Governor's Award Given To Grifton

RALEIGH — The town of Grifton was presented the Governor's Award here this morning in recognition of the community's efforts to improve its attractiveness for industrial development.

The award, presented by Robert E. Leak, administrator with the Division of Commerce and Industry, said the twon of Grifton has satisfied the requirements for the award through its recent clean-up campaign, dated brochures on the community, and a community survey showing existing facilities and information that might be of interest to prospective industries.

It was also stated that Grifton had put more into the clean-up campaign than any other town that had been inspected.

Leak said Grifton is now better prepared to receive economic development and have a greater sense of community pride.

The award was accepted this morning by Grifton Mayor David Bosley. On hand for the presentation were Pitt County Representatives Vernon White, Horton Rountree, and Sam Bundy.

In order to qualify for the award, a town must meet the following five qualifications: promotional and financial organization capable of financing an industry; community audit; selection of rail and non-rail industrial sites; an up-to-date community brochure summarizing the attributes of the community; and conducting a successful clean-up, fix-up campaign.

Hoffa Giving Up His UAW Reign

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa has sent word from his prison cell that he will finally relinquish his 14-year reign over the giant labor union, informed sources said today.

The tough, 58-year-old Hoffa, whose stormy career as chief of the 2-million member union ended in prison four years ago, reportedly endorsed the union's general vice president, Frank E. Fitzsimmons, to succeed him.

Hoffa, serving 13 years for jury tampering and mail fraud in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary, had exhausted innumerable legal avenues in a fruitless effort to win his freedom in time to run for re-election next month before finally giving in and agreeing to step aside.

High Union sources had speculated for months that the government would not release him until he agreed to step down from the presidency of the union that yields powerful control in the nation's trucking industry.

It was not immediately clear whether Hoffa agreed to resign before the Teamsters convention opening in Miami Beach July 5, thus making Fitzsimmons union president immediately, or whether Hoffa will hold office until the new election.

Either way, Fitzsimmons—handpicked by Hoffa as his stand-in at the last convention five years ago shortly before Hoffa went to prison—is regarded a cinch for endorsement by the dozen other Teamsters vice presidents.

"There's a new Frank Fitzsimmons," said one source, referring to Fitzsimmons' obvious joy over Hoffa's decision.

Hoffa had kept other Teamsters leaders waiting for the decision up to the union's last executive board meeting in Hollywood, Fla., last month. Hoffa sent word then he wanted more time in a last bid for freedom on the basis of a purported deposition from the chief prosecution witness, Edward Grady Partin, whose testimony sent him to prison. Partin denied making the alleged deposition recanting much of his testimony.

The 63-year-old Fitzsimmons, a long-time friend of Hoffa from their early Detroit days in the union, has run the union since Hoffa went to prison in 1967.

Others in the Teamsters' hierarchy reportedly preferred Fitzsimmons' looser control, allowing them more sway in their own union districts. Hoffa, in contrast, had tightly gripped most power in his own hands, sometimes bypassing other officials to deal directly with union members.

Council Meeting

For the first full dress meeting of the new City Council, 13 scheduled items are on the agenda for the June City Council meeting tonight at 8:00 p.m. in the Council Chambers of Greenville's Municipal Building.

New business, consisting of seven agenda items, covers a request for a pool table permit, an amendment to airport zoning ordinance,a contract to audit accounts, the Mid-East Economic Development Commission participation by the City of Greenville, and a request for rezoning. Also to be taken up is a request for privilege license refund and the annual list of tax releases for the council's consideration.

Pitt Counts 9th Fatality

Pitt County recorded its ninth traffic fatality of the year early Wednesday afternoon when a 24-year-old Denver, Colo. man was killed about six miles south of Greenville on N.C. 43.

Highway Patrolman Billy Day said that Edward McDowell Schempp Jr. died when a car in which he was a passenger swerved to avoid a turning vehicle and slammed into a utility pole. Coroner E. W. Harvey Jr. said that Schempp was dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital.

Trooper Day said that the victim's sister, Mary H. Schempp of 405 Jarvis St., Greenville, who was also a passenger in the car, was admitted to the hopsital for treatment. He added that the driver of the foreign-made vehicle, Theresa E. Smith of 555 E. Tenth St., Denver, was treated for a head injury but was not admitted.

The patrolman said that no charges have been preferred pending further investigation of the 1 p.m. accident.

A hospital spokesman said this morning that Miss Schempp was in the special surgiacl unit and listed her condition as "fair."

New Blue Law Before Senate

RALEIGH (AP) — Senate Judiciary L Committee amended and then sent to the the Senate floor without recommendation a measure today which an opponent said was intended to force discount stores in North Carolina to close on Sunday.

The committee first adopted an amendment by Sen. John Burney, D-New Hanover, to exempt the coastal counties of Brunswick, Pender and New Hanover from the Sunday closing measure.

Some members wondered whether this amendment would render the bill unconstitutional and reserved the right to oppose on the Senate floor the exemption of any counties.

Sen. Norris Reed, D-Craven, an outspoken opponent to the measure, made the motion that reported the bill without recommendation.

The bill would make it illegal to work on Sunday but would exempt a long list of industries and businesses from its provisions.

In general, the bill would make it illegal to seel on Sunday, clothing and clothing accessories except swimwear; housewares, home, business and office furnishing, and appliances; tools, paints, hardware, building supplies and lumber; jewelry, silverware, watches, clocks; luggage, musical instruments, recorders, recordings, radios, television sets; sporting goods, except when sold for use on premises of sporting events and recreational facilities; yard or piece-goods; automobiles, trucks and trailers.

In offering his amendment, Burney said many beaches are in the three counties and "the people at the beaches don't want this."

"This is an attempt to keep the discount stores from opening on Sunday," Reed told a reporter. "That's the purpose of the whole bill."

But Sen. Thomas Strickland, D-Wayne, said:

"I'd say life would be better for the people of North Carolina if they had a day of rest and would not have to fight for a living every day of the week."

Sen. Eddie Knox, D-Mecklenburg, said he was voting to send the bill to the Senate floor because "this is a policy matter which the people of the state are entitled to let the full Senate decide."

NATO Ministers Say Progress Being Made On Berlin Settlement

LISBON (AP) — Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty organization claimed today that East-West talks for a Berlin settlement are making progress.

They held out hopes that new talks on a European security conference will begin with the Communist powers when a full agreement on Berlin has been signed sealed and delivered.

The development came at the opening session of NATO's foreign ministers' council, which heard a report on the Big Four negotiations over Berlin from Maurice Schumann of France.

The two-day NATO meeting began after saboteurs bombed Lisbon's central post office and blasted communications at three of four other points in the suburbs of the capital.

The downtown blast cut Portugal from communication with the outside world for several hours. The explosions were believed to be the work of leftist urban guerrillas who oppose the government's war in Africa.

Schumann told the council that Soviet leaders advised him in Moscow recently that the Soviet Union is ready to accept responsibility for Western access to Berlin. The East Germans would manage the access routes but in the case of dispute Moscow would be ready to join with the West in settling any problems.

In the council debate Walter Scheel of West Germany said the latest Soviet proposal for reducing troops in Europe was vague. He said he suspected Moscow is trying to sidestep allied preconditions for a Berlin settlement. His government favors exploring Soviet intentions through regular diplomatic channels.

Premier Marcello Castano of Portugal opened the minister's semiannual meeting, first to be held in Portugal.

Penn Central's Vast Holdings Up For Sale

FOR SALE — Map locates 10 blocks of real estate in midtown Manhattan between Madison and Lexington avenues, and 42nd and 52nd streets, which will be sold by the Penn Central Transportation Company. (AP Wirephoto)

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The financially troubled Penn Central Transportation Co. has proposed selling land and buildings in the heart of New York City worth an estimated $1.24 billion.

The sale could result in the largest real estate deal ever by a single owner.

The property includes six skyscrapers and 17 other parcels of land occupied by buildings, as well as air rights for construction over Grand Central Terminal.

The buildings being offered outright for sale include the Commodore, Roosevelt, Biltmore and Barclay hotels and two office buildings. The land includes that occupied by the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. The Waldorf-Astoria itself is not included.

All of the property covered in Wednesday's announcement is located within a 10-block, 29-acre area bounded by Madison Avenue, Lexington Avenue, 42nd Street and 52nd Street.

The sale is subject to the approval of a federal judge supervising reorganization of the railroad under federal bankruptcy laws.

Last June 21 the railroad declared in a court petition that it was "virtually without cash" and would have to reorganize.

The giant railroad has many nonrailroad assets, including amusement parks in Texas, pipelines in the South, hotels in Florida, and acres of valuable real estate in the nation's principal cities.

Under the provisions of a $100 million loan guarantee granted the Penn Central by the Department of Transportation earlier this year, the firm is required to dispose of its non-transportation properties.

The New York real estate package constitutes roughly one-fourth of the company's total holdings. The 17 parcels of land command total annual rentals of more than $21.2 million.

The centerpiece of the railroad's New York properties is the stately old Grand Central Terminal.

Although the terminal is not for sale, the railroad is offering 1.7 million square feet of air rights above the station to any prospective builder.

The first hint that Penn Central might dispose of the property came in March when the trustees, in a report on the status of reorganization, said they were studying "sale of other advantageous disposition of ... wholly owned subsidiaries ... investments in affiliated corporations ... and nonrail subsidiaries."

But the trustees told U.S. District Court that "in view of the enormity of the undertaking," the results of their study would not be available until October or November.

Eruption Ceased

CATANIA, Sicily (AP) — Vulcanologists said today that M. Etna's latest eruption has ended after 58 days. Farmers and villagers began carting possessions back to the homes they abandoned.

It was the huge volcano's fourth worst eruption in three centuries.

Villagers returned to damaged homes evacuated on the northern edge of the mountainside crossroads village of Fornazzo. Streams of molten rock narrowly missed striking the entire village.

Many residents are starting from scratch. Their orchards and vineyards have been burned and their croplands are buried under cooling lava.

States of emergency were lifted in Fornazzo and nearby Sant'Alfio.

Experts estimated that Etna poured out 140 million cubic yards of lava since April 5, making the fourth greatest eruption since 1669 when lava from the volcano destroyed the city of Catania.

Assault Charged

Four juvenile petitions have been signed by R.D. Johnson, father of the white male student injured in a disturbance at Aycock Junior High School on Monday, May 31, the final day of school.

The juvenile petitions signed by Johnson charge four young Negro students, also students at Aycock Junior High, with assault on his son.

The incident occurred Monday morning in the dressing room of the school's gymnasium.

Johnson stated that his son, injured as a result of the incident, telephoned his sister. The boy's sister went to where Johnson worked and informed him of the affair. Johnson reported to the school and took his son to Pitt County Memorial Hospital Emergency Room, where the boy was treated and released.

See New Warship

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A new type of Soviet warship described as the Soviet Union's "secret Baltic sea weapon" passed through Danish waters today into the North Sea and was photographed by the Copenhagen tabloid "B.T."

The newspaper said the picture was taken by one of its photographers from a small plane hovering over the 3,000 to 4,000-ton vessel as it headed north from the Baltic Sea into the Great Belt.

Official sources said Western intelligence has suspected for some time that the new warship, which combines missiles with conventional weapons, has been operating in the eastern parts of the Baltic. This is the first time one of them has been reported venturing into the high seas.

Found Cocaine In Her Buttons

MIAMI (AP) — U.S. Customs agents played button button Wednesday at Miami International Airport and came up with a kilo of cocaine.

Agent Jim Dingfelder said customs officials became suspicious when a woman arrived on a flight from Bogota, Colombia, carrying three chenille bedspreads covered with an abundance of large round buttons.

After they found cocaine in some 218 of the buttons, Dingfelder said Maria Debotero was taken into custody.

Woman In Gas-Filled Room

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Policeman Kenneth Strand was called to an apartment building Wednesday to quell a family disturbance on the third floor.

On the way out he smelled gas coming from a first-floor apartment.

Strand rescued Mrs. Anna Newflet, 85, who was asleep in the gas-filled apartment. Strand said she had forgotten to turn off a burner on her range.

Jeff Davis Day

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is a special day in history for the states of the old Confederacy—Jefferson Davis' birthday—but there wasn't much to mark it as different from any other.

A few states, such as Georgia, gave state employes a holiday. Others, such as Florida, let it pass unmarked.

Davis, president of the Confederate States of America, is buried in Hollywood Cemetery in Richmond, Va., the city that was his capital. The United Daugheers of the Confederacy (UDC) planned to place wreaths on his mounument on Richmond's Monument Ave., and on his grave.

Otherwise, his birthday was pretty much unnoted by Virginia, scene of the heaviest fighting in defense of the cause he championed.

In Mississippi, Davis, native state, the observance will be Monday under a new state law shifting lesser holidays to create three-day weekends for workers. State employes may or may not get a day off, depending on their bosses.

The UDC scheduled a wreathlaying ceremony on the state Capitol steps in Montgomery where Davis stood for his inauguration. State employes will observe the holiday Monday and thus get a three-day weekend.

For some Alabamians, the holiday will be something of a hardship. The stae owns the liquor stores and that will take time off, too.

It was a legal holiday in Tennessee but there was little, if anything, to mark it. It was the same in Texas.

In South Carolina, state employes and some county and city employes had a holiday. But it was just another day in Arkansas and Louisiana.

Order Woman To Pay Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jacqueline Ward, a singer and voice coach, earns $5,700 a month more than her husband so Superior Court, before approving the couple's divorce, ordered her to pay David Ward $1,602 monthly alimony.

Ward's attorney successfully argued Wednesday that Mrs. Ward, 36, should help support two children who will be cared for by her husband. The payments should be made in the form of alimony, the lawyer said, because alimony is a federal income tax deduction and child support payments are not.

The wife will have custody of the couple's two other children.

Ward, 43, a musical arranger, earns $1,157 a month, the court was told, whereas Mrs. Ward makes $6,913 monthly. The couple was married 16 years.

More Than 1,000 Dead In Outbreak Of Cholera

By SANTOS K. BASAK

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — The health director of West Bengal State reports that more than 1,000 East Pakistani refugees have died in a cholera epidemic that broke out near Calcutta three weeks ago.

"The situation has gone completely out of our control," Dr. Hiralal Saha said in an interview Wednesday.

He said the figure of 1,000 dead was a conservative estimate based on hospital records. He said that while many refugees went to camps in India, many others took shelter under roadside trees and deaths among them went unreported.

The disease broke out in the Nadia district, a border area about 60 miles northeast of Calcutta and according to Dr. Saha "had since spread like wildfire."

"On Monday there were about 4,000 refugees in hospitals near the Nadia refugee camps. Today—Wednesday— there are more than 10,000," he said.

Dr. Saha attributed the increasing death toll to lack of proper medical facilities.

Another factor, he said, was the unusually high flow of refugees.

"While the government expected about two million refugees," he added, "the figure has nearly doubled."

According to Indian government estimates, more than 3.5 million refugees have arrived in West Bengal State alone since civil strife broke out in East Pakistan March 25. More than 200,000 poured in Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Southeast Asia Treaty Organization—SEATO—has asked its cholera research laboratory in Dacca, East Pakistan, to investigate what assistance it can give to help put down the cholera outbreak.

A SEATO spokesman in Bangkok said they were making inquiries but were having difficulty contacting the laboratory in East Pakistan.

The SEATO laboratory, after 10 years of research, recently annoounced what amounts to a 24-hour cure for cholera.

SEATO experts say the new, low-cost method of treatment can be administered by untrained personnel and has proved 100 per cent effective in test treatment of 1,000 East Pakistanis with proven cholera.

TERIYAKI FLANK STEAK

The marinade is borrowed from Hawaiian cooking.

1 flank steak, about 1½ pounds
2 tablespoons soy sauce
2 tablespoons honey
2 tablespoons dry sherry
1 clove garlic, peeled and crushed
1 slice fresh ginger, minced (if available)

Remove any excess fat and outside membrane from steak. Make shallow cuts in surface of meat, 1 inch apart and in diamond shape, on both sides. In a shallow container into which the meat will just fit, stir together the remaining ingredients. Add steak, spooning marinade over top. Let stand several hours, turning steak once midway. Broil steak close to high heat about 5 minutes on each side, basting with marinade at end of cooking; top surfaces should be partly charred and inside rare. Carve in very thin slices diagonally across grain. Makes 4 servings.

COPENHAGEN MUSTARD

This recipe, from a New York Danish restaurant, has been a top secret up till now!

1 box (2 ounces) dry mustard (about 2-3rds cup)
1-3rd cup sugar
¼ cup cider vinegar
¼ cup salad (not olive) oil
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice

In a small mixing bowl with a wooden spoon or a whisk beat together all the ingredients until blended. Turn into a screwtop jar; cover tightly. Refrigerate for a couple of days before using to allow flavors to blend. This makes a sweet hot mustard —a little over ¾ cup.

A Step In The Right Direction

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: When a New York couple visited Houston and the wife found the restrooms were marked "Heifers" and "Steers" she asked her husband which one she was and you said, "If he didn't tell her she was a "heifer" he gave her a bum steer.

Well, Abby, for your information, we Texans refer to virgin cows as "heifers," so I doubt if that man's wife would qualify as a heifer. And a steer is a neutered bull, so no self-respecting Texan would care to use facilities marked "Steer." I like the signs they use in Oregon. "Pointers" and "Setters." Ain't that a scream?

SAN ANGELO CATTLEMAN

DEAR MAN: Yup. Now, let's get back to "Ladies" and "Gentlemen," shall we?

DEAR ABBY: A co-worker sent all of us girls who work with her an invitation to her wedding. But it was only an invitation to come to the church and watch her get married. There wasn't a clue as to where the reception was to be held, so I asked her. She told me that her parents were a little low on funds, so there would be a big wedding at the church, and a very small reception afterwards for relatives and a very few close friends.

All of us girls who work with this girl got together and gave her a gift. I wonder if you think it is right to invite people to a wedding and not to any kind of a reception afterward? I think it is a lot of nerve to expect guests to be satisfied to just come to a church and watch a bride walk down an aisle, especially after accepting a wedding gift. What is your opinion? GYPPED

DEAR GYPPED: It's my opinion that the only reason a gift is given is because the giver wants to give it. Since you feel gypped, in the future don't give anything until you've collected whatever it was you expected to receive in exchange. That way you'll be sure to get your money's worth.

DEAR ABBY: Can a person be a kleptomaniac without realizing it? At the place I recently started working, a certain party mentioned that she had misplaced her favorite pen. We searched and searched and couldn't find it. When I got home that evening I found a strange pen in my purse. The next day I asked the person who had lost it if that was her pen and she said it was. I was terribly embarrassed. I don't remember ever having seen that pen before, and I certainly can't remember having put it in my purse.

That's not all. A few days later someone else in the office misplaced a very pretty little desk calendar, and I found that in my purse, too! Abby, I don't steal. Is someone playing a joke on me? Or can I be a kleptomaniac? BAFFLED

DEAR BAFFLED: A "kleptomaniac" steals compulsively—but not unconsciously. Either you absent-mindedly put those items in your purse, or someone has planted them there. Suggestion: Put a mousetrap in your purse [but don't forget it's there!]

DEAR ABBY: Here's how I cured my lazy husband of leaving stuff in his pants and shirt pockets: I would go thru all his pockets very carefully, removing matches, cigarets, papers, pens and all personal belongings. These things I would put into a box on his dresser. All the money, I kept!

He's more careful now, but I still pick up a few bucks now and then. MA

MRS. MICHAEL ADAMS

Couple Weds In Sunday Ceremony

The wedding of Miss Carol Patrick Dilda and Michael Adams was solemnized on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of the bride.

Officiating at the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Floyd B. Cherry.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dilda of Greenville, was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length lace dress with a shoulder length veil. Her bouquet was a nosegay of white daisies and baby's breath.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Adams of Greenville.

Pre-nuptial events honoring the couple included a shower given by the bridegroom's aunts, Mrs. Dick Brewer, Mrs. Peggy Hall, Mrs. Joe Averette, Mrs. Claude Bland and Mrs. Gray Bland at the home of Mrs. Brewer. The bride's sister, Mrs. Donna Kearney, of Goldsboro entertained the couple with a shower.

Youth Council Conducts Survey

SITTINGBOURNE, England (WNS) — After local survey, the youth council here asked teen boys to cut down on their bachelor drinking parties in the pubs. "Girls, who are bored without male company in the evening, head for Margate in search of entertainment," explained an official. "They hope to be picked up by strange men who will drive them home." The survey revealed that 66 per cent of local boys over 13 years old spend at least one night a week drinking together.

Pilot Club Presents Flag To Morehead School For The Blind

IN CEREMONIES...a braille flag was presented to the School for the Blind by the Pilot Club of Greenville. Mrs. Janie Gold Starling is pictured with several students.

The Pilot Club of Greenville presented a braille flag of the United States to the Governor Morehead School for the Blind in Raleigh Tuesday at a chapel service. Blue velveteen stars and red stripes appliqued on the flag distinguish them from the smooth cloth of the rest of the flag so that a blind person can use the braille method of "seeing by feeling" the flag.

The flag was obtained by the Patriotic Emblems Committee headed by Mrs. Verchie Vick and was presented with a short talk on partiotism by the club president, Mrs. Janie Gold Starling.

Other Pilots attending the presentation were, Miss Ruth White, Mrs. Sue Howell who once taught at the school, Mrs. Gloria Butler and Mrs. Betty Casey.

The group was given a tour of the school by Miss Earline Brooks, a student.

The chapel program included a violin concert by 27 young blind students under the direction of Miss Mary Davis, music director, and Albin Pikutis, strings teacher.

The flag was accepted by the school principal John Calloway and students Mike Crutchfield and Phil Abernathy.

Afterward a young student carefully felt of the flag. His face lighted up in a smile as his fingers brushed across the raised stripes and he said, "It feels good — soft and fuzzy." Another student proudly said, "I know what these stars are for — each one means a state."

A Good Business Deal For City

The Utilities Commission and the City Council seem to have made a good purchase in acquiring the Wachovia Bank building at Washington and Fifth Streets.

The structure, which was built by Guaranty Bank shortly before its merger with Wachovia, was obtained at a total cost of $325,000. However, the bank has leased the building for two years at $65,000, which means the Utilities will pay $260,000 for a building and property that is on the tax books at $432,000 and cost $800,000 to build.

The building seems ideally suited for use by the Utilities Commission. It has the lobby, drive-in window, night deposit and office and meeting rooms needed for the Utilities Commission. It is also directly across the street from City Hall which will keep Utilities and city offices in close proximity.

Use of the new building by the Utilities Commission will be of benefit to the city because the city government needs additional room to expand. Once Utilities offices are moved out of City Hall this space will be available for the growing needs of city departments.

There have been a number of proposals for obtaining additional office space for the Utilities Commission and the city government. One called for construction of a new Utilities building. Another plan was for construction of a new City Hall and Utilities building in the Shore Drive park area. With this new purchase, the city will obtain a modern office building near the present city hall and this should take care of office space needs for many years to come.

Added to that is the fact that Wachovia plans to construct a major new facility here on the Washington, Fourth, Greene and Fifth Street block, thus it appears that the property exchange will be beneficial to the city as a whole.

The Wachovia building should be a splendid addition to the city's office facilities.

NCSU Alumni 'Squared Off'

RALEIGH — Two alumni of North Carolina State University are squared off in opposite corners for a shaping battle to determine the structure of state - supported higher education.

They are Governor Bob Scott and President William C. Friday of the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

For both, the stakes are high. Scott has risked his own political future, and the prestige of his administration, on a plan for a single strong board to coordinate budgets and academic programs for the state's 16 higher education campuses.

Opposing the Governor, Friday is fighting for survival. The new system; drafted by a study commission and endorsed by Scott, would wipe out the job he has held since 1956.

Aside from NCSU undergraduate degrees, Scott and Friday have in common only a fierece commitment to responsibilities at hand.

Difference In Styles

The Governor is a farm boy (he's prickly about references he feels disparaging to that rural background); President Friday grew up in the textile mill town of Dallas. Mod hairdo and flashy dressing is part of the Scott style; Friday has combed his hair the same for 20 years, keeps a painfully neat and conservative appearance. Scott inherited entree into Democratic politics from his father (State Agriculture Commissioner, Governor, U.S. Senator). Friday made it big on his own in the academic world; from assistant dean of students to consolidated university president in five years.

Scott is blunt in the use of power, Friday is soft-sell, low-key, but steely fisted inside the velvet glove.

The battleground for the two is the 1971 General Assembly, whose 170 members must decide the issue between them. Weapons are the tools of persuasion: appeals, promises, threats, and public opinion pressures.

The Governor has the advantage in the lobbying department. Both proximity and personnel on the scene give him an edge.

Gubernatorial Leverage

Even though on the downhill side of his term, Scott had leverage with the legislators which Friday and his lieutenants cannot match. Ironically, the restructure plan itself would give the Governor appointive power for 12 - member boards of trustees for six institutions, a patronage bloc of 72 appointments that could be useful in lining up votes.

That the outlook now favors Scott was conceded by one in the opposing camp. Gauging Scott strength in the legislature, he commented acidulously: "I don't know whether he has the horses (votes) or not, but he sure as hell has the sheep."

The personalities involved in one factor promising to make higher education the crucial issue for the current General Assembly. In the wings while a study commission worked, it emerged in the fifth month of the session to take center stage.

Governor Scott seized the attention of the lawmakers with a forceful message calling for a sweeping reorganization to clean confusion and disorder out of the system. Backstage political pressures signaled that Scott intended to use the full force of his administration for enactment of the proposal.

Crucial Issue In Focus

It was as though an electric shock ran through the State Legislative Building. Adjournment talk and lesser issues receded. Suddenly, it seemed clear that the 1971 session would be remembered for what it does about higher education.

The Tar Heel in the street may well wonder why higher education should loom so large on the legislative landscape, and why the camps of Scott and Friday should be arrayed for struggle. What does it matter to him, the average Tar Heel is apt to ask, whether there is a State Board of Higher Education, a Consolidated University of North Carolina, or a State Board of Regents?

As with many complexities, it resolves to a matter of money. Higher education is expensive; North Carolina right now spends $335 million biennially for the purpose, including research and extension programs as well as instruction.

In the eyes of many legislators, there is a need for assurance that funds are being used to best advantage. As individuals, they may vote for programs at institutions in their region without regard for duplication; as a group, they cry for efficiency and economy in the system.

Governor Scott says it can best be given through a board over all 16 state institutions. President Friday says academic quality requires that the six campuses of the consolidated university be retained as a unit. The same division of opinion prevailed in the study commission. Legislators must choose, or find a compromise somewhere between the two.

Man Wants Secrets Of Our Family Of Planets

The United States is off on another exciting space venture with the launching of Mariner 9 spacecraft on a Mars exploratory mission.

The big rocket performed perfectly and the craft is on the was in a 247 million mile, 5½ month journey which should unlock some of Mar's secrets.

That such missions are expensive cannot be denied; however Man needs information about other planets to unravel some of the mysteries of our own world.

Galifianakis Watches Clock

By JOHN KILGO

Fourth District Congressman Nick Galifianakis knows full well that time is fast running out for such talk as, "I'm flattered to be mentioned...I'm giving it serious consideration," when people ask him whether he'll oppose U.S. Sen. B. Everett Jordan in the Democratic primary.

Galifianakis has talked to hundred of people about that Senate race and now some of them are talking back.

"Come on, Nick," one of them told him last week. "Quit the fringe talk. Are you candidate for the Senate or not?"

"I understand that people are getting to the place that they want some definite answers from me," Galifianakis said in an interview. "We're getting a type of encouragement that is ungenerated by us. Some come by mail, some by telephone, some drop by the office."

If you don't think this means anything to a veteran politician like Galifianakis, listen to this:

"It has surprised me and frankly elated me that we've been getting this response. When someone comes in here and genuinely urges me to be a candidate for the Senate...well, I I'm excited almost out of my mind. It puts spikes on my shoes. Now they're telling me to quit the fringe talk and tell 'em something definite."

The "fringe" talk will keep up for at least two more months and about the first week in August Galifianakis will announce whether he'll run for the Senate. Make no mistake about it. It would be a big bite to take out of the political apple. Sen. Jordan is going to run again. And N.C. Attorney General Robert Morgan, who packs quite a political wallop of his own, is giving that race serious consideration.

But Galifianakis is a maverick politician. He will not worry too much about the opposition. Although he isn't talking about it to reporters, people close to his say he has an intuitive feeling that he can be elected to the Senate.

Said one person close to the Congressman: "Nick feels there is a vacuum in that Senate spot and he believes he could fill it."

It's also a fact that Galifianakis wants to run for the Senate and unlike many people who go to Washington, Galifianakis likes living there. Also, his congressional district has been redrawn and no longer if Orange County a part of it, which doesn't make the Congressman happy.

"I would not be dishonest and tell you that there's a bunch of money, a pot of gold out there waiting for me to run for the Senate," Galifinankis said. "I don't have a lot of money raised or promised."

If he does run for the Senate, what campaign approach will he take?

"I really love and respect Sen. Jordan," Galifianakis said. "I went to see him while he was in the hospital and

Party Lines In Decline

By J.J. KILPATRICK

Politics is as thick as pollen around Washington these days, and half the town is sneezing. The presidential prospects, as nervous as so many fillies in a paddock, are getting a little nippy. Yet in the midst of the partisan exchanges, it may be useful to reflect upon one of the most interesting phenomena in our public exchanges, it may be useful to reflect upon one of the most interesting phenomena in our public life — the slow decline of party.

A recent public opinion poll identification at a record low. The number of "registered Democrats" still far exceeds the "registered Republicans," but the significant finding is that nearly one out of four prospective voters considers himself "independent." Our beloved two-party system is less and less a system. To be sure, the two big buses remain in operation, one labeled Democrat and the other Republican, and doubtless they will chug along as the principal vehicles for nominating and electing candidates to public office. But they are carrying fewer regular passengers; they are taking on hitchhikers instead.

The evidence of the public opinion polls is confirmed in a dozen quarters. One recalls, for example, the election last November of Senator Harry F. Byrd, Jr., in Virginia, and Senator James L. Buckley in New York. The former ran as an Independent, the latter as a Conservative, and both won victory through massive cross-overs and defections form the two major parties.

We are hearing more talk than ever of the third parties next year. Eugene McCarthy turned up in Minnesota ten days ago, dropping arch hints and beaming like Available Jones. Down in Alabama, the Little Vesuvius of Montgomery still gives off puffs of smoke. Black leaders are murmuring of entering Congressman John Conyers, Jr., of Detroit.

A number of factors have contributed to the erosion of two-party loyalties. The decline of the spoils system and the rise of a tenured civil service has played a major role. The day is just about gone when the party faithful could be rewarded with easy jobs from the public purse. The poor no longer look to the party boss for a scuttle of coal or a Christmas turkey; they look to their caseworker instead.

Regional upheavals have contributed to the process: The one-party South is gone with the wind. Television is a major factor; as a device for winning votes, two minutes on the tube may be worth more to a candidate than two days of party shadbakes.

But there is more. A great many middle-aged voters, I suspect, are being influenced by the anti-establishmentarianism of the young. With the extension of the vote in national elections to the 18-year-olds, these political uncertainties doubtless will increase. Next

Moonlighting

(Wilson Times)

The latest information concerning fees for speeches and articles since the rule was passed requiring full disclosure of honoraria of $300 or more shows the senators are making nice sums on the side, speaking to special interest groups. The latest information to come to light shows two senators who are potential presidential candidates for next year are Birch Bayh of Indiana and Edmund S. Muskie of Maine. They received more than $40,000 each in speaking fees last year.

Six senators ignored guidelines established by a Senate Ethics Committee and failed to report the original source of some speaking fees. Among them was Birch Bayh, who has urged full financial disclosure of all federal officials.

The six Democratic senators, regarded as contenders for the presidential nomination received more than $141,000 for speeches and articles. Sen. Muskie earned $40,865, Sen. George McGovern listed honoraria of $24,035, Sen. Harold E. Hughes, $20,579, Henry M. Jackson, $10,928, and Hubert H. Humphrey, $1,000.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy who says he is not a candidate for the presidency in 1972, reported a total of $2,200 from speeches and articles in 1970. Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, declared honoraria of $41,956, more than any other Republican and second only to Bayh in total receipts.

When compared to 1969 the honoraria list is small. Muskie received then $80,183; McGovern earned $63,501 and Bayh increased his total from $38,800 in 1969 to $44,331 in 1970.

The largest single payment for a speech in 1970 went to Hughes who got $5,000 from the Trust for Agricultural Political Education, a dairy industry committee. In addition to the $5,000 fee to Hughes, the dairy groups paid Muskie $3,000 and Sens. Thomas F. Eagleton and Adlai E. Stevenson $2,500 each for one speech each.

Banking and finacial groups paid out $21,550 to 10 senators all but four of them members of the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee.

The money brought in from speaking fees went to a variety of causes. Some used it for office expenses, others for scholarship fees and memorial funds. Sen. Hughes used part of his to defray his daughter's medical bills. She had a serious illness and he was not covered by insurance.

Never A Right Time

By BOB HARING
Associated Press Writer

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP) — Time is relative.

Maybe Einstein said that. Or maybe it was a fellow on the bus yesterday.

At any rate, it has the ring of essential truth that comes from hours of solitary thought by a theoretical genius or from years of commuting.

It really doesn't matter what time you're on so long as it agrees with those you have to deal with.

The best clock in the world won't help a commuter if it doesn't agree with the one his bus or train happens to be running on that day.

That explains why commuters spend so much time waiting. So they don't be late, they're early. And wait. Waiting isn't too bad on a warm spring morning when the trees are blooming and the birds are singing. It is one of life's lesser joys on a January snow or March rain. Or any season in a railroad station, given the state of the art of railroad station design these days. Actually, it isn't design of these days—railroad stations all seem to have been built in the late 1800s and to have been pushed steadily downward since. Something to do with the great American death wish displayed by the nation's railroads.

For practical purposes, there really is no such thing as the "right" time.

What's right for me may make you miss a plane. Or lose a business deal. Or stand up a lovely lady.

Oh, somewhere there probably is a timing device—clock would be too ordinary a word—which keeps some specific trace of the microseconds in relation to the standings of the stars. But even so the division into seconds, minutes and hours is an artificial thing. And the guy who runs that perfect timer probably keeps his watch

Strength For Today

WE NEED IT

Reflect. That's precisely what we don't want to do. We believe that we are a generation of realists. Certainly we know more scientific facts than humanity has known in its history. But this scientific knowledge does not make us happier. Books, newspapers, magazines, radio and television keep up a barrage of facts, and we lie back and stretch out our legs and utter the words, "So what," as we drop off to sleep.

Reflection? I don't like to reflect, nor does anyone else that I know and associate with. I'm not to blame for the state of the world today, and you, probably, are not to blame either. And certainly reflection on the hodgepodge that makes up modern life will not make things any better.

Well, we can try. Let us stop for a while trying to make the world better and ask ourselves three questions: One, How did it get this way? Two, What can we do about it? Three, To what extent am I involved?

Movements, plans, international agreements—are these helping very much? Might it not be a good thing for all of us if we stopped berating one another and reflected for a while what the present world and its problems mean to us?

The overwhelming majority of people who hold high position in the world are honest, intelligent and aspiring. Most of them are anxious to get together with other honorable, thoughtful and aspiring persons and see what can be done. Common reflection on personal, national, world problems will help a lot.

Reflect.

By Earl L. Douglass

Corruptive If It Is Economical

By ELMER ROESSNER

If American business takes seriously the ideas of Professor Lawrence Zeitlin its ethics and morale level is far worse than even Ralph Nader suspects.

Dr. Zeitlin, professor of industrial psychology at City College of New York, writes in the current issues of Psychology Today that it may be cheaper to keep a smart thief on a payroll than an honest employee who is just so-so.

He did not actually recommend that step, but he did point out the financial advantage to the employer. And he hastened to add that "ethically, of course, it would be more desirable for management to motivate employees by means other than inviting them into the lives of petty crime." And he added, "Setting aside ethical and emotional considerations, amangement may decide that the monetary cost of enforcing honesty is too great. That is, the cost of an effective security system, plus the cost of achieving equivalent employee stability by increasing pay or job quality, is greater than the loss of merchandise due to employee theft."

Three Out Of Four Steal

Dr. Zeitlin told of interviewing 32 employees discharged for theft but not prosecuted. "The evidence," he found, "indicates that well over 75 per cent of all employees participate to some extent in what is known by the euphemism of "merchandise shrinkage."

He contended that dishonest worker may enrich his job in a manner that is very satisfactory for him at a cost to his boss of about $1.50 a day. "At this rate, management gets a bargain," he wrote.

He said that allowed theft may be an effective way to keep employees happy. He added that while "uncontrolled theft can be disastrous for any business concern, controlled theft can be useful."

He cited the case of an accountant who told the president of a company the office manager was pilfering about $2,000 a year from petty cash. . .

"How much are we paying him now?" the president asked.

"Ten thousand a year."

"Keep quiet about it," said the president. "He's worth at least $12,000."

Dishonesty Pays

He cited the case of a port authority in a large eastern city that suddenly enforced tight security measures at toll booths. Thievery dropped dramatically. But employee turnover rose so sharply that the cost of training new men was more than what had been lost by theft.

The authority dropped surveilence, figuring it was cheaper to tolerate thefts of $10 a week a man.

The trouble with the Zeitlin theory is that corruption corrupts.

If an employee is permitted to walk out with a tenderloin steak down his pants leg once a week, why shouldn't his boss, stopped by a traffic cop, hand him his driver's license with a $10 bill enfolded?

Or why shouldn't a man rated as a $10-a-week thief, sell a Thermofax copy of plans for a new invention, or a new promotional campaign, to a competitor for $10?

And if an employee's thefts are forgiven, why shouldn't he expect the same treatment when he sees a chance for a $50,000 hit when the safe is left open?

And how about an imaginary psychology professor, qualified to become the president of a college, who loses the job because an incompetent rival took the trustees on a yacht trip to the Bahamas?

Set Two Probes Of Addiction In Armed Services

By HARRISON HUMPHRIES
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug addiction among U.S. soldiers and veterans, called "so acute as to constitute an endemic disease," will be investigated in depty by two Senate subcommittees this month.

Pentagon policy in dealing with drug offenders will be explored June 9, and the lack of treatment for addicted veterans discharged as undesirable or for bad conduct will be reviewed at a joint hearing June 15-16.

Noting President Nixon has indicated more attention will be focused on drug abuse in the armed services, Sen. Vance Hartke said Wednesday the Senate probe will concentrate on "the broader based problem affecting those men who have been and will be discharged into the veteran population."

The Indiana Democrat, chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee, said the military drug problem "is so acute as to constitute an endemic disease in the veteran community of epidemic proportion."

The Senate Welfare subcommittee on alcoholism and narcotics, headed by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, will initiate the June 9 review and will be joined for the June 15-16 hearing by the Veterans subcommittee on health and hospitals, headed by Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

An estimated 30,000 to 45,000 U.S. troops in Vietnam are using hard drugs or narcotics, according to congressional and administration spokesmen.

The Air Force, Army and Navy have begun amnesty programs, permitting individuals to seek treatment for drug problems before they are caught.

Pentagon spokesmen confirm most discharges of drug-addicted personnel have been on undesirable or bad-conduct discharges, frequently for such related offenses as theft. Addicts are not eligible for disability discharge because drug addiction is not recognized by the military as a medical disability.

Consumer Suit Filed

RALEIGH (AP) — The Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division has filed suit against two Durham men alleging that they made misrepresentations in a business venture they call the "Magic Question Program."

The two, Ronald Harrington and George L. Mims, have been ordered to appear in Wake County Superior Court on June 14 to show why they should not be stopped from doing what the Consumer Division alleges they are doing.

The litigation states that Harrington and Mims sold coupon books supposedly good for free services or merchandise from participating local merchants.

Sales are promoted through telephone solicitation, a contest and the use of a local radio station or civic club as a sponsor.

The complaint filed by the Consumer Division alleges that the defendants "misrepresented themselves as being members or employes of the local sponsor, that they have sold more coupon books than their agreements with merchants called for and have made other misrepresentations in order to sign up merchants."

Offer A Mixed Desegregation School Program

GREENSBORO (AP) — Zoning, paring and clustering are proposed for the city's 34 elementary schools in a pupil assignment plan submitted Wednesday by plaintiffs in a desegregation suit against the Greensboro Board of Education.

Their plan for junior high schools, also submitted to District Court, involves a feeder system in which some junior highs would receive pupils from designated elementary schools.

The plan for high schools proposed by the school board last week was declared satisfactory by the plaintiffs, and no changes were recommended.

Judge Edwin M. Stanley has directed attorneys for both sides to try to reach an agreement on a plan for presentation to federal Middle District Court by next Tuesday. A hearing on the case has been set for June 18.

year's candidates perforce must make some appeal to the politically active young, but a pitch that is based on party will get them nowhere. "Remember Grover Cleveland!" Join the Grand Old Party!" Let 'em try that at Madison or Berkeley.

The phenomenon can be examined empirically on Capitol Hill. Congressional Qaurterly keeps tab on "party unity votes" — the rollcalls in which a majority of voting Democrats oppose a majority of voting Republicans. Last year saw only 219 such votes. This was 32 percent of total rollcalls, the lowest percentage in 25 years.

When Mr. Nixon came in, we heard a great deal of apprehensive moaning about the political obastacles he faced. He was the first President since Buchanan to face a Congress in which both chambers were controlled by the opposition party. The fears proved groundless. Mr. Nixon won on 77 percent of the 156 rollcalls last year that clearly tested his recommendations. Lyndon Johnson fared less well in 1968.

The truth is that "party discipline" appears on the Hill on opening day, in the ritual votes for President of the Senate and Speaker of the House, and seldom is seen thereafter. In many ways, of course, and possibly in most ways, this is a healthy thing. Our House is not the House of Commons, and was not meant to be. But the process is reducing the two-party system to a couple of antique cars, fine for use in quadrennial parades, but not much good for every day.

set by the clock at home, so he won't be late for dinner.

It is custom, really, which decrees that a minute is 60 seconds. Or that lunch is at noon—or for that matter that noon is at 12 o'clock.

And customs aren't the same around the world and are subject to change. The Spanish, for instance, consider lunch from 2 to 4 in the afternoon and try that change on your boss sometime.

But since time is relative—a regular but arbitrary division of space into bits definable by words—it's interesting to speculate about some of the changes that might be made.

Why not an eight-hour span, instead of 12? or 16?

Who says a day must be 24 hours long? Why not vary the length of days, so that summer ones are longer and winter ones shorter?

And it might be interesting to leave for work at 12 o'clock and get home at 2 o'clock.

Come to think of it, that's a relatively good idea any time.

Valedictorian Is A Tradition

By DON BOLDEN
Burlington Times-News Writer
Written For The AP

GRAHAM, N.C. (AP) — Few people were surprised when Janet Elizabeth Massey was named valedictorian of the 1971 graduating class at Southern Alamance High School.

She was just keeping up a tradition in her family which began in 1920. She represents the third generation valedictorian in her family.

Her grandmother, Mrs. Fairy G. Crouse, started it all back in 1920 when she was named valedictorian of the old Friendship High school south of Alamance.

In later years, the school became part of of E. M. Holt High School in a consolidation move and it was there that the second-generation valedictorian was named. She was Mrs. Martha C. Massey, Janet's mother.

Mrs. Massey maintained the highest scholastic average over her four years in high school, graduating in 1943.

Later, another consolidation move made E. M. Holt a part of Southern High, where Janet kept up the family tradition this year.

Janet, who graduated Wednesday, didn't just study during her four years. She is a member of the National Honor Society, History Club and Civinettes. She has been a color guard for three years, a member of the annual staff and was co-chief marshall her junior year.

Mrs. Crouse is the wife of J. Max Crouse, a retired farmer, and Mrs. Massey is married to Raymond Massey, an accountant in Burlington. All three generations live in the Alamance community where E. M. Holt School now serves as an elementary facility.

Janet says she will continue her education at Wake Forest University.

A 'Miracle' He Is Still Alive

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Clint Walker, the tall, barrel-chester, drawling hero of the former television series "Cheyenne," says it is a miracle he is alive after his heart was pierced by a ski pole.

Walker, 44, was flown Tuesday in a private plane from Bishop in Northern California to UCLA Medical Center.

A ventricle of his heart was pierced May 20 in a skiing accident on Mammoth Mountain north of Bishop. He was taken about 60 miles to a Bishop hospital where doctors performed open heart surgery.

At the time of the accident, attendants said they could detect no pulse or blood pressure in Walker's body.

Dr. David B. Sheldon, Walker's private physician, said the doctor was making fine recovery.

said, 'Chief, hurry up and get back to Washington. We miss you.' And I meant it. There would be nothing personal in my candidacy.

"I would not cast aspersions on what is being done. I would hope that I could do better. It seems to me that we need to think on national issues with greater depth. Of course, we have to take care of North Carolina. I understand that but sometimes national issues get completely sidetracked."

Galifianakis is 42 years old, a graduate of Duke Law School, is in his third term in Congress after having served three terms in the North Carolina House.

"People are really after me to say something definite about this Senate thing," Galifianakis says. One gets the idea that the Congressman is not going to say, Yes, but rather yell it and run hard.

Van der Veer House, In Bath, Is Being Restored

THE VAN DER VEER HOUSE . . . of Historic Bath, now being renovated as a memorial to the late Edmund Harding, first chariman of the Bath Historical Commission. It is the only house with a gambrel roof.

BATH — Plans for the restoration and renovation of the old Jacob Van der Veer house in Bath are now underway. The renovation is being undertaken as a memorial to Edmund H. Harding, the first, and until his death in September 1970, the only Chairman of the Historic Bath Commission.

Mrs. Frances M. Roberson, chairman of the Harding Memorial Fund of the Historic Bath Commission, says that "after Edmund Harding's death, the Commission decided that the restoration of the old Jacob Van der Veer house would be an appropriate memorial to him."

The house, Mrs. Roberson points out, "had been recently accquired as a gift from Mrs. Ruth Smith of Bath, and moved to the Historic Bath complex."

Originally built about 1790, the Van der Veer house is one of the oldest houses in Bath to be used exclusively as a residence. "As restored," Mrs. Roberson comments, "it will be the only old house in Bath with a gambrel roof."

The estimated cost of restoration, which is planned to be a meticulous one in every detail, will amount to about $22,500. "Great impetus," Mrs. Roberson notes, "was given this project when the Smith-Richardson Foundation established a $7,500 challenge grant to be matched by $15,000 to be raised by the commission through contributions."

Speaking of the man whom the restoration will honor, Mrs. Roberson says, "We know of no other man who during his lifetime, gave so freely, so lavishly, or so effectively of himself and his talents to preserve the heritage of Eastern North Carolina and particularly Bath Town."

It is not only locally that interested persons are moving ahead to ensure the success of the project to restore the Van der Veer house.

A few days ago in Washington, D.C., a group of North Carolinians living in the Washington area reactivated the Historic Bath Committee of Washington, D.C. The meeting was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred W. Morrison.

North Carolina Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr. was elected chairman. Others elected on the reactivated committee were Mrs. B. Braxton Jones, vice-chairman; Mrs. David H. Stowe, secretary; and William Y. Webb, treasurer. Mrs. Morrison, vice chairman of the Historic Bath Commission, is advisor to the Washington, D.C. local committee.

Dr. Herbert Paschal, porfessor of History at East Carolina University and a member of the Historic Bath Commission, spoke to the group on the restoration. Dr. Paschal said the house "is a fine example of 18th century architecture."

Bath, incorporated by the General Assembly in 1705, is North Carolina's oldest incorporated town.

The restoration of the Van der Veer house is another step in the plans to make Bath into a historic showplace, a visible monument to the hardy, early settlers who two centuries and six decades ago established a foothold in the virgin swamps and river lands of eastern North Carolina.

Persons or groups interested in securing information on assisting by donating to the restoration work can write to Mrs. Frances Roberson, The Historic Bath Commission, P. O. Box 99, Bath, North Carolina, 27808.

Joint Effort To Better Use Skills Of A Draftee

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Selective Service and the Army are launching a joint effort to give the draftee a better chance of putting his civilian skills to military use.

And by August, a draftee's induction notice will be accompanied by a pamphlet telling him what to expect from the Army life.

So far as oldtimers at Selective Service and the Army can recall, this is the first time the draft system has been used as a pipeline to advise the draftee about military life.

Beginning today the Army is mailing to each state draft headquarters a six-month supply of "civilian employment training information" labels to be attached to a man's induction notice by his draft board.

The idea is to make sure the Army finds out about a draftee's particular skills. Despite a 10-year-old testing program, the Army has built a reputation of putting square pegs in round holes.

The new information label reads:

"The Army's personnel management system seeks to place the right man in the right job. To accomplish this objective, the Army needs to have a complete description of your civilian background and training to determine whether your qualifications correspond to a military occupational specialty.

"We, therefore, request that you bring all official documentation attesting to your qualifications when you report to the U.S. Army Reception Station .... "

Then the label adds the caution: "Please realize the Army cannot match everyone to a job related to his civilian training, and that this notification does not constitute a promise that you will be placed in a military specialty commensurate with your civilian training."

The new approach, says an officer dealing with the all-volunteer-army concept, will not only give a man a better chance of using his skills but will "let the man know we're interested in him and trying to utilize him."

The new information pamphlet, expected to be sent out with all induction notices beginning in August, tells the draftee what he'll need to take with him, what Army life will be like and what his relatives need to know.

One Army officer said what little knowledge of the military draftees have is colored by tales of veterans or by the media.

"This lack of official knowledge creates apprehension," he added, "may require unnecessary effort after entering the Army to procure needed items and creates an undesirable first impression of Army service."

Continue Counterattacks Of Washington's Mayday Critics

By MARK BROWN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration today continued its counterattack on critics who say the government responded unconstitutionally against the antiwar Mayday demonstrations.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and his top aide, Deputy Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst took over in separate speeches where President Nixon left off when he branded participants in the May 3-6 demonstrations as "vandals and hoodlums and lawbreakers."

Shouldering the burden of the administration's rebuttal, Kleindienst said the critics include "sidewalk superintendents" who, "in their eagerness to fault the police," created a fable of what actually took place May 3.

"The truth is that those who leaped forward to cry 'foul' when the Washington police did their duty would have found something to complain about no matter how Mayday was handled," he asserted.

"The truth is that the police foiled an attempt to stop the government with a minimum exercise of authority. Any less authority would have risked letting the mob rule the national capital."

Kleindienst's remarks were in a speech prepared for the Cleveland, Ohio, Rotary Club; Mitchell's were in a speech read for him to a gathering of Washington Explorer Scouts.

Nixon's Tuesday news conference defense of mass arrests by Washington police despite dismissal of charges against most of the 7,000 hauled in May 3 triggered this response from the American Civil Liberties Union:

"It is shocking that the President, sworn to uphold the Constitution, believes he can turn it on and off like a traffic light on the corner to keep cars moving."

And two coordinators of the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice, which sponsored the May 3-5 attempts to shut down the government, termed Nixon "the chief hoodlum, the chief vandal, the chief lawbreaker in the world today."

Kleindienst said the ACLU, the news media and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., contributed to the fable that the government disregarded constitutional restraints to smash a minimal threat to its continued existence.

He denounced Kennedy for referring to the Mayday activities as "civil disobedience in the American tradition of Thoreau and Martin Luther King."

"Approximately 20,000 disrupters tried their best to carry out their announced intention of paralyzing Washington and stopping the government," Kleindienst said. "They did this by widespread and unremitting acts of violence.

"To compare this vicious and wanton mob attack on Washington with the civil disobedience of Thoreau and Martin Luther King is to insult the memory of those men who stood for peaceful, nonviolent protest," he said.

Action Set For Mecklenburg Bill

RALEIGH (AP) — The Mecklenburg County liquor by the drink bill won the approval of the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday and may be up for action by the full Senate Friday.

The bill went to the finance group after it had been okayed Tuesday by the Senate Alcoholic Beverage Control Committee.

The bill provides for an election in Mecklenburg to decide whether restaurants and private clubs will be permitted to sell liquor by the drink.

Former Mayor Wagner Divorced

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mayor Robert F. Wagner has been divorced by his wife of six years, Barbara Cavanagh Wagner.

Wagner, who served as mayor of New York from 1954 until 1965, was not present in Manhattan Supreme Court Wednesday when Justice Samuel Spiegel granted the divorce on grounds of abandonment.

Mrs. Wagner said Wagner had moved out of their apartment in 1969 and had refused her requests that he return.

The couple was married Jan. 30, 1965, four months after the death of Wagner's first wife, Susan.

Finds Skeleton Of An Ancient N.C. Indian

BOONE, N.C. (AP) — A scientist at Appalachian State University has dug up the body of an Indian whose remains he estimates to be 2,000 years old.

Dr. Frank Randall identified the preserved skeleton as that of a Woodland Indian whose tribe hunted in North Carolina's Appalachian Mountains centuries before the Cherokee Indians.

Randall said he found the skeleton under an overhanging rock ledge, which he credited with keeping the grave dry and the remains well preserved.

Besides the skeleton, Randall said, the grave yielded fragments of pottery, part of the stem from a clay pipe, arrowheads, remains of clam shells and pieces of animal bones.

Hayes, Stewart In TV 'Harvey'

NEW YORK (AP) — Helen Hayes and James Stewart will recreate for television the Broadway stage roles they played last year in a revival of Mary Chase's Pulitzer Prize-winning comedy, "Harvey."

The 90-minute special will be broadcast next season on the "Hallmark Hall of Fame" by NBC.

Chile Moves Toward Takeover Of Private Industry

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende's left-wing government is picking up speed in its march toward socialism with a campaign to take over most private industry in Chile.

Using laws that have been on the books as far back as the 1920s, government officials have been "requisitioning" private factories and offices in recent weeks for alleged irregularities in production. When the requisition decree is signed, government supervisors take over operations of the affected plants and businesses, ignoring the owners and officers.

"It's a little like the Japanese must have felt when MacArthur took over," said an American employe of the Ford Motor Co., whose plant has been requisitioned.

Ford decided on May 7 to close out its operations in Chile after having lost $16 million since 1969. More than 400 employes at the company's assembly plant were dismissed with a month's salary for every year worked.

The government has since rehired the workers. It called a meeting this week seeking to interest another automotive manufacturer in moving into the plant, which has been in mothballs for six months.

Nine automotive companies currently operate in Chile. Allende's government is expected to detail soon a program to reduce that number to three by 1973. Companies allowed to remain would operate in minority partnership with the government.

General Motors is beginning to feel government pressure. Gerard Boyle, GM's manager for Chile and president of the local American Chamber of Commerce, says: "It's getting more difficult to keep agile here. The government seems to be closing in. In general, I think American businessmen here feel things are going faster."

After a difficult five months of negotiations with its Socialist-controlled union, the company started producing its C30 light truck this month in its assembly plant in Arica.

But Boyle says the 130 trucks now in stock can't be sold because Dirinco, the government price control agency, has not fixed a price for the vehicle.

Meanwhile, the government wants the company to produce more trucks, Boyle says, and left-wing union leaders have been agitating over the firing of nine workers.

Other recent developments in the government's campaign include:

—Takeover of more than 50 per cent of the textile industry with the requisition of 14 mills.

—Passage of the halfway mark in a program to purchase controlling stock in the country's private banks.

—Takeover of the operations of El Teniente, the world's largest underground copper mine, because of alleged production irregularities. The mine was operated by the U.S. Kennecott Corp.

—Passage by Congress of a constitutional amendment, expected to become effective in July, which will complete nationalization of the copper mining industry.

—A call by the Communist-controlled Central Workers Confederation and President Allende for the establishment of worker councils in private factories to carry out the "battle of production." Private businessmen say the councils will make workers into spies.

Alarmed at the expansion of state ownership into the private sector, the Industrial Development Society, Chile's most important businessman's organization, protested, saying: "There is only to be seen a change of ownership from many hands into one: that of the state."

Before The Clerk
North Carolina
Pitt County

IN THE MATTER OF PITT COUNTY DRAINAGE:
DISTRICT NO. 1, EX PARTE.

TO THE LANDOWNERS IN PITT COUNTY DRAINAGE DISTRICT NO. 1 AND LITTLE CONTENTNEA CREEK WATERSHED

TAKE NOTICE that a hearing will be held in Greenville, North Carolina, at the Pitt County Courthouse befoee the Clerk of Superior Court of Pitt County in the District Courtroom on Thursday, June 10, 1971, at 10:00 o'clock, A.M., for the purpose of reviewing the report of the Board of Viewers and hearing and determining any objections filed thereto.

A Petition has been filed under and pursuant to the provisions of G.S. 156-93.2 and G.S. 156-93.3 wherein the petitioners propose that the boundaries of Pitt County Drainage District No. 1 be extended to include all of the watershed of Little Contentnea Creek in Pitt, Greene, Edgecombe and Wilson counties. The lands included in the watershed surround and drain into, through tributaries or otherwise, Little Contentnea Creek from its source near Saratoga in Wilson County to where it empties into Contentnea Creek in Pitt County.

The petitioners further propose that works if improvement shall be made for the entire watershed of Little Contentnea Creek both within the boundaries of Pitt County Drainage District No. 1 and in the area proposed to be included in the enlarged or extended district. The proposed works of improvement include the clearing, widening and deepening of the main channel of Little Contentnea Creek and its principal tributaries; clearing, widening and deepening and where necessary, adding to, its canal and drainage system; the impounding of waters in certain areas; and measures to conserve the fish and wildlife in the watershed.

At said hearing the Court will consider and adjudicate the report of the Board of Viewers.

Dated May 20, 1971.

New Lay Leader Of Methodists In N.C.

FAYETTEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — A Massachusetts native who grew up in Decatur, Ga., was elected today lay leader of the North Carolina United Methodist Conference.

Grier Garrick, 45, a Jacksonville, N.C., businessman, succeeds James T. Patrick of Durham.

Garrick, father of four, has lived in Jacksonville 17 years. He has served as secretary of the conference Board of the Laity the last two years.

Lay delegates immediately elected Garrick to the 1972 General Conference in Atlanta. His election completed the lay slate for the conference.

Dr. Cameron West, chairman of the conference Commission on Higher Education, reported this morning. He said, "You must not ignore your historic commitment to our church-related colleges."

He said a study would be initiated regarding the role of Louisburg, North Carolina Wesleyan and Methodist colleges within the conference and their contribution to the church.

The study will consider the relationship of the conference to Duke University and its divinity school, High Point, Greensboro and Bennett colleges, all Methodist-related.

Four laymen were elected this morning as delegates to the Southeastern Jurisdictional Conference, which meets next year at Lake Junaluska. They are Dr. Leo W. Jenkins, president of East Carolina University; John Meares of Raleigh; Dr. Seaborn Blair of Wallace; and George Forehand of Elizabeth City.

The conference earlier named a black minister from Laurinburg as a delegate to the 1972 General Conference.

Exile Tells Of Unexpected Cuba Return

By CHRIS FRAZIER
Rome News-Tribune

ROME, Ga. (AP) — A political exile from Cuba, Renee Ryes, returned to his native land last weekend, but it was involuntary.

Reyes, 49, a chemical engineer now living at Caracas, Venezuela, was among 67 passengers aboard a jetliner hijacked to Cuba by a man armed with a small, sharp instrument, described as either a finger nail file or a pen knife.

Reyes was en route to Rome to visit his son and daughter-in-law.

He said the Cubans treated them well, provided night club entertainment for them, took them on tours, and to him it appeared to be a propaganda move to show them what has taken place in Cuba.

"I had not been back to Cuba since the revolution," he said today in an interview. "I was afraid that because I was Cuban and because I am a chemist that the immigration people might force me to stay."

Reyes said he left Cuba 13 years ago because he was wrongfully accused of denouncing the Fulgencio Batista regime.

"And in those days you had two choices when you were accused of such a thing," he said. "You could either leave the country, or go into the mountains and fight with Fidel Castro. I was not interested in politics, so I chose to leave the country."

He said his chain of drug stores which he owned was seized by the government.

Reyes said it appeared to him that the hijacker, Ivan Garcia Landaeta, had a small pen knife in his hand when he held a 13-year-old girl hostage.

"A woman on the plane offered to exchange herself for the girl, but he refused," Reyes said.

He said that although he was afraid he would be identified as a political refugee, he was anxious to see what had happened to Cuba since his departure.

"We were held in one of the finest hotels in Havana, and they must have had 1,000 people at our beck and call," he said.

"The second day they took us to one of the most exclusive beaches in Havana, and on the third day we were taken to new subdivisions of Havana.

"Havana, itself, is very run down. The houses are not painted, and the windows have been broken. But on the outskirts, it would appear that great progress is being made.

"We were shown a cooperative farm. We were told that each farmer is given a house and 60 acres of land. He is also given a radio, television, gas, running water, refrigerator, a school. And there is a doctor for each subdivision."

He said they were escorted mostly by Negroes.

"I feel this was done to show us, especially the Americans, that there is complete equality in Cuba under Fidel," Reyes said.

He said the churches in Havana are still open, but the people said they do not have much time to go. . ."or they gave other reasons; there was always some excuse."

"In the hotel, we could buy anything we wanted. We were taken every night to several shows, several banquets and to several night clubs. In one night club, there were four orchestras.

"In one of the night clubs, I left a tip. This had always been the custom in Cuba when I lived there, and I did not think anything about it.

"But the next morning at the reception station in hhe hotel, someone from the night club returned my tip with a note, which said, 'We appreciated very much, but we do not accept tips.' "

He said he was told by one individual that giving tips is considered by the government to be an effort to entice a Cuban to defect.

Reyes said, "There is a saying among the farmers that they gave us a concrete floor and a good roof for a floor of dirt and a ceiling of palm leaves. One farmer told me that consumer goods are very scarce, but he said, 'I'm not hungry any more.' "

One-Sided Report Basis Of Charges: Donaldson

By JAY PERKINS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first U.S. general accused of murdering civilians in South Vietnam says the charges against him are "based on a one-sided report."

Brig. Gen. John W. Donaldson, until recently a top planner for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, said Wednesday the investigation conducted by the Army's Criminal Intelligence Division was not complete.

"Certain parts of this report and investigation have just now been made available to me and to my counsel," Donaldson said.

"I would like to say I have full faith in the United States Army. The Army has been my life and I have full confidence in the U.S. military judicial system," he said.

The 47-year-old West Point graduate is accused of murdering six Vietnamese civilians and assaulting two others.

The Army has disclosed few details of the case but Pentagon sources said an investigation was started in November after a helicopter pilot said the general took pot shots at Vietnamese civilians while flying over Quang Ngai Province during an operation in late 1968. Donaldson was commander of the 4th Infantry Brigade at the time of the alleged incidents.

The Army, in announcing the charges, used the term "alleged" in referring to the civilians. It is understood this phrasing was used because an issue in the case is whether they were enemy troops.

Also Wednesday, the Army said Lt. Col. William J. McCloskey has been charged with the death of two Vietnamese civilians in March 1969. The Army said the two cases are not related.

Both officers were members of the American Division, 11th Infantry Brigade, units of which were involved in the My Lai massacre. However, My Lai took place in March 1968, before either of the incidents said to have involved Donaldson and McCloskey.

Officials said Donaldson, also the first American general charged with a war crime since 1901, was advised in advance the charges would be announced and took the day off from his job as special assistant to the chief of staff for the 1st Army, headquartered at Ft. Meade, Md.

He spoke to newsmen briefly outside his home in suburban Virginia but refused to answer questions about the basis for the charges.

The charges against Donaldson and McCloskey now will be reviewed by Lt. Gen. Claire Hutchin, commanding general of the 1st Army. He will decide whether to carry the cases further and order a grand jury-type investigation.

Hutchin could dismiss the charges if he finds the evidence is not sufficient to order prosecution.

Durham Lawyer Chief Lobbyist

RALEIGH (AP) — Attorney Ralph Strayhorn of Durham has been chosen as the chief lobbyist for the Friends of Education, a group of alumni and supporters who are fighting legislation that would dismantle the Consolidated University of North Carolina.

"I am convinced that the Warren Committee majority report will wreck what the people of North Carolina have worked so hard for 40 years to build up in higher education," Strayhorn said in accepting the assignment.

Strayhorn is president-elect of the North Carolina Bar Association, chairman of the N.C. Penal System Study Committee and was a member of the 1959 General Assembly.

The majority report of the Warren Committee is the basic framework within which Gov. Bob Scott built his proposals for restructuring state supported higher education.

In announcing the selection of Strayhorn, Jake Froelich Jr., director of operations for Friends of Education, said he wanted to make it clear that funds used by the group are from voluntary contributions of private funds "and are in no way connected with University or public funds."

Hearings on Gov. Scott's proposal will begin next Wednesday. Former Sen. Lindsay Warren Jr. of Goldsboro, who headed the study committee which produced the plan the governor is backing, will be the leadoff witness.

Although many members of the General Assembly are divided into two camps — proponents of the Scott plan or those opposed to it — an emerging third force continues to talk of compromise or of postponing action on the proposal until 1972.

Rep. Robert Jones, D-Rutherford, said he has at least 20 representatives lined up behind a bill which would send the regents plan to a study commission which would report to the 1973 General Assembly.

Jaycees Stun Kiwanis, 11-3

The Jaycees suprised the Kiwanis yesterday, 11-3, and kept them from regaining a share for first place in the league.

The Optimists hold the North State Little League lead, with the Kiwanis in second. The Optimists are 6-1 and the Kiwanis, 5-2. The Jaycees, R.-C. Cola and Coca-Cola are all 3-4, and the Lions are 1-6.

The Kiwanis took the early lead, pushing in a run in the second. Kent Phillips singled and advanced on a passed ball. He scored on Julian White's single.

In the third, the Jaycees got a run to tie it up. Bill Collier walked and stole second. He scored when Jay Holt singled.

Then, in the fourth, the Jaycees got two more for a 3-1 lead. Billy Williams singled and Scott Creech reached on a fielder's choice. Lance Wethington singled and Collier got a hit scoring both Williams and Creech.

But it was the fifth that made the difference, as the Jaycees came up with seven runs to run away to a 10-1 lead. Bill Myers opened the inning with a home run, setting the tone for the frame. Danny Boyd singled and advanced on a wild pitch. Creech singled and stole second and Wethington got a hit, scoring Boyd. Kenneth Avery got a hit to load the bases and Collier reached on an error that let all three runners score. Holt doubled in Collier and scored when Myers singled.

In the bottom of the fifth, the Kiwanis came up with their other two runs, while the Jaycees picked up their final run in the sixth.

NCNB Beats Builders; Grabs Off 1st Place

The standings in the Babe Ruth League turned upside down again last night, as both of the top two teams prior to the games were knocked off. Carolina Dairy beat Pepsi-Cola, 6-2, and North Carolina National Bank rolled to a 9-0 victory over Home Builders.

The win put NCNB into the lead with a 3-1 record. Home Builders, Pepsi and Carolina Dairy are all tied for second with 3-2 records, followed by College View, 2-3, and Planters Bank, 0-4.

Carolina Dairy pushed into the lead in the first inning. Griff Garner walked and moved around to third on wild pitches. After two more walks, to John Causey and David Clifton, Bobby Jones sacrificed Garner home.

Two more crossed in the third. Causey was hit by a pitch and took second on a wild pitch. Clifton singled to center, driving him in. Jones also singled, scoring Clifton with the third run.

Two more came over in the fourth. Cause was again hit by a pitch, and moved around to third on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Clifton singled him in and moved to second on the relay. A passed ball moved him to third and he scored on Jones' hit.

Pepsi broke the scoring ice with a run in the bottom of the fourth. Chuck Brown singled and moved up when Al Salisbury was hit by a pitch. T.J. Payne singled to load the bases and Curtis Lee got a hit, driving in Brown.

Carolina Dairy added its final run in the sixth. Garner walked, took second on a wild pitch, stole third and scored on a passed ball. The final Pepsi run came in the seventh. Jack Bratton walked, moved to third when Donald Cannon reached on an error, and scored on another miscue.

Clifton and Jones led the hitting for Carolina Dairy, each getting two.

In the second game, Steve Fuchs tossed a one-hitter at Home Builders in the shutout win. The lone hit came in the fourth inning when Jeff Daniels singled. He struck out 16 and walked six.

NCNB went to work with the bats in the first inning, pushing over two runs. Phil Dash reached on an error and moved around to third on a passed ball and a wild pitch. Donnie Haddock walked and Jack Jenkins reached on an error, scoring Dash. Another error let Haddock score.

NCNB made it 3-0 in the third. That came on a home run by Haddock.

In the fifth, NCNB picked up five runs. Jenkins opened up with a double and took third on a passed ball. Gil Whitford walked and stole second. Pat Clark singled to left, bringing in Jenkins. Roy Bunch walked, loading the bases. Fuchs then highlighted his fine pitching night with a grand-slam home run, running the score out to 8-0.

The final run came in the sixth, as Jenkins cracked the third homer of the evening.

Jenkins led the hitting for NCNB, getting a pair.

Graniteers Up Tar Heel Lead

The Graniteers continued to roll along yesterday in the Tar Heel Little League, picking up their seventh straight victory. They beat Integon, 3-1, for the win. Pepsi-Cola rolled to a 10-5 win over the Elks in a make-up game yesterday.

The Grantieers are now 7-0 on the year, three games ahead of the second place Elks, 4-3. They are followed by Pepsi and Exchange, both 3-4, and the Moose and Integon, both 2-5.

In the opener, Pepsi pushed over two runs in the first inning. MacDonald Avery walked and Michael Shank singled. Both advanced on a passed ball, and another scored Avery. Shank then scored on a hit by Mark Conway.

In the second, Pepsi scored its third run. Steve McClanahan walked and moved up on passed ball. Perry Worthington walked and Avery singled to load the bases. Shank then walked, forcing in McClanahan.

The Elks then came up with five runs in the bottom of the second, taking a 5-3 lead. Joe Godette led off with a homer. David Randle followed, reaching on an error. Greg Hargett reached on a fielder's choice and Ricky Skinner walked. Reggie Spain then hit a grand slam homer to put the Elks ahead.

In the fifth, however, Pepsi rallied to score three runs and regain the lead, 6-5. Shank singled and moved to third on an error. Conway walked and stole second. Joey Cherry singled in both runners, and he moved to third on an error. Timmy Eubanks then reached on an error, scoring Cherry.

Pepsi went on to add four more runs in the sixth inning.

In the second game, Integon pushed ahead in the first frame. Gene Pittman singled and moved to second on a passed ball. John Miles doubled, driving him across.

But the Graniteers came right back to tie it up in the bottom of the inning. Joel Clark did the trick with a solo home run.

Then, in the second, the Graniteers took the lead. Kevin Haut singled and moved to second on an error. He advanced on an out, and scored when H. L. Austin reached on an error.

In the fourth, the final Graniteer run scored. Austin reached on a fielder's choice and went to second on a passed ball. An error allowed him to come the rest of the way.

Graham Says NFL Is Okay

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Otto Graham, former head coach of the Washington Redskins, says he thinks the National Football League will emerge unscathed from the current federal grand jury investigation into NFL operations.

"I have faith in our judicial system," said Graham after appearing Wednesday before the grand jury here.

He confirmed what some other witnesses have told newsmen, that the grand jury is focusing on charges of blackballing by certain players.

But Graham said he knew of no blackballing or racial discrimination in the NFL.

Graham, former star quarterback for the Cleveland Browns, currently is athletic director at the Coast Guard Academy, where he was head football coach from 1959 to 1965. He left the academy in 1965 to go to the Redskins, where he was head coach for three years.

Graham said he prepared for his grand jury appearance by reading Johnny Sample's "Confessions of a Dirty Ballplayer."

Sample and Graham had run-ins during the 1957 college all-star game, when Sample was a player and Graham coached the squad, and also during the 1969 all-star game, when Sample was with the New York Jets.

Sample testified previously before the grand jury, and Graham said Sample's name was one of several that came up during the testimony.

Also testifying Wednesday was Al Davis, general manager of the Oakland Raiders who served briefly as commissioner of the American Football League prior to its merger with the NFL.

Davis, 41, declined to discuss his testimony but said he was impressed by the sincerity and interest in pro football demonstrated by members of the jury.

The grand jury is expected to hear more witnesses today before adjourning for the summer.

Hill Tired Of Being Guy In The Black Hat

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — It was a subdued Dave Hill, burdened with a one-year probation and facing an uncertain playing career, who set out today in the first round of the $125,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

"I'm tired of being the bad guy in the black hat," quipped the volatile Hill. "This week I'm wearing a white hat. Rode up on a white charger and I've got him parked right outside."

The 34-year-old Hill was slapped with the probation for "conduct unbecoming a professional golfer" in his second round of the Colonial National Invitation Tournament in Fort Worth, Tex. two weeks ago.

Hill, playing poorly that day, threw a ball out of a sand trap on the 18th hole and purposely signed an incorrect scorecard. He was disqualified on the spot and later fined $500.

Hill, the storm center of several major controversies in recent years, paid the fine and followed up with a $1 million damage suit against the Tournament Players Division and the Professional Golfers Association. The suit, the first of its kind against the two golf groups, is pending in federal district court in Memphis, Tenn.

The suit, among other things, charged the PGA and the TPD with violation of Hill's civil rights, violation of his right of free speech and violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

The suspension was handed down by the Policy Board of the Tournament Players Division and does not prohibit Hill from playing.

But, "In the event of further infraction of Tournament Rules and Regulations, during the probationary period, Mr. Hill will be subject to suspension from TPD competition and termination of TPD membership," a prepared statement issued by TPD Commissioner Joe Dey said.

That would prohibit Hill from playing. It's happened before "three or four times, I forget which," Hill said. "But this is the first time I've ever been on probation. I wonder who I have to report to."

Hill, an intense, highly-charged man, is a tough, wiry, darkly-handsome native of Jackson, Mich. He's won almost one-half million dollars in his dozen years on the pro tour and picked up eight titles.

His best year was 1969 when he won $156,000 and three tournaments, copped the coveted Vardon Trophy for the best stroke average on the tour and was named to the Ryder Cup team.

Hill, who hasn't won but has four finishes in the top 10 this year, was one of the key figures in the 150 man field that began competition today on the hilly, 6,833-yard, par-72 Atlanta Country Club course..

Leading money winner Jack Nicklaus, the only winner of three titles this season, was the favorite.

His chief challengers included Lee Trevino, winner of last week's Danny Thomas Memphis Classic, Masters King Charles Coody, U.S. Open titleholder Tony Jacklin of England, defending champ Tom Aaron and South African Gary Player.

Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper are not competing.

Trojans After Another Crown

LOS ANGELES (AP) — How can the University of Southern California baseball team, with almost the entire team back from last year, be called one of the youngest in the school's history? Easy.

Last year, the Trojans won the national collegiate baseball championship with an experienced club which contained a large number of seniors and a large number of nonplaying freshmen. The freshmen all went to the college world series. And almost all are back—as veterans on a title winning team.

USC is to take on Seton Hall, champion of the NCAA's District 2, on June 12 in Omaha, Neb., to start the college world series. The USC lineup for that game will contain one senior.

At first base will be sophomore Daryl Arenstein, hitting .329. At second will be Mike Ball, .282 and at shortstop is sensational freshman George Ambrow, .317. The third baseman is junior Jeff Port, .280. The only senior who figures to start is catcher Craig Perkins, batting .309.

Freshman Fred Lynn, batting .327, junior Tim Steele, .324, and junior Gordon Carter, .286, constitute the top three outfielders. Others who figure to see duty in the field are Jeff Pedersen, a junior, who's hitting .294, and senior Frank Alfano, a regular last year who is having a hard time finding a starting job. He's hitting .243.

USC is 39-10 this season under NCAA coach of the year Rod Dedeaux and the pitching has been the key.

Austin America. The big little car.

It isn't too obvious why we call the Austin big.

That's because you can't see its front wheel drive, like the Cadillac Eldorado and Oldsmobile Toronado have.

Or its unique liquid suspension to make it ride like a big car.

But as to why we call it a little car, we think a car that's a foot shorter than a Volkswagen couldn't possibly be anything else.

Come in and see how we disguised a big car as a little one.

Purse Finder Seeks Upset

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Back in 1968 Stagedoor Johnny won his first race about a month before he won the Belmont Stakes. Saturday, Purse Finder will try for a similar achievement at the loss of the Triple Crown for Canonero II.

"He is getting better every day," Trainer Jimmy Conway said Wednesday of Purse Finder, who won the first race of his 8-race career May 12, just three days before Canonero II added the Preakness victory to his win in the Kentucky Derby.

The race that shot Purse Finder, owned by Anthony Imbesi, into the Belmont was last Friday's Peter Pan Purse in which he came from off the pace to smash Mrs. Taylor Hardin's Solo Mio, another Belmont candidate, by nine lengths at the end of 1 1/16 mile.

Blinkers have helped turn the Maribeau colt into a winner, and although he might not have the racing experience of some of his Belmont rivals, Conway is optimistic about his chances in the $125,000-added 14 mile classic.

Canonero II and probably eight other 3-year-olds will be entered Friday morning for the Belmont, which is scheduled to go off at 5:35 p.m. EDT Saturday. Television coverage will be from 5-6 p.m. and radio coverage from 5:25-5:45 p.m., both by CBS.

Trainer Juan Arias and jockey Gustavo Avila both expressed satisfaction Wednesday after Canonero II worked 5/8 mile on the Belmont main track in 1:04. Although this is generally considered a slow move, it was faster than Canonero II's final work out at the same distance for the Derby and the Preakness.

Besides Purse Finder and Solo Mio, Canonero II's other likely opponents in his bid to become racing's ninth Triple Crown winner and first since Citation in 1948 are the Johnny Campo-trained pair of Neil Hellman's Good Behaving and Frank J. Caldwell's Jim French, Mr. & Mrs. Harry Lunger's Salem, William A. Levitt's Bold Reason, Mrs. Ethyl D. Jacobs' Epic Journey and Tartan Stable's Highbinder.

Good Behaving, a triple stakes winner who missed the Derby and the Preakness, was supplemented for the Belmont Wednesday for $5,000. He will be the only supplemental nominee in the race.

The Elite Group

Canonero II, bottom right, may become the first horse to win the Triple Crown since 1948, and join racing's elite of eight other horses that have won. His attempt will come Friday in the final leg of the slam, the Belmont Stakes. (AP Wirephoto)

Baltimore Slips By Chisox, Regains First

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those battling Birds from Baltimore have come home to roost—without throwing a single punch.

The Orioles pecked their way to a 3-2 12-inning victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night and regained first place in the American League East.

No beanballs were unleashed and no fans were pummeled—in contrast to the Orioles' Memorial Day donnybrook at Chicago. The world champions merely dazzled the White Sox with their footwork this time around.

Paul Blair scored the winning run on a bases-loaded wild pitch by Terry Forster in the 12th—after dodging a tag by third baseman Bill Melton to reach third on Dave Johnson's one-out grounder.

Brooks Robinson had tied the game with a two-run single in the ninth—after Merv Rettenmund kept the rally going by beating out a slow roller to Melton.

The victory, coupled with Boston's 6-1 loss to the New York Yankees, sent Baltimore into the division lead for the first time since April 29—with a margin of four percentage points over the skidding Red Sox.

Elsewhere in the AL, Detroit nipped Minnesota 5-4; California edged Washington 2-1 in a rain-shortened game and Cleveland topped Milwaukee 4-2. Kansas City and Oakland were not scheduled.

In National League action, the New York Mets downed San Francisco 5-2; the Chicago Cubs swept a twi-night doubleheader from Cincinnati 6-3 and 4-1; Pittsburgh slammed St. Louis 10-1; Los Angeles walloped Montreal 7-1; San Diego blanked Philadelphia 6-0 and Atlanta beat Houston 3-1.

Tom Bradley, Chicago's young pitching star, stymied the Orioles on three hits until the ninth, when Dave Johnson cracked a leadoff single. He took second on a balk, before Bradley walked Frank Robinson and gave up Rettenmund's infield hit, filling the bases.

Brooks Robinson then knotted it 2-2 with single to left.

In the 12th, Vicente Romo walked Blair, batting for reliever Dick Hall, on four pitches. Don Buford sacrificed and Johnson bounced to Melton, who went for the sidestepping Blair and missed the tag. The White Sox protested that Blair had left the baseline and Coach Joe Lonnett was ejected from the game.

Forster then came out of the White Sox bullpen, walked Boog Powell to fill the bases and tossed the tie-breaking wild pitch.

Bobby Murcer hit his ninth and 10th home runs of the season as the Yankees routed previously-unbeaten Sonny Siebert and handed Boston its fifth straight setback behind the six-hit pitching of Stan Bahnsen.

Siebert, who had won 11 in a row—including nine this season—left for a pinch-hitter in the sixth inning trailing 4-0.

Horace Clarke drilled two singles and a triple, stole two bases, scored one run and knocked in a pair for the Yanks.

The Tigers built a 5-1 lead and then withstood a three-run Minnesota rally in the eighth to climb within 2½ games of the East Division lead.

Fred Scherman relieved winner Joe Coleman and snuffed out the eighth inning rally. Dick McAuliffe homered for the Tigers.

Clyde Wright checked Washington on four hits and drove in the deciding run with a second inning single off Denny McLain as the Angels ended a four-game tailspin in a game halted by rain in the top of the eighth.

McLain, 4-9, has lost four in a row and six of his last seven starts.

Cleveland's Sam McDowell won his fourth straight for a 5-5 mark, but needed ninth inning relief help as the Indians beat Milwaukee with a flurry of three unearned runs in the third.

McDowell, who gave up five hits, struck out eight and walked six, was lifted with a 2-0 count on the first batter he faced in the ninth. Phil Hennigan and Rick Austin finished up.

Borrowed Bat Brings Atlanta Happy Days

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Atlanta Braves can expect a bill in the mail one of these days from the New York Mets for one baseball bat, Dave Marshall model.

They will pay for the wood because Hal King has fallen in love with it and because it gave the Braves a 3-1 victory over Houston Astros Wednesday night. Victories have been few and far between for the Braves lately, so this one will be worth the price of Marshall's bat.

King's two-run homer, with Marshall's bat, broke a seventh inning tie for the Braves and ended Atlanta's losing streak at five games.

Elsewhere in the National League Wednesday, Pittsburgh pounded St. Louis 10-1, New York topped San Francisco 5-2, Chicago swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 6-3 and 4-1, San Diego blanked Philadelphia 6-0 and Los Angeles battered Montreal 7-1.

In the American League, New York dropped Boston 6-1, California edged Washington 2-1, Baltimore went 11 innings to nip Chicago 3-2, Cleveland trimmed Milwaukee 4-2 and Detroit nipped Minnesota 5-4.

King's romance with Marshall's bat began 10 days ago when the Braves were in New York.

"It was just laying there, so I picked it up and felt it," said King. "I liked it and since the Mets left it there on the rack, I took it."

The borrowed ... or rather, appropriated ... bat made good contact for King twice. The first time Houston's Cesar Cedeno, who made three outstanding catches in the game, robbed him of a homer by leaning over the center field fence to spear his drive. The second shot in the seventh produced one of the longest homers ever hit in Atlanta, a towering drive that hit the facade of the club level in right field.

The Mets could afford to be generous with their spare bats. They got enough late hitting to overcome a 2-0 deficit and beat San Francisco and longtime nemesis Juan Marichal. It was only Marichal's fourth loss in 27 lifetime decisions against New York.

Rookie Charlie Williams earned the victory with five shutout innings of relief. Art Shamsky poled a homer and Dave Marshall, with one of his bats missing, was retired as a pinch hitter, extending his hitless string to 21 consecutive at bats.

Nate Colbert's three-run homer and a solo shot by Ivan Murrell moved San Diego past Philadelphia as rookie Steve Arlin fired a five-hitter.

Both benches emptied twice in the late innings as first San Diego's Clarence Gaston and then Philadelphia's Don Money were brushed back by close pitches. But no punches were thrown either time.

Dave Cash drilled a single, double and triple, leading Pittsburgh's rout of St. Louis. Luke Walker and two relievers scattered seven hits but the Pirate pitching staff's scoreless string ended at 34 innings when the Cards managed a run on a sacrifice fly.

Willie Stargell drove in three runs for the Pirates who closed to within one-half game of St. Louis at the top of the NL East.

Richie Allen's two-run double highlighted a five-run Los Angeles rally in the third inning as the Dodgers clipped Montreal. Jim Lefebvre and Tom Haller homered for the Dodgers and Willie Davis extended his hitting streak to 25 games, one sky of Lou Brock's 26-game streak which ended earlier this week.

The Cubs used a pair of three-run homers—by Ernie Banks in the first game and Billy Williams in the second—to slug Cincinnati twice.

Banks' seventh inning shot was his first this season and No. 510 for his career and it snapped a 2-2 tie. Williams busted a 1-1 tie in the eighth inning of the nightcap with his 13th of the season.

Both Want To Fight With Joe

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "I'm out to get Joe!" Muhammad Ali ranted.

Jimmy Ellis is out to get him, too—but first he wants to get rid of his image as an understudy.

Joe Frazier, heavyweight champion of the world, is the man they're after, the only man to demolish each of their hopes for a championship.

Ali and Ellis took a step on their comeback trails Wednesday, signing for a scheduled 12-round fight July 26 at the Houston Astrodome. The winner will be a likely candidate for another title shot at Frazier.

The careers of the two Louisville, Ky., fighters have paralleled each other for years, since they fought as amateurs, but Ellis spent most of the time in Ali's shadow.

He was the sparring partner when Ali took the championship from Sonny Liston in 1964 and remained in the background role until Ali was stripped of the title in 1967 for refusing military induction.

Ellis then came into his own and, with Ali serving as an occasional sparring partner, won the World Boxing Association crown.

But Frazier was recognized as the champion by New York and several other states. And on Feb. 16, 1970, he got the rest of it with a fifth-round knockout of Ellis in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Then it was Ali's turn, returning after a 3½-year absence and knockout victories over Jerry Quarry and Oscar Bonavena. But he failed against Frazier, losing in 15 rounds last March 8, also at the Garden.

"It don't make you feel good to be underestimated," Ellis says of his years as Ali's training mate. "Everybody talks about how he lost something in that 3½-year layoff. Hell, I was out for 17 months and that didn't do me no good."

Since then, Ellis, ranked No. 7, has won three in a row, beating Roberto Davila, Irish Tony Doyle and Canadian champion George Chuvalo. He owns a 30-6 record. Ali, at 29 two years younger than Ellis, is (31-1) ranked No. 1.

While Ellis sat quietly, seemingly amused by the showboating of his longtime friend, Ali shouted, taunted and repeatedly slapped a fist into an open palm, trying to look fierce but occasionally smothering a grin.

"Ol' Jimmy, he was with me when I was coming up, he was with me when I was champion, then all of a sudden when they took the title away from me Jimmy started going around bad-mouthin' me and saying how he could beat me and all that.

"Now we're gonna settle it. Now we're gonna straighten this all out!"

Rop Rank, Inc., and Astrodome Championship Enterprises, Inc., co-promoters of the closed-circuit bout, said Ali will receive 45 per cent of all income against a $450,000 guarantee and Ellis will receive 20 per cent of all income. Tickets will be scaled down from $75 at ringside to 10,000 seats at $5 apiece, demanded by Ali "for all the poor people" who haven't had a chance to see him fight in person.

Injured Critical

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Dr. Vicente Alvarez, surgeon and sports writer from Buenos Aires, Argentina, remained unconscious and in critical condition for the fourth day Wednesday with a skull fracture suffered in the pace car crash at the start of Saturday's Indianapolis Motor Speedway 500-mile race.

Alvarez was one of more than 20 persons injured when the pace car plowed into an open trailer crowded with newsmen and photographers. He was reported in serious condition Saturday, and was placed on the critical list at 4:30 a.m. Sunday.

Mike Mosley, race driver from Brownsburg, Ind., was still listed in serious condition with compound fractures of a leg and an arm, as well as facial burns. He was injured in a pileup with Bobby Unser during the race. Unser escaped injury.

Connally Faces 2nd Gruelling Day In Committee

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally planned a second trip to Capitol Hill today to sell the Nixon administration's general revenue-sharing plan to a hard-to-convince House Ways and Means Committee.

Connally spent a grueling day before the committee Wednesday, defending the proposal for a $5-billion, no-strings allocation to state and local governments.

And the tenor of questions and comments fired at him by most members seemed to rule out already any chance a majority could be mustered for the proposal. Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., repeated his prediction the committee will not clear it for House action.

But Mills told newsmen: "We are not going to let the cities go down the drain."

He said the cities' problems seem more pressing than those of the states and several possibilities are under consideration, including a special government-backed bank for municipal financing.

Dealing President Nixon another setback in a related field, the House Wednesday turned down, 204 to 182, the first of six special revenue-sharing plans to come to a vote.

The House rejected a comprehensive overhaul of federal manpower programs, part of Nixon's project to provide $11 billion in special block allocations superseding many categorical federal-state aid programs.

Some of the sharpest criticism of the $5-billion general revenue-sharing program came from the senior Republican member of Ways and Means, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin.

Byrnes is backing a substitute measure to provide federal income tax credits for part of the state and local income taxes paid by individuals. He contends it would be more responsible to afford this relief and then leave the states to enact their own additional taxes to take up the slack and finance their own projects.

Byrnes said the amount of tax effort varies widely from state to state and asked: "Why by monetary aid should we perpetuate the disparity between what the states do for themselves?"

He produced figures grouping the states by their tax effort—local revenue raised in proportion to personal income.

If all states made an effort comparable to the top 10, Byrnes said, they could raise $18.6 billion more in revenue.

The top 10 on Byrnes' list are Wyoming, North Dakota, New Mexico, Hawaii, California, New York, Arizona, Alaska, Nevada and Minnesota.

Heavily criticized by several members was the complicated formula by which the federal funds would be allocated, first to the states then in part to counties and municipalities.

Rep. Sam Gibbons, D-Fla., said his home city of Tampa would receive $14.51 per capita, while Commerce, Calif., "with no blacks, no poverty, an affluent community," would get $47.78.

He cited $22.80 per capita to Miami Beach and $10.95 to Plant City, Fla.

Rep. Charles A. Vanik, D-Ohio, contributed another comparison: Lincoln Heights, Ohio, $2.08; Beverly Hills, Fla., $24.40.

Connally acknowledged that, because the local distribution formula takes into account total taxes collected, some wealthy towns and suburbs would be heavily rewarded.

But in general, he said, central cities would receive much more per capita than suburbs—and he invited suggestions for improving the formula.

Hovercraft Ride Beats Traffic

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — It is now possible to beat the traffic between San Diego and Tijuana by taking the Baja Coaster, an air cushion hovercraft that skims over the water at speeds up to 60 mph.

The 13-mile trip takes 15 minutes and costs $4.75, reports the Mexican National Tourist Council.

Greeting Card Variety Grows

NEW YORK (AP) — It used to be that greeting cards contained a sweet verse and were used only for holidays, holy days and birthdays.

"Now we have cards for expressing sympathy, anniversaries, cards for the ailing and for servicemen," says Irving Cohen, president of a firm that franchises stores throughout the country.

City Lifelines

New York "subway" climbs above ground, here in Brooklyn, with the Manhattan skyline in the background.

In Manhattan, the subway's the subway (except for one small section in the north of the island). But in Brooklyn, Queens and the Bronx many of the rapid transit system's trains still rumble on above ground, on surface lines which thread their way through the city's densely woven fabric, still looking very much as they did when they were built in the 20s.

The Manhattan avenues once dominated and darkened by the elevated lines are now rebuilt almost beyond recognition. The "Els" have been removed and the busy life of the trains has gone underground. But in the other boroughs of New York City, at least 100 miles of overland lines (out of a total rapid transit route mileage for the city of 237.23 miles) are more than just living history in a city of bewilderingly fast change, more than mere anachronisms nostalgically associated with past eras. By the simple fact of their physical presence, as well as their function, they are still a most vital and lived-with feature of city life. Some of the older cars will soon disappear into retirement, but for the rest it looks as though the old "Els" will go rumbling on for some time yet.

Transit lines and trains are part of everyday scenes in Brooklyn and Queens pictured above and below.

Quadriphonic Sound Has A Future Among Young

By PRESTON McGRAW
United Press International

The newest thing in recorded music is quadriphonic (four-channel) sound but its impact now appears to be more evolutionary than revolutionary.

Instead of two speakers and two channels of sound as in present stereo, quadriphonic sound requires four speakers and four channels of sound. The speakers are put in the corners of a room.

High fidelity hobbyists who have been experimenting with four-channel sound are enthusiastic. They say it adds immensely to their efforts to achieve realism.

If stereo makes the recorded sound of a motorcycle sound as if it were going right through the living room, quadriphonic sound makes the motorcycle sound as if it were going round and round the room.

Home playback equipment manufacturers, scenting a new market, also are enthusiastic about four-channel sound, but are not sure yet where to get into the market.

What are the advantages of quadriphonic sound? William Cawlfield, who has been studying four-channel sound for Ampex Corp., a giant in the tape recording industry, explained:

Music's For Youth

"For 20 years engineers have been trying to achieve in the home the reproduced sound of live music. Stereo was a step in that direction but still it didn't sound exactly right.

"The trouble is that a room in the home with drapes, carpets and upholstered furniture—the typical living room— is a 'dead' environment. A living room does not have enough ambience — reflected and background sound.

"Two years ago at the Los Angeles hi fi show, four-channel sound was introduced. It adds the ambience and that may be the attraction of four-channel sound to the classical music lover.

"But recording these days is a youth industry. And youth no longer listens to music of the Goodman era. Kids nowadays want to be integrated into the music—totally immersed in it."

It would seem that four-channel, four-track, reel-to-reel tape with all channels running in the same direction would work perfectly.

It does and that is how nearly all quadriphonic music now is recorded. But the tape plays only half as long as twochannel, four-track stereo tape and when the reel plays out, it has to be rewound.

Can't Reverse Reels

The reels cannot be reversed and played.

Eight-track tape of the kind used in most automobile tape systems seems the best immediate solution for popular music not intended for a perfectionist's ear. But in addition to auditory, it has other limitations.

The ubiquitojs cassette can carry four tracks but has the same disadvantages as four-track reel-to-reel and not as much range. Cassettes have won wide acceptance in recording and playback machines and are completely compatible.

Ampex and Norelco — the company that developed the cassette—are determined not to compromise the compatibility of the cassette. That is, they want to do nothing to limit the ability of the cassette to be played on any kind of cassette playback machine.

Cawlfield believes the solution may be to split the tape playback head, giving four tracks in one direction and four in the opposite direction.

He believes that it then would be technically possible to give the cassette a compatibility between four-channel, two-channel and even monophonic sound.

Most sound experts believe quadriphonic sound will have its day but it may be years coming.

The Past Is Still The Present On Easter Island; Natives 'Cynical'

By WILLIAM F. NICHOLSON
Associated Press Writer

HANGA ROA, Easter Island (AP) — Each day like the other, the fishermen of tiny Easter Island head out to sea in fragile rowboats through the Pacific surf in search of their daily catch.

Other islanders stay at home and string shells together to make striking necklaces or carve stone and wood copies of the mysterious giant statues that dot this wind-scrubbed Chilean outpost.

Twice a week the daily ritual of island life is interrupted by the shriek of a Lan-Chile passenger jet landing at the airstrip outside Hanga Roa—the only town on the island—to disgorge a dozen or so hardy tourists.

Islanders hop into pickup trucks, mount horses or meander down dirt roads to meet the plane. Some go to sell their handicraft or look for tourists to put up in their neat homes.

However, most crowd around the open wooden shed that serves as the terminal and cheerfully inspect the new arrivals because there is nothing else to do.

But the leftist "Popular-Unity" coalition of Marxist President Salvador Allende has come to Easter Island and could change the lifestyle of this Chilean possession.

Several officials of the Allende government have visited Easter Island since his administration took over last November.

According to Jacobo Ney, 23-year-old islander who is secretary of the local Popular Unity committee, the government is now working on a master plan to bring jobs to the island and improve the local economy.

The government also hopes to attract more tourists to Easter Island by constructing a 60-room hotel at the waters edge just outside the village.

But jobs are still scarce and some of the 1,100 islanders are a bit cynical about Allende's intentions.

"Every government has made plans for Easter Island," shrugged a local fisherman. "But nothing has ever been done. Maybe this government will be different."

The island—14 miles long and seven miles wide—is 2,300 miles from the Chilean coast. Its nearest neighbor is Pitcairn Island, 1,400 miles to the West.

Yet on the rocky surface of this tiny island, hundreds of brooding stone statues were carved and laboriously erected by a race of master sculptors.

Mrs. Scoresby Routledge, an English explorer who came here in 1914, expresses the mood of the island this way:

On Easter Island the past is the present, it is impossible to escape from it; the inhabitants of today are less real than the men who have gone; the shadows of the departed builders still possess the land.

Getting to see the statues—called "Noai" in Pascuense, the island tongue—involves bargaining with the owners of a handful of four-wheel-drive jeeps and trucks that are used as transportation on the island. They like U.S. dollars.

The original quarry for the mysterious statues—some of them as big as locomotives—is at Rano Raraku volcano at the opposite end of the island.

Archaeologists still don't know much about the statues and even less about the people who erected them. But it is generally agreed that the island was inhabited about the 2nd century and that these first arrivals carved them to commemorate their ancestors.

The island was discovered on Easter Sunday, 1722 when Dutch Adm. Jacob Roggeveen dropped anchor for a visit.

Later, others came to Easter Island. An American ship stopped off in 1811.

Chile acquired control of the island in 1888. By the 1960s the island's population was up to 1,000.

How to beat the savings squeeze.

It's so hard to save a buck. By the time all the bills are paid, there's nothing left to squeeze out of your paycheck for savings.

But there is a way to build a nest egg without having to worry about it. When you join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work, an amount you designate will be set aside automatically from each paycheck and invested in U.S. Savings Bonds. By saving a little from each paycheck, you don't feel the pinch. And before long, you'll find you've a sizable nest egg stashed away.

And now there's a bonus interest rate on all U.S. Savings Bonds—for E Bonds, 5½% when held to maturity of 5 years, 10 months (4% the first year). That extra ½%, payable as a bonus at maturity, applies to all Bonds issued since June 1, 1970 . . . with a comparable improvement for all older Bonds.

Ease your savings squeeze. Join the Payroll Savings Plan.

Bonds are safe. If lost, stolen, or destroyed, we replace them. When needed, they can be cashed at your bank. Tax may be deferred until redemption. And always remember, Bonds are a proud way to save.

Addict Who Died In Jail Leaves Filmed Warning For Youngsters

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer

NEWTOWN, Pa. (AP) — He died in jail a drug addict. In pain. He was hooked on heroin, a habit that reached 75 bags daily at a cost of $750 before his arrest.

He left behind a filmed confession, warning young people not to experiment with marijuana and hard drugs.

The film was made for police in April 1970, four months before he died awaiting trial for burglary. It is now being processed for school distribution, delayed because of legal problems with his family.

"Stop before you start," he said.

"Everyone near you, you hurt," he said. "No one escapes it.

The 29-year-old son of a white middle class suburban school teacher was identified only as "Dennis," to protect his wife and three children.

Those who fool around with marijuana are kidding themselves, he said.

"It has been my experience over the years with other drug addicts that the greater majority of them, if not all of them, start out with marijuana and then progress to harder drugs ..."

His arms and legs were covered with needle marks. They were almost as hard as stone after 13 years of injection after injection. Even under his fingernails.

"I used every vein that was available, in every part of my body," he said.

Dennis told his story in the studio of the Lower Bucks Cabletelevision to detectives of the Bucks County district attorney's office, in this small Philadelphia suburb. He agreed to do it to reach kids in junior and senior high schools and show them what being an addict is like.

Dennis said his drug addiction began at 16, when he tried heroin. He switched briefly to cocaine while he was being treated in a methadone withdrawal program.

"There's no cure for heroin addiction," he said. "It can be stopped and aborted in the early stages if a person is reached in time. But don't think for a minute that methadone is some sort of wonder drug that is going to stop you from drug addiction.

"While I was on the methadone it satisfied my physical craving for drugs. I no longer had this desire for heroin. But methadone didn't substitute the psychological feeling nor the physical rush that you get from injecting drugs into your system. It just didn't do it, it couldn't do it. Nothing can ..."

"Over the years, I've witnessed a minimum of 12 or 15 deaths from heroin. I've seen people die in cellars. I've seen people die on rooftops. Bathrooms. Service stations."

Dennis said he tole to pay for his habit. Police granted him immunity from prosecution on drug charges as he outlined his activities.

"Over the years I've indulged in lesser crimes such as shoplifting or check boosting, or stealing people's income tax checks out of the mail boxes," he said. "That was when I only needed a small amount to finance my addiction.

"But as my addiction progressed (to 75 bags daily) I had to resort to stronger crimes or harder crimes because of the very need for money. Very obviously you can't get $750 a day out of somebody's mailbox or shoplifting in a department store ...

"An addict isn't a dangerous person as long as he can get his drugs, but if he is put into a position where it is necessary to commit a crime of violence he will. An addict can kill for money for drugs.

"I'm not saying this to frighten anyone or to overemphasize anything, I'm just stating a fact as it is. If I, myself, had ever been put in a position where I couldn't get the money without hurting someone I wouldn't have hesitated a moment to do whatever was necessary to get the money ..."

Seeks Damages From Speedway

RALEIGH (AP) — Herman Douglas Jackson of Danville, Va., has filed suit in federal court here seeking $500,000 in damages from Jet Motor Speedway in Stem, N.C., for injuries allegedly arising from an accident at the speedway in 1968.

The complaint filed by Jackson alleges that he was working as a pit crew member at the speedway on June 14, 1968, when he was struck by a race car. He charges that the speedway provided inadequate barriers between the pit crew and the raceway.

Nixon To Make Oklahoma Visit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon travels to Tulsa, Okla., Saturday to attend dedication ceremonies for the Arkansas River navigation project.

The nine-foot navigation channel links Catoosa, Okla., 15 miles east of Tulsa, with the Mississippi River, using the Arkansas and Verdigris rivers and man-made channels.

White House news secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Wednesday the President plans to return directly to Washington from Tulsa.

In response to inquiries, Ziegler also scotched reports from London that Nixon hopes to visit Red China next year. He also said the President has no plans to visit Moscow.

Some N.C. Blacks Said Interested In Own Party

By REESE HART
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH (AP) — Two Negro legislators said today that some North Carolina blacks are interested in forming another political party in the state, "but nothing definite has been done."

"It is my understanding there are people who are trying to organize, but I'm not a party to it," said Rep. Henry Frye, D-Guilford, serving his second term in the House.

Rep. Joy Johnson, D-Roberson, said, "There are some interested in forming a third party. But I wouldn't think a splinter group would accomplish much."

Johnson, a Baptist minister, said many blacks in North Carolina "are dissatisfied because blacks have not been given top positions in Democratic headquarters."

He said Howard Lee, mayor of Chapel Hill, is the only black holding a top-level position. He was named some months ago as vice chairman of minority groups in North Carolina.

"If it hadn't been for the black vote," said Johnson, "the present administration wouldn't be in office. The blacks have been loyal to the Democratic Party and they expect to see results."

Johnson said he was dissatisfied with the progress of the state in hiring Negroes.

"I won't name them but there are three or four state agencies that are lily white and several have only one Negro employee," he added.

Johnson introduced a bill back in January calling for equal employment opportunities for Negroes in state government.

"I don't think it will get out of committee," he said in an interview.

The Roberson legislator said he looks for more Negroes to win legislative seats in the years to come.

"We may get some more in the 1972 election," he said.

Johnson, serving his first term in the legislature, said most lawmakers "have been congenial and cordial to me. Many have gone out of their way to be nice. It's been an exciting experience for me. I've enjoyed it."

"I never dreamed there were so many pressure groups," he added.

Johnson said some blacks are considering running for Council of State offices next year "but I'm not at liberty to say who they are." The Council of State includes the secretary of state, agriculture commissioner, state auditor, state treasurer, attorney general, insurance commissioner, labor commissioner and state superintendent of public instruction.

Fugitives In Raleigh Area

RALEIGH (AP) — The FBI said two dangerous federal fugitives were believed to be in the Raleigh vicinity and asked Wednesday that any information concerning their whereabouts be communicated to the Charlotte FBI office.

FBI agents and carloads of Raleigh police converged on an apartment complex Wednesday with drawn guns and used a loudspeaker to call out for the fugitives. Then they searched an apartment but found the fugitives were not there.

Robert M. Murphy, special agent in charge of the FBI's Charlotte office, said the men being sought were Ernest Jones Jr., 41, and Harry Lee Green, 30. Murphy described them as "heavily armed and highly dangerous."

The men, both Negroes, escaped from a prison work gang in Sampson County on April 4. Jones was serving six to 10 years for robbery and kidnapping and Green was serving 20 to 25 years for kidnaping at the time of their escape.

Seventh Season Begins Friday

WILMINGTON (AP) — The seventh season of the sound and light show "The Immortal Showboat" aboard the Battleship North Carolina begins Friday at 9 p.m.

Ninety-five performances will be given, nightly through Labor Day.

The show portrays the history of the games ship through World War II. The North Carolina is permanently docked at Wilmington as a tourist attraction and war memorial.

Bruxism Isn't Very Fearful

Donna was scared when the school physician diagnosed her case as "bruxism." And her mother was petrified with fear. So study the 3 kinds of bruxism mentioned below. Early epilepsy is usually first noted by a few flecks of blood on the teen-ager's pillow. And by a sore tonge in the morning.

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph.D., M.D.

Case Q-570: Donna B., aged 16, is scared.

"Dr. Crane," her mother began, "Donna is away at a Boarding School.

"And a month ago, she wrote that the school doctor told her she was a victim of bruxism.

"So he is giving her a sedative to take at night.

"But PLEASE tell me what is bruxism, for Donna never explained the doctor's diagnosis!"

Bruxism

Bruxism is grinding of the teeth during sleep!

Donna's roommate had protested that Donna would waken her by this sound, even though the roommate's bed was clear across the room.

Sometimes bruxism is linked with epilepsy and thus originates in the brain.

But most cases of bruxism are apparently a normal method by which the gums of a young person try to gain a better blood supply.

For when a teen-ager's teeth are erupting, metabolic changes occur around the roots.

And the grinding movements by the teeth act as a form of massage, which increases the blood supply to the roots.

It is thus a widespread physiological process that occurs in children.

In fact, I have heard some of our 5 Crane children grinding their teeth so loudly that it would waken me in the next bedroom!

In this type of physiological bruxism, the grinding of the teeth may thus originate in the gums.

In epiliptic bruxism, it seems to start in the brain.

But there is a third type of bruxism which may affect adults and not be related to erupting teeth or epilepsy.

This is "frustration bruxism," based on tension or even an exciting dream.

For many people will grind their teeth, much as others rely on chewing gum, just to disipate pent-up energy and tension.

When I was a teen-ager, I used to chew the side of my tongue under my back molar teeth.

This would occur when I was concentrating on my homework assignments for school.

For while preoccupied with studies or any other sedentary task, I apparently would be keyed up and desirous of some muscular outlet to release tension.

So I somehow hit upon the habit of chewing the edge of my tongue.

Indeed, it often would become quite irritated and sore.

What finally stopped my indulgence in this nuisance habit was the fact I lost a couple of molars on the same side where I used to chew my tongue.

The dental surgeon wanted to repair the damage but I decided it was best to leave those empty spaces in my upper tooth line, for then I couldn't chew my tongue.

Remember, this is a tense age where people are unduly stimulated by TV and newspaper headlines, yet don't get enough muscular action to dissipate such tension.

Thus, chewing gum is a favorite outlet for kiddies, much as smoking works for adults.

So send for my booklet "How to Control the Emotions," enclosing a long stamped, return emvelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The bidding:

| North | East | South | West |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | 1 ♣ | 4 ♠ | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

Opening lead: Three of ♣

After North passed as the dealer and East opened the bidding with one club, South saw little reason to dally around. His hand possessed considerable trick taking power and all he required from partner was a key card or two. He accordingly jumped to four spades which became the final contract.

West opened the three of clubs and East put up the ace and returned a club to his partner's king. West found himself in a quandary at this point. A diamond shift did not appear inviting and a club continuation would obviously present declarer with an immediate discard, inasmuch as both dummy's jack and ten of clubs were now established winners.

West did not relish leading a spade for fear of subjecting his partner's trump holding to a finesse. He finally chose to return the five of hearts in the hope of hitting East's side strength. The six of hearts was played from dummy, East covered with the ten and South was in with the queen.

Prospects were dim for the declarer because he had no entry to dummy to discard his heart losers. If he cashed the ace of spades and continued with the queen, it was reasonable to assume that whichever player held the king of spades would exit with a trump in order to put South back in his hand again. A heart trick would then have to be surrendered subsequently to send the contract down to defeat.

The only legitimate prospect was to endplay the defender who held the king of spades. This would be possible only if the king were singly guarded, i. e., if it were held doubleton. So reasoning, South cashed the ace of spades and continued with the five. He was rewarded when East went in with the king. The latter exited with a heart which was permitted to ride around to North's jack. South discarded the nine of hearts on the ace of diamonds, ruffed himself in with a diamond and drew the remaining trumps with the queen and jack of spades. In all, he lost two clubs and one spade.

Had West continued with a third round of clubs at trick three, South could have discarded two hearts on the jack of clubs and the ace of diamonds and then taken a successful heart finesse. However, when he tackles the trump suit, unless he chooses the abnormal play of the ace and a low spade he will go down to defeat. Cashing the ace and continuing with the queen will subsequently establish West's ten for the setting trick.
