

Big Seventh Fleet Being Whittled

SAIGON (AP) — Nineteen ships of the U.S. 7th Fleet, ranging in size from aircraft carriers to tugs, are going home from Vietnam to be retired from active service, the U.S. Navy said today.

The withdrawal of about 15 per cent of the 130-ship, 60,000-man 7th Fleet is part of President Nixon's general cutback of American forces in Southeast Asia. Informed sources said many of the ships will not be replaced.

"The war is winding down," said one source.

A Navy spokesman said the departing ships include the 42,000-ton carriers Bon Homme Richard and Shangri La and the destroyers Buck, Perkins and Knox.

The Bon Homme Richard is already en route, and the Shangri La is to leave soon. This will leave two carriers, the 78,000-ton America and the 42,000-ton Oriskany, to supply planes for the bombing of North Vietnamese supply routes through eastern Laos.

The other ships going home are seven LSTs and the barracks ship Benewah, a converted LST; the 172-foot minesweepers Peacock and Persistent; the ammunition ships Paricutin and Virgo and the tugs Tillamook and Mahopac.

The LSTs are the Holmes County, Hunterdon County, Jennings County, Page County, Park County, Pitkin County and Wexford County.

The spokesman said the ships would either be put in mothballs, available for use in some future emergency, or taken off the Navy's rolls and sold or used for target practice.

The U.S. Command also announced that five more Army units totaling 1,770 men have been ordered inactivated as part of Nixon's withdrawal program. The current cutback program calls for reduction of American strength in Vietnam to 344,000 men by Dec. 31, but this does not include any of the 7th Fleet ships operating offshore.

Indicative of the lessening warfare in Vietnam, the U.S. Air Force reported its tactical fighter-bombers flew only 41 missions in South Vietnam Thursday, and the South Vietnamese air force said it also flew 41. It was one of the smallest number of missions flown in a day during the war.

U.S. B52 bombers completed a second week of concentrated raids along the Ho Chi Minh supply trail through the lower panhandle of Laos. There has not been a B52 mission flown in South Vietnam since Oct. 10.

Only scattered ground action was reported, and North Vietnamese troops made coordinated rocket and mortar attacks on four bases of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division in the Hue area. Some Americans were wounded but none were killed, field reports said.

Details Cleared

First District Congressman Walter B. Jones announced that the final details on the loan and grant contract for the Central Business District Project have been worked out and the federal assistance is now properly committed.

The overall government loan in the project totals 7,471,523 and is committed on the basis of a one-quarter city share in the project.

The federal assistance also includes an additional 303,000 "straight-out" grant for relocation and rehabilitation activities in the CBD effort.

Action on the loan and grant contract now allows the Redevelopment Commission to get into the physical aspects of the project with property acquisition and actual project development.

ANNOUNCES MANHUNT — Santa Cruz County District Attorney Peter Chang tells newsmen a warrant has been issued for John L. Frazier, 24, charging murder in the brutal slaying of five people. (AP Wirephoto)

Five Murders Are Charged One Man

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP) — A young auto mechanic who lived near the hilltop mansion where five persons were slain has been charged with their murders. He was sought today by authorities who said three hippie-types put them on his trail.

A warrant charging John Linley Frazier, 24, with five counts of murder was filed by the district attorney Thursday night.

Dist. Atty. Peter Chang Jr. said a friend of Frazier told authorities the fugitive once remarked that people who lived like the victims "were materialistic and 'should be snuffed.'"

Blood Drive On Campus

The Pitt County Bloodmobile will be at East Carolina University two days next week. On Monday, it will be operating from the hours of 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and on Tuesday from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Both appearances will be at Wright Auditorium.

Douglas Morgan, chairman of the Pitt County Bloodmobile, remarked, "We can look forward confidently to two successful days. The Deans of Men and Women, the fraternities and sororities, the AFROTC and the Angel Flight have all been helpful on our visits to ECU. "They have been instrumental in arranging for students to give blood."

Cadel Jeff Wilson, a Greenville native, is in charge of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) group directing bloodmobile operations on campus for the two days. On Wednesday morning, when Cadel Wilson appeared on Carolina Today over WNCT-TV, he remarked "We are shooting for 200 units each day the Bloodmobile will be on campus."

Morgan notes that at this time the Pitt County unit is 260 units behind its quota.

UNDERGROUND

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Delaware's newest government building, the Archives Building, is covered with asphalt and is under a parking lot.

Chang said three long-haired persons who live in a wooded area came to investigators at 3 a.m. Thursday after reading a note left at the slaying scene and released to news media by the sheriff Wednesday.

Chang said the three told investigators the note—which threatened death for those who "misuse the natural environment" and referred to tarot cards symbols—sounded to them as though it might have been written by Frazier.

The hippie community was repulsed by the massacre, Chang said.

The informants provided an address for Frazier's estranged wife who was questioned promptly, Chang added. He would not give her first name and said she was in protective custody.

The wife resides about six miles from the six-foot-square shanty where Frazier lived—across a gully from the mansion of Dr. Victor M. Ohta, 45, who was shot to death Monday along with his wife, Virginia, 43, their two sons, Derrick, 12, and Taggart 11, and Ohta's secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader, 38.

Chang quoted Frazier's wife as saying she last saw her husband Sunday when he set out on foot armed with a .38-caliber pistol and carrying a knapsack with food for several days. She said he also had expensive binoculars which he stole from Ohta's home about six weeks ago.

Mrs. Frazier said her husband left behind a book on tarot cards, often used for fortune telling, and his driver's license and wallet, telling her: "I won't be needing these any more."

The fugitive was believed headed for New York, and the FBI was called in to help in the search for him, Chang said.

Illness Delaying Mitchell Trial

FT. HOOD, Tex. (AP) — S.Sgt. David Mitchell's court-martial on charges arising from the My Lai incident has been postponed indefinitely because of the illness of his civilian lawyer.

Attorney Ossie Brown, 44, a portly 6-footer, was undergoing tests at a Temple, Tex., hospital after collapsing in his motel room in nearby Killeen Thursday.

Brown was being examined by a specialist in internal medicine. The testing was expected to last 2½ days.

Col. George R. Robinson, military judge, first announced a recess in the trial until Monday, then decided on an indefinite postponement.

Mitchell, 30, is from St. Francisville, La., near Baton Rouge, where Brown has built a reputation as a top criminal lawyer.

The sergeant is the first American soldier to be tried in the alleged My Lai massacre.

The Army has charged him with assault with intent to commit murder by shooting at 30 South Vietnamese women, children and old men in a drainage ditch outside the hamlet on March 16, 1968.

Three trial sessions totaling 10 hours have been held since a seven-officer court-martial panel was selected Oct. 13.

The prosecution rested Tuesday following the testimony of its third witness.

Live-And-Let-Live Appeal Prepared By Nixon For UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon turned to the United Nations today for delivery of a live-and-let-live appeal aimed at the Soviet Union and global public opinion.

Nixon's trip to the U.N. to deliver today what has come to be a traditional opening-session address to the General Assembly came a day after he held an unusually lengthy conference with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The President's meeting at the White House with Gromyko had been scheduled for an hour, but they wound up spending two hours and 35 minutes together.

From the outset, so far as newsmen could discern, the Nixon-Gromyko conclave was cordial, even amiable. Their behavior in brief public moments seemed in sharp contrast to recent talk of a renewal of the Cold War and, from the American side, suggestions of Soviet perfidy in the Middle East and Cuba.

Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said afterward:

"For our part, I can say the discussions were helpful. The meeting was conducted in a friendly atmosphere throughout and it is felt that the meeting was helpful for forming the basis for improved relations between the United States and the Soviet Union."

Ziegler said Nixon and Gromyko talked about

American Soviet relations, the broad topic of European security including the status of Berlin, the strategic arms limitation talks between the two nations, the continuing Mideast crisis and the Vietnam war.

Gromyko, in a statement later, described his meeting with Nixon as a very interesting one.

"I would like to express hope that the meeting and the discussion will be of positive significance for the development and improvement of Soviet-American relations," Gromyko said.

He concluded the stakes in the rivalry are so great the two nations must find ways to live together on the same planet without unleashing a nuclear holocaust.

Nixon recognizes the two countries are likely to continue to disagree about Vietnam, the Middle East and other trouble spots.

He has said privately the gulf is so wide it cannot be bridged by smiles, handshakes or summit conferences.

However, Nixon holds out hope that, under either a stated or understood coexistence agreement, the United States and the Soviet Union can get together to discourage airplane hijackings, promote a cleaner environment, mount meshing health programs and join in some fashion to aid underdeveloped countries.

U.S. Pressing Russia For Interview With 2 Generals In 'Custody'

MOSCOW (AP) — The U.S. Embassy pressed the Soviet government today to let it interview two U.S. generals whose plane strayed across the Soviet-Turkish border in bad weather Wednesday and landed 12 miles inside Soviet Armenia.

Maj. Gen. Edward C. D. Scherrer, commander of the joint U.S. military mission to Turkey, and Brig. Gen. Claude M. McQuarrie Jr., head of the mission's Army section, were being held incommunicado somewhere inside the Soviet Union. A U.S. Embassy official said it was "quite unlikely" that they would be released soon.

Also in custody were the pilot, U.S. Army Maj. James P. Russell, 42, of Piney Woods, Miss., and a Turkish escort officer identified as Col. Deneli.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry said all four were in good health and that the incident was being investigated. It did not say whether the men were considered under arrest or merely in custody pending the investigation, but it said the case was being treated as a penetration into Soviet territory by a U.S. military plane.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the plane had "violated Soviet air space."

U.S. Embassy officials requested permission to meet with the captives in accordance with the U.S.-Soviet consular agreement, which gives U.S. officials the right of access to American citizens held in the Soviet Union within three days of their detention.

The plane landed at the Armenian town of Leninakan, and the embassy's consular officer, Peter B. Swiers, said he was ready to fly there or to any other designated place.

Made Good

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — Former Marine Sgt. C. L. Waldrep bought a metal pot at the Post Exchange while he was in Vietnam. On the container was a guarantee that the pot would be replaced if it failed in normal use.

Waldrep used the pot for shaving, stewing and just about everything—until an enemy mortar attack put a hole through it.

So he wrote the manufacturer, Ware Ever Aluminum Co. of Chillicothe, Ohio, and asked for a new one. Mortar attacks are all too normal in Vietnam, he said.

The company sent the sergeant a new pot, painted in camouflage green and brown. Waldrep and his pot are back home in Gastonia now.

Flying a six-passenger Seminole U8 plane, Maj. Russell apparently lost his way in bad weather over the mountains of eastern Turkey and crossed the heavily fortified Turkish-Soviet border. The two generals were inspecting Turkish military units equipped with American weapons, and their destination was Kars, 40 miles from the Soviet frontier.

Officers in Ankara said they assumed all four men were in uniform since they were making an inspection tour and were to have been met by Turkish military officers at Kars.

'Raiding Blind'

MONTREAL (AP) — "We're raiding blind," a police officer said today as the search continued for the Quebec separatists who kidnaped two officials week before last and killed one of them last weekend.

"We've run out of leads," the officer said. "All we can do now is investigate tips ... from anonymous sources and the public."

Separate cells of the terrorist Quebec Liberation Front, or FLQ kidnaped British Trade Commissioner James Richard Cross 18 days ago and Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte five days later. Laporte's body was found Saturday and the fate of Cross remains unknown.

The front demanded the release of 23 FLQ men serving prison sentences or awaiting trial but the Quebec government agreed only to parole five of them. It also offered Cross' kidnappers safe conduct to Cuba if they released him.

Since the federal government invoked the War Measures Act last Friday, 373 persons have been rounded up in Quebec Province and 271 were still in custody early today.

Pitt Farm Bureau Officers Are Named

A Pactolus man, Burney Baker, was elected last night as president of the Pitt County Farm Bureau for this year.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Wilbur Worthington of Ayden, first vice president; Linda Edwards of Simpson, second vice president; Mrs. Mamie Smith of Ayden, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Ruel Dilda of Fountain, women's chairman.

A director was chosen for each township in which terms had expired. They are Ervin Mills for Chicod, W. A. Allen III for Farmville, Milton May for Winterville, Graham Crawford for Arthur, and Robert Halstead Jr. for Swift Creek.

Resolutions on all commodities were made to be presented at the state convention to be held in Raleigh November 15-18.

Norfolk Campus Is Watched After Day Of Demonstrating

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — City and state police kept watch on the Norfolk State College campus today after a seven-hour occupation of the administration building and scattered acts of vandalism.

The demonstrations were touched off Thursday following disclosure that charges had been placed against 27 students, including the student body president, for violating coed visiting regulations at the predominantly black school.

Student body President J. Anthony Sharp was reported expelled for two years.

Police estimated that 600 of the school's 4,000 students were involved in the demonstrations that began about 3:30 p.m. and didn't subside until after midnight, two hours after a court order to disperse had been issued.

During occupation of the administration building, police said, chairs were overturned, fire extinguishers were knocked off walls, windows were broken, vending machines broken into and offices ransacked.

Dr. Lyman B. Brooks, the school's president, was reported by police to have been held captive at one stage of the demonstration.

Student leaders denied this, but admitted Brooks had been told that if he left the administration building without reinstating Sharp, "he may not have a college to come back to."

After the court order was issued, some 200 city police and 50 state troopers moved onto the campus and the students began filing out in orderly fashion.

Book Helps Those Who Want To Help Others

By REBECCA MOREHOUSE

NEW YORK (WNS) — "I have tremendous faith in human beings," said Anne David. "I believe if people know there is a job to be done, and they know how to go about doing it, they will do it."

Mrs. David is the author of "A Guide to Volunteer Services," a paperback packed with good advice to people who want to help others. She is the wife of lyricist Hal David, Burt Bacharach's song-writing partner, and the mother of two teenage sons. "I don't think society can function any longer without volunteers," she said. "Budgets are so tight that social agencies cannot function effectively without them. Volunteers can free the highly paid professional to do the work he or she is paid to do."

"Many people would like to perform worthwhile services for the community, but they don't know how to go about doing it — they're terribly shy. We have to bridge that gap."

How It Began

Her book, published by Simon & Schuster's Cornerstone Library, tells where, when, and how to volunteer. It originated at a dinner party at the home of Norman Monath, president of Cornerstone Library.

"Mrs. Monath's children are in school and she was wondering what to do with all her time. I suggested certain volunteer work she might do and her husband asked, 'Why don't you write a book about it?' At that point, I thought one writer in the family was enough, but Norman called a few weeks later and he was very serious about it."

Monath gave her a helpful hint: Try to tell people what they can do if they have their afternoons free from 2 o'clock.

"I had never written a book and it was scary," she said. "But when he saw the first 60 pages and liked them, I was willing to take a chance and do the whole book."

"I enjoyed the research; I'm a terribly disciplined person. I found that putting down what I was learning and thinking wasn't half as hard as I thought it would be. I felt strongly about what I had to say, I believe in it completely."

The Davids' four-bedroom home, near Roslyn, Long Island, once served as milkhouse for the Mackay (Postal Telegraph) clan, whose members include Mrs. Irving Berlin, the former Ellin (cq) Mackay.

Servants

"The big house on the Mackay estate needed 125 servants to run," Mrs. David said. "Mrs. Mackay wanted the milkhouse to look like one she had seen in Belgium. She got Stanford White to design it."

Anne David and her husband met as teenagers in New York City. He was already writing song lyrics when they decided to be married.

"When he spoke to my mother about it she said, 'I know you write songs, but what do you do for a living?' At first, we were living on $1,600 a year. We had an attic apartment and I washed dishes in a rubber tub that I used later for the babies."

"Neither Hal nor I ever cared about material things and we both had confidence in him. He's been Burt's partner for 13 years, but he'd had hit songs before they began writing together."

She does volunteer tutoring two mornings a week ("I teach normally intelligent children who have difficulty adjusting to the classroom"), is a commissioner in her village government, organized the Roslyn school district's program for the detection of amblyopia.

Detection Program

"Amblyopia affects the optic nerve and can result in permanent eye damage if it isn't detected early," she said. "It affects about 1 percent of the population. We get everybody in the community, white and black, to participate in the detection program. It's in the fifth year now."

She is a graduate of New York University, taught school several years, has been active in the PTA and the League of Women Voters: "The training you get from the League is invaluable. You learn how to get the facts on a subject, you learn how to participate and think on your feet."

She paints and sculpts. "I had been sculpting in clay and wire and mesh, but I discovered stone about a year ago. I have a block of alabaster at home that weighs 127 pounds and I can't wait to get at it."

Her older son Jim is at Boston University; the younger, Craig attends Roslyn High School. Her husband does much of his writing at home and enjoys cooking for himself when she is engaged in volunteer work: "He makes a superb souffle."

Hal David's song lyrics include "Raindrops Keep Fallin' On My Head," which this year won an Academy Award, "Alfie," "The Look of Love," "Say a Little Prayer," "Walk On By," "Magic Moments," and "What the World Needs Now."

Hiccup Cure May Make Him Famous

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I accidentally happened on a sure-fire cure for the hiccups. It doesn't involve any gadgets, it's just an idea. I have used it on my family and friends and it never fails.

I have read up on cures for hiccups in medical books and there is nothing like my idea mentioned. [They suggest breathing into a paper sack, sipping sugar water very slowly and holding your breath. How silly can you get?] With those methods, the hiccups might go away for a minute or two, but they come right back. My hiccup cure takes only 25 seconds and they are gone for good.

Question: Can I sell my cure to anyone? If so, how? Should I advertise in the magazines next to athlete's foot and trusses?

I suppose I could give my idea away for free, but darn it, Abby, everybody is getting paid for ideas these days and I think mine is worth a couple of dollars as hiccups can be a nuisance. I am sure businessmen and people in the field of entertainment would give a lot to get rid of hiccups in 25 seconds.

What advice have you for me? HICCUPS CURER

DEAR CURER: Hiccups can be more than a nuisance. If they persist for hours, days or weeks, hiccups can be a serious medical problem. A sure-fire cure for hiccups would be a valuable contribution to the world. Discuss your cure with a reputable physician. He may not cough up a way to make you rich, but, I promise you, if you have the cure you think you have, it will make you famous.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 20 years to a serviceman and have traveled around and lived in many different cities. I have worked most of the time and have never gotten very friendly with neighbors until we moved to this city two years ago. I have a very close friend now who is a neighbor of mine. She's a divorcee. My husband is presently overseas so this neighbor and I are together a lot.

We heard from a friend [who is willing to go to court and testify if we want her to] that someone we know said that this neighbor and I have a romantic "thing" going between us. The person who started that story is supposed to be a good Christian.

Of course it is vicious gossip, but we are told it is all over town. I would like to know the best way to handle it. BOILING MAD

DEAR BOILING: If I were you, I would forget it. People of quality do not believe such stories, so why should you become upset over something which has no more meaning than the barking dogs?

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative who lives in an old age home. I invited her to my home for luncheon, and knowing that she has five friends at the home, I told her to bring them along for lunch. She did.

The following day I discovered that two sets of sterling silver salt and pepper shakers I had used on my table were missing.

I had never seen any of these five ladies before and there were no other strangers around at the time.

These little articles were a wedding gift of long ago and were precious to me. Would you advise me to mention this to my relative? ANXIOUS TO KNOW

DEAR ANXIOUS: Yes.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BUREAU CHIEF": I agree with your husband. While there may not have been one evil or out-of-the-way thought in your head, or in the head of the businessman who invited you to his hotel with your bathing suit to lunch and swim while you talked business, you should have requested a more businesslike setting. Particularly since you have never met the man before.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Mrs. Elmo Smith and Douglass Smith of Goldsboro were guests of Miss Ella Holoway during the weekend.

Mrs. Helen Powell of Raleigh visited here on Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. David Parker.

Carpe Diem Members Meet

Dr. Charles Moore of East Carolina University was the keynote speaker at the meeting of the Carpe Diem Book Club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Bill Cozart.

Dr. Moore is a member of the faculty in the Department of Psychology at ECU. He traced the development of psychotherapy from the pre-Freudian era to the newer, more scientific learning approaches.

A question and answer period followed the talk. Club President Mrs. Cleet Cleetwood presided over the short business session.

Other guests for the meeting were Mrs. Rex Voorhees and Mrs. J. R. Akin.

South No Longer Dissimilar

Roscoe Drummond, writing in The Christian Science Monitor, takes a new look at the South in a recent column.

He finds a New South in which racial segregation is no longer the issue which overrides all others.

"Economically the South is making notable progress," he writes. "Its industrialization is not yet equal to that of other areas but it is nearing it. The standard of living is going up steadily. In 1959 the gap between the average per capita income in the Southeast was 30 percent lower than that in the rest of the country. In 1969 it was only 20 percent. In the past year the average personal income in the South has risen more than it has nationally—up 9.5 percent in the Southwest, 9.2 percent in the Southeast."

Drummond reports that a two party system is taking roots "and this is good for the south and for government." The make-up of the population has changed. "Racially the South's black population has been reduced 50 percent. In the past two decades alone 3,500,000 Negro Americans migrated from the South mostly to the North and Far West. Drummond concluded: "The cause of racial justice is no longer a Southern problem. It would be well if non-Southerners quit pointing the finger of empty piety at the South."

"Some northern politicians find it easy to hurl epithets at the South to distract attention from conditions in their own states. What is increasingly visible is not how different is the South but how similar it is becoming to the rest of the nation."

Those of us who live and work in the South have been aware of the changes which Mr. Drummond cites. Social customs of only a few years ago are now virtually forgotten and there is reason to believe that Negroes living in Southern states will wind up in a better social and economic position than their cousins in Northern states.

Not only politicians, but too many journalists have ignored the problems at their own doorsteps because it was popular to write about Southern shortcomings. Now many of the South's problems have been corrected and it is good to see a journalist of Roscoe Drummond's stature recognizing this.

Politicos Have Uncertainties

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Climactic events in a curious campaign come within the next three days with politicians still confounded as to the voters' state of mind.

National Democratic Chairman Larry O'Brien in Asheville on Saturday, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew in Raleigh on Monday are the big salvos for their respective parties as the November 3 general election draws nearer.

O'Brien will be the speaker for the 10th annual Vance-Aycock Dinner, a fund-raising affair which will draw Governor Bob Scott and other busing, obviously is a cause for deep concern. Inflation, economic uncertainty and taxes worry many people. The whole complex of social change discomforts the middle class and the middle aged.

Tar Heels are restless, but it is characteristic of this campaign that definite currents favoring candidates or philosophy of either party are difficult to sense.

In fact, some observers note a disillusion on the part of the citizenry more disturbing than the complacent apathy of the past. "I don't find many people who really want to talk about it," said one knowledgeable man who has traveled the state during the past two months.

"There's a lack of enthusiasm for any candidates. It is almost as though people were saying, 'We're fed up with all politicians,'" he said.

No Statewide Focus There are no statewide contests to provide personalities around which the campaign can be crystallized, and on whose coat-tails lesser candidates can ride. Races for state legislative seats, and for House seats in the Congressional Districts, each have a local setting.

Yet, much more than in past off-year elections, Republicans and Democrats have aimed for an audience broader than the immediate area of specific races.

The active roles taken by State Republican Chairman Jim Holshouser and Governor Scott, for Democrats, almost has created the impression that they were running against each other. The Governor's defense of taxes enacted by the 1969 General Assembly, and Holshouser's persistent contention that the axes can be repealed without cutting state services has emerged as the dominant campaign theme.

Whether it has touched a responsive chord will be told only on the basis of the outcome of legislative races in which the GOP has candidates.

The Congressional seats are the big stakes. Republican hopes of picking up one or more is the real reason President Nixon and Vice President Agnew included North Carolina on their campaign schedules.

In six of the state's 11

DST Appears To Be Extended Overly Long

Through the summer months Daylight Savings Time has been pleasant. Indeed, it has become normal time to most of us for the summer.

Tomorrow night, however, North Carolinians will move their clocks back one hour and Sunday they will be on Eastern Standard Time once again.

We wholeheartedly approve of Daylight time but we wonder if it is not continued too long to carry it through October. This late in the year children are often getting off to school before daylight, which is not desirable.

Certainly Daylight Savings time should be continued, but perhaps some thought should be given to changing the law nationally so that the clocks are turned back sooner in the fall.

Nixon Took A Huge Gamble

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

EN ROUTE WITH NIXON — The fact that President Nixon's most intimate political advisers have had their breath taken away by the audacity of his unprecedented off-year electioneering proves how much Mr. Nixon himself, not his political high command, is personally calling the signals in this crucial election.

That signal-calling specifically includes Vice President Spiro Agnew's intrusion against Republican Sen. Charles E. Goodell in New York and the underdog Administration assist for Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Jr., the Democrat-turned-independent, in the Virginia Senatorial campaign.

But far more important, it involves a high personal risk to Mr. Nixon himself in a campaign that will take him to 20 or more states to elect new Republican Senators, reduce GOP House losses to the minimum, and safeguard his party's present control of governorships.

The sudden, unexpected addition of such states as Minnesota, Wisconsin, and North Carolina to the growing list of Nixon targets took some members of his political high command by surprise. The decision to go all out, in other words, resulted not from carefully-staged White House strategy sessions, with possible gains of a Presidential visit minutely balanced against possible losses of Presidential prestige.

To the contrary, Mr. Nixon decided weeks ago in private talks with H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, his top White House aide, and Atty.-Gen. John Mitchell, his general political strategist, to invest his prestige to the hilt, whatever the consequences.

Picking and choosing only those states that seemed promising, he decided, would negate his role as party leader and expose him to an undercurrent of bad feeling from those left out.

Moreover, with a dozen Senate races as close as Tweedledum and Tweedledee, the picking and choosing might well lead him to invest his prestige in exactly the wrong state, with a calamitous loss of Presidential prestige.

Mr. Nixon jokes privately these days about the similarities between his own 1970 political investment and the quandary of the famous Republican merchant, John Wanamaker, who said he knew that half his advertising paid off and half did not—but he could never discover which was which.

Faced with a similar problem, Mr. Nixon drew a bold conclusion and, despite the risks, decided to bet it all on the 1970 election.

That means a Presidential campaign going far beyond the Senate. With most states facing Congressional redistricting, Republican governors will be essential to prevent the veto of new, gerrymandered districts set up by Republican legislatures or to veto gerrymandered districts set up by a Democratic legislature. The party that controls redistricting can gain a mathematical advantage which would directly influence the makeup of the House of Representatives for the next ten years.

That's why Mr. Nixon will campaign in Minnesota and Wisconsin — two states where Democratic Senatorial candidates are prohibitive favorites but where the campaign for governor might be tipped Republican by the hoopla of a Presidential visit.

Strength For Today

LIFT UP YOUR EYES

A woman who was greatly worried felt it necessary to consult a psychiatrist. He gave her this prescription: "See a few big things — Niagara Falls, the Great Pyramid, the Alps. Go for the big things." Said her physician, "The big things you will like to remember when you are bothering about pouring water in and out of tea cups."

The tonic of big things is often good for our small minds. We tend to drift into small anxieties, small pleasures, small ideas, small talk. John Bunyan writes in one of his books, "When I was thus afflicted with a sense of my own damnation, there were two things which made me wonder. One was when I saw old people hunting after the things of this life, as if they should live here always; the other was when I found professing Christians much distressed and cast down when they met with outward losses. Lord, thought I, what ado is here about such little things as these!"

Usually it is not the big burdens which break our hearts, but a multitude of little burdens. It is not some great trouble which robs us of all power, but little anxieties which we should be ashamed to harbor. We easily tire of the microscopic — what our soul really hungers for is the majestic. If life has lost its relish for us, it may be that what we need is contact with things that are truly big. Little things may have wrought its evil work in our heart and minds.

The Curse Is Working

WASHINGTON — There is a great deal of soul-searching going on in this country as to why things have gone wrong. The Democrats blame the Republicans. The Republicans blame the radical-liberals. The students blame the Establishment. The Establishment blames Doctor Spock.

The one thing everyone seems in agreement on is that we're in a mess. The only thing no one is in agreement on is how we got into it.

I can now reveal the exact date and hour when things started going downhill in the United States. I can also reveal, for the first time, the reason why.

On Nov. 10, 1958, at 11 a.m., a small brown package insured for $1 million was delivered to the Smithsonian Institution. Inside was the famous Hope diamond, a gift to the United States from Harry Winston, one of America's famous jewelers. The Smithsonian was thrilled to have such a beautiful stone to display to the public. But what the American officials did not take into consideration was that the diamond had a curse on it—it brings bad luck to anyone who owns it.

Here are just a few of the things that happened to people who possessed the Hope diamond.

Louis XIV gave it to his mistress, Mme. de Montespan, and immediately abandoned her. The king himself contracted an incurable disease and finished his reign in disgrace.

The beautiful Princess Lamballe wore the diamond and was beaten to death by a mob during the French Revolution. Her head was paraded before Marie Antoinette, her closest friend.

The best horseshoe pitcher in a small town was looked up to—even though he always seemed too busy to find steady work.

Neither babies nor dogs were expected to subsist on canned foods.

The favorite pinup girls of World War II soldiers was Faye Emerson and Betty Grable.

Kids when digging a backyard cave always conjured up the dream of going all the way through the earth and wondered if the first person they met on the other side would speak Chinese.

Those Bygone Days

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The human memory is like autumn, a season of both recollection and premonition.

It is also like autumn in that it is a harvest. The reward of the green and growing years is the golden sheaf of memories one is left with in the Indian summer years of life.

Your own memory crop is bountiful if you can look back and remember when—somewhere in the neighborhood to announce the dawn.

Many a farmer made pin money by hitching up his team of horses and charging Sunday motorists $5 to haul their stranded cars out of mudholes.

Everybody in America seemed to start munching raisins all at once after word was spread that they put more iron in your system.

During the flapper era of the 1920's, women for the first time began to invade men's barber-shops, thereby riling the old-timers and forcing barbers to hide their copies of the lurid Police Gazette.

The nation had more pot-bellied stoves than pot-bellied people.

Sometimes the lights in a movie house were flashed on and the film stopped so the manager could come out and announce, "The show will not continue unless you kids in the front row quit shooting beans at the piano player."

If Sales Slump, Raise Prices

By ELMER ROESSNER

That low, distant rumble you may be hearing may be the bones of Adam Smith rolling over in his grave in Edinburgh.

The substitution of Keynesian economic reasoning for that of Adam

ELMER ROESSNER

Smith in "The Wealth of Nations" is producing some strange effects.

Take the airlines. For competitive reasons, the domestic lines have contracted for a large number of 747s at a cost of $24-million apiece, give or take a dime, just at a time air traffic is falling off. They are cutting expenses, substituting snacks for full meals on short flights and dropping movies on morning flights. Adam Smith would have approved.

But they are also seeking higher rates and permission to engage in the monopoly practice of cutting competitive flights. There go Adam's bones again.

Under older, basic economics, when you couldn't sell your biscuits you cut the price. But under the newer concepts, if you don't sell them, you raise the price. Fewer New Products

Take new products. Under basic economics, when demand for your products fell off, you bring out new and better ones.

But a survey by Alan Berni Corp., marketing and design consultants shows manufacturers are introducing fewer new products. In the past 18 months, new products among 50 major toiletries, food and housewares manufacturers have declined 38 percent in comparison with the previous 18 months.

The high cost of product development and recession budget cuts are ascribed as causes.

The high cost of product development and recession budget cuts are ascribed as causes.

Take labor. Unemployment, hit by plant closings and strikes, has fallen sharply. Under the old economics, wages would fall, tempting employers to hire more people, in effect sharing the work.

But today the United Auto Workers, the Steelworkers and other unions are demanding unprecedented increases in wages.

There is, of course, a reasoning behind this strategem. Union economists will tell you that if those with jobs get higher pay, they will spend more for goods and services and that will automatically increase employment and wages for other people.

Meanwhile unemployment is increasing. The last government figure was 5.5 percent of the labor force, and that doesn't include strikers nor cuts in the work week. The real unemployment may now be well over 6 percent and may keep on rising until the Christmas surge starts.

Hey, Libs You're Being Cheated on Salaries

The Chase Manhattan Bank calculates that the over-all wage gap between men and women has been widening in recent years.

In 1955 the median wage for women employed in full-time and year-round jobs was 64 percent of the median male paycheck, it finds, while in 1968 it was only 58 percent.

The bank attributed the decline to several factors: that women are generally employed in lower-level jobs and that the marked increase in women in the labor force has created greater competition for jobs open to them, thereby depressing wages for those jobs.

Mental Retardation Careers Day Held At ECU

A Mental Retardation Careers Day was held yesterday for students from ten Eastern North Carolina counties today on the East Carolina University campus.

Dr. Leo Jenkins welcomed the group of junior and senior high school students to the campus.

Halloween Party Monday Evening

A community Halloween party, sponsored by Modern Woodmen of America and Cub Scout Pack 200, will be held Monday at 7:15 p.m. at 1515 Broad Street, Greenville.

Games and other activities will be provided for all ages. Children should wear costumes as these will be judged for prizes. All youngsters attending will be asked to sign a pledge card worded: "I promise to respect the property of others and will cooperate with the leaders to make this party a success." The cards will serve for registration.

Dr. Malene Irons, director of the Development Evaluation Clinic, spoke to them on "What Mental Retardation Is."

Also present were numerous guidance counselors. Dr. George Baroff, director of the Mental Retardation Training Institute, an HEW-financed training program for the southeastern United States, addressed the counselors during the afternoon.

During the afternoon students were free to attend any two discussion groups led by people

Congressional Districts races are close enough for at least some doubt as to the outcome. In four others, incumbents appear to have a safe lead. In one — the Second where Rep. L. H. Fountain has no GOP opposition — the issue already is settled.

At the moment, the real toss-ups seem to be in the Eighth and Third Districts. Rep. Earl Ruth of Salisbury, GOP first-term in the Eighth, has a stiff challenge from H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, former state legislator and House Speaker. The race in the third is a re-match of Rep. David Henderson of Wallace and Herb Howell of Goldsboro, the Republican who came close two years ago.

Republicans claim excellent chances for up-sets in the Fourth and Eleventh. Jack Hawke of Raleigh is pushing Rep. Nick Galifianakis hard in the Fourth, and Luke Atkinson of Asheville counts on the boost of President Nixon's visit to help against Rep. Roy Taylor of Black Mountain in the Eleventh.

The First and Tenth are districts where there is at least the possibility of seats changing hands, although incumbents seem to have the edge. A heart attack hampered the efforts of Frank Everett of Hamilton, GOP challenger to Rep. Walter Jones in the First. Former Congressman Basil Whitener is the Democrat seeking to bump Rep. Jim Broyhill of Lenior in the Tenth.

Two Democratic and two Republican incumbents appear to be in good shape: Rep. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro in the Sixth, and Rep. Alton A. Lennon of the Seventh are the Democrats, and Rep. Wilmer Mizell of Winston-Salem in the Fifth and Rep. Charles Jonas of Lincolnton in the Ninth are the Republicans.

Buchwald . . .

After that, it was just one bad-luck story after another. One of the female owners, after living high on the hog, was reduced to working as a scrubwoman for $2 a day in a shipyard.

A Spanish owner drowned in a shipwreck. A Greek broker who sold it to a Turkish sultan was killed with his entire family when his car went over a precipice in the mountains. When the sultan gave the gem to his favorite wife, she stabbed him. The McLean family who owned the diamond before Winston didn't come out of it too well, either.

The Hope diamond has brought nothing but grief to its owners, and whoever accepted it on behalf of the United States in 1958 did this country a great disservice.

Anyone who recalls what went on before 1958 and compares it to what is going on now knows we made a mistake.

The question is: What is the solution?

One suggestion is that we present the Hope diamond as a gift to the Soviet Union. President Nixon could drop it off on his next trip to Europe.

If the Soviets refuse to accept it, there's always the Red Chinese. What better way of showing we want to be friends with the Chinese than to give it to Mrs. Mao Tse-tung to wear in her navel at the next rally at Peking Square?

Write your congressman before it's too late!

SPLIT HAIRS

NEW YORK (AP) — While hair-splitting isn't exactly part of the Swiss watchmaking art, the industry does have a jig-boring machine for one of its most intricate operations which can actually split a hair into 50 equal parts. According to The Watchmakers of Switzerland, this is only one of over 2,000 separate operations that are necessary to make a swiss jeweled-lever watch.

Cookout Slated For Tonight

A cookout for members of the Special Education classes at Aycock School and at Wahl-Coates School will be held tonight from 6 to 10:30 p.m. at St. James United Methodist Church.

Sponsoring the event and planning the games and other activities will be members of the Greenville Youth Association for Retarded Children.

physicians, recreational therapists, physical therapists, musical therapists, and others. These professionals talked to the students and answered questions about the work itself, educational requirements, salaries, opportunities, etc.

Dr. Ed Hooks conducted an optional bus tour of the East Carolina campus once the formal sessions were over.

The Careers Day was planned by Mrs. Sarah Allen of Greenville, a member of the Governor's Committee on Mental Retardation and others including Ad Hoc committee members, Arthur Alford, superintendent of the Pitt County Schools; Dr. Ed Hooks of the ECU Health and Physical Education Department; and Dr. John Richardson, chairman of the ECU Special Education Department.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Reginald Wilson of Burlington, chairman of the Careers Committee of the Governor's Council on Mental Retardation and R. L. Denny of the N.C. Board of Mental Health. Assisting with the registration were members of the Greenville Youth Association for Retarded Children.

Will Speak At Services

Charles K. McAdams, treasurer of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, will be guest speaker at the morning worship service of Holy Trinity United Methodist Church here Sunday.

McAdams will speak in observance of a conference-wide emphasis on Christian stewardship Sunday. He was elected conference treasurer in 1968 after having served nine years as the director of public relations for Methodist College in Fayetteville. He and his wife, the former Verna Brock of Mount Olive, have two sons and two daughters and live in Raleigh. Mrs. McAdams is the sister of Mrs. H. M. McLamb, wife of the Greenville District Superintendent.

The Holy Trinity congregation is now meeting at the Aycock Junior High School on Red Banks Road here. The public is invited to attend the Sunday morning service.

Church Members Will Sell Pies

Sweet potato pies will be sold by members of Noah's Ark FBH Church of God tonight after 9:30 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. on.

Persons wishing to buy pies may go to 401 Greenfield Boulevard during these times or call one of three numbers—752-7590, 758-2490, or 752-6317 to have pies delivered. The costs are 75 cents for a large pie and 20 cents for a small one. All proceeds will go into a building fund for the church.

Beauties Will Get Spotlight

BONITA SUE GEORGE

JUDITH PRICE BREWER

By JANE KELLER
ECU News Bureau

Two of Eastern North Carolina's most precious commodities will be featured in Richmond, Va., on Oct. 24, beautiful girls and tobacco.

The occasion is the (22nd) Annual National Tobacco Festival, Oct. 17-24.

Among the events scheduled will be the selection of the National Tobacco Princess, the Grand Illuminated Parade and the football game between the ECU Pirates and the Richmond Spiders in the Tobacco Bowl.

Competing for the crown of National Tobacco Princess from ECU are Bonita Sue George and Judith Price Brewer.

Miss Brewer is currently reigning as N.C. Apple Queen and Miss Wilson. She is a sophomore at ECU, majoring in elementary education.

Miss George, who presently holds the title of Miss Southeastern North Carolina Tobacco Princess, is from Havelock. The former Blueberry Queen is a freshman majoring in drama & speech.

Another ECU beauty who will wear her crown in the Grand Illuminated Parade is Cheryl Johnson of Long Beach, the current N.C. Watermelon Queen.

The ECU Pirates, under Coach Mike McGee, will be looking for their first win of the season as they meet the spiders at 2 p.m.

A highlight of the ballgame will be the half-time show presented by the Marching Pirates. Mary Dannehl of Goldsboro, twirler for the Marching Pirates and another ECU beauty, will be featured, along with the Color Guard and a special arrangement of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic", emphasizing the Flag.

The National Tobacco Festival will see ECU on parade.

Three More Are Charged

Three more area youths have been arrested by Pitt County deputies in connection with the larceny of copper tubing from several tobacco barns in the Ayden-Grifton vicinity.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that deputies arrested Willie Allen Roundtree, 18, of 1000 New St., Ayden, Robert James Jr., 17, of Rt. 1, Grifton, and Freddie Lee Chapman, 17, also of Rt. 1, Grifton.

The Sheriff reported that the youths are charged with taking copper tubing used in the curing apparatus of the barns from 11 different tobacco barns located on six farms in the area.

The larcenies occurred on the Kevin McLawhorn farm, Frank Hart farm, both of Rt. 1, Grifton, the Agnes Mumford farm on Rt. 1, Ayden, and the Claude Burney, Melvin Suggs, and J. A. Sumrell farms, all located in the Rt. 2, Ayden area, Sheriff Tyson said.

All three are being held under $600 bond each with a hearing set for Oct. 29 in Ayden District Court.

Auxiliary Plans Barbecue Sale

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Greenville First Pentecostal Holiness Church is sponsoring a bazaar and barbecue sale on Saturday at the Eastern Pines Community Building.

The plates will include barbecue pork, slaw, potatoes and corn bread. The plates will be served from 12:00 noon until 7:00 p.m. and will sell for $1.25.

The bazaar will open at 11:00 a.m. For sale will be such items as Christmas decorations and arrangements, baked goods, knitted and homemade items.

Music School To Host Meet

North Carolina's Chapter of the National Association of Teachers of Singing (NATS) this year will be hosted by the School of Music of East Carolina University. The meet is a two day affair scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

Various sessions include performances by NATS members, students of North Carolina voice teachers, members of ECU's Opera Theater and performers from other ECU music groups of the School of Music.

Two public recitals, one on Friday night by mezzo-soprano Jane Murray Dillard and soprano Marilyn Burris and a concert Saturday night featuring two cantatas and opera scenes on Saturday night, will highlight the two day program.

Edgar B. Marston, executive director of the North Carolina Arts Council of Raleigh is guest speaker for the NATS banquet to be held Friday evening.

On Saturday afternoon, the assembled musicians will celebrate the 200th anniversary of the birth of Beethoven in a program of instrumental solos and vocal ensemble selections with singers from both the N.C. NATS and the N.C. Music Teachers Association.

Mrs. Gladys R. White, president of the ECU chapter of NATS, is presiding over the convention. Others scheduled to take part in the program include Dr. James Cobb, Jr., chairman of the Department of Music, Atlantic Christian College, Wilson; Norman Farrow, UNC-Greensboro; Mrs. Terrell Cofield, Elon College; Dr. Fred M. Clark, UNC-Chapel Hill; Dr. Clyde Hiss, ECU; Dr. Thomas Miller, Dean of ECU's School of Music; Dr. Joel Carter, UNC-Chapel Hill; and Dr. Catherine Murphy, ECU.

The recitals at 8:15 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights are open to the public. They are to be held at the Recital Hall of the School of Music.

Witnesses Attend 2-Day Convention

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Greenville area are attending the semi-annual circuit convention in Scotland Neck today through Sunday, it was announced today.

C. L. Corey, presiding minister of the Greenville congregation, said the assembly's theme will be "The Word of God is Alive." More than 800 ministers and their families from eastern North Carolina are expected to attend the three-day gathering.

According to Corey, the purpose of the convention is to emphasize the importance of Biblical knowledge.

Peter Lovullo, assistant minister of the Greenville congregation, will address the opening session tonight and Corey will speak Sunday morning on the subject "Fulfilling the Desire of Our Heart."

Highlight of the convention will be the public Bible lecture

Sunday at 3 p.m. by D. J. Thomas, district minister. He will speak on the subject "Who Will Conquer the World in the 1970's".

Meetings at the local Kingdom Hall have been cancelled this weekend due to the convention.

Jointly Supplied Armory Land

The land on which the new National Guard armory in Greenville was constructed was furnished jointly by the City of Greenville and Pitt County rather than solely as a city transfer as indicated in Thursday's edition.

Owned jointly by the city and county, the five-acre tract is adjacent to the Pitt - Greenville Airport and was transferred by deed to the National Guard for the construction of the new armory.

Ask Legislation For Big Crowds

RALEIGH (AP) — Possible legislation to control sanitary conditions at rock festivals and other large public gatherings is under consideration by the Board of Health.

The state health director, Dr. Jacob Koomen told the board at its quarterly meeting Thursday that a number of small communities have requested the board to seek legislation.

The board now has only the power of injunction in case a public health problems becomes apparent.

Adjustments Bd. Okays Requests

Both requests for special use permits on the agenda of the Board of adjustments were approved last night.

Public hearings on the two requests failed to bring forth objections.

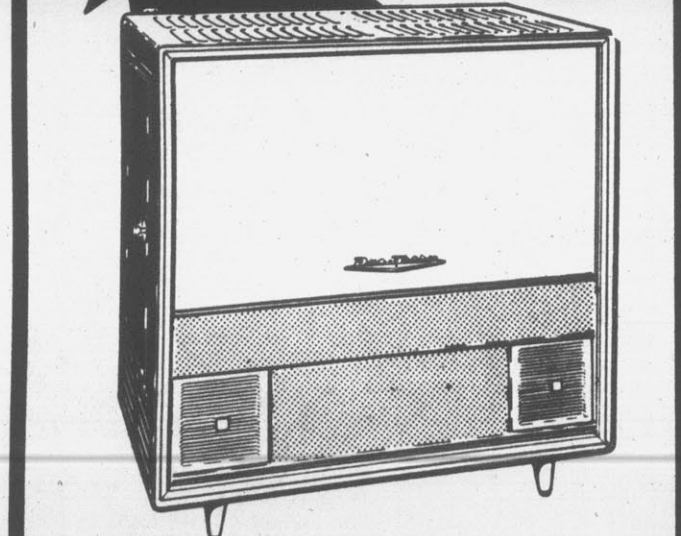

The first considered was that of Bell-Roberson Oil Corporation for replacement of present storage tanks and adding tanks to its business location at 1410 South Washington Street.

The second request approved authorizes Robert Oldham to construct an accessory building on his lot located at 1113 Forbes Street.

Program Marks UN Anniversary

United Nation's 25th anniversary was commemorated this morning on "Carolina Today" when Mrs. Toshiko Ryu Duvall and Allen Zosong Yee Chan, both students at East Carolina University, joined the WNCT - TV panel on their morning show.

Chan, a 21 year old Chinese born in Shanghai, mentioned his escape from Red China with his mother 12 years ago, by way of Portuguese Macao and Hong Kong. "We spent three days and two nights on a junk, without anything to eat," Allen recalled. He related his father had died some years before he and his mother escaped and an older brother had already fled to Hong Kong.

Mrs. Duvall, a music major from Kyushu, Japan, told the panel she had been in the U. S. for five years Toshiko earlier this year was married to William Duvall, III, a school teacher now teaching in Bath. She wore a traditional formal kimono of heavy red silk.

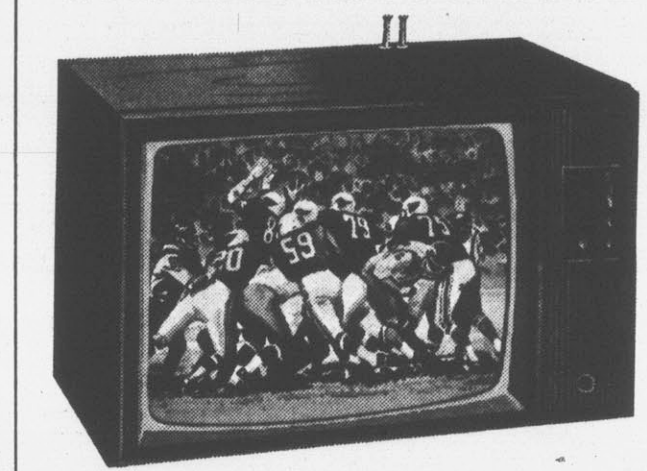

She sang two traditional Japanese songs, "Cherry Blossoms" and "The Waiting Hunter", a children's song about a hungry hunter waiting for the rabbit which never came. Mrs. Marlene Stroud of Ayden accompanied Mrs. Duvall on the piano.

Allen, when asked by Slim Short what the UN meant to him, said "I hope it can bring peace to the world more than anything." He cited headlines from yesterday's news, with Bob Hileman, left, and Monty Kiernan are two members of the starting unit of the East Carolina University Pirates that will take on the Richmond Spiders Saturday in the Virginia capital. Hileman, a 6-3, 220 - pound junior, is starting tight end for the Bucs. He is from Alexandria, Va. Kiernan, a 6-2, 198-pound junior, is a starter at the linebacker slot. He is a native of Irvington - on - Hudson, N.Y. The game is a part of the annual Tobacco Festival in Richmond.

Pirates, Spiders Meeting In Tobacco Festival Grid Contest

If tradition means anything, Saturday's encounter between the East Carolina University Pirates and the Richmond Spiders will be one of the toughest games of the year for both schools.

And if this year's records mean anything, both teams will be doing their best to chalk up a victory in the worst way.

The Pirates come into the game with an 0-6 record. The closest they have come was a 14-12 loss to Southern Illinois last weekend. Richmond, however, has a 1-5 mark, winning their opener against N. C. State, 21-6. East Carolina later lost to State, 23-6.

The contest will be part of the weekend full of activities in Richmond, as the Virginia capital celebrates International Tobacco Festival. Kickoff is slated for 1:30 p.m.

"We've had a real good week of practice, one of the best weeks this year," East Carolina's Mike McGee said. "I feel like we are in good shape to play the game, despite the fact that several starters will be out."

Among those missing will be Ted Salmon, a defensive end, and Paul Haug, an offensive tackle. Both will miss the game and are out indefinitely. Carl Gordon, the Bucs' split end, is questionable, and Grover Truslow, a defensive tackle and linebacker, may be ready. Both George Whitley and Rusty Scales are still feeling some problems from previous injuries.

McGee said last week's game with Southern Illinois was an unusual one. "In the first half, we were not consistent. We had opportunities and didn't make them materialize. Their secondary was big enough and fast enough to play tight on us, and we had some problems in moving their big linemen. They probably have the biggest line in college football," McGee said.

"I thought our defense did a good job on them, especially in the second half. They've been averaging over 320 yards per game, and we held them to just over 200."

McGee said that penalties hurt the Bucs, and that they had several other problems and miscues that kept them from making good on their opportunities.

"Richmond has one of the best passing games we'll probably see all year," McGee said of this weekend's opponent. "They have three outstanding receivers in (Jim) Livesay, (Jerry) Haynes and (Ken) Popovich. Charlie Richards throws with great accuracy, and has a very catchable ball."

Richards has hit on 85 of 188 passes so far this year for 997 yards, and three touchdowns. He's had 11 of those picked off. And as a tribute to his protection, he's been thrown only 25 times.

Livesay is the leading receiver with 24 catches for 270 yards. Haynes had 23 for 302 yards and Popovich has 18 for 215.

"Their rushing game hasn't been real strong this year. Most

Williamston To Meet N'hampton

Williamston's Tigers may have found themselves knocked out of the championship race in the Albemarle Conference with their 16-13 loss to Gates County last weekend.

But the Tigers are going to do all they can in the next three weeks to try and stay in there.

"We just had a poor game," Coach Dinky Mills said. "Our kicking game was real poor and this is what really hurt us."

The Tigers suffered the loss of punter Raymond Andrews to an injury two weeks ago, and he was not able to kick against Gates. "We hope that he'll be able to at least punt for us against Northampton," Mills said.

The result of the loss of Andrews what that the Tigers didn't have an adequate replacement, and it told on them. "We got backed up to about our own 10, and our punt went only seven or eight yards. They took it in from there for their first score, and we had the same trouble all night," Mills said. "They always had good field position."

This week, the Tigers take on Northampton, a team that has yet to win a game. Few have beaten them badly, however, and they came on strong against Plymouth last week, nearly pulling out a win.

Gates beat them 19-0, and Ahoskie and Edenton each scored 34 points against them, the Indians shutting them out, and the Aces allowing just six points. Plymouth, however, had to struggle for its 28-20 win Friday.

"They won't be any pushover, for sure," Mills said.

Northampton is classed as a passing team. "They like to put the ball into the air, about 60 per cent of the time. They'll run out of the slot-I, and they like to split both ends to get receivers out quickly. Their quarterback, Ward, is a pretty good thrower, and their main threat."

Mills now feels that Gates County has the inside track at taking the title from front-running Ahoskie. "I wouldn't be surprised if Edenton beats Ahoskie this weekend, and we are sure going to try to do it next week. That'll give them two losses. Gates has only Perquimans left, and they should win that one," Mills said.

That would leave Gates with a 5-1 record. Williamston, by finishing with three wins could only tie them, and would lose the title since they lost to Gates.

But first, somebody has to stop Ahoskie.

In other action last week, Edenton rolled over Perquimans, 20-0, and Ayden tied Ahoskie, 12-12, in a non-conference affair.

This week, besides the Williamston - Northampton game, Northern Nash is at Plymouth, Perquimans is at Gates, and Edenton is at Ahoskie.

The current Albemarle Conference standings:

	Conf.	Overall
Ahoskie	4 0	4 2 1
Gates	4 1	6 1 0
Williamston	2 1	3 3 1
Edenton	2 2	5 3 0
Plymouth	2 2	3 4 0
Perquimans	1 4	2 5 0
Northampton	0 5	0 7 0

By WOODY PEELE

That crash heard last Saturday night was this column's ego plummeting to the lowest depths with the worst week of the season.

It turned out to be a terrible 11-8 week, but the upsets came hot and heavy.

What is needed now are a couple of good weeks to offset those. However, the prospects look dim with more toughies to pick tooming up this week.

Rose High School has picked up two straight wins. They go to Raleigh tonight to meet Enloe High School in another tough contest. Both teams will be badly wanting victory, and defense will play a big role in the game. The Rampants look like they might be getting ready to play some real good ball, but Enloe has a flash running back who has been hard to stop.

I'll go along with the Rampants to take this one, however.

Farmville goes over to Snow Hill to meet Greene Central in a traditional rivalry. The Rams were hard hit by South Lenoir last week, and may have been guilty of looking ahead. Farmville squeezed by North Lenoir in its game. It promises to be a real top game, but we'll pick Farmville.

Louisburg visits Ayden. The Tornados have pulled out a win and tie in the last two games in the final minute of play. Hopefully they won't have to this week. Louisburg isn't in the class of the past two Ayden opponents, and we'll stick with Ayden in this one.

Williamston travels to Northampton, fighting to stay in the Albemarle Conference race. The Tigers badly need a victory, and Northampton just plain want any victory. The Tigers are the choice here.

Saratoga visits Robersonville in a key Tobacco Belt Conference win. Saratoga can wrap up the title with a victory here, but Robersonville can just about lay claim to the title with a win. It should be an exciting contest. Saratoga has been hurt by injuries, reportedly, and with the Rams as the home team, Robersonville gets the nod.

Belhaven is at Grifton in another Tobacco Belt game. Both teams come into the contest with 2-5 records. But Mike Tyndall may be back for Grifton and he means a lot to the Bulldog offense. Grifton is the pick.

Chocowinity plays at Vanceboro. Vanceboro is smarting from its loss to Saratoga last week, and Chocowinity is having many problems. Vanceboro is the pick.

Saturday afternoon, East Carolina University travels to Richmond to meet the Richmond Spiders. The Bucs have yet to win, and Richmond has won only once. But the Spiders were hurt by a rash of injuries, and the Bucs are still bothered by some of their own.

There is much motivation for the Bucs to win. They came close last week, and they might take this one. But the odds must make Richmond the favorite.

In other Southern Conference games, it's The N. Pitt In First Win

ROBERSONVILLE — North Pitt High School's Panthers picked up the first victory in their brief history yesterday with a 6-0 win over Robersonville's junior varsity.

The win left North Pitt with a 1-3 record for the year.

The lone score came in the third period of play, when Donnie Mozingo went over from 10 yards out. It was the climax of a 55 yard drive.

The Panthers had two other scoring opportunities, but the Ramlet defense held them off. One ended at the 10, and the other at the 20.

Robersonville failed to put up a significant threat in the game.

"I was very pleased with the improvement of our players," Coach Johnny Hardison said. "It was a real team effort."

North Pitt 0 0 6 0-6

Aycock, Wilson In Scoreless Deadlock

WILSON — Aycock Junior High School and the Wilson "Blue" team battled to a 0-0 tie yesterday in the rain.

Aycock had several scoring opportunities but were unable to make good on them. Two field goals were blocked by Wilson.

But two other threats resulted in controversy. The first came when Aycock punted to Wilson. The receiver was hit just as he fielded the ball, by Bobby Dough. That jarred the ball loose, and Pat Hagan recovered for Aycock and carried for the score. It was called back, however, and the official gave the ball to Aycock at the 20, ruling fumbles cannot be returned.

Late in the game, Aycock had the ball deep in their own territory when the four - minute warning was given. On the second play after that, quarterback Dickie Johnson ran 73 yards down to the 10. Time ran out before another play could be gotten off.

of the time they've relied on beating you with the pass," McGee said. "They've had problems similar to ours, including injuries, but we expect most of their injured to be back for this one."

One of these injuries includes fullback Jerry Mauro, who has carried the ball 36 times for 108 yards. Tailback Buddy Woodlee is the leader on the ground with 29 carries for 113 yards.

"The attitude of our players is great. I don't know whether this is because of the tradition in the game, or whether it is just their pride," McGee said.

The Bucs will attack both through the air and on the ground, McGee said. Last week, they were unable to move the ball much against Southern Illinois except through the air. And then Dick Corrada was the chief target of John Casazza, putting new records in the Pirate book in receiving, number of catches, and passes completed. Casazza also has set a new season completion record, while Corrada is just a few away from

Perry Brothers Will Receive Welcome

The Perry brothers from Williamston, North Carolina, Jim and Gaylord, who achieved a first in Major League Baseball this past season, will be honored at special ceremonies in Williamston on Tuesday, November 10.

Jim Perry, pitching for the Minnesota Twins, notched 24 wins this past season while brother Gaylord, pitching for the San Francisco Giants, racked up 23 wins, and thus became the first brother combination in Major League Baseball history to attain more than 20 wins in a single season. The Perrys will be honored for this single achievement and their lasting contributions to baseball and the resulting recognition they have brought to the City of Williamston and the State of North Carolina.

The event is being spearheaded by friends of the Perrys in Williamston, Washington, Greenville and surrounding areas. It will feature a motorcade through downtown Williamston and climaxed at a testimonial dinner at the Williamston High School gym to which the public is invited to attend.

Invitations have been ex- seasonal and career passing records.

"They have a good defensive team. Florida (20-0) scored late in the half and late in the game on them, and Richmond played a strong, fine game. They have two All-Conference tackles in Bruce Kasarda and John Barelli. They are not big, but give excellent pursuit. They have an outstanding nose guard in Milt Ignatius," McGee said.

"I look for a game that won't be high scoring, but won't be a one-touchdown affair, either," the coach added.

The starting offensive lineup for the Bucs will have Bob Hileman and Tim Dameron or Carl Gordon or Pete Wooley at end, Tim Tyler and John Hollingsworth at tackles, Mike Kopp and Steve Davis at guards, Mark Pohren at center, John Casazza at quarterback, Dick Corrada at flanker, Billy Wallace at fullback and George Whitley at tailback.

When they look at us, they see a little of you.

When Union Carbide sends its people to Asia, Africa, South America and even Europe, they represent a country as well as a company.

So while we're out to make money abroad, we're also out to make friends abroad.

Sometimes, it's as simple as knowing local customs.

In Singapore, our Eveready battery plant has a cafeteria that serves three different menus. To meet the dietary, ethnic and religious needs of our Indian, Chinese and Malaysian employees.

Othertimes, making friends and making money is a little more complex.

To mine huge manganese deposits in Ghana, we built a whole town. From the ground up. Later, we put a plastics plant in Ghana. And then a battery plant. And made even more friends.

None of this is our newest idea. It's something Union Carbide discovered long before international business was fashionable.

And it's all quite simple. Overseas, we're you.

Litter Drive By State Officials

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Gov. Russell W. Peterson, his staff, his 10 Cabinet secretaries and two top education officials are going to pick up trash for eight hours Saturday.

They will lead 13 teams of volunteers along various highways to help clean up litter, attract public interest to the drive to keep the state clean and give state officials a first-hand look at the trash problem.

A similar clean-up day was held last spring.

Burglar Alarm Is Also Stolen

Falkland, Winterville Groups Hear Bond Referendum Talked

Three meetings to explain the bond referendum set for November 3 for the new Pitt Memorial Hospital were held Wednesday night, one in Falkland and two in Winterville.

At St. John's Baptist Church in Falkland, Woodrow W. Wooten of Falkland, chairman of the Board of Pitt Memorial Hospital, and Jack Richardson, assistant administrator of the hospital, addressed an interested group.

And in Winterville Dr. J. W. Pou, chairman of the Citizens' campaign for the new hospital, addressed some 200 members of the Travelers' Protective Association and later met with key leaders and volunteer workers of the Citizens' committee for the Winterville precinct.

A question raised at the St. John's meeting was whether a site had been selected for the hospital. Ten different sites are being considered, Wooten said. He assured them that all the 100-acre sites being considered are located near the present hospital.

Asked where the "hospital dollar" is spent, Wooten said that wages and salaries take most of the hospital's income and the balance is used for the purchase of goods and services. He corrected the notion that the hospital trustees are paid, saying they are public-spirited citizens who contribute freely of their time and talents to bring proper hospital facilities to all the people of the county.

A question asked at the St. John's and the Travelers' meeting concerned whether room rates will be raised with the updated techniques and equipment of a new hospital. Jack Richardson said that a "planned hospital" should be far more efficient in all departments, meaning no need for increased room rates.

Those attending the St. John's meeting were invited to attend the Falkland-Fountain campaign kickoff meeting to have been held at the Falkland Community Building last night and to participate in the campaign.

A momentary lapse proved fatal to the defense in the six s p a d e contract presented today.

When North made the positive response of three clubs to South's opening two spade bid, the latter became interested in slam. His rebid of three spades was a temporizing call to give his partner a chance to show an additional feature. When North merely persisted to four spades, South decided to settle for a small slam which he bid without further ado.

West opened the queen of diamonds which was covered in turn by the king and ace and ruffed by South with the five of spades. Trumps were drawn in two rounds and declarer paused to survey his prospects.

Pine Cones In Arctic Circle

CALGARY, Alta. (UPI)—A geology professor at the University of Calgary has discovered evidence to suggest that the climate of the frozen Arctic once was similar to the Great Lakes region today, says the Arctic Development Digest.

Dr. L. V. Hills discovered pine cones at Banks Island, about 300 miles north of the Arctic Circle. The cones and other plant species are believed to be six to 12 million years old.

The Worry Clinic Psychology In Merchandising

Joe O'Malia deserves a salute as a superb Applied Psychologist in the food merchandising field. All merchants could profitably imitate his strategy. For little extra courtesies and Joe's keen understanding of male psychology can produce success vs. bankruptcy! So send for the booklet below! Clergymen need it, too!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE 0-563: Norman Brinsley is a former newspaper reporter who now is an Advertising Counselor.
"Dr. Crane," he began as we had lunch together, "I never enjoyed going shopping with my wife until recently.

"But we have a unique merchandiser in our town named Joe O'Malia, who runs a big food market."

"And do you know why I now enjoy accompanying my wife to his store?"

"Well, he has a big fireplace which is blazing cheerfully when the weather is cool."

"The floor is also carpeted. And around the fireplace are rocking chairs."

"Free coffee and cookies are also served, so we husbands usually sit and sip coffee or read the newspaper in leisurely fashion as our wives select the groceries."

"If Mrs. Brinsley wants my opinion or advice, she merely comes over to where I am relaxed in front of the fireplace."

"Indeed, I am in a far more agreeable and agreeable mood, so I suspect other wives also relish Joe's tactful deference to the comfort of husbands."

"For when a husband is happy and contented, isn't he more likely to place his O. K. on his wife's requests?"

"Don't you think Joe O'Malia is a superb Applied Psychologist in the food industry?"

Yes, I'd like to find more imitators of Joe O'Malia.

For I resemble most husbands in resenting the chore of slowly walking around a big store as my wife tries to decide what she wants.

In fact, if I am occasionally trapped into going along with her on a shopping tour, I look around at once for an easy chair, plus a newspaper.

And Mrs. Crane is like Mrs. Brinsley, for they both realize that any newspaperman feels happier when he can leisurely thumb through the day's paper.

Many of our large department stores here in Chicago make a sad mistake in not having more chairs for husbands!

What Joe O'Malia spends for free coffee and cookies, he freely gains several times over in the larger orders which the wives check out with the cashiers.

For the average husband often refuses to stop at a store or super market just because he doesn't want to stand around for half an hour.

Give him an easy chair, plus coffee, cookies and a newspaper, and he is far more likely to heed his wife's pleading that they stop for some groceries, etc.

On a recent Air Canada plane trip to Toronto, for example, the hostesses came down the aisles offering every passenger his choice of either a Chicago newspaper or a Toronto newspaper.

That is the first time in 25 years of heavy airplane traveling that this has happened to me.

Oh, the hostesses usually offer patrons a choice of a few magazines, and sometimes they have a discarded newspaper or two to pass along, but these girls had papers for everybody!

It is such little courtesies, plus Joe O'Malia's keen insight into

Courtroom 'Marathon'

SMITHFIELD, N. C. (AP) — Judge James H. Pou Bailey is pressing with in his marathon attempt to clear Johnston County's docket of drunk driving cases.

"They can't wear me out," masculine psychology, that can spell the difference between success or even bankruptcy.

So send for my booklet "Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

the judge declared Thursday as he sat back after another day of hearing drunk driver cases one after another.

Bailey began his campaign Monday. By the close of Superior Court Wednesday, 17 persons had been convicted, and the flow of defendants continued all day Thursday.

"It's a mess," Bailey said, referring to a docket which bore 46 cases, some dating back to the spring of 1967 and some having been continued as many as 18 times.

Bailey ordered the cases set for trial after published reports that Johnston County had the state's lowest rate of convictions in drunk driving cases and that it had been common practice to reduce such charges almost routinely.

Prairie chickens and sharp-tailed grouse live mainly on seeds of native plants such as wild rose, grasses and weeds.

Five Expelled For Fighting

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — School officials say five boys have been expelled for their part in a brief fight among 30 Negro and white pupils Thursday at South Rowan High School.

The fighting was the latest in a series of incidents over a controversy over the playing of "Dixie." The controversy, which led to a walkout by white pupils earlier this fall, was being discussed at an assembly when the fighting broke out Thursday.

No injuries were reported.

Evangelist For Crusade

EVANGELIST KEN RIGGS

Evangelist Ken Riggs will lead the Harvest of Souls Crusade at the Grace Church beginning Monday, Oct. 26 through Sunday, Nov. 1.

The Rev. Riggs received his B.A. degree at the Free Will Baptist College in Nashville, Tenn., and his M.A. degree from William and Mary University in Virginia.

Mr. Doug Randlett, Minister of Music at the Grace Church, will be leading the Crusade Choir.

Grace Church has off-street parking and a well-equipped and staffed nursery. The pastor Chester Phillips states he hopes many will hear this outstanding preacher during this Crusade.

Physicians At Meeting

Several Pitt County family physicians are attending scientific sessions of the North Carolina Academy of General Practice in Raleigh today, tomorrow, and Saturday.

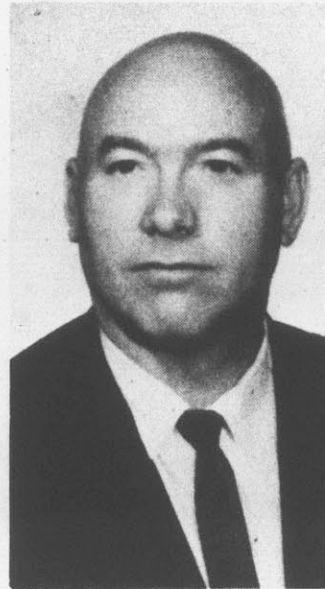

Those attending include Dr. Jack Wilkerson and Dr. Herbert Hadley of Greenville, Dr. Tom Patterson and Dr. J. M. Mewborn of Farmville, and Dr. C. G. Garrenton of Bethel.

The discussions will center around heart disease and cardiac emergencies, sexual attitudes, and pediatric problems. Speaker at the President's Banquet tonight will be Anson Mount, manager of public affairs of Playboy Magazine, who will explain "The Playboy Philosophy of Sexual Ethics."

Dr. Thornton Cleek of Asheboro will be installed as president at the banquet.

Activities planned for the doctor's wives include a tour of "Historical Raleigh," a tea with Mrs. Bob Scott at the Governor's mansion, a fashion show, and an antique auction.

Will Speak Saturday

S. G. GIBSON

Stanley C. Gibson of High Point, a Methodist minister and executive director of Christian Homes Inc., will be guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Greenville Chapter of the Full Gospel Business Men's Fellowship International, scheduled Saturday.

The business men's fellowship will meet at the Greenville Masonic Temple Saturday at 7:30 p.m. Gibson will address the group following a program of singing.

The meeting is open to all people regardless of membership in the organization. A breakfast for the Full Gospel Men will be held that morning at 8 a.m. in the Flynn Christian Fellowship Home located at 408 Pitt Street.

DANGER MONEY
PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Four African window cleaners at the city council's 12-story headquarters may be paid danger money. They clean 226,000 square feet of glass from suspended gondolas. The council believes an extra $1.26 a week is reasonable for this specialized team.
