Angry GI Homecoming

By PETE WEISSER
Associated Press Writer

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Anger at the South Vietnamese government tainted the homecoming joy of 350 GI's who flew here after delays of up to two days because a giant 747 charter jet was refused permission to land at Saigon.

"We were very disappointed," said Spec. 4 John Carolina Jr., 19, of Bridgeport, Conn., one of those aboard the first of four substitute Air Force transport flights. "There were a lot of guys who were just living for that flight."

The troops poured off the C141 Starlifter aircraft Monday at this wind-whipped air base, the "gateway to the Pacific" for thousands of troops serving in Southeast Asia.

The GIs, many wearing mustaches and peace symbols and carrying enemy weapons and Japanese whisky, left the airport for a variety of destinations, some bound for discharge, others home on Christmas leave.

"There was a lot of mad GIs, mad mostly at the South Vietnamese government," said Spec. 5 Francis Hartwick, 20, St. Ignace, Mich.

A South Vietnamese government official said 747 landings were not feasible at Tan Son Nhut because of erosion of an airport shoulder. But Pan American officials in New York said the refusal was unjustified and diversion to other fields at Bien Hoa and Cam Ranh Bay, which could handle 747s was refused also.

Few of the soldiers cared to discuss the delay at length. One of the first whisked through customs declined a television interview.

"Naw," he said, dashing toward the passenger terminal, "I got to get home."

Toy Company Is Buying Circus

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The 100-year-old Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Circus is being sold to a toy manufacturing company.

Elliot Handler, chairman and chief executive officer of the toy firm, Mattel, Inc., and Irvin Feld, circus president, announced the agreement in principle Monday subject to approval of directors of both companies.

"It is all part of our program to develop into a leading company in the youth market," said a Mattel spokesman.

The circus was established by P. T. Barnum and became Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Combined Shows in 1919.

Handler formed Mattel in 1945 as a toy furniture manufacturing firm.

N.C. Board Of Elections Will Take Steps Leading To Lowered Voting Age

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina will take steps to implement three major changes in state elections practices, including the lowering of the voting age to 18 in presidential and congressional elections.

This was decided unanimously Monday by the state Board of Elections as a result of rulings handed down earlier in the day by the U.S. Supreme Court.

In addition to the ruling an 18-year-old, the high court also upheld two other provisions of the federal voting rights act of 1970 that affect North Carolina.

One provision abolishes residence requirements of more than 30 days for voting in presidential elections. The other suspends literacy tests as a requirement for voter registration for five years throughout the nation.

The high court ruling leaves it to the states to establish their minimum voting age for state and local elections.

The state board instructed its executive secretary, Alex Brock, to determine how North Carolina elections officials can adopt their procedures to handle two sets of legal minimum voting ages.

North Carolina's State Constitution sets the minimum voting age at 21. For one more general election at least, two sets of registration books and a procedure for handling both classifications of voters will have to be developed.

"It will be quite an administrative problem," said Brock. "But we are singularly blessed by having the uniform voter registration going into effect Jan. 1. If it were not for this provision, requiring fulltime registration and a sophisticated operation in each county, we would have an impossible task."

North Carolina law now requires new residents to live in the state 60 days before being qualified to vote in the presidential election.

Brock said he would submit to the 1971 General Assembly a proposal to amend the statutes to conform with the Supreme Court ruling.

He also said the high court decision takes precedent over the State Constitution provision requiring the literacy test. A proposed amendment that would have abolished it was turned down by Tar Heel voters Nov. 3.

Congress Heading Home Tonight With Only More Oratory Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91st Congress heads home tonight for a long holiday weekend, likely without offering the nation anything more for Christmas but a promise to come back and burn itself out in a blaze of oratory.

A second attempt to end a filibuster on funds for a supersonic transport plane—SST—was the major piece of business before the Senate today.

The House, meanwhile, faced a decision on whether it would return Monday or stay away until Jan. 2 and possibly remove the last hope this Congress could accomplish anything more.

Adding to these problems, progress broke down on several other issues Monday, including five foreign aid and defense bills dealing with Southeast Asia policy.

Hence, despite the indignant prodding of both Senate and House leaders, betting was that the last major contribution of the 91st Congress would be simply to turn into the 92nd on Jan. 3.

The development could pose serious problems for federal operations whose finances remain hamstrung in the current session, since all pending bills die with adjournment and their parliamentary processing would have to begin anew.

President Nixon has threatened to call the new Congress into session immediately on Jan. 3, rather than allowing it to

First To Survive Rabies

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Three doctors say a 6-year-old Willshire, Ohio, boy is the first person in medical history to survive rabies.

The doctors announced at a news conference at St. Rita's Hospital Monday that Matthew Winkler, bitten Oct. 10 by a rabid bat at his home, was recovering from the disease which has been regarded as 100 per cent fatal.

Dr. C. J. Spechschulte, attending pediatrician, said the boy developed symptoms of rabies even though vaccine had been administered.

Treatment was begun four days after the bite and the boy was given the Pasteur duck embryo vaccine, which is the standard treatment.

However, Matthew developed rabies symptoms. He became lethargic, was partly paralyzed in his left arm and had trouble speaking. He was hospitalized Nov. 3.

On Dec. 1, the boy began to improve after intensive care that included oxygen, medication to combat convulsions and constant heart monitoring.

He is still weak, doctors report, and has difficulty with his speech, but is fully conscious. He is expected to remain at the hospital for another month for further medication and to receive speech and physical therapy.

The U.S. Public Health Service says it plans to conduct additional studies in the case.

Certify Scott As Winner

RALEIGH (AP) — Veteran State Sen. Ralph Scott will be certified the winner in a disputed Alamance County race, but an investigation looms in a controversial House race in Columbus County.

The North Carolina Board of Elections directed Monday by a 3-2 vote that the Alamance Board of Elections certify Scott as winner over Republican Hubert Lowe.

Scott, uncle of Gov. Bob Scott and a brother of the late Gov. W. Kerr Scott, won the single-county race by 17 votes, according to the official canvass of the Alamance board.

The state board first voted to uphold the Alamance board's decision certifying Scott the winner, but later voted to eliminate 32 paper ballots cast in precincts where voting machines were used.

Finally, however, the board voted to rescind its decision. In its action Monday, the board dismissed the petition of Lowe.

Charlotte Hikes Ambulance Rate

CHARLOTTE (AP) — City Council has authorized higher rates for the privately operated Charlotte Ambulance Service.

In the new year, one-way trips of 10 miles or less will cost $25, an increase of $5. For each extra mile, the charge will be $1, an increase of .25 cents.

Should that be the case, I would be happy to give the thief money to buy plenty of Christmas decorations if the stolen ones are returned to me. I must be here and there and everywhere during the busy Christmas season, but the thief may contact me c-o 115 Kimberle Drive, Greenville, N.C., or telephone 756-1289. I promise, the deal will be discreet: no human law, I'll see to it, will persecute the thief in this matter. As everybody knows, I am God's agent (really one of His wingless, lower-class angels), honestly trying to do what pleases Him. God does not persecute a repentant

POW List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward K. Kennedy, D-Mass., said today North Vietnamese diplomats in Paris have given to a Washington lawyer a list of the names of 368 American prisoners of war.

Kennedy said the names, described by the North Vietnamese as an official prisoner list, were turned over to John Knowland, an attorney formerly with the Department of Justice.

The Massachusetts senator said he sent Knowland to Paris in response to the invitation of the North Vietnamese.

Kennedy said he does not know whether the list is a complete one. He said the list given Knowland also included the names of 20 men identified as American prisoners who died in captivity, and nine men released.

It listed the date of capture, date of death or date of release, he said.

Board Hires 11 Teachers

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

The Greenville City School Board last night approved the resignation of six teachers and the election of 11 new teachers at the mid-term point of the school year.

The six teachers tendering their resignation are: Mrs. Wilson McDowell, Mrs. Wilma Askew, Gilbert Moore, Mrs. Mary Morrison, James R. Hurdie, Jr., and Mrs. Mary Brannon.

New teachers and the field in which they will teach are: Mrs. Myra Pinner, kindergarten; Mrs. Judith Darden, special education; Gary Hess, elementary physical education; James R. Modlin, social studies; Mrs. Pamela Parsons, primary; Mrs. Ellen L. Potter, primary; Mrs. Lynda H. Harrington, primary; Mrs. Brenda P. Mattox, speech-hearing; Charles Mason, junior high school physical education; Mrs. Nancy M. Middleton, junior high school language arts-social studies; and Mrs. Susan J. Bejaoui, special education.

Two or three of the newly elected teachers were elected on the basis of interim appointments.

A review of the status of school facilities covering renovations, additions, construction and demolition was presented the school board. The report includes: Demolition at C. M. Eppes 95 percent complete, with bleachers and scoreboard removed and installed at Aycock Junior High; demolition of the last wood structure at Rose High to be completed during the Christmas holidays; and certification of final payments on various projects connected with Aycock Junior High and Rose High School. Advertisement to meet legal requirements for the sale of the house on C. M. Eppes property will be made. The house will be sold subject to removal from the property.

Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent of the city schools, made a brief report on the "live project" being carried out by a vocational class at Rose High. The students have been building a house which is near completion. Dr. Cleetwood said it is hoped that any earnings realized from this project could be plowed back into purchase of equipment for use by carpentry and masonry students.

Difficulty in getting adequate insurance coverage for school facilities was mentioned by Dr. Cleetwood. He reported that some $325,000 of the eight million

It's Winter

Winter arrived officially at 1:36 a.m. this morning, but today was more like spring in North Carolina.

However, chilly weather is on its way for Friday, Christmas Day.

The indicated highs for this afternoon and Wednesday afternoon were in the 60s and mid 70s.

There was fog over much of the state at daybreak, and some drizzle in the north, northeast and central portions. However, it became partly cloudy and mild as the day wore on.

There is a chance of showers in the mountains Wednesday.

Mild air is expected in North Carolina until about Thursday night or Friday. Then a cold front is expected to move through from the west.

Here is the long-range forecast for Christmas Day in North Carolina:

Clearing and turning quite cold. Highs ranging from near 30 in the mountains to low 40s on the south coast. Overnight lows from around 20 in the mountains to low 30s on the coast.

Really Don't Know If Russia Building Sub Base In Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler says the Nixon administration doesn't know yet if Russia is building a submarine base in Cuba.

The statement Monday came on the heels of a Time magazine report that U.S. reconnaissance photos show the Soviet base is near completion at Cienfuegos, Cuba.

Also on Monday, Rep. Paul Rogers, D-Fla., told the House he has fresh information Russia has built, or is about to complete, a sub base in Cuba.

Ziegler said there is Soviet activity in the Caribbean area relating to submarines and submarine support activities. He said the United States is watching it very carefully.

President Nixon said Dec. 10 he saw no threat to American security in Russian activities in the western Atlantic. Ziegler said administration thinking is that Soviet intentions are covered by an understanding that Russia will build no bases in the vicinity.

Rogers did not disclose the source of his information but told the House he was fearful the Russians had hoodwinked the administration.

"This new information comes just shortly after the administration has denied that such a base was being built and that the activity in Cuba was in line with our agreements of 1962 and later verbal agreements that the administration has made within the past six months," he said.

Message And 'Bargain' From Concerned Santa

A LETTER FROM SANTA CLAUS

As everybody knows, my joy and pleasure is to bring happiness, by every means available, to every home at Christmas time. My heart has been thrilled, seeing how eager people are to cooperate with me in promoting the good cause of peace and shared joy, once they really catch on to Christmas mood. But occasionally I encounter people who, for some odd reason, seem to find pleasure in undoing my work.

Thus, recently I placed two Christmas wreaths at the entrance pillars to the Brentwood area at the U.S.

264 Bypass. I thought that people who go by that lively intersection would enjoy seeing the wreaths; they were illuminated at night by lanterns installed there by the beauty-conscious residents of the Brentwood area. Then, further down off Kirkland Drive I saw a pretty spruce, about 12 feet tall, growing on the lawn right at the curve of Kimberle Drive. With the owner's willing cooperation, I put 36 electric Christmas bulbs on the tree. The outdoor live Christmas tree, lit at night and visible from the bypass and many homes and spots in that area, was a pleasant sight. Neighborhood children were particularly excited: they ran, played, and sang on the lawn around the tree that mysteriously projected white, orange, red, green, and blue Christmas lights toward the nightly skies over the neighborhood.

Satisfied with this and always eager to be present when something good is in the making, I went to the Messiah concert last Thursday evening. After the concert, as I traversed the skies over the Brentwood area, I saw that the wreaths at the entrance gate were gone and the live Christmas tree on the lawn on Kimberle was dark. I rushed to the tree and discovered that all the bulbs had been taken away. What a stupid prank or base greed! I am especially sorry for the little children in the neighborhood who have been robbed of the Christmas joy the tree gave them. I could, of course, immediately replace the wreaths and the bulbs. But I am reluctant to do so because, who knows, they may disappear the first night after being placed there.

As I am relating to you this sad experience, a thought has crossed my mind: perhaps the person or persons who took the wreaths and the bulbs cannot afford to buy decorations for their home.

Felt Ornaments For Christmas Tree Safety

by Rosalie Trotman

Keeping safety in mind, Mrs. Frankie Hardee of Greenville has made ornaments for the family Christmas tree from felt.

"My entire endeavor is to have a tree which our daughter, Frankie Lynn, can touch and enjoy—by her enjoying it, we enjoy it. I also have put the tree and ornaments on her level of enjoyment.

"I became aware that we would need something different other than a touch-me-not tree during her first Christmas. At the age of six months, she would crawl in and pull icicles from the tree," said Mrs. Hardee.

"When Frankie Lynn was a year and a half and having her second Christmas, I really realized I needed something safe—during this exploring stage, we walked in to the living room one night and she had a mouth full of glass. She had bitten the top of an ornament off.

"The idea of felt ornaments was not completely original with me. By the next fall I attended several local bazaars and was open to ideas which would be safe for her. I saw some unbreakable ornaments which had been handmade—I bought two or three and then went out and bought felt and sequins," remarked Mrs. Hardee.

"Frankie Lynn gave me a lot of ideas by requesting things like a reindeer, a Santa Claus and a snowman," she added.

In addition to using felt for the ornaments, Mrs. Hardee has added other materials such as yarn, sequins, fringe, white fur and styrofoam balls. All of Mrs. Hardee's ornaments have been handmade by her and are entirely red and green in color.

The ornaments are filled with Dacron to give a dimensional look. Some of her ornaments include Santa Clauses, horses, elves, snowmen, Christmas trees, bells and stockings.

"I eventually want to have an entire red and green Christmas tree, not only in the ornaments, but also the lights. The tree does have a few ornaments which I bought," she replied.

The base of the tree is covered with a skirt of green felt also made by Mrs. Hardee. The skirt is trimmed with red and green ball fringe and applied with an angel, ball, candy cane, candle and a stocking.

Mrs. Hardee has made felt doorknob hangers which feature favorites of Frankie Lynn, a miniature tree, snowman and stocking. The hangers are trimmed with miniature bells.

Mrs. Hardee has also designed miniature pins of felt in the form of a wreath, tree and bell which are covered with sequins.

"I would like to work now on patterns for other Christmas symbols. As children get older, the ornaments could be decorated to have a more ornate look perhaps by adding pearls and iridescent trim," she concluded.

FELT ORNAMENTS... are entirely handmade by Mrs. Hardee. Frankie Lynn provided several ideas for some of the ornaments.

You Be the Expert!
 "Delicate" is the proper adjective for the art of coloring hair. For best results hair coloring should be done by the experts. Although we can't guarantee the results, we'll give you some common terms dealing with hair coloring, to help you be the "expert!"
 For example, the test performed to determine allergic reaction to certain coloring substances is called an "allergy test." It is also known as a "skin test" or "patch test."
 "Coating" is a method to color hair. It does not penetrate the outer surface of the hair shaft. Temporary rinses, color crayons, and sprays all color hair by coating it.
 The "demarcation line" is the visible line separating artificially colored hair from natural colored new growth. The pigment giving this new growth its natural color is found in the second layer of the hair shaft—the "cortex."

Homemaker's Haven By Miss Addie Gore Pitt Home Agent

In spite of all our public functions, Christmas is primarily a family affair. The things that make it most meaningful are those that go on at home.

One of our happiest traditions is decorating the house. Almost everyone has a tree, and they spend many happy hours decorating it with lights, "snow" and plastic baubles. They spend their happy hours driving around at night to see other decorations.

We are familiar with the poem "The Night Before Christmas" that the children love. Today I want to share with you a beautiful poem by Helen Lowrie Marshall - "The Week Before Christmas"

'Tis the week before Christmas And all through the house Are socks full of hopes As if chewed by a mouse, And shirts minus buttons And rips that need sewing, The things that need doing Keep growing and growing! My basket of mending Is stacked by my chair. In hopes that I might Find a minute to spare. My husband's a martyr With holes in his heels; My children existing On unbalanced meals. We grab a quick snack When and where we are able—I'm doing the cards on the dining room table. The neighbors are thinking, I strongly suspect, That mine is a family Of want and neglect; While I with my conscience Am wrestling each night Because I've a sneaking Suspicion they're right! But then, all at once, The last card has been sent, The gifts are all wrapped, And the money all spent! The fruitcake is aging, The tree gay and bright, The choir at church Singing "O Holy Night". The lights in the windows, The love and the cheer—You know it's the most Precious time of the year. We sit by the fire And gaze at the coals. Who cares if the stockings there Have a few holes! It's Christmas Eve now, Everything is all right—

Merry Christmas to all, And to all a Good Night! THE HOME ECONOMICS EXTENSION AGENTS WISH EACH OF YOU A MERRY CHRISTMAS.

Pitt Superior Court has been staggered by an unusual number of cases and the complication of trying several long and involved cases recently. Consequently eight special sessions have been scheduled for Pitt from Jan. 1 to July 1.

The special sessions were announced by Judge Robert D. Rouse, Jr. and Solicitor Luther Hamilton, Jr.

The special sessions are planned for Jan. 4, Jan. 18, March 29, April 5, May 10, May 31, June 7 and June 14.

They are in addition to regular sessions which begin the weeks of Jan. 25, March 15, March 22, April 19, May 17 and June 21.

Some special terms were scheduled this year in an effort to reduce the backlog.

Court officials said a backlog of cases came about because of the unusually large number of major cases and appeals now reaching the Superior Court.

As we have seen recently, capital cases require long periods of time for trial because of the intricate legal matters involved. A recent capital case required a full week for selection of the jury and another week for trial.

It is likely that major cases will continue to be time consuming and the case load in Pitt County is ever growing.

It is in the interest of speedy justice that these additional terms of Superior Court have been scheduled.

The special sessions should prove helpful in reducing the number of Superior Court cases awaiting trial.

Christmas Is Not A Lullaby

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Christmas is a call to action, not a lullaby.

"The birth of Christ expresses God's love for the world and His entry into human life. Christians today affirm that love through social action to change conditions which dehumanize and demean life," explained Collins Kilburn.

If that sounds like a preacher, it's because he is.

"We don't carry much authority to speak for God or all church members. "It's not possible to say all church people think alike on any issue," he said practically.

Broad Representation.

The Council of Churches embraces 20 denominations in the state, including all the major Protestant groups with the exception of the State Baptist Convention. Some Baptists, as churches and individuals, do participate. In fact, some Catholics also are drawn into the Council's activities, but not in a representative capacity.

The Council has interested itself in legislation in the past, but generally on specific issues and not in so systematic or intensive a way as projected for the '71 session. Kolburn, director of social ministries on the Council staff, has been instructed to devote up to half his time to the legislative program.

Prison reform is a top priority item for the Council and its General Assembly Task Group, composed of clergy and laymen and with responsibility to guide legislative action.

"Here is an issue we have done our homework on, and we're ready to respond to," said Kilburn. Concern for those in prison, he added, has clear Biblical precedent.

Done Their Homework

Kilburn and the Council's task group on prisons have studied the state's department of corrections, visited institutions, interviewed inmates, and consulted with officials. Corrections Commissioner Lee Bounds has gone into churches to rally concern for present condition and ask support for improvements in the system.

The Council will be expected to endorse proposals put forward by Bounds, and urge approval by the legislature.

Other areas of interest for the Council will include: housing for migrant and seasonal farmworkers; legislation dealing with welfare and hunger; race relations; alcohol and drug abuse; abolition of capital punishment; and licensing of day care centers.

There are issues on which the Council has no official stance, although some of its members do. Methodists (as well as Baptists) oppose liquor by the drink. As a body, the Council is neutral. The Western North Carolina Methodist Conference has favored liberalized abortion laws. Again, the Council has no position on the issue.

Kilburn was pastor for nine years of Raleigh's Community United Church of Christ. It is a church with a strong tradition for social action, so his move to the Council job in September, 1969, was a logical step.

Good Morale Booster For N.C. Employees

The State Personnel Board at Gov. Scott's urging has made a wise move in authorizing overtime pay for state employees who work on holidays.

To be affected will be 6,600 workers at a cost to the state of $100,000 annually.

The state has highway patrolmen, firemen, institutional service workers and other employees for whom it is necessary that they be on duty on holidays. For most of these employees there has been no such thing as overtime in the past.

This move should help improve the morale of those who must work when others are off.

A Clandestine Push For 1972

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — A big reason why front-running Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine is looking back over his shoulder in some dismay is the not-so-subtle change in secret activity by agents of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy since the Nov. 3 election.

While Kennedy himself publicly reiterates his lack of interest in the 1972 Presidential action, his operatives have been privately singing this far different song to Democratic politicians: don't commit yourself so inexorably to somebody else that you can't come back to Teddy if and when the time is ripe.

Central to this clandestine activity is 31-year-old James F. Flug, a Brooklyn boy by way of Harvard who has become a top Ted Kennedy political operative (officially, chief counsel of Kennedy's Senate Administrative Practice Subcommittee). Flug has been particularly concentrating on labor leaders now strongly leaning toward Muskie. Confiding first that the Kennedy camp has no objection to their working for Muskie now, Flug then expresses hope that they keep themselves open to switch to Kennedy later.

Whether Kennedy personally is aware of this activity remains a mystery. But he too has changed. Politicians who have talked privately to him since the election detect a little less insistence that he will not run. Their conclusion: Kennedy won't enter any primaries but he is considerably more interested in 1972 than he publicly lets on.

A footnote: One leftist Democratic politician on the verge of boarding the Muskie Presidential bandwagon is the Rev. Joseph Duffey, national chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) and just defeated for the Senate from Connecticut. A key McCarthy supporter in 1968, Duffey is engaged in long discussions with the Muskie high command.

Slipped Sisk

One of the surest signs that the previously high-flying campaign for House Majority Leader by Rep. B. F. Sisk of California is now collapsing is the lack of support by the powerful Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas.

Mills months ago was privately boosting Texas-born Sisk. With other Southern exarchs in the House, he was expected to shift to Sisk away from controversial Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana. Despite the cool relations between Boggs and Mills over the years, however, Mills will vote for him at least on the first ballot at next month's caucus. What's more, he may well accept Boggs's invitation to deliver a second speech for him.

That's not the only bad Dixie news for Sisk. Rep. Phil Landrum of Georgia has brought his state's eight Democratic Congressmen behind Boggs, and the Florida delegation spurned an attempt by Rep. Robert Sikes to endorse Sisk. The nine Floridians will be split several ways.

Sisk's tepid Southern reception stems in part from his failure to corral his own California delegation despite its formal endorsement. At best, Sisk now has 11 of 20 California Democrats. Finally, the slashing attack against Sisk as too conservative by liberal organizations has scared off some Northern big city Democrats.

The upshot: Boggs, though hurt by Sisk, is now back in strong contention. He and

Strength For Today

BE WISE

Thrift is a virtue. Sometimes it can degenerate into a stinginess and then it becomes a decimating vice. But to live within one's income and put a little aside for a rainy day is only good sense.

Don't we have social security and Medicare? Do you want us to build a high wall about us and never even look over the top? We want to travel. Good. And get as much of it done as you can before you reach the age of sixty. But who wants to travel today with hijackers on the alert? It used to take the better part of a year to go round the world. Now, with new modes of transportation, we can make it in a comparatively few days.

And regarding other expenses, it is amazing, the amount of education that can be purchased if one puts aside a comparatively small amount every month.

Thriftiness, when pursued regularly and sensibly, gives one a feeling of self-respect and confidence, virtues that in themselves constitute big factors in life. The spendthrift suffers throughout a miserable career. He's always in debt. When he needs money he hasn't a red cent to get him out of trouble and keep him out. What he needs more than money is self-respect, and that is something the spendthrift never has. He may try to fool the world and himself with jokes about poverty and a few bitter thrusts at his rich friends. But he's a miserable guy, and everybody knows it.

Worst of all, he knows it himself.

Ended With A Whimper

The poet T.S. Eliot had it just about right: Worlds end not with a bang, but with a whimper. And it was a whimpering Congress, scared witless, verging on panic, that put an end two weeks ago to what remains of the world of free enterprise in major American industries.

It is curious that the act to prevent a rail strike has aroused so little comment. The precedent that was set on the night of December 10, when Congress by statute decreed a specific wage increase for the rail workers, surely must rank among the most fateful bills ever passed in the name of the commerce clause. Yet its significance has been lost in the Christmas cheer.

Nearly ten months ago, on February 27, President Nixon proposed legislation to deal with threatened transportation strikes. His bill was introduced in the Senate by Griffin of Michigan, in the House by Minority Leader Gerald Ford. The President begged for immediate consideration. But a foot-dragging Congress, exhibiting its genius for procrastination, refused even to schedule hearings. Meanwhile, the rail dispute came to a head when management reluctantly accepted, and the unions flatly rejected, a settlement recommended by a presidential emergency board. And the strike was called.

This was the situation when Congress at last came to life. Its response was to pass a midnight law prohibiting a rail strike until March 1, demanding of the President a mid-February report on the progress of negotiations, and laying down this requirement as an act of Congress.

"The rates of pay of all employees who are subject to this resolution shall be increased by five per centum effective as of January 1, 1970, and by 32 cents per hour effective as of November 1, 1970."

During the course of an angry and desperate debate, proponents of the bill attempted to explain that the provision was not really so unprecedented after all. Back in 1917, as an emergency measure in World War I, a temporary freeze had been imposed on railroad contract terms. In 1963, compulsory arbitration had been ordered. In 1967, an act required final mediation of the shopcraft dispute. Earlier this year, an agreement accepted by six unions was made binding on two others.

The explanations were lame. The disturbing fact is that never before has the Congress itself, by statute, imposed a specific wage increase upon a specific industry. To be sure, the five percent and the 32 cents were part of the package recommended by the emergency board — but these pay raises were only part of the package. The increases were predicated upon vital changes in work rules; and the Congress ignored these changes altogether.

Colorado's Senator Gordon Allott, fighting the bill, looked with great clarity to the future. "Mr. President," he

NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the greatest medicine man. It heals and cures better than the ablest doctor. And like a skilled surgeon, it selectively removes the dead tissue of the mind so that only the living past remains to encourage us and make us hopeful.

Memory helps give us fortitude and keep us brave. It suggests that if we have endured what has already happened to us, we have good reason to expect that we can bear to survive what lies ahead.

Every heart is thronged with a million memories, large or small. You are well supplied with them yourself if you can look back and remember when

After a long cold trip in a buggy, everyone rushed to the fireplace and turned his back to it to warm his bottom.

People roasted chestnuts at home instead of buying them from a street peddler.

Wallace Beery, a onetime chorus boy with a face as homely as a potato, became in middle age one of the nation's most popular film stars.

The last men to give up wearing a vest were scholars, because it served as such a wonderful backdrop to show off their Phi Beta Kappa keys.

For every American who cleaned his teeth with a toothbrush, there were three who did it with a toothpick.

If you found a lump of coal in the bottom of your stocking on Christmas morning, that was Santa's way of warning you that you had been a bad boy or girl — and next year might not get a present unless you mended your ways.

To be fat was no disgrace. Many doctors thought plumpness was a sign of health, and worried that an underweight patient was likely to come down

Three more days and Christmas will be here. Think of the thrill that comes with the Yuletide and the happiness that fill the hearts of millions of people. Now take a look at the other side of the picture — at the desolation and suffering among thousands of people who will know little of the joy of Christmas. Several funds are being raised for this purpose. If you have not contributed, don't delay the matter, but act now while you think of it.

Captain Paul Armstrong of the Salvation Army wishes to thank those people who have contributed to the cause even though they now continue to operate on a greatly curtailed basis.

Other Editors Say Repeat Terms?

(Kinston Free Press)

The suggestion made a few days ago by Governor Bob Scott that the people should decide whether they want a chief executive to serve more than one four-year term was timely and thought-provoking. Certainly if the issue is to become a heated one, then the people are the only ones who can decide it. It is not something they should or could delegate to the General Assembly under the present Constitution.

Just how badly do we need two-term, or three-term governors in this State? The present system has worked well. The Legislature serves as a restraining body against any autocratic type of gubernatorial leadership. So far the people have refrained from giving the Governor a veto over legislation. They did approve on November 3 this year, however, a proposal which will permit the lawmakers by petition to call a special session if the need arises.

When the matter of multiple terms for governors is considered all aspects must be examined. The record will show that the present system has not been bad. North Carolina has built up a tradition of good government which many other states envy and wish they could duplicate. Multiple terms for governors could serve that tradition in some ways, and might not in others. It certainly would tend to hold a Governor in office longer than is possible now and it might affect his chances for moving on to federal leadership in the Congress or in other branches of national government.

At this point we favor the present system, since it assures the State of only four years of a given emphasis and allows opportunity for taking stock and moving with greater caution in the next four years.

More Layoffs, Closings Ahead

By ELMER ROESSNER

There will be more layoffs and more plant closings after Christmas and after New Year's Day. Because of the slowdown in business, more production schedules will be cut back, more inefficient plants will be closed, more expendable employees will be expended.

These will be largely postponed actions. Many companies have delayed cutbacks because they don't want bad public relations that could come from layoffs just before Christmas. Other companies have held back hoping to see signs in a pickup in demand in Christmas shopping. They haven't seen it.

Layoffs will jolt unemployment figures for January, since they will come on top of the dropping of temporary Christmas sales and postal help.

Many companies have not waited until after the holidays to announce layoffs. Chrysler has laid off 3,167 workers and Chrysler and American Motors have shut down for the rest of the year. RCA is closing a $20 million plant in Memphis, dismissing about 1,600 workers. It will close its Cincinnati plant in February. Monsanto has announced non-manufacturing expenditures will be cut $20 million next year.

Another Copper Price Cut.

Here are more look-aheads in business:

After a series of price cuts, the copper industry expects another one after the first of the year. This may affect politics in Chile. One possibility: President Allende may speed up his push toward communism, blaming capitalists for a decline in that nation's income. Another: he may slow his hopes of more economic help from the United States.

Olives, if not martinis, may cost more. Due to drought, the Spanish olive crop next year may be 11 per cent under this year's, indicating a rise in prices ahead.

Cheaper liquor is ahead. There is a large amount of under-the-counter price cutting in liquor package stores not run by states. Liquor stocks are heavy and distillers and distributors are trying to cut inventories in the holiday market. But after the New Year demand is satiated, there will be better bargains available, especially on unadvertised brands.

Faster Heat

Better electric stoves may be ahead. 3M engineers have developed a technology for quick changes of electric heat. It is now being applied to a wok, the Chinese cooking bowl. Chinese cooking requires quick changes in temperature, which electric stoves do not offer. When the technology is applied to electric stoves, temperatures may be changed more quickly.

Jobs for legal and financial executives are increasing, one recruiting agency reports. Handy Associates says demand is greatest in the 26 years it has been in business. It is caused by increasing government involvement in business and proliferation of legislation and regulations, and by merger and divestment activities.

Old Promoter Foresees A Return Of Politeness

Another message from the old promoter arrived today. It reads:

"National Restaurant Association launches 'Glad You're Here' program to encourage politeness and hospitality among employees to offset decline in business. Auto salesrooms, television showrooms and a lot of other businesses should get in on the act. Don't recommend it for undertakers, though.

"SACRED SERVICE" . . . the Ernest Bloch oratorio, was performed at East Carolina University

Christmas Is A Time For Music

CONDUCTOR JOHNNY WOOTEN . . . led the high school band in their portion of Rose High's program.

Christmas and music is one of the most joyful of all expressions. Across Greenville, throughout Pitt County, and wherever people celebrate the birth of Christ, voices and instruments join in the celebration of the annual observance of His birthday.

School children enjoy singing "Jingle Bells," "Santa Claus Is Coming To Town," "Rudolph the Red Nose Reindeer" and other simple, catchy songs conveying the excitement of Santa's coming and the expectation of gifts and toys.

People of all ages have favorites among carols and traditional Christmas songs — "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Silent Night," "Joy To The World," "It Came Upon The Midnight Clear," "The First Noel," "O Holy Night," and others, American and foreign. A handful of popular songs about Christmas return each December.

In churches, schools and in concert halls, music groups give public concerts for enjoyment by their hundreds of listeners. Many of these come just before Christmas Day or on Christmas Eve. A few of the larger concerts, requiring a large group of singers and instrumentalists, are normally given during the first half of December, offering the beauty and majesty of full-scale compositions paying homage to the Christmas story in full musical expressions.

Representative examples of such concerts are shown in the photographs on this page — the combined choruses and orchestra of East Carolina University in the program featuring the 20th century work of Ernest Bloch, his oratorio, "Sacred Service;" the presentation of Handel's "The Messiah," by the Greenville Community Chorus; and a program of traditional and special music by the combined glee clubs, choruses and band at Rose High School.

Whether the sound of music is that of a six year old hesitantly trying to remember the words of "Silent Night," or the splendor of "The Hallelujah Chorus" sung by trained musicians, it is all part of the tradition of Christmas music which returns each December to remind young and old that another Christmas is here.

Penmanship was an art. Whether or not its contents were worthwhile, a letter was often made memorable by the flourishes that adorned the writing.
Before the popularity of the Christmas office party waxed and waned, few fathers came home on yuletide eve loaded—but sometimes their breath did smell a bit of Sen Sen.
No one reached for a helping until the man who sat at the head of the table had asked, with folded hands, a blessing on all who sat there from the One in whose honor they had gathered.
Those were the days—remember?

cried, "make no bones about it, if we do this tonight, we are going to be settling wage disputes in every industry in this country which is of sufficient size to have an influence on the national economy." Ohio's William Saxbe and California's George Murphy made the same warnings. On the House side, 131 members voted against the bill. But it was past midnight, and the rail workers already were walking off. The bill passed, and the President signed it.
What now? If the precedent could be confined solely to the railways, one might stoically accept the act as but one more mile down a socialist track. Passenger service already has been effectively nationalized. A plan for total nationalization might rationally be defended. But the precedent cannot be so confined. Steel, trucking, airlines, electric power, telephone service—all these affect that national health and defense. Is the Congress to prohibit strikes and fix wages in these fields also? If so, collective bargaining dies, and a great element of a free society dies with it.

Nixon Delegates Hunt?
Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's first choice for a top political technician to run President Nixon's delegate operation for the 1972 Republican convention has given a polite but firm no on grounds of prior commitments.
Arizonan Stephen Shadegg, a key figure in Barry Goldwater's 1964 drive for the Republican nomination and author of a forthcoming biography of Clare Boothe Luce, informed Mitchell's agent, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst, that he could not accept the assignment.
The offer, coming this far before the 1972 campaign, suggests Mitchell may be somewhat concerned about Mr. Nixon's standing within his own party. Normally, tying down convention delegates is an incumbent President's lowest priority.
Whether or not that really concerns Mitchell, the offer to Shadegg is the clearest evidence so far that Mitchell already has started drafting the President's reelection campaign.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: You aren't helping much with my crusade for early recognition and prompt treatment of spinal deformities in adolescent girls. [A mother complains that her teen-aged daughter walks, sits and stands stoop-shouldered and no amount of "reminding" her to straighten up has helped. You say, "Quit nagging her."]

Abby, poor posture is often due to a growth disturbance of the spine. Untreated it becomes a permanent humpback. Treated early it can be corrected. Just because the mother says the child has only "poor posture" does not eliminate the probability that she has a more serious underlying bone deformity.

You should have answered, "Take a look at your daughter in the nude. Have her bend forward. Does she have an actual "hump" on her back in that position? If she has, or if her ribs are more prominent on one side than the other, she has an actual deformity and should see her doctor, pediatricist or an orthopedic surgeon." Very truly yours,
AN "M. D." IN MILWAUKEE

DEAR M. D.: Ten lashes with the laces from an orthopedic corset for me! I am publishing your helpful letter with the hope that it will further your crusade. Am I forgiven, doctor?

DEAR ABBY: I am a retired librarian, and since my husband passed away, I've been keeping myself busy earning money baby-sitting. I live in an apartment, and lately I have been sitting for two darling preschool-age children whose mother is a young divorcee. [They live down the hall from me.] The mother brings the youngsters to my apartment and I keep them here all day. The mother told me she works days, downtown. The pay is fine, the children are well-behaved, but the situation worries me.

I have never seen that woman leave her apartment, or come home. But I have observed that many men enter her apartment [one at a time], and a few days ago, I saw a policeman at her door. All this evidence would indicate that she is involved in something illegal, and if she is, I don't want to assist her by keeping her children out of the way. What should I do?
UNWILLING ACCOMPLICE

DEAR UNWILLING: Don't jump to any conclusions. Ask the woman where "downtown" she works. [A baby-sitter should know where to find the mother in case of an emergency.] Also, tell her frankly what you have observed, and if your suspicions are correct, you can't be blamed for refusing to keep her children.

DEAR ABBY: Your column today was the last straw. Here were a bunch of sex-starved women writing to you [their appointed "god"] about their drab sex lives.

Of all the trivia you print [such as how to cut a steak in public, keeping your armpits clean and healthy, how to tell your next-door neighbor that her husband isn't getting enough affection, so you have taken over the job, etc.] you manage to breeze over the real problems.

I have this vision of a bunch of aproned women reading DEAR ABBY on the last day. You know, when pollution has finally covered the windows and the last Vietnamese has been murdered, along with our own children.

If your catty readers [and writers] would spend just half the time writing to their senators and congressmen as they spend writing to your column, we might have a chance of getting out of this mess! K. M.: ROSEBURG, ORE.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "STILL WAITING IN NASHVILLE": Madrid was last summer. Didn't your mother ever tell you that Spaniards are expert at throwing the ball?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Policeman Gets Suspension For Critical Words

BURLINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Police Sgt. Grover Hill, secretary-treasurer of the new Burlington police union, has been suspended for eight days for making critical remarks about the police department and Chief Alfred Garner.
Hill, a desk sergeant and 13-

The closed hearing was held Monday, and Mackintosh continued the suspension without pay until next Sunday. Hill also was placed on disciplinary probation for six months, and an official reprimand was put in his record.

GRIFTON — A speeding car, being chased by lawmen, went out of control on N. C. 11 Sunday night and struck a pedestrian before crashing into a utility pole.

Highway Patrolman F. L. Owens identified the driver of the small domestic sports car involved in the mishap as Marvin Edward James, 18, of Grifton.

Trooper Owens said he was in pursuit of the James car at the time of the 8:15 p.m. incident. The James car, Ptl. Miss Parker was one of four persons walking along the shoulder of the road in a group at the time.

Opening lead: Ace of ♠
The roadblock which West threw in his opponents' path during the auction backfired in a strange manner in today's hand.

Under the cover of non-vulnerability, West jumped to four spades over South's opening one heart bid. This action placed North in a distinct quandary for, tho his sights were set on a slam, West's leap had effectively deprived him of all convenient avenues of exploration.

North finally decided to bid four no trump which he intended as a Blackwood call for aces. If South turned up with the missing ace of spades then North could proceed with assurance.

South responded with five clubs to designate no aces. North knew now that his side lacked first round control of spades, but it seemed highly unlikely to him that South could muster the material for an opening bid from the outstanding high card strength, unless he held either the king of spades or else a singleton in that suit.

If North were to be the declarer at a slam contract, then South's possession of the king of spades would not provide adequate protection inasmuch as it would be subject to attack on the opening lead. However, North's Blackwood call had elicited an artificial response in clubs from his partner and since South was the first to name this suit, North was able to transfer the play to the other side of the table by merely proceeding to six clubs. With West on lead, the defense had no profitable mode of attack. The decision to open the ace of spades was a wise one for, in the absence of that lead, declarer can take all the tricks.

Had North played the hand in a club contract, he would have been held to 10 tricks, with a spade opening. After West takes the first two rounds of spades, he continues the suit and East cannot be prevented from winning another trick with the jack of clubs on an overruff.

Two Break-Ins Are Being Investigated

Pitt County deputies are investigating two Sunday night break-ins in the county that resulted in a total theft of nearly $1,000 in merchandise from the two stores involved.

dollar coverage under blanket policy has been cancelled and replaced on a temporary basis. "We have been able to hang on to a blanket policy only because local insurance people have stuck to us," Dr. Cleetwood commented.

A study "Discipline in the Schools", one prepared by a group of about a dozen local school professionals, outlines suggestions and recommendations for handling problems of discipline. Dr. Cleetwood commented "This report is presented to you as information only unless you want to pursue it further. It is furnished you as a professional statement."

The free and reduced price meal arrangement to be effective when school reconvenes in January has received a good response, it was reported. Associate Superintendent Glenn Cox said that last month about 8,700 meals were furnished free.

"This represents about 430 children," he said. "We are anticipating about half this many more because of the expanded income range in the new program."

Other reports included one on the recently conducted Rubella program, which was labelled as a successful one.

Board members approved a request for release from city schools of three students who will seek admittance to county schools.

A meeting on January 6 will be held in Greenville with Archie Davis, chairman of the Emergency School Assistance fund under which Greenville schools received $64,000 for assistance. The meeting is an effort to determine the effectiveness of this type of funds in schools of Pitt County and other schools in Eastern North Carolina.

Mrs. Robert Kittrell spoke about concern for traffic conditions at Sadie Sautler School. Stating this was something that she had been working on before the death of a first grade child last week, she pointed out the congestion of children and traffic in the area along 14th Street up to where Pennsylvania Street comes into 14th. Enumerating the action taken early in the school year by the Police Department to improve conditions in the area, Mrs. Kittrell said she had recently been talking to Police Chief Tommy Gladson about the possibility of another traffic officer to be stationed in the area. One traffic officer is on duty at 14th and Myrtle, and another where Halifax, 14th and Farmville Boulevard intersect. "Many children are crossing 14th next to Phillips' Funeral Home," she noted.

The board approved a recommendation that city officials be approached for consideration of an additional traffic controller for this area on 14th Street adjacent to Sadie Sautler.

A break-in at the Ruth Meadows Store near Hanrahan was reported to the Sheriff's Department at 7:30 a.m. Monday morning.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said entrance to the business was gained by prying a pad lock off of the front door. The store owner reported 75 cartons of cigarettes, a record player, 150 records, a radio, 50 cans of assorted canned goods, two cases of beer, a quantity of wine, an electric guitar and one gold watch missing following the incident.

The Sheriff said the merchandise was valued at an estimated $483.

Deputies also received a report of a break-in in Clyde Cannon's Service Station in NC 11 north of Grifton that occurred sometime Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Entrance was gained to the store, Sheriff Tyson said, by prying out an air conditioner from a rear window.

Reported missing was 160 cartons of cigarettes, $25 in silver from the cash register, $60 from a pinball machine, and three cases of beer. Value of the merchandise, including the money, was estimated at $472.

Harmony At School Cited

An atmosphere of harmony and cooperation at Sadie Sautler Elementary School was lauded by Board of Education Member Mrs. Lucille Gorham at last night's board meeting.

"I was deeply impressed by the feeling at Sadie Sautler School that was prevalent in their Christmas program," Mrs. Gorham commented.

"I wish every board member could have been there, everyone seemed so much at ease." She noted "This is such a contrast to the confusion which was evident at the first of the year."

Citing several teachers for their hard work and cooperation in "making this beautiful program possible," Mrs. Gorham then spoke of another development. "The next day, the day after the program, a number of parents agreed that their children could go to sing at the funeral of the Cannon boy. "It looks like parents have accepted the change, and are happy to do it," Mrs. Gorham concluded.

Annual Party For Math Dept.

The mathematics department of East Carolina University held its annual Christmas party Friday night at the Greenville Woman's Club.

After the guests were welcomed by Tullio Pignani and an invocation was offered by Milan Johnson, a three course dinner was served. "A Christmas Story" was presented by Miss Louise Williams. Mrs. Lucille Moore, the departmental secretary was presented a red rose corsage for her excellent work.

Christmas carols were then sung by the group with John Daniels leading and Mrs. Hattie Pignani accompanying on the piano.

Pamlico Stops Grifton Five

BAYBORO — Pamlico County downed the Grifton High School Bulldogs, 75-57 Monday night. The Grifton girls got some measure of revenge with a 36-27 victory in the opener.

Pamlico slipped out into a 13-8 lead in the first period of the game, and then broke it open with a strong second quarter. They pushed through 26 points, while Grifton managed only 14. That ran the lead out to 39-22 at halftime.

Grifton tried to battle back in the third period, scoring 22 points, but still fell one short of Pamlico, which got 23 points. That gave the hosts a 62-44 lead as the final period got underway. Both teams managed 13 points in that period.

Billy Edwards led Grifton with 27 points, while Mike Jackson had 10.

Boomer led Pamlico with 25, while Smith had 17 and Gibbs had 10.

In the girls contest, Grifton moved out into a 16-9 lead in the first period of play. Both teams slowed their tempo in the second period, as each scored four points. That left Grifton in a seven-point lead, 20-13 at the half.

Grifton added three more to its margin in the third period, 10-7, and held a 30-20 lead at the end of the frame. Pamlico finally managed to oust Grifton in the final frame, 7-6, but to no avail.

Laura Kilpatrick led Grifton with 11 points, while Sue Carter had 10. Pat Miller had 10 to lead Pamlico.

Grifton's boys play host to James Kenan tonight.

Conley Girls Must Get Together As Team

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
(One of a series)

WINTERVILLE — D. H. Conley's girls have yet to get on their own home court, and maybe when they do, Coach Walter Claybrook hopes that they'll put things together and become a stronger team.

"We need one good solid win," Claybrook said, "to weld us together into a team."

Conley, newly consolidated this year from four other schools, is having the trouble common to this situation, getting together as a unit and working together.

There are five girls on the team who had starting experience at the schools they were in last year. They include Pat Hamilton, Kathy Haddock, Madge Dews, and June and Jane Hall.

And as to where they are likely to play, Claybrook offers only a question mark. "We interchange our positions quite frequently," he said. "You can't really call anyone a starter at any position. They could start at forward in one game, rover in another and guard in another." All five of the veterans, however, are usually in the starting lineup.

"We really need one more good guard," Claybrook said. "All of our guards are relatively slow, and we've used both Sherry Sutton and Trudy Halstead there so far this year."

Claybrook feels that the overall experience is not that bad. "We just don't have confidence in ourselves, either as a team or as individuals. If we could get that solid win, I think it would help us to believe in ourselves. more. We've looked real good at times, so I know it's there."

While the overall height of the team is fairly good, there are no real tall girls. Of the six starters, all are about 5-7 except for Pat Hamilton, who is shorter. "Speed is our biggest asset," Claybrook said. "We have tried to run some on the fast break, but our slowness at guard has hurt us there. So we usually try to run a set offense."

Rebounding, because of the lack of real good height, has hurt the Valkyries too. "It's been real poor on the defensive boards, and we've been giving up two or three shots: We're just not blocking out offensive rebounding hasn't been that bad."

Claybrook also feels that the team's shooting has not been up to par, and foul shooting also leaves something to be desired. "We look for Madge Dews to be our leading scorer. She can drive and is only a sophomore. Hamilton is our only senior, so we've got a lot to look forward to," he said.

"I think part of our problem is the newness of the team members to each other. When things get tight, we tend to go to individuals rather than play like a team. We just need to jell together, because I think we've got the potential."

And if the team does jell, Claybrook sees no reason why the Valkyries can't have a winning season.

On the bench, Claybrook looks to Glenda Denton and Anna Nell Worthington as the chief reserves.

As far as the rule change to five girls going full court, Claybrook would like to see it. "You can have more fast breaking with five, and it would speed up the game, and make it better for the spectators."

Conley is slated to move into its new quarters at the start of the new year, and Claybrook is hoping that the new surroundings will help the team to jell and go on to claim a district tournament berth.

Indiana, Miami Take ABA Wins

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Pacers outshot Pittsburgh for a 144-115 victory and the Miami Floridians whipped the Kentucky Colonels 125-119 in an American Basketball Association double-header here Monday night.

The games were the only ABA contests scheduled.

Pittsburgh tried more but Indiana tried harder in field goal attempts. The Pacers early and substantial lead may have contributed to relaxed and accurate shooting.

Pittsburgh hit only 43 of 116 attempts from the floor for a .371 percentage. The Pacers hit 57 of 105 for .542.

Indiana opened up a lead of as much as 19 points in the first quarter, stuck to leads in the teens in the second period,

Carolina Climbs Even With Loss To State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That Old Kentucky Home Sweet Home turned sour over the weekend and cost the Kentucky Wildcats a drop of four places in this week's Associated Press college basketball poll.

While UCLA and South Carolina held onto the top two spots, Kentucky's 89-83 loss to Purdue in the finals of their own invitation tournament knocked the Wildcats from third to seventh place.

That enabled Marquette, Jacksonville and Penn, each 5-0, to move up one position apiece to third, fourth and fifth, respectively. Southern California climbed from eighth to sixth by winning the Sun Bowl Tournament.

The rest of the Top Ten consisted of, Kansas, Drake and Western Kentucky.

UCLA, 4-0 after an idle week, received 26 of the 30 first-place votes cast by sports writers and broadcasters across the country. South Carolina, 5-0, was first on one ballot, Marquette on two and Jacksonville on one. In points, UCLA led South Carolina 579-498.

The Second Ten was made up of Indiana, Tennessee, Villanova, Notre Dame, St. Bonaventure, Purdue, a tie between Oregon and North Carolina for 17th, followed by St. John's N.Y. and New Mexico State.

Purdue and St. John's Florida placed votes in parentheses and total points on a 20-18-16-14-12-10-9 etc. basis:

7. Kentucky	247	14. Notre Dame	77
8. Kansas	229	15. St. Bonaventure	48
9. Drake	220	16. Purdue	28
10. Western Kentucky	185	17. Tie Oregon	25
11. Indiana	173	18. North Carolina	25
12. Tennessee	113	19. St. John's, N.Y.	21
13. Villanova	89	20. New Mexico State	20

Alcindor Wilts Stilt In Win

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain gave Lew Alcindor three feet, and the Milwaukee Bucks center took advantage of it for 37 points Monday night.

"In the last game, Wilt would move back off of me," Alcindor said after the Bucks crushed Chamberlain and the Los Angeles Lakers 113-88 in a nationally televised National Basketball Association game. It was Monday's only NBA contest.

"Then, when I made my move, he would time his leap perfectly and block my shot," Lew said. "This time, I turned around to face him and made him play defense more honestly."

The former UCLA three-time All-American outplayed the veteran Chamberlain in every aspect of the game except assists. Chamberlain finished with 25 points and had 14 rebounds to Alcindor's 16. The Milwaukee sophomore also blocked four shots while Chamberlain knocked down two would-be Milwaukee baskets.

While Alcindor was winning his battle with Chamberlain, two other superstars were playing head-to-head, and again Milwaukee came out on top.

Oscar Robertson tallied 19 points, matching his season average, while holding the Lakers' Jerry West to a similar amount. West was averaging 28.2 points a game going into the contest.

Oscar—the "Big O"—really sparked defensively, time and again stealing the ball and blocking shots. He intimidated West so much that the Los Angeles guard missed six layups.

It was the only regular-season NBA game scheduled for TV on a Monday night. ABC, which aired the contest, plans on televising NBA games on Monday night next year following the football season.

In the ABA, Monday night, Indiana trampled Pittsburgh 144-115 and the Floridians trounced Kentucky 125-119.

Ellis Predicts Ali As Victor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jimmy Ellis, former world heavyweight boxing champion, predicts that Muhammad Ali will defeat Joe Frazier in their title fight next February.

Ellis also accused the boxing world Monday of giving him "the run-around" after his loss to Frazier and said he could defeat Muhammad Ali, who won the heavyweight crown known as Cassius Clay.

"I fought him (Clay) twice as an amateur," Ellis said. "He beat me the first time but the second time I had no trouble with him."

"I know they say that things are different in amateur and professional boxing. But Clay hasn't changed his style. Nor have I. I can still whip Clay."

Commenting on the Ali-Oscar Bonavena bout earlier this month, Ellis said, "I whipped Bonavena easier than he did. All Clay has done is to beat two guys I beat (Jerry Quarry and Bonavena and he's on his way to a bout with Frazier."

In picking Clay as the winner, Ellis said, "He'll be in better shape than he was for the Bonavena fight."

Ellis also said, "I fought my way to the title through eliminations. After I won, I fought Joe Frazier and I'll admit I was rusty, having not had a bout in 18 months. I'm not making excuses. But I'd like to fight him again."

Ellis said fighters seemed to be avoiding him, particularly Floyd Patterson and George Foreman.

"I could go around whipping club fighters and they'd say, 'Why shouldn't he whip them?' I have to meet somebody that really means something but that's the kind that wants no part of me."

On rumors that both Frazier and Ali will retire after their upcoming fight, Ellis said, "I don't want that. I'm a man."

"I wouldn't want to go through another elimination and win the title if I didn't get to fight Clay and get another chance at Frazier. Having the title without beating them would be empty."

Gov. Can't Take License

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Preston Smith says he has his "personal feelings" in the granting of a boxing license to Muhammad Ali but that he is powerless to cancel it.

Smith replied Monday to a letter from B. B. Hester, commander of the Texas Department of the American Legion. Hester asked Smith last week to do all he could to prevent Ali from fighting in Texas.

Smith said Ali, formerly known as Cassius Clay, was denied a boxing license for a year under a law similar to a New York law that Ali successfully attacked in court.

The New York decision gave "no other choice under the law" to Tommy Smith, state commissioner of Labor Statistics, but to issue the license.

The license would permit Ali and heavyweight champion Joe Frazier to fight in Houston's Astrodome. No fight has been set.

Hester complained that Ali had refused to fight for his country but was willing to fight for money.

Barney Shines In Lion Victory

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—It's a good thing Lem Barney is an easy going guy, otherwise there would be a few armchair quarterbacks around town with split heads.

Barney, fourth-year cornerback for the Detroit Lions, says he is continually confronted in local bars and restaurants by persons strongly critical of his ability.

"Some players would go over to them and probably knock them on the head," he grinned. "But being of good nature, I take it."

The detractors should be silenced by now, especially after Barney's performance Sunday against the Green Bay Packers. He returned five punts, a kickoff, and interception a total of 223 yards—63 yards less than the combined total offense for the two teams—as the Lions moved into the National Football Conference playoffs with a 20-0 victory.

For his outstanding performance he was named Monday Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League by the Associated Press.

Caldwell Fate Decided Today

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The Carolina Cougars of the American Basketball Association find out this afternoon whether Joe Caldwell can continue to play for them this season.

A federal court hearing is scheduled at Greensboro on a suit filed by the Atlanta Hawks of the National Basketball Association claiming jurisdiction over Caldwell under the league contract's reserve clause. The clause keeps a player under a team's jurisdiction for a year after the contract expires.

Caldwell quit the Hawks this fall and joined Carolina Oct. 30 after failing to agree on a new contract at Atlanta. Since coming into the ABA on the last place team in the Eastern Division, Caldwell has scored at a 22.6 per game clip. In six NBA seasons he averaged 15.2 points.

The hearing is before U. S. District Judge Edwin M. Stanley, who postponed an earlier court confrontation between lawyers for the two teams. He could allow Caldwell to sit out any Carolina games pending a trial, find reasons for not having a trial or even allow Caldwell to play until a trial decision.

Hayes Named Top Offensive

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Hayes, who caught four touchdown passes in Dallas' title-clinching victory over Houston, was named Offensive Player of the Week in the National Football League by The Associated Press today.

Hayes has that, considerable pride in his latest achievement.

the plaudits of Coach Tom Landry—and an unsigned contract.

Hayes, an obviously disgruntled player this season while refusing to sign his 1970 contract under terms offered by the Cowboys, was the prime mover for Dallas Sunday as he grabbed six passes for 187 yards in a 52-10 victory over the Oilers.

Hayes caught a pair of 38-yarders, a 15-yarder and a 59-yarder from quarterback Craig Morton as the Cowboys grabbed the Eastern Division title in the National Conference and a home playoff berth in the NFC semifinals against Detroit.

It was the fifth consecutive victory in a late bid for the title by the Cowboys, and Landry singled Hayes out for special attention.

"He's been outstanding the past 3-4-5 weeks," said Landry. "He's very important to us."

Hayes and Morton, who also connected with rookie Reggie Rucker for a touchdown pass while completing 13 of 17 passes for 349 yards, have been two of the keys to a resurgent Cowboy team that five weeks ago seemed out of contention—and listless—with a 5-4 record.

But it's a different team now that the Lions will face Saturday.

ACC Teams Seek Wins Against Outside Foes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams begin an annual holiday chore tonight — leaving intramural warfare to take on the nation's best.

Four ACC teams play tonight and if all win, every school will have at least a break-even mark in all games. Seven of the eight schools have winning records at this early point in the season.

Duke is the lone team with a losing percentage, and the Blue Devils could bring that to .500 with a win over Dayton tonight at Dayton.

In other games, North Carolina is at Utah, N.C. State plays Davidson at Charlotte and Tampa is at Maryland.

Duke came out fourth-best in last weekend's big Four Tournament at Greensboro, but coach Buckley Waters isn't about to let that sour his season. The Dayton Flyers fell to his squad in the Kentucky Invitational last year but has the same starting five back, while Waters is struggling to find the right sophomores and veterans to play with senior center Randy Denton.

Denton was named to the all-Big Four Tournament team Monday.

The North Carolina Tar Heels just nipped the Blue Devils in the Big Four consolation, and a trek to Salt Lake City could be the second win in a row for the scrappy squad. North Carolina is tied for 17th in the latest AP poll, despite its first loss last week.

Jack Gardner's Utes beat Duke in the National Invitational Tournament in New York last spring and are strong in the Western Athletic conference again. They play in a brand-new-15,000 seat arena and have two-time all-conference player Mike Newlin as their big gun.

The N.C. State-Davidson clash could be between the 1970-71 ACC and Southern Conference champions. Both won their league's titles a year ago and both appear as strong this season.

The Wolfpack won the Big Four while Davidson was taking Georgia in overtime Saturday, the same team that whipped N.C. State earlier in the month. The Wildcats are unbeaten in four games and are playing without standout guard Bryan Adrian, who has a leg injury.

State center Paul Coder says plain hard work has produced this year's fine start, adding: "It was a matter of fitting pieces together." He referred to the spots lost when all-ACC Van Williford and Rich Anheuser graduated.

Coder is familiar with at least one Davidson player — center Erick Minkin. The 6-foot-7 Minkin and the 6-10 Coder played together once this summer. "He's a real good player inside," Coder said.

The Wolfpack ace added, "We'll have a lot to point to."

No games were played Monday night.

Pistol Who? LSU Is Unbeaten This Year

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
So who needs Pistol Pete?

For the first time in four seasons Pistol Pete Maravich is not a member of the Louisiana State college basketball team.

The No. 1 collegiate scorer in each of his three varsity years at LSU now is a professional with the Atlanta Hawks in the NBA.

But, strange to relate, the Bayou tigers from Baton Rouge have won four straight and are unbeaten going into their first round game against DePaul in the All-College holiday tourney at Oklahoma City Saturday.

Led by Nelson Isley, the only senior on the team, LSU routed Georgia 97-76 Monday night at home for their latest success.

Isley, 6-foot-3, scored 26 points. Billy Newton and Al Sanders chipped in with 20 and 19, respectively.

Louisville snapped the six-game winning streak of eighth-ranked Kansas in decisive fashion, 87-75. Playing at home the once-beaten Cardinals were led by Henry Bacon's 22 points and at one time were ahead by 26 points.

Alabama, the team which marred Louisville's record, was crushed 122-75 by sixth-ranked Southern California at Los Angeles.

St. Bonaventure and Purdue were the only other teams in the Associated Press Top Twenty to see action. Both won. The Bonnies, No. 15, routed Illinois Wesleyan 92-57 for their sixth in a row. Purdue, No. 16, walloped Tulane 94-73.

A layup by Jerry Brucks with five seconds left gave Wyoming a 72-71 victory over California in the first round of the Michigan Invitational at Ann Arbor. Michigan routed Harvard 100-73 and will play Wyoming in the final tonight.

John Mengelt scored 32 points for Auburn, but Houston pulled out a 79-76 victory over the Tigers on the hot hand of Sonny Willis in the last 13 minutes.

Willis came off the bench and scored 13 of Houston's final 27 points.

Rice humbled Yale 91-71. Memphis State defeated Princeton 86-77, Stanford turned back Temple 73-64 and Washington, tripped Kansas State 64-51.

In other intersectional games, Florida overcame Northwestern 88-73, Iowa took Hardin Simmons 90-77, Wichita State conquered Colorado 79-69, Xavier of Ohio defeated Los Angeles Loyola 96-84 and Vernon Murphy threw in 39 points to pace Arkansas over Missouri-St. Louis 91-84.

AFC Team Set For Pro Bowl

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Quarterbacks Bob Griese of the Miami Dolphins and Daryle Lamonica of the Oakland Raiders were named today to the 40-man squad that will represent the American Football Conference in the first AFC-NFC Pro Bowl Game in Los Angeles, Jan. 24.

The Kansas City Chiefs, last year's Super Bowl champions who have been eliminated from contention this season, dominated the balloting with 10 players named. The Raiders, who edged the Chiefs for the Western Division title, had seven players selected.

The Chiefs' selected include seven players who saw all-star action last year—linebackers Bobby Bell and Willie Lanier, defensive tackle Buck Buchanan, cornerback Jim Marsalis, guard Ed Budde, tackle Jim Tyrer and placekicker Jan Stenerud.

Joining their teammates on the squad were defensive tackle Jerry Mays, safety Johnny Robinson and punter Jerrel Wilson.

The Raiders on the team are Lamonica, running back Hewritt Dixon, receiver Warren Wells, tight end Ray Chester, tackle Harry Schuh, center Jim Otto and cornerback Willie Brown.

Chester was one of only two rookies to make the squad. The other was Lemar Parrish, Cincinnati's cornerback-kick return specialist.

Among the others picked were two of the AFC's major statistical leaders—Buffalo receiver Marlin Briscoe and Floyd Little of Denver, the rushing champion.

Every team placed at least one man on the squad, although under the rules of selection each club did not have to be represented. Baltimore, Cleveland and Miami have three players each on the squad, Cincinnati, Denver, Houston, New York, Pittsburgh and San Diego two each, and Boston and Buffalo one each.

The team was selected by vote of the 13 AFC head coaches, who could not submit a ballot for any member of their own team. The squad has 20 offensive players, 17 defensive players, a punter, a placekicker and a return specialist.

The NFC team that will meet the AFC in the first all-star game under the National Football League's new two 13-team conference alignment will be announced at a later date.

McGuire: Lefty Hit Himself

NEW YORK (AP) — The brawl that marred the Maryland-South Carolina college basketball game last week appears to have planted the seeds for a full-fledged feud.

Frank McGuire, South Carolina's coach, charged Monday that Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell, who suffered a split lip in the melee, had actually struck himself.

"The best we can find out," said McGuire, "from looking at the films is that Lefty was swinging away and hit himself in the mouth. That's what it looked like."

Driesell, contracted in College Park, Md., said, "that's ridiculous. The films have been on TV. I know I've got a split lip and I know I didn't swing at anyone. That's a lie."

McGuire, here for the annual Holiday Festival Basketball Tournament at Madison Square Garden, said the brawl might cause a rematch between the two teams scheduled for Jan. 9 at College-Park to be called off.

"It's all up to them (Maryland) and our athletic director," said McGuire.

Driesell said he knew nothing about the possibility that the Jan. 9 game might be called off.

The Maryland coach said he has been told McGuire is "sick and tired" of continuing stories about the fight. He said, "Then why don't he let it drop. I haven't said anymore about it. That's a stupid statement."

McGuire's comment that the Jan. 9 clash at College Park may be called off has not been confirmed by Atlantic Coast Conference sources or spokesmen at Maryland or South Carolina.

The acting ACC commissioner, Norvell Neve, has reports from both officials who worked the game at Columbia and has films for study. His decision is expected in a few days.

South Carolina won the game, 96-70, the score at the moment 4:52 from the end when the fists began flying. It was the Terps' first loss.

McGuire's squad, ranked second in the nation, has beaten Virginia Tech since.

Pinehurst Sold For $9 Million

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — A $9 million cash transaction Monday gave the golfing resort of Pinehurst a new owner. Diamondhead Corp. of New Jersey, a holding company controlled by millionaire industrialist Malcolm McLean, bought the 75-year-old, 75,000-acre property from Pinehurst, Inc., stockholders. The heirs of James Walker Tufts of Boston owned about two-thirds of the stock. Not included in the sale were private residences and businesses owned by many of the 1,000 permanent residents of the unincorporated community in the Sandhills region of south-central North Carolina. However, the transaction did include the five golf courses and property of Pinehurst Country Club, the 250-room Carolina Hotel, the 65-room Holly Inn, the Pinehurst Garage, a harness horse training track, all service facilities such

Pitt Native Earns Doctorate In Colorado

Dr. Brown received her bachelor of business administration degree from the University of Miami, and an M. A. from East Carolina University. She was an elementary school teacher and private tutor to the culturally deprived in Dade County for a year before joining the Dade County schools as a special education teacher, and working with bilingual adults in the Adult Education program of that county. She also served as director of student field experiences for two years. In 1970, Dr. Brown became coordinator of Mental Retardation for Northeastern University in Boston, Mass.

Draft-Resistor Granted Parole

WASHINGTON (AP) — David V. Harris, draft-resistor husband of folk singer Joan Baez, has been granted a parole from prison effective March 15. The federal Board of Parole chairman, George J. Reed, said Monday that Harris, who is serving three years for refusing to submit to induction into the armed forces, planned to return to his wife and infant son at Palo Alto, Calif. Harris, a former student body president at Stanford University, was sentenced July 16, 1969. He received credit for several months in jail prior to sentencing, and would have been released next Nov. 6 in the absence of parole.

Wiretapping Said Needed By Lawmen

RALEIGH (AP) — Police officials of four North Carolina cities agree that legalized but strictly controlled wiretapping is needed to deal with the illegal sale of drugs. They told a committee of the Legislative Drug Commission Monday they are virtually powerless to gather evidence against "men at the top" in the absence of legal authority to employ electronic surveillance tools. The officials were Justus Tucker, chief of Winston-Salem's police department; Pat Hunter, legal advisor to the Charlotte police department; Tom Davis, chief of the Raleigh police department; and Lt. John Faircloth, commander of the Greensboro police department's vice squad. "We've got to have a technique to get to the upper echelon in the drug traffic," Faircloth told the committee. Davis also advocated enactment of a so-called "no knock" law which would permit officers to enter and search a building without a search warrant. This was opposed by the other officials. State Rep. Jim Beatty, D-Mecklenburg, chairman of the committee, said his group is considering recommending both types of controversial laws to the 1971 General Assembly. Tucker told the committee wire tapping "is an important and necessary tool." But, he added, "because of abuses I'd like to see certain very strong strings attached, within reason." Hunter said wire tapping would be especially effective in gathering evidence against professional criminals. "There is no other way to get them," he said, "unless they commit an amateurish mistake."

Recommend New Study

RALEIGH (AP) — A study commission says it will propose no substantive changes in North Carolina's law forbidding state or local governments from entering into contracts with labor organizations. This was decided Monday over the strong objections of labor representatives on the Governor's Study Commission on Employer-Employee Relations. The present labor laws allow public employees to form and join unions, but actual collective bargaining is illegal. The group voted to insert some language in the statutes to clarify the right of employees to discuss working conditions and grievances with their employers. However, the governments would not be required to initiate such procedures. The panel voted to recommend to Gov. Bob Scott that the commission be continued or another appointed to make a full study of the matter. It also recommended that a "more broadly representative" committee be appointed. Labor members on the commission said the present panel has no representatives from police, firemen's or sanitation workers unions, or any women or black members. The study group was formed by Gov. Scott at the urging of the Local Government Study Commission and executive officials of the North Carolina League of Municipalities and the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners.

Apollo 14 Crew Tasks Revealed

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — When the Apollo 14 astronauts prowled the moon, they will attempt to pull a two-wheel cart up a 400-foot-high slope littered with rocks as large as automobiles. At the top of the 12-40-15-degree slope is the rim of Cone

Crater where the explorers hope to find soil dating back to the creation of the moon.

Details of the lunar excursion were discussed at a news conference Monday by Apollo Mission Director Chester M. Lee. Apollo 14 is scheduled for launching from Cape Kennedy Jan. 31 on a nine-day flight.

Lee said astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Edgar D. Mitchell will try a tricky pinpoint landing in a narrow valley surrounded by the rugged highlands of the Fra Mauro formation. They plan two outside excursions, each lasting between four and five hours.

The third crewman, Stuart A. Roosa, will orbit the moon alone in the command ship Kitty Hawk, photographing future landing sites and conducting scientific experiments.

During the first moon walk Shepard and Mitchell will set up a nuclear-powered science station intended to relay data back to earth for a year or more on such things as moonquakes, meteorite impacts, magnetic fields and radiation.

The second walk, after a nine-hour rest in the lunar module they have named for the star Antares, will be a geology field trip. The rim of Cone Crater, half a mile from the landing site, will be the goal. Lee said that the moonmen would visit several geologically interesting features that would extend their total walking distance to and from the crater to a little more than a mile and a half.

Shepard and Mitchell will be the first astronauts to use a two-wheel carrier that looks like a small rickshaw. They will load it with shovels, hammers, cameras, sample bags and other tools of the moon explorer.

The Fra Mauro highlands were believed to have been formed eons ago by debris thrown out when a huge meteorite struck the moon and carved out the giant Mare Imbrium—the Sea of Rains—500 miles to the north.

Some of the rocks are believed to have been gouged from a depth of 100 miles or more and could be the original material involved in the creation of the moon, which, like Earth and other planets, is thought by many to have originated by the coming together of rocks and dust in a giant dust cloud.

Lee said the Apollo 14 crew will fly a much safer spaceship than the ill-fated Apollo 13 craft of last April.

An oxygen tank exploded as Apollo 13 neared the moon and the three spacemen had to fight for their lives for four danger-filled days before returning safely to Earth, surviving on the life support systems of the lunar module.

Morton Leaves Milling Firm

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Rogers C. B. Morton, President Nixon's choice to succeed Walter J. Hickel as secretary of the interior, has tendered his resignation as a director of the Pillsbury Co. milling firm.

A company announcement Monday said the resignation would be effective upon confirmation of Morton's federal appointment by the U.S. Senate. Morton has been a Pillsbury director since 1951.

Paths Available For Mini-Bikes

Mini bike riding paths on a temporary basis are available in Greenville during the holiday season, according to Recreation Department director Boyd Lee. Noting that a large number of parents have expressed concern about youngsters having some safe place to ride, Lee said that action has been taken to permit children to use the dirt trails of the new Evans Park property on Hooker Road for mini bike riding.

The road leading into the park is being barricaded. Lee says there is no age restriction on those who may use the area. Parents may use the road and roadside (in front of the barricaded section) for parking in the event they wish to transport their children and bikes to the area.

Lee said the plan had been checked out with Police Chief Tommy Gladson who is enthusiastic about the plan to provide the children a place to ride off the streets and sidewalks.

No supervision is being provided for the children. For that reason, Lee recommends parents, especially of younger children, accompany their children or have someone to supervise them. Riding will be permitted only during daylight hours.

The use of the Evans Park property for this purpose will be effective during the holiday period. Lee indicated that as it is a temporary measure, announcement will be made at a later date when the termination of this plan will become effective.

The Worry Clinic The 'Gift' Of Losing Weight

Louise surprised her husband and stopped his interest in an outside paramour! For she gave him a unique gift that zoomed her own feminine ego, while banishing his dread of being a platonic mate. Wives, follow Louise's example and thereby avoid the divorce court!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M. D.

CASE P-517: Louise M., aged 39, wants some "gift" advice. "Dr. Crane," she began, "I'd like to offer my husband a present that will be different. "But he has all the tools and clothes and golf clubs that he needs.

"So what could I give him that would please him most?" Louise was 40 pounds overweight.

And I knew her husband quite well, for he had already confided in me that he was growing platonic, and even considering an "affair."

So I suggested that Louise begin that famous 10-day diet and then continue thereon till she had slimmed down to within 10 pounds of her bridal figure. "This will not only lengthen your own lifespan," I warned her, "but will delight your husband.

"For then you'll seem more like the bride you were 20 years ago.

"An obese wife kills much of the romantic ardor of her husband and thus scares him into thinking he is prematurely senile.

"So you can banish such fears from your husband by taking off that ugly blubber!"

Well, Louise subconsciously had sensed that her husband might be looking elsewhere for romantic thrills.

So she agreed to diet. The chief virtue in my 10-day dehydration diet is the fact it bolsters your morale.

For you will actually be down 10 pounds at the end of the first 10 days.

Obviously, some of that weight loss will be due to dehydration, but your ego is then inflated just to see the quick drop.

In cool weather, most people can stay on the low liquid input without much trouble.

Just limit your total fluid intake to one full glass (8 oz.) the first day; two glasses the second, and three thereafter through the 10th day. Meanwhile, women can have 800 calories per day while men are granted 1,200.

Stress protein and low caloric vegetables, such as head lettuce, raw cabbage and green beans. Cottage cheese is an excellent source of protein and counts 200 calories for a full 8-oz. cup. Lean meat is also excellent. Remember, too, that protein is the ONLY food that loses 15 percent of its calories in the process of digestion.

Medically, this is called the "specific dynamic action" of protein.

Louise was elated after 10 days to find that she had actually dropped 11 pounds.

Then she shifted to Diet No. 2, whereby you lose 6 to 10 pounds per month. Within 90 days, she had shed 28 pounds.

Her husband meanwhile perked up in his romantic ardor, too. So Louise not only avoided losing her mate to an outside paramour, but felt and looked much younger.

Wives, divorces start in the bedroom! But often that is indirectly due to your excessive indulgence in the dining room!

So send for that medical booklet "How to Lose 10 Pounds in 10 Days," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20c.

It is not only superb health insurance but likewise a splendid way to safeguard your marriage from a divorce! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Will Resign Rather Than Face Court Classified

By TOM BRADY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two senior Coast Guard officers have taken retirement rather than face courts-martial for their part in the abortive defection attempt of a Lithuanian sailor.

But the officers, Rear Adm. William B. Ellis, 56, and Capt. Fletcher W. Brown Jr., 50, face a congressional committee next Tuesday in the case of would-be defector Simas I. Kudirka. Russian seamen forcibly pulled Kudirka aboard their adjacent vessel after he jumped to the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Vigilant in U.S. territorial waters off Martha's Vineyard, Mass., last month.

Rep. Wayne L. Hays called outrageous a decision Monday by Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe to let the officers retire and thus evade court-martial proceedings.

The Ohio Democrat said he wants Ellis and Brown to appear before his House foreign operations subcommittee to "find out what makes them think like this." Brown was acting commander of the First Coast Guard District in Boston and Ellis, the commander, was on sick leave when Kudirka attempted defection.

A report of a formal Coast Guard investigation sharply criticizes the two officers and also declares the State Department "did not furnish ... adequate, helpful or timely advice to deal properly with this defection." Adm. C.R. Bender, the Coast Guard commandant, issued findings based on the report that called for court-martialing both men on charges of dereliction.

But Bender said he would drop the charges if the pair retired immediately.

Volpe noted the officers submitted retirement requests, told Bender not to press charges and agreed with Bender they should receive punitive letters of reprimand.

Brown and Ellis now "appreciate fully their serious error of judgment, ... have been subjected to extreme castigation from many quarters in this nation," and, with their families, have suffered, Volpe said.

Volpe said he regretted "very deeply that a young man had to lose his chance for freedom in order to bring to light deficiencies in government procedures for welcoming victims of oppression to American soil." He added that new procedures should prevent the incident of Nov. 23 from happening again.

A spokesman for the Transportation Department, which runs the Coast Guard, said the careers of Ellis and Brown will end by Jan. 31, but could not say immediately what their pensions will be.

Volpe kept with Bender's finding that Cmdr. Ralph W. Eustis, the commander of the Vigilant, should get an administrative letter of reprimand and be reassigned.

The spokesman described an administrative letter as "a slap on the hand" and said Eustis already had received reassignment orders last July for a change in duty starting next March.

Eustis is "being made the goat in this whole thing," Hays declared. "His career is shot. And they're letting the other two retire with pensions."

The Coast Guard's report on the incident and Bender's conclusions state, in part: —Kudirka clearly indicated three times to Vigilant officers he wanted to defect.

—Ellis told Brown, "If we get the defector, we should give him back" because, in part, a defection might interrupt talks on U.S. fishing industry complaints over the Russians taking too many yellow-tailed flounders off New England coasts. When Brown told Ellis that Kudirka's life was in jeopardy from the Russians, Ellis said, "I don't think we have any reason to believe this. They (the Russians) are not barbarians."

—Brown should have "exercised independently his authority as acting district commander," but "he was markedly influenced in his course of action by the forceful advice" of Ellis, Bender said. The report recommended court-martial for Brown's failure "to inform the commandant of the progress in the case" and to keep Kudirka on the Vigilant until he had proper advice.

—The State Department told the Coast Guard to do nothing to entice the defector and "until the man was actually on board Vigilant, State Department could offer no advice, but that once the man was on board, State Department should be notified." Bender called for State Department-Coast Guard talks to explore "detailed guidelines ... on current State Department policy and procedure."

—Eustis erred in allowing Russian crewmen "to exercise any control of the defector while on board the Vigilant," Bender declared.

—The master of the Soviet vessel, the Sovetskaya Litva, told Eustis that Kudirka stole 3,000 rubles before he defected. In a wild melee to avoid capture, Kudirka appeared to jump overboard from the Vigilant. When the Russians finally captured him, "one Soviet repeatedly struck Kudirka's head against the steel rail of the ladder" of the Vigilant. Crewmen intervened to stop the beating. But after almost an hour, the Russians had Kudirka wrapped in a blanket and, according to one junior officer, "would have beaten Kudirka into unconsciousness to simplify their task of removing him."

The Lithuanian eventually was removed to the Soviet vessel by small boat.

Fire Triggered Burglar Alarm

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Police answering the burglar alarm at the First National Bank found a fire instead.

The heat of the fire had set off the alarm Monday. Firemen had the blaze under control within an hour, and the bank was open for business today.

Firemen said the fire apparently began in a back utility room, probably from an electrical short circuit. Fire damage was confined to that area and to the consumer loan department. But there was smoke and water damage to the rest of the bank, which opened two months ago.

Hanukkah Begins With Sundown

NEW YORK (AP) — Jews around the world begin the eight-day observance of Hanukkah at sundown today, commemorating the victory more than 2,000 years ago of a small band called the Maccabees over a Syrian tyrant.

According to tradition, the Maccabees found a lamp with oil for only one day as they were cleansing and rededicating the temple in Jerusalem. But the lamp burned for eight days, giving rise to the custom of lighting candles during the holiday, also known as the Festival of Lights.

MAN NEGLECTED NEW DELHI (AP) — The Anthropological Survey of India, in a report to mark its silver jubilee celebrations, says that the most neglected animal in India is man.

PEOPLE POWER

Want Ads bring people together . . . finder and loser, employer and employee, landlord and tenant, buyer and seller. Want Ads do more things — for more people — at a lower cost — than any other kind of advertising. That's what we call "people power!"

Put the power of Reflector Want Ads to work bringing you the extra money that makes life a lot more fun. Just go through your home and make a list of every worthwhile thing you find which you no longer use or need . . . things like furniture, appliances, musical instruments, record players, drapes, sports equipment and much more. Then dial 752-6166 for a friendly Ad Writer between 8:30 a.m. & 5 p.m. A three line ad is only 68c per day on the special 7 day rate.

Reflector Want Ads are truly "people power"; and it's no wonder, for they accomplish so much for so little. Hop on the bandwagon now! You'll be so glad you did.
