Justices Ponder Their Course In 'Secrets' Appeals

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Supreme Court considered today appeals by the government and The New York Times that it step into the conflict over a series of articles on the secret Pentagon history of the Vietnam war.

Immediately ahead loomed a 6 p.m. deadline. Unless the justices act before then The Washington Post will be able to publish what it wants. But The Times will be free to resume publication in Saturday editions only of material the Justice Department considers safe for public consumption.

Unlike The Post, The Times will be barred from using any of the items in the 47-volume war study the Justice Department feels should be kept secret in the interest of national security.

The Times told the court in a petition Thursday that the restraint, imposed by the U.S. Circuit Court in New York City, "imposes an insupportable burden on a free press."

The Justice Department, meanwhile, labored to block The Post from resuming its series of reports on the study. Solicitor General Erwin N. Griswold argued in an application for a stay that publication would damage national security and the conduct of foreign relations beyond repair.

The Post would be free to publish what it wishes by virtue of a ruling by the U.S. circuit court for the District of Columbia.

Griswold said The Post should be prevented at least temporarily from using the items listed in a "special appendix" filed by government attorneys last Monday in the New York court, as well as additional items the Justice Department might add today.

Until the two newspaper cases reached their chambers, the justices were planning to recess on Monday until October. They were putting the finishing touches on a half-dozen pending decisions and considering scores of piled-up appeals.

Whether these plans will be interrupted is uncertain. But since the two circuit courts have reached conflicting conclusions and questions about national security and press freedom have been raised, the high court almost is compelled to act. A hearing next Monday or Tuesday is possible.

Lawyers for The Times asked for one "at the earliest practical date." They said "the case on its face presents urgent issues of over-riding public importance which should be promptly decided by this court."

Council Talks Sanitation Enforcement

By JERRY RAYNOR

Councilman Percy Cox's motion to accept for city use the current ordinance on poultry, within the city limits, one that has been on the books for years, and to enforce it, with particular reference to the sanitation clause, was approved by the council at a special call meeting held in City Hall Thursday night.

Considerable discussion preceded passage of the motion with attention given to the feasibility of adopting an amendment which had been drafted by City Attorney David Reid and presented at the June 3 meeting. Reid stressed the point that the present ordinance has loopholes which would make indictment in certain situations difficult. He noted, however, that if the city is faced with such a situation, "that Section 5.5 . . . failing to keep pens . . . clean, sanitary and unoffensive at all times . . . would be the strongest section."

Part of the discussion centered on the inadequacy of efforts by the Pitt County Health Department in enforcing sanitation requirements. "The question is," Councilman Johnnie Edwards commented, "what can we do if the county does not enforce the law?" Later Edwards said: "It disturbs me, and this applies to every department in the county, that the people in county agencies tell you it's a city problem. The city people pay taxes the same as the county people. I don't understand this situation."

"We've had this situation for years," Mayor S. Eugene West noted.

Housing Inspector Alton E. Warren, called on for the results of his contact with the County Health Department reported: "I talked to the Health Department people. They want no part of it, and say this is a city problem." Warren added "They said they keep a record on the things bounced back to us."

Warren indicated that he felt the city could enforce the portion of the ordinance requiring that sanitation conditions of chicken pens be maintained.

A request for the City Council to grant funds to assist a Black Pastors' Conference in a summer recreation program to be conducted at Eppes High School Gym received City Council approval.

Approval for the funds was based on a motion by Johnnie Edwards that the funds be channeled through the Recreation Department on the basis of two payments, with the project to be checked by the Recreation Department at the end of the first month before issuing of the second payment of

Ellsberg Paid Her For Copies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman has told a federal grand jury probing the leak of a top secret Pentagon study that she was paid $150 by Daniel Ellsberg, a "dear friend," to make copies of unspecified documents.

Ellsberg, the former Defense Department and Rand Corp. employee who a former New York Times reporter said gave The Times copies of the Pentagon documents on American involvement in Vietnam.

Linda Sinay, 28, a free-lance advertising industry worker, told the grand jury Thursday that Ellsberg paid her the $150 in late 1969 or early 1970 to duplicate documents for him on a copying machine in her office, Mrs. Sinay's attorney said.

The attorney, — Luke McKissack, said Miss Sinay "didn't give them (the grand jury) any information they didn't already have."

She ended two days of testimony by saying she did not know the contents of documents she duplicated for Ellsberg, McKissack said.

The woman told newsmen she met Ellsberg in 1969 and last saw him a year ago. "He's a dear friend of mine and a brilliant man," she said. "I met him through a mutual friend about two years ago."

McKissack said the woman's testimony would provide only "inconsequential information" to the grand jury. Ellsberg worked for the Rand Corp., a Santa-Monica, Calif., "think-tank" at the time when the firm received two of the 15 copies which the Pentagon made of its 7,000-page study.

Another person subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury, Anthony J. Russo, 34, worked for Rand from 1964 to 1969. McKissack said Russo also was a friend of Miss Sinay.

The justice Department says the grand jury investigation concerns possible violations of national security laws.

Bulletin

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Earle Edwards, head football coach at North Carolina State University for 18 years, has resigned, his wife said today.

"Yes, he has resigned. That's all I can tell you now," Mrs. Edwards said in Raleigh.

Edwards, the dean of football coaches in the Atlantic Coast Conference, was in Lubbock, Tex., and could not be reached immediately.

Raleigh, N.C. State athletic officials scheduled a news conference at 3 p.m. for what they said would be a "major athletic announcement."

Preliminary Budget Aired

By JERRY RAYNOR
Reflector Staff Writer

Greenville's preliminary budget for 1971-72, set at a total of $2,693,129.21, was disclosed at the special call meeting of the City Council Thursday night.

Councilmen passed a motion tentatively approving the budget, which received its second review on Wednesday, with a final review scheduled for Wednesday, June 30.

Councilmen also directed, as required by state law, that City Clerk William Moore post the budget for public viewing for a period of 20 days.

Following the final review, an ordinance to formally adopt the 1971-72 budget will be presented by City Manager Harry Hagerty to the City Council.

The tax rate of $1.54 per $100 valuation is the same as last year. Of this amount, $1.44 is being allocated to the general budget, and 10 cents for debt retirement portion of the budget.

Recent passage of the one cent optional sales tax adds an estimated $193,500 to the revenues of the City of Greenville.

Summing up the proposed budget, City Manager Hagerty said: "The tentative budget anticipates a receipt of $2,693,129.21." He noted, "It remains to be determined the exact value of current taxes and cash on hand as of June 30."

"This budget represents an increase of $380,246 over last year's budget or an increase percentage-wise of 16.4 percent."

On the increase, Hagerty commented, "It is due to normal growth plus the addition of $193,500 in revenue from the sales tax recently voted by the people."

"Out of this increase," Hagerty commented, "$331,133 is earmarked for increase in salaries of city employees and for the increase of personnel, particularly in the Police and Fire Departments."

The city manager said that eight new police personnel and six new firemen were being added under the new budget.

"We also have added budget items for the participation in state highway improvement projects, and new equipment for the Police and Fire Departments, as well as equipment for Public Works and the Recreation Department."

Scott Says N.C. Plans To 'Vigorously Press' China Tobacco Exports

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott told tobacco men from six states today that North Carolina plans to "press its case vigorously" for resumption of flue-cured tobacco exports to Mainland China.

Scott's remarks came in a speech prepared for the opening of the 25th annual meeting of the Flue-Cured Tobacco Cooperative Stabilization Corporation.

The governor noted that President Nixon announced recently an easing of trade restrictions with Red China, and tobacco, tobacco processing equipment and assorted other agricultural items were placed on the approved list for trade with China.

"Within a matter of hours, at my direction, North Carolina, became the first state to initiate firm action to re-enter the Chinese market," Scott said.

He noted that the Department of Conservation and Development's export coordinator, Ron McCowen, called on the Chinese embassy in Ottawa, Canada, to present a proposal for a Tar Heel trade mission to China this fall.

Many details still need to be worked out, he said, "But North Carolina will persevere in this and other efforts to promote and develop new markets for the products of our labors and our land."

Cites 'Disgrace'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A century ago, a French sculptor arrived in New York City to look into the idea of building what is now the State of Liberty. To reach her today, he'd have to pass through what a congressman complains is "the valley of a garbage dump."

One hundred years almost to the day after Frederic Auguste Bartholdi stepped ashore in New York, Rep. Richard H. Ichord, D-Mo., stepped on the floor of the House Thursday to tell of taking his 15-year-old daughter Kyle to see the great statue.

Leaving the island of Manhattan recently they had to pass through the garbage dump in Battery Park to board a ship to the statue, a journey he said was a "national disgrace."

"She was shocked by the sight of the mess in Battery Park and I was embarrassed to let her see that our country doesn't think any more of national shrines," Ichord said.

"The day we made our visit, more than 90 per cent of the people waiting to visit the statue were from foreign lands. I suggest that this only too poor public relations but it is disrespectful to our guests and gives the impression of a total lack of pride in our heritage."

Ichord said he has written National Park Service Director George Hartzog urging either Mayor John V. Lindsay or New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller be contacted on the matter.

Concern Voiced For Diminishing Pigeons In City

A new plea for the welfare of a different species of feathered inhabitants in Greenville was made to members of the Greenville City Council at a special call meeting last night, during the course of a public hearing on an applicable ordinance for chickens.

East Carolina University sculptor Robert (Bob) Edmiston, responding to Mayor S. Eugene West's call for any comments from spectators during the hearing, told the mayor and city councilmen:

"I am concerned about the decimation of the numbers of pigeons in Greenville. This is a relative new problem of the last few weeks. The sudden absence of pigeons deeply concerns me."

Edmiston noted that a count he just recently made showed one pigeon at the county courthouse. "There used to be 15 or 20 at all times on the Greene Street bridge. To the best of my understanding, they have all been killed off."

"I am concerned that someone has taken it upon themselves to kill them. A friend of mine, whose judgment I trust, said a police officer was seen killing the birds," Edmiston related.

"After what the pigeons have done to the Confederate Monument it seems they deserve killing," Councilman Jerry Sutherland remarked.

"Being a sculptor," Edmiston replied, "I can say that some sculpture deserves what pigeons do to it."

Edmiston told Mayor West "I have heard this was being done by word of the mayor."

Mayor West commented he had not given orders for such action, and asked that City Manager Harry Hagerty look into this matter. Hagerty promised to investigate.

In connection with the public hearing, another spectator, Mrs. Nannie Nichols, brought up the subject of stray dogs, telling about two which, without tags or vaccinations, had been in her community since January. "They are not being fed, nor getting any attention," Mrs. Nichols remarked.

Mrs. Nichols, who identified her community as North Pitt Street, said "I called in on this, but was told Mr. Carraway was sick and that Mr. Bell was a county man. So Mr. Carraway is the city man."

She then spoke briefly on the problem in her community "of flies accumulating from chicken coops."

"We also," she added, "have mosquitoes as large as flies living in water accumulating in septic tanks at the Brewer and Marshall place. It would be nice not to have that old water there in those old tanks."

Hagerty informed Mrs. Nichols that Brewer and Marshall was supposed to have moved 18 months ago, and that he would check into this also.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I see a woman in pants I wonder what's wrong with her legs. I cannot for the life of me understand why a woman with good-looking legs would wear pants. And another thing, men love long hair on their women. I don't know one man who likes to see a woman in a mannish haircut. Give us men long hair and short skirts!

LOVES THE LADIES

DEAR LOVES: Some women wear pants for convenience, but if a woman wants to please a man, she will indeed let her locks grow and her legs show.

DEAR ABBY: I own a really good horse and I am going to enter him in the horse show soon. My girl friend asked me if she could ride him in the horse show, and I told her she could. Here is the problem. If my horse wins a ribbon, who should get it, she or I? I will leave it up to you.

GIRL HORSE OWNER: KENLY, N. C.

DEAR HORSE OWNER: If your horse should win a ribbon, the ribbon goes to you. [I got this straight from the horse's mouth.]

DEAR ABBY: My 13-year-old daughter Sandra [made up name] has a big problem I am very anxious to help her with. Sandra is a quiet, shy girl who has always stayed in the background. She has a girl friend I'll call Janice. Janice is pushy and loud and has a big mouth. Whenever my Sandra makes friends with another girl, this loud-mouthed Janice takes this friend away from her. If Sandra were aggressive and pushy like Janice she would fight to keep her friends, but she just can't do it. She is too nice. How can I help Sandra so Janice won't take any more friends away from her?

SANDRA'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Sandra will have to cultivate and maintain her own friendships. No one can "take" a friend away as if she were a sack of flour. Mothers who try to run interference for their children in such matters tend to weaken, not strengthen them.

DEAR ABBY: My sister's husband died eight years ago, leaving her with sons, ages 4 and 5. Sis seemed so alone and helpless, so Ralph and I encouraged her to come over often. Ralph and I had a good marriage and a nine-year-old daughter.

It all happened so gradually I never knew it was taking place, but you guessed it. Sis was so much like me, only six years younger, and she soon replaced me.

Ralph is now Sis' husband. He's adopted her two sons, and I am now the extra woman.

How I wish I had told my sister not to come so often. It may have been effective to say Ralph didn't like it.

Zoo Bonds Vote Bill Introduced

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislation has been introduced in both houses of the General Assembly that would let the people of North Carolina vote on a $2 million zoo construction bond issue.

The bills were proposed Thursday by Sen. Jack Baugh, D-Mecklenburg, and Reps. John Ingram, D-Randolph, and Robert Wynne, D-Wake.

The three also introduced a "backup" bill to allow the state Construction Finance Authority to issue $2 million in revenue bonds for the zoo. These would not require a vote of the people.

The North Carolina Zoo Authority has selected Purgatory Mountain near Asheboro as the site of the zoo, which will be financed largely through private funds.

The bond issue idea received the endorsement of Lt. Gov. Pat Taylor.

"It's obvious we don't have the dollars for an appropriation in this session of the General Assembly to fund the zoo," Taylor told newsmen. "I believe the best way to get it off the ground is to let the people of the state vote on it. I'm sold on the fact that the zoo will be an asset to the state and will pay for itself in many ways."

Other new legislation included a bill by Sen. Harry Bagnal, R-Forsyth, designed to cut down on the bootlegging of cigarettes by making it unlawful for unauthorized persons to purchase, sell or transport in any six consecutive days more than 5,000 cigarettes. Violation would be a felony punishable by a fine up to $5,000 and up to five years in jail.

Sen. Norman Joyner, R-Iredell, sponsored a bill that would provide tax incentive for the construction and improvement of export facilities within the state and allow for tax deduction of net income derived from the sale of Tar Heel products overseas.

Sen. John Burney, D-New Hanover, put in a bill requesting $2 million for a marine science building at the University of North Carolina at Wilmington.

Billboards, Junkyard Controls Effectuated

RALEIGH (AP) — Under federal pressure, the North Carolina Highway Commission has adopted regulations to control billboards and junkyards along the state's major highways.

The matter received considerable discussion at a commission meeting Thursday, and several commissioners indicated they didn't think much of the proposals.

But under the terms of the recently-funded 1965 Highway Beautification Act, the state had to enter into agreements with the federal government or lose about $19 million a year in aid.

The regulations will affect any signs within 660 feet of an interstate or primary highway but will exempt those on business premises and those erected since 1968. New signs will be restricted to a maximum of 1,200 square feet and must be at least 500 feet apart on interstate highways and 300 feet apart on primary highways.

The aim of the federal regulations is to reduce the clutter along the nation's major highway network. Project Control Officer Bill Ingram said $2 million in federal funds have been requested to carry out the regulations and pay for removing offending signs.

In other action, the commission also gave its okay to an agreement with the state Department of Archives and History to pay for archeological work at the Fayetteville Arsenal, a Confederate installation destroyed by Union troops in March, 1865.

The commission will reimburse Archives and History about $35,600 for 18 weeks of work before the Central Business District Freeway is cut through the site.

Drink Driving Bills Are Killed

RALEIGH (AP) — Two bills relating to drunken driving were killed in the General Assembly yesterday.

House Judiciary 1 Committee defeated a bill that would have made it illegal to drive after taking about two drinks of liquor. The bill would have applied to persons who had drunk enough for their driving to be affected but not enough to be convicted under the drunken driving law.

House Judiciary 2 Committee killed a bill which would have allowed officers to ask drivers to take a pre-arrest breathalyzer test to determine the amount of alcohol in their blood.

No Ticket For Porno Film Foe

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Al Jordan, vice president of an organization fighting pornography, is irritated because he couldn't see the movie he is fighting.

Jordan bought a ticket to the show but the manager recognized him as a protest witness in a recent unsuccessful court fight to halt the showing. The manager refused Jordan admission and refunded the money.

Jordan, vice president of Sensible Tulsans Opposed to Pornography, said: "I thought that I should be able to see it so that I could speak intelligently on pornography."

ABILITY COUNTS

LONDON (AP) — Life at the top in Britain is no longer ruled by the old school tie—that is who you know rather than what

A survey by the Industrial Management Journal disclosed nearly half of the bosses of the 30 leading industrial companies went to free government-sponsored schools.

Michael Berry, training director for the Confederation of British Industry, said: "There is too much money at stake today for the old school tie system. From now on it won't matter where you come from. Progress will depend only on ability."

Ethics Action Hanging Fire

By BRYAN HAISLIP
RALEIGH — Final days of the current session will determine what the North Carolina General Assembly does about legislative ethics.

What it has done after nearly six months is exactly nothing. Less than nothing, really, counting as a minus the action of the House Rules Committee this week in killing a financial disclosure proposal aimed at conflicts of interest.

What it still can do before adjournment (barring the unlikely introduction of new legislation) is create a bipartisan board to study standards of ethics for the House of Representatives and report in 1973.

Apparently everybody has given up on the Senate. The upper chamber in 1969 killed an ethics bill passed by the House. Despite the strong convictions of some individual Senators, no appreciable change in mood on the subject can be detected.

The sense of time running short is keen for Rep. Howard Twigg of Wake, sponsor of the House ethics study measure. Like the recently plowed under financial disclosure bill, it rests before the House Rules Committee. He's busy trying to get it out whole.

Time Is Short

"If it doesn't come out by next Wednesday," said Twigg, checking a calendar. "It will be dead from doing nothing." That much time will be needed, he explained, for passage through House and Senate.

Seventy of the 120 House members signed the bill when Twigg introduced it, so he's hopeful it will move once on the floor. Since it does not affect the Senators, he expects it to make it there, too, but his fingers are crossed.

Back on the first day of the session, Senator Hargrove Bowles of Guilford and Rep. Robert R. Jones of Rutherford put in identical bills for disclosure of financial interests in lawmakers. It was Jones' bill which the House Rules Committee killed, an action which effectively sentenced Bowles' measure as well, although the Senate Rules Committee has done nothing.

Whether the Senate would accept Twigg's bill, assuming it passes the House, is hard to say, Bowles added. "I certainly would think the Senate wouldn't stand in the way of something the House wanted for itself, but..." he said.

Closing Credibility Gap

Citizen cynicism has convinced many lawmakers, particularly younger ones, that an ethical standard would serve a useful purpose.

It would help, they feel, to close the credibility gap on the matter of honesty in politics and government.

Many people do think legislators are self-serving in bills they introduce and votes they cast, said Rep. James Rhyne of Gaston. They may have a point, he added. "By and large, those professions and occupations which have been best represented in the General Assembly have received the best treatment in laws enacted," he said.

Rhyne would like to see an ethics code to pin-point areas of conflict of interest for members. "Sure, a legislator can step aside when a vote comes up on a bill affecting his business, but how many do so?" he said.

He also wants some limitation on lobbying activity. It gets his goat to go into a committee meeting and find the walls lined with those representing special interests.

"We ought not to allow lobbyists into decision-making areas except upon specific invitation," he insisted.

An Opposing View

Rep. James B. Vogler of Mecklenburg, dean of the House at 76, doesn't give a rap for a code of ethics. "I'm for honesty in government," he said. "But a code of ethics is nothing but a scrap of paper."

Resolving a conflict of interest is up to the individual conscience, he said. "We're all 'pro' something," he reasoned. "We've got to make a living. We're 'pro' that, whatever it is."

He's willing to let Mecklenburg voters judge his ethics. "I told my people, 'You know who I am, what I do, and what I have. If you want to vote for me, fine if you don't, that's fine, too,'" Vogler said.

The public wants ethical standards for the legislature, said Twigg. If his bill is enacted, he added, it can be the vehicle for giving voice to what the public feels is needed.

It would set up a six-member study board; three Democrats and three Republicans chosen by respective caucuses of House members. Setting its own manner of operation, the board would recommend to the 1973 House standards for ethical conduct, financial disclosure requirements, and a permanent machinery for policing ethics.

"As I envision the work of the board," said Twigg, "I believe it would want to look at the laws of other states, and to hear from the people of this state." To that end, he'd like to see three public hearings held in the three major regions of the state.

Utilizing research, incorporating views from the public hearings, and drawing on the legislative experience of its members, Twigg said, the board would prepare a realistic and effective approach to ethical standards for lawmakers.

organizations. These groups would then distribute the tickets to individuals who would otherwise be unable to see these Broadway musical productions. For many of these people it would be a rare opportunity to view shows such as those put on by the Summer Theatre.

The ticket distribution would be carried out by the Salvation Army, Good Neighbor Council, Jaycees Committee for the Underprivileged, Boys' Club and Operation Sunshine.

The Summer Theatre has brought some of the best Broadway shows to our area. Now we as individuals can see that these cultural events are available to those who have been unable to afford them in the past.

Political Costs Pose A Big Warning Sign

The staggering cost of political campaigning is revealed by the fact that expenditures amounted to $35 million to put Richard Nixon in office.

A survey compiled by the nonpartisan Citizens' Research Foundation showed that. It included cost of $10 million for campaigning in the primaries and $24.9 million for the campaign prior to the general election.

A record $100 million was spent by all candidates for president.

This is another warning sign that it is becoming too costly to seek public office. Something must be done to curb the cost of campaigning. It is becoming a matter of which candidate has the most money.

Pressure For Tax Reduction

By ROWLAND EVANS and ROBERT NOVAK

WASHINGTON — Outside pressure on President Nixon's economic high command, divided and disheartened, is pushing it toward an emergency tax-cut package utterly different from its economic game plan.

With unemployment remaining high and the economy staying sluggish, prospects are improving that Mr. Nixon may have to swallow a package containing a speedup of a scheduled tax cut for individuals plus a return to the investment tax credit desired by industry. In return, the President would have to abandon his embattled scheme to help industry by liberalizing depreciation guidelines.

Actually, the chances for such a package remain something less than 50-50, if only because of the formidable opposition of George Shultz, director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). Shultz, still the closest approximation of an economic strongman in this government, is inflexibly opposed to tax cuts.

Moreover, any prediction is foolhardy considering the babel of Nixon economic policymaking. Almost any shade of opinion on tax policy can be found in the Administration (or in the upper reaches of the Treasury alone, for that matter). With Mr. Nixon typically aloof from this vital question, there has been no coordinated discussion inside the Administration.

But those most familiar with decision-making in Nixonland perceive that the predictably blah business statistics for the second quarter ending June 30 ("They will be moderately lousy," concedes one Administration official) will push the Administration closer to a tax cut than ever before. Indeed, even without the statistics, tax-cut lob-bing has increased sharply within the past two weeks.

Some of the President's political operatives have reported to the White House that the sputtering economy may be too much to overcome for his reelection and consequently want something dramatic — that is, a tax cut. Dr. Arthur Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, privately has become ever more insistent about what he wants: tax cuts for both individuals and corporations accompanied by an incomes policy (that is, guidelines on wages and prices) to hold down inflation.

Finally, key Democrats are beginning to get their minds off Vietnam long enough to consider tax-cut possibilities. A memorandum proposing an investment credit of massive proportions is being prepared for Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine, the front-running Presidential contender who until now has disregarded the economy as cavalierly as Mr. Nixon.

The result is a high for tax-cut sentiment in the Administration. Dr. Paul McCracken, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, is moving into the tax-cut camp in his peculiarly cryptic way. But he seems interested solely in tax relief for individuals, by speeding up an increase in the personal exemption scheduled for 1973.

In contrast, one very high Administration official moving gradually toward the tax-cut camp feels relief for industry, not individuals, is needed to stimulate the economy. His preference would be reduced corporate rates — a proposal doomed to defeat in the Democratic Congress.

If the President follows McCracken's lead and proposes a speeded-up personal tax cut, Mr. Taxation in Congress — Democratic Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas —

TIGHT MONEY

This is a day of tight money. The banks know it. Industry knows it. The government knows it. All of us know it when the time comes to pay bills and meet certain established financial responsibilities.

We are not having a depression at the present time or even a recession, but we are having a time of tight money. Certainly one reason is that so many people believe they own certain things which they do not own. In 1929 they thought they owned certain stocks, but most of these had been purchased on margin.

Today tens of thousands of people will declare that they own their homes. But they don't own them—the banks own them. Somebody other than ourselves usually owns the automobiles in which we drive about.

Perhaps we can best describe seasons of tight money by saying that people have overreached themselves financially. They have got possession of this, that and the other thing by making a down payment. But this does not mean ownership. We own things only when we have bought them and paid for them.

There is nothing wrong with delayed payments. They are dangerous but certainly not wrong. Something may happen that will prevent us from keeping up on certain payments. The unexpected (and especially the things that are unpleasantly unexpected) keeps coming into our lives and making it hard for us to be contented and happy.

Money (either the possession of it or the lack of it) creates problems. We have to walk carefully and live prayerfully and not exceed the speed limit on deferred payments.

The Last Laugh Hurts

WASHINGTON — As soon as the story broke concerning the McNamara Pentagon study of the war in Vietnam I received a visit from my friend, the little old lady in tennis shoes.

"Well," she said, holding the newspapers in one hand and her tennis racket in the other, "what do you think of your President Johnson now?"

"I don't know what to say." "All the time he was calling Barry Goldwater a war-monger during the 1964 election campaign, he was secretly planning to bomb North Vietnam himself."

"It's hard to believe the President was going to do something like that," I said. "as a candidate of restraint and reason he sounded so convincing."

"I haven't forgotten those days on the tennis court when you said my Barry was a dangerous Hawk who was going to get us involved in a war we had no chance of winning."

"Please, little old lady in tennis shoes," I begged. "Everyone can make a mistake."

"Don't tell me that," she shouted, "after all the fun you made of the people who supported Goldwater. You laughed at us at parties, you snickered at political rallies, you thought we were kooks. And all the while your boys were thinking of ways of provoking the Viet Cong so we could bomb the hell out of Hanoi."

"I know it doesn't sound good on paper," I said, "but I'm sure there must be an explanation for it. Maybe President Johnson will tell us about it in his book."

"I'm waiting for that book, sonny. It could turn out to be the greatest piece of fiction since Love Story."

"That's not a nice thing to say," I said.

"Well, what about all the things they said about my Barry? Every time Barry told it like it was, Lyndon pulled the wool over the American people's eyes."

"Now that's pretty strong." "It is, huh? The difference between the two candidates was Barry said, 'Kill!' And Lyndon said, 'Ah have no intention of escalating the war.'"

"I know it doesn't sound good on paper," I said, "but I'm sure there must be an explanation for it. Maybe President Johnson will tell us about it in his book."

To The Editor:

I would like to take this opportunity to encourage the citizens of this community to come to the aid of a very worthwhile summer organization, The Greenville Children's Theatre. The children are presenting a season of four plays ranging from a space adventure to a Japanese fantasy. The group is directed by (Mrs.) Beth Cayton. Mrs. Cayton has an outstanding background in children's theatre and did a fine job of directing the Greenville group last summer.

In addition to the four productions, the group participates in classes of make-up, acting, and scenery. I hope the people of Greenville realize the value of this activity. Perhaps one day it will become a permanent part of our community. Having grown up in Greenville, I appreciate fully the worth of projects like this and the need in the past for such projects should be evident to everyone who has witnessed the discontent of youths who are unable to find outlets of expression.

The first play, Space Harp, will be presented on Saturday, June 26, at 8:15 p. m. at the Methodist Student Center. Adult tickets are $1.50, Children are $.75. Season tickets are still available at pre-season rates; Adults are $5.00, Children are $2.00. Any donation would be appreciated. All checks should be made payable to The Greenville Children's Theatre and addressed to...

Those Final Clues

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Are you still having trouble telling the sexes apart?

You are? Well, little wonder. Instead of taking pride in looking different, the members of both sexes seem to be more and more determined to look as much alike as possible.

However, this mutual neuterization hasn't gone so far as yet that in most cases a determined bystander can't still figure out the sex of an individual. The question is why he would want to take the bother.

Her, for example, are a few remaining ways to tell the hirs from the hers.

If it will still bend over to pick up a dropped penny, it is a middle-age male. If it won't stretch its tight girdle to retrieve anything less than a dime, it's a middle-age female.

If it is always accused of never listening, that's Papa. If it is always accused of never stopping talking, that's Mama.

Put a dinner check on the restaurant table. Does it make little shrill cries of alarm and say it has lost one of its contact lenses? Undoubtedly it's a career woman. Does it simply reach into its pocket and pay the bill? Undoubtedly a career man.

If it wants to go out and have a drink during a family fuss, it's the husband. If it wants to cuddle up and kiss after a family fuss, it's the wife.

Can it forgive quicker than it can forget? A woman. Can it forget sooner than it can forgive? A man.

But what if you are walking behind a couple of teen-agers arm in arm, wearing long hair, sloppy sweaters, faded and patched denim pants, and identical sandals? What about their sex.

If you're real nosy, you might ask them their names.

"I'm Pat," says one.

"And I'm Terry," says the other.

That's no help. What's in a name any more? The only way to be sure of the sex of a teenager is

Old Crusader On Food Hoaxes

By ELMER ROESSNER

Sidney Margolius, who started fighting for consumers when Ralph Nader was six years old, has launched an attack on the great American food packagers and their advertising agencies in a new book, "The Great American Food Hoax" (Walker & Co., 216 pages, $5.95).

This, Margolius's twelfth pro-consumer salvo in book form, is directed as much against Madison Avenue as it is against the food processors who take a minimum of nourishment, put it in a fancy package and turn it over to an advertising agency, which goes into a paroxysm of hysteria shouting, "Convenience!"

Margolius, a newspaperman, has done a professional, reportorial job. He has named brands, listed his sources, and all but overwhelms the reader with charts and tables. (American cheese is 43 per cent water, cheddar is 39 per cent.)

Random Sampling

Here are a few of the hundreds of points Margolius makes:

Even as prices have risen and manufacturers have persuaded the public to pay

as much as $3 a pound for 37 cents worth of dried noodles by adding packets of sauce, the nutritional quality of processed foods has deteriorated.

Processed foods such as frozen dinners and vegetables have a higher profit than do ordinary groceries.

Food has gone up in price more than any other commodity sold over the counter.

The Department of Agriculture works to keep consumer food prices up.

One brand of fried rice consists of 5 cents worth of rice, a packet of dehydrated onions, flavorings and caramel coloring, and sells for 39 cents.

Breading on fried chicken pieces represented 37 per cent of the weight of the small pieces of chicken in a heat-and-serve dinner.

There may be less than an ounce of meat, uncooked basis, in a 16-ounce can of ravioli in sauce.

Some Tests
A package of gravy and turkey tested, marked two pounds (32 ounces) consisted of 16 ounces of gravy and 8 ounces of turkey.

"Nine whole franks" in a 41-cent can of beans and franks were actually 2 inches long weighed a total of three ounces.

On puffed cereals: "Never have so many people bought so little food in such big boxes." And, an ounce of uncooked dry rice costs about 1 cent, but an ounce of puffed rice costs almost 6 cents. (Margolius's indictment of the cereal industry was in print before this week's report by the Federal Trade Commission charging that breakfast cereal prices had been inflated 15 to 25 per cent by very high profits and advertising expenditures.)

Fortified Diet Milk is advertised as "99 per cent fat free." With that reasoning, 3.5 per cent whole milk is 96.5 per cent fat free.

The retailers' margin of 96 to 5 cents on a 25-cent loaf of bread is higher than the farm cost of the ingredients.

"All meat" and "all beef" frankfurters and bologna are usually close to 30 per cent fat and 10 per cent water, plus 2 per cent corn syrup, flavoring ingredients and preservatives. Thus they are really about 50 per cent meat.

Margolius blames the great American food hoax on food processors and their advertising agencies. He overlooks the fact that the hoax is possible only because of the abysmal ignorance of the American consumer.

If Margolius has dissipated some of this ignorance, his book is, worth while.

Anniversary Of Korean Conflict Sees No Peace

By K.P. HONG
Associated Press Writer
SEOUL (AP) — Twenty-one years ago today North Korea invaded South Korea and started the Korean War. Occasional clashes still interrupt the uneasy peace along the 151-mile frontier between the two nations.

A 600,000-man South Korean force equipped with U.S. jet fighter-bombers, missiles, tanks and artillery stands guard along and below the demilitarized zone set by the 1953 armistice.

U.S. soldiers protected 18 miles of the DMZ front until March, when they were pulled back prior to the reduction of U.S. forces in South Korea from 62,000 to 42,000 by July 1.

Across the buffer zone are 466,000 North Korean troops armed with Soviet military equipment, including MIG21 jet fighters, heavy artillery and missiles.

South Korean officials claim that North Korea has violated the armistice agreement by building in its half of the buffer zone some 200 concrete bunkers and other fortifications armed with automatic weapons. But North Korea's refusal to cooperate has stymied the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission and the joint observer teams of the two opposing sides, the agencies created to help enforce the armistice.

When the North Korean army unquestionably will add to it a revival of the investment credit (permitting tax benefits for new industrial investment). Total price tag: about $10 billion. In turn, the President would have to dump his tax subsidy for business with faster depreciation, unveiled early this year but still not put into effect after vehement opposition from liberal Democrats.

Even though Mr. Nixon led in repealing the investment credit in 1969, few top officials would shed many tears about its reinstatement. Thus, George Shultz would have his work cut out to prevent sponsorship of a tax package which he believes hideously inflationary in a time when budget deficits surpass $20 billion a year.

The decision could turn on the still new and still untested Secretary of the Treasury, John B. Connally.

crossed the 38th parallel at dawn on June 25, 1950, it had 10 combat divisions armed with 500 Soviet tanks and 2,000 artillery pieces. South Korea was defended by 100,000 ill-trained men armed with rifles and light machine guns supplied by the United States.

Seoul fell to the invaders in three days and a large part of South Korea was occupied within a month. The United States rushed to South Korea's defense and rallied a 16-nation force under the banner of the United Nations.

These forces pushed all the way through North Korea, to the Chinese border, but late in November 1950, 300,000 Chinese Communist troops went into action on two fronts and within a month had forced the U.N. forces back to the 38th parallel.

The war resulted in only slight territorial changes along the 38th parallel. South Korea gained some land in the middle and eastern portions of the frontier while losing some territory along the west coast.

But the three-year war was costly in lives for both sides. About 500,000 South Koreans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The fight over the Pentagon war study, now in the Supreme Court, is a fight over who decides what the people read in newspapers: a government official, an editor or a judge.

The Justice Department, expressing concern for the nation's security, wants to protect its authority to mark documents "top secret" and keep them in the files until officials decide the reason for secrecy has passed.

The New York Times, the Washington Post and other newspapers that have run articles based on the study of the Vietnam war, concede there are military secrets that should not be published. But they

TV Network Challenges Congress Probe Orders

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Edging toward a court test of what a broadcaster can deny Congress, House probes indicate they will press contempt charges against an unbending network chief.

Climaxing a four-hour confrontation Thursday, Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., chairman of the Commerce Committee and its investigating panel, ordered Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, "to comply with the committee subpoena."

Repeating what he had said every time he was asked to supply such subpoenaed material as film or sound recordings not used in the televised documentary "The Selling of the Pentagon," Stanton replied: "I respectfully decline."

"We must have those outtakes," Staggers demanded, hammering his desk as he ac-would reserve the right to make a judgment for themselves.

In the middle stand the many judges who have been dragged into the struggle. Undoubtedly, they all would rather be out of it. But they find themselves having to engage in the always difficult task of balancing two competing interests: security and the people's right to know.

Since this gymnastic act is tricky, the balance has been tipped differently in different courts so far. As a result, the Supreme Court is forced almost inescapably into making the final judgment.

The Times' argument is that restraints by courts on news about "public affairs" do not square with the First Amendment's free-press guarantees.

Wednesday evening the federal appeals court in New York told the paper it could begin running on Saturday only parts of the study that the government is willing to let be published.

The Times says neither the Constitution nor the law supports such a ruling, especially since the judge who would oversee the selection, Murray I. Gurfein, has said that publication of the war history would cause only "some embarrassment" and no danger to the government.

The Justices, who were to begin their summer vacations next Monday, can conduct the "immediate" hearing requested by The Times or let Gurfein's hearings proceed under the July 3 deadline set by the appeals court.

The shoe is on the other foot in the Post case. Second in print, the Washington newspaper has fared better so far in the legal arena. Two courts have ruled in its favor and it's the Justice Department asking the Supreme Court to step in.

Judge Gerhard A. Gesell found last Monday that "the public interest makes an insistent plea for publication." Then, on Wednesday, the federal appeals court here agreed that the government had failed to prove The Post articles would

AMA Re-Elects N.C. Physician

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) — Dr. John Kernodie, a former president of the North Carolina Medical Society, has been re-elected vice chairman of the American Medical Association Board of Trustees.

He was elected Thursday at the AMA convention in Atlantic City. Earlier, the Burlington physician was re-elected to a second three-year term as a member of the board.

be dangerous to national security.

These rulings mean the Post would be free to resume publication after 6 p.m. Friday. The Justice Department asked the high court late Thursday to bar articles on material the government considers sensitive.

In another category is the Boston Globe, the third paper to pop into print. It ran into a tough order Tuesday by Judge Anthony Julian to turn in all documents in its possession. Later, he said they could be placed in a bank safe deposit vault and that the Globe could run stories supplied by other papers or news services. He will hold a hearing next Tuesday.

In legal limbo, more or less, are the other newspapers that have run accounts of the Pentagon study: The Chicago Sun-Times, The Los Angeles Times and the Knight newspapers.

Charge 4 With Weapons Theft

ALBEMARLE, N.C. (AP) — The Stanly County sheriff's office has charged four men with stealing more than $12,000 in weapons from a New London gun dealer.

Arrested at their homes in the Winston-Salem area Thursday and jailed in Albemarle were Eddie Ray Spivey, 17; Samuel Paul Martin, 28; Curtis Motsinger, 22, and Fred Wayne Williams, 22. Bond was set at $25,000 each.

They were charged with felonious breaking and entering and larceny.

Sheriff Ralph McSwain said about 140 guns, mostly pistols, were taken in the June 11 theft. He said only three guns have been recovered.

Heroin-Seller Shot To Death

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Police Chief J. C. Goodman says a young man who had made a deal to sell $50 worth of heroin to an undercover agent suddenly recognized the agent as a policeman, attacked him with a sharp metal instrument, and was shot dead Thursday.

The chief said the policeman, whose name was not released because of the nature of his assignment, had shot in self defense. The victim was Frankie Lee Dunlap, 18, of Rt. 1 in nearby Pineville. He had been shot twice in the upper chest.

The chief said it was the second time undercover agents had bought heroin from him.

Goodman gave this account: The policeman and another undercover agent who is not a police officer made a deal with Dunlap in Freedom Park about 5 p.m. Thursday and were going to a house to get the heroin. The policeman drove, Dunlap also was in the front seat and the other agent was in the back seat.

Just before they reached a park exit, Dunlap shouted to the driver, "You're a god-damned pig cop." He grabbed a metal instrument which was about four inches long and had sharpened teeth, hit the officer's glasses and cut his face. He also swung at the agent in the back seat.

The driver told Dunlap he was under arrest but the youth swung his weapon at him again. The car bumped into a fence. As Dunlap continued his attack, the policeman shot him.

Shooting Given Accident Label

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — The fatal shooting of one officer by another in the lobby of the Wilmington police station yesterday has been listed as an apparent accident.

A police report said that Clarence A. Davis, 37, was standing with other officers when K. F. Points' pistol discharged.

"It seems to us at this point that it was strictly an accident," said Police Chief H. E. Williamson.

When Staggers asked whether Stanton realized he could be found in contempt, the network executive twice responded, "yes, I do."

Ordered to supply the material, Stanton said, "I respectfully decline." Staggers told him: "In my opinion, you are now in contempt."

Later, apparently ready to press for a recommendation to the full Commerce Committee, Staggers told reporters the subcommittee's decision may be made next week. If the committee goes along, it would be up to the House whether to send the case to the Justice Department for prosecution.

If deceptions are "allowed to happen, the era of Big Brother has arrived," Staggers said, when television executives "can control America ... the thoughts of Americans."

But Stanton said the panel could not constitutionally compel CBS to produce the subpoenaed materials or give oral testimony for such a purpose.

House Committee Okays Repealing Soft Drink Tax

RALEIGH (AP) — The House Finance Committee approved by a one-vote margin Thursday a bill to repeal North Carolina's one-cent soft drink tax two years from now.

The measure is given little chance of surviving on the House floor, and even less of a chance in the Senate Finance Committee.

The repeal bill was introduced early in the session but supporters had been blocked by parliamentary maneuvering in all previous attempts to get it up for a vote.

Rep. Sam Johnson, D-Wake, sponsored an amendment to make the effective date of repeal July 1, 1973, and supporters of the bill reluctantly went along with the move.

But the leading opponent of tax repeal — Rep. Perry Martin, D-Northampton — charged the move was "fiscal irresponsibility" and would put a "$40 million mortgage on the 1973 General Assembly."

The soft drink tax, levied by the 1969 General Assembly at Gov. Bob Scott's request, brings in an estimated $38 million per biennium.

"This would be a mandate to the 1973 legislature to raise $40 million," Martin told the committee.

He said it would cause the next legislature "to go someplace else to get a tax. The obvious place to go is cigarettes."

Martin was chiefly responsible for getting Scott to back away from his nickel-a-pack cigarette tax proposal in 1969 and settle for a two-cent cigarette and one-cent soft drink tax.

Martin also told the committee that Johnson's amendment would make repeal an issue in the legislative and gubernatorial races in 1972.

Rep. Liston Ramsey, D-Madison, then moved that the amendment and the bill be postponed indefinitely.

But Rep. Herschel Harkins, D-Buncombe, objected that this would be "taking the coward's way out." He accused supporters of the tax of using muscle to prevent the bill from going to the House floor.

Harkins moved to table Ramsey's motion, but this was defeated 24-23, with committee chairman Rep. Dwight Quinn, D-Cabarrus, breaking a tie vote.

The committee voted 27-26 against Ramsey's motion to postpone the bill indefinitely, and then approved the amendment and voted 27-26 to give the bill a favorable report.

Johnson told the committee that the one-cent tax "is one we should do without. Only two other states now have a soft drink tax."

Rep. Sneed High, D-Cumberland, who sponsored the tax repeal bill, called it "the wrong tax on the wrong people at the wrong time."

Rep. William R. Robertson Jr. D-Beaufort, a soft drink bottler, told the committee the tax "is a millstone around the neck of the soft drink bottlers."

'Take It Off'

RALEIGH (AP) — State Rep. J. F. Mohn, D-Onslow, has won some attention in the North Carolina General Assembly because he wears a toupee.

The subject came up Thursday when Mohn was explaining to the House Finance Committee his bill to divert $18 million in whisky tax revenue from the state to local governments.

"I'm going to have to talk from the top of my head," replied Mohn when asked for some information.

But, said Rep. Jim Volger, D-Mecklenburg, "the top of your head is covered up."

"Take it off," shouted someone from the back of the room.

Mohn didn't, and the committee didn't take the state tax off either. It killed Mohn's bill.

Injured As Car Hit Pole

One person was reported injured in a 10:30 p.m. mishap yesterday on First Street, 80 feet west of the Elm Street intersection.

Officers reported a car driven by John Carlton Taylor Jr., 17, of 217 Windsor Rd. collided with a utility pole. A passenger in the car at the time, Steve Riddick, 17, of 1618 Longwood Dr., was reported injured and taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Taylor was charged with careless and reckless driving by officers who placed damage to his car at $100.

Summer Theatre Crew At Work

Last Monday morning, June 21, at 9:00 a.m., 40 actors and 35 scenery, lighting, and prop technicians assembled in McGinnis Auditorium at East Carolina University for the kick-off of the E.C. Summer Theatre.

Director Edgar R. Loessin welcomed the cast and crew, and outlined the rehearsal procedures and schedules which will occupy practically all of the company's waking hours for the next eight weeks. East Carolina president, Dr. Leo Jenkins, then made a short welcoming address to the company, expressing his hopes for a lively and successful season.

The next two weeks will be spent in exhaustive rehearsals for the first two productions of the season, Oliver and Mame. Choreographer Mavis Ray and conductor Barry Shank will be putting the dancers and orchestra through their paces, while Loessin directs his actors. As the scenery and costumes come together, full company rehearsals will begin on the stage. Although these two weeks are extremely busy, they are actually the most "relaxed" part of the summer — because after the season opens on July 5 nightly performances will be added to the already hectic schedule.

Loessin is pleased with the quality of this summer's company and says that they comprise one of the most talented groups to come to Greenville for the summer theatre, now in its eighth season.

Ask Officers Take Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dissident miners group has demanded that top United Mine Workers union officials take lie detector tests to clear them of suspicion in the slayings of insurgent Jose A. "Jock" Yablonski, his wife and daughter.

"Nothing does more damage to us in the eyes of our fellow citizens and our own families than the growing and unresolved suspicion that our union officials and our money played a part in these horrible murders," Mike Trbovich, chairman of Miners for Democracy, said Thursday.

He said UMW president W.A. "Tony" Boyle, general counsel Edward L. Carey and other international officers, and leaders of the union's District 19 should take the tests voluntarily "to establish once and for all that these suspicions have no basis in fact."

A spokesman for the union declined immediate comment.

Boyle has repeatedly denied and knowledge of the Dec. 31, 1969, slayings in the Yablonski home at Clarksville, Pa.

One man has confessed to the slayings and four other persons have been arrested in the case.

Optimists Rally To Beat Kiwanis; Claim North State Championship

The Optimists rallied from five runs down to come back and take a 6-5 victory over the Kiwanis yesterday and wrap up the North State Little League title. In the other game, Coca-Cola downed the Jaycees and pulled into a three-way tie for third, 7-4.

The Optimists have the title with a 13-1 record, while the Kiwanis have second place sewed up at 10-4. The Jaycees, R. C. Cola, and Coke are tied for third with 5-8 records, while the Lions are stuck in the basement with a 2-11 mark.

In the opener, the Jaycees pushed over two runs in the first. Bill Collier singled and took second on a wild pitch. Kenneth Avery also walked, and passed balls let both runners proceed around the bases to score.

Coke came back with three in the bottom of the first. Mark Berbert reached on an error and Gary Chapman singled. Greg Lassiter reached on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Mike Sutton went out, but scored Berbert. Passed balls then let Chapman and Lassiter score.

In the second, Coke got two more for a 5-2 lead. Berbert singled and Chapman reached on an error. Jerome Ross was hit by a pitched and Lassiter singled in both Berbert and Chapman.

The Jaycees got a run in the third. Collier singled and Jay Holt walked. Avery reached on an error, loading the bases and Bill Myers hit a sacrifice fly to score Collier.

The final Jaycee run came in the fourth. Scott Creech reached on an error and stole second. A passed ball moved him to third and he scored on a wild pitch.

Coke added one in the bottom of the fourth. Chapman reached on an error and advanced to third on passed balls. He scored on Ross' hit.

The fifth saw the final Coke run score. Ronnie Chapman singled and took second on a passed ball. Berbert reached on an error and Ross doubled to score Chapman.

The Kiwanis charged into the lead in their game in the third, hoping to pull off an upset and keep their last hope alive. Danny Hester singled and Sid Ashby reached on a fielder's choice. Julian White was also safe on a fielder's choice, loading the bases. Kent Phillips reached on an error, scoring Hester and Ashby. Randy Britt singled to score White and Phillips. A passed ball moved Britt to third and he scored on Brad Brown's sacrifice fly.

Kiwanis pitcher Ashby had held the Optimists hitless through the first four innings, but the bubble broke in the fifth as they scored one run. Mac Stokes singled and took second on a wild pitch. He scored on Bubber Rowlett's single.

Then, in the sixth, the Optimists rallied for five more to take the win and the title. Greg Lee singled and Gary Allen got a hit. Both moved up on a passed ball. Bob Peoples singled to score Lee and he stole second. An error on the play let Allen score and move Peoples to third, from where he scored on a passed ball. Gary Prter singled and Stokes reached on a fielder's choice. Ricky Robinson singled, and Eric McCormick got hit, scoring both Porter and Stokes to win the game.

First Leaders In Summer Loop

CHAPEL HILL — First baseman Ron Hawley of Campbell College has taken over the early batting lead in the North Carolina Collegiate Summer Baseball League.

The hustling Hawley cracked eight hits in his first 19 times at bat to post an average of .421. His eight hits are the most by any league player.

The averages were released Wednesday and include games played through Monday, June 21.

Two players are pressing Hawley with .400 averages. They are his Campbell teammate, Bill Ellington, and Jack Gillis of the University of North Carolina.

Carolina catcher Mike Roberts, who is batting .384, leads the league in runs batted in with seven.

In order to be eligible for the batting title, a player must have an average of at least two and one-half bats per game played by his team.

In the early pitching records, Eddie Booth of UNC at Wilmington leads the way with a perfect earned run average of 0.00. He pitched a 1-0 victory over Louisburg in his first league start.

College View Knocks Off NCNB

North Carolina National Bank got knocked off the top of the Babe Ruth League again last night, bowing to College View, 7-3. Only one game was played.

Carolina Dairy stands alone at the top again with a 7-4 record. NCNB is 7-5, followed by Pepsi-Cola, 6-5; Home Builders and College View, both 5-6, and Planters Bank, 3-7.

College View pushed over three runs in the bottom of the first inning, pushing ahead for good. Bobby Kittrell doubled and took third on a passed ball after Donald Cannon had walked. A wild pitch scored Kittrell. Ken Tetterton also drew a walk and Mike Riley singled to drive in both runners.

In the second, College View came up with three more runs to up the lead to 6-0. Ed Clark walked and took second on an error on a pickoff attempt. Kittrell singled him to third, and then stole second. Bob Boles finished things off with a three-run homer.

NCNB started its scoring in the third, getting a pair. Robert Belshem reached on an error and Steve Fuchs singled him to third. Fuchs stole second and an error on the play let both runners score.

In the fifth, NCNB got another run. Wesley Puryear walked and stole second. He took third on an out and scored on a wild pitch.

College View collected its final run in the sixth. Cannon walked and stole second. He advanced and scored when Tetterton singled, and the ball was errored.

Kittrell, Tetterton and Riley led the College View hitting with two each. No one had more than one for NCNB.

Dodgers Pound St. Louis, 11-4

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
What is so rare as a day in June?

Any weekday when the Dodgers play baseball in Los Angeles.

Or a Tom Seaver home run. The Dodgers made the most of an infrequent matinee home date Thursday, trouncing St. Louis 11-4 with a sunburst of 14 hits.

Then, in a night game, the New York Mets made the most of Seaver's second major league homer—a tie-breaking shot in the eighth inning—to nip the Montreal Expos 2-1 behind their ace right-hander's five-hit.

In the only other game on the National League schedule, Philadelphia shaded Cincinnati 3-1 on a two-run single by rookie Roger Freed in the 10th inning.

In the American League, Milwaukee trimmed California 6-0; Baltimore whipped Washington 6-1 and Detroit blanked Cleveland 3-0. Oakland and Minnesota were rained out.

The Dodgers, beaten twice by the Cardinals under the lights, bounced back to take the finale of the three-game set before an afternoon crowd of 19,282.

It was the only midweek day game scheduled this season for Los Angeles, where the Dodgers played exclusively at night last year except on weekends.

"I like it," said Jim Lefebvre, who broke out of a two-week slump to pace the Dodgers' attack with a homer and two singles, good for four runs batted in. "Now I can have dinner at home and relax."

Lefebvre, who went into the game with just four hits in his previous 38 at-bats, poked an RBI single as the Dodgers exploded for eight runs in the second inning, then poled his seventh homer of the season with two on in the fourth.

Lefebvre's three hits brought his season average back up to .284.

Seaver jumped on a 1-1 pitch from Bill Stoneman with two out in the eighth and drove it over the left field fence to break a 1-1 deadlock at Montreal. The first homer of his five-year NL career also came at the expense of the Expos—last season with Rich Nye the victim.

He struck out nine Expos on the way to his ninth victory against three setbacks.

Stoneman, 9-6, also gave up five hits before giving way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth and struck out eight, bringing his league-leading total to 134.

The Reds, victims of Rick Wise's no-hitter Wednesday night, finally broke their scoring famine when two-out doubles by Tony Perez and Bernie Carbo in the ninth lifted them into a 1-1 tie.

But the Phils pushed over the deciding runs in the 10th on Larry Bowa's single, a sacrifice, two walks and Freed's bases-loaded single up the middle.

Pitchers Shine In American

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
What do Dave McNally and Jim Slaton have in common?

Well, not much really. After all, McNally has been pitching for the Baltimore Orioles for 10 seasons while Slaton wasn't even in the major league when this one began.

But they both had the opposition in the palms of their hands Thursday as they tossed four-hitters, McNally stopping Washington 6-1 at night and Slaton carrying the Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-0 blanking of California in a day game.

In the only other American League night game on the abbreviated schedule, Detroit silenced Cleveland 3-0. Oakland's game at Minnesota was rained out.

Ladies Leaders Remain Tied

Both of the leaders picked up wins last night in the Ladies Softball League. The Little Mint ripped Wachovia, 32-1, while Foodland edged past Coca-Cola, 8-5.

Both the Little Mint and Foodland are tied for first place with 9-1 records. Piggy-Wiggly has sewed up third place with a 5-5 mark, while Coke has fourth with a 3-8 mark, and Wachovia has fifth at 0-11. The only places still to be decided are first and second.

In the opener, the Little Mint pushed over six runs in the first to take the lead for good. Winkie Phillips singled and Pat Kilpatrick doubled. Bobbie Jones got a hit and Linda Tripp homered. Carol Manuel singled and Sandra Kelly tripled. A passed ball scored her with the in National League action, Los Angeles ripped St. Louis 11-4, the New York Mets nipped Montreal 2-1 and Philadelphia clipped Cincinnati 3-1 in 10 innings.

McNally's 12th triumph of the year against just four setbacks put him second only to Oakland's 15-game winner Vida Blue in major league victories. Slaton, 2-1, was rewarded with his first complete game and first shutout in the majors.

The Baltimore left-hander got all the runs he needed in the first inning as Don Buford crashed a leadoff homer and Brooks Robinson followed walks to Boog Powell and Frank Robinson with a single for the first of his three runs batted in.

Brooks also lofted a bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the third and singled in a run home in the fifth, then took second on a walk and scored himself when Andy Etchebarren, grounding into a forceout, kept the Senators busy on a rundown play between first and second.

The victory was the Orioles' 20th in 25 games and kept them 6½ games ahead of Detroit in the American League East.

The Brewers staked Slaton to a five-run lead in the fourth inning and the young hurler projected with a two-hitter until the Angels opened the eighth with a pair of singles. But a forceout and Tony Gonzalez' double play grounder got him out of danger.

Tommy Harper ignited the Brewers' outburst with their first hit off Clyde Wright, 7-7. A walk and Andy Kosco's single broke the scoreless duel and, after another walk, Dave May smacked a three-run double, then scored on Slaton's infield single when catcher Jeff Torborg dropped the throw to the plate.

Mickey Lolich scattered eight hits and fanned 11 Cleveland batters as the Tigers slipped past idle Boston into second place in the East Division.

Singles by Dick McAuliffe and Mickey Stanley and Norm Cash's sacrifice fly produced a first-inning run and Detroit capped the scoring in the seventh on Aurelio Rodriguez' double, Gene Lamont's single, Lolich's sacrifice and McAuliffe's single.

EX-MET AIDS ROYALS
NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe all Amos Otis needed was to play 67 games with the New York Mets in 1969.

After hitting .178 in that many National League games, Amos apparently found a welcome home in Kansas City. Last year with the American League Royals the 23-year-old outfielder got in 159 games, batted .284 and accounted for 138 runs. He stole 33 bases in 35 attempts.

The Mets traded him and hurler R. D. Johnson to the Royals for third baseman Joe Foy, now with the Washington Senators, after the 1969 season.

Graniteers Add To List; Integon Wins

The Graniteers, with the Tar Heel League title all sewed up, continued to roll along yesterday, while Integon made strides in trying to get out of the cellar.

The Graniteers downed Pepsi-Cola, 12-7, while Integon beat the Moose, 3-2.

The Graniteers have the title with a 12-2 record, while Pepsi is in second with an 8-6 mark. They are followed by the Elks, 7-6; the Exchange, 5-8, and Integon and Moose, both 4-9.

In the opening game, Integon pushed over all three of its runs in the second, without a hit. Sandy Abbott reached on an error, and Mert Sutton was hit by a pitch. Both advanced on a passed ball. Howard Tucker walked, loading the bases, and another passed ball scored Abbott. Jim Miles then reached on another error, scoring both Sutton and Tucker.

The Moose tried to make a comeback, scoring one each in the fourth and fifth innings. The fourth run came on a round-tripper by William Brewington.

In the fifth, Henry Baker reached on an error and took second on a passed ball. Brewington doubled to drive him in, but that was as far as the rally went.

Baker struck out 11 for the Moose, while winner Worth Albea fanned 10.

The Graniteers pushed over four runs in the top of the first inning. Kevin Haut walked and Howard Vainright reached on an error. Jay Chenier singled, loading the bases. Joel Clark then walked, forcing in Haut. Steve Manning singled in Vainright and Chenier, and Clark scored on Timmy Allen's ground out.

Pepsi came back with two runs in the bottom of the frame. Michael Shank reached on a fielder's choice and Dana Kendrick made it 4-2 with a home run.

The Graniteers picked up another run in the second. H. L. Austin walked and took second on an error. He scored on Vainright's single.

Another scored in the third. Clark was hit by a pitch and moved up on a hit by Chris Moye and a walk to Henry Wooten. Another walk, to Austin, brought Clark over to make it 6-2.

Pepsi added three more in the bottom of the third. Shank reached on an error, as did Kendrick. Both advanced on a passed ball. Mark Conway walked, and another passed ball scored Shank. Kendrick came in on a throw to second to get the stealing Conway. A passed ball then scored Conway with the fifth Pepsi run.

The Graniteers added two more in the fourth for a 8-5 lead. Vainright, Chenier and Clark each walked, the last scoring Haut. Manning doubled to score Vainright and Chenier, and a single by Moye brought in Clark.

The final Pepsi runs came in the fifth. Kendrick singled and scored on Joey Cherry's double. Cherry then scored on two passed balls.

Anthony Clark has a big responsibility. One false move of his hands and he's mixed the wrong measure of grain for the Old Crow formula. Does he ever miss? The proof is in the good taste of our Bourbon.

Making Bourbon which tastes good, bottle after bottle, made Old Crow famous. Back in 1835, our people figured out the formula that took Bourbon-making out of the hit-or-miss category. Later, they handmade the first sour mash Bourbon. We still use our hands in making Old Crow.

After work, most of our men keep on using their hands. Anthony Clark calls on the same craftsmanship mixing grain as he does tying fishing flies.

Over the years, craftsmanship like this has made Old Crow America's best-tasting Bourbon.

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)

—Lyndon B. Johnson's still unpublished White House memoirs acknowledge that his administration was privately preparing in early 1964 for large scale American military involvement in Vietnam, long before the depth of the U.S. commitment was known to the public, according to a story published today by Newsday, the Long Island newspaper.

The memoirs, to be published on November, support many of the findings of the classified Pentagon study of the war's origins which the government has been fighting to keep secret, Newsday said.

The former president's book, now largely in galley form at the New York publishing firm of Holt, Rinehart and Winston, is entitled, "The Vantage Point: Perspectives of the Presidency."

Newsday said it obtained information about the material from a publishing industry source. It gave this account:

Johnson depicts himself in the book as having been hesitant for several months over approving military advisers' recommendations for bombing raids against North Vietnam. But in February of 1965, he writes, he told aides that he was approving the bombing.

"We have kept our gun over the mantle and our shells in the cupboard for a long time now," I said. "And what was the result? They are killing our men while they sleep in the night. I can't ask American soldiers out there to continue to fight with one hand tied behind their backs."

In the book, Johnson says that he first decided to pursue President Kennedy's policy of defending South Vietnam sovereignty while flying back to Washington only a few hours after Kennedy's assassination in November 1963.

In the highlights of his chapters on Vietnam, portraying more than five years of growing U.S. involvement, Johnson says:

On March 17, 1964 he approved a recommendation by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that U.S. forces should be prepared for a "program of graduated military pressure against the North."

Markets Backed One-Sale Leaf

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (AP) — The Bright Belt Warehouse Association has taken a stand against any effort to close one-sale flue-cured tobacco auction markets.

In the closing session of its annual convention, the association approved a resolution Thursday saying it would "oppose current efforts by some individuals or groups to eliminate any markets or to restructure the present marketing system in any manner."

Fred S. Royster of Henderson, the association's managing director, called such efforts unreasonable.

Royster said gross sales last year on flue-cured auction markets totaled 737 million pounds on the multiple sales markets and 486 million pounds on one-sale markets. He said the 1970 crop was sold on 94 markets, 28 of them multiple sale and 66 one-sale.

Shutting off one-sale markets, he said, would cause "tremendous monetary harm to the investment in facilities as well as to the economic life of the communities."

In another closing development, the association was told that the next 18 months will be "the most revolutionary period in the history of the U.S. tobacco economy."

The speaker was Joseph R. Williams, associate director of the tobacco division of the foreign agricultural service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Williams listed as factors in the next 18 months increased availability, at cheaper prices, of foreign-grown tobacco; stiff protectionist policies of the Common Market nations; and increased concern over the smoking and health controversy.

He noted that world cigarette sales continue to increase about 3 per cent annually, with some areas reporting a 5 per cent gain. He said that for the first 10 months of fiscal 1971 sales of U.S.-made tobacco products rose to $163.7 million, up 16 per cent from 13 months earlier.

Says Work Hurt By Protestors

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — George Bush, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, says demonstrations by militant groups that support Jews in the Soviet Union may hamper diplomatic efforts on their behalf.

"The outrageous, illegal acts of those attempting to do something about the problem are harming it," he said Thursday at the annual dinner of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce.

He singled out the militant Jewish Defense League, which has carried on demonstrations and programs of harassment against members of the Soviet missions to the United Nations.

Bush said the JDL actions make it "far more difficult to find support for Soviet Jewry at the United Nations."

Wm. Friday Continuing Opposition To Change

RALEIGH (AP) — University of North Carolina President William Friday says he will stick by his trustees in opposing Gov. Bob Scott's proposal for restructuring higher education.

Friday released a statement to the press Thursday reaffirming his opposition to Scott's plan to de-consolidate the university and put all 16 state-supported institutions of higher education under a single board of regents.

The announcement was another setback for Scott, who had hoped to win over some UNC supporters with a new proposal that would give the regents full governing powers instead of just coordinating authority over the universities.

UNC operates on the governing board plan now, and Scott said Tuesday his new plan would merely extend that to the other 10 institutions.

But Friday said: "Last month the Board of Trustees, after extensive discussion and without expressed dissent, stated its position and policy on the proposed restructuring of higher education in North Carolina. I stated then and now reaffirm my support of the position taken by the board."

Scott's plan also appeared in trouble from another source.

Sen. John Burney's bill to turn the matter over to a legislative study commission until the 1973 session, which won the support of 28 of the 50 senators last week, is gaining strength in the House.

The bill would knock Scott completely out of the picture since his term expires before the next legislature convenes.

After Burney's bill appeared, Scott banked off from an immediate showdown by agreeing to let the legislature recess and come back to consider his proposal in the fall.

Rep. John Stevens, D-Buncombe, said the Burney bill already has 52 or 53 of the needed 61 signatures to put it through the House.

If the bill passed, it would preclude any recess. The governor has the power to call a special session, but this would be highly unlikely in the face of a direct defeat such as the passage of the Burney bill.

Scott's allies—including the chairmen of both House and Senate Higher Education committees—reportedly have vowed that Burney's bill will not get out of committee in the few weeks remaining this session.

Honesty Offsets A Lack Of Zeal

GRAND FORK, N.D. (AP) — High school pupils applying for admission to the University of North Dakota's summer school program for juniors must write a brief explanation of why they wish to attend.

Not all of them detail a quest for knowledge.

Registrar Milford Ulven came across an application form in which a youth specified, under his reason for attending, "a 36-24-36 now attending summer school."

The application was accepted. Ulven said the lad's honesty might offset any possible lack of academic zeal.

Investments See Increase

RALEIGH (AP) — Capital investments for new and expanded industry in North Carolina showed an increase during the first five months of 1971.

Conservation and Development Director Roy Sowers Jr. said Thursday that during the first five months of the year, industry committed $257.9 million to capital investments, compared to $214.9 million during a similar period in 1970.

"This year's commitment by industry promises to add more than $47 million to the North Carolina payroll and will create nearly 10,000 new job opportunities for our people," Sowers told a Lillington Rotary Club.

"We are pleased with the upswing evidenced so far this year in North Carolina," he said. "And although the national picture remains somewhat unstable, we hope the capital investments record for the first five months in North Carolina indicates that our own economy is being becoming more stabilized and will continue to hold the promise for better business."

"Keep the faith and you may still make that pilot grade," said Shaw, a National Air Lines pilot for 25 years.

Teach Safety To The Young

Adult smokers seldom know how to light a match! Imitate the Japanese! Tony had a high I.Q. but lacked "horse sense." Parents, please pay attention to the little acts outlined below. For they cause thousands of bad injuries to kiddies. Superb parents prepare their children for the usual emergencies in life!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M. D.

Case Q-586: Tony G., aged 9, is in the hospital.

"Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "Tony went for a hike with a couple of neighbor boys.

"They decided to build a fire and roast weiners for their lunch.

"Tony had a pad of matches, so he struck one of them.

"But he ignited his clothes and was badly burned, though not fatally.

"So please warn parents about matches!"

Child Dangers

Children inevitably will want to strike matches.

So teach them how!

When you go on a picnic hike or wish to start the fire in your living room fireplace, let your children do the job.

But show them exactly the proper way to do so.

This means, remind them, as the Japanese do, to strike the match AWAY FROM their body!

Most children tend to pull the match TOWARD themselves when they ignite it. So do adult smokers!

That is dangerous, so tutor your youngsters in the safe technique.

Remind them, too, of the Boy Scout rule of not requiring more than 2 matches to ignite a fire.

So be sure they learn how to prepare the kindling and use paper or some other dry substances to make the initial flame.

Also, warn your kiddies about the use of a pocket knife. Show them they are to cut AWAY FROM themselves when they whittle.

Otherwise, when they encounter a tough spot in the wood and begin to pull hard on the knife, if it suddenly cuts through that knot, it may have so much momentum that it continues into their left hand or chest!

But also explain the underlying logic behind these simple rules for safety.

In case the house should ever be on fire at night, make sure they know how to get out.

This may include smashing a window with their shoe and even using a sheet in lieu of a rope to let themselves down.

If they wash the dishes, advise them not to place the butcher knives and sharp paring knives in with the silverware.

For then they may cut their fingers badly as they plunge their hands into the dishpan.

And if you place the dishes or silverware in a drying rack, urge them to point the knives and forks downward.

Indeed, it is smart to do the same with the washed spoons, too, for then an occasional fly that may slip into your house in summer, will not alight upon the bowl end of the spoon and contaminate it!

When they help Mamma set the table, show them that good waiters don't handle the bowl end of the spoons or the prongs of forks with their fingers.

Nor do they carry several clean glasses by running their fingers and a thumb down inside them.

When drinking from restaurant glasses or cups, don't open your mouth, as if you are going to bite a hunk out of the glass.

Instead, pull your lower lip inward, over your lower front teeth and touch the glass or cup to the outside of your lip, thus lessening the likelihood of germ contamination.

The bidding:
East South West North
1♥ Pass 4♥ Pass Dble.
Pass 5♣ Pass Pass
Dble. Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠
When East opened the bidding with one heart and West leaped to four, North was confronted with a problem.

He did not feel that he had sufficient strength to make a cue bid of five hearts which might force partner to respond at the six level. He finally chose to double.

South's response of five clubs was routine, since a double of even a four level contract may still be taken out with a long suit. Five clubs was passed around to East who doubled and his partner chose to defend on the deal.

West led the queen of hearts which declarer ruffed in dummy with the deuce of clubs. The queen of clubs was led and East put up the ace and returned the suit, South winning in his hand with the eight. He ruffed his remaining heart with the nine of clubs and now the problem was how to get back to his hand to draw the last trump.

He attempted to cash the ace and king of diamonds, however East administered a rude jolt by ruffing the second diamond with the seven of clubs. He exited with a heart which South ruffed, but when the latter led the jack of spades for a finesse, East produced the queen to score the setting trick.

Altho declarer was admittedly the victim of extremely unfortunate distribution, he could have been taken simple steps to protect himself against the possibility of an adverse ruff in diamonds. After he cashed the king, instead of continuing with the ace, it is suggested that he lead a low diamond from dummy—deliberately conceding a trick in the suit to the opposition.

West is presumably in and there is no return that he can make to disrupt South who is now in full control of the proceedings. If West shifts to a spade, the ace is played from dummy and a third diamond is led and ruffed in the closed hand. South now plays the king of clubs to draw East's last trump, then crosses over to the king of spades and discards the jack of spades on the ace of diamonds which he has carefully preserved for that purpose.

In other words, the spade finesse is not essential to the success of the hand. Declarer can afford to lose one trick in each black suit. By transferring one of his losers from spades to diamonds, he merely takes out insurance on the deal to protect himself from a ruff that could prove fatal.

No Proof Beat Music Hurt Ears

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — A Danish ear specialist has reported that he could not prove loud beat music damaging to the hearing, but that industrial noise is more likely to be. Dr. Harald E. Ewertson of the state Hearing Institute made a report on five years of research involving 80,000 hard-of-hearing who came to the institute, six beat orchestras totalling 26 members aged 14-23, and 59 young beat fans.

Neither among the musicians nor fans could he find evidence which proved that loud beat music caused damage, even though the music was often louder than the machine noise. He said that about 1,400 people a year came to the institute, hard of hearing from noise in industry.

"The reason that music does not cause more damage is that it changes rhythm within a single number and there are also short pauses which give the ears a little "rest," Ewertson said.

"It is a fact that many youngsters feel a little deaf when they go home after several hours of beat music. That can be dangerous in traffic but after a night's sleep the hearing is fortunately normal again."

But in another article, on industrial noise, he called on authorities to check more often on the new employees at Denmark's 6,000 "noise work sites" with their 50,000 workers. He also attacked the authorities and employers for their mean interpretation of the laws of protection, insurance and compensation for workers.

We make Sunday reservations

Thursday we breakfasted in Paris and then had a business lunch in New York. On Friday, we joined a conference in San Francisco. With the new space-age technology, we feel so free, as though we have conquered time and distance and everything.

Well, maybe not everything!

You know some things can't be answered by better machines. So, wherever we are, we go to church on Sunday. How about you?

Sidewinder In Family's Organ

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Mrs. June F. Young says she'll just have to play the piano for a while now that a sidewinder rattlesnake has made a new home in the young family's organ.

Mrs. Young said she and four of her children were sitting in their living room when the snake slid across the rug and coiled up inside the organ.

Pima County sheriff's deputies sprayed mace into the organ and Mrs. Young tried to insert spray, without success.

Mrs. Young said her family will wait to play the organ until the snake finds a new place to live.

ConsumerToPay CostOf Cleanup

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The consumer will ultimately pay the cost of cleaning up the environment, says Russell Train, chairman of the President's Council of Environmental Quality.

"The original cost is on the polluter to clean up the problem," said Train, "but the consumer can expect the cost to be passed on to him."

"The consumer is getting the benefit and so he should pay for it," he added.

Appointed To W.Va. Post

Norman L. Kilpatrick, a former Greenville resident and a 1960 East Carolina University graduate, has been appointed federal-state programs director for Charleston, W.Va.

The new city hall position combines the offices of public works and interstate coordinator, according to Charleston Mayor John Hutchinson.

In Charleston since 1967, Kilpatrick has held positions as advisor with the Action for Appalachian Youth Program and as housing specialist for the John F. Kennedy Center. Before moving to West Virginia, he worked in Washington, D.C., first with the U.S. Civil Service Commission and then with the United Planning Organization, concentrating on housing and urban development.

The son of Dr. Rachel H. Kilpatrick of Greenville, he is married to the former Ramona Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Mac Hicks of Greenville and Tarboro and granddaughter of Mrs. Grace Bullock of Greenville. The couple has three sons.

Reprimand And Commendation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cmdr. Ralph W. Eustis, reprimanded for allowing Soviet sailors to forcibly remove a Lithuanian defector from his Coast Guard vessel last Nov. 23, was awarded a commendation medal the same day for assisting the America Cup yacht race.

The award surfaced at Coast Guard headquarters here this week in a routine listing of citations and awards presented by district commanders. It usually takes weeks for the processing of this data, officials said.

The Coast Guard reprimanded Eustis for permitting Soviet sailors to board the cutter Vigilant he was commanding in U.S. territorial waters off Martha's Vineyard, Mass. The Lithuanian, Simas L. Kudirka, had jumped onto the Vigilant. He was dragged back to the Soviet fishing vessel.

Joint Effort To Curb Pollution Spread

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
FARMVILLE — Technical assistance from federal, state, and private agencies is being used by the Royster firm here to overcome the dilemma, how to contain and get rid of the poisoned water and contaminated rubble left after the Friday night fire that destroyed two farm chemical warehouses. Bob Kaiser of the federal Environmental Protection Agency is in charge of coordinating the efforts of his group of four engineers, based at the regional headquarters in Charlottesville, Va.; engineers and water pollution experts from the State Board of Health and the Department of Water and Air Resources; representatives of the Dow Chemical Company, and a response team from the National Agricultural Chemical Association.

"We have agreed on a plan," he said, "and have begun to carry it out. All outlets to ditches, canals, or streams from this area have been diked. This was done early enough that we are relatively sure that little or no poisoned water got out of the area."

Five pools have been dug about 50 yards from the charred remains of the fertilizer and insecticide warehouse. All were lined with plastic, so no more water can seep into the ground. Three have been filled with water pumped from the area where firemen poured some four million gallons of water Friday night and Saturday morning to contain and extinguish what has been called the most spectacular fire ever seen in this area.

Kaiser said the workers hope to detoxify some of the poisonous chemicals in the collected water by the use of other chemicals. Then it is thought that the remainder can be precipitated out of the water, which once tested and found to be pure, can be disposed of. Carbon used to collect the residue will be shipped in a safe manner to Pittsburgh, Pa. where it will be burned in a high temperature incinerator.

All rubble—concrete, barrels, remains of trucks, tractors, everything in the fire area down to six inches below the ground surface will be buried. Through Congressman Walter B. Jones' office, permission has been obtained to bury all the debris inside the fenced area at the Voice of American Site C. "Everything will be carried in covered containers and covered trucks and a detoxifying agent will be used generously on it all," Kaiser said.

"Our one objective, now that a plan has been set, is to expedite the clearing of the site as soon as possible," Kaiser said. Our three concerns, each of which must be considered with every phase of the plan, are the welfare of individual workers, the health and welfare of the Farmville community, and the health and welfare of people in the area in the future.

"Royster is cooperating beautifully and has spared no expense to see that every precaution is taken," he added.

While the government and private agencies provide the technical know how, it is Royster's responsibility to foot all bills—this includes providing all manual labor, securing and paying contractors for such work as digging holes and wells and transporting the contaminated materials.

Richard Darden, the Farmville warehouse manager, reiterated his firm's intentions to leave no possibility uninvestigated in seeing that as little harm is done to the immediate environment.

Allen Whitley of the firm's Norfolk office said that Royster has already rented a warehouse in Farmville and word has come from the president to rebuild in Farmville as soon as possible. Farmville is the headquarters of the sales area from Burlington to the coast and from Norfolk almost to the South Carolina line.

While the stock in the warehouses was great, due to the expansive area served by this sales center, the company was fortunate that the fire came at the end of the biggest sales time when most farmers have bought the fertilizers and pesticides needed for the summer growing seasons, Darden said.

Farmville Commissioners also met yesterday to determine if there was anything the town could do to make sure containment of the deadly chemicals is accomplished. The big worry throughout this community seems to be, "What if there's a big rain?"

Kaiser reassured the town officials that every effort is being made to finish the clearing as quickly as possible. An ordinary rain would not break the dikes or cause the pools to overflow and water falling into the fire area could be pumped into the two remaining pools or into any of five railroad tank cars on the site as a contingency measure, he added.

Royster has already made arrangements to have two deep test wells dug on their land between the fire site and the Farmville Fields Street well. These, it is hoped, will be of service in determining just how much ground water in the area has been affected.

Constant tests will be run on the Fields Street well for the next year to make sure it is not contaminated at any later time, if it is not already. Water and Light Director J. A. "Bud" Wooten said. This well serves the industrial zone in which it is located. Both Collins and Alkman and International Paper Company, two largest users of the Town's water supply, have been asked to conserve all water possible until the well can be used again.

Streams that could be affected if there were any runoff are Contentnea Creek, Little Contentnea Creek, Middle Swamp, and the Neuse River.

EPA engineer Mrs. Patricia Diercks commented that the Farmville situation is not unique in that there have been other fires involving farm herbicides and pesticides. "This probably is one of the most valiant efforts that has been made to avert any long-lasting effects, though," she said. "If it had happened several years ago, no doubt your streams would already have been contaminated, fish kills would have already occurred; and no one would have worried that much about any of it, except perhaps the possible contamination of the town well."

the two-part funds.

The amount involved was set at $1,000 — with $500 for each of two separate months. The initial request was for $1,500.

Originally, the Recreation Commission had endorsed the proposed program in a recommendation that the City Council furnish the funds to the group, with the Recreation Department being responsible only for assistance through furnishing certain items of equipment.

Both Mayor West and Councilman Cox, while calling the project a worthwhile one, stated their opinions that it was not legally possible to make payment of public funds directly to any individual group, but that it must be accomplished through a duly authorized city agency.

Revs. B. B. Felder, W. B. Moore and W. L. Jones head the group of several Negro Greenville ministers who introduced the idea of the churches combining to form a recreation program designed for children in their congregations from the ages of 5 through 18, with direct supervision to be furnished by adults from the churches participating.

Attorney Kenneth Hite presented a request for rezoning, part of the David A. Evans property located adjacent to U. S. 264 and 284 bypass from shopping center to residential R-6.

The action, recommended for approval by the Planning and Zoning Commission on May 26, would provide for the construction of 180 apartment units on an 18 acre portion of the site totaling 60 acres.

The council approved the resolution to rezone that portion to R-6 so that the apartment complex can be constructed. Edwards abstained from voting on this request.

Based on a vote of approval by employees of the Greenville City Library system, with headquarters at Sheppard Memorial Library, the council passed a resolution authorizing and directing the librarian to make an application to the North Carolina Local Governmental Employees Retirement System for enlisting library employees in the retirement program.

In approving this resolution, for which the city's share of the costs is $5,860, the City Council followed prior approval by the County Commissioners of the program and its commitment to contribute in underwriting the county's cost share.

The library employees are the last contingent of city employees not previously covered by this fringe benefit.

The temporary placement, for a one year period, of a mobile unit to be used as a temporary facility for the Bank of North Carolina, National Association (N. A.) was approved. W. R. Mercer was spokesman for a group representing the bank, and noted the temporary facility was only until a new building had been completed or another building renovated, whichever course of action was decided on.

Mercer apologized for "the manner in which this was handled," saying they didn't

Adjustments Board Meets

Members of the Greenville Board of Adjustments, Thursday night, gave approval to a request for variance and one for request for special use, both public hearings.

Louis E. Clark, representing John F. Minges, presented a request for special use permit relative to the construction of a wholesale plumbing, heating, air conditioning and small appliance store on South Memorial Drive, south of the King Electric Company.

In granting approval of this request, board members specified that the constructors must screen the property on the north and the west sides, as residential areas come up to the boundaries of the property on these two sides.

Plans are to construct a 21,000 square foot building on this site.

The Etna Oil Company requested a variance to construct an additional canopy over gas pumps at their station located at 210 West 10th Street. The canopy will be 33 feet wide, 48 feet long, 12 feet in height and seven and a half feet from the sidewalk. It was noted, however, there is no sidewalk at this location. The board members approved the request for the construction of an additional canopy.

As a final action, members adopted rules of parliamentary procedure to govern the board's action, including rules for advertising, calling of special meetings and other administrative procedures.

Budget . . .

An item of $33,000 has been allocated for improvements at the recently acquired Recreation Department property, the Evans property on Hooker Road.

Hagerty said he did not expect major revisions of this preliminary budget when it receives the final review next Wednesday, adding that only a few minor adjustments would perhaps be required to balance projected income and expenditures.

After approving the tentative budget, City Councilmen approved an ordinance to provide for money to operate the city for the period of July 1 until the adoption of the 1971-72 budget, which must take place no later than July 28.

know about the city ordinance. We never had this problem in any other place."

The mobile facility will be used near the A and P Store on East 10th Street.

Approval was given for extending additional sick leave, for a period of 60 days, to patrolman John Marvin Taylor, now hospitalized. The young patrolman recently won an award as an outstanding graduate this year at the Police Academy in Wilson.

The request from the Optimist Club of Greenville for the waiver of payment of privilege license requirements was approved. The club requested this for a one night stand, on August 4, of a circus to appear at Memorial Gym. All proceed from this Optimist sponsored event are to go to the Boys' Club of Greenville.

Pay Boost

RALEIGH (AP) — About 50,000 of North Carolina's lowest paid workers will receive a pay boost next Thursday when the state's minimum wage advances from $1.25 to $1.45 per hour.

State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane pointed out today that the law applies to establishments employing four or more persons who are not covered by the federal minimum wage on $1.60 per hour.

The $1.45 state minimum wage is part of a two-step package enacted by the 1971 General Assembly with the strong support of Gov. Bob Scott. The next step comes July 1, 1972 when the state wage minimum will advance to $1.60 per hour.

Ullom Leaving Boys Club Post

J. Richard Ullom, executive director of the Greenville Boys' Club since its founding here in December 1968, has tendered his resignation to be effective August 31.

Ullom, a native of Ft. Lauderdale, Florida has accepted directorship of the Citrus Center Boys' Club at Winter Haven, Florida, a city between Orlando and Tampa.

"I want to thank the people of Greenville for the fine support given to the Boys' Club," Ullom remarked, "and it is my sincere hope they will continue to support the club as it grows to meet the needs of the boys of Greenville."

Noting that he regrets he will be leaving Greenville, Ullom said the Florida assignment is "an opportunity I feel I cannot pass up. Part of my decision is based on the fact I'll be back in my home state."

Under Ullom's direction, the Boys' Club of Greenville has grown from an early membership of about 200 to a current membership of 600 boys. Before coming to Greenville, he headed Boys' Clubs in Alabama and Tennessee.

In 1970 Ullom won the Jaycees of Greenville Distinguished Service Award and also the Jaycee award in the outstanding Area Speaker Contest, Professional Division. This year he was the recipient of the Jaycees' Outstanding Young Laymen award.

The Personnel Committee of the Board of Directors of the Boys' Club will take action within a short time to secure a successor to Ullom for the Executive Director position.

Pork Chops Help Serve Subpoena

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — It took a pork chop to enable Jerry Sheehy to serve a subpoena.

Sheehy, a state's attorney's investigator, was confronted by an unfriendly dog Thursday when he attempted to serve a subpoena to a witness in a murder case being conducted in Circuit Court.

The investigator would not get past the dog until Basil G. Granias, Macon County state's attorney, drove by the house on his way back from the grocery store.

Granias, seeing Sheehy's plight, produced a pork chop from a shopping bag, offered it to the dog and Sheehy walked by the dog to deliver the subpoena.
