policemen. But the game was less exciting than the cops' attempt to get their mascot into the dug-out.

The diplomats said Gen. Hafez Al-Assad of the air force, Syria's defense minister, has closed down the Damascus headquarters of the Saika guerrillas and asked the Central Committee of the Palestine Resistance Movement to suspend its membership.

Saika guerrillas returning to Syria from Jordan are being disarmed at the border and shipped off to detention areas in northern Syria, the sources said. They reported Assad has put Syria under military control, paralyzing the Baath Socialist party government.

Assad forced Dr. Nouruddin Atassi to resign as president and premier of Syria on Saturday, and today Maj. Gen. Salah Jadid, Marxist leader of the Baath party, was reported to have fled the country, possibly to northern Lebanon.

Assad's coup is believed to have resulted from the Syrian invasion of Jordan during the civil war there last month. Assad opposed the intervention and refused to give it air cover; as a result, strafing Jordanian planes did heavy damage to the Syrian invaders. Assad reportedly uncovered a plot by Jadid to oust him and moved first.

Meanwhile, Jordanian tanks and Palestinian guerrillas in northern Jordan battled Sunday for control of villages on the guerrillas' supply route from Syria. The guerrillas said 60 tanks shelled four villages between Ramtha and Irbid, 50 miles from the Jordanian capital of Amman, and that they replied with mortars, machine guns and rockets.

Guerrillas at Amrawa said the troops cut the road from Ramtha to Irbid in violation of the peace agreement signed last Tuesday by King Hussein and guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat. The pact permits the guerrillas to move men and supplies along the country's roads as long as they obey traffic laws. But Jordanian army officers, unhappy with the pact, maintain the agreement gives them the right to re-assert government control in these villages.

New Syrian Ruler Cracks Down On Guerrillas

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria's new military ruler is cracking down on the Palestinian guerrillas the previous Marxist regime sponsored, Arab diplomatic sources reported today.

Invite Exhibit At State Fair

Participants in the Pitt County Middle School Occupational Project have been invited to put on a three-day exhibit at the State Fair.

The invitation was extended to the Pitt project coordinator, Mike Mills, by the State Department of Public Instruction.

The exhibit will be part of a larger exhibition depicting occupational education in North Carolina. It will be "live" in that students and teach will be performing learning activities indicative of the occupational program represented, Mills said.

Occupational teachers and students from the Bethel Middle School will be responsible for the exhibit. Participating tomorrow, Tuesday, and Wednesday from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. each day, the group will simulate activities that represent their occupational exploration in the following areas of "the world of work": communications, manufacturing, clerical and sales, agriculture, construction, and service.

Mrs. Rachel Welborn and Kent Worthington, the two Middle School Occupational teachers at Bethel Middle School, will be in charge. Students participating on designated days are as follows: Monday—Pamela Jenkins, Gray Keel, Gilbert Bartle, and Rinalda Farrar; Tuesday—Mary Brown, Lewis Ayers, Darlene Manning, and Ricky Pippen; and Wednesday—Samuel Taylor, Faryce Goode, Hilton Tetterton, and Kim Manning.

INAUGURATION... of United Nations week in Greenville is marked as Greenville Boys' Club member Keith Jones, left and director J. Flexibility Theme By Sanford At Inauguration

DURHAM (AP) — Duke University President Terry Sanford says leadership and "creative flexibility" are needed in handling student dissent on the modern-day American campus.

Sanford, 53, a former North Carolina governor, made the statement Sunday after he was inaugurated as the sixth president of Duke. Just before the ceremonies began, a demonstration protesting the inauguration was staged under the leadership of the Students for Democratic Society (SDS), a militant group.

The group held a brief speaking program near the inauguration site. Banners and placards protesting the cost of the inauguration and supporting unionization of Duke Hospital workers were seen.

The protest group, which appeared to number 150, also milled around the fringes of the inauguration site during the ceremony, but there was no interruption.

Sanford, who began his duties last April, was installed by Winston Salem industrialist Charles B. Wade Jr., chairman of the board of trustees.

In his prepared address, Sanford said, "While I in no way believe destruction and disruption are justifiable means to any end, I choose not to view student unrest as the major problem of American campuses, let alone American society."

Duke's policy, Sanford said, "is that we do not believe in force to suppress dissent and that we do not believe in force to express dissent."

In a brief talk, Gov. Bob Scott expressed the hope that Sanford "will exert the same forceful leadership and creative talent in this new role" that he exerted as North Carolina's "quality education governor."

This was a reference to the emphasis Sanford put on improving public education during his administration. The former governor pledged in formally beginning his new educational role to commit Duke to service in a "challenging and exciting new era of change."

Duke will strive for individuality among institutions of higher learning, Sanford said. He added, "It is for Duke to be unique, with its own talents and strengths, in its own setting, with its own history and heritage. We strive to be Duke University, using to the fullest its own peculiar resources and creative capabilities."

In his prepared text, Sanford said: "The attitudes of many of our older leaders today seem to have hardened in their response to the vigorous demands and energetic tactics of youth. And in turn, too many young people have reacted in frustration by lashing out chaotically... so we have on one hand, leadership without creativity, which is suffocating, and on the other hand, creativity without leadership, which in social and political terms is nonproductive."

Jordan To Talk At Grange Meet

DURHAM (AP) — U. S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., will head the speakers at the 42nd annual convention of the North Carolina State Grange which opens in Durham Oct. 25.

Jordan will speak at a fellowship dinner Monday night, Oct. 26.

The convention will end Oct. 28. Mrs. Harry B. Caldwell, master of the State Grange, will present her annual report on Tuesday, Oct. 27.

The West's first television station, WEXA0, began transmitting one hour a day from Los Angeles in 1931.

Holding Watershed Transferral Completed Workshop Tuesday

A regional watershed workshop designed to facilitate watershed work in Eastern North Carolina will be held Tuesday in Goldsboro.

The all-day session will begin at 9:50 a.m. at the Wayne Agricultural Center.

Legal aspects of watershed applications, particularly General Statutes 139 and 156, will be discussed by Milton Heath of the Institute of Government.

Other principals on the program will be Archie W. Bunch of Laurel Hill, who will serve as moderator on behalf of the sponsoring Watershed Committee of the State Soil and Water Conservation Districts;

H. A. (Jack) Smith and W. W. Stevens of Raleigh, both associated with the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee; and Roy Beck of Greenville, Soil Conservation Service District Conservationist.

Charles L. Lehning, Jr., Assistant State Conservationist of SCS, and John E. Layden, Jr., River Basin Watershed Planning Staff Coordinator, also of SCS, will discuss planning and maintenance of watershed projects.

About 150 people from counties east of Raleigh are expected for the session; others interested in watershed development may join the group, an official spokesman said.

Transferral Completed By Burroughs Wellcome

PARK — Burroughs Wellcome Co., a leading pharmaceutical manufacturer, has completed the transfer of its operations — production, research, and administration from Tuckahoe, New York to North Carolina, according to the company's president, Fred A. Coe, Jr.

Coe stated, "The company is on schedule in its transition toward full production at our new manufacturing facility just north of Greenville. We constructed this plant — which has 625,000 sq. ft. of floor space on a site of 450 acres — during the past 18 months. We are now shipping products from Greenville."

Coe added, "Our research arm — The Wellcome Research Laboratories — is in the process of moving into the new facility in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina, where it will have 140 laboratories and support-activity rooms. Here also will be located the company's administrative headquarters, now operating on a temporary basis in the State Capital Insurance Building, Raleigh."

The Research Triangle Park is a 5,000 acre tract at the center of the Research Triangle area — Raleigh, Chapel Hill and Durham — devoted to industrial and governmental research and development facilities. The research and headquarters facility of Burroughs Wellcome Co., designed by the celebrated architect, Paul Rudolph, provides some 300,000 sq. ft. of space on 66 acres of land.

The Greenville plant manufactures over 80 medicinal products, including analgesics, antihistamines, cardiovascular drugs, muscle relaxants, and drugs useful in the treatment of diabetes, gout, leukemia, and certain forms of cancer. Its best known product is Empirin Compound. The company has a branch office and warehouse in Burlingame, California, and a subsidiary in Monterrey, Mexico.

Youths Prosper As Theater Operators

DELPHI, Ind. (AP) — Two teen-age brothers who wanted to do something on their own are prospering as theater operators, presenting family-type movies in a theater that showed "mature audiences only" films before they bought it.

Arthur Small, 17, and his brother, Jimmy, 16, are earning enough money at the Roxey Theater to send themselves through college in a couple of years.

"We get some real good Walt Disney and family movies and teen-age movies without all that other garbage, and it seems to be working out real well," Arthur said. "For this size of town, this is what the people want." Delphi has 5,000 residents.

Arthur handles most of the business responsibilities, while Jimmy runs the projectors and handles most of the technical side.

The clientele of the 275-seat theater has changed since the brothers took over.

"Now more families are coming together with their teenagers and younger kids," Jimmy said.

"We show strictly first-run movies, unless it's a real good classic," Arthur said. "This increases business. People would rather see new movies. We're starting to draw from other cities now, like Lafayette, Logansport and Monticello. Those places charge as high as $2.50. Our highest ticket is $1, and kids are 50 cents."

New Guidelines For Job Tests

CHICAGO (AP) — Job seekers who have faced a barrage of aptitude, intelligence quotient and other tests now can apply under new guidelines from the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Under the new guidelines, the testers must now submit to a test showing that their techniques accurately predict whether or not the job applicant can perform the job.

They are designed to avoid charges of racial, sex or other types of bias.

Commerce Clearing House said that while tests may still be used, they must be validated. This means that the tests must show they accurately measure some skill, knowledge, aptitude or characteristic that is relevant to the job in question.

See Increase In Family Doctors

NEW YORK (UPI) — Efforts to alleviate the critical shortage of family doctors are beginning to show impressive signs of success, according to the American Academy of General Practice, the national association of the country's general practitioners and family doctors.

Two years ago, the Academy reports, there were only 10 medical schools in the country that had family practice programs. Now there are 54 medical schools either with a family practice department or division, or working toward that goal. While five years ago there were less than 20 general practitioners on medical school faculties, today there are 140.

Save The Children Offers Gift Plans

A Christmas-gift idea for this Yule season may be a sponsorship or a contribution to the Save the Children Federation in the name of a friend or relative.

Save the Children has holiday greetings which state that either a contribution or a sponsorship has been received as a gift in the name of the sender to place a personal signature.

For a sponsorship gift care, the sender makes a donation of $180 to provide a child-family-community sponsorship for an underprivileged child in this country or overseas for a year. A full sponsorship donation helps a child with his education and assists his family and community to carry out self-help projects to improve economic conditions and provide a wholesome environment for the child. Sponsors receive a case history of the child, a photograph, and progress reports. Sponsorships are offered for needy children on American Indian Reservations and elsewhere in the United States and in Africa, South Korea, Latin America, the Middle East, South Vietnam, and Europe.

Contributions of any amount may also be made in the name of a Christmas gift recipient. These will be used for the Federation's general self-help fund. Self-help projects by the Federation's field workers include helping residents of disadvantaged communities build and renovate schools, solve health problems, grow better crops, improve water and sanitation facilities and raise better livestock — all with the aim of a better life for their children. The people of the communities accomplish these aims through contributing voluntary service.

Founded in 1932, the Federation is registered with the U. S. State Department Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid and is a member of the International Union for Child Welfare.

Persons wishing to use one of the two Christmas gifts may write: HOLIDAY GREETINGS, Save the Children Federation, Norwalk, Conn. 06852.

Two Injured In Collision Sunday

Two persons were reported injured in a 5:45 p.m. collision here yesterday at the intersection of Van Nortwick and Martin Streets.

Officers reported cars driven by Raymond Earl Clemons, 20, of 1106 Taylor St. and Bruce Junior Williams, 25, of 421 Moore St. collided, injuring Clemons and one passenger in the Williams car.

Damage was estimated by police at $75 to the Clemons car and $300 to the Williams auto. Clemons was charged with failing to yield the right of way.

HHH Hometown In The Middle

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey's hometown of Waverly is precisely in the middle of the list of Minnesota population figures.

Waverly's population of 535 is the median of the 853 incorporated communities in the state, meaning there are just as many larger than Waverly as there are smaller than Waverly.

The Althing or parliament of Iceland is the oldest in the world, created about 930 A.D. Monaco is visited by as many as 1.5 million tourists annually.

Investigate Cutting Case

Police are investigating an incident on East Fifth Street Saturday night that resulted in a Columbia, S. C. man being cut on the face after he struck a man who was demanding money.

According to Chief T. E. Gladson, Andy Sloan told investigators that a white man confronted him as he walked along the 800 block of East Fifth Street and demanded money. Sloan said he struck the person who then cut him on both the left and right cheeks with a razor blade before running from the scene.

Police said the cuts were not serious and did not require medical aid.

Sloan told officers he was in Greenville attending homecoming activities at East Carolina University.

Warns Time Running Out

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — How much time does man have left on earth? A billion years? Several hundred thousand? Better start thinking about 30 years, says environmental expert William V. Pye.

Pye, who heads Planners Associates, Inc., planning firm with offices in New Jersey, West Virginia Missouri and Washington, hastens to add that the human species is definitely not going to become extinct on the morning of January 1, 2000.

What he does say is that 30 years is about the limit, given present rates of air pollution, before the natural balance of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the atmosphere is irreversibly altered beginning a chain reaction that could be disastrous.

"While man is poisoning himself on the earth with discarded rubbish and other waste," Pye contends, "a more dramatic and potentially deadly process is occurring around the earth. We are filling the atmosphere with increasing amounts of carbon dioxide, largely the result of burning fossil fuels, with the automobile as chief offender.

"Air pollution is causing a breakdown of the atmosphere's ability to regenerate oxygen." "If we don't solve the problem, then the chemical composition of the atmosphere will be permanently altered in about three decades."

The obvious question, "What can we do about it?" has an obvious answer, according to Pye.

"We must substitute a clean energy source — atomic fusion — for the current fossil materials to provide high power yield without polluting by-products," he says.

Bridge Winners Are Announced

The Faculty Duplicate Club held its regular game Friday evening at the Planters Bank. North-South winners were Mrs. L. D. Harris and Mrs. Clifton Toler, Washington, first; Mrs. Alice Moseley and James Stewart, second; Dr. and Mrs. Walter Thompson, third. East-West winners were Mrs. George Martin and Terry Coley, first; Mrs. Cora Powell and Mrs. S. M. Woolfolk, second; Mr. and Mrs. Norris Drum, third.

Together Again After Winning

LONDON (WNS)—Nora O'Malley's husband Paddy was unable to support the family in County Mayo, so she packed up her nine-year-old son Anto 12 years ago and came to London to work in a factory. Now she has received word that Paddy, 56, has won 284,877 pounds in the football pools. First thing the 55-year-old Mrs. O'Malley did was to hurry to church to "give thanks and say a prayer." Next thing she did was to go home to Paddy. "I don't want a new house because the old one is our honeymoon home and full of happy memories," she said.

Age Requirements For Plastic Surgery?

Personal
Mrs. B. D. Johnston of Greenville is a patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have two questions to ask you, both about plastic surgery. How old must a girl be before she can have plastic surgery on her nose? My daughter is 17, and fully developed and mature for her age. She needs to have her nose made smaller and can hardly wait, but I was told that no reputable plastic surgeon would do that operation on a girl until she was 18. Is that true?

Also, my mother is interested in having a face-lift, but she was told by a friend that after a woman reaches 60, she is too old for a face-lift, as it takes too long to heal. My mother is 62, and recently widowed. She is a good looking woman but her skin is wrinkled. Would a reputable doctor perform a face-lift on a woman her age?

If you think my questions are of sufficient interest to use in your column, you may do so, but please keep me anonymous. "A BEVERLY HILLSER"

Frankfurters may be stored in a refrigerator for four or five days. Freezing frankfurters is not recommended.

DEAR BEV: Dr. Eugene Worton, [also a "Beverly Hills-er" and a top-notch plastic surgeon] says that no reputable plastic surgeon would operate on a girl's nose unless he saw the girl and felt that in his opinion she was fully developed and mature enough for such surgery. [Some 17-year-olds are —some are not.] And as for your mother: Sixty-two is not too old. It depends upon the general health and mental attitude of the woman. [Dr. Worton recently did a face lift on a 71-year-old woman, who bounced back like a teen-ager!]

DEAR ABBY: In response to the letter from "ERNE'S GIRL"—the one whose fiance wanted her to wear a chastity belt. I sympathize deeply with her because I am 15 years old and my parents make me wear one. I feel like I live in a gas station because I have to ask for the key every time I want to go to the bathroom. And you should see the stares I get from the girls in the locker room in gym class!

Abby, I have tried my best to behave in a way that would show my parents that they can trust me, but they make me wear this thing anyway. I don't think it is fair to be punished for something I haven't even done. What should I do? L. N.

DEAR L. N.: When you are of age you can leave home. In the meantime don't trust a YALE man [a locksmith, I mean]. And to earn a little money in preparation for leaving-home, try your hand at some creative writing. You're doing fine!

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column that a couple were considering adopting a child to be a companion for their 7-year-old daughter, and I was shocked at your suggestion that they take a foster child for a while to see how it works out.

Abby, a foster child is not a guinea pig to be used as an experiment to see how it "works out."

I cannot for the life of me understand how you, a supposedly intelligent and compassionate person could ever give such advice. PHILA. READER

DEAR READER: I suggested a "foster" child instead of an adopted child, because foster children are placed in homes on a temporary basis, while adopted children are another matter.

DEAR ABBY: A word to that silly girl who signed herself "LOVES HAIR IN HOOVERVILLE," and can't think of anything more romantic than running her toes thru the hair on a man's chest:

Just wait until she has spent two or three months running her toes thru the hair in the bathtub! HOUSTONIAN

FOOT NOTES OF INTEREST

More Trends

There is a move gaining momentum in the realm of shoe styling toward shoes of a gentler line.

The increased softness in the appearance of shoes of the future is another reflection of the interest shoe stylists have in providing those styles most pleasing to their customers. Along with the softer lines, coming trends in shoes will also reveal a tendency toward variations in the shapes of heels. They will be getting somewhat taller, and will appear in many different shapes, including pyramids. Some heel designs will be slimmer, while retaining the sturdy appearance that has become ever more prominent. Still others will be flat at the rear of the heel. All in all, soft lines and great variety in heel design mark shoe fashions of the near future.

Now, What Have We Learned?

A special grand jury has done its job of looking into the Kent State University violence of last May. While the Ohio National Guard does not escape criticism, the grand jury recognized the fact that the guardsmen were called in when all civilian authority had failed.

Scant Help By Public Debate

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — North Carolina citizens are approaching a decision on broad and basic amendments to the state's Constitution with little guidance from public debate on the issues involved.

the Lieutenant Governor. Taken with the reorganization amendment, which gives the Governor sweeping power to allocate functions of state agencies, the groundwork could be laid for a cabinet structure in which all executive department heads would be appointed rather than elected.

BRYAN HAISLIP

Seven amendments, on the ballot in wording which gives little clue to their consequences, will be submitted to the people in the November 3 general election.

Thus far, 15 days ahead of that date, discussion has been limited to the description of the most favorable aspects of the objectives to be achieved. There has been virtually no pro and con examination of the amendments and their impact on state and local government.

The question remains whether the revised Constitution, if approved by the voters, would not be a first step on the route to a "short ballot" — that is, making appointive rather than elective the offices of Secretary of State, Auditor, Treasurer, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Attorney General, Agriculture Commissioner, Insurance Commissioner, and Labor Commissioner.

It is a question which bothers some of the present occupants of those offices although for the present they have chosen to keep their reservations private rather than voice them in public.

Reorganization Spotlighted
Most attention has been given the state government reorganization amendment, second on the ballot, which would require the reduction of state administrative departments to no more than 25 by 1975.

A 50-member committee appointed by Governor Scott is now working on a plan of implementation to put before the General Assembly when the amendment is adopted. It already has encountered resistance in state officialdom.

Laudable as its aims are, reorganization presents very practical problems. The reorganization study said $50 million annual savings could be realized; paradoxically, it would first be necessary to spend $1,270,000 more each year to make reorganization effective.

Would reorganization eliminate, or simply add another layer of bureaucracy? A sidelight to the reorganization effort may well be its use as campaign material by the Republican Party. While the study group has the bipartisan flavor of a few GOP members, there are Republicans who cheerfully admit they plan to use figures from the report to show that under the Democrats proliferating state government has wasted $50 million a caused them to believe that they would suffer serious bodily injury had they not done so." The jury found that the guardsmen were subjected to "unbelievable" verbal abuse and, while it did not find this sufficient to justify firing of weapons, the jury did note that 58 guardsmen were injured by objects thrown at them on May 4. It has also been established that 200 bricks were taken from a nearby construction site.

Football Death Is Sad Experience For Area

The death of Edgar "Trey" Barrett III has been most saddening to everyone in the Greenville area. The 16-year-old youth suffered a neck injury in the Rose High-Nanover High football game of Oct. 9. He had shown a determination to recover from the injuries which left him paralyzed, but he died in Pitt Memorial Hospital last Thursday.

This young man knew our Greenvilles young people only a brief time, but they took his tragedy to heart. As Rose High principal Robert Allgood commented, "We are all saddened by Trey's death. It has been a great shock to all our students."

Charisma Will See Real Test

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
LAWRENCE, Mass. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's hold on the masses, now seriously doubted by Massachusetts politicians who were his sycophants, was displayed in a remarkable incident last week during his Senate reelection campaign.

Visiting the Joe-Gal shoe factory in this old mill town, Kennedy had a tense confrontation with the owner. He wanted Kennedy to join other Massachusetts Congressmen in backing a shoe import quota and thus save his company from imminent death. The Senator, clutching the free-trade policies of President John F. Kennedy, expressed sympathy but not support. After 15 minutes of such grappling, the unhappy shoe man suggested Kennedy might as well visit the factory floor.

The mood changed dramatically. Some 300 workers on the brink of losing their jobs broke into cheers. The factory girls entered a state of jumping, screaming ecstasy. One worker in his 50s asked Kennedy to support the shoe quota. "I have trouble with that," Kennedy replied. "I know," said the worker, said the worker, "but I'm for you anyway, Ted."

Kennedy's tumultuous reception from shoe workers who might well have been booing him, added to similar incidents, poses a puzzle: does this indicate the famous Kennedy magic endures? Or, despite such visible support, has that magic been diluted seriously by the Chappaquiddick affair?

Moreover, to such hard-eyed politicians, Kennedy seems out of the Presidential picture — certainly for 1972, perhaps for the years beyond. This includes one well placed Massachusetts Democrat who a year ago told us the Chappaquiddick affair did not eliminate Kennedy from 1972. "I've changed my mind," he now says. "I've been talking to Democrats from other states."

Strength For Today

SPEAKING OF EXPLOSIVES
Some people have explosive natures, and we happen to be living in a day when explosives of all kinds are being carefully scrutinized and evaluated. It is almost inconceivable that groups of criminally minded persons could be able to arise in this civilized era and band themselves together to blow up buildings. One of the hard things to understand about such a situation, and an even harder thing to proceed against it, is the fact that this is something almost entirely new in our national existence. Some people probably blow up buildings because they are criminally minded. There are others who like to hear the bang, bang. There are still others who believe that if they blow up a building they in some way destroy an evil cause and promote a good cause.

The American Rat Race

WASHINGTON — One of the complaints the kids voice today is that parents put too much pressure on them. I accidentally listened to such a discussion the other evening at Goldfarb's house. Young Goldfarb, aged 16, told his father he saw no reason to study such irrelevant subjects as math, language, science, history and English.

"I didn't start it," the older Goldfarb said. "It was Springfield who began pushing his kid first. Years ago, I heard Springfield tell his kid, 'Never take second best. Go for all the marbles. Get out in front and show them what you can do.'"

Other Editors Say More Leisure?

(Christian Science Monitor)
When forecasters write concerning the year 2000, they predict that people will be working a three-day, even a two-day week. Machines and computers will make this possible. But the experts aren't waiting for 2000 to talk up the four-day week.

"But Springfield's kid doesn't want to compete with me any more than I want to compete with him. Why don't I call him up and tell him if he knocks off beating his brains out, I'll knock off beating my brains out?"

A few companies have gone to the four-day schedule already. Some unions, even the American Federation of Teachers, include it as a bargaining point. (Schools wouldn't reduce to four days — teacher aides would carry the instructional burden on the fifth day.)

"That would be just fine," old Goldfarb said. "But what about Ascarelli's kid?" "What's Ascarelli's kid got to do with it?" "You think Ascarelli's going to stop pushing his kid just because you two let up? And how about Bernheim's son? Bernheim has already announced his kid is going to Yale. You want Bernheim's kid to go to Yale and you wind up at some community college in Florida?"

Little Sunlight For Business

By ELMER ROESSNER
Business will continue its two-way movement in the weeks to come. There will be more price increases, more price cuts. However, there will be a rise in unemployment without much off-setting hiring. There will be more plant closings. And over it all hangs the threat of more inflation.

Administration faces a deficit of $12.8 billion in the current budget. Budget deficits are inflationary, since the deficit must be met by borrowing, which is little better than printing more money. Issuance of that much in notes and bonds would tend to dry up available capital, further curtailing business expansion.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: If life begins at 40 for people, it begins at 5 for a dog. That's when a dog is reckoned as middle-aged.

A survey of young drug addicts—15 to 30—found a link exists between a feeling of basic insecurity and drug addiction. Men's wigs and beards in the past have rarely been fashionable simultaneously. Beards were usually vanished when wigs went out and men wore their own locks, beards and mustaches became popular.

The bootlegging of cigarettes to avoid tax payments has become one of organized crime's greatest sources of profit. One tobacco official estimates that since 1965 illegal sales of smuggled cigarettes have cost individual states a total of $441 million in lost tax revenues.

Dude: Florenz Ziegfeld, the colorful musical comedy producer, was one of the best-dressed men of his day. He often bought several dozen neckties at a time. At death in 1932 his wardrobe was found to contain more than a thousand ties that had never been worn.

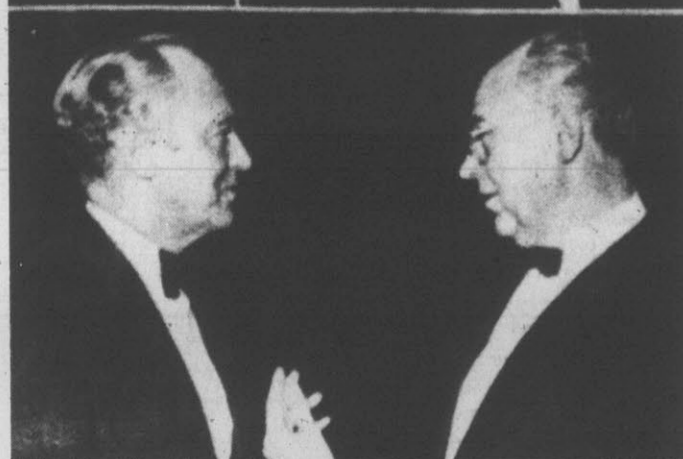

Worth remembering: "Flattery is the art of telling another person exactly what he thinks of himself."

History lesson: Can you name the first U.S. president who was a West Point graduate? He was Ulysses Simpson Grant. Grant was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy in 1843. He resigned from the Army in 1854, but returned to it during the Civil War.

Folklore: Looking at marigolds in March too long will make you a drunkard. If a guest refolds his napkin after a meal, he won't be invited back by his host. If the bubbles in a cup of coffee float away from you, that's a sign you'll lose money; if they float toward you, money will come your way.

It was Peter the Great who observed, "If you are afraid of bad luck you will never get good luck."

There are two glimmers of sunlight through the clouds. As First National City Bank's monthly letter points out, during the GM strike that started in September 1964, the annual rate of consumer spending on automobiles dropped by $2.5 billion between the third and fourth quarters. But outlays an autos then jumped by nearly $6 billion in the first three months of 1965 before falling back in the spring.

Cambodians Encounter Tough Resistance In Highway Drive

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Cambodian troops ran into stiff resistance Sunday in an operation to reopen 20 miles of important highway south of Phnom Penh.

A military spokesman said government troops ambushed a North Vietnamese unit Saturday night and killed seven of them.

But on Sunday, he said, 15 government soldiers were wounded in a clash 25 miles south of the capital on Highway 2.

Three battalions are trying to drive south along the highway to link up with other government units that are supposed to push north from Takeo, which is 50 miles from Phnom Penh.

Both Highway 2 and Highway 3, a parallel route to the south, have been cut since May by enemy troops who have made the area a major infiltration route to the Kiri Rom plateau, in the Elephant mountains to the west.

The operation to reopen Highway 2 was launched some time ago but was not announced until today. Some sources said it illustrates a change in the Cambodian command's thinking.

The emphasis now is going to be on small local operations to retake territory close to Phnom Penh, the sources said, instead of big-scale operations like the drive north of Phnom Penh that has been stalled for weeks at Taing Kauk, 47 miles north of the capital.

In Saigon, the U.S. Command reported there were no significant ground engagements involving American forces in the past 24 hours. A communique said field reports indicated no American troops were killed in ground fighting Sunday.

But the communique said a helicopter with three American crewmen was missing, presumably as the result of enemy fire. A spokesman would give no details, saying a search-and-rescue mission was under way and to disclose the location would jeopardize the search.

The U.S. Command also announced that American troop strength in Vietnam last week dropped to 378,900 men, the lowest in nearly four years. Another round of troop cutbacks already has begun, to reduce strength by another 40,000 to an authorized ceiling of 344,000 by the end of the year.

In Laos, progovernment forces captured a key position southwest of the Plain of Jars Sunday, improving their defensive posture for the coming dry season, the government said.

Veteran General Walt Planning Retire Feb. 1

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Gen. Lewis W. Walt, the No. 2 man in the U.S. Marine Corps and a veteran of three wars, is retiring Feb. 1, it was learned here today.

Walt, 57, will be replaced as assistant commandant of the Marine Corps by Lt. Gen. Keith B. McCutcheon, 55, a pioneer in Magin aviation. McCutcheon is now commander of Marine forces in Vietnam.

Maj. Gen. Donn J. Robertson, 54, now director of the division of reserves at Marine headquarters in Washington, will replace McCutcheon in Vietnam. President Nixon is nominating McCutcheon for promotion to full general and Robertson to lieutenant general. Both advancements must get Senate approval.

Walt's decision to step down before mandatory retirement age came as a surprise to observers here.

"For Gen. Walt to retire is the end of an era," said one Marine officer who served under him in Vietnam. "He has been such a colorful figure and outstanding leader. Age and years and new decisions catch up with us all."

NEW YORK (AP)—Like Gulliver amid the Lilliputians, 9-foot tall Eddie Carmel's biggest problem is with the little people. "Sometimes they call me other things than giant," he says. "They know all the words, these kids do..."

After nine years traveling with a circus, Carmel, 34, has returned to his parent's apartment in the West Bronx. Across the street is a public school.

School authorities have asked the 470-pound man not to go outside during the noon hour — in order not to cause a ruckus.

Reagan Helped By Entertainers

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan has listed singer Frank Sinatra, television personality Art Linkletter, oil magnate J. Paul Getty and comedians Bob Hope and Jack Benny as contributors to his reelection campaign.

A list filed with California's secretary of state indicates Reagan has received $881,705 in sizeable donations—$500 or more.

Reagan had reported receiving more than $1 million in Republican primary donations although he ran unopposed.

Cosmonauts On American Tour

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Russians who hold their nation's space endurance record—17 days—have begun a 10-day goodwill tour of the United States.

The first full day of activities today will take Maj. Gen. Andrian G. Nikolayev and flight engineer Vitali I. Sevastyanov to view the National Aeronautics and Space Administration headquarters, the Smithsonian Institution and historic Mt. Vernon.

Priests Assail Bishop's Policy On Properties

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Priests Association says some Roman Catholic parishes in the state are languishing in debt while the diocese holds onto unused property worth several million dollars.

The association, composed of 73 of the 135 priests in the North Carolina diocese, said in a letter Sunday to Bishop Vincent S. Waters that "we have no right to retain (these) valuable holdings."

The association's action was termed "highly unusual" by the Very Rev. Louis Morton, spokesman for Bishop Waters. He said, "The bishop has his advisors and doesn't need advice from organizations such as this one."

The priests association is not an official church organization. Its letter dealt specifically with the debt of St. Joseph's Parish in Raleigh, formed as an integrated church about three years ago when the all-Negro St. Monica's was closed.

The association asked Bishop Waters to remove part of the debt from the parish and implied that other parishes are in similar financial difficulties.

The parish owes $320,000, the letter said, and "not only can the principle not be touched, but money has to be borrowed even to pay interest."

A spokesman for the association said the unused diocesan property is worth several million dollars. He said the property includes 100 acres of land in Asheville, a tract occupied by the former Notre Dame High School in Greensboro and land occupied by the abandoned St. Monica's parish in Raleigh.

The spokesman said, "In addition there's much unused land around the Catholic Orphanage in Raleigh and elsewhere."

"We have no right to retain valuable holdings," the letter said, "when a single parish languishes in impossible financial difficulties."

The spokesman for the bishop declined to estimate the worth of unused diocese property. He said some of the land mentioned by the association had been leased and leases were being negotiated on some of the remainder.

"The bishop will decide what's to be done with the money," he said.

Nunn Scheduled To Speak For Frank Everett

ROBERSONVILLE — R. Frank Everett announced today that Governor Louie Nunn, of Kentucky, will appear in New Bern October 21 for a R. Frank Everett Rally.

Governor Nunn will make a "significant statement in regard to the Repair Facility at Cherry Point," according to Everett. "We invite all employees of this facility as well as all businessmen in this vicinity to attend," he said.

The rally will be held at New Bern High School, on Trent Blvd., and free barbecue will be served commencing at 6 p.m. Nunn will hold a news conference at 7 p.m., and speak at 7:30 p.m.

Old man Goldfarb got up and took his son over to the window and pointed out to the flickering apartment lights across the Potomac.

"If it was just one Springfield or one Ascarelli or one Bernheim, I would say 'Enjoy yourself; don't break your back.' But out there where you see those lights are thousands and thousands of Springfields and Ascarellis and Bernheims, and do you know what they're saying to their kids tonight? They're saying 'The only thing I want you to do is to beat Goldfarb!'"

"All over America, the Springfields, Ascarellis and Bernheims are vowing to beat you out of a job, a sale, a taxi, a contract, a home, a wife. And do you know why they're doing it?"

"No," said young Goldfarb. "I don't know why."

"Because at this very moment they know I'm telling you to get them before they get you."

"But if you stop, maybe they will," young Goldfarb said.

"It's too late," the older Goldfarb said. "Springfield, Ascarelli and Bernheim are too ambitious for their sons to quit now. So be a nice boy and go do your homework."

Spaulding, a Boston aristocrat running a liberal, patty-cake campaign — might convince the state's doubters that Kennedy still has his old working-class support.

There is another reason for Kennedy's exertions. Unlike most national Democratic figures, he rejects the advice from Richard Scammon and Ben Wattenberg in their new book, "The Real Majority," that Democratic candidates should move toward the center by energetically espousing law-and-order. Thus, Kennedy wants to win big as an anti-"real majority" candidate.

Unlike Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine (front runner for the Presidential nomination), Kennedy consciously avoids mention of law-and-order. Thus, Kennedy wants to win big as an anti-"real majority" candidate.

Unlike Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine (front runner for the Presidential nomination), Kennedy consciously avoids mention of law-and-order. During a 16-1/2 hour day in the blue-collar Lawrence-Haverhill area, his one remark about this transcendent issue was a tangential comment that the U. S. should not be spending money in Vietnam "when a woman cannot walk the streets of the city." Otherwise, he stuck to bread-and-butter issues and anti-Vietnam statements.

That this was for consumption beyond the borders of Massachusetts was made clear by Kennedy to a day-ending rally in Haverhill: "The eyes of the nation are on Massachusetts to see if we are going to have a candidate for the U. S. Senate who is not wrapped up in the rhetoric of his time, appealing to the baser instincts of the voters."

Limiting Money Votes
In the area of local finance, the fourth amendment to the ballot would make significant changes. One of these would be to let the General Assembly decide when a tax levy or bond issue should be submitted to a vote of the people.

Under the present Constitution, voters must approve unless the money is to be used for a "necessary expense." In cases of controversy, properly presented to the courts, the definition of a "necessary expense" has been a judicial matter. The amendment would authorize the legislature to enact uniform, statewide laws on the subject.

The likely result, of course, will be that a broader spectrum of local government expense will be exempted from the necessity of voter approval.

In the last analysis, the question of whether any or all of the amendments are worthwhile will be answered by the voters. The vital concern is that they do so with a clear understanding of their action and what it entails for them and the state.

Old Crow begins with men who love to work with their hands.

The formula that gives Old Crow its special character begins with Robert Landon Curry. It's up to him to mix the exact measures of corn, barley and rye that go into each batch of our country Bourbon.

The first scientific way of distilling Bourbon was invented by Dr. James Crow back in 1835. But giving our Bourbon a handcrafted taste is still an art.

"Between my job at Old Crow and my woodshop at home," says Curry, "there's hardly a time in the day when I'm not working with my hands."

Bob Curry calls on the same craftsmanship making this sailing ship-weather vane as he does mixing grain at our distillery.

Over the years, our craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Sailing ship-weather vane hull is made by gluing 3 pieces of wood in a "sandwich."

Cut sail from sheet copper. Paint or let it weather naturally.

Make wind direction letters. And now it's getting on toward Old Crow time.

Officers Elected By Pitt Cancer Soc.

OUTSTANDING SERVICE AWARD . . . is presented to Mrs. Cherry Easley of Farmville by Jerry Sutherland, outgoing president of the Pitt County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Election of officers, presentation of awards, a crusade report and recognition of special guests highlighted the annual meeting of Pitt County American Cancer Society (ACS) last night at the Candlewick Inn. Dr. Charles Gilbert, newly elected president of the society, stressed the necessity that efforts of all concerned persons must be maintained to fight this disease. In addition to the new president, replacing past president Jerry Sutherland, the following persons were elected on the Executive Committee for 1970-71: Mrs. Phyllis Martin, first vice president; Dr. Pinkney Young, second vice president; Mrs. Cherry Easley, secretary; William C. Cozart, treasurer; Dr. Steven Bartlett, medical and scientific chairman; Mrs. Phillip L. Clark, publicity chairman; and Dr. Paul N. Erckman, professional education chairman. Named to the service chairman and committed are Christopher B. Hargett, John Biggs and the staff of the local Salvation Army. Dr. John Winstead, Jr. and Tom Webb were elected as education chairmen. Mrs. Cherry Easley of Farmville received the ACS outstanding service award for her continued service to the American Cancer Society throughout a number of years. Past president Jerry Sutherland presented Mrs. Easley with this award. He also presented outstanding crusade awards to Mrs. Percy Cox, Mrs. Charles Askins, Mrs. Gene Skinner, Mrs. Billy

Musicians Walk Out; Too Cold
DALLAS (AP) — Just before the Dallas Symphony Orchestra was to begin its annual spectacular—a ballet and a rendition of the 1812 Overture—Sunday night in the Cotton Bowl, the musicians gathered their instruments and walked out.

"It was too cold," said a spokesman for the local musicians' union. He explained that a clause in the union contract with the orchestra states the musicians do not have to play when it is below 68 degrees. It was 58 at the time.

The 10,000 persons present did see a show—with the help of the 4th U.S. Army Band and a phonograph. The Army band had been on the bill as a supplement to the orchestra.

Policeman Slain Making Arrest
CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — A veteran policeman was shot and wounded fatally with his own pistol shortly after he arrested a Negro selling a Black Muslim newspaper without a license, police said.

Sgt. Hiram Watson, 45, was gunned down Sunday night in his patrol car while driving the man to the police station. Witnesses said they saw the arrested man, a pistol in his hand, jump from the patrol car and flee.

Joint Games

BAMBERG, Germany (AP) — American and West German troops opened a five-day military exercise near Bamberg today, testing once again the technique of flying combat-technique men from the United States to meet an emergency.

The maneuver is called Certain Thrust. A total of 33,000 soldiers are participating, 3,000 of them German and almost 12,000 of them flown here from Ft. Riley, Kan.

Army spokesmen said two American soldiers have been killed so far in tank and jeep accidents and another 12 seriously injured.

The exercise is a repeat of one in early 1969.

Meanwhile, the seven Soviet Bloc countries ended a 100,000-man military exercise in East Germany Sunday with a big parade. It was the biggest war games ever held by the Communist countries and lasted six days.

Bomb-Carrier Thought Killed
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — A homemade bomb exploded today in front of the parliament building in downtown Taipei, killing the man who apparently was carrying it, police said.

Police said they had no idea whether the man intended to plant the bomb inside the parliament building. They said he was middle-aged and apparently a resident of Formosa.

Last week a bomb exploded in the U.S. Information Service library in Tainan, 200 miles south of Taipei, injuring four persons and destroying much of the building's interior. But there was no indication of any connection between the two explosions.

CAIRO CRACKDOWN ON BLACK MARKET
CAIRO (UPI) — The government has announced that only the Ministry of Supply in future will be allowed to import foreign luxury goods for domestic consumption. The move is an attempt to eliminate a flourishing black market in cigarettes, toys, clothing, food and watches.

Highway

The resolution also petitions the governors of North Carolina, South Carolina, Delaware, Virginia, Maryland, Florida and Georgia to accelerate planning and construction and call on the Secretary of Transportation to authorize the route and provide special funds through the Coastal Plains Regional Commission.

Several public figures from Maryland through Georgia presented testimony in support of the need for the coastal highway.

Dr. Jenkins, the apostle of progress in Eastern North Carolina, set the stage for the forum by addressing an appeal to those assembled, and to those at home, to be heard in the case of the great need for this coastal corridor highway. "We must state clearly our need, our anticipated benefits, and inform of the service they can expect. We can and will be heard. Let us fling open the doors—open them wide—so that our collective voice in unity can be heard."

The Coastal Corridor Highway is to connect Norfolk, Va., and the Savannah, Ga. area. It will provide the coastal links with the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Tunnel to Delmarva and the Metropolitan North, as well to Coastal Georgia and Florida to the South.

This primary connector highway will link the key coastal cities of North Carolina and South Carolina as it follows highly direct routes from one city to another. It will be a multi-lane limited access with traffic approaches and exits providing safe entrance and exists at local points along the route.

The Mid-East Economic Development Commission was the originator of the East Coast Highway Conference idea and has been the work shop in developing the meeting. The Mid-East Commission serves a five-county area of Eastern North Carolina including Beaufort, Bertie, Hertford, Martin, and Pitt counties.

perience held by the incumbents was necessary in order to complete the transition rather than bring in new men unfamiliar with the situation.

Pitt County, since Koonce has been chairman of the Board of Elections, has moved from the old bound book registration to the permanent loose-leaf form, and to full-time registration (when prospective voters can register during regular office hours Monday through Friday all during the year).

In a letter dated February 12, 1970, Pitt County Commissioners recommended to the State Board of Elections that Joyner, Koonce, and Smith be reappointed to the local board.

The commissioners' letter, signed by J. Vance Perkins, chairman, said "The Pitt County Board of Commissioners would like to recommend to the State Board that the present members of the Pitt County Board of Elections be reappointed."

"Pitt County has inaugurated a system of permanent loose leaf registration of voters of Pitt County, and January 1, 1970, opened a full time registration office. The present board, based on its' background and experience has done an excellent job in instituting this system."

"It would be of an inestimable value to retain the present Board in this period of transition," the letter continued, ending, "The Board respectfully recommends that the present members . . . be re-appointed."

Brock this morning acknowledged the fact that the two Pitt officials have resigned. He said "both have served with distinction and have performed a rather difficult task in the transition from the old registration system to the new modern loose leaf and full-time system."

Brock said too, Gene Sommons, state chairman of the Democrat Party has been contacted and notified of the vacancies. "I am sure he will deliver some nominees to our office and the board will immediately act on them," Brock explained.

Prompt action is needed as the State-wide general election is set for November 3, and any officials appointed will be charged with supervision of the election in Pitt.

Hulme, Petty 'Collect' Again

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
Denis Hulme of New Zealand and Richard Petty of Randleman, N.C., are race drivers who collect other things besides titles and money.
Hulme likes antiques and has quite a few of them in the home he maintains in England. He also has a room full of track memorabilia, not the least of which is the Johnson's Wax trophy he got for winning the Canadian-American Challenge Cup series in 1968.
The 34-year-old KeeWill will add another Can-Am trophy to his collection later this year. Hulme clinched the title in the million dollar series Sunday by winning the ninth race in the 10-event series at Laguna Seca, near Monterey, Calif.
Hulme also collects American dollars. He'll pick up the champion's share of $50,000 from the

Can-Am bonus fund to add to the $87,000 he has taken from the race-by-race prize fund.
Petty, 33, collects time pieces. One of the bonus awards to winners of races at Martinsville Va., Speedway is a handsome grandfather clock.
The Plymouth-driving Petty won his ninth race at Martinsville Sunday. In addition to the check for $8,775, one of the items stowed carefully away in his tow truck was his ninth grandfather clock. Since he has run out of space for clocks, this one will go to a crew member.
The Can-Am at Monterey and the 262.5-mile stock car go at Martinsville highlighted a light weekend of auto racing. And since Hulme and Petty were heavily favored to win, the races went according to form.
Hulme, winning the third title in a row for Team McLaren, led the Can-Am from start to finish but crossed the finish line only 1.2 seconds ahead of England's Jackie Oliver. The latter was driving a new version of the Autocoast Ti22, a machine that uses lightweight titanium in its body structure.
Petty had considerably less trouble in winning his 11th stock car race of the season, leading all but 20 of the 500 laps over the .525-mile Martinsville oval. He finished the race in a lap by himself and also set a track record of 72.235 miles per hour.

FOURTH PLACE PAYS
CHERRY HILL, N.J. (AP) — A number of jockeys figure to benefit by any Personality victories when the bay colt wins as part of an entry.
When Personality won the Jersey Derby, he earned $2,247 for Chuck Baltazar who finished fourth with High Echelon. The two horses ran as an entry for Ethel D. Jacobs.
Jockey fees for the victory ($83,460) and fourth place ($6,420) for Eddie Belmonte, aboard the winner, getting $6,741 while Baltazar, riding High Echelon, earned $2,247. In the Preakness two weeks previous, Larry Adams gained 25 per cent of the total money won by the entry. In both races Belmonte got 75 per cent of the 10 per cent earned by the two Jacobs horses.

Odds Lengthen Against 4 Teams Furman Continues Send 'Shock Waves'

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
It isn't safe yet to rule anybody out of the unpredictable Southern Conference football race, but the odds are getting longer every week against the four teams which don't play a full league schedule.
Only The Citadel's front-running Bulldogs, 2-0; Davidson's defending champion Wildcats, 1-1; and Richmond's preseason favorite Spiders, 0-2, take on the six other conference members.
That means Furman's surprising Paladins, 2-1; William and Mary's Indians and Virginia Military Institute's Keydets, both 1-1; and East Carolina's Pirates, 0-1, already are in trouble. Furman and VMI play five conference games, William and Mary and East Carolina just four.

Furman, which dropped its opener to Richmond, continued to send shock waves around the league Saturday with a 31-24 come-from-behind victory over Davidson. William and Mary, despite the use of two inexperienced quarterbacks, knocked off VMI 24-10.
The league was 1-2 against outside opposition, The Citadel whipping Bucknell 42-28 but Richmond losing to Florida 20-0 East Carolina going down before Southern Illinois 14-12 for its sixth straight defeat.

Two more conference games are on tap Saturday with The Citadel seeking to pad its lead at home against VMI while Richmond is host to East Carolina in the Tobacco Bowl game.
William and Mary goes to Virginia of the Atlantic Coast Conference in the afternoon, while a pair of night nonleague scraps have Davidson at Wofford and Furman at home against Chattanooga.

The game ball in the Indians' triumph over VMI went to full-back Phil Mosser, who gained 156 yards on 21 carries to run his season total to 739, a school record for one season. Coach Lou Holtz said that "anyone who can set a school rushing record in six games deserves it."
Holtz said the Indians' "defense rose to the occasion," and he added that "I thought the whole offense played well."
Rookie quarterbacks Ivan Stovall and Steve Regan "did the job that we wanted them to, kept the ball moving," Holtz observed.
Mosser had a 44-yard touchdown run and sophomore Ivan Bushnell picked up 114 yards on 19 carries and also scored once for the Indians.
"We were moving the ball," said VMI coach Vito Ragazzo, "but we didn't get a lot of scoring out of it." Holtz said the Keydets moved the ball from the 20 to the 20, "but we got tough when it counted."
John DeLeo's 13-yard scoring run and his 26-yard scoring pass to Steve Crislip rallied Furman from a 24-17 deficit in the last 12 minutes. The first capped a 76-yard march, the second a 68-yard drive that began with the Paladins blocking a Davidson field goal try.

Davidson quarterback Mark Thompson hit 16 of 38 passes for 182 yards and three touchdowns — 3 and 8 yards to Mike Mikolayunas, 13 yards to Rick Lyon.
"It's simply great," said Furman coach Bob King. "We did it and it's unbelievable."
Sophomore quarterback John Rosa hit on three touchdown passes in the first half and sophomore tailback Jon Hall ran for two scores after intermission in The Citadel's victory, which boosted the Bulldogs to 3-3 overall. Only Furman at 4-2 has a better record against all opponents.

East Carolina spotted Southern Illinois a 14-0 lead in the first 7½ minutes and couldn't quite pull it out. Billy Wallace scored two Pirate touchdowns in the second half and flanker Dick Corrada set a school record by catching 14 passes for 169 yards.

Duke Moves Out Front In ACC With Favored Outlook Next Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Amid all the fanfare surrounding the antics of North Carolina and South Carolina and their attendant wins, losses and anguish, it may have gone unnoticed that Duke University has slipped into the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference.
But the Blue Devils have, with their wins over Maryland, Virginia and North Carolina State. And this Saturday, they have a good shot at making it four in a row with a win over Clemson, sporting a 1-1 ACC record.
Duke downed State, 22-6, last Saturday without much help from Leo Hart, the nation's leading passer. The Wolfpack held Hart to a career low of 42 yards passing.
The Blue Devils' coach, Tom Harp, says the way he engineers he wins is to "squeeze everything out of the talent that we have."
He will have to keep squeezing to live up to the cheering section's cry during the closing moments of Saturday's win. "We're number one, we're number one," the students chanted.

Clemson, meanwhile, got a sound thrashing from Wake Forest.
The Deacons piled up a 22-0 lead by the start of the fourth quarter and then sent in the reserves. Larry Hopkins set an ACC rushing record of 230 yards in 20 carries.
The Deacons now have a 2-1 record in conference play and are looking ahead to what promises to be a test of home ground fortitude against North Carolina. The Tar Heels, smarting from Saturday's 24-17 loss to Tulane, still pack a respectable 2-1 conference record and will be looking for somebody to beat up.
In what could be the headline game Saturday, Maryland, fresh from a rewarding 21-15 victory over mighty South Carolina, takes on North Carolina State, holding two losses and a tie in conference play and spoiling for an upset.

To add a little flavor, the two will meet in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va.
Maryland had registered five defeats in a row before Saturday's win. Now, coach Roy Lester feels like his team can give the leaders a good tumble.
The Terps' defense put on a hard pass rush all afternoon Saturday, keeping Tommy Suggs and Jackie Young, the Gamecock quarterbacks, looking for a hiding place.
The upset may have cost South Carolina its chances for another ACC title. But Gamecock Coach Paul Dietzel isn't throwing in the towel yet.
"This isn't the end of the season," he said. "We still have five games to go and we'll be back."
South Carolina and Maryland will be playing nonconference teams Saturday.
The Gamecocks go south to play Florida State and to try to improve their 3-2-1 record. Florida State edged by Wake Forest, 19-14, in a game earlier this season.
Virginia has lost all three of its ACC games this year, but it registered its third nonconference victory of the season Saturday, coming from behind to defeat Army 21-20. Earlier this season, the Cavaliers defeated Virginia Tech and VMI. This weekend Virginia plays host to William and Mary.

Victims Can't Choose No. 1; It's Either Ohio Or The Irish

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Last week it was Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty who labeled Ohio State No. 1 and Notre Dame No. 1-A. Now it's Minnesota's Murray Warmath and Missouri's Dave Devine who rate them as close.

"You sort of wonder if they are No. 1 when you come in here, but they are," said Warmath after dropping a 28-8 decision to top-rated Ohio State Saturday. "We couldn't get the ball away from them in the first quarter."

"I don't want to get into a No. 1 hassle, but if there's anybody better than Notre Dame I haven't seen them yet," said Devine, whose team actually led the Irish 7-3 in the third period before bowing 24-7.

For the time being, though, Ohio State and Notre Dame will have to settle for being No. 1 and No. 3, respectively, in The Associated Press College football poll. Second-ranked Texas, also one of 11 unbeaten and untied major teams, didn't play Saturday.

Fourth-ranked Mississippi did, however, and the Rebels dropped a shocking 30-14 decision to revenge-bent Southern Mississippi, seething from a 69-7 slaughter a year ago.

The four other Top Ten Teams with unbeaten records came through with victories. Fifth-ranked and once-tied Nebraska upended Kansas 41-20 and took over the Big Eight lead. No. 6 Michigan outlasted Michigan State 34-20, seventh-rated Air Force whipped Navy 26-3 and Auburn, No. 8, trounced 18th-ranked Georgia Tech 31-7.

Stanford, ranked ninth, walloped Washington State 63-16 as Jim Plunkett set a major college career total offense mark. Tenth-rated Arkansas was idle.

Other teams with perfect records are Arizona State, Dartmouth, San Diego State, Toledo and Yale.

John Brockington, who rambled for 187 yards, and Rex Kern each scored twice in the first 21 minutes as Ohio State shot ahead of Minnesota.

"That first quarter (21-0) was as fine as we've looked," said Coach Woody Hayes. "It was our best running game. I hate to admit it, but I think we got tired after that."

Joe Theismann, bothered by Missouri's defensive line, speeded up his delivery and rallied Notre Dame over the Tigers with touchdown passes to Tom Gatewood and Ed Gulyas.

Southern Mississippi kept Archie Manning—30 of 56 for 341 yards—and company off the scoreboard after the first period and posted a memorable upset as Rick Donegan directed a fired-up offense and Willie Heibelberg galloped for a pair of 11-yard touchdowns.

Nebraska, down 20-10, toppled Kansas on the passing (two TDs) and running (two more) of quarterback Van Brownson, making his first start of the season.

Scott Thinks He Can Do Better

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Charlie Scott scored 58 points in his first two games in the American Basketball Association—but the rookie pro from North Carolina thinks he can improve.

Scott led the Virginia Squires to a 103-88 victory over the New York Nets Sunday with 29 points and 12 rebounds. On Saturday night he also tallied 29 points in leading the Squires over Pittsburgh.

"I'm not satisfied with my start," confided the 6-foot-6 Scott after Sunday's game against the Nets. "I think I will have better judgment on shooting, passing off and getting position for rebounds after I learn the league."

Indiana made it three straight by defeating Texas 134-113. Kentucky whipped Carolina 121-115 and the Floridians beat Pittsburgh 125-115 in Sunday's other ABA games.

In Sunday's only National Basketball Association contest the Boston Celtics bowled over Portland's Trail Blazers 133-115.

In Saturday's ABA action Virginia blitzed Pittsburgh 133-116 and Kentucky downed Denver 109-103 and the NBA play, Milwaukee overhauled Atlanta 107-98, Chicago nipped New York 99-96, Baltimore beat Los Angeles 118-116 in overtime, San Diego belted Buffalo 102-93, Philadelphia crushed Cincinnati 123-105, Seattle ripped Boston 126-114, Detroit slipped by Phoenix 110-107 and San Francisco clobbered Cleveland 128-108.

Kentucky rookie Dan Issel scored 30 points Sunday in leading the Colonels over the Cougars. Exactly half of the 30 came in the last quarter as the Colonels held off a rally by Carolina.

Bill Keller with 32 and Roger Brown with 30 combined to pace the unbeaten Pacers over the Chaparrals. Mack Calvin threw in 41 points to pace the Floridians over Pittsburgh. John Brisker scored 44 for the losing Condors.

Led by John Havlicek's 37 points, the Celtics had little trouble beating Portland for their first victory in the new NBA campaign. Rookie Dave Cowens led Boston in rebounds with 20.

Scrambling Tarkenton Wrecked Kapp's Debut

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

They all came to see Joe Kapp's highly-touted arm and went home talking about Fran Tarkenton's highly talented feet.

Kapp's debut as starting quarterback for Boston turned into a bust Sunday as the scrambling Tarkenton ruined the Patriots' T-Party by directing a 16-0 New York Giant victory.

"We had the opportunities but I didn't take advantage of them," said a disappointed Kapp, who last started with Minnesota in the 1970 Super Bowl.

Tarkenton's foot-loose antics scrambled the Boston defense, offsetting the hard-charging Patriots' line while he riddled them with short, screen passes. He passed only 14 times, completing eight, for 102 yards in wind-harassed Harvard Stadium at Cambridge, Mass.

ing on the end of a 54-13 score—their worst defeat ever—in another National Football League game.

Detroit and Denver, who lost for the first time this season last week, got back on the winning road with victories Sunday. Detroit blasted Cleveland 41-24 and Denver turned back Atlanta 24-10.

Pittsburgh beat Houston 7-3 in a defensive war; New Orleans tied San Francisco 20-20; Los Angeles whipped Green Bay 31-21; Miami belted Buffalo 33-14; St. Louis cut down the Philadelphia Eagles 35-20; Baltimore avenged its Super Bowl defeat by beating the New York Jets 29-22 and Kansas City defeated Cincinnati 27-19.

Coach Clive Rush of Boston said the Patriots' game plan was to stop Tarkenton's screen passes.

"We just didn't do it," Rush said. Kapp completed 10 of 22 passes. He also carried eight times for 41 yards, tops among Boston rushers. The Giants' defense held fullback Jim Nance to a mere 14 yards.

Coach Tom Landry of Dallas was philosophical about the Cowboys' biggest licking since their inception in 1960.

Ed Sharockman, a defensive back, set the tone of the game as he ran back two touchdowns on a deflected punt and an intercepted pass and set up another with an interception in Minnesota's first half.

Bobby Howfield kicked a 51-yard field goal and Pete Liske pitched a six-yard scoring pass in the final period to break open a close game and help the Broncos beat the Falcons.

Bill Munson fired two touchdown passes and Mike Weger scored another on an interception in a 2½-minute period that shot Detroit into a runaway 38-14 halftime lead.

Terry Bradshaw unfurled a 67-yard TD pass on the first play of the second quarter for the only touchdown of the game and a victory for the Steelers.

Clarence Williams swiped a Bart Starr pass in the closing minutes and shot 65 yards for a touchdown that nailed down Los Angeles' victory over the Packers.

John Had's two touchdown passes to Gary Garrison within a minute of the third quarter pulled out the San Diego triumph over the reeling Bears, who lost their third straight.

Two pass interceptions led to a pair of Miami touchdowns and a fumble recovery set up one of Gary Yepremian's four field goals.

MacArthur Lane hit paydirt four times—three times rushing and the other on a reception—in the St. Louis victory.

Johnny Unitas whipped Baltimore into a 17-0 lead within 5½ minutes of the first period and the Colts hung on to beat the Jets, their conquerors in the 1968 Super Bowl.

Injured quarterback Len Dawson came off the bench to spark Kansas City to a comeback victory over the fired-up Bengals.

Rocket Car Falls Short

By J. QUANE KENYON
Associated Press Writer

WENDOVER, Utah (AP)—The Blue Flame streamliner now holds a handful of speed records but the most important one—the world land speed record—continues just out of reach.

For the second time in four days, the rocket-powered racer Sunday became the fastest vehicle ever to run over the Bonneville Salt Flats course one way. But a fueling problem thwarted efforts to make the return run needed to establish an official record and the 621 miles per hour clocking was washed out.

Then, with darkness gathering over the 10-mile long race track, the natural-gas powered rocket car made two more runs but failed by just four m.p.h. to break the land speed record.

Driver Gary Gabelich drove the 38-foot streamliner at runs of 604.02 m.p.h. and 599.30 m.p.h. for a two-way average of 601.7. But it won't stand as a record because United States Auto Club rules say the record must be broken by at least one per cent.

That means the car needed to go 606.60 miles per hour to break Craig Breedlove's 1965 record of 600.601 m.p.h.

The British ace golfer, with the curly hair and winning smile of a matinee idol, Sunday won the Paris Tournament of Champions, limited to eight of the best of the current golfing crop, with an eagle at the 17th and a birdie at the 18th.

He finished the 54-hole tournament with a closing 68 for a 206 total beating out Arnold Palmer of the United States and Ramon Sota of Spain by one stroke.

His next project is to spend Wednesday singing 14 songs for both sides of the long playing record. When asked what kinds of songs they would be, he said, "I'll send you a copy." Then, with a second thought, he said, "No. You'd better buy a copy."

Jacklin, the 1969 British Open winner and 1970 U.S. Open champion, took the top prize of $10,000 dollars, literally snatching it out of the hands of Palmer, who had finished previously, and Sota, who was playing with him.

The Paris Tournament, which was organized as a sweet smelling competition sponsored by a perfume maker to whet interest in golf in France, finished deep in the red.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
 (© 1970 by The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠3 ♥AJ94 ♠632 ♠AK1075

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
 1 NT Pass 3 ♣ Pass
 3 ♥ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four clubs. Partner obviously has only three hearts, else he would have given an immediate raise. No trump is out because of the singleton spade, so the only course open is a return to clubs.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠632 ♥KQ78 ♠KQ93 ♠62

The bidding has proceeded:
 West North East South
 3 ♣ Dble. Pass ?

What do you bid?
 A.—Four hearts. This does not do full justice to your holding and such mild action might result in missing a slam, yet no other step seems entirely satisfactory. We prefer to make a little allowance for the possibility that partner may have been acting under some degree of pressure.

Q. 3—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠A4 ♥A109862 ♠Q3 ♠AK7

The bidding has proceeded:
 South West North East
 1 ♥ Pass 1 ♠ Pass

What do you bid now?
 A.—Inasmuch as your hand can take seven tricks, a jump is indicated and the obvious jump to three hearts is the approved procedure.

Q. 4—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
 ♠KJ54 ♥A96 ♠972 ♠963

The bidding has proceeded:
 North East South West
 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
 3 ♦ Pass 3 NT Pass
 4 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
 A.—Four hearts. Up until this point you have done nothing. Actually your hand is worth eight points and, in view of partner's vigorous bidding and your assertion of the second round that you had a minimum, you should take an aggressive step.

 WALT DISNEY'S "LOVE BUG" AND "JUNGLE BOOK"

The Worry Clinic Don't Sell Out Your Future

Dora is the modern twin sister of ancient Biblical Esau. For both of them sold out much of their future happiness because of a present sensory delight. Use this column in your church or high school hygiene courses. And send for the booklet below. For the "case method" is the best way to teach. But beware of the sex faddist and "sensitivity" nitwits!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.

CASE 0-587: Dora D., aged 15, attended a ball game on night. "Dr. Crane," her High School Counselor informed me, "Dora has come to me in tears.

"For she complains of morning sickness and thinks she is pregnant.

"She has always been overweight.

"And she is a shy girl, but from a good family.

"So when her parents let her have a date with a boy from their same church, they felt it would be safe.

"But this boy parked after the game and tried to make love to Dora.

"She was naturally elated at this sudden evidence of social prestige, for the boy was 17 and rather popular.

"When he became too demanding, Dora tried to stop his illicit advances.

"But he made her feel that ALL girls submit to their escorts and that it is old-fashioned not to indulge in sex.

"Because of her lack of previous dating experience, coupled with her desire to seem sophisticated and ultra modern, she finally acquiesced.

"Now she is terrified lest her parents learn of her pregnancy. She is threatening suicide. What should she do?"

Dora is merely a 1970 version of Biblical Esau!

You teen-age girls should realize in advance that it is folly to sell out your future happiness just to buy another date with the popular boy friend who is your present escort.

Our high school need to separate the boys from the girls and then give them a clinical discussion of sex problems.

The teachers should be clergymen, physicians and Divorce Court Judges or attorneys, with sound moral standing in the community.

Beware of the modern fads, however, in which "Sensitivity Training" is advocated by nitwit sensationalizers who place children under a sheet and urge them to "feel each other's bodies all over!"

And of other effusive sex advocates who want to teach kindergarten children and those below even the 4th grade, the sex problems of marriage.

Instead, starting at least by Junior High School, common sense warning of children, in one-sex audiences to avoid undue embarrassment, should be instituted by churches and schools.

Anatomical and pregnancy facts should thus be explained, as by a physician or other moral educator.

Medical warnings should likewise be offered, including the terrific ravages of venereal diseases.

Colored movies should here be employed to wake up teenagers to the medical disadvantages of promiscuity.

But the religious and psychological elements are also vital, for most young people need to have an expose of the typical aggressive behavior of the usual boy who has "Roman hands" and is merely experimenting with his girl friend.

In this daily column for 35 years I have thus been offering youth the "case method" type of education in sound social relations.

Dora's obesity should be explained as one of the inferiority complexes that make girls unduly submissive to sexual experimentation.

Also, explode that ruse that "All the girls are doing it!"

And forewarn girls about the boy's attempt to get a girl to drink so her resistance will decline.

In Dora's case, her school Counselor should call a private conference with Dora and her mother and then, with the aid of a local physician, arrange for the delivery and adoption of the baby by a suitable married couple who want a child.

Oil On Water Draws A Fine

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—A Russian freighter captain was fined $1,000 in provincial court for spilling three tons of oil into Vancouver Harbor.

A federal marine officer said the vessel was pumping oil from one tank to another and the spill occurred when crewmen failed to notice the receiving tank was full.

GRAVES FOR CHOLERA VICTIMS — Fresh graves are dug in Istanbul as the city was under a virtual state of siege. Governors of adjoining provinces banned persons from the cholera-stricken area. Up to 60 persons were reported dead and more than 2,000 hospitalized from the disease which broke out six days ago outside the city's walls. (AP Wirephoto)

Oscar Hopes In First Good Role

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Oscar season is fast approaching, and one of the prime candidates for an acting nomination is a guy named Joe.

His real name is Peter Boyle, but he plays the title role in a film called simply, "Joe," and does he play it! A number of the reviews so far have nominated him for Hollywood's big prize.

"It's difficult to me to think about," said the 34-year-old bachelor. "The Oscars! I've always watched them on TV. To think that I might—"

His air of wonderment was in sharp contrast to his role as "Joe." He plays a loud, crude, bullying tool-and-die maker from Queens with a hatred of hippies, blacks, homosexuals and others foreign to his culture. His antipathies end in violence.

Boyle's achievement as an actor is all the more impressive because he seems the most non-violent of persons. In truth, the Philadelphian, born to Irish immigrants, became a Christian Brother while studying at LaSalle College, but left the order because he couldn't submit to authority.

After Navy service, he studied acting in New York, toured in "The Odd Couple," with Dan

Dailey and Dick Benjamin, appeared in Chicago's "Second City" revue, and starred a little — "that's one reason I never got married—the insecurity."

Finally he began to support himself as an actor in TV commercials.

"That turned out to be great experience for me," said Boyle. "I learned about cameras and improvising. I also learned about how to handle auditions, which are a large part of an actor's success. I was doing six to eight auditions a day, and brother, that's tough to do."

Boyle auditioned for the producers of "Joe," but considered himself too young for the part of a World War II veteran. The producers seemed to agree and hired another actor. But the deal fell through, and Boyle was reconsidered.

"I had never really had a good part before," he said, "and for the first time I felt more than ready."

"Joe" was filmed in New York for less than $300,000. The happy producers are now predicting a gross of $7 million to $10 million, and the total could go higher.

"Joe" turned out to be timely and prophetic; it depicted the middle-class revolt and was made before the hard-hat demonstrations in New York city.

Skijackers' Fate Is Up To Cabinet

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The fate of the Lithuanian and his son who hijacked a Soviet airliner last week and killed the stewardess is in the hands of the Turkish cabinet today following a provincial court's refusal to indict them. It appeared likely that the government would send the case back to the courts.

All three judges of the court in Trabzon, where the airliner landed Thursday, agreed that the actions of Pranas Stasio Brazinskas and his son Algeidas constituted a political crime. The Turkish criminal code says that a foreigner accused of foreign crimes with a political motive will not be brought to trial or extradited.

The court's action sent the case to the justice minister, who must decide whether to drop it as a political crime or instruct the public prosecutor to charge the pair with felonies. The latter course would return the case to the courts for the final decision.

The Soviet government has demanded the return of the pair, and a high-level official indicated the government would like to comply. But he said the government could not interfere with the workings of the court. Relations have been improving between the Turkish and Soviet governments in recent years, and Moscow recently agreed to a $300 million credit for industrial projects.

Arrest Two In Firebomb Case

GREENSBORO (AP) — Investigations into firebombings last September in the Caswell County town of Yanceyville have led to the arrest of two men.

Both men were charged with possession of a destructive device. One of those charged, David Lee Tate, 40, was accused of possessing a firebomb.

Authorities did not identify the device they said was in possession of the other man—29-year-old Wayne Ingram.

During a curfew last month at Yanceyville a laundry and the Selective Service Board office were destroyed by fire.

The trouble started between blacks and whites at the Caswell County Fair.

Many Business Images Have Become Tarnished

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — The past few years have been very hard on the images of many businesses.

The public lost faith in Wall Street, not only because of a bad market and bad advice, but because many brokers continued to demonstrate an inability to handle their affairs constructively.

An era has ended there. Front offices had created the illusion of prosperity and stability, but the back offices were realities of horrors. Some of the biggest names of the 1960s are financially dead and buried. The utilities, meanwhile, have kept the electric power grid from collapse only by lowering and sometimes cutting off service to certain areas, moves that avert disaster but destroy confidence.

Americans learned by these experiences that their existence in an electrified society was not the easy life of gadgets and mechanical servants, but a precarious one over which they had little control.

In its advertisements, the automotive industry vainly attempted to revive its mirror-like gloss, but under a barrage of criticism on safety, they now find the public more interested in mechanics, less in enamel.

Auto companies sold the world on the notion that cars lead to a better life. But buyers aren't so sure anymore since the image of cars has become associated with death, dirt and congestion.

The public also has become somewhat skeptical of what air travel might be doing to our environment. The airlines had promoted an image that suggested sleekness and trouble-free comfort. But that image is passe.

A more realistic appraisal shows it to be one beset by faltering profits, charges of environmental contamination, bizarre hijackings and an organized campaign to deprive it of its long-range future—the supersonic transport.

Cigarettes? The image of that industry was tarnished years ago, of course, but now it has been decided to deprive it of television advertising outlets, a major blow to an industry that depends so much on favorable exposure.

Look at what has happened to our impression of conglomerate corporations. A few years ago they were acclaimed as the business of the future, and dozens of them began acquiring dozens of smaller—sometimes larger—companies.

The concept was beautiful. If you have various companies under one umbrella nobody will get wet. If the market for animal crackers falls, the market for baseball gloves might rise and offset the loss.

A good many of the conglomerates found, however, that in very rainy weather, such as in a recession, the umbrella might collapse and spill water on everything underneath. A lot of conglomerators are soaking wet today.

Grapplers See Large Turnout

The first of several monthly wrestling matches, held at Memorial Gym on East Carolina Campus on October 8, turned out to be a solid success — netting more than $700 in proceeds for Greenville's Boys' Club.

The matches, which are planned for a period of several months, came about as a result of a special committee headed by W. M. (Booger) Scales to find means of raising funds for the Boys' Club, which is having difficulty in meeting operating expenses.

Scales, commenting on the first of these matches, said, "The beauty of this is that people had something they really enjoyed in return for their money, and that is certainly far better than soliciting funds without giving anything in return."

He said "none of this, however, could have been possible without the all-out support of the Greenville Jaycees. They were simply wonderful, working hard for the success of this project, and giving the Boys' Club all the proceeds, including that of concessions."

For the first wrestling match, which featured several outstanding wrestling singles and teams, over 1,200 people were on hand to root for their favorites. The spectators represented a complete cross section of the community, black and white, male and female, young and old.

Wesley F. Measamer, Jr., a Jaycee who is treasurer for this special project for the Boys' Club, said the Jaycees were delighted with the success of the first event, and announced that the next match is scheduled for Friday, November 6, with tickets for reserve ring side seats going on sale next week.

"I think everyone thoroughly enjoyed the wrestling," Richard (Dick) Ullom, director of the Boys' Club said about the match. "We at the Boys' Club are grateful for the support of all the people who really made the success possible."

"And of course, none of this would have been possible without the Jaycees," Ullom added. He commented that the proceeds coming to the Boys' Club was a tremendous boost to the club, and that he feels good about the support given them from so many sources.

The card for the next wrestling match is expected to be known late in October and will be announced at that time.

Series Of Mishaps Reported On Friday

Five two-car collisions were reported in Greenville Friday. An intersection collision where Memorial Drive and the 264 Bypass cross was reported at 11:25 a.m. Involved, according to Greenville Police, were Jimmy Flythe Smith of Route 2, Conway and Jennis Earl Barrett of Route 1, Gritton. Some $300 damage was done to Smith's car and another $200 to Barrett's. Barrett was charged with failure to stop for a stoplight.

Injured in a 4 p.m. accident at the intersection of U.S. 264 and N.C. 11 was Eva L. Bennett of Goldsboro. She and William Coffield Fields of Route 5, Fayetteville were listed as drivers. Fields was charged with failure to see safe movement.

Oregon Feeling Economic Slump

By EDMOND Le BRETON
Associated Press Writer
EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — The green of the towering Douglas fir is as brilliant as ever, despite a dry summer, but the sounds of timbering are but a muted echo of better times.

Oregon's 4th Congressional District, where stands one-tenth of the uncut commercial softwood in the entire United States, is hard hit by the long national slump in housing construction.

Mill closings and layoffs bring into the congressional race the national issue of an economy in which unemployment and inflation coexist and high interest rates inhibit expansion—especially expansion of housing.

If they don't agree on anything else—and they don't—the candidates—Republican incumbent John Dellenback and Democratic challenger James Weaver—are as one in describing the economy, especially as it affects building, as the prime issue.

"The tree is paramount to the economy of this area," Dellenback told a visiting newsmen.

"Lumber is our industry," said Weaver. "Period."

Whether the voters see the issue the same way is harder to pin down.

Weaver is running as much against President Nixon's economic policies as he is against Dellenback, a self-described moderate Republican who likes to emphasize his independence. "The leadership has not always been happy with me," says Dellenback, who voted to override Nixon's veto of an above-budget education appropriation, but voted to sustain the administration veto of another money bill, arguing that it allotted too much for space exploration.

Dellenback acknowledged that "housing starts have been atrocious" and that unemployment is painful. But he argues that the worst is over and signs now point upwards, citing a modest pickup in housing, a trend to lower interest rates—still to trickle down to the mass housing market—and some reduction in unemployment.

Official statistics on unemployment in the 4th District have improved, though they remain above the national average. Joblessness has reached as high as 16 per cent in Grants Pass.

Weaver, whose business is building and real estate, contends that "Dellenback just talks soothingly." High interest rates, he contends, are the key reason for housing troubles, and inflation is the most visible economic woe—"Lots of people are making less, in effective terms, than they did when they were younger."

In what he describes as essentially a blue-collar district, Weaver says he should win if the electorate can be made to understand the connection between Nixon administration policies and the economy.

"In this district, where 'the great spaces' is not an empty phrase, the unemployed are hard to find. They are off with relatives, Oregonians say, or in cabins down the country roads that lead into woods where a man can still shoot meat for his table.

Weaver toured the International Paper Co.—Long Bell mill at Veneta to talk with workers at their lunch break. They knew of layoffs, but none seemed especially worried that he might be next. Some complained about taxes—"We think of the politicians when that tax bill comes." Some young married men derided the cost of groceries.

There was one issue they wanted to talk about—gun control. One gave Dellenback the thumbs-down gesture on that. Dellenback voted two years ago for a crime bill that contained some restrictions on sale of handguns. He subsequently sponsored legislation to ease the impact of restrictive legislation on hunting, but the issue remains and Weaver emphasizes his opposition to any gun-control legislation. Edward N. Fadeley, a Democratic state legislator and attorney, tried to explain the emotional impact of the issue: "Everybody here hunts deer. In other places you may see pickup trucks fitted for carrying fishing gear or something else. Here they have gun racks ... Guns are part of living here ... Gun regulation in people's minds isn't tied to crime—it seems to be a bureaucratic regulation with no purpose."

Fadeley said Weaver has done a better job than expected in bringing forward the issues, but agreed, "the people who are hurting the worst are hard to find."

A union business agent friendly to Weaver said "Those who have jobs are happy." And as for the people the candidate is likely to talk with at the mills: "They have whiskers (seniority) so long you'd have to close the company down to get them laid off."

In Eugene, where the economy is underpinned by the large stable payroll of the University of Oregon, the annual county fair broke attendance records and the mood was far from one of depression. A middle-aged fair-goer said he is a registered Democrat, but will vote for Dellenback—"he's been a good congressman." A youngster from a Republican family wondered: "Why doesn't Dellenback change parties? He doesn't do like the President wants."

A radio station's straw poll at the fair showed Dellenback well ahead, but a Democrat discounted it. "The unemployed don't have the buck to get in," he said, "and working people don't have time to go to the fair during the day."

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS

Disease caused by nematodes reduces the value of the flue-cured tobacco crop in Pitt County in excess of $150,000 annually. These tiny, eel-like worms are present in field throughout Pitt County and feed on tobacco roots causing severe stunting of plant growth and reduction of both yield and value.

Since all suggested practices for control will not eliminate the parasites from the soil, it is important for growers to know more about the nematode situation—the number present as well as kind—in their fields, so that a suitable control program can be planned. For example, it would be of great value to know when a chemical soil treatment would pay. Quite often growers take a big risk by not using a chemical soil treatment when it would pay good dividends. We know that if the nematode population is high, value could be increased $200-$300 per acre. On the other hand, if the nematode population is low, the use of chemical soil treatment might not add a dime to the performance of the crop.

A nematode assay service is now available to the Pitt County farmers. Farmers interested in getting a nematode assay made should visit the County Agents Office to get instructions, supplies, and equipment for taking the soil samples to be assayed. There is no charge for this service, however, each grower will be responsible for the mailing charges on his samples.

A soil sampling tube may be borrowed from the County Extension Office when you pick up the materials needed. A deposit of $5 will be required when borrowing the soil sampling tube which will be refunded when the tube is returned.

All samples must be returned to the County Agents Office. They will be sent to the Nematode Research Laboratory at N. C. State University for assaying.

After your samples have been assayed, suggestions will be made as to what practices you can follow in conducting a nematode control program for each field for which a sample is submitted. When these suggestions are received in the County Agents Office, we will be glad to assist you in planning your nematode control program.

Good planning and close attention to details could mean as much as $1000 a year increase in many hog operations. By making one of several changes in their operations, many hog producers can give themselves a $1000 raise.

The first way to get a raise is to increase the size of your operation. If you now keep 40 sows and net $4,000 a year, chances are pretty good that you can go to 50 sows and net $5,000. However, this is not necessarily the most practical method in every case.

Here are seven other ways to get at least a $1,000 a year raise with a swine herd based on 45 sows without making major additions to your operation.
ONE EXTRA PIG: On a 45-sow operation with hogs selling for $20 per hundred, one extra pig per sow will give you more than a $1,000 raise.

Being present when pigs are born and making certain that all pigs are dried off and placed near a source of heat can increase your litter size. Hand breeding while making certain individual boars are not overworked might add that extra pig per sow per year. In other words, the average hog farmer could probably increase his litter size by half a pig by running a better planned, more orderly hog-producing business.

FEED CONVERSION: With feed costing $70 per ton, a reduction of 39 pounds fed per market hog produced will net you $1,000 extra from a 45-sow operation. Reducing feed requirements by 39 pounds per market hog amounts to going from a feed conversion of 3.5 down to 3.32, and selling hogs at 220 pounds. Two ways to help accomplish this are by selecting fast-growing, efficient boars and limiting the amount of feed fed to dry sows.

It is generally recommended that dry sows be fed only 3 pounds of grain and 1 pound of supplement per day. A dry sow will probably eat at least 9 pounds of feed daily when self-fed.

WASTED FEED: Faulty feeders and careless feed handling can be quite expensive. It would take a total of more than 14.4 tons of wasted feed to amount to a $1,000 loss. However, on a per-market-hog basis, this amounts to less than one-fourth of a pound per day in a 45-sow operation.

HOG PRICES: A small change in the price you receive for hogs greatly affects your net income. In a 45-sow operation, an increase of only 66 cents per hundred weight of market hogs sold will give $1,000 extra net income. Packers generally are willing to pay a premium for high-quality hogs. Some producers have found it profitable to get more than one bid on their market hogs as prices offered by two packers on a given day may vary from 50 to 75 cents per hundredweight.

QUALITY BOARS: You probably do more toward producing high-quality pork when you select your boars than at any other time. Having good breeding stock will put you way ahead of the person who has inferior boars.

FEED SHOPPING: Money lost from paying too much for feed cuts your net income. Feed prices vary among dealers. Make certain that if you are paying a premium for feed you are getting what you pay for and that you need it.

GRAIN STORAGE: Consider storing your corn. In a 45-sow operation, saving 12.5 cents per bushel of corn will net you $1,000. Keep in mind that grains other than corn may be fed to hogs. When wheat, barley, or milo are cheaper than corn, you should substitute these grains. It is recommended that wheat not make up more than 50 percent of the grain in a hog ration. However, barley and milo may be substituted for up to 100 percent of the corn needed.

You can see that getting bigger in hog production may not be the best way to increase your net income. It is obviously more important to increase efficiency than size of operation on many farms.

New Stamp To Be Issued

A new commemorative stamp, honoring the Great Northwest and Fort Snelling will be placed on general sale Monday throughout the nation.

First Day ceremonies were held Saturday at a temporary postal station at Fort Snelling, at St. Paul, Minnesota.

The 6-cent stamp celebrates the 150th anniversary of the outpost that played a heavy role in the opening of the great northwest.

The six-color stamp, in a horizontal format, shows the fort which was built atop sandstone bluffs at the juncture of the Minnesota and Mississippi Rivers, south of Minneapolis. In the foreground is a keelboat, navigated by five men that is approaching two teepees on the shore of the river. Across the top of the stamp is the lettering "Great Northwest-1820 Fort Snelling 1970," with "US 6c" at the bottom left.

The stamp will be printed in yellow, brown, red, blue, black and green.

workshop.
A highlight of the workshop was the concert by the Bastiens, sponsored by the ECU chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, music sorority for women.

Teachers and students participating in the third annual piano workshop at ECU follow.

Rescued Two In Boating Mishap

HAMPTON, Va. (AP) — A Winston-Salem, N.C., man and his daughter were rescued Saturday after their motor boat turned over.

A Hampton man also was rescued. The three had been in the water 2½ hours before help arrived.

The Winston-Salem residents were John Blevins, 46, and his daughter, Drema Blevins, 14.

Actor Weds His Old Schoolmate

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Lee Marvin's second wife is his high school sweetheart of more than 25 years ago, Pamela Seeley.

Friends who reported the private ceremony disclosed little except that the 46-year-old actor and his bride had been schoolmates in Woodstock, N.Y.

A justice of the peace married them Sunday in a hotel suite. A spokesman said they planned to live at Marvin's house in Malibu, Calif., and didn't go on a honeymoon.

Marvin won an Academy Award in 1966 for his role in "Cat Ballou." His most recent movie is "Monte Walsh."

Like Marvin, Miss Seeley is once-divorced, friends said.
