

Scott Reviews Past, Charts Future

1970 Called 'Year Of Our Environment'

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott said today the past year in North Carolina was marked by a reduction in traffic deaths, an increasingly serious drug abuse problem and "vivid reminders" of the pollution problems the state faces.

Scott, terming 1970 "the year of our environment," said "the costs to clean up our physical environment... will be high, but I believe we can bear them."

"Actually, we have little choice in the matter," the governor declared in a prepared year-end report to the people. "We must bear the costs if we are to bequeath to future generations any semblance of a livable environment."

Scott said 1970 "was the year of Earth Day, of the corn blight, of the fish kills in Hyde County waters and in the Yadkin River, of severe flooding in western North Carolina."

"It was the year of three children dying apparently from parathion poisoning, of mercury being found in some of our streams, of nerve gas being moved by train across the southern border of our state to Sunny Point and then by ship out into the Atlantic."

The governor said he favors stronger punishment for illegal drug dealers and pushers to cope with the growing problem of drug abuse in North Carolina.

"We must approach the problem rationally and factually and with determination," he said, "to remove this terrible blight from the lives of our young people."

He said that during the first 11 months of 1970, overdoses of drugs and narcotics caused the deaths of at least 74 North Carolinians, including 23 from barbiturates.

Scott noted that 1970 census figures showed North Carolina's population growth appears to be slowing down. He expressed hope this trend will continue, saying: "North Carolina does not need its cities to become gigantic, overpopulated, urban jungles."

"Let us be proud of our achievements in highway safety," the governor stated. He said the 1970 traffic death toll, after the delayed fatalities have been included, is expected to be about 45 below the 1969 toll.

"But," he added, "let us not be content until our highways are made as accident-free, injury-free, and death-free as is humanly possible."

Concerning highway construction, Scott said: "With increased revenues coming in, the state was able to let $173 million in contracts last year, over $25 million more than in any previous year."

The governor said that although North Carolina is well below the national unemployment rate of 5.6 per cent, "I am still greatly concerned, especially about the unemployment among our cotton and hosiery mills workers. A number of our textile plants shut down during the year; others operated in less than full steam. The result, naturally, was a reduction in wages earned by workers."

The governor said he believes "our worst school problems are behind us, and I fervently hope that our teachers will soon be able to teach and that our children will soon be able to learn in an atmosphere free of turmoil."

He noted that more than 1,500 new public school classrooms were built in North Carolina last year, and 1,200 more are scheduled for construction.

"Yet, nearly 6,000 more classrooms are needed, right now, by pupils being educated in old and inadequate facilities," the governor said.

In the area of general government, Scott said the year's highlight was the passage in the November election of an amendment to reorganize the 317 or more state agencies, boards and commissions into 25 major departments by July 1, 1975.

In the area of health, the governor stated he was pleased to report that North Carolina continues to rank first among the 50 states in the number of health facility projects constructed under the Hill-Burton Act. During 1970, he said, 40 such projects, costing $131 million, were under construction.

"Alcoholism," Scott said, "continues to be a serious health problem in our state. During fiscal 1970, admissions to our three alcoholic rehabilitation centers were more than three times the number of admissions in fiscal 1969."

Jenkins Speaks In Behalf Of Group

RALEIGH — Presidents and chancellors of 15 state-supported North Carolina universities met in Raleigh Sunday night to discuss reorganization and other issues of higher education.

At a second meeting of the group at 2:00 p.m. today, Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of East Carolina University and head of the Council of Presidents and Chancellors of State-Supported Institutions, issued a brief statement to Governor Robert W. Scott on behalf of the group.

"As presidents and chancellors of state universities and the School of the Arts, we commend you for your past support and present concern for the further advancement of higher education in North Carolina," Jenkins said.

"We join you in seeking ways of affecting still greater progress. We offer our cooperation to you and a special committee of trustees representing our institutions stand ready to share our judgements and experience with this group."

The Sunday night meeting, held at the Velvet Cloak Inn, was not open to the public. The RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott's university reorganization plan got its first public endorsement today from a university administration.

Endorsement

The support came from Western Carolina University in a statement presented to the governor a few hours before a scheduled meeting among him and heads of the state's 15 state-supported campuses.

Western Carolina's statement endorsed the idea of giving a single state agency budget review authority over all state institutions of higher education.

The statement came from both the university administration and the university board of trustees.

meeting today was scheduled for the group to meet with the governor and Dr. Cameron West, director of the State Board of Higher Education. This meeting was at the request of Governor Scott.

An earlier Associated Press news story noted Jenkins is reported to have told Governor Scott that each of the state's universities should remain responsible to the legislature. The governor has called for restructuring of higher education in the state. Reorganization is expected to again be a topic of the discussions to be held this afternoon.

The position of presidents and chancellors on state aid to college students is another topic which may be on the agenda for the today's meeting. Some controversy has arisen about a statement issued by the Council several weeks ago. In the statement, it was proposed that state aid be allotted to various institutions on the basis of their enrollments.

Presidents of institutions with predominantly black student bodies have taken exception to the council's position, claiming such action would favor the larger institutions.

Good News Story Plans Sidelined

TYRONE, Pa. (AP) — For 12 years, members of a Methodist church in this central Pennsylvania town worked to raise funds for a new building. Now they're lending the money to help their aging community attract a new industry.

A month ago, the town was dealt a severe economic blow by drastic cutbacks at Westvaco Corp., a paper mill that had been its leading employer for 90 years. Some 550 of the town's 3,500-man work force were left jobless.

Seeking a solution to the problem, the congregation of the Columbia Avenue Methodist church voted to lend $100,000 to the Tyrone Improvement Corp. to finance a $1 million industrial development project.

"At a time when the community does not have adequate funds to attract new industry, we are making them available," said the Rev. Leroy J. Harrison, the pastor.

The congregation has been holding services in makeshift quarters since the church burned eight years ago.

"We felt that this was probably more urgent than building our new church," the minister said. "We do have facilities and using them is better than not having our men able to make a livelihood for their families."

The church's loan represents the required 10 per cent of mortgage money necessary to obtain development funds through the Pennsylvania Industrial Development Authority—PIDA.

Prime Rate Cut

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — First Pennsylvania Banking & Trust Co., biggest in Philadelphia, today cut the prime interest rate from 6 1/2 per cent to 6 per cent—the sixth reduction in nine months—and explained "we've got money and we're looking for loans."

It was the first major bank in the nation to take this action.

The prime is the interest charged to the bank's best customers. It has skidded steadily from a high of 8 1/2 per cent last March.

Reform Now, By Reagan

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan launched his second term today by proposing that California lead the nation in reforming welfare to weed out "those whose greed is greater than their need."

"There is no greater challenge facing the state or nation," the Republican chief executive said in his second inaugural address.

"If not us, who? If not now, when?" asked Reagan, who has been one of the most persistent and vocal critics of President Nixon's family assistance welfare reform plan.

Reagan, 59, said the only alternative—higher taxes to pay for rising welfare costs—is the easy way out and temporary aid at best.

In his prepared text, Reagan said he would spell out the details of his plan and discuss the state's bleak fiscal outlook—in a message to the legislature Jan. 12. State welfare spending now totals about $2 billion a year and nearly 2 million persons receive aid.

The legislature also convenes today with Democrats taking control of both the Assembly and the Senate—a fact that is certain to complicate Reagan's plans for the welfare reform. In the outgoing legislature, Republicans controlled both chambers.

Reagan's second inaugural features an entertainment gala tonight starring Frank Sinatra, John Wayne, Jimmie Stewart and Jack Benny.

Welfare was the single issue Reagan discussed in detail in his inaugural remarks.

"Mandated by statute and federal regulation, welfare has proliferated and grown into a leviathan of unsupportable dimensions," the governor said.

"I shall propose restructuring welfare—to eliminate waste and the impropriety of subsidizing those whose greed is greater than their need."

69 Fewer

RALEIGH (AP) — The Highway Patrol says 1,741 persons were killed in North Carolina traffic accidents in 1970.

This was 69 fewer than the year before, and the second year there had been a decrease.

New York City Will Sue Over Welfare Costs

NEW YORK (AP) — The city plans to sue the state and federal governments to strike down laws that require it to pay what Mayor John V. Lindsay calls a "disproportionate and arbitrary" share of the costs of the nation's welfare problem.

City lawyers are measuring the U.S. Constitution against provisions of the federal Social Security Act and the state's social services law, which mandate more than $600-million in city payments to welfare and medicaid programs this fiscal year.

Welfare payments, the mayor contended Saturday in announcing the planned suit, benefit mostly poor Americans who have migrated to large cities and whose plight is a national problem which cannot be solved locally.

The suit, which might take three to four weeks to prepare, would seek to force the federal and state governments to finance locally administered welfare programs which now are broadly governed from Washington and specifically regulated by the states.

These laws require the city to pay for nearly one-third of the locally run programs.

Pedestrian Is Pitt Fatality

A Rt. 3, Greenville man died Saturday night after being struck by a vehicle as he walked along U.S. 264 approximately three miles east of Greenville.

According to the Highway Patrol, Alonzo Robinson, 76, stepped into the west-bound lane of traffic while walking along the highway and was hit by a car driven by David Junior Daniels, 42, of Simpson.

Daniels told investigating patrolman Billy Day that Robinson was walking west and stepped in front of his vehicle as the Daniels' car was being overtaken and passed by another vehicle.

Trooper Day preferred no charges following investigation of the 7:50 p.m. accident.

The death was the first traffic fatality in Pitt County in 1971.

Approve Pitt Study Plan

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt County Commissioners this morning approved a comprehensive water and sewer study plan for Pitt County, authorized by commissioners in October, 1967.

The study is designed to serve as a guide to improving present water and sewer service in the county and aid in establishing new community water and waste disposal systems.

Financed by a grant from the Farmers Home Administration, the study was compiled by Rivers and Associates, Inc., consulting engineers of Greenville, under the direction of the Pitt County Planning Board.

As outlined in the report, the comprehensive plan for water and sewer systems in the county provides the basis for planning for the future progress and development of an area. It also provides "a rational and economically sound basis for design and construction," and aids in preventing duplication and overlapping of facilities, services and administration.

Robert E. Pittman, an associate of the Rivers firm in presenting the plan to commissioners emphasized that the study is "a guide for future planning and development" and "shows that something can be done...and that people can get some help (through federal and state grants)"

Two water systems are in operation outside municipalities in the county at the present time—the Eastern Pines system and one at Bell Arthur. Plans are being made now for the Eastern Pines system to be extended into the Black Jack area.

In other business at their morning session Commissioners heard reports from various county departments and agencies.

Many Reasons For Impasse In 91st Congress

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 91st Congress, its early accomplishments largely overshadowed by frustrations of the post-election session, has passed into history, only 19 days before a new House and Senate take over.

Procrastination in the earlier months and refusal to gear its horse-and-buggy machinery to the space age created a session-end impasse which long hours and long talk could not overcome.

Adjournment came Saturday afternoon after the Senate agreed to a House-passed resolution shifting the debate over the supersonic transport plane to the 92nd Congress. The compromise allows funding of the 1,800-mile-an-hour plane and continues Transportation Department spending through March 30.

Some major bills lost in the adjournment shuffle were victims, of such Senate filibusters as those over the SST and restrictions on the president's use of troops in Southeast Asia. One talkathon lasted almost two months.

Adding to the crush allowed to pile up for the lame-duck session were long weekends and lengthy holiday recesses earlier in the year and a one-month summer vacation.

The traditional four-day congressional week just didn't work. Although official records for the two-year session show an elapsed time of about 700 days, the Senate worked only 207 days and the House 164.

During that period, the annual salary of congressmen rose from $30,000 to $42,500.

Swept under the rug in the hasty adjournment cleanup were such major proposals as welfare reform, a far-reaching foreign trade bill, increases in Social Security benefits and payments, and proposed constitutional amendments dealing with women's rights and electoral college reform.

Prefers Pushing Broom To Pledging Allegiance

By EARLE JOSIAH
Associated Press Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — College graduate Leroy Bates sweeps floors for about $40 a week. He says he would rather push a broom than recite the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

"I am eager to return to the classroom and continue my chosen profession," says the 25-year-old civics teacher. "But I feel an individual should be able to do what he wants so long as it's within the law."

Bates, a Negro, was fired by the Broward County school board a few weeks ago for not joining his students in saluting the flag. He said he objected to the words "liberty and justice for all" because "they do not apply to blacks."

Two lawyers—one white and one black—have volunteered their services in an attempt to get the board to change its mind.

"My convictions did not interfere with my relationship with my students," said Bates.

He patted his well-cropped, inch-length Afro. His 4-year-old daughter and 2-year-old son sat on a sofa staring at a colored picture on the television set. In addition to teaching, Bates had a part-time job and "made about $800 a month."

He said he was forced out of that job with the Hollywood recreation department because of his stand on the oath of allegiance.

A spokesman for the recreation department said Bates declined to accept a change in assignment from leading a youth group to refereeing basketball.

Bates now works with a professional maintenance firm. "We clean office buildings and corporations. My wife was naturally upset about the suspension. But we've discussed it a great deal—and she understands," Bates said.

Oldtime Cowboy Scoffs At Talk Of Retirement

DANVILLE, Calif. (AP) — Jack Hart will be 99 this month, but the grizzled old cowhand scoffs at the idea it's time to retire.

"I've been a cowboy all my life," says Hart, still looking the part in a black rolled-brim hat, heavy coat, boots and the rest of the traditional gear.

"I can still handle horses, and I still ride some," Hart said. He plans a trip to the Fort Worth, Tex., rodeo next month, although he quit competing half a century ago.

"I still make the rodeo circuit and sometimes I pick up a job taking care of the ropers' or doggers' horses—whatever pays the most money," Hart said. "Right now, I'm kind of sitting on my duff."

Although his sight is fading a little, his hearing is still sharp. Hart, born in Indian territory in 1872, had the same birthplace as Will Rogers: Oologah, Okla.

Couple Speaks Vows In Double Ring Ceremony

AMHERST, Va. — Miss Jane Gail Illingworth became the bride of Richard Norwin Pierce on Wednesday at 11:00 a.m. in a ceremony performed in the Chapel of Sweet Briar College here.

The bride is the daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. R. G. Illingworth of Chester, Va., and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Norwin C. Pierce of Greenville, N.C.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. Robertson, chaplain of the college, and by the Rev. Illingworth, father of the bride.

Donald Pierce, brother of the bridegroom, was the best man, and Miss Janet Pierce, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride.

Preceding the ceremony, Dr. John Shannon, professor of organ, gave a short recital of organ music.

Following the wedding the bride's parents entertained the members of the wedding party and guests from the faculty of Sweet Briar at a luncheon at the Town and Country Inn, Lynchburg, Va.

On the evening before the wedding, a party was given by some Sweet Briar friends of the Illingworth family at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Shannon to honor the bridal couple.

On Wednesday morning, Dr. Laura Buckham entertained at a wedding breakfast at her home honoring the wedding party.

The bride is a graduate of Sweet Briar College and is now a graduate student at the University of North Carolina in the School of Music. The bridegroom graduated from Yale University and is in the Medical School at the University of North Carolina.

Chocolate Roll: New Year Company Fare

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
Chocolate Rolls are among the most popular of company desserts. Especially if they're all chocolate. And that's the kind of recipe we have for you today.

A chocolate cake, baked in a jelly-roll pan, is given a mocha cream filling and then the roll is covered with luxurious chocolate frosting. Even chocolate fans are bound to be satisfied!

CHOCOLATE CHIFFON ROLL
½ of a 4-ounce package (9 squares) sweet cooking chocolate

1-3rd cup water
¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar

1 teaspoon double-acting baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks

¼ cup salad (not olive) oil
4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar

2 tablespoons sugar
Confectioners' sugar
Mocha Cream Filling
Chocolate Frosting

Grease the bottom and sides of a jelly roll pan—15 by 10 by 1 inch; line bottom with wax paper; grease paper.

In a small saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly, melt chocolate with water. Remove from heat; cool.

Into a small bowl sift together the flour, the ½ cup sugar, the baking powder and salt. Make a well in the center of flour mixture; add egg yolks, oil and chocolate mixture. Beat at low speed of electric mixer until smooth—about 1 minute.

Into a medium mixing bowl turn the egg whites and cream of tartar. With clean beater, beat at high speed of electric mixer until foamy throughout. Gradually beat in the 2 tablespoons sugar; continue beating until mixture forms stiff peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn.

Inspector Warns Of Salesgirls

POOLE, England (WNS) — Geoffrey Roberts, chief inspector of weights and measures, has warned businessmen to beware of sexy salesgirls.

Their sales methods include smiling and pouting while fingering the prospective customer's lapel and jacket buttons. "On the subject of being easily parted from one's money, it is perhaps necessary to warn businessmen to be on their guard if they are subjected to the seductive charms of mini-skirted females," wrote Roberts in his annual report.

Dignity Is The Novelty Nowadays

INNSBRUCK, Austria (WNS) — January 1st marks the opening of the Tyrol's long Fasching season of costume balls. Lady dressmakers, however, have decided that no theatrical costumes will be worn at their annual Fasching party. Instead, guests must come in evening dress. "Costumes are no longer a novelty now that they are worn on city streets every day," explained Rosa Dinkermann, the 74-year-old dean of the group. "Dignity is the novelty nowadays."

Pantsuits Ban Irks This Office Worker

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I do stenographic work in an office which employs 28 women. Last week, word came down from the brass in the front office: "Women are not permitted to wear pants in the office." Some of the women here wouldn't wear pants to work if they were permitted to, but that's not the point.

I believe in the democratic system, and think a vote should be taken, and let the majority rule. A word from you might help.

FOR DEMOCRACY

DEAR FOR: I'm for democracy, too, but a word from me wouldn't mean a thing to the brass in your office. [If you'll forgive the analogy, "the inmates are not running the asylum."]

Most employers bust their britches to keep the help happy but since it's not that way where you work, hitch up your trousers and look elsewhere.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in regard to your book entitled "Dear Teenager." It was for me an interesting and helpful book because I could see myself in those letters you got from teenagers. I think your advice was wonderful and I am going to try to live up to all the things you talked about, especially with my parents and boys.

Thank you for writing it. LUCY IN ASHVILLE, N. C.

DEAR LUCY: Your letter delights me, because I wrote "Dear Teenager" 10 years ago and now I am more convinced than ever that we don't need "new" rules to live by, we just need the common sense and strength to live by the old ones.

DEAR ABBY: I gave my husband a toupee for Christmas. [He had to go down to have it fit and cut, but I paid for it, and it wasn't cheap either.]

I think it looks great on him and so does everyone else, but here's my problem. He wears it during the week, but he refuses to wear it on weekends. He says it's not comfortable, he just wants a rest from it for a couple of days. I think it's more important for him to wear it on weekends because that's when we go out together. If he really wants to leave it off for two days a week, don't you think he should pick two days when he is not with me? The reason I bought him the toupee in the first place was because I wanted to be with him when he wears it.

LIKE HAIR

DEAR LUCY: What you say makes sense to me, but my advice to you is to stay out of his hair. Store-bought and otherwise.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you don't mind the dirt on this paper but it can't be helped because would you believe that I am sitting here in the jungles of Viet Nam writing this?

To tell you the truth, Abby, I don't have one big special problem, I just feel kind of lonely out here, and you're second best to my mother.

It is raining now and everybody is soaked to the skin, but the oldtimers tell me I'll get used to it. Maybe I will. I would like to make a wish that when this war is over, none of my friends or the new generation will ever have to go anywhere to fight.

Gee, I wish I were going to be home for Christmas.

G. I. FROM BREMERTON, WASH.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69706, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Errand Girl Aids Changing Times

LYONS, France (WNS) — Office manager Robert Bernon increased the efficiency of male employees, 12 per cent in three months by hiring a girl to run errands for the men's wives! "In the old days the man who asked for an hour off in the afternoon usually had a rendezvous with his mistress," said Bernon! "Now the poor fellow needs the extra time to do his wife's shopping!" The Frenchman added that shopping chores in the city double for men who move their wives and families to the suburbs.

In Lockstep Through Life

ALCONBURY, England (WNS) — Togetherness is the philosophy of Wesley and Constance McVey, the American husband-wife team. They joined the U.S. Air Force together and trained in the same class at the same base. Then they went to Vietnam together, served in the same squadron and won the Bronze Star together. Now that the 25-year-old pair have been transferred to England, they are being promoted to the rank of captain together. Only one flaw: "I won't wear my medal for marksmanship until Wes wins one, too," said Connie.

Hush Puppies Tales

By Larry Averette

The Old Lady Who Lived In The Pigskin Shoe

Do you know the story of the old lady who lived in the pigskin shoe? She and her children all wore HUSH PUPPIES casuals. The old lady liked HUSH PUPPIES so much she had a giant shoe made. Then she and all her children moved in.

The giant HUSH PUPPIES shoe made a great house. Breathin Brushed Pigskin provided a very well air conditioned dwelling.

The giant shoe's fluorocarbon shield protected them from rain and snow. A quick brush up and the place looked like new.

Special steel shank support made a sturdy foundation. They never had to worry about their shoe house crumbling. It was always cool inside the giant pigskin shoe, too. Special bristle openings kept circulation air all through the shoe.

HUSH PUPPIES shoes made a wonderful home - for feet or people.

Those Utilities Bills To Rise

Local electric and gas customers will soon be feeling the effects of increased fuel costs and perhaps also the extra cost of protecting the environment.

Greenville Utilities has been notified that Virginia Electric and Power, which supplies all our electricity, has requested a 23.91 percent increase in rates from the Federal Power Commission. By any standards this is a huge increase and, of course, if it is granted it will undoubtedly mean higher electric bills for GUCO's customers.

The request will mean hearings before the FPC and there is the possibility that the size of the rate increase will be reduced.

Higher electric rates have been anticipated for some time since the cost of fuel for generating electricity is on the rise and the electric companies are also encountering increased expenses providing the anti-pollution equipment which is needed to protect the environment.

We would, of course, hope that it can be shown before the FPC that an increase of the size proposed by VEPCO is not necessary, but this will be determined only after hearings and a final ruling.

N.C. Year Of Vital Choices

By ROY G. SOWERS, JR.
Director, N.C. Department
Conservation and Development

The year 1970, in my judgment, was a time of crucial choices for our state. Fundamental shifts in our thinking occurred. Because of this, the character of the new decade will reflect a militant insistence on quality in all that we endeavor.

The one 'movement' of 1970, so to speak, which has had the greatest impact — the one which has engulfed us all — was the great outburst for environmental protection. At first, it appeared to me that the 'movement' was somewhat disoriented. There was a discordant shrillness about it that evoked angry, and similarly unthinking, responses from many who heard the 'outrages' and strident 'demands' made by the conservationists.

It was as if a group who had long sought attention — attention that it rightly deserved, I might add — finally achieved that attention and then did not know what to do with it.

Initially, it seemed to me that it was a crisis-oriented movement, ready to oppose much but very short on presenting viable alternatives. It contained a heavy dose of a narrow, reflexive action type 'anti-industry' attitude and a healthy distrust of the integrity of state government and its officials.

I must admit in all candor that some people in state government reciprocated in full measure that sense of distrust and ill-will.

However, in my judgment, as the year wore on we all matured a great deal in our understanding of the complex problems facing North Carolina. People in our department, and throughout state government, began to understand and appreciate and work for points of view espoused by lay conservation spokesmen.

Concurrently the general attitude of the conservationists seemed to change. As we talked and worked together on many of the same problems, it appeared to me that most concluded a narrow 'anti-industry' attitude was a shallow way indeed to attack our environmental problems. All of us — state government people, conservation spokesmen and private citizens with no special organizational ties — began to think about the pollution caused by driving automobiles; pollution caused by great congregations of people; pollution caused by municipal waste systems (as opposed to strictly industrial wastes); pollution caused by the processes of nature; and we began to think seriously about population growth and its effect on our natural environment.

Price to End Pollution
More importantly, however, we have come to understand we all have a price to pay for the desired clean environment. It has been said on more than one occasion that one price may be a reduction in our unnecessary and frivolous wants, our consumer desires. The growth and development of North Carolina during the remaining years of the '70s will be undertaken with much greater care and concern for the quality of that growth and development. With this underlying philosophy, C&D expanded its services to the people during 1970 and embarked on several new major efforts.

In terms of our state's economic development, it should come as no surprise to any of us that our weakest areas in the sphere occupied by small marginal businessmen, many of whom are our black brothers.

Many of our very small businessmen know very little, if anything, about the elementary requirements for running a good and profitable business. When they want to expand, they have no idea who to see or what to ask for in terms of financial assistance. This is particularly true of many of our small black store owners, mainly due to their special, historical handicaps caused by color.

Small Business Assistance
At this moment, we are working on bringing together several ideas and formulating an active program of assistance, mainly technical and educational, for small businesses.

During 1970, we also initiated an active program of assistance to our smaller communities. Sixty-five communities of less than (Continued on page 5)

In the meantime fuel cost will be hitting local customers in another manner. GUCO has been informed by North Carolina Natural Gas that it has applied to the State Utilities Commission for a rate increase of approximately seven percent.

This increase seems likely since N. C. Natural Gas's supplier, Transcontinental, has already received a similar rate increase which was passed on. There has also been a huge increase in the cost of Propane gas which GUCO sells to its bottled gas customers. It can be anticipated that these costs will be passed on to the customers.

Greenville Utilities and other municipal utilities should oppose these increases before the proper commissions. Although there is little doubt that there are rate increases ahead for the individual customer. The local utilities mission should be to hold the increases to the absolute minimum.

Obtaining Those Tags Early Still Best Idea

It is time to remember those license plates which went on sale Jan. 1.

Motorists have a month and a half to obtain and display the license. But it is well to remember that long lines develop at the end of the period which result in a considerable wait.

Obtaining the tags early is the best policy.

Russia Fights A War In Sudan

By ROWLAND EVANS and
ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Deep in the hilly, high-grass country of southern Sudan, Soviet military technicians, pilots, and a growing arsenal of weapons are fighting a bloody counterinsurgency war against African tribes which has moved imperial Russian power halfway down the African continent.

This hidden war, virtually unnoticed in the West, is the latest sign of deepening Soviet penetration into the Arab states of north Africa. The Sudanese government of Gaafar al-Nimeiry, an Arab military officer before he became prime minister, is making increasing use of Soviet anti-insurgency tactics, weapons, and manpower in its civil war against Arab-hating Negro nationalists in the three southern provinces of the Sudan.

The Soviet Union, according to well-informed African sources, also has started building a new SAM-2 anti-aircraft missile net — this one not along the Suez Canal but near Port Sudan on the Red Sea, several hundred miles south of the main Arab-Israeli conflict.

The low-caliber warfare in southern Sudan is a microcosm of the main Middle East theater of operations far to the north. Thus, while Soviet technicians and weapons assist the Nimeiry government, the black tribes rebelling against Arab rule are getting similar though skimpier assistance from Israeli technicians and equipment. An average of one plane load of Israeli supplies arrives from the north each week.

The Israeli game is obvious: to encourage the black revolution against the Sudanese government and thus drain off both Soviet and Sudanese military strength from the center of the Arab-Israeli conflict.

Military experts here have been watching the increasing Soviet involvement in the Sudan with intense interest and anxiety. With casualties in the thousands (innocent civilians as well as indigenous black tribesmen fighting the Soviet-backed forces) of the central government), Moscow has now supplied two squadrons of TU-16 medium bombers, half a dozen AN-24s equipped with rockets, late-model MIG-21 fighters, helicopters, artillery, and light tanks.

But the resilience of southern Negro tribes who have hated their northern Arab conquerors for generations is proving as difficult for Nimeiry and the Russians as the Vietcong insurgency has been for Saigon and the United States.

Several weeks ago, operating from their base area near the town of Juba, the Russians committed 100 advisers to a government offensive against the insurgents' major base along Sudan's southern border. Soviet pilots (and some Egyptians) bombed, strafed, and finally captured an air strip — but later abandoned it. In that single action, there were nearly 1,000 casualties, mostly civilians killed in artillery and air bombardments.

What makes this hidden but bloody Soviet-backed civil war so fascinating to the U.S. is what it tells about Soviet political designs on coastal East Africa from the northern tip of the Suez Canal to Sudan.

Using the Arab-Israeli dispute as its stepping stone to imperial power south and east of the Mediterranean, Moscow shows it is willing to risk resources and prestige in a local civil war for its paramount goal: political control of East Africa and a solid foothold in the Indian Ocean.

Nor is Moscow worried about political inconsistencies in prying deep into the Arab states of Africa and the Middle East. In the Yemen civil war ten years ago, it fought on the side of left-wing nationalists. In Egypt, it rides the horses of anti-Israeli passions. In the Sudan, it is battling against a nationalist movement and for the central government in Khartoum.

But the goal in each case is the same: Soviet power and influence in the Middle East, east Africa, and the Indian Ocean.

Strength For Today

POVERTY AMID RICHES

We are reading a great deal these days about eccentric people who shut themselves up for years, and although they have plenty of money to live in comfort they live instead in filth and squalor until compelled by the police to give up and perhaps go to an institution. Having riches and living in squalor!

There was a beautiful sunset visible from our back porch last evening, but I suppose only a few people in the village saw it. Today the sun is shining with the very glory of God in it, yet many are unhappy, some are nursing bitterness, a few, perhaps, are planning crimes. Thus the world goes on. It is arresting to think of the wonderful deal God is giving many of us and the bad deal we are giving ourselves. Surrounded with the wealth of beauty but living our narrow little lives in ugliness.

But the greatest gifts of life are not those we see with the eye or enjoy by the use of any of the five senses. The best gifts are unseen — love, interest in others, health, a chance to work, friendship, religious faith. Take these things away and no one would care how soon the world came to an end. These things are of God, and as we live and move and have our being in Him, so we live, and move, and have our being in these gifts. The things which are seen are temporal, but the things which are unseen are eternal.

WASHINGTON — A lot of things were said in 1970 that people wish they could take back.

How would you feel if you were the person who said:

To Walter Hickel, "Well, if you feel that strongly about it, why don't you write the President a letter?"
To Judge Carswell, "Even if they won't have you on the Supreme Court, you're a cinch to be elected senator."

To Sen. Charles Goodell, "The President and Vice President have to support you. After all you ARE a Republican."
To Bernie Cornfeld of IOS, "They can't fire you Bernie. It's your company, isn't it?"
To Howard Hughes, "You

either do it my way, Mr. Hughes, or I'll have to resign."
To Secretary of the Treasury David Kennedy, "All we have to do is lay off people and we'll stop inflation."

Other Editors Say Farm Labor Issue

(Rocky Mount Telegram)

A highly-placed Nixon spokesman has said that the administration would not oppose farm labor legislation that would authorize compulsory unionism for farm workers. Many citizens who voted for Nixon would be disappointed at such a position taken on compulsory unionism, but that's politics.

The official who made the statement justified such a legislative position on the part of Nixon by saying it was necessary to get badly needed farm legislation through Congress. This is the same position taken earlier this year by Postmaster General Blount who insisted that postal reform legislation couldn't be enacted unless union officials were bought off with the one plum they wanted most — authorization for compulsory unionism.

But in that instance, just the reverse proved true. A bipartisan coalition of congressmen, sparked by a public outcry against such a sellout, passed an amendment to the postal reform bill banning all forms of compulsory unionism.

Despite the attitude of the Nixon administration, there is noted a continued improvement in Washington's legislative climate favoring Right to Work — reflected by adoption of the Right to Work amendment to the postal reorganization act and the 1970 election results. This climate has set the stage for positive consideration of legislative proposals in the 1972 Congress to provide protection for farm workers; enact a ban against all forms of compulsory unionism, and pass legislation barring the use of compulsory dues dollars for political purposes.

The drive for compulsory unionism for farm workers is expected to be clothed in the argument that National Labor Relations Act machinery will insure "democratic" elections for the workers to select their bargaining agents. But what isn't being said is that the same machinery is now in use in private sectors and can be and is used to force a minority of 49 per cent of employees to join and pay dues to a private organization selected by 51 per cent.

As for the Nixon administration which now appears to be advocating compulsory unionism for farm workers (as it did for postal workers) it is headed by the same man who campaigned that "we strongly believe that the protection of individual liberty is the cornerstone of sound labor policy."

A New Class Of U.S. Workers

By ELMER ROESSNER

In recent years, a new class of workers has been developed in America. Just under the conventional executives and just above the managers and foremen have emerged another layer of worker, called "the brains" in either derision or admiration.

This special class consists of young men and a few young women with Masters' and Doctors' of Philosophy degrees who are specialists in physics, chemistry, computer, analysis and other sciences and in a few of the arts as well.

They fill jobs in the $15,000 to $30,000 range, and their assignments are to develop new methods and systems, and to teach them to executives and underlings. In some corporations, these brains have become symbols. Chairmen of boards have boasted on the number of Ph. D.s they have on their staffs. Other companies have become favorites of stock market investors because of the number of scientists they have working.

Pop Goes The Bubble
Now much of this is ending. The current recession has caused a rise of millions in unemployed. It has pushed several thousands of skilled workers from their jobs; it has resulted in wholesale retirements and pensionings in the executive suites. Proportionately, it has hit the brains boys the hardest.

Unemployment in the current slump has come from two causes: the layoff of men because of shutdowns of production lines and whole plants; and the layoff of men because of orders from the top to cut expenses to current income.

This has resulted in the retirement and pensioning of some of the over-age gentlemen in the executive suite and wholesale dropping of brains boys. The number of Ph. D.s on the payroll is no longer something to brag about; the only valid boast today is of cuts that increase profits.

This Is Tomorrow
This has created a lost generation. There are thousands of these men, demonstrably the smartest group in the country, now out of jobs, an experienced strange to most of them.

Many are married, of these many have children. They have new homes, big mortgages, heavy debts, lots of skills but lacking in one technique: How to find a job. Some have gone back to England, Canada and homes abroad. Others have retreated to the home towns. One observer reports that around the atomic centers there are fine homes for sale at a third or half off original prices, because brains boys

Ever wonder where the expression "to pull the wool over one's eyes" came from? According to the National Geographic Society, it is believed to have originated in the days when gentlemen wore long white wigs, made of wool usually. Highwaymen would pull a victim's wig down over his eyes before taking his belongings.

Among America's white population, one out of every 625 persons becomes a doctor. Among the nation's Negro population only one out of every 3,800 does.

Women are calmer than men. They lose their temper only three times a week on the average—men six times. Psychological studies also show that men usually are stirred to wrath by inanimate things such as dull razor blades, missed trains, or furniture they've tripped over. Women more commonly flare up at other people.

Hebert Sees Dangers In Defense Decision Delays

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. F. Edward Hebert, in line to become House Armed Services chairman, says it is dangerous to put off even a year the decision on whether to go ahead with undersea missile launchers or the B-1 bomber.

Soviet arms limitation talks—comparing them with the post-World War I 5-5-3 naval disarmament pact—and even less faith in Russian sincerity.

“They’d surprise me at nothing,” Hebert, who is expected to succeed the late Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., when the 92nd Congress convenes, said in an interview with The Associated Press.

Some of the questions and answers:

Q. What’s your view of the apparent slowdown in Russian deployment of this big SS9 missile? Do you think this is a signal? Do you think this should affect our stance in Helsinki?

A. I would approach with caution coming up with anything optimistic based on what a Russian did. As a matter of fact, I’d take the signal as a warning instead of a good omen.

Q. Oh, really? A warning of what?

A. To watch out they’ve got an ace to play someplace.

Q. Do you think they might be slowing down to put multiple warhead missiles on or something of that nature?

A. They’d surprise me at nothing. Now keep in mind this: When I’m saying this now I’m talking as an American. If I were a Russian, I’d probably be out doing what they’re doing.

Q. Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has indicated by the end of a year’s time, when we see what the SALT talks do or do not produce, he has to face what he calls hard decisions on going into new weapons systems. Do you think we can wait that long before we move further toward a new bomber or a sea ...

A. No, no. Now, remember, the new bomber came—that’s another thing I think I’m conversant with, I’ve been fighting the bomber fight for six years. Mr. (former Defense Secretary Robert S.) McNamara, in another one of his ‘brilliant’ decisions. We haven’t got the bomber yet ...

There again on the SALT talks, we’ll go back to the years that this generation has forgotten. They’ve forgotten the Kellogg-Briand Pact, and the 5-5-3 Pact where the other people tore up the planes and we sank the ships. And we had World War II.

Q. How soon do you think the decision should be made whether to go ahead with the new undersea-launched missile or the B-1 bomber? Or do you think that they should just be gone ahead with?

A. No. I don’t believe in just going wildly ahead. But certainly the decision shouldn’t be delayed as long as it was, based on testimony on the (B-1 bomber.) I think the decision was very costly and still we don’t have the bomber. Should have been done long ago.

Q. Well, you think a year is too long to wait?

A. Dangerous.

Run Over By His Own Car

A 70-year-old man was injured here late Saturday night when run over by his own car.

Greenville police investigators reported that Thad James Wooten of 825 Fleming St. suffered leg injuries when his car backed over him on Dickinson Avenue at the Westwood Drive intersection about 11:25 p.m.

Police said Wooten had stopped his car and gotten out to read a street sign at the time of the mishap.

Apparently, investigators reported, the vehicle’s transmission had been left in the “reverse” position and when the car began rolling backwards, Wooten got behind the car in an effort to stop it. His left leg was injured when one of the wheels apparently rolled over it.

An estimated $5 damage resulted when the car struck the street sign post.

No charges were made.

Industrial development proceeded at a brisk rate despite depressing factors affecting the nation’s economy. It now appears that capital investments by industry for new and expanded facilities will exceed $600 million for 1970. The figure was $682 million for 1969.

This $600 million investment for 1970 promises to add more than $100 million to the annual Tar Heel payroll, and create some 20,000 new job opportunities.

I feel we can brag about this achievement, occurring in a difficult financial year.

Teacher Of Year Will Be Honored

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina’s teacher of the year will be honored during the meeting of the State Board of Education in Raleigh Thursday.

Estimated 43,000 Skiers 'Swooshed'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A spokesman estimates 43,000 skiers swooshed down North Carolina mountain slopes from Christmas Eve until after the New Year’s holiday.

Hotel operators estimate that each skier brings along at least one nonskier to see the sights and breathe the mountain air. So, if calculations are correct, more than 80,000 persons headed for the mountains in the 10 days which ended Sunday night.

Motel guests were mostly from North Carolina and South Carolina, but Florida was well represented. The hotel and motel registrations included people from as far away as Michigan and Ohio.

Cannon Memorial Hospital at Banner Elk in the heart of the ski country reported that during the holidays it made 72 X-rays for skiing injuries, and treated 29 ski fractures and dislocations.

Most of the skiers stayed in the ski strip, a 22-mile corridor from Blowing Rock to Banner Elk. The trip includes the Appalachian Ski Mountain at Boone, Beech Mountain and Sugar Mountain at Banner Elk, Seven Devils at Foscoe and the Hound Ears Lodge and Club.

High Meadows, Sapphire Valley and Catalouchee also attracted skiers.

The state Travel and Tourism Division has estimated 300,000 skiers will visit North Carolina resorts this year. The division says skiing is turning into an $11 million a year business.

Sought Rocky As A Running Mate

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a Republican, has disclosed—and Hubert H. Humphrey has confirmed—that he was invited to be the Minnesotan’s running mate on the Democratic party’s 1968 presidential ticket.

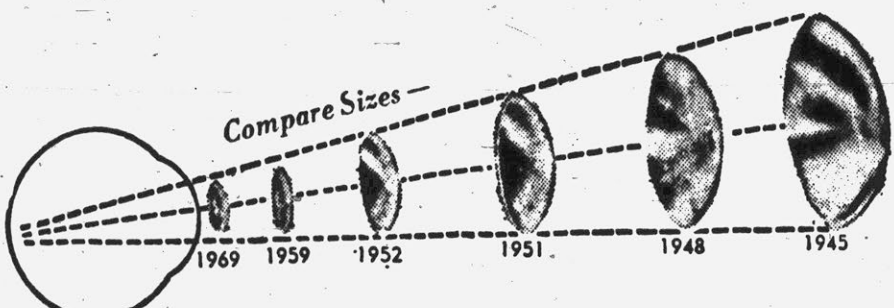

Rockefeller told newsmen Sunday he did not give the offer serious consideration—“I’m a Republican.”

The story was made public by Jack Bell of the Gannett News Service. Bell said he telephoned Humphrey at his home in Waverly, Minn., and was told:

“He never really rejected the idea. He showed an interest in it, but he indicated that he did not think he was in a position where he could run on the Democratic ticket.”

The Democratic convention selected Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine to run with Humphrey.

Claimed 434 On Holidays

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents claimed 434 lives over the three-day New Year's holiday weekend during which much of the nation was battered with heavy snow making roads treacherous.

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 400 and 500 motorists would die during the period from 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

The number was far below the record high of 564 in 1965 for the three-day celebration which brings in the new year. The record low since World War II for the period is 269, set in 1949.

The New Year's holiday is normally freer from accidents than other holidays. In the past year 612 persons died during the Labor Day weekend, 540 during July 4th and 509 during Christmas. All were three-day celebrations.

Getting Respite From Telephone

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Seventeen-year-old Rita Ann Galyean's telephone will no longer be ringing without letup, as it has since Tuesday.

The Internal Revenue Service sent to more than 100,000 Greensboro area residents income tax forms with the notation in red letters to call a certain number if they needed help.

The number, by mistake, was Rita's. The high school senior has her own phone.

Rita has remained good natured through it all.

The IRS says it is going to pay her phone bill for the next year and, starting today, it placed an intercept operator on her calls, so that those who want the tax office won't get through to Rita.

Wm. And Mary Can't Win In New $5.3 Million Home

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

William and Mary's basketball Indians now have played three games in their new $5.3 million physical education-convention center, have dropped all three—and their shooting has been as cold as the temperature in the as yet unfinished facility.

The Indians hit just 16 of 50 shots—32 per cent—Saturday night and it cost them a 66-49 drubbing at the hands of Davidson's Wildcats, who ran their Southern Conference record to 3-0 and their victory string over conference opposition to 35.

"We had good shots," said William and Mary coach Warren Mitchell. "But the darn things just wouldn't go in. We were missing everything, even five-foot jumpers. I've never seen anything like it."

Things had better improve fast for the Indians, now 1-2 in league play and 3-9 over-all, for they have a home date tonight with The Citadel's Bulldogs, tied with Furman for second behind Davidson at 1-0 in conference play and sporting a 6-3 over-all record.

It's one of just two games on the schedule for league teams. Virginia Military's Keydets, winless in seven starts, take on South Alabama in the opening round of the Senior Bowl tournament at Mobile, Ala., in which the other games matches Trinity and Pepperdine.

Furman's Paladins handed the Keydets a 93-68 drubbing Saturday night and thus tied idle The Citadel for second place in the league standings. Two league teams were bombed by outside opponents, Richmond's Spiders by Maryland 99-67 and East Carolina's Pirates by Marshall 107-79.

It was 54 degrees at game time at William and Mary, and Davidson coach Terry Holland already had criticized the situation in a pregame prepared statement in which he said he could understand "being caught in a jam and having to play like this, but it is unbelievable that this is the third game played here."

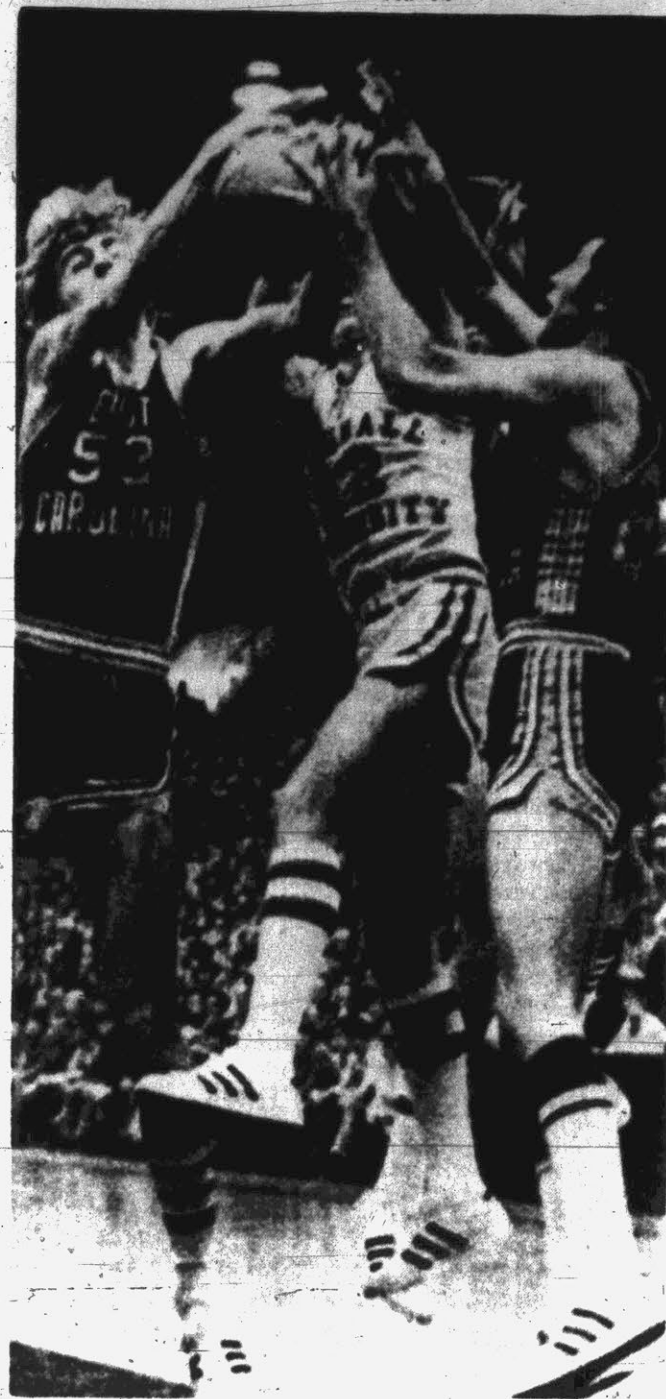

Holland needn't have worried in the case of his Wildcats, for they hit 53.3 per cent from the floor with 6-foot-7 sophomore Joe Sutter going nine of 13 and scoring 23 points. Neil Gewirtzman had 18 for the Indians, who had a 6:20 run in the first half and a spell of almost 10 minutes in the second when they scored just one field goal.

Russ Hunt and Don Jackson had 19 points each as Furman shot 45.8 per cent, built a 45-28 halftime lead and rolled over VMI in its conference debut. Jim Seifick had 21 points for the Keydets.

A 61-point second half made it easy for Maryland, which had been in front of Richmond 38-29 at intermission. Sophomore Barry Yatest poured in 30 points for the Terps, sophomore Mike Anastasio 17 for the Spiders.

East Carolina's Jim Gregory scored 29 points, but it wasn't nearly enough at Marshall, which got 34 from Russell Lee and forced numerous Pirate turnovers with a loose zone defense.

McGuire Doesn't Want Play At College Park

COLUMBIA (AP) — The status of Saturday night's scheduled basketball game between Maryland and South Carolina at College Park has become more uncertain.

Angry Irishman Frank McGuire, coach of the second-ranked Gamecocks, said Sunday he did not think the game should be played "under any circumstances," and certainly not at College Park.

"As far as I'm concerned, it will not be played there," McGuire added. "I am speaking as coach of the team, however, and not as athletic director."

McGuire, in comments following his weekly television program, also blasted Maryland Coach Lefty Driesell and acting Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Norvall Neve.

Additionally, he suggested that the FBI should look into rumors and reports of a possible riot if South Carolina takes on the Terps on Maryland's home court.

The South Carolina-Maryland game at Carolina Coliseum Dec. 16 was halted with 4:52 remaining because of a free-swinging melee that emptied both benches. Carolina won the game 96-70.

McGuire quoted Driesell as having said, "If a fight doesn't break out on the court at College Park, I'll see to it that there's a riot."

The South Carolina coach also criticized Commissioner Neve for allegedly saying that "McGuire is smart enough and has been around long enough to know what the consequences would be" if Carolina refuses to play Maryland.

"The commissioner made a very big mistake in saying I should know the consequences," snapped McGuire. "The consequences could be 15 or 20 people killed."

Neve, contacted at Greensboro, N. C., declined comment "except to say I did not make any such quote."

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coach Tom Landry of the Dallas Cowboys readily admits he thought his team's chances of reaching the big money of the National Football League Super Bowl were a flat zero just six short weeks ago.

Yet these same big Cowboys now prepare to battle Baltimore's Colts in the premier football show at Miami on Jan. 17.

"Baltimore's offense will provide much the same challenge as did the 49ers," reasoned Landry after his team of desire beat San Francisco 17-10 on Sunday in chilly Kezar Stadium to capture the championship of the National Football Conference.

Going back less than two months, Dallas had just lost to St. Louis 38-0 and early in the season had fallen to Minnesota by an astounding 54-13.

And there was that history of the Cowboys losing big games—title battles to Green Bay in 1966 and 1967 and failing to get past the first playoff rounds the next two years.

History didn't repeat when they battled the 49ers. With a tremendous running game powered by rookie Duane Thomas and gutsy Walt Garrison, Dallas beat the favored 49ers.

That knocked off the second West Coast hopeful for the Super Bowl. Only hours earlier in Baltimore the Colts whipped Oakland 27-17 in the American Conference finale.

Landry declared the victory over the 49ers must take the "loser onus" off his Cowboys—although he pointed out quickly "there is one game left."

He feels quarterbacks John Brodie of the 49ers and Johnny Unitas of the Colts present similar problems.

UCLA Hunting Football Coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — UCLA searched for another football coach today and Tommy Prothro, after 15 years as a college mentor, embarked on a new career as field boss of the professional Los Angeles Rams.

Ram President Dan Reeves signed the 50-year-old Prothro Saturday, three days after his coach for five years, George Allen, was handed his walking papers.

The Rams did not disclose the terms of Prothro's contract but it was learned from a reliable source that it was for five years and considerably more than the $45,000 salary and $20,000 bonus paid Allen.

"Brodie was fabulous this season and I think I aged 20 years in the second half Sunday," he declared. "When you play Baltimore, you're playing another great pro in Unitas."

"Baltimore, like San Francisco, is a passing team with great receivers. They'll give us about the same challenge as did the 49ers."

Thomas, a 220-pound rookie from West Texas State, scored the touchdown that broke a 3-3 tie in partisan Kezar and Garrison scored the one that made the final difference on a five-yard pass from quarterback Craig Morton.

First-half scoring came on a 16-yard field goal by Bruce Gossett of the 49ers and a 21-yarder by Dallas' Mike Clark.

There were keys to the victory and keys to the previous six games the Cowboys had won in succession after being only 5-4 after that one-sided loss to St. Louis.

"Lee Roy Jordan's interception was the real key play," Landry declared in a steaming, jam-packed dressing room. "But the key to the game was our ability to run the football."

Powerboaters In Sprint Marathon

MIAMI (AP) — Powerboat driver H. C. "Mac" McCune led for 80 of the Enduro's 90 laps and won the 225 invitational outboard sprint marathon in the City of Miami Marine Stadium Sunday.

McCune, of Denver, Colo., finished three laps ahead of second-place driver Chick Gagen of Miami in his first major marathon victory.

He averaged 65.96 miles per hour and earned $2,500-$500 for first place and $25 for each of the 80 winning laps. His total lap time was three hours and 32 minutes.

U.S. Wins 2nd Cup Victory

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Straight-set singles victories by Harold Solomon and Brian Gottfried have given the United States its second straight Sunshine Junior Cup tennis victory over South Africa.

Solomon, of Silver Spring, Md., defeated Byron Bertram, 6-4, 7-5, and Gottfried, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., downed Ruan Kruger, 6-1, 6-1, in competition Sunday.

A later key was a pass interference penalty.

On Jordan's interception, Brodie had been dropped at his 14 for a seven-yard loss by Dave Edwards. He threw next, a low one that Jordan caught at his shoetops at the 17 and returned to the 13, setting up Thomas' run for the game's first touchdown with four minutes gone in the second half.

"I was trying to throw it into the ground," Brodie admitted. "The guy made a great play."

Thomas, who gained 143 yards rushing during the game, credited his offensive line for the Dallas touchdown on the ensuing play.

"I misread the blocks and started to go outside before I realized I was supposed to go inside tackle and when I corrected, the hole was still there," Thomas declared. "That shows just how great our line really is."

Garrison scored on the first play after the 49ers' Mel Phillips was charged with interference at the five on a pass intended for Bob Hayes—a 24-yard penalty on a pass which obviously was far over the intended receiver.

Colts Polish Off Raiders And Convert 'Doubters'

Crunch

STOPS HIM — Baltimore middle linebacker Mike Curtis puts the stop on Oakland running back Charlie Smith after a short gain during Sunday's American conference championship game. (AP Wirephoto)

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts, doubted by their followers and outcasts in the American Football Conference, are on their way to the Super Bowl.

Forcing the breaks which Coach Don McCafferty said would make the difference, the Colts polished off the Oakland Raiders 27-17 to win the AFC title Sunday and debunk charges they had yet to prove themselves.

Now it's on to Miami for a Jan. 17 Super Bowl date against the Dallas Cowboys, who defeated the San Francisco 49ers 17-10 for the National Conference championship, and a shot at another $15,000 prize.

The Colts will collect a minimum $8,500 for whipping the favored Raiders, but there was more money at stake.

"Maybe this will wipe out our game against Kansas City which millions of people saw on television," said Dick Bielecki, coach of Baltimore's receivers.

Even Baltimore fans were willing to write off the Colts after they were manhandled 44-24 by the Chiefs in the second game of the season.

Nothing the Colts did later changed the early season opinions. Even when they won the Eastern Division with an 11-2-1 record, the Colts were accused of having faced patsy opposition.

In addition, as one of three former National Football League teams switched to the AFC with 10 onetime American League teams, the Colts were considered outsiders.

But the Raiders were the last of the old AFL teams left, and the Super Bowl will match two longtime NFL rivals.

A 66-yard touchdown pass from 37-year-old John Unitas to Ray Perkins, after Oakland had pulled to within 20-17 early in the fourth quarter, sent the Raiders down to defeat.

Perkins, bothered by a broken toe and suffering from a fever which limited his practice during the week to 20 minutes, broke free as the Colts used four wide receivers in a play pattern tried for the first time this year.

George Blanda, Oakland's 43-year-old wonder hose last-minute heroics during the regular season brought the Raiders to the title game, rallied them again after starting quarterback Daryle Lamonia was hurt in the second period.

But the Colts moved ahead to stay on rookie Jim O'Brien's second field goal, and then made it 20-10 when rookie Norm Bulaich scored his second touchdown.

Baltimore's rugged defense, which blanked the Cincinnati Bengals 17-0 in the playoff opener, dumped Oakland quarterbacks five times for 48 yards in losses and picked off three interceptions.

In addition, Sam Havrilak of the Baltimore special team recovered a fumbled punt by George Atkinson to set up a second period TD which put the Colts ahead 10-0.

"This was our best performance of the year," McCafferty said. "But I don't think we've reached our peak since making adjustments after we suffered some injuries. Our best football is still ahead of us."

Bulaich, Baltimore's No. 1

draft pick who blossomed late after overcoming injuries and an early tendency to fumble, gained 71 yards on 22 carries. Unitas completed just 11 of 30 passes for 245 yards, but lost only eight yards behind the line and wasn't intercepted.

Interceptions and rugged running by a rookie also played key roles in the Dallas victory at San Francisco.

Rookie Duane Thomas, who gained 143 yards on 22 carries, broke a 3-3 tie with a 13-yard TD run in the third period after linebacker Lee Roy Jordan intercepted a John Brodie pass.

On the next series, Brodie fired a long pass which Mel Renfro intercepted and set up a 62-yard Dallas drive culminated by a 5-yard TD pass from Craig Morton to Walter Garrison, which made it 17-3.

Brodie, the NFC's leading passer in 1970, later tossed a 26-yard scoring strike to Dick Witcher, but that was the last gasp for the 49ers who have yet to win a title in 25 years.

Dallas, meanwhile, reached the Super Bowl for the first time after making league playoffs for the fifth consecutive year.

The Colts, who lost to the New York Jets in their only previous Super Bowl appearance, sent the AFC's leading passer to the bench when end Bubba Smith smacked down Lamonia and injured his groin.

"This is as big if not bigger than playing in the Super Bowl," defensive tackle Billy Ray Smith said of Sunday's game. "No one thought we could do it."

"We didn't rush Blanda as hard as we should," Billy Ray said, "but we were set up more against the run."

Blanda completed 17 of 32 passes for 271 yards, including a 38-yarder to Fred Biletnikoff in the third period which tied it 10-10 and a 15-yarder to Warren Wells to pull Oakland to within 20-17. Both scoring drives went 80 yards.

Despite Oakland's TDs on passing, executive owner Al Davis left his press box seat to scream at the assistant coaches spotting nearby after the Raiders passed unsuccessfully following a series of first downs on the ground.

Oakland Coach John Madden, who said he had "never seen Unitas play better," defended his own team's play selection as nothing unusual.

Fordham Trying To Close Leak Of Cage Talent To The West

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
For years, talent drained out of New York and young men went West and everywhere else to play college basketball.

Fordham is trying to shut off the leak.

"There hasn't been a national championship won by a New York school for 20 years and we'd like to correct it," says Fordham Coach Richard "Digger" Phelps, whose undefeated club beat Princeton 81-71 Saturday night for its 11th straight.

But the Rams, despite the best record among major schools, still aren't ranked. And Phelps is trying to do something about that, too.

"That's our challenge," Phelps says, "we've played a pretty tough schedule and my kids keep winning and keep looking forward to getting ranked week-to-week."

Included among the Rams' victims are Florida, Miami, Fla., and California, all on the road, and Rochester for the Kodak Classic title at Rochester, N.Y.

The Rams' success over Princeton was part of a busy, post-holiday schedule Saturday.

Top-ranked UCLA flicked away Dayton 106-82; second-ranked South Carolina clubbed Clemson 81-53; No. 3 Marquette turned back Detroit 70-61; No. 4 Southern California beat No. 18 Louisiana State 80-76 in overtime; fifth-ranked Western Kentucky tripped East Tennessee 86-83; No. 8 Kentucky lashed Mississippi 103-95 and No. 9 Jacksonville defeated the Virgin Islands 105-95.

Cincinnati stunned seventh-ranked Drake 60-59 for the Bulldogs' second straight setback and Mississippi State scored a nerve-wracking 69-67 upset over tenth-rated Tennessee.

UCLA returned home from a success in the Steel Bowl tourney and walloped Dayton before an appreciative home crowd. Sidney Wicks scored 28 points, Curtis Rowe notched 22 and the Bruins' press stifled every Flyer but Ken May, who scored 34.

South Carolina, fresh from the Holiday Festival victory, unleashed a biting press at Clemson because Coach Frank McGuire wanted to "wake our guys up."

It did, and it also put Clemson to sleep. The Gamecocks had a 28-9 lead in the first 12 minutes and it was all over.

Dean "The Dream" Meminger also woke up Marquette, pocketing 25 points and the Warriors slapped a hounding defense on Detroit.

Southern Cal had a tough one with LSU. The Trojans were losing by 10 points with 4:51 left, but Danny Layton led them back with long-range shooting. Paul Westphal then put in four free throws in the final 21 seconds of overtime.

Kentucky overcame a 47-point performance by Johnny Neumann, the nation's leading scorer, in opening defense of its Southeastern Conference title. Mike Casey led the Wildcats with 23 points.

Artis Gilmore scored 29 points to lead Jacksonville over the surprisingly-tough Virgin Islands.

Dave Johnson threw in two foul shots with 20 seconds remaining to give unranked Cincinnati the victory over Drake. Steve Wenderfer led the winners with 19 points.

Nebraska Seems Choice For No. 1

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame's convincing Cotton Bowl triumph over Texas hurdled the Fighting Irish into contention for the coveted No. 1 spot in college football but the unbeaten Cornhuskers of Nebraska appear to have the inside track after their expected Orange Bowl victory.

In an amazing turnabout on New Year's Day, Notre Dame, upended top-ranked Texas 24-11 while underdog Stanford smashed No. 2 Ohio State 27-17 in the Rose Bowl before third-rated Nebraska edged Louisiana State 17-12 in Miami.

Tennessee, No. 4 ripped Air Force 34-13 in the Sugar Bowl as expected.

Notre Dame, 10-1, avenged last year's 21-17 defeat to the Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl while ending Texas' winning string at 30 consecutive games.

"Hell, yes, we're Number one," shouted Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney after the Huskers bowl victory.

"We're the only undefeated team," Devaney said after Nebraska closed out its season with an 11-0-1 mark.

Ironically, the only mar on Nebraska's schedule was an early season 21-21 tie with Southern California. It was the same Trojans who administered Notre Dame's defeat, a 38-28 beating which could be a decisive factor in deciding the No. 1 team in the nation.

The board of selectors for The Associated Press vote early this week in the final poll of the season.

"It was a dream come true," said Nebraska quarterback Jerry Tagge, who guided the Huskers to victory, referring to the earlier upset losses of Texas and Ohio State which put Nebraska into its favorable spot.

Another team that played both Nebraska and Notre Dame was LSU, which lost to the Irish 3-0 earlier in the season and Coach Charlie McClendon of fifth ranked LSU leans toward Nebraska for the No. 1 spot.

"They're (Nebraska) the same type team as Notre Dame. Nebraska's got a real tough offense and they're going to be No. 1 so they've got to be better."

Cougars Fall To Virginia

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Carolina Cougars have been in and out of the Eastern Division cellar in the American Basketball Association so many times in the past month they must feel like yo-yos.

After a smashing, 118-99 victory over the New York Mets at Greensboro, N.C., Saturday, the Cougars fell to Virginia Sunday night. The 135-124 loss pushed them back below Pittsburgh by five percentage points with a 16-25 mark. They had won four of their last five games.

The Carolina squad played without star guard Bob Verga and center Dave Newmark in both games and in both got superlative performances from Larry Miller.

The difference was that Carolina went ahead and held on against New York and fell behind Virginia and couldn't catch up.

Miller scored 27 points at Greensboro and 20 at Norfolk, second only to Joe Caldwell's 32 and 31-point productions.

But Virginia's Charlie Scott blasted away for 37 points while the top point man for the Mets was Bill Melchionni with 17 points.

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(to 1971, by The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Both sides vulnerable, as South you hold:
47 ♠AK92 ♠AK52 ♠A1093
The bidding has proceeded:
East South West North
Pass 1♥ Pass 1♠
Dble. ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Redouble. Despite the fact that you have one spade, the redouble is in order for your high card strength should enable partner to fulfill the contract even with the weakest sort of hand. However, it is not likely that the opponents will leave it in, but you should announce to partner the strength of your hand so that when the adversaries take out to two diamonds or two clubs you will have the next opportunity to speak, and a penalty double should prove highly profitable.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
4K92 ♠A1094 ♠Q93 ♠K106
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1♥ Pass 1♥
1♠ Pass ?

What do you bid now?
A.—Two no trump. This is perhaps an overbid by the margin of an eyelash as the hand contains only 12 high card points. However, the hand does have good intermediate and the queen of diamonds is somewhat more impressive than it ordinarily would be by reason of partner's bid in that suit.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
4KJ952 ♠A954 ♠K9 ♠Q6
The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
1♠ Pass 2♥ Pass
3♥ Pass 4♣ Dble. ?

What do you bid now?
A.—The strategic call at this point is to pass. Partner has obviously made a cue bid as a desire to play clubs, inasmuch as you have already supported hearts.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
44 ♠QJ10976 ♠1085 ♠Q54
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1♠ Dble. 3♠ ?

What do you bid?
A.—At risk of being charged with recklessness, we recommend a bid of four hearts. This hand lacks high card strength, it has the merit of

Blame Dynamite In Mine Deaths

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
HYDEN, Ky. (AP) — A dynamite blast spread by coal dust has been blamed by inspectors for the mine disaster which took 38 lives last Wednesday.

Federal and state inspectors issued a brief statement to this effect Sunday.

The explosion was triggered by a blasting operation inside the Finley Coal Co. mine, they said following a two-day investigation.

"The explosion had to have fuel to burn," said H. N. Kirkpatrick, state mines and minerals commissioner.

The statement refrained from assessing any blame or going into details.

A federal hearing will begin Wednesday in the Perry County Courthouse, a few miles from where tragedy struck under a 700-foot mountain on Hurricane Creek.

The hearing is required under the 1969 Federal Mine Safety Act. James Westfield, an official with the U.S. Bureau of Mines, will preside.

Kirkpatrick said underground searches and testing are continuing. He said coal dust samples will be taken and Westfield added that tests for methane gas will be made.

The inspectors also plan to interview a number of miners.

"We're going to have to prove everything we finally say," Kirkpatrick said. "The mine will be closed until we are done ... until the report is released."

MORE CANCER
LONDON (AP) — The incidence of lung cancer and heart diseases has risen sharply in Britain over the last 20 years and accounts for more than half of all deaths among men aged between 45 and 64, a government report said.

Worry Clinics Pets Extrovert The Attention

Milly is a classical example of the sex differences that separate men and women. So study this case with care. For her household companions extrovert her attention and stimulate love, as well as conversation. Mental patients also improve when they have a pet dog or cat. "For she keeps two cats, plus a parakeet, a bowl of goldfish and several potted geraniums."

"Thus, she can't come to visit us longer than for a single meal because she must then head back home to look after her pets."

"Why is it that women are so fond of pets? Is it a sexual difference between males and females?"

YES, WOMEN were created primarily to be maternal creatures.

Safety Legislation Pressure Follows Stadium Disaster

By ANDREW TORCHIA
Associated Press Writer
LONDON (AP) — Pressure mounted today for an overhaul of safety measures at British soccer stadiums as top government officials probed the stampede that killed 66 fans and injured 145 at a Glasgow game.

Sports authorities said the soccer clubs would need government subsidies if forced to carry out expensive improvements to their arenas. Attendance has been falling, and many of the teams are in the red.

Flags flew at half staff in Glasgow, where Britain's worst sporting disaster occurred Saturday at the end of the annual match between the local rivals, the Rangers and the Celtics. Hundreds of fans stumbled and fell down a concrete stairway outside Ibrox Park, crushing those on the bottom of the pile.

"People were falling all over the place," said Clive Mitchell, who had gone to the match with his son John, 21. "I passed out, and when I came to a policeman was holding me. I had been buried under a pile of bodies."

"I saw my son lying next to me, lifeless. Then I passed out again."

Eldon Griffiths, Britain's minister for sport, scheduled talks in London with advisers including Sir John Lang, whose 1969 recommendations for safety improvements have not been fully carried out by the 92 British major league clubs.

Gordon Campbell, secretary of state for Scotland, was reporting to Prime Minister Edward Heath and his Cabinet after a visit to Glasgow. Authorities in Scotland were preparing their own judicial inquiry.

The manager of the Rangers, William Waddell, said Glasgow city engineers and police had inspected and approved the stairway at Ibrox Park, which he described as among the safest stadiums in Britain.

"No legislation could cover what happened at Ibrox," said Secretary Denis Follows of the football association. "I think it was a sort of act of God."

TESTS FOR SWEETHEARTS

For the other 75 per cent is a maternal instinct, waiting for children to arrive, so that it can be fully indulged.

During the first year after the wedding, the usual bride will thus expend that 75 per cent maternal urge upon her husband.

For she will cuddle and mother him, in lieu of the children they may later procreate.

BUT AS SOON as the first baby arrives, the typical wife immediately diverts 75 per cent of her regard and affection to the infant.

"Dr. Crane," many irritated husbands exclaim, "my wife diverts not just 75 per cent but at least 95 per cent to our baby!"

"Since its birth, she regards me much as an affectionate brother who hands over the pay check to her every week."

HUSBANDS, PLEASE don't grow unduly jealous or even accuse your childless wife of carrying the torch for a former suitor, just because she doesn't act as erotic as you do.

For women weren't made to be passionate sex partners! Their mission in life is to be mothers, which also means custodians of morality and music, religion and culture.

That's why the Almighty apparently endowed them with just enough erotic fervor to want a husband but with a greater urge to care for her children and engage in "nest building."

IF A WOMAN is unmarried, she may divert her maternal inclinations to serving as foster parent for a roomful of school kiddies.

Or to work as a missionary or Red Cross volunteer or Girl Scout leader.

Even such dedicated school teachers as Milly will still crave additional maternal objects in their home, after they return from the schoolroom.

This is why she keeps two cats, a parakeet, several goldfish and faithfully waters her geraniums daily!

MANY STERILE wives begin to chafe-and feel restless, due to lack of children, for they wish to cuddle and cuddle some defenseless creatures.

If you husbands of such childless wives are smart, you will adopt a youngster, or encourage your wife to teach Sunday school or volunteer for work at the hospitals for handicapped children.

For women grow soured, withered and involuted when deprived of a chance to indulge their natural maternal urge!

Pets are also helpful in keeping mental patients extroverted!

And they are valuable pals of "only" children, often serving in lieu of a brother or sister!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long six-cent stamped envelope and 20 cents for this non-profit service, when you send for one of his psychological charts. All letters are forwarded unopened to Dr. Crane.) Copyright 1970.

Farm Scene

By S. J. WEEKS

Agricultural Extension Agent

Pesticides, like automobiles, electricity and power saws, can be harmful when misused. Safe use of pesticides is divided into three parts: safe storage and use around the home, safety for commercial applicators, and safe application from the human health and wildlife point of view.

The National Agricultural Chemicals Association, in cooperation with manufacturers, National Safety Council and Federal and State government agencies has established a code of safe procedures for storing and using pesticides. They apply to both the home and the farm.

A. Read the label on each pesticide container before each use. Note all cautions and warnings. Follow directions for application. An extra minute spent reading the label will pay big dividends in effectiveness of the chemical and in extra margin of safety for you.

B. Store pesticides in their original labeled container and under lock and key. Keep them out of reach of children, animals and, untrained or careless people. Most pesticide accidents occur to children as a result of improper storage.

C. Dispose of empty containers safely. Do not permit empty containers to lie around where children or pets can get at them. Again, read the label for correct disposal procedures, taking care not to put spray-type pressure cans in bonfires or incinerators.

D. Learn from the label the basic ingredients in each of the sprays or dust you use. Keep the phone number of the nearest Poison Control Center available at all times. The nearest Poison Control Centers to this area are: Poison Control Center, Onslow Memorial Hospital, Jacksonville, N.C. telephone number 919-684-8111. If accidental over-exposure to a pesticide does occur, contact your doctor immediately. If he does not know the corrective action to take, ask him to find out from the Poison Control Center. Pesticide manufacturers cooperate by supplying the Centers with all medical information concerning their product, and the proper treatment in case of accident.

Colder Air On The Way

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A surge of warm air sent temperatures above seasonal normals in North Carolina today.

But the National Weather Service said colder air is on the way, and it will be much colder in the mountains Tuesday, with snow flurries possible.

Highs this afternoon were predicted in the 40s in the western half of the state and the 60s in the east.

Expected highs Tuesday are in the upper 60s and lower 70s, except for falling temperatures in the mountains.

An estimated 43,000 skiers were attracted to North Carolina mountain slopes in the 10 days from Christmas Day until over the New Year's holiday. Hotel operators say that each skier usually brings at least one nonskier. So, if figures are correct, more than 80,000 persons and their money were attracted to the mountains.

Many Visitors At Old Capitol

NEW BERN, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina's restored colonial state capital at New Bern attracted 41,846 visitors during 1970.

The palace's director, Gertrude Carraway, said Sunday the figure represented an increase of 6,931 over the 1969 total of 34,915.

Tobacco TIPS

By S. J. WEEKS

Pitt County Tobacco Agent

Tobacco is very sensitive to soil conditions. The difference in soils can cause a wide variation in the characteristics of tobacco produced in a given area, or often on a single farm. Although a farmer has no control over the type of soil on his farm, a knowledge of the soils most suitable for tobacco production can help him to plan his cropping system more efficiently.

The main characteristics of soil suited to the production of high quality tobacco include: (1) sandy or sandy loam topsoil, (2) sandy clay subsoil, and (3) relatively low level of fertility. Good drainage is one of the most important factors in considering a topsoil for good tobacco production. The top soil should be of such nature that it will not harden when dry, or get sticky when wet. Such soils permit the roots to penetrate readily.

The most satisfactory subsoils for tobacco are yellow or reddish-yellow in color and of medium texture. The subsoil should be a little heavier than the topsoil, but should not be tight. This type of subsoil drains well, yet retains enough moisture for the plants. The medium texture lets the air reach the roots and also enables the roots to penetrate deeply.

Because of the scarcity of ideal tobacco soil, many growers must use land that falls short in some respects. Proper management can help to overcome these disadvantages. Regardless of the soil type where you grow your tobacco, a soil test report is very important. It can be used as a guide in deciding the best way to provide adequate plant nutrients for your 1971 crop. Soil sample boxes and information sheets may be obtained from the Agricultural Extension Office in Greenville.

Charge Murder In Rifle Slaying

Greenville police have charged Annie L. Lawrence, 64 of 1212 Railroad St. with murder in the death of James Arthur Lawrence.

Lawrence, of 608 Tyson St., died about 4:30 a.m. yesterday in Pitt Memorial Hospital of a .22 caliber bullet wound in his head. He had been a patient at Pitt Memorial Hospital since December 29 when allegedly shot by Mrs. Lawrence.

Investigators said the shot was fired through a window of the 1212 Railroad St. home and struck Lawrence who was outside.

A hearing in the case has been set for January 19 in District Court.

The United Nations headquarters in New York occupies an 18-acre site that formerly held slaughterhouse and breweries.

Resume Wrestling Matches On Jan. 14

The first event in 1971 of the continuing monthly series of wrestling matches takes place January 14th at Memorial Gym on 10th Street. The monthly matches are sponsored by Greenville's Jaycees for the benefit of Greenville's Boys' Club.

The main event in the coming bout is Johnny Weaver and Argentina (Vittorio) Apollo matched against the rugged combination of the Missouri Mauler and Brute Bernard. The Mauler and the Brute are noted for their free-swinging battle style.

The Mauler is the Eastern U.S. heavyweight Champion and is called one of the roughest men in wrestling. Brute Bernard, his partner, has been termed the wild-man of the wrestling ring. The opposition team of Weaver and Apollo base their defense on agility. Apollo is noted for the way in which he uses his feet to give him agility and speed in wrestling larger opponents.

In the main event, victory will go to the team making the best of three falls within an hour's time limit.

Another tag team match will pit Bobby and Terry Kay against the team of El Gaucho and Pedro Godoy. The Kay Brothers are young wrestlers, but are expected to offer real com-

'Black Ban' Investigated

SINGAPORE (AP) — The U.S. Embassy is investigating complaints that American Negroes and Africans are being restricted to only short stays in Singapore.

Informed sources said immigration officials were instructed to be wary of black visitors as a security precaution for the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference opening Jan. 14.

A government spokesman refused to comment on the report, and immigration and police officials would not discuss it.

Since Dec. 30 three black Americans—two businessmen and a woman who worked for the U.S. Embassy in Pakistan—have been given 48 hours in the country while white passengers arriving with them were given the normal two-week permits.

The woman, Lily Rosenberg, said two Africans on her plane were given the same treatment as she with no explanation.

Embassy officials said they would not comment until they had more information.

Cars Collided At Intersections

Stanley Elbert Combs, 54 of Route 1, Pittsboro was charged with failing to stop for a stop signal following investigation of a 6:44 p.m. collision at the intersection of Fifth and Cotanche Streets here yesterday.

Police reported the Combs car collided with a vehicle operated by Reynolds Sermons Calver, 19 of Tarboro.

Damage was estimated at $400 to the Calver car and $500 to the Combs vehicle.

No injuries were reported.

Draft Dodgers Being Returned By The Mounties

TORONTO (AP) — A former FBI agent said Sunday the Royal Canadian Mounted Police and Vancouver police have been taking U.S. draft dodgers in Canada back across the border at Blaine, Wash., "for a long time."

William Turner, interviewed on the Canadian Broadcasting Corp. television program "Weekend," said the FBI and Canadian police forces have a "very cozy arrangement."

He said FBI agents are allowed to enter Canada for 72 hours to try to convince draft dodgers and deserters to return home.

Turner said he had visited Vancouver a number of times on such missions. Often, when he was unable to find the man he was seeking, Canadian police would later track down the man "and shove him across the border," he said.

Blizzards Dump Snow From Rockies To Great Lakes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Blizzards spread a foot-deep topping of snow from the Rockies to the Great Lakes and thousands of motorists who expected to get home Sunday night gave up and sought whatever shelter was available.

Highway traffic was halted in many states with Iowa and Nebraska hit hardest. Roads were also closed in Kansas, Missouri, Utah and Wisconsin, where 17 inches of snow was on the ground.

Motels were jammed and makeshift shelters sprang up in diners and service stations.

A number of airports closed or cut back operations.

Seeks Retain Air Facility

RALEIGH (AP) — State AFL-CIO President Wilbur Hobby has written President Nixon urging that the Naval aircraft rework facility at Cherry Point remain open.

In a letter made public Sunday, Hobby told the President that there would be a "severe economic depression" in the area around Cherry Point if the facility is closed.

Hobby said that on a recent visit to Cherry Point he found "a great deal of worry and anxiety" among facility employees that it might be closed throwing 2,300 civilian employees out of work.

The labor leader said he had been told a closing of the facility would throw another 3,000 persons out of work in the area.

Hobby sent copies of his letter to Gov. Bob Scott, Sens. Sam Ervin and B. Everett Jordan and Congressman Walter Jones urging them to redouble their efforts to keep the facility in operation.

Hobby said that two of the four counties from which the facility draws most of its workers, Pamlico and Carteret, were listed in a Labor Department Report last August as areas of "persistent unemployment."

The labor chieftain also told the president that the Cherry Point facility is the newest and most modern of the Navy's seven aircraft rework facilities and that its average cost of labor is the lowest.

The Navy he said, has plenty of planes in need of maintenance to keep all the seven facilities open but lacks the money.

Thousands View Apollo

RALEIGH (AP) — People waited in line as much as two hours Sunday to get the chance to view and touch the Apollo II command ship that circled the moon while astronauts Neil Armstrong and "Buzz" Aldrin took man's first steps on the lunar surface.

The command ship is on display between the State Capitol and Legislative Building, and is the feature attraction of a display that also includes a moon rock, photographs and explanatory charts.

Several thousand persons stood in lines five abreast. One Raleigh woman said she and three teen-agers entered the line at 1:45 p.m. and did not reach the exhibit until 4 p.m.

A state Capitol policeman said one reason the line moved slow was that people "want to stay and look and read the signs."

One man from beyond Durham said he came to see the exhibit because he had seen the command ship on television and "I was just curious to see it up close."

He said it was "about what I expected except I thought it would be bigger. Good gracious, it must have been crowded in there."

Russians Invited To Attend Trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pyotr Kapitsa, director of the Institute for Physical Problems of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, and 13 countrymen have been invited by the U.S. State Department to observe the forthcoming murder-kidnap trial of black militant Angela Davis in California.

Martin J. Hillenbrand, assistant secretary of state, said Sunday the invitation was prompted by a cable from the 14 Soviet citizens expressing concern that Miss Davis would not receive a fair trial.

Hillenbrand said the letter suggested that the Soviet Union reciprocate by allowing U.S. observers to attend Soviet trials. He said no specific Soviet trials were mentioned.

Six deaths were attributed to the storm, which rode winds up to 50 m.p.h. along a chilly arc that stretched from New Mexico to northwestern Illinois and Minnesota.

Police blamed fierce winds and low visibility caused by driving snow for the crash of a light plane near Eureka, Utah, that killed a Minnesota couple.

A New Mexico woman was killed when her car slid off snow-packed U.S. 64 and into the Rio Grande north of Santa Fe, and in Kansas the body of a motorist was found 100 yards from where his car had stalled in deep snow. He apparently was a heart attack victim, police said.

In Nebraska, a 47-year-old Omaha man died Sunday night after apparently suffering a heart attack while shoveling snow. A truck converted to a snow plow became stuck near Millard and one of two men inside died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Doctor Made It In Snowmobile

ATLANTIC, Iowa (AP) — With snow a foot deep and drifts far deeper in Atlantic, Mrs. Mel Beudine called police to get her to Cass County Memorial Hospital after labor pains started.

But her physician ran into problems.

Dr. John Weresh plowed his car into a snowdrift, then his wife's car into a snowdrift, and finally had to borrow a snowmobile to get across town for the delivery.

He made it with about 20 minutes to spare.

The blizzard described by veterans as perhaps the most severe in the Lincoln and Omaha area in a quarter of a century ground travel, business and industry to a halt. The homecoming welcome for the University of Nebraska's Orange Bowl champions, stranded in Miami, was postponed for at least a day.

Lincoln got 13 inches of snow and Omaha 10. State police reported that more than 1,000 motorists were stranded by the storm in a 25 to 30 mile stretch of Interstate 80 near Omaha.

Most of the travelers found refuge in truck stops and state police asked farmers to keep their lights burning through the night so their homes would be visible to stalled motorists.

Southeastern Nebraska and western Iowa were paralyzed as blowing snow reduced visibility to zero. Airports were shut down in Des Moines and Council Bluffs, Iowa, Omaha and Lincoln.

Nine inches of snow piled up on the ground in Trenton, Mo., and 8 inches in many surrounding communities. Totals of 6 inches were measured in Moline, Ill., and Chicago.

Midway Airport in Chicago closed, O'Hare International sent inbound flights elsewhere for a time and Mitchell Field in Milwaukee cut back on operations, stranding 45 members of the road cast of the show "1776" who were headed for Des Moines.

Schools throughout the Midwest, set to reopen after Christmas vacation, called delays as snow snarled transportation systems.

Travel warnings were posted from Texas to Michigan, where flurries froze to highways coating them with a treacherous glaze.

Seven to eight inches of snow accumulated in the Oklahoma Panhandle. Rain fell from the southern edge of the blizzard belt to the Gulf of Mexico.

At the edge of the snowline, a windstorm overturned three trailer homes and a tornado damaged houses in Arkadelphia. High winds and large hail walloped other areas of Arkansas.

Snow stranded in Concordia, Kan., a high school band en route home from the Orange Bowl.

The band left Miami in shirt-sleeves after marching in the Orange Bowl Parade. After their chartered plane was diverted from Kansas City Airport to St. Louis they tried to make it home to Phillipsburg, Kan. in three buses.

But the vehicles became snowbound and the musicians had to ride out the storm in Concordia.

Snow was so deep in Wisconsin it forced authorities to call off a snowmobile race, although 5,000 fans made the trip to the Milwaukee suburb of Menominee to watch the contest.
