Leased Housing Concept Outlined At Meet As A Possible Alternative

By TOM BAINES, Reflector Staff Writer
Construction would involve local labor and contracts where practical, the representative said, and following completion of the units the Atlanta firm would handle all exterior and extraordinary maintenance unless the Authority chose to be responsible for both interior and exterior.
Sanders said the plan "cuts out much of the red tape" involved in building conventional units and is based on the Authority owning the units after 20 years rather than in 40 as in most housing programs.
The program, called Section 23-Leased Housing, has been started in several areas, Sanders said, with the nearest ground breaking activities to Greenville undertaken in Fayetteville.
Commissioners agreed to discuss "the program further here before making any commitment and also requested additional information from the firm on the plan.
The tenant occupancy report, the only other major item on an abbreviated agenda, showed almost total occupancy for the

Dr. Joyce Brothers Talked And Talked To Dissuade Suicide

NEW-YORK (AP) — Psychologist Dr. Joyce Brothers, who spent a 90-minute radio broadcast dissuading a woman caller from committing suicide, says: "It was quite an experience."
Dr. Brothers, whose six-day-a-week phone-in program is broadcast by radio station WMCA, said the woman was sobbing uncontrollably when she called Monday.
"I've taken 15 barbiturate pills and I'm going to take my life," the woman said.
The station canceled 15 commercials and two newcasts to let Dr. Brothers extend her hour-long program to 90 minutes while police traced the call. About 150 persons called the station to report they believed they knew who the caller was or offer her aid.
Dr. Brothers asked that the woman not be identified. She was described as a 50-year-old resident of Bethpage, N.Y.
After going off the air, Dr. Brothers kept conversing with the woman until police reached her home and took her to Nassau County Medical Center, where she was reported in satisfactory condition.

Arctic Cold In Mid-U.S. After Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arctic cold drove deep into the nation's heartlands today on the heels of a weekend storm that staggered sections of the Plains and Midwest under footdeep snows.
Temperatures plummeted to zero or below from the northern and central Rockies to the central Great Lakes. Hard-freeze warnings were out overnight for most of southern strong winds swirling around the department storm system made the cold even more intense.
The return to normal activity was a slow process in Iowa and Nebraska where blizzard conditions stranded thousands of motorists Sunday night into Monday.
Twenty inches of snow blanketed Mason City, Iowa; 16 inches fell in Waterloo, and 14 inches clogged Lincoln, Neb.
Many roads in both states remained closed despite daylong plowing Monday. The clearing was frustrated by new snows during the day and drifting of what had fallen since early Sunday.
More than 30 deaths were attributed to the storm, most the result of overexertion from snow shoveling or pushing stalled cars.
Mild and damp weather covered most of the Eastern Seaboard ahead of the bitter cold.
Travelers in sections of New England were warned of freezing rain.
In contrast to the severe winter weather in the midcontinent, the temperature hit a Jan. 4 record of 80 Monday at Jacksonville, Fla. In the Far West, Flagstaff, Ariz., had a record low for the date when the mercury fell to -22 early Monday.

By FRANK CORMIER, Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, admitting to disappointments during his first two years in office, says "I hope I do better" and achieve both prosperity and peace by 1972.
His greatest accomplishment to date, Nixon told a national TV-radio audience Monday night, has been the gradual withdrawal of American troops from South Vietnam.
But he acknowledged setbacks on the home front and suggested the Democratic-controlled Congress must at least share responsibility for these.
In an hour-long live interview with four broadcast journalists — a venture the White House clearly hoped would brighten the presidential image—Nixon also viewed many of his difficulties as stemming from events that occurred before he took office.
"Before we can really get the lift of a driving dream," he said, "we have to get rid of some of the nightmares we inherited. One of the nightmares is a war without end. We are ending that war."
In discussing disappointments of the past two years, Nixon placed high on his list the fatal shootings last spring of students at Kent State University and Jackson State College, and the summertime bombing of a University of Wisconsin building in which one person died. He said: "We have seen the amount of violence going down some, but during this administration to bombing of North Vietnam reflected, in part, a new administration policy the President expressed in these terms:
"...If the enemy, at a time we are trying to de-escalate, at a time we are withdrawing, starts to build up its infiltration, starts moving troops and supplies ... then I, as commander-in-chief, will have to order bombing strikes on those key areas ... but only on those military targets, and only if necessary."
—In the Middle East, the next few months will mark "a critical time" that could see movement toward Arab-Israeli peace talks. Meanwhile, he said, both the United States and the Soviet Union should have a mutual interest in limiting arms shipments to the area—but he emphasized U.S. shipments will continue to the extent necessary to offset movement of Soviet arms to Egypt.
—The chief executive said he is optimistic about eventually reaching a limited agreement with the Soviets on curbing the race in nuclear arms.
—As for possible summit talks with Soviet leaders, "if it appears at some time that a meeting ... would be what is needed to bring about the final consummation of one of these areas, for example the SALT talks, we will certainly have such a meeting."
Without such a prospect, he argued, a summit "creates a false sense of security" and would not further the cause of peace.
—Personally confirming it is his understanding that the Soviets promised in October they would not establish a naval or other military base in Cuba, Nixon said: "We expect them to abide by the understanding. I believe they will."
Seeming more relaxed as the interview progressed, Nixon several times resorted to slang expressions. In praising former aide Daniel P. Moynihan, Nixon said, "He got a bad rap out of that," referring to criticism about his former aide's call for

Scott Unveils Details

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott has described for the first time the powers he feels a proposed new statewide board should have to carry out its function of guiding state-supported higher education.
The governor did this in making public a statement read Monday at a meeting of state university heads with the State Board of Higher Education.
Scott said "any new agency would need to be comprehensive in its role" and have "a broad range of authority over the role and function of each university, its academic programs and educational activities and authority in budgetary matters. He said there probably should be a unified budget for the 15 schools and the new agency should exercise "executive leadership."
Meanwhile, the governor's call for a study of the reorganization he has proposed received the endorsement of Western Carolina University and Appalachian State University.
President Lee Jenkins of East Carolina University told the university heads he had never opposed the proposal for a study of reorganization.
Both Appalachian and Western Carolina universities suggested that any new agency have authority over budgetary matters but that the institutions continue to have their own boards of trustees with limited powers.
In his statement, Scott also announced plans to convene a committee to "formulate a position statement" on reorganization. He said this statement "should serve as a guide to the legislature for future action."

Farmville Man Is Named New Pitt Fire Marshal

Robert Earl "Bobby" Joyner of Farmville, has been named Pitt County Fire Marshal.
Joyner's appointment by the Board of County Commissioners was announced by County Manager H. R. Gray.
A Farmville native, Joyner will assume his new duties January 15, replacing Michael Worthington of Winterville who is resigning the post he has held since August 1966, to enter private industry.
Joyner has been a member of the Farmville Fire Department since 1963 and is a certified firemanship instructor under the North Carolina Department of Community Colleges' fire training program. He is presently employed by the Town of Farmville in the Water and Light Department; meter division.
The 32-year-old Joyner is married to the former Gayle Bailey of Farmville.
He has served as president of the Pitt County Firemen's Association for the past three years and is currently first vice-president of the Eastern Carolina Firemen's Association and an advisor with the North Carolina Fire Instructors Association.
The Joyners are members of the First Baptist Church in Farmville.
Joyner was selected from among a group of 11 applicants for the county fire marshal post. He was a leading contender for the position when the office was created in 1966.
As county fire marshal, Joyner coordinates activities of the various fire departments in the county; is responsible for dispatching fire equipment to multiple alarm fires as well as single alarm blazes; and provides training for firemen in the county. He too, is charged with investigating — with the Pitt County Sheriff's Department and other investigative agencies — all fires involving illegal burning in the county.
Joyner's salary was set at $6,708 per year.

New Officers Selected By Ministerial Ass'n

Father Hugh C. Mulholland, rector of St. Gabriel's Catholic Church, was yesterday elected president of the Greater Greenville Ministerial Association.
Other officers named for 1971 were Rev. William Moore, pastor of Cornerstone Missionary Baptist Church, vice-president; Rev. Daniel Earnhardt, head of the Wesley Foundation of Greenville, secretary; and Rev. Leigh C. Earley, pastor of Proctor Memorial Christian Church in Grimesland, treasurer.
The four were chosen to head the association at the annual election meeting held yesterday at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church. About 35 of the total membership of 42 ministers were on hand for the annual affair.
"The association is open to ministers who serve in Pitt County," Father Mulholland explained. "It provides a forum where mutual problems can be discussed, where plans for cooperative activities for the churches in the area can be made."
The four ministers observed that during the past year the ministers in the association have taken part in a number of planned programs. This included cooperation with the Pitt County Medical Association, in which the two associations jointly arranged for religious care for patients in Pitt Memorial Hospital.
Other programs were Union Thanksgiving and Union Good Friday services, interdenominational services wherein members of all churches were afforded an opportunity to attend services together. Ministers from various denominations took part in these services.
The Greenville Ministerial Association also schedules and arranges for ministers appearing on the morning devotional services each morning Monday through Friday at 8:25 a.m. over WNCN-TV Channel 9.
Each month two regularly scheduled meetings are held. One is on the first Monday of each month, when the ministers get together to discuss problems, plans and achievements. The second is a meeting with the physicians of the area on the first Tuesday of each month.
The new officers said the programs conducted last year would be continued this year and that efforts would be made to incorporate new programs. "All these programs are to be continued, and other opportunities for common prayer together will be arranged whenever possible," Father Mulholland commented.
Phillip Clar, Director of the Children's Clinic of the Coastal Plain Mental Health Center, was guest speaker at yesterday's annual Ministerial Association meeting.

Revaluation

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday afternoon reviewed proposals to call for bids February 15 for the revaluation of property in Pitt County.
Under the North Carolina law, property in all counties must be re-valued every eight years.
Under the proposal given approval by the county board yesterday work on the revaluation by the low bidder would begin 30 days after the awarding of contracts and would be completed by October 1, 1972 in time to be listed on tax books January 1, 1973.
The county's ad valorem taxes are based on the value of property and property values may increase or decrease. Regular revaluation is designed to indicate the true value of real property.

Talk With Son Before Passing Your Judgment

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Curtis Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, 47 years old, and I live with my son who is 22. For Christmas he gave me a pair of black lace panties with a red bow—the type a striptease dancer might wear. I blushed when I opened the package, but pretended I was pleased. I would never wear anything like that.

Lately my son has taken to smacking me on the rump as an affectionate gesture when he passes by. I love my son, but I do not appreciate this kind of familiarity the child I brought into the world.

I have heard there is something called "The Oedipus Complex." Do you think my son has one? And if so, what should I do about it? I have started to lock my bedroom door at night in case he gets some other strange ideas. Should I insist that he get his own apartment? Kindly advise me as I can't ask anyone else these questions.

DEAR WORRIED: Obviously you and your son do not communicate very well, or you wouldn't be "worried" about his ideas and intentions. You should get to know him better in order to understand him. This will take time and effort and dialog. "The Oedipus Complex" is the theory that all sons have an unconscious desire to get rid of father in order to replace him in the role of lover to mother. (Some buy it, some do not.) In all probability, your son is a fun-loving 22-year-old who loves his mother in a normal healthy way.

DEAR ABBY: Because she wanted a watermelon she could not afford, a mother allowed her 8-year-old child to accept a dollar for helping an ailing old lady home from the supermarket. Then the mother regretted allowing her child to accept money for a good deed, and she asked you if the child should now return the dollar. You said yes.

Abby, how much nicer it would have been if you had suggested that the child take some homemade cookies or a few flowers to the lady. She lived in a convalescent home and was no doubt lonely.

For the child to return the dollar and apologize would be a traumatic chore for an 8-year-old.

You give so much good advice, Abby, I never miss reading your column. I wish I had had you when I was young.

"MARIAN Mcd." IN BOCA RATON, FLA.

DEAR MARIAN: Thanks, Marian, I wish I had had you when I was writing that answer.

DEAR ABBY: I could hardly believe my eyes when I read the letter from "Hurt and Heartbroken Mother in law" who yearned to sit with her grandchild, but had never been asked.

How I wish she were my mother in law! Mine has been asked to sit, but she always had something else to do. Once she went so far as to tell us she had a doctor's appointment. [At 9 p. m.]

She has a comfortable 4-bedroom home and nothing to do, so I can't understand it. The last straw came when I went into labor with my second child. The baby was not due yet, so I had no babysitter lined up. We called my mother in law and she came over and informed us that she would drive me to the hospital, but she would not watch our child.

Now, we never ask, and she is pleased. She often says, "I raised my own children and I think everyone else should raise theirs!"

NO HELP FROM GRAMAW

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Mississippi Mother" [14 children and ready to welcome more] that the Lord may not give her a bigger load than she can carry, but it's people like her who are giving the world a bigger load than it can carry. She ought to find a new hobby.

Guidelines For Beginning Skiers

By AP Newsfeatures
Pre-beginnerhood in skiing is enough to boggle the mind.

Besides having to endure the humiliation of those first clumsy attempts, the novice must spend hours investigating and buying the necessary paraphernalia: skis, bindings, boots, poles, goggles and apparel. To complicate matters there are endless manufacturers vying for your dollars. So before you can cope with their pitches you have to know the "language."

Familiarize yourself with the sport well in advance of your first experience. Look at the consumer ski magazines.

Even the advertising will help you learn something about apparel and equipment. But don't feel that you must rush out and buy equipment before you've lain eyes on a slope.

Rent your equipment for awhile and experiment with various manufacturers. There are skis built to accommodate all levels of accomplishment, and most ski lines cover the whole range.

Try various skis in the beginning until you've developed an understanding of your own ability, make sure the skis are flexible and responsive in order to afford the control so vital to beginning performance.

Marriage Announced

Movie Buff Is An Usherette

ROANNE, France (WNS) — Helene Larue, 79, is usherette at the Eden Theater here. She celebrated her recent birthday by taking the day off from work and sitting with the movie customers during the evening performance. "I've seen every film since the first silents and don't intend to miss any until movies are finished," she said. Her prediction: films in theaters will end by the time she is 86. TV may last for ten years after that. "Then we shall have picture cassettes and miracle ways to change the story ourselves as it goes along on the screen," she said.

Birth

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Marshall Gould, 301 Shellum St., Raleigh, a son, Jeremy Butler, on Jan. 2, 1971, in Rex Hospital, Raleigh. Mrs. Gould is the former Jewelle Noi Jackson of Greenville.

Choosing the proper apparel can be a truly entertaining project these days. The choice in slopewear is in close competition with streetwear in terms of variety.

There's nothing wrong with the old standby pants-and-parkas combination, but there's a far more exciting choice in style than ever before.

There are a few basic things to remember when putting yourself together for the first time.

Select clothes which allow for plenty of movement. Pants, especially, must accommodate falls and sprawls without letting loose at the seams.

It's wise to make an investment in a good pair of stretch pants. They see the most action of any piece of skiwear, because, of course, your body is most active and most flexible below the waist when skiing.

From there on, it's nothing but fun and imagination ... putting together head-to-toe looks, cowboy-and-Indian costume looks. Anything goes once you've beaten the basics.

Beginnerhood really isn't as boggling as it seems, and you couldn't have chosen a better year. So take it easy and enjoy.

RECEPTION INVITATION

Hunter Sr. of Grifton, recently participated in Cabal Assault, a five-day field training exercise conducted by the 82nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg. During the exercise, Ft. Bragg and its surrounding area were made up of mythical countries, seas, lakes and gulfs. Some 10,000 troops took to the skies and woods west of the division area during the exercise, which ended Nov. 20. The training was designed to keep troopers of the division combat ready. Hunter is with Battery A, 1st Bn. of the division's 320th Artillery. He entered the Army in March of 1970. The officer is a 1965 graduate of South Ayden High School and received a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1969 from North Carolina A & T College.

Rapid Growth In Plastic Piping

NEW YORK (AP)—Plastic piping is growing faster than any other portion of the pipe market, according to Arthur D. Little, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., research, engineering and management consulting firm. Pipe and fittings used 524 million pounds of resin in 1969 and will probably consume more than a billion pounds by 1975. Market value reached $214 million in 1968, up 16 per cent from 1967. Although plastic pipe represents less than five percent of the total pipe market on a dollar basis, the share is up from approximately one per cent five years ago.

Suburban Beauty Hints

from Clara Garris 'Round We Go

If your face is round, you may be in for real problems. Seriously, have you been asked to loan it for a volleyball match, lately, or a basketball game? Needless to say, you've probably little time for such inconveniences.

But there's hope for you — that is, if you delude these sports-minded fanatics into the mistaken impression that your face is really not so round.

Here's the secret. De-emphasize your roundness by choosing a hairstyle that reveals an asymmetrical line, such as a part on one side, and by keeping the hair full and soft above the ears. This fullness will create a successful illusion of height or elongation to the round face.

No muscle-bound goof will be asking you for use of your head as a ball. If you have trouble creating this special look, check with our professional hairstylists. We have exactly the right style for that pretty round face!

End Of Involvement Is Coming

It seems likely that this year, the second decade of the United States' involvement in the Vietnam war, will also be the one when all of our ground troops are withdrawn from action.

It is apparent that the American withdrawal is going to take place. This does not preclude the possibility of a heating up of the conflict during the withdrawal, however. The president in the Cambodian excursion and with the threat of resumed bombing is almost certainly telling the North Vietnamese that if they pose a threat to withdrawing Americans then strategic strikes will be made. There is reason to believe that Hanoi understands the message. Since it cannot do Hanoi's cause any harm for the Americans to withdraw, then it would not be to its advantage to make any sudden moves as Americans withdraw.

There is no doubt that our Vietnam problems have had a profound effect on the United States, both internally and in our relationship with other nations around the world. Our domestic unrest has been very much influenced by the deep frustrations of fighting an unwinnable war. The problems of this war have made us more isolationist that we have been since the days prior to World War II and this could have some effect on the confidence our Allies place in us, so far as mutual defense pacts are concerned.

It will be many years before we can fully assess the effect of Vietnam on our own and world history. It may be that we have accomplished our purpose. South Vietnam may now have the fighting force that can stand up to the north and eventually establish a strong, democratic society. The South Vietnam forces will soon have the chance to show what they can do following the American withdrawal.

In the meantime Americans are coming out of combat in Vietnam and, barring unforeseen problems, it is almost a sure thing that no Americans will be fighting by the time the 1972 election campaign comes along.

It has been a divisive and sorrowful time for Americans, but the Vietnam involvement will soon come to an end for us.

Registering Young Voters

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Registration started this week for the newest class of North Carolina voters — the 18-21 age group now eligible for national elections but still too young to participate in state and local balloting.

College students home for the holidays were expected to swell the initial rush of young people to get their names on the books, although their first chance to vote isn't likely until the fall of 1972.

Procedures to handle the double standard of minimum ages for voting were promptly formulated by the State Board of Elections following the U.S. Supreme Court decisions announced just before Christmas. Executive Secretary Alex K. Brock speedily got into the mail instructions for election officials in the 100 counties.

To further iron out wrinkles, Brock set a series of four seminars covering the state. The first will be held Monday, January 11, in Washington, N.C., for 24 eastern counties. Dates and for Governor as well as President.

For instance, it's within the realm of possibility that the legislature might approve a Constitutional amendment to lower the state's voting age minimum to 18, and set the election on the question next fall.

A favorable vote by the people then would enfranchise the 18-21 age group for participation in the party primaries in the spring of 1972.

Such a time table is possible because of the Constitutional revision approved last November. Previously, it was necessary for an amendment to the Constitution to be submitted "at the next general election." Under the revision, the General Assembly can fix the time and manner for submission.

Scott's Stance Favorable
Governor Bob Scott has indicated support for lowering the voting age in state elections, a factor sure to boost chances for such a step. After the Supreme Court rulings, Scott suggested it would simplify matters to have the same age minimum apply for both state and national elections.

Brock would like to see at least one election's experience before making a change. The fact that the federal government has acted to lower the voting age doesn't strike him as adequate reason for the state to follow suit. Difficulties in complying with two separate age minimums are not sufficient as grounds to justify the change, he added.

In discussing the minimum age for voting, Brock has a couple of questions to propound to those advocating the vote for 18-year-olds.

If a person at 18 should have the legal right to vote on the establishment of ABC stores, shouldn't he also have the right to purchase what is sold by the stores?

If 18 is a level of maturity sufficient for voting, is it not also mature enough to serve on juries in capital crime cases?

Lawmakers Must Answer
Of course, it will be up to the legislature to decide whether such questions are germane. How the matter is resolved will be more political than sociological, since prospective candidates among the lawmakers aren't

They're Registering 18-Year-Olds And Up

Pitt Countians who have reached their 18th birthdays can now register with the Pitt County Board of Elections for national elections.

The way for registration of 18 through 21 year olds was cleared by a recent Supreme Court ruling. J. B. Spilman, chairman of the Pitt Board of Elections recently announced that 18 year old registrations were being accepted.

An important right has been extended to our 18 through 21 year olds. To exercise it, however, they must be certain they are registered prior to the next elections.

Shakespeare's Special Bard

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Quite apart from his well-publicized foreign policy disputes with Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Frank Shakespeare, the hard-diving head of the United States Information Agency, is coming under increasing criticism for turning USIA's watchdog advisory commission into a propaganda arm for his own agency.

In fact, the Presidentially-appointed United States Advisory Commission on Information is being used probably more than ever before in its 22-year history under the tutelage of Shakespeare, a militant anti-Communist hardliner. It should be used, but what bothers critics is how it is being used.

These critics—including former commission members and government officials close to USIA operations—worry that under Shakespeare some members of the advisory commission are slacking for the agency.

For example, the close relationship between commission member William F. Buckley, Jr., the conservative polemicist, columnist, and editor of the learned, conservative journal, National Review, results in frequent Buckley sallies in defense of Shakespeare. The most recent came in National Review's Dec. 15 issue on the infamous case of the Lithuanian seaman who tried to defect to an American Coast Guard vessel.

With an oblique attack on the State Department's handling of the affair, Buckley's magazine said that the "one factor alone (that) keeps the disgrace of the Simas incident from being total" was the forthright way it was handled by USIA's Voice of America.

Few would disagree with that assessment. What is questioned is the propriety of one member of the five-man commission (charged by law with conducting objective, formal "appraisals" of USIA policies and operations) pronouncing ad hoc judgments.

Likewise, there were raised eyebrows when Buckley undertook to write a letter in defense of Shakespeare against an attack by the Economist, the Tory-oriented British journal, last Feb. 18. Shakespeare may well have deserved a defense, but critics here believe that in making it Buckley crossed the thin line that should separate the agency from its Presidential overseers.

When Shakespeare first put Buckley on the commission (via White House appointment), Buckley made no bones of his intention to write about USIA whenever the spirit moved. That should have flickered a caution signal in Shakespeare's brain.

Thus, on Buckley's three global tours at taxpayer expense since his appointment in June 1969—to Vienna in July 1969, to the Far East in November-December 1969, and to London, Paris, Moscow, Warsaw, Bucharest, and Belgrade last May—Buckley has written glowingly about USIA.

One whole newspaper column from those trips was devoted to a defense of Shakespeare in Buckley's wry, urbane style. When Buckley was later attacked in the press for using taxpayers' money to travel the world and write encomiums for the head of the agency he oversees, Buckley—no poor boy—forthrightly offered to make full restitution. The offer was ignored.

Moynihan The Eulogist

These are times of hail and farewell in our town. Up on the Hill, the Senate has fallen into such extravagant tributes to departing members that it makes a man wonder how any of these statesmen ever got defeated. On the House side, the lame ducks have wobbled away on the same hot air. But the most remarkable valedictory of the season came from the other end of the Avenue, in the tribute of Pat Moynihan, of all people, to, of all people, Richard Nixon.

Not since Jack Valenti rolled his eyes to heaven and swore that he slept better at night because Lyndon Johnson was sleeping upstairs have we heard such hosannahs at the White House. Moynihan's farewell was tutti-frutti, hot fudge, and caramel supreme; it was a whole banana split of a speech; and for Mr. Nixon, who practically never sees whipped cream, it must have been pure delight.

The departing adviser began by praising Mr. Nixon's inaugural address as "the most commanding call to governance that the nation has heard in the long travail that is not yet ended."

After that, sad to say, the speaker cast restraint to the winds. By the time he reached his peroration, Dr. Moynihan had Mr. Nixon down as "the hope of America."

"Try to understand what he has given of himself," said this improbable eulogist. "This is something those of us who have worked in this building with him know in a way that perhaps only that experience can teach. To have seen him late into the night and through the night and into the morning, struggling with the most awful complexities, the most demanding and irresolvable conflicts, doing so because he cared, trying to make other men see it, above all, caring, working, hoping for this country that he had made greater already and which he will make greater still."

That was the way the oration ended, at least as the text was reprinted last week in the Washington Post, with the sentence not yet finished and the professor lost in an "and which" construction. In as accompanying comment, the Post editorially frowned up, and even those of us who admire Mr. Nixon are bound to say that the speech was, well, a little much.

And yet there was a good deal of solid meat beneath all the parsley. Much of the speech was devoted to a catalogue of Nixon's efforts at home and abroad, and to Nixon's understanding of the limits and uses of Federal power. Moynihan's own areas of expertise are urban af- (Continued on page 5) places for the three others: January 15, Wilmington, for 23 southeastern counties; January 18, Greensboro, for 27 Piedmont counties; January 25, Hendersonville, for 26 western counties.

One-Time Registration
Brock foresaw a minimum for complication and confusion in working out a "progression" system which automatically will shift the young voter into full registration upon reaching 21.

"By singular coincidence, our uniform voter registration act which became effective January 1 requires each county to set up full-time registration and the kind of sophisticated operation necessary to handle this situation," Brock said.

Whether young voters ever exercise the limited ballot privilege depends upon what happens on the issue in the 1971 General Assembly. They just might get full voting rights in time to mark ballots

Strength For Today

IT REQUIRES ALL WE HAVE

We can generally be confident that a man who puts his whole self into anything will succeed. Almost everyone who does this becomes a leader. Some people think that the days of rugged individuality and sterling leadership are over, but a review of the facts would show that there are about as many outstanding leaders today, in proportion to our population, as we have ever had.

This capacity for complete commitment not only makes a man successful in the industrial and business world. The technique is absolutely required for success in spiritual matters. General Booth declared that his success was due to the fact that God had all of him. Florence Nightingale referred to herself as a woman of very ordinary ability who had been led by God into strange and unaccustomed paths to do unusual things. "I have worked hard, very hard, that is all; and I have never refused God anything."

This is the technique which produces leaders and saints. Pasteur, Edison and Ford are examples of how consecrated men can achieve signal success in material things. General Booth, Florence Nightingale, Jane Addams and Albert Schweitzer were examples of how people, using very much the same technique, won profound distinction in spiritual matters.

Most Prices Will Be Increased

By ELMER ROESSNER

A big reason why almost everything will cost more in 1971 is that it will cost more to move everything to market. and this is another reason why, no matter how business slumps this year, the juggernaut of inflation will keep rolling along.

There are built-in rises in the cost of moving goods. This week the Interstate Commerce Commission granted seven groups of motor carriers increases in rates of from 1 to 10 per cent, effective Jan. 1 and 2. It indicated it would grant increases to the four remaining groups who are seeking higher rates.

These increases are to compensate trucking companies for increases granted in the word — to the Teamsters last May. There was already one increase granted. Last June, the ICC approved a 6 to 8 per cent rise to compensate truck lines for the first increases agreed upon in the may contract. Everybody Pays

These increases will be added to the price of products carried. That will include raw materials trucked to plants, components trucked from plants to assembly lines, and finished products trucked to market. In many cases, there will be further price increases to cover the higher cost of trucking goods from market to the place of use by home or industrial consumer. And there won't be any escape.

Railroads will have to get higher freight rates. The Penn Central and the Jersey Central are not the only ones broken-legged and busted. All over the country railroads are crying that they are in financial squeeze, although the Southern Pacific "continues to do quite nicely."

Most roads weep loudest about losses on intercity passenger traffic. That has been partly opportunistic, to get action establishing the government-subsidized passenger system.

Now that that is wrapped up, the rails will campaign for higher freight rates. And In The Air

At the same time, most of the airlines are operating below profit levels. They have won one increase in passenger rates and will probably soon seek another, and they are acting to gain higher freight rates.

The fact that truckers have won rate increases will make it easier for railroads and airlines to gain approval of higher freight rates.

And barge lines, an important factor in the moving of goods, are also seeking higher rates.

The truck, rail and air rate increases are all largely due to their increased labor costs or the increased labor costs of their suppliers. Thus, inflation feeds upon itself; the wage increases granted these employees—which are inflationary—are the result of inflation which has boosted their cost of living. Now these men are boosting the cost of living for everybody else.

Labor Problems Hit Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — New year labor problems have closed the city schools, both daily newspapers have ceased publication and city services are being seriously affected.

School doors were locked to some 73,000 students Monday as 1,000 members of the Pittsburgh Federation of Teachers made good a threat to boycott their classrooms if there was no agreement with the school board on a new contract.

Talks between the teachers and the board which have been going on since last April were recessed Monday afternoon with school superintendent Dr. Louis Kishkonas saying: "We're at an impasse."

Meanwhile, the board was continuing talks with a maintenance workers union whose members have been working fairs, the poor and the blacks. Here he found a record of "much genuine achievement."

"And yet," Moynihan remarked, "how little the administration seems to be credited with what it has achieved. One thinks of President Kennedy's summation: Life is not fair. But there is something more at work than the mere perversity of things."

Moynihan's perceptive analysis went beyond Nixon's painful problems of press and public relations. To the Harvard philosopher, the trouble lies in a general disenchantment with government, brought on by the tendency of our people to oversimplify complex problems and thus to expect too much of the political process.

But at the risk of oversimplifying a few problems myself, I venture an observation not so high-flown: Nixon has not had the credit he deserves partly because he is — Nixon. A President's image is fixed not only by his record, but chiefly by the interpretation of that record; and to a significant degree, such interpretation is the work of journalists who actively dislike the man. These are the journalists who forgave Jack Kennedy the Bay of Pigs; they will go to their graves denouncing Nixon for Cambodia.

The President, I believe, is temperamentally incapable of doing much about this problem. He is as he is. But without buying all of Pat Moynihan's fine Irish blarney, I venture my own positive appraisal: Mr. Nixon has been a good President; he will be a better one in the second half of his term. Stripped of the whipped cream, Moynihan's tribute was a tribute well deserved.

Tulsa Recreation Center Has Features Not Ordinarily Seen

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—Almost weekly there is a special get-together in a public facility in Tulsa for some special people. It's a recreation center but quite different from the one you might visit.

The patrons at this facility are blind, most of them. Some have had polio. All are incapacitated to some degree. But when they get together, you wouldn't notice the handicaps.

The Tulsa Recreation Center for the Physically Limited offers activities specially designed for persons with cerebral palsy, muscular dystrophy and multiple sclerosis.

Mrs. Robert Murdock, director of the center, says fellowship and personal interaction are the necessary ingredients of such a facility.

"Psychological insecurities multiply from constant affiliation with only one's family," Mrs. Murdock said. "But at the center inhibitions are dissolved. Shyness is unheard of."

One of four The specialized facility is one of only four in the nation. Financial support comes from civic and health groups, clubs and individuals. Part of its budget comes from the Community Chest.

Under Mrs. Murdock's guidance, the center has graduated from quarters furnished by a Tulsa hospital to a $300,000 building of its own.

"Architectural and interior design is intended to help participants forget their handicaps," Mrs. Murdock said.

There even is a bowling alley. That's right. It's made possible with a unique bowling stand designed by one of the center's own members.

Wheelchair square dances are commonplace and a basketball court and pool tables provide added entertainment. Young girls are encouraged to learn domestic chores in a modern kitchen. Loud rock music bands are invited often.

Even the theatrical "halls" get a chance to express their talents on a ramped stage where plays and choral readings occur at almost every meeting.

Day Camp Conducted The center conducts a day camp each year and takes pride in its Cubs and Boy Scouts, Brownies and Girl Scouts.

"Innovative ideas are what sustains the center," Mrs. Murdock said. "Members are always ready to throw a party on the slightest pretense."

"People are often heard to remark after visiting that our people are the happiest they ever met.

"One reason for the congenial atmosphere is that each member reaches out for the other. Those who can't walk have sympathy for those who are blind, while the blind have great compassion for those who can't walk. Each counts his own blessings and tries to help the other."

Aid quite often they all go rambling off in an appropriately named bus—"Sunshine Express"—to a ball game, concert, play, movie, hay ride or even fishing.

As one member of the center put it, "All of us have handicaps . . . on some of us they show."

PNB HAS IT ALL... FOR SAVERS AND INVESTORS.

Confused about savings rates? Take heart . . . so are the Philadelphia lawyers. But remember this. Planters National Bank pays the highest rate permitted under Federal Reserve regulations. No insured full-service bank pays a higher rate. However, Planters does pay more than many banks . . . more, in fact, than most banks. And here's how.

5% GOLDEN PASSBOOK

PNB's popular Golden Passbook pays 5% compounded daily.

This isn't quarterly or even monthly compounding. It's daily compounding to yield a liberal 5.127% annually.

Open a PNB Golden Passbook with $500 or more. Add to it anytime and in any amount you wish. Withdrawals may be made with 90 days prior written notice, or during the first 10 days of each calendar quarter if your money has been on deposit 90 days. Interest is paid quarterly.

And your remaining funds still earn 5% True Daily Interest, just as long as your balance doesn't fall below $500.

Many financial institutions do not pay interest compounded daily on this type account. PNB Golden Passbook savers, however, do enjoy this extra earning power.

Golden Passbook accounts are fully-assignable. And you can use them as loan collateral.

If you'd like more details, talk to a PNB banker. He'll be glad to fill you in.

CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT

If Certificates of Deposit better suit your needs, we have these, too, at top rates.

Two-year certificates for less than $100,000 pay 5 1/4%; one-year certificates, 5 1/2%. Purchase one for as little as $1,000.

Shorter term certificates are available at 4 1/2% and 5%, depending on length and type of maturity.

Certificates of $100,000 or more are offered at competitive and negotiated rates, depending upon maturity.

Your interest is payable by check on each anniversary date, or deposited if you wish, to a PNB savings or checking account. Or, on automatically renewable certificates, the interest may be left with the certificate and compounded every 3 months.

PNB has it all, and we'd like to help you tailor a plan to best suit your own particular needs and objectives.

REGULAR PASSBOOK SAVINGS

Still the most popular and most flexible of our savings plans. With Regular Passbook Savings, you can withdraw funds anytime. Or add any amount you wish.

PNB Regular Passbook Savings pay the highest interest allowed by law on regular bank savings. With 4 1/2% guaranteed bank interest, compounded and paid monthly.

Many financial institutions still compound regular passbook savings quarterly or semi-annually, but PNB savers do earn extra interest from monthly compounding.

And our regular passbook savings also are computed on a Daily Interest basis, which assures you of earning interest every day from deposit to withdrawal, so long as your balance is at least $10, and not lose one penny of interest.

AUTOMATIC SAVING

Just tell us how much you want to save. And when. We'll simply transfer funds automatically ($10 and up) from your Planters checking account to your Planters savings account. It's that simple. Month after month after month. Like clockwork.

There they are. Great ways to make money at Planters National. Maybe you'll want to use several of them. Maybe just one. It all depends on what you want to do with your money.

But, if you're not quite sure which ones to use, it may be helpful to come in and talk with us. Tell us what your goals are. What kind of money you'd like to save in five, ten, twenty years. Then we'll sit down together and work up a program that'll get you to where you want to be. And you can count on that.

BIG SMILES . . . mark the occasion of the presentation of a check for $10,206 for the United Fund of Pitt County. Harry Leslie (center) plant manager of Burroughs Wellcome Company presents the check to campaign manager Joseph O. Clark (left). Gerald Crane (right), Chairman of the United Fund Industrial Division, looks on.

Pitt County's newest big industry, Burroughs Wellcome Company, has made a combined contribution by the company and employees of $10,206 to Pitt County United Fund. The contribution was announced by Plant Manager Harry Leslie.

"We have found a home in Greenville," Leslie said in a statement to Gerald Crane, Chairman of the Industrial Division of the United Fund, "and are pleased to be able to participate in this worthy effort."

Joseph Clark, campaign chairman for the 1970 drive commented: "This outstanding contribution gives us the boost we need to reach our goal again this year."

"It is a significant indication of the interest and concern for the community shown by the new firm in its willing support of this activity," Clark observed. "I am grateful to all the Burroughs Wellcome employees for their generous contributions."

Early in 1969 Burroughs Wellcome Company announced the planned relocation of their manufacturing facilities from Tuckahoe, New York to Greenville. "It has taken all of 1970," Leslie pointed out, "to effect this transition. The tremendous cooperation and assistance from the community and our employees has made this move highly successful."

Leslie added, "We hope this contribution to the United Fund in some small measure demonstrates our sincere appreciation. It is our intention to continue to increase our participation in this and other community activities as the years go by."

"benign neglect" of racial problems.

At another point, the President declined to speculate on what might happen "in the event that Israel is going to go down the tube."

At the outset, Nixon said many of his hopes for 1969-70 were not realized, but asserted: ". . . I have great hopes for the next two years, because I think I know better how to do the job . . . I know more. I am more experienced. I hope I do better."

He said he believes he has learned how to work better with Congress and the Cabinet, and predicted his choice to be the new secretary of the Treasury, Texas Democrat John Connally, will be a big help in promoting enactment of his domestic legislation.

Connally, he said, should be particularly valuable in pushing for early action on long-stalled welfare reform. Failure to win passage of this measure earlier was described by Nixon as "the greatest disappointment legislatively."

Bucs Seek To Snap String At Richmond

Wayne Defeats Pitt Tech Five

GOLDSBORO Wayne Leaman Rhodes and that was it. Community College continued to hold sway over Pitt Technical Institute last night, taking a 92-76 victory over Pitt.

It was only the second loss this year for Pitt Tech, who has only lost to Wayne. They remain atop their conference, however, with a 4-0 loop mark.

Pitt Tech gained command in the early minutes of the game, and led throughout the first half of play. They held anywhere from a one to seven point edge throughout the period, but Wayne cut it back to one at halftime, 42-41.

In the second half, Pitt again pulled away and held the lead throughout the first five minutes of play. But then, Wayne charged into the lead behind the scoring of Billy Andrews and

Tar Heels Surprise South Carolina, 79-64

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Dean Smith, an assistant at the University of North Carolina who took over as head coach when Frank McGuire left in 1961, beat his old mentor's second-ranked South Carolina team 79-64 Monday night. "This had to rank alongside our great wins," said a jubilant Smith, whose own team is No. 19 nationally.

"Our strategy going into the game was to hold the ball if South Carolina elected to play a zone defense, but they chose to play man-to-man and they played it very well," Smith said. "Then our plan was to play cautiously, looking for the good shots. The important thing in this style of play is to have the lead. And fortunately, we were able to gain the lead early."

The Tar Heels controlled the tempo and held the lead from the opening tip. They were in front 40-26 at halftime. And they never lost their poise when the South Carolina Gamecocks cut the margin to four points several times in the second half. At one point in that half North Carolina scored seven of eight points to open a nine-point margin.

The Gamecocks were forced to foul late in the game and North Carolina pulled away in the final three minutes.

McGuire said, "I told our boys after the game that before the season is over they will be No. 1. They're still champs as far as I'm concerned. The outcome relieved any pressure we might have had. It's a long season, and we will win a lot more than we lose. North Carolina did play a tremendous game."

"The game was at North Carolina, and the partisan crowd was for the Tar Heels. "Our kids did look around and listen to remarks which were unbelievable," McGuire said in a radio interview after the game. He did not say what the remarks were. "I told them to keep their cool and keep their heads up."

"That place (North Carolina's Carmichael Auditorium which seats 8,200 for basketball) was the hottest place we have ever played in. I think they kept the steam on all night."

South Carolina shot 39 per cent from the field, only 32 per cent in the first half and 44 per cent in the second half. "The ball wouldn't drop for us," McGuire said.

North Carolina was successful 51 per cent from the field, almost 55 per cent in the first half and almost 46 per cent in the second half.

"Someone once said being nationally ranked will cost you four games a year because everyone is up for you," McGuire declared. North Carolina was definitely up for us tonight. Their aggressiveness was a factor in our poor shooting percentage."

It was the first loss for South Carolina after nine victories. North Carolina's record is 9-2. Sophomore George Karl led the Tar Heels with 17 points. Tom Riker of South Carolina was the game's high scorer with 20 points. South Carolina's All-America, John Roche, was held to 14 points by Karl and by Steve Previs, who were assigned to guard him man to man. He made only four points

Coach Tom Quinn's East Carolina University Pirates, still looking for a victory on the road, are hoping that returning to Southern Conference play might be what the Bucs need to put it all together.

Tonight, the Pirates visit the University of Richmond for a key Southern bout. Richmond comes into the game with only one victory, over winless VMI, the team the Bucs face on Saturday.

The Pirates come into the contest on a three-game losing streak, and a five-game road trip deficit, the last a 107-79 spanking at the hands of Marshall University, a team that has dropped only one contest.

Quinn feels that the Bucs' problems are a combination of things. "We had a long drive to Huntington, W.Va., for the game," he said, "and Marshall has a very good team. They're 8-1 now."

"And we just haven't seemed to have found it yet. We played well at St. Francis (where the Bucs lost by five but put on a fine comeback after being 13 down). We haven't played well on the road, however, for the most part."

Quinn feels that this is largely due to the fact that the team hasn't matured on the road. "We should reach this stage this week," he said. "We have lost to some good teams, who have a good overall record. Davidson and Marshall have lost only one each, but we should have given them more trouble than we did."

The coach feels that the Bucs performed as well in whipping East Tennessee as they ever have for him at East Carolina. "We need to play consistently. Our ball handling, especially on the road, has been a problem, but we're in good physical condition, and mentally, we want to get it together."

Quinn feels that Richmond will be one of the taller teams the Bucs play. The Spiders have a big lineup with one 6-9, and a total of six who are 6-6 or better. "Believe it or not, this is their first home game, so they should perform a little better than they have so far this year."

Quinn sees the biggest threat from 6-8 center Jim Hewitt, a veteran, and 6-9 sophomore Ray Amann. "They also have some other veterans back, including Bar Eisner, Phil Buskar, John Welch and Stan Ryfinski. Their point man is a sophomore, Mike Anastasio."

Quinn feels that the Spiders won't be as quick as the Pirates, while adding that Marshall was the quickest team the Bucs have met, and "probably are the quickest we'll meet this year. We should be faster than Richmond on the break."

The coach is also hoping the Bucs will return to their usual board control. In the last two games, they have lost the battle of the boards, the only times this year they have been outrebounded.

Quinn is also looking for the play of junior forward Jim Fairley and sophomore center Al Faber to improve. Neither have been shooting well, and the Bucs have largely been forced outside by sticky zones in recent games.

"I look for about everyone to zone us," he said. "They'd be crazy not to."

Following tonight's game, the Bucs stay inside the conference on Saturday night, traveling to Lexington, Va., to meet winless VMI. "I am glad we've been on the road so much," Quinn said. "It's given us a chance to get experience under unfavorable conditions, so that when we do come home, things should swing in our favor."

But for now, Quinn would like to bring a two-game winning streak into the next home game, slated next Wednesday against Old Dominion.

City League Opens Season

The Book Exchange, Coffman's and Coca-Cola picked up wins in the opening night of City League play last night. Coke defeated Hallow Distributing, 82-63, while Coffman's downed Farmville, 71-48, and Book Exchange ripped College View, 107-46.

In the opener, Coca-Cola pushed into the lead in the first half and built up a 35-21 lead by halftime. In the second half, Hallow tried to close the gap, dumping in 42 points, but Coke came up with 47 to add five more points to its lead.

Modlin led Coke with 32 points, while Lynn had 17 and W. Hardee and Lindsey each had 15. For Hallow's, D. Hahn had 18, C. Vincent had 15, Ted Whitley had 13 and G. Rhems had 11.

Coffman's inched out into the lead in the first half of play against Farmville, gaining a 33-27 edge at intermission. But in the second half, the Farmville team fell apart, and Coffman's raced out to the victory, outshooting Farmville, 38-21.

Gene Rackley and Bruce Tucker led Coffman's with 16 each, while Charlie Swanner had 11 and Joe Gattis had 10. For Farmville, R. Parker, J. Briley and C. Leaman each had 10.

Winding up the evening, Book Exchange flexed its muscle, running away with things in the first half. By intermission, the Exchange held a 50-17 lead. They kept it up in the second half, outshooting College View, 57-29.

J. Hardison led the Exchange with 22, while M. Porter had 18, C. Whitehurst and J. Clark each had 15, and W. Claybrook and D. Allen had 13 each. P. McNamara had 24 for College View.

Industrial Loop Gets Under Way

State Highway, National Cash Register and Wachovia Bank picked up victories during the first night of play in the Industrial Basketball League, sponsored by the Greenville Recreation Department.

State Highway rolled over WNCT, 72-31, while NCR whipped Vermont American, 69-18. Wachovia won by forfeit over Fieldcrest.

In the opener, State Highway put the game out of reach in the first period of play. They shot away to a 41-17 lead at halftime and were never in any trouble. They again outlit WNCT, 31-14, in the second half, to roll along.

P. Page led State Highway with 20 points, while C. Elks had 16, S. Worthington had 12 and J. Crawford had 11. Kie Arnold led WNCT with 10 points.

In the second contest, Vermont American just couldn't find the range, getting only one field goal and one free throw in the first half for a mere three points. Meanwhile, NCR was pushing through 29 points.

Things didn't improve much in the second half for Vermont American, as they were held to just 15, while NCR scored 40.

K. Witherington led NCR with 29, while Hall had 19. No one had double figures for Vermont American.

Huskies Pick Former Star

SEATTLE (AP) — Former Washington fullback Ray Jackson says he accepted an assistant coaching position with the Huskies determined to be neither a resident black nor a social worker.

Jackson, 35, was hired Monday as Washington moved to solve the continuing black turmoil within its football team. Athletic Director Joe Kearney also said he expected to name a black administrative assistant within the next two weeks.

The hiring of Jackson came after a Dec. 19 report by university regents that some institutional racism still existed in Husky athletics. The Regents blamed inadequate attempts to solve past problems for the continuing controversy. Four black sophomores quit the team in November during a black boycott which precipitated the investigation.

But Jackson made it clear Monday his main goal was coaching. Owens said Jackson would be in charge of the linebackers or defensive backs.

"I've been given an informal kind of assurance that I won't be considered the resident nigger, if you want to use that term," Jackson said. "The fact that is important to me is that, traditionally, as I look at the black coaches throughout the country, they are looked upon as what you would call social workers and the go-between between the white coaches and black athletes."

"I hope, and I am sure, that I will be given the same responsibilities the other coaches have been given, with the same expectations," he added.

NBA Teams Add To Protest List

By BRUCE LOWITT Associated Press Sports Writer Pro basketball is beginning to act like a television soap opera, with courtroom battles and hospital scenes overshadowing the action between the backboards.

There were only three games Monday night with Portland whipping Cleveland 119-106 and Milwaukee dumping Seattle 124-110 in the National Basketball Association debut of Spencer Haywood. In the American Basketball Association, Indiana beat the Floridians 111-99 in the nightcap of a scheduled double-header.

The first half of the twinbill—the New York Nets against Kentucky—was canceled when the Colonels' plane was forced to return to Louisville by the temporary closing of the airport at Indianapolis.

The hospital doors were swinging both ways and the courtroom doors seemed about to open wide as the Haywood case continued to mount.

On the medical front, New York Knicks star center Willis Reed was discharged after a four-day hospital stay—but ABA Commissioner Jack Dolph and Coach Alex Hannum of the NBA's San Diego Rockets became in-patients.

Reed was given a clean bill of health after undergoing a battery of tests, the result of abdominal pains. Physicians suggested the pains might have been the after-effects of flu which hospitalized Reed—Dec. 18-21.

Dolph, who lives in Riverside, Conn., was reported resting in a hospital in nearby Greenwich after being stricken with pneu-

Bucs Add Pack Guard

Addison Bass of Washington High School is the latest high school football player to add his name to the East Carolina University freshman roster for next fall.

Bass, a 6-0, 200-pound guard, was signed by Pirate Coach Sonny Randle this morning. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Addison R. Bass of Washington.

An outstanding lineman for the Pam Pack, Bass served as co-captain of his team this past season under coach Dick Cherry, himself a former Pirate star. He was also captain of the baseball team last year.

"He will be a tremendous asset to our program at East Carolina," Randle said. "He is a big, strong young man who has the ability to be an outstanding collegiate lineman."

UCLA Still Runaway Leader On Nebraska Is No. 1, Notre Dame, Associated Press Basketball Poll Texas, Vols, Buckeyes Follow

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
South Carolina came out second best on the basketball court and in the Associated Press Poll.

The second-ranked Gamecocks suffered their first setback of the season after rolling up nine successive victories as North Carolina stunned their Southern guests 79-64 Monday night.

It was, in effect, the second triumph of the day for the Tar Heels. Earlier in the day they broke into the Top Twenty ratings, tying Purdue for 19th place.

North Carolina, 9-2, grabbed the lead at the outset, raced to a 30-26 intermission lead, then stayed cool even when the aroused Gamecocks charged within four points in the second half.

South Carolina, with Tom Riker gaining scoring honors with 20 points, was forced to foul to get the ball late in the game and the Tar Heels converted the charity tosses to wrap up the upset.

They were led by sophomore forward George Karl's 17 points and limited All-American John Roche to 14.

The runaway leader in the voting was still UCLA, amassing all but two of the 26 first-place votes to pile up 526 votes by the nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

South Carolina and Marquette, with one first-place vote apiece, followed the Bruins with 478 and 426 votes respectively. Southern California retained fourth place with 362.

Penn., which collected 293 votes to move past Western Kentucky into fifth place, opened its defense of the Ivy League crown with a 70-62 victory over Princeton. The Quakers, led by Dave Wohl's 20 points, held off a Tiger rally with deadly foul shooting, going 26-for-30 from the charity line.

Big Jim McDaniels exploded for a career-high 49 points as No. 6 Western Kentucky topped Tennessee Tech 95-82. The big seven-footer hit seven straight points late in the game to lock up the Hilltoppers' triumph.

Seventh-ranked Jacksonville, up two places from the previous week, Kansas, up from 12th to eighth, Notre Dame, which leaped from 15th to 9th, and No. 10 St. Bonaventure, up from 13th, were idle.

Other unscheduled teams filling out the Top Twenty were No. 12 Indiana, up two spots; Utah State, climbing from 19th to 15th; Drake, which plummeted from seventh to 16th, Fordham, breaking into the chart as No. 18, and Purdue, 20th a week ago.

A pair of former Top Twenty teams, No. 16 Oregon and No. 18 LSU, dropped off the list.

Eleventh-ranked Kentucky, which fell three places in the poll, trailed by as many as 13 points in the first half but came on strong to turn back Mississippi State 79-71. Mike Casey hit 19 of his game-high 26 points in the second half for the Wildcats and Tom Payne added 24.

Louisville, bounding up four spots to No. 13, played near-flawless ball to rout Georgetown College 115-76. Larry Carter's 30 points led six double-figure scorers for the Cardinals, whose coach, John Dromo, remained hospitalized with a coronary insufficiency. Howard Stacey piloted the team.

Villanova, sinking from 11th to 14th, dropped North Dakota through the floor as the Wildcats led from the opening buzzer en route to a 103-63 romp. Howard Porter led the balanced Villanova attack with 20 points.

Tennessee, which slipped from 10th to 17th in the poll, smothered Mississippi and high-scoring Johnny Neumann 98-85. The Volunteers, topped by Mike Edwards' 26 points, double-teamed Neumann and held him to 26, well below the nation-leading 44.3 average he had going into the game. Dave Rhodes led the Rebels with 32.

In other major games, John Mengel poured in 40 points as Auburn belted Georgia 79-58; Georgia Tech's Yellow Jackets stung Maine 99-52 behind Rich Yunkus' 29 points and 15 rebounds; Alabama, with Wendell Hudson leading five double-figure scorers with 21 points, upset Louisiana State 101-87 and LaSalle, paced by Ken Durrett's 22 points, turned back late-rallying Tulsa 63-61.

Here are the top 20 teams with total points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-etc. for the top 15 places. First-place votes are in parentheses:

Nebraska is No. 1! The unbeaten Cornhuskers are college football's top-ranked team—and mythical national champion—for the 1970 season.

Nebraska garnered a whopping 39 first-place votes in the final Associated Press poll of a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters and easily outdistanced runner-up Notre Dame with eight firsts.

"It's probably the greatest thing ever to happen to University of Nebraska athletics," said Bob Devaney, the Cornhusker coach and owner of the best record in major college coaching ranks. "You could say the same thing goes for me as a coach."

Nebraska piled up 946 points with a first-place vote worth 20, a second 18, and so on. Notre Dame had 814.

Nebraska conquered Louisiana State 17-12 in the Orange Bowl. Notre Dame upset defending national champion Texas 24-11 in the Cotton Bowl. Texas finished the regular season in the No. 1 spot but the Cotton Bowl loss by the Longhorns dropped them to third in the final rankings.

Tennessee, the Sugar Bowl champion, ranks fourth, followed by Ohio State, Arizona State, LSU, Stanford, Michigan, Auburn, Arkansas, Toledo, Georgia Tech, Dartmouth, Southern California, Air Force, Tulane, Penn State and Houston with Oklahoma and Mississippi tied for 20th.

"It is the ultimate of all college football players to win their league championship, then the national championship is just some sort of dream," Devaney said.

This is the first national title for Devaney, who has won five Big Eight conference crowns and tied for a sixth championship. He coached five years at Wyoming before taking the reins at Nebraska nine years ago.

The upsets of Texas and Ohio State in the New Year's Day bowls paved the way for the Cornhuskers to vault to the top. Nebraska was third at the end of the regular campaign and it's Orange Bowl victory left the team with an 11-0-1 record.

Only blemish on the 1969 Nebraska season in a 21-21 deadlock with Southern California, which administered second-place Notre Dame, 10-1, its only loss, 38-28. The fighting Irish were No. 6 at season's end.

Stanford and Heisman Trophy winner Jim Plunkett smashed Ohio State in the Rose Bowl, handing the Buckeyes, 9-1, their first loss of the year and dropping them from second to fifth.

Texas, which got three first-place votes, had its 30-game victory skein shattered by Notre Dame, and finished 10-1. Tennessee, 11-1, occupies the same position it held before the postseason clashes.

Arizona State, Toledo and Dartmouth are the only unbeaten, untied teams in the Top Twenty. Arizona State, 11-0 and Peach Bowl champion, got two first-place votes and finished sixth.

Toledo, 12-0, the Tangerine Bowl winner, ranks 12th and Dartmouth, 9-0, the Ivy League champion, is 14th. Toledo's 23-game winning streak qualifies as the current longest with Texas' string broken at 30.

Of the teams in the Top Twenty, only Michigan, No. 9; Arkansas, No. 11; Dartmouth; Southern California, No. 15; Penn State, No. 18; and Houston, No. 19, did not play in bowl games. Michigan and Dartmouth were prohibited from postseason games by their respective conferences, Big Ten and Ivy.

Tenth-ranked Auburn beat Ole Miss in the Gator Bowl, No. 13 Georgia Tech downed Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl; 17th-ranked Tulane upset Colorado in the Liberty Bowl and No. 20 Oklahoma tied Alabama in the Astro-Bluebonnet.

The final Top Twenty college football teams, with first-place votes in parentheses, and total

2. Notre Dame (8)	814
3. Texas (3)	721

Devaney Elated Over Ranking

By HUBERT MIZELL
Associated Press Sports Writer
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Bob Devaney nearly quit coaching after 14 low-paying high school seasons before getting the break that led to his pinnacle as coach of the national champion Nebraska Cornhuskers.

"It was 1953 and my plans were to return to college, get a masters degree and take some boring administrative job," said Devaney. "Then, Duffy Daugherty at Michigan State called me and my real life began."

Devaney was en route to an all-star coaching assignment in the American Bowl here when advised Orange Bowl king Nebraska had been voted No. 1 in the final Associated Press poll. "This is probably the greatest thing ever to happen to Nebraska athletics," he said, "and that goes for me as a coach."

The Cornhuskers, 11-0-1 after whipping LSU 17-12 in the New Year's night Orange Bowl game, outpolled Notre-Dame in the last voting round.

Devaney began his coaching career in 1939 as a $125-a-month high school mentor. It didn't get much better despite many victories and he "was about ready to try something else more lucrative."

Naughtery had taken over as Michigan State's head coach and called to offer Devaney the post as the Spartans' defensive backfield aide.

Devaney's acclaim at Michigan State earned him the head coaching spot at Wyoming in 1958 and he moved to Nebraska in 1963.

He's 77 And Still Skiing

FARMINGTON, Mich. (AP)—In 1917 the United States entered World War I. Woodrow Wilson was president, radio wasn't much more than a gimmick, and nobody knew of Vitamin D.

And in 1917 Henry C. Hall set a national ski jump record of 203 feet.

Three wars, nine presidents, plus countless inventions and discoveries later, Henry C. Hall is still flying through the air on his trusty, red skis.

He is 77 and his wife Olga wants him to quit. But Hall says he'll risk the perils of his homemade 150-foot jump at least one more season before giving it up and possibly starting a ski school.

Meanwhile, youngsters from this northwest Detroit suburb flock to his 2½-acre winter wonderland "back yard" six days a week to utilize two ski jumps, bobsled and toboggan runs, plus an ice rink. Hall charges 25 cents an hour for use of the facilities, "to help defray expenses."

"I was born on skis in the biggest snowstorm to hit Ishpeming," boasts the native of Michigan's Upper Peninsula. In 1968 Hall was elected to the United States Ski Association Hall of Fame, located at his home town.

An end-of-season accident last year nearly ended his skiing. But despite somersaulting onto his head during a jump, he only broke an ankle and "bruised" a knee. However, he says the knee stiffens up now and then and as a result he may not jump after this year.

Hall manages to jump more than 80 feet on occasion now, but in his heyday the former touring professional surpassed the then great 200-foot barrier several times. His 203 mark was set at Steamboat Springs, Colo. Then in 1921, after service in World War I, Hall set a world record with a leap of 229½-feet in British Columbia.

Joyce Named Top ACC Soph

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP)—Guard Kevin Joyce, who turned in two fine performances last week in helping South Carolina's Gamecocks capture the Holiday Festival, is the Atlantic Coast Conference's Sophomore of the Week.

Joyce, selected by a committee of the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association, contributed 46 points in wins over Providence and Western Kentucky, and later in the week added 12 as the Gamecocks defeated Clemson in an ACC contest.

Joyce had his best scoring night of the season in the 86-84 win over Western Kentucky with 25 points. He hit 11 of 16 shots from the floor and added three free throws. He also hauled in four rebounds. In the Providence victory, he connected on eight of 13 field goals and made good on all five free throws.

A 6-3 native of Merrick, N. Y., Joyce currently ranks 13th among the ACC scoring leaders with a 15.2 average. He also ranks seventh in field goal percentage and 10th in free throw percentage.

He was the leading scorer for the South Carolina freshmen a year ago with a 25.3 average.

Earlier, Charlie Davis of Wake Forest was named the ACC player of the week. The conference's leading scorer with a 27-point-plus average scored 30 points in two Deacon victories in the Gold Coast Classic, then popped in 32 in the week's finale.

The Deacs won all three games, including the 78-77 triumph over nationally ranked Jacksonville for the tournament crown.

Davis is 6-foot-11 a senior, and plays guard for Wake Forest. He has now been named the conference's player of the week three times.

With 38 more points the two-time all-ACC player become the school's fourth high scorer of all time.

HATES TO BE FAVORED
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I hate to be the favored team in this game," said Maj. Gen. William A. Knowlton after Navy upset Army 11-7 in their annual football game.

"It's just that kind of a game and year after year the favored team has the trouble."

Worry Clinic Romance Aided By Diet, Too

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Ted's true confession should alert thousands of you plump wives! For that excess upholstery around your equator not only drives you prematurely into a hospital but also speeds up the likelihood of entrance into a divorce court! Boudoir "cheesecake" is not linked with double chins and the torso of a hippopotamus! En garde!

Case P-535: Ted G., aged 37, is the fat husband whose wife, Mabel, wondered why their romance was growing stodgy. "Dr. Crane," he grinned, "we both knew we were much too heavy, so your dieting advice hit the nail on the head. "We followed your Number 111 recipe and it worked quite well, even when I had to eat lunch at a restaurant every day. "To help produce a quick weight loss the first ten days, we used your dehydration diet. "I SHED 11 pounds and Mabel dropped ten in those first ten days. "Even though we knew part of that loss was due to dehydration, it was a thrill to see my weight down to 193 from my starting point of 204. "Mabel meanwhile was delighted to reach 154. "We have continued dieting on that Number 111 Plan, whereby we have one serving on our plate, one small tossed or cottage cheese salad, and one moderate helping of pie or cake. "Three months have passed and I am now flirting with 175. "Mabel is also down to 139. "AND WE HAVE noticed two very significant changes in our outlook: "First, we are much more active and less inclined to stay at home in an easy chair. "Second, we have grown more ardent and romantic, for we not only have more energy available for romancing, but Mabel's slender figure revives a lot of courtship emotions that had been in cold storage for 15 years. "Medically, too, I am in much better shape, for my blood pressure has dropped from 190 to 168. "And I don't pant when I walk up a flight of stairs. "I CAN ALSO bend over to tie my shoes whereas I formerly had to place my foot on a chair to do so. "Mabel looks and acts like a new bride, for she has much more zip and zest. "And certainly offers more enticing "cheesecake" in the boudoir. "Tell your women readers that you can easily avoid divorce if they will get back to within ten pounds of their wedding weight!"

IF YOU STODGY wives are worried lest your husbands start looking elsewhere for boudoir cheesecake, then heed Ted's true confession. Remember, your husbands originally picked you from many other girls when they proposed marriage. You were something "special." And you'd still be "special" in much that same earlier sense, if you'd lop off the ugly blubber that makes you look like a baby hippo or an awkward elephant. For romance is usually linked with slender women.

THE FAT WOMAN at the circus provokes laughter or curiosity but not romantic notions! Boudoir cheesecake is not associated with double chins and abdominal "lard." Get rid of that excess upholstery from around your equator!

You can revive your husband's waning romantic interest, just as Mabel has done, and within 90 days.

BEFORE EASTER, you can then slip into girlish frocks and again look stunning. So send for the medical booklet "How to Lose Ten Pounds in Ten Days," enclosing a long stamped envelope and 20 cents for this non-profit service when you send for one of his psychological charts. All letters are forwarded unopened to Dr. Crane. Copyright 1971.

By BOB DUBILL Associated Press Writer HOBOKEN, N.J. (AP) — This densely populated community across the Hudson River from New York City is installing closed circuit television cameras in a high-crime area in an effort to reduce muggings, burglaries and other crimes.

which has the city's highest rate of muggings, burglaries, purse snatchings and murder. "Foot patrolmen are luxuries we cannot afford," said Chief of Police William Crimmins. "They are your most expensive form of police protection. We feel that television has tremendous potential."

Around-the-clock programming will focus on First Street, a 14-block stretch on the south side

Crimmins persuaded the Justice Department in Washington to issue a grant financing a closed circuit system zooming in on areas having the greatest potential for crime.

Drive-In Views At Funeral Home

DETROIT (AP) — A drive-in window installed last August at a Detroit funeral home has become the principal viewing method for friends and relatives of the deceased, according to Frank Givens, owner of the establishment.

"We want to help the little John Q. Citizen who is a victim of muggers, the little storeowner whose life savings are invested in that store. We want to prevent him from being robbed," said Crimmins.

Three cameras will be stationed along First Street, feeding back pictures to a monitor at police headquarters. When a burglary or other suspect is brought into focus the man at the monitor will turn on a videotape

Operation of the television system costs $43,000, of which $25,000 is being provided by the federal government.

Double Risk For Robbers Toting Gun

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government has put a double-barreled penalty into effect for gun-toting bank robbers: Now they can get one prison term for robbing the bank and another for carrying a gun.

In fact, any federal crime committed with a firearm now will be considered two crimes. The new penalties are included in a $3.5-billion anticrime bill signed by President Nixon last weekend. The measure continues for three years and greatly expands the 1968 Safe Streets Act, providing law enforcement grants to state and local governments.

It also expands presidential protection and makes it a federal crime to kill, assault or kidnap a member of Congress or a congressman-elect.

"All criminals should be on notice," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who cosponsored the anti-gun crime legislation with Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania.

The legislation provides that first offenders who carry a gun while committing a federal crime are subject to a mandatory one-to-10-year prison sentence. Subsequent convictions bring two to 25 years with no chance of suspension or parole. The prison term for carrying a gun is extra and is piled on top of the sentence for committing the crime.

Mansfield predicted the anti-gun legislation will prove one of the most effective steps taken against crime by Congress "in many a year, if not in many a decade."

Dr. James D. Grant, deputy FDA commissioner and prime mover in the project, said the CRI findings and recommendations would be only one of a number of consumer and industry responses to the government's alternative labeling proposals.

"I think there would be dissatisfaction even if something logical emerged from this," said Erma Angevine, executive director of the Consumer Federation of America. "People would wonder what kind of pressure was exerted when industry paid the bill."

The Food and Drug Administration confirmed Monday it wants CRI to conduct free field tests to help the government determine what labeling regulation would best disclose the nutritional soundness of all processed foods.

The consumer survey would cost as much as $100,000 but would be donated to the FDA if approved by the institute's board, said Dr. Raymond C. Stokes, director of CRI.

"Our objective is policy based on fact rather than heat and emotion," Stokes said in an interview. "Our study would allow consumers to have the major voice in the government's decision."

Dr. James D. Grant, deputy FDA commissioner and prime mover in the project, said the CRI findings and recommendations would be only one of a number of consumer and industry responses to the government's alternative labeling proposals.

Cromartie said he felt officer R. A. Henderson was "carrying out his duties" when he struck David Michael Rising after arresting him on Dec. 9.

Rising has since undergone two brain operations and is listed in satisfactory condition at New Hanover Memorial Hospital.

Henderson said he struck rising with his slapjack several times after the man "swung at me and began kicking me and fighting at me."

North Viet Push Believed 'Small'

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials say North Vietnam may be in position by the end of January to launch a new but relatively small Tet offensive in Cambodia.

This interpretation of intelligence reports is basically the same offered by White House and Pentagon officials.

But the State Department analysts went a step further, predicting it may be necessary for South Vietnamese troops to move into Cambodia to help stem the tide. They expect the next two or three months will test fully the Cambodian army's ability to resist the North Vietnamese.

Commented one ranking official:

"We think North Vietnam is conducting an intensive effort to push supplies down to Cambodia and Vietnam, but there is nothing near to the amount required for a major offensive. Their problem is to get the supplies moved down and then come in ahead of the rains. They will have to do this no later than March or early April."

This means enemy supplies would have to be moved to concentration points this month or next.

All operations observed thus far indicate the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong are running far behind the schedule used in preparing for the Tet offensive in 1968, when 250,000 men were sent down from North Vietnam, U.S. officials noted.

In 1969, some 115,000 men were moved southward, primarily as replacements. There was no real Tet offensive in 1970.

White House officials recently estimated the infiltration rate is running 30 per cent ahead of last year, but still is far below the 1968-69 level.

U.S. authorities say the North Vietnamese are sticking to tactics that employ small units in protracted guerrilla warfare, rather than the large units of several years ago.

Court Gets Sludge Issue

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has been asked to settle a dispute between Vermont and New York State over a giant lump of papermill sludge that conservationists say is killing historic Lake Champlain.

Charging the heap of decaying wood chips and organic material—nearly half the bulk of the Great Pyramid of Egypt—creates a "gross public nuisance," Vermont wants the Supreme Court to force New York and the International Paper Co. to clean up the million-and-a-half cubic yard mess.

Vermont asked for permission to file a complaint directly with the Supreme Court under the Constitution's provision giving the high court jurisdiction in interstate disputes.

Vermont Atty. Gen. James H. Jeffords acted, he said, because New York is not moving fast enough or effectively enough to clean up the lake that forms the 100-mile border of the two states.

New York has asked the Federal Environmental Protection Agency to delay action on sludge removal until more tests can be made on the ecological effects of such a project. An EPA spokesman said no action has been taken on New York's request.

Spokesmen for International's Ticonderoga, N.Y., processing facility at the southern end of the lake, said engineers feel it would be better to leave the sludge where it is rather than stir it up by dredging.

Customs Screening Military Packages

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Customs Bureau says the amount of drugs, weapons and explosives illegally mailed to the United States by American soldiers overseas has dropped sharply since a government crackdown began last spring.

"We think we've got the situation to what we consider a controllable level, a bureau spokesman said.

Everything from live land mines to hand grenades to marijuana—most of it from Southeast Asia—was being mailed when Customs officials stepped in last spring. "Anything you can name they have sent in, unless it's a cannon," the spokesman said of the previous situation.

With the aid of the Pentagon, tough restrictions were put into effect and the number of seizures has dwindled considerably from the peak 418 packages intercepted last March, he said. About three-fourths of them contained illegal drugs.

From April through September, seizures averaged 184 per month. Customs officials confiscated 62 packages in October, 72 in November and 46 in the first two weeks of December.

Officials said the practice had been curbed largely through warnings by the military and new procedures requiring identification of the sender.

Although the Customs Bureau is hesitant to speculate on the reasons soldiers send weapons and explosives in the mails, a spokesman said obviously many want them for souvenirs.

Another view appeared in the annual report by the Treasury Department's efficiency office: The report said the crackdown was carried out "because the danger of these weapons being diverted to illegal use is an obvious hazard to the public."

Orientation Session Set

An orientation session for volunteers participating in the Inter Sensory Reading Method program in the six city elementary schools will be conducted Thursday beginning at 9:30 a.m. at St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

Sponsored by the Pitt County Mental Health Association and the Greenville PTA Council, this tutorial reading program has the endorsement of city school officials. Mrs. Ann Harrison and Mrs. Max Joyner are co-directors of the program. Dr. Patricia Daniels of the ECU School of Education will be lead instructor in the training session.

Concentrating in the beginning on primary grade students, the volunteers will work on a person-to-person basis with more than 100 pupils. Individuals not already contacted who would like to give some time to this endeavor are invited to attend the meeting or to contact Mrs. Ann Harrison at Elmhurst School before the meeting. Any volunteers may report Thursday at 9 a.m. to his or her area school and transportation to St. Paul's Church will be provided.

The basic materials and kits to be used in the program were purchased by the Mental Health Association.

Charge Car Murder Tool

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Police report they have charged a man with murdering his wife by following her car at 80 to 90 miles an hour and bumping it from the rear.

They said the man, Julius Alex Brigman, 48, a Charlotte truckdriver, was arrested and charged Monday when he came to police headquarters to ask about his wife's property a day after she died.

The police said that earlier Monday they had talked to a man who said he had been a passenger in the car of Mrs. Brigman, also 48, and had been injured when she was fatally hurt.

Mecklenburg County police withheld the man's name. They said he was 21 years old and had given this account:

"He was on his way to a service station in Charlotte when Mrs. Brigman gave him a ride Sunday morning. A car came up behind them and started blinking its lights. Mrs. Brigman turned onto Interstate 85 and drove at 80 to 90 miles an hour with the other car following. The other car bumped hers.

The man said he didn't know whether he was thrown out or crawled out. He was picked up by a motorist and taken to the home of a relative. Later, he was treated at a hospital and released.

The police said that Mrs. Brigman was killed when her car caromed off a bank and landed in a hole dug for the footing of a bridge.
