

Some D.C. Traffic Tied Up

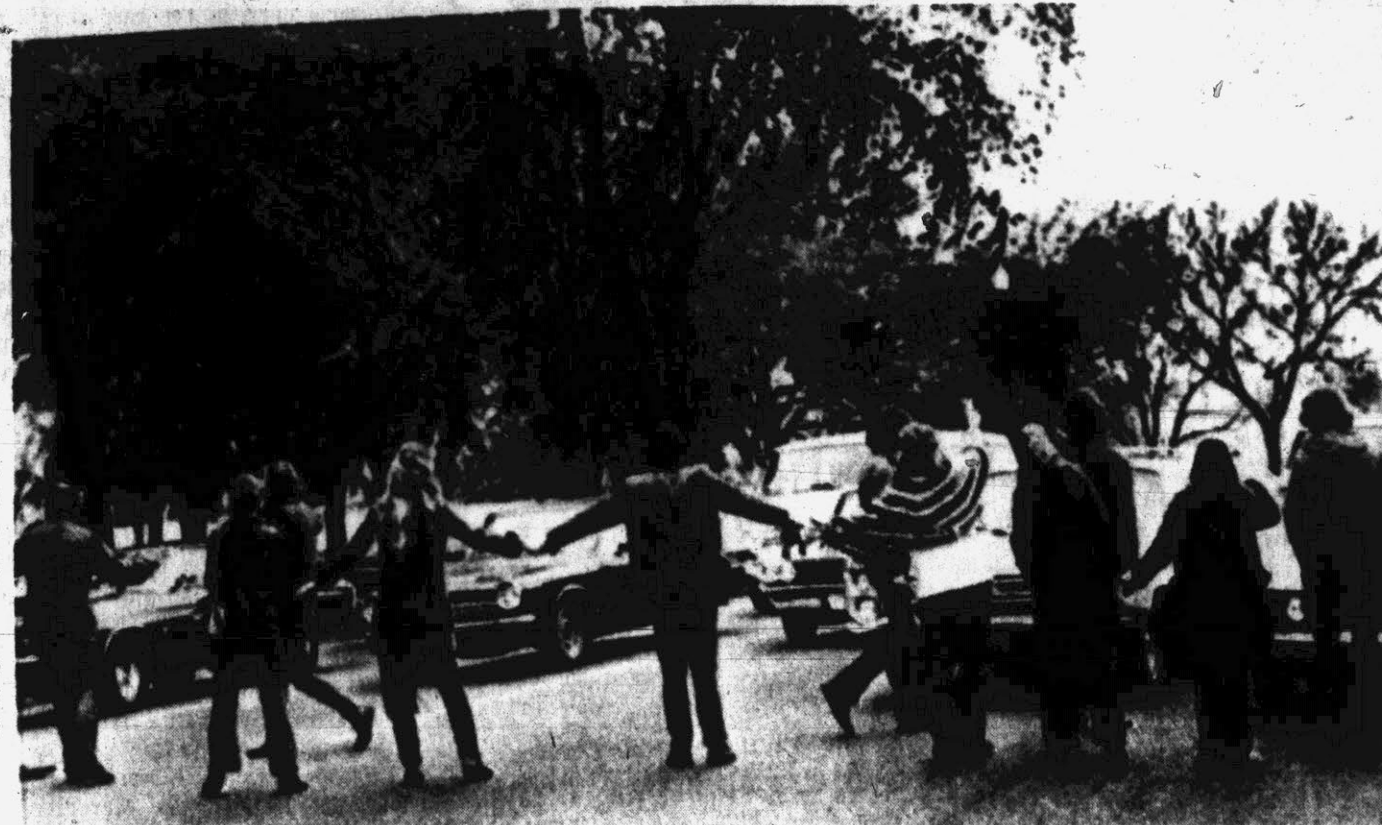

Disruptors, Police In Repeated Clashes

By LEE BYRD
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Thousands of antiwar demonstrators trying to paralyze the nation's government clashed repeatedly with police and snarled rush-hour traffic on some city streets today.

ing four Potomac River bridges and marching on the Pentagon. But the protesters tied up traffic in the Georgetown and downtown areas by hurling debris—and in some cases themselves—onto the streets in dozens of locations. Some vehicles were overturned and other set afire.

Lining up the four major bridges linking Virginia with the capital were an estimated 2,000 marines and Army troops, standing almost shoulder to shoulder and holding rifles with sheathed bayonets.

Some motorists said they were 30 minutes to 45 minutes late reaching work, but others who left home early met no delays. A bus driver said he was running an hour late on his route from the suburbs.

Polls Open Tomorrow At 2 Centers In Greenville

Routine Session

Only routine business was conducted by Pitt County Commissioners at their regular monthly meeting this morning. Commissioners heard reports from various departments and agencies of the county, and approved investment totaling $753,539.17 in county funds in certificates of deposits with two county banks.

Tomorrow is election day again. For the May 4 municipal elections, voters will be able to go to the polls beginning at 6:30 a. m. at two polling places. For citizens living west of Evans Street, their votes will be cast at the Main Fire Station on West Fifth Street.

Gov Scott Presses Plea For Tolerance Leadership

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) - North Carolina Gov. Bob Scott said today he counts himself among those Southern governors who are "urging the citizenry toward a new South that could lead the earth in tolerance."

Scott said the state's public institutions tend to be "large and rigidly departmentalized" and will move slowly because they regard curricular change as a threat.

Some of us realize, however, that the traditions which we have exalted do not serve the gentler ideals at today's students," he said.

COVINGTON, Ga. (AP) - Ten youngsters piled into Danny Henderson's "new" car for a Sunday ride. Nine of them died a short time later when a freight train slammed into the compact auto and dragged it almost a mile.

"They never knew what hit them," Newton County Coroner San Cowan said. "I was in the first ambulance to arrive and, at first glance, I didn't see how there could be any survivors."

All of the youngsters lived within a few blocks of one another in Covington, 35 miles east of Atlanta. The State Patrol said Henderson had acquired the car less than three weeks ago.

False Economy?

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Treasury is losing about $1.5 billion in revenue because the Internal Revenue Service was required to make manpower and spending economies which save only $250 million, IRS Commissioner Randolph W. Thrower says.

Netted $8,007 In Local March Of Dimes

Greenville's 1971 March of Dimes campaign netted $8,007.09 in the recently concluded collection effort, showing a significant increase of $1,443.64 over the amount collected in 1970.

The major collection effort was that of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps at East Carolina University, who through their projects for the March of Dimes raised a total of $3,881.00, a record high for them.

Woman Is Chief Resident At Pennsylvania Hospital

By WILLIAM BAPPLER
Associated Press Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Like many young professional women, Dr. Helen Smits thinks the Women's Liberation Movement is a healthy thing. But rather than express her feelings with outbursts of emotion, Dr. Smits has gone her own way and made a small but noteworthy contribution to the feminists.

Since last June, Dr. Smits has been chief resident in medicine at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital, where she is in charge of 26 interns, 24 first-year residents and 15 second-year residents—all men.

So far, Dr. Smits—the first woman chief resident in medicine in the hospital's 100-year history—has encountered no trouble from the males she oversees.

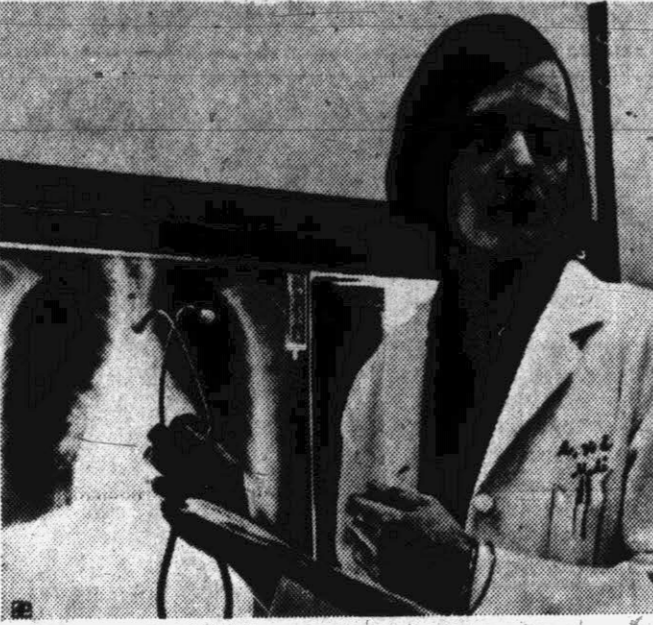

"Some of them were uncomfortable about the idea at first," she said. "But most people in the field of medicine are mature enough to see that many arguments proposed by the feminist movement are legitimate.

"Big social changes are taking place as far as women are concerned," she added. "The result will be that women will have to make big adjustments. The important thing will be just as much to change women's attitudes about themselves as to change men's attitudes."

It wasn't with the thought of changing attitudes that Dr. Smits entered the male-dominated medical field. Rather, she simply "wanted to do something more practical" than her degrees in English literature from Swarthmore and Yale had enabled her to do.

She rekindled an interest in the natural sciences that she had nurtured through high school, and enrolled in some science courses at Harvard. Then it was back to Yale, this time to medical school, from which she graduated in 1967.

Dr. Smits then interned at the University of Pennsylvania Hospital and a year later became an assistant resident there. Last year was spent as a fellow at Beth Israel Hospital in Boston, where she specialized in infectious diseases within the field of internal medicine.

"Infectious diseases," she said, "include anything that's contagious—including the common cold."

Psychiatrist Says Women Should Have Careers That Appeal To Them

NEW YORK (AP) — Women should disregard "old shibboleths" about traditional female careers and go into those that appeal to them and in which they can grow, urges a psychiatrist on the board of the New York Academy of Medicine.

"The capability of women in the technical fields has long since been demonstrated," says Dr. Colter Rule, adding that the growing need for health professionals makes opportunities in

She Prefers 'Sack Of Eyelashes To Pot Of Gold'

By RENA M. PEDERSON
DALLAS (UPI)—False eyelashes for men? Why not? asks a slender blonde who now makes 1,000 different kinds of eyelashes for women.

"If their eyes stand out more it's a definite business advantage because men often judge each other by the look in their eyes," says Inga Borg.

Inga says she would rather have a sack full of eyelashes than a pot of gold.

But that's practically the same thing in her case since she sells 50 million pairs of them a month at luxury prices.

"All women look so much better with a little extra warmth around the eyes," Inga said. "As he kisses you goodbye he needs to look into your eyes. He doesn't care if they're yours or not as long as they are pretty."

Wide-Ranging Prices

Prices for her eyelashes range from $25 to $500 for diamond lashes to $4,000 a pair for tailor-made-with-your-own-hair varieties. Her new collection for Neiman-Marcus even has pink and blue and frosted fashions for dressy occasions.

She says her lashes are made of a very fine synthetic hair and are applied under and not over the woman's own eyelashes.

"Anyone who wears mascara is skilled enough to put them on. You just pat on a glue—which I invented myself of brandy and sugar—and dab them on.

"Paradoxically the glue holds the lashes in place while swimming or even surfing, you can easily pull them off with a light motion of the thumb and forefinger."

For cleaning the lashes Inga invented her own fluid to dissolve muck, mascara and glue and leave the lashes fluffy and soft as new.

"It's like a good leather shoe, the more you use them the better they are. They should last you a lifetime," she said.

Tells of Success

Inga tells of her success story in a soft voice while she deftly shapes and snips at piles of lashes, which lay like dozens of centipedes on the glass counter.

She spent three-and-a-half years in a concentration camp during World War II and then worked as a photographer's model in Germany.

From modeling Inga went into the charm school business and built up 10 schools in Germany and 15 in Canada. She also had her own television show.

"But it was so exhausting. I decided to unmask my secret and market my eyelashes," she said.

Until recently she marketed her lashes and accessories from Hollywood, New York, London and West Germany. Now she is headquartered at Neiman Marcus in Dallas, where she lives with her two daughters, Inga Jr., 11, and Inga II, 12.

Luncheon Held By Book Club

The Chicora Book Club met at the home of Mrs. Donald Tucker for its mother-daughter luncheon. Mrs. Jerry Sutherland and Mrs. John Farley were co-hostesses.

Members and guests played bridge with Mrs. W. H. Collier as high scorer. Mrs. Walter Perkins was second high winner and Mrs. Guy Smith won consolation.

A short meeting was held followed by a luncheon. Officers nominated for the following year are:

Mrs. Tucker, president; Mrs. George Coffman, vice president; Mrs. Jack Whichard, secretary; Mrs. Perkins, treasurer; Mrs. Louis Clark, librarian.

Guests for the meeting were Mrs. John Clark Sr., Mrs. Herbert Waldrop, Mrs. Reid Perkins, Mrs. S. W. Dunn Sr., Mrs. William Taft Sr., Mrs. Ed Batchelor, Mrs. Lyman Ormond Jr.

Mrs. A. C. Tadlock, Mrs. John Adams Sr., Mrs. Charles White Sr., Mrs. Lindsay Wilkerson, Mrs. Celeste Fountain, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell Sr., Mrs. Guy Smith Sr., Mrs. Boley Farley, Mrs. A. L. Tucker and Mrs. W. H. Collier Jr.

But in Dr. Smits's opinion, there are more important goals to conquer than finding a cure for colds.

"Doctors should help keep people from getting sick," she said. "Now, we (society) reward doctors for people getting sick. In the long run," she added, "we should reward them for keeping people well."

FOOT NOTES OF INTEREST

New Styles

Did you know that the new shoe designs offer you the ultimate in variety? Designers have truly out-done themselves in styling and where the clever use of ornamentation is concerned. Combinations of materials add to the richness of the new shoes. Trims of many types make the fashions truly exciting.

Then too, tremendous imagination has been used in styling the many different heels. This is also true of the general shapes of the new shoes.

There is one thing they all have in common. They ALL possess smartness and accent the modern. And, of course they are all created with comfort PLUS high fashion in mind.

So, whether you prefer the classic pump or you're intrigued by the ultra new, you'll find them all in the new collections.

Mother's Day More Than A Gift

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I hardly know how to word this letter but I will give it a try. It will soon be Mother's Day again, and I hope my children won't buy me something because they think it is their duty. I would rather have a pack of chewing gum if they bought it because they love me and were thinking of me. So many gifts are bought for Mother's Day more out of sense of duty than for love.

I have a lovely gift that my son gave me last Mother's Day and I haven't had the heart to take it out of the box because he just ran in and handed it to me, saying he had to go back to his mother in law's. The gift is expensive, but I had rather he spent a few hours with me than to buy me a present. That is why it is still in the box, untouched.

MAMMA: SAVANNAH, GA.

DEAR ABBY: My seven-year-old son, when told he was adopted, asked the inevitable question: "Then, Mamma, does that mean you're not my real mother?"

"Well, let's see," I said. "Here, pinch me real hard and we'll see if I'm real or not." He pinched, I squealed, and we both had a good laugh. A happy, frank discussion followed.

But the most wonderful part is that this precious son of mine has TWO mothers. I have had the privilege of rocking him, feeding him and watching him grow into an adorable seven-year-old. Yes, I am his "real" mother and don't you dare to call me less!

But no less real is the little girl who refused to have an abortion, insisting, "This little life inside me has as much right to live as I." The little girl who looked the social worker in the eye and said, "This adoption will work, because I am doing it for his sake, and I don't ever intend to hurt him by interfering with his life." That brave little girl has been true to her world for seven years.

Some day when he is grown to a big, strapping six-footer, if his appearance in her life would not hurt the children she is now bearing for herself, I should be happy to think that I had so taught him to love and respect the thought of her, that he would take her in his big arms and whisper, "Mother, I love you."

She has every right to his love. And he will be a better man if he proves wise enough to know it.

HIS OTHER MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: Not too long ago, a young boy celebrated his 14th birthday. I'm sure he had a birthday cake. He actually had two because I also baked him one and put 14 candles on it!

This boy was born to me out of wedlock. I was 17 years old, and decided it would best for Stevie if I gave him up for adoption. Stevie is not his name now, but that's the name I gave him for the short time he was mine. I have no regrets because I know that my son has a wonderful home with parents who love him. To them I want to say, thank you for opening up your hearts and home to my son. I send my dearest love to you, and him.

STEVIE'S OTHER MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: Hooray for that little old frugal lady who carries a plastic bag in her purse for her leftovers when wealthy friends invite her to high-classed restaurants.

I am also a widow on a tight budget, and my wealthy friends taught me to carry a plastic bag in my purse. I know a woman who not only takes home her leftover meat, but her uneaten rolls and bits of parsley as well. Why not?

A Time To Pick Best-Qualified

Tomorrow citizens of Greenville will go to the polls to choose the six councilmen and a mayor who will guide the city government for the next two years.

With the rapid developments that are taking place here every voter should consider carefully the qualifications of each of the candidates.

The polls will open at 6:30 a.m. and close at 6:30 p.m.

Persons living on the west side of Evans Street will vote at the main fire station, while those living east of Evans cast their ballots at Elm Street Park gymnasium.

We think a greater effort has been made this year to make the candidates views known to the public than ever before. The Daily Reflector carried statements from each candidate in a full page a week ago. The candidates have also been invited to appear at several forums, including one which climaxed the campaign sponsored by the League of Women Voters last Thursday.

In addition the very active league prepared a candidates questionnaire in which each candidate was given the opportunity to answer questions of various local issues. This fine effort was published and distributed throughout the city.

It is not our purpose here to tell individual voters who they should choose when they go to the polls tomorrow. The Daily Reflector has taken stands in favor of Central Business District redevelopment, better thoroughfares through and around the city, recreation improvements, public transportation and other matters when we felt they were of benefit to all our citizens.

Now, however, all voters should take the information about each of the candidates that is available to them and decide which of the candidates are best suited to carry out progressive programs for Greenville.

None of us will agree with every candidate on every issue, but all of us must choose those who we feel are best qualified for the positions. We need the most qualified people we can find to lead our city government for the next two years. It is up to each of us as citizens to study all the platforms of candidates and make the best choices possible.

Scent Victory In Second Try

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Victory denied the first time out may yet be gained the second time around.

That legislative fact of life apparently is going to bring to North Carolina a more liberal abortion law and the opportunity for a trial run on liquor-by-the-drink.

Both were defeated in the form they were initially put before the current General Assembly. Modified versions of each already have passed the House, and are on the way to enactment by the Senate.

What it indicates, said Rep. Jack Rhyne of Gaston, is something of the Tar Heel

Amending the law will make it less vulnerable to court attack, and also will help block an effort in the next General Assembly for a further liberalization, Rhyne speculated.

Senate Favor Seen

Senate committee and floor action is the next step. Prospects there are favorable, according to Senator Claude Currie of Durham, chairman of the Health Committee which has approved the bill. Jones' bill passed the committee, but met defeat on the Senate floor.

"I can't think there'd really be any serious opposition," Currie said. "But then, I'm an optimist and sometimes optimists take it on the chin."

The Senate acted favorably on the Moore County liquor-by-the-drink bill. There's a possibility similar bills will come in for other counties.

Whether they also will sail through is in doubt. Several legislators have said they'd like to see the Moore County bill set the stage for a pilot program, and indicated they'd oppose any other measures of the kind.

A feeling that the mood was right led Rhyne to send up his amendment to the abortion statute in the wake of the failure of Jones' bill. "It took a great deal of nerve and prayer to reach the conclusion it was the thing to do," he said.

He listened to both sides of the earlier debate. He favored present restrictions, and feared their loss if a court suit between sessions should invalidate the law.

Presentiment of Success

Too, he was confident the bill he had in mind would be successful. "I knew it would pass," Rhyne said. "I don't know how I knew, but I knew."

Intuition is the best word he has for it, but it's not that simple. It's second nature for him to sound out fellow legislators, and take readings on sentiment.

"Representative" is the exact description of the legislative process, as he sees it, and the job voters elected him to do. "It's not 'Jack's General Assembly,' but the 'North Carolina General Assembly,'" he said. "We represent the people and we've got to know what they're thinking."

He finds out when he's home in Belmont on weekends by getting out on Main Street, listening to people. What they say helps determine how he casts his vote.

Rhyne voted with the majority to retain capital punishment in recent House debate on that issue. He has a hunch the legislature would approve abolishment of the death penalty for all but those crimes in which life has been taken, but he won't introduce that second-time-around bill. "Too many other matters are pressing upon us," he explained.

Moore County Bill Is Not Local Legislation

There can be little doubt that the law enacted by the Legislature allowing a liquor-by-the-drink referendum in Moore County is more than local legislation.

The Moore County law will serve as a pattern for other counties desiring referendums on liquor-by-the-drink.

It is certain that mixed drinks will not remain limited to Moore County alone in North Carolina, if voters there approve of it.

There are other counties which strongly desire the chance to vote on this matter and they backed the Moore County bill to serve as a pilot for similar legislation affecting their own counties.

Soviets Flank Our Safeguard

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Just two years after its approval in the most bruising legislative battle of the 91st Congress, President Nixon's Safeguard anti-ballistic missile (ABM) program is now threatened with obsolescence by the dangerous pace of Soviet nuclear missileery.

As a result, defense planners are on the verge of a crash program to make the U.S. long-range missile force mobile, possibly by putting part of the force of giant missiles on sea barges and keeping it moving.

Other alternatives are an immediate increase in the present force of offensive missiles (held to 1,054 for almost four years now) or a stepped-up program to "hard site" the existing offensive missile force, giving it extra protection in addition to Safeguard.

Either way, Congress will almost certainly be asked for a large supplemental appropriation, possibly as high as one billion dollars.

The threat of obsolescence to Safeguard is now under top secret analysis at the highest levels of the Nixon administration. It is based on an intelligence estimate, most of it gathered by U.S. spy satellites, that new Soviet offensive missiles may soon proliferate to the point that they could overwhelm the entire complex of Safeguard ABMs now under construction at three sites in Montana, North Dakota, and Missouri (a fourth site either in Washington, D. C., or at Warren Air Force Base in Wyoming is included in the new defense budget).

Strength For Today

LET'S USE OUR BRAINS

How can it be possible that in this wonderful world of ours nations still rise against nation, people of one continent rise against those of another and lunge at their throats.

We ought to have better sense. To say this is not to advocate pacifism, because the world being as it is we will have to be protectively armed for decades, and perhaps centuries, ahead. Think of the wars we won. Or did we? It usually happens that the so-called "victorious nation" does not really win the war at all for most of the war's issues are settled not on the battlefield but around a conference table.

Think of the young men who in the past century or more have laid down their lives for their country. We can never thank them enough. Just as we have to have policemen today or else be submerged in crime, so we have to have soldiers to keep us from international assaults. But God will make wars to cease unto the end of the earth (Psalm 46:9).

Domestic Security Risk

WASHINGTON — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell believes the Justice Department should have the right to tap people's lines without a court order.

He maintains it is the responsibility of the executive branch of government to listen in on domestic dissidents in the same manner that they listen in on foreign elements.

"I don't see how we can separate the two," Mitchell said, "but if it were possible, I would say that experience has shown greater danger from the so-called domestic variety."

Now anyone in this country has to agree that Mitchell has a point. The real problem is, "What domestic dissidents should the attorney general be permitted to listen in on without a court order?"

"In trying to find the answer to this problem, I talked to an expert in the field of constitutional phone tapping.

Dr. Hiram Cogsweller, a professor of philosophical eavesdropping at the J. Edgar Hoover Community College of Law and Order said, "Anyone who attacks the fundamental institutions of this country should be tapped."

"I imagine that would include people who have called for the abolishment of the Supreme Court?"

"It certainly does."

"And accused the court of being nine old men who didn't know what they were doing?"

"That was exactly the type of person the attorney general had in mind."

"And called up senator's wives and threatened them if their husbands didn't vote for Judge Carswell for the Supreme Court?"

"Yes, that would rate a phone tap."

"And told the editor of a newspaper in Arkansas that a United States senator should be strangled?"

"We want to know everything we can about that sort of person."

"And is out to get Mrs. Nixon's press secretary fired?"

"You're painting the perfect picture of a domestic subversive," Cogsweller said.

"And is followed night and day by an FBI man?"

"It's part of the pattern," he agreed. "A person like that could destroy this country from within."

"Suppose this person was married to a high government official. Wouldn't it be dangerous for the country if we didn't tap her line?"

"If the person you describe is married to a high government official, then the attorney general would not be doing his job if he didn't listen in on every one of her phone calls. This is a security risk case of the highest order."

"Suppose this person, to keep her husband from knowing about her telephone calls, made them from the bathroom?"

"Domestic subversives tend to do that sort of thing," Cogsweller agreed. "The attorney general would be in his rights to tap the bathroom phone as well."

"What if she wanted to send all the students in the country to Russia?"

"We would have to know what she has in mind. The security of the nation could be at stake."

"Suppose she hates Washington and all it stands

Realignment of congressional and legislative districts is a legal requisite immediately following each decennial census, and the North Carolina Legislature is presently in the throes of that ordeal. It is mandatory under Federal law as a means of assuring all areas equal representation on the basis of population.

Many localities are meticulous about getting what they think is coming to them by way of avoiding being pushed aside to their detriment and to benefit of neighbors. It is true in administering the process for representation in Congress and in the Legislature. Committees of the Legislature have been busy in efforts to herd the counties together to the best advantage in all parts of the State, and are about ready to submit their recommendations to Senate and House. There have been objections and will likely be others. But a way out must be found, or else Federal courts will step in as they threatened to do after the 1960 census.

Time was when all manner of moves were made in gerrymandering to line up the counties in favor of one party or the other. Apparently there has been less of that this year. The Democrats repeatedly shifted Rep. Jonas, Republican, from one district to another in an effort some years ago to put together a combination of counties that would deprive him of his seat in the House. But no matter how carefully they maneuvered, Jonas has always won. He is so firmly entrenched that at times he has had no opposition within either his own party or from the Democrats. The latter just gave up and conceded Jonas' election as sure.

Legislative committees appear to have agreed on their plan of realignment, but the measure still faces possible floor flights in both houses over the decennial juggling.

May's Business Prospect Fair

By ELMER ROESSNER

May will see a continuation of the same business uncertainties of the last two months. There will be a mixture of sports and slip backs, probably averaging a bit on the plus side.

Employment will rise in actual numbers, but perhaps not so much on a seasonally adjusted basis. It will be aided by the weather, which will enable a step-up in construction and other outdoor projects. The rise in home building will be accelerated, as will highway construction and other outdoor projects.

Prices will keep on rising. Somebody has been kidding President Nixon into believing that the end of inflation is in sight. It isn't. Wages are rising at an undiminished rate. The threat of a wage and price freeze is a factor. Labor wants to establish substantial gains, running through 1973, before a freeze, if any, is ordered.

And, because the cost of living will continue to rise, labor is not to blame. Note that the government is trying to firm up farm prices, and that means higher food prices. Rising taxes also push up prices of everything, and profits they have been enjoying and the demand for funds, stimulated by the government's boom-at-any-cost policies, will make it practical for banks to charge more. It's the old law of supply and demand.

A rise in the prime rate affects all interest rates, from consumer loans to factors' fees.

Slight Comfort

As bank rates declined recently, many people have become fearful—that dividends on savings deposits would be reduced. Some have been shifting to tax-exempt bonds; others have switched to E Bonds. And banks have been taking advantage of the fear, offering guarantees of interest rates on term deposits.

However, the strength of the prime rate will assure savers of stability of interest rates.

Travel and vacation reservations in May will provide a strong clue as to whether consumers are ready to start spending again.

But airlines and resorts have been hard hit by consumers' reluctance to spend. Four luxury hotels in Puerto Rico have been closed and hotels all over the world have been hard hit. Most airlines are running at a loss because vacationers and business have cut back.

If May reservations show strength, it will be a good indication that all consumer spending will rise again.

The battle between scheduled airlines and charter-flight organizers will intensify. BOAC has already moved to cut transatlantic fares and, if successful, will surely be followed by other airlines. Meanwhile, the lines are demanding that the Federal Aviation Administration and the Civil Aeronautic Authority strengthen and enforce controls over charter flights.

One demand is that charter flight organizers post bonds to insure they get groups there and back.

Bygone Days 'Best'

By JOY STILLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Like everything else, they just don't make Mothers Days any more like they used to.

Not that I won't get my share of presents this year. In fact, now that my kids are earning money on their own I'm very likely to be generously remembered.

But the nicest floral arrangement, the tastiest assortment of candy or the most fashionable wearables can't compare with the gifts I received from my children when they were little.

Nothing they can ever give me in the future will come up to those objects made by loving hands at school.

After all, how can you run a household properly without a napkin holder made of one paper plate and one-half a paper plate stabled together, complete with crayon designs and a string for hanging?

And how can you keep your shoes shining without a soft blue polishing cloth with "Mother" spelled out in red basting stitches? What mom would not proudly wear a ruff-like bar pin made of toothpicks stuck together, emblazoned with her name laboriously glued thereto in macaroni letters?

There's no finer place to keep jewelry than in a box, created from gilded ice cream sticks, which looks somewhat like a gouter log cabin with a roof that lifts off.

Sometimes there were tears along with the laughter on Mothers Day. One year my daughter had made a plaster of paris cast of her hand in her first-grade class. She was so excited at the presentation ceremony that she dropped it. The plaque was shattered and so was she.

On a happier occasion my son, then nearing 5, presented me with an interesting but unidentifiable object. It was a tiny basketlike affair, made of several layers of crimped aluminum foil with a silver-ball keychain for a handle.

He insisted on knowing if I realized what treasures beheld and seemed a bit crestfallen when I couldn't come up with the answer.

"It's a walnut holder," he said proudly. "It holds just one walnut."

LEADERSHIP

April 29, 1971

Voters of Greenville:

I have a habit, be it good or bad, of speaking out on issues that I feel will involve the orderly progressive growth and development of my home town. I, admittedly, have been researching data about our coming local elections and have discussed various ideas with others that are not candidates but are vitally interested in the growth of Greenville. However, until tonight, although I had rough drafts of articles I might discuss, I did not have a finished draft to present.

Tonight I read in our local paper an ad "Greenville Voters." This ad is presumably an explanation of the Central Business District issue or that of the side presented by our present mayor, Frank Wooten. This article, in my personal opinion, is the most ambiguous, distorted piece of writing that I have ever had the "privilege" to read in our local newspaper. Because of this ad I feel compelled to present to the voters facts that can be easily verified by a trip to the City Hall and a review of the minutes of our City Council and Commissioners of our local government.

First, let me say that I have discussed the "Central Business District" issue with the Advisory Board of the Central Business District and I understand they are presenting the real facts about the CBD issue. I urge you to read it.

A review of the minutes of the City Council meetings during the past two years reveals the leadership (?) supplied by Mayor Wooten during this time. Mayor Wooten attended 47 of 49 Council meetings. Other than for routine administrative comments, Mayor Wooten is recorded as making only 15 statements, suggestions or recommendations.

Eight of these items were subjects as follows! Bus service, closing time for Western Union, Capital Reserve Fund for the City, Welcome signs at entrance of Greenville, special appropriation for the Art Center, City Manager to work with the Parking Authority to implement their duties, purchase of an ad in the Wake Forrest Law Review and finally, in a resolution reference legislation providing for a run off election in the event that no candidate for office of Mayor receive a majority of the votes cast, Mayor Wooten expressed that the amendment apply to Council Members also.

Two items were commendations: one to the City Manager reference the Council Chambers and the other to Miss Copeland and the Library Board.

Five Statements were recorded regarding the Redevelopment Commission and Central Business District project.

This is an actual summary of the statements subject matter made by Mayor Wooten. He was actually only recorded as making statements on about eleven different items of subject matter, other than routine administrative comments. Is this the type of leadership you, as a citizen, desire of your Mayor?

To expound on this further, did you know that the office of the Mayor was so little used that it has been converted to a Conference Room? Our present Mayor rarely ever appears at the City Hall to check on or with the City Manager about the continuing business of the City. For the most part he only comes in when a definite meeting is scheduled.

The City has many appointed Commissions and Committees of which the Mayor is an ex-officio member. The following is a list of these Committees and the Mayor's attendance record as obtained in review of their meetings.

The City-County Planning and Zoning Commission, of which Mayor Wooten is a member, has had 3 meetings. Mayor Wooten was present once.

The Planning and Zoning Commission, of which Mayor Wooten is a member, has had 23 meetings. Mayor Wooten attended one of these meetings.

The Redevelopment Commission of the City of Greenville has had 38 meetings. Mayor Wooten has attended one of these meetings.

The Housing Authority of the City of Greenville has had 22 meetings. Mayor Wooten attended none of these meetings.

The Board of Adjustments has had 34 meetings. Mayor Wooten was present at none of these meetings.

The Pitt County - City of Greenville Airport Authority has had 20 meetings. Mayor Wooten attended none of these meetings.

The Recreation Commission has had 19 meetings. Mayor Wooten was present at none of these meetings.

The Greenville Utilities Commission has had 30 meetings. Mayor Wooten did not attend any of these meetings.

The Sheppard Memorial Library Board has had 15 meetings. Mayor Wooten was present at none of these meetings.

In all fairness to our Mayor, each of the Council members is assigned to cover certain of these Commissions. They have made an honest effort to attend as many as possible.

It is my understanding, Mayor Wooten and Councilman Cox accepted the Redevelopment Commission and Housing Authority meetings. Councilman Cox is recorded as attending many of these meetings.

Mayor Wooten attended one (1) meeting out of 38 meetings of the Redevelopment Commission and none of the Housing Authority. These are facts! Yet he, without even going to these meetings and joining in the discussions to help guide the development of their programs, has filed suit against the City of Greenville, the Utilities Commission and the Redevelopment Commission to stop the CBD program. This suit has already cost these three city agencies $10,707.43 through July 31, 1970. An additional billing of $3300.00 is yet to be paid. The suit still has to be decided by the State Supreme Court.

His comments on the CBD project and comments made by an Advisory Committee for the Redevelopment Commission have already been made available to you by Articles in The Daily Reflector. Re-read them. Decide which are facts and which aren't. Then make your decision.

It is his right to disagree with the Council, and all Commissions. It is his right to even file suit. However, as an elected official representing all the people I feel it is his duty to attend at least 30 percent of the meetings of the different Commissions so that he can better understand the problems of the growth of Greenville and be better advised as to supplying leadership to guide in helping solve their problems.

Going back to the original article "Greenville Voters" it ends "Frank M. Wooten, Jr. for Mayor on May 4th, a man who still believes in treating all people and all areas alike." I contend that Frank Wooten's stand on the CBD project is the minority view and by far, not the view of all. He has certainly shown me no cause to feel that he believes in treating all people, and all areas, alike.

In fact, he has yet to show me any real qualities of leadership that I feel are necessary for the job he seeks.

I urge you to read all ads. Try to honestly determine what is fact and what is not. Then decide who you feel can best represent you.

I personally, feel that S. Eugene West has the best qualifications for Mayor of all the Candidates and shall vote for him. You decide who you feel is best qualified and go to the polls and vote.

Greenville Moose Install New Officers For 1971-72 Term

Officers who will serve the Greenville Moose Lodge for the coming year were installed Saturday night by the Deputy Supreme Governor of North Carolina Moose, Marvin Fordham, of Kinston.

Ralph Heindenreich, who served as Governor for the 1970-71 term, will continue to serve the board for another year in the advisory capacity of Past Governor.

Mayo Allen moved up from the Junior Governor's Chair to that of Governor; Prelate Ray Joyner advanced to the Junior Governor's post, and newcomer to the board, Kenneth Jesneck, was installed as Prelate.

Lloyd Wilson is the Treasurer for the coming year; Dr. C. F. McAndrews, E. J. Stokes and Eli Bloom comprise the new Trustees; Edwin M. Baldrice continues as Secretary.

Promotion For Pitt Supervisor

Paul W. Bailey, county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration in Pitt County for the past several years, has been promoted to FHA district supervisor with headquarters in Greensboro.

In making the announcement, James T. Johnson, FHA state director said that Bailey's promotion would be effective today, May 3.

As district supervisor, Bailey will direct all FHA programs in a newly created district comprised of Stokes, Rockingham, Caswell, Forsyth, Guilford, Alamance, Davidson, Randolph and Chatham Counties.

Bailey is a native of Martin County where he graduated from Robersonville High School. He attended North Carolina State University and graduated with a B. S. degree in agriculture. Since joining FHA, Bailey has served in Beaufort, Martin, Onslow and Pitt Counties.

The new supervisor is a member of the Greenville Jaycees and is treasurer of the Pitt County United Fund. He is

Prince's Team Beats Father's

WINDSOR PARK, England (AP) — Prince Charles' polo team, Friar Park, has trounced his father's Windsor Park side 8 to 3½ after conceding half a goal on handicap.

The 22-year-old Prince scored four of his team's tallies Sunday; his father, the Duke of Edinburgh, went scoreless.

Charles' cousin, Prince William of Gloucester, scored one of Windsor Park's goals. The match was in the semifinals of the Rodney Moore Cup.

also a member of Immanuel Baptist Church where he serves as a deacon and brotherhood director.

Bailey is married to the former Rose Massey of Wake Forest and they are the parents of three children, Dee, Paul and Sherri.

Johnson said that FHA loan programs have had a substantial increase in Pitt County under Bailey's leadership as county supervisor. He noted that the Rural Housing Program has grown and the Community Projects program was organized during Bailey's tenure in Pitt County. In addition, the Eastern Pine Water Corp. was initiated and is now in operation and the Bell Arthur Association is now under construction.

The state director said that Bailey's replacement will be made and announced at a later date.

Science Clubs Honoring School

The North Pitt High school is one of 227 high schools in the United States being honored this year with awards for their talented young scientists by Science Clubs of America, the national organization for the encouragement of science talent.

Of these schools, a total of 33 will receive plaques to be added to the school trophy collection. On the plaques are inscribed the names of the seniors who placed among the 40 winners of the 13th annual Science Talent Search for the Westinghouse Science Scholarships and Awards.

Ten winners received one of the following four-year Westinghouse Science Scholarships: one $10,000, two $8,000, three $6,000 and four $4,000. The remaining 30 each received a $250 Westinghouse Science Award, making a grand total of $67,500.

The competition was conducted in 1971 for the 30th time by Science Clubs of America, an activity of Science Service, and supported by the Westinghouse Educational Foundation of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

brand-new system. But whatever the eventual use, their addition to the Soviet force could "destabilize" the existing nuclear parity by outflanking Safeguard.

To understand the reason for that, it is necessary to understand the Safeguard ABM system. Safeguard was sold to Congress as a multi-purpose system: protection of the U.S. offensive Minutemen force; protection against a possible small or accidental nuclear attack; and light area defense. The three sites now under construction, and the fourth possible site at Warren Air Force Base, are all primarily targeted for protection of the Minutemen.

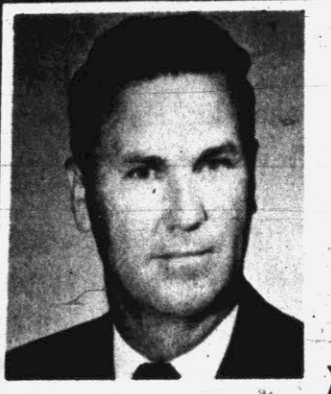

But their ability to provide that protection disappears if the Soviet SS-9 force grows beyond the 400 or so level. Once that happens, the ominous question is whether enough Minutemen missiles would survive a Soviet attack to guarantee the ability to strike back. Without that proven deterrent, the U.S. would be dangerously exposed.

In addition, the Pentagon is already asking Congress for maximum funds to continue development of the new B-1 bomber and the huge submarine-based long-range missile system known as ULMS. But neither of these new systems can possibly be produced fast enough to meet the immediate threat posed by those "tens" of new long-range Soviet missile silos.

Thus, the President will soon feel compelled to embark on a crash program to prevent the U.S. from being forced to accept what Laird calls "a second-rate strategic position." At the moment his defense planners lean toward the option of mobility for the existing force of Minutemen, with seaborne barges far more feasible than land mobility.

The Science Talent Search Plaque, won for the school by Lenwood Scott Heath Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lenwood Heath of Bethel, is the first such plaque presented to the new high school. Heath was named a winner in the Science Talent Search early this year and attended the five-day Science Talent Institute in Washington, D.C., from February 24 through March 1.

I believe that we are lost here in America, but I believe we shall be found. And this belief, which mounts now to the catharsis of knowledge and conviction, is for me—and I think for all of us—not only our own hope, but America's everlasting, living dream. I think the life which we have fashioned in America, and which has fashioned us—the forms we made, the cells that grew, the honeycomb that was created—was self-destructive in its nature, and must be destroyed. I think these forms are dying, and must die, just as I know that America and the people in it are deathless, undiscovered, and immortal, and must live.

I think the true discovery of America is before us. I think the true fulfillment of our spirit, of our people, of our mighty and immortal land, is yet to come. I think the true discovery of our own democracy is still before us. And I think that all these things are certain as the morning, as inevitable as noon. I think I speak for most men living when I say that our America is Here, is Now, and beckons on before us, and that this glorious assurance is not only our living hope, but our dream to be accomplished.

I think the enemy is here before us, too. But I think we know the forms and faces of the enemy, and in the knowledge that we know him, and shall meet him, and eventually must conquer him is also our living hope. I think the enemy is here before us with a thousand faces, but I think we know that all his faces wear one mask. I think the enemy is single selfishness and compulsive greed. I think the enemy is blind, but has the brutal power of his blind grab. I do not think the enemy was born yesterday, or that he grew to manhood forty years ago, or that he suffered sickness and collapse in 1929, or that we began with him out the enemy, and that our vision faltered, that we lost the way, and suddenly were in his camp. I think the enemy is old as Time, and evil as Hell, and that he has been here with us from the beginning. I think he stole our earth from us, destroyed our wealth, and ravaged and despoiled our land. I think he took our people and enslaved them, that he polluted the fountains of our life, took unto himself the rarest treasures of our own possession, took our bread and left us with a crust, and, not content, for the nature of the enemy is insatiate—tried finally to take from us the crust.

I think the enemy comes to us with the face of innocence and says to us:

"I am your friend."

I think the enemy deceives us with false words and lying phrases, saying:

"See, I am one of you—I am one of your children, your son, your brother, and your friend. Behold how sleek and fat I have become—and all because I am just one of you, and your friend. Behold how rich and powerful I am—and all because I am one of you—shaped in your way of life, of thinking, of accomplishment. What I am, I am because I am one of you, your humble brother and your friend. Behold," cries Enemy, "the man I am, the man I have become, the thing I have accomplished—the man I am, the man I have become, the thing I assure you that it is the most and reflect. Will you destroy this thing? I assure you that it is the most precious thing you have. It is yourselves, the projection of each of you, the triumph of your individual lives, the thing that is rooted in your blood, and native to your stock, and inherent in the traditions of America. It is the thing that all of you may hope to be," says Enemy, "for—" humbly—"am I not just one of you? Am I not just your brother and your son? Am I not the living image of what each of you may hope to be, would wish to be, would desire for his own son? Would you destroy this glorious incarnation of your own heroic self? If you do, destroy this glorious incarnation of your own heroic self—you kill the thing that is then," says Enemy, "you destroy yourselves—you kill the thing that is most gloriously American, and in so killing, kill yourselves."

He lies! And now we know he lies! He is not gloriously, or in any other way, ourselves. He is not our friend, our son, our brother. And he is not American! For, although he has a thousand familiar and convenient faces, his own true face is old as Hell.

Look about you and see what he has done.

Cambodia Still Seeks A Leader

By MICHAEL PUTZEL
Associated Press Writer
PHNOM PENH, Cambodia
(AP)—Brig. Gen. In Tam, the latest nominee to end Cambodia's political crisis, today declined to form a government and said he was working on another solution.

In Tam, the 55-year-old head of the National Assembly, told the assembly he and other leaders were trying to work out a formula under which ailing Marshal Lon Nol, the outgoing premier, would be the titular head of the government and Lt. Gen. Sisowath Sirik Matak, the acting premier during Lon Nol's illness, would continue to run the government.

In Tam said the plan called for Lon Nol to be named president of the council of ministers and Sirik Matak to be "president delegate."

In addition, In Tam said, there would be three vice presidents of the council below the president delegate, and he would be one of them. He did not name the other two.

In Tam said he had been compelled to decline the mandate to form a government "under the present formula," but he gave no further explanation. There had been speculation Sunday night that he had run into trouble with Lt. Col. Lon Non, Lon Nol's younger brother. Observers thought Lon Non, who heads the Central Intelligence Agency, might be withholding his support from In Tam to bargain for a top job.

In Tam was the fourth leader of State Cheng Heng asked to form a government.

The crisis began April 20 when Lon Nol resigned because of the continuing effects of the stroke he suffered in February. Cheng first asked the marshal to stay on. When Lon Nol declined, the chief of state asked Lt. Gen. Sisowath Sirik Matak, acting premier during Lon Nol's illness, to accept the task. But Sirik Matak and a third candidate, Chuop Hell, also turned it down.

In Tam said he talked with Sirik Matak and received his backing. He added he would ask both Lon Nol and Sirik Matak to act as advisers if he was able to form a new government, which would follow Lon Nol's political line.

Friction has been reported between Lon Non and Sirik Matak, and there were suggestions the deputy premier bowed out because he feared the colonel would have too much influence.

In Tam is reported opposed by youth and student organizations who charge corruption is rife among National Assembly deputies.

But In Tam said he believed he had the support of most youth because a young people's movement recently asked him to head an anticorruption committee.

He said if he did form a government his top priorities would be the war against the enemy, to rebuild the war-torn nation and to work for a constitution for the six-month-old republic.

BILL DANSEY FOR CITY COUNCIL

A Young Man Who Gets Things Done

1. The Recreation Department is doing a fine job but they need help. Most areas have recreational land available if they were developed. The Shore Drive Park should be equipped and a marina built on the river either with private or city funds. The Eppes High School site would be an ideal location for a major recreation facility and the only thing it lacks is a swimming pool which could be provided with the help of federal funds which are available.

2. In my opinion, a public transportation system is not feasible if it is expected to be self-supporting. There is a study being done by the city at this time to determine the cost of such a system. Once the cost is determined, the voter should then be allowed to vote on whether they wish an increase in taxes to subsidize the system.

3. If elected, I would propose the establishment of a committee to undertake a study, including the holding of public hearings, to weigh the merits of an elected versus an appointed School Board. I would give careful consideration to the committee's recommendations. I think the issue is an important and complex one, and therefore deserves serious study and debate before a final decision is made. This is my reason for proposing, as a first step, the establishment of the study committee. As to the qualifications of Board members, whether they are appointed or elected, members should be judged on the basis of talent, maturity, and the community's respect for them.

4. Every urban renewal or redevelopment project is sufficiently different and unique that each should be carefully examined on its own merits. In each case, careful consideration should be given to federal and local government costs involved, and to the impact of the project on specific areas, and groups, and on the community as a whole. In brief, there is no single easy answer in this area.

5. Greenville has as much or more to offer industry than any other community in the east. Our resources should be protected and it cannot be done by the city alone since most of the industrial areas are in the county, therefore, I would support a joint city-county committee to be formed with appointments from both the City Council and County Commissioners which would formulate guidelines to be followed by all industries locating in the county and that this committee have the power not only to regulate but also enforce these guidelines to prevent pollution.

6. If elected, I would propose the establishment of a committee to undertake a study, including the holding of public hearings, to weigh the merits of elections at-large versus the ward system. I would give careful consideration to the recommendations of the study committee. This is a complicated issue and serious study and public debate would be essential before any final decision is made. To illustrate, an initial practical problem is that current precincts could probably not be used as electoral districts because they do not reflect a perfect "one-man-one vote" apportionment as required by the Supreme Court, and many of our precincts, as now constituted, contain areas and people outside the city limits of Greenville.

7. The importance of an issue is directly related to the number of people it affects. The City Council's main concern should be insuring that Greenville is the best possible place to live and to rear a family. One way of doing this is to help to provide maximum employment with good paying positions. The Council could take a giant step towards this by creating a commission with a full-time paid director and staff whose responsibility would be to recruit quality industry to Greenville. This additional growth would more than adequately pay the cost of this commission with the new revenue it would create and would directly and indirectly benefit all our citizens. The county has such an office presently but I do not feel the job is being done for Greenville that should be done.

Delegate Farmville Student

FARMVILLE — A Farmville High School Distributive Education student has just returned from a once-in-a-lifetime trip to San Antonio, Tex. as a delegate to the national convention of Distributive Education Clubs of America.

Miss Sharon Burress, who serves as state historian and as historian of the Eastern N.C. district of DECA, made the trip with her teacher, Ken Smith, and some 67 other DECA students and teachers from North Carolina. She was the only student from east of Raleigh who went.

The six-day convention celebrated the first quarter century of DECA in the United States and was planned to coincide with San Antonio's Fiesta Week, held each year to commemorate the Mexican border city's founding.

"I don't know what I enjoyed most—meeting people from all over the country, the workshops, seeing the sights of San Antonio during this festive week, visiting Old Mexico, attending the Mayor's reception—all the North Carolina delegates were invited—or the two banquets held during the convention. It was all fun and all a wonderful learning experience that makes me more enthusiastic than ever about doing well in Distributive Education for the organization and myself."

Miss Burress is a high school junior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burress. She plans to begin working as an aide at the nursing home that will open here next week. This summer she will attend a workshop for state officers of the southern region of DECA to be held in Biloxi, Miss.

Pakistan Said Near To Financial Ruin

RAWALPINDI, Pakistan (AP)—The rout of East Pakistan's Awami League has failed to end Bengali resistance to the central government, but it has pushed Pakistan close to financial ruin and fed a raging debate in West Pakistan over an end to military rule.

Despite daily claims of a return to normalcy in the East, the army of Punjab is from West Pakistan has not been able to control large areas in the tea-growing Sylhet district, the jute-growing Mymensingh district, the pashu south of Chittagong and the area along the Bay of Bengal that is devastated so often by cyclones.

Diplomats returning from the East say the army claims resistance is crumbling, but the diplomats believe the Bengali fighters are going underground. One source said a member of the Awami League, the spearhead of East Pakistan's independence movement and its major political party, told him:

"There will always be a time when suddenly there are 10 Bengalis and five Punjabi soldiers. Then there will be no Punjabi soldiers."

Officials here and in Dacca, the capital of East Pakistan, are concerned about the renewal of violence between Bengalis and Urdu-speaking non-Bengalis still in the East. Some government officials claim 30,000 Urdu speakers were killed in the communal frenzy before and after the army struck in March. More communal violence was reported Wednesday in the Mohammedpur area of Dacca, and at least seven persons were killed. The government clamped down on the reports of violence, fearing they would provoke retaliation against about 500,000 Bengalis living in West Pakistan.

Informed sources say Pakistan's military ruler, Gen. Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan, wants to turn over power to the civilian politicians, but he won't do it until he can transfer rule simultaneously in both East and West Pakistan. But more than a month after the arrest of Sheik Mujibur Rahman, the leader of the Awami League, Yahya Khan has netted only one minor Awami member of any note—Fazlul Haq—who is willing to side with him. And he is not considered influential.

Legislative Redistricting Is Another Field Awaiting Action

By SAM D. BUNDY
The bill to redistrict the congressional districts has now passed the House. Since it passed the Senate back in February, it is now law. This new setup adds Greene and Carter Counties to the First Congressional District. Putting Orange County in the Second District and putting Bladen County in the Third District were the main centers of controversy.

Representative Horton Rountree, Chairman of the House Congressional Redistricting Committee steered a straight course and succeeded in beating all amendments. The Moore County Bill, which passed the House by a 56-55 vote has now passed the Senate by a 26-19 vote. This bill permits the residents of Moore County to vote on whiskey-by-the-drink, and opens the gate for other counties to seek passage of similar legislation. Now that Congressional redistricting appears to be out of the way, we can put our minds on legislative redistricting. The latest plan of this committee, on which I serve, still has Pitt and Greene County in District 8, and I believe it will stay this way. Besides legislating and attending committee meetings galore, I have had a rather busy week otherwise. Starting the week on Sunday, I attended the dedication of the Faith Pentecostal Holiness Church in Greenville. I was invited by my good friend, Johnny Edwards. It was a fine day meeting with a group of consecrated people to dedicate a magnificent temple to the Glory of God. The astonishing thing is this church was started in February of 1970 and fourteen months later, they dedicated their church. This is faith at its greatest. On Tuesday night I rode to Snow Hill and spoke of the annual banquet meeting of the Greene County NCAE-ACT. This was a fine affair and I enjoyed seeing so many of my Greene County friends. On Thursday night I travelled to Greenville and spoke to the Jaycees on the subject of "Developing Citizenship Through Service." My message came prior to the presentation of two awards to Sgt. Douglas Ross of the Police Department and Captain D. R. Daniels of the Fire Department. The Jaycees are a fine group of young men; two hundred strong full of vim, vigor and vitality. Since my last report twelve ladies of the Grass Roots Garden Club visited the Legislative Building and I had the pleasure to chat with them in gallery for a few minutes. Charles Tucker and Carroll Wooten, formerly of Farmville and now with the Smithfield-Selma High School, came by to see me on Tuesday. We had lunch together and talked over old times. On Wednesday, Johnny Mewborn came by with three of his rehabilitation students and we conversed for a while. It is good to see students of mine doing such fine work in their chosen field.

Chad Is Opened To U.S. Oilmen

By PIERRE CHERAMY
FORT LAMY, Chad (UPI)—With its five year rebellion apparently suppressed, Chad is trying to boost economic development by opening its doors to more than $6 million worth of American investments. President Francois Tombalbaye said in an interview with UPI that the influx of American technicians prospecting for oil and naphtha has the full approval of Chad's former mother country, France.

The interview with President Tombalbaye took place in the gardens of the residence of the prefect or local governor in Fort Archambault. It is a large white building of style often called African colonial, set amid red and yellow bouganvillea.

Several years of patient political and psychological efforts and the aid of men and material of the French army, the President said, have all but ended the resurrection of rebellious tribesmen which five years ago menaced the entire nation. More than half of the French troops have left and the remainder are expected to depart by the end of the year.

Chad, parched desert and prairie grasslands about the size of Texas and New Mexico together, is once more peaceful except in the extreme north where a few hundred nomadic Toubbous continue to defy the Franco-Chad forces. The rebels, led by Chief Derdei, flee into Libya when the troops make life too hot for them on this side of the border. The Toubbous, numbering about 5,000, are nomads constantly on the move between Chad, Niger and Libya, raiding communities foreign to them. The Toubbous took the occasion of independence from France, April 11, 1960, to live as rebels after years of living in peace with the French authorities whose force they respected.

The central government at the time of independence was essentially composed of members of the Sara tribe, that of President Tombalbaye, from the south. The Saras, Christians, for a long time had been considered as slaves by the Moslem peoples of the north. The Saras imposed an authority on the Toubbous which the nomads refused to accept and it was this confrontation of the two groups which gave birth to the insurrection.

The military operations and also the attitude of the Chad government—which understood its errors—at last have brought close to an end what was in reality only a misunderstanding. The Chadian president sent a highly qualified representative to Tripoli to negotiate with Derdei.

The talks have taken a great deal of time but there is confidence in the capital that agreement will be reached. Chad waits only for that agreement to push its ambitious projects for economic development.

"I put the question to President Georges Pompidou. He told me: Accept all the investments that they offer you. I only ask you one thing, that is to conserve the French culture and keep your friendship for us," the President said.

With the blessing of Paris, Chad has recently granted to an American oil firm a permit to search for what it hopes will be important oil fields in the region of Enmedi near Chad's frontier with Libya. Government officials said they believe the permit only when it was certain Chad's small war against rebellious tribesmen, fought with the aid of the French army and Foreign Legion, had neared a halt.

The government officials said one of the world's 10 biggest oil firms in September, 1969 received two oil prospecting permits, one for the region around Fort-Archambault in the south and the second for Lake Chad in the center, west of Largeau in the north.

Government officials said the two permits involved a minimum investment of $5.6 million, but that sum already has been exceeded. The permits are good for five years and can be renewed.

The President said he believed foreign engineers will strike oil by the end of 1971, an event that may mark the point of departure in the economic evolution of Chad, one of Africa's richest nations in natural resources.

American technicians also are searching for deposits of Naphtha. Some government officials are of the opinion that naphtha even more than oil will be the future wealth of Chad.

Chad is incredibly rich in natron (sodium carbonate), tungsten, tin, diamonds, uranium and copper, all until now unexploited.

Chad's hopeful economic book and the apparent end of the rebellion in the major part of

Fail Appeal License Loss

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP)—Agriculture Commissioner James Graham said today Green Brothers Seed Co. has accepted without appeal his revocation of its license to sell seed and is closing its operation in North Carolina.

Graham revoked the company's license April 5 after ruling it had misrepresented seed corn sold to North Carolina farmers for the 1971 crop.

Green Brothers, a major seed dealer based in Nashville, Tenn., had covered North Carolina and South Carolina from its warehouse and administrative office in Fuquay-Varina, N.C. The firm also has operations in Texas and Idaho.

Graham ruled that the company, through employes, had represented seed corn as high-yielding hybrid but had delivered lower-yielding second-generation seed corn.

The commissioner held a two-day hearing in March after a series of farmers' complaints were published by the Goldsboro, N.C., News-Argus.

Doubled
GREENSBORO (AP)—The average North Carolinian is making 104 per cent more than he did 10 years ago.

U.S. Department of Commerce statistics, compiled by its Office of Business Economics, show the Tar Heel State is one of only three states that more than doubled its per capita income in the decade from 1960 to 1970. The others are South Carolina and Mississippi.

But the average North Carolina resident makes only $3,188 a year, which puts the state 39th in the nation. The South Carolina figure puts that state 47th and Mississippi is 50th.

North Carolina has recorded increases in annual average income above the national level since 1950. But the average Tar Heel still makes $722 less than does the average American.

In total personal income, the state ranks 16th in the nation.

HONG KONG ECONOMY UP
HONG KONG (UPI)—Rising economic activity over the past two years has pushed the government's revenue up by 50 per cent from 2 billion Hong Kong dollars to 3 billion Hong Kong dollars ($500 million US) in fiscal 1970.

Fourth Day Of Questioning In Seattle For Leslie

By JACK MAYNE
Associated Press Writer
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Leslie Bacon returns for a fourth day of questioning today before a federal grand jury apparently investigating the possibility that the March 1 bombing of the U. S. capitol was planned in Seattle.

Government attorneys have refused to indicate why the investigation is being carried on here, but they said after an unusual grand jury session Sunday they were content with the case.

Miss Bacon's attorneys, Jeffrey Steinborn of Seattle and Michael Fayad of Washington, D.C., have maintained consistently that Miss Bacon knows nothing of the bombing and knows no one connected with it.

They said Miss Bacon had been living in a commune in Washington and has only been in Seattle once before, a half-hour visit while hitchhiking through town.

Miss Bacon, 19, of Atherton, Calif., has been held since last week on $100,000 bond as a material witness in the case. She was brought here last Thursday under a subpoena issued by U.S. District Court in Seattle.

Fayad and Steinborn said after Sunday's session that the government had established for the first time a "clear connection" between the bombing and the grand jury probe here, but they said the connection seemed to be based on misinformation.

"The government got today to what they told us was the meat of the case," Fayad told newsmen. "We saw some meat, but it seems to be misinformation."

He said the Seattle connection apparently was "something dealing with meetings of plans here." He said the government spent some time asking questions concerning the bombing. The March 1 explosion took place in a mens' room near the Senate chambers. Damage was extensive but there were no injuries.

"If everything is true they think is true, maybe some of the ones connected with the bomb plot are from Seattle," Steinborn said.

Fayad said it was evident what type of case the government was trying to prove. "If they can fill in all the holes," but he and Steinborn refused to indicate the specific nature of the questions put to Miss Bacon.

The two attorneys said Miss Bacon refused Sunday to answer "some questions concerning her personal privileges" but they said it would not be safe to assume they concerned constitutional rights. It was the first time the lawyers said their client had refused to answer questions.

As she has each day since Friday, Miss Bacon left the room where the secret probe is being conducted after each question put to her. After consulting with her attorneys, she returned to give the grand jury her reply.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Bacon, were at the courthouse again Sunday. Bacon, a lumberyard owner, said his daughter was "getting tired and exasperated with the apparently senseless questions asked over and over—like her age."

Steinborn said the detention of Miss Bacon appeared part of a government plot to crush or discredit planned May Day anti-war demonstrations in the nation's capital.

Small Businesses Feel Bypassed

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP BUSINESS Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Small and independent businesses are smothering a lot of anger these days.

They feel bypassed by thinkers and legislators who deal mainly with the extremes of big business power or the small man's poverty.

Because they have time only for work, because their means are moderate, their goals modest and their attainments—while important to their communities—of no great national significance, they feel overlooked, ignored.

These are some of the impressions you receive from talking with people at the National Federation of Independent Business and reading the letters they write when polled on national issues, as they are continually.

Some of these smoldering frustrations will burst through May 17 in Washington, when hundreds of businessmen are expected to gather for a conference titled: "Independent Business Speaks Out."

Listed as a listener and speaker is President Richard Nixon.

What do the polls show disturbed independent businessmen: No surprise at all; they're angry about taxes, and they want reform. While much of America looks upon taxes as a decided nuisance or as the means to social reform, independent business views them as the power to destroy.

Big business can live with big taxes, they maintain, but small business is being destroyed. And so taxes were at the top of a recent survey by NFIB, which operates out of San Mateo, Calif.

Inflation was next, followed in order by labor law reform, welfare reform, insurance, crime and paperwork.

Here are some examples of why they feel squeezed by changes in society and by the country's concern with dealing with the extremes while sometimes ignoring the middle.

of a source of unskilled help, and the nation has been deprived of their services as trainers of apprentices.

—Big business can deal with paperwork because it can hire the clerical help and install the computers. But proprietorships find it nearly impossible to understand and work with the maze of government forms and reports.

The federation doesn't say how it arrived at the figure, but it maintains that "encumbering paperwork and government reporting costs independent business up to $3 billion a year."

—Crime is a growing problem throughout the business world. For the independent businessman it sometimes is devastating. He has to hire guards or employ electronic devices, but he cannot pass on the added costs.

Moreover, burglaries and robbings and riots have left him with either no insurance or exorbitant rates. Big business can move away from the problem areas; small business sometimes is too dependent upon local trade.

There are an estimated one million independent business operators in the country. That number can make a memorable chorus.

—Minimum wages are now $1.60 an hour and may rise to $2. The intent of such legislation, they concede, may be admirable, but the net effect is to deprive them of apprentices.

"No employer will pay a worker more than he is worth simply because of a government edict," the federation recently stated. And so, they maintain, they have been depr-

Mahalia Keeps Indian Audience
NEW DELHI (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi postponed a meeting and stayed to the end as the American gospel singer, Mahalia Jackson, extended a scheduled 90-minute concert to nearly three hours.

"The audience was so great that she did not want to stop singing," one of Miss Jackson's assistants said of the Sunday night concert.

Mrs. Gandhi, accompanied by U. S. Ambassador Kenneth B. Keating, had left the auditorium at the scheduled end of the concert. But when the audience of 1,000 refused to leave and Miss Jackson came back for an encore, Mrs. Gandhi returned to her seat.

GREENVILLE, N. C.

To The Voters of Greenville:

As this election campaign comes to a close, let me summarize my position on those areas I feel are most vital to the growth and welfare of this city.

1. The mayor must give full participation in the affairs of this city. He must attend the meetings of commissions, maintain an open office at City Hall, and enter into debates and deliberations before the City Council. In the past two years Greenville has lacked this leadership. I pledge to provide it.
2. A major issue before the city today is continued expansion of our programs of public recreation. This is a vital role that the city plays in enhancing the health and well being of its citizens. I will support recreational development, parks, and neighborhood play areas. I favor a swimming pool or pools for Greenville. In addition to our city funds, I will seek state and federal aid in park development and city beautification.
3. I will support the completion of the Newtown Slum Clearance and C.B.D. Rehabilitation projects. I think there is no reasonable alternative to the city's responsibility in upgrading Downtown Greenville with wider streets, new traffic arteries, underground utilities, and off street parking. We must utilize federal funds that are made available for this project. The city's participation will not involve tax monies, but will be represented by work done by the Utilities Commission, Street Department, and by money gained in off street parking facilities. This project is to extend over a ten year period.
4. I will support and encourage greater participation of the Greenville Good Neighbor Council. This Council should make regular direct reports to the Mayor and City Council concerning their activities. It can and should play a more vital role in anticipating and dealing with problems in human relations.
5. I earnestly solicit your vote and support.

Respectfully yours,
S. Eugene West

Procedures For Death Penalty Are Upheld

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Supreme Court rejected 6 to 3 today challenges to death penalty procedures in the United States.

The ruling, delivered by Justice John M. Harlan, said leaving to the jury's discretion the power to decide between life or death in capital cases does not violate the Constitution.

Secondly, Harlan said, the Constitution does not require separating the penalty phase of capital trials from the body of the trial.

The decision upholds first-degree murder convictions and death sentences against Dennis C. McGautha of Los Angeles and James E. Crampton of Toledo, Ohio. McGautha was found guilty of killing a grocer, Crampton of killing his wife.

The issues raised in their appeals had blocked execution in the United States for almost four years. There are now 644 men and seven women on death row in 33 states. The ruling could result in early executions in many instances.

Justice Harlan was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Hugo L. Black, Potter Stewart, Byron R. White and Harry A. Blackmun. Justices William J. Brennan Jr., William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

The decision does not dispose of the ultimate challenge to capital punishment. This is the argument that the death penalty is a form of cruel and unusual punishment prohibited by the Constitution. The court has never ruled on that question, although the issue is regularly put to the justices in appeals from condemned men.

"Our function," Harlan said, "is not to impose on the states, ex cathedra, what might seem to us a better system for dealing with capital cases. Rather it is to decide whether the federal Constitution proscribes the present procedures of these states in such cases."

VOTE FOR MAYOR WOOTEN

MAY 4

We the undersigned appreciate the many things Mayor Wooten has done for Greenville and endorse him as Mayor on May 4.

Through his leadership in the past two years, the City has accomplished the following:

1. Substantially increased salaries of the City employees, which means a higher standard of living for them.
2. Completed a major street program for our safety and convenience.
3. Acquired a new playground for the Western area of Greenville and increased appropriations for recreation, so our children can play and grow with good supervision.
4. Endeavored to have each area of the city represented on the various Boards and Commissions to insure fairness to all.
5. Improved the efficiency of operation and cooperation within and among the various departments of the city and also with the County Government, which will mean a smoother - flowing - government process.
6. Kept the people informed of the various activities of the several departments of the city, both good and bad, so we can know what's going on in our local government.
7. Purchased a new fire truck for the protection of the present and future high-rise city and university property.
8. Improved the drainage systems in south, and west Greenville for the additional protection of property in those areas.
9. All of this has been done without an increase in taxes.
10. For the first time in recent years, published an audit of the financial affairs of the City, so we can know where our money is going.
11. Caused the railroad crossing on Memorial Blvd., Evans, and 14 Streets to be improved for additional driving comfort and safety.

In addition Mayor Wooten has given a portion of his salary as mayor to the Greenville Art Center to help defray the mortgage on the building, so we might have an even finer cultural center in Greenville.

ECU Pirates Pound Their Way Past UNC By 10-6

By WOODY PEELE Reflector Sports Editor East Carolina University's Pirates outscored the University of North Carolina, 10-6, Sunday afternoon in a wild and wooly baseball game at University Field.

The game was filled with mistakes, and all but three of the 16 runs scored were unearned. Those three belonged to East Carolina.

And oddly enough, Carolina went with its starting pitcher, John Danneman all the way, while the Bucs used five pitchers along the way, with reliever Wayne Post getting the victory after a one-third of an inning stint in the seventh.

The Tar Heels got off a threat in the first inning, as they pounded starter Bill Godwin hard. Bobby Elliot singled and after two line-drive outs, John Gillis got a single to center. But the Bucs got the last out to halt that threat.

The Bucs then made one of their mental errors to stop themselves in the bottom of the first. Matt Walker led off with a single and the next man went down without advancing him. Mike Aldridge grounded back to the mound, and Danneman threw out Walker going to second. Aldridge, however, apparently thought the out was the third, and trotted back towards the dugout, and was picked off first without realizing it.

But the Bucs came back in the second to get revenge for that, scoring four runs. Larry Walters singled to third and took second on a passed ball. Hal Baird drove him in with a single to right. Then, with two outs, Skip Horton and Godwin both reached on errors by the Tar Heel shortstop, loading the bases. Walker stepped in with a double to center field, scoring Baird, Horton and Godwin to give the Pirates a 4-0 advantage. Despite his shaky start,

Godwin hadn't been hurt by the Tar Heels again until the fifth inning, when Carolina came up with three runs to close the gap to 4-3. Russell Niller led off, reaching on an error. Danneman also reached on a Pirate miscue. Tom Gillis hit a out-out single to center, scoring Niller, and another hit to center by Doug Lanham brought in Danneman. John Gillis hit back to third, and Ralph Lamm made the play on Tom Gillis there, they threw to first for the double-play attempt. But the ball was overthrown, and Lanham raced all the way around from second to score the third Carolina run of the inning.

Then, in the seventh, Carolina struck for the lead, scoring three more runs. Elliot walked and was sacrificed to second, loading the bases. Larry Kiser hit a sacrifice fly to score Elliot with the tying run, and a wild pitch let Lanham score to push ahead. Bobby Guthrie was hit by a pitch, and John Wilson singled to deep short, scoring Gillis with the sixth Tar Heel run.

The Pirates came roaring right back, however, scoring three runs in the bottom of the seventh to regain the lead, 7-6. Horton led off with a booming triple to center, that just caromed off the charging fielder's glove. With two outs, Dick Corrada was hit by a pitch bringing on Aldridge.

He responded with his sixth homer of the year, a booming 345-blast to right center, driving in all three runs.

The Bucs added insurance in the eighth, scoring the remaining three runs. Baird reached on an error and Horton was intentionally walked. Ron Hastings then cracked a double to deep center, scoring both Baird and Horton. Walker followed with his fourth hit of the day, another double, scoring Hastings with the 10th Pirate run.

The Pirates, now 9-14, open a home stand, playing host to William & Mary in a doubleheader on Tuesday. They host Furman for a pair on Saturday, then Duke visits on Sunday.

When Pirates, Indians Meet Championship Chances At Stake

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Southern Conference baseball championship chances of William and Mary's Indians and East Carolina's defending champion Pirates may be decided when the two teams meet Tuesday in a twin bill at Greenville, N.C.

With the Indians standing fifth at 6-6 and the Pirates sixth at 4-5 in the league race, a sweep of the doubleheader is almost mandatory if either is to have any hopes of catching the four front-runners.

Both missed opportunities to boost their outlook by splitting doubleheaders, Saturday, and only a division of still another twin bill between Furman's front-running Paladins and The Citadel's third-place Bulldogs kept them mathematically alive.

Furman is 7-3 with Richmond's Spiders at 9-4, The Citadel at 8-4 and Davidson's Wildcats at 6-4. Only Virginia Military's Keydets, who've finished with a 1-15 conference slate, can forget the race completely.

Three more doubleheaders are scheduled next Saturday with Furman at East Carolina, Davidson at The Citadel and Richmond at William and Mary.

Things could be as knotted as they were after this past Saturday's splits unless one or two contenders can come up with a sweep.

John Katona pitched a nine-inning three-hitter and drove in the only run with a sacrifice fly as Furman edged The Citadel 1-0 in their opener, in which the Bulldogs' Steve Arrington gave up just two hits.

But The Citadel kept the Paladins from pulling away by taking the second game 6-1 as Doug Pounder pitched a five-hitter to run his record to 8-1. In addition, Pounder knocked in two runs to help his own cause.

Richmond retained second place with an 11-2 rout of East Carolina in their second game as Bruce Wright scattered eight hits and Tom Bondurant drove in four runs for the Spiders. Bill Daly of Richmond and

Ayden Romps Over Eagles

ROBERSONVILLE — Ayden High School romped to a 13-2 victory over Robersonville Saturday night.

The Tornados jumped on the Golden Eagles for four runs in the first inning and never let Robersonville get a glimpse of the lead after that.

Doug Phillips led off the game with a single and Mike Griffin walked. Donnie Moore reached on an error, scoring Phillips. Lavern Loftin walked and Debro Bount slapped a triple, scoring all three runners for a 4-0 lead.

Robersonville came back in the second with one of its runs. Ricky Brown singled and Mike Matthews and Kim Knox both walked. Hal Knox was then awarded first on interference by the catcher, forcing in Brown.

But Ayden came right back in the top of the third with five more runs to put an end to any Robersonville hopes of a rally. Manning reached on an error, as did Griffin. Moore singled in Manning, and stole second.

Loftin walked, loading the bases. Blount hit into the infield, but the play was made on Griffin at home, too late, leaving all hands safe. Robbie Pinner then doubled, driving in the three baserunners for a 9-1 lead.

Ayden added one each in the fourth and sixth and two in the seventh for its 13 run total. Robersonville picked up one more in the third.

Manning and Blount led the Ayden hitting with two each. Ayden 405 101 2-13 9 1 R'ville 011 000 0-2 3 6 Loftin; Manning (5) and Griffin; Wilson, L. Jackson (3) and H. Knox.

Beard Says He Never Doubted In New Orleans

By BOB GREEN Associated Press Golf Writer NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — "I never really doubted that I was going to win," Frank Beard said after pulling down the $25,000 first prize in the great New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

"I know that's what Jack Nicklaus said at the Masters," the quiet man with the deadly putter continued. "But it's true. Even when I was five strokes down, I just knew I was going to win."

"It's like that on some courses for some players."

"And this course—and New Orleans—have been very, very good to me. This is the one tournament I'll always play. In the last few years I've won twice, finished second once, I think third once and maybe

ACC Sweep In Tennis Tourney

WILSON, N.C. (AP) — Atlantic Christian won the seven championship events and the Carolinas Conference tennis tournament Saturday.

The Christians piled up 28 points in the two-day event, eight more than that scored by runner-up Pfeiffer, Elon, High Point and Guilford combined.

The top match was in the No. 1 singles, when defending champion Javiet Sanjines of High Point lost to Ken Rand of Atlantic Christian, 9-7, 0-6, 6-3.

fourth." "Good things seem to happen to me here. I got married here," he said, then grinned, "That's the one bad thing..."

Beard, playing one day after his 32nd birthday, fired a final-round 68 Sunday on the sunny, 7,080-yard, par-72 Lakewood Country Club course to overtake struggling rookie Hubert Green, his playing partner and the third-round leader.

Beard finished at 276 and Green, who had a final 71, was at 277.

Lee Elder and George Johnson tied for third at 278. Elder had a 71 and Johnson a 68. Masters champion Charles Coody followed at 280.

Defending champion Miller Barber was tied at 281 with Dave Hill; John Lotz and Jack Ewing.

Beard, who pushed his season's earnings to almost $60,000 with his 11th career victory, started slowly on the bright, warm day and dropped five strokes back of Green, a 24-year-old first-year man from Birmingham, Ala., when he be-geyed the sixth hole, hitting into the woods and then finding a trap.

He got the stroke back, then gained the momentum that won it for him, on the eighth.

Green, who now has led going into the final round two weeks in a row only to falter on the last 18 holes, was a disappointed, but determined young man.

"Well, 71 really isn't really a bad last round," he said. "Sure I'm disappointed. But I'm not going home. I'll be playing next week. I'm not quitting."

PENTATHLON WINNER WARENDORF, Germany (AP) — Hungary, with 14,504 points, won the International Modern Pentathlon Team Championship, beating out the Soviet Union. West German was third and Italy fourth.

They're Winners, But McCovey, Ron Reed Complain

By HERSCHEL NISSENON
Associated Press Sports Writer
"I feel worse today than I've felt all year," moaned slugger Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants. "My right knee was really acting up. This is the worst kind of weather for a guy with my problem."

"When a home run hitter hits one you can't say much," complained pitcher Ron Reed of the Atlanta Braves, "but when one of those slap hitters hits one it hurts the ego."
Sore losers? Hardly.
McCovey whacked a two-run homer in the first inning and a tie-breaking solo shot in the 13th as the Giants edged the Reds 4-3 in chilly, blustery Cincinnati. Reed checked Los Angeles 4-1 on a five-hitter, the only run coming on Maury Wills' 18th career homer.

Elsewhere in the National League, the New York Mets tripped Houston 6-5 in 10 innings. St. Louis nipped Montreal 1-0, Pittsburgh downed White Sox beat Washington 3-1 and Oakland divided a twin bill with Cleveland, winning 8-5 and then losing 7-3 in 10 innings.

American League scores: Boston swept Minnesota 1-0 and 9-8, Baltimore defeated Kansas City 5-3, California shaded Detroit, 4-3, the New York Yankees took a doubleheader from Milwaukee 2-1 and 5-4, the Chicago White Sox beat Washington 3-1 and Oakland divided a twin bill with Cleveland, winning 8-5 and then losing 7-3 in 10 innings.

McCovey dragged his ailing knees to the plate in the 13th inning against Tony Cloninger and did something about getting to the nice warm clubhouse as soon as possible.

which left the veteran shortstop only 585 behind Aaron. "I had only two hanging sliders all day and look what happened to them. Duke Sims hits a double and Wills gets the home run."
Cepeda's home run came on a change-up from loser Don Sutton. "I was looking for a fast ball," Cepeda said. "I don't get many change-ups, maybe three or four a year. In fact, my first hit in the major leagues was a home run on a change-up."

booted Dave Cash's grounder. Clines then singled, scoring Alley, and Cash also raced home when left fielder Larry Stahl's throw sailed past the plate. Richie Hebner tripled Clines across and scored on Willie Stargell's sacrifice fly.
Ron Santo drove in five runs with a home run, double and bases-loaded walk and Bill Hands scattered six hits as the Cubs drubbed the Phillies. Santo cracked a two-run double in the first, drew his walk in the fifth which was followed by Johnny Callison's two-run single and homered in the seventh behind Billy Williams' double.

Buddy Baker Racks Up Second Straight Darlington Victory

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
DARLINGTON, S.C. (AP) — Race driver Buddy Baker and his equally famous racing father, Buck, have a love affair with storied old Darlington Raceway that no other family can claim.

Buddy 30, won the Rebel 400 stock car race as the 20-year-old "granddaddy" of the South's oval Sunday, driving past a faltering Donnie Allison with 10 laps to go. He finished 12 miles ahead of his nearest challenger.
It was Baker's second straight victory at Darlington—he won the prestigious Southern 500 last year—and gave the Baker family its fifth triumph at the 1 1/2 mile oval.

Buck Baker, now 51 and still a threat when he enters a race, won three Southern 500s—in 1953, 1960 and 1964—before moving to NASCAR's Grand American circuit for smaller, less powerful sedans.

Buddy, who has accumulated $335,261 in prize money in 12 years of racing, including the $16,065 he pocketed Sunday, is driving a Dodge this year as a stablemate of the fabled Richard Petty.

Petty, NASCAR's all-time money and events winner with 128 triumphs and $941,508 has won twice at Darlington in a dozen years. But his father, the now retired Lee Petty, never could conquer the old speedway, though he won the Grand National driving title three times before quitting in 1960 to leave the driving chores to Richard.

Elsewhere Sunday, English driver David Hobbs won the $35,000 L&M Continental 5000 Grand Prix at Laguna Seca Raceway in Monterey, Calif., Frank Brantley of Savannah, Ga., won NASCAR's $23,500 Diamond State 250 at Dover Downs and Francois Gevert of France won the 34th Eifel race on West Germany's Neuburgburg.
Buddy Baker, Allison and the younger Petty had hooked up in a stirring duel in the 15th running of the Rebel almost from the start. But Allison's Mercury appeared to be the stronger car. He led the 36-car field in 244 of the 293 laps before his troubles struck.

Baker, who was in front a total of 27 laps, was riding Alli-son's bumper when the Hueytown Ala, veteran, the youngest of two driving brothers, suddenly faltered on the backstretch. The engine, reliable all season long, had failed.

From that point on, Baker had only to breeze around at

Beat Conley By 5 To 4

BETHEL, Tenn. North Pitt High School eased by D. H. Conley High, 5-4, in a game played Friday afternoon.

Both teams pushed over three runs in the first inning, then both scored again in the third.

In the first, Conley got the jump on North Pitt with its three runs. Lawrence Glisson walked and Prince Bunting reached on an error. Cleve Everett doubled, driving in both runners. Billy Bryan then singled to score Everett with the third run.

But North Pitt came right back to tie it up with three of their own. Clint Lewis walked, as did Joey Moore. Steve Fuchs singled, scoring Lewis, and Ronnie Briley got a hit to drive in Moore. Fuchs scored when Ken Tetterton got a hit.

Both kept it tight in the third inning when they pushed over one each to make it 4-4.

But in the fifth, North Pitt scored a run, and it proved to be enough to win it. Briley singled and moved up on Tetterton's hit. Danny Whitehurst then singled in Briley with the winning run. North Pitt hosts Williamston and Conley welcomes in Vanceboro in games Tuesday.

two-thirds speed to win by seven laps over second-place Dick Brooks in a Dodge. Third went to Dave Marcis in a Dodge and fourth to Allison. Jim Vandiver was fifth in another Dodge.

Petty had been riding in second place and challenging Allison when his car caught fire on the back as 46,500 spectators screamed. The 6-foot-2, 200-pound Petty turned the car sideways down the track to catch the wind, which stifled the fire, then scrambled out unhurt on the infield apron.

Hobbs, who failed to finish in the L&M series opener a week ago in Riverside, led throughout both of Sunday's 76-mile heats to win $8,000. He piloted a McLaren M10B-Chevrolet. Frank Match of Australia, in a McLaren-Repo, was second each time.

Brantley, collecting the $3,750 top prize, drove his 1969 Camaro to victory in the Grand American Challenge race after front-runner Jim Pascal spun into a wall. Jimmy Lee Caps was second in a 1968 Camaro.

Cevert, driving a Tecno, beat Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi, in a Lotus Ford, by 18 seconds to increase his European Formula II championship lead.

ITALIAN KING

CADWELL PARK, England (AP) — Giacomo Agostini, the 28-year-old Italian king of motorcycle racing, won Sunday's International Race here with an average speed of 77.10 miles per hour for the 22.5-mile event.

THIRD STAGE

PUEBLA DE DARNAIS, Spain (AP) — France's Cyclirille Guilmarud won the third stage of the Tour of Spain bicycle race Sunday.

JETS RAISE PRICES

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Jets have increased ticket prices to their home football games for next fall. Box seats in the loge, mezzanine and upper stands will be $10, field box seats $9 and reserved loge, mezzanine and upper stand seats $8.

Rising costs of operation and the settlement with the National Football Players' Association were cited as reasons for the increases.

The victory was the 16th in the last 20 games for the Giants and gave them a six-game lead in the NL West over Atlanta, which jumped over Los Angeles and Houston into second place.
The Braves got home runs from Orlando Cepeda and Hank Aaron to support Reed's strong pitching. Cepeda connected in the first after Aaron belted his 543rd career double, putting him eighth on the all-time list. Aaron then slugged his 603rd career homer in the eighth.

Reed lost his shutout on Wills' sixth-inning homer.

'Minimum Necessary Force' Is Army's Guideline For Rioters

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal troops committed to prevent disruption of the government by antiwar demonstrators are restricted to using "minimum necessary force."

health or safety." Commanders of troops on civil disturbance duty are authorized to issue live ammunition but in most cases their men may not load their weapons except by an officer's order.

well disciplined force whose sole purpose is to assist in the restoration of law and order ... The principal riot control agent used by the Army is CS gas, a chemical irritant of the upper respiratory tract. It takes less than a minute to incapacitate.

"The degree of force used must be no greater than that reasonably necessary under the circumstances," says an Army field manual guiding field commanders.

"Retention of control by an officer over the loading of weapons until such time as the need for such action is clearly established is of critical importance in preventing the unjustified use of deadly force," the manual states.

N.C. Traffic Took At Least 9 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Traffic accidents killed at least nine persons over the weekend in North Carolina.

One of the victims, 21-year-old Charles Ronald Clark, was the son of Mayor William C. Clark of East Laurinburg. Clark and a 17-year-old Laurinburg girl, Barbara Ann Harding, were killed Sunday night when their car veered off a rural road near Laurinburg and struck a tree.

The nine weekend deaths brought the state toll for the year to 533, compared to 486 for this time of year in 1970.

Other weekend fatalities were:
Elisha Cornel Thompson, 9 months old, killed when a car driven by her father collided with another vehicle on a Charlotte street. Thomas J. Mills, 53, of Atlanta, Ga., killed near Charlotte when his vehicle blew

Industrial Plants Found Vulnerable

NEW YORK (UPI)—A security expert who surveys industrial plants across the nation says many could be knocked out for months with "one well-placed bomb."

Locks are of poorest quality and can be opened by the rankiest amateur—both very common examples of misplaced economy.

Richard Panizzi, head of the security survey department for the William J. Burns International Detective Agency, says plants where management does not know what areas are critical to continued operations are "sitting ducks."

"Still worse, companies that have all their files on magnetic tape provide the most primitive protection for their computer centers."

"Before our survey team makes a thorough inspection, plant management is asked for a list of areas where a bomb would do the most damage," Panizzi explained. "Over the past three years, not a single company has had such a list available."

Intruders can find easy access to many plants where all the records are stored on magnetic tape, Panizzi said.

"Management doesn't take time out to think about the most vulnerable spots or prepare a complete emergency plan, according to Panizzi. "They assume that they have security when they have some guards in front, a fence and a television camera and that whatever is inside is secure," he said. "The fact is almost any stranger can walk freely around the premises."

"With one exception, we have yet to see data processing areas restricted to all but authorized personnel," he said.

Holiday For First Grade

PACTOLUS — The first graders at Pactolus Elementary School will have a holiday Tuesday—and will not have to attend school.

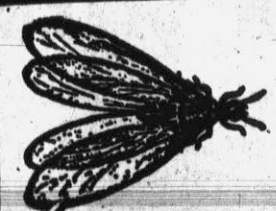

Tuesday will be pre-school testing day for children who will be first graders next fall. The result of the tests will be used in placing the students during the first part of the 1971-72 school year.

The pre-schoolers will be allowed to ride the school buses to school on Tuesday morning. Students will be supervised upon arrival by first grade teachers.

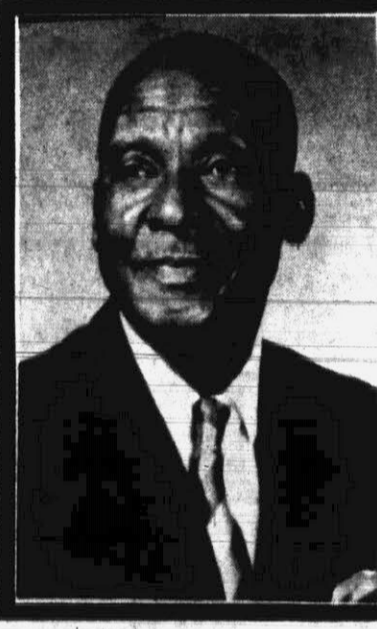

According to Principal Bryant Tripp, testing should be completed by 12 noon. If possible, parents should pick up their children at this time in the school library.

The students will assemble in the lunchroom Tuesday morning before going to the testing area. All pre-school children should attend school this day.

Can you find the Volkswagen hidden in this picture?

If you can, you'll make us very sad. Because we've troubled ourselves no end to hide it from you.

Our quest for the invisible Volkswagen took us all the way to Turin, Italy.

Where we asked the famous Ghia Studios to design us a sporty Italian body.

They did. Their drawings clutched tightly in hand, we secretly prowled about Europe for the best coach builder we could find.

Success. To the Karmann Coachworks of Osnabruck we handed over Ghia's sketches with the injunction:

"Make it beautiful." (Or else.) They did.

They welded. And burnished. And sculpted. And sanded. And painted.

Until they had shaped in steel what Ghia had shaped in pencil.

Smug in the knowledge that nobody could ever mistake this beautiful car for a Volkswagen, we made it a Volkswagen.

By concealing our air-cooled engine in back. (For better traction.)

And making it go about 26 miles on just one gallon.

Then we gave this Volkswagen its final disguise.

We named it the Karmann Ghia.

TO THE VOTERS

Mr. Wooten seems in some of his advertising to believe that the Greenville voters are totally as ignorant of the facts concerning the Central Business District redevelopment plan as he apparently is.

He has made both the implication and the assertion that the taxpayers of Greenville are being asked to pay for the rehabilitation of personal property in the CBD area. THIS IS ABSOLUTELY INCORRECT. Any improvements or rehabilitation of personal property in the Central Business Area will be PAID FOR BY THE PROPERTY OWNERS. City revenues will be used to pay for streets, curb and guttering, electrical wiring, sewers, and other facilities of this type.

It must be noted that all of the work planned by the City in the CBD area is work that must and will be done in any event with or without redevelopment funds. It should also be noted that for every dollar the City pays on these improvements the Federal Government will pay three dollars. You, the taxpayers of Greenville are not being asked to pay for the rehabilitation of personal property.

It is unbelievable that a man seeking reelection to head the government of this City would resort to completely untruthful statements to the voters of this City in relation to the CBD plan. If Mayor Wooten had taken time to attend even one Redevelopment Commission meeting during his tenure of office he might be in a better position to understand what is going on.

It would be well to note that it is against the law to use any advalorem tax monies for the CBD Redevelopment Project and this has been explained to Mr. Wooten in detail several times. It is hard to understand how he could still fail to understand this.

Davidson Students Make First-Hand Prison Study

DAVIDSON, N.C. (AP) — Twenty-three Davidson students had such prison-cell experiences this spring in a study which they conceived and for which they expect to get course credits.

The project is called "extended studies," a Davidson program encouraging students to put their liberal arts education to the test in the real world.

"What we're trying to do is learn all we can about the whole system of justice and prisons in North Carolina," said Michael S. Wheeler, Blacksburg, Va., a sophomore who helped get the study going.

"When we finish, we hope to draw up a report on how the prison system could be improved," he said.

The students are working in four different prison units in or near Mecklenburg County. Some are interviewing new inmates to learn something of their criminal histories, interests and personalities.

Davidson psychologist Edward L. Palmer helped the students form psychological personality tests.

Other students are working in detention units in an effort to understand the feelings of prisoners and their guards. Several students have taken honor prisoners out for visits to games, films or other entertainment on the Davidson campus or in nearby Charlotte.

"Some of the prisoners are interested only in what they can get out of you," Wheeler said. "But there are others who are genuinely interested in self-improvement and are more cooperative. Nearly all of them appreciate having someone to talk to, and they really open up once they learn they can trust you."

The students at first were concerned about the attitude of prison guards. But those fears were dispelled on contact with guards on the job.

"The guards are nearly all willing to talk very frankly about their jobs and their problems," said one student. "Some of them have their own personal philosophies that are just as interesting as the philosophy of a college professor."

The Davidson student said the study idea was generated by the visit of Jim Ladd, a young assistant to Corrections Commissioner Lee Bounds who is doing graduate work in Arkansas.

Ladd was on the campus last fall recruiting for the prison system. About the same time, Wheeler and a group of his friends were looking for an extended studies project.

"These students fit into our department's efforts at humanizing our whole operation," said Daniel Pickett, director of correctional programs in the South Piedmont area. "Also, there is increasing interest among young men — often the same guys who have considered being ministers or psychologists — in professional rehabilitation work."

"There are three recent Davidson graduates right now in various posts in our department," he added.

Wheeler said his work in the prisons so far had convinced him poor people get a raw deal in the North Carolina system.

"When they are arrested, they can't afford to post bond, and they sometimes sit in jail for months awaiting trial," he said.

"Then when they come to trial a court-appointed attorney tells them to plead guilty so they'll get off easy — and they find themselves right back in prison. Just a careful cost analysis would probably show that the system is economically self-defeating and that permanent rehabilitation would save the state money in the long run."

FELLOW CITIZENS

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

It has been an honor and a privilege to have served as one of your city councilmen for seven years. Four of these years I have served as your Mayor-pro-tem. I am again asking for the opportunity to serve you.

I have always tried to represent all the people and still do what I believed was in the best interest of Greenville. I have always taken time to listen to the various problems of our citizens, whether at home or at work and to follow through and do what I could to help them.

If re-elected I will continue to work toward the betterment of Greenville and its citizens.

I would appreciate your vote and support next Tuesday, May 4, 1971.

Sincerely yours,
PERCY R. COX

Grants Awarded To Clergymen

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fellowship grants totaling $66,600 have been awarded by the Episcopal Church Foundation to 12 ordained clergymen for advanced theological study during the 1971-1972 academic year.

William A. Coolidge, foundation president, said four fellowships went to first-time recipients and eight were given for further work toward doctorates by men previously selected. Since 1964, when the program was inaugurated, 41 young clergymen have been awarded grants totaling about $360,000. The foundation is a national organization of Episcopal laymen.

Jack Frost Is Returning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Jack Frost has a little surprise in store for some North Carolinians who figure spring-like weather was here to stay.

Frost is likely tonight in the western and northern inland sections of the state. Cooler weather is predicted for the entire state for the next couple of days.

The cooler weather comes on the heels of Sunday's thunderstorms that rumbled across North Carolina. Rainfall ranged from about a third of an inch in the Raleigh area to about three quarters of an inch at Cape Hatteras.

Asheville and Greensboro reported only a trace of rain.

High temperatures Tuesday will range from the 50s in the mountains to the upper 60s along the south coast. Today's partly cloudy skies will be followed by sunny skies Tuesday.

Seeking An End To Duplication

NEW YORK (UPI)—The nation's brokerage firms, wrestling with increasing mountains of paper work, also are looking for ways to cut into the upwards of $10 million in excess postage caused by duplicate mailings to their customer lists.

"These usually redundant mailings to households with multiple accounts offer opportunity for substantial savings in postage and production costs by eliminating duplications," says Leon Malin, vice president of Mathematical Applications Group, Inc. (MAGI), a diversified computer systems firm. He cited a brokerage firm's annual reports as a "frequent example" of duplicate mailings.

Prof Swims On His Lunch Hour

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Mathematics professor Henry Minc, 51, has swum more than 1,700 miles—on his lunch hour.

The 51-year-old teacher at the University of California Santa Barbara figures he has averaged about 270 chlorinated miles annually since he began his noon-time swimming at the school recreation department's outdoor pool in 1963.

$500 Million Is Spent On Litter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cleaning up litter in the United States costs as much each year as it would to build 12,500 new classrooms for 375,000 pupils, says Keep America Beautiful, Inc. Almost one-half billion dollars must be spent annually to spruce up highways, parks, beaches and other public places, according to the anti-litter group.

Hawaii has imported just about everything from the Caribbean, including such familiar symbols as grass skirts.

ATTENTION VOTERS

In reading the political oriented ads in our local paper in the last several days, I was particularly interested in a portion of an ad regarding street paving in our city during the present administration's tenure of office.

The actual report of streets paved in the city of Greenville from July 1, 1965 to April 23, 1971 as compiled from the Powell Bill participation data by the City Engineer is as follows:

	Miles	Mayor
July 1, 1965, to July 1, 1966	3.85	Gene West
July 1, 1966, to July 1, 1967	3.86	Gene West
July 1, 1967, to July 1, 1968	1.11	Gene West
July 1, 1968, to July 1, 1969	3.05	Gene West
July 1, 1969, to July 1, 1970	2.33	Frank Wooten
July 1, 1970 to April 23, 1971	.59	Frank Wooten

This clearly shows that during Frank Wooten's tenure in office there has been a rather sharp decrease in paving, but the majority of paving carried out during the first year of this administration's tenure of office was planned and started by the previous administration under Gene West!

P.S. This data sheet was compiled at the request of the present administration, but for some reason, was then not printed!

It would appear to me that a vote for Gene West would get the city's street paving program back on the right course.

Farm Scene

By LEROY JAMES

Soybean producers in North Carolina have been warned to be careful about the quality of soybean seed this spring. The crop was affected by dry weather last summer, and germination percentage was affected in some instances. Specialists at North Carolina

State University have warned farmers and seedsmen about the low germination possibility, and are urging growers who saved their own seed to have germination tests made. In North Carolina, Extension Agronomist John Clapp said germination has been as low as 20 to 30 per cent in some tests. "Unfortunately, these conditions have occurred over most of the Southeast," Clapp said. This could put a strain on our 1971 seed supply, by 10 per centage points. Certified soybean seed — with the blue tag — will be sold this year with a germination rate of 70 per cent or above. However, in the state the seed with a germination rate of 70 to 79 per cent must be marked "Substandard in Germination." Growers who plan to use their own seed stock should be sure to have a germination test run on the seed before planting. A representative sample — about one-half pound — can be sent to the Seed Testing Division, N. C. Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C. 27602.

an adult moth. Usually the tobacco moth passes the winter and migrates to cracks and crevices about the building, where they spin loose cocoons of silk in which to hibernate. If you have not already cleaned the scrap tobacco from your packhouse, it should be removed and burned as soon as possible. Or, if corn or other grain has been stored through the winter in the packhouse, or has been moved from the building this spring, it is time to give the packhouse a thorough cleaning. When cleaning, all slats should be removed from the walls, then the walls brushed down. Normally it is not practical to fumigate stored tobacco on the farm. If it is absolutely necessary to hold tobacco for several weeks, and it is severely infested, place tobacco under a plastic cover and make the cover as tight as possible. Fumigate for 24 hours with 2 pounds of methyl bromide. Let tobacco air out at least 48 hours before handling.

Mark 75 Years Of Social Help

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Volunteers of America, a national social welfare organization observing its 75th anniversary, expects to help more than 2 million people in need this year at its more than 630 service centers.

The organization reported a 50 per cent increase in its overall services to Americans last year and is hoping to continue the upward trend. VOA programs, which embrace all races, creeds, and colors, include day care centers, maternity homes, summer camps for the underprivileged, housing for low-income families, residences and clubs for the aged, disaster relief and halfway houses for chronic alcoholics.

Seek Boost Farm Prices

RALEIGH (AP) — Some 8,000 to 10,000 North Carolina farmers were expected to begin withholding their hogs and corn from the market today as part of a nationwide "Farmers' Vacation" movement aimed at driving prices up.

"We'll go for a while without selling corn and hogs and see what will happen to prices," said Carlton Hyman of Tarboro, a member of the state executive board of the National Farmers Organization.

The NFO made plans for the sales "holiday" at a national board meeting in Corning, Iowa, last week.

Hyman said the holiday from selling would continue "for a period as yet undetermined." The object is for the NFO to get contracts with buyers at satisfactory price levels.

"Hog prices to farmers are still ridiculously low, around 15 to 16 cents a pound," he said. "Corn peaked at around $.80 a bushel in March and has now leveled off around $.64 to $.65 at a time when the price should be rising."

Earlier in the year, North Carolina and Virginia NFO members staged "Operation Pork Chop" to protest low hog prices. They drove truckloads of hogs down Washington's Pennsylvania Avenue and displayed signs protesting prices.

Tobacco TIPS

By S. J. WEEKS
The stored tobacco moth is a common pest on many farms and often causes serious damage to stored tobacco. Most damage caused by this insect occurs between the time the tobacco is cured and the time it is sold. This insect generally prefers to feed on the lug and cutter grades of the tobacco, those high in sugar content.

The life history of the tobacco moth is similar to most other insects. The moth lays eggs in or near the piles of stored tobacco. The larvae are tiny when first hatched, but grow to about one-half inch in length. They are pinkish-white in color with a reddish head. When the larvae is full grown, it spins a weblike cocoon in which it transforms into a pupa and then emerges as

One 2 lb. can of Lannate stops insect damage on up to 8 acres of tobacco

Insects hit directly by the spray begin falling minutes after spraying. Some LANNATE is absorbed into the plant, where it continues to kill insects as they feed. Yet LANNATE doesn't linger. It does its job and then breaks down into materials commonly found in nature.

LANNATE performs at low rates, and that means more for your money when you're buying insecticides. This unique formulation of water-soluble powder dissolves easily and contains no solvents to "burn" foliage. Remember—it's the worm that costs you money, not the insecticide. Start early and get a jump on the bugs.

As LANNATE is a highly toxic chemical and protective equipment is recommended, read and follow label instructions and warnings carefully.

Make more soybeans... make more money... the No-Til way.

No-Til economies are big news! No-Til eliminates trips over your fields—cuts the cost and work of getting a soybean crop in. No-Til can be a one-trip practice which gives you a far better chance to plant more areas on time... for a fast start, a full season of growth.

No-Til starts with an Allis-Chalmers 600 Series planter so flexible you can plant 40- or 38-inch rows today... change to 30- or 20-inch rows anytime just by adding planter units onto the same frame.

And you can take full advantage of double cropping opportunities with direct sod or stubble planting... or plant easily eroded hills or slopes that otherwise don't return a profit.

Then, to get the most out of your No-Til soybean program, you need fast, weed-free early growth. That's where Du Pont LOROX comes in. LOROX controls a wide range of weeds and grasses that plague soybean growers. With Surfactant WK, LOROX gives both contact and residual action.

See how much more you can make by doing less. See your Allis-Chalmers dealer for the equipment you need. See your agricultural chemicals dealer for LOROX. It's a winning combination to make more beans and make more money.

With any chemical, follow labeling instructions and warnings carefully.

The bidding has proceeded:
South West North East
2 ♠ Pass 1 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Dble. 1 ♠ Pass
? What is your response?
A.—Two spades. In this sequence of bidding North's response is not forcing. When a bid is made over an adverse double great strength is denied, for, with a good hand, responder's proper procedure is to redouble. This hand has some attractive features, however, and a raise is recommended. Without a heart stopper, the raise is infinitely superior to a rebid of one no trump.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AJ93 ♥63 ♦KJ6 ♣AK52
The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
Pass 1 ♠ Pass 1 ♠
Pass 2 ♠ Pass ?
What is your response?
A.—Three diamonds. This may seem a bit irregular in view of the fact that we have such a distinct preference for clubs, but the bid is employed in a tempting manner. The hand must be bid in such a way as to convince partner that he should bid a slam if he is not faced with a loss of two quick heart tricks. The jump in diamonds will be followed by a strong raise in clubs on the next round. Investigation by means of Blackwood will not be helpful for partner might have the materials of slam in a hand that contains only one ace.

A.—Four clubs. Opposite an opening bid which counts 19 points in high cards, your hand holds forth good prospects of a slam. Partner's action over your four club bid should prove enlightening. He will realize you have 10 or 11 cards in the black suits and if he holds the controls he will be in position to bid a slam.

What action do you take?
A.—Pass. We do not favor a raise to three hearts which would be an invitation to proceed to game. It must be recalled that partner did not advertise a very strong hand. Had partner desired to indicate strength his proper procedure would have been a takeout double of two diamonds.

Claim Barriers To Rural Loan Money

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Southern Regional Council (SRC) has charged that racism and inadequate guidelines are preventing needy rural families from getting federal housing assistance. In its monthly publication, "South Today," the SRC says that loan funds of the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) have increased greatly in recent years, but says the money, "like the majority of other rural loan packages, is not designed to reach the poor."

"Traditional racism" in the FmHA and its parent organization, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, prevents fair dispersal of loans to blacks, it says. The SRC report contends that persons with incomes below the federally-defined poverty level are excluded from participation in the most important areas of the FmHA housing program. Between 60 and 70 per cent of the nation's substandard housing is found in rural America, it says, adding that "a large percentage of this is in the South."

The SRC says this is true because the FmHA is "super-conscious of the desires of Congress and super-sensitive to the charge that it is giving money away in a socialistic fashion."

BILL DANSEY
COUNCILMAN

The Agriculture department, it says, is "an extremely conservative branch of the government which has been firmly in control of the less visionary members of Congress since shortly after World War II."

THE FUTURE.

WHAT'S IN IT FOR THEM?

It's never too early to plan ahead for the future. Especially when it comes to saving money. And that's where First Federal Savings can help—planning a better future for you and your family with a "regular savings program". It's where you put something away from every paycheck, regularly, and earn the highest interest that's available. It could mean that college education for the kids. First Federal helps you build for your future. Stop by First Federal and find out about "regular savings". It's all in your interest.
