

Includes Boost In Aid To Cities, Counties

Record $4.3 Billion Budget For N.C.

By NOEL YANCEY Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A record $4.3 billion proposed state budget for the next two fiscal years that calls for a big boost in state aid to cities and counties was presented to the North Carolina General Assembly as it convened its 1971 session today.

This includes $25 million for state takeover from the counties of the entire nonfederal share of the Medicaid and work incentive programs and a boost in Powell bill allocations as promised by the governor from one-half to one cent of the state's gasoline tax. This would boost the cities' funds for improving non-highway streets by $27 million.

growth in the future." This prompted them to forecast an increase of $309.6 million in general fund revenues for the coming biennium. This would be a 16.9 per cent increase. "We're estimating conservatively," said State Budget Officer Andrew Jones. "We have in this case because with the varying economy in the country we can't be accurate."

pressure is going to be not to reduce taxes but to keep from adding more on." As always, the biggest share of the budget will go to the public schools. The budgeters recommended $1,095 million for school operations. This compares with about $974 million being spent this biennium.

No ECU Med School Funds In Budget

RALEIGH (AP) — The Scott administration's 1971-73 budget released today includes no money for either the proposed two-year medical school at East Carolina University or financial aid to the state's two private medical schools.

Jenkins is expected to take his request for funds directly to the General Assembly, especially if the accreditation report is favorable. The Board of High Education requested an appropriation of $1.5 million to provide state aid to North Carolina's two private medical schools—Duke and Bowman-Gray.

Scott also ignored state financial aid to college students. Scott said no funds were included because a study commission had not handed in its report. State education officials estimated a comprehensive aid program would take $20 million to $30 million for the biennium.

No Comment

East Carolina University President, Dr. Leo Jenkins said this morning "it would be premature today to comment..." on the Advisory Budget Commission's recommendations for ECU for the coming biennium, made public today in Raleigh, "before studying them."

Allot $5.8 Million For ECU Capital Improvements

RALEIGH — A total of $5,818,000 in capital improvements for East Carolina University was recommended by the Advisory Budget Commission in the budget presented to the Legislature today.

There were also recommended appropriations of $70,000 for extending heating lines to Minges Coliseum and $88,000 for equipment for Flanagan building. Construction is now underway at Flanagan building to renovate it for use by the chemistry and industrial and technical education departments.

The Advisory Budget Commission recommended a biennial A budget appropriation — the amount required to continue services at present levels — of $21,093,369. The B budget recommendation — to provide improved and expanded services — was set at $1,930,994 for a total operating budget appropriation of $23,024,363.

Utilities commissioners last night approved natural gas rate increases which will average approximately 6.6 percent to pass along rate increases that North Carolina Natural Gas has instituted.

Disorder After Threat Some 400 Bills Already Waiting In The Wings For General Assembly

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Small groups of young blacks injured about a dozen people in isolated shooting and window-smashing incidents after an injured white policeman killed a Negro mugger, police said.

There were also recommended appropriations of $70,000 for extending heating lines to Minges Coliseum and $88,000 for equipment for Flanagan building. Construction is now underway at Flanagan building to renovate it for use by the chemistry and industrial and technical education departments.

Both are desirable qualities, but as the years go by, I don't see a great deal of change in either," he said. "From time to time, people say if the presiding officers go ahead and get the committees appointed, the legislature would get off to a fast start. I'm going to give them the committees," he added.

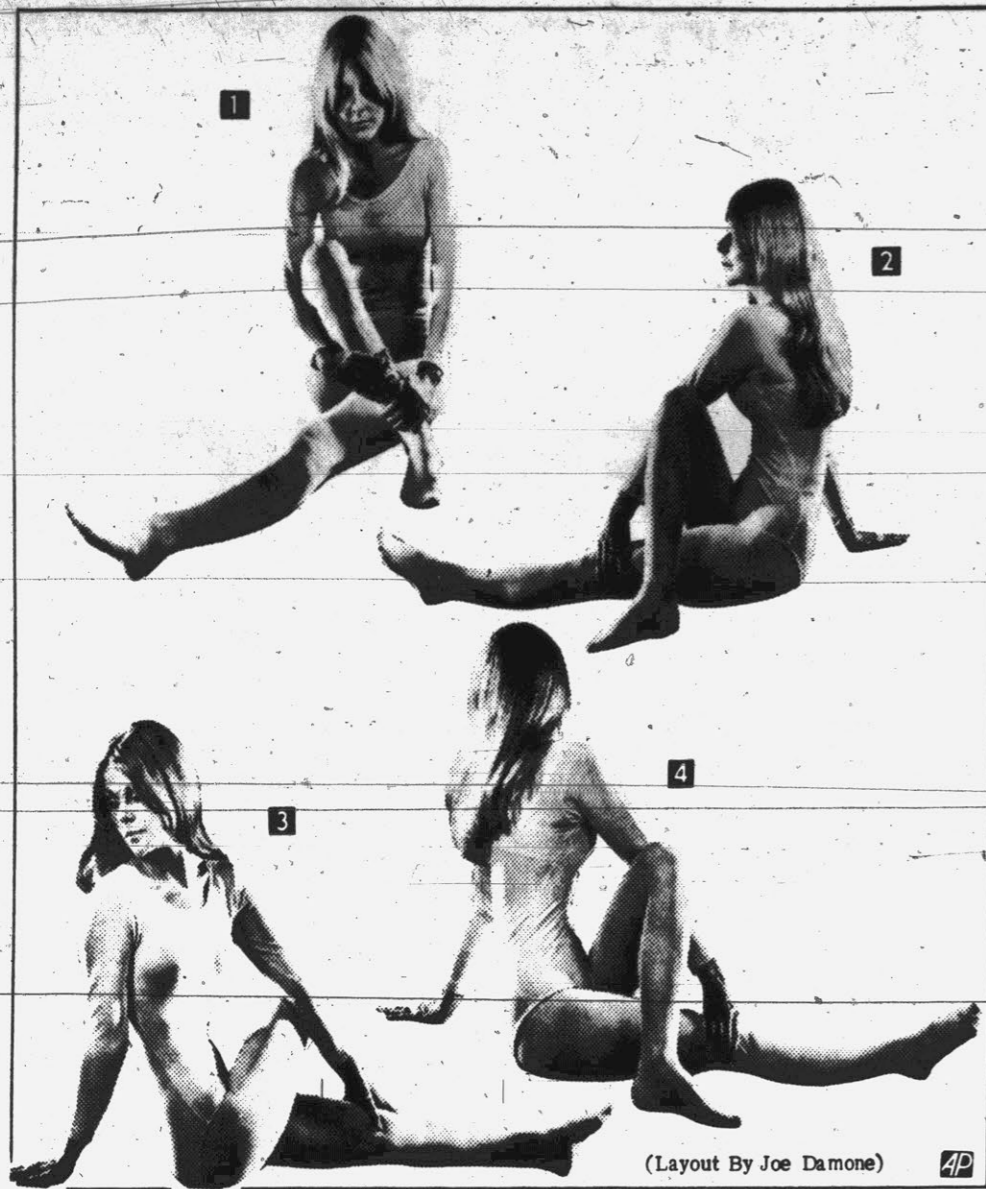

Indict Priest As 'Mastermind' Of Plot Lowry Is Named New C-of-C, Merchants Ass'n President

By MARK BROWN Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury has named the Rev. Phillip Berrigan, the imprisoned antiwar priest, as mastermind of a bizarre plot to blow up heating ducts in government buildings and whisk away presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

"If successful, the plotters would demand an end to U.S. bombing operations in Southeast Asia and the release of all political prisoners as ransom," Hoover testified. The indictment listed Daniel Berrigan, also a Catholic priest, as a co-conspirator but not as a defendant.

YOGA EXERCISES should take from 20 to 30 minutes daily. Any time of day is satisfactory, although it is best to wait 90 minutes after meals. Try to approach each practice session in a serene frame of mind, putting aside thoughts and activities that might be distracting. A good beginning posture is the simple twist (shown above) and it is ideal for trimming the waistline. Take seated posture. Then cross right leg over left. Place right foot as illustrated.

Third Step: Slowly twist as far as possible to the right. (Note position of head and chin). Hold this position without motion for ten seconds. Keep hold on right knee; turn forward to the position of the prior illustration — and relax. Now repeat twist to the extreme right — and hold for ten seconds. Turn forward; release hold — and extend legs outward.

Fourth Step: Perform identical movements to the left side and hold for ten seconds. Turn forward and relax. Repeat twist to left, hold for 10 seconds. Turn forward; release hold; extend legs outward.

Yoga Expert Offers Food For Thought

By AP Newsfeatures
"The average American eats far too much," says Richard Hittleman, one of the nation's leading experts on Yoga.

Mr. Hittleman, 44, who has had a nationally televised yoga program for nearly a decade, maintains that a follower of his system can assure himself not only longevity, but "a radiantly healthy body and pliant limbs as well." But, he adds, a good share of success depends on "how carefully the exerciser watches his food intake."

His views are outlined in his new book "YOGA 28-Day Exercise Plan."

"Your organism is a precision instrument designed to function at its peak on small amounts of high-quality food," says the author. "Eaten sparingly, such foods can nourish you and leave important energies free to help activate those little-used forces with which Yoga is concerned."

According to the book, all foods should be consumed in a form "as close to their natural state as digestion permits." That is the state in which most foods contain life-force. "When foods are boiled, fried, roasted, refined, canned, frozen, preserved, fumigated, aged, pasteurized, enriched and otherwise subjected to the many modern processes, this life-force is seriously reduced or killed," he says.

Hittleman's variety of yoga is the hatha school, which places great emphasis on physical activities rather than the contemplative aspects of the discipline.

According to the yoga spokesman, diet has a pronounced effect on the way one feels and acts. "After some meals, you are alive and energized; other meals leave you dull, heavy and lethargic in body and mind. The difference between these two states can be attributed to the food you have consumed."

The exercise book terms rich, heavy foods as the culprits which act to devitalize the body and sap life-force.

Overeating is cited as a cause of many physical disorders, particularly if one's intake is heavy on the many inferior foods that form toxins, acids and harmful waste products.

Nutritionists maintain that a physical organism is low in resistance when its defense agents are busy in other areas—coping with toxins, congestions and other deposits—so that it cannot fight germs.

"That is why the student of yoga must make certain that diet does not inhibit the life-force already existent in the organism or the new life-force gained through exercises," Hittleman says.

He has outlined a basic three-point food program:

—Eat only light, agreeable nourishing foods, that leave you feeling energized in body and clear in mind afterward.

—Eat foods, where possible, in their natural state. Foods that grow and milk products are high in life-force, losing this force to the extent they are tampered with by canning and preserving methods. Most fruits and vegetables can be eaten raw or lightly steamed or baked. Dairy products of low fat content only should be con-

No Way To Punish Your Grandson

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My grandson [I'll call him Jimmy] is a 19-year-old college student. A few weeks ago I noticed that a stage play was coming to town. Because Jimmy had taken a role in that play in high school, I wrote him a note offering to treat him and a friend to two tickets. I asked him to let me know which performance he wanted to see so I could purchase the tickets and put them in the mail to him. Two weeks went by. I didn't hear one word from the boy. Then his other grandmother told me that Jimmy was "pleased" with my offer, but was "too busy" to go.

I told my son [Jimmy's father] that I was hurt and displeased that his son didn't bother to give me that message personally, whereupon the father immediately took Jimmy's part, pointing out what a fine lad he was—"No drinking, no smoking, no dope. . . ." I added, "—and no manners."

Now I am the villain. Everyone is mad at me and I am mad at the boy. Your comments, please. THE VILLAIN

DEAR VILLAIN: Your grandson should have personally acknowledged your offer with thanks, regrets, or whatever. But since he failed to do so, you shouldn't have attempted to punish him by reporting his bad manners to his father. A 19-year-old college student is old enough to take his own lumps. Next time, sock it to him—not his father.

DEAR ABBY: Our son will be coming home from Viet Nam soon after having completed four years there. He has a good job waiting for him when he comes home, but we don't know exactly how much he will be earning a week.

We would like to have some idea as to how much room and board to charge him, keeping in mind that there is always beer and drinks in the house which he likes, and will be helping himself to unless he has changed. Can you give us a suggestion? TEXARKANA

DEAR TEXARKANA: I don't know what the going rate for room and board is where you live. Meanwhile, what's your hurry? Would giving your returning G.I. son a "break" break you?

DEAR ABBY: I've been tempted to write to you many times, but now I can't resist. When I read the letter from "Can't Forget" who was still in love with her algebra teacher whom she hadn't seen for 13 years, I was shocked to learn there was someone else so much like myself.

I was in love with a college classmate, but he married someone else. I also married and even after four years and a beautiful baby I still dreamed about this fellow. Whenever I saw a car like his, my heart would pound even tho he had left town years before and I knew it couldn't possibly be his.

Then one day I saw a picture of him in the newspaper. I nearly died. He was fat and bald and ugly. Needless to say, all my dreams vanished. All the psychologists in the world couldn't have done as much for me as that one picture. Now, every time I think of him, I count my blessings for not marrying him, and I kick myself mentally for wasting my day dreams on him. FINALLY FORGOT HIM

DEAR FINALLY: If your "love" lasts only as long as sumed.

—Refined sugar products, coffee, liquor and too much high protein foods are considered artificial stimulants. Meat, fish and poultry should be consumed moderately.

your lover has his hair and boyish figure, it's a good thing you didn't marry your college dreamboat.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANDREA: Don't play games. If you want him, say yes. While you are playing "hard to get" he may meet somebody else and decide it's "love at first sight."

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Lifetime Ambition Of 70,000 Pubs

BRAINTREE, England (WNS) — Life for Rosemary Elliott, 25, has become one long pub crawl since she married Comus Elliott, 30, three years ago. "My husband is determined to drink a pint of beer in each one of Britain's 70,000 pubs," she explained. "It's a fun hobby, you know." So far Mrs. Elliott has been to 1,657 pubs and gets an autograph from each proprietor. "Comus has passed the 5,000 mark in 14 years," she reported. "It will take us forever to do them all, but it's nice to have a lifetime ambition."

A Rough, Tough, Long Session

It promises to be a long and difficult session for the 170 legislators who have gathered in Raleigh this week for the 1971 session of the General Assembly.

The list of complicated and controversial measures which must be resolved by the legislators appears even more formidable than that which usually faces the Senators and Representatives.

There is the matter of redistricting always a touchy matter as the legislature attempts to redraw the boundary lines of representation. This year, with the new census figures now official, the legislature faces the task of reshaping the districts in order to provide equal representation across the state. It is sure to spark fireworks and almost certainly will be the lever that is used by some to influence other vital legislative measures as well.

Then there is the matter of reorganization of state government and the matter of restructure of the system of higher education, both items called for by Governor Scott and given high priority on his legislative agenda.

Repeal of certain existing tax measures — particularly the soft drink tax — has attracted a growing number of supporters. But it is also evident from budget requests of various departments and agencies that North Carolina will need more rather than less revenue during the coming biennium if it is to meet its needs. The legislators, faced with call for tax repeals on one hand and the need for additional funds on the other, will not find an easy time coming up with the required budget.

Liquor-by-the-drink will be another issue that will attract considerable attention and as always may be expected to be emotional and politically dangerous for the individual legislator.

Aid to private colleges of North Carolina, faced with difficult financial situations in many cases, also will be a matter to be resolved by the legislature. Here the economic realities of the situation which exists in the state will be weighed against the emotional and political repercussions that are certain to surround this issue.

Those who predict the 1971 session may prove to be the longest yet have good grounds for their predictions. Not only are there a larger than usual number of controversial issues, but they appear considerably more complex than the usual array of difficult matters that face a legislative session.

How well the legislature does in handling these issues will be written as the session progresses. It is evident from the outset, however, that legislators who apply themselves to the business at hand will more than earn their higher salaries before the 1971 session ends.

Displeased By Part-Time Job

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Although unanimous ratification of Sen. Robert Dole as Republican National Chairman is routinely assured at the National Committee's midwinter meeting here this week, fully one-fourth of the 150 party officials vividly — but privately — are now expressing deep unhappiness over the prospect of another part-time chairman.

There is, in addition, ideological criticism of Kansas Dole from Northeastern moderate Republicans on grounds that he is too conservative. But that is strictly secondary. What really bugs party pros, specifically including Ohio's able state chairman, John Andrews, is the prospect of another two years of a chairman torn between Congressional and party duties. President Nixon was made fully aware of the criticism by Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania. Nevertheless, he opted for Dole, largely on the advice of former White House counselor Bryce Harlow (Mr. Nixon's first choice for chairman to succeed Rep. Rogers Morton of Maryland) and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

Muted unhappiness over the choice of Dole, moreover, extends to the inner recesses of the White House itself. H. R. (Bob) Haldeman, Mr. Nixon's most intimate aide, worries that Dole will be much too active, operating beyond control of the White House staff. Haldeman wanted Morton's successor completely subservient to the White House staff, but Dole is not a political lapdog.

None of this will be visible when the committee ratifies Dole. Andrews, in fact, was unhappily pressed into being chairman of the "nominating" committee to formally present Dole's name. A footnote: Richard Richards, a former state chairman and top-flight National Committee technician before returning to Utah last year to run unsuccessfully for Congress, is a leading candidate to become Dole's deputy chairman. Richards was summoned here last week by White House political aide Harry Dent to meet Dole — for the first time.

HEW's Lobbyist Health, Education, and Welfare Secretary Elliot Richardson's unpublished preference for a crusading liberal lawyer to fill the department's long-vacant chief lobbyist post is running into serious trouble from Capitol Hill Republicans. Richardson has asked President Nixon to name Stephen Kurzman, a Washington lawyer prominently connected with reform causes, to the important post of Assistant Secretary for Legislation, vacated by Creed Black last summer to become editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer.

But routine White House checks on Capitol Hill encountered hostility from Republican staffers who remembered Kurzman as an aide to liberal Republican staffers who remembered Kurzman as an aide to liberal Republican Sen. Jacob Javits of New York in the early '60's, as well as from conservative Republican Senators. Far more significant, Rep. Albert Quie of Minnesota, a highly respected moderate and now senior Republican on the House Labor Committee, has informed the White House that Kurzman's abrasive personality and liberal ideology are ill-suited for this sensitive post.

Consequently, Mr. Nixon will have to weigh such Congressional objections against the extremely high rating given Kurzman's talents by Richardson and other top HEW officials. Kurzman, a staffer on the Kerner Commission investigating civil disorders and since closely associated with social reformer John Gardner's projects, stands markedly to the left of the Nixon administration. However, he generally exerted a moderating influence on radical Kerner Commission staffers.

Labor Loves Democrats Simultaneous with the abrupt cooling of his ill-fated love affair with President Nixon, AFL-CIO president George Meany has quietly renewed briefly severed ties with the Democratic party. The tipoff came at last month's reception at Washington's Madison Hotel for retiring Speaker John McCormack. While politicians gaped, Meany engaged Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien in a long, friendly conversation — their first since O'Brien returned to the top party post March 5.

Legislature To Chart Future

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — "Members will take their seats! Visitors will repair to the lobby! The sergeant-at-arms will close the doors!"

The gavel bangs. Conversation subsides from a roar to a buzz. Eyes turn expectantly to the front of House and Senate chambers.

The General Assembly of North Carolina is ready to convene in biennial session. Simple and brief ceremonies, principally the administering of the oath of office to Representatives and Senators, marked the beginning today of the 1971 session.

Until adjournment, and that looks at least six months away, the 170 members will be joined in the common burden of attempting to deal with the problems of the state. They will get the views of experts through study commission reports and committee hearings; they will introduce bills proposing solutions; they will search through debate and compromise for the consensus to support action.

Charting the Future What finally they do, and what they leave undone, will determine North Carolina's pace of progress into the final quarter of the 20th century.

That it is a pivotal session is clear from the agenda.

Legislative Representation. Based on the '70 census results, the legislators must draw new district lines for Congressional and General Assembly seats which will hold until the next federal census 10 years away. Court decisions have set strict standards, aimed to put the power where the people are. In North Carolina, that means the urban Piedmont.

Taxes and Spending. The national economic downturn clouds the revenue outlook, while determined efforts are afoot to repeal or reduce taxes on soft drinks, cigarettes and gasoline enacted in 1969. Local governments are looking for aid in dealing with urban growth, pollution control, welfare costs, and other problems. From all sides, requests for new programs and expanded services total far more than income expectations.

Governmental Reorganization. Voters approved a Constitutional amendment last fall for overhaul of the state's administrative structure. The goal is to fit the multiplicity of agencies, boards and commissions into 25 or fewer cabinet-level departments on the basis of function and purpose. Resistance encountered to date confirms it won't be accomplished without a struggle.

Higher Education Restructure Higher education presents an exercise in reorganization all its own. Governor Scott has initiated a study looking to greater coordination in carrying out the state's total effort in higher education. What will come before the legislature is uncertain, but rumblings make it plain there will be opposition if it places substantial limits on the autonomy of individual colleges and universities.

Aside from the big issues, it is easy to list a half-dozen or more matters with potential for emotional debate and back-stage trading: a presidential primary, the vote for 18-year-olds, a "merit plan" for the selection of judges, local option for liquor-by-the-drink, prison reforms, pay raises and other benefits for teachers and state employees.

Personalities as well as problems loom large for the session.

How Governor Bob Scott fares with the legislature will have bearing on his political future. He has disavowed a "lame duck" status, and (Continued on page 6)

If You Had A Wish

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — "What can I do for you?"

How often we hear these words from people we meet or talk to over the telephone. They have become a trite and unctuous phrase in our trite and unctuous times — a double-talk expression which, translated literally too often means "Please don't ask me to do anything for you. I've got troubles enough of my own."

But what if, once in your lifetime, a mighty genie able to do anything whispered in your ear, "What can I do for you?" And meant it.

The possibility is so startling one would hardly know where to begin. But I think I'd at least ask him for—

A molehill I couldn't turn into a mountain.
A bump-free highway through life or, at least, one with pleasant detours.

A million-dollar nest egg to hide in a hole in the backyard, and another million-dollar nest egg to hide in the front yard, where no thief bothers to look for buried loot.

A lifetime pass to all pro football games.

A pretty red-haired girl friend during the week and two other pretty red-haired girl friends for the weekends.

An old-fashioned gold railroad watch with a gold chain and a gold-mounted elk's tooth.
Cinderella's glass slipper.

Ten Patton tanks and a sword called Excalibur.
A tete-a-tete with the Headless Horseman.

A crystal partridge in a platinum pear tree.

One vineyard in France and another in California and two distilleries in Kentucky.

An hour in hell to talk to Adolf Hitler.
A month in heaven to listen to Emily Dickinson, the poet.

A year on the street corners of ancient Athens arguing with Socrates.

A mouthful of manna and two cupsful of ambrosia.

Two mountains of my own bordering a valley through which flowed a stream watering fruitful fields.

Tallulah Bankhead was reunited with her parents, Representative and Mrs. William B. Bankhead, today after her arrival in New York from London. After eight years on the London stage, Miss Bankhead will seek success in the United States.

Mrs. J. L. Hassel, chairman of the Pitt County chapter of the American Red Cross, this afternoon received a telegram from the Red Cross asking Pitt County to take part in the campaign to raise ten million dollars for the drought areas. Pitt County has been asked to raise $3,000.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Hood System Industrial Bank was held at the city hall last night. A six percent dividend was declared by the institution during the past year and stockholders were presented checks for this amount during the meeting.

WASHINGTON — The great minds of the cigarette and advertising industries are hard at work trying to figure out ways of publicizing cigarettes on television now that cigarette commercials have been banned.

The tobacco companies are already going ahead with plans to sponsor automobile races, bowling tournaments, tennis matches and other sporting events. There is a rumor that pipe tobacco, which is not banned, will be sold in packages bearing a startling resemblance to cigarette packages.

I recently attended a brainstorming session at an advertising agency where they were discussing other methods of getting cigarette advertising across.

The head of Creative Projects said, "I think we have an idea. We could sponsor a documentary on Winston Churchill titled, 'Winston Ruled Good, Like a Prime Minister Should.' English teachers all over the country will complain about the title and so, at the beginning of the show, we could show members of British Parliament asking whether people wanted good grammar or good taste in their documentaries."

"I like it," said the president of the advertising agency. "What else have we got?"

The TV department director said, "We sketched out a western series titled Marlboro Country. The hero is a rancher, Ben Marlboro, with a tattoo on his hand. Ben has two sons named Phillip and Morris who help their father on the ranch.

"There is also a midget, named Johnny, who works around the house as a hand. Every time there is any trouble, Ben tells Johnny, 'Call for Phillip and Morris.'"

"I like it," said the president of the agency.

"Here's another TV series that might work," said the agency time buyer. "It's called Lucky Strike, and it's about a man who drills for oil in Texas. Every time he hits a well, he shouts, 'Lucky strike means fine depletion.'"

"I like it," said the president of the agency.

The head of research said, "We've found that the TV shows that young people watch the most have animals in them. Now our people have come up with a sure-fire series titled Camels Aren't for Everybody. This is a story of a man who owns a restless camel that keeps running away.

"Every week the man takes a mile long walk looking for his camel. Along the way he has all sorts of humorous adventures, but at the end of the program he always finds his camel."

"I like it," the president of the agency said.

The head of the TV department said, "We also (Continued on page 6)

Industry Disagrees With Self

By ELMER ROESSNER
Most gas companies and many service companies of American have been gulling motorists, judging from a statement by the American Petroleum Institute. Most auto companies have participated in the fraud.

The Federal Trade Commission recently issued an order requiring the posting of the minimum octane rating on all gasoline pumps.

This, the API states, will serve no constructive purpose and may prove misleading to the average motorist. It went on:

"A research octane number is only one of several complex factors that measure the performance of a motor fuel. Attempting to select a gasoline on the basis of its octane rating alone would be tantamount to attempting to purchase a high quality, long-sleeved shirt merely on the basis of its collar size.

"Diservice to Consumer" "Octane requirements of automobiles are not constant and vary widely from car to car — even those rolling off the same assembly line.

Moreover, octane requirements of the same car vary from one geographic location to another.

"The fuel-engine relationship at the present time is changing very rapidly. It is disservice to the consumer to place emphasis on the octane number panies, most of which are members of the API, and practically every pump jockey in the country would seem, in the light of the institute's charges, to have been participating in a nationwide conspiracy to hoodwink and bamboozle the American driver into believing that octane ratings are important to the performance of an auto engine, perhaps to mulct them of pennies per gallon for demanding high octane gasolines.

Perhaps the FTC should drop its order requiring the posting of octane ratings on gas pumps and turn its investigators loose in exposing the great octane rating hoax that has cheated motorists of a total of millions of dollars. And, Ralph Nader, where have you been while this was going on?

quality-fuel relationship is in such a state of flux."

If the American Petroleum Institute is correct, then the many gas companies who have boasted about the octane of their product in printed and television ads have simply been hoaxing the motorist. The companies that have posted octane figures on their pumps, especially those companies that have advertised different octane ratings from various pumps and various blends, have simply been fooling the public.

Who Ever Saw An Octane Anyway? Practically every new car salesman, and most of the auto makers, has been telling buyers what octane rating is best for their particular model.

They, the gasoline company, most of which are members of the API, and practically every pump jockey in the country would seem, in the light of the institute's charges, to have been participating in a nationwide conspiracy to hoodwink and bamboozle the American driver into believing that octane ratings are important to the performance of an auto engine, perhaps to mulct them of pennies per gallon for demanding high octane gasolines.

Perhaps the FTC should drop its order requiring the posting of octane ratings on gas pumps and turn its investigators loose in exposing the great octane rating hoax that has cheated motorists of a total of millions of dollars. And, Ralph Nader, where have you been while this was going on?

Strength For Today

PROBLEM OF FEAR
Fear. We usually regard fear not only with aversion, but with the sneaking feeling that there is something lacking in our makeup if we have fears.

This is not true. There are some things we ought to fear — situations, persons, courses of action that will get us into trouble if we have anything to do with them. Is the soldier never afraid? He certainly is, and usually he fights the better because of that fear. The growth of bad habits that may well lead us into addiction is something to fear. Some people may have an influence over us that with the passing years may lead us into all sorts of trouble.

Fear becomes our enemy when it becomes morbid fear. There are multitudes of people that keep themselves in a constant dither and are in a state of fear most of the time. To say that this is a mistake is to put the matter mildly. People who have a constant state of morbid fear keep themselves and everybody around them in a state of irritation and unhappiness. Fear the things that should be feared, but get out of the way of the melancholy mood that can keep one downcast and restless most of the time.

Fear is a protective device given us by the Creator in order that we may avoid what needs to be avoided or meet it with courage and force.

Morbid fear can tear us apart and make everybody we associate with unhappy.

Grim Orders Preceding Attack On My Lai Hamlet

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — A veteran of more than a half-dozen missions in Vietnam testified Tuesday that never before My Lai had he heard such destructive, grim orders as those that preceded the so-called massacre.

Appearing as a defense witness for Lt. William Calley, Tommy Moss said he had been taught "the enemy could be anyone, including women and children." The 27-year-old Calley is on trial for the murder of 102 Vietnamese in the hamlet near the South China Sea on March 16, 1968.

Discretionary Income Growing
NEW YORK (AP) — American's discretionary income—that money left after all essentials are paid—rose $250 billion in ten years, according to James A. MacLean, national sales manager of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation. Recreational spending alone rose $83 billion last year, he said.

Moss said, Capt. Ernest Medina, their company commander, was asked specifically at a pre-assault briefing about women and children that might be found in My Lai. "He said they're either Viet Cong or Viet Cong sympathizers," Moss said. It was the first mention by any witness that Medina had been asked questions at the briefing or that he discussed women and children. In seven or eight previous missions, Moss said, he had been ordered to hold prisoners for interrogation. Q. Did you have any such instructions when you left on this mission? A. No. Q. Did you have any instructions what was to be done with any person left in the village? A. They were to be killed. Q. On any of your other missions, in your briefing were you ever told to pollute the water? A. No. Q. Had you ever been told to burn a village? A. No. Q. Had you ever been told to kill all livestock? A. No. Q. Had you ever been told to kill all inhabitants?

Teachers Fly Every 2 Weeks
EDMONTON, Canada (AP) — University of Alberta professors will have travelled more than 25,000 miles by air in the 1970-71 academic year to teach courses at Yellowknife, N. W. T., and Fort McMurray in northeastern Alberta. The professors teaching the courses fly to Yellowknife and Fort McMurray every two weeks for a concentrated weekend of teaching.

A. No. Q. But on this mission you were told all this? A. Yes. Moss, a slender shipping clerk from Spartanburg, S.C., said he did not see Calley in My Lai. He was not a member of Calley's platoon. "Capt. Medina did not tell you that you that you were not to take prisoners," prosecutor Aubrey Daniel III asked Moss. "Not right off hand, I can't say he did." "Did Capt. Medina tell you not to take prisoners?" "To my understanding he said there was not to be anyone alive in the village." A prosecution witness, recalled to testify for the defense, said My Lai had been a trouble spot. "I witnessed a company pinned down and I saw a track (half-track vehicle) which had broken down and I saw 10 Vietnamese with weapons turn across the dike with the track," said David E. Hein of Janesville, Wis. He was with a mortar platoon at Landing Zone Dottie — the staging area for Task Force Barker which conducted the My Lai raid — and saw the incidents through binoculars.

Lt. Col Frabk A. Barker, the task force commander, was there too, Hein said. Barker was killed in a helicopter crash in June of that year. "He said something would have to be done about this damn village — we are losing too many men," Hein testified. The attack on My Lai was a week later.

Avers Many Shot Up By Helicopters

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer
FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — A former helicopter gunship pilot has testified in the court martial of Sgt. Charles Hutto that between 35 and 40 persons were killed by gunship fire on a trail near the village of My Lai. Bryan Livingston of Killeen, Tex., now an investments counselor, was the second person to testify Tuesday that persons fleeing the village were fired on by the gunships.

He said the gunships were flying in support of the U.S. troops making an infantry assault on the village. Hutto, charged with assault with intent to murder at least six civilians during the action, was a machinegunner in the second platoon of Charley Company at My Lai.

Livingston, a lieutenant at the time of the assault, said he was circling with other gunships while the soldiers moved through My Lai.

"I saw a lot of people coming out of the trail to the south, running down the road," said the dapperly dressed Livingston, a tall, dark-haired young man.

"Gunships made a gunrun down the road," leaving between 35 and 40 persons dead, he said. "Where the trail runs off the main road to the west is where they were shot," he said. There were no soldiers nearby, said Livingston.

Earlier, as the defense sought to establish that gunships and artillery fire accounted for some of the deaths at My Lai, Sgt. Dennis Vasquez was called to testify.

Vasquez, an artillery adviser to the units making the assault, said that while observing the operation from a helicopter he saw several groups of persons run from the village.

"Some of them were taken by gunships under fire," he said. He did not estimate how many were killed.

Questions asked defense witnesses Tuesday by lawyers for Hutto, 22, of Tallulah, La., concentrated on two areas — what Charlie Company expected to find at My Lai and the morale of the soldiers.

Capt. Eugene Kotouc, an intelligence officer at the time of My Lai, said the soldiers appeared demoralized after sustaining 18 casualties in a minefield a few days before the alleged massacre.

Nearly $400 To Projects

The Greenville Jaycees announced that approximately $400 was raised during the recently completed Turkey Shoot Project and co-chairmen in charge of the effort term the project a success.

According to co-chairmen Tommy Anthony and Tony Smith, the project, which began just before Thanksgiving and continued each week until Christmas, netted some $400 in funds to be used in a future Jaycee project aimed at community improvement.

They added that during the project, a total of 92 turkeys and nine hams were awarded to the various winners.

Anthony and Smith thanked the people of Greenville and Pitt County for their support of the project. They also expressed gratitude to Bobby McLamb, who donated the use of his land for the shoots, and Dixie Smith, who, in winning 13 turkeys, donated 12 of them to needy families in Greenville.

SPARE TIME MURAL
DENVER (AP) — In his spare time, Manuel Martinez executed a mural measuring by 8 feet on the side of a storage building at a Denver municipal swimming pool. Martinez said the mural deals with the Mexican-American's past, present and future.

Store Held Up A Second Time

Greenville police and other law enforcement agencies are hunting today for two who allegedly robbed the 14th Street grocery at gunpoint early last night.

Police said it was the second time in a year that the store, located on 14th Street near the U. S. 264 intersection, has been held up.

Leon Gipson, 23 of 2323 East Tenth St. was on duty in the store at the time of the robbery police reported.

He told investigators two men waited in the store until other customers left, then one put a

Ayden Zoning Hearing Held At Board Session

AYDEN — The Ayden Board of Commissioners held a public hearing Monday night on the rezoning of a portion of property from residential to commercial. The hearing was held in conjunction with the regular monthly board meeting.

The board agreed to rezone the property, a portion of land located on the north side of W. Second Street from the eastern line of Farmers-Funeral Home to a point 400 feet east along W. Second St.

No opposition was voiced on the rezoning of the property. The board instructed town attorney Bob Booth to determine if a portion of the town charter stating that $10,000 is the excess amount that can be given to the recreation commission can be repealed.

Both will prepare a bill to be presented to the General Assembly. The action came after Ray Avery, chairman of the Ayden Recreation Commission, appealed to the board seeking more money. He stated with the high cost of equipment and personnel to operate the recreation programs it was impossible to maintain the present winter and summer recreational activities within the $10,000 ceiling placed on the recreation budget.

The board approved the town's share of Blue Cross and Blue Shield Insurance for town employees to $2.05 per man. Board members discussed the performance of the town utilities and street department during last weekend's ice storm. The commissioners commended the two departments for their outstanding work in restoring current and cleaning up the debris from the storm.

Bob Dawson, fourth division engineer, said two survey crews are now doing the line work for the setting of the new route. He explained it would still be some 12-18 months before bids could be let for construction.

The U.S. 264 relocation will run from N.C. 97 east of Zebulon to a point on the existing U.S. 264 in the vicinity of Secondary Road 1303. SR 1303 is located several miles west of Wilson and

Praises Ice Storm Work

WINTERVILLE — Winterville Town Clerk Elwood Nobles expressed appreciation for the Winterville Utilities Department's outstanding work during the ice storm over the weekend.

Nobles said some crewmen worked as many as 16 hours straight in an effort to restore power. Except for a few isolated cases, power was restored in the Winterville area by Saturday noon.

"We appreciate our customers' patience and understanding while the crewmen were working to restore the power," Nobles said.

Nobles reported there were no broken poles in the area.

"We also appreciate the way the Winterville residents have been working to clean the broken limbs and other debris from their yards. The town truck will pick up all limbs and other debris piled on the side of the streets," Nobles explained. "We hope the residents will clear their yards of all debris as soon as possible."

Opened Fire To Recover Stolen Meat

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Police searching for stolen meat fired bullets and tear gas at the Black Panthers headquarters Tuesday. They forced the surrender of the only two occupants, a 15-year-old boy and a 22-year-old man who were charged with larceny of a truck and its 20 boxes of meat.

Police Chief Justus M. Tucker said his men opened fire after a "shot or shots" came from an upstairs window of the two-story shingled house.

No one was injured. Police said all the stolen meat was recovered from the house. Tucker said those arrested were Grady Fuller, 22, of Winston-Salem, and the juvenile whom he declined to identify because of his age.

Police said they removed from the house — in a pickup truck and a rented van — a shotgun, two high-powered rifles, 100 rounds of rifle ammunition, 50 shotgun shells, furniture and files.

Chief Tucker gave this account: A meat truck driver reported that he had seen his stolen truck parked in front of the house and the meat being taken inside. He said he had tried to question a man but was threatened with a rifle.

About 50 city policemen surrounded the house, waiting for a search warrant to arrive.

the proposed location of Interstate 95.

The relocation project is to be constructed approximately one-half mile north of the present U.S. 264 and will be designed as a full access control roadway having two 24-foot lanes and a 60-foot median. It has been estimated the roadway will extend some 17.3 miles and will cost approximately $16.7 million. Two lanes on the four-lane right-of-way will be constructed first, with the additional lands to be added later.

Charge Soldier With Shooting Blaze Killed 3 Small Children

DANANG, Vietnam (AP) — A 24-year-old soldier was charged today with murder and attempted murder for the shooting of two majors during an argument over a loud phonograph.

An Army spokesman said the charges were filed against Spec. 4 Alfred B. W. Flint of Haines City, Fla. No trial date has been set, he said.

Flint is accused of killing Maj. Robert Degen, 34, of Buffalo, N.Y., and wounding Maj. Michael F. Davis, 34, of Bennettsville, S.C. Three other enlisted men were also held for questioning but no charges have been filed against them.

The Army reported earlier that the two majors returned to their quarters at Quang Tri about 12:15 a.m. Thursday and heard loud playing from the stereo set to which five soldiers were listening in the enlisted men's quarters. When the officers asked the men to turn down the volume, an argument developed and the shooting followed.

Conley Hopes To Put Things Together In New Surroundings

HOLLYWOOD — D. H. Conley High School Coach Shelly Marsh looked forward to moving into the new plant, opened earlier this month.

of the big problems of the first of the season may be solved. Marsh has thrown out everything as far as past starting rosters at the former schools is concerned and is working toward the future.

Bryant Hines, another veteran starter, 5-11, is the top reserve at guard. "Overall, I think we have pretty good height," Marsh said.

BETHEL — Earlier in the season, North Pitt coach Cobble Deans said there was one team he was worried about on his schedule, Robersonville. Last night, Robersonville and North Pitt, two 11-0 girls teams, laid their perfect records on the line.

The North Pitt boys made it a clean sweep with a 62-52 victory over the Golden Eagles.

Much of the attention, however, was focused on the girls contest. The Panthers were chasing their 12th straight victory, as was Robersonville. It was figured to be a close battle, but Susan James pushed out North Pitt to an early lead, and Debbie Purvis used her sharp eye in the second half to keep the Big Orange moving along.

North Pitt led all the way, and ran up a six-point lead before the Golden Eagles could get on the board. Minnie Hollis hit from the free throw line to open things up, and Miss James followed with two baskets. She was fouled on the second one and made the free throw to up the lead to 6-0.

Robersonville finally hit, but after Jenny James and Betty Jo James had cut it back to 6-4, Susan James connected for two more and Miss Purvis added another to run the Pant-HERS out to a 12-4 lead. Robersonville cut it back to seven at the end of the period, however, 14-7.

In the second frame, North Pitt upped its lead to 10 points in the slowest period of the night. That margin came when Miss Purvis hit a jumper with 4:11 to go, making it 19-9.

Robersonville came back, however. A pair of free throws, one each by Kathy Thomas and Betty James cut it to eight. Miss Hollis hit a charity shot for North Pitt, but two baskets by Jenny James and Kay Coburn cut the margin to 20-15 at the end of the half.

In the third period, the lead fell off to four on three occasions, the least time on a jumper by Jenny James at 23-19 with 4:08 to play. But North Pitt then began to pull slowly away again, and by the time the period was over, had built up a 10-point edge again, 31-21. Miss Purvis led the way, hitting six of the 11 points in the period.

In the final period, it looked like North Pitt would run away with it, as they ran their lead out to 14 at 37-23 with 4:41 to go, as Miss James hit again. After that, both Miss James and Miss Purvis came out and Robersonville managed to cut it back to 10 in the time remaining.

Miss James led the Big Orange with 18 points, while Miss Purvis finished with 14. For Robersonville, Jenny James had 12 and Betty James had 10.

In the boys contest, North Pitt grabbed the opening lead on a shot from the corner by William Shiver. A free throw by James Crandall and a jumper by him with 5:51 to go, put Robersonville into a 3-2 lead, but it was the only lead for the Eagles all night.

Shiver hit from the baseline to make it 4-3, and the Panthers pulled away from there. Daniel Highsmith hit on a charity shot, and Shiver hit from underneath to run it to 7-3.

Robersonville cut it back to one with a free throw by Allen Brown and a jumper by Glenn Forbes with 2:21 left, at 7-6. But the Panthers pulled away again. Ronnie Briley scored on the fast break, and Highsmith got another free throw to make it 10-6 at the end of the period.

A three-point play by Crandall cut the lead back to one, at 10-9 as the second frame opened, but North Pitt pulled away again. Donnie Everett hit from the floor and then made two free throws to open the period along with a five-point lead, 14-9. After swapping buckets, North Pitt upped the lead to seven as Shiver hit, then moved out to nine on another Shiver bucket. Another basket, this one by Highsmith upped the lead to 11 at 24-13, and it stayed there until the quarter ended with North Pitt up, 28-17.

In the third quarter, Shiver stayed hot, hitting eight more points, as North Pitt went out by as much as 17 points. Frank Brown opened the period with a basket, and after an Eagle free throw, Wayne Brown hit to make the lead 14. Russ Andrews popped a long jumper with 6:03 left to give North Pitt a 16-point edge at 36-20. The two swapped baskets until another Andrews basket after a Robersonville charity shot upped the lead to 17 at 40-23.

Robersonville got two baskets from Jimmy Daniels to cut the lead back to 13, but Shiver hit two in a row to up the margin to 17 again, 47-31 with 1:16 to go. North Pitt held that lead, 50-33 as the period ended.

In the final frame, North Pitt continued along, stretching the lead one more point before the subs came in midway through the frame with the Panthers still up by 18. After that, Robersonville managed to cut it back to the final margin in the closing seconds.

Shiver put on a fine show, scoring 22 points in leading the Panther victory. All his points came from the floor as he connected on 11 of 19 shots from the field.

Crandall led Robersonville with 14 points, while Shepherd finished with 11.

North Pitt plays D. H. Conley tonight at 5:45 p.m. in Minges Coliseum on the campus of East Carolina University. The game is a preliminary to the ECU-Old Dominion game. Robersonville's next outing is also tonight, as the Eagles host Edenton.

Alcindor's Three-Point Play Gives West All-Star Victory

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP)—While Milwaukee's Lew Alcindor was clinching victory with a three-point play with 48 seconds left Tuesday night, little Lenny Wilkens sat on the West bench. But newsmen voted him the most valuable player of the 21st National Basketball Association East-West All-Star game.

The crowd of 14,378 and a national television audience watched Wilkens, 6-foot-1 and smaller than 27 other All-Stars, rally the West with driving lay-ups in the second and fourth quarters in the 108-107 victory.

Wilkens led all scorers with 21 points, followed by Alcindor's 19 and 16 by Chicago's Bob Love, also of the West.

The East was paced by Atlanta's Lou Hudson and New York's Willis Reed, with 14 each.

"Lenny Wilkens never surprises me," said East Coach Red Holzman of the 33-year-old Seattle player-coach who made 8 of 11 field goal attempts and 5 of 5 free throws.

West Coach Larry Costello of Milwaukee said the little Wilkens came out with 3½ minutes remaining because "The East had two big guards and I wanted a better matchup."

"That's the coach's prerogative," said Wilkens. "I didn't want to come out but no player ever does in a tight situation."

Asked whether Coach Wilkens would have pulled out player Wilkens, he said, "I'll know better if I ever get to coach the All-Star team."

Holzman of New York and Costello were chosen because their teams are conference leaders.

Alcindor's fall-away field goal in the middle of the key, on which he was fouled, led to his free throw and a three-point play, giving the West a 108-105 lead. It came on a scrambling lob pass in front of the hoop by Los Angeles' Jerry West.

"We had Jerry West blocked off with three guys but he lobbed that high pass to Alcindor," said Holzman of the play that meant $500 each for the West players and $300 for the losers.

West, who has never been the game's MVP in a career that has included 10 previous all-star appearances, scored only five points but his nine assists accounted for almost one third of passes which led to scores by his team.

The East started off slowly, allowing the West to grab a quick 8-1 lead in the first period and a 66-60 lead in the third. Despite the 7-foot-2 Alcindor, San Diego's 6-9½ Elvin Hayes and 7-1 Wilt Chamberlain from Los Angeles, the West was out-rebounded 58-53. Alcindor was the game's leader with 14.

Costello said the most difficult part of coaching all stars is playing everyone on the team.

Holzman, who coached the East's 142-135 victory last year, concurred:

"I made sure I had everyone in by the third quarter. After that, I played it as a game situation."

only three with only about three minutes to go in the ball game but Oak City hit three straight free throws to stave off an Ayden rally and give themselves another victory. The final score was 28-22.

The leading scorer for Oak City was Helen Copeland with 13. Judy Dail led Ayden with 10.

The Ayden boys jumped off to an early lead by out scoring the Oak City Trojans 10-8 in the first period. Ayden really poured it on in the second quarter and increased their lead to ten at halftime. Ayden scored six points in the opening minutes of the second quarter before Oak City could get on the scoreboard. The teams played evenly until the last minutes of the period when Ayden scored three consecutive buckets to increase their lead to ten at 22-12. Each team scored one more field goal to make the halftime score 24-14, Ayden's favor.

By BILLY EVANS

AYDEN — The Ayden Trojanets came up with a victory over the Oak City Trojanets last night, 47-36. The night was not a total loss for Oak City however, because in the first game the Oak City girls downed Ayden, 28-22.

Richmond Upsets Citadel, 67-64

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Davidson's Wildcats, with high-scoring Bryan Adrian finally back in the lineup, take on a pair of rugged Pennsylvania opponents this week in a bid to restore some prestige to Southern Conference Basketball.

The Wildcats, 7-3 over-all even with Adrian playing only in the last game last Saturday night, go to Pitt tonight, then return home Saturday night to meet St. Joseph's at the Charlotte, N. C., Coliseum.

Tonight's Davidson-Pitt encounter is one of two for league teams. East Carolina's Pirates, 5-5, will be at home against Old Dominion in an effort to avenge a 71-66 licking handed them Dec. 19 by the Monarchs.

"We were certainly pleased to see Bryan come in and give us some offensive spark against West Virginia," says Davidson coach Terry Holland. Adrian, who led the Wildcats in scoring as a sophomore last year, scored 17 points against the Mountaineers after coming back from knee surgery.

Despite that, Adrian's status as a starter this week is uncertain.

"It will depend on how his knee is feeling," says Holland.

In Tuesday night's only action Richmond's Spiders ended their 10-game losing streak but Virginia Military Institute's Keydet didn't.

The Spiders upended The Citadel 67-64 in a conference game and prevented the Bulldogs from tying Davidson, for the league lead. Instead, the Bulldogs fell to fourth place at 2-2 and Richmond climbed out of its deadlock for the basement with VMI.

Richmond, with Mike Anastasio scoring 16 points, overcame an eight-point deficit for its second victory in 13 starts. Joe Dausess had 14 points and Stan Ryfinski 13, and each grabbed 10 rebounds. Lou Meckstroth led the Bulldogs with 16 points.

AYDEN — Phillips High School of Battleboro held off South Ayden last night to take a 68-65 victory over the Eagles.

Phillips eased out into an 18-15 lead in the first period of play, and then pulled further out in the second frame. Phillips outscored South Ayden, 22-16, in the second quarter, and held a 40-31 lead at halftime.

South Ayden fought back in the third period, outscoring Phillips, 21-16. That cut the lead back to 56-52 as the final period opened. South Ayden then went on to tie it up with about a minute and half to play, but Phillips pushed back in front to take the win.

Hobpton Falls To Farmville

HOBPTON — The Farmville Red Devils knocked Hobpton High School out of first place in the Eastern Plains Conference last night with a 65-50 victory.

The win enabled Farmville to keep its hopes of a conference title strong, as the Red Devils now stand 4-1 in the loop and 6-4 overall.

The Red Devils shot away to a big lead in the first period, as they outthrew Hobpton, 19-9. They continued to move away in the second quarter, pushing through 15 points while Hobpton managed 11. That gave Farmville a 34-20 lead at the half.

In the third period, the action got closer, but Farmville still managed to tack points to its lead, outthrusting Hobpton, 12-10. That gave the Red Devils a 46-30 lead going into the final frame. Hobpton got hot in the final period, but Farmville stayed with them most of the way. Hobpton outthrust Farmville, 20-19, but it didn't change the final result.

McCoy Williams led Farmville with 17 points, while Robert Tripp had 15, Connie Tripp had 12 and Ronnie Daniels had 10. For Hobpton, John Devone had 12, Dwight Darden had 11 and Larry Faison had 10.

Farmville travels to Southern Wayne on Friday.

Eighth Hill Of Rome Is Debt; It's Growing

By CHARLES W. BELL

ROME (UPI)—Rome has seven ancient hills named Capitoline, Palatine, Aventine, Quirinale, Viminal, Caelius and Esquiline. The tallest is Esquiline at 195 feet.

The city also has a modern day mountain—named debt. It now stands at 1.5 trillion lire ($2.4 billion) and is growing at a rate of 460 million lire ($732,480) a day.

If Rome was a business, it would declare bankruptcy.

But as capital of Italy, center of Roman Catholicism and one of history's most honored cities, Rome cannot go broke. She just goes on, living in rags on handouts and hopes.

The city owes state and commercial banks 540 billion lire ($864 million) and four of every five lire Rome collects in revenue goes to bankers.

Every Agency in Debt

Every city agency is in debt up to its ears. The city bus company Atac alone is 50 billion lire ($80 million) in the red on its 1970 operations.

How did a city of 2.7 million people get so far in debt?

Simple. Too few inhabitants paid taxes and too much money was spent on planning things that never got done. Like subways, parks, schools, roads, public housing projects and health programs.

Rome has doubled its population in 15 years, but the newcomers were not taxpayers. They were mostly poor and often illiterate job seekers who still pour into Rome at a rate of 65,000 a year. Often unable to work, they drain millions of dollars from welfare agencies and impose severe strains on every public service.

Moreover, slum dwellers, often joined by more affluent dissenters, are growing more militant in demands the city do something—anything—about the mess Rome is in.

More of Everything Needed

The city needs 3,000 classrooms to relieve a crush that forces many of its 400,000 pupils to attend school in shifts. The city needs 90,000 bedrooms to free slum dwellers from living in squalid shacks on the outskirts of Rome. More of everything is needed—from a plant to purify the water Romans drink to buses to get them in and out of a city choking on its own traffic.

Satisfying demands for action led authorities to earmark about one-half of the 1971 budget to public works projects. But chances are, few, if any, of them will get done. Red tape buries even urgent plans.

Roman wits propose two solutions. One is the sale of Rome to Aristotle Onassis or any other millionaire looking for a city to call his own. The other is nationalization by the national government.

More serious suggestions include a formal declaration of bankruptcy. Former Mayor Amerigo Petrucci almost took the step in 1967 before the national government granted the city an emergency 13.5 billion lire ($21.6 million) to meet the payroll.

A bankruptcy declaration would clear the books, but it makes a lot of bankers unhappy, hurt Roman credit in the future and set a potentially dangerous precedent for other cities and towns with mountainous debts. Besides, the national government might block such a move.

Golden Eagle 'Loves People'

LOS BANOS, Calif. (UPI)—There's a golden eagle who has learned to love people.

A fledgling bird was found in the area several months ago by 15-year-old Emmett Valentine. It was unable to return to its nest.

Believing it to be a hawk, the young Valentine took the bird home, thinking he would learn falconry and train it for hunting.

As time passed the "hawk" grew into a female golden eagle. Emmett named it "Queenie." Her actions were more representative of a pet dog than a fierce bird of prey.

Bird Becomes Dependent

The more she became dependent upon man, the less she was able to care herself. The process is called "imprinting" by game managers.

Queenie mingled with visitors, unhindered by tether or cage. Her sharp three-inch beak could be an awesome weapon, but she never used it on people.

"For attention," Emmett said, "Queenie would peck at a window or door. When we let her in, she turned her head almost upside down puzzling over the television."

When young Valentine was certain Queenie was an eagle rather than a hawk, he contacted Charles Stribling, game management agent of the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, Fresno.

Stribling suggested the bird be taken to the Los Banos Wildlife Management for rehabilitation so she could take of herself.

Queenie Declines Offer

When he attempted to free Queenie in a remote area, she promptly "adopted" him. She declined the offer of freedom.

Finally, she decided to look at the world. She swept down on a rock beside a fisherman. He fell into the stream when he thought he was being attacked. After climbing to shore he fired rocks at Queenie but finally decided to depart the premises leaving behind rod, reel, and his catch.

Queenie had a sumptuous meal.

Next she moved in with the forest ranger at Summit Fire Lookout Station in Stanislaus National Forest. But once again, Queenie was sent back to Agent Stribling when word leaked out of her location.

Stribling said: "This bird could never make it in the wild, so we shipped her to John Zara, director of the Metzker Park Zoo, Evansville, Ind., where Queenie will be taken care of, and where she and people can admire one another."

Textiles, tobacco items and furniture are the main products of North Carolina.

READY TO MOVE — The commander of an American armored platoon radios the word to proceed as the vehicles prepare to move out near the Demilitarized Zone separating the two Vietnams. New Discipline Said Necessary For Environment

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (UPI)—Many people think that enough money and more technology are all that is needed to clean up the environment, "but that isn't the way it's going to happen," says conservationist Dick Cooley.

Cooley is chairman of the environmental studies program at the University of California's Santa Cruz campus.

He says the technological approach to solving environmental problems is like a man standing on a floor of wet paint—no matter where he goes to brush away his footprints, he leaves another mark.

"We've got to begin to think out the whole chain of events when we try to manage the environment in one particular way," he said.

SST Good Example

"The supersonic transport is a good example. We know we can build a mammoth plane that will move more people faster.

"But maybe what seems like an improvement in air travel is really going to create more problems than it solves.

"We're not promoting an attitude of 'Let's give up and head back to nature.' But then, we're not for man's unlimited use of every resource either.

"What we should look for is a balance between the two extremes, so that man can continue to fulfill his real needs, but at the same time cause the minimal adverse impact on his environment."

Cooley said that in addition to engineers, other experts such as biologists, chemists, historians, philosophers, sociologists, architects and artists should be brought into environmental problem solving and planning.

Cities Transportation

He cited a city's transportation system as an example. Where a bus, train or auto route goes will affect where people live, where shopping centers will be built, where schools will be needed, and where water and other utilities will be used in great quantities.

In turn, such growth will determine what natural resources such as rivers, trees and open spaces will be diverted, cut down or covered over—all of which will affect the quality of people's lives.

Therefore, Cooley said, every discipline is needed for sound environmental planning, including the humanities and the social sciences.

"We're talking about more than just clearing up the air or water. We're talking about values and changing values systems," he said.

"Our job is to help bring all the required fields of study to focus on a problem, then work together to solve it in the best interests of both man and the environment."

The bidding:
South West North East
1 2 2 2 Pass
4 4 Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead: King of ♠
West was anxious to obtain a club ruff in defending against South's four spade contract and, in order to achieve his objective, West threw away the rule table and relied on his imagination to find the answer.
West opened the king of hearts which held the trick. With the appearance of the dummy, he observed that the only outstanding card in the suit was the eight. If East held that card, declarer would be able to ruff the continuation. If South, on the other hand, had the eight of hearts, West could put his partner in via the ruff to obtain the club return which he so much desired.

The only problem confronting West — assuming that East was the player who had no more hearts — was to persuade his partner to trump the continuation. If, for example, West continues with the ace of hearts, or even the queen, East might choose to take a harmless discard — not realizing that West urgently desired to transfer the lead.

West solved his problem by leading the nine of hearts at trick two. East made the natural play of trumping with the five of spades. The obvious return was, of course, a club; however, in shifting to that suit, East was careful to lead the jack. South covered with the queen and West ruffed with the heart return was trumped by the declarer, but there was no way for him to avoid losing a club trick subsequently, and he went down to defeat.

Observe that, if East leads back a small club when he is in, declarer can duck the trick around to North's ten. West will be forced to ruff a small card, and declarer can subsequently finesse the queen of clubs after he has drawn trumps.

College Offers Dial-An-Answer

BUCKHANNON, W.Va. (UPI)—Students at West Virginia Wesleyan need have no fear of flunking an exam in abnormal psychology if they forget Freud's definition of the Id at 2 a.m. the night before.

Nor do history majors among the 1,711 students at the private Methodist college have to worry if they forget who were the Yorks and who the Lancasters in the War of the Roses, and can't walk through the snowdrifts to the library.

Any student at Wesleyan can pick up the telephone in his dormitory or fraternity room, dial a certain three-digit number—and get up to 20 minutes of recorded supplemental, explanatory or background information on almost any course in the curriculum.

All this is possible through Wesleyan's unique Dial Access Retrieval System, tied into the school's centrex telephone system. When it was initiated two years ago here, it was the first of its kind in the nation. Other colleges and universities have sent people to Wesleyan to see what it's all about.

Wesleyan officials expressed delight with the program's early success. They plan expansion of the system to make it available to more students at one time and to make more material available. The system operates 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Up to 30 students can use it at one time. The material is pre-recorded on magnetic tape cartridges similar to those used in commercial radio stations. The main switching board is located in the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. office in Buckhannon, and it is connected to the retrieval system on lines rented by the school.

Low Cost
The only cost for Wesleyan is the line rental, $180 per line each semester and for the recording machines, about $250 each. It averages out to a cost of about 20 cents per student a semester.

Worry Clinic Cultivate The College Wish

Tommy's mother can what his appetite for knowledge and give him the "WISH" to go onward to college. It isn't your $$$$ that will get your child through high school and college but the cultural thirst you instill in him for further education. Abraham Lincoln probably got that "thirst" from his stepmother!

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Case P-545: Tommy G., aged 11, is a bright 6th grader. "Dr. Crane," his mother began, "I never got to finish high school.

"The Dow-Jones industrial average rose how many points: 1; 3; 6; 8."
Follow that pattern but cover 10 departments of your newspaper to encourage wider readership thereof.

COLLEGE INSURANCE
The best form of college insurance is to cultivate in your youngsters a WISH to gain more education!

For newspaper readers seldom become school dropouts! Instead, they not only make higher school marks but they are thus much more likely to finish high school and go onward to college.

(1) Subscribe to a newspaper and then encourage your children to read it more extensively than their age group usually does.

Remember, swift, efficient reading is the motor of the entire educational system and a superb way to insure college entrance!

For example, at the dinner table, let each child mention some item in today's paper which he or she has read.

For example, pay them 50¢ to $1 for every book in the Bible that they finish, and do likewise for library volumes.

As variation of this strategy, let an older youngster like Tommy prepare a brief 4-answer quiz on this issue of your newspaper, such as:

Thus, they can read Ivanhoe, Tale of Two Cities, Moby Dick and 200 other great classics of literature in colorful digested fashion.

NEW YORK (AP)—Oil slicks as small as 300 gallons have been detected in the open sea by aerial radar from a height of 2,000 feet.

The U.S. Coast Guard may use this method to detect illicit oil discharges and to follow movements of known spills. The method was devised at the J.S. Naval Research Laboratory using general-purpose radar equipment.

Series Of Four Traffic Mishaps Here Tuesday

One pedestrian was reported injured and an estimated $3,300 property damage caused in a series of four traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Investigators said a pedestrian, George D. Melton, 59, of Greenville, was struck by a car as he crossed Evans Street just north of the Fifth Street intersection at Five Points, about 4:45 p.m.

Driver of the vehicle involved in the mishap was identified as Bobby Ray Yarrell, 23, of Ford St. who police charged with failing to yield the right of way to a pedestrian.

Melton was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital by the Greenville Rescue Squad for treatment of injuries he received in the mishap.

Edith Fleming Williams of 1016 West Fourth St. was charged with failing to use reasonable care while backing following investigation of a 10:30 a.m. collision on Second Street, 75 feet East of the Greene Street intersection which involved two parked cars.

Officers said the Williams car struck a car owned by Jerry Lynn Fleming, 905B Forbes St. and pushed the Fleming car into an auto owned by Geraldine Parker Teel of Route 4, Greenville.

Damage was set at $250 to the Williams car, $2,000 to the Fleming auto and $300 to the Teel vehicle.

No charges were reported in a three-vehicle collision at the intersection of First and Washington Streets at 8:20 a.m.

Investigators identified drivers of the vehicles involved as Evelyn Whitt Buck of 1209 North Pitt St., Pandora Walls, 18, of 1304 Drum Ave. and Mable Smith Worthington, Route 6, Greenville.

Damage to the vehicles was set at $50 to the Buck auto, $150 to the Walls car and $250 to the Worthington car.

Roosevelt Green, 36, of Route 1, Winterville was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety following investigation of an 8:20 a.m. collision on Charles Street a half-mile north of the U. S. 264 intersection.

Officers said the Green vehicle collided with a truck driven by Moses Wilson, 50, of Route 2, Farmville causing an estimated $100 damage to the truck and about $200 damage to the Green car.

considerably longer, however. Director Horne said the cost of the work is still being compiled, but he reported it should run between $50,000 and $100,000.

The commission approved a resolution commending all its employees for their efforts in restoring service throughout the system.

The commission was informed that the Meadowbrook sewer system has been completed. They also extended the contractor's contract to provide for installation of a section of sewer line between First and Third Streets.

Horne reported to the commission that easements are being obtained for the Green Hill Run sewer outfall which will serve an area west of Memorial Drive.

Chairman Ed Waldrop appointed City Manager Harry Hagerty and George Coffman to work on new contracts for Christmas decorations.

Business Manager Larry Brown told the commissioners that changes in the fire insurance coverage would cut the premium by almost 50 percent. One reason is because the power plant is no longer in use.

A new plan whereby workmen compensation and public liability insurance were combined could mean annual savings of from $7,000 to $31,000 depending on the commission's safety record, Brown reported.

Hints Boost In Hog Price

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, sympathizing with disgruntled hog farmers, has hinted that the government may step in to raise prices.

Hardin told a farm audience Tuesday that price declines, now at their lowest levels in six years, have caused great anxiety in the Agriculture Department.

Hardin's comments were made to the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. They followed last weekend's pig-truck parade past the White House by irate North Carolina and Virginia farmers who hauled their squealing stock on to Philadelphia for delivery to a meat-packing firm.

Hog prices averaged $15.10 per hundred pounds last month, compared with $25.70 in December, 1969.

Hardin said the government has stepped up its purchases of pork as one relief measure, and he added, "Our hope is that additional tools can be developed to cope with the hog price problem."

Appropriations for the State Department of Social Services would total $111.5 million as compared with $75.5 million this biennium. Takeover of the Medicaid and work incentive programs would account for $25 million of the increase.

The budget calls for a big boost, from $43 million to $55.1 million to the Department of Corrections. Funds are included to reduce the number of prisoners working on the highways by about 655 to about 1,900. This would permit an increase in the work release program.

Prison appropriations would also include $1.4 million for a new close custody prison at Caledonia where the most dangerous convicts would be confined. Another $1.5 million would go for construction of a modern psychological treatment facility at Central Prison.

Craig Phillips Has 'Bird Dogs'

RALEIGH (AP) — Craig Phillips, state superintendent of schools, calls his new outfit the "Bird Dog Committee."

The group is composed of 25 men — hand-picked by Phillips from the State Department of Public Instruction — each of whose job it is to "bird dog" seven or eight legislators on the needs of public education.

PTA Will Hear Two Lawmen

Two local law officers will present a program on "The Drug Scene in Pitt County" to the Eastern Elementary School PTA tomorrow at 7:30 p.m.

Informing the parents of the presence of drugs and their users in Pitt County will be Lt. John Kerr of the Greenville Police Department and Deputy Sheriff K. R. Evans of the Pitt Sheriff Department. Program Chairman Charles Camp said he strongly urges parents to hear this relevant presentation.

Budget . . .

education this biennium. The budget group said it expected enrollment to increase by 10 per cent to 78,696.

The appropriation boost for higher education would include $14.3 million for salary increases, $2.7 million for new and improved programs, $1.3 million for data processing improvements and $1.2 million for library improvements.

Appropriations for the community college program would be increased from $83.5 million to $111.8 million. Enrollment is expected to rise from about 57,000 to 66,000.

In recommending salary boosts of 5 per cent each year of the biennium for state workers, the budgeters called for across the board raises.

However, increases for academic personnel at community colleges and state universities would be "at the discretion of institutional heads."

The cost of salary increases would total more than $148 million.

The budget commission recommended that the North Carolina Symphony Orchestra be made a state agency so it may receive "continued and adequate funding." An appropriation of $424,474 for the next biennium was recommended for the orchestra.

The budget group said the two outdoor dramas, "Horn in the West" and "The Lost Colony," are of "immeasurable value" to the state and urged the General Assembly to consider regular annual appropriations for each. They have received state money in the past when they operated at a loss.

Appropriations for health and hospitals would total $204.1 million, including $143.8 million for mental hospitals. This compares with $175 million for health and hospitals this biennium.

The $4 million proposed in increased state assistance to local mental health clinics would bring state appropriations to $11 million and cover half the cost of this program, which has put mental health clinics in reach of the state's entire population.

Appropriations for the State Department of Social Services would total $111.5 million as compared with $75.5 million this biennium. Takeover of the Medicaid and work incentive programs would account for $25 million of the increase.

The budget calls for a big boost, from $43 million to $55.1 million to the Department of Corrections. Funds are included to reduce the number of prisoners working on the highways by about 655 to about 1,900. This would permit an increase in the work release program.

Prison appropriations would also include $1.4 million for a new close custody prison at Caledonia where the most dangerous convicts would be confined. Another $1.5 million would go for construction of a modern psychological treatment facility at Central Prison.

Craig Phillips Has 'Bird Dogs'

RALEIGH (AP) — Craig Phillips, state superintendent of schools, calls his new outfit the "Bird Dog Committee."

The group is composed of 25 men — hand-picked by Phillips from the State Department of Public Instruction — each of whose job it is to "bird dog" seven or eight legislators on the needs of public education.

"It's not a group to pressure legislators or promote our programs," Phillips said Tuesday. Instead, the education head sees it as "a way to keep a constant flow of information to the legislators, as well as get their concerns and ideas back to us."
