MOSCOW (AP) — Three Soviet cosmonauts died today as their Soyuz 11 spaceship was bringing them back from a record three-week flight aboard the Salute space laboratory. Foreign experts speculated they suffocated when their oxygen system failed.

Heinz Kaminsky, director of the Bochum Observatory in West Germany, said the oxygen system probably was knocked out during re-entry to the earth's atmosphere. Josip Kotnik, Yugoslav president of the Astronautic Rocket Association of Croatia, speculated that after 24 days of weightless flight they may have been unable to activate the system for expelled carbon monoxide and introducing oxygen.

In announcing the tragedy in space, Tass news agency suggested no reason why the three were found dead after their spaceship landed. Tass said the cause of the deaths is being investigated.

An official announcement said the three spacemen—Lt. Col. Georgy Dobrovolsky, flight engineer Vladislav Volkov and test engineer Viktor Patsayev—completed their flight program Tuesday and communicated with ground control on the way down. Soyuz 11 made a smooth landing where it was supposed to, the announcement said, but the rescue crew that opened the hatch found the men dead.

All three cosmonauts were married. Dobrovolsky, the flight commander who was 43, and Patsayev, 37, each had two children, while Volkov, 35, had one son.

Soyuz 11 carried them into space at 7:55 a.m. on Sunday, June 6. It was the first space flight for Dobrovolsky and Patsayev, but Volkov had made 80 earth orbits in October 1969 aboard Soyuz 7.

Soyuz 11 linked up on June 7 with the 17½-ton space laboratory Salute, which had been orbiting the earth unmanned since April 19. The cosmonauts transferred to the bigger space lab and orbited the earth in it for nearly 23 days in what appeared to be a highly successful advance toward the permanent manned space station which is the goal of the present Soviet space program.

Tass said the men completed their flight program "in full" on Tuesday and were "directed to make a landing." The news agency gave this account of the fatal descent:

"The cosmonauts transferred the materials of scientific research and the logs to the transportation spaceship Soyuz 11 for return to earth.

"After completing the transition operation, the cosmonauts took their seats in the Soyuz 11 ship, checked the onboard systems and prepared the ship for unlinking from the Salute station.

"At 9:28 p.m. Moscow time—2:28 p.m. EDT—the Soyuz 11 spaceship and the Salute orbital station separated and continued the flight separately. The crew of the Soyuz 11 spaceship reported to earth the unlinking operation passed without a hitch and all the systems were functioning normally.

"In order to carry out the descent to earth, on June 30, at 1:35 a.m., after orienting the Soyuz 11 spaceship, its braking engine was fired and functioned throughout the estimate time.

"At the end of the operation of the braking engine, communication with the crew ceased. According to the program, after aerodynamic braking in the atmosphere, the parachute system was put in action, and before landing the soft-landing engines were fired. The flight of the descending apparatus ended in a smooth landing in the preset area.

"Landing simultaneously with the ship, a helicopter-borne recovery group, upon opening the hatch, found the crew of the Soyuz 11 spaceship ... in their seats, without any sign of life. The causes of the crew's death are being investigated."

The site of the landing was not disclosed, but presumably it was in the steppes of eastern Kazakhstan, where the last several Soyuz ships have landed.

The early morning announcement of the tragedy spread gloom through Moscow. People traveled to work with downcast, grief-strained faces.

Moscow Radio broadcast serious music following the first announcement. Moscow television, normally silent during the morning, broadcast black-framed portraits of the three men against a background of funeral music.

To Revamp Districts In West Senate Redistricting Approved

RALEIGH (AP) — A bill to redistrict the State Senate was approved Tuesday after a compromise was worked out to revamp districts in the western part of the state.

Sen. F. O'Neil Jones, D-Anson, proposed the compromise after Sen. Marshall Rauch, D-Gaston, led a group of western senators in opposing a redistricting plan worked out by a subcommittee headed by Jones.

Earlier, the committee voted 64 to side with Sen. J. J. "Monk" Harrington, on whether Martin and Beaufort counties would be in the first or second district.

Harrington wanted Martin in the 14-county 1st district in the Northeastern corner of the state.

Sen. Ashley Futrell, D-Beaufort; Vernon White, D-Pitt, and Julian Allsbrook, D-Halifax, wanted Beaufort in the 1st district and for Martin to be shifted to a two-senator district with Halifax, Edgecombe, Pitt and Beaufort.

There was almost no support for a proposal by Sen. John Church, D-Vance, to add Warren to his present district of Franklin, Granville and Vance. The redistricting measure would put Vance, Franklin and Warren in a two-senator district with Nash and Wilson counties. The Church proposal would have made revamping of districts over a wide area of the state necessary.

The Jones County proposal for the western section of the state would set up the following district:

—Davidson County, one senator.

—Rowan, Davie, Yadkin, Iredell, Alexander and Catawba, 3 senators.

—Wilkes, Watauga, Caldwell,

Burke, Avery and Mitchell, 2 senators.

—Gaston, Lincoln, Cleveland and Rutherford, 3 senators.

—Buncombe, McDowell, Yancey and Madison, 3 senators.

—Haywood, Henderson and Polk, 1 senator.

—Jackson, Swain, Macon, Clay, Graham and Cherokee, 1 senator.

Senator Airs 'Top Secrets'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mike Gravel has released a major share of the top-secret Pentagon study on origins of the Vietnam war, saying there is no justification for keeping it from the American people.

In the latest and weirdest turn in the developing account of the Pentagon study, the 41-year-old Alaska Democrat stunned the capital late Tuesday when he suddenly convened a one-man hearing of his subcommittee on public buildings and grounds to read documents the government says will endanger national security if made public.

At 9:40 p.m. he began what turned into an emotional reading of Volume One of the study, dealing with the role of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration in Vietnam, by saying:

"I have read these documents and I am convinced I am in no way jeopardizing this nation's security." The freshman senator then told a clutch of 50 spectators, newsmen and congressional aides, "What I do today—what we do here today—is because we love this country."

Then he began reading the papers, minus footnotes, supporting documents and any military facts he regarded as endangering national security.

Three hours and 31 minutes later, Gravel, his voice wracked with sobs and cracking from weariness, ended his reading and said:

"The greatest representative democracy the world has known, the nation of Jefferson and Lincoln, has had its nose rubbed in the swamp of petty warlords, jealous Vietnamese generals, black marketeers and grand-scale dope pushers."

Scott Orders Fiscal Reform By Faircloth

RALEIGH (AP) — Gov. Bob Scott has directed North Carolina's Highway Commission to implement fiscal reforms recommended in a scathing audit report last month.

Scott's order was delivered to Highway Commission Chairman Lauch Faircloth Tuesday, directing him to proceed at once with recommendations from state Auditor Henry Bridges to consolidate the commission's accounting system.

Bridges' audit contended the highway department's accounting system was so poorly operated an accurate audit could not be made. Faircloth called the audit allegations "blatantly false" in testimony before a legislative committee early this month.

Faircloth said, however, "we have never had any argument with implementing the viable parts of the audit. Some of them have already been implemented."

The governor's letter directed Faircloth to implement all but two of Bridges' recommendations. Those dealt with delivery of right-of-way checks and control of the department's personnel department.

Recommendations which were to be implemented under Scott's order included: —All financial affairs of the Highway Commission will be placed under the responsibility of the department's controller.

—Inactive work orders with balances are to be closed, except for those with right-of-way problems.

—Work orders in overdraft will be corrected as they represent over-expenditure of funds allocated.

—Procedures are to be formulated to prevent the over-expenditure of funds on future work orders.

Difficulty On Mariner 9 May Trim Mission

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The first problem reported aboard the Mariner 9 spacecraft since its launch—a design error—could force the craft to cut its scientific mission around Mars three months short.

The California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said Tuesday an error in the design of an electronic circuit was causing the attitude stabilization system to use nitrogen faster than planned.

A spokesman said the problem isn't expected to interfere with the unmanned, 2,200-pound craft's initial 90-day orbit of the red planet, scheduled to start Nov. 13, with television transmissions and tests of the Martian atmosphere.

Bulletin

RALEIGH (AP) — Legislative leaders set Oct. 25 today as the date for the General Assembly to reconvene to deal with the restructuring of higher education.

Retain Space Shuttle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. space program will continue developing a space shuttle that will take off vertically like a rocket but be able to reenter the earth's atmosphere and land horizontally on a conventional airport runway like an airplane.

The controversial shuttle system received a boost Tuesday when the Senate rejected, 22 to 64, an amendment by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., to cut the $100-million item from the $3.2 billion space budget.

After beating down the Mondale amendment, the Senate then ratified the full $3.2-billion measure by an 82-5 vote.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the shuttles would be reusable 100 times or more and be able to return satellites or spacecraft which have malfunctioned to earth.

Officials estimate the shuttle eventually will cost about $12.8 billion.

The bill authorizes spending for fiscal 1971, including costs of the last manned flights to the moon in this decade.

No Draft Law By Midnight Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Congress rushing to write a compromise two-year extension, the nation's draft law appears headed for expiration at midnight for the first time since 1948.

Senate-House conferees had as a major stumbling block for last—Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's amendment for a U.S. pullout from Indochina in nine months, passed 57 to 42 in the Senate and rejected 219 to 176 in the House.

Both Mansfield and House Armed Services Chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., who heads the conferees, said they doubt Congress could pass the extension before the midnight deadline.

Mansfield said he was not interested in any compromise of his pullout amendment.

"The Senate has spoken," he told newsmen.

The Selective Service System said it would halt the draft at midnight unless Congress extends it or President Nixon authorizes callup of students and other men whose deferments are expiring.

White House sources said Nixon probably would not authorize such a callup.

An Associated Press spot check found draft officials around the country were preparing to halt induction procedures until the draft is renewed.

Only the authority for actual callup of men expires at midnight. The Selective Service System which processes men through physicals and other preinduction activities remains intact.

However, the Florida Selective Service System directed its local boards to halt all induction procedures until further notice and several other states advised local boards to hold fast.

The national headquarters said the draft actually has stopped, since quotas through June already are filled and quotas for July and beyond will not be sent to the states until draft authority is renewed.

The Pentagon has announced a 16,000-man callup for July and August which it said could be delayed if Congress extends the draft in July.

The American draft system was enacted in 1940, purposely allowed to expire in 1947, then was renewed in 1948 and has not lapsed since.

Capture Man In Shotgun Deaths Of Two Women

Greenville police officers captured a Route 4, Greenville man wanted for the shotgun killing of two women in Martin County, following a high speed chase along Memorial Drive and West Third Street here early last night.

Lionel Anderson, 35, was taken into custody here at 7:51 p.m., about 20 minutes after the alleged shooting incident near Williamston and 12 minutes after local officers were informed of the Martin County murders by the Highway Patrol.

Anderson according to Martin County Sheriff Raymond Rawls, allegedly shot Mrs. Joyce W. Anderson and Mrs. Alice Whitfield to death with a shotgun.

Sheriff Rawls, who described the deaths as "one of the most brutal shootings we've ever had," said the incident apparently stemmed from family trouble. He said Mrs. Anderson, the mother of seven children, was Anderson's wife.

Mrs. Whitfield was his mother-in-law.

About 20 persons witnessed the shooting, Rawls said.

Anderson himself, was shot at the scene of the murders. A witness fired a shotgun at Anderson, wounding him in the neck and back, Rawls explained.

Capt. E. G. Cannon, acting chief of police, said Sgt. M.H. Craft and officer J.J. Case spotted the Anderson car headed south on Memorial Drive, north of the Tar River, and gave chase at speeds over 100 miles per hour. The Anderson car turned onto West Third Street and was stopped in the 1000 block of West Third Street by officers.

Anderson was taken to Pitt Memorial Hospital for treatment of his wounds before being turned over to Martin County officers.

Change Of Command

FINAL REVIEW ... Cmdr. James T. Cheatham (left) of Greenville, has been relieved by Lt. Cmdr. Dennis Harris as commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Reserve training facility at Washington, N. C.

Suspending

RALEIGH (AP) — The North Carolina Selective Service system is suspending all inductions and physician examinations as of Thursday, pending final Congressional action on renewing the nation's draft laws.

Selective Service Director William McCachren said Tuesday that, on advice from national headquarters, "We are adopting a policy of suspending inductions and physical examinations until further notice.

"If the need of the Department of Defense becomes so great the policy can be changed," he said. "We would have simple registrants already examined to be inducted if the need arose."

VOTE TO STRIKE

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Television and movie actors have voted overwhelmingly to strike July 14 in protest of cuts the film industry has proposed in payments to actors for television reruns.

Joint Subcommittee Hunts Funds For Extending Teachers' Work

RALEIGH (AP) — A joint appropriations subcommittee will study the possibility of finding state funds to finance an extension in the term of employment of teachers, principals and school supervisors.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. George Miller, D-Durham, was appointed Tuesday after a compromise was worked out that sped the state's record $4.3

billion budget to House passage.

Miller revealed the compromise when he asked the House to reconsider an amendment he had persuaded it to adopt Monday. The House voted 85-19 to remove amendment from the bill.

After reconsidering the Miller amendment, the House voted 66-48 to kill an amendment by Rep. Hugh Campbell, D-Mecklenburg, to remove from the spending bill a $1.7 million appropriation to begin operation of a one-year medical school at East Carolina University.

Campbell reminded the House that Gov. Bob Scott had predicted the ECU medical school eventually would be a four-year-school. The Mecklenburg legislator told the House the Board of Higher Education had estimated such a school would cost $180 million.

Campbell said that such a school "is beyond the resources of the state."

The House killed the Campbell amendment on motion of Rep. Dan Lilley D-Lenoir, who reminded the House of the shortage of doctors in Eastern North Carolina.

In A Man's World, Girl Engineer 'Has To Be Better'

By CAROL TYER
Reflector Staff Writer
FARMVILLE — Patricia Diercks is a young woman very sure of her identity.

During each work week, she's P.W. Diercks, chemical engineer with the federal Environmental Protection Agency, Oil and Hazardous Materials Division, which has regional headquarters in Charlottesville, Va. Last week she was one of about 35 technical advisors from federal and state agencies present in Farmville to devise and see to near completion a plan to remove as safely as possible the debris and poisoned water left by firefighters in the wake of a fire involving toxic chemicals. The other 34 or so were men.

Each weekend she's Mrs. Walter Diercks, wife of a University of Virginia law student who's working this summer in Baltimore with the U.S. Attorney for the State of Maryland.

Asked how she likes her and her husband's "see you this weekend" arrangement, she said, "It has its points — you don't have to wash the dishes or even sweep the floor nearly so often."

"I left a sink full of dishes and a hungry cat to come down here," she said. "I thought I'd be gone only a couple of days." When the job ran longer, she worried about her Siamese cat, Fleur, enough to call her landlord and have him feed her pet. The dirty dishes bothered her not at all, she said.

The ironic thing about her and Walt's arrangement, she said, is that until several months ago, he had been in Charlottesville in school while she had stayed in Baltimore working for Bethlehem Steel. "Then" she said, I got this job with EPA so we could live together as we had for the first two years we were married. So what did he do but decide that this job with the U.S. Attorney was something he couldn't pass up? Soon after he gets back to Charlottesville in the fall for his last year of school, I'll be moving with EPA to Philadelphia."

Pat grew up in a suburb of New York City. "I was an ugly duckling in high school," she said. "Since I liked science and math and being convinced I'd never get married, I decided I'd go into the most lucrative field I could find—engineering. I think I've done just that — I don't know a woman in any other field with only four years of school and as little experience as I have who's making the money I am. And I don't mind this one little bit. I love doing my bit to preserve the environment and I love the buying power."

Her romantic prospects changed almost as soon as she reached Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y. Within two months after she arrived she and Walt were pinned. They were married in 1968 soon after both got their B.S. degrees in chemical engineering.

Pat was the only woman to receive the B.S. Ch. E. degree, although there were 23 women in her graduating class. "We girls were pleased with ourselves," she said, "Because out of the 960 men who began only about 650 finished, but all the 23 girls who began at Rensselaer the year I did graduated."

"Walt worked for a while in chemical engineering," she said, "but he found it too impersonal for him. He wants to be helping people, so he's going back for his law degree. Patent law would be the logical field for him, since he has the scientific background, but again it's too impersonal and too routine. Right now he really likes the trial work he's encountering in criminal law this summer. He may stick with this."

"Once he's out of school, we'll go wherever he gets a job. He knows, though, that he must practice his profession where I can practice mine. We'll probably start a family once we're established in one place, though I doubt if I'll ever be a full-time housewife and mother."

"Work expands to fill the time allotted for it is a law I've found to be true," she said. "That's why I allot about ten minutes a day for housework. Maybe I'll spend a little more once we have a family, or maybe I'll just hire a housekeeper."

Despite her numerous references to herself as the worst of housekeepers, Pat does have a domestic side. She sews many of her own clothes; knits, sweaters for Walt, herself, and friends' children; and is now working on a crewel embroidery footstool cover for their home. "I'm also involved," she said, "in making a patchwork quilt. Making the top was the most fun — figuring out how large to make the triangles. Adding the batting is moving slower, but it's something to fill the evenings during the week when Walt's away."

Asked "What do you read," she quipped, "Oh, about a thousand words a minute." She enjoys fiction, she said, but much of her reading time is spent on chemical engineering journals and the like. "I will always have to stay abreast of my field," she said, "But it's especially important now because I still have to take a comprehensive test similar to my husband's Bar Exam to get my Professional Engineering License."

"You can say," she said, "that I'm all for Women's Lib, though not the anti-man part — I love being married. What I hate is the job discrimination I've encountered. I've been turned down because I am a woman. But now that my husband is almost a lawyer, I think if it ever happened again, I'd try to nail 'em."

"Also, sad but true, I find I'm taken much more seriously when I sign my business letters, 'P.W. Diercks' instead of 'Mrs. Patricia.' This bit of subterfuge helped me land a job and it's still working."

"If there's one thing I've learned in trying to excel in a man's world, it's that a woman can't be 'as good as' a man in her field. She has to be better."

"And the challenge of trying to make oneself 'better' is exhilarating," she added.

Couple Speaks Vows Saturday

Miss Margaret Jean Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Miller of Greenville, and Thomas Eugene Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Adams also of Greenville, were united in marriage Saturday at four o'clock in the afternoon in a private ceremony.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robert G. Hufford at the Hooker Memorial Christian Church. A program of wedding music was presented by Mrs. Ruth Taylor of Greenville, organist, and Mrs. Maurice Joyner of Goldsboro, cousin of the bride, soloist, who sang "The Wedding Prayer."

Behind the Communion table in the church sanctuary stood a fifteen branch semi-circle candelabrum flanked by tall standards of emerald, springerli and smilax. In the choir loft were two coronet candelabra filled with white mums, snap dragons and pom poms. Preceding to the altar were seven branch candelabra. At the altar was a profile kneeling bench where vows were taken and prayer said. Pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of white crepe, fashioned with a batteau neckline. A split caftan coat of scalloped chanti-lace with long bishop sleeves covered the A-line silhouette. She wore the pearls, which were a gift from her father to her mother on their wedding day.

Her shoulder length bouffant veil of silk illusion was attached to a tiara headpiece of scalloped pearl petals and leaves with lace inserts sprinkled with crystal stones. Her dress was fashioned by Mrs. Julia Houle, cousin of the bride, of Greenville.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white phalaenopsis and cattleya orchids, stephanotis and tips of Bakers fern tied with white and orchid satin ribbon.

Mrs. Ronald L. Tyndall sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina length dress of floral French voile over turquoise taffeta. The bodice was styled with a batteau neckline and long bishop sleeves. A turquoise bow accented the empire waist. She wore a pink braided picture hat with long streamers. She carried a natural wicker fireside basket filled with painted daisies, miniature carnations and baby's breath tied with rainbow ribbon.

Thomas H. Adams served his son as best man. Ushers were Arthur Lee Miller Jr., brother of the bride, and Ronald Davenport, both of Greenville.

The bride attended East Carolina University, the Greenville School of Commerce and IBM School, Raleigh. She is presently employed by Ormond Wholesale Co., Greenville. The bridegroom is a senior at East Carolina University, and plans to continue his studies. For a wedding trip to unannounced points, the bride changed into a navy blue pantsuit trimmed in white with matching accessories.

Reception
Guests were entertained at a reception immediately following the ceremony at the home of the bride.

Lighted hurricane lamps with bows of white satin outlined the walkway.

The table was covered with a white bridal satin cloth and centered with a silver candelabra and bouquet of pink and white snapdragons, white

Decision Will Be Far-Reaching

At this writing a decision has not come from the Supreme Court on publication of the top secret Pentagon Papers; however the court has delayed its summer vacation to deal with the question.

The case goes back to the original publication of the papers by The New York Times and now involves the Washington Post. A number of other papers have also been restrained from publication of the papers. The court's ruling in this case could have far reaching implications in the balance of freedom of the press and government secrecy. There could be a ruling that the history of our involvement in the Vietnam war is properly secret and thus the newspapers might be permanently restrained from further publication. Or the courts might rule that once a newspaper obtains secret papers then the possibility exists that an enemy power also has access to them and thus their publication should be allowed under the constitution. Finally the court may rule narrowly in this case; that is that these particular papers are of no strategic value to potential enemies and only the right of the public to information is being violated.

Almost everyone concedes that there is some military and diplomatic business of government which must be kept secret for limited periods of time. However, we also know that many papers are restricted when they have no value to foreign powers. In many cases this is done to cover up government mistakes and blunders.

As this is written we do not know how the Supreme Court will rule. However we are certain that restraining the newspapers from printing this particular set of papers will do nothing to strengthen the security of the nation. It must be obvious that any information in the papers can be had by any foreign powers at this point. To restrain the newspapers from printing the information now would make a travesty of freedom of the press and the right of the people to be informed.

The Saturday Session Now Part Of The Past

Better roads and a modern way of life had its effects on the General Assembly last weekend.

The last of the Saturday sessions was held in the Legislative building.

There were only a few people on hand, but even at that there were more than normally show for the sessions. The sessions, required under the old constitution, had been conducted for years by members of the Wake delegation.

Nowadays most members of the Legislature jump in their cars and head for home or the resorts on weekends, so Saturday sessions have gone by the board.

In this day of five and even four day weeks, we cannot really blame the legislators for ending the Saturday sessions.

Herman Moore No 'Pushover'

By JOHN KILGO RALEIGH — State Sen Herman Moore of Mecklenburg County is on the verge of running for Everett Jordan's seat in the U.S. Senate.

Don't kid yourself. Moore could be a tough candidate. He has money, plenty of money, enough to wage any kind of campaign that he felt he would have to win. He has served four terms in the State Senate, including one stint as President Pro Tempore of the Upper Chamber.

"If the Democratic ballot for Senate reads Jordan and (Nick) Galifianakis," Moore said, "I can assure you it will read Jordan, Galifianakis and Moore."

Even though he comes from Mecklenburg County, Moore has been very careful in his eight years in Raleigh to cultivate friendships in the East. He and former State Sen. Tom White bird hunt together. Moore also became close to Robert Morgan, when Morgan was serving in the Senate. His company has donated money to East Carolina University and Moore has many friends in Greenville.

"I've run a small check on my identification with the people in the state against Jordan and Galifianakis," Moore said. "The results were pleasing. I get as much publicity here as they do in Washington."

Moore has talked with Sen. Jordan about all of this and he says: "I wouldn't be running against Everett Jordan. I'd be running for a seat in the U.S. Senate."

Moore believes that Republican Congressman Jim Broyhill will be the GOP candidate for Senator. Broyhill is young, an able campaigner, and like Moore, he has plenty of money.

"The Democrats could be in the position of having an extremely liberal candidate (Galifianakis) going against Broyhill in the election," Moore said, "and I don't want that to happen."

But how about that other guy frequently mentioned as a candidate for the Senate, Bob Morgan?

"I don't believe Bob's going to run for the Senate," Moore said. "I've made the rounds and many people have told me that if it's Jordan, Galifianakis and me...well, I think I'd do pretty well picking up support. If Morgan gets in, then I'll have to make the rounds again. Bob is strong with the politicians, no doubt about it. But he might have considerable trouble picking up the support of the people in the Piedmont and in the West. I know full well that Sen. Jordan will keep the support that he has had in the past. But I'm encouraged at this point."

Moore is 41 years old and has the energy of a hummingbird. He's outspoken and controversial. There's no doubt that he wants to step up from the State Senate. He ran against an unknown Republican in Mecklenburg last year and won by fewer than 1,000 votes. (Continued On Page 5)

Strength For Today

USE YOUR EYES There are fourteen million people in the world who cannot see. Some have been made blind by injuries. Most of them, however, were born blind.

But the blindest people, of course, are the ones who have eyes but will not see. It's amazing how many people just shut their eyes tight and refuse to look facts in the face. Their failures? They were somebody else's fault. Their meanness? It is the righteous indignation that follows the stupidity and artful scheming of people of no truth or conscience. Their bad health? It's inherited, or due to the bad climate or the result of an injury years ago, or the harrowing experience of having to live with a wife who is a shrew or a husband who is a tyrant.

Look facts in the face, friend. Just stop and face them. Maybe you haven't faced them for a long time. Now's the time to get started seeing things as they really are. To be sure, the world is full of foolish people, and there are many bad and disigning people hanging about. But the biggest fool we usually encounter is ourself. The devil who does us harm is not the red-skinned fellow with the tail and cloven hoof, but the boy or gal we see from one to ten times a day in the mirror.

If you're born blind, that's bad; but if you have two good eyes and won't use them, that's unforgivable. By Earl L. Douglas

Sad Bartender Unliked

WASHINGTON — The New York Times reported that at Dartmouth's 201st commencement, David Levy of New York City, the highest ranking graduate, gave an address full of despair. Denying he got anything out of his four years of education, Mr. Levy said, "Take pity on me, those of you who can justify the air you breathe... Send me letters and tell me why life is worth living. Rich parents, write and tell me how money makes your life worthwhile. Dartmouth alumni, tell me how the Dartmouth experience has given value to your life."

He then went on to plead with the class of 1971: "And if some one of you out there is also made like me, write me a letter and tell me how you came to appreciate the absurdity of your life." His remarks were received warmly by his classmates.

In an interview after his speech, Mr. Levy said that he was looking for some menial work until he decided what to do with his life. He said he was considering becoming a bartender "because it's something to do with the hands and it's being with people."

I hadn't planned to write Mr. Levy a letter until I read this last statement:

Other Editors Say Half A Loaf

(Durham Morning Herald)

The open meetings law enacted by the General Assembly is not as strong a law as is needed to guarantee that the public's business will be transacted in the open.

It is a watered down version of separate bills introduced by Rep. Carl Stewart, D-Gaston, and Rep. Ernest Paschall, D-Wilson, which were reworked in House committee, then approved by the Senate after still more amendments were added on the floor, and then, in the final step, accepted by the House.

The much-amended original legislation finds numerous agencies in state government exempted, as well as legislative committees and subcommittees if they desire to go behind closed doors.

Also, the threats of criminal charges against those who closed doors to the public were removed from the original version of the legislation.

In the sum, the General Assembly did not give the public much of what had been asked as a proper safeguard for the public interest.

It is disappointing that the legislature greatly weakened what had been sought in the original legislation.

It is disappointing that Governor Scott displayed only lukewarm support for a strong bill. Much more had been expected from him in light of his emphasis, as a gubernatorial candidate, on handling the business of the public in the open.

The open meetings law is only part of a loaf, and while it is disappointing that the public did not get more there is, at the same time, something to be said in favor of what the public did get.

For one thing, the law establishes the statutory principle of open doors. For another, it presumably will result in the opening of some doors that previously could be closed at will by public officials.

And for still another, it offers the basis for expanding (by reducing exemptions and otherwise) in future legislatures the limited advances made in this General Assembly.

While the new law does not go far enough in opening doors, it is more than a token victory. It gives the public something to build upon, and something more than the public previously had an instatutory guarantee of open public meetings that covered only the governing bodies of municipalities throughout the state and the boards of county commissioners in six counties.

Rebuilt Units False Economy

By ELMER ROESSNER In many companies, replacement parts, either sold or given under guarantees, are rebuilt units. This, of course, is economical. But in many instances it may be false economy.

He said he would return when he could get a replacement. Member Of The Family

He came back a week later and put in a rebuilt tube. But in putting the plastic paneling back in, he dropped it, cracking it in several places.

ELMER ROESSNER

Five years ago next September, the owner of a country cottage bought a refrigerator for $203. It has a five-year guarantee by one of the most respected companies in America.

Last summer it stopped functioning. The maker sent a mechanic out from a nearby city; he spent a day replacing the freezing unit with a rebuilt unit. It operated nicely during the summer.

This spring it stopped again. The mechanic drove out from town and replaced the freezing unit again. The refrigerator worked for a few days and stopped and the mechanic was summoned again. This time he reported that it was not the freezing unit but a condenser tube that had failed in the first place.

more than the retail price of the frig.

I suggest that if the replacements were made with new instead of used or rebuilt parts the company might have made a few nickles on the deal.

Readers and friends have complained time and again about repairs made on other appliances with rebuilt parts. Their complaint is that if anything goes after a repair, it is almost always the rebuilt unit.

Personal Experience

I bought a 1950 model car, a fine one, which gave minimum trouble. But after a few years, the fuel pump started failing, usually on the inside lane of an expressway. After the first failure, I bought a new pump, but only a rebuilt one was available. At irregular intervals rebuilt pumps would die and I would get others. After 60,000 miles of this, I gave the car to my son.

Smarter than I he kept a spare fuel pump in his shirt pocket. He traveled around

40 Years Ago Today

By GWYN COGHILL June 30, 1931

Reports of officers marked the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club last night. The club also adopted a resolution expressing regret at the loss of Billy Rogers, highway engineer who has been transferred to Raleigh.

With little chance of relief before tomorrow, June's record heat wave stayed for an eighth day through the nation today. Despite local showers and cooling breezes in many localities, the toll of deaths, attributable to the sun's extraordinary reign, exceeded five hundred with more than two hundred thirty dying within the last twenty-four hours.

Bethel and Greenville members of the Tobacco Belt Baseball League will meet here tomorrow at Third Street Park in their second meeting this season. Bethel defeated the Greenville club in Bethel several weeks ago.

Master Powell Bland of Goldsboro is visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Ragsdale of Greenville.

 What I'm trying to tell you, Dave, is that if you're thinking of becoming a bartender, you're going to have to change your thinking on life.

Promoted At Post Office

F. D. GOODING

J. T. FORREST

Two veteran Greenville Post Office employees have received promotions effective June 28.
 J. Tom Forrest has been appointed assistant superintendent of mails and Floyd D. Gooding will fill his vacated position as foreman of mails, Postmaster H. Lloyd Mills said.
 Forrest began working at the Greenville Post Office in August, 1952 as Special Delivery messenger. Since that time he has been a clerk and foreman of mails. He and his wife, the former Mary Stokes, live at 101 North Harding Street and have one son, Tommy. He is a member of the First Presbyterian Church.

Gooding, a veteran of 14 years in the U. S. Army and Air Force, began his Post Office career in April, 1965. He worked as a clerk until August, 1970 when he was promoted to assistant superintendent of the East Carolina University Station. A graduate of Grifton High School and a Winterville resident, he is married to the former Doris Taylor of Ayden and they have three children. He belongs to the Greenville Moose Lodge.

Teacher Workshops Are Held

By JERRY RAYNOR

Asking CAB Action Over Youth Fares

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Transportation says it will ask the Civil Aeronautics Board to put pressure on U.S. and foreign-owned airlines to either discontinue or extend to all passengers the new youth and student fare on major transatlantic routes.

Asst. Secretary of Transportation Charles D. Baker said a statement urging the CAB to use the speediest possible action against the new fares will be filed within a few days.

Baker, in a letter to CAB Chairman Secor D. Browne, said the $210 New York-to-London round-trip student-youth fare is $332 below the normal economy fare of the summer travel season.

"Unless real cost reductions can be shown for the student-youth fare, this large difference—or some part of it—will necessarily be made up by other travelers to whom the financial sacrifice may be a greater personal hardship than to travelers in the student-youth group," he said. Baker said the Transportation Department favors a lower fare on a no-reservation, space-available basis. Such a fare would be available to all travelers, he said.

The department's reaction followed by less than a month an announcement by Sabena Airlines that it was reducing its youth fare from New York to Brussels round-trip to $220.

Pan American promptly filed a matching rate. Numerous other airlines followed with new youth and student rates.

The CAB cannot order the airlines to discontinue the special fares. But it could—if it found the fares unjustly discriminatory—abolish international flight agreements with other countries, a CAB spokesman said.

Such a step would mean the end of all flights between the United States and other countries until new agreements could be reached. This step, the spokesman said, would be taken only with the agreement of the State Department and the President.

Baker said the United States fully recognizes the social benefits sought by special price treatment for such groups as servicemen and the clergy.

Secondary Education, is about to wind up. John Jones and Robert Allgood, principals of Aycock Junior High and Rose High, respectively, have been providing assistance to Sigmon in this program.

Within this workshop, teachers and administrators have been giving attention to a curriculum in which "leveling" and "phasing" of skill-focused areas are considered. This includes as an example, the "mini-course" concept in the English Language arts.

One of the basic goals of this workshop is to extend and expand non-gradedness in the elementary levels into the secondary level, where it can be enhanced.

Several visiting consultants have taken part in the secondary level workshop. They are — Dr. Talmadge Lancaster, Superintendent of Camp Lejeune Schools; Dr. Katye Sowell, East Carolina University, Department of Mathematics; Dr. William Martin, ECU, Department of Mathematics; Nile Hunt, Special Assistant, Department of Public Instruction; Dr. Robert Jones, Director, Division of Mathematics, Department of Public Instruction; Mrs. Tora Ladu, director, and Larry Tucker and Miss Madeline Tripp, Division of Languages and Language Arts, Department of Public Instruction; Mrs. Ethel Twiford, Supervisor, Goldsboro City Schools; and Miss Edith Farmer, Southern Nash High School.

Agnew Sees Better Tone

SEOUL (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew conferred for 50 minutes today with South Korean President Chung Hee Park and said the tone of U.S.-Korean relations "is a lot more relaxed" than during his negotiations here last August.

Agnew told reporters that discussions with Park, which followed a ceremony in which he presented his credentials for Park's inaugural Thursday and a personal message from President Nixon, were "of a very general nature."

Last August, Agnew spent more than six hours in conferences with Park as the South Koreans presented a lengthy shopping list of military equipment they wanted in return for the withdrawal of 20,000 U.S. troops from this country.

Agnew declined to say if any further cuts in the 43,000-man U.S. force are planned, but he reiterated that his meetings with Korean leaders this time are not designed for hard negotiating. He said he expects to meet later in the week with Premier Kim Chong-pil.

Asked about issues between the two countries, Agnew said these are "more in the nature of administrative details" to be worked out by lower level officials.

THE SECOND OF TWO . . . summer workshops for Elementary Education meets at Wahl-Coates School.

One workshop for elementary schools was completed last week and another began the first of this week.

At Elmhurst Elementary School, a three week workshop concluded last Friday focused on a revision of elementary curriculum in mathematics.

Charles Ross, Director of Elementary Education in the Greenville City Schools, said the purpose of that workshop was to rewrite the non-graded math programs to coincide with the new multi-textbook adopted for statewide use.

For this workshop, math teachers, principals and counselors from all the elementary schools were in attendance.

The current elementary workshop at Wahl-Coates School is preparing teachers for the program of the open-plan school. Ross noted this includes basic orientation in three major phases — multi-age grouping in the classroom; the open classroom concept of teachers; and the integrated school day. "This concept of teaching, the open-plan, is in vogue statewide and nationally," Ross commented.

Consultants for this workshop include the school's principal, Dr. R. E. Piner; Dr. Mary Lois Staton of the School of Education, ECU; Dr. Frank Arwood, Chairman, Department of Elementary Education, ECU; Mrs. James Williamson of the Burlington City Schools; and Mrs. Helen Wolff, Director of Elementary Education, Greensboro City Schools. Teachers from all the city schools and two principals are taking part in this particular workshop, according to Ross.

THE BOB DAWKINS FAMILY SINGERS, of Dallas, will be at Faith Pentecostal Holiness Church for a musical concert and message tonight at 8:00 p. m. The group has traveled throughout the U. S., Canada, Mexico and the Far East. The public is invited to attend this service. The church is located on Red Banks Road and 15th Street Extension.

Big 4th Of July Celebration Scheduled By Town Of Belhaven

BELHAVEN — The Pungo River town of Belhaven is again to be the scene of an annual fourth of July celebration, stretching over a period of three days, and encompassing activities ranging from catching a greased pig to crowning a queen; and art shows to dedication of sewer systems.

All this and more is this coastal town's method of celebrating the anniversary of America's independence, by a townful of people who in recent years have made this summer holiday a time for diverse affairs to meet every taste.

A sailing event on Saturday morning, July 3, ushers in the beginning of festivities. This event begins in Washington and ends in Belhaven with participants sailing down the Pamlico River to the mouth of the Pungo River, then turning north into the Pungo and on into Belhaven.

A second sailboat race takes place on Sunday afternoon in the Pungo River. Also on Sunday afternoon, an open air art show opens at 1:00 p.m. at E.E.H.'s little KORNERS of the world, with the showing to take place in the newly opened sculpture garden of the establishment. The final Sunday event is twilight hour at E.E.H.'s, from 6:00 to 9:00 p.m.

Monday, July 5, is the big day in Belhaven, with a continuous round of events beginning with a water show at 9:30 at the Texaco Dock and continuing on through the day, well into the night.

Other individual events announced for Monday include a Helicopter Fly-by at 10:00 a.m. over the Pungo River; followed by an 11:00 a.m. parade down Main Street, and a fish fry in the Community Center at noon.

For Monday afternoon there is a dedication by Mayor Axson Smith at City Hall of the water and sewer systems. At 2:30 p.m., a fun event — greased pig, sack races and pole climb at 3:15 will take place on the school ball field. A Little League ball game starts at 3:30 p.m., and a third sailboat race is also scheduled afternoon event.

The evening hours brings a beauty contest at 7:30 p.m., to be held at the Wachovia Bank Corner. Later, at 9:00 p.m. fireworks will be set off over the waterfront area of Belhaven, with the crowning of the queen and award of trophies taking place at 9:30 p.m. A street dance, on South Pamlico Street, beginning at 10:00 p.m. is the final schedule for three full days of celebrations.

In addition to individual events there are several all day affairs on the calendar of events. These include a Coast Guard display at the Texaco Dock; a U.S. Marine Corps Helicopter display at the school grounds; a trade fair-industrial exhibit at city hall; the open air art show at E.E.H.'s; and a day long opening of the Belhaven Memorial Museum on the second floor of City Hall. Refreshments will be available throughout the entire Belhaven area, with Boy Scouts and the Lions Club of Swan Quarter in charge.

The public is invited to attend all these events and to join the citizens of Belhaven in observances of Independence Day.

Pick Church School Name

"Brookhaven" is the name chosen for a Seventh-day Adventist School facility being planned for the future.

Robert G. Wilson, pastor of the church, disclosed this decision which was made at a recent school board meeting.

In outlining plans for the facility, school board members have indicated an intention to construct a new school building that would have adequate room and facilities to accommodate an increased enrollment.

Another decision taken was to open the facilities of the Seventh-day Adventist School to the general community.

The original Greenville Seventh-day Adventist school opened in Greenville in 1951, beginning with one room behind the sanctuary. Eight years ago an educational wing was added to the school.

Carolina Dairy Insures Tie For Title As NCNB Downs Pepsi-Cola

Carolina Dairy sat back and watched themselves ice a tie for the Babe Ruth League title last night, without lifting a bat. North Carolina National Bank downed Pepsi-Cola, 7-3, in a key game, and it made sure that the worst the Dairy men could do is finish in a tie for the title.

In the other game, College View nipped Home Builders, 4-3. Carolina Dairy is now 9-4, followed by NCNB, 8-6, and Pepsi, 7-4. A single Carolina Dairy win could wrap up the title. The rest of the league has Home Builders and College View tied at 8-4, while Planters is last at 4-8.

The league will play two games tonight, Pepsi vs. Home Builders and Carolina Dairy vs. Planters. The remaining three games on the schedule will not be played until after the completion of the All-Star series.

In the opener, College View pushed over a run in the first. Donald Cannon walked and stole second. He took third on Bob Boles single and scored on an error.

scored Martin. Heath then took third on another passed ball. Robert Bellesheim singled to score Heath for a 3-0 lead.

Pepsi came back with three runs in the bottom of the inning to tie it up. Al Salisbury and Pete Cullop walked. They were followed the same way by Chuck Brown and Doug Causey, the last scoring Salisbury. Bill Ellington then doubled to score Cullop and Brown.

NCNB regained the lead with three in the fifth. Phil Dash walked and Jack Jenkins slammed a homer to put NCNB back on top. Heath reached on an error and moved to third on an out. He scored on Fuchs' single.

The final run came in the sixth, on a homer by Dash. Fuchs had three hits, while Dash, Jenkins and Bellesheim each had two for NCNB. Pepsi was limited to two total hits by Fuchs.

Dick Corrada, former East Carolina University infielder, has signed a professional baseball contract with the Kansas City Royals.

Corrada, an All-Southern Conference selection in both football and baseball this past season, has been assigned to the Waterloo (Iowa) team in the Class A Midwest League.

While playing three years with the Bucs, Corrada was a starter both at the shortstop and second base, making his All-Conference selection as second.

In football, Corrada set nearly all new records in pass receiving, catching 46 passes for 567 yards during the year. He was given honorable mention All-American honors at the close of the year.

Thursday's Sports Collegiate U.S. Olympic Team at East Carolina Little League League Playoffs Church Softball Maranatha vs. Mt. Pleasant t. James vs. Presbyterian eral manager Dick Walsh gave Johnson a letter when he suspended him in which he used wording from league contract rule 21A which deals with gambling and throwing games. Miller said Walsh may have taken the gambling rule phrase out of context to allow for the indefinite suspension. "They're going to have to demonstrate there was a basis under the contract for suspension," Miller said.

Johnson Plans Grievance Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Angels acted improperly in the indefinite suspension of Alex Johnson and he plans to file a grievance, Marvin Miller, director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, has told a newspaper.

Miller, reached in New York City by the Los Angeles Times, said he expected the grievance to be filed today. The Angels suspended Johnson Saturday, accusing him of lackadaisical play.

Miller said the club in dealing with the situation could have suspended Johnson for 30 days after showing just cause, or could have released him out-

Moose Surprise Graniteers, 5-2

The Moose handed the Tar Heel League Champion Graniteers a 5-2 loss yesterday in the final game of the season for both teams.

The Graniteers already have the title sewed up with a 12-3 mark, while Pepsi-Cola, 9-6, is assured of second. The Elks are second with a 7-7 mark, while the Exchange is 6-8. The Moose are now 6-9, while Integon is mired in the cellar with a 4-11 mark.

Henry Baker hurled the victory, allowing only three hits by the Graniteers. He struck out seven and walked none.

The Moose grabbed the lead in the fourth inning, scoring twice. William Brewington singled and Danny Wood reached on an error. Both advanced on a passed ball, and another one scored Brewington. Steve Lawler, Larry Boyette and Lee Torrence each drew walks, forcing in Wood for a 2-0 lead.

The Graniteers staged a comeback in the bottom of the fourth, tying it up. Kevin Haut singled to open the inning, then with two outs, Joel Clark cracked a homer to straight-away center, making it 2-2.

But the Moose came back with a run in the fifth to move into the lead again. Brewington walked and Ross Hawkins singled. Wood got a hit, loading the bases and Boyette walked to force in Brewington.

The Moose wrapped it up with two more in the sixth. John Lawler walked and Mickey Finn got a hit. Brwington reached on an error, scoring both Lawler and Finn.

Greenville's Post 39 American Legion baseball team snowed under Winter Park of Wilmington last night with a blizzard of runs as they plowed their way to an 18-4 victory.

The Greenville team piled up 11 hits as they romped to the win, their 11th in 15 starts.

Coach John Holt used 19 men in the game, subbing for everyone but shortstop Bill Lee, the only player who went the distance. Only one Greenville player didn't get into the game, pitcher Glenn Forbes, who didn't dress for the game.

Greenville pushed over three runs in the first inning to take the lead. J. C. Daniels walked and took second on a wild pitch. Lee and Phil Blount also followed with walks, loading the bases. Jimmy Paige brought in the first run with a sacrifice fly, and Lee followed Daniels across, scoring on a wild pitch. Joe West then singled to score Blount.

In the second, two more came across. Steve Arnaud reached on an error and moved up on a wild pitch. Daniels singled to score him, and advanced on the relay to home. Blount then doubled to score Daniels and make it 5-0.

Winter Park got on the board in the third, scoring twice. Donnie Bridges singled and moved up on an out. John Hackman reached on a fielder's choice, moving Bridges to second. The two worked the double steal, scoring Bridges and an error on the throw to second moved Hackman to third. George Swain reached on an error, scoring Hackman.

Greenville came up with five more runs in the fourth inning, running the lead out to 10-2. Lee singled and stole second. Blount got a hit, driving in Lee. Paige doubled in Blount, and took third on a wild pitch. Tommy Durham walked and West singled to score both runners. West moved up on a wild pitch and scored on Jimmy Bond's single with the 10th run.

Six more crossed in the fifth. Daniels doubled and took third on a wild pitch. Lee walked and went to second unheeded to prevent a double steal. Paige also walked, loading the bases. Roland Hooks singled in Daniels, and West doubled to score Lee and Paige. Hooks came in on an error on the play, as West moved on to third. Russ Smith tripled to center, scoring West, and he scored when Arnaud, who had walked, was caught in a rundown.

Winter Park added its final runs in the seventh. Eddie Fonger walked and Dan Davidson reached on a fielder's choice that was errored. Hackman grounded out, but scored Fonger. George Swain then reached on an error, scoring Davidson with the fourth Winter Park run.

Greenville added one more in the seventh. Hooks walked and stole second. He moved to third on a fly out by Joey Moore after Steve Evans had walked. An error on a steal by Evans let Hooks score.

The final run crossed in the eighth. Byron Dickens walked and went all the way to third on a passed ball. Lee grounded out to the mound, but scored Dickens with the final run.

Greenville returns to Area One competition tonight, traveling to Ahsokie. Three other games remain prior to the playoffs. They host Rocky Mount here Friday, play Hamlet at Guy Smith on Saturday, and meet Kinston on Sunday at a time to be set.

The playoffs start next week.

Makeup Game Set For Ladies

A rained out game will have to decide the outcome of the Ladies Softball League's regular season champion. Both the Little Mint and Foodland have finished all but one rained out game, and they are tied for the title.

Both won last night in what was to have been the close of the regular season. Foodland trimmed Piggly Wiggly, 6-1, while Little Mint won by forfeit over Coca-Cola.

The game that will decide it will be played Thursday night at 7:30. Another game, between Piggly-Wiggly and Wachovia, is not going to be replayed because it will not affect the standings. Little Mint and Foodland both have 10-1 records, while Piggly-Wiggly is 5-6. Coke is 3-9 and Wachovia, 0-11.

Piggly-Wiggly grabbed the early lead in the game by scoring a run in the first, but it was to be their only one. Foodland came back to tie it up with a run in the third, then took the lead with three more in the fourth.

Diane Hurley reached on an error and Cathy Anthony and Sandy Hardee both got singles. Tula Satterfield singled and advanced on an error, scoring Hardee with the fourth Foodland run.

Phillie Fans Cheer Seaver's Victory

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
It starts deep in the throat, works its way up over the tongue and explodes through the teeth. It is a long, lusty "booooo" and it is the trademark of the Philadelphia fan. Phillie fans boo so much that there have been times the Liberty Bell and Star Spangled Banner were considered in danger next. But they pulled a switch on Tuesday night and, believe it or not, they cheered. Oh, it wasn't a Phillie they cheered, of course. It was Tom Seaver of the New York Mets, whose 3-0 13-strikeout shutout included the 1,000th strikeout of his career. Seaver's four-hitter enabled the Mets to chop one game off Pittsburgh's National League East lead as the Pirates bowed to St. Louis 8-3. Elsewhere in the NL, Cincinnati bombed Montreal 14-0, Chicago nipped Los Angeles 3-2, Atlanta edged Houston 5-4 and San Francisco downed San Diego 6-4. In the American League, New York ripped Cleveland 9-2, Milwaukee topped Chicago 5-2, Boston downed Washington 6-2, Baltimore walloped Detroit 15-6 after the Tigers had won a game suspended Monday night 9-4, Kansas City edged California 2-1 and Minnesota trimmed Oakland 5-3.

When Seaver fanned Willie Montanez leading off the seventh inning for his 1,000th career strikeout, the scoreboard flashed the news to fans in Veteran's Stadium. The crowd of 22,017 gave Seaver a standing ovation that the right-hander admitted was "a bit of a surprise." Seaver responded by fanning the next two batters as well as two more in the eighth, running his career total to 1,004. Meanwhile, the Cardinals gave the Mets a lift by knocking off the Pirates. Lou Brock and Joe Torre smacked St. Louis homers and pitcher Reggie Cleveland drove in three runs with a bases-loaded double to pace a seven-run third inning that put the Cards in control. Richie Hebner homered for Pittsburgh. Cincinnati looked more like the Big Red Machine, unloading a 23-hit attack to wallop Montreal. Tommy Helms led the Reds' attack with four hits.

Buddy Bradford and Pete Rose each homered with Bradford driving in four runs and Johnny Bench delivering three. Ron Santo drove in two runs including Chicago's game-winner with an eighth inning sacrifice fly that beat Los Angeles. The Dodgers had just tied the game with a run in the eighth when Paul Popovich and Billy Williams opened the bottom half of the inning with consecutive singles, bringing up Santo, who was hitless for the day.

Zoilo Versalles doubled home two runs, capping a three-run first inning, and then Oscar Brown singled two more home in the fifth as Atlanta got by Houston. Cesar Cedeno and Bob Watson homered for the Astros. San Francisco wiped out an early 3-0 San Diego lead with rookie Chris Speier driving in two runs with a triple and touching off the tie-breaking rally with a single. Willie Mays had his 14th homer of the year and No. 642 of his career for the Giants while Nate Colbert, Ed Spiezio and Clarence Gaston all homered for the Padres.

Twins Beat Blue On 3rd Try

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
If you don't succeed the first time, try, try again—even against Vida Blue.

That's what the Minnesota Twins and rookie hurler Ray Corbin were forced to do Tuesday night, and this time they succeeded. Given a third chance against this season's pitching sensation the Twins beat the Oakland A's and Blue 5-3, and all but ruined Blue's chances of winning 20 games before the All Star game. In other American League games, Detroit beat Baltimore 9-4 in 15 innings in the completion of their Monday night suspended game and then Baltimore walloped the Tigers 15-6 in the regular contest; Boston tripped Washington 6-2; Milwaukee dipped the Chicago White Sox 5-2, the New York Yankees blasted Cleveland 9-2 in the afternoon, and Kansas City nudged California 2-1. In the National League, St. Louis bombed Pittsburgh 8-3, San Francisco slipped by San Diego 6-4, the New York Mets blanked Philadelphia 3-0, Atlanta edged Houston 5-4, Cincinnati crushed Montreal 14-0, and, in the afternoon, the Chicago Cubs trimmed Los Angeles 3-2.

Blue, 16-3, had allowed the Twins only three runs and 12 hits and struck out 22 in beating them twice this season, the second time on national television last Monday when Corbin took the 3-2 loss. But the Twins weren't about to give in, and neither was young Corbin, 5-5.

They spotted the A's Dave Duncan's two-run homer in the second and then came from behind to end Blue's six-game winning streak with his first loss since May 28 and his first ever in the Oakland Coliseum after 10 victories. And with only time for three more starts Blue, 16-3, won't be winning 20 games by All Star time July 13—unless he works on short rest or relieves.

Detroit won the suspended game with two out in the 15th when Mickey Stanley broke the deadlock with a single, and the Tigers added four more on a bases loaded walk and singles by Norm Cash and Tony Taylor.

Brooks Robinson had capped a four-run ninth inning for Baltimore with a three-run homer with two out that sent the game into extra innings Monday night.

The Orioles did not wait that long in the regular game, and neither did Robinson, who hit another three-run shot in the third after Andy Etchebarren hit one with two on in the second as Baltimore broke a four game losing streak. Jim Northrup drove in four runs with two homers for the Tigers.

The red-hot Red Sox made it five victories in a row as reserves Bob Montgomery and John Kennedy, filling in for injured regulars, each drove in two runs during a five-run second inning off Washington rookie Pete Broberg, 0-2. Kennedy's RBI came on a homer.

Jim Lonborg, 3-3, got the victory for working into the eighth inning before Sparky Lyle relieved.

Milwaukee, another streaking club, won for the ninth time in 11 starts behind rookie Jim Slaton, 3-1, who scattered eight hits before Ken Sanders got the last out for him. The only Chicago runs off him were homers by Walt Williams and Bill Melton.

The Brewers wrapped up the triumph with four runs in the fourth, two on Andy Kosco's triple.

Felipe Alou doubled in each of the first three innings—short of the major league record for one game—driving in three runs and scoring three for the Yankees, who had scored only four times while losing their last four games. Steve Kline, 7-6, went the distance for the victory.

Amos Otis settled a duel between teammate Mike Hedlund and California's Tom Murphy with his 12th homer leading off the ninth. It was only the third of four hits off Murphy, while Hedlund gave only five hits.

Record Earnings For NCAA Cage Tournament

MYRTLE BEACH, S. C. (AP) — The NCAA University Division tournament committee has reported record earnings from the March basketball tournament at Houston and has set starting times for the 1972 event which will be held in Los Angeles.

These were developments Tuesday in the second day of the committee's four-day meeting at Myrtle Beach.

The committee said the March tournament grossed a record $1,925,000 and netted $1,555,000, also a record, after team expenses, rentals and other expenses.

Half of the net went to the 25 competing schools, with amounts varying according to the number of games played. Champion UCLA and Western Kentucky, a national semi-finalist, each received $66,318, while Kansas, also in the semifinals, received $60,289.

Villanova, national runnerup, drew a share amounting to $72,347, but its status is under investigation in the case of its star player, Howard Porter, who allegedly signed a professional contract last December.

Final disposition in the Porter case will be made by the NCAA Executive Committee.

The 1972 tournament at Los Angeles will have the Eastern and Midwest regional champions meeting at 6:10 p.m., Pacific Standard Time, and the West and Midwest champions at 8:10 p.m., Pacific Standard Time, in the national semifinals on Thursday, March 23.

Friday will be left open, with the tournament ending Saturday, March 25. The third place game will be played at 12:10 p.m. and the championship game at 2 p.m., Pacific Standard Time.

Twenty-five schools and the NCAA split the net take from the March tournament. Southern Conference champion Furman played only one tournament game, losing to Fordham, 105-74, for which the Paladins received $12,057.

Atlantic Coast Conference champion South Carolina was beaten by Pennsylvania, 79-64, and Fordham, 100-90, in the Eastern Regionals at Raleigh, N. C., with $30,144 going to the Gamecocks. South Carolina officially leaves the ACC on July 1.

The Optimists have the title wrapped up with a 13-2 record, while the Kiwanis are secure in second, 10-4. Coca-Cola is third at 6-8 with the Jaycees just behind at 6-9. R. C. Cola will be fifth at 5-10, while the Lions, 4-11, are sixth.

The Jaycees pushed over two runs in the first. Jay Holt walked and Charles McLawhorn singled. An error moved both runners up. Bill Myers singled in Holt and Danny Boyd reached on an error, scoring McLawhorn.

In the third, the Jaycees scored one more. Myers reached on an error and scored on Danny Boyd's single.

The Optimists picked up their first runs in the third. Pit Dickson singled and Randy Hodges walked. Eric McCor-

Grace Clinches Tie For Title

Grace Free Will Baptist tripped Immanuel Baptist, 13-4, last night in the Church Softball League and assured itself of no worse than a tie for the title in the National Division of the Church Softball League.

In the other game, Meadowbrook took a forfeit victory over Trinity.

Grace has completed its regular season play with a 12-7 record and holds a one-game lead over Oakmont, 10-7. Immanuel is 9-7, followed by Mt. Pleasant, 8-7. The rest of the league cannot catch up. They include Piney Grove, 8-8; Black Jack, 8-9, and Maranatha, 3-14.

In the American Division, St. James lead with a 13-2 mark, with Meadowbrook close behind at 14-3. They are followed by Presbyterian, 12-3; Belvoir, 8-9;

Christian, 6-11; St. Gabriel, 3-14; and Trinity, 2-15.

Immanuel took the lead in the top of the first inning, scoring two runs. But Grace came back to push over four and take the lead. Immanuel came back with two in the second, tying it.

Grace got five more in the second, however, to move ahead for good. Doug Rendlett singled and Robin Coggins got a hit. Kenneth Smith reached on an error and Lindsay Hardee singled. Sammy Pugh got a hit and came around to score the fifth run of the inning on singles by Redden James and Lewis Hardee.

Grace added one in the fourth and four in the sixth. Homers were hit by Sammy Pugh in the first and by Lewis Hardee in the sixth.

Congress Rushing Nixon Public Service Jobs Bill

By JOE HALL, Associated Press Writer
 WASHINGTON (AP) — At President Nixon's belated urging, Congress is rushing through a $2.25-billion public-service jobs bill while a bipartisan effort forms to revive part of a more expensive economy-stimulating measure he vetoed.

and urged prompt approval of the compromise measure to create temporary jobs which he said could be filled quickly. Meanwhile, Democrats announced plans to try to override the veto after the recess, 'Fed Up' With No Signatures

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia pharmacists are fed up with physicians who don't sign their names legibly on prescriptions. At their annual convention this week, they approved a resolution suggesting that doctors use rubber ink stamps as well as their signatures.

although they conceded privately there is little chance. The Senate on June 8 passed the final version 45 to 33, or seven votes short of a two-thirds majority necessary to override. The political overtones are clear in the fight over the two measures involving the jobs and the economy which Democrats expect to make a campaign issue in the 1972 presidential elections.

month time lag before it would become fully effective. By that time, he said, "further stimulation would be unnecessary and inflationary." Sponsors of the public-service-jobs bill estimated it would create 150,000 to 200,000 jobs in state and local governments the first year if fully funded.

would get special consideration for the jobs, which would pay $1.00 an hour or the prevailing wage, whichever is higher. Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., expressing surprise at the administration's turnabout, said he still opposes the bill on grounds it would make only a small dent in unemployment and might create a corps of permanently subsidized jobs which never could be ended.

Nixon said in his veto message the public-service-jobs bill had been revised more in line with his views. Last year he vetoed a similar measure. Republicans are working openly to revive part of the vetoed public-works bill, and some Democrats are doing so privately.

bill accelerated public-works proposal Nixon specifically criticized. Sens. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, the GOP leader, and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., chief sponsor of the measure, said they will work to sustain the veto but also to produce a second bill. Democrats from the 13-state Appalachian region are expected to take the same view if the veto is not overridden.

Rep. Jones Has Enough Of War

Congressman Walter B. Jones, voting for the Mansfield Amendment for disengagement in Viet Nam, Monday expressed the strongest anti-war stand he has taken to date.

Jones was one of three North Carolina Representatives voting for the Mansfield Amendment, which was defeated by a vote of 219 to 176. Richardson Preyer of Greensboro and Nick Galifianakis of Durham were the other two North Carolina congressmen casting supporting votes for the anti-war amendment. Seven voted against the amendment.

Congressman Jones told the Daily Reflector: "I have come to a firm conclusion that we have reached the point where we must take positive steps to disengage at the earliest possible moment. "Apparently there can be no ultimate victory. With the tremendous loss in lives, the expenditure of billions, I feel we should not jeopardize the life of another single American boy."

Jones said he feels the "Mansfield Amendment is not as rigid as some previous amendments, and is intended to give the president, in my opinion, a chance to complete negotiations for the release of prisoners-of-war, as well as means of returning responsibility to the South Vietnamese."

Miami Beach Lays Plans

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — City officials are estimating $12 million to $15 million in business for the city as a result of its selection by the Democrats for their 1972 national convention. They also are checking their security arrangements for the gathering.

The Democratic National Committee announced Tuesday the party will hold its convention in Miami Beach next summer.

"From both the economic and the publicity stand point it will be a stupendous convention," said Edwin Bishop, a member of the city's Tourist Development Authority.

Bishop said it cost $975,000 in goods and services to secure the convention for the city in which the Republican national gathering was held in 1968.

Although the GOP gathering was undisturbed, security is an important issue for the Democrats, still burdened with memories of their stormy 1968 convention in Chicago.

Police Chief Rocky Pomerance said he already had started work on security plans for the convention, including application for a federal grant to send his men to courses in crowd control and mob psychology.

Miami Beach is also in the running for the Republican convention although President Nixon reportedly favors San Diego, Calif.

Pakistan Refugees See Endless Toll Of Death

By SANTOSH BASAK
Associated Press Writer
BADURIA, India (AP) — The procession to Baduria's crematorium ghat with the bodies of refugees from East Pakistan is endless.

Until mid-June, cholera was the main killer among the poorly dressed, shelterless refugees in this jute center 45 miles from Calcutta and in hundreds of other refugee camps along the East Pakistan frontier.

Now bronchial pneumonia, fever, chicken pox and measles, all aggravated by the monsoon rains that began last weekend, are taking their toll.

Relief officials in Calcutta fear the death toll may rise sharply in the next few weeks when the monsoons intensify.

The officials say that thanks to medicines rushed to Indian from around the world, they were able to quell last month's cholera epidemic, which took more than 5,000 lives.

But they still desperately need foreign help for tents, tarpaulins and waterproofing material to provide shelter for an estimated two million refugees living in the open.

Although about 7,000 miles of six-foot-wide shelter material is needed immediately, according to government estimates, only about 200 miles of material has been obtained from foreign and local sources so far.

An official of the refugee rehabilitation directorate in Calcutta said: "We cannot wait months for tarpaulins. The monsoon has already set in and disease and deaths will soon keep mounting unless some shelter is arranged."

With the monsoon rains spreading human wastes through the refugee communities, the officials expressed fear that cholera could strike a second time—and with greater force than before. He said only about a third of the six million refugees in India have been inoculated against cholera.

The lucky refugees are those who have been admitted to semi-permanent camps, built with tents and tarpaulins. But even in these, refugees frequently have to walk through ankle-deep mud because of poor or nonexistent drainage facilities.

Those outside camps live along roadsides or in makeshift shelters made of palm leaves that offer no protection against the monsoon.

$48,295 Grant

Congressman Walter B. Jones announced today the approval by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Division of Allied Health and Manpower, a grant of $48,295 for East Carolina University to utilize in training for Bachelor of Science degrees in environmental health.

Odds Against Teen Weddings

Maria and Jerry need to read the Bible story of Amnon and Tamar. For 50 percent of teenage weddings in 5 years end in the divorce courts! And the first reasons for such marital disasters is explained below. Amnon was so charmed by Tamar that he took to his bed, lovesick. Notice what happened when she visited him in his bedroom!

By GEORGE W. CRANE
Ph. D., M.C.
Case Q-591: Maria D., aged 17, is infatuated.
"Dr. Crane," she exulted, "I am in love with a wonderful boy named Jerry."
"And we want to get married at once!"
"However, my parents think I should go to college for a year or two.

"But why should we wait? For we are madly in love and can't bear to be away from each other."
"So what's wrong with getting married early?"
"Jerry has a job at a gas station and makes lots of money."
Esau and Amnon
All teen-agers should take a few lessons from the Bible. Therein you will find that Esau was so smitten by the delicious aroma of his brother Jacob's cooking, that he acted foolishly. Instead of looking ahead, he let his stomach rule his brain!

For Jacob had refused to give him his cooked beans unless Esau would sign away his inheritance.
So Esau stupidly traded his birthright for a mess of pottage! Maria and Jerry must face the grim facts of life, which show that 50 percent of all teen-age marriages end in divorce by the 5th wedding anniversary!

And there are several very good reasons for that tragic fact. First of all, many youthful love affairs are primarily based on mere physical magnetism or sexual appeal.
Read your Bible again (II, Samuel, Chapter 13) and see what happened to the torrid romance of Amnon and Tamar. Amnon was so infatuated by the beautiful Princess Tamar that he even took to his bed in his lovesick state.
He felt he couldn't live without Tamar.
So he consulted his shrewd cousin Jonadab, who urged him to stay in bed, while Jonadab informed King David of Amnon's illness.
Then, when David visited Amnon, Amnon was to ask that Tamar be assigned to him as his private nurse.
All went well until Tamar baked some cakes and Amnon insisted that she feed them to him in his bedroom.

Meanwhile, Amnon had ordered all the servants out of the house.
Then he sprang out of bed and started to assault Tamar.
She pleaded and begged, but he was stronger so he ravished her.
Now notice how fast his supposed love turned sour, for the Bible says:
"Then Amnon hated her exceedingly; so that the hatred wherewith he hated her was greater than the love wherewith he had loved her; and Amnon said unto her, Arise, be gone."
But Tamar didn't want to parade her humiliation on the streets so she refused to leave.
Amnon then ordered his servants to put her out of the house and even bolt the door!
Observe how quickly Amnon's love infatuation was proved to be just a sexual fascination for Tamar.
Alas, this confusion of true love with physical attraction, is what causes many of these teenage marriages to turn cold, even in one night.
For in true love, Maria would be most interested in the future happiness of Jerry and vice versa.
But a man who has no trade nor professional training, is NOT going to be very happy in marriage, for the bill collectors will hound him till he begins to snarl at his wife as she nags him because of his low income.
So send for my "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a long

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please understand that I have nothing against people whose religion is not the same as mine, but I get very much annoyed when they ring my bell and tell me they want to "save me." I am happy with my own religion and I don't feel that I am in need of being "saved," but they insist that I do, and it is their mission in life to go around saving people.

I don't like to be rude and slam the door in anyone's face, but I haven't time to listen to these people and if I had the time I wouldn't care to, anyway. Please tell me how to handle some of the more persistent door-to-door religious salesmen. I have offered to give them a dollar for their magazine just to get rid of them, but they say they aren't "selling" anything, they only want to talk to me.

MRS. NO NAME

DEAR NO NAME: Some religious groups do attempt to recruit new members this way, but if you tell the bell ringers that you are not interested, they'll not force themselves upon you.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think about letting my boy friend sleep over at my house? Here is the situation. He has to drive almost 50 miles back to his place after he comes here to see me. We have an extra bed in my brother's room and he could use that. Sometimes we sit around and watch TV and talk until quite late and he gets pretty drowsy and I worry about his driving on the highway when he's that way. What should I do? I am 14 and he is 16. WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Send him home before he gets drowsy.

DEAR ABBY: I'll come right to the point. I am a 52-year-old divorced woman who men find very attractive. I have had four nervous breakdowns in the last 10 years. My question: Would any man want to marry a woman with my mental health record? Should I drop the idea of marriage from my life and try to find happiness without it? NAMELESS, NATURALLY

DEAR NAMELESS: I don't know your definition of a "nervous breakdown," but your question should be answered by your doctor. Many people who have had psychotherapy are far more stable than some who have not had any.

DEAR ABBY: If you have any influence on the night club and entertainment world, I wish you would go to work on getting them to consider women.

All the clubs cater to men, and when I go out I don't care to sit there while my husband gets his eyes full of some half-dressed bosomy babe pitching herself around.

Girls don't do a thing for me, Abby, but I sure wouldn't mind looking at some handsome well-built men. If some of these clubs would feature go-go guys and male belly dancers, I wonder how many men would take their wives and girl friends there.

I like to look, too. But not at girls. PEG

DEAR PEG: Patience. I understand the Men's Lib is already working on that.

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Opening lead: Eight of ♠ South suffered an unnecessary loss in his five heart contract today when he merely buried his head in the sand in typical ostrich fashion instead of trying to anticipate and counteract his opponent's obvious strategy.

West opened the bidding with one spade, North made a takeout double and East attempted to preempt the opponents out of bidding space by jumping to three spades. South was not to be denied with his highly distributional holding and he freely bid four hearts. West persisted to four spades, however, North's bid of five hearts closed the auction, altho West registered his opinion by making a penalty double.

West opened the eight of clubs and the ace was played from dummy. The king of hearts was led at trick two. West won with the ace and then underled the ace of spades in a desperate attempt to get his partner in. When East's jack of spades held, he promptly returned a club which West ruffed with the six of hearts for the setting trick.

Despite the fancy footwork exhibited by his opponent, South was in position to forestall his efforts by attempting to disrupt the East-West line of communications. West's lead of an unbid suit was an obvious singleton and inasmuch as his penalty double clearly marks him with the ace of hearts, every effort should be exerted to avert the impending ruff.

South can accomplish his objective provided that West also holds the king of diamonds. All that has to be done is to cash the ace of diamonds at trick two and then continue with the queen. When East follows suit with a small diamond, declarer merely discards his singleton deuce of spades.

West is in with the king of diamonds, but now he has no way to reach his partner. A spade return is ruffed by South and trumps are led. West gets in again with the ace of hearts, but there is no way for him to reach East and when South regains the lead—he draws the last trump and claims his contract. His losses are restricted to two tricks, one heart and one diamond.
