

Mansfield Expects Saturday Session

Odds Against Congress Ending Tonight

By WALTER R. MEARS Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — An old Congress is about to wearily welcome a New Year, still waging the battles of 1970 on the eve of 1971.

Senate-House negotiators were making another attempt to settle the stalemate over subsidies for the supersonic transport airplane.

And there was a cross-Capitol dispute over the fate of a bill to increase Social Security benefits.

But the stack of legislation confronting the waning Congress was dwindling.

"I wish I could give more encouraging news on the SST, which may well be the final roadblock to adjournment," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

Sen. Hugh Scott, the Republican leader, said he hopes the 91st Congress will call it quits by tonight.

But the odds appeared to be against it.

Mansfield said he expects a

Senate session Saturday—just a day before the time the Constitution sets for expiration of the current Congress.

Another potential complication: the possibility President Nixon might choose to pocket veto legislation sent to the White House on Dec. 22.

A pocket veto kills a bill if the president does not sign it within 10 days after receiving it—if Congress is not in session when that time expires.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Nixon has 22 unsigned bills, some of which could die by pocket veto if Congress is in adjournment Saturday.

But the more immediate problem was at the Capitol, in the form of a $2.5-billion transportation appropriations bill stalled in the SST controversy.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., a chief promoter of the SST measure, said he sees a 50-50 chance of compromise to settle that issue today.

The Senate originally voted to stop spending for the SST; the House voted $290 million for the project, and a compromise bill offering $210 million produced a filibuster in the Senate.

It was rejected in favor of new negotiations, which began Wednesday night. The conference was informal, since the House has not yet gone through the process of naming its conferees again.

The House passed Wednesday night and sent to the Senate a compromise three-year extension of the food stamp program which subsidizes grocery purchases of the poor, sticking by a disputed requirement that recipients accept almost any job offered.

The bill authorizes $1.75 billion for the food stamp program during the current fiscal year.

The compromise terms had loomed as a potential barrier to adjournment, but Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said he had decided against trying to defeat them because there isn't time to draft a new version.

Nonetheless, McGovern described the work rule as service, saying it would cut off food stamps to mothers and children if a father, even an older brother or sister, refused a job.

The Senate passed 40 to 35 and sent to the House a bill that could give nearly 4 million federal employees, in and out of uniform, a pay raise of about 6 percent, effective Jan. 1. That would cost the government some $2 billion.

The measure gives the president authority to increase pay of federal workers to keep pace with salaries in private employment.

In the Senate, Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the Finance Committee, appealed to the House to make an attempt at fashioning a compromise Social Security increase bill before Congress quits.

The Senate passed Tuesday a $6.5-billion increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million Americans. The bill also would boost welfare for aged, blind and disabled recipients by $1 billion a year.

Family Doctor Training Bill Pocket Veto Could Face Challenge In Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon faces a possible court challenge over his use of a pocket veto to kill a family doctor training bill.

Supporters of the bill say the President abused his pocket veto authority when Congress was in a brief holiday recess.

They urged Congress to ignore the veto and appropriate funds, making it possible for a medical student eligible under the program to file a court action if the government fails to implement it.

Other members want Congress itself to seek a court ruling on the constitutionality of Nixon's action, and still others say the Constitution should be amended to clarify the pocket veto authority.

Nixon touched off the controversy last Saturday when he announced he was killing the Family Practice of Medicine Act by refusing to sign it. His failure to sign it amounted to a pocket veto, the White House said, because Congress was not meeting when the 10th day passed.

The Constitution provides a bill becomes law without the President's signature after 10 days if Congress is still in session. If Congress has adjourned, a bill dies if it hasn't been signed by the 10th day.

Congress was in the middle of a six-day Christmas recess when the 10 days expired on the family doctor bill, which would have provided $225 million over three years for grants to medical schools to train general practitioners.

Before passing the temporary adjournment resolution, which fixed Dec. 28 as the date of return, the House and Senate provided that messages from the President could be received during the shutdown.

The purpose of the pocket veto provision in the Constitution is to cover a situation in which the adjournment of Congress makes it impossible for the President to return a vetoed bill so that Congress can reconsider it.

The bill's supporters say Nixon clearly violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the Constitution by wielding his pocket veto authority just two days before Congress returned and could have attempted to override a normal veto.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, assistant Democratic Senate leader, asked Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell Wednesday to clarify the administration's position on the action.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., at a news conference with Kennedy and other members of Congress, said Nixon's action, if upheld, would subject bills to a pocket veto whenever Congress took a long weekend.

Noting the bill passed with only one dissenting vote in the Senate and two in the House, Yarborough accused Nixon of "hiding behind a pocket veto" to avoid having a regular veto overridden.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., a leading Senate authority on the Constitution, said the pocket veto was ineffective in this case and the bill had become law. He urged the appropriation of funds next year to initiate a lawsuit.

One Known Survivor Of Mine Blast

By SY RAMSEY Associated Press Writer

HYDEN, Ky. (AP) — Rescue workers probed deeper into a mountain today and discovered the 36th victim of a searing blast in a mine cited earlier this year by federal inspectors for safety violation.

The search continued for the bodies of two other men believed to be entombed somewhere within the scorched, rubble-strewn corridors of the Finley Coal Co. operation.

An original list provided by the company showed 39 men were working when the blast hit Wednesday afternoon but officials said one of the men apparently was not in the mine.

The only known survivor of the blast was hospitalized with minor injuries, incurred when he was blown back out of the tunnel.

Everett Bartlett, supervisor of the Hazard district of the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals, attributed the disaster to one of two things:

"Either they were shooting (dynamiting) the coal in there or it was a blown (electrical) cable."

In federal inspections earlier this year, the mine was cited for a variety of mine safety law violations, the Louisville Courier-Journal reported.

The newspaper said records show that in June a federal inspector found an "imminent danger" because of loose coal and coal dust accumulations and ordered mining stopped. It resumed operations three days later after deficiencies were corrected.

More irregularities were found in October and on Nov. 23, according to the Courier-Journal. There was no indication that the earlier violations were related to Wednesday's blast, the newspaper said.

Clifford Finley, a relative of the mine owner, was in the mine shop about 50 feet from the main entrance when the explosion occurred.

Finley immediately ran to two mine openings to see whether the fans were still operating. "I knew they had to have ventilation if they were going to survive," he said.

Both fans were working, but as it turned out the men in the mine apparently were beyond the need of an air supply.

Finley, who went in with an early rescue party, said the victims he saw were badly burned and appeared to have died instantly.

One worker, A. T. Collins, was about 10 feet inside the mine when the detonation came about 12:20 p.m. He was hurled 30 feet but escaped with minor injuries.

Gov. Louie B. Nunn, who came here from Frankfort, set up temporary headquarters in a metal hut a few yards from the main entrance to the mine.

He telephoned the White House, which offered federal aid, but Nunn said he replied that "nothing more could be done at the moment."

As word of the tragedy reached Hyden, the seat of the second poorest county in the nation, relatives began flocking to the site, about one mile up a dirt road.

Says Tricia To Wed In June

NEW YORK (AP) — President Nixon's daughter Tricia and Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox will be married in the second week of June, according to the Daily News society columnist Suzy Knickerbocker.

The columnist said in today's edition the ceremony probably would take place in the White House — "Tricia isn't too crazy about the idea of a White House wedding, but her father is."

The story added that after Cox finished law school the couple probably would live in New York.

Here We Go Again

The year 1970 went out today with a heavy snowfall in North Carolina. This first major storm of the winter was expected to confront New Year's Eve revelers with four inches or more of snow in some sections of the state. The National Weather Service said the heaviest falls would be in the western and northern reaches.

It was the second snowfall in North Carolina in three days. The first contributed to three deaths on icy roads.

A complex low pressure area moved into the state from the Florida panhandle. Then a small low centered over Arkansas also moved toward the state, and the two lows were expected to join over the Carolinas during the afternoon.

The storm moved across the Carolinas and then up the coast.

Warnings were issued for four inches of more of new snow over several Eastern states today and tonight.

The areas of heavy snow warnings included portions of northern and eastern Tennessee, most of Kentucky, inland North Carolina, and most of Virginia, Maryland and Delaware.

A heavy snow watch — not as urgent as a warning — was issued for Pennsylvania, New Jersey, most of southeastern New York and southern New England.

Eighteen-Year-Olds Can Now Register To Vote At Board Of Elections

Persons 18, 19 and 20 years old may now register to vote in national elections and according to J.B. Spilman, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Elections, "It is important to understand that these newly enfranchised voters will not be qualified to vote in state or local elections, but in national elections only."

He said, "In other words, the first election in which the 18-20 year olds will be eligible to vote will be the 1972 election for president, vice-president, U.S. Senate and Congress only."

In North Carolina, registration of 18-20 year olds will be accomplished in the office of the county board of elections only, Spilman said. Precinct registrars will not be authorized to register 18-20 year olds.

In Pitt County, the Board of Elections in the Court House office is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Spilman said each registrant will be required to present proof of his date of birth by producing a birth certificate, drivers license or other document indicating date of birth.

No literacy test is required, according to Spilman, but prospective voters are required to sign the registration record. In the event an applicant is unable to sign his name, the elections official explained, the applicant's a "mark" (X) will be accepted.

"No person shall be registered prior to his 18th birthday," according to Spilman.

The official emphasized that persons temporarily residing in Pitt County while attending a business school, trade school, college or university will not be registered. Any applicant who is determined to be a "student," Spilman said, is eligible to register in the county or state of his legal residence only, and should register at home and vote there or by absentee ballot.

Sen. Muskie Will Speak In Wilson

WILSON, N. C. (AP) — Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Me., a leading contender for the Democratic nomination for president in 1972, will speak in Wilson on Feb. 19.

State Young Democratic Club President-Elect Charles Winberry announced Wednesday Muskie will be the main banquet speaker when Winberry is formally installed as the state YDC president.

Winberry described Muskie's visit to the state as "highly significant" and said Muskie will place an emphasis on agriculture during his visit.

"Sen. Muskie has expressed a special desire to talk to some of our farmers and farm leaders about the cost-price squeeze facing farmers and what kind of agricultural policy 'is needed,'" Winberry said.

Breakthrough

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, which has been unable in recent days to find its way out of the worst legislative tangle in years, passed a bill Wednesday.

The legislation authorizes interested members of the District of Columbia Fire Department, the U.S. Park Police and the White House police force to play in the city's Metropolitan Police Band.

More Studying

RALEIGH (AP) — Student enrollment at North Carolina's colleges and universities this fall totaled 140,485, an increase of 8,350 over the fall of 1969, Dr. Dameron West, director of higher education, announced today.

West said enrollment in the public institutions increased 9.7 per cent while private institutions showed an increase of 0.4 per cent. As a result, 66 per cent of the total number of college students are now enrolled in public institutions compared to 64 per cent in 1969.

Community colleges enrolled 10,480 students in their college parallel program, a 22.7 per cent increase over the fall of 1969. Private junior colleges enrolled 7,852 students, a gain of 2.2 per cent.

Enrollment at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill totaled 18,138, compared to 16,430 a year ago. Enrollment at the six campuses of the Consolidated University of North Carolina amounted to 45,001, a gain of 4,078.

Of the private institutions, Duke has the largest enrollment, 7,948, compared to 7,734 a year ago.

Commute Death Rulings

By MICHAEL JOHNSON Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — The Supreme Court of the Russian Republic today commuted the death sentences of the two Jews convicted of treason on Christmas Eve in the Leningrad hijack case.

The court reduced the sentences of Edward Kuznetsov, and Mark Dymshits, 43, to 15-year terms in a labor camp. It also reduced the labor camp terms given in Leningrad to three other defendants but upheld the other six sentences.

The trial and sentencing of the Jews set off a storm of protests in Western Europe, Israel and the United States, and a number of foreign governments and leaders appealed to the Soviet government for clemency.

The appeal court reversed the death sentences less than 24 hours after Generalissimo Francisco Franco, the Spanish chief of state, commuted the death sentences of six Basque nationalists, and Russians sympathetic to the Leningrad defendants said the Russian court undoubtedly was influenced by Franco's action.

The 11 defendants—nine Jews and two Gentiles—were arrested in June as they prepared to board a small Soviet airliner in Leningrad for Finland. At the trial, which began Dec. 15 and ended Christmas Eve, the Jews admitted planning to hijack the plane because the Soviet government refused to let them emigrate to Israel. They were charged with treason.

"In considering their appeals," the Soviet news agency Tass reported, "the Supreme Court proceeded from the fact that the hijack attempt was averted in time and that under the Soviet law the death penalty is an exceptional measure of punishment."

The court acted after a hearing that lasted a day and a half. Barred from the courtroom, supporters of the defendants stood outside the building in the rain and snow as the arguments went on inside.

Begin Cutback Green Berets

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — The Army announced today the inactivation of a company of Special Forces troops at Ft. Bragg as part of a cutback in worldwide strength of the Green Berets.

The affected unit is Co. A of the 7th Special Forces Group. Its 225 officers and enlisted men were reassigned to other units at Bragg.

Plans to cut Green Beret strength from 9,000 to 6,000 men were announced weeks ago.

Offer Targets To 'Sportsmen'

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — In its effort to stop hunters from shooting at glass insulators on its utility poles, the Nebraska Public Power District is handing out paper targets with the silhouette of a crow imprinted on them.

The statewide power firm has to spend about $20,000 a year to replace broken insulators.

On the new target, a head or heart shot scores 10 points; other areas are graded down to five with one exception—dusting the tailfeathers is a minus 10.

Petitioners Rarely Meet North Viets

By RODNEY ANGOVE Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — More and more Americans are coming to Paris, trying to pressure North Vietnamese diplomats about American prisoners of war, but most don't get inside the door.

First it was wives of prisoners and missing fliers. Then some Virginians arrived with a sack full of letters pleading for information and better treatment of the POWs. Now the delegations bring petitions with thousands and thousands of signatures.

This week there's a delegation of Florida high school pupils who hope some day to be diplomats.

One delegation handed out little copper bracelets, each inscribed with a prisoner's name. The recipient was asked to wear the bracelet until the prisoner was released.

Nowadays almost no one gets any farther than the grilled front door of the North Vietnamese mission, a red brick building on a little street, on the Left Bank.

One American offered to trade himself for his POW son and set up trade school courses in Hanoi. Another, a former prisoner himself, said he wanted to go back to North Vietnam for a visit.

A husky ex-Marine from New York offered a deal under which Hanoi could trade prisoners for civilian hostages who would act as teachers. He got into a scuffle just inside the door of the North Vietnamese mission and authorities reported that "someone fell down the stairs."

French police escorted him to the airport.

The North Vietnamese and their French staff are always polite on the telephone, the Americans say. But they almost never answer telegrams or registered letters.

For unknown reasons, the Vietnamese occasionally let an American delegation into the mission and up a short flight of carpeted steps to a narrow waiting room. Some delegations are served tea and given political lectures.

Other American visitors have been allowed into the headquarters of Hanoi's delegation to the Paris peace talks and shown films of American bombs falling on North Vietnam and of maimed Vietnamese children.

Expression of a desire to hand something to the Vietnamese—petitions or letters—is an almost certain invitation to a closed door. The North Vietnamese have refused letters and petitions signed by more than 1.2 million Americans distressed over the fate of the prisoners.

Gov. Bob Scott is participating in the Second Annual New Year's Bible Reading, an interfaith continuous reading of the entire Bible beginning midnight tonight.

Gov. Scott's reading of John 17 on tape will be presented in proper sequence during the non-stop recitation of the Scriptures at the Voice of Prophecy, international radio-broadcast headquarters of the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Glendale, Calif. Other governors, mayors, and representatives of business and religion are also reading as "a public recommendation to people everywhere to sample the ageless wisdom of the Bible."

The reading should take about 87 hours and 45 minutes, judging by the length of last year's reading.

There are 56 members of the board of directors, some of them socially prominent. Roberts said he has written the members asking them to signify whether they wish to continue active or wish to resign. He said attendance at board meetings has been only about a dozen, and those present submitted decisions to the full board by mail.

Foundation To Try Re-Organize In N.C.

RALEIGH (AP) — The head of the North Carolina chapter of the Arthritis Foundation says the group plans to re-apply for permission to make public solicitations in North Carolina.

"We're trying to reconstruct our organization and there's no doubt we will try again," said Dr. Jesse Roberts, Duke University physician and unofficial president of the organization.

The Arthritis Foundation's license to make public solicitations in North Carolina was revoked after the North Carolina Department of Social Services charged that less than three cents of each dollar raised by the organization has been going to program services.

The department said an investigation showed the foundation collected about $400,000 in North Carolina during the past six years and that probably only about $10,000 went to program services.

Dr. Roberts said that until the state organization is reconstructed, he has told his arthritis patients not to contribute to the foundation.

He added that he welcomed the "bad publicity" about the state chapter—news that its license to solicit funds had been revoked—because it would help in efforts to reform the chapter.

He said he was glad the license was revoked, because that would aid in the reformation of the chapter.

He said the chapter's financial books are in order, and that when the bank account is unfrozen most of the $12,000 on hand can be spent on clinical programs. About $3,000 in debts is outstanding, he said.

There are 56 members of the board of directors, some of them socially prominent. Roberts said he has written the members asking them to signify whether they wish to continue active or wish to resign. He said attendance at board meetings has been only about a dozen, and those present submitted decisions to the full board by mail.

'You Can't Say He Didn't Warn You'

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1970 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating an attractive widower for a year. He is in his early sixties. He takes me to nice places and is most considerate of me, but on the very first date he told me not to get serious with him. He wants to date me steady, but he doesn't want any "involvements." He wants to play house with me but tells me that marriage is not in his plans. He even tells me that he is in love with me, but he isn't husband material. What does all this mean? Should I give him up or just be satisfied to date him and hope he will change his mind? NOT SO GAY DIVORCEE

DEAR NOT: He is trying to tell you that he doesn't want to marry you, but if you waste your time "hoping," you can't say he didn't warn you.

DEAR ABBY: One of my husband's business acquaintances has made it a habit to come here once a week for drinks and a nice thick steak dinner. He is middle-aged, divorced, and a kind of happy-go-lucky fellow. After dinner he and my husband play pool in our rec room.

I don't want to be bothered with the man every week. My husband is the kind who can't say "no" to anyone, and I am sick of this man imposing on us.

How can I get rid of him without making my husband angry at me? NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: If your husband would be "angry at you" if you got rid of this man, then it's obvious that your husband wants him. It's his house, too, so I advise you to start being a more gracious hostess, or your displeasure will show and your husband will be "angry" at you anyway.

DEAR ABBY: My elderly mother, whom I love dearly, made her home with me for many years. Caring for her this past year has been a 24-hour-a-day job. She became senile and sick, lost control of all of her bodily functions, had to be fed and dressed and watched constantly. I am not complaining. She is my mother and I know she would have done the same for me—and gladly. Two months ago, her doctor insisted that she be moved to a sanatorium because the equipment essential for treatment was there, plus other factors which made keeping her at home impossible.

Remarks have come back to me that have hurt me deeply. You would think I committed my mother to a lunatic asylum or "put her away" like a criminal.

Abby, the sanatorium is one of the best—and one of the most expensive—which puts a strain on me financially, but if I had to scrub floors to provide my mother with the best of care, I would do it. Please print this. So many are quick to criticize when they don't know the facts.

"HURT" DAUGHTER

CONFIDENTIAL TO MANNY: You are lucky it was only a fur coat. Next time it may be your hide.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WORRIED" IN BRISTOL, CONN.: No one can "build up" an immunity to venereal disease. After treatment he can be reinfected again and again and again! I urge you to see a physician or go to your public health department. You will not be lectured. In your state, a doctor is authorized by law to test and treat minors without the consent of parents. Venereal disease is now the second most common communicable infection in the United States. [The common cold is first!]

I urge you to see a physician at once.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Eventful Stroll For Proper Rest

COLOGNE, West Germany (WNS) — Erna Flieger's doctor turned thumbs down on her sleeping pills and prescribed a two-mile stroll every evening after supper to prepare her for proper rest. During her first nightly stroll, the 28-year-old fraulein received a forehead bump from a passing car, reported a store burglary as it was going on, and used her judo successfully to discourage a stranger who tried to force his attentions on her. "I never slept more soundly in my life than after getting safely home," she declared.

Last Minute Snacks For New Year's Eve

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Associated Press Food Editor

These snacks, simple to make at the last minute or to prepare ahead, are based on a popular sandwich served at a New York restaurant. The sandwich is a huge affair; these snacks are pick-up size. Just right to serve with a drink at an evening party.

CORNEBEEF SNACKS

Sauerkraut

French dressing

Corned beef, from a 12-ounce can

Sliced process Swiss cheese, sandwich size

Soft butter

Prepared mustard

Party rye bread slices

Drain sauerkraut very well; mix with French dressing. Use about 2 tablespoons dressing for each cup of sauerkraut. Scrape any fat away from around corned beef after emptying from can in a block; mash corned beef well.

Quarter sandwich-size slices of Swiss cheese.

Blend butter with mustard. Use at least 1 teaspoon mustard for each quarter-cup of butter.

Spread bread with mustard-butter. Top each slice with 1 tablespoon sauerkraut, then with 1 tablespoon corned beef; add a square of cheese to each slice.

Place on cookie sheet. If you like, you can prepare these snacks early in the day, then cover and refrigerate until serving time.

Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until cheese melts—about 8 minutes. Serve hot. If you like, you may pass sweet gherkins with these snacks.

NOTE: Sauerkraut comes in various size plastic bags and cans.

A 12-ounce can of corned beef makes 1½ cups packed down. Sliced process Swiss cheese, sandwich size, comes in 8-ounce packages—8 slices to the package.

Party rye bread slices come in 8-ounce packages—36 slices to the package, not counting ends.

Now, Something For The Birds

Greenville's first snowfall is a reminder that it is time to provide birds with winter food in back yard areas. Thousands of wintering birds will be busy looking for extra rations as the colder days set in.

Two basic types of bird seed are available in many Greenville stores. One is a combination of wild bird seed, mostly small seed of mixed varieties with some sunflower seed. These seeds are especially good for purple finches, slate juncos or snowbirds, and sparrows.

Sunflower seed in packages are ideal for cardinals and evening grosbeaks. A few other birds are also fond of the big sunflower seeds.

For the non-seed eaters, suet (beef fat) is readily available from grocery stores. It is inexpensive — many times it will be given without charge. Chickadees, orioles and a few other local birds are suet eaters.

Placing the food out for the birds is simple. For seed, either a conventional bird feeder or the top of an old table out of reach of cats will serve. Suet can be hung in improvised hangers of wire mesh, stuck on the end of small dead limbs or put on a feeder designed to hold suet.

Bird feeding is not only an assurance of helping keep the feathered creatures well fed, but can provide children and adults with hours of enjoyment. Birds soon learn where feeding stations are and will return to the same place day after day if food is placed there for them.

One good use of old Christmas trees this time of year is as a bird feeder. By sharpening the end of the trunk and pushing it firmly in the ground, the tree can be used all winter as a feeder.

A Big Year Of Highway Work

By GIBSON PRATHER
State Highway Commission
Thomas Wofe said you can't go home again but if you live in Asheville, as he once did, and you want to go home now from eastern Carolina you can do it a lot easier than you once could.

One reason is North Carolina's booming highway program which had a banner year in 1970, with $173.5 million awarded in contracts (a record) and improvements either started or finished on over 4,000 miles of roads.

One reason it's easier to get to Asheville and on to Knoxville, Tennessee, if you prefer, is that this year that frustrating detour between Winston-Salem and Statesville is gone. That stretch was opened late in the year.

This removed a missing link that has been a by-word for motorists who travel it.

The Highway Commission has another interstate treat in store for motorists in 1971. Stated to be completed by next December is the other famous "missing link" from Durham to the Virginia State line.

Interstate Mileage Let
This past year, the state let 56 new miles of interstate highways to contract, and will let the remaining miles to be constructed as fast as federal funds are available.

Lauch Faircloth, chairman of the State Highway Commission, has stressed several times the need for a vigorous highway construction program in the state. People who project such things say that by 1975 there will be 25 per cent more cars on the highways than there are in 1970. That is a lot of cars that will be traveling our roads, and could cause some pretty fancy traffic jams in urban areas, where it seems now that highways are about carrying all the vehicles they can during rush hours.

The Highway Commission, while seeking to meet needs in all parts of the state, is pushing toward completion of two projects that will give North Carolina multi-lane highways from its ports to the west.

US 70, which originates at Morehead City, is in the process of being four-laned to Durham, where it can connect with the east-west interstate.

US 74, starting at Wilmington, is also being constructed as a four-lane route to Charlotte and beyond to connect with I-26 in Polk County, which goes to Asheville.

East-West Thoroughfares
When these projects are completed, they will offer splendid routes from the ports to the populous piedmont and beyond to the mountain regions.

Faircloth has said that this commission will complete as much of these routes as possible during the Scott administration, and the remaining two-lane sections are in stages of construction or planning.

Secondary roads were not neglected during the year, as the state paved more than 1,300 miles of previously unpaved sections.

One of the penalties of paving is that the cost of maintenance increases as more roads are paved. It costs about twice as much to maintain a paved road as it does an unpaved road, and this past year the state spent $90 million just to keep in condition what it had built in the past.

Concern for Environment
Finally, this has been the year of the environmentalist.

Veterans in the Highway Department will tell you that people didn't use to question the effect a highway would have on the environment and the subject just never arose but no more.

Every project now comes under close scrutiny, either by concerned persons or by the U.S. Government, if federal aid is involved in the project.

This was the reason given for the federal government's refusal to participate in paying for an open cut through Beaucatcher Mountain at Asheville and insisting on twin tunnels through the mountain, even though the latter will cost twice as much and will take twice as long to construct.

But that was the way it was, and the ecologists carried the day as far as Beaucatcher was concerned. As 1971 begins, Highway officials realize there can be no let up in construction.

Anyone who drives a car knows how hectic traffic is, and when you think about 25 per cent more cars five years from now, the picture leaves no room for complacency.

A Bright Side To The Picture Of Inflation

Well, it could have been worse.

Critics denounce the inflation which grips the land as indefensible — the result of misguided policies in Washington. They are right, of course. The result is the same as borrowing four eggs from a neighbor to make a cake, repaying the borrowing with three eggs and calling the whole thing square.

But in the charity of the season, and at considerable risk of being called a Pollyanna, we would like to point to what may be a bright spot in the picture. Take the incomprehensible trillion dollar price tag placed on the economy by the White House. True, if you deflate it to the good old solid dollar of 10-year age, it only amounts to three-quarters of a thousand billion.

Consider what a plight we would be in here at Christmas if that trillion figure had been reached without inflation: There would be four things where there now are only three. Man, we would be over our heads in trash.

Reagan Is X'd As A Speaker

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — By White House decision, the name of Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has been stricken from the gilt-edged list of guest speakers — including West German Chancellor Willy Brandt and President Nixon — at a world conference on cities next May.

The conference, a brainchild of outgoing Presidential counselor Daniel P. Moynihan, will bring top urban experts of the Western world to Indianapolis May 25 for a four-day parley on such worries as fading tax resources, auto congestion, pollution, population, etc.

When host Mayor Richard Lugar and the conference chairman, industrialist J. Irwin Miller of Columbus, Ind., sent their proposed agenda to the White House for top-level clearance, it was returned with Reagan's name X'd out — the only conspicuous change.

Administration officials privately explain that the veto of Reagan has a simple explanation: he is not a mayor. But that fails to square with the fact that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York is on the agenda, with a speech scheduled for May 27. Nor does it square with the presence of many other non-mayors, such as former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania, civic reformer John Gardner, or Sen. elect Hubert H. Humphrey.

The far likelier explanation is Mr. Nixon's unwillingness to provide a world forum for Reagan, the President's leading rival among Republican conservatives. Boggus vs. Udall

A closed-door meeting by House Democratic leaders last week has effectively suffocated all hopes for the two close friends from Massachusetts widely mentioned as dark horse prospects for House Majority Leader: Reps. Edward Boland and Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill.

The meeting was called by Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma (who moves up from Majority Leader to Speaker in the new Congress) and Rep. Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois, the caucus chairman. Present at the session were all announced candidates for Albert's post: Reps. Hale Boggs of Louisiana (presently No. 3 in the hierarchy as majority whip), Morris Udall of Arizona, James O'Hara of Michigan, B. F. Sisk of California, and Wayne Hays of Ohio.

With nobody in that lineup regarded close to a majority, there has been increasing cloakroom gossip of a dark horse — Boland or O'Neill — taking over on a later ballot. That possibility was removed by these two decisions of the leaders: first, the January caucus will prevent candidates from entering the race after the balloting has started; second, after the first two ballots, the low man will automatically drop from the race. Each subsequent ballot will also narrow the field by one, until one contestant gets a majority.

That raises the strong prospect of a final vote between Boggs, trying to rebuild the old Southern-big city coalition, and Udall, the strongest liberal.

A footnote: At the meeting, Hays offered to bet $100 he would not be low man on the first ballot, as speculated by the press. There were no takers.

Strength For Today

NOBILITY AT ITS BEST
Recently I encountered a statement by that most inspiring of women Helen Keller. When one ponders that this woman, early banished to a world in which there was neither sound nor light, became one of the world's greatest figures, it awakens us to the possibilities of human nature at its best.

I pass on her statement to my readers without comment. It is the kind of statement which speaks for itself—as our year comes to a close.

Wrote Miss Keller: "I, too, have my humble testimony, and I shall be most happy if through a word of mine even one individual gains a sweeter sense of God's presence of a keener zest for mastering the difficulties of outward environment. As I wander through the dark, encountering difficulties, I am aware of encouraging voices that murmur from the spirit realm. I sense a holy passion pouring down from the spring of Infinity. I thrill to music that beats with the pulses of God. Bound to suns and planets by invisible chords I feel the flame of eternity in my soul. Here, in the midst of the everyday air I sense the rush of ethereal rain. I am conscious of the splendor that binds all things of earth to all things of heaven—immured by silence and darkness, I possess the light which shall give me vision a thousand fold when death sets me free." — Earl L. Judicial Coup d'etat

Five members of the U.S. Supreme Court now have served up to the American people a fait accompli in this matter of voting rights. With the first of the year, 18-year-olds will be eligible to vote in all congressional, senatorial and presidential elections. What these five gentlemen have done is not to be undone.

Back in March, the Senate voted 64-17 in favor of the 18-year-old proposal. The House vote, three months later, was 272-132. It is folly to suppose that the two chambers would reverse themselves; they are more likely to approve a constitutional amendment designed to complete the job. Meanwhile, the States will be under great pressure voluntarily to extend the franchise to their 18-year-olds in all elections, State and local as well as national. And it will not matter that the voters of many States, on the record of recent referendums, plainly do not want this extension. The supposedly sovereign people, within their sovereign States, find themselves hogtied. The day of 18-year-old voting has arrived.

Yet those Americans who revere constitutional government, and stand by the sound doctrine of strict construction, ought not to surrender silently to this judicial coup d'etat. The Court's action of December 21 was outrageous; and God help us if we lose the capacity for outrage.

Let us be clear on what happened. The House and Senate undertook, by simple amendment of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, to make 18-year-olds eligible to vote in all elections everywhere. Arizona, Texas and Oregon challenged the act. The combined cases were argued in October; and ten days ago Mr. Justice Black "announced the judgments of the Court in an opinion expressing his own view of the cases."

Four members of the Court — Douglas, Brennan, White and Marshall — voted to sustain the act as a whole. They relied chiefly upon the power vested in Congress to enforce the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments by "appropriate legislation."

Four other members of the Court — Harlan, Burger, Blackmun and Stewart — voted to reject the 18-year-old provision absolutely. They were convinced that Congress had no power to alter voting age qualifications in any election. (Continued on page 5)

Other Editors Say A Powerful Voice

(Wilson Times)

Notwithstanding any differences of opinion, on issues of the day, Rep. L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina was a powerful man in Congress and in the nation. He believed in the need for military superiority because of Russia, and he did not fail to vote in that direction. You knew where Mendel Rivers stood on all issues.

He died of continuing heart failure after undergoing heart surgery Dec. 11. As chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, Rivers ranked as one of the most powerful voices in Congress, advocating U.S. military superiority.

The Congress was not prepared for his death and he was active right up to the end. As recently as Dec. 7 he won House approval of a resolution commending the Army commando raid on a North Vietnam prisoner of war camp.

He became chairman of the Armed Services Committee in 1965 and he could usually be found on the side of the Pentagon generals in their running feud against efforts to exert more civilian control over the military. He was the official voice of the military in the House of Representatives and he did not hesitate to use it. Apparently the generals are to have another champion as head of the committee. Next in line for the chairmanship is Rep. F. Edward Hebert, Louisiana Democrat, who has said he would continue Rivers' pro-military policies.

Now that Rivers is dead the next step to be decided is who will take his seat in Congress? It will be filled by a special election, probably in the spring. Governor Robert McNair of South Carolina may be a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the First District congressional post. Rivers was re-elected in November to a 16th two-year term with the endorsement of both parties.

He was truly the friend of the military, having been both good to the military forces and in bringing military payrolls of more than $200 million annually to the district.

Rivers' successor is not certain and it will not be until after the election. And regardless of who it is, the Democrats have lost a powerful ally, leader and political strategist. He was immensely respected and the military will miss his support.

Mendel Rivers was not an old man, but he had the bearing and courtly manners of the old-time politician and when he spoke his voice carried authority. The South will miss this powerful ally in the Congress.

Mercury Can Wreck An Industry

By ELMER ROESSNER
This mercury-in-tuna may ruin the entire American fishing industry.

It started not long ago, with the discovery of mercury in seal oil. Some people, it seems, prefer seal oil to cod liver oil. Cod liver oil was recognized as a diet supplement long before its richness in vitamins was discovered. Those who preferred seal oil believed that the seal oil was better and insisted upon it even at a premium price.

Then it was discovered that seal oil contained traces of less than lethal amounts of mercury. This was followed by the discovery that there was mercury in the tissues of seal, showing that the mercury had been built up in the seals and was not a contaminant in the process of extracting oil and packaging it.

Tuna Swims In View
Then traces of mercury were found in canned tuna. This is a frightening blow to the tuna fishing industry, already struck by seizure of U.S. tuna boats by Ecuadorian, Peruvian and Chilean gunboats. Those nations claim their territory extends 200 miles into the Pacific, a bit of legal nonsense. Nevertheless, American ships are seized in those waters and fines of around $25,000 levied against them.

So far the U.S. hasn't stood up to this piracy, and has repaid U.S. shipowners the amount of fines. But the mercury scare can cost the tuna fisherman millions. When botulinus was discovered in canned tuna few years ago and several people died, the reflex-action boycott of canned tuna cost all companies, the innocent as well as the guilty, millions of dollars in lost sales.

And now a new scare is breeding, even though mercury-tainted tuna are being recalled though the mercury is far below dangerous amounts. Mercury has been found in frozen swordfish. And traces of cadmium have been found in other canned fish.

Where Will It Lead?
The scare leaves two questions:
1. Whence the mercury?
2. If seals, swordfish and tuna, why not a hundred other fish?

The mercury probably comes from industrial wastes poured into streams, bays

Christmas cards have given way to a verbal war. Senator Caraway from Arkansas says that Secretary of State Hyde sent his Christmas cards out postage free under the franking privilege extended to official business.

Few changes will greet 1931 in this city. Coburn Shoe Company, which has occupied a building on the east side of Evans Street, is preparing to move to the Old Naper Brown building on the opposite side of the street.

George Gardner chief of the Greenville fire department announced today that the fire demon claimed $48,669.28 worth of property during 1930. The loss was less than one half as large as that sustained by the city during the previous year although the department responded to over twice as many alarms.

New Year's Eve Rituals Set For Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS From throwing out the crockery in Rome to counting out the year in New York, the familiar New Year's Eve rituals were set to begin today buoyed by champagne, noisemakers and the strains of "Auld Lang Syne."

But in the United States, the economic squeeze was blamed for a reduction in advance reservations at night spots in several major cities. Some places lowered prices and a handful canceled celebrations. The West Coast was the major exception to the U.S. business slump, with Los Angeles and San Francisco reporting reservations going well and even some sell-outs. Reports from Boston, Dallas and Seattle, Wash., showed clubs reducing per person prices for New Year's Eve by as much as $10 compared to last year. The Pump Room in Chicago pared its price from $39 to $33 per person for the evening "to encourage celebrants in a conservative spending economy and to start the year off with a bow to the budget minded."

Prices were not cut at the Grand Ballroom in New York's Waldorf-Astoria but neither were they raised. Guy Lombardo will do his "Auld Lang Syne" thing from the hotel in a television broadcast on 145 stations.

Elsewhere in New York the traditional lighted ball will drop in the Times Square countdown and the city will host its third annual New Year's Eve party in Central Park, with bell ringing, music and fireworks.

Schools Receiving Sums In Vocational Program

Greenville and Pitt County Schools are receiving $484 and $1,155 respectively as their share of federal financial assistance for students.

Under the Vocational Education Amendments of 1968, assistance is provided through part-time employment to students in need of earnings to begin or continue vocational programs.

Dr. Charles Law, Director of the Division of Occupational Education with the State education agency, says there are three main aspects of vocational programs. One aspect of the congressional amendments provide funds for expanding on-the-job training related to a student's course of study. A second aspect is that of developing new programs of cooperative education, 17 of which began this year in North Carolina. A third emphasis, the work-study program, is being implemented in all 152 school systems in the State, according to Law.

Funds under the work-study aspect of the program are used to compensate students employed and to develop and administer the program. A student may work a maximum of 15 hours per week while enrolled in a vocational program, but employment is limited to public, non-profit establishments under this part of the program. The funds allocated to Greenville and Pitt County are for the work-study program. Allocation is based on the percentage of 15-21 year old population, the number of dropouts, the rate of unemployment, and the median income of the area. Greenville and Pitt County must match 20 percent of the funds to the federal government's 80 percent.

Begin Holiday 'Cease-Fire'

By RICHARD PYLE
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — U.S. and South Vietnamese forces began observing a 24-hour New Year's cease-fire tonight as the allied commands announced sharp increases in their casualties last week despite the Christmas truce.

week that had not been included in that total, which was the lowest in more than five years. Another 141 Americans were reported wounded last week, 26 less than the week before, the U.S. Command said. A total of 44,208 Americans now have been killed in action in the Vietnam war and 293,224 have been wounded, according to the U.S. Command.

The U.S. Command said 41 Americans were killed in action, 18 more than the week before, while South Vietnamese combat dead increased from 266 to 301 last week. Enemy casualties dropped, however, with 1,250 reported killed last week compared with 1,433 a week earlier.

With the start of the New Year's truce, allied forces were instructed to cease all combat operations except in self-defense until 6 p.m. Friday — 5 a.m. EST.

An American spokesman said there was no major upsurge in battlefield action to account for the increases but there were numerous small contacts. He said the American total also probably was increased by some "spillover" deaths the previous

The Viet Cong proclaimed a 72-hour cease-fire beginning 17 hours before the allied truce, but the Saigon government reported that the enemy broke his cease-fire 20 minutes after it started with a lightning attack that killed 19 persons at a hamlet 24 miles northwest of Saigon.

Devises New Test System

PALO ALTO, Calif. (UPI)—A new system which can produce diagnostic reports of electroencephalographic (EEG) tests has been developed by a Veteran's Administration Hospital neurologist.

The victims included 15 members of the People's Self-Defense Force, or home guard, two local militia soldiers, the hamlet chief and his deputy. The raid was over in two minutes, the raiders didn't lose a man, and they made off with a member of the self-defense force who a U.S. adviser said may or may not have been in league with them.

Dr. Stephen Sherwood said a 35-pound minicomputer prepares the diagnostic report in less than two minutes and draws conclusions in tests for epilepsy, tumor location and other brain damage.

A few hours later, Australian infantrymen ambushed a Viet Cong force of about 100 men 60 miles southeast of Saigon and killed 21 of them without taking any casualties of their own.

"At present a neurologist must spend 15 to 20 minutes dictating his analysis and conclusions of EEG recording charts, which themselves can measure 100 feet to half a mile in length," Dr. Sherwood said.

The U.S. Command in Saigon disclosed details of a 10-day series of air raids that it claimed knocked out a giant North Vietnamese supply complex on the Ho Chi Minh trail in southeastern Laos.

"After 10 to 15 patients per day, the neurologist tires and his judgment and accuracy can be dulled."

One Air Force spokesman said the raids were the most successful of the year in terms of results. More than 200 U.S. Air Force and Navy fighter-bombers took part in the raids, backed up by B52 bombers. Antiaircraft fire was heavy, but no planes were reported lost, officials said.

The neurologist or technician prepares a diagnostic report merely by typing a group of four letter mnemonics on a teletype keyboard. The computer processes the code words into a clinical report and draws diagnostic conclusion.

Spokesmen said an increase in enemy activity in the area along the Se Kong River had been noted in early November. Then two Air Force spotter pilots, 1st Lt. John R. Browning of Wilmette, Ill., and Capt. Norman J. Monnig of Tucson, Ariz., spotted some trucks pulling off a road into the jungle.

The new method's advantages include standardization of reporting; time saving in processing EEG's; use of a check list which obviates errors and omissions; automatic evaluation of the EEG.

They called in air strikes, and "we got explosions like I've never seen before," Monnig reported.

The first wave of planes set off 4,000 secondary blasts, sources reported.

Expecting Baby, Recalling 70,000 Volkswagens Gets Job Back

RENNES, France (AP) — Annick Araujo, the 26-year-old French school teacher suspended from her job because she is expecting a baby, got her job back Wednesday.

Bond has been set at $1,000 each for both Harrington and Rushing, Sheriff Tyson noted, and $500 for House. The three have been scheduled for a hearing on Jan. 12 in District Court here.

Parents of the 63 children at the school in the village of Medreac continue to disagree on whether Miss Araujo should be in charge of their children. One group kept their children home "on strike" for several days. The other supported Miss Araujo's stand that her private life was her own affair.

The station, Sheriff Tyson said, was entered sometime Tuesday night after the back door had been pried open. An assortment of merchandise, valued at an estimated $300 to $400, was reported stolen.

The regional school chief told a news conference Wednesday he had decided to reinstate Miss Araujo since the parents were not unanimous in wishing her to leave.

The cars went on sale in September. Since then, a spokesman said about 128,000 of the Volkswagens have been sold since they went on the market in September.

Arrest Three Men Following Break-In

Pitt County deputies have arrested three men in connection with a Tuesday night break-in at Mrs. J. T. May's Service Station at Galloway's Crossroads.

Deputies recovered approximately $100 worth of merchandise when the arrests were made. The Sheriff's Department was notified of the break-in around 7 a.m. Wednesday.

According to Sheriff Ralph Tyson, deputies arrested James Harrington, 18 of Rt. 3, Simpson, and Samuel Rushing Jr., 21 of Rt. 3, Greenville, on charges of breaking-entering and larceny of the service station.

Sheriff Tyson added that investigation of the incident is continuing. Investigation of a Dec. 2 break-in at the Jerome Perkins Store in Stokes has led to the arrest of George Taft, 16 of 1904 Norcott Circle, Greenville, Sheriff Tyson said.

In addition, the Sheriff said that Tommy Ray House, who lives on Rt. 5, Greenville, has been charged with receiving stolen goods in connection with the incident.

Bond for Taft has been set at $2,000 and a hearing on the charge of breaking-entering and larceny has been scheduled for Jan. 11 in District Court here.

Robersonville, Oak City Win

OAK CITY — Hosting Oak City and Robersonville captured victories in the final day's action in the Oak City Holiday Invitational Girls Basketball Tournament last night. Oak City nipped Edenton, 26-24, while in a battle of the unbeaten, Robersonville slipped past Williamston, 46-43.

In the opener, Robersonville and Williamston went into the game with perfect records, and it was that kind of a game. The Tigerettes pushed into the lead in the first period of play, gaining a 15-12 edge over Robersonville. But in the second period, Robersonville outthrew Williamston 8-3, and gained a 20-18 lead at intermission.

In the third period, the score swung back the other way, as Williamston outscored the Golden Eaglettes, 15-12, to slip into a 33-32 lead at the buzzer. But Robersonville came back to outthrust the Tigerettes, 14-10, in the final period and gain the win.

Kathy Thomas led Robersonville with 20 points, while Kay Coburn had 15. For Williamston, Joanie Rogerson had 14, Libbie Warren had 13 and Cathy Davenport had 12. Robersonville is now 9-0, while Williamston is 3-1. In the second game of the evening, Oak City and Edenton played another thriller. Edenton inched out into a 6-3 lead in the first period, but Oak City came back in the second quarter, outthrusting Edenton, 6-5. That still left the Lady Aces in the lead, 11-9.

In the third period, both teams pushed through six points, and that left Edenton ahead, 17-15. It looked like the Aces just about had it in the closing seconds with a three-point edge. But with 10 seconds left, Sylvia Jones sunk a bucket to close the gap to one. Then, on the in-bounds play, Miss Jones stole the ball and scored again, giving Oak City the win.

Kathryn Edmundson led Oak City with 13, while Doris Unback had 10 for Edenton.

BLACK CREEK — South Ayden's Eagles nipped Rock Ridge last night, 56-55, playing in the Lee Woodard Holiday Tournament.

The Eagles fell far behind in the first period of play as Rock Ridge built up a 21-10 lead. But in the second period, the Eagles started to put their defense together, and outthrust Rock Ridge, 11-6. That cut the lead down to 27-21 at halftime.

In the third period, South Ayden continued its comeback, outthrusting Rock Ridge, 16-14. That cut the lead to 41-37. The battle continued throughout the final period as the two teams played it nip and tuck the rest of the way. Then, with three seconds left reserve Willie Smith hit a bucket to give South Ayden the lead and the win.

Sam Holton led South Ayden with 16 points, while John Ormond had 12. For Rock Ridge, Charles Finch had 17 and Don Kent had 12.

Tonight, South Ayden is scheduled to play host to Lee Woodard in the second night of play in the tournament.

Frazier, Ali Sign For Bout

By ED SCHUYLER JR. Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP) — It will be champion Joe Frazier against Muhammad Ali for guarantees of $2.5 million each and the world heavyweight title in a fight that could bring a worldwide gross of $30 million.

The dream fight and the dreamlike financial figures—both definite and possible—were announced Wednesday by Madison Square Garden Boxing, Inc., and Chartwell Artists.

The scheduled 15-rounder for Frazier's crown, the one Ali held before his military draft troubles, will be held in the Garden March 8. Chartwell will handle the closed-circuit television and other ancillaries.

The fighters each "will receive guarantees of $2.5 million, but neither will partake of any of the ancillary revenues or percentages of the live gate receipts," Harry Markson, director of Garden Boxing, said at a press luncheon following the signing of contracts.

Markson estimated the live gate at $1.25 million on a ticket scale ranging from $150 down to $20.

"We believe the worldwide gross could reach between $20 million and $30 million," said Jerry Perenchio, president of Chartwell.

"Our attitude is we think this is the single most important event in the history of sports in the area of one-night events," said Perenchio in discussing his estimate of what would be a record total gross for a single sports event.

The $2.5 million each fighter will receive, which Perenchio said is being backed by Los Angeles sportsman Jack Kent

Cooke, is the most money ever paid to anyone for a single performance in sports or entertainment.

Perenchio said he hoped to have 1.5 million seats available for closed circuit television in the United States and Canada and that tickets in major markets could go as high as $30.

Both fighters were in good vocal form, exchanging barbs, but Ali did most of the talking.

"We're gonna straighten all this mess out; we're gonna find out who's the real champion," said Ali who was the heavy-weight king until he was stripped of his crown for refusing injunction into the military service. He still is appealing his conviction on the charge.

"If Joe Frazier beats Muhammad Ali, he will be the best fighter that ever lived," shouted Ali. "Frazier don't even look like a heavyweight champion—too short."

"He does all the talkin'," said Frazier. "I'll do the fighting."

"I think he'll go in seven." For Ali, also known as Cassius Clay, the fight will mark the climax of a highly-publicized comeback he launched Oct. 26 by stopping Jerry Quarry in three rounds in Atlanta in his first fight in 3½ years.

For Frazier, the fight represents an opportunity to stamp out the shadow of Ali, under which he has fought ever since rising to the championship after Ali was banished.

Williamston May Be Albemarle Contender

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor (One of a series)

WILLIAMSTON — With three starters back this year, the Williamston Tigers are hoping that they might prove to be the class of the Albemarle Conference teams this year.

Coach Frank Neal has the three veterans to rely on, and feels that he could pull it off this year. "We're going to be right in there battling for it," he said.

Returning are 6-1 Raymond Andrews, 6-4½ Dwight Ange, and 6-2, Henry Jenkins.

Jenkins, however, has been sidelined with an injury, and his recovery could be a key to the hopes of the Tigers. Currently, Ange is at center, while Andrews is a wing-man. Joining them are 6-2½ Albert Barnes, 6-5½ Doug Warren and 5-11 Clifton Little. As can be seen, the Tigers should have no problems with height in the conference. "We are very good here, and except for Bertie, a strong 3-A team, we've been able to control the boards against everyone we've played."

Neal, however, feels his experience is only fair. "The three veterans have played pretty well, but Barnes is inexperienced, and he's our point man, so everything hinges on his play. Warren played some last year, but he had surgery during the off season, and is still coming along slowly."

Milwaukee Has String Broken

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Charity begins at home and Billy Cunningham took advantage of it to help do in the Milwaukee Bucks.

Cunningham made all 17 of his free throws and scored 35 points Wednesday night in leading the Philadelphia 76ers to 119-107 homecourt victory that snapped the Bucks' five-game winning streak. Lew Alcindor led Milwaukee with 30 points.

In other National Basketball Association games, the New York Knicks took San Francisco 111-103, Detroit edged Cincinnati 119-115, Baltimore whipped Buffalo 106-90, Seattle belted Chicago 128-109 and Phoenix pummeled Los Angeles 132-114.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh topped Kentucky 125-118, Virginia nipped the New York Nets 124-123, Carolina outlasted Denver 136-132 and Texas downed Memphis 113-104.

The Knicks rallied in the fourth quarter behind Walt Frazier and Bill Bradley to make up a nine-point Warriors lead.

Frazier scored 29 points, Dave DeBusschere 27 and Bradley 24 for New York. Nate Thurmond scored 24 for San Francisco.

Four foul shots in the last 43 seconds by Dave Bing, who scored 28 points, lifted the Detroit Pistons over Cincinnati. Johnny Green paced the Royals with 29 points.

Jack Marin scored 17 of his 24 points in the first half to spark the Baltimore Bullets past Buffalo. Bob Kauffman was high for the Braves with 26 points.

Seattle ran away from the Bulls in the first half, grabbing a 63-42 intermission lead. Spencer Haywood, the Sonics' new acquisition from the rival American Basketball Association, suited up but did not play. Dick Snyder led with winners with 25 points.

Clutch shooting by Clem Haskins and former Laker Mel Counts paved the way to Phoenix' victory, preventing Los Angeles from widening its two-game Pacific Division lead over the Warriors.

The injury problem however, has given Neal a chance to get to his reserve strength and give it a lot of experience. Little, Rufus Speller and Laurence Jackson have all gotten to play a lot.

"Little (who is replacing Jenkins) is doing well on defense, and he rebounds well. Speller is short (5-9) but is a good shooter." Jackson is another tall player, topping 6-4. Neal feels his team's shooting is "a little better than fair. We shot well against Edenton, and our guards are our strong points. Both have been scoring well. We're not that bad inside," Neal said, "and Ange is just a sophomore who is rapidly improving and is very coachable."

The defense has worked hard on setting up a man-to-man situation, but has found that so far it has worked better on the zone. "I think we've done well against everyone except Bertie, and I look for our defense to be one of our strong points," the coach said. "We have to get our players to think about playing defense, however."

The team hasn't had the speed Neal expected of it. "We look for the fast break, but we've had problems with turnovers. Jenkins and Andrews have done a good job of getting the ball down court quickly."

Last year, Williamston finished up with a 10-12 record and was tied for fourth in the conference standings. "We should be right in there this year," Neal said. "I think Ahsokie, Gates and Northampton are going to be strong, and probably Ahsokie is the favorite. But I think we can give them a run for their money."

A lot depends on how Warren comes along in gaining experience, Neal feels. "He could be a very strong ball player for us, and the key to our winning the title," he said.

By MIKE BARRON Associated Press Sports Writer ATLANTA (AP) — Arizona State's Sun Devils may be accustomed to run in the sun, but snow doesn't seem to slow them down.

"I think we've proven now we can go on a football field with anyone in the nation," said Sun Devil Coach Frank Kush after his unbeaten eighth-ranked team swamped North Carolina 48-26 in the snowbound Peach Bowl Wednesday night. "The conditions weren't good but it didn't stop us."

"We had a mission and we accomplished it." Arizona State's mission was to win its first bowl game in five tries and the Sun Devils overcame a 26-point second quarter by the Tar Heels to win going away. Arizona State piled up a 21-7 lead before North Carolina erupted for three touchdowns in the last five minutes of the second period.

The last half was all Arizona State, however, as the Tar Heels couldn't get untracked behind second-string quarterback Mike Mansfield.

Mansfield came in when starter Paul Miller was knocked unconscious on a jarring tackle by Arizona State defensive end Junior Ah You as he was firing a 36-yard touchdown pass in the second quarter.

"If there was a turning point, this was it," Kush said.

Miller sat out the rest of the game. "I'm not making any excuses, but when we lost Miller it was a real blow," said Tar Heel Coach Bill Dooley. "We lost a lot of our option game. Mansfield did a good job under the circumstances, but we simply don't have the option threat when Miller is out."

North Carolina's All-American tailback Don McCauley, who scored three touchdowns, said the team felt it was a "cheap shot" when Miller was hit.

Ah You was named the game's most valuable player.

"Miller did a real fine job before he was hurt," Dooley said. "The offense was moving the ball and the team had momentum."

Arizona State's speedy backfield of quarterback Joe Spagnola, halfback Monroe Eley, wingback Steve Holden and fullback Bob Thomas, along with end J. D. Hill, kept the ball moving. Eley was named the game's outstanding offensive player.

Kush said sophomore Eley, who gained 173 yards on 23 carries, "will be a super athlete by the time he's a senior."

The snow and muddy field cut down on Spagnola's passing, but he did complete 8 of 23 for 155 yards. One was a 67-yard bomb to Hill for the Sun Devils' third touchdown. Hill, who runs the 100-yard dash in 9.3 was far behind the Carolina defenders when he caught the ball.

This could have demoralized North Carolina right then, as the Tar Heels had just cut a 14-0 Arizona State lead in half. But North Carolina then exploded for three touchdowns to take a 26-21 halftime lead.

Eley's performance overshadowed that of McCauley, who gained 143 yards on 36 carries. McCauley carried the brunt of the Carolina attack, but he said the muddy field slowed him down in the second half.

Dooley said he thought the snow hurt his team more than Arizona State. But he said mistakes caused the team's downfall. "We made too many costly mistakes — especially in the kicking game — which gave Arizona State some easy touchdowns," he said. "We just gave too much away. You have to keep mistakes at a minimum when playing a team like Arizona State."

Kush attributed the Sun Devils' ability to adjust to the snow to a change in their running style. "I told our backs to run flat-footed instead of stepping high the way they usually do," he said.

It worked, as the Sun Devils put 20 points on the board during heavy snow in the third quarter to put the game out of reach.

A record crowd of 52,126 sat through the wintry weather to watch the Sun Devils, who wound up the year 11-0, and the Tar Heels, who finished 8-4. The Peach Bowl has been plagued by wet, cold weather since it started in 1968, but the crowds have steadily increased.

Kush said he was extremely grateful for the opportunity to play in the Peach Bowl. "It can be a stepping stone toward other bowl appearances," he said. "This game is going to mean a lot to us in the future."

Nine Games Being Televised

NEW YORK (AP) — The men around the house—if they're football fans—are going to be monopolizing the television for the next four days.

Nine football games—that's close to 30 hours—will be nationally televised between tonight and Sunday. Included on the television menu are Sunday's conference championship games in the National Football League.

There's only one real conflict. On New Year's Day—Friday—affluent have to use their second television set at 2 p.m., EST, if they want to watch both the Sugar and Cotton bowls.

The Cotton Bowl, pitting top-ranked Texas against All-American quarterback Joe Theismann and Notre Dame's Fighting Irish, starts at 2 p.m. on CBS. An hour earlier the Sugar Bowl—with No. 4 Tennessee battling Air Force—begins on ABC.

The gridiron bonanza on the tube actually got under way Monday night with the Tangerine Bowl and Wednesday night the Peace Bowl provided the action.

Tonight's attraction is the Astro-Bluebonnet Bowl from Houston on the Hughes Sports Network at 7:30 p.m., EST. Johnny Musso, called by Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant the greatest back he's ever coached, leads the Crimson Tide against Oklahoma.

The New Year's Day attractions, in addition to the Cotton Bowl and Sugar Bowl, are the Rose and Orange Bowls.

The Rose Bowl, oldest of the collegiate post-season classics, follows the Cotton on CBS and matches No. 2 Ohio State against Stanford and the Indians' Heisman Trophy-winning quarterback, Jim Plunkett.

The Orange Bowl, at 8 p.m., EST, on NBC wraps up the Jan. 1 football. The contestants: Nebraska, third-ranked and Big Eight Conference champion, vs. fifth-ranked Louisiana State, winner of the Southeastern Conference title.

Saturday's viewing features the Gator Bowl and the East-West Shrine Game. The Gator Bowl, on NBC at 2:15 p.m., EST, sends Mississippi against Auburn and promises to be quite an aerial show. Auburn quarterback Pat Sullivan and his Ole Miss opposite, Archie Manning, each own impressive passing credentials.

The East-West game from Oakland gets under way at 4:30 p.m., EST, on ABC.

The professionals take over Sunday. It's the Oakland Raiders vs. the Baltimore Colts for the American Football Conference title on NBC at 2 p.m., EST, and the Dallas Cowboys vs. the San Francisco 49ers for the National Football Conference title at 5 p.m., EST, on CBS.

The game will be televised nationally by the Hughes Sports Network with the kickoff set for 6:45 p.m. CST.

Alabama's 6-5 season record and Oklahoma's 7-4 caused some to question the bowl merits of the teams. However, promoters correctly predicted fans would pay little attention to records and instead consider the teams' rugged schedules.

Season records also indicate the fans may see a high scoring affair. Alabama has averaged 30 points a game, Oklahoma 25.

Mississippi Is 'On Schedule'

F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "I'd say we are right on schedule to reach our peak Saturday," acting head coach Frank Kinard said as his Mississippi football team tapered off in practice for the Gator Bowl game against Auburn.

"We need a real good practice today," he said. "It was a little off schedule Wednesday, but we believe the game belongs to the players and we are working about the same as usual for a bowl game."

The Wednesday practice was more fun than work. Everyone wore sweatsuits without pads. The offensive unit played defense for a while and vice versa.

Quarterback Archie Manning, wearing a plastic protector over a leather sleeve on his injured left arm, took his turn as safety man while his substitute, Brent "Shug" Chumbler, tossed passes.

But Manning was at the helm when the offense was in action, and his passes were right on target.

There was an air of relaxation everywhere on the field.

Coyce Hinton, 59-year-old field goal against Georgia last year was a national record at the time, didn't practice a single kick. Nor did anyone else.

"We had tough practices Monday and Tuesday before we came here," Kinard said. "We impress on the player that it doesn't make any difference whether you win or lose just so you win."

As he said it, not a trace of a smile escaped from the husky but now slightly paunchy coach, who was such a terror on the field in his playing days that he earned the nickname "Bruiser."

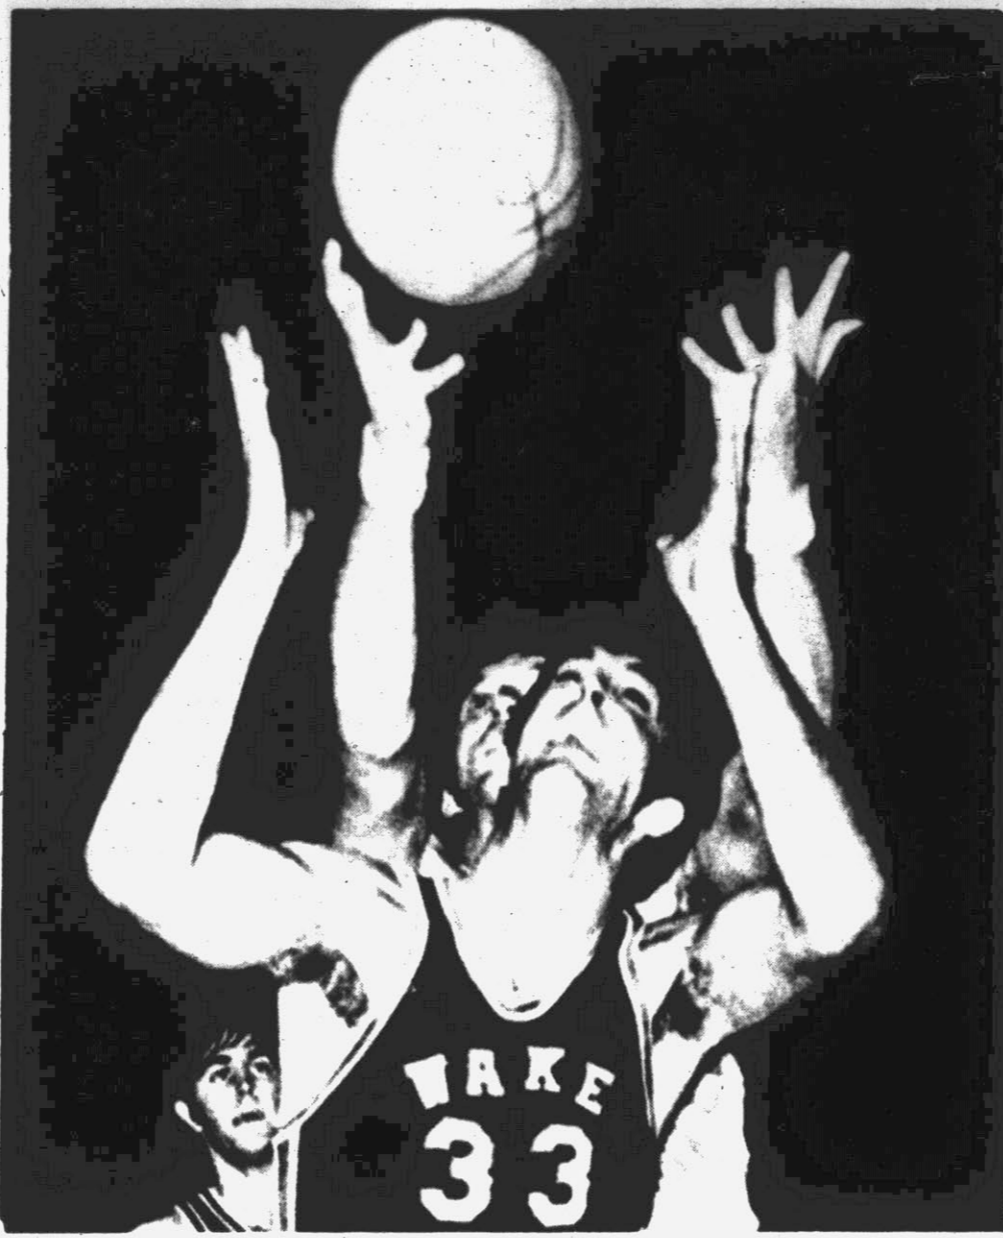

"We want them to be serious when the time comes," Kinard said. "I hope they are aware they haven't performed well in the last two games and are going to prove they are a reputable Southeastern Conference team worthy of playing in the Gator Bowl against Auburn."

Mississippi lost to Mississippi State and Louisiana State in its last two games.

Kinard said he is conferring by telephone with head coach Johnny Vaught, recovering from a heart ailment in Oxford.

When the Auburn squad arrives today, it will also be in charge of an acting coach, Paul Davis.

"Ralph 'Shug' Jordan is getting over an appendix operation. Davis said he will be in touch with Jordan by phone as he hones the high flying Tigers through final workouts.

Cougars Capture Another Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Virginia Squires' last-minute victory over the New York Nets was a case of legal larceny.

After Charlie Scott's three-point play with 49 seconds left lifted the Squires into a 120-120 tie, Neil Johnson stole the ball and drove for a layup, then stole again to feed Scott for a basket and the winning margin in a 124-123 victory over the Nets Wednesday night.

Elsewhere in the American Basketball Association, Texas topped Memphis 113-105, Pittsburgh beat Kentucky 125-118 and Carolina outlasted Denver 136-132.

In the National Basketball Association, Philadelphia ripped Milwaukee 119-107, the New York Knicks topped San Francisco 111-103, Detroit nipped Cincinnati 119-115, Baltimore drubbed Buffalo 106-90, Seattle smashed Chicago 128-109 and Phoenix smacked Los Angeles 132-114.

Texas snapped Memphis' five-game winning streak despite 31 points from Steve Jones and 23 by Jimmy Jones. Ron Boone led Texas with 21.

Pittsburgh outscored Kentucky 11-1 in one stretch of the final period and went out to send the Colonels to their third straight loss.

Carolina's George Lehmann scored 18 of his game-high 32 points in the fourth quarter as the Cougars overcame a six-point Denver lead. Larry Cannon topped the Rockets with 30.

Oddities In NCAA Statistics

NEW YORK (AP) — When super-shooter Pete Maravich left Louisiana State it figured that the Bayou Bengals' scoring would suffer. And when 6-foot-11 Bob Lanier finished his career at St. Bonaventure, it figured that the Bonnies would suffer under the boards.

So how do you explain National Collegiate Sports Services statistics released today that show LSU leading the nation in field goal percentage and averaging 94.5 points per game? And how do you explain St. Bonaventure leading the nation in rebounds with 68.2 per game?

Well, LSU is getting sharp-eyed shooting from Al Sanders, Bill Newton and Nelson Isley, all averaging better than 55 per cent of their shots. The Bengals' 94.5 average is No. 9 in the nation and 1.2 higher than the average of last year's team with Maravich.

The Bonnies, 8-0 so far, have captured 409 rebounds in six games even without Lanier under the boards.

The leading individual scorer is Mississippi's Johnny Neumann, who is averaging 44.1 points per game while Jacksonville's 111.4 is the top team mark.

Top Ranked Teams Take Wins In Tournaments

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Top-ranked UCLA and No. 2 South Carolina both captured college basketball holiday tournaments Wednesday night—but neither had quite the adventure that Wake Forest did in winning a tourney of its own.

The Deacons whipped ninth-ranked Jacksonville 78-77 to take the Gold Coast Classic and they had to do it not once, but twice.

UCLA coasted to the Steel Bowl title, whipping Pittsburgh 77-64, and South Carolina won the Holiday Festival, edging fifth-ranked Western Kentucky 86-84 in a frantic finish.

But no finish was quite as frantic as Wake Forest's heart-stopper over Jacksonville, the nation's highest scoring team.

John Orenczak hit a basket with 25 seconds left to give the Deacons the lead and the Wake Forest bench exploded in celebration when the final buzzer sounded, apparently signaling the victory.

But an official ruled that Wake Forest's Pat Kelly had been fouled with three seconds left and the court was cleared of celebrants for the foul shot.

Kelly missed his free throw, 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore cleared the rebound for Jacksonville and called time with one second remaining on the clock.

Jacksonville tried a court-length pass, hoping Gilmore would tip it in, but determined Wake Forest batted the ball away and celebrated again—this time for keeps.

Slender Charlie Davis whipped in 30 points and was named most valuable player in the tourney as the Deacons tagged Jacksonville with its second loss in less than a week.

The Dolphins' other loss came against Western Kentucky and the No. 5 Hilltoppers almost pulled the Holiday Festival crown out of South Carolina's grasp in the final seconds at New York.

The Gamecocks had used six straight pressure foul shots by Tom Riker and John Roche to take command against Western Kentucky.

But the Hilltoppers weren't through. With 13 seconds left, they swiped consecutive inbounds passes and converted baskets by Jim Rose and Rex Bailey to creep within two points of SC. Then, incredibly, Jim McDaniels picked off another Carolina pass. But his 10-foot jumper at the buzzer rolled off the time and SC had the title.

Kevin Joyce led SC with 25 points and Riker had 24. McDaniels, named MVP had 26 and Jim Rose added 25 for Western Kentucky, now 8-1.

UCLA pulled away in the final 10 minutes to beat Pittsburgh and take the Steel Bowl title. Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe scored 26 points apiece for the top-ranked Bruins.

UCLA's victory ended a four-year Steel Bowl reign for co-host Duquesne which finished third by whipping William and Mary 79-54.

Kansas, ranked 12th in the country, won the Big Eight Tournament with an awesome defensive show that overpowered Nebraska 72-52.

Dave Robisch pitched in with 23 points and led a fired-up Kansas defense that harassed Nebraska all over the floor. It was Kansas' 10th victory in the 25-year history of the tournament.

Unbeaten Fordham used a record-setting 46-point show by Charlie Yelverton to beat Rochester 128-72 and take the Kodak Classic.

Yelverton's total set both school and tournament records and led the Rams, 10-0, to their first tourney victory ever.

In the Sugar Bowl, Vanderbilt walloped Toledo 92-74, winning the title for the third time in the four years it has competed.

Thorpe Weber and Rod Freeman led the Commodores with 21 points each.

Southern California, No. 4 in the country, took it's Trojan Invitational, employing a balanced attack to wear down Houston 77-64.

Chris Schrobilgen's 21 points led five double-figure scorers for the Trojans, now 9-0. Tennessee, No. 10, took third place in the tourney, whipping Michigan State 81-70.

LaSalle won the Charlotte Invitational, using 23 points and 13 rebounds by Kenny Durrett to whip Boston College 75-63.

In the Tangerine Bowl, Ohio University nipped Seton Hall for the title with Todd Lalich feeding Craig Love for a late basket, then adding two free throws himself in the 84-82 victory.

Lalich finished with 19 and Love 18 while Seton Hall's Frank Cortes led all scorers with 31 points.

The Palmetto Classic went to Navy, 78-76 over Baylor in overtime. Jack Conrad scored the deciding basket in the extra session for the Midshipmen.

Unbeaten Assumption took the Worcester Festival for the fourth time in six years, ripping DePauw of Indiana 119-81.

Massachusetts captured the inaugural Hall of Fame tourney at Springfield, Mass., beating Colgate 79-67 with Julius Erving scoring 31 points and grabbing 20 rebounds.

Lafayette beat host LeMoyne 89-75 to capture the LeMoyne Tourney with Tracy Tripucka's 40 points setting the pace.

In non-tourney games, North Carolina romped in the second half and walloped Northwestern 98-74 in the nightcap of a doubleheader at Greensboro, N.C. Duke topped Penn State 67-56 in the first game.

Louisville used 26 points and 16 rebounds by Al Valcheck to beat Southern Methodist 98-85.

Navy Wins In Palmetto Tourney

CHARLESTON, S. C. (AP) — Navy captured the Palmetto Classic basketball tournament championship Wednesday night with a thrilling 78-76, overtime victory of the heavily favored Baylor Bears.

The midshipmen jumped to an early lead, but saw Baylor tie the score 53-53 midway through the second half. It was nip and tuck from there on out.

The score was tied 76-76 when Baylor Guard Tom Stanton dropped two quick buckets with 10 second left.

With a minute left in the overtime period and the score tied 76-76, Navy controlled the ball and passed around to set up a final shot.

The effort was successful when Midshipman guard Jack Conrad worked loose for the game winning layup with only seconds left.

In the consolation round, hose team The Citadel whipped Mississippi, 109-90.

The Bulldogs dominated the game and held the nation's leading scorer, Johnny Neumann of Ole Miss to 28 points.

Wake, South Carolina Take Tourney Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Wake Forest and South Carolina won their tournaments and North Carolina and Duke won their games as Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams made a clean sweep Wednesday night.

You might say that the Wake Forest Deacons had to overcome ninth-ranked Jacksonville twice in one game to win the Gold Coast Classic in West Palm Beach, Fla. Wake Forest won 78-77 when John Orenczak hit a basket from 10 feet with 25 second left.

After Wake Forest celebrated the apparent victory, it was discovered that an official had called a foul with three seconds left. The court was cleared and Wake Forest's Pat Kelley missed the free throw. Jacksonville's 7-foot-2 Artis Gilmore grabbed the rebound and called a time out with one second to play.

Jacksonville tried to throw a full-court pass to Gilmore for a tip toward the basket. But it was batted down by the Deacons, and for a second time within less than a minute they had spilled the 1970 NCAA tournament.

Charlie Davis of Wake Forest was named the Most Valuable Player in the tournament. He hit 30 points in both games, championship game and the 88 opening-round victory over Georgetown.

Second-ranked South Carolina survived two Western Kentucky baskets in the last 13 seconds to nip the fifth-ranked Hilltoppers 86-84 and win the Holiday Festival in New York City.

It had appeared to be all over when Tom Ricker hit two free shots with 1:44 remaining. A John Roche sank four more within 35 seconds to give Gamecocks an 86-80 lead.

After the two Hilltopper baskets, the game wound up in even more incredible fashion when Jim McDaniels picked another South Carolina pass and missed a jumper from feet at the buzzer.

The two invaders got whipped in a doubleheader in Greensboro, N.C. Coliseum North Carolina broke open close game in the second half and cruised to a 98-74 victory over Northwestern. Duke defeated Penn State 67-56 in first game.

North Carolina led by one shot with 1:44 remaining. The taller Tar Heels solved Northwestern's man-to-man defense and built a 25-point lead in the first 10 minutes of the second half.

Forward Dennis Wuycik led the Tar Heels with 28 points. The team shot 64.5 per cent from the floor.

Duke built its victory margin over Penn State early in the game by sharp playing which gave the Blue Devils a 17-4 lead in the first six minutes. Duke then played deliberately to rest of the way, seemingly content to trade baskets with the Nittany Lions.

Randy Denton had 16 points and Rick Katherman 13 for Duke.

ACC teams take a New Year's break until Saturday. Then Clemson is at South Carolina, North Carolina plays Tennessee in Charlotte, Virginia is Wake Forest, and Maryland home to Richmond.

LaSalle Takes Charlotte Title

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — LaSalle College of Philadelphia, which won the Charlotte Invitational Basketball Tournament, placed three players on the all-tournament team.

One was Kenny Durrett, who scored 23 points in the 75-63 championship victory over Boston College Wednesday night. He also was voted the tournament's Most Valuable Player.

The other two were Bob Fields, who scored 21 points, and Jim Crawford.

Jim O'Brien, who scored 15 points for Boston College, also made the team.

So did Joe Sutter of Davidson, which defeated Georgia 63-55 in the consolation game. Sutter had 15 points for Davidson, which had won the three previous tournaments, but which lost 72-67 to Boston College in the first round this time. LaSalle had overcome Georgia's slowdown tactics to whip the Bulldogs 50-42 in the opening round.

In the championship game the LaSalle Explorers hit 56 per cent from the field, including 13 of 19 in the second half.

Davidson led all the way against Georgia, and had a 31-22 advantage at halftime.

Lanny Taylor led Georgia scorers with 12 points, while Ronnie Hogue added nine.

Haywood Jumps ABA, Goes NBA

By CHARLIE BAROUH
Associated Press Sports Writer
SEATTLE (AP) — Spencer Haywood, child prodigy with the Denver Rockets, wants to play his basketball for the Seattle SuperSonics and Sonics President Sam Schulman is ready to fight off two leagues to let him do it.

U.S. District Court Judge Warren J. Ferguson, refereeing the tug of war over the American Basketball Association's 1969 Rookie of the year and Most Valuable Player, said Wednesday he will decide who has a valid contract with Haywood.

Schulman announced Wednesday Haywood signed a contract "for many, many years" with the Sonics.

Ferguson barred the National Basketball Association from preventing Haywood from playing with the Sonics. NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy has refused Sonics' pleas to waive a rule barring any club from signing a man until his college class graduates. Ferguson set Jan. 8 as the date he will decide whether Denver has a valid contract with Haywood or, if not whether the NBA can stop the Sonics from playing Haywood.

"At this point," Ferguson said, "Mr. Haywood could wind up playing for Denver or Seattle. There has been no final determination."

Haywood, 21, dropped out of the University of Detroit after his sophomore year to sign a $350,000 contract with the Rockets. After Haywood became the league's all-anything, the contract was superseded by another for six years and $1.6 million.

During his rookie year he averaged 29.5 points and 19.5 rebounds a game.

Of the second pact, Haywood said: "In order to receive the deferred payments I would have had to play 10 years, which would have been involuntary servitude. If I didn't play the extra four years I would have forfeited the money for the six years."

"I went to the club right after the season and said I wanted that clarified. They didn't want to do it," he added, "and I decided then I wouldn't play for them."

The Worry Clinic No Place For Dog On Dates

Aubrey was shocked and surprised at the reaction of the girl he dated in Chicago. How do you readers vote in this case? In general, you women should decide in advance whether you prefer to be kissed by a drooling doggie or by a virile man. Pets and romantic petting don't mix! Girls, get hep!

By GEORGE W. CRANE

Case P-531: Aubrey J., aged 42, is a widower.

"Dr. Crane," his clergyman told me, "I advised Aubrey to register with the Scientific Marriage Foundation.

"For he had three children in grammar school and was a very fine man.

"His wife had died a year ago of cancer.

"Well, he followed my suggestion and soon was given the name of an attractive secretary in Chicago.

"I coached him to write her a few times before trying to meet her in person, and he did.

"THEN HIS business took him to Chicago, so he had a florist send her a dozen roses, as a prelude to their date the next night.

"He took her to a ritzy restaurant and since she had never been up to the top of the Prudential Tower, he also escorted her there.

"At their dinner they both marvelled at how much they had in common (for the SMF computer takes care of this).

"When he escorted her home, she invited him into her apartment for a cup of coffee.

Fiesta For Checkups

STOCKTON, Calif. (UPI)—There's a fiesta—complete with music—for migrant farm workers and their families when they go for a health checkup in San Joaquin County.

The program was conceived by the San Joaquin Medical Society to attract people who will not go too far out of their way to seek preventive medical care.

The program, funded by the California Regional Medical Programs, is intended to bring the benefits of medical care to poor urban families and migrant farm workers in the county and to combat health ignorance by involving people in active participation.

Officials say one of the most serious deficiencies in the present health system is absence of a sense of participation.

And it isn't because your escort may dislike dogs. He may be fond of such animals in their proper place.

"Like me, like my dog," may be a familiar adage, but "liking your dog" may not extend to kissing you after the canine has slobbered all over your mouth and cheeks!

tion or control of their fate by patients seeking health care.

The ultimate goal of the health checkup is to screen 3,000 persons annually for the next three years to bring them into the local health care system.

A trial run was held in August when checkups were given to two labor camps near Stockton. Accompanied by the sounds of mariachi bands, refreshments, and food, the checkups attracted large crowds.

Patients received tests for lung function, blood pressure, visual acuity, heart function, X-ray and blood and urine. Women got routine "pap" tests for detection of cervical cancer. The tests cost about $34 per patient. The fee is covered by a grant from the Division of Regional Medical Programs of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Sometimes declarer must duck the opening lead for the purpose of establishing ready communications between his two hands. A somewhat unusual case is presented today.

I favor the direct manner in which North and South arrived at a slam contract in spades. When North opened the bidding and subsequently raised South's takeout of one spade to two, South reached the conclusion that the partnership had assets equivalent to 33 points. The South hand is valued at 19 points and the opening bidder may be counted on for 14 in support.

There is the further consideration that South's king and queen of clubs are much more impressive by reason of North's opening bid in that suit. South's directness of approach has the merit of concealing any information which might prove helpful to the defense.

West opened the five of diamonds and East put up the king. Declarer won the trick with his ace, a move which he was presently to regret. South led a diamond at trick two and West put up the ten to hold the trick. The shift was to a heart and the ace was played from dummy.

The queen of spades was put thru for a trump finesse. All hands ducked, and a small spade was led next to declarer's nine. This too held, as West showed out and now the jack of diamonds was ruffed with North's ten of spades.

The remaining trump was led from dummy to repeat the finesse. South won the trick with the jack and then cashed the ace to pick up East's king. South now played the king and queen of clubs. He was obliged to overtake the queen with the ace since North had no side entries left. The jack of clubs was cashed but, when the suit failed to break, declarer could win no more and the outcome was a two-trick set.

Had South permitted East to hold the first trick with the king of diamonds, the defense would have been rendered helpless, for with East on lead there is no profitable way to attack North's ace of hearts. Declarer merely wins the return with the ace of diamonds, ruffs out his jack next, and draws trumps by repeated finesse against the king of spades. He then cashes the king and queen of clubs and enters dummy with the ace of hearts to run the clubs for the balance of the tricks.

Demonstrate Fire Control

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (UPI)—The first promising fire-protection system for large passenger aircraft has been demonstrated by scientists at NASA's Ames Research Center here.

The system, now in an early development stage, could provide a fire-resistant protective shell, bonded to the aircraft fuselage, to completely enclose the passenger compartment.

Tests show the shell could provide a survivable environment for the six to 10 minutes required for firemen to subdue a fuel fire and remove the occupants.

The system uses fire-retardant paints and foams developed by the Ames Center. It is designed to protect passengers from on-the-ground fuel fires following a crash or other landing accident.

During a recent test, a 12½ foot long section of a C47 fuselage protected by the system, and sitting in a small lake of aviation fuel (5,000 gallons), maintained survivable conditions in the heart of a raging, 18,000-degree F. fire.

An identical but unprotected section of the C47 burned up completely in two minutes. The plane's aluminum skin burned through in about 30 seconds.

N.C. Jails Modernized In 2 Years

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Department of Social Services says a $14 million building program has brought more improvement to North Carolina jails in the past two years than in the previous 30 years.

North Carolina Social Services Commissioner Clifton Craig cited "astounding improvements" in a report which noted that from 141 to 1968 only 28 new county jails were constructed in the state, an average of one a year.

But from July 1, 1968 to June 30, 1970, six new county jails and four new municipal jails were built at a cost of $4 million.

The report also pointed out that six other county jails and four municipal jails are under construction, along with one juvenile detention home at a cost of $3.1 million.

In addition, the report said 15 other counties are planning jails at a cost of $6.5 million.

Another 21 county and municipal jails were renovated at a cost of $166,497 and 13 other jail renovations are underway or planned at a cost of $188,600, the report said.

Craig pointed to legislation passed by the 1967 General Assembly as primarily responsible for the progress.

The legislation fixed minimum standards for jails and gave Craig the authority to close any jails not measuring up to the standards. It also provided funds for a jail inspection staff.

Four jails — in Burke, Columbus, Davie and Avery counties — were ordered closed by Craig because they failed to meet standards and steps were not taken to correct them.

All the four counties except Burke are working on plans for new jails, Craig said.

He said plans have been completed for North Carolina's first regional jail at Elizabeth City and construction is expected to start by next March. It will cost about $450,000 and serve the counties of Camden, Perquimans and Pasquotank.

"But even with the great strides during the past two years, we will cannot rest on our laurels," Craig added.

He said 12 counties still need new jails and 24 jails need either major or minor renovation.

TO: J. T. MARSTON, JR.
NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL BANK
GREENVILLE, NORTH CAROLINA
FROM: ACE ADVERTISING AGENCY

(1) Mr. Marston, I am writing to ask for your help. As you know, when State Bank merged with North Carolina National Bank, I had a 10 year contract with State Bank. I had looked forward to a new and brighter day with North Carolina National Bank, only to find that North Carolina National Bank had their own advertising agency.

(2) Every month I get a check from North Carolina National Bank. I sit around the house all day and do nothing. My children ask, "Daddy, what do you do?" I am humiliated. I have to tell them I don't do anything. Won't you please let me write one more ad for 1970?

TO: ACE ADVERTISING AGENCY

FROM: J. T. MARSTON, JR.

(1) You have a problem, I must admit. I am sorry for your children. But don't you see, Mr. Storrs and Mr. Reese just wouldn't go for your back woods grits and molasses approach? They are smart. Otherwise they wouldn't be the President and Board Chairman at North Carolina National Bank.

(2) There is no use in trying to sell them on your fat back and fried corn bread approach. They know what will sell and what won't sell.

(3) For all these years, you put out a line of pure corn about the sweet little bank on Five Points, where never was heard a discouraging word, and where the deer and the antelope played all day.

(4) We live in a new day now. We're still friendly. Our tellers will still ask about the sick baby back home. Our loan officers are still concerned about a customer's dislocated vertebra.

(5) But we're big, too, now. We can furnish letters of credit for travel in Spain. We can buy and sell foreign exchange. We can talk about Euro-Dollars and the rate on the French franc. Brother, we are something! There is nothing we can't do!

(6) I don't dare turn you loose on New Year's Eve to write one of your hog jowl and field peas ads.

(7) For your children's sake, I will take a chance on one more ad for 1970, but, frankly, I must limit you to three words. See what you can do with that. I am simply sorry for your children.

TO: J. T. MARSTON, JR.
NORTH CAROLINA NATIONAL BANK
GREENVILLE, N. C.

FROM: ACE ADVERTISING AGENCY

(1) Since you are limiting me to three words, there is no use in my pointing out to you that I made you what you are today.

(2) Don't forget that I created the image of the sweet little bank on Five Points. I will admit that you helped by giving the moderate size businessman a chance. I must agree that your policy of granting credit on the basis of character, and not necessarily collateral, made your bank grow to the point that today it is the bank of the common man.

(3) But don't forget, the North Carolina National Bank of today is the salt mullet and cornbread State Bank of yesterday.

(4) And now, as the year closes and you have limited me to three words, I can only say to one and all
