'New Army' Target Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has asked Congress to clear the way for an all-volunteer Army by mid-1973 by approving a $1.5-billion pay raise and improving other aspects of military life.

The President disclosed the July 1, 1973 target date Thursday by asking Congress to extend for only two years the military draft authority due to expire July 1. Such requests are usually for four years.

"No one knows precisely when we can end conscription," the President said. "We shall make every endeavor to reduce draft calls to zero by that time, carefully and continually re-examining our position as we proceed toward that goal."

Sen. John Stennis, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he doubts the draft can be done away with by mid-1973 as Nixon suggested. But the Mississippi Democrat, who refused to hold hearings on draft reform legislation last year, announced his panel will begin testimony on it next week.

Outlining his proposals, Nixon said: "The objective of this administration is to reduce draft calls to zero, subject to the overriding considerations of the national security."

Most of the pay hikes would go to servicemen in lower grades as an incentive to enlist. Other Nixon proposals are a test program for special pay incentives, expanded recruiting, medical scholarships and expanded ROTC programs.

In addition, the President asked for national—rather than state—assignment of quota numbers for potential draftees under the lottery system.

Until an all-volunteer Army is possible, Nixon urged legislation to make the draft "as equitable as possible," including a phasing out of undergraduate deferments.

Apollo 14 Crew Tapers Off Training; Filling Of Tanks Is Next Step

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 14 astronauts taper off their training today as the countdown for Sunday's moon launching enters a critical phase with the loading of super-cold liquids aboard the command ship.

After devoting several full days to practice in the space-ship trainers, Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa planned to spend only a few hours at this work today and to devote more time to flight plan review.

In a delicate operation, the launch team is to pump liquid oxygen and liquid hydrogen into tanks that service the command vessel's fuel cells. These two frigid liquids combine in the cells to produce electricity.

Liquid oxygen must be maintained at 297 degrees below zero and liquid hydrogen at minus 423. Otherwise they would turn to gas.

It was the explosion of one of the fuel cell oxygen tanks that aborted the Apollo 13 flight as it neared the moon last April. An extra tank has been put on Apollo 14 and has been isolated from the other two.

Launch director Walter Kapryan said the loading of the fuel cell liquids was one of the four major milestones remaining in the countdown, which is ticking toward a liftoff of the Saturn 5 rocket at 3:23 p.m. EST Sunday.

The others are, loading fuel aboard the first stage of the Saturn 5 and transferring the rocket from external ground power to internal battery power, both on Saturday, and fueling all three stages with liquid hydrogen and liquid oxygen propellants in the final hours Sunday.

Kapryan is confident of an on-time liftoff, just like all the earlier Apollo moon shots.

Roosa planned to spend the morning in the command ship trainer conducting landmark tracking experiments as a simulated moonshot flashes by on a screen outside his window. Roosa will photograph many landmarks and the Descartes crater while orbiting the moon alone.

Shepard and Mitchell are to land in the Fra Mauro highlands and remain for 33½ hours.

NCAE 'Sanctions Alert' Is Requested

RALEIGH (AP) — The directors of the North Carolina Association of Educators planned to consider a request today from teachers for a "sanctions alert."

About two-thirds of the more than 1,300 teachers who gathered at a rally in Raleigh Jan. 21 in support of the NCAE's legislative program requested that a "sanctions alert" be considered by the board.

A sanctions alert would involve a warning of the existence of unsatisfactory education conditions, a spokesman said, and would pose an alert that further sanctions activity might be necessary if the unsatisfactory conditions are not removed.

The consideration of sanctions was only one of several suggestions expected to be placed before the directors at their meeting which continues Saturday.

Dr. A. C. Dawson, NCAE executive secretary, said the directors' action will not be released until Monday at a 10 a.m. press conference.

He said many teachers have the idea that Gov. Bob Scott is attempting to pit teachers against the public.

'Full Employment' Target Administration Unveils Record Deficit Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon called today for a record $229.2 billion spending for fiscal 1972 in a "full employment budget" built on two massive deficits totaling $30.2 billion this year and next.

Nixon told Congress his deliberate deficit policy—reversing generations of Republican economic orthodoxy—signals the activist administration role in restoring "a prosperity without war and without runaway inflation."

"The full employment budget idea is in the nature of a self-fulfilling prophecy," the President said.

"By operating as if we were at full employment, we will help to bring about full employment."

Nixon asked no new taxes for the year starting July 1 to pare the deficit. It may be cut nevertheless, by a congressional refusal to vote all of the proposed new spending. His huge revenue sharing plan, a $4 billion price tag for fiscal 1972 and $5 billion for the full first year, is under heavy attack.

Defense outlays will be raised by $1.6 billion if Congress consents, even though the armed forces will diminish to their lowest strength in 10 years. Higher pay and the rising cost of weaponry will boost the Pentagon budget to nearly $75 billion.

The addition of $1.025 billion for military aid to allied nations brings total military outlays to about $76 billion. Budget officials refused to disclose how much of the cost is earmarked (Continued on page 5)

House Fight Over Liquor Is Launched

RALEIGH (AP) — The biennial battle over the sale of liquor by the drink is under way again in the North Carolina House.

The opening blows came Thursday when Rep. Claude DeBruhl, D-Buncombe, and six other House members introduced a bill to permit elections on liquor by the drink in counties and municipalities with ABC stores.

The dry forces, led by Marse Grant, editor of the Biblical Recorder, immediately charged that passage of the bill would "break a 36-year tradition in this state of no personal profit on the legal sale of whisky."

They called the bill "special interest legislation" that was "designed solely to fatten the pocketbook of those who can take a $5 bottle of whisky and sell it for $20 to $25."

Grant was joined in the statement by Coy C. Privette of Kannapolis, president of the N.C. Christian Action league, and D.P. MacFarland, executive Director of the league.

DeBruhl's bill, which has the strong backing of the N.C. Travel Council, would permit voters in areas with ABC stores to decide whether to legalize the sale of mixed drinks at restaurants or clubs with a seating capacity of at least 50.

DeBruhl was joined in sponsoring the bill by Reps. Clyde Auman, D-Moore; Ed McKnight, R-Forsyth; Howard A. Penton, D-New Hanover; Herschel Harkins, D-Buncombe; Hugh Campbell, D-Mecklenburg; and George Rountree, R-New Hanover.

DeBruhl said that he had once planned to wait about 30 days before introducing the bill, but he said once his count of the number of House supporters reached 70 out of a membership of 120, he decided to go ahead.

An almost identical measure was defeated by a 66-44 vote in the House two years ago after spirited debate. DeBruhl said this time, "we've got the horses" to pass it.

In other legislative action Thursday:

—Rep. James Johnson, R-Cabarrus, introduced a bill to raise the state's cigarette tax from two to five cents a pack.

—Bills were introduced in the Senate and House to allocate $1.5 million to continue and expand a program of state aid to the state's two private medical schools.

—The minority leaders in both houses introduced bills to increase the membership of the Advisory Budget Commission from six to eight in order to add two Republican members.

—Bills to provide for mandatory licensing of day care facilities by an independent state board were introduced in both houses by Sen. L. P. McLendon Jr., D-Guilford, and Rep. Herschel Harkins, D-Buncombe.

—In the House, Rep. Hunter Warlick, R-Catawba, sponsored a bill to give children born as a result of artificial insemination the same legal rights as a couple's naturally conceived children.

—Sen. David Flaherty, R-Caldwell, introduced a bill to make it a felony to speed over 80 miles per hour in evading a law enforcement officer.

Johnson said his tax bill "will give us the means to do what needs to be done for our education."

Taken In Custody

A Route 3, Greenville man, Michael Wayne Evans, 22, has been charged by Greenville police officers with assaulting three young women on the fringes of the East Carolina University campus during the past few weeks.

Evans was taken into custody on the assault charges early this morning, according to department records. Bond in each of the three cases was set at $250 each.

According to Chief T. E. Gladson, Evans was charged in connection with a January 5 incident with Miss Anna Mae Highsmith was grabbed by a man near the intersection of Fifth and Summit Streets about 9:05 p.m.; an incident about 8:55 p.m. January 7 when Miss Linda Pollard was grabbed as she walked along Seventh Street; and an incident January 25 when Miss Pat Goldsmith was grabbed as she walked along Tenth Street near the Elm Street intersection.

Unruly Manson Again Ousted From Court

By LINDA DEUTSCH
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson has started the penalty phase of the Sharon Tate murder trial by insulting the judge, punching his attorney and getting kicked out of court.

The outbursts came in a day of unpredictable twists Thursday which suggested that the penalty hearing would be as surprise-filled as the seven-month-old trial of the 36-year-old hippie-type clan leader and three women codefendants.

The action included testimony by a rotund black musician nicknamed "Lotsapoppa" who said Manson once shot him, an unexpected motion by the chief defense counsel to change Patricia Krenwinkel's plea to innocent by reason of insanity and an abortive try by Manson's attorney to show a juror had "taken to alcohol."

Manson was convicted last Monday of murder-conspiracy in the slayings of Miss Tate and six others in August 1969. Three women followers, who were described by the state as robots who did the killings at his command also were found guilty.

As the women arrived Thursday, clad in chic pants suits, defendant Susan Atkins, 22, walked into court mimicking a robot, her legs stiff and arms moving machinelike at her sides.

The same jury which found the four guilty must decide between two sentences, life imprisonment or death in the gas chamber.

Manson, who was repeatedly ejected during the trial's first phase for disruptive conduct, asked to speak before the first witness was called. He arose and repeated an old demand—to be his own attorney—saying, "We wish to put on a defense ... The attorneys wouldn't understand a defense if you put it in front of them."

When Superior Court Judge Charles Older denied the motion, saying Manson was inadequate to represent himself, the diminutive, bearded defendant shouted, "You've already convicted me of something I didn't do! ... There's no justice here, Older! Dammit, man, look at it!

... What good is a courtroom if it's one-sided?"

The judge told him to sit down. Manson did but, referring to the judge, shouted, "He ain't got no guts! He's a woman!"

As the first witness was being sworn, Manson suddenly told his attorney, Irving Kanarek, "I can't communicate with you," then began punching him in the arm and chest as they sat side-by-side at the counsel table.

Manson was pulled from his chair by bailiffs and led out to a holding cell adjoining the courtroom.

Special-Use Permit Is Okayed By Joint Board

A request for special use permit by a contracting firm to construct multi-family dwellings was approved last night at a meeting of the joint City - County Board of Adjustments.

General Building and Masonry

Contractors of Raleigh was seeking permission to construct dwellings on property located on East Tenth Street extended, on what is known as the J. A. Williams property.

In approving the special use permit, the joint board referred the matter to the attention of the City Council for its action on annexation of the portion of the property which now lies outside the city limits. Part of the property is already within the city.

The joint board took no action on another request on the agenda, one for a temporary special use permit by Quick Fill, Inc. to construct a service station on property located on the north side of Washington Highway adjacent to Hardee Creek. No one was on hand at the joint meeting to represent persons making the request, and the matter was therefore not considered for action.

In the meeting of the Greenville City Board of Adjustments, a request for variance sought by John's Flowers was denied. The petitioner was seeking to make an addition to the front of the building located at 503 East Third Street. Denial was based on the objection of a neighbor who maintained such an addition would obstruct her view in leaving her driveway.

Approval was granted on a request for variance asked by Etna Oil Company to build a canopy over an existing structure at the intersection of Country Club Drive and South Memorial Drive. Approval was also made for a variance request submitted by Chapin Construction Company to construct an addition to Fieldcrest Mills, Inc. at the intersection of Hooker Road and Dickinson Avenue.

He said Mrs. Sallie McCoy sustained a concussion when she was struck in two places with the butt of a pistol and her husband received a glancing bullet wound on his head and was also beaten about the head.

Lucas said his department, aided by law officers from Wilson, Pitt, and Greene Counties are searching for three men, one white and two Negro. The amount of money taken from the store has not been determined, he said.

Store Robbery Reward Offered

FOUNTAIN — A $700 reward has been offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons who injured a rural store operator and his wife during a robbery at the store near here Tuesday. Fountain Police Chief Floyd Lucas said this morning.

The reward was posted yesterday by the Fountain Police Department and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCoy, Chief Lucas said. Both of the McCoy's were assaulted by two men who also robbed the Friendly Grocery two miles west of here on Highway 222 just

Two Pupils Sentenced

WARRENTON, N.C. (AP) — Two black high school pupils have been sentenced in Superior Court to 10 days in jail after appealing convictions handed down in District Court on charges of disrupting classes.

The sentences were imposed Thursday in the cases of Gladys Davis, 17, and Joyce Green, 18. Defense attorneys said there would be no further appeal and the sentences are being served in the Warren County jail.

The two girls were among more than 100 pupils arrested Dec. 2, a day after Warrenton's John Graham High School was closed in the wake of protests and demonstrations. Some windows were broken and several small fires were set.

A total of 91 cases went to District Court last month and 15 other appeals are to be heard during the current session of Superior Court.

Offer Concerts On Novel Instruments

The First Pentecostal Holiness Church of Greenville presents the Musical Taylors, a husband and wife team, with nightly concerts from Sunday, January 31, through Sunday, February 7. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Taylor from Florida en route to Washington, D.C., are in demand for their interpretation of music on one of the largest collections of novel instruments traveling today.

The Musical Taylors produce music from tin cans, an inner tube, bottles, saw, glasses, several kinds of bells, steel guitar, vibraharp, organ, and dulcimer. They also feature the Theremin, which is played without being touched.

On Monday through Friday, they will conduct an unusual Youth Crusade with songs, stories, object lessons, handicraft, and music.

The First P. H. Church is observing annual Youth Week in this series of special services with the Musical Taylors, a couple formerly employed in night club entertainment.

The Rev. M. D. McPherson, host pastor, has extended an invitation to the public to attend this unusual series of services throughout the coming week.

Not Infallible

RALEIGH (AP) — A Raleigh legislator told a legislative subcommittee attorneys are not infallible. Rep. Sam Johnson, himself an attorney, made his point by saying, "I recently had a call from a client about some difficulty he was in and I told him, 'Don't worry, they can't put you in jail for that.'" The client replied, "But I'm calling from the jail."

Gap In Oil Talk

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Serious gaps between the positions of the western oil companies and the producer countries of the Persian Gulf were reported today as they continued price negotiations.

"The talks are tough and hard, but a successful outcome is still possible," said the spokesman for the companies, John Collins.

"No one wants to contemplate a breakdown since this would lead to a situation of extreme gravity, both for the consumer countries of Europe and the producers themselves."

The Persian Gulf producers supply Western Europe with about half of its oil and Japan with 90 percent of its.

"We are still in the early days, and it is going to be hard to negotiate," said Collins. "But both sides are carrying on with the negotiation and one is still optimistic that a successful outcome is still possible. I think both sides want a settlement."

Singspiration Planned Sunday

A special singspiration program will be held at Third Street School on Sunday beginning at 2 p.m.

Appearing on the program will be the Harper Family of Clayton, the Assembly Quartet of Yadkinville, the Seaires of Durham and several local groups.

The program is being sponsored by the Church of God of Greenville. The public is invited to attend.

255 Million Phones In World

NEW YORK (AP) — The number of telephones in the world has increased 90 per cent to 255 million in the last decade, according to the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The United States ranks first with 115.2 million telephones, or about 45 per cent of the total, followed by Japan with 23.1 million and the United Kingdom with 13.9 million, AT&T says.

The Rev. Mr. Hutchinson, a native North Carolinian, has been active in the field of mental health at all organizational levels.

At present he is a minister for the First United Methodist Church in Brevard.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Joe Pou, treasurer of the NCMHA, and the Rev. Richard Gammon gave the invocation. Dr. Malene Irons presided and gave an annual report and applauded the work done by the executive secretary, Mrs. Lib LeConte.

A Welcome was given by County Commissioner Robert Martin, and Dr. Malene Irons, our going president, was presented a Mental Health pin by Dave Reid, incoming president.

Officers of the local association were installed at the meeting by Mrs. Leif Valand, Raleigh, President of NCAMH. These were: David E. Reid, president; Walter B. Jones, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Thomas Craft, secretary; Leland Moore, Jr., treasurer. Newly elected board members in the class of 1973 are: David Barnhill, Jack A. Farrior, Mrs. C. G. Garrenton, Mrs. Bill McLawhorn, Sam E. Nelson, Jack W. Richardson, Vance B. Taylor, Mrs. Robert Joseph Whitehurst, and Mrs. Jack C. Wynne, III.

Three awards were presented. One went to the Junior Women's Club in appreciation for volunteer service. Each Monday afternoon for 11 weeks members have served coffee and light refreshments to 25 participants taking an in-service course — "Mental Health in the Classroom." Also a number of them are volunteers as teacher's helpers at Elmhurst School.

Another award went to Mrs. Norman Hawkins in recognition of her contribution as Grimesland Area Chairman for Operation Santa Claus. In addition to 305 gifts, she collected over $200 in contributions.

The Greenville Jayettes were recognized as the most generous donor of ward gifts to the Pitt Unit of Operation Santa Claus. In addition, members of this group are participating in the Inter-Sensory Tutorial reading program in the Greenville city schools.

23RD GOVERNOR SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Bruce King, 45, is New Mexico's 23rd governor, and the 21st man to hold the position since statehood in 1912. King, a rancher-businessman, is the fifth native New Mexican to serve as the state's chief executive.

Saturday will be a busy day for 239 high school music students and their teachers from a dozen high schools in Eastern North Carolina who are gathering on Saturday at East Carolina University for a day long High School Choral Clinic.

This is the Tenth Annual Clinic for students within a hundred mile radius of Greenville. The first session begins at 10:00 a.m. and continues all day, culminating in a public performance at 7:30 p.m.

Brett Watson, director of ECU's Men's Glee Club, is this year's clinic director. Watson will be in charge of rehearsals which are being held from 10:00 a.m. until noon, with a dress rehearsal at 4:00 p.m.

While at ECU, the students will be treated to a performance of Strauss' "Fledermaus" by the School of Music Opera Theater under the direction of Dr. Clyde Hiss.

One of the special features of the clinic is the solo vocal evaluation given to young singers by members of the School of Music voice faculty. The students attending the clinic are required to have a song prepared which they can sing from memory. After presentation of their song, students receive written comments and suggestions from faculty members.

Chicod High School is the sole Pitt County School represented in this year's clinic. Five students from that school will be here for the day. Other eastern North Carolina schools planning to be represented and the number of voice students planning to attend are: Enfield High School, 18 students; Jacksonville High School, 16; West Carteret High School, Morehead City, 35; Elm City High School, 20; Pamlico High School, Bayboro, 9; Swansboro High School, 21; New Bern Senior High School, 21; Tarboro High School, 24; Northeastern High School, Elizabeth City, 24; and West Edgecombe High School, Rocky Mount, 20.

The evening clinic performance by the students in Wright Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. is open to the public. Watson commented the public is invited to attend the concert at that time.

Doyle Hayes Speaks To Credit Women

Doyle Hayes, assistant vice president and manager of the Consumer Credit Department of North Carolina National Bank, was the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Greenville Credit Women International on Tuesday evening. Hayes spoke on the subject "What Makes Money Worth So Much." He pointed out that money is nothing more than a commodity like food and clothing and that its price goes up and down based on the principle of supply and demand.

Money today cost more than ever and its value as far as purchasing power is less than ever creating the first full scale recession since 1960. Inflation started in the mid-1960's, brought about by increased government spending and too much easy money, he said.

The recession of 1970 was caused by the steps taken to halt this inflation including a tightening up of money, a cut back in production and laying off of employees, continued the speaker.

Hayes stated that the outlook for the economy in 1971 is brighter than it has been in several years. Inflation has started to subside although it is still higher than it should be.

He closed by pointing out that North Carolina was not hit as hard as were other regions of the United States in 1970 and although the economy did turn slack, by the end of 1971 the economy in North Carolina should be coming along.

Immediately following the program, the business meeting was conducted. It was announced that Virginia McKoy is a patient in Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Club members were reminded of the Dixie Council Convention to be held in Charlotte April 17-21 and encouraged to make arrangements to attend.

President Mary Roberson presided at the meeting.

School of Instruction Conducted For Members

A School of Instruction for the members of the Pilot Club of Greenville, Inc., was held Monday night.

Mrs. W. W. Howell, chairman of Membership and Pilot Information Committee, was dean of instruction with Mrs. Leslie Jones and Mrs. James Butler in giving examinations. Mrs. Clifton Warren was high scorer.

Pilot International stipulates that each club shall have a period of instruction for the new members and acquaint the other members with recent changes. Mrs. Robert Starling, president, presided at the meeting and Mrs. James Vick led the members in the pledge of allegiance.

Mrs. Dennis Johnson, a former member, was welcomed and reinstated into membership. Mrs. Lenore Martin was welcomed as a new member.

At the February meeting, the winner in the contest, "Do your thing" will be crowned. For some months members have been making money in various ways such as bake sales, knitting and making gifts of all types. The money will be used for projects of the club.

Sister Didn't Mean To Insult Brother

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: My brother's only son was killed last year. He was 18, and his parents are still grieving for him. We never mention the boy's name unless they do because we know how heartbroken they are. Now the problem:

A younger sister recently had a baby boy. And what does she do? She goes ahead and names the baby after our brother's dead son? She and her husband thought they were "honoring" the dead boy by naming their son after him. I happen to think it was a very cruel and thoughtless thing to do because now every time my brother and his wife hear that name they will think of the boy they lost and their grief will be renewed.

I can understand naming a child for a dead father or grandfather to perpetuate the family name, but a cousin? Please give me your opinion as I, too, am heartbroken.

—NEW ENGLAND

DEAR NEW: You could be mistaken. Perhaps your brother and his wife feel honored that a child has been named for their lost son. Judge the deed by the intention. I am sure your sister and her husband wanted to give only pleasure to the grieving parents.

DEAR ABBY: The past year our daughter, who is 20, has been dating a very nice young man who is four years older than she.

Last night she told us she would like to go skiing with him and another couple. This would mean taking a 300-mile trip with him and staying at a resort lodge for several nights.

Altho our daughter is a very dependable, level-headed girl and we have never had to worry about her, I am not wholeheartedly in favor of this sort of thing.

What is your feeling about unmarried couples taking trips together? "Nice" girls didn't go off on overnight trips with their boy friends when I was a girl. Have times changed that much in 25 years?

—UNDECIDED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes, times have changed that much. Twenty-five years ago, girls of 20 were much more sheltered and far less mature than the girls of 20 are today. If you have never had to "worry" why start now? Let her go, expect the best, and she won't disappoint you.

DEAR ABBY: Now the women are screaming for "equality" and better treatment, but they don't deserve to be treated as well as we've been treating them for the past 50 years.

Recently a woman complained to you that her date refused to tip the strolling musicians after he had already told them they didn't have to play anything special for HIM. His date said he was cheap. Well, if she wanted something special played for HER, why didn't SHE tip them?

Women work, and they carry purses, but there is never anything in them except a lipstick. Why does a woman think that just because a man takes her out he should be the cash register for everything her heart desires? Cigarettes, gum, candy. Even money for the telephone and powder room.

I was with a lady recently and she asked me to buy her a package of cigarettes. I said, "No. It's against my principles. I don't want it on my conscience that I helped you to kill yourself." She called me a cheapskate. What's wrong with women anyway?

—TURNED OFF

DEAR TURNED: Whatever is "wrong with women" needn't concern you. I have a hunch that you're not going to see much of them.

Ambassador's Wife In Africa Encourages Selp-Help Projects

By JAMES J. GALLAGHER

For The Associated Press
NEW YORK (AP) — To be young and beautiful and an ambassador's lady may be the dream of every starry-eyed schoolgirl. But for the past year it's been real life for Margaret Melady, wife of the U.S. Ambassador to Burundi in East Africa, who at 31 is the youngest American first lady overseas.

Margaret recounted her experiences here recently with a mixture of humor and wonder. Her husband, Tom, 43, was on temporary duty with the U.S. Mission to the United Nations during the 25th General Assembly. This was their first trip back to the states since arriving in Burundi almost a year ago.

Margaret had traveled extensively before marriage and co-authored one of her husband's six books on Africa, but when she left for Burundi with their two pre-school daughters she admitted to being a bit uncharacteristically terrified.

"The things I worried about most proved to be the greatest assets: my age and my inexperience at the diplomatic style of life," Margaret related. "As it turned out, most of the African diplomats we meet are young men with younger wives and small children. We have a good deal in common just as young parents."

If Margaret had envisioned a conventional diplomatic post with its formal gowns and social entertaining, she would have been disappointed in Burundi. The new African nation needed Americans interested more in the country's economic development, and that suited Margaret.

She spends most of her time encouraging self-help projects in Burundi such as schools and hospitals, and her major effort during the first year abroad was expanding the work of American diplomatic corps people in a tutoring project.

During the days Margaret attends classes at the public university in Bujumbura, the capital city. Credits she has earned there are being applied to a master's degree in French literature from Seton Hall in New Jersey.

An ambassador's wife, Margaret quickly learned, is in full charge of the housing and official entertainment for her husband and family. In Burundi this means supervision of a ten-room house with a staff that includes two full-time male housekeepers, a chef and a nurse for the children.

The most difficult part of her assignment, Margaret recalled, was getting used to the lack of a local supermarket. The markets in the capital city sell fresh fruit, eggs and African vegetables to the 50,000 residents. But the varieties offered there are not what American families are accustomed to eating.

"We can have African sweet potatoes for three meals a day," Margaret said, "but we can't buy spaghetti or peanut butter here."

When the embassy's Fourth of July barbecue was planned, Margaret credits her chef's ingenuity in creating a tasty "apple" pie for the occasion out of green mangoes.

For canned foods, cake mixes, canned meats and other prepared foods that add variety to menus, Margaret prepared a six-month supply list for a food distributor in Europe. It generally takes three or four months to be delivered. "When you run out of something like ketchup and have to order it quickly," you mail an order and get air delivery in two weeks. But when it costs $2 for a bottle of ketchup, you learn not to have emergencies." Margaret expresses respect for the native culture and already sees the effects of life overseas on her two pre-schoolers. Schools in Africa are incredibly under-equipped by American standards, she observed. But the teachers develop close relationships with each child, and work together to create basic teaching tools. By using simple things around them as instruments for learning, Margaret feels, the children are developing some basic skills that will last throughout life.

Life in Africa is a good deal more real in many of its aspects than life enve in an American city, Margaret observed. The children come into direct contact with people crippled or deformed, for instance.

Human suffering is closer to each family in Africa, and the Melady girls have already developed respect for it. If nothing else at this stage, Margaret notes, they understand the need for getting shots from the doctor.

More than most Americans appreciate, Margaret says, Africa promises to play an increasingly important role in the politics and social development of the world. Living there, and perhaps contributing something of her own self to the life of Burundi—especially as an ambassador's lady—Margaret says, has been the fulfillment of one of her own life's dreams.

Holiday Gift Had Eventful Opening

PLEUDANIEL, France (WNS) — Emile Le Coadou bought his wife a colorful old country home as a surprise holiday gift. But when he showed her through it, the living-room floor broke under their weight, the water pipe burst in the kitchen, and a chandelier fell in the bedroom. Beneath the floor, the Frenchman found a coin with the effigy of Valerian, the Roman emperor. Now archeologists are examining the property to see if it should be declared a national monument.

Everything Hinges On Report

Supporters of the ECU two-year medical school — which should include everyone interested in the state's health care crisis — are anxiously awaiting the results of the Liaison Committee on Medical Education's report on the program under development on the Greenville campus.

The committee represents the American Medical Association and the Association of American Medical Colleges and the survey of what has been done and what is being planned is all-important to the school's development.

The committee was scheduled to meet Thursday for final consideration of the report. Following

Undismayed By Twist Of Fate

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Roy Rowe is one of those happy warriors who can look back on political battles with a smile for friends and fond memories.

Not even a twist of fate that brushed him out of the path to the Governor's office gives him bitterness or any might-have-been regrets.

"I always felt that when you ran, it had to be with the attitude that you could lose," he said. "I thoroughly enjoyed every race I ever made."

Once a Representative and six times a Senator from governor."

Foes Became Friends

Rowe served as a Senator during the Hodges administration. The one-time opponents became personal friends.

"Since Governor Umstead did not live, we were very fortunate that Luther was here to succeed him," Rowe went on, magnanimously. "He had the training, experience and know-how to get things done. He was re-elected handily, you recall, and of course he went on to become Secretary of Commerce."

Hodges was one of nine governors, beginning with J. C. Calhoun, who served in the 30s, under whom Rowe served in the General Assembly. He campaigned for some, against some others, and counted all as friends.

Another one was Dan K. Moore, a classmate at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. To begin his second session as Senate principal clerk, Rowe asked his college friend, now on the State Supreme Court bench, to administer the oath.

Down in Burgaw, Rowe pursued business interests including motion pictures, motel, real estate and farming. "It takes a lot of things to make a living in the East," he explained.

Those first years in the legislature, Mrs. Rowe stayed home to mind the business and look after the children. Even so, it was a financially losing proposition but an irresistible call.

Now the children are grown and gone, semi-retirement lightens business obligations, and Mrs. Rowe comes along to Raleigh.

Smoothing The Senate Path

The principal clerk's office is the service organization to the Senate. Its assignment is to keep things running smoothly, a job that requires tact as well as devotion to duty, patience as well as energy, and an unfailing eye for precision and detail.

Parliamentary advice to the presiding officer is a duty of the principal clerk but not one Rowe has had to exercise to any great degree. "The Lieutenant Governor (Pat Taylor) is such an excellent parliamentarian that we rarely have to confer," he observed.

A major function is maintaining the Journal as a record of Senate proceedings.

"It's been settled in court that what happened is what the Journal says happened — not what you and I remember, or what a Senator says he intended," Rowe noted. "For that reason, it's very important that the Journal be precise."

this it will be delivered to ECU officials who expect to present it to the governor. It is slated to be considered by the Board of Higher Education's Education Programs Committee on Feb. 8 and by the full board on Feb. 19.

The Liaison Committee's report is so important because it is their survey that determines whether or not the school's development is feasible and whether the program will be provisionally accredited. Medical school standards are exceedingly high and accreditation is difficult to obtain. Thus the Liaison Committee's report is essential in guiding the development of the ECU school.

In addition, the Higher Board of Education has decided to use the committee's report as its own consultant's report in considering ECU's requests for developing the program.

Bills are expected to be introduced in the State Legislature to provide $2,560,950 in operation funds for the medical school for the next two years, $662,538 for library development and $10.5 million for a building.

There are many other steps to be made before students can be admitted to a two year medical education program at ECU, but the Liaison Committee's evaluation is of great importance. If it is favorable it will go a long way toward convincing the Higher Board and members of the Legislature that East Carolina is, indeed, developing a solid and feasible program of medical education.

Great Adventure Due To Be Launched Sunday

Barring count-down problems three American astronauts should be making the thrilling trip to the moon in a spectacular blastoff Sunday.

The three are Alan B. Shepard, Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa. Their Apollo 14 craft will rocket from the earth at Cape Kennedy.

Another great space adventure will be underway and hopefully it will contribute further knowledge of the make-up of the universe.

We wish a safe and successful journey for our three astronauts on this mission.

Byrd Victory Can Aid Nixon

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The immediate impact of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's lopsided defeat by his own Senate Democratic colleagues is not on the lofty issue of 1972 Presidential politics but on improving the deteriorating state of warfare between the Senate and President Nixon's White House.

With West Virginia's Sen. Robert Byrd, an old-school Southern conservative, now the No. 2 Democrat in the Democratic-controlled Senate, Mr. Nixon's position improves. While Kennedy was seldom if ever a secure source of information for the White House on the major issues that split liberal Democrats from Mr. Nixon time after time, Byrd will be an invaluable — if unofficial — ally to the White House in appraising its legislative prospects.

What Byrd offers are two vital elements in the President's uphill battles: all but total agreement with Mr. Nixon on foreign policy and military issues, ranging from the war in Southeast Asia to the anti-ballistic missile; and the uncanny skill, born of arduous attention to the desires and personalities of his Democratic colleagues, to count heads accurately.

The White House can get an accurate headcount of Republican Senators from the Republican leaders — Sens. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and Robert Griffin of Michigan. But in the Senate, the political gulf that divides the White House from Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Majority Leader, and — until now — Kennedy made accurate appraisals all but impossible.

Byrd's knowledge of the Senate is probably unsurpassed back to the Senate's glory days of Lyndon Johnson, a truth dramatically emphasized in his upset of Kennedy in the battle for assistant Majority Leader last Thursday. While Kennedy was off to Jamaica for a week in mid-January, confident that he had enough votes to win the whip fight, Byrd stayed here, assiduously cultivating and counting.

Typically, Byrd never confided his own private headcount to anyone. If he had, one result would have been a predictably massive pro-Kennedy effort by outside forces, such as organized labor, probably sufficient to tip the scales against Byrd. To labor, the prospect of one-time Ku Klux Klan organizer Bobby Byrd becoming the No. 2 Democrat in the Senate is anathema. Their political power would have been unleashed to switch such suspected Byrd votes as Sens. Joseph M. Montoya of New Mexico, Gale McGee of Wyoming, and others.

But big labor never knew the score — until it was too late. One reason for this innocence was Kennedy's own mistaken headcount, which showed a solid, unbreakable 28 votes, a majority of one (including one highly im-

Teddy Hunting A Judas

WASHINGTON — The toughest thing Teddy Kennedy faces for the next two years is trying to figure out who voted for him and who didn't when he was defeated for Senate whip. The final count in a secret ballot was 31 votes for Byrd and 24 votes for Kennedy. Yet when reporters took a poll after the caucus, 26 senators said they had voted for Teddy. It's obvious that out of the 26, two senators were whistling Dixie.

The big question that will haunt Kennedy is who were the two senators who said they voted for him but didn't? While Teddy sits during the long Senate debates, his eyes will be searching, ever searching, trying to find a Judas on the Senate floor.

In the cloak room, the Senate dining room and even the washroom he will never know if the senator who hands him a towel had given him the Byrd.

When crucial votes come up on the floor and a colleague says, "Teddy, I voted for you for whip," how will Kennedy know he isn't talking to a Sen. Benedict Arnold?

One solution would be to make all 26 senators who said they had voted for Kennedy take a saliva test.

But the Senate is a club and the first rule is never to question another club member's word. If Teddy asked the 26 to swear they had written his name on the ballot, he would be questioning their integrity and that's one thing no senator wants to be questioned one.

Another solution would be for Kennedy to have a supper at his house for the 26 senators and wait to see which two senators kiss him on the cheek.

A third solution would be for Kennedy to offer amnesty to the two who secretly voted for Byrd, while professing to vote for him. He could announce that if they stepped forward and revealed themselves, he would forgive them, and take both of them along with him on his next trip to Paris.

Friends of Kennedy have tried to console him by telling him that the gap in how senators voted and how they said they voted, was really Sen. Byrd's problem. If Byrd got 31 votes and only 29 senators own up to having voted for him, two senators are playing both sides of the street. And how can you be a Senate whip if you can't get an honest count from your own party?

But at the moment this is small consolation to Teddy. Every time he attends a fund raising dinner for a Senate friend and watches him eat his chicken and peas, the only thought that will run through his head is "Did he or didn't he?" followed by "And if he didn't, why did he say he did?"

The worst part of Kennedy's defeat, after knowing that he was betrayed, is that everyone has said that this hurts his chances for being a presidential candidate in 1972. Since Teddy has vowed time and time again that he is not a candidate, it's impossible for him to deny that his loss has hurt his chances.

Public Forum

(Letters submitted for public forum must be limited to 300 words)

To The Editor:

As a therapeutic dietitian with experience in pediatrics, including the care of malnourished children, I was amazed to learn from Associate Professor McDaniel's letter to the editor published in the Daily Reflector, Jan. 26, 1971, that "While there may be many children in this country suffering from malnutrition, not a one of them developed rickets because of it."

Professor McDaniel then goes on to say that rickets results from lack of sunlight which is necessary for the production of a hormone in the body. Quoting Dr. McDaniel: "this hormone directs calcium salts to be laid down in growing bones. Without enough mineral salts in growing bones, the crippling deformities of rickets are the consequence."

It is my understanding that calcium salts cannot be laid down in bones in adequate quantities if there is an insufficient dietary intake of calcium (as well as phosphorus and other nutrients), regardless of the amount of sunlight to which the body is exposed. Recent studies with Indian children of the American Southwest, published in the American Dietetic Association Journals for 1970, revealed very high incidence of rickets due to malnutrition, caused primarily by an almost total lack of milk and other calcium sources in the children's diets. It might also be noted that persons living in Arctic areas do not suffer from rickets in spite of a very limited exposure to sunlight; this is believed by nutritionists to be due to their diets which contain adequate amounts of vitamin D (the "sunlight vitamin") and calcium, phosphorus, and other nutrients needed for proper mineral deposition in the bone.

If these scientists are in error and Dr. McDaniel has valid scientific evidence to refute their claims, I should be happy to hear from him.

Yours sincerely

Youth Can Be A Curse

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plato:

Youth has its freedoms, but so does middle age.

Any debate over what is the best time of life is one-sided. The arguments are all heavily weighted in favor of childhood or youth.

This is because man has an incurable nostalgia for the earlier years of his life. He romanticizes his boyhood and idealizes his adolescence and young manhood. Weighed down with later troubles, he looks back upon this period as one in which for the last time this side of the Great Shadow he was innocent carefree and happy.

Much of this is pure self-delusion. The average child doesn't feel innocent, but more like a hardened criminal whose parents haven't caught up with his felonies. He knows he's getting away with something he shouldn't, and this bothers and frustrates him.

Tell the truth now, and really test your memory. Didn't you feel guiltier when you were 5 or 6 years old than when you were 25 or 30?

As for adolescence, anyone who can gaze back fondly on those acne-ridden, nightmare-haunted years of self-doubt and transition isn't remembering them as they really were but as he now wishes they had been.

Once I asked playwright Paddy Chayefsky why he had never written a drama about adolescence. He replied, "I couldn't even bear to try. It would be too painful."

The fact about life is that every part of it is a mixed blessing and a mixed curse. Each has its woes; each has its victo-

How to earn additional revenue will be one of the big problems faced by Pitt County farmers this year. Among extra money industries tried by growers in past years has been that of chicken raising. Another good way to realize extra funds is through the raising of hogs. Like poultry raising, this industry has not reached any great scope in this section at the time, but it seems to increase as long as prices for the money crops remain below normal.

A bill is now before the legislature looking to a definition of illegal punchboards and slot machines and to provide punishment for the operation of such machines.

Delegates to the convention of the Diocese of eastern North Carolina will leave this afternoon bringing to an end the first gathering of this kind ever held here.

Strength For Today Everybody Else Says It's OK

PUT THEM TO WORK

Disappointment is a blasting experience. This is especially the case when high expectations are suddenly turned into denial and grief.

The worst thing we can do with our disappointments is to weep over them. Frequently the circumstances which make up our disappointments are leading us straightway into light and encouragement. We cannot, if we have any serious purpose in our lives, toss disappointment over our shoulder and go our way. We have to handle our disappointments, and hard as it is to believe, these very disappointments sometimes lead to a really exalted type of happiness.

We should remember the old adage that people are about as happy as they make up their minds to be. The disappointment of today may turn out to be a thing of light and blessedness tomorrow or next year or a decade from now. Can we stand the pressure? Millions are standing the pressure of disappointment every day and in the end getting over their disappointments. Habit-forming drugs are no cure for anything, especially disappointment. Liquor is no cure. Beating one's breast is no cure.

The first thing we have to realize is that the issues of our lives are in the hands of God. The things that today constitute disappointment may a year from now or a decade from now prove to have been the solid foundation upon which a truly satisfactory type of life can be built.

Religious faith, interest in other people, hard work and commitment to some cause — all these are the beginning. Put them to work.

By Earl L. Douglass

By ELMER ROESSNER

I guess your boy Elmer is a dummkopf.

I had thought that if the federal government is to give $8 billion, $12 billion or $16 billion to the states and cities, it would have to come from the states and the cities in the first place.

Those different figures are in the news. About $8 billion will be given to the states and cities under previously enacted legislation. The $12 billion figure is what Washington authorities estimate as the cost of President Nixon's Great Giveaway, the lineal descendant of the New Deal, and all the deals since then. The $16 billion is what the governors and mayors want.

I, in my ignorance, believed that to increase the federal budget by, say, $12 billion, it would be necessary to increase federal taxes or to borrow the money.

How It Would Work

I also believed that if taxes were raised, the increase would come entirely from people in the states. I suspected that most of it would come from the cities, because that's where most of the corporate and personal income comes from.

If the money is borrowed, the interest would approximately double the total to be paid back, or about $24 billion. And the borrowed money would only satisfy the states and cities for a year, if it would indeed satisfy them. There's no telling what it would be in the next year.

And if the money were borrowed, the same people in the states and cities and their descendants and the same corporations or their successors would have to pay the $24 billion.

I think it would be easier, more direct and fairer if the states and cities raised the money themselves.

But I must be wrong. President Nixon; George Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget; Murray Weidenbaum, who heads the Administration Task Force; Paul W. McCracken, Hendrick Advisers; John Ehrlichmann, Herbert Klein, David M. Kennedy and all the other advisors to the President seem to think the idea is great. How could I be right?

Slippage

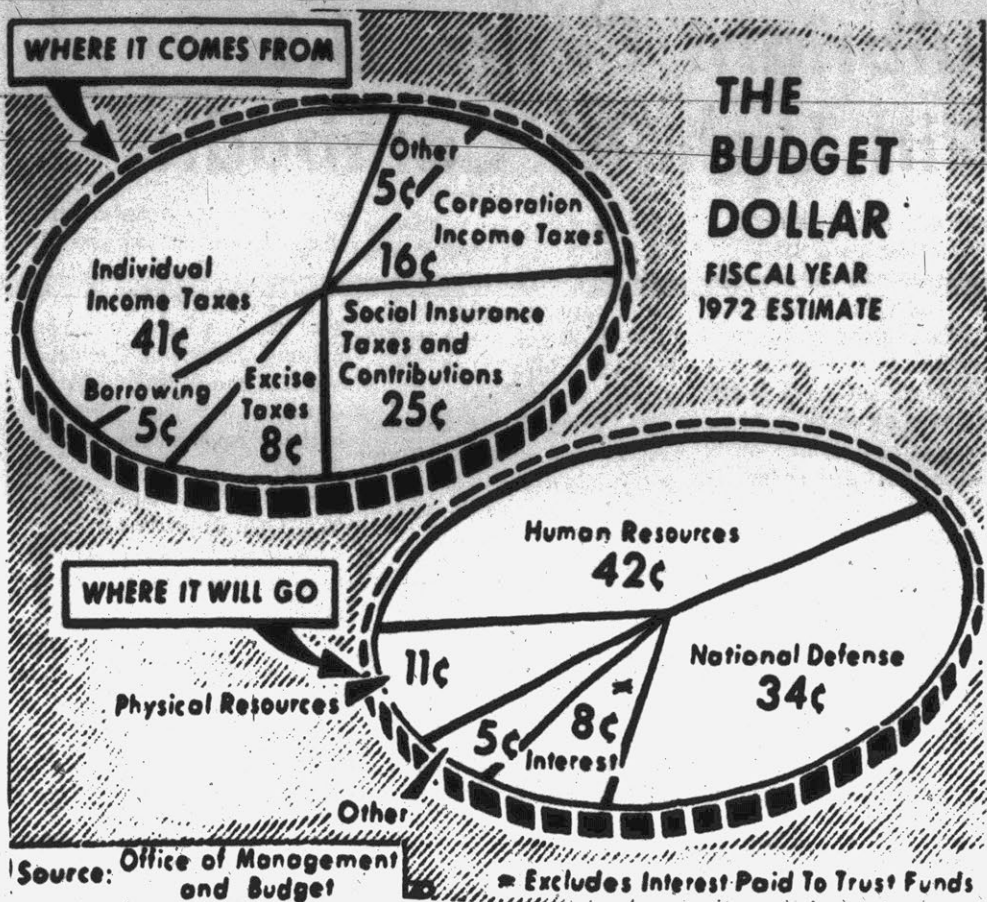

It is true that in a good many states and cities there is a lot of graft. Money raised by taxes often finds its way into the pockets of favored contractors, insiders on welfare programs, politicians with do-nothing jobs.

And while there is a little hanky-panky going on in Washington, the federal government is generally agreed to be more honest than the average state or city government.

On the other hand, there is a great wastage as money goes from your home town to Washington and back to your home town. It supports tax collectors, auditors, secretaries, per diem consultants, research firms, countless bureaucrats, and part of the notorious Washington waste.

It is likely that taxes and results of bond sales melt as fast in Washington as they do in your city hall or state capitol.

for the Vietnam war. Nixon called for a 6 per cent cost-of-living increase in Social Security benefits retroactive to Jan. 1. Thereafter, he proposed, there should be automatic increases to match inflation.

Overall, the budget bulge was about what had been predicted for Nixon's "New American Revolution"—his slogan for restoring fiscal power to the hard-pressed states and cities by sharing Treasury revenues—plus Cabinet reorganization,

All he can say is "Since I am not a candidate for President, my chances for getting the nomination have not been affected by Sen. Byrd's victory.

"If I really wanted to be President, which I have repeatedly said I don't, then I certainly would not have let a junior senator from West Virginia beat me out of a position that everyone agrees has never really had any importance to someone who aspires for the highest office in the land."

But for the moment, all Sen. Kennedy can do is ask for a desk on the Senate floor which will guarantee that his back will be against the wall.

ries. For most of us, now is as good a time as any. The present breath we draw is certainly as important to us at the moment as any we drew before or any we may draw later.

In assessing the pleasure of any period of existence, it is important to remember that it is measured not only by the things you can do then but also by the things you no longer have to do. For example, it is downright satisfying in middle age to know that you don't have to: Grow muscles to impress anyone.

Climb every balcony. March in every parade. Volunteer for every war. Empty the bottle before going to bed.

Enlist in every cause just because someone proclaims it a good one. Hurry to get somewhere you don't even want to go.

Prove you can keep a friend or a wife. It's already on the record that you can. Upset the other guy's apple cart to satisfy your vanity.

Develop any new prejudices, because you've got more than enough to last you the rest of the way.

When you get right down to it, the only freedom middle age lacks is the freedom to act young and irresponsible. And that's why so many people hate middle age. It forces them to grow up as well as older—and that's much more painful.

welfare reform, new housing programs and the rising cost of fighting crime and pollution. Deficits of about $15 billion each for fiscal 1971 and 1972 had been expected. Instead, this year's deficit came out at $18.6 billion, making 1971 the second worst red-ink year since World War II.

The budget for 1972—presidential election year—will have a smaller deficit, $11.6 billion—if Treasury receipts reach Nixon's estimated total of $217.6 billion. However, almost all private forecasts of economic activity have been lower. If these prove to be right and the government wrong, Nixon's 1972 deficit will be larger.

A tremendous rise of $88 billion from 1970's Gross National Product is implied by Nixon's budget. This would be a 9 per cent increase, a faster rise than even in the inflationary boom years of the late 1960s.

The President affirmed his determination "to take an activist role" in restoring prosperity. The budget will be "expansionary but not inflationary," he promised.

"It adopts the idea of a 'full employment budget,' in which spending does not exceed the revenues the economy could generate under the existing tax system at a time of full employment," he said.

"In this way, the budget is used to promote orderly economic expansion, but the impact of the resulting actual deficit is in sharp contrast to the inflationary pressure created by the deficits of the late 60s, which were the result of excessive spending that went far beyond full employment revenues."

However, even the so-called full employment budget barely will be in balance. Nixon's economists estimated 1972's theoretical cal revenues would be $229.3 billion if the nation's plants and labor force were working at capacity; at $229.2 billion, Nixon's spending total is a hair's breadth lower.

The message documented a colossal fiscal misfire for the half-gone government year. A year ago Nixon forecast a $1.3 billion surplus. Today he acknowledged an $18.6 billion deficit—a misguess of nearly $20 billion.

These were among the high-light decisions by the President:

Space
A $217 million reduction trimmed the space program to its lowest budget in a decade, $3.15 billion.

Supersonic Transport
Nixon asked $281 million to carry forward development of the bitterly opposed huge SST jet aircraft. This amount would bring two prototype planes close to completion in 1972, for flight-testing in fiscal 1973. "Federal funds will not be required after the flight testing," Nixon assured Congress.

Pollution Abatement
Water pollution control outlays are more than doubled. A $596 million increase will bring outlays of the Environmental Protection Agency to $1.13 billion. Stepped-up efforts to combat air pollution and other problems bring the total spending increase to $764 million.

Nixon unveiled for Congress the proposed basic machinery of his overall $16.1 billion revenue sharing plan. Nixon gave it top-most urgency, he said, because "state and local governments were breaking down under an incredible fiscal burden."

The 610-page message spelled out how the federal aid for dozens of going programs—including such major outlays as model cities, urban renewal, mass transit, school aid for the poor, and sewer and water grants—probable Southerner — Allen Ellender of Louisiana).

Although Ellender won't say today how he actually voted, he gave assurances to Kennedy for the reason that he feared a second straight leadership fight (following Kennedy's defeat of Louisiana's Sen. Russell Long two years ago) would badly scar his party in the Senate.

With or without Ellender, Byrd displayed those qualities of legislative precision that eluded Kennedy. It is precisely these qualities that will now give the President an advance warning system inside the Democratic majority on issues that Byrd and the White House see eye-to-eye. Moreover, Byrd can easily penetrate the inner circle of Senate staff assistants who now do so much strategic and tactical planning on major Democratic legislation. The White House will thus be able to infiltrate this powerful and essentially liberal staff system and gain early intelligence on anti-White House moves.

Again Tries Block Defends The All Tobacco Funds Pesticides

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, is trying for the third time to stop all government price-support and aid programs for tobacco farmers.

Rebuffed twice in the last Congress, he introduced a bill Wednesday to end tobacco supports and assistance programs with the 1972 crop.

He said in a statement that he was aware passage would create problems, such as what alternate crops to be grown and jobs to be found for former tobacco workers.

However, he said: "But it seems quite clear to me that our government cannot long continue in the indefensible position of aiding and abetting production and export of this product.

"On the one hand we become increasingly aware of its dangers to health, and yet officially we continue with price support and other assistance for tobacco here and we continue in our attempts to build overseas markets."

Moss said he will press for an early hearing on his bill because, "our government dilemma in this respect is becoming acute."

"At the very least, the matter is deserving of full hearings and a vigorous search for a way out of our present untenable position."

would be lumped into six block grants for use at the discretion of state and local authorities.

The general sharing program, scheduled to start in October, would provide $5 billion in its full first year. The other $11.1 billion would be apportioned, starting on dates up to next Jan. 1, into these areas of special-purpose grants:

Urban community development, $2 billion; rural community development, $1 billion; education, $3 billion; manpower training, $2 billion; law enforcement, $50 million; transportation, $2.6 billion.

These totals are all for the full first year. But since they will be effective only for part of fiscal 1972 the sharing totals are less for that budget years.

The general sharing would deliver $3.75 billion to states and cities in fiscal 1972, plus enough new funds to provide more than $4 billion in new shared funds.

All the existing categories of aid affected add up to $10.4 billion, or roughly one-third of the present federal grants going to state and local governments. The budget carries an additional $709 million in increases for these programs.

Other existing programs that would be wrapped into the special block grants are vocational education, manpower training, airport grants, the school lunch program, and the Appalachian Regional commission.

"The hobbling restrictions now on much of the federal aid in these areas would be removed," Nixon said, "along with matching requirements that presently force localities to spend their own matching money on low-priority projects for fear of 'losing' available federal aid."

Obviously some states or cities would simply drop some of the special programs. But administration officials deny the program was designed to wipe out any.

Bowing to perennial pleas from big cities, Nixon urged the release of 30 per cent of the huge highway trust fund for mass transit or any other transportation purpose, at the discretion of state and local governments.

This would free $1.4 billion of highway revenues now reserved by law for interstate highway use. The money would be part of a $1.9 billion special revenue-sharing fund for transportation.

Also lumped into the fund for optional use would be the whole programs for airport planning and development, $147 million; urban mass transit, $280 million, highway safety grants, $63 million, and highway beautification, $30 million.

The President added an urgent appeal for immediate enactment of his welfare reform bill. This, along with measures increasing Social Security benefits, was a casualty of the 1970 session.

At Ruritan Convention

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Two delegates from the Winterville Ruritan Club were among the 1,500 persons from 30 states participating in the annual National Convention of Ruritan Clubs held here this week.

Conducted at the Holiday Inn Rivermont convention complex, the three-day session featured a number of well-known speakers and entertainers.

Keynote speakers for the session were Dr. Ruth Stephens of Knoxville, a lecturer on world affairs and professor of political science at the University of Tennessee, and Robert Morgan, attorney general for North Carolina.

Delegates were presented a first-hand look into the rehabilitation of the cosmetically disabled by Jack Stein, makeup artist from Boston, who has been recognized for his work in helping patients with both psychiatric and physical disabilities find new confidence and emotional health through aesthetic makeup.

Delegates attending the convention from Winterville were Lloyd Worthington and Tom Mann.

RALEIGH (AP) — An agricultural scientist says that without chemicals to control pests and diseases, man's environment could be destroyed.

Dr. Edwin Crosby, director of the agriculture division of the National Canners Association of Washington, D.C., defended pesticides such as DDT in a speech Thursday.

He told the Farmers Cooperative Council of North Carolina that without pesticides, the total output of food and fiber would be reduced at least 30 per cent and prices to consumers would be greatly increased.

U.S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan told the council at a luncheon the Nixon administration's revenue-sharing plan "is not as good as it sounds."

A big hunk of the money, he explained, would come from existing federal programs and some of these, like the Appala-

Woman In Line To Be Moderator

GREENSBORO (AP) — Mrs. K. L. Whittington of Greensboro, widow of a pastor, is in line to become the first woman moderator of the eight-county Orange Presbytery.

She was nominated Thursday at a meeting of the Presbyterian Church organization. Her election to the presbytery's top post is expected to be routine at the April session.

Various scouting awards were presented Tuesday night during Cub Pack 330's meeting at Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church. These awards were presented by Pack Master William G. Blount.

Cubs receiving Bobcat awards were George Wilkerson, Howard Wilkerson, and Robert Welch. Receiving the Wolf Badge were Peter Ostrow and Sterling Ashby.

The following received various Webelos awards: Til Jolly, Sportsman and Geologist; Craig Cherry, sportsman; Howard Tucker, Sportsman; John Farley, Sportsman; Jeff Aldridge, Citizenship; Hal Bullard, Aquanaut; Tommy Carpenter, Outdoorsman; Traveler, Scholar, Art, and Sportsman; Stuart Goodson, Showman; Tom Proctor, Swimming; and David Daniels, Naturalist, and Scholar.

Den One won the attendance award and Webelos Number One had the Closing Ceremonies. W. G. Blount announced that the Blue and Gold Covered Dish Banquet will be held on February 23 at 6:30 p.m.

Chrysler Corp. Shutdown Seen A Possibility

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. will be forced to shut down within six days if 10,000 union-represented salaried workers walk out Tuesday, United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas Fraser says.

A walkout by white collar workers has been approved by the UAW's eight-man bargaining committee and the union's international executive board if no agreement on a new contract is reached by the deadline, 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Fraser said Thursday that the company's 110,000 production workers, who recently reached contract agreement with Chrysler, would be permitted to cross picket lines.

However, white-collar workers handle scheduling and other jobs necessary to production. They also handle payrolls.

Fraser said major differences remain, chiefly the issue of retroactive pay. The union is demanding that first-year wage hikes be retroactive to last Nov. 2.

Local Option Sales Tax Bills Offered

RALEIGH (AP) — New local option sales tax bills were introduced in both houses of the North Carolina General Assembly today and the lawmakers were told public hearings on the legislation would begin next Thursday at 2 p.m.

The new bills would permit 1 per cent sales taxes to be imposed in any county either by order of the county commissioners or upon the vote of the people. Such taxes could be repealed in the same manner.

Rep. Dwight Quinn, D-Cabarrus, chairman of the House Finance Committee, was joined by several other members in sponsoring the bill in the House and Sen. Herman Moore, D-Mecklenburg, was joined by Sen. John Burney, D-New Hanover, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, in introducing the measure in the Senate.

The legislation is designed to replace a law under which 25 North Carolina counties imposed a 1 per cent sales tax until the State Supreme Court last week declared the law unconstitutional.

Quinn said he plans to introduce a bill Monday night calling for distribution to the 25 counties and their municipalities of some $6 million that had been collected under the knocked out sales tax law. Quinn said the bill would provide for distribution of the funds under the same formula that was in the old law.

The Cabarrus legislator said the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners and the North Carolina League of Municipalities were supporting the sales tax bill he introduced today.

Two days after the local option sales tax law was declared unconstitutional last week, Buncombe County legislators introduced legislation calling for imposition of a 1 per cent additional sales tax statewide with collections to be divided among counties and cities.

The bill is given little chance of passage since Gov. Bob Scott has come out in favor of the bill that would permit the tax to be imposed or repealed locally by individual counties. Legislators from counties which voted against the local option sales tax in 1969 also could be expected to oppose the statewide measure.

Legislature . . . Assigned New Committees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two North Carolina congressmen have figured in committee changes in the House.

Rep. Roy A. Taylor was switched Thursday from the Science and Astronautics Committee to the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Rep. Nick Galifianakis goes from the Banking and Currency panel to the powerful Appropriations Committee.

Both are Democrats.

The $1.5 million is the amount the state Board of Higher Education requested for the program. Gov. Bob Scott and the Advisory Budget Commission did not include any funds for the program in the proposed budget.

Fulbright Fears U.S. Will Uphold Cambodia

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, says he fears the Nixon administration is "quite prepared to do whatever is necessary" to prevent the fall of the Lon Nol government in Cambodia.

But the Arkansas Democrat, after a 3½-hour committee grilling of Secretary of State William P. Rogers Thursday, said any congressional effort to limit U.S. airpower in Cambodia would be futile.

"I don't think it would pass," he said.

There was general committee agreement that the stepped-up U.S. air war in Cambodia is not violating a congressional ban on use of ground-combat troops, but some thought it goes beyond President Nixon's own stated policy last summer.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, cosponsor of the ground-troops restrictions enacted last year, said the committee should consider broadening the ban to include air power, and call more hearings on the Cambodian operations.

The committee will meet Tuesday to decide its next step, Fulbright said.

Rogers, opposing another hearing, said the administration is not considering any request to ease the ban on ground-combat troops and military advisers. In San Francisco, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Thursday the only American military personnel in Cambodia are 16 men delivering and protecting $200 million worth of military supplies, and 50 are needed.

The President said last June 30 U.S. warplanes would continue to attack Communist supply lines in Cambodia but, when South Vietnamese troops fight in Cambodia, "There will be no U.S. air or logistics support. There will not be U.S. advisers on these operations."

Rogers told newsmen after Thursday's session, "We will continue to use airpower to the fullest extent necessary to protect American lives." He insisted, however, there has been no change in policy.

Although Rogers portrayed as a limited action the recent use of U.S. planes in the battle to open Highway 4 between the capital of Phnom Penh and Cambodia's only deepwater port at Kompong Som, several senators expressed fear of deeper U.S. involvement.

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, the committee's ranking Republican, said he is sure Nixon doesn't want to expand U.S. involvement in Cambodia. But Aiken added, "President Johnson didn't want to get this deeply involved either."

Sheriff Returns Seized Material

Literature and other materials seized recently from the Adult Book Store here by the Pitt County Sheriff's Department were returned Thursday following such a recommendation from the state Attorney General's office.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said this morning that his office returned the items yesterday afternoon after being advised by a member of the attorney general's staff that the statutes under which the materials were seized were now void.

In a letter to the sheriff's office, Burley B. Mitchell Jr.

advised local officials that the attorney general's office "must reluctantly but positively tell you that the alleged obscene materials must be returned to their owner."

Sheriff Tyson said that Mitchell informed him that the decision was "dictated by the opinion of two three-judge courts" in recent court cases in the state involving the state's obscenity laws.

The statute under which the raid was conducted, the letter continued, was ruled "totally ineffective and void" in a similar case decided by the Court in January of this year.

A quantity of literature and six coin-operated movie machines were confiscated during the raid which was conducted late Saturday, Jan. 16.

Presbyterian Widens Lead

Presbyterian widened its lead in the Church Basketball League to two full games with a 56-40 victory over Immanuel Baptist last night. In the other games, Piney Grove downed Black Jack, 62-47, and Oakmont nipped St. James, 59-56.

Presbyterian now holds a 6-1 record in the league, while Immanuel, Oakmont and Piney Grove are all deadlocked for second with 4-3 marks. Black Jack is fifth at 3-4, followed by 0-7 St. James.

Presbyterian edged out into a five-point lead in the first half of play when they gained a 23-18 lead at intermission. During the second half, the leaders outthit Immanuel, 33-22, to gain the win and up the margin.

Brazel Moore pushed in 22 points for Presbyterian, while Frank Freular had 14. For Immanuel, Dick Evans had 13.

In the second game, Piney Grove built up a slim 26-24 lead in the first half of play. Then, in the second half, they pulled away to win easily, as they outthit Black Jack, 34-23.

Randle said Razzo is the type man who can handle any situation. "Being a former head coach gives him the understanding of what goes on. Since he knows both sides (both head coach and assistant), he will be very helpful to me in many, many ways."

Randle went on to say that with Ragazzo handling the offense and Carl Reese, one of the other assistants, handling the defense, the Pirates will have an excellent team. "You'd have to search a long time to find their equal," he said.

"Vito will also aid in recruiting in Virginia, and will also provide a stabilizing factor for the youth on our staff," he added.

Fayetteville Stops Techmen

BELVOIR — Fayetteville Technical Institute snapped Pitt Tech's five-game winning streak last night with a 92-84 victory.

Pitt Tech was bothered by turnovers during the first five minutes of the first half, and it put them into a hole they were unable to climb out of.

During that time, Fayetteville pushed out into a 13-0 lead, and went on to hold 17-2, 24-8, and 31-15 leads during the first half. By the end of the period, they were leading 50-34.

Pitt tried to rally during the second half, but could come no closer than six at 86-80, late in the game.

The loss left Pitt with a 9-4 record overall. They remain 7-1

The Pirates of East Carolina University seek to get back on the winning track Saturday night, when they entertain the Keydets of Virginia Military Institute in Minges Coliseum. Game time is 8 p.m.

The Pirates badly need the victory to get back into the Southern Conference race, and to start improving their shaky record, now 6-9 on the year.

VMI, in the meantime, wants anything but another loss. They've dropped 16 straight games this year, all they've played, and coupled with five they lost at the end of last year, they own the nation's longest current losing streak, 21.

"We had a very close game with them up there (in Lexington, Va.)," Coach Tom Quinn said. "They are very hungry for a win. But then, I guess you could say that we are hungry for one, too. I think both teams will be going all out for this one."

Red Devils In Rally To Win

FARMVILLE — The Farmville Red Devils rallied to capture the final two matches, the last by the needed pin to take a 25-23 victory over Camp Lejeune in a wrestling match.

The match was close throughout the meet, but the Devilogs went into the final matches needing only one win in the final two, or at the most no worse than two losing decisions for a tie.

But Carlos Moore won his match in a close 9-7 decision, while Roger Eason followed with a pin in his match that propelled Farmville into the win.

The Red Devils, who travel to face North Pitt on Monday, are now 6-4 overall.

Summary:

100: Ronnie Moore (F) decisioned Steins, 7-0.

107: James Gorham (F) decisioned Smith, 8-7.

114: Mannor (CL) decisioned Ricky Bundy, 13-0.

121: Walsh (CL) pinned Charles Rose, 3:55.

128: Ritnor (CL) pinned Chester Moseley, 1:21.

134: Gene Reel (F) decisioned Karr, 2-0.

140: Danny Moore (F) decisioned Wiese, 2-0.

147: Glenn Dwyer (F) pinned Almgust, 4:55.

Quinn said. "I was especially pleased since they did do it without Fairley. We got behind on some poor shooting, but our rebounding kept us in the game. It was about as fine a job done on the boards as I've seen. We would have lost by 40 without it."

The Bucs came back from 16 points down to cut it to as little as two in the closing minute of play, only to lose by three. They outrebounced the Frankies, who feature a 7-0, 6-8, front line, 62-37.

Quinn was also pleased with the pressure defense the Pirates threw at St. Francis in their comeback. "It's the first time we've been able to successfully press," he said. "I was real proud of our guards in this. We've been trying to zone press since our man press hasn't been successful. I think this type of play is favorable for us with Franklin and McNeill in there."

Quinn again noted that the Buc shot selection was very poor, and that the free throw shooting cost the Bucs several opportunities to take the lead. "Our hustle was excellent, however, and I think we're going to be good because of this."

The coach noted that the Bucs have to overcome some obstacles now, and that they started the year with them. "Gregory missed the pre-season practice with an ankle injury, and now Fairley is out," Quinn said. "Now we're going with three sophomores. We've lost close games on missed shots."

Quinn looks for VMI to be deliberate in their play, and use some sort of combination defense on the Pirates. Jan Essenburg is their leading scorer, but Jerry Renfor and Jim Sefick also caused the Bucs some problems in their first meeting.

Prior to the start of the varsity game, the ECU freshmen, now 6-2, will meet Louisville Junior College at 5:45 p.m.

Northern Nash Nips Devilettes

ROCKY MOUNT — The Northern Nash High School girls handed Farmville its first loss last night, 26-25. The girls game was the only one played. The boys teams meet tonight.

The game was close all the way, with both being tied at 6-6 at the end of the first period. It stayed that way throughout the second frame as both teams tossed in seven points to leave it in a 13-13 tie at intermission.

During the third period, however, Northern Nash pulled away, outscoring Farmville, 7-2. That made it 20-15 as the final period began. Farmville tried to rally, outscoring Northern Nash, 10-6, but it fell just short.

Donna Allen led Farmville with 12 points and was the only scorer in double figures.

The loss left Farmville with a 5-1 record in the conference, and the two teams are now deadlocked for first place.

Farmville — Allen 12, Johnson 5, Joyner, Gorham 6, Flake, Anderson, Davis 2, Ellis, Mewborn.

Northern Nash — Griffin 6, Moore 8, Stalls 4, Taylor 6, Williams, Sykes, Berry, Martin.

It's Still Year Of Quarterback

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Year of the Quarterback is spilling over into 1971 and the National Football League but, oddly enough, traded quarterbacks have made almost as big a splash as drafted quarterbacks at the pros' annual talent roundup.

Stanford's Jim Plunkett, Mississippi's Archie Manning and Santa Clara's Dan Pastorini, best-in-breed of college football's blue-ribbon senior quarterbacks, were the 1-2-3 first-round picks, as expected, in Thursday's opening session of the NFL draft.

But before another signal-caller got the call, two rounds and five hours later, a series of significant trades—four of them shifting NFL quarterbacks and another involving no less than seven players and eight draft choices—commandeered the spotlight.

In two of the quarterback exchanges, Philadelphia sent 10-year veteran Norm Snead to Minnesota and obtained Greg Barton, a promising youngster, from Detroit.

In the others, Green Bay dealt Don Horn, once groomed as Bart Starr's successor, to Denver and then reacquired the playing rights to 39-year-old pensioner Zeke Bratkowski from Minnesota.

The day's blockbuster trade, between Washington and Los Angeles, had no bearing on the quarterback sweepstakes, however.

It was sprung about one-half hour after the Boston Patriots, betting their future against 17 trade offers, selected Plunkett, the 1970 Heisman Trophy winner and all-time major college passing king, to kick off the draft.

After the rebuilding Patriots ended the suspense over their disposition of the No. 1 pick, New Orleans chose Manning, Houston tapped Pastorini, Buffalo grabbed wide receiver J.D. Hill of Arizona State and Philadelphia took defensive lineman Richard Harris of Grambling.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle then interrupted the proceedings to announce that George Allen, the New Washington coach who was cut loose by Los Angeles, had landed six of his old Rams — at the expense of half-a-dozen draft picks.

The 'Skins acquired four-1970 Los Angeles regulars—defensive tackle Diron Talbert and linebackers Jack Pardee, Myron Pottios and Maxie Baughan—plus guard John Wilbur, running back Jeff Jordan and the Rams' No. 5 draft choice.

The Rams got linebacker Marlin McKeever, Washington's first and third draft picks this year and the 'Skins' Nos. 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 selections next year.

"I hated to give up the men we did as they had all given valuable service to the Rams," said Tommy Prothro, Allen's successor as the Los Angeles coach. "However, I feel it was a good trade for the future."

"The future is now," said Allen. "We want to win in 1971. None of this building."

Boston owner Billy Sullivan and Coach John Mazur shared Prothro's long view in explaining their decision to go for Plunkett instead of the expedient help a multi-player deal might have brought.

"He's the Namath of the future," said Mazur, who made up his mind after watching the 6-foot-9 Stanford ace shoot down next week with his attorney, Wayne Hooper. Plunkett, who holds the all-time record of 7,544 career passing yards, reportedly will seek a $250,000, long-term contract.

Joe Kapp, Boston's holdover quarterback, is in the middle of a three-year pact at an estimated $130,000 per-year. And, according to Sullivan, he still has the inside track for the 1971 starting job.

"If I have to sit on the bench and learn, that's what I'll do," Plunkett said.

Manning and Pastorini would appear to have good shots at the No. 1 quarterbacking jobs for New Orleans and Houston. But subsequent developments in the draft—and outside it—seemed to leave little room at the top for other rookie passers.

Running backs and defensive backs were dominant throughout the remainder of the first round, with Kansas' John Riggs (New York Jets), Ohio State's John Brockington (Green Bay) and Jack Tatum (Oakland), and North Carolina's Don McCauley (Baltimore) among the prominent draftees.

The selectors didn't tap another quarterback until Round 3, when Houston selected Kansas State's Lynn Dickey to complement, and challenge Pastorini.

Dickey was the 56th of 182 players chosen in the seven rounds completed Thursday. Ten more rounds, involving 260 players, were to complete the marathon today.

Atlanta picked Duke quarterback Leo Hart a few minutes after Dickey was chosen. A pair of college division standouts, Ken Anderson of Augustana, Ill., and Karl Douglas of Texas A&I, also went in the third round, to Cincinnati and Baltimore's Super Bowl champs, respectively.

Miami finally tapped Notre Dame All-American Joe Theismann in the fourth round as the 99th over-all pick. Alabama's Scott Hunter went to Green Bay and Boston College's Frank Harris to Detroit in Round 6.

Buddy Lee of Louisiana State, taken by Chicago in Round 7, was the 11th and last quarterback pick of the 11½-hour session.

The four quarterback trades further established that the pro clubs are unwilling to gamble on newcomers, although half of them went into the draft openly seeking help at the key position.

The Vikings picked up Snead, who completed 54 percent of his passes last season for 2,323 yards and 15 touchdowns in exchange for tackle Steve Smith, two draft choices this year and another in 1972.

Philadelphia filled the gap, hopefully, with Barton, who had thrown just one, incomplete pass for Detroit in three pro seasons—two of them as a taxi squad member—and was playing out his option.

Horn, a four-year pro, went from Green Bay to Denver in return for defensive end Alden Roche. The clubs also exchanging first round draft picks.

Bratkowski, who was on Minnesota's player list although he has been an assistant Green Bay coach for the past two seasons, returned to the Packers' roster in exchange for a future draft choice.

"We plan on playing him," said Dan Devine, Green Bay's new coach.

In a similar transaction, Washington gave the Packers a fifth round draft choice for the playing rights to wide receiver Boyd Dowler, an Allen coaching aide at Los Angeles last year.

The Packers also sent running back Travis Williams to the Rams in a deal involving draft choices and Buffalo dealt running back Bill Enyart to Oakland for defensive back Alvin Wyatt, with draft picks thrown in on both sides.

Tigers Surprise Cavs With 45-44 Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Virginia is the surprise team in Atlantic Coast Conference basketball, doing much better than expected. But in its game at Clemson Thursday night it was the Clemson Tigers who surprisingly did better than expected and beat the Cavaliers 45-44.

It wasn't a slowdown, just sloppy shooting. Neither team hit the 40 per cent bracket.

The defeat knocked Virginia out of a first-place tie with North Carolina.

Virginia is 4-2 in the conference and 11-3 in all games. Clemson is 2-5 and 5-9.

North Carolina, 4-1 in the league, was the only other ACC team in action, taking a 110-94 exhibition victory over Athletes in Action, a touring team of former college players sponsored by the Campus Crusade for Christ.

ACC teams are idle tonight. On Saturday Maryland is at North Carolina in a televised afternoon game, Indiana State at Clemson, Virginia at South Carolina, Athletes in Action at Duke, and Wake Forest will play Davidson in the Charlotte, N. C., Coliseum.

Clemson gained a one-point lead with 33 seconds left to play when Bud Martin hit the front end of a one-and-one situation. Then Dicky Foster blocked a layup by Bill Gerry with six seconds remaining to preserve the victory.

Foster was the game's leading scorer with 15 points, and Gerry was high for Virginia with 12.

George Karl had 24 points and Bill Chamberlain 21 for North Carolina against the touring athletes. For the versatile Don King, formerly of Mississippi State, and Don King, who played for Baylor, had 18 apiece.

South Carolina will be ending a 19-day examination break in its home game against Virginia Saturday night. South Carolina was upset 50-49 by a Virginia slowdown Jan. 11 at Charlottesville, the Gamecocks' last action before the break.

Sullivan's next move will be to sign the prize rookie, who plans to visit Boston sometime

Counts Lets The Suns Shine

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
For years, Mel Counts sat in Wilt Chamberlain's shadow at Los Angeles.

But now he's letting the sun shine in with Phoenix.

The steely seven-footer scored 29 points to lead the Suns over the Lakers and Chamberlain 118-112 in the National Basketball Association Thursday night.

Counts was picked up by Phoenix after last season to add more rebounds and scoring power to Suns' front line.

In an abbreviated NBA schedule Thursday night, Seattle defeated Buffalo 120-110 in the only other game.

In the American Basketball Association, Memphis ran by Texas 122-99 in the only contest.

Phoenix broke open a tight game towards the end of the third quarter to move into an 11-point lead. Then the Lakers scored 12 straight points to grab an 86-85 lead at the end of three quarters.

But the Lakers' suddenly were ice-cold from the floor at the start of the fourth quarter and couldn't score a field goal for more than five minutes. The Suns took advantage behind Counts' points and rebounds to take a lead they never relinquished.

Clem Haskins contributed 21 points and Connie Hawkins added 19 to the Phoenix cause. Jerry West lead Los Angeles with 27 points and Chamberlain had 24.

Dick Snyder powered Seattle's victory over Buffalo with a career high 35 points. The Super-Sonics built a 66-58 halftime lead before the Braves went ahead twice in the third period by four points.

Seattle took a 96-93 lead into the final quarter and held Buffalo to one basket in the first 9½ minutes in extending its lead to 116-100.

Buffalo Coach Dolph Schayes was ejected from the game with three minutes to play, being charged with his second technical foul.

Memphis clicked off 18 straight points before the stunned Texas Chaparrals could score and the Pros coasted the rest of the way for their sixth straight victory.

Wendall Ladner, who had 21 points for Memphis in the first half, finished with 30 to lead all scorers. Center Gene Moore led Texas with 19.

Rookie Ties For San Diego Lead

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP) — "I was going crazy there, working in Manhattan," rookie pro Ralph Johnston said.

"I'd sit there and look out the window and the sun would be shining and I'm cooped up in an office and I'd look at my slide rule and try to bend it into a golf club."

Johnston, 29, a one-time electrical engineer for General Cable in New York, had just taken a share of the first round lead in the $150,000 Andy Williams-San Diego Open golf tournament, shooting a six-under-par 66 Thursday.

He was tied with Dave Eichelberger, 27, a four-year tour regular still seeking his first victory.

Johnston, a Texas A&M graduate and army veteran, had his troubles attempting to escape the Manhattan canyons. He didn't gain his approved players card from the PGA school until last fall on his fourth try.

He tied for fifth in a satellite event, his first start, and won the satellite Little Crosby, with a $1,000 first prize, two weeks ago.

Did he think he'd be nervous going into today's second round with a share of the lead?

"I don't have any idea at all," he said. "You see, I've never been in this position before."

Johnston and Eichelberger held a one-stroke lead over a group of seven tied at 67, including big Bob Lunn, winner of the Los Angeles Open three weeks ago.

The others are Australian Bob Shaw, former Masters champ George Archer, Charles Coody, Bob Dickson, Bill Garrett and Jack Montgomery.

Defending champion Pete Brown and Miller Barber, winner of last week's Phoenix Open, headed another group at 68.

Jack Nicklaus and PGA champ Dave Stockton were in a bunch at 69. Billy Casper took a 70 and U.S. Open king Tony Jacklin had a fat 74.

Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino are not competing in this event on the Oceanside Torrey Pines Golf club course, a 6,792-yard, par 72 layout.

Johnston started on the 10th tee and bogeyed the hole with three putts. He got it back with a 10-footer on the 13th, rolled in a 15-footer on the 15th and made his round with a string of three consecutive birds starting the 18th.

Eichelberger, who won about $23,000 in 41 starts last season, had two bogeys on his card, but offset them with six birdies, including three in a row, and an eagle 2 on the seventh where he holed out a 198-yard shot with a No. 2 iron.

South, the declarer at five clubs, was the victim of a myopic affliction. Had he been able to project himself mentally across the table as he mapped his campaign, a sizable loss might well have been avoided.

West opened the three of clubs which proved to be a most effective choice. Declarer won the trick with the ten in his own hand as East discarded a spade. A spade was led toward dummy and, when West played low, North's queen was put up to hold the trick.

The king of diamonds was cashed followed by the jack which was overtaken with the queen. Declarer now played the ace of diamonds with the intention of discarding a spade from dummy so that he might eventually obtain a spade ruff. West foiled his efforts by ruffing the third diamond, obliging the dummy to overruff. There was no way for South to avoid the loss of two spade tricks which together with a heart loser spelled a one trick set.

Declarer had his eye on the wrong hand. Had the dummy been made the master holding—defeat could have been turned into victory. When South learns of the bad trump break at trick one, he should endeavor to increase his winners by trumping North's hearts.

The first trick should be won by South with the queen of clubs and the queen of hearts is led at once. Suppose that West puts up the ace in order to lead another trump. The eight of clubs holds the trick and a heart is ruffed with the king of trumps. A spade may now be led toward dummy's queen and West is obliged to duck to avoid setting up two tricks in the suit. Another heart is ruffed with the ace of clubs and the ten is led to the jack so that North can complete the drawing of trumps.

On the nine of clubs, South discards a spade. He now has seven tricks in one spade, two heart ruffs and four clubs. By cashing the four high diamonds he may routinely increase the total to 11. A simple case of dummy reversal.

Rev. Vereen
Will Speak

The Methodist Men's Club of Jarvis Memorial United Methodist Church will hold their annual ladies night in the fellowship hall of the church at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 2.

The Rev. LaFon C. Vereen of Raleigh will be guest speaker for the occasion. W. G. Blount, vice president of the club, will preside.

The Rev. Vereen, who is a member of the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist Church, is presently serving as associate director of the Conference Program Council in charge of Witness, Outreach, and Involvement.

The Rev. Troy J. Barrett, pastor of Jarvis Memorial, in commenting on the ladies night speaker said, "Everyone who attends will have a good time of fellowship because Rev. Vereen is an excellent after dinner speaker."

Church Feeling
Lack Of Funds

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Many of the desks stand unoccupied. Typewriters are idle and stacks of mail lie unopened. From floor to floor and room to room, much of the building has the muted atmosphere of sudden evacuation.

"It's spooky around here," observed a veteran employee. "It's as if the place had been about emptied by a bomb scare."

That's the strange, strained situation at the Episcopal Church Center in midtown Manhattan, the towering, modernistic headquarters which, for lack of funds, has had to eliminate two-thirds of its working staff.

"It's a very unpleasant experience," says Bishop Roger

W. Blanchard, executive vice president of the Church's Executive Council, which ordered the cutbacks. Presiding Bishop John E. Hines assigned him to carry them out.

The sharp reduction in the Episcopal national staff, vacating much of its office space and crimping its operations, parallels similar, though milder curtailments taking place in many denominations.

Over the past year, drops in income and rising costs have forced varying cuts in manpower and programs in most major Protestant, Roman Catholic and interdenominational institutions. But the drastic, abrupt nature of the Episcopal retrenchment, along with its concentration in a single, relatively new building, gives it a dramatic impact sharper than in other cases.

It could cause the denomination to move its headquarters elsewhere, most likely to Kansas City, officials said. Proposals also have come from St. Louis and Jacksonville, Fla. A committee is studying them.

In its jolting decision last month, the denomination's policy-making council, facing a $2-million budget shortage for 1971, ordered the staff slashed about in half, from 204 down to 110.

This was the second big cut in a staff which at its peak was 425 and which only two years ago was more than 300, now pared to a third of that, in a sleek, 12-story headquarters built to accommodate 640 to 800 working people.

The center, built by the Church at a cost of about $6 million and now worth at least twice that, first was occupied in 1963. It is situated at 815 Second Ave., about a block from the United Nations on the East River.

Bishop Blanchard, a warm firmly decisive prelate summoned here from Ohio as a trouble shooting executive under Bishop Hines, said the remaining "core staff," the smallest possible to continue bare essentials, will act mainly as a "switchboard operation" for liaison among subsidiary units, but no longer will undertake direct field leadership.

Those remaining, he said, were chosen for their multiple skills combining abilities as "specialists," "strategic planners" and "generalists." Each diocese will have a staffer assigned to it as its "man at 815."

Employees terminated will receive pay until March 31, plus four days pay for each year

Seek Saving
Black Bear

NEW BERN — Ways to save the state's rapidly dwindling black bear population will be discussed at a meeting of bear hunters, conservationists and the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission in New Bern tonight.

The meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. in the New Bern City Hall, according to Pitt Wildlife Protector R. S. Wright.

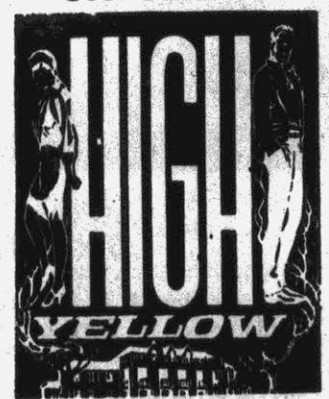

According to Wright, "We'd like to urge all bear hunters and interested persons to attend and help us save the black bear." Slated for discussion at the meeting will be proposals for setting up a system of sanctuaries for the black bear in the Eastern and Western parts of the state.

"Mainly, we're looking for ideas," Wright noted. "The worked, plus an extra lump sum based on salary of from $550 to $750. A career counseling program is operating to help them find new work.

in 1933 after serving as a member of the faculty of Spartanburg Junior College in South Carolina. His pastorates in North Carolina include the Divine Street Church, Dunn and the Centenary Church, New Bern. He has served as the District Missionary Secretary in three of the districts. He has taught in many Christian Worker's Schools and presently a member of the Board of Trustees of Louisburg College.

Lineberger is married to the former Allene Gable. They have one son, J. W. Lineberger Jr., who is also a minister in the North Carolina Conference. Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Lineberger Sr. were the leaders of the Youth Caravan to Europe in 1956, sponsored by the Conference Board of Missions.

Rudolph Article To Be Published

Dr. Arthur William Rudolph, associate professor in the East Carolina University Department of Philosophy, will have an article in a forthcoming issue of the journal "Philosophy Today." Entitled "Nietzsche's Zarathustra: A Jungian Analysis," the article was first presented before the ECU philosophy department colloquy in November, 1970.

Historian Will Give Lecture

Dr. James R. O'Connell, associate professor of history at East Carolina University, will deliver a lecture at 7:30 p.m.

An estimated $2,350 property damage resulted from two traffic mishaps investigated by Greenville Police yesterday.

Heaviest damage reported occurred when cars driven by Mildred Graves Thompson, 306 North St., and Albert R. Atkinson, 37, of Route 4, Greenville, collided about 8 a.m. at the intersection of Fifth and Ford Streets.

Police, who charged Mrs. Thompson with failing to see her intended movement could be made in safety, placed damage to her car at $1,000 and set damage to the Atkinson car at $450.

One passenger in a school bus driven by Billy Joe Riggs, 16, of 2112 South Village Dr. was reported injured when the bus collided with a car at the intersection of Paris and Myrtle Avenues about 8:02 a.m.

Investigators identified the driver of the car involved in the mishap as Robert Earl Nichols, 28, of Winterville.

Nichols was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign following investigation of the collision and damage to his car was set at $400. Damage to the bus was estimated at $500.

Tuesday, in the Nursing Building Auditorium.

The lecture is entitled: "The Spanish Republic after Thirty-Five Years: A Review of the Historical Literature."

You've got a lot to live

Pepsi's got a lot to give

What we mean is this: living isn't always easy, but it never has to be dull. There's too much to see, to do, to enjoy. Put yourself behind a Pepsi-Cola and get started. You've got a lot to live.
