

Orton Plantation Gardens In Springtime

SPRINGTIME SPLENDOR — The storybook beauty and appeal of Orton Plantation Gardens is reflected in the brilliant colors of its flowers, shrubs, and mansion. Flame-bright azaleas, dogwood, wisteria, flowering cherry, and camellias make springtime a splendid display of rainbows at the famed plantation which is located on the Cape Fear river between Wilmington and Southport, N.C.

As a showplace for visitors, Orton is open year-round, with each season furnishing its own panorama of floral magnificence. Orton's gardens will be at their colorful best during the annual North Carolina Azalea Festival at Wilmington on April 15-18. (Color photo by Hugh Morton).

N.C. Presidential Primary Remains Big Questionmark

By NOEL YANCEY
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) — Foes of a bill providing for a presidential preference primary in North Carolina have until Tuesday to persuade House members to change their minds and vote against the measure.

And supporters of the bill appeared fearful Thursday that the opponents might succeed and obtain a reversal of the House's lopsided vote Wednesday in favor of the bill.

Rep. Howard Twigg, D-Wake, a leading supporter of the presidential primary measure, fought against the move to postpone action.

"If the bill goes over, it will lose support," Twigg told the House members. "A movement is on to kill the bill any way it can be killed."

Kill Bills

RALEIGH (AP) — The Senate Constitution Committee today killed bills to give North Carolina's governor veto power and to provide for annual sessions of the General Assembly.

Both actions came when the committee approved motions by Sen. John Burney to give the bills an unfavorable report.

"I never have been for the veto power," Burney said of one of the bills. "I'm bitterly opposed to it." He made similar comments about the annual session measure.

Sen. L. P. McLendon Jr., D-Guilford, was the only member of the committee to join Sen. Norman Joyner, R-Iredell, in favoring the veto measure.

McLendon said he felt that if governors had the veto power such measures as the speaker bank law and the regional universities bill would have been vetoed.

Joyner told the committee that if a Republican general and a Democratic general Assembly were elected, the legislature could strip the governor of all his appointive powers.

Joyner said for this reason there could have been chaos if Republican Jim Gardner had been elected in 1968.

Rep. Perry Martin, D-Northampton, who was not present Wednesday when the House approved the bill by a 71-30 vote, made the motion to delay further consideration until Tuesday. He said he wanted time to amass arguments against the proposal.

Martin's action came after State Democratic Chairman Eugene Simmons let it be known that he had changed his mind and now opposed the presidential primary.

"I can see this thing tearing the party apart so that no man could put it back together in time for the November election," Simmons said in explaining his change of heart.

In other action Thursday, the House decided to take a close look at Senate amendments to a bill that would allow merchants to detain suspected shoplifters without being liable for civil damages.

This was apparent as the House approved a motion by Rep. George Miller, D-Durham, to send the measure and the amendments back to the House Judiciary 1 Committee.

Miller said the Senate amendments to the bill which the House approved some time ago, had materially changed the bill. Sen. John Burney, D-New Hanover, sponsored one of the amendments which provided that a merchant would not be liable for damages for assault in detaining a suspected shoplifter.

Rep. Clarence Leatherman, D-Lincoln, argued that the Senate changes neither strengthened or weakened the bill.

But Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland disagreed. He said the bill would permit a clerk to "grab my 13-year-old daughter and bump her head against a wall whether she has done anything or not" without the merchant being liable for civil damages.

House Finance Committee gave its approval to a bill to permit an election in resort areas of Moore County on sale of mixed drinks by Class A restaurants. The bill will be up for House consideration next week.

In other action, the House refused to pass a resolution urging the U.S. Supreme Court to hurry up its decision in a Charlotte-Mecklenburg school desegregation case. This came after High told the House the resolution came "very close to being unethical."

Referendum On Voting Age Slated Nov. 2

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina voters will decide in an election next Nov. 2 whether the state constitution should be changed to permit 18-year-olds to vote in state and local elections.

Authorization for the referendum came in a bill enacted Thursday by the Senate 46-0. The House had passed the bill without a dissenting vote.

The Senate rejected 24-23 an amendment by Sen. Jack Baugh, D-Mecklenburg, calling for the referendum to be held in the general election next year instead of this year.

For the first time this session, Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor cast the deciding vote by breaking a 23-23 count on the amendment.

Baugh contended it would cost the state from $500,000 to $750,000 to hold a special election on the issue. If approved by the voters, the change would become effective next Jan. 1.

Congress already has given 18-year-olds the right to vote in national elections.

The Senate turned down for the second time an amendment by Sen. Julian Allsbrook, D-Halifax. He proposed that if voters decided to allow 18-year-olds to vote, future legislatures should have the authority to set the voting age which would not be less than 18.

The Senate had rejected the Allsbrook amendment Wednesday when it tentatively approved the bill 48-0.

Meanwhile, the Senate enacted a bill to provide increased pay for North Carolina National Guardsmen on duty.

At present, they are paid $8 per day. This will be increased to $15 a day, or the state minimum of $1.25 per hour for eight hours. The pay will go up to $1.45 per hour July 1.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to prohibit the desecration of the U.S. and North Carolina flags. It would set the penalty at $500 fine or not more than six months imprisonment.

N.C. Industrial Investments Up During Quarter

DURHAM (APX) — Investments in new and expanded industry in North Carolina for January, February and March totaled $157.1 million, an increase of $41.6 million over the same period last year.

This was shown in figures reported today to the State Board of Conservation and Department at its quarterly meeting.

The Commerce and Industry Division reported the new and expanded industry for the past three months will provide an additional payroll of $27.9 million and 5,409 jobs.

This compares with an additional payroll of $26.3 million and 5,349 jobs for the same period a year ago.

Gov. Bob Scott is scheduled to speak to the board tonight.

Agenda For City School Board Meet Announced

The agenda for the regular April meeting of the Greenville City Board of Education has been announced. The meeting is to be held in the boardroom of the City School Office, 431 West Fifth Street, Monday, April 19, at 8:00 p.m.

The agenda includes items in curriculum—board policies and administrative guidelines; health and physical education; accelerated high school graduation; interim education in cooperation with Pitt Technical Institute; and selection of instructional materials.

The 1971-72 school calendar will be considered, as will a report on orientation registration for students in 1971-72 at all school levels.

School facilities items on the agenda include contracts and projected construction at Rose High of a Home Economics complex; the removal of the Eppes house from the Eppes site; the auction of the occupational education live project house on April 22; a proposal for purchase of Eppes Athletic lights; and a request for the use of school facilities by church groups.

Under the personnel category, matters to be considered will cover resignations-retirements; election of presently employed teachers, principals, and members of central office staff; the recommendation of the incumbent superintendent (contract renewal).

Budget-finance matters will consist of preliminary data for the 1971-72 local budget; an audit contract approval; and tax-sheltered annuities request. In addition to the regular April 19 meeting of the Greenville City Board of Education, the members of the board will consider a proposed special meeting at some date between April 19 and the regular meeting for the month of May.

The purpose of the proposed special meeting is to discuss in detail items listed on the 1971-1972 local budget report. The special meeting will be open to the public, and at that time, citizens of Greenville will be given priorities, particularly those relating to capital outlay projects from district funds.

For this reason, only preliminary discussion of budget items for 1971-72 will be made at the April 19 meeting.

Economy Showing Expansion Rebound Kills Early Tax Relief

By BILL NEIKIRK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has ruled out calling for immediate tax cuts following a strong rebound in the nation's economy during the first three months of the year.

Although the recovery was not as great as the Nixon administration had hoped, White House economic adviser George P. Shultz said it shuts the door to any tax-relief proposals in the immediate future.

"As of now, we're on a good course and we hope to stay on that course," Shultz told newsmen Thursday. "There is no reason to make any shift in policy."

Shultz said the first-quarter advance of $28.5 billion in gross national product, output of the nation's goods and services, was a "little less than expected, but larger than what the pessimists thought."

"We do have expansion under way—a good solid expansion," he said.

Nixon administration officials have been considering the possibility of further tax relief to boost the sluggish economy. And Shultz said he is not ruling out that possibility for the entire year.

The White House had hoped for a first-quarter GNP growth of $30 billion to $35 billion as an indicator of vigorous expansion and to achieve its twin goals of cutting inflation and unemployment.

The GNP figures showed, however, that inflation continued its high level, galloping along at 5.2 per cent during the quarter but down from the upward-revised 5.9 per cent during the last three months of 1970.

Nixon has pledged to cut the inflation rate to 3 per cent and unemployment from the present 6 per cent to 4.5 per cent by mid-1972.

To do that, the administration figures, GNP will have to average $1.065 trillion for all of 1971. If statistics released Thursday are indicative, output will fall short of that goal.

The gain brought GNP to $1.018 trillion at a seasonally adjusted annual rate, a 12-per cent increase measured by current prices.

But real GNP output figured in terms of noninflated dollars, grew by 6.5 per cent, sharpest since the second quarter of 1968.

In sheer dollar volume, the $28.5-billion advance was largest on record, mainly because of the rate of inflation.

The increase was possible primarily because auto production snapped back strongly from last fall's General Motors strike and accounted for two-thirds of the GNP advance. Outside of the automobile sector, the economy still suffered from considerable slack during the period.

Pakistani Claim Sabotage Effort

By RONALD THOMPSON
Associated Press Writer
KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) —

The Pakistani army reported that it foiled an attempt early today by Indian infiltrators and "antistate elements" to blow up a major railroad bridge near East Pakistan's eastern border with India.

Radio Pakistan said the army inflicted "heavy casualties" on the saboteurs.

The broadcast said huge quantities of arms, ammunition and other supplies were captured at the Bhairab bridge 45 miles northwest of Dacca, the provincial capital.

The bridge spans the Magna River and carries the railroad between Dacca and the port of Chittagong and the line to Sylhet in the north.

The radio said the Pakistani troops caught the saboteurs after they had placed 38 dynamite charges bearing the marks of Indian ordinance factories. After securing the bridge, the troops "advanced further to mop up all remnants of infiltrators in the area," the radio added.

It accused Indian intruders of trying to dislocate transport and communication in East Pakistan to upset the economy.

A government spokesman in Dacca said the principal eastern towns controlled by the army were Chittagong, Sylhet, Jessore, Khulna, Comilla, Pabna, Lalmonirhat, Saidpur, Rangpur and Rajshahi.

"Remaining strongholds of antistate elements will be dealt with shortly," he added.

The statement also said the Pakistani air force is transporting troops to trouble spots. In the northern regions of East Pakistan, officials said, "All remaining pockets of resistance between Dinajpur and Thakurgaon are cleared."

Hazards Worsen

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North Carolina Forest Service has counted nearly 700 woods fires and more than 19,000 acres of seared woodland in a week-long rash of outbreaks. And it says the fire hazard worsens with each passing day of dry, windy weather with low humidity.

Only two of the blazes remained out of control, however, as firefighters battled Thursday night against blazes from the mountains to the coast.

One of these, in Camden and Currituck counties, had burned over an estimated 2,500 acres in the state's northeast corner. The other had raced through some 60 acres up a mountainside in Swain County.

Tom Hegele, information officer for the Forest Service, said a number of the fires were believed to have been purposely set.

Hungarian Hybrid Corn

LONDON (AP) — U.S. interests have ordered 1,330 tons of seed of a disease-resistant hybrid corn developed in Hungary, the Hungarian embassy in London said today.

The embassy valued the order at $500,000. It said much larger U.S. orders for the seed are expected. It didn't identify the U.S. importers.

The Academy Awards Blitzed By 'Patton'

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Patton" blitzed the 43rd Academy Awards like one of its hero general's World War II sweeps, winning seven Oscars including best picture. The best actor award went to George C. Scott who played the title role—an honor he had said he would refuse.

The movie academy says it will hold the Oscar for him in case he changes his mind.

Other top winners Thursday night included Britain's Glenda Jackson, best actress, "Women in Love;" John Mills, supporting actor, "Ryan's Daughter;" Helen Hayes, supporting actrix, "Airport;" and Franklin J. Schaffner, direction, "Patton."

An artillery-like barrage of applause and approving yells came from a Los Angeles Music Center audience of nearly 3,000 as Goldie Hawn ripped open the envelope and cried, "Oh, my God—the winner is George C. Scott!"

Scott had won for his portrayal of Gen. George S. Patton despite statements he'd decline the Oscar because "it is degrading to have actors in competition with each other ... in a public display of contrived suspense."

He also had called the presentations "a meat parade."

Film-acting in New York, the actor said through a spokesman Thursday before the presentations: "Win, lose or draw I have no statement."

There had been speculation that Scott's blasts would hurt his chances for the Oscar. Accepting the honor for Scott, "Patton" producer Frank

McCarthy said the academy "has distinguished itself, shown what a great organization it is, by honoring so generously a fine performance by a great actor."

It's the first time any winner ever refused an Oscar for the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Academy President Daniel Taradash said before the ceremonies that since Scott had said he didn't want to be involved, the academy had done everything it could to see that he wasn't.

"He did not receive a letter of congratulations from me as did the other nominees, and he was not invited to the awards," Taradash said.

He said the academy will keep Scott's Oscar and if at any time he wants it, he can have it, but it will not be sent to him.

sound, art direction, film editing, direction and original story-and-screenplay.

"Love Story," with seven nominations, won only for its background music, or score, by Francis Lai. "M-A-S-H," which had five nominations, won only for best adapted screenplay, by Ring Lardner Jr.

The winning movie song was "For All We Know" from "Lovers and Other Strangers." Miss Jackson, 36, a middle-class girl from the English midlands who shocked the middle classes in Britain with a very naked appearance in "Women in Love," was in Cyprus and unable to attend the

Women May Work With Less Effort, Says A Finnish Health Expert

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Women actually are the weaker sex, says a Finnish expert, but on some jobs they can work with less effort than men.

Prof. M. J. Karvonen, director of Finland's Institute of Occupational Health, makes those points in an article on "Women and Men at Work" in World Health, magazine of the World Health Organization distributed here and at its Geneva headquarters.

"An average woman has less muscle than a man and consequently less strength," he writes. "In some European populations, female muscles are only half as strong as those of males ... In training experiments ... muscle strength increases more slowly in women than in men, and the training 'ceiling' is lower."

Furthermore, he says, the maximum uptake of oxygen, needed to keep the muscles working, is roughly a quarter less in women than in men, and their blood has fewer red cells to carry the oxygen to the muscles.

In heavy industry, he adds, "the load of work comes closer to the upper limit of work capacity in women than in men." "However," the professor says, "in a Danish study made in a predominantly light industry, it turned out that women actually managed with less effort than men."

"The energy expenditure at work varied in women from 1.4 to 4.2 kilo calories per minute, and that of men from 2.2 to 6.5 kilo calories per minute. In women, the work was 20-30 per cent of their actually determined capacity, but in men 30-40 per cent."

He says statistics give only limited support to the belief that women lose more working days than men because of ill health.

"It is true women generally are more absent from work on account of sickness than men," he explains, "but the opposite applies to absenteeism caused by accidents."

Readers Reply To Dateless, But Nice

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I have news for the girl in Eudora, Kan., who claims she is dateless because she's nice.

I happen to be a 26-year-old bachelor who lives in Eudora, so I think I'm in a position to know. I am no creep, and I've dated all kinds of girls, here and in other cities.

I feel sorry for a girl who doesn't get asked for dates, and if it makes her feel better to say it's because she's "too nice," it's all right with me. But that's not the real reason. There must be something wrong with her personality. A girl can't be too nice! Sure, a guy will take out an easy number just to prove to himself that he's a "man," but after he's used the girl for that purpose, she's had it.

Girls who put out may enjoy a rush of popularity for a while, but guys talk, and if the girl wants to settle down and be respectable, she'd better leave town.

So, it's to 'em, Abby. And keep telling young girls that men still want "good girls." Boys look for the other kind, so if a girl wants to end up with a man and not a boy, tell her to save herself.

EUDORA READER

DEAR ABBY: I got a chuckle over the letter from the girl in Eudora, Kan., who is dateless because she's "nice." Maybe there is something about Eudora that causes the trouble. When I went to high school there I never had a date either.

Tell her to hang on. If it takes 10 dateless years to find a husband as good as mine, it's worth it.

TERESA: E. H. S. CLASS OF '57

DEAR ABBY: This is for the nice girl from Eudora, Kan.

My roommate is a junior in college and I am a freshman. We were "decent" in high school and it paid off. We have done a lot of dating in college mostly with guys who ask us out more than once because they have a good time. And we don't have to put out either. The guys who just want sex don't ask us twice. And who needs them?

Most fellows respect girls who say no! Here is our motto: "Friendship may blossom into love, but don't cheapen yourself and give love to gain friendship." The joy of true love is worth all the waiting it takes.

FLAGSTAFF, ARIZ.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the girl who said that nice girls don't get dates. She's wrong. Boys don't ask girls out because they want only sex. Sure, if you're giving it away, they'll take it, but they do have other interests. I'll bet that nice Kansas girl is dateless because she lets a guy knock right off the bat that she thinks all he wants is sex, and that turns him off.

LOTS OF DATES AND STILL A VIRGIN

DEAR ABBY: About that girl who said boys don't care to date nice girls. You said she was wrong. Well, you goofed. I say she's absolutely right. Face it, Abby, you aren't a teen-ager anymore.

SEVENTEEN

DEAR SEVENTEEN: I know it. They were saying the same thing when I was a teen-ager, and they were wrong then, too.

DEAR ABBY: That girl was so wrong to say that guys don't want to date girls unless they can score with them. I am a 27-year-old bachelor who enjoys the company of a girl I can have a good time with and I assure you I can leave sex out of it. There is so much more to dating and relationships than just heading for the bedroom. I come from the old school where a walk in the moonlight and a kiss at the door is a perfect ending for a wonderful evening. As far as I'm concerned, good girls are in style, and I hope that girl in Kansas doesn't lose her faith in us men.

R. K. IN OSHKOSH, WIS.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Put That Pot Roast In The Oven

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you want a lot of servings of meat for your money choose boneless chuck beef and pot-roast it. It may be served to a goodly number of dinner guests, or it may be used for a couple of meals for just the family.

In the following recipe the beef is oven-roasted in make-ahead style. You cook the meat one day and heat and serve it the next day or thereafter. This method often fits beautifully into a crowded schedule.

MAKE-AHEAD

OVEN POT ROAST

5 pound boneless beef chuck roast
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 medium-large onions, coarsely chopped (2½ cups)
2 large ribs celery, finely chopped (1 cup)
1 medium carrot, pared and thinly sliced
2 large cloves garlic, peeled
Sprinkle beef with salt and pepper.

Into a 4-quart heavy casserole or similar utensil turn the onions; add celery, carrot and garlic. Place beef over vegetables.

Bake, tightly covered, in a 300-degree oven until meat is tender—about 3 hours. Beef will shrink during the baking and there should be a large quantity of broth.

Remove beef, cover and refrigerate overnight.

Strain vegetables from broth; place vegetables in a small container; cover tightly and refrigerate overnight.

Annual Spring Fair Discussed

Plans for the annual spring fair were discussed at the meeting of the Lakewood Pines Garden Club held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. W. M. Reading.

Mrs. A. E. Dubber was co-hostess for the meeting.

Mrs. R. S. Lowe, co-chairman for the fair, asked for reports of the various committees. The fair will be held Thursday, April 22.

Mrs. W. C. Taylor Jr. presided during the business session.

Easter Party Given At Caswell

An Easter party was given on Saturday afternoon for residents of Austin A Dormitory at Caswell Center, Kinston, by the Junior Woman's Club of Greenville.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of pink spring flowers. Assisting in serving were Mrs. John Trotman and Mrs. Herman King, members of the club.

The girls were remembered with Easter egg favors.

BEEF POT ROAST — It's good sprinkled with Parmesan cheese, heated under the broiler and served with noodles.

Place strained broth in a separate container, cover and refrigerate overnight.

Slice beef fairly thin. Remove hardened fat from top of broth. Turn vegetables into an electric blender with some of the broth and puree; mix with remaining clear broth.

Arrange sliced beef in a 3-quart shallow baking dish (about 14 by 8½ by 2 inches) or similar utensil. Heat blended broth and vegetable mixture until very hot and pour over meat. Cover tightly with foil. Place in a preheated 325-degree oven and bake until beef is hot and quite soft—30 minutes or longer.

Serve meat and gravy with cooked noodles, buckwheat groats or bulgur. Makes 10 servings.

NOTE: If you are planning to serve this pot roast at a couple of meals, you may want to vary the service. In this case, place some of the meat and some of the gravy in a shallow baking dish; sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese and heat under the broiler.

Miss Leggett Gives Program

Miss Susan Leggett presented the program at the meeting of the Inglis Fletcher Book Club held Tuesday morning at the home of Mrs. R. R. Forrest.

She was one of 10 American high school students who went to Italy last summer as Community Ambassadors. Illustrating her talk with color slides, she told of her trips to Rome, Florence, Milan and Sicily.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Miss Maude Moore was a guest for the meeting.

Mrs. Dubber Is Guest Speaker

Mrs. A. E. Dubber, a member of the Lakewood Pines Garden Club, was speaker at the Brookgreen Garden Club meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. George W. Wilkerson.

Mrs. Dubber showed slides of various birds obtained from the Ornithology Department of Cornell University. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. John C. Proctor.

Mrs. Plato G. Evans, president of the club, announced the new slate of officers for the coming year:

President, Mrs. J. J. White Sr.; Vice President, Mrs. H. A. Sugg; Secretary, Mrs. Stephen White; and Treasurer, Mrs. George Wilkerson.

The next meeting will be the annual picnic to be held at the home of Mrs. Ray Minges on May 12.

A Real Boon. To Cities, Towns

The liberalized Powell Bill funds for municipal street construction and maintenance are going to mean a great deal to North Carolina towns and cities.

The measure, which received overwhelming approval in the Legislature, increases the city's share of gasoline tax from one half cent to one cent. This will mean an extra $11 million in funds will be turned over to the municipalities this year.

The bill also changes the formula for distributing the funds so that population will be reflected as 75 percent of the allocation figure and street mileage 25 percent. Previously the funds had been allocated on a formula in which population and street mileage were taken into account on a 50-50 basis.

The extra funds will be helpful to all the towns of Pitt, Greene and Martin Counties. It will be particularly helpful to Greenville which showed a good increase in population in the 1970 census.

Municipal officials in almost every town will tell you that their street improvement programs would have been in a hopeless state if the Powell Bill plan aiding municipalities had not been passed years ago.

Now the total amount of these funds will be doubled and this will be welcomed by municipalities, which virtually all have difficulties staying up with needed street improvements and maintenance.

Dutch Are Seen Less Sensitive

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Holland is windmills and wooden shoes, the boy with his finger in the dike, and tulips, tulips, tulips.

At least I thought so, between 12 and 13, my head full of "Hans Brinker and the Silver Skates."

Another lad of that age now is correcting my impressions with his own observations of contemporary life in The Netherlands.

David Roberson is spending a year at Utrecht, going to school, making friends, and generally finding out what it's like to be "in Dutch."

Normally, David lives in Durham. His father is Dr.

play, provided the farmer isn't there.

Keep Off The Grass
"Yards (if you don't live in an apartment) are simply a 40' X 20' or so patch of well-kept grass, and a 2' border of shrubbery and flowers. If you aren't trimming the shrubbery or cutting the grass, you stay out of it.

"If America could economize space the way the Dutch do, we could support about three-fourths the world population! (Not counting our deserts.) The formula is really this: 'Living quarters' are crammed together, so is industry. They give agriculture all the extra room.

"Instead of clogging the air with pollution, the Dutch use bikes. The only people who don't ride bikes to school are: (A) Those under 9, who can come on the bus, (B) Those over 16, who buy motorbikes, and (C) Those who live more than 4 or 5 miles away from school, who either come with the bus or ride a train. (There's a station one-third mile from school.) I live three miles from school, and I like it, but it gets pretty cold and wet at times.

Complex School Schedule
"My school is called 'De Werkplaats,' or, literally, 'the Workplace.' We have, to say the least, an interesting school. My schedule is completely different every day. I always arrive at 8:20, but I get out Monday and Friday 2:45, Tuesday and Thursday 12:45, Wednesday 3:30, and Saturday 11:55. My classes are: Music, Gym, Math, History, Geography, Animal care (really wild), Handicraft (not really shop because we don't have much instruction nor any power tools besides a soldering iron and two gas torches), Meutourhour, where we talk about our problems, etc., study hour, where we do just that, English, Dutch, French, and Latin (next year I'd be taking German and Greek, too).

"The Dutch are much less extravagant than us. If you invite guests over, after supper you pass around a cookie tie and give everybody one (just one) and then put it away.

"They are not fantastically outgoing, though you don't get a bar sinister for being new. They also are very 'space-unconscious,' or rather, they don't mind having to squeeze up all their lives."

My reply:
"Dear David,
"Thank you for your letter. I'm letting some friends read it, too, because I think it tells what it's like to be a boy living in Holland.

"Love to the family,
"Uncle Bryan."

No Justification For The Black Powder Bomb

There can be no justification for the continued use of black powder bombs in the Dare County area when there exists the obvious possibility of setting off forest fires.

While the Air Force has methods of extinguishing the fires while they are small at least one has gotten out of hand and a 26,000 acre forest fire resulted last month.

The Air Force has a contract with the State Forestry Service for supplemental fire protection, plus personnel of its own. All this, however, was not enough to prevent the disastrous damage of last month.

We have to recognize that the practice bombing range is necessary for the operation of Seymour Johnson Air Force Base. On the other hand it is imperative that the Air Force find some other method of marking the bomb strikes. The nation cannot tolerate such waste as this recent forest fire caused.

Big Field For Lt. Governor

By JOHN KILGO

RALEIGH — When the 1972 elections roll around, the hottest race might well be for lieutenant governor in the Democratic primary. Eight Tar Heel Democrats — some of them powerful — are giving serious consideration to that campaign.

One man being mentioned with increasing frequency for the number two spot on the Democratic ticket is House Speaker Phil Godwin. Godwin has made a hit with the legislators in this session and some of them refer to him as the most powerful man in Raleigh. Godwin comes from the East but has picked up key statewide support in his position as Speaker.

At this stage in the game, it's too early for the would-be candidates to talk about running for lieutenant governor — but they are talking with key politicians. It's also important to understand that the lieutenant governor's position might be considerably more important in 1976. Both Gov. Bob Scott and Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor have recommended that the position be full-time, with a full-time salary and staff. The legislature seems inclined to support that view. Here are the others who are interested in the lieutenant governor's race subject to the Democratic primary:

Rep. Jimmy Beatty of Mecklenburg. Beatty is in his third term in the House and has run extremely strong in his home county. Beatty, who won fame as a track star, is a tireless and effective campaigner with a good political instinct. He makes friends easily and has been called on to make speeches all over the state this year. Beatty is giving the race serious consideration.

James B. Hunt of Wilson. Hunt is a lawyer, intelligent, articulate and has the ability to appeal to all factions of the Democratic Party. For instance, the Terry Sanford wing wants him as their candidate for the number two spot, and at the same time he is most popular with the Bob Scott camp. It's virtually certain that Hunt will enter the race.

Sen. Hector McGeachy of Fayetteville. McGeachy has been a long time planning a run for lieutenant governor. His credentials look like they came from Who's Who... leading attorney, Bronze Star winner in World War II, five terms in the State Senate, Bar Association President, head of the Democratic Party in Cumberland County. Wants badly to run for lieutenant governor in 1972.

Rep. Ike Andrews of Siler City. Like McGeachy, Andrews has been planning this run for quite some time. He's a lawyer, a highly decorated World War II veteran, has served in the State Senate for one term, the State House for four terms. Plans to be a candidate.

Roy Sowers. He's now head of the department of Conservation and Development. A long-time close friend of Gov. Bob Scott. For a long time he was mentioned as a possible candidate for Governor but has since turned his attention to the number two spot. With the field for lieutenant governor becoming so crowded, Sowers might change again and look for a council of state race.

Sen. John Burney of Wilmington. No question about this man's influence in the Senate. They call him Big John up here, he's a successful lawyer, close friend of Attorney General Robert Morgan. He has political ambitions that reach beyond the Senate. Burney is definitely thinking about the lieutenant governor's race. (Continued On Page 5)

YOU KNOW THE ANSWER

Never try a balancing act when you are getting dressed. Have something to lean on or to hold to. Balancing acts are for tight-rope walkers in the circus. Those who want to be at their place of business at what most of them have come to regard as a satisfactory hour or minute had better get it into their minds that there is no acrobat net in the bedroom. Be sure to have something to lean on or hold to while you are getting dressed.

Transferred over into the realm of life policy and religion, this means that we all need something to hold to or lean against at certain times during the dressing period. Met a very wealthy woman recently who has to be near a chair or leaning on

Stick to the facts, Dave, and stop romanticizing. Now go on:

IT'S CLIMBING SEASON, LET'S GET GOING!

Saint Of Accountants

By ART BUCHWALD

WASHINGTON — Thursday was Income Tax Day. It is probably the most important joyous holiday in the United States and observed by everyone, regardless of race, creed, religion or color. While everyone pays tribute to it, few people know how Income Tax Day came about.

The father of the income tax was born on April 15, 1842, to Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Tax of Washington, D. C. His parents named him Maxwell Tax, but to his family and friends he became known as Max Tax.

Max was a bright boy and studied very hard at school. He wanted to become a doctor but his parents thought he should be an accountant. In those days you did what your parents told you to do, and so Max, at 21, became a certified public accountant.

But Max soon discovered there wasn't enough for accountants to do, and he couldn't find any people in Washington who would let him keep their books.

Every time he approached a company or an individual, he was asked "Who needs you?"

Max became embittered and he decided that someday people would rue their words. He set out to devise a plan that would make every person in the United States dependent on accountants from the day they were born until the day they died.

But how?
One day in 1862 he attended a speech given by President Abraham Lincoln on the White House lawn.

Mr. Lincoln said sadly, in one part of his speech, "You can tax some of the people all the time, and all of the people

Other Editors Say Abuses Are Trouble

(Washington N. C. Daily News)

Heretofore, it has been a generally accepted practice that if legislators had state business to attend to and needed transportation, the State Highway Patrol was glad to oblige.

Sometime ago when a group of legislators rode Patrol cars to a political rally in Tarboro, a cry went up about abuse. And we feel that the cry which was heard had substance to it.

We must, however, say that the system which has heretofore prevailed is not the fault of the Highway patrol as an organization. The Patrol has been the victim of the system, and it merely was doing what was expected of it. And let us say that legislators of both political parties have on occasion used Patrol cars for various reasons.

Now some rules have been set out, and under these rules requests are to be relayed to the Troop commander in advance for his approval, except that orders from the governor will be followed immediately.

Today, even without rules and following in the wake of the recent public criticism, we suspect that legislators or any other state officials will be rather slow to request a Patrol car even in situations where transportation is needed badly. Legislators and state officials do not wish to subject themselves to such criticism, and certainly many of them agree that legitimate business should mean help from the state, but that abuses have no place here.

The abuses are what get people into trouble in this situation and in many other situations. The abuses in our welfare programs are what hurts the program so very much. Abuses are what hurts many other programs too.

There are times in Raleigh when a legislator on state business might have to go out to the prison office or to N.C. State university, or to the Motor Vehicle office. It seems very practical that a Patrol car could serve well to provide transportation on a business matter solely pertaining to the state. We see nothing wrong in such situations. But riding Patrol cars to social functions is an entirely different matter. And we agree wholeheartedly that riding such vehicles to a purely social function represents an abuse.

With or without the present rules, we shall now see the practice curbed all around. Even in cases of state business, a legislator will be slow to request a patrol car for transportation. The recent publicity has served its purpose.

Higher Postal Rates Are Ahead

By ELMER ROESSNER
Higher postal rates, due to be effective a month from today, are likely to generate even higher rates.

The new post office corporation may lose considerable business, so much so that it may have to ask the new Postal Rate Commission for even higher rates to keep solvent.

These are reasons postal revenues will drop:
Many magazines will switch to private delivery services. There are a number of these in existence and more are being organized every day. Many say they can deliver magazines, out-of-town newspapers, monthly bills and other materials at 15 to 20 per cent less than the new postal rates.

Magazines will be smaller in page sizes, in paper thickness and in number of pages. Advertising rates will have to go up and this will entail smaller pages and perhaps fewer pages of lighter paper. Esquire, McCall's and Holiday have already announced cuts in page size. Advertising men will have to be more clever than ever, packing more sell into less space.

Goodbye, Hicks!
Magazines, which have been dropping subscribers in zip code zones with low incomes, will drop those in rural areas except, of course, farming publications. The private delivery services cannot afford rural services and the postal rates, up 142 per cent, will make many rural subscriptions unprofitable.

Many newspapers, too, will drop rural subscribers not in shopping distances of their advertisers for the same reasons. However, it is expected that "free in county" some of the time. But you can't tax all of the people all the time."

These words stuck with Max and that night he kept mulling it over in his mind. At 3 o'clock in the morning, he sat up in his bed and shouted, "Eureka!" His wife, Tina, said, "Max, what is it?"

"Tina, I think I've got it. I believe I have a way of making us rich for the rest of our lives. Lincoln needs money desperately. If we could put a levy on everyone's salary in this country, the government would have more money than it would know what to do with."

"But how would that help us, Max?" Tina asked.

"The government would make this levy so complicated that only accountants would be able to figure it out. If people didn't hire us, they would go to jail."

Max went down to his basement for two weeks and worked on a form that only (Continued On Page 5)

Entry Rules For Sidewalk Art Show Are Announced

Objects To City Change In Procedure

Donovan Phillips, one of the four candidates for mayor in the May 4 elections, today announced that he had taken individual action to file, on two separate occasions, objections to the proposed legislation based on a resolution adopted by the City Council in late February. "I feel the adoption of legislation changing the mayorality race from plurality to majority is in direct violation of Section 1973c of the Civil Rights Act on voting adopted in 1965," Phillips commented.

Phillips revealed he first filed a complaint with State Representatives Horton Rountree on Monday and later filed a similar complaint with City Attorney David Reid.

"I feel this is discriminatory, as no real push was made on this until after the filing date was over," Phillips remarked.

The resolution Phillips referred to, adopted in late February by the City Council, was given to Representatives Rountree and Sam Bundy, and Senators Vernon White and Julian Allsbrook on March 8 by Reid. At the April meeting of the City Council last Thursday, Reid told councilmen the resolution at that time had not been introduced into the legislature for consideration.

Standards For Well-Drilling Are Opposed

RALEIGH (AP) — Standards for well drilling proposed by the State Board of Water and Air Resources could boost consumer costs 1,000 per cent, according to a spokesman for the state's well-drillers.

R. B. Heater, president of the North Carolina Groundwater Association, told a hearing sponsored by the Board of Water and Air Resources Thursday that the standards would force buyers to buy a "Rolls Royce" type well, rather than a "Ford type well."

Nearly 30 drillers appeared at the Raleigh hearing, and all opposed the standards.

A Forsyth driller, E.B. Hyatt, said "This is going to make drilling so expensive the average person won't be able to afford it."

"All right," Lincoln said, "I'll buy it. And because you came up with the idea, I'll call it the Max Income Tax Plan. (The Max was later dropped because there was no room on the form.)

As Max predicted, the demand for accountants was so great after the law was passed that he became a millionaire overnight. He also was asked to lecture all over the world on his plan. England was so grateful to him that they knighted him and he has been known in that country as Sir Tax.

But unfortunately, Max was so busy lecturing, entertaining and working on other people's income taxes that he forgot to file his own. One day the IRS confiscated everything he owned and in a few years he was a broken, penniless, bitter man. Because his plan caused so many people so much anguish, he died without a friend in the world.

It was only after his death that a grateful government decided to pay homage to him. By presidential decree, April 15 was declared Income Tax Day, and each year on that day the secretary of the Treasury places a wreath on Max's unmarked grave.

Max Tax is long since gone, but his name is on the lips of all of us.

Siege Of Fire Base 6 Said Ended

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — The siege of Fire Base 6 is over and the North Vietnamese are fleeing after suffering heavy casualties, the commander of South

Vietnamese forces in the central highlands declared today. "Enemy pressure at Fire Base 6 has entirely lifted," said Maj. Gen. Ngo Dzu. He said the North Vietnamese who besieged the hilltop base had withdrawn westward to the area where South Vietnam's borders with Laos and Cambodia meet. A few hours before Dzu's statement, one of his spokesmen, Capt. Le Van Phuc, said: "The situation at Fire Base 6 is not too good."

There obviously were still North Vietnamese troops around the base, but there was no way to determine how many. U.S. and South Vietnamese helicopters were fired on today as they landed hundreds of fresh Saigon troops in the area.

The North Vietnamese may have been fighting a rear guard action.

The Saigon government claimed that 2,903 North Vietnamese troops have been killed in the region since the base was first attacked March 31. Most of the enemy casualties were credited to U.S. B52 bombers, tactical fighter-bombers and helicopter gunships. But some military sources say the total is substantially less than claimed by the South Vietnamese command. For one thing, only 224 rifles and 73 heavy weapons were reported picked up on the battlefields.

The Saigon headquarters said a total of 195 South Vietnamese troops have been killed, 32 are missing and 442 have been wounded. Field reports said Saigon's casualties were higher than those announced.

Five American advisers also have been killed. In eastern Cambodia, 200 miles to the south, North Vietnamese forces clashed with South Vietnamese and bombarded them with 400 rounds of mortar and recoilless rifle fire in the fourth day of intensified attacks. Field reports said 74 North Vietnamese and 29 South Vietnamese were killed, three South Vietnamese were missing and 13 were wounded.

Associated Press photographers Neal Ulevich and Huynh Cong Ut flew into the Fire Base 6 region with the combat assault helicopters. They reported that North Vietnamese troops surrounding the base opened fire with rocket grenades and mortars.

There were no immediate reports of any helicopters being hit or of any ground fighting.

The U.S. Command reported however that an F100 Super Sabre Jet fighter-bomber crashed from unknown causes south of Fire Base 6, and a small observation helicopter was shot down in eastern Cambodia. All of the American crewmen were rescued.

Two of the four South Vietnamese infantry battalions inside and immediately around Fire Base 6 were flown out Thursday. The remaining two battalions were lifted out today and two fresh battalions replaced them.

A third battalion of reserve paratroopers was flown into a landing zone just outside the base to join the hunt for the enemy troops menacing the hilltop outpost near the tri-border juncture of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

It was unclear just how many South Vietnamese troops were in the area, but some reports indicated there might be as many as 5,000. South Vietnamese intelligence reports had indicated an estimated 4,000 North Vietnamese in the area, with another 2,000 in reserve along the border. South Vietnam has about 18,000 troops in reserve in the region.

The South Vietnamese have five task forces in eastern Cambodia, or about 7,000 combat troops, against about 12,000 North Vietnamese troops.

"We are there to prevent the Communists from coming back to the border and rebuilding their supply bases," said Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, a spokesman in Saigon.

After the bleakness of winter comes Spring. Fulfilling a promise of long ago, the seasons follow one another in divinely planned succession. All around us we see evidence of evil, but the Church gives positive assurance that God is ever present. As Spring brings new life, so does the Church.

Consider the daffodil—its freshness and beauty speak of hope. Consider the Church—its steadfast faith strengthens mankind. God creates daffodils, but intelligent cultivation makes them even more beautiful. Likewise, He depends on us to spread the influence of the Church and to make a better world. Accept this tremendous challenge and become a part of God's Church today.

Officers Are Named At Pitt NCAE Annual Meet

ANNUAL BANQUET OF PITT NCAE . . . Dr. Jerry Paschal, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, Mrs. Beulah Mebane and Arthur Alford were among the educators attending the first annual banquet of the Pitt County Unit of NCAE. (Reflector Photo by Blanche Hardee)

HONORED LAST NIGHT — Retiring teachers Mrs. Aileen Bynum, Mrs. Virginia Strickland, Miss Sarah

Brown and Mrs. Mazella T. Burney were honored during the local NCAE banquet last night.

RETIREES — Mrs. Eva Jackson, Mrs. Helen Collins and Mrs. Norma Dillingham were recognized at the first annual banquet of the Pitt County NCAE last night.

By BLANCHE HARDEE
Reflector Staff Writer

Mrs. Eleanor Mills was named president of the Pitt County Unit of the North Carolina Association of Educators at the group's first annual banquet meeting at D. H. Conley High School last night.

The 1971-72 slate of officers also includes: W. B. Moore, principal of Falkland Grammar, president-elect; Bill Revels, audiovisual director for Pitt County Schools, vice president in charge of membership; Fredrick Smith, principal at North Fountain, vice president heading orientation; Mrs. Thelma Switzer, North Pitt High School, vice president in charge of faculty representative; Mrs. Viola Vines, Stokes - Pactolus, vice president heading committee coordinator; Mrs. Beulah W. Mebane, D. H. Conley, immediate past president; and Mrs. Emily Harvey, G. R. Whitfield, secretary - treasurer. Mrs. Mills is a teacher at G. R. Whitfield.

Dr. Jerry Paschal, immediate past president of the state NCAE and currently superintendent of Goldsboro City Schools, was the keynote speaker.

Paschal encouraged the educators to become politically involved and work toward a more successful organization.

"We as educators must seek political power. The education profession has the chance to make itself strong in the political ring," Paschal stated.

The speaker added, "We are not politically knowledgeable or do we know all the ropes. We must show a united front, quit talking and complaining and stand up and be counted. We must get active."

"The biggest problem facing educators in North Carolina today is unity — we must learn to work together for a positive future," Paschal noted.

Paschal said there are many good things being done in the schools today.

"We have made much progress in desegregation and merging of school systems. We must move forward in human relations or there will always be a split."

"The type of human relations I am referring to is not only race relations but relationships between teachers and students, teachers and principals and between principals and the school board."

"We must develop mutual trust and strive toward good human relations," the superintendent of Goldsboro City Schools said. "We need good local leadership. We must be willing to speak out on issues."

Paschal said the best professional groups in the state are those with leaders who are strong individuals and have good backing from local officials.

Seven teachers who will retire at the end of this school year were honored last night. They include: Mrs. Aileen Bynum, Farmville; Mrs. Virginia Strickland, Sam D. Bundy School, Farmville; Miss Sarah Brown, A. G. Cox, Winterville; Mrs. Mazella T. Burney, A. G. Cox, Winterville; Mrs. Eva Jackson, D. H. Conley; Mrs. Helen Collins, D. H. Conley; and Mrs. Norma Dillingham, Grifton.

Teachers who were honored for having been in the teaching profession for 25 years were: Mrs. Jessie Williams, Falkland Grammar; Mrs. Myrtle Wooten, Farmville; Mrs. Keith Cain, Chicod; Mrs. Pauline Anderson, Farmville; Mrs. Eva Roundtree, G. R. Whitfield; Mrs. Lillian Cobb, H. B. Sugg; and Mrs. Thelma Wallace, Falkland Grammar.

Mrs. Beulah Mebane, immediate past president of the local unit, presided at the meeting. Other participants in the program included: J. J. Brown, invocation; Jimmy Dunn, greeting; Mrs. Edna Earle Baker, awards presentation; Mark Owens, chairman of the Pitt County Board of Education; Doris Lee, presentation of retirees, Arthur Alford, superintendent of Pitt County Schools; Mae Harvey, presentation of new officers; John W. Taylor, installation of officers; Eleanor Mills, recognition of special guests.

Special guests included: First District Congressman Walter B. Jones, State Representative Sam D. Bundy, members of the Pitt County Board of Education, Pitt County Commissioners, Dr. C. C. Cleetwood, Dr. Walter Savage, and Dr. William Fulford.

Special music was presented by Mrs. Marion Jones, soloist, and Mrs. Rebecca Norcott, pianist.

State Pesticide Board Proposed

RALEIGH (AP) — Bills setting up a new state Pesticide Board to regulate the use of pesticides in North Carolina were introduced in both houses of the General Assembly today. Rep. James Speed D-Franklin, was joined by six other House members in introducing the bill in the House, and Sen. Hector McGeachy, D-Cumberland, was joined by four senators in sponsoring an identical measure in the Senate. The bills would set up a five-member pesticide board which would be appointed by the governor. It would have powers to restrict the use of pesticides and to regulate the disposal of unused pesticides and contaminated containers.

U.S. Consulate In Venice Leased

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Wake Forest University has leased the former United States Consulate in Venice for use as an overseas study center and faculty retreat.

Dr. James Ralph Scales, president, said the building will be used for a "Wake Forest-in-Venice" program for students during the fall and spring semesters. He said it will be reserved for faculty and staff members during the summer.

The building, large enough to house about 20 students and a faculty couple, is on the Grand Canal and is a short distance from St. Mark's Square in the center of Venice.

Must Wait

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina cities will have to wait until October, 1972 to begin receiving the increased share of the gasoline tax revenues granted to them by the General Assembly recently.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding on the part of some cities who think the payments will be doubled in the checks mailed this October," W. F. Caddell, head of the planning and research department of the state Highway Commission, said Thursday.

The legislature earlier this month passed a bill to increase the cities' share from one half cent to one cent of the state's nine-cent per gallon gasoline tax. The funds are for road building and repair. Caddell said the money collected during the fiscal year beginning next July will be distributed on the new basis in October, 1972.

Terps Visiting Pirate Stickers

One of the most important lacrosse matches in East Carolina University history is on tap here Saturday afternoon.

Coach John Lovstedt's Pirates meet the nationally ranked club from the University of Maryland on the football practice field at 2 p.m.

The Pirates carry a record of 3-3 into the match against the Terps, which are undefeated and ranked fourth in the nation.

ECU split a pair of matches over the Easter break, first beating Southern Conference opponent VMI, 14-5 before losing to Roanoke, 15-6.

Senior attackman Eric Schandelmeier is the team's leading scorer but Lovstedt feels that Mike Denniston, another attackman, will soon challenge Schandelmeier for that honor. Denniston was recently switched from midfielder to attackman.

Lovstedt also had praise for midfielder Don McCorkel and defenseman Will Mealey. Goalie Jim Frank was also credited with some fine play.

Saturday's match marks the first time these two teams have met. Maryland already owns a big 14-2 win over North Carolina.

In other action, ECU's crew team entertains Virginia Commonwealth University Saturday on the Tar River.

Earlier this season, Coach Terry Chalk's Pirate rowers won the Virginia Commonwealth Regatta, which included teams like Notre Dame, Virginia and VCU.

ECU's highly improved track team travels to Norfolk this weekend for the Norfolk State Relays.

Coach Bill Carson's Pirates were originally scheduled to meet Appalachian at home on Saturday but a schedule conflict forced a cancellation.

Lotz Has Not Been Worried

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Dick Lotz, one of pro golf's tough young lions who are coming into their own, has been in a year long slump but he hasn't let it bother him.

"I'm optimistic about the way I'm playing," the handsome, 28-year-old Californian said Thursday after recording a five-under-par 66 for a share of the first round lead in the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

He was tied at that figure with tour newcomer Larry Wood, who needed only 24 putts in his remarkable round on the 6,679 yard, par 71 Pensacola Country Club course.

Just one stroke back at 67 was long-time amateur Deane Beman, who has picked up two tour victories since turning pro four years ago.

A group of eight, headed by flashy Chi Chi Rodriguez, followed at 68. The others are Dean Refram, veteran Billy Maxwell, Randy Wolff, Bob Erickson, Ben Kern, Al Geiberger and hard-luck Lou Graham.

Graham had the lead alone, at six under par, going to his last hole. He promptly hit his tee shot out of bounds and took a triple bogey seven that knocked him back in the pack.

Lockwood Impressive In First Victory Of Year As Chisox Fall

By KEN RAPPOPORT
And now the envelope, please. Winner of this year's best actor award in baseball is ... Skip Lockwood for roles in King Kong and Aunt Alice.

"Sometimes I feel like King Kong out there and sometimes like Aunt Alice," says Milwaukee's Jekyll-and-Hyde pitcher. "But, however I feel, I have to keep bearing down because I don't have any tricky stuff."

Lockwood assumed the leading part Thursday—pitching the Brewers over the Chicago White Sox 4-1 with a four-hitter. So whatever happened to Aunt Alice?

"I stayed with my best pitches—fast ball and curve," said Lockwood, who decided to skip everything else.

Even though the White Sox knew it was going to be one of the two, it didn't help. Lockwood, who had a 5-12 record last year, was especially impressive in the sixth inning as he won his first game of the year.

Lee Richard singled and Mike Andrews walked to open the frame and Chicago threatened to cut into the Brewers' 3-1 lead. But Lockwood then mowed down the power of the White Sox lineup—Carlos May, Bill Melton and Rich McKinney.

In the American League's other games, Detroit defeated New York 3-2; Baltimore topped Cleveland 6-4 in 10 innings; Oakland trimmed Minnesota 4-3 and California bounced Kansas City 5-2 in 11.

It was Lockwood's show as the Brewers handed the skidding Sox their sixth straight loss. The only time Chicago scored on the 24-year-old former third baseman was in the first inning on a walk and singles by Melton and McKinney.

Lockwood then yielded only singles to Richard in the sixth and McKinney in the ninth.

Despite the overpowering performance, Lockwood said he'd be trying a different warm-up style in the future.

After Chicago took a 1-0 lead, Milwaukee went ahead for good in the second inning as Tommy Harper scored the first run with a bases-loaded ground out and Mike Hegan drove in the second with a single.

Ed Brinkman's ninth-inning single scored Aurelio Rodriguez to boost Detroit over New York. Rodriguez opened the ninth by beating out a bunt off relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel.

He advanced to second on Mickey Stanley's sacrifice and came home on Brinkman's hit to left field.

Detroit had tied the score at 2-2 in the eighth as Norm Cash drove home Al Kaline from third base with a sacrifice fly. Felipe Alou, who just joined New York this week in a trade, hit his second homer in as many games for the Yanks, a fifth inning shot into the right field seats.

Paul Blair and Boog Powell walked with the bases loaded in the 10th inning, forcing in two runs for Baltimore's victory.

"I just couldn't throw a strike," said Cleveland pitcher Chuck Machemehl, who walked Blair for Baltimore's go-ahead run. "I guess I was aiming for something. I wasn't nervous ... I was just trying too hard."

Baltimore right-hander Jim Palmer, who hasn't lost to the Indians since Sept. 1, 1966, picked up the victory while retiring 19 of the last 23 batters he faced at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium. "This isn't an easy park for a pitcher," said Palmer, who allowed four runs in the first two innings. "You have to be awfully careful."

Joe Rudi and Reggie Jackson faced two-out, run-scoring singles in the eighth inning to pull Oakland to a comeback victory over Minnesota.

Rudi lined his third hit of the day to center to tie the game after Dick Green had singled and stolen second. Rudi roared to second when outfielder Jack Holt threw home. Jackson then followed with his game-winning hit off Ron Perranoski.

Sandy Alomar drove home the go-ahead run with a two-out single and Jim Fregosi followed with a two-run single as California scored three runs in the 11th to beat Kansas City.

Alomar's hit to left center scored pitch-runner Ken O'Brien, who was on second base after Ken McMullen's single and a walk to Chico Ruiz. Fregosi then chased home Alomar and Ruiz with his safety to center.

California starter Tom Murphy was sailing along 2-0 when the Royals struck back to tie it in the ninth on Dennis Paeke's two-out, two-run double.

Greene Central Downs Devils

The Rams took first place in nine events, while Farmville won five of them. The two schools tied for first place in one event, the 100-yard dash.

Greene Central's next meet will be Monday, as they host D. H. Conley.

The good taste of Old Crow begins with men who love to work with their hands.

Before we'll mill a kernel of grain to make Old Crow, experts like Jerry Simpson test samples by hand for appearance and color. It's the only way we know to make a good-tasting Bourbon.

Making Bourbon which tastes good, bottle after bottle, made Old Crow famous. Back in 1835, our people figured out the formula that took Bourbon-making out of the hit-or-miss category. Later, they handmade the first sour mash Bourbon. We still use our hands in making Old Crow.

After work, most of our men keep on using their hands. Jerry Simpson calls on the same craftsmanship maintaining the quality of our country Bourbon as he does upholstering his chair.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Raleigh Golf Classic Gets Underway Today

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — First-round action in the sixth annual Raleigh Golf Classic, a $20,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament, begins in Raleigh today.

A field of 64 women pros and two amateurs will be shooting for the $3,000 first prize in the three-day, 54-hole event at the par-72 Raleigh Country Club course.

Leading the field is defending champion Sandra Haynie, 1970 "Player of the Year" in the LPGA. Also competing are three-time winner (1966, 1968 and 1969) Carol Mann and 1967 champion Kathy Whitworth.

Miss Whitworth was the LPGA tour's leading money winner in 1970 with more than $30,000 in official earnings. She also won the Vare Trophy for low stroke average during the season.

In a pro-am preliminary to the tournament Thursday, teams captained by pros Renee Powell and Gloria Ehret combined for best-ball scores of 14-under-par 58 to capture the $2,000 event.

The Ehret-captained team covered the par-72 course in nine-hole scores of 29-29. Miss Powell's team scored only 32 on the front nine but turned in a sizzling nine-under-par 26 on the back nine.

Third place went to the teams led by Betsy Rawls and Miss Haynie, each finishing at 59, 13 under. Fifth place went to Sharron Moran's team at 60, 12 under.

The Raleigh tournament marks the end of a three-week layoff for the lady pros and signals the beginning of the week-to-week spring schedule. The winner of the last event—the Orange Blossom Classic at St. Petersburg, Fla.—Jan Ferraris, is entered in the Raleigh event.

The field also includes reigning U.S. Women's open champion Donna Caponi, fourth-leading money winner Marilyn Smith, eight-leading money winner Sandra Palmer and LPGA Hall of Famer Miss Rawls.

There are four foreign golfers in the field—Vivien Saunders of England and Chako Higuichi, Michado Okado and Marbo Sasaki, all of Japan.

Missing are veteran Ruth Jessen, winner of the $60,000 Sears Women's World Classic which opened the tour, and Shirley Englehorn, who is sidelined by an injury.

For her victory last year, Miss Haynie posted rounds of 69, 71, and 72 for a 212 aggregate, four under par. Jo Ann Prentice, Carol Mann and Marilyn Smith finished in a tie for second at 215.

Carolina Loop Opens

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Action will get under way tonight in the 27th annual Carolina League baseball season with eight teams from North Carolina and Virginia competing.

All of the 1970 teams are entered again this season in the Class A league. Those from North Carolina are Raleigh-Durham, Winston-Salem, Rocky Mount, Burlington and Kinston, and those from Virginia are Lynchburg, Salem and Peninsula.

Again this year, the 140-game season will be split into two halves. The first half will end June 20 and the second will run June 22 through Sept. 1.

An all-star game will be played July 12.

Last year's playoff winner, Winston-Salem, will open the 1971 season with a two-game match at Salem. Burlington, which lost the playoff 2-0 to Winston-Salem after capturing the first half championship last year, will play Lynchburg at home tonight and Saturday.

Other opening schedules have Kinston at Rocky Mount and Raleigh-Durham playing Peninsula at Hampton, Va. Sunday's schedule has Peninsula at Kingston, Raleigh-Durham at Burlington, Rocky Mount at Winston-Salem and Salem at Lynchburg.

Downing Wins First National Loop Start

By DICK COUCH Associated Press Sports Writer Al Downing labored for nine innings to earn his National League pitching credentials. Fran Healy paid his hitting dues with one swing of the bat.

Downing, who pitched for 10 years in the American League before moving to Los Angeles in a pre-season trade, beat St. Louis 2-1 Thursday night in his first start for the Dodgers.

Healy, whose previous exposure in the majors consisted of 10 at-bats for Kansas City two years ago, pinch hit a firstpitch home run—in his first NL trip to the plate—to give the San Francisco Giants a 4-3 10-inning victory over Houston in a day game.

In the only other National League action, the Chicago Cubs downed the San Diego Padres 4-3.

In American League play, Milwaukee topped the Chicago

White Sox 4-1, Oakland edged Minnesota 4-3, Detroit shaded the New York Yankees 3-2, Baltimore trimmed Cleveland 6-4 in 10 innings and California beat Kansas City 5-3 in 11.

Downing, the little left-hander who has migrated from the Yankees to Oakland and Milwaukee to the Dodgers since December, 1969, picked up his hard-earned first NL victory when Maury Wills' run-scoring single in the ninth inning broke a 1-1 deadlock.

Downing went out for a pinch hitter in the ninth after yielding nine hits. He had gone the distance just two times last season with Oakland and Milwaukee while posting a 5-13 record. In his debut with Los Angeles last week, he hurled scoreless relief for 5 2-3 innings.

Bill Russell, whose fifth inning single knocked in the Dodgers' first run, doubled with one out in the ninth off Reggie Cleveland.

After Tom Haller, batting for Downing, drew an intentional walk, Wills sent Russell home with a single to center.

Downing blanked the Cards until the eighth, when they scored on Ted Simmons' two out single. Healy, a 6-foot-5 reserve catcher, pinch hit for reliever Jerry Johnson with one out in the 10th at San Francisco and drilled Jim Ray's first pitch over the right field screen.

It was the second memorable initiation for the 24-year-old rookie, who singled off Denny McLain in his first at-bat for Kansas City in September, 1969. The Giants got him from the Royals last October in exchange for pitcher Bob Garibaldi.

The Giants, who have won four in a row, took a 3-2 lead in the eighth on Bobby Bonds' two-run homer. The Astros tied it in the ninth on a run-scoring single by John Edwards.

Joe Pepitone, who cracked four hits, and Ron Santo each delivered two-run singles, leading the Cubs past San Diego.

Right-hander Bill Hands, 1-2, checked the Padres on eight hits in beating them for the fifth time in as many lifetime decisions.

NYU Dropping Two Sports

NEW YORK (AP) — New York University's basketball and track teams—all but dead on the court and cinder alleyway—have been officially killed as intercollegiate sports by the NYU administration for financial reasons.

"It is hard to justify continuing expenditures in these areas when the pressing needs for general student aid and for academic programs cannot be met," NYU President James M. Hester told a news conference Thursday.

Hester refused to say the elimination of intercollegiate basketball and track next fall was a permanent move, calling the action a curtailment and insisting they could be revived "at a later time when financial conditions improve."

But he acknowledged that no such improvement could be seen in the near future. The university finished the 1969-70 fiscal year with a $4.5 million deficit and forecasts are that the situation will worsen.

Meanwhile, Hester said the university will continue basketball on an intramural level and encourage "informal" games between NYU students and other universities. And it will provide facilities for individual track and field athletes and urge them to enter meets. He said the costs of providing athletic facilities and transporting and housing athletes on out-of-town trips were costly but the major outlay was in the recruiting of student-athletes.

In 1966 the university dropped the policy of providing straight athletic scholarships and instead began basing them on financial need and academic ability as well as athletic talent.

The grant-in-aid program, which Hester called a "self-imposed handicap" severely reduced the flow of promising athletes to NYU since they could obtain scholarships from other schools without showing such financial need or scholastic as well as athletic prowess.

Petty Takes Maryville 200

MARYVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Richard Petty maintained his assault on the NASCAR racing circuit by streaking a 1970 Plymouth to victory in the Maryville 200 Thursday night.

It was the sixth time this year the Randleman, N.C., speedster glided to victory and his 125th career triumph.

Finishing eight seconds behind Petty in the 104-mile grind was Benny Parsons of Ellerbe, N.C., in a 1970 Ford.

Petty, who already has earned more than $100,000 this season, drove the 200-lap race at an average speed of 88.697 miles per hour. The track record is 92.216 m.p.h. Petty poked $1,000 for his night's work on the 522-mile Smoky Mountain Raceway oval.

The remaining top 10 finishers were Friday Hassler, 1970 Chevelle; Elmo Langley, 1970 Mercury; Dick Brooks, 1970 Dodge; James Hylton, 1970 Ford; Charlie Glotzbach, 1970 Dodge; G. C. Spencer, 1969 Plymouth; Cecil Gordon, 1969 Mercury; and Bill Champion, 1969 Ford. Thirty cars started the race.

Smith, Ashe Seeking Wins

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Third-seeded Stan Smith was paired against sixth-seeded Zeljko Franulovic in one of two quarter-final singles matches highlighting today's play in Charlotte's $25,000 open tennis tournament.

The other match had Arthur Ashe, ranked No. 4, against fifth-ranked Marty Riessen as the North Carolina National Bank Open moved toward the Sunday championship matches.

One event each in men's doubles, women's singles and women's doubles rounded out the day's fare at the Olde Providence Racquet and Swim Club.

The women's singles sent top-seeded Eliza Pande of Palo Alto, Calif., against Charlotte's Laura Dupont, women's national intercollegiate champion.

Top-seeded Tony Roche defeated Charles Pasarell, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2, and second-seeded Cliff Richey advanced over Mark Cox, 6-4, 6-2, in quarter-final matches run off Thursday.

Miss Pande ousted Charlotte pro Bev Cansler, 6-0, 6-3, for her first-round victory, while Miss Dupont's victim was Donna Fales of Miami, Fla., 6-3, 6-4.

In the men's doubles today, Roche and Riessen teamed against Pasarell and Bob Lutz.

In the women's doubles, Miss Pande teamed with Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., against another Charlottean, Nina Cloaning, marking her 16th birthday today, and Miss Cansler.

Issel Leads Colonel Win

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Any notions that Dan Issel is off his game have been dashed.

Unfortunately for the Virginia Squires, they were the first to find out.

Issel averaged 21.3 points a game in the Kentucky Colonels semifinal playoffs against the Floridians and fouled out of three games. Quite a turnaround from regular season play when he led the American Basketball Association with a 29.9 average and fouled out of only eight contests.

But the 6-foot-9 roving pivotman was in superlative form Thursday night when he poured in 46 points to pace the Colonels to a 136-132 victory over the Squires in the opening game of their best-of-seven ABA Eastern Division final playoff.

The Colonels-Squires game was the only ABA action as the Western Division finalists, Utah and Indiana, had the night off. The series, locked at 1-1, resumes Saturday at Salt Lake City.

A merry-go-round defense of Doug Moe, Neil Johnson, 6-foot-11 Jim Eakins and Bill Bunting was no match for Issel who had 29 points at the half and 42 at the end of the third period.

About that time it looked as if the playoff record of 53 points held by Roger Brown of Indiana was in jeopardy.

But coach Frank Ramsey rested Issel the first half of the final quarter and didn't put his precocious rookie back into the lineup until Virginia began to destroy a 13 point Colonels lead.

The Squires, who never led, tied the game at 130 with a minute to go, but steady Cincy Powell, who finished with 31 points, and Darel Carrier combined for six free throws and put the game out of reach.

Charlie Scott led Virginia with 35 points while Ray Scott and George Carter had 27 each.

The second game will be played Saturday at Norfolk, Va.

THREE OLD TREES . . . at Kennels Beach are draped in tattered robes of Spanish moss.

RAVAGES OF AGE . . . is evident in the water eroded roots of the trees.

A MOSS COVERED LIMB . . . weaves and writhes with every gust of breeze.

OLD TREES AND SPANISH MOSS

Like weird sentinels, three gnarled and battered old trees stand in isolated loneliness on a sandy hook of land at Kennels Beach on the Neuse River between the villages of Olympia and Arapahoe.

By day the vivid starkness of the twisted limbs, enshrouded in robes of tattered Spanish moss, add a touch of melancholy beauty to the peaceful little resort settlement.

It is on full moon nights that these three trees assume a strange beauty that is ghostly, almost sinister, as the dark draperies of moss heave and flutter overhead, responding with rustling sighs to every breeze from the river.

Text and Photographs by Jerry Raynor

LIKE A STRANGE ANIMAL . . . The shape of an amputated limb resembles a tree spirit keeping watch, gazing eternally across the river.

GNARLED LIMBS . . . silhouetted against the sky give an impression that borders on the eerie.

Worry Clinic Pastor Doubles Membership

Dr. Hulse is a superb pulpit psychologist. But he also knows how to prevent children from becoming hippies in their late teens! So discuss this case in Sunday School. For hippies are usually trained that way by parental sins of omission! Dr. Spool's permissive doctrine is wrong!

Crane volunteered to act as my chauffeur. We had an enjoyable weekend. And also observed several ingenious psychological devices to increase the interest of church members. For example, in the hall connecting the sanctuary with the Sunday School wing, was a blackboard.

patients therein. Thus, late hospital admissions, maybe not known to the total membership, would thus be publicized for the sake of their friends.

And a large panel was occupied with color snapshots of all the members of the church. Dr. Hulse says any church can have such pictures made of the entire membership, free of charge, for compilation in a church directory.

The photographic firm in Chicago that does this work, expects to make the venture profitable from the extra orders by various families of their own pictures.

Also, a large map of the United States hung on the wall. Strings were attached to thumb tacks into various cities.

And on the far end of each string was a different bulletin to show all the other churches visited by Bashford members during their summer vacations. Also, a large cross on the front lawn is kept lighted at night.

Recently a 10-year-old boy, coming home from grammar school, kicked the large white glass reflector and smashed it. A neighbor saw the boy commit this act of vandalism and recognized him.

Dr. Hulse later walked down the street a couple of blocks and knocked at the house where the boy lived.

The lad's mother opened the door and Dr. Hulse introduced himself as pastor of the Methodist church up the street. "Oh, we are Lutherans," she smiled, "so we couldn't attend your church."

"That isn't what I came for," replied Dr. Hulse. "In fact, I just want to see your son Freddy."

When Freddy was called into the parlor, Dr. Hulse said:

"Freddy, why did you smash the reflector light in front of our church? A neighbor saw you do it and reported your name to me."

Freddy looked abashed; then finally confessed:

"The other kids dared me to do it."

Freddy's father had arrived by now, so he stuck his hand into his pocket and quickly said:

"Dr. Hulse, I'll be glad to pay for the damages." But Dr. Hulse demurred, saying he wanted Freddy to pay for his own mistake by mowing lawns, washing windows and doing other chores, so he could drop in every week and pay the church secretary 25 cents to 50 cents till the sum of $6.75 was reached." Freddy's father wisely agreed, so Freddy will not be likely to join the hippie crowd when he is of college age! For Freddy is being taught to pay his own way! Bravo, Dr.

Hulse! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

4 ♠      Pass    5 NT      Pass
6 ♠      Pass    Pass      Pass

Opening lead: Jack of ♣. Even the West did not uncover the killing diamond lead against South's six heart contract, declarer unleashed a brilliant stroke to mislead his opponent and score up the vulnerable slam. It might be interesting for the reader to try his hand at uncovering South's method — before proceeding further.

North's jump response to three no trump over his partner's demand bid, shows 8 or 9 points but no aces. When South rebid four hearts, North made a slam try by overbidding the game in hearts. South realized that the partnership was off the ace of diamonds, and success would depend on the spade finesse. He was willing to take a shot at a slam on 50-50 odds and he proceeded to six hearts.

West opened the jack of clubs and declarer paused to assess his prospects. If the spade finesse failed, the opposition would be in position to cash the setting trick in diamonds. In order to enhance his position should West turn up with the king of spades, South chose to put up the queen of clubs from dummy. East covered with the king and declarer was in with the ace.

A small heart was led over to the nine and the jack of spades was returned and permitted to ride when East followed with the six. West won the trick with the king and having observed declarer's apparent attempt to win the opening lead with dummy's queen of clubs, West attempted to cash the ten of that suit to score the setting trick.

South ruffed in his hand, drew trump with two more pulls and then ran the spades — discarding all of dummy's diamonds. The deuce of diamonds was ruffed out and declarer claimed his slam.

South had nothing to lose by putting up the queen of clubs at trick one even if East did not have the king, for the only true play was in finding the king of spades outside. Whether or not West should have shifted to a diamond when he was in, I will leave to the reader's judgment. Declarer did everything he could to throw his opponent off the right track. Who could ask for more?

Awards . . .

Her Oscar was accepted for her by Juliet Mills, who said Miss Jackson would be "terribly thrilled," adding, "she's 100 per cent a professional."

Miss Hayes' Oscar for her role as an airliner stowaway in "Airport" was her second in 39 years. She won as best actress in "The Sin of Madelon Claudet" in 1932.

In Washington, D.C., preparing to appear in a play, she said, "Isn't it marvelous! I can't believe this is all happening. Wouldn't it be awful if they called me in the morning and said they got the wrong envelope?"

Miss Hayes noted that out of the 10 nominations for "Airport" here was the only Oscar. "Well, I don't like that, but I'm glad, doubly glad I got it," she said.

John Mills, who won the supporting actor award as the mute village idiot in "Ryan's Daughter," wore a black sling supporting his left hand, injured recently in a London cab-door accident.

He said he was "utterly unprepared" to win and, referring to his role in the movie, "was speechless for a year but I want to say I think it was a wonderful choice. I'm very thrilled."

Besides the presentation formalities before a worldwide television audience, including NBC's estimated 70 million in the United States, there were other dramatic moments:

The standing ovation for Lillian Gish, spritely in her 70s, and wearing a white gown, as Melvyn Douglas told her: "Come and get your long overdue Oscar."

Presenting a special award citing her for long service to acting, Douglas called her "the youngest person in the theater in terms of zest, enthusiasm and sheer physical strength." He said she has been "an enduring artist since the birth of movies."

Miss Gish who said she was "speechless . . . for this wonderful tribute," gestured with the fervor of old-time silent movies and said in a quavering voice: "Oh, the charming ghosts I feel around me who should share this!"

Gregory Peck presenting the Jean Hersholt Humanitarian Award to Frank Sinatra, calling the recently retired singer-actor "the current title holder in the soft-touch division." Peck said Sinatra had "given away his talent at hundreds of benefits."

Thunderously applauded, the smiling Sinatra said it was the top moment of his life. "I've been wondering why you have to get famous to get an award," he added, noting that the unknown also do humanitarian deeds. "If your name is John Doe, what you get is tired."

Director John Huston presented a special award citing Orson Welles for long service to film arts. He praised Welles' "glowing performances, the inspiration of his direction" and calling him "that most difficult of God's creation, a genius."

The absent Welles, responding on film, said, "God willing, I'm going to make some movies that deserve it."

The Irvin Thalberg Award for consistent excellence of his films went to Swedish director Ingmar Bergman, likewise absent, and reported in the Baltic area writing a script.

Riot Troops On Guard At Prison

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP) — About 130 riot-trained troops surrounded a cell block held by 500 rebellious convicts in Kingston prison today as efforts continued to free six guards held hostage since Wednesday night.

The troops were brought in Thursday night for "perimeter guard duty" and were ordered to avoid any confrontation that could lead to bloodshed. The prisoners warned against any attempt to storm the cell block.

Five members of a citizens committee of prominent Canadians designated by the convicts to hear their grievances talked with the prisoners until 3 a.m. A committee spokesman said some progress had been made.

Wedding In Rose Garden Chosen By Tricia Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tricia Nixon has chosen the White House rose garden for her June 12 wedding and is considering live television coverage.

About 400 guests, mainly family friends and relatives, will be invited to the marriage ceremony of the President's elder daughter and Harvard law student Edward Finch Cox.

In event of rain, the ceremony will be moved to the East Room inside the executive mansion where seven other Presidents' daughters have been married.

Details of the ceremony were announced Thursday by Connie Stuart, Mrs. Nixon's press secretary.

The matron of honor and best man have yet to be named, but it's thought they likely will be Julie Nixon Eisenhower and the prospective groom's brother, Howard Ellis Cox Jr.

Tricia has chosen Bill Harrington's 10-piece orchestra to provide dancing music in the East Room. Mrs. Stuart said the selection will range from "nostalgic to modern and will include favorite tunes of Tricia and Ed."

Harrington also played for President Nixon's 1969 inaugural ball and at the wedding receptions for Julie and David Eisenhower and David's sister, Barbara Ann Eisenhower, and her husband, Fernando Echeverria-Urbe.

Mrs. Stuart said wedding guests will be received in the Blue Room and take refreshments in the state dining room. The bridal party will descent the curving south portico staircase and walk along a grassy center aisle to an altar set up on the west end of the 18th Century garden which should be alive with blooming flowers.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Edward Gardiner Latch, chaplain of the House of Representatives.

"We are considering offering portions of the wedding for coverage on television," Mrs. Stuart said. "We're considering everything."
