Again Stayed Away

PARIS (AP) — Three of the four chief delegates to the Vietnam peace talks stayed away today and sent deputies instead.

Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam was protesting threats by President Nixon against his government. He boycotted the session last Thursday for the same reason.

Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh of the Viet Cong was en route to Romania for a "friendship visit" announced Wednesday. Last week she participated in Thuy's boycott.

Pham Dang Lam of South Vietnam was "indisposed."

U.S. Ambassador David K. E. Bruce, the only chief delegate present, delivered a prepared speech of 61 words, the shortest on record for the two-year-old talks.

Cigarette Firms Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Senator has charged that the tobacco industry is engaged in promotional activities "so excessive and bizarre that they offend common decency."

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah, made the comment Wednesday as he introduced a bill to prohibit unsolicited mailing of cigarette samples.

Moss led the fight last year for passage of legislation to ban cigarette advertising on radio and television. The ban took effect Jan. 2.

In the weeks since then, Moss said, the tobacco industry has turned to new methods of promotion, such as ads in the print media, use of billboards and "the bombardment of promotional materials for new brands aimed at women."

"Coupled with this," he added, "the industry is unleashing a broadscale, unsolicited mailing of cigarette samples to millions of homes."

Horace R. Kornegay, president of Tobacco Institute, Inc., said the distribution of sample cigarettes through the mail cannot be called a practice of the entire industry as the Utah senator charged.

B52s To Be Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is planning to cut its B52 bomber force in the Indochina war by about one-third in the coming year.

This almost certainly will mean a significant reduction in the number of B52 sorties, now averaging 1,000 a month. A sortie is a single flight by a single plane.

The tip-off came in a list of reshuffling actions announced Wednesday by the Air Force. The B52 plan for Indochina was confirmed by Defense and Air Force officials.

Air Force said a total of 51 B52s will be returned from Thailand by March 31, 1972, to form the 486th Bomb Squadron at Carswell Air Force Base in Texas.

Fifty one B52s are posted at U Tapao in Thailand and repeatedly strike infiltration routes in Laos as well as targets in South Vietnam and Cambodia.

The scaling down of B52 operations is in step with President Nixon's reduction of U.S. involvement in Indochina.

Welfare Swamps Seven

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare says seven of the nation's 20 largest cities have more than one resident in 10 on welfare roles.

Boston leads the list with 15.3 per cent of its population receiving public assistance and New York is second with 13.4 per cent. Baltimore had 12.8 per cent, St. Louis 12.5, San Francisco 11.7 and Philadelphia and Newark 11.5.

HEW Secretary Elliot L.

Richardson said Wednesday "the figures starkly illustrate the plight of America's urban areas."

Welfare percentages in other central cities include: Los Angeles, 9.7; Atlanta 8.7; Chicago, 6.8; Detroit, 6.4; Washington, 6.7; Pittsburgh, 5.8; Cleveland, 6.6; Houston, 2.9; Minneapolis-St. Paul, 4.0; Dallas, 3.6; Anaheim-Santa Ana-Garden Grove, 3.2; Seattle-Everett, 4.1; and Milwaukee, 5.1.

Seeks Restoring Full Citizenship To Robert E. Lee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been asked to restore full citizenship to Robert E. Lee more than 100 years after the famed Confederate general died, with his request for amnesty lost in the government bureaucracy.

Lee, who led the Southern army through most of the war against the Union, had sought return of his citizenship two months after surrendering at Appomattox Court House April 9, 1865.

He died five years later, his request unanswered, apparently because of red tape.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., of Virginia brought up the issue after Lee's oath of allegiance to the Union was found in the National Archives.

After the Civil War, Lee "put his full effort into healing the wounds of that tragic conflict," Byrd said, and the last obstacle to amnesty was removed in 1899 when charges of treason against Lee, his sons and 14 other confederate generals were dropped.

Byrd and archivist Elmer Parker tell this story:

After surrendering, Lee applied for amnesty and restoration of citizenship. Gen. Ulysses S. Grant endorsed and forwarded the request to President Andrew Johnson. Lee, however, had not been told an oath of allegiance had to accompany the application.

Oct. 2, 1865, when Lee was to be sworn in as president of Washington College at Lexington, Va., he gave his oath of allegiance to Charles E. Davidson, Rockbridge County notary public. This is the document found in State Department of Archives.

But there is no evidence that President Johnson ever saw either Lee's original request or the allegiance oath, Parker said.

Remove Tumor 8-Foot Woman

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The wife of a Louisiana farmer was reported in satisfactory condition today following removal of a brain tumor which caused her to grow to 8 feet, 2 inches and weigh 430 pounds.

Two operating room tables were required for Delores Pollard Johnson, 24, of DeQuincy, La., during the seven-hour surgery Wednesday at Methodist Hospital.

LIQUOR CRITIC LICKED — Rep. Perry Martin, D-Northampton (right) speaks in favor of an amendment which would have sent a liquor-by-the-drink bill to "a friendly subcommittee". Martin told the House Alcoholic Beverage Control

Board meeting Wednesday. "I don't agree that adequate study has been given to every phase of this bill." Martin's amendment was defeated and the bill approved by the committee. (AP Wirephoto)

Speed-Up On Benefit Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quick enactment of a 10-per-cent increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million Americans appears certain under a shortcut maneuver worked out by Democratic congressional leaders.

Under the strategy, the increase in benefits and in wage deductions to pay for them would be enacted months ahead of the schedule likely for the Nixon administration's own plan.

The maneuver calls for adding the Social Security provision as a Senate amendment to a House-passed bill raising the national debt limit by $35 billion.

The Senate will open consideration of the debt measure Friday, although final action may not come until Monday.

Democratic leaders said the amendment will be adopted without difficulty, noting the Senate passed 81 to 0 last December a bill providing a 10-per-cent Social Security hike; it died because the House refused to go to conference on it.

However, it is understood Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark.,

chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee has now agreed to go along with an increase added to the debt-limit bill.

But Ways and Means has run into trouble with the complex welfare changes, and final action by the House is considered weeks away.

Then, Senate leaders estimate, another three to four months would be required for House hearings, drafting, debate and passage.

The strategy of splitting Social Security from the welfare bill will relieve much of the public pressure for fast action on the combined measure and leave time for more consideration of welfare reform.

Congress has agreed to make the Social Security increases retroactive to last Jan. 1.

President Nixon has asked for a 6-per-cent Social Security increase, but congressional leaders are confident he will sign a 10-per-cent boost if included in the debt-limit bill. The government needs the extra borrowing power soon to continue meeting its obligations.

Court Upholds Condemnation

RALEIGH (AP) — The state's condemnation of 333 acres of land near Ft. Fisher owned by a Charlotte businessman has been upheld by the North Carolina Supreme Court.

The land, owned by Frank Sherrill and his wife, Ruth, is near controversial Bald Head Island, which Sherrill formerly owned.

In 1968, when the condemnation proceedings were originally tried, there were reports that Sherrill planned to use the land near Ft. Fisher for the approach to a bridge to Bald Head.

Last year Sherrill sold the semitropical island to High Point businessman William Henderson, who plans to turn it into a plush resort despite strong objections from conservationists.

The state Department of Archives and History had asked the state to condemn the 333 acres under its power of eminent domain to help protect estuaries and marshlands around the historic New Hanover County fortress.

The case was originally tried in New Hanover Superior Court, where Judge Albert Cowper upheld the state. Sherrill appealed the ruling.

The high court, in an opinion written by Associate Justice Frank Huskins, upheld Cowper's finding that the Sherrills had failed to show proper title to the land.

In other rulings Wednesday, the Supreme Court turned down 7-0 an attempt by a group of Charlotte taxpayers to block construction of a $2 million civic center. The court affirmed a decision of the state Court of Appeals in denying the taxpayers petition.

The taxpayers maintained that the bond election held to finance the center implied that it was to be constructed on a different site.

In a 6-1 decision the court upheld the death sentence of Dee D. Atkinson, who was convicted in 1967 of raping his 4-year-old stepdaughter. Atkinson was also sentenced to death on a separate charge of murdering the child, Catherine Carr.

Final OK Awaited

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate was due today to give its final okay to a bill authorizing county commissioners in North Carolina to levy local one-cent sales taxes.

The Senate gave six House amendments preliminary approval Wednesday, and held the measure for final action today.

The measure cleared the House last week after it was approved by the Senate the week before.

The main amendment inserted by the House would require county commissioners to abide by the wishes of the people if the commissioners submitted the question of levying a local sales tax to a popular vote. It was offered by Rep. Jim Johnson, R-Cabarrus.

The bill was rushed through the legislative mill following action of the State Supreme Court in January.

Mixed Drink Showdown Put Off In House

RALEIGH (AP) — A showdown House battle on liquor by the drink was postponed today until next Tuesday.

The mixed drink bill which was approved by the House Alcoholic Beverage Control Committee Wednesday after a lengthy wrangle was on the House floor today, but action was postponed.

The bill would permit counties with ABC liquor stores to hold elections on legalizing liquor by the drink in class A restaurants.

The bill is being pushed by the North Carolina Travel Council and is similar to one defeated by the House two years ago.

Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, committee chairman, broke a 6-6 tie Wednesday to pass an amendment by Rep. Henry Frye, D-Guilford, to reduce from 50 to 36 the number of seats a restaurant would have to have to qualify for a mixed drink license.

Also adopted was an amendment by Rep. Clifton Hunt, R-Guilford, to forbid the sale of drinks to intoxicated persons.

House action Wednesday included approval of a bill to rewrite North Carolina's law forbidding desecration of the state and U.S. flags. The bill would make state law conform to a recent federal court decision which ruled the old flag desecration law unconstitutional.

Wins Morehead Law Fellowship

CHAPEL HILL — Miss Norma Smithwick Harrell of Greenville is one of three North Carolinians to win a 1971 Morehead Law Fellowship at the University of North Carolina here.

Miss Harrell, a senior at Wellesley College, is the first woman to accept a Morehead Fellowship.

The two other winners were Michael Almond of Pilot Mountain and Luther P. Cochran of Weldon.

The fellowships are worth $7,500 each plus tuition and fees, for three years of study. They were established in 1966 by John Motley Morehead Fountain here.

Miss Harrell, a Pendleton Scholar at Wellesley, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Harrell of Greenville. This year she is a Durant Scholar and is conducting honors research.

Her junior and senior year, Miss Harrell chaired the Wellesley Relations Committee. She also was the student member for the Committee on Alumnae Student Relations. Her other extra-curricular activities include service as vice president of her dormitory and as student consultant for "Almanac" magazine.

Off-campus, Miss Harrell was an intern for a representative to the Massachusetts Legislature and for a Boston city councillor. She also served an internship in Washington, D. C. She is a member of the Young Democrats.

A Rambling Note Of Explanation

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson, who showed up at the Sharon Tate murder trial this week with a swastika carved on his forehead, offered an explanation, rambling note to a newsmen Wednesday.

"The mark on my head simulates The Dead Head Black Stamp of rejection; Anti-Church-Falling Cross-Devil Sign-Death-Terror-Fear. It is also the mark of the beast ...

"My stamp is calling for a new government, a new thought and a new world. Peace, one thought all in love with love. You may not like me or what I say but nonetheless we must stand together to bring changes needed to stand as one in love with this world enough to kill to be killed for Peace."

New Clashes Erupt In Sepone Area

SAIGON (AP) — New fighting erupted in the Sepone area in southern Laos today as U.S. B52 bombers kept up their heavy pounding of the Ho Chi Minh trail.

Helicopter pilots shutting into Laos reported heavy rocket and mortar attacks by the North Vietnamese. One helicopter landing zone was said to have been hit by more than 100 rocket and mortar rounds.

Pilots also reported heavy ground contact but could give no details.

A South Vietnamese military spokesman at Quang Tri, Maj. Doan Doc Hoi, said 23 North Vietnamese were killed in two clashes today 11 miles south of Sepone. He said two South Vietnamese were wounded and two were missing.

Fog and low clouds for the third day cut heavily into U.S. helicopter support for the South Vietnamese ground troops sweeping across the North Vietnamese supply network in the Laotian panhandle. But the weather had no effect on the eight-engine B52s flying at altitudes up to 30,000 feet.

Allied sources reported more than 500 North Vietnamese killed by three B52 raids Wednesday in the jungles seven and 25 miles southeast of Sepone, the reported deepest point South Vietnamese have reached in Laos.

U.S. sources said South Vietnamese ground troops sweeping seven miles southeast of Sepone made contact with a large force of North Vietnamese and called for help. With gunship helicopters grounded by the weather, two flights of B52s were sent.

A South Vietnamese communiqué said ground troops sweeping the area a few hours later found 465 enemy bodies, the largest claim so far of the laotian offensive and possibly of the Indochina war.

In a third raid Wednesday, U.S. sources said, a flight of B52s hit a tunnel complex 25 miles southeast of Sepone, and afterward the bodies of 48 North Vietnamese were found.

They're Moving

The four United States Department of Agriculture agencies which are now located in the old hospital building at 709 Johnston Street will be moving to the Federal Building on Evans Street during the week of March 15.

The four agencies are: Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Soil Conservation Service, the Farmers Home Administration and the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

In addition to these four agencies, the Selective Service offices which are now located in the Pollard building will relocate in this building.

SCS and Selective Service will occupy the second floor of the building. FHA and FCI will occupy the front part of the first floor and ASCS will be located in the rear portion of the first floor.

Farmers are requested not to visit these agencies during the week of the move unless absolutely necessary. The office personnel will be packing and unpacking and may not have the records available to render the service requested.

Excessive Level Of Lead In Dinnerware Patterns Reported

RALEIGH (AP) — The State Agriculture Department said today excessive levels of lead had been found in six patterns of dinnerware marketed in North Carolina by the Metlox Co. of Manhattan Beach, Calif.

Commissioner Jim Graham said Metlox has attempted to recall all of the dinnerware. "They think they've gotten all with the excessive lead, but there is a possibility some may still be on the market or in the possession of the public," he said.

Graham said the patterns involved were from Metlox' "California tempo" series and carried the numbers 441-blue, 442-yellow, 443-beige, 444-terracotta, 445-olive green and 446-white.

Each piece of dinnerware carries on its back the Metlox trade name and the words "Poppy Trail," Graham said. "There are 25 patterns in all but we are concerned only about six of them."

Graham said his staff issued the warning in line with an announcement last week from the Food and Drug Administration that excessive lead had been found in the dinnerware.

The commissioner said consumers who had the dinnerware could call Dr. William R. Cobb, director of the Agriculture Department's analytical division, for instructions on what to do. Stores also have agreed to take back the dinnerware, Graham said.

Most of the dinnerware sold in North Carolina was handled by department and variety stores, he said.

Hunt Murderers Of 3 Soldiers In No. Ireland

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The hunt was on today in Northern Ireland for the slayers of three young British soldiers. Detectives believe they were surrounded while drinking in a pub, marched outside and murdered.

The three bodies were found still warm Wednesday night on a lonely lane on the west side of Belfast. All had been shot in the back of the head. The two children who found them and raised the alarm were taken to a hospital in shock.

Roadblocks were thrown up throughout the province in search of a small red car believed used by the killers.

Security forces attributed the killings to an extremist wing of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, guerrillas sworn to unite Protestant Northern Ireland with the Roman Catholic Irish Republic. The two feuding IRA wings denied having anything to do with the deaths.

The soldiers, two of them brothers 17 and 18, were members of the Royal Highland Fusiliers, a Scottish infantry brigade. The third man was 23. They were unarmed and in civilian clothes.

An army spokesman called it "the worst crime" in two years of violence in British-ruled Northern Ireland. The deaths brought to six the number of British soldiers slain, and 50 other persons have died in factional clashes between Catholics and Protestants since August 1969.

Nothing like it had happened to British troops since Jewish guerrillas in Palestine kidnapped and hanged two British sergeants in 1947.

"I am shocked and horrified by the cold-blooded killing of these three young men," Prime Minister James Chichester-Clark told newsmen. The British Cabinet held an emergency meeting in London.

Hard-line Protestants in Chichester-Clark's Ulster Unionist party were expected to renew demands that the army and police take tougher action against known leaders of the IRA.

Informed sources in London believed still more troops would be sent to Northern Ireland, boosting its present garrison of 8,500.

In Dublin, the killings were condemned by the Irish Press, newspaper of Prime Minister Jack Lynch's Fianna Fail party.

Barbara Loden Writes, Directs, Stars In Film

By PEACESTERLING
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The young woman in the rocking chair, miniskirted, with long blonde hair, speaking in a soft North Carolina drawl, doesn't look like someone who has just written, directed and starred in a critically-acclaimed film.

But Barbara Loden, actress and wife of director Elia Kazan, has done just that. And her movie, "Wanda," won the International Critics' Prize for best film at the 1970 Venice Film Festival.

"People ask me what right I've got to make a movie," she said. "I tell them I have as much right as anybody. But I was scared to death. I even denied I was directing it for a few days."

Before she could even be scared, though, Miss Loden had to raise the money for her project. "The film didn't cost much, but when I went around and took people my script I'd never hear from them again," she said. "Then I asked people who make underground films where they got their money, and I found many of them have wealthy families. Finally a friend who was passing through New York asked me what I was doing and I said I was trying to raise money for a film. He just said, 'I'll do it.'"

The actress-filmmaker said she never went to the major studios because, "I didn't want to get into a hassle with them," and she added that one way she was able to keep her costs down was for the film to be non-union. "At one time unions were good," she commented. "But they over-extended themselves and created jobs where they didn't exist. Then all the people got in the way of the art part of the film, and the director would end up just managing the crew."

"On my film I had just one cameraman, a sound man and an assistant," she continued. "Some films, like musicals or ones with lots of special effects may need a lot of people, but just to tell a simple story you don't need them."

"Ideally," she said, "you should be able to turn out one little film after the other. That way they could fill all kinds of needs like written material."

She also saved money by using non-professionals. "I only used three actors," she noted. "And aside from the cost, I think actors get to the point where they're not real anymore. They're too inhibited. And I think really well-known actors get in the way of the story."

As an actress herself, however, Miss Loden won acclaim for her performance as Maggie in the Arthur Miller play, "After the Fall," and her screen credits include "Wild River" and "Splendor in the Grass."

Although many actors aspire to direct it is an unusual path for a woman. "Women just don't think of it," Miss Loden said, admitting that she made "Wanda" herself after first trying to find a director.

After this film, Miss Loden says she has no illusions about directing. "When it comes to making a film, a director may excel at one part," she said. "But there's always a weak point, and each time you do a film you have a whole new set of problems. I know many directors, and I don't think any one of them feels he had become adept at all of it."

"I really don't like to think of myself as a director, though," she added. "I'd rather think of myself as a filmmaker." But Miss Loden said a lot of young filmmakers just want to be big directors. "They want the best of everything. But when that's all available you lose your creativity. If you don't have things, then you have to improvise."

"Besides," she continued, "the technical aspect doesn't mean that much. It depends more on content. The minute I see a slick film, I know it's not going to be any good."

Miss Loden would like to see feature films accepted more as documentaries. "If you're watching a documentary and the camera shakes a little, it's fine. You just say, well, that was shot under real circumstances. But if you see it in a feature, you think it's sloppy. I'd like to find the medium."

The filmmaker is realistic about her career. "After all, there's no mystique about directing or holding a camera. There's a potential cameraman in every home, and I think everybody who wants to make a film should do it, instead of just being fed the stuff on television and movies."

BARBARA LODEN — A North Carolinian turned New Yorker, and an actress turned director, Miss Loden has just written, directed and starred in a film she wrote herself.

This easy recipe works extremely well. It is from "Hawaii Cookbook & Backyard Luau" by Elizabeth Ahn Toupin (hard cover, Silvermine; paperback, Bantam)—a practical and delightful book.

1 cup fresh ginger root, sliced across the grain
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup water
1/4 cup instant superfine sugar
Wash, scrape and slice ginger root into thin slices cutting against the grain. Cover with cold water and boil for 5 minutes. Drain. Cover with cold water again and boil for 5 minutes. Drain, then spread ginger pieces on a clean dry towel. Prepare syrup by combining 1/2 cup sugar and 1/4 cup water. Stir till sugar dissolves. Add ginger and cook over low heat till syrup is absorbed. Shake the pot occasionally so that the ginger won't burn. Place ginger slices on rack to dry for at least an hour. Roll in instant superfine sugar. Let stand till sugar crystallizes. Store in airtight jar. Makes 1 cup.

Miss Lucy Crisp Is Department Speaker Tuesday

"The North Carolina Museum of Art" was the program topic for the meeting of the Fine Arts Department of the Woman's Club held Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Lucy Crisp, a former director of the art museum, was the speaker. She was honored in 1970 for outstanding work at the museum.

The State Art Museum started in 1915 and was a one-person gallery at that time. In 1943, WPA Funds ended and later funds were given by legislators, she said.

Mrs. George Snyder, chairman of the department, presided at the meeting. Mrs. L. A. Stroud presented the devotion.

It was announced that a benefit bridge will be held at the Woman's Club March 18 beginning at 2 p.m.

There were four art selections on display this month: "Pencil Drawing" by Emma Evans, Rose High School junior; "Pen and Ink Sketch" by Brian Gray, eighth grader at Aycock Junior High; "Commercial Art — TV Slides" by Carol Astrow, ninth grade, Aycock; and "Stitchery" by Karen Gorst, ninth grader at Aycock.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Etta Gill, Mrs. George Clapp, Mrs. W. C. Harris, Miss Agnes Fullilove and Mrs. R. L. Humber.

Little To Lose After 40 Years

LONDON (WNS) — Maxine Headley, 18, has renounced her daily quota of 40 cigarettes a day even though Annie Jones, her 100-year-old great-grandmother, still smokes 50 cigarettes a day. "I agree with the scientists and doctors that smoking is harmful," said young Maxine. Old Mrs. Jones added, "So do I. But I suppose that I don't have many years left, and I didn't start smoking until I was 60 years old."

SPOON BREAD Delicious when served with pork chops, a green vegetable and cherry tomatoes or spiced red crabapples.

Serve Spoon Bread With Pork Chops

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There are two different kinds of spoon bread in the world. There is the basic kind, rich with the homespun flavor of cornmeal, eggs, butter and milk. And there's the kind that calls for an extra ingredient—tomato, green chilis, corn, pimiento, rice, cheese or bacon. Today we're harking back to the basic kind—and it's a sturdy variety, not so soft as some when it's spooned onto plates.

This Sturdy Spoon Bread is perfect to serve for dinner as an accompaniment to baked pork chops and a green vegetable. For attractive color contrast, though, you might add a parsley-ringed cherry tomato or spiced red crabapple to each plate.

STURDY SPOON BREAD
2½ cups milk
1 cup enriched white cornmeal

1 teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon baking powder
2 tablespoons butter, cut up
3 large eggs, separated

Butter entire inside surface of a round 1½-quart glass casserole (7½ by 2½ inches) or similar utensil such as a soufflé dish.

In a medium saucepan over moderate heat, heat 1½ cups of the milk until bubbles appear around the edge so milk is scalding-hot.

In a small mixing bowl stir together the cornmeal, salt and remaining 1 cup cold milk; gradually stir into scalding-hot milk. Stirring constantly, cook just until thickened and sputtery—liquid will be absorbed by cornmeal. Remove from heat; stir in baking powder and butter.

In a large mixing bowl beat egg yolks until thickened and lemon color; gradually stir in cornmeal mixture.

Get Rid Of Edwin Or He'll Get Rid Of You

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 39, and Edwin is 40. We've been married for 19 years, and I'm not saying our marriage has been a bed of roses, but then, whose has?

About a year ago Edwin tried to run me down with his car but I was too quick for him. Of course he denied it—said the brakes didn't hold, but he was lying.

A few months ago Edwin was on the roof fixing a leak and I was down below turning on the garden hose when he tried to drop a heavy metal tool box on my head. It missed me by a hair. I just don't know what he will pull next, Abby. I have heard rumors about him and a neighbor lady whose husband is gone for months at a time working on a ship.

If Edwin wants to be rid of me, why doesn't he say so? If I didn't have 9 kids I would leave him tomorrow.

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If you suspect Edwin is trying to get rid of you, beat him to the punch and get rid of HIM. If you can't afford a lawyer, see your local legal aid society. Better to be suspicious and alive, than the dead "victim" of an "accident." (P.S. If he asks you to go hunting, fishing, boating, or mountain climbing with him, don't go.)

DEAR ABBY: During most of my childhood I had pale blond hair, but as I grew older it gradually turned to that "dishwater blond," so I started to bleach it in order to retain the same light blond color. At the time I met my husband I was a "blond," with the help of the beauty parlor. I never tried to deceive him. He knew, and had no objections.

About a month before our marriage I took a good look at myself and decided the artificial blond hair was not becoming to me—also my hair was in sad shape from all the bleaching, so I dyed it back to my natural light brown color with gold highlights. Ever since, my husband has been throwing a fit because he wants me to be a blond again.

So, Abby, I need some advice from you—and from your um mixing bowl beat egg whites until they hold stiff straight peaks when beater is slowly withdrawn; fold into cornmeal mixture.

Turn into prepared casserole. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake until puffed and browned—30 to 35 minutes longer. Serve at once or spoon bread will fall. Remove spoon bread from casserole with a large serving spoon; offer with pats of butter.

Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mini Shorts Are Put To The Test

MUNICH, West Germany (WNS) — Annemarie Mann, 22, won first prize at the carnival ball for her miniest of shorts but refused to call them hot pants "because they are made of asbestos." Unfortunately, a cynical male put a match to them during the next dance, and they promptly began smoking. Her partner's maxi-jacket saved her from burns and embarrassment, but Miss Mann wants her money back from the boutique that sells the shorts.

readers. Should I be a blond to please my husband, or should I stay the way I am to please myself?

TO DYE OR NOT TO DYE

DEAR TO: To thine own self be true. Retain your natural color and explain that nothing is forever. And tell him that when he loses HIS hatch you'll not love him less. P. S. Buy a smartly styled blond wig for those occasions when he gets blond-hungry.

DEAR ABBY: I always read your column first for two reasons. First, because it is different every day, whereas the news is always the same. Politics, war, crime, etc. And second because it shows us what a motley crowd we human beings are.

For example, you recently had a letter from a woman commenting about a previous letter concerning sickness in old age. She believed that sickness in old age is punishment for sins committed in younger days. That's like believing, as they did in the early Christian era, that people with mental illness were possessed of the devil.

Then today you told somebody that people who leave their TV sets on when friends called are justified if the callers dropped in unexpected.

If you are right, what has happened to the old idea of friendliness? I can't think of a TV program that is more important than having an old friend drop in to pay me a visit. It's the folks who are called upon who are honored. We are always pleased when unexpected company drops in.

Yes, we human beings are a motley crowd.

Lengthy U.S. Role In Vietnam

How soon will the United States role in Vietnam come to an end?

If present withdrawal rates continue the number of men could be down to 50,000 by the end of next year, an Associated Press news analysis shows. There are now 326,200, with the withdrawal of 100,000 more already expected. New withdrawals are expected to be announced by the president even before those already scheduled are completed.

The question then is how long will the United States be required to maintain even the 50,000 men which military experts believe are needed to keep things going in South Vietnam. The answer seems to be a long time, unless there is a radical upheaval in

'History Made Gardner Wait'

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — History made O. Max Gardner wait to be governor until North Carolina needed him.

"I think that's true," said State Treasurer Edwin Gill, a man on intimate terms with both Gardner and History.

Gardner lost in 1920. He won eight years later, to serve during the terrible economic dislocation of the Depression.

"Certainly, if someone with less courage and vision had come to the governorship at that time, he probably would have simply attacked the national administration and done nothing while the state suffered," Gill said.

Governor Gardner took advantage of crisis. He recommended programs which never could have gotten through in ordinary times. People felt something should be done, and they responded to his leadership."

Gill chuckled in recollection. "Some of his opponents kidded Governor Gardner, telling him they made him a better governor by making him wait until he was mature," he said. "Gardner said he agreed that might be true, but he didn't know about the motive."

They Worked Together

As a youthful Representative from Scotland County, Gill served in the 1929 and 1931 General Assemblies which enacted Gardner reforms. After the '31 session, he became private secretary to Gardner for the final 18 months of his administration.

Gill said the times and the man are captured admirably in the biography, "O. Max Gardner, A Power in North Carolina and in New Deal Washington," by Joseph L. Morrison, just published by the University of North Carolina Press.

"When it was first proposed that Joe write the book, I thought it would be a handicap that he did not know Governor Gardner," said Gill. "As it turns out, that is a virtue."

Lacking personal acquaintance with his subject, Morrison was all the more energetic in digging for sources, cross-checking facts, and interviewing those closely associated with Gardner in his lifetime. Gill was one of that group, an ever dwindling number.

Gill said he found the book a well documented record; objective, fair and thorough. "The Gardner quotes are out of this world," he added.

Morrison, a journalism professor at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, died last November just after completing the biography. Mrs. Gardner, who assisted in gathering material on her husband's career, had died some months earlier at 83.

'Shelby Dynasty'

Gardner came from Shelby, and was a key member in a circle of Democratic leaders exercising tremendous influence in North Carolina during the first half of the 20th century. After his term as governor, he opened a law office in Washington where he was a lobbyist and behing-the-scenes advisor to President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

He served as under secretary of the Treasury, and was ready to sail for England as U. S. Ambassador under President Harry S. Truman's appointment when he suffered a fatal heart attack.

In his college years Gardner played football at both N. C. State in Raleigh (then A & M) and at the University in Chapel Hill. Team spirit and a joy in the game of life carried over into politics.

"It's not downgrading him to say that Governor Gardner did everything like playing a game," said Gill. "He was an easy man to work for. His enthusiasm made it enjoyable."

He Inspired Confidence

That spirit made confidence contagious. "People liked to come and talk to him," Gill said. "He made them feel they could do more, no less. They would go away, saying, 'Gardner and I think so-and-so.'"

He was a good sport in defeat and victory. Gardner lost a bitter primary to Cameron Morrison in 1920; as Governor, he named his former opponent to the U. S. Senate.

Magnanimity or political acumen? "You cannot really separate the two," said Gill. "Gardner was generous by nature, to friend and foe. He also was extremely realistic in politics."

Gardner kept no diary. His correspondence filled in the record. "When he had something on his mind, he would dictate a letter," Gill said.

A letter on the eve of President Roosevelt's inauguration used the term "new deal" to describe the incoming administration. Whether or not Roosevelt picked up his slogan from that source is speculative but not impossible, Gill said.

U.S. politics which required immediate withdrawal of all troops.

That seems to be less likely than in the past since troops are being withdrawn, as promised, and as the number of men in Vietnam drops fewer families are being affected in America.

It is likely that the forces which remain in Vietnam will be technical in nature and for the most part will not be involved in the fighting. They will probably be career men rather than draftees.

The South Vietnam army is doing considerably better as a fighting force. They are proving themselves in Cambodia and Laos. The military has expressed the belief that the South Vietnam air force will be able to handle the air war within one year.

There may be set backs which will upset the timetable, but we believe that schedules will be met during the coming year for moving U. S. forces out of Vietnam. This is almost a must for the administration since an election is coming up in 1972. It is one that Nixon wants to win and he wants to do it with increased Republican strength in Congress.

Fortunate In Having Expert On Ocean Law

It is nice to know that the attorney general's office now has an expert on ocean law on its staff.

Tom Kane, one of the few attorneys in the nation specialized in this field, substituted for Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan for a speaking engagement before the Rotary Monday night.

If North Carolina does not protect its coastal marsh lands, the federal government will do the job, he said.

"North Carolinians can do it themselves," he said. "We are going in the right direction."

It should not be necessary for the federal agencies to protect the coastal areas which are so important to all of us. North Carolina can have adequate laws which will halt the systematic destruction of the marshlands. If we are not headed in the right direction we should immediately begin to do all we can to protect our coast.

Hawkins Hunts $250,000 Fund

By JOHN KILGO

CHARLOTTE — Reginald A. Hawkins is a black dentist who is outspoken, controversial and in search of $250,000.

If he finds the money — which he says will be extremely difficult — he will be a candidate for Governor again in 1972. Dr. Hawkins ran for governor in 1968 and picked up 129,808 votes, which placed him behind Bob Scott and Melville Broughton.

"The 1968 campaign was costly to me, both personally and otherwise," Dr. Hawkins says. "We didn't have the money to run a campaign. We couldn't afford billboards, radio and TV time, and there was no way that we could pay workers. My opponents had the money and they spent it."

Dr. Hawkins leaves little doubt that he wants to run again. He's chasing down that pot of gold at the end of the rainbow now and he says the hunting is not good. The economy is still down, people are out of work, and those that have some money aren't willing to invest it in a political campaign.

"The rich boys and the big boys have put politics out of the reach of poor people," Dr. Hawkins says. "I've maintained my contacts from '68. I talk to people every day. But we don't have any of the fat cats who can spring for the big money. We get nickles and dimes and it takes a lot of that to put together enough to run even a meager campaign."

When asked to talk about minimums to finance a campaign for governor in the Democratic primary, Dr. Hawkins said it would take "$250,000 and up." He says he learned a lot in 1968 and believes he would be able to conduct a better, more efficient campaign in 1972.

Dr. Hawkins' estimate of what it would take to campaign for Governor is conservative. Most politicians feel that a man must have access to $1 million before he could be considered a real threat to capture the Governor's mansion.

Most politicians around the state seem certain that there will be a black candidate in the Democratic gubernatorial primary. Hawkins' name is the most frequently mentioned and he likes it that way.

"A lot of things that I supported in 1968 have been instituted," Dr. Hawkins says. "But I'm unhappy with the state of the economy, with the ecology picture and the administration of justice. I still believe the state isn't doing nearly enough for its school teachers and we've argued long enough for liquor-by-the-drink. Liquor-by-the-drink would go a long ways toward equalizing taxes in North Carolina."

Dr. Hawkins says he isn't nearly as impressed with North Carolina's progress as others have been. In some areas, he says, the state is retreating, going backwards, not facing up to its responsibilities.

"Gov. Scott's made a lot of mistakes," Dr. Hawkins says. "I won't enumerate them because his term isn't over. I don't think it's Bob himself making these mistakes. It's the people he has around him. They're giving him some bad advice and I'm not the only one saying that. A lot of people in North Carolina who supported Scott are saying it."

The feeling is that Hawkins

Strength For Today

Do you fear death? Why? Only two people in world history have escaped death — Enoch "was translated that he should not see death" (Hebrews 11:5), and Elijah, who ascended into heaven in a chariot of fire (II Kings 2:11). Uncounted millions have lived on the planet, yet all eventually experienced death except Enoch and Elijah. Even the son of Man experienced cruel death on the cross, and the proud symbol of our faith is the cross on which Christ suffered.

Judgment? Yes, but judgment at the hands of a loving Heavenly Father. The wisest of the world's teachers have declared that life persists after death. The resurrection of Christ was a confirmation of this divine reality. Should we fear, therefore, what practically every human being has experienced? Certainly it cannot be too bad when we take all the factors into consideration. As William Cullen Bryant has expressed it in his poem "Thanatopsis":

So live, that when thy summons comes to join
The innumerable caravan, which moves
To that mysterious realm, where each shall take
His chamber in the silent halls of death,
Thou go not, like the quarry-slave at night,
Scourged to his dungeon, but, sustained and soothed
By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave
Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch
About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams.

ALWAYS THE HOSTAGE!

By JAMES KILPATRICK

A Word For Miss Dove

A recent Bulletin from the Council for Basic Education offers a gentle reminder for those of us who make a living by thrashing around in the prize rings of punditry: When it comes to the world of education, let us recognize, now and then, that there are good teachers and good schools, and let us give them an occasional pat on the back.

This is sound advice. It is downright astonishing, when one pauses for a long breath, to reflect on the changes that have taken place in editorial attitudes toward our school system totally, from elementary education through the graduate schools.

Fifteen or twenty years ago, if I am not mistaken, there seldom was heard a disparaging word. To be sure, there were faint rumbles of controversy over the teaching of reading, but this was distant thunder. Once in a while a dyspeptic editor complained of "frills." At the college level, one denounced fraternity hazing and muttered at the high cost of campus construction.

That was about the size of it. Otherwise we molders and shapers of public opinion were whooping it up for the schools—for higher teacher salaries, for bigger bond issues, for better libraries, for decent pay for professors. We glorified the image of Mr. Chips and Miss Dove, and when a college president died, we sent him off to the angels with columns of praise.

What has happened to this happy state of affairs? A point has been reached at which the very mention of "public schools" causes many taxpayers to salivate like Pavlov's dogs. The image is of an inner-city school, with a dozen windows broken and a cop on duty outside. Within the classrooms, we envision chaos — brought on by new floods of permissiveness in which all discipline has drowned. When the pupils are not clobbering each other, they are stabbing the teachers.

Still more: Today's image postulates a school in which little or nothing of value is really taught. Students are promoted and finally graduated without having mastered elementary skills of reading, writing and spelling. The textbooks, it is widely supposed, are mere instruments of liberal propaganda. The typical public school teacher is seen as a hot-eyed militant, striking for higher pay and less work.

The colleges—but everyone knows about the colleges: Their faculties are composed of Commies, radclibs, and great names who are too busy moonlighting to bother with classroom teaching. The doped-up students are all barefooted, bearded and bearded. When they are not blowing up buildings, they are writing dirty papers.

Enough. The image is not without substance. Militant teacher unions have indeed forfeited enormous measures of public good will. Many textbooks are in fact slanted. Disciplinary problems, especially in schools subject to a coerced and artificial integration, have caused justified concern. Parents and taxpayers have valid complaints.

Yet the good teacher and the good school, as the Council for Basic Education observes, have suffered unfairly in the torrents of criticism that have swept American education. These are the teachers and schools

Other Editors Say Are All Broke?

(Henderson Dispatch)

Along with the Federal government, States and municipalities in some instances are represented as being technically broke. It seems not to matter that taxes of one sort or another are regularly increased, governments are in hot water and in a quandary as to how to extricate themselves.

Uncle Sam is about as solvent as any, but States and municipalities continue to run to Washington for assistance, oblivious that any assistance from there only increases the Federal deficit, and even so provides only temporary relief for State and municipal units.

New York State and New York City are running out of funds, at least enough funds to do all they are trying to do, and much of it of a type that could well be eliminated. The metropolis is being choked by welfare demands, and the States faces so many problems that Governor Rockefeller wants higher appropriations and heavier taxes every time his Legislature meets.

Pennsylvania is the latest State to be reported in financial straits. A sizable amount of money is in banks, but the Governor is clamoring for added taxes, which the Legislature is not inclined to grant so long as millions of dollars are available in reserve. Really, that makes sense, but there is little logic in hoarding huge reserves and increasing taxes at the same time.

North Carolina operates on a balanced budget, which is required by law. That's the way it should be. Spending should be kept within limits of the budget, and if there should be danger of a deficit curtailment is always possible, and should be made to apply. Maybe the big States and municipalities, and even the Federal government, could learn something of the financial facts of life from this State. Perhaps then they would not all be broke or on the verge of it. Curtailment is the answer to the problem if it were invoked, as ultimately it may have to be by compulsion.

Billions Possible In Video Tape

By ELMER ROESSNER

Once the growth of the auto industry helped pull America out of a recession and swelled prosperity for more than half a century. Radio helped the nation shake off a business decline. Then television did. So did the modern airplane.

Perhaps video tape may do the same thing.

Video tape can be a multi-billion-dollar industry.

The only trouble is that it is in an awful mess.

About twenty companies, scenting millions to be made, are developing video cassette systems. They include CBS, RCA, Avco, Ampex, Sony, Matsushita-Panasonic, AKAI, Phillips and Telefunken-Decca, all giants. And the fellow next door who keeps working in his basement till midnight every night may be developing his own video tape system.

The possibilities are enormous. A system whereby a householder could see shows played through his own television set might cut deeply into television, cable television, movies and almost every other entertainment medium. Only news would be playing sets, probably with larger screens — and they won't be cheap either — will be necessary to show everything from passion plays to pornographic movies. In fact, since they couldn't be controlled, porno movies might be more uninhibited than they are now.

The only trouble is that there are no standards. Companies use tape, film, discs. And tapes, unlike the cassettes for sound recorders, aren't interchangeable. Only a week ago AKAI jumped into the contest with a quarter-inch tape system, compatible with nothing else. Nobody will buy twenty television sets just to have full choice of shows. Until standards are agreed upon, the potential billion-dollar industry will have to play penny-ante.

'Mediums' To Be New Head Of Duke Board

The final lecturer in the East Carolina University Student Government Association sponsored Lecture Series, Howard Higgins, will be on hand at Wright Auditorium 8:00 p.m. Monday night.

Higgins will speak on "Among the Spirits," a lecture that shows how fortune-telling mediums enable "spirits" to return to deliver personal messages to their living friends; how they tell our fortunes and secrets.

The first part of the program gives examples for believing in such "spirit" fortune-tellers. This part also includes a seance to be conducted during the lecture.

Higgins then approaches the subject from another angle—an objective one. From the standpoint of a pure scientist, he scuttles the practices of unprincipled mediums and fortune-tellers.

Higgins is a former Dean of Emerson College, Boston, and head of the Division of Psychology and Education. For three terms he was President of the International Platform that seldom get into the news. Year in and year out they carry on the indispensable function of teaching, and they turn out millions of youngsters who have learned at least some measure of respect for the learning process.

It never has been easy to be a good teacher. The work is exhausting, frustrating, filled with disappointments. And the good teacher today has to cope with problems unknown to Miss Dove—with professional and political and social pressures from a dozen quarters. Pay scales are much better than they used to be, especially for the starting teacher, but most teacher retirement plans are disgraceful.

This isn't Be Kind to Teachers Week, and I disclaim any thought of renouncing the critical function. All I am suggesting is that perhaps our image of education needs to be brought into sharper focus. Under the angry foam of militancy and permissiveness lies an ocean of dedication and discipline. Between rounds, as it were, we owe the good school and the good teacher a word of recognition—and thanks.

McMahon's selection at a meeting of the board last Friday was confirmed Wednesday by Duke President Terry Sanford.

Wade, who is senior vice-president of J. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and a director of Reynolds Industries, notified the trustees that business responsibilities would prevent his being considered for renomination. He has served as chairman of the board since December, 1968.

McMahon is immediate past president of the Duke Alumni Association and has served as a Duke trustee since September, 1970.

Egg Producers Advised Drive Their Prices Up

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina egg producers have been urged to join in a nationwide effort to drive egg prices up by withholding 8 per cent of their production from the market for the next four weeks.

At a meeting of egg producers in Raleigh Wednesday, officials of the N.C. Egg Marketing Association presented statistics to show that the producers are getting less than the 30 cents per dozen needed to meet overhead.

And John Hamby of Durham told the producers that after Easter they can expect to be losing as much as seven cents per dozen on eggs.

An official of the United Egg Producers, Joe Hamby of Atlanta, explained the plan his group has developed to divert "surplus" eggs to plants where they will be broken, frozen and held for higher prices.

Joe Hamby said as a long range solution, producers are being urged to reduce their hatch by 10 per cent and to sell old hens six weeks earlier than usual. He also urged producers to set their date of hatch back by one week during each of the next four months. He said the ultimate goal is a 22 per cent reduction in egg production.

Kent Mann, an egg producer from Burlington, presided over the meeting.

The master of the state Grange, Mrs. Harry B. Caldwell, and the vice president of the N.C. Farm Bureau, John Sledge, pledged the support of their organizations to the proposed production cutback.

North Carolina is the nation's fourth largest producer of eggs, with farm sales last year grossing about $60 million.

Godfrey Speaks For Opponents Of SST

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Super-sonic jet liner opponents including radio and television personality Arthur Godfrey say federal funding of the SST is an obscenity and its promised jobs are "palpable nonsense."
"The world needs an SST now about as much as we need another load of moon rocks," Godfrey told the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday.
"When Americans want a plane like that," he said, "they'll finance it themselves."
Representing the Coalition against the SST, Godfrey said the planned $1.3 billion federal funding for two SST prototypes "is an obscenity" in view of other national needs.

Arthur Okun, chairman of former President Lyndon B. Johnson's Council of Economic Advisors, told the committee President Nixon's argument that the SST will mean 50,000 aerospace jobs is "nonsense and palpable nonsense."
Okun said many federal programs create jobs and there is no evidence that the SST will create any more than other federally-funded programs such as health, manpower or urban renewal.

He said taxpayers—many of whom do not fly—should not be forced to pay the bill for the plane's development.
Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said an unnamed executive of a major U.S. airline had told him Congress faces not a $1.3 billion decision but a $20 billion decision because the aviation industry will need federal aid to manufacture the SST as well as develop it.
Administration witnesses say SST manufacturing costs will be $3 billion to $5 billion, not $20 billion, and have stressed the federal government intends to spend no more than the $1.3 billion.
Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, however, left the door open Wednesday for some further federal aid if necessary.
Volpe said his only qualification in assuring the government will stop at $1.3 billion was that it rested on the airlines recovering from their present doldrums by the time the SST is ready to fly in 1978.
Godfrey tangled with Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., when he said present jetliners are environment hazard enough without adding SSTs to the skies.

Godfrey said he'd seen, on

Guerrillas Hold Att'y General

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — The Tupamaro guerrillas reported Wednesday night that Atty. Gen. Guido Berro Oribe, kidnapped by them earlier in the day, was well and held in a "people's jail."
Berro Oribe was taken from his home by four armed men and a woman. The urban guerrillas have been holding British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson since Jan. 8 but have never said what they want in exchange for his freedom.
The abduction of the attorney general was the eighth terrorist kidnapping in Uruguay since 1968 and came eight days after the guerrillas freed U.S. agronomist Claude L. Fly, who was held more than seven months.
Sources said the Tupamaros only wanted to talk with Berro Oribe but did not say when he would be released.

hunting trips to the Colorado Rocky Mountains, blue skies "clouded over" by jet contrails by 9:30 in the morning.

No Protective Rail Included

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — The town of Edgartown appropriated $1,000 Wednesday night for repairs to the Dike Bridge on Chappaquiddick Island.

The bridge is the narrow timber structure off which Sen. Edward M. Kennedy drove his car July 18, 1969, and Mary Jo Kopechne was trapped in the car and drowned.

It was proposed originally to install a protective rail on the bridge, but town officials said the $1,000 would care only for repairs to the under structure of the narrow span.

Reduces Penalty For Marijuana

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — Gov. Forrest H. Anderson has signed into law a bill reducing the penalty for possession of small amounts of marijuana and hashish.

Possession of less than 60 grams—about two ounces—of marijuana or less than one gram of hashish would be a misdemeanor on first conviction. The maximum penalty would be one year in a county jail and a fine of $1,000.

Conference On Campus Friday

Dr. Craig A. Phillips, superintendent of the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction, is scheduled to be the keynote speaker at the 13th Annual Industrial and Technical educational Conference to be held on campus at East Carolina University Friday.

The conference which begins at 9:00 a.m. and continues until 2:00 p.m., is expected to draw about 150 school administrators for discussion on industrial and technical education matters.

In addition to Dr. Phillips, other education specialists from the Department of Public Instruction are to be on campus taking part in the conference. These include Dr. Charles S. Law, Jr., Director of the Division of Occupational Education; Dr. Robert Mullen, Assistant Director of Program Services; Lynn P. Barrier, Chief Consultant, Industrial Arts; Vaden B. Hairr, Consultant, Occupational Programs; and Tommy Stephens, Consultant, Occupational Exploration.

The conference is to be in the auditorium of the School of Nursing on campus. Dr. Robert Williams, provost of ECU, will welcome the guests. Dr. Thomas J. Haigwood, Jr., chairman of the Department of Industrial and Technical Education at ECU, is participating in the conference. Dr. Phillips is to speak to those attending the conference at 12:30 p.m.

Friday Deadline For Former General In PX Probe

No One Injured In 3 Local Accidents

Greenville police investigated three traffic accidents her Wednesday that resulted in over $1,800 in property damages to the cars involved.

Heaviest damages occurred in a 4:45 p.m. wreck at the intersection of Charles Street and Berkshire Road and Earnest Bruce Sloop Jr. of 1207 E. 14th Street.

Investigating officers reported that no one received injuries in the mishap but they estimated damages of $600 to the Sloop car and $250 to the vehicle driven by Barbara Swain.

Officers charged Sloop with following too closely.

A 12:15 p.m. accident on Memorial Drive south of its intersection with Trade Street left two cars damaged and charges preferred against one driver.

Involved were cars driven by Amos Berry Sumrell of 2501 Dickenson Avenue and Alice Hemby Midgette of Rt. 1, Greenville. Police reported no injuries.

Damage were estimated at $350 to the Midgette car and $300 to the car driven by Sumrell. Sumrell was charged with failing to see a safe movement could be made.

A third wreck in the city occurred at 7 p.m. at the in-

Longtime N.C. Commissioner H.A. Bland Dies

RALEIGH (AP) — Funeral services for Henry Alderman Bland, 87, a longtime U.S. Commissioner from Raleigh, have been scheduled for Friday at Brown-Wynne Funeral Home at 2 p.m.

The burial will follow at Montlawn Memorial Park. Bland died Wednesday in Raleigh.

The longtime magistrate was appointed justice of the peace in Raleigh in 1930. In 1945 he was named U.S. Commissioner for the Eastern District. He held that post for 16 years.

Bland was a native of Pender County and attended business college in Raleigh before joining the staff of the Biblical Recorder. He served as president of the N.C. Association of Magistrates for 23 years, after which he was named president emeritus of the organization for life.

Church Features Hinkley, Nitzes

The Rev. Emmett Hinkley will preach at the Evangelistic Tabernacle here Saturday and Sunday, and the Nitz family will sing.

Services at the Tabernacle, located on the 264 Bypass, will be held Saturday night at 7:30 and Sunday morning at the regular hour.

Rev. Hinkley, who has preached here previously, also acts as pianist for the Nitzes. The Nitzes — Bob Sr., lead singer and manager; Irene, alto; Bob Jr., baritone; David, bass; and Cathy and Marilyn, who perform special songs — live in Springfield, Va., but they travel extensively spreading the Gospel in song. Part of the group ministered in Central America early last summer. This is their first appearance in the Greenville area, according to Evangelistic Tabernacle pastor, the Rev. T. L. Byrd.

WATERING THE LAND
MANILA (UPI) — Irrigation work over the next four years is expected to be completed on more than 750,000 acres of agricultural land in the Philippines. One of the biggest projects is the Upper Pampanga River job which will cover 192,500 acres and cost nearly $70 million.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Investigating senators have set a Friday deadline for a former general to explain financial arrangements involving his alleged protection and promotion of corrupt business schemes on Army bases in Vietnam.

Former Brig. Gen. Earl Franklin Cole left the hearing room of the Senate's investigations subcommittee Wednesday with a senator's warning of possible perjury still ringing in his ears.

Committee members said they were unconvinced by Cole's complete denial of any wrongdoing and his charge he had been destroyed by "untrue, unproven and slanderous" accusations by disgruntled former associates.

Chairman Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., ordered Cole's lawyers to produce his complete financial statement before the Friday session begins and scolded them for not preparing it sooner as ordered.

He pointedly failed to act on a petition by the Cole attorneys that their client be released from further obligation to testify.

"In my judgment there is a very good chance you have committed perjury before this committee," Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., told Cole after 3½ hours of testimony. "In my judgment you have disgraced the uniform you have worn so long."

Percy said Cole had failed to disprove even once the sworn testimony of two-dozen and more witnesses, most of them Army career officers and investigators, who accused him of 43 instances of using "favors, pressure and influence" to boost the fortunes of get-rich promoters dealing with the clubs and PX systems in Vietnam.

"And you failed to offer any explanation of why so many would come before this subcommittee simply to defame your character," Percy said.

Much of the previous testimony over three weeks of hear-

Lt. (j.g.) Alfred Cisneros, 25, landed in a swampy area near the Edenton Airport.

His A4C Skyhawk crashed into Althermarle Sound.

Cisneros reportedly had been flying from the Oceana Naval Air Station in Virginia to Florida.

ings concerned Cole's relationship with entrepreneur William J. Crum, and two of his principal firms—Sarl Electronics, a slot machine distributor, and Price & Co., dealer in beer, whiskey and other goods.

The 43 accusations called from the hearing transcript include charges Cole received $1,000 monthly from Crum, shielded him from Army police raids, and that he once put a Crum competitor out of business by arranging a Vietnamese police raid. That resulted in heavy fines.

Cole, a Nebraska-born officer who got his first military experience in the Nebraska National Guard in 1936, found his career ended last summer when the Army demoted him to a colonel, stripped him of the Distinguished Service Medal awarded him for service in Vietnam and ordered him retired on an $1,100 monthly pension.

Weak, Hazy Regulation For N.C. Private Schools

AP News Special
By TOM WELLS
Associated Press Writer
Pupils in many of North Carolina's all-white private schools may be getting second-rate education because of weak and hazy state regulations.

The schools are cropping up throughout the state as public schools become more and more desegregated.

The regulations governing private schools academically are lenient compared to those covering public schools.

One of the most stringent regulations, for instance, is that teachers must have at least 60 semester hours of college credit, about two years. To teach in a public school, four years of college are required.

As far as regulations are concerned, it is almost as easy to open a private school as it is to open a restaurant — both must have a sanitation and fire inspection and the employees must have health certificates.

Dining places not meeting such standards are closed down by the state. That has not been the case with private schools.

School officials say 32 of the state's 231 private schools do not have state approval, mostly because of failure to meet health and safety standards.

Moreover, parents who have children seven years old or older attending those 32 schools are in violation of state attendance laws. But to the knowledge of state education officials, not a single parent has been prosecuted for violation of those laws this year.

In most cases the unapproved schools have submitted applications even though they haven't met the health requirements.

Some of the schools could meet the standards easily enough, but their administrators seem to look at them as some people look at income tax forms — don't do anything until you have to. Often, no one says they have to.

The Division of Nonpublic Instruction in the state Department of Public Instruction notifies the heads of the private schools by letter when the schools fail to meet state approval.

A copy of the letter is sent to the public school superintendent in that district to let him know the children at the school are in violation of state attendance laws.

The superintendents are supplied lists of children who are living in their districts and attending the unapproved private school.

This is where it usually ends.

Seamanship Class Slated

Pitt Technical Institute in cooperation with the Coast Guard Auxiliary is offering a 16 hour basic seamanship course.

The first meeting will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 206. Excluding the organization meeting, there will be eight two-hour sessions, each meeting Tuesday from 7:30 p.m. until 9:30 p.m.

Course content is fundamental of basic seamanship, introduction to navigation, safe boat handling and some preventive maintenance. The cost is $2 for a textbook.

Upon course completion, the individual may elect to take an examination which if satisfactorily completed, would qualify one for membership in the Coast Guard Auxiliary. This is not a requirement but an opportunity if one desires. Certificates of completion will be provided by the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

Pitt Guidance Director To Attend Session

Mrs. Katherine Lewis, guidance director with the Pitt County Schools, will participate in the 44th annual convention of the North Carolina Personnel and Guidance Association to be held in Winston-Salem March 18-20.

This year's theme is the changing role of the counselor or "Our Search for Relevance."

Speakers for the meeting include: Mrs. Thelma Lennon, director of the Pupil Personnel Services Division of the State Education Agency; Dr. Jerome Melton, assistant state superintendent of Public Instruction; Kenneth Hoyt, Maryland State; James T. Burch, assistant state superintendent; Andrew Vanore, assistant attorney general of North Carolina; Dr. Keith Davis, Rutgers University; Dr. Dugald Arbuckle, Boston University.

The view of the state is that it is up to the local superintendent to carry the ball from there, according to Calvin Criner, head of the Division of Nonpublic Instruction.

The view of the school, superintendents, apparently is that the private schools will meet the standards in good time. Of the race of children attending private schools, but some of the older schools are desegregated.

And there are at least eight black private schools in the state. Three of them are unapproved by the state. All three are operated by the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

They are the Berean school in Charlotte, the Ephesus Junior Academy in Wilmington and the East Market Street school in Greensboro.

The other private black schools in the state are Allen High School in Asheville, Palmer Institute in Guilford County, Laurinburg Institute at Laurinburg and Ephesus Junior Academy at Winston-Salem, another Seventh Day Adventist school.

Laurinburg Institute is a prestigious black boarding school famous in part for its athletes. One of its graduates was Charlie Scott, former University of North Carolina basketball All-American and now the key man for the profes-

Feb. 26, the private Tri-City Academy near High Point was not in compliance. That day a newsman asked the Guilford County superintendent's office about the situation. By Monday, the school's five uncertified teachers were certified and the school passed a sanitation inspection.

Not all private schools are all-white units.

The Division of Nonpublic Instruction does not keep records

The private schools must be approved each year and applications must be submitted to Criner within two weeks after school begins in the fall.

But with the school year two-thirds gone, 32 of the private schools are still delinquent in state approval.

The influence of pressure on a private school by the area's public schools superintendent was demonstrated recently in Guilford County. One Friday, sional Virginia Squires.

An Internal Revenue Service requirement that an all-white private school pledge not to discriminate in its enrollment in order to achieve tax-free status has done nothing to integrate those segregated schools.

Also a myth about North Carolina private schools is that all of them are inferior to the public schools in staff and equipment. The Rocky Mount Academy in Nash County, for example, is considered one of the best private schools in the state. Criner said it would rival the best of public schools with its first-class library and latest facilities.

Actress Told To 'Act Her Age'
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Superior Court has rejected an attempt by the mother of actress Terry Moore to be named conservator of Miss Moore's assets.

The mother, Luella B. Koford, 61, said in a petition her 42-year-old daughter was being influenced by "an artful and designing person" and could no longer manage her resources of $190,000 and an interest in a $225,000 Beverly Hills home.

Judge Steven S. Weisman said Wednesday "people have a constitutional right to be stupid" but advised Miss Moore "to act your age."

Miss Moore is separated from her third husband, Stuart W. Cramer.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Ada Barnhill Andrews, of the home; seven daughters, Mrs. Beatrice Person of New York, Mrs. Mattie Barnes, Mrs. Mary Perkins, both of Parmele, Mrs. Mamie L. Little of Stokes, Mrs. Elsie R. Thompson, Mrs. Thelma Blacksher, both of New Brunswick, N.J., Mrs. Blonie Wilson of Newark, N.J.

Dr. Dixon Is Md. Speaker
BALTIMORE, Md. — Dr. J. Elliott Dixon of Ayden, N.C., spoke before the Maryland Regional Medical Program's "Second Monday Series" here Tuesday.

The general topic of the meeting was Allied Health Professionals, and Dr. Dixon's paper was entitled, "Ask The Man Who Uses One."

Since August, 1969, Dr. Dixon has had a physicians' assistant working with him. His talk covered the results of studies carried out on patient acceptance and actual saving of time on the part of the physician to seeing patients.

Dr. Dixon pointed out that he had been able to see from 30 to 50 percent more patients without a decline in the quality of health care given. Also, he said that people in the Ayden community and Pitt County had accepted the physicians' assistant very well.

Allen May Be Key For Dodgers

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — When the 1970 baseball season was over and all the figuring figured, the Cincinnati Reds were unquestionably the best hitting team in the National League with a team batting average of .2703.

The big surprise was that the Los Angeles Dodgers batted .2702.

And in that lay the Dodgers' dilemma. As a team they had collected 1,515 hits—the most in Walt Alston's 17-year stewardship—but they also collected only 87 homers, the lowest total in the major leagues.

It was enough to account for their second-place finish behind the Reds, and enough to provoke the decision to reach out for the missing ingredient—power.

Power this year is spelled Rich Allen.

The controversial slugger, moving to his third team in three years, came to the Dodgers from St. Louis in a major off-season trade that cost Los Angeles second baseman Ted Sizemore but brought them a bat that accounted for 34 homers and 101 runs batted in.

That by itself is enough to make the Reds wary of the Dodgers in the race for the Western Division title.

"I'm pretty positive we've helped our offensive side," Alston says with considerable satisfaction. "We've been without power for a long time."

The search for power also precipitated the trade with Cleveland for catcher-outfielder Duke Sims, who slugged 23 homers last season, and has Alston experimenting at several positions as he does every spring.

No matter how the experimenting works out, however, the Dodgers are legitimate title threats. They were that even before Allen and Sims arrived on the scene. The reasons are many:

There is first baseman Wes Parker, a slick fielding .319 hitter.

There is Willie Davis, the speed merchant center fielder with a .305 stick and legs that stole 38 bases.

There is old Maury Wills, a sparkplug at shortstop who at 38 still hit .270.

There is young Bill Grabarkewitz, who made Sizemore expendable with a .289 bat that produced 17 homers.

And there is pitching strength in Bill Singer, Don Sutton and Claude Osteen.

If Alston has any doubts, however, it is about the pitching because Singer suffered a fractured finger at the tail end of 1970 after recovering from hepatitis and because the search for additional pitching strength involves untested youngsters.

"I really don't know how the pitching will end up," Alston explained. "But then it could end up better than we figure."

That would involve strong performances by the Big Three—Singer, Sutton and Osteen—plus a breakthrough by one of the youngsters. The best bets are Mike Strahler, 15-5 with a 2.98 earned run average at Spokane and Doyle Alexander, 9-7 with a 3.61 ERA at Spokane after earning promotion from Albuquerque. Also there's veteran southpaw Al Downing, acquired from Milwaukee in a deal for outfielder Andy Kosko.

As for the line-up juggling, it involves four positions—catcher, second, third and an outfield spot. It's not that the talent isn't there, but that there's an abundance of versatility.

The catching spot is filled by Tom Haller and Sims but includes Bill Sudakis, also working at third with Steve Garvey, who hit .269 as a rookie. Also in the sweepstakes is Jim LeFebvre, both at second and third.

Bob Valentine, who hit .340 at Spokane, is another getting a long look in the infield as is Bill Russell, who hit .363 with Spokane and .259 with the Dodgers.

Russell also figures in the outfield battle for the right field berth—Allen will play left—along with Manny Mota, who hit .305 last season, Willie Crawford, Von Joshua and Sims. "It's just a matter," said Alston, "of fitting the right men to the needs."

The leftovers will provide bench strength, another commodity for pennant contention—and another commodity that figures to get the Dodgers serious consideration in pre-season pennant estimates, despite the awesome Reds.

This club definitely can go all the way.

NEXT: Montreal Expos.

Out At Home

Dave Johnson, Baltimore Orioles, is tagged out at home by Montreal Expos catcher John Bateman. Johnson tried to score from first base on Frank Robinson's drive to right. Fahey fired home and Johnson was nipped at the plate. Umpire Lee Weyer called the first inning play. Baltimore won, 5-4, however. (AP Wirephoto)

ACC Teams Enter Final Donnellybrook For Title

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Most observers agree that

Pitt Opens Track Year

SPRING HOPE — North Pitt High School held its first track meet yesterday, and only a disqualification kept them from picking up a win the first time out.

As it was, however, Southern Nash inched by them, 62-59. The meet was decided in the 880-yard relay, which North Pitt won in 1:39. However, judges ruled that North Pitt had fouled during the event, and the Panthers were disqualified, giving the win, and eventually the meet to the Firebirds.

Overall, Southern Nash had nine individual winners, while North Pitt had but six. But the Panthers put more depth into the meet to keep it closer.

Summary:
High jump: Joyner (SN), Burroughs (NP), Thompson (SN), 5-4.

Long jump: Worrell (SN), Adams (NP), Joyner (SN), 19-10 1/2.

Shot put: Perkins (NP), Pearce (NP), Manning (NP), 38-2.

Discus: Riley (SN), Lucas (SN), Harris (SN), 104-0.

Pole Vault: Jones (SN), 100: Adams (NP), Worrell (SN), Phippen (NP), Little (NP), tie for third, 10.5.

220: Adams (NP), Worrell (SN), Harris (SN), 23.7.

440: Brown (NP), McAllister (SN), Joyner (SN), 54.7.

880: Andrews (NP), Perry (NP), Mooring (NP), 2:13.0.

1 mile: Little (NP), Wynne (NP), Lucas (SN), 4:59.0.

Two mile: Lamm (SN), Johnston (NP), Edwards (NP), 11:44.0.

1 mile relay: North Pitt (Carmey, Roberson, Fleming, Brown) 3:55.0.

880 relay: Southern Nash, 1:41.0.

120 high hurdles: Riley (SN), Nelson (NP), Daniels (NP), 18.5.

180 low hurdles: Thompson (SN), Daniels (NP), Harris (SN), 24.0.

South Carolina, North Carolina and Duke, all nationally ranked and well stocked with talent, were the big three in the Atlantic Coast Conference championship basketball tournament. It opened this afternoon at the sold-out, 15,000-seat Greensboro Coliseum.

But if you're looking for a dark horse, consider Wake Forest. The Deacons meet Virginia at 9 o'clock tonight, after third-seeded Duke and defending champion North Carolina State play in the night opener.

The 1-2 teams in the seedings played in the afternoon games. Top-seeded North Carolina opened the tournament against Clemson and second-seeded South Carolina played Maryland.

North Carolina, which won regular season honors with an 11-3 record, was 20-5 for the year and No. 13 in the national poll this week.

South Carolina, No. 6 in the national ratings after winning its last nine, entered the tournament with a 20-4 record overall and 10-4 in the league.

Duke, coming strong with eight victories in a row and 19th ranking nationally, is seeded third on a 9-5 ACC record and is 18-7 overall.

This brings us to Jack McCloskey's Wake Forest Deacons. They are fourth in the league on a 7-7 record and 16-9 overall.

And they have Charlie Davis. The spindly senior from New York is the top ACC scorer with a 26.7 average on a fine .499 shooting percentage and is the top freethrow shooter at .867.

He's an inspirational leader, one whose electrifying long range bombing and clever ball-handling have driven the team to many top efforts. One such was a December victory over ninth-ranked Jacksonville in the finals of the Gold Coast Classic. Davis scored 30 points, the night after he hit 31 in the tournament opener against Georgetown.

North Pitt In Finals; Robersonville Beaten

EDENTON — The Big Orange Machine of North Pitt High School gets its biggest test of the season tonight when it meets strong Manteo in the final of the District One girls basketball tournament.

North Pitt rolled over Chocowinity, 58-19, last night, while Manteo downed Robersonville, 55-41.

In the opener, North Pitt edged out into a 9-6 lead in the first period of play. But in the second frame, the Pant-HERS broke things open, dumping in 19 points, while limiting Chocowinity to just two. That gave North Pitt a 28-8 lead at halftime.

In the third period, the Pant-HERS continued to pull away, outscoring Chocowinity, 18-6 for a 46-14 lead as the final period got underway. They again outthit Chocowinity, 12-5, in the final period to wrap it up.

Minnie Hollis led North Pitt with 18 points, while Susan James had 12 and Debbie Purvis had 11.

In the second game, Manteo rushed away to a 15-8 lead in the first period over Robersonville. The Golden Eagles could do no better in the second period as they were outthit, 13-3. That left Manteo on top at intermission, 28-11.

Robersonville staged a comeback in the third period, outscoring Manteo, 17-12. That cut the lead to 40-28. But it was not enough. Manteo held the Eagles off, 15-13, in the final period, to take the win.

Lu Ann Swain led Manteo with 26 points, while Connie Hines had 18.

For Robersonville, Kay Coburn had 14 and Kathy Thomas had 13.

Farmville Is District Loser

DEEP RUN — South Lenoir's hosting girls downed Farmville's Red Devilettes last night, 38-22, to gain the finals of the District Two tournament. The loss knocked Farmville out of the competition.

South Lenoir pushed ahead early and built up an 8-4 lead in the first period of play. They came back to outthit Farmville again, 10-7, in the second quarter. That left South Lenoir ahead at the half, 18-11.

South Lenoir continued to outthit Farmville, pushing through seven points in the third period, while the Devilettes got only five. That upped the lead to 25-16. They finished it off with a 13-6 advantage in the final period.

Kay Nobles led South Lenoir with 17 points, while Donna Smith had 13.

Farmville — Johnson 6, Allen 3, Gorham 9, Flake 4, Joyner, Anderson, Davis, Ellis, Mewborn, Fields, Webb, O'Brien, Griffin, Monk, Anderson.

More Gridders Chose Pirates

The names of 15 more outstanding high school football players who have been awarded East Carolina University grants-in-aid were announced Wednesday by Pirate Coach Sonny Randle.

The latest list includes seven players from North Carolina, four from Virginia, three from New Jersey and one from Georgia.

This brings to 28 the total number of young athletes who have been awarded ECU football scholarships.

The 15 announced Wednesday are:

NORTH CAROLINA — Bill Geer (6-3, 235, OT) from East Mecklenburg in Charlotte; Buddy Lowery (6-2, 235, DE) from Fork Union Military Academy and Salisbury; Ken Michael (6-2, 195, QB) from Southern Guilford in Greensboro; Bruce Rutledge (6-1, 195, FB) from West Mecklenburg in Charlotte; Bill Tart (6-0, 200, C) from Dunn High in Dunn; Keith Vance (6-3, 205, DE) from West Guilford in Greensboro; Bruce Watson (6-1, 220, OG) from Millbrook High in Raleigh.

VIRGINIA — Steve Clark (6-2, 190, RB) from Fork Union Military Academy and Charlottesville; Jan Derr (6-4, 225, C) from Staunton Military Academy and Staunton; Nelson Strother (6-1, 210, LB) from Albemarle High in Charlottesville; and John Sydenstricker

(6-0, 175, DB-QB) from Patrick Henry in Roanoke.

NEW JERSEY — Bob Bailey (6-1, 180, QB) from Butler High in Bloomingdale; Greg Harbaugh (6-0, 195, LB) from Westfield High in Westfield; and Don Schink (6-0, 195, RB-LB) from Passaic Valley High in Totowa.

GEORGIA — Ricky Cheatem (6-3, 185, QB) from Baker High in Columbus.

When these 15 are added in with 13 players previously announced as having accepted grants, the following breakdown as to states exists: 11 from North Carolina, 9 from Virginia, 3 from New Jersey, 2 from Kansas and on each from California, Georgia and Illinois.

A position breakdown is difficult since many of the players will be tried at several positions before the coaches determine their best position.

However, four of the 28 are junior college transfers. One of these is a quarterback, another an offensive lineman, another a defensive lineman, another a defensive back. They will mean immediate help to the varsity at these positions next year.

Drivers Seek Carolina Pole

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — The pole position and 14 other choice starting spots in Sunday's Carolina 500 stock car race were at stake today as qualifying runs opened at North Carolina Motor Speedway.

Among favorites for the $1,000 that goes to the pole winner were the Chrysler factory tandem of Richard Petty in a Plymouth and Buddy Baker in a Dodge; LeRoy Yarborough in a Mercury; Fred Lorenzen and Pete Hamilton, in Plymouths; and Bobby Isaac, Dick Brooks and Bobby Allison, in Dodges.

Some 25 drivers drew assignments in the time trials beginning at 1 p.m. A morning practice session also was scheduled.

The banked speedway's qualifying record, 139.048 miles per hour, set by Allison last spring, was not in jeopardy.

The 3,800-pound stockers are running this year with carburetor governors to reduce their speed.

Petty, Baker, Lorenzen, Hamilton and Ford driver Benny Parsons were among drivers who got in brief practice laps Wednesday. Their lap times, however, were well off Charlie Glotzbach's pole speed of 136.496 m.p.h. for last fall's American 500.

The race will go 492 laps — the speedway measures a fraction over one mile long — and, barring accidents or other delays, should be run at a rate faster than Cale Yarborough's winning speed of 119.811 m.p.h. in the 1970 fall race.

After today's initial qualifying session, the field will be open to 15 more drivers Friday. The final 10 in the 40-car field will be decided Saturday.

Tourney Fields Growing; More Will Be Decided By Playoffs

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Starting today, the South Carolina Gamecocks get the opportunity to redeem themselves for what happened a year ago. The Gamecocks were picked as the country's No. 1 team in the 1970 pre-season Associated Press college basketball poll, but they didn't even make it to the NCAA championship tourney.

That was because they were upset by N.C. State in the final of the Atlantic Coast Conference tourney. The 1971 ACC tourney opens today and the Gamecocks have vowed to be the winner come Saturday night.

South Carolina, boasting a nine-game winning streak, is pitted against Maryland in one of the four opening ACC games. In the others, North Carolina meets Clemson, Duke tangles with N.C. State and Wake Forest battles Virginia.

The playoff of the triple tie in the Missouri Valley Conference for a berth in the NCAA tourney also starts tonight.

St. Louis and Louisville clash at Peoria, Ill., with the winner slated to meet Drake for the CAA spot on Saturday. The latter game also will be played on the Bradley court at Peoria.

The runners-up in both the ACC and MVC are expected to be invited to the National Invitational Tourney that opens March 20 in New York.

The NIT field was increased to 12 Wednesday with the addition of Michigan, of the Big Ten, and Oklahoma, of the Big Eight. Four berths remain to be filled. Named earlier to the NIT were Tennessee, Dayton, Syracuse, Hawaii, LaSalle, St. Bonaventure, Massachusetts, Providence, Georgia Tech and St. John's, N.Y.

The NCAA tourney, which determines the national championship won four straight years by UCLA, gets underway Saturday with nine first round games.

An afternoon doubleheader at South Bend, that will be nationally televised, opens the NCAA competition. The twin bill pairs Marquette against Miami of Ohio and Jacksonville against Western Kentucky.

The NCAA college division tourney opens tonight with six first round games at three regional sites.

In the Midwest Regional at Kirksville, Mo., Kentucky Wesleyan meets St. Olaf and North Dakota State plays Northeast Missouri. In the West Regional at Tacoma, Seattle Pacific plays San Francisco State and Puget Sound faces Cal Poly, SLO. In the Great Lakes Regional at Evansville, Ind., Central Michigan takes on Augustana, Ill., and Ashland of Ohio is pitted against Evansville.

The other regionals, involving the remainder of the 32 teams in the college division tourney, start Friday night.

In the only action on the courts Wednesday, Kentucky State, the defending champions, led the way into the quarter-finals of the small college NAIA tourney at Kansas City. The Thorobreds whipped Central Washington 73-59.

Also advancing to the round of eight in the NAIA were Elizabeth City, N.C. State, Grambling, Eau Claire, Eastern Michigan, Fairmont, W.Va. State, North Carolina A&T and Stephen F. Austin.

Kidd Running In Nationals

East Carolina's Jim Kidd, a junior half-miler from Manassas, Va., is headed for Detroit and the NCAA National Indoor Track Championships this weekend after his record-breaking performance in the Southern Conference Meet last Saturday at Lexington, Va.

Kidd turned in a fabulous performance in the VMI Fieldhouse, winning the 880 in a record 1:53.8, clipping a full second off the old SC mark and finishing 50 yards in front of second-place Howell Michael, the ace miler from William & Mary.

"It was truly a sensation race for Jim," said ECU Coach Bill Carson, who was pleased with the Pirates' second-place finish, one notch higher than a year ago.

Perennial champ William &

Mary prevailed again, racking up 95 points compared to East Carolina's 55. The top two were followed by Furman (43), Davidson (20), Richmond (18), The Citadel (15) and VMI (11).

The Pirates captured three first-places out of the 14 events. The Bucs completely dominated the long and triple jumps in addition to Kidd's triumph in the 880. And they did this despite the fact that soph jumper Walter Davenport, who set a league record with a 23'5½" long jump a year ago, was sidelined with an ankle injury.

The Pirates open their outdoor season here Saturday in a three-way meet against The Citadel and Furman. Absent, of course, will be Kidd, who will become the first ECU trackman ever to compete in the NCAA Nationals when he runs in Cobo Hall in Detroit Saturday night.

Bucs Entered In Easterns

It was the same old song at the Southern Conference Swimming and Diving Championships last week at Williamsburg, Va.

Coach Ray Scharf's powerful East Carolina team splashed and splashed to its sixth straight conference championship in convincing fashion. The Pirates won 12 of the 17 events and piled up 658 points, compared to second-place William & Mary's three events won and 481½ points. VMI, which won two events, was third with 317½ points and Davidson fourth with 143 points.

Half the ECU triumphs were registered by soph Wayne Norris of Fayetteville and junior Jim Griffin of Norfolk, Va., each of whom successfully defended his title in three events. Norris set records in all three and both swam on two first-place relay teams.

Norris, voted the meet's outstanding performer, won the 200 IM with a record 2:04, the 200 butterfly in a record 2:02.5, and the 400 IM in a record 4:28.6.

Griffin took the 100 freestyle in 48.6, the 200 free in 1:49.7 and the 500 free in 5:02.

Other Pirate winners were: Gary Frederick, a junior from Fort Washington, Pa., in the 1,650 free with a record 17:48.0.

Henry Morrow, a freshman from Chapel Hill, in the 100 butterfly with a 55.4 clocking. Jack Morrow, a freshman from Charlotte, in the 1-meter diving with 388.15 points.

400 medley relay team of Greg Hinchman, Larry Allman, Henry Morrow and Paul Trevisan with a 3:46.6 time.

400 free relay team of Tom Rehm, Norris, Griffin and Trevisan with a record 3:16.4 clocking.

800 free relay team of John Manning, Norris, Griffin and Frederick with a 7:31.2 time.

Seven members of the ECU team are competing today, Friday and Saturday in the Eastern Seaboard Collegiate Championships at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. ECU placed 17th in a field of almost 70 last year and Scharf's goal this year is to better that fine finish.

Griffin, who placed sixth in both the 100 and 200 and 11th in the 500 last year, will enter those three events. Norris will go in the 100 fly, 200 IM and either the 200 fly or 400 IM. Frederick will enter the 200, 500 and 1650 frees, while Trevisan is set for the 50 and 100. Larry Allman for the 100 breast and divers Doug Emerson and Neil Winslow in the 1-meter and 3-meter events. ECU's four freestylers also will swim in the 400 and 800 free relays.

Net Team Opening

East Carolina University's tennis team opens an 18-match schedule Friday morning at the Campbell College Tennis Invitational in Buies Creek.

Leading coach Bill Dickens' netters at the two-day affair include lettermen Graham Felton, Bill VanMiddlesworth, Mike Grady and Bruce Linton. Felton and VanMiddlesworth are the ECU co-captains.

The complete schedule is as follows:

March — 12-13 at Campbell Invitational; 18 Campbell home; 21 Ohio home; 22 Ohio State home; 24 Bowling Green home; 27 Old Dominion home; 28 East Stroudsburg home.

April — 3 Appalachian home; 5 West Chester home; 9 at Richmond; 10 at William & Mary; 16 N.C. State home; 21 Atlantic Christian home; 23 at Georgia Southern; 24 at Furman; 25 at The Citadel; 27 at VMI; 28 at Davidson; 29-30-May 1 Southern Conference championships at Davidson.

May — 4 at Atlantic Christian.

Barber Hot In Recent Tourneys

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — He's bald and paunchy and wears glasses and couldn't look less like an athletic champion.

"I call him Doc," Sam Snead said of Miller Barber, the leading money winner on the pro golf tour this year and the man to beat in today's first round of the $150,000 Citrus Invitational Golf Tournament.

"He looks more like an old country doctor than he does a golfer," Snead explained of the man with the best record on the tour this season.

He won Phoenix with a 261 total, the lowest 72-hole total on the tour since 1955. He finished birdie-birdie to take second in the Hawaiian Open. He closed with three consecutive birdies for third in last weeks Doral-Eastern Open.

He's been fourth or better five times this season and has won almost $80,000.

He's in his 13th year on the tour and has won six tournaments. He also amassed more than $105,000 in 1968 and was on the last Ryder Cup team.

But the quiet man from Sherman, Tex., is an unknown quantity to the public—and even to his fellow pros, who call him "Mysterious Mr. X."

"I never hung around with most of the other fellows, because they have their wives and families along with them," explained the long-time bachelor who married last year at the age of 39.

"I always kept to myself and was rarely seen by the others away from the course. Then, too, I wear the big Air Force style dark glasses."

Barber, an Arkansas graduate and strong supporter of the Razorbacks, said he hasn't made any great change in his game and credits his recent success to putting.

"I'm hitting the ball pretty much the way I want to, and right now the putts are falling. But putting is something that comes and goes. It can go from one green to the next one."

Like many other players on the tour he is very concerned with his putting. When he's intense about his practice, he sometimes will carry the putter from the practice green to the lunch room.

He's had little difficulty lately, compiling a record that made him the top choice for the $30,000 first prize in the Citrus.

Some other top candidates were defending champion Bob Lunn, Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino, South African Gary Player and J.C. Snead and Tom Shaw, the two men who have scored double victories this season.

Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper are not competing.

Royals Win To Stay In Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cincinnati gave the New York Knicks the royal treatment to stay on the Hawks' tail.

The Royals blew a 17-point third period lead, then woke up to whip the Knicks 120-118 in overtime Wednesday night and remain within reach of Atlanta in the battle for the runner-up playoff berth in the National Basketball Association's Central Division.

The second-place Hawks trampled Phoenix 139-98 in the only other NBA game. In the night's two American Basketball Association contests, Indiana overhauled Memphis 122-113 and the Floridians squeezed by Denver 116-113.

Nate Archibald was the Royals' saviour, erupting for seven of his 14 points in the overtime period after the Knicks knotted the count 104-104 with two seconds to play in regulation time on Willis Reed's basket.

Tom van Arsdale of Cincinnati topped all scorers with 31 points, followed by Sam Lacey's 28. Dave DeBusschere had 29 and Reed and Dick Barnett added 27 apiece for New York.

Atlanta Coach Richie Guerin was ecstatic about the performance of rookie Pete Maravich, who hit 13 of 22 field goal attempts and 11 of 13 from the foul line for 37 points, and added nine assists in the 35 minutes he played.

With just six games to play—one less than Cincinnati—the Hawks have a 2½-game edge. But the Royals have an edge of their own. They've beaten Atlanta in three-out-of-five meetings this season with one more coming—Saturday in Cincinnati.

Phoenix grabbed a quick 11-4 lead against Atlanta, then failed to score a point while the Hawks got 14 of them. By the half the Hawks were on top 75-51 and they lengthened it to 40 points in the final period.

Dick Van Arsdale had 19 for the sinking Suns, two games behind second-place Chicago in the Midwest Division.

The Indiana Pacers crept within 1½ games of first-place Utah in the ABA West as they stormed back from an 18-point deficit in the second period. They finally tied Memphis midway in the third quarter and, after a seesaw struggle, went ahead to stay in the closing seconds of the period.

Indiana's Bob Netolicky had 32 and Mel Daniels added 29 while Steve Jones was the Pros' top man with 25.

Three Ball Play Makes Its Debut

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
For it's one, two, three balls you're on at the old ball game.

The Oakland A's and Japan's Lotte Orions played an exhibition baseball game Wednesday using the three-ball walk and Charlie Finley, owner of the A's and a big booster of the innovation, must have been oh so solly.

The Japanese pitchers issued only three walks while the Oakland hurlers passed 16 and were tagged for 11 hits as the Orions made off with a 12-6 victory.

When the Orions were in the field, Japanese baseballs were used. They are slightly smaller than the U.S. variety and the seams aren't raised as much.

Another visiting Japanese team, the Tokyo Giants, took a 7-4 decision from the Kansas City Royals as Hidetake Watanabe, Shinichi Yamauchi and Tsunenori Horuchi combined on a four-hitter.

Watanabe, a 23-game winner last year, held the Royals to one run in five innings. Shigeo Nagashima, five-time Japanese batting king, had two hits, including a two-run homer, but slugging first baseman Sadaharu Oh, home run leader the last nine years and most valuable player the last five, managed only one hit in five trips.

Heavy hitting was the order of the day for the Baltimore Orioles. Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants. After being blanked for four innings by Washington's Denny McLain, the Orioles raked him for four runs in the fifth and went on to a 14-2 rout of the Senators, spiced by Jim Hutto's grand slam.

The Dodgers got a grand slam from Wes Parker as they scored 10 times off newly acquired lefty Greg Garrett in the seventh inning and trounced the winless Cincinnati Reds 13-2.

The Giants took advantage of seven walks by California's Clyde Wright in walloping the Angels, but their attack also included Willie McCovey's first spring hit, a double, along with triples by Garry Maddox and Rich Robertson and a three-run homer by Bobby Heise.

Harmon Killebrew ran his consecutive hit string to six with his third spring homer and two singles as the Minnesota Twins downed the New York Yankees 5-2.

Matty Alou's two-run homer and a solo shot by Joe Hogue overcame two homers by Detroit's Willie Horton and the St. Louis Cardinals shaded the Tigers 7-5.

Bob Robertson slammed a pair of homers in Pittsburgh's 7-5 triumph over the winless Philadelphia Phillies.

Marty Pattin, Wayne Twitchell and Jim Slayton cooked up a six-hitter and the Milwaukee Brewers blanked San Diego 4-0.

The Houston Astros edged the New York Mets 4-3 as Denis Menke doubled twice and knocked in two runs.

The Boston Red Sox got a scare when shortstop Luis Aparicio suffered a painfully bruised knee tagging out former Chicago White Sox teammate Rich Morales on a steal attempt, but the veteran is expected to miss only one or two days. The Red Sox won 5-4 with three runs in the ninth.

The Atlanta Braves beat Montreal 6-4 with two runs in the seventh on hits by rookies Jim Brezeale and Hal Keith and Adrian Garrett's tie-breaking single, also in the seventh, gave the Chicago Cubs a 2-1 win over the Cleveland Indians.

Medina Contradicts Lt. Calley's My Lai Account

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Capt. Ernest Medina says his first panicked thought on realizing the bloody carnage his troops had visited on My Lai was: "Oh, my God. What happened?"

And then he told Lt. William L. Calley's murder-trial jury in a voice that sometimes quavered, "I realized exactly the disgrace that was being brought upon the Army uniform that I am proud to wear. I realized the repercussions that it would have against the United States of America."

Nothing in the four months of Calley's court-martial matched the dramatic confrontation Wednesday of two former comrades-in-arms—the company commander and his platoon leader—each accused of wanton mass murder. In sworn testimony, some of their statements on key points were sharply contradictory.

Three times, Medina said, he warned his troops not to kill innocent civilians and when he happened upon a pile of 20 to 28 bodies at a village trail crossing the career soldier said, "I wanted to believe with all my heart that it happened by artillery or gunshot fire."

Calley had testified that Medina had given orders to wipe out civilians.

Today's witness was to be Sgt. David Mitchell, who pro-

Needed Cash, Sold His Art

NEW YORK (AP) — Hunt-ington Hartford's art sale, which he said was prompted by being "hard up for cash," has brought him $556,000.

Biggest price received at the auction Wednesday in the Parke-Bernet galleries was $150,000 for a painting by Mary Cassatt called "Summertime." A gallery spokesman said the price was an auction record for a woman artist.

Salvatore Dali's "Discovery of America," which the A&P heir commissioned, went for $100,000.

tested at his own court-martial that "I never shot at anyone," and was acquitted of charges that he assaulted 30 civilians with intent to kill.

Calley is charged with pre-meditated murder of 102 My Lai inhabitants. Medina is to be court-martialed on a similar charge. Each could be sentenced to death.

The dark-haired 34-year-old Medina, of Montrose, Colo., joined the National Guard in 1952 at the age of 15, served as an enlisted man in the Army from 1956 until he graduated from Ft. Benning's Officer Candidate School in 1964.

Like the rest of his Charlie Company, Medina was inexperienced in combat.

Before the My Lai assault, Medina said of his troops: "I thought the people of Charlie Company were good soldiers."

Long after the shooting had stopped in the village, late in the afternoon of March 16, 1968, Medina said he was asked by a superior for the number of non-combatants dead.

"I got my platoon leaders together and I asked them for a body count of innocent civilians that had been killed," he said never taking his eyes from the jurors.

Calley, who was 1st Platoon leader, "told me in excess of 50," Medina said.

A similar figure came from the 2nd Platoon leader, Medina said, and the lieutenant in charge of the 3rd Platoon reported six.

"At that time," he recalled, "I thought, 'Oh, my God. What happened?' I already had an indication that noncombatants had been killed, I did not know that it was this large a magnitude."

"At that time I made a remark to the platoon leaders that I had seen approximately 20 to 28 and that was the body count that I was going to give."

At the end of the operation, Medina said, he reported Charlie Company had killed 80 to 85. Another company had 45. A total of 128 appeared in official battle reports.

Medina said that at one time when he ordered a cease-fire he called forward to Calley's platoon and said, "Damn it, what is going on up there? I want all this firing stopped."

He indicated that for the first three hours of the operation he thought his troops were battling the 48th Viet Cong Battalion.

On point after major point, Calley's old company commander flatly contradicted the lieutenant, whose chief defense is that he was obeying Medina's orders to wipe out civilians who got in the way.

"Did you at any time order or direct Lt. Calley to kill or waste any Vietnamese people," asked Judge Reid Kennedy.

"No, sir," said the captain.

The questioning moved to a briefing Medina gave his men on the eve of the attack.

"Did you notify the members that were listening to destroy everything in the village?"

"The question was can we kill women and children," said Medina. "I said, 'No, you have to use common sense. If they have a weapon and they are trying to engage or harm you, you can engage them.'"

Medina said the Task Force Barker units had been given faulty intelligence information.

"The information that I received," he said, "was that the only inhabitants of the village of My Lai would be the 48th VC Battalion; that there would be no women and children, that they would be gone to market. I did not expect any noncombatants in the village of My Lai 4."

Rescind Teacher Layoff Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — The city Board of Education has rescinded plans for laying off 16,500 teachers and cutting public school services after a shift of $25 million of this year's costs to next year's budget eased its fiscal crisis.

The board acted Wednesday, hours after city Comptroller Abraham D. Beame announced that the corporation counsel has approved his "emergency proposal" to provide the $25 million.

Easter Seal Appeal Underway In County

The Pitt County Easter Seal Society is conducting its 1971 Appeal from now through Easter Sunday, April 11, it is announced by Chairman James W. Butler of the Pitt County unit.

Primary emphasis of the Appeal, now in its 36th year in North Carolina, is a mail solicitation to seek support for rehabilitation services for the handicapped.

Larry Averett, treasurer of the Pitt unit, will be accepting the contributions. The Kappa Upsilon chapter of the national service fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, at East Carolina University has already received a sizeable sum to kick off the 1971 Appeal, Butler said.

Another fraternity and a sorority are also being asked to participate, Butler said. With the rising cost of health care services, Easter Seals will need greater public support to continue meeting current needs and additional requests for assistance to the handicapped, he explained.

The Easter Seal Society provides services in Pitt and other counties not available from other sources. These include equipment and hospital and orthopedic services, plus a statewide camping program for handicapped children. Atty. Gen. Robert Morgan is State Easter Seal chairman.

Radio Transmitters On Sloths Assist Tracker

By WILLIAM H. GORISHEK
BARRO COLORADO ISLAND, C.Z. (UPI)—“Did you find all your sloths today?”

Melvin “Mel” Sunquist, a 29-year-old graduate student from the University of Minnesota who puts radio transmitters on sloths then tracks them through 10 square miles of jungle on this island hears that question every night.

Sunquist is one of five scientists and 19 employees who live on BCI, as they call the island biological reserve and research station operated by the Smithsonian Tropical Research Institute.

Each scientist has a separate project and the projects vary from tracking sloths to studying the relationship of plants and animals from the viewpoint of the plant. One man is working

Pre-Register On Mar. 30

GRIFTON — Pre-school registration for the Grifton School District will be held Tuesday, March 30, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

All boys and girls who will be six years old on or before midnight Oct. 16, 1971, are eligible to enroll. The parents are requested to contact the school office for necessary registration forms to be completed and presented on the date of registration.

Parents who have already received the necessary registration forms are reminded to complete them and turn in to the school office by March 25. Immunization shots should be up to date and they are: whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, polio and smallpox.

The school is also required by law to have the child's birthdate verified. If any parent has questions regarding pre-school registration, he is urged to contact the school.

Recognition For Chapter In Pitt

A CHAPTER RECOGNITION AWARD . . . was accepted for the Pitt County Mental Health Association by Mrs. Joseph LeConte (left). Posing with her is Mrs. Leif Valand, president of the N.C. Mental Health Association, who presented the award.

FAYETTEVILLE — The Pitt County Mental Health Association received special recognition at the quarterly meeting of the State Association here last Friday and Saturday.

The Pitt County Association was recognized for its leadership, diversification of program, and general concern for the prevention, treatment, and rehabilitation services to the mentally ill children and adults with a single tree, studying the flow of sap.

BCI is in Gatun Lake, the feeder lake for the Panama Canal. It is crisscrossed with paths. Twenty-four buildings, mostly laboratories, animal pens and scientists' dormitories, are perched on the east face 557 feet above sea level.

No Telephones

There is electricity but no telephone. Resident scientists communicate with the Smithsonian's main offices in Ancon, C.Z., on a rickety shortwave set that balks at picking up the main office but tunes in nicely on offshore drilling rigs in the United States.

The only way to get there is a 45-minute ride on the Panama Railroad from Balboa or Cristobal, C.Z., then a 20-minute launch ride across the Panama Canal and Gatun Lake and an exhausting hike up 200 cement steps carved on the eastern face of Barro Colorado.

Jay Hayden, the 41-year-old, bearded resident manager, said the crowds of scientists allowed to study on BCI dwindle during the rainy season. Only five people work on the island at times. Some stay two years.

Sunquist tracks his sloths and said, “We find they don't move

Couple Settled Custody Battle

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A threatened custody battle between actor Cary Grant and his former wife, actress Dyan Cannon, over the couple's five-year-old daughter, Jennifer, has been settled out of court.

In a signed agreement filed in Superior Court Grant and Miss Cannon agreed that Grant would retain custody but that Jennifer would be allowed to visit her mother in Greece for two weeks during April. Miss Cannon will be making a motion picture in Greece during that time.

much. The three-toed sloth is very docile compared to the two-toed sloth.”

He held one in his hand to prove it. The sloth slowly stretched his chicken-like neck and curled a long claw, or toe, around Sunquist's arm.

“Animals, we find, adjust quite readily to carrying the radio transmitters,” he said.

Long Antenna

The transmitter looks like a field mouse with an 11-inch tail — the antenna. Each sloth's transmitter is on a different frequency. Sunquist tracks and identifies them with a portable receiver.

He only has six of the $50 transmitters and the sloths occasionally wriggle out of the nylon harness leaving them high in a tree-top. Sunquist dons loggers' spikes and goes after them.

Some of his sloths carry only brightly colored plastic neck bands.

A friend of Sunquist, Robin Foster, is studying “the relation of animals and plants from the viewpoint of the plant.”

Foster, 25, (of Rt. 1121, South Windham, via West Townsend, Vt.) is a graduate student at Duke University. He has been on BCI for almost two years.

Barro Colorado Island is a game preserve, and the animals live unmolested and allowed to fend for themselves.

Greenville's Eastern T. B. and Respiratory Disease Association, in cooperation with the Seventh-Day Adventist Church, will launch a five day “Kick the Habit Clinic” beginning Monday.

The clinic, known throughout the world as the Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking, is being held at Elmhurst Elementary School from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The Rev. Robert (Bob) Wilson, pastor of the Greenville Seventh Day Adventist Church and William (Bill) Wilson, with the Eastern T. B. and Respiratory Disease Association, will be conducting the five evening program.

The Rev. Wilson, who came to Greenville last September, is a native of Cleveland, Ohio. He mentioned having participated in this clinic several times before — in libraries, churches, high schools, YMCA's and other institutions which expressed an interest in the program designed to help smokers break the habit.

Explaining the methods used in the smoking withdrawal clinic, Reg. Wilson said, “The plan consists of regular evening group therapy sessions. It features such topics as the psychological and physical aspects of the habit, how craving can be lessened, and how will power can be strengthened.”

Other aspects of the clinic will include the physical effects of smoking, organization of a buddy system, films, demonstrations, medical counseling and other techniques designed to help a smoker break the habit within the shortest period possible.

Control booklets will be given to each participant. This booklet outlines the do's and don't's for each 24 hour period of the five days.

One of the props used to demonstrate classes in the clinic is “Smoking Sam.” Sam is a mannequin, a young man smaller than life size. He is fitted in the back with an apparatus that permits an operator to squeeze a rubber bulb, making the mannequin smoke a lighted cigarette. Two jars, one showing the long term effects to the lungs and another showing short time effects, are inside the plaster figure.

This program is endorsed by the American Cancer Society, The American Heart Association, and other groups.

The Rev. Wilson notes that local physicians will be present to assist in the program. The public is invited to attend the five nightly programs which end on Friday, March 19.

Japanese Bath In Sawdust

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Japanese have found a new use for sawdust. They bathe in it. The sawdust is mixed with fruit, seaweed and vegetable juices, according to Omark-Japan, Inc., maker of cutting chain for chain saws. The resulting goop, says Japanese health enthusiasts, relaxes tension and tones the muscles.

Participated In NCSU Course

RALEIGH — Ed O'Donnell of Greenville was one of 100 persons participating in an extension education course about turfgrass at North Carolina State University Tuesday and Wednesday.

Registrants for the turfgrass conference work in industry, at golf courses, and with municipalities, nurseries and highway departments.

University faculty and other experts in turfgrass are bringing participants up to date on the latest information on growing and maintaining turf.

SMOKING SAM . . . the smoking mannequin is displayed by Rev. Robert Wilson (left) and William Wilson (center), who are working together on the five day plan clinic designed to help smokers.

All-State Orchestra Here For 3-Day Clinic Friday

North Carolina's All-State Orchestra is coming to Greenville Friday for a three day clinic beginning on Friday and culminating Sunday with a concert at 2:30 p.m.

Hosted by East Carolina University's School of Music, the clinic this year has 174 students from all parts of North Carolina, who have been selected from auditions in all areas of the state.

Each year the All-State Orchestra clinic is held on one of the campuses of the state universities or colleges. It is sponsored by the North Carolina Orchestra Association (NCOA) which is a division of the North Carolina Music Educators Association (ACMEA).

Robert Maddox of Garinger High School in Charlotte is currently chairman of NCOA. The 174 students will be working during the clinic in two orchestras—the All-State Orchestra and the All-State Workshop Orchestra.

Both orchestras will rehearse, beginning Friday night, and continue throughout Saturday and on Sunday morning.

The final phase of the three day affair is to be a public concert at 2:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon in Wright Auditorium. This is a free concert, and the public, including children, is urged to attend.

Gibson Morrissey and James

Dellinger, two distinguished conductors, will lead the two orchestras.

Robert L. Hause, Associate Professor and conductor of the East Carolina Symphony Orchestra, is serving as host for the School of Music. Several ECU faculty members will be assisting by directing sectional rehearsals.

"We are looking forward to a very successful All-State Orchestra clinic," Hause commented. "Many people have volunteered their services and opened their homes to aid in this project. We are extremely grateful to them."

Dr. Leo Jenkins, president of ECU, is to be guest speaker at a banquet honoring participants. The banquet will be held Saturday night at 6:30 p.m. in the ECU cafeteria.

Bound Over In Bus Death

CARTHAGE, N.C. (AP) — A coroner's jury found probably cause at an inquest Wednesday night and recommended that a bus driver bound over for grand jury action in the shooting death of a Ft. Bragg soldier.

The sheriff's office said John Howard Hughes, 32, of St. Pauls, N.C., was freed under $5,000 bond on a second-degree murder charge.

Moore County Coroner A. B. Parker Jr. said witnesses testified at the inquest that Hughes shot the soldier twice when the soldier threatened him with a knife.

The victim was identified as Sgt. Harry A. Williamson, 22, of Philadelphia, Pa., a member of the 82nd Airborne Division. He was shot at Eagle Springs Tuesday night.

Witnesses testified that he became abusive toward the driver and flashed a knife after he was refused a ride on the bus because he had been drinking.

The soldier was in the Eagle Springs area in connection with military maneuvers.

Opening lead: Five of hearts and East played the ace. The outlook for the defense was exceedingly dim, for it was quite clear from South's response to the Blackwood inquiry that he had the missing ace of clubs, and after drawing trump he would shortly be in position to run the dummy's diamond suit.

The only slim chance rested in West's holding a diamond stopper, in which case East might prevent the run of the suit by forcing North's holding early. So reasoning East continued with a small heart at trick two and dummy was obliged to trump with the five of spades.

The ten of spades was overtaken by the queen so that South could trump out his last heart with the ace of spades. The jack of spades was covered by declarer's king and East's remaining trump was pulled with the nine of spades. South now tried to run the diamonds. When East showed out on the second lead, West was revealed to have a stopper in the suit. South sluffed one club on the queen of diamonds and then tried the club finesse. This failed the contract was defeated.

If East had failed to continue hearts when he was in, declarer could have drawn trumps, established the diamonds by ruffing away West's jack and then reenter the North hand by ruffing a heart to discard his remaining losers on the long diamonds.

Hand-Bell Program At Church Planned Sunday

A festival of hand-bells is being offered Sunday afternoon in Greenville's Immanuel Baptist Church, with two hand-bell groups from Greenville, two from Wilson and one from Kinston taking part.

Mrs. Norman Wilkerson, director of Immanuel's two hand-bell groups, one a junior high school and the other a senior high school group, said the program would be an informal one.

Beginning at 5:00 p.m., the festival program will include solo playing of hymns by each group, groups playing hymns, together and one or two in which the congregation will sing, accompanied by the hand bells.

From Wilson, the two groups coming to Greenville are from the First Baptist Church under the direction of Clyde Patterson. The single Kinston group, from Garden Street Christian Church is directed by Allen Harris.

Mrs. Wilkerson says the public is invited to attend the hand-bell festival, which she notes is probably one of the first in this area.

Worry Clinic Strategy For Creating Love

Ruth and Larry were ideally suited for happy marriage, except for that "sister-taboo" which had developed. So Larry felt foolish at even thinking of kissing her of treating her like a sweetheart. He had regarded her merely as a jolly pal until he tried the love experiment outlined below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case P-593: Ruth D., aged 24, is a school teacher. Her boy friend, named Larry, rated her "Very Superior" on the "Sweetheart Test" mentioned below. "But I can't seem to warm up toward her romantically," he complained.

"Dr. Crane, I know she would make me the best wife of all the girls I have dated, for she is cultured, religious and devoted to children.

"Besides, she is pretty and has a marvelous figure. "But I just can't force myself to kiss her for I feel as foolish as if I were trying to make love to my sister.

"Can love really be developed?"

LOVE STRATEGY

Yes, there is a definite strategy for creating love. "Go through the proper motions," is thus our basic axiom, "and you'll soon begin to feel the corresponding emotions!"

But you may need to force yourself to break down the "sister" taboo that often intervenes between boys and girls who have gone to school together since kindergarten or who have been neighbors.

So I made Larry promise that he'd take Ruth to a movie and later park in a romantic spot.

"Then put your arm around her," I added, "and draw her head against your shoulder.

"Now force yourself to kiss her, even if you feel awkward and as foolish as if you were kissing your sister.

"Just prolong the first kiss for 10 seconds!"

Larry agreed, for he knew Ruth was the ideal girl for a wife if only he could shatter that "sister" image.

Later, he admitted that when they had parked and were watching the full moon over the lake, he started to kiss her.

"But, Dr. Crane," he confessed, "I just couldn't do it!" "I felt so self-conscious that I chickened out several times.

"Oh, I had put my arm around her, but I just couldn't force myself to kiss her.

"But when it grew so late I knew I must take her home. I took a deep breath and decided I had to make good on my promise to you.

"So I crushed her lips to mine.

"At first, I still felt foolish, so I almost quit.

"But you said prolong the kiss. Although I almost had to grit my teeth to do so, I kept her mouth imprisoned against mine.

"And after maybe 5 seconds, something happened! I began to feel an electrical shock.

"For that former 'sister' image was shattered. Now I began to react to her as a thrilling sweetheart.

"A magnetic attraction thus replaced that former emotional barrier.

"Before the 10-second mark, I was madly in love with her.

"So I proposed right then and there.

"She must have been in love with me for a long time previously, for tears were in her eyes when she said, 'Yes.' "We are to be married in a couple of weeks.

"But if I hadn't deliberately demolished the 'sister-taboo' that had previously kept me from being romantic with her, I'd have lost my best chance for happy marriage!"

Send for those 200-point "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. Use them to pick wisely when you marry.

Ayden Church Plans Observe ACC Day

AYDEN — Ayden Christian Church will observe Atlantic Christian College Sunday on March 14. Dr. Arthur D. Wenger, president, will speak at the 11 a.m. worship service.

At 4 p.m., Dr. William Paulsell, chairman of the Religion and Philosophy Department, will speak to young people on Christian vocations and answer any questions about the college.

A concert will be presented in the sanctuary at 7:30 p.m. by the ACC Chorus under the direction of Dr. James V. Cobb.

Atlantic Christian College is church-related and supported by the Christian Churches (Disciples of Christ). Its present enrollment is over 1,700 students. Dr. Wenger served as assistant to the president and an instructor in the Department of Religion and Philosophy at the college during 1950-52 and in 1956 he became the president.

He currently serves on the boards of several church-related and civic organizations. He also has served as a pastor and during World War II was a chaplain in European countries. Dr. William Paulsell has been a member of the faculty for nine years and has served as department chairman for five of these years. He currently teaches church history at the college. He has spoken to many groups of young people concerning church vocations and the college in general.

Dr. Cobb will direct the chorus for their presentation of sacred and secular works at 7:30 p.m. The chorus will begin their spring tour in April and will visit churches in the Tidewater Area of Virginia.

The members of Ayden Christian Church invite the public to participate in the events.

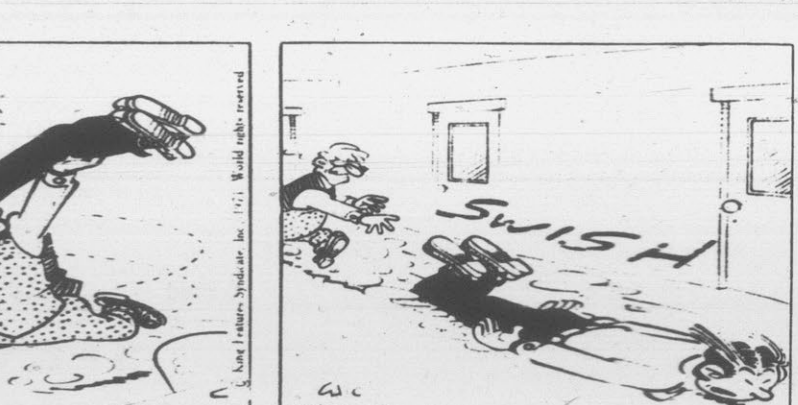

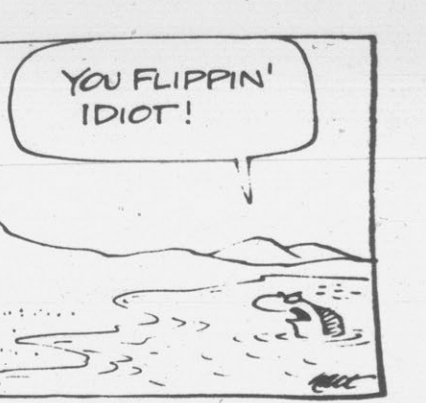

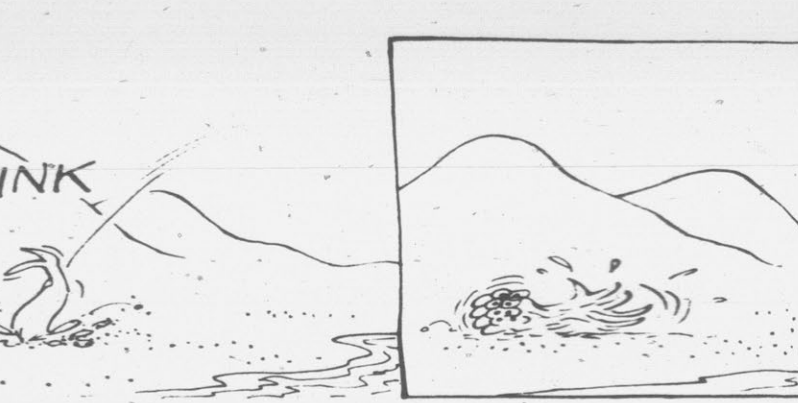

Local Students On Dean's List

WINSTON-SALEM — Two students from Greenville have qualified for the first semester dean's list at Wake Forest University.

They are Martha Elizabeth Daniel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Daniel of 227 Orton Dr., and William Thomas Wells, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Wells.

Miss Daniel is a senior and Wells is a freshman.

Gorilla And Orangutan In His Family

By MARY PAT MURPHY
Associated Press Writer
OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — An Omaha man is worried lest his family of three daughters all grow up "thinking they're humans."

But that's only part of the problem for Dr. and Mrs. Lee Simmons as they care for two-year-old Heather, nine-month-old Tie and their three-month-old baby.

They have the usual baby care problems of 3 a.m. feedings, numerous diaper changes and sniffling.

But the babies are a bit unusual. Dr. Simmons is the director of Omaha's Henry Doorly Zoo. Tie is an orangutan and the youngest member of the family is an unnamed female gorilla. Heather is the Simmons' human daughter.

Dr. Simmons brought the baby gorilla home when she was about 20 hours old. She weighed four pounds and was put in an incubator in the dining room. The baby's mother, Benoit, was suffering from severe arthritis in one arm and had a history of being a poor mother.

When Dr. Simmons took the baby to her new home, he had a slight problem with sibling rivalry. Tie was six months old and used to being the center of attention.

"She yelled and screamed, tried to climb in Marie's lap and take the bottle away when she was feeding the baby," Dr. Simmons said, "and she beat her head against the floor of the playpen."

He said when Tie joined the household, daughter Heather had gone through the same routine. But Heather accepted the gorilla as "just a nice baby."

Tie and the gorilla get along fine now, sharing the playpen. And the initial feedings every three hours have dropped off to about five times a day.

Only 37 gorilla infants have been born in captivity in the world. Dr. Simmons' baby is the 27th born in the United States and one of fewer than 20 that have survived.

"The care of a great ape infant is almost identical to the care of a human infant," Dr. Simmons said, "with the exception that you're probably more careful."

Formulas have to be juggled until just the right one is found, because the ape infants tend to develop gastro-intestinal ailments.

In fact, the gorilla baby developed a severe "24-hour flu bug" about two weeks ago. Dr. Simmons had made a routine "bed check" of Tie and the gorilla about 11:30 p.m. and both were doing fine. About 1 a.m. he checked again and the gorilla was having trouble breathing.

Dr. Simmons, a veterinarian, immediately called his pediatrician and rushed the gorilla to a hospital. There, her stomach was pumped and Dr. Simmons and the pediatrician tried to diagnose the problem. Dr. Simmons now theorizes it was just a "transient, but very acute" case of the flu.

The baby is back home now, and doing fine. She weighs 11 pounds and is growing. She still has to be held to be fed, and must be burped.

Before the babies are taken back to the more conventional zoo cages, they'll have to be taught who they are.

"Very early we try to introduce them to reasonably normal animal family groups," Dr. Simmons said, "so they'll grow up as orangutans or gorillas rather than thinking they're human."

Mystery Steps She Could Hear

PETERBOROUGH, England (AP) — Every time housewife Mary Appleton went for a walk she heard mystery footsteps behind her but could see no one. The faster she went, the faster the ghostly sound pursued her.

In desperation she went to a specialist who discovered what was wrong—she was wearing her hearing aid the wrong way round and had been listening to her own heartbeat.

DOGGONE PHONY

PARKSTONE, England (AP) — A telephone operator hurriedly called Dorset police when she heard deep breathing at the other end of the line.

They rushed to the house convinced that the caller was seriously ill and found a boxer dog asleep with the telephone receiver beside him. "He must have thought it was a bone," the owner said later.
