Shells Hit Fuel Cargo

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — North Vietnamese and Viet Cong gunners on an island in the Mekong River shelled a South Vietnamese landing boat loaded with gasoline and other fuels today. The boat exploded, sending greasy black smoke several hundred feet into the air. Guarded by two South Vietnamese gunboats hugging its sides, the boat was hit as it tried to run a blockade about 25 miles south of Phnom Penh. It was taking the fuel to the Cambodian capital, where gasoline is rationed and in extreme short supply.

The boat was ablaze and drifting downstream late in the afternoon.

A South Vietnamese officer said the number of casualties aboard the boat or to the ambush troops from the gunboats' return fire was unknown.

The attack occurred from an island in a narrows of the Mekong, witnesses said.

Crops, Livestock Up

RALEIGH (AP) — The value of crops and livestock produced in North Carolina last year showed an increase of $102 million over 1969, the State Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday. The figures aren't yet complete, but the total last year was nearly $1.6 billion.

Crops accounted for $89 million of the increase and livestock $13 million.

The value of the bright leaf and burley tobacco crops rose to a record $584 million in 1970, compared to $516 million the previous year. The total for all crops $952 million. Peanuts increased in value from $44 million to $55 million; cotton from $11 million to $18 million; and soybeans from $56 million to $61 million.

The corn crop, which was hit by drought and Southern leaf blight, a fungus disease, declined in value from $112 million in 1969 to $103 million last year.

Livestock production increased in value from $626 million to $639 million.

Spy Suit Dismissed

CHICAGO (AP) — A suit seeking to have military spying on civilians declared unconstitutional has been dismissed by Judge Richard B. Austin of U.S. District Court.

Judge Austin said Tuesday that the government was within its rights in using all facilities available to prepare itself against emergencies that might arise from civil disturbances.

In dismissing the action, Judge Austin chided the Army's surveillance methods as "typical Washington bureaucratic boondoggling" and called the suit "much ado about nothing."

No Medicare Dropouts

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina medicare officials say they do not expect the recent increases in premiums for supplemental Medicare benefits to cause people to drop from the program.

Ernest Phillips, director of the Medicare and Medicaid section of the state Board of Health, said Tuesday, "I haven't heard anything about previous Medicare increases causing people to drop from the program. I don't expect this year to be different."

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced last week that the current $5.30 a month premium for supplemental Medicare benefits will increase to $5.60 by July 1.

Robert Flynn, district manager of the Social Security Administration, said he doesn't recall "any significant effect when Medicare premiums were increased by 32 per cent last year. That's the only way we can judge what should happen now."

Responsibility Ending

PARIS (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird said today that American combat responsibility in South Vietnam will be ended this year.

Laird told a news conference that the first phase of the Nixon administration's Vietnamization program will be completed by midsummer. He said after that, American forces will be limited to logistics, air support and security roles.

The defense secretary and Adm. Thomas Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, stopped in Paris on their way to Bangkok and Saigon for talks on the progress of the war and the withdrawal of U.S. troops. Laird said Phase Two of the Vietnamization program calls for training and equipping the South Vietnamese forces to take over the logistics and air support missions. He said that this part of the program is ahead of schedule but requires much more time than the first phase.

ACTING DIRECTOR

RALEIGH (AP) — Dr. James A. Bell has been named acting director of the N.C. Dept. of Agriculture's meat and poultry inspection service succeeding Dr. Robert R. Miller, who resigned.

Prison Break-In

RALEIGH (AP) — Central Prison has always had problems with thieves — but now its some from outside, not inside.

The prison welding shop, situated inside a six-foot fence topped with barbed wire, was broken into sometime Monday night.

Missing are $1,700 worth of torches, grinders and other welding equipment.

Raleigh police say the thieves went over the fence, removed a window in the brick building, pried open a metal door and then broke a padlock in the wire gate leading into the upstairs shop. They apparently left the same way.

The thief was discovered by a shop foreman Tuesday morning.

Police theorize that the thief or thieves would have had to be familiar with the building to do the job.

"I would hardly say it was amusing," said Correction Commissioner V. Lee Boynds Wednesday.

"We're investigating our own angles now."

Growth As Neighbors Decline Pitt Runs Against The Tide

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville and four other Pitt County towns, and the county itself, have experienced growth during the past decade, a fact which sets them apart from most of the East which has generally lost people.

Official returns of the U.S. Bureau of Census confirm preliminary speculation that Pitt is the only county in this area to grow in population between 1960 and 1970. The number of people in Pitt County increased from 69,942 to 73,900—5.7 percent.

The populations of Pitt's surrounding counties in 1970 and in 1960 and their percentages of decrease are as follows: Wilson — 57,486 from 57,716, a 0.4 percent decrease; Edgecombe — 52,341 from 54,226, a 3.5 percent decrease; Martin — 24,730 from 27,139, an 8.9 percent decrease; Lenoir — 55,204 from 55,276, a 0.1 percent decrease; Beaufort — 35,980 from 36,014, a 0.1 percent decrease; and Greene — 14,967 from 16,721 a 10.6 percent decrease.

All Pitt County towns of a thousand or over except Bethel increased in population. These towns other than Greenville and their respective populations in 1970 and 1960 are as follows: Ayden — 3,450 increased from 3,108; Bethel — 1,514 decreased from 1,578; Farmville — 4,424 increased from 3,997; Grifton — 1,860 increased from 1,816; and Winterville — 1,437 increased from 1,418.

Greenville has had the largest percentage of increase of population in this area — 27.1 percent. This represents an increase from 22,860 to 29,063 persons. East Carolina University students are included in these totals. According to Harold Creech of the Greenville Chamber of Commerce and Merchants Association, some 2,729 of the residents of Greenville in 1960 were students. He estimated that approximately 7,000 of those counted in the 1970 census were students. Some of these are permanent residents of this city; most are not.

Nearby cities and their populations in 1970 and 1960 and their percentages of increase or decrease are as follows: Wilson 29,347 from 28,753, a 2.1 percent increase; Kinston — 22,309 from 24,819, a 10.1 percent decrease; Rocky Mount — 34,284 from 32,147, a 6.6 percent increase; Goldsboro — 26,810 from 28,873, a 7.1 percent decrease; Washington — 8,961 from 9,939, a 9.8 percent decrease; and Williamston — 6,570 from 6,924, a 5.1 percent decrease.

In general, increases were greater and decreases were smaller in the final tallies than they were in the preliminary census figures released late last year. However, the trends remained the same.

An exodus from the Eastern counties to the Piedmont of North Carolina and to northern states seems to account for the population loss of the area. The small towns, in general seemed to lose to their larger neighbors and faraway urban areas and the rural population left the farms in great numbers.

The figures used here were obtained from Mrs. Therese Ramsey of the State Planning Division of the North Carolina Department of Administration. They have not yet been analyzed by the Carolina Population Center of the East Carolina Regional Development Institute, both of which will draw further conclusion about population trends.

Pitt School Board Will Review Policy On The Releasing Of Property

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

The Pitt County Board of Education yesterday named a committee to study the board's position on the releasing of county school district property to other school districts.

The action came after a recommendation was made to the board from the Grimesland Advisory Council "that no more property in the Grimesland school district be taken in any other school district."

Board members named to the committee were Richard Worsley, Sam Nelson, A. D. McLawhorn and Roland Brinson.

In connection with the school district release policies, the committee was also asked to study the student transfer policies.

A report of the study will be made at the February board meeting.

Board members approved a resolution specifying that the Bethel Union School is no longer needed by the Pitt County Board of Education.

Resolutions expressing appreciation to former board members Robert Pierce and T. G. Worthington for their services to the board during the time they served was also approved.

It was decided the Falkland Primary School will continue on its present operating schedule for the remainder of this school year. The facility will not be used as a school after the close of this school year.

Superintendent Arthur Alford read a letter from the North Carolina Highway Commissioner which acknowledged a resolution passed by the board earlier for an access road to the new Farmville High School.

The letter stated that a thoroughfare plan, including the access road, is being prepared by the town of Farmville and the State Highway Commission. The project will begin as soon as money for the work is made available.

Board members agreed to continue providing transportation to and from school for students living less than one and one-half miles from the school they attend.

In the past, the money to provide the transportation has been absorbed in the budget. In the future, however, if money for the service cannot be taken care of in the budget, the transportation may have to be discontinued another year.

After a brief discussion on dedication services for the new North Pitt High School, board members agreed to permit the North Pitt Advisory Council to set up a dedication program.

In other business yesterday, the board approved new personnel to fill some vacancies in the county schools.

The board also agreed to revert the name A. G. Cox back to the Winterville High School.

The school was named after Cox but has always been referred to as the Winterville High School. It is felt by several Winterville citizens that the school be called by its proper name, especially since the high school students are now attending school at D. H. Conley High School.

Residue Kills Fish In Green Mill Run

A fish kill in Green Mill Run here became apparent yesterday morning.

According to Pitt County Wildlife Protector, R. S. Wright, dead fish were reported where the Run crosses East Tenth Street shortly before noon.

A pink residue was visible along the banks and the water in midstream was tinted pink. It had moved to Green Spring Park, which lies between Tenth and Fifth Streets and beyond by midafternoon.

Many small fish and some larger ones were seen floating toward the Tar River at the East Fifth Street Bridge over the Run. Some were floundering near the surface and some small ones caught in debris near the shore of Green Mill Pond jumped out of the water three or four times before expiring.

Water samples were taken by the division of water pollution control, which has offices at Pitt Plaza here, and by the Water Pollution Control division of Greenville Utilities. All were sent to state labs in Raleigh for analysis.

Utilities Commission Director Charles Horne said it has been ascertained that the residue did not come from the city sanitary sewer system.

Some fish in the Tar River seemed to be in distress, but apparently it did not reach too far out in the river, so the main trouble appears to be confined to Green Mill Run, Stan Taylor of the Air and Water Resources said. Investigation is continuing, he added.

Winter Strains Power

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bitter-cold weather numbed almost the entire nation from the Rockies to the Appalachians today, causing more hardship in snow-laden areas of the Plains and a heavy drain on power supplies in the Southwest.

Temperatures dropped well below zero from Nevada, Utah and New Mexico to the central Midwest. Readings in many cases failed to rise above zero throughout Tuesday.

Highway crews in Nebraska and Iowa carried into a fourth day their struggle to free roads of drifts from a weekend storm that brought 10 to 20 inches of snow.

The storm and its effects were blamed for 33 deaths in the two states, most from heart attacks while shoveling snow.

Many residential streets in Omaha remained closed, and Public Works Director Gene G. Jordan said it would be Friday before some could be cleared.

In Des Moines, United Air Lines said Tuesday up to 15,000 persons were waiting to fly out, many from a storm-caused backlog built up while airports were closed. The airline said it hoped to clear the backlog today.

Most major highways through Iowa were open, but many secondary roads and city streets remained closed.

Continuing subzero cold caused a heavy drain on power supplies in sections of Utah and New Mexico.

Rural Water System Receives Loan, Grant

WATER SUPPLY LOAN . . . Paul Bailey, director of the Pitt FHA office; R. E. Jones Jr., president of the Bell Arthur

Corporation; and James T. Johnson, Farmers Home Administration state director with $140,000 FHA loan check.

The Bell Arthur Corporation — an organization of residents of the Bell Arthur community — received a $140,000 loan yesterday from the Farmers Home Administration to help finance a rural community water system.

In addition to the $140,000 loan, the FHA also made a $50,000 grant to the community organization to aid in funding the project.

The loan and grant is to enable the corporation to develop a central water system designed initially to serve about 190 residents of Bell Arthur — an unincorporated community eight miles west of Greenville — and the surrounding area.

Plans call for two deep wells and pressure tanks, and the laying of 13 miles of pipeline

Most of the residents of the area now obtain their water from shallow wells.

The FHA insured loan is to be repaid in 40 years at an interest rate of five per cent. The $140,000 note was purchased by the North Carolina National Bank of Greenville.

The Bell Arthur Corporation's board of directors includes: president R. E. Jones; vice-president J. S. Flake; secretary-treasurer Glenn Strickland; and members Mrs. Doris A. Wilkerson and O. C. White.

Rural water system financing is extended through the Farmers Home Administration to organizations operating on a non-profit basis, such as non-profit corporations, water supply districts, and small rural towns. Loans are made only when adequate credit at reasonable rates and terms is not otherwise available.

Rivers and Associates, Inc. of Greenville are engineers of the project.

Contracts for construction are expected to be let to Hendrix-Barnhill Co. of Greenville within the next few days.

Meet Thursday

RALEIGH (AP) — The East Carolina University Board of Trustees is scheduled to meet Thursday to consider Gov. Bob Scott's proposal to restructure higher education in North Carolina.

Consider Ban On Air Guns

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

FARMVILLE — Town Commissioners are considering the adoption of an ordinance to prohibit the firing of any air guns inside the city limits.

This action is needed, they said, because street lights continue to be shot by vandals. This destruction has cost the town about $100 a month for the past several months. Most of the lights destroyed are mercury vapor lights, which cost $7.33 apiece plus the time and labor required to remove the old ones and replace them. Their being broken is also a health and safety hazard because of the mercury vapor and ultraviolet rays emitted when they are broken. Parents of those at fault were warned of the danger and the needless expense to the town's taxpayers.

The Board said it will recommend that the State Highway Commission make the area around the South Main Street-Anderson Avenue intersection three lanes to allow for a left turn lane into Anderson Avenue. This is an extremely busy intersection especially immediately following shift changes at the garment-making plants in the area.

The Board also voted to ask for a road to bypass Farmville on the west side linking Highways 264 and 258.

Arch Flanagan appeared asking for an endorsement of the Soil and Water Conservation project for this five-county region. The endorsement was given.

W. H. "Puddin'" Tyson appeared asking for a taxi license. The license was granted contingent upon the approval of the police chief.

The possible dedication of a dirt street next to Ellis' Garage and Junk Yard was discussed. The town attorney will be asked to check on whether such action may be taken.

An ordinance was considered to require that persons knocking out curbs to install driveways put the driveways in immediately to prevent erosion.

Fire Chief H. P. Norman reported that a condemned house on West Cotton Street was burned to accomplish its destruction and provide practice for the town's volunteer department. He asked permission to appoint a maintenance man to replace fireman Bobby Joyner, who has accepted the Pitt County Fire Marshall's position. This permission was granted, along with approval of

A luncheon meeting is planned each month by the sustaining group, who are involving themselves with working with provisional members in the Service League.

Mrs. Garrett reported the purchase of Christmas gifts for a child recommended by Social Services, as directed by the Service League.

"PROBLEM CHILD?"

Do you consider your child a "problem child" because he resists going to bed? Would it help you to know that about 66 percent of children, particularly during ages two to four, do resist rest?

Why do little children hate to go to bed and often climb out of bed? It may be that they just aren't sleepy! Check the actual amount of time they sleep in 24 hours. You may be expecting them to sleep too much of the time. Children also differ as to the amount of sleep they need.

Or it could be that they have played too hard just before bedtime and find it hard to settle down. Read him a story before bed, dad, instead of rough-housing with him.

Still another reason might be that there's too much going on in the house and the child just doesn't want to miss out. Or perhaps they're asking for some of your attention which you have been unable to give them during the day.

Stop and ask yourself why your child doesn't like to go to bed. Happily to bed—without threats and tears—is more apt to mean peacefully to sleep.

Violent Note— Be More Loving

LONDON (WNS) — The Baroness Masham of Ilton, speaking from her wheelchair to illustrious Englishwoman of 1970 at a Savoy luncheon declared that mothers and wives can curb world violence by being more loving at home! "Peace starts where you are," she insisted. "The love of the family is the only solution. It must go out to all mankind." Joan Hall, a lady member of Parliament, agreed but added that peace is not always easy. "I must admit, for instance, that I always feel like clouting people who remain seated during the National Anthem," she said.

Reader Comments On Mercy Killing

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In all that I have read concerning the subject of "mercy killing" I have yet to find what seems to me to be the most obvious answer.

Are not all those who are lying sick and helpless in their old age atoning for their past sins, and thus meriting heaven when they die? And by the same token, are not those caring for the sick ones [especially their relatives] securing for themselves a place in heaven?

And regarding putting suffering animals out of their misery, how can one compare humans to animals? An animal has no soul, and for an animal, death is final. However, humans do have souls, and the way we meet and bear up under life's trials and difficulties (especially incurable illnesses) will decide our fate in the hereafter. People today try to deny the fact of heaven and hell, and thus we've strayed so far from the basic truths.

DEAR SANTA: You have a right to your opinion, but I couldn't disagree with you more! Come "Judgment Day," I believe we will be judged not on how we suffered and died, but how we have treated our fellow men and lived.

DEAR ABBY: May I comment on a letter written by the parents of a 19-year-old boy who wants to marry a girl who has had spinal surgery and is now an "invalid?"

Just who is the "invalid" in this case? Since when does a physical disability devalue or eliminate all other mental and emotional capabilities?

Those parents, perhaps out of lack of understanding, are snobs. Their son shows more promise as a considerate human being than they do.

My seventh child was born three months after I was paralyzed from the waist down. [I suffered a spinal cord injury.] The rest of my life will be spent in a wheelchair. I have no bladder or bowel control and I am never without pain. My physical sex life is dead. My age is 46.

I am one of the luckier ones. Quadraplegics have a greater hell to live with. What is most difficult for me to endure is not my physical disabilities, but those who insist on judging me not on what I have—but on what I have left. Give me reevaluation—not pity.

I head my own household, have taken a foster son, drive my own car, do my own cleaning, cooking and shopping, and am going to college full-time. I go regularly to the V. A. hospital to visit the spinal cord ward, which is an oasis of the true meaning of life's real value in this sea of human disabled men—not invalids.

There is a myopia in today's society. Too many people judge others by their physical appearances and capabilities. Please print this letter, Abby. It's long overdue for those parents and many like them.

Little Choice But To Clean Up

Gov. Scott has wisely recognized 1970 as "the year of our environment" in his review talk of Monday.

"The costs to clean up our physical environment... will be high, but I believe we can bear them," he reported to the people of North Carolina.

"Actually we have little choice in the matter," he declared "We must bear the costs if we are to bequeath to future generations any semblance of a livable environment."

1970 was "the year of Earth Day, of corn blight, of the fish kills in Hyde County waters and in the Yadkin River, of severe flooding in Western North Carolina.

"It was the year of three children dying apparently from parathion poisoning, of mercury being found in some of our streams, of nerve gas being moved by train across the southern border of our state to Sunny Point and then by ship out into the Atlantic."

The governor's concern for environment and the things that are affecting it in North Carolina gives hope that in our state we may have tackled the problem in time to avoid the wafer and air pollution problems that are strangling many areas today.

Perhaps we will end the pollution of the air by smoke stacks, outside burning auto exhaust before the sun is virtually blotted out by their residue.

We know that even now there is some pollution of our waterways which is affecting sea life, but perhaps if we are concerned enough we can halt, and even reverse, this process before our rivers and coastal waters are ruined.

The governor noted that there appeared to be a slowing down in population growth to be seen in the 1970 census figures. He correctly recognized that this is a good trend.

"North Carolina does not need its cities to become gigantic, overpopulated, urban jungles," he declared.

This is something we must all recognize. While more population means more votes, it also means more wastes to dispose of and, thus, more environmental problems.

North Carolina needs good sound economic growth, but it needs it without the pollution that has characterized so many industrial areas of the nations and it needs it without a population glut which creates insurmountable planning problems.

Gov. Scott has shown that he is fully aware that protection of the environment is perhaps the most important thing facing North Carolina today. With adequate leadership we can keep what nature has given us and provide the very best in living conditions for all our citizens.

Daily Bulletin For Lawmaker

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Daily sessions of House and Senate, producing bundles of bills written in obtuse legalese. Messages from the Governor, and wordy reports from study commissions. Legislative committees meeting at odd and conflicting hours.

How in the world can the poor legislator keep up with what's going on?

Easy. He reads the daily bulletin from the Institute of Government.

The Institute's staff at the State House keeps tabs on the legislative scene. They analyze bills introduced each day, compile the actions taken on the floor and in committees, digest messages and reports, and keep current a General Assembly calendar.

Each morning the bulletin is on the lawmaker's desk, an indispensable aid for the work of the day.

Turning out the bulletin is the task of a four-man team headed by Milton S. Heath, Jr., the Institute's associate director. He has preparations well along for the '71 session which will be his fourth in the job.

A Working Partnership
Producing the bulletin is only one phase of the working partnership between the General Assembly and the Institute of Government, a part of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

"The Institute seeks to put the capacities of the University at the service of state and local government," explained Director John L. Sanders. In the legislative sphere, that involves research and consultant functions both for study commissions and legislative committees, as well as assistance for the lawmakers themselves in understanding and fulfilling their jobs.

A two-day orientation session for '71 lawmakers at the Institute headquarters in Chapel Hill early last month served as the prelude for the session which convenes in Raleigh on January 13.

Governor Bob Scott joined the Institute as co-sponsor for the orientation event, being held for the third time as a means to acquaint newcomers with the legislative process. Testimony to the beneficial nature of the conferences was the large number of experienced legislators attending.

Further preparation for those embarking on General Assembly service includes a handbook prepared by the Institute (now in its third revision) which details the workings of the legislature. Origins in '35

The partnership of the Institute and the legislature dates back to the 1935 session, less than a half-dozen years after Professor Albert Coates brought to reality a dream with the establishment of the Institute.

Among '71 legislators, only the real veterans such as Senator Claude Currie of Durham (whose first term was in '27) or Senator Julian Allsbrook of Halifax (whose debut also was in '35) know that a session is like without the Institute's assistance.

Strict impartiality is the rule for the Institute staff in the role of consultant to study commissions and legislative committees. "We work hard at it," said Sanders. Sometimes it's difficult, he acknowledged, to avoid expressing an opinion in a close working relationship.

At the same time, he added, "It is our function to help collect information, to analyze problems, to identify solutions. It is up to the committee or study commission to make decisions and recommend action."

While it looms large during the session, the Institute's services to the legislature represents only part of its mission; not necessarily the most important part.

More-Liberal Trend Sighted

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Significant steps toward reforming the troublesome, logjam — producing Senate Finance Committee are coming with the assignment of Senators considerably more liberal and more responsive to party leadership than its present membership.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, the liberal Republican from Illinois, seems sure to get on the committee. Moreover, one of two activist liberal Democrats — Sens. Walter Mondale of Minnesota and Thomas Eagleton of Missouri — definitely will become a member, and it's possible both will make it.

Such a liberal transfusion would end a steady drift rightward for two decades by the Finance Committee while the rest of the Senate moved left. Repelled by the Finance Committee's unglamorous detail work and authoritarian control by its chairman, liberals of both parties have abandoned the vital, tax-writing committee to Senators attuned to business lobbying interests.

The trend climaxed the last two years. The committee's two Republicans most responsive to national interests (the late Everett Dirksen and the retired Thruston B. Morton) were replaced by two vastly more parochial conservatives (Paul Fannin of Arizona and Clifford Hansen of Wyoming). A Democratic vacancy was filled by rigidly conservative Sen. Harry F. Byrd, Jr., of Virginia before liberals even thought about it.

With its few liberal members suffocated, the Finance Committee ignored the leaders of both parties on welfare reform, foreign trade, and tax questions and was largely responsible for the 1970 session-end logjam. From that has stemmed the sudden interest by liberals to invade this conservative redoubt.

Percy seems assured of breaking the conservative monopoly on Republican seats. He is privately backed by Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott and the White House is delighted at the prospect of one genuine proponent of President Nixon's welfare reform plan on the committee.

Democratic handling of two vacancies on the committee is more complicated. Mondale prefers the Appropriations Committee but may have to yield there to his fellow Minnesota Democrat newly returned to the Senate, Hubert H. Humphrey. If so, Mondale would ask for Finance.

Besides Mondale and Eagleton, applicants for the Finance Committee are Mike Gravel of Alaska and possibly Lloyd Bentsen of Texas — neither exactly bomb-throwing liberals on economic questions. The conservative-leaning Senate Democratic steering committee, which fills committee assignments, will likely balk at the strict adherence to seniority that would put both Mondale and Eagleton on the committee.

Whatever happens, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana as chairman will maintain overpowering influence inside the committee. But new members of the Percy-Mondale-Eagleton stripe would actively challenge that authority.

Pucinski for Integration

While liberals sat on their hands, President Nixon's bill for $1.5 billion in school desegregation aid for the South was raised from the dead and passed by the House Dec. 21, thanks to a push by a Chicago Democrat best known as a foe of school integration: Rep. Roman Pucinski.

Pucinski, chairman of the House education subcommittee which approved the Nixon program, became convinced of its need. He even gave up attending, as a member of the Cook County (Chicago) Democratic executive committee, Mayor Richard J. Daley's announcement for a fifth term in Chicago Dec. 17 because the bill was scheduled for floor action that day.

Understandably, then, Pucinski was miffed when the bill was postponed, partly because of a surprise party for retiring Speaker John McCormack given by fellow Massachusetts Democrats. He was furious four days later when the House Democratic leadership was about to delay the bill again — a tacit death sentence.

That's when Pucinski, normally a non-rebellious regular, lobbied the leaders: how can Democrats smother this proposal when they are haranguing President Nixon for insufficient interest in education? More to the political point, he strongly suggested to Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, House majority

Strength For Today

KEEP THE FLAG FLYING
One of the bravest exploits in modern history was the defense of Ladysmith. For one hundred and nineteen days Sir George White defended the city against the Boers. As the British commander who raised the siege marched into the city, General White met him with the salutation, "Thank God, we have kept the flag flying!"

It is always a glad day when a man can say that. If, in spite of every attack, he has kept the flag flying, he has indeed won a victory. How has it been with you? When every conceivable annoyance and trouble has assailed the citadel of your heart, have you kept the flag flying? Have you endured the assaults of temptation without pulling down the banner of purity? Have you done what you knew was right, in spite of ridicule and the criticism of the social group in which you move? Has your flag of honesty still continued to wave when other men were resorting to sharp practices in the business world?

About all Sir George White could do at Ladysmith was to keep the flag flying, but he did that to the glory of the British Empire. And sometimes about all you and I can do is to keep the flag flying to the glory of God and righteousness.

By ART BUCHWALD

The Crime Of Passion

WASHINGTON — As detective Peter Minderman stared at the color television set in the simple living room of the Socalaw house, he was baffled.

The body of Artie Socalaw was still in the same chair where he had died. All the suspects in the case were also in the living room. There was Artie's wife Emma, and Artie's best friends: George Stevens Jr., Chuck McDermott, Sam Markay and Tony Valenti.

"All right," said detective Minderman, "let's start from the beginning. You guys began watching pro football two days ago on Saturday at noon, right in this living room."

"That's correct," said Stevens. "Then suddenly Sunday night, somewhere during the third quarter of the Raider game, we noticed there was something wrong with Artie. We waited until the game ended at 7 and then went over to his chair. He was dead."

"You can imagine what a shock this was, coming after the 49ers' defeat of the Minnesota Vikings," Chuck McDermott added.

"But," said detective Minderman, "the coroner said Artie had been dead for 24 hours. How come no one discovered it before then?"

"Well," said Sam Markay, "Artie was always quiet when he watched a pro football game. He wasn't one of these guys who holler and shout after each play. So when he didn't say anything for 24 hours, we figured he was just suffering because Dallas beat the Detroit Lions."

"When you're watching pro football on TV," said Tony Valenti, "you don't notice whether people are breathing or not."

Detective Minderman looked over at Mrs. Socalaw. "When did you last see your husband alive?"

"You mean moving around and that sort of thing?" Mrs. Socalaw asked. "I believe it was sometime in July before the exhibition games started. He hasn't left that chair since the Redskins played the Patriots in a pre-season game. I don't wish to dispute the coroner's report, but I thought Artie was dead three months ago."

Jan. 6, 1931

"That's not true," Stevens said. "Just before the Baltimore-Cincinnati game, Artie asked me if I wanted a piece of fruitcake."

"Fruitcake?" detective Minderman said. "Where did the fruitcake come from?"

"I made it," said Mrs. Socalaw. "I always make fruitcake during the holiday season. It helps me forget."

"Did anyone else eat the fruitcake?"

"I did," said McDermott. "No ill effects?" Minderman asked.

"None that I can tell," McDermott said. "Damn," said detective Minderman. "There goes the poisoned-fruitcake theory."

"Did he eat anything else?" Minderman asked.

"I gave him a tuna fish sandwich," McDermott said. "A what?"

"A tuna fish sandwich. You see Mrs. Socalaw refuses to feed us, so we each bring our own food. This time my wife made me a tuna fish sandwich."

"But don't you know what's going on with tuna-fish?"

Things Coming In '71

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — What lies ahead in 1971?

Well, it won't all be fun. A glance into the old crystal ball suggests that what this year may well need most is a good cheerleader.

On the economic front, the picture is somewhat cloudy. Look for these things to happen:

The rich will look gloomy and make their yachts last another year in order not to flaunt their wealth. The poor will look less hopeful and become more grievous. And the middle class, the backbone of the nation; will go through the wringer even more, although for years it has felt as squeezed as a fat lady in a phone booth.

People who get a pay hike will find it wiped out as the price of steak and love nests goes up. Those who don't get a raise will get healthier and lose weight as they find themselves less able to afford to eat so high on the hog.

More popcorn will be popped in the home as folks watch clean old movies on television because they can't ante up the dough to see naughty new movies in the film houses.

The government will promise to live within a miniskirt budget but will wind up with a maxiskirt one, as usual.

On the international political front:

From Indonesia more and more U.S. soldiers will be sent home suffering from drug addiction and fewer and fewer with

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

James S. Ficklen, prominent tobaccoist and a leading figure in the business and industrial life of the community, told members of the Rotary Club last night that the power plant is one of Greenville's greatest assets. Mr. Ficklen spoke on the subject "What Does the Water and Light Commission Do With Its Money?" He cited the great improvements which have been made in the local plant during the last few years declaring that they gave Greenville one of the best and most serviceable plants in this part of the state.

The drought relief bill has been passed by the Congress and in a few days the appropriation will become available in various parts of the country. Unaffected by the drought to any considerable extent, North Carolina farmers will receive only a small amount from the measure. Although hard hit by the drought, farmers have been raising more of the things consumed at home therefore not at the mercy or fluctuating prices for the money crops.

The conference season of Greenville High School will open tonight under the direction of Billy Brown, director of athletics at the high school.

Seeking An FTC Ban On Spiffs

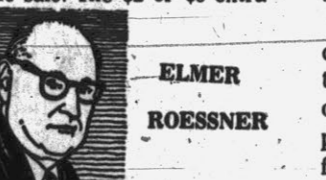

By ELMER ROESSNER
If it hadn't been for spiffs, I might not be as chubby as I am today. In fact, I might not have gotten through childhood.

Spiffs, or "push money," or "P.M.s," are premiums paid to salespeople for selling certain merchandise. Originally, they were largely confined to payments by stores to salespeople for selling slow-moving or stagnant merchandise.

My father was a shoe salesman and his employer often "put spiffs" on certain pairs of shoes. They were slow-moving styles, and the salesmen would get 25 or 50 cents for every pair they sold. My dad became an expert on selling spiffs. He knew how to fit shoes, and if a pair was comfortable on a customer, it bothered not his conscience that there was a two-bit spiff riding on it.

One time a customer asked Dad, "It fits well, but is it really in style?" My father said he replied, "Son, that's a real spiff! You couldn't buy anything spiffier!" and made the sale. The $2 or $3 extra that Dad made in a week made sure that we kids had meat instead of beans the next week.

CU Would Ban Them
The spiff idea has spread. Now manufacturers as well as store-owners offer spiffs to salespersons for selling their products. They are common in television sets, radios, large and small appliances, bedspreads, curtains, mattresses, cosmetics, housewares and other items. And they are no longer two-bit or four-bit items, they can run from $2 to $5 and sometimes more.

A few years ago there was a considerable ruckus in the trade as to whether store-owners should permit employees to accept push money from suppliers and whether by doing so employers lost control over employees. An employer who took a 40 per cent markup on a sofa might have cause for anger if a salesman pushed another sofa that carried only a 35 per cent markup because the manufacturer paid a $4 spiff on its sale.

Dispute Dies Down
The dispute died down. The practice continues. Now the Consumers Union is demanding that the Federal Trade Commission outlaw push money. It calls the practice "bribery."

I suppose the CU is right. When a customer asks a salesman's opinion of two similar products, whether they be shoes or ice boxes, the buyer ought to expect an answer based on honesty, not on the size of the spiff.

A salesman who assures a customer that one television receiver is better than another not because of its performance but because he wants to make a few dollars for himself is corrupt. The FTC should prohibit spiffs, push money and P.M.s.

Still, I hope that no little tyke goes hungry because his dad can't make a bit of money for table meat.

'Sonny' Liston Is Found Dead

By MORTON L. SALTZMAN
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Charles "Sonny" Liston was found dead by his wife in their luxurious desert home Tuesday night. Authorities said he may have been dead a week.

Geraldine Liston found her 38-year-old husband's body lying across a cushioned bench and their bed in the master bedroom of their $60,000 home, Clark County sheriff's deputies said.

Li. Bud Gregg said today there was no suspicion of foul play. An autopsy was ordered to determine the cause of death.

Liston's ring career spanned the years 1953-1970. Once considered the strongest of all heavyweights, he won boxing's most cherished crown with a stunning first-round knockout of Floyd Patterson in Chicago on Sept. 25, 1962.

Liston defended his title twice. He knocked out Patterson in another one-round victory and then lost the crown in a seven-round defeat by Cassius Clay, now known as Muhammad Ali, Feb. 25, 1964.

Gregg said Liston apparently was undressing to go to bed when he flopped straight back with such force that a rail of the bench was broken. He was wearing shorts and a T-shirt.

Gregg said other clothes were found nearby and that an unfired pistol in a holster was on the dresser in the upstairs bedroom. A fingernail file was on the bed under Liston's 6-foot-1 body.

are designed for the in-service training of elected and appointed officials — state, county, and municipal — including mayors, councilmen, city managers and department heads, city and county fiscal officials, law enforcement personnel at both state and local levels, and many other groups.

Between legislative sessions, the Institute and its staff remains occupied with issues destined for decision in the General Assembly. Staff services are provided study commissions under varied arrangements, ranging for occasional consultant to full-time director.

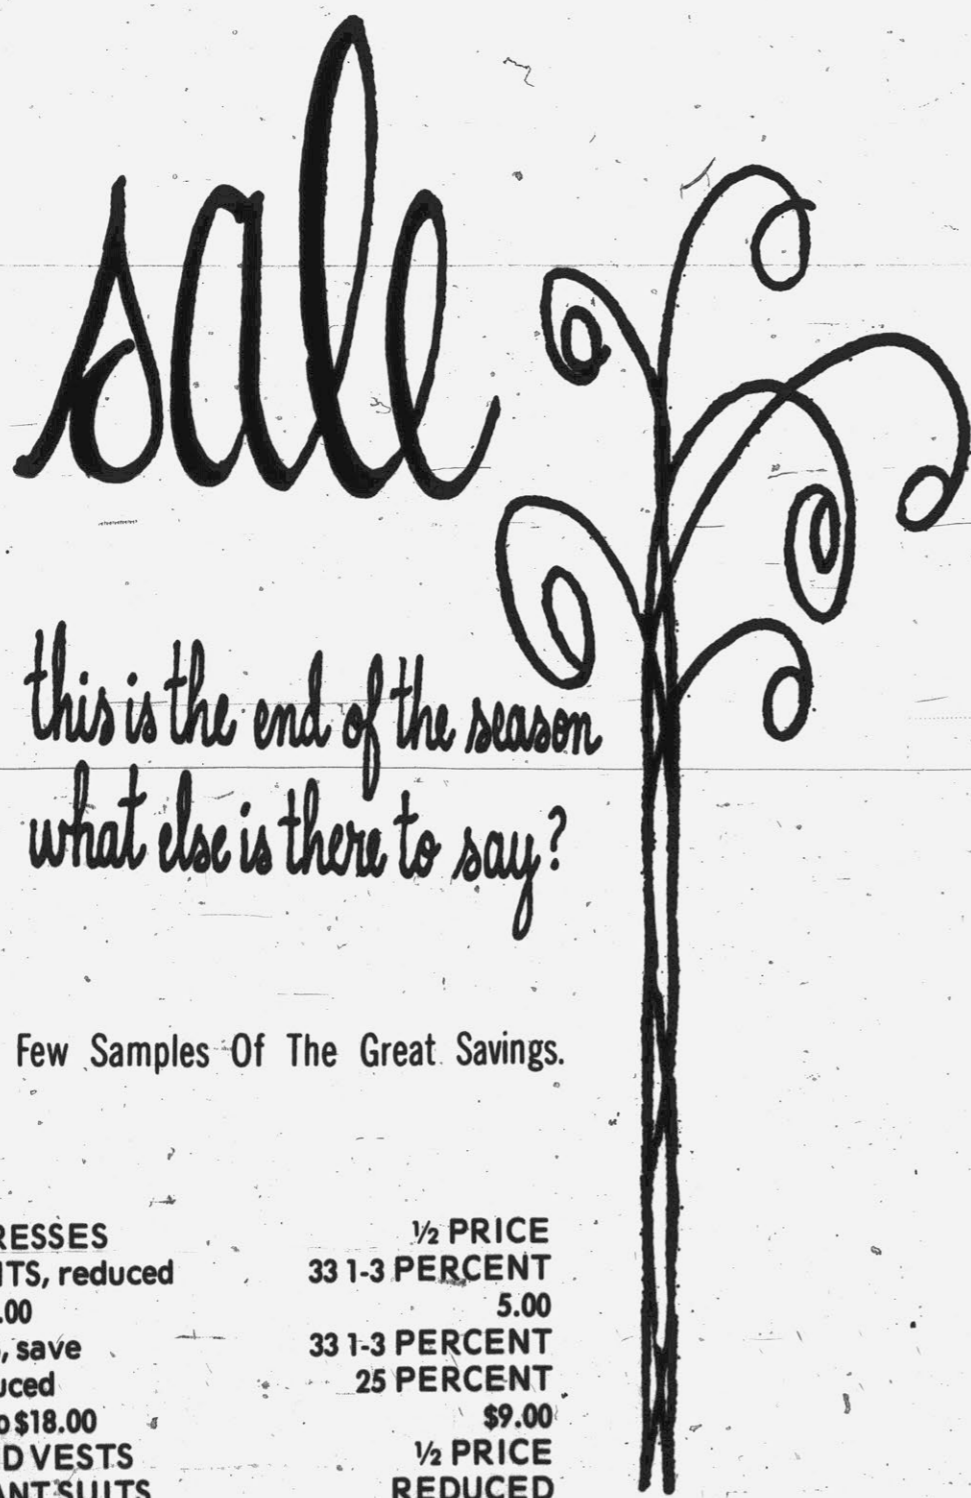

Still, the most visible Institute service is the daily legislative bulletin. Many lawmakers cheerfully admit they couldn't get along without it, and news media personnel and others scan it closely.

Put Them In Special Classes And 'Call Them Dumb'

By DAVID E. ANDERSON
WASHINGTON (UPI) —The senator leaned across his desk in the hearing room and admitted to the four Puerto Ricans, students and nonstudents, that he could only dimly understand their bilingual dilemma.

"Well, senator, it's like this," said Frank Negron, a former student and now community organizer—speaking in English and then slipping into rapid Spanish.

A sheepish smile crossed Sen. Walter Mondale's face and he replied, "I think I'm beginning to understand."

The Minnesota senator's reaction to a language he does not understand is played out daily in hundreds of school classrooms throughout the United States as Spanish-speaking children struggle to get an education in a system pegged almost exclusively to English.

Minority Hearings
For three days recently Mondale's Select Committee on Equal Educational Opportunity took testimony from Puerto Rican educators, community organizers, parents and pupils on the state of educational opportunity for the nation's Puerto Rican minority.

The results indicate, in Mondale's words, that we have "a national scandal."

For the Puerto Rican parents it's much more personal. They know their children aren't being educated and face a 50 per cent dropout rate. They also face a future of unskilled jobs and a street life haunted by drug addiction and unemployment.

One witness, now head of an Illinois educational agency, testified that she was once given an official intelligence quotient (IQ) of 20. The average IQ is between 90 and 110.

Armando Martinez, who holds a master's degree from Harvard, said, "I was kept in classes with mentally retarded children until I was 13 years old."

Mondale commented: "They put them in special classes and call them dumb. That way they can say the school system didn't fail—that the children failed."

The charge is that the public school system insists on trying to impose an alien language—English—on elementary school children before they have learned to read or write in Spanish.

The committee also was told that the school system unwittingly is attempting to strip Puerto Rican children of their cultural heritage. Sylvia Herrera-Fox, Chicago director of Aspira Foundation called it "a monolithic assault on the psyche of our students."

New York, where between 20 and 25 per cent of the students are Puerto Ricans, was cited as perhaps the ultimate example of the tragedy.

New York has 55,000 teachers, of whom only 350 are Puerto Rican. The city has 1,000 guidance counselors, 10 of them Puerto Rican. Of the city's 1,700 assistant principals only 10 are Puerto Rican. Of the city's 950 principals, four are Puerto Rican, all of them in an "acting" classification, according to Dr. Evelina Antonetty, executive director of the United Bronx Parents.

In consequence, "Although 25 per cent of the public school students are Puerto Rican," only 3 per cent of the public school students are Puerto Rican," only 3 per cent of them received academic diplomas from our city high schools last year," Dr. Antonetty said.

Witnesses' Recommendations
To change this, the witnesses recommended:

—An increase in federal funds for bilingual and bicultural programs. Last year, they said, congress appropriated $7.5 million for all bilingual education programs despite estimates that at least $40 million would be needed even to begin adequate funding.

—Appointment of a Puerto Rican at the assistant commissioner level in the Office of Education. Again and again, witnesses stressed their frustrations because there was no one there to represent their interests in the federal bureaucracy.

—Direct funding of local community organizations and school districts for educational and bilingual projects coupled with a close look at the way federal education funds are used in New York City.

lary blunt about what Congress could be doing in terms of funding.

"As long as the money continues to go from the federal government to the Board of Education bureaucracy which has miseducated our children for all these years, the money is wasted," Dr. Antonetty said.

"That bureaucracy is biased against our educators and equally blind about our children. The federal government must stop subsidizing this bungling, biased bureaucracy. You must give our communities a chance to educate our children" she said.

Board Wants More Poor

CHARLOTTE (AP) — The North Carolina Board of Higher Education wants to get more students from poor families to go on to college.

The director, Dr. Cameron West, says the board hopes to recommend a broad program of student aid to the next legislature.

He talked about the long-sought goal during a visit to Charlotte Tuesday.

Only 24 per cent of North Carolinians aged 18 to 21 go on to college, compared with a national average of 41 per cent.

Furthermore, half of the Tar Heels who do go to college come from families with incomes in the top 25 per cent in the state. Only 7 per cent are from families whose incomes are within the bottom 25 per cent.

Dr. West said this is true for whites as well as blacks.

In 1969 the board asked the legislature to commission a study of the problem. Dr. West said the study is nearing completion. A study group staffed by the board is scheduled to report next month.

Legality Of Indictments Is Under A Cloud

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Solicitor Thomas F. Moore Jr., has doubts about the legality of the indictments by the Mecklenburg County Grand Jury for the last six months.

This is because a member during that period, a man from Huntersville, has been found to be unqualified because in 1948 he had been sentenced for manslaughter. He pleaded no contest to the felony charge and was given a suspended sentence. He has been taken off the grand jury.

The solicitor said he would seek from the state attorney general's office an opinion on whether the grand jury will have to reconsider indictments issued since July 7.

On conviction of a felony a person loses certain rights of citizenship, such as the right to vote and the right to sit on a grand jury. He must petition Superior Court to have his rights reinstated. The Huntersville man said he had not done so.

Albert Gore To Be A Professor

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Albert Gore, a Democrat who lost his Senate seat in the November election, will become a part-time professor of public affairs next month at Vanderbilt University.

He told newsmen before departing for a Florida vacation Tuesday he also would begin a book dealing with the office of president and the 1972 elections.

Gore, defeated after 32 years in Congress, said, "There is an old Scotch-Irish saying, 'Don't get mad, just get even.' I have a score to settle with Mr. Nixon, Agnew and Sen. Howard Baker."

During the campaign, Agnew called Gore "Southern regional chairman of the Eastern-liberal establishment."

Baker is a Tennessee Republican.

Date Is Set For Consolidation

CHARLOTTE (AP)—A date of Aug. 15, 1972, has been set for consolidation of the Charlotte and Mecklenburg County governments.

The merger hinges on voter approval of the consolidation charter. The referendum is to be held next March, with the exact date to be set.

Break-Ins Resulted In Arrests

Pitt County Deputies have made several arrests in connection with a series of break-ins and larcenies that occurred during the latter months of 1970. The investigation of a breaking-entering and larceny at the Trading Post on Grimesland Highway on Nov. 12 led to the arrest of James Brown of 1813 Norcott Circle, Donald Rouse of 1809 Kennedy Circle, and Evelyn Adams of Rt. 5, Greenville.

The three, along with a fourth person, are also charged in connection with an earlier break-in at the store on Oct. 9. Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Lonnie Ray Adkinson of Rt. 4 has been arrested on the Oct. 9 charge. Evelyn Adams, Rouse and Brown have been charged with two break-ins at Paul Davenport's Store at Pactolus Highway on Oct. 9 and Oct. 29. In addition, the same three have also been charged in connection with a Nov. 12 breaking - entering and larceny at Raymond Clark's Service Station on the Pactolus Highway and an incident on the same night at Glisson Rebuilders, also on Pactolus Highway.

Sheriff Tyson said that all of the persons charged with the break-ins are under $1,500 bond on each of the counts. A hearing, he added, has been scheduled for Jan. 19 in District Court here.

Evelyn Adams, Rouse and Brown were arrested on Jan. 2 while Adkinson was apprehended on Jan. 3. Investigation of the break-ins is continuing.

Sheriff Tyson said that Kenneth Lloyd of Greenville has been arrested in connection with a recent break-in and larceny at Roland Stocks Store at Hams Crossroads.

Lloyd, who is out on $1,400 bond, was apprehended on Jan. 4 on charges of possessing a sawed off shotgun, fireworks, a gambling device and receiving stolen property, the Sheriff said.

Farmville Bd.

(Continued From Page 3) a request to allow the Fire Department secretary, William E. "Bud" Wooten to purchase an adding machine for the departmental use. The need for a movie projector for training purposes in the police, water and light, and other town departments was discussed, but no action was taken.

A request by W. E. Fulford for the town to provide water lines to a subdivision he is just beginning to develop on Highway 264 some 1.2 miles east of Marlboro was discussed. Fulford has proposed to assist the town in paying for the water line rather than put down wells; yet the town would have the revenue from the sale of water and the future residents of the subdivision would be better served. The Board agreed to meet with Fulford and later with Pitt and Green Electric Membership Corporation to discuss the provision of electric service to this and other areas adjacent to the city limits.

Police Chief Brooks Oakley was requested to warn service station and garage operators against dumping oil in storm sewers.

EXTENDED WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR N.C.
Rain likely Friday. Continued Cloudy with chance of rain again Sunday. The weekend is expected to be cold.

RICHMOND — The East Carolina University Pirates snapped their five game road losing streak last night, and appropriately it came against the team that started it all back last year, Richmond.

The Bucs had to put on some strong play, however, to pull it off, as they rebounded from 18 points down in the first half to pull out a 79-63 victory.

The win was their first Southern Conference victory in two starts, and left them in a tie with The Citadel for third place in the conference behind surprise leader Furman, 2-0, and Davidson, 3-1, the second place team.

The Bucs started their five-game losing streak in the Southern Conference tournament last year, when seventh-place Richmond surprised them in the opening round of the event.

And for a while, it looked like each added 10 points for the Bucs.

Bob Jacobs led Richmond with 30 points, while Jeff Snider had 10.

Franklin came off the bench to do yeoman's duty for the Bucs, canning 14 points in the final 15 minutes of play to lead the pullaway.

The Bucs burned up the nets in the period, hitting on 71.4 per cent to give them a 53.8 mark for the game.

The Pirates, after playing VMI on Saturday, return home on Wednesday of next week, playing Old Dominion.

Phil Bushkar broke the ice for Richmond with 15:55 left, ending their 11 minute famine from the scoreboard, but the Spiders back had been broken, as the Bucs slowly pulled away from there, leading by as much as 20 points, 79-59, in the closing seconds of the game.

Al Faber started things off with a bucket and Terry David followed with a couple.

During the first half, the Spiders had been redhot until the final seven minutes, ending up with a 56 percentage from the floor.

When the Pirates came back on the floor at halftime, they continued their hot hands, hitting 10 more in a row before Richmond finally broke the ice again.

Faber then canned a short jumper to give the Bucs a 39-38 lead with 17:08 left.

Rocky Mount Rallies To Defeat Rose

Oak City Gains 62-57 Victory Over Conley Vikings In Overtime

WINTERVILLE — Oak City High School rallied in the final period to force a tie with D. H. Conley, then pulled away in the overtime to win, 62-57 last night. In the girls contest, Oak City also was the victor, 37-23.

Conley inched out into a 13-12 lead in the first period of play, but neither team was able to build up any advantage in the second frame. Both teams scored 13 points in the frame, and Conley led, 26-25 at halftime.

In the third quarter, Conley managed to put a little daylight into its lead, outscoring Oak City, 16-12. But in the final period, the Trojans came back and spurred into the lead. From the 42-37 deficit at the start of the period, Oak City shot out into a 51-45 lead. Conley fought back, however, and Dwight Hawkins put in a rebound as the horn sounded, tying it at 51-51.

Oak City shot away in the overtime, hitting six straight points, with William Raynor, who got all of his points in the second half, finished with 20, while Melvin Duggins had an equal amount. Donnie Duggins added 11. Hawkins had 18 and William Roundtree had 11 for Conley.

In the third period, neither team was able to move on the other, as both dumped in 12 points. That left it at 49-39 as the final frame opened. South Ayden could cut only one point from the lead in the quarter, outscoring Conetoe, 17-16, and it wasn't enough.

Rose High School's inability to hit from the foul line cost them an upset of Rocky Mount High School last night. But instead of winning, the Rampants fell in an overtime, 65-62.

Rose went to the line eight times in the final period, and converted only one time. Twice more they got to the line in the overtime, and failed to make good on either of these chances.

And that was all Rocky Mount needed to rally from as much as 10 points down and take the victory. It was the second straight Eastern 4-A, Division II loss for the Rampants, and their third straight after winning their opening four.

Rose had taken the lead early in the second period and held it right up to the end when Rocky Mount finally caught up. Allen Whichard was one of the chief reasons for the big Rose lead, as he constantly cleared the boards of loose balls for the Rampants, and added 16 points to be the high scorer for the team.

Rocky Mount got the opening points as Sherlock Bynum hit on a rebound. Rose tied it up on two free throws by Whichard, but Rocky Mount got a bucket by Cleveland Howard and a free throw by him to run out to a three-point edge, 5-2. Rose came back and tied it up again as Whichard hit a jumper and Al Hunter made a free throw.

But for the rest of the first period, the Gryphons were in command. Howard put them into a two-point lead again, and Dan Speight hit to make it four. From there Rocky Mount slowly built up two more points to the lead, the last coming on a free throw by Speight to make it 16-10 with 31 seconds left. Lonnie Payton hit on a rebound with six seconds left, however, and cut the lead to 16-12 at the end of the period.

Payton hit two free throws early in the second period and then got a jumper with 6:43 left to tie the score at 16-16. Rocky Mount went back out on a jumper by Lewis Hardy, but Rocky Mount refused to give up. Payton then canned a baseline jumper to put Rose into the lead for the first time, 20-18. Mike Long tied it for Rocky Mount, but Whichard hit two free throws and Tommy Williams hit a jumper, and Jimmy Hagans followed with a bucket to run the Rose edge out to six, 28-22 with 1:41 left in the half.

Rocky Mount got two free throws by Long and a bucket by him with 1:08 left to cut the lead back to two, but Ed Johnson and Hagans each hit to run it back to six, and the Rampants, held a 34-28 lead at the intermission.

Kear hit early in the third period to run the lead to eight, but again Rocky Mount cut it back, this time to four, as Long hit twice. Kear got a rebound, however, and Carlton Daniels hit from the baseline to run the lead back to eight. The two swapped points until Rose edged it out to nine at 47-38 with 59 seconds left, but the margin fell off to 49-42 as Hardy hit just before the horn.

Rose went back out by nine at 54-45 with 4:30 left, and it appeared they might pull it off, but they went cold right there, getting only four more points the rest of regulation time. Long, meanwhile became a one-man army for Rocky Mount, pouring in seven points in the period to lead the charge. He hit a jumper and a free throw to cut it to six. Howard hit on a jumper and Long canned another to cut it to two. Hagans hit for Rose to make it 56-52 with 2:49 left, but Rocky Mount refused to give up. Howard and Long each hit again, tying it at 56-56 with 1:36 to go. Then, after Whichard hit with 56 seconds left, Bynum hit a pair of free throws with 19 seconds left to send the game into overtime as it was tied at 58-58 at the end of the regulation time.

In the overtime, Hagans hit to put Rose out again, but a jumper by Roscoe Batts put Rocky Mount back into a tie. Then, Long got a pair of free throws and Batts added another basket.

Rose cut the lead back to two on a jumper by Whichard, but Batts hit on the line to give Rocky Mount a three-point cushion and Rose could not hit again.

Besides Whichard's 16 points, Payton had 14 and Hagans had 12.

Long had 21 to lead Rocky Mount, while Hardy had 12 and Howard had 10.

Rose High School's junior varsity continued to roll along as the Rampant Cubs downed the Baby Gryphons, 71-65.

Rocky Mount slipped out into a 12-11 lead in the first period, but Rose got hot in the second quarter and pulled away, never to trail again. The Cubs outthit Rocky Mount, 22-15, in the period and held a 33-27 lead at halftime.

In the third period, they continued to pull away, outscoring the Gryphons by 21-7. That gave Rose a 54-44 lead. Rocky Mount managed to outscore Rose, 21-17, in the final period, but it was not enough.

James Wooten led Rose with 26 points, while J. C. Daniels had 18 and Mike Harris had 16. For Rocky Mount, Randy Warrick had 21 and Johnny Dianan had 10.

Rose is at home Friday night to play host to Raleigh's Sanderson High in a non-conference game.

Northern Nash Hands 55-50 Loss To Farmville's Red Devil Five

By BILLY EVANS
Reflector Sports Writer

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Red Devils and the Northern Nash Knights clashed last night and split a pair of games. The Farmville ladies won by the score of 44-28. Northern Nash got revenge in the boys game by defeating the Red Devils 55-50.

Farmville built a commanding lead in the first period by outscoring the Nash team 17-5. Northern Nash still couldn't find the basket in the second period and the Farmville ladies capitalized on the Nash cold shooting and added three more points to their lead. The score at the end of the first half of play stood at 27-12, Farmville's favor.

Farmville came out in the third quarter and continued to score while keeping the Nash team off the scoreboard. Farmville hit six straight points before Davis broke the ice on a free throw for Northern Nash. Nash began to warm up and they scored six points while their stubborn defense held the Farmville team to only two points for the remainder of the third period. Despite their scoring streak Nash found themselves still down by 15 at the end of the third quarter. The score at the end of the period was 35-20.

The two teams played even ball in the final period of play and when the horn sounded Farmville emerged victorious. The final score was 44-28, Farmville's favor. The leading scorers for Farmville were Jean Johnson with 18 and Patsy Flake with 15.

In the boys game it was a different story with Northern Nash coming up with the win by defeating Farmville 55-50. The Knights held off a fourth quarter rally by Farmville to take the game.

In the first quarter Northern Nash out scored the Red Devils 15-12. Northern Nash never fell behind from this point on. The Knights increased their lead to five at the end of the second period and led by the score of 30-25.

Farmville fought back in the third quarter to tie the ball game up at 39-all in the last seconds of the third period. Farmville scored three points at the beginning of the period to pull within four at 32-28. Northern Nash increased its lead to six and it stayed this way until the end of the period when Farmville made a last-minute surge to score six consecutive points while holding the Knights scoreless. Daniels had the tying basket for Farmville with nine seconds left in the third quarter to tie the game up at 39-39.

The score was tied four times in the final period before Northern Nash pulled out into a six-point lead at 52-46 with about three minutes remaining in the game. Farmville scored two baskets to pull within two at 52-50 but Jo Janner hit a couple of clutch free throws with 12 seconds remaining to put the game out of reach for Farmville. Northern Nash added one more point to their total to make the final score 55-50.

The leading scorers for Northern Nash were Joyner with 16, Dan Ennis with 13 and Sherman Coley finished up with 10. Connie Tripp hit 16 and Robert Tripp threw in 11 for Farmville.

CHOSE PRISON — Mrs. Anne Melville, 23, a Brighton, England, commuter, arrives in London in auto to begin seven-day jail sentence for refusing to pay $2.70 train fare. Mrs. Melville, a typist was riding on monthly second-class ticket from London to Brighton in December 1969 when she decided to move into first-class section because all second-class seats were taken. She offered to pay conductor 90 cents difference between first and second-class tickets but he demanded $2.70, full price of the first class fare. She lost a court battle. (AP Wirephoto)

Found Calling At Oak Ridge

By CARL A. VINES
OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (UPI)—

There's something kind of spooky about the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

The giant facility sprawls among the wooded hills of eastern Tennessee, looking harmless enough from a distance, outwardly just a big industrial complex.

But the sign-in procedures immediately remind you that mysterious things go on here. There's a special badge to monitor radiation exposure. Guards at the gates look you over with friendly suspicion. And you plunge into massive buildings with apparently endless, antiseptic corridors with security clearance notations everywhere.

There's a sense everywhere you turn of something momentous happening. And the people you meet speak a jargon that only fellow scientists with towering intellect can really understand.

So, it's kind of nice to meet someone here like Helen Mateer, a 26-year-old Canadian who doesn't seem the least bit formidable. She is, in fact, a little shy.

Science a Female Thing
"Science is a sort of female thing, anyway," Miss Mateer says. "It's a matter of curiosity, asking questions and trying to find the answers."

She isn't the least uptight about being a woman in a traditionally man's world; in fact, she appears to enjoy it. "I hope they notice I'm a girl," she says.

The daughter of a mining engineer from northern Ontario, Miss Mateer is a physicist and math major working with a gizmo called a "microprobe." This complex piece of equipment is used to analyze materials by reading out the energy spectrums of generated X-rays and reflected electrons. Each piece of matter has its own set of characteristics in this line.

Considered Teaching
Miss Mateer was considering becoming a teacher when she paid a four-day visit to her uncle at the University of Kentucky—Dr. Richard Mateer, a professor of metallurgy.

"That was the wildest four days of my life," she says. She went down to Lexington for a visit and ended up enrolling at the university to get her bachelor's degree.

So now she works in a tight, cluttered little lab, trying to answer questions brought in from other areas of the total complex; questions like what made a weld fail or a piece of metal crack, why a rod snapped or a some other thing occurred.

She's even interested in a problem her uncle brought to her: What happens to filling in teeth to make them break down?

The microprobe is useful in examination of just about any material, from metal to tissue. Nothing startling has come out of this study, but there are answers to the problems, like the tendency of metallic compounds to drift into pockets of a particular element.

Even Marriage Count Dropped

SEATTLE (AP) — The economic situation was so tough in western Washington during 1970 the state even had trouble selling marriage licenses.

Officials in King County, which includes Seattle, reported a 9.7 per cent drop from the previous year in the issuance of marriage licenses in 1970. At the same time, there were 8,910 filings for divorce, only seven more than the previous year.

Denver Agency Wants Limit On Population

By CARL HILLIARD
Associated Press Writer
DENVER (AP)—The Colorado Environmental Commission, an advisory agency for the state government, wants to keep the wide open spaces around the four-county Denver metropolitan area wide open.

It proposes to do so by limiting the population to 1.5 million persons, 250,000 more than now reside here.

The commission approved a plan Tuesday to shut off Denver and suburban growth by setting up a green belt of parks and agricultural projects 35 miles wide to fence out encroaching population from satellite communities.

"It's an idealistic concept, yes," said Dr. Max Peters, commission chairman and dean of the college of engineering at the University of Colorado, "but it will get people talking. It's a good bill."

The population limit and green belt concept were included in a proposed Colorado Environmental Act of 1971. A section said, "No political subdivisions shall exceed a total population of 1.5 million persons."

There was no recommendation on how the population within the complex would be contained, once the maximum was reached.

"This will be up to the individual subdivisions," Peters said. "They've got to refuse building permits and write legislation saying you cannot build housing. And if there are violations, and the building continues, simply tear down the houses."

Dr. Ruth Weiner, chemistry professor at Temple Buell College and a member of the commission's executive committee, envisioned a "milder policy of encouragement and discouragement."

She said the state should abandon the "sell Colorado" concept, and discourage industries from coming to areas where the population is already great.

Gov. John Love said he believed discussion of the issue would be good and that he favored dispersal of the state's population.

The proposed environmental act on population limit made no specific reference to Denver, but currently it could apply only to Denver and its ring of suburban counties, Arapahoe, Jefferson and Adams.

The population of the area in last year's census was counted at about 1.25 million, and the commission anticipated the 1.5 million figure could be reached within five years.

Williamston Bd. Hears Reports

WILLIAMSTON — A parking problem, an improvement in sewer output, and the appointment of a town official were the items discussed and acted on by members of the Williamston Town Board at their first meeting for 1971 on Monday.

Town Clerk J. B. Godwin reported that Edward C. Beach had been approved as replacement of W. F. Sparrow as Williamston Zoning Coordinator.

The job, formerly a part time one, is now a full time position. Beach will assume his duties in about two weeks, as soon as he can resign his present position.

Mrs. Nan Boykin, the town's Administrative Assistant, read a letter for record relating to the Williamston Packing Company. The letter, from Thomas W. Harwell of Rivers Associates in Greenville, referred to a survey made by Rivers Associates and C. R. Smart of the Department of Water and Air Resources in Greenville. The letter reported that because of efforts on the part of the packing company, located on the west edge of Williamston, to improve its sewer line feeding into the Williamston facilities, the problem of excessive wastes entering the sewer line is now less a problem than it had been previously.

Action was approved to eliminate loading zones from the short alley adjacent to the former Wachovia Bank building. This action was taken after Sidney Mallory appeared before the board suggesting such action due to problems of getting in and out of Main Street from the alley way. The board will give the alley a name, making it officially a street — the shortest one in Williamston. The alley is less than 100 feet in length.

March Of Dimes Drive Gears Up

Plans are getting underway for the January campaign to focus attention on preventing birth defects, according to Air Force Captain Gary Schaal, the 1971 March of Dimes campaign chairman.

Captain Schaal has announced the team who will be working closely with him in the current campaign. It includes Lester Brown, Major Robert Fielman, Captain Andrew Gibbons, Dave Drodgy, and Hugh Cameron.

This leadership team will call community attention to the fact that a massive assault is being directed toward the prevention and treatment of birth defects.

Every year in the United States, the tragedy of birth defects strikes at an estimated quarter of a million American babies. To help overcome this tragedy which affects all segments of society, the March of Dimes carries on intensive programs throughout the year.

The programs made possible by March of Dimes contributions from the public cover research, patient care, professional education and community service.

In North Carolina, the funds help maintain Birth Defects Centers and clinics. Money collected during the annual January appeal is a major source of support for March of Dime activities.

Judge 'Clears' Audie Murphy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Audie Murphy, the most decorated U.S. Soldier of World War II, has been cleared of charges that he carried blackjacks illegally.

Superior Court Judge James Kilts dismissed the charges Tuesday, saying the 45-year-old Medal of Honor winner is authorized to carry blackjacks because he is a special officer on the police force at Port Hueneme northwest of Los Angeles.

Opines Sophia 'Worst Dressed'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Designer Mr. Blackwell says his 11th annual "worst-dressed" woman is Sophia Loren, who "looks like a 1950 'B' movie costumed by Polly Adler."

The designer, who doesn't use a first name, gave an honorable mention on his 1970 list Tuesday to Flip Wilson, the comedian who sometimes appears as "Geraldine" in blonde wig and Mother Hubbard dress. "Looks like a basset hound in drag," said Blackwell.

Blackwell's runners-up to Miss Loren were Angie Dickinson, Gloria Vanderbilt Cooper, Shelly Winters, Jane Fonda, Jacqueline Susann, Goldie Hawn, Carrie Snodgrass, Marlo Thomas and Faye Dunaway. All but socialite Mrs. Cooper and writer Susann are actresses.

Rhonda Fleming To Shed Fourth

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Rhonda Fleming filed Tuesday in Superior Court for divorce from her fourth husband, Hall Bartlett, a movie producer.

The red-haired, green-eyed actress, 48, was married previously to Thomas Lane, Dr. Lewis Morrill and Lang Jeffries. The marriage to Miss Fleming in 1966 was Bartlett's third.

20th Century-Fox Sets Auction Of Film Props

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Got any use for the wheeled Teddy bear drawn on a string by toddler Shirley Temple in "Captain January"? Or the oval couch of Marilyn Monroe and Yves Montand in a dream sequence of "Let's Make Love"?

These and about 2,000 other items, including ersatz gorillas from "Planet of the Apes" and a gory-looking dummy head that rolled downstairs in "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte," will be up for auction next month.

Twentieth Century-Fox is going the route taken several months ago by another financially troubled studio, MGM, in disposing of its old movie props.

But less extensively, MGM sold a vast, 40-year accumulation ranging from Clark Gable's raincoat to the "Showboat" river steamer.

Fox is clearing out only a fraction of its approximately 55,000 properties—ones that have served their purpose, can't be used again and are taking up valuable storage space.

"Like the concert grand piano with eagle legs we made up for "Wilson", said supervising set decorator Walter M. Scott.

Scott thinks the auction should bring "anywhere from a quarter of a million dollars up."

MGM hasn't said how much it realized from selling its gigantic collection outright to an auctioneer. Trade talk is that MGM got $1.3 million.

The auction is Feb. 25-28.

Scott, 63, a winner of six Academy Awards for set decoration, led a tour of a huge sound stage crammed with the goods for sale.

There were—

Tallulah Bankhead's chaise longue in "The Royal Scandal," the ornate desk used by Marlon Brando as Napoleon in "Desiree" and Edward G. Robinson's 1830 French bed from "House of Strangers."

Chandeliers, antique paintings, chairs, tables, roltop desks, Victorian urns, sedan chairs, perambulators, life jackets stenciled "S.S. Titanic," and Paul Newman's Bicycle in "Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid."

Shirley Temple's Teddy bear stood forlornly on top of the grand piano ornamented for the White House East Room in "Wilson." Scott said he had no idea what price the Teddy bear would bring, but he recalled it originally cost only $3.

Male Phone Operator Gets More Notice Than The Girls

By MATHIS CHAZANOV
BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — "Operator—may I help you?" "Who's this?" says the surprised female voice on the other end of the line.

"This is the operator, may I help you?"

"Is this a man? I like to talk to men. I think your voice is sexy."

While all the business conversations of George T. aren't as exciting as this one, the bearded, long-haired operator does get a little more notice than his female colleagues.

A college graduate in social science, George is one of the 118 male operators employed by the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. in the San Francisco Bay area.

Doesn't Want Name Known
He doesn't want his name known because he thinks the phone company does not like to hire college graduates. It doesn't. As a company spokesman said, "By and large we would like to see a person with a college degree working at something a little more suitable. Overtrained people are as a rule not as good at the job."

George realizes this is true. "The first six weeks were a lot of fun but now it's starting to get tedious," he said.

"I started with the phone company because I needed a job, he said. "I'll probably stay for a couple of months—because jobs are hard to find."

"To be an operator is like being a machine. You plug in and talk and you try to be as human as you can, but ..."

Of the 120 calls a day George handles, at least 60 people make some comment about him, for example, "A male operator! Wow!"

Get Along Well
George and the 118 other male operators he works with get along just fine with their female colleagues.

"I've taken a couple of them out," George said. "They're nice girls. They've gotten used to the idea of men on the job now."

A phone company spokesman

MORE MILK
NEW YORK (AP) — Dairy cows, the classic symbol of tranquil existence, are producing more milk than ever before, according to the De Laval Separator Co., milking equipment manufacturer.

Although the number of U.S. cows has decreased 3.5 per cent this year, milk production will decrease only about 2 per cent to 117 billion pounds.

Generation Gap In Bible-Reading

GLENDALE, Calif. (AP) — The generation gap in Bible reading seems to be about 15 hours, the Seventh-Day Adventist Church reports.

Adult volunteers took turns reading aloud from the 874,746-word King James Bible as the new year began. At the same time 200 others, most of them teen-agers, began reading from a variety of newer translations.

The adult group finished the book at 12:20 p.m. Monday, about 84 hours after the start and 15 hours after the younger group.

Church spokesmen said modern translations contain fewer words than the King James Bible and younger readers read faster than adults.

Worry Clinic 'Free' College Has Drawbacks

Alan's views are gaining wider acceptance nationwide! For too much maudlin sentimentality has clouded the fact that a college education is not to be served up to everybody on a free silver platter! Nor should admission of minority groups be based on anything but merit! Yet many colleges are lowering their entrance requirements to placate minorities!

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Case P-537: Alan B., aged 28, is a science teacher at a state university. "Dr. Crane," he protested, "too many students are going to college. They are also being unduly coddled by hard working parents or the taxpayers. "Actually, it is now becoming a fad to enter college, just for its social prestige. "Why, I find freshmen college students who can hardly read as well as you'd expect of a 4th grader in grammar school.

"Wouldn't it be better if students had to earn their way through college?" BASIS OF VALUE In general, we value things on the basis of what they have cost us in our own personal sacrifices, toil and sweat. Free education, as paid for by taxpayers and generous American corporations, is thus often abused by campus sitters, riots and the burning of valuable libraries, dormitories and science halls. Years ago Dean Cutter, of our Northwestern University Medical School, corroborated Alan's suggestion re the merit in having students earn their way through college. "Dr. Crane," the Dean said, "you may be shocked to realize that there are more prominent graduates of the evening law school here in Chicago, than from both our Northwestern University and the University of Chicago daytime law schools! "For my survey of those in-

Opening lead: King of ♣
Altho West put up a spirited campaign against his opponents during the auction, he was unable to outbid them single-handed and they finally bought the contract for three hearts.
South's hand is superficially worth a mere five points, however, facing a partner who has made a takeout double and then raised the forced response; South's holding possesses definite merit and he is fully warranted in refusing to sell out to West for three clubs.
West opened the king of clubs and continued with the ace. The appearance of declarer's nine on the second round suggested that it was not safe to play another club. West was reluctant to lead away from his broken holding in diamonds and fearing a possible end play later on if he retained the lone ace of spades, he cashed that card and then exited with a trump. Declarer drew the hearts with two pulls and paused to assess his prospects. He had already lost three tricks and was confronted with prospective losers in spades and diamonds—even assuming that the diamond finesse succeeded. West's play of the ace of spades followed by his abrupt shift to a trump suggested that the spades would not divide favorably and, therefore, North's long spade could not be established for a discard.

West's sequence of bids had pretty well marked him with two five card suits which was confirmed in the play when he showed up with two hearts and apparently just one spade. This distributional pattern gave South a ray of hope.
With the trumps accounted for, he led a diamond from his hand and finessed North's queen. The ace was cashed next and then the queen of spades was led. East realized that if he won the trick, he would be endplayed, for, down to nothing but spades and clubs, the lead of a club would present declarer with a ruff and discard, while a spade return into the dummy's jack-nine would also surrender a trick.
When North's queen of spades was permitted to hold, South abandoned his attack against East, and switched his attentions to West. The latter was thrown in with a third round of diamonds and, whether he exited with a diamond or club, South could ruff in the North hand while he disposed of his remaining spade.

Pilots Urged Join Fight
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's private pilots were urged today to make use of their unique vantage points in the fight against air pollution.
The Aircraft Owners and Pilots Association asked private pilots, most of whom fly slowly and fairly low, to photograph instances of serious air pollution for local or national clean-air agencies.

In an editorial in the magazine Pilot, AOPA senior vice president Max Karant told the association's 158,000 members: "Photograph the plumes of smoke, record the date and time, and send the documents to local authorities. "If they don't do anything, send it to AOPA and we'll see that the appropriate federal office gets it." Karant said the AOPA pollution-picture program is not aimed at any specific industry or polluter. "I am confident that many industry people aren't fully aware how much area is affected by just one smokestack and that when they see the documented proof from above they will be more eager to take corrective measures," Karant said. Karant, noting frequent appeals for cooperation in pollution control, added: "If all the public talkers really mean what they say, hardly anyone can help more than AOPA members going about their daily flights."
