C.D. Ward To Retire As Hospital Administrator

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer

Pitt Memorial Hospital Administrator C. D. Ward announced to the Board of Trustees last night that he is retiring as of January 1, 1972.

The group rose in tribute to Ward's many years of service to the county through his administering of hospital affairs. He said he will step down as administrator July 1, but will remain at the hospital as co-administrator until the end of this year.

Jack W. Richardson, who has been co-administrator and project director for the new hospital for some time, will assume responsibilities as administrator. T. Buck Sitterson, former comptroller, will move to the position of assistant administrator for financial affairs.

The Board took note of the hiring of Michael E. Gilstrap as assistant administrator for professional departments. The Charleston, S. C. native, who has experience both in civilian and military hospital administration, had agreed prior to last night to begin work July 1 if his application were approved by the Trustees.

The Trustees agreed to give power of attorney to the hospital's chief pharmacist to purchase and handle alcohol.

The making of plates of Jack Richardson's signature for use in signing payroll checks and checks to pay other hospital bills was approved. The bank is to be notified to accept his signature from July 1 on.

The Board took note of the tremendous service being rendered to the county by approximately 75 men who volunteer their time and effort to serve on local rescue squads. Trustee Delton Perry told how smoothly rescue operations after the recent North Pitt School bus accident went. Greenville and Bethel each arrived in less than ten minutes and Farmville and Ayden were standing by, he said, as was Robersonville in Martin County.

Two new physicians, Dr. Jack A. Koontz and Dr. Robert L. Timmons were approved for minor privileges at the hospital upon the recommendation of the medical staff. Dr. Koontz will be practicing family medicine at the Greenville Clinic and Dr. Timmons, a neurosurgeon, will be associated with Dr. Ira Hardy.

Changed from the courtesy staff to the honorary one were Dr. John D. Fletcher and Dr. Jack O. Carson. This in effect relieves the two of night and weekend duty at the hospital. Dr. Fletcher is associated with the Regional Office of the State Board of Health here and Dr. Carson practices in Grifton.

The County Commissioners, Miss Jean Owens and Mrs. Helen Abbott, director and assistant director of nursing respectively, were guests of the Trustees last night to hear architects from Freeman and White Associates explain the concept of the new hospital. They showed preliminary drawings.

Beverly Freeman said that they are pleased with the results of soil borings of the

Beach Cleaner

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mechanical beach cleaner, which its manufacturers say is capable of reclaiming more than 700,000 tons of oil-soaked sand per day, has been unveiled by its developer and the Environmental Protection Agency.

The machine cost about $300,000 to develop said T. P. Meloy, vice president of Meloy Laboratories of Springfield, Va., four times the cost of manufacturing each machine.

The portable beach cleaner sucks up oily sand and separates the oil with an agitation and aeration process. Pure oil is drained off and the clean sand returned to the beach, said Meloy.

The machine was developed under EPA contract to replace the current method of scattering straw on oil-soaked beaches, raking up the debris and turning or burying it.

hospital site. "We think it's soil bearing capacity is as good as any site to be found in the Norfolk strata of which this area is a part," he said.

"It can support a three-story structure with no pilings, a fact that will mean tremendous savings for the taxpayers of your county. I suggest you go ahead and pay for the land, that you have a great buy."

The drawings shown illustrated a concept of numerous buildings along a connecting spine-like corridor. Two nursing towers would rise to three stories, but all other buildings would be one-story. Putting no money in underground pilings and little in stairwells and elevator shafts would mean most of the county's money would be spent "where you can see it," architect Jack Bennett said. He showed how every department can be expanded at a later date if the spread out plan he showed is used. Possible plans for "20 years from now" were also shown with each of the departments at least doubled in size and numerous other features added.

Mansfield Plans To Unveil Secrets

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says a secret report on the Vietnam war will be disclosed publicly through congressional hearings, even if newspaper publication of the document is blocked by the courts.

Mansfield said the people have a right to know the details of the way American involvement in the war began and escalated.

The Justice Department Tuesday won a federal court order halting temporarily the New York Times publication of a series of articles based on the 47-volume study of the war.

The order is effective until 1 p.m. Saturday, with a hearing scheduled Friday on the administration request for a preliminary injunction against further publication of accounts of the study.

"Of course the court decision must stand," Mansfield said. "But regardless of what the decision of the court is, hearings will be held."

He said the hearings might be held by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the Armed Services Committee.

"If they don't, I will, and it will be laid out," said Mansfield, chairman of a subcommittee on Far Eastern affairs.

Mansfield said he had discussed the matter with Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, senior Senate Republican, who agreed the public should be fully informed about the report on the development of U.S. policy into 1968.

The majority leader said the hearings would be "for the purpose of laying the story out before the Congress and the people in as comprehensive manner as possible."

Mansfield said it is his position that if the courts prevent the Times from publishing the balance of the findings reached in the pentagon study, the Senate hearings will make the material public.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., has said he will ask for a Foreign Relations Committee inquiry. There is also a possibility of joint hearings conducted before that panel and the Senate Armed Services Committee.

But the task of obtaining the report from the administration might prove a difficult one for whatever panel conducts hearings.

Symington complained in the Senate Tuesday that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird had refused again to provide a copy to the Foreign Relations Committee, even on a classified basis.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said the top-secret report was "never brought to my attention" as vice president or as the Democratic presidential nominee in 1968.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson, former Secretary of State Dean Rusk and former Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara declined comment on the report.

Scott Supporters Have Turn Today

RALEIGH (AP) — Supporters of Gov. Bob Scott's plan to place the 16 state-supported universities under a new board of regents got in their licks at a legislative hearing today.

They followed opponents of the plan who told the House and Senate Higher Education Committee Tuesday that the regent system would result in a "dangerous centralization of power" in the hands of the governing, destroy the Consolidated University of North Carolina and "hurt the entire cause of Higher Education in North Carolina for years to come."

The prediction came from former Superior Court Judge William Johnson of Lillington, a trustee of the consolidated University of North Carolina.

Another UNC trustee, Victor Bryant of Durham, told the legislators, "you will not reduce politics in higher education by placing in the hands of one man (the governor) the appointment of all of the trustees of all of the state's universities."

Consolidated University President William C. Friday told the committees that 10 states now have a multicampus university setup similar to the consolidated university and several of them used UNC as a pattern.

Friday said the consolidated university office had brought "orderly planning" to the six UNC campuses and had eliminated "unnecessary duplications."

JEWELRY THEFT

NEW YORK (AP) — Two gunmen invaded the elegant Sutton Place penthouse belonging to Janet Annenberg Neff Tuesday afternoon and made off with $200,000 in jewels.

Six Wounded By Man With Knife On A Bus

GASTONIA, N. C. (AP) — Six persons were wounded by a knife-wielding man on a Greyhound bus Tuesday. One was hospitalized.

Taken into custody at Gastonia was Frank Morgan, 65, of Atlanta, Ga. He was jailed in Gastonia on multiple counts of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill.

Gaston County rural police say the incident occurred while the bus was on I-85 past Gaston late Tuesday afternoon, headed for New Orleans from New York City. Bus driver Elfred Poucher had just pulled out of Charlotte, 35 miles away, with Morgan as a new passenger.

Poucher said Charlotte police had placed Morgan on the bus.

A spokesman for the Charlotte police department said he had no idea why Morgan had been placed on the bus, that there were no departmental records on him.

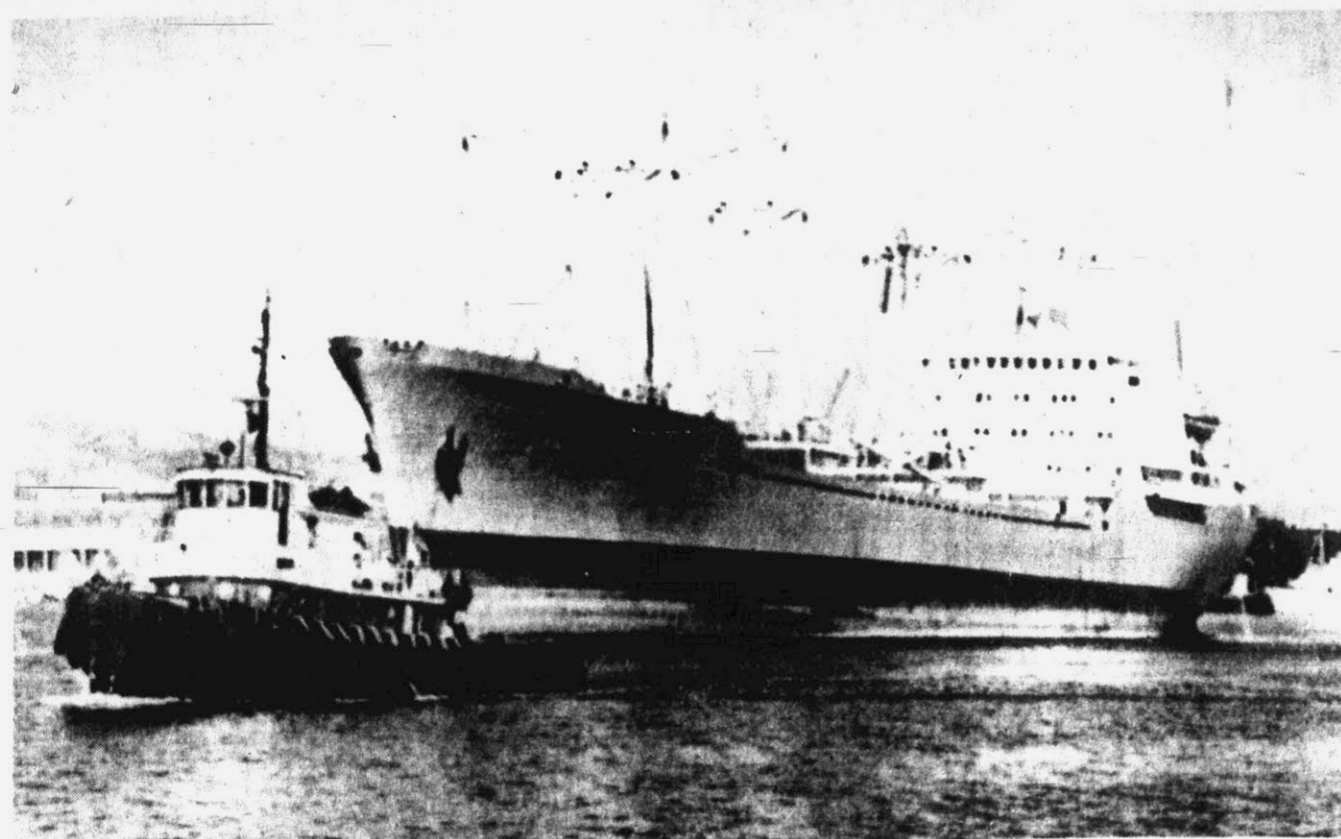

The driver said his first indication of trouble was when he heard screams. He said he turned to see blood and a man walking up the aisle with a pocket knife.

Poucher slammed on the brakes, and two men among the 25 passengers threw the knife-carrying man to the floor.

Poucher then checked his passengers and found six stabbed and several others hurt when he stopped abruptly.

The injured were treated at a

Kings Mountain hospital. One, Miss Patricia Gaines, 18, of Greenville, S. C., was admitted. Poucher, escorted by policemen, drove the bus back to Gastonia, where officers questioned those who were aboard.

Seek Sounder Operation For Boys' Club

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Members of the Board of Directors of the Greenville Boys' Club, Tuesday afternoon reached a decision to renew efforts to get the operation of the club on a sounder basis, both from an economic standpoint and an operational approach.

The Boys' Club, which in Greenville is less than three years old, now serves daily about 600 boys between ages of 6 and 18, with programs designed to fill many needs — companionship with other boys, sports, tutoring programs, competitive events, and travel.

Board members individually, and in general, praised the work of Executive Director J. Richard Ullom, the director who has been with the club since its inception. It was stressed several times, however, that Ullom has been placed in the position of having to carry his full time job planning and supervising the actual programs centered around the day-by-day activities, and in addition, has had to carry the burden that should be that of the 42 board members.

Financially, it was pointed out that in each time of crisis, sporadic surges of collection efforts on the part of a few board members had relieved the immediate crisis, but that no full-range, adequate program of long-range financing had ever been established or carried out. This approach has resulted in the club being subjected to wavering fortunes in its financing program.

At this time, the funds of the club were described by president of the Board of Directors, Dr. Henry Aldridge, who said: "We are broke." It was also disclosed that the club is in arrears in paying off a bank loan, and the payments to a church for the building purchased for the Boys' Club home were also lagging far behind.

Despite generous contributions from individuals and firms, the annual mortgage costs and the annual operational costs have never been fully resolved by a concerted effort on the part of all board members to come up with a plan for financing that would make the operation one based on a solid footing.

For these reasons, an executive meeting is being held today to map out plans for outlining a better organizational structure. Within a matter of days, a special call meeting of the board of directors will be held to place the new plan before the entire board for their action.

Winterville Asks Funds For New Rescue Truck

WINTERVILLE — An application has been submitted for $6,500 federal aid in order to buy a completely equipped rescue squad truck. Mayor Walter A. Dail will present the application to the State Highway Safety Commission today.

The vehicle will cost an estimated $13,000. If the federal grant comes through, the remaining $6,500 will be supplied by private donations and subscriptions.

In the past, Winterville citizens have had to call either the Greenville or Ayden squads for emergency service. J. Brooks Tucker, captain of the new squad, commented "We hope that this will be an asset to the people of this community because of the reduction in the time it will take to get the victims to the hospital."

It is hoped that the squad will be ready for operation by September 1.

Some 18 Winterville citizens are presently completing a combined 472 man-hours of training in first aid. These 18 volunteers include three women, one of whom is a registered nurse. J. Brooks Tucker is the instructor.

Each squad member must complete ten hours of standard first aid, 16 hours of advanced first aid, be qualified by the NC Board of Health, and must be a minimum of 18 years old.

Temporary officers have been elected. They are J. Brooks Tucker, Captain; Ashter Dail, first lieutenant; Tony Day, second lieutenant, Walter A. Dail, secretary and treasurer.

Hubby's Hooked Miss Gail Lancaster Is Bride On Hookers

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This is my second marriage. It's my wife's second marriage also and we both feel that we are perfect for each other. However, the weakness which ruined my first marriage is now cropping up again.

I am hooked on prostitutes. I don't know why. I started going to these women when I was very young, and even though my first wife lacked nothing along that line, I couldn't stay away from prostitutes, so after 12 years of marriage, we broke up.

I am now almost 40, and in the last year I have been married to my present wife I haven't gone to a prostitute once, but I keep thinking about it more and more. This is a rather small town and there are none here, but I know someone in a city about 120 miles away, and I keep trying to figure out a way to get there without my wife's knowing it. Don't suggest a head doctor. There is only one in this town and he isn't very well thought of, so I rejected that idea.

I am a government employe and well paid. Can you help me?
WEAK AND TEMPTED

DEAR WEAK: Your "weakness" can be overcome, but you rejected the only possible cure for it. A "head doctor." I'll not suggest seeing one in the larger city, because the temptation there could be too much for you to resist. If you sincerely want to be cured of your problem, you will see the doctor in your town. And if you don't want to be cured, admit it like a man and quit kidding yourself.

DEAR ABBY: Who said, "One of the reasons the marriage contract should be considered invalid is because it was made while both parties were insane?"
ALAMOSO, COLO.

DEAR ALAMOSO: I did. But it has been said by others in many different ways. This is not to put down those in love, but there is a touch of "insanity" in that which gladdens, saddens, maddens, inspires, depresses, exhilarates, tortures and enslaves. And that's what love is all about.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend [not a close friend—but a talkative one] who telephones me every day, and sometimes two or three times a day.

I am a very busy person and have duties to attend to, and I have no time for chitchat. Her calls are always the same. She talks endlessly about the same people and I really am not interested.

I realize that this woman has nothing to do but talk on the phone, but it is a waste of my time and makes me very nervous.

I have purposely refused to answer my phone at times thinking it was this person only to learn later that it was an invitation which I would have been delighted to accept.

Please don't tell me to get an unlisted number. She would be the first one to ask for it and I wouldn't know how to keep from giving it to her without hurting her feelings.
RAW NERVES

DEAR RAW: Since you don't want to hurt her feelings, I hope you can afford an answering service because that appears to be your only hope for peace and privacy. It's not cheap, but it's cheaper than a nervous breakdown.

DEAR ABBY: That letter from "OFTEN ASKED," who resented casual acquaintances asking her where she bought various items of wearing apparel, reminded me of a woman here in town. She was always very smartly attired in the height of fashion, so naturally she was frequently asked by friends and casual acquaintances, "Wherever did you find that?" She was a sly one. She either "picked it up" in Portugal or Rome. Or it was a "gift."

Help For Ex-Cons And State

Programs, announced by Gov. Scott last week to help ex-convicts find jobs should be most helpful for the state.

Scott said 15 youthful offenders at the Davie County correctional facility have started classes in general carpentry. The program is funded by the National Association of Home Builders. After eight weeks of training the Job's for Ex-Offenders Program will help the youths to find jobs.

Ken Byerly's Final Chapter

By BRYAN HAISLIP
CHAPEL HILL — This may be the toughest week of Ken Byerly's 62 years.

He's writing "30" to a North Carolina chapter of his life as a teacher of journalism, and heading for the Montana range country to stir up dust as a practicing newspaperman.

He wants to go, and he hates to leave.

"Gosh, I've loved teaching and working with the North Carolina press. Everyone has been great to me," he said. He twisted uncomfortably in the overstuffed chair in the living room of the Chapel Hill home, already sold and 24.5 per cent. Nine morning dailies had a combined circulation of 591,593, and increase since 1960 of only 10.5 per cent.

Byerly acquired the Lewistown Daily News as a morning paper. "That was dead wrong for the town," he said. Lewistown has a population near 10,000; the paper's 5,000 circulation divides about evenly between the town and surrounding countryside.

He switched publication to Tuesday through Saturday afternoons, and Sunday morning. He picked up the idea for the unusual publication schedule from a guy in Texas, and it suits the situation beautifully.

An independent streak which sometimes casts him in the role of dissenter is part of Byerly's nature. Perhaps his penchant for seeing the shots as they are and calling them as he sees them is a product of a knock-about career beginning in the Depression era.

Depression Arrived in N. C.

Born in Chicago, an A.B. degree earned from the University of Minnesota, he came to Chapel Hill in 1930 as a teaching assistant and graduate student under the late, great Dr. Collier Cobb of the geology and geography department. The economy tightened. Over two years, everybody was cut 55 per cent. Byerly managed to stay on, received his M.A. in geology.

Sinus troubles aggravated by a damp climate interrupted chamber of commerce work in Wisconsin. He bought a Wyoming weekly, became a newspaperman, and won election as a Republican to the state legislature.

That was his first (and only, he says) experience as an active politician. "It doesn't mix," he said. "You can't be a newspaperman and an elected official, too."

Byerly is unflappable by a real imagined credibility gap, electronic mediums for the message, advocacy trends in journalism. The press remains strong, versatile, and capable of discharging its responsibility, he insisted.

"Vice President Agnew was right in some of his criticism of the broadcast networks. I said the same things at a radio-TV news seminar two months before the Vice President, and I didn't get a bit of static," he recalled.

Anyway, he went on, it's good to stir up the news media now and then; keeps 'em alert and on their toes.

The University loses two Byerlys from the faculty. His wife, Scotty, is an associate professor in the UNC School of Public Health.

They keep a tie with North Carolina in the person of David, youngest of three sons, and a freshman on the Chapel Hill campus.

Soon a Concentrated Employment Program is to be launched under a grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration of the U. S. Department of Justice.

This program will stress motivation development, help locate suitable jobs and provide counseling.

"Teaching a man how to live in prison does not teach him how to live in a free community where he must make his own decisions," the governor stated. "He needs help in solving personal problems which can make it difficult for him to adjust to his new environment."

These two programs should offer some hope for those who go to prison. Often young offenders enter prison before they have time to develop any occupational skills. Thus if they are released without any training they have little hope of finding adequate employment.

Programs such as these can change this outlook.

North Carolina was a pioneer in the development of a work-release program for prisoners. It can now lead the way in training programs which will allow ex-prisoners to obtain the skills they need for employment, and then help them to settle in new jobs.

Birth Of 'Nonuplets' Startled The World

Nonuplets is for most of us who speak the English language a new word, but it made the headlines when an Australian woman gave birth to nine babies.

In this era of fertility drugs multiple births are not so rare as they once were. However, the birth of nine babies at one time is still enough to startle the world.

Only a generation back, the birth of five babies — quintuplets — was considered a rarity. The birth of the Canadian Dionne quintuplets thus created a world wide sensation.

Sadly many of the nine babies born in Australia did not survive. Nevertheless it was an unprecedented medical event.

Speechwriting Padre Vetoed

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK
WASHINGTON — Combined pressure from the Republican right, Capitol Hill Democrats, and even the White House itself has just about killed a unique scheme to install a left-of-center Roman Catholic priest as Presidential speechwriter.

A few weeks ago, it was all but determined that Father John McLaughlin, a 43-year-old Jesuit who was the anti-war Republican nominee for the Senate from Rhode Island last year, would join President Nixon's writing stable. A former editor of America, the Jesuit publication, he was counted on to live up to Mr. Nixon's generally drab prose style.

Then came the anti-McLaughlin campaign. Some conservatives in the White House, eschewing ideological impurity or exotic ideas from the outside, argued that McLaughlin's philosophy was much too far to the left of the President's. The right-wing weekly, Human Events, picked up the theme by painting him as a wild-eyed leftist.

On top of this, Sen. John Pastore of Rhode Island, the senior Democrat whom McLaughlin tried to unseat in 1970, protested bitterly to the White House. Although Pastore picked up 67.5 percent of the vote, McLaughlin waged a vigorous, interesting campaign which enraged the hot-tempered Pastore. Since Pastore is occasionally helpful to the Administration, on key questions, his opposition severely hurt the priest's chances.

Nevertheless, McLaughlin still had a fairly good chance to get the job until immensely powerful Presidential assistant H. R. (Bob) Haldeman decided he was becoming more trouble than he was worth. Always suspicious of outsiders, Haldeman bristled at the idea of a controversial, leftist priest. Thus, although McLaughlin has received no final word, his chances of getting the job are remote.

To many thoughtful Presidential aides, that will be a pity. Acknowledging ideological differences between Nixon and McLaughlin, they feel he would have come on board as a loyal Nixon man possessed of special talents. Raymond Price, a liberal-leaning speechwriter, was McLaughlin's leading sponsor inside the White House. But he also had backing from such conservatives as speechwriter Pat Buchanan and political aide Charles Colson.

Muskie's New Yorker
The unenviable task of sorting out the Byzantine Democratic politics of New York for Sen. Edmund S. Muskie's Presidential campaign will go to Lester S. Hyman, once top Kennedy man in Massachusetts.

Hyman, 39, now a Washington lawyer, will begin immediately as the Muskie coordinator from outside the state — a campaign technique originated during the 1960 John F. Kennedy campaign on the promise that an outsider with nothing to gain or lose can best weld together the part in faction-torn states such as New York and California.

As Democratic state chairman of Massachusetts in 1968, Hyman angered the party's regulars by backing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy against President Lyndon B. Johnson prior to Johnson's

Strength For Today

Are high-grade brains worthwhile?

That depends. Some of the most able men that have ever lived have been unworthy characters. Francis Bacon, philosopher, statesman and author, upon whose system of reasoning the whole technique of modern scientific research depends, was a betrayer and a thief of public funds to such a degree that his fine amounted to about a hundred and fifty thousand dollars. Richard Wagner, whose music has led multitudes to the very gates of heaven, was an adulterer, a betrayer, a dead-beat and an almost pathological egotist. Karl Marx, father of socialism and communism, had such a high-grade brain that he believed he was worthy to succeed the great philosopher Hegel, and the bitterness engendered over his failure to get this professorial appointment may have been one of the things that led him to the extremes to which he later went.

Intellect is valuable only if it is supported by abiding moral character. We have observed in the scientific traitors who gave our atomic secrets away what brains without character can do to a whole people. The wrong inflicted upon their countries by some of these treasonable acts was as appalling as the loss of a million soldiers.

Don't worry if you have a C-grade intellect. The C-graders keep the world going and make its life significant.

They Tied Up New York

WASHINGTON — Last week New York had one of its worst traffic jams in history.

The reason for the complete breakdown was that Mayor John Lindsay and Police Commissioner Patrick Murphy did not follow the advice of President Nixon and Atty. Gen. John Mitchell in dealing with traffic tieups in major cities. Had the mayor and the police commissioner followed the guidelines approved by the President and the attorney general, almost everyone would have got to work on time.

The first thing Mayor Lindsay and Commissioner Murphy should have done was to go on television and warn the people that anyone stalled in his car on a turnpike or road leading into Manhattan would be arrested.

The mayor should have said that he had rented trucks and buses to haul people away. Anyone in a car in an area where there was a traffic jam would be subject to arrest, on the assumption that he was either participating in the traffic tieup or was a spectator.

Those people stalled on the Long Island Expressway coming toward the Triborough Bridge would be taken off to Shea Stadium and incarcerated there. Those who couldn't move coming down from Westchester and the Bronx would be thrown into Yankee Stadium. People stuck waiting to go through the Lincoln Tunnel or over the George Washington Bridge would be held in the Hudson tubes outside of Jersey City.

To break up the traffic jams so that the police buses and trucks could get through, recalcitrant drivers would be tear-gassed.

Other Editors Say Positive Approach

(Shelby Daily Star)

THE LEGISLATURE has before a measure that creates a new law, driving while drinking. That sounds like a good idea to us, especially since the law is tried and tested in another state. The objective, is, of course, to put teeth into the grey area before the drunken driving charge can be applied, and we think this area needs such legislation to protect the public on the highways.

Under the proposal, breathalyzer readings below .10, which is now the minimum prima facie evidence of drunken driving, could apply towards a driver being charged with driving and drinking, a lesser but nonetheless serious offense. Coupled with another pending bill that would prohibit the drinking of alcoholic beverages in automobiles, the state would gain a considerable new measure of power over the drinking driver.

Of course, if the implied consent bill, which would make a breathalyzer test as mandatory as an eye test, is not resurrected, the new law would be less effective than it would be if there were assurance a breathalyzer test could be demanded. Tests have proved that even if a driver has not had enough to bring his alcohol blood content to .10, that his reactions as a driver are impaired if his breathalyzer reading is especially between .005 and .10. Thus, a test for this reading is nearly as important as a test for those above .10.

The bill is a good one. It attacks alcohol where it hurts because it demands that the driver either not drink or make sure somebody in the crowd doesn't in order to drive home. It would affect the cocktail party drinker as well as the private club after-work drinker. It would affect the 19th hole golfer, and the law would affect just about any function at which beer, wine or liquor were served. The present law does not effectively deal with drivers who have a few drinks and drive home, even though their ability to drive may well be infringed as a result of the drinks.

ALREADY, ABC stores are offering do-it-yourself breathalyzer tests with each purchase, and some bars, as we understand it, have installed personalized breath tests. The latest bill, especially if coupled with implied consent laws, would effectively deal with those who now manage to escape the inevitable until they have a wreck.

Trenching Is One Ecology Aid

By ELMER ROESSNER

In all the blabber about saving the ecology, it is amazing that no one has started a campaign for trenching. Trenching would reduce the load of garbage disposal and at the same time enrich the soil. That's another thing that has not yet bothered the ecologists: that the soil of America is being diminished by our give-away exports of food to other countries.

Trenching consists of digging trenches and enriching the soil by interring rottables.

I know of the case of a man whose backyard consisted of sand and clay. He dug a trench from front to back one foot wide and one foot deep. Then he collected his neighbors' biodegradable garbage. He had time for it because he was retired. He filled in the trench with dirt as he piled in rottables and when he got to the bottom of his garden, he started back. In two years he had converted his sand and clay into a black loam. His garden was the wonder of the neighborhood.

What To Put In

Trenching can help make topsoil out of rottable garbage, leaves, grass cuttings, brush, shrubby cuttings, wood ashes, vacuum cleaner bag contents, vegetable peelings, bones, dead flowers, waste fat, fish skins and entrails, nut shells, egg shells, animal manure, wood chips and sawdust.

A moderate amount of paper, especially tissues, can be buried, but paper-eating bacteria are not common in backyards.

A bit of yeast dissolved in water from time to time, will speed decomposition.

If there is a danger of the trenching attracting rats, mice or other rodents, be sure to put edible garbage at the bottom of the trench and tamp soil tightly over it. If this fails, add a bit of rodenticide to the edible garbage. Dead rodents enrich fertilizer.

What To Avoid
Aluminum cans will not disintegrate, so don't put them in. Steel cans will slowly rust and a few won't hurt. Glass containers will always be glass, so do not add them.

Trenching can not only restore the richness of the soil of America, but it can also cut down the cost of garbage collection and the waste that

Trivia Of The Past

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is like a church spire.

It generally overlooks the neighborhood. It chronicles the comings and goings and scurrings of people and time. Things abide with it—important things, curious things, trivial things.

It is a register of life.

Your own memory book has a lot of pages in it if you can look back and remember when—

As a child, talking to your mother in the kitchen, you used to tease her by eating the raw parings she peeled from the potatoes.

There was always something worth doing except on rainy days. Then the world stood dull and stiff and still.

Your big ambition was to have teeth like those of former President Teddy Roosevelt—teeth so big and strong and virile you bet no dentist would dare tamper with them. His mustache was fierce and virile, too—the bristles so bristly you wondered whether he brushed his clothes with them.

There was always a girl in your class you hardly had the courage to speak to—but you still wanted to save her from a runaway horse, or any other common form of peril.

"Scarface" Al Capone pleaded guilty today to evasion of income tax laws and conspiracy against the prohibition law.

Fires yesterday afternoon and last night damaged an automobile on Charles Street and a garage on Eighth Street. The garage, back of the Home Furniture Company, was damaged to the extent of about $25 by flames yesterday afternoon. Last Night an automobile belonging to Thomas Beamon burned at his home on Charles Street. Firemen estimated the damage at about $150.

Crops in the vicinity of Farmville were reported to have been damaged by hail last night although it was impossible to estimate the amount of the loss. Greenville was visited by heavy rain during the early morning but the precipitation was not accompanied by hail and was not heavy enough to damage crops.

Mrs. E.A. Parker has returned from a visit in Raleigh and Chase City, Virginia.

Mrs. Louis C. Arthur, Jr., of Washington D.C., is the guest of Mrs. L.C. Arthur, Sr.

 ved life a home call by the doctor was in itself better than the medicine he prescribed simply because his visit assured the patient that he was alive in a world that cared.
 No matter how homely a girl was, she could usually become a social success if she studied the art of fortune telling. This gave her an excuse for holding and studying in public the palms of fellows who had no desire to hold her hands in private.
 A failure was a kid who graduated from grammar school without ever learning how to spit between his teeth.
 Any family that had a college graduate as a member usually framed his diploma and hung it on the parlor wall so that the world would be made properly aware of the prestige it conferred.

Times were so hard that things were used to the limit. Nothing was thrown away until it was worn out clear through. A man could be thrown off a public beach if he showed up wearing a one-piece bathing suit that didn't cover his chest. Most small boys had their noggins denuded in June, and their dads didn't have to fork out two bits for another haircut for them until late in September. One way to determine the elegance of a family was to pull a string or a headed brass chain. Those were the days—remember?

 money that Gov. Rockefeller couldn't touch.
 Thus the mayor would not only have kept his traffic moving but would have solved his financial problems at the same time.
 It would also be a warning to drivers in the future that it they got stuck in traffic they would have to suffer the consequences. It would make people think twice about driving into Manhattan and trying up the city.
 I called Mayor Lindsay and asked him why he hadn't followed the President's and attorney general's advice concerning the breaking up of premeditated traffic demonstrations and he said, "Frankly, I was so mad at Rockefeller I didn't think of it."

 withdrawal from the race. Resigning as state chairman, he moved to Washington in 1969 with every intent of working for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's disavowal of Presidential ambitions. Hyman has moved into the Muskie camp.
 In New York, his worst problem will be the madcap reformers who view Muskie as inadequately leftist in his views. The party regulars are generally for Muskie, at least so long as he holds up in the polls.
 Illinois-Ohio Axis
 Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio, considered a leading exponent of the New Politics, engaged in a little old politics recently at Chicago City Hall with Mayor Richard J. Daley. The point of their back-room chat: an Ohio-Illinois alliance at the next Democratic national convention.
 Daley noted that Ohio has 153 delegates to the 1972 convention and Illinois has 170. By old math, he noted, that comes to 323 or nearly one-fifth of a nominating majority—a powerful lever in picking the next nominee. Consequently, Daley suggested, perhaps the mayor of Chicago and the governor of Ohio ought to keep their lines of communication open. Gilligan agreed enthusiastically.
 Despite the McGovern Commission reforms, Daley is expected to control the Illinois delegation. Despite a McGovern Commission recommendation against it, Gilligan is toying with a favorite-son candidacy which would give him control over the Ohio delegation (and keep his state from becoming a Presidential battleground).

Suspended, Readmitted

William Schell Jr. suspended during the spring quarter at East Carolina University, has been ordered readmitted to the school by U. S. District Judge John Larkins.

Judge Larkins issued the temporary restraining order calling for Schell's readmission, pending a hearing on a complaint before the U. S. Eastern District Court. The complaint charges university officials violated Schell's constitutional rights.

Schell, from Alexandria, Va., was suspended following a hearing before the University Board April 26. He was charged with a violation of the Campus Code by using abusive language in a letter published in the student newspaper Fountainhead. The letter was critical of ECU president Dr. Leo Jenkins, and contained allegedly obscene language.

Robert Thonen, editor of the newspaper at the time the letter was published also appeared before the University Board and was suspended.

The court ordered the university to reinstate Thonen and allow him to take his final exams in May, pending a hearing. That order was based on a complaint filed in Federal Court by Thonen, seeking to prevent his suspension from school.

Showdown On Welfare Reform Is Drawing Near

By MICHAEL POSNER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — America's welfare system desperately needs reform. On that point, nearly everyone agrees, from welfare mothers to President Nixon.

But there agreement ends. Exactly what reforms are needed is a sharply controversial issue which soon will come to a head in Congress.

President Nixon has been pushing for welfare reform since 1969. Last year, a bill cleared the House only to die in the Senate.

Now the House Ways & Means Committee is back with a new package of proposals that would completely restructure the welfare system. The House will act soon on this bill, whose significance is reflected in its official designation as H.R. (House Resolution) No. 1.

Although H.R. 1 virtually is certain to undergo some revision on the House floor and in the Senate, its principal sponsor, Ways & Means Chairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., is confident the final product will reflect the basic decisions reached by his committee.

Since those decisions inevitably involved a good many compromises and trade-offs, no group in Congress completely is happy with H.R. 1. Liberals feel its benefits are too skimpy, its work-or-else requirements too stringent. Conservatives say it'll cost too much. There'll be heated debate on these and many other aspects of the bill.

To help clarify what's at stake in the coming debate, here are some questions and answers about the proposed welfare reforms:

Q. What's wrong with the present welfare system?

A. People on welfare dislike the red tape and feel benefit payments are inadequate. Social workers dislike it for similar reasons. Taxpayers dislike the sharply mounting costs. So do governors and mayors who want welfare funds for other programs.

Q. Who is on welfare now?

A. Welfare rolls now consist of two categories. About 3.4 million people get welfare payments because they are aged, disabled or blind—the so called adult group. Another 12.1 million people—in 3 million families with dependent children—also receive welfare payments. This is the fastest growing group. Most of these families are headed by mothers without a father living at home.

Q. Who pays welfare recipients?

A. The federal and state governments now share costs. Each state sets up its own standards for payments to welfare families and they differ widely—from $840 a year for a family of four in Mississippi to $4,032 a year for a family of four in New York.

Q. What does the new welfare bill do to this system?

A. It would repeal, effective July 1, 1972, the present program of aid to families with dependent children.

Q. What would replace it?

A. A whole new program for families with children, with a new requirement that at least one adult accept work if it's available. Adults who aren't disabled or too old to work would be enrolled in an "Opportunities For Families Program," administered by the Labor Department. Families with unemployed adults would be signed into a "Family Assistance Program" under the Department of Health, Education and Welfare—where all welfare programs now are administered.

The bidding:
North East South West
Pass 1♥ Pass 1NT
2♣ Pass 3NT Pass
Pass Pass

Opening lead: Seven of ♠ Today's hand produced a substantial swing when it was dealt during one of the team matches played in Miami Beach recently at the Southeastern Regional Tournament.

The bidding was identical at both tables. When East opened the bidding with one heart, South had little recourse but to pass, inasmuch as his opponent had deprived him of the opportunity to name his own best suit. West had just enough to keep the bidding open with one no trump and North's overcall of two clubs was routine. East passed and South finally sprang to life by jumping to three no trump, inasmuch as a nine trick game appeared to be the most reasonable undertaking.

West opened the seven of diamonds at both tables, but play proceeded differently from that point. At one table, after East's jack of diamonds dislodged the queen, South proceeded to lead the jack of clubs. West covered with the queen and North with the king. The ace of clubs came next, however, when East showed out—South's hopes went up in smoke and darkness shortly descended on the scene. After taking a successful finesse of the heart queen and cashing the ace, South was thru.

When the defenders got in they proceeded to take eight tricks, thereby administering a 400 point setback on the deal.

At the other table, South was considerably less sanguine regarding his prospects of bringing in the entire club suit. The odds did not appear to favor an even division in the suit and he reasoned from West's one no trump response that there was a reasonable chance that the latter held the queen of clubs.

At trick two, declarer led the jack of clubs and when West covered with the queen, he was allowed to hold the trick. If West had now laid down the ace of diamonds, it would, of course, have felled declarer's queen and the defense could have quickly cashed out.

There was no way for West to know, however, that South did not have a guarded queen of diamonds and he sought instead to find some way to reach his partner to get a diamond play thru his opponent. Since East had bid hearts, that appeared to be the logical choice and West duly shifted to a heart.

This play proved much to declarer's liking. East put up the king which South covered with the ace, cashed the queen and then proceeded to run the club tricks to bring his trick total to nine and a 600 point profit. Added to the 400 point total scored by his teammates at the other table the net swing on the deal was exactly 1,000 points.

Q. Who would be eligible?
A. For the first time there would be national standards for eligibility based on the amount of income a family has, instead of varying standards from state to state as at present.

Q. Would this reduce the welfare rolls?

A. On the contrary. In 1973, it is estimated that the welfare rolls would go to more than 25 million people because the new rules would bring the "working poor"—low-income working families—onto the rolls. A working family now generally is ineligible for welfare payments.

The Nixon administration argues it is unfair for a poor family whose head is working to be ineligible for welfare payments while a family with no working adult is eligible. In some cases, under present rules, welfare families get more money than working families.

Q. What would the payments be?

A. For a family with no income, the first two members each would receive $800 a year. The next three would each receive $400, the next two $300, and the next one $200. A family of four would receive $2,400, with the maximum for any family with no other income $3,600.

Q. How much could a family with a working number get?

A. A family's federal payments would be reduced as earned income increased. A family of four would receive some welfare payment until its total income reached $4,140. Federal payments would stop at that level.

Q. Who would foot the bill?

A. The federal government would assume all payments to sanitation departments with the first-year costs borne by the federal government.

Q. What if someone refused to sign up for work?

A. Failing to register or to take work or training would mean the family's benefits would be reduced by $800—or one-third of a $2,400 annual stipend.

Q. If a mother had to go to work, where would her children stay?

A. The bill calls for federal spending of a 700 million in the first year to build a system of child care centers.

Q. What is the estimated cost of the whole program?

A. Generally, all adults would have to sign up for work or job training unless aged or disabled. Among those required to sign up for jobs would be mothers who have no children younger than six, (unless there is another working member in the family.) Beginning in July 1974, mothers of children aged three or older would have to sign up, if no other adult in the family was working.

Q. Where would they work?

A. If they can work and don't need training, they would be put into jobs paying no less than three-quarters of the legal minimum wage. Currently the minimum wage is $1.60. Three-fourths of this is $1.20. Also, there is provision for 200,000 public service jobs in city halls, hospitals, police stations and denlining to $3.6 billion, for a national total of $18.4 billion.

Pirates Open Summer Season Thursday

Several years of planning come to a culmination Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at Harrington Field at East Carolina University when the Pirates play host to Louisville in the opening game of the North Carolina Summer Collegiate Baseball League.

Carolina, opened up Tuesday. The game will also see the unveiling of the new lighting system at Harrington Field. Although two games have been played there by the Greenville Post 39 American Legion, 42 additional lights have been added since the weekend to make Harrington Field one of the best lit in the Southeast. The Pirates expect to have fairly good experience at all positions. Coach George Williams says. All, that is except for pitching. "We have some pitchers back with us who were with us during the regular season," Williams said. "But we don't have a whole lot of experience." The two aces of the Pirate staff, seniors Ron Hastings and Hal Baird, elected not to stay on. Baird, in fact, has signed a professional contract with Kansas City. "I think we'll have a good club," Williams said, "but it's just hard to say about our pitching." And pitching will probably be a key factor for all of the teams, since they will play 36 games during the rest of this month, July and early August. The roster right now is a little unsettled in some ways. Williams points out that only 18 may be carried on the team, and the list of these 18 must be turned in by July 1. "We're a little uncertain of who'll be with us by then. One, who know, has a good chance of being called to active duty in the service." After July 1, only serious illness or injury, or professional signing or military service will enable one of the 18 "finalists" to be replaced. "We're going to be all right defensively, and our hitting will be okay," Williams said. "The big question mark is pitching." The only real battle for a position is at first base, where John Narron and Troy Eason are battling it out. Williams is unsure who'll be starting here Thursday night.

At second will be Skip Horton, with Mike Bradshaw at short and Ralph Lamm at third. All three played these positions during the spring season. The outfield will have the three who played there all spring. Larry Walters will be in left, Matt Walker in center and Mike Aldridge in right. Aldridge was the team's leading hitter and was one of the best in the Southern Conference, leading the loop in doubles and ranking high in homers and triples. Behind the plate will be Bryan

McMahon, "a proven catcher," Williams says. As to who'll get the call for mound duty Thursday, Williams says this is a tossup. He has six right handers and a left hander waiting in the wings for the call. The lone southpaw is incoming freshman Steve Herring of North Duplin High School. "He's going to need work and experience, of course," Williams notes. The righthanders include the most experienced man, senior Sonny Robinson, who didn't see as much action this spring as in the past. Joining him are Don Oxidine, Bill Godwin, Mike Van Landingham, Bennie Knox and Bob Hielman. Oxidine and Godwin are the only ones who could be called experienced. As far as the league title this first year goes, Williams feels Wilmington is the favorite. They were the top team in the NAIA's District 29, and have a fine pitching staff. "They are going to be tough." But he warns that no one can be counted out. He pointed out that Louisville finished fifth in the national Junior College Tournament, and that Campbell was one of the outstanding teams in NAIA play. "Carolina didn't have one of its better years, but they'll be tough, too." The action all starts Thursday night.

Dallas Green, former Phillies pitcher, is assistant director of the Philadelphia farm system.

Optimists Down Coca-Cola, 7-3

The Optimists downed Coca-Cola, 7-3, yesterday in the North State Little League and moved within shouting distance of the 1971 championship. The league leaders now hold down a 10-1 record, and the only team still in contention is the Kiwanis, who are 7-3. Any combination of three Optimist wins or Kiwanis losses will give the Optimists the title.

The rest of the league shows the Jaycees and R.C. Cola tied for third with 5-6 marks, followed by Coca-Cola, 4-7 and the Lions, 1-9.

The Optimists pushed into the lead in the second inning as Gary Porter hit a two-out solo home run.

Then, in the third, the Optimists pushed over five more runs for a 6-0 lead. Eric McCormick walked as did Greg Lee. Both advanced on a passed ball and Gary Allen walked. Bob Peoples singled to score McCormick, and Lee came over on a passed ball. Jeff Aldridge walked, but Allen was cut down trying to score. Porter then stepped in and hit his second straight homer of the day, driving in three runs.

Coke came up with two runs in the bottom of the third. Gary Chapman walked and Greg Lassiter cracked the game's third homer, making it 6-2. The Optimists picked up their last run in the fifth. Peoples walked and moved to third on two passed balls. He scored on Aldridge's out.

The final Coke run came in the sixth. Mark Berbert walked and so did Chapman. Jerome Ross reached on a fielder's choice and Lassiter singled to score Berbert.

Oakmont Slips By Mt. Pleasant

Oakmont inched past Mt. Pleasant in the Church Softball League last night. In the other game, Trinity won by forfeit over Belvoir.

In the National Division of the league, Immanuel holds a slim lead with an 8-5 record, while Black Jack and Oakmont are second with 8-6 records. They are followed by Mt. Pleasant, 7-6; Grace and Piney Grove; both 7-7, and Maranatha, 2-11.

In the American League, Meadowbrook leads with a 12-2 record, followed by St. James at 10-2 and Presbyterian at 10-3. Belvoir, at 7-8, was eliminated from the title picture by its loss. Already out of it are Christian, 4-9, St. Gabriel, 3-11 and Trinity, 2-12.

Mt. Pleasant pushed into the lead in the first inning scoring six runs. They added three more in the top of the second for a 9-0 lead. Oakmont got rolling in the bottom of the second, scoring four runs. Mt. Pleasant came up with three more in the third to hold a 12-4 lead.

Oakmont came up with two more runs in the third and two in the fourth to cut the lead to 12-8. Then, in the sixth, they scored five to take the lead.

Bryant Tosses Giants To 6-0 Victory

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The wild, wild West is getting out of hand and San Francisco needs a tough slinger to silence that swaggering bunch from Los Angeles.

Get Ron Bryant. Ron Bryant? Well, he's as tough a slinger as the Giants have right now, with all due respects to Juan Marichal and Gaylord Perry. Bryant pitched the first complete game of the Giants' June flop, firing four-hit blanks at Philadelphia for a much-needed 6-0 triumph Tuesday night.

It was only the Giants' fourth victory in June, a month which cost them ground in the National League's West race. Since the first of the month, San Francisco's whip-hand lead of 10 games was whittled in half to five by high-riding Los Angeles.

Incidentally, San Francisco's top pair of Marichal and Perry was not able to win during the spinout.

In the National League's other games, Los Angeles kept hot with a 2-0 triumph over New York, the Dodgers' fifth straight and eighth victory in 10 contests; San Diego topped Montreal 3-1; Chicago whipped Atlanta 3-1; St. Louis trimmed Cincinnati 6-1 and Pittsburgh beat Houston 3-0.

New York stopped Kansas City 2-1; Chicago clouted Detroit 6-1; Minnesota scored over Cleveland 5-3; Milwaukee nudged Baltimore 6-5; Oakland routed Washington 8-2 and California shaded Boston 5-4 in the American League.

"The ball was really moving," said Bryant, explaining how he got the Giants' reverse express untracked. "The fact that I threw many pitches and still got the shutout showed I had something." The southpaw unleashed 132 pitches, mixing a superb curve with his cannonball serve. Bryant was able to get the first batter in every inning except the fourth, when he walked Deron Johnson.

"And the fact that I went to three balls on five or six guys and was able to get them out ... well, that helped, too," said Bryant, who picked up his sixth victory to tie him for second on the club among starters with Perry. Marichal has eight.

Alan Gallagher ended an 0-for-27 slump with a two-run single to back Bryant's beauty. Gallagher's single came with the bases loaded during a four-run fourth inning and kayoed Philadelphia's starter Barry Lersch.

Al Downing kept Los Angeles on the San Francisco beat with a five-hitter and Maury Wills knocked in all the Dodger runs with a two-run single in the fifth inning.

New York's Nolan Ryan, who struck out nine and gave up only five hits in eight innings was touched for a single by Tom Haller and double by Bobby Valentine to put men on second and third. He struck out Downing for the second out and had two strikes on Maury Wills before the Dodger shortstop laced the next pitch to left for the decisive runs.

Pinch-hitter Larry Stahl doubled home the tie-breaking run and Angel Bravo added an insurance tally with a sacrifice fly as San Diego came up with two runs in the ninth to beat Montreal.

Leron Lee opened the Padres' rally with a one-out double and raced home with game winner on Stahl's shot down the right field line. Stahl, who went to third when Rusty Staub fumbled his hit, eventually came in on Bravo's long fly to right.

Joe Pepitone beat Atlanta for the second straight day, leading Chicago's victory with a two-run single in the first inning to back Bill Hands' three-hitter. Pepitone, hitting in his 14th straight game, delivered a three-run homer in Monday's 3-2 triumph over the Braves.

Reggie Cleveland pitched a three-hitter as St. Louis snapped a seven-game losing spin. Jose Cardenal, Ted Sizemore and Jim Beauchamp hit home runs for the Cardinals.

Steve Blass held Houston to six hits and Al Oliver spanked a tie-breaking seventh inning home run off Astro ace Larry Dierker as Pittsburgh won its fifth in six games.

Horlen Hurls First Victory In Year Following Knee Surgery

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

It took Joe Horlen's magical healing powers just 29 days to transport him from the operating table to the pitching mound. Now, after a year-long struggle, he's also recovered his winning touch.

Horlen, who made a remarkable comeback a month ago from his second knee operation since last August, hurled the Chicago White Sox past Detroit 6-1 Tuesday night for his first victory since, last June 19.

Bill Melton's grand slam homer and solo shots by Mike Hershberger and Rich McKinney provided solid backing for the courageous 33-year-old right hander, who scattered eight hits in going the route.

Elsewhere in the American League, Milwaukee overhauled Baltimore 6-5; the New York Yankees cooled Kansas City 2-1; Minnesota topped Cleveland 5-3; Oakland belted Washington 8-2 and California nipped Boston 5-4.

In National League play, Los Angeles blanked the New York

Mets 2-0; San Francisco zipped Philadelphia 6-0; St. Louis downed Cincinnati 6-1; San Diego trimmed Montreal 3-1 and the Chicago Cubs defeated Atlanta 3-1.

Horlen, a double-figure winner for seven consecutive seasons, beginning in 1963, slipped to 6-16 last year and was forced to undergo surgery on Aug. 4 for the repair of torn cartilage in his right knee.

Dr. Gerald Loftus, who operated on Horlen, said he'd probably be through for the season. But Horlen returned to action after 34 days, working six times in relief in the final month.

He went to spring training this year with high hopes of regaining his form, but was sidetracked again on April 4, when he suffered torn cartilage in his other knee. Another operation was performed the following day.

This time, the projected recovery period was six to eight weeks. But Horlen was exercising the damaged leg three hours after the operation—and pitching in relief on May 4, 29 days after surgery. His true grit finally paid off, after three setbacks, Tuesday night when he shackled the Tigers, who had won six of the previous seven starts.

Melton broke the game open in the sixth with his 10th homer and second grand slam of the year.

Detroit's Gates Brown set an all-time AL record of 77 career pinch hits when he soamed an eighth inning triple.

Milwaukee spotted the Orioles a 4-0 first inning lead, battled back to tie the game in the sixth and then floored the defending world champs on John Briggs' leadoff homer in the ninth off reliever Pete Richert.

Tommy Harper led the Brewers' comeback with two doubles and a homer, good for three runs batted in. Two-run homers by Frank Robinson and Brooks Robinson gave the Orioles their early jump.

The Yankees snapped Kansas City's six-game winning streak on a two-run homer by Bobby Murcer and the five-hit pitching of Steve Kline.

Murcer slammed his 11th homer of the season in the sixth off Ken Wright following a single by Kline.

Home runs by Tony Oliva, Rich Reese and pinch-hitter Brant Aleya powered the Twins past Cleveland.

Mike Epstein socked two homers for three Oakland runs and Bert Campaneris homered for three more, helping unbeaten Chuck Dobson breeze to his fifth victory with a five-hitter.

Syd O'Brien rapped a two-run homer in the ninth, lifting the Angels past the Red Sox. Controversial Alex Johnson, back in California's starting lineup for the first time since June 4, poked three hits.

Little Mint Nearing Title

The Little Mint has only one challenge left in the Ladies Softball League following action last night. The league leaders dumped Piggy-Wiggly, 22-11, to eliminate them from the title picture. In the other game, Coca-Cola ran over Wachovia Bank, 21-2.

Little Mint now has an 8-0 record, while Foodland is 6-1. They are the only two teams left in the race, and any combination of three Little Mint wins or Foodland losses will give it to Little Mint. The two meet Thursday. The rest of the league is Piggy-Wiggly at 3-5, Coke at 3-6, and Wachovia at 0-8.

In the opener, Coke pushed over a run in the first to take the lead. Mary Cole reached on a fielder's choice and moved up on another by Ronda Mills. She scored on a passed ball.

Four more came over in the second. Alva Worthington singled and Sue Campbell got a hit. Eunice Davis reached on an error and Linda Dixon singled. Mary Cole reached on an error scoring Dixon with the fourth run for a 5-0 score.

Coke then added four more in the third, three in the fourth, five in the fifth and four in the sixth, including a homer by Ronda Mills. Wachovia got both of its runs in the fourth on a homer by Katherine Gray.

Piggy-Wiggly jumped into the lead with two runs in the first, but Little Mint came back with six in the bottom of the frame. Piggy-Wiggly came back in the second to score six and then added three more in the third for an 11-6 lead. Little Mint came up with two more in the third, and then exploded for 12 in the fourth.

Winkie Phillips singled and Pat Kilpatrick got a hit. Dorcas Carter reached on an error and Linda Tripp singled. Carol Manuel got a hit and Sandra Kelly doubled. Viola Harris singled and Nancy Taylor got a hit. Bobby Jones tripled as did Doris Garrish. Phillips singled and Carter tripled. Tripp reached on an error and Manuel singled her in with the 12th run of the inning, giving Little Mint a 20-11 lead.

They added two more runs in the sixth to wrap it up.

Southern May Limit Squads

MYRTLE BEACH, S.C. (AP) — Athletic directors of Southern Conference schools have discussed setting limits on playing squads for conference competition in all sports.

No decision was reached at Tuesday's session of their annual spring meeting.

The matter will be presented to faculty athletic chairmen at the December meeting in Charleston, S.C.

Dr. Tom Scott of Davidson and Les Hooker of William and Mary were named to a committee to handle details of the Tangerine Bowl football game in Orlando, Fla., the night of Dec. 28. Conference Commissioner Lloyd P. Jordan heads the committee.

For the fourth year in a row, the conference football champion will play the Mid American Conference champion in the Tangerine Bowl.

It was decided that the basketball tournament, set for March 2-4 at Greenville, S.C., after eight years in Charlotte, N.C., will open with doubleheaders at 2 and 7 p.m. Semifinals play will start at 7 p.m. and the finals at 8 p.m. March 4.

Ali Has Some Humility Now

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Frazier apparently taught Muhammad Ali, nee Cassius Clay, some humility as well as puncturing the invincibility of the one-time disdainful poet of the ring.

"Jimmy Ellis has as good a chance against me as anybody I ever fought," a subdued Ali said Tuesday as he opened drills for the 12-round heavy-weight match with his former sparring mate at the Houston Astrodome July 26.

Ali showed up ahead of time for his first comeback training appearance in the mammoth, 600-foot Quonset hut-type Chicago fireman's gym at Navy Pier and displayed little of his old-time flippancy before a flock of sports writers.

Besides lauding Ellis, his sparring mate in his pre-military draft trouble years, Ali conceded Frazier's left hook was dynamite, and that he would like two more bouts after meeting Ellis to ready for an expected 1971 rematch with Frazier.

He wasn't even perturbed that Angelo Dundee, his regular trainer for past big fights would handle Ellis for the Houston match.

Ali, to be trained here by Fred Stoner, his trainer when he was a Louisville amateur boxer, admitted Dundee might be able to help Ellis with pointers on Ali's style.

Judge's Order Halts Printing Pentagon Secrets

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times, complying with a federal court restraining order, today halted publication of material from a secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war pending a hearing on the government's request for an injunction in the case.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Murray I. Gurfein said in issuing the restraining order Tuesday that the questions involved were "serious and fundamental," going to the heart of the relationship between the government and a free press.

He ordered the series suspended until 1 p.m. Saturday and set a hearing for Friday.

But he refused a government request that the Times be required to surrender the Pentagon documents.

Lawyers for the Times argued that the government's move against the newspaper was a case of "classic censorship" and appeared to be the first time in the nation's history that a newspaper was being restrained by a court from publishing an article.

The Justice Department charged in court that the publication "seriously interfered with the conduct of our foreign relations" and could "result in irreparable injury to the national defense."

In an editorial in today's editions, the Times characterized the government's action as "an unprecedented example of censorship" and said, "The Times will continue to fight to the full possible extent of the law what we believe to be an unconstitutional prior restraint imposed by the attorney general."

The Times said it would not have gone ahead with the series "if there had been any reason to believe that publication would have endangered the life of a single American soldier or in any way threatened the security of our country or the peace of the world."

By the publication, the Times said, the question was raised once again "of the government's propensity for over-classification and misclassification of documents that by any reasonable scale of values have long since belonged in the public domain."

In Washington, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said that the secret study would be publicly disclosed through hearings on the U.S. involvement in the war, regardless of the outcome of the court case.

And the Justice Department acknowledged that the FBI has been asked to study possible criminal violations in regard to the Times' publication of what the government says are top secret documents.

"The FBI investigates all allegations of federal criminal violations and is doing so in this case," said John W. Hushen, chief Justice Department spokesman.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers said publication of the material was going to cause difficulty with foreign governments which will question whether they can deal with the United States on a confidential basis.

The Times began the series Sunday based on the text of the 7,000-page Pentagon study of how the United States became involved in the Indochina war. It said the analysis was ordered by then Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara in 1967.

In the three published installments, the series dealt with clandestine warfare against North Vietnam before the Tonkin Gulf incident, the timing of the decision to bomb North Vietnam and the decision to use American ground troops for offensive action.

Before the third installment appeared, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell requested the Times to voluntarily halt publication of further material from the study, but the newspaper declined. The next move was in court.

In seeking the restraining order, the Justice Department cited a law which makes it a criminal offense for any person "having unauthorized possession" of classified documents to communicate, deliver or transmit such documents "to any persons not entitled to receive it."

The law provides for a maximum punishment of 10 years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Judge Gurfein, in his first day on the bench after having been sworn in last week, heard arguments by Asst. U.S. Atty. Michael D. Hess, 30, of the government and Prof. Alexander M. Bickel, 46, of the Yale Law School for the Times.

In his restraining order Gurfein said:

"The question raised by this action are serious and fundamental. They involved not only matter of procedure, but matters of substance and presumptively of constitutional implication as well ...

"I believe that the matter is so important and so involved with the history of the relationship between the security of the government and a free press that a more thorough briefing than the parties had had an opportunity to do is required."

Gurfein said he granted the order "because in my opinion any temporary harm that may result from not publishing during the pendency of the application for a preliminary injunction is far outweighed by the irreparable harm that could be done to the interests of the United States government if it should ultimately prevail."

Statewide Blue Law Is Killed In Senate Vote

RALEIGH (AP) — A statewide Blue law measure that its foes said was aimed at forcing discount stores to close on Sunday has been killed by the North Carolina Senate.

The Senate voted 26-18 to kill the bill Tuesday after amending it so that it would not apply to seven coastal counties. This rendered the constitutionality of the measure doubtful.

The bill made it illegal to work on Sunday and then made a long list of exemptions. It listed many items that could not be sold on Sunday and carried a long list of items that could be sold.

Sen. John Burney, D-New

Hanover, told the Senate in opposing the measure that under it his preacher could not preach on Sunday, a life guard could not save a life on Sunday and "I could not legally draw a will on Sunday."

Sen. Marshall A. Rauch, D-Gaston, told the Senate that the bill was "completely unfair to the minorities in North Carolina."

"People who are Jewish and Seventh Day Adventists do not work on Saturday and could not work on Sunday under this bill," he said.

Counties exempted from provisions of the Sunday closing measure were New Hanover, Brunswick, Pender, Craven, Carteret, Pamlico and Dare. The attorney general's office had advised the Senate Judiciary I Committee that exempting counties would cast doubt on the constitutionality of the bill.

Sen. Ollie Harris, D-Cleveland, said he sponsored the measure at the request of the North Carolina Merchants Association.

"It's that I expected," said Harris, an undertaker, when the Senate killed his bill.

The Senate debated at length and then shuttled back to committee a bill that would eliminate the immunity from dam-

Family Adrift 10 Days In Boat

MOREHEAD CITY, N.C. (AP) — An Oklahoma couple, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Spellman, decided on the spur-of-the-moment June 5 to take their 26-foot cabin cruiser from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., to Bimini in the Bahamas.

They ended up 10 days later at Morehead City, N.C., hundreds of miles north, hungry but otherwise all right.

Mrs. Kathleen Spellman said Tuesday they had not notified anyone of their relatively short trip across the stretch of water to the Bahamas. "It's all our fault," she said.

She said her husband had once sailed schooners from Miami to Nassau but in the past 13 years all the experience they had with boats was on rivers and waterways near their landlocked home.

"We had about given up hope," she said of herself and her husband, adding that for 15-year-old David and 11-year-old Michael they tried to keep happy.

"We had a sail and once sailed within sight of the buoy markers off Savannah (Ga.) but the wind changed and took us back out. That was four days ago.

For most of the time the Wagoner, Okla., resident were captive in the Gulf Stream. Several times they saw ships, and Mrs. Spellman said, once they were within 200 yards of one. "We fired flares, but they paid no attention," she said.

Then early Tuesday David had the midnight watch and spotted a ship. He used a two-cell flashlight and spelled out in Morse Code: "SOS".

Mrs. Spellman said the ship's crewmembers who saw the flash couldn't figure it out, so he called a mate, who awakened the captain.

"He decided we must be signally SOS," she said. "They turned around."

The Passat, bound for Morehead City, towed the small Land Went the 121 to port. Mrs. Spellman said they were taken aboard the ship and treated royally.

"The captain even turned around and found our boat when the tow line broke," she said.

The Spellmans' boat developed alternator and fuel line trouble just out of sight of land June 5. Their radio also was out of order, so they couldn't send but could receive.

For meals the last two days the family ate seaweed soup. Mrs. Spellman said "It will keep you alive, but I don't know if you want to call it food or not."

Now that the ordeal is over, they plan to leave Morehead City in their repaired boat and go back to Florida. They will stay in the Intracoastal Waterway for the trip.

TORONTO (UPI) — Toronto prostitutes have received some bad news. An Ontario Supreme Court judge ruled that the vagrancy section of the Canadian criminal code did not violate the Canadian bill of rights.

In effect, the section says that prostitutes who cannot "give a good account of themselves" when asked to by a policeman are guilty of vagrancy.

Red China Will 'Complicate' The Arms Race

EDITOR'S NOTE— You take the ICBM, mix in the ABM, add a dash of ideology and available theories on sovereignty. You square Russians off against Americans, and then find Mao Tse-tung on the horizon. The world can only guess what the recipe will yield, but here is an analysis of how some of the ingredients may interact. The article is the second of two appraising the prospects as China begins to emerge as the third side of a triangle of superpowers.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Red China, displaying political, diplomatic and nuclear muscle is starting to look like a bona fide superpower. Its claims to that status could, eventually, complicate efforts to curb the arms race and could contribute to something in the nature of a global crisis of security.

China asserts her claim to a corner of the world's power triangle at a time when some students of world affairs find the United States showing signs of weariness with the role of "world leadership." They detect a large area of American self-doubt that can tend to reduce U.S. ability to influence events.

The Russians, occupying the third corner of the triangle, seem to read the American mood as promising prosperity for Soviet world aims. They see the United States forced to reduce drastically its military commitments all around the world.

Such developments raise new anxieties in an already anxious world, especially since Peking's scientists are expected any day to test an intercontinental ballistic missile. That explosion, punctuating a story of spectacular Red Chinese success in nuclear arms development since 1964, will reverberate ominously at SALT, the Soviet-American talks on strategic arms limitation.

After 19 months of squabbling at SALT over how to blunt the terrifying threat of a super-weapons race seeming to escalate itself automatically, a ray of hope has appeared. President Nixon indicates a treaty is possible on how to deal with defensive missile systems and suggests a possibility also of some sort of understanding on restraint in producing offensive rockets.

But there would be an impetus for renewed arms competition should either Moscow or Washington or both feel a need of more shield against a burgeoning Communist Chinese arsenal.

Ever since the nuclear age began a quarter-century ago, Moscow has striven to march U.S. might.

At present, the Russians and Americans are concerned chiefly with one another's huge arsenal. That standoff has produced an uneasy peace by menace as each side strives to maintain, as a minimum, equality of destructive power. For years the two superpowers were caught, as it trapped, in what had the look of a mutual deterrence madness.

In the view of one prominent nuclear scientist, Dr. Ralph Lapp, the race produced a situation in which technology seemed out of control, dominated not by men but by a sort of inhuman, insane logic of its own.

The Russians, noting long-range U.S. punch, built a defensive missile system to protect Moscow. By American reckoning, that reduced U.S. "deterrent credibility" and Washington sought more offensive clout. The Americans built multiple warhead missiles. So did the Russians, the American MIRVs and Russian SS9s now are topics of discussion at SALT, but their qualitative differences make a meeting of minds extremely difficult. How many warheads on a MIRV? On an SS9? How many megatons, how much kill? Can one compare apples and grapes?

China's assertion of her place in the power triangle conceivably could upset SALT by providing a new spur for American and Soviet deployment of missiles.

Moscow has been pursuing a sometimes bewildering policy, blending promise of detente with denunciation and veiled threat. Some analysts believe Moscow wants to "Finlandize" Western Europe—that is, neutralize it—and, after reducing U.S. authority and influence in Europe, to devote more attention to dealing with the Chinese in Asia.

China's diplomacy also has been perplexing of late. It has involved the "Ping Pong" technique of people-to-people smiles against a background of unrelenting tirade against the U.S., Soviet and Japanese governments. While obviously trying to improve its image and gain wider recognition, Peking retreats not an inch from total support for violent revolution and guerrilla war.

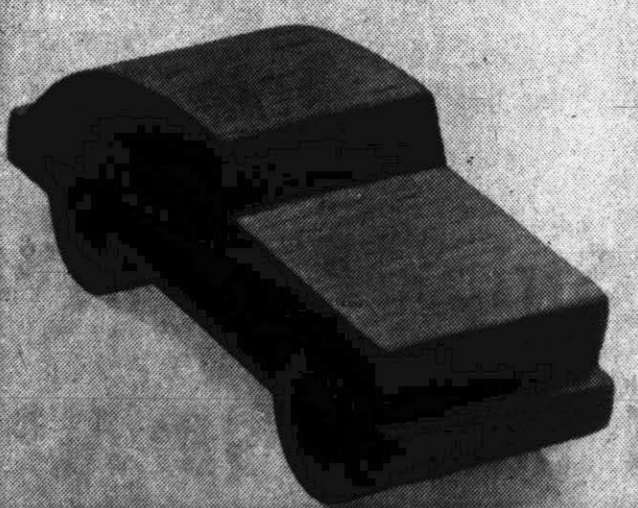

Red China's nuclear punch is negligible compared with the enormous might of the Americans and Russians. But the Oriental colossus, with three-quarters of a billion people, can boast an arsenal and a growing stable of delivery vehicles. That gives wallop to a diplomacy aimed at achieving U.N. membership, a goal now clearly in sight.

Some ask: If the current U.S. mood persuaded Washington to retire gradually to preponderant reliance on strategic nuclear clout and a buildup of smaller tactical nuclear weapons to make up for the withdrawal of U.S. troops? That, in the view of experts, would raise a risk that tactical weapons would come into play and threaten escalation to the strategic level.

Both sides at the SALT talks are acutely aware of all the possibilities, as they are aware, also, of the two times in recent years when the Russians and Americans edged close to the rim of nuclear calamity. Should China so complicate the picture that SALT fails, what then?

A Yugoslav commentator speculated recently that the "China factor" might in the long run "push the United States and the Soviet Union toward sanity."

Birthday Of 1776 Patriot

By H. G. JONES, Director
 N. C. Department of Archives and History

For The Associated Press
RALEIGH (AP) — Thursday marks the birthday of William Hooper, one of three men who represented North Carolina during the Second Continental Congress. He was among the signers on July 4, 1776, of the Declaration of Independence.

Hooper was born in Boston, Mass., on June 17, 1742, the first child of a pastor who wanted his son to follow him in the ministry.

He was educated at Boston Latin School and Harvard College, which he entered as a sophomore at the age of 15.

After earning a bachelor degree from Harvard in 1760, Hooper chose to pursue a career in law rather than in the ministry.

He studied in Boston under James Otis, a prominent lawyer, and after getting his law degree visited extensively with relatives in North Carolina before moving permanently to the Wilmington area in 1767.

That year he married Ann Clark of Wilmington.

In addition to maintaining his private law practice, Hooper became active in public affairs. Under Gov. William Tryon he served as deputy attorney-general, a position that caused him to be unpopular with those involved in the pre-Revolutionary Regulator movement. He was a member of Tryon's forces that defeated the Regulators at the Battle of Alamance in 1771.

Hooper was elected to the General Assembly in 1773 and served until the royal government was overthrown. In the General Assembly he first met another Tar Heel destined to sign the Declaration of Independence Joseph Hewes of Edenton, who had been in the Assembly since 1766.

With the outbreak of fighting in Massachusetts in 1774, a Provincial Congress was called to meet at New Bern on Aug. 25. Hooper and Hewes were elected as delegates.

They, along with Richard Caswell of Kinston, were chosen from that group to represent the state at the Continental Congress to meet at Philadelphia Sept. 5.

The three also represented North Carolina at the Second Continental Congress, which convened May 10, 1775. But Caswell resigned four months later and was replaced by John Penn.

Hooper took an active part in the debates of Congress and served on numerous committees. He helped prepare an address to the people of England setting forth the rights of the colonists and another address to the people of the colonies urging them to support their liberties with their lives.

Expressing a popular position among many Revolutionary leaders, Hooper wrote, "Britain and these colonies have a blessing to each other and we feel sure they might continue to do so. But that we continue to be connected with Great Britain is our second wish — our first is that America may be free."

When the vote was cast for independence in 1776, Hooper was absent. But he returned in time to sign the Declaration of Independence.

Hooper resigned from Congress in 1777 and retired to his home on Masonboro Sound near Wilmington.

The threat to his family during the Revolution and a bout with malaria, however, prompted him in 1781 to move to Hillsborough. There he resumed his private law practice and attempted to regain his fortune lost during the revolution.

Hooper died Oct. 14, 1790, at the age of 48 and was buried in Hillsborough. In 1894, his body and that of John Penn were moved to Guilford Courthouse National Military Park at Greensboro where a monument was erected honoring them for their service.

Boy Attacked By Ten-Foot Gator

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — "All I could see was teeth," 15-year-old Gary Althous said as he nursed head wounds after being attacked by a 10-foot alligator.

Recuperating at his suburban Palm Springs home, Gary told Monday how he was dragged underwater with his head in the gator's jaws at Lake Sago last Friday.

"I was swimming on my back about 50 yards from shore when something grabbed me and pulled me under," Gary said. "All I could see was teeth. It hurt pretty bad."

Worry Clinic Discoveries By The Ancients

Joanna's questions should intrigue everybody! For our ancient ancestors deserve a lot of credit as discoverers of many medical treatments that are still in vogue. Those mentioned below are just a few of the scientific aids to modern doctors which are the heritage of smart laymen of antiquity!

"Dr. Crane," she said, "is there any scientific validity to justify many of the home remedies that people have evolved?"
"Is our scientific modern society indebted to laymen for any medical aids?"
Jackie Spratt
Do you older readers recall the childhood rime:
"Jackie Spratt would eat no fat;
His wife would eat no lean,
And so, betwixt the two,
They licked the platter clean."

This seemed like a nonsensical rime, but it actually reveals a basic sex difference in the physiology of men vs. women. For men have a much higher proportion of lean muscle, which is why they crave a higher intake of protein food, like lean meat.

Women, however, are made curvacious by their extra amount of fat, which not only makes them enjoy fat foods more than men do.

But it also enables them to float more easily in the swimming pool, since fat is more buoyant than muscle tissue. Remember, cream floats to the top, leaving the protein milk underneath!
Laymen also discovered aspirin some 400 years B.C. For they found that when they made a tea out of willow bark, it killed much of their pain. That was aspirin!
South American Indians also discovered the value of quinine for combating malaria. They accidentally found that the bark of the cinchona tree gave them this valuable drug, which we call quinine. The American Indians also discovered curare, which they would place on the tips of darts or arrows. When a bird or animal was shot with such an arrow, in a few moments, it would drop over, paralyzed by the curare. We routinely employ curare in medicine, as to stop the severe muscular actions that otherwise occur in electrical shock treatment for psychotic patients. But the natives of India also found that the root of the rauwolfia plant was an excellent tranquilizer. It has become the basis for our modern stress on tranquilizing drugs. And a British herb woman gave us digitalis, our best heart medicine! Coffee, tea, cocoa and other stimulating substances have also been the heritage of past generations. Opium, from the poppy, is still a great boon to medicine, though some of these ancient discoveries have been carried to extremes and thus have produced narcotic, tobacco and caffeine addicts. The milkmaids of England found that they didn't contract the terrible scourge of smallpox, which devastated Europe in Shakespeare's time. For they often were vaccinated by "cow pox" on their fingers, if the cow they were milking had that kind of sore on its udder. That's how Dr. Edward Jenner derived our modern method of vaccination against smallpox, which has probably saved more human lives than any other single medical discovery of the past or present. Louis Pasteur's investigations of bacteria have now almost eliminated typhoid fever, tuberculosis, etc., via pasteurized milk. "Feed a cold but starve a fever" is also an old maxim that has some merit, too, for we swallow a lot of germs during the night when our nose and throat are infected.

So a protein breakfast incites a heavy flow of gastric juice, which in turn digests those germs via its hydrochloric acid! (Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Turtles can live on weekly or monthly feedings and by storing water can survive long droughts, says Encyclopedia Britannica.

Finns Brew Their Drinks In Kitchens

By KALEVI J. SAARI
HELSINKI (UPI) — The latest "in" thing a Finnish host entertaining guests can offer is "Daddy's Special"—a potent toast of nearly pure alcohol brewed right in his own home.

But to do so is a violation of the law and may result in heavy fines or even a prison sentence if found out.

Police acknowledge the existence of such "kitchen moonshining" but are unwilling to discuss the problem. They say they are powerless to control offenses of this kind because it would mean searching every home in Helsinki.

There was a time around Finland's independence in 1917 when parliament passed a prohibition law and drove enterprising brewers with crude home-made factories to the deep forests beyond the reach of the law.

The result was increased smuggling and smuggler barons began ferrying boatloads of spirits from the southern shores of the Baltic to Finland.

The less temperance minded also were quick to protest but it took until 1931 and the only referendum in Finland's history before alcohol was "legalized."

The referendum also gave birth to the State Alcohol Monopoly, ALKO, which later used to register all Finns authorized to buy alcoholic beverages. In recent years the number of those Finns was around one million in a nation of five million. The registry was abolished on Jan. 1, 1971.

All the while, however, illegal breweries kept going strong—originally far away in the woods but creeping gradually nearer to the big population centers. Last year police discovered and destroyed up to a dozen such "factories" within Helsinki city boundaries.

It was not until early this year that the practice of "kitchen moonshining" became generally known.

Police admit, and people in the know say, the custom already is fairly widespread.

A magazine recently investigated the problem and disclosed the equipment needed in kitchen brewing is freely available in the larger shops of downtown Helsinki at a cost of 72 marks ($17 dollars). The process is completely chemical and emits no distinguishing smell, making discovery difficult.

According to law the equipment used for illegal distilling must be destroyed by police. Manufacturers go to court and are either fined or sentenced to prison, depending on the scale of the offense.

The magazine article quoted unidentified sources as saying "experimenting" in various forms was catching on and people were even exchanging recipes.

The best way to blend a toast is to mix the end results with cranberry juice for a really excellent schnapps, it said.

Donates Stock To Charities

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — H. Ross Perot, who gained worldwide attention in efforts to free American prisoners of war in North Vietnam has donated $5.44 million of his computer company stock to 19 charitable and educational organizations.

Perot, chairman of Electronic Data Systems, said 80,000 shares given last March, have been sold at an average of $68 by the beneficiaries.

Donations went to Boy and Girl Scout groups; the U.S. Naval Academy for a recreation room where midshipmen may entertain friends; the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington, D.C.; four Texas Colleges; and various private and public schools and other organizations in the Dallas and Fort Worth area.

Cancel Concerts For Surgery

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Concerts by the Jefferson Airplane will be canceled until the rock group's lead singer Grace Slick, recovers from plastic surgery, a spokesman says.

Miss Slick was alone in her car when it hit a concrete wall on a foggy Golden Gate Bridge approach May 31. She was treated briefly at a hospital for a concussion, then released.

But a group spokesman said Tuesday Miss Slick must undergo plastic surgery for facial cuts suffered in the accident. He gave no details and didn't estimate when the singer might be able to appear again.
