Law Must Be Specific

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today cut into the power of police to clear the streets of "annoying" groups of people.

In a 5 to 3 decision invalidating a Cincinnati ordinance, the court held loitering laws must be specific to be constitutional.

The Cincinnati ordinance, disapproved by a five-man majority headed by Justice Potter Stewart, had made it a crime for three or more people to assemble on city sidewalks "and there conduct themselves in a manner annoying to persons passing by."

Stewart said the ordinance was invalid for two reasons. First, he said, it is vague in that "no standard of conduct is specified at all." That is, he said, each individual officer, judge and juror is free to express his own sensitivities in deciding whether a particular group was "criminally annoying."

Second, Stewart said, the ordinance violates the constitutional right of free assembly and association. "Our decisions establish that mere public intolerance and animosity cannot be the basis for abridgment of these constitutional freedoms," he said.

Outnumbered By Press

SAIGON (AP) — Unless more prisoners of war decide in the next couple of days to accept repatriation, the 13 being sent home to North Vietnam on Friday will be outnumbered about 5 to 1 by newsmen covering the story.

And they'll sail to within sight of their homeland aboard a U.S. troopship capable of carrying 2,500 persons—almost a third of the total number of North Vietnamese POWs held by South Vietnam.

Some 60 to 70 members of the Saigon press corps are expected to accompany the prisoners aboard the USS Upshur as she carries the returnees from Da Nang to a designated point just off the Vietnamese coast at the demilitarized zone.

There, shortly after dawn, the POWs will be put aboard a tug-drawn civilian barge for the final move to a rendezvous with a North Vietnamese craft that will take them aboard.

Only 13 sick and wounded prisoners on an eligibility list numbering 660 have volunteered to return home.

New Everglades Fires

MIAMI (AP) — A thick, foul-smelling pall of smoke drifted over Miami today as thousands of acres of dry Everglades grasslands were criss-crossed with strings of fire.

The National Weather Service, reporting no rain in sight, predicted a resurgence of recent fires stemming from South Florida's worst drought in history.

"Unless we get a lot of rain in the next two or three days we're going to be right back where we were in late April," said a National Weather Service forecaster, Gilbert Clark.

Tens of thousands of acres were burned during the peak of the drought in April, bringing the total of blackened acres to 750,000 since Jan. 1.

Clark said only six inches of rain had fallen since Jan. 1, leaving South Florida 10 inches of precipitation below normal.

"Mid-May is supposed to be the rainy season," Clark added. "But the weather routine is like winter time—dry, cold and no rain."

Silent On Skyjacking

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Pan American World Airways spokesman says it may be that a hijacked jet with 69 persons aboard is being detained in Havana because four Cuban fishing boat captains have been arrested in Key West on charges of fishing illegally in American waters.

And although the Cuban government remained silent today about its reasons for the three-day detention of the jet, Havana radio announced that another fleet of fishing boats was en route to the spot off the Florida keys where the boat captains were arrested.

Pan Am's public relations director, Robert Bohne, said Monday, "We don't have knowledge of it but we've been thinking that it might lengthen the stay of those passengers if the Cuban captains aren't released." The captains have been jailed in Key West and are awaiting trial June 7 on charges of violating the 12-mile American fishing zone.

U.S. Coast Guard officials said today no new Cuba flotilla had been sighted in the Keys area.

'Hopeful' Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today the NATO parley at Lisbon will be very important—even though he doubts it will produce a specific counterproposal to Moscow on negotiating a mutual European force reduction.

Rogers said the semiannual North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) meeting to be held at Lisbon June 3-4 will also include discussion of the Berlin issue.

He said "there's some hope that progress is possible" on Berlin in the light of recent talks with the Soviets about the divided city.

Rogers spoke briefly to newsmen at Andrews Air Force Base in nearby Maryland as he set off for Lisbon on a 10-day European trip.

He said he expects his hand at Lisbon to be strengthened by the recent Senate debate over the proposal by Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana to curtail U.S. forces stationed in Europe as part of NATO's defense. Rogers said this would help the allies to understand the U.S. desire that they share more of the defense burden.

The Senate debate, even though the Mansfield amendment was defeated, is expected to add impetus to allied considerations of negotiating with the Communists a mutual force cut deal.

Bus Struck By Car 19 Pupils Injured

By STUART SAVAGE
Reflector Staff Writer
STOKES — A bus carrying 25 North Pitt High School students home following classes overturned two times after it collided with a car about two miles west of here yesterday.

Miraculously only one of the 19 persons taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries received in the crash were admitted. The rest, including the bus driver operator of the car involved, were released following treatment.

Investigating Highway Patrolman A.G. Wright said the driver of the car Alice Faye Harris, 25, of Riverside Trailer Park, was charged with failing to stop for a stop sign, driving without a license, and driving under the influence of alcohol.

According to Trooper Wright, the bus, driven by Roy Warren Tripp, 19 of Route 5, Greenville, was traveling eastward along N.C. 33 when the 3:50 p.m. collision occurred. The Harris car, headed North on rural paved road 1517, struck the right side of the bus, the officer explained.

The force of the impact "turned the bus around" broadside of the road, the officer noted, and the vehicle overturned two times, coming to rest on its right blocking the highway 104 feet from the point of impact.

Damage to the Harris' 1966 model car was set at $1,000 while damage to the school bus, a 1971 model, was estimated at $5,000.

Most of the students treated at the hospital suffered bruises and abrasions from the ordeal. One said she was tumbled over and over "like being in a milk shake."

Expressing surprise at the relatively few and minor injuries, Highway Patrol Sgt. F.M. Lemmon said "you can count the number of stitches used on one hand."

Rescue units from Greenville and Bethel responded to the call when it was reported that students were lying all over the highway. A spokesman with the Greenville Rescue Squad said when he arrived, only two girls remained in the overturned bus. They were taken from the vehicle on stretchers, loaded into rescue trucks and along with other victims, transported to the hospital.

Most of the students on the bus ranged in age from 14 to 18. They had left North Pitt — about eight miles from the accident scene — about 10 minutes earlier.

Admitted to the hospital for treatment was Donna Lynn Chauncey, 16, of Route 5, Greenville. Miss Chauncey suffered possible internal injuries.

Rescue units from other towns in Pitt and adjoining counties were alerted and placed on a stand-by basis for possible use, and off duty firemen and policemen from Greenville, members of the Pitt County Sheriff's Department and volunteer firemen from Stokes and Bethel responded to the wreck to offer their services.

Wachovia Bank and Trust Co. today sold their offices at the intersection of Fifth and Washington Streets to the City of Greenville and at the same time announced plans to construct a new and larger banking facility nearby.

The Greenville Utilities Commission paid Wachovia $325,000 for the 20,000 square foot building and immediately granted a pre-paid two year lease to the bank—for which the commission received $65,000.

The lease, according to director of utilities Charles Horne, is designed to give Wachovia time to plan and construct its new home.

R. W. Howard, senior vice president and regional executive with Wachovia, said the bank plans to construct a new building at the intersection of Fourth and Washington Streets. Their new property, Howard explained, will also border Fifth and Greene Streets will give the bank nearly the entire city block for its operations. The new area, he said, includes approximately 65,000 square feet.

The new building, according to Howard, will be a three-story structure with approximately 33,000 exterior square feet.

It will house, he explained, the bank's administrative offices, the Northeastern Region offices, customer service facilities such as teller line, safe deposit and after-hours deposits, three drive-in teller windows, and offices for the departments of personnel, trust, mortgage, Ready Reserve Account, Master Charge, and commercial lending. Parking for 110 automobiles is also planned.

Wachovia, which with the completion of a new office on East Tenth Street will have seven offices in Greenville, employs 237 people in Pitt County.

Wachovia merged with Guaranty Bank and Trust Company in 1960—four months after the present office building was opened by Guaranty. It currently operates offices in Ahsokie, Aulander, Bayboro, Belhaven, Bethel, Elizabeth City, Hamilton, Pantego, Robersonville, Vanceboro, Washington and Williamston in the Northeast Region.

In 1967, Wachovia built a 20,000 square foot data processing operations center in Greenville which today serves all of Wachovia's activities in eastern North Carolina.

Howard noted that the bank's present plan "emphasizes the bank's gratification that Wachovia has been so well accepted here during the past 11 years."

Western Union Struck

NEW YORK (AP) — Two unions representing 21,000 employees struck Western Union today, closing its public offices across the country and halting the acceptance and delivery of domestic telegrams, money orders and overseas cables.

The United Telegraph Workers and the Communications Workers of America, both AFL-CIO, walked off the job at 12:01 a.m. after talks had broken off in the dispute over wages and job security.

Rejecting a company offer of a 20 per cent wage increase over two years, 4 per cent of which hinged on government approval of higher tariffs, the unions demanded a 31 per cent hike over two years.

"We very much regret that the unions representing our employees have chosen to inconvenience the public by calling a strike," the company president, Earl D. Hilburn, said in a statement.

"We know that our remaining differences will be equitably resolved—not on the picket line but at the bargaining table."

Although its public offices were closed, the company said it would maintain government communications services, leased private wires, the Telex and TWX teletype exchanges, various automated electronic data services and the new "mailgram" electronic message service, operated jointly with the post office.

Supervisory and engineering personnel were to fill in for striking employees on the government and business communication services, which are largely automated.

Hopes Introduce UNC Restructuring Plan By End Of The Week

RALEIGH (AP) — House majority leader Rep. Ike Andrews says he hopes to have ready for introduction in the General Assembly by the end of the week the University of North Carolina's plan for restructuring higher education in the state.

The university, through its alumni, faculty and administration, has joined battle with Gov. Bob Scott's plans to restructure the higher education system by deconsolidating the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

Both sides say they see no ground for compromise and each plans to fight for its own proposal.

The battle erupted last week when Scott asked the legislature to dismantle the six-campus Consolidated University and create a statewide board of regents to coordinate all 16 public higher education institutions.

University faculty members James L. Godfrey and C.P. Lyons spoke out against the Scott plan Saturday and the outgoing and incoming presidents of the alumni association blasted the Scott proposal Sunday.

Andrews said the plan that will hopefully be ready for introduction by the end of the week would give the state's higher education the same central coordination and direction as the regents plan. However, the UNC plan would leave the Consolidated University intact but would strengthen the Board of Higher Education.

The UNC plan is supported by a minority of the 23-man committee appointed by Gov. Scott last January to study the restructuring issue. The 13-man majority came up with the plan that Scott backs while the 8-man minority proposed the plan that University supporters are backing. UNC partisans have booked a five-room suite at the Statler Hilton Inn in Raleigh to use as their command post in the legislative battle.

Meanwhile, Trustees of Appalachian State University announced they were squarely behind Gov. Scott. "We are supportive of the governor in his efforts to improve higher education," the trustees said.

Former state senator Thomas J. White of Kinston, who served as the governor's liaison with the 1969 General Assembly, will head the Consolidated University lobbyists working out of the command post. White is chairman of the state Advisory Budget Commission and is vice chairman of the Consolidated University's Board of Trustees.

During the weekend the Greensboro Daily News raised the possibility that a plan designed by Rep. Jay Huskins, D-Iredell, may present a common ground upon which the Scott forces and the University forces might meet.

However, Monday, leaders of both sides said there is little likelihood of a compromise at this point.

UNC sources say the minority plan, with its added powers for the higher board of education, already goes as far as the regents plan in allocating power to a central state agency, and the question is whether the university will be restructured to create the new regents board—a point they will not budge on.

The Huskins plan reportedly was offered to the UNC forces in the Warren Committee as a compromise mid-way in the committee's deliberations but was turned down by the UNC faction.

Larger Social Security Checks

Social Security checks in amounts higher than regular monthly checks will be delivered Thursday, June 3 to 621,000 men, women and children in North Carolina.

William McClure, Social Security manager of the Greenville office, said checks covering benefit payments for the month of May will include the general 10 percent increase in benefits signed into law by President Nixon on March 17.

The payments are retroactive to January 1. Separate checks, scheduled to reach social security beneficiaries on June 22, will cover the amount of the increases retroactive for the months of January through April.

McClure said the increase raised the monthly benefit rate of social security payments in North Carolina by about five million dollars to a total of $57 million. Nationally, the new monthly benefit rate totals $2.9 billion, paid to 26.2 million beneficiaries.

The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $114 to about $126. For a retired couple, the amount goes

Aviatrix A Human Guinea Pig In Record Attempts

LONDON (AP) — British air ace Sheila Scott flew off today in a 34,000-mile attempt to break a series of world records as a human guinea pig for the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The flight will take her around the world 1 1/2 times. She said her wardrobe ranges from a bikini for the tropics to three layers of clothing under an orange survival suit for polar flying.

Miss Scott, 43, hopes to become the first pilot to fly from equator to equator over the North Pole in a light plane.

Electrodes were strapped to different parts of her body when she took off in her blue and white twin-engine Piper Aztec from London Airport.

The propeller plane was loaded with black boxes to register and radio heartbeat, body temperature and other data direct to NASA continuously during the flight.

Soon after takeoff for Benghazi and Nairobi the plane was linked to the American satellite Nimbus so it could relay all of the pilot's physical reactions to a ground station in Fairbanks, Alaska, for transmission to NASA's computer center in Maryland.

"I'm not sure I want everyone to know how scared I am," Miss Scott said before takeoff. "I'm very pleased that they have given this opportunity to a British woman."

Sheila has a lot at stake, including nearly all the financial load of the flight. She had a joke-card pasted to her instrument panel in front of her: "I must be successful. I owe everybody."

The Piper Aztec, "Mythre," is a successor to her single-engine Piper Comanche, "Myth Too," in which she flew around the world.

From Nairobi she will turn around and fly to Tromsø, Norway, for the takeoff across the North Pole.

This part of her trip has been criticized by aviation authorities who say her navigational equipment—a simply gyroscope—is inadequate for the polar flight.

"It's going to be dicey. But I've got to try," Sheila said.

ALICE LOOK-A-LIKE

Here's an interesting question. What is the relationship of eye makeup to personality? As you might guess, the two are strongly complimentary. Just as your hair style should compliment your personality, so should the eye makeup you choose.

For example, could you imagine a sleazy-eyed, sneaky, suspicious Alice, of Alice in Wonderland fame? Our course not! The role definitely calls for the wide-eyed, rosy-cheeked look, which Alice depicts.

If you are a blue-eyed blonde, and this wide-eyed look suits your mood, try shadowing the lids with sheer bronze. Then, use pale or sheer gold under the brow, and mascara the upper and lower lashes for the desired round-eyed, innocent, Alice look-a-like effect. Of Alice will think she's looking at her own mirror-image!

SWEATER TIPS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's a good grooming tip for the sweater set:

Don't hang knit sweaters on a hanger in a clothes closet. They will stretch and lose shape. Fold sweaters loosely and arrange them in a drawer. Place white or light-colored garments on one side, dark-colored garments on the opposite side to avoid lint transfer.

How To Handle Nagging Husband

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you do with a nagging husband? We've been married for 15 years and have five children ranging from 6 to 13. This man nags me from the minute he gets home from work until I go to bed at night.

I have suggested he take up golfing, fishing, boating, reading—anything, but he says he doesn't care for hobbies.

He nags me about a speck of dust I may have overlooked, the seasoning I put in the stew, the dirt the kids bring in on their shoes, the way I drive [I go too slow, travel the wrong streets and let the gas tank get below the half way mark]. You name it, he'll nag it to death.

I've cried, tried, apologized, reasoned and failed. Right now I'm on tranquilizers.

Does his job make him this way? He's an auditor with a large firm. What can I do about him? NAGGED

DEAR NAGGED: Nothing. But you can do something about the way you react to him. Tune him out. When he starts nagging, concentrate on the words to the "Lord's Prayer" or the "Star Spangled Banner." Look attentive, but keep quiet. When he's all talked out, change the subject without uttering one word about what he's said. Most men nag their wives at night because they're all bottled up during the day time. When he realizes that he isn't getting to you, he'll give up. [I hope.]

DEAR ABBY: How do you know if you are really in love? KEN

DEAR KEN: If you have to ask—you aren't.

DEAR ABBY: I recently inherited some money [$18,000] and it caused a big row between my husband and me. He thought I should put it in our joint bank account, and I felt I should be able to do whatever I wanted with it. I finally gave in and put it in our joint account.

A week after the money was deposited, I asked for $5 to give my nephew a graduation gift, and my husband refused to let me have it. What gets me is I have worked all my married life, and always handed over my check to my husband. I have always had to account for every penny I spent, but he could use our money any way he pleased.

What do you think of a husband who acts like this? RIGHT OR WRONG?

DEAR RIGHT: If you put $18,000 into a joint account, and a week later your husband refused to let you have $5, you need more help than I can give you in a letter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HAD IT" IN MEDINA, OHIO: The next time your wife threatens to go home to mother, call her bluff and offer to help her pack. I'll bet she backs off and reconsiders because "Mother" is probably hard to get along with, glad to be finally free of her children and their problems, and will be quick to say, "I told you so."

Facilities To See Summer Use

It is encouraging to note that at least two local groups have made arrangements with the Greenville School Board for use of school facilities during the summer months for recreation programs.

The Greenville Boys Club has been granted permission to use the gymnasium and athletic field at Aycock Junior High for recreation programs this summer, and a group of local churches is attempting to set up a program that will use the old Eppes gymnasium.

In our judgment the school board has acted in the best interest of the community by making these facilities available to the organizations, with proper safeguards to assure the school properties will not be damaged.

Such programs will supplement the regular programs carried by the city's Recreation Commission during the summer months and will provide additional facilities for use by the youngsters of Greenville under proper supervision.

Like most communities, Greenville has a large investment in its school facilities. While some use is made of the schools for educational purposes during the summer months, most of the facilities are not normally in use. To make them available for recreation purposes during the summer months, most of the facilities are not normally in use. To make them available for recreation purposes under the sponsorship of responsible local organizations is a worthwhile undertaking.

Certainly the organizations which are endeavoring to undertake such programs are to be commended for their efforts to serve the youth of this community. And the Board of Education also deserves commendation for having the foresight to cooperate in these programs.

Added Powers To A Governor

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Massive power shift or realignment for efficiency?

Reorganization of state government, now pending before the General Assembly, is either one or the other: perhaps, both.

The political reality is that it will deliver into the hands of the Governor more authority than North Carolinians ever before have Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, which asked to remain in position to capitalize on the prestige of the Governor's name; and Rep. Mary Horne Odom of Scotland, who asked as a private citizen that probation not be placed with correctional agencies. The State Wildlife Resources Commission missed the hearing because of a mix-up, but sent word it would file statement.

Eure is the only one talking openly, but there are others with qualms in the Council of State. Immediate alarm has been stilled with the pledge that nothing in reorganization will affect the Council as presently constituted.

The fear is for the future. Gubernatorial appointment of ten cabinet level department heads makes it logical to ask why the other eight (now elected, as Council of State positions) should not also be appointed. The suggestion has been raised in the past; reorganization would give it fresh validity. Government reorganization and restructure of higher education, if both are enacted at this session, would give Governor Scott in the twilight of his administration virtually an open hand to remake state government.

Wide Gubernatorial Power He would appoint a corps of cabinet-level department heads. These could be incumbent officials, but need not be. The Constitutional amendment on reorganization gives the Governor authority to "make such changes in the allocation of offices and agencies and in the allocation of those functions, powers and duties as he considers necessary for efficient administration."

The only check on executive orders setting out such changes would be their submission to the next General Assembly; in Scott's case, he would be out of office by then.

Republicans see favorable aspects to the reorganization plan.

The GOP hopes one day to elect a governor; a majority in the state legislature is an impossible dream. Under present strictures, the Governor of one party would have a sticky time dealing with a legislature composed of a majority of the other party.

Armed with broad appointive power and tight command of the government machinery, he would have leverage to deal with the legislature and patronage plums to entice recruits to his side.

While the promise is economy — savings of $50 million are mentioned as a possibility — the initial outlay would be roughly $1 1/2 million to put reorganization into force. The cost largely would be the extra layer of executive talent in the for of department heads and their deputies or assistants.

Few Opponents Appeared The only other appearances at the hearing was the been willing to grant in 300 years of history.

The promise is that this will mean savings in tax dollars, economy resulting from consolidation of overlapping agencies, and improved service to the citizenry.

Legislators normally jealous of the prerogatives of their branch of government seem sufficiently impressed by the second to overlook the implications of the first. The outlook is that bills carrying out reorganization of the executive branch, pursuant to the Constitutional amendment approved by voters last fall and based on recommendations of a study commission, will be enacted into law.

All Clear Ahead

How certain the prospect was clearly seen last week when State Government committees of House and Senate held a joint public hearing. The purpose was to listen to opponents of the reorganization plan sponsored by Governor Bob Scott and his administration. Only a handful of lawmakers though it worthwhile attending.

Secretary of State Thad Eure prefaced his presentation with appreciation for the opportunity to be heard by the committees — "the few of you as are here." He had hoped, Eure went on, for full attendance due to the vital nature of the issue.

Eure objected again as he has before to the proposed transfer of the State Board of Elections to his domain. He said the plan would put the politically-sensitive board in his department, but give him no say-so about its composition or operation. He'd be blamed for what went wrong, and have no means to make it right, Eure argued.

"I don't like it. I hope you don't like it. The people of the state won't like it," the veteran office-holder declared.

Eure went on to say that shifts of outside personnel into his office from other agencies would disrupt operations and demoralize his staff because of salary differentials.

The only other appearances at the hearing was the

The People Who Know Vote With Their Feet

Our North Vietnam flag-flying element just might be having second-thoughts. Maybe there is no "heaven" north of the DMZ.

Think of it! Six hundred North Vietnamese prisoners of war, held by the Saigon government, were offered repatriation. Only 13 were willing. Their responses were checked by the International Committee of the Red Cross.

The people who really know are voting again with their feet.

Much the same happened in the Korean Conflict. Thousands of North Korean POWs did not want to go home.

Some of the North Vietnamese may change their minds by deadline time, but this kind of balloting is costing Hanoi a lot of "face."

Radicals Brake Repeal For Bill

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — The aftermath of Washington's Mayday disruptions has further delayed the inexorably slow progress of Congress in repealing never-used authority for detention camps and even placed a slight cloud over prospects for eventual repeal.

Until attempts by radicals to bring the Federal government to its knees the first week in May, success seemed near for efforts to repeal the 21-year-old authority for the Attorney General to set up detention camps (in times of emergency declared by the President). After two full years of one delay after another, a bill repealing the detention camp section of the Internal Security Act of 1950 (the McCarran Act) was ready to be passed out of the House Rules Committee onto the floor.

What changed this was the use by Washington metropolitan police of the Washington Redskins' football practice field as a makeshift detention camp for thousands arrested in the Mayday disturbances. Supporters of the repeal bill feared that opponents — led by Rep. Richard Ichord of Missouri, chairman of the House Internal Security Committee — would use the Mayday events to show that standby powers for detention camps are more necessary than ever.

Thus, sponsors of the repeal bill decided to bottle it up in the Rules Committee for several weeks until Congressional anger over the Mayday disruptions cools. The trouble with still further delay, however, is that it helps propagation in the black ghetto of absurd but dangerous rumors that the Federal government plans to pen up Negroes in concentration camps.

Although the bill's opponents have now been strengthened, chances are the bill will still get final Congressional approval because the Nixon administration is no longer ardent but is strongly committed to repeal.

At the White House Correspondents Association dinner shortly after the Mayday disturbances, one of the key sponsors of the repeal bill — Rep. Abner Mikva of Illinois — cornered Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Mardian, head of the Justice Department's internal security division. In response to Mikva's question, hard-line conservative Mardian replied that the user of a very temporary detention camp in Washington under emergency conditions had in no way diminished the Administration's support for repeal.

Nixon Nixing Chicago? The interest by the Republican National Committee in picking Chicago as the site of the party's 1972 convention is by no means shared at the White House, where the final decision will

SOME VERY INTERESTED OUTSIDERS!

Better Idea In Welfare

Under a complicated schedule of diminishing payments from public funds as private income increases. The President's plan, with somewhat modified rigging, sailed through the House but foundered in the Senate. Now it has been salvaged by the House Ways and Means Committee, rechristened the Mills Bill after the committee's chairman, and offered to the Congress as H.R. 1 or FAP II. The proposal now carries a $2,400 Federal payment for the family of four, plus State supplements and other goodies. In the conservative view, the bill is as bad as ever.

It's a fair question. Both proponents and opponents of FAP agree on at least this much, that something has to be done about the welfare mess. Mr. Nixon's proposition in August of 1969 called for a basic Federal payment of $1,600 for a family of four, with larger benefits for larger families. His plan embraced both the working and the non-working poor, dependent on the dole; but FAP II would just about double the load. By the same token, welfare costs are imposing a mountainous burden on productive, tax-paying families, a desirable plan would seek to bring these costs down; but FAP II would add five to six billion dollars per year at the outset.

The most telling criticism of the FAP plans strikes at the fiction of "work incentives." The idea is to devise a system that would persuade — or compel — the welfare family to work its way off the rolls. Mr. Mills' FAP II is better than Mr. Nixon's FAP I in this respect, but not much better. Neither contains any real, driving incentive to make those persons work who are capable of working.

For the first time since the argument began, an alternative is being offered that may have considerable merit. It comes from Congressman Al Ullman of Baker, Ore., a 14-year veteran of the House and a member of Ways and Means.

Other Editors Say Special Prosecutors

(The Raleigh Times) Attorney General Robert Morgan is working on a plan which would be of tremendous help to district solicitors all over North Carolina. He plans to ask federal law enforcement assistance funds to add to his staff three "top flight prosecutors" to help the solicitors prosecute difficult cases.

The district solicitor is a busy man, and has his hands more than full in keeping up with the docket of his regular terms of Superior Court, or at least trying to keep up with the docket. In most counties, it is difficult for the solicitor to keep up, and in some counties it is an impossible job. In Wake County, for example, Solicitor Buck Ransdell said recently he had been too busy to study the SBI investigation of the case of the convict who gave $500 to the Democratic Party so that he could present the investigation report to the Grand Jury. This is a very important matter, and a busy solicitor said he hadn't had the time to get to it. This case would be an example where a special "top flight prosecutor" could be of real help to a local solicitor.

Lester Chalmers, who did outstanding work as Wake County solicitor a decade ago, is now on Attorney General Jorgan's staff. He could give first-hand testimony to some of the problems involved in prosecuting unusual cases, since he handled the highway sign case, and the basketball point-shaving case. The problems Chalmers encountered in those two cases alone would be good case histories in support of the Morgan proposal.

The Attorney General said the special prosecutors would be available to assist local prosecutors in such cases as embezzlement of fraud by government officials or employees. Such cases do require special expertise.

There is another angle to be considered, too. Having such special prosecutors on the staff would make it unnecessary for the taxpayers to have to pay high attorney fees to hire lawyers to assist solicitors in prosecuting special cases.

Holiday Leaves Doubts

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Well, was it worth it? The three days on the crowded highways. The discovery that hamburgers cost more than they did last fall? The fender dent, the realization that you left the lights on, the weather?

A lot of people today are happy that the holiday is behind them and that it is now June 1. The old-timers, for sure, because it's only two days before their Social Security checks are mailed.

The third day of the month is the one day on which the checks go out all over the country, but this time there's something special added: a 10 per cent increase.

This means a retired worker 65 or older, or a disabled worker under 65, is getting $208.80 now instead of $190 or so he was getting before. That's the new benefit for those whose average yearly earnings after 1950 were $5,400.

Many beneficiaries not fortunate to have any supplement to Social Security—and Social Security, and don't forget, is meant only to be the retirement base—welcome the increase as an opportunity to buy a few minor luxuries denied them by rising prices.

Later this month they may have an opportunity to purchase a major luxury, such as getting the television set repaired, because retroactive payments will be mailed in one check to cover the period January through April.

The resort operators and the cottage renters also are happy that the holiday has passed because now the season is officially inaugurated. The past month or so was a hectic one of preparation. Now the money pours in.

There is nothing a resort operator prefers over hard work in season, because he can relate it directly to profits. There

Strength For Today

BETTER DAYS A wise counselor regarding present day events wrote recently that all it takes for the forces of evil to prevail in this world is for enough good men to do nothing.

This may seem like a dismal approach to our modern problems, but certainly it is a realistic appraisal of how circumstances stand in our present-day world. Certainly the twentieth century is in many ways the most comfortable mankind has experienced in the whole of history, yet we are confronted with problems that may actually mean our undoing and the making of a new world.

The Book of Revelation bids us have hope (if not good cheer) and declares that a new heaven and a new earth will some day take place of this distraught world order in which we now live. There will be a new heaven and a new earth. The presence of God in the midst of His creation will be everywhere recognized and acknowledged. "And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away... Behold, I make all things new." (Revelation, 21:1-5)

In our darker moments we find ourselves declaring that there is no hope. We declare that the world is in a state of peril that is destined to become worse. How did we get such an idea? Certainly not from the Bible. We are spiritual beings, and as such we look to God our Maker whose rule and providence all things will become new. By Earl L. Douglass

Steel Peace As Bad As Strike?

By ELMER ROESSNER
Let's suppose the United Steelworkers of America and the big steel companies reach an agreement before July 31 and there is no strike. Of course, the odds are against it. Steel consumers have bet billions that there will be a strike. They have laid those bets by stockpiling steel.

Many business analysts and advisers have bet their reputation that there will be a strike, although the reputations may not be worth billions. And there is no way of telling how many billions have been bet in Wall Street that there will be a strike.

These bets have consisted of selling steel shares, selling other shares that can be hurt by a strike, or by buying shares that will benefit from a strike.

But let's suppose there is no strike and over pots of black coffee late in the night of Saturday, July 31, union and management negotiators strike a deal and all the workers show up Monday, August 2, on time. Painful Either Way A steel strike can hurt the economy. If it lasts three months it could plunge the country into fresh recession. But steel peace can hurt

Who Wants Peace? No one has suggested that the big steel companies want a strike. Yet, in ways they will benefit from one. First, a strike will make the next raise in steel prices more palatable. Customers and general public, who will thereafter pay higher prices for washing machines and hundreds of other steel products, will say that, "Well the manufacturers and the steel companies had no choice but to raise prices." Second, a strike will clear out much of the stockpiling, giving the steel companies a hungry market when the strike is finally over, a market that will be eager to buy steel at almost any price. Third, peace and a cutback in hiring will create restlessness among workers, leading to wildcat strikes and local declared strikes. Strike or peace, steel prices will go up; the price of things made of, by or with steel will go up; the ultimate settlement, at least 10 per cent a year for the next three years, will guarantee a continuance of inflation; the U.S. will lose more foreign markets for American steel; the settlement will become a model for future labor negotiations, and the consequences can arrest the nation's emergence from the recession and can plunge the economy into a worse one.

Aluminum Prices Rise With New Union Pact

NEW YORK (AP) — The United Steelworkers union and four major aluminum companies have reached agreement on new three-year contracts giving some 32,400 workers an average pay boost of about 30 per cent over the period.

A spokesman for a fifth producer, Olin Aluminum Co. in Hannibal, Ohio, said 900 USW members struck the company's plant at 4 p.m. Monday after talks broke down over local issues, a union spokesman said.

Aluminum Co. of America, the nation's No. 1 producer, said it would raise prices on nearly all fabricated products by 6 per cent starting in September. Alcoa said it would not increase the price of primary ingot.

The settlements announced here Monday were similar to the basic wage increases the steelworkers won from the major companies in March after a 28-day strike. President Nixon criticized that agreement as inflationary.

A White House spokesman declined Monday to comment "at this time" on the settlements with Alcoa, Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corp., Reynolds Metals Co. and Ormet Aluminum.

I. W. Abel, the steelworkers' president, had rejected a White House "inflation alert," claiming his members were the victims of inflation, not the cause.

Alcoa and Reynolds also reached agreement with the Aluminum Workers International Union, which represents about 16,000 workers at the two companies. Terms were described as similar to the steelworkers' pact.

The steelworkers called their contract "unprecedented" and "a substantial victory" with major breakthroughs in pension and vacation benefits as well as increased hourly wages.

The contracts cover 61,000 employees at Alcoa, 10,500 at Kaiser, 8,700 at Reynolds and 2,200 at Ormet, the union said.

Rank and file ratification of the USW contract is not required.

Terms of the pacts call for average wage increases of 5 1/2 cents an hour the first year and 15.7 cents plus a minimum 12 1/2-cent cost-of-living boost in each of the next two years.

The minimum hourly increase will be $1 an hour over three years, and it ranges up to $1.34, or higher if the cost of living rises more than expected.

The monthly pension benefit factor will go up 38 per cent from $6.50 to $9—meaning that a worker will be paid $9 a month in pension for each year of service.

For 30 years of service it would be $270 a month.

Five Biggest Issues Awaiting

By REESE HART Associated Press Writer RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina General Assembly moved into its sixth month today with action still to come on the five biggest issues, including the appropriations bills for the next biennium.

Other major issues pending are state government reorganization, restructuring of higher education, proposed changes in auto insurance and environmental legislation.

Despite this, legislative leaders hope to adjourn by mid-July or possibly Friday, July 9. Legislative work on the appropriations bills is running three weeks behind the schedule in the 1969 session.

Sen. John Henley, D-Cumberland, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, said he hopes to have the budget bill before the full 98-member Joint Appropriations Committee on June 23.

"We'll give them two or three days to study it over before acting on it," Henley said in an interview. "We hope to get it enacted by July 1."

In 1969, the budget bill reached the House floor June 6 and was enacted by the Senate June 9.

Evans, Novak

(Continued from page 4) be made. The National Committee's site selectors were not only impressed by Chicago's highly professional presentation but were clearly tantalized by the prospect of contrasting a peaceful Chicago '72 run by the Republicans with the chaotic Chicago '68 conducted by the Democrats.

The White House does not agree. Going to Chicago, the President's political advisers believe, would be a dare to the radical left to repeat its triumph there in 1968. Besides, despite all the surface chumminess between President Nixon and Mayor Richard J. Daley, there is some private suspicion at the White House about how much protection Democrat Daley would give a Republican convention if things got rough.

Indeed, the National Committee has not seriously considered the site that most intrigues Mr. Nixon: San Diego. The logistical problems — convention facilities reserved by private groups for August, 1972, and shortage of deluxe hotel space — are grave. But the President is most interested in having the convention in a conservative area of his home state, hard by his San Clemente ocean home.

A footnote: Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, was more than a little miffed when he found that White House aide William Timmons had been assigned to look into convention questions (including site selection). Characteristically, nobody had bothered to inform Dole. Hard feelings were smoothed over in a meeting between Dole and Timmons, but there is no doubt that major convention decisions will be made at the White House.

situations. By doing this the members of the committee were given a total concept of the spending requests for the next two fiscal years."

In addition to the record $4.3 billion budget recommended by Gov. Bob Scott, the Joint Appropriations Committee has received additional spending requests totaling $876 million.

This will require a big trimming job because revenue officials say that only about $16.3 million more can be expected in state revenue during the next biennium than was originally estimated.

Henley added that the state and the General Assembly are going to have to streamline and modernize the budget-making process. "It's too time consuming the way it's done now," he said. "At the rate the state is growing the budget in 10 years will total more than $10 billion."

Sea Battle For Koreans

SEOUL (AP) — In the third sea battle in four weeks, South Korean forces claimed to have sunk a North Korean boat with all hands Tuesday. But a South Korean plane with seven men aboard was believed lost.

The Defense Ministry said South Korean jet fighters sank the intruding boat near Sohusan Do, an island off the southwest coast, after a three-hour chase. The 70-ton boat had a crew of 15 to 17 men, and all were believed drowned.

A South Korean air force C46 with seven men aboard was missing and believed shot down during the chase. A second plane, a supersonic F5 Freedom Fighter, also was hit by fire from the North Korean boat but made it back to its base, a spokesman said.

In the two other sea encounters during May, a North Korean boat escaped on the night of May 4 after a brief sea battle, and another was sunk May 14 off the east coast just below the armistice line.

Falls To Death In A Cellblock

FIVE-TIER CELLBLOCK — This is a five-tier cellblock in Central Prison, like the one from the fifth tier of which an inmate fell to his death Monday. (AP Wirephoto)

RALEIGH (AP) — An honor grade convict who had nearly completed his sentence fell to his death Monday from the catwalk of the fifth story of a five-tier cellblock.

Willie Green, 39, of Rockingham, fell head-first onto the concrete floor below and died at the prison hospital an hour after the fall.

Guard Lonnie Turner, who said he was on a catwalk across from the place Green fell, said he witnessed the fall.

The inmates were being taken to supper at 3:30 p.m., said Turner, and Green and some 27 other inmates had been let out of the top tier of cells.

"As soon as he came out of his cell," Turner said, "he climbed over the railing and was hanging by his hands."

"I ran down the catwalk and told him to get back over there. He threw one leg up as if trying to hook it over the railing. You know, to help pull himself back up."

"When he swung his leg, his hands slipped off the railing or either he lost his grip."

"I thought he was going to climb down and swing over into the next tier down, the fourth," Turner said.

Green may not have been able to maintain his grip because of an operation he had undergone in recent days to remove a cyst from a hand. The cyst operation was the reason he had been transferred to Central Prison, which has hospital facilities, from his unit in Guilford County.

Lt. J.W. Godwin said Green was barely alive when he was taken to the prison hospital after the fall. He died of a crushed skull. He said Green began serving his sentence Oct. 13, 1967. "He was about ready to be released," Godwin said, adding that he was to be returned to Guilford County today.

The Wake County Coroner, who investigates all deaths in Central Prison, ruled that the death was accidental.

Nation Must Keep Its Ideals: Taylor

LAURINBURG, N.C. (AP) — Lt. Gov. H. Pat Taylor said Monday that Americans must not forget that every great nation which has risen to power has declined.

Taylor, speaking at the annual Memorial Day service held by VFW Post 2008 at Laurinburg Memorial Park, asserted, "We must remain strong and we must hold fast in our minds and hearts to those great ideals upon which our freedom and our very survival ultimately rest."

He told his audience that the greatest quality of American life is freedom and the by-products it generates.

"We produce more wealth and have more material possessions than anyone else, but if we are a great nation it is not because of this wealth, but it is because we stand as a symbol of freedom," Taylor said. "It is because we are a country of free men and women living in a free society expressing free ideas."

"The only reason that we have freedom today is because liberty was so precious to men of another generation that they were willing to live and die for it. That same spirit is the only thing that can preserve it."

"The great question that we must answer today is whether the American democratic adventure can be continued by a sense of opportunities to be seized and great deeds to be done.

"I do not believe our democratic society can fail us, but I do believe that we could fail this society."

"It will require all the power that our moral commitment can generate in the years ahead to deal affirmatively and courageously with the pressing problems faced by our society and this can only be done in a climate of freedom."

Cadillac 1971

Cadillac is doing something about traffic safety, but some things only you can do. You might be surprised by the scope of our involvement in advancing the cause of safety. Did you know, for instance, that Cadillac was the first to install safety glass in its cars? And introduced the triple braking system? Today you can see evidence of the magnitude of our concern. The 1971 Cadillacs incorporate a host of recent safety developments. Including an energy absorbing steering column. Padded instrument panel. Seat belts for all passenger positions. Side-Guard steel beams in the doors. And the work goes on. But all our efforts will not be enough, unless you do your share. Here are five ways you can help. 1. Always use your seat and shoulder belts. 2. Make sure your car is in good running order. 3. Never drive when you're tired or under the influence of alcohol. 4. Support driver training and uniform traffic codes and enforcement. 5. Drive defensively. Please. Will you do your part?

is little he dislikes more than off-season preparation, because its all payout and no cash in.

The city retailer is glad to see you back from the holiday because now he can get back to selling. The emptiness of the city is a fearful sight to him, filling his head with nightmares of impending bankruptcy.

He has been hurting this year anyway, and he has to use all his imagination to get you to spend. Those consumer forecasters have been telling him that people were getting into a spending mood, but he knows you can't spend mood.

Menswear retailers especially don't want to lose any selling time because business has been bad and the old stock hasn't been cleared out. Some of those "50 per cent off" sales are real.

Some of the city hotels also are glad to see you back, because the summer holidays drain off a good deal of their business. Many of them have to offer specials in order to keep occupied during long weekends.

A certain professor asserts that this exodus from the city is bound to end if the chambers of commerce and the hotel public relations men use their imagination.

Americans, he says, are a very urban people, the result of a long migration from the farm, but the ideal still seems to be agrarian. And, he adds, people often follow their ideals when they vacation.

The images of the good life, as portrayed in advertising for example, are more often of the farmhouse left behind than the city apartment now occupied. The virtues of the city are seldom extolled.

But some people, he says, are catching on. While city dwellers by the millions flock to the countryside on their vacations smart people by the hundreds are discovering that this leaves the cities habitable for a spell.

While their neighbors are burning themselves out on the beach or on the highway or freezing in the mountains, they comfortably stroll through their city streets, dropping into a museum or a movie as the mood suggests.

Certainly they are no more happy to see you back home than the burglar who was casing your property. But there are, if you stop to think, many others besides the newsboy who are happy the holiday is over and that you are home.

To name one: The family you were visiting.

Bunning Passes Young's Mark

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
It was Memorial Day and Jim Bunning went to work.
But the Philadelphia Phillies' pitching dean had a picnic anyway.
Bunning/notched five strikeouts Monday as the Phillies beat San Diego 3-1 in the opener of a doubleheader and buzzed past Cy Young into second place on the all-time list with 2,823 victims.
"I know I have no shot at Walter Johnson's record," said Bunning, who's still well behind the Big Train's fabulous 3,508 strikeouts. "In fact, I'm even surprised that I broke Young's record of 2,819. When you stop and think about it, I've never been an overpowering pitcher like Sandy Koufax or Bob Gibson.

"The most batters I ever struck out in a game was 14."
Bunning wasted no time in barging past Young. He struck out Garry Jesteadt to tie the mark, then broke it by fanning slugger Clarence Gaston in the first inning.
The Padres earned a split of the holiday twin bill with a 6-3 victory in the second game. In other National League action, Pittsburgh hammered Chicago 6-0; Houston slugged Cincinnati 4-1; San Francisco turned back

New York 2-1 in 11 innings; St. Louis nipped Atlanta 3-2 and Los Angeles stumped Montreal 4-0.
In the American League, Minnesota topped Detroit 6-2; Washington ripped California 4-0; Kansas City took a doubleheader from Boston 7-3 and 9-4; New York beat Oakland 5-3 in the opener of a twin bill and the A's took a 6-3 decision in the second game; Chicago topped Baltimore 1-0 in the curtain-raiser and lost 11-3 to the Orioles in the nightcap of their doubleheader and Milwaukee nudged Cleveland 6-5.
Bunning, in his 16th major league season after hitches with Detroit of the American League and Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Los Angeles of the National, didn't remember his first strikeout.

His toughest strikeout? "Nellie Fox," said Bunning. "It took me 13 years before I got him."
The 39-year-old Bunning, along with Young the only pitcher to have 100 victories and 1,000 strikeouts in each of the American and National leagues, was given the ball after the historic, first-inning strikeout and received an explosive ovation from the crowd at San Diego Stadium.
Rookie Willie Montanez' two-run double in the ninth inning snapped a 1-1 tie and gave the victory to Bunning, who had last-inning relief help from Darrell Brandon.
San Diego sandbagged Philadelphia's Barry Lersch with a four-run first inning in the second game as Ivan Murrell blasted a three-run homer and Bob Miller pitched five innings of shutout relief to give the Padres a split.
Steve Blass surrendered only five hits in pitching Pittsburgh over Chicago. Blass, never in serious trouble, got home run support from Willie Stargell and Richie Hebner.
Stargell's 17th homer highlighted a two-run second and Hebner slammed his fifth circuit in the third inning to give Blass a 3-0 cushion.

Larry Dierker won his ninth game in 10 decisions by spacing seven hits and Cesar Cedeno knocked in three runs with a two-run homer and double as Houston tripped Cincinnati.
Cedeno crashed his second homer of the year with Joe Morgan aboard via a single in the inning, then knocked in Roger Metzger with a double in the seventh.
Willie Mays, whose eighth-inning homer tied the game, 1-1, raced home from third on Tito Fuentes' sacrifice fly in the 11th to carry San Francisco past New York for the Giants' fifth straight victory.
Mays drew a walk off Mets' starter Jerry Kosman, took second on a sacrifice and advanced to third as Alan Gallagher beat out an infield hit off reliever Danny Frisella. Then Fuentes lined out to Tommie Agee in right field to score Wondrous Willie.
Jose Cardenal drove in the winning run with a two-out single in the eighth inning to pace St. Louis over Atlanta as Louis Brock's 26-game hitting streak ended. Brock struck out twice and bounced out two times in four appearances.
Richie Allen crashed a two-run homer in the third inning and reliever Jim Brewer saved Don Sutton in an eighth-inning jam for Los Angeles.

Home Builders, Dairy Pick Up BR Victories

Home Builders moved back into sole possession of first place in the Babe Ruth League last night with a 2-1 victory over College View. In the other game, Carolina Dairy downed Planters Bank, 4-1.
Home Builders now has a 3-1 record, followed by Pepsi-Cola and NCNB, both with 2-1 records. College View and Carolina Dairy are both 2-2 while Planter is 0-4.
In the opener, Planters pushed over its only run in the first. Jerry Griffin singled to third and moved up on a sacrifice. He scored on Phil Ragazzo's single.

Carolina Dairy came right back with two runs in the bottom of the first to take the lead for good. Griff Garner singled and took second on a passed ball. David Clifton walked and Mike Parker singled, loading the bases. Bobby Jones then got a hit to center, scoring Garner and Clifton.
In the third, Carolina Dairy picked up its other two runs. Bobby Jones singled and took second on a passed ball. Edwin Clark walked and Wayne Miller reached on an error; loading the bases. Chris Garrett walked to force in Jones, and a single by Garner brought in Clark.

Garner led the Carolina Dairy hitting with three, while Parker and Jones each had two. For Planter, Griffin had a pair.
In the second game, Home Builders went ahead with a run in the top of the first. Skip Fowler singled and stole second. He took third on a passed ball and scored on Jon West's ground out.
College View came back with a run in the bottom of the inning to tie it up. Bobby Kittrell walked and stole second. Ken Tetterton also walked, and Robert Bowles singled to score Kittrell.
In the third, Jeff Daniels settled the game, slamming a homer for Home Builders. It was the final run of the evening.
The Builders got only three hits off Kittrell, but they proved to be enough. Winning hurler Chris Manning allowed five hits, two by Bowles.

Buford Belts Pair Of Homers As Orioles Win

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
June is busting out all over and so is Don Buford.
Baltimore's pint-sized outfielder belted two home runs and tried for one pitcher and one fan in the Orioles' 11-3 romp over Chicago in the second game of a Memorial Day doubleheader.
The White Sox won the opener 1-0 on Tommy John's five-hitter and the split enabled the Orioles to move within 1 1/2 games of first place Boston in the American League East as the Red Sox took a 7-3, 9-4 doubleheader whipping from Kansas City.
Elsewhere in the American League Monday, Minnesota clipped Detroit 6-2, Washington shut out California 4-0, Cleveland lost to Milwaukee 6-5 and New York split a doubleheader with Oakland, winning 5-3 before losing 6-3.
In the National League, Pittsburgh shut out Chicago 6-0, Houston trimmed Cincinnati 4-1, San Francisco edged New York 2-1 in 11 innings, Philadelphia split a doubleheader with San Diego, winning 3-1 before losing 6-3, St. Louis whipped Atlanta 3-2 and Los Angeles defeated Montreal 4-0.
Buford sat out the first game of the Orioles' Memorial Day doubleheader against the White Sox with John, making his first start since May 7. A sixth-inning unearned run driven in by Ed Herrmann stood up for the victory.

But the little outfielder made it a memorable day in the nightcap. He was hit by a Joe Horlen pitch in the first inning and then ripped home runs in the third and sixth. When he came to bat in the eighth, reliever Bart Johnson hit him in the back and Buford went after the pitcher.
Both benches emptied but no punches were thrown and the umpires did not eject either player. But, an inning later, Buford was in the on-deck circle when he became the center of another battle.
"Kids in the stands nearby started throwing apple cores, paper cups and other things at me," said Buford. "I went over to warn them. Then some fan jumped me from the rear."
The Orioles ran to Buford's defense and when the mob scene was unscrambled, Buford had been ejected from the game and a fan was taken by police to the Stadium first aid room, suffering from a bloody nose and mouth. He later ran out of the room, and could not be identified.
The Red Sox weren't quite as lucky as Buford. They were hit over and over, mostly by Amos Otis but also by Paul Schaal and Cookie Rojas as Kansas City swept the doubleheader.
The Royals became the first visiting team to win a doubleheader at Fenway Park since August 24, 1966 when another Kansas City team—this one nicknamed the A's—turned the trick.
Otis drilled a home run in each game, added a pair of singles and drove in six runs for the day. Schaal had a pair of key hits in the first game and a big double in the four-run third inning of the nightcap and Rojas rifled a three-run homer in the second game.
Harmon Killebrew walloped the 495th homer of his career—a three-run shot in the eighth inning that wrapped up the Twins' victory over Detroit, spoiling the homecoming of Billy Martin, the former Minnesota manager and now boss of the Tigers.
Jim Kaat earned the victory, scattering eight hits and besting Mickey Lolich, 8-4.
Washington used three pitchers—Mike Thompson, Denny Riddleberger and Casey Cox—to three-hit California. Thompson worked the first three innings before reinjuring a dislocated finger. Then Riddleberger took over until the ninth with Cox finished up.

Larry Bittner had three hits and Bernie Allen contributed a homer to Washington's attack.
Johnny Ellis rocked a three-run homer to break a tie and move New York past Oakland in the first game of their doubleheader. Fritz Peterson earned the victory and Jim "Catfish" Hunter was tagged with the loss, ending an eight-game winning streak.
In the nightcap, John "Blue Moon" Odom earned his first victory of the season with Oakland cracking a tie on successive run-scoring singles by Tommy Davis, who had five hits for the doubleheader, Sal Bando and Angel Mangual.
Ted Kubiak's home run in the last of the ninth inning powered Milwaukee past Cleveland. Kubiak's one-out shot off reliever Phil Hennigan snapped a 5-5 tie.
Milwaukee had tied the game without a hit in the seventh as Johnny Briggs walked, moved to second on a sacrifice, went to third on a balk and scored on a bounce.

and Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Los Angeles of the National, didn't remember his first strikeout.

In the bottom of the second, Pepsi came up with a run. Tim Eubanks singled and moved up on an out. He scored on Perry Worthington's hit.
In the third, the Elks pulled out to a 12-1 lead scoring eight big runs. Davis was hit by a pitch and Godette reached on a fielder's choice. Randle reached on an error, scoring both runners. Ward singled to score Randle and Greg Hargett walked. Ricky Skinner was hit by a pitch, as was Spain, scoring Ward. Alex King reached on a fielder's choice, but Hargett was cut down at the plate. Davis reached on an error, scoring Skinner, and a wild pitch brought in Spain. Godette doubled to score King and Davis with the final runs.
Pepsi came back with five in the bottom of the inning, then scored four in the fourth, cutting the lead to 12-10. The Elks added one in the fifth, while Pepsi came up with two, making it 13-12.

Worry Clinic Learning Early To Expect Dole

Mabel's query should be debated each semester in every PTA and PTO meeting. For millions of supposedly educated parents are teaching their children to expect a "dole." Instead, make your child self-reliant. Give him a sense of values. Don't rear Prodigal Sons! Let your boys carry a newspaper route!

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph.D., M.D.

Case Q-568: Mabel G., aged 34 is a PTA officer.

"Dr. Crane," she began, "we are to have a debate on whether to give children a weekly allowance vs. making them work for their spending money. "Could you furnish me some psychological arguments against the 'allowance plan'?"

"For I am to defend the pay-for-work method."

Thus, they soon begin to feel they are "entitled" to money without working for it.

And this is why the Welfare State is zooming in American, even to the ridiculous idea of paying a salary to all indigent families!

shoes or iron the flat work, or wash windows or rake lawns or polish the auto, soon develop respect for the money they thus earn.

Earned money is seldom squandered thoughtlessly!

"Mother," a Chicago coed began just before last Easter, "I need a new outfit. So please get it so I can wear it back to college."

But the mother suggested the coed use the $100 she had earned while working at a Loop department store during the Christmas season.

"Never!" exclaimed the daughter. "I worked for that money!"

"Easy come, easy go," is the old adage that shows why Prodigal Sons soon go broke.

If they can wheedle free "allowances" from their parents, the money has little value to them, so they throw it away.

But when 10 cents means the

Dole Psychology

The "allowance plan" is un-American.

For it tutors kiddies in developing the "dole" psychology.

The bidding:

West North East South

3 ♠ 3 ♦ 6 ♣ 6 ♣

Pass Pass Pass

A lack of enterprise on the part of East led to a disastrous swing against his team in a recent team of four match.

At one table the bidding proceeded as depicted in the diagram. West's opening preemptive bid of three clubs is fairly routine, however North's overall of three diamonds requires an explanation. This partnership was using a specialized convention in defending against preemptive bids—which provided that a double of a three bid was for penalties and an overall in the next ranking suit was an artificial request for takeout and indicated support in the other three suits.

East attempted to cloud the issue for his opponents by taking a premature sacrifice. His leap to six clubs, he hoped, would make it difficult for the opposition to get together. South was not to be denied and he bid six spades, inasmuch as he had both high card strength and attractive effort to wash a window neatly, then the child hesitates about spending that dime on a juke box.

Remember, life makes no allowances for anybody, for you must deliver the goods in this world or be pushed aside.

So never be guilty of cultivating this "something for nothing" attitude in your children, which is what the "allowance plan" does!

Senate Approves Reapportionment Bill

Find Bodies Of Murphy, Others

By BILL BASKERVILL
Associated Press Writer
ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The wreckage of a chartered airplane carrying World War II hero Audie Murphy and five other men has been found on a rugged mountaintop near here.

Pathologists worked today trying to positively identify the bodies removed from the wreckage Monday by rescue workers and taken to Roanoke Community Hospital.

The rescue workers said three bodies might be identified by physical features, but the other three were burned so badly they were unrecognizable.

"All indications point to the fact that it is Audie," said Lincoln Carle, the 46-year-old Murphy's business manager. "We don't have positive identification but everything else matches."

As the nation's most decorated World War II hero, Murphy received 24 medals from the American government, three from the French and one from the Belgians.

He won the Medal of Honor after he mounted a burning American tank and, although wounded, held off with a .50-caliber machine gun German troops which were advancing on him from three sides.

Besides the Medal of Honor he won the Distinguished Service Cross, the Legion of Merit, the Silver Star with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star and the Croix de Guerre. He also received the Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf clusters.

Murphy who rose to lieutenant also was commended for having killed 240 German soldiers.

Murphy had been flying to Martinsville 60 miles south of here on business. The plane went down Friday morning but the crash went undetected three days because of bad weather and because no flight plan had been filed.

Numbers still visible on the tail of the twin-engine Aero Commander matched those on the aircraft in which Murphy and five others had boarded in Atlanta. The wreckage was spotted Monday on the north side of 3,056-foot Brushy Mountain about 14 miles northwest of here. It was reached later in the day by rescue workers, who had to hike four miles up the steep mountain terrain.

The five persons who boarded the plane with Murphy were Claude Crosby, president of Modular Management, a subsidiary of Modular Properties Inc. of Atlanta; Jack Littleton of Fort Collins, Colo., secretary-treasurer of Lenoir Corp.; Raymond Prater, a Chattanooga, Tenn., lawyer representing Modular Management; Kim Dody of Ft. Carson, Colo., a friend of Littleton; and the pilot, Herman Butler of Denver, Colo.

Govm't Foe Charged

SAIGON (AP) — A leading antigovernment member of the National Assembly has been arrested and charged with attempted murder, the government news agency Vietnam Press reported today.

Ngo Cong Duc, editor of the often-confiscated newspaper Tin Sang, was accused of an attack at a dinner party on the chairman of the provincial council in his native province in the Mekong Delta. A relative told the Saigon Post that Duc had been "forced to attend the party and was provoked into a fight."

The incident occurred last Sunday in Vinh Binh Province, which Duc represents in the assembly. Vietnam Press said a quarrel broke out between Duc and Pham Huu Gia, and Gia "received serious injuries and was brought to a hospital for treatment."

Duc's newspaper frequently attacks President Nguyen Van Thieu and his government. It is the capital's most widely read paper and also the one most frequently confiscated by the government.

Hog Cholera

GREENSBORO (AP) — Hog Cholera has broken out on a farm three miles east of Greensboro.

About 250 hogs were destroyed by drug injection Monday to prevent spread of the contagious virus disease.

Farmers are indemnified for hogs so destroyed.

John A. Crawford, Guilford County agricultural extension chairman, said hog cholera is rare in the Piedmont section of the state. Most outbreaks have been in the east, he said.

Jumped Him On Last Day

Another incident, following one reported for Friday, occurred at Aycock Junior High School on Monday, the last day of the 1970-71 school year.

Principal John Jones of Aycock confirmed that "a sophomore, a white boy, was jumped by three Negro boys, all eighth grade students, in the dressing room of the gymnasium, on Monday morning."

Jones reported the father of the injured white boy, was called, came to the school and took the boy to the Pitt Memorial Hospital Emergency Room for treatment.

At the time of contact with Jones, the principal said he had not been informed of the extent of injuries received by the boy.

Other than this incident, Jones noted that all went well at the junior high school, where three assemblies took place on the final day of school.

Demonstrators 'Costing Lives'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Bob Hope says demonstrators who seek withdrawal of American forces from Vietnam "are costing us lives just by their tactics."

"We are getting out just as fast as we can" the comedian said Monday before appearing at a benefit performance in coliseum. The performance was part of the national campaign to raise funds for the Eisenhower Medical Center in Palm Desert, Calif., and Eisenhower College in Seneca Falls, N.Y.

'Substitute' For War Is Urged

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (P) — Duke University president Terry Sanford told graduates of Southwestern at Memphis Monday that man must find a substitute for war in settling differences, before the world is destroyed.

Sanford said that possibly no other nation besides the United States can qualify to lead in world peace.

The educator, a former North Carolina governor, received an honorary degree from the liberal arts college.

Tent Fell During Revival Meet

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A large tent blew down Monday night on 500 to 600 persons gathered for a revival.

Fire trucks, police cars and ambulances rushed to the scene, as the people crawled from under the canvas, but only one person had to be treated at a hospital and she was released later. Police estimated 50 others received minor injuries.

The National Weather service said winds of about 30 miles an hour with gusts up to 48 m.p.h. were recorded about the time the tent fell.

The preaching had not begun on the fourth night of the Holy Ghost Miracle Revival Crusade.

Eight varieties of three-leafed shamrocks are called the "true" ones.

RALEIGH (AP) — Wake County will gain two House seats and Mecklenburg, Guilford and Cumberland one each under legislation enacted by the North Carolina Senate Monday night.

There was no debate as the Senate quickly passed the measure to reapportion House membership to reflect changes in the 1970 census.

Wake County's House seats will be increased from four to six, Mecklenburg's from seven to eight, Guilford's from six to seven and Cumberland's from four to five.

The Senate has taken no action to redistrict its membership.

Meanwhile, the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to strengthen governmental control of North Carolina's beach erosion. It is part of Gov. Bob Scott's environmental protection package.

Under the bill, county government would be authorized to establish a shore protection line along the barrier dunes and to appoint a shore protection officer to see that no changes were made in the dunes without a permit.

If the coastal counties failed to exercise that authority by next Dec. 31, the state would be given the right to assume shore protection control.

Scots Balked Over Moving Clocks Up

By RICHARD ROY
GREENWICH, England (UPI) — The Scots, confesses Jock Bruce-Gardyne, are a difficult race. Shrouding them in semi-darkness for much of the year doesn't make them any less so.

That more or less explains why this October, Britain will give up its three-year experiment with British Standard Time and return to Greenwich Mean Time.

The introduction of British Standard Time (BST) in 1967 moved the United Kingdom's clocks forward one hour, making it the same as continental European time. In the north that meant at least one more hour of winter darkness, in some areas until 9:45 a.m.

The Scots promptly demonstrated how "difficult" they could be.

"BST is a misery and a curse," Bruce-Gardyne, a Scottish member of Parliament, said last November. "We are a difficult race. Still, after two winters of mid-morning darkness, we are broadly unimpressed by the magical properties of this glimpse of the new technological age."

Bruce-Gardyne was one of the leaders of a parliamentary lobby which fought hard for BST's abolition, enacted during

Doctors Balk At Govm't Fees

TOKYO (AP) — An estimated 70,000 doctors—about 60 per cent of Japan's medical practitioners—have decided to stop treating patients under the government health insurance program, the Japan Medical Association reported today.

The association said the program had not been changed fundamentally since it was adopted in 1927, and the fees fixed by the government are too low. The doctors said they would begin to refuse patients under the program on July 1. Most of Japan's 110 million people are covered by the program.

Count 532 Dead During Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The National Safety Council had estimated that between 450 and 550 persons would die on streets and highways from 6 p.m. Friday to Monday midnight.

The highest traffic toll during a three-day observance of Memorial Day was 597 in 1969.

N.C. Economy Is Edging Up

RALEIGH (AP) — North Carolina's economy is edging upward on the strength of increased consumer spending.

Economists for the North Carolina National Bank, Alfred G. Smith and Donald H. Snyder, noted in their May report that retail sales have improved for each of the last four months, and totaled more than $3.2 billion for the past quarter. This was an increase at an annual rate of 22 per cent from the fourth quarter of 1970.

The economists pointed out that the unemployment rate in North Carolina remained at 4.2 per cent for the fourth straight month as they noted that the recovery from the 1970 recession is following a slow and inconsistent course.

They expressed the opinion that business in North Carolina is improving and will continue to improve. They said the second quarter promises to be better than the first and the second half of 1971 better than the first half.

At textile mills, the most depressed of the state's industries for the past two years, the economists noted that sales have increased considerably since the first of the year. But the textile industry has been working off large inventories accumulated in the past.

They expressed the opinion that as inventory levels reach more manageable proportions relative to sales in the coming

Police Rescue Hostage

By RODNEY PRIDER
Associated Press Writer
ISTANBUL (AP) — Police broke into the apartment where two young terrorists were holding a 14-year-old girl hostage today, freed the girl in a three-minute gun battle, and wounded the two youths, one fatally and the other critically.

The girl, Sibel Erkan, also was wounded but the hospital said her condition was not serious.

A large crowd outside the apartment house cheered at the news that the girl had been rescued.

The two youths, Huseyin Cevahir and Mahir Cayan, were wanted for the kidnap-murder of Israeli Consul-General Ephraim Elrom. Flushed out of a deserted mansion Sunday by police searchers, they invaded the third-floor apartment of a Turkish army major and held his daughter captive after letting her mother and brother go.

On the way they dropped a bag containing Elrom's passport and identity card. He had been kidnapped May 17 by the Turkish People's Liberation Army and murdered five days later when the government refused to release all political hostages it was holding.

Two others with Cevahir and Cayan escaped Sunday.

The two young terrorists said they would kill the girl if the police attacked them or fired tear gas into the apartment. They demanded safe conduct out of the country as their price for her freedom. Troops and police ringed the building, cut off the water, and hoped that hunger and thirst would drive the youths out.

The invasion of the apartment was a three-prong operation, with troops and police entering through the balcony, through the roof and through the door. Hospital officials said Cevahir died on the way to the hospital.

The capture of the girl and the two-day siege had inflamed public feeling and brought large angry crowds to the apartment house.

The mother of one of the terrorists appealed in vain by megaphone Monday for her son to surrender. In Ankara, a father of four offered to replace Sibel as hostage.

Meanwhile, officials in Ankara announced that Cihan Alptekin, thought to be a cell leader in the people's liberation army, was captured near the Greek border.

Police in the southeast Turkish town of Adiyaman shot and killed three other members of the liberation army and caught two others headed for the nearby Syrian border. One of the dead was Sinan Cemgil, a university student in Ankara wanted for the kidnaping of four U.S. airmen three months ago.

In Istanbul, Police Chief Muzaffer Caglar was fired for "grave shortcomings in his official activities." Three days before two of his chief aides were arrested; local newspapers said they were implicated in liberation army activities.
