Living Cost Rise Again Hits Nation

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — May's jump in living costs, biggest of the year, sliced another half a cent off every dollar.

The Nixon administration's hopes to curb inflation received a second jolt Monday when the Labor Department announced claims for unemployment insurance climbed substantially last week.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said consumer prices rose five-tenths of one per cent last month with half of the increase caused by higher prices for apparel, used cars, homes and the rising price of stamps.

It was the sharpest increase in the cost of living since a five-tenths rise last December, and even higher-six-tenths—on a seasonally adjusted basis.

The report came only hours after Secretary of Commerce Maurice Stans told a labor convention, "The rate of inflation has now come within controllable boundaries and this has been achieved without a major dislocation in the nation's economy."

Speaking to the AFL-CIO Seafarers International Union, Stans said "in the first quarter of this year the rate of inflation was down to about 3 per cent— about half the average in the first quarter of 1969."

The report said "In the three months ending in May, the consumer price index rose at an annual rate of 4.2 per cent."

The May rise pushes the index up to 120.8 of its 1967 base of 100, meaning it cost $12.08 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases four years ago.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate House Joint Economic Committee, called the CPI rise alarming. In a statement, he said the time is long past for setting up of presidential wage-price guidelines.

Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien called upon President Nixon "to convey immediately an emergency economic conference to draft a comprehensive action plan to save the American economy."

"When coupled with the 6.2 unemployment that was reported two weeks ago, it is clear the the Nixon economic game plan is a shambles," O'Brien said.

Food prices rose slightly, while prices of commodities other than food, which usually show no change in May, rose seven-tenths of 1 per cent. Charges for consumer services rose six-tenths of 1 per cent, with a fourth of the increase resulting from higher postal rates.

The total number of Americans receiving unemployment insurance the week ended June 5 was 9,947,000, up 30,900 for the week and 365,400 above a year ago, which the bureau described as substantial increases.

Site Consideration Raised

Defer 2nd Junior High Verdict

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Two matters — one a Recreation Department proposal for the purchase of the Eppes Gymnasium; the other a site consideration for the proposed new middle junior high school — were tabled until a later date by the Greenville City School Board Monday night.

On the proposal for purchase made by the Recreation Department for the Eppes Gymnasium and a portion of land on which the gym is located, tabling followed a motion by Dr. James Bearden.

Bearden's motion was that "the superintendent make available to the Recreation Commission information received from appraisers some months ago so that the Recreation Department might make a more knowledgeable offer."

Following the introduction by Superintendent of City Schools Dr. Cleet C. Cleetwood of a site consideration for a proposed new middle junior high school as part of the city school board's long-range school palnning, Dr. Bearden expressed the feeling the board "needs to discuss whether we are going to pursue a second junior high school. We should reevaluate the desirability of one junior high school in this section of the city."

Dr. Bearden also mentioned a proposal "I made two years ago that any site be made not only by people on the board but by people who are expertize in many different areas." He added "the committment of public funds for a long time project, the committment to people, needs more than a study tonight before the purchase of property where we commit ourselves ... making a decision for a $140,000 site is not that urgent."

Mrs. Robert Kittrell noted that "at a workshop several months ago the subject was left trailing. I feel we need to make a decision on one or two junior high schools. We discussed it thoroughly, but reached no decision. I feel we need to get back to it."

Dr. Bearden asked Dr. Cleetwood to prepare for the board a complete study on the desirability of one or two junior high schools, adding "based on that, we will be in a position to study, to hold it in abeyance as long as we can."

Board member Mrs. Lucille Gorham commented: "I thought the decision was already made for two junior high schools some time ago. You're confusing me."

The proposed site under discussion is 38 acres which border Hooker Road just past the Green Mill Run, owned by Will H. Moore, Jr.

Board members will again discuss this item in the July meeting or at a meeting of a later date.

Consideration of other agenda items at the June board meeting resulted in:

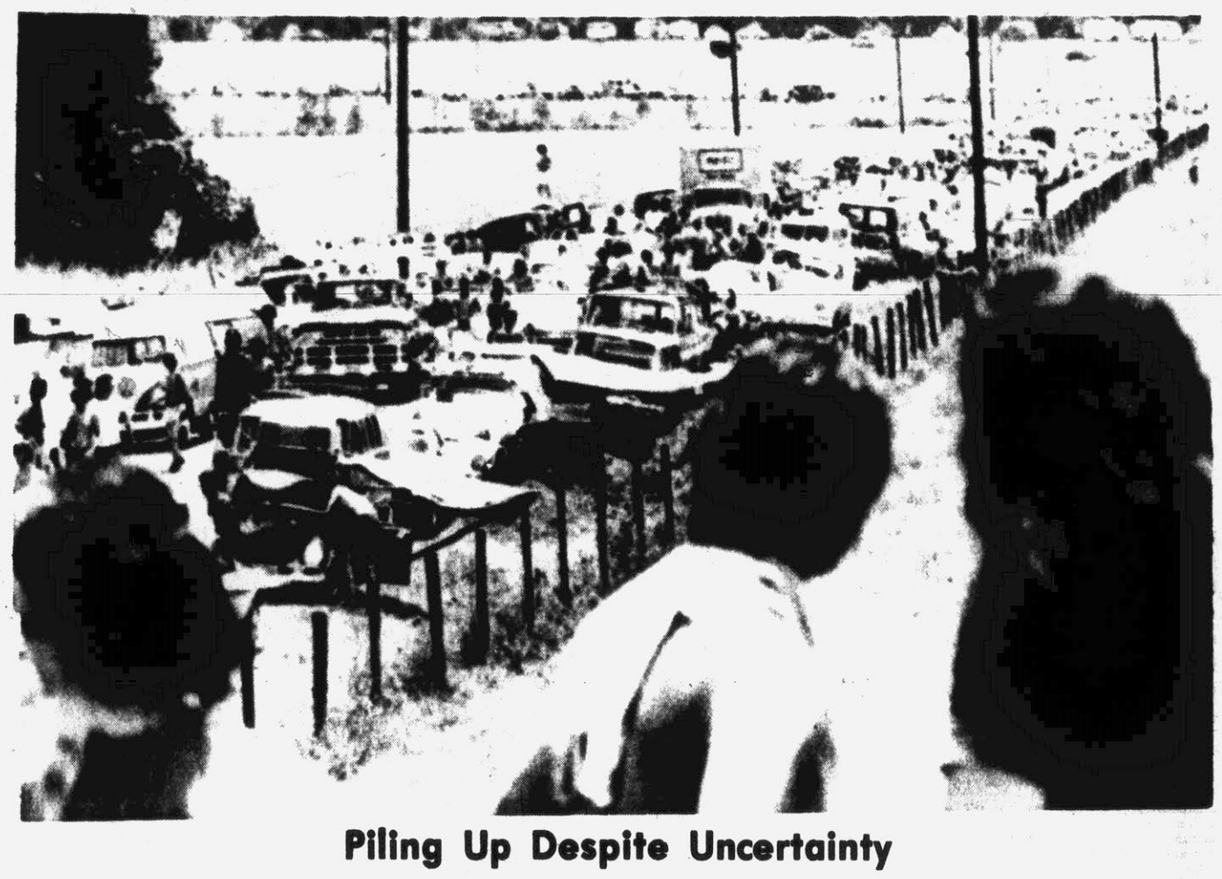

—Approval of plans to let bids on the air conditioning project for Aycock Junior High on June 23, with July 1 at 2:30 p.m. set as the date and time for opening of bids. The board will meet at a special meeting at 4:00 p.m. on July 1 to consider the low bid.

—Approval of a request from M. B. Massey Jr. to annex his property into the Greenville School District. This approval also provides for taking the West Haven Subdivision into the city school district. The city board approval follows approval by the County Board of Education on both these sites.

—Approval of the Walker Agency to handle pupil accident insurance for the coming school year. Walker is again the only one of four insurance agencies contacted which will provide football coverage along with general insurance plans. The $3.75 cost per pupil will be at the rate of $3.25 per pupil, with the Athletic Department contributing 50 cents per pupil.

—Approval of a resolution establishing the 24th of each month as a uniform pay date for city school employees; and —An announcement that the Pitt County Commissioners will conduct a hearing for the Greenville City Schools 1971-72 Budget at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 22 in the boardroom of the Pitt County Courthouse.

House Moving To Vote On Family Income Floor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which already has shown itself closely divided on welfare reform, moved today toward a decisive vote on a $2,400-a-year family income floor.

Supporters of the legislation, backed both by President Nixon and Democratic leaders, turned back the first challenge to the welfare plan Monday on a 200-172 procedural vote.

The margin was considered narrow because the House usually approves almost routinely its Rules Committee's recommendations on how to handle bills.

The effect of Monday's vote was to bar substitutes for or amendments to the bill, at the same time giving opponents one more chance to accept or reject it as a whole.

An administration source said he expects the plan to win by about the same margin. But the opposition, ranging from those who consider the level too low and the work requirements harsh to those disapproving in principle of guaranteed income, has been hard to measure.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., told the House a vote against the new program is a vote for "the hodgepodge mess that we have today."

"Any system that puts an incentive on a father to walk away from his children to assure them something to eat is not good public policy," said Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee.

Rep. Conyers Jr., D-Mich., told Mills the work force in Detroit now is 26 per cent unemployed and asked where the jobs required by the bill will come from.

Mills said the legislation provides for 200,000 public service jobs and additional funds for more jobs will be provided if necessary.

Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said "This is a most dangerous road we start out on." He predicted the Senate would raise the assured income level to $3,000 or higher.

"There will be candidates for Congress, maybe residential candidates," Colmer said, "vying to see who can promise more."

Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Calif., said Gov. Ronald Reagan asked California congressmen to vote against the plan.

The Social Security portion of the bill includes a 5 per cent benefit increase effective June 1972, future cost of living increases and liberalization of rules. But also a steep increase in payroll taxes.

Nixon Speaks To AMA

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — President Nixon today solicited American Medical Association support for his health insurance plan by suggesting one sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy would cost $77 billion a year 36 months hence.

Nixon, in an address prepared for the annual AMA convention here, never mentioned the name of the Massachusetts Democrat. However, there was no doubt that Kennedy's insurance proposal was his target.

The President actually had little to say about his own recommendation that employers and employes share health insurance costs while federal money would foot the bill for low-income families.

The AMA, which represents about half the nation's physicians, is cool toward any form of national health insurance.

Nixon, instead, focused on what he portrayed as the shortcomings of the Kennedy plan—principally its cost and, beyond that, his prediction that it would "eventually lead to the complete federal domination of our medical system."

In a reference to the Kennedy recommendations he said:

"I know that it is very easy sometimes to think that the plan that costs the most will help the most—but often the situation is just the opposite. In fact I believe the most expensive plan that has been offered in the current discussion—a plan for nationalized compulsory health insurance—is the plan that would actually do the most to hurt American health care."

If the Kennedy proposal went into operation by July 1, 1973, said Nixon, it would cost the federal government more than $77 billion and would represent nearly 25 per cent of the federal budget "sharply limiting our ability to meet other pressing social problems.

Nixon said present federal health programs, if continued, "would cost the average household in America an estimated $405 per year" by the 12-month period beginning in mid-1973.

Restructuring Delay May Be Now Acceptable

RALEIGH (AP) — The possibility loomed today that Gov. Bob Scott may be changing his position on restructuring higher education and may be willing for the General Assembly to come back this fall to deal with the issue.

Rep. Perry Martin, chairman of the House Education Committee and a strong supporter of the governor's position, said the governor may be willing to look to a special session in September or October to act on his restructuring proposals.

"He (the governor) didn't want to consider that last week," said Martin, "but he might want to do that now."

Martin, who had earlier vowed to push for immediate action on the governor's plan, said:

"I sense a sincere desire on the part of many members to go home. The suggestion for coming back had some merit."

Martin's milder stance came after Sen. John Burney, D-New Hanover, stunned the governor's forces last Friday when he introduced a bill signed by 28 of the 50 senators. The bill would defer the restructuring issue for two years while a commission studies it.

The governor's plan calls for placing all 16 state-supported universities under a single board of regents.

Meanwhile, the director of the State Board of Higher Education, Dr. Cameron West, called for an even stronger central board to govern the 16 universities. He said this would be the only way to end squabbling in higher education.

West a backer of the governor in the higher education fight, disclosed in an interview that he all along has favored a strong governing board.

The regents plan calls for a weaker coordinating board.

Undamaged

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Careful examination has determined that the Apollo 15 rocket and spaceships were not damaged by lightning which struck the launch pad last week.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported Monday that experts checked the Saturn 5 booster, the command ship and the lunar landing module over the weekend.

David R. Scott, James B. Irwin and Alfred M. Worden are to blast off for the moon July 26, and Scott and Irwin are to land four days later at the base of the lunar Apennine Mountains. They are to explore the surface for 67 hours, using a four-wheeled moon buggy to get around.

Bypass Bids Studied

Barnhill Contracting Co. of Tarboro submitted the low bid for the Greenville bypass project this morning during the State Highway Commission's bid opening session in Raleigh.

According to a commission spokesman, the construction firm offered a bid of $3,103,323.33 for the 5.289 mile eastern bypass project. A final completion date for the project was set for Aug. 1, 1973.

Five other firms submitted bids on the project and all were in excess of $3 million. They were: Barrus Construction, Kinston, $3,410,686.03; Nello Teer Construction Co., Concord, $3,433,998.78; C. G. Tate Construction Co., Concord, $3,775,955.88; Sherman Simpson Inc., Mount Airy, $3,487,490.06; and S. T. Wooten Construction Co., Stantonsburg, $3,528,053.23.

The commission will consider approval of the Barnhill bid on Thursday morning during the regular Highway Commission meeting.

Shaw U. Student Slain In Dorm

RALEIGH (AP) — Raleigh police today were investigating the slaying of a Shaw University student in his dormitory room last night.

The officers declined to give details of the killing or the victim's identity pending notification of the next of kin. They did say the youth was from South Carolina.

Officers said the victim was found in the hallway outside his room. He died shortly after being taken to Wake Memorial Hospital. He had been shot once with a small-caliber bullet. Officers said no weapon was discovered.

Eight Judges Are Sitting On Times' Case

NEW YORK (AP) — With all eight judges sitting because of the "extraordinary importance" of the issue, the federal appeals court here today considers the government's move to halt The New York Times' publication of classified Pentagon papers.

A judge panel from the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals extended a restraining order against The Times today to allow the full court to hear what the newspaper called "a unique case in the history of the nation." Chief Judge Henry J. Friendly said that all the members had conferred by telephone over the weekend and were "in accord in their belief that this appeal raised questions of such extraordinary importance that it should be heard by all the judges."

The Times printed three installments of a series based on the Pentagon's 47-volume study of the origins and escalation of the Vietnam war, but the series was halted a week ago by the restraining order pending the outcome of the government suit.

Last Saturday, U.S. District Court Judge Murray I. Gurfein turned down the government's request for a preliminary injunction barring The Times from publishing further articles based on the classified documents but the government appealed to the circuit court.

Normally the appellate court here consists of nine judges, but currently there is a vacancy. Should the panel split 4-4 on a decision, Gurfein's ruling would stand and The Times would be free to resume publication, barring intervention by the Supreme Court.

14.4 Million On Welfare

WASHINGTON (AP) — Welfare recipients rose to a record number of 14.4 million in March, continuing the steady growth for the past two years.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said 235,000 persons were added to the roll in March with the bulk of the increase, 224,000, occurring in the program of aid to families with dependent children-ASDC.

ABOUT EQUAL

WAHSINGTON (AP) — Consumption of cigarettes in 1971 is expected to slightly top last year's 536 billion, but the per captia consumption in the U.S. may be about equal to last year's, an Agriculture Department report indicates.

Greenville 'Among First' For HUD Funds In July

Mayor S. Eugene West Monday confirmed that funds for the Greenville housing projects are depleted, but said that "officials in Atlanta have indicated Greenville will be among the first to receive housing funds after the start of the new fiscal year which begins July 1."

Mayor West, on a special trip to Atlanta to confer with officials of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), was accompanied by Billy Laughinghouse, Chairman of the Greenville Redevelopment Commission and Col. A E Dubber, Executive Director of the commission.

The major added that "on urban renewal, we were advised to file for additional funds on our Central Business Development programs."

Mayor West mentioned that "officials in Atlanta were very cooperative and indicated they would work with us on all programs to the fullest extent possible.

Also on urban renewal development, Mayor West commented, "I want to make it clear, on the CBD, that the program is again moving along and is not being delayed by court action." The mayor's mention of court action refers to the case pending in the courts brought against the City of Greenville by former Mayor Frank M. Wooten, Jr. and others, in which they seek to bar certain phases of the CBD plan.

Mayor West commented on these matters when he appeared on New Bern's WCTI television program "Encounter" Sunday at 12:30, along with the mayors of New Bern and Jacksonville. The mayors discussed what each of the cities is trying to do in their city planning.

Auto Liability Overhaul Is Introduced

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation was introduced Monday night to carry out study commission recommendations for the overhaul of North Carolina's auto liability insurance laws.

The bill would put into effect the so-called "file and use" plan under which insurance companies would set their own auto liability rates. The insurance commissioner would review the rates to make sure they were reasonable and fair.

The plan is designed to provide "a more free and competitive market for auto insurance. The bill was sponsored by Reps. Clarence Leatherman, D-Lincoln, and Jack Rhyne, D-Gaston, and Sens. Clyde Norton, D-McDowell, Gordon Allen, D-Person, L. P. McLendon, D-Guilford, and Bobby Lee Combs, D-Catawba.

Currently, the state has a fixed rating system under which the insurance commissioner sets a single scale of auto liability rates which all companies must use.

In other action, Rep. Charles Taylor, R-Transylvania, introduced a bill that would amend the constitution to allow the General Assembly to let counties exempt from the intangibles tax any property which the county is permitted to tax.

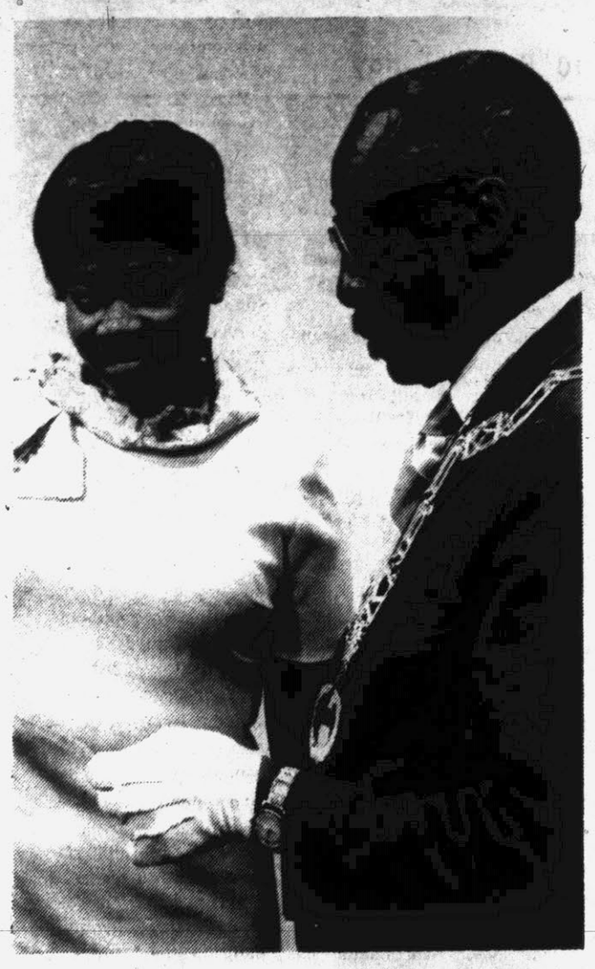

Rep. James Beatty, D-Mecklenburg, sponsored a bill to make it a misdemeanor to inhale toxic vapors such as glue or to possess any substances for this purpose.

A bill sponsored by Rep. Clyde Auman, D-Falls, and Robert Falls, D-Cleveland, would revise the laws regarding the Board of Juvenile Corrections and convert the board to the Department of Youth Development.

Sen. Jyles Coggins, D-Wake, sponsored a resolution to create a seven-member study commission to develop and submit to the 1973 legislature plans for a new and modern residence for North Carolina's governor.

And Rep. Bob Jones, D-Rutherford, introduced a resolution to create a study commission to recommend changes in the operation of the General Assembly.

PACE Grant Made Possible

GRANT RECIPIENT — Miss Alice Patrick is shown with L. B. Anderson, district deputy of District 10, AF&AM, one of her benefactor groups.

Two local groups are sharing the sponsorship of a PACE grant to give a Winterville girl chance to make money for her higher education.

The St. Augustine's College Alumni Chapter of Greenville and members of District 10 AF & AM are providing matching funds with the federal government for Miss Alice Patrick to work as a clerical assistant at Robinson Primary School in Winterville this summer.

The federal government provides 80 per cent of her pay and the alumni group and the Masonic group will pay the other 20 per cent for the school.

"Private organizations' providing the local funds for a college student to work in order to stay in school is to be highly commended," Bob Phelps, director of the PACE program for this area, said. "We appreciate the help of the two groups."

Miss Patrick, a rising sophomore at Fayetteville State University, is the daughter of Mrs. Louise Patrick of Winterville.

Luncheon Optimist Club Being Formed

The newly organized Luncheon Optimist Club of Greenville is now meeting every Wednesday afternoon, 1 p.m. at Parker's Barbecue, according to chairman Stuart Buchanan.

Buchanan, who is serving as temporary chairman until the chapter is chartered, said that membership now stands at 21 and the club hopes to have 50 members before applying for an official charter.

The chairman added that if the 50 members are signed by early July, the club hopes to be chartered the second week in that month. He said that meetings now deal with increasing club membership.

Buchanan said that the club, which has already held four meetings, hopes to foster optimism and lend support to youth, as well as endorse the support of law and order.

Optimist International has set as it's goal for the year, Buchanan noted, a project called "mission involvement." This project involves a program of assisting and working with local officials in attacking drug problems facing youth today, he said.

Other temporary officers of the club are Gene Brown of Planters Bank, secretary-treasurer, and Larry Whitlow of Larry's Carpetland, membership chairman.

It's so easy to do.

Because you want so many things now. For the house. For yourselves.

You want to live life like there's no tomorrow.

But there is. And while all the charge cards and loans can be a big help, they can also create a big headache if abused.

If there's any answer to the problem of staying out of debt, it's to take a long look at what you want your tomorrow to be. And save to make it happen.

It's not easy, simply because it's harder to save money than it is to spend it. But when you can save the money to pay for things in cash, you know there won't be a new bill coming the first of the month.

And that's the difference between owing and owning.

Even if you can only save a little at a time—if you can do it regularly you'll find you really don't have to wait so long for the things you want.

To get started, save a little here and there at home. And then deposit your savings regularly in a savings program at your bank to earn interest. It adds up.

But start now, while you're young. Force yourself to plan part of your future by setting up a regular savings program.

You owe it to yourselves. So you won't always owe everyone else.

Suburban Beauty Hints from Clara Garris

DEEP-SET EYES

Deep set eyes are often a problem. However, proper use of eyeliner can cut the apparent depth of the eyes in half. Remember two rules: do not extend eyeliner next to the nose; instead extend the line from the middle of the eye outwards. This will appear to cut the depth of deep set eyes in half.

Also, deep set-eyed women should never wear a dark line under the eye. This tends to sink the eye in even further. The effect is very hard and artificial on most women, anyway.

Eye shadow is also a peril for deepset eyes. Be sure to apply the shadow heaviest close to the lash line and then extend it outward. Avoid bringing it all the way in towards the nose.

Her Protection Is Baby Carriage

MONTPELLIER, France (WNS) — Marie Therese Bonnier, 38, has never been a mother but claims the French record for pushing a baby carriage. "This is my third hiking trip around France, and I take the buggy with me each time," she said. "It holds my clothes, food and camping equipment. Better still, it seems to protect me from romantic assaults by lonely men. Best of all, drivers are careful not to run down a woman with a baby carriage on the busy highways."

IOU Should State More Than Amount

DEAR ABBY: You recently had a letter from a woman whose boy friend told her he was not the marrying kind. Well, after she had lent him quite a large sum of money he upped and married somebody else, so she took him to court to get her money back and lost the case. You said, "A gift is just a gift, and a loan without an IOU may as well be a gift."

Abby, an IOU doesn't mean a thing if all it states is that you lent somebody a certain amount of money. To merely acknowledge a debt is NOT a promise to pay. In order for a note to hold up in court it has to state that a certain amount of money must be paid to the bearer of the note either on demand or by a certain date.

ALABAMA LAW STUDENT

DEAR LAW STUDENT: And I O U a great big thanks for writing!

DEAR ABBY: I vowed that the next time a letter appeared from a widow complaining that her "friends" have abandoned her, I would ask you to ask her a simple question: "When your husband was alive, did YOU invite widows and other single women to parties and dinners? Or did you think of them only when your husband was out of town, or occupied elsewhere?" As far as I'm concerned, there is no more selfish or thoughtless group of persons than married women when it comes to unattached women. But with unattached MEN, that's a different story. An "extra" man is always welcome.

PLEASE tell widows and other single women to forget about married friends, because they have certainly forgotten about HER. HAD IT IN HARTFORD

DEAR ABBY: Will you please tell me if it is possible for a woman to conceive while she's in the water. I mean in a pool, river or bath? MUST KNOW

DEAR MUST: Not without a man.

DEAR ABBY: We had a letter from our son today. It was mostly full of "Who am I? . . . I am me," and all that rot. We are getting pretty fed up with his self-indulgent soul-searching, but we do want to keep in touch with him.

He says he and his girl friend [she lives in his commune] may get married soon. He also wrote that he may "have to" get a job soon as they are running out of bread, and in the meantime he would appreciate a little more help from home.

Well, that raised the temperature a few degrees around here. Two able-bodied young people should sit on the floor and ask, "Who am I?" while these two square old working parents send them money.

No, I don't think so. What do you think?

LETTER FROM SON

DEAR LETTER: Parents who subsidize kids away from home are helping those kids continue whatever it is they are doing—or not doing. No parent wants his child to starve, but the surest way to get a child to earn his own bread is to quit sending him dough.

Another Story In The Motive

The New York Times last week startled the world with the beginning of the publication of a secret Pentagon report on the Vietnam war.

The report purports to tell the story of the escalation of the Vietnam war through four administrations which finally saw the bombing of North Vietnam and the build up of U.S. forces in the war to include an active role in the ground fighting.

Publication of the report created a sensation and culminated in a temporary restraining order which prevented the Times from continuing publication of the series until the courts could hear arguments from the Justice Department concerning its threat to national security. This in itself was unprecedented. With the constitutional protection of freedom of the press it is doubtful that any newspaper had been faced with such an order before.

Beyond that, the publication rekindled a national debate about who was to blame for the fact that we became so deeply involved in Vietnam. The most burning issue of all was the indication in the report that plans were already made for the escalation prior to the election of 1964 — the one where Barry Goldwater was pictured as bomb happy and Lyndon Johnson was considered the reasonable candidate.

As everyone knows Johnson won and the war did escalate.

To us, what is just as important as what the report said is who saw to it that one of the few copies was made available to The New York Times for certain publication.

So far, there has been speculation on how the report got out, but nothing has been proven. The question is bound to be raised as to whether powerful political groups were behind the actual passing of the report. The possibilities of the report making many some factions look good and others look bad must plant the seed of suspicions in everyone's minds that the report was given out to benefit someone.

Little is done by the power hungry and super ambitious in Washington simply because they feel that the public should have the facts. Most moves are made because they benefit groups or individuals in their climbs to the top of the power heap.

There is quite a bit of speculation now as to who had the most to gain and who lost the most due to publication of the report.

The New York Times was engaging in the highest traditions of journalism in publishing the Pentagon study and we applaude this great newspaper for its courage.

It is possible, however, that those who made the report avaialble had other motives. If the full story of how the report got out is ever determined, it is going to be interesting to see just what was going on.

Sure To Be A Great Summer

By BRYAN HAISLIP

RALEIGH — Birds wake up before six. I hear them through the open windows as I rise in the cool, gray light.

Summer, and the longest day of the year, begins with song.

And the slap-slap-slap of a neighbor, jogging past in the street.

There's a good feel to a mid-June morning before the sum comes up. The day is ahead with noise, heat and sweat: energy expended in strenuous work and play. For that pre-dawn hour, everything pulses in suspended antimation and expectancy.

Summer starts in North Carolina breathless with promises: bright days to come at the beach, whole mountainsides flushed with rhododendron, men and machines at work in fields and factories to make the year's harvest. Disappointment may come in autumn, but now everybody looks for the most fun on vacation, the best crops, new records in production and sales.

Zesely's feet thump the floor, and my reverie ends. It's funny. You have to pry him out of bed to get to school at 8:45 a.m., but he comes out chipper at 6:30 for swimming practice.

Lawmakers' Bright Palace

By the time I reach the State Legislative Building, sunlight has made it a dazzling palisade. People coming out squint in the glare, and those going in are temporarily blind.

Indie the temperature is pleasant as a mountain cove or the North Hills Mall. The bustling activity, shifting groups of the lobbyists and the lobbied, makes it apparent that adjournament is nowhere near.

Clerks and secretaries debate vacation plans. Do more bachelors go to seashore or mountain resorts?

These pretty girls work at the legislature more for the glamour than the pay. They like association with those who wield power, but they get edgy as the session eats into summer funtime.

Some legislators have similar worries. I hear one Senator say he and his wife were booked to leave July 11 on a tour of Europe and they were going, whether higher education is restructed or not.

Cool Solon Stay Longdr

Ever since the General Assembly moved into the State Legislative Building in 1963, sessions have been getting longer and longer.

There's a reason. It's called air conditioning.

What county seat lawyer wants to go home to the electric fan and fly swatter when he can relax in the coolness of his State House cubicle?

In the old days, weather was an ally in getting the legislature out of town. When June arrived, temperatures (and sometimes tempers) rose in the Capitol's upper chambers where the General Assembly met.

Nothing served the cause of compromise on a contested issue like a couple of 90-degree days in a row with no air conditioning to reduce the heat and humidity. Opposition wilted like an all-cotton seersucker suit, and concensus on adjornment came quickly.

Nowadays cool-headed lawmakers can argue into August, and at times it looks like they well may do so.

Our family vacation plans await the outcome. Meanwhile, we break the routine with weekend trips.

Season Demands Shape-Up

We went to Wrightsville Beach the first weekend in June. I came out in my swim shorts. Mary Allen and Zesely looked as though they'd sighted a disaster area.

"Dad," said Zesely, "you've got to get in shape for summer."

"I'm not overweight," I protested.

"I don't think it's the gross," said Mary Allen tactfully, "but the distribution."

They wanted me to jog. I remembered the two friends who went to the funeral home upon the death of a neighbor.

"Doesn't he look good?" commented one. "He should," said the other. "He'd been jogging for six months."

We settled for a daily mile-and-a-quarter walk. Whatever physical benefits accrue, it already has served social interests. We've talked to neighors we only nodded to from the car before.

Walking renews acquaintance with Nature, too. Our path goes by a wooded stream where fire pinks bloom, bright red astericks in the gathering dusk. A wood thrush serenades. Such is the music for the end of June's rare days.

We called home in the evening. Mother's voice came over the telephone cheerily.

As you do with farmers, I talked to my father about the weather.

"It's been dry here," I said.

"We could use rain, I reckon," Daddy said. "But you know what the old folks use to say."

"A dry June never begs bread."

It's going to be a great summer. Somehow I feel it.

Bull-Sessions Are Fruitful

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — The beginning of White House wisdom in dealing with an increasingly rebellious Congress was clearly evident in the lobbying for last week's vote that strongly upheld President Nixon's Vietnam troop-withdrawal plan in its most critical House test to date.

Mr. Nixon's great fear in the weeks leading up to the vote was not that he would lose it (impossible in the only moderately dovish House) but that the vote would show dangerous erosion of war support.

From such erosion would flow two political hazards: weakening Mr. Nixon's hand in trying to keep the country behind his Vietnam policy; weakening his bargaining power, now marginal at best, with the Communist regime in Hanoi.

Consequently, the President did not want Thursday's vote (on an amendment forbidding any new military procurement funds to be spent on the war after Dec. 31) to compare badly with last year's vote on a somewhat simliar resolution.

To minimize losses, Mr. Nixon authorized his chief lobbyist in the House, Richard Cook, to try a novel techinque that Cook and top White House lobbyist Clark MacGregor had been toying with for weeks: closed-door briefing sessions with Congressmen in the White House situation room dramatically departing from the polite, sterile, and always inhibited briefings usually held before major votes.

Cook's idea: to confront small groups of House members, mixed by party, seniority, and ideology, with technical experts on the staff of Henry Kissinger, Mr Nixon's national security aide, with no embargo on questions and no limit on time.

In short, Cook wanted the tiresome Presidential briefing replaced by a hard-hitting bull session. Cook's lobbying rule is that fence-sitters seldom succumb to formal presentations but sometimes can be persuaded if they have a chance to ask any questions they want and can speak their minds freely without fear of stepping on important toes, such as the President's.

Moreover, Cook's rule also takes account of a relatively new phenomenon in today's House: it can no longer be dominated by a handful of powerful committee chairmen, by an all-powerful Speaker, or by party loyalty.

Thus, when hard-line Speaker John McCormack stepped down last year, to be replaced by mild-mannered Rep. Carl Albert of Oaklahoma, the White House lost a vastly influential ally on the Vietnam war.

At the same time, the proliferation of public pressure groups such as the well-financed Common Cause, headed by John Gardner, is making deep inroads into the ranks of moderates of both parties, a new phenomenon making Cook's job much harder.

Strength For Today

A GROWING EVIL

Misunderstandings and quarrels are never rectified until both parties to the controversy are ready to go at least half-way. Understanding and reconciliation belong together. They involve confrontation. The shrugging of the shoulders never settled any problem. Nor do words spit out in bitterness make any difference to the solution of a real problem. If we take the position that we are right and no one is going to shove us about and impose upon us, then we are in for misunderstanding, bitterness, anger and separation of every variety.

Wars start in the home. A calm, peaceful, cheerful home is one of the greatest of God's creations. A home where someone appears always to be arguing with someone else is not a home in the true sense of the term. We think of the divorces that never needed to be granted, the separations, the refusal to speak to someone who merits at least a slight acknowledgment — this is the beginning of strife. It cannot be held within the four walls of a house. It cannot be limited to any group. Add all the contention of the world together and you come out with a total that spells intercontinental strife.

And let us not think only of the other fellow when we are thinking about mistakes, slights, insults and injuries. The looking-glass is in order at this point. No, you are now wholly to blame, and you have a right to present your point of view. But watch out. Argument can quickly grow into controversy and controversy into estrangement.

Iran Has A Better Idea

Mr. Nixon's four - point plan for attacking the critical problem of drug addiction includes a stepped - up assault on the heroin pushers, but Iran, I think, has a better idea. Iran puts them to death. Since 1969, according to a recent House report, 86 convicted pushers have been executed by Iranian firing squads. What used to be a massive drug problem in Iran is being whittled steadily down to size.

The President was not prepared last week to recommend any such drastic measures here, but he might find surprising public support for the Iranian approach.

After years of simmering along, the drug situation suddenly has developed a sense of urgency. No aspect of "law and order" now commands greater attention.

In uring a $100 million crash program, Mr. Nixon spelled out four areas of necessary action — education, rehabilitation, prosecution, and foreign assistance aimed at curbing the poppy harvest in Turkey and in Southeast Asia. Meanwhile, on the Hill, Congressman John Monagan of Connecticut and Senator Harold Hughes of Iowa have stepped up their own efforts to cope with addiction among U.S. troops in Vietnam.

These manufestations of concern are fully justified. Weighed against the frightening problem of hard drug addiction, the marijuana problem, serious as it may be, dwindles to insignificance. A two-man House study mission (Morgan F. Murphy of Illinois, and Robert H. Steele of Connecticut), in an excellent report on May 27, placed the number of heroin addicts in the U.S. at 250,000. To this should be added an estimated 30,000 to 40,000 addicts among U.S. troops in Southeast Asia.

The figures probably are far too low. In Detroit alone, where 50 persons have been slain in gangland wars this year, officials believe 20,000 human beings — nearly all of them young, most of them black — have passed what the President describes as heroin's point of no return. The addict population is mounting geometrically; and the cost in ruined lives, wholly apart from the cost in stolen property, is beyond calculation.

Under the circumstances, it is difficult to single out one area of overriding concern. Senator Hughes is concentrating his energies upon a plan of amnesty and rehabilitation among the armed forces. He is convinced that "it is utterly unrealistic to assumre that the drug epidemic can be controlled by shutting off the supply." He may be right, but Murphy and Steele, of the House study mission, make a convincing case that little will be accomplished until the production of heroin is attacked at the source in Turkey and Southeast Asia.

Turkey has been making some progress toward reducing its poppy harvest. Since 1967, the number of provinces legally permitted to cultivate poppies has dropped from 21 to 7; three other provinces will be eliminated next year. But Turkey has yet to adopt a licensing law, and illicit production continues.

Sees Slow Start

(The Durham Herald)

The Nixon administration has given little more than token recognition to the alcoholism problem in the nation in its request to Congress to provide $34.6 million in the next fiscal year for what the White House has announced as a "major national effort" to combat the problem.

Congress last year authorized the expenditure of $300 million over a three-year period for a massive attack on alocholism, with the national commitment making available upon request $70 million in this fiscal year, $100 million in fiscal 1972, and $130 million in fiscal 1973.

The administration decided against any expenditure in this fiscal year, however, and for the next fiscal year it has plans for spending only $34.6 million. That amounts to about $3.90 for each of the nation's nine million alcoholics and problem drinkers.

The requests for alcoholic programs in the next fiscal year fall far short of the need, as Dr. Morris Chavetz, director of the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, has acknowledged. He has been quoted as saying, in what could be taken as an apology for the administration's timid approach, that "The country is ambivalent about alcoholism and doesn't appear ready through Congress to provide the needed funds."

It would appear, however, that the administration has displayed far more ambivalence in respect to the alcoholism problem than the country has, and with a massive three-year $300 million attack authorized last year by Congress it for certain can be accused of dragging its feet in its approach to what has been termed the nation's No. 1 health problem by some spokesmen.

If the massive attack, including assistance for the states, had been set in motion in this fiscal year, the country obviously would be in a better position to step up the fight against alcoholism at an earlier time. It is regrettable that the administration has not stepped forward earlier, and it is regrettable also that it plans such a limited approach in the next fiscal year.

The problem is one of major proportions, and it carries with it a note of urgency. The administration has not faced up to it realistically, as is evident in the slow and limited approach.

Your Job Supports A Stranger

By ELMER ROESSNER

On average, everyone who has a job in America is supporting an employee or beneficiary of the federal, state or local governments.

The Tax Foundation calculates that, as of the end of 1970, an estimated 72.8 million persons were receiving support from the government.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics calculates that over 77 million persons were employed in the labor force in January 1971.

The figues probably haven't changed since then, except for minor fluctuation. Thus every person working today, there is some stranger getting support from his labors.

How Divided

The Tax Foundation counts these beneficiaries of support:

26.2 million recipients of old-age, survivors' and disability insurance (Social Security). Of these, there were 22.1 million adults and 4.1 million children.

15.7 million government employees, including military personnel. This also includes federal, state and local government employees.

13.8 million getting public assistance. Of these, 7 million were children, 6.8 million were adults.

9.4 million not covered by Social Security were on government retirement system pensions.

5.5 million veterans and their survivors were getting pensions or some form of compensation.

2.1 million were on unemployment benefit rolls.

The total beneficiaries are actually considerably more than the 26.2 million counted by the foundation. It says its figures do not include individuals and private institutions receiving direct support under such special-purpose programs as federal farm support, scholarships, research and training grants and similar projects.

Consultants Skipped

The figures apparently do not include the horde of consultants on federal, state and local government payrolls. The practice of hiring consultants on a per diem basis has been growing in recent years. Their numbers do not figure in government employee totals; they are usually hired outside of civil service, and their fees are negotiable. In New York City, for example, dozens of consultants have been paid at higher rates than elected officials.

Even though there is some duplication in the foundation's figures — persons can draw both Social Security and government pensions, etc. — the actual total is probably higher than the Tax Foundation's estimate of 72.8 million. It may be close to 75 million.

And even that can't include undercover agents of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Age Is Pushed On You

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you think you are as young as you feel, you're only kidding yourself. What is more often true is this—you're as old as other people decide.

They won't let you stay young.

It isn't simply the passing years that make a man finally and inevitably old. It is the opinion of his friends and critics. It is their collective verdict that thrusts him kicking and

The world's campaign to make a man old usually begins when he turns 60, and the pressure is stepped up every year thereafter. If you have passed your 60th birthday, here are a few signs to beware:

No matter how bad you feel, everyone assures you that you never looked better.

The boss gives you a token merit raise, but gives to a younger man a bigger merit raise—and the promotion you wanted.

Management Of State Fair Said Poor, Negligent

RALEIGH (AP) — A legislative subcommittee criticized the management of the North Carolina State Fair Monday as being guilty of "unsound business practices, poor management and negligence in internal fiscal controls."

In a 200-page report, the Joint Appropriations sub-subcommittee on general government and agriculture, chaired by Sen. P. J. (Jack) Baugh, D-Mecklenburg, said that many events are staged at the fairgrounds without written contract and many fees are never paid.

It says that in spite of a widely-publicized "crack-down" on free passes, thousands are still issued without organized control.

And it says that despite having its own publicity staff, the fair management spends thousands of dollars annually on promotion, $20,000 to $30,000 of which "could be saved."

The fairground buildings, it says, are "in deplorable condition" and there are "apparently no building maintenance schedules."

Reacting to the report, officials of the managing agency—the North Carolina Department of Agriculture—defended the operation of the fair and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Graham said he was opposed to the idea of establishing a board separate from the department to run the fair, which the legislative committee recommends.

"There used to be a separate board," Graham said. "The fair has operated better under the department than it ever did."

In 1970, the fairgrounds were used by 219 different organiations producing gross receipts of $993,291 and a record net profit of $261,000.

Top officials involved in the fair said the legislative report seemed to be a combination of misunderstanding and misinformation.

"If we could sit down together (with the subcommittee) we could explain a lot of those things," said Arthur K. Pitzer, fair manager.

Graham said: "The purpose of the fair is ervice to the people of North Carolina, for education and for promotion of the state. The only state appropriation we get is for capital improvements. It is one of the few state fairs in America that shows a new profit, but the profit is of secondary importance. Service is the main thing."

Baugh wants to set up an independent State Fair Board. He introduced legislation May 18 that would do just that, and he said Monday that the legislation had been prompted by the results of the subcommittee's investigation.

His goal now is to get the legislation away from the agriculture committees, which uniformly side with the Department of Agriculture, into his appropriations subcommittee.

The subcommittee report said, "It is doubtful that any private business could maintain a creditable rating if it adopted the management and business practices found in this publicly owned business."

It concluded that the State Fair is one of 19 divisions operated under the Board of Agriculture "and has grown so much over the last few years that we (the state) can no longer administer it as a sideline.

"The State Fair needs to be governed by a board which is relatively free from political influence and the influence of elected officials."

Power Project Again Advised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed Blue Ridge hydroelectric project on the New River in North Carolina and Virginia has again been recommended to the Federal Power Commission for a 50-year license.

FPC Examiner William C. Levy said Monday the Appalachian Power Co. should go ahead with the plans for the $287 million work. His decision is subject to review by the commission.

An examiner had earlier made the same recommendation but the FPC reopened hearings on grounds that downstream recreation should be considered. Levy said he made some suggestions for change to meet objections.

Value Of Loot 'Not Proven'

GREEN BORO (AP) — A former employe of Fieldcrest Mills at Eden was acquitted Monday of transporting stolen merchandise when a federal judge ruled that the value of the merchandise had not been proven to be more than $5,000.

U. S. Dist. Judge Edwin H. Stanley acquitted Delanor Lemons on grounds the value of the goods shown to be stolen was less than the minimum for federal jurisdiction.

A former member of the Virginia House of Delegates, John Hagan of Roanoke, testified he had bought merchandise from Lemons. The government claimed 93 cartons of Fieldcrest sheets and pillowcases found in Hagan's warehouse had been stolen.

Friends profess amazement that you still like to play a little tennis, but then ask,"don't you think it's pretty risky now—at your age?

Everyone suggests that you should begin to take things easy and not to put any unusual strain on yourself. This makes you wonder now and then if it isn't something of a victory when you cross the street unaided.

Your are not expected by young people to say anything either subtle or important. Your remarks, by their reckoning, are one-third age and two-thirds senile.

What can you do about this insidious aging process by other people? You can do nothing at all about it, not even if you find the fabled Fountain of Youth and take a swig from it 10 times a day.

When the world decides it is high time for you to be old, it usually works its will, whether you are glad or sad about it.

converted to a morphine base, is smuggled chiefly into France. There it is processed into the heroin that supplies the bulk of the U.S. market. The House study mission was able to report "a steadily increasing spirit of aggressiveness" on the part of the French, but the number of convicted processors is pathetically low.

The obstacles against "attacking the source" in Southeast Asia are plainly formidable. Widespread corruption feeds upon the drug traffic, and customs controls provide no effective restaint. But the U. S. does have leverage here, and Mr. Nixon must put it to work.

There is no one answer. My own imagination wanders back to Iran. Suppose Detroit were to erect a public gallows on Twelfth Street or Mack Avenue, and suppose Detroit hanged one heroin pusher at high noon every day, and suppose New York and Washington did the same. These would be acts of perfect justice, and the grisly spectacle might accomplish jore than diplomacy, education and rehabilitation put together.

Under Cook's rule that only free debate between anonymous experts and members of Congress can be truly persuasive, he limited each group to no more than ten Congressmen, including at least one anti-war dove, and he insisted that Kissinger permit his briefers — Dolf Droge and Richard Smyser — to take the wraps off classified information and rise above generalitites.

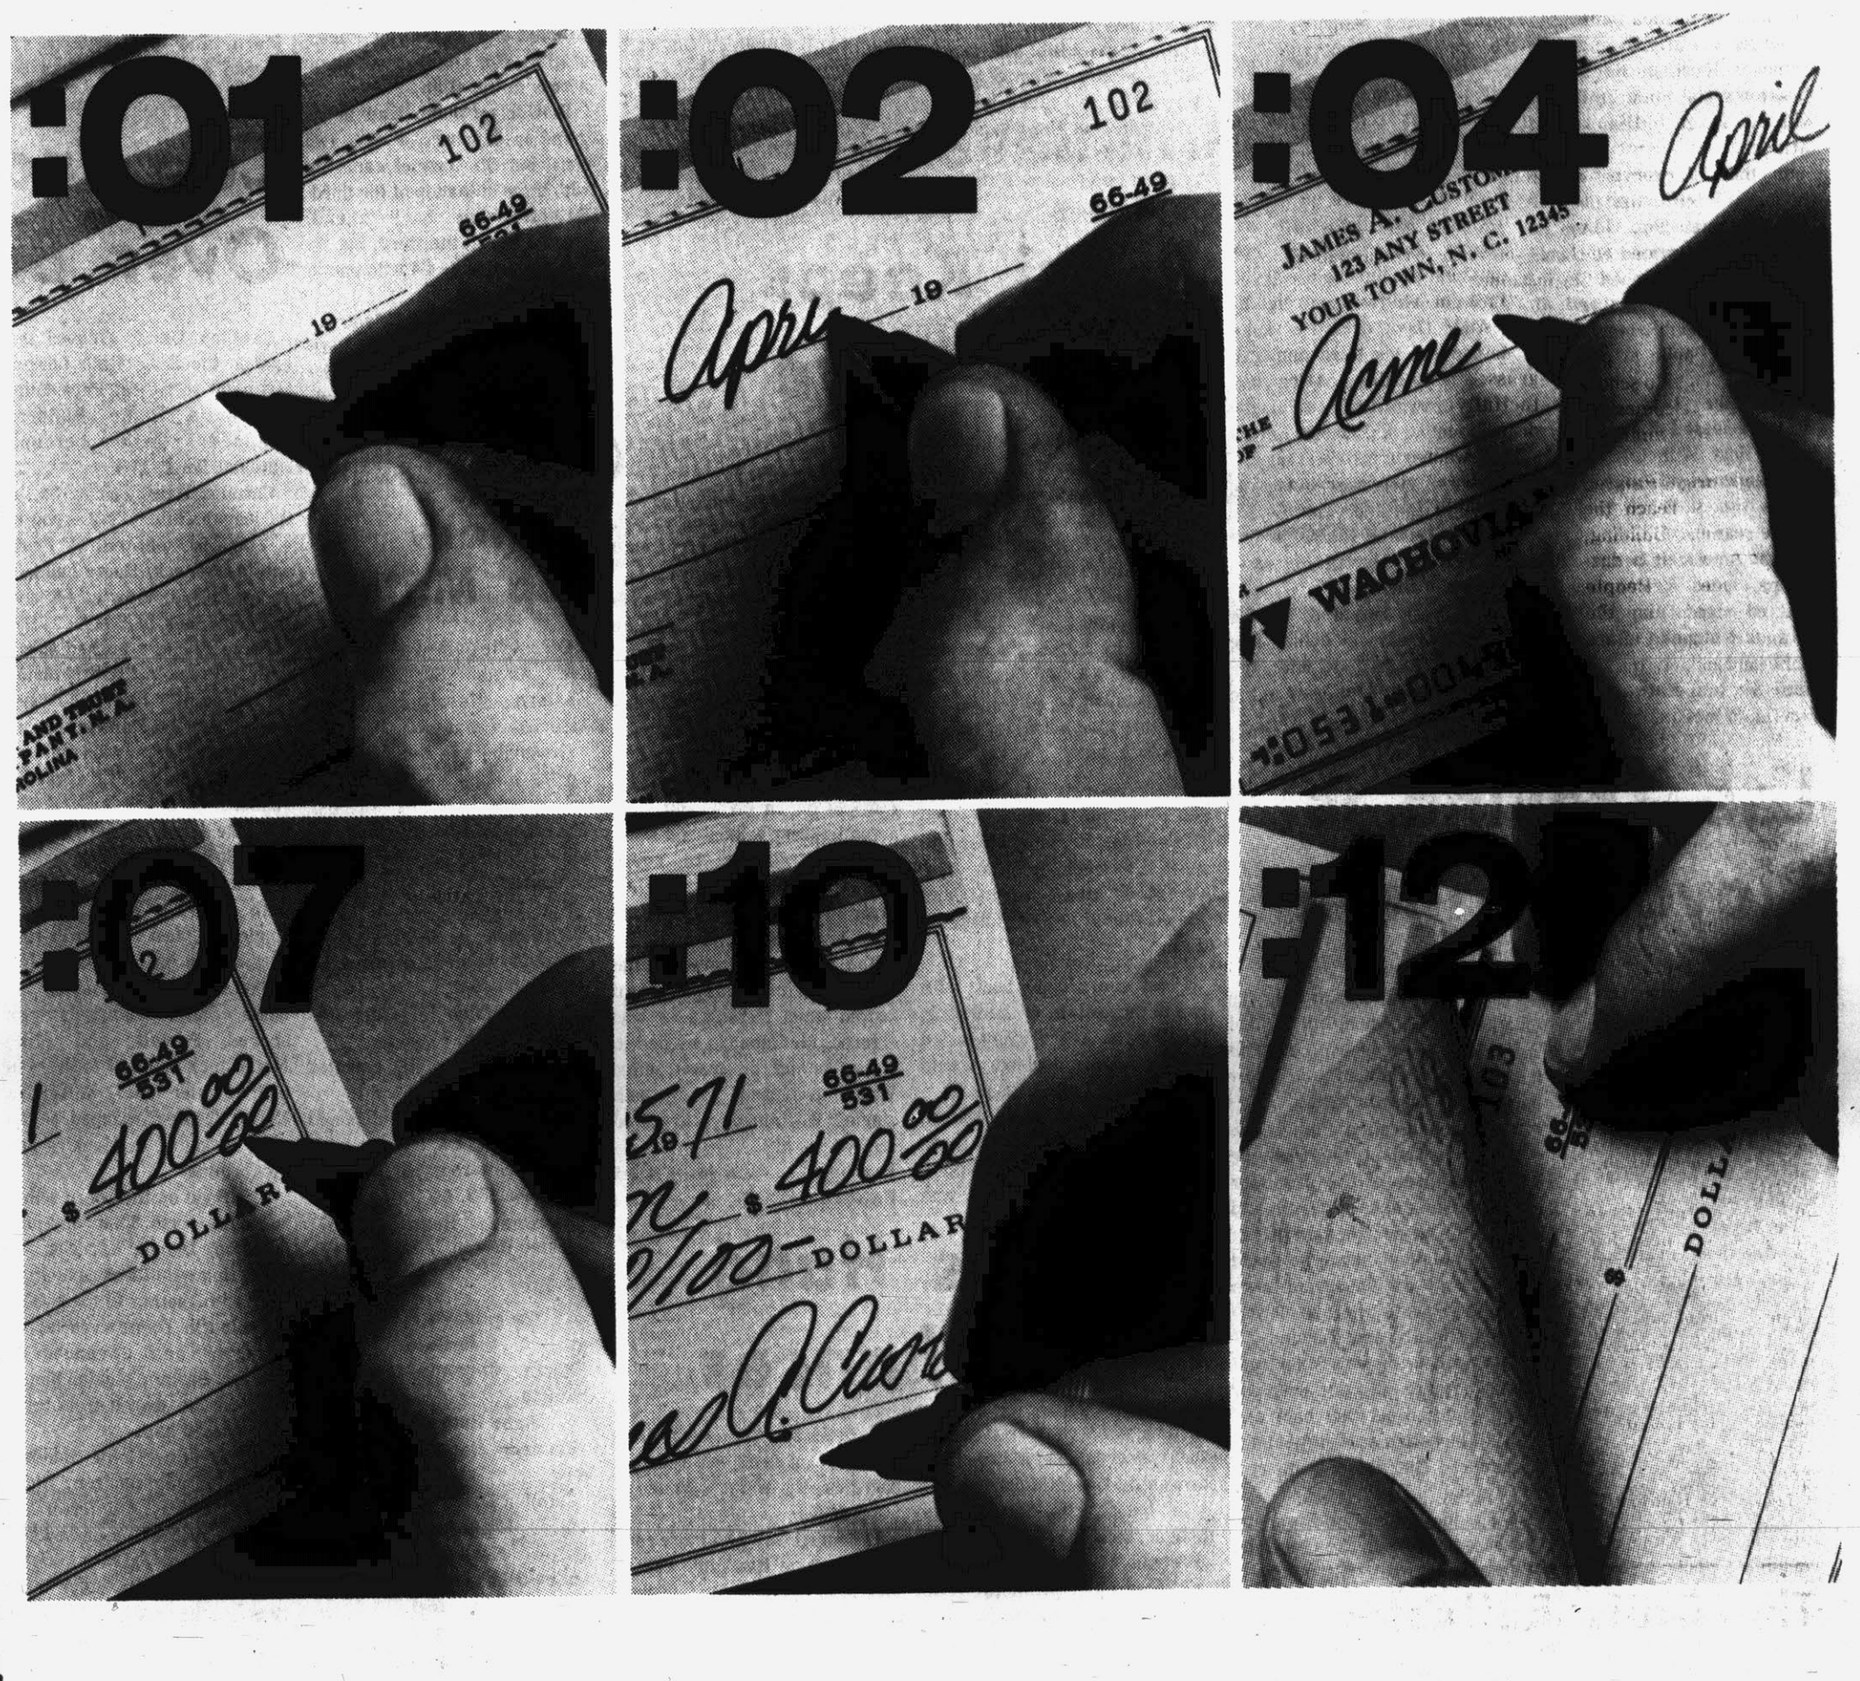

The result, in the words of one Democratic Congressman: "The first gloves-off exchange I have ever had with any Administration expert on Vietnam." Agreement with that assessment was just about universal.

Cook avoided pressure on specific votes in the House including last Thursday's. Under Cook's rule, the only way to hold votes on the war is to lay out the Administration's plan for the next 18 months with complete candor and clarity. If Mr. Nixon's rate of withdrawal, with a residual force of perhaps 50,000 U. S. troops left in Vietnam for bargaining purposes, has any merit, it will carry itself. Accordingly, no appeal was made on Thursday's test. Nor did Cook even make the usual pre-vote head-count.

The new technique seems to have worked. In a somewhat similar vote last year, Mr. Nixon won, 237 to 153. Last week he won 256 to 158. Although it marked a high for anti-war forces in the House (with a slight plurality of Democrats for the first time opposing the President), it was a stronger majority overall.

How much credit goes to Cook's rule is mathematically unprovable. But both chief lobbyist MacGregor and influential House Democrats believe the new technique worked. In fact, plans are being made to apply it to other, more difficult legislative problems far beyond Vietnam.

Dickens Tosses No-Hitter At Weldon

By WOODY PEELE
Reflector Sports Editor

Byron Dickens went out last week in his last pitching performance and hurled Greenville's American Legion baseball team to an 8-1 victory over Tarboro.

Dickens struck out 19 in that game and allowed only two hits.

Last night, he returned to the mound against Weldon-Roanoke Rapids Post 38. His goal was to do better.

Well, he didn't do quite as well in the strikeout department, getting only a paltry 13. His control wasn't quite as sharp either, as he walked seven, including three in the final inning.

But when he fanned Johnny Ezzelle for the final out, he walked off the mound with a no-hitter as he shut out Weldon, 13-0.

The first three innings, Dickens went through the Weldon lineup without much of a threat. He fanned the first three, got the next three on infield outs and another strikeout, and then struck out two of the three in the third. The only ball hit out of the infield the entire game was tagged in that inning, going to center, but an out just the same.

The heat and humidity began to tell in the fourth, as he put the first batter on base, knicking his shirt with a pitch. In the fifth, he walked one, and then put on two in the sixth when a double play helped to get him out of a jam. One more reached on a walk in the eighth.

And then in the ninth, it looked like he might be about to give up a run when he walked the first two men, but got the third on a fielder's choice. Another walk with two away, however, loaded the bases, but he settled down to fan the final batter and come away with his feat preserved.

And as far as the victory was concerned, he got plenty of help from his teammates. They pushed over three runs in the second inning for all they really needed.

Larry Hatton reached on an error that allowed him to race all the way to second. He moved up on a fly out to right and then scored on Larry Dixon's single to center. Jimmy Bond walked, but was erased on Dickens' fielder's choice, putting runners on first and third. Dixon and Dickens worked the double steal, with Dixon scoring. Roland Hooks reached when his pop-fly was dropped, and Dickens scored on that.

Greenville picked up another in the third. Larry walked and moved to third on Joe West's double. Dixon hit a sacrifice fly to score him.

In the fifth, Greenville got another run to make it 5-0. West singled and Bond and Dickens both walked. Hooks also drew a walk, forcing in West.

Four more came over in the sixth. Phil Blount walked, as did Jimmy Paige and Russ Smith, loading the bases. West singled to score both Blount and Paige, and Bond walked to load the bases. Hooks hit one through the mound that Weldon's Ezzelle made a fine play on behind the bag at second, but couldn't make a play in time to get anyone. Smith scored from third on the play, and West kept going for home too. The throw to home was cut off by the pitcher, however, as West scored uncontested.

The seventh inning saw the final four score. Blount singled and Paige again walked. West also walked, loading the bases. Walks to Dixon and Dickens brought in Blount and Paige, and Hooks hit another pop-fly that was dropped, scoring both West and Dixon.

Greenville is now 5-3 in Area One play and 6-3 overall. They play host to Rocky Mount tonight at 7:30 p. m. at Harrington Field.

Vida Blue Going Strong; Picks Up 15th Victory As Twins Fall

By HAL BOCK

Vida Blue is go for a 30-game blastoff, but he's not really counting.

The sensational Oakland lefthander won his 15th game of the season Monday night, setting down Minnesota 3-2 with a 13-strikeout performance that increased the A's American League West lead to eight games over second place Kansas City. The Royals lost 5-1 to Chicago.

Elsewhere in the AL Monday night, Baltimore ripped Washington 7-2 and Milwaukee nipped California 3-2 in 10 innings. Boston and Cleveland were rained out and the other teams were not scheduled.

In the National League, Pittsburgh blanked New York 6-0, Philadelphia trimmed Cincinnati 5-3 in 12 innings, Atlanta split a doubleheader with Montreal, winning the first game 6-4 and losing the second 5-3, and Los Angeles shut out St. Louis 4-0.

Blue's workmanlike job on the Twins moved him halfway to 30 victories, a fact that doesn't impress the cool youngster.

"At the end of the season," he said, "we'll see what I've got. Whatever it is, I'll be satisfied."

What Blue's got right now is a major league leading 146 strikeouts, 15 complete games in 19 starts and a 15-2 record. He allowed just seven hits against Minnesota, but only one after the fifth inning.

The Twins nicked Oakland's ace for three hits and both their runs in the third inning, giving rookie Ray Corbin a 2-1 lead. The A's tied it on Mike Epstein's double and singles by Sal Bando and Dave Duncan in the sixth and then scored the deciding run in the seventh when Minnesota catcher George Mitterwald threw wild on a delayed double steal.

The last man to win 30 games was Denny McLain in 1968 and the controversial right-hander could reach 30 again this season, but on the wrong side of the ledger.

Washington's McLain lost his eighth straight and 13th in 17 decisions as Baltimore belted him for 16 hits and whacked the Senators.

Boog Powell, who was batting .178 before the game, cracked three singles and a double and drove in three runs for the Orioles. Paul Blair also had four hits and drove in one run and Frank Robinson knocked in three with two hits for the Birds, who lead the AL East by 5½ games over idle Detroit.

Mike Andrews raced home all the way from second on a strikeout for the tie-breaking run and Chicago went on to whip Kansas City behind Tommy John.

Andrews walked in the second and moved up on an infield out. When the third strike on Luis Alvarado got past catcher Jerry May, Andrews took off and scored as May threw Alvarado out at first base. Andrews later doubled home another Chicago run in the eighth.

Roberto Pena tied the game with a ninth inning single and then drove in Milwaukee's winning run in the 10th with another hit as the Brewers topped California.

Milwaukee, held to a scratch single for eight innings by Rudy May, rallied to tie the game in the ninth on singles by Tommy Harper and Pena sandwiched around Gus Gil's sacrifice. After California reliever Dave Laroche walked the bases loaded in the 10th, Pena drilled his game-winning single.

Oakmont Gains On Immanuel

Oakmont began to challenge idle Immanuel for the National Division lead in the Church Softball League last night. Oakmont downed Maranatha, 15-4, while Presbyterian beat Trinity, 20-5; Belvoir downed St. Gabriel, 5-4; and Grace trimmed Black Jack, 3-0.

In the National Division, Immanuel leads with a 9-5 record, while Oakmont is 10-6, only percentage points behind. They are followed by Grace, 9-7; Black Jack, 8-8; Mt. Pleasant and Piney Grove, both 7-7, and Maranatha, 2-13.

In the American League, Meadowbrook continues to lead with a 13-2 record, followed by St. James, 11-2, and Presbyterian, 12-3. They are trailed by Belvoir, 8-8, Christian, 4-11, St. Gabriel, 3-13; and Trinity, 2-13.

Grace pushed over a run in the first, and that was all they needed to beat Black Jack. Billy Peede singled and came around on hits by Lindsay Hardee and Sammy Pugh. Grace scored agan in the fourth as Hardee doubled and scored on Pugh's single. The final run came across in the sixth.

Belvoir took the lead in its game in the second with two runs, but St. Gabriel came up with three in the top of the third. Belvoir went back ahead, scoring two in the third, but St. Gabriel tied it at 4-4 with one in the seventh.

Then, in the eighth, Belvoir got the winning run. Bobby Pollard singled and moved up on a hit by E. Tripp. J. Tripp followed with another hit, scoring Pollard to end the game.

Trinity took an early lead over Presbyterian, scoring two in the first inning, but Presbyterian came back with two in the third to tie it up.

Then, in the fourth, they scored three more to take the lead for good. Robert Johnston singled and Larry Graham singled. Johnston scored on a passed ball, as did Graham. Boyd Lee also singled and moved to third on Brazel Moore's hit. Another passed ball scored Lee for a 5-2 lead.

Presbyterian added 10 in the fifth and five in the seventh to wrap it up. Trinity got its final three in the seventh.

Oakmont got all it needed in the first inning of its game, scoring five runs. John Cheek singled and Danny Singleton got a hit. Doyle Daughtry and Archie Moseley followed with singles and Don Parrott added another Pete Carraway then doubled to drive in Parrott with the fifth run.

Oakmont then added five more in the second, one in the third, one in the fourth and three in the sixth for its 15-run total. Maranatha got two in the second, one in the third and one in the seventh.

Stargell Cracks 25th Homer In Pirate Win

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie Stargell isn't one to put a face before a figure—at least not on a baseball scoreboard.

Stargell, pleased with the new likeness of him which appears on the electronic scoreboard at Pittsburgh's Three Rivers Stadium, socked his 25th home run of the season Monday night as the Pirates widened their National League East Division lead by whipping the second-place New York Mets 6-0.

Stargell's statistics continue to mount. He leads the majors in homers and runs batted in, with 67, and is hitting a solid .311.

In other NL games, rookie Bobby O'Brien outpitched returning veteran Bob Gibson as Los Angeles trimmed St. Louis 4-0; Philadelphia topped Cincinnati 5-3 in 12 innings and Atlanta split a double-header with Montreal, winning 6-4 before a 5-3 loss

After the twin bill, the Braves released 47-year-old reliever Hoyt Wilhelm, the all-time leader in pitching appearances with 1.045 in 20 major league seasons.

In the American League, Baltimore winged Washington 7-2; Oakland edged Minnesota 3-2; Milwaukee nipped California 3-2 in 10 innings and the Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 5-1. Cleveland was rained out at Boston.

Pittsburgh's Dock Ellis stymied the Mets on eight scattered hits to reel off his ninth straight victory and become the National League's biggest winner with an 11-3 mark.

The Pirates led 3-0 in the fifth inning when Stargell unloaded against left-hander Jerry Koosman, the Mets' starter.

Pittsburgh's Bob Robertson set a major league record for first baseman with eight assists.

O'Brien, making his first start in the majors after nine relief stints, shackled the Cardinals on six hits. Gibson, back on the mound for the first time since May 29, when he went on the disabled list with arm trouble, was clipped for three runs and six hits before laving for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

Willie Davis drilled a single, double and his third homer to drive in two Los Angeles runs. Willie Crawford had two singles and a triple and Richie Allen a two-run single for the Dodgers.

Willie Montanez' two-run triple in the 12th carried the Phillies past the Reds, handing winless Jim Merritt his ninth setback of the season.

Pete Rose homered for the Reds, who led 3-0 before five consecutive Philadelphia singles produced three runs in the eighth.

Hank Aaron belted his 20th home run and Mike Lum, Hal King and Darrell Evans also homered in an eighth inning barrage that brought Atlanta from behind in its opener against the Expos.

Montreal fought back to gain a split when Ron Hunt doubled home the last two of three eighth inning runs.

The Braves announced they had given Wilhelm his unconditional release, recalled two young players from their Richmond farm club and traded utility infielder Marv Stahley to Hawaii for two minor leaguers.

Wilhelm, on the disabled list most of this season with a sore arm, had no record in three relief appearances.

Pepsi Keeps Hopes Alive

Pepsi-Cola kept its fading title hopes alive in the Tar Heel Little League with an 11-4 victory over the Exchange.

The Graniteers have iced a tie for the title with a 10-2 record. Pepsi at 8-5, and the Elks, 7-5, still can pull even. They are followed by the Exchange, 5-8, the Moose, 4-8, and Integon, 3-9. The Graniteers, who play the Elks this afternoon, can sew it up with a win.

The Exchange pushed over a run in the top of the first. Thil Hurley reached on an error and moved to second on an out. Darrell Roebuck singled and Alston Daniel scored Hurley on an out.

Pepsi came right back with two in the bottom of the inning. MacDonald Avery singled and Michael Shank doubled. A wild pitch scored both of them.

The Exchange went back on top in the second, scoring three more runs. Cliff Fearington walked and John Cleetwood was hit by a pitch. Both advanced on an out and a passed ball scored Fearington. Craig Cherry walked and another passed ball scored Cleetwood. Cherry came around on a pair of errors.

Pepsi came right back with five runs for a 7-4 lead, all they needed. John Coffman, Timmy Eubanks and Steve McClanahan all walked, and passed balls scored Coffman and Eubanks. McClanahan was cut down, however, Perry Worthington reached on an error and stole second. Avery walked and Dana Kendrick singled to score Worthington and Avery. An error advanced Kendrick and he scored on another.

The final four scored in the third. Coffman singled and scored when Eubank's hit was errored. McClanahan singled in Eubanks and he scored after Worthington and Avery both singled. Worthington also scored on Avery's hit.

Lee Trevino Is Playoff Winner

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP)—Lee Trevino, who until a month ago considered himself a give-up artist, won the 71st annual U.S. Open Golf Championship by beating Jack Nicklaus, the man rated as the best golfer in the world.

The 31-year-old Trevino, Mexican-American grandson of a Dallas gravedigger, bogeyed the first hole at Merion Golf Club and then went on to shoot a two-under par 68 for a three-stroke victory over the favored Nicklaus. Nicklaus scored one-over-par 71.

It was the second U.S. Open title for Trevino, who won the world's most prestigious golf title in 1968 with a record equalling 72-hole total of 275. Both he and Nicklaus shot par 280s over Merion's short but super tough course to force the 25th open playoff.

Ironically, Nicklaus lost his bid for a third Open championship on shots that had to remind every duffer who plays of his own futile game. Nicklaus left two shots in the sand and they were disastrous.

"I just made a bad swing on two, and on three I tried to get under the ball and didn't hit it hard," said a dejected Nicklaus. He took a bogey six on the second and a double bogey five on the third.

The missed sand shots gave the steady playing Trevino a two-shot lead and he never trailed. The victory was worth $30,000 to the funloving Trevino, who vaulted over Nicklaus ($161,213) into first place on the money winning list with $165,000.

Trevino said this second Open title was more satisfying to him, even though that initial one boosted him from relative obscurity as a pro to a golfer who had to be reckoned with. He used a comment by former golfing great Walter Hagen to make this point.

"Hagen said that anyone can win one U.S. Open, but it takes a great golfer to win two. This will give me much, much more pleasure than the first."

Trevino recalled that in the second round of the Open be birdied three of the first four holes and then bogeyed and tripled bogeyed. He said that in his old state of mind, he would have hopped a fence and taken the first bus to wherever it was going. Not the new Trevino.

"I said to myself, 'Don't get mad. You're only one over par and you can get that back and still finish high or win this tournament.' That's part of the new attitude.

Trevino headed for Cleveland where he plays in the Cleveland Open this week. He plans to play in the Canadian and British Opens and in the rest of the 1971 PGA tour. His goal he said is a new one every Thursday—win the tournament he's in.

The usual fast-talking Trevino turned conservative in his confrontation with Nicklaus. He chewed gum throughout the playoff and the talking he did was in a low tone. His game also was on the conservative side.

Nicklaus admitted he was very disappointed. "Any time you finish second, it's not too good, especially where there are only two of you playing. You're either first or last."

The 31-year-old Nicklaus—he's two months younger than Trevino—said he won't compete now until the British Open. "I'll be going over Monday," he disclosed.

Trevino announced after the playoff that he had accepted an invitation to represent the United States in the World Cup matches in Florida later this year. He will team with Nicklaus as a partner in the two-man team event that has drawn entries from 46 countires.

Kiwanis Hang Onto Chances

The Kiwanis ripped R. C. Cola, 20-0, yesterday on a two-hitter thrown by David Middleton.

In the North State Little League, the Kiwanis remain the only team with a chance to catch the leading Optimists. The Optimists are currently 11-1, while the Kiwanis are 10-3. They are followed by the Jaycees, 4-7; R. C., 5-8; Coca-Cola, 4-8; and the Lions, 2-10.

Middleton allowed only two hits one in the fourth and another in the sixth. He walked four and struck out eight.

The Kiwanis went to work getting runs in the first inning. Middleton reached on an error and Danny Hester singled. Sid Ashby grounded out, scoring Middleton, and Julian White did the same, scoring Hester for a 2-0 lead.

In the second, the Kiwanis added two more runs. Randy Britt reached on an error and Kent Phillips singled. Greg Dail walked, loading the bases. Middleton then doubled to score both Britt and Phillips.

The third saw one more run score. White reached on an error and Brad Brown walked. Both advanced on an out and Phillips' sacrifice fly scored White to make it 5-0.

The fourth saw two more runs scored. Chris Randolph walked and stole second. Dail walked and both advanced on an out. Ashby singled to drive them both across.

In the fifth, the Kiwanis added two more, making it 9-0. Britt reached on an error and Phillips walked. Both moved up on a passed ball and Dail walked to load the sacks. Middleton doubled scoring Britt and Phillips.

The Kiwanis broke it wide open in the sixth, scoring 11 more runs.

An Obsession Is Unhealthy

Norma is a "twin" for thousands of women who enter mental sanitariums unnecessarily! If organic obstacles preclude pregnancy, then try to adopt a child. Or become foster parents of a Scout Troop or Sunday School class. But many formerly childless couples now have children by following the simple measures outlined below!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

Case Q-583: Norma G., aged 32, has a sex problem.

"Dr. Crane," her devoted husband began, "we have been married for 10 years.

"And I'd say we have been ideally happy except for the fact we have no children.

"That didn't disturb us until a few years had passed and Norma then grew worried at not being able to get pregnant.

"Now she has developed an obsession on the subject and keeps insisting that I should divorce her since she can't give me children.

"She also has terrific fits of depression over her sterility, for she assumes she is at fault.

"Yet our family physician and two specialists have assured us that we both seem to be organically O.K.

"So shouldn't we try to adopt a baby? Would that help restore Norma's morale and stop her despondency?"

Pregnancy Complexes

When a wife feels below par, she can actually become a psychotic patient.

The menopausal complexes of women at the age of 45, are thus due more to a woman's mistaken notions than to the stoppage of her menstrual flow.

For when women believe they are below par in their anatomical make-up, they either grieve and moan and cry and grow neurotic.

Or they nag and scold and accuse their mates of misconduct with other females.

Adoption of a child often works wonders in a case like Norma's.

But don't think solely in terms of an infant, for hundreds of older boys and girls are pathetically eager to have a "daddy and mamma of my own."

The true parent-child relationship is based on the same blood lines, for Cain murdered his blood brother, Abel.

If you teach a child to love and respect you, he will be as closely knit to you parents as any flesh-and-blood offspring.

Remember, when you marry, you adults simply "adopt" each other and usually feel closer than to your own blood siblings with whom you grew up as a child.

Besides, after adopting a child, a neurotic woman may relax in her inner glandular tensions and often become pregnant.

To help otherwise normal couples have babies of their own, heed these medical facts:

(1) The most likely conception date in a wife's monthly cycle is 15 days prior to her next expected onset of the menses.

(2) Since the ovum that ruptures free from the ovary at that time may deteriorate so fast it may not be capable of fertilization by the male sperm after 12 hours, a healthy wife may thus miss becoming pregnant just by chance alone.

(3) That's doubly true if the sperm may be older than 6 hours when it encounters the ovum, for this narrow time gap must permit the 6-hour active sperm to meet the 12-hour fertilizable ovum.

(4) Many a wife's vaginal secretions are excessively acid, and acid stops sperm activity. So use a teaspoon of baking soda in one quart of warm water as a preliminary douche.

For further helpful medical advice, send for my booklet "Facts About Pregnancy and Foster Children," enclosing a long stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♡	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♣

A choice of game contracts proved crucial in a deal taken from a team of four contest recently completed in Miami Beach—during the Southeastern Regionals.

At one table the bidding proceeded as indicated in the above diagram. North passed originally and when his partner opened the bidding in third seat with one heart, the jump raise to three hearts is highly invitational but not unconditionally forcing.

South might well have given consideration to passing inasmuch as he has only 13 points and completely even distribution. The latter factor influenced him into trying the shorter route to game via three no trump. North overruled his partner and persisted to four hearts.

West opened the queen of clubs and when the dummy was spread, it quickly became apparent to the declarer that he had no play for his contract. There was no way to avoid the loss of two diamonds, one spade and one club and the final result was a 100 point deficit.

At the other table the bidding proceeded in the same manner with South choosing to persist to three no trump after his partner's jump raise. North reasoned that despite his doubleton diamond, no trump might prove to be a superior contract because of the fact that only nine tricks were required for game. So many potential losers lurked in the side suits, that 10 tricks might not be available to the partnership and he chose to abide by South's judgment.

West made the normal opening lead of the queen of clubs and South proceeded to take two clubs, two spades and five hearts to score nine tricks and a 600 point profit on the deal. The 100 points scored by his teammates at the other table swelled the total to 700.

Observe that if West guesses to open a diamond, the defense is in position to run five tricks at the outset. However, care must be employed in cashing out. If East puts up the ace and returns a small diamond, West must win the trick with the king instead of the jack to avoid blocking the suit. East can assist his partner considerably by playing the queen of diamonds instead of the ace on the opening lead. Now when he returns the suit, it doesn't matter which card West plays, for on the return, East has retained the ace to overtake West's third diamond and complete the run of the suit.

U Thant Cancels Plans For Trip

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — A dizzy spell apparently brought on by fatigue has led Secretary-General U Thant to cancel a trip to the Soviet Union and several other Communist countries.

The United Nations withheld until Monday an announcement of Thant's illness Saturday, but a spokesman said the 62-year-old Burmese diplomat did not suffer a heart attack.

Thant's condition was not critical, the spokesman said, and he is undergoing medical tests.

Thant had planned to leave for Moscow today.

July's Checks For Social Security To See Minor Changes

Monthly social security checks for beneficiaries 65 and over who have signed up for Medicare's doctor bill insurance will be reduced by 30 cents in July, William McClure, social security manager in Greenville, said today.

The checks scheduled for delivery on July 3 will have $5.60 deducted for each beneficiary to pay the increased monthly voluntary medical insurance premium. The rate for the past year was $5.30 for each beneficiary, Mr. McClure said.

The increase was announced by the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare in December in accordance with a requirement in the Medicare law that makes an annual review of the costs of the medical insurance program mandatory. The law requires that the monthly premium rate be set at a point estimated to be sufficient to cover all expenses incurred during each premium period, with an allowance for contingencies.

Mr. McClure said that the medical insurance program supplements the basic hospital insurance part of Medicare by helping to pay doctor bills and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital. About 19.5 million people 65 and over have enrolled for this supplementary medical insurance protection. Their monthly premiums cover half the cost of their protection. The other half comes from general Federal revenues.

The 30 cent premium increase for each beneficiary is the net result of three items that are estimated to increase costs by 50 cents in the fiscal year beginning July 1, and then a decrease of 20 cents arising primarily because of a reduced margin for contingencies.

The reduced margin for contingencies is possible, Mr. McClure pointed out, because last year, program costs for the medical insurance program were below estimates for the first time since the Medicare program started.

The items that make up the overall 50 cent increase include:

—31 cents to cover an estimated increase of 6.7 per cent in the level of physicians' fees recognized by the program in the fiscal year beginning in July;

—10 cents to cover an estimated increase of 2 per cent in the use of physicians' services;

—9 cents to cover the estimated increase of 15 per cent in cost and utilization of institutional services covered by the program (for example, for hospital outpatient and independent clinic services).

Losses Claimed By Resort Firm

BANNER ELK, N. C. (AP) — A company which operates resorts in the North Carolina mountains and in the U. S. Virgin Islands says it lost $2¼ million dollars in the past year.

Carolina Caribbean Corp. President Harry Robbins said the decline was due generally to economic conditions in the nation, but some was attributable to a lack of sales of its St. Croix Ltd. subsidiary.

Carolina Caribbean operates the Beech Mountain Ski and Golf resort near Banner Elk.

Nuclear Weapons Use In Vietnam Said 'Demanded'

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Globe printed today what it said were excerpts from a Pentagon study on the Vietnam war. It includes a report on a high-level meeting at which a top U.S. officer demanded that commanders be given the freedom to use tactical nuclear weapons in Vietnam.

The report, taken from the 47-volume Pentagon study of the war, said that at a meeting of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Honolulu in June 1964 Adm. Harry D. Felt, then commander of the Pacific forces, demanded the option to use nuclear weapon "as had been assumed under various plans." There was no mention of the various plans."

The Globe is the third U.S. newspaper to publish excerpts from the massive Pentagon study detailing American involvement in Vietnam.

Also present at the JCS Honolulu meeting were Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara; Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge; Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs, and John McCone, director of the Central Intelligence agency.

The discussion about the use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam arose, the Globe said, on the question of whether the Chinese Communist forces would enter the war.

"Secretary McNamara then went on to say that the possibility of major ground action also led to a series question of having to use nuclear weapons at some point," the Globe quotes the report.

"Admiral Felt responded emphatically that there was no possible way to hold off the Communists on the ground without the use of tactical nuclear weapons and that it was essential that the commanders be given the freedom to use these as had been assumed under various plans," the report said.

The Globe said discussions included the "desirability of obtaining a congressional resolution prior to wide U.S. action.

"Lodge felt it would not be necessary. But Defense Secretary McNamara, Rusk and CIA director McCone all argued in favor of the resolution," the Globe said.

Other excerpts in the Globe include a report on the 1968 Tet Offensive by Gen. Earle G. Wheeler; an early Vietnamization plan by President Johnson as a result of that offensive; and three cables from Gen. Taylor to President Kennedy in which the general recommended the deployment of 8,000 ground combat troops to Vietnam.

The Globe said it was making public for the first time "the role of the Kennedy administration in the escalation of the war."

"As early as May 11, 1961, President Kennedy," the article said; "had approved programs for covert action which had been recommended by a Vietnam Task Force.

"Among these actions were:

"(1) Dispatch of agents into North Vietnam.

"(2) Aerial resupply of agents in North Vietnam through the use of civilian mercenary air crews.

"(3) Infiltration of special South Vietnam forces into Southeast Laos to locate and attack Communist bases and lines of communication.

"(4) Formulation of 'networks of resistance, covert bases and teams for sabotage and light harassment' inside North Vietnam.

"(5) Conduct of overflights of North Vietnam for the purpose of dropping leaflets.

In a cable sent from the Philippines in October 1961, Gen. Taylor said his recommendation for 8,000 ground troops in Vietnam "without delay offers definitely more advantage that it creates risks and difficulties."

The Globe said that "President Kennedy stepped up covert actions against North Vietnam and increased the number of advisors to 16,000 men before he was assassinated in November 1963 but he never committed the United States ground unit as Taylor had suggested."

The Globe also said the Pentagon study shows that when "President Johnson announced publicly that he would not run for re-election (March 1968) he was also deciding privately that a policy of Vietnamization was the best one for the nation to follow in the war."

"The President's speech was also a denial of Gen. William C. Westmoreland's request for an additional 206,000 troops," the Globe said.

The Globe said the two months between the Tet offensive and Johnson's speech "are described in the Pentagon study as a time of conflicting counsel coming to the White House and revolving around a request from General William Westmoreland, then U.S. commander in Saigon, for 206,000 additional troops over the 525,000 ceiling that had previously been put on American forces there.

"The fireworks of the Tet Offensive had, it is clear from the Pentagon studies, shaken Washington's confidence in the eventual outcome of the war and kicked off what the writers describe as a 'reassessment from A to Z'" the Globe said.

In another excerpt from the Pentagon study, Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, in a report on the Tet offensive, said, "The initial attack nearly succeeded in a dozen places, and defeat in those places was only averted by the timely reaction of U.S. forces. In short, it was a very near thing."

Uncertainty In Saigon Is Reported

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Newspaper reports on the secret Pentagon study on U.S. military involvement in Southeast Asia have caused top South Vietnamese officials to fear an accelerated withdrawal of American support, the Baltimore Sun reported today.

In a dispatch from Saigon, Sun correspondent Michael Parks said copies of the accounts which appeared in recent editions of the Washington Post and the New York Times were not widely available until Monday, more than a week after the first article appeared.

"If the American people believe they were tricked into sending troops here, it will be nearly impossible for President Nixon to keep any sort of residual force," worried a Vietnamese cabinet official, according to the Sun.

The Sun article said Vietnamese officials who held significant power during the 1964-1968 period covered in the Pentagon study have been scrutinizing each installment to see whether they are mentioned.

Several unnamed Saigon publishers, Parks reported, said they were warned by officials their newspapers would be seized if they attempted to publish an account in which the American ambassador in 1964, Maxwell Taylor, purportedly lambasted South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky and two other officers for an attempted coup.

The Sun story said a Vietnamese civilian, formerly a prime minister and now a critic of Thieu, said his country could salvage some benefits from the revelations because "our dependence, our overdependence upon the United States is now irrefutable.

"I do not say we are the American puppets—the other side says we are," he continued. "But these documents will make it clear that, to save face for the Americans, we passed by many opportunities to reach a political settlement."

WINE SHIPMENTS UP

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California wine shipments reached an all-time high in the first three months of this year.

The Wine Institute says nearly 57 million gallons were shipped during the first quarter, more than 19 per cent above the same period last year.

School Board To Keep Rein On Research Plans

A proposal by Dr. James Bearden "to look at the desirability to establish a committee' to deal with all requests for research projects within the city schools was approved by the City School Board at its meeting Monday night.

Board member John Bizzell asked to "go on record opposing this or any other plan to use students as human guinea pigs."

This action followed discussion of a request from Mrs. Hazel Stapleton, assistant professor in the Department of Psychology at East Carolina University.

Mrs. Stapleton seeks "the possibility of using some eighth or ninth grade students at Aycock Junior High as subjects in a research project." Her request asks that she be permitted "approval to (1) use the cumulative records at E. B. Aycock School to select an appropriate group of students, and (2) to administer the School Motivation Analysis Test to approximately 80 students."

Dr. Bearden commented that "human research programs should be cleared through a committee of faculty members" who would be in a position to recommend their opinion on each request to the City School Board.

Dr. Bearden also noted that on the request by Mrs. Stapleton, "I would go along with whatever recommendation is made by the superintendent."

Bar Pay Hikes By Governor

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Senate approved and held for final action today a bill that will prevent the governor from handing out pay raises to top-ranking state officials after the legislature has adjourned.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. J. F. Mohn, D-Onslow, provides for General Assembly review of the salaries of state employes not under the State Personnel Act. The governor and the Council of State fix these slaries.

Before approving the bill, the Senate killed attempts to give the governor some flexibility in setting salaries for department heads under the proposed state government reorganization and to send the bill back to committee for further work.

Sen. Ruffin Bailey, D-Wake, sponsored the unsuccessful amendment that would have rendered the act ineffective if reorganization is passed. He said the legislature does not have the knowledge of personnel and job requirements to rule on salries.

"The General Assembly is probably the worst body to set slaries," Bailey declared. "We know little about qualifications and the job market. We are the lowest in competence in state government to set salaries."

But Sen. Norris Reed, D-Craven, said some salary increases set by the Council of State and governor and announced right after the legislature adjourns are "tremendous amounts."

He said the director of the North Carolina School of Arts is making more money than the chancellors and presidents of five universities.

"If that is the kind of increase that is going to be given without the approval of somebody, the system is all wrong," Reed declared.

Set Exhibit And Sale

The fifth annual Lawn Show and Sale will be held at Woodside Antiques on Sunday, from noon until 6 p.m.

Approximately 40 antique dealers from South Carolina, Virginia and North Carolina will have exhibits for the show.

A country dinner will be served, from noon until 3 p.m., by the Red Oak Christian Church members either at the site of the Lawn Show and Sale or at the Red Oak Community Building.

The plates will be $1.50 each and proceeds will be used for the bulding fund of the church. A new church building which is about 75 per cent completed is being constructed across the highway from the present church. The 100th anniversary of the church was observed in April.

The country dinner is one of five projects sponsored by the church and others include a fall harvest festival, Christmas bazaar, Valentine festival and love feast.

Approximately 1,000 persons are expected to be in attendance at the Lawn Show and Sale.

Blight Turns Up

RALEIGH (AP) — The State-Federal Crop Reporting Service said today traces of Southern corn blight have turned up recently in six counties.

The reporting service emphasized that the blight reported in Edgecombe, Balden, Perquimans, Pamlico, Surry and Cleveland counties "does not pose a threat of economic importance at this time."

In its weekly weather and crops report, the service said that soil moisture conditions had improved as the result of widespread showers across the state last week.

It said the flue-cured tobacco and corn crops improved somewhat and remained in mostly good condition while the cotton crop declined somewhat and was mostly good to fair.

Soil moisture was reported mostly short in the central coastal plains, surplus in the northern mountains and mostly adequate in the rest of the state.

Not Suited For High Schoolers

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The University of Oklahoma has customarily sent copies of the school yearbook to high schools in the area as an advertising device, but this year some spicy language and a photograph of a nude have complicated things.

Paul Massad, relations office director, said the books are not being sent out unless requested this year because the first section "is not representative of the majority of activities occurring on campus, primarily due to editorializing of that section."

The first section includes some four-letter words, references to drugs, riots and anti-war activities and a photograph of a nude girl.

Girls Staters Hear Lawmaker

GREENSBORO (AP) — Rep. Charles Phillips, D-Guilford, told Girls State delegates Monday he hopes a compromise will be worked out on the proposed reorganization of higher education in the state.

Phillips, a former official at the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, would not spell out what sort of compromise he prefers.

The annual Girls State session ends Saturday.

Plan 'Instant' Building For Branch Bank

Space age construction makes its debut in Greenville Wednesday morning when an "instant" building converts a vacant lot at 1718 E. Tenth Street into a branch bank for Wachovia in a matter of hours.

The more than 3,000 square foot building will be a permanent structure formed by joining three modular units. The building is an example of a new concept in the building industry called the "steel space frame module." It was developed by Ezra Meir of Raleigh and is made by Globe Industries in a new plant near the Raleigh-Durham airport.

Essentially the system begins with steel members that are welded into a rigid space frame. Then the walls, floor, roof and interior are put in place and finished at the factory. The modular units are hauled to the site on wheels attached to the space frame. The units are lifted by crane and placed on a foundation and the wheels returned to the factory. The addition of a few bolts is all that is required to anchor the building.

Connection of utilities takes most of the installation time. In the afternoon the office will be ready for use, right down to the vault.

The Greenville bank office was designed by Little and Lee Associates, Charlotte architects, and features a glass walled entrance between two larger sections of the building. The glass is installed at the factory and is part of the completed units hauled over the highway. The rigidity of the steel space frame provents any twisting that might damage the units.

Bomb In The Councilroom

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A bomb was planted in a crowded City Council meeting Monday night but the device failed to explode, police said.

Investigators said the three-inch pipe bomb with a detonating device at each end was found in a black purse which had been left behind on a seat. They said the detonating devices were set for 9 p.m. but had stopped at 8:10 p.m.

Mayor Ron James said a phone call warned shortly before 9 p.m. that a bomb would go off at 9 o'clock.

The council chamber, crowded with an estimated 400 people, was emptied, but not completely until 9:10 p.m.

The bomb was taken to a police yard at Alviso for examination.

The meeting had featured a heated debate on a proposed mobile home development.

City Manager Thomas Fletcher said there had been at least five bomb threats at City Hall in the past year. Three of them disrupted Monday night council meetings, he reported.

Every Year It's More Expensive

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) — "Each year it gets more expensive," President Nixon jokingly complained as he bought 31 yellow roses to give his wife Pat for their 31st wedding anniversary.

Nixon stopped by a shopping center flower and gift shop, the Nosegay, Monday saw roses he liked, told the owner, Mary Brennan, he would take them, then thought to ask: "Do we have an account here?"

"You sure do," she replied.

"We'll see that we pay on time," he said.

McCloskey Threatens Unveil More Secret Govm't Papers

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. says secret papers show Robert F. Kennedy suggested during a State Department-Pentagon clash on overthrowing Ngo Dinh Diem in 1963 that America pull out of Vietnam.

In the end, the California Democrat said Monday, the United States "encouraged and authorized" the military coup in which Diem was killed, as U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge met with Diem while U.S. officials and coup leaders worked to overthrow him.

"It was an incredible case of duplicity on the part of the State Department," McCloskey told newsmen.

He said he will try Wednesday to put the papers, which he said he assumes are working papers for the secret Pentagon study on Vietnam policy, on the public record at a House hearing on security classifications.

Meanwhile, Reps. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chief architect of the Freedom of Information Act, and Ogden Reid, R-N.Y., announced they will file suit against Security of Defense Melvin R. Laird for release of the 47-volume Pentagon study.

The government is trying to block further publication of newspaper series on the document, "History of the U.S. Decision Making Process on Vietnam Policy," already started by The New York Times and The Washington Post.

McCloskey said the papers he has show Robert F. Kennedy as the only ranking U.S. official indicating reservations on escalation of the war.

The papers cover tenures of former Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

Kennedy's reservations came, McCloskey said, when the State Department was arguing that the United States could not save South Vietnam with Diem in power and the Pentagon arguing Diem was needed to rally South Vietnam.

"Kennedy said if we can't win with Diem and we can't win without him then why don't we disengage," McCloskey said. The papers leave no question, McCloskey said, that U.S. officials in Saigon were working with coup leaders.

The congressman said last week professor Daniel Ellsberg, a Massachusetts Institute of Technology researcher who worked on the Pentagon study, had given him some papers.

But he said Monday he would take precautions not to identify the source in trying to make public the papers in which Kennedy was mentioned.

He also said he is not sure what his papers are. He said they are not the same kind of papers The New York Times and The Washington Post started to publish, but are clearly related to the Pentagon study.

McCloskey said he notified Laird Monday he plans to try to put his papers on record.

FTC To Revive Cigarette Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission plans soon to revive its seven-year-old fight to require cigarette makers to say in advertising that smoking is harmful to health.

The expected approach this time is a complaint against manufacturers charging that failure to warn of smoking's health hazards in cigarette ads is deceptive. Warnings already are required by law on cigarette packs.

A formal announcement of the proposed complaint is expected after July 1, when a congressional ban on health warning regulation by the FTC expires.

The FTC, which has backed health warnings in cigarette advertising since the 1964 report by the U.S. Surgeon General linking cigarette smoking and lung cancer, has been frustrated at every turn by Congress.

An FTC spokesman said Monday the agency's staff has recommended a plan of attack, but wouldn't say publicly what it is. The five-man commission has not acted on the recommendation as yet, he added.

Congress has forbidden the FTC to make any industry-wide cigarette advertising rule without giving it six months notice. But the FTC is expected to try to skirt this by exercising its authority to move against false and misleading advertising, a reliable staff source said.

According to some reports, the commission staff feels that there is sufficient evidence linking smoking to lung and heart diseases that failure to disclose the link in advertising is deceptive.

Shortly after the Surgeon General's report came out in January 1964, the FTC proposed a rule that would require in both advertising and on packages the warning that "cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death from cancer and other diseases."

But before it could go into effect, Congress passed a bill requiring the warning on packs: "Caution, cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health." At the same time, it imposed on the FTC a four-year ban against further regulation of advertising.

The regulation proceedings were revived after expiration of the four-year period, but the commission held up a final decision because Congress was then considering the legislation that banned cigarette advertising from radio and television.

In its final form, the bill banished cigarette ads from the airwaves, mildly strengthened the warning on packs and prevented for another two years any action by the FTC on health warnings in advertising.

Precinct Fraud Trial Underway

WHITEVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Trial of a Columbus County precinct election official on fraud and forgery charges growing out of the 1970 general election was scheduled to continue in Columbus Superior Court today.

Mrs. Alma Ward, registrar for the South Lees Precinct, pleaded innocent when the trial began in Columbus Superior Court yesterday.

The first day of the trial was devoted to jury selection.

The charges were filed after two republican precinct judges, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Sarvis, claimed that their names had been forged on the poll book in the Nov. 3, 1970, general election.

Long Trip By Gyrocopter

KITTY HAWK, N.C. (AP) — A 38-year-old Californian completed a 3,000-mile flight Monday that began in Long Beach, Calif., 10 days ago.

Ken Brock was traveling at an average speed of 70 miles an hour in a gyrocopter, a smal vehicle that is sort of like an open helicopter.

He said he made the trip to the site of the Wright Brothers first powered flight "to prove I could do it." While in North Carolina, Brock will be at the annual convention of the International Rotorcraft Association, an organization of gyrocopter enthusiasts.

Brock encountered trouble only once on the cross-country jaunt. His craft was forced down by a storm Sunday and he had to lay over a day at Edenton.

Two friends followed him to North Carolina by car and they met him at nights.

Schools Assert Full Compliance

BURLINGTON, N. C. (AP) — The Burlington school board has told a federal court that the system complies with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The statement was filed Monday by school board attorney Louis C. Allen Jr., who was responding to a Justice Department suit filed in U. S. District Court in Greensboro. The suit asserted that some Burlington schools are racially identifiable.

City Counts 2 Collisions

An estimated $1,425 property damage resulted from two collisions investigated by Greenville police yesterday.

Officers reported heaviest damage resulted from a 12:10 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Fourth and Washington Streets involving cars driven by Shirley Cowan Smith, of 417 Arbor St. and Marion Wayne Swindell, 20, of Route 1, Engelhard.

Officers, who estimated damage at $600 to each vehicle, chared Mrs. Smith with failing to stop for stop light.

Alex Bynum, 56 of Route 4, Greenville was charged with failing to yield the right of way following investigation of a 5:45 p.m. mishap at the intersection of Sixth and Tyson Streets.

Police reported the Bynum car collided with a vehicle driven by Alfred Reeves, 53 of Greenville.

Damage was estimated at $100 to the Bynum car and $125 to the Reeves vehicle.

No injuries were reported.
