Find Americans Retain A Healthy Skepticism

NEW YORK (AP) — Newsweek magazine says the results of a Gallup poll it commissioned show that most Americans believe the news media are doing a good job of reporting.

C. B. Morton countered: "We will have a victory . . . if we hold our own or do well in the Senate, and break the tradition of losing in off-year elections in the House . . ."

By CAROL TYER Reflector Staff Writer Pitt County's General Election is set for tomorrow with the polls in each of the 26 precincts being open from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m.

Also facing Pitt County voters are the choice of a First District Congressman. In the running are incumbent Walter B. Jones, of Farmville a Democrat; Republican R. Frank Everett of Robersonville; and American Party candidate Gene Leggett of New Bern.

I ask the voters to give a Republican candidate a chance after some 69 years of control by the Democrats. If they do not like my performance they can then kick me out after two years.

Readers Aver Dinner Can Wait!

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I know a woman just like "TRED" who wrote to say she was careful not to be too receptive to her husband's "hello" while she was preparing dinner, or she'd never get the dinner on the table.

I know her husband, too. I have been his mistress for the last four years.

She served him beautiful meals and kept his house immaculately clean, washed and ironed his clothes, but she totally ignored his emotional needs.

I am a lousy cook and a worse housekeeper, but I lavish love on this wonderful affectionate man like mad.

Next week his divorce will be final, after which we will be married. [His wife still can't understand what she did wrong, altho he has tried for 15 years to tell her.]

So tell that lady to put the dinner in the warming-oven, and the coffee on "simmer," and to give that man of hers a welcome-home kiss that will land them both on the moon.

THE OTHER WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: I am "TRED," too. I am tired of having a husband who does not want to jump into bed with me. He is in his early 50's and I am in my early 40's, I am tired of crying myself to sleep at night, tired of never being hugged or kissed, tired of never being told that I am loved, tired of being lonely, so tired in fact that I have even considered suicide.

Our marriage is being held together "because of the children." Tell "TRED" to thank her lucky stars that she is married to such a marvelous romantic louse who wants to rush her into the bedroom the minute he gets home. And if she's "too tired," she should take a nap before he comes home and be prepared.

TIREDD IN AKRON

DEAR ABBY: This is for "TRED," the wife who doesn't dare to give her husband too warm a welcome when he comes home from work for fear he might make love to her:

Don't worry. His present mood will not last long. He will soon tire of cold fish and he'll not bother you at all, which I am sure you will find a welcome relief. Love seldom flourishes where the "Touch Me Not" flower grows.

Perhaps some other woman will be the recipient of his affection, after you are divorced. Then you can relax, unmolested in your blessed singleness, and he will be her problem.

On the other hand, if you've inhibited him sufficiently to have made him unable to express his feelings to another woman, you'll be stuck with him, but his ardor will cool with time, so you'll be safe.

You say, "He gets his share of affection." I'd like to hear HIS side of it.

FROSTBITTEN

DEAR ABBY: My heart bleeds for "TRED," who's careful not to give her husband a kiss when he comes home from work, lest he lead her right into the bedroom and her dinner will get cold.

I say, what's wrong with having dessert before dinner? My trouble is just the opposite of hers. My hero comes home with only dinner on his mind. And he doesn't think of anything else afterwards, either.

That lady should thank her lucky stars her husband still has a yen for her. Tell her I'll be happy to trade with her.

FOOT NOTES OF INTEREST

(Style for Men)

There was a time, not so long ago, when men simply walked into the shoe store and picked another pair of what they were wearing, without taking much time to browse. The reason was that there wasn't that much of a selection for them to browse through.

It is a dramatically different situation today. The man of today's world is out to express himself, and his dress is one of his finest spokesmen. Shoe trends have made a whole-hearted response to his demands for more variety and more individualized stylings.

The results have been amazing. Nowadays, a man can select from a wider range of attractive, self-expressive styles and materials than yesterday's man would have dared to dream of.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Ruby Anderson of Rt. 9, Goldsboro.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Marlin Dawson.

A program of wedding music was presented by Miss Gayle Winchester, organist, and Ronald Steed, cousin of the bride, soloist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk faced peau de soie fashioned with a fitted empire bodice of rosepoint lace. The back of the gown was designed with a detachable chapel length train, which fell from a bow at the waist.

She wore a silk rayon mantilla and carried a bouquet of white carnations and a white orchid.

Mrs. Joe Alexander of Greenville, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was dressed in a formal gown of arabesque chiffon with an ivory empire bodice of rosepoint lace which featured a bateau neckline and long sleeves with self-ruffled wrists. She wore a chiffon bow of arabesque with matching illusion.

Miss Jane Godwin of Chapel Hill was bridesmaid and was dressed identical to the honor attendant.

Bob Waller of Goldsboro was best man. Ushers were Howard Thompson and Jerry Medford of Goldsboro and Tim Giles of Greenville, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony a reception given by the parents of the bride, was held in the fellowship hall of the church.

Assisting were Mrs. Betty Lou Gentry, Mrs. Carol Crater, and aunts of the bride, Mrs. J. C. Stead and Miss Grace Giles.

The couple will reside in Goldsboro.

The bride graduated from Wake Forest University and received her M. A. from East Carolina University. She is presently employed as a counselor at Wayne Community College, Goldsboro.

Gourmet Corner: Old Recipes Commemorate Pilgrim Anniversary

By TOM HOGE

Associated Press Writer
The citizens of Plymouth, Mass. have kicked off a round of celebrations commemorating the 350th anniversary of the day their Pilgrim forefathers landed on the shores of Massachusetts Bay.

To mark the event, the Plymouth Antiquarian Society has prepared the "Plimoth Colony Cook Book," a compendium of old recipes for Red Flannel Hash, Hasty Pudding, Bubble and Squeak and other robust dishes that sustained our ancestors in the bleak days when they were trying to make a home in a strange and sometimes hostile land.

It was a particularly bleak December morning in 1620 when the Pilgrims landed. They couldn't have picked a worse time of year to make their perilous voyage to an alien land that provided no shelter and no crops to harvest.

Most of the menfolk in the frostbitten party had been brought up in urban areas and knew little if anything about hunting, trapping or even fishing.

Half the colony perished from exposure, starvation and disease that first winter, but those who survived learned how to stay alive in the wilderness.

Friendly Indians taught them about the delights of stewed pumpkin, roasted corn on the cob and squash pudding. They also showed the settlers how to net codfish and ferret out clams, oysters and the formidable looking but delicious lobster.

As time went by, the Pilgrims also learned where to look for edible berries, and to tap the sugar maple and boil down its sap for sweetening.

To start the day off, the Pilgrims breakfasted on such rib-sticking fare as Brown Bread Brewis, dry brown bread cooked slowly with a little water until it is soft. They would add a nugget of butter to the mixture and serve it up as a cereal with milk and sugar.

The winters were cold and the nights long in New England, and the settlers went in heavily for such solid fare as stews, chowders, baked beans and pot roasts.

They also learned to be thrifty in a land where food was hard to come by. Leftover meat was used for stews and hash and pie left over from dinner the night before often appeared on the breakfast table.

A sample of this sturdy fare is "Plimoth Succotash" which is a far cry from the mixture of corn and lima beans we eat today. Here is a recipe from the anniversary cook book.

PLIMOTH SUCCOTASH

- 1 quart pea beans
 - 6 lbs corned beef
 - 5 lbs fowl
 - 5 quarts hulled corn
 - 1 medium turnip
 - 5 medium potatoes
- Soak beans overnight, then cook and mash. This makes the thickening. Boil beef and fowl until tender and save liquor. Cut up turnip and potatoes and cook in the liquor. Cut the beef and fowl (after removing chicken meat from the bones) into 1 1/2 inch cubes.

Combine all ingredients and boil together for about one hour. Stir frequently. Serve in soup plates. It is better the second or third day. Serves 10 to 12 people.

Good for a supper party accompanied by a cold ale.

Ominous Cloud Of Dirt In Air

It is ominous that air samples taken over Boston show a fixed blanket of dirt particles hanging over the area.

The results of research were made public by the Charles D. Sias Laboratories of Brookline.

Their study showed that there was an unusual formation in the atmosphere. Spot samples of air over Boston were taken three times a day, five times a week beginning in 1967. Color photographs of the Boston skyline were used to show smog and cloud formations. Wind direction, force, humidity and barometric pressure were recorded.

According to the study, rain doesn't affect the mass and it is seldom broken up or dispersed. The

Wynne Nearing End Of Quest

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Bob Wynne comes tomorrow (Tuesday) to the end of a 10-month odyssey that has consumed two pairs of shoes, countless hours of sleep, and 15 pounds of weight.

His quest is one of Wake County's seats in the House of Representatives for the 1971 General Assembly session.

Wynne is one of the fresh-faced candidates on the ballot for the first time in this seat. He put together a list of 300 names of Wake County citizens, business, civic and political leaders. He spent a couple of months calling on them, asking advice, and assistance should he make the race. That laid a groundwork for campaign organization, and gave encouragement to make the decision firm.

Previously, politics had been a minor interest. As a high school student, he served as a Senate page in the 1953 and 1955 sessions. The idea that he might one day be a legislator was no more than a passing thought. He had a couple of political science courses at Davidson College, but took his degree in economics. He had helped in campaigns of friends for city council and the legislature, but at the volunteer level.

Friends Helped Plan
He planned his campaign with friends, largely political amateurs. John Ormond, associate minister at his church, is campaign manager.

"Maybe it was an advantage that none of us knew very much about politics," said Wynne. "We didn't mind trying anything."

Like rounding up 400 people to pay his filing fee at 10 cents each, a crowd of well-wishers ranging from toddlers to a 78-year-old woman; like recruiting 250 volunteers to hand out flyers and ask for votes door-to-door.

What they did turned out to be right, because Wynne led the ticket in the May Democratic primary.

His prospects are excellent in the general election. He's taking nothing for granted. Handshaking rounds, morning neighborhood coffees, evening meetings crowd a schedule that often runs from 7:30 a.m. to near midnight.

Wynne has a lot going for him that other first-time candidates may lack. He's a member of an old Raleigh family, and secretary-treasurer of Brown Wynne Funeral Home, the family business. The "friendly undertaker" image has given him an extended circle of acquaintance in the county.

He also is able to devote up to three-fourths of his time to campaigning without economic hazard. By no means least, he has a wife who accepts and assists his political involvement. Maggie Wynne is a pretty, sunny mother of three daughters who keeps the household going and pitches in with campaigning.

"When I get home in the evening, no matter what hour, she's in a cheerful mood," Wynne added with a trace of appreciative wonderment.

Last January he began to consider going after a House mass rarely moves more than a few miles off shore and there are signs that it may alter weather patterns to cause very good weather for a number of days followed by several days of bad weather.

This is but another example of what the pollutants which are being discharged into the air over densely populated areas, are doing to our environment. It is obvious that we cannot go on discharging auto exhausts, industrial fumes and smoke from burning objects into the atmosphere if we expect life to survive on Earth.

Scientists who have carefully studied the effects of pollutants on the atmosphere warn us that time is running out. We must get pollutants under control or risk destroying our environment. The Boston study shows us what is happening over heavily populated areas.

It is true that in our own area the problem is not quite so severe. However it can become so and what happens in other areas affects ours.

Pollution is a world problem and it is becoming clear that it must be dealt with very soon if we are to preserve our environment.

Inflation Can Boost That Rising Deficit

The federal government has shown a deficit of $7.7 billion for the first quarter of the fiscal year.

If this trend continues there could be a whopping deficit at the end of the fiscal year on June 30, 1971. This would be regrettable, indeed, with inflation continuing to gnaw away at the value of the dollar.

Deficit spending by the government is inflationary; thus it is important outgo to be held as close to the government's income as possible in this inflationary period.

Buckley's Big Chance In N.Y.

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK PLATTSBURGH, N.Y. — So close is James L. Buckley to capturing a seat in the U.S. Senate for the fringe Conservative party of New York that his political handlers are pressing hard for an outright endorsement by President Nixon.

To that end, campaign managers of the crewcut, 47-year-old candidate are now quietly passing this word to Buckley allies in the White House, including Mr. Nixon's oldest political adviser, Murray Chotiner: a straightforward, low-keyed Nixon endorsement would move thousands of regular Republicans, ranging from moderate to conservative, into the Buckley voting column on next Tuesday.

They base this conclusion on polls showing that Mr. Nixon now enjoys a popularity rating of 56 percent in New York state. They think that is high enough to give him direct influence in this paramount Senate contest between Buckley, Democratic Rep. Richard Ottinger, and the liberal Republican incumbent, Sen. Charles Goodell.

Considering what President Nixon has already done to stab Republican Goodell in the back, an outright endorsement cannot be ruled out. Mr. Nixon unleashed Vice President Spiro Agnew one month ago to grease the skids for Goodell by attacking him as a "radical lib" who, unlike Buckley, could not be trusted as Senate ally of the President.

Since then, Republican Governor Nelson Rockefeller, who is supporting Goodell, has been unable to get the President on the telephone.

And, two weeks ago today (Oct. 26) in a little-noted play, the President tipped the Buckley camp that he would take off after his trip to Connecticut not from Bradley Airfield near Hartford, where Air Force 1 had landed, but at the Westchester County Airport in New York. When the President arrived at Westchester by helicopter, he was met by several hundred Buckley backers (and plunged right into the midst of the m for pictures).

Partly because of this Presidential help, Buckley is now running a close second to Ottinger. The liberal New York Post's endorsement of Ottinger instead of Goodell was a clear signal to Manhattan politicians of the growing fear in liberal ranks of Buckley's fast pace. With Buckley already pulling about one-third of the committee vote, a split between the two liberals—Ottinger and Goodell—would vastly enhance his prospect of winning.

The anti-Buckley goal, then, must be to throw as much voting strength as possible to Ottinger, even though it means sacrificing the candidate — Goodell — who many liberals feel in their hearts deserves their support. Thus, the closer Ottinger and Buckley run in the polls this week, the greater will be the liberal defection from Goodell.

But Buckley is picking up new support on his own. Carefully toning down his rightist rhetoric (except to cheering hard hats in American Legion halls), he has made himself a credible, and somewhat bland, candidate, fully as respectable as other law-and-order Senate candidates who are wearing the Republican label in other states.

But one of his greatest assets is Republican anger, fueled by the White House, at the leftward move of Goodell.

The Perfect Solution

WASHINGTON — One of the big pollution problems seems to be the use of phosphates in detergents. It is believed that the dumping of phosphates in streams and rivers makes algae grow, which kills fish and other good things.

All the soap companies are working on new detergents that will eliminate phosphates and other harmful chemicals. The problem is "What does the housewife do with the detergent she already has in the closet?" Burton Schellenbach of Mentor, Ohio, told me his wife has six $5-boxes of a brand-name detergent and, since she is ecology-minded, she tried to get rid of them immediately. But she couldn't. She was informed that if she and her neighbors dumped their unwanted boxes down the drain at the same time, Lake Erie would develop a frothy head two feet high.

Schellenbach thought to bury the boxes in the back yard, but a chemist friend warned him if he did this, the detergents would eventually drain and destroy all the well-water in Ohio.

An attempt to destroy the boxes by fire failed, as detergents just don't burn.

Schellenbach, in desperation, contacted the Nerve Gas Disposal Unit of the Army, who refused to help him. They said they had enough trouble getting rid of their nerve gas, and besides, if they dumped detergents off a ship, as they did with nerve gas, they'd only pollute the ocean.

A call to the detergent company, asking them if they would take Mrs. Schellenbach's boxes off her hands, was met with a cold response. "Once the detergent is purchased," the vice president in charge of phosphates said, "it is no longer our problem."

Every night when Schellenbach came home, his wife asked, "Did you find a way to get rid of it?" Schellenbach always shook his head. "We could dump it in a junked car lot."

"But," his wife protested, "we wouldn't, be doing anything for ecology that way. The stuff would still get in the streams. We have to dispose of it without destroying our environment."

After thinking about it for days, and being haunted by the detergent boxes in his closet at night, Schellenbach finally came up with a plan. It was so wild that he was afraid to mention it, even to his wife. But he called me in

Other Editors Say Great Health Threat

The Drug Abuse Control Act of 1970, signed yesterday by the President, places the emphasis for punishment in the right direction. The new law de-emphasizes punishment for drug users and favors stiffer penalties for pushers of narcotics and dangerous drugs. The law tightened restrictions on the legitimate sale and manufacture of drugs and armed federal narcotics agents with the no-knock search authority.

The emphasis should be on the pushers and the sympathy with the users. The bill also favors educational programs aimed at preventing a person from taking up the habit. Here is the greatest hope for any program with the objective of cutting down on the use of narcotics. It is the users who need help. For the narcotics habit is the hardest of all habits to break.

As to the no-knock provision in the bill, it has been opposed by Sen. Sam Ervin who considers it unconstitutional. It takes away personal freedom, it is claimed. To the average person this is not as important as finding the addicts and working with them in the hope of helping to break the habit.

Marijuana is also to be subject to study. You are reading that the greatest menace to the youth of this land is the drug habit. It is only recently that the drug habit has been considered the greatest threat to the health of the nation.

The drug habit has been cultivated only since the time of the new freedoms, the hippie movement, the free and easy morals now tolerated under the guise of personal freedom and liberty. And you are reminded of the age-old warning of the dangers of the abuse of freedom regardless of the name and cause it represents.

There is much store put in the drug abuse bill. Whether it will retard the growing drug use is to be seen. Something must be done or the health of the next generation will be seriously affected. For the drug habit is said to be on the increase, and as has been said, it is called the greatest health danger the nation faces.

Retailing Gain, Industry Off

By ELMER ROESSNER
November will see a pickup in retailing and a further decline in industrial production.

Election Day and Veterans Day sales and the approach of Christmas will stimulate the retail sector;

Thanksgiving Day, as always, will increase the sale of food. Despite the decline in employment, there is still a lot of spending money out there. Total personal income is still rising and savings are high.

In an effort to unlock consumer purses, retail prices will be cut. Merchants want to clear shelves and racks for ordered Christmas goods; many are nervous about the lower end of their luxury lines. The high end is still selling well, but consumers are resisting the modest luxury items. Characteristically, the swank restaurants, the travel-for-pleasure business and the better-apparel vendors are being hit hard. Also characteristic of the times, prices in the cheaper restaurants are still advancing.

There has already been some price-cutting in the more expensive toys as some retailers worry whether they overestimated demand—last spring.

Clouded Industrial Prospects Barring a sudden and unexpected end of the General Motors strike, there is no reason to expect an end of the industrial slump.

However, prospects for a settlement improve each day. There has been considerable progress in settling individual plant problems. The United Auto Workers' strike fund is being depleted to the point at which the unions are calling for support from other unions. However, unions whose rates are already less than those of auto workers will be reluctant to make more than token contributions.

Furthermore, prospects of a jobless Christmas will make the union rank-and-file more willing to accept a compromise.

Plant closings will continue during November, probably rising as companies rush to avoid laying off men closely before Christmas. Several plants have cut the work week to avoid layoffs; hundreds have trimmed overtime.

Temporary Hires The hiring of temporary employees has already begun and will increase in the next

Honest Man In Public

By JEFFREY D. ALDERMAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Good evening, John Peerslip here with another interview-talk show. Our guest tonight is congressional candidate Abe Forthright. Nice to have you here tonight, Mr. Forthright.

Forthright: Thank you, John. I wish that I could say it's a pleasure to be here, but never having viewed your show before on TV, I don't really know what to expect.

Peerslip: Let's get right down to the issues. Your opponent, Croaker Tweed, says you have spent an inordinate amount—$1.5 million—for campaign advertising in an attempt to buy this election. How do you react?

Forthright: Let's get one thing straight for the record first. I have spent $2,423,962.02 on the campaign so far. And if my uncle will give it to me, I'll spend much more before the campaign ends.

Peerslip: Tweed says that's too much money for a congressional campaign.

Forthright: If I lose, it won't be enough.

Peerslip: Your opponent also says that you're cool to the public, that you're not a man of the people.

Forthright: That's probably true enough. I can't stand crowds. Handshaking is not my cup of tea. All those sweaty palms. I avoid public appearances scrupulously. Hate to be gaped at. In fact, whenever I'm in a crowd, I have an urge to scream "Don't touch! Don't touch!"

Peerslip chucking: Moving to the lighter side. How many babies do you think you have had to kiss during the campaign?

Forthright: None. You ever kiss a baby? They drool all over you and they're invariably frightened to death. Besides, it's a good way to spread colds.

Peerslip (clearing his throat): Are you using your candidacy, as some say, as a steppingstone to the presidency?

Forthright: Yes, as a matter of fact. I plan to spend most of my time lecturing across the country to boost my bid for the presidency.

Peerslip: Like many politicians, you pride yourself on having a large family. You have seven children (Applause from the audience). Have your children helped you in the campaign?

Forthright: Actually, I don't pride myself on my large family at all. In fact, Margie—that's my wife—and I were saying just the other day that we would have been better off if we had stopped at three. The family really hasn't been much help in the campaign. One of my sons came out against me publicly, and two of my daughters are working for my opponent. My wife never did want me in politics and refuses to participate. She thinks politics is a bore.

Peerslip: Why do you seek public office?

Forthright: For personal gain and ego satisfaction, mostly.

Peerslip: Not out of a sense of duty to your country and the people of your state?

Forthright: No, not really. By the way, I've only lived in this state for about two months.

Peerslip: But you will be losing money if you win. After all, you are a successful banker and that job pays much more than that of a congressman.

Strength For Today

BELIEF COMES FIRST
All true religion rests on belief. Sometimes people insist that religion is a matter only of attitudes and acts. These attitudes and acts are the fruits of religion; the root or religion is belief. What we think and do reflects what we believe.

We live in an age that seems to be adverse to believing many of the things our forefathers accepted without question. Many people consider it a mark of intellectual distinction to be skeptical. P. T. Barnum, the great showman, made a wise observation in this regard when he declared that while he had often seen people humbugged and had been humbugged himself, it was his considered opinion that more people were humbugged by believing too little than by believing too much. There is nothing indefinite about religion. We hold our religious beliefs because of a definite revelation which was given to mankind over a number of centuries and is now incorporated in what we call the Bible. The first step in being religious consists in accepting this revelation and believing what the Bible teaches. That is not the whole of religion, but it is the first step; and no further step is possible until that first step is taken.

Any great revival of religious interest in the world will have its origin in a revival of religious belief. We must believe the gospel before we can practice it.

Avers Funds Angry Congressmen Say Still Unused Money To Be Returned

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Republican Chairman Jim Holshouser delivered another jab at Gov. Bob Scott's taxes over the weekend.

Holshouser said the state has not yet "spent one dime" of the cigarette and soft drink taxes levied by the 1969 General Assembly. He said the money is "just sitting there in the state Treasury as part of that $118 million surplus."

"Since the new taxes were expected to bring in about $45 million per year, it is clear they've simply helped to make even higher that big pile of money sitting in the state Treasury," he said.

"We keep hearing the governor talk about loss of services," he added, "and yet the figures don't lie. North Carolina hasn't spent a dime of all these new general fund taxes."

Holshouser challenged Scott to deny the state would have a surplus of more than $70 million next June 30 without the new taxes.

The governor was out of town Saturday when Holshouser released his statement, but Scott's office said he would issue a reply today based on state Treasury figures.

BOWIE KNIFE

NEW YORK (AP) — In the Sandbar Duel near Natchez in 1827, the Bowie knife gained its first fame. In the fight, Jim Bowie used the weapon which has since become world famous.

By JAMES R. POLK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Angry congressmen vowed today to return any campaign contributions from a bankers' political fund accused of trying to sway a pending bill on bank regulation.

More than $40,000 in campaign donations for members of both the House and Senate banking committees have been listed by the Bankers Political Action Committee fund in a sworn report to Congress. The Justice Department has launched an investigation.

Many of the lawmakers named in the report said today they have not received the money and will turn it away if it arrives. "I don't have five cents from any bank or banker," said one congressman.

The heated reaction raised the possibility the bank fund might backfire when Congress returns two weeks after election day to act on a bill to ban one-bank holding companies from branching out into other business areas.

A 1956 law already bars holding companies that control two or more banks from buying into other unrelated business enterprises. The pending bill would extend this ban to conglomerates that control only a single bank.

Most of the contributions were dated over the last few days. One congressman's aide quoted a fund official as saying the donation was in the mail and was being sent through a banker in the lawmaker's home state.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, charged the contributions were an obvious effort by the bankers to influence action on the regulatory bill.

Patman asserted: "They are trying to weaken the holding bill. Now is the time to spread the money around if they want to influence it."

The Senate version would exempt an estimated 80 per cent of the one-bank holding compa-

Special Watches For Professions

NEW YORK (AP) — There is a special watch for almost every sport and profession, according to The Watchmakers of Switzerland. Among those who can find Swiss timepieces to meet their special needs are engineers, pilots, skiers, auto racers and yachtsmen.

Also, there is a Bivouac watch for mountaineers and parachutists, and even an around-the-world timepiece for travelers which shows at a glance the time in major cities.

COMMONWEALTH

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky is one of only four states that is officially designated a commonwealth. The others are Virginia, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania.

nies from the ban in the tougher House bill.

The Justice Department confirmed it has a probe under way "concerning the involvement of national banks in political campaigns." But the department declined comment on any details.

The Corrupt Practices Act outlaws direct political contributions by national banks. But the contributions made by the fund were raised through individual donations by bank executives scattered throughout the country.

The fund's report to Congress listed nearly $100,000 that remained to be passed out in the closing moments of the campaign.

A SURPRISE!

Former Members of the Ayden Lions Club were surprised to see that their club endorsed the Hospital Bonds in an adv. in The Daily Reflector, Thursday, Oct. 29.

Especially since the club disbanded over a year ago, and there is no Ayden Lions Club. We wonder how many other individuals and organizations were listed in the adv. that made no endorsement.

Ponder Gulf Coast Desalinization Plant

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — A $10 million experiment desalinization plant may turn the Gulf of Mexico into the primary water source for this city of 60,000 located at the mouth of the sluggish Rio Grande.

The plant would be the first of its kind in the world and the largest desalinization plant in Texas. A feasibility study is being conducted to locate possible plant sites in the area.

The plant would be able to convert salty water from the Gulf into pure water at the rate of 8 million gallons daily, according to Brownsville city manager Kirby Lilljedal.

The Rio Grande and a brackish well provide the city's only water supply now, and the quality is beneath national standards, said engineer Bill

Peterson, whose consulting engineering firm is participating in the project.

Ironically, Peterson said, water from the plant would be too pure for human taste.

"This water will come out 100 per cent pure," he explained. "It will be just like distilled water and absolutely tasteless so we have to blend it with treated water from the Rio Grande to provide a potable water."

Peterson said the $35,000 preliminary study would be used in seeking funds from Congress during the fiscal 1972 budget appropriations.

Forthright: No, actually I don't. He's been in this business a lot longer than I have—knows much more about it. In fact, I plan to vote for him.

Buckley's nimble-witted manager, F. All he can do is exhort his legions of conservative and law-and-order campaign workers to work still harder for the fantastic prize—election of a Conservative party Senator in the heartland of the liberal establishment.

"Great, Schellenback. Tell me what it is."

"We get an old cargo surplus ship and outfit it with a lot of phony spy gear on top and inside. In the holds, we load phosphate detergents. It may take some cramming, but we could do it."

"Then we name the ship the 'Pueblo II' and send it into the coastal waters off North Korea."

"I think I'm following you," I said.

"The North Koreans grab the ship and suddenly they're stuck with all our phosphate detergents."

"It might work," I told him excitedly. "Each month we could send a spy ship until all the phosphate detergents in the United States are gone."

"The North Koreans would be up to their ears in detergent," Schellenback said, "and we would be the first country to destroy another with cleanliness."

Mr. W. W. Wooten, Chairman
Board of Trustees
Pitt County Memorial Hospital
Falkland, North Carolina

Dear Mr. Wooten:

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association encourages, supports, and endorses the construction of a new hospital to adequately meet the current and growing needs of the population of this area for adequate hospital care. We are pleased to know that plans for a new Pitt County hospital are proceeding with vigor.

Since 1951, Pitt County has expanded its hospital facilities in an effort to keep pace with the constantly increasing population and changes in medical techniques. Most of us have taken for granted that our hospital will be there and able to take care of us and members of our family whenever we need it. However, our growing population has already placed demands upon the present hospital facilities which they cannot meet.

We know that the shortage of available space in the Pitt County Memorial Hospital has already reached the point where more than 20 patients are often required to be placed in the halls. We also anticipate the time in the very near future when even the halls will not be able to accommodate our people when they require hospital care, and they will be required to make long and expensive trips to hospitals in other towns to receive the hospitalization they require.

A new hospital is vitally important to the patient care of all of our county citizens. It will provide the efficiencies in operations that will assist in holding down increasing hospital operational costs and will provide specialized medical services our people need. It will eliminate the present over-crowding and delays in admission for general hospital services.

We wish you every success with this important program and assure you that we are willing to cooperate and assist in any way possible to bring this project to a successful conclusion.

Sincerely yours,

Gene Skinner
President

Many Illiterates Will Cast First Votes Tomorrow

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds, possibly thousands, of illiterate Americans in 13 states will be able to vote legally for the first time Tuesday.

Yet the law which gave them the ballot, the federal Voting Rights Act of 1970, remains in question. The Supreme Court has heard arguments but not yet ruled on its constitutionality. This could add up to an embarrassing situation, especially in razor-close races. Two states are taking precautions against the possibility the court will overturn the law's suspension of literacy tests. The others are not.

The law suspends literacy tests for five years in 11 states and in parts of two others. The 11 are Alaska, California, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming. The two others are Arizona, where the law affects all but Yuma County, and North Carolina where tests are banned in 61 counties. The government estimates 1.9 million illiterate Americans have been enfranchised in the 13 states by the law. Ten governorships, 10 Senate seats and more than 100 House seats are at stake in the 13 states.

California—Ballots of illiterates will not be held aside. No estimate of the number of such voters.
Connecticut—Registration has been open to illiterates, who imply have to make their mark. No segregation of ballots.

Delaware—Illiterates will be assisted in the voting booth, on request, by two election workers, one a Democrat, the other a Republican. Machine voting prevents the segregation of ballots.
Maine—No special steps have been taken to guard against the possibility of a negative ruling by the court.

Massachusetts—An election official says there is no way of knowing how many illiterates will vote.
New Hampshire—Last week a three-judge federal court ordered the segregation of illiterates' ballots. If their votes are decisive, results will be held up until the end of the year. Should the court nullify the federal act, these votes will be subtracted. Should the court not rule by then, the votes will be counted.

North Carolina—About 500 illiterates have been registered provisionally at the order of a three-judge federal court. Alex Brock, executive secretary of the State Board of Elections, says this would make their ballots valid no matter what. However, all registration records show which voters are illiterate so their votes could be purged if the Supreme Court eventually declares them ineligible.
Oregon—The secretary of state's office said the state's literacy law was rarely, if ever, invoked, anyhow.
Washington—The state supervisor of elections says there are so few illiterates it wouldn't make a difference.
Wyoming—No segregation of ballots.

Elm City Quiet After Protest

ELM CITY, N.C. (AP) — The small Wilson County community of Elm City was quiet after dark Sunday following a demonstration by angry blacks during most of the day. The crowd protested the shooting death of a 25-year-old Negro. He was killed in a scuffle early Sunday with the Elm City police chief, V. L. Wall. The chief told Wilson County deputies he shot Herbert Armstrong while he and Armstrong were struggling over a knife Armstrong had drawn. The Wilson County sheriff said there would be an inquest. There were no arrests and there was no violence at the gathering Sunday. After Sheriff William Thompson spoke to the protestors at mid-afternoon and told them of the continuing investigation, most of them left. At one time it was estimated the crowd grew to more than 100. A force of about 20 deputies, highway patrolmen and State Bureau of Investigation agents were on the scene. Chief Wall was unavailable for comment Sunday, but Deputy Robert R. Brunson said Wall told sheriff's department officials that he and two other policemen saw a car speeding and running stop signs in Elm City late Saturday.

He said the officers chased the car for nearly four miles before it stopped on a rural dirt road. Wall reported Armstrong and his brother, Marvin Armstrong, 20, got out on the right. Both men lived in Elm City. Wall said he told the older Armstrong he was being arrested for careless and reckless driving and running stop signs in the city. Then, the police chief said, the pair got back in their car and backed it into the police cruiser. The officer then said the Armstrongs got out of their car again, and said the driver had what appeared to be a knife. Wall told the deputy he grappled with the older brother, and pulled his pistol. He said the gun fired—not indicating whether it was deliberate or accidental—and the bullet ricocheted off the pair's car and struck the younger Armstrong a slight blow in the lip and chin. The pistol went off again, the deputy said Wall reported, while the scuffle continued, and this time Herbert Armstrong was shot in the chest. The older brother was dead on arrival at a Wilson hospital. The 20-year-old was treated for his wound and released under $1,000 bond on a charge of assaulting an officer.

Moore Advises ECC To Defer University Push

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Dan Moore believes the drive for independent university status for East Carolina College should be halted for the next two years. Moore said this Thursday without making a direct reference to the college's expansion proposal or its chief backers, President Leo Jenkins and Sen. Robert Morgan of the ECC Board of Trustees.

"I believe that the best interests of the state and higher education would be served by foregoing any request for a major change in the system of higher education during the coming biennium," Moore told educators who assembled at the executive mansion. "I am convinced that our success or failure in higher education will be related to the degree to which we can pool our resources, with no threat to the identity or vigor of any one of us." Moore continued. "This is a time for unity of purpose and hard work, not controversy. This is the time for us to plan together based on full and open cooperation between all institutions and agencies. It is the time for responsible leadership and teamwork."

Moore told the group that the State Board of Higher Education is drafting a 10-year plan for all the state's institutions of higher education. He said, however, the plan would not be ready for the next Legislature. He said the board therefore is developing a two-year interim plan for the 1967 General Assembly. Moore said this will provide guidance in certain basic areas which can be completed in this short span.

Moore noted that the state's biennium He said the requests should "meet the needs of our institutions and a growing state," but "not endanger our fiscal stability or our legal obligation to operate within a balanced budget."

Moore emphasized the strengthening of existing programs, and the providing of essential capital improvements wherever possible. College presidents who attended the session later voiced concern at a meeting of the Board of Higher Education over their role in formulation of the long-range plan. Jenkins asked the board whether his school should continue planning for independent university status during the interim two-year period. Chairman Watts Hill Jr. told Jenkins "the board isn't trying to put straitjackets on the institutions." "Your institution should go ahead with its plans as it foresees its future. But you must face the fact that the board will consider the plans independently and make its own evaluation."

Democratic controlled legislature defeated the bill to make ECC a university. All politicians and newspapers said it would be two years before another bill could be introduced.

R. FRANK EVERETT Came out with paid ads stating that by re-working the bill, it could be introduced this same year. R. FRANK EVERETT urged citizens of Eastern North Carolina to write their Senators and legislators and urge them to get the new bill passed. As a result of the hard work of R. FRANK EVERETT Senator Hennely of Cumberland County reworked the bill, introduced it, and backed it! With 80% of Republican Members of the House and Senate backing the bill, the bill was passed and university status was given to East Carolina College.

On Thursday, Oct. 22, an adv. appeared in The Daily Reflector calling for approval of the Hospital Bonds and sponsored by Greenville's four banks.

AND WHY NOT?

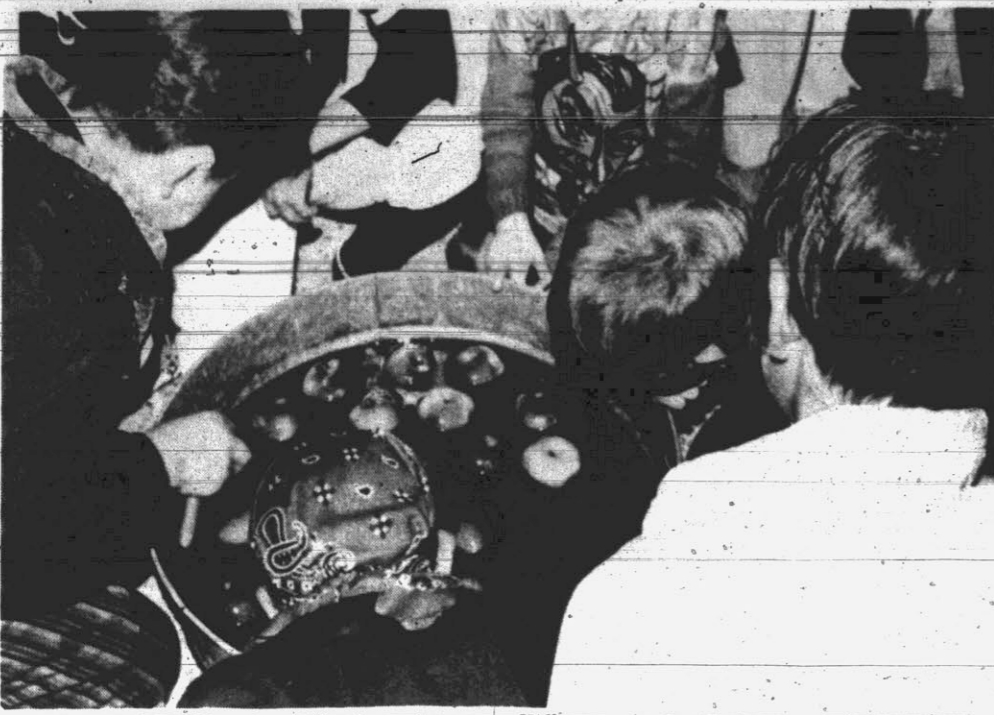

The Banks are in the business of lending money; and with a 20 percent increase in ad valorem taxes caused by passing the bonds, there'll be a lot more loan applications around tax-paying time.

If we were in the banking business instead of just poor over-taxed Pitt County citizens, we'd be for the bonds too.

But 20 percent more taxes is more than we can afford, regardless of how nice a new hospital would be.

SO WE'RE VOTING NO ON NOV. 3rd!

Says Soviet French Officials Push Inquiry Halted Work Into Deadly Dance Hall Blaze

MIAMI (AP) - Rep. William C. Cramer says President Nixon told him the Soviet Union has stopped building a submarine base in Cuba and has recalled its ships.

"The President assured me that following a strong warning from this nation, construction has been halted," Cramer, Republican nominee for the U.S. Senate, said at a Sunday news conference. "The Soviet vessels have been removed."

Cramer said he delayed releasing the information until he had cleared it with the Defense Department and the White House.

Cramer said Nixon revealed during his campaign swing through Florida last week that the U.S.S.R. had stopped work on the base at Cienfuegos.

The Defense Department said Sept. 25 that the U.S.S.R. apparently was intending to achieve the capacity for sustained naval operations on the Communist island and was possibly constructing a sub haven at Cienfuegos.

At the time, the Defense Department said, "We do not know exactly what the facilities are intended to be, nor whether they are intended to be based. We are not sure that they are building a submarine support facility."

Danny Cater, who played first base and third base for the New York Yankees last season, batted .301 for the first time in his career. In six previous seasons his career mark was .275.

ST. LAURENT DU POINT, France (AP) - French authorities from cabinet rank down pressed an investigation today to determine why 143 persons died in this mountain town 24 miles northwest of Grenoble.

Firemen pulled 142 corpses from the ruins. Ten other persons were injured, and one of them died today.

From accounts of the 20-odd survivors of the Halloween night fire, it appeared that the young dancers panicked and piled up against the exit doors. There were some reports that the four exits from the one-story, steel-frame building were locked and even boarded up, but others contradicted this.

A throng of young people, mostly 18 to 25, had flocked to the Cinq-Sept Dance Hall from several villages in the region.

The hall was hung with plastic decorations, giving it the appearance of a cave. A five-piece orchestra, called the Storm, promised to create a "hurricane on the stage."

About 1:45 a.m., according to Joelle Dondey, the 21-year-old cashier, "some smoke started coming from the ceiling, then flames burst out." She was dragged out of the hall with her hair burning.

"The place went up like a matchbox," said one of 30 village firemen who were soon on the scene.

When the firemen broke into the building they found burned and twisted bodies piled up five or six feet high near the exits.

Officials, including Secretary of State Jacques Baumel, heard reports that the blaze was caused either by a short circuit or by a cigarette butt tossed playfully onto someone's coat.

One survivor, Dominique Guette, 17, said the exit doors had been padlocked and planks nailed over them to keep out gatecrashers. One fireman said the doors were locked from the inside and the firemen had to break the locks to reach the victims.

However, Raymond Chaniel, 25, who had once helped manage the dance hall, said the metal-covered doors were not locked but were so swollen by the heat they would not open. Daniel Bellemain, 21, a cook from the hall's restaurant, said the doors "were simply locked from the inside with a knob and could have been opened easily without a key." He said a bartender and five customers escaped through one of the doors. Two turnstile entrances to the hall swung inward as customers presented their tickets, but a catch prevented them from turning outward.

The name of the establishment, Five-Seven, came from a local bar which burned down after a cooking fire last February. It was run by the same men who managed the dance hall.

There were no victims that time, but two of the partners perished in the dance hall.

Galifianakis Denies Help From Bankers

DURHAM (AP)—Rep. Nick Galifianakis of North Carolina denies he has received any campaign funds from a bankers' group as indicated in a report filed with Congress. The Bankers Political Action Committee said the Tar Heel Democrat received $2,000 for his campaign against Republican Jack Hawke in the 4th District.

He said Sunday that he, his aides and his campaign committee have never received any money from the group. "If I should receive any such funds, I shall promptly return them to the sender," he added.

Reports in Washington said the group filed its congressional report about the same time it mailed some of the contributions. Sources said it was possible, therefore, that the contribution to Galifianakis was still in the mail.

The Justice Department announced Sunday it will investigate the contributions, which were sent to members of congressional committees dealing with a controversial bank bill.

Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, said the funds were an obvious attempt to influence the pending bill.

The legislation, which would bar holding companies controlling a single bank from branching out into other activities, will be discussed at a Nov. 18 meeting of a Senate-House conference committee. Galifianakis is on Patman's committee, but he said he has never received funds "from any group of persons who was directly or indirectly seeking my vote on any legislation."

"At the outset of this campaign, I instructed my campaign treasurer not to accept any funds conditional upon any commitment, expressed or implied, in keeping with my long-standing policy of not accepting any contributions to which strings may be attached."

Stock And Market Reports

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices dipped fractionally later this morning in moderate trading, moving into what appeared some kind of seasaw pattern.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at 11 a.m. was off 0.41 at 755.20. A half hour earlier, it had been up 0.41.

Declines, however, maintained their narrow lead over advances on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said investors had taken to the sidelines in the absence of any significant news developments. Many are awaiting the outcome of the elections Tuesday, they added.

Gov. Bob Scott announced Saturday that Robbins will serve a term expiring May 16, 1975.

Hire A Vet Week Is Proclaimed Here

"These men who have rendered military service are able and willing to work and have shown a desire to qualify for jobs by participating in the various training and retraining programs," Mayor Wooten pointed out in proclaiming the observance.

The mayor added that the national veterans' organizations and their local post or chapters are cooperating with community service organizations, the North Carolina Employment Security Commission, Veterans Employment Service, and the communications media of the state in promoting the employment of honorably discharged and qualified veterans.

Mayor Wooten said that he expressed his "deep concern in this undertaking...and suggests to all citizens who employ labor that the best way to show appreciation to unemployed

Four Fires Over County

Four fires were reported in the county during the week end period.

On Friday night, at 9:13 p.m. an alarm was answered by Pactolus and Staton House Fire Departments for the J. W. Speight house located on N. C. 30, west of Pactolus. The fire was reported by Fire Marshal Mike Worthington to have started from work on a car under the garage. When a line was disconnected to the fuel pump, gas sprayed over a drop cord, shorting it and starting the fire. Damage was confined to the garage area, at about $800 and to the car, estimated to be $400.

A vehicle fire occurred over the weekend on N. C. 11 between Ayden and Winterville. A truck, reported on fire, received only slight damage. Both the Ayden and Winterville Departments sent trucks to the fire.

At 12:35 a.m. this morning, a passing motorist reported a house fully in flames. The house, a vacant one belonging to Beatrice Tucker, two miles east of Winterville at Worthington Cross Roads, was a complete loss. Origin of the fire is unknown. Value of the frame house is estimated at about $2,000.

A house on the Luther Staton farm on Penny Hill Road six miles west of Belvoir was reported on fire at 7:24 a.m. this morning. The blaze, apparently beginning in the kitchen, was controlled by the Belvoir Fire Department and resulted only in slight damage.

The house, a vacant one belonging to Beatrice Tucker, two miles east of Winterville at Worthington Cross Roads, was a complete loss. Origin of the fire is unknown. Value of the frame house is estimated at about $2,000.

A house on the Luther Staton farm on Penny Hill Road six miles west of Belvoir was reported on fire at 7:24 a.m. this morning. The blaze, apparently beginning in the kitchen, was controlled by the Belvoir Fire Department and resulted only in slight damage.

Speedsters Are Bring Filmed

WOBURN, Mass. (AP) — A camera tripped by a timing device to take pictures of speeding motorists as they pass is being tested by the Massachusetts Registry of Motor Vehicles.

The device, developed by LTV Aerospace Corp., Dallas, Tex., is claimed to be burglar-proof and bullet-proof and uses a cassette capable of taking 1,000 pictures a day.

Richard Griffith, a registry investigator, said the camera not only provides a sharp picture of the automobile, its registration plate and the offending driver, but each frame also notes the time, date and highway designation.

Only The Weather Disappoints

Although the weather was quite unfavorable throughout the dedication and open house activities at the new Burroughs Wellcome production plant Friday and Saturday, officials report that some 4,000 braved the rain during the two-day period to view the facilities.

G. Henry Leslie, plant manager of the Greenville facility, said this morning that approximately 3,300 to 3,400 persons toured the plant on Saturday while some 500 to 600 were on hand Friday afternoon for the dedication ceremonies.

"Except for the weather," Leslie commented, "everything went very well this weekend. Our staff has a real deep sense of pride in the plant and the comments from the public and officials of The Wellcome Foundation were most complimentary."

The plant manager added that the chairman of The Wellcome Foundation, Ltd., parent company of Burroughs Wellcome Co., Sir Michael Perrin, had expressed his pleasure at the hospitality of Greenville during his stay.

Leslie added that Sir Michael departed today for the return trip to London, Leslie said.

As for the inclement weather this weekend, Leslie noted that the attendance probably would have been much higher had conditions been favorable, but added that officials were very pleased in spite of the conditions.

Ad Error Conceded

Dan Polito, director of the Citizens' Campaign for a New Pitt County Memorial Hospital, acknowledged this morning that an advertisement in The Daily Reflector Thursday carried names of some individuals who did not wish to publicly express their opinion on the issue.

Polito said the list in the full-page ad was taken from a larger list of persons invited to campaign kickoff meetings throughout the county, not necessarily members of the Citizens' Committee. It was assumed those included had said they were in favor of the bond vote.

"Obviously we were in error about the feelings of some of those whose names we used," Polito said. "We deeply regret and apologize for the inconvenience or embarrassment this mistake has caused anyone."

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

Defensive tackle Rich Peeler didn't even make the trip with East Carolina — officially, that is — for the previously winless

RICH PEELER

Pirates' Southern Conference football game at Furman that helped shake up the league standings almost from top to bottom.

The 238-pound junior from Shelby, N. C., had been hospitalized three days prior to the game with a severe case of tonsillitis — his tonsils were so swollen the doctors couldn't remove them.

But shortly before the 2:30 p.m. kickoff Saturday at Greenville, S. C., there was Peeler, who'd gotten up at 5 a.m. and persuaded someone to drive him the approximately 275 miles from Greenville, N.C.

Largely through the efforts of Peeler and linebacker Ralph Betsch, East Carolina limited Furman — which had been averaging 202 yards per game on the ground — to 165 yards in total offense as the Pirates snapped a 10-game losing streak with a 7-0 victory.

"Without him (Peeler) on defense we might have fallen apart," said coach Mike McGee, who in his first year had suffered through seven defeats. "Early in the game he kept pulling us together."

The defeat not only snapped a four-game Furman winning streak, but cost the Paladins a chance to tie The Citadel's front-running Bulldogs, who were ambushed 31-14 by Richmond's rejuvenated Spiders, and all but knocked them out of the championship race.

Davidson's defending champion Wildcats moved into second place at 2-1 behind The Citadel, 3-1, with a 55-21 rout of Virginia Military Institute's Keydets. Tied for third are Furman and Richmond at 2-2 and William and Mary, a 35-14 non-league victim of Virginia Tech, at 1-1.

Bill Wallace carried the ball 34 times for 127 yards as East Carolina exercised ball control — the Pirates threw 17 passes compared to a record 43 the week before against Richmond. Les Strayhorn's two-yard run in the final period capped a 16-play, 59-yard drive.

"It's been a long time since anybody was so happy to beat Furman," said Paladin coach Bob King.

Jerry Mauro ran for 189 yards in 19 carries and Charlie Richards hit on 11 of 22 passes for 141 yards and three touchdowns, two to split end Jim Livesay, in Richmond's romp over The Citadel, which had eight starters injured during the game.

"It probably was our best game of the year," said Richmond coach Frank Jones. "Our rushing game was very adequate. In fact, we were very pleased with it. And our defense played very well over-all."

Coach Red Parker of The Citadel said "this was the most battered and beaten up team we've ever put on the field. The big question now is if we can accumulate enough players to get back to where we were prior to the game."

As for the championship race, Parker said four teams "are very much in it — Davidson, Richmond, William and Mary and us. We just have to win our next two conference games."

Don Cupit tied a conference season record with his 10th field goal for VMI, but the Keydets were behind 42-3 before they rallied for three touchdowns behind sophomore quarterback Randy Kinsey.

Davidson quarterback Mark Thompson hit on 16 passes for 282 yards and two touchdowns with Mike Mikolayunas grabbing nine aeriels, and Bill Bracken and David Mockbee each scored twice. Bracken ran for 74 yards as the Wildcats piled up 543 yards in total offense.

"I'll take 500 yards, especially six or seven touchdowns," said Davidson's offensive coordinator, Will Campagna. "We played one of our finest games. We got a couple of big plays that hurt them early."

Like VMI, William and Mary was out of it before scoring against Virginia Tech. The Indians lost two fumbles, had three passes intercepted and trailed 28-0 until they put together two fourth period drives. Tech's Jimmy Quinn scored twice as he ran for 96 yards in 14 carries and caught four passes for 37 yards. The Indians' Todd Bushnell had 104 yards in 14 carries and Phil Mosser, the league's leading rusher, had 70 yards in 17 — but 63 of those yards came in the last five minutes.

There's a breather in the conference race this weekend with night game at Guilford.

six of the teams — Richmond is idle — taking on nonleague foes.

William and Mary is host to Connecticut, Davidson entertains Lafayette, East Carolina is at home against West Virginia, VMI is at North Carolina and The Citadel goes to Tennessee-Chattanooga in the afternoon. Furman has a Saturday night game at Guilford.

Duke And Wake Forest Display A Stalling Problem On Offense

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Both teams fighting next Saturday for the Atlantic Coast Conference lead found out over the weekend they have a stalling problem on offense.

Duke was halted by the solid Georgia Tech defense and drubbed 24-16. Wake Forest, meanwhile, was running into problems with Tennessee in a game that developed into a 41-7 shellacking.

Duke Coach Tom Harp said the Blue Devil offense confronted a tough line which put heavy pressure on the Duke blockers, thus cutting down the time the Blue Devils' quarterback Leo Hart had to look for open receivers.

"We could not put any points on the scoreboard in the second half, and that caused our downfall," he said.

The Tech defense scrambled past Duke blockers to nail Hart for losses four times. It also pressured him into throwing the football before he was ready on other occasions. And the Duke offense, without the threat of a Hart bomb, is in trouble, as Harp's comment indicated.

The Georgia Tech defense was no accident. The Tech defenders knew Hart was the key target.

"We thought we could play better than we did in the first half," said Tech coach Bud Carson. "We felt we had to control the ball, to keep it away from Hart. That's about the only way to defend him. He's great."

Succumbing to a determined defense also proved to be Wake Forest's downfall. The Demon Deacons had the ball for 30 plays in the third quarter and failed to score.

The Deacons didn't complete a pass in the period. Twice on crucial third down plays, quarterback Larry Russell was dumped for a solid loss by the aggressive Tennessee defensive line.

"We had played well for the last four games," said Wake Forest Coach Cal Stoll. "But this afternoon we didn't do anything right."

"I thought we came back and played pretty good in the second half," he continued. "The penalty on the touchdown in the second half really hurt."

Russell also had a gripe about the penalty—not against the referee, but against himself and his offensive teammates.

"We stopped ourselves as much as they stopped us in the second half," he said. "That penalty really hurt in the third period. The referee said I called the play too fast and did not get set."

Both Duke and Wake Forest will spend the week nursing their wounds and preparing for a game that could decide the ACC championship.

Duke, 4-0 in the league, is still the leader. But Wake Forest has only lost one in the league and could take over with a victory Saturday.

Elsewhere in the ACC, Clemson downed Maryland, 24-11, to pick up its second ACC victory. The Terps have only won one game this season against South Carolina. North Carolina, now 3-

2 in the ACC, downed Virginia, 30-15.

Other ACC teams fared poorly in their out-of-conference tries. North Carolina State took a 27-2 beating from Kentucky, while South Carolina dropped a televised game with Georgia, 52-34.

A Real Victory For 'Long Shot'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Babe Hiskey, an obscure, off-the-board longshot, ended five years of troubles, struggles and bitter frustration when he won the $100,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament.

"It's been a struggle," the 31-year-old Hiskey said Sunday after scoring by a single shot. "All my life it's been a struggle. Not just golf, everything. Finishing college, everything.

"It's a real victory for me and my dad. I bought a car after winning the Cajun Classic in 1965. And I've had it ever since. It had over 150,000 miles on it, and we burned it out last week.

"My dad bought us a car. If it hadn't been for that, well, I probably wouldn't be here."

Hiskey shot a careful par 71 on the Paradise Valley Country Club course and finished with a 72-hole total of 276, one stroke ahead of Terry Dill, Miller Barber and former Masters champion Bob Goalby. Dill had a 65, Goalby a 66 and Barber a 68 on the final day.

Larry Hinson, 69, and Tommy Aaron, 71, followed at 278. The group at 279 included Masters champion Billy Casper and PGA title-holder Dave Stockton.

Jack Nicklaus, the defending champion, never was a factor in the tournament. He had a final round 71 and finished far final hole, a 45-yard, dogleg par four with water guarding the green.

Hiskey drove the fairway, put his second to the left, away from the water and some 50 feet from the flag. He lagged it down to 18 inches and sank the putt that just about doubled his income for the last two years.

The victory was worth $20,000 to the husky six-footer. He had won only $6,600 earlier this year and only $3,600 all of last year. He's been broke, lost his players' card for poor play, was suspended from the tour, went broke in contracting work and played his way back on the tour.

"Sometimes I had to borrow from my dad to make it to the next tournament," said Hiskey, a native of Idaho now living Texas. "But I never had to borrow from my friends."

"I've never really thought about leaving the tour. I have determination, the will to win. This is my career."

"I wasn't too nervous," said Hiskey, who had a two-stroke lead going into the final day.

Favor Duke For 3rd Win

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina State cross country championships were scheduled this afternoon, with Duke favored to win for the third consecutive year.

But host North Carolina State University expected to offer Duke a strong challenge. State's Gareth Hayes of Greensboro, Neil Ackley of Concord, N.H., and Jimmy Wilkins of Roxboro led the Wolfpack to an 8-3 season.

Hayes placed first nine times in 11 dual meets.

"Hayes has run the five-mile course in 25:25," said State coach Jim Westcott. "He was injured and not near his best strength last year when Duke's Mark Wellner ran 25:57 to win the individual championship."

Duke's team includes Wellner, last year's winner, and two other outstanding runners in Mike Graves and Bob Wheeler. The trio led Duke to a 7-1 record this year.

Chocowinity Takes Game Over Grifton

CHOCOWINITY — Chocowinity High School stayed with Grifton in the first half, then pulled away to take a 30-20 Tobacco Belt victory Saturday night. The game had been postponed from Friday due to bad weather.

Grifton took the lead in the first period of the game when Mike Jackson crashed over from the four. Billy Edwards added the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Three touchdowns came in the second period, two by Chocowinity. They scored first, as Art Woodard went in with a 15-yard pass from Glenn Page. The try for the extra point failed, and Grifton held a 7-6 lead.

The Bulldogs added to their lead with another score. Mike Tyndall went over from the two and Edwards again added the extra point, making it 14-6.

But it didn't last. Chocowinity came up with a score on a 69-yard romp by Sammy Blunt and that closed the gap to 14-12 by the end of the half.

In the third period, Chocowinity again outscored Grifton, 12-6, and that did it. Blunt carried over the first score, going 22 yards, giving Chocowinity an 18-14 lead.

Grifton came back with a two-yard run by Mike Coles for a 20-18 edge, but two more Chocowinity scores slammed the door on the 'Dogs.

The first came late in the third period, as Page went over from the two. The last was in the final period as Henry Harding went over from the 19.

Grifton closes out its season Friday, playing host to Farmville.

ELM CITY — Roland Hooks led Vanceboro to a 56-0 romp over Elm City High School Friday night in a Tobacco Belt Conference football game.

Hooks scored four touchdowns, and rolled up 318 yards in overall carries, including kick returns and runs from scrimmage.

Vanceboro went into the lead in the first period, pushing over one touchdown. That was a 56-yard run by Keith Wiley making it 6-0 at the end of the period.

In the second frame, however, Vanceboro broke it open with three more scores. The first was a 37-yard run by Danny Hoell. Then, Hooks picked up the first of his scores, a 25-yard run. He added the two-point play for the conversion.

Rounding out the second period, Hooks went in from the eight, running the Vanceboro lead out to 26-0 at halftime.

Vanceboro came up with three more touchdowns in the third period. The first was a 60-yard run by Hoell, running the lead to 32-0. Hooks then carried back a punt 75 yards for a score, and Shade Bland took the conversion pass from Clay Jordan to a 40-0 lead.

Hooks, finishing off a fine evening, went 99 yards for his next touchdown, and Ricky Lilly caught the conversion pass, making it 48-0.

The last score was a 32-yard pass from Clay Jordan to Butch White. Lilly again caught the conversion pass for the final 56-0 score.

Vanceboro closes out its season Friday night against Robersonville.

Hulme Wins In LA Race

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — The race was American, but the results were international Sunday when New Zealander Denis Hulme took top honors in the 13th annual Los Angeles Times Grand Prix.

Hulme, who races out of Colbrook, England, for the Team McLaren organization, took the lead from the wire and never relinquished it, despite a determined push by Jackie Oliver, of Walton, England.

The victory at the 3.3-mile Riverside International Raceway course wasn't necessary to give Hulme the championship in the annual sports car Canadian-American Challenge Cup series, but he did pocket prize money of $17,500 for the win.

Farmville Trims Southern Wayne

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Red Devils wrapped up second place in the Eastern Plains Conference with a 28-7 romp over Southern Wayne High School Friday night.

Mark Oglesby passed circles around the Saints, as he threw for 181 yards, hitting on 10 of 13 passes. All four of the Farmville touchdowns came through the air.

Southern Wayne took the initial lead, however. That came when Roy Whitfield pass to Charlie Marks and the play carried 72 yards for the score. Don Peterson kicked the extra point for a 7-0 lead.

Farmville came right back, and took the lead. Oglesby unloaded a 71 yard bomb to Connie Tripp, closing the gap to a one-point deficit. Alan Wilkes quickly did away with that, running over a two-point conversion for an 8-7 lead.

After that, it was all Farmville.

In the third period, Farmville connected on three more scoring passes. The first was an 18-yarder from Oglesby to Tripp.

Oglesby ran over the extra point on this one.

Then, just to confuse the opposition, Oglesby passed to Robert Tripp, this time for a six-yard scoring aerial.

He returned to Connie Tripp for the final score, a 10-yard toss.

Farmville winds up its 1970 season by visiting Grifton this Friday night.

Cougars Dropped 8th Straight

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Carolina Cougars have lost their eighth straight American Basketball Association game, dropping one to Pittsburgh Sunday night 112-97.

Guard Charlie Williams proved to be the Cougars' undoing. He pumped in 14 points in the second half to lead the Condors to victory.

Williams tied for high-scoring honors with Cougars' George Lehmann. Each got 27.

The Cougars had overcome an early deficit to tie it up, 48-48, at halftime. But the second half was all for the Condors.

Grand National Again Delayed

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — The $92,000 American 500 Grand National stock car race has been postponed again because of rain, this time until Nov. 15.

The event originally was to be held Oct. 25. But bad weather forced cancellation to Sunday.

However, rain again fell and the 40-car starting field couldn't take the track.

Vanceboro Has 56-0 Victory

ELM CITY — Roland Hooks led Vanceboro to a 56-0 romp over Elm City High School Friday night in a Tobacco Belt Conference football game.

Hooks scored four touchdowns, and rolled up 318 yards in overall carries, including kick returns and runs from scrimmage.

Vanceboro went into the lead in the first period, pushing over one touchdown. That was a 56-yard run by Keith Wiley making it 6-0 at the end of the period.

In the second frame, however, Vanceboro broke it open with three more scores. The first was a 37-yard run by Danny Hoell. Then, Hooks picked up the first of his scores, a 25-yard run. He added the two-point play for the conversion.

Rounding out the second period, Hooks went in from the eight, running the Vanceboro lead out to 26-0 at halftime.

Vanceboro came up with three more touchdowns in the third period. The first was a 60-yard run by Hoell, running the lead to 32-0. Hooks then carried back a punt 75 yards for a score, and Shade Bland took the conversion pass from Clay Jordan to a 40-0 lead.

Hooks, finishing off a fine evening, went 99 yards for his next touchdown, and Ricky Lilly caught the conversion pass, making it 48-0.

The last score was a 32-yard pass from Clay Jordan to Butch White. Lilly again caught the conversion pass for the final 56-0 score.

Vanceboro closes out its season Friday night against Robersonville.

Cochran Takes North And South Seniors Crown

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Bob Cochran of St. Louis, Mo., fought a steady mist and a tenacious John Pottle of Linville, N.C., to capture the title Sunday in the North and South Seniors Golf Championship.

Pottle came back to tie the match four times before Cochran ended with a 1-up victory on the 17th hole. The victor ended the match with a par 72 on the championship No. 2 course at Pinehurst Country Club, while Pottle was one over.

The match was decided on the par three 17th hole, where Cochran birdied while Pottle parred. That put Cochran one ahead.

On the 18th Pottle's fourth shot rolled four feet beyond the cup. When Cochran got to within four inches on his fourth try, Pottle conceded the match.

Quarterback Norm Snead captains the Philadelphia Eagles.

Citizen's Committee For The NEW Pitt County Memorial Hospital

P. O. BOX 3454 • GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA 27834 • TELEPHONE 758-4191

J. W. "JOE" POU
 GENERAL CHAIRMAN

THANK YOU, Pitt Countians

TO ALL CITIZENS OF PITT COUNTY:

The campaign is over. It's time to make our decision on whether or not we shall proceed with the new Pitt County Memorial Hospital to care for our future health needs.

During recent months an intensive effort has been made to provide to every voter in the county detailed information on the solution to our hospital problem which was proposed after years of searching study of needs and answers.

Over 1,000 volunteers joined in this effort, giving their time and talents to help carry the hospital story to the county community. These folks have worked hard and unselfishly--not with any thought of glory or reward, but simply as good citizens with the objective of providing needed facilities in this county for the relief of human suffering.

As general chairman of this committee of citizens, I salute these volunteer workers who have made this program one of the best examples of community co-operation this area has ever experienced. They have given their best, in all sincerity, to bring you the facts on which you can base an intelligent decision when you and your conscience enter the voting booth on Tuesday. I know the whole county appreciates the effort these people have made.

And in behalf of these volunteers, I salute you--the citizens of Pitt County--for the interest you have displayed in this hospital program. It appears that most citizens have been searching, weighing, discussing the issue in a deeper way than usual to determine their individual answers. Now, the story has been told; the issue debated. The question remaining to be decided in the traditional American way--by the vote and will of the majority--is simply this: Are we, individually, willing to put back a small amount of our substance into the community that has been good to us...for the good of all?

The decision, friends, is up to you and your conscience.

Cordially,

J.W. "Joe" Pou, General Chairman
 Citizens Committee for the New
 Pitt County Memorial Hospital

Says Church Confirm GI Thefts In Thailand

Losing War

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Catholic Church is losing its battle against poverty, discrimination and deprivation, the Most Rev. Raymond J. Gallagher, bishop of the Lafayette, Ind., diocese said Sunday night.

He told about 750 members of the National Conference of Catholic Charities: "We have assumed the duty to war on the conditions of poverty, discrimination and deprivation. We are losing these battles. Let us improve and update before we lose the whole war on need."

Bishop Gallagher, honorary president of the NCCD, also decried concepts which "promise to send society back to the dark ages."

He cited "congressional action to penalize citizens for betting children; national publications which ridicule and impugn the honor, dignity and sanctity of motherhood, and the sociologist who repudiates the very core of his science by saying that the family—society's basic institution—is now passe."

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Army investigators have confirmed that GI's diverted drugs and PX goods into Thailand's black market as well as doctoring pay records and promotions, a House committee says.

According to the House military operations subcommittee, the investigators found the illegal activities occurred in Bangkok and at two U.S. bases in Thailand.

The inquiry was prompted by two Army enlisted men who told the Associated Press and the subcommittee they had been involved in thefts and illicit pay record changes before leaving Thailand a year ago.

"You could sell anything you wanted to," said one soldier. He

LOST SHOES
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — One day during the 1970 New Mexico State Fair over the public address system came this announcement:

"Attention parents. Have your children lost their shoes? We have two pairs here at the office. Would you please come by and claim them?"

stated he made about $500 a day over a three month period by diverting medical supplies into the Thai black market.

Tarzan And Jane Badly Burned

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — The Tarzan and Jane of a movie being made by a Spanish company are in serious condition from burns suffered during a fire torture scene which went wrong.

The victims were Hungarian-born Steve Hukes, 28, of Miami, and Danish actress Kristeen Svanholm.

Hukes, staked out on the ground, and Miss Svanholm, tied to a tree, were to have been surrounded by a circle of burning leaves. Deputy Sheriff H.F. Kelley said fluid used for getting the fire started Sunday exploded, covering the two with flames.

Four members of the Spanish New Era Productions film crew from Madrid were burned slightly while rescuing Hukes and Miss Svanholm.

The name of the movie is "Tarzan and the Rainbow."

He said shipments of drugs and other medical items intended for service hospitals were diverted to the black market by falsifying shipping records.

The second soldier said clerks in a finance detachment had devised a scheme under which they paid soldiers advances on their paychecks without noting the transactions in the official records. The men receiving the advances then split part of their advance pay with the clerks, the soldier said.

Although the Army investigators confirmed such happenings, the committee said, the people, the size of the thefts and the amount of money have not been determined.

The subcommittee quoted the Army as saying the partial pay operation involved a "small ring" of enlisted men at a finance detachment at the Korat Air Base.

The subcommittee also reported Army investigators said truckloads of Post Exchange merchandise were diverted into the blackmarket, usually by Thai drivers, sometimes but not always with the cooperation of GIs.

The Army also reported some promotions were falsified in Thailand so the soldier involved could collect "money owed" at the higher pay grade when he returned to the United States, the subcommittee said.

The Army keeps central promotion records, the subcommittee said, but promotions to corporal and buck sergeant can be arranged within a battalion where false promotion orders can be mimeographed.

The subcommittee inquiry into the Thailand thefts at Bangkok, Korat and port installations at Sattahip is part of its investigation of military supply depot procedures against theft and pilferage in the United States as well as abroad.

The panel said the Army reports it has tightened its control over medical and Post Exchange shipments in Thailand, but said it is concerned about the payroll laxities "which permitted or invited" the partial pay scheme.

The Worry Clinic Rivalry Stirs Us To Growth

By GEORGE W. CRANE Ph. D., M. D.
 CASE 0-572: Dr. Cort R. Flint is a famous Baptist theologian and pulpit orator.
 Recently we were discussing the ecumenical movement and the modern trend to merge different denominations into one big church monopoly.
 "Dr. Crane," he smiled, "a basic reason for the virility of the Baptist churches is rivalry!"
 "For when one church grows too large or a serious difference of opinion develops, part of that church will secede and start up a new church."
 "Baptists are thus noted for their independence of thinking."

"Dr. Crane, do you find that psychologically wrong?"
 Beware Monopoly
 No; it is rivalry of a wholesome sort that keeps school athletic teams on their toes.
 Competition has also made America the leader of all the nations on this planet Earth.
 For when monopoly occurs, as indicted by Socialism and Communism, then comes decay and regimentation or even banishment to the "salt mines."
 Because the U. S. A. has been the world champion "go-getter" nation, we have avoided the "stagnation" that has made England a second-rate power and converted Russia into a world bully.
 The attempt to merge all church groups into a single monopolistic denomination is merely socialism applied to religion!
 And Jesus apparently relished rivalry!
 For he lauded the man with the 5 talents who went out into the competitive market and doubled his money.
 Conversely, Christ also severely reprimanded the communist who hid his money and was unwilling to compete in the free, open market.

 So Jesus had the communist's single talent taken away from him and given over to the "free enterprise" man who started with those 5 talents and then doubled them.
 Jesus didn't even scold the mother of James and John because of her ambition to have her sons seated on Christ's right hand and left hand in Heaven, though he said only God could determine the seating arrangement.
 But rivalry immediately arose for the Bible says:
 "And when the ten heard it, they were moved with indignation against the two brethren."
 But Jesus even indirectly defended James and John as he mollified the indignant ten brethren.

Alas, false notions about Christ have pervaded the churches for centuries!
 For Jesus was not a pacifist when hard-won social freedoms were threatened.
 Although Christ urged us to turn the other cheek when we receive personal affronts, as He Himself did when taunted en route to Calvary, Jesus quickly resorted to force in the Temple.
 For when He saw the greedy money-changers defiling the sacred Temple, the Bible says Christ didn't resort to verbal persuasion at all, though He could doubtless have coaxed them to move across the street.
 No, indeed! Jesus upset the tables of the money-changers and even drove them out of the Temple with a whip.

 That's obviously NOT pacifism!
 Jesus also lauded the policemen and soldiery, for in one of the famous Beatitudes, He said:
 "Blessed are the peacemakers."
 He didn't say the "peace lovers" or "wishful thinkers."
 So send for my booklet "How to Stimulate Bible-Reading," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.
 (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Fire, Explosion Kills Fireman

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP) — Mysterious nightriders, voices, and an explosion—those were the handful of clues investigators had to go on today in an attempt to find the cause of a store fire that killed a fireman Sunday night.
 The dead fireman was Capt. Roy Gay. He is believed to have been in the building when the burned out roof caved in.
 The firm, a furniture store, was owned by state Sen. Coolidge Murrow. He said he was in the store when it caught fire.

 He said he was there writing a speech when he heard a car stop and a door slam. He said he heard noises and that when he got to the front of the store he heard what sounded like an explosion.
 He said flames leaped across the storefront.

Damage was estimated at more than $200,000. Firemen said the inside of the building was almost totally destroyed.
 Two other firemen were injured in the blaze, one seriously. He was Lt. A. A. Davidson. Fireman R. L. Oliphant suffered smoke inhalation.
 Murrow is a Republican and is running for re-election in Tuesday's election.

Police Car Was One Deterrent

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Florence Deddens was late for an appointment downtown but had a ready alibi.
 "Traffic was miserable," she told her husband. "A police car was right in front of me all the way."

MBABANE, Swaziland (AP) — The national airline of this tiny state decided to print tickets in Swazi instead of English and ran up against some tricky linguistic problems.

Farm Scene

By HENRY C. RIDDICK

This past growing season we had several peanut tests in Pitt County. Now that the peanuts have been dug, combined, graded and old we are studying some interesting results.

One test we conducted that gave us remarkable results was a test that was partly designed to test the effects different calcium supplying materials on peanut seed quality and yields. We found a field that had a soil pH of 5.4 (soil acidity) which peanut growers know is excessively low for growing peanuts but for research it was an exceptionally good field.

We labored all summer in two hundred 50-foot plots making sure that everything was done just so with all assurance that the higher rate of calcium would produce the higher yield of peanuts. Since quality and yield are so closely related that would easily prove our point.

After determining the peanuts to be mature, we dug, weighed the peanuts from each 50-foot plot, only to find that the more calcium that was supplied the lower the yield. The check plot with no calcium at all outweighed either of the other plots. What we think now was the problem was that with such a low pH, the amount of aluminum in the soil was so high that supplying calcium to the soil caused aluminum toxicity to the plants. We might not have found the exact answer to the original test but we have now found other unanswered questions for research to find an answer.

In the peanut variety test we conducted in cooperation with John Dunn of Belvoir, we came out with some very good results. The N.C. 2 variety yielded 2636 pounds per acre. The grade in the 2's ran 14.31c giving a gross value of $361.30 per acre. Next up the ladder was the N.C. 5, which yielded 3197 lbs per acre with a grade of 14.30c, and gross of $448.99 per acre. The N.C. 17's was next on the scale and did not perform as well as expected with a per acre yield of .3511. They graded out to be 14.30c with a gross value of $494.40. The big peanut this year was the Florigiant, which yielded 3669 lbs. per acre. The grade was 13.76 and the gross value per acre was $499.91. Although there was not a lot of difference between the last three varieties, there was considerable difference between the N.C. 2's and Florigiant in terms of dollars per acre and that's what we are all looking for.

Tobacco TIPS

By SAM J. WEEKS
Tobacco fertilization makes a definite contribution to the yield, money value and the quality of tobacco produced. The best flue-cured crops are produced under a controlled plant nutrient level. Rather definite amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium must be available to the plants for the highest yield and quality. Too little nitrogen stunts growth — too much results in high nicotine content and poor quality in general. Too little phosphorus prevents full maturity of the plant — too little potassium results in poor smoking quality of the cured leaf. In addition to these three major nutrients, some soils need extra supplies of calcium, magnesium and sulphur.

analysis of fertilizer to be used on a particular field should be determined by such factors as cropping history, fertilization history, soil texture, depth of topsoil, variety, and quality of tobacco grown in the past, and the general fertility level. The general fertilizer recommendation for tobacco grown on average, good, productive tobacco soil is 900-1000 pounds of 4-8-12, or equivalent, per acre. However, it may be advisable to use more or less than this amount on a particular field, depending upon the type of soil and past use of the field. Some nitrogen should be used in addition to the mixed fertilizer in most fields. The amount of additional nitrogen would depend on the depth of soil to the clay and the amount of rainfall.

Information available to date indicates that there should be no change or rates in fertilization when irrigation is planned. Therefore, the rate used should be that for a normal growing season. Excessive rates, where used with irrigation, results in lower quality just as they do in the absence of supplemental water. These conclusions are based on the assumption that irrigation rates are not excessive.

To be more accurate in determining how much and which analysis of fertilizer to use, especially on problem fields, it is suggested that a soil test be made about every three to five years. Based on the soil analysis, the soil testing department will be able to make suggestions on amounts and analysis that can be used a guide for the grower.

Sowers Says His Agency Needs Punch

CHARLOTTE (AP) — When the pollution wolves are baying at the door of North Carolina's environment, the state needs more than the sticks-and-mud defense of a conservation agency, according to a state industry hunter.

The official is Roy G. Sowers Jr., director of the Department of Conservation and Development. In a prepared speech for delivery Saturday in Charlotte, Sowers said he opposed a move that would put the state's environmental defense unit on its own feet.

A state commission has suggested that his agency be split into two groups, with one part to stimulate industrial expansion, and the other to preserve the state's natural resources from abuse.

Sowers said the conservation agency standing alone would lack political punch to ward off possible assaults on the environment.

Sowers said the split actually would weaken the hand of conservation in state government rather than strengthen it.

He said the state's "economic muscle-men" might win all the battles against any agency empowered only to protect the environment.

Sowers noted that many business leaders have become allies of those fighting for a clean environment, but that the businessmen fade away "when it gets close to home, such as a plant needing a temporary permit to continue polluting a river because of the high cost of installing treatment facilities...."

GOREN ON BRIDGE

(c 1970; by The Chicago Tribune)
ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ
Q. 1—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K943 ♥1052 ♦KQ96 ♣K2
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♦
Pass 2 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. You have 11 points in high cards which justifies another forward move. The most likely game possibility seems to be in no trump and such a suggestion is in order for the responding hand when he has a suit unprotected.

Q. 2—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K74 ♥K6 ♦A1063 ♣Q1075
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♣ Pass 1 ♦
Pass 2 ♥ Pass 4 ♣
Pass 5 ♣ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Six no trump. Your side obviously possesses sufficient values to take 12 tricks but, the spade suit appears to be partner's weak spot and an opening lead thru your king could prove fatal.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A1095 ♥AKJ3 ♦5 ♣KQ74
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ Pass 1 ♣ ?
What do you bid?
A.—Pass. Although it does not suit our taste to remain silent on a hand of this strength, any offensive maneuver is fraught with great danger. Furthermore, there is always the prospect that the enemy will go too far which is usually the best chance for a substantial profit on a holding of this type.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A942 ♥A865 ♦A43 ♣Q10
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
1 ♥ Pass 2 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Double. Partner is almost certainly marked with a singleton heart so that his distribution should prove good for your hand. In fact, if he has spades, a game may be contemplated.

Q. 5—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K43 ♥J86 ♦K107 ♣10964
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♥ Pass 1 NT Pass
2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Three hearts. Take a great big demerit for a pass. Partner had more hearts than spades, otherwise he would have bid spades first. Furthermore, he must have a fine hand since you are forced to show a heart preference at the three level. Therefore, your bid shows no very great values.

Q. 6—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠10975 ♥105 ♦AQ5 ♣953
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 ♥ Dble. 1 ♥ ?
What do you bid?
A.—One spade. With eight points you have distinctly enough to offer a free bid even tho your suit is very shabby. If you don't take action immediately it may be difficult to make up for it later and an opportunity to score might be missed.

Q. 7—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K♥A1097 ♦A96 ♣AKQ107
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1 ♣ Pass 1 ♥ Pass
2 ♥ Pass 3 ♥ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—Four diamonds. A slam try is in order at this point but, it should be made before the game level in the form of a cue bid. If partner returns to four hearts your duties will have been discharged.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠2 ♥KJ4 ♦AKJ10832 ♣86
The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 ♣ Pass 2 ♦ Pass
2 ♣ Pass ?
What do you bid now?
A.—We recommend the slightly fancy bid of three hearts at this point. It may induce partner to bid three no trump if he has clubs unprotected and, if worse comes to worse and he takes hearts, we can always go back to diamonds which was our alternative contract anyway.

WE'RE GOING TO VOTE AGAINST HOSPITAL BONDS IN TOMORROW'S REFERENDUM!

Not because we're opposed to a new hospital or a medical school for ECU—but because we object to the unfair method of paying off the bonds that has been selected

BELOW IS REPRINTED AN EDITORIAL FROM THE AYDEN NEWS-LEADER, THURSDAY OCT. 29, AND IS USED BY PERMISSION OF THE EDITOR:

On a more local level, Pitt County voters next Tuesday will be voting on a Bond Referendum for a new hospital. We have already cautioned citizens not to make up their minds on this issue until they have had a chance to evaluate the publicity put out by the "Bonds for your Life" committee. We have had an opportunity to think carefully on the issues involved in this referendum, and have come to the reluctant conclusion that an additional $9,000,000 county indebtedness is too big a price to pay for the benefits derived from a new hospital.

We reject the proposition that there is no alternative. When you want something you can't afford, there is always an alternative to buying it. We take exception to the slogan that "Your family's life depends on your Yes Vote". We resent the insinuation that unless we vote yes, we do not have the well-being of our families at heart. Such tactics as this are crude and mis-leading, and border on dishonesty.

We believe, sincerely, that one of the main reasons that the "Citizens Committee for the New Hospital" want the bonds passed is that it will no doubt hasten the day when ECU gets legislative approval for a complete medical school. Since the cost to the state will be greatly lessened by the fact that laboratory and research facilities, as well as training facilities, will be included in the new hospital, legislators opposed to the new medical school will have one less leg to stand on.

We want ECU to have a complete medical school, but it is a state supported university, and the state should bear the expense of any facilities connected with the new school. Pitt County citizens are no more obligated to provide facilities than any other county in the state.

If defeat of the bond means a year or two delay in the new medical school, that is infinitely better, in my opinion, than twenty years of additional bonded indebtedness for the citizens of Pitt County.

But this is a side issue as far as we are concerned, and not sufficient in itself, to call for the defeat of the bonds.

The main issue is and has been — can the average income family of Pitt County, already woefully over taxed, afford a 20 percent increase in his ad valorem taxes? We are afraid that he can't. We don't believe that he should be called on to build a new hospital. He is hardly getting by now.

And how about those families now who are striving to improve their economic positions. Right now, the bonds wouldn't cost them very much because taxes without real estate will not amount to much. But, there are many people renting homes now who will be buying homes long before the bonds are retired and they will be charged a much higher tax when the day comes that they move into their new home.

A new hospital would be nice. The county could certainly use it. I could use a 36 ft. cabin cruiser, but I can't afford it. The payments would put me in a most unenviable financial position. So it is with the new hospital. The payments are more than we can afford. Think about it!

VOTE AGAINST MORE BONDED INDEBTEDNESS FOR PITT COUNTY IN TOMORROW'S ELECTION

This ad paid for by committee for Fair Taxation, Bonnie Doak, Sec'y, Box 516, Ayden, N.C.

Why are we opposed to more bonded indebtedness for Pitt County citizens?

● In the last 18 months, we have additional soft drink taxes, tobacco taxes, gas taxes, social security taxes, bond taxes for Pitt County schools, etc.

● We know that property will be revolved by Pitt County next year and taxes will be going up without the bonds.

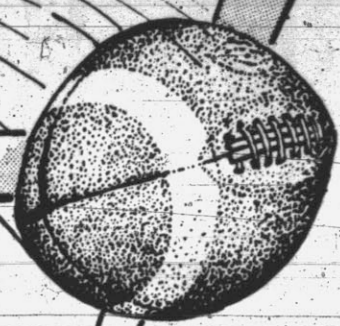

● We know that an additional sales tax will be proposed in a referendum next year, further driving up the cost of living in Pitt County.

● We know that if the state approves a medical school for ECU they (the state) will pay for it, and Pitt County will not have to.

● We know that there are more equitable ways of financing the new hospital.

Maybe the doctors and wealthy people of Pitt County can afford more taxes—but we the poor can't!

British Honduras Building Own Futuristic Capital

By KATE V. SCOTT
BELIZE, British Honduras (UPI)—A futuristic capital city with an ancient name has been hacked from the jungle in the last British colony on the Latin American mainland.

Premier George Price and hundreds of civil servants already have moved to Belmopan, in the geographical center of British Honduras. By the end of the year, the new city's population is expected to reach 5,000.

The colonial government is committed to almost doubling its initial $14 million investment by 1980. Population is then targeted for 30,000.

The new capital was named for the Mopan Indians, Mayan rulers of the area in pre-Columbian times. It is 50 miles inland from Belize, former seaport capital of this narrow Vermont-sized territory along the Caribbean coast of Mexico's Yucatan peninsula.

Geographical Reasons
The British and colonial governments have pledged independence for the colony's 110,000 residents, who are about 70 per cent Negro. Officials here say the date depends on an end to territorial claims by neighboring Guatemala and defense guarantees by Britain. Neither has been forthcoming.

The idea to move the capital from the low-lying coast originated in 1961, when Hurricane Hattie ripped into Belize. Eighty-five per cent of the city was destroyed and 262 persons killed.

Full-scale construction started in 1965. Some local politicians oppose Belmopan on financial grounds. Their arguments are similar to those of Brazilian leaders in the last decade, who complained their nation's new capital, Brasilia, was too expensive.

Philip S. Goldson, leader of the National Independence party, said "the new capital will greatly increase the cost of administering the country without promoting a parallel increase in development of the country."

Added People's Development Movement leader Dean Lindo: "I see no justification for it."

Also concerned are the 40,000 residents of Belize. They fear their city will shrivel in importance once Belmopan is completed.

New Residents Happy
To calm their anxiety, the colonial government said recently that Belize "will not disappear. On the contrary, it has been made clear that advantage will be taken of the opportunity which the new capital will provide for tidying up the old capita, carrying out badly needed redevelopment and selective reclamation projects."

Morale at Belmopan is high. Junior civil servants are delighted with their modern masonry homes, larger and better equipped than the ones they had in Belize. Senior civil servants have less spacious homes than in the old capital but few are grumbling.

The 450-acre city is at the juncture of the colony's major north-south and east-west highways. Farmers are using the roads to make Belmopan a prime market for their produce.

The new capital is imaginatively laid out. It has wide, well-paved streets, handsome plazas and open parkland. Schools opened for the first time this semester. The new legislative assembly building is nearing completion on a gently rolling hill dominating the region.

The major religious groups of the colony are financing construction of an ecumenical church. The next important project will be a civil center, which will be constructed under a $100,000 grant from Britain.

The government is negotiating with private investors for a shopping center.

Going Home For Election

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott will go home to Haw River Tuesday to vote in the General Election.

Scott has two events on his official schedule Wednesday. At 10:30 a.m. he will attend the ribbon-cutting for a new geology building at the Durham Children's Museum.

As 12:45 p.m. the same day, he will attend a luncheon and annual meeting of members and directors of the Research Triangle Park.

The governor will be in Winston-Salem at 6:30 p.m. Thursday to speak at the annual banquet of the North Carolina Association of Colleges and Universities at the Robert E. Lee Hotel.

Scott will speak again at noon Friday to a meeting of the North Carolina Water Safety Committee at Ballentine's Restaurant in Raleigh.

Watchdog Of 'Gap' Is Dead

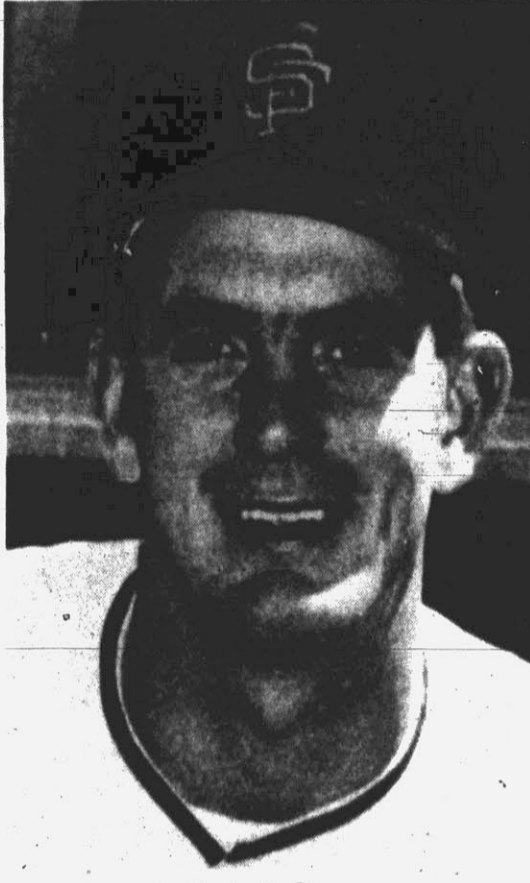

SYDNEY (AP) — Rexie, the "watchdog of the Gap," is dead. The Gap, a high sheer ocean cliff near the entrance to Sydney Harbor, is the city's most famous suicide spot.

Rexie, who lived nearby, had an uncanny knack of picking people who arrived at the Gap intending to make the big leap. He would bark furiously to attract help. Rexie was a German shepherd, aged 13 years.

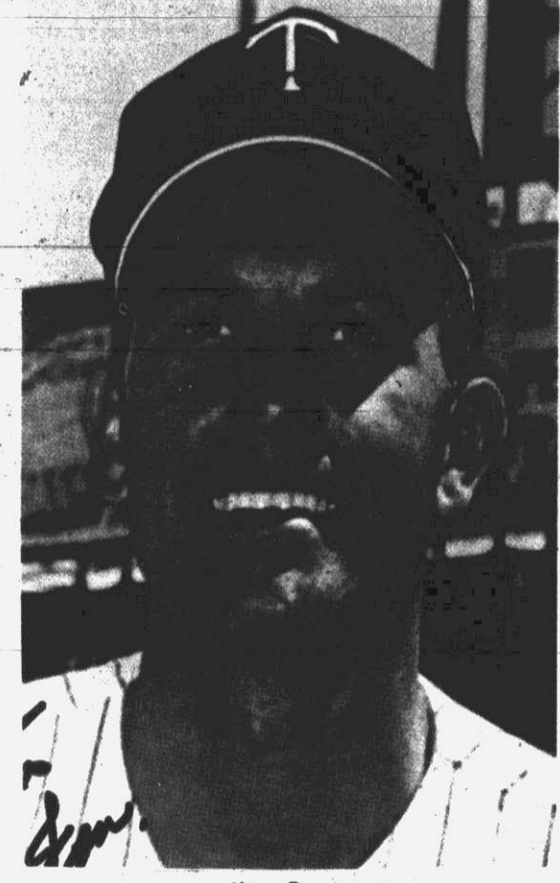

MARRIAGE RING
BEAVER DAM, Ky. (AP) — The operator of a restaurant recently posted this thought-provoker: "Marriage has a ring to it—engagement ring, wedding ring and suffering."

ORPHANS FIND A HOME — Grandeza and Boneca, orphaned two-year-old West African apes, have found a new home at the Audubon Park Zoo in New Orleans. They finished a quarantine check Saturday. The apes are the courtesy of Rodney Fertel, who lost the New Orleans mayor's race last year but fulfilled his one campaign promise — to obtain gorillas for the zoo. (AP Wirephoto)

WE CAN'T VOTE YES YOU CAN—NOVEMBER 3

We wish to express our eternal gratitude to the staff of Pitt County Memorial Hospital. If a room, a proficient staff and a specialist had not been available for our Dad's specialized surgery in June of this year a far greater expense would have been involved.

Ambulance service to Durham or Chapel Hill was not necessary.

More expensive room rates at these hospitals was avoidable. The expense of motel rooms and restaurants when we visited Dad was not a part of our cost as it would have been elsewhere.

Dad felt more comfortable and his morale was higher being close to home and near where his relatives and friends could visit.

We wish we could VOTE YES - NOV. 3 to insure ourselves and our loved ones the availability of the services our Dad received at Pitt Memorial Hospital when we need them.

However we live in Martin County. YOU in Pitt County have the opportunity to VOTE YES for this vital need.

Consider yourselves fortunate to be living in a progressive forward looking county where you can insure and protect yourselves and your loved ones by voting YES on the Bond Referendum Nov. 3.

Sincerely,
Gaylord Perry
