Democrats Retain Control Of Congress And Score Big Gains In Governorships

DEMOCRATIC MAJORITY — Chart illustrates party balance in the U. S. Senate before and after Tuesday's election. Democrats retained a majority, but dropped to 53 seats, a loss of four, while Republicans picked up one seat, bringing the party total to 44. Only the Indiana race remained undecided. WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats won control of Congress Tuesday for the ninth consecutive election and wrested a majority of governorships from Republicans.

Although President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew declared the administration had done well in crucial Senate battles, the GOP gain of just a couple of seats was far short of the Republican goal.

The Democrats picked up a handful of seats to bolster their House margin, meanwhile, and scored a near sweep of the gubernatorial races.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien said that "The President and vice president would be hard put to call this anything but a Republican defeat."

The GOP, led by the stumping of Nixon and Agnew, had hoped to pick up seven seats to control the Senate.

But, with the Indiana race still undecided at mid-morning today, the GOP showed a net gain of only two. Agnew asserted, however, that aside from party labels the ideological balance favored the administration.

That remained to be seen. In Senate races where there was a clearcut liberal-conservative choice, the liberals won 2-1.

In the governors' contests, Republicans went into the voting with a 32-18 edge. And while they retained New York and California, they lost at least 12 other states to the Democrats, who gave up only two.

The Democratic gains included the governorships of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Republicans unseated Democrats in Connecticut and Tennessee.

The GOP's senatorial gains were led by Robert Taft Jr. in Ohio, Lowell P. Weicker Jr. in Connecticut, J. Glenn Beall Jr. in Maryland and William Brock in Tennessee.

The Democrats, meanwhile, unseated Republicans in Illinois, where Adlai Stevenson III tumbled Sen. Ralph T. Smith, and in California, where Kennedy-styled liberal John V. Tunney else," Jones commented. In concluding his remarks, the congressman stated, "Further I shall continue to dedicate my best efforts and the influence of my office to the total development of the First District.

"Again, I am grateful to each and every one for their overwhelming vote of confidence as expressed in yesterday's vote."

Final returns of the voting in Pitt County gave the incumbent Congressman 8,618 votes, with Republican opponent R. Frank Everett receiving 2,753 votes. Gene Leggett, candidate for the American Party, polled 260 votes. In Pitt County, Jones emerged with 74 percent of the votes cast.

First Snow

The first snow of the season arrived in western North Carolina this morning.

At Boone more than three inches had fallen and more was falling at midmorning with the temperature at 29 degrees. The snow followed an ice storm Tuesday night. Even Winston-Salem had flurries.

The Grandfather Mountain-Linville area reported about an inch early this morning and it is sticking.

SIGN SAYS IT

TAYLORSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The sign outside the Methodist Church speaks for itself. It reads: "Redemption Center."

The county totals showed a 6,190 to 5,341 vote margin in favor of the bond issue. Precinct 9, one of the later precincts to finish counting, provided a substantial margin of approval for the bond issue with an unofficial tabulation of 757 to 392. Farmville also voted heavily for the issue, going 850 to 527 in favor.

Dr. Joe Pou, chairman of the Citizens' Committee for the New Pitt County Hospital commented last night after the issue was settled. "It is a real compliment to the citizens of Pitt County that they recognized the urgent need for enlarged and improved hospital facilities..." in the county.

"I am most grateful to the nearly 1,000 volunteers who gave unselfishly of their time in getting the facts about the hospital needs to all of the voters," he said.

The chairman added, "This decision will not only benefit all of us now living from the standpoint of adequate hospital care but it will be a benefit to our children and grandchildren."

Officials had indicated prior to the election that if the issue was approved, work would begin immediately to draw up plans for a new county hospital on a new site.

Woodrow Wooten, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, said this morning, "We are elated that the people's decision is to build a new hospital. This is the biggest step in several years of work toward better health services for the county."

The board chairman noted that "Three things, at least, will be done today. I will begin the legal work to have those having potential sites for the hospital submit their prices. The North Carolina Medical Care Commission will be notified that the bond referendum outcome was in favor of the new hospital plan."

Wooten said that "We will also notify our architects, Freeman and White Associates and tell them we are anxious for them to begin plans immediately."

According to tabulations compiled by The Daily Reflector, again unofficial, Jones polled some 8,618 votes in the Congressional race while R. Frank Everett of Robersonville received 2,753 and American Party candidate Gene Leggett tallied 260.

Jones compiled his heaviest advantage in Farmville, his hometown, where voters gave him 1,267 votes compared to 114 for Everett and 13 for Leggett.

Farmville also provided a comfortable advantage for Sam D. Bundy who polled 1,304 there to 57 for Steinbeck in the House race. Steinbeck carried the Greenville 1 precinct by a 121 to 110 margin.

Overall, the county gave Bundy 8,556 votes to 2,442 for Steinbeck.

The unofficial returns were tabulated at The Daily Reflector last night on a Burroughs L2000 computer.

The bond issue was close until late in tabulations as 12 of the county's 26 precincts voted against the matter and the remaining 13 that approved the issue included some of the larger precincts.

N.C. Democrats Clasp Firmer Hold On The General Assembly

By REESE HART Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP) — Democrats withstood an unprecedented Republican campaign and clamped an even firmer hold than before on North Carolina's traditionally Democrat-dominated General Assembly in Tuesday's election.

Virtually complete returns today showed Democrats will dominate the 1971 General Assembly 43-7 in the Senate and 97-23 in the House, a net loss of 11 seats for the GOP.

The lineup in the last legislative session was 48-12 in the Senate and 91-29 in the House.

Republicans had put up more candidates than ever before and had coordinated their campaigns through state GOP headquarters in an effort to increase their General Assembly standing. The GOP candidates hammered steadily at the tax issue, charging that the Democratic majority in the 1969 session enacted unneeded levies.

The issue appeared to bear fruit in only a few areas, however.

It apparently was a major factor in a bitter battle which veteran Sen. Ralph Scott, D-Alamance, had to fight to retain his seat.

Scott, uncle of Gov. Bob Scott and a veteran of eight terms in the Senate, won by a scant 14 votes over Republican Hubert G. Lowe of Alamance.

Republicans went all out in an effort to defeat Scott, a dairyman who headed the Senate Finance Committee in the 1969 session.

Complete, unofficial returns from the 17th Senate District of Alamance gave Scott 7,588 votes to Lowe's 7,574. State American Party Chairman Walter Green of Burlington ran a poor third.

Negroes will fill two of the 120 House seats. Democratic Rep. Henry Frye, who served in 1969, led the Guilford County legislative ticket for six seats. The other Negro House member will be Joy J. Johnston, Democrat of Robeson, who was unopposed.

James Ross, Negro Democrat in Mecklenburg, lost out in his bid for a House seat.

Democrats picked up one seat in Forsyth County, where Republicans held the five seats in the 1969 session. Democrat E. Lawrence Davis won election along with Republican Reps. Howard Jemison, Ed McKnight and C. Dempsey McDaniel and Republican newcomer Fred C. Farmer.

A former senator, Democrat L. P. McLendon Jr., lost out in his bid to regain a Senate seat in Guilford. The winners there were Democratic Sens. Hargrove Bowles and Elton Edwards and Republican Sen. Coolidge Murrow.

Republicans retained their two Senate seats in Forsyth. Sen. Harry Bagnal was elected along with Hamilton Horton, who served in the House last session. Horton led the ticket.

The only woman member of the 1969 legislature, Rep. Nancy Chase, D-Wayne, easily won reelection to one of the two House seats in her district of Wayne. The other was won by Democrat W. P. Kemp Jr.

Two Democratic newcomers, George W. Miller Jr. and Willis P. Whichard Jr., captured House seats from Durham.

Another newcomer, Bob Wynne, led the ticket as four Democrats won House seats in Wake County. The others were Rep. Sam Johnson, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee in 1969; Rep. Howard Twigg and Robert L. Farmer.

$73.04 Season

Greenville's tobacco market closed yesterday after what was described as the most successful season in its 80 year history. From opening day until the final sale yesterday, 52,866,187 pounds of tobacco sold for a total of $38,606,741, for a season average of $73.04, per hundred pounds.

This figure is an increase of $6,892,786 over last year's total sale of $31,713,955, paid for 43,843,064 pounds sold on the market for the 1969 season. Last year's average was $72.34 per hundred pounds, seventy cents per hundred lower than this year's average price.

J. N. Bryan, sales supervisor for the Greenville Tobacco Market commented that the tobacco industry — the companies, warehousemen and the farmers — have all cooperated to make this, his first season as sales supervisor, a very pleasant one.

Jumped Coach, Slashed Him

MOUNT HOLLY, N. C. (AP) — The football coach of the high school in this Gaston County town was cut about the face and a shoulder by a pupil in the hallway of the school this morning.

The coach, Delmer Wiles, 44, was taken to Charlotte Memorial Hospital for treatment. He was in satisfactory condition.

Witnesses said three pupils jumped Wiles and that one whipped out a knife and slashed him with it. One boy is in custody.

Dec. 1 Hearing Date Set On Closing Of Four High Schools

By BLANCHE HARDEE Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday set Dec. 1 as the date for a hearing on the closing of the four high schools in the D. H. Conley area.

The hearing, scheduled for 4 p.m., will also include the reorganization of the elementary schools in the area. The hearing will be held in conjunction with the board's regular monthly meeting.

A hearing is required by law before the discontinuance or consolidation of high schools.

A county board of education must hold a public hearing, conduct a thorough study with the state board of education on the discontinuance or consolidation plan before approving same, and must have the plan formally approved by the state board of education.

D. H. Conley High School should be ready for occupancy by Jan. 1, 1971.

Board members again adopted a resolution relative to establishing a new access road from Secondary Road 1200 to the new Farmville High School.

A resolution for the access road, which will be about one-half mile in length, was approved by board of education members several months ago when board member Robert Pierce brought the matter before the board.

The resolution will be sent to the Pitt County Board of Commissioners.

The board members agreed to accept a vocational rehabilitation counselor's position that has been made available to the local board by the state.

The counselor will work half days at the present time and will work with students at North Pitt High School.

The counselor's duties will be to work with students who have physical, mental or emotional handicaps that make it difficult for them to be placed in jobs after graduation. The counselor will also provide vocational training for these students and help them seek employment after graduation.

The Trainable School budget for 1970-71 was approved by board members.

The budget, totaling $32,400, serves 48 students at two centers.

One center located at Grifton serves students in the Grifton, Ayden, Winterville and Grimesland area, while a center at Belvoir serves students living in Farmville, Fountain, Belvoir, Stokes and Pactolus.

Sam D. Bundy, who is retiring as principal of the Sam D. Bundy School in Farmville at Thanksgiving, was presented a Certificate of Merit at the board meeting yesterday. Mrs. Bundy was on hand for the occasion.

In presenting the certificate to Bundy, board chairman T. G. Worthington stated, "We appreciate very much your services with the school system... and hope there will be many years of service for you in other avenues."

"On behalf of the Pitt County Board of Education and the people of Pitt County, we present this certificate of merit to you for your services," Worthington said.

Bundy has been in the teaching profession for 42 years. The school calendar through Jan. 1, 1971, was also approved yesterday.

All Pitt County students will have two days off for Thanksgiving (Nov. 26-27).

The students at North Pitt High School will have one week for Christmas holidays while the D. H. Conley High School, feeder schools and the North Pitt feeder schools will be given two weeks for the observance. The two-week holiday for D. H. Conley will be used to make the change from the four high schools to the new school.

The Ayden-Grifton and Farmville High Schools plus the feeder schools will be given a one-week holiday. A week will be saved for the change from the present high schools to the new ones.

With the present school calendar and good weather during the winter months, the North Pitt High School should complete the school year on June 4 while students at Conley and the North Pitt feeder schools will end the school year on June 7. The school year for students in the Ayden-Grifton and Farmville areas should conclude on June 11.

The board members yesterday voted to make air conditioning in the four new high schools and bleachers for Ayden-Grifton and Farmville High Schools as top priorities in the school year 1970-71.

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In your answer to "UNCERTAIN" regarding euthanasia (mercy killing) for her elderly, bedridden mother, I think you have given the perfect answer as to why so many of us Catholics and non-Catholics alike oppose the liberalization or repeal of our anti-abortion statutes.

You said, "Giving a person the 'legal right' to terminate the life of another under some circumstances may be 'humane,' but because that right could be abused for selfish gain, society must be protected against it."

Truer words were never spoken. Thank you so much.
PHYSICIAN IN TUCSON

DEAR PHYSICIAN: I am not deserving of your thanks since I hold the view that no woman should be forced by law to bear a child she does not want. Preventing an unwanted child from being born is not, in my opinion, the same as killing a living person.

DEAR ABBY: Here is my answer to the lady who wants to put her helpless, bedridden mother to sleep, "mercifully." A story is told about a grandfather, a father and son. The son was 12. The father grew tired caring for his elderly, ailing father who had become completely helpless. One day on the road to the river, the son met his father carrying the sick old grandfather in a large basket—the kind used to haul pigs to market.

"You see," the father explained to his son, "Grandfather is completely helpless, so I am going to lower him into the river in this basket."

The son was dumbfounded, but thinking quickly, he said, "But you are going to save the basket, aren't you? Someday I will need it for you."

DEAR ABBY: I agree with your implication that the woman who wanted to put her elderly, bedridden mother out of her misery could be suspected of thinking mostly of herself. However, I wish you'd have gone further into your reply.

Today, it is illegal to terminate human life for humane reasons, and if legalized, it could be abused. But it could be legalized with careful safeguards, such as having the decision made by not only doctors and the family, but lawyers, clergymen and the patient himself. If all agree that the patient's life from then on would be painful and less and less worth living, and if the patient wants to die, he ought to be granted this boon.

We consider it cruel not to put an incurable, suffering animal out of his misery. Why should we not do as much for humans? For years The Society For Euthanasia has been trying to legalize "mercy killing." And I have every confidence that one day they will succeed.

ALL FOR THEM IN BERKELEY

DEAR ABBY: My heart went out to that mother who is lying sick and helpless in her old age, with a daughter who thinks it would be better to put her mother out of her misery.

I would like to say to that daughter, "Daughter, love your mother and keep her warm and clean, and hold her close to your heart in her last days just as she did to you in your first days."

Feel Women's Place Is To Please Men

PARIS (WNS) — Women's Liberation? Frenchwomen have not yet marched on the Champs Elysees nor burned their bras at the Eiffel Tower. Instead, they have just opened their own restaurant, La Cannelle, where men may dine only if accompanied by a lady. Women do all the cooking, serving and profit-sharing. "And it is no longer the man who pays," noted Monique Montaigne, the public-relations expert. "In Paris we shall win our battle by pleasing the males, not by antagonizing them."

A Better Picture Of A Report

It is good to learn that the Carnegie Commission on Higher Education's study of national health education needs recognizes the fact that a medical school program is being established at East Carolina University.

The report, released at a California convention of medical administrators last week, acknowledged that the ECU has an "existing or developing" medical school.

Earlier reports on the study did not show that ECU's developing medical school was included in the commission's thinking.

The study had proposed three new "health education centers" in North Carolina to be located at Wilmington, Charlotte and Asheville. These centers would provide education and medical services but would not deal heavily in medical research.

The Carnegie Commission has carried out a comprehensive study of the nation's health needs and we could not argue with their recommendation for regional medical care centers in Charlotte, Asheville and Wilmington. We could not possibly understand, however, how any study involving health care needs and medical education could leave a huge area from Chapel Hill to Hatteras and from Wilmington all the way to Norfolk without a regional center.

Now that we have learned that the commission was recognizing the development of a medical education center at ECU, the entire report as it pertains to North Carolina seems far more logical.

North Carolina is more aware of the medical education crisis than some other states. Already our Legislature has voted funds for the expansion of the medical school at Chapel Hill. State grants have also begun to our valuable private medical school, Duke and Bowman Gray. The Legislature has approved funds for development of a two year medical school at ECU and it seems likely that this school will become a reality.

Development of medical education and regional medical centers in North Carolina is following a very logical course in our state. We believe that the development of the two year program at ECU will fit in very well with what is being done throughout the state in the medical field.

Offers Great Help In Immunizing Children

The "Rubella Sunday," being planned for Dec. 13, should be a great help in making certain that every child is immunized against German Measles.

The clinics to be set up that day are aimed at immunizing children between the ages of one and 12 years old. The project is being sponsored by the Medical and Dental Society with the N. C., and Pitt Health Departments cooperating along with the United Health Services of North Carolina, Inc.

The danger of Rubella comes with women who are exposed during the first three months of pregnancy.

Parents should plan now to make certain that their children visit the clinics on Rubella Sunday.

New Plan For Middle East

By ROWLANE EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK WASHINGTON — Despite strong and growing pressures from Israel on the United States to accept present cease-fire lines in the Middle East more or less indefinitely, President Nixon is now plotting a precisely opposite diplomatic course designed to force Israeli withdrawal from most of the occupied Arab land.

But the new Nixon plan has one dramatic difference from last summer's peace proposal, which was shattered beyond recall by Egyptian and Soviet missile violations along the Suez Canal.

That earlier plan, devised by Secretary of State William P. Rogers, was strictly a U.S. operation in response to a specific Egyptian request from the late President Nasser. The new plan, the President has decreed, must be a joint Washington - Moscow operation, worked out every step of the way with the Soviet Union and — when the time is ripe — pushed jointly by the Americans and the Russians.

The transcendent reason for this Presidential decision goes back to the dangerous events of mid-September at the height of the civil war in the Jordan when, in the words of one Presidential intimate, "war of peace hung by the thinnest of threads."

Although Mr. Nixon's diplomatic experts have been publicly reticent about the terrifying days of Sept. 20 to Sept. 23, they now reconstruct the potential disaster of that period as follows:

With Syrian tanks pouring across the Jordanian border, Israel was poised to carry out a self-defensive air strike against the tanks.

The precise timing of that Israeli air action depended on the progress of the Syrian tank force. With or without U.S. consent, however, Israel was primed to attack at any cost to prevent Syrian intervention from toppling Jordan's King Hussein.

But even more perilous, U.S. officials are convinced that Israel would have launched at precisely the same time an air attack against the Soviet anti-aircraft missiles emplaced along the west bank of the Suez Canal during the cease-fire.

That would probably have brought direct Soviet air intervention against the Israelis — an unacceptable intervention that could well have sucked the U.S. into a new Middle Eastern war with explosive potential.

As it happened, the Syrian tanks did withdraw on Sept. 23—but only hours before the flash-point of Israeli intervention.

That grim sequence, more than any event since the 1967 six-day war, convinced President Nixon of the necessity of joint U.S.-Soviet action in the Middle East — to guard against an Israeli - Arab clash suddenly erupting into a direct, big-power conflict.

Before any joint peace plan can be undertaken, the fruitless debate now going on in the UN General Assembly must run its course. No matter what anti-Israeli resolution is finally passed by the General Assembly, over U.S. protests, the Nixon administration will regard it as a pro-Arab political expedient counting for nothing.

Far more important is the task of convincing Israel that the vast new armaments now being made available from the U.S., including F-4 Phantoms and late-model tanks, have in effect restored the military balance along the Suez Canal. Israel Prime Minister Golda Meir has not budged, even in private talks here, from her demand for complete withdrawal of all the Soviet missiles placed along the canal during the cease-fire, but U.S. officials regard that as a bargaining, not a realistic, position.

Furthermore, they don't think the new and untested Egyptian government will agree to even a token pullback of missiles.

Thus, once the UN debate ends, the President will begin building up powerful pressures on the Israeli government to start serious talks looking toward Israel withdrawal from the occupied Arab lands and a political solution. But this time there will be a fundamental difference: the Russians will be invited in on every significant U.S. move.

Strength For Today

WHERE CAN WE HELP?

For 100 years after the Jews returned to Jerusalem from their exile in Babylon, they made no attempt to rebuild the walls of the city. This meant that they had to endure the assault of marauding tribes, to have their homes ravaged, and their goods carried away. They had come to have a hopeless attitude toward the whole thing. There was nothing, they reasoned, that could be done about it.

Then suddenly, Nehemiah, envoy of the king of Babylon, arrived in the city and immediately declared that its unprotected condition was intolerable. "Let us get together and rebuild these walls," he said. "There is nothing particularly difficult about it if we will organize our efforts and be diligent." He directed that every man was to build that portion of the wall which was opposite his house, and the result was that a task which had been evaded for 100 years was accomplished in 52 days. The secret was that the work was organized. Each man "built over against his house." How can you and I help the great causes of humanity? By building over against our own house—that is, by serving humanity which is at hand. This does not mean that our helpful efforts should not extend beyond our immediate neighborhood. But it does mean that if we start to do good to those who are near at hand, we shall find ourselves doing good to those who are at the ends of the earth.

A Vacation For Voters

WASHINGTON — Political campaigns are a very exhausting business, not only for the candidates who run for office, but also for the voters who have to listen to them speak.

Most political candidates, winners as well as losers, take off a week or two to rest up from their physically grueling experience. And they're probably entitled to it.

But what about the person who has been bombarded day and night for the past two months with political commercials, newspaper advertisements, speeches, charges, countercharges, fund appeals, rallies, rhetoric, hyperbole, slogans and dirty pool? No one thinks of him after the election. He is just supposed to pick up where he left off as if nothing happened.

Well, I'm happy to announce that for the first time in an election year the voter's welfare is being taken into consideration by somebody.

By the powers vested in me as an American citizen, I am giving all those exposed to the 1970 political campaign a week's vacation.

During that week, no one has to read any political story, watch any elected official or loser on television or discuss with anyone the great political issues that are tearing at the very fabric of our society.

This means that you do not have to watch President Nixon, Vice President Agnew, Democratic Chairman Lawrence O'Brien, Sen. William Fulbright or Hubert Humphrey on television for seven days. You can still watch Martha Mitchell if you want to, because most doctors believe that five minutes of seeing Mrs. Mitchell on television is worth a week of sun in the Virgin Islands.

You do not have to read any of the political pundits who will explain what happened on election day, nor will you have to study the in-depth analyses by the pollsters as to why the Jewish people voted the way they did in New York, the Italians in Chicago, the Mexicans in Los Angeles, the blacks in Birmingham, Ala., and the WASPS in Grosse Pointe, Mich.

You can forget about the cover stories in Time, Newsweek and U.S. News and World Report, and you can tune out any radio program that starts "A recount was demanded in . . ."

For one week you can fish, swim, ski, play golf, read a good fiction book, listen to music and go see an X-rated movie and forget anything that was said during the past two months in the political campaigns. You might as well because the politicians elected to public office are certainly going to forget it as soon as they come back from

Other Editors Say A Tenacious Man

(Asheville Citizens Times) We weren't going to say anything about Dr. Leo Jenkins' latest attempt at empire building at East Carolina University, which he heads as president.

Leo is, after all, an uncommon breed and the territory he prowls is somewhat out of our district.

But it still disturbs us that Dr. Jenkins continues to push the establishment of a medical school at East Carolina, which defies all rules of logic.

Not that the eastern part of the state doesn't need more doctors; all parts do. But can a facility at Greenville supply them?

Jenkins does not propose, of course, an immediate miracle; he plans to ask the Legislature for about $10.7 million to build a two-year medical school at ECU with the inference that "graduates" of the facility will be admitted to Duke, UNC, and Wake Forest.

The inference is faulty. There is no assurance from any of the senior medical schools that ECU trainees will be accepted.

Chapel Hill, for example, has two to six vacancies a year; the same is presumably true at Duke and Bowman Gray.

This is a scheme, as the politicians say, "to get a foot in." Leo Jenkins envisions a new medical school at East Carolina that will cost the state taxpayers an eventual $100 million or more.

We are opposed. We don't suggest that a new school should be located in the West and we concede a certain admiration for the temerity of Dr. Jenkins. But he is, in the words of the young, "way out, baby."

There will be, conceivably, a new medical school. It will be, predictably, at East Carolina. But we'll still be opposed.

Words That Weary

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that a panhandler gets tired of hearing: "I suppose if I give you a quarter you'll spend it all on caviar." "Here's a dime. That won't get you a meal, but it will buy enough bubble gum for you to fill up on." "Last week Roscoe was hobbling along on a crutch. This week he's wearing an eyepatch. If he ever came to Hollywood's attention, his acting would win an Oscar every year."

"Listen, bum, I'm working this side of the street. You'd better get over on the other side, or you'll get a broken arm."

"You get around a lot, Roscoe. If you hear of an empty apartment I can rent, I'll give you $25."

"I can't get on the bus unless I have the exact fare. If you'll break a $5 bill for me, I'll give you a nickel for your trouble."

"Roscoe would probably be a rich man by now except for the fact that most of the time he's too lazy even to hold his hand out."

"See here, you bum. You're driving away business from my store. I'll make a deal with you. I'll pay you a dollar a week to stand in front of my competitor's store."

"Is it very romantic being a street beggar?"

"What were you in before you took up this line of work-advertising?"

"I don't like to criticize another man's lifestyle, but as a public relations specialist it seems to me you'd be more successful if you projected a different image. You ought to wipe that shine off your shoes and get yourself some sunglasses, a tin cup and some pencils, and a skinny mongrel dog."

"Roscoe, you've been begging on this same corner for 25 years. Don't you think you ought to throw a silver anniversary party for some of us regular contributors?"

"It's against my principles to give money to a panhandler who has the hiccups."

"Here's 15 cents, Promise me you won't throw it all away on one girl."

Public Forum

(Letters submitted for the public forum must be limited to 300 words.)

To The Editor: Our ministers, laymen, and parents should watch what our children read and are interested in. "Do It Yourself" books on witchcraft should not be on their reading lists.

An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. The Daily Reflector was smart enough to carry five and a half line of warning on October 26: "Louisville, Ky. — In a downtown store, the books dealing with witchcraft are located in the section, 'How to do it.'"

Mother, how would you like to have a witch for a son or daughter? Ministers, how would you like to have your congregation sparked with witches and conjurers? Once the children learn it, they can perform it. This makes me sorry for the schoolteachers. We as a nation have enough trouble without going back to learn the tactics of Pharoah (Exodus 7(10-12), Saul (1 Samuel 28-7), Eath Baal (1 Kings 16:31), and Simon BeJesus (Acts 8:9-21). These and other Scripture show if we follow in the footsteps of these nation past, our consequence will be the same.

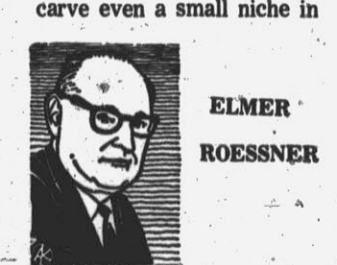

America, America, are we going to put down the Bible and learn witchcraft?

Passing The Buck To Nixon

By ELMER ROESSNER Regardless of results of the elections, Richard Milhous Nixon has his work cut out.

If he is to be re-elected President in 1972, if he is to carve even a small niche in history, these are the problems he must tackle and must solve a good percentage of them:

Inflation. The fiscal campaign so far has been an utter failure. Some actions have actually increased inflation. As will probably be reflected in the tallies late tonight, people are disturbed and angry. Many feel that they are being robbed with the connivance of the government — which they have been.

A new approach is essential. Perhaps the better answers lie in wage, price and credit freezes; in higher taxes; in new monetary controls or perhaps — perish the thought! — in devaluation of the dollar. But the public believes that something must be done or everybody will be bankrupt, as everybody in Germany was after World War I.

Solving the Insoluble Vietnam. Discontent is high. It's not lack of victory that bugs the average American as the indecisiveness of the conflict. As an old government propagandist, I can tell you that the best propaganda is victory. Next best is defeat. It was the way our future allies took defeats by Hitler that rallied Americans behind them. It was the Japanese victory at Pearl Harbor that put the nation solidly behind Roosevelt.

If we cannot win the Vietnam war, the best thing we can do to reunite American is to lose it. Think that over.

Strikes. If we are to get business back on the track, it is vital for the government to use its powers to end the General Motors strike and to prevent a steel strike next year. The GM strike is letting blood out of an anemic economy; it is cutting sales, closing plants and throwing a million persons out of work. A lengthy steel strike could bleed America even more.

Where Will We Sleep Tonight? Housing. Congress and the Nixon administration have taken a few steps to increase housing. But housing being erected—both privately and with government help is far less than required by the increase in family formation and replacement of flaking, rotting housing. Even if casualties are doubled in Indochina, even if the death rate in America is doubled by pollution of air, water and land, there still won't be enough sleeping space for the people unless they camp out in parks.

Does that overstate the situation? Yes. But not much. Interest. Since interest rates, artificially elevated by the government itself, have not cured but have swelled inflation, it is necessary for Mr. Nixon to face the problem of getting them down if business is to resume expansion and employment to grow.

Those are Gordian problems. If Mr. Nixon can cut them, he can win not a niche but a massive arch in American history.

Lowered Voting Age Rejected In Most Tests

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Proposals to lower the voting age were rejected in most of the 15 states where the question was on the ballot Tuesday. And while Texans voted to permit saloons to reopen, Kansans voiced a resounding "no."

There were at least 400 such special measures on the ballots in 45 states, and the other results—without the vote count complete—included these key ones:

—Massachusetts voters supported President Nixon's planned withdrawal from Vietnam over alternatives of immediate withdrawal or a drive for a military victory.

—Virginians, by a close vote, removed a ban on lotteries from their state constitution, opening up the way for possible horse racing and pari-mutuel betting.

But Arizona voters turned down a lottery proposition.

—Washington state voters approved a measure to legalize abortions performed by licensed physicians in accredited hospitals or other medical facilities.

—Marylanders approved a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayers in public schools. In Nebraska, a proposal to permit state aid to private and parochial schools was rejected. Michigan voters were approving a ban on paying salaries of parochial school teachers.

With the vote count incomplete it appeared that Maine and Nebraska approved of lowering the voting age from 21 to 20, Montana and Massachusetts to lower it to 19 and Alaska to drop it from 19 to 18.

But voters in Washington, Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, New Jersey and Minnesota apparently voted against lowering it to 19 and Connecticut, Florida, Michigan and Hawaii voted down proposals for an 18-year-old vote.

Despite recent voter resistance to new bond issues, several big ones were accepted, notably those tied to antipollution campaigns. The biggest was a $750-million bond issue overwhelmingly approved in Illinois for local sewage disposal systems.

And Florida voters agreed to increase the amount of money available to clean up sewage treatment by allowing the state to pledge its support to bond issues for construction of waste treatment facilities. Another measure approved in Florida guarantees that state-owned lands will be sold only in the public interest.

Rhode Island voters approved five bond issues and an environmental "bill of rights."

But Washington state voters rejected an antilittering measure—an initiative to require a five-cent deposit on bottles and beer cans.

One Of Lightest Sales Volumes

FARMVILLE — The volume of sales yesterday on the Farmville market was the lightest of the season, according to Louis Williams, sales supervisor for the Farmville market.

Offerings consisted of mostly smoking leaf and nondescript grades. Marketing of damaged tobacco was heavy as packhouses were being cleaned for final sales Williams said.

Grade for grade prices were steady with quality leaf bringing highest prices.

A total of 99,443 pounds of leaf was sold for $66,630, giving an average of $67.00 per hundred pounds.

based on the assumption that need is present when family income is below $10,000. At least 78 per cent of Tar Heel families are below that income level.

Testimony to the willingness to sacrifice for education is the fact that 32 per cent of North Carolina's colleges student come from families with annual incomes under $6,000.

Aid Vital In Future
"The need for financial aid in the future will increase more rapidly that enrollment," the report said.

"There are indications that little increase in the percentage of students who attend college from upper income families can be expected. Future enrollment increases will come primarily from families with lower income. Moreover, as costs continue to increase faster than state revenues or family income, many students not currently needing aid will become eligible for and require assistance.

"The availability of student financial aid — or its absence — will increasingly determine who does and does not attend college."

The size of the task ahead — assuming that education beyond high school is a worthy goal — is tremendous. For the nation as a whole in 1968, 50 per cent of the 18-21 year old population was in college. In the 15 Southern states, it was 38 per cent; in North Carolina, only 32 per cent.

The gain in tuition and fees for the current academic year varied widely for both private and public institutions, according to the Board of Higher Education survey.

On the public side, the steepest rise was 29.5 per cent at East Carolina University, Greenville. The range was downward to 5.7 per cent at the N. C. School of the Arts, Winston-Salem. However, its $645 total of tuition and fees is the highest among the public institutions.

Among private senior institutions, the largest increase was 25 per cent at Meredith College, Raleigh, where the total is $1,500. Several left their schedule of charges unchanged from the previous year.

Nixon Said 'Satisfied' With Result

By DON McLEOD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The campaign travels of President Nixon and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew stacked up rather poorly against election results Tuesday night, but they had three sparkling successes. The high points of election success measured against the President's unprecedented participation in an off-year election came in Tennessee and Connecticut where Republican candidates took both governorships and senate seats, and in New York where conservative James L. Buckley, the administration's choice, was elected to the Senate.

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon, who made a major investment of time and energy in the 1970 campaign, was described today as well satisfied with the outcome of balloting for Senate and House seats.

Having scaled down initial high hopes of several weeks ago, Nixon and his associates could claim a victory of sorts in the results, which closely paralleled the final and more modest pre-election predictions of presidential aides.

Asked to sum up White House views on the results, Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Tuesday night:

"We're pleased ... We have turned the trend of tradition." Ziegler referred to the off-year tradition that the party holding the White House normally loses 30 to 35 House seats and also surrenders strength in the Senate. This year, however, some observers had not anticipated GOP Senate losses because 25 Democratic seats were at stake compared with only 10 held by Republicans.

In one area, the White House clearly was disappointed. Herbert Klein, the administration's director of communications, acknowledged, "I think we can honestly say we would like to have done better ... in the governorships." The Democrats took over 12 state houses from the GOP.

Robert Finch, counselor to the President, said "there is no national trend out of" the election returns. But he said, "We have broken the historical mold."

Had Nixon not campaigned in 23 states, Finch said, "There would have been a far different result."

Klein also praised the campaign role of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, acknowledging that Agnew had drawn a lot of criticism. Klein said Nixon believed his vice president was very effective on the stump and had nothing but praise for his efforts.

CPL 'Needs' Rate Boost

RALEIGH (AP) — The president of Carolina Power & Light Co. says his firm needs a 10.5 per cent general rate hike to finance a huge construction program and recoup a drop in earnings.

Shearon Harris told the North Carolina Utilities Commission Tuesday the skyrocketing cost of coal is perhaps the most serious economic burden facing the company.

His testimony came as the commission opened a hearing on the firm's proposed rate boost.

"We are faced with an enormous construction program that will require vast sums of additional capital at a time when our earnings are dropping because of increased costs, particularly for capital and fuel," Harris said.

He added, "In my opinion, our earnings are too low to support the construction program of the magnitude before us."

Harris told the commission the cost of coal increased $14.9 million this year over 1969.

Pork Conference Slated Nov. 11

The annual East Carolina Pork Conference will be held Wednesday, Nov. 11, in the Wilson County Agricultural Center. The program will begin at 9 a.m. and should adjourn about 3 p.m.

This year's theme is "Efficiency." A number of specialists from N. C. State University and leaders in the pork industry will be on hand to discuss topics relating to this theme.

ANIMAL DIPLOMA

LONDON (AP) — The British Veterinary Association is awarding diplomas in pet shop management in an attempt to train pet shop owners in hygiene, nutrition, biology and current legislation.

IRS Expands Its Service

The Internal Revenue Service in Greensboro has expanded its services to North Carolina taxpayers. Effective Wednesday, a system of telephoning a central number has been initiated to answer inquiries by tax payers on matters relating to federal tax returns.

J. E. Wall, District Director of Internal Revenue Service, announced that the service, known as "Centiphone", has been put into operation on a test basis. He said if it provides benefits as expected, the program will be expanded on a nationwide basis.

Simply by dialing one number — 800-822-8800, a taxpayer can reach IRS any weekday during normal business hours to discuss any problem for which he needs assistance. Another feature of the service is that call is not billed as a long distance call, no matter from what part of North Carolina a person calls.

Wall explained that by concentrating phone service facilities and personnel at one location, IRS can give more effective and responsive attention to inquiries.

Convict Six Of Disorder

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Six of 13 black high school students were convicted Tuesday on charges resulting from unrest in the Vance County schools last week.

Negro spectators filled the 175 seats in the courtroom and another 150 to 200 congregated outside.

District Judge Linwood Peoples ordered the spectators without seats to disperse. The overflow crowd then marched to a nearby church for a rally and religious service.

Wilbert Hargrove, 16, was convicted of assaulting a white teacher at Henderson High School.

Prayer for judgment was continued for three years, provided Hargrove paid court costs and maintained good discipline and study habits.

Kenneth Williams, 17, and his brother James Burrell Williams, 18, were found guilty of disorderly conduct during a march in downtown Henderson. They were fined $25 and court costs.

Walter Henry Austin, 16, was convicted of three assaults on white students occurring over a three-day period at the school last week. Peoples delayed sentencing Austin.

success measured against the President's unprecedented participation in an off-year election came in Tennessee and Connecticut where Republican candidates took both governorships and senate seats, and in New York where conservative James L. Buckley, the administration's choice, was elected to the Senate.

Vice President Agnew, who in six weeks of travel spearheaded the administration's campaign efforts, visited all three states, and was the first to repudiate Sen. Charles Goodell, the Republican seeking re-election.

But in almost complete returns from Tuesday's voting, Republicans had won only ten top-ticket contests in the 37 states visited by either the President or vice president or both. Democrats had won 25 of the Senate or gubernatorial races in these states decided by midnight.

While Republicans had taken statehouses and Senate plums from the Democrats in two states, and a Senate seat in Maryland, Democrats had taken away one Republican Senate seat, in Illinois, and eight governorships in states where the administration chiefs had tried to help local candidates.

One of the biggest Nixon-Agnew disappointments was in Florida where both had campaigned extensively late in the campaign: Democrats ousted Republican Gov. Claude Kirk and thwarted a GOP bid for the Senate seat vacated by retiring Democrat Spessard Holland.

In Texas, where both had campaigned, the GOP failed in strong bids for governor and Senate posts.

In Minnesota, where Nixon campaigned, the GOP lost a governorship. The same for Nebraska ... which Nixon visited.

Both Nixon and Agnew visited New Mexico where a Democratic sweep shook the GOP from the governor's mansion. The Democrats also gained the statehouse in Ohio, where Nixon had appeared.

Agnew visited Pennsylvania twice and Nixon once, but the GOP lost control of the statehouse, although Senate Repu-can leader Hugh Scott won another term.

Democrats kept a Senate seat in North Dakota and captured the statehouse despite a campaign trip by Agnew, and the Democrats took the Wisconsin governorship from the GOP, at the same time incumbent Senate Democrat William Proxmire coasted to victory.

SMELLY HABITS

LONDON (AP) — Smelling, touching and even biting other people can be good for you, says a marriage guidance booklet. Author Nancy Holt now runs sensitivity training sessions where people lose their inhibitions by groping and sniffing about in groups. Mrs. Holt says this makes everyone nice to each other.

LINES EXTENDED

LONDON (AP) — When Dennis Clark parked his car in a side street there were no yellow parking restriction lines painted on the road. But he returned to find his car standing on a pair of yellow lines—and a parking fine stuck on the window. While Clark was away council workmen had extended the lines under his car.

N.C. Departments And Agencies Ask More Than Available

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's departments and agencies are asking for a total of more than $3.6 billion in their budget proposals for the 1971-73 biennium.

The appropriation requests presented to Gov. Bob Scott and the Advisory Budget Commission compare with about $2.5 billion in state funds appropriated by the 1969 General Assembly for the current biennium.

The total requests were announced Tuesday by Dr. William Turner, director of the state Department of Administration.

Turner said, "It is obvious that funds available for conducting governmental operations will not be nearly sufficient to provide for the requested services and constructions."

He said that the governor and the Advisory Budget Commission, in making their recommendations to the 1971 General Assembly, "are faced with the task of considering the relative priority of the request submitted and recommending those which will be able to be provided from the total anticipated funds available for appropriation."

Turner pointed out that under the Executive Budget Act, the governor and advisory budget commission must recommend a "balanced" budget to the legislature.

Gov. Scott earlier in the year warned state agencies to tighten their budget requests. He said the state's credit balance—funds on hand above legislative projections—may fall to $100 million or lower by the start of a new biennium, July 1, 1971.

During the current biennium the state is operating on a total budget of about $3.59 billion. However, about $671 million of this is federal funds. Other receipts, such as university student tuitions and mental hospital patient payments, make up the rest.

The budget requests submitted by agencies and institutions total more than $3.3 billion for continued operations and new and expanded services and $399 million for capital improvements.

Highway fund requests were $650 million for the continuation budget; $4.7 million for new and expanded services; and $7.7 million for capital improvements.

'Gambler' Gets Narcotics Term

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Fayetteville man who describes himself as a professional gambler has been sentenced to five years in prison for possession and transportation of narcotics.

Winfred "Wimpy" Cole, was convicted Tuesday in Cumberland County Superior Court on separate charges of possession and transportation and a five-year term for each charge.

Judge Henry A. McKinnon Jr. ordered Cole to serve the terms concurrently.

Cole was arrested July 17 by a special narcotics squad which stopped his car on a Fayetteville street and discovered a quantity of heroin cut with quinine.

The Nit-Picker

Raymond Horton is a perfectionist. And rightly so. It's his job, and that of his fellow Meter Technicians, to keep every one of Vepeco's 1,114,000 electric meters running with Swiss watch accuracy.

Almost eighty thousand meters go through the Vepeco shop each year. Of these, 99.5% prove accurate. (If a meter is inaccurate, incidentally, the odds are almost 3 to 1 that it's running in the customer's favor—slow rather than fast.)

But Raymond Horton is here to make certain that no Vepeco customer is charged with a single unused kilowatt hour. That's why he's a nit-picker.

Jane Fonda Faces Judge Today On Assault Count

CHAPEL HILL (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda will speak on "sexual revolution" Friday at a class on political issues at the University of North Carolina.

Miss Fonda is active in antiwar and female liberation movements. Later Friday she is scheduled to visit Fayetteville, where she led an antiwar rally at Ft. Bragg last spring.

By STEPHEN H. MILLER Associated Press Writer CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) —

Actress Jane Fonda faces a judge today on a charge of assaulting a policeman during a hassle over her arrest on a charge of pill smuggling. Due next Monday is a preliminary hearing on a federal charge of fraudulently bringing stimulants and tranquilizers into the United States from Canada and assaulting Edward P. Matuszak, a customs agent.

Once Paid Tax In Shaggy Rugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some 300 years ago Scandinavians were permitted to pay their taxes with shaggy rya rugs. But past isn't prologue in this case. Not even the rugs remain the same. Contemporary shag rugs are made of nylon, which wasn't even invented way back then, says Karastan, a rug maker.

The lively scene at Hopkins International Airport began when Miss Fonda, 32-year-old wife of French film director Roger Vadim, was detained Tuesday after a flight from London, Ont.

The pill charge was based on a "small quantity" of prescription Dexedrine, Compazine and Valium pills found in Miss Fonda's handbag, her attorneys said.

But Asst. U.S. Atty. Edward Molnar said 105 vials containing some 2,000 other capsules were found in a suitcase and were being analyzed.

"I am not a smuggler," Miss Fonda, daughter of actor Henry Fonda, said in a police station news conference. She complained she had been held incommunicado at the airport for three hours and "pushed" Matuszak only after he blocked her way to a telephone and a restroom.

"She attempted to strike him several times, with some obscene mixed in," Molnar said. Police patrolman Robert Pieper said the actress kicked him in the thigh when he went to Matuszak's aid.

Miss Fonda has been active in protests against U.S. policy in Vietnam and in behalf of GI rights, American Indian claims, civil rights and the Black Panthers.

She said she had been harassed each time she re-entered the United States since becoming an activist.

Miss Fonda appeared before U.S. Commissioner Clifford Bruce on the federal charge.

Her hands in her coat pockets, she told Bruce she had no U.S. residence "fortunately," and when Bruce insisted that she must have some domestic residence, she asked, "Why?"

"I left the United States six years ago because I just wanted to see what it was like to live in Europe and because I wasn't too happy here," she told newsmen later.

By NOEL YANCEY Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP) — Despite assists from President Nixon and Vice-President Spiro Agnew North Carolina Republicans failed Tuesday in their determined drive to capture more of North Carolina's congressional seats.

Returns from the bitterest congressional campaign in recent state history produced no upsets. All 11 incumbents won, and the lineup of 7 Democrats and 4 Republicans was unchanged.

In their drive to capture more of the North Carolina districts the Republicans brought President Nixon into Asheville, but veteran Democrat Roy A. Taylor won handily over the Republicans' Luke Atkinson.

The vice-president was brought to Raleigh in the 4th District where Democratic Rep. Nick Galifianakis was under a strong attack by Republican Jack Hawke. But Galifianakis won the close race.

Republicans made strong bids also in the third district where Democrat David Henderson survived a replay of his 1968 victory over Herb Howell and in the 1st District where Democrat Walter Jones easily defeated R. Frank Everett, a former Democrat who served in the General Assembly with Jones, and Gene Leggett, a private detective from New Bern who ran under the American Party banner.

One of the closest races came in the 8th District where Democrat Clifton Blue, a former speaker of the State House of Representatives, was edged by Republican Earl Ruth, a former director of athletics and dean of students at Catawba College. Blue led throughout the early counting of returns, but it was apparent from the start that Ruth would win when his anchor counties of Rowan and Cabarrus were heard from.

Republican Rep. Charles R. Jonas easily turned aside the challenge of Charlotte broadcast executive Cy N. Bahaful and won election to a 10th consecutive term in the 9th District.

Another Republican veteran, Rep. James Broyhill, had little trouble in defeating the comeback bid of former Rep. Basil Whitener, a Democrat, in the 10th District.

Veteran Democrat Alton A. Lennon won handily in the 7th district as did Democrat Richardson Preyer in the 6th District and Republican Rep. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell in the 5th.

Lennon defeated Frederick Weber, a retired Army colonel, Preyer won out over Republican Clifton Barham and American Party candidate Lynwood Bullock, and Mizell outpolled Winston-Salem attorney James G. White.

Bowers Elected

To Board Seat

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — Retired North Carolina Adj. Gen. Claude T. Bowers was elected to the Warren County commissioners by a 3-1 margin Tuesday over a Negro opponent.

Bowers, a Democrat, won over John J. Hawkins by taking 12 of 13 precincts in the northeastern county. About 65 per cent of the county's population is black.

Bowers retired as adjutant general last year and returned to his oil dealership in his home town of Warrenton.

Carts wait in sunny Bordeaux vineyards to be loaded with grapes at harvest time. Upper right, the last one rolls quietly home, empty, at the end of the golden day.

THE VINTAGE

The vintage in Bordeaux, France, is a time of high excitement and hard work. Students from many countries come to toil in the sun beside the gypsies who arrive each year for the grape harvest, joining the people of Bordeaux whose lives have been bound up in the vineyards for generations. There are student travelers from America, too, who often make the harvesting of French wines part of their holiday, perhaps at the end of a roving summer abroad.

Many vineyards have special dormitories for students, while the hardy just camp out. It's a tradition that during the harvest all the workers are given hearty lunches and dinners on the property, with the wives and daughters of the chateau owners as volunteer cooks. There are festivals and banquets before the harvest, to celebrate the coming vintage. But, finally, there is the work. And one of the many things students learn from the grape harvest is that in Bordeaux—France's largest wine district—wine is serious business.

Judy Dorsan of San Francisco and Eloise Loyal of Grenoble, France, represent international student teamwork at the grape harvest.

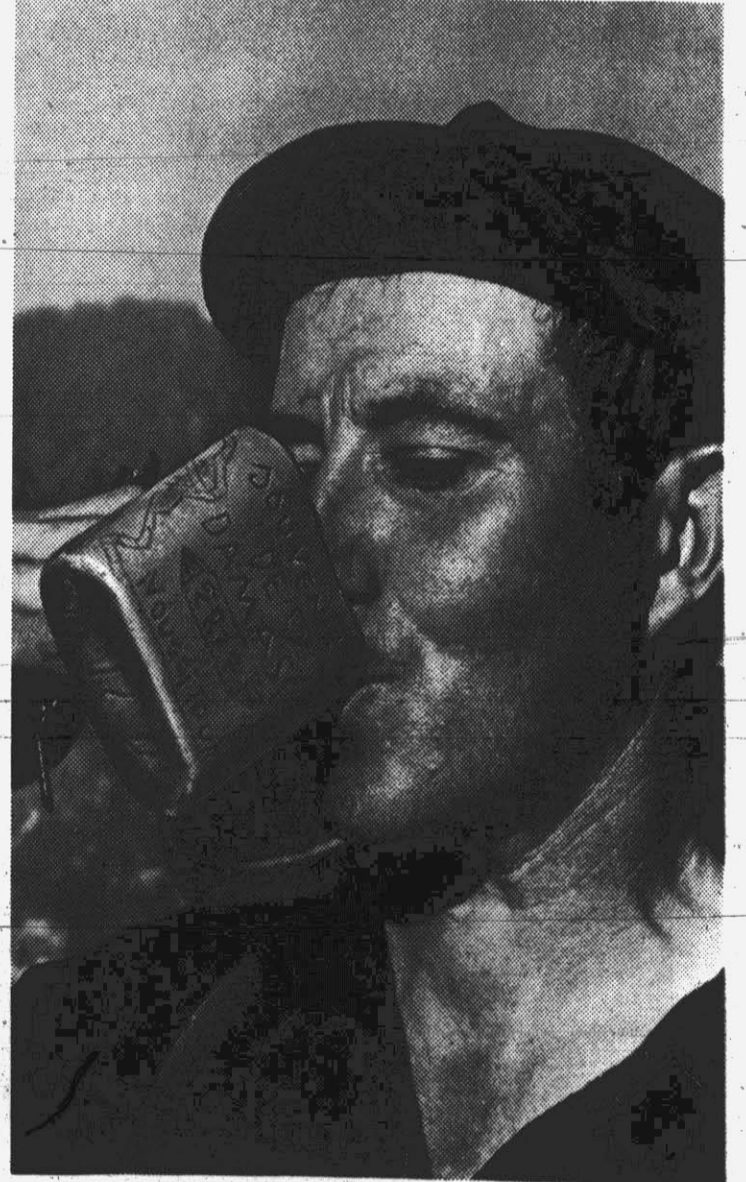

Picking grapes in Bordeaux: a time of warmth, gaiety and hard work.

These two Bordeaux ladies have been helping with the harvest for over 50 years.

The work calls for a strong back...

... the reward is the good wine.

Two Accidents Are Reported

Police reported two minor accidents in Greenville yesterday and last night. At 5:30 p.m. yesterday, an accident occurred at the intersection of Fifth and Tenth Streets, resulting in damages estimated at $200 to the two cars involved. One car was operated by John Robert Anderson, Jr. of Raleigh, the other by Judy Carol Moore of Smithfield police said. No charges were made.

The second accident reported, at 12:35 a.m. today, was at Waters Service Station on North Greene Street. The cars involved belonged to Cornelius Jenkins Jr. of Robersonville and Arthur Wooten of Greenville. Damage to one of the cars is estimated at approximately $100. No charges were made.

Demos Retain

(Continued from page 1) overcame Gen. George Murphy. At the same time a host of Democrats tagged by the administration as vulnerable, won re-election to cast doubt on the effects of the GOP's so-called law and order strategy and the stumping of both Nixon and Agnew.

The New York Senate race was won by James L. Buckley, the Conservative party nominee whom the administration favored over the GOP incumbent, Charles Goodell, as Goodell and Democrat Richard Ottinger split the liberal vote.

In New York GOP Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller won handily over Democrat Arthur J. Goldberg to claim a fourth term. Gov. Ronald Reagan won re-election in California by easily downing Democrat Jess Unruh. Rep. Allard K. Lowenstein, a New York Democrat and a leader in the 1968 movement to dump President Lyndon B. Johnson, lost in his re-election bid to Republican Norman Lent.

FARMVILLE — The resignations of two policemen whose actions prompted racial controversy and resulted in the police chief's resigning were accepted by the Board of Commission last night with little ado.

The two officers who resigned are Homer "Mack" Bony and Bruce Morrison.

This action, plus the setting of a time for interviews with applicants for the police chief's job — Thursday at 7:30 p.m. — were the only references to recent trouble in town. The interviews will be done by the Police Commission, the membership of which is the same as the Board and will be a closed meeting.

A well-filled courtroom of spectators left a few at a time as it was made clear that last night's meeting was a routine one.

The Board agreed to obtain a Moody rating at a cost of $600 to the town. It is hoped that a good rating will help the town get a favorable interest rate on the $150,000 worth of bonds it will sell soon for water and sewer improvements.

The bond ordinance on the water and sewer improvements approved recently by local voters was reenacted. This was done because the name of the town clerk, Carl Beaman, had been left off the first bond ordinance by mistake.

Street Department director, E. P. Freuler reported that he has not been able to get a contractor to do some badly needed patching on several streets.

A bill of $700 for the town's share of some new equipment for the Police Department was approved. Equipment bought with a federal grant obtained through the Mideast Economic Development Commission included a walkie talkie, a 35-millimeter camera, seven gas masks, and a tape recorder. The town's share was 40 percent of the total bill.

Water and Light Department director, J. A. "Bud" Wooten reported that a recent study had indicated that system voltage regulator needs to be replaced with several circuit regulators. In the event of excessive demand or a crippling storm, only part of the town at a time would be likely to be without electrical service if these circuit regulators could be installed, he said. The Board approved buying the number needed.

Approval of Wooten's attending a Housing Code Administrators' School at the Institute of Government in Chapel Hill December 7-11 was made. He doubles as housing inspector for the town.

Acting Police Chief Danny Dilda was instructed to see that no bicycles are ridden on the sidewalks in the business section. This ordinance has been broken often in recent days, Mayor Will Joyner said.

The frequency of calls to police and commissioners about dogs running loose was discussed. Commissioner W. C. "Bill" Garner said the problems concerning dogs, most of which are strays, are coming from every section of town. He suggested that the town purchase a "tranquillizer gun" for the Police Department. Even though the town has an ordinance against letting dogs run loose, the Police are reluctant to kill a dog that may be someone's pet. If the offending dogs could be put to sleep and then turned over to the county dog warden, pets could be rescued by their owners and the other disposed of more humanely, he said. No action was taken.

A contract with Motorola for maintenance on the town's radio communication system let in July was sent the town clerk a few days ago. Beaman reported that he has been withholding payment because the Board had assumed that the contract was to go into effect in July and it was for about $50 less per month than the old contract. The Board suggested that he see when the old contract was to expire. If it is October, he is to make the back payments. If not, he is to ask the company why the contract was so long in coming.

Robersonville, Vanceboro Meet In Tobacco Belt Title Contest

With nine games down, it all boils down to one this weekend as Robersonville and Vanceboro collide in the game that will decide the Tobacco Belt Conference championship.

And Saratoga, which has already finished its season, can only watch and hope.

Robersonville currently is in the drivers' seat in the conference race with a 7-1 record. Saratoga is on top at 8-1, with Vanceboro right behind at 6-1. The situation is this. Robersonville has beaten Saratoga, and, by beating Vanceboro Friday night, would tie for the title with Saratoga. And by virtue of the Ram win, Robersonville would claim the post-season playoff berth.

Vanceboro, by winning, couldn't win. That would shift the title to Saratoga, which beat Vanceboro earlier in the year.

Last week's action in the conference went like this: Saratoga finished up its year with a 12-7 win over Bath, Vanceboro crushed Elm City, 56-0, Chocowinity edged Grifton, 30-20, Aurora and Belhaven tied, 14-14, and Robersonville ripped Mattamuskeet, 50-0.

This week, Chocowinity is at Belhaven, and Bath is at Aurora in other conference games. Grifton hosts Farmville in a non-loop event.

Neither Robersonville nor Vanceboro allowed the other much of a look at the first units in the games last week.

"They had some pretty good players," Vanceboro Coach Roy Lupton said of Elm City. "And they gave up a good first quarter. But we started moving after that, and they fell apart."

Lupton feels that his team will be in top shape for the game with the Rams. "We feel we can beat them. The team is up for the game, and we know we can determine who will win the championship, even though we are out of it. We're going all out to beat Robersonville."

Lupton said Vanceboro will have its hands full defensively against the Rams. "We'll have to stop the running of Coppage and Knox, and their passing, too. They have a well-balanced offense, and we'll have to play one of our better games to do it."

Robersonville's Noland Respass also looks for a tough ball game. "We think our game last week could have hurt us. We didn't get to play the first unit enough, and that could have an effect on us."

Respass said the Ram defense is at an all-time high. "We feel like we can score against them, and keep them from scoring a lot against us. The question is whether we'll be able to score enough. We're certainly going to be in there battling for it and we think we can win it."

Two members of the team, Harvey Whichard and Tim Roberson, have both missed practice this week, due to injuries, but both are expected to be back Friday.

"In the past, some teams have keyed on the running of Roland Hooks, but we realize that they have other people we can hurt you too," Respass said. "We know we have to stop their ground attack to beat them. And we know they are going to be playing hard to win it, too."

While the two giants of the league battle it out, Grifton's Bulldogs will be trying to pull off a major upset against Farmville. "We're low on manpower," Coach Claude Kennedy of Grifton said. "And we know they have a very good team, one of the best, if not the best, we'll see this year."

Grifton had its troubles last week, traveling to Chocowinity twice before getting its game in. On Friday night, both teams were ready to play, but the officials forgot to show. So it was back again on Saturday night to play, and it turned out to be a loss for the Bulldogs.

"We just didn't do well on defense," Kennedy said. "We made four real bad mistakes, and they killed us."

Kennedy was impressed by his team's ability to move the ball in the I-formation, used for the first time in the game. "We ran Mike Tyndall and Mike Coles out of the setback slots, and both did well. Coles carried 27 times for 179 yards, so he had a real good night. We did well offensively, but our defensive mistakes cost us."

Records Tumble In ACC Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Records, like eggs, are to be broken. Atlantic Coast Conference football players are putting their names on the books this season with some spectacular performances, and the season has three weeks to go.

For instance, the league-leading Duke Blue Devils can attribute much of their success to West Chesson. The Edenton, N. C., senior has caught almost enough passes to set new season and career marks for the school.

He may break both records Saturday when Wake Forest, the ACC's No. 2 team with a 3-1 record, visits Durham for a game which may decide the league championship.

Chesson now owns the Duke career record for yardage gained with 1,989 yards after catching eight passes for 142 yards in Saturday's loss to Georgia Tech. He has 144 receptions and with three more will break the ACC career record which South Carolina's Fred Zeigler set last season.

With 12 more catches for 222 yards, Chesson could set a season school mark. He has 53 grabs for 670 yards.

Wichita Day For Pirates

There will be a special collection for the "Wichita Fund" taken up during halftime of the Saturday's East Carolina-West Virginia football game at Ficklen Stadium, it was announced this week by ECU Athletic Director Clarence Stasavich.

"Many colleges and universities all over the country are helping Wichita State University rebuild its athletic program following the tragic plane crash," said Stasavich. "A fund has been set up and football fans are contributing to it. We here at East Carolina, like people everywhere, are saddened by Wichita State's great loss and want to do what we can to help them on the long road back."

Fourteen members of the Wichita State football team, the school's athletic director, assistant athletic director and head football coach were among 32 people killed in the crash of the chartered plane carrying the Shocker team to Utah State on Oct. 2 for a game the next day.

One mistake he pointed out was a fourth down interception that gave Grifton the ball on its own five, instead of the 35, where they would have gotten it if the ball was just batted down. "They held us there, and we got off only a short punt that was returned to the five, and they scored from there."

Grifton feels its must stop the Connie Tripp - Robert Tripp brother combination, and the passing of Mark Oglesby to have a chance at the upset. "They are real good," Kennedy said.

The current Tobacco Belt standings:

	Conf. W L T	Overall W L T

Farmville, Greene Central To Wind Up Season This Weekend

Farmville's Red Devils, with second place assured in the Eastern Plains race, finish up their 1970 football season Friday night, visiting the Grifton Bulldogs.

Greene Central's Rams, meanwhile, will be looking for a break-even year in the league as they host North Lenoir.

Northern Nash wrapped up a post-season playoff berth by rolling to a 42-0 victory over Greene Central last Friday night. Farmville could still pull into a tie with the Knights should Hobpton upset Northern Nash this weekend, but it wouldn't affect the playoff berth. Northern Nash has that secure since it beat Farmville during the regular season.

Farmville, by beating Southern Wayne, 28-7, Friday night, clinched a finish of no worse than second. They posted a 6-1 conference record. "We finally played offense and defense at the same time," Farmville mentor Gene Brewer said. "We scored with some good passing, but our running game set up three of the scores. I guess a 10-for-13 night through the air isn't bad, though."

Brewer said he told his players before the game that the contest meant the difference in a finish of no worse than second, and a chance at first, or finishing in third place. "They've worked a long time, and we told them it was up to them where they finished."

This week, Farmville faces Grifton, a team which has been bothered by injuries for several weeks. They do have some capable backs, however, and Brewer admits that this could cause some trouble.

"We've seen them play a couple of times. Against Ayden, they impressed us with what they did. They execute well. They're no Northern Nash by any means, but what they do, they do well. They appear to be a solid club."

The chief problem will be the stopping of running backs Mike Tyndall and Mike Coles. "We aren't sure whether they'll run out of the T or the I, since they've used both this year. We'll just have to be ready for both."

Greene Central's Stewart Smith said that the champion Knights just bowled over his Rams. "Our chances of defeating them were slim and they got slimmer in the wet, muddy conditions we played in. They were much bigger than us, and the conditions were more in their favor than in ours."

The Rams also had to play the game without one of their top backs, Robert Ivey, who missed the game due to a death in his family.

"We played a pretty good first half against them. It was only 6-0 late in the half, but they broke two quick touchdowns against us to run it out to a 20-0 at halftime, and that killed us," Smith said. Smith said that the Rams came through the game in good condition, however, and would also have Robert Scott, their offensive guard, back after he had missed some games due to an injury.

"It's our final game of the year, and against one of our close rivals, North Lenoir, so we want this one badly," Smith said. "They've been in a slump, losing three of their last five, and just winning in the other two. Their man threat is their half-back, Cashwell. I guess it's the battle for fourth place, and we'd really like to take it."

The other games in the loop include Louisburg at Southern Nash, and Southern Wayne at Wallace-Rose Hill.

The current Eastern Plains Conference standings:

	Conf. W L T	Overall W L T
Northern Nash	6 0 0	8 1 0
Farmville	6 1 0	7 2 0
Southern Wayne	4 2 1	5 3 1
North Lenoir	3 3 0	5 3 0
Greene Central	2 3 1	3 5 1
Hobpton	2 4 0	4 5 0
C. B. Aycock	2 5 0	3 6 0
Southern Nash	0 7 0	1 8 0

both. "This is a real blow," said Quinn. "We thought Lyn was eligible in every way. I don't understand it, but there's not much we can do except make plans to play without him. His loss hurts our team quickness. He was our best defensive man and a possible starter. He was also a great team man. We'll miss him."

The second game will match the ECU varsity against the Baby Pirates freshman team and will take place the night of Thursday, November 19 in Minges Coliseum. This will be a special Picture and Autograph Night for both the fans and the press-radio-TV media. The players will be in uniform on the court at 7 p.m. for picture-taking, interviews and autographs. Then, at 8:30, will be the tip-off for the varsity-fresh battle.

"We want to give all our fans in Greenville and Eastern North Carolina a chance to get to know the 1970-71 Pirates — actually meet and talk with them — before the season begins," said Quinn. "Besides our intrasquad games have always proved highly competitive in the past. They give us good practice and give the fans a good show."

The Purple and Gold starting lineups will be announced next week and the varsity-fresh lineups a week later.

Both games will be open to the public free of charge.

The Pirates have completed two full weeks of practice and Quinn feels his men are beginning to get in a groove. The season opener is Dec. 4, at home against Goerge Washington.

The team has suffered two setbacks, however. One was wing man Jim Gregory spraining his ankle — which will keep the big senior sidelined at least three weeks. More costly was the decision by Southern Conference Commissioner Lloyd Jordan to turn down the request of wing man Lyn Green for another year of eligibility. Green, a 6-4, 185-pounder, played his first year of varsity ball last

Buc Cagers To Show Off Twice

East Carolina University's basketball team will play two pre-season intrasquad games during the month of November, it was announced this week by Pirate Head Coach Tom Quinn.

The first contest will match the Purple against the Gold on Saturday, November 14 in Minges Coliseum. Both squads will be made up of varsity squad members in this game which will start at 5 p.m., immediately following the ECU-Marshall football game in Ficklen Stadium, adjacent to the Coliseum.

The second game will match the ECU varsity against the Baby Pirates freshman team and will take place the night of Thursday, November 19 in Minges Coliseum. This will be a special Picture and Autograph Night for both the fans and the press-radio-TV media. The players will be in uniform on the court at 7 p.m. for picture-taking, interviews and autographs. Then, at 8:30, will be the tip-off for the varsity-fresh battle.

Verga's Points Hurt Carolina

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — Trace the trouble with the Carolina Cougars this season and you come up with one answer—Bob Verga.

It's not that the 6-foot-1, American Basketball Association all-league forward isn't trying. It's that he hasn't been succeeding.

Carolina is 0-8 in its sophomore season and former Duke University star Verga is averaging 20.1 points, compared to his 27.5 points of last season. Then he led the ABA in scoring for most of the campaign and was the mainstay in the Cougar attack.

This season, however, Verga has been held to fewer than 10 points twice, the only time that's happened to him since junior high days, and is hitting at only a 36.5 per cent clip. In addition, he didn't even start the second half of the team's last game — the first time that's happened in his four-year ABA career.

Verga hopes the skid is ending.

Not starting "was the kick in the pants I needed," he said Tuesday. Up until then I was thinking just about my personal shooting, really getting down. Now I realize I must get up and start to contribute."

Verga has had to adjust to a majority of new players on this year's Cougar squad, and a source close to the team says that may be part of the problem. Coach Bones McKinney revamped the team in an effort to better the 42-42 regular-season mark of last season, bringing in more than 50 per cent new players.

But the slender, long-haired Verga isn't making excuses.

"I never felt better physically," he said, adding his non-shooting play has been fine.

"All I know is, if I would have shot normally this season the Cougars wouldn't be 0-8. We would have been at least 4-4."

Everybody connected with the Cougars hopes that tonight the team snaps out of its slump in its game with Kentucky at Louisville. The next home game for Carolina is at Charlotte Saturday against New York.

New Coach For New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — J. D. Roberts was in today and Tom Fears out as coach of the New Orleans Saints.

Fears, 46, was fired shortly after noon Tuesday by owner John Mecom Jr., within hours after Mecom was quoted as saying he did not "think a change right now would be in the best interests of the team."

"I was shocked," said Fears. "This is my greatest disappointment in football. I was conducting business as usual and had just finished a meeting with the team when the phone call came."

Fears had been the Saints' head coach since the team's inception four years ago. His

Curt Flood Agrees To Contract, Complete With Reserve Clause

NEW YORK (AP) — Curt Flood has agreed to play center field for the Washington Senators next season under a contract that contains the reserve clause he sat out a whole year to protest.

The decision, expected since last week when Flood indicated he would sign with the Senators, came out of a meeting here between Flood, Washington owner Bob Short and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

An announcement released simultaneously in Philadelphia and Washington said the Senators were giving the Phillies a veteran utility man Greg Goosen and rookies Gene Martin, an outfielder-first baseman, and pitcher Jeff Terpko for the acquisition of Flood's contract.

While Flood's celebrated $4.1 million anti-trust suit against baseball and the reserve clause system remains in the courts, his future on the field now seems certain for at least the 1971 baseball season.

At Washington, he joins one of baseball's other problem players, pitcher Denny McLain, another recent Short acquisition in a multi-player trade with Detroit.

Money appeared to be the main reason Flood ended his holdout. His contract with the Senators reportedly will call for a salary of about $110,000 a year, and Flood said last week "like everybody else, I've had some business reverses and I need the money."

However, he added, "I still think the reserve clause stinks." Kuhn had said earlier any contract Flood signed would have to contain baseball's traditional reserve clause, which binds a player to one team unless he is traded, released or quits.

Flood claimed when he instituted his suit against baseball that the clause made players "slaves." A federal court judge ruled against him in New York, but he presently is appealing the decision.

Following the New York meeting, Flood was reported to have left for Denmark, where he has made his home during the past year. He avoided the press.

Short also was unavailable for comment. Kuhn would only say Flood had not yet signed a contract "as far as I know, but Washington thinks he will sign."

The 32-year-old center fielder, one of the best in the game during his 14 major league seasons with the St. Louis Cardinals, played in three World Series and three All-Star games and hit .293 for his career.

However, the Cardinals dealt him to Philadelphia with catcher Tim McCarver, reliever Joe Hoerner and reserve outfielder Byron Browne for slugging Richie Allen, pitcher Jerry Johnson and reserve infielder Cookie Rojas. Flood balked at the move from St. Louis and filed his suit.

Stanford, LSU Receive Nods In Top Games; W.Va. Picked

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — Stanford continues its run for the roses Saturday against Washington in an attempt to become the first team in five years other than Southern Cal to represent the Pacific-8 in the Rose Bowl on New Year's Day.

Will the Indians make it? All they need is one more conference victory. Stay tuned and find out.

Other attractive matchups include Louisiana State-Alabama, Houston-Mississippi and Air Force-Oregon. Washington at Stanford—Two of the top passers in the country hook up in this one. Stanford's Jim Plunkett has completed 132 of 250 for 1,965 yards and 12 touchdowns with 14 interceptions. Sonny Sixkiller, Washington's Cherokee chucker, is 133 of 252 for 1,612 yards, nine TDs and 19 interceptions. Pasadena, here comes ... Stanford.

Louisiana State vs. Alabama at Birmingham—With last Saturday off, LSU's Charlie McClendon scouted Alabama against Mississippi State "and I'm kind of sorry I did," he says. In quarterback Scott Hunter, halfback Johnny Musso, etc., Alabama has what Bear Bryant calls his best time since 1966, which produced an 11-0 record. The pick, thanks to a stingy defense that will remind Brant of his glory days, is ... Louisiana State.

Houston at Mississippi—M&M equals Manning and ... Mississippi.

Air Force at Oregon—Falcons' Bob Parker and Oregon's Dan Fouts should fill the air with footballs. Ninth-ranked Air Force has been asking for it and Ducks are smarting from last year's 60-13 debacle. Upset special of the week ... Oregon.

Ohio State at Wisconsin—Buckeye's countdown to Michigan reaches two. Ohio State: Illinois at Michigan—This is asking too much for the inspired Illini. Michigan.

Pitt at Notre Dame—In the last five years, Notre Dame has outscored Pitt 252-27. Irish are ranked second but right on Texas heels. Notre Dame.

Oklahoma State at Kansas State—Wildcats can't go to a bowl but are only one-half game behind Nebraska in the Big Eight and face the Cornhuskers one week hence. Barring too much of a look-ahead ... KState.

Missouri at Oklahoma—Neither team is going anywhere but this is always a battle. Missouri.

Pistons Keep Rolling In Rally Over Royals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Pistons certainly lead the early balloting as the National Basketball Association's most improved and surprising team. They probably got Cincinnati's vote Tuesday night.

The Pistons, after a last place finish in 1969-70, came from behind to beat the Royals 115-112 and gather their 10th victory in 11 starts this season.

Two of the reasons for the improvement are No. 1 draft choice

Bob Lanier and second year man Steve Mix, who each sank three free throws for the Pistons' last six points.

In other NBA games, Chicago beat Seattle 113-101 in Chicago and Los Angeles defeated host Portland 129-108.

In the only American Basketball Association contest, Memphis edged Texas 116-114 at Memphis, Tenn.

Detroit trailed by seven points in the third quarter before pulling ahead 86-81 in the fourth. The Royals tied it at 105, 107 and finally at 109 before Lanier and Mix each hit a free toss for a 111-109 lead, and the Royals never caught up as the pair added two more free throws apiece.

Dave Bing led the Pistons with 31 points, while Flynn Robinson had 23 for the Royals, who at 3-7 have been almost as bad as the Pistons have been good.

Reserve center Jim Fox and Chet Walker each scored 18 points in the final quarter to rally Chicago past Seattle. The Bulls blew a 62-47 halftime lead when Seattle scored 13 straight points.

Seattle held a 97-95 lead with 4:14 left but Walker hit three free throws and Fox a basket and a free throw for a 101-97 lead the Bulls never lost. Walker finished with 30 points.

Led by Wilt Chamberlain, who had 23 points, 15 rebounds and blocked nine shots, Los Angeles broke open a close game with a 10-point spurt in the second quarter against Portland. Jim Barnett and Shaler Halimon each had 18 points to top the Blazers.

Gerry Govan dunked a basket with five seconds left for his only points of the night and they provided Memphis with its victory after the Pros took an 11 point lead into the final period.

Jimmy Jones and Steve White each had 27 points for Memphis while Rich Boone had 27 for Texas.

By HAL BOCK Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — The Cy Young Award voted to Bob Gibson Tuesday won't add a penny to his 1971 salary.

That's because the flame-throwing St. Louis right-hander has already agreed to a $150,000 contract—probably a record major league salary.

Gibson became the third man in history to win the Young Award as the top pitcher in his league more than once since its inception in 1956. Denny McLain and Sandy Koufax were the other repeaters.

Gibson, 23-7 for the Cardinals after winning only two games in the first six weeks of the 1970 season, received 23 of the 24 first place votes in balloting by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The other first place ballot went to San Francisco's Gaylord Perry, who finished second to Gibson in the voting. Gibson, the only hurler named on all 24 ballots, totaled 118 points. Perry finished with 51 and Ferguson Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs had 16.

Gibson's slow start—he was 2-3 in late May—stirred whispers that the Cardinal ace might be on the way down. But he wiped them out with strings of 10 and seven consecutive victories and went over the 20-victory mark for the third straight year.

"I was as strong in 1970 as I was two years ago when I won the award," said Gibson, who celebrates his 35th birthday on Monday. "I had no arm trouble, but I get more tired every year. The older you get, the harder it is."

Gibson was one of the few bright spots for the Cardinals, who finished fourth in the National League's East Division.

In all, 10 pitchers received mention from the 24 voters—two in each NL city. Reliever Dave Giusti of Pittsburgh and Jim Merritt, Cincinnati's 20-game winner, tied for fourth place with eight points and then came Cincinnati's Gary Nolan (5), Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, the 1969 winner, (4), Cincinnati reliever Wayne Granger (3), Carl Morton of Montreal (2), and Luke Walker of Pittsburgh (1).

Gibson won his first Cy Young Award in 1968 when McLain took the AL award. McLain shared the 1969 AL award with Baltimore's Mike Cuellar, prompting a change in the voting procedure. This year, three pitchers were named on each ballot with first place worth five points, second place three points and third place one.

Koufax is the only three-time winner in the history of the Cy Young Award, having won in 1963, 1965 and 1966.

Gibson, always a workhorse, started 34 games and pitched 294 innings for the Cards last season. He struck out 274 batters, walked 88 and compiled a 3.12 earned run average in going over the 20-win mark for the fifth time in his 11-year career.

His 23 victories last season marked Gibson's single season high. He has a career record of 190-117 with an ERA under 3.00 and a 7-2 World Series log.

The American League Cy Young winner will be named later this week.

Gibson Beats Out Perry For Cy Young

Gilbert Was Typical Hero

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN Associated Press Sports Writer

As a freshman, Paul Gilbert broke Georgia's rushing and passing records for a frosh quarterback, one of which was set by Fran Tarkenton.

In three varsity seasons, however—most of which were spent on the bench—Gilbert managed to complete only 14 of 39 passes for 147 yards and no touchdowns and carried 33 times for 66 yards—a total offense of 213 yards.

That was before last Saturday's game against South Carolina. In that one, the 6-foot, 185-pound senior came off the bench in the second period to replace injured Mike Cavan with Georgia trailing 21-3.

All he did was complete 13 of 20 passes for 243 yards, including a 60-yard scoring toss; carry 10 times for 27 yards and three touchdowns and throw for a pair of two-point conversions in rallying the Bulldogs to a 52-34 victory.

Gilbert's performance, which won him honors as AP Back of the Week, was another example of the old adage: "If at first, etc." He was the No. 1 quarterback during the first week of practice but soon dropped behind sophomore James Ray and Cavan.

In 1967, the hometown boy from Athens, Ga., was No. 2 quarterback but suffered a knee injury and sat out 1968. Last year he was a semi-regular at the end of the season, starting the Sun Bowl game against Nebraska and scoring Georgia's only touchdown.

"I have never seen a more tremendous performance than Paul Gilbert gave Saturday," said Coach Vince Dooley. "I don't think I've ever been prouder of a team or of an individual."

"Paul is not average," Dooley said. "He is far above average. This type of boy should be an inspiration to everybody in all walks of life. He kept trying and trying and he finally had his day."

He'll get another day against Florida this weekend, having won the starting nod.

Third Cav Is Top Sophomore

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Flanker Dave Sullivan is the third Virginia performer to be selected as the Atlantic Coast Conference football Sophomore of the Week this season.

The 180-pound flanker from Steelton, Pa., was picked by a committee of the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association for his performance against North Carolina. He joins teammates Bill Troup and Billy Williams.

Sullivan, one of the leading pass receivers in the ACC, caught five for 53 yards and one touchdown in a losing cause against the Tar Heels. His touchdown was a ninety-yard toss from Troup in the first quarter and gave the Cavaliers an early 15-0 lead. But they lost the game 30-15.

Sullivan has ranked among the league's top receivers most of the season. His 31 catches for 420 yards and two touchdowns is second to Duke's Wes Chesson, who leads with 54 catches.

The fleetfooted Sullivan is also used as a running back from his flanker position, as well as a kickoff and punt return specialist. He ranks sixth in the conference in punt returns with a 6.4 average. As a runner he has carried the ball 17 times for 64 yards.

"We consider Sullivan as one of the best receivers in the conference," Virginia coach George Blackburn said. "He has excellent speed for deep pass patterns and knows his way in the secondary. You'll be hearing a great deal from this young man before his career ends."

Voting Irregularities Charged By Holshouser; FBI Notified

RALEIGH (AP) — State Republican Chairman James Holshouser says it is "becoming a biennial habit" to charge massive voting irregularities in North Carolina.

Tuesday's election was only a few hours old when Holshouser charged irregularities in six counties—Bertie, Cherokee, Graham, Craven, Ashe and Durham.

He said several of the irregularities had been called to the attention of the FBI.

Holshouser charged that in Bertie the Republican lever was left off the voting machines, making it impossible to cast a straight-ticket vote in the same manner as the Democrat ballot.

He said affidavits had been secured in Graham from a number of persons who contend they were paid up to $65 to vote a straight Democratic ticket.

Holshouser charged that in

Psycho-Surgery Cures 'Homos'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Psycho-surgery has been used in West Gernay to cure homosexuality, reports "Medical World News," a publication for doctors.

Dr. Fritz Roeder, a University of Gottingen professor, for the past eight years, has been electrocoagulating a tiny focus of brain tissue — part of the hypothalamus, considered the center for control of sexual drives. He believes homosexuality is a "sad pathologic upshot of faulty brain programming."

Craven and Durham all voting machines were "improperly rigged." He said this made it impossible to vote a split ticket in Durham for state senator and to split the ticket in Craven for two county commission races.

Alex Brock, executive secretary of the State Board of Elections, said "immediate corrective action was taken" on the voting machines in Bertie, Craven and Durham.

"Technical adjustments had been overlooked and not properly set to accommodate split party voting," Brock said. "However, there was no denial of a person being able to vote for one party or the other."

Brock said the difficulty in Cherokee "evolved out of ballots that had been printed by a chairman who was replaced just prior to the election."

The Cherokee board of elections, he said, voided the previously printed ballots and had them reprinted. It was charged that some of the voided ballots had turned up.

If any were used, Brock said, they can be detected and rejected.

Concerning the charge in Ashe Brock said that if any fraudulent absenteees were cast, "There is adequate opportunity to challenge them in the precinct and support these allegations."

He said that if a charge of vote buying in Graham can be proven, "then the statutes, both state and federal, contain adequate measures to deal with such instances."

Truman Visit To N.C. Drew Thousands

By H. G. Jones
N.C. Dept. of Archives & History
Written for The AP
RALEIGH (AP) — Presidential visits to North Carolina have been rare, so early risers in downtown Raleigh on the morning of Oct. 19, 1948, probably did a double take when they saw a man who looked suspiciously like President Harry S. Truman out for his morning "constitutional."

Their "suspicions" were well founded because President Truman was in North Carolina that day to carry out two official duties.

Officially, the President was in Raleigh to dedicate on Capitol Square a memorial to Andrew Jackson, James K. Polk—whose birthday we note this week—and Andrew Johnson, the three U. S. presidents born in North Carolina (South Carolinians dispute whether Jackson was), and to speak at the opening of the North Carolina State Fair the same day.

Though his appearance was billed as nonpolitical, it did come during the time that he was facing opposition for re-election from Republican Thomas E. Dewey, Progressive Henry A. Wallace, and Dixiecrat Strom Thurmond. So, characteristically, he threw in some political licks.

The president had flown to Raleigh from Miami and among those who received him were Gov. R. Gregg Cherry and the Democratic nominee for governor, W. Kerr Scott.

The Raleigh Times reported that approximately 25,000 people lined the streets and that about 5,000 crowded onto Capitol Square to hear the President's remarks, in which he drew a parallel between the lives of the three earlier presidents and his own situation. The President's speech followed a parade down Fayetteville Street from Memorial Auditorium to the Capitol. In reference to the men being honored, Truman said, "Because they lived through days when reason was overcome by emotion, their acts were misunderstood and misinterpreted. . . . Intense feeling obscured the truth."

The parade had been a gala affair with several bands and military units including more than 900 men of the 82nd Airborne Division from Fort Bragg, the State College R.O.T.C. units, and both Marine and Naval Reserve units. Army and Navy planes flew overhead.

Along the parade route spectators crowded the sidewalks to see the President, and reported by one young observer near the end of the procession saw workmen winding a white rope around the limbs of a tree at the corner of the speaker's stand and asked, "What are they going to do, hang him?" "Naw," replied his friend, "They're going to hang Dewey."

News reports said that the crowd took quite a fancy to the president's daughter, Margaret, who was the subject of many admiring "shouts" as the parade passed. The only "discordant note" reported in The Times was that one man repeatedly shouted, "We're for Thurmond, that is who we're for."

On Capitol Square several youths are said to have carried Confederate flags and a poster reading "Hey Harry, N. C. may be cloudy, but it sho' aint Dewey." On the other hand, some viewers proudly wore their Dewey buttons.

President Truman's remarks later that afternoon at the opening of the State Fair were of a more direct political nature. He urged the South to Unite behind the Democratic Party. The Times described his speech, which was carried to the country by a national radio network, as "an unvarnished appeal to dissenters to return to the party fold from which they fled when he submitted his civil rights proposals."

The memorial to North Carolina's three presidents which was unveiled by President Truman 22 years ago is a sculpture of the three men by Charles Keck, who, along with descend-

Public Housing Sum Received By Williamston

WILLIAMSTON — Money for the initial stages of constructing public housing in Williamston has been received and deposited. Henry Leggett, Executive Director of the Williamston Public Housing Authority, told the Town Board members at their advance meeting late last week that $116,000 in funds had been received. Work will now begin in getting deeds straight and in purchasing the land earmarked for the project.

A plan for construction of a sewage treatment plant was revealed. Thomas W. Harwell, engineer with Rivers and Associates of Greenville, outlined in a letter a time phase of schedules beginning with a preliminary survey in December this year and continuing until May 1973, the earliest estimated date of completion. This will include time for further studies, bond issue, bids and construction.

Garland Wynne, alternate member of the Williamston Board of Adjustments, was approved as a regular member replacing Mrs. Betty Griffin who recently resigned. Wade Gardner was appointed alternate to replace Wynne.

Mrs. Nan Boykin was approved as secretary and research consultant to replace Mrs. Christine Farrior for the Williamston Planning Board. The approval covers a six month trial period for the position. Mrs. Farrior recently resigned.

Still another resignation, that of R. A. Critcher, Jr. as a member of the Town Board, was accepted. Wilbur Edwards, local jeweler, was appointed to fill the unexpired term. Critcher resigned the post in light of his accepting a position with the N.C. Department of Conservation and Development.

Gold Mines For Tourists

JUNEAU, Alaska (UPI) — A gold mine tour for visitors to Alaska's capital is as about as obligatory as a ride up the Eiffel Tower in Paris or a visit to the Space Needle in Seattle.

The gold mine tour includes a trip through the Alaska-Juneau Gold Mine tunnels in cars that used to take miners to work 25 years ago.

An electric-power locomotive pulls the cars past an observation spot high above Juneau where visitors can view and photograph the entire Gastineau Channel.

One of the old mine buildings has been converted into a theater and special entertainment is offered for each tour. Local talent performs an historic comedy based on actual events of early day Juneau.

Authentic costumes are used in the play. The theater area has been designed to depict an early-day trading post.

When the theater group is not performing, a slide show featuring early-day photographs of Juneau and its residents is presented.

The pictures, from the collection of long-time Juneau resident J. Simpson McKinnon, show the mining era of the town, beginning with the discovery of gold in 1880.

Old Clippings

The theater also contains interesting display items including enlarged clippings from newspapers published before the turn of the century.

The mine tour, which takes about two hours, was established by the Juneau Chamber of Commerce so visitors and local residents could see and enjoy the area that once was the largest low-grade ore mine in the world.

Returning Vets Will Need Jobs

Armed forces veterans looking for jobs get a boost from the State this week as North Carolina observes "Veteran Week" by proclamation from the Governor's office. This is the second year that Gov. Scott has designated the first week in November to emphasize employment problems experienced by persons being discharged from the military service. According to the State Employment office here, about 1,000,000 men and women will be released from the armed forces in the next 12 months and between 30,000 and 40,000 will return home to North Carolina. About 60 per cent will be seeking jobs and many of these will have difficulty finding work, veterans employment representative Kindrick Taylor explained. "The Governor's proclamation is a statewide appeal to employers to give veterans top consideration for job openings," Taylor pointed out. "We also want to use this week to demonstrate to local employers that veterans offer a valuable source of manpower and to let veterans know they have employment preference and other re-employment rights," he said. The employment representative said that nearly 80 per cent of veterans returning from military duty have a high school education. Averaging about 22 years old, many have learned skills which can be put to use in civilian occupations, Taylor noted. Each veteran is contacted by the employment office and is offered job counseling, interviewing, testing, job development and placement, Taylor said. He reported that currently 200 applications from veterans seeking employment in the Greenville area are on file.

More Than Speech In Hand Gestures

By LEE LINDER PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Would you believe you can say more with your hands than your mouth? Edward A. Adams, associate professor of art at Pennsylvania State University, said he found in a far-reaching study that a man's fingers are "thousands of times more versatile" than speech. "By combining different postures, movements of the upper arm, wrist and fingers, as many as 700,000 distinct signs can be formed," Adams reported. "Hand gestures are also economical, rapid to use, and can be executed more quickly than articulated speech." "Gestures are a primary part of speech," Adams said. "Some philologists claim that the earliest human language may have been primarily a system of gesture signs." "Primitive gestures may have been the prior step before audible language, although it is more probable that there was a parallel development in audible speech and gesticulation." Adams traces the common handshake—today's familiar symbol for "hello"—to the prehistoric days when combatants made a truce by grasping the other's weapon hand. And the simple thumbs up or thumbs down gesture? It goes back to the times of ancient Rome, perhaps even before, when the tribal ruler or the arena crowd gave the signal for the beginning or end of gladiator combat. It is said also that hand clapping originated as a Japanese custom to awaken their gods before the start of prayer. "The contemporary world has inherited a melange of hand symbols accumulated from diverse historical sources," Adams said. "Some originate in mythology, some in religious and mystical cults, some in folklore, and some even in aboriginal tribal customs."

Savings Tradition Sees Impact Of New Trends

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)— It is an honored American tradition to save one's pennies until they accumulate to one dollar and then put the dollar into a savings account.

Everybody has been taught the story. The dollars grow into hundreds and then thousands. It may take many years, but through the magic of compound interest, those pennies eventually become a fortune.

The savings tradition still exists in frugal America, which in recent months has been putting about 7.5 per cent of take-home pay into savings of one sort or another, an extraordinarily high rate.

Savings banks vigorously promote the concept of small savings being the road to security. Who in the past few months hasn't seen a chart showing how money invested in certificates of deposit can double in less than 15 years?

But there is a perceptible change now in the old tradition. Inroads have been made, perhaps permanently. Savers have become more sophisticated, a bit more cynical and much more impatient.

Rising inflation and taxes have been major factors behind the change. Social Security has lessened fears of insolvency in old age. And there has been a quite perceptible broadening of the attitude that money should be used now rather than at some later date.

Analyzing the old tradition, a good many savers have concluded that the process of turning pennies into dollars may have made some enduring fortunes, but for the heirs rather than for the savers.

And most Americans suspect, if they don't know for sure, that while the bank may tell them their money will double in a specified number of years, the truth is it may not grow at all or may even decrease if inflation isn't contained.

One thousand dollars placed in a commercial bank in 1959 was worth, in real dollars, only $1,124 in 1969, which is hardly the road to wealth. An equivalent in U.S. Savings Bonds gained only $19.

Among the most frugal of the penny savers have been those with whole life insurance policies which they expected to provide cash value in their retirement years. But millions have found the payoff shriveled by inflation.

At the same time, none but the unsophisticated could fail to understand the forces at work in equity markets.

In the same 10-year period in which $1,000 in U.S. Savings Bonds earned only $19, the same amount in industrial stocks grew to more than $1,700. And even larger increases were common in real estate investments.

This realization is forcing changes in financial institutions.

Dr. Sheldon Downs Named By Scott To Aid The Disabled

RALEIGH — Dr. Sheldon Downs of Greenville is one of the committee members appointed by Governor Robert W. Scott to the Governor's Study Committee on Architectural Barriers, a program designed to study assistance to physically disabled persons.

The purpose of the committee will be to identify obstacles physically disabled North Carolinians encounter in trying to use privately owned and government owned public buildings. The committee recommendations on action needed to assure the immobile and physically disabled of adequate opportunities to enjoy full, active participation will be gathered and studied.

Among obstacles or barriers most often encountered by the more than one half million North Carolinians who have limited physical mobility are restrooms not spacious enough for wheelchairs; curbs that are not properly ramped; steps without handrails for those in straight-leg braces and on crutches; and building which do not have a ramp or ground level entrance for the disabled.

Referring to a statement he made in Raleigh last December, Governor Scott said "Now is the time for us to dedicate and commit ourselves to making our schools, libraries, hospitals, art galleries, theaters, stadiums, dormitories, residences, and all of our businesses, industries and transportation systems accessible for all."

Representative Howard Twigg of Wake County has been named Chairman of the Committee. Other committee members are Mrs. Nancy Chase, Goldsboro; Rep. Jim Beatty, Charlotte; Representative Dwight Quinn, Kan-

The Worry Clinic Writing Isn't An Easy Life

Bob Collins is a clever writer who neatly portrays the inertia most newspapermen suffer from time to time. For human beings shun mental work even more than the muscular variety! Novelist Pearl Buck wisely adds: "I don't wait for moods. You accomplish nothing if you do that."

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.
CASE O-541: Bob Collins is the sports editor of the Indianapolis STAR. In case any of you readers think it is easy or "duck soup" to write a newspaper column, please note Bob's confession. Recently he mentions being stymied for an idea. And in his humorous fashion (for humor is often based on hyperbole, meaning, extravagant exaggeration), Bob says he found himself: "... after 113 trips to the water fountain, 9 cups of coffee and 71 tours around the office, still staring at a blank sheet of paper." Another popular newspaper writer, Robert Ruark, also mentioned the kidding that he often received from his New York friends. "What a soft snap you have!" they would chide him. "It doesn't take 5 minutes for you to type off your column for the newspaper!" "Yet you call that a day's work!"

So Robert Ruark gave them this comeback, which is quite appropriate: "TV Log

"Yeah? Well, it doesn't take a woman but 30 minutes to deliver a baby. But it's the previous nine months pregnancy that make her teeth fall out!" Abraham Lincoln could have written the words of his great Gettysburg Address in 3 minutes! But that immortal document may have represented almost his whole lifetime of experience. Even in the field of romance, it requires only 2 words for your sweetheart to say, "I do." But it may have taken you a year or more, plus a lot of mazuma spent on dates, to get her to that "I do" stage. The act of carving out ideas with the keys of a typewriter is a form of literary sculpture. And it means a lot of trial-and-error thinking, plus the rephrasing of sentences till they convey an idea out of your own brain which will slip across, intact, into the brains of your readers. Dean Swift, great literary genius of England, define literary style as simply, "peeper words in proper places." But there's the rub. You can strain and literally sweat, as you chisel and carve and hack and chop away at the inchoate block that represents the crude outline of your later graceful sentences. Racine, the young poet, once wrote to Voileau for criticism and advice. But in his letter, Racine said, "I ought to tell you that I write with great facility." Boileau bluntly replied, "I hope to teach you to write with great difficulty." Lord Byron explains Boileau's answer by saying, "Easy writing's damned hard reading." Stevenson, foremost master of literary style, said: "From the arrangement of according letters, which is altogether arabesque and sensual, up to the architecture of the elegant and pregnant sentence, which is a vigorous act of the pure intellect, there is scarce a faculty in man but has been exercised. We need not wonder, then, if perfect sentences are rare, and perfect pages, rarer." So send for my booklet "How to Write Salable Copy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 2 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for one of his booklets.)

Opening lead: King of ♠
When a potential ruff threatened the safety of his four spade contract, South devised a method for severing the opponents' line of communications.

West opened the king of hearts. East observed that unless declarer had a singleton, the defense could cash two tricks in that suit as well as the ace of spades. It appeared that the best prospect for scoring the setting trick was for East to obtain a club ruff. Inasmuch as he had the ace of trumps, chances appeared favorable.

East accordingly overtook the king of hearts with the ace and shifted to his singleton five of clubs. It was his intention to play the ace of spades when that suit was led, and then put his partner in with a heart to get a club return.

Declarer was able to diagnose his opponent's intentions, however, and he plotted a counterstrategy. His only apparent recourse was to disrupt their line of communications. After winning the club return in dummy, South cashed the ace of diamonds, overtook the queen with his king and continued with the nine. When West followed with the six of diamonds, the nine of hearts was discarded from dummy.

East was in with the ten of diamonds, however he had no way to put West in and all hope of obtaining a club ruff was gone. South trumped the heart return in dummy and drove out the ace of trumps. He subsequently drew the outstanding spades and claimed the rest of the tricks. His losses on the deal consisted of one spade, one heart and one diamond.

South was somewhat fortunate in finding East with both the jack and ten of diamonds, however with no quick reentry to his hand, desperate measures were in order, and the declarer surely earned his triumph.

Bank President Claims 'Must Listen' To Young

By LARRY THORSON
SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Louis B. Lundborg heads the world's largest bank, the Bank of America. He is a card-carrying member of the establishment whose silver hair and conservative blue suits are right from the mold. But some of his ideas are not.

For instance: —"The radical and I are in the same boat. I agree with him completely that people are the most important things. Anybody who doesn't recognize that is going to have radical problems. We don't necessarily have to buy everything the young people are saying, although a great deal of it can be bought literally."

—"In my judgement, the War in Vietnam is a tragic national mistake ... If anyone is to blame, it is people like me for not speaking up and speaking out sooner ..."

—"What (young people) say they want doesn't sound so different, you know, from what our founding fathers said they wanted ... the young people are prodding us and saying, 'look, dad—this is what it's all about.'"

—"A corporation has a kind of public responsibility ... business cannot be divorced from the ultimate best interests of the people."

Fulbright Testimony
In April, the board chairman of the Bank of America appeared before Sen. J. William Fulbright's Senate Foreign Relations Committee to testify against U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

"I see no profit in trying to fix the blame for what is past," he told the committee. "No matter who initiated the first movement or subsequent expansions, the rest of us have gone along pretty supinely."

Lundborg was asked what his personal reaction was when he learned that a Bank of America branch in Isla Vista, near Santa Barbara, Calif., had been burned to the ground by demonstrators last February.

"My first reaction was one of complete anger, indignation, outrage—a completely unprovoked act of vandalism and destruction," he said.

"It has since been rationalized by those who either led the attack or sympathized with it, that any representative of the establishment is guilty because the establishment was guilty of all the crimes against society. But in every respect, the accident of our being there led to the attack against us." Small Group's Violence Lundborg believes, "It is only a relatively small group on any campus that has any stomach for violence, but that doesn't mean it is a minority who are dissatisfied with things around them."

"Vietnam was the spark that touched off these flames. But once it started it opened the door, and students and other young people have questioned a lot of other things. And they have come to question the whole society their elders have created."

Lundborg was asked how he proposed to cool the flames that he said "could tear apart the fabric of society out of frustration and hostility."

"It should be done, I hope, by evolution and revolution—revolution in the sense of speeding things up, evolution in the sense of being done peacefully," he said. "But as everything has been speeded up recently, our adjustment is going to have to be accelerated to the change that has come about in our society."

Lundborg has no doubt that the business world is worthy of young people's respect.

Shirley Writes Quite A Story

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — As is its custom, Hollywood was quick to categorize Shirley MacLaine when she came to films. She was a kook, a pixy, an oddball with a marriage that made no sense to anyone but her and Steve Parker.

Miss MacLaine has now writ-

Uniforms, Jeeps For War Hobby

CHICHESTER, England (AP) — War is Joseph Lindhurst's hobby and American is his style — he and 20 friends dressed as World War II GI's like to parade around in four U. S. Jeeps just for fun. "We get some strange looks," said Lindhurst, 46, a vacation campowner, "but you can't drive around in a Jeep with a bowler on, can you?"

ten an autobiography, "Don't Fall Off The Mountain"—her husband's suggestion when she left for the Himalayas. The book will probably not change the Hollywood assessment of her. But less prejudiced readers will find her a warm, compassionate, perceptive woman.

Also a good writer, if we can believe her publisher's claim that nobody ghosted the 270 pages for her.

"Don't Fall Off The Mountain" is actually two books of equal length. The first details her childhood, her rise to stardom and the hell that ensued.

The second half concerns her travels: "My life expanded and opened up on all levels when I began to travel," she writes.

"I've always felt that I would never develop into a really fine actress because I cared more about life beyond the camera than the life in front of it."

Her wanderings took her into black life in the Deep South, to a Paris brothel to research "Irma La Douce," to village existence among the Masai in Africa, and to the Hiltonesque—James, not Conrad—Bhutan on the roof of the world.

Her accounts of these adventures demonstrate that the girl has guts, as well as a keen, observing eye.

The author's tone is generally kind, but there are some heavies in her book. One is the late columnist Mike Connolly, whom she slapped—her lawyer had warned her that a closed fist would be assault.

Other victims of Miss MacLaine's pen are her father and producer Hal Wallis.

Her father, Ira O. Beaty, is pictured as an uptight Southerner who did everything possible to humiliate her ambitions to become a performer. In later years he declined to allow Shirley to bring Sidney Poitier to dinner—"It's not that I wouldn't be delighted; it's the neighbors ... I have to live here when dinner is over. You don't."

Producer Wallis brought the actress to Hollywood after seeing her on Broadway in "The Pajama Game"—she was the understudy for Carol Haney, who had broken a leg. She complains about her servitude to Wallis—nine pictures at an average of $15,000 each. Shortly after she bought her freedom from him, she was making $800,000 per film.
