Councilmen Endorse Buying Bank Bldg.

By STUART SAVAGE Reflector Staff Writer
The City Council, at a special meeting last night, gave the go-ahead to Greenville Utilities Commission plans to purchase the main offices of Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. here as a utilities office building.
Mayor S. Eugene West, commenting on the proposal, termed the transaction "an excellent business proposition..." and said it had been "well conceived."
The council's action was unanimous in endorsing the proposed purchase.
Under the purchase agreement, the Utilities Commission will purchase the multi-story facility in the name of the city for $325,000, effective June 1.
Wachovia will then - in a prepaid lease arrangement - lease the building from the commission for a period of two years for a total of $65,000, thus making the net cost of the building $260,000.
The lease period, Horne explained, will allow Wachovia to construct new quarters for its banking business.
The Wachovia building across Fifth Street from City Hall, was completed in 1959 and occupied by Guaraffy Bank and Trust Company (which merged with Wachovia in May, 1960) on January 2, 1960. Cost of the facility, including land, amounted to about $800,000. Its present value including the 143 feet by 134 feet lot, according to Pitt County Tax Department records, is $432,000.
The Utilities Commission held a special meeting Wednesday night to discuss the purchase and gave their approval at that time.
Director of Utilities Charles Horne said Wachovia has talked of selling the building since December, but "made a firm offer Tuesday."
According to Horne, the 20,000 square feet of space available in the Wachovia facility will provide adequate quarters for the commission for 20 to 50 years.
The commission now leases office space in City Hall from the city for $900 per month. "The city has no more space (in the present municipal building)... and our needs cannot be adequately met here," Horne explained. With the commission offices moved from City Hall, Horne said the city will be able to expand their offices in the present building.
"We feel Wachovia has made a reasonable price," Commission chairman Hoover Taft said. "We're pleased with it... and we feel like it is economically feasible for us to purchase it."
He added that the location will "keep unity between the city and the commission."
R. W. Howard, senior executive officer of Wachovia here, said the bank "is certainly delighted in being able to make these arrangements possible..."
He added, "we are extremely pleased that the council has approved the purchase of our property for the future use of the Utilities Commission."
"We shall, within the next few days be in a position," Howard explained, "to announce plans regarding a new location for Wachovia and construction of an attractive new building to serve the community."

Receiving Diplomas Tonight

About 380 Rose High seniors will receive their diplomas tonight as another group of young Greenville people complete twelve years in public schools.
At 8:00 p.m., in Ficklen Stadium on East Carolina University campus, graduation exercises will begin. This year the exercise is an "all-student" one, with the two speakers drawn from their own ranks, with Senior Class president Tim Leith presiding.
Harry Alexander Allen, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Alexander Allen, II and Miss Rhonda Banks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee Banks, are the two senior speakers.
Members of the Greenville City School Board will join the students in the ceremony, marching with them in the processional.
The school superintendent, chairman and other members of the school board will participate in the ceremony of presenting diplomas to individual students. Seniors chosen by their fellow seniors will perform the turning of the tassel ceremony.
Tonight's graduation will end with the singing of the national anthem.
In the event of rain, the Rose High commencement exercises will be held in Minges Coliseum.
The public is invited to attend tonight's graduation exercise.

Groups Warned Against Flower Child? Lobbying In Scott Fight

By NOEL YANCEY Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH (AP) - A legislative leader has warned alumni groups of the Consolidated University of North Carolina not to undertake a lobbying campaign against Gov. Bob Scott's proposal to place state-supported universities under a new board of regents.
Such a campaign, said Rep. Perry Martin, D-Northampton, would be in violation of federal law dealing with tax-exempt corporations and might cause them to lose their tax-exempt status.
Martin also cautioned trustees of the Consolidated University of North Carolina against carrying on a campaign against the board of regents proposal through the alumni association of the six units of the Consolidated University.
"I don't think we need any organization for or against the bill," Martin, chairman of the House Committee on Higher Education, told a hastily-called news conference.
Martin said he was prompted by a letter the Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro was circulating among legislators, and by reports that other UNC alumna groups had started a telephone campaign against the recommendations which call for elimination of the Consolidated University structure.
The recommendations were made by a committee headed by former State Sen. Lindsay Warren Jr. of Goldsboro.
Rep. Ike Andrews, D-Chat-ham, a trustee of the Consolidated University who signed the minority report of the Warren committee, charged that a "concentrated effort" appeared to be under way "to silence some of us" who opposed the Warren Committee recommendations.
The minority report called for retention of the Consolidated University and strengthening of the state Board of Higher Education.
Andrews said if the UNC trustees come out in opposition to the proposal he hopes they will set up a committee to carry on a campaign of opposition.

Lt. Gov. Taylor Says Today's Generation Is 'Most Favored'

WINTERVILLE - Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor spoke here last night at the tenth anniversary celebration of the Winterville Kiwanis Club.
Taylor, saying today's generation is "the most favored generation in history, and yet the most dissatisfied," commented, "by and large, I am proud of our generation and of how we have built on the foundation left us. I hope you do as well."
Taylor said, "I think we can say to young Americans... you will, if you will leave your zeal with a little humor, your egotism with a little history, and ask why your insistence on universal love seems so often to express itself in hate for those who differ with you."
The speaker continued, "you say that we are too concerned with profits, but if you think we value too highly the security of material possessions, let me remind you of this: We were born in the aftermath of one great conflict, grew up in history's greatest depression, and graduated in time to fight man's grisliest war. Getting out, we had one thing uppermost in mind - we wanted better, for ourselves and for you, and we have pretty well gotten it."
Taylor noted that today's generation should be "angered" and "incensed" by injustices, unemployment, hunger and poor living conditions, but reminded "you are the biggest, tallest, healthiest, brightest and hand-somest generation to inhabit this land... are going to live longer, suffer sickness less often, work fewer hours, learn more, see more of the world's grandeur, and have more choice of your life's undertaking than any generation before."
If the present generation can make as much progress as past generations have in these areas, and in the area of racial equality, Taylor commented, the present generation should be able to solve the problems.
The Viet Nam war, Taylor noted, is probably the "number one source of discontent..." adding that "you protest that the government lies, conceals, and compromises."
But, the lieutenant governor commented, "ideals alone are often an inadequate vessel for the rough trip through the rapids of international politics. And since neither Moscow, nor Peking, or Hanoi are run by holy men - and I might add that Washington is not run by men of omnipotence - survival sometimes requires compromise with full candor."
"Human, fall short of them? I don't think so," he emphasized.
"I ask you to take our shortcomings and our problems and not consider them to be insurmountable burdens but as invitations to accomplishment in the years to come."
Winterville Kiwanis president Linwood Hooks presided at last night's anniversary celebration.

Now 20 Bodies Uncovered In Machete Murders

By KEITH HEARN
YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) - Eight more bodies have been dug up in fruit orchards near here, bringing to 20 the number found along the Feather River, law enforcement officers said.
"It seems there's no end to them," a weary deputy sheriff said as the toll mounted Thursday.
Sheriff Roy D. Whiteaker said three more bodies were found Thursday afternoon for a total of 15.
Later, a Yuba City sheriff said the number rose to 20 as night fell.
"Somewhere around here we've got one hell of a crime scene," the policeman said.
Both asked that they not be identified as Whiteaker directed that others not comment on the case. The sheriff refused comment on whether the additional five bodies had been found.
Whiteaker had said the first 15 bodies were of transient farm workers or drifters ranging in age from 40 to 63. All had been hacked and slashed to death on the back of the head by a machete or similar weapon.
There were no descriptions of the latest five bodies.
Isolated in a Yuba City jail and charged Wednesday with 10 of the murders was Juan V. Corona, 37, of Yuba City, who spent three months in a state mental hospital in 1966.
There still was no apparent motive for the macabre slayings.
The three bodies reported by Whiteaker were in crude, shallow graves in peach and plum orchards. "I have no idea" how long the search will continue, the sheriff said.
Officers worked in cool rain Thursday, using a tractor-driven trench digger, then shovels to find three bodies.
Suspected graves have been discovered during general searches by lawmen and farmers in a mile-square area along the Feather River five miles north of Yuba City. Whiteaker described them as "indentations" in the soil.
He declined to say whether officers had probed any suspected sites and found them empty.
"We do believe there are some more areas that need to be checked out and searched," said the sheriff, who refused to discuss any aspect of Corona's involvement other than to say "we're certain he committed the murders."

Couple Speaks Vows In Ceremony Great Pocahontas Of N.C. Installed

SIMPSON — Miss Cheryl Eltina Tetterton became the bride of SP-4 Troy Alvin Mabery in a double ring ceremony on Thursday at six o'clock in the evening at the Phillipi Missionary Baptist Church here. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. David James Tetterton of Grimesland and Mr. and Mrs. Odester Mabery of Ayden. The Rev. C. B. Gray performed the ceremony. A program of wedding music was furnished by Johnny Wooten, organist, and Mrs. Nora E. Gatlin, soloist, both of Greenville. Mrs. Gatlin sang "Bridge Over Troubled Waters" and as the couple knelt on a prie-dieu of white satin, she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with a fifteen branch candelabra, with baskets of gladioli and mums, mingled with green spray. The family pews were marked with white satin ribbons. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length white organza gown styled with a high neckline encircled with Venise lace flower trim. The waistline was accentuated by an organza band finished in the back with a satin bow and long streamers. The sheer Bishop sleeves and deep cuffs were also trimmed in Venise lace. The flared skirt and detachable chapel length train were styled with appliques of matching lace.

She wore a bouffant illusion veil attached to a tiara headpiece of organza loops and rosebuds. A bouquet of white daisies centered with a white rose was carried by the bride. Miss Sarah Parker of Simpson was maid of honor. She wore a spring green empire styled short gown with a green bow headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies. Greenville Jaycees Earn 7 Awards For Excellence

The Greenville Jaycees Winston-Salem. received seven awards for excellence in their programs and activities during the past year at the annual N.C. Jaycee State Convention held recently in Winston-Salem. According to local president Jack Wall the Greenville club has never before received the awards that were presented this year. "We are all certainly proud of these fine awards," Wall said, "and in comparison with the other 223 chapters in the state we know that our projects and programs can continue to be successful in improving our community when we are honored in this way. Of course these projects would not have been successful without the tremendous support of the many citizens, merchants and businessmen in the community. We sincerely thank them for their loyal support."

Greenville was presented the Giessenber Award, named for the founder and first president of the U.S. Jaycees, which is given to the local club judged as having the most outstanding programs in each of the five population divisions. Greenville was first in division Four.

The local chapter received the first place award in Parade Of Cities in division five. This award goes to the most active clubs in the state. Divisions in this category are based on the size of club membership. Greenville won over Raleigh, Charlotte, Greensboro, Winston-Salem and several other larger chapters.

Also the club received four awards for projects and programs held during the year and recorded on records and recognition forms for judging. These were: 1st place in ways and means; 2nd place in chapter management and individual development; 2nd place in governmental involvement; and 3rd place in inter-club relations. All of these awards were in division four.

Concern Over $400 Billion Debt

Senate Appropriations Chairman Allen Ellender is justifiably concerned about the size of the $400 billion national debt. And there is no question that his concern is shared by most citizens and taxpayers.

Sen. Ellender said he had put his staff and a bank of computers to work to make the size of the debt more comprehensible in terms readily understood by the average American.

Ominous Climb In Road Deaths

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Is success spoiling the highway safety program in North Carolina? Deaths on the state's streets and highways decreased two years running: from 1,869 in 1968, down to 1,805 in 1969; further down to 1,772 in 1970. Counted on the basis of motor vehicle violations."

Garrett, a Madison native elected three times to the General Assembly before his career in state government, joined the motor vehicles department in 1943. He became assistant commissioner two years later, and stepped up to the commissioner's post in February, 1969.

He's seen the department grow from a force of 500 to 2,500, while the number of registered vehicles on the state's roads soared from 700,000 to 3,300,000.

Over that same period, the death rate per 100 million miles of travel plummeted from 14.83 to last year's record low of 5.6.

The actual number of deaths, of course, rose from 684 in 1943 to 1,772 last year; but in relation to the number of vehicles and the mileage traveled, the rate went down.

Rate May Fall Again
Further reduction in the rate is possible this year; while the number of deaths is up about 5 per cent, auto registration and travel mileage show a rise of 8 to 10 per cent.

Achievement is a reason to try harder, not a cause to relax, Commissioner Garrett said. Through the years, the State Highway Patrol and the department have won numerous awards for excellence in program.

"But I have always told our troopers that, unfortunately, our highway safety activities never will be like a ball game. We can't consider that we've won the pennant, and deserve a rest. Highway safety is a problem that demands our best, day-by-day, year-by-year."

Nothing easily explains why 71 fatalities are ahead of the same period last year. A recent rash of multiple-death accidents has been a factor, and patrolmen have a saying that among things you can't control is the number of persons in a car when it wrecks.

"Short term statistics are not too revealing," Garrett said. Still, the lead over '70 and the fact that the second half of the year normally records a higher toll than the first six months makes it unlikely North Carolina will have a third straight lower numerical count of annual highway deaths.

What is needed, Garrett said, is renewed public awareness that highway safety is a problem, and revived will to do something about it.

"Absolutely, that would help," he said. "Every person should resolve to do everything within his power to comply with rules for safety, beginning with fastening the seat belt. There let your concern be known, through your civic organizations, contact with legislators, and what you say to friends on the street."

Examples:

It would take the 50 members of the Senate 267 years to count 400 billion one dollar bills if they worked an eight-hour day, 260 days a year, without coffee breaks, vacations, and presumably without time out for jaunts abroad at taxpayer expense.

Placed end-to-end 400 billion one dollar bills would make a path 35 feet wide from the earth to the moon.

Stacked one on top of the other, 400 billion one dollar bills would stand 27,095 miles high.

At its present rate of production it would take the Bureau of Printing and Engraving about 171 years to print that many one dollar bills.

These and other examples Sen. Ellender's staff came up with are most impressive.

But they also raise another haunting question: Wonder how much it cost the American taxpayers for the staff and bank of computers to come up with these vivid examples of what a $400 billion national debt means?

Dehumanizing Display In 20 Tons Of Waste

Literally millions of hopes, appeals and dreams for just a modicum of mercy in the treatment of American prisoners in North Vietnam lie collecting dust in a Parisian cellar.

They are the letters and petitions painstakingly compiled and addressed to the North Vietnamese "peace" delegation. In all, the unopened mail totals something more than 20 tons of scrap paper.

The Communists have consistently refused to accept the tide of heartfelt sentiment from Americans, and the unofficial custodian of the vast outpouring says more arrives daily.

Reflecting on this, and scores of other displays of simple inhumanity, it causes one to speculate that communism does de-humanize...and that its robot-like spokesmen in Paris have lost those human qualities which remain mankind's greater asset.

Quiet Pressure Against Israel

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — By extraordinary coincidence, an unpublicized event took place in Europe just before Secretary of State William P. Rogers's visit to Jerusalem that played straight into Rogers's new strategy of avoiding harsh and direct U.S. pressures to force Israeli withdrawal from the Egyptian Sinai Peninsula.

Meeting in total secrecy in Paris late last month, senior diplomats of the six European Common Market countries drafted a cold political response to the long-pending Israeli request for associate membership in the Common Market.

These diplomats, who have been meeting off and on for several years to devise common political positions by the Common Market, took this extremely hard-line position: until Israel agrees to virtually complete withdrawal from all Arab lands seized in the 1967 war, a formal association of Israel with the Common Market is highly unlikely.

That dovetails perfectly with the Rogers strategy, fully concurred in by President Nixon, to create a set of political conditions that leave Israel no alternative but to start the traumatic process of withdrawal from the banks of the Suez Canal and, eventually, from the entire Sinai.

When partial word of this secret draft in Paris leaked (probably from the French Foreign Office), the Israeli government reacted furiously. Foreign Minister Abba Eban fired diplomatic bullets to the capitals of the six Common Market capitals—Paris and Rome.

The sharp Israeli anger resulted from understandable fear that the Common Market countries were using unfair pressures on Israel at a suspenseful moment in the Middle East drama. With Rogers about to begin the first Middle East visit by an American Secretary of State in almost 20 years, the prevailing Israeli fear of being victimized by the rest of the world—and historically-rooted national mood—transmuted the Common Market document as an outrageous inference in delicate Israeli-Egyptian negotiations.

In fact, however, the still-secret document calling on Israel to withdraw from the Sinai is exactly the kind of non-American pressure that the Nixon administration hopes to see a lot more of. Mr. Nixon, in short, wants at all costs to avoid public U.S. pressures on Israel that could set off emotional debates in Congress and start unravelling progress toward a settlement that Rogers's careful diplomacy has made since last August's ceasefire.

Quiet pressures are already working from Washington. The U.S. has failed to say yes, for example, to last fall's Israeli request for more military hardware, including the F-4 Phantom. Nor has there been the slightest indication that the U.S. will say yes to the far more important Israeli request for financial aid, including an outright grant of $200 million.

For a reason quite different from the desire to involve the Western Europeans, Rogers and the White House are now also plotting to bring the Soviet Union back into the Israeli-Egyptian negotiations over the canal. Their motive is to keep the Soviets as responsible as possible in the Mideast by giving them a stake in a peaceful solution.

This reflects deep anxiety here as to how the Russians, with their billions of dollars worth of military, economic, and political investments in Egypt, will react now that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat has tossed the most notorious pro-Soviet

THINK—DON'T LAUGH
Ridicule is that form of rebuttal to which men generally resort when they run out of ideas.

Think about this connection with the things you are inclined to ridicule and things that you observe others ridiculing. Is not ridicule often a sort of defense mechanism against arguments too hot to handle?

Some things, of course, are well turned off with a laugh. Many a quarrel could have been stopped in the beginning if someone had had grace enough to crack a joke. Many a feud could be terminated with a hearty laugh and a few slaps on the back. Ridicule and laughter have their place in the solution of problems, but it is tragic when ridicule is substituted for reason in such situations.

Think how they ridiculed Socrates. At first they ridiculed Columbus, but when they realized that he was serious in what he said and was actually going to try to make the voyage, they turned heaven and earth to hand him over to the authorities of the Inquisition.

Puritanism has been laughed at since it first got started and for the simple reason that men do not like the strictness of its moral requirements.

The laughed at the Wright brothers fifty years ago. Today they are laughing at flying saucers. What next?

WASHINGTON — The little old lady was standing at the street corner nervously waiting to cross when the boy scout came up to her.

"Can I help you across the street, ma'am?" the boy scout said.

"Why, that's very kind of you," the little old lady said, extending her arm.
The boy scout took it, and the two started across the street. Then the little old lady whispered out of the side of her mouth, "I'm Harrigan, FBI. Anything to report?"

The boy scout looked surprised. "I beg your pardon, ma'am?"

The little old lady flashed a card in her pocketbook. "I'm Harrigan, FBI, in charge of the boy scout detail. You seen anything suspicious in the neighborhood?"

"I don't understand," the boy scout said. "Aren't you a little old lady?"

"No, dammit," Harrigan said. "If I were a little old lady, I'd be able to cross the street myself. Now tell me everything you know before someone gets suspicious."

"I can make some very interesting knots, sir. And I believe I have my signal flags down pretty good."

"I'm not interested in that. What's going on in the neighborhood? Have you heard of any priests or nuns conspiring to kidnap Henry Kissinger?"

"I don't know, sir. I'm with the Methodist troop."
"Never mind, and watch where you're going or we're going to get run over by a car."

"I need information. Anyone planning to blow up the underground heating system in the city?" Harrigan asked.

"Not that I know of. My brother said he was going to blow up his school."

"Very good," Harrigan said, taking a pad and pencil out of his pocketbook. "What's his name?"

"Gerard," the boy scout said. "But Mom said not to pay any attention to him. He's 7 years old."

Harrigan was getting exasperated. Several automobiles were honking their horns, and they hadn't

A 'No' Can Be Safer

NEW YORK (AP) — Survival depends on the ability to say no.

listen to the still small voice of caution whispering urgently, "Stop: This is far enough."

How do you learn to say no? Simply by saying it in every situation in which you could wind up being a patsy. Here, for example, are some invitations which, if accepted, are almost certain to lead to rue or ruin:

"Since taking my yoga lessons I feel as relaxed as a pretzel. Shall I teach you how to do a few?"

"Oh, go ahead and quit dawdling, George. The light will turn green before we're halfway across the street."

"Do you want to take a look at my hole card? It'll only cost you $10."

"I can't imagine what happened to my date. He told me to meet him at this bar half an hour ago, and he still hasn't shown up. Would you care to buy me a drink while I'm waiting?"

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL

May 28, 1931
All was quiet on the Capitol Square today. The General Assembly has adjourned. Amid the festivities appropriate to the occasion, the longest continuous session in the history of the state passed into history at exactly 9:49 p.m. last night. The big doors to the House and Senate chambers were flung open as Representatives and Senators stood in the aisles and Speaker Smith and Mr. Fountain simultaneously adjourned their respective houses and laid down their gavels officially ending 141 days of legislation.

Spring flowers were effectively used in the home of Mrs. J. E. Garrett Wednesday afternoon when she was hostess to the Contract Bridge Club. A hobnail glass cigarette holder was won by Miss Margaret Blow for high score.

Mrs. C. Heber Forbes returned today from New York.

Mrs. H. L. Carr has returned from a visit in New Bern, Kinston and Wilson.

Trouble in Endless Pay Hikes

By ELMER ROESSNER

There may be trouble ahead from the large increases in current wage settlements. As reported here a few days ago, increases of around one per cent a month are becoming popular. Since then Western Electric and Chesapeake and Potomac companies, four other A.T.&T. corporations, have offered the Communication Workers of America a three-year package providing a 30 per cent increase in wages and benefits. That's not quite one per cent a month, but it's close to it and the CWA says it is not enough.

The offers were said to set a pattern for 450,000 A.T.&T. communication workers.

A wage settlement of this size can't easily be laid off on higher rates for telephone users. As such, it will tend to increase the consumer price index, as will other wage increases. And the A.T.&T. proposal, like most other contracts these days, provides for additional wage increases as the index rises.

This tends to put increases on a never-ending escalator, with wage increases increasing the consumer price index and the consumer price index increasing wages, which will tend to increase the consumer price index, and so on to infinity.

ELMER ROESSNER

The Kicker
However, higher wages invite imports from low-wage countries, and imports cut employment.

Last week President Nixon certified 2,500 former U.S. television workers for trade adjustment workers. These men were thrown out of work by the closing of an RCA plant at Memphis and an Emerson plant at Jersey City. They were closed because they couldn't meet the competition from Japan. The unemployed will get cash allowance and training for new jobs.

There are many other instances. Piano manufacturing has just about ceased in the U.S. because Japan can deliver fine pianos here at lower prices.

Autos from Germany, France, Italy, England and Japan have captured about a tenth of the American market and, in announcing plans for a smaller, cheaper American car Henry Ford II admitted American auto makers cannot compete with foreign-made cars.

Textiles from the Orient are being laid down in America at half the price American-made textiles sell for. Foreign-made shoes are about half the price of comparable American shoes and unemployment has spread through the textile and shoe industries.

Candy, Eggs and Steel
The House Agriculture Committee has approved a bill to limit the importation of candy to 5 per cent of domestic production. Mexico exported 1.5 million dozen eggs in March alone and U.S. prices dropped. The Tariff Commission is being asked to limit Mexican exports.

And foreign steel producers have already captured more than a tenth of the U.S. market with cheaper steel. And if there is a steel strike here in August, foreign mills will gain more.

The present attacks on the problem consist of voluntary agreements to quota limitations, quotas imposed by Congress, stronger laws against selling below manufacturers' prices abroad, and barrier tariffs. Even if these measures will keep our foreign countries, nothing can prevent us from losing our export markets, our costs and prices rise. This loss would increase unemployment.

Endless pay increases will lead to loss of both domestic and foreign markets, more unemployment and, eventually, devaluation of the dollar if not national bankruptcy.

Memorial Day Services At Legion Post Sunday

Greenville and Pitt County residents are being invited to attend and participate in annual Memorial Day Services on Sunday at the American Legion, Pitt County Post No. 39.

Lloyd Nooe, Post Commander for Post No. 39, announced today that traditional memorial rites will begin at 3:00 p.m. Sunday, May 30.

Leroy S. Lahey of Charlotte, National Executive Committeeman of the Department of North Carolina, the American Legion, is scheduled to be a guest speaker. Lahey, a veteran of Army service during World War II, served with the 34th Infantry Division in North Africa and Italy. For seven years he has served on the Mecklenburg County-Charlotte Planning Commission.

Members of the J. H. Rose High School Band, under the direction of band leader James E. Rodgers will present a band concert from 3:00 to 3:15 p.m. The band will also accompany the public singing of "America."

Invocation will be given by Rev. Bronson Matney, Jr., pastor of Meadowbrook Presbyterian Church. A brief welcome will be extended by W. Connor Eagles, District III Commander of the American Legion.

Near the end of the program of observances, the pledge of allegiance will be said in unison. This will be followed by the lowering of the colors, with Johnnie French, Lester Adams and Oscar Moore in charge of this ceremony.

The Memorial Day observances will end with the sounding of taps.

Post Commander Nooe notes that observance of Memorial Day in Pitt County should include display of the American flag by homes and business firms.

Rescuemen Will Sell Barbecue

The Greenville Rescue Squad will sell barbecue plates at the city's Central Fire Station from 10:30 a.m. until 3 p.m.

Cost of the plates is $1.25 each and plates may be picked up or eaten at the fire station.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for training rescue squad members, and finance their participation in such training programs as the North Carolina Rescue College in Raleigh, the North Carolina Rescue Institute in Chapel Hill and in state and international rescue conferences.

Canadian Police Are Permissive

LONDON, Ont. (UPI)—A resolution proposing that U.S. draft dodgers and radicals be barred from Canada was rejected at the annual convention of the Canadian Association of Chiefs of Police. The police also turned down a proposal that rock festivals be outlawed, or the military, instead of police, be called to handle them.

politicians in jail. Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny, who made an emergency trip to Cairo this week, might at any moment outflank Sadat by publicly demanding immediate and total Israeli withdrawal from the entire Sinai.

Politically, it would be suicidal for Sadat to demand anything less than the Russians—forcing him to suddenly switch his demands from an "interim" settlement (Israeli withdrawal from the Suez Canal and reopen the canal, followed by negotiations on a final settlement) to an immediate and total withdrawal. That would create a new deadlock with renewed prospect of another war.

Rogers's plan, then, is, to try to create a climate of inevitability about a settlement in which the U.S. rules out a solo performance and in which the Russians and the Europeans play a vital role.

"For a boy scout, you don't seem to know much about what is going on in the neighborhood," he said.

"I've been playing a lot of Little League baseball, and I have homework to do, and I have to do my good turn each day, so I haven't had too much time to look around," the boy scout said apologetically.

Harrigan said, "I imagine your scoutmaster told you what we are looking for: draft dodgers, bombers, public enemies and the people who stole our files in Media, Pennsylvania."

"Yes, sir. He gave us full instructions. If I see anybody like that I'm to blow my whistle."

"Good. And remember, if you catch anybody, you get an FBI merit badge and a personally inscribed photo from J. Edgar Hoover."

"I know, sir. I dream about it every night. We're almost across the street."

"Keep holding onto my arm. Does the name Hale Boggs mean anything to you?"

"No, sir. Should I look him up in my scout manual?"

"Let it go. Okay, we made it," Harrigan said. And then in a loud squeaky voice he added, "Thank you very much, young man, for helping a poor little old lady."

"Is there anything else I can do?"

"Beat it," Harrigan whispered. "I have to wait for another boy scout to take me back across the street."

When a defender plays high-low in following to the trump suit, it conventionally announces possession of a third trump. This signal is sometimes employed merely to give partner a count. On other occasions, it announces a desire to obtain a ruff. The common sense of the situation usually enables a defender to distinguish as to which message is being given. An interesting case is offered today where South was the declarer at four hearts.

West opened the jack of spades, declarer won the trick with the ace and immediately ruffed his small spade in dummy with the three of hearts. The ace of hearts was cashed, on which East played the five and West the jack. A heart was continued and East completed his echo by following with the deuce. South put in the ten and West was in with the king.

West paused to assess the situation. One trick was already in and he could reasonably expect to win a club trick with the king. If East had the ace of diamonds or the ace of clubs that would complete the defensive book.

West searched for a way to uncover the setting trick. His partner's high low in the trump suit alerted him to the fact that East held a third heart. However, the bidding had already informed him of that fact. North had employed the two club convention asking the opening no trump bidder to show a four card major and South responded by revealing that he held four hearts, thereby marking East with three.

West reasoned that the only legitimate reason East could have had for using the trump echo was to alert West to the possibility that East wanted to ruff something. The only suit where East could be short was clubs and West returned that suit when he was in with the king of hearts. East ruffed with the nine of hearts.

East cashed the ace of diamonds and exited with a diamond and West subsequently scored the setting trick with the king of clubs.

Open Doors Of JFK Center

By MARY CAMPBELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's newest culture showcase, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, has opened its doors for the first time: a high-society preview viewing party to benefit the disadvantaged.

Some 3,500 persons paid $40 or $100 each Thursday night to attend the party. Money will be used to make the Kennedy Center accessible to the young, old and poor, beginning with the Sept. 8 premiere of an orchestral work by Leonard Bernstein.

The National Cultural Center was renamed the Kennedy Center two months after the death of President John F. Kennedy. His brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, said at the preview: "This center is not only magnificent, but the significance of it is what happens inside of it. What is terribly important now is that we have creativity here. And it's important that money be raised like tonight so that people who don't have much money can attend."

Looking around the center, where, unlike the culture centers in Los Angeles and New York, all the halls are under one roof, pianist Victor Borge said, "It's bigger than Denmark." Gazing at the 100-foot-high ceiling, he added, "And it's taller."

Patrons entered through the Hall of Nations, hung with flags of countries recognized by the United States. The parallel Hall of States was hung with state flags. Both halls lead to the Grand Foyer and its outdoor terrace, which run the length of the building, 630 feet, along the Potomac River. The opera house, between the two entrance halls, and the concert hall and Eisenhower Theater, at each end of the building, all open from the grand foyer.

Eunice Shriver, sister of the late president, trying to make a tour and constantly being greeted, said, "We haven't walked too far yet, but outside you see the trees of an island bird sanctuary in the Potomac and the river. I think it's a beautiful setting."

Rose Kennedy, the late president's mother, and two more sisters, Pat Lawford and Jean Smith, also were present.

So were Mamie Eisenhower, whose late husband signed the National Cultural Center Act in 1958; Mr. and Mrs. David Eisenhower, Marjorie Merryweather Post, Gen. William C. Westmoreland, Martha Mitchell, Perle Mesta, Sol Hurok, George Romney, Arthur Goldberg, Capt. Lloyd Bucher, Eric Bruhn, Agnes de Mille, Otto Schlesinger, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss, Rep. Hale Boggs, Henry Mancini, Count Basie, Lawrence O'Brien, Laurence Rockefeller, Otto Preminger, Rep. James W. Symington, Henry Kissinger, Sen. Birch Bayh, Jack Valenti, Byron Janis, Robert Finch.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey was succinct about the center. "I love it."

Council May Name New Member For School Bd.

The appointment of a new member to the Greenville City School Board to replace outgoing member Louis Gaylord, Jr., will possibly be one of the items on the agenda of the City Council when it meets on Thursday, June 3.

Gaylord has served the maximum of two consecutive terms, and in accordance with current legislation cannot serve a third consecutive term.

School board members, are appointed by the City Council for five year terms. Appointments are effective July 1 and expire June 30. Two of the present members, who are eligible for reappointment, have terms expiring on June 30. One, Harding Sugg, is completing his first five year term. Another member, Dr. Badger Clark, is completing the unexpired portion of a five year term.

Two years ago, legislation was enacted enlarging the membership of the Greenville City School Board from seven to nine members. At the same time, the requirement for the school board members to submit names of recommended candidates for consideration by the City Council was removed.

City Manager Harry Hagerty, in response to a query whether the appointment of a new member and consideration of the two other expiring terms would be included on the City Council agenda for June 3, said he assumed it would be in view of the time element, but did not know specifically whether it would be or not.

Normally, agendas released prior to City Council meetings list "appointments to boards and commissions" under one heading, with any appointments due taken care of under that general item.

Soviet Union And Egypt Sign New Pact

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Soviet Union and Egypt signed a 15-year treaty of friendship and cooperation Thursday night, renewing their close alliance in the wake of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's purge of his rivals for power.

The pact signed by Sadat and visiting President Nikolai V. Podgorny provides for continued Soviet military, economic, political and scientific aid. The two governments also pledged "noninterference in the internal affairs of each other," which would be interpreted as a Soviet abandonment of the leftist leaders ousted and arrested by Sadat in the recent Egyptian power struggle. In the military sphere, the Russians promised the Egyptians arms and military training to enable them to win back the Sinai desert from Israel. The treaty said arms and equipment would be supplied to Egypt "with a view to strengthening its capacity to eliminate the consequences of aggression as well as increasing its ability to stand up to aggression in general." The two governments also pledged to "concert their positions" if a threat to peace arises. Observers in Cairo regarded this as a Russian commitment of deeper—and perhaps even direct—military involvement if Egypt and Israel go to war again.

The treaty also calls for expanded cooperation in a vast number of fields: industry, agriculture, water conservancy, irrigation, development of natural resources, electric power, personnel training, trade, shipping, science, the arts, literature, education, health services, press, radio, television, cinema, tourism, physical culture, workers' organizations and cultural and scientific institutions.

Podgorny and Sadat signed the treaty at the end of a three-day visit by the Soviet president, who was returning to

JCs Charter Unit In Prison

RALEIGH (AP) — The first Jaycee prison chapter to be formally organized in North Carolina received its charter Thursday night.

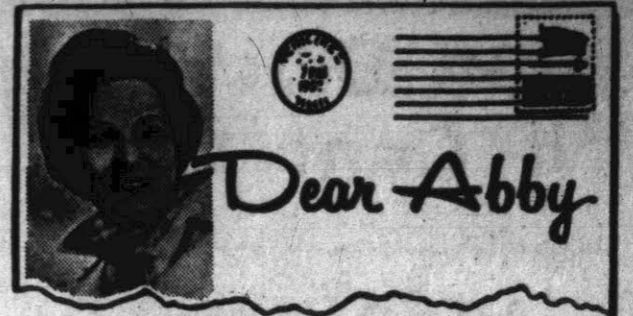

Avery Nye of Fairmont, state Jaycee president, presented the charter to the Central Tar Heel Jaycees, comprising about 40 inmates at Central Prison.

Moscow today. He had hurried to Cairo after the recent shakeup which removed some of the Kremlin's closest Egyptian allies, and the treaty was viewed as a Soviet endorsement of Sadat's continuance in power.

The two presidents also signed a communique accusing Israel of a "persistent expansionist policy." It said "a lasting, firm and just peace can be established only on the basis of Israel's withdrawal from all territories occupied in 1967 and the fulfillment in full volume of the Nov. 22, 1967, resolution of the United Nations Security Council."

The U.N. resolution calls for Israeli withdrawal and acknowledgment by the Arab states of Israel's right to exist within "secure and recognized" borders. But the communique made specific mention only of the withdrawal aspect. In Tel Aviv, Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban said he hoped the Cairo-Moscow pact "will not be the act which will kill the possibility of any interim settlement."

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is a long story, but I need advice. Tom [not his real name] was 17 and I was 15 when we started going steady. We kept getting closer and closer, so what happened just had to happen. Well, it happened one night in a room over their garage. That place became sort of our hideaway until his mother caught us in the act. She called my mother and made a big stink. They made Tom and me break up, and from then on I was watched like a hawk and treated like a criminal.

Pretty soon I started getting calls from the most popular guys at school. I soon found out they wanted only one thing. I had a tooth missing in front so I thought it was kind of funny that the most popular guys in school wanted to date me. Then I found out that Tom had told them I was a pushover.

All the boys I go out with think I have to let them do whatever they want because I have a tooth missing in front. I am going to have a tooth put in on May 24th, then I'm turning over a new leaf and I'll show them they are wrong.

Please tell me, Abby, how does a girl clear her name after it's been dragged in the mud? MISSOURI GIRL

DEAR GIRL: A girl clears her name the same way she messed it up. By the way she behaves. Don't expect to change your image overnight, but if you behave like a good girl consistently, the word will soon get around. [P. S. There is another valuable lesson to be learned from your experience. Boys talk!]

DEAR ABBY: I am a 32-year-old divorcee and the mother of two. I am deeply in love with a 33-year-old man. He is kind and gentle and my children love him and he seems to love them. The problem is that he is not an American citizen and has been in this country for almost two years.

He wants me to marry him in September, and I would like to marry him, but my friends have told me to be careful because he may be marrying me just to become an American citizen. He has told me that he loves me and I believe him, but I don't want to marry him if there is any doubt about his motives. Can you help me? LOVES HIM

DEAR LOVES HIM: If you love him and you believe that he loves you, don't let the doubts of your friends influence you. Your doubts are the only doubts you need consider.

DEAR ABBY: Do mixed marriages ever work? CAL

DEAR CAL: Yes. But they work better if bigots don't mix in.

DEAR ABBY: Mike's letter telling you he might belt his wife for using his razor to shave her legs made me smile, a little sadly. I used to use my husband's razor, too. And even though I always carefully washed and dried it, he always knew when I had used it. And he hollered too, because I had my own razor.

I used to slip into my husband's robe and house slippers in the mornings, even the my own robe and slippers were within easy reach. Why? Because it made me feel close to him. As the his arms were around me.

Maybe Mike's wife is trying to tell him something? My husband is dead now, but I still remember the warmth of his robe. And the sharpness of his razor. His razor was always so much better than my own. H. M. M.; CHICAGO

Brock Cracks Out Three Hits In Leading Cards To 10-0 Win

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
This is the Lou Brock doll, a real beauty. Wind it up, face it toward the pitcher, any pitcher, and let it go.

It goes ... and goes ... and goes.
St. Louis' streaking left fielder continues to perform like a mechanical marvel, whistling three hits Thursday night to stretch his batting string to 23 games as the Cardinals decked the Chicago Cubs 10-0.

Brock's bash has victimized the National League's top pitching talent—the latest of which was hard-throwing Chicago ace Ferguson Jenkins. The right-hander didn't give Brock much of a selection, but it didn't matter.

Old Crow's good taste begins with men who love to work with their hands.

Anthony Clark has a big responsibility. One false move of his hands and he's mixed the wrong measure of grain for the Old Crow formula. Does he ever miss? The proof is in the good taste of our Bourbon.

Making Bourbon which tastes good, bottle after bottle, made Old Crow famous. Back in 1835, our people figured out the formula that took Bourbon-making out of the hit-or-miss category. Later, they handmade the first sour mash Bourbon. We still use our hands in making Old Crow.

After work, most of our men keep on using their hands. Anthony Clark calls on the same craftsmanship mixing grain as he does tying fishing flies.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

Donnie Allison Has To Exercise Mind Control In Switching Cars

By HUBERT MIZELL, Associated Press Sports Writer
 CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Donnie Allison emphasizes "mind control" in rapid switches from his Mercury stock car to a low-slung entry in Saturday's Indianapolis 500.

"It's two different ball games," said Allison. "When you get to Indy, you wipe Charlotte out of your mind. When I'm here, I refuse to think about Indianapolis."

The Hueytown, Ala., driver led a second batch of World 600 qualifiers Thursday with a clocking of 156.150 miles an hour on the 1.5-mile Charlotte Motor Speedway course.

"We unfortunately didn't get a shot at the pole," said Donnie's car owner, Glen Wood, "but the race is the thing... you get $600 for qualifying on top and $27,500 for being No. 1 on Sunday."

Allison was involved in car-burial tests in his car at Indianapolis and missed Wednesday's qualifying for the first 12 positions in the $200,000 World 600 stock car event.

The Wood Brothers Mercury had captured six straight pole positions before sitting idly by and watching Chargin' Charlie Glotzbach go 157.788 in a Chevrolet Monte Carlo.

David Pearson, No. 2 all-time winner on the NASCAR Grand National circuit, got his new Pontiac ready Thursday and was second to Allison with a lap at 153.925 m.p.h.

Others claiming starting positions in the qualifying for spots 13-24 were Benny Parsons, Mercury; Bill Dennis, Mercury; James Hylton, Ford; Cecil Gordon, Mercury; Marty Robbins, Dodge; G. C. Spencer, Plymouth, Elmo Langley, Mercury; Maynard Troyer, Mercury; Joe Frasson, Dodge; and Larry Smith, Ford.

Competition was amazingly tight. The 10 qualifiers behind frontrunners Allison and Pearson ranged only from 151.826 down to 150.229 miles per hour. Three other drivers topped 150 and will have to come back today for further qualifying.

Allison's brother, Bobby, won the front row starting slot next to Glotzbach with a Wednesday speed of 156.585 in a Mercury.

Donnie's time was the third fastest record among the 24 qualifiers.

Others who made it on the first day were Bobby Isaac, Dodge; Fred Lorenzen, Plymouth; Richard Petty, Plymouth; Pete Hamilton, Plymouth; Dick Brooks, Dodge; Buddy Baker, Dodge; Speedy Thompson, Chevrolet; Jim Vandiver, Dodge; Jim Paschal, Chevrolet; and Dave Marcis, Dodge.

After starting positions 25-36 are wrapped up today, the final four cars in the 40-man field will be decided Saturday prior to a consolation race for the nonqualifiers.

Donohue, Foyt Favored In 55th Running Of Indianapolis Classic

By MIKE HARRIS, Associated Press Sports Writer
 INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The month of May has seen record speeds, innovations in aerodynamics and electronics and a surprise pole sitter at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. The story will be completed Saturday with the 55th running of the Indy 500, the premier auto race in the United States.

Thirty-three cars will begin the race at 11 a.m. EST with Peter Revson of New York, in his bright orange Team McLaren Mark 16, on the pole.

Revson surprised favored Mark Donohue, Media, Pa., two weeks ago by edging the boyish-faced graduate engineer for the inside spot on the first row with an average speed for the four-lap trial of 178.696 miles per hour. Donohue's speed, good enough for the middle of the first row, was 177.067.

Filling out the front row is Bobby Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., who drove his Eagle-Offenhauser to an average of 175.816.

Donohue, who became the first and only man to average more than 180 m.p.h. on a lap around the 2½-mile track, remains the co-favorite along with three-time winner A. J. Foyt, Houston, Tex.

Foyt, driving a Coyote-Ford, will start the race on the outside of the second row, in sixth position. The man who won the Indy 500 in 1961, '64 and '67 qualified for his 14th attempt here with a 174.317 average speed for the four laps.

It was Donohue, driving his McLaren Mark-16 for car-owner Roger Penske of Philadelphia, who caused the biggest stir this month at the Speedway. The 34-year-old Donohue was consistently ahead of the rest of the field by as much as 10 miles an hour right from the beginning of practice, May 1.

Although practice times and speeds are unofficial, Donohue stunned nearly everyone when he pushed his blue Offenhauser-powered car to a 180.977 clocking on the Speedway's electric timer.

Donohue lost the pole spot and the approximately $30,000 that goes with it when the car, purchased from Tem McLaren, developed a slippage in the suspension which cost the veteran driver important stability in the turns.

The three men who have won the 500 since Foyt's last victory will all be starting the race in the first three rows of the 11-row field.

Bobby Unser won the race in 1968. His younger brother, Al, the pole-sitter and winner last year, will start between Foyt and Revson's teammate, Denis Hulme of New Zealand, in the second row.

Mario Andretti, Nazareth, Pa., who won the 1969 race, will start on the outside of the third row. He'll be driving his new German-built McNamara-Ford, specially built for Andy Granatelli's team.

Miss. State, Miami In Wins

GASTONIA, N.C. (AP) — Mississippi State meets the University of Miami in the winners bracket tonight, following an afternoon losers match between Maryland and Georgia Tech in the NCAA District 3 baseball tournament to set the stage for Saturday's finals.

Jerry Thompson pitched a two-hitter as Mississippi State defeated Maryland, 2-1, in Thursday's opening game, and Miami followed with a 4-3 victory over Georgia Tech.

Bulldog second baseman Dale Holland rapped out a single to drive in the winning run in bottom of the ninth inning as Mississippi State pushed its record to 30-9 and drop Maryland to a 15-9 mark.

It was Thompson's ninth victory against one loss for the season.

In the second game, a two-run homer by Bob Blane and a solo homer by Jim Hargrave put Georgia Tech out front 3-0 in the second inning but Miami evened it with a run in the third and two in the fourth. Joel Green singled in the winning run in the sixth.

The victory pushed Miami to a 35-9 record against Georgia Tech's 28-9.

Indians Scalp Baltimore, 10-5

By DICK COUCH, Associated Press Sports Writer
 Ten little Indians eager for a score touched all the bases in Baltimore.

"Gosh it's good to beat that ball club once in awhile," Manager Alvin Dark said Thursday night after his Cleveland Indians overran the Orioles 10-5 with a 17-hit spree.

It was the first victory for the Indians in four games against Baltimore this season. Last year the world champions thumped them 14 times in 18 meetings.

In other American League action, Detroit nipped the New York Yankees 4-3; Milwaukee topped Minnesota 5-3 and Boston downed Washington 6-2.

Ted Uhlaender paced Cleveland's assault against six Baltimore pitchers with three hits and four runs batted in. His two-run single off Tom Dukes in the sixth inning snapped a 4-4 tie, enabling right-hander Steve Dunning to nail his fourth straight victory and fifth in seven decisions with last-inning relief help from Phil Hennigan.

Vada Pinson also poked three hits for the Indians and five teammates had two apiece.

Frank Robinson, whose two-base error keyed a three-run Cleveland third that sent the Indians ahead 4-0, doubled home two runs as the Orioles scored four times in the fifth knot it.

But Uhlaender's bases-loaded single put the Indians on top to stay in the sixth. The veteran outfielder's three-hit performance raised his season batting mark to .30.

Mickey Lolich weathered successive fourth inning homers by New York's Bobby Murcer and Johnny Ellis, then pitched out a ninth inning jam to bring his record to 8-3 as the Tigers posted their eighth victory in nine games.

Willie Horton slammed his 10th homer of the season for the Tigers, who erased a 2-1 deficit on consecutive run-scoring singles by Al Kaline, Horton and Bill Freehan in the sixth.

The Brewers came from behind to trip Minnesota on pinch-hitter Roberto Pena's bases-loaded triple in the eighth. The Twins had taken a 3-2 lead in the top of the eighth on Paul Ratliff's two-run homer.

Net Tourney Is Slated

The Greenville Tennis Club will hold a two-day men's tournament Saturday and Sunday.

The tournament will get underway Saturday morning and will conclude on Sunday. A total of 32 men are participating in the field.

Rose High Progress Underlined By Hearing Others

"Hearing other students from throughout the state talk about the problems in their school, many racial in origin or implication, made me realize how far we have come at Rose High in the past couple of years," said Miss Eugenia Parker.

Miss Parker, who will be a senior and vice president of the Rose High Student Government Association next year, and John Allen Tucker, a rising Rose High junior, recently attended a Student Legislative Assembly in Raleigh.

Good Neighbor Council. "We hope telling of our experiences is going to help alleviate some of the transition pains for the Pitt County High Schools, that will be totally integrated next year," Van Dyke said. Other issues were discussed at the Youth Council meeting. "One good suggestion was that students make a film calling attention to visual blights in their immediate area that could be cleaned up. Some Youth Councils have helped set up boarding houses for young people who want to get off drugs. These homes are manned by former drug addicts, but have doctors and other professional people to assist them. Some are now seeking state and other public funds to continue their service.

A resolution to commend abortion as a method of curbing overpopulation did not receive the two-thirds votes it needed to be sent to the Legislature. The delegates expressed concern that doctors have the right to refuse to perform an abortion if doing so violates his own moral code.

The idea of instituting a program whereby students could work as aides to state elected officials was discussed. Employment of youth was also a timely topic. The consensus was that there should continue to be job that the minimum wage would not be paid for. "Taking up tickets in a movie theater is just not hard enough work to merit $1.69 an hours wages,"

Tucker said.

Varying 12-months school plans were discussed. One would divide the school year into three month quarters and a student could attend any three he wished, thus taking some of the summer rush out of job-hunting. Another called for a student's going to school three or four quarters a year, taking only two concentrated subjects each quarter.

"One thing that really impressed me about the meetings was that there were so few adults present," Tucker said. We really felt like we were carrying the ball. Especially in the discussion groups, with no adults visible, we felt free to say anything we wished.

Youth Council have been established in several North Carolina cities. Usually handled as part of the City's Recreation program, they provide a forum for discussion and also constructive activities for students' leisure hours.

They were two of many delegated invited by the Youth Council of North Carolina to discuss issues that affect youth. The purpose was to let North Carolina legislators know what the feelings of responsible young people are. "The Council sent the General Assembly members resolutions that praised what they had already done, as well as criticized or offered suggestions for future measures," Tucker said.

Miss Parker, a black student, is extremely optimistic about the future racial relations at Rose High School, and Tucker, a white student, seemed to share her views. "The delegates from Wilmington told of the tremendous trouble they have had this year," Miss Parker said. "They have a riot every couple of weeks and bad feelings all the time, they said. Much of their problem is having a principal and a Board of Education that will not listen, they said.

"This is not true here and we believe this is the reason we have progressed so far since our misunderstanding last year and early this year. Mr. Alligood, our principal, listens to us and the Board has seemed to take our suggestions into account."

Time and getting to know one another have taken care of many of our last year's problems," Tucker said. "At one time, there was a general paranoid feeling in the school. If someone was elbowed going down these crowded halls, taking offense was the usual response. This doesn't seem to be the case now.

"Now most of us have learned how to see one another as people, not blacks or whites," Miss Parker said. "I think that period of transition had to be, and hopefully that's what's going on in other schools. Most of us have had to change attitudes we'd been brought up with. It has taken time."

Two other forces for good the students mentioned were a strong Student Government Association that has made sure it represented white and black students alike and the Citizens' Awareness Committee, formed by local citizens last year in the wake of racial unrest in the school.

Miss Parker and SGA president, Mike Van Dyke, are members of the Pitt County

Environment Is No. 5 Priority

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Henry Ford II rates the environment as No. 5 on the nation's list of problems.

The board chairman of Ford Motor Co. says the first four are: poverty, education, housing, and crime.

"To me it seems incredible that the wealthiest nation in history should still have substantial numbers of its citizens living ... in absolute poverty—unable to obtain the food, the shelter and medical care required to maintain physical health and life itself," Ford said Thursday.

"If our nation were as far advanced in meeting the problems of poverty, housing and crime as it is in cleaning up air pollution from automobiles we could place them much lower in our order of priorities."

Ford spoke at the annual trustee dinner of the Midwest Research Institute after accepting its annual citation.

Phenomena In Religious World

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — In calmly precise, matter-of-fact manner, he stood at the rostrum fielding questions from a roomful of critics about one of the strangest, fastest spreading phenomena in the religious world today.

Someone asked if it could be dangerous.

"It can be if it turns a person inward on himself rather than outward in love," said the Rev. Kenneth L. Pagard of Chula Vista, Calif. "It's like electricity. It's dangerous stuff, but if rightly used, it's a great power for good."

What, another asked, is its main purpose?

"It is primarily a gift of power for the ministry. It is to bring men and women face to face with the reality of the living God."

The Rev. Mr. Pagard, 38, coordinator of the American Baptist Charismatic Fellowship, was talking about an unusual spiritual activity now surging within most denominations, Protestant and Roman Catholic.

Called the charismatic movement, its participants report an infusion of the Holy Spirit that empowers their faith with confidence, assurance of God's presence, more vital prayer, frequent healings, greater concern for others and which ordinarily manifests itself through glossolalia, speech in unknown tongues.

"God is doing a big thing today," the Rev. Mr. Pagard said in an interview. "It's going to have a real impact in renewing the churches."

The movement cuts across denominational lines, often involving ecumenical groups on campuses and in local communities, as well as many individual parishes and pastors, Lutheran, Episcopal, Methodist, Presbyterian and other mainline churches, which once shunned it as an emotional characteristic of smaller Pentecostal groups.

The tongues-speaking is "only one part of the package and a minor part," said the Rev. Mr. Pagard, pastor of the Chula Vista's First Baptist church where the "gift of the Spirit" has led many families to open their homes to others, in the communal pattern of original Christianity.

"In our church, we hardly ever mention tongues-speaking," he said. "It's commonly accepted, but it's primarily for use in private devotions. It's direct spiritual communication, from our spirit to God."

However, the "tongues" aspect has drawn a disproportionate amount of public attention because of "vague fears" of the odd and unfamiliar, he said under questioning at sessions of the recent American Baptist Convention here.

"People today are afraid of anything supernatural," he said.

But, someone asked, didn't St. Paul warn against it in First Corinthians 14?

"Indeed, he did warn against its abuse," the Rev. Mr. Pagard said. "He saw that some were overdoing it 'in church'—that's the qualifying word."

"But in the same passage, he also said he wanted all believers to speak in tongues in their devotions, and said he was thankful that he did so more than any of them. Modern Christians wear 'blindfolders' against those points."

The Rev. Mr. Pagard said the "Spirit" experience was a "normal part of Christian life" from the beginning—and not an exceptional thing.

"It is intended for all Christians as a normal condition," he said. "But the church today is in an abnormal condition. The main thing wrong is that it lacks the real presence of the Holy Spirit operating in power."

The original manifestation of it, as described in Acts 2, came with the outpouring of the Spirit at Pentecost, imbuing the apostles with courage and persuasiveness.

Someone asked if it wasn't mainly a personal emotional process?

"On the contrary, there's nothing ecstatic about it. You aren't zapped out into the blue, up on a cloud somewhere. It's so natural people miss it. When it first happened to me, I didn't roll on the floor or jump up and down. It's not for thrilling oneself, but for the power of a ministry of love."

How do you get it?
"It's not a mechanical step. It's a combination both of God's working and man's response to it. In simple terms, one opens his heart to the Lord, asking to receive His Spirit, and the Spirit comes in and takes over."

Three Will Get Medical Degrees

Three Greenville persons will receive Doctor of Medicine degrees in commencement exercises at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill Sunday.

They are John O. Reynolds Jr., Cameron L. Smith, and Jamie Jackson Switzer.

Reynolds, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Reynolds of West Rock Spring Road is a graduate of Rose High School and Davidson College. His wife is the former Patsy Mathews of Kingsport, Tenn. He will serve a year of internship training at Geisinger Medical Center in Danville, Pa. beginning July 1. Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Smith of 1905 East Tenth Street, graduated from Rose High School and completed pre-medical studies at UNC-CH. He is married to the former Barbara Boren Lalanne. He will begin his year of internship training at North Carolina Memorial Hospital July 1.

Mrs. Switzer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Jackson Sr. of Route 6, Greenville. A graduate of Winterville High School, she attended UNC-Greensboro for two years before she transferred to UNC-CH to complete her pre-medical studies. She and her husband, Boyd R. Switzer, who received a Ph. D. in Biochemistry at Carolina this year, have a two-month-old daughter, Kathy. Where she will do her internship has not yet been decided, she said.

WCU Backs Scott Plan

CULLOWHEE, N.C. (AP) — Western Carolina University has supported Gov. Bob Scott's recommendations for restructuring higher education in North Carolina.

The board of trustees, at a regular meeting Thursday, endorsed the majority report of the Warren Commission, headed by former State Sen. Lindsay Warren Jr. of Goldsboro. The governor's recommendations are based on the report, which would dissolve the Consolidated University of North Carolina, and establish a single board of regents for all 18 state-supported universities.

Dr. Alex S. Pow, president of Western Carolina University, said in recommending that the board accept the Warren report:

"Our commitment to improving higher education throughout North Carolina require that we accept the central coordination which the governor proposes. The kind of unbridled competition we now have among institutions of higher education is detrimental to all."

The 'Salvation Singers' To Be At Services

The "Salvation Singers" will appear at the 11 a.m. worship service of the Holy Trinity United Methodist Church in the Aycock Junior High School building Sunday.

The group is composed of choirs of three churches of the Wesley United Methodist Charge. The public is invited to this special service held in observance of Rural Life Sunday. The message will be brought by the Rev. Key Wesley Taylor, who for 16 years served as chairman of the North Carolina Conference Commission on Town and Country Work. Now pastor of the Wesley United Methodist Charge, he will preach on "The Jesus-Centered Local Church."

The Salvation Singers, 40 in number, are led by Miss Diane Sutton and accompanied at the piano by Miss Donna Mazingo. Their selections Sunday will be well-known Gospel hymns, Holy Trinity pastor, the Rev. Roy Turgeon, said.

LITTLE GIRL,

After graduation today, Martha dressed her little sister, Amy, in cap and gown and let her walk across the stage. Amy chortled all the way home. "I graduated, just like Martha."

Martha is a sweet big sister. She lets Amy watch while she gets ready for dates, makes clothes for her dolls and invents endless games designed to please a four-year-old. On the other hand, Amy adores the ground her "Marthy" walks on and listens to her advice before all others. It was Martha who straightened her out when she rebelled against church-going. "We go," said Martha, "not because we have to, but because we love God and want to be good."

How glad Bob and I are that we have always gone to church and taken Martha with us! Love of God is an essential part of her life. Now she is helping us teach Amy a similar understanding and reverence.

Go to church, and take your child. Share with him the greatest wealth on earth.

Worry Clinic The Difference Is Still There

Ada's protest about sex differences is typical. The male starts out as a sexual neuter prior to puberty. But then he develops an alien emotional outlook. Alas, girls never can indulge in sex empathy with a virile male, for they never have personally been in the category. Scrapbook this case!

Sex Differences
Yes, Ada is correct in saying women usually have better rapport with kiddies than do men. And that is why they usually rate higher as parents. And also become superb teachers in grammar or even high school. But that very reason also explains why they can't understand men as well as men can understand them! Does this sound paradoxical? Well, here are the scientific facts:
(1) Women always remain half child and half adult women in their emotional outlook. As kiddies both boys and girls will thus cry in frustration, as well as because of minor aches or bumps. Then the boys soon stop crying after puberty. But women still shed tears freely even when they are talented adult lawyers, doctors and other brilliant college graduates! So women can comprehend the viewpoint of boys until puberty and even of effeminate "neuters" or senile old men.

(2) But men have a very different psychology after puberty, which sets them apart from feminine analysis. For women simply cannot comprehend via empathy the different outlook of the virile male animal! Yet men can still understand much of the female viewpoint, since they started out in childhood as neuters and may end as such in their old age. But women cannot experience the male erotic outlook, unless they have some masculinizing tumors of the ovary, etc. Emotionally, therefore, men who turn their attention to psychology and human analysis, thus can comprehend the female outlook much better than vice versa. And that is why a woman can NEVER properly enlighten other women about the husband's viewpoint! For she neither experiences the male adult emotional outlook nor did she have it in grade school, where both sexes were comparatively neuter and thus much alike. Even when I tell you wives that men were organically geared to have a harem and that males don't always link eroticism with true love, you may understand what I say, at the purely intellectual level. But you can't comprehend it via empathy! You can't FEEL it! Men, however, can even retrogress and shed tears or indulge in brief fits of feminine envy, typical of those pre-adolescent years! But then they soon revert to their totally alien adult virile viewpoint. Because most men are not very articulate about emotions and sex differences, you women have often misunderstood them and needlessly rushed into divorces! Be on guard henceforth. So send for my booklet "Sex Problems in Marriage," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents. (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.) Copyright 1971.

New Councilman Said Missing

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Jerry M. White, who was elected to the city council last week, has been missing since he left his funeral home Monday afternoon on a business trip to Dundas, Va., an hour's drive from Henderson. Police Chief William Crocker of Henderson says White was seen in his station wagon in the Kerr Lake area about 6 p.m. Monday, but nobody has reported seeing him since then. White, 30, is married and the father of two children.

Civil Rights Are Checked

DREW, Miss. (AP) — FBI agents, under presidential orders, are checking to see if any federal violation was involved in the shooting death of a black high school honor graduate in this small north Mississippi town.

The slaying Tuesday night of 18-year-old Jo Etha Collier triggered rock throwing Wednesday and a peaceful demonstration Thursday.

Thirty-one Negroes also demonstrated Thursday in Ruleville, 10 miles south of Drew, and were arrested on charges of obstructing pedestrian traffic.

Three white men, brothers aged 26 and 25 and a nephew 19, have been charged with murder in Miss Collier's death.

She was gunned down on a street while talking with a group of young blacks soon after she had graduated with honors from the local high school.

President Nixon called her death "an unnecessary tragedy" and ordered the FBI to check on possible violations of federal law.

Sam J. Ely Jr., circuit clerk of Sunflower County, has denied claims by the NAACP that there is racial tension in the area because of a black voter registration drive.

Shooting For Mars Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. space agency plans to launch its Mariner spacecraft at 6:20 p.m. EDT Saturday for a Mars orbit by Nov. 14.

James C. Fletcher, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said Thursday he is satisfied the craft has been corrected to avoid a repeat of the first Mariner launch failure May 8.

Typhoon Moves Toward China

MANILA (AP) — Typhoon Dinah moved across the South China Sea today toward Communist China, leaving at least three dead in the Philippines, more than 40 missing and hundreds homeless. Property damage was heavy.

Dinah hit the Philippines with peak winds of 87 miles per hour Wednesday.

The number of accidental deaths involving sporting firearms has dropped one-third in the past 30 years.

Allies Warned

BRUSSELS (AP) — U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird warned the European allies today that a proposal by Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield to cut U.S. forces in Europe could come up again twice in the near future.

He said this could be on the occasion of budget discussions in Congress, according to an official who attended the closed-door session.

U.S. officials said Laird also reported to defense ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the strategy of "realistic deterrence," especially as it applies to them.

The report was made in view of recent progress in the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—with the Soviet Union and their response to Western offers to negotiate on force reductions in Europe.

The official said that Laird emphasized the need for all members to maintain their strength if they are to have a chance for successful talks with Moscow.

These will only be possible, he added, if the West keeps a strong deterrent through partnership and strength.

One American official defined "realistic deterrence" this way:

"In the face of the strategy, manpower, fiscal and political realities we face in the 1970's, the strategy of realistic deterrence by stressing greater contribution on the part of our friends and allies, seeks to establish a free world structure that can deter war and set the stage for meaningful negotiations.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The majority of power companies serving Virginia do not have adequate reserve capacity for a hot summer, says a staff report of the State Corporation Commission.

Ernest M. Jordan Jr., the SCC's chief engineer for electric utilities, said in the report released Thursday the reliability factors this summer are not as favorable as they were last year.
