Bypass Bids

RALEIGH — The North Carolina Highway Commission announced Monday it will ask for bids this month for a road project on the U.S. 264 bypass in Greenville.

The Greenville project calls for 5.3 miles of work on the U.S. 264 bypass. Specifications include a five-lane roadway from the intersection of the bypass and U.S. 264 business to the proposed Tar River Bridge. From the bridge to the intersection of N.C. 11 and U.S. 13, the roadway will consist of dual lanes with a 44-foot median.

The portion of the project located south of the river will include a 64-foot face-to-face curb and gutter section (five lanes) while the area north of the river will be a dual lane highway with a median.

The project will provide four lanes from U.S. 264 to the N.C. 11 and U.S. 13 intersection.

W. Arthur Tripp of Greenville is the local area highway commissioner.

He'll Speak At Graduation Of 61-Year-Old Dad

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "What can you say at your father's graduation?"

The Rev. Thomas B. Tyndall of Charlotte, N.C., posed the question.

His father, 61-year-old Kermit Tyndall of Jacksonville, is scheduled to get his diploma Thursday with the class of 1971 at Lakeview High School in Winter Park, Fla.—just 43 years behind his normal class.

"This week has been a ball for my dad," said the Rev. Mr. Tyndall. "People call him the world's oldest high school graduate."

The Presbyterian minister joked about it in a civic club talk Monday after preaching the baccalaureate sermon Sunday for his father's class at Winter Park.

"It's hard to preach at your own father after he's dedicated a lifetime to preaching at you," he said. "He kept me from harm's way, out of the mouths of bad dogs and from the path of speeding cars. He disciplined me and I'm glad he did when I was stupid and rotten."

Roxboro Native, Soprano Jane Murray Dillard, Wins 1971 ECU Alumni Award

mezzo-soprano Jane Murray Dillard, who has performed with symphony orchestras and opera companies throughout the U.S. and Europe, is the 1971 recipient of the East Carolina University Alumni Association's Outstanding Alumni Award.

The award was presented to her by ECU Board of Trustees Chairman Robert Morgan at the annual Alumni Day Banquet in Greenville recently.

Morgan commented that the award is the "highest honor" that the Alumni Association can show alumni "in recognition of achievements, accomplishments and contributions which reflect credit upon Alma Mater."

Mrs. Dillard, a 1960 alumni of ECU, studied with Gladys White of the ECU School of Music voice faculty.

After graduation, she did post-graduate work at ECU, at the Musik Hochschule in Germany and with leading vocal coaches in New York.

She won district and regional awards in the 1963 Metropolitan Opera Auditions and the district and regional Young Artist Award in 1965.

She was twice awarded grants from the Rockefeller Foundation, for advanced study and for entrance into the International Singing Contest in Geneva, Switzerland, in which she was a winner.

Pitt County Commissioners yesterday afternoon were told that an increase in property value totaling about $19.72 million has been added to the county's tax books during the current fiscal year.

County Manager H.R. Gray explained to the commissioners that the $19.72 million figure represents the assessed value (½ the actual value) of the property and based on the current tax rate would amount to about $289,000 in additional general fund revenues.

Commissioners discussed the establishment of a county planning board which would lead to the zoning of property in the county and ordinances regulating subdivisions and other development but took no action yesterday.

Members of the board expressed concern over the present lack of proper planning for some subdivisions located outside municipal planning and zoning areas and said many individuals are purchasing lots in developments in which streets do not meet state standards and as a result the State Highway Commission will not accept them for maintenance or improvement.

Leroy James of Greenville was appointed as a member of the Board of Trustees of Pitt Memorial Hospital while Johnny Taylor was reappointed to the Ayden Zoning Board of Adjustment at the request of the Town of Ayden.

A resolution authorizing Sheppard Memorial Library employees to participate in the North Carolina Local Government Employees Retirement System was approved by commissioners. At present employees of the library do not participate in a retirement system.

A similar resolution is required by the Greenville City Council to institute the retirement program. Sheppard Memorial is funded in part by both the city and county governments.

Commissioners also discussed the employment of an inspector for the Department to Social Service to investigate recipients and applicants for food stamps and public assistance program aid.

The inspector commissioners said would investigate cases of eligibility and misuse of aid received by participants in Social Service programs. Such a person according to the commissioner's thinking would be designed to uncover individuals who give false information to eligibility specialists who initially certify a persons need for participation in various programs.

Commissioners were told by Gray that Mental Health Director Dr. Walter Savage may resign his position with the county to enter private practice in Kentucky.

Gray said Dr. Savage in a telephone conversation, had indicated his intention to resign his position, but, Gray explained, he has not presented a formal letter of resignation.

Fatally Beat Eight-Year-Old

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Wayne County deputies said today a 15-year-old mental patient at the O'Berry Center admitted beating an 8-year-old mentally retarded girl to death and stuffing her body into a garbage dumpster.

District Solicitor F. Ogden Parker is investigating the possibility of charges against the boy, confined at the center.

The girl, also a patient at the center, was Patricia Williams of Raleigh. Her nude body was found about 9:30 a.m. Sunday, officers said, but the sheriff's department was not notified until Sunday night.

Dr. Vernon Mangum, director of the center, told Chief Deputy James Sasser he pronounced the girl dead after a nurse called him to the place where the body was found.

Sasser said the boy, who had been seen carrying the body, told him he killed the girl by beating her head against a brick wall, stomping her and kicking her.

He said the boy was admitted to the center three years ago for treatment and had been granted "ground privileges," meaning he was free to roam O'Berry campus. Sasser said the girl was walking to church when she was attacked.

Statewide Water-Sewerage Bond Issue Legislation Will Be Offered

RALEIGH (AP) — A Cumberland County senator planned to introduce legislation today calling for a referendum on the issuance of $150 million in state bonds for water and sewerage systems in North Carolina.

Sen. Hector McGeachy said the proposal "is so popular that one young House member is trying to steal it."

Asked to identify the House member, McGeachy told newsmen, "I'd rather not say."

"I got the idea for this bill the first day of this legislative session," McGeachy told a news conference. "It's a product of four months of work."

The bond issue, McGeachy said, would provide funds for the construction, operation and maintenance of municipal, regional or county-wide water and sewerage systems.

He said more than 45 senators have signed the bill. He predicted the General Assembly will vote overwhelmingly in favor of the bill.

"To assure an abundant supply of clean water throughout our state will require money," said McGeachy. "A considerable amount of this money can be secured from the federal government through an attractive formula which would be an incentive to local governments, but only if the state of North Carolina is prepared to do its part. Passage of a clean water bond issue will allow North Carolina to do its part."

He added, "Today, our local governments are faced with an intolerable burden in providing 70 per cent of the cost of planning and developing water treatment facilities. But if the state would provide a fourth of the cost of these facilities through this bond issue, federal monies would become available, and local governments would then put up only 30 per cent of the over-all cost instead of 70 per cent."

Student Drowns In Pond

A 20-year-old high school student, scheduled to graduate from North Pitt High School Thursday night, was drowned in a pond about three miles east of Greenville yesterday.

Pitt County Coroner E. W. Harvey reported Bobby Earl Williams of Route 4, Greenville, was dead on arrival at Pitt Memorial Hospital following the 6:15 p.m. mishap.

Williams, swimming with several other persons, went down in about six to seven feet of water about 10 yards from shore. Other swimmers pulled him from the water after diving several times in an attempt to rescue him. Others gave Williams mouth-to-mouth resuscitation but were unsuccessful in their attempts to maintain his life.

Three men at the pond at the time of the mishap, Woody Thurman, David McGraw and William Shiloh, rode with Williams to the hospital to aid the Greenville Rescue Squad with the victim.

The coroner, who ruled the death accidental, noted that Williams' mother was on the opposite side of the five-acre pond at the time of the drowning. She was coming from a field where she had been working, the coroner said.

Symington Steers New Controversy Over Laos

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is heading toward new controversy over the U.S. military role in Laos, with Sen. Stuart Symington seeking a $200-million ceiling on American spending there.

Symington, D-Mo., said security classification prevents him from disclosing the amount being spent on U.S. air operations and support of forces fighting Communist units in Laos.

But the total was reported by other sources to be at least $250 million a year, and possibly much more.

While the Senate met in secret session Monday to discuss Laos, the State Department confirmed the United States is providing financial and other support to forces in Laos.

Press officer Charles Bray described those troops as volunteers, and said the U.S. support program is consistent with the law.

Symington said they are mercenaries. "My personal opinion is that the law has been contravened, yes."

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., who proposed the amendment forbidding use of U.S. funds to support foreign forces fighting for the governments of Laos and Cambodia, said he thinks that law is being violated.

The amendment excludes actions that would help promote withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, or release of American prisoners of war.

The closed session, seventh for the Senate in five years, lasted three hours and 25 minutes, more than twice as long as planned.

"I reported to them, in effect, that what was actually going on in Laos was quite different in some details than we have been told," said Symington, who proposed the secret session.

"We believe that quite a few Thai people, irregulars and regulars, are fighting in Laos. We think that contravenes the law recently passed by Congress."

"We would have known more about it if there had been a ceiling on the money they could have spent and they would have had to come before us to ask for more authority," Symington said.

Van Heflin Is Unconscious

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Van Heflin, 60, remained unconscious and in critical condition today, two days after suffering a heart attack while swimming, a hospital spokesman said.

The veteran of 35 years as a stage and screen actor was in the intensive care cardiac unit at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital. He was found Sunday clinging to a ladder of his apartment pool, his head barely above water.

Tricia's Fiance Talks Of Plans

NEW YORK (AP) — Edward F. Cox, Tricia Nixon's fiance, says he wants to work on "public interest" cases such as water pollution and consumer fraud while a summer trainee in the U.S. attorney's office.

The 24-year-old Harvard Law School student made the statement after an orientation meeting Monday at the U.S. Court-house, where he will be one of 70 trainees on the federal prosecutor's staff.

His regular duty will begin when he and Tricia return from the honeymoon after their wedding Saturday. He will be paid $60 a week.

Says Problems On Global Scale

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, says today's problems are not national but global, and solutions "must be sought on a global basis."

It is understandable, he said in the graduation address at Duke University Monday, that most persons give their first allegiance to their country. But he added that all persons should have a "second allegiance" to the "human community. Only then will we be able to solve our problems on a global scale."

Proffer Moon Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government announced today that it is proposing a treaty governing exploration and use of the moon and has submitted a draft of the pact to the United Nations.

Tass said Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko had asked Secretary-General U Thant to include the proposal on the agenda of the General Assembly meeting in the fall.

The draft, Tass reported, bars from the moon the "use of force and any other hostile actions, and also the use of the moon for committing such actions with regard to the earth."

"The draft treaty emphasizes," Tass said, "that the moon is used by all states, signatories to the treaty, exclusively for peaceful purposes. The setting up on the moon of military bases, structures and fortifications, the test of any types of weapons and the holding of military exercises are banned."

The draft also provides that exploration and use of the moon shall be carried out by means "insuring the prevention of an unfavorable change in and pollution of the lunar environment." It adds that states signing the treaty will do all possible to preserve "the life and health of man on the moon."

The treaty also rules out all territorial claims to the moon, saying the surface and the interior of the moon "cannot be the property of states, international intergovernmental and nongovernmental organizations, national organizations, juridical or physical persons."

The draft calls for the signers to cooperate "on questions related to activities on the moon" and not to "create obstacles to the activity of other states on the moon."

"The signatory states must grant the right to persons in distress, who are on the moon and belong to the personnel of another signatory state, to take shelter in their stations, in their apparatuses, structures or equipment," the draft says.

Space Lab In Higher Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts steered their space laboratory Salute into a higher orbit today to halt temporarily its gradual drop back to earth, Moscow radio reported.

The maneuver, effected by firing rockets aboard the craft, was needed in order to keep the station aloft for a longer period of time.

The 18-ton space station has been in earth orbit since April 19, and has been gradually drifting down into the upper reaches of the earth's atmosphere, where friction would disintegrate it.

The cosmonauts boarded the station Monday morning by crawling through a narrow passageway from their Soyuz 11 spaceship.

Soyuz 11 was launched Sunday morning and chased Salute through space for more than 26 hours before catching up and docking with it.

As of 1 p.m. Moscow time, or 6 a.m. EDT, the Salute-Soyuz had circled the earth 21 times with the cosmonauts aboard, the Soviet news agency Tass said at midday.

"The state of the on-board systems and the micro-climate in the compartments of the space station are normal," Tass said. "Cosmonauts Georgy Dobrovolsky, Vladimir Volkov and Viktor Patsayev feel well and continue the planned research."

The Salute-Soyuz tandem is

UP 40 PER CENT

RALEIGH (AP) — The statistician for the State Department of Community Colleges reports that enrollment in North Carolina's technical institute-community college system is up 40 per cent above last year.

Besides performing numerous roles with opera companies here and abroad and concert appearances with symphony orchestras, Mrs. Dillard has been assistant professor of voice at the University of South Florida and Artist in Residence at the Brevard Music Festival.

During the 1968-69 season, she was leading mezzo-soprano with the Nurnberg, Germany, Opera. Her most recent performance was a solo appearance with the Florida Gulf Coast Symphony in its presentation of the Verdi "Requiem" in May.

Mrs. Dillard is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otha Murray of Roxboro. She married Noble Dillard, a Mississippi native, in 1967.

Arrest Three Soldiers In Korea Camp Fragging

SEOUL (AP) — Three black American soldiers have been charged with attempted murder as a result of grenade attacks at Camp Humphrey, the U.S. 8th Army announced today.

An American and three Koreans were injured in the explosions May 22-23 at the camp 35 miles south of Seoul. Military sources said earlier the explosions were the outgrowth of racial tension at the camp.

The Army identified the three servicemen as Spec. 4 Michael G. Greenwood, of Long Branch, N.J., Spec. 4 Allen Green of Gadsden, S.C., and Pfc. Michael A. Gipson of De Funiak Springs, Fla.

All three were also charged with housebreaking and larceny in connection with the theft of 50 fragmentation grenades at the camp.

Green and Gipson also were charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

The spokesman said a pretrial investigation was continuing. At its conclusion Col. John C. McWhorter Jr., commander of the 23rd General Support Group at the base, will decide whether the case will go to trial.

The arrests followed a joint probe by U.S. military police, South Korean army investigators and Korean police, an Army spokesman said.

Sixteen of the 50 stolen grenades are still missing, he added.

Greenwood is an airframe repairman, Gipson a fuel and electrical repair specialist and Green a driver.

The grenade explosions at the camp occurred about a month after a brawl between black and white soldiers in a bar near camp that was followed by racial disturbances on the base.

About 150 black soldiers demonstrated at U.S. military headquarters in Seoul last month, charging racial discrimination.

Car-Washer Is Electrocuted

LINCOLNTON, N. C. (AP) — A Lincolnton man apparently was electrocuted Monday night while washing his car.

Bobby Dixon, 20, who recently completed his junior year at North Carolina University, reached down to pick up a vacuum cleaner, according to a witness, when he was stricken.

Couple Exchanges Vows In Ceremony On Saturday

St. James United Methodist Church was the setting for the wedding ceremony of Miss Jayne Mae MacGregor and Hugh Tyson Westray Jr. on Saturday at 3:00 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Langil H. Watson of Chapel Hill. A program of nuptial music was presented by Wiley L. Smith Jr. of Chapel Hill, organist, and Miss Shelia Marlowe of Greenville, soloist.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Lullah Pringle of Greenville and Mr. Calvin M. MacGregor of California. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh T. Westray of Chapel Hill.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Jim C. Warren, wore a formal length empire white chantilly lace gown styled with a Victorian High neckline and leg o'mutton sleeves. Lace ruffles trimmed the neckline and long sleeves.

Her formal length full illusion headpiece was edged in matching chantilly lace. The bride's bouquet consisted of mixed spring flowers in shades of pink, lavender and white.

Honor attendant was Mrs. Susan Monroe of Falls Church, Va., sister of the bride. She wore a formal length floral chiffon gown in shades of green, blue and lavender on white. The gown was styled with a high ruffled neckline banded in blue velvet ribbon with matching ribbon on the flared sleeves. The empire waistline was accentuated by a blue velvet ribbon band.

Her headpiece was ribbon bows with long streamers. She carried a colonial nosegay bouquet of blue margerite daisies with lavender larkspur and baby's breath.

Miss Nancy Porter of Greenville was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Beth Alexander, Miss Vickie Davenport, cousin of the bride and Miss Kristy Johnston, cousin of the bride, all of Greenville, and Miss Gwen Smith of Greensboro, cousin of the bridegroom.

Bridal Consultant Sworn To Secrecy By Tricia Nixon

By LOUISE WALSH
BOSTON (UPI)—She is 53, but looks thirtyish.

"I must be the oldest living bridal consultant," laughingly said Priscilla Kidder whose bridal designs are as famous as the brides who wear them.

Mrs. Kidder — a businesswoman who is Priscilla of Boston — currently is fashioning Tricia Nixon's wedding gown. And, she says, Tricia, who will marry Harvardman Edward Cox June 12, has sworn her to keep the design secret.

Leaning back in a leather swivel chair in her warehouse in Boston's Charlestown section, she scanned the 35 years she has been a bridal authority.

Refusing to have an office — "I'd be tempted to sit in it all day" — the shapely and delicately-featured designer chatted in her husband-business partner's office.

Bridal parties Mrs. Kidder has outfitted include the daughters of astronauts John Glenn and Alan Shepard, and of Sen. Barry Goldwater. She designed the wedding gown for Sharon Rockefeller, President Johnson's daughter Lynda Robb, actress Debbie Reynolds (for her marriage to Eddie Fisher), and Bob Hope's niece.

Through 35 years of bridalmania, blonde and peppery Mrs. Kidder has kept her cool. A mother of three college-age youths (two boys and a girl) she is in step with the young. She has strong hopes that more young people will enter politics.

She grew up in a political climate: her father was a city councilor in Quincy.

Mrs. Kidder is an avid biography buff—an extra-bridal interest. "I read from 3 to 5 a.m.," she says. "When else do I find the time?"

Cool on Hot Pants
Does she wear hot pants? "I wouldn't be caught dead in them," she says. Apparently her employees would. A vermilion hot pants ensemble entered with a question and anecdote for her most attentive boss.

Mrs. Kidder recalled one unusual wedding request: a "shocking pink satin" wedding gown for a bride holding her reception on a "shocking pink" oriental rug. Another instance: the bridal party carried geranium flower pots instead of bouquets.

Mrs. Kidder remembers one special mother of the bride. This mother, who expressed much concern for her daughter's nerves, bolted through a screen door leaving behind half her gown and one sleeve—15 minutes before the wedding march. Mrs. Kidder, who is a fine seamstress, found needle and thread in the frenzy and made the wedding deadline. But only after she revived an unconscious mother.

The designer gave her impressions of the White House. She is very fond of Pat Nixon, whom she has known "for many years," Mrs. Kidder praised her as "the most thoroughly organized First Lady she has known or heard of."

"Pat Nixon just doesn't get enough credit for the long hours she puts into her job," she says.

No newcomer to the White House, Mrs. Kidder found "great admiration for the Nixons by the White House staff." Does this distinguish the Nixons from other first families?

Mrs. Kidder thought so, but quickly singled out Mrs. Lyndon Johnson as being "personally admired" by the entire White House staff.

Bridge Playing In Existence At Least 75 Years

CHICAGO (UPI)—Nobody knows for sure how the game got its name or who played the first hand, but this is approximately the diamond jubilee of the popularization of bridge.

Since about 1896, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, bridge, whist, auction bridge, and contract bridge have successively been the principal intellectual card games of the English-speaking countries.

The game, played in the most fashionable settings on each side of the Atlantic, had a humble ancestry. It derived from whist, a game played by the "lower classes" in 16th-Century England.

Two centuries later, whist was taken up by gentlemen playing in London coffeehouses, especially after Edmond Hoyle published a treatise on it in 1742. The game, played "according to Hoyle," soon spread to America.

From whist came bridge. And upon its introduction to New York in 1893 and to London in 1894, bridge almost immediately supplanted whist in the card rooms of men's clubs. Within a couple of years it became the "in" game for fashionable mixed gatherings also.

The earliest form of bridge itself gave way to auction bridge, which was introduced in England in about 1904 and became, from 1907 to 1928, the most universally popular card game ever known. Auction bridge had at least 15 million adherents when, in 1930, it became secondary to contract bridge.

The total number of contract bridge players has been estimated at 50 million, at least half of them in the United States. The literature of the game comprises more than 9,000 volumes. About 1 million books on bridge are sold each year. Periodicals on bridge have been published in 13 languages.

Hodges-Callahan Vows Said In Ceremony In Asheville

ASHEVILLE — The Central United Methodist Church here was the scene of the Saturday wedding of Miss Rebecca Sue Callahan and Joseph Milton Hodges.

Officiating at the 1:00 p.m. ceremony were the Rev. Thomas B. Stockton, pastor of the Central United Methodist Church, assisted by the Rev. David B. Lewis of Danville, Va., brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pleasants Callahan of Asheville and Mrs. Ruth M. Hodges of Portsmouth, Va., and the late Rev. James E. Hodges.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a heirloom gown of ivory satin. The tapering sleeves came to points over the wrists and the skirt ended in a full train.

Her full length-mantilla veil of illusion was trimmed with applied chantilly lace and seed pearls attached to a dome tiara and ended in a full train. She carried a white Bible adorned with miniature white roses and white streamers tied with lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Iris Anne Baber of Asheville was maid of honor and was dressed in a full length pale yellow polyester crepe gown with an empire waistline. She wore a matching bow headress and carried a white New Testament with miniature yellow roses and white streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Anne Aenckbacher and Miss Evelyn Jane Celley, both of Asheville. They wore full length pale green polyester crepe dresses with empire waistlines.

They carried white New Testaments adorned with miniature yellow roses and yellow streamers.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Avery Elaine Callahan of Shelbyville, Ky., cousin of the

Tailor Teaches

Women How To Sew

LYONS, France (WNS) — Tailor Robert Lacoste, whose son returned home to papa because he didn't approve of his wife's store-bought clothes and discovered that she couldn't make her own, is now teaching women how to sew. "My daughter-in-law was the first lady to sign up for the course, and her marriage is working well again," he confided.

Lacoste discovered that only 5 million patterns were sold in France in 1970, "which is half the number of 1960." A recent national poll reported that 92 per cent of Frenchwomen believe that it is necessary to know how to sew but that only 15 per cent make their own clothes.

"The trend is changing now that haute couturiers and ready-to-wear houses are pushing clothes that are too extreme for conservative women to wear," said the Frenchman.

bride. She wore a similar full length dress of pale green organza and carried a New Testament adorned with miniature yellow roses and yellow streamers. The bridesmaids and junior bridesmaid wore matching bow headresses.

Miss Amber Kay Callahan, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She was dressed in a full length gown of green and yellow floral organza. She carried a basket of miniature yellow roses.

James Michael Smith of Chesapeake, Va., nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

E. Campbell Price of Sanford was best man. Ushers were William Martin Callahan and Robert Kent Callahan of Atlanta, Ga., cousins of the bride.

The couple will reside in Greenville.

The bride is a rising junior at East Carolina University, where she is a music major and a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, Beta Psi Chapter, professional music fraternity.

Suburban Beauty Hints from Clara Garris

"TRUE-BLUE HEAVEN"
Many women try to give men that innocent look. They achieve this appearance with their dress, their personalities, and their hardos. The male ego is often times rather fragile, so the innocent what's-going-on look helps to bolster his self-confidence while simultaneously helping to break down the male-female communication barrier.

Eye makeup can contribute further to that true-blue innocent look. If, for instance, you are one of those blue-eyed blondes, then go ahead and look the true-blue part. Wear white shadow on the lids and brow bone. Follow this with dark-gray liner, heavily applied. Add thick, brown false lashes, and top off the entire effect with pale blue tinted specs?

Your man will not only see a true-blue you, but he'll think he's in "true-blue heaven!"

DEAR ABBY: A girl signed "WONDERING" asked you how men felt about marrying an unwed mother, and you invited men to write in and tell her. Here's my story:

When I met my wife, she was 18 and five months pregnant. She told me all about herself and even who the baby's father was, but it didn't make one bit of difference to me. We were married a month before her baby was born, and I couldn't love my own flesh and blood more.

I admired this girl for being absolutely truthful from the start. A girl with two strikes against her tries twice as hard to show her appreciation for being treated with love and respect. I have been married to this wonderful girl for six years and we have had two other children, and I love them all the same.

LUCKY IN WENATCHEE

DEAR ABBY: In starting married life with another man's child, I would consider myself fortunate to have an unwed mother as my intended.

There would be no sessions of private grief for a killed-in-action husband, no trying to keep his memory alive in the child. No problems with previous in-laws or doting grandparents. And there would be no emotional hangovers from a previous marriage that misfired or helping her live down her first love.

As far as I am concerned, unwed mothers are definitely choice material.

FRANK IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR ABBY: I would advise an unwed mother to keep the story of her mistake to herself. I married a girl who had had a child out of wedlock. She told me who the baby's father was and all the details of the whole rotten mess, and I have wished a thousand times that she hadn't told me. If she had made up a story about having been "raped" I would have been much happier.

CANT' FORGET IN MINNESOTA

DEAR ABBY: Please tell WONDERING not to wonder any more. No man of quality will think less of her for one mistake. I know. I met a lovely little woman, and I fell hard! She knew I was getting serious, so she confessed that altho she had never been married she had a child 6 years old. I met the child, and she won my heart! In less than a year I married the unwed mother and adopted her child. We subsequently had five other children and now have a grand total of 21 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. We have had 55 beautiful years together, and I consider myself the luckiest man in the world.

NO REGRETS IN PENSACOLA

DEAR ABBY: I married an unwed mother 15 years ago, and we now have the most beautiful 16-year-old "mistake" in the world.

PROUD IN ALLENTOWN, PA.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe "WONDERING" would like to hear from a mother whose son married an unwed mother. To me there is no finer lady than my new daughter, Barbie. I also got a beautiful grandbaby in the bargain, which I love as much as my other grandbabies.

When my son married Barbie her baby was 5 months old. There was some ugly talk, but my whole family held their heads high and paid no attention. My new daughter showed her true character by accepting her responsibilities and not lying about her mistake. This has made us love her all the more.

I am proud of my son for being able to accept an unwed mother without shame. I have another son, and if he chooses to marry an unwed mother who is as sweet and nice as Barbie, I would be as proud of him as if he had married a virgin.

HAPPY GRANNY: ATLANTA, GA.

DEAR ABBY: I heard a good one the other day and would like to share it with you: A hippie couple were walking down the street. They both had long hair and were dressed in typical hippie attire, complete with beads, sandals and Indian headbands.

The fellow said to the girl: "I'm going over and pick up my unemployment check. Then I'll drop in at the university to see what's holding up my check for my federal education grant. After that I'll pick up our food stamps. Meanwhile, you go over to the free clinic and check your tests, pick up my new glasses at the health center, then go to the welfare department and apply for another increase on our eligibility limit."

"Then I'll meet you at 5 o'clock at the federal building for the mass demonstration against the rotten Establishment."

OVER THIRTY

DEAR OVER: Thanks for sharing. And now I'll share it with a couple million of my dearest friends.

Special Recognition Goes To 3 Music Majors From ECU

Three Greenville residents, music majors at East Carolina University were among 26 School of Music students honored as recipients of awards and scholarships and special recognition presented to 16 students from North Carolina, seven from Virginia, and one each from Georgia, Illinois and Maryland.

Ronald Kuhms of 1400 East 10th Street won the Earl E. Beach scholarship of $150 in music therapy.

Linda Pescatore, a resident of 409 West Fourth Street, was one of two ECU students to receive the Presser Foundation Scholarship of $200, she was also elected to Pi Kappa Lambda.

Vicki Slaymaker of 3000 Golden Road, a native of Kansas now a graduate student at ECU, was elected to membership in Pi Kappa Lambda, honorary society of musicians based on scholarships and service.

Other North Carolina recipients of various awards and scholarships are: Laura Anne McMillan, from Burlington, was presented one of five National Association of Teachers of Singing State Awards.

Sylvia Whitesell of Elon College received the Geneva Pollard vocal award given by the Greenville Women's Club. This is a $100 scholarship.

Mary Louise Spain of Route 1, Bath and Hempstead, N.Y. received a cash award of $150 from the National Federation of Music Clubs. The award was a result of her placing first in the State Piano auditions.

Betty Ann Worrall of Asheville received the Sigma Alpha Iota award for the highest scholastic average and the highest grade point average of music majors in the senior class.

Eric Benson, Reidsville, was state award winner of the Music Teachers National Association in the field of composition.

Al Valotta of Gary was recognized as the Outstanding Senior Music Major of the School of Music at ECU.

Janet Boyd, Raleigh, received the Chreston Holoman Memorial Scholarship of $300 for music therapy.

From Virginia, Jeannette Dameron of Abingdon was awarded the Sigma Alpha Iota Dean's Honor Award. Cathy Maccubbin, Chester, received the Pi Kappa Lambda honor recognition for excellence as an underclassman. Mark Gerhardt, of Newport News, was one of four ECU music students elected to Pi Kappa Lambda. Gerdardt was 1970-71 winner of the Sinfonia Foundation Scholarship of $200. Steve Koch of Richmond was state winner of a National Association of Teachers of Singing State Award. Also from Richmond, June Laine received a National Association of Teachers of Singing State Award and the Sinfonia Foundation Scholarship of $200. From Virginia Beach, Michael Parker and Marsha Lynn Wade were both scholarship winners, Michael for the ECU Resource Scholarship and Marsha the Charles A. White Applied Music scholarship.

From Decatur, Georgia, Michael S. Price was one of two recipients of the Presser Foundation Scholarship of $200. Linda Green of Ogden, Illinois, an ECU graduate student, was one of the state award winners presented by the Music Teachers National Association. Ronald Rudkin of Hyattsville, Maryland, received a Pi Kappa Lambda certificate of honor of excellence for underclassmen.

Scholars Again To Visit Campus

Scholarship Weekend at East Carolina University has been scheduled for October 30, 31 and November 1, according to Dr. William J. Byrd, chairman of the Scholarship Weekend Committee.

Scholarship Weekend at ECU is an annual event during which outstanding high school seniors are invited to visit the campus and meet students and faculty while visiting classrooms and participating in campus activities.

Students invited to participate are nominated by ECU alumni and high school principals.

PLANTERS INTRODUCES THE "ANYTHING-AT-ALL" LOAN. FOR GUESS WHAT.

Why do people borrow money?

They want to buy things. Or pay for things (which isn't necessarily the same thing). Like automobiles, boats, appliances, furniture, vacations, educational expenses or whatever.

Of course, some people have reasons for needing money which aren't quite so commonplace. Like the man who wanted to finance an expedition trip to Nairobi in search of an elephant burial place. Or the mother who lucked up on a genuine 1919 Victrola and gave it to her daughter to play records on. What a steal! (Except in those days records weren't flat.) Or the outdoorsman who wanted to convert a used fire truck into a camper. Or who knows what.

So Planters National Bank introduces an "anything-at-all" loan for just about anything at all. Planters will lend you money for any worthwhile reason. Just come by any convenient office and tell a Planters man about the money you need. Tell him how you want your loan arranged and select a due date for repayment that's convenient for you.

If you prefer, PNB can even automatically deduct the payments from your PNB checking account. (Which can come in handy if you're out of the country.) At no charge.

If your reasons for borrowing money are a little more average, but still important, your Planters man will be happy to talk with you about any of the following PNB loan plans:

Business Loans

PNB offers competitive rates. And loan officers with imagination and creativity to help shape your investment.

Home Loans

Planters can finance your new home quickly and conveniently with an FHA, VA or conventional loan.

Agricultural Loans

A long time specialty at Planters. Loans to finance land, equipment, livestock, crop production and a score of other agricultural needs. See us for the money and agricultural know-how to improve your operation.

Cash Guarantee and Master Charge

In addition, PNB offers the special services of Cash Guarantee Account... a private line of revolving credit you use by simply writing a check, and Master Charge... your personal charge account all over the world.

Of course, Planters also offers personal home-improvement and auto loans. So whatever you need money for, come in and talk to a Planters man. He'll tailor a loan plan to fit your individual budget and needs. And, if your reason for borrowing doesn't fit any of our conventional loan plans, we'll come up with an unconventional "anything-at-all" loan plan that can't miss.

After all, what's an "anything-at-all" loan for, anyway?

Education's Elder Statesman

North Carolina lost one of its most dedicated and farsighted leaders in the death of Irving E. Carlyle of Winston-Salem.

In many circles Irving Carlyle was viewed as an elder statesman in the field of higher education in North Carolina. His past service to the state well qualified him for such a classification. But in terms of vision, insight and planning for North Carolina, he was one of its youngest, most vigorous men even at the age of 74.

Although he perhaps was best known throughout the state for his leadership in higher education, the leadership he offered North Carolina went far beyond a single field. Through the years Irving Carlyle spoke his mind on matters of vital interest to the people of this state. The positions he took were not always the popular ones, but they were always sound. What he said was spoken in the quiet voice that was one of his trademarks, backed by thorough knowledge of his subject, weighed carefully in an incisive mind.

As a trustee of East Carolina University for the past eight years, he devoted himself and his talents to helping shape the policies and leadership of that institution during one of the most significant periods in its history.

He was one of the state's most prominent attorneys, but never gave up the unassuming ways of a country lawyer. He was one of the state's most prestigious leaders, yet he never lost the quality of couching the most complicated and complex problems of the state in terms rank and file citizens could readily understand.

North Carolina is a much better state today because of the unselfish and dedicated leadership Irving Carlyle offered to it and its people.

Nation Better Off if Migration Stemmed

The nation will be better off if, as a Department of Agriculture spokesman says, the migration from southern rural areas has been stemmed.

Calvin L. Beal, a population researcher for the USDA says that people are returning from the cities to the rural communities.

The new trend follows one in the 1950s when the population flow was out of the rural South.

However, Beale did say that he expects to see migrations continue from the South's tobacco growing regions because of mechanization on tobacco farms.

It is possible, though, that this change will be off set by industrial jobs taking up the surplus farm labor. A good way of life is to live on the farm while holding a job in industry or commerce.

Peace Setback In Middle East

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Although the U.S. has now received private word from Cairo that the new Soviet - Egyptian treaty has not and will not affect President Nixon's plan for an interim settlement along the Suez Canal, that assurance ignores the prospect of dangerous new escalation of the Middle East arms race.

What is expected here is a new round of Soviet arms shipments to Cairo. In themselves, these new arms probably would affect the so-called military balance between Israel and Egypt only marginally, if at all. But if the military effect is only marginal, the psychological and political impact could be disastrous for the Nixon administration's wise, patient courtship of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and the Arab world.

The reason: new Soviet arms for Egypt would bring extreme political pressure on President Nixon, particularly from his Democratic Presidential rivals, to retaliate by ending the U.S. embargo on new arms sales to Israel. That reversal of Administration policy would turn the whole Arab world against the U.S. once again.

In short, the new Moscow - Cairo treaty, with its heavy emphasis on "strengthening the defense capacity" of Egypt, has now handed the Russians a lethal new weapon to reverse the pro - American atmosphere in Cairo. Nothing can accomplish that reversal more quickly than screaming headlines in Arab newspapers and emotional commentaries over Radio Cairo about compensating U.S. arms to the hated Israelis whose troops now occupy one-tenth of Egypt.

Both the State Department, which has been running Mideast policy in this Administration, and the White House are fully aware of this political danger. They have also known for two years that a cardinal tenet of Soviet policy in the Arab world is to keep hostility between the Arabs and the U.S. at the highest possible pitch short of a shooting war. Accordingly, the immediate reaction in the White House to the news, fully expected, of new Soviet arms shipments to Egypt will be an effort to keep the lid both on the Israeli government and on American politicians. But that course is fraught with political danger to President Nixon.

For example, leaders of the American - Jewish community are already incensed about what they regard as the tough, heavy - handed treatment accorded Prime Minister Golda Meir by Secretary of State William P. Rogers in their first meeting in Jerusalem May 27.

Hostility between the Prime Minister and the Secretary was so intense that Defense Minister Moshe Dayan and Assistant Secretary of State Joseph Sisco had to meet privately for two hours to work out an agenda before the second meeting could be held in Tel Aviv the next day.

Although that second meeting was a distinct success, Rogers's total

Strength For Today

SERIOUS

The course of education is assuming such terrifying proportions today that we wonder what may happen to our country's intelligence and planning. One large university announces that it will end the year with a two hundred million deficit. There are more teachers today seeking employment than there are places open for them to start working.

This strikes at the very basis of liberty and wholesome living. Take away our schools and you will take away our souls. As matters stand in free and democratic countries, there can be no liberty and security without adequate school systems. From the first grade through graduate and professional school the terrifying plea goes up that schools of all varieties need more money. In some instances the cause of our present school situation is the result of inefficiency on the part of those who manage our schools. But this is only a small and almost insignificant factor in today's education picture. Fifty years ago there were tens of thousands of young people working their way through college. There still are multitudes engaged in such endeavor. But turmoil seems pretty general on the streets, playgrounds and campuses of the nation.

It is easy enough to dismiss the situation with the statement that the younger generation is lawless and out of hand and the older generation plain stupid. But this is not true. One aspect of the present-day educational picture is the fact that there isn't enough money available to keep our educational institutions working at a high degree of efficiency. We have to start cutting the dollar over again. Every housewife knows this — every banker, every professional man. The word "bind" has come to have a significance in modern life. Educationally our nation is in a bind.

A Rein For The Judges

Virginia's Harry F. Byrd, Jr., having nothing better to do on a dull day in the Senate, came up last week with a proposal that lovers of the law may want to have a look at. He proposes a constitutional amendment that would abolish life tenure for Federal judges, in favor of recurring terms of eight years.

The Senator's resolution has no more chance of approval than John Lindsay's proposal for city - states. The principle of life tenure is entrenched in Article III of the Constitution: "The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior." It is highly unlikely that Byrd will be able to talk the Judiciary Committee into even holding a hearing on his plan.

Even so, the Virginia Senator's proposal merits thoughtful discussion. The mechanics are simple. Eight years after being sworn in, a Federal judge automatically would be subject to reconfirmation by the Senate. If a majority voted "aye," the judge would have another eight years; if a majority voted "nay," the judge would be retired at once on full pay, and the President would nominate a replacement. The amendment would not apply to sitting judges.

Byrd's reasoning is that the Constitution now provides no workable restraint upon the Federal judiciary as a whole, and especially upon the Supreme Court. In theory, a member of the high court can be impeached, but as Jefferson often remarked, impeachment is a scarecrow. The philosophical composition of the Court can be changed by increasing or decreasing its membership; its appellate jurisdiction can be limited, in theory, by simple act of Congress. None of these supposed checks, in practice, has any value.

Ninety-nine men have served on the Court. If Byrd's plan had been written into the original Constitution, and all members had won routine reconfirmation, 27 Justices would have gone through the process once. Twenty - one, who served more than 16 years, would have been reconfirmed twice. Twelve would have gone through a Senate vote three times, and eight would have been four times subject to review.

If Byrd's proposal had been adopted in the mid - thirties, to offer a specific example, the Senate would have confirmed William O. Douglas in April of 1939 for an eight - year term. His name would have come up automatically in 1947, 1955, and 1963, and so, it would have been sent to the Senate once more on April 4, 1971. Would a majority of the Senate have voted this spring to grant Douglas a fresh eight - year term? It might have been a very close thing.

The objections to Byrd's plan are rooted in the concept of an "independent judiciary." The concept approaches an article of religious faith; and if judges

Other Editors Say Garbage Problems

(Washington Daily News)

How to dispose of garbage seems to be such a simple problem that many people just do not take time to give it adequate thinking.

For some 200 years garbage somehow has been disposed of, and many people just look at this matter, not in terms of it being any problem, but rather in terms of it being a routine thing.

Today when the problems of environment are being accentuated in the minds of many people, when pollution is an issue which is becoming more talked about every day, and when clean air and water are in the spotlight, what to do about our everyday garbage must take on more than passing interest.

Most towns and cities today have regular plans for garbage disposal. There are regular garbage pickups, and in many cases elaborate facilities have been purchased and installed to handle the problem.

In some towns and cities it is just a matter of picking up garbage and dumping it in some pit or on some dumping ground.

But more and more people are coming to the realization that over North Carolina some new and more modern methods of disposal must be realized. This is particularly true in rural areas which today do not have garbage pickups and garbage disposal plans.

Maybe we do have more garbage today than ever before. We hear it said that we do. In rural areas where there is no regular garbage disposal plans, the time is coming when counties over the state must come face to face with the problems.

The younger generation is going to demand that raw sewage and garbage not be thrown out in the open, and we must remember that the very younger generation now making the demands will before long be in the saddle and be making the decisions. Already in recent elections over the state many young people ran for office and were elected.

These young people keep saying "we are going to be handed this world, and we demand that we have some voice now in determining what shape it will be in when we get it."

We look for more and more counties to take definite steps in this matter of better garbage disposal. We suspect that the tempo of the times will be such that one day we shall have to embark upon an entirely different course brought about through the changing of the guard.

Garbage disposal today is more of a major problem than many people believe.

A Long Wait Period

By PEACE STERLING

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's a long, long way from the night you decide to get married to the day the rings are slipped on, and being just halfway there, I'm feeling like something of a cross between a blushing bride and a hard-nosed personnel manager.

It all began when he proposed, and the only thing we had to toast each other with was oysters on the half shell. By the time our luscious dinner of lobster and wine finally arrived, we were too excited to eat a bite.

Then we had to tell my parents. I thought it would be the revelation of the ages, and all my mother said was, "I knew it." When my newly announced husband-to-be called his mother, all I heard was, "Mom, I'm getting married." And the next thing I heard him say was, "No—not tomorrow."

We came up with a date for the big event eight months in the future. I figured there would be plenty of time for the "minor" preparations, since we only wanted a small wedding. Little did I know.

I had no sooner gotten back to work than the "mailed approach" began—with great packets arriving every day from my parents—full of information on china, crystal, decorating your first home and most important—recipes for beginners.

However, the folks soon gave up trying to communicate with me by mail, and the "phone approach" began.

But since I ended up talking more to my mother, my father soon began calling me at work on Monday mornings for equal time. Then, in the middle of the week my grandparents would call.

I did become the recipient of a beautiful diamond ring. Only trouble was it was about three sizes too big. I had to con a jeweler into cutting it down for me on the spot.

Not long ago we went back home for an engagement party—replete with more confusion.

I am getting used to the constant hassle. However my bridegroom is just now starting to become traumatized. He'll be all right though—as soon as he stops having his recurring nightmare about losing his shoes and having to war combat boots to the wedding.

Now 1,200 Bills Offered In House Given Attention

By SAM D. BUNDY

By the time you read this there will have been introduced in the House 1,200 bills. Many have been passed, some have been killed in committee, some are still being studied in committee, and about 225 have been turned over to the Appropriations Committee where some will receive attention of a sort and others will die a natural death.

Two bills of state-wide importance were passed by the House last week. The first one was the so-called Consumer Bill, which was introduced early in the session and has been under study ever since. The committee and subcommittee knocked out many objectionable features.

However, the feeling is that it will still have rough sledding in the Senate.

The other bill passed by the House which is of state-wide significance was the mandatory licensing of Day-Care Centers. This has been a hot issue for the last two or three sessions. The frankness in his conversations with Israeli leaders angered not only the Israelis but some of their friends in the U.S. Congress. Thus, any new Soviet arms shipments are likely to be seized on by pro-Israeli Democrats — three specific examples are Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, Henry M. Jackson of Washington, and Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut — as evidence that Rogers's policy of pressuring Israel to withdraw from the Suez Canal amounts to selling out Israel, to Moscow's advantage.

The corollary to that will be a bipartisan domestic political campaign demanding that Mr. Nixon retaliate in kind by immediately meeting Israel's long-standing request for new military assistance from the U.S.

It is precisely this prospective scenario that now troubles Mr. Nixon's top advisers on the Middle East. The fact that the new Soviet-Egyptian treaty puts the initiative in Moscow's hands simply heightens the danger.

Ever since last August, when the Egyptians violated the ceasefire along the Suez Canal, Mr. Nixon has played cool, canny politics in the Arab-Israeli struggle. The new treaty binding Cairo and Moscow threatens to take the play away from the President and put it back in Moscow, giving the Russians far greater power than before to cut the fragile ties between the U.S. and Egypt.

Kilpatrick Col.

were themselves divine, it would be heresy even to consider the Senator's resolution. But judges are mortal. They are good and bad, lazy and industrious, wise and stupid; some have a sense of restraint, and some have a lust for power. They are the final arbiters on the supreme law of the land. Why is it so blasphemous to suggest that every eight years their performance be subject to review?

In my own nonage, when first I fell in love with the Constitution, I bought the concept of life tenure heart and soul. In the past few years, second thoughts have come along. I am reassured by the presence of good company in this sea change: Jefferson, in 1776, strongly endorsed the "good behavior" clause. By 1823, he had concluded that judges should be named for specific terms "with a capacity for reappointment if their conduct has been approved."

Byrd's proposal, if it draws any comment at all, doubtless will be denounced as radical and revolutionary. In his own view, it is wholly conservative: He is seeking to conserve the original concept of three co-equal branches of government, each restraining another. When he contends that in recent years the Court repeatedly has usurped the legislative power, he will find many scholars in agreement.

All the States except Massachusetts, I believe, limit their highest appellate judges to specific terms, subject to reconfirmation. The system seems to work well for them. It just possibly might improve the Federal courts as well.

rapid growth and expansion of Day Care Facilities has caused this service to become a large business state-wide. This bill will call for licensing and certain regulations as to health and sanitary conditions, fire hazards, etc. It will not apply in case there are less than six children involved. Many cities have already set up certain standards and regulations, and it was felt that it was time to do it state-wide.

Restructuring of higher education is getting a lot of attention and public hearings will soon be held. A resolution is being circulated to have a professional study made by a group from outside the State. Some think it is too late in the session to give it careful and considerate attention. Governor Scott wants it done now. We shall see.

Finally, it was a pleasure and privilege along with Senator White and Representative Rountree to attend the Governor's Conference Room, the Governor's Award Presentation to Grifton. This is an award given through the Division of Commerce and Industry for towns meeting certain criteria and standards that should make them attractive to industry. The award was made by Robert E. Leak and was received by Mayor David Bosley. It was heart warming to see several fine citizens of Grifton on hand for this event. Thirty-six such awards have been given so far and three of the thirty-six have been in Pitt County, namely, Grifton, Winterville, and Ayden.

Oil Confinement Tests Are Held

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — The Coast Guard has completed two weeks of successful preliminary testing of a new oil containment barrier and full scale tests are scheduled for late this month in the Gulf of Mexico.

The tests were conducted off the North Carolina coast, first at 10 miles out to sea and then at 50 miles out. The tests were made with a 1,000-foot nylon barrier designed to be dropped by aircraft to prevent the spread of oil spilled from ships.

Soybean oil will be used in the Gulf of Mexico tests and the barrier will be towed while observers record its performance in confining the oil.

Merchants Face Risks

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Misapplication of the recent amendments to the shoplifting law "can lead to loss of customers, loss of friends of customers and families of customers" North Carolina merchants were told Monday.

Thompson Greenwood of Raleigh, executive vice president of the North Carolina Merchants Association, told the group's annual convention there that they should be as reasonable about the new law "as they have the existing law."

The new law, which permits retailers to detain suspected shoplifters on the premises, goes into effect July 1.

Association attorney Thomas Bunn of Raleigh said the law "is the most misunderstood, most misrepresented and most maligned piece of legislation to be passed in the 1971 legislative session."

Bunn said the law was basically the same as an earlier version. The major difference was that merchants will not face possible lawsuits if they detain a suspected shoplifter and have reasonable grounds for believing the persons detained has shoplifted on that occasion.

Susan Hill To Be Kept Singing During Summer

Susan (Susie) Hill, a rising senior at Rose High School, is a delighted young singer. Over the week-end she received notification she is the recipient of a National Youth Chorus scholarship, one that will keep her singing for most of the summer.

SUSAN HILL

"I couldn't believe it," the tall brunette teen-ager said about receiving the news. "Miss Hoffer had said I'd know by the end of May if I had been chosen, so I had not expected to hear anything more." Miss Louise Hoffer is voice teacher and chorus director at Rose High School.

From June 28 through August 22 Susie will be in Washington, D.C., engaged in an intensive training and singing schedule at the College of Arts and Sciences of the American University.

Susie is one of 105 recipients of the music scholarship. Boys and girls from nearly every state in the nation will be attending the summer session. Two other North Carolinians have been selected, Gail Sharpe, a soprano and Allen Fox, bass.

"I know Gail," Susie commented, "she was in Governor's School at the same time I was there last summer."

"I'm an Alto one," she said, explaining the one means "I sing a bit higher than some altos."

Susie has been active in singing groups at Rose High since she entered high school. "I've been in the chorus for three years," she said, "and was in the ensemble this year. I've also been singing with the Birodjanjes Singers."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Hill, Susie has been living most of her life in Greenville. "I was born in Greensboro," she noted, "but I moved here when I was only four, so Greenville is home."

At American University, Susie will face a rather tight training schedule. She has been instructed to be prepared for four hours rehearsals daily, plus a suggestion she attend other classes in other programs. Susie and the 104 other scholarship students will also be engaged in

Scales Opposes Deconsolidation

WINSTON-SALEM (AP) — Dr. James R. Scales, president of Wake Forest University, says he opposes deconsolidation of the University of North Carolina, which has been recommended by Gov. Bob Scott.

He referred to the issue in a eulogy to Irving E. Carlyle, former chairman of Wake Forest trustees, who died Saturday.

Pepsi-Cola In One-Hit Upset

The Graniteers were knocked off their perch yesterday as Pepsi-Cola handed them a 3-0 defeat their first loss of the year.

The Graniteers, however, still are in firm control of first place in the Tar Heel League with an 8-1 record. Pepsi is in second place with a 5-4 mark, followed by the Elks at 4-4. They are trailed by the Moose and Exchange, both 3-5, and Integon, 2-6.

John Coffman tossed the victory for Pepsi, allowing only one hit by the Graniteers. That came when Steve Manning led off the second with a single. Coffman struck out eight and walked none as he came within the hit of a perfect game. Manning was the only Graniteer to reach base.

All three of the Pepsi runs came in the third inning. Perry Worthington led off with a single and Michael Dyer slapped a two-run homer.

MacDonald Avery followed with a double and Michael Shank walked. Mark Conway reached on a fielder's choice and Joey Cherry singled to score Avery with the final run.

Pepsi didn't offer another threat during the game.

NCNB Regains Lead In Babe Ruth League

North Carolina National Bank moved back into the lead in the Babe Ruth League last night with a 7-6 victory over Carolina Dairy. In the other game, College View took a 9-4 victory over Pepsi-Cola.

NCNB now holds a 5-2 record, while Home Builders is right behind at 4-2. They are followed by Carolina Dairy, 4-3, Pepsi and College View, both 3-4, and Planters Bank, 1-5.

NCNB took the lead with two runs in the first. Steve Fuchs walked and Donnie Haddock brough him in with a homer.

Three more crossed in the second. Jack Jenkins singled and George Martin reached on an error. Al Heath was hit by a pitch, loading the bases and a single to Phil Dash brought in both Jenkins and Martin. A passed ball scored Heath.

In the third, another NCNB run scored, making it 6-0. Pat Clark reached on a fielder's choice and went to second on an error. Both Jenkins and Martin were hit by pitches, loading the bases. Fuchs walked, forcing in Clark with the run.

In the fourth, Carolina Dairy started to rally, scoring a run. Bobby Jones singled and Dickie Johnson walked. Wayne Miller singled to drive in Jones.

The fifth saw another Carolina Dairy runner score. Griff Garner was hit by a pitch and stole second. He scored when Jones reached on an error.

In the bottom of the fifth, NCNB scored its final run, giving them a 7-2 lead. Gil Whitford singled and was sacrificed to second. He scored when Kelly Heath reached on an error.

Carolina Dairy came back with four runs in the sixth to close within one run. Dickie Johnson singled and stole second, scoring on Ronnie Garris' hit. Wesley Deal walked and David Clifton reached on a fielder's choice that got Garris at third. John Causey reached on an error, scoring Deal, and Garner doubled in Clifton and Causey, but the rally was snuffed out there.

Garner had two hits for Carolina Dairy, while Haddock had a pair for NCNB.

College View jumped away to a 5-0 lead in the bottom of the first inning in the second game. Bobby Kittrell singled and moved up on a passed ball. Keith Jones reached on a fielder's choice and Robert Boles cleared the bases with a three-run homer. Ken Tetterton reached on an error and was sacrificed to second. Lee Moore then came up with the second homer of the inning.

In the third, College View added three more. Jimmy Buck reached on an error and Ed Clark walked. Jimmy Averett finished things off with the third homer of the evening for the team.

Pepsi-Cola came up with four runs to cut the lead to 8-4 in the fourth. Bobby Dough singled and Bill Ellington walked. T. J. Payne reached on an error and Leavy Brock walked, bringing in Dough. Pete Cullop singled to score Ellington, and Al Salisbury's walk brought in Payne. Chuck Brown's walk scored Lee with the final Pepsi run.

The last College View run came in the fifth. Clark scored it with the fourth homer of the night.

Cullop, Salisbury and Ellington each had two for Pepsi, while Kittrell had three and Moore had two for College View.

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor
Greenville's American Legion Post 39 baseball team spotted Kinston a pair of runs then came roaring back to take a 10-6 victory over their guests last night at Harrington Field.

It was the first night game held at the newly lighted East Carolina University baseball field. And Kinston may have wished they'd waited a little longer. The win was the second in two days for the Greenville team and raised their overall mark to 2-1. They now stand 1-0 in their conference.

Kinston pushed out into the lead in the first inning getting a run. With one out Marion Harrington got a double down the left field line. He moved to third on an out and scored when Donnie Hatcher reached on an error.

In the second Kinston came up with another run. Mike Howard walked with one away and moved to second on a wild pitch. Dick Riggs then doubled to drive him across, making it 2-0.

Greenville started its comeback in the third inning. Bryon Dickens singled to deep short and then stole second. He moved to third on Bill Lee's errored grounder and then scored when Phil Blount laid down a perfect bunt on the suicide squeeze.

The fourth inning saw Greenville tie it up. Russ Smith hit a hit a high pop-up to third. The fielder however lost the ball and it fell just behind him for a hit. Joe West followed with a double to center scoring Smith to tie the game at 2-2.

The Legionaires came up with three more runs in the fifth to pull away from Kinston. J.C. Daniels led off with a single to right, and Bill Lee cracked a hit into left. Blount followed with a triple into the hole in center field, scoring both Daniels and Lee. West hit another high pop to the infield and both the second baseman and shortstop camped under it, then let it drop between them untouched and Blount raced home.

The sixth inning saw four more come across, running the lead out to 9-2. Dickens reached on an error and Daniels got another single. Lee ripped a single off the third-baseman, and when the ball was relayed to home, it was errored, and Dickens streaked home with the first run of the inning. Blount followed with a double to right, scoring Daniels and Lee again. Jimmy Paige added another double, this one to left, scoring Blount with the ninth Greenville run.

Kinston, with the help of two Greenville errors, made a comeback in the seventh, closing it to 9-6 with four runs scoring. Don Mills reaced on an error and Bryan Barrow walked. Mike Howard singled to load the bases and David Flowers hit into a fielder's choice, getting Howard at second, but scoring Mills. Riggs then singled to left, bringing in Barrow. Charles Leto reached on an error that brought in both Flowers and Riggs.

Greenville picked up one more run in the eighth. Daniels tripled to right and scored on another hit by Blount, his sixth run batted in of the evening.

Dickens, in hurling the win, gave up only four hits in 6 1-3 innings. He struck out 11 and walked two. Glen Forbes in relief, struck out five and walked none in hitless work. Only two of the Kinston runs were earned.

Greenville will be seeking its second conference win as it entertains Tarboro at Harrington Field on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Yas Leads In All-Star Vote

NEW YORK (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, Boston's brilliant left fielder, is the top vote-getter in the early American League All-Star balloting and other established veterans lead the way at every position.

First returns in the nationwide poll of baseball fans, released Monday by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn's office, show Yastrzemski leading all candidates with 31,645 votes.

He is followed in the outfield voting by Minnesota's Tony Oliva, the current AL batting and home run pace-setter, and Baltimore's Frank Robinson.

Behind Yastrzemski in the over-all balloting are two other Orioles—first baseman Boog Powell, with 28,458 votes, and third baseman Brooks Robinson, with 27,818.

Other leaders, by position, are second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota, shortstop Luis Aparicio of Boston and catcher Bill Freehan of Detroit.

All the front-runners have been All-Star starters in the past.

Powell, batting under .200, leads Detroit's Norm Cash by more than 20,000 votes in the first base race.

ATLANTA (AP) — Ted Simmons, resolving an argument-filled 10th inning, got what he considered an undeserved chance to drive home the winning run Monday night, enabling the St. Louis Cardinals to maintain their half-game lead in the National League East.

"The umpires were 0-for-4," said losing pitcher Bob Priddy of Atlanta.

The latter play brought a heated argument from Atlanta first baseman Orlando Cepeda, who was ejected by umpire Bob Engel.

The Braves, using four hits each by Hank Aaron, Ralph Garr and Zoilo Versalles, coasted into the ninth with a 6-2 lead. Right-hander Ron Reed, who had held the Cards to five hits, was touched for four before Priddy replaced him.

Ted Sizemore knocked Reed out of the game with a two-run double after two were out. Jerry McNertney greeted Priddy with a two-run double on an 0-2 pitch to tie it.

Pittsburgh had moved into a tie with the Cardinals in the NL East with its afternoon victory in the free-swinging affair at Chicago.

Four homers, helped by 20-mile-per-hour winds, sailed out of Wrigley Field. All were two-run blows—by Stargell, Al Oliver and Bob Robertson of the Pirates and Billy Williams of the Cubs.

Stargell also stroked a run-scoring single, lifting his league-leading RBI total to 53.

Priddy disputed Steiner's first call of the inning that Maty Alou had been hit by a pitch. Alou stole second after the bunt attempt and then scored to give the Cardinals a 7-6 victory.

"Monsignor Henry Ward, on our Scientific Marriage Foundation Board of Directors, apparently knew this."

"For he mailed me a very uplifting, spiritual type of card. 'So you might remind your millions of readers that when their loved ones are in the Valley of the Shadow of Death, they such part of working hours that our people are the major market for circus clowns as well as verbal comedians on TV and the stage."

In Red China or Communist Russia, plus the other larger nations of this earth, life is real and earnest, so people struggle long hours just to get a minimum of 2 square meals daily.

Can you imagine the starving Biafrans as laughing at jokes? For when men and women are mingled together in the crowd, they exert a reciprocal stimulating effect on each other. Then the same joke will evoke maybe twice as much laughter as when told to a one-sex audience, composed solely of either men or of women alone!

The art of bidding slams is nothing more or less than being able to count up to 12 tricks. There is one additional proviso that it is also essential to determine with reasonable certainty that the opposition is not in position to cash two quick tricks at the outset. An excellent case in point is presented today.

The first round of bidding is routine. North's hand is a shade shy of the requirements for an immediate jump raise since his holding is worth only 12 points in support of hearts, counting high cards and distribution. There is the further consideration that with such a heavy concentration of his strength in spades—that suit is well worth mentioning initially.

South has 19 points and he is well within himself in making a jump rebid of three hearts. North's next bid is the key call of the auction. If he routinely carries on to four hearts, South will be obliged to retire inasmuch as his jump on the previous round was merely an invitation to go on to game. Once that invitation is accepted South must quit, because partner may have only 7 or 8 points.

Inasmuch as North has a good deal more, he should at this point show some signs of strength by making a slam try. He has already bid spades and there is nothing else to tell partner about except the trump fit. The proper bid by North then is a raise beyond game to five hearts. The rest is up to South.

Since South has something to spare for his three heart bid and because he has first round control of both unbid suits, he is fully warranted in persisting to slam.

The play proceeds as follows: West opens the deuce of diamonds and East puts in the ten to dislodge declarer's ace. South draws trumps with the ace and king, then crosses over to dummy with the queen of spades in order to ruff out the remaining diamond.

The ace and king of spades are cashed and on the third round, East shows out. Now a fourth round of spades is led, however, instead of ruffing in his hand, South merely discards the seven of clubs. West is in with the ten of spades and his forced return of either a club into the ace-queen, or a diamond which presents declarer with a ruff and sluff—gives the latter his 12th trick.

Final Exhibit At Art Center For Season To Open

The final art exhibit at the Greenville Art Center for the 1970-1971 season is opening Thursday evening June 10, with a reception for the two artists beginning at 8:00 p.m. and continuing until 10:00 p.m.

Mary Ann Pennington Walker and Alan Rhodes are having a joint show at the Greenville Art Center and are being honored at the evening reception.

Both artists are teachers in the art program of the Pitt County Public Schools this year.

Mrs. Edith Walker, director of the center, noted the evening reception, the first such held at the center, was being held during evening hours because of the warm weather.

Fears, Tension Running High In W. Bengal As Cholera Deaths Mount

By SANTOSH BASAK
KRISHNAGAR, India (AP) — India's West Bengal State is short of police because so many are guarding the rivers to keep the bodies of cholera victims from being thrown in.

According to conservative official estimates, the week-old epidemic among refugees from East Pakistan has taken at least 4,000 lives, half in the Nadia district surrounding Krishnagar.

The 200,000 residents of Krishnagar, 60 miles northeast of Calcutta, are tense.

Rumors spread daily that Pakistani agents from across the border 20 miles away are emptying bottles of cholera germs into the local water supplies to make the epidemic spread faster.

A crowd of 500 persons beat a Moslem to death Monday at the Krishnagar railway station after a report that he had emptied a small bottle into a roadside well.

D. K. Ghosh, the district magistrate of Krishnagar, said it is true the rivers are being polluted but it is caused by the bodies of cholera victims thrown in by relatives for quick burial. He said that so many police were now deployed to guard the rivers against this that there is a shortage of police to enforce law and order. With the state's population increased by at least 4½ million refugees from East Pakistan and with hundreds of thousands more coming across the frontiers each week, the West Bengal government asked other states to lend it at least 20 battalions of police.

Most of the cholera victims have been Hindus, who normally are cremated. But a shortage of firewood and fuel makes the traditional rituals impossible.

The district magistrate said he had ordered mass burial for at least 1,600 persons. Hindus and Moslems have been buried together in three mass graves in the Nadia district.

The biggest is at Badadurpur, in a government forest seven miles from Krishnagar, where 511 bodies have been buried in a pit.

Ghosh estimated that by last Sunday, 1,079 persons had died of cholera in hospitals in the Nadia district and an equal number had perished along the roads and in villages.

About 75 new victims are admitted to hospitals each, but with 4,800 cholera patients already under treatment, there is a shortage of hospital space.

There also is a shortage of saline water—cholera cases need at least eight quarts a day for three days—and of cholera vaccine.

Ghosh said he needs more medical personnel as well, that about 1,000 government employees are caring for approximately 500,000 refugees in the district.

Two To Receive Certificates Of Appreciation

RALEIGH (AP) — Two Pitt County students are among the 75 Peace College students who will receive certificates of appreciation from Gov. Bob Scott this week.

The personally signed certificates, which also bear the state seal in gold, will be awarded to each participant in the Capitol Heritage Festival observed on the grounds of the State Capitol April 28.

The Peace students performed as members of the college choir under the direction of Raymond Kreiner and the dance troupe under the direction of Jody Sultive.

Receiving certificates were: Connie Nobles of Ayden; and Pat Dennis of Bethel.

WINGATE — The academic honor roll at Wingate College has just been released for the spring semester.

Students from Greenville included on the honor roll were: Louis W. Gaylord and William C. Bilbro.

Students appearing on the honor roll have earned at least a 3.3 grade point average, have carried a full study load of at least 12 hours, and have no grade below a C in any work attempted.

FOR WAR REPORTERS
HELSINKI (UPI) — The International Press Institute said Sunday it will issue a special safety card and badge to war correspondents in Southeast Asia and other war areas later this year.

RALEIGH (AP) — A Republican legislator wants the General Assembly to cut $39 million from the recommended budget for capital improvements and transfer the money to the public schools.

Rep. Dempsey McDaniel, R-Forsyth, said the bill he introduced Monday night "is simply a recognition that some of the funds budgeted for higher education buildings could be more profitably spent in building a future for North Carolina boys and girls."

McDaniel noted that Gov. Bob Scott has recommended a record capital outlay budget of $149 million — $56.5 million for higher education.

"The state's first responsibility is to the more than 1,000,000 public school students in North Carolina," he said. "We have great institutions of higher learning in North Carolina, and we should be proud of them. But it is time to redefine our priorities in accordance with our present needs. The average student in our public school system never has a chance to profit from those fine colleges and universities."

He said the money should be used for improving occupational education in the secondary and high schools to prepare "that majority of students that is not college-bound" for productive jobs.

In other action the House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to revise the state's drug laws to provide stiffer penalties for pushers and more leniency for young drug users. The measure had passed second reading last Friday.

Both houses received two more bills to implement recommendations of a study commission on auto liability insurance. One would set up an uninsured motorist fund. Persons who did not wish to buy auto liability insurance would pay $50 into the fund, and the money would be divided among insurance companies to offset their losses from wrecks caused by uninsured motorists.

The other bill would revise the assigned risk plan so that the commissioner of insurance could put a surcharge on the rates to drivers in this plan, based on the loss experience of the plan itself.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill to exempt the retirement benefits of military personnel age 60 or older from taxation.

Sen. William Mills, D-Onslow, told the Senate the bill would cost the state some $450,000 in taxes during the biennium but would encourage more retired military personnel to settle in the state.

The Senate also passed a bill which would allow wives who supported their families to claim their husband's $2,000 state income tax exemption if the husband agreed to the arrangement.

Sen. John Burney, D-New Hanover, said the bill — sponsored by Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston — would do away with "one of the worst inequities" in the present tax laws. Burney, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said the bill would cost the state $5 million during the next biennium.

The Senate passed and sent to the House a bill by Sen. Eddie Knox, D-Mecklenburg, that would allow a school principal and district superintendent to suspend a pupil for the remainder of a school term after the pupil had been suspended twice.

Monday Saw 2 Accidents

Almost $1,000 property damage resulted from two traffic mishaps investigated here yesterday afternoon.

Police reported Linwood Earl Joyner, 19 of 1302 West Sixth St. was charged with failing to see his intended movement could be made in safety and driving without a license following investigation of a three-vehicle collision about 4:15 p.m. on Darden Drive.

Investigators reported the Joyner car backed into a parked car owned by Matthew Price of Route 3, Washington, causing the Price vehicle to strike another parked car owned by Johnnie Tucker of Route 1, Bethel.

Damage was set at $200 to the Joyner car, $300 to the Price vehicle and $100 to the Tucker vehicle.

Welsey K. Persinger, 21 of Quincy, Ohio, was charged with improper passing following investigation of a 3:20 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fifth and Reade Streets.

Police reported the Persinger car collided with a car driven by Harold Gray Barrier, 19 of Rockwell and resulted in an estimated $200 damage to the Barrier car and $150 damage to the Persinger vehicle.

No injuries were reported.

Books Exhibited On ECU Campus

An exhibit of books is being sponsored by the School of Education at East Carolina University today through Thursday.

The exhibit, co-sponsored and presented by the North Carolina Bookman's Association, is designed to display to students, teachers and administrators the books available for use in their classes.

The exhibit, open to all interested persons, will be held in the Education - Psychology building on the ECU campus. All major book companies and publishers will be represented.

New Standards Bill 'Too Fast'

RALEIGH (AP) — Proposed changes in the minimum living standards for migrant farm labor housing would be "too big a bite at one time," according to Sen. George Wood, D-Camden.

The proposals in a bill introduced by Sen. Zeb Alley, D-Haywood, would cost the farmers more than they can afford, said Wood, himself an owner of a migrant camp.

The bill would add to requirements for the operation of migrant labor camps which were enacted in 1963. For example, it would require camp owners to provide laundry and heating facilities and to put back doors on cottages.

And it would require that the cottages provide 40 square feet per person living in them, and that the workers have access to kitchen facilities such as stoves and refrigerators.

Wood said he feared the new requirements, if put into effect immediately would drive farmers to lease the camps to migrant leaders for a nominal fee and thus escape all state health regulations.

Such leases sprang up in upper New York State labor camps after the New York legislature stiffened regulations several years ago, he said.

Wood said he was in favor of improving the conditions of migrants but this should be done gradually, to spread the expense over several years.

"We should have upgraded them all along," he said.

The number of migrant camps such as Wood's has declined in recent years because of the decrease in the need for laborers brought by increased use of machinery.

But Dennis Hodges, head of the Farm Placement Office in Henderson County, said the decline in the number of camps is a good reason to impose strict standards now.

"Now is the time to do it," he said, "because any camps that we use here after this season will have to be built from the ground up. They can field them to standards to start with."

Producing Food From Crude Oil

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — It's likely to be quite a while before anyone asks how want your petroleumburger cooked. But progress is being made in producing food from crude oil.

Oil company scientists are moving ahead slowly but steadily in their efforts to help ease a growing shortage of high-grade protein food.

They have been working in their laboratories for quite a number of years, and finally some plants of modest size have been built to turn out the synthetic food on a commercial basis.

In the simplest terms, organisms—yeasts and bacteria—are grown on a diet of petroleum to produce single-cell protein—SCP—with nutritional value comparable to meat.

These microbes—the yeasts and bacteria—biochemically change petroleum hydrocarbons into protein with dazzling speed.

As an example, a 1,000-pound steer can make about one pound of useful protein in one day's growth, but 1,000 pounds of microbes can make 4,000 pounds of protein in a day.

Hi! I am a Texas Topper!

Cheaper in the long run.

Gas will never cost you much. (You'll get up to 27 miles to the gallon.)

And the amount of oil you use is like a drop in the bucket. (It only takes 2.7 quarts and almost never needs more between changes.)

And the engine is air-cooled, so you don't have to spend a red cent for anti-freeze or rust inhibitors.

And you get more than your money's worth out of a set of tires.

But don't think buying a new Volkswagen is just another get-rich-quick scheme.

You have to wait until the second set of tires wear out.

Vote On Repeal Of Drinks Tax

RALEIGH (AP)—The House Finance Committee was scheduled to vote today on a bill to repeal the one-cent tax on soft drinks in North Carolina.

The bill was introduced Feb. 26 and has been in the House Finance Committee ever since. A public hearing on the measure was held in May.

The day the bill was introduced by Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, it was immediately followed by a bill from Rep. Perry Martin, D-Northampton, to increase the soft drink tax to two cents. This measure is in the same committee.

The soft drink tax was enacted by the 1969 General Assembly.

Williamston Mayor And Town Board Installed

WILLIAMSTON — Mayor N. C. Green and the five town commissioners of Williamston's Town Board were installed in a ceremony held last night as part of the regular June meeting.

Sworn in during the ceremony were Mayor Green and Town Commissioners Wilbur D. Edwards, G. C. Griffin, Jr., George W. Corey, Thurman C. Perry and R. B. Goddard. Their term of office begins July 1.

A delegation of citizens from West Academy Street asked the town board to consider black top and curb and gutter improvements of the street at the earliest possible date. They further requested a ditch along the street be cleaned and that tile be installed and the ditch covered. The town board agreed to take care of the work involved in cleaning the ditch and installing the tile, with residents to pay for cost of the tile.

Action was taken to increase the insurance on town buildings, and to add liability coverage to the town's insurance program. Burney Stevens, representative of an insurance agency, briefed the town board members on terms of the additional coverage.

Public hearings will be advertised and dates set for consideration to rezone two areas—the Dan Bowen property at U.S. 17 and 64 by-pass, from R-6 residential to shopping center; and the north side of Main Street from Elm to Pearl Street from R-6 to downtown commercial.

A town ordinance was approved, to be effective July 1, which will set up a system of privilege licenses for merchants in town. A schedule of different types of licenses and fees for each will be established prior to the first of July.

School Summer Program Begun Here Yesterday

The summer program of the Greenville City School got underway yesterday. The program, covering courses for kindergarten through the sixth grade at Elmhurst Elementary school, and grades seven through twelve at Rose High School, also encompasses Driver Education at Rose.

For students who plan to be part of the summer program but who have not yet enrolled, Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood, superintendent of the city schools, said "Wednesday, June 9 is the last day that any student can enroll and still be able to make up work missed on Monday and Tuesday, the first two days."

According to Dr. Cleetwood, enrollments were about as anticipated for the summer programs.

Registration For ECU Summer School Underway

Registration for the first session of summer school at East Carolina University got underway yesterday, and will continue through today and tomorrow.

Worth E. Baker, registrar for ECU, noted that approximately 4,200 students are expected to be in attendance for the first of two summer sessions.

Baker indicated this approximate figure is a little higher than last year's registration for the first summer quarter, but added it's a little early to make an accurate statement about the total registration.

Classes for students going to summer school began this morning.

District Lions Meet Wednesday

District 31-H of Lions International will hold its fourth annual awards night Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Blockage Runner Motor Hotel at Wrightsville Beach.

Special guest speaker will be Lion Al A. Schock, of Sioux Falls, S.D., past international director, who will be a candidate for third vice president of Lions International at their June convention in Las Vegas.

Fourteen counties of Southeastern North Carolina comprise the district, according to District Gov. John W. King, leader of over 1,300 Lions.

Victim Tells Of Robbery

WADESBORO, N. C. (AP) — The two masked gunmen who walked into his office at nearby Peachland said they were going to get the money or get my head," related a 69-year-old semiretired lumberman who was forced to withdraw $27,000 from a Wadesboro bank.

But within hours the money handed over Monday by Baxter T. McRae, mayor-elect of Peachland, had been recovered after he was released unharmed and two Charlotte men were arrested and charged with kidnaping and armed robbery.

Roy Rogers Hubbard, 20, was caught by Highway Patrolman M. G. Hayes after a five-mile chase which ended when his car was stopped at a road-surfacing project near Oakboro about 20 miles from Wadesboro.

Within a half hour, John Earl Sturdivant, who fled when Hubbard was taken into custody, was captured in a honeysuckle patch.

Hayes said no shots were exchanged during the chase. He added that as he approached the car, whose bumper had become entangled in a guy wire, Hubbard emerged with a pistol and the money in a manila envelope, but dropped the pistol on command.

A bank official, suspicious that McRae had withdrawn so much money, set in motion the pursuit by the patrol, the sheriff's departments of Stanley and Anson counties, and the Oakboro police.

McRae said that while he was driving the gunmen to the bank in his pickup truck, one of them got out near Peachland. He said he thought this man had gone back to his house to harm Mrs. McRae, whom the gunmen had threatened to harm if they didn't get the money. But she was teaching a Bible school class at a church in Peachland and knew nothing of the kidnaping and robbery until it was over.

McRae said the man who got out of the truck apparently drove a car to meet the second gunman after the robbery.
