Attempt To Cut Ho Chi Minh Trail

ARVN Enters Southern Laos

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of South Vietnamese troops swept into southern Laos today in an attempt to cut North Vietnam's Ho Chi Minh trail, something six years of American bombing has failed to do. Six U.S. helicopters were reported lost in the first waves.

American helicopters and South Vietnamese armored cars took the troops across the border, and the U.S. Command pledged its full air and artillery support. But the U.S. Command said no American ground combat forces or advisers would cross the border.

A communique said the 9,000 American troops who moved into the northwest corner of South Vietnam 10 days ago would act as a blocking force on the Vietnamese side of the border.

Field reports said four U.S. helicopters were shot down and two crashed due to mechanical trouble. Pilots reported heavy antiaircraft fire, but the reports indicated most of the crews were rescued.

Associated Press correspondent Michael Putzel reported from the border that South Vietnamese troops made contact with North Vietnamese forces within an hour after they crossed the frontier. U.S. helicopter gunships attacked the enemy positions with rockets.

About a mile inside Laos, American Cobra helicopter gunships caught some more North Vietnamese troops in the open and fired rockets at them, but the results were not known.

Other pilots reported seeing 50 to 75 enemy about two miles from American howitzer batteries on the Vietnamese side of the border.

The South Vietnamese moved into Laos for the first time in the Indochina war a little more than nine months after U.S. and South Vietnamese forces crossed into Cambodia to smash North Vietnamese bases there. The new move represented a widening of the war and was certain to cause political repercussions across the world.

Prince Souvanna Phouma, the premier of Laos, issued a mild protest against the South Vietnamese action but said the "primary responsibility" for the situation rests with North Vietnam. He called on "all foreign troops" to withdraw from Laotian territory.

Pentagon officials in Washington said the strategic goal of the new drive was to keep the enemy from mounting an offensive while U.S. forces are turning the war over to the South Vietnamese.

President Nguyen Van Thieu in a message to the country said the Laotian operation was "limited in time as well as space with the clear and unique objective of disrupting the supply and infiltration network of the Communist North Vietnamese troops lying in the Laotian territory."

Thieu said South Vietnam "does not have any territorial ambition whatsoever, and never interferes in the internal politics of the Royal Kingdom of Laos."

"I also pledge," Thieu said, "that when the limited operation ends, the armed forces of the Republic of Vietnam will withdraw completely from Laotian territory."

He gave no timetable and did not say how many South Vietnamese troops had crossed the border. But about 20,000 Saigon troops had been massed along the border since Jan. 30 in preparation for the drive.

Almost simultaneously with the drive into Laos, North Vietnamese forces stepped up attacks throughout Indochina.

THE PUSH — Arrow indicates general direction of South Vietnamese thrust into Laos as announced by President Nguyen Van Thieu. There was no indication in his announcement as to the number of forces involved but some 20,000 South Vietnamese troops were at the jump-off points. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Community Grapples With Violence

Guardsmen Patrol Wilmington Streets

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — National Guard troops patrolled Wilmington's streets today as Negro and white leaders grappled with racial violence that killed two men during a weekend of sniper and police gunfire.

Gov. Bob Scott ordered several hundred guardsmen into Wilmington late Sunday at the request of city officials, who declared a state of emergency and imposed an overnight curfew after saying local efforts to control the violence had failed

The exact number of guardsmen on duty was not disclosed Forty-eight Highway Patrolmen also were assigned to the city

The 1st Bn., 120th Infantry, with groups in several cities, was ordered to report to Wilmington by Scott. The battalion at full strength has approximately 800 men, but all did not answer the mobilization call.

A white motorist and a Negro teen-ager were killed during the weekend and three other persons, including a police sergeant were wounded by gunfire in violence blamed on unrest in New Hanover County's public schools.

Negro youths have demanded reinstatement of four blacks suspended last month for alleged participation in disturbances during school hours, hiring of more black academic and athletic personnel, more black studies and a school holiday commemorating the late Martin Luther King's birthday.

Police Chief H. E. Williamson, who has a 71-man department, requested the curfew on a day-to-day basis from 7:30 p.m. until 6 a.m.

"I've lost control," Williamson said earlier. "But I want to make it perfectly clear we now have the manpower and we intend to regain control as quickly as possible."

There were three arrests for curfew violations Sunday night. Snipers continued to fire a few shots.

In Raleigh, the Good Neighbor Council, the state's racial trouble shooting organization, issued a statement criticizing Wilmington officials for delaying imposition of a curfew.

The statement said the council recommended a curfew be established Friday night and Saturday night.

"Facts and intelligence at our disposal clearly indicated that a curfew was needed to prevent further personal injury, loss of life and loss of property," the statement said. "Moreover, our staff made several calls to persons in state law enforcement agencies to convey our assessment of the situation and recommendations.'

Williamson said he held up the call for a curfew because "I didn't think we had lost control."

Wilmington, a coastal city of 50,000, has been hit by firebombings, rock throwing and sniper gunfire since Wednesday night. An estimated 30 per cent of the city's population is black.

The violence came in the wake of a boycott of public schools by hundreds of black youths protesting the school board's apparent refusal to meet their demands.

School officials have scheduled a meeting Wednesday night to review the four suspensions, but have declined to act on the other demands.

School officials said up to 55 per cent of the black pupils enrolled in New Hanover and Hoggard high schools were absent Friday. The schools have about 2,000 pupils each, with about one fourth of each enrollment being Negro.

The violence has been centered in a Negro neighborhood served by the Gregory Congregational Church, which has a black congregation but is served by a white minister.

Williamson has identified the church as a focal point of the boycott and the street violence.

Stevenson Mitchell, a 19-year-old Negro was killed by police gunfire near the church Saturday night. A white man, Harvey Edward Cumber, 57, was shot and killed Sunday by what police said was a sniper bullet.

At least three persons have been wounded. They include a police sergeant who sustained a flash wound in the leg Saturday night and another man police said was hit by sniper fire. Both were hospitalized in good condition.

The third person was a white man who was riding in a car with two other white men. He was treated at a hospital and released.

Blackout In Manhattan

NEW YORK (AP) — A transformer failure in a Consolidated Edison Co. power plant plunged blocks of midtown Manhattan into darkness for more than four hours Sunday night. Nine television stations were knocked off the air.

The blackout stranded sightseers in the 86th and 102nd floor observatories of the Empire State Building, snarled traffic moving without signals and turned thousands of Sunday suppers into candlelit dinners.

First reports from Con Edison said the failure resulted from an explosion, but a spokesman said later that the trouble probably was due to two electrical short circuits "that sounded like explosions."

When lights flickered and went out at 7:12 p.m., many recalled the "Great Northeast Blackout" of 1965 and feared it was happening again. But the trouble this time was localized.

Because of the grid patterns, half of Times Square went black while lights on the other half blazed on brightly.

The first two grids to go knocked out power to the Empire State Building where all but one of the local television stations have their transmitters.

WXTV, a Spanish language station on Channel 41, has its transmitter downtown. It stayed on the air and broadcast bulletins about the blackout in English.

Radio stations also stayed on the air, some using emergency power.

At the New York Daily News the presses stopped during printing of the first edition. Later the entire News building went dark.

The newspaper missed two editions but editors and rewritemen worked by candlelight until power was restored to have the story ready when the presses could roll.

United Press International, which has its offices in the News building, was also affected.

At Grand Central Station the cavernous waiting room was plunged into dark but some trains reportedly were able to continue to run.

Pitt Memorial Hospital Marks 20th Anniversary

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

The first patient admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital when it opened February 8, 1951 — 20 years ago today — was Kenneth Kirwin Dews Jr. of Winterville.

The week-old boy entered in the arms of Miss Doris Michilik, R. N. His mother, Mrs. Mamie McLawhorn Dews, was borne in on a stretcher, the second person admitted. The two were the first of 44 persons moved from Pitt General Hospital across town, according to C. D. Ward, hospital administrator. The name of the first to be moved had been drawn from a hat, he said.

Kenny, the eldest child and only son of Winterville farmer, Kenneth Dews, is a sophomore at Chowan College in Murfreesboro, planning to transfer to East Carolina University this summer. His father has been a member of the Pitt Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees since 1965.

"We were hoping the new hospital would be completed before the baby arrived," Mrs. Dews said. "But there were several delays, and he did not wait. It turned out that he needed to stay in the hospital longer than usual, however, so we had to be moved. I remember worrying about having my son taken out on such a cold day. The way he was wrapped, though, I had nothing to worry about."

Her husband remembers, "Standing in the lobby of the new building that day, I chatted with a man who commented, 'They'll never fill this monstrosity.' "

All four Greenville funeral homes, the same four still in business here today, provided ambulances to move the patients and the job was completed in a matter of hours. All the time other patients were being admitted, and the first baby made her appearance at 11:39 a.m. A daughter was born to Mrs. Lillie Bell Wilson of Havelock by Dr. Herbert Hadley.

An emergency operation was also done that first day, Mrs. Phyllis Martin remembers. Mrs. Martin, who is now director of nursing at the Jones Alcoholic Rehabilitation Center here, was director of nursing for Pitt Memorial on its opening day. "The operating tables had not come, but we moved the tables from the old hospital," she said.

"Most of the other important equipment had already arrived and had been set up," Mrs. Clara Christopher, who had been hired a few months before as chief housekeeper of the new hospital, said. "I remember the first shipment of beds had arrived the day the new structure was dedicated, January 18."

Mrs. Martin told of an oversight that caused considerable consternation. "We realized as soon as we got into the hospital that we had forgotten to get a narcotics license for Pitt Memorial. Consequently, all the drugs had to be left at Pitt General until it could be obtained. I spent the first two nights at the new hospital ad-

Apollo 14 Plummeting To Tuesday Splashdown With Lunar Treasures

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Apollo 14 and its cargo of moon treasure plummeted today toward a Tuesday splashdown in the Pacific Ocean, its crew expressing hope that the space program might help achieve peace and understanding on earth.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa had little to do on their last full day in space. They monitored systems taking stellar navigation readings and rested for their homecoming.

They are to land at 4:04 p.m. EST Tuesday with their record cargo of 108 pounds of moon rocks and material. If they are on target, it will be Wednesday at the touchdown site. The recovery ship waits three miles west of the international dateline.

They are to appear on a final television program at 6:53 tonight, answering questions relayed from newsmen at the space center.

In a telecast to Mission Control Sunday night, they conducted scientific experiments and expressed thoughts on the space program and problems on earth.

"We're reminded as we look at that shimmering crescent that is earth that we still have fighting there," said commander Shepard, speaking for all three. "We are reminded that some men who have gone to Vietnam have not returned and that some are still being held there as prisoners of war.

"It is our wish tonight that we can in some way contribute through our space program to better understanding and peace throughout the world and help to rectify these situations."

Shepard said, "Communications through the space satellite will certainly go a long way toward solving the problems of the world—the problems of understanding between peoples of different nations and different countries."

He made the comments at the end of the 51-minute telecast in which the astronauts demonstrated manufacturing techniques which Shepard said "could benefit all peoples of the world."

It is hoped these techniques will be able to use the weightlessness of space to produce cast metals, medical vaccines and electronic crystals of purity and strength higher than possible on earth.

With the television camera focused on the space laboratory, Roosa explained each of the four experiments, which demonstrated how weightlessness overcomes some of the manufacturing problems caused by the gravity of the earth.

Liquids were transferred between containers, metals were cast in a small heat chamber, solutions of different liquids were separated and heat flow and convection were measured.

The liquid transfer test was conducted with two tanks, one with and one without baffling. In the unbaffled tank, the liquid tended to stick to the sides and flowed unevenly. In the other, the baffles controlled the flow. The results could be important in the design of future space refueling systems and in certain manufacturing processes.

Down By 800

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today a drop in American troop strength in Vietnam last week of 800 men, lowering the total to 335,000.

The command also announced that the 3rd Squadron of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment was withdrawn from combat status today preparatory to redeployment. This will reduce troop strength by 1,140 men in the near future.

The total strength is scheduled to drop to 284,000 men by May 1.

Return To Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Brazilian military sources say many of the 130 prisoners deported as ransom for kidnaped diplomats are slipping back into Brazil to resume antigovernment terrorism or are preparing to return.

At least half already are in Brazil's terrorist underground, the informants said, after being trained in urban and rural guerrilla tactics in Cuba and elsewhere. Another 35 or more are on the way or ready to come back, the sources said.

Police found one former prisoner, Aderval Alves Coqueiro, during the weekend in an old building in Rio. Wearing a blue bathing suit, he jumped into the courtyard with a revolver in his hand, and police shots killed him.

Brazilian intelligence has been keeping track of the prisoners flown abroad, but Coqueiro was the first returnee to be caught.

Muskie Tickets Said Sold Out

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Young Democratic Club officials say tickets for the Feb. 13 banquet featuring Sen. Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, are sold out.

The presidential hopeful is scheduled to speak at the state YDC installation banquet at the Wilson Recreation Center, which holds 1,500 persons.

Children Fighting Alongside Fathers

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — "How do you fight a 10-year-old even if he has a bomb in his hand?" a British soldier asked today after six days of street warfare in Northern Ireland's main cities.

Youngsters are fighting alongside their fathers and older brothers as Roman Catholic militants switch from rocks and bottles to shots and bombs.

A 14-year-old lost a hand in Belfast when a dynamite bomb exploded before he threw it at soldiers. Five of the dozens of persons arrested in Londonderry Sunday were under 12.

All the snipers picked off by British marksmen—officially two, but possibly as many as 10—were adults, believed by the British to be Irish nationalists egged on by radical factions of the outlawed Irish Republican Army. The IRA advocates the violent overthrow of the Protestant government in Northern Ireland to bring the six counties under the predominantly Catholic government of the Republic.

An exact count was not possible. Most of the dead and wounded were dragged away for secret treatment or burial to prevent reprisals against relatives.

Death Said Due Natural Causes

The death of a Rt. 6, Greenville man who was found early Sunday in a ditch near his home has been attributed to natural causes, according to Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey.

Harvey identified the man as Elbert Person, 52, who lived near Staton's Mill on Rt. 6. The coroner said that Person did not drown.

Sheriff Ralph Tyson said that Person's body was found early Sunday morning and reported to the Sheriff's Department around 8:25. Deputies, he added, found no evidence of foul play in connection with the death.

The sheriff said that the body was found in a field ditch some 75 yards from the road and about 35 yards from Person's home.

BIRTHDAY CAKE . . . is served to Kenny Dews by his mother, Mrs. Mamie Dews. The two were the first patients admitted to Pitt Memorial Hospital 20 years ago today.

Novelty: Bill Offered At Saturday's Session

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Two unusual events occurred at the weekly token session of the General Assembly Saturday.

First, another legislator besides the one who had to preside showed up in the House. And, second, that legislator introduced a bill.

Rep. Sam Johnson, D-Wake, was taking his turn as speaker to gavel the session open and closed. The chamber was empty except for a clerk, two sergeants-at-arms and a visitor.

Then Rep. Howard Twiggs, also D-Wake, showed up with a bill to introduce.

It would repeal a 1901 law which requires that anyone killing "neat cattle, sheep or hogs" running at large in the woods or range must show the hide and ears to a justice of the peace or two "freeholders" within two days.

Since the state no longer has either justices of the peace or open wood and range, Twiggs decided to include the law in his drive to purge the books of outdated statutes.

The token sessions are held each Saturday according to rules adopted by the General Assembly years ago when they were necessary in order for legislators to get a full week's pay.

The ritual, which now has no purpose since salary payments have been changed, is performed each weekend by a Wake County senator and representative.

Voting is permitted on local bills only. But it's very rare for a legislator to show up on the floor, and the introduction of a bill is even more rare. Observers cannot remember a vote ever being taken on Saturday.

Jerky Old Silent Film Classic Is 'Ironed Out'

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The jerky old silent film goes in here and comes out there on tape—steady, tinted, and with actors' gestures at normal speed.

Such deflickered flickers were demonstrated recently by a company that hopes to resurrect Garbo, Chaney, Valentino and other silent classics for television.

Silents flickered, Joseph Bluth explained, because their 16-frames-per-second rate was visible to the naked eye. When talkies came in, movies went to 24 frames per second for improved sound. Silents shown on the faster equipment were speeded up and jerky.

Bluth is president of Technicolor's Vidtronics Division, where the new system was developed for Gold Key Entertainment, Inc., a sales representative for MGM. A reel of silent film goes into a machine that passes it before a pulsing stroboscopic light that transfers the images to tape, said Bluth, and: "The result is that everything is at normal, exact, original speed."

"We end up with no flicker, no jump and are able to sharpen the edges and get rid of flare, halo and other defects," he added.

These steps are accomplished at a massive console where orange, violet, pink, golden and other pastel tints are added electronically. Music and sound effects also can be added.

Dialogue is still on old-fashioned printed titles. Off-camera narration is used occasionally where action has been condensed.

The demonstration film was "The Big Parade," a three-hour 1925 film cut to two hours for TV. Its music track was added in 1931.

There was handsome John Gilbert going off to World War I, falling in love with French village girl Renee Adoree, and losing a leg at Belleau Wood.

There were dimpled Miss Adoree tugging tearfully at the truck taking Gilbert to battle ... gawky Karl Dane dying on a battlefield mission ... the technically added roar of biplanes and crash of shells ... the tinted flash of battle flares and exploding bombs.

On the film critic Arthur Knight interviewed director King Vidor, who recalled that the war classic cost a mere $245,000 and that his Belleau Wood was Los Angeles, Griffith Park.

Gold Key President Harold Goldman said that if sponsors are found for this first film, the next from MGM's library of 200 silents probably will be "The Unholy Three" with Long Chaney and Victor McLaglen.

Much Hinges On Strike In Laos

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials say the strategic goal behind the new drive against North Vietnamese supply bases in Laos is to keep the enemy from mounting an offensive while U.S. conduct of the war is being turned over to South Vietnam.

Most U.S. combat troops will have left by the end of this year, officials said, and the bulk of American forces remaining will be consigned to supplying South Vietnamese military efforts.

The success of last May's allied drive against previously untouched North Vietnamese supply and troop bases in Cambodia provided the rationale for the current South Vietnamese drive into Laos, which is being backed by U.S. airpower, sources said. The justification, they added, is saving American lives.

Officials said military results of the Cambodian incursion reduced the North Vietnamese to reliance on the Ho Chi Minh trail for war supplies necessary to sustain the estimated 240,000 Communist troops in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

Defense officials acknowledged penetration of Laos has been part of the plan all along, although the only move officially disclosed last week involved the shift of 29,000 South Vietnamese and U.S. troops into the northwestern part of South Vietnam close to the Laotian border.

These officials denied reports the original intention was for the South Vietnamese to enter Laos early last week.

American officials stress no U.S. ground troops or advisers will be involved in the Laotian operation but that U.S. airpower will be used, as it has been in Cambodia.

The White House declined comment on the invasion.

However, President Nixon earlier Sunday indicated the U.S. role in Indochina will not have ended so long as the Communists hold American prisoners of war.

He did not elaborate. But a White House spokesman insisted there was nothing new in the statement.

Congressional reaction to the invasion was slow in coming, although Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, announced his opposition hours before the operation was disclosed.

"I think that the use of combat air support ... goes beyond the spirit of any policies that Congress has endorsed," Muskie said on "Issues and Answers" on ABC.

"I think before we got involved in that kind of activity in Cambodia and Laos, the President ought to come to Congress, ask for its support, define his proposal, so that we can consider its merits," added Muskie.

"I'm sorry that we're expanding the war," said Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. "I think it's unfortunate that now we're formally going into the last remaining (Indochinese) country with air support and South Vietnamese troops."

Pentagon sources say a recently launched South Vietnamese military operation back into the Cambodian sanctuary areas is part of the over-all strategic plan to shut off Communist supplies.

Until now, the allies have relied chiefly on American airpower to interdict the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Although American authorities claim airpower has knocked out half the enemy tonnage entering Laos from North Vietnam this year—100 trucks bombed each day—the ground drive is an acknowledgement airpower has limitations.

The main targets, officials stressed, are not North Vietnamese troops but the supply bases and positions.

Intelligence reports say the North Vietnamese have been improving and extending various truckroads in this region and, according to these reports, truck movements since the first of the year suggest the enemy is building stockpiles there.

The annual southward movement of enemy supplies starts in earnest in November as the dry season sets in. The material is moved through Laos in stages and much of the tonnage which has come down from North Vietnam this dry season is said to be backed up between the depot town of Tchepone and the North Vietnamese border.

Intelligence reports place enemy strength in Northwestern South Vietnam at about 15,000 men.

In addition, there are said to be at least two North Vietnamese divisions above the Demilitarized Zone and close enough to Laos to march in and contest the new drive.

Intelligence officers estimated 35,000 Communist combat troops—North Vietnamese, Viet Cong and Pathet Lao—are in the Laotian panhandle, but significant numbers of these are reported engaged well to the south of the new South Vietnamese incursions.

Area Survey Set Feb. 15

Mrs. Jean C. Wilson of Grimesland Route 1, serving as a representative of the Bureau of the Census, will interview a number of households in the Pitt County area the week of February 15 to obtain information on employment here.

Joseph R. Norwood, Director of the Census Bureau office in Charlotte, in making the announcement, said the households are among the 50,000 across the country that have been scientifically selected to represent a cross section of the American people.

The information provides a continuing measure of employment and unemployment for the nation.

Information supplied by individuals participating in the survey is kept confidential and the results are used only to compile statistical results.

Favors Bald Head Action

GREENSBORO (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott says he believes the General Assembly should condemn Bald Head Island to save it from commercial development as a resort.

The lush, semitropical at the mouth of the Cape Fear River has been the topic of a long controversy between Scott and William R. Henderson, president of the Carolina Cape Fear Corp. development company.

Scott said Saturday the state should acquire the island to preserve it in its natural state, a reiteration of his position for the past year.

Henderson's firm has contended its development plans would do nothing to deface the island or harm its ecology.

"They haven't offered to sell the island and they don't want to sell," the governor said.

He said unless the General Assembly acts on the matter, "the state has no official position on the Bald Head controversy."

HONG KONG EXPORTS

HONG KONG (UPI)—A big jump in exports in 1970 has made Japan the fourth largest market for Hong Kong products, replacing Canada.

Exports to Japan last year totaled $65.5 million, 57 per cent more than in 1969. The colony's top three markets are the United States, Britain and West Germany, in that order.

For Valentine's Day 1971, Prepare Some Lover's Treats

By ROBERT J. MISCH

NEW YORK (WNS) — Valentine's Day is one of those holidays shrouded in mystery. It started as a pagan holiday — "Lupercalia," a lover's festival. Then the Church stepped in to give it a religious significance. Pope Gelasius in 496 changed Lupercalia from the 15th to the 14th of February, and named it in honor of St. Valentine, the patron of engaged couples.

There seems to have been two (some say three) St. Valentines. All were martyrs; all were supposed to have the power to patch up lovers' quarrels. Under present circumstances, perhaps two — or even three — are too few. At any rate it's a happy day — not too serious — and who can fault anything connected with love?

Aside from sending cards (and some of the old ones are absolutely stunning in their extravagance — see your friendly local museum or library), it could be a day for entertaining lovers, or making new ones. And if so, which cogent dishes might you essay? Well, you might pass a platefeul of

Almond Kisses

Chop 2-3 cup of blanched almonds and toast in the oven or saute very lightly in a bit of butter. Watch closely — they burn so easily.

In a saucepan, combine 1 lb. light brown sugar, 1 tbsp. of light corn syrup, pinch or two of salt, 2 tbsps. butter, and ½ cup hot water. Boil until drop balls firmly in cold water. Remove from fire and press bits against sides of pan to make grainy and cloudy. Mix in almonds. Cool enough to manipulate. Then put teaspoonfuls on a greased cookie sheet or marble slab. Let dry for half an hour. Wrap in waxed paper and put in a container with tight cover — an old coffee can would do nicely. Your kisses will be sweet, and perhaps a little sticky — the way kisses should be!

To vary these, you might try a plateful of

Cream Kisses

In a saucepan, put 3 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup cold water, 1 tsp. cider vinegar, ⅛ tsp. salt. Bring to a boil. Add ⅛ tsp. cream of tartar. Cook to soft balling stage and add 1 cup heavy cream that you have scalded. Cook to hard ball. Pour at once into a buttered shallow pan. Cool. Work in 1 tsp. vanilla and ½ tsp. lemon extract. Pull (with buttered fingers) until quite white. Cut into squares with scissors and dip into melted dipping chocolate. Dry and chill.

Dipping Chocolate

Melt a pound of semi-sweet chocolate over hot water. (Add a little sugar if you like a sweeter coating.) Stir constantly. Cool. Dip the bonbons and place on waxed paper. If chocolate becomes too hard, re-heat.

But, let's face it. Valentine's Day really means heart-shaped ice-creams and heart-shaped cakes. Here's the

Valentine Cake

If you can spot heart-shaped cake tins (and there are such) latch on. If not, make you round cake, and ice-outline the heart.

3 cups cake flour
1 tbsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1 cup butter (or margarine)
1 tbsp. vanilla
1 cup sugar
6 egg whites
¾ cup sugar
½ cup sugar
1 cup milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Reserve.

Cream shortening and vanilla. Add first cup sugar. Reserve.

Beat egg whites to shiny froth. Add rest of sugar slowly.

Mix water and milk. In small amounts, add dry ingredients and then liquids to creamed mixture. Beat until smooth (not too much). Fold in egg whites. Pour into greased pans (2 or 3). Bake at 375 degrees for 30 minutes. Cool.

Pineapple Cream Filling

Drain 1 can crushed pineapple.

Scald ¾ cup milk in double boiler. In a saucepan, sift ¼ cup sugar, 1 tbsp. cornstarch, salt. Blend in ¼ cup milk. Stir. Add scalded milk. Bring to boil — boil 3 or 4 minutes. Cool. Pour into double boiler. Cover. Cook over simmering water for 12 minutes. Stir a tbsp. or so of this into 1 beaten egg. Blend back into double boiler and cook 3 minutes. Cool. Stir in pineapple and a tsp. vanilla. Chill.

Spread this between layers of the cake.

Now for glazing the top.

White Frosting

Cream 1 tbsp. butter and ¾ tsp. vanilla and salt. Gradually add 1 cup confectioner's sugar. Blend in ½ egg yolk and 1 tbsp. cream (or milk). Beat until frosting seems ready to spread.

There are the basics — cake layers, filling and frosting. Now you're on your own to decorate. One way is to take red gum drops. Spear with tooth picks. Stick through tiny paper doilies and surround the cake with nosegays.

And, if it doesn't turn out — remember, "all the world loves a lover, anyway"!

An easy, quick, light, delicious dessert is suggested by Paul Masson because — you guessed it — his Port wine comes in the famous heart-shaped bottle.

Strawberries Saint Valentine

Wash and hull 1 quart of fresh strawberries, or partially thaw whole frozen strawberries (packed in a plastic bag without syrup). Add 4 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, ½ cup Rare Souzao Port, and sugar to taste. Cover and refrigerate for 4 hours or until serving time, turning once or twice. Whip 1 cup of heavy cream, adding ½ teaspoon vanilla extract and 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar as it begins to thicken. Place cream on top of berries in serving bowl, and decorate with crystallized violets (sold in gourmet food shops) or slivers of candied orange peel. Makes 4 servings.

Daughter Should Tell Her Parents

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: Our son was recently married to a lovely girl. They had been engaged for almost a year. The girl's parents are quite well-to-do, and they gave their daughter and our son a "picture book" wedding.

When the newlyweds returned from their honeymoon they blushingly confessed that we would have a grandchild exactly six months after the wedding. Naturally, we were shocked and disappointed, but felt nothing would be gained by making them feel more ashamed than they already appeared to be.

The problem: Our daughter in law is afraid to tell her parents. She's a shy little thing and has asked us to tell them. We think she and our son should tell them. We leave it to you, Abby. Who should tell them, and how?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: The shy little thing should tell her parents that they are going to have a grandchild, which, if it arrives on time, will be three months "premature."

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem which concerns my parents, myself and music. I am 13 and I hate taking piano lessons. My parents know this but they are forcing me to take lessons anyway.

The lessons are expensive and I seldom practice, which makes it a waste of money, right? My mother says I am so unpleasant at home that I will have to continue taking piano lessons until my disposition improves. My father threatens me by saying that if I don't shape up I will have to take piano until I am 18!

So will you please tell me, what is the point of taking piano lessons when it is only a waste of time and money?

HATES PIANO

DEAR HATES: There are two schools of thought on that. One: Even a child who "hates" music, and must be nagged, bribed and threatened to practice, can't help but learn something about music, which in your parents' view is better than no musical education at all.

The other school: Never force music lessons on a child. He will only grow to hate music. My view: Music lessons are like a vaccination. It's temporarily painful, but if it takes, it's worth it.

DEAR ABBY: I am an old grandpa of 82, and I don't have any serious problems, but I read your column every day and get a big kick out of it.

Someone wrote in to complain because she and her brother had to split up a set of the Book of Knowledge. They each got 10 volumes, but her brother got Volume 20, which has the index. She said she got a dirty deal because her half was no good without the index. Well, I think I can help her.

I found Volume 20 at the Goodwill store in Walla, Walla, Wash. It cost me 25 cents! I would be happy to send it to the lady to further the cause of "peace on earth." I will even pay the postage. GRANDPA DAVE RORABECK

DEAR GRANDPA: You are a sweetheart and I thank you for your generosity, but the problem has already been solved.

CONFIDENTIAL TO M. C. IN ANAHEIM: You're right. I was wrong. Next time a long-haired hippie-type approaches me for a handout, I'll not refuse. I'll give him a dime on the chance that he wants to call his mother—collect.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

A Lovelier You

COME JOIN THE FIGURAMA

By Mary Sue Miller

(This is the first in a series of five special columns on reducing by spring fashion time.)

When you take off excess weight, of course you look lovelier. You feel more alive, too. We now know that normal weight increases our chances of a long, vigorous life. Losing weight, in consequence, seems worth any amount of struggle. But do you know that struggle is unnecessary?

Successful reductions come from eating a sufficient amount of well-balanced foods. Plus mild exercise. One such program begins today. Follow it and you can lose up to 10 pounds and 2 inches within a month. Just in time for the undulating spring fashions.

Get started by using menus and exercises as they appear. The average daily menus total 1200 calories, a safe and satisfying number. Here goes:

Breakfast: Sliced orange, 1 tsp. honey; toasted bran muffin, half pat whipped butter; unsweetened coffee or tea. Lunch. Cup beef consomme, open-face grilled cheddar sandwich; raw apple; hot or cold unsweetened beverage.

Dinner. Half broiled baby chicken; ¼ cup rice with tsp. slivered almonds; portion steamed broccoli, lemon garnish; small dipper coffee ice cream; black coffee. In-betweens. Glass skim milk, morning and evening.

Menus squared away, consider exercise. With a hip problem, perform this trimmer for 5 minutes daily: On back, grasp knees to chest; repeatedly roll across upper hip. Then sit up, legs straight out, and roll again; balance with hands.

Reducing Tip: Weigh in once a week, at the same hour. Subtract 2 pounds for clothes when worn. Otherwise the picture is false and discouraging.

Tomorrow: Figurama Spot Trimmers.

Mrs. Flowers Is Chapter Speaker Thursday Night

Speaking on the topic "Adolescents in Action," Mrs. Maxine Flowers addressed the Beta Alpha Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Thursday evening at the Woman's Club.

Mrs. Flowers is associate director of the Coastal Plain Mental Health Clinic.

Initiated at the meeting were Miss Elizabeth Drake, associate professor in the ECU School of Music, Mrs. Nan Shearin and Mrs. Annette Hawley, both of the Aycock Junior High School.

Mrs. Myrtle Clark, president of Beta Alpha, presided. Mrs. Ola Perry, chairman of the Committee on Ceremonials, was in charge of the initiation.

Mrs. Flowers in discussing adolescents, pointed out that in every generation, youth has been criticized by some and at the other extreme called a scape goat.

It's true some youths, trying to adjust to physical and psychological changes, became bums and others models of decorum, Mrs. Flowers said, but most, she continued are somewhere in between those extremes. "The wish to be grown up creates a problem for a child," she said, "and old childhood ways of coping are not adequate; so new ways must be found."

Mrs. Flowers was introduced by Mrs. Katherine Lewis, program chairman.

Copies of the history of the first five years of Beta Alpha Chapter were available to members. Miss Lois Grigsby was recognized for her work as historian.

Mrs. Carol Goddard of Durham, sister of Mrs. Antoinette Jenkins, was a guest.

Legislature Is Not So Bad

A group known as the Citizens Conference has ranked North Carolina's State Legislature 47th among the 50 states as to how well they "reflect minimum standards of democracy and efficiency."

It is difficult to assess the ranking organization but, with all its faults we doubt if our Legislature is all that bad.

Legislatures were rated on five criteria:

— Activities basic to legislative performance, its over-all functional ability.

— Its accountability to the people.

— Its ability to gather and use information, how committee assignments are made and physical facilities.

— Its independence from the executive branch and the extent of control over its own activities.

— Its reflection of how well it represents the people.

The report recommended that the General Assembly meet annually, reduce committees in each house to no more than 15 and insure "openness and responsibility on the part of committees."

It is difficult to argue with any of those recommendations and the Citizens Conference report should not be dismissed as totally without merit.

However, it must be remembered that our Legislators are not paid on a full time basis and if we are to have law makers go to Raleigh annually it is going to be considerably more expensive. Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor says it will triple the cost.

It is certain that before long, annual sessions will come and perhaps the cost can be lessened by limiting the length of the sessions.

Plenty of improvements could be made in the way we operate our Legislature. Still we cannot find it in our hearts to believe the men and women who go to Raleigh every two years do a job that should be ranked 47th in the nation.

Because they spend most of their time at home we believe our citizen-legislators are more attuned to the thinking of their constituents than many other law makers who spend the majority of their time meeting.

We should not forget that our law makers have done a pretty good job over the years.

Teachers Have 2-Edged Sword

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Teachers may be fingering a two-edged sword in considering sanctions as a means for backing up demands for higher salaries.

The technique of sanctions, particularly the extreme of work stoppage, could cut both ways as an influence on the General Assembly. It would dramatize the issue and focus public attention on what the legislature was doing about it.

At the same time, the adverse reaction would be to create resentment and get up the backs of those legislators who might succumb to persuasion but who would never give in to pressure.

Already some Senators and Representatives are bristling in private at what they read as an implied threat in the announcement last week that directors of the North Carolina Association of Educators (NCAE) have asked local units to begin thinking about sanctions.

Too Much Hard-Sell?

These legislators — and they include some in key budget-making roles — say teachers are hurting their cause with a hard-sell campaign. Picketing around the State Legislative Building on the session's opening day has been followed by a barrage of letters to members (one reported as many as 20 in one day), and now the talk about sanctions.

"It'll make it impossible for us to go beyond budget recommendations if it looks to the public like we did it with a gun at our head," one lawmaker complained.

Governor Bob Scott in his budget message proposed a 10 per cent salary increase for teachers (and other state employees), spread over the 1971-73 biennium which begins next July 1.

The NCAE, shooting for the national average salary for Tar Heel teachers, advocated a 30 per cent raise over the same period.

Hearing Set February 18th

Appropriations committees of the General Assembly are now hearing state agencies and others spell out money requests for the coming two fiscal years. Hearing date for the teacher pay issue is Thursday, February 18.

Senator J. Phil Kirk of Rowan left the classroom to come to Raleigh for his first term in the legislature. He's already learned one lesson: legislators take unkindly to real or imagined pressure tactics.

With that in mind, Kirk said he hopes NCAE and teachers will take a thoughtful approach to sanctions. "I was glad that they asked local units to study it first rather than go ahead with sanctions," he said.

The Rowan Republican pointed out that the decision will be made when the NCAE's assembly convenes in Charlotte, April 1-2. "Maybe by that time, we will have a clearer indication of what the General Assembly will do," Kirk added.

In any event, as a teacher and as a legislator he draws the line at work stoppage as a means of achieving goals for the profession. "I don't go along with that," he said firmly.

Sympathy for Teachers

Representative Perry Martin of Northampton said he can understand how teachers feel. "If I were a school teacher, I'd probably be done the same thing," he said of the picketing, letter writing and consideration of sanctions.

"I'm not too happy with the Governor's budget recommendations on education myself," the eastern Democrat went on. "Last time we went all out to put on new taxes. I'm interested in seeing that money spent in ways to develop North Carolina. I don't know a better way than through support for education."

There might be some initial backfiring to the teachers' aggressive efforts, but long-range it could get results, Martin added.

Concern that experience of other states with teacher strikes and similar interruptions in school operation might be repeated in North Carolina has been expressed to him, said Representative James Beatty of Mecklenburg. "From the comments I have heard within the legislature and from the public at large, I feel most people would prefer to see the professional teacher organizations utilize some other route to obtain their objectives," Beatty said.

"There's a lot of compassionate understanding for the teaching community throughout the state," he noted. Techniques used could capitalize on that as a resource, or else erode it.

Nixon Warned Of Farm Vote

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Republican resentment over Presidential neglect of the once-Republican farm belt, smouldering in Capitol Hill's cloakrooms and Midwest party circles ever since the 1970 election, exploded in President Nixon's face in the White House inner sanctum last Friday.

The man with the courage to light the fuse was Rep. William Scherle of Iowa, an outspoken conservative with an earned reputation for tough talk. Breaking the ground rules of a formal briefing session presided over by the President, Scherle played Cassandra.

His warning was a crackling echo of Republican farm-belt thunder that the party's 1970 debacle there will be compounded in 1972 unless Mr. Nixon shows far greater interest in farm politics. To these Republicans, the urban orientation of the President's recent leftward move ignores his worst politcal problem.

That problem was also ignored at the last of a series of Presidential briefings for Republican members of Congress Friday morning in the state dining room. Under ground rules spelled out by Mr. Nixon, the Congressmen were to be seen and not heard. With Mr. Nixon presiding, they were given briefings by top White House officials—Henry Kissinger, George Schultz, and John Ehrlichman—but specifically told not to ask questions. Purely by chance, the final segment of some 40 lawmakers contained a high percentage from the farm belt—including Scherle.

Bill Scherle, a farmer himself, could stand it no more after Ehrlichman finished his presentation about the problems of the cities. Rising to his feet, he asked: how about the farms? Unless the White House says something on that subject very soon, he continued, what would farm-belt Republicans tell their constituents? What about a farm message to Congress?

Mr. Nixon replied evenly that old-fashioned farm policy of past Administrations had been replaced by a more sophisticated plan to better rural life and encourage rural populatuion growth. In any event, the President continued, there would shortly be a farm message.

Scherle was scarcely mollified. If that farm message did not appear within 30 days, he warned, very few of those present in the state dining room—including Richar M. Nixon—would be there in 1973.

Presidential aides and some Congressional colleagues felt Scherle was out of line breaking Presidential ground rules (though his fellow Iowa Republican, gadfly Rep. H. R. Gross, likely would have spoken up if Scherle had not). But what he said faithfully represented farm-belt Republican complaints that Mr. Nixon's failure to send Congress a 1970 farm message, the first such omission since Herbert Hoover, betrays a lack of Presidential interest in the farmer.

Indeed, the little-known fact that Republican losses last Nov. 3 were essentially farm losses is confirmed by a privately circulated nonpartisan study by the National Educational Institute for Agriculture. White Democrats gained a net of only nine House seats, seven of the country's most agricultural districts switched from Republican to Democratic. Moreover, heaviest Democratic gains were within the most agricultural counties in these districts.

Republican Rep. Odin Langen's defeat in Minnesota, a race included in the study, is a classic case. His district's five most agricultural countes, containing 14.8 percent of the total vote, gave his opponent—Democrat Robert Bergland—nearly half his winning margin. Langen's 1966 vote of 55.1 percent in those counties dropped to 38.7 percent.

Farm-belt politicians have been worrying whether these statistics are fully understood in the party's high command. Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota, a farm-belt Republican elder, regretfully withdrew support for Senate minority leader from Sen. Hugh Scott, a Philadelphia lawyer, because he felt Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee

Strength For Today

THE WAY OUT

Are we civilized or barbaric?

Blowing up two Japanese cities with atomic bombs was pretty barbaric procedure. Submarines can now lie on the bottom of the sea and send up a bomb that will knock off the hat of the policeman conducting traffic at Red Square in Moscow. We have gotten so used to polluting the atmosphere and the rivers through the enlargement of our manufacturing enterprises that it's not until someone gives us a good crack over the head that we realize we may be conditioning ourselves and the whole human race for extinction.

Oh yes, there is plenty of barbarism in modern life. Crime is a profession for tens of thousands of people. We can be just as mean now as were the past generations that fought with primitive arms. There is plenty of idolatry in the world today. The Big God "Me" is the most devastating of all idols.

The one hopeful thing we can say about ourselves and our contemporaries is that we are genuinely trying to make things better. There were generations and centuries in the past when practically no one gave any thought to making the world a better place in which to live. Huge armies went on Crusades, and we are still asking, Why? The world is a wonderful place and most of us can thank God for much good fortune it has shed upon us. Sometimes the going gets rough, but there is a way out, and there always has been.

Cheer up.

HAIR-BREADTH HARRY'S ON THE JOB AGAIN!

Learn It All By Mail

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

You are more likely to get a cold if you work in an office than a factory. The average worker loses from three to four days a year because of colds. Only six per cent escape at least one attack of the sniffles during that period.

Venetian noblemen once vied so hard to see which could make the trappings of his gondolas the most magnificent and colorful that in 1562 a decree was issued: "Henceforth one color for all." That is why to this day the picturesque water craft that ply the canals of Venice are all painted a somber black.

You wouldn't think any patriotic American would litter a historic site such as the Washington Monument, would you? But workmen who clean it daily sweep up about 40 gallons of debris, most of it thrown away by tourists.

The chances are that you'll take 1.7 trips away from home this year, and nine to one that you'll go by car. About 77 per cent of travelers go by car, and 63 per cent of them journey at least 199 miles from home, and 47 per cent spend from two to five nights away.

Quotable notables: "Any fool can tell the truth, but it requires a man of some sense to lie well."

The Stronger Sex: Older women seem to have a greater desire for independence and freedom than older men. At least three times as many women live alone or with nonrelatives as do older men.

The Good Old Days: Inflation has always been with us. For example, there was widespread indignation and predictions of financial disaster when some barber shops—or tonsorial salons, as they were called—raised the price of a standard nickel shave to six cents and upped the dime haircut to 12 cents. That was in 1860.

Sobering statistic: Alcohol is now regarded by medical authorities as either the third or fourth chief killer in our society. They attribute more deaths only to heart disease, cancer, and perhaps strokes. For years many experts have thought it to be a factor in half the nation's fatal highway accidents.

It was John Dewey who observed, "A man who prides himself upon acting upon principle is likely to be a man who insists upon having his own way without learning from experience what is the better way."

"The ready bubbling over of thoughtfulness for one another, and the habits of smiling, greeting, forbearing, thinking in these ways—it is these above all which makes one's home 'a building of God; a house not made with hands'." — Gladstone.

Largest U.S. Embassy

WASHINGTON — Word from Cambodia is that U.S. military teams assigned to check on American military aid will be dressed in civilian clothes and attached to the U.S. Embassy at Phnom Penh. It has been made perfectly clear that these military teams are not advisers and that they are not violating the "spirit of the law" of the Cooper-Church Amendment.

If things continue the way they're going, Cambodia may soon have the largest American embassy in the world. I would not be surprised to read the following dispatches from this part of the world.

Phnom Penh, Cambodia, February 12 — Five-hundred commercial attaches arrived here today at Phnom Penh airport. U.S. Ambassador Emory Swank explained to reporters that trade with Cambodia has reached an all-time high and he needed the extra personnel to negotiate tariff agreements with Cambodian officials.

The 500 commercial attaches, all carrying brief cases and wearing identical seersucker suits, marched the 5 miles from the airport in double time, led by the U.S. commercial attache band.

Phnom Penh Cambodia, March 5 — One-thousand USIA employees were flown in to Phnom Penh last night to beef up the 500 commercial attaches that were assigned to the American embassy last month.

An American spokesman explained that the USIA was stepping up its information activities for school children (in Cambodia, and that the 1,000 new employees would all be assigned to the new USIA library which was being built underground on the outskirts of the capital.

Phnom Penh, Cambodia, April 30 — Five-thousand cultural affairs officers were airlifted into this Cambodian capital today. On hand to greet them were Ambassador Emory Swank and Premier Lon Nol. The cultural affairs officers, all carrying violin cases, were lined up on the runway and reviewed in a jeep by Premier Lon Nol.

After the review, the chief cultural affairs officer, "Bull" Thorndike, told Lon Nol "No country deserves culture more than Cambodia and my men are here to see that you get it. And we'll stay here until the dirty job is done."

Phnom Penh, July 12 — The State Department has broken ground for the largest U.S. embassy building ever constructed. The embassy will comprise a 5,000-acre complex and the main building, shaped like a pentagon, will be able to accommodate 50,000 American embassy employers now working in Cambodia.

The State Department explained that the reasons for expansion were the unusually heavy demand for visas and passports as well as the increase in embassy diplomatic communications.

"We found," said Ambassador Swank "our former two-story chancellery was not large enough to handle all the embassy's business. The new building will allow us to expedite tourist requests as

Other Editors Say Rule Makes Sense

(The Raleigh Times)

Strict regulations approved by a House committee on use of unmarked state-owned automobiles will go a long way toward regulating a situation which could have gotten out of hand.

The committee approved an amended bill which requires a notice of each vehicle authorized for regular plates to be filed with the Secretary of State as a public record. The notice would have to list the person or department where the vehicle is assigned, the use of the vehicle which justifies a regular plate instead of the public plates, and how long the vehicle may use the regular license plate up to a maximum of 12 months.

Approval for exempting vehicles from the law requiring that state-owned cars be marked would have to come from the Council of State. Rep. James Johnson, Cabarrus Republican, was chairman of the subcommittee which proposed the restrictions. He explained that "this places in the hands of the Council of State the authority and also the responsibility to govern the use of these vehicles."

There was a real need to tighten up this law. Several members of the Council of State were using unmarked cars until news stories last summer pointed up the situation. The law states that only cars used in law enforcement may be unmarked.

The general excuse last summer for use of the unmarked cars was that the officials driving them were on the kind of business where unmarked cars were best. This included people in race relations work, hog cholera work, to mention only two.

The use of unmarked cars could get out of hand easily, and this bill may keep that from happening. The basic idea of requiring that publicly-owned cars be marked is to prevent their use for private purposes at public expense.

Awaiting 'Other Shoe' To Drop

By ELMER ROESSNER

The American fishing industry is waiting for the other shoe to fall.

The first shoe fell when high levels of mercury were found in swordfish and some tuna. Now the National Maritime Fisheries Service is rushing tests of other fresh and canned fish. The discovery of uncomfortable if not dangerous amounts of mercury could have devastating effects on large parts of the fishing industry, laying up fishing fleets, closing canneries and harming fish processing and distributing businesses.

On the basis of what is known so far, these may be the findings:

Fresh water fish will be found safe from most sources. Hatchery-raised trout will probably be okayed, and prices will soar. The lowly but delicious catfish may gain new popularity.

Surface-feeding salt water fish may also be pronounced fit. Cod and other plankton-eating fish will probably rate well.

Younger Fish Fine

Younger fish will probably rate better than those that require years to mature. Scrod will probably be found better than cod. The many varieties of fish called sardines and other small fish will probably get good ratings.

Bottom-feeders will probably be found less satisfactory than others, although the younger ones may be approved.

The huge fish-meal projects, designed to give cheap proteins to the poor in many areas, may have to be revised. If high levels of mercury are found in some, those plants may have to be shut down until ways are found to remove mercury from the meal.

More Forecasts

Here are more look-aheads in business:

Copper and aluminum prices may weaken further. Copper demand is slow.

Prices in foreign markets are under the U.S price. Cutbacks in plane manufacture and agitation against aluminum cans are affecting demand for the light metal.

Silver prices may also slip a bit.

Demand for steel for stockpiling is rising and will continue higher. The demand will be well paced for a while but will become frantic as summer approaches.

Cuts in interest rates on savings deposits have appeared and the trend may grow. That may speed economic recovery. It is fairly well agreed that there will be no great surge of recovery until consumers return to market and, as interest lowers, consumers will have less incentive to save, more to buy.

Holographic Letters By Nixon Worth Lots

My spy in the autograph market reports that handwritten letters by Richard Nixon and dated since he took office, and more than one or two line notes of congratulations, would bring $2,500 each. Signed typewritten letters are worth only a fraction of that. However, based on the value of earlier Presidents' leters, a Nixon holograph will probably be worth only $200 ten years hence.

Bank's Advisory Now Comes in Taped Sound

First National City Bank of New York has instituted a new monthly advisory service. It is recorded on tape casettes and is titled "The Sound of the Economy." The first release predicts that the gross national product will rise 4½ per cent in real terms this year and that price inflation will subside next year.

1971 To Be An Active, Costlier Year In Housing

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Almost inevitably, 1971 will be one of the most active years in housing since 1950, now that interest rates are falling. But there is a grim aspect to the outlook: Prices are rising.

It's an old story. The house that sold for $25,000 early in 1968 can't be duplicated now for less than $30,000, and the prospect is that it will sell for $35,000 in a year or two.

"In the next 12 months," said Lawrence Weiberg, whose company expects to erect 3,000 homes this year, "our costs will rise a minimum of 10 to 12 per cent." Much of this will, of course, be passed on to the buyer.

Weinberg is president and chairman of the Larwin Group, Inc., based in Los Angeles, active more recently in Chicago and planning to move into other sections of the country, now that it has become a subsidiary of CNA Financial Corp.

The company for years has maintained a reputation for efficiency, almost always being high among the most profitable of the nation's top 10 builders, so the forecast has considerable meaning for the entire industry and for potential home buyers.

What cane be done? For one thing, the building codes can be changed, Weinberg feels. "We have building codes overlaying building codes—state, country, city, FHA, VA."

Almost all codes relate to the quality and safety of products that go into the house, but many are so dated or so curiously written that they discourage innovations in methods and the use of worthwhile new products.

Weinberg feels that codes written to enforce performance rather than the use of specific products and methods might help to encourage experimentation that could lead to houses of higher quality for the same price.

The code for a roof, for example, wouldn't detail the products and the methods but it would require that the roof remain leakproof and sturdy for a specified number of years.

Not only would this permit builders to use new materials and methods, Weinberg says, but it would sharpen the edge of competition among them. It would force builders to put their reputations and finances on the line.

If the structure failed to live up to promises, the builder—or a bonding company—would be forced to make good or see his reputation and his future ruined, a strong reminder to him that innovation doesn't mean cutting corners.

Such codes have often been talked about but they are in use to no significant extent and aren't likely to be utilized for some time. Thinking is ingrained and so are certain products. And there is the awesome number of codes to be rewritten.

Housing Theme Is Set

By EDWIN L. YANCEY

The Coastal Plain Development Association Housing Fair will be held in Greenville on April 23-25 at Cannon's Warehouse. The theme for this year's event will be "Better Homes For Better Living — Planning Makes it Possible."

Building materials, plan services, financing, insurance, house furnishings, interior decorating, mobile homes, as well as educational and governmental services related to housing will be brought together. This will provide the prospective home builder or remodeler with an opportunity for a comprehensive look at choices in products and services.

Firms that have an interest in housing should find it profitable to exhibit at this event. Over 200 9' x 10' exhibit spaces, plus five moblie home spaces (outside the warehouse) are available. A professional decorating service has been employed to provide attractive background and dividers. Space rental fees are nominal.

The Agricultural Extension Service, a co-sponsor of the Fair, will assist the fair management in developing and publicizing the event. Based on the experience of the first housing fair held in Wilson in 1969, more than 25,000 persons are expected to attend.

Anyone who is interested in exhibiting at the Housing Fair should contact J. H. (Hap) Moye, Manager, or call the Agricultural Extension Service.

A SPRINKLING OF SURPRISES — There can be an outpouring of ideas on what these things are in this era of moon rocks and such. But they all boil down to the fact that at left is a grain of pepper and at right are table salt crystals. All are in highly magnified form as seen through the scanning electron microscope. Ervin To Quiz 3 In Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sam J. Ervin says he has asked three Cabinet officers to testify during broad hearings on whether the federal government sometimes violates the Constitution by snooping on its citizens.

The hearings will open Feb. 23 and will focus on the Bill of Rights, alleged military snooping on civilian groups, and government use of computers and data banks.

Ervin, in a speech prepared for delivery on the Senate floor today, said many data-gathering programs on citizens were "undertaken in the pursuit of a number of high-sounding federal programs, worthy in their inception.

"But," the North Carolina Democrat added, "because of their scope, they threaten in operation to become, and in some cases actually have grown to be, monsters of the laws, stalking the privacy and trampling the 1st Amendment rights of individual citizens."

Asked to testify were Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richrdson. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe.

Ervin said Richardson will be questioned March 11 on ways in which Social Security numbers are used. He said the secretary already has directed the Social Security Administration to review the increasing use of Social Security numbers for identification purposes.

Mitchell will be asked to report March 9 on the government's constitutional power "to order or conduct surveillance and to acquire information on lawful political activities, personal beliefs and private lives of citizens where no probable cause exists to believe they are guilty of any crimes."

A subcommittee aide said no reply has been received from Mitchell's office on whether the attorney general will testify.

Volpe was asked to discuss March 11 his department's computerized national data bank of driver's license holders.

The subcommittee also plans to hear from Christopher Pyle, lawyer and author of several articles on surveillance activities of the Army Intelligence Command, and John M. O'Brien, who reported that Army units monitored the activities of a number of top Illinois officials, including Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III and former Gov. Otto Kerner.

Army officials also are to appear, as are representatives of the computer industry.

Ervin said government blacklists of those who disagree with its policies are not new but "the efficiency with which it is done now makes it a vital constitutional problem as never before."

Recover Bodies Of 2 Fishermen

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C. (AP) — The bodies of two men who drowned when their boat overturned in the Pasquotank River near Pool Point Saturday have been recovered.

The Coast Guard and the Elizabeth City Rescue Squad found the bodies Sunday. The men were identified as William Mack Umphlett of Rt. E, Elizabeth City, and Douglas Meads, 21, of Rt. 1, Elizabeth City.

The search began Saturday evening when a Coast Guard helicopter spotted an overturned boat in the river. The search continued until late that night and resumed Sunday. One body was found tangled in a fishing net and the other was recovered in dragging operations.

It is against the law in Oregon to advertise alcoholic beverages on Sunday.

Lost Child

ROME, Ga. (AP) — A search for a missing 2-year-old boy — now in its sixth day — has been curtailed with officials cancelling any further requests for volunteers.

However, authorities said civil defense units and divers will continue the search for little Scott Lee Fonner for several more days. The child, son of Mr. and Mrs. Terry Fonner, disappeared from his home just north of Rome Tuesday.

Gov. Jimmy Carter visited the Fonner family Sunday and discussed the search with local law enforcement officials. He stayed in Rome about 45 minutes.

Authorities gave no particular reason for cutting down the search which has involved as many as 2,000 persons.

They said divers will search the streams and rivers near the Fonner home as soon as the water clears.

Some 350 persons joined in the search Sunday through the dense undergrowth within a three-mile radius of the rural home. The group included some 91 volunteers on horseback.

Phnom Penh, Cambodia, November 13 — A U.S. Marine guard detail composed of 100,000 men and officers was landed in Phnom Penh today.

Secretary of State William Rogers revealed the increase in the Marine guard detail was needed after two Cambodians had broken into the embassy PX and stolen three Japanese cameras.

He believed the new security measures would discourage any such thefts in the future.

He told reporters "The security of a U.S. embassy is the first consideration of this country and as long as I am secretary of state I will see that our brave diplomats have all the protection they need."

Prison Guard Trainees Taste Other Side Of Bars

ON THE OTHER SIDE — Raymond Rogers, a Connecticut State Prison guard gazes through bars as he samples life as a prisoner. (AP Wirephoto)

By PETER COWEN
Associated Press Writer

HADDAM, Conn. (AP) — Nine men carry their luggage slowly through a metal portal and down a stark hallway. Suddenly they are told to stop talking, put their suitcases down, empty their pockets and strip off their clothes.

Each man is assigned a number, given an intimate physical inspection, handed a light green, one-piece jumper and told to put it on, then ordered to enter a specified cell. The doors to the cells slam shut simultaneously with a roar.

"I had a strange feeling as the door was closed behind me," one man recalls. "I had an empty, almost frightening feeling." Another sat "for a long time wondering when they will let us out and tell us it's all a joke."

But the experience is neither fantasy nor humor. Nor is it punishment. It is one brief part of a unique program to train guards for Connecticut's 11 state correctional facilities.

The three-week course is administered at the Haddam Training Academy, which is housed in a 184-year-old granite building recently converted from a jail.

The new trainees, most of them in their 20s, seldom forget that first hour, when they were thrust into the cold, institutional world of the convict.

"The feeling of being stripped of your personal belongings, rights, etc. is a feeling of loneliness and helplessness," one 23-year-old man wrote in the diary they each were required to keep.

"... I started to become aware of the fact that there are a lot of inmates in our jails today who really need a helping hand or crutch—or just the thought—that somebody cares to do them a little favor, or shall I say listen and be concerned."

This empathy for the inmate, which prison authorities say contrasts to the feelings many older guards have for their wards, was expressed by most of the other trainees. It was the reaction correction officials hoped for when they initiated the program in September.

New recruits are subjected first-hand to the little indignities of prison life to make them more sensitive to their task of rehabilitating inmates and reducing relapses into crime, says Capt. William Gimignani, an instructor at the academy.

"We hope that we can be successful in dealing with inmates," says Gimignani, "that we can send them back to society as new men—ready for society."

During their three-week "incarceration", the trainees study unarmed defense techniques, "restraining" devices, security procedures, narcotics and first aid.

They listen to lectures by state police, psychologists, sociologists and inmates about "the goals and philosophy of correction," "the role of the correctional officer," the criminal justice system, probation and "minority groups in prison."

The new recruits live in 5- by 8-foot prison cells throughout the program, although the doors are not locked after the first day and they are allowed to return home on weekends. They eat institutional food in a mess hall, and jog three miles each day to stay in shape.

According to Gimignani, a 21-year veteran with the Connecticut Department of Corrections, the program already has begun to show results. In a recent interview, he described the experience of one young guard who completed the course and was assigned to a state prison.

"He said that when he first came in he was told by the older officers ... the only thing they (prisoners) knew was harsh, hard treatment, and if you didn't do this, they would manipulate you in certain situations, you know, and they would find you an easy mark," said Gimignani.

"But he said that after leaving here he found that he could handle the inmates. He was still strict, but he was very, very fair and he understood a lot more," Gimignani said. "He was able to relate to the inmate a lot better and with much more satisfaction, and he felt a lot better about it."

Since the program began last summer, some 85 new guards have graduated in four classes. The trainees' reports, some of which obviously include sentiments they felt their instructors expected them to express, nevertheless offer insights into the program's effectiveness.

Some excerpts:

—"The most important thing we have to talk about is not what the person (sic) crime was, but what made him do it. When we find this out we can cure him."

—"We cannot just put a person in jail and forget they are there and expect them to come into the world again a mentally healthy person without some kind of rehabilitation program."

—"When I am talking or handling an inmate in the future, I will try to use a little warmth in my manner of giving him directions or answering any questions he might have."

—"I think inmates respect a guard a lot more when he is understanding ..."

Shaky Alliance Between Cambodia, South Viets

By J. T. WOLKERSTORFER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — When Cambodia's premier visited Saigon recently he got an extravagant reception.

Banners flanking the route of Lon Nol's motorcade spelled out the recurring themes of his visit: "Long live Cambodian-Vietnamese friendship" and "Cambodians and Vietnamese will fight together against the Communist aggressors."

Subsequent events have helped put that friendship into perspective.

Shortly before his departure, Lon Nol sidestepped a question about charges issued publicly in Phnom Penh that South Vietnamese troops have looted, raped and murdered in Cambodia. He admitted to "some problems" but insisted they could be solved in the spirit of "friendship and unity."

A week later, an intramural shootout between the two "allies" caused more panic and chaos in downtown Phnom Penh than any attack by the Viet Cong had done.

A squabble developed in the central market between the Vietnamese and some Cambodian Mike Force soldiers—ethnic Cambodians who have fought as mercenaries for U.S. Special Forces.

A further quarrel developed between the Vietnamese and a handful of Cambodian paratroopers, who took refuge in a military police headquarters.

The Vietnamese sailors apparently got grenade launchers and machine guns off their patrol boats moored in the harbor and attacked the headquarters.

The fight caused nervous Cambodian guards all over town to start shooting at anything that moved. By the time the firing died down 14 Cambodians were wounded and a cycle driver was dead.

A Cambodian officer and a Vietnamese officer met in the rubble near the headquarters, and agreed to investigate the incident. They went through the formalities of saluting and shaking hands, but their dislike was manifest.

A Cambodian diving for cover from the hail of bullets expressed the feeling of many Cambodians by cursing "no-good Vietnamese."

"North Vietnamese, South Vietnamese, Viet Cong—all the same," he added.

Later that night, South Vietnamese marines attacked a Cambodian outpost a few miles outside Phnom Penh.

The incidents were part of a long series of fights between Cambodian and South Vietnamese troops, including a major battle in the provincial capital of Svay Rieng.

Reports persist in Phnom Penh that the South Vietnamese military is moving Vietnamese civilians into the Parrot's Beak area near Svay Rieng—in effect "colonizing" the area.

It appears that the alliance between the Lon Nol government and the Saigon regime is one of necessity. Lon Nol turned to the South Vietnamese because he had to.

FHA Funds Cutback Hit

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott says the cutbacks in funds for rural housing under the Farmers Home Administration will "destroy the dream of home ownership for many poor families."

Scott sent a telegram to President Nixon Saturday urging him to reconsider the cutbacks in funds for the program.

He called the program a "grass roots version of the revenue sharing concept" and said it deserves the president's support. He pointed out that nearly half of the loans made under the program have gone to black families.

"To withdraw these funds," Scott said, "is to destroy the dream of home ownership for many poor families. Home ownership strengthens a family. Our nation today needs that strength."

ministering small amounts of demerol to patients in great pain."

Moving day to Mrs. Mable F. Baker, now head nurse on the medical floor of Pitt Memorial, meant manning the home front. She spent the day at Pitt General administering oxygen to a young child in the throes of pneumonia. Late in the day, she and a doctor moved the child to the new hospital.

The capacity of the new hospital was 120 beds and it was not fully occupied for several years. A staff of 27 registered nurses, five licensed practical nurses, 17 nurse's aides, and six orderlies kept the medical processes moving and Mrs. Christopher supervised only a small staff. Today there are some 560 hospital employees.

Other hospital employees, excluding doctors, who have worked at Pitt Memorial since it opened or before are Walter A. Dail, maintenance engineer; Luther Smith, a maintenance man; Mrs. Maggie Mercer, head nurse on the obstetrics floor; Mrs. Sadie G. Tyson, a nurse's aide; Mrs. Victoria V. Smith, an LPN on the medical floor; Mrs. Mary H. Gardner, a surgical technician; and Arthur B. Johnson, an orderly.

"All in all, in spite of the cold weather, limited equipment, and the newness of the situation, our moving operations went smoothly," Ward said. "I only hope moving into the new hospital we are now planning goes as well. And I hope that the facilities we prepare will be such that moving day will not come again for a long, long time thereafter."

Food Store Disqualified

FARMVILLE — A local food store, HyLean Foods, has been disqualified from the federal food stamp program for violations, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service.

HyLean Foods, owned by William Randolph Brock of Farmville, was charged with selling ineligible items for USDA food coupons, including paper products, cleaning supplies, cigarettes, and wine and beer.

The disqualification, effective January 16, will last for one year. Until the store is reinstated, the grocery may not accept food coupons, according to the announcement.

By law, food coupons can be used only to buy food, excluding certain inported foods. Participating food stores agree in advance to abide by the laws and regulations. Any store that breaks the law or regulations — and anyone who pressures a store to do so — weakens and endangers the whole program, established to combat hunger and malnutrition.

Winless VMI May Be Seeing Last Chance Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Virginia Military Institute is going to avoid a winless basketball season, tonight's the night the Keydets had better put it all together.

The opposition on its home court for VMI, which has lost all 19 games this year and 24 in a row since last Feb. 10, will be Richmond's Spiders, next to the Keydets the nearest thing to futility in the Southern Conference. Richmond has won just three of 18 starts.

Even the Spiders have begun to show some signs of life, however. After bowing by just 78-71 at Cincinnati last Tuesday night, the Spiders lost by only 82-81 Saturday night in a conference game at East Carolina as they almost overcame an 19-point deficit in the second half.

VMI has won two of the last three games between the two teams on its home court, and its only home opponents after tonight are Furman and William and Mary, both considered tougher opponents than Richmond.

The game is one of five involving every conference team tonight except Davidson's front-running Wildcats.

William and Mary invades Virginia Tech, which has beaten Virginia opponents 43 times in a row on its home court and which did in the Indians by 74-62 just last Wednesday at Williamsburg.

Other nonleague action has The Citadel at Chattanooga, Furman at Wofford and East Carolina at home against Southern Mississippi.

East Carolina's victory over Richmond boosted the Pirates into third place in the conference standings at 5-3 behind Davidson at 5-1 and William and Mary at 5-2. Furman's Aaladins tied The Citadel for fourth place at 4-3 by knocking over the Bulldogs 91-86 Saturday night.

Nonconference action Saturday night saw William and Mary rally to defeat Navy 77-71 and Davidson take a 93-79 whipping at West Virginia.

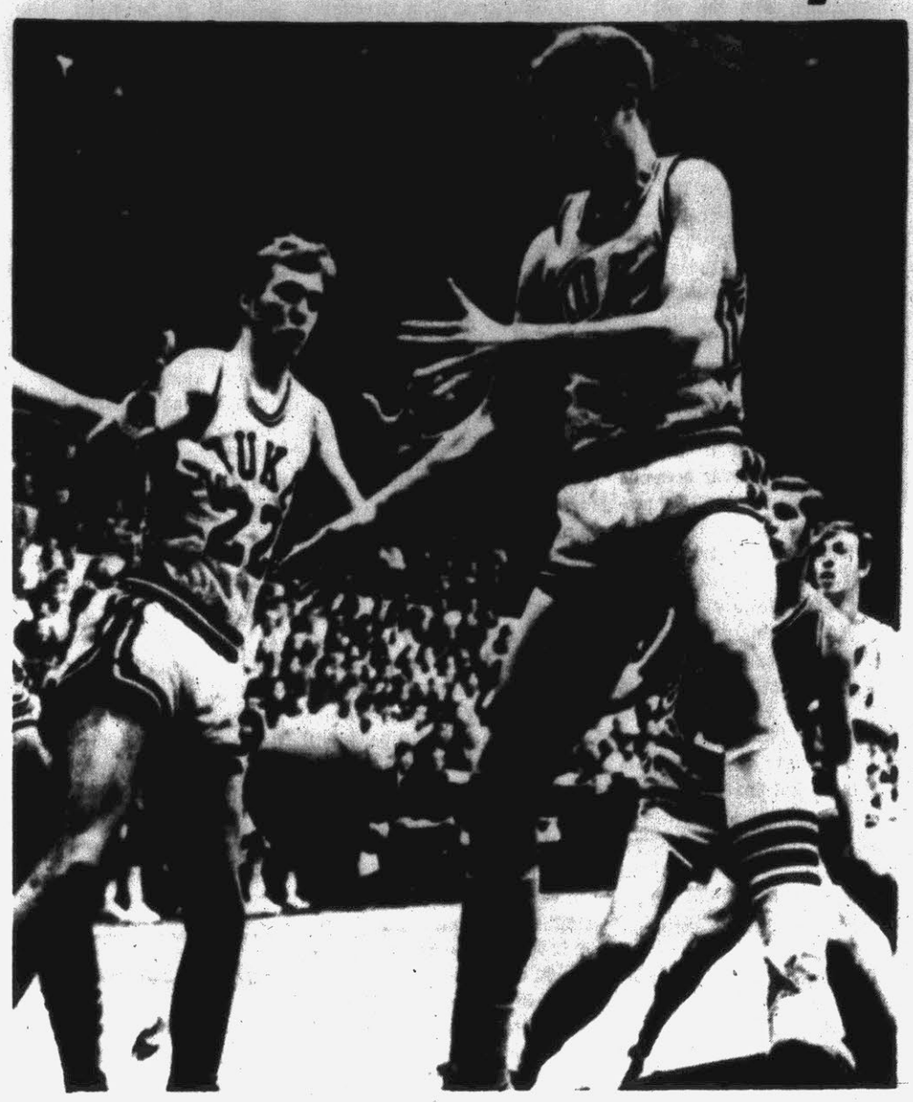
Richmond had blown an 18-point lead and wound up a 79-63 loser to East Carolina on the Spiders court last month. This time the Spiders almost turned things around, but Mike Anastasio's last-second shot missed.

Jim Gregory scored 32 points for East Carolina, 20 in the first half while the Pirates were building a 49-35 advantage that almost got away. Anastasio led the Spiders with 16.

Furman did blow a 14-point lead over The Citadel, but went back ahead for good at 84-82 on David Whitener's layup with 52 seconds left. Whitener and Jerry Martin had 20 points each to back up Don Jackson's 25 for the Paladins. Ben Ledbetter of The Citadel had a game-high 31.

Down by a point at intermission, William and Mary rallied in the second half to beat Navy on the scoring of Tom Jasper and Jim Warns. Jasper finished with 20 points, Warns with 19 and Steve Dodge added 13.

West Virginia outscored Davidson 58-43 over the latter stages of the second half, using a full-court press to force numerous turnovers. Will Robinson had 25 points and Larry Harris 21 for the Mountaineers, Steve Kirley 21 for the Wildcats.



HOT POTATO — Duke's Rick Katherman (22) and Randy Denton (31) are all thumbs as the ball slips between their fingers during the Duke-Maryland encounter. The game went the way of the ball — away from Duke. Maryland won 88-79. (AP Wirephoto)

Bruised Wolfpack Can Be Dangerous To UNC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basketball teams that have just suffered an embarrassing loss are a lot like wounded bears — they can be mighty dangerous.

And North Carolina is likely to keep that in mind when it meets North Carolina state tonight in the only Atlantic Coast Conference game on schedule.

The Wolfpack was cut down by Virginia, 79-53, Saturday in a game that saw State go without a point for 10 minutes in the second half.

The Tar Heels are 13-3 in over-all play and 6-1 in ACC competition this season while the Wolfpack is 10-6 over-all and 3-3 in conference games.

State will have to have more than desire to repair wounded pride to carry it past UNC, however. The Tar Heels' Dennis Wuycik is the nation's top percentage shooter. He got 22 points last Thursday night as UNC handed Wake Forest its worst loss of the season, 93-75.

One thing the Wolfpack does have going for it is that it will be on home territory against North Carolina.

The Tar Heels are leading the conference, but they have yet to win an ACC game on the road. That single league loss was away from home, against Wake Forest.

Clemson, which came close to toppling South Carolina on Saturday, is the only other ACC team in action tonight. The Tigers are host to Rollins College of Winter Park, Fla.

Rollins has a 12-8 record and a lot of height that could prove too much for the Tigers. The visitors' leading scorer, Tim Shea, is a 6-4 junior with a 13.9 average.

The Tigers had murder on their mind Saturday against South Carolina as they played a deliberate and careful game. But the Gamecocks pulled away in the final seconds to win it, 47-44.

South Carolina is now 5-4 in the conference and 13-4 overall. Cemson is 2-6 and 6-11.

John Roche, superman of the basketball courts, got 16 points for the Gamecocks.

In the only other ACC game Saturday, Maryland whipped Duke, 88-79. The Terrapin victory makes Maryland 4-4 in conference play while Duke is 3-5.

The Duke-Maryland scrap was close throughout the first half, but the Terrapins pulled into the lead for good early in the second half. Duke led 40-39 at the half.

The Terp's leading scorer, Howard White, got 24 points.

Wake Forest was out of the conference Stuurday, overwhelming Florida Southern, 103-68, at Winston-Salem.

Charlie Davis, the ACC's leading scorer, sat out the last eight minutes of the game and still ended up with 24. The Deacons' Neil Pastushok collected 12 points in the second half to give him a total of 18.

It was the first time this year the Deacons had scored more than 100 points.

Seniors Get Racing Lift

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Iggy Katona pulled his red and gold Dodge into victory circle at Daytona International Speedway Sunday and told his senior citizen fan club, "Let's all go out for a round on the town."

Katona is a 55-year-old eight-times grandfather from Willis, Mich., and he is long past the age when all but a few race drivers hang up their helmets.

But Katona had just won the ARCA 300-mile stock car race at a record speed of 152.542 miles per hour and was in no mood to talk about quitting.

"Heck," he said, "I'm just getting started. In fact, this was the easiest race I've ever won. It doesn't bother me to run fast. Matter of fact, the faster I go the better I like it."

Katona's victory, his second in this $35,025 event for drivers who spend most of their time running the small ovals of the Midwest, brought him a check for $5,900.

Second place went to Tom Bowsher of Springfield, Ill., in a Ford. Red Farmer of Hueytown, Ala., was third in a Ford, while fourth and fifth places, respectively, went to Jack Shanklin of Indianapolis and Hank Teeters of West Jefferson, Ohio.

Palmer Reveals 'No Confidence'

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Arnold Palmer's head was up and the mobile face flashed the famous grin, but there were tight, weary lines of bitter frustration around the eyes.

"I just have no confidence in my short game," the aging idol said. "I guess I'm scared of the short putts."

Palmer, the almost legendary figure who put the word "charge" in golf's lexicon, again failed to get it going in the final round of the $200,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament Sunday and finished four strokes back of winner Tom Shaw.

He was tied for the top with Shaw and burly Dewitt Weaver going into the bright, sunlit final round on the course hard by Diamond Head.

"But I promptly three-putted two of the first five holes," said the 41-year-old champion, who has not won in more than a year.

"When you're in my position, second or third or fourth or fifth doesn't make that much difference. Winning is the only thing that is important.

Shaw, the personable young man who won the Bing Crosby just three weeks ago, rallied with birdies on two of the last three holes for a three-under-par 69 and a 273 total, 15 under par.

He trailed Weaver by a stroke after taking a three-putt bogey on the 14th hole before making his winning move. The victory was worth $40,000 to the young man from Milwaukie, Ore., and it pushed his earnings for the year to about $67,000.

"This game is a lot more fun when you're playing the way I am right now," he said, "When you hit it where you aim it and don't have to go and find it."

Veteran Miller Barber, winner at Phoenix two weeks ago, closed with a rush, taking birdies on the final two holes for a 68 and 274, good for second place.

Weaver, still seeking his first victory in five years on the pro tour, slipped to third when he missed the green and dogeyed on the 17th. He had a 71 for 275 and a $14,000 check—the biggest of his career.

Palmer took a 73 for 277 and was tied for fourth at that figure with Lee Trevino and rookie Hubert Green. Trevino had a 70 and Green closed with a 68.

Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper never were in it. Casper had a 71 for 284 and Nicklaus took a 73 for 287.

Seek Fifth

East Carolina University's Pirates will be seeking their fifth straight victory tonight at 8 p.m. when they entertain Southern Mississippi in Minges Coliseum.

It is the only home appearance of the Bucs this week. Their lone other game is a road encounter against The Citadel on Saturday night.

Prior to the varsity game, the ECU Freshmen, now 9-2, will play host to Mount Olive Junior College.

The Pirate varsity is now 10-9 on the season.

Surprises Mark Invitational Tenni Tourney

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)-The sixth annual Fidelity Invitational tennis tournament wound up with surprise winners in both singles and doubles.

Fourth-ranked Ilie Nastase of Romania won the singles and $5,000 with a 3-6, 6-2, 6-4 triumph Sunday over Arthur Ashe of Richmond, who had been ranked third. Ashe earned $2,500.

Ashe came back later to team with Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., for the doubles crown with a 7-6, 3-6, 7-6 victory over the second - seeded Austrlian duo of John Newcombe and Ken Rosewall. Ashe and Ralston won $1,500, while the losers got $1,000.

Nastase had sidelined the top-seeded Newcombe in Saturday's singles semifinals, but then he and fellow countryman Ion Tiriac—who had been ranked first in the doubles—were beaten by Ashe and Ralston.

THEY SAID IT

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — People have been saying unkind things about Florida's Parker Hall basketball court.

Dave Hunter of the Gainesville Sun called the 5,100-seat Parker Agricultural Hall where games are played "the world's biggest garage."

"It's so small," said Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp, "it would take only five gallons of gas to burn it down."

Japanese Wins Ski Jump Title

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Japan's Yukio Kasaya Monday won the pre-Olympic ski jumping title on the 70-meter hill with leaps of 84.5 and 83.5 meters which gave him a total of 251.4 points.

Anatoli Zheglanov of the Soviet Union was second with jumps of 84 and 78.5 meters and 240.1 points. Two East Germans were third and fourth.

HAD GOOD COACHING

DENVER (AP) — For 30 years Bob Clark held the record as the youngest player to win the Colorado medal play golf tournament. Then his son, Bill, came along to win it. Bill had just turned 19, while his father was 19½ when he won the title.

North Carolina has about 300 golf courses.

Lefties See 'Advantage'

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)— Professional bowling's newest star believes left-handers will become more prominent in the game unless steps are taken to correct flaws in lane surfaces.

Larry Lichstein, a 21-year-old southpaw from Windsor Locks, Conn., won first place in the $75,000 Ebonite Open over the weekend with a dramatic 10th frame strike. His final score was 234.

The wispy Lichstein was one of 16 left-handed semi-finalists in the tournament, a first in Professional Bowling Association history.

Lichstein, who won $10,000 for his top finish in San Jose—his first during the current winter tour — was joined by Ebonite runnerup Dave Davis of Miami in saying lefthanders are gaining a "built in" advantage on the bowling lanes.

Davis and Lichstein agreed that pits created on most lanes by the sheer enormity of right-handed bowlers have tipped professional tournaments in favor of left-handers.

Spring Drills Begin Mar. 15

East Carolina University will open spring football practice on March 15, it was announced today by Pirate Head Coach Sonny Randle.

"We'll work out on a Monday-Wednesday-Thursday-Saturday basis," said Randle, who will be getting his first look at the Pirates as their head coach after spending last season as an offensive assistant on the ECU staff.

The Pirates will hold 14 practice sessions before spring vacation, which begins April 8 and lasts through April 14.

Then, on April 15, ECU will be back on the practice field for six more workouts, concluding with the annual Purple-Gold Intrasquad Game April 24. That Saturday game will start at 2 p.m. in Ficklen Stadium and will be part of the big Pirates Jamboree Weekend on campus.

NCAA and Southern Conference rules restrict spring football practice to 20 workouts within a 30-day period. However, days in which the students are on vacation and away from the campus do not count in that 30-day period.

Also on tap as part of the Pirates' spring football plans will be the annual ECU-High School Coaches Clinic on Friday, April 2 and Saturday, April 3.

Von Ruden's Sub-Four-Minute Mile Is 8 Days Late

By TOM SALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tom Von Ruden finally did it. The blond former Oklahoma State runner predicted he would run a sub-four-minute mile and he did.

However, Von Ruden said he was going to do it eight days ago at the Millrose Track Meet in New York—and the Olympic 1500-meters ace didn't accomplish his feat until this Saturday night at Fort Worth's 10-lap banked board track, capping the two-day meet.

Little matter though since it was also the first sub-four-minute mile indoors in the United States since Jim Ryun achieved the distinction three years ago in New York on Feb. 9, 1968, running a 3:57.5.

Von Ruden, running for the Pacific Coast Club, was caught in 3:59.4 at the Fort Worth Coaches Indoor Games and it was his first ever indoors under the magic mark. Jim Crawford, a Richardson, Tex., schoolteacher helped immeasurably, setting a brisk pace and finishing in 4:01.4. Von Ruden trailed until he passed Crawford with two laps to go.

Von Ruden, who also won the 1,000-yard run in Toronto the night before in 2:08.2, said he was tired and had only three hours sleep.

"Sometimes being tired will relax you," he said. "That's what happened tonight."

What happened a week ago at the Millrose Games was a different story. Von Ruden, who was the defender at 1,000-yards there, requested a chance at Marty Liquori, Villanova's Olympian, in the mile.

"I'll beat the four minute mark for you if you put me in the mile," Von Ruden said. And since there has never been one in that famous meet, the promoter quickly accepted Tom.

He failed that night, running a 4:02.1, which placed him 10 yards behind Liquori, who won in 4:00.6. But this weekend was a different story.

In all there were meets in New York and Toronto on Friday night and two others on Saturday besides Fort Worth, in Baltimore and Seattle.

At Seattle, Kerry Pearce, of Australia tied his own world mark of 8:27.2 in winning the two-mile run on the 11-lap banked board track of the Coliseum.

The Texas El-Paso runner actually ran 8:27.1 but rules call for times to be clocked to the nearest fifth of a second. He easily whipped Poland's Henryk Dzordykowski, a distant second in 8:44.3.

Al Feuerbach, the world indoor record holder in the shot put, won his specialty with a toss of 65 feet, 4 inches, well off his record toss of 68-11 at the same meet.

At Baltimore, Tony Greene of Maryland, captured a blanket finish 60-yard dash, nipping Zack Rogers of Norfolk State and the newest track sensation, Dr. Delano Meriwether. All three runners were caught in six seconds flat.

Meriwether, the 27-year-old hematologist at the Baltimore Cancer Research Center, who only took up the sport less than a year ago, has now raced indoors seven times, finishing first twice, second three times, third and fifth once each.

Eamonn O'Keeffe, an Irish lad running for Florida University, won the outstanding performer award at the 11-lap banked board track in Baltimore, copping the 880-yard run in 1:50.4 and anchoring the victorious Florida two-mile relay team.

Brian McElroy, sitting out a year of ineligibility at Villanova after transferring from Kansas, won the Calvert Mile in 4:08.1 over Sam Bair of the Pacific Track Club.

Another world record toppled when George Frenn, a school teacher from North Hollywood, Calif., broke the 35-pound weight throw mark with a toss of 72 feet, 3½ inches at a Long Beach, Calif., meet.

Harold Connolly, Frenn's teammate at the PCC, held the former mark.

On Friday night, Randy Matson, the Olympic shot put champion, beat Feuerbach, flipping the 16-pound ball 66 feet, 4 inches with Feuerbach second at 66-7½.

Other winners in Toronto besides Von Ruden were teammate Chuck LaBenz, capturing the mile at Toronto's 11-lap banked board oval in 4:05.8 besting Szordykowski.

Reynaldo Brown, another Olympian, shattered the meet mark for the high jump with a 7-2½ leap while the pole vault went to Dick Railsback of the PCC at 17 feet.

In New York at the Knights of Columbus meet on Madison Square Garden's 11-lap elastroturf banked track, Liquori raced to his 12th consecutive Garden victory, winning the 1,000 in 2:08.8, beating McElroy by five yards.

But the meet's top performer award went to Alabama's Jan Johnson, who broke the K of C pole vault mark with a 17-0¼ vault, bettering the former record of 16-6¾ by Bob Seagren. The only other meet record to fall was Al Hall's 67-6 toss in the 35-pound weight throw.

Jim Green of Kentucky won the 60-yard dash in 6.2, nipping Dr. Meriwether by inches while O'Keefe took the 880 in 1:53.8.

And at Ypsilanti, Mich., Kent State's Al Schoterman broke the NCAA record for the 35-pound weight with a toss of 66-5½.

Satisfaction, Is . . .

Pole Position Safe As Foyt Takes A 'Breather'

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A. J. Foyt went back to Texas for a breather today, the pole position for Sunday's Daytona 500 stowed away in his traveling bag.

With his departure, to return at midweek, speed weeks at Daytona International Speedway moved into a final five days of activity that includes five auto races leading up to the 13th running of the $200,000 classic.

The week's schedule includes:

—A pair of 125-mile races for Grand National stock cars Thursday, from which the 38 starters below the front row positions will be selected for America's most prestigious stock car event.

—The Citrus 250 for NASCAR Grand American cars of the Mustang, Camaro and Javelin class on Friday. The race carries a purse of $35,000 and utilizes the speedway's 3.81 mile track-road course.

—The 100-mile Inver House Grand Prix for open-cockpit cars of the formula Ford, formula Vee class, in this case called formula "100s." It runs Friday over the track-road course.

—The annual Permatex 300 for late model sportsman cars Saturday, carrying $36,000 in prize money.

All classes of machinery have periods of practice beginning today, including the Grand National cars. Some of these still must post official lap times in order to gain spots in Thursday's 125-milers.

Foyt and defending Grand National champion Bobby Isaac won the two front row starting positions Saturday, when 28 other drivers posted times to be assured of berths in the qualifying events.

Foyt, 35-year-old three-time Indianapolis winner, flashed around the 2.5-mile trioval at 182.744 miles an hour to grab the pole position from a stunned group of NASCAR regulars.

Foyt, driving the Glen Wood Mercury, hadn't done anything like that in practice. And he admitted he had "sandbagged" a bit to confuse the other drivers —that is, he had been turning laps slower than he was capable of doing.

One of the all-time high money winners in racing and now a millionaire rancher in Texas, Foyt picked up $5,000 for his effort and not only assured himself of the inside front row spot Sunday but will head up one of the 125-milers, each of which carries $5,000 to win.

Isaac, a 33-year-old veteran of the South's bull ring ovals before taking to the big speedways, posted 180.050 m.p.h. for the other front row spot and was paid $1,000.

Isaac, who drives a Dodge for Indiana insuranceman Nord Nordcroft, won more than $100,000 in prize money last season and on Wednesday night will pick up another $100,000 in bonus money that goes with the NASCAR driving title. That's the night for the Grand National victory dinner.

Saturday's qualifying speeds were well below those of last year, when Cale Yarborough won the pole in another Glen Wood Mercury at a record 194.015. But the big stockers this year have been hobbled by restrictor plates on their carburetors, cutting their horsepower and thus reducing their speed.

Most of the other drivers who raced against the clock came in well under the 180 mark, defending 500 champion Pete Hamilton being the third fastest at 179.472 in a Plymouth.

Tar Heels Proved Surprise At Relays

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — North Carolina's Tar Heels were the surprise of the 20th annual VMI Winter Relays which had been expected to be dominated by Tennessee, Maryland and possibly William and Mary.

Although no team totals were kept Saturday night, the Tar Heels won four individual and relay events to three for Tennessee and two each for Georgia Tech, William and Mary and Florida State.

In addition, the Tar Heels provided two of the performers voted outstanding by coaches of the 41 teams taking part.

North Carolina's Darrell Kelly who set a record of 50 feet, 7¼ inches in the triple jump, was named the outstanding field events man.

There was a tie vote for the top runner between the Tar Heels' Larry Widgeon, who set a meet record of 8:58.8 in the two-mile run, and Bill High of Tennessee, who edged teammate Pete Mattina in the 60-yard high hurdles and anchored the Vols to a 29-second record in the shuttle hurdle relay.

Two other records were set by Florida State's four-mile relay team in 17:33.4 and by Walter Boehm of Arlington, Va., who ran the masters' mile — for entrants 40 and over — in 4:34.6.

William and Mary's Charles Strode tied the pole vault record by going 15 feet, 5¾ inches.

Individual winners besides Widgeon, Strode, Kelly and High included Tony Williamson of Georgia in the long jump, John Jessup of North Carolina in the shot put, Terry Muirhead of Georgia Tech in the high jump and Jim McMillan of Florida State in the 60-yard dash.

East Tennessee won the 440-yard relay, Tennessee the 880, Georgia Tech the mile, William and Mary the distance medley, North Carolina the spring medley and Tennessee Tech the two-mile.

The swedish foursome was timed in 2:00:26.55.

Pakistani farmer and his ruined rice.

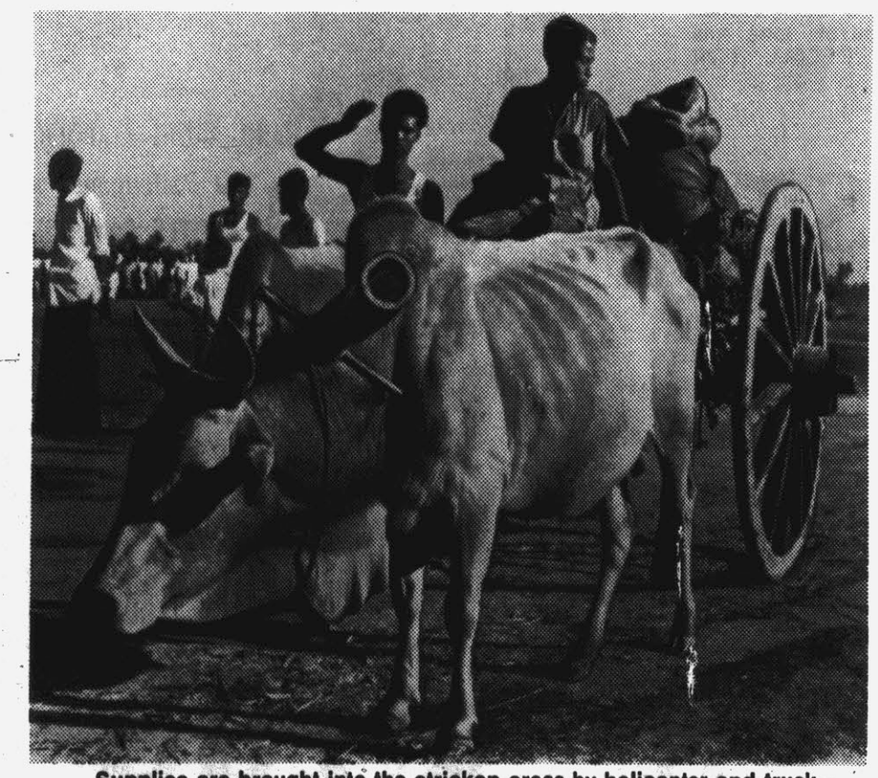
AID FOR PAKISTAN

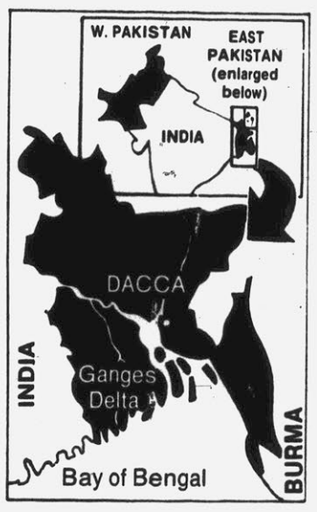


Supplies are brought into the stricken areas by helicopter and truck—but the final stage of distribution is often by ox-cart.

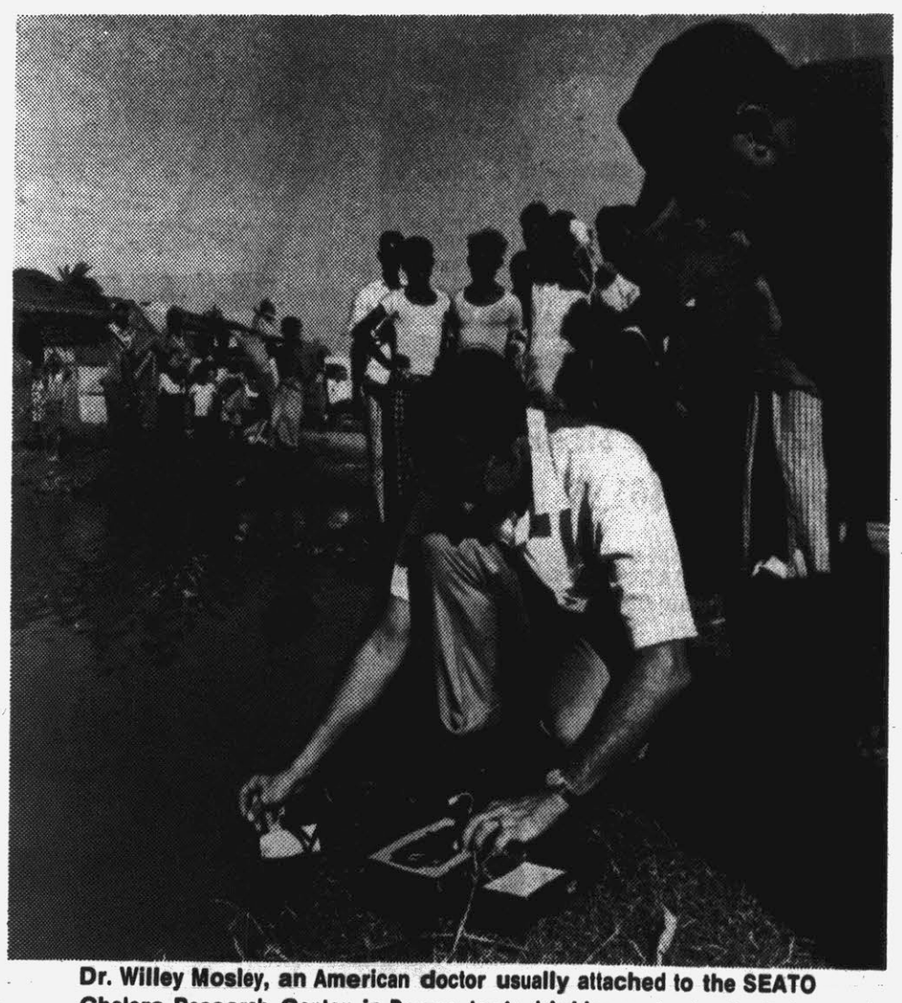
The cyclone which struck East Pakistan on the night of Nov. 12-13, 1970, caused one of the greatest disasters in recorded history. Fifty countries responded with emergency help, the U.N. Secretary-General has called for further help and the World Bank has planned extensive reconstruction.

U.S. assistance has played a major role in relief work. The Agency for International Development (A.I.D.) had already been at work in the area, and A.I.D.-financed coastal embankments and cyclone shelters, for example, saved thousands of lives. After the disaster, A.I.D. provided emergency relief, including the use of ten helicopters which in 25 days flew more than 1,250 sorties and delivered more than a million pounds of supplies to the helpless survivors.

The emergency relief phase is now over. Looking ahead, to help Pakistani farmers to recover from the loss of rice crops, the U.S. has allocated 200,000 tons of wheat and rice. A.I.D. airlifted 21,000 pounds of fast-growing vegetable seeds to the area in time for January planting, and A.I.D. financing is expected to help with some of the major works of the Pakistan government's rehabilitation plans. Altogether, A.I.D. has allocated $28 million in U.S. dollars and food to help the people of East Pakistan in their recovery from the cyclone.



This Week's PICTURE SHOW by Carl Purcell.



Dr. Willey Mosley, an American doctor usually attached to the SEATO Cholera Research Center in Dacca, tests drinking water in the Delta.

Illiterate farmers leave thumb print as a record of receiving rice during distribution of relief food in community centers.

The backwash of the tidal wave caused by the November cyclone has eroded rich topsoil of Bhola Island in the Delta region of East Pakistan.

Girls List The Desired Traits

Tod isn't handsome! But he can still be very popular with girls! For there is a precise formula by which you can win friends among the opposite sex. Study the sample items on the "Test for a Boy Friend" and you will soon discover how easy it is to gain a topnotch girl friend. These test items came from the frank comments of girls.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Cast P-565: Tod S., aged 21, just got out of the Army.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "I was in Vietnam for a year and also spent some time in Japan.

"So I have been out of contact with American girls.

"Besides, I was shy in high school and didn't date much.

"So what can I do to raise my batting average as 'date bait' with girls my age?"

SWEETHEART TESTS

Popularity follows a precise psychological formula.

You can thus win friends and sweethearts with mathematical precision, and I'm not exaggerating.

But first you must learn what traits the girls admire most in men.

While teaching psychology at Northwestern University, I thus made a survey of 1,187 unmarried girls and women, ranging from age 16 to 42.

They first volunteered freely the traits which they liked most in their boy friends.

Then I reversed my questions and they named the things they didn't like, even though they had never mentioned such items to the boy.

Out of their hundreds of compliments ("Merits") and other hundreds of criticisms ("Demerits"), I selected the 50 most frequently cited "Merits" and also the 50 most valid "Demerits."

Here are some of the "Merits" girls like in men:

Frequently praises a girl on her looks, clothing or cooking. (10)

Is fond of children. (5)

Neat in appearance; haircut, shoes shined, etc.

Ambitious — works or studies on his own time to gain promotions. (5)

A careful auto driver.

Polite and courteous to her parents and friends.

Generous but not a "splurger" with his money.

Good sense of humor.

Writes jolly letters; original and clever.

Never goes home angry; will concede when he is wrong. (5)

Those are 10 of the 50 "Merits" and here are 10 "Demerits":

Pouts and sulks when he can't have his own way.

Argues with waiters, taxi drivers et al.

Lives on a dole or parental allowance. (5)

Too introvertive. Dislikes double dates.

Frequently borrows money from girl friend or "sponges" on others. (5)

Guilty of halitosis, dandruff, dirty teeth, etc. (1 for each)

Tells embarrassing things about girls when in public.

Uses profanity or tells vulgar stories.

Too "fresh"; tries to "paw" girl.

Boasts of his sex conquests of other women. (5)

To obtain your final score, just add all your "Merit" points and subtract therefrom your total "Demerits," leaving your "Raw Score," which is then interpreted from a table of "Norms."

So send for these "Sweetheart Tests," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

They contain a 100-point test for girls as well as the 100-point test for boy friends, of which the above items are samples.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN
(© 1971: By The Chicago Tribune)

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠K2 ♡K87 ◇AJ102 ♣Q1092
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ◇	Dble.	Rdble.	1 ♡
Pass	2 ♡	2 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♣	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four clubs. Partner has shown a distaste for no trump, so it would be foolish to persist in that direction. You have a good fit for the clubs and should show it.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K10 ♡KQ1074 ◇J754 ♣53
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
1 NT	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three hearts. A try for game is in order even tho partner has already announced a minimum opening. The significant fact is that North did not pass your two diamond bid.

Q. 3—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠74 ♡63 ◇A10862 ♣AKQJ
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—You have better than an opening bid and partner has opened and jumped. This spells a slam which you should bid forthwith. The prescribed call is six hearts. North has not only opened and jumped but, in the meantime, shown great strength by his bid of two spades, technically known as a "reverse."

Q. 4—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠2 ♡J754 ◇Q1084 ♣KJ73
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♡	1 ♠	Dble.	?

What do you bid?

A.—A rescue bid of one no trump is in order, in that it suggests to partner to rescue himself in either diamonds or clubs, whichever he prefers, since obviously you are short in spades and have length in the other three suits.

Q. 5—Both vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠KQ98 ♡4 ◇653 ♣A10765
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♡	2 ◇	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. If you mention either of your suits, partner will probably be cornered into bidding three hearts which will place you in a highly awkward position. When a free bid tends to project the bidding to the three level, the player contemplating such action should be backed up by a holding which is equal to an opening bid.

Q. 6—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AKQJ93 ♡104 ◇A1065 ♣3
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	3 NT	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four spades. Hope for slam is not abandoned by the four spade bid. The very fact that you took pains to bid three diamonds, intending all the time to take partner out of his aggressively bid game contract, indicates your willingness to entertain the idea of a slam.

Q. 7—Neither vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠AQJ64 ♡7 ◇A865 ♣1072
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ◇	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ◇	Pass	3 ♡	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Four diamonds. Do not make the mistake of bidding three no trump. Partner was in position to make that call himself, but bid hearts instead.

Q. 8—East-West vulnerable, and as South you hold:
♠10963 ♡J832 ◇K6 ♣A93
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
1 ♠	Dble.	?

What do you bid?

A.—Pass. This holding falls just short of the requirements for a redouble. An immediate raise should be offered only on a hand with less high card strength and more distributional values. You are forced to compromise by passing for the time being with every intention of offering competition on the next round.

Minicassette For Reminders

There's hardly a husband who hasn't been left such a reminder note from his wife. Now it will be even easier, according to Dictaphone Corporation, and she won't need a pencil and paper.

The company has developed a new 10-ounce pocket-size minicassette dictating machine to make the reminder note a snap. The wife records the "note" on her machine, slips the tiny cassette into her husband's coat pocket, and he can play it on his machine on the way to work.

PAKISTAN AID

NEW YORK (UPI)—Funds totaling at least $50,000 are being raised by U.S. Protestant churches to aid some of an estimated 2 million survivors of the East Pakistan tidal wave that killed an estimated 200,000 persons. The drive is being coordinated by Church World Service.

Will Press For Religious Life

HALES CORNERS, Wis. (UPI)—An accelerated religious vocational program for men 25 years or older has been established by the Congregation of the Priests of the Sacred Heart.

A minimum of two years of college training is required for entrance into the adult vocational program, the first offered by a religious order. The four-year accelerated course of study for qualified candidates would replace the usual curriculum and concentrate on philosophical and tehological studies.

The smiles are few and far between as the poultry industry looks toward the next six months.

While production costs will be up sharply—primarily due to the hike in feed grain prices—only broiler prices are expected to be about the same as a year ago. Prices for turkeys and eggs will be off substantially.

Egg producers may suffer the most as prices (New York average wholsale for Fancy Large White) are forecast at 37 cents per dozen for the first quarter of 1971. This is a big 17 cents below the same period last year.

Prices are expected to drop even more by spring as producers really feel the brunt of expansion brought about by the good prices of late 1969 and early 1970. However, things should begin to look up by year's end. Hatch of egg-type chicks for the next six months is expected to be about 5 per cent below a year ago.

Broiler prices should average 27 to 27½ cents per pound for the next six months. This is about the same as last year. Marketings are expected to be off 4 per cent to 5 per cent from year earlier in the next three months, then pick up. Industry leaders feel that increased pork production will tend to depress broiler prices for the next few months.

Turkey supply is way, way up as there were about 100 million more pounds in storage this year on January 1°than last. (There were 192 million pounds January 1, 1970.)

Add this to the fact that turkey breeder flock owners have indicated intentions of upping their flocks 10 per cent over a year ago and you come up with only one conclusion—lower prices for several months to come.

Tobacco TIPS

By S. J. WEEKS

Dolomitic limestone is recommended when lime is needed for tobacco production. In addition to calcium, dolomitic limestone supplies magnesium, which is very essential to plant growth, and magnesium is an extremely important element needed to produce good quality tobacco.

In addition to correcting the pH (soil acidity index), calcium and magnesium content of the soil, the use of lime improves the soil in other ways. It improves the bacterial activity which aids in decomposing organic matter and releasing nitrogen. Application of limestone also increases the availability of phosphorus and other elements in the soil. Another benefit of raising the soil pH by liming is to reduce the solubility of aluminum and iron. Under extremely acid conditions the concentration of these elements in soluble form may be great enough to cause reduced plant growth.

Approximately sixty per cent of the fields tested for fertilizer requirements for tobacco production in Pitt County need at least 1000 pounds of lime per acre. Only a few years ago only ten percent of the fields tested needed additional lime for tobacco production. Lime is applied to neutralize soil acidity and to supply calcium and magnesium.

All fields with a pH below 5.3 need 1000 pounds of lime per acre for best tobacco production. Additional lime is also needed in fields with a low calcium level. For these fields, lime is recommended even if the pH is within the desired range of 5.3 to 5.8.

Recent on-the-farm tests have shown that applications of lime in excess of the recommended rate based on soil analysis actually reduced the yield and quality of tobacco produced. Also, tobacco grown in soils where the pH is too high can show greater losses from blackshank than when grown in soils with the desirable pH range. Based on these facts, it is recommended that you have a soil analysis made before applying lime to fields that will be used for tobacco production in 1971.

If you have not already had your soil tested, plan to do so soon.

Assert Mother Shot Boys, Self

SPRING LAKE, N. C. (AP) — Police say a young mother of two whose husband is a soldier in Vietnam shot her two boys and then herself.

The oldest boy, who was three, died in a hospital. The 24-year-old woman and her youngest son are still hospitalized, she in critical condition and he in good condition.

No charges have been filed pending further investigation of the Saturday shooting.

Clubs Give Checks For Program

The Greenville Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes have presented checks to Bob Henley, chairman of the recent rubella immunization program, to help offset expenses incurred with the program.

Tom Reese, Jaycee Christmas Parade chairman who presented the Jaycee check to Henley, noted that the money was the result of balances left from sponsors of floats in the parade.

The various sponsors, Reese explained, donated the balance of funds on their floats to the Jaycees for use in community projects. The chairman expressed his appreciation to the sponsoring merchants for their community interest and pointed out their funds were used to help immunize several thousand children against rubella.

The Jay-C-Ettes made their donation from their Aid-to-the-Crippled Fund to also assist in the rubella immunization program. The ladies, who work the year round with crippled children as their main club project, also manned one of the rubella immunization centers with the help of the Jaycees.

Henley expressed his appreciation to the merchants who donated their float balances and the the Greenville Jaycees and Jay-C-Ettes for their assistance both financially and with the immunization center.

Wet, Chilly Time In N.C.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Keep the umbrella and warm coat handy.

North Carolina, already hit hard by rain from the coast to the mountains, will be getting some more through tonight. Colder weather also is in store.

The mountains will be getting some more snow, with accumulations up to one or two inches. The snowfall will end by tonight.

The culprit bringing more rain to North Carolina today is a small disturbance moving from northwest Florida northeastward along the Atlantic Coast today.

Rain already has brought flooding in some urban areas.

Charlotte had 1.65 inches in a 24-hour period while Zebulon and Rocky Mount farther east had a quarter of an inch. Raleigh suburbs got drenched with 1.40 of an inch.

The mountains got up to three inches of snow before it started changing to rain. Some mountain roads were closed for awhile, but travelers warnings are still up even though most roads are open.

Lows tonight will be from the teens in the mountains to the 40s along the coast. Highs Tuesday will range from the 20s in the mountains to the 40s along the coast.

Sniper Tried To Ambush Police

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Two Nashville patrolmen walked into what police said was an attempted ambush early today but escaped without injury.

Patrolmen John White and Tommy Gerald said they were fired on twice by a sniper who apparently set off a burgular alarm to lure them into the ambush.

"I think it was definitely a setup," said Homicide Investigator Bobby Green.

The incident occurred when the two patrolmen went to investigate a burglar alarm at a Jefferson Street grocery.

From National Home: This offer brings you

$500.00-A-MONTH TAX-FREE CASH WHENEVER YOU GO TO THE HOSPITAL

Examine policy in your own home at no risk—money refunded if not 100% satisfied!

★ Pays you cash at the rate of $500.00 a month for each hospital stay...even for life, if necessary.

★ Pays in addition to any other companies' coverage you have—including Medicare.

★ Pays all cash direct to you (not to doctor or hospital).

★ Guaranteed Renewable for Life. National Home guarantees never to cancel your protection no matter how old you become or how many claims you have. In addition, your rates can never be changed unless there is a general rate adjustment on all policies of this type in your entire state.

No salesman will call—No medical examination required—No age limit

ACT NOW—YOUR APPLICATION FORM MUST BE MAILED BY MIDNIGHT, THURSDAY, FEB. 25, OR IT CANNOT BE ACCEPTED

ONE out of two families will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family—tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say, very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have doubled in just a few short years. They are expected to double again in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly, but necessary, X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stopped, but living expenses kept going on the same as ever? The same rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop.

What is the average breadwinner to do? We believe we have the answer in our National Home plan that . . .

Pays you $500.00-a-month tax-free cash whenever you are hospitalized.

What a blessing it is when you know you have $500.00 cash coming in every month when you go to the hospital. You get your $500.00-a-month cash – tax-free – as long as you are confined in the hospital. You are covered from the very first day for accidents and from the fourth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of a one to three-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.

Now, this low-cost plan from National Home enables you to enjoy this protection at once. Your special low rate is shown below; it is the same low premium you will continue to pay no matter how old you become or how many claims you have, unless there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state.

The added protection you NEED!

All benefits of this $500.00-a-month plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your insurance with any other company! Use the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctor bills, mortgage or rent payments, to replace savings—or any necessary, but costly, expenses not covered by other hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why National Home developed this low-cost plan that helps you pay hospital costs or other expenses.

PAYS $500.00-A-MONTH CASH for each accident or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the fourth day in the hospital.

PAYS $250.00-A-MONTH CASH FOR THE FIRST THREE MONTHS, AFTER YOU HAVE REACHED AGE 65. And a full $500.00-A-MONTH CASH thereafter — even for life. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the fourth day in the hospital.

PAYS $300.00-A-MONTH CASH if a covered child is hospitalized for injury or illness. Coverage for accidents begins the very first day in the hospital; sickness coverage begins the fourth day in the hospital. And the benefits continue for as long as necessary.

PAYS $2,000.00-A-MONTH CASH when both husband and wife (under age 65) are hospitalized at the same time for accidental injury for as long as both remain in the hospital—even for life, if necessary.

PAYS $400.00-A-MONTH CASH for a registered nurse at home if your doctor has you hire one within five days following a covered hospital confinement of five days or more. And your benefits continue for the same number of days that you were hospitalized — up to 12 full months.

65 OR OVER?

Write for information on our special plan. Just drop us a card, and we will send complete details as soon as we receive your inquiry

We can never cancel your policy!

You can count on this wonderful protection no matter how old you become or how many times you collect from us. Your policy guarantees that we can never cancel your protection for any reason whatsoever. It is Guaranteed Renewable for Life!

And that's not all. Suppose you have a growing family – this policy (NH10-669) . . .

Pays you $300.00-a-month cash whenever any dependent child is hospitalized.

When you choose Coverage for Children, all your dependent, unmarried children from age one month through 18 years are covered, too! What's more, any newborn children you have in the future are covered automatically at the age of one month —at no additional cost to you. And whenever any of your children go to the hospital, this National Home plan pays you at the rate of $300.00-a-month cash, for as long as necessary. Children are covered for accidents from the first day and for sickness from the fourth day.

Pays you tax-free cash Maternity Benefits, too.

With this plan, you can also collect cash at the rate of $500.00 a month for every day you are confined to the hospital for pregnancy, childbirth, or even miscarriage. You get this cash, which is yours to use as you see fit, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. Of course, both parents must be enrolled in this plan for the entire period of pregnancy.

Pays you up to $4,800.00 cash for a Registered Nurse at Home.

Here's a wonderful "get well" benefit of this National Home plan: You collect cash benefits at the rate of $400.00 a month when your doctor has you employ a full-time registered nurse within five days after you come home, following a stay in the hospital of five days or more for which benefits were payable. You are paid for the same number of covered days that you were in the hospital—even up to 12 full months!

Double Cash Accident Benefit.

When you and your insured spouse are hospitalized at the same time for an accidental injury, this National Home plan pays you an extraordinary double cash benefit. You receive not $500.00 but $1,000.00 a month. Your spouse receives not $500.00 but $1,000.00 a month. That's $2,000.00 in all, in cash payments to you every month (when under age 65) starting the day you enter the hospital for as long as you both remain there.

Pays you up to $2,000.00 cash for these accidental losses . . .

The accidental loss of limbs or eyesight can be terrible. But if such loss occurs any time within 90 days of the accident, you collect $1,000.00 for the complete loss of a hand or a foot or the sight of an eye–and $2,000.00 for loss of two limbs or the sight of both eyes.

Waiver of premium benefit.

Should you–the policyowner–be hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. And your protection continues just the same as if you were paying the premiums yourself. Then, if you leave the hospital and must return for the same condition before you have resumed full normal activities for 90 days, we will again pay any premiums while you are in the hospital—for the total confinement! This means you pay no premiums, yet your full protection remains in force.

THESE ARE THE ONLY EXCLUSIONS!

Your National Home policy covers every kind of sickness or accident except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy . . . during the first 2 years only.

This last item is a real help if you already have a health problem. If you are sick before you take out this policy, you will even be covered for that condition after the policy has been in effect for 2 years. Meanwhile, of course, every new condition is covered.

Nationally known and respected.

This is the kind of outstanding protection you have read about in Reader's Digest, Parents', National Geographic and other leading publications. The special plans offered by the National Liberty Corporation group of companies are today helping policyowners in all 50 states—and many foreign countries—paying benefits at the rate of more than $1,500,000.00 a month. In addition, our Company has a RECOMMENDED rating from Best's Insurance Reports, one of the foremost insurance authorities in the nation.

Fast, reliable claim service when needed most.

You never really know how good a policy is until you have to make a claim. That's why we think you'll be interested in what some of our National Home members have to say. Their comments–quoted below–are typical of the hundreds of expressions of appreciation we receive from policyowners every week . . .

"Received your checks totaling $585.68 for injury. I appreciated your kindness and promptness in the claim. It certainly came in handy and I had less worries knowing I had this protection. You certainly paid all the benefits stated in the policy without question."
MRS. ANGELA B. HARDY, Abbeville, Louisiana

"You folks were very prompt in sending the money when my wife went to the hospital for surgery. Thank you so much."
HAROLD DOVENBORG, Zanesville, Ohio

"I was more than satisfied with the way my claim was handled. One couldn't ask for better service and the 'get well soon' message was one of the nicest thoughts on your part. I thank you sincerely."
MARGUERITE LINDAU, Duluth, Minnesota

Outstanding Americans like these Recommend this Coverage.

DR. E. STANLEY JONES, internationally known evangelist, author, missionary statesman: "In offering low-cost health insurance by mail, you are rendering a valuable service to thousands of people who have no other opportunity to avail themselves of such protection. It's reassuring to know that policyowners insured by the National Liberty group are receiving more than $1,500,000.00 a month in benefits."

JEROME HINES, leading bass with the Metropolitan Opera Company: "It seems to me that the concept of health insurance by mail is a very sensible one. It's quick, easy and economical. Nobody makes surprise visits to your home to ask personal questions. There's no medical examination. And costly processing charges are eliminated. This means more protection at less cost. I congratulate National Home Life Assurance Company for meeting a real need."

National Home commended in the Congressional Record of the United States Congress

National Home, a division of National Liberty Corporation, has been commended in the United States Congressional Record for bringing low-cost insurance to the general public: "National Liberty deserves recognition for providing service beyond the expected, service willingly offered to those who are not being cared for in other ways. This is the secret of success for its low-cost insurance plans. With the highest public interest at heart, the National Liberty Corporation group of companies combines reliability and quality of service with noteworthy price advantages. It is to be commended on its leadership and vision in this field of human welfare."

Why you must act before the date shown on your Application Form—just a few days from today.

Why do we give you so little time to enroll in this plan–only a few days? Because this is a mass Enrollment Plan, enrolling thousands of policyowners at one time. ALTHOUGH EVERY POLICY IS ISSUED THROUGH A LICENSED AGENT, ALL BUSINESS IS CONDUCTED DIRECTLY BETWEEN YOU AND THE COMPANY. No salesman will call. This highly efficient "mass enrollment" method enables us to give you the broadest coverage at the lowest cost.

As soon as we receive your Application Form we will rush your policy to you by First Class Mail. When your policy arrives, examine it in the privacy of your own home. It is a very short document and you'll be pleasantly surprised to see there is no fine print. Show it, if you wish, to your doctor, lawyer, insurance agent, or some other trusted advisor.

Here are your low rates.

The following rate chart shows how little it costs to cover yourself, your spouse and any adult dependent. Naturally, at these low rates, we can issue you only one policy of this type. Each adult, 16 or over, pays the rate shown for his or her age.

Age at Enrollment	Self	Each Additional Adult
16-44	$3.30	$3.30
45-49	$3.60	$3.60
50-54	$4.15	$4.15
55-64	$4.75	$4.75

All dependent children ages 0-18: $1.75
Maternity Benefit: $1.15

NOTE: The regular monthly premium shown here (for age at time of enrollment) will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next! Once you have enrolled in this National Home plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

Act NOW—"Later" May Be Too Late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your Application Form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today —before anything unexpected happens.

Medical Costs Skyrocketing!

YOUR QUESTIONS ANSWERED ABOUT THIS NATIONAL HOME PLAN

1. How much will I be paid when I go to the hospital?
You will receive cash at the rate of $500.00 a month ($16.67 a day). Once you have reached 65 years of age, you collect (in addition to any Medicare benefits) $250.00 a month for the first 3 months, and $500.00 monthly while you remain continuously hospitalized thereafter. And you collect cash for an accident even if you're in the hospital for only one day. Coverage for illness begins the fourth day – and benefits are paid in full for as long as you're hospitalized . . . even for life, if necessary.

2. Do you pay me cash when my children go to the hospital?
You collect cash at the rate of $300.00 a month whenever any of your children (age 1 month through 18 years) go to the hospital—if Coverage for Children is added to the basic plan. Coverage for accidents begins on the first day—sickness on the fourth day. And if you have a growing family—as soon as any newborn child is one month old, he, too, is covered—automatically . . . at no additional cost.

3. When do I start to collect hospital benefits?
This new plan (NH10-669) covers you from the very first day for accidents and from the fourth day for sickness—even for life, if necessary! Most everyone has some insurance or savings to take care of one to three-day hospital stay. Since we provide lifetime benefits, this "deductible" feature enables us to give you broad coverage at a lower cost than would otherwise be possible.

4. Will you pay me cash benefits for pregnancy?
Yes, when Coverage for Children and Maternity Benefits have been added to the basic plan. You collect cash at the rate of $500.00 a month for pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage that results in a hospital stay. (Both parents have to be enrolled in this plan for entire pregnancy period.)

5. Suppose I'm hospitalized for a long time and can't meet my premium payments?
If you—the policyowner—are hospitalized for 8 consecutive weeks or more, this National Home plan will PAY ALL PREMIUMS that come due for you and all Covered Members of your family while you are confined to the hospital beyond the initial 8-week period. You aren't expected to pay us back, either.

6. Now tell me what's the "catch"—what doesn't my policy cover?
Get ready for a welcome surprise. Your policy covers everything except conditions caused by: act of war; any mental disease or disorder; pregnancy, except as provided under the Maternity Benefit provision; confinements within a U.S. Government hospital or a nursing or convalescent facility; and any sickness or injury you had before the Effective Date of your policy—but even this last "exclusion" is done away with after you've been a policyowner for only two years. Everything else is definitely covered.

7. What are the requirements to enroll in this National Home plan?
You must not have been refused or had cancelled any health, hospital or life insurance due to reasons of health; and to qualify during this Enrollment Period—you must enroll before midnight of the date shown on the Application Form.

8. Besides saving money—are there any other advantages to joining this plan during this Enrollment Period?
Yes. A very important one is that you don't need to complete a lengthy, detailed questionnaire—just the brief Application Form in the corner of this page. Also, during this Enrollment Period there are no extra requirements for eligibility, and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!

9. How do I join?
